New Spending Items Are Added By Budget Advisors

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP)—With its work on proposals for the 1974-75 fiscal year almost completed, the North Carolina Advisory Budget Commission has approved a list of new spending items ranging from a five per cent raise for state employes to a new plane for Gov. Jim Holshouser.

The commission met in a private session all day and into the night Friday, hammering out its recommendations for the "change" portion of its budget recommendation, which will be made public when the legislature convenes next January. The legislature has the final say on appropriations.

Gov. Jim Holshouser presided in his shirtsleeves during the long session. The commission's 12 members include eight Democrats from the state House and Senate and four Republicans appointed by Holshouser.

The major task left unfinished Friday was disposal of the $30 million medical education program passed earlier in the day by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors. It was presented to the commission just before it adjourned.

A source familiar with the commission's work told the Associated Press that there will be few surprises in the way the commission has recommended allocation of the estimated surplus of $280-300 million.

All state employes would get a five per cent pay raise, at a total cost of $60 million. This would be lower than the 7.5 per cent recommended to the commission, a figure that was rejected Friday. Other new spending items approved include:

—$12.5 million for the second year of the state's five-year kindergarten program.

—Expansion of Holshouser's rural health care program at a cost of $10-12 million.

—The addition of 1,500 new employes for the Department of Human Resources, most of them in the mental health program.

—Two new prison buildings to replace Craggy Prison near Asheville and Polk Youth Center near Raleigh at a total cost of $15 million.

—$19 million for new state office buildings. Two large ones will be in the government complex in Raleigh and smaller ones in Charlotte and Winston-Salem.

—Funds for 60 new Highway Patrolmen, a cutback from the 200 the Patrol had asked for.

—A total of $8 million for parkland acquisition and development.

—A new $585,000 airplane for the use of the governor and the state's industry hunters.

—A new crane costing $1.9 million for the port of Wilmington. But the commission rejected a request for a similar crane for Morehead City.

The commission has still not recommended ways to spend about $100 million of the expected surplus. One third of that money could be taken after the Nov. 30 meeting at which the commission is scheduled to consider the UNC medical package.

That package does not include funds for expansion of the East Carolina University medical school. Backers of ECU has asked the board of Governors for $25 million.

The legislature will probably consider the ECU request regardless of how the commission acts on it. It will also hear from active lobbyists asking for various tax cuts and increased spending on items like parks and employe salaries.

Prior to Friday's meeting, the commission had routinely approved funds to continue existing state programs.

'May Endorse' Expanding Of ECU Medical School

STATESVILLE, N. C. (AP)— Rep. J. P. Huskins, D-Iredell, said today a five-member committee of the Medical Manpower Study Commission is preparing a tentative report that may endorse expansion of East Carolina University's one-year medical training facility.

Huskins said the report must be approved by the full commission before it is submitted to the General Assembly in January.

Huskins said he believed the report would "recommend expanding the East Carolina medical school to the two-year level, and enlarging the entering class from 20 to 30 to 40 as rapidly as it could be implemented."

"It would also recommend adequate funding, including construction of a basic science building and an increased operating budget," Huskins said.

Huskins said the expanded ECU program and the proposed development of an area health education center in Greenville "would give us in Greenville the equivalent of a full-fledged medical school."

The area education centers (AHECs) will provide clinical training for medical students in their third and four years of study, on a rotating basis, and residency training positions for the advanced students.

The state Board of Governors last Friday approved the AHEC program, which would cost about $30 million to implement, but rejected a bid by ECU supporters to recommend a fouryear medical school at Greenville.

Huskins said today he considered his committee's proposed report "a compromise" between the ECU position and that taken by the governors.

"Our people take the position that, since one of these centers is going to be located in Greenville, it only makes sense to increase the class down there to a two-year level," he said.

Visiting School

The Bloodmobile will visit a Pitt high school for the first time Tuesday as D. H. Conley is scheduled to host a 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. visit.

Blood chairman Billy Ross said that the school visit is being made in an effort to reach potential 18-year-old donors. He added that the Student Government Association at Conley is sponsoring the visit.

Ross, noting that the Bloodmobile will set up in the school gymnasium, encouraged residents living in the area to "go out and back the students up." He added that "there has been a great deal of enthusiasm shown at the school and we hope everybody in the community will give and back up the student effort."

The Bloodmobile was in Farmville today from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the First Christian Church.

Supreme Court To Reconsider Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider for a second time whether federal courts may reach into the suburbs to desegregate predominantly black inner-city schools.

The Supreme Court agreed to review a federal appeals court ruling that the only constitutional way to desegregate Detroit city schools was to include predominantly white suburban school systems in any desegregation plan.

The issue of crossing established school district and county lines in pursuit of school desegregation deadlocked the court 4-4 last term. No precedent is established by tie votes.

Michigan officials and 43 of the suburban Detroit school systems challenged the June ruling by the full U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati. The justices agreed to hear their appeals in a routine order.

The circuit court, while approving a multidistrict approach for Detroit desegregation, sent the case back to the district court for formulation of a specific plan.

The circuit court ruled 6 to 3 that the Detroit school board and the state of Michigan had acted to keep the races separate, and found no alternative to multidistrict desegregation.

Demonstrators Are Rounded Up

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — Police and soldiers rounded up a number of construction workers and youths today and took them to a temporary detention camp set up in one of Athens' soccer stadiums.

Some construction workers took part in last week's student-led antigovernment demonstrations, and many stayed off their jobs today. A number of large construction sites in the city were operating with scores of workers missing.

Security police also were arresting leaders of construction unions, reportedly blaming them for their workers staying off the job.

Tanks and soldiers in full battle gear patrolled the main squares of Athens and a military helicopter circled overhead on the lookout for new antigovernment demonstrations.

Students heading for the university were stopped for identity checks. About 100 of them were taken to detention centers for questioning.

At a hastily called morning news conference, government spokesman Spyridon Zournatzis said that 866 workers and students, 150 of them women, were arrested during the street fighting Friday night. He said 662 have been released.

The government disclosed that nine were killed Friday night and four Saturday. The Athens medical examiner said six of the victims were bystanders, including a 22-year old Norwegian woman and a 5-year-old Greek boy.

Some stores were closed today and many construction workers were absent from their jobs, but the morning rush hour traffic was jammed as usual.

Curious office workers stopped briefly to gaze at the tanks stationed at central squares. Troops stood guard alongside police officers at main thoroughfares.

On Sunday, Zournatzis reiterated the position of Premier Spyros Markezinis, who has pledged free parliamentary elections in 1974.

"Our mission is to prepare the nation for elections as soon as possible after order is restored," Zournatis told newsmen.

Traded Shots

An Egyptian soldier was killed when Israeli and Egyptian soldiers exchanged small arms fire along the Suez Canal early today, the Israeli military command said. No Israeli casualties were reported.

A command spokesman said a fire fight erupted near Ismailia on the western bank of the canal and another near Ayun Musa in the Sinai Desert near the Gulf of Suez where he said Egyptian forces were trying to advance their positions. He said the Egyptian was killed near Mt. Ataka on the western side of the canal.

Israel had said that it will begin a judicial probe into charges of military mishandling during the first stage of the October war when Egyptian tanks and men stormed across the Suez Canal and captured the eastern bank.

Ben-Gurion Has A Severe Stroke

By JON BRODER
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, who led Israel from its violent birth in 1948 into modern statehood, was in critical condition today after suffering a stroke, hospital officials say.

A Tel Hashomer Hospital spokesman said that the 87-year-old former premier had been "calm and sleeping" since he entered the hospital Sunday after being stricken at his apartment here.

Ben-Gurion's personal physician, Dr. Boleslaw Goldman, said a blood clot on the right side of Ben-Gurion's brain had paralyzed the right side of his body.

Dr. Goldman said Ben-Gurion was conscious and "feeling better" after receiving treatment throughout the night.

"We have hopes for his recovery, but they are guarded," he said.

Ben-Gurion resigned as premier in 1963. After several more stormy years in parliament, he retired from public life in 1970 to spend most of his time in quiet seclusion at his home in Sde Boqer, a kibbutz in the Negev.

He first arrived in Palestine, the land later to become Israel, as a 20-year-old immigrant from Poland in 1906. Working as a laborer at the Jewish settlements that were then springing up in Palestine, he became a leading figure among Palestinian Jews under Turkish and then British rule.

Expelled by the Turks in 1915, he went to the United States to raise money for the Zionist cause. There he met and married Paula Munwess, who died in 1968.

When the British finally left on May 14, 1948, Ben-Gurion declared Israel an independent state and led his people in the fierce fighting with the Arabs that followed.

As the nation's first premier and its dominant figure for 15 years, Ben-Gurion labored to transform the desert into farmland and to forge the strong modern state of Israel.

He said the nation would not really exist until it had fully developed the desert and had tripled its population. Then, peace with the Arabs would be possible, he said.

"How long will it take?" he said a year ago on his 86th birthday. "I cannot tell you. I believe it can be done in 10 or 15 years, but I am not certain."

Emergency Legislation Nears Senate Passage

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate smarting from charges of inaction is nearing expected passage of emergency legislation that would give President Nixon most of the powers he says he needs to meet the energy crisis.

But the bill, which was scheduled for a final vote late this afternoon, could not become law until some time next week at the earliest, since it also must pass the House which does not return from Thanksgiving recess until Nov. 26.

In his Saturday news conference, President Nixon said Congress had not acted on energy proposals he had made as long as two years ago. Nixon said Congress had sent him only one of his seven pieces of priority energy legislation, the Alaska pipeline bill.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., reacted to the President's statement by saying flatly, "He is wrong." Appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," Mansfield accused the President of being long on rhetoric and proposals but short on specific legislative programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," said Nixon's statement was "very hard to understand." Proxmire said "the President simply hasn't grasped" the severity of the situation, which according to a Library of Congress study could result in fuel shortages of up to 35 per cent.

David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, predicted that the crisis could lead to a zero growth rate for the nation next year and a 6 per cent drop in industrial production. Rockefeller, interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said the economists' best estimates is that the fuel shortages will result in a cut of $3 million a day in the economy's growth.

Mansfield and Proxmire also differed with the President on the need for gasoline rationing. Nixon said in his televised press conference he hoped to avoid rationing.

Textile Firms Ask Price Hikes

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)— Two textile firms in North Carolina and South Carolina have notified the Internal Revenue Service of plans to raise prices on specific product lines, the IRS reported.

Duplan Corp. has asked for a 29.33 per cent increase in the price of cotton sheeting. Hanes Corp. prenotified the IRS of a 2.77 per cent increase in the price of womens underwear.

Under Phase 4 economic regulations the IRS has 30 days in which to disapprove, modify, suspend or defer the increases. If no action is taken, the price boost can automatically be put into effect.

Soaring Wheat Prices Push Up Bread Prices

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring wheat prices at the farm are the major reason why bread has gone up five cents a loaf at the supermarket during the past year, according to a new government study.

The average retail cost of a one-pound loaf of white bread in September was 29.5 cents, up 4.9 cents from July 1972. Of that increase, higher prices for wheat accounted for three cents, according to Agriculture Department figures.

When other farm-produced ingredients such as shortening and milk are included, the "farm value" of products in a loaf of bread was a record seven cents in September, up from 3.6 cents in July last year.

The new figures are included in a quarterly Marketing and Transportation System report issued by the department's Economic Research Service.

Retail bread prices went up sharpest in September, averaging 2.3 cents per loaf more than in August and three cents more than July, the report said.

"Following the removal of the freeze on food prices in July, bread-type wheat prices rose from $2.82 per bushel to $4.61 at the (flour) mill level and the price of flour delivered to bakers jumped from $7.18 per hundredweight to $11.21," the report said.

The price of wheat at the farm in September was $4.38 per bushel, based on an average price in 10 major wheat producing states, the report said.

In July 1972, just as the Soviet Union was purchasing huge quantities of U.S. wheat, the bread grain averaged $1.31 per bushel at the farm, according to USDA records.

At that time bread sold in supermarkets for 24.6 cents per loaf. The farm value of wheat in a loaf was 2.6 cents and other ingredients one cent, a total of 3.6 cents for all farm products.

By Sept. 1973 the value of wheat in a loaf was 5.6 cents and other ingredients were up to 1.4 cents, the report said.

Hardened As To 'Crime Issue'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "This will not make me any softer on the crime issue," said new City Council President Wyche Fowler of the theft of his red 1966 Mustang convertible.

Fowler said he parked his car Sunday in an underground Atlanta lot on his way to some weekend work in his law office.

"I was the only car in the lot when I went in," Fowler said. "There were no cars in the lot when I came out."

Miss Helen Gayle Jackson Weds In Ceremony

MRS. ALAN NEIL STROUD

GRIFTON—On Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the Grifton United Methodist Church, Miss Helen Gayle Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas Jackson of Grifton, and Alan Neil Stroud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Stroud of Ayden were united in marriage.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. James E. Sponenberg Jr., Frank McLawhorn served as acolyte.

Altar vases were filled with white mums, gladioli and pom pons. Family pews were marked with white satin bows. Mrs. Bernard McLawhorn, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding.

Mrs. Donald Koon, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of silk cloud and satin and re-embroidered alencon lace over English net. The empire waist of lace, re-embroidered with seed pearls and crystals, featured a low sculptured neckline with long tapered sleeves and appliques of lace and seed pearl motifs. The detachable chapel length train flowed from the back waist and featured lace appliques with the seed pearl motif.

She wore a mantilla edged in the same lace applique and seed pearl motifs. She carried a bouquet of birde's roses and baby's breath showered with satin ribbons.

Miss Donna Kay Jackson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of velvet and chiffon. The bodice of deep blue velvet had a rounded neckline and full sleeves. The skirt was of blue chiffon over taffeta featured at the empire waistline, heavy white lace insertion with navy velvet ribbon inserts. She wore a navy velvet ribbon bow in her hair and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers tinted to match her gown.

Bridesmaids were Miss Karen Stroud of Ayden, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Kelly Reeves, Miss Cheryl Barnes, Miss Kitty Barnes. Their gowns and bouquets were identical to the honor attendant.

The bridegroom had as best man, Michael Wainwright of Ayden. Ushers were Arden Stroud, borther of the bridegroom, Bobby Wilson, Michael Skinner and Billy Craft all of Ayden.

The bride's mother chose for the wedding, a rose crepe dress with long sleeves and self-ruffles at the v-neckline, matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a senior at the Ayden-Grifton High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Ayden High School, is associated with Stroud Wholesale Co. in Ayden.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Ayden.

For traveling the bride changed into a dark green polyester dress with black accessories and the corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Reception

Following the wedding, a reception was given in the church fellowship hall by parents of the bride assisted by Mrs. Tucker McGlohon, Mrs. Roy L. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown, Mr. and Mrs Bernard McLawhorn and Mrs. Gloria Daughety.

Guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Brown, aunt and uncle of the bride.

The bride's table was covered with a pink satin lace trimmed cloth and centered with a silver and crystal epergne with mixed pink flowers and pink candles. Grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Tucker McGlohon and Mrs. Roy L. Jackson, alternated in serving bridal cakes, while the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Johnny Buck, of Ayden and his cousin, Miss Lu Ann Stroud, of Raleigh poured punch.

Mrs. Gloria Daughety, aunt of the bride, presided at the register.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McLawhorn of Goldsboro, aunt and uncle of the bride, said goodbyes.

Assisting in serving and entertaining were Mrs. Edward Hart, Mrs. Jesse Worthington, Mrs. Walter Patrick, Mrs. Roger Johnson, Mrs. Dave Bosley, Mrs. Kenneth Barnes and Miss Merle Reade Moore, aunt of the bride.

On Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stroud were hosts at a pre-rehearsal dinner for the Stroud-Jackson wedding party and families at the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

An after-rehearsal party and cake cutting was given by Mr. and Mrs. Arden Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Buck, Miss Karen Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stroud at the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

St. Mary's Students To Be Honored

Unsanitary Kitchen Has Her Leery Of Cooked Gifts

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: How does one discourage someone [a relative] from sending cookies, cakes, homemade preserves, and other goodies on any and all occasions? [Especially Thanksgiving and Christmas.]

This person is a dear and generous soul, but her kitchen is far from clean, she has a houseful of small dogs running around, and her place smells like a kennel.

I know she spends a lot of time and energy [not to mention the cost of the ingredients] on these things, and we just throw them out. I suppose it wouldn't kill us to eat these gifts, but I get a mental picture of that filthy kitchen and all those dogs licking the cookie dough off her fingers, and that does it. Any suggestions?

WEAK STOMACH IN W. VA.

DEAR WEAK: You could tell her you're counting your calories [isn't everybody?] and to please help you resist temptation by ceasing and desisting.

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of six adult children. When our youngest was a senior in college we moved to a retirement community, hoping to make a new life for ourselves. Our two youngest moved in with us—temporarily, they said. That was two years ago, and they are still with us.

We couldn't afford a very large place, so we are very crowded. Not only that, but we still don't have the leisure life I had looked forward to.

Abby, how do you tell two grown children to get out on their own? I would like to set a specific date—like next Monday.

My husband doesn't have the courage to tell the boys to leave, but he feels the same as I. What's the answer? How do other parents handle this delicate situation?

Perhaps I should mention these boys are nonpaying guests.

GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Say, "John and Jim" [unless, of course, their names are Bob and Tom], "it's time you left the nest, so spread your wings and take off."

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from "FRIGHTENED," who was upset because the oil man she invited in for coffee made a pass at her. You told her most men whose jobs took them into homes were straight, and didn't try that. Well, I used to think so, too, but not anymore.

When we were living in town I let a guy who was working on the house next door come in because he asked me for a glass of water. Well, the baby started crying and when I went into his room to check on him, this bum followed me and tried to get funny, but I got away from him. I called up the company he worked for and reported him.

Later we bought a mobile home and once when my husband was out of town I had sewage trouble so I asked the man we rented the space from if he would fix it. Well, he fixed it, and then tried to fix me, too, and I had another battle on my hands.

I am 24 and happily married, and I'd like to know why these creeps always pick on me? Or are all men sex maniacs?

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: Don't judge all men by the two creeps who gave you a bad time. The lesson you learned, however, is one that all women should learn: Take no chances with strangers!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SO IN LOVE IN GAINESVILLE": Whether he is married or not is beside the point. He SAID he was, which means he wants to end the romantic involvement with you.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Save Energy In The Kitchen — Fuel Energy And Your Own

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Meals that save fuel can save work and money as well, and not just on utility bills. It's a good thing to remember as you respond to the President's appeal to conserve energy.

For a start, let's return to the old-fashioned concept of family meals, with everyone eating together. Think of the fuel you save by not having to reheat dinner for each member of the household. And think of the work you save yourself by not running a short-order kitchen for late arrivals.

Plan complete oven meals with vegetables and dessert and that can cook at the same temperature and about the same length of time as the main course.

Prepare two-in-one main courses—old-fashioned sausage-stuffed acorn or butternut squash halves or use leftover meat or poultry for stuffing squash, green peppers or onions. Bread pudding for dessert or tomorrow's breakfast can bake at the same time.

Whenever possible, use either shallow baking dishes or covered ones for faster oven cooking.

Cut up Food

Remember that cut-up poultry cooks faster than a whole chicken or turkey. Stuffing, baked separately in a shallow pan, not only saves time and fuel, but also provides plenty of crisp brown crust for extra flavor.

Shorten baking time for potatoes by halving them lengthwise and baking cut side down in a lightly oiled pan.

If your main course needs 40 to 60 minutes in a 350-degree oven, cook frozen vegetables at the same time in a tightly covered casserole, using an extra tablespoon each of butter and water, and ¼ teaspoon of salt for each 10-ounce package. Peas, lima beans, corn and other vegetables in small pieces need 40 to 45 minutes, and those in larger pieces—such as brussels sprouts or broccoli spears, 55 to 60 minutes. Cooking time can be shortened somewhat if you first rinse frozen vegetables in a strainer for 30 to 60 seconds under running hot water before cooking them.

Read newspapers, books and magazines for skillet recipes—one dish meals made with macaroni products or rice that can be cooked in a single range-top pan in about 30 minutes to an hour.

Use a pressure cooker to reduce cooking time radically for fresh and many frozen vegetables. Many cook in one to two minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Any combination of vegetables that need the same cooking time can be cooked together without any transfer of flavor. Many other dishes can be pressure cooked in about one third their usual cooking time.

Stir-fry

Oriental-style stir-frying is another quick method for vegetables that often is as fast as pressure cooking because the vegetables are cut in small, uniform shapes. Even vegetables that take different cooking times, such as carrots and celery, can be stir-fried together if you start the carrots first and add the celery a few minutes later.

UAW And GMC Reach Agreement

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. reached tentative agreement on a new contract today shortly before the old pact was to expire, union officials said.

Word of the settlement was relayed by UAW officials in Indianapolis, Ind., Lordstown, Ohio, and Pontiac and Flint, Mich.

There was no immediate announcement here from negotiators, who had continued contract talks through the night. Sources said final contract language was being worked out as the 10 a.m. deadline passed.

"Yes, there's been a settlement," said Dallas Sells, UAW regional director in Indianapolis. "We just got a call, but we don't have any details of the settlement."

The agreement would complete national bargaining with the three major automakers. Agreements were reached earlier with Chrysler and Ford.

Tony Zone, president of Local 1112 at the GM Vega plant in Lordstown, Ohio, said he received word of the settlement at 8:15 a.m. EST, less than two hours before the contract was to expire.

Negotiations continued through the night in an effort to reach agreement before 10 a.m., when a series of "ministrikes" against individual GM plants was expected to begin.

No details of the reported settlement were available immediately. The UAW represents 415,000 GM workers.

A spokesman for the union at the Lordstown plant, one of those listed to be hit with a "ministrike," reported earlier that the local had been told to "hold tight" while talks continued here in the early morning hours.

The union has said there will be no national strike in the absence of an agreement, but a series of ministrikes at scattered GM plants.

The union has not revealed which other facilities might be struck.

While the walkouts could be called in such a way as to cripple GM production, union leaders said they would be called only because of impasses in negotiating local issues.

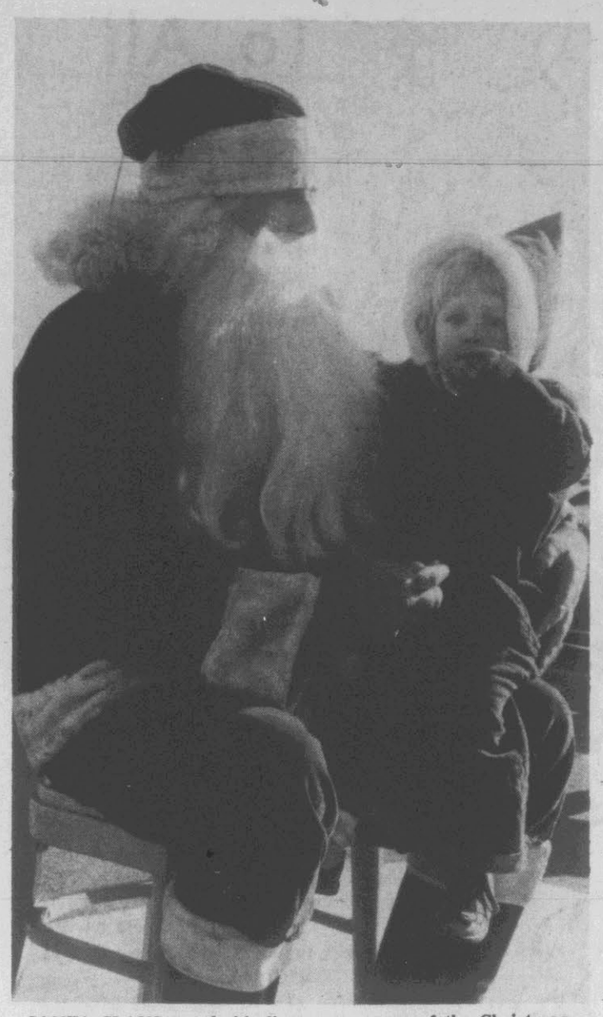

Under the current plans, negotiations on a new national contract would continue beyond the 10 a.m. contract expiration if no new agreement is reached.

A virtual news blackout was put into effect Wednesday. At that point UAW President Leonard E. Woodcock said the two sides were "a long, long way apart."

Among the key issues were GM's suggestion that the union give up its right to strike over productivity standards and the union's demand for a voluntary overtime program similar to one negotiated earlier with Chrysler Corp.

The union emphasized it would not settle for a contract with less than the economic terms reached at Chrysler, where workers won a three per cent a year pay raise and full pension benefits after 30 years' service.

A GM contract would conclude negotiations with the big three automakers. The UAW settled with Chrysler following a nine-day strike in September and agreed with Ford in October.

SANTA CLAUS...made his first appearance of the Christmas season at Pitt Plaza Saturday afternoon. Having him seated in a roped off area allowed only one child at a time to greet him, quite a contrast from the milling crowd of last year.

Nov. 27 Tour

A tour of local farms and rural homes will be held Tuesday, Nov. 27 as part of the National Farm-City Week observance.

Sponsored by the Pitt County Farm Bureau and Extension Homemakers of Pitt County, the tour will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Farm Bureau Building on the 264 bypass, and will conclude shortly after 5 p.m.

The program has been designed to improve Farm-City relations.

Adult Class Sessions Set

Adult education classes, cosponsored by Rose High School and Pitt Technical Institute, will begin tonight at 7 p.m. at Rose High School.

All classes will have their first organizational meeting tonight in the school cafeteria. Some classes will meet two nights each week (Monday and Thursday) and some classes will meet only one night (either Monday or Thursday), from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The following schedule of classes has been arranged:

Monday and Thursday nights—Brick masonry; home "handyman" repairs (woodwork, electrical, plumbing); adult high school equivalency; adult basic education; adult driver education; seasonal decorations (Christmas).

Monday night only—art (drawing and painting); baking and decorations (cake decorating);

Thursday night only—Home sewing (basic, advanced and tailoring).

There will be a $2 charge per person per course, except for adult basic education which will be no charge and adult driver training which will cost $16.

Just Enough Rain To Help

The rainfall recorded in Pitt County last night was just enough to relieve the forest fire situation for about one day.

According to Obie Willingham, service forester with the New Bern district, said this morning that the .37 inches of rainfall recorded last night was only enough to give the forestry service enough time to catch its breath. By Tuesday, Willingham explained, the problem would be great.

"It will take a sufficient amount of rainfall to alleviate the problem," Willingham said. "We didn't get enough rain to really help our problem much."

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending this morning at 8 a.m. was 66 degrees and the low for that same period was 32 degrees. This morning at 8 a.m. the temperature was 49 degrees and by 11 a.m. had risen to 64.

The Tar River level was reported at one foot at 11 a.m. today.

New Ships And New Cruises Set

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seagoing American vacationists will have new ships, new itineraries and a record number of cruises to choose from during the 1973-74 cruise season.

Listings include three-day cruises from Florida ports for a minimum fare of around $110 to three-month voyages around the world with a maximum of more than $160,000.

A widow from Texas shelled out $116,875—to be precise—for the grand suite aboard the S.S. France on its 92-day world cruise, sources reported. The suite includes two bedrooms, a salon, three baths, a kitchen and a private dining room which will seat up to 20 persons. There's a cook and bulter, too.

The 66,000-ton liner is scheduled to depart from New York Jan. 9 on what the French Line hails as the "Ultimate Odyssey —55,000 miles of haute couture, grand cuisine and glittering galas." There are 24 ports of call, including such exotic islands as Tahiti, Bali, Borneo and the Seychelles.

Only 1,100 passengers will be booked, in contrast to the nearly 1,900 accommodated on other cruises. For those of more modest means, the France offers passage ranging upwards from $5,770 for a single cabin.

It will be the second round-the-world voyage for the France—the first was in 1972—which went into service in 1962.

Sailing on its first—also from New York departing Jan. 4—will be Norwegian America's 25,000-ton M-S Vistafjord which made its debut in June.

Fares range from $5,900 per person for the 94-day cruise with 23 ports of call, including stops at Port Everglades and Los Angeles. Designed mainly for long-distance cruising, nearly half—or 154 of 339—of the staterooms are singles.

Los Angeles will be the port of departure for four-month world cruises by Orient Overseas passenger-cargoliners, with minimum fares beginning at $3,105. Most include calls at San Francisco and Port Everglades.

Record Number

A record number of about 350 cruises are being offered from West Coast ports by Princess Cruises, Sitmar, and Pacific Far East Line among others to Alaska, Mexico, Cribbean, Hawaii, the South Pacific and Far East and other destinations.

Hundreds of short and long cruises also are listed by ship lines operating out of New York, Miami, Port Everglades and the warm water Caribbean ports. Destinations include the Bahamas, West Indies, South America, Africa, the Mediterranean and other seas and continents. Holland America alone has scheduled more than 260 cruises for the coming season, including 25 between Singapore and Indonesia on its new M-S Prinsendam.

Also new next spring re 7-day cruises by the Greek Line's popular Olympia from Athens to Turkey, Israel, Cyprus nd Rhodes with fares starting at $345 per person.

There are also scores of new air-sea packages and special interest cruises on the schedules.

For music lover, Paquet Cruises has scheduled its Eighth Musical Festival at Sea aboard the 12,000-ton Renaissance sailing from Port Everglade Jan. 5 for a six-port 13-day cruise through the Caribean.

Guest artists are to include Isaac Stern and the English Chamber Orchestra

China Becoming Major Buyer Japanese Goods

By ROBERT CRABBE

TOKYO (UPI) — The Chinese are on shopping spree in Japan the like of which has never been seen in China's 24 years under Communist rule. They are practically standing on line to buy petro-chemical plants, ships, steel mills and huge electric generators.

It is nothing less than a revolution in the attitude of the inward-looking Chinese toward trade with th outside world. Before the end of the year they may well have ordered $1 billion worth of industrial equipment from Japan alone.

The United States and France also have benefited from China's new attitude. State department officials forecast a few weeks ago that America's two-way trade with China this year would reach about $700 million, up from $92 million in 1972. And Australia this month announced a three-year, $900 million wheat sale to China.

However, it is Japan's canny traders who have struck first and fastest to exploit China's emergence from her economic shell. The Japanese expect to do $2 billion worth of business with China this year, up from $1.1 billion in 1972.

The huge new Chinese orders on the books of Japanese companies won't start showing up in trade statistics until next year. They already have cemented Japan's position as China's leading foreign trade partner for a long time to come.

Since December, 1972, the Chinese have ordered from Japanese firms series of 10 petro-chemical and fertilizer plants at a total price of $343.4 million. A final contract will be signed in Peking late in October or early in November for a $377.3 million steel mill deal, with equipment to be supplied by New Japan Steel Co., and Kawasaki Heavy Industries.

Even China's smaller orders from Japan are impressive. Komatsu, Japan's leading builder of earth moving machines, has closed a deal for 1,190 bulldozers and related items for $44.60 million. Hitachi Electric signed a contract to build the Chinese a pair of 250,000 kilowatt generators for $71.98 million.

It all stems from a decision by Chinese leaders to spur the country's sluggish economy with injections of the best technology that can possibly be bought from the outside world. Tokyo's leading financial paper, Nihon Keizai, calls it "the internationalization of the Chinese economy."

To pay for all their purchases, the Chinese will have to find things in their economy to export. When they emerge as aggressive foreign traders, the impact on Asia and the rest of the world could be great.

"Our technology must overtake and surpass world levels in a short time," said Peoples Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist Party, on April 26. "We have spent many years in preparation. Now our construction must emerge at a high rate of speed."

A Chinese trade official named Tsui Chun is believed by the Japanese to have a key role in deciding on the types of foreign technology China will buy. "We take an especially strong view of cooperation with Japan in the import of technology," Tsui said recently in Tokyo when he came here as vice-chairman of a Chinese trade mission.

How will the Chinese pay for all they are buying? The answer could well turn out to be oil. China's steadily growing petroleum industry is believed to have produced about 29.4 million metric tons (235 million barrels) of crude oil in 1972, on the basis of reports by the official New China News Agency. Already this year China furnished Japan with one million metric tons (about eight million barrels).

"We have big expectations regarding China's future oil production," says Ryohei Suzuki, director of the Petroleum Planning Division of Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Industry. "At present oil consumption in China is not large. However, they will rapidly enter the oil age. In parallel with this change they will wish to export and will accelerate their exploration. They will become much more of an oil exporting country."

Missed Heart Of The Problem

The University of North Carolina board of governors has approved a whopping $30 million statewide medical education program.

Unfortunately it does almost nothing to get at the heart of the problem of developing new physicians for bringing first line medical care to the people of our state.

The majority of the board wants to spend $29 million to develop something called Area Health Education Centers in North Carolina. At the same time the board has "generously" recommended $277,000 to strengthen the one year program at East Carolina University.

While we will acknowledge it is time that the UNC administration took seriously its obligation to provide the funds needed to carry on the one-year program properly, we must say it is inexcusable that no clear committment was made to the expansion of the school.

And what was done about this? Why we will have another study—another carefully controlled from Chapel Hill study, of you please. And for this purpose the administration recommends $50,000 to study the feasibility of the alternatives: increasing the ECU medical enrollment of 20, adding a second year to the program, or some unknown alternative. Anybody in North Carolina who doesn't know what such a Chapel Hill controlled study will conclude just doesn't understand politics in this state.

Fortunately for the people of North Carolina, there were a considerable number of members of the board who are not buying this latest smoke screen. In fact, we can conclude that the board is badly split on this issue with the recommendation being approved, 22 votes for and seven against.

The way to alleviating the shortage of family physicians in North Carolina has been clear for a long time. It has been obvious to growing numbers of our citizens that development of a full four-year school on the East Carolina campus will do a tremendous amount to train physicians who will practice in the rural areas and smaller cities of our state. It is clear that a program can be set up at ECU which will encourage new physicians to enter family practice, the area in which they are most needed.

Public support for the ECU School of Medicine has now reached major proportions, simply because the public does understand the problems and recognizes that the solution is available.

It appears that the power group which has controlled things for so long sees this issue as a direct threat to that power—and perhaps it is. At any rate the die is cast and we have no doubt that development of the ECU medical school will be the prime issue of the 1974 General Assembly. We will soon know whether or not the people—the taxpayers of our state—are going to have any voice in their own destiny.

Medical Needs Very Complex

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Out of all the committee meetings, public hearings and private conversations surrounding the question of medical manpower for North Carolina, only one thing emerges clearly: It is a terribly complex problem and apt to be the most frustrating and divisive subject which the 1974 General Assembly will grapple with.

After all the facts are in, it is clear that the intensive study will show at least these conclusions:

—There is indeed a critical shortage of doctors in this state, mostly in rural areas and largely in the area of primary care, which includes family care, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology.

—There is a shortage of medical school space for North Carolina students who would like to become doctors; too many who graduate from North Carolina's medical schools leave the state to practice; and too many are being trained as specialists instead of general practitioners.

—Modern training for physicians concentrates on diagnostic techniques and up-to-date treatment facilities while a large portion of rural North Carolina, largely in the east, lacks both modern hospitals and equipment or skilled personnel to run them; doctors, as a result, tend to avoid locating away from so-called medical centers — usually in Piedmont cities.

—Rural clinics operated by physician's assistants or nurses are regarded widely as second-rate facilities, only a stop-gap effort and possibly a detriment to finding and training sufficient medical doctors to relieve the shortage in the long run.

A Serious Problem

In brief, then, legislators have learned that the problem is indeed very serious; that there are few if any indications that it will get much better anytime soon of its own accord — or even with aggressive legislative help.

Legislators have also learned that any solution to the complex problem will be difficult to arrive at, difficult to institute, difficult to finance, and in many cases difficult to convince North Carolinians as to the wisdom of chosen courses of action.

The only thing certain from all of the hours of work being poured into study of the problem is that the solution will not be found through a single method — but rather from a complex series of actions.

Sen. John T. Henley of Hope Mills summed the problem up in three words: maldistribution of doctors, overspecialization, and shortage.

What Steps?

How, then, can the General Assembly assure that physicians will stay in North Carolina after graduation, will train in the fields needed in the state, locate in the areas where needed, and find available the schools to train them when they are qualified to become doctors?

A key in this direction, Rep. J.P. Huskins of Statesville said at a recent joint committee meeting, is control over state funds going to Duke, Bowman-Gray and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Also legislative action could require graduates to remain in North Carolina for a period of time, or pay a penalty. "I think a good many would elect to stay. . .at least four or five years," Huskins said.

Huskins also endorsed strongly the concept of continued medical school development at East Carolina University, viewing that as a part of an overall statewide effort under auspice of the university at Chapel Hill.

A Network

In summary, he sees the need for a network of educational and training facilities in medicine across the state all operating under the medical school at UNC. This, Huskins said, would prove a step in the direction of getting the university board of governors thinking of each campus as an integral part of the greater university system.

That concept was cheered by Rep. Horton Rountree of Greenville, home of East Carolina University, who expressed reservations over vesting the solution in Chapel Hill where approaches have been, in his view, in "lockstep . . . under one group that has not produced."

Rountree said he is "tired of regional universities — and particularly ECU — playing second fiddle. Let's get the hell going and get there."

Rep. John R. Gamble Jr. of Lincolnton, a surgeon who is quick to add that he does a lot of general practice as well in his small-town office, endorsed the general approach toward tackling the complex problems as a whole and condemned the rural health clinic measure as "frosting on the cake which doesn't even taste good," and endorsed Rep. Huskins' contention that such clinics only provide second-rate care.

A Best Friend To All

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is time's best friend.

Steadfastly it stands by you for a lifetime, helping to alleviate the wounds of the past, helping to reconcile you to the wounds of today.

It does not desert you under pressure. It will not betray you to your foes. It is true to you as your own breath. Without memory neither you nor all your yesterdays would have any meaning.

But you've got enough memories for life to mean a lot to you if you can look back and remember when —

Only the secretary of the top boss in the office had an electric typewriter. It was her biggest sign of prestige.

Men's neckties were too thin to hide a ketchup spot on their shirtfront.

The average child could recite more Mother Goose rhymes than television commercials.

When they took up the Sunday collection in a rural church, the only sound heard was the clinking of coins never the rustle of folding money.

In the average home there was more dust on the dictionary than the family Bible.

When a city girl visited her country cousins they thought she was stuck up because she used dental floss instead of toothpicks.

One of the ordeals of childhood in winter was to have to take a shivery bath in a washtub on the kitchen floor every Saturday night — whether you felt like you needed a bath or not.

Everybody in the family liked to sop up the chuck steak gravy on his plate with bread even though mother insisted it wasn't genteel.

There were still more people in America who knew how to hitch up a horse and buggy than could drive an automobile.

It was cheaper to take a little girl to a public park because all she wanted was a gas-filled bright balloon. Little boys, on the other hand, insisted on having a skull cap with a propeller on it that whirled when they ran.

It's A Gas Tax Or Rationing

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Having been turned down by President Nixon five times earlier this year for a 10-cents-a-gallon federal gasoline tax to conserve fuel, the Treasury is pushing him hard now for an even bigger tax as an alternative to coupon rationing.

Faced with the Hobson's choice of rationing or tax increases, Mr. Nixon may now reluctantly go along with the Treasury. But whereas Congress ten months ago might have acquiesced, anti-gas tax sentiment today is deeply embedded among Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill. The problem: any impasse with Congress over how to cut gaosline consumption is intolerable in the fact of the cut-off of Arab oil.

Thus, at the eleventh hour with the last tanker sailing soon from the Mideast, the Nixon administration still has not made basic policy decisions on conserving energy. What's worse, it has not yet even perfected decision-making machinery. Nobody is in charge of managing the energy crisis and the President remains characteristically aloof.

Mr. Nixon was similarly aloof last winter when Wall Street investment banker William Simon, freshly installed as Deputy Secretary of the Treasury, proposed an extra 10-cents-a-gallon tax (in addition to the present 4-cent federal tax). Although Simon's primary intent was anti-inflationary, he also wanted to conserve fuel in the energy crisis which then seemed so distant to other administration officials.

George Shultz, Secretary of the Treasury, fully concurred. But not Richard M. Nixon, frozen to the doctrine that Americans have reached the upper limits of their tax-paying ability.

In the curiously detached manner of the Nixon White House, there was no personal confrontation between the President and gas-tax proponents. In February, Simon's memorandum for a tax increase went up to the White House. It came back with presidential disapproval. Simon repeated the exercise in March, April, May and June. Four more times Mr. Nixon said no. Finally, in June, Shultz advised his deputy to desist.

At that point, John Love resigned as governor of Colorado to become Mr. Nixon's energy czar. But though the energy shortage was clearer and the danger of Arab reprisals more imminent, Love adopted no contingency plans. Only did Love recognize the probability of coupon rationing.

Meanwhile, the energy experts assembled at the Treasury by Simon (who have declined to join Love's disjointed operation) have drafted a plan for conserving 2.7 million barrels of oil daily without coupon rationing. Everything from using cold-water detergents to mandatory 50-m.p.h. speed limits is included. But the Treasury's biggest single saving, 780,000 barrels a day, would result from pooling passenger cars.

How to force car pools without gasoline rationing? A huge gasoline tax. So, the Treasure is now pressing for an extra tax between 20 cents and 30 cents a gallon. Added to price increases caused by short supplies, this would push a gallon of regular gasoline over one dollar this winter—steep enough to force car pools and discourage consumption.

To Shultz and the Treasury's other laissez-faire advocates, this is vastly preferable to installing a semi-permanent rationing bureaucracy. The Treasury would compensate the impact on lower tax brackets by tinkering with other taxes—perhaps lowering the telephone excise, perhaps reducing income tax rates for those earning less than

Strength For Today

TRUE FRIENDSHIP

Goldmark and Brahms were two of the greatest friends in the history of music, yet neither particularly admired the work of the other. When controversy arose in musical circles involving standards of taste and musical excellence, these two friends were almost always to be found on opposite sides.

Disagreement of this type is the true test of friendship. If we can be good friends only with those people who agree with us, then our friendship is a flimsy matter indeed. The best friend we can possibly have is the person who mercilessly cuts down our egotism, points out our faults with hesitation, yet nevertheless loves us and can always be depended up to stand by us in time of trouble.

Many centuries ago. Euripides said, "life has no blessing like a prudent friend." He is fortunate indeed who has friends, but they must be the right kind of friends.

There Is A Conspiracy

WASHINGTON—The people who work in the White House are convinced that there is a concerted conspiracy by the media to get Richard Nixon. Until now it has just been conjecture that this conspiracy was well organized and financed by the press and TV networks. But it was hard to prove.

The big break for the White House came last week when Eberhardt Shroeder, a reporter with the Daily Gemstone, was arrested for not revealing his source in a piece he did on the improvements on King Timahoe's doghouse in San Clemente. Rather than go to jail Eberhardt agreed to turn state's evidence and reveal the truth about the media organization which has pledged itself to get the President.

This a partial text of Eberhardt's confession:

D.A. Who is Mr. Big in the organization?

EBERHARDT: Walter Cronkite. Every newspaperman and TV reporter and commentator reports to him.

D.A. How does the conspiracy operate?

EBERHARDT: There are Cells all over the country. There is the White House Press Corps Cell, the Camp David Cell, the Key Biscayne Cell and the San Clemente Cell. Cronkite's orders are dispatched to us every morning by telex. He might assign Joe Alsop to call for Nixon's resignation, or he might order Tom Wicker to do a favorable piece on Archibald Cox, or he could order Bill Buckley to write a column on the President's lack of credibility.

D.A.: Cronkite does this all alone?

EBERHARDT: No, he has a staff. John Chancellor and Howard K. Smith are in charge of plotting against Nixon for television. Hugh Sidey of Time magazine

Other Editors Say Judges A Factor

(The Raleigh Times)

How can you argue with Governor Hoshouser's order setting a 55-mile speed limit on North Carolina's highways?

Of course, it will take you an hour longer to get from Raleigh to Asheville. And perhaps 15 minutes longer to get from Raleigh to Durham. And maybe an hour longer to get to our beaches.

But, don't most of us have an hour to spare for the good purpose of saving gasoline? And, won't a strictly observed 55-mile limit actually save lives?

There should be no doubt about the new speed limit being a success. But, unfortunately, there will be real doubt unless it is made plain at the very first that the State means business. Too many drivers have paid no attention to the present 70-mile speed limit on the interstate highways, and have roared along at 80 to 90 or even higher. Why would those thoughtless people observe a 55-mile limit?

Governor Holshouser's order was issued in good faith, and it is a good order. But, whether it will be worth the paper it is written on is up to the judges of North Carolina, and, unfortunately, recent actions by too many judges have shown that they really aren't interested in enforcing the traffic laws.

Some public officials have been given pats on the heads by some judges, instead of really being punished for violating the traffic laws. And, some judges have given similar pats to just plain citizens who have been frequent and flagrant violators of the traffic laws.

The judges have done those things by permitting reduced charges in some cases, and by granting "prayer for judgment" decisions in others. The prayer for judgment means that the violator doesn't lose his driving license.

If all the judges of North Carolina make it plain that traffic law violators will pay heavily for violating the new 55-mile speed limit, the new regulation will mean something good for all of us. However, if some of the judges continue to play favorites and let some of the offending drivers off almost scot-free, the new regulations won't mean much.

We must same gasoline. The 55-mile limit will help save gasoline. But, if people get the idea that they really don't have to obey that limit, we won't save gasoline, we won't save lives, and we'll continue to make a mockery of our traffic laws.

Economic Slowdown Inevitable

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A very serious situation but not a crisis. An inevitable economic slowdown, perhaps a recession, but not one of pronounced or prolonged impact. Instead, an effect more like that of a strike in a basic industry.

The personal consequences of the slowdown will be felt not only in some uncomfortably cool homes before the end of the year, but more seriously in the form of rising prices, factory shutdowns and layoffs.

While opinions vary, this appears to be close to a popular consensus among professional economists who spent the past week studying, in some cases frantically, the implications of the Arab oil boycott.

For some of them, the oil situation represented a brand-new dimension in economic forecasting in which they felt somewhat inadequate, forced to reach conclusions based on political assumptions.

Said Prof. Walter Heller, chief economic adviser in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations: "At the end of each day 50 per cent of what I know I learned that day."

Told of the remark, Alan Greenspan, economist with the consulting firm of Townsend-Greenspan & Co., and a frequent adviser to President Nixon, commented: "He's in advance of most of us."

The assumption all economists agree upon is that a reduction in energy almost certainly means a reduction in production. As one put it, "An industrial economy simply replaces human muscle power with fuel power."

Based on studies for utility and other clients over the years, Pierre Rinfret, head of Rinfret-Boston Associates and another sometime adviser to Nixon, reached this conclusion:

"In order for the Gross National Product to grow 2.4 per cent we need a 2 per cent increase in energy. For every shortfall of 1 per cent in energy we'll have a 1.3 per cent shortfall in GNP.

"If we are short 2 per cent in energy in 1974 we would have zero growth."

Most economists agree that two factors can significantly change the impact:

1. The unwelcome effects might be appreciably reduced by the extent of voluntary cooperation and economies in nonessential areas.

2. The impact would be made more serious by a prolonged boycott, or one that extends well into spring.

Leif Olsen, vice president and economist of First National City Bank, for example, believes the slowdown could become a recession if the boycott extends beyond six months.

For the past year Otto Eckstein, head of Data Resources Inc., of Lexington, Mass., has been feeding data on the developing energy shortage into an intricate economic model of the economy.

Eckstein, economic adviser in the Johnson administration, numbers among his clients about 40 banks, 40 brokers, 150 corporations and the Energy Policy Committee itself. He has just completed his latest printouts.

"We had already forecast a soft landing for the economy," said Eckstein, referring to the descent from a three-year boom. That soft landing would have meant 2.5 per cent growth. Now he has lowered it to 1 per cent.

In other words, he continues to foresee growth, but of a lesser degree. And accompanying it he sees a sharp jump in prices. Instead of 6.2 per cent inflation he now foresees an annual rate of more than 7 per cent. More encouraging, according to Eckstein the rate should fall below as conditions improve during the year. But at the beginning of 1974 he sees prices jumping by as much as 8 or 9 per cent on an annual basis.

Farm Scene

By EDWIN L. YANCEY

Taxes on Farmland are gonna be lower!!! Maybe! If your farmland is eligible. And if you make application.

The 1973 General Assembly of North Carolina ratified legislation that allows farmland to be taxed according to use value rather than the market value now used. The purpose of the act is to give relief to bona fide owners of farms, horticultural and forest land where nearby urban and industrial uses are forcing values higher. Qualifications for tax relief is not simple and not automatic.

In all cases, the land must be (1) individually owned (natural person or persons, but not a corporation), and (2) soundly managed. In addition, basic conditions must be met regarding (3) minimum acreage, (4) minimum product sales, and (5) residence or ownership.

There is a five year roll back provision in the law. That is the taxes are only deferred. Should use change to a non-qualifying category, then back taxes plus interest are payable. For example, a change in use from farming, horticulture or forestry or a change in title through inheritance, gift or sale will result in loss of the use value status and deferred taxes plus interest will be due.

The property owner must annually submit an application to the county tax supervisor during the regular listing period if the property is to be considered for the special assessment. The county tax supervisor will then determine if the property qualifies.

An extension leaflet has been prepared to give you more detailed information on this subject. You can get your copy by contaeting the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Office.

Strawberries For The Garden

If you want to enjoy fresh fruit from your back yard, then plant a few strawberry plants. About 100 plants will be right for the average family. Now is the time to set them out.

Homes gardeners should set plants 12 inches apart in double rows. Leave 2½ to 3½ feet between rows. Fertilizer should be broadcast two weeks before planting. Use 4 pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer for each 100 feet of row.

Plants set in November or December need nitrogen a month after setting and again in March. About one teaspoonful per plant of 16 per cent Nitrogen material (or its equivalent) should be used each time. Berries For The Garden is an Extension bulletin that gives full details for the successful culture of strawberries, blueberries, blackberries and raspberries. You can get a copy from the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service located at 203 West Third Street. Telephone 758-1196.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Birds are man's fine feathered friends, but just so long as they stay in their place. The corn field, the berry patch and the vineyard are out of bounds!

In the fall of year when the grapes are beginning to ripen, the bird problem becomes more noticeable, and the search begins for ways to discourage the birds from eating the fruit.

One of the best approaches to the problem for the home gardener is the passive approach. That is, grow enough for you and the birds too.

If you're not so inclined, here are some tips from Joe Brooks, extension horticultural specialist at North Carolina State University:

First, the vineyard shouldn't be located close to trees or wooded areas. The birds favorite ploy is to make a quick steal from the trellis and flit back to the protection of a high branch to eat. There isn't much you can do about location for your present crop, but it is something to keep in mind when planning the next planting.

When extensive damage occurs away from bordering trees, it is usually a result of too little foliage on the vine. Proper pruning and application of fertilizer will increase the amount of foliage and help protect the grapes from the birds.

Then, if you really want to take a militant stance, scaring devices might be used. Choose the automatic acetylene exploder, rope firecrackers or shell crackers. In any case, make sure the neighbors like grapes and be willing to share with them at harvest time!

The exploder ignites acetylene gas to produce loud explosions at regular intervals. The rope firecrackers are made by inserting the fuses of firecrackers at intervals in a slow burning fuse rope. And the shell crackers are shotgun shells that propel a kingsized firecracker 100 yards or more before it explodes, thus providing two bird-frightening explosions.

When the devices are used, they should be put into service early at the first sign of bird activity and operated from dawn to dark. They should also be moved frequently so that birds won't become accustomed to the noise coming from the same place.

These devices, obviously, can't be used in heavily populated areas and are limited in their use, for all practical purposes, to commercial vineyards.

Also, Brooks reminds grape growers that there are laws concerning birds, firearms and fireworks.

Fall is here and with it the beginning of the best season of the year to transplant ornamental trees and shrubs. Just be certain to wait at least until the plants are dormant before starting.

Evergreens can be transplanted earlier in the fall and later in the spring than deciduous plants, according to North Carolina State University horticulturists. Deciduous trees should be moved only after their leaves turn color and drop off.

Here are some other suggestions that may help you enjoy a higher survival rate with the trees and shrubs that are transplanted this season:

Select the planting site carefully. Consider not only where a plant would look good, but also where it will grow most successfully. Make sure that your plant can adapt to any changes in sun, shade, wind exposure and soil moisture.

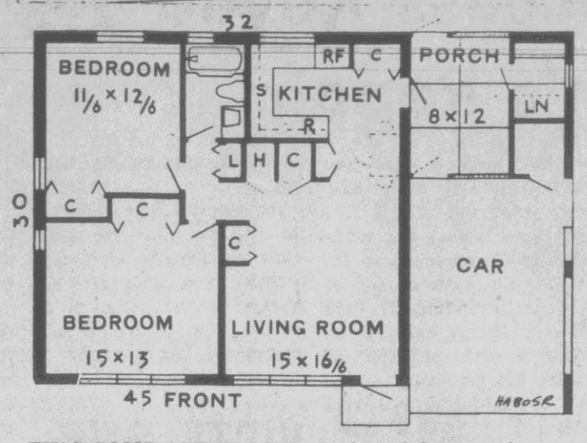

Provide enough space above and below the ground to allow for future spreading and growth of the top and roots of the plant. Later, crowding may deform it, stunt its growth or eventually kill it.

When digging up a deciduous tree or shrub, avoid injuring as many roots as possible. Any extra soil taken up with the roots will help to retain the fine "hair" roots which absorb moisture.

Evergreens must have a lot of soil around the roots and should be taken up with a ball of soil. Deciduous plants should have this rootball also, if the trunk diameter is greater than three inches or if they are considered difficult to transplant—such as dogwoods and magnolias.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS COMPACT PLAN is designed for maximum economy of construction and greatest livability. Yet all major rooms are comfortably large and provided with ample storage space and floor-to-ceiling closets. There is back-to-back plumbing to achieve maximum efficiency at lowest possible cost. There are no windows between the living room and carport which means that the carport may be enclosed into a regular garage. Adjacent to the 8 by 12 screened porch are two compartments, a laundry room and a garden tool storage accessible directly from the carport. This is a masonry house built directly on grade. No major windows face the side, a plus for the owner of a narrow lot who wishes visual and acoustical privacy. There are 960 square feet in Plan HA805R which was designed by Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd Street North, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33710. Anyone wishing to know the price of the blueprint can write to the architect, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At Least Ten Die In Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 10 people were killed in North Carolina weekend traffic accidents, the state Highway Patrol reported today.

The deaths brought to 1,660 the state's highway toll for this year. That is 83 fewer than were killed during the comparable period of 1972, the patrol said.

A Wilmington man and his wife were killed Sunday evening in a two-car collision on U.S. 421 just north of Carolina Beach. The dead were identified as Russell Thornton, 63, and his wife, Louise, 53. Three other persons in the second vehicle also were hurt.

Susan D. Glenn, 6, of Camp Lejeune, died in an accident at an intersection of N.C. 24 near Jacksonville. Police said the car she was riding in was struck by a sheriff's car at the intersection.

Two persons were killed when a car collided with a farm tractor in Granville County, the patrol said. The victims were Clyde Winston Rhew, 57, and Lilliam Gates Rhew, 52, both of Rt. 3, Hillsborough. The accident occurred on old highway 75 just south of Stem.

Keith James Kennedy, 15, of State Road, was killed in Surry County when the car he was in ran off a rural road seven miles north of Elkin and hit a tree, the patrol said.

Willie Martin Jr., 19, of Durham, was killed when the car he was in ran off Interstate 85 just north of Graham in Alamance County and hit a bridge.

Arland Wilkins Downs, 37, of Rt. 2, Mount Olive, died when the car she was driving collided with another vehicle on a rural road west of Faison in Duplin County.

Mary Price Coor, 57, of Rt. 3, Dudley, was killed when she was struck by a vehicle on a rural road in Wayne County two miles north of Dudley.

A Polkton man, Lester Windfield, was fatally injured when struck by a hit-and-run vehicle in his hometown in Anson County, the patrol said.

The Associated Press counts weekend traffic fatalities in North Carolina from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Sunday.

Chosen For State Post

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser has appointed General Electric executive Scott Harvey of Arden his new Secretary of Commerce.

Holshouser announced the Harvey appointment Sunday. Included with it was a reshuffling of several middle level appointees.

Acting Secretary of Commerce Laney Funderburke becomes Holshouser's special assistant for appointments and Hugh Barnes becomes director of field services in the Department of Transportation.

The chain of events started last week when Holshouser named Tenney I. Deane Jr. to the State Utilities Commission, leaving the vacancy Harvey assumed Sunday.

Harvey, 50, is a date processing executive with GE's plant in Hendersonville. He was the unsuccessful GOP candidate for Congress from the 11th District in 1966 and 1968 and he ran Holshouser's Buncombe County campaign last year.

Harvey is a native of Kansas. He will be paid $28,850 in his new post.

Funderburke, 35, has been Deputy Secretary of Commerce since early this year. He came to the administration from a job in the Duke University Alumni Association.

MINERAL SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Geological Survey reports that in addition to the nation's other shortages many minerals that are essential to industry are also in short supply.

In critically short supply are ores of aluminum, chromium, manganese, mercury, silver, tungsten, asbestos and nickel. Joining the critical list soon will be lead, zinc, titanium, uranium, barite and high quality clays.

D.A.: Who puts up the money for the conspiracy?

EBERHARDT: Walter Cronkite pays for most of it out of his own pocket. Our newspapers and television stations might chip in if we have to fly to Key Biscayne and get the good on Bebe Rebozo, or to L.A. to find out what gives at San Clemente. We also get financing from the Ford Foundation, the Brookings Institute and Masters and Johnson.

D.A.: How did you use Watergate to embarrass Nixon?

EBERHARDT: We made the whole thing up. There is no James McCord, Jeb Magruder, John Mitchell, Maurice Stans or G. Gordon Liddy. We concocted the whole thing.

D.A.: Including the resignation of Spiro Agnew?

EBERHARDT: Yup. We take full credit for that one.

D.A.: Why Agnew? He had nothing to do with Watergate.

EBERHARDT: I guess we just got carried away.

D.A.: What about the President's tapes?

EBERHARDT: We made that up, too. It really threw the White House for a loop. We didn't know they had any tapes at the time. But it turned out they did. When they revealed that some tapes were missing, they played right into our hands. It was quite a coup for us. Cronkite sent out a "well done" telegram to everyone.

D.A.: It's obvious you people are well organized.

EBERHARDT: We have to be if we're going to be members of the press—any breakdown in discipline and the White House could get the upper hand.

D. A.: Suppose a newspaper man or TV commentator won't play ball?

EBERHARDT: Cronkite puts out a contract on him. We bring in reporters from the Chicago newspapers and take the guy for a ride along the Potomac River. It's all very neat and clean.

D.A.: Well thank you very much. This documents what the White House has been saying all along.

EBERHARDT: Hey, what about me? Now that I've blown the whistle on the conspiracy my life isn't worth yesterday's Wall Street Journal.

D. A.: Don't worry, we'll give you 24-hour protection and find a job for you.

EBERHARDT: Doing what?

D. A.: How would you like to be a Nixon speechwriter?

$15,000 a year

Inside the administration it is believed Mr. Nixon has belatedly come to realize that bitter medicine—higher taxes or coupon rationing—is essential. Counting on the President's allergy to rationing, dating from his World War II experience as an OPA (Office of Price Administration) bureaucrat, the Treasury is betting he will take the tax route.

But it may be too late, considering the mood on Capitol Hill. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, just returned after back surgery, is inclined against higher gas taxes. So is Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon, acting as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in Mills's absence. Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, top Senate spokesman on energy questions, vigorously prefers rationing over taxes.

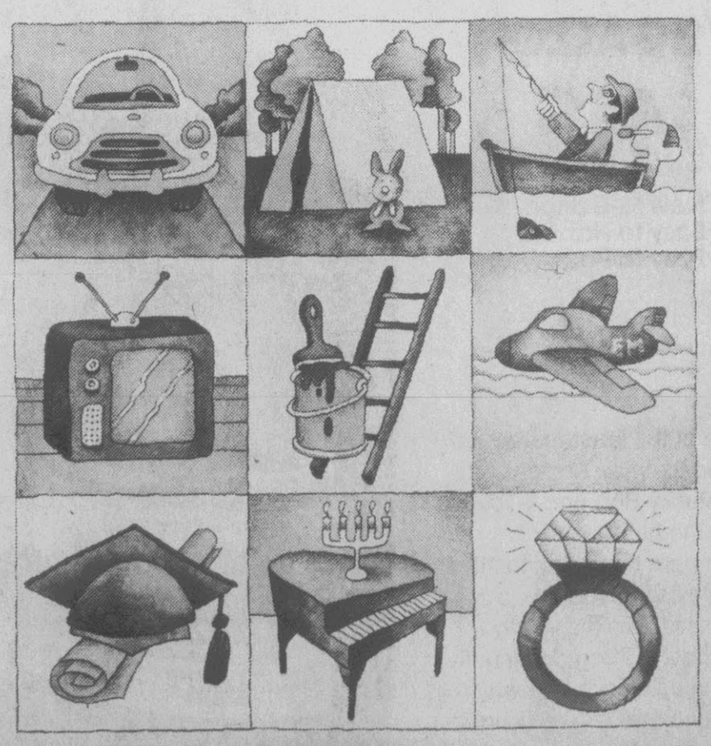

Besides, no tax increase has yet been approved at the White House, where decision-making remains glacial despite the crisis. Proposals to the President must be funneled through his chief of staff, the overworked Alexander Haig. Energy czar Love refuses to take command. The identical condition that produced inaction as the energy crisis approached inhibits rapid action now that the crisis is here.

Ingram Eyes On Discrimination

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina Insurance Commissioner John Ingram says his next goal in office is to "zero in" on what he calls discrimination in automobile insurance rates against youthful and older drivers.

Ingram, appearing on WXII-TV's "Report to the People" program Sunday, also said abolition of the assigned risk auto liability insurance plan and its replacement with a reinsurance plan was the greatest accomplishment of his first year in office.

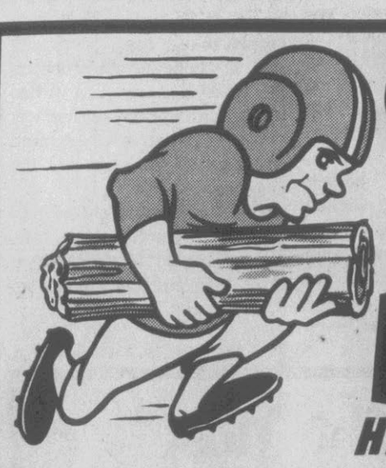

He also said his department is seeking to curb the amount of money insurance companies can deduct for advertising as an "overhead" expense when seeking rate adjustments.

Nixon Takes Underdog Role In Credibility Fight

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's 1973 campaign to put Watergate behind him once and forever has begun in earnest with the embattled President embracing the role of underdog.

After holding an unorthodox live television-radio news conference Saturday in which he felt compelled to assure his fellow citizens that "I am not a crook," Nixon made a flying trip to politically friendly Georgia Sunday that had all the earmarks of a quest for votes.

Resorting to the sort of regional appeal beloved by politicians, Nixon paid tribute to the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League as "the comeback team of 1973" because it won five straight games after opening the season with one win and three losses. Perhaps, he mused to a Macon audience, he should talk to Falcon coach Norm Van Brocklin "and find out how they did it."

Although the Macon stop produced a sometimes-noisy demonstration by several hundred young people who chanted for resignation or impeachment, the large crowds of Georgians who turned out were generally friendly, if far less enthusiastic than most campaign gatherings.

After a week of private huddles in Washington with congressional Republicans and selected southern Democrats, Nixon has gone public with a Watergate counterattack that is expected to produce more public appearances, sessions with the news media and presidential statements.

Nixon's decision to go marching through Georgia, officially to honor the 90th birthday of retired Democratic Rep. Carl Vinson and the 100th anniversary of the Mercer University Law School, was made within recent days.

In similar fashion, the President gave little advance notice of his Saturday TV-radio appearance at the Disney World, Fla., convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Both stops, plus a Tuesday stopover at a Republican governors conference in Memphis en route back to Washington, were fitted quickly into the blueprint for Nixon's most ambitious effort yet to dispel the Watergate cloud that has enveloped him.

The President drew his biggest crowd, generously estimated at up to 20,000, upon arrival Sunday at Robins Air Force Base near Macon. After being presented with petitions of support bearing 37,000 signatures, Nixon made a stump speech that, in parts, was a carbon copy of some he delivered during the 1972 campaign that won him a landslide victory. For instance:

"Let me tell you that, because we have opened communication with countries that we completely disagree with in philosophy, the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union, I believe that we can build a peace that will last, not just 10 years, but will last for a generation and more ..."

For the President, the weekend's big event, however, was the Saturday appearance at the APME convention. There he declared to his TV-radio audience:

"I made my mistakes, but in all my years of public life, I have never profited from public service. I have earned every cent. And in all my years of public life, I have never obstructed justice ...

"People have got to know whether or not their president is a crook. Well, I am not a crook ..."

Giving his version of some of the most controversial Watergate-related matters, in response to questions from the assembled editors, Nixon acknowledged for the first time he paid nominal federal income taxes — apparently less than $1,060 — in 1970 and 1971. But he said his 1969 taxes were $79,000.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson advised him, said Nixon, to donate his vice presidential papers to the government and claim tax deductions for their appraised value, a practice formerly permitted but now barred. Nixon said he acted before the ban went into effect and "no question has been raised by the Internal Revenue about it ..."

Nixon said again, at the outset of the news conference, that he will not resign "as long as I am physically able to handle the position ..."

At the end the President urged the TV networks to let the broadcast continue past the scheduled hour — and it did — so he could answer suggestions he hiked milk price supports in return for campaign contributions.

Nixon argued that congressional Democrats were the driving force for higher milk supports and contended his administration was getting "a bad rap."

Discussing the absence of recordings for two Watergate-related conversations, Nixon said he was providing other tapes and documents "to provide the evidence that would have existed had we found the tapes."

Nixon acknowledged he once ordered Secret Service wiretapping and surveillance of his brother, Donald, and suggested without elaboration that foreign interests might have been trying to exert "improper influence" through Donald Nixon. He said his brother became aware of the surveillance and, upon being given an explanation, approved of it.

Skylab Mission Success Keyed To Cooling System's Repair

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Space officials say that if a space station cooling system cannot be revitalized, the Skylab 3 astronauts' planned record flight might have to be cut short.

Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson brought from earth a repair kit to fill the leaky refrigeration loop with a fluid called Coolanol. They were to punch a hole in a service line this afternoon and attach a container of the fluid.

The space agency said Saturday night that Alan B. Shepard, chief of the astronaut office, had reprimanded commander Carr for an attempt by the spacemen to conceal that one of them had been sick.

Shepard told Carr his action was "a fairly serious error in judgment." Carr replied, "Okay, I agree with you. It was a dumb decision."

For the last two days, the astronauts have been activating Skylab systems and moving several hundred pounds of film, recording tape and tools from the Apollo ferry ship into the 118-foot-long station.

They also started medical experiments that will continue throughout their planned 84-day flight to assess the affect of long-term space travel.

The troublesome cooling system — for water, certain electronics and some food compartments — developed a slow leak while the Skylab 2 crewmen were aboard in August. They switched to a backup loop.

Mission control said that if the repair job is unsuccessful and the secondary loop fails, the mission might have to be cut short because some food would spoil and some electronics might fail.

The space agency also wants both loops in operation so the men can use water cooling instead of air cooling for their suits during space walks. Water cooling is more efficient and enables the astronauts to remain outside longer and work harder.

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said outdoor work scheduled for Thanksgiving day to repair a stuck antenna and change telescope film could be completed in one six-or seven-hour space walk with water cooling. He said air cooling would restrict outside activity to about four hours, and the repair job would have to be spread over two days.

Pogue suffered from motion sickness Friday, and mission control officials reported Saturday night that the crew had tried to keep secret his vomiting.

The control center learned of the vomiting when the astronauts accidentally left a tape recorder running during a discussion of the cover-up attempt. The recording was transmitted automatically to the control center.

VISTA Role Is Explained

An explanation of the VISTA program was presented at Sadie Saulter School for 25 persons from throughout Pitt County.

The VISTA volunteers explained their major projects: manpower and job development, consumer education, education and co-op or buying club development. The visitors offered suggestions, and some volunteered to help by being interviewers in their neighborhoods for the Consumer Education Survey, or by being interviewed themselves. It's planned to start consumer education classes throughout the county.

According to the director, the Rev. Dan Earnhardt, the get-together went well and others may be held in other areas of the county. Anyone wishing to know more about VISTA or help VISTA should call 758-1528 or visit the office at 503 E. Fifth Street.

Six Seized By 'Mass Hysteria'

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Six members of a church choir got so much religion during a three-hour revival that they had to be hospitalized with what doctors called "mass hysteria."

Garrison White, adviser to the United Methodist Church Youth Choir from Salisbury, Md., described the seizures as "falling out."

"It's something you just can't describe," he said of the Sunday episode. Other members of the choir said "it was religion, that's all."

Ambulances rushed the singers to a Wilmington hospital. Witnesses said the stricken appeared to be in a trance. A hospital spokesman said early today that they were in good condition.

The Association includes the following counties: Carteret, Craven, Duplin, Greene, Jones, Lenoir, Onslow, Pamlico and Wayne.

Officers include: Mitch Wooten, New Bern, president; Corbett Padgett, Jacksonville, first vice president; Luther Ledford, Pink Hill, second vice president; Stanley Harrell, Morehead City, treasurer. Also named were two division chairmen: W. J. Costin, Warsaw, agriculture; and George Cowan, Beaulahville, community development.

Graduates of the U.S. Naval Academy are granted a Bachelor of Science degree and a commission in either the Navy or Marine Corps.

Breadlines In Paradise As Ceylon Hits Bottom

By JOSEPH GALLOWAY

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — There are breadlines in paradise these days.

Bad weather, poor planning and skyrocketing world prices for food grains have combined to bring the threat of hunger and starvation to the once carefree people of the Republic of Sri Lanka (Ceylon).

In the process one of the world's most ambitious socialist experiments has nearly come to an end.

There are block-long queues every morning outside the bakeries in the capital city, and housewives wait for hours for a chance to buy a loaf of bread.

For years the average Ceylonese could walk into a state food store once a week and receive, absolutely free, his basic food requirements—two pounds of rice. Today he gets half a pound of free rice and there are indications that even this reduced free ration may have to be halted before the next rice harvest in April.

Import cutback

Almost a third of the rice and all of the country's wheat flour has to be imported—and world market prices have shot out of sight for food grains while Sri Lanka's traditional exports of tea and rubber have not kept pace.

Prime Minister Mrs. Srimavo Bandaranaike has belatedly cut back on imports, reduced the free ration and launched a food production drive to make the country self-sufficient.

The government is urging the country's 13 million citizens to plant all available land in soy beans, yams and tapioca. The flowerbeds and lawns of rural railway stations and police posts have been pressed into such service as an example.

Hotels and restaurants have been banned from serving rice dishes or bread on Tuesday and Friday of each week—and the menus in posh tourist hotels carry notices to that effect.

The state-run radio station and various newspapers devote time and space to playing up the economic difficulties of other nations.

Expensive promises

"The government says all of this is the fault of the world market," a taxi driver said. "I don't think I believe that is the whole problem."

It isn't, according to economic experts who have studied the situation.

For two decades successive governments in the little island republic have outdone themselves in promising and delivering the necessities of life for free—food, health care and education through university level.

One Japanese businessman told a Ceylonese, "I don't think my company would be interested in investing here. The way I understand it, you people grow tea and rubber which you export to earn the money to buy food which you give away free. Why aren't you growing food in the first place? My directors wouldn't believe it."

Less popular

Mrs. Bandaranaike herself won an overwhelming election victory in 1970 by pledging that her leftist-socialist-Communist coalition would continue to give the two free pounds of rice each week to everybody.

Rep. Chisholm Predicts Some 'Revelations'

TORONTO (AP) — Rep. Shirley Chisholm says there will be "astounding revelations" in the next few weeks about federal investigations into her campaign funding.

But she declined to elaborate, saying her lawyer had advised her "not to say anything and let things unfold."

Mrs. Chisholdm, D-N.Y., commented Sunday before the opening session of an international conference on religious education here. The black congresswoman has previously said she believes the probe by the General Accounting Office was an attempt "to get her" by "those in power in government who repress the poor and the powerless."

The GAO investigation has centered around possible misuse of $23,000 in funds from Mrs. Chisholm's 1972 presidential campaign.

Ceasefire Declared By Guerrilla Force

BELFAST (AP) — A ceasefire declared by Northern Ireland's main Protestant guerrilla group went into effect today after an intensive bombing campaign in which Catholic buildings were blasted at the rate of two a day.

The last explosion came just before the Ulster Volunteer Force's truce took hold at midnight Sunday. Three persons, including a British army officer, were injured by a bomb planted in a car outside a shop in Belfast, authorities said.

The Ulster Volunteer Force claimed responsibility for 97 per cent of recent Protestant violence, excluding sectarian murders, and said it would resume its attacks Jan. 1 unless the Irish Republican Army ceased its guerrilla activities to force the British out of Northern Ireland.

Besides intimidating the minority Catholic population, the bombings and the cease-fire were interpreted as a warning to the Protestant side at current power-sharing talks not to concede too much to the minority Catholics.

One of the stumbling blocks in the power-sharing talks is the demand of the Catholic-based Social Democratic and Labor party for a Council of Ireland embracing both the North and South.

Other major disputes center on Catholic demands for the release of suspected terrorists, mainly IRA men detained without trial, and for an end to Protestant domination of the police force.

Cambodian President's Palace Bombed

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A Cambodian air force fighter bombed President Lon Nol's palace compound this afternoon with four 250-pound bombs, witnesses reported.

They said Lon Nol was unhurt, but three other Cambodians were reported killed and 10 wounded.

Antiaircraft gunners around the palace said the plane, a propeller-driven T28, approached the compound from the east and dropped two bombs at 4:30 p.m.

The pilot, Lt. Pech Lim Kuong, was on a mission to bomb on Phnom Penh's southern perimeter around the Highway 2 region, military sources said.

The lieutenant was reported to have told the air base control tower that he had some engine trouble and he could not continue his mission and that he was returning to base.

The control tower radioed it was okay for him to return.

He diverted on his way and headed toward Lon Nol's palace instead of landing as two other planes on the mission had done, military sources at Cambodian headquarters said.

The first bombs hit in a simultaneous explosion on a large conference hall inside the presidential compound. The next ones hit a minute later.

This reporter was diagonally across the street standing in the doorway of the U.S. Embassy when the first explosion went off about 300 yards away.

The Cambodian guards at the embassy and guards in bunkers were firing wildly in all directions. Young girls with school books, who were walking on the sidewalk in front of the mission when the firing broke out, screamed and ran.

The last attempt on Lon Nol's life occurred last March, when a renegade Cambodian air force officer dropped two 500-pound bombs in the vicinity of the presidential palace and struck a barracks compound nearby. At least 36 persons were killed and dozens injured in the attack, but Lon Nol was not in the palace at the time.

The pilot, identified as Capt. So Potra, then flew his stolen plane to Communist-held territory and a month later turned up in Peking. The Cambodian government claimed that Potra's mistress had been the daughter of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian chief of state.

The attack led to the imposition of martial law and the house arrest of several members of Siahanouk's family still living in Phnom Penh. They were released later this year.

Meanwhile, fierce fighting continued around several small government outposts on supply Highways 4 and 5, military sources reported.

On Highway 5, Khmer Rouge ground attacks on Kompong Tralach and Trapeang Trey Ros villages, 41 miles north of the capital, declined somewhat but insurgent shelling increased, the informants said.

A Cambodian air force spotter plane observed a Khmer Rouge concentration massing on Highway 5 north of Sala Lek Pram, 39 miles north of Phnom Penh, and T28 fighter planes were called in to bomb the positions. No details were reported.

Insurgent forces occupy a five-mile strip of road beginning two miles north of Sala Lek Pram. The highway has been closed since Sept. 6.

On Highway 4, Phnom Penh's route to the seaport at Kompong Som, military sources said the Communist-led rebels continued to shell and attack three government positions at Talat, 41 miles west-southwest of Phnom Penh.

Sustained fighting has been reported in the Talat area for the past five days. Khmer Rouge forces occupy a four-mile stretch of road beginning at Trapeang Kraloeung, 37 miles from the capital, and ending at Talat.

The Saigon command said a South Vietnamese helicopter on a medical evacuation mission in Quang Ngai province crashed Saturday, killing the four crew members and two passengers. Quang Ngai is some 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

Meanwhile, Typhoon Thelma swept across four provinces in the central coast, wiping out hundreds of homes and sending thousands fleeing to high ground.

Thelma hit on the tail of Typhoon Sarah, which left flood waters rampaging across the flat paddylands at the end of last week. More than 70 persons have been swept to their deaths in the two storms, the worst to hit South Vietnam in nearly 10 years, officials said.

Gov. Geo. Wallace Cordially Greeted By Black Mayors

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)— Gov. George C. Wallace was cordially greeted by delegates and guests of the Southern Conference of Black Mayors here Sunday in an unprecedented visit.

As Wallace addressed the final session of the three-day conference, he was interrupted by laughter or applause about a dozen times.

Wallace spoke about problems the mayors had been discussing during the meeting: education, industrial development and social services.

Wallace was interrupted by an outburst of laughter when he said: "Perhaps this is not the time to discuss busing...but I would like to say a few words about the Alabama school bus system." Any Alabama student, he said, "white or black, can catch a school bus almost in front of his own home and ride to classes."

Security was heavy during Wallace's address. Uniformed local police and State Troopers were evident and there were also plainclothes officers on duty.

But the crowd was enthusiastic and when he concluded the address, Wallace was swamped by well-wishers and autograph seekers.

Saturday, Wallace crowned Miss Terri Points of Birmingham as the first black homecoming queen in the history of the University of Alabama.

Also during Sunday's meeting, the mayors formed a steering committee for the conference. The six-member panel will work with President Nixon's Domestic Council.

The members are: Mayors A. J. Cooper of Prichart, Ala., chariman; Charles Evers of Fayette, Miss.; Howard N. Lee of Chapel Hill, N.C.; Johnny Ford of Tuskegee, Ala.; David Humes of Hayti Heights, Mo.; and Clarence Lightener of Raleigh, N.C.

The next time the Southern black mayors meet will be in December in conjunction with the U.S. Conference of Mayors. That meeting will be held in San Juan, P.R.

Say Condors Need Privacy

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The giant California condor needs privacy in its battle against extinction, says a wildlife officer.

"The thing is to keep people from being out and scaring condors off when they are eating," said Gordon Heebner, range and wildlife officer for Sequoia National Forest.

"The condor is a really sensitive bird."

He said there are only about 50 of the black-and-brown birds with reddish-orange heads and observers fear the species could become extinct without more protection.

So four biologists are drafting a plan to give the bird with a nine-foot wing span more elbow room at the table.

Condors are found only in an arc from the bottom of the Sierra Nevada through the Tehachapi Mountains and into the Pacific Coast Range.

National forests in that arc have controls to ensure the safety of the bird, so the plan is centered on protecting the condors while they scavenge dead cattle on nearby private lands.

The third draft of the plan was reviewed here last week during the fall meeting of a condor advisory committee composed of state and federal representatives and the National Audubon Society. The final draft is expected by the spring meeting.

It may involve leasing some "small, isolated tracts" that condors frequent, Heebner said.

New Integon Building Is Opened In Greenville

W. M. (Booger) Scales, general agent in Greenville for Integon Life Insurance Co., announced the opening of new office facilities on Commerce Street.

The new office building, which Scales occupies with special Integon representative Clark Stokes, is contemporary in design and contains some 1,200 square feet of space.

The one-story facility, the first office building to be located in the Commerce Street area, was designed and constructed by the Greenville firm of J. H. Hudson Inc.

Scales, who celebrated his 25th anniversary as an Integon representative on Nov. 15, received a 25-year pin from visiting company officials during a luncheon in his honor here on the 15th.

Stokes has been with the company for 14 years and Mrs. Maxine Reel, who serves as secretary and office manager, has been associated with Integon for 15 years.

The Integon office here was formerly located at 206 S. Washington Street.

SHP 'Charter Member' Dies

RALEIGH (AP)—A charter member of the North Carolina Highway Patrol, Loren R. Fisher of Raleigh, is dead. He died Sunday at the age of 71.

Fisher was a captain in the patrol in Asheville, Charlotte and Winston-Salem.

He later served as Commissioner of Motor Vehicles under Gov. Kerr Scott and in 1954 he became director of the malt beverage division of the state ABC board.

Fisher retired from state government and formed the Fisher Wholesale Co. in Raleigh which he ran until he retired in 1967.

9-Year-Old Was 'Going To Kill'

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — A 9-year-old boy carrying a loaded gun walked into a restaurant and informed a waitress he was going to "kill a cop," police say.

The waitress took the .38 caliber revolver away from the youth, unloaded it, and gave the gun back to him, police said Sunday.

Police said the gun had been stolen Saturday from Miami Beach Mayor Chuck Hall's car when it was parked behind a city convention hall.

The youth, whose name was withheld because he is a juvenile, later returned to the restaurant where police were called to arrest him.

SUBWAY STARTED IN DUESSELDORF

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — This wealthy and elegant capital of the industrious North Rhine's Westphalia State is the latest West German city to start construction of a subway system.

The first stretch of 14.5 kilometers, to reach from Duesseldorf's central railroad station to nearby Duisburg, is to cost one billion marks or $345 million.

Highway 30 East Greenville, N.C.

25 Years ago, Booger Scales was Greenville's "Failure."

Today, he has more insurance in force than four out of ten of the life companies in the U.S.

It's a story worth reading.

W. M. SCALES, JR.

In a quarter of a century, $40 million in sales.

For 25 years, Booger Scales has represented Integon Corporation. In that time he has achieved one of the top insurance sales careers in the country. In fact, with $40 million of permanent insurance in force, he's provided more financial protection than 700 of the 1800 U.S. life insurance companies in existence today!
Considering his early years, this career is even more remarkable.

In 1948, his company decided to "take a chance" on Booger Scales.

Twenty-five years ago, Booger Scales could offer an employer little else than enthusiasm and energy. He was Greenville's failure. And a rather active night life didn't help, either.
But, as an adage says: "The wildest colts make the best horses." Perhaps that's why Integon, then called Security Life and Trust, decided to "take a chance" on W. M. Scales, Jr. as an insurance representative.
It looked testy in the beginning. For several months, there was no business, but many expenses coming from Greenville.
Then, Booger began to change. Change himself, his way-of-life, his career goals. In five years, he became a success.

1953: $1 million in sales.

That year began Booger's million-dollar-a-year career.
—For twelve years, from 1953 to 1964, he topped that level.
—In 1965, he wrote over $2,000,000 of permanent insurance. He matched that mark for eight years.
—In 1970, it was $3,000,000. He's met that personal goal ever since. Including 1973.
—For 13 of the past 20 years he has been our company's number one producer.

Service. The key to client loyalty.

Along with this sales record, Booger Scales has demonstrated outstanding service to his clients. Of all policies purchased from him, 98 percent stay in force. An unparalleled industry statistic.

Service. To the City of Greenville. And to the State of North Carolina.

Booger Scales is the only person in Greenville history to win both of the town's top awards for civic work—the Distinguished Service Award of the Greenville Jaycees and the Exchange Club's Golden Deed Award. And, in 1958, he was awarded the State Jaycees Community Man of the Year Award—the last single winner of that award.
He has been instrumental in raising over two million dollars for civic and church activities in Greenville. The W. M. Scales Field House at East Carolina University was dedicated to him in 1968 in recognition of his fund-raising work for ECU. In the dedication remarks, ECU President Leo W. Jenkins told the trustees:
"I know of no one who is more deserving of this honor. This man is a legend in his own time and we are indeed fortunate to have his friendship. We can always depend on him when we need a helping hand."

From Integon Corporation, congratulations, Booger, for twenty-five wonderful years.

We're glad we took the chance.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hens: Market tone weaker today on heavy types. Supplies adequate and demand fair. Heavies, at farm, 26 cents based on previous committments.

North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market steady, supplies adequate, demand fairly good, and weights heavy at some points.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market skidded lower again today as brokers said investors continued to worry about energy supplies and a possible recession next year.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 17.38 at 873.95 as declining stocks led advances 3 to 1 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

"The Arabs denial that their oil embargo to the United States was going to be lifted removed one of the market's props on Friday," said Newton Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. The market jumped sharply higher Friday after President Nixon hinted that an Arab change of policy was "reasonably possible."

Commerce Department figures released last week showed a further slowdown in the economy and, along with the oil problem, increased fears of a recession in 1974, Zinder said.

Oil and oil related issues fell sharply on the Big Board, led by Exxon, down 2 to 94⅝; Gulf Oil, off ½ to 22½; and Dow Chemical, behind 1¾ to 55½. Monsanto lost 2 to 57¼.

Coastal States Gas, which tentatively settled a Justice Department antitrust suit, rose ⅜ to 12⅞. General Motors, despite a preliminary union settlement, dropped 1¾ to 55⅝. Cocoa-Cola, down 4⅝ to 137, was hurt by a published report that soft dirnk stock prices were fizzling out.

On the American Stock Exchange, Houston Oil & Minerals dropped 3⅛ to 54⅞. The market value index at 11 a.m. was off .61 to 100.03.

The Big Board's broad based index fell .72 to 54.76 at 11 a.m.

Joggers' Ankle Said Reason To Try Bicycling

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Gordon W. Falknor says he thinks some people — and their ankles — would do better riding a bicycle rather than jogging.

Falknor, a member of the faculty of the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in Chicago, told a meeting of the Illinois Podiatry Society Sunday he is seeing cases of "jogger's ankle."

He said the condition results from jogging or running on hard surfaces, such as blacktop or concrete, exposing the feet and ankles to severe stress before the tissues can build up tolerance. Falknor said symptoms are similar to traumatic arthritis and inflammation of the Achilles tendon above its attachment to the heel bone.

He said there is no cure and he recommended patients with jogger's ankle turn to bicycle-riding because "it is an excellent form of exercise ... and more fun in the long run."

Driver School Awaits Mayors In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Degrading or not, mayors in Pennsylvania are going to attend driver improvement school if they accumulate six points for violating traffic laws, say the state police.

The mayors adopted a resolution during their annual Pennsylvania League of Cities meeting last month asking that they be excused from such classes. The 25 mayors who adopted the resolution said the classes are "degrading" for elected officials.

But the police don't see it that way and insist there will be no exceptions for the school, which consists of four two-hour sessions for any driver who gets six points in any three-year period.

In their resolution, the mayors said they, "as well as other citizens, must undergo the school attendance treatment in the presence of many habitual offenders, thus degrading the mayor's influence and image to the people."

JFK Memorial In Dallas Lures Crowds

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Still they come. Two or three at a time, sometimes a half dozen. Hundreds daily.

They stop on the narrow street and point upward. They know the window.

It's six floors up the Texas School Book Depository Building. Ten years ago, by Warren Commission account, Lee Harvey Oswald perched up there and murderously aimed a $12.78 rifle at President John F. Kennedy.

On the outside, the reddish brick building shows little change. Some windows yawn open, their blinds hanging every which way. Inside there's nothing. The Texas School Book Depository Co. is long gone.

But the old bricks will never lose the name.

Not far away is the grassy knoll. It's very important to doubters of the Warren Commission's verdict that Oswald acted alone. They say another assassin, maybe more, could have crouched there.

The grass of the knoll is bright green this time of year.

About 200 yards away from the Dealy Plaza area is the John F. Kennedy Museum. Crowds form there often. It's a commercial enterprise, but owners are very conscious of taste. Another 200 yards to the southeast is the city's Kennedy Memorial: four walls of pale white concrete, the top open to the sky. The grounds are well kept.

At the center of the memorial is a small platform bearing Kennedy's name. Along the approach is a granite insert in the concrete. It reads in part:

"...It is not a memorial to the pain and sorrow of death but stands as a permanent tribute to the joy and excitement of one man's life..."

These are the landmarks and this is Dallas, the Big D, the town fate picked for Kennedy's death.

Dallas had been battered by national criticism in the months before Kennedy's arrival in the city on Nov. 22, 1963.

A few militant ultraconservatives had set off some distressing events — jostling of Lyndon B. Johnson and Lady Bird during a campaign appearance, a "National Indignation Convention" which turned into an anti-Kennedy movement, and a physical assault on the late United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson — he was spat upon and struck with a picket sign after a United Nations Day speech.

The events hardly touched the mainstream of Dallas, however. Residents considered them freak outbreaks, the work of a few extremists. But they happened and when the rifle bullets ripped into Kennedy, Dallas for many became a "city of hate."

It became a common theme in those days, even though many wondered how Oswald, a self-styled Marxist, could be equated with the right-wing frenzy. Yet the words were spoken, even in Dallas.

Sarah T. Hughes, the federal judge who in Dallas swore in Lyndon B. Johnson as Kennedy's successor, made a speech not long after the killing.

"There was a climate of hate in Dallas that was not evident in any other place. I definitely think that the feeling in Dallas contributed to the fact that Oswald would do this deed here rather than in some other city," she declared.

Today, however, Judge Hughes believes that the "climate of hate" has to a large degree disappeared. And it is hard to find anger heard among tourists who come to view the street where Kennedy died.

The National Indignation Convention, born as a protest against military aid to Yugoslavia, has disappeared. Its founder, Frank McGehee, a garage owner, is no longer listed in area directories.

In the wake of the assassination, professors and some others at Dallas' Southern Methodist University formed a committee to discuss the issues raised by the murder. Its main object was to change the attitude of Dallas, namely the conservative bent of its politics.

The committee met about three times, but no longer convenes. "I don't know what they accomplished, if anything," an SMU spokesman said.

Dallas today can still be called a conservative city. It's no New York or San Francisco. But the term has lost a lot of meaning in 10 years. There have been a lot of terms and movements since.

To Felix McKnight, vice chairman of the Dallas Times Herald, there has been a shift in attitude in the city.

To him Dallas always has been a tolerant city, but now more than ever before.

The Dallas leadership today, he said, is composed of younger men and women with a high degree of tolerance. The city was "once run by four or five senior heads. No more," he added.

Farmville Council Awards Contract

FARMVILLE — In a call meeting of the Farmville Town Council Thursday night, bids were opened on heating and air conditioning for the Recreation Building the town is converting from what was the local boy Scout Hut.

Coastal Refrigeration of Greenville received the contract, with a bid of $3,947.13. Oil heat will be used.

A public hearing was held on the assessment roll for Walnut Street from George Street to the East Carolina Railroad. There were no objections.

It was decided that Christmas lights would be put up and used only on a limited basis, from the Christmas parade Dec. 3 til Christmas about an hour and a half or two hours each evening and none after Christmas.

The extension of Cameron Street idea was turned over to the Street Committee.

The extension of the city limits to take in the proposed Paul Jones Mall site, the Marlboro Forest Development, and a tract between the two belonging to the F.M. Davis Heirs was discussed. It was decided to ask the Town Attorney to draft a bill for the N.C. Legislature that would annex this area south of Farmville on the 264 Bypass.

New Commissioners Mrs. Sarah Albritton and Durwood Little are to be sworn in Dec. 3 at 9 a.m., it was announced.

Guild Award To Martha Raye

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Entertainer Martha Raye has received the Screen Actors Guild Award for outstanding achievement in fostering the "finest ideals of the acting profession."

Actor Dennis Weaver, the guild president, presented the award to Miss Raye in ceremonies Sunday at the Hollywood Palladium.

Weaver said of Miss Raye: "With unselfish dedication, many times at the neglect of her own career, she has trudged the deserts of North Africa and the jungles of Vietnam. She has endeared herself to people around the world as well as countless men and women in uniform whom she has not only entertained but nursed when the need arose."

SEWAGE WATER PURE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sewage is reported to be 99 per cent pure water. Sea water, on the other hand, is only 96 per cent pure.

Early Colon Cancer Test

BOSTON (AP) — Clinical trials show an experimental blood test to be highly reliable for early detection of cancer of the large intestine, researchers say.

Cancer of the colon — the second most deadly form of the disease after lung cancer — is expected to kill 46,000 Americans this year.

It generally strikes persons older than 50 and kills more than 70 per cent of its victims within five years, but it can be treated with some success if diagnosed early.

Scientists at the Harvard Medical School Unit of Boston City Hospital, headed by Dr. David M. Bull and his assistant Richard A. Helms, reported on the trial of their blood test in the journal Science.

The report said 79 persons were tested. Of the 27 with colon cancers, 24 gave positive responses in the blood test. Negative responses were given by 52 cancer-free patients and, for unknown reasons, by three patients who did have colon cancer.

The scientists said the blood test measures the activity of the body's immune system, which uses antibody molecules and defensive cells to attack disease microbes and objects foreign to the body.

Dr. Bull said the immune system detects cancer cells and responds by producing large numbers of white blood cells, called lymphocytes, that secrete a chemical when mixed with isolated tumor cells.

He said the test indicates a patient has cancer if his blood contains lymphocytes that secrete the chemical when mixed with a colon tumor extract.

Bull said the test must be refined and automated before it can be used widely.

He also said it was not know whether the test would detect other forms of the disease.

DON'T LIGHT A MATCH

MENA, Ark. (UPI) — If a gas leak is suspected in the home, don't strike a match to check for it. Fire authorities say a good way to check is to mix liquid detergent with water and brush it on the area where you suspect the leak to be. If gas is leaking, bubbles will occur over the leak.

On Academy's Honor Listing

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—Cade Robert Burton Green III of Stokes, N.C., has been named to the honor roll for the first grading period at Randolph-Macon Academy in Front Royal.

Cadet Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherrill Johnston of Rt. 1, Stokes, N.C., is an eighth-grade student at the college-preparatory school.

264 Playhouse Case Continued

No action was taken Friday by District Court Judge Robert Wheeler following a showing of a motion picture "Sleazy Rider" for court officials at a Farmville theater.

Judge Wheeler ordered the case continued until December 6.

A summons was issued Wednesday, ordering Arnold Faulkner, owner of the 264 Playhouse Theater, to present the film for viewing by court officials.

Judge Wheeler viewed the film to determine if the film was of pornographic nature. He then continued the case until the December 6 court session in Farmville.

Revival Series Begins Tonight

GRIFTON — The Rev. Rabon Clemmons of Bethel is conducting revival services at Grifton Church of God, beginning tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Special singing will be presented each night.

The church is located at the corner of Wall Street and Cannon Boulevard. The Rev. Viola Carawan is pastor.

City Police To Attend Course

Greenville police officers, over the next two weeks, will attend a 12-hour course in community relations.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, the program is being taught by Sid Hurgey coordinator for the Police-Community Realtions Project for the North Carolina Human Realtions Commission.

The three-day school, being conducted today, Tuesday and Wednesday this week will be duplicated next week so all officers will have an opportunity to attend the sessions, Cannon explained.

Theft Reported By Dealership

An estimated $1,300 in cash and between $6,000 and $7,000 in checks were taken from Tarheel Toyoto Inc. on Trade Street sometime Saturday night or Sunday.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the theft was reported at 6:49 p.m. Sunday.

According to the chief, no point of entry to the building could be found, but, he noted, thieves forced open a locked file cabinet in the motor company's office and took the cash and checks.

Investigation of the theft is continuting.

City Wrecks Injured 3

Three Sunday wrecks resulted in an estimated $2,375 property damage and injured three persons, Greenville police officers reported.

Investigators said heaviest damage resulted from a 2:50 a.m. collision near the intersection of Fleming and Ford Streets and involved a parked car owned by Roland Jones of Route 1, Grimesland and a vehicle driven by Carlton Ray Shirley of 1493 Fleming St.

Police, who reported Shirley was charged with careless and reckless driving, set damage at $300 to the Shirley car and $900 to the Jones auto.

Jesse James Wainwright of Route 2, Washington and a passenger in the car he was driving were reported injured when the vehicle collided with a utility pole in a private parking lot at the West End Shopping Center about 10:15 p.m.

Officers, who charged Wainwright with careless and reckless driving, set damage to his car at $700 and estimated damage to the pole at $75.

Charles Lewis Brown of 1716 South Elm St. was charged with following too close following investigation of a 12:35 p.m. mishap on Elm Street 186 feet South of the Second Street intersection.

Police reported the Brown car collided with a vehicle driven by Hazel Garris Whitehurst of 204 South Elm St. causing an estimated $200 damage to each of the two cars.

One passenger in the Brown auto was reported injured.

Pirates And Randle Marking Time On Reply To Tangerine Bowl Ultimatum

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

Sonny Randle delivered an ultimatum, and the big question was whether the phone would ring in Greenville, N. C., the home of East Carolina's two-time Southern Conference football champion Pirates.

"For the second straight year we have had a great season, a season good enough to put us in a bowl game," Randle said Saturday after his Pirates posted their second 9-2 over-all record by crushing Appalachian State's Mountaineers 49-14.

"The Tangerine Bowl looked at us last year, but I don't think they looked hard enough," Randle added. "We have repeated what we did last year and surpassed many things. We should be considered . . ."

But Randle, who said Tangerine Bowl officials indicated it might be Nov. 24 before they pick a foe for unbeaten MidAmerican Conference champion Miami of Ohio, laid down a deadline of tonight for his team.

The Pirates will have a squad meeting at 7 p. m. and "if we haven't heard from the Tangerine Bowl by then, we will ask them to withdraw our name from consideration," the fiery Randle said.

Randle's ultimatum somewhat stole the show from the season's final weekend in which Richmond's Spiders clinched second place behind East Carolina and their best over-all season since 1943 and Davidson's Wildcats and Virginia Military's Keydets pulled upsets.

The Spiders, with 235-pound senior fullback Barty Smith the star, limited William and Mary's high-powered offense to 111 yards and trounced the Indians 31-0, their first shutout in 49 games.

Davidson, which went into the game with a 1-8 over-all record, tied The Citadel for seventh place in the league at 1-6 with a 19-16 reversal of the Bulldogs, who only a week earlier had pulled off a shocker of their own by beating Furman's Paladins.

And the Keydets wound up 3-8 over-all with a 22-21 surprise over Virginia Tech, leaving the Gobblers with two victories in 11 starts.

Despite piling up 436 yards to Louisville's 325, Furman fell behind 21-0 in the first half and never caught up in a 35-14 defeat, the second in a row that left the Paladins still with a surprising 7-4 record in Coach Art Baker's first season.

Carlester Crumpler ran for 184 yards and three touchdowns and set league career records with 37 touchdowns and 2,889 yards rushing in East Carolina's romp. Carl Summerell threw two scoring passes and Danny Kepley ran 85 yards with an intercepted pass.

In calling his team good enough for a bowl, Randle said Crumpler and Summerell probably would go in the first round of the pro draft.

But he added that "I don't think, and I do think my players will agree, that we can go home for Thanksgiving without knowing something about a bowl." He said his team couldn't give its best performance "if we took a week off for Thanksgiving."

Smith ran 25 times for 128 yards and two touchdowns, caught three passes for 40 yards and threw the first two passes of his career, completing one for 34 yards. Harry Knight hit nine of 14 passes for 102 yards and a third touchdown for Richmond.

"It was a helluva year," said Richmond's Frank Jones, who added that "we were really pleased that the kids got up after last week," a reference to a 44-14 defeat at East Carolina. It was the Spiders' best record since the 1943 team went 6-1.

Asked if he'd ever seen a fullback like Smith, Jones replied: "Never, and I doubt if many other coaches have, either."

After a pass interference call that kept Richmond's first scoring drive alive, William and Mary's Jim Root said "it was like trying to push a cement truck up a hill. They could give the ball to Smith any time and we were in trouble. Barty had a great day."

David Harper completed 14 of 25 passes for 182 yards and two touchdowns, including a 24-yarder to Mike Harding in the third period that was the winner for Davidson. The Citadel's Andrew Johnson set school records with 240 yards rushing on 34 carries.

The key play was an apparent fourth-down 27-yard touchdown pass from the Bulldogs' Gene Dotson to Doug Johnson with 45 seconds left, but an official ruled Dotson was past the scrimmage line when he threw.

"What a way to end a season!" exclaimed The Citadel's Bobby Ross. "I don't question the call by the official on Dotson. He was in position to make the call and I'm certain he called it as he saw it. You've got to give Davidson credit. They played hard and good."

Davidson plans to de-emphasize football, and the Wildcats' Dave Fagg said "it would have been easy to quit. We are a group that had just lost its scholarship program and was 1-8 before this game. That could cause some people to give up."

Instead, the Wildcats came from behind three times to win, and Fagg said "this is a wonderful, wonderful feeling for our coaches and players."

Two players who had been hurt most of the season, running back Ronnie Norman and defensive back Jay Newcomer, played vital roles in VMI's upset.

Norman ran 27 times for 153 yards, including a six-yard winning touchdown with 9:21 left, and Newcomer made a key tackle at the three and a fumble recovery at the five one play later in the final minute that cut short Tech's bid to pull it out.

VMI's Tom Schultze hit 14 of 18 passes for 207 yards and one score, Tech's Eddie Joyce 12 of 20 for 216 yards and two touchdowns. Tech sophomore Phil Rogers got 98 yards for 1,037 for the season.

Ever since a 34-0 defeat two years ago, VMI's Bob Thalman said "I've looked forward to being back on the field against them."

Tech wishes he'd forgotten to show up.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

Did the season end Saturday afternoon for the East Carolina University Pirates? Or do they get the chance they should have had last year?

Tonight, by 7 p.m., the answer may be known. That's when the team has its last, as of now, scheduled meeting. If there has been no offer from the Tangerine Bowl at this time, the Bucs will probably vote to request to be dropped from consideration.

For most of the team members will be leaving campus during the next day or so, going home for Thanksgiving holidays. Coach Sonny Randle and his staff don't want them to have any burdens of wondering trailing them home.

The Bucs feel that they have shown the Tangerine Bowl people that they are a worthy team. They have the best record of any major college in North Carolina. They are one of the highest scoring teams in the country, possessing a potent offense and a top defense.

It has a quarterback that can make a game exciting and a runner who can make it electrifying.

The Bucs have the following too. They have had the biggest crowds in the history of the school this year, and it is almost certain a lot of those people would be quite willing to make the trip, along with a lot more who aren't game-to-game followers.

They would make Miami of Ohio a fit opponent.

But again, that might not be the major factor. According to reports now reaching Greenville, Tampa, Tulsa, and East Carolina are the only teams now in consideration. Tampa lost Saturday, hurting their chances, but some reports say the bowl people want to wait until after Saturday's game to choose their team.

Tampa hasn't played the schedule the Bucs have. Their power ratings in every poll isn't up to that of the Bucs, nor is Tulsa's. Tampa is just an hour's drive away from Orlando, making them, even as a ho-hum team more of a plum in the eyes of the committee.

It will be a shame if the Pirates, possessors of an 18-4 record over the past two years, with three bona-fida All-American candidates, with several sure bets in the pro draft, with 15 straight Southern Conference wins and two straight league titles, are overlooked.

ECU Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich planned to contact the Tangerine officials this morning to tell them of the university's decisions. Stasavich said that he understands that the committee plans to meet sometime today. "They'll either have to act then, or seek elsewhere," he said.

Saturday afternoon, following the 49-14 victory, Randle told the press that he had thought if the Bucs went 8-3 this year, he would be satisfied. "But after the State game, I was wondering if we might be lucky to win a game. That's how much of a turnaround we've made."

He admitted that the Bucs weren't ready to play Appalachian State, and took the blame for it. But he pointed out that they had been sky-high for three weeks, playing their finest games against William & Mary and Richmond.

Randle was also humbled by the gift of the new car at halftime. But he reflected that he was as happy to have a player like Danny Kepley coming back as he was at having the car. "In fact, I'd trade it just to get Carl Summerell back another year," he added.

The graduation of the All-Southern quarterback will leave some big shoes to be filled but Randle feels that there are some top candidates in the wings. "We're going to have to take a hard look at the team during the off-season," he said.

And that prompted questions as to whether Randle himself would be back. He has been mentioned for some time as the next coach at Virginia.

"Just because Mike McGee (Randle's predecessor) went back to Duke, everybody expects me to go back to Virginia. But that's pure speculation. I haven't heard from them, and I don't know what they have in mind."

He added however, that he would be willing to talk to anyone who wished to talk to him. "We have an awful lot of good friends here. This automobile gift overwhelmed me. Nothing like that has ever happened to me before. I'm happy here, and it'll take some talking to make me move."

We would also offer congratulations to Elon College's Joe West, former Rose quarterback. Joe, in his final year, guided Elon to an 11-0 season this year.

Elon will enter the NAIA National Playoffs, hosting the Eastern Friends on December 1.

Miller Barber Captures World Golf Prize, But All Eyes On Crenshaw

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Miller Barber got the big check, but Ben Crenshaw got the big attention.

"I think I beat the next Jack Nicklaus," the 42-year-old Barber said after his final round 69 gave him a three-stroke victory over the youthful Crenshaw, probably the most exciting rookie to come along since Nicklaus turned pro.

Barber earned a $100,000 check — the biggest golf prize in history — after his 570 total won the 144-hole, two-week World Open Golf Tournament Saturday.

The total was two-over-par and represented the first over-par winning total in a year on the pro tour.

Crenshaw was within one stroke of the top spot until he tried to overpower a tee shot on the par-five 16th and hit it into the woods. He finished with a 71-573.

The gallery was with the strong, stocky, 21-year-old blond all the way. There was a gathering of only about 1,500 for the final round that was played in cool, breezy weather, but most were rooting for the young man who had won the San Antonio-Texas Open only two weeks before.

Cries of "go get 'em, Ben." and "Charge 'em, Longhorn," and "Best 'em Ben", echoed through the piney woods in this Carolina sandhill country. It was reminiscent of an Arnold Palmer gallery of past years.

"I had to do something pretty spectacular to win," said Crenshaw, who made up 15 strokes in the last three days. "I just wasn't up to it.

"I don't know how in the world I even managed to finish second from where I was. I'm just tickled to death."

He had a shot at victory, trailing by one shot, until he tried to "let it cut real big on my tee shot," on the 16th tee. It's a 504-yard, par-five that he can reach in two. But he hit it in the woods, chipped out, bunkered his third and made a bogey six.

"That pretty well killed my chances," said Crenshaw, a three-time national collegiate champion at the University of Texas. Still, he collected $44,175 from the total purse of $500,000 and pushed his earnings to more than $76,000 in just five starts as a pro.

Leonard Thompson took third with 71-575. He was never in the title chase. Tom Watson — the leader through the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds — quickly faded back, finished with a 77 and tied Al Geiberger for fourth at 576.

Palmer was not a factor. He had a final round 76 and 586 in his last American start of the year.

Nicklaus, along with Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino, did not compete.

Bill Maurer, president of the sponsoring corporation, said their absence represented "a major disappointment," and announced that the tournament will be played for a purse of $325,000 — or less — in 1974. The tournament also will go to earlier dates, in September, and will be played at the usual 72 holes instead of the two-week, 144-hole format used this year.

Flyweight Title Bout Planned

MANILA (AP) — A group of promoters is planning to stage a world flyweight boxing championship here next March between Thailand's Charchai Chionoi and challenger Socrates Batoto of the Philippines, Batoto's manager, Hermie Rivera, said today.

Batoto defeated Jiro Takada of Japan on a unanimous decision Sunday in Jakarta to win the vacant Orient flyweight crown.

Mrs. Bea Farber, 125-pound Brighton, Mich., housewife, won the Northville Downs harness race driving title last summer.

Gains Finals

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Kenny Kirkland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirkland of Greenville, has advanced to the finals of the National Football Conference in the Punt, Pass and Kick Contest.

Kenny participated in the area contest in Washington, D.C., yesterday during halftime ceremonies of the Washington Redskins game. He defeated his opponent in the eight-year old age group, 182-169.

He will now compete with one other eight year old in Atlanta, Ga., on December 18, for the right to represent the NFC in the national finals, to be held in the Super Bowl in January.

Winning Becomes Way Of Life For The Dolphins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mercury Morris smiled when somebody mentioned the fact that Miami's defending Super Bowl champions had clinched a National Football League playoff berth.

"What did you expect?" asked Morris. "That's what we're supposed to do."

Winning has become a way of life for the Dolphins. They are 9-1 this season following Sunday's methodical 17-0 victory over Buffalo, their second straight shutout. Over two seasons, their log reads 26-1.

Morris, who gained 79 yards against the Bills, looked at his 1973 championship ring. "This is what we're after again," he said. "Today was just phase one to getting another one of these."

There are other teams with Super Bowl ambitions too and Sunday was a good day for some of them but not so good for others. Washington maintained its piece of first place in the National Conference East, defeating stubborn Baltimore 22-14 while Dallas was pounding Philadelphia 31-10.

Kansas City took over first place in the American Conference West, ripping Houston 38-14 while Cleveland was knocking off Oakland 7-3 and dropping the Raiders into third place. Denver edged into second place just one-half game back, stunning Pittsburgh's AFC Central leaders 23-13.

Los Angeles protected its lead in the NFC West, beating San Francisco 31-13 to open a 1½-game margin over Atlanta which hosts unbeaten Minnesota tonight.

Elsewhere, New England slugged Green Bay 33-24, the New York Giants overtook St. Louis 24-13, Cincinnati topped the New York Jets 20-14, Detroit thumped Chicago 30-7 and San Diego took New Orleans 1714.

Buffalo ran up some impressive individual statistics against Miami with O.J. Simpson rushing for 120 yards and Jim Braxton getting 119. But they pay off on points and the Bills went nowhere in that department against the Dolphins' defense.

Simpson shrugged off the yardage that pushed his 10-game total to 1,323 ... 540 yards short of Jim Brown's all-time pro record with four games to go. "This was another game," said Simpson, "and what was important was that we lost it."

What was important to Kansas City's Chiefs was their victory over Houston and Cleveland's stunner over Oakland. The combination moved KC into first place in the AFC West and plummeted the Raiders to third.

Mike Livingston tossed two TD passes and scored another, piloting the Chiefs to a third straight victory since taking over for injured Len Dawson. Asked if the youngster might now be the Chiefs' No. 1 quarterback, Coach Hank Stram said: "Until Livingston proves otherwise, there's no question about it."

Oakland cooperated by bowing to Cleveland with the Browns scoring on Mike Phipps' seven-yard pass to Fair Hooker in the first half and then making the narrow lead stand up the rest of the way.

The victory moved the Browns to within 1½ games of Pittsburgh in the AFC Central after the Steelers were stung by Denver. Cleveland plays Pittsburgh next week.

Jim Turner kicked three field goals, the last one a 42-yard tiebreaker that ticked the crossbar on the way over, to defeat the Steelers and take over second place in the AFC West, just one-half game back of Kansas City.

Harold Jackson caught four passes for 117 yards from John Hadl and three of them went for touchdowns, leading Los Angeles past San Francisco. Brodie found Jackson on TD passes that covered 25, 22 and 57 yards for the victory.

Washington's Curt Knight kicked five field goals to beat Baltimore. Knight's boots were from 35, 18, 37, 42 and 29 yards and he hardly resembled the place kicker who had slumped so badly early this year.

Dallas fell behind 10-0 against Philadelphia before roaring back to defeat the Eagles. Walt Garrison scored two TDs and set up another for the Cowboys, who broke Philadelphia down once quarterback Roman Gabriel was forced out of the game with a bruised elbow.

Joe Namath, out since the second week of the season, dramatically came off the bench and marched New York to Cincinnati's goal line before running out of time as the Bengals hung on to beat the Jets.

Namath didn't quite see it that way, saying that Rich Caster had twice caught passes in the end zone that should have won the game. "I thought we had it won twice," said Namath. "It was poor officiating. Caster was in both times."

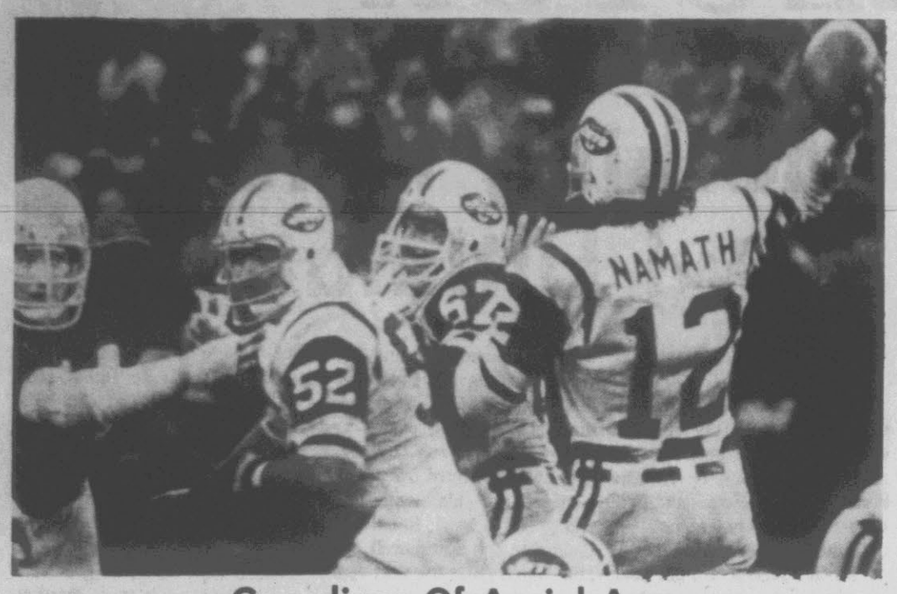

Two field goals by Horst Muhlmann, the second from 51 yards, won it for the Bengals.

The New York Giants ended a seven-game losing streak, defeating St. Louis on a pair of fourth-quarter TDs. Ron Johnson scored twice for the Giants.

Jim Plunkett passed for 348 yards, leading New England past Green Bay. Plunkett threw two TD passess and ran for another while Jeff White kicked four field goals.

Detroit intercepted four Chicago passes and Larry Walton caught two TD passes, helping the Lions defeat the Bears. Dick Jauron returned one of the interceptions 95 yards for a TD.

Ron Smith returned a punt 84 yards for a San Diego TD and the Chargers defeated New Orleans for their first victory under new Coach Ron Waller. Bob Howard's interception set up San Diego's other score.

PROTECTING JOE—New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath (12) gets plenty of protection from teammates John Schmitt (52) and Dave Herman before he lets go of the ball Sunday against the Bengals. Namath was sidelined since an injury back in September. He completed 6 of 13 passes for 98 yards. Cincinnati won the game 20-14. (AP Wirephoto)

Vikings Protect Their 9-0 Record In Atlanta

By DALLAS LEE
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings, who already have clinched a division title, will be fighting to protect a 9-0 record in a televised game tonight with the Atlanta Falcons, whose rangy, strong-armed quarterback will be gunning to protect his own perfect record.

Falcon field general Bob Lee — a former backup quarterback in the Vikings camp — is undefeated since he took over the starting quarterback role for Atlanta from veteran Dick Shiner.

Lee has led the Falcons, now 6-3, to a five-game winning streak. Atlanta now trails the Los Angeles Rams by one game in the National Football Conference West Division title race. Minnesota has secured the NFC Central Division title.

"The game is naturally more important to Atlanta, which must keep winning if it is to get in the playoffs," said Viking Coach Bud Grant. "But on the other hand, we are 9-0 and we must recognize what the Atlanta game represents to us ... you learn more things when you win."

The American Broadcasting Company will televise the game beginning at 9 p.m. EST

Lee spent last season on the bench watching the Vikings' Fran Tarkenton lead Minnesota to a 7-7, third-place record.

"Sure, we practiced against Lee and we know a lot about him," said Viking safety Paul Krause. "But at the same time he knows what he can do and what he'd better not do."

Grant commented, "He knows what his old coach is thinking, so these things counteract each other."

The game will also match two of pro football's hottest defenses.

Minnesota leads the National Football League in defense, allowing only 94 points in nine games. Atlanta is second in defense in the NFC but No. 1 against the pass, yielding an average of only 95 yards per game.

Despite an early three-game losing skid in which they scored only 15 points, the Falcons have scored a total of 240 points, with Lee connecting on 79 of 132 passes for 1,081 yards, six touchdowns and four interceptions.

Tarkenton has completed 112 of 185 passes for 1,456 yards and 10 touchdowns, and has not thrown an interception in his last 90 attempts. The Falcons will play without wide receiver Ken Burrow, who has 31 receptions for 567 yards and seven touchdowns.

Pick Wolfpack Likely Winner

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)— Sixty-five radio and television sportswriters and sportscasters in the Atlantic Coast Conference area gathered at Greensboro for Operation Basketball Sunday and voted North Carolina State the team most likley to win the league title.

ACC defending champion N.C. State closed its 1972 season 27-0. The Wolfpack was unable to participate in the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs last year after being placed on NCAA probation.

The sports writers gave N.C. State 450 points with 60 of 65 first place votes and five for second place.

The balloting was based on six points for a first place vote, five for second, four for third, three for fourth, and so on.

North Carolina, with 381 points and the other five first place nominations, came in second. The Tar Heels also had 46 second and 14 third place votes.

Maryland was third with 339, including 14 second place and 51 third place ballots.

The pre-season top three chosen by the sports writers was identical to the selections made by the seven ACC coaches who were also at Operation Basketball Sunday.

Differences came n the remaining four picks.

The sports writers chose Virginia fourth, with 191½ points; Duke fifth, with 171½; Clemson sixth, with 151½ and Wake Forest seventh with 135½.

The coaches predicted that Clemson would come in fourth, followed by Wake Forest, Virginia and Duke under new head basketball coach Neil McGeahey.

Former Golf Great Dies

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Lloyd Mangrum, one of golf's elite of the 1940s and 1950s and winner of the U.S. Open, is dead at the age of 59.

The sharp-tongued, quick-witted Mangrum, was stricken by a heart attack and died at his home in this high desert community on Saturday. He had lived here since the early 1950s. When he retired, a writer dubbed him "The Squire of Apple Valley," a title Mangrum disliked but wore with humor.

No funeral services were planned. The body will be cremated. A family spokesman said a farewell gathering will be held at the Apple Valley Country Club Tuesday evening.

Mangrum, a native of Texas, came to California with his family as a child and began playing pro golf in the 1930s.

He was second in the 1940 Masters to Jimmy Demaret and by 1941 was ranked with golf greats Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Byron Nelson as one of the top men of the sport.

Mangrum won the U.S. Open in 1946, shortly after his discharge from the Army, by taking a 36-hole playoff from Nelson and Vic Ghezzi.

In 1950 he lost the Open title to Hogan, again in a playoff.

Mangrum was a four-time winner of the Los Angeles Open and two-time champ of the Western Open, Bing Crosby Pro-Am, Greensboro Open, Tucson Open and Phoenix Open.

Survivors include his widow Eleta, a son, two daughters, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pres. Nixon Joins Tribute To Former Congressman

By KATHYRN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's elder stateman, Carl Vinson, received tribute on his 90th birthday from state and national leaders, students and President Nixon, who called him "a legendary figure."

"Carl Vinson was a man who stood for strong national defense," said Nixon. "He was Mr. Armed Services, he was Mr. Navy, he was Mr. America, he was Mr. Congressman."

Vinson, shielding his eyes from the light, peered at Nixon from the stage of the Mercer University Chapel as the President heaped praise on the venerable former congressman.

Recalling that Vinson had served in the U.S. House longer than any may in history, Nixon said Vinson was "legendary" and "a giant in the House."

The President also took the occasion to say that a nation can maintain peace only if its defenses are strong — a philosophy which guided Vinson in his half century in the Congress.

The Great Powers, said Nixon, "have the key to peace or war in their hands and that is what strength is all about."

Vinson, who spoke before Nixon drew applause when he called Nixon "our distinguished and revered President. . ."

"Nixon has done as much as any man alive in keeping this country second to none in national defense," said Vinson, a Democrat. "He has long provided strong leadership in foreign affairs."

Vinson, standing tall and slightly stooped, his grey suit hanging a trifle loose, added in his twangy Georgia drawl, "He is a president who knows peace does not mean weakness."

Nixon, saying that next to country and state, Vinson "loved his navy the most," announced that he had permission from Senate and House leaders to name the nation's third nuclear aircraft carrier, the Carl M. Vinson.

The carrier, Nixon added, is now under construction.

During his decades in Congress, Vinson played a major part in bringing America eventual world leadership on the seas.

During the ceremonies honoring both Vinson's birthday and the 100th anniversary of Mercer's law school, a shouting match took place between students cheering and booing Nixon.

"Impeach Nixon," several hundred protesting students of the University's 2,000-student body shouted, while pro-Nixon students, in the majority, chanted "Three more years."

However, the students, who were in an area roped off from the chapel by the Secret Service, could not be heard inside.

Earlier, as Nixon's motorcade reached the Mercer campus, two persons were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. Police said Carol Kitchens, 22, of Atlanta and Walter Steven Letzsh, 31, of Athens paid $100 fines each and went free.

Vinson, speaking in a clear voice which occasionally quavered, said:

"Thank you, Mr. President, for the evening Mr. Johnson promised me five years ago and for giving an old friend a send off into the ninth decade of his life."

Vinson referred to a conversation he had with the late President Lyndon Johnson on the occasion of Vinson's 85th birthday.

The President, he said, had promised him a celebration at the LBJ ranch in Texas when he reached 90.

"Time rolled by, the months became years and the years piled up," said the former congressman. "Fate decreed otherwise."

He said friends in Washington had picked up the thread of a 90th birthday celebration and "turned it into a far more memorable evening — the hundredth anniversary of the School of Law."

He said the law school from which he was graduated in 1902 at the age of 18 had produced four U.S. senators, 11 congressmen, 45 judges of various courts, six governors of Georgia, two governors of Alabama, one of Texas and one of Puerto Rico.

Senator Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., also praised Vinson's part in developing a defense system "for which generations of freedom-loving Americans and generations yet unborn are in his debt."

He said that when Vinson went to Congress in 1914, the Springfield rifle was the nation's principal weapon and under his leadership the country's defense had evolved to the modern era of the Polaris submarine and intercontinental ballistics missile.

Talmadge said Vinson "talked with presidents and dismissed admirals like cabinboys," but never lost touch with the people of his district.

In the audience sat Vinson's old friend, Admiral John McCain Jr., once head of the Pacific fleet, and Rep. H. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee which Vinson once chaired.

Other dignitaries included Georgia's Gov. Jimmy Carter, Rufus C. Harris, president of Mercer, and Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga.

When ceremonies ended, Mrs. Nixon, who also sat in the audience, was invited to the stage. Clad in a shocking pink dress, she gave Vinson a hug.

As the dignitaries left the stage, Nixon took Vinson's arm and led him off, guiding him down the few short steps.

As they left the chapel, the President was again greeted by mixed boos and cheers.

A young man carrying an anti-Nixon placard stepped briefly in front of one of the cars in the motorcade, halting the motorcade momentarily. He was led from the street by a policeman.

Four professors on the campus distributed a statement saying they had planned to walk out of the chapel when Nixon began his speech. However, they said they were denied entrance despite the fact they had printed invitations.

Benedict Arnold Is Still Guilty, Says Review Bd.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After poring over time-yellowed records, an Army board has ruled solemnly that there isn't enough evidence to clear Gen. Benedict Arnold of Revolutionary War misconduct charges.

But Vincent A. Lindner, a Scotch Plains, N.J., history buff who reopened the 193-year-old case, says "public opinion is now in Arnold's corner" and he's going to appeal to Congress.

The Army's Board For Correction of Military Records did not look into treason accusations that have blackened Arnold's name throughout history.

What it did examine was Lindner's claim that Arnold should not have been convicted by a 1780 court-martial on two charges of misconduct, including "using public wagons to transport private property."

Lindner contends Arnold was a victim of "character assassination" by political enemies, that the prosecution never proved Arnold profited by his actions, and that the general was subjected to double jeopardy because a congressional committee previously had exonorated Arnold of the same charges.

Recently, about five months after agreeing to consider Lindner's formal appeal, the Army board notified him that "insufficient evidence has been presented to indicate probable material error or injustice" and that his application was denied.

Raymond J. Williams, the board's executive secretary, told a reporter "we tried to give the guy (Arnold) a fair shake. We spent a lot of time on the case."

Williams said, "We had extreme difficulty in locating the records of General Arnold's court martial."

"The records were hard to decifer," Williams said. "It was terrible."

Lindner had no complaint against Army board officials, calling them "fair minded men working within the framework of ... military law."

But he said in a letter to The Associated Press that "I have no intention of abandoning my appeal."

Many people who have read or heard of his appeal have been writing to him, Lindner said, and the mail is running at better than nine to one in favor of Arnold.

Lindner plans to encourage historical societies and pro-Arnold people to write their congressmen.

"A congressional committee in 1779 did find Arnold innocent of these charges," Lindner said. "That pronouncement has never been altered. It is to this body, Congress today — an extension of the 1779 body — that we will appeal to."

Four Youths Found Slain

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) Four teen-age youths have been found shot to death in a park near here. Authorities sealed off the area and said they would not comment on any motive in the slayings.

Preliminary police reports indicated the boys, between the ages of 14 and 17, were from South Dakota. But their names and hometowns were not made available.

Police sealed off the Gitchie Manitou Park in extreme northwestern Iowa about 10 miles from here after the bodies of the four youths were found Sunday.

Authorities said they found two of the bodies at what they believed to be the scene of the slayings. The other two had been dragged a short distance away, police said.

The Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation and the Lyon County Sheriff's Office have begun an investigation that includes a search for a dark blue van, believed to have belonged to one of the boys.

The bodies were taken to a Rock Rapids, Iowa, mortuary for identification and notification of next of kin.

Teer Prepares Buy Guest Co.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Nello L. Teer Co. of Durham, a worldwide construction firm, has reached an agreement in principle for the purchase of Romeo Guest Associates, an 80-year-old Greensboro industrial construction company.

A spokesman for Guest said Sunday the Teer Company will purchase the Guest stock from the Guest family for cash "over a period of years."

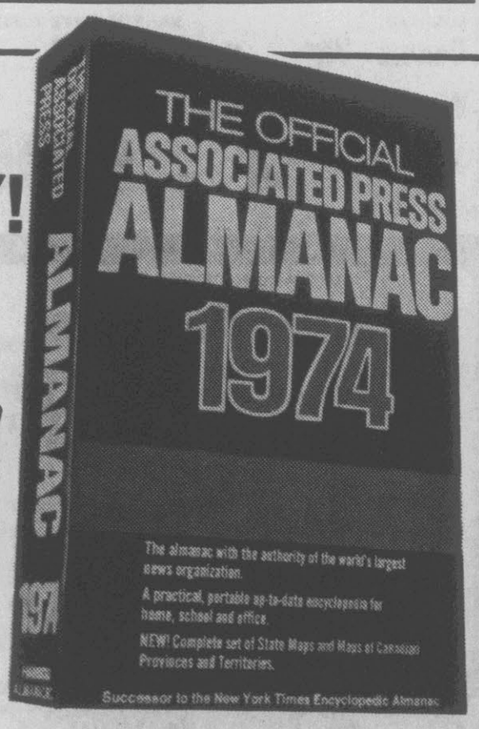

The purchase price was not disclosed.

Clock in bell tower is stilled at the hour earthquake began in Managua.

Long lines of people stand in heat and dust to receive emergency food supplies.

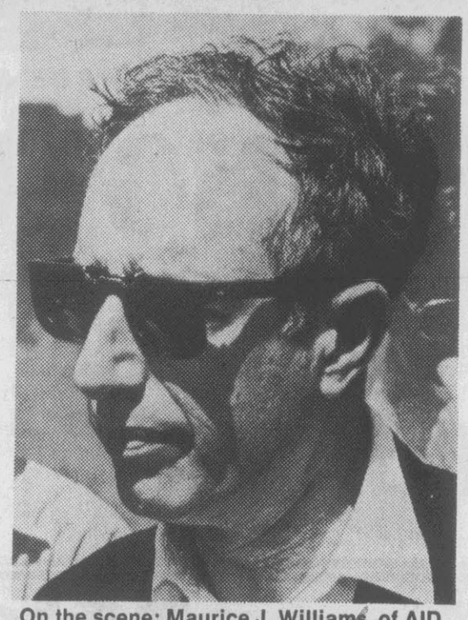

TOWARD RECOVERY

Last December 23, in Managua, capital of Nicaragua, the earth strained and heaved and cracked. The hands of the clock in the cathedral were stilled at 12:23 a.m., the time the first severe earthquake tremor struck the sleeping city. In less than 30 seconds, some 36 blocks—over half the city—were virtually flattened.

The enormous loss of life and property was almost beyond comprehension. The immediate needs were for medical services, food, water and shelter for hundreds of thousands of survivors. International government and voluntary agencies responded quickly with assistance—the U.S., through AID (Agency for International Development), being among the first on the scene. And President Nixon named Maurice J. Williams, AID Deputy Administrator, to be his Special Coordinator for Emergency Relief for Nicaragua.

Now AID has announced a special multipurpose $15 million loan to help Nicaragua move from emergency relief to reconstruction, a major objective being to put the maximum number of survivors back to work on essential activities as soon as possible. The loan brings official U.S. assistance to Nicaragua since the disaster to $27,473,816, while U.S. voluntary agencies have contributed almost $2 million.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't focus on self for best results today and tonight; show others you are concerned for their welfare and happiness; do something to help relieve their burdens. Not good for buying apparel, art, or nonessentials.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be patient with a good partner who could be under stress. Avoid civic matter which could prove disappointing. Get into work that really fascinates you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Reach better understanding with fellow workers through cooperation. Exercise, or take other health treatments during free time. Evening is fine for light social entertaining.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't overspend on luxuries and feel the pinch later. Attend to business efficiently. More empathy for mate increases happiness and well-being.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't lash out at those at home, but do something constructive to improve harmony. Pay bills; cut down on extravagances. Relax and read at home tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be cheerful whether at business or at home and get ahead faster. Keep an eye on your purse; don't let others shortchange you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Improve budget for flexibility and cut down on nonessentials. Make improvements in real estate. Add to value as well as comfort, appearance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't fret over things you don't like, but progress by working at what you do like. Study social matters logically before doing anything about them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get facts and figures straight before acting on puzzling matter. Some situation doesn't please you, but don't judge harshly. Make allowances for error in others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't expect too much from friends now; they are very busy with own affairs. Keep busy at own outlets and you get ahead fast, anyway. Enjoy social in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Trying to pressure others in credit or vocational affairs could lose you their support and goodwill. Study some new system carefully that will build up your reputation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have clever ideas, but before making some change study the matter well. Be sure the trip you are contemplating is really worthwhile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get busy at those tasks or you find others could profit instead of you. Mate can be vexing today, but keep your cool. It soon blows over.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have a particular charm that attracts almost everyone, so be sure to teach early to choose worthwhile people, otherwise your progeny's potential could be greatly diminished. Law, medicine, or psychology could be fine here, since there is a knack for helping humanity. Give good religious training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The Worry Clinic

'Horse Sense' Is Real Asset

Elsie (with her Ph.D.) attacks this column. Yet her editor shows that she must be an avid reader of it. But do you believe her when she defends the use of "Ms." by saying any unmarried girls have CHOSEN to be that way? Elsie is naive!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-573: Elsie (with a Ph.D.) tried to intimidate her editor.

"Dr. Crane," he smilingly began, "she must still be one of your most avid readers!

"For look at this letter which she mailed me and you'll see how she keeps up with every column you write."

Then he handed me the typewritten letter, which included these caustic remarks:

"Why do you publish his 'Worry Clinic' column daily?

"Dr Crane isn't a scholar and he is opinionated, dogmatic and seriously outdated.

"For he has an obsession against the use of 'Ms.' intead of 'Miss' or 'Mrs.'

"And he seems to think it is 'soured spinsters' who demand the use of 'Ms.' instead of 'Miss.'

"Doesn't he realize that any girl who isn't married, almost without exception, has CHOSEN to be so?

"And I shall refrain from his continued obsession with the boudoir!

"I wonder how he ever managed to get his Ph.D. degree.

"As holder of a Ph.D. myself I deplore his oversimplification of serious psychological problems!"

Ph.D. or H.S.

Although I obtained my Ph.D. from work at Yale and Northwestern University (and also hold the M.D.) the most important degree anybody can obtain is the H.S. (Horse Sense).

Many of you readers never went to college, yet you have far more gumption (Horse Sense) than a lot of Ph.D. professors.

Plus the impractical legislators, who foist so many nuisance laws and "red tape" forms for Americans to fill out that we are wasting billions of hours looking backwards, instead of planning new business ventures and inventions to keep ahead of Russia.

Need I remind you of the costly alteration of automobile engines to reduce air pollution?

Yet cars now are reduced almost 50 percent in gasoline mileage!

Which means this concoction of "drawing board dreamers" has now contaminated the air with almost 50 percent more exhaust fumes.

And is burning out motors by retarding the spark and thus overheating the engine.

Farmers, merchants, professional men and others who formerly were creating our superior standard of living, are now being forced into being unpaid bookkeepers of thier past year's records.

Checkout girls and cashiers must also waste valuable time at supermarts, separating the retail sale tax items vs. the non-tax merchandise.

Many of my fellow psychologists on cloistered campuses and in their ivory towers, resent by stripping away their 5-syllable verbiage from basic human problems, which I explain in 2-syllables.

For then you laymen can solve your own dilemmas without paying high fees for polysyllabic diagnoses that your grandmothers could have made in 10 seconds!

And how many of you readers actually believe that "any girl who isn't married, has CHOSEN to be so?"

The essence of all science is simplicity, yet many pseudoscientists try to pat themselves on the back by evolving polysyllabic diagnoses for simple problems.

Send for my "Test for Good Teachers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents and rate your faculty on this 50-point quiz.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Cheap Machine Cleans Water

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Engineers with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have developed a simple, cheap machine that may enable millions of farm and rural families to have clean, pure water and also may help relieve the chlorine shortage in the water purification plants of many cities.

Dr. Ed A. Hiler, engineer in charge of development of the machine, says it uses the salts already present in most water to kill germs that may be present in the water. It also clears out particles that give sorne water color and improves the taste.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Milk cows were practically unknown in California until Americans brought them into the state. Neither Spaniards nor Mexicans favored milking and did little of it during the state's early days.

Can Take Live Heart Tissue

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Medical researchers at Stanford University have developed an instrument which allows them to take a small sample of heart tissue from a living patient.

The bioptome is a peace of wire with a clipper at the end and is inserted into a person's jugular vein and threaded down into the heart. The instrument was pioneered by Japanese physicians 10 years ago.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ8 ♡AQJ7 ◇KQ5 ♣AQ3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	4 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. North's response was not a request for aces but a quantitative raise in no trump. It requests you to go on to slam if you are holding a maximum two no trump opening bid, but with only 22 points, an absolute minimum for your opening bid, you must decline the invitation.

Q. 2 — North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠943 ♡875 ◇AJ93 ♣854
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ◇	Dble.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—One heart. Over the takeout double, you do not have the values for a bid of one no trump, which would show 8-10 points. Nor are your diamonds good enough to pass for penalties. Therefore, you are forced to bid a three-card suit, and you should choose your lowest ranking. Remember, you are not really bidding a suit of your own, but supporting a suit partner has shown with his takeout double.

Q. 3 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ93 ♡AJ74 ◇83 ♣K102
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ◇	Dble.	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's double jump does not show strength, but a long suit without too much in high cards. While you have a superb fit for partner, you hold nothing in reserve for your takeout double. Therefore, you should pass.

Q. 4 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠95 ♡872 ◇AQJ10 ♣KQ94
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	Pass	?

What is your response?

A.—Two clubs. This is preferred to two diamonds because it leaves you slightly better prepared to handle the subsequent auction. Partner is free to introduce a diamond suit if he has one, and if he raises clubs you can test the waters with three hearts.

Q. 5 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠95 ♡7 ◇KQJ93 ♣AQ872
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	Pass	?

What is your response?

A.—This time you have two five-card suits, and your intention should be to bid both of them. Accordingly, you bid them in the natural order—the higher-ranking suit first. If you bid clubs first, the auction could get uncomfortably high if the hand is a misfit.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J73 ♡AQ92 ◇63 ♣AK102
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. We would prefer a holding of four trumps to raise responder's suit, but an alternative of one no trump with a weak doubleton in the unbid suit is more unappetizing. With three trumps to an honor and a ruffing value, we have nothing to be ashamed of.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A982 ♡7 ◇95 ♣K87632
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—One spade. You do not have the values for a two-over-one response of two clubs. Should partner rebid one trump, you can then take out to two clubs, and partner should get the message that you have an unbalanced hand with clubs possibly longer than spades.

Q. 8 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K1092 ♡AQJ83 ◇85 ♣K7
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	1 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner rates to be long in the minor suits, for he could neither respond one spade nor raise hearts. A rebid of two hearts over one no trump would suggest a six-card heart suit.

Oregonians Are Aviation-Minded

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — The State Aeronautics Division reports that Oregon ranks second only to Alaska in the number of state-owned and operated general aviation airports.

There are 6,088 registered airmen in Oregon, 2,459 registered aircraft, 39 municipal airports, 43 commercial airports, 134 private-use airports, 70 heliports, 6 federal airports and 44 state-owned airports. The approximate total assets in general aviation aircraft and airports in Oregon are in excess of $250 million.

4-H CLUBS

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The 4-H Club movement originated in Mississippi.

Back in 1907, William Hall "Corn Club" Smith was superintendent of schools in Mississippi's Holmes County.

He started what was called "corn clubs" for boys.

The movement quickly spread throughtout the South—and later the nation—under the name of 4-H Clubs.

Financing Inmate Study

MOCKSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Silver Daddy is 85 and practically blind. It may be too late for him to learn to read and write, but not for members of his "family" at the Davie County Prison Unit.

Silver Daddy, known on the prison rolls as Isaac Tabor, is seeing that his fellow inmates get the opportunity for an education.

He's financing it with a $7,500 nestegg saved from his Social Security checks. It's money Tabor says he doesn't need.

His home, by choice, is prison.

Tabor's prison story started in 1958 when he was 72.

His wife had died and Tabor moved into a rented room in Thomasville. He and his landlords agreed on very little.

"It got to the place where I had to take them on. I got my shotgun and I shot them," was his explanation. One was killed, the other wounded.

Tabor went to prison under a life sentence but, with a good record, won parole in 1970. Tabor says that was the worst part.

With his eyesight failing, Tabor needed care and attention. He hunted without finding a comfortable place to call home.

Finally, he pleaded with parole officer Paul McCrary: "Take me back."

His parole was revoked July 1, 1971. Three months later, he tried freedom again. Only weeks had passed before he told McCrary, "Take me back to prison. I want to die there."

Tabor adopted the Davie County Prison Unit as his home. He called the 121 inmates his family. For two years his content grew, but then he became concerned about his nestegg.

State authorities said Tabor tried to give the Social Security money back to Uncle Sam, but the offer was refused. Last month, at the suggestion of prison Capt. Dallas Safriet, Tabor reached a decision.

He established the Tabor Humanitarian Trust, financed by his own $7,500, to provide instructional materials and equipment for inmates to study in classes offered by the Davidson County Community College.

Safriet said some of the inmates "are taking adult basic education, learning to read and write. Fourteen of them are taking college parallel courses. We have also used of Silver Daddy's money to buy five sewing machines for men taking tailoring courses, and band saws, table saws and woodworking tools as well."

Tabor now has everything he wants, with possibly one exception. "I would kind of like to have a blue serge suit," he said.

Held Rites For Stedman

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—Funeral services were held Sunday for a former North Carolina state treasurer, John P. Stedman, who died Saturday at a Lumberton hospital at the age of 79. He had been ill for several months before his death.

Stedman was president of Scottish Bank in Lumberton from 1939 until 1963 when it merged with First Union National Bank of Charlotte. He then became board chairman of First Union.

The Oxford native, who attended the University of North Carolina in 1928, served as state treasurer in 1931, appointed to that position by Gov. O. Max Gardner to fill an unexpired term.

Stedman was a member of the North Carolina Banking Commission for several terms and of the executive committee of the American Bankers Association for a time. He served as president of the North Carolina Bankers Association in 1963-64.

Stedman was a prime mover in the establishment of the Robeson County Public Library and for a time was chairman of the North Carolina Business Development Corp.

He is survived by his widow, Victoria Earle Steadman; one son, John Branch Stedman of Charlotte; one daughter, Mrs. Victoria Stedman Clement of Greenville; and five grandchildren.

For More Pay To Lawmakers

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas political observer Alvin A. Burger thinks better salaries are needed to keep good legislators in the service of the state.

Burger has recommended lawmakers' salaries be raised from the current $4,800 a year.

"We've seen in recent years an increasing number of our ablest and hardest working legislators compelled to drop out because of the economic hardship to themselves and their families," he said.

NOTICE OF SALE

North Carolina
Pitt County

Under and by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in those certain deeds of trust executed by R. E. Rogers and wife, Louise Harris Rogers, to J. T. Marston, Jr., Trustee, dated the 20th day of November, 1968, and recorded in Book C-38, page 465 in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, North Carolina, and dated the 22nd day of January, 1969 and recorded in Book G-38, page 167 in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, North Carolina; and under and by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned as Substituted Trustee by an instrument of writing dated the 29th day of October, 1973, and recorded in Book C-42, page 72, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, North Carolina, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured and the said deeds of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, and the holder of the indebtedness thereby secured having demanded a foreclosure thereof for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness, the undersigned Substituted Trustee will offer for sale at Public Auction to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse door in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at 12:00 Noon on the 5th day of December, 1973, the land conveyed in said deeds of trust, the same lying and being in Greenville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

That certain lot, tract or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, State of North Carolina, and well known as the Harris Tobacco Warehouse property, located between Fifth Street and Dickinson Avenue and being bounded on the east by Greene Street, on the south by the property of the Standard Oil Co., and others on the west by Pitt Street and on the north by what is known as the Heber Forbes property and others, and being the same property upon which is located the Harris Tobacco Warehouse, together with the vacant lot adjoining said warehouse lot, and being the same property conveyed to R. E. Harris by deed from R. A. Tyson and wife, dated March 9, 1928, and recorded in Book G-17 at page 548 of the Pitt County Registry, and by deed from Mrs. Anna A. Rountree et al., dated March 16, 1928, and recorded in Book G-17 at page 553 of said Registry, and deed from Susan Moore to R. E. Harris recorded in Book G-17 at page 549 of said Registry, and from Ruth Andrews Whichard et al. to Mrs. Retha Harris et al. by deed dated January 4, 1936, and recorded in Book F-21 at page 212. Reference is also made to deed from J. D. Hice et al. to R. E. Harris, Jr., and R. E. Rogers and wife, Louise H. Rogers, dated January 5, 1946, and recorded in Book G-24 at page 345 of the Pitt County Registry, and reference is made to the aforesaid deeds.

This sale will be made subject to all outstanding taxes and municipal assessments, if any, and the successful bidder at said sale will be required to deposit a sum equivalent to ten percent (10 percent) of his bid as evidence of good faith pending the confirmation of said sale.

This 31st day of October, 1973.
