

Compromise Hinted In Mideast Tension

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger ended his mission to Egypt today and a top aide completed talks with Israeli leaders amid indications that a compromise had been reached on the Middle East crisis.

Kissinger flew to Jordan and Saudi Arabia after spending a day in talks with President Anwar Sadat in Cairo. Kissinger's assistant in charge of Middle East affairs, Joseph J. Sisco, emerged from talks with Premier Golda Meir in Jerusalem and told newsmen: "I feel optimistic." He had gone to Israel unexpectedly from the Cairo sessions Wednesday, apparently bringing with him details of the Kissinger-Sadat meetings.

One Israeli source close to Mrs. Meir said while Sisco was meeting with the Israeli leaders: "The talks are not going badly for Israel."

Earlier, another authoritative Israeli source indicated that Israel had accepted a compromise proposal worked out between Kissinger and the Egyptians.

The source gave no details, but the plan appeared to focus on how to continue supplying food and water to the Egyptian 3rd Army, encircled by the Israelis in the Sinai Desert.

In the background of these reported movements toward peace, however, were charges Wednesday from Israel that Egypt was preparing a new attack along the Suez Canal. The Egyptians said the situation on the canal front was "tense and explosive" and that their army was in position to crush the Israelis.

Kissinger's peace-seeking tour continued with a quick visit to King Hussein of Jordan in Amman and then a trip to Saudi Arabia, the big oil producer in the Middle East, for conferences with King Faisal in Riyadh.

Sisco met in Israel not only with Mrs. Meir but also with Deputy Premier Yigal Allon and Defense Minister Moshe Dyan. An Israeli communique said the discussions took place "in a good and constructive atmosphere."

One highly placed Israeli source said Mrs. Meir was ready to accept a proposal for the delivery of supplies to the encircled Egyptian 3rd Army without the withdrawal of Israeli troops that Egypt has been demanding.

Under the proposal, worked out between Kissinger and Sadat, Egypt's demand that the Israelis free the 3rd Army by returning to positions held at the first U.N. cease-fire on Oct. 22 would be considered later, the Israeli informant said.

Mrs. Meir called a special Cabinet meeting apparently to consider the results of the Kissinger-Sadat meetings.

The Israeli newspaper Maariv, in a dispatch from Washington, gave this summary of a reported U.S.-Egyptian proposal:

The United Nations would control delivery of nonmilitary supplies to the 3rd Army on the southeast bank of the Suez Canal, but Israel would retain control of the access routes adjacent to the west bank; prisoners of war would be exchanged without delay and Egypt would lift its blockade at the mouth of the Red Sea; Egyptian and Israeli military commanders would meet to work out the cease-fire lines; and later preparations would begin for a peace conference.

One Israeli informant said the Maariv report was "close to the truth."

There were no immediate reports of any headway in regard to the Syrian front where Israeli forces hold a corridor running from the old cease-fire line along the Golan Heights to a point about 20 miles from Damascus, Syria's capital.

Syria charged today that one of its anti-aircraft missile batteries shot down an Israeli reconnaissance plane that tried to fly over Syria.

Energy-Saving Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at-a-glance are President Nixon's legislative proposals to conserve energy.

TRANSPORTATION
—Allow transportation agencies to adjust carrier schedules and service points after summary hearings.
—Lower speed limits on the nation's highways to 50 miles an hour.

POWER
—Open the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California to increased oil production.
—Impose "energy conservation fees or taxes," perhaps on the consumption of natural gas or the excessive use of electricity.
—Authorize the Federal Power Commission to suspend price regulation on new natural gas.
—Authorize the Atomic Energy Commission to grant without public hearings temporary operating licenses lasting up to 18 months for atomic power plants.

TIME
—Extend Daylight Savings Time throughout the year.
POLLUTION
—Allow the Environmental Protection Agency to exempt for one year power plants and factories from air and water quality laws on a case-by-case basis.
—Exempt such federal action from the National Environmental Policy Act, which requires prior preparation and review of environmental impact statements.
BUSINESS
—Curtail outdoor electrical advertising and ornamental lighting.
—Reduce commercial operating hours.
RATIONING
—Develop standby plans to ration gasoline and home heating oil if necessary.

Nixon's Private Secretary Says Tape Quality 'Poor'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's personal secretary testified today that parts of the subpoenaed Watergate tapes are very poor in quality, and that it is humanly impossible to hear every word on them.

Rose Mary Woods, Nixon secretary for more than two decades, said that it took her nearly a month, working off and on, sometimes on weekends and far into the night, to type a rough transcript of seven conversations between President Nixon and Watergate figures.

Miss Woods said she first saw one of the controversial tapes Sept. 29, 1973, when, at Nixon's request, she began the task of transcribing them at the President's mountaintop retreat at Camp David, Md.

"I went up there to try to listen — I use that word advisedly — to take down as much as possible of the tapes that were subpoenaed," she testified at a hearing before U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

According to previous testimony, it was Sept. 29 that the President expressed awareness that recordings of two of the total of nine subpoenaed conversations couldn't be found.

Sirica called the hearing to air the circumstances surrounding a White House claim that the two tapes never existed.

Miss Woods, wearing a red knit dress and a double string of pearls, said that transcribing the tapes had been a "very difficult job," and that despite working until 3 a.m. Sunday morning, and again all day Sunday after arising at 6 a.m., she was unable to complete a transcript of even one conversation. "The quality is very bad on some," she said, "depending on the room. There are lots of funny things in them."

Among these oddities, she said, "if the President puts his feet on the desk, it sounds like a bomb. Boom."

She said a similar sound is created on the tape recordings if someone sets a coffee cup on a table.

Miss Woods said she returned to Washington with the President on Sunday, Sept. 30 and continued working on the tapes for almost a month. Once she said, on Oct. 4, she sequestered herself at Key Biscayne, Fla., and worked while Secret Service agents guarded the tapes, which were in a safe, on a 24-hour-a-day basis.

Miss Woods said she made a single typewritten copy of her transcriptions with no carbons.

Her typewriter ribbons were burned to prevent anyone from reading words which might be left on them, she said. Her final product "was given directly, personally by me to the President," Miss Woods testified.

Elaborating on the quality of the tapes, she said "sometimes the President would whistle," making it difficult to hear what someone else had said.

Congress Defeats War Powers Veto

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has enacted over President Nixon's veto a bill limiting the power of the president to wage undeclared war.

The action Wednesday was the first successful override of a presidential veto in nine tries this year.

Termed unconstitutional by President Nixon, the bill bars the president from committing U.S. troops to combat for more than 60 days without specific approval from Congress. Congress can terminate such an engagement sooner by majority vote in the House and Senate.

Backers of the war powers measure, first introduced three years ago, attributed the vote to overwhelming public support in the wake of the Vietnam war.

The House voted 284 to 135 to override, four more than the two-thirds needed.

The Senate completed the action by 75 to 18, or 13 more than required.

In the House, 86 Republicans voted to override and 103 were against. Among Democrats, 198 were for and 32 against overriding.

In the Senate, 25 Republicans voted against the President's position and 15 supported it. Fifty Democrats voted for overriding and three against.

After the vote, Nixon said the bill "seriously undermines this nation's ability to act decisively and convincingly in times of international crisis."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said that to involve Congress, with its cumbersome procedures, in war-making decisions would cause "rejoicing in the streets of Moscow."

Tower expressed hope that the constitutionality of the bill will be challenged in court "at the earliest possible opportunity."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., leader of Senate backers of the bill, denied that the bill changed the constitutional powers of either the president or the Congress, but simply provided "a methodology" by which the president and Congress can concur in war-making decisions.

Javits said recent events involving the President may have been a factor in the override, but Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said there should be no interpretation that any vote in the House or Senate was influenced by Watergate-related incidents.

Rebozo Sues

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a close friend of President Nixon, has filed a $10 million libel suit against the Washington Post.

Attorneys for Rebozo filed the suit in federal court Wednesday, charging the Post libeled the Key Biscayne banker in an Oct. 25 article that claimed Rebozo cashed $91,500 in stolen stocks in 1968 after being told they were stolen.

Rebozo's suit charges the story was false and malicious.

LAST SALES DAY

The Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, meeting Wednesday, set Nov. 15 as the last sales day of the 1973 season for the local tobacco market.

Capture Gunmen

WADENA, Minn. (AP) — Two jail escapees surrendered today after their three hostages slipped away from them during the night when the gunmen fell asleep, authorities said.

Elmer Wegscheid, his wife Joyce and son Ed, 15, ran out of their home at 4:15 a.m. after discovering that their captors had fallen asleep. The three had been held hostage in their farmhouse for 33 hours. Three other Wegscheid children were allowed to leave the house Wednesday night.

Lawmen allowed the gunmen to sleep for more than an hour while officers prepared for a possible confrontation.

But the fugitives — one of them an accused murderer — surrendered peacefully. No shots were fired and no injuries were reported.

Joseph Trimbach, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Minneapolis, said the men were ordered to come out with their hands up, about 1½ hours after the hostages escaped.

The fugitives, John P. Morgan, 37, and William T. Winans, 18, escaped from a Wadena jail Monday night after wounding a jail dispatcher with a gun. Morgan had been jailed on murder charges in a double slaying.

Council Facing A Long Agenda

A lengthy 36-page agenda faces the City Council at tonight's 8 p.m. meeting at city hall.

Facing the Council under old business are: appointments to the Recreation Commission and Human Relations Council; public hearings on annexation of Oakmont Professional Plaza and rezoning of portion of the property, rezoning of Norman Bennett property, rezoning Stratford Arms Apartment property, and realignment of a service alley; application for a mobile home permit by Smith-Waldrop Motors; and applications for renewal of three mobile home permits.

Under new business, Council members will consider: two flood insurance resolutions; the annual city audit report; new landfill regulations, and request for use of a city refuse truck; a street lighting report; city depositories request by Bank of North Carolina and Bank of Winterville; a report on the North Greenville-West Meadowbrook Neighborhood

Analysis; Land acquisition; offer of sale of property on Cotanche Street; an application for a mobile home permit; four applications for taxicab operator's license; requests for rezoning the Clarence and Rosa Bradley property, Larry Whitlow property, and the Pitt Memorial Hospital site; the City Thoroughfare Plan; a street dedication;

Waiver of a privilege license request by the Greenville Jaycees; a building permit refund; and refund of an elections filing fee.

Resume Program

Barrus Construction Co. today resumed the first phase of a three-year city street resurfacing program and will continue the street project through Saturday, according to City Manager Bill Carstarphen.

Carstarphen said that the program, which began several weeks ago but was interrupted, is part of a $45,000 resurfacing program for the city that involves shared revenue money. The official reported that streets scheduled to undergo resurfacing through Saturday include: Southview Drive from Charles Street to Brook Road; Brook Road from Charles to Forest Hills; Cozart Street from Hooker Road easterly 700 feet; Wilson Street from Dickinson Avenue to Line Avenue; 14th Street from Broad to Fifth; Ward from Elizabeth to White; Elizabeth from Fifth to Third; and W. Fifth from Pitt to Elizabeth.

LONG ARM AIDS FIREMEN... Greenville Fire Department's modern snorkle fire engine aided last night in fighting a fire that heavily damaged the Pitt Theatre on Evans Street. Cause of the blaze is still under investigation. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Local Theater Heavily Damaged In Night Fire

By STUART SAVAGE

Reflector Staff Writer

A near-midnight fire heavily damaged a portion of the Pitt Theater on Evans Street in downtown Greenville last night.

Fire officers, who reported firefighting units were called to the theater at 11:30 p.m., said smoke was billowing from windows at the top of the building when they arrived.

The blaze, they reported, was confined to a film room and the attic area over the room on the top floor of the building, however water damage was reported to an area of balcony seating and the theater lobby.

In addition, firemen said, portions of the roof over the film room and projection room, and ceiling in the projection room had to be removed to extinguish the fire.

Theater manager Jim Jennings said this morning that he had no idea of the amount of damage to the building. He said the movie house would be closed, probably for several days until the damage could be repaired, but noted the theater would reopen "as soon as possible," perhaps within a day or two.

Jennings praised firemen for their quick action in preventing the spread of the flames and extinguishing the fire.

The manager said the theater closed last night about 11 p.m. The fire was reported a half-hour later.

Fire officials this morning said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

Awards And Honors Accorded Scouters At Annual Pitt District Event

The annual "pot luck" supper of Pitt District, Boy Scouts of America was held this week in the Moose Lodge banquet hall. Attended by more than 300 parents, committeemen and friends of Scouting, the meeting honored unit leaders. Special recognition was also given individuals and officers elected for 1974. Bob Mosley, Field Director of East Carolina Council, paid tribute to leaders of Scout and Explorer leaders of Pitt District's 42 units.

The Green Band Award was given to five leaders whose record of leadership and service to boys has been outstanding. These were:

Mrs. Jean Holley, a Den Mother in Pack 528 of Greenville; Jesse Joyner, Ass't Scoutmaster of Troop 25, Farmville; James Meeks, Institutional Representative of Black Jack F. W. B. Church; Dr. Sheldon Downes, Scoutmaster of Troop 340, Greenville; and Roy McCarter, a long time

Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 401 of Black Jack. Jack Farrior presented the awards.

Cubmaster Claude Moore was recipient of the Compass Award in recognition for his outstanding service to his unit (Pack 200), to Pitt District and to the East Carolina Council in the area of Cub Scout activities and training. This award was made by Frank Saunders.

The District's Distinguished Scouter Award was presented by Dr. Downes to Jack Farrior of Farmville, who was cited for service to Scouting in Troop and Explorer post 25, the District Camping Committee, and Council Executive Board. Farrior will be Chief of the 1974 Council Camporee.

A Scouters Key, earned by completion of a dozen or more special training projects over a period of three years was presented to Talmadge Adams of Troop 401 by Heber Adams for the Council Training Committee.

Officers elected for Pitt District during 1974 are: Dr. Wallace Woole, Chairman; Dr. Ed Clement, Vice Chairman; and Garland Buck, District Commissioner.

Other key personnel named were: Knott Proctor, Advancement Committee; Robert Thurber, Training;

Jack Farrior, Camping; Lester Brown, Finance; Dr. Milan Johnson, Organization of Units; Steven Joyner, Health & Safety; Pratt Williamson, Order of the Arrow; Frank Saunders and Charles Dunn, Coach Counselors; and Heber Adams, Roundtable Commissioner.

Many Young Artisans Are Rejuvenating Crafts

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Young artisans will help revive the spirit of '76 when the United States celebrates its 200th birthday.

Their interest in early American crafts — quilting, weaving, silversmithing, pewtering, stenciling and so on — will help make the Centennial an authentic experience, predicts Tom Glennon, president of The Hitchcock Chair Co. of Riverton, Conn., where some youthful artists work and others are to be encouraged to run their own handicraft businesses. The original chair company closed down in 1863 and was revived in 1946.

The hordes of young people interested in crafts should allay fears of antiquarians that other traditional crafts, architectural and the like, are dying out. Youthful craftsmen are interested in everything, he said in an interview here.

"In fact they are helping us do things we haven't been able to do before," Glennon insists. "They are reproducing, free-hand and stencil, Currier and Ives scenes, and our limited edition series that depict Mt. Vernon, Monticello, the Adams House and Philadelphia scenes. Their artistic embellishments make manufactured articles look handcrafted."

In addition to furniture refinishing and decorating, young workers weave rush seats as they were woven more than a century ago. They also steam-bend wood, paint tavern signs and so on.

"They are happiest doing their thing and we are going to help them run their own businesses. We've bought a section of town and are putting in eight or ten shops. Our plan is to subsidize young people in various crafts."

Many other chair companies pre-dated the original Hitchcock Company and perhaps some 50 companies were mass-producing fancy chairs between 1810 and 1860 at the height of their popularity, but present-day nostalgia has been built around the revived company because it is turning out chairs in the old way.

The original factory was decaying when Glennon's father-in-law, John Kenney, bought it and the trademark 27 years ago, refurbished it and planned it as a part-time enterprise while he ran his shoe store in Hartford. But it was soon going full steam and now turns out some 3,000 chairs a week and some 100 different items.

Although the original company was among the first to mass-produce Boston-type rocking chairs, it is best known for its dark, gold-stripped chairs with decorated rails. Other companies make such chairs using the name generically.

This year more than 40,000 tourists visited the company's museum — a former church where Hitchcock was married in 1830 — to view the original chairs that are on display. Only those signed and made between 1826 and 1840 are considered "real Hitchcocks" Glennon insists.

Youthful employees were encouraged even in Hitchcock's day. In 1832 a help wanted advertisement he placed read, "two or three young men, 16 to 20 years of age, of industrious habits who will abstain from the use of ardent spirits can have steady employment."

Today many employees are husband and wife teams — some are Czechoslovakian and Hungarian refugees who established colonies near the factory. One girl, a furniture stripper, has been in slave labor camps under both Germans and Russians, Glennon said. Older workers who have grown with the company assume the supervisory jobs.

Maple and birch used in furniture production have been imported from South America in recent years while the United States was behind in logging, but now woods are available here, says Glennon, himself a former logger. He joined the company after a five-year stint in the Navy, and after seven years assumed the presidency four years ago, when Kenney retired.

Preparing Holiday Meals Should Be Joy, Not Burden

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Among the many things I'll be thankful for this year is a family that doesn't expect me to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner so large and elaborate that I'm too tired to eat it and they're uncomfortable from overeating.

Don't get me wrong. I think the festive dinner tradition is great—provided it's no burden to the cook, her family and their guests. The Pilgrims who celebrated America's first harvest festival considered Thanksgiving a time for sharing not just food and drink but also the work of preparing it. For several reasons, we'd be smart to return to their tradition this year.

A huge meal is bad for our health, the energy shortage, the family budget and perhaps most importantly, the woman who prepares it. Especially if she's a working wife who must shop for groceries after doing a full shift's work away from home.

One suburbanite friend, who grew up on a farm in Nebraska, favors a covered-dish dinner for a holiday meal where there will be many guests. With various diners contributing dishes, the work and the cost are spread around. If you plan this kind of meal, be sure to suggest quantities needed, particularly for vegetables and salads. While many leftovers can be reheated successfully or used for soup, the vitamin content suffers from both reheating and prolonged storage.

Unstuffed turkeys take about 30 minutes less cooking time than stuffed ones. This will save fuel only if your oven is large enough to hold both a pan of stuffing and the bird at the same time. Otherwise, you might use a range-top stuffing mix or ask a guest to bring baked stuffing.

An insulated picnic hamper makes a safe carrier for hot food, but be sure to fill empty spaces around the covered dishes or pans with crumpled newspapers to hold in the heat. If you have no hamper, wrap covered casseroles, piping-hot, in several layers of newspaper and tape the ends securely.

Our Nebraska friend launched a new family tradition at her home three years ago, when she began serving Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners on the eve of the holidays. Her children, teenagers at the time, were delighted with the arrangement.

On Christmas day, when her daughter was practicing at home with a rock group, the youngsters ate when they pleased, a meal of home made soup, homemade bread and dessert, while her son and her husband went happily off to a basketball game.

"It was a big step for me," said my friend. "I'm just as hidebound as anyone else. It's not breaking with tradition to go out to a restaurant. That's a cop-out. But you can find a meaningful way of breaking with tradition."

Even when her holiday dinners are a day early, our friend does a lot of cooking ahead of time. She makes and freezes pie crusts, ready to be filled and baked on the holiday itself. She roasts the turkey ahead of time and uses a professional chef's technique of carving and freezing it immediately in meal-size portions in gravy.

Dr. Beddingfield Gives Program

The Women's Auxiliary to the Pitt County Medical Society held a coffee Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ira M. Hardy.

The guest speaker was Dr. Edgar Beddingfield Jr. of Wilson, who is currently a member of the National Board of the American Medical Association Political Action Committee.

He spoke to the auxiliary concerning the meaning, purpose and scope of AMPAC and the role each medical auxiliary member might have in the program.

Guests included Mrs. Ellis Muther of New Bern, and Mrs. Wallace Woolles of Greenville.

According To Statistics, Women Outnumber Men

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — According to the latest statistics, Greece is under the domination of women, breaking a centuries-old male stranglehold.

The most recent census showed that there were 208,519 more women in the country. Of a total population of 8,768,641 people, there were 4,488,580 women and 4,280,061 men. Out of each 100 citizens, 51 were women and 49 men.

The figures are in the recently released 1972 edition of the national statistics bulletin which analyzes the country's life and activity in numbers.

The first census in Greece's modern history took place in 1828 when the population totaled 753,400. The most recent one took place in March 1971 and put the population at 8,768,641 and the density at 67.1 persons per square kilometer compared with 39.1 persons per square kilometer, 50 years ago.

In 1971 the census also disclosed that the birth rate is decreasing to such an extent that authorities are beginning to worry.

The days when a Greek family had six, eight or 10 children are no more. Modern Greek families have one or two children and are staunch advocates of family planning despite the official attitude of the orthodox church of Greece.

In 1964 there were 153,109 births, and in 1971, births had dropped to 141,126.

In order to encourage parents to have more children, the Greek government in 1972 decreed a bonus to families who have three or more children of $17 per child. But gynecologists report that despite the husband's desire to have more children, their wives are undergoing abortions — many of them more than one.

Officials estimated that in 1971, 80 per cent of mothers were between 20 and 34 years old. Some 3,385 women, aged between 40 and 50, also gave birth in the same year. There were also 11,918 mothers between 15 to 19-years old and 85 were younger than 15.

The statistics bulletin also disclosed that women in Greece were living longer than men.

Parents' Weekend Held At College

RALEIGH—Over 300 parents, including several Stokes residents, visited their daughters during Parents' Weekend at Peace College here.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Bullock of Rt. 1, Stokes, were among the visitors to the campus.

Dr. S. David Frazier, president of Peace College, welcomed the visitors at the opening luncheon Saturday. Parents met Peace professors and staff members during a mock class day where parents sat in on college classes.

Activities included a faculty and student basketball game, a student talent revue, tours of Raleigh's historic Mordecai House and a reception given by the college president and his wife.

The weekend ended Sunday with a special chapel service.

Open House Honors Couple On Sunday

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Alva W. Worthington entertained at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Manning, who have recently returned to the states from Saipan.

The guests were greeted in the foyer by the host and hostess. Guests were invited into the living room where Mrs. Dow Manning introduced her daughter-in-law Frances and son, Keith.

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Worthington invited the guests into the dining room where refreshments were served. Mrs. Graham Olive, aunt of the honored guests, poured fruit punch.

Others assisting in serving and throughout the house were Mrs. Gentry Mills, Mrs. W.F. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dail, Mrs. Ruth Crouch, Gregory Dail and Wayne Worthington.

The guests were directed from the dining room to the den by the Rev. and Mrs. James H. Bussell Jr. where Mr. and Mrs. Lester Branch presided at the register and said the good-byes.

Several arrangements of fall flowers were used in the foyer, living room, and the den. In the dining room, the dining table was covered with a white lace cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white and yellow snapdragons and chrysanthemums in an epergne placed in a silver five branched candelabrum.

During the afternoon, about 100 guests attended the open house.

salad makes a good substitute for a hot vegetable at holiday meals. It's light in flavor and lower in calories than sauced vegetables.

Grate 1 teaspoon peel from a navel orange. Juice the orange, and reserve 3 tablespoons of juice for dressing. Cut a thin crosswise slice from the center of two more navel oranges and reserve slices for garnishes. Remove sections from the two oranges to use in the salad. Blend the peel, juice, 2 tablespoons of salad oil, 1 teaspoon of sugar and 1/4 teaspoon of ground nutmeg in a bowl. Add 2 (10-ounce) packages of frozen brussels sprouts, cooked and drained, or 1 pound of fresh ones, cooked and drained, plus the orange sections and 2 medium onions, peeled, thinly sliced and separated into rings. Toss to combine and coat with dressing. Add salt and pepper to taste. Chill, covered, several hours. Makes 4 servings.

DEAR ABBY: A 40-year-old man who is a neighbor of mine, and also a friend, goes out to get his morning paper in the nude.

I have told him that this is against the law, but he says as long as he is on his property they can't arrest him. I told him, it didn't make any difference, it was still against the law.

I am afraid they will catch him and lock him up. Will you please print this. There are lots of children in the neighborhood, and I don't think this is very nice. Sign me WORRIED IN FORT PIERCE, FLA.

DEAR WORRIED: Laws differ, but your neighbor should find out if he's within the law to be without clothes even on his own property in view of the neighbors. [What could they charge him with? Indecent exposure, or being an attractive nuisance?]

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote that she had been married 27 years, and all she was good for was sex. One is struck by her incapacity to realize that she must be one fantastically creative, imaginative, responsive female to have made sex so exciting for the same man for 27 years.

She says she's "the world's worst cook and housekeeper, and not good at anything except sex"—as if sex was a bad thing to be good at.

One could easily change the letter around. A woman may have written in saying all she was good for was cooking, and that's the only reason her husband married her, and now they are both overweight, and their lives are devoid of everything except the pleasures of eating. That would be worse, wouldn't it?

Or she might have said she was the world's greatest housekeeper, but since she didn't have a passionate nature, her husband went out and paid prostitutes, or kept mistresses to fulfill his sexual needs. Sadder, but more believable, right?

I was married for years to a man who found my sexual nature both irritating and intimidating. Since he really didn't enjoy either physical or emotional intimacy, and since he mostly wanted me to be an excellent cook and housekeeper [neither of which I am or ever will be], our relationship was singularly lacking in closeness, friendship, and love.

Luckily, I since have left that marriage and have found a man who appreciates a woman who is passionate, responsive, and sexually creative.

After six years of this fulfilling relationship, please tell that poor woman for me that I have been there, too—both ways. And believe me, this way is better!

"LIVING" IN RIVERSIDE, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote saying she was "AT WITS END" because her 30-year-old widowed daughter let her housekeeping go while she did "useless" things like writing poetry, planting flowers, taking ballet lessons. And she dragged her six-year-old son to museums and art exhibits. ["What can a six-year-old learn from an art exhibit?" she asks.]

I endorse your reply in which you defended the daughter, and would like to add that my parents "dragged" me to concerts, museums, and art exhibits when I was a toddler.

I was awakened one night to "come see the Northern Lights," and told of the Aurora Borealis. I saw Sousa in one of his last concerts, and heard Mark Twain in his last appearance in his native state. I was reading at the age of four, and soon afterwards my father opened his entire library to me, showing me how to handle books carefully—they were precious.

Abby, I bless my parents for showing me the beauty of the world. I continue to find life interesting and exciting. I am 79.

Three cheers for daughter! MRS. M. D. IN MISSOURI

VP Ford Can Raise Headaches

There are serious questions that Congress and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, himself must face up to before he is named president of the United States.

We must recognize that the main duty of the vice president is to be ready to become president if that office is vacated.

The question is can a man named Ford deal effectively with the Japanese government, or with the West Germans, or French, Italians or English? Can the Japanese premier hold off the Toyota and Honda interests as he goes into talks with a Ford? How will the Volkswagen people view their chancellor discussing things with Ford?

For that matter could General Motors or Chrysler claim unfair competition if the chief executive advertises their competition's product every time he makes a speech?

Then there is the equal time provision for radio and television. In the event of a presidential appearance would the network newsmen be prevented from introducing the president by name for fear of the equal time provision? Would the networks be required to provide equal time to Chevrolet, Plymouth and all the other cars?

A president named Ford could present difficult problems for the country. We don't say it will happen and we do not like to raise such a sensitive issue, but it is something Congress must face.

Can Every Kid Be A Winner?

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—There is a growing movement across the nation toward accountability in public schools. North Carolina has joined the movement, and the State Board of Education has set up a study group with the tongue-twisting name Advisory Committee on Educational Assessment and Accountability.

Clyde Pressley, superintendent of Eden city schools, was named chairman of the study group, and Lura Tally, a member of the General Assembly and guidance counselor in Fayetteville schools, is vice chairman. The committee is to meet four or five times a year as it spends perhaps years seeking to outline some method of measuring, reporting and correcting weaknesses in the public schools.

The 29-member study group met for the first time last week in what promises to be a long and difficult task, for simply defining what this is all about took the better part of a day.

But the effort is underway. At the heart of it is finding some way to answer the question: just how good—or how bad—are public schools in North Carolina?

And if that can be answered, what can we do about it?

Based On Consumerism
Growing concern over accountability in public schools is an outgrowth of widespread interest in consumerism, these days, as people are more and more interested in pollution, fair business practices, honesty and responsiveness in government, adequacy of performance by physicians and lawyers.

The rally slogan for the movement—taken from a currently popular book—is, "Every Kid A Winner."

Launching a committee on accountability in North Carolina schools is based on the belief by state officials that the public is already insisting—and will increasingly do so—on detailed and accurate accounting of results obtained in the schools, and in the philosophy that when the public schools openly report aims and results of efforts, people rally to the support of the programs to correct weaknesses.

As a statement in a workbook given members of the committee pointed out, assessment and accountability is "Not just a program of testing or assessing students—but of dealing with broader questions of goodness and badness, adequacy of performance, or lack of it." And that, it comes clear, applies to teachers, administrators, parents, legislators—anybody who has anything to do with schools.

Dr. Craig Phillips, superintendent of public instruction, believes efforts toward accountability should result in more accurately identifying educational needs and priorities; increasing general public understanding of attainments, needs, and problems of the schools; and supplying objective information for the Legislative (and public) to use in considering educational needs of the state.

Chairman Named

The first meeting was spent wrestling with the knotty problem of defining what the program is all about.

Bruce Monroe, vice president of a Los Angeles based educational research firm called "Insgroup Inc." guided the effort.

Monroe noted that business has been practicing accountability from the beginning with daily reports on sales, profits, income production; that in sports, daily box scores and records provide accountability; and in entertainment the various ratings, annual awards and box-office reports show accountability. But that aside from those three particular areas, there has been little previous interest in accountability.

"But there is now a whole new group of things in which accountability is becoming important—largely in the field of public service. It used to be that people just went about doing their thing day after day and nobody ever asked about results.

"But citizens are now demanding a reckoning—an accounting. As for educators, it boils down to being able to say here are the things I set out to do; here are the things I have done; here is where the money went; and here are the ways in which the kids benefitted," Monroe said.

He said it will take North Carolina months, even years, to put a program together in a solid way, gaining benefits and avoiding pitfalls.

Teachers Worry
A major pitfall, and the reason some teachers oppose such efforts, is that "teachers are the most visible factor, and it is easy to hold teachers accountable, and nobody else...evaluating teachers on the performance of children without taking into account all the various factors and problems."

The goal must be a program truly interested in benefitting students and society; not one which succeeds in "scaring teachers and running some of them off, or whipping others into line," he said.

At the end, Monroe said, the goal is a program which will offer incentives and rewards for successful work in the public schools system. There are two approaches, he said: rewards for success; or "we can legislate what needs be done and impose it. I hope you choose the reward method."

Intersection Project Should Be Helpful

Improvements now underway on Dickinson Avenue and Tenth Street should be helpful at one of the city's most confusing intersections.

Traffic lanes are being redesigned and an improved traffic signal system, coordinated with railroad signals, will be installed.

The city, Seaboard Coast Line and Department of Transportation are cooperating on the project.

Traffic is heavy at this intersection and the improvements can go a long way toward alleviating the tie-ups that occur there during rush hours.

Can The GOP Get Together?

By JOHN KILGO
RALEIGH—Now that the Republicans have ousted Frank Rouse as chairman and replaced him with Tom Bennett, the question is: Can the Party get back together after the flow of blood?

Bennett, Gov. Jim Holshouser's choice for the chairmanship, says his first act of business will be to unify the Party. It's easy to talk that way. But doing it might be something else.

Rouse says he'll do what he can to help the GOP. But a close friend of Rouse's told me: "Frank is keenly disappointed over the results but he isn't bitter. He has the ability to snap back from a setback, but I doubt he'll be asked to do anything."

Rep. Gilbert Boger of Mocksville took time off from his business to act as Rouse's campaign manager. He tells me the Party is split now.

Boger believes Republicans will be watching to see what Gov. Holshouser does about his chief aide, Gene Anderson.

"A lot of people who supported Tom Bennett told me they had been assured that Anderson would be put in the background or removed from his post," Boger said. "I'll have to see that to believe it. In my opinion, we can unite if the Governor makes Anderson stay in the background. If not, I don't think we'll be back together for a long time."

The Legislature reconvenes in two months and the 50 GOP legislators have to be as close as a summer day to hope to get anything accomplished.

"I don't worry too much about the 50 legislators," Boger said. "I'm the only one who really went out on a limb. Those people up there know I always go out on a limb in a primary or a fight like this. They accept me for what I am. I'm not worried about our Party as far as the Legislature is concerned. It's the general structure of the Party that concerns me."

Boger said the Republican legislators had very little contact with Gov. Holshouser earlier this year.

"I got to see the Governor only one time the entire months we were in Raleigh," Boger said, "and most of my Republican counterparts didn't get to see him at all. The Governor didn't pay us any attention or ask our advice. It seems ridiculous, but it's the truth."

Rouse supporters were amazed that the margin of Bennett's victory was substantial. They felt they had a chance to win—and were positive the race would be close.

They underestimated Gov. Holshouser's stomach for a hard fight. The Governor lined up votes for Bennett and made sure they stuck.

Chances seem great that Anderson will be used more in the background and find himself featured less frequently on the front pages. Gov. Holshouser now has a chairman he can go to and work through. He never felt comfortable with Rouse.

"Frank Rouse is too good a man to leave on the sidelines," Boger said. "The Party could use his talents. But I don't look for him to be called on to do much. This was a tough fight on both sides. Some people will be a long time forgetting."

Strength For Today

ON WATCH ALWAYS
How many thousands of us can look back over our lives and see opportunities for doing good which we have missed! Any one of these might have been a visitation. Perhaps the Master himself appealed through some needy person for help and was thoughtlessly dismissed.

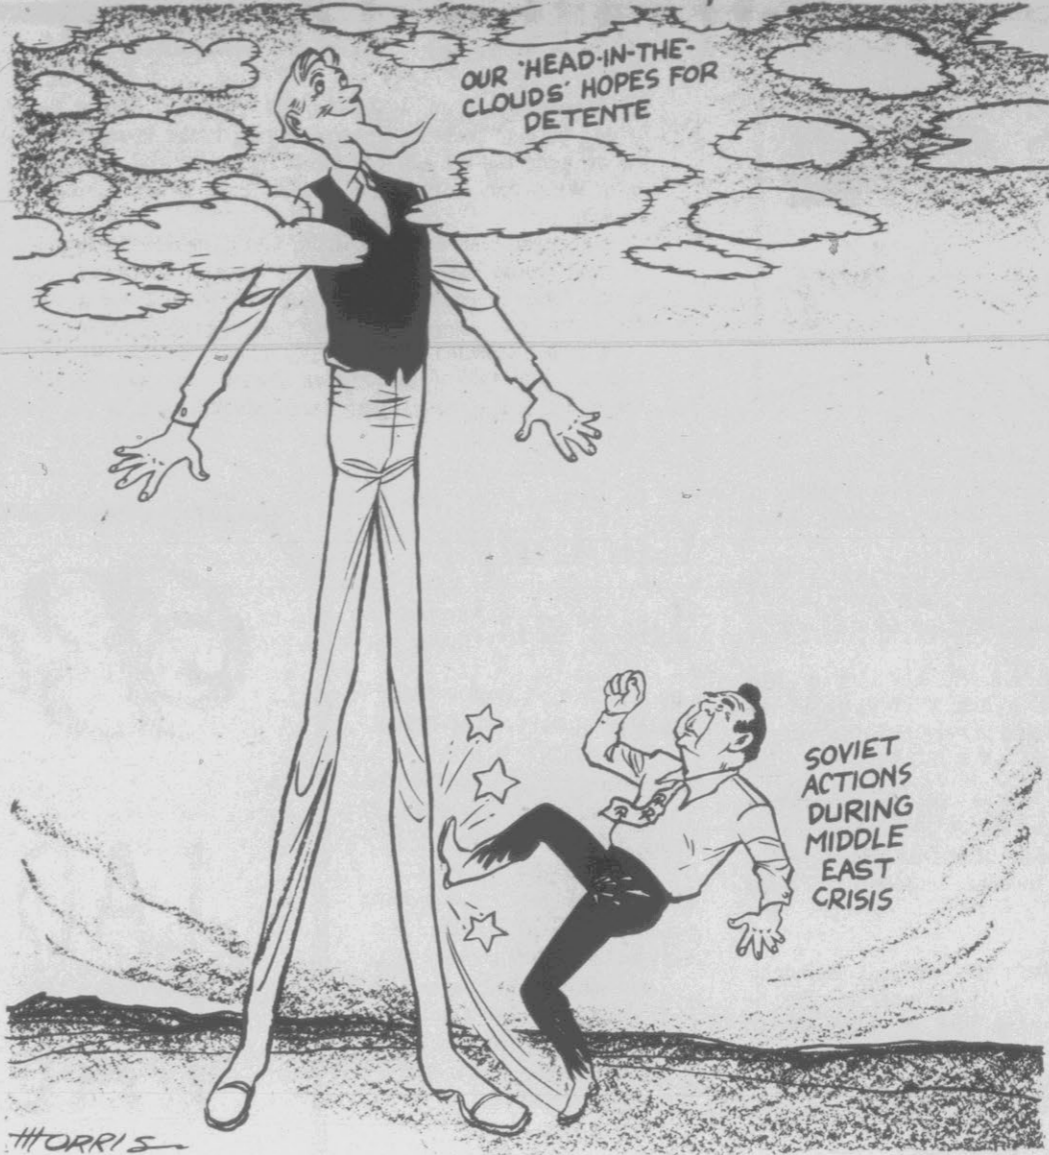

The Bible makes it clear that we will never know the time of visitation. Christ can come in the guise of the sick, the hungry, and the sorrowing. And all too often we can turn away because we are too busy, or because we think that the persons are not worthy, or just because we are indifferent.

The Bible tells us to be "always on the watch;" to treat every needy person as though he were Christ. And we are further commanded to treat every commonplace moment as though it carried within it the priceless gems of unlimited opportunity.

Support News Source

PRINCETON, N.J. — A growing majority of Americans believe a newspaper reporter should not be required to reveal confidential sources if he is taken to court to testify about information appearing in a news article. A total of 62 per cent in the latest nationwide Gallup survey hold this view, compared to 57 per cent in a survey conducted last November.

A youthful civil servant reached in this survey commented: "What with Watergate and all the other shocking things that are coming to light these days, if a reporter can get information that exposes wrongdoing, then all the more power to him."

Both the Watergate Committee hearings and the investigation of former Vice President Spiro Agnew have renewed discussion of the issue of "newsmen's privilege." In the absence of a so-called shield law to protect reporters, those favoring confidentiality for sources claim reporters must be able to assure anonymity for sources if they are to gain access to information necessary in investigative reporting. On the other hand, prosecutors say this information is often necessary to fully investigate and enforce the law.

The latest survey was conducted in early October at a time when newspaper as well as television and magazine reporters were being subpoenaed to testify with respect to the sources of stories about the government's case against Agnew.

The survey last fall was conducted shortly after Peter Bridge of the now defunct Newark Evening News and William Farr of the Los Angeles Times had both gone to jail for refusing to reveal the sources of stories they wrote concerning possible corruption in the Newark (N.J.) Housing Authority and the Charles Manson murder trail, respectively. Bridge and Farr were jailed as a result of a decision by the Supreme Court in June 1972. At that time the court held that newspaper reporters may not refuse to appear before a grand jury to answer questions about the sources of their information.

Arguments Given by Survey Respondents

One argument frequently given by persons in the survey who think newsmen should not be required to reveal confidential sources is that decisions to jail newspaper reporters could eventually deplete the confidential sources on which newsmen often rely to meet the public's right to know.

A key reason given by those on the other side is that a reporter is under oath to tell the truth and should not be given special privileges.

Following is the question asked in the latest survey and last November:

"Suppose a newspaper reporter obtains information for a news article he is writing from a person who asks that his name be withheld. Do you think that the reporter should or should not be required to reveal the name of this man if he is taken to court to testify about the information in his news article?"

Following are the latest results and trend from last November:

Should Reporters Be Required To Reveal Sources?

Should not	57	62

Other Editors Say Tobacco Problems

(Henderson Dispatch)

When final sales of flue-cured tobacco from the 1973 crop are completed, the industry, including growers, warehousemen and buyers, will have muddled through a marketing season with misgivings in many directions.

All-time record prices have been paid by buyers and that provided something of a cushion for growers who found they had to spend more money to produce the crop than ever. Both warehousemen and producers smarted under sales restraints which were imposed by quotas during much of the season as a means of avoiding congestion in processing plants. That may have been a factor in sustaining the high prices.

There were not enough buyers to assure operations generally which growers and warehousemen wanted, and the companies were on the receiving end of criticisms.

Many suggestions have been offered to effect changes in the auction system before another crop moves to market in late summer and autumn of 1974. There will be more discussions, during the winter and spring months, but what the outcome will be, if anything, only time can answer.

The Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee, which has no legal status, has established schedules only to make changes as they were possible. Its rulings brought mixed reactions and without uniform acceptance, through all segments of the industry went along. Prices continued high most of the season, except as marketing neared the close.

Upshot is that there may be further demand for certain alterations in procedure in the months to come before another crop is produced.

The selling period ended in late summer in the Georgia-Florida Belt, and the South Carolina-Border North Carolina Belt held final sales the first of November. Most markets in Eastern North Carolina and the Middle Belt will close by Thanksgiving or soon thereafter. The Old Belt will run on well into December.

Growers are eager for a program that will allow them to sell their crop when it is ready for market. That they could not do this season. To make it possible would necessitate more buyers than are available. Fast sales early in the season would flood processing plants, thereby creating another phase of the problem.

Controversy Surrounds Effort

By JOSH FITZHUGH
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — How does one go about restructuring the nation's sprawling securities industry into a modern, centralized model of efficiency?

Not easily, as it turns out. Efforts toward such a central market have raised a long list of interlocking issues that have surrounded the whole subject with controversy.

Almost everybody favors the idea of a central market linking the separate exchanges and markets into one coordinated network. But when it comes down to the specifics of who will take what role in that market, agreement has been scarce on Wall Street and in Washington.

Here is a capsule look at some of the major questions that remain to be resolved: ACCESS: One group, led by the government, wants access to the central market for everyone in the industry. This would include specialists, who match orders auction-style on the exchanges, and dealers, who make markets by buying and selling from their own accounts. It would include all exchanges and markets, particularly the so-called "third market," where dealers serve banks and pension funds by trading in large blocks of stock listed on the exchanges.

The New York and American Stock exchanges and Securities Industry Association, by contrast, prefer a market operating through market-making specialists only.

The government says dealers should compete directly to offer potentially better prices and to provide the liquidity to absorb large blocks. The big exchanges, however, say the inclusion of dealers would destroy the auction market and turn brokerage houses into dealer firms, thereby creating a conflict of interest as one firm serves both as broker-agent and buyer-seller.

James Needham, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, wants the whole network to adopt the exchange's rule prohibiting market-makers, the entities which set prices, from dealing directly with institutions, as dealers do.

Fight To Save NATO

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
BRUSSELS (AP) — The United States and its main European allies, at odds over the Middle East, are struggling to preserve the North Atlantic alliance to serve its basic purpose — joint defense against any Soviet threat.

Both U.S. and European diplomats are keen to keep the North Atlantic Treaty Organization alive. They point with satisfaction to its success in keeping them together at current conferences with the Soviet bloc on security, cooperation and reduction of forces.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is sending a deputy to receive his Nobel Peace Prize on Dec. 10 while he attends his first meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Brussels. A major topic will be a new statement on relations among the allies, a less pretentious version of the New Atlantic Charter Kissinger proposed last April.

The North Atlantic Council, made up of the allies' permanent representatives at NATO headquarters, has been meeting regularly to put the statement together. One diplomat at NATO headquarters, beset by recriminations among the allies on Middle East policy, suggested, "Events of the last few weeks certainly indicate that redefining the alliance might be a good idea."

The October Arab-Israeli war has underlined one thing: It is hard to get the alliance to operate beyond its original aim of defense against the Soviets and impossible to do so on short notice in a situation where the allies see their interests differently.

The European allies, especially France and Britain, argued that the United States does not depend on the Arabs for its oil but they do. So the United States could afford to support Israel, but they couldn't.

That is why only Portugal — and, in the beginning, West Germany — gave the United States any help in sending arms to Israel. Then the West Germans also refused after the United States embarrassed them by bringing an Israeli ship into Bremerhaven to load arms.

This lack of cooperation moved Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger to say that he wanted to reconsider the U.S. military commitment to West Germany. To West Germans that sounded like a threat to withdraw troops, which would be bound to raise a political storm for Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Lately there has been a determined effort to paper over the cracks. Schlesinger explained that he wanted to clarify with West Germany the right of access to stocks of U.S. weapons there.

But the Europeans showed no sign of backing the United States in its support of Israel. And also on Tuesday the nine countries of the European Common Market — eight of them (Continued on page 5) price, quantity and location of all trades. Those who feel the system would create chaos if implemented, because of the price differences, say the SEC is using the tape principally as a threat to get the industry in line. Denying this, the SEC's central market architect, John Liftin, says, "All it will do is disclose what already takes place."

OPERATION: Who will run and pay for the national communications network is still in question. Some feel that the present Amex and NYSE could together handle the reporting of trades, while the NASDAQ system now in use in the over-the-counter market could provide a means of reporting bid and asked quotations.

The Big Board and Amex would like their present joint automation venture to run the total network, while the government, particularly Congress, is for a neutral or quasi-governmental body.

As to the cost of the communications network, estimates run anywhere from $50 million to $150 million depending on whom you talk to and whether they like the government's approach.

"The cost will be astronomical and it's being forced down our throats," said Virgil Sherrill of Shields & Co., head of the SIA's central market committee.

LISTING: Presently stocks on many companies are listed on exchanges, while the securities of thousands more remain unlisted and are traded only in the over-the-counter market. And some of the listed stocks also are traded away from the exchanges in the "third market."

The Big Board and the SIA believe "publicly owned companies should have the option of choosing where to trade their securities," according to Sherrill. The government and the SEC would permit trading wherever competitive reasons make it profitable for the specialist or dealer to handle a given stock.

FIXED RATES: Nearly 200 years ago the New York Stock Exchange began to set the commissions that member firms could charge investors. This fall the SEC asserted its insistence on an end to all fixed rates by April 30, 1975.

Though the SEC decision has recently been termed a "fait accompli" by the Big Board's Needham, there is still much controversy on Wall Street over abolition of fixed rates, with some saying the decision may yet be reversed.

A House committee which studied the industry concluded that "the resolution of the commission rate issue is the key to resolving most of the major questions concerning the shape of our nation's securities markets."

In a recent report to directors, the Big Board's staff said fixed rates are necessary because without them the auction market would be undermined. Only the large brokerage firms would survive, the staff argued, and they would find it economically advantageous to withdraw from the NYSE and other exchanges. The core of this argument, the staff said, is that "open competition amongst a multiplicity of brokerage firms could not be sustained."

Those who favor competitive rates say fixed rates breed inefficiency and distortion. They contend that fixed rates and the exchanges' steps to safeguard them encourage an unhealthy exclusivity on Wall Street.

contemporary-styled cookware blends warm earthtones, pure white interiors

by WEST BEND®

A richly elegant cookware heritage glows in Scandia's warm brown earthtones, fashioned from Majolica-glazed porcelain-on-steel. The distinctive black stripes and stainless steel rims are purely contemporary. Scandia has gleaming china-white interiors, and gracefully styled oven-safe handles and cover knobs of black phenolic. Made in Spain. Set includes 1½ and 2½ qt. covered sauce pans, 5½ qt. Dutch oven and 9¾" open skillet (uses Dutch oven cover).

Human Relations Officials Meet Here

AT ASSOCIATION MEET. . . State chairman Boyce Medlin and Greenville Human Relations director Jesse Harris. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage)

Some 25 members of the North Carolina Association of Human Relations Officials opened a two-day meeting here this morning.

The non-political, professional association is composed of full-time staff persons working in the area of human relations including municipal human relations directors as well as community relations directors for schools and other agencies. There are some 55 members of the organization across the state.

Boyce Medlin, program developer for the N.C. Human Relations Commission is chairman of the association and presided at this morning's session, which began at 9:30 a.m.

Larry Stroud an equal employment officer with North Carolina Highway Commission was guest speaker for today's opening session.

He reviewed the highway department's efforts in recruiting minority employees and offered suggestions on ways human relations officials may assist the department in its efforts.

Charles Hassell, an attorney with the Department of Justice's Office of Consumer Affairs is

Firm To Forego Yule Lighting

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — R.J. Reynolds Industries says it will forego Christmas lights this year for the first time since World War II in an effort to conserve energy.

Reynolds announced plans Wednesday for a company-wide program expected to save the equivalent of 5.5 million gallons of oil annually.

The effort includes reducing the number of staff vehicles, recycling waste oil for plant heating, shutting off air conditioning and heating for longer periods and informing employees how to save fuel on the job.

Round-The-Clock Skylab Repairs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space agency technicians begin replacing eight defective stabilizing fins on the Skylab 3 rocket today, hoping to avoid an additional launch delay.

Discovery of hairline cracks in the fins forced officials Wednesday to postpone the launching of the three astronauts by five days, from Saturday until next Thursday. Officials said the cracks most likely were caused by salt air corrosion.

The technicians planned to work around the clock in hopes of completing the job in time to start the final countdown on the Saturn 1B rocket Monday.

But Skylab program director William C. Schneider said, "We want to get well into the changeout before we make a definite decision. It's a reasonable bet we'll launch on the 15th, but it's certainly not a sure thing."

The Saturn 1B rocket is to loft astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson toward a rendezvous with the Skylab space station, now orbiting unmanned 270 miles high. They are to remain aboard a record 85 days in man's third and final visit to the orbiting lab.

Farmville Mart Had $86.09 Day

FARMVILLE—Offerings on the Farmville Tobacco Market yesterday were unusually heavy for this late in the season.

Prices on some leaf grades were slightly higher than on Tuesday's sale. Top price paid was $1.01 per pound for some quality leaf grades.

Other grades continued steady. Cutters and leaf grades accounted for most of the volume.

The market yesterday sold 539,709 pounds of tobacco for $464,652, for an average of $86.09 per hundred pounds.

To date, the market has sold 22,591,416 pounds of tobacco for a season average of $89.60.

Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets were unchanged Wednesday. Supplies were adequate and demand was good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer-grade eggs delivered in cartons to nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 68.65; medium whites 63.72; small whites 56.38.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina hogs were steady to 25 cents higher today. Tops of 42.50-43.50 at Kinston, Benson and Lumberton; 42.00-42.50 Rocky Mount; 39.50-41.50 Wilson and High Falls; 40.00-40.50 Tarboro and Bethel; 42.75 Mount Olive; 41.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market two cents weaker today. Supplies adequate and demand good. Weighted average price for less than truck lot sales of sized plant grade broilers to be picked up at docks next week is 33.51 cent per pound.

North Carolina hens: Market steady on heavy types with firm undertone. Supplies adequate and demand good. Heavies, at farm, 22 cents.

NEW YORK (AP)—Showing what brokers said was a highly emotional reaction to news events, stock market prices were up sharply today in big-block action, indicating heavy institutional buying.

But stocks began losing some ground by late morning. At 11:30 a.m., the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 12.26 at 932.34. Earlier it had been up more than 16 points. Advancing Big Board issues held a very broad 5-to-1 lead over decliners.

Chemicals and oils were strongly higher, following President Nixon's announcement of steps to curb the energy crisis. Coal issues also were very strong. The President said he would encourage a greater use of the abundant coal in this country.

Ramada Inns, up 1/2 at 8 1/4, was the Big Board volume leader.

Among the oils, British Petroleum was up 3/4 at 15 3/4; Royal Dutch, up 1/4 at 38 3/4; Standard Oil of California, up 1/4 at 68 1/2; and Texaco, up 1 at 32 1/4.

Baker

Area Schools Closing Out Grid Season

Ayden-Grifton's Chargers, with a playoff berth safely tucked away, goes after no worse than a share of the conference championship this weekend when it faces North Lenoir.

The Chargers rolled over North Pitt, 46-0, last week, to ice one of the Eastern Carolina Conferences' two playoff berths. Southern Wayne, with a 61-0 romp over Eastern Wayne, claimed the other. The two are tied for the league's lead, but A-G beat Southern and would claim the number one slot if both were to win or lose this weekend.

In the other games last week, Southern Nash downed C.B. Aycock, 19-0, Farmville Central whipped Conley, 27-6, and Greene Central nipped North Lenoir, 7-6.

This week, besides the North Lenoir visit to A-G, Farmville Central visits Aycock, Conley hosts Southern Nash, Eastern Wayne is at Greene Central, and North Pitt goes to Southern Wayne.

In the Northeastern Conference, Edenton, unbeaten this year, goes to Ahoskie, seeking to wrap up the title and a playoff berth, too. Ahoskie, with only one loss, could claim the title by beating the Aces.

Last week, Ahoskie buried Tarboro, 42-0, while Edenton swamped Bertie, 45-7. Plymouth nipped Williamston, 32-29, and Roanoke Rapids edged Washington, 8-6.

Besides the Edenton-Ahoskie clash, Williamston is at Bertie, Washington at Plymouth and Tarboro at Roanoke Rapids.

Robersonville, with its conference title salted away, is just trying to wrap up a perfect Eastern Plains season with a victory at North Johnston Friday. The Eagles rolled over Saratoga, 47-0, last week, while Elm City blanked Lee Woodard, 53-0, North Johnston slammed South Edgecombe, 46-6, and Rock Ridge fell to West Edgecombe, 12-7.

This week, Elm City is at Saratoga, Rock Ridge at Lee Woodard, and South Edgecombe at West Edgecombe in the other games.

Except for those with playoff berths, this week's games end the regular season.

The big win of last week saw Farmville Central's aroused Jaguars claw Willie Hawkins and the Conley Vikings into submission. And it made some people wonder if perhaps the Jaguars are not better than their third place standing, especially after losing only 14-12 to Southern Wayne on the Saints' home field.

"We found a way to stop Hawkins," Coach Gene Brewer said. "I thought our defense played exceedingly well, and the specialty teams too."

But Brewer wasn't quite as pleased with the offense. "We stumble around at times, and made a lot of mental mistakes."

The coach singled out Chester Ellis, Wardell Blow, George Gay and Walter Gorham for their defensive play in the game. "They were the standouts, but the whole defensive unit deserves a lot of praise."

This week, the Jaguars travel to meet Charles B. Aycock, a team that has won only once this year. "I'm impressed with the team they've got," Brewer said. "They have quickness and they move the ball on offense. The defense hits pretty good too. I think they're better than their record."

The loser in that game last week, Chuck Dunn of Conley felt his team didn't play as well as they were capable. "We had a couple of offensive linemen out, but we still didn't play well. We were flat and they were ready and wanted it more."

Despite the fact that Hawkins was held to one of his lower yardage nights, Dunn felt he had a good effort, as did Calvin Hawkins, and Keith Gould.

This week, the Vikings go up against Southern Nash, the only team to have beaten Ayden-Grifton so far this year. "That speaks for itself," Dunn said. "They have a strong team with two good running backs. They don't do anything fancy, just run it right at you. It looks like a real tough game."

Another who found last week hard to swallow was North Pitt's Danny Wilmer, whose team ran up against a rebounding Ayden-Grifton. "It was terrible," Wilmer said. "We gave the game away from the opening kickoff. The first punt we had, we snapped the ball over the kicker's head, and that was the beginning of the end. They were ready and it was easy for them to get up."

Wilmer did feel that Clarence Mooring played fairly well and that Johnny Vines did a good job in the line. "We got one drive going, but just weren't able to score," he added.

This week, after facing one-half of first place, the Panthers must face the other half, Southern Wayne. "They're bigger than Ayden-Grifton," Wilmer said. "Their defense is tough, and they are real strong against the run. We're going to have to try and loosen them up."

Charger boss Mike Overton was pleased with his team's effort against the Panthers. "We executed the best of the year," he said. "We just had to get back into the groove of winning again."

When asked of the loss to Southern Nash might have been a good thing—to settle the Chargers down before the playoffs, Overton said, "Losing hurt. You don't have to lose to learn. But it did serve to bring us down off our pedestal."

Greg Nelson, who tossed four scoring passes and brought his total offense mark to over 2,000 yards, drew praise from Overton, as did Milton Brown for his receptions. "The whole defense stood out also," the coach added.

This week, Ayden-Grifton goes after the top seed in the playoffs against North Lenoir. The Hawks, after winning their first four, fell along the way side, and out of the race. "They are a big, physical team. They have a good defense, and they have a good quarterback." The Hawks gave Greene Central all they wanted last week before bowing, so the Chargers must beware of them.

Deacons Trying To Snap Losing String

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
When Wake Forest opened its season under new head coach Chuck Mills with a 9-7 victory over favored Florida State, the Deacons surprised most followers of Atlantic Coast Conference football.

But they haven't won since and are mired in a seven-game losing streak as they prepare to close their home season Saturday against Duke, a team with troubles of its own. The Blue Devils also have a 1-7 record and have lost their last six to become the biggest loser in the school's football history, which goes back to 1888.

Mills, noting the upcoming collision of two losing streaks, figures Duke to have the edge. "They have good people and I think they've played a tougher schedule," he points out.

Despite the gloom of the losing streak, Mills has one bright spot. He has in Chuck Ramsey, a senior from Knoxville, Tenn., the nation's No. 1 punter.

The mustachioed 190-pounder has finished No. 3 in the nation for two years on averages of better than 43 yards a boot.

Currently, after averaging 48 yards on six punts last week against Clemson, he has vaulted into the top spot at 46.5 for 61 kicks.

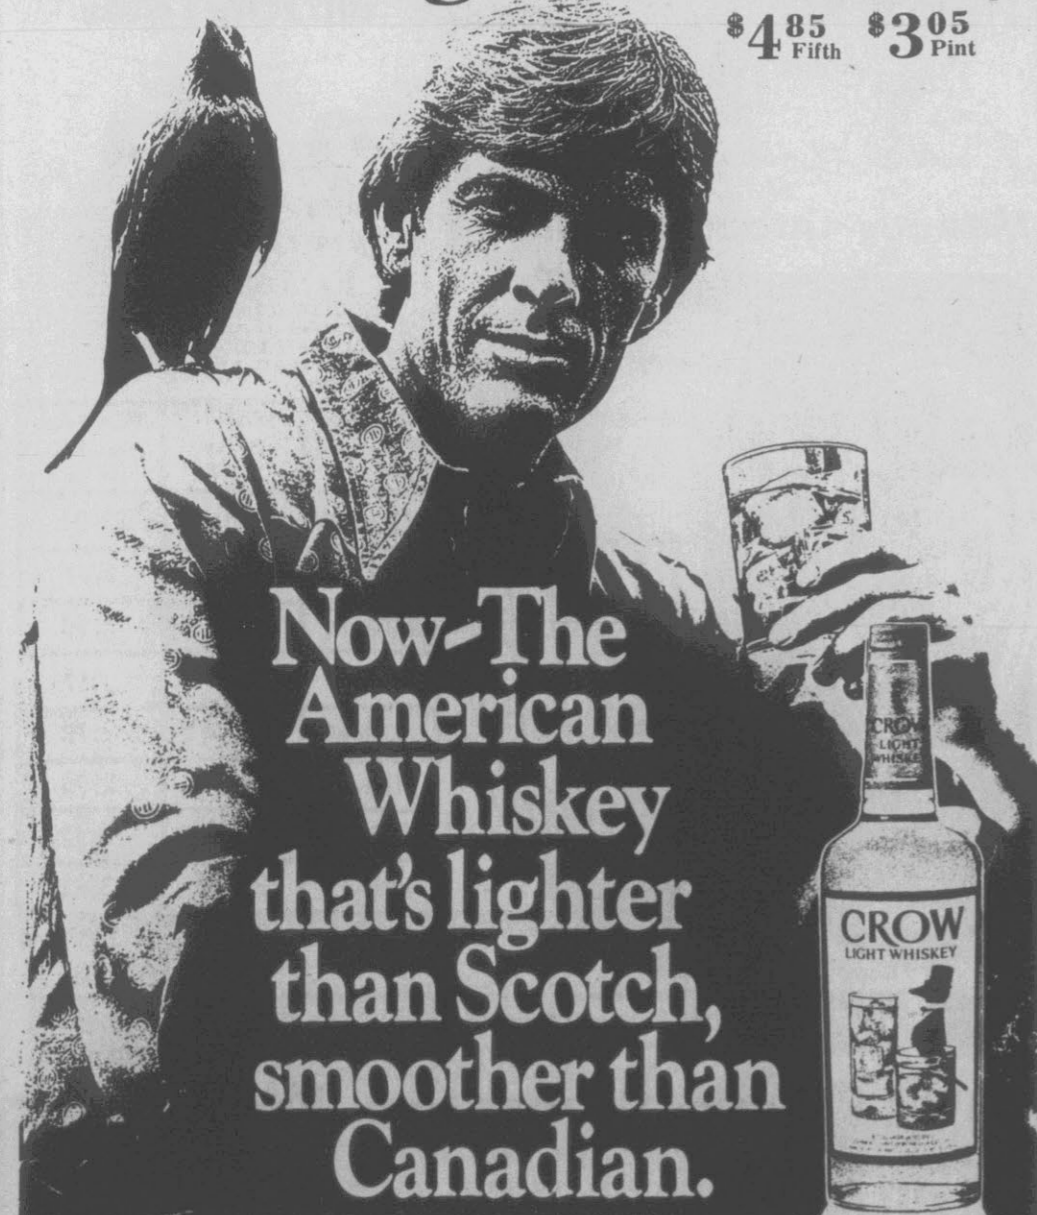

The Deacons' modest attack has overworked Ramsey's toe. Only one of the 10 closest pursuers for the kicking crown has had to punt more than 49 times.

"He's great, but I wish we didn't have to use him so much," says Mills, who'd like to see his offense retain the ball more.

Said the coaching Chuck of the kicking Chuck, "He gets both height and distance into his kicks. He has tremendous explosiveness in his leg. The ball comes off his foot like a bullet. I've never seen a ball shoot off a foot the way he kicks it."

Champion Without Top Three?

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer's here. And Gary Player. And Bruce Crampton and Masters champ Tommy Aaron and the Young Lions Lanny Wadkins and Ben Crenshaw and tough old Sam Snead.

run at one-half million dollars in prize money, the richest golf tournament the world has ever known. But the brand-new World Open, which offers $100,000 to the winner of the two-week tournament that began its inaugural run today, is in a slightly embarrassing position. The winner will be billed as the World Champion. But he'll get that title without the necessity of defeating perhaps the three top players alive today — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino. U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller also is on the sidelines, suffering from influenza.

The absence of those four — collectively, they've won the U.S., British and Canadian Opens, the PGA, 12 other titles and more than $1 million in prize money this year — has taken some of the gloss and glitter off the event that admittedly is looking for a place alongside the game's Big Four championships. It's sort of like having a Super Bowl in which the American Football Conference champion doesn't appear. Or a World Series without a National League representative.

Even with the absence of some of the game's top players and the lack of national television coverage — Hughes Sports Network cancelled out some time ago — the tournament has drawn an extremely impressive field.

Among the top Americans are such veterans as Palmer, Billy Casper and Gene Littler, youthful standouts Lanny Wadkins and Ben Crenshaw and the incredible Snead, still dangerous at the age of 61.

The foreign threat is very strong and it's among the non-Americans that the likely favorite rests. That role probably would go to either Player or the sturdy Crampton.

Northeastern Tops Rose JVs

ELIZABETH CITY—Northeastern High School's Baby Eagles scored twice in the final period to ease past the Rose High School Rampant Cubs, 28-20, here yesterday.

Northeastern grabbed the lead in the second period when Ray Scott went over from four yards away for a 6-0 lead.

Rose came back on the next series, however, to take the lead. William Joyner broke away for a 44-yard run for the score and Jay Chenier ran over the two-point conversion for an 8-6 lead.

Northeastern came right back, however, with Scott scoring from 16 yards out to turn it right around, 12-8.

Then, on the final play of the half, Joyner scored his second touchdown of the day, from three yards away, to allow Rose to hold a 14-12 lead.

In the third period, Joyner again broke a long run to score his third touchdown, this time a 54-yard scamper. That raised the lead to 20-12.

But Northeastern came back in the final period with Gary Redman scoring from seven yards out and Scott getting the conversion to tie it at 20-20. Then, Kenny Redman scored the clincher on a four-yard run, with Gary Redman making the conversion for the final 28-20 margin.

Northeastern, with its win, boosted its record to 7-2 for the year. Rose is now 4-3-1, and closes out its year.

Joyner was the leading ground-gainer, picking up 191 yards on 22 carries.

Nets Trying To Find Out What's Going On

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
What's wrong with the New York Nets? Whatever it is, they're trying to find out.

"It's time for a meeting," said forward Julius Erving after the Nets lost a 111-107 American Basketball Association decision to the Virginia Squires Wednesday night.

It's time for something, all

Aycock Delayed

E. B. Aycock's game with Bertie yesterday was postponed due to breakdown of the bus bringing the Kinston team to Greenville.

The contest was rescheduled for this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. at the Aycock field. The Phantoms, playing their final game of the year, are seeking their first victory.

right. The team that was supposed to be an ABA power this season has become an ABA powderpuff. The latest loss was the Nets' eighth in 12 games and dropped them into a last-place tie with Virginia in the East.

"We're just not effective as a team, and I'm not effective as an individual," said Erving, one of the best forwards in basketball.

The team meeting will be held without coaches, Erving said. But Coach Kevin Loughery sees no point in the whole thing.

"They can have it if they want," said Loughery, "but the problem is that we are showing no confidence in ourselves offensively — we're just standing around."

In the night's other ABA games, the San Antonio Spurs nipped the San Diego Conquistadors 105-104; the Indiana Pacers beat the Carolina Cougars 109-100 and the Kentucky Colonels hammered the Memphis Tams 113-89.

George Gervin sank two free throws and rookie Swen Nater followed with a field goal to help Virginia bounce New York. The Nets went under for the seventh straight game after losing a 17-point lead in the third period.

Spurs 105, Conquistadors 104
James Silas connected on a 12-foot jump shot from the baseline with 22 seconds left, giving San Antonio a 105-104 decision over San Diego.

The basket came only 29 seconds after Dwight Lamar scored a field goal to give the Conquistadors a 104-103 lead. Silas' winning goal held off a fantastic San Diego comeback. The Spurs led by 29 points at one point.

Pacers 109, Cougars 100
Rookie guard Kevin Joyce, making his first pro start, scored 23 points to lead Indiana over Carolina 109-100.

Colonels 113, Tams 89
Dan Issel provided the spark as Kentucky broke open a close game to beat Memphis 113-89. Issel scored 30 points and grabbed 19 rebounds through the first three quarters, and then watched the subs mop up.

Bucs Physically Ready

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

When East Carolina's Pirates go after their second consecutive Southern Conference football championship at home Saturday against Richmond's Spiders, Coach Sonny Randle expects them to be ready physically, if nothing else.

"We came out of the game in good physical shape, which was one of my primary concerns," says Randle of last Saturday night's 34-3 rout of William and Mary that knocked the Indians out of the race.

"Joe Tkach, our first-team defensive tackle, did not even dress, but he will be at full speed for Richmond," says Randle, who adds:

"We had other assorted injuries on defense which survived the game and will heal before Saturday."

An East Carolina victory will give the Pirates the title. If Richmond wins, the Spiders can wrap it up with a victory or tie Nov. 17 at William and Mary while East Carolina is winding up at home against Appalachian State.

The Pirates will go into the game with a 5-0 league record and a 7-2 over-all mark. The Spiders have won four in a row in the conference and seven of eight against all opposition. East Carolina plays one more league game than Richmond.

Randle sees certain similarities between Richmond and William and Mary, which was 3-0 in the league and 6-2 overall before running into the Pirates.

"They both move the ball very well on offense, but I believe Richmond has a much better defense," Randle says. He probably won't get an argument on that point.

Offensively, "Richmond can run or pass and they will outweigh us across the front," says Randle. The rap against William and Mary was that the ground-oriented Indians couldn't pass, and they didn't do too well when East Carolina stopped their running.

"This is the third straight big game for us," says Randle.

"We were ready for North Carolina and William and Mary, and we must be ready and play better against Richmond."

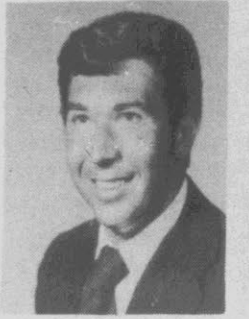

The Pirates dropped a 28-27 decision at North Carolina the week before they met the Indians, but it didn't seem to have too much effect once they got rolling.

A fumble set up a Terry Regan field goal that gave William and Mary a 3-0 lead after one quarter, but then Randle turned Carlester Crumpler loose and school was out for the Indians.

Randle is very much aware of that initial offensive breakdown.

"I don't know what was wrong with the offense in the first quarter against William and Mary, but we cannot afford such a showing like that against Richmond."

Roanoke Gets Win

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Serge Veauviou scored midway through the final period Wednesday night to lead Roanoke to a 3-2 Southern Hockey League victory over Macon.

Macon had jumped to an early lead in the first period on a goal by Norm Cournoyer but Roanoke tied the contest later on a score by Nick Haramis.

With 9:27 elapsed in the second period, Macon got a score from Mike Pennassee but Roanoke quickly tied the game again with a goal by Michel Voudreau.

Advice On Appliances

Greenville Utilities is now distributing pamphlets on the proper use and care of electrical appliances and saving money with proper insulation, according to George Reel, customer service representative.

Reel said that the six-page pamphlet, "How to Get the Most from Your Appliances," advises on correct appliance use and care as a means of conserving energy and reducing electric bills.

He noted that the folder explains the importance of routine care and maintenance and offers the householder tips on insuring top appliance performance and reducing unnecessary repair bills.

Additional pamphlets on insulation are available for persons using any type of fuel for heating, he pointed out.

The pamphlets are available at the Greenville Utilities main office.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Proceed with caution to gain the advance you wish in practical matters. Don't argue. Take the time to get the advice of bankers, businessmen before acting.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you move or act too quickly, you may make big errors, but taking too much time to reach decisions could be just as bad. Be sensible.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't blame yourself since others could be at fault instead. Benefit by improving health. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep promise you made, otherwise you get into trouble. Assist one who is having really rough sledding and forget own dependency.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't rely on a good friend who has problems, but work own angles. Out to that group affair, but don't lose your temper or your head.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Solve those problems connected with new outlets so they become successful. Handle civic matters efficiently. Save more money for the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study details and figures of some advanced plan you have and be sure they are exact. Make new associates who can be most helpful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use more modern methods in handling the routines that have been tedious in the past. Cement better relations with mate by doing what he or she likes to do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into all those details with an associate that will make some mutual outlet very profitable and put aside anything of a light nature.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to please co-workers more even though it takes longer, and have greater harmony. Take the exercise that will improve your health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Enjoy amusements you like and get away from present tensions of business. Reach better understanding with congenials. Avoid one with a bone to pick.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle home affairs so there is more harmony and health there. Show you're devoted. Get into details of some new project for greater success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Shop and do important errands; get in touch with those who can help you advance. Use much care in motion. Don't permit some silly person to mow you down.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has to learn early to be most careful where details are concerned for true success. Teach early to take pains with such even at play. Teach also to pick.

ESEA Advisory Committee To Meet Nov. 14

Robert L. Moore, Chairman of the Title I, ESEA Parent Advisory Committee announces the regularly scheduled monthly public meeting of the group Wednesday, November 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the Sadie Sautler School Library.

Mrs. Jessie McDonald, Mrs. Annie Love and Mrs. Lucille Johnson will demonstrate the teamwork approach to educating children with special needs.

Parents and patrons of the community are invited to attend the meeting and learn first-hand what kinds of instruction are carried out by Title I, ESEA Resource teachers.

VISTA To Hold Survey

The Pitt County VISTA Project announced today that a survey of residents in Greenville will begin this week.

Assisting in the interviewing will be community people who have volunteered to approach friends and neighbors asking a set of questions prepared by the VISTA workers. Jim Speer, a member of the VISTA team working on the survey, expressed encouragement over the widespread support found among the people of Greenville in volunteering to help to do the interviewing. In addition, students from Pitt Tech and ECU's Delta Sigma Theta sorority are working with the VISTAS on this project, he said.

VISTA worker Rick Cagan commented that the survey is important to the ongoing work of the volunteers. He said he hopes there will be continued support among the people.

Interviewing may continue for several weeks, with plans for expansion of the survey into other parts of the county, Speer said.

Predict Energy-Saving Action

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders have promised prompt action on most or all of the energy-saving measures requested by President Nixon in his address to the nation.

Senate Interior Chairman Henry M. Jackson said his committee would hold public hearings on emergency legislation today and would report a bill out by Friday. Senate approval could be expected next week, Jackson said.

On the House side, Democratic whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., predicted action on the President's proposals before the December recess. "If he wants a bill, we'll give him a bill," said Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., chairman of the House subcommittee on power.

In his Wednesday night address, Nixon accused Congress of failing to act on any of the energy measures he had sent to the Hill. The President said it was now "imperative" that Congress pass legislation establishing year-round Daylight Saving Time, authorizing relaxation of clean-air standards, the tapping of naval petroleum reserves and giving the government power to reduce speed limits nationwide and restrict working hours.

Macdonald said Nixon already had the authority to do most of what he asked and accused the President of playing "an absolute shell game" in blaming Congress for inaction. Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., said he and other oil-state senators oppose one presidential proposal that would allow the federal government to regulate the intrastate production and use of oil and gas.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said the President's message "did not contain enough specifics in dollars or programs to do the job. The $10 billion mentioned by the President is considerably less than we spent on Apollo and probably only 10 percent of what is actually needed," he added.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said Nixon "has made a good — although belated — beginning in facing up to the energy shortage."

There is a tremendous difference in technique between duplicate pair tournaments and rubber bridge. In duplicate pairs, failure to make an overtrick can result in as bad a score as going down in a contract; in rubber bridge, making the contract is the paramount objective.

Consider today's hand. If played in a duplicate pairs event, declarer should realize that most pairs would reach a contract of four hearts, so his objective must be to make as many tricks as possible. After winning the ace of clubs, he should cash the ace and king of hearts, hoping for an even split. When this fails, he will try to cash four diamond tricks, discarding a spade from his hand. Even when East ruffs the third diamond, declarer is not through. Since dummy's eight of trumps is an entry to the fourth diamond, East must shift to a spade. Declarer is still home if East holds the ace of spades. Unfortunately, West has that card, so the defenders will be able to cash three spade tricks and South will go down one.

The rubber bridge player, however, should make the contract. Since he does not have to worry about overtricks, his main preoccupation should be to keep East, the danger hand, off lead to prevent a lead through the king of spades. Therefore, correct technique after winning the ace of clubs is to enter dummy with the ten of diamonds and lead a low trump.

If East plays low, declarer simply covers as low as possible, allowing West to win the trick. Declarer wins any return, draws the outstanding trumps and runs four diamonds, discarding a spade. Now, if the ace of spades is onside, declarer will make an overtrick.

If East plays an honor on the low heart lead from dummy, declarer wins, crosses to dummy's jack of diamonds and plays another heart. Again, the intention is to play low if East follows suit with the six, bringing about the same position as before.

WHITE HORSE, Canada (UPI) — Tourist travel in the Yukon has increased from 40,000 visitors in 1962 to more than 250,000 in 1972. The increase from 1971 to 1972 alone was 33 per cent.

Parenthood Study Is Set

Couples who desire better understanding of the maternity cycle and care of newborn infants are invited to enroll in a special course to be offered Tuesday evenings beginning Dec. 4 by the East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education.

Instructors Lona Ratcliffe and Janice Leggett, faculty of the ECU School of Nursing, will discuss and demonstrate the knowledge and skills necessary for prospective parents.

The course will meet Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the ECU Nursing Building, room 209. It will consist of either eight or nine sessions, depending upon how fast the class progresses. Christmas and New Year's holidays will be observed.

The course is designed for both husband and wife. Further information and application forms are available from the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville.

Announces New Greenville Firm

Phil Dickerson announced the opening of Greenville Engineering and Surveying Co. at 108-B, W. Tenth Street.

Dickerson, a professional engineer and land surveyor, noted that the firm will offer services in subdivision layout, land surveying and traffic engineering.

The new firm, he said, began operations on a full time basis on Nov. 5. Dickerson said that Wayne Adams will be associated with the firm.

Correction Migrant Killed In Road Mishap

A story in Wednesday's edition on the Winterville municipal elections reported that incumbent alderman Bobby Crawford received 130 votes and lost his town board seat to William Carmon.

The article should have read that Crawford defeated Carmon by a vote of 274 to 130 and was reelected to his seat on the town governing body. The Reflector regrets this error.

GRAHAM'S BIRTHDAY
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, observing his 55th birthday here, has received greetings from church leaders, followers and friends around the country.

SYLVA, N.C. (AP)—Officers are investigating a traffic accident that left a 42-year-old migrant worker dead Wednesday. The Highway Patrol said Rose Mae Williamson was killed when a bus backed over her on N.C. 441 about eight miles south of Dillsborough near Sylva in Jackson County. Officers said the bus carrying a load of migrant workers to Florida stopped for an unknown reason. The woman got off the bus and it backed over her.

Benjamin Harrison was the 23rd president, holding office from 1889-1893.

Nine From N.C. With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine of the 11 representatives from North Carolina voted with the majority as the House overrode 284-136 Wednesday President Nixon's veto of a bill limiting war powers.

Only Republicans Wilmer Mizell and Earl Ruth voted to sustain the veto.

In the Senate, which overrode 75-18, both senators from North Carolina, Democrat Sam Ervin Jr. and Republican Jesse Helms, voted against over-riding.

The Worry Clinic Surgery Is The 'Last Resort'

Laura has been the object of some typical medical sales patter. Before you submit to surgery, try the simple "horse sense" remedies. Surgery is usually the last resort. And note how few physicians ever submit to the scalpel! Why?

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-558: Laura F., aged 40, belongs in a classical medical category.

It is called the "fair, fat and forty" gall bladder bracket.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I often develop some gas and bloating after I eat rich foods."

"So I went to my family physician, who had an X-ray made and it showed I had gall stones.

"He suggested I have my gall bladder removed, but I hesitated, for I don't have too frequent attacks.

"But he said I might ultimately develop cancer, if I didn't have surgery for removal of the gall bladder.

"Dr. Crane, if you were in my place, would you have your gall bladder removed?"

M.D. Sales Patter
Modern medicine produces many miracles via our new drugs and superb surgery.

And we have over 300,000 physicians in practice.

But how many of you laymen

(or nurses, too) have ever seen an M.D. undergo surgery for his own gall stones?

Indeed, how many times have you ever heard of any M.D. submitting to ANY surgery, unless it was to prevent an obstruction of the bowel or bladder outlet or remove a known cancer?

Which doesn't mean that those 300,000 medics have no gall stones or hemorrhoids or any other ailments from which their patients suffer.

But medics are very chary about submitting to surgery that isn't a matter of life or death!

And beware of becoming stampeded by that warning that "you MIGHT develop cancer."

You MIGHT get struck by a car, too, as you walk to the grocery store, but you play the odds, don't you?

Well, millions of women (and men, too) have gall stones and carry them to their graves at the ripe age of 80 or better.

My mother thus went to the hospital at the age of 80 with gastric distress.

Her icteric (bile) index was a little high, though the whites of her eyes didn't show any yellowing.

And mild jaundice first shows up to you laymen via a lemon tint to the whites of the eyes.

The surgeon wanted to take out her gall bladder at once! My father refused to O.K. the surgery, abetted by my secret veto, for I had to go along with my surgical colleague as a matter of professional etiquette.

Two gall bladder cases had died after such surgery during my mother's few days at the same hospital.

So she came home, still retaining her gall stones, and is still alive and well, having celebrated her 95th birthday last February.

If you gall bladder cases go slow on eating fats, you can usually avoid or minimize gall bladder attacks.

It is certainly worth your trying the dietary regimen before you submit to what is a dangerous type even of modern surgery (cholecystectomy).

Remember, surgery is supposed to be the LAST resort, after the simple "horse sense"

Nixon Vows He Will Not Walk Away From Job

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, responding to mounting calls for his resignation, vows he has "no intention whatever of walking away from the job I was elected to do."

Nixon voiced his determination to hold onto his office in "a personal note" at the end of a television-radio address to the nation Wednesday night on energy problems. Speaking without notes, he said:

"... I would like to give my answer to those who have suggested that I resign. "I have no intention whatever of walking away from the job I was elected to do. As long as I am physically able, I am going to continue to work 16 to 18 hours a day for the cause of a real peace abroad, and for the cause of prosperity without inflation and war at home."

While talk of possible resignation or impeachment has mounted sharply in recent days, Nixon seemed to place no great urgency on finding a way out of his current predicament, speaking of it as a long-range operation.

"I am confident that in the months ahead," he said, "the American people will come to realize that I have not violated the trust that they placed in me when they elected me as President of the United States in the past, and I pledge to you tonight that I shall always do everything that I can be worthy of that trust in the future."

Since the leadership crisis exploded, presidential aides also have talked in terms of weeks and months, rather than days, in discussing Nixon's plans to rebut his critics.

Speaking of Watergate and related matters, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said earlier Wednesday:

"We are giving consideration to a number of steps that the President will be taking here in the coming weeks and months to clarify this matter and to put it into perspective."

The White House announced Wednesday the hiring of an additional legal consultant, Miami attorney Samuel Powers Jr., to help handle Watergate-related questions. Ziegler said there will be a further expansion of Nixon's legal team because "you cannot deal with over a hundred lawyers with five." The spokesman said the objective is to meet promptly and "in an orderly and effective way" the requirements of various investigative units including the Watergate special prosecutor's office, federal grand juries and the Senate Watergate committee.

Ziegler virtually ruled out, however, any appearance — even an informal one — by Nixon before members of the Senate Watergate committee. Some Republican figures, including Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, had strongly urged such a course.

In his speech, Nixon said that, "as a result of the deplorable Watergate matter, great numbers of Americans have had doubts raised as to the integrity of the President of the United States."

He went on to say he has noted "some publications" have called on him to resign. Nixon made no reference to resignation suggestions from political figures, including Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts.

Raleigh Mayor-Elect Says Experience The Factor

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The mayor-elect of North Carolina's capital city says Tuesday's municipal elections are proof "that a man can get elected based on his experience and not on the pigment of his skin."

Clarence E. Lightner, 52, should know. He is the first black man elected mayor of a major Southern city where most of the people are white.

He won election over a white candidate, G. Wesley Williams, by a tally of 17,348 to 15,476.

Lightner's victory came after a campaign in which race was never mentioned by either candidate.

He charged Williams, the director of the Raleigh Merchants' Bureau, with being a lobbyist for downtown business interests.

That campaign dovetailed with the platforms of six successful city council candidates who all ran on a platform of neighborhood preservation and restriction of the development that has spurred Raleigh to unprecedented growth in the past decade.

The city now has a population of about 125,000. About 30 percent of the people are black.

Lightner's support was heavy.

At Hearing On Land-Use

WILSON, N.C. (AP)—About 75 persons attended a state Senate sub committee hearing on proposed land use legislation Wednesday, and most spoke in favor of a measure pending before the General Assembly.

However, some voiced reservations because they said there should be more "regional input" into the measure.

Complaints centered on a proposed eight-member land policy council, which would not include anyone from municipal or county governments.

The council would be made up of a representative of the departments of administration, agriculture, cultural resources, commerce, natural and economic resources, revenue, human resources and transportation.

Some of those attending the hearing suggested the council should have members from such organizations as the North Carolina League of Municipalities or the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

The meeting was one of six statewide hearings on the pending land use legislation, with the next scheduled Monday, Nov. 12, at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

in the black precincts, but it was his margin in the predominantly white suburban tracts in the northern and western sections of the city that won for him.

Those areas have been hotbeds of neighborhood activism, particularly after a series of damaging floods last winter dramatized the penalties that nature can exact for unrestricted development in a floodplain.

Lightner, a husky man with a pepper-and-salt mustache who wears his greying hair slicked back, was identified with the anti-business and development group during the campaign, even though he had previously served three terms on the city council, the last as mayor pro-tem. Incumbent mayor Thomas Bradshaw, an executive with a development company, did not seek reelection.

In the pandemonium of his campaign headquarters, Lightner took time to remember his father, Calvin E. Lightner. "It would have made my father real happy. I feel he's smiling down on us tonight with satisfaction and forgiveness."

Lightner's father 54 years ago took the unprecedented step of running for public safety commissioner at a time when blacks found it difficult even to vote in the South.

He and the two other blacks on his ticket—the city's black doctor and black newspaper editor—were badly beaten, and Lightner remembers that economic reprisals were taken against them.

Lightner's father was Raleigh's leading black businessman, running contracting, insurance and funeral home businesses. The mayor-elect, nicknamed "Baby" because he was the youngest of four children, graduated from N.C. Central University, a black college where he played quarterback for four years.

After college, Lightner's father persuaded him not to go to medical school and to come home and run the family businesses. The mayor elect now lists his occupations as funeral director and insurance agent.

'Recall' For Frozen Food

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration has announced that the Trey Packing Co. of Oneida, N.Y., is recalling three types of frozen foods distributed in 16 states, including North Carolina. They contain underprocessed mushrooms produced by another firm.

Being recalled are Trey frozen beefsteaks with mushrooms, Townfair frozen veal parmigiana and Townsend frozen Salisbury steak, all in two-pound packages. The FDA advised consumers to return the products to the stores where they were purchased.

It said Trey used mushrooms produced by Tusco Mushroom Products Inc. of Beach City, Ohio, which were recalled Oct. 9 because they were found to be underprocessed. It also said there has been no evidence that the Tusco mushrooms contained deadly butolinum toxin.
