

Beleaguered Agnew Asks House Hearing

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew has asked the House of Representatives to hear his case against allegations of political corruption, contending the Constitution forbids criminal actions against him while he is vice president.

What action the House might take on Agnew's request remained unclear.

Leaders said such an investigation might be made by a House committee, but would not rule out the possibility of a hearing through impeachment procedures or even a rejection of Agnew's request.

Agnew asked for the House investigation Tuesday after secret negotiations between Agnew's lawyers and Justice Department officials broke down and Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson announced he had authorized a federal grand jury in Baltimore to begin hearing the Agnew case Thursday.

President Nixon, who met with Agnew Tuesday morning, said the vice president had again personally assured him of his innocence of any wrongdoing.

Nixon issued his strongest statement of support for Agnew since the investigation of the vice president was announced nearly two months ago.

Agnew requested the Capitol Hill hearing in a letter that he hand-delivered to House Speaker Carl Albert. Agnew then met for more than an hour with Albert and other House leaders.

"After the most careful study, my counsel have advised me that the Constitution bars a criminal proceeding of any kind ... against a president or a vice president while he holds office," the Agnew letter said.

"Accordingly, I cannot acquiesce in any criminal proceeding being lodged against me in Maryland or elsewhere, and I cannot look to any such proceeding for vindication. In these circumstances, I believe, it is the right and duty of the vice president to turn to the House.

"I am confident that ... I shall be vindicated by the House," Agnew wrote.

A spokesman for Richardson said that, despite Agnew's legal posture, the decision to go to the grand jury would stand.

Agnew's request caught House members by surprise, and they were unsure what to do about it. Albert said there was no decision during the meeting with the vice president.

Agnew emerged from the session smiling but declined to comment on the matter.

Following the session with Agnew, Albert held an informal leadership meeting in his office, then said he didn't have any idea when a decision would be reached on Agnew's request.

Asked whether an impeachment proceeding had been ruled out, Albert responded: "Nothing has been ruled out."

House Democratic Whip John J. McFall of California said alternatives for action included placing Agnew's request for a hearing before the House, referring it to the Judiciary Committee or a special committee, or ignoring it. He, too, would not rule out impeachment.

In the Senate, Republican members held a hastily assembled conference and heard their leaders warn against public comment on Agnew's case in view of the fact they may be called on to sit as a jury should there be an impeachment case.

Impeachment cases are initiated by the House and tried by the Senate.

The case has been simmering since first publicly disclosed Aug. 6.

On that day, Agnew announced that he had been notified by federal prosecutors in Baltimore that he was under investigation for possible violation of tax, bribery, extortion and conspiracy laws. Agnew has repeatedly proclaimed his innocence.

Tuesday morning Richardson and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen met with Nixon to evaluate the Agnew case for the President. Nixon then met with Agnew for more than an hour.

Richardson said that since Sept. 12 he had been meeting with other Justice Department officials, with Agnew's attorneys and with the vice president himself "to discuss procedural aspects of the case and options available to the vice president."

Richardson said the department agreed to the discussions in hopes of resolving "a constitutional dilemma of potentially serious consequence to the nation."

He did not elaborate but apparently referred to the constitutional question of whether a vice president can be indicted before he is impeached.

But, Richardson said, the discussions failed and the decision was made to go to the grand jury. He left open the question of whether the panel would seek an indictment.

"The grand jury will be used, in accordance with well-established practice, as an investigative body," Richardson's statement said.

A spokesman for Richardson later said evidence would be presented to the grand jury in its investigative role, but noted that the panel already had indicted one Maryland official, Baltimore County Executive Dale Anderson.

Later in the day, following Agnew's trip to Capitol Hill, Nixon issued a strong statement of support for his vice president and a plea that Agnew be given the right to a fair hearing.

Nixon Veto Is Again Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon remains undefeated in seven veto fights with Congress after the Senate sustained by five votes his veto of a bill liberalizing disaster loans.

The vote Tuesday was 59 to 36, which was short of the two-thirds majority required to override a veto.

Of his six previous vetoes, the House had upheld him on five and the Senate on one.

In Tuesday's test, 49 Democratic senators and 10 Republicans voted against the President, but 31 Republicans and five Democrats supported him.

The bill would have given disaster loan recipients a choice of a $2,500 forgiveness feature with a three per cent interest rate or a one per cent loan with no forgiveness. The forgiveness provision meant that the borrower did not have to repay that portion of the loan.

The present law calls for five per cent interest and no forgiveness.

The bill also would have made erosion victims eligible for disaster loans for the first time, expanded the authority to grant loans to small companies damaged by military base closings, and made loans available to farmers and ranchers who suffered injury to livestock in a cholera epidemic.

DEFICIT AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's foreign trade slipped into deficit in August again after a one-month surplus in July, but the trade picture was greatly improved from a year ago, the Commerce Department reported today.

Don Wilkerson Heads UF Unit

Bill Dansey, Pitt United Fund campaign chairman, said that he has named Donald M. Wilkerson to head the Special Gifts Division of this year's UF effort.

"I feel that Don will do more than a satisfactory job," Dansey pointed out, "since in past years he has been of great assistance to the Advance Gifts Division chairman and this year he will be heading up his own division."

The division chairman, son of S. Lindsay and Pauline Wilkerson, was born in Nassawadox, Va. He graduated from J. H. Rose High School here in 1958 and following duty with the Army in 1958-59 and 1961-62, he received his A.B. degree in economics from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Wilkerson, who is funeral director for S. G. Wilkerson & Sons here, joined the firm following graduation in 1964.

A member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at the University of Carolina, he is president of the Pitt County chapter of the UNC Alumni Association. A former Jaycee and past secretary of the local chapter, Wilkerson is a past president of the Tar Heel League of the Greenville Little League. He is a member of the Greenville Rotary Club and Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Astronauts' Condition Elates Doctors

By RICHARD SALTUS
Associated Press Writer
ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doctors were elated with the physical conditions of the Skylab 2 astronauts today after their record 59½-day space mission.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma planned to sleep late aboard the recovery carrier headed for San Diego, Calif.

The astronauts blazed back to earth Tuesday in a perfect ending to their journey. They splashed down six miles from the recovery ship which was waiting about 230 miles southwest of San Diego.

The three were quickly hoisted aboard the New Orleans with their precious cargo of films, tapes and other data which could provide vital information about the sun, the earth and man himself.

The astronauts walked a bit wobbly when they stepped on the carrier deck after their long exposure to space weightlessness.

Smiling and happy, they waved and saluted the hundreds of sailors who lined up for a look at the nation's newest space heroes.

They were quickly taken to a medical facility for extensive examinations.

A medical report said none of the spacemen suffered from motion sickness and all three had normal blood pressures and heart rates.

The report said there was some evidence of "vestibular disturbance," such as dizziness. But this was expected as part of the process of readapting to earth's gravity.

"All three crewmen are in excellent spirits and they feel well," said the report. "Physicians are very elated with the crew condition at this point."

Dr. K. J. Hawkins, the chief astronaut physician, credited their good health to a rigid exercise program while they were in space.

The astronauts will be under careful medical scrutiny for another 18 days. They will maintain a strict diet and collect all urine and fecal samples for examination as they have done since 21 days before they were launched July 28.

More tests were planned aboard the New Orleans today and Thursday. On Thursday afternoon, the astronauts will fly back to their homes near Houston's Johnson Space Center.

Within an hour after the astronauts were aboard the carrier Tuesday, they talked with their families and received a message of congratulations from President Nixon.

Skylab 2's 24-million mile journey had a safe and accurate ending, the trademark of U.S. space flights in recent years.

The Apollo ship ferrying the astronauts from the Skylab station dropped under orange and white parachutes into white-capped waves, within range of television cameras.

"Man, that was a spectacular entry!" said Lousma through a special communications hookup after the spacecraft was on the water. "I like the bang when the main chute comes out. Golly, I'd like to do it again!"

Child Is A Victim

A three-year-old child was killed yesterday afternoon when he ran into the path of a car about six miles north of Greenville on the Old Creek Road.

Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey, who ruled the death as accidental, identified the child as Corey Ray Elbrun of Route 5, Greenville.

The coroner and Highway Patrolman G. L. Swanson reported the child had been playing with two other children at the edge of the roadway when he suddenly darted across the highway and into the path of an on-coming car.

Driver of the car involved was identified as Joseph Waylon Brown, 22, of 112 East Jackson Dr. (near Parker's Chapel Church).

No charges were placed in connection with the 3:15 p.m. death.

Unregistered Pitt Countians Have 'Til October 2 To Do So

Pitt County citizens who have not registered to vote in the Nov. 6 municipal elections and state referendums which involve beverage-by-the drink, $300,000,000 School Bond, and a Clean Water Bill Amendment, have until Oct. 8 to get their names on the books.

Candidates who wish to file for municipal elections, excluding Greenville and Farmville, have until noon on Oct. 12, according to Miss Margaret Register, executive secretary of the Pitt County Board of Elections.

Miss Register explained that under the Uniform Election Law, the county registration documents are the official registration for all towns and townships within the county.

When a person registers once with the county, she said, he is eligible to vote in all elections. Unless his registration is with the county office, he is not eligible to vote. New residents of the county who have not registered, as well as persons who have changed their names or addresses since the last election, should make sure they are properly registered, the secretary emphasized.

People who have had name or address changes, need to fill out a short form that insures that they are now registered in the precinct in which they live, she continued. Also, persons who did not vote in the last general election need to check their records to find out if their names are still on the books.

Miss Register pointed out that persons with questions concerning their registration should call the Pitt Board of Elections office at 758-4683.

There are nine municipalities within the county, she pointed out. Two of these, she said, Greenville and Farmville, chose to have their local elections on Oct. 9 and books for those elections were closed on Sept. 10. Unless a person's registration records were in order at that time they would be ineligible to vote in the Greenville and Farmville municipal elections. Citizens do have until Oct. 8 to register in order to vote in the

Nov. 6 issues.

Municipal elections will take place on Nov. 6 in Ayden, Bethel, Falkland, Fountain, Grifton, Grimesland and Winterville, it was noted. Bethel will have their offices open on Saturday (Sept. 29) from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. to receive registration and changes. They now receive registrations Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The other six municipalities will have their offices open at their usual times, daily, for registration, Miss Register said.

She added that the Pitt Board of Elections office, located in the courthouse here in Room 300, will be open this Saturday to assist prospective voters.

Market Basket Prices Hit Record; To Go Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another set of figures has been released by the government documenting what most consumers probably already know first hand: that food prices are at record levels.

The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that the annual cost of a market basket of farm-produced food was $1,653, based on August prices.

An annual market basket is what the department says will feed a theoretical household of 3.2 persons for a full year.

The new level is the highest ever, and the department said it represented a $328, or 24.8 per cent, increase over August 1972.

It was also $124, or 8.1 per cent, higher than the annual market basket calculated on July prices, a monthly increase the department said was the highest since a 10.2 per cent jump in October, 1946.

A White House economist, meanwhile, says that prices will probably continue to climb for the rest of the year, although should start coming down early next year.

Gary L. Seevers, a member of the President's Council Economic Advisers, told a House-Senate joint economic subcommittee he was hopeful any future increases would be smaller than those of August.

And, he said, "The administration has undertaken a determined effort to solve the food-price problem by expanding supplies. I believe this will be paying off in the next year."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's interstate highway system and 19 other non-military government projects have cost taxpayers $38 billion over original estimates, General Accounting Office figures show.

Interstate highways accounted for $32 billion of the cost overruns found by GAO auditors in a study of 20 civilian projects requested by Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala.

The remaining $6 billion includes overruns on the Apollo moon-landing program, rapid transit systems in San Francisco and Washington, D.C., a dam in Idaho and three buildings in Washington.

The results, said Dickinson, "point out rather vividly that cost overruns are not the exclusive property of the Department of Defense but cover the whole spectrum of government contracts."

The interstate highway system was originally projected to cost $37.6 billion, but the GAO said it is costing $69.9 billion instead.

These other overruns were included on the list, inserted by Dickinson in the Congressional Record published Tuesday:

—Moon-landing module, $916 million. Overruns in two other space programs — the Viking mission and the Saturn workshop projects — totaled $800 million.

—San Francisco's Bay Area Rapid Transit system and the Washington, D.C. Metro subway system, $500 million each.

—Dworshak Dam in Idaho, $256 million; the World Trade Center, $300 million; the Secaucus, N.J., bulk mail distributing plant, $51 million.

—Washington's Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, $41 million; the new FBI building $66 million; the Department of Labor Building, $48 million.

House Of Representatives Considers 'Truth In Guarantees'

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Wednesday, September 26, 1973—3

By SIDNEY MARGOLIUS
NEW YORK (WNS)—
Every survey in recent years has found that guarantee and service problems of cars, appliances, and other goods are at or near the top of consumer complaints.

Part of the problem stems from inadequate guarantees that may provide parts during a portion of the warranty period but stipulate that you pay for "labor" which really includes many more fees than just labor. In fact, the labor charge often is the biggest item. It may take a serviceman an hour to install a $3 part; thus, a "labor" charge of perhaps $15.

Some purported warranties or guarantees are virtually meaningless. I have in front of me a "Warranty" which reads: "Your weather instruments have been made with great care and thoroughly inspected for workmanship, materials and precision. These instruments will give long and accurate service if treated with reasonable care."

That promises absolutely nothing. Even more genuine examples sometimes have loopholes. Besides the frequent loophole of only partial or no coverage for "labor," some guarantees may specify that you must bring the product to a faraway depot or factory.

Erma Angevine,
executive director of Consumer Federation of America, reported one complaint in which the manufacturer did agree to repair a faulty refrigerator.
All the buyer had to do was return it a service depot 150

Farm specialists warn that often persons growing gardens will use more fertilizer than needed, causing problems in plant production.

miles away.

Proposed Law
The so-called "truth in guarantees" recently passed by the U. S. Senate and now being considered by the House of Representatives would help to end some of the disappointments. The manufacturer would have to say whether the guarantee is a "full" one covering both parts and labor for the specified period or only a partial guarantee. In any case, the guarantee or warranty would have to provide a minimum period for repair or replacement without charge.

This proposal could be very useful if enacted. It not only would give consumers a more dependable way to compare guarantees but manufacturers would be encouraged to provide more adequate guarantees. If manufacturers do give more complete guarantees, then they will be stimulated to provide careful quality control to avoid having to repair or replace expensively large numbers of faulty products.

This is the real problem—
the insufficient attention given to design of products and durability of materials, and sometimes, to quality control, especially in times of high demand. For example, some of the fines that have occurred in color TV sets have been attributed to inadequate quality control.

Self Defense
This is the second time this bill has passed the Senate. In 1971 the House failed to enact
it. Hopefully, this time the House will take this valuable step to end one of the costliest wastes of family and national resources.

Meanwhile, in your own buying, note whether the guarantee is a full or partial guarantee.

In small electric appliances
the guarantee nowadays often consists of over-the-counter replacement of a defective model within a specified period. This is a good type of guarantee. But the replacement period specified by various manufacturers varies. It may be 30, 60, or 90 days. The longer, the period is, the more benefit to you, of course.

Keep your bill showing purchase date. Manufacturers generally can tell from the serial number and condition of the appliance how long you have had it. But a dated receipt is additional protection if your picture tube or vacuum cleaner motor expires at about the same time as the guarantee.

Most authorized servicemen are allowed to stretch the guarantee a little if the circumstances are reasonable, as when a thermostat on a dryer develops trouble within a month after the guarantee period. In such case, you may have to pay only for part of the expense.

Much Paving From Powell Bill

Once again Powell Bill funds have been allocated to the various municipalities of North Carolina.

As has happened many times in the past the smallest allocation went to Falkland which got $1,290 for its 130 population and one-twentieth of a mile of local street.

Greenville received $372,944.98. Other Pitt County communities and their amounts are: Ayden, $49,150; Bethel, $21,336; Farmville, $61,038; Fountain, $6,511; Grifton, $23,374; Grimesland, $5,422 and Winterville, $19,502.

Under state law one cent of the nine cents per gallon gasoline tax is distributed to municipalities on the basis of population and street mileage within their city limits which is not on the state system.

The funds can be used for street improvements, maintenance and the purchase of equipment which is used for street work.

Powell bill funds have been invaluable to the municipalities of North Carolina in maintaining and extending their street systems. Here in Greenville there would be many more dirt streets today if it had not been for the foresight of the State Legislature many years ago in providing these funds.

The fact that many municipalities today have extensive systems of paved street can be attributed to a great degree to the Powell Bill Funds.

Argentina Elected A Symbol As President

The election of Juan D. Peron as president of Argetina is symbolic more than anything else, due to this age and uncertain health.

It does, however, bring back memories of the days when Peron was looked on as a rightist dictator of the South American nation.

Hopefully Peron's election will not bring another such era to Argetina. It does show, though, that what he stood for has never disappeared in that nation.

Moderates In A Cross-Fire

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — An attempt by six gifted Congressmen to head off emotionally charged antibusing legislation by promoting a compromise has been shattered by inflexible civil rights leaders.

The bipartisan, biracial coalition of six House members has been virtually disbanded less than two months after its formation, diminishing any hope for a middle ground. Rather, prospects are that the House next month will pass a tough antibusing amendment to the school aid bill in the closing days of the current session. In the absence of compromises, an antibusing bill — or perhaps even a constitutional amendment — may clear both Houses of Congress sooner or later.

To realistic proponents of high quality, racially integrated education, such an outcome would be tragic. That is why there is melancholy among them over the apparent message of the last few weeks: this is no time for moderation.

The first serious attempt at compromising the school busing issue came last year when two highly regarded Democratic Congressmen — Richardson Preyer of North Carolina, a Southern moderate, and Morris Udall of Arizona, a Western liberal — introduced compromise legislation. The bill, drafted by Prof. Alexander M. Bickel of Yale law school, seeks gradual integration in local schools without court-ordered busing and with a minimum of federal coercion. The reaction: mostly yawns.

With another White House-supported effort to abolish busing coming up in Congress, Udall and Preyer tried this past summer to generate interest in their bill. Consequently, they sought out two prestigious Republican moderates with good civil rights records: John Anderson of Illinois and Albert Quie of Minnesota. More important, they went to the swelling Black Caucus for help.

Two freshman black Congressmen considered less dogmatic than their senior colleagues — Georgia's Andrew Young, a onetime lieutenant of Martin Luther King, and Texas's Barbara Jordan, a former state senator — were asked to join in seeking a compromise. Without committing themselves to the Preyer-Udall bill, they agreed.

The result was a July 31 statement signed by the six Congressmen. While opposing antibusing legislation and supporting "the objectives of integration," the statement asserted that "the nation's educational problems... are continually inflamed by court-ordered busing" and complained about "disruptive judicial interference." Behind that statement was the promise of Republican moderates, liberal Democrats and black Democrats joining in a new civil rights coalition.

But doughty civil rights lobbyist Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP saw no such promise. Whatever the purpose of the July 31 press conference, he telegraphed the six Congressmen, "it is difficult to conceive of anything that could create greater mischief." Furthermore, Mitchell thundered, the statement "is clearly designed to undermine court decisions."

On Aug. 2, Udall fired back a letter to Mitchell: "... I strongly and sincerely believe that your strategy keeps us locked in the same old trenches with a deteriorating legislative situation each year." Without compromise, Udall warned, Democratic Congressmen from Pennsylvania, Ohio, and New York may join their colleagues from Michigan in the antibusing camp.

That next weekend, Rep. Young invited distinguished civil rights leaders to Arlie House at Warrenton, Va., to try to talk out the problem. The experiment failed.

Udall began on Friday night by warning, as he had in his letter to Mitchell, that it was fine to take a hard civil rights line when pro-integration forces had 260 vetoes in the 435-member House in the early 1960s. Now, he said, the civil rights vote against antibusing legislation is 130 votes — and fading.

His listeners were unimpressed. Dr. Kenneth Clark, the distinguished black psychologist from City University of New York, replied coldly that he would rely on the courts and not interfere with them. He was seconded by Joseph Rauh, the veteran white civil rights leader. On Saturday, Young received much more of the same.

Strength For Today

TRIAL MAKES U'S STRONG

"Religion isn't designed to make you comfortable and to take the sting out of life," writes a modern preacher. "It's meant to fling you out into the world with your life in your hands and to get you to spend it like a prodigal."

Can it be true that the function of religion is among other things to cast us violently out of our customary ways in order to give us an opportunity to develop new powers? The answer is yes, and the Bible gives many examples of it.

God flung Moses out of the court in Egypt to find a great destiny in the desert. He flung Paul out of his position of influence as chief persecutor of the Christians that he might become one of the greatest Christian saints. And—the supreme example—He sent his own son into this world to die on a cross that mankind might live.

It has been said that the world is a poor place in which to find comfort, but the best place one can think of in which to grow strong and heroic.

Dilemma Of Unnamed

WASHINGTON—One of the big problems a newspaperman in this city has is when he speaks to one unnamed source who contradicts what another unnamed source has told him. Last week all of us struggled with the dilemma. An unnamed source told The Washington Post that a Vice President of the United States was going to resign. Another unnamed source, when contacted, denied it. The big question was who was telling the truth.

The first thing that we had to find out was whether The Post's source was a reliable unnamed source. Since we didn't know the unnamed source's name, this was very difficult to do.

There was speculation among many unnamed people in Washington that the unnamed source the Washington Post quoted about the Vice President's resignation came from an unnamed building at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. If it did, that could give it some authenticity. At the same time, so many unnamed sources in this building have been caught in out-and-out lies, that the very fact that it originated there might force many of us to discount it.

A source close to the Oval Office denied the unnamed source worked there or at San Clemente. But an unnamed intimate of the Vice President said he strongly suspected that the story was planted with The Post to force the V.P. to resign.

When I had discussed this information with an official high in government circles who asked not to be quoted, he said that the Vice President in question had discussed resignation with many Republican officials whose names he could not give. The consensus was that while he had discussed resignation with some unnamed sources, he had also discussed remaining in office with others. Therefore, it's quite possible that the source that The Washington Post talked to was telling the truth as far as he knew it.

Anonymous supporters of a former Texas governor who just became a Republican denied that their people were behind the story. "Our man has no desire to be Vice President of the United States," a highly reliable Houston official leaked to me, "and certainly he would keep any of his sources from talking to the press at this time."

A check at the Justice Department revealed that while unnamed Justice Department officials were going ahead with pursuing the charges made against the Vice President, they had no knowledge of the Vice President's future political (Continued on page 5)

To the editor:

The East Carolina University four year medical school plan has been well considered by such outstanding medical authorities as Dr. Beddingfield, former President of the North Carolina Medical Association, Dr. Lennox Baker of Duke University and many others of similar stature. It is sound, well founded and especially needed as the original plan.

It took a leader like Dr. Leo W. Jenkins to bring this medical school need and the medical giants of the country into this involvement. As I see it, the public must demand, through their respective Representatives, to voice this project to success and maturity. It is now time for the power cliques to meet their David.

Subsidizing private medical schools, as suggested, with state funds, is no different from subsidizing parochial schools with state money as they too are now considered private organizations. This is just a way of trying to outmaneuver this project, call it what you will.

Evidently the political powers, at present, don't seek to rock the boat of the established controllers, shoping to gain prestige for themselves.

In relation to the East Carolina Medical School, Dr. Leo Jenkins has proven to have the persistence of Columbus, the ability of Benjamin Franklin in getting the plan approved and the honesty of Abraham Lincoln to see it through.

This is no time to accept defeat. It is the precise time to get on your feet, for men like Dr. Jenkins are sparse among humanity and this is a very precious opportunity.

Paychecks Aren't Keeping Pace

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If you feel rises in consumer prices are even more severe than indicated by the 22.8 per cent annual rate of increase in August, you have company. You also have reasons to so believe:

1. Paychecks aren't keeping pace with rising prices. During much of this extended bout with inflation, workers were able to maintain parity with rising prices. In July, buying power rose 1.1 per cent, mainly because of the freeze on prices.

But in August, buying power plunged. The relative strength of factory wages dropped 1.9 per cent from July, meaning paychecks averaged $2.02 less than a year earlier.

2. The increases are concentrated in areas of the budget where cutbacks are difficult — in food, clothing and shelter.

The biggest increases have been in food prices, with the August increase amounting to 6.1 per cent. Counting August, the price of meat, poultry and fish has risen 40 per cent in two years.

Such enormous increases make others seem insignificant. But any increase in an essential will have a greater impact than increases in other areas, such as recreation.

Aside from food, the biggest contributors to the rising cost of living in August were clothing, housing, fuel oil and homerepair items.

The big increases in the prices of services were attributed to higher home mortgage interest rates. Insurance and finance charges jumped 14.4 per cent on an annual basis, and rents rose more than seven per cent.

Because of rising prices, unavailability of credit and uncertainty about the immediate future, millions of Americans are trying to limit spending and bide their time with certificates of deposit.

Presumably, this is one of the effects sought by the Federal Reserve Board in maintaining a tight money policy.

However, some economists and legislators feel that current monetary policy is hurting individuals inordinately, especially in

A Visit To The Past

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are among the few things that improve with age.

It's not only the good memories that get better. A memory that makes you cringe when young may make you laugh as you grow older and get more tolerant—and forgive yourself some of the indiscretions of youth.

Even the memories that gave you a sharp agony, like a nail thrust to the heart, tend to smooth out with the healing passage of time. Something that was once almost unbearable to remember later becomes, in its way, a kind of consolation to recall.

So do our memories become the tender keystones of our being, the part of ourselves that give us most of our individuality. At the end, we are our memories—and very little else.

You've got a good hoard of them if you can look back and remember when:

A bug was an insect, not a device for listening to someone else's telephone conversations.

Improved prices were evident on the Greenville Tobacco Market today when the market re-opened and the floors were again filled to overflowing.

There was slight improvement in the grades of tobacco on the floors today and it is estimated that 2,000,000 pounds of tobacco are on the floors in the Greenville warehouses.

The official report of yesterday's sales completed this morning showed the market handled 1,508,774 pounds at an average of $12.82 cents per hundred pounds with $193,462.97 paid out.

Cuban military forces were strengthened today as rumors reached the government of another change in the American policy toward Cuba and of plans for another revolt.

Negotiations have been reported between opposing factions and the Ramon Grau San Martin regime has approached no solution of the problem which threatened to end the life of the two week old government.

Colonel Fungnco Batista's army was increased by the addition of a civil guard of 2,000 members of the Carribean army, a student organization.

The annual sessions of the Roanoke Baptist Association, composed of some seventy churches in seven North Carolina Counties, will meet here October 10 and-11. The first session will be held Tuesday at the auditorium of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Pledges War On Guerrillas

By MORT ROSENBLUM
Associated Press Writer
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's Peronist government today pledged a war on the Marxist guerrillas it blamed for the ambush slaying of the nation's top labor leader.

Jose Rucci, secretary-general of the giant General Labor Confederation and a top confidant of President-elect Juan D. Peron, was gunned down Tuesday outside his brother-in-law's suburban home.

The killers escaped but the government blamed the attack on the People's Liberation Army, the ERP, which has been outlawed.

One radio station said an anonymous caller reported the killing moments after it happened and said it was the work of the ERP.

But no other evidence was put forward to show that the murder might not have been the work of Peronist leftists who have been battling such conservative leaders of the movement as Rucci and who in May killed another union leader, Dirk Kloosterman.

Lastiri, in a address Tuesday night, warned that the government would meet "violence with violence, whether from the right or left."

"We are at war with the ERP," said one Peronist lieutenant.

The unions called a general strike until midnight tonight in protest against the assassination, shutting down public transport, other public services, business and industry throughout the nation.

There were rumors that Peron, who won the presidency Sunday in a landslide, might take office immediately instead of waiting until Oct. 12.

House Approves Big Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a compromise $9.9 billion appropriation bill to finance farm, food stamp, school milk, consumer and environment protection programs.

The measure, sent to the Senate for final action on a 348-24 vote Tuesday, is $408 million above the Nixon administration's request.

Over-all, the bill, covering the year that began July 1, is $2.8 billion under the previous year's level.

The legislation appropriates $97 million to continue the special school milk program and $2.5 billion for food stamps under liberalized eligibility provisions of the new four-year farm law.

It also provides funds for rural development programs and $553.5 million for food-for-peace programs abroad.

It was not immediately clear what effect the milk money would have on schools that have cut back on milk programs because of rising costs.

The legislation provides for a Farmers Home Administration and Housing and Urban Development water and sewer grant programs funding, $150 million for FHA and $400 million for HUD, most of it in reappropriated frozen funds. About $175 million is earmarked for farm conservation.

NO MORE ATOMIC PLANTS? — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader addresses the Western Governors Conference in Oregon, Tuesday. He predicted in five years there would not be any more nuclear fueled power plants built in this country. He said the hazards of these plants are too great to rely on them for large amounts of electric power and added there would be a massive campaign moved against their construction by environmentalists and consumers. Training School Reforms Asked RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The head of North Carolina's prison system will ask today for authority to end farming at the state's eight youth training schools and make them all coeducational.

Secretary of Social Rehabilitation and Control David L. Jones told a news conference Tuesday that he would make the requests, part of a broad reform effort, to the Board of Social Rehabilitation and Control.

Jones said the training schools have failed to educate or rehabilitate the 8-16-year-old youths sent there for various misdemeanors.

He said he hoped to close at least one of the school's down and end the farming operations which he said are of no benefit to the children and which the state must subsidize.

Jones predicted savings to the state $2.7 million as a result of that move.

He said coeducation would give the schools a more normal atmosphere and reduce the incidence of homosexuality. Two of the eight schools now house both boys and girls.

Jones said he would also ask the board to approve new programs in psychological diagnosis and educational classification to improve the schools' educational records. He said children in them are 2.5 years behind their peers on the average.

Closing Road In Lenoir For About A Week

A portion of NC 11 and NC 55 south of Kinston in Lenoir County will be closed to traffic September 26 for needed maintenance work, State Highway Engineer Charles Snell announced today.

The road will be closed for about one week, Snell said, and during that time through traffic will be detoured over US 258, US 70 and ST 1341, a distance of about five miles. Local traffic will be allowed to use the highway, he said.

NC 11 and NC 55 will be closed from their intersection with SR 1341 to the junction of the two roads with US 70.

Snell said the detour all on paved roads, should take no more than 10 minutes.

Jones introduced three new staff members whom he said would begin work on Nov. 1. Norman C. Camp of Raleigh, a professor at Shaw University, will be head of school operations; George R. Hicks of Dunn, a teacher at Fayetteville Technical Institute, will be head of program services; Dr. Roger W. Woodbury has been named to the new post of director of psychological services.

The University of Missouri at St. Louis offers preprofessional and college credit courses which may be taken by students not working toward a degree.

Energy Crisis Concern Among Southern Govs.

By REX N. THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
POINT CLEAR, Ala. (AP) — Southern Governors, worried about the energy crisis, and demanding a greater voice for the states in seeking a solution, turn for the first time today to a black man for leadership.

Melvin H. Evans, the first elected governor of the Virgin Islands, was in line for elevation to the chairmanship of the Southern Governors Conference at the close of its annual four-day meeting.

Evans, a 56-year-old physician and a Republican, has been the conference vice-chairman for the past year and, by custom, succeeds Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama as chairman. Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida was expected to replace Evans as vice-chairman.

First, however, the governor had other mutual problems to talk about, besides the energy crisis, and resolutions to vote on as official statements of southern policy.

One of the resolutions dealt at length with the need for increased sources of energy in the face of threatened fuel shortages this winter. It ruled out a suggested allocation program as an acceptable solution.

The resolution recommended the immediate development of a national energy policy administered by one agency instead of several and it demanded a voice in formulating a planning program to minimize the impact of an energy shortage.

That would include the establishment of priorities for the use of available fuel.

Allocations are unworkable, the resolution said, because they "neither increase supply nor reduce demand." And when based on past consumption, it said, they are unfair to states like those in the South which have relied on natural gas and have to turn to other fuels.

"Forceful steps must be taken to bring supply and demand into balance at the earliest possible date," the resolution declared, "so that allocation will be unnecessary except by the free market process."

Only when substantial new coal mining and oil refining facilities and more nuclear power plants are in operation, the resolution said, will energy supplies be adequate to meet the demands.

The governors called also for elimination of price controls on oil and natural gas, and early construction of the Alaskan pipeline "with private capital."

On another issue, the conference resolutions committee drafted a protest against the presidential impoundment of federal aid funds and the unwillingness to release impounded money when ordered by a court to turn it over to one or a few.

It said the practice has been to let a federal court order stand so it would apply only to one or more states affected by that order. If the decision were appealed to higher courts and upheld, it they would apply to all states.

Attend Concerts In Henderson

Mrs. Leota Tyson and Mrs. Anne Worthington attended two sacred concerts at the United Church of Christ and the First Baptist Church of Henderson Sunday.

Terry Tyson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tyson of Henderson and grandson of Mrs. Tyson, brought the message in song at the United Church of Christ.

At the First Baptist Church, Tyson sang "It Is Enough."

Tyson, a baritone, studied voice at the University of North Carolina. He is presently a student of opera at the Ohio State University. He has just returned from three months study in Austria.

Council Against Rock Festival

RIDGELAND, S.C. (AP)—No rock music festival will be held in Jasper County next July, its New York backer decided Monday after the county council unanimously opposed it.

Promoter Shelly Finkel said he would not put on a festival where it was not wanted. He added it may be held somewhere else in South Carolina but did not name a site.

Council Chairman Thomas Woods said the county "has not become poor enough that we have to come down to a rock festival." He said no one he talked to was in favor of holding the event, proposed for a 1,200-acre wooded area on the Savannah River.

Sam Ervin III Very Much Like His Famous Father

By BETTY ANNE WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—When considering fathers and their sons there is always the temptation to draw comparisons. When the two have the same name, the urge to say like father, like son is nearly irresistible.

Such is the case with the Sam Ervins.

Samuel James Ervin Jr. is a U.S. senator from North Carolina and the chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating the Watergate affair.

Samuel James Ervin III is a North Carolina superior Court judge.

Both still claim Morganton, N.C., as their home, but the likeness merely begins there.

The Ervins are attorneys as was Sam Ervin Sr. Each acquired his law degree from Harvard.

Each Ervin ran for the North Carolina House of Representatives from his native Burke County and each one was elected—the elder Ervin to three terms and the younger to two.

Both went on to the state Superior Courts in their district, the 25th.

Now, Sam Ervin III is nearing the middle of an eight-year term as a superior court judge and he says he is just where he wants to be.

His term expires in 1978 and he said, "Unless for some reason I should decided not to continue, I should not have to be concerned about any election until then. At the present time I have no intention of running for any other office."

That decision not to run for another office also applies to judicial ones.

A staunch Democrat, the younger Ervin said an appointment to the North Carolina Supreme Court or to the Court of Appeals is "unlikely." The only other way to be seated on a higher bench is by election.

"I think it is an honor to serve on an appellate court, but I think I enjoy the work of a trial judge more than that of an appellate judge," he said.

In any case, he said he has "no intention of running for the Supreme Court or for the Court of Appeals."

Being an attorney is becoming as much of a tradition with the Ervins as being a Democrat.

Sam Ervin Sr. passed both on to his son, and Sam Ervin III said he at an early age to become an attorney.

"Since both my father and grandfather had been, I probably didn't know anything else," he said.

His older sister Margaret Leslie Ervin, now Mrs. G. M. Hansler, also holds a legal degree. Judge Ervin said he believes she is considering taking the New Jersey bar examination.

Sam III said the only other profession he had given consideration to during his youth was sports writing. However he took that no further than being sports editor for the school newspaper at Davidson College.

As for being Democrats, the judge said, "Graddad had become somewhat disenchanted with Franklin Roosevelt."

However, he said, "We have been Democrats as far as I can remember. My feeling is the Democratic party has always manifested concern for the individual."

He noted that the party's philosophy is "more consistent with my personal philosophy than any other."

The judge said he and his father agree that, "If you are going to have any impact on political events you have to do it through one party or the other."

The Ervins do not always agree, however and their debates go back as far as the days when the elder Ervin was a member of the state Supreme Court.

Sam III recalled that, "He used to bring up hot political issues at the dinner table. Whatever our position was, he took the other one. We never knew whether what he said was what he believed."

"That not only forced us to have opinions, but to be able to defend them." He said he learned, "There are things to be said on the opposite side of a lot of things."

A more recent difference of viewpoint came on whether or not the minimum wage bill that President Nixon refused to sign should have been passed. Ervin III said had he been in Congress he would have voted in favor of the measure that would have raised the federal minimum wage to $1.80 an hour.

His father voted against the bill, however, on the grounds that the federal government has no Constitutional power to regulate the wages of state employees or others the bill would have affected.

Father and son have different interests when away from their respective chambers.

Judge Ervin enjoys swimming and backyard basketball.

On his father's interests, he observed, "He says he's a fisherman. The problem with his fishing is that he never has time to do it. His work is almost his hobby because most of the time at home he spends reading or writing speeches."

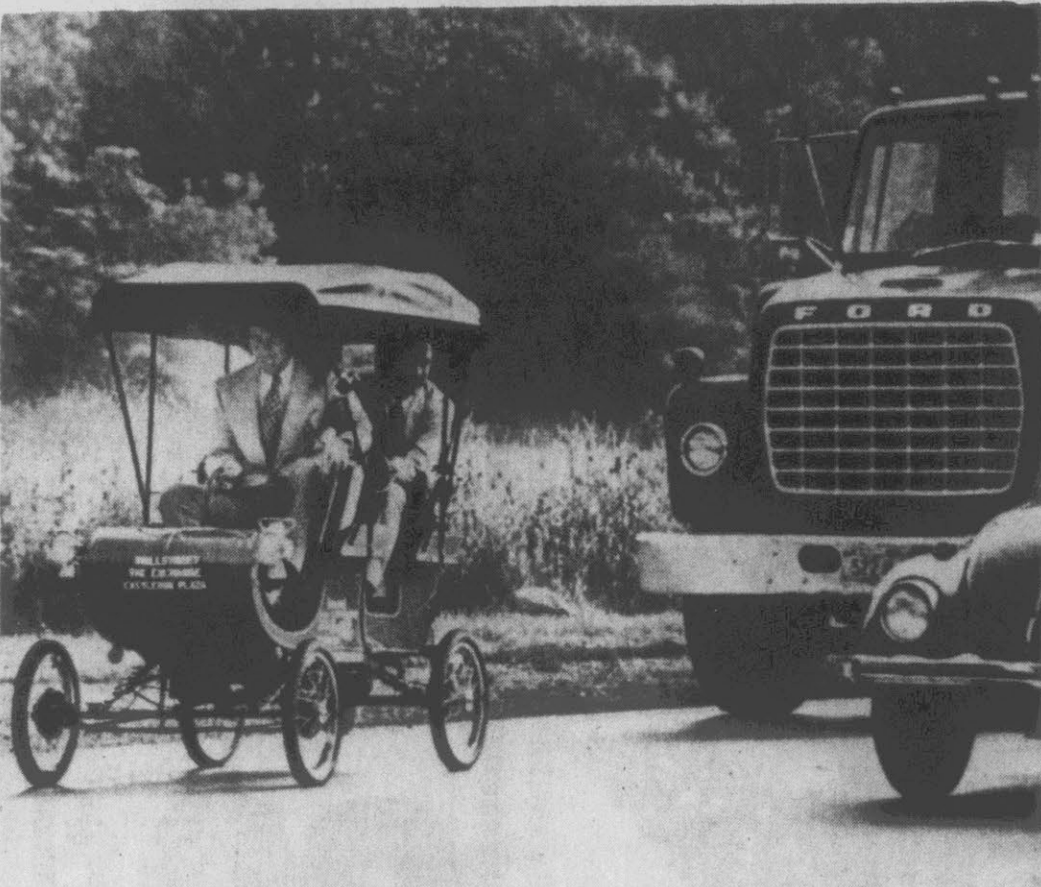

The judge noted that Senator Sam's reading is mostly concerned with some research or some Congressional issue in which he is involved.

That deep commitment to his job in the Senate has brought national fame to Sen. Ervin with his leadership in the Watergate investigation.

Some of that recognition has rubbed off on even the younger members of the family. Judge Ervin said his older son Jim (Sam IV), who was serving as a Senate page, has been interviewed on television.

Someone told the judge, "Your father is famous and now your son is famous. Now what about you?"

"It doesn't bother me," he said. "I think each individual has to do what he feels he ought and if you spend so much time comparing, you get very little done."

Named After A Arkansans Hold Royal House Chairmanships

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Three of the six members of Arkansas' congressional delegation chair important congressional committees.

Sen. John L. McClellan, is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee; Sen. J. William Fulbright is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bourbon drinkers may be disappointed to learn that Bourbon St. in the famed French Quarter of New Orleans was not named for that mellow spirit.

The Louisiana Tourist Commission reports that the street, known around the world for its jazz and strip tease nightclubs, was named after the House of Bourbon, rulers of France during the founding of New Orleans.

"'NOTHIN' DOIN' " — Whatever you're up to, you'd better try it somewhere else because the owner of this patch of ground isn't leaving any options. A Greenville News (S.C.) photographer spotted the sign while vacationing on Edisto Island. He photographed it from the road, because, quite obviously, no picture-takin' is allowed here. Building your money: How we can help you build thrift habits for your child.

If your child is ten or over, it's time to start teaching him or her about money building.

First, give us a call. We'll arrange a special tour of Bank of North Carolina, N.A. for you and your child. We'll explain how a bank puts money to work. We'll see the big vault.

Then, open a savings account for your child. (Minors under the age of 15 must have a parent or guardian co-sign to open an account—a N.C. banking law.)

A savings account can be opened at Bank of North Carolina for any amount of $1.00 or more.

A special savings register or passbook will be made out in your child's name.

We'll explain to your son or daughter how interest works. How we use their money and pay them for using it. We'll explain that they receive 5% interest, paid monthly. And we'll explain how compounding works (it's compounded daily and how they can earn money on the interest they earn.

We suggest they have a goal in mind; a benchmark to work towards. (Saving for "tomorrow" doesn't mean much to a ten-year-old. But saving for a new bike or riding lessons is real and important.)

We'll try to make your child feel comfortable in our bank.

Then it's up to you to encourage your children to save their dimes and quarters for the next trip to the Bank. And encourage them to earn money to go into their savings account. We'll let them know we're proud of them as their balance grows. You'll want to do the same.

The child who learns that bank means more than piggy bank is learning to be a financially responsible adult. And as a parent, that can help you build your own money. And building your money (and your child's) is our business.

Farmville's Incumbent Mayor Is Facing Challenge

By CAROL TYLER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE — Incumbent Mayor W. E. Joyner, seeking his third term, is being challenged by 29-year-old Jimmie Lee Smith in the Oct. 9 municipal election here.

Both men are Farmville natives.

Joyner, a former Judge of Farmville Recorder's Court, has operated a men's clothing store here for many years. A veteran of World War I, he graduated from Farmville High School and Eastern Business College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. A widower, he recently turned his business over to his son, Charles. The grandfather of two girls, he is a member of the Farmville United Methodist Church and is a Mason, a Shriner, and a member of the American Legion.

Smith, a 1961 graduate of H. B. Sugg High School, attended Fayetteville State University and graduated from Fordham University with a degree in government administration.

A bachelor, he is a consultant to New York State Senator Samuel D. Wright and to New York 12th District Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm. In these capacities and as a worker in the N. C. Voter Education Project, funded by the Ford Foundation, he said he lives at his mother's home in Farmville from Thursday night through Tuesday traveling to New York, Washington, or Atlanta in the intervening days.

His campaign is funded by the Southern Election Fund, which in turn is funded by the Carnegie Foundation, he said.

Smith said the Farmville Voters' League, with headquarters at 409 S. Main Street, which is supporting him, is working for improved law enforcement, no unpaved streets, no open drainage ditches, local medical facilities accessible after 6 p.m. and on weekends, a local Food Stamp Center, and more representative membership on local government boards.

Five candidates are seeking two vacant seats on the five-member Board of Commissioners. W. C. "Bill" Garner is seeking re-election, but outgoing Commissioner "Hap" Nichola is not. Those in the running, besides Garner, are Durwood T. Little, Bill Forbes, Mrs. Sarah Humphrey Albritton, and the Rev. Denmark Suggs.

Garner, seeking his third term, says he will have more time to devote to town government since he has recently retired from business here. A Wilson County native, he has lived in Farmville for 28 years and is a member of the First Baptist Church. He is married to the former Louise Gay and has a daughter and two stepdaughters.

Mrs. Albritton, a Farmville native, has farming interests in the area. A widow, she has two children, Harry Albritton of Atlanta, Ga. and Mrs. Theodora McCracken of Fort Leavenworth, Kan. She is a member of the First Christian Church and is a former member of the Farmville School Board and the Farmville Zoning Board. She says she has always been interested in Farmville and wants to contribute now that she has the time.

Durwood T. Little sought a commissioner's seat in the 1972 election and was not successful.

He is manager of the Farmville office of First Federal Savings and Loan Association. He is president of the Farmville Rotary Club and of the Coastal Plains Chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute. He is treasurer of the Farmville Child Development Center and is a member of the Farmville Presbyterian Church. He and his wife, the former Jane Hobgood, have a daughter, Fran, six.

The Rev. Suggs, pastor of Crisp Chapel in Edgecombe County and Brown's Chapel in Wilson, is a Free Will Baptist minister who is seeking his first public office. A Greene County native, he is a graduate of Roberson Union High School in Winterville and studied for the ministry under the Rev. P. A. Fullilove in Springfield, Mass., he said. He and his wife, the former Frannie Joyce Braddy, have two daughters, Karen and Denise Ann, and a son, Robert Kenneth. He said he is not one to dwell on particular issues, but would work for the concerns of all the citizens, if elected.

Bill Forbes, a local tobacco warehouseman and fertilizer dealer, is seeking office for the first time. He grew up in the King's Crossroads area, but has lived in Farmville since 1934, he said. He and his wife, the former Blanche Everett, have two daughters, Mrs. Billie Sue Hall of Chester, Va. and Mrs. Marsha Dean Conway of Manassas, Va.

Remembering His Past After 37-Year Amnesia

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Thirty-seven years ago, John R. Crosswhite left his home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., on a business trip to St. Louis. He never returned and although his wrecked car was found, Crosswhite's body was never discovered.

Five years later, a man named John R. Cross, who described himself as a retired contractor, settled in Joplin, Mo., married in 1942 and raised a family.

Cross recently suffered a stroke. As he recovered, he began remembering bits of his past and it turned out that Cross and Crosswhite — who was declared legally dead in 1940, leaving a widow and five children — are the same man.

Martha Jane Barker, a nurse at St. John's Medical Center here and one of two children of the Joplin marriage, said the tale came to light as her father recuperated.

"He started talking and babbling to me and saying his name was really John R. Crosswhite and that 'we need to get something straightened,'" Mrs. Barker said.

"We thought he was just delirious and ignored it, but he kept insisting, and a couple of days later he began crying and said he wanted to see his brother," she continued.

"We told him there was no brother, but he insisted there was," she said, noting her father had told her he was an only child. She said he also had told her he was a widower before marrying her mother.

"He finally told us to call the Crosswhites in the Enid (Okla.) area, so I finally located Frank Crosswhite in Hennessey, one of his brothers.

"I knew they were brothers when I saw Frank because they look so much alike," she said.

Frank said he had visited his brother, now 84, twice in the Joplin nursing home where he is now staying. "He didn't remember me at first, but since I've been going to see him, he knows me now."

Mrs. Barker said her father's doctor, Dr. E.H. Hamilton, told her Crosswhite "had a type of amnesia where he remembered the most important things in his young life, then had a big blank."

Frank said his brother remembered friends he had played with as a boy, but did not recall much about the period of his first marriage. In fact, Frank said, he didn't even remember he had been married before.

Crosswhite's first wife, now 83, has not been told of his existence for fear of upsetting her, Mrs. Barker said.

His second wife, Eula Cross,

62, said, "When he started recalling all of the past, at first I thought it was his imagination because of the stroke, but now it seems he is remembering his past."

She said that during their marriage he never said very much about his past, although he told her when she married him that he was a retired contractor.

Claims Few Broke Even On Investment

By F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)

— A former vice president in Glenn W. Turner's cosmetic empire says 95 per cent of the people who purchased distributorships in the pyramid sales business failed to break even on their investment.

Jimmie Earl Jones of Greenville, N.C., testified Tuesday as the government's first witness in the mail fraud trial of Turner, 39, attorney F. Lee Bailey, 40, and six others.

Jones said he was fired as vice president of Koscot Interplanetary Inc., in 1970 when he tried to spur distributors into selling more of the company's cosmetics in the face of short supplies.

James said he turned over a service station to his wife's uncle to join Turner in 1967 and made only $1 on the deal when the uncle went broke.

"I'd never been exposed to a man so highly motivated and energetic," James said of his decision to junk his business to work for Turner. "It caught me up to the point where I gave my service station away."

But he said in late 1969 he and others went to Turner and complained of a shortage of cosmetics to supply distributors.

"Mr. Turner broke his pencil and said, 'This is my company."

If it sinks, I'll sink it. If it swims, we swim with it. If you don't like it, get out," James testified.

On cross-examination, James admitted that after he was fired from Koscot, he tried to start a club to help people who lost their homes and money and solicited memberships from Koscot distributors.

James also acknowledged he was briefly a consultant to Chantress Cosmetics of Buffalo, N.Y., a company similar to Koscot.

Will Buy Back Liz's Diamond

PARIS (AP) — Cartier, one of Paris' most prestigious jewelry dealers, says it is willing to buy back Elizabeth Taylor's giant 69-carat diamond for $2 million.

Richard Burton paid a mere $1 million for the pear-shaped stone when he gave it to Miss Taylor for her 40th birthday in 1972.

But now Burton and Miss Taylor are getting a divorce, and Cartier says it's making the offer because the gem might become a point of contention in the divorce settlement.

ACS Donation For Microscope

The local chapter of American Cancer Society has donated $500 to the Pitt Memorial Hospital Department of Laboratory Medicine for a new microscope.

The presentation was made to Pitt Memorial Hospital Administrator Jack Richardson and staff pathologist Dr. Charles Gilbert by Mrs. Phyllis Martin, Cancer Society president. Dr. Gilbert said a microscope bought with the gift will be very useful in cancer diagnosis.

Lawyer Suing Black Panther

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Eldridge Cleaver's former lawyer is suing the Black Panther leader for $24,464.

Beverly Axelrod wants 25 per cent interest in Cleaver's book "Soul on Ice." She says Cleaver, who fled the country five years ago, illegally revoked an agreement giving her that share.

Cleaver hasn't been heard from publicly since being denied asylum in France in March.

PAYS HIS WAY
KANSAS CITY (UPI) — The Army Corps of Engineers has received an unsigned letter enclosing $50, in payment for some building materials taken from an abandoned house in the Ozarks owned by the government.

"I had several independent estimates and this amount is a little above, but it was worth that much to me," the letter said. "Thank you, and I remain proud to pay my way, and proud of my government."

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets were weaker Tuesday. Supplies were adequate and demand was fair to good.

Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs delivered in cartons to nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 72.73, medium whites 66.72, small whites 49.98.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices on the stock market opened mixed today against a background of economic news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction in early trading, but a few more issues had advanced than declined on the New York Stock Exchange.

In economic news the government reported an August trade deficit following the surplus for July. However the composite index of leading indicators advanced 1.2 per cent in August.

Virginia Electric Power led trading on the Big Board, unchanged at 18 3/4, followed by Litton Industries, unchanged at 10 and Sperry Rand, steady at 52 1/2.

The market advanced Tuesday despite midday profit-taking which dropped the Dow blue chip average almost four points. The key indicator closed up 3.84, bringing the total advance to nearly 50 for the past five sessions.

Falling short-term interest rates and speculation that the Federal Reserve may have eased its monetary policy contributed to the advance, brokers said. Brighter predictions for 1974 helped prices also, they said.

Their 'Regrets'

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The best defense is a good offense say officials at Franklin Federal Savings & Loan.

Someone knocked a hole in a wall at the firm's branch bank here but the burglars apparently were frightened off before finding what they were looking for.

So the association decided to take advantage of the situation.

A newspaper advertisement published in a local newspaper says:

"Notice to the person or persons who broke into our office over the weekend: Franklin Federal is ever anxious to serve its customers and regrets that there was no one to serve you when you entered our office..."

S. Viet Planes Strike Red Attackers

By DENNIS NEEDLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, (AP) — For the third day South Vietnamese planes today attacked Communist forces that overran a ranger base in the central highlands.

But military sources said the rugged mountain terrain around the Le Minh camp would impede the large-scale counterattack the government plans.

The Saigon command was reported preparing to send 2,000 troops to retake the base 23 miles west of Pleiku. But one senior officer said it would be "enormously difficult" to position artillery near the camp.

The attack Saturday on the base touched off one of the hardest battles in Vietnam since the Jan. 28 cease-fire. Military spokesmen say two North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions are now in action in Pleiku and Kontum provinces.

Survivors from Le Minh said North Vietnamese gunners opened up on the base at noon Saturday with a three-hour barrage of mortar and heavy artillery fire. U.S. sources said about 290 South Vietnamese troops and dependents were in the camp at the time.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, the Cambodian command said its troops were conducting operations on at least five fronts today, the first day of Prachum Ben, the Buddhist festival of the dead.

The Khmer Rouge insurgents staged spectacular raids in the Phnom Penh area during the 1972 and 1971 festivals, and the command is on the alert for an attempt to repeat.

A spokesman said government forces clashed with the insurgents on Highway 38 about 14 miles southwest of the capital. There was fighting also at Vihear Suor, 13 miles northeast of Phnom Penh; at Trapeang Kraloeung on the capital's road to the sea; on the edges of Kompong Cham, and on the western approaches to Phnom Penh. No major gain on either side was reported.

Hunt Canned Mushrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered a nationwide search for canned mushrooms it says may be contaminated with lethal botulin toxin.

The FDA made the announcement Tuesday after disclosing that federal inspections of 42 mushroom processing plants disclosed that half had deficient procedures or equipment.

Botulism poisoning from the toxin can be fatal if not diagnosed and treated promptly.

The FDA said it is searching more than 5,000 warehouses for the suspect cans. FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said 350 food inspectors plus state and local officials were joining in the search.

"We are convinced that the effort is necessary to end the sporadic problems we have encountered with canned mushrooms this year," said Schmidt. Specific canned mushroom brands have been recalled five times this year.

The FDA advised consumers who encounter swollen or leaking cans not to open or eat them but to contact their nearest FDA office.

The National Canners Association could not estimate total U.S. mushroom production nor the number of cans that the FDA might find in warehouses.

Milk Prices In Ohio Will Soar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio consumers may be paying as much as 12 cents more a gallon for milk after Oct. 1, the date of an announced price boost by dairy farmers.

Two Ohio milk cooperatives said Tuesday farmers will hike the price of milk sold to company buyers to $9.21 per hundredweight, an increase of 60 cents.

A spokesman for Borden Inc., one such company buyer, said the price of milk would definitely go up, "probably more than consumers are accustomed to." He declined to say how much the increase would be, but a state agriculture official said it would be about 12 cents a gallon.

Planning-Zoning Agenda Is Ready

Eight items of business are on the agenda for tonight's Joint City-County and Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission meeting.

The Joint board will hear a request by Norman Bennett Jr. for rezoning of property located next to Greenville Boulevard N. E., about one and a half miles north of the new bridge, from RA-20 to Highway Commercial.

A request for rezoning a portion of Oakmont Professional Plaza, located on the west side of N. C. 43 across from Carriage House Apartments from RA-20 to Office and Institutional, will also be considered.

The Greenville board will hear a request by Paul Wilson Jr., for rezoning, from R-6 to Office and Institutional, of the Stratford Arms Apartments property located on Charles Street.

The annexation of a portion of Oakmont Professional Plaza will be taken up as well as a preliminary plat on Section I of North River Estates, located east of State Road 1419 and south of Greenfield Terrace.

The board will consider the realignment of a portion of the service alley between Truman and Ione Streets, adjacent to the Golden Dragon Restaurant and consider a change in the name of Crestline Boulevard to Club Pines Road.

Jaguars Out To Upset Ayden-Grifton

Southern Wayne shocked Greene Central's Rams last Friday night, and that put that team's Eastern Carolina Conference title hopes in jeopardy although the season is only three weeks old.

Ayden-Grifton's Chargers won their second straight league game, downing Conley, 26-6, last week, and held onto a third share of the league, along with Farmville Central and North Lenoir, and that number will be reduced by one this weekend.

The top game of the week sends Farmville Central against Ayden-Grifton on the Jaguar home field, and the winner of that game will take a big step forward in the conference race.

Besides the A-G victory last week, North Lenoir won its second in the league with a 14-12 victory over C. B. Aycock, while Eastern Wayne slipped by North Pitt, 14-6. Farmville Central rallied past Southern Nash, 15-12, and Southern Wayne surprised Greene Central, 12-9.

This week, besides the Farmville-Ayden-Grifton game, Aycock will be at Greene Central, Eastern Wayne at North Lenoir, and Southern Nash at North Pitt in league games.

Conley plays host to West Craven and Southern Wayne is at Goldsboro in non-conference games.

In the Northeastern Conference, all games were non-league last week. Ahoskie won its third downing Northeastern, 14-6, while Bertie was dropping its third, 26-14, to Havelock. Edenton won its third, 46-15, over Gates, and Plymouth went to 2-0 with a 27-2 win over Robersonville. Roanoke Rapids also is unbeaten, 3-0, after a 38-0 win over Perquimans. Tarboro lost, 20-0, to Northern Nash, while Washington fell to New Bern, 28-0. Williamston is also unbeaten, 28-10, over Murrefreesboro.

Friday, all teams begin their conference schedule. Ahoskie hosts Bertie, Edenton is at Plymouth, Roanoke Rapids at Williamston, and Washington at Tarboro.

The Eastern Plains league also wound up its non-conference schedule. Elm City lost to Chocowinity, 14-6, Rock Ridge beat Lee Woodward by 47-0, Robersonville fell to Plymouth, as noted, Saratoga lost to Rosewood, 33-6, and West Edgemont beat Coates, 12-8.

South Edgemont and North Johnston were open. The Rock Ridge-Lee Woodward game was not a league game, since the two meet later in the year.

Friday, Rock Ridge is at Elm City, Lee Woodward hosts South Edgemont, North Johnston is at Saratoga, and Robersonville is host to West Edgemont.

Finally, in the Coastal 3-A, East Cartaret beat Whiteville, 14-6, Havelock, as noted, downed Bertie; and West Craven beat Pamlico, 19-6, in non-league action. West Cartaret moved out into the early league lead with a 40-0 win over Jones Senior.

This week, East Cartaret goes to Swansboro, Havelock hosts East Bladen, Jones hosts White Oak, West Cartaret is at New Hanover, and West Craven is at Conley.

The top game of the week in the Eastern Carolina league is at Farmville, where the Chargers visit. Ayden-Grifton, by winning could really boost its chances, but the game is always one of the toughest of the year for both teams.

Farmville Central coach Gene Brewer wasn't happy with his team's play against Southern Nash last week. "The game was terrible or worse for three quarters," he said. "The last quarter, we looked like a football team. The punt return (for a touchdown) got us back in the game and I guess the team decided they wanted to play ball."

Brewer singled out Jeff Wilkes for his offensive work, and Keith Oakley for his punt returning.

He admits that the Jaguars have their work cut out for them this week. "Ayden-Grifton has a real good ball club. They have three or four outstanding players and we have to contain them. Our offense has to be able to move the ball, and our defense is going to have to play a lot better. So far we have only played well enough to win; we haven't gone overboard."

Brewer said the Jaguars are in good health, with only minor, nagging injuries.

Across the county, Ayden-Grifton's Mike Overton was somewhat disappointed in his team's performance against Conley last week. "It was a real rough game," he said. "We got a lot of guys banged up, but nothing serious. We played sloppy, and it was hard to get up for the game anyway. We had a lot of penalties, and we were still able to get a lot of yardage."

Overton had praise for Tom Craft, Ernest Dixon and Milton Brown on defense, while Tony Koonce "did a good job on offense," along with Greg Nelson. "The line blocking was also fairly good," Overton said.

"Farmville Central is always a tough game for us. They're coming in with a 2-0 league record, and off a come-back win. They're going to be fired up, I'm sure. They are small in numbers, like us, but they have a good, aggressive defensive team."

North Pitt's Danny Wilmer is still looking for his team's first win, but noted that things were brighter last week, despite another loss.

"They (Eastern Wayne) scored late in the half, and a fumble really killed us. We had some tough breaks, but we came back and scored, and threatened to tie it up, but we finally beat ourselves," Wilmer said.

"We went after it, however, and I believe that we are coming around," he added.

The Panthers will be missing

Milton Alston who is having eye surgery for a non-football purpose. He's expected to be back in two weeks.

"I thought Rick Harrell played well going both ways, and Spencer Barnhill looked good at center. Clarence Mooring ran well, but he needs to improve his blocking. Overall we had a fairly good team effort in the second half."

This week, the Panthers play Southern Nash, and it's the first home game for the team. "They have some good running backs and a good defense. They run from an unbalanced line, and

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

East Carolina's victory over Southern Illinois University last Saturday night was a game with a little bit of everything in it—and its was as hard-fought as any seen in some time.

Fortunately a late afternoon rain cooled down the artificial playing surface and made playing conditions much better or the attrition rate among the players might have been much worse. As it was, there were a number of injuries caused by the hard hitting on both sides. A number of Pirates were taken to the bench for one thing or another, and two of the Southern Illinois players had to be taken to the hospital for checks.

Again, fortunately, none of the injuries sustained by the Pirates are bad. They are the nagging type that takes a while to get over, but don't prevent playing.

Carl Summerell played his best game of the year against the Salukis. The big quarterback ran the ball well, and when he had to pass; he found his target. Summerell hit on two of four in the game, and scored three touchdowns, just short of the school mark held by Dave Alexander.

And when Summerell was taken out after a slight injury, Bob Bailey came on to do an outstanding job in relief. On his first play, he hit Benny Gibson for a two-point conversion that gave the Pirates a little more breathing room after Southern had come back to cut the lead to only two points. Bailey's field play was flawless, and he also hit on two of four passes.

Carlester Crumpler also showed that he is returning to form after an injury in the State game. He broke away for one run of 65 yards, and ran hard the rest of the night.

Kenny Strayhorn and Don Schink, however, continued to run well, and Crumpler still is listed as a "reserve."

And that leaves East Carolina with a situation much like that of the Miami Dolphins, who have three, instead of two, starting running backs.

The victory for the Bucs, despite the score, was a hard one to get, and it took a fine effort by both the offense and defense to get it. There may have been somewhat of a mental letdown after the Bucs cashed in on two quick touchdowns when Southern fumbled the snap on punts, giving East Carolina a 20-0 lead after only seven-plus minutes, and a total of three scores in less than four.

The tired kickoff team than let speedster Larry Perkins away for a fine return on the third kickoff in that sport span, and a penalty put them in good field position. East Carolina had them stopped, but a penalty gave them a second chance, and the virtual Saluki offense paid off.

It is doubtful whether the Pirates will meet a team with as much talent as Southern has. They need only experience to become an outstanding team. They have two fine quarterbacks, a field full of runners with both power and speed. A victory over them must be considered a good one.

Just a few thoughts:

The State-Virginia crowd didn't come up to what a lot of people up at State were figuring on. Maybe ECU, is a good draw after all.

You probably saw the Florida-Southern Mississippi score. Southern Miss lost 13-12. And the results of the State-Nebraska game didn't do anything to hurt the Pirates either.

Al Hunter, former Rose running back, played briefly, against Northwestern in Notre Dame's first game. Les Strayhorn, played nearly all of the final period, scoring once against New Orleans for the Dallas Cowboys.

Joe West, another former Rose griddy, is a senior at Elon this year, and has led the team to two Carolinas Conference titles, and has them 3-0 this year. Against Guilford last week, he hit 12 of 18 passes for 190 yards and a touchdown. He, is the 10th ranked passer in the nation among NAIA schools. Elon also ranks in the top 10 in the NAIA poll.

Furman won't be a pushover this weekend, and it should be a "dog-gone good game." The Pirates call their defense the "Wild Dogs," and Furman has started calling theirs the "Junkyard Dogs."

Somebody is bound to come up with the statement that the losing team couldn't get elected dog-catcher.

New York Strengthens Lead By Winning As Pirates Handed Loss

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets hold the upper hand in the National League East and are prepared to deal their aces in the remaining games of high stakes.

"The Met pitching is coming on strong now," says Manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies, assessing the wild pennant shuffle. "And pitching is very important in the stretch."

The front-running Mets strengthened their lead to 1½ games over Pittsburgh with a 2-1 decision over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night while the Phillies defeated the Pirates by the same score.

Tonight, the Mets will pitch right-handed star Tom Seaver against Montreal in the windup of their series at Shea Stadium.

"The Pittsburgh club definitely has the bats and good defense but I know (Manager) Danny Murtaugh is pressing for pitching," said Ozark. "They may be a little weak as far as putting a starting pitcher out there."

"We're going to have to go with what we have," said Murtaugh, who'll have to go with rookie Jim McKees against the Phillies tonight.

Still, Pirate center fielder Al Oliver wasn't discouraged over the situation.

"We've never been down on ourselves, even when things are really going bad," said

Oliver. "No one likes to lose, but the next day you have to snap back, and that's what we will do."

In the other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Atlanta Braves 5-1; the Cincinnati Reds nipped the San Diego Padres 3-2; the Houston Astros stopped the San Francisco Giants 5-1 and the Chicago Cubs nudged the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3.

Cleon Jones slugged a tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning and made a game-saving catch in the seventh to pace the Met success.

Phillies 2, Pirates 1
Mike Anderson and Bill Robinson clouted home runs to back the five-hit pitching of Steve Carlton in Philadelphia's 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

Dodgers 5, Braves 1
Don Sutton fired a four-hitter to pace Los Angeles over Atlanta 5-1. Ron Cey hit a three-run homer for the Dodgers.

Reds 3, Padres 2
Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke cracked successive doubles to drive in two runs and Jack Billingham limited San Diego to five hits as Cincinnati downed the Padres 3-2.

Astros 5, Giants 1
Tom Griffin fired a three-hitter and Bob Watson knocked in two runs with a homer and single to pace Houston over San Francisco 5-1.

Cubs 4, Cardinals 3
Jose Cardenal's two-run double in the ninth highlighted a three-run rally that powered Chicago past St. Louis 4-3.

Rookie Passes Orioles' Test

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

The rich get rich and the poor ... well, the poor lose ball games.

Baltimore's talent-laden Orioles, marking time until baseball's American League play-offs, rested a regular and inserted rookie Jim Fuller in their lineup Tuesday night. The results, like the Orioles, were impressive.

Fuller, who led the International League with 39 homers this year, tagged a pair in Baltimore's 8-3 victory over Detroit.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, Minnesota whipped Oakland 9-4, Boston nipped Cleveland 3-2, Milwaukee went 13 innings to defeat the Yankees 3-2, Kansas City downed Chicago 6-2 and Texas defeated California 4-1.

Fuller has had an interesting September trial with the East Division champion Orioles. Tuesday's game was typical. He homered twice and struck out three times. In 13 at bats with the Birds, the young slugger has accumulated nine strikeouts.

"He does what Ruth and Mantle did," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "He strikes out a lot or he hits home runs."

That's nice company for a rookie.

Fuller and Rich Coggins had a pair of two-run homers in the first inning as Baltimore ganged up on Tiger starter Jim Perry, knocking him out before he could retire a batter.

Twins 9, A's 4

Tony Oliva drove in five runs with a homer and a double, leading Minnesota to a 9-4 victory over Oakland's West Division champions. Oliva's second-inning double off Chuck Dobson was good for two runs and he tagged a three-run homer in the fifth against reliever Darold Knowles.

Red Sox 3, Indians 2
Boston moved two games

ahead of Detroit in the battle for second place in the AL East by defeating Cleveland 3-2. The Red Sox won it on designated hitter Orlando Cepeda's three-run homer in the first inning.

Brewers 3, Yankees 2
Pedro Garcia drove in Milwaukee's deciding run with a 13th inning single that defeated New York 3-2. The Yankees had come from behind, scoring single runs in the eighth and ninth innings to tie it.

Royals 6, White Sox 2
Hal McRae drove in three Kansas City runs, helping the Royals to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. McRae singled home a run in the first inning and delivered two more in the seventh. Jim Wohlford scored three of the Royals' runs.

Rangers 4, Angels 1
Jim Spencer's 10th inning single drove in two runs to break a tie and helped Texas defeat California 4-1. The Rangers beat Bill Singer, who was bidding for his 20th victory of the season.

Suns Tops Cougars

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—It was the National Basketball Association over the American Basketball Association Tuesday night as the Phoenix Suns scored a 108-91 exhibition game victory over the Carolina Cougars.

The Suns outscored the Cougars in all but the final quarter, building up a 54-33 half-time lead.

Carolina's newly acquired center, Jim Chones, led scoring for the Cougars with 18 points. Ted McClain had 13 and Billy Cunningham and Mack Calvin put in 10 points each for Carolina.

Walt Wesley with 19 points and Gary Melchionni with 14 paced the Suns to victory. Former North Carolina star Charlie Scott scored 13 points for Phoenix.

The Suns had a 26-14 first quarter lead and were at 87-60 after the third quarter. The Cougars balanced the score somewhat with a 31-21 margin in the final period.

Farmville really had to rally to beat them. Having them here will help us, but I expect a tough game."

Conley's Chuck Dunn felt his team had a good effort against Ayden-Grifton last week, and with a couple of breaks could have upset the Chargers. "We had out chances. We had one touchdown called back and the first half ran out with us at the two. We also gave away two easy scores, but they didn't run over us."

Willie Hawkins, Barry Purser, Stencil Hines all drew individual praise. "The whole team effort was a good one," Dunn said. But injuries hurt the team. "We came back like it was from World War II," Dunn said. Hines and Dallas Wade are out for the year with knee injuries, and Jimmy Warren will probably miss this week. Calvin Hawkins, meanwhile, may be back from a pre-season injury.

"I know they've (West Craven, this week's opponent) had the best team they've ever had," Dunn said. "They are 2-1 so far, and I expect them to give us a real good game. We'll have to play well to win. Their quarterback is a pretty good runner and passer, and the key to their offense."

Social Service Is New Police Creed

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — "Please freeze," says a nattily dressed police officer. He levels a shotgun at two young burglars who are stunned more by the tense courtesy than the presence of the law.

That polite greeting, which police say occurred, sets the hang-loose tone for the 37-member Menlo Park Police Department that wears blazers and does as much social work as cop work.

Police in this San Francisco Peninsula community of 30,000 also emphasize a business-like organization, talking instead of arresting, referrals to drug and welfare agencies and Alcoholics Anonymous.

"Eighty per cent of police work is in the area of social services," says Chief Victor I. Cizancas, 36, a former Marine who keeps a bust of Socrates in his office.

Cizancas started the Menlo Park police revolution five years ago after studying federal reports issued in the wake of urban rioting.

Cizancas, who stands 6-foot-4, said he decided he could apply liberalized police principles to this city that stretches from spacious homes near the Stanford University campus to bleak bungalows in the 6,000-person black community.

He said nearly half of the members of the force resigned in the first two years because they couldn't accept the demise of a rigid chain of command.

Cizancas, who came to the city's attention for his cool handling of riots in 1967, dressed his officers in green or gold blazers bearing a modest patch with the tiny embroidered words, "Police."

They pack pistols, mace, handcuffs and extra bullets but aren't to show them unless it is absolutely necessary. "I'm a great believer in 'clothes maketh the man,'" Cizancas says. "And the community seems to think police are more intelligent when they are out of uniform."

Cizancas abolished the normal police command chain of captains, lieutenants and sergeants in favor of a business-like approach of officer, agent, manager, director and chief. An operations manager heads three patrol teams that emphasize group problem solving.

Cizancas also abolished the detective bureau and established a Crime Specific Bureau that emphasizes prevention of burglary. Burglaries account for 55 per cent of the town's crime. Officials say burglaries have been cut by 21 per cent since the unit was established in 1968.

Cizancas is known for his cool. During an antiwar demonstration at Stanford Research Institute in 1971, police distributed leaflets telling demonstrators they were there to help them. "We leafleted them, and they were so surprised they cracked up," he said.

But another night during a rough demonstration at the same place, Cizancas was smacked in the face with a slice of cream pie.

"My favorite flavor — strawberry," he said as he grinned.

Africa's Largest Dam Is Nearing Completion

By MICHAEL KEATS
CABORA BASSA, Mozambique (UPI) — "A crime against humanity" — a crime against humanity, said President Kenneth Kaunda called it, and it's been constantly threatened by guerrilla attacks for four years. But work at Cabora Bassa, the largest dam in Africa, continues on schedule.

For Portugal, which has ruled Mozambique for nearly 500 years, the dam is a symbol of its presence in Africa. The failure of the Mozambique Liberation Front (FRELIMO) to stop work at Cabora Bassa has been a blow to the rebel movement.

In 1968, the then leader of Frelimo, Eduardo Mondlane, declared, "If we do not destroy the Cabora Bassa dam scheme, or at least make it twice as costly, we will have received the greatest setback."

Today, the dam wall is rising rapidly from the bottom of the mighty Zambezi River to its final height of 550 feet. Construction of hydroelectric station and high-voltage power lines—which will carry power through 537 miles of Portuguese territory and a further 313 miles in South Africa—continues apace.

The dam, which will stretch 1,000 feet at crest, is due to be completed in May, 1974. It will then start pushing the Zambezi back to form a lake 1,900 square miles in area, 165 miles long, inundating the land on each side of the river and its tributaries to a distance of 18 miles.

Switch-on in '75
Switch-on for the first three of five massive turbines in the main powerhouse is scheduled for the end of 1975. Work on the rest of the complex will continue until 1979.

The final cost is formidable—nearly $700 million—but the benefits will be equally enormous.

The dam will irrigate 3.7 million acres on which sugar, grain, citrus, vegetables, jute and cotton could be cultivated. Mineral deposits — including iron, manganese, nickel, copper, fluospar, chrome and asbestos—are to be developed, as well as a 12-mile seam of coking coal.

With cheap power, and plenty of water from the Cabora Bassa lake, it will be possible to start a steel industry and a factory to produce nitrogenous fertilizer.

In fact, "given time and money," central Africa now stands at the beginning of an age of industrial expansion, says Dr. Crispin de Sousa, head of the Zambesi Planning Commission.

Fortunes Based On Spice Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Yale University was founded on the spice fortune of Elihu Yale's. So reports the American Spice Trade Association, along with other spice facts. Pepper duties once accounted for a considerable share of our national budget. Between 1784 and 1873 American ships made a thousand pepper voyages to the East Indies.

Variable Factor In House Calls

NEW YORK (UPI) — In general, the doctor's house call is a rarity these days.

But the extent to which doctors see patients at home varies considerably with the practitioner and the age of the patient, reports the Health Insurance Institute. It cites further figures from the National Center for Health Statistics, showing there were 17 million home visits in 1971. But they constituted only 1.7 per cent of all physicians' appointments that year.

Boost to White Rule?
"Cabora Bassa will open the way to subsidiary dams, locks and canals downstream," he told UPI. "Barges carrying 1,000-ton loads will be able to navigate the Zambezi for about 300 miles from the Indian Ocean."

The anti-Portuguese Liberation Front, with the support of the governments of Zambia and Tanzania, sees all this as a boost to white rule in Africa with thousands of white settlers moving into Mozambique. Portuguese authorities deny this. Although whites presently number less than 200,000 of the 8.2 million people in Mozambique, they insist there is no plan to boost this by immigration.

"We are battling for the hearts and minds of the Mozambique people," de Sousa said. "The benefits from Cabora Bassa will show them the advantages of being Portuguese."

While the guerrillas have failed to halt construction at Cabora Bassa they have one chance left to disrupt the scheme—the powerline that stretches through some of the wildest bushveld of Mozambique. Cables will be threaded on twin rows of more than 4,000 pylons and just how the Portuguese plan to protect the lines from sabotage once the power is on remains a secret.

Smile May Help Meat Shortage

NEW YORK (UPI) — The current tight meat situation reminds of a story carried over from the tight-belt days of the Depression.

The story is told in the American Spice Trade Association's latest newsletter. This woman was asked what her family's favorite dish was. She replied they ate mostly "potatoes and point" ... lots of potatoes but so little meat you could only point at it.

Legislator Is Soon Forgotten

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Wilcox County Probate Court Judge Roland Cooper can tell you how fast you can be forgotten in the Alabama Legislature.

Cooper had served 16 years in the state Senate and was one of its leaders when he resigned a few months ago to become probate court judge.

When he returned to the Capitol, he was run out of the legislative parking lot by a Capitol guard, although he was only trying to use the parking space reserved for a garbage truck.

Anniversary Of A Famous Fire

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (UPI) — August marked the 40th anniversary of one of the West's most famous forest fires—the Tillamook Burn. Starting on Aug. 14, 1933, the fire burned 40,000 acres within 10 days. After it was brought almost under control, the blaze erupted again and in total burned 310,000 acres.

Computer Took French

MONTREAL (AP) — "Merci." If you shop at Montreal's Miracle Mart discount department store that's what you will read on your sales receipt instead of "thank you."

All of the 22 electronic point-of-sale terminals in Miracle Mart's Place Versailles department store speak French exclusively. French is used on all register keys, the visual display panel that leads sales clerks through a transaction, and on customer receipts. In the chain's other stores, where English is the predominant language, the same point-of-sale terminals also speak English.

Pitney Bowes-Alpex taught its electronic equipment to speak French by customizing its standard units, used in more than 325 stores in the United States and Canada.

According to James Carter, president of Pitney Bowes-Alpex, Danbury, Conn.: "To our knowledge, this is the first electronic point-of-sale system where French is the keyboard language," he adds.

California Sales Tax Down Oct. 1

By CARL INGRAM
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — In politically bewildering California, where the unusual is commonplace, the "yo-yo" state sales tax is headed for a temporary spin downward on Oct. 1.

Unless the Democratic-controlled legislature and Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan decide otherwise, it will snap back up again on April 1, permanently. Here's the background:

Basically, the sales tax increased from 5 to 6 cents on the dollar (6 1/2 cents in the San Francisco Bay area counties) because the governor and legislature couldn't agree by last June 30 how to delay the additional levy already on the books. This occurred in the face of an unprecedented $826 million tax surplus—a one-time stockpiling of funds accrued because of payroll withholding, welfare savings and a booming economy.

Originally, the extra levy was intended to help finance the state's new property tax relief and school finance program—jointly fashioned by Reagan and the Democrats. Then the surplus emerged, and virtually everybody agreed the tax increase was both unnecessary and unwanted.

Reagan wanted to use up about half the surplus by simply delaying the increase from July, when it was due to take effect, until next February. This would leave most of the balance available for a proposed 20 per cent rebate to income taxpayers.

The legislature, however, sent the governor a bill proposing both the July-February sales tax increase delay and a one-time 30 per cent income tax rebate limited to $200 per couple or $100 per individual. Reagan vetoed the bill, so as scheduled the sales tax increased in July by a penny on the dollar.

The action touched off an angry howl from taxpayers who swamped the state capital with bitter letters of protest.

When the legislature returned from its summer recess, it failed to overturn the gubernatorial veto and subsequently voted overwhelming approval of a plan originally offered by Reagan on June 29, before the recess. The new bill reduced the sales tax back to 5 cents on the dollar for six months starting Oct. 1, and granted income taxpayers a 20 to 35 per cent income tax cut on returns filed next April 15.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, a Democratic contender for governor and outspoken for of Reagan's tax limitation plan, branded Reagan's June 29 proposal an offer to "help his wealthy friends." When the legislature finally came to accepting it last month, Moretti voted for the measure and termed it "far better" than the initial proposal "because it gives substantially more to the lower and middle income people of this state."

At a ceremony signing the tax reduction bill into law, Reagan scolded the legislature for "dragging its feet" and not accepting his plan earlier. He proclaimed the reduction to be the "largest state tax rebate in the nation's history."

'Miracle' Jars To Be Labeled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Just what's in that "miracle" cosmetics jar?

The Food and Drug Administration has called for mandatory cosmetics ingredient labeling in order to reduce injuries and promote comparison price shopping.

An estimated 60,000 injuries, ranging from skin eruptions and burns to loss of hair and severe allergic reaction to the eye, occur each year from cosmetic use, according to the National Commission on Product Safety.

Motivate Pupils With Animals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Animals are being used in a new project in San Francisco to excite and motivate young students.

A zoomobile has been developed by the Zoological Society to take a lion cub, crow, chinchillas, boa constrictor, indigo snake, hedgehog, African pygmy goat, iguanas, opossums, baby raccoons, guinea pigs, rabbits, armadillos and a box turtle to the classroom.

Slow Start For Some TV Shows

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen ratings for "premiere week" this television season provided good news for CBS but potential problems for eight new series — four of which flopped, by ratings standards, on opening night.

When last year's season began, four new series were rated among the nation's most popular. This year, no new series started in the top 20 during the season's first week, according to Nielsen figures for Sept. 10-16.

The week's top-rated show was "Planet of the Apes," a CBS Friday night movie seen in an estimated 22.2 million homes. What this means is not clear, but you'd better ask your broker about banana futures.

The returns for the season's first week showed that viewers preferred old favorites by a wide margin, although the new shows may gain strength when the channel-flipping gets serious.

CBS won the first ratings round with 15 entries listed in the top 20. "All in the Family," a consistent winner last season, was rated as the nation's second most popular show after "Planet."

It was followed by six other CBS offerings, "M-A-S-H," "Hawaii Five-O," "Mary Tyler Moore," "CBS Tuesday Night Movie," "Bob Newhart" and "Barnaby Jones."

Then, according to the Nielsen list, came "ABC Thursday Night Movie," "Cannon," "Maude" and "Carol Burnett" (all three CBS), "Sanford & Son" (NBC), "ABC Sunday Night Movie," "Gunsmoke" and "The Waltons" (both CBS).

"Ironside" (NBC), "Sonny & Cher" (CBS), "NBC Monday Night Movies" and "Lucy" (CBS).

At the bottom of the 58-program list was the Democratic party's fund-raising telethon, aired by NBC Sept. 15. It was seen in only an estimated 4.3 million homes between 8 and 11 p.m., Nielsen figures said.

During premiere week, NBC broadcast five new shows; CBS, two; ABC, one. Of these shows, CBS' "Calucci's Dept.," ABC's "Adam's Rib" and NBC's "Chase" and "Girl with Something Extra" laid rating eggs.

None reached or rose above 30 per cent in the category Nielsen calls "share of audience," or the estimated national percentage of viewers tuned to competing shows during a given hour.

Networks generally consider the 30 per cent mark the make-or-break point for a series, although it won't be known for at least a month if the four new series are in deep trouble or stand a chance of survival.

But "Calucci" and "Adam's Rib" got off to a particularly bad start, tying for 52nd place in the Nielsen rankings.

None of the four other new shows registered strongly, although they all at least reached or slightly exceeded the magic 30 per cent mark.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early hours present a considerable number of delays. Later, sudden and startling conditions change the tempo, so you need to watch for both influences and sidestep early depression and later breaking up of doubt and uncertainty in a dramatic fashion.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show tact at home and avoid some possible serious argument. Then get out to meet one for a fine business deal. Drive with care. Use a more direct approach with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't try to make radical changes in job or work or you could get into real trouble. A co-worker may be difficult early, but later is helpful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think, and avoid some financial bind. Making a big bill could really get you behind the eight ball.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do your work efficiently early, then meet with good friends; invite them to your home. Handle personal affairs well. Don't spend too much.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep steadfast at your work and don't try to avoid responsibilities. Get wardrobe in order. Sociability good in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Concentrate on personal desires early, then handle financial affairs well. Find ways to increase income. Steer clear of one in a bad humor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Important to carry through with what higher-ups want of you in a.m., then join good friends for pleasure. Pay bills. Don't stay out too late.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do something quickly about fine new ideas and avoid getting off on tangents. Use willpower. Romance favored in p.m. Show tenderness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't permit a flighty associate to upset you in a.m. Attend social affair later. Get out from under that tense public situation. Devote p.m. to kin.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't force associate to do something or you meet stiff opposition. Win support of some influential person later. Social life favored in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Complete work quickly then investigate new interests. A co-worker has a good idea that should be followed, even though you may not think much of it at first.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) It is best that you get much work done during day; use a better system. Enjoy companionship of mate in p.m. Find ways to cut expenses. Control your temper.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those young people who will receive many hard knocks early in life because of the stubbornness in this nature, but later learns much from them and the life becomes an industrious, happy, successful one after cooperation with others is learned. Any profession requiring neatness and exactness is fine here. Give as much education as your child will take. Be careful of the diet.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

NBC's "Diana," starring Diana Rigg, did the best of the lot. It was ranked 29th among the 58 programs rated. CBS' "New Perry Mason" was installed in 31st place, and NBC's "Lotsa Luck" and "NBC Follies," in 32nd and 34th, respectively.

Texas Imports Afghan Pheasant

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Parks and Wildlife officials have released 500 Afghan white-winged pheasants along the Rio Grande in far West Texas in an effort to establish the bird in the state as a game species.

Biologist Jimmy May of Tyler says both the climate and farming practices of the Rio Grande area parallel those of Afghanistan. The birds have been released over a three-year period.

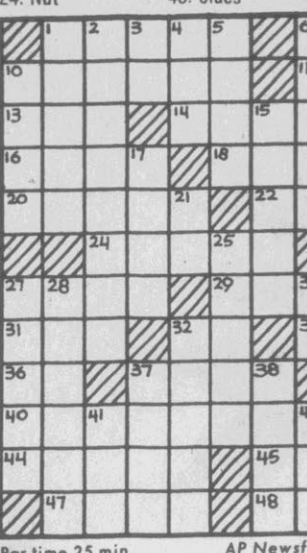

Gas Wasted In Traffic Tie-Ups

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — One billion gallons of auto fuel — 1 per cent of total vehicle gas consumption—could be saved each year by eliminating traffic bottlenecks and resulting tieups, according to an oil company executive.

John P. Wendell, executive vice president of United Refining Co., told a transportation group here that "gasoline-wasting urban traffic jams represent the largest single untapped area of potential fuel savings."

Propagators of an international language have never met with overwhelming success. Perhaps they should turn their attention to bridge. There are some bids that, irrespective of the system you are playing or the geographical location of the players, mean the same thing the world over. This hand, from a recent Mid-Atlantic Regional team championship played in Richmond, Va., is a case in point.

South was a member of the old school where a jump overall shows a strong hand. While his point count was not all that high, the trick-taking potential of the hand was adequate compensation. A competitive auction seemed to be ending in four spades when East, Larry Allen of Greensboro, N. C., interjected a bid of five diamonds! South went on to five spades and West doubled.

Before making the opening lead, Ellen Allen reviewed the bidding. Altho their side had agreed upon hearts as the trump suit, her partner had bid diamonds at the five level. Obviously, that could not be a suit in which he wanted to play. The only interpretation of the bid was that it was lead-directing.

Accordingly, she led the ten of diamonds, obeying her partner's instructions and at the same time suggesting an entry in the high ranked suit — hearts. East ruffed, and realizing that declarer was probably void in hearts, cashed the ace of clubs. West signalled with the seven, and East continued the suit to the king. Back came another diamond, and a second ruff defeated the contract two tricks for a score of 500 points—more than the value of a game for East-West.

Note that without East's lead-directing diamond bid West's natural lead is the ace of hearts. Declarer would ruff and collect 11 top tricks—six trumps and five diamonds—to make his contract.

The 'Worry Clinic' Ego-Inflation Is The Secret

Sally not only had a high I.Q. but also a classy chassis and a good paint job! But still she lacked 2nd dates. For boys dropped her after their first date. Girls, there is a special strategy for solving this problem. Scrapbook this case and reread it!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE Y-526: Sally D., aged 19, is a college sophomore.
"Dr. Crane," her mother began, "Sally has an I.Q. of 135, so she is considered very brilliant.

"And she makes straight 'A' grades, so she should qualify for Phi Beta Kappa when she graduates.

"But she doesn't seem popular with boys and this disturbs her so much she wants to quit college.

"Yet Sally is a very pretty girl, with a good figure, so what can the trouble be?"

Piano Fallacy
Just because Sally is pretty, brilliant and interested in a piano, doesn't make her an accomplished pianist, does it?

For we don't inherit the art of bringing forth harmony or melody from the keyboard.

No; it requires precise study of the basic laws of music, plus a lot of diligent practice.

Same is equally true of harmonious adjustments to people! The art of gay, easy conversation is not inherited!

It must be learned via the same scientific rules as piano playing.

Sally thus needs to remember that the cardinal law in winning friends of both sexes (and especially suitors) is contained in this axiom: "I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

But on a date, the girl must generally be the deft practical psychologist and thus employ the "Stoop to conquer" technique.

Sally thus wants the boy friend to pay her compliments and inflate her ego.

But even boys with her own I.Q. are usually awkward at conversation.

Moreover, they also want to feel important and thus are waiting for her to build up their ego.

If each begins to toot his own horn by showing off in front of the other, then both fail to get that necessary ego inflation from their companion which will lead to 2nd and 3rd dates.

Instead, they will rebuff or alienate each other and thus call it quits after that first date.

So Sally must become a social detective, ferreting out the visible merits or virtues in her boy friend and then be lavish with honest praise thereon.

Soon he will expand happily, for he will thus begin to feel more important.

And a corollary of that axiom states that when our companion makes us feel more important, then our resulting pleasure spills over and paints our associate a more attractive hue.

So we soon crave return dates, just to get bigger doses of those compliments.

It isn't long until the boy friend will then awkwardly praise Sally in return!

Thus, they both get their horns tooted! And romance is likely to ensue!

Girls, experiment with this "Compliment Club" strategy, using it on any male you may meet, regardless of his age.

"For practice makes perfect," is a truism that applies here, too.

So your gay repartee will then be far easier when you finally meet THE boy friend that you'd like to attract for permanent dates!

A classy chassis and a good paint job may attract the eye of a boy but it is your deft conversational skill that holds him and keeps him coming!

So send for my "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Plan A New Postal Bldg.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The U.S. Postal Service has signed a lease on a $10 million dollar post office complex to be built on 31 acres near Interstate 85.

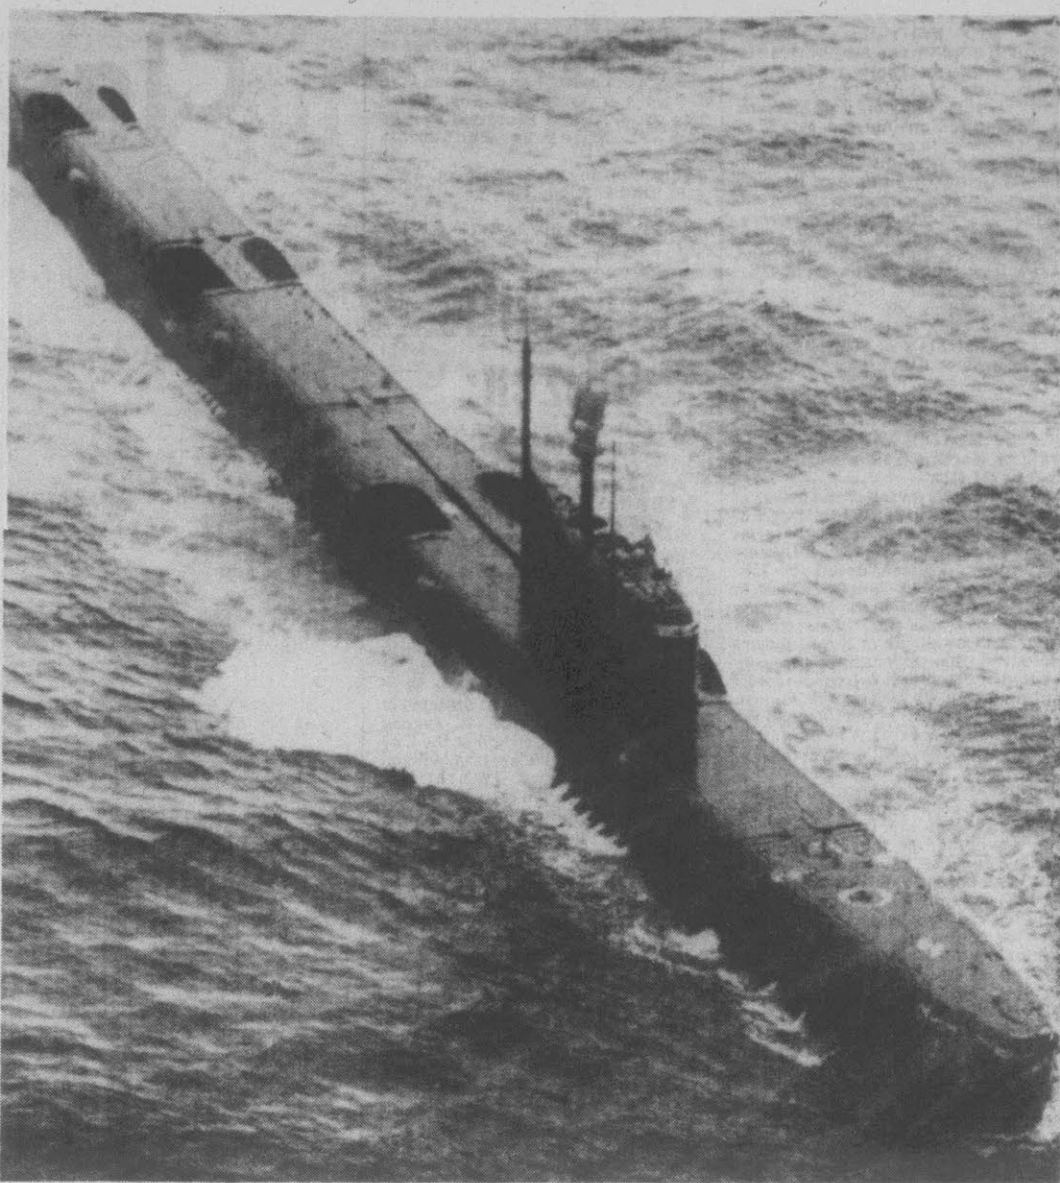

The signing of a contract for a new main post office in Charlotte came after more than eight years of discussion and delay. The 350,000 square-foot complex is expected to be in operation by the end of 1975. A parcel post annex that has been in operation on the site since 1968 will become part of the new facility.

The complex will take over most of the functions of the 55-year-old post office building in the center of town. No definite plans have been made for the old building, but officials said it might be retained as a federal office building and a postal station.

Charlotte is the Postal Service's distribution center for North Carolina and the downtown office processes 70 million pieces of mail a month. John J. Wise, Charlotte district manager, said the volume is expected to increase by more than six per cent a year and the new facility will allow the Postal Service to keep up with growth.

Joseph Penner, a Sarasota, Fla., developer, will build the new facility. Penner bought the land, the existing building, plans and specifications for the new building and a 30-year lease signed by the Postal Service from the Ervin Co. for $1,850,000.

'Tremendous Payoff' By Skylab In Years Ahead

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The research conducted by the Skylab 2 astronauts may provide a tremendous payoff in expanding man's knowledge of himself, his earth and his sun.

No one can predict the benefits. But the thousands of photos and miles of tape could lead to an endless source of pollution-free energy, a catalog of the world's resources and new metals and materials.

The payoff will be slow in coming, however.

Years may be required to evaluate completely the data obtained from the Skylab 1 and 2 crews and that still to come from Skylab 3. After the Skylab 2 astronauts returned to earth Tuesday after their record 59½-day mission, NASA Administrator James B. Fletcher summed up the importance of Skylab this way:

"Skylab marks the transition of the space program from a period dominated by exploration to a period dominated by exploitation of the space around us as a global resource.

"Space is a place, a very unique place and a new important resource that can be used for the benefit of people everywhere on earth ..."

Skylab 2 brought home 77,600 pictures of the sun snapped through six solar telescopes and more than 12,000 pictures and 18 miles of computer tape gathered during earth resources surveys.

Add to that 30,000 sun photos and 3,000 earth photos collected by the Skylab 1 crew, and scientists declared it a bonanza.

Perhaps, more important, the astronauts came back in apparent good health, proving that man can adapt to the weightless environment of space.

The photos and sensor data will be studied to determine if a space science can be developed for locating hidden oil and mineral reserves; assessing agricultural potential, arable land and diseased and healthy crops; estimating timber volume; mapping snow cover and assessing water runoff; charting air and water pollution and their sources; forecasting weather and determining fishing grounds.

The astronauts had an exciting time viewing the sun through the sophisticated telescopes because the sun was very active for a period in which it was supposed to have been quiet. More than 100 flare eruptions were recorded, including several large ones.

"We've never had data of this superb quality," said Dr. Neil R. Sheeley of the Naval Research Laboratory. "Now we've got the possibility of answering questions that we've only had clues to for years."

He said such data could help scientists better understand the sun and how it affects the entire solar system. Flares spew large doses of radiation into space, influencing weather and disrupting communications on earth by creating magnetic storms.

Experts also hope the data will help unlock the secret of controlled thermonuclear fusion, which is the source of the sun's energy.

ECU To Coordinate '74 Great Decisions Series

"Great Decisions, 1974," a program of discussions of current issues, will be sponsored by East Carolina University's Division of Continuing Education again this year.

The program is offered each year by the Foreign Policy Association, a private, non-profit and nonpartisan organization. Its purpose is to develop through education an informed and articulate American public opinion on major issues in world affairs.

ECU is eastern North Carolina's coordinator of group participants in the program and will assist eastern North Carolina community colleges and technical institutes in organizing local groups.

According to the Foreign Policy Association, North Carolina led the nation in the last two years in number of "Great Decisions" participants.

The basic requirement for involvement in the program is for at least five interested persons to meet once weekly for eight weeks and discuss the topics covered in this year's "Great Decisions" booklet.

Topics will include the Atlantic Community of Europe, the role of the U.S. President versus Congress in foreign policy, Soviet-American relations, Cuba and the Panama Canal Zone, the energy crisis, Israel and the Middle East conflict, the People's Republic of China, and the population explosion.

The "Great Decisions" program can be used for personal development; for political club activity, for church or civic group projects or for teacher certification credit.

The only cost of participation is the price of the "Great Decisions" booklet. No professional discussion leader is required, since all information needed is supplied by the booklet, but a number of resource speakers from the ECU faculty will be available to meet with participating groups.

The UNC television network will carry weekly programs related to the series beginning in February. Groups who wish to use the television programs as an additional resource may schedule their series then.

Eastern North Carolina participants in the 1973 series included discussion groups in 17 counties:

Carter, Chowan, Edgecombe, Gates, Halifax, Hertford, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, Northampton, Onslow, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Pitt, Sampson and Wilson.

Further information about the program is available from Gayle Everett at the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville.

Acupuncture Use Studied

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — The Department of Anesthesia at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine and Baptist Hospital are conducting a study of acupuncture's uses for pain relief after operations.

Patients at the Medical Center undergoing thyroid operations are involved in the investigation. The patients are divided into two groups, with one group receiving acupuncture treatments after the surgery. The other is a control group.

Acupuncture is an ancient Chinese technique that involves inserting needles at certain acupuncture points in the body. The technique dates back 3,000 years in China, but has only recently aroused renewed interest there.

Acupuncture anesthesia has come under serious scientific study in the United States in the last two years.

Initial evidence from the study in Winston-Salem shows varied results. Investigators said some patients receiving the treatments needed no post-operative pain medication at all, while others had to request medication soon after the operation. Some were able to wait longer than usual before receiving normal pain relief.

Traces History Of State Land

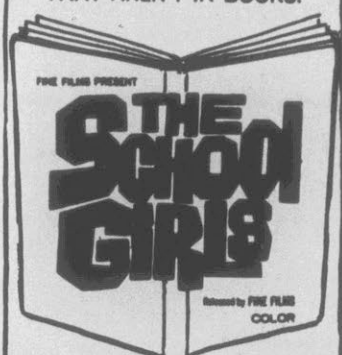

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The State Land Commission has published a 54-page color illustrated book that traces the history of state land and its designation to support public schools.

"This book is the story of how we got to where we are today—of how we became the only state to enter the Union retaining title to its public lands, what we then did with them, received from them, and finally, what we have left," says Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Opine Apparent Mom Of Six Goes Home

Suicide Effort

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle, former head of the United Mine Workers Union, remains near death after an apparent suicide attempt on the eve of a court appearance on a murder conspiracy charge.

The 71-year-old ousted union boss had been scheduled for a court appearance Tuesday, but he was rushed to George Washington University Hospital Monday night with what doctors at first thought was a stroke.

His condition was listed as unchanged early today by hospital spokesmen. He was in a coma, and earlier in the day hospital authorities said Boyle was "in very, very critical condition" and "all we can do is support the life systems and wait."

Boyle's hearing was a removal procedure to have him taken to Pennsylvania to face state murder charges in connection with the 1969 slayings of insurgent union leader Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

The hearing was postponed until Oct. 24.

Dr. Milton Gusack, Boyle's

personal doctor, said blood samples and other tests indicated presence of large amounts of sodium amyltal, a strong barbiturate. He said chances for survival were poor.

"It was an apparent effort at self-destruction," said Gusack. "I don't think this was premeditated, it was on the spur of the moment," he said.

Gusack said Boyle also suffered from heart disease, emphysema and hypertension. He said Boyle visited him Saturday, and the condition of his heart was such that the hearing could have been delayed on medical grounds.

But, Gusack said, Boyle wanted to pursue his case and not hide behind medical problems.

The former UMW boss was arrested Sept. 6, after a 3½-year investigation by state and federal officials.

DENVER (AP) — The mother of the Stanek sextuplets is resting at home today. Doctors say her five surviving babies will start to join her in about a month.

Edna Stanek, 34, wore a blue bathrobe as a nurse pushed her in a wheelchair to the door of Colorado General Hospital, where her husband Eugene waited with the family car.

"She is in fine health and getting along well," said Mrs. Stanek's obstetrician, Dr. Tibor Engel. He said he has prescribed no special precautions for her.

Before leaving the hospital, Mrs. Stanek was able to visit her 10-day-old infants and briefly held John and Jeffrey. John is the smallest of the five and probably will remain in the hospital for close to six weeks before going home. Catherine and Steven are the largest and could go home within four weeks.

All the babies except Nathan, who required a respirator for help in breathing until Tuesday, are listed in good condition. Nathan is listed as satisfactory.

The babies were born Sept. 16 about six weeks prematurely. A second girl, Julia, died two nights later of a lung ailment common to premature babies.
