

Senate Approves Energy Emergency Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a measure declaring a one-year nationwide energy emergency and authorizing President Nixon to order gasoline rationing and other fuel-saving steps.

Approved Monday by a vote of 78 to 6, the bill now goes to the House, which is in recess for Thanksgiving but which will reconvene next Monday.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chief sponsor of the bill, said he hopes to have it on Nixon's desk next week.

The action came as administration officials said closing gas stations on Sunday, a ban on Sunday driving, and shutting public parks to automobiles are among the steps being considered to deal with the problem.

The Senate-passed bill declares a year-long nationwide energy emergency during which the President would maintain a system of rationing in readiness, although not necessarily in effect. Nixon has said he hopes to avoid rationing.

Reductions in speed limits, thermostat restrictions in both public and private offices and curtailment of hours in schools and other institutions would be authorized.

The President could also order power plants and factories to switch from oil and gas to less scarce coal if possible. Regulatory agencies could change the rules governing schedules of airlines and railroads.

Mass transit systems under the bill would get federal subsidies as well as high priority on fuel.

Industries would be allowed to violate clean air standards if forced to burn dirtier fuels. Actions taken under the bill would be exempt for one year from any requirement for an environmental impact statement.

Before final passage the Senate adopted an amendment that would allow Congress to terminate the emergency after six months, if it decides the energy-saving measures are no longer needed.

Holshouser Here November 29 On People's Day Tour

Gov. Jim Holshouser will hold his monthly "People's Day" in Greenville November 29 at the Greenville City Hall.

The governor will be available to meet with citizens on a first-come, first-serve basis from 10 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. Interviews will be limited to five minutes each to assure that as many people as possible have the opportunity to see the governor. And citizens are assured that their sessions with Holshouser will be private.

"This will be our first People's Day in Pitt County," the governor said. "I am looking forward a great deal to seeing many of the people of that area."

The purpose of the governor's "People's Days" is to allow people to bring to the governor's personal attention any problems, complaints or suggestions they have involving state government.

With Gov. Holshouser on his Greenville visit will be Fred Gallagher, the "People's Man".

It is Gallagher's responsibility to see to it that all matters brought before the governor are followed up by the appropriate agency. A response is assured in each case, whether or not the problem or complaint can be solved or the suggestion implemented, the Governor's office said.

Anyone who shows up for People's Day is unable to see the governor for lack of time will be asked to leave his name, address and the nature of his problem, complaint or suggestion. These will be followed up in the same manner as items which come to the governor or Gallagher each day through letters, telephone calls and personal visits.

As each visitor arrives at the Greenville City Hall, he will be given a number designating his place in line. Then as each person's number is called, he will move into the governor's reception office.

From there, he will go into the private office provided the governor.

The Greenville visit will be Holshouser's ninth People's Day since taking office in January. Three have been held at the State Capitol in Raleigh, and one each in Asheville, Wilmington, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Charlotte.

OK Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules committee today voted unanimously to approve the nomination of House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

The vote sends Ford's nomination to the Senate floor. House leaders plan a final vote in that body next week.

School Holidays

Thursday and Friday will be observed as Thanksgiving holidays for students and personnel in the Greenville and Pitt County School Systems.

Pitt County students will receive an additional holiday on Monday which has been designated as a teacher workday.

All school offices, including maintenance, transportation and administrative, will be closed for the two-day observance.

School will reopen Monday morning for Greenville City Schools' students and on Tuesday morning for students attending Pitt County Schools.

The Thanksgiving holiday will begin at the close of school Wednesday afternoon.

Pressure On Rose High To Get Football Facility

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The lingering issue of a football facility for Rose High School reared its head again last night as members of the Greenville School Board heard a report that a "squeeze" is being put on the city schools by East Carolina University for Rose High to find some place other than Ficklen Stadium for their games.

Superintendent Glenn Cox, citing a letter of October 18 from Clarence Stasavich, noted the ECU Athletic Council, meeting on October 13, had recommended that no high schools games be scheduled on Friday nights or within five days prior to ECU home games. The Athletic Council is an advisory board and their recommendations go to higher levels in the university.

Cox said he and Rose High principal Robert Alligood, in meetings since that date with Stasavich and others at ECU, has been able to work in 1974-75 games around the ECU schedule, "but after that it's going to be more difficult."

"One of the problems is we're obligated to play Friday nights to make meet," Cox said. "My recommendation at this point is that we begin to study potential sites for a Rose High football facility." Cox said under the present arrangement there would be "inevitable conflicts" in any effort to schedule games.

After Cox finished his report, Mrs. Lucille Gorham commented "I feel they're saying 'find yourself a place to go!'"

"They didn't take that attitude when they got money from me and other people in town when they were soliciting money to build the stadium," Lester Turnage commented. "I personally asked them when I contributed if Rose High would be able to play and they said 'yes sir.'"

"Well, this is a new ball game," Mrs. Gorham added.

"I've been meeting with the ECU folks once or twice a year since I've been here," Alligood said. "The squeeze is getting tighter all the time. Based on a letter I have received from them, it's within their power to say we can't play anytime they want to."

"We all know it's in the wind, plans for expansion of the stadium to seat 35,000. I can see that it's coming to the point the ECU facility will not be available to us anymore, and that the time has come to think of a facility for us."

Cox noted the university had offered to give the city schools the old lights and poles at Ficklen, as plans are to replace the lights there. "This would be a tremendous help to us," Cox noted.

As a result of the report, a committee will study the situation and come up, not with concrete recommendations for a facility at this time, but with facts and figures on what could be done and what the costs would be. "We might as well admit we're talking about money in the amount of $150,000," Alligood said.

A second problem area discussed at the November school board meeting was that of behavior on school buses. From observations made by board members, it was revealed that most of the reported problems center around Aycock junior high school students.

Ed Carter expressed a feeling there should be a policy that makes riding a school bus a privilege, and a student who did not conduct himself properly would have this privilege taken away.

The state provides payment of $2.07 per hour for school bus drivers. In Greenville, the average salary for a 20 plus weekly work hour works out to about $100 a month, which, it was pointed out, precludes drawing extensively on the adult labor pool as a source of bus drivers.

Alligood said it was extremely difficult for a young person to discipline his peers, and that this fact was at the heart of the problem. "We have means of dealing with conduct problems when they are reported," he said, "but I know that many of the day-by-day problems encountered on buses never get reported to us."

In other matters, the school board:

—Heard a report from Mrs. Ann Harrison on the progress being made in the Prevocational Adjustment Through Behaviour Modification Center (P-VAC) program. Now in its second year, the school wide program is involving about 150 students, and has a waiting list of 56 students to be taken in when space becomes available.

—Heard a report from Rose High principal Alligood that in the first grading period that of a total of 7,684 grades issued, the breakdown shows: 1,337 A's, 1,950 B's, 1,840 C's, 1,404 D's and 1,040 E's (or failures; and 113 incompletes. When questioned on the reasons for the 14 per cent rate of grades failure, Alligood said that "about five percent of the students account for 80 per cent of the failing grades. Most of these fall in the sophomore classes."

"There is nothing to do but fail a youngster if he doesn't care or fails to come to school," Alligood said.

—Received information that the City Council has approved and will soon install a traffic light at the five street corner location adjacent to Sadie Sautler School.

—Heard Cox read a letter informing the board that a lot east of Sadie Sautler might possibly be available for purchase. The board earlier gave approval to purchase of additional land adjacent to Sadie Sautler and has already acquired three lots.

Other matters considered at the three and one half hour meeting, and action taken include:

—Announcement of a tutor workshop to be held at Wahl-

Energy Crisis Uncertainty Is Sinking Stocks

By DEIRDRE DONNELLY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts say growing investor concern that an energy crisis might lead to a major recession in 1974 is the factor which is sending the stock market plunging. Monday's drop of 28.67 points was the worst day for the Dow Jones average in 11 years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, used widely as an indicator of general market trends, fell Monday to 862.66, the fifth largest daily drop in its history.

It was the blue chip indicator's biggest single-day loss since May 28, 1962, during a confrontation between the major steel companies and President John F. Kennedy. It dropped 34.94 points on that occasion.

The broader based New York

Stock Exchange index of 1,500 common stocks fell 1.72 to 53.76, its steepest single-day decline since its inception in July 1966.

Analysts said a further indicator of the broadness of the decline was that an extraordinary amount of New York Stock Exchange issues — 1,404 — lost ground, compared to only 198 making advances during the trading session.

"This energy crisis is very hard to quantify and investors are uncertain about it," said Alan Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. "No one knows whether it means an all-out recession or worse."

Analysts said another factor in the major decline in the market was that the institutions — banks, insurance companies and mutual funds — which dominate it generally stood aside during the energy crisis uncertainties and did not trade.

Twisters Killed 5

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A winter storm sent tornadoes hopping across sections of Oklahoma, causing scattered damage and killing five persons, officials said. Three of the dead were infants.

All five deaths were reported in a two-county area around Oklahoma City, but another 50 persons were reported injured from the twisters which touched down Monday afternoon and Monday night in the central, north central and northwestern sections of the state.

The cold front said by weather forecasters to be responsible for the storms was situated in the northwestern area of the state early today. The National Weather Service predicted it would bring one to three inches of snow to that section today.

Two infants died as a twister slammed through a mobile home park in Moore; an Oklahoma City man died when the roof of a county warehouse he was guarding fell on him and a woman and an infant were killed when a storm ripped through sections of Cleveland County.

Donated 80 Pints

FARMVILLE — Monday's Bloodmobile visit here resulted in the collection of 80 pints of blood, according to Pitt Blood chairman Billy Ross.

Ross, noting that he was "very pleased" with the results of the Farmville visit, said that there were five persons rejected yesterday in addition to the 80 units collected.

The chairman thanked the "Farmville ladies and nurses for their volunteer efforts yesterday" and singled out Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, who coordinated the Bloodmobile activities, for her work.

"I especially want to thank the people of First Christian Church for making their facilities available to us," Ross added.

The Bloodmobile was at D. H. Conley High School today for a 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. visit.

Park Trees Are Chopped Down

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The city has withdrawn an offer of free firewood after residents chopped down trees in several city parks to use in case they run out of heating oil this winter.

Hundreds of trees have been lost, says F. Marion Diehl, director of the parks and recreation commission. He says the commission will prosecute anyone caught helping himself.

BUSING COST

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina taxpayers spent $26.1 million last year in transporting children to public schools.

Pitt United Fund Drive Slowly Moving To Goal

The Pitt United Fund is slowly moving toward its campaign goal as pledges and contributions, to date, represent roughly 71 per cent of the total projected figure.

Campaign chairman Bill Dansey reported that $125,793.65 has been collected so far towards the 1974 fund goal of $174,692.84.

Although several divisions are running behind last year's collection pace, three have either exceeded or are approaching division goals.

The Industrial Division, under Paul Taddiken, has collected $77,534.52, topping the set goal of $71,500. The campaign's new "200 Plus"

Division, headed by Dr. Ray Minges, currently stands at $18,693.78 or some $4,693.78 over the projected goal. The East Carolina University Division with Dr. David Stevens coordinating activities is just under its $14,300 goal with $12,929.81 and the anticipated figure should be reached soon.

Other divisions and their current totals include: Professional I, $2,815; Professional II, $230; Professional III, $570; Advance Gifts, $1,585.50; Business I, $1,942.50; Business II, $2,397.50; Special Gifts, $998.40; Governmental, $1,435.50; Goal Buster, $1,004.88; and County, $2,656.26.

$148,000 Swimming Pool Complex OK'd By Recreation Bd.

By SUSAN PRICE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Recreation Commission last night approved a new site and plan for Greenville's swimming pool during the commissions' November meeting at the Elm Street Gymnasium.

Commissioners approved a three pool and bath house complex, designed by architect Bill Friend, to be built in the Guy Smith Stadium just off Memorial Drive.

The swimming pool complex will include a 25-meter L-shaped pool, complete with racing lanes, a wading pool, and a 12-foot deep diving well. The area will include a total of 5,300 square feet of pool space. Friend estimated the cost of the complex at $148,000, which will include the three pools, a 15,000 square foot concrete deck, and a 2,350 square foot bath house.

The pool complex will also include three lifeguard stands, and steps and rails for the handicapped. An estimated 714 people will be able to use the complex at the same time with room for 245 swimming at one time.

The pool was originally planned for construction at Evans Park, but a soil analysis of the area showing quicksand below the five foot level proved construction at the site too costly.

Bids for the pool's construction are expected to be let this month. Plans are tentatively scheduled for approval before the City Council in the council's February meeting.

If plans for the pool continue on schedule, it should be ready for use by mid summer of 1974.

Commissioners said the groups next priority will be to determine a site for teenage activities in Greenville.

Recreation Director Boyd

Lee told commissioners that a brochure to provide information on programs for the handicapped in Greenville will soon be complete. He also said the department is preparing a booklet showing potential property donors the tax advantages of donating property to the city for recreational use.

According to the Recreation Department's monthly report, a total of 21,791 participants used the Elm Street, South Greenville and West Greenville recreation centers during October for the various activities offered there.

Intern Recreation Department member Jerry Clark showed Commissioners a slide presentation as a part of his project on Greenville's recreation facilities.

When complete, the slide presentation will be available for use by the Recreation Department to show clubs or business groups what Greenville has to offer in recreation facilities.

Clark told the group that the presentation should be complete by spring, and will include about 95 slides.

Reinsurance Plan Seen As Better Deal In N.C.

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

North Carolina Commissioner of Insurance John Ingram spoke here yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the University City Kiwanis Club and told his audience that the people of the state experience a "change for the better" when the state's reinsurance plan went into effect October 9, thus doing away with the assigned risk auto liability program.

When the assigned risk system was abolished in October, Ingram noted, "it was a first not only for North Carolina but for the United States...because North Carolina is the first state in the union to replace the assigned risk with a reinsurance plan."

Assigned risk is a form of sharing losses, "but it causes arbitrary assignment of people," Ingram explained.

Under the reinsurance plan, Ingram explained, "a motorist may go to the agent of his choice and the company of his choice, and that agent must write him an automobile liability insurance policy if the motorist has a valid driver's license and the money to pay his premium."

This alone, the insurance commissioner said, "ends the stigma of being placed on assigned risk, of being assigned to a company that the motorist did not want."

Thirty per cent of all motorists in the state were being placed in assigned risk, and "as a matter of fact, 65 per cent of the people placed on assigned risk were safe drivers with no driving violation points on their driving records for the past three years."

They were placed on assigned risk, Ingram said, "simply because they were under 25 or over 65 or for numerous other discriminatory reasons."

"The most important feature of the new system, according to Ingram, 'is the fact that it ends cancellations and non-renewals. From now on, when a motorist walks into the agent's office of his choice, that agent must write him a liability insurance policy. Not only must he write him a

Remarry And Don't Worry About Kids

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think an 80-year-old man is foolish to consider remarriage? Some of my children do. I am a widower who has been alone for 12 years, during which time I have been in the company of some lovely eligible women. But I never have wanted to marry until I met My Fair Lady. She is 65 and has been a widow for 10 years.

We are both in reasonably good health, and we would like to spend the rest of our lives together, making each other happy. All our children are married. Some approve of our plans to marry; some do not.

I own my own home and have a little money. In view of the mixed feelings of our children, should we sneak off and get married by a preacher with just a few friends as witnesses? Or should we have a small church wedding, invite all the children, and let those who want to, come, and those who don't, stay home? YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: Why sneak? Do whatever pleases you and your Fair Lady. The last thing you should worry about is what your children think.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend and I are both 17. When Lydia does something to displease her parents, they make her stand in a corner.

A couple of times when I've come to take her out on a date, her father has said: "Lydia can leave in about 10 minutes—after she's thru standing in the corner." So I just sit and cool my heels while Lydia stands in the corner with her face to the wall.

I think this is a ridiculous way to punish a 17-year-old girl, but of course it's not my place to butt in.

Are you familiar with this stupid punishment? And if so, what's the reason for it? And what do you think of using it on a 17-year-old? FEELING WEIRD IN MD.

DEAR WEIRD: Yes, I'm familiar with it. It's a very effective way to make a child settle down and reflect on the reason he's being punished. But to use it on a girl of dating age, in the presence of her date, I think is cruel and unusual punishment.

DEAR ABBY: Our church recently installed a set of "chimes"—a large tape player and four huge speakers, mounted on top of the church. The music is all hymns, played on an organ with loud bells. They play it at least once a day from 15 to 45 minutes, and sometimes it's played three times a day.

This can be heard all over town, and people who live four miles from town say they are disturbed by it, too.

I live near the church, and this is pretty hard to take. It's impossible to carry on a conversation [in our house, mind you], and this music is too loud to be considered pretty.

I think church music belongs IN church. If teen-agers played their rock music this loud at a party, the police would break up the party and charge the kids with disturbing the peace.

This is a small town. My peace is disturbed. I am a tax-paying senior citizen who has asked the pastor of the church to please tone the music down. He did for a while. Now it's as loud as ever. Maybe if you print this, it will help. SMALL TOWN

DEAR SMALL TOWN: I hope so. I nearly got a headache reading your letter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT" IN ESSEX JUNCTION, VT: Heed the wise words of Noah Webster: "By taking revenge, a man is even with his enemy, but by passing it over, he is superior." Now is your opportunity to be superior.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Since 50 percent of all toys are sold in November and December, it follows then that a higher incidence of injury from dangerous toys will result after Christmas.

The Consumer Protection Division, in cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), has compiled a list of toy safety tips which we hope will aid parents in the selection of Christmas toys this season.

—Consideration should be given to the age and size of the child, his abilities, and the area in which he plays with his toys. The ages of other children in the family also should be considered. A toy that is safe for one child may be dangerous in the hands of an unsupervised and less skillful brother or sister.

—Toys that feature exposed flame in use or are made of combustible materials should be avoided. Chemistry sets, rockets and rocket kits, and similar toys should be bought only for older children. The minimum age recommended by the manufacturers of such toys should be heeded.

—Since electrical cords on toys can wear through, toys such as trains and miniature "home appliances" for little girls should be checked periodically. Such toys should not be purchased for the very young. Do not allow the child to remove or replace electrical components.

—Special care must be taken with toys that have trailing loops and cords. A child should be taught never to put these loops or cords around him in a way that they may trip or choke him.

—Toy arrows should be tipped with some soft substance that cannot be removed. When some suction tips come off, they expose dangerous sharp points.

—Check for labels on fabric products, such as stuffed toys and dolls, for "nonflammable," "flame-retardant," or "flame-resistant" notices.

—Avoid toys that produce excess noise. Even toy cap pistols fired too close to a child's ear can cause damage.

CPSC's new telephone hot line provides a free, direct link between consumers & the agency in Washington. Hot line operators take names and addresses and send consumers CPSC's Banned Product List, which lists Federally banned toys, and other toy safety information. If a consumer has a question about a particular toy or wants to make a complaint about a toy, the operator takes the consumer's telephone number, and a staff member returns the call. Consumers may call 800-638-2666 toll free. (Machines will answer calls during nonoffice hours, and consumers may record a message to the CPSC staff.)

Refrigerate whole hams no longer than seven days; cured half hams, cured ham slices or fresh ham, no more than three to five days. Fresh hams may be kept in the freezer (0 degrees F. or lower) four to eight months, but cured hams no more than one to two months. Freezing is not recommended for cured meats, though, because it can change flavor and texture.

Some Lawmakers Said Finding The Job Too Costly

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—Several North Carolina legislators say they have heard that some lawmakers will not seek reelection in 1974 because they cannot afford to devote the time to annual sessions of the General Assembly.

"I have heard that," said veteran Rep. Robert Jones, D-

Rutherford, chairman of the House Rules Committee.

"If we were to take a straw vote in 1974 on annual sessions it would be defeated," Jones said in an interview. "But I still feel that annual sessions are best."

Jones said, "I have heard some disgruntled people at meetings of interim committees and subcommittees because it is taking so much of their time. Attendance has been very poor at some committee and subcommittee sessions. At the smaller committee levels the attendance has been good and the work hard."

Rep. Sam Johnson, D-Wake, said, "We're going to have more semi retired people serving in annual sessions. It also will attract some people who have money and minimum responsibilities. That's not the type of people you want to head the legislative branch."

Johnson said the General Assembly is such a powerful body that under annual sessions "it's going to overshadow the executive branch because of its additional power."

The 1973 General Assembly approved a resolution to go into annual sessions in January.

Rep. W. R. Roberson, D-Beaufort, who has announced he will not seek reelection, said, "I didn't go to the General Assembly for the money involved and I'm not quitting for that reason." He wants to devote more time to his family and business interests.

Roberson said he believes the cost of the General Assembly will multiply under annual sessions "without comparable benefits to the public."

"It will increase but not multiply," said Jones.

Sen. J. J. Harrington, D-Bertie, agreed that annual sessions will give more strength to the General Assembly. He said, "We'll have better government under annual sessions provided it is limited to three-month sessions."

Rep. Claude DeBruhl, D-Buncombe, a strong supporter of annual sessions, said, "Special interest groups don't want annual sessions because it will cost them too much. The state budget will have closer scrutiny with more meaningful input under annual sessions. The committees are further ahead in their work, and the study commissions are more meaningful."

Asked if he thought Gov. Jim Holshouser had driven a wedge between his office and the General Assembly with the recent mass firing of highway employees, DeBruhl said: "Holshouser didn't have rapport with the legislature to begin with except through those weak-kneed Democrats who thought they could court favor on Capitol Hill. He has very effectively convinced those weak-kneed legislators that politics on the state level is still a party matter, and Mr. Holshouser is playing it to the advantage of his party as would be expected."

Sen. Harrington said he doesn't "ever want to go back to Raleigh and stay six or seven months long" as was the case in 1971. He said it is better to serve three months each year. But, he added, "a lot of people don't want annual sessions."

At present, legislators are paid $2,400 a year and $25 a day for expenses while in session. Jones has asked that it be increased to at least $7,500 a year.

Dream Of Music Field Success Appears Nearer

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
Greenville cabinetmaker Huey Harrison is on the way to having his dream of "making it big" in country music come true he hopes.

Several months ago a songwriter friend of his sister, Jan, Jimmy Steen of Jacksonville, asked him to dub (sing) some songs he had written to submit to a Nashville, Tenn. song publishing company. The company wrote back inquiring about the singer. A tape was sent and soon he was in Nashville recording a song written especially for him by Johnny Howard and Charlie Fields, Nashville music publicists.

The song, on Safari records, is called "Can't Keep My Mind Off Loving You." On the flip side is "Golden Band of Dreams." Both songs are "going well" around the country, according to reports coming into Nashville, he said. He explained that stations all over the U.S. report to Nashville on which songs the disc jockeys like and which are the most requested by their listeners. It will take a while to know the outcome, but if the first record is well accepted and is a good seller, he will be further promoted by Nashville. In fact, he admits, they've already had him record two more songs, one of which was written by Steen.

Going to Nashville to record was a thrill in itself, Harrison said. Staff musicians of the Grand Old Opry were his backup band, and he met a lot of "big names" in country music. Promotion portraits were made.

Harrison comes from a musical family, he said. "My daddy and my uncles always played one instrument or another and we used to get together and pick and sing for hours. I owe a lot to my brother-in-law, Paul Harris, who started me playing as a youngster when he showed me three chords on the guitar."

He also recalled times during World War II when Irving Rouse and other cronies would come around and "play for cigarettes." Rouse, originally from Ayden, is well known for his "Orange Blossom Special."

Harrison plays several instruments, but his forte is singing. He has a tenor voice that makes one listening to his record think of the singer as possibly an 18- or 20-year-old, instead of a mature man.

He's 36, the husband of the former Jean Smith of Greenville and the father of four daughters. He said he's performed throughout Eastern North Carolina and in the Norfolk area, for several years with the Country Kings, a group well known in these parts.

"I really appreciate the way local people are requesting my record be played by the local radio station," he said. They tell me it should be in the local stores that sell records in the next week or so. They're getting requests already, they tell me," he said.

Plan United Thanksgiving Services

Greenville churches will unite for a Union Thanksgiving Service Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the new Memorial Baptist Church, 1510 S. E. Greenville Blvd.

The Rev. Troy J. Barrett, pastor of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church, will preach and the Rev. Daniel T. Earnhardt, director of the ECU Wesley Foundation and president of the Greenville Ministerial Association, will preside.

Others taking part in leading the service include: the Rev. Norman C. Bennett and Mrs. Ruth Garner of the host church, and the Rev. Clarence B. Gray, Triumph Baptist Church.

Rev. Barrett's sermon will be "Thanksgiving in Three Dimensions," and the Memorial Baptist choir will sing Zingarelli's "Go Not Far From Me" as the anthem under the direction of Danny Tindall with Joseph Goodwin at the organ.

Both Protestant and Roman Catholic, black and white, theologically conservative and liberal congregations are involved in this community worship service. Families are encouraged to attend and to bring their young children.

Fuel Shortage Is Already Felt

North Carolinians are beginning to feel the fuel shortage now.

So far as the automobile is concerned, motorists are finding it more difficult to find service stations open in the evening and on weekends. The operators reason that if their gas supplies are short they might as well sell it during shorter hours.

It is also not unusual to find that service stations are limiting the amount of gas they will sell to a customer on weekends. Thus the motorist might be told he can have two or three dollars worth.

'Package Plan' From Assembly

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — While it is entirely too early now to say definitely what will emerge from the summer-long study of the medical manpower shortage in North Carolina, participants and observers agree that a package of complex steps will be hammered out by the General Assembly in the 1974 session.

Those involved agree that steps must be taken to implement in some form these major provisions:

—Continued expansion of a medical program at East Carolina, with provisions for the second year undergraduate program right away and with provisions to assure slots for North Carolina residents at ECU and for primary care training;

—Expansion of the medical program at UNC Chapel Hill with guarantees of more space for Tar Heels, and of a shift of focus to primary care training (family medicine, pediatrics, obstetrics, gynecology) as opposed to more specialization;

—Financial pressure on Duke and Wake Forest to increase space for Carolinians, and to shift focus also to more primary care work;

—Insistence that the university system work toward a unified medical training program at Chapel Hill, ECU and possibly other regional campuses;

—More Residencies —Expansion of residency and intern positions in existing participating hospitals, and expansion to other hospitals all over the state;

—Increased financial loan programs for medical students through the Department of Human Resources, with strings to guarantee practice in this state, and increased state funds paid to medical schools at Duke and Bowman-Gray for Carolina students;

—Continued expansion of physician extender programs such as family nurse practitioner and physician assistant outreach clinic.

David Warren, an expert in health matters with the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill, has attempted to draw the various proposed relief measures into some sort of focus. He recently presented a study committee with a draft outline of the various steps set forth, labeling the outline "for discussion only."

Warren's efforts were viewed with interest by members of the committee, and may establish at least guidelines for the direction which will be taken.

At the heart of his proposal,

Now another change in driving is coming about because of the gasoline shortage. Gov. Holshouser has ordered that North Carolina highway speed limits be lowered to 55 miles per hour.

Given the essential nature of this move, it is likely that the speed laws will be rigidly enforced by state troopers. Thus it is going to be important that all of us watch our speed on the highways.

There were plenty of speedsters on the highways before the speed limit was dropped; most of us however, tried to abide by the posted speed limits. Now it is going to be even more important that all of us reduce our speed. If we don't there simply may not be enough gas to last.

Great Care Necessary By Pipeline Engineers

It was inevitable that the Alaska pipeline bill would be approved and work on this link to Alaskan oil would get underway.

President Nixon signed a bill last week to authorize construction of the $4.5 billion project.

Given the gravity of the oil crisis, the oil pipeline is probably essential to this nation.

We should keep in mind though that there is an environmental danger from the pipeline, and it should be engineered in every way to protect the environment.

Dispell Doubts Over Jaworski

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — When special prosecutor Leon Jaworski filed a brief last Monday arguing that not even the President has the right to break the law in the name of national security, the last lingering doubts about him by the ardent young lawyers he inherited from the deposed Archibald Cox were removed.

Since arriving in Washington Nov. 5, Jaworski had approved in detail everything being done under Cox, reiterating demands for presidential papers which triggered Cox's dismissal. But there remained the possibility that Jaworski, a Houston corporation lawyer not known for challenging the establishment, would swallow the White House argument that some covert operations of the Plumbers unit should remain shrouded for reasons of national security. His brief filed in federal court erased that possibility.

This means the prosecution is continuing its potentially explosive investigation of the Plumbers under Jaworski precisely as it did under Cox, demanding documents that are supposed to reveal covert operations—the possible next shock in the Watergate affair. In the opinion of high Justice Department officials, Cox's insistence on probing the Plumbers was a major reason for President Nixon's determination to sack him.

In sum, Jaworski has been a grim disappointment to the White House. Presidential aides had hoped he would fire some Cox's lieutenants and bring in his own men, narrow the prosecution down to the Watergate burglary itself and quickly vote out some new Watergate indictments. So far, he has made no change of importance in Cox's operations.

Since even the most intractable hardest-liners at the White House do not want a dangerous confrontation with Jaworski, Mr. Nixon's lawyers have indicated to him that all of the material about the Plumbers denied Cox will be made available (though, at this writing, it has not yet been delivered to the prosecutors).

Jaworski's posture has been nearly as surprising to Cox's old lieutenants. On the eve of his arrival here, they believed that Mr. Nixon—though at tremendous cost to his presidency—had tamed the prosecution with his Saturday night massacre of Oct. 20. Through his attitude from the first day on the job, Jaworski indicated that the Saturday night massacre had accomplished nothing.

A footnote: White House aides still hope that Jaworski will soften the investigation once the furor finally dies down. In the meantime, they will search for evidence to indicate that at least something was accomplished in firing Cox. For instance, if any Watergate indictments are returned within the next two weeks (as the White House devoutly hopes), Nixon aides will argue that this shows Jaworski means business while Cox was just out to get the President.

Military's Energy As part of the effective oil squeeze being applied by the Arab world, Italy is being pressured to halt refueling of the U.S. 6th Fleet in Italian ports—a step that would further aggravate the severe fuel shortage afflicting the U.S. military.

Italy, as a NATO partner, has resisted Arab pressure so far. But U.S. officials fear the Italians may eventually follow the course of Singapore, which stopped refueling the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Pacific when faced with Arab threats of cutting off its own oil shipments. Even without an Italian cut-off, the military now is taking 300,000 barrels of oil a day out of the civilian economy and thereby contributing to possible economic dislocations.

A footnote: If the draconian fuel conservation measures for the U.S. military are extended indefinitely by the Arab squeeze, high Pentagon officials fear a decline in operational preparedness of the U.S. armed forces. Particularly vulnerable: Air Force readiness if flying time for pilots is permanently reduced.

Investigate Kent State? Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio, President Nixon's Attorney General-designate, has privately disowned his public statement that he might well close the reopened investigation of the Kent State killings.

In public, Saxbe has expressed opposition to the decision by Elliot Richardson as Attorney General in reopening the emotionally (Continued on page 5)

Strength For Today

MARTYRDOM The word "martyr" comes from a Greek word, "Martyr," which means a witness. Because Christian witnessing down through history has so often resulted in suffering and death at the hands of persecutors, we have come to regard a martyr as one who die for his faith. The word originally meant, however, a person who lives for his faith and bears witness to its validity.

Although there are many people theoretically willing to die for their faith (and "theoretically" might be stressed in this connection), even a cursory reading of the Bible makes it apparent that God is primarily interested in having men and women live for their faith. Agonizing as is martyrdom in the generally accepted sense of the word, living an upright, conscientious, believing life also calls for high courage. The martyrdom involving torture and death is glorious, but so is the life involving patience and trust in a world where it is hard to meet temptation and sorrow and surmount them.

No Longer The Patsies

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK
David Packard, former Deputy Secretary of Defense and long a leading figure in American industry, made a telling speech in New York City last month. Excerpts from his text appear in the November 17 issue of Human Events.

At about the same time Packard was speaking, a special task force of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce was wrapping up its report on what the free enterprise system might do toward preserving the free enterprise system.

Taking one event with the other, I venture the thought — the timid, tentative thought — that the American

Other Editors Say Car Pool Feasible

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

It had become obvious for some time before President Nixon spoke to the nation about the need for energy conservation that Americans were going to have to tighten up on their use of energy, and that included gasoline.

Many proposals have been offered, including those by the President and North Carolina Gov Jim Holshouser, for saving precious fuel. One area in which savings could prove quite effective is in the car pool.

When one considers how many vehicles are driven to and from work in the United States each day, it doesn't take much arithmetic to figure out how much fuel could be saved if car pools replaced individual commuter practice.

Even at the best of times, car pools are a logical answer to traffic congestion and pollution. And now, with gas prices rising steadily, there is economy to think about, too.

Above all, if there is not enough gas to go around, people must be assured of a way of getting to and from work. Mass transit is the answer in many areas, but this is not always possible in other places.

It is generally assumed that nobody wants any part of a car pool. But a computerized program launched in Boston some three months ago has already had more than 7,000 applicants, and the names keep rolling in.

What is a computerized car pool? It simply means a computerized method to match up cars, passengers, work hours and destination.

As to how to set up such a program, the U. S. Department of Transportation has published a guide based on experiences in various parts of the United States. Honolulu has had a car pool for quite some time, and it works well.

If the energy crunch reaches a critical stage, such a car pool could be utilized in Rocky Mount. It is possible that one agency, such as the Chamber of Commerce, could take the lead in such a venture. It would, of course, have to have the cooperation of city and county government, business, industry, institutions and the communications media, as well as the public. The handwriting is on the wall: gas rationing is only a matter of time. The mechanics of a car pool program should be worked out before that time arrives.

Await Reaction To Shortages

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The question no longer is whether or not there is an energy shortage. There is. The controversy now, at least among economists, concerns our reaction to the shortage.

The answer is a critical one because the assumption made dictates the action advocated. It is here that the pros, who generally agree that the country will soon be flirting with recession, go their separate ways.

Walter Heller, former Kennedy administration economic adviser and now a University of Minnesota professor, disagrees with Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who believes the public is over-reacting.

"Over-reacting? Indeed not," said Heller. "The energy shortage could actually convert a mild economic expansion into something that looks like a recession."

Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, an advocate of free markets, a Republican and a forecaster of recession even before the Mideast oil embargo, believes the nation has "enormously exaggerated" the shortage.

Total crude oil consumption costs $40 billion a year, he explained. The anticipated shortfall of 10 per cent reduces that by $4 billion, or just four-tenths of 1 per cent of the nation's gross national product.

And yet, he adds, "the stock market has been saying a reduction of four-tenths of 1 per cent over the next two or three years reduces the value of American enterprise by 1 per cent. It makes no sense."

Friedman believes Washington has produced some of the exaggerated mood, "because of the silly, foolish, arbitrary things they're contemplating." He referred to rationing, taxing and the like.

"Simply allow prices to rise. Get Washington off the back of the economy. A 10 to 15 per cent price rise will eliminate the shortage as a serious problem," he said. It will, he said, be an incentive to produce, an incentive to conserve.

Paul Samuelson, the Nobel laureate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, maintains that if there is a shortage of energy its availability should be restricted, but not in ways that would reduce incentives.

One technique he believes should at least be considered is ration tickets that could be sold legally in a "white" rather than black market. That is, an individual who chose not to pay high prices could sell his tickets to someone who urgently needed and was willing to pay for them.

He would consider combining this technique with price increases for the producer and a retail tax, the proceeds going to public transit and research into the liquefaction and gasification of coal.

Leif Olsen, vice president and economist of First National City Bank in New York, believes the situation is exaggerated, although he too foresees a recession if the oil boycott continues more than six months.

It is a severe problem, he concedes, but he says some estimates of the consequences, such as 8 per cent unemployment, "are just not real."

"In order to produce 8 per cent unemployment in the second quarter of 1974," he said, "you'd have to have an annual rate of decline of 14 to 18 per cent in the first two quarters." Nothing like that has happened in decades.

Albert Sindinger, the consumer opinion pollster, claims that despite what some administration officials might believe, "the people are discounting what they see in the press. People were prepared for this."

Sindinger's continuous surveys of consumer opinion support his present view. "I expected the energy crisis would really depress consumer confidence," he said. "I expected a fantastic decline, but we got an increase."

object should be to make sure that the money, in some defensible way, will benefit our corporation." There is no justification, in his view, for business to support scholars "who are hostile to business and the free enterprise system." His idea is to support those institutions that contribute, in some specific way, "to our individual companies, or to the general welfare of our free enterprise system."

That is a shocking attitude, to be sure; it is heresy in the temples of academia; but it makes sense. The recommendations of the U.S. Chamber task force are cast in the same strong mold. It is high time, said a group headed by William G. Whyte, for business management to launch a sustained drive, using "every skill and talent, every program and project, every tool and device we possess," to revitalize respect for the free enterprise system.

Like Packard, the Chamber's task force urges business leaders to take a new look at educators and intellectuals—at "the whole teaching, opinion-forming community." Without doing violence to cherished principles of academic freedom, the business community can see that the concepts of free enterprise get at least a fair shake in the teaching of economics.

The educational program envisioned by the Chamber will demand a continuing effort for many years. The damage done by Marxian professors and by anti-business intellectuals cannot be undone overnight. And it will take more than educational innovations — the effort will demand political and judicial action as well — if public confidence in business is to be restored.

I am skeptical of all this bold talk, for I have heard bold talk before. But the Harris Survey and the Gallup Poll independently confirm the parlous state of "business" as an American institution. That condition is not likely to improve until industry leaders run up a bright new flag bearing a bright new promise: Patsies no more.

Advertising Campaign Seeks Recruit Priests

NEW YORK (AP) — "Father John O'Leary. If he's not in church, he's probably in jail," the advertisement declared in big type.

The newspaper and magazine ad, describing the work of a priest who counsels prisoners, is part of a $100,000 advertising campaign being launched by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York to help find recruits for its shrinking priesthood.

The advertising effort is believed to be the first of such scope by any diocese in the nation. Its theme: "The New York priest. God knows what he does for a living."

"I'm sure that God does know it, but we're anxious for everyone else to know it," Terence Cardinal Cooke, archbishop of New York, said at a news conference Monday.

The cardinal said the archdiocese had been faced with a shortage of priests for years.

The Rev. George Thompson, director of vocations for the archdiocese, said there currently were 950 priests, compared with 1,000 to 1,100 during the late 1960s.

"Many parishes which used to have three or four priests now have two or three," Father Thompson said.

The 13-week advertising campaign is being financed through private fund-raising and aided by lay volunteers who work in various fields of communications.

A lay group of professional admen has developed a series of five ads telling about Father O'Leary along with a parish priest, a slum priest, a black priest and a monsignor.

The Father O'Leary advertisement says his work with prisoners at the Manhattan House of Detention, commonly known as The Tombs, is "the kind of job you do for love, not for money."

"But there's so much more work to do in the New York Archdiocese — and too few priests," the ad continues. "Could you do what John O'Leary does? Have you ever thought about it? There's a phone number where you can reach him. Just dial P-R-I-E-S-T-S (774-3787) ... He'll be happy to talk to you about his vocation. And yours too."

The ads are to run starting Wednesday in newspapers and magazines throughout the 10-county diocesan area.

The archdiocese plans a survey to check whether the advertising effort has improved the public's image of priests. If the results are positive, the archdiocese aims to inform other dioceses and try to raise money for an expanded campaign that would make use of radio and television.

charged case (thereby echoing the private White House view) and asserted that as Attorney General he might stop the investigation. But in private, he recently informed Sen. John V. Tunney of California that this was an on-going investigation which could not be halted.

That reassured liberal Democrat Tunney, who as a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee is considering confirmation of Saxbe. But the Kent State confusion increases apprehension by Republican Senators who fear that the longer his confirmation is delayed, the more likely the garrulous Saxbe will talk himself into deep trouble.

NEW YORK (AP)—Energy uncertainties and fears of a 1974 recession continued to bite deeply into the stock market today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials recovering somewhat from earlier lows, was still down 7.98 at 854.68. Declines broadly led advances nearly 5 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange in heavy trading.

Monday the Dow index fell 28.67 points, its sharpest drop in more than 11 years. In addition, the NYSE is broad-based index dropped the most since its July 1966 inception.

The NYSE index at 11 a.m. today was down .73 at 53.03.

Monsanto led Big Board trading on several blocks, up 1/4 at 54 1/2. Penn Central, up 1/4 at 4 and Melville Shoe, down 1 at 13 1/4, also were active.

General Motors continued recent slides, off 1 at 54, as did McDonald's, down 3/4 to 54 1/2. Auto and auto-dependent companies will be hurt by the energy crisis, many brokers feel.

Among the Dow industrials, U.S. Steel dropped 1 1/2 to 32, Kennecott 1 1/2 to 33 1/4, Allied Chemical 1 1/2 to 42 1/2, and Du Pont, down 1 to 160 1/2. General Electric rose 1/2 to 63, however.

On the Amex, the market-value index at 11 a.m. was off 1.15 at 97.13. Champion Homes, off 1/4 at 3 1/2, and Houston Oil & Mineral, off 1/4 to 48 1/4, were most-active.

Ben-Gurion 'Improving'

TEL AVIV (AP)—Doctors said former Premier David Ben-Gurion was in serious condition at a Tel Aviv hospital today, but was showing some improvement after suffering a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

"He had a good night's sleep," said Dr. Boreslaw Goldman, Ben-Gurion's personal physician.

Ben-Gurion, 87, entered Tel Hashomer Hospital Sunday after a stroke paralyzed the entire right side of his body.

Goldman said he was feeding Ben-Gurion intravenously and giving him large doses of antibiotics to ward off the threat of infection and pneumonia. "It's still difficult to say if he will ever fully recover," Goldman said. "But his chances for a partial recovery are very good." Ben-Gurion served as Israel's first premier from the state's birth in 1948 to 1953 and again from 1955 until 1963. He retired from public life in 1970 and has spent most of his time in Tel Aviv or at his desert kibbutz cottage writing his memoirs.

Curfew Relaxed In Athens

ATHENS (AP)—Curfew restrictions were eased today but tanks and troops patrolled Athens as strong-man President George Papadopoulos played an apparent waiting game with youths and workers demanding his overthrow.

The government, showing confidence that it had crushed open resistance to its authority by putting down last week's riots, abolished the curfew altogether in the northern city of Salonica. It shortened it by three hours in Athens.

The curfew now begins at 10 p.m. in the capital instead of 7 p.m., which will help stores, restaurants and bars hit hard by the early closing.

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The Davidson County Sheriff Department reported that two persons were shot to death and one was wounded early today, and a man was being sought as the alleged assailant.

The only details released immediately were that the shootings occurred in the Gum Tree section in the northern part of the county, and that the State Bureau of Investigation and the Forsyth County Sheriff's Department had been called to assist in the hunt.

 policy, but the insurance cannot be cancelled as long as the motorist pays his premium. "Reinsurance ends once and for all time the cancellation of liability insurance."

According to Ingram, "we fell a little short of our goal in the 1973 General Assembly, " even though the reinsurance plan was passed, "because we had hoped to end cancellations on all fields of automobile insurance, collision as well as liability."

"Our vision for North Carolina is a new concept, the 'total availability' of insurance," Ingram noted.

"This means a complete end to cancellations of health, hospital, accident, homeowners and collision insurance as well as automobile liability..."

He said "the people...are fed up with receiving a letter saying their insurance has been cancelled. They want to buy insurance and know that they are secure and protected. They do not want to be cancelled when they reach a certain age or when they file a claim."

"Our theme is a 'new spoon of fairness, in all areas of insurance, and this means doing what the people want—not what the insurance companies want.'"

He continued, "the people's concept of no-fault is reducing rates for safe drivers, young and old, specifically the young man who is charged more for his insurance than a drunk driver although he has a perfect record. "It's limiting litigation. "It is getting his car repaired without delay."

"The people's concept of no-fault is abolishing all cancellations of automobile insurance so just because you put in a claim and just because you're black or just because you live in a poor neighborhood, some company can't cancel you. "Their concept is limiting legal fees."

"Their concept is not having an agent or an adjuster pull out a blue book on them and say your car is a total loss and the blue book tells us this is all we can pay."

"It is the concept where the people will in effect be running their system instead of the companies as has been the case."

Arrests In Nol Bombing

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Several high-ranking Cambodian air force officers were arrested and all T28 fighter planes were grounded in the wake of Monday's bombing of President Lon Nol's palace compound by an air force pilot, police and military sources said today.

The raid against the compound killed three persons and wounded 10, witnesses said. It was the second bombing of the compound by a Cambodian plane in nine months.

Air force investigators said the bombs were dropped by a T28 fighter returning from a mission on Highway 4 at Talat, 41 miles southwest of the capital.

The pilot, Lt. Pich Lim Kuon, radioed he was having trouble with his landing gear and would have to make a belly landing at Pochentong air base, three miles west of Phnom Penh, the investigators said.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

The Tangerine Bowl told East Carolina University yesterday afternoon that they would wait until next Monday before picking a team to face Miami of Ohio in the December 22 game.

East Carolina's football team then voted unanimously last night not to accept any bowl bid, not naming the Tangerine in its statement.

The Tangerine followed that action almost immediately by naming the University of Florida, owner of a so-so 5-4 record as the team that would face Miami, and also announced that it would switch the game to Gainesville's University of Florida stadium.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 p.m., the Daily Reflector talked to Bob Willis, a member of the committee that chose Florida for the berth.

"We have five teams in mind for the berth," he told the Reflector, "East Carolina, Tamps, Temple, Tulsa, and San Diego State. There are also a couple of long shots that we aren't going to mention now. But I can definitely say that no action will be taken until after the games of the 24th. We probably will not take any action until the 26th—next Monday."

Willis added that he and the committee did not feel that East Carolina had laid down an ultimatum to the committee when they stated that if no bowl bid from them came by 7 p.m. last night, the Pirates would ask that their name be withdrawn. "I, sorry that they feel this way," Willis said. "We feel they are high on our list, but we feel that it is to our advantage to wait until the 26 to make a decision. We hope that they will reconsider and wait until then."

East Carolina Coach Sonny Randle said that the team voted with one vote to the contrary to turn down any bowl bid. "I, my staff, Stas (Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich) and Dr. (Leo) Jenkins all agreed that we would abide by the decision the team made. They decided not to be included in the running, and we concur with their decision," Randle said last night.

Following the 7 p.m. meeting of the Pirates, their decision was transmitted immediately to the Tangerine Committee. They then informed Stasavich around 10 p.m. that they had decided to offer the bid to Florida, indicating that they had gone into a meeting following the action of the East Carolina team.

Florida is expected to vote today on whether they wish to accept the bid.

While East Carolina officials have refused to comment on the situation, it appears clear now that the Tangerine was dicker with teams in the Florida area whom they felt would bring in a large gate, and were holding off East Carolina to use only if they couldn't entice a bigger "name" team.

But the Pirates, listed among the top teams in the country in the AP poll, with two national players of the week, a 9-2 season and two straight Southern Conference championships, came out of the situation looking like the champions they are, while the Tangerine Bowl appears to have egg on its face.

Maybe the Bucs aren't the biggest draw in the world. But 9-2 certainly deserves a whole lot more consideration than 5-4.

Perhaps the NCAA needs to take another look at the bowl situation. Record and merit is no longer the consideration for a team making a bowl game. Money is the only thing the sponsors look for.

Saratoga Downs Jaguars In 1st

FARMVILLE—Farmville Central opened the 1973-74 basketball season last night, bowing to Saratoga Central, 49-39. The Farmville Central girls, however, opened on a bright note, winning 43-41.

In the girls' contest, Saratoga broke away to a 12-4 lead in the opening period and it looked as if the Lady Jags were in trouble. But they came roaring back with a 14-6 advantage in the second period and tied Saratoga at 18-18 by intermission.

In the third period, it remained close, with Farmville Central outthrusting Saratoga, 10-9, to hold a slim 28-27 advantage. The Jaguars again outscored their opponent, 15-14, in the final frame to hold on for the win.

Ruth Parker led the Jaguar scoring with 12 points, while J. Moye added 10. For Saratoga, C. Landley had 17 and B. Barnes had 12.

Saratoga and Farmville battled it out almost the same way in the boys' game. Both found the start slow, each hitting six points in the opening period. Saratoga outthrust Farmville by two in the second frame, 12-10, for an 18-16 lead.

In the third period, Saratoga began to pull away, dumping in 15 points while Farmville Central had 11. That made it 33-27. They outthrust the Jaguars one more time, 13-12, in the last quarter to take the win. Bernard Cooper led Saratoga with 13, while Robert Smith had 11. For the Jaguars, Mike Corbett had 12 and James Cobb had 10.

Farmville will host Eastern Wayne in an Eastern Carolina Conference game on Wednesday.

NATIONAL BACK OF THE WEEK — Carlester Crumpler cuts around a block by Don Schink as quarterback Carl Summerell watches during Saturday's game on the way to the first of three touchdowns. Crumpler, who rushed for 184 yards in the game, was named to the UPI's Backfield of the Week for his efforts, becoming the second Buc to be national honored in two weeks. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Crumpler Named To UPI's Top Backfield

Carlester Crumpler, who led East Carolina University to a 49-14 victory over Appalachian State University Saturday in the final game of the year for the Pirates, received national honors today.

Crumpler was named to the four-man United Press International Backfield of the Week this morning, joining a select group from across the country. The Crump carried the ball 34 times in the game, gaining 184 yards. He scored three touchdowns out of the seven the Pirates got.

Also named to the elite group were John Cappaletti of Penn State, Archie Davis of Ohio State and Jess Freitas of San Diego

State. Crumpler, who closed out his career at East Carolina, broke a number of Southern Conference and East Carolina records during his career. They include season and career rushes, yards rushing, touchdowns scored and points scored.

During the three-year career, he ran for 2,888 yards, leaving him just short of the heralded 3,000 yard mark. Only injuries which held him out of several games during his career kept him from snapping the mark. He had scored 222 points during those same three years, even with a slow start this year. He did end up with 72 points for the season, second best in the conference.

The selection of Crumpler marked the second time in as many weeks that the Bucs have gained a national honor. Linebacker Danny Kepley was named as the Associated Press' Lineman of the Week following the East Carolina win over Richmond.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Don Lawrence, let out after three years in which he compiled an 11-22 record as the University of Virginia's head football coach, says "if they don't back the next coach to the hilt, they aren't going to win for at least 10 years."

But Lawrence, who got the word about 7:45 p. m. Monday his contract would not be renewed, insisted "I'm not upset or mad or anything like that. It would be silly for me to be that way. I hope the Virginia people totally back the man who takes my place."

That man could be Ulmo Shannon "Sonny" Randle, who has directed East Carolina's Pirates to Southern Conference championships the last two seasons while compiling an 18-4 over-all record after going 4-6 in his first year as a head coach.

Randle, a 37-year-old University of Virginia alumnus who spent 11 years as a wide receiver with four National Football League teams, is known to be interested in the Virginia post and plans to be in this area over the Thanksgiving Day holiday.

"As of now, I have not talked to anyone," Randle said this morning. "I honestly didn't think the guy would be fired, although I have seen in the press, speculation about that."

Truthfully, I have no idea what they have in mind, and it has not changed my plans for Thanksgiving. My family and I will leave this afternoon for my home and a Thanksgiving vacation. Friday I will be leaving on a three-day recruiting trip to a Junior College All-Star game in West Virginia. I am open for offers and I would be happy to talk with anyone who is genuinely interested and that does not mean Virginia, exclusively. I must admit that my family and I are extremely happy here. I think it is a great community."

Randle's home is Fork Union, Virginia, located not far from Charlottesville, Va., site of the University of Virginia.

"Sonny Randle's record certainly speaks for itself," ECU Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich said. "He has taken a program that was sagging and directed it to new heights. He is an outstanding coach and as such I can visualize that there are many institutions who would be interested in his services, particularly since he had had two outstanding teams. That proves he is a very capable coach."

Like Randle, the 36-year-old Lawrence is a former pro player, having spent three years with the Washington Redskins after his graduation in 1959 from Notre Dame.

Athletic Director Gene Corrigan, expressing today his "greatest personal admiration" for Lawrence, said the search for a successor would begin immediately but would not elaborate on persons he had in mind.

Corrigan conceded Lawrence "has made substantial contributions to the future of the Virginia football program" and added the decision not to renew his contract was "extremely difficult" and "was made after several days of deliberation."

The decision, Corrigan said, "was made on one basic premise—the improvement that was so badly needed in our program did not develop over the last three years."

Lawrence disagreed, saying "I think I've done a job. The program has improved 200 per cent since I became coach. It's built. I wouldn't do anything to hurt it."

His coaching career began in 1963 at Notre Dame, where he tutored tackles and assisted with the freshman team. He spent the next two years as offensive line coach at Kansas State and in 1966 was a defensive assistant at Cincinnati.

Lawrence came to Virginia in 1967 as defensive coordinator under George Blackburn, the man he was to replace when Blackburn was discharged at the end of the 1970 season.

He was the nation's second major college coach to get the ax Monday. Hours earlier, Billy Tohill said he had been told his contract would not be renewed at Texas Christian.

Lawrence adopted a "Positive Mental Attitude" slogan for the 1973 season and appeared in good shape when he split even in his first four games. But then came successive losses to Vanderbilt, Clemson and Virginia Tech.

Falcons Upset Minnesota, 20-14

ATLANTA (AP) — "It was like money from mother when you didn't write for it," said Coach Norm Van Brocklin, assessing the key touchdown in the Atlanta Falcons' 20-14 National Football League victory over the previously unbeaten Minnesota Vikings Monday night.

The play started with Falcon quarterback Bob Lee scrambling wildly on a busted pass play and ending with fullback Eddie Ray hauled in a 39-yard touchdown pass with 1:10 remaining in the half, giving Atlanta a 17-7 edge in the nationally televised game.

The Falcon defense fought off a last-minute surge, sparked by the passing of Fran Tarkenton, to extend Atlanta's winning streak to six and stay within one game of the division-leading Los Angeles Rams in the National Conference West.

Bucs Still Draw Votes

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Top-ranked Ohio State lost a little ground to Alabama but maintained a 60-point lead over the Crimson Tide today in The Associated Press college football ratings, which showed no changes among the top 13 teams.

The Buckeyes tuned up for Saturday's Big Ten showdown with No. 4 Michigan by trouncing Iowa 55-13. That earned them 34 first-place votes and 1,142 points from the panel of 62 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's poll.

Runner-up Alabama prepared for its Southeastern Conference shootout with No. 7 Louisiana State on Thanksgiving by whipping Miami of Florida 43-13. The Crimson Tide received 16 first-place ballots and 1,062 points. Last week's margin was 1,130-1,068.

Oklahoma, rated third, trimmed Kansas 48-20 and pulled down nine first-place votes and 973 points. The Sooners can clinch the Big Eight title Friday if they beat 10th-ranked Nebraska.

The next three teams — Michigan, Notre Dame and Penn State — each received one first-place vote. Michigan got by Purdue 34-9 and received 845 points, idle Notre Dame got 760 and Penn State, a 49-10 winner over Ohio University, earned 672.

LSU held onto seventh place with 577 points following a 26-7 decision over Mississippi State. UCLA crushed Oregon State 56-14 and stayed in eighth place with 469 points. Ninth-ranked Southern California, UCLA's rival this week, defeated Washington 42-19 and received 407 points.

Nebraska rounded out the Top Ten again with 391 points after downing Kansas State 50-21.

Texas, Texas Tech and Arizona State remained 11th, 12th and 13th, but Missouri lost to Iowa State 17-7 and dropped from 14th to a tie for 19th. Houston, idle last weekend, moved up one position to replace Missouri.

Miami of Ohio, which has completed a 10-0 regular season, climbed from 17th to 15th. Tennessee, which had been 16th, lost to Mississippi 28-18 and fell out of the Top Twenty. North Carolina State jumped from 20th to 16th, followed by Tulane, Oklahoma State and Missouri, with Kansas and Pittsburgh deadlocked for 20th.

Contest Winners

Henry H. Land of P. O. Box 458, Kannapolis, and Henry Hodges of Rt. 2, Box 212-A, Ayden, tied for first place in the final Daily Reflector Football Contest of the year.

Both men correctly picked 24 games right in this week's contest. One game, incorrectly listed, was discarded, leaving a total of 31 games in the contest. Another game, Southern Methodist and Arkansas, ended in a tie and was counted wrong in grading entries.

The tie between the two developed with both picked 77 points as the point total. It was actually 79 points.

Ten other people also had 24 correct picks, but were further from the point total.

'Cats Have 'Extra' Experience

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Davidson Coach Terry Holland would like to be able to count his "first" season's record, then pick out five games from his second to go along with it for his 1973-74 basketball team. Holland and his Wildcats, at least a squad of 10, went to Australia during August for a 20-game exhibition slate, coming away with a 17-3 record under somewhat adverse circumstances—long trips, cold gyms, and the like.

"The greatest thing about the trip was the five days we spent in Los Angeles. We practiced a little and then went to the beaches," Holland said.

But what may prove to be the greatest thing is the wealth of experience the Wildcats picked up, especially the young players who went. Holland has had a chance to see them under game conditions and they have had a chance to work with the veterans.

The team is loaded with experience. Nine are back from last year's team who had starting experience from time to time, and who scored in double figures from game to game. "We also have some good junior varsity players up, plus incoming freshmen," Holland added.

Last year Davidson ran with the ball a lot and used its good offense to its advantage. Without a big man inside, they had to change the defense to work to its best, and the Wildcats were successful in that too. "We're going to try to do much of the same this year," Holland said. "But we want to be sounder on the boards. We didn't like our rebounding record of last year." Despite this, the Wildcats still remain somewhat small with their tallest players just 6-8.

"We're going to stick with our running game, but we want to cut down turnovers. We should have less mistakes due to our experience," Holland added.

There are three outstanding seniors on the team, John Falconi, who is a good shooter, and a rangy guard; Mike Sorrentino, who led in assists and is a fine playmarking guard; T. J. Pecorak, a swing man who has started for the past three years. With them is Paul Wagner, a forward who makes a good backup, along with Steve Gadaire, who may miss the season due to a broken arm.

The juniors also make up a good team. There is Greg Dunn, who Holland says is going to be very, very fine player. "He's a great one-on-one man. He hit 20 points in 20 minutes in one game on our tour. There's just no telling what he really can do. He's improved both on offense and defense."

Another junior is Larry Horowitz, a "garbage man supreme," according to Holland. Sheldon Parker was hurt much of last year, but also had a good record on the Australian trip.

Jay Powell, a sophomore who played a lot last year, is the fastest man on the team and is a real good playmaker. Up from the junior varsity is Tom Verlin along with Eppa Rixey.

"I can't really anticipate the freshmen playing much this year, but things could change. Each night I want to put the five best people on the floor and that could change from game to game."

Holland's Wildcats won the regular season title again last year, and many pick them to do it again, but Holland sees a battle with Furman for the title. "We're a lot better, more physical, more mature and more experienced," the coach said.

Those 20 games in Australia just might make the difference.

Lucama Tops Bear Grass

LUCAMA—Lucama swept a pair of games from Bear Grass High School last night. They won the boys' game 68-66, while the girls took a 28-27 win in their contest.

Both games were close all the way.

In the girls' event, Lucama, gaining revenge for an earlier loss, took a 7-3 lead in the first period. Bear Grass came back to push through seven in the second frame, while holding Lucama to a single free throw. That pushed the Bears into a 10-8 lead at the half.

In the third period, the two teams matched points, as each scored 11. That left Bear Grass in a 21-19 lead at the end of the period. But Lucama eased ahead in the final period, and held off Bear Grass with a 9-6 advantage to win by a point.

The boys' game was just as close. Lucama inched into a 15-13 lead in the first period of play, then pushed through 29 points in the second frame, while Bear Grass got 16. That ran the Lucama lead out to 44-29.

The Bears slowly fought back, however. They outhit Lucama 17-13 in the third period, trimming the lead to 57-46. They outhit Lucama once more, 20-11, in the final frame, but they couldn't quite pull it out.

Hilton Armstrong led Bear Grass with 22 points, while Mark Gardner had 14, Alan Crawford had 11 and Vernell Rogers had 10. For Lucama, Keller had 27 and Wilson had 15.

The Bears travel to Oak City on Wednesday.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Know what you want most, since pressures will be put on you to do other things. Get out socially. Remain your servative self.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take care of problems by keeping promises and working diligently. Don't let your temper get the best of you. Know your own mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Let clever friends suggest what should be done to better your situation. Don't light into a good friend because you disagree. Learn to cooperate more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use good judgment, do nothing harmful to yourself or others. Drive with special care; guard your reputation. Get talents across without appearing boastful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fine ideas and don't know which to work on first; select the most practical. Get fine pointers from an expert.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make collections; pay bills, and come out of that slough of despondency. Discuss future trends with specialists. Don't play any tricks on mate.

Emotionally, The Retarded

The "Impatient Virgins" that Edward talks about should have an organization in the U.S.A., too. For literally millions of Americans are retarded emotionally and thus belong to the "Gay Movement" of homosexuals and lesbians. Their emotional age is 10.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-574: Edward G., aged 36, travels a lot in connection with his import business.

"Dr. Crane," he recently told me, "I have been very much interested in your exposure of sexual problems and per-versions."

"Some months ago you explained in detail why homosexuals are emotionally retarded."

"You said they have become fixated at the 10-year-old stage where there is a natural emotional affinity for one's own sex."

"But my middle teens, you said most young people switch over to fascination with the opposite sex."

"Those who don't are merely fixated at that earlier emotional stage in proper emotional growth."

"Wee, Dr. Crane, on one of my recent visits to Wouth America, I spent several weeks in Argentina."

"And I saw a printed manifesto that was very unusual!"

"It was sponsored by the 'Front for the Liberation of Impatient Virgins.'"

"And severely denounced the homosexuals down there."

"Those virgins complained that there is already a shortage of men in Argentina, so it is wrong for half a million homosexuals to indulge in what they termed 'unproductive practices.'"

"Maybe we need a similar campaign in the U.S.A. against the Gay Movement."

Gay Subnormals
 Subnormals usually suggest idiots, imbeciles and morons, who are far below par in their I.Q.

But people can also be sub-normal in their emotional development!

 The members of the so-called "Gay Movement" (Homos and Lesbians) are actually retarded in their emotional development.

That means we are the "sun," with parents and siblings all being satellites revolving around our selfish ego.

By kindergarten age, we begin to recognize 2 major planets that are in our personal solar system, namely, mamma and papa.

This is called the parental phase of emotional growth.

By the ages of 9 to 12, we have a great affinity for our own sex and affect horror at being classified with the opposite gender.

 This is the true psychological "gang" phase or homosexual level.

Boys regard girls of that age as sissies and consider it an insult to carry a girl's school books or show any overt affection for a cute coed classmate.

Meanwhile, girls abhor boys as dirty, uncouth little ruffians.

But by the middle teens, a dramatic change occurs, for then the majority of each sex shifts its romantic interests toward the other.

However, a small percentage (psychopathic personalities) never emerge beyond that selfish egocentric phase.

Others, (spinsters and confirmed old bachelors) become unduly attached to parental apron strings and thus never marry.

Of, if they do finally wed, they soon get divorces and rush back home to mamma or papa.

But the "Gay Movement" contains those who get "fixated" on their own sex at age 9 and later attached overt sexual behavior therewith.

They are thus a retarded or "Emotionally Subnormal" group, though often with a superior I.Q. and even

Irrigation Adds To Agriculture

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Despite urbanizing trends, agriculture remains a major sector of the Texas economy—partly because of a phenomenal increase in irrigation farming over the past 40 years.

Latest statistics compiled by the Texas Water Development Board indicate the number of acres of land under irrigation in the state has jumped from a modest amount in the 1930s to 6.9 million acres in 1968 and 8.4 million in 1969.

 A defender's play of a high card followed by a lower one, known as an echo, is usually employed to encourage the lead of that suit. However, there is another, equally important, use for an "echo"—to give partner a count. It shows a holding of an even number of cards in the suit played. East used this method of carding to point the way to defeating declarer's ambitious six spade contract on today's hand.

Once North showed a near opening bid by jump-raising opener's suit, South expected the combined hands to offer reasonable play for slam. Rather than tip off his distribution, he got there by the most direct means available.

The North and South hands did not fit too well. The mirror holdings in the minor suits was unfortunate duplication—give either hand a diamond fewer and an extra club, and the slam becomes

Space 'Plumbing Job' Success

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space plumbing job has increased chances the Skylab 3 astronauts will be able to complete a full 84-day orbital mission, space agency officials say.

"We're feeling pretty good about it," astronaut William R. Pogue said Monday after he replenished liquid that had leaked out of a refrigeration loop. The system keeps batteries and electronic equipment from burning out.

It became inoperable during the Skylab 2 mission in August and that crew switched to a backup loop. The secondary system also has a small leak and might also have given out within a few weeks.

Loss of both cooling loops would result in early termination of the mission, said flight director Neil Hutchinson.

Skylab 3 astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and Pogue carried a repair kit and extra cooling fluid when they rocketed up to the orbiting laboratory last Friday.

The fix-it job was to have taken two hours. But Pogue had trouble punching a hole in the coolant line and in checking for leaks in the repair lines. After four hours he finished up and reported, "It's on and it's looking clean."

"The loop is up and running," Hutchinson said. "All looks great."

He said that when the secondary loop cooling fluid leaks down to a certain pressure level, it too will be reserved. The astronauts have been unable to locate the leak source in either system.

Another bonus from the repair work is that astronauts Pogue and Gibson will take only one space walk this week instead of two. Suits worn during space walks also are cooled by the cooling system.

Hutchinson said that without two loops working, the astronauts would have to use air cooling, which is less efficient and limits outside work to about four hours at one time.

Pogue and Gibson have about 6½ hours of work planned during a Thanksgiving day walk — replacing telescope film, repairing antennae and setting up several scientific experiments.

If air cooling were used, the work would have to be stretched over two excursions in two days.

The three astronauts today planned to complete activation of their laboratory and to conduct a series of medical experiments.

Japan Cutting Its Energy-Use

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government asked the country's major industries today to cut back their use of oil and electricity by 10 per cent to help combat a fuel shortage.

At the same time, Chief Cabinet Secretary Susumu Nakaido announced that Japan shortly will send special envoys to the Middle East to discuss Tokyo's fuel problems and foreign policy.

The Arab oil producers have included Japan among the countries targeted for oil cut-backs because they consider Tokyo's Middle East policy unfriendly to the Arab world.

Japan depends upon the Middle East for most of its oil needs and it is feared any cut-back will seriously affect the Japanese economy.

The industries asked to voluntarily reduce their fuel consumption are steel, automobile, petrochemical, heavy electrical, household electric appliance, automobile, tire, chemical fiber, aluminum smelting, nonferrous metal smelting, cement, sheet glass and paper and pulp.

In Seoul, the South Korean government ordered taxis, trucks, buses, ferries and airlines on domestic flights to reduce their operations 10 to 30 per cent as the nation's oil supply situation worsened.

The government also ordered all gasoline stations closed on Sunday.

Foreign chartered aircraft will be allowed to land in Korea only if they are carrying enough fuel to fly on to their next stop, government officials said.

Arrested In Early Hours

Three men, among a half-dozen arrested here Friday night on drug-law violation charges, were arrested early today by Greenville police on disorderly conduct charges following an incident at Country Club Apartments about 1:40 a.m.

Chief Glenn Cannon identified the three as Berry William Brown, 18 of 907 East 14th St., James Lee McDermott, 19 and Cecil Thomas Barnett, 20, both of Apartment 22, Country Club Apts.

In addition to the disorderly conduct charges, Brown was charged with resisting arrest and public drunk, McCermott was charged with public drunk and Barnett charged with disturbing the peace.

Cannon quoted the arresting officers as saying the trio said they were celebrating their release from jail, under bond, on the drug charges.

According to Cannon, Brown jumped from the police car after being placed under arrest and escaped custody, but turned himself in to officers about two hours later.

Raft Voyage Completed

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — A dozen men, including three Americans from Philadelphia, landed on the eastern coast of Australia today after a stormy 8,500-mile voyage across the South Pacific aboard three balsawood rafts.

Vital Alsar, a 40-year-old Spaniard who led the expedition, stepped onto dry land for the first time in 175 days at Ballina, about 130 miles south of here. The two other rafts landed a short time later.

The men began their voyage May 27 from Guayaquil, Ecuador.

The rafts were shepherded into land by the Australian navy landing ship Labuan, which had gone to their aid Monday night about 18 miles out to sea after the Humboldt Current threatened to carry the rafts back the way they had come.

With no wind to counteract the strong current, the rafts, each of which carried a short wave radio, requested a tow to shore.

How Tar Heel Senators And Representatives Voted

By ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Nov. 8 through Nov. 14.

HOUSE
THANKSGIVING RECESS
 Approved, 215 for and 190 against, a ten-day Thanksgiving recess, starting on Friday, Nov. 16 and ending at noon on Monday, Nov. 16.

At issue was whether the House should take a long vacation at a time of pressing legislative business, such as the conformation of Rep. Gerald Ford (R-Mich.) to be Vice-President and pending legislation on the special Watergate prosecutor, energy crisis and tax reform.

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L. H. Fountain (D-2), David

Henderson (D-3), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Charles Rose (D-7) and James Martin (R-9) voted "yea."

Reps. Ike Andrews (D-4), Earl Ruth (R-8), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

Rep. Wilmer Mizell (R-5) did not vote.

RAILWAY EMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION Rejected, 187 for and 198 against, an amendment to cut benefits to employees displaced by any federal takeover of railways under the proposed Regional Rail Reorganization Act.

The overall legislation guarantees a "monthly displacement allowance" equal to present wages for employees with at least five years experience. It covers employees who lose their jobs or who must accept lower paying jobs within the public rail corporation to be wet up under the act.

The rejected amendment would have cut off payment, after six years, to the latter group, but would not have cut benefits to workers left unemployed.

The overall bill was then passed and sent to the Senate. It proposes a Federal National Railway Association to take over six bankrupt railroads in the northeast, and would create a for-profit Federal Rail Corporation to modernize existing service.

Supporters of limiting the allowances argued that the taxpayer needs protection against long-term subsidization of railroad employees. They could not estimate total costs, but called the payments unreasonable because of schedules that allow seasonally-employed persons to receive full-time compensation.

Opponents said the provisions were worked out jointly by management and union representatives and that tampering with the provisions might torpedo the legislation. They cited statements from railroad executives supporting the benefit levels and said that a federal takeover of railroads should not force economic hardships on employees.

Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Ruth, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Preyer voted "nay."
 Rose did not vote.

CRIMINAL CONGRESSMEN Passed, 388 for and 18 against, a sense-of-the-House resolution setting guidelines for suspending House Members convicted of criminal activity.

The resolution, in effect, suspends the congressional voting rights of Members convicted of crimes that carry penalties of at least two years imprisonment. Members would regain their voting rights if later court appeals clear them of wrongdoing.

Supporters said the measure will help dispel public fears of congressional indifference to Member's misconduct. They argued that such misconduct reflects on the whole House, which must protect congressional integrity.

Opponents argued that the Constitution limits the censure of Members to behavior on the floor or misconduct "connected with the legislative function." They said that suspending a Member for other reasons would illegally deprive his district of representation.

Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

FTC INDEPENDENCE Rejected, 162 for and 213 against, an attempt to remove, from the Alaskan pipeline conference report, language that broadens the powers of the Federal Trade Commission and makes other changes in the balance-of-power between federal regulatory commissions and the Administration.

The House then passed the overall bill and sent it to the Senate, which already had approved the disputed language. The language was not germane to the pipeline bill.

The language permits the FTC to bypass the Justice Department when the department foot drags on prosecuting violators of FTC regulations. It also would eliminate the Office of Management and Budget's power to veto requests by the regulatory commissions for information from businesses.

Additionally, the disputed language requires Senate confirmation of the director of the Energy Policy Office and the head of the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration.

The National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce lobbied to strike the provisions. Organized labor lobbied in favor of the broader powers.

Those voting for striking the provisions argued that the bill gives the FTC and other agencies too much independence. They said that without OMB control of searches for information many small companies will face unreasonable requests, and that the added paperwork could force them out of business.

Opponents said that giving the FTC more independence will help it to control non-competitive business practices, and alleged that the OMB monitoring of the FTC and related agencies does not work because of the OMB's close ties to the corporate community.

Fountain, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Martin and Broyhill voted "yea."
 Henderson and Taylor voted "nay."
 Jones and Ruth did not vote.

SENATE
OIL PIPELINE Passed, 80 for and 5 against, the Trans-Alaska Oil Pipeline conference report. Senate passage followed House passage of the bill, which was then signed by the President.

The law authorizes rights-of-way through federal lands for construction of the 789-mile pipeline. The pipeline will carry up to two million barrels of oil daily from Alaska's North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez on Alaska's southern shore. Tankers then will ship the oil to northwestern states.

Other major provisions immunize the pipeline against lawsuits based on environmental grounds, such as failure to comply with the 1969 National Environmental Protection Act's requirements for environmental impact studies, and exempt wells producing 10 or less barrels per day from price controls. Also, the law broadens the powers of independent regulatory commissions (see above House vote.)

Supporters argued that the "critical" need for oil requires immediate construction. They said the Arab oil cut off forces an expansion of domestic sources. Some supporters grudgingly accepted such provisions as the broadening of FTC powers and the barring of anti-pipeline lawsuits on environmental grounds.

Senators who opposed the trans-Alaska route preferred a trans-Canada route, which they said would avert oil spills and damage to Alaska's environment. They said a trans-Canada route would give the Mid-West and Northeast—the areas of the country most hurt by the oil shortage—the first shot at Alaska oil.

Sens. Sam Ervin (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "yea."

Cigarette Sale Figures Rising

RALEIGH (AP)—The president of Philip Morris Inc. predicts that anti tobacco forces will seize upon the 10th anniversary of the U. S. surgeon general's report condemning cigarette smoking to step up their attacks on tobacco.

Ross R. Millhiser told the 15th annual meeting of the Tobacco Growers Information Committee Monday that in the past 10 years unit cigarette sales in the United States have increased 11 per cent.

During the same period, he said, exports of manufactured smokes have risen 18 per cent, and world cigarette consumption continued to rise at an annual rate of about 4 per cent.

January marks the 10th anniversary of the surgeon general's report. Millhiser said, "Today, more than at any time since the surgeon general's report, we (in the tobacco industry) can look forward to the future with growing confidence."

Hugh C. Kiger, director of the tobacco division in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service, told the committee the Communist countries represent a large potential market for U. S. tobacco, although no significant sales are expected in the immediate future.

Kiger said U. S. tobacco trade with Communist areas is small now but it can increase in the years ahead if normal trade relations are resumed.

William L. Lanier, director of the tobacco division in the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said escalation of U. S. price support levels on tobacco, unless halted, may hurt export sales and stimulate imports and the use of tobacco substitutes.

Lanier said indications are that the price support level in 1974 will be 8 to 9 per cent higher than this year's average of $76.60 per hundred pounds.

Kennedy Boy 'Doing Well'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 12-year-old son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is reported doing well both physically and emotionally as he continues to recuperate from the amputation of his cancerous right leg.

"He is in excellent spirits and is progressing satisfactorily," a spokeswoman at Georgetown University Hospital said early today of Edward Kennedy Jr.

The youngster's leg was removed above the knee last Saturday in an effort to halt the spread of bone cancer. The hospital said more than 1,000 get-well cards and letters, plus some gifts and flowers, arrived for him Monday. Telephone inquiries also were received from England, France, Germany, Australia and Argentina.

The spokeswoman said young Kennedy spent some time out of bed Monday night, as he had Sunday. Doctors have not decided when he might be discharged, she said.

Gospel Sing To Be On Sunday

A gospel sing will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Portertown Church.

Featured on the program will be the Apostolic Echos of Wilson.

The Rev. George Gaskins will conduct revival services at the church the week following the gospel sing. Services will begin each night at 7:30.
