Ervin Sets The Stage In Demo Unity Rally Here

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

A chorus of some 450 people were on hand to sing "Happy Birthday" to 77-year-old Sen. Sam Ervin, the principal speaker at a Young Democrat Club-sponsored party unity rally here last night.

The state's senior senator—who told the audience at the $5 per plate dinner rally that it was one of the best birthdays he had ever had—and several other platform guests such as Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, First District Congressman Walter Jones and East Carolina University Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins, were on hand to urge Democrat party members to unify their ranks and work together toward a Democratic Party victory in the 1974 and 1976 elections.

At a press conference prior to the night's speeches, the senator, chairman of the Watergate investigations, said in his opinion "the hearings have been conducted about as well as they could have been conducted, and I think the most sensational part of the hearings are over."

The hearings into Watergate and associated activities, Sen. Ervin said, were ordered by a "unanimous vote of the Senate. . . they are not my private investigation. . . I was drafted for the job."

Commenting on the fact that many people across the nation have called the televised Watergate inquiry "the Sam Ervin Show," the senator said "if it's a show, it's a tragedy for our country."

Sen. Ervin, who said he has "made no decision on whether or not to seek re-election and 'have no reaction at all' to an announcement by N. C. Attorney General Robert Morgan that the attorney general may seek the senator's seat in the 1974 balloting, emphasized that his time has been filled with his duties as a Senator and with the Watergate hearings.

Repeating his belief that Pres. Richard Nixon is "acting very unwisely" in withholding tapes of White House conversations that may contain evidence concerning matters before Ervin's committee, the Senator said the president is "obstructing a senate committee in its duty. . . He also suggested that 'in the minds of the people' the president's actions tend to make the public think 'the contents of the tapes are adverse to him. . ."

Nixon, according to Sen. Ervin, "has no right to suppress any evidence of wrong-doing. . . and suggested the chief executive should cooperate fully with investigators."

Turning to a federal grand jury investigation of Vice-President Spiro Agnew, the senator said in his opinion, House Speaker Carl Albert was right in refusing to bring bribery charges against the vice-president before the House of Representatives.

"I know nothing about the Agnew case," the senator noted, "but I think it is a matter for the courts. I feel Speaker Albert made the right decision."

Later, on the podium, the senator told the audience, "There never has been a Tea Pot Dome or Watergate during a Democratic administration," as he outlined the history and contributions of the party — "the oldest political party on earth" according to Sen. Ervin—in America.

Urging "lets turn the rascals out," the senator asked Democrats to band together—"Unify"—and vote Republican Party members out of office.

"Something we might do to get the Democrats back together," he suggested, is "pray."

He said "I believe in praying for all those lost souls in the Democrat Party that strayed and voted for Nixon last time. We want them to come home. Let's pray for them. They are in need of it."

Setting the stage for the unity rally speeches, Dr. Jenkins told the Democrats, "The name of the game today is unity. Let's unite and vote all in one package."

"We've got to bring this party together," he emphasized, ". . . out vote them (the Republicans). The Democratic Party is the party of achievement."

Henry Hall Wilson, an announced Senatorial candidate who spoke briefly, said "I'm all for unification. The achievements of this year have got to be great. I intend to lead the ticket in North Carolina next fall."

Dr. Andrew Best, who prescribed "harmony and movement—in the right direction"—as treatment that will result in "revival and resurrection of the Democratic Party", termed the current Republican administration "the biggest breakers of the law."

Fight Will Go On UNC Governors Say 'No' To Med School

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The University of North Carolina Board of Governors has voted against East Carolina university's aspirations to a four-year medical school, but ECU supporters are indicating that the fight will go on.

The board, in a special meeting Thursday, voted 22-8 to follow the recommendations of a panel of out-of-state consultants in formulating medical education plans for 1974 and beyond.

The panel, in a report released last week, recommended strongly that ECU's one-year medical school not be expanded.

The vote, after 3½ hours of heated debate meant that ECU will not get its medical school unless the legislature decides to overrule the board.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, chancellor of ECU, said the vote came as no surprise to him and indicated that it would not bring ECU's campaign for the school to an end.

Jenkins said he would await instructions from the ECU campus trustees before determining his own course of action. But he said he expected others to pursue the matter further.

"I can't keep it out of the public domain. We will continue to talk about it."

Robert L. Jones, chairman of the ECU trustees, in a letter to the board made public Thursday, contended that the consultants' report contained "discrepancies and irregularities."

He challenged, etc., 9th graf He challenged its contention that creating new residency training positions for post-graduate physicians would help attract doctors. "To suggest creating 300 new residency positions immediately when we had an 11 per cent vacancy rate in existing residency slots this year seems to be putting the cart before the horse," Jones said.

He also challenged the consultants' contention that there was no crisis in health care in the state, and said they had had twisted statistics to project a high cost per physician at the ECU School.

Jones sent copies of his letter to all the members of the legislature.

According to the resolution passed Thursday by the board, UNC president William Friday and his staff will draw up a budget and program in health education for presentation to the board "as soon as practical."

It will follow the guidelines set forth in the consultants' report. If the board approves it, it will be sent to the legislature for approval.

The motion was presented by Robert B. Jordan of Mount Gilead who said it would attack immediate health care needs and leave the door open for another look at the advisability of another state medical school in the future.

But ECU proponents characterized the report and the resolution as an effort to kill the ECU proposal. W.W. Taylor of Raleigh predicted that despite the board's action, the expansion of the ECU school was inevitable.

Overseas Cutback Voted By Senate

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted for a 23 per cent reduction in U.S. land-based troops overseas, despite objections that such a cut would weaken the United States in negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The 48-36 vote Thursday night was the third this week on reducing the American force overseas. On Wednesday a 40 per cent cutback was adopted tentatively only to be overturned on a subsequent vote.

Republican Sens. John G. Tower of Texas and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina argued that a reduction would make it difficult for President Nixon to negotiate for troop cuts by both the United States and the Soviet Union.

But Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chief sponsor of the compromise cutback, said the amendment would allow the President to decide where to make withdrawals — and that most could come from Asia and Pacific without disturbing the NATO force in Europe.

The amendment, which now must go to the House where three similar attempts have failed, orders a reduction of 40,000 troops by next June 30, and another 70,000 by Dec. 31, 1975.

The reductions would be made from the 487,000 land-based troops stationed in 34 countries. Sea-based forces are exempt from the cutback.

The Humphrey amendment was tied to the $21-billion military procurement authorization bill for the current fiscal year.

Debate on the bill was to continue today.

Earlier Thursday the Senate rejected 49 to 47 an attempt to block acceleration of the Trident missile-firing-submarine system.

The Pentagon lobbied heavily for the Trident speedup. But opponents claimed money would be saved by delaying work on nine Trident sub systems until the first one is in operation.

C.K. Beatty Is Stricken Today

C. K. BEATTY

C. K. Beatty, the retired head of the Greenville Public Works Department and a candidate for a seat on the Greenville City Council, died this morning of an apparent heart attack.

Beatty, who served as director of the city public works agency for some 26 years before his retirement two years ago, was found about 10:15 a.m. lying in the front seat of his car at the intersection of Pitt and 14th Streets.

Members of the Greenville Rescue Squad attempted to revive the candidate with artificial resuscitation and closed chest heart massage, but without success.

Greenville police investigators reported Beatty's car was stopped at a stop sign on Pitt Street in the North-bound lane. They said the candidate was unconscious and apparently not breathing when they arrived.

Beatty, a native of Gaston County, moved to Greenville in 1927. After employment with a mortgage firm and 14 years as a full-time employee of the North Carolina National Guard he became director of the City's Public Works Department.

After 4½ years with the city, Beatty purchased an oil distribution firm in Washington, but sold that business and returned to Greenville where he worked for a soft drink bottling firm before again becoming director of the public works agency in 1949. He retired from the city post two years ago.

Beatty filed as a candidate for a seat on the city council September 6.

SEATO Council Plans Break-Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The SEATO Council of Ministers opened their 18th meeting today with plans to discuss virtual elimination of the military planning activities of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Unlike previous council meetings, there were no flags, bands, or display of honor guards when Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush presided over the initial meeting.

There were also no public statements and the session was closed to newsmen.

Weekend Vacation For Agnew Family After Hectic Maneuverings

By JEAN HELLER

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew wound up a week of hectic activity today working on strategy to block the newly opened grand jury investigation into Agnew's ties to alleged political corruption in Maryland.

While the lawyers worked, Agnew left Washington with his family for a weekend of vacation in Palm Springs, Calif., at the home of Frank Sinatra. The rest was scheduled to be interrupted only by a speech Saturday to a Republican women's group.

The special federal grand jury investigating the vice president spent more than seven hours Thursday cloistered in the federal courthouse in Balti-

With only a break for lunch, the panel heard the first witnesses in its unprecedented criminal probe of a vice president of the United States. The panel was not expected back in session until next week.

Meanwhile, Agnew's lawyers were putting the final touches on a motion for a temporary injunction to block the panel from hearing further evidence.

The motion had been expected before the opening of grand jury hearings, but one of Agnew's lawyers, Judah Best, indicated the motion wasn't ready in time.

Other sources said a quick decision by Speaker Carl Albert to turn down Agnew's request for a House of Representatives investigation of charges against him may have changed the lawyers' plans.

Agnew asked for that hearing on Tuesday and Albert turned him down Wednesday.

Albert turned the vice president down on grounds that the issues were before the courts.

According to the Baltimore Sun five witnesses appeared before the grand jury during the first hours of work.

They reportedly included an agent of the Internal Revenue Service.

However, the only witness who was positively identified was William J. Muth, former vice president of the Baltimore city council. He has been a long-time Agnew fund raiser.

"The investigation of the vice president is a lot of bull," said Muth as he left the courtroom.

Blount revealed he had been approached about running for a statewide office, but for the time being had declined giving consideration to such a move.

"My immediate are to return to Greenville and to become a member of the James, Hite, Cavendish law firm," Blount said.

The 34 year old judge was educated at Woodberry Forest Preparatory School, the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, the University of Georgia, Wake Forest University School of Law, and is a graduate of the National College of State

Trial Judges, University of Nevada.

When he was appointed in 1970, it was to fill an unexpired one year term. In 1971, he was appointed to a full four year term and has served two years of that term.

In his tenure, he has served as secretary and treasurer of the Conference of Superior Court Judges for North Carolina and also on the Executive Committee on the Judicial News Media Council.

In the latter capacity Blount, Blount was one of three judges serving on the conference along with newspaper editors, TV personnel and other news media people.

Blount presided over cases heard in 52 counties, including a number of significant ones such as the trial on the Armory explosion in Winston-Salem and the State vs. Waddell case.

Saying it was with reluctance that he made the decision to resign his position, Blount added "It has been a most rewarding experience. This opportunity of service to the people of North Carolina has been a real challenge for which I am grateful."

Blount's father, Marvin K. Blount, Sr., was one of the sponsors of the North Carolina Special Judge Act at the time of its introduction in the State Legislature in 1929.

In a telephone conversation from Raleigh, Fred Morrison, Legal Counsel to Governor Holshouser, this morning said the governor, in accepting Blount's resignation, told Blount that he very much regretted losing him.

"The governor also told Marvin he had shown great competence in serving the state, particularly in the judicial field," Morrison said.

Morrison, who was also Legal Counsel to former Governor Bob Scott at the (Continued on page 10)

Blount Resigns Post As Superior Court Judge

Marvin K. Blount, Jr. one of seven Special Superior Court Judges for North Carolina, submitted his resignation on Wednesday afternoon to Governor James E. Holshouser, Jr.

Blount, at the time of his appointment in August 1970, was the youngest Tar Heel to be designated a Superior Court Judge.

The Greenville native, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin K. Blount, Sr., said he was tendering his resignation to be effective October 1. "I've given this a lot of thought," Blount said, "and have concluded it would be best for me to put my family first."

Originally appointed as one of 49 Superior Court Judges in North Carolina, Blount was later appointed as one of seven from the 49 judges to be a Special Superior Court Judge.

In his letter of resignation, Blount noted that his family is a growing one, and that the nature of his duties as a judge keeps him frequently away from home "at a time when my wife and children most need me."

He is married to the former Jane Wright of Wilmington. They have three young children, Marvin K., III, James, and Jane, who are eight, six, and four years old,

Neighbors Lose Sleep To Chained Dog

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our neighbors just returned from a two-week vacation and I hope they had a good time because now I need one.

They left their dog CHAINED in the front yard! Another neighbor agreed to feed him daily, which was the only time the dog was quiet. The rest of the time he barked.

The first night, my husband got up at 4 a.m. to ask the owners to please take the dog inside, only to find there was no one home! The next day we found out the dog owners would be gone for two weeks! We nearly flipped.

Abby, if they couldn't find someone to keep the dog, they should have put it in a kennel.

They are home now, thank heavens, but what do you think of people who would keep the whole neighborhood up with a barking dog for two weeks? NERVES ON END

DEAR NERVES: What happened to you shouldn't happen to a dog, either. You should have immediately notified your local humane society.

DEAR ABBY: I was disappointed in your reply to the girl who resented having a male physician give her a breast and pelvic examination. She said she wanted to remain chaste for her husband. You said an examination of that kind would in no way violate her chastity.

I disagree with you. I am no prude, but I place a high value on the privacy of my body, and I do not care to share it with anyone other than the man I marry. A male physician is no different from any other man, and I wonder how many husbands would allow their wives to go to a male gynecologist if they knew how intimately their wives would be touched and examined.

I have heard the argument that male doctors see hundreds of female patients a month, so a woman doesn't have to feel ashamed, but since when does frequency alone justify an action?

There is only one female physician in Terre Haute, and

I go to her for my annual physical. I feel strongly that we women have a right to protect our intimacy, and should not be treated like children by male physicians. P. J.

DEAR P.J.: It is indeed your right to select a female physician if you wish, but a male gynecologist has about as much erotic feeling while examining female patients as an electrician has when he's looking for a loose connection.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a new one for you. Our son wants to be married this Christmas, and something has come up which prompts me [his father] to ask your advice.

When our son and his girl friend decided on a wedding date, they immediately told the bride's parents of their intentions. To their surprise, her parents said they were not interested in funding the affair. My son became upset and decided to go ahead and have a wedding even if he had to pay for it himself.

Our question: Should the bride's parents be invited or not? And if we invite them, should they be accorded all the honors and privileges of the bride's parents?

We, the groom's family, say no. Our future daughter-in-law says she wants her parents to get the full treatment even though they aren't paying for anything.

What is your opinion? GROOM'S FATHER

DEAR FATHER: If the bride's parents are not funding the wedding because they have no funds, and your son is willing to foot the bill, then they should be given the full treatment. If they refuse to finance the wedding because they disapprove of the marriage, you may not have to worry about their presence at all. Arrange for a meeting with them and get the facts.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Bite-size cream puffs may be filled with chicken, ham or seafood salad. Serve this good hors d'oeuvre with fruit punch.

PARSNIP PATTIES
Learn how to use this neglected vegetable in a delicious way.

4 medium parsnips, about ¾ pound
1 egg
¼ cup flour
2½ tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt and white pepper to taste

Pare parsnips and cut off a thin slice from stem and root ends; cut each parsnip in half. In a saucepan cover the parsnips with boiling water; boil, covered, until tender — 10 to 20 minutes; drain. Force parsnips through ricer or food mill so any woody residue may be discarded — there should be about 1 cup mashed parsnip. Add egg to mashed parsnip and with a sturdy fork beat until blended; beat in flour. In a 10-inch skillet melt 1½ tablespoons of the butter; beat into the parsnip mixture along with salt and pepper. In the same skillet melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter; with a spoon drop parsnip mixture, in 6 even portions, into the skillet; fry over moderate heat, turning once, until cooked through and golden brown — about 5 minutes on each side. Makes 3 servings — 2 patties per portion. Leftover patties may be heated in a double boiler or in the oven.

Mix together the eggs, relish, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Spread one side of each slice of the bread very lightly with mayonnaise. Spread the egg mixture over 4 slices of the bread, mayonnaise sides up; top with red pepper strips; cover with remaining bread, mayonnaise sides down. Cut each sandwich into 2 triangles. Makes 4 servings.

Members Hear Convention Reports Tuesday

Convention reports were given at the meeting of Alpha Iota chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Tuesday night held at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Mrs. Vivian Mills and Mrs. Elizabeth Savage told of their trip to Miami, Fla., this summer to attend the international convention of Alpha Delta Kappa.

Following the report, a business meeting was held. It was noted that the National Headquarters building must be expanded due to the growth of the number of chapters. The Greenville Chapter will help in the effort.

Alpha Iota chapter members will be guests of the Pitt County Chapter, Alpha Nu, to celebrate founder's day Oct. 4. This will be a dinner meeting at the Moose Lodge at 6:30 p.m. and all members are urged to attend.

Floating Shower Honors Couple

On Saturday night, Miss Frances Griffin and Albert Glenn Buck were honored at a floating miscellaneous bridal shower at the Timothy Community Building.

Hostesses were Mrs. Roy Lee Smith, Mrs. David Lee Smith and Mrs. Ervin Mills.

Upon arrival Miss Griffin was presented a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's book was placed on a lace covered table decorated with a burning taper in a silver hurricane scone and white miniature wedding bells. The gift tables were decorated with white cloths and white miniature wedding bells.

The serving table was covered with an off-white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of fall flowers and silver candelabra. Mrs. H. R. Griffin, mother of the bride, poured punch and Mrs. Prince Buck, mother of the bridegroom-elect, served bridal cake.

Approximately 65 guests were received during the evening.

Miss Griffin and Mrs. Buck will be married Oct. 20 in the First Baptist Church, Wilson.

Class Reunion Held Saturday

Members of the class of 1963 of the Grifton High School held their 10th reunion at the Holiday Inn here Saturday night.

Gas Stations In N.Y. Plan Closing Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Service station operators in western New York State were set to start a weekend protest shutdown today as disgruntled dealers across the nation awaited action by the Cost of Living Council on easing of Phase 4 price controls.

About 500 gasoline retailers in the Buffalo, N.Y., area planned to close from noon today until Monday morning to demonstrate opposition to the controls.

Some 225 gas dealers began an indefinite shutdown Thursday night in northern Indiana while hundreds of service stations stayed closed in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Station operators were awaiting an announcement by the Cost of Living Council on ceiling price increases. One source close to the council said the raise would be 1 or 2 cents a gallon.

Council Director John T. Dunlop confirmed Wednesday the council will approve price increases this week. The change came after President Nixon said he wanted the hike this week.

Many dealers, however, have said they also want new rules that will allow them to pass on to customers any future hikes in wholesale prices. The council was said to be considering such changes.

"If they come out with anything less than a pass-through of the wholesale cost and an increase in the ceiling price of one cent, they haven't done anything," said Charles Binsted, president of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers.

"Anything less than that is going to be looked at with great disfavor by the nation's dealers," Binsted said Thursday.

The Gulf Oil Co. announced Thursday it was increasing its wholesale gasoline prices another one-half cent a gallon. The raise followed a hike of nine-tenths of a cent per gallon Sept. 19.

Several hundred Houston service station dealers agreed at a meeting Thursday night to close their stations next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to protest the Phase 4 ceiling prices.

Set Scouter Rally Sunday

A new type of meeting for Boy Scout leaders of Greenville, Bethel, Ayden, Farmville, Grimesland and other Pitt County communities is scheduled for Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville.

According to Scouting Executive Ken Davis, the meeting is billed as a Junior Leaders' Rally and all boy and adult leaders of Boy and Cub Scout unit in the county are invited to attend. The program will feature a panel presentation of "Scouting Today" and a movie called "Scouting in Action," as well as the introduction of a new theme, "Open the Door," which is a part of the 1973 fall Roundup Operation.

The meeting will be led by the Rev. John Miller of Greenville and Bill Brady of Farmville, both Scoutmasters of outstanding troops.

Boy leaders include the positions of den chief, patrol leader, senior patrol leader, junior assistant scoutmaster, scribe, quartermaster, and other special leaders, as well as assistants to these boys, Davis said.

Students Invited To GOP Meet

All high school and college students in the area are invited to attend the ECU College Republicans meeting to be held Tuesday, according to Harold Cline Jr., treasurer of the N. C. Federation of College Republicans.

The meeting will be held in Room 132 of Austin Hall on the ECU campus.

The Indiana shutdown involved about 225 gasoline retailers in Elkhart, South Bend and Mishawaka who voted to close indefinitely. The leader of the group, Tom Reamer, said dealers would stay shut until they "get a fair shake" from the government.

In the St. Louis area, the Service Station Dealers of Missouri said the six-day shutdown was about 75 per cent effective as it got under way Thursday.

In Seattle, the Automobile Club of Washington warned that as many as 90 per cent of the gas stations in the Puget Sound area may shut down this weekend if the Cost of Living Council does not ease the price controls enough.

Meanwhile, many Michigan gas stations were expected to be closed or open for only limited hours this weekend in Michigan because of tight gasoline supplies.

Basic Title To Lands Preserved

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — More than 10 million documents, some of them dating back to 1745, are maintained in the records division of Texas' General Land Office.

Individual documents comprising basic title to 176,266,000 acres of land in the state are kept in a constant-temperature vault. The files include more than 4,200 land grants issued by the Spanish and Mexican governments over a period of two centuries, as well as headrights granted by the Republic of Texas after 1836.

Cites Big Threat To Electric Co-Ops

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Members of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association have been told that the developing national energy crisis poses a serious threat to their organization.

Robert D. Partridge, executive vice president and general manager of the association, said Thursday that as the pinch on fuel and energy supplies increases, rural electric systems could be driven out of business "just as many independent gasoline retailers were this summer," if they are not alert.

Partridge spoke at the fall convention here of the nine-state regional group. Some 77 rural electric systems serving more than two million customers in Virginia, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, New Jersey,

New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Vermont were represented.

Partridge said there must be a massive federally directed and funded research and development program if solutions to the energy problem are to be found.

He called for a national energy policy that would "come to grips with the hard realities" of what America must do to meet short and long-range goals.

It is imperative that neither the Federal Power Commission nor any other government agency be a captive of the energy industry, Partridge said.

"There is too much at stake for America to let any industry call the tune to which we must march," he said.

A Mobilization Is In Order

Stephen A. Wakefield, assistant secretary of the interior for energy and minerals, does not paint a bright picture of the nation's prospects for adequate fuel.

He says the nation faces shortages of heating oil, propane and diesel fuel and this could cause great hardship.

"I am talking about men without jobs; homes without heat; children without schools. That is what I mean by hardship," he stated.

"The truth is that I can give you no assurance whatever that there will be an adequate supply of heating oil," he said.

That is a dark picture, indeed. However, all of us know that if fuel is properly allocated and our monumental waste is cut down there should be enough to carry on the nation's essential activities.

It is obvious for instance, that gas consumption can be cut drastically in some way can be found to curtail the great amount of pleasure riding that American indulge in. Buildings can be far better insulated than they are at present so that heating and air conditioning loads are decreased. There is plenty of non-essential lighting that can be eliminated and while it might create some drabness in the big cities, it can conserve fuel for necessities.

We know we have plenty of coal and that it can be gotten out of the ground. Burning processes are available now which nearly eliminate the pollution problems of coal. Industries can be encouraged to switch boilers over to pollution free coal methods.

In war time nations mobilize their resources so that essential needs can be met. If we have an emergency of the magnitude that Wakefield envisions, then there is no reason we cannot allocate our resources so that jobs will not be affected and that reasonable energy will be available for our basic needs.

Pacesetter In Cycling Safety

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — The numbers of motorcycles on North Carolina roads has increased a startling 10 times over the past 10 years: from 9,000 registered in 1964 to an estimated 100,000 by the end of this year.

One result of that is a soaring number of motorcycle wrecks and resulting fatalities and a concern among highway safety officials for measures to combat that.

One measure was the 1968 law requiring that motorcycle riders wear helmets, a law which Joe Register, acting director of traffic records at the Motor Vehicles Department, credits with bringing about "a noticeable reduction in motorcycle fatalities...in the face of a substantial increase."

Register has equally high hopes for another new measure which takes effect October 1.

On that date, all motorcycles must burn headlights and taillights at all times—day or night. North Carolina is the first state to require this, Register said.

"We are way out in front. None of the states have the law on headlights, and since nobody else has done it, we can't research whether it will be effective." It will be later before records will prove what he now believes, that the law will help.

Register said studies of motorcycle wrecks in the state, supported by research by the University of North Carolina traffic experts, showed that "in a large proportion of cases that even though the motorcyclist was killed, legally, the motorcycle was not at fault."

"The simple fact was that people invariably said they did not see the motorcycle," Register said.

He urged motorcycle drivers to conform with the new law. It will be routinely enforced by highway patrolmen and city or county law officers. Violation is a misdemeanor, punishable by up to $100 in fines or 30 days in jail.

"It will be enforced, and we think the headlight law will be more valuable even than the helmet law in reducing fatalities and injuries."

"We know that other drivers can't see those motorcycles. The cost of burning the lights is negligible to the bike owner, and simple logic says that this approach certainly can't hurt anything," Register said.

He added that wearing bright colored helmets when on a motorcycle would also help.

Cheap Transportation
The boom in motorbikes is noticeable all over that state, especially in college towns. "Why not," Register said. They're cheap in cost and in operation, and in face of rising prices and the gas situation, it's logical. And the college kids really like them.

"More people have gone to motorcycle quicker than we had predicted. We thought that North Carolina would reach the 100,000 figure by 1976. But I strongly suspect we will approach that number by the end of this year," Register said.

Other states are looking to North Carolina for leadership in the question of motorcycle fatalities, Register said. He has recently provided figures for California where a law requiring use of helmets is under debate.

Register's figures show that deaths on motorcycles, a large number of them caused by head injuries, averaged 1.6 per 1,000 registered motorcycles during the three years before helmets were required.

With the helmet law in effect, deaths have averages 1.1 per 1,000; a reduction of more than 30 per cent.

63 Lives Saved
He said these figures, when applied to the growing rate of motorcycle usage in the state indicates a saving of 63 lives during a three-year period. Still, motorcycle involvement in fatal wrecks still runs more than 37 percent higher than those involving passengers in closed vehicles.

In 1965 there were 18,097 motorcycles and 45 fatal accidents for a rate of 1.7 fatalities per 1,000.

In 1968 there were 32,448 motorcycles; 32 fatal accidents for a rate of one fatality per 1,000.

In 1971 the number of bikes jumped to over 59,000 and there were 48 fatalities for 0.8 per 1,000 radio; and in 1972 there were 75,700 motorcycles; 67 fatalities with a rate of 0.9 fatalities per 1,000.

The simple fact, Register said, is that a motorcyclist is more vulnerable. While a passenger in a car stands a chance of not getting hurt in a wreck, a motorcycle rider is injured in 80 per cent of the wrecks which occur involving bikes.

Hearing On Medical Needs An Opportunity

Eastern citizens who want to be heard on medical manpower needs will get a chance at Martin Technical Institute Oct. 4 at 2 p.m.

Plymouth Mayor William R. Flowers said the hearings will provide "one of the few opportunities for Eastern North Carolinians to express directly to a legislative commission their medical needs and concerns."

Health care problems are more acute in the east than anywhere else in the state, and there are those who seem unconcerned. Proposals for positive action can be expounded at this hearing.

Suspicious In Agnew Ambush

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The inability of President Nixon and the Justice Department to find a clean way out of the dirty in-fighting now swirling about Vice President Spiro Agnew is raising a serious new challenge to Mr. Nixon's once vaunted political judgment, so badly scarred in the Watergate scandals.

Worse yet, the seeming lack of any viable political policy inside the White House to deal with the swelling Agnew problem threatens a schism that may well harden anti-Nixon sentiment within the party's pro-Agnew right wing.

The reason: Mr. Nixon's failure to give Agnew the kind of enthusiastic support he gave to his former top White House aides. As one Republican state chairman told us: "It looks like the President is not doing right by Agnew. He should stand up beside him publicly, or call for his resignation, but not try to shoot him down in a White House ambush."

Fairly or not, Republican politicians of all ideological persuasions are now leveling quiet but forceful criticism not at Agnew but at Richard M. Nixon for what one described as "a badly botched job of politics."

The botch: with the White House perceived as having decided, however reluctantly, that Agnew must go and with most Republicans convinced that the White House itself has been secretly and unscrupulously promoting that theme, Agnew is suddenly revealed as having no intention to quit.

"They thought they could Pat Gray him right out of there," one shrewd Midwest Republican pro complains. "They should have known that Agnew is not Pat Gray." The nomination of L. Patrick Gray to succeed J. Edgar Hoover as head of the FBI was withdrawn by Mr. Nixon at Gray's own request after he got caught in the coils of Watergate.

With the Vice President, events are operating on a different wavelength, at least for the present. Having rejected all pressures to quit, Agnew is now found by a Newsweek poll taken by Dr. George Gallup to be the beneficiary of a huge 66 per cent of the public who think he should not resign.

More important, only 40 per cent credit the President with acting "fairly" toward his Vice President.

That pro-Agnew sentiment is raising questions among some Republican leaders as to whether the Vice President now may try to exploit his political strength at the President's expense. Agnew has been on the receiving end of phone calls, letters and personal contacts with many such followers who are trying to make him speak out far more forcefully in his own behalf.

But Agnew is moving with great caution. Agnew intimates say he worries that any effort by him to rally party and public support could have one dangerous result: forcing voters to choose between him and (Continued on page 5)

Skeletons In The Closet

WASHINGTON — Vice President Spiro Agnew met alone with President Nixon in the White House last week, and while the lid was put on their conversation it is now coming out in bits and pieces. "Spiro, there is something I meant to ask you five years ago when I chose you for Vice President, but it slipped my mind at the time."

"Do you have any skeletons in your closet?"

"I have never been treated for mental illness, if that's what you mean."

"That isn't what I mean, Spiro. I mean do you have an other skeletons in your closet? A horror that the press might grab hold of and make something out of?"

"I can't think of anything. My life is an open book."

"What about this business in Baltimore County that everyone seems to be talking about? Why didn't you tell me about that?"

"You didn't ask me."

"Yes, Spiro, I'm aware of that. But couldn't you have volunteered that information anyway?"

"Probably, but I was so excited when you called to offer me the Vice Presidency that it slipped my mind. Besides, it happened so long ago that I thought it didn't matter one way or another."

"Excuse me, Spiro, I have to change the tape. . . All rights, let's assume I made a mistake in not checking out the skeletons in your closet. We have to face up to the fact that the skeletons are now out in the open. What should I do about it?"

"Why don't you announce that you support me 1,000 percent?"

"I'd like to, Spiro. That would be the easy thing to do, the popular thing. But a President has to do a lot of things that are unpopular and will lose him votes. Spiro, I can't support you 1,000 percent."

"Could you support me 500 percent?"

"I wish I could but my lawyers say that I can't afford to because the skeletons in my closet are beginning to haunt me."

"I was going to ask you in 1968, Mr. President, if you had any skeletons in your closet. I wish I had."

"Why is that?"

"With all due respect, sir, if they hadn't brought out the skeletons in your closet, they would never have brought out the skeletons in mine."

"Are you trying to say my skeletons are responsible for your skeletons coming out of the closet?"

"Well, I was Mr. Clean until all that San Clemente and Key Biscayne business broke in the newspapers."

"I'm sorry, Spiro, I have to change the tape again."

"Let's see, where were we? Oh, yes. As I understand it, what you're saying is that I am responsible for your troubles."

"I wouldn't put it that strongly. But if it hadn't been for that stupid staff of yours, our skeletons would still be hidden in our respective closets. I must say, Mr. President, you blew it with the Watergate business and I don't see why I should be the fall guy."

"What do you advise me to do, Spiro?"

"Resign. Let me be President and then they can't lay a glove on me."

"That's out of the question, Spiro, and you know it. If I resign, what will happen to me?"

"Nothing. The first thing I'll do as President is give you executive clemency...executive clemency...executive clemency...executive clemency..."

Thirty Years On Job

HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty years isn't much in the life of a mountain or a Methuselah, but it is quite a chunk out of the span of an ordinary man.

After three decades of doing anything, he is likely to want to pause for a deep breath, and review what he has accomplished.

That's the landmark peak — or is it a rutted ravine? — where I stand right now. I have been writing a newspaper column for 30 years this month. Leaning upon my hoe for a moment in this prosey vineyard, I try to see what all this tilling has amounted to.

Judging it purely in terms of quantity, it isn't unimpressive. The more than 7,600 columns I have written in the last 30 years total almost four million words, slightly more than four times the life output of William Shakespeare.

I do not mean by this comparison to belittle the Bard. Touch typing might not have helped his style at all.

What I would rather ponder is what effect my four million words have had upon the human race. In sum, I am afraid, very little.

I haven't freed mankind noticeably of its ancient sins — war, greed, poverty and ingratitude — nor, on the other hand, have I been able to introduce mankind to a new form of innocent pleasure, particularly one that would cheer the lot of the middle-aged and the elderly.

Of course, this failure isn't altogether my fault. I can say with some justification that if mankind had simply heeded my advice, it would be in a helluva sight better shape than it is now. But who can get anybody's ear today with sound advice? Neither scolding columnists nor scolding parents. The public is but a vaster child.

In fairness to myself, however, I would like to point out a few of my achievements that have not been entirely overlooked. Did I not defend motherhood when others were blaming it for the population explosion? Was I not endlessly industrious in pointing out the continuing menace of poisonous snakes? When others were jeering women's liberation, was I not foremost in proclaiming the

40 Years Ago Today

By SUSAN PRICE
September 28, 1933

An alleged drunken juror yesterday caused a mistrial in a $30,000 damage suit which had been in progress in the civil term of Superior Court for two and a half days.

The man was sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt of court by Judge W. C. Harris of Raleigh, who is presiding over the term.

George "Machine Gun" Kelly has talked. An agent of the Department of Justice has announced that the "bad man" from the Southwest has confessed a part in the kidnapping of Charles Urschel, an Oklahoma City oil man, but he denied two other crimes which officers tried to link him to.

To the editor:

The East Carolina University football team returns to Ficklen Stadium Saturday night after a very tough three-game road trip. These men (coaches, players, and other personnel) have displayed a tremendous amount of fortitude and stamina to "bounce back" from a seemingly crushing defeat in the season opener to defeat two strong football powers (Southern Mississippi and Southern Illinois). I urge each and everyone of you to get out to Ficklen Stadium Saturday night and show these men just how proud we are of them.

Strength For Today

BELIEVING IN GOD'S LOVE

It is extremely hard for many people to believe that God loves them. They can believe in the existence of God and in God's hopes for mankind, but they cannot achieve the peace and confidence which comes from the conviction that God loves them personally.

Many of the greatest saints at times were afflicted by this doubt of God's love. As John Bunyan wrote: "Under many fears I went to seek the Lord, and as I prayed I cried, 'O

Lord, show me that thou hast loved me with everlasting love.' I had no sooner said it than with sweetness it returned upon me as an echo, 'I have loved thee with an everlasting love, I went to bed in quiet, and I believed it.'"

Why should we doubt that God loves us? Does not the Word of God affirm that he does? And if he doesn't, what is there to fear even though the mountains be cast into the midst of the sea?

Hunt For European Investors

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —

Adapting an old slogan to a new situation, American investment bankers have been touring Europe's financial capitals in recent months, urging industrialists there to "own a share in America."

You may recall this as the exhortation brokers used in the 1960s to encourage many Americans to buy stocks for the first time in their lives. But now, for a multitude of reasons, domestic interest seems faded.

In contrast, international economic events have produced a situation in which European individuals and companies now have both the means and the motivation to buy sizable hunks of America's better-known companies.

And there to help them, and pick up sizable commissions, are the eager representatives of investment bankers such as Kidder-Peabody, Lehman Corp., Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley, Kuhn Loeb and Lazard Freres.

Partly because of their efforts, a British company, Brown & Williamson, has gained control of Gimbel Bros., the retail chain, in a deal that involved about $100 million.

Nestle Co. of Switzerland has paid about $100 million for three food divisions of Litton Industries.

Siemens AG, a German operation, has picked up two American companies — one in electronics, the other in the computer industry.

Sizable interest or control also has been bought in a score of other American industries — including banking, chemicals, retailing and motels. And the interest isn't confined only to Europeans.

Nomura Securities of Japan has purchased about 500,000 shares of Merrill Lynch, America's largest broker, professedly for their customers rather than for their own account.

Canadian Development Corp. is seeking shares of Texasgulf, and other Canadian interests are bidding for shares of the Signal Companies, a Los Angeles-based conglomerate in oil, chemicals and trucks.

Some go another route. In Chesapeake, Va., the Swedish Volvo company is planning to erect its own automotive works rather than invest in an existing American enterprise.

So far, according to Ralph Weindling, a Kidder-Peabody vice president, very little activity is coming from the (Continued on page 5)

Biologists Talk To Bath Group

Joseph Harwood and Steven Reed, graduate students in the East Carolina University Department of Biology, discussed estuarine ecology with a group of students at Bath High School.

Focussing on a current ECU study of the Pamlico River estuary, Harwood and Reed showed aerial photographs of the estuary, pointing out how plant communities can be identified.

Following their presentation, they conducted the students on a short field trip to one of the plant communities.

The discussion was based on research in progress under a grant from the Water Resources Institute. Dr. Graham J. Davis, chairman of biology at ECU, is the principal investigator for the research project.

'Safety Sabbath' Plan Promoted

RALEIGH (AP)—More than 12,000 ministers across North Carolina will soon be receiving packets of information to guide them in participating in "Safety Sabbath" on Oct. 21.

Gov. Jim Holshouser and evangelist Billy Graham called a news conference Thursday to promote the highway safety observance.

Holshouser noted that highway deaths in the state are lower this year than last, but injuries are up.

Graham said highways would be safer if people "drove as Christians. Drive unto others as you would have them drive unto you."

Mideast.

Weindling cites Commerce Department figures showing the value of foreign direct investments in the United States at $15 billion at the end of 1972. Since then, at least $1.5 billion has been added.

While this figure is likely to grow, Weindling views it as a mere trifle compared with U.S. direct investments in Europe, which probably amount to 10 times that figure. But the traffic is increasingly East to West.

Among the reasons cited by Weindling and others:

—The dollar devaluations, which permit Europeans and Japanese to buy American stocks at huge discounts.

—The depressed state of the American stock market. Many companies find it difficult to attract domestic interest in their shares and welcome foreign participation.

—Some $80 billion to $100 billion trapped overseas in the coffers of multinational companies and central banks. "Nobody wants them," says Weindling. The United States won't change them, so they're used for investing.

—Because of consolidations and growth, many European companies now are more able to compete internationally. "They feel sufficiently self-confident and find the values sufficiently attractive to move," says Weindling.

—The attractiveness of the American consumer economy. By owning a share of an American company, foreigners can participate in this largest of all the world's markets and benefit from American management.

Is all this activity good for America? Weindling and others, including the Commerce Department, think it is. But there are critics, and some are quite concerned.

Students Learn Rebuild Planes

BERRIEN SPRINGS, Mich. (UPI) — Totally wrecked or heavily damaged airplanes are being rebuilt at Andrews University Airport, enabling students to earn while they learn.

Since the program began in November, 1972, four damaged planes have been acquired, rebuilt, sold or traded in, or kept as part of the Andrews fleet. The apprentices are students in the airframe and power-plant mechanics program, a 30-month course.

Rock Star Gets Drug Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sylvester "Sly" Stewart, member of the Sly and the Family Stone rock group, has been placed on one year's probation in a rehabilitative program for experimental drug users.

Stewart, 30, sentenced Thursday, was convicted of drug possession after authorities found small amounts of cocaine, marijuana and 600 sedative pills at his Bel Air home.

President Nixon.

"That's the last thing we want as of today," one such Agnew supporter told us. "If we do that, both of us will lose in the end."

But in the face of what the Agnew camp—together with most of political Washington—believes to be a hard-nosed, White House-based, anti-Agnew operation, with his resignation as the objective, Agnew's uncustomary restraint may not last much longer. He has two speeches in California this week, one of them to a frankly partisan audience of Republican women in Los Angeles. He may unlimber some of the hot Agnew rhetoric then, but his most ardent backers aren't sure.

Moreover, the formation of an Agnew "defense fund," announced late last week, could offer him a national vehicle to demonstrate public support. Yet, Agnew's aides are curiously loath—as of today—to exploit the defense fund. One of the Vice President's oldest and strongest political allies, a Southern party leader, has not been asked to do a single thing on behalf of the Vice President.

For President Nixon, the worsening Agnew problem poses only hard questions. Top White House aides insist, publicly and privately, that the White House has had absolutely nothing to do with the attempted ambush of the Vice President and the continuing leaks of kickback horror stories. Some highly placed Republican politicians agree.

But with the White House Watergate denials still fresh, these White House denials of any share in the Agnew ambush are simply not believed, particularly not by Republican politicians so deeply embittered by Watergate.

Thus, one legacy of Watergate is to feed the suspicion that Mrs. Nixon and the White House really are laying the plot for the Agnew ambush, further impairing the President's moral authority to deal with his latest crisis.

Sabotage Ruled Out In Chicago Airline Crash

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sabotage played no part in the Chicago airline crash that killed 45 persons, including the wife of convicted Watergate defendant E. Howard Hunt, the National Transportation Safety Board says.

The safety board said Thursday the probable cause of the crash was "... the captain's failure to exercise positive flight management." This resulted in the plane losing airspeed and going into a stall, the board concluded.

Chicago legal researcher Sherman Skolnick had claimed the plane was sabotaged because, he said, 12 of the passengers were directly linked to Watergate.

He said some of those passengers carried documents that linked President Nixon and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell with Watergate.

Hunt's wife had $10,000 in $100 bills in her purse when she died.

The United Air Lines crash occurred during a routine landing approach at Chicago's Midway Airport last December.

Among those killed were Rep. George W. Collins, D-Ill., and CBS newswoman Michele Clark.

The board said it found no evidence foul play or sabotage was involved in the crash. It also said it found no evidence "of any medical condition that would have incapacitated the crew or of any interference with the crew in the performance of their duties." The board noted that autopsies showed traces of cyanide and carbon monoxide in the bloodstream of some crash victims but added:

"The finding of elevated levels of carbon monoxide and cyanide in some of the victims was consistent with death due to smoke inhalation in the conditions existing during the post-crash fire."

The two chemicals are formed when wool, cotton, paper or plastic is burned. Traces of the chemicals have been found in bloodstreams of other air accident victims in the past.

The board said the aircraft was airworthy at the time of the accident. It said the captain's call for his assistants to read out a checklist while the plane was in its approach meant the first officer could not monitor the airspeed and rate of descent.

The board said records show a stall warning device went off 20 seconds before the plane crashed. It said the captain attempted several maneuvers to pick up speed but apparently forgot to retract moveable sections of the wing that facilitate descent.

'No Parking'

Effective today, according to Police Chief Glenn Cannon, no parking will be allowed on either side of Charles Street from the Norfolk-Southern Railroad underpass to the U.S. 264 by-pass.

The police official said "No Parking" signs are being installed along the street today and vehicles parking in violation of the city ordinance will be ticketed and towed away.

Hitler's Car Is For Sale Again

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Adolf Hitler's car is back on the auction block again.

The black, armored-plated 1941 Mercedes will be auctioned off Oct. 8 as part of a sale of up to 100 antique and historical cars.

The car was sold earlier this year to its present owner, Earl Clark, for $153,000. It was displayed during the summer at a Lancaster tourist complex.

Bayanihan Show A Real Treasure

The Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company last night proved beyond a doubt it is one of the entertainment treasures of the world. In the company's opening performance of its current American leg of a world wide tour, the performers received a well-earned enthusiastic response from its Greenville area audience.

The Bayanihan's program is a superbly balanced feast for the eye and ear. From the initial appearance in the highland dances of the slim muscled young men clad in loin cloths to the beauty of the dark-eyed girls in elegant Spanish gowns, the dances were framed in a changing parade of colorful costumes.

Even more arresting visually is the youthful radiance of the 27 dancers — 14 girls and 13 boys. Miss Isabel Santos, Bayanihan's tour director, told this reviewer on Wednesday that the policy of the company is to periodically change members of the dance troupe.

The wisdom of this is evident in the vitality and freshness in both individual and ensemble performances that come across in that difficult to define element of entertainment magic — call it "spark," "magnetism," "irresistible appeal" — whatever you like, it runs through every moment of the performance.

As the name Bayanihan means "the spirit of working together," the company operated on a no-star basis. This is as it should be, yet it precludes citing individual instances of youngsters who gave truly exceptional performances.

One who can be named is the company's vocalist, 16 year old Leila Atienza. Hers is a voice of astonishing range and clarity for one hardly more than a child.

In every respect, the aural pleasures in Bayanihan are a match for the visual beauty of the production.

Inheritors of a heritage of varied ethnic music lore, today's citizens of the Philippines can lay valid claim to many musical inspirations — primitive drum and gong pulses that stir the blood; the plaintive music of Oriental bamboo instruments; stately, noble rhythms of Spanish music; and something indelibly Philippino, a national music flavored by all these diverse influences.

The richness of the island nation's musical heritage is not used as mere surface color. It is an integral part of the story telling that is the sustaining basis of the program, used brilliantly to intensify shifting moods of emotions ranging from childhood joys to primitive fears inherent in sacrificial ritual.

Outwardly a theatrical recreation of the best from a treasure house of ethnic songs and dances, a Bayanihan performance is ultimately much more than a splendidly performed tableau. It is an experience that brings to the viewer the good feeling he has shared in an expression of celebrating our ageless ties of universal brotherhood.

Greenville mayoral candidates, Bill Dansey and incumbent Gene West, briefly outlined their campaign positions Thursday night in speaking to members of the local Jaycee chapter.

Dansey, speaking first under a format that allowed a presentation of up to 15 minutes, cited the need for an "indepth look at planning," the election of school board members rather than appointment, a closer look at the city's recreation program, and fuller usage of available resources at East Carolina University as key points.

"I feel there are many pressing problems that we could encounter in the next two, four to ten years if we don't take the necessary planning to eliminate some of these," he pointed out. "I've always felt that we ought to act instead of react."

He continued, "Let's take a long term look at the planning of Greenville. Let's find out what we are going to do and how we are going to do it."

Dansey, a member of the City Council, said that we need extensive planning in the area of the new eastern bypass. "We need to get into land-use patterns" concerning development, he said.

He said that he feels the citizens of Greenville have not had the "necessary input and response from the school board that they would have had if the members had been elected." Dansey asserted that if the members are elected they "are going to take the job much more seriously."

The candidate said that better lines of communication are needed between the community and the school system.

He also pointed to the lack of communication as being one of the reasons for the current dissatisfaction with the utilities situation.

Recreation, he said, has "long been a step-child of the city." He contended that the idea of recreation involves not only the facilities or lack of them but "what problems recreation will solve down the line..."

Dansey said that recreation takes people off the streets and gives them a "constructive place in which to exercise their energies." He added, "When you have a craft shop, a swimming pool, a tennis court, this is occupying someone's mind."

"We have a wealth of information sitting in our midst at ECU," he pointed out. "We all want East Carolina to have a med school and be a great school with a good football team and basketball team. But we are not using East Carolina University..."

He said that there is a "wealth of untapped resources" at ECU with people trained in all fields. "We have a tremendous resource of information and talent over there that we ought to use."

Dansey noted that, "We need to sit down and concentrate and plan ahead. It's easier to treat the problems at their source than it is to treat the results that come out of them."

West told the Jaycees that since he became mayor of the city, he has worked to foster a successful urban renewal plan that includes the central business district. He said that the projects were not designed to "push through and over people" but to be carried out with as little inconvenience as possible.

The mayor said he feels that urban renewal should be "extended from the central part of Greenville on out" as funds become available.

"Back in the late 50's," he explained, "we initiated and started a movement for future planning and we've pushed that just as fast as we could get the people to accept it." He continued, "At best, even with planning, we will be short. But that's good because that's proof that we are growing and have progress"

West pointed to the establishment of Greenville Industries Inc. in 1958, when "we set out to get new industry for Greenville," as a major accomplishment for the city during his administration.

He said that we are close to having "adequate industry here," noting that from now on "we should be very selective." He asserted that the people of the city and area should not have to leave in search of jobs to make a living.

He also pointed to the need for planning the city's growth pattern, saying, "Let's don't have hop and skip planning and zoning in our city." The city manager and new city planner are working now to come up with growth plans for the future, he pointed out.

In response to a question concerning the recreation program, West said that "you'd be surprised at the money we spend on recreation." He said, "I think we are going to get a pool," noting that he is hopeful the Recreation Commission will come up with a working program.

The incumbent contended that the mayor and city government should be flexible enough to react to problems as they arise. He said the office of the mayor demands a "lot of hard and strenuous work, most of which the public is not aware of. You have to take a stand on controversial issues and attend meetings when you would like to be doing something else."

"I am interested in doing what is best for the citizens of Greenville and being just as good a mayor as I can," he told the chapter. "We must work together, however, for this is not a one-man show."

Former UMW President Said 'More Alert'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former union boss W. A. "Tony" Boyle was reported becoming more alert late Thursday, but was still in critical condition at George Washington University Hospital.

Prospects remained guarded for the 71-year-old Boyle, who faces charges of murder and conspiracy in the 1969 slayings of union insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

The former United Mine Workers president was hospitalized Monday night after taking a heavy dose of barbiturates in what his doctors called an apparent suicide attempt. He had been scheduled for a court appearance Tuesday.

Cambodians Re-Occupy Island

By MATT FRANJOLA
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian forces landed on an island near the mouth of the Tonle Sap lake and liberated 344 villagers from Khmer Rouge control, the government reported today.

Chhnang, 60 miles north of Phnom Penh, to retake Koh Tamov island.

The spokesman did not say whether the government troops encountered opposition. He said the 95 families on the island have been under insurgent domination for a long time.

Am Rong also said it appeared the insurgents were running short of rice because villagers said some guerrillas were mixing their rice with a potato-like root. He said rice production has been declining in the Khmer Rouge areas.

A government commander 40 miles north of Phnom Penh, where Highway 5 to the northern provinces has been cut for three weeks, said rice production is down because the insurgents are forcing people to work on land that is not their own.

The three-day Cambodian Buddhist festival of the dead, Prachum Ben, ended today, and the command claimed that special defense measures taken for it guaranteed a calm holiday to residents of Phnom Penh and provincial cities still held by the government.

Communist guerrillas staged spectacular raids around Phnom Penh during the festival in 1971 and 1972, and the same had been expected this time.

Am Rong reported continued fighting at isolated Vihear Suor, in the marshlands 13 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and at Kompong Tuol, 14 miles southwest of the capital.

Two government relief columns trying to reach Vihear Suor were still blocked by insurgents holding the only two dry approaches to the village.

Field reports said Khmer Rouge gunners shot down a single-engine L19 observation plane near Kompong Speu, 30 miles west of Phnom Penh. The pilot was reported critically injured.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese government charged the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese with violating the Paris peace agreements "in all respects" and with planning a new war.

Brig. Gen. Phan Hoa Hiep, the deputy chief of South Vietnam's delegation to the two-party joint military commission, said the Communist capture Sept. 22 of the Le Minh ranger camp in the central highlands may signal the resumption of full-scale hostilities.

"If, in the future, military activity continues as at Le Minh, we then will know it is the beginning of an all-out war," Hiep said.

Airliner Missing In A Thunderstorm

planes probably would be needed to find the plane if it went down in the swampy, sparsely populated area.

The Convair turboprop jet carried eight passengers and a crew of three. Three of the passengers were identified by a spokesman for the Red River Army Depot near Texarkana, Tex., as colonels from the base. The airline declined to identify any of the other passengers.

The helicopter, one of two dispatched from Little Rock, went down in a fog bank near Interstate 30, about eight miles northeast of Prescott. The other helicopter turned back and made a safe landing at Malvern. The dead crew were not immediately identified.

Says Walking A Longevity Aid

SAN DIEGO (AP) — When Charley Sharp was born, people still went most places on foot. He credits that for his longevity.

Sharp, a Spanish-American war veteran, took his daily stroll through the Veterans Administration hospital Thursday, returned to meet friends gathered on a patio for his 100th birthday party, and said: "If you want to live to be 100, you've got to walk, walk, walk. That'll do it."

Will Present Singing Groups

Special music will be presented during the morning worship service at York Memorial AME Zion Church.

Presenting the music will be the Youth Choir and the Voices of Zion. The two groups will also dedicate their new robes.

The service will begin at 11 a.m.

The Tot Choir, under the direction of Mrs. C.K. Marshburn, will also present special music.

Street-Paving Is Ruled Out

RALEIGH (AP)—After Nov. 1, no streets in residential subdivisions will be accepted into the state highway system for maintenance unless they are paved and meet state highway standards.

Council members pointed out that in the past, some developers have sold lots on unpaved streets, telling buyers the state would pave them. When the state refused to pave the streets, property owners were left living on unpaved streets or paying to have them improved.

Divided As To Medical Needs

SHELBY (AP)—The approximately 30 people who showed up for a public hearing Thursday on North Carolina's medical needs were about evenly divided on whether a four-year medical school should be established at East Carolina University.

The one thing they did agree on was the state definitely needs more doctors.

It was the fourth in a series of six hearings by a legislative committee probing the need for doctors in the state.

Dr. Wyan Washburn of Boiling springs urged the legislators to reject a report by an out-of-state panel which recommended that a four-year medical school not be established at ECU.

"Let them ask the people what we need, instead of what the people in the ivory tower think we need," he said.

Washburn said not only is a four-year medical school needed at ECU, but also at Charlotte. In addition, he called for a school of veterinary medicine to be established at North Carolina State University, and for expanded paramedical training over state.

Fred Hamrick Jr., Rutherfordton lawyer, said, "I wonder if construction of more medical schools will solve the problem. Somehow facilities need to be available to attract physicians to the needed areas."

He said his own son, a pathologist, left Rutherfordton because the equipment he needed to "do the job he was trained to do and wanted to do" was not available.

Lamar Young, Shelby merchant, said "If you put medical schools in Shelby, Eastern Carolina or Western Carolina, it's not the answer. The doctors go where they want to go. Let's not water down what we already have. The answer lies within the communities, and the cities and towns themselves."

He has been pastor of the Halifax charge since February, 1972, and is missions chairman for the Rocky Mount District. He is married to the former Joyce Riddle of Black Mountain.

Another Big Effort To Get Religion In School

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A big, new push is developing to get teaching about religion restored to public school education in this country.

The drive is coming in two arenas, both among educators and church people out in the field, and in the halls of Congress.

There, the effort took on new dimensions last week when the U.S. Catholic Conference called for a constitutional amendment permitting both religious instruction under private auspices and also prayer in public schools.

The move has sparked debate in religious circles, and some opposition.

Until it came, the issue in Congress had been largely confined in recent years to repeatedly defeated proposals to allow "voluntary" or "nondenominational" prayers in schools.

About 30 such proposals — seven in the Senate and 23 in the House — are again up for consideration.

However, broader action now is gathering momentum in educational circles to get courses "about" religion into public school curricula as an essential part of a well-rounded education.

"As an integral part of man's culture, it must be included," says the American Association of School Administrators.

A special center, recently established at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio, is working to provide guide manuals and prepare public school teachers for handling classes on religion.

"Curriculum materials have now been developed to enable such instruction in the schools," says James Panoch, coordinator for the newly set up Public Education Religion Studies Center.

He points out that public school courses on religion were encouraged — and not outlawed — by the U.S. Supreme Court decision of 10 years ago banning state-sponsored devotional exercises.

Retired U.S. Justice Thomas C. Clark, who wrote that landmark decision, told a recent symposium at the center that the decision has been widely misunderstood as banning classes on religion which, in fact, he considers vital.

The center, set up by a grant from Religious Heritage of America, Inc., found in a recent partial survey that courses about religion already exist in many high schools.

Representatives of 40 national educational and religious bodies have formed a national Council on Religion and Public Education to facilitate expansion of public school courses on religion.

The University of Iowa is planning to augment its curriculum to train future teachers for conducting religion courses on religion.

Church Will Pay Tribute

Members of St. Paul Pentecostal Holiness Church will observe "Bill Harrington Day" Sunday at the church, which is located on the Washington Highway.

Harrington has served as superintendent for nine years and has 24 years perfect attendance.

Coinciding with the tribute to Harrington, the church will be holding its annual world-wide enrollment day for its denomination. A few of the major aims are 100 per cent attendance of all Sunday School members and enrollment of at least one person in each Sunday School class.

The superintendent with the largest increase in attendance and enrollment will receive denominational recognition and will be nominated for one of the top 10 superintendents.

One event planned especially with the youth is the King's Youth Fellowship dinner for the Pentecostal Holiness college students in this area. This will be held immediately after the 11 a.m. worship service.

The church members invite all friends and relatives of W. F. Harrington to attend the services at the church Sunday in his honor. A short program commemorating his service will conclude the Sunday School hour.

Says Scandals Are A Reminder

COMMERCE, Tex. (UPI) — Scandals such as the Watergate bugging affair should remind people that the United States is a nation of laws, according to Texas Attorney General John Hill.

Hill also says Watergate demonstrates the need for legislation protecting a newsman's right to keep his sources secret.

"Without protection of news sources all the facts in a situation like the Watergate probably would not come to light," he told students at East Texas State University.

in public schools.

With hearings again percolating in Congress about school prayers, the U.S. Catholic Conference made its proposal for a constitutional amendment allowing privately conducted religious instruction on school premises.

Bishop James S. Rausch, the conference's general secretary, says such a step is "vitaly important to protect the religious liberty of parents and children."

However, the Rev. James E. Wood Jr., head of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, said the move would "bring confusion" to the whole issue of religion and public schools.

Will Speak At Services

W.W. WELDON

A preaching mission will begin at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship hour.

Wilson O. Weldon, a native of Camden, S.C., will be the guest speaker. Other services will be held Sunday at 7:45 p.m. and on Monday at 11 a.m. and again at 7:45 p.m.

He received a B.A. degree from the University of South Carolina, B.D. from Duke University and D.D. from High Point College. Prior to becoming editor of "The Upper Room," he served as pastor of churches in China Grove, High Point, Thomasville, Gastonia, Charlotte and Greensboro.

Weldon has been a delegate to numerous conferences and is a trustee at Duke University, Greensboro College, Scarritt College, The Methodist Home and Lake Junaluska Assembly. He is also president of the Lake Junaluska Associates.

Several of his books are "The Thrill of Christian Living," and "Our Father; A Plain Man Faces Trouble."

Wilson is married to the former Margaret Hammond Lyles of Darlington, S.C.

Missionary Is Guest Speaker

The Rev. Robert N. Nash, missionary in the Philippines, will be the guest speaker at Arlington Street Baptist church Saturday night at 7:30 and Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

A native of Macon, Ga., the Rev. Nash received his education at Truett-McConnell Junior College, Cleveland, Ga., Mercer University, Macon, Ga. and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest. He and Mrs. Nash, the former Janet Carpenter, also of Georgia, are making their furlough home in Savannah. They are the parents of two boys.

He is a former pastor of Arlington Street Baptist Church.

The public is invited to the services.

Says Koscot Earnings Not In Cosmetic Sales

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A Miami man says all the money he made while working for Glenn W. Turner's cosmetics company came from selling distributorships and not cosmetics.

William C. Sant gave the testimony Thursday in the federal mail fraud trial of Turner, criminal attorney F. Lee Bailey and seven others.

The nine are accused of scheming to defraud persons "too numerous to mention" in the sale of distributorships in Koscot Interplanetary Inc., a cosmetics firm, and Dare To Be Great Inc., a motivational business.

The government has alleged that Koscot distributorships were sold without sufficient product supplies.

Sant testified that after Florida officials clamped down on Koscot operations in May 1969, he bought a charter membership in Dare To Be Great for $600.

"At that point there was nothing to sell," Sant said.

In October 1969, Sant said, Bailey attended a meeting of South Florida Koscot Distributors at Miami and announced that he was joining forces with Turner.

Sant said Bailey told the group that Koscot had been attacked by state officials "who didn't understand and didn't try to understand."

Bailey said he was with the firm in an effort to keep it out of further trouble, Sant testified.

The government accused

Bailey of active participation in Turner companies but Bailey has said he only advised Turner on legal problems.

The government's first witness, Jimmie Earl James of Greenville, N.C., said under cross-examination that while he was a Koscot vice president, Bailey was not making managerial decisions.

"Did I give you any orders at any time?" asked Bailey, acting as his own attorney.

"No sir," James replied.

Defendants are Turner, 39; Bailey, 40; Hobart Wilder, 46, of Winter Park; Ben U. Bunting, 44, and Clyde C. Cobb, 32, of Maitland; Harry Atkinson, 45, Jess O. Hickman, 34, and W. Leroy Beale, 30, all of Orlando, and Malcolm Julian, 34, of Fern Park.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale says he is in "a very preliminary stage" of a possible 1976 presidential bid but that he will have to decide on running sooner than other potential candidates.

Mondale said in an interview he doubts he can wait as late as 1975 before making a decision.

Asks Restoring Of Citizenship

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Lady Amalia Fleming, widow of the British discoverer of penicillin, has applied for restoration of the Greek citizenship that was taken from her in 1971.

A lawyer said Lady Fleming and George Plytas, former mayor of Athens, had applied to the Council of State for citizenship restoration. A decision is expected soon.

Plytas, like Lady Fleming, is in exile.

"I'm not well known so I would have to make a decision earlier than some others," the 45-year-old Minnesota Democrat said. "Without getting into names, there are some people who are quite well-known nationally."

Mondale said he thinks Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts "is clearly the dominant possibility at this time" for the Democratic nomination.

Mondale said his effort, which has received encouragement from fellow Minnesota Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, is in "a discussion stage."

"I have been traveling around the country some, making speeches, mostly talking with political leaders about how they view the whole matter of the Democratic party," he added.

He expects to step up speech-making through the 1974 election but said he has hired no additional staff, raised no money and launched no research on either issues or the mechanics of a presidential bid.

Humphrey said in a separate interview that he has assured Mondale "I'm not going to run" but that he is keeping his options open in the event the 1976

Democratic Convention becomes deadlocked.

Mondale said the fall of 1973, three years before the 1976 election, isn't too early to make initial moves and added that he has decided to be frank about a possible candidacy.

"Typically," he said, "candidates who are running go through this period of shyness and coyness where they pretend they're not doing what they're doing."

"I decided that that is artificial," he said. "The public might just as well know and has a right to know what you're up to."

He said he has received both encouragement and discouragement in his travels about the country. He said he has sought no commitments and conceded "I do not see any landslide for Walter Mondale."

A Recruiter For Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nola Smith says any woman seeking a job in government should write to her, in care of the White House.

Mrs. Smith, a Texan, is President Nixon's new recruiter for women executives in government. She says the White House talent bank could use more female names.

Mrs. Smith says there are usually several men and few women proposed for every presidential appointment. She says that creates a situation in which the percentages work against women.

In addition to seeking more applicants, Mrs. Smith says she plans to speak to men who do government hiring and see to it that they begin hiring more women.

Meanwhile, if you're female and want a government job, Mrs. Smith says to "write directly to me at the White House, preferably with experience resumes."

Find Weapons

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Searches of passengers boarding flights at Charlotte's Douglas Municipal Airport have yielded dozens of weapons and potential weapons, according to airport manager R.C. Birmingham.

The searches were instituted across the nation in January as anti hijacking measures.

Birmingham said that in the last two months inspectors have confiscated two guns, 49 knives, two straight razors, 30 pairs of scissors and 31 cans of Mace.

He said, however, that most of the items seized were probably not intended for use in hijacking planes, but were being carried for protection. No weapons arrests have been made.

A Self-Managed Farm Is Honored

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin paid tribute to a dairy farm operated on a self-management system, one that Soviet leaders consider unacceptable to Russia.

In a visit to the farm on Thursday, Kosygin told the farm hands, "Your successes are our successes also and your victories are our victories as well, since we are great friends."

During the last 20 years, higher on-the-farm yields have enabled agriculture to increase crop production per man-hour by 148 per cent.

UGLY
BEAUTIFUL?

It all depends on whether or not you are a lobster-lover. To those who enjoy this succulent fruit of the sea, a lobster is a thing of beauty. To others it seems incredibly ugly.

Beauty is "in the eye of the beholder," but, contrary to another old saying, it is not skin deep. True beauty often can't be seen at all. It is something you feel, something of which you are aware—not necessarily seen.

Beauty, for instance, surrounds you when you walk into a church. There is something in the atmosphere that you can't quite define. No matter what's been happening to you, in God's Home, you feel a sense of peace, of sanctuary.

Had that experience lately?

NASA Facility Attempts To Keep Lightning Away

By BETTY ANNE WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer
ROSMAN, N.C. (AP) — NASA's Rosman Data Acquisition Facility has suddenly sprouted a growth of many-pointed, antenna-like objects called "arrays" around its perimeter.

Although they might suggest that the satellite tracking station is trying to make rain, their real purpose is to keep lightning away. The $59,000 project at the Rosman station, one of the largest in NASA's international network, is believed to be a first. Assistant Station Director James E. Taylor said it is "probably the first time such a system has been used to protect a satellite tracking station."

"The theory of operation," he explained, "is that these arrays will actually prevent lightning strikes. They accomplish this by providing an ionization current that will neutralize a change in a cloud before any lightning can strike."

He said clouds contain charged particles, usually negatively charged at the bottom and positively charged at the top. The arrays emit other charged particles—ions—which act to neutralize the cloud before any lightning can form.

"They're expanding Benjamin Franklin's theory of lightning protection," he observed, "by providing a large ionization current that will prevent voltage build-up that could result in a lightning strike. The more conventional approach would be to use lightning rods."

Lightning Elimination Associates of Downey, Calif., marketers of the lightning prevention equipment, completed the two-month installation in mid-September. Taylor said no thunderstorms have yet offered themselves to test its effectiveness.

He noted that the equipment has not been installed to merely work at will and said NASA plans to check its operation.

"It's going to be a very hard thing to evaluate," he said. "When you start to measure lightning or the effects of it, it's a hard thing to measure."

"We're trying to do things like measure the amount of current that passes through the arrays during a storm and trying to measure the voltage potential to see what the voltage going through the area is."

Taylor said the project was initiated because, "We do have a lot of equipment damage due to electrical over-voltage."

The arrays have added a whole new look to the fringes of the station and to its rooftops.

Taylor said some of the anti-lightning equipment reminded him of barbed wire used for fences except that the points are longer.

He said some of the installations could also suggest a backyard clothes tree used for drying laundry.

Whether it works or not, the new adornments for the station are likely to remain.

Taylor said, "I think it will probably be permanent because the cost to take it out will be about equal to the cost of putting it in."

Plan Probe Of Wiretap

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A probe into the possible wiretapping of phone conversations between a former aide to billionaire Howard Hughes and Donald Nixon, the President's brother, will begin immediately in Washington, according to Asst. U.S. Attorney John R. Lusk.

Lusk said Thursday the investigation was requested after the Washington Post reported on Sept. 6 that the President had ordered his brother's phone tapped for the past few years because he feared embarrassment from the latter's financial disclosures.

Lusk said the coming investigation was called only to determine whether former Hughes aide John H. Meier, currently under indictment here on federal income tax evasion charges, was "subject to electronic surveillance."

Meier's attorneys asked for transcripts of any conversations between Meier and Donald Nixon if any were, in fact, recorded.

Donald Nixon and Meier are reportedly longtime friends. Meier was dismissed as scientific adviser to the Hughes Tool Co. in Nevada in 1969, reportedly because he disregarded White House orders to disassociate himself from the President's brother.

Renewed Ties To Cuba Slowed By Chilean Coup

By LOUIS UCHITELLE
Associated Press Writer

Cuba's goal of renewing diplomatic and commercial ties with most Latin-American nations seemed nearing reality — until an anti-Marxist military junta seized power in Chile.

Venezuela, taking the initiative, had rounded up 11 votes in the Organization of American States — OAS — to end a mandatory embargo against Cuba in effect since 1964. That was only one vote short of a majority in the 23-nation OAS. A 12th vote in the OAS council seemed within easy reach in a month or two.

On Tuesday, Sept. 11, however, the number of sure votes was reduced to 10. An Associated Press survey of OAS member nations shows that the trend toward recognition of Cuba continues, but the Chilean coup might throw up obstacles.

The Chilean armed forces toppled Marxist President Salvador Allende and installed a military junta. The coup ended an historic attempt to switch a capitalist economy to socialism through democratic processes. The new junta quickly broke off the diplomatic relations which Allende had established with Cuba in 1970.

"The Venezuelans have not made a peep since the Chilean coup," says an official in the U.S. delegation to the OAS.

Even the U.S. government seemed to be relaxing its anti-Cuban position in response to pressure from other Western Hemisphere nations. On Sept. 10, the day before the Chilean coup, Henry A. Kissinger told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the Nixon administration was willing to reassess Cuban policy.

"We will begin as soon as possible a discussion with our other friends in Latin America about how they envisage the future of the OAS and the future of Western Hemisphere relations," Kissinger said at a hearing prior to his confirmation as secretary of state. "In the course of this, ideas may emerge with respect to Cuba ... Whatever move we make on the subject of Cuba will be made with the rest of the hemisphere."

Kissinger was the first high administration official in years to indicate publicly that the United States might be ready for reconciliation with Cuba.

However, State Department sources said cables went out to every U.S. embassy telling ambassadors to ignore Kissinger's remarks. The cables said Latin governments asking for clarification should be told that U.S. policy remains unchanged.

Perhaps the State Department cables were a result of the Chilean coup. Perhaps they would have been sent anyway.

The United States holds that Cuba should remain isolated because it continues to foment revolution elsewhere in the hemisphere, although at "reduced levels."

The AP survey shows that the U.S. position has the wholehearted endorsement of six Latin-American nations, besides the Chilean military junta. They are Uruguay, Guatemala, Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic, Paraguay and giant Brazil. Their rulers, mostly military men, apparently agree with army Gen. Augusto Pinochet Ugarte, president of Chile's junta. He says Cuba fomented revolution in the hemisphere and Marxism must be "exterminated."

Held Women In Escape Try

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Twelve women prisoners and a matron were released unharmed early today, 5½ hours after they were seized during an escape attempt at city jail, authorities said.

"They threatened me. They threatened to blow my brains out. They threatened to cut my head off," sobbed the matron, Betty Scott.

Officials said the incident started shortly after midnight when seven male inmates overpowered two guards.

They said the men forced one of the two, guard Capt. Arthur E. Vogelwohl, 61, to accompany them on an elevator to the jail's sixth floor, where 50 women are housed.

There, Vogelwohl said, one of the prisoners began an escape attempt by trying to descend a ladder, but was thwarted by a policeman below.

At that point Vogelwohl said he broke loose from his captors. The seven inmates then barricaded themselves on the sixth floor and took the 13 women hostage, officials said.

Edward Tripp, city director of adult services, said he met with the seven inmates for about four hours during the incident, after which the men returned to a fifth-floor cell in orderly fashion.

Also at the meeting on the facility's sixth floor was news director Jim White of radio station KMOX, whose presence was demanded for the airing of grievances.

Tripp said he acceded to most of a list of demands that included better medical services, mattresses on which to sleep and more sanitary conditions.

Tropical Bird Can 'Fly Blind'

Chicago (UPI) — The guaharo, or American tropical oilbird, can "fly blind."

This bird, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, uses the natural sonar of echo location to avoid obstacles while flying in darkness—a form of navigation otherwise unknown among birds.

HIGH RISE AIR MAIL — Young Bill Fisher of Sarasota, Fla., finds that postmen will not shinny up this lofty pole to make their appointed rounds. Of course, the aerial "air mail box" is in jest. Bill's father saw a similar box while traveling through Virginia. He said "I've got to have one of those." — (AP Wirephoto)

REMEMBER WHEN MOST THINGS

WERE "HOME DELIVERED"?

NOT TOO LONG ago many grocery stores, meat markets and drug stores offered Free Home Delivery. Not many still offer it today. Even the milkman and bread truck are less frequent in many communities today. The twice-a-day mailman now comes only once.

ONE OF THE FEW remaining home-delivery services is performed by your newspaper carrier. When you think about it, it is rare to have such personal daily service on such a low-priced item.

PERHAPS THE MOST discouraging part of a newspaper route is in collecting from the customers. Most people have the money ready for their newspaper carrier at the regular time. However, some readers require the carrier to make two, three or even more trips in order to get his money. We hate to see these young carriers discouraged. We also hate to see a good businessman give up his route because of the time and effort it takes to collect.

WON'T YOU HELP HIM, (and us) by having your money ready every time?

Bundy, a speaker for the North Carolina Christian Action League, will discuss the upcoming referendum on liquor-by-the-drink.

No New Jobs From Move

FARMVILLE—The moving of a warp knit operation from Hopkinton, R.I. to the Farmville Collins and Aikman plant will mean no new jobs or expansion here, according to Les Hurley, vice president of the C&A Bangor division.

Hurley explained that the Hopkinton plant has the newest knitting equipment of the three plants that make tricot, so its equipment will be divided between the two remaining plants, one here and the other in Pen Argyl, Pa. "We'll just be replacing some of our older equipment, with no units at all added, I understand," he said.

The Rhode Island plant will be converted to a wall covering manufacturing operation, operated by Imperial Paper Company, a subsidiary of Collins and Aikman, he said.

Investigating Early Break-In At Ayden Store

AYDEN—Local police and the State Bureau of Investigation Crime Lab are investigating an early morning break-in at the Stop-N-Go store here that resulted in the theft of some $425 in currency and $175 in checks.

Police Chief Tommy Burney said this morning that the money and checks were taken from a strong box on the counter of the W. Third Street business.

Burney, who noted that the break-in apparently occurred during the early part of the morning, said that entrance was gained through a rear door.

No merchandise was taken during the break-in, he reported.

York Memorial Services Set

The Voices of Zion of York Memorial AME Zion Church will conduct services at York Memorial tonight through Monday night.

The Rev. W. J. Best will preach tonight while Saturday night, services will be presented by the Rev. Jesse Wilson. Monday night, services will be presented by the Rev. J. N. Gilbert.

The services are being held to help raise money for the church building fund.

The Rev. J.J. Reece is pastor of York Memorial.

Ervin . . .

evening included Pitt Democratic chairman Henry Oglesby, State Party Chairman Jim Sugg, the lieutenant governor, and Congressman Jones, who introduced Sen. Ervin, calling him "the darling of everyone in the United States who believes in truth and honesty."

STRIKE TARGETS

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union has added six more plants to a list of Chrysler Corp. facilities which could be hit by walkouts next week. The action brought to 10 the number designated for strikes.

Police In New Orleans Silent Over Beckwith

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Self-professed segregationist Byron De La Beckwith has been arrested for driving into the city from Mississippi with a ticking time bomb and other weapons.

A local newspaper and radio station both quoted federal sources today as saying A.I. "Bee" Botnick, head of the Jewish Anti-Defamation League in New Orleans, was Beckwith's apparent target.

They said Botnick apparently went into hiding after learning of the Beckwith's alleged plans.

Beckwith, 52, was tried twice, but not convicted, of the 1963 murder of civil rights worker Medgar Evers.

Police intelligence officers would neither confirm nor deny that Botnick was Beckwith's intended victim.

Leaders of the city's Jewish community were unable to provide information on Botnick's whereabouts.

It was not clear what might have provoked an attack on Botnick.

Botnick was reported to be working for the Anti-Defamation League in Mississippi in recent weeks.

Sources said Botnick had moved his family from the city several days ago after receiving threats on his life. Although there was activity in Botnick's house Thursday night, no one would respond to the doorbell.

Beckwith was arrested by New Orleans police intelligence officers as he crossed a bridge into the city Thursday morning, the first day of the Jewish New Year.

Beckwith was carrying the bomb, which consisted of a clock connected to several sticks of dynamite and set to go off, a .50-caliber machine gun, three rifles, a pistol and ammunition when he was arrested, police said.

"We like guns, and we like people who like guns," Beckwith once said of himself and his family.

A letter introduced at Beckwith's second trial said in part: "For the next 15 years, we here in Mississippi are going to have to do a lot of shooting to protect our wives and our children from bad Negroes and sorry white folks and federal interference."

Authorities said they would file federal charges against Beckwith for possessing the bomb, in addition to three state charges. Beckwith was held under $53,500 bond.

Home At Last, Pirates Face Paladins

When the Paladins and the Pirates mix it up, the record book goes out the window. That's about the only thing that can be guaranteed Saturday night when East Carolina University plays host to Furman in its first home and first Southern Conference football game.

Kickoff is slated for 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Throughout the previous 10 game history between the two schools, nothing has every been taken for granted. The games have been hard fought, although East Carolina holds an 8-2 advantage in the series. Few times, however, had either Furman or East Carolina been able to hit back in relax through the final period with a comfortable lead.

For instance, last year, the Pirates won it 27-21, and had to come from behind several times to do it.

This year, Furman comes into the game with a perfect 3-0 record, a youthful bunch of players, and a new coach. Bob King, long-time Furman coach, is gone now, and Art Baker had taken over and fired up the Paladins. As a result they are off to their best start in 10 years. A tie would make it their best in 13 years, and a victory over the Bucs would run it out to their best in 40 years when Furman opened with four straight.

Key men in the Furman attack have been freshmen who have matured quickly under Baker. For instance, quarterback Danny Whitehurst ranks second in the Southern Conference in total offense with 331 yards in three games. He's rushed for 139 yards and passed for 192 more, giving Furman a true double-threat man. Through the air, he's connected on 10 of 17 passes for two touchdowns, and hasn't been intercepted yet.

Another freshman, Larry Robinson, the tailback is the team's leading rusher, with 166 yards. Next comes senior Donny Griffin, who had 131 against Presbyterian in the opener, then missed the next two games.

Whitehurst hasn't picked out a favorite target as yet, throwing to 12 different receivers. Mike Bartik, a senior, as four of them for 136 yards, and only two others, fullback Randy Mahaffey and Herbie Pack, have as many as two.

Furman can strike quickly too, with an explosive offense. They've scored seven touchdowns so far, and five have come from outside the 50. Vice Perone, who plagued the Pirates last year a linebacker, ran back a kickoff 100 yards for a score.

They've also scored on runs of 70 and 61 yards, and passes of 68 and 65 yards. Whitehurst has scored twice on runs of five and 10 yards.

Against Wofford last week, the Paladins didn't snap the ball on the other side of the 50 until the final five minutes of the game, and were leading at the time, 21-

19. Defensively, they are doing the job too, keeping their opponents off the scoreboard. Only 25 points have been scored against them in three games. Like the Pirates, Furman has a nickname for their defense, calling them the "Junkyard Dogs."

Across the way will be the ECU "Wild Dogs," and the Triple-S offense.

East Carolina's attack will be led by Carl Summerell, who leads the total offense with 320 yards in three games. He's hit on 18 of 43 passes for 239 yards and has run for 81 yards and three touchdowns.

Tailback Kenny Strayhorn is the leading rusher with 217 yards, while Carlester Crumpler, still running behind Strayhorn, has 210. Fullback Don Schink is next with 179.

Summerell's favorite target has been Benny Gibson, who's caught nine passes for 128 yards.

Coach Sonny Randle is glad to be in the position of having three running backs he can call on at any time but notes it does have its drawbacks. "It's hard to keep all three happy," he notes. "But we have to let performance dictates who starts."

The Pirates go into the game with several players still somewhat hobbled by injuries from Southern Illinois. "We have about five — no names — who will not be at full strength," the coach said. In addition, Butch Strawderman, recovering from a pre-season injury, will probably not play. "We want to be sure that he's ready."

Randle also notes that he's worried over Furman's ex-plosiveness. "Baker has made the statement that Furman will throw the ball, but we've put no more emphasis on this than normal. We've picked off seven interceptions in three games, so our pass defense isn't all that bad. It shows we can do the job."

The explosiveness is another thing however. "It's a great concern to us," Randle added. The youth of the Paladins apparently hasn't hurt them, either. "They've matured in a hurry."

Randle feels that Furman will certainly be up for the game. "They have to be. They have to feel like they can whip the world right now; they're rolling and they have confidence in what they are doing."

But the Bucs should be up to — and mainly just because they are playing at home for the first time this year. "Their unbeaten record also gives us something to shoot for, not to mention that it's the first game in the conference for us, and our number one goal is to repeat as champions, and you can imagine our position if we don't beat them."

Randle also lauded several of his players for their performance so far this year. "Tom Frazier and Greg Iroup have been outstanding in the offensive line. Benny Gibson has done a tremendous job at tight end, and we've already talked about how pleased we are with the backs." Carl Summerell had a great game against Southern Illinois, and Bob Bailey showed us that we have excellent backup strength."

Turning to the defense, Randle singled out linemen Cary Godette, Joe Ikach, Buddy Lowery and Kenny Moore for doing "an outstanding job. Godette's play has bordered on greatness. Danny Kepley is doing his usual outstanding job, and Gary Niklason is playing well to. Freshman Jim Bolding has been a pleasant surprise at safety."

Randle also singled out freshman punter Jonathan Deming for his fine job, giving the punting game an outstanding mark. He's averaging 37.8 yards a kick but several times has kicked on the wrong side of the 50, hurting his average. As yet, not one of his punts have been returned. John Grinnell, who snaps for punts, extra points and placements, also was praised for the job he's doing.

Rampant Cubs Capture Third

The Rose High School junior varsity upped its record to 3-0 yesterday with a 26-16 romp over Jacksonville's junior varsity.

The loss was the first in four games for the Baby Cardinals. Rose jumped into the lead in the first period, with Andrew Newton running 22 yards into the end zone after Tyrone Perkins had set up the drive with a pass interception.

Rose came back with another score in the first period, with Newton again doing the damage. This time, he went over from seven yards out to make it 12-0.

In the second period, the Rampants increased their lead to 18-0 as quarterback Jay Chenier scored from the one, and the score held at that at halftime.

Jacksonville came up with its first touchdown in the third period as Creel McVea got away on a 58-yard pass play from Humphrey to score. Humphrey passed to McNair for the two-point conversion, cutting the lead to 18-8.

Rose came back to score another touchdown in the final period, putting the game on ice.

Aycock In Loss

GOLDSBORO—Goldsboro Junior High School romped to a 42-6 victory over E. B. Aycock Junior High School yesterday.

It was the second straight loss for the winless Phantoms. Further details of the game were not made available to The Daily Reflector.

Newton again did the honors, scoring his third touchdown from five yards away. Chenier passed to Curtis Keys for the conversion, making it 26-8.

Jacksonville got another long pass off, this time for 40 yards from Humphrey to Bill Washington. They again made a two-point conversion on a Humphrey pass to McVea for the final 26-16 score.

Newton paced the Rampant offense, rushing 21 times for 132 yards.

Runners To Open

East Carolina University's cross-country team will open its season Saturday in Pembroke as they participate in the Pembroke Invitational.

The meet is one of six the Pirates will take part in this year, including the N. C. State Championships and the Southern Conference Championships.

Coach Bill Carson feels that freshmen will have to play a role in any success the Pirates might have this year. "The ability of the freshmen to respond to the longer distances of college cross-country will determine our success. With the continued excellent performances of the upperclassmen and a good showing by the freshmen we can compete with national powers William & Mary and Duke as well as the always tough Southern Conference teams. We are ready physically, but we must mature quickly."

The Pirate team this year consists of three upperclassmen and five freshmen. The upperclassmen consist of senior Gerald Klas, junior Ed Rigsby, and Jerry Hillard.

The freshmen are Scott Miller, Steve Michaels, Raymond Martin, Larry Clark and Neil Bransfield.

Chowan Defeats Baby Bucs, 22-6

Chowan Junior College wore down the East Carolina University junior varsity in the second half and gained a 22-6 victory over the Baby Bucs last night.

The victory raised the Chowan record to 3-1 on the season, with their only loss coming at the hands of the Wolflets of N. C. State. For the Baby Bucs, it was the first game.

East Carolina held Chowan scoreless in the first half, and had a 55-yard aerial from Tom Chipok to Theodore Asheford called back by a penalty that kept the Bucs off the scoreboard. Chowan finally broke the ice with a safety early in the third period. Mike Roper, back to punt, fumbled the snap and was dropped in the end zone for the two pointer.

Chowan came right back after the kick to push the ball in for its first touchdown. Ron Raynor did the honors, going over from five yards out. The PAT kick missed, and Chowan led, 8-0.

East Carolina, guided by quarterback Mike Weaver, came back and scored, with Raymond Jones going over from the two. A run to tie it failed and the Bucs trailed, 8-6.

Chowan then came back with two more in the final period to put it away. Ron Mack broke away on a 57 yard run to up the score to 14-6, and then Martin

Page scored on a one-yard run for the final score. Page passed to Mack for a two-point conversion and the final 22-6 edge. Mack was the statistical leader in the game, running for 123 yards in 19 carries.

Bucs Get Nod; Split On Rose

Ouch! That hurt!
Last week, a couple of games ran just a few minutes too long to suit me, and it really cost.
There was that late score that gave Duke a win over Washington, and Lenoir Rhyme nipping Davidson. And we don't even talk about that 39-0 score.
Even the high school ranks this past week found a ringer too as Southern Wayne defeated Greene Central.

But, we can't afford to look back.
Tom Baines has vaulted into the lead in the poll with a 10-2 card last week. That gives him a 27-9 record for the year. Sandra Spivey, Jack Whichard, and John Trotman are all one game back with a 26-10 mark, while George Holland is one behind them at 25-11.
And then there is some dude named Peele bringing up the rear with a miserable 23-13 mark. One consolation, he can't go any lower.
This week's high school schedule is a toughie. There are some outstanding games tonight, with the best being at Farmville and Williamston.
The Jaguars of Farmville Central play host to unbeaten Ayden-Grifton, and a share of first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference is on the line. As is usual, any meeting between these two is dog-fight, and this one should be no exception. But Ayden-Grifton has the horses, and should win it.
Roanoke Rapids visits Williamston is a key Northeastern Conference game. The two teams are unbeaten in three games, and are playing their first league game. The winner will have taken a big step down the road toward a chance at the title. Williamston has the home field edge, but Roanoke Rapids is an old-timer in the 3-A ranks, and that little bit of edge might be the thing. Roanoke Rapids here.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

West Craven visits Conley in a non-conference game. The Vikings gave Ayden-Grifton a fit last week, while West Craven shows continued improvement, and has a shot at a winning season for the first time. We'll have to go with West Craven here.
West Edgecombe is at Robersonville, and the Eagles are probably trying to figure out what's gone wrong with their season, as they stand 1-2 so far. But they are back on their own level this week, and should take it.
Southern Nash visits North Pitt and the Panthers would like nothing better than to gain their first win of the year. Southern hasn't looked real good in its conference games, but has a victory under their belts. We'll pick Southern to win.
Finally, Aycock is at Greene Central. The Rams should be fighting mad over their loss last week, and young Aycock will suffer for it.
Now, turning to the poll.
Rose travels to Jacksonville tonight, looking for their first win on the road. The Cardinals have performed well despite their 2-2 record, and Jacksonville is always tough at home. It promises to be quite a game, but the panel goes down in a split decision. Three pick Rose, and three pick Jacksonville. That's how close it is.
In the East Carolina-Furman game, however, there is more unanimity. The Bucs are coming home at last, after getting two hard-fought-for victories. The Paladins are always tough, but we must pick the Pirates to win this one.

Leg Cramps Worry Petty

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Richard Petty will be trying for his 13th stock car victory at Martinsville Speedway Sunday, and he's worried-of all things—about leg cramps.
"You drive 500 laps around this little oval in about 3½ hours. You have to hit the brakes at least twice each time around," said the 35-year-old superdriver. "That's a minimum of 1,000 times you have to shift your right foot around, from the brakes to the accelerator and back."
"After about an hour, your right leg gets numb with cramp, and you begin to shift your seat position to get relief. Finally, even this doesn't help and by the time the race is over, you're practically dead from the waist down."
"It takes you three days to recover," he added. "How do I get over the agony? Well, the last several years I have been able to sit down at home and count the money."
Petty, who needs a good finish in the $62,730 Old Dominion 500 to clear the $1.5 million mark in career winnings, was one of several favorites to capture the front row pole position in today's first round of time trials.
The pole winner collects a $1,000 bonus—the first step in what could result in a $16,000 payday for one of the 36 starters.
In addition to the qualifying bonus, there's a $5,000 purse for the driver who leads the most laps and a $10,000 payoff to the race winner.
"It's well worth the cramps," Petty smiled. The winner of a career of 143 Grand National races enters the Old Dominion 500 with only $132,480 in prize money to his credit for the season. That's a drop of nearly $100,000 from last year.
Other pole position contenders included Buddy Baker, who like Petty drives a Dodge; the Chevrolet trio of Cale Yarborough and the brothers Bobby and Donnie Allison; rookie Darrell Waltrip, who heads the Ford contingent; West Coast star Jack McCoy, in a Dodge; and Mercury driver David Pearson, who has won 10 major events in 15 starts and pocketed $196,010 this year.

Nolan Ryan Breaks Strikeout Mark; Pittsburgh Is 3-2 Loser

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Pittsburgh Pirates offered Philadelphia's Bob Boone a free pass but he refused to go along for the ride.
Instead, he helped hand them a 3-2, 13-inning defeat Thursday night that dropped Pittsburgh a full game behind the front-running New York Mets, who were idle, in the tight National League East.
"I always look for something to hit on an intentional walk," said Boone, whose single on a pitch that was supposed to be intentionally bad, helped build the winning Philadelphia run in the 13th.
Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis blanked Chicago 2-0 and the game between Atlanta and Los Angeles was rained out.
In the American League, Nolan Ryan broke Sandy Koufax's single season strikeout record by notching No. 383 in the 11th inning of California's 5-4 victory over Minnesota; Detroit beat Baltimore 5-2; New York shut out Milwaukee 2-0 and Chicago nipped Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings.

The last batter Nolan Ryan will face in the 1973 season was also the hard-throwing right hander's 383rd strikeout victim of the season which broke Sandy Koufax's single season strikeout record.
After tying the Dodger left-hander's eight-year-old mark by fanning Minnesota's Steve Brye in the eighth inning, the 26-year-old Ryan ran into some trouble.
He developed a cramp in his hamstring muscle in the ninth inning and had gone 11 batters without a strikeout since whiffing Brye in the eighth.
"I've got enough left to strike out one guy," he told Bobby Winkles when the Angel manager visited the mound in the top of the 11th before the California scored a run in the bottom of the 11th to win 5-4.
So he summoned up the energy for three high inside fastballs to Rich Reese and the Twins batter became Ryan's record-setting 383rd strikeout of the year, Ryan's 16th strikeout of the game.
"I feel like my season is over," said Ryan, who was supposed to pitch in the Angels final game so he could set the record. "Now I'm just gonna spectate."

Blue Devils Go After Share Of ACC's Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Duke will make a bid this weekend to share the Atlantic Coast Conference lead with North Carolina State and Maryland when the Blue Devils become the fifth ACC team to see league action. They open their conference season in Charlottesville against Virginia.
Maryland joined N.C. State at a 1-0 conference record last Saturday when it broke ACC defending champion North Carolina's 15-game conference winning-streak. The Wolfpack chalked up a conference victory against Virginia two weeks ago.
The Duke-Virginia contest is the only league game this week, and two ACC teams will remain without a league fight under their belts. Clemson will get into conference action Oct. 13 against Virginia and Wake Forest will get its first league play Oct. 20 against Maryland.
Wake Forest will take on its second straight Southern Conference opponent this week when the Deacons travel to Richmond. And Clemson will make its second straight journey to Georgia. The Tigers face Georgia Tech at Atlanta this week after losing to Georgia, 31-14, last week.
N.C. State will travel to Athens to meet the Georgia Bulldogs this Saturday and Maryland will host Villanova. North Carolina will be at home to Big Eight power Missouri.
Virginia is coming off two consecutive losses to go against Duke, while the Blue Devils broke into the win column last week over Washington, 23-21. The Cavaliers have been disappointed in their latest three tries against Duke, with their last win in the series in 1969.
Virginia has strength this year in its sophomore quarterback Scott Gardner, who is the ACC's total offense leader, with 582 yards on 101 plays. Gardner, also the league's leading passer, has hit on 36 of 79 attempts for 451 yards and three touchdowns and has run for 131 yards on 22 carries.
Duke coach Mike McGee has his eye on Gardner's aerial game. "Our pass defense will have to improve to stop Scott Gardner," McGee said. "Virginia is a young and inexperienced team with fine potential. There offense has proved that they can move the football on anyone."
Duke's offensive strong man is Mark Johnson, whose pass to Randy Cobb in the last minutes of the game brought the winning score against Washington last week. Johnson has 251 yards on 53 plays, including 82 yards on 27 carries. He has completed 13 of 26 passes for 169 yards.

Wake Forest's offense will be trying for its first touchdown of the season Saturday against Richmond. The Deacons' defense scored both touchdowns last week in Wake Forest's narrow 15-14 loss to William and Mary. An earlier 9-7 win over Florida State was made on three field goals.
The Demon Deacons will be up against a tough Richmond defense. The Spiders have the nation's top rushing defense mark and rank third in total offense. They share the lead with Notre Dame and Iowa State in defense against scoring. Richmond has blanked both its opponents this season, crushing Davidson 42-0 and V.M.I. 35-0.
Wake Forest coach Chuck Mills announced Thursday that standout junior linebacker Norris Thomas has left the team, citing personal reasons. Thomas was credited with 18 tackles in the William and Mary game.
North Carolina will start junior substitute Chris Kupec as quarterback Saturday against 20th ranked Missouri. Regular quarterback Nick Vidnovic suffered a bruised rib cage in last week's game and trainers said the injury had not responded as well to treatment as had been hoped.

Nearly Didn't Last Til 11th

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
ANAHEIM (AP) — "Give the Nolan Ryan Award to Cy Young," said Harry Dalton, general manager of the California Angels.
Dalton had watched his 26-year-old right-hander strike out 16 Minnesota Twins in an 11-inning, 5-4 victory Thursday night, breaking by one the 1965 major league strikeout record of 382 set by Sandy Koufax.
Ryan, who fanned Rich Reese with a high-inside fast ball, overcame a cramp in his right hamstring muscle to continue after Koufax' record.
Ryan, whose 712 strikeouts in consecutive seasons broke Koufax' 1965-66 record of 699 for the Los Angeles Dodgers, would have pitched in Sunday's season finale if he hadn't broken the record.
"In the ninth inning I got a cramp in my right hamstring," Ryan said. Between innings the trainer and doctor worked on it.
"Physically, my arm felt good. I was surprised it felt as good as it did," said Ryan, 21-16 with two no-hitters and a one-hitter this season.
"We debated coming out after the ninth. We didn't want to take a chance of my not being able to come back Sunday or risking injury with the cramp," he said.
Ryan, who pitched to 11 batters after striking out Steve Brye for No. 382 in the eighth inning, said he didn't know if he could have pitched beyond 11 innings.
"That's debatable," he said.
Manager Bobby Winkles said, however, Ryan would not have continued.
Winkles visited the mound after Ryan, missing with his curve, walked Rod Carew, who stole second.
"He said, 'I've got enough left to strike out one guy,'" Winkles said. "I said, 'which one?'" and he said, "I don't know."
Ryan was asked if the Cy Young Award for the American League's top pitcher would fit in his trophy case.
"I can make room," he said. "I think I have as good credentials as anybody running for it. The only thing you can hold against me is my winning percentage. Palmer (Jim Palmer of Baltimore) and Hunter (Catfish Hunter of Oakland) definitely had outstanding years."
Ryan walked seven and gave up 10 hits as he struck out 10 or more batters for the 23rd time this season. Koufax had held the record at 21.

Med Students See 'Patients' On TV As Part Of Training

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The young man is given instructions to dress for the role, wait for the signal from the television crew, and make his entrance onto the set.

Despite appearances, he's neither an actor, nor is he taping a TV show. He's a first year medical student at the University of Kentucky getting "an introduction to the profession."

The rather unusual introduction is an attempt to help medical students develop professional skills in interviewing patients, an aspect of the profession that is often neglected in medical school.

Dr. Myron G. Sandifer Jr., assistant dean of the medical school and course coordinator, said the section on interviewing was created to "give motivation to kids used to seeing slides."

Actors and actresses are hired to play the role of "patients." They are assigned "situations" and given a description of the role they are to play.

The student receives only a situation sheet with pertinent information such as the patient's name and his complaints.

Then the student meets the actor-patient and the interview is video-taped. Immediately after the interview the student meets with a faculty member to discuss his performance.

"The goal is not how skillful they are, but how comfortable they'll be next time," said Dr. Jean Wiese, a behavioral scientist who prepared the course offering. "It's not the information they get, but how they go about getting it."

Students play themselves. Instructions for interviewing include this advice:

"Dress appropriately for your role as a first year medical student assisting a family physician. (Please do not chew gum)."

The situations devised by Dr. Wiese are medically related, but do not require expert medical knowledge, she said.

Actors' roles have included that of a man with an ulcer, a suspected alcoholic, or a mother with a leukemic child. One of the situations required an actor and an actress to play a couple seeking advice on abortion.

On the whole the actors do a good job of imitating patients, except sometimes they talk too much, Dr. Wiese said. Instead of making the medical students work for answers they get involved in their roles and start declaiming, she said.

Why not let the students interview real patients? Dr. Wiese said it was a problem of time and scheduling.

"The overwhelming logistics of trying to schedule 210 interviews with real patients led to the use of actors," she said.

Students are evaluated on the basis of their use of interviewing techniques, such as questions asked and use of confrontation tactics, and for their personal style. That includes whether they're impersonal or empathetic, tense or calm and emotional or objective.

In addition to the actual interviews and evaluation, students are required to read additional material and to take an examination at the end of the semester.

The "Introduction to the Profession" course also covers more traditional areas, such as emergency measures, human growth and development and how to give physical examinations. The section on interviewing is given in the spring semester.

Judge Ordered A Transfusion

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A judge held court at the side of the hospital crib of a week-old baby and ordered a blood transfusion for the infant.

Judge William A. Jemaro of Milwaukee County Court took the action Wednesday against the religious beliefs of the parents.

"I cannot consent, but I do not want my child to die," the child's mother, a Jehovah's Witness, told Jemaro.

A physician testified a transfusion was necessary to combat an imbalance in the child's blood composition.

The hospital said there was improvement in the baby's condition after the transfusion.

Volunteer Groups Join War On High Crime Rates

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Aroused by rising crime rates, citizens in 21 cities in the nation are fighting back through organized groups which are becoming a potent force against crime.

Volunteer groups, mostly business and professional men and women, are digging into the murky underworld of organized crime in Chicago and New Orleans to expose racketeers in business.

In other cities, they are fighting to padlock pornographers, initiate drug control programs and keep a critical eye on police, the courts and public officials.

"The citizens crime commissions however, are opposed to taking the law into their own hands as vigilantes," said

James L. McGovern, head of the National Association of Citizen Crime Commissions.

In Atlanta, for example, a middle class neighborhood hard hit by burglaries is attempting to organize a vigilante group.

"We're totally opposed to this," said McGovern, who also is director of the Metropolitan Atlanta Commission on Crime and Juvenile Delinquency and chairman of the Georgia Crime Commission.

"Vigilantes groups are dangerous. I have never seen an uncoordinated group of citizens able to act other than as a mob," said McGovern, a former FBI agent, in an interview.

As an alternative, he recommends more citizen crime commissions, organized groups that can prod law enforcement officials.

"We're not competing with law enforcement officials," said McGovern. "We don't hold ourselves out as super sleuths." But, he added, citizen crime groups "are making a lot of progress."

Chicago, for example, has one of the oldest citizen groups in nation-founded in the days of Al Capone's mob rule. Several hundred business and professional men, who finance the crime group, and a fulltime staff of 20 probe the Mafia, vice, gambling and other racket.

"They publish yearly a listing of people with criminal records," he said, and their information includes all citizens indicted and convicted in Cook County as well as a record on organized crime.

"Kansas City has a similar program," McGovern added.

"Both of these cities have Mafia families.

"But you don't have to have a godfather type running an organization in your city to have organized crime."

Atlanta, which has no Mafia, McGovern said, has developed a statewide intelligence network, gotten higher police salaries and better police training, obtained court reforms and has a coordinated approach to drug and alcohol abuse programs, thanks to its citizens commission.

"New Orleans has probably one of the most effective groups in the nation," he said. Active for 20 years, the New Orleans Metropolitan Crime Commission has led to grand jury indictments and other legal actions against sheriffs, judges and police officers as well as underworld figures.

Florida has women court watchers.

The women's division of the Crime Commission of Greater Miami has volunteers who watch the disposition of criminal cases. To stop the tide of dismissals of cases, they have prodded judges and prosecutors.

To help the push for expedited trials in jammed courts, they have taken over some of the duties of probation officers by serving as probation aides.

In Philadelphia, McGovern said, the crime commission seeks changes in the pardons and paroles system.

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission has published a handbook for grand jurors, inaugurated an anti-drug program and gotten audits of county supervisors.

While the causes of crimes and the solutions are varied and complex, McGovern said citizens groups can be a potent force in the war against crime.

Atlanta, for example, has the highest homicide rate per capita of any city in the nation and could probably do something about this if its citizens demanded gun control, he said.

"When we recently brought convicted killers before a panel for questioning," said McGovern, "I asked each of them, 'What could the police have done to prevent the crime you committed?'"

"Over and over, said McGovern, 'I heard, I killed, or I shot ... my wife ... brother ... friend ... I was drinking and in the heat of passion I picked up the gun and I shot him.'"

McGovern said if citizens really wanted to cut the homicide rate, which he considers a social problem, they will insist the legislature adopt statutes aimed at least at controlling hand guns.

In 1972, he said, there were 5,800,000 crimes of all kinds in the nation. Five million of these were property crimes and the 800,000 were crimes against persons — such as aggravated assault, rape and murder — where the greatest fear is."

Newly Rich Dog Pack Is

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Seventy-three dogs with a total adjudged value of $1 have been awarded $9 million — about $123,287 each — from a $14 million estate.

When Eleanor Ritchey, the Quaker State Refining Corp. heiress, died in 1968 at the age of 58 she left her entire estate, then worth $4.5 million, to 150 dogs.

The dogs, both stray and pedigreed, had been cared for by Miss Ritchey at her ranch northwest of Fort Lauderdale.

Two half-sisters and a half-brother challenged the will in court, saying they should get some of the estate.

During the intervening years, the estate, consisting mostly of Quaker State stock, grew in value and more than half the dogs died.

Thursday, Broward County Circuit Judge Leroy Moe ended the five years of legal arguments by giving $9 million to a trust fund for the dogs and $2 million to be divided among the half-sisters and half-brother, all of whom are from Pennsylvania.

The rest of the estate went for taxes and attorney's and executors' fees.

Raised Sum For Flood Victims

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Empress Farah's campaign to aid the victims of floods in Pakistan has brought several million dollars in goods and cash. Her most recent contribution was a wristwatch she donated to an auction.

The watch sold for $150,000. A pipe donated by Prime Minister Amir Abbass Hoveida went for $7,777.

The Pakistani floods killed an estimated 300 persons and destroyed a million homes last August.

Tact Can Curb Dropout Child

Tommy was at the educational crossroads! His tactful mother stopped him from becoming a school dropout. And she did it within 6 weeks by the "Home Tutoring" games mentioned below. So try to understand the problems of kiddies. Help them tactfully!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-528: Tommy S., aged 9, faces a common tragedy. "Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Tommy has attended 3 public schools already.

"For my husband is a salesman and has been transferred several times since our marriage.

"Maybe that is what has upset Tommy's school marks.

"His teacher says she thinks he should be dropped back a grade.

"But that would put him in the same class with his younger sister and Tommy would then be humiliated greatly.

"Actually, Tommy is a very shy oldest child and I think that is what helps make him look bad in school.

"For even when he knows the right answer, he fails to put up his hand.

"Dr. Crane, what should we do in Tommy's case?"

Parental Problems

With deft home tutoring, as by the booklet offered below, you can bring a normally intelligent child up to his class average in 6 weeks!

So I wouldn't O.K. demoting Tommy to the classroom occupied by his younger sister.

Instead, I'd recommend that Mama prepare a set of "flash cards," each of which contains a printed word drawn from Tommy's current reading book.

Then have a jolly game of 15 minutes each evening.

Mama can first hold up 2 cards and explain what the words are, in case Tommy doesn't know them.

Then mix the cards, after which hold them up, one at a time, for Tommy to identify.

Meanwhile, Mama can slowly count to 10.

If Tommy correctly names the word, he gets the card; otherwise, Mama puts it in her pile. Within the first night's 15-minute drill, a smart youngster like Tommy can probably identify at least 25 or more of the formerly strange words.

Then next day he will derive quick dividends from this word game at home, for he'll see those same words in that day's reading assignment.

On the back of the cards you can also print each unit of the multiplication tables, as "3 x 1 are 3" and thus speed up his skill in arithmetic.

But don't run your word sessions more than about 15 minutes. And try to get daddy to enter the game, maybe having him pull his punches, as it were, so Tommy can win more cards than Daddy.

Meanwhile, to get a new child better acquainted in the strange neighborhood, invite some of his classmates who live in the neighborhood and have a party.

Concoct some excuse for such a celebration, even if it isn't his birthday or other calendar holiday.

For when Tommy begins to feel he had pals with whom to trudge to school (or ride the school bus) his self-confidence will zoom.

Between this bolstering of his reading and math ability, plus his zooming social assurance, you will find Tommy soon able to compete with his classmates at least as a "C" student and probably even higher than that.

In your home tutoring, be liberal with compliments and go slow on criticism!

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day and evening to express affection for those of whom you are fond and sincere appreciation for those towards whom you feel close or want to know better. Good for romance, entertainment, social and general prosperity and popularity. Be happy.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show particular devotion to the one who means so much to you and get back into his or her good graces. Be more direct with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Showing an associate you want to cooperate more in the future increases prosperity and understanding. Attend that meeting that will help you have more success.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Improve the appearance of your home and take the treatments necessary to become a more dynamic person. Dress well socially and make an excellent impression.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be with congenials at the pleasures that most appeal to you. Important to show mate devotion. Make sure you do not overspend, though.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Thoughtless actions could certainly spoil the harmony at home, so be considerate at this tense time. Entertain at home. Don't be stingy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take time to call others or visit with them to show your devotion and appreciation for past favors. Relax with favorite sport that tones up the system. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make surroundings more attractive and comfortable and increase harmony at home. Some entertaining tonight can be pleasurable. Invite relatives in.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use that charm today for making new contacts, pleasing old ones. Be somewhat discriminating in the choice of friends. Don't overdress. Show good taste.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Morning is good to get data you need. Later, go out for pleasure. Show you are observant and alert. Keep out of the way of trouble of all kinds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Gain cooperation of a most devoted pal to realize some cherished aim more quickly. Attend group meetings to contact good friends. Lend a helping hand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Gad about town and show you are a humanitarian and good mixer. Meet fine new personalities. Any public activity you get into can improve your image greatly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Step out and meet the people who can help make your life more interesting and prosperous in the future and get out of that rut. A new contact gives excellent information.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people with much affection in the nature capable of deep thoughts, who literally goes out of the way to help others and grows on them, making for fine friendships and partnerships. Becomes a valuable adjunct to the community. Much love of investigation here, so slant the education along such lines. Give early training in spiritual matters.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
The 4-3-2-1 point count was introduced by Bryant McCampbell in 1915 and publicized by Milton Work in his many writings. However, it was used almost only for no trump bidding. It was not until a Toronto actuary, William Anderson, developed the distributional count in the '40s that point count swept the bridge world.

Besides his fascination with the mathematical aspects of bridge, Anderson was an accomplished player. He held the West cards on today's hand, and opened the auction with one spade. North felt his hand was too good simply to overcall two hearts, so he doubled first for takeout and then bid his suit over his partner's jump response. When South persisted with his own suit, North felt his prime controls and moderate trump support warranted a raise to game, and Anderson doubled.

The queen of spades was led and won in dummy. Declarer had to obtain some club ruffs if he was going to have any play for his contract, so at trick two he led a club from the table. Since West was almost certain to have the ace of clubs, declarer played low on this trick, West's ten winning.

Anderson found the only return to defeat the contract—the king of diamonds! Declarer won with the ace and ruffed one club in dummy with the trump queen, but in doing so he set up the jack of diamonds as a trick for the defenders. South was lucky to escape for down one when the ace of clubs came down on the third lead of the suit, setting up the king as a trick.

Had West returned any card other than the king of diamonds at trick three, declarer would have had an easy road to 11 tricks. Assume West continues with spades. Declarer ruffs two clubs in dummy, setting up his king when the ace appears on the third round of the suit, and loses only one trump trick. Alternatively, if West returns the jack of diamonds, dummy's queen wins and the defenders' trump trick disappears—they will get another club trick but no more.

Documentary Series On WWII Is For A Few

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The World at War," an extraordinarily ambitious British documentary about World War II and its origins, recently began appearing on U.S. television. Unfortunately, it's seen in but 10 cities right now.

The series will start running next January in another 10 cities, but word-of-mouth about this hour-long program may well increase the number somewhat.

I hope it does, provided all the "World at War" segments are as excellent as the two I've already seen. If they're typical, this new show, produced by Thames Television, deserves a far wider audience than it now has.

The 26 segments, all narrated by Laurence Olivier, start with Hitler's rise to power in 1933 and end with a postwar summing up that asks what the global bloodshed, destruction and suffering really accomplished.

The series examines the war both militarily and politically, using newsreel and rarely-seen combat footage painstakingly compiled from British, American, French, Italian and Japanese archives.

The program isn't a broad-brush look at the war, but rather a detailed, step-by-step analysis of the war's various phases, each segment written by an expert in that particular phase.

One segment scheduled this week, for example, is devoted exclusively to the political instability and military ineptitude that led to the fall of France in 1940.

Future episodes study the air war against Germany, the Italian campaign, the war in Burma, the Pacific war and so on. The 20th segment, simply entitled, "Genocide: 1933-1945," is the story of Hitler's concentration camps and his ruthless extermination of six million Jews. All of it is a grim, still-shocking history lesson that should be studied again, particularly by young viewers for whom the war is only a vague, quickly-forgotten few chapters in a textbook.

The 10 cities in which "World at War" now appears are Columbus, Ohio; Washington, D.C.; New York; Phoenix, Ariz.; Hartford, Conn.; San Antonio and Houston, Tex.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Los Angeles, and Portland, Ore., according to spokesmen for the series.

They say the series starts next January in Cincinnati, Ohio; Kansas City, Mo.; Jacksonville, Miami and Orlando, Fla.; Denver, Colo.; Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Louisville, Ky.; Chicago and Cleveland, Ohio.

If you live in any of the 20 cities, you'll need to check your local TV listings for the right hour and date of the program. But try to watch the series. It promises to be well worth the time.

A Few Still Defy Kremlin's War Against Dissent

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A few towering figures still man the battered ramparts of human rights in the Soviet Union, defying the most sustained Kremlin offensive against dissent since the Stalin era.

Andrei D. Sakharov, the noted nuclear physicist; Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, the Nobel Prize author, and a few other eminent intellectuals associated with them risk the same sort of terrifying punishment meted out to many others who dare criticize the system.

But perhaps because of their prominence, the regime opted for siege rather than the trial and imprisonment tactics used against so many others since Leonid I. Brezhnev came to power as head of the Communist party in 1964. For a time, then, the battle may be limited to persistent official harassment.

There are many ways open to the regime for dealing with inconvenient intellectuals in a land where history of repression seems constantly to repeat itself.

Milder punishments include exile abroad; exile inside the U.S.S.R., restrictions on means of livelihood, harassment, spying on and threatening a dissenter and his family.

But usually, the punishments are harsh: confinement in prison or hard-labor camps plus, often, forced treatment in prison mental hospitals.

EXILE:

The czars frequently got rid of dissidents by letting them out of Russia and not letting them return. Lenin, too, used this device for ridding himself of "trouble makers."

The current regime would probably like to handle Sakharov, Solzhenitsyn and some others that way: let them out and then lift their citizenship.

"You may notice," Solzhenitsyn told interviewers recently, "that in those cases when it is impossible to get rid of a person with behind-the-scenes methods used on the non-prominent, they find it least painful to fling him out into the West, and it is best if it can be worked out as a voluntary agreement in the guise of temporary trip abroad or an irrevocable emigration."

That was the tactic used against many outstanding figures, including Dr. Zhores Med-vedev the noted geneticist now living in London; Valery N. Chalidze, the physicist, now in the United States; Alexander Yesenin-Volpin, the mathematician, now in Italy, and others. The human rights advocates were stripped of their Soviet citizenship while they were abroad.

The regime seems to hold it axiomatic that a citizen disagreeing with its rule is most likely a lunatic. Nikita S. Khrushchev had contended that the major source of such disagreement was psychotic.

"It cannot be supposed that the rules of community life will be safe from violations from mentally deranged persons," noted Khrushchev in 1963, a year before those who ousted him called him "hare-brained."

More than a score of "special" Soviet hospitals are associated with police use of psychiatry.

Solzhenitsyn in 1970 denounced what he called the "obliging, perjured psychiatrists," adding that "detention of free-thinking people in insane asylums is spiritual murder, a variant of the gas chamber and even more cruel."

Bertram D. Wolfe of Stanford University, historian and expert on Soviet affairs, wrote last year that psychiatric treatment of dissidents involves drug-induced high fever and torture by such methods as binding the subject in wet cloths that contract while drying, causing immense pain.

From a long roll of "psychiatric" prisoners, a few case histories:

—Vladimir Bukovsky, 31, writer. He criticized persecution of writers. In May 1963 he was confined in the Serbsky Institute of Forensic Psychiatry, then transferred to a prison psychiatric hospital for 15 months. Since then he was arrested twice more, and underwent forced psychiatric treatment. Protests from abroad persuaded the regime to drop its attempts to make him declared insane. Tried as a criminal he drew a 12-year sentence in prison, labor camp and exile. He is in frail health.

—Pyotr Grigorenko, former army general, champion of rights of minority people. He was sent to a "special" psychiatric hospital at Chernyakovsk, whence he managed to smuggle out a manuscript called "Thoughts of a Madman."

"The prison psychiatric hospital is a frightening place for a sane person," he wrote. "An inmate has no rights. Doctors do with him as they please."

—Andrei Amalrik, a young writer and civil rights champion whose "Will the Soviet Union Survive until 1984?" infuriated the Kremlin, finished a three-year labor camp term May 22. His wife Gysul was informed officially that he was rearrested that day on new charges and sent back for three more years. He now has meningitis and his health is declining rapidly.

—Viktor Fainberg, Vladimir Borisov, members of a human rights group. They were arrested in August 1968, for protesting the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. Both got forced treatment at the Serbsky Institute. Records of the case, smuggled out, were studied by 44 British psychiatrists who, in a joint statement, then expressed grave concern about such use of psychiatry.

Natalya Gorbanevskaya, a young poet active in the human rights cause, protested the invasion of Czechoslovakia. Arrested in 1970 she was declared mentally unstable and committed to an indeterminate sentence in an insane asylum.

—Dr. Leonid Plyuschch, 33, mathematician, and Prof. Yuri Shikhanov, mathematician, both members of the Action Group for the Defense of Human Rights, were arrested recently and subjected to forced psychiatric treatment. Plyuschch had circulated a petition saying "only madmen" dared fight violations of rights in the Soviet Union. He was not permitted to attend his trial where he drew an indeterminate insane asylum sentence.

—LABOR CAMPS, PRISONS:

The "strict regime" labor camp is the favored punishment for dissenters. "Strict" sets the political prisoners apart from ordinary criminals. They are required to do unskilled labor and are heavily punished for infractions. Diet is bare subsistence, with heavy reliance on bread and potatoes.

Camp officials, wrote Valentin Moroz, who managed to get out a letter, "do not have to observe any laws or regulations."

"This is the place where terror reigns supreme. Every effort is made to kill a man's human feelings."

Yuri Galanskov was sentenced to a camp in January 1968, for writing poems for the underground press and protesting persecution of writers. Last year he managed to get a letter smuggled out.

"I am dying," he wrote. "They are doing everything to hasten my death."

He underwent an operation for a perforated ulcer. It was performed in the camp infirmary by an inmate with no experience as a surgeon. Two months later, Galanskov, 33, was dead of peritonitis.

Dissidents dread Vladimir Prison, a forbidding institution built in czarist times for 2,000 prisoners and far worse today, they say, then it was then. Alexander Ginzburg, a writer who experienced both Vladimir Prison and a strict regime camp, told about it in a letter smuggled out of the camp.

"Camps, prisons and the death of those near to us—that is what we are surrounded by," he wrote. "And nevertheless we hope to hold out. We are sustained not . . . by one good will of governments of great powers, but by the anger, protest and solidarity of all honest people who hold dear the dignity of man."

Diplomat Says His Role Abroad Today Is More Dangerous

By FRANK N. HAWKINS JR.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — William Buffum never goes anywhere in Beirut without his personal armed bodyguard and a special police squad.

His radio-equipped car is bullet proof and his home is guarded 24 hours a day by police with machine guns. A Lebanese army tank, an armored car and an armored personnel carrier provide around-the-clock protection at the U.S. Embassy, where Buffum has his office.

Inside, hallways and rooms are under the constant surveillance of guards using a closed circuit television system. Electronic door-locking devices provide an added measure of security.

Buffum, 52, a career diplomat, is the American ambassador to Lebanon, heading the major U.S. diplomatic mission in the Middle East. He's the chief on-the-spot spokesman in the Arab world for America's pro-Israel foreign policy.

"I don't want to sound heroic," he says, "but I don't consider this a particularly risky operation. There's a risk to anything you do in life."

The danger comes in spurts, without warning.

Last December, terrorists attacked the embassy with rockets, causing extensive damage. The attack took place after office hours and no one was injured.

In March, four Palestinian guerrillas, perhaps attempting a kidnap, drove a stolen limousine between Buffum's car and the trailing security vehicle. Embassy sources said the ambassador's driver cleverly executed a quick turn which permitted the security car to close the gap between the two vehicles.

Bomb threats against the embassy are common. Last August, a Palestinian guerrilla told a military court he planned to fire three rocket-propelled grenades at the embassy if Israeli commandos attacked Lebanon again. The guerrilla was sentenced to six months in jail.

"It's certainly more dangerous than it used to be," says one of the 175 Americans on Buffum's staff. "We have to be concerned with personal security. But I go to the golf course. I go to the beach. I don't think about it all the time."

An embassy wife says, "It's fine here. We have the Mediterranean, the mountains, a great climate, good food and the kids like it. I never feel in any danger."

Nevertheless, American Embassy personnel receive danger pay amounting to 10 per cent of their salaries. It was started in May, after fighting broke out between Lebanese army troops and Palestinian guerrillas.

The U.S. government labels the extra pay a "hardship allowance," although U.S. diplomats live in comfortable homes, enjoy a lively social life, good restaurants, vacation travel and plenty of American consumer goods.

Palestinian refugee camps are "off limits" for Americans, but embassy employees develop many friendships with Lebanese and other Arabs living in Beirut.

Nurse Ass'n Ballot Ready

Men in nursing are candidates for the two top elective positions in North Carolina State Nurses' Association—evidence that nursing is indeed becoming a dual-sex profession.

The ballot for 1973-75 officers of NCSNA was announced today. Running for the presidency are Rose George of Chapel Hill, faculty member of the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Nursing, and Eugene J. Smith of Charlotte, director of nursing at Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

Candidates for first vice-president are Gaylord Snyder, director of nursing at New Hanover Memorial Hospital, Wilmington, and Mrs. Nancy Titus of Raleigh, formerly a faculty member of the Rex School of Nursing.

Balloting will be held during the Association's biennial convention October 15-19 at the Royal Villa, Raleigh. Election results will be announced on Friday, October 19, at the closing session.

Phyllis Nichols of Greenville is a candidate for the Board of Directors of the Association.

Library Keeps Colt Collection

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The Colt Collection of firearms and related materials is stored and displayed at the Connecticut State Library. The collection includes more than 1,000 firearms, including many designed and manufactured by Col. Samuel Colt, inventor of the first practical revolver.

No Sweat Savings.

Sometimes the hardest work of all is trying to save a few extra dollars. Those everyday necessities just seem to eat up your paycheck until there's nothing left to tuck away for the future.

But there is an easy way to build a nest egg. The Payroll Savings Plan. Just sign up where you work, and any amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's so simple, you almost forget your money's there working for you.

And, pretty soon, you'll be surprised at how your savings have grown.

The Payroll Savings Plan. Takes some of the perspiration out of planning ahead.

Bonds mature in less than six years. New U.S. Bonds pay 11 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4 1/2% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Pitt VISTA Office Is Trying Form Committee

Members of the Pitt County VISTA Project office are this week beginning work to form a Pitt County Committee on Consumer Education.

Preliminary work, headed by VISTA workers Rick Cagan, Jim Speer, and Mike Carson, involves contacting a list of people in Greenville and Pitt County as possible committee members.

"We're simply trying at this stage to get together an initial group for the committee," Cagan said. "It would be up to local volunteers on the committee to determine the actual structure and size of the Committee on Consumer Education."

Cagan outlined five objectives that are applicable to the Pitt County VISTA Committee on Consumer Education.

—Guidance in the current VISTA survey with attention to the nature of questions being asked, the procedure by which the survey is carried out, and data analysis and interpretation of data gained.

—Recruitment of volunteers to augment the committee from various geographical and income groupings within the county;

—The implementation of the program in consumer education, the exact nature of which will be determined by the results of the survey;

—Evaluation and follow-up of programs implemented to insure that whatever gains are made during the time that VISTA is in Pitt County will be pursued by interested individuals in the community; and

—As time goes by, to lay the groundwork for studying the feasibility of setting up buying cooperatives in the low income neighborhoods of the county.

Cagan said VISTA personnel would be happy to hear from anyone in Greenville or Pitt County who would like to receive information on ways in which they could volunteer time and effort. Interested persons should visit the office at 503 East Fifth Street or call Charles A. Lance, supervisor, at 758-1528.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE

Pursuant to the General Statutes of North Carolina, Section 143-129, sealed proposals will be received by the Pitt County A.B.C. Office, located 2305 South Memorial Drive, Greenville, N.C., for the purchase of the following:

- One New 1974 Model 4 Door Sedan Automobile

Specifications are on file in the Office of the Pitt County A.B.C. Board, and copies of same may be obtained upon request.

No proposal will be considered unless it is accompanied by a Bid Bond, a Cash Deposit or Certified Check on some Bank or Trust Company insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in an amount not less than five percent (5%) of the proposal.

The Pitt County A.B.C. Board reserves the right to reject any and all proposals.

J. P. Davenport, Jr., Chairman
Pitt County A.B.C. Board
Sept. 28, 1973

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Inc., Greenville, North Carolina

Sealed proposals will be received by the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, Pitt County, North Carolina, in the District Court Room, Pitt County Court House, Greenville, North Carolina at 2:00 p.m., Thursday, September 28, 1973, and on or before the date indicated above. This deposit will be fully refundable to Prime Contractors who submit a bona fide bid and who return the Drawings and Specifications in good condition within 5 days after the date for opening bids. This deposit will be refundable, less cost of reproduction and handling, to Prime Contractors who decide not to submit a bid and who return Plans and Specifications in good condition within 5 days after the date for opening bids.

Deposits are intended to allow temporary use of documents as a service and are not to be considered as a purchase of the instruments of this service. Deposits will become refundable if these conditions are not observed; even in this event, all documents, as instruments of service, remain the property of the Architect, subject to return on demand.

Complete drawings, specifications and contract documents will be open for inspection in the office of Mr. Jack W. Richardson, Administrator of Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Inc., and in the office of The Freeman-White Associates, Inc., 303 W. 4th Street, Charlotte, N.C. 28202, in the offices of Associates General Contractors of America and F. W. Dodge Corporation in Charlotte, North Carolina; Raleigh, North Carolina; Greensboro, North Carolina; and also Scan Corp., Atlanta, Georgia.

All contractors are hereby notified that they must have proper licenses under the State Laws of North Carolina governing their respective trades at the time of submittal of bids.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a bid guarantee of 5 percent of the bid. Bid guarantee may be in cash or certified check, drawn on and certified by some bank or trust company insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. In lieu of making the cash deposit as provided above, such bidder may file a bid bond executed by a Corporate surety licensed under the laws of North Carolina to execute such bond, conditioned that the surety will, upon demand, forthwith make payment to the obligee upon said bond if the bidder fails to execute the contract in accordance with the bid bond and, upon failure to forthwith make payment, the surety shall pay to the obligee an amount equal to double the amount of the said bond. This deposit shall be retained, the successful bidder fails to execute the contract within ten (10) days after the award or fails to give satisfactory surety as required herein.

Performance Bond-Labor and Material Payment Bond will be required in the amount of one hundred percent (100 percent) of the contract price.

Payment will be made on the basis of ninety percent (90 percent) of monthly estimates approved by the Architect.

No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for a period of ninety (90) days above will not be considered.

The Architect reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities.
