Pres. Nixon Turning Over Tapes And Notes To Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today that he will turn over to a federal court additional personal notes and dictation belts and further reels of White House tapes in an effort to clear up "once and for all" doubts about two crucial Watergate conversations.

The White House announced two weeks ago that subpoenaed tapes of the two conversations did not exist. Today, a White House lawyer said a subpoenaed recording supposedly dictated by Nixon did not exist.

In an announcement, Nixon said he has also agreed that a court-approved independent expert "employing the most advanced technological methods can examine all tapes in question for any evidence of alteration to the tapes."

Nixon said he is taking these steps to "help determine the substance of all nine conversations subpoenaed by the court."

Watergate prosecutors had subpoenaed nine White House Watergate-related tape recordings and allied documents.

Nixon said "there is no question in my mind but that the open court hearing, now being conducted, will demonstrate to the court's satisfaction the truth of our statements that these conversations were never recorded."

He referred to a four-minute talk with former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell on June 20, 1972 and a 55-minute session with former White House counsel John W. Dean III on April 15, 1973.

The White House has told the court that these conversations were never recorded — the Mitchell one because it was on a phone not hooked into the taping system, and the Dean one because a recording reel ran out of tape.

The White House announcements that two of the nine subpoenaed tapes never existed led to a hearing before U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

Nixon's announcement today marked his first major step in a newly announced effort to tell his side of the Watergate affair and attempt to clear up questions.

He presented his statement at a 90-minute breakfast meeting with members of the Republican Coordinating Committee — the first of a series of meetings he plans to hold this week with all of the Republican members of Congress and some Democratic congressmen as well.

Nixon said that since coming to office he has maintained a personal diary file which consists of notes he personally took during meetings and of dictation belts on which he recorded recollections.

Nixon said he has located a dictation belt he recorded on the evening of June 20, 1972, which included references to the telephone call with Mitchell and he is going to submit that to the court.

Ramsey Sees An 'Issue'

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—House Speaker James Ramsey says medical health care legislation will be a key issue in the North Carolina General Assembly which convenes Jan. 16.

"I don't know what course of action will be taken at this time," Ramsey said in an interview, "but it will affect the history of North Carolina for the next 10 years or more."

He said he had not made up his mind on the question of a four-year medical school at East Carolina University. But he believes the ECU issue will come up in the 1974 legislature.

A team of out-of-state medical consultants recommended a few weeks ago against construction of any additional medical schools in North Carolina. Instead, the group urged development of additional residency programs at community hospitals across North Carolina as a means of improving the medical education in the state.

"At this time we're attempting to get the costs on three things," Ramsey said. "We want to know what it will cost to build a four-year med school at ECU; what it will cost to implement the alternatives recommended by the team of medical consultants; and what it is now costing to educate a doctor at UNC from the time he matriculates to the time he gets his degree."

Ramsey said plans are being made to have a forum in Raleigh Dec. 7 for members of the General Assembly "if we can have the cost figures by that time."

He said the lawmakers will hear from the Medical Manpower Commission and review the recommendations of the medical consultants concerning the state's health needs.

Ramsey said North Carolina needs more general practitioners, increased clinical facilities and to retain doctors in the state after they get their degrees.

he held two meetings with Dean on Monday, April 16, 1973, the final meetings before Dean left the White House staff.

Nixon said these conversations were recorded on the White House taping system and "there are references throughout the conversation on the morning of April 16 to the conversation held the evening before," on April 15, with Dean.

The President said he would voluntarily submit the April 16 tape to help the court in its efforts.

He said he has also authorized his counsel to make available to the court three other reels of tape that were not covered by the subpoena of the nine conversations the court originally sought.

"It is my hope," the President said, "that these steps will clear up this aspect of the Watergate matter once and for all."

The President said, "this will permit the court to check the sequence of the conversations against my daily logs of meetings and telephone conversations already provided to the court, and thus further demonstrate that the Mitchell and Dean conversations in question were not recorded."

Nuclear Plants Planned

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Southeastern region of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) announced plans for 68 new projects and says six others are nearing completion, including one in Baxley, Ga.

AEC Southeastern construction chief Frank Long said over the weekend that half the South's electrical energy will come from nuclear plants by 1983.

"One of the big jobs ahead of the AEC," he added, "is to shorten the time for licensing nuclear plants without sacrificing any of the safety and inspection effort."

He said getting a nuclear plant onstream generally takes about 10 years.

Twenty-two plants are under construction with six near completion, including the Baxley plant.

Long said nuclear plants now provide about 5 per cent of the South's electricity, but predicted that the region will pace the nation in using atomic energy to produce electricity.

"The South's power needs are growing at a faster pace," he said.

Major nuclear projects are under way in North and South Carolina, the AEC official said, and the Tennessee Valley Authority has 12 nuclear plants on order.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may propose a treaty in which the U.S. government would guarantee to defend Israel if attacked, American officials with Kissinger in Peking reported today.

Associated Press correspondent Barry Schweid reported from the Chinese capital that such a treaty would assure Israel the permanent support of its only large ally.

But Israel also would be warned that any strike against an Arab neighbor would have to be maintained without U.S. support.

In the wake of the signing Sunday of the new cease-fire agreement Kissinger negotiated last week, Israeli and Egyptian officers were to meet today at the cease-fire line on the west bank of the Suez Canal for negotiations to carry out the agreement.

As they did, Premier Golda Meir of Israel told newsmen in London that Egypt must quickly lift its blockade of the Bab el-Mandeb Strait at the entrance to the Red Sea.

"A cease-fire does not mean merely the end of artillery and bombing attacks," Mrs. Meir added. She was in London for a meeting of the Socialist International, of which her Labor party is a member.

The 75-year-old Israeli leader said despite the cease-fire accord with Egypt the situation in Syria is "extremely dangerous." The Syrians have stayed clear of the latest truce agreement, although abiding by the U.N. cease-fire of Oct. 23.

They were not participating in the talks at Kilometer 101 on the Suez-Cairo highway in Egypt, where the new truce was signed Sunday.

The Egyptians were anxious to get a corridor opened through the Israeli lines to the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army on the east bank of the canal.

The Israelis gave top priority to arranging an exchange of prisoners of war and removal of Egypt's blockade on Israeli shipping at the southern end of the Red Sea.

The cease-fire pact, worked out during U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's swing through the Middle East last week, was signed Sunday by Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, the assistant Israeli chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Mohammed Abdul Ghani Gamazy, the second-ranking officer in the Egyptian army.

They met in a U.N. tent at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road, 60 miles from the Egyptian capital.

It was the first formal agreement signed by Arab and Israeli representatives in a face-to-face meeting since the 1949 armistice that ended the first Arab-Israeli war.

The new agreement calls for strict observance of the cease-fire, a supply corridor under U.N. control to the encircled Egyptian army on the south-east bank of the Suez Canal, a full exchange of prisoners of war and negotiations to determine the Oct. 22 positions to which Israeli forces are supposed to pull back.

Observers in Tel Aviv foresaw tough negotiations to determine the Israeli withdrawal.

Another difficult problem is likely to be the Egyptian blockade of Israeli shipping to and from Eilat, Israel's southern port.

Meets Mao

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met with Mao Tse-tung for two hours Monday night, but details of their talks were not disclosed.

It was the third time Kissinger and the Communist party chairman met. The first time was in February 1972 during President Nixon's visit to China. The second was in February of this year.

Kissinger met earlier with Premier Chou En-lai for the third time in three days. Their session lasted three hours amid much speculation, but no concrete information about their talks. There was, 2nd graf Bjt, eliminating previous lead.

Drop Manhunt As Body Found

LINCOLN, N.C. (AP)—An area-wide manhunt was called off in Lincoln and Gaston counties Sunday after a member of the Lincoln County Rescue Squad found the body of Mrs. Laura Blackburn, 38, in a wooded area off a rural road at High Shoals in Gaston County.

Lincoln County Sheriff Harven A. Crouse said Mrs. Blackburn had been missing since about 9 a.m. Friday when she was abducted from in front of her small grocery and textile mill outlet store in the Lincoln County community of Laboratory, about six miles south of High Shoals. A witness said she screamed as two men forced her into their car.

The sheriff said the time of death had not been pinpointed, but authorities believe Mrs. Blackburn was killed shortly after her abduction. He said she had been shot in the side with a high-powered rifle and hit in the mouth. Crouse also said there was evidence that she had been sexually assaulted.

The state medical examiner was to perform an autopsy on her body at Chapel Hill.

Robert Blackburn, the victim's husband, said his wife had taken between $800 and $1,000 to open the store with. That money has not been found.

Kidnapping warrants have been sworn against Roger Dean

Young, 25, and Dennis A. Ganoce, 19, Crouse said. He said Gaston County authorities would file murder and armed robbery warrants in the case.

The FBI also swore out federal warrants charging the two men with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, the sheriff added, since they are believed to have left the state.

Crouse said the suspects stayed at a Gaston County motel Thursday night. He said they left Friday morning, but returned about 11 a.m. and "cleared out."

The last address listed for the men was Rt. 6, Lincolnton, where Crouse said they had stayed with Young's family. They were believed to be driving a dark-colored 1972 Chevrolet Vega with Illinois license plates.

Sheriff's deputies said two men driving a car of that description bought a large quantity of ammunition at another store before the abduction Friday morning. Deputy C.R. Moore said some of the ammunition was for a high-powered rifle and some was for a handgun.

Moore said authorities were able to obtain the names of two men who bought ammunition because federal law requires persons buying handgun ammunition to register their names, preferably from a driver's license.

Adam Langley, 83, of 1306 Colonial Ave. died in an 8:30 a.m. fire at his home here yesterday.

Fire officers said the blaze was centered in the front bedroom of the Langley home. The victim, according to officers, was found on a bed in the room.

Langley, investigators reported, lived alone.

Firemen listed the cause of the fire as "undetermined," although police said it may have been caused by a cigarette. Officers quoted friends and relatives as saying Langley was a heavy smoker.

Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey ruled the death as accidental.

Set Him Afire

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A white man and his black wife were abducted by 11 black men and taken to an apartment where the husband was doused with an inflammable fluid and set afire, police said today.

The husband is hospitalized in serious condition. Police said Brian Barfield, 33, of Fort Lauderdale, and his wife, Jeraldine, 26, were driving along a city street Sunday evening when a car pulled alongside and a man pointed a gun at them, forcing them to stop.

Another car pulled up behind the Barfields and the couple was blindfolded before being driven to an apartment, police said.

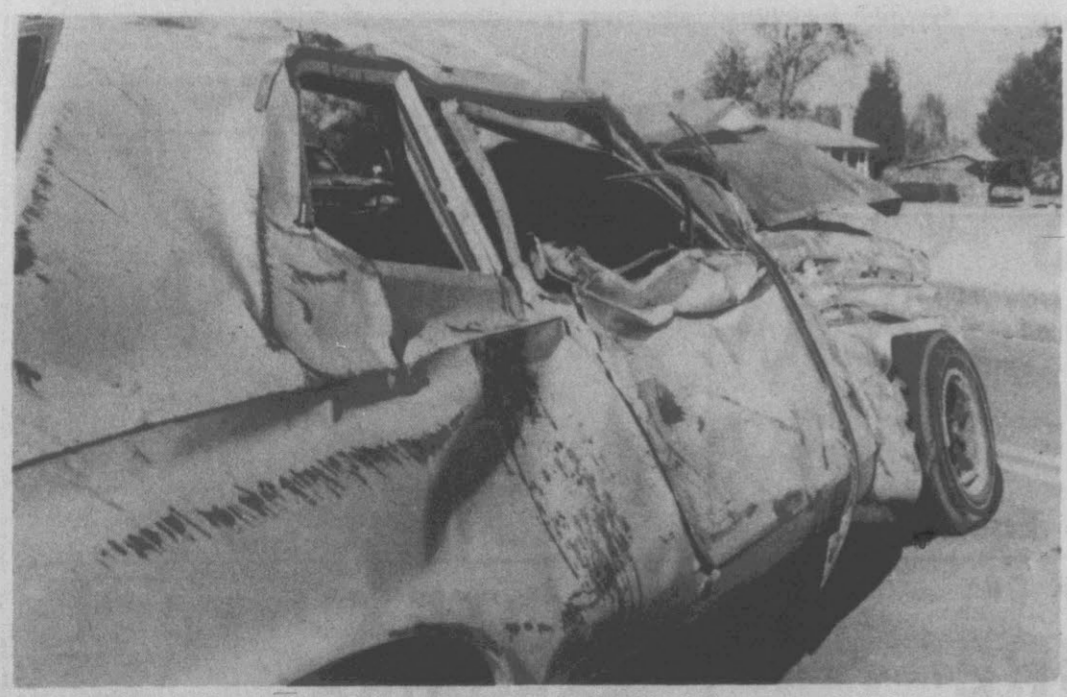

According to Mrs. Barfield's account, her husband was bound with electrical cord, doused with an unidentified liquid and set ablaze. His wife was held captive but unharmed, police said.

The couple was later ordered to leave the apartment and found their car outside, police said.

Mrs. Barfield told police she drove her husband to Holy Cross Hospital where he was admitted in serious condition with third degree burns on his arm, right leg and back.

Police said the attack was apparently racially motivated because of remarks made to the couple while they were held captive.

Big Sister Wants Brother To Mature

DEAR ABBY: My mother was a young widow with three children when she remarried. Abby, not all men can accept stepchildren as their own. My stepfather has been good to me [the only girl] but he's been awfully hard on the boys. One ran away years ago, but the other is sticking it out until he finishes school. Mom and I have always tried to give the boys lots of love to make up for the lack of fatherly love.

However, Mom is now destroying the child she's trying to protect. He can't get up in the morning himself, so she wakes him four or five times and has breakfast waiting for him. She drives him to and from work, otherwise he'd be late. He's refinanced when he overspends, and Mom runs all his errands—the latest being payment of a traffic ticket. [He didn't even say "thank you."]

I am seven years older than this brother, self-supporting, and live in the same town. I would like to see the kid allowed to mature. I know he would, if Mom would only let him. Watching her wait on him constantly infuriates my stepfather. If I say anything to Mom, she says I'm jealous. I don't think I am. I am only concerned because the boy will be 20 next month and he's incredibly immature and irresponsible. I'd do anything to get my mother off his neck. Should I talk to a friend she respects? We have no clergyman.

BIG SISTER

DEAR SIS: Yes! If the friend makes as much sense as you do.

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters who are pregnant and not married. One is 15, and the other is 18. The 15 year old is just entering 10th grade, and I don't want her to marry so young. I think she should finish high school first. The boy is 18, and plans on going to college. I spoke with his mother, and she said after the baby comes, if it looks like her son, MAYBE he will marry my daughter. The 18 year old is expecting first. Her boy friend said he didn't have any plans for marriage right now because he has five more car payments to make, but when he is free and clear he will pay something toward the baby's support. Meanwhile, he hardly ever comes around anymore, but he's been seen out with other girls. My daughter is so dumb, she thinks he will marry her when he's out of debt.

Now that you have the facts, here is my question: Do you think I should give my daughters baby showers?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: It isn't proper for a close member of the family to give showers. They are usually given by friends.

CONFIDENTIAL [AND MANY THANKS] to all who wrote to inform me that the poem I was trying to track down is: "Which the Chicken, Which the Egg." And it goes like this:

"He drinks because she scolds, he thinks,
She thinks she scolds because he drinks,
And neither will admit what's true,
That he's a sot and she's a shrew."

[Ogden Nash]

And the first person to get the facts to me was Carol Ritter, the gracious, wideawake librarian of the Woonsocket, S. D., Public Library. [Woonsocket's population is 835!]

Scones Come From Scotland

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Scottish cuisine is famous for a quick bread called scones—a biscuit (usually triconed) that tastes marvelous with a cup of hot tea. Quick breads are so called because the time needed to prepare them is short.

Scones, like most quick breads, may be made with either a little shortening or a good deal. It's the latter sort we have for you today, and the result is a rich mealy biscuit that is so tender it almost crumbles at the touch. These scones look particularly tempting because they are embellished with strawberry jam—a non-traditional but attractive touch.

STRAWBERRY JAM SCONES
2 cups unsifted flour, fork-stir to aerate before measuring
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
Sugar
½ cup butter
¼ cup currants, rinsed in hot water
1 egg
½ cup heavy cream
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Strawberry jam

In a medium mixing bowl thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and 2 tablespoons sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in butter until particles are fine. Stir in currants.

In a small mixing bowl, with a fork, beat egg and cream until blended; add to flour mixture and stir with a fork until dry ingredients are moistened. With hands, form dough into a ball and turn out on floured pastry cloth.

With a floured stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out to an 8-inch round—it will be about ½ inch thick. Cut round into 4 quarters, then cut each quarter into 3 wedges. Place wedges about 1 inch apart on greased cookie sheet. Brush tops with egg white and sprinkle with sugar. With your thumb or a pointed teaspoon, make an indentation in the broad section of each scone, pressing a little more than ¼ inch deep. If necessary, straighten sides of scones. Fill each indentation with ¼ teaspoon strawberry jam. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until lightly browned—about 15 minutes. Serve warm with extra strawberry jam. These scones are so rich that spreading them with butter is not necessary.

Makes 12.

Meeting Held Wednesday

The St. Peter's Women's Club held their monthly meeting Wednesday evening in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Yvonne Kierman, president, called the meeting to order. Father Spillane opened the meeting with prayer. Reports were given by Mrs. Ludmila Sherwood and Mrs. Peg Hill. Mrs. Kiernan expressed appreciation to Mrs. Arie O'Donnell and Mrs. Irene Hanifer for their preparations for the surprised birthday party given Father Spillane. Father Spillane informed members that arrangements are being made for the coming Holy Year and that he will have more information about it during the coming weeks. The motif for the evening was in the Thanksgiving tradition. The centerpiece was a pinecone turkey surrounded by artificial fruit. Mrs. Dot Schlienz and Mary and Pat Daughy served refreshments.

No Surprise In Hospital Bids

With steadily rising construction costs it is not too surprising that bids for the new Pitt Memorial Hospital came in well above the money allocated for the project.

The bids and various costs for the new complex totalled $18.8 million but the amount of money a hand and in sight totals only $14.195.

This means that additional funds will have to be found somewhere or cuts will have to be made in the building to bring the costs of its construction in line.

County officials have 90 days in which to award the contracts. At the end of that time they could reject the bids and re-bid the project. However, with the constantly rising cost of building, if the project were re-advertised there is a good chance that the new bids would come in even higher.

The county commissioners will have some difficult decisions to make concerning the new hospital within the next few weeks. They will have to decide whether to reduce the scope of the project, or to attempt to come up with more money. Either way it is going to be difficult, but it is our hope that some way can be found to construct the hospital as it is presently envisioned.

Professional Gambling Eyed

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Millions of dollars are lost gambling in North Carolina every year, but worse than that, State Bureau of Investigations Director Charles Dunn believes, are related crimes spawned by gambling activities.

"In the past several months, there have been at least six murders directly tied into professional gambling activities in this state. And those are just the ones we are positive of. There are probably more murders connected to gambling which we can't tie in," Dunn said.

Also, the SBI chief said, he has hard facts on other types of crime promoted by gambling. "Our records consistently show that some of our criminals regularly engaged in safecracking and in many robberies are tied into gambling," he said.

What can the SBI and other law enforcement agencies do about the problem?

Law Is Confused

Very little Dunn concedes. Largely because North Carolina gambling laws are a hodge-podge, and end up putting professional gamblers and Wednesday night poker players and office workers who flip for a bottle of pop or cup of coffee in the same boat: guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine or up to two years in jail.

The result is, nobody goes to jail for gambling. "We are making a number of good sound cases every year, and to my knowledge since I have been director of the SBI no one has gone to jail."

Dunn would like to see some major changes in those laws, primarily a change which would make the professional gambler guilty of a felony punishable by up to five years in jail.

To do that, a sharp line has got to be drawn between the professional gambler—or as legal terminology has it a person who advances, promotes and/or profits from a gambling operation—and people who only participate, Dunn said.

"Just about everytime I make a speech on drugs at a school, this question comes up: how come you're busting kids for possessing some marijuana, and letting all this bigtime gambling go on?" Dunn said.

Dunn said the SBI cooperated with local officials in making 68 gambling arrests this year, including confiscating 52 slot machines and truckloads of punch boards and other gambling devices. Of those convicted of running gambling operations, the average fine was $360.

"That's petty cash...and they're back in operation in a matter of days," Dunn said. He recalled that one sports gambling operation in Randolph County has been hit six times, another seven times, and both are still in operation.

Burning Violation

"It's gotten so bad that when our men went in to raid them, and the operator started burning some of the paper tickets, one of my agents charged him with unlawful burning feeling he would get a bigger sentence out of that than from the gambling charge," Dunn said.

How big is the business in North Carolina? "I don't really know. I know it is in the multi-million dollar class, but whether that means $5 million or $10 million or $25 million, we can't say," Dunn said.

Dunn and Attorney Howard Satsky met with the N.C. House Judiciary Committee Number One recently to plead for a rewriting of state law—primarily to make professional gambling a felony, and also to take the heavy penalties off those who participate in gambling but aren't operators.

"Present law is a mess. If you and I flip a coin for a Coca-Cola we're just as guilty as the guy running a big lottery operation. Now that's ridiculous," Satsky said.

Satsky, now in private practice in Raleigh, was formerly a member of the Attorney General's staff and drafted a bill which would make the changes in the gambling laws. He said his own personal preference would be to completely remove any laws dealing with "players" whether they flip coins, take part in a Wednesday night poker game at somebody's house or visit a professional gambling establishment.

"It's ridiculous to bring somebody into court for a Wednesday night poker game when the judge was probably playing poker that night, too. Even a legislator or two has been known to play a little poker. The idea here is to get the professional gambler...running a criminal enterprise," Satsky said.

The committee, chaired by Wake County Rep. Howard Twigg, will take a further look at the proposed law with an eye to some legislative change in the upcoming session of the General Assembly in January.

Armed Fortress

To illustrate his concern over the growing professional nature of gambling in the state, Dunn described a "fortress" in northeast North Carolina run by gamblers from Norfolk, Va. The house is in a rural field surrounded by dense woods in which armed guards patrol.

Another bigtime operation is located on a houseboat which takes on board the people to play then cruises away from land—and lawmen.

Another, Dunn said, is a rotating operation using motel suites in the Piedmont section where the operators serve food, drinks and continue in operation around the clock for several days before moving on.

Senseless Vandalism Causes Needless Delay

It is regrettable that senseless vandalism could delay the completion of needed housing; yet this has happened in the Newtown project.

It was reported at the Housing Authority meeting that vandals had torn out copper piping and concrete would have to be torn up to repair the damage.

This could delay the time when these homes will be available to families who needed them in addition to being costly.

It is regrettable that vandals don't think about what they are doing, before they deny housing to those who need it.

Iraq May Turn To Washington

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

BAGHDAD—Unprecedented strains on Iraq's relationship with its less militant neighbors, particularly Syria, and with its treaty benefactor, the Soviet Union, may be opening the way for a far more flexible Baghdad foreign and commercial policy, with important prospects for Washington.

Possibly reflecting this change, Saddam Hussain, the most resourceful and powerful figure here as vice president of the ruling Revolutionary Command Council (RCC), hinted to us in his first postwar interview with a Western reporter that reappraisal of relations with the U.S. might be in order.

"Severance of diplomatic relations (broken during the six-day war of 1967)," he said, "should not be permanent. As a matter of fact, there are many countries with disagreements who maintain diplomatic relations."

Likewise, the suave and darkly-handsome Hussain carefully indicated that Iraq's awards of multi-million-dollar development contracts to U.S. concerns in the last few months would not be revoked (assuming the war isn't renewed).

"If America makes a bid better than others, we waste no time to make the award," he told us. "We cannot lock Iraq up in a safe."

Often viewed by the West as Arab enemy No. 1, Iraq was treated by other Arab states as a poor relation before, during and after the war of Yom Kippur. It was relentlessly ignored.

For example, despite the clear language of Article 8 in its 1972 treaty with Moscow—calling for immediate consultation in "situations...which threaten the peace of either"—the RCC had no hint from Moscow that war was imminent. Nor did it have a word of consultation on Moscow's sudden decision to try to end it with a joint U.S. ceasefire appeal.

Saddam Hussain and the Ba'athist government are now engaged in an emotional political campaign against the ceasefire, against compromise on the Israeli question and against Arab

The first public comment on the war by Iraq's tightly controlled press on Oct. 6, the day Israeli forces were attacked, was a short radio commentary calling the war just another "imperialist plot." On Sunday, Oct. 7, a key Arab diplomat here redived this urgent question from the RCC: "Is this war serious?"

On being told it was, Iraq immediately dispatched two armored brigades and part of a third division to the Syrian Mt. Hermon front on the Golan Heights. Its air force went into action both on the Syrian and Egyptian fronts.

So unprepared was Iraq that, pitifully short on tank carriers, it had to send its tanks to the Syrian front on their own treads, some 300 miles over paved roads. Carriers were borrowed from Saudi Arabia and possibly Kuwait which picked up the tanks halfway. Although Iraqi casualties in the bloody Galan battles were extremely high, Arab diplomats here claim Iraq closed a gap on Syria's northern Golan front which blocked Israel's approach to Damascus.

When Washington and Moscow surfaced their ceasefire plan, the Iraqi foreign minister flew to Damascus and obtained Syria's secret pledge to reject it. He then flew to Algeria, obtained a pledge there of opposition to any ceasefire, and on to Libya for the same purpose. On landing in Tripoli, however, he heard over the radio that Syria had accepted the ceasefire.

That partially explains the immediate and furious Iraqi withdrawal of all its troops from Syria. As for Moscow's failure to "consult," one ranking official told us: "We have made the appropriate debit mark in Moscow's ledger."

Saddam Hussain and the Ba'athist government are now engaged in an emotional political campaign against the ceasefire, against compromise on the Israeli question and against Arab

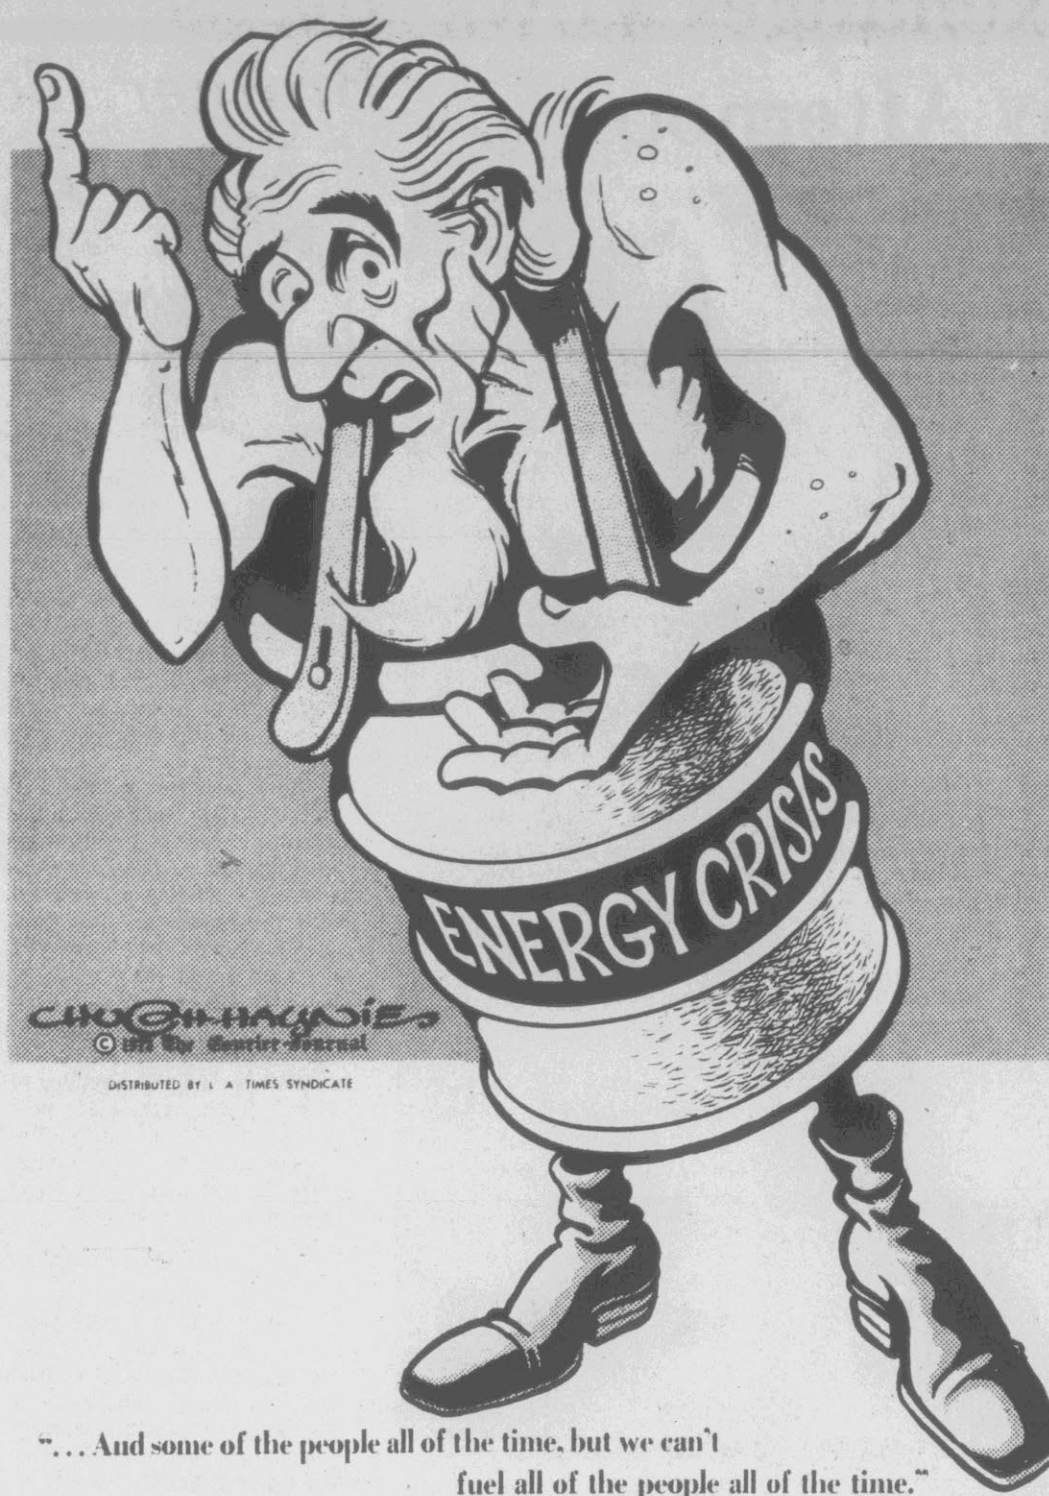

Strength For Today

LIKE BEATEN ANVILS
Ignatius, Bishop of Antioch, was sentenced to death for his religion, and in the year 116 A.D. was cast to the lions "for the amusement of the people," as Emperor Trajan asserted in the death warrant. Yet, on his way from Antioch to Rome, Ignatius wrote a series of epistles which inspired his generation and which reveal to the present day the undying courage of the man. At Troas he sent a message to his young colleague, Polycarp, Bishop of Smyrna, which contained among other things the injunction, "Stand like a beaten anvil." Later he wrote, "Come fire and cross, grappling with wild beasts, crushing my whole body; only be it mine to attain Jesus Christ."

The Christian church has, at times during its life, been tempered in the hot fires of persecution. But the spirit of St. Ignatius lives on. Let us hope that there will continue to be multitudes of men who are willing for the sake of their faith to stand like beaten anvils.

'Big 3' Hopes Dimmed

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unpredictability of premature presidential politics is being demonstrated in the difficulties of three 1976 Republican hopefuls, Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller and John Connally.

All three have been running into trouble this fall in the opening moves of what they hope will be successful White House bids in 1976.

Reagan and Rockefeller encountered significant setbacks in last week's off-year election, while Connally's star dimmed amid last month's GOP outcry at the possibility he might become vice president.

Reagan had campaigned hard for his constitutional amendment that would limit future state taxes and spending. He planned to make it a major plank in his expected presidential bid.

But the proposal was rejected decisively Tuesday, by more than 300,000 votes. The complex issue was seen by many as a referendum on Reagan himself.

The 62-year-old governor was undeterred, however, declaring he might use the issue "to reveal to people how difficult it is to halt the growth of government, the entrenched position that the government establishment has."

And the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew has left Reagan, according to polls, the top choice of GOP conservatives.

Rockefeller, meanwhile, suffered an array of setbacks around New York state. His home county of Westchester, for the first time in history, elected a Democratic county executive.

Other suburban and most up-state areas also showed some decline in traditional Republican strength, while the GOP virtually was wiped out in New York City.

A $3.5-billion transportation bond issue, for which he had campaigned, also was defeated.

In neighboring New Jersey, where Rockefeller went to campaign for conservative GOP gubernatorial candidate Charles W. Sandman Jr., Republicans suffered their worst defeat ever.

Democrat Brendan T. Byrne beat Sandman by better than 2-to-1, and Republicans lost heavily in the legislative and local races.

As for Connally, some friends think he has suffered substantially from the reaction that occurred when it was speculated Nixon would pick him last month to succeed the resigned Agnew.

Republican leaders in the Senate said flatly that selection of the former Democratic governor would split the party and he would be rejected.

Nixon's request to GOP lawmakers for a listing of favorites brought a noticeable lack of support for Connally.

There also were inklings from the Connally camp that the Texan had decided he didn't want the nomination anyway, out of a desire to keep some distance from Nixon and the detailed background investigation that faced the vice presidential nominee.

Questions And Answers

WASHINGTON—The mail has been very heavy from readers in the past few weeks and I feel obligated to answer some of the questions that keep popping up in my letters.

Other Editors Say Fever Spreads

(Cartaret News-Times)

"Investigate" is becoming as popular as blaming everything on the Communists used to be.

The state's lieutenant governor recently decided to name an investigating committee to look into the governor's firing of a hundred highway department employees.

The News and Observer, Raleigh, calls it a "dangerous step," commenting on it as follows:

The potential for abuse is substantial. And it's not limited to political controversies. When will a Senate committee be given subpoena power to compel testimony from such sometimes controversial interests as utility companies, labor unions, trade groups and foundations? When will the turn of private citizens come? The answer has to be when some future lieutenant governor similarly armed with subpoena power thinks it's in the public interest—and in the interest of his career.

The Senate was unwise to give the present lieutenant governor this authority. It tempted him to act in just such a heated controversy as has developed over the highway department firings.

The firings in the highway department unquestionably are legal. On the whole, and despite the heated partisan reaction, the firings probably are justified too. There are more than 12,500 jobs in this most politicized of state agencies. And given the department's record of swift readjustment to every new governor, it is absurd to think that there aren't always at least 100 political operatives and hacks on its payroll.

Former Gov. Robert Scott took office publicly promising to "shake the 'ol apple tree'" in the highway department. He did it, too.

Governor Holshouser is cleaning house politically; not very skillfully, and perhaps not justly in some individual cases. But he is not setting a precedent. His dismissals aren't reason to open a Pandora's box and release on this state a new brand of legislative committee, frightening people with new subpoena power.

Lieutenant Governor Hunt should reconsider his precedent setting move to investigate the highway department firings, at least until the legislature reconvenes. It is a hasty action, not well thought out and not at all debated by the Senate in whose name it is taken.

Reading Wall St. Barometers

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As a barometer of economic and business activity, the stock market's record isn't outstanding. Its needle sometimes points to sunshine and rain follows. It falls, but the economic weather improves.

But when you see those averages mired in the same low range for between 5 and 10 years, you must conclude the barometers are rusty or the weather really is bad.

The likelihood is that the barometers, although perhaps faulty, aren't the primary reason for those low readings. They hardly could be wrong together.

The Dow Jones industrial average is back to where it was in 1966.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock composite is only a bit higher than it was in 1968.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index is below its 1968 reading.

Q—Do you think President Nixon was wrong in turning over only seven of the nine tapes he promised to Judge Sirica?

A—No, I don't. Nobody's perfect and, while the media have been very critical of the President's failure to produce the two missing tapes, no one has given him credit for the seven he turned over. I think we should emphasize the good things the President has been doing and not the bad things.

Q—Why did the President fire special prosecutor Archibald Cox?

A—Because Cox wouldn't stop wearing bow ties. The President hates bow ties and on several occasions he asked Cox to wear a regular tie like everyone else in the Administration. Cox refused and Nixon had no choice but to get rid of him. It's impossible for a President to run a country when his own special prosecutor refuses to obey a direct order concerning his neckwear.

Q—Why does the President go to Camp David every night?

A—Because he can't get any sleep at the White House. People stand in front of 1600

 Pennsylvania Avenue with signs saying, "Honk If You Think Nixon Should Be Impeached," and the noise is deafening. The best solution would be if they held up signs saying, "Honk If You Believe Him." Then Washington would become the quietest city in the country.

Q—Who are the 27 percent of the American people in the Gallup Poll who still think Nixon is doing a good job as President?
 A—Julie and David Eisenhower, Tricia Cox, Bebe Rebozo, Robert Abplanalp, Gen. Alexander Haig, Ron Ziegler and the entire board of directors of ITT.

Q—Why are the press and TV so mean to Nixon?
 A—They've been mad at him ever since 1962 when he told them they would not have Nixon to kick around any more. The press never forgets, and everything you've been reading about Watergate is nothing but the media's way of proving they can kick Nixon around any time they want to.

Q—Who was Spiro Agnew?
 A—He was a former Vice President of the United States who served during the Nixon Administration until he got into some difficulty over his income taxes. While he has been completely forgotten, a few old-timers remember him as being rather tall and a neat dresser.

Q—The Constitution provides that a President can be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors. What are they?

A—A high crime would be accepting a large political contribution from the milk producers in exchange for raising the price of milk. A misdemeanor could be impounding funds so schoolchildren could not get any of this milk free.

Q—Has Nixon's personal enemy list gotten any longer since his recent troubles?

A—Would you believe the Washington, Maryland and Virginia telephone books?

Q—If the President resigns, how much of the $10 million he spent on improving his homes in San Clemente and Key Biscayne will be returned to the government?
 No injuries were reported.

A—According to his accountants, about $34.75.
 Q—No President has been under so much criticism and pressure in history, Is Nixon hurting because of it?
 A—Only when he laughs.

Evans-Novak.

 "leaders" who, in the mystical language of the secretive Ba'athist movement, have ignored the "masses" in accepting the ceasefire.
 Given that hard-rock intractability, even a cursory dialogue with Washington on a political settlement of the Middle East is pointless. But beneath the intractability lurks another mood, a mood that is clearly looking toward experimentation with Washington and toward the marvels of U.S. Technology.
 With stupendously oil-rich Iraq a key to Moscow's veiled plans for a Moscow-controlled Asian "zone of peace," that mood is well worth cultivating, a subject for another column.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to slide lower today, and analysts said worries over the energy crisis and pending oil shortages had pushed investors to unload their portfolios.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which dropped a whopping 24.24 in Friday's selling spree, was down 12.71 more to 895.70 at 11:30 a.m.

Declines outnumbered advances more than 3 to 1 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Board's composite index was off .30 at 103.88 at 11 a.m., and the Amex market value index dropped 45 to 56.06 as the average price per share fell 29 cents on the American Stock Exchange.

Moving against the market, IBM was up 1/4 at 279 1/4 after an announcement that IBM's payments to Telex Corp. in an antitrust suit had been reduced $93 million to $259.5 million and many of the injunctions against the giant computer maker had been modified by a federal judge to allow it to continue its marketing methods. The $21.9 million that Telex Corp. will pay IBM for damages was not changed, and Telex stock moved higher after a delayed opening, up 1/2 at 5 1/2.

Opening in Teleprompter was also delayed due to an order influx. The SEC had suspended trading in the stock on Sept. 7, 1973. But the SEC lifted its suspension after the company mailed a report to stockholders on its financial situation.

Penn Central was the Big Board volume leader, up 3/4 at 4, followed by British Petroleum, off 1/8 at 14 7/8. Telex was third volume leader, McDonald's lost up 3/2 at 62; and Goodyear's gave up 1/2 at 18 1/2.

District Meet Endorses School

The Greenville-Goldsboro District of the Ruritan Club endorsed the East Carolina University School of Medicine in its convention Saturday and each delegate present pledged his "all-out efforts" on behalf of the cause, according to Noel Lee of Pactolus, a delegate.

Lee said the convention's action was an endorsement of a resolution of the Pactolus Ruritan Club drafted sometime earlier. It calls for "the expansion of the present medical school of East Carolina University to degree-granting status," praising the School's policy of "admitting only N. C. students and orienting them toward the community practice of medicine."

The delegates vowed to contact legislators and other state officials to request their vigorous action on behalf of the Medical School. They also planned to contact each Ruritan Club in North Carolina, sharing a copy of their resolution and asking for their endorsement and for similar support of the cause.

MARRYING TODAY

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Baseball star Hank Aaron and his fiancée Billye Williams were to be married today in Jamaica in a private ceremony, informed sources said.

Pitt County Jamie L. "Leck" Keeter was elected governor of the District and Lawrence Davenport of Pactolus was elected governor of the Pitt-Greene Zone, Lee said.

Fuel, Energy Needs Talked By Association

The Greenville-Washington Home Builders Association discussed fuel and energy problems on a national and local basis last Tuesday night.

Special guests were representatives of the N. C. Oil Jobbers Association, Bill Kemp, field services director, and Gerald Matthews, technical director.

The fuel oil shortage will not be felt as hard in this area as in other parts of the country, they said. Ecological rulings and protection measures, plus the increased cost of drilling has stifled the tapping of offshore resources, they said. Drilling off the coast of North Carolina is being considered.

Killers Missed Money

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A funeral home employe has found $5,700 on the bodies of country music comedian David "Stringbean" Akeman and his wife who were slain late Saturday in what police said was a burglary.

Stringbean, star of Nashville's Grand Old Opry and a regular on television's "Hee Haw," and his wife, Estelle were killed late Saturday night when they returned to their tiny home in rural Davidson County following his performance at the Opry.

Police sources said Sunday night that about $3,500 was found hidden in Stringbean's bib overalls after his body had been taken to the funeral home. Another $2,200 was found in Mrs. Akeman's clothing. The money had previously been overlooked by the Akeman's killers and by police investigators, the source said.

Arrest Two For Drug Violation

Two 17-year-olds were arrested here Sunday night on drug law violation charges according to Police Chief Glenn Cannon.

Debbie Ann Smith, and Robert Joseph Avery, both of Route 2, Greenville, were taken into custody about 11 p.m. and charged with possession of marijuana, according to Chief Casnon.

The two, according to officials, were taken into custody when found parked in a car at the intersection of First and Reade Streets.

Bond was set at $500 each, for appearance in District Court.

Two Running Backs Again Boost Vikings' Chances

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

More than 20,000 persons swelled Ficklen Stadium with its largest crowd in history Saturday afternoon for the ECU-Richmond contest, and while the game had the makings of a sure-fire hit, it did prove one point to Chancellor Leo Jenkins. Give East Carolina a suitable opponent, and they would fill Ficklen. One ECU official said earlier in the week that if the stadium had 10,000 more seats, he believed they could have been sold too.

East Carolina can draw, there is not doubt of that. They have drawn well at N. C. State nearly every time they've been up there, and they've drawn well at Carolina and one game was played in miserable weather.

But neither of these teams will come to Greenville. There are two factors involved, one of which is seldom touched on.

The main factor is that Ficklen will only seat around 20,000. That is not enough to bring teams like State and Carolina into Greenville. The money that can be made from such a game would better be played in Raleigh or Chapel Hill.

Therefore, as Jenkins says, Ficklen must be enlarged. He'd like to have that done in a year or two at the most. It should be upped to no less than 30,000 and probably close to 40,000. Then, when a good draw comes in, not only would the ECU fans come, the out-of-town fans could head this way too.

But there is another problem. As yet, between Raleigh and Greenville there is little four-lane road. With the potential to draw from the area around Raleigh or Chapel Hill or Durham or Winston-Salem, there must be good roads to handle that kind of traffic. It's coming, but it may not come fast enough.

We of the press would like to make one urgent recommendation.

Ficklen Stadium's press box is badly antiquated despite its relative youth. These days, most reporters carry a typewriter, a briefcase, and a telecopier with them. That's quite a load to have to lug up those long steps to the top.

And at the Richmond game Saturday, there were working press credential requests for over 50 reporters. The press box seats only 24, and some of these seats are not good because of the design of the box. The statistical crew also take over other seats, furthering reducing the actual number.

We grant that the stadium needs expanding. It also needs more lighting. These are important things that should be done as soon as possible. But for us for whom the game isn't just a fine show to watch, working conditions must get better.

Carlester Crumpler was the Southern Conference's Player of the Year last year, and so far this year, despite his earlier problems, he's come on strong and making a dash toward the scoring and rushing titles, again. It's unlikely that he'll come close to his records of last year, however.

Carl Summerell this year has performed much the way Sonny Randle said he would when he was just a sophomore. He is closing out his career at East Carolina with a lot of style.

In the 10 games so far, he's rushed for 283 yards, fourth best in the talented ECU backfield. He's hit on 78 of 145 passes, well over half, for 1,148 yards and nine touchdowns. He's scored seven other touchdowns to bring his responsibility to 16. His overall total offense is nearly 1,500 yards.

His leadership on the field has been outstanding. Under his guidance, he's made the Pirates one of the highest scoring in Buc history. They've already broken the season record for scoring with 303 points, well over the 269 scored last year, and they are close to the total offense mark of 4,066 of a year ago, with 3,885. That should be broken next week.

While Crumpler certainly has done a job for the Bucs, we must recommend that East Carolina promote Summerell for the Player of the Year in 1973.

In 1969, running backs Bill Brown and Dave Osborn helped the Minnesota Vikings get to the Super Bowl.

On Sunday the veteran duo boosted the Vikings a step closer toward returning to that championship confrontation when they ran 101 yards and 79 yards respectively to lead Minnesota to a 28-7 victory over Detroit in the National Football League.

The decision gave Minnesota at least a tie for the National Conference Central Division title.

"Heck," said the 35-year-old Brown, who along with Osborn had been the object of pre-season suggestions that he be phased out. "I don't remember the last time I've had a 100-yard day. It's been a couple of years at least. I can't even remember the last time I carried 18 times in a game."

Brown's touchdown helped give the Vikings their 14th straight victory and a triumph in any of their remaining five games, or a loss by either Chicago or Green Bay will clinch the division title for Minnesota. In other NFL Sunday action, Pittsburgh beat Oakland 17-9, Miami walloped Baltimore 44-0, Cincinnati tripped Buffalo 16-13, Washington beat San Francisco 33-9, Los Angeles whipped New Orleans 29-7, Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 44-7, Cleveland dumped Houston 23-13, Green Bay beat St. Louis 25-21, and Denver defeated San Diego 30-19.

Kansas City hosts the Chicago Bears in a nationally televised game tonight.

Steelers 17, Raiders 9
For Pittsburgh, the best of defense was a great defense, led by Dwight White. The 24-year-old defensive end intercepted two passes and set up a touchdown to pace the Steelers to their 17-9 victory.

"They can outrush us and outpace us all the time as long as we outscore them," said Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll, whose team was outrushed 195-395 and had only eight first downs to Oakland's 26.

Dolphins 44, Baltimore 0
Miami had a modest hero in its 44-0 trouncing of Baltimore. Despite the two touchdowns he scored on runbacks of blocked punts, cornerback Tim Foley insisted "it's no big thing."

Redskins 33, 49ers 9
Sonny Jurgensen and Billy Kilmer, the ailing Washington quarterbacking duet, provided the one-two punch which brought the Redskins out a two-game losing streak with a 33-9 victory.

Jurgensen tossed an 18-yard touchdown in relief of Kilmer, who later returned to fire two scoring strikes of his own.

Rams 29, Saints 7
The Saints came back down to earth after winning two straight games as Lawrence McCutcheon scored once and figured in four other scores to help Los Angeles win 29-7.

The NFC West leaders held the Saints in check except for a 65-yard touchdown pass from Archie Manning to Jubilee Dunbar, the only completion for the New Orleans' quarterback in the first half.

Falcons 44, Eagles 27
Atlanta remained in contention in the NFC West with its 44-27 victory over the Eagles, who at one point had tied the game 20-20.

Then Atlanta punter John James angled a 46-yarder out-of-bounds on the Philadelphia one and after the Falcon defense held, Atlanta took over on the Eagle 43. It took Atlanta only eight plays to score the go-ahead touchdown and clinch their fifth straight victory.

Browns 23, Oilers 13
During what Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich called "probably our best quarter of the season", the Browns scored 17 points in the first quarter to defeat Houston 23-13. Despite their 195 total yards in that first period, the Browns quickly bogged down, gaining only 18 total yards in the second and 15 in the third.

Broncos 30, Chargers 19
The Broncos rallied behind veteran Charley Johnson to defeat San Diego 30-19 and spoil the coaching debut of new Charger Coach Ron Waller.

Packers 25, Cardinals 10
Green Bay held off a fourth-quarter comeback led by quarterback Jim Hart to defeat St. Louis 25-21. The Packers had compiled a 22-7 halftime lead before Hart threw a 23-yard fourth-quarter touchdown pass and then directed a 58-yard march for another score.

Cowboys 23, Cardinals 10
Dallas forced the Giants to give up the ball eight times with Charlie Waters intercepting two passes and recovering a fumble to help the Cowboys take a 23-10 victory.

Jets 33, Patriots 13
With Joe Namath still on the sidelines, and with Al Woodall getting re-injured, the Jets were still able to defeat New England 33-13 with the help of John Riggins and Emerson Boozier.

Mercury Morris also starred for the Dolphins, scoring on runs of 48 and 53 yards.
Bengals 16, Bills 13
"People always remember the bad things that happen and never the good," said soccer-style kicker Horst Muhlmann after making himself hard to forget by kicking a field goal with three seconds remaining to give Cincinnati a 16-13 victory over Buffalo.

Muhlmann's three field goals broke a tie brought on by O.J. Simpson's 32-yard third-quarter touchdown. Simpson picked up 99 yards on 20 carries to raise his nine-game total to 1,203.

ideas on whether collegiate players should be disqualified after committing five personal fouls.

Their ideas came out during a roundtable discussion Sunday night on the eve of today's meeting with news media representatives to assess prospects for the coming season.

"I think players definitely should be able to dunk the ball," said Joe Williams of defending conference champion Furman. And Lewis Mills of Richmond said, "I'd like to see it put back."

Davidson's Terry Holland disagreed, drawing a laugh when he said, "I don't have anybody who can dunk it." But, in a Elon stands unchallenged as the Carolinas Conference champion, having posted an unbeaten record in conference and out for the 1973 season.

The league crown is the third straight and the fourth in five years for the Fighting Christians who now have a 13-game winning streak over the past two seasons. Their 28-7 victory over Lenoir Rhyne Saturday was their 10th straight of the current campaign.

Guilford, which managed to end an extended string of losses earlier this season, fell again to Catawba 42-0 in its last game of the season and clinched last place in the conference.

A battle is now shaping up for second place in the league. Catawba's Indians, who are 1-2 in the conference and 5-4 overall, and Lenoir Rhyne's Bears, 1-1 in the conference and 4-4 overall, meet Saturday in Hickory in the final league game of the season.

A win by Catawba will give the Indians a tie for second place with Mars Hill, 4-6 overall and 2-2 in the league.

If Lenoir Rhyne emerges the victor, the Bears will stand alone in second place.

Other Saturday games have Elon at home against Winston-Salem State and Mars Hill playing host to Georgetown.

serious vein, Holland said "if you're going to let the defense play the rim, it's fine."

The one-year limitation on scholarships generated many ideas.

"I think it's an excellent rule. You can't bring in athletes and try 'em out," said Mills. Holland said, "The only question is whether it's going to hurt the kid, and no school is going to allow that to happen."

But William and Mary's Ed Ashnault said he was "gravely concerned. What happens to upperclassmen if you have more than allowed? Where can the junior or senior go if we take the scholarship away?"

"I think it's going to cause some dishonesty in recruiting," said Williams. "It's going to be a real bookkeeping situation to have more than 12 upperclassmen."

Perkins And Phillips Play At Lynchburg

Rose's former quarterback Dean Phillips and halfback Reggie Perkins have teamed together again this year to play football at Lynchburg Baptist College, Lynchburg, Virginia.

The three-year-old coed school recruited Phillips and Perkins last spring. Under the guidance of former Navy coach "Rock" Royer and All-American quarterback John Cartwright, the Lynchburg Flames initiated the school's first football team.

For the last four games of the season, Phillips was starting quarterback. After the first game's 19-16 loss, Phillips rallied the team to three big-margin wins.

Rated the fastest person on the team, Perkins has specialized as kick-off returner and tailback. Lynchburg, with an enrollment of 2,000 closed its first football season with a .500 record.

No Further Argument Over 'Best' In Southern Conf.

By MARSHALL JOHNSON,
Associated Press Writer
East Carolina's Pirates will get no further arguments for the second straight year about who's the best football team in the Southern Conference, and Coach Sonny Randle says "right now, our kids think they could fly to the moon, and I don't think we'd have far to go."

That may have been the cause for Richmond Coach Frank Jones' reaction to East Carolina's 44-14 rout of his Spiders Saturday that made the Pirates repeat champions in the league for the first time since West Virginia did it in 1964-65. "It was a strange game," said Jones. "I didn't really have any control over it. The first thing I knew, we were down 30 points and we really hadn't been doing anything that badly." Both Jones and Randle were in agreement on what might have been the key play—a three-yard East Carolina punt to the Richmond 45 with the score tied 7-7 in the first period. A Richmond defender touched the ball, East Carolina's Don Schink recovered and quarterback Carl Summerell directed the Pirates to a touchdown and a 14-7 lead. It was 37-7 before Richmond scored again. Summerell, hitting .11 of 15 passes for 167 yards, threw scoring strikes of 68 yards to Vic Wilfore, 13 yards to Stan Eure and two yards to Mike Shea. Carlester Crumpler scored once while running for 142 yards on 27 carries. If East Carolina's victory margin was a surprise, it was no more shocking than the outcome of the afternoon's other conference scrap in which The Citadel's Bulldogs, who hadn't won a league game, posted a 26-21 triumph over Furman's Paladins, who were 7-2 over-all. Three conference teams were beaten by outside opponents. William and Mary's Indians yielded 552 yards in total offense in losing to Colgate 49-42, Virginia Military's Keydets lost three fumbles and five pass interceptions in bowing to Georgia Tech 36-7 and Appalachian State's Mountaineers lost to South Carolina 35-14. "Before this game, there were still some people who didn't believe we had a good football team, and that's the University of Richmond people," said Randle. "We had to prove—one more time—that we have a mighty fine team, and we did just that." Randle said the job of repeating as champion "was much tougher, because everybody on our schedule waited 51 weeks to play us. If we don't get a bowl bid this year, I think the bowl people will have done our team a great injustice."

The triumph ran East Carolina's conference record to 6-0 and over-all mark to 8-2 with a game remaining at home Saturday night against Appalachian State. Richmond is 4-1 in the league and 7-2 over-all with a game left Saturday at William and Mary. "I don't believe you can beat a top team like East Carolina with good players on the bench," said Jones, referring to injuries that sidelined running backs Bobby Allen and Barty Smith and hampered linebacker Pat Kelly. But Jones was quick to add that "Summerell is the best quarterback in the conference.

I've said that all along." Freshman Larry Robinson ran 26 times for 128 yards and three scores for Furman, but The Citadel's Andrew Johnson had 172 yards on 18 carries and Gene Dotson 131 on 20 carries. Johnson and Dotson, both sophomores, scored twice each. It was a 58-yard run by Dotson that set up Johnson's winning eight-yard TD after Furman had overcome a 20-7 deficit to take a 21-20 lead. "The Citadel just came to play and we weren't able to stop them," said Furman Coach Art Baker. "We did not play as well as we have been, but that was due in large part to The Citadel."

Bulldog Coach Bobby Ross said, "This game sure eliminated a lot of the frustration we've had this year and is sure to help establish our program. Our kids have had so much bad happen to them, but they've hung in there all the way." Quarterback Tom Parr had 320 yards in total offense, running back Mark van Eeghen had 107 yards and three touchdowns and Jon Anderson had 91 yards and three more scores, including a 63-yard pass play from Parr, in Colgate's victory at William and Mary. William and Mary quarterback Bill Deery was injured in the second quarter, but Rip Scherer hit 15 of 22 passes for 165 yards and two touchdowns as he three times cut the Indians' deficit to one touchdown before an interception killed the final bid. "We came to run-run-run and that's exactly what we did," Colgate Coach Neil Wheelwright said. William and Mary's Jim Root said, "We were disgraced by that performance out there. I didn't think anybody could score that many points on us."

Offensive mistakes once again killed VMI, which yielded just 296 yards to Georgia Tech. The Keydets' only score came in the final period on Tom Schultz's 26-yard pass to Bob McQueen. "We were just a better football team with more depth," said Georgia Tech Coach Bill Fulcher.

South Carolina overcame its own mistakes in beating Appalachian behind freshman Ron Bass, who ran for one touchdown and passed for another. Quarterback Phil Cocciolotti scored both touchdowns for the Mountaineers, who lost three fumbles and an intercepted pass. Low Alcindor played 90 games for UCLA. The team won 88 of them.

World Golf Lead 'Surprises' Gilbert

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Gibby Gilbert had a kind of puzzled expression on his face. Happy, mind you, but puzzled. "I didn't expect to shoot 70 and have a five-shot lead," he said. But that was the situation half-way through the longest and richest golf tournament on record, the 144-hole, $500,000 World Open, which now lacks the season's top four money winners. Bruce Crampton of Australia, winner of four tournaments this year and second only to Jack Nicklaus on the money-winning list, was a victim of the 72-hole cut and joins Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf and

U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller on the sidelines as the survivors take a couple of days off before going into the last 72 holes of a chase for the record $100,000 first prize. "The only tournament I won, first place was $23,000," said Gilbert, who scored his lone victory in the 1970 Houston Champions Invitational. Gilbert, who twice quit the tour in disgust and almost did it again this year, clipped only one stroke off par 71 on the 7,007-yard No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club Sunday, but stretched his lead to a whopping five strokes going into the last half of this two-week tournament. The 74 survivors from the original field of 240 are off today and Tuesday, then begin four more rounds of play Wednesday. The tournament will end Saturday. Gilbert was the only man to break par for the first 72 holes, putting together a 280 total, four under. Tom Watson and former national PGA champion Al Geiberger were next at 285, one over. Each had a 68 in Sunday's round, the best of the cold windy day.

Allen Miller, who had shared second with Gilbert at the end of 54 holes, three-putted three of his first four holes in the fourth round, blew to a 76 and was fourth at 286. Bob Menne, Bobby Mitchell and Jerry Heard were next at 287. Crampton and Peter Oosterhuis of England were the major casualties of the cut as the field was trimmed to the low 70 scorers. Crampton just missed at 75—299 while Oosterhuis, the French Open champ, was 78—305. Masters champion Tommy Aaron had 73—292. South African Gary Player, one of only four foreign players to make the cut, was 75—293. Billy Casper had 72—290. Sam Snead just made it at 75—298.

Arnold Palmer also had to rally. The 44-year-old Master played the front side in 41, but got in with a 75 total 295. Gilbert has led or shared the top spot ever since his blazing, record-setting 62 in the opening round. Notches Harness Racing Record

Winner Whittingham

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer Charles Whittingham came to Belmont Park for the $250,000 Marlboro Cup race and fans were reminded that he had won nearly $5 million in purses the past three years. The 60-year-old trainer, who races on California tracks, led the saddling fraternity the past three years. Through last January he trained thoroughbreds that won 185 stakes and 32 of them were in the $100,000 Class.

The New York Islanders will open their second season in the National Hockey League on home ice Oct. 13 against the Philadelphia Flyers at the Nassau Coliseum on Long Island. The team will play 39 home games.

Moving Orders For San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The American Basketball Association has told the owner of the ABA's hottest team to move to Los Angeles — for all intents and purposes. The San Diego Conquistadors, winners of two straight games, may be moving to Los Angeles, as early as this season sometime, following a letter sent from ABA Commissioner Mike Storen to Q's owner Leonard Bloom.

"The letter urged Bloom to investigate the feasibility of a move," said a spokesman for Storen, "either to Los Angeles or to some other alternative. That would include the possibility of his finding something else in San Diego."

The "something else" would mean a larger arena than the San Diego State University gymnasium or the civic arena which hold less than 4,000 fans. In San Diego, only the Sports Arena would fill the bill. But the bill is too large, said Bloom, a wealthy orthodontist. Canadian financier Peter Graham, operator of the 14,500-seat arena, would charge him $6,000 per night for the use of the place, Bloom said, even though some local college groups have obtained the arena for $1,500.

Thus the ABA's letter means only one thing to Bloom — move north. "The league has told me to go to Los Angeles," Bloom said flatly after his team had beaten Indiana Sunday night 102-101. "The league feels San Diego isn't a good city for the ABA. What can I say to them? They prefer a team in the Los Angeles market area to one in the San Diego market. It's as simple as that."

Tiny Lund Wins His 4th Title

Allison led the first 66 laps of the 276-lap race. Isaac took over then and held on until Lund moved into the lead on the 113th circuit and remained there until the finish. Fourth place went to Buddy Baker of Charlotte in a Dodge, and fifth went to Neil Castles, also of Charlotte, in another Dodge. Allison and Isaac started on the front row of the 24-car field after identical, record-setting qualifying speeds of 80.56 m.p.h.

The race victory was worth $10,000 to Lund. He gets another $10,000 for the driving championship. Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., finished second, a full lap behind, in a Chevrolet. Isaac came out of retirement briefly to run in this event, the Buddy Shuman Memorial race. In third, three laps back of Lund, was Bobby Allison in a Chevelle.

The Worry Clinic

Very Many Do Need Answers

Mary McCann and her Nurses Association sponsored my recent public lecture in Pennsylvania. It was headed, "Sex Problems in Marriage." In the forum discussion afterwards, note some of the typical questions from the audience. Watch for my answers!

calories." At this evening meeting, the nurses provided the audience with cards on which they could write questions for my forum discussion that followed the main address.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-567: Recently the Beaver County (Pa.) Nurses Association invited me to deliver a public address under its auspices.

"Sex Problems in Marriage," was the announced title.

"Dr. Crane," Mary McCann explained, "we are trying to improve domestic harmony and combat divorce."

"So our organization is sponsoring this evening address by you as a helpful clinic on Marital Problems."

A large and very attentive crowd turned out for the meeting.

"But Dr. Crane," some of the nurses added, "several women have telephoned, saying they had wanted to attend."

"Yet they now feared to do so lest their neighbors might surmise they were having marital problems in the bedroom."

"So maybe we should have employed a more general title such as, "How to Stay Happily Married."

"Then you could have dealt with sex dilemmas, anyway, without making a lot of wives feel embarrassed."

Headline Strategy Similarly, many patients formerly were reluctant to admit they were consulting a psychiatrist.

"For my friends might think I am going crazy," was their attitude.

Same was true of genitourinary doctors, who patients with ordinary ailments within the realm of the G-U doctor, were often afraid they'd be regarded as afflicted with venereal disease!

"Sex Problems in Marriage" is a dynamic title that appeals to most adults, at least in the privacy of their homes or our medical offices.

For it is an axiom that most divorces start in the bedroom! But there are still many cultured wives who shy away from showing a public interest in sexual matters.

That's also why I often employ euphemisms in this daily column, such as "boudoir cheesecake; and "erotic frank modern age, many people hesitate to stand up and ask an oral question, though they may flood me with written queries. Here are some of the questions that were on their cards:

- (1) Is frigidity an emotional or a physical problem and how can it be overcome?
(2) Why are American men so breast-oriented whereas European males are more buttocks-oriented?
(3) Why is there so much rape when women can be had freely?
(4) Who should be the boss in the family—the husband or the wife?
(5) Why are there so many women here to listen to you address though many of their husbands didn't accompany them?
(6) How about a man over 60 who claims he never was interested in sex?
(7) Dr. Crane, you say divorce can be avoided if husband and wife follow the rules of the marriage game. Do you practice what you preach?
(8) What will occur when young wives have abortions and then later want babies and find they can't have any?
(9) How many times have you yourself been married? And what about your children?
(10) What is the usual frequency and duration of the sex act in marriage?
Later this week I'll answer some of these questions, so keep on the lookout!

Bit Of History On Thanksgiving

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Thanksgiving was made a national holiday in 1863, by proclamation of President Lincoln. The idea of observing the holiday officially was first suggested by a New Jersey resident during his term as president of the Continental Congress in 1783, says that state's Department of Agriculture. The suggestion came from Elias Boudinot of Elizabeth. Six years later, N.J. Gov. William Livingston issued a Thanksgiving proclamation at the suggestion of President George Washington.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Delays and obstacles can attend almost anything you plan or try to do now so make a point to first organize your forces and your energies so they can be productive. Take steps to remove any restrictions in your way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle routine work in a most clever way and then give home and family more of your time and attention. Entertain lightly this evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) It is better to use diplomacy with others instead of pinning them down and you get better results. Be alert when you go shopping.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Not a good day to make any financial investments. A financier is not up to par today so wait until a better day to consult with him.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your associates may be disappointing to you today, but this is due to the planetary positions. Take treatments to aid your health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Don't plan future activities hurriedly. Seek the advice you need. Try to help those who are having a difficult time. Show that you have wisdom.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Steer clear of group meetings that could lead to unpleasant arguments. Keep active at business matters that are important to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct 22) Use tact when dealing with bigwigs. Make sure you handle a credit affair without further delay. Do more of your own thinking for a change.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov. 21) First complete matters at hand, then look into a new and fascinating outlet. Making new contacts at this time is wise. Be diplomatic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec 21) Show that you are expert at your work. Some humoring of mate who is out of sorts now is wise. Don't lose your temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan. 20) Listen carefully to what associates are saying and go along with their ideas. Use tact when a difficult situation comes up.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) There is much work to be done, although not to your liking, but it's your duty, so go ahead with it. Plan new ventures this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to have an amusing day, but don't rely on others who have different ideas. Take in those pleasures you enjoy doing alone.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those individuals who will want to stir up conditions just to make a big impression on others. Teach early in life to be as constructive and harmonious as possible and the important things of life can be met with calm decision. A great merchandiser in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel" What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Solution Bowl Set For Dec.

Over 1,000 college and university students from across the Mid-Atlantic states, including several from East Carolina University, will take part in a week-long training conference in Washington, D. C. in December.

The program, called the Solution Bowl, will take place at the Twin Bridges Marriott Motor Hotel and will be held from December 27 through January 1.

Joe Gutierrez of the ECU senior class, said the purpose of the Solution Bowl is to present Jesus Christ as the solution to man's problems and to offer delegates the opportunity to consider their place in the spiritual solution revolution.

The regional conference is sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ, an interdenominational student Christian movement on campuses throughout the U. S. and 45 other countries.

Principal speakers for the conference will be Josh McDowell, author of Evidence that Demands a Verdict, and Paul Eshleman, a national campus director for the Campus Crusade for Christ.

For more information, call Debbie Lowder, 752-1615.

Pass 2 Pass 7

What action do you take? A.—Pass. You can hardly hope for game. Obviously, partner is simply competing for part score, and he is already bidding on values he expects to find in your hand. If he were strong enough to want to probe for a game, he would have acted immediately, over the one heart opening bid, when it would have been a simple matter to overcall one spade.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠A107652 ♥Q65 ♦3 ♠AK8 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♣ Pass 2♣ Pass

What do you bid now? A.—A simple rebid of two spades is recommended. This is superior to an immediate raise to three clubs, for if partner were then to bid three no trump at his next turn, you would not be sure whether that is the correct spot or whether the hand should be played in a black suit.

Q. 3 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠AJ65 ♥Q1095 ♦3 ♠AKQJ The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1♦ Dble Pass 2♠ Pass 4♠ Pass 5♥ Pass

What do you bid now? A.—Six spades. The key to the hand is the singleton diamond. If partner has six spades to the king and the ace of hearts, 12 tricks can be counted. If he has a five-card spade suit, he probably has both heart honors to justify his jump and cue-bid try for slam. Even if partner doesn't have the king of spades, it is a near certainty that a finesse thru East, who opened the bidding, will succeed.

Q. 4 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠K76 ♥8652 ♦1092 ♠KQJ The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ Pass 1NT Pass 2♣ Pass

What do you bid now? A.—Three spades. Something must be done to compensate for the discouraging nature of your first response, now that you have learned that your high-card values fit exceedingly well with partner's hand. Since he has shown a distributional holding, your 4-3-3 shape is no great drawback—your game prospects are bright and partner should be alerted. A mere two spades would be grossly inadequate.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

MEADOWBROOK DETROIT 9000 PANAVISION COLOR DRIVE-IN THEATRE

ISLAND OF LOST GIRLS RATED-R

♠965 ♥J109652 ♦62 ♠J2

Your partner opens with two hearts. What is your response?

A.—Four hearts. The double raise of a demand bid is a specialized response which promises good trump support but no special high-card strength. It denies possession of an ace, a king, a singleton or a void.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A3 ♥QJ954 ♠A652 ♠A7 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1♦ 1♣ Pass 2♥ Pass

What do you bid? A.—Two diamonds. You should make it clear, here and now, that your side belongs in game. The process of determining the final contract can follow thereafter. A bid of two hearts would not be forcing and a jump to three hearts would be placing too great an emphasis on the heart suit when you have all-round strength.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠104 ♥K103 ♦K653 ♠AJ104 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1♦ Pass Pass

What action do you take? A.—One no trump. You have the values to make a reopening takeout double, but this action cannot be recommended because of your shortness in the spade suit—the suit in which partner is most likely to respond. In this position, a reopening bid of one no trump shows a hand in the 11-15 point range, and not 16-18 points as in the direct position. With that big a hand you would first double and then bid no trump.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠Q1074 ♥AQJ92 ♦QJ9 ♠7 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ Pass 2♥ Pass 3♣ Pass

What do you bid now? A.—Your hand is the equivalent of an opening bid. With a known fit opposite a partner who has opened and then jump rebid his suit, a slam should be contemplated. Asking for aces might not elicit the information you require. A slam suggestion by a raise above game to five spades could convey a clearer message.

Watergate Reduced GOP Congressional Strength

By GEORGE GALLUP
PRINCETON, N.J.

Republican congressional strength at the national level is at the lowest point in 38 years of Gallup Poll measurements. The findings show the Democrats with nearly a 2-to-1 lead and reflect the impact of Watergate which took its toll on GOP fortunes in key elections across the nation last Tuesday at the state and local level.

Nationwide Gallup surveys taken just prior to last Tuesday's elections indicate that, if the National congressional elections were being held at this time, the Republican loss of House seats would have gone far beyond the normal loss that an administration suffers in off-year elections.

If the indicated seat losses are reflected in next year's congressional elections, President Nixon could be deprived of the veto power which he has successfully exercised on several occasions during the current year.

The present standing of the two major parties is revealed in the figures below which represent the likely division of the total popular vote cast for all 435 members of the House if the election were being held at the time of the surveys:

LATEST CONGRESSIONAL STRENGTH—NATIONWIDE (October Surveys)

Democrats	58
Republicans	30
Undecided-Other	12

The latest Gallup findings on the national congressional strength of the two major parties shows the GOP not only to be considerably weaker than it was at the time of last fall's presidential election, but to have lost ground over the last few months, during which time the widely followed Watergate hearings were held.

Following are the results from earlier surveys on congressional strength, conducted in April and early May—prior to the beginning of the Watergate hearings:

CONGRESSIONAL STRENGTH NATIONWIDE

(Based on surveys conducted in April and May, prior to the hearings)

Democrats	55
Republicans	35
Undecided-Other	10

The division of seats in the House—all of whose members come up for election every two years—as a result of the 1972 election was:

Democrats	255
Republicans	179
Independents	1

Percentages of the popular vote cannot be translated directly into seats, but the distribution of the popular vote in the present survey indicates a House division even exceeding that of the Lyndon Johnson sweep in 1964 when the Democrats won 58 per cent of the popular vote to 42 per cent for the Republicans and carried 295 seats to the GOP's 140.

It should be pointed out, however, the party occupying the White House normally loses seats in an off-year election, and this loss, during the last two decades, has averaged 29 seats. Only once in this century, 1934, has the administration in office gained seats in the off-year races for the House.

Other Indicators Reveal Gloomy Picture for GOP

Other indicators of party strength, based on surveys taken over the last several weeks, offer Republicans little cause for optimism.

A recent Gallup survey showed that the percentage of voters who classify themselves as Republicans has declined to one of the lowest points yet recorded, with only one voter in four (24 per cent) currently expressing allegiance to the GOP.

Furthermore, the percentage of voters who give the GOP a "highly favorable" rating has declined from 28 per cent one year ago to 19 per cent in the latest nationwide Gallup survey, while the "highly unfavorable" rating has increased from 9 to 16 per cent.

The latest congressional figures are based on a total of 3,159 adults, 18 and older, interviewed in person in two surveys conducted during October. More than 300 scientifically selected localities were covered in these surveys.

Foreign Oil Imports In 1973 Above 1972 Level

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An American Petroleum Institute report issued today said American imports of foreign oil are 31.4 per cent higher so far in 1973 than they were in the first 10 months of 1972.

Effects of the Arab oil embargo were not projected for the rest of the year in the report, which covered the period ending Oct. 31 and underscored the nation's increasing dependence on foreign oil supplies.

Declining domestic production has forced U.S. refiners to obtain 26 per cent of their crude oil supplies from foreign sources in the first 10 months of 1973, compared with 18 per cent in 1972, the report said.

The statistical report on supply and demand trends was released prior to today's opening of the annual meeting of the institute that represents all segments of the nation's oil and gas industry.

Institute officials said it would be at least another week before the country would begin to feel sharp effects from the Arab embargo. There was a minimum of tanker shipment disruptions through October, they said.

The report said an estimated 6.07 million barrels of foreign oil and petroleum supplies were imported each day during the first 10 months of 1973. The report gave no breakdown of how much of this oil came from any source, but an earlier Interior Department report indicated daily imports of about 1.1 million barrels of crude oil and about 500,000 barrels of products could be traced to Arab nations in mid-October.

The report said domestic refineries processed a record 12.5 million barrels of crude oil a day the first 10 months this year, a 7.4 per cent increase over 1972. It said this figure included 3.2 million barrels of foreign oil.

It also said total domestic demand for petroleum products in the 10-month period averaged a record 17 million barrels a day, an increase of 6.9 per cent over the previous year.

Motor gasoline demand climbed to 6.7 million barrels a day, a 5.2 per cent increase that amounts to 4.3 billion gallons of gasoline.

Domestic production of crude oil has averaged 8.9 million barrels a day this year, down two per cent over last year, the report said.
