Consumer Prices Continued To Climb Upward During October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose sharply last month following September's energy crisis and higher prices for fuel oil and gasoline, the government said today. The Department of Labor reported that the cost of living climbed eight-tenths of one per cent in October and pushed consumer prices up 7.9 per cent above a year ago. It marked the largest jump in any 12-month period since the 8.7 per cent inflationary rate recorded in the June 1950-51 period at the start of the Korean War.

In addition to sharply higher prices for gasoline and fuel oil, rising costs for clothing, mortgage interest rates and health insurance contributed significantly to the October rise in prices, the government said.

A decline in meat and poultry prices was more than offset in the statistics by large increases in prices of restaurant meals and some food and some grocery store prices.

Food prices rose one-tenth of a per cent following a drop of seven-tenths of a per cent in September and a record 6 per cent jump in August. The increase was larger on a seasonally adjusted basis, increasing five-tenths of a per cent compared with a drop of one-tenth of a per cent on that basis on September.

Grocery prices actually declined three-tenths of a per cent but the drop was offset by a 1.8 per cent jump in food purchased away from home, including restaurant meals and snacks.

Poultry, egg and pork prices fell sharply again—as they did in September — and prices for beef and veal declined as well, but prices for most other food sold in grocery stores went up, the government said.

Prices for nonfood commodities jumped nine-tenths of one per cent, sharpest this year and the biggest jump since a one per cent increase in October 1970. Seasonally adjusted, the increase was five-tenths of a per cent. Services, including rents, mortgage payments and medical fees rose 1.1 per cent, an increase not equaled since March 1970.

The over-all rise in living costs last month followed a three-tenths of a per cent rise in September and the near-record jump of 1.8 per cent in August after the lifting of the government's price freeze.

Although food price increases have moderated, the price spurt in nonfood commodities and services appears to reflect an economy still gripped in inflation.

The consumer price index in October moved up to 136.6, meaning that it cost consumers $13.66 to purchase a variety of goods that cost $10 in the 1967 base period.

The Labor Department also reported that real spendable earnings of American workers, which is the take-home pay after taxes, fell six-tenths of a per cent in October and was 3.3 per cent below a year ago.

Egypt, Israel Deadlock On Setting Cease-Fire Lines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The United Nations said today Egypt and Israel will finish their prisoner exchange on schedule, but the two nations remained deadlocked on establishing cease-fire lines along the Suez Canal.

The end of the prisoner airlift between Cairo and Tel Aviv will coincide with resumption of talks Thursday aimed at resolving the cease-fire line issue, the U.N. spokesman in Cairo said.

Negotiators for the two countries will meet again Thursday on the Cairo-Suez road in an effort to resolve what has been described as the last stumbling block in implementation of the six-point Middle East cease-fire agreement.

Egypt has demanded that Israeli forces return to where they were on Oct. 22 when the first U.N. cease-fire went into effect. During fighting for two days after that, Israeli forces expanded their positions on the western bank of the canal, completed the cutoff of the Egyptian 3rd Army and entered the city of Suez.

Although Egypt has submitted a map purporting to show Israeli positions on Oct. 22, the Israeli government has claimed that the Oct. 22 lines are impossible to determine. Instead, Israel has suggested that both sides return to their respective banks of the canal and allow for a six-mile demilitarized zone on each side.

The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahras said the Egyptian government "irrevocably rejected" the Israeli proposal Monday, but said the Thursday session would be "decisive."

Israeli Premier Golda Meir's cabinet met for 4½ hours Tuesday night in Jerusalem debating strategy in the negotiations. The government negotiator to the Israeli-Egyptian talks, Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, briefed the cabinet, but details were not disclosed.

Observers said the positioning of the Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire line may determine Israel's future bargaining strength and could place her forces on the western side of the canal in jeopardy.

If Israel unilaterally returned to what has been described by Egypt as the Oct. 22 line, it would free the encircled Egyptian 3rd Army and, according to some Israelis, make harder an eventual disengagement of forces on the Israeli-Egyptian front.

The Israeli-Egyptian prisoner of war exchanges continued today as 36 more Israeli POWs returned home aboard a Red Cross plane. As has been the practice all along, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan met the POWs upon their arrival in Tel Aviv.

Dayan was quoted on the Israeli state radio as saying he hoped all 247 Israelis captured by Egypt would be returned this week. Israel said more than 7,000 of 8,221 Egyptian POWs have been sent to Cairo.

'Brownouts' Alternative

By STAN BENJAMIN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today the eastern United States faces possible power brownouts by December because of the fuel crisis and said things could be even worse after the first of the year.

Morton said that petroleum supplies will be some eight per cent below current consumption by the end of the year. He said the shortage could jump to 20 per cent during the first quarter of 1974, substantially higher than previous official estimates.

In his energy message earlier this month, President Nixon estimated petroleum shortages might range between 10 and 17 per cent.

The United States currently consumes an estimated 17 million barrels of oil daily.

A deputy assistant secretary of Interior, Eric Zausner, said an increasing shortage of residual oil will leave many power plants so short of fuel, especially on the East Coast, that consumption of electrical power must be reduced 10 to 20 per cent.

Morton said such a reduction would be "a very difficult thing."

But, he said, "We may be in the brownout business if we don't do it."

Morton told newsmen at a briefing that shortages of residual oil will begin hurting, particularly in power plants, by early December. Shortage of distillate oils — primarily home-heating oil and diesel and jet fuel — will hit late in January and gasoline shortages may begin showing up in early or mid-February, Morton said.

Got 41 Pints

The Bloodmobile collected 41 pints of blood Tuesday at D. H. Conley High School, according to Pitt Blood chairman Billy Ross.

The chairman said that seven persons were rejected during the visit.

Noting that Tuesday's visit was the first to a Pitt County school by the Bloodmobile, Ross said that, "I'm pleased, considering it was our first visit. I hope that we will do better, however, at the other schools."

Ross offered his appreciation to the Student Government Association at Conley for sponsoring the visit and also to school officials for making the facilities available.

He also thanked the women of the Greenville Service League who went out to Conley to help with the collection activities.

Bill Of Dissent Tabled

A proposed resolution by the Pitt County Development Commission to reaffirm its purpose as county-wide development and to meet in towns other than Greenville at prescribed times was tabled at a meeting last night.

The resolution, of which the whereas were taken from resolutions passed by the town councils of Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, and Fountain, called for acknowledgement that the Commission is funded and supported by county taxpayers and that "benefits have not been distributed equitably," according to the Commission's secretary, Jack Lewis of Farmville, who presented the resolution. It called for disclosure of all meetings, that four a year be held outside Greenville, and that more assistance be given small towns in the county to develop resources and sites attractive to industry.

There was dissent among the members as to whether the whereas, "benefits have not been distributed equitably" should be left in and an effort to have the number of times meeting outside Greenville reduced to three. No action was taken, Lewis said.

Prior to discussion of the resolution, officers were elected. All the incumbents were re-elected by acclamation. They are Corey Stokes of Ayden, president; Dr. Joe Pou of Greenville, vice president; Norman Wooten of Ballard's Crossroads, secretary; and Jack Lewis, secretary.

'No Evicting' High School

ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins said today the University has "no intention" of evicting Rose High from using Ficklen Stadium for its football games.

"We have no intention of evicting Rose High from Ficklen Stadium," Jenkins asserted. "They can play there as long as they want. We made a pledge to the people who contributed to build Ficklen Stadium and we have no intention of breaking that pledge."

Jenkins statement came after reports from the Greenville School Board meeting Monday night indicating the University is bringing pressure to prevent Rose High from using the stadium for its home football games.

Jenkins said in the years Rose High has used Ficklen Stadium, "they have always taken care of it, seen that it was cleaned after the games, and we have been happy for them to use it."

Power Outage Snarls Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A 23-minute power outage during rush hour snarled traffic in the downtown area and blacked out many office buildings.

Fire officials said the outage hit at 4:49 p.m. PST Tuesday when an electrical fuse malfunctioned, causing an explosion in a utility tunnel between the multistory Lincoln Building and J. C. Penney Store.

Traffic signals didn't function during the outage, and traffic jams developed at intersections.

Though office lights went out, forcing homebound workers to leave their buildings by the light of matches and flaming rolls of newspaper.

If the Greenville Schools do decide to build their own football facilities, such as has been done for county high schools, Jenkins said, "We shall be very happy to cooperate with the city in getting a stadium for high school football. In the meantime we want them to feel free to use Ficklen and we will continue the present policy."

Plans for enlarging Ficklen, Jenkins said may have a bearing on the high school's desire for its own facilities more in keeping with the high schools needs than a much larger university stadium would be.

Tax Forms Said To Be 'Easier'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Improved income tax forms to make filing easier and faster have been announced by Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald C. Alexander.

And, Alexander urged employers Tuesday to distribute W2 withholding statements as early as possible to enable employees to file early.

Taxpayers who file for refunds in January usually receive them within four to five weeks, while persons filing later may have to wait up to eight weeks because of the greater volume of returns being processed, Alexander said.

He noted that at any rate W2 forms generally must be distributed by Jan. 31.

Increased Leaf Acreage Sees Strong Opposition

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP)—Any increase in 1974 flue cured tobacco acreage has drawn sharp opposition at a U. S. House Agriculture subcommittee hearing.

E. D. Lewis, sales supervisor for the Mullins tobacco market, told the committee at a hearing Tuesday that Palmetto state growers this year produced "110 per cent of the 1972 crop for 102 per cent of the 1972 prices."

Testimony was that tobacco companies had failed to provide an adequate market for sale of the increased crop.

The acreage was increased 10 per cent for the 1973 season, when South Carolina leaf farms produced 134 million pounds of flue cured tobacco for the auction markets.

Several farmers told the committee, which held a similar hearing Monday at Lumberton, N.C., that they had been unable to sell at their area markets because of a lack of sales time. They said they were forced to haul their leaf long distances, at substantial cost, in order to sell it.

Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., chairman, said after the hearing the committee was drafting a letter asking the Secretary of Agriculture opposing any increase in tobacco acreage, on the grounds it isn't needed and no strong market for additional leaf exists.

While no formal request for increased 1974 acreage from anyone was cited, the committee was told that inquiries about an increase had been made to the Industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee.

Reps. Ed Young, R-S.C., and Charles Rose, D-N.C., arranged the hearings.

N.C. Industries Decide Priorities 'Acceptable'

RALEIGH (AP)—Spokesmen for North Carolina industries agreed Tuesday they could cooperate with a priority system for natural gas supplies this winter but virtually all asked that they be given as much fuel as possible.

The industrial representatives were among witnesses appearing before the State Utilities Commission, which will decide in the near future what priorities will be established.

Transcontinental Pipeline Co., major supplier for the state's gas companies, has indicated it will cut back North Carolina's natural gas allocation by about 16 per cent.

"We're all going to suffer this winter, but let's suffer equitably," said Thomas Stoddard, an attorney for a Morganton manufacturing company.

Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton, a former congressman representing six western North Carolina textile mills, said the talk about priorities was not "dealing with only profits. We're facing such a catastrophic crisis that we should be thinking about humans."

"If these plants go down, who can pay the doctor? Who can pay the bill to heat homes? Who can pay the grocery bill?"

he asked. "This proceeding may well determine life or death for the brick industry in this state," said Edward Grenier, representative of the Brick Association of North Carolina.

Grenier said "people deserve to be warm in their homes, but they need brick to be in those homes."

The industries urged the commission to come up with a plan that would consider over-all impact on a community and related industries if a plant closed because of a fuel shortage.

Pitt Hospital Trustees Told Fuel Prospect Remains 'Precarious'

By CAROL TYER Reflector Staff Writer

The hospital is in a precarious position concerning fuel for its steam-powered operations and for heating, called a by-product of the other operations, Pitt Memorial Hospital Trustees were told last night.

Assistant Administrator for Financial Affairs Buck Sitterson said from 50 to 60 pounds of steam are needed for autoclaves cooking and other uses throughout the hospital, while it would take only about eight pounds to heat the building. This year's allocation of oil, they were told, has to be based on 1972 purchases—1972, a year with a mild winter when hardly any oil was used because gas service was seldom interrupted.

Several things are pending, he said: a court order is now keeping the Transco Company from cutting off natural gas to interruptible customers, but the courts will decide whether this can be done. The hospital has asked the Department of Interior for an adjustment of its oil allocation but has had no reply yet. In a hearing in Raleigh yesterday, the N.C. Hospital Association attorney asked that hospitals be made an exception by the gas suppliers, once their oil supplies are depleted, something that would only take a matter of days in Pitt Memorial's case. Board Chairman Ed

Warren said the executive committee has decided to go on with plans to build the new hospital, despite bids coming in some $1,777,000 higher than was anticipated. It is hoped that negotiations with the contractors, additional gifts, possible assistance from the state for the Rehabilitation Center and other avenues will open the way. Also, certain systems and embellishments may have to be cut to save money.

Chairman Warren called attention to the long hours the hospital administration spent on the new hospital project, especially in the face of the latest dilemma. He also spoke of the enthusiastic work of the hospital gifts committee, headed by Harry Leslie, in lining up memorial and other gifts to benefit users of the new hospital.

Administrator Richardson reported that the net charge per patient day for the hospital has gone up only $1.50 in the past year, a much smaller percentage than the cost of living. The average price per patient day is now $76.84, he said.

Winterville $220,000 Bond Issue Given Approval

WINTERVILLE — The North Carolina Local Government Commission yesterday gave the Town of Winterville permission to issue $220,000 in bonds — subject to the approval of residents in a referendum — for construction of a 500,000 gallon water storage tank and a 1,000 gallon-per-minute deep well.

Mayor Walter Dail termed the half-million gallon water storage tank and deep well "an urgent need."

Dail said the new water facilities are "a must for us," and emphasized, "I hope the people will vote for the thing."

According to the mayor "we are proceeding with the paper work now," and the bond election is expected to be held as soon after January 5 as possible. He explained, "we have a 60-day hold from the clearing house in Raleigh. Our application went in November 5 and the hold will be up January 5."

Dail said the proposed 500,000 water storage tank and deep well will be in addition to the 75,000 gallon holding tank and three wells being used at the present time.

The present 75,000 tank was constructed in the late 1930's according to the mayor. That tank is supplied by a 250-gallon per minute well. "We have two stand-by wells, a 500-gallon per minute well and another 200-gallon per minute stand-by," he said. "All were put into service the other night," Dail explained, referring to a Friday night fire which destroyed a large building supply firm in Winterville.

Firemen were hampered in their attack on the blaze when the water supply in Win-terville's storage tank was depleted. "The water gave out," Dail explained.

According to Dail, "we'll only sell bonds for what is needed...possibly $140,000 to $150,000. Grants will make up the difference," he explained, saying that grants are expected to be forthcoming soon from "three or four" sources.

Warn Of 'Chaos' In N.C. Travel, Tourism Industry

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

A severe gasoline rationing program or a critical shortage could send North Carolina's billion dollar travel and tourism industry into chaos, industry leaders say.

The industry is preparing to fight for its life.

Without adequate gasoline to operate their cars, trucks, boats and recreational vehicles, millions of freely-spending tourists would be unable to reach the state's beaches, mountains, ski resorts, lakes, historical sites and campgrounds.

Tourism is North Carolina's third largest industry, ranking behind only textiles and tobacco, according to Jim Hastings, director of the state's Division of Travel and Promotion.

Hastings, in an interview this week, noted that many proposed steps for conserving gasoline have centered on the elimination of so-called "non-essential" travel, such as Sunday driving, weekend boating and camping trips and, possibly, vacation driving.

No one would be able to travel much, for example, on 10 or 15 gallons of gasoline a week.

"We don't consider leisure travel to be non-essential," Hastings said. "It is essential to economic, mental, physical and psychological well-being of our state and our lives.

"Before we eliminate this so-called leisure travel," Hastings said, "we will have to look at the ramifications."

"The elimination, or strict curtailment of leisure travel, would not just affect the short weekend trips. It would affect the entire economy of North Carolina."

"Your going to be putting people out of work if regulations are imposed for 'non-essential' driving," Hastings said.

Hastings could not estimate the number of North Carolinians directly or indirectly involved in the state's tourism industry, which grossed about $927 million in 1972 and is expected to go over $1 billion this year.

Thousands in North Carolina are dependent on tourism for a livelihood, including those in amusements, motels and hotels, service stations and restaurants. These establishments in turn employ thousands of other workers — attendants, janitors, clerks and maids.

Art Flynn, a Greensboro motel operator and president of the Travel Council of North Carolina, said, "From what I've read so far, it appears that the travel and tourism industry may be sacrificed to keep other industries going."

Flynn noted reports that some other industries, such as textiles, may get priority on available fuel supplies. This would keep textile workers on the job.

"Some of the things being talked about would be extremely drastic to our tourism industry," Flynn said.

Flynn and Hastings believe some leisure travel is essential.

"There has to be some outlet for relaxation of the people," Flynn said. "Otherwise, we would have a psychological effect that would be extremely damaging to the morale of the whole country."

Hastings said a certain amount of travel and recreation is necessary to maintain the mental health of most people.

"You just can't tell people they can't go anywhere. You can't make them work all the time and tell them they can't relax at the mountains or beach occasionally."

Skylab Crew Preparing For Space Walk Chores

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab 3's astronauts are concentrating on medical tests and preparations for a Thanksgiving day space walk.

With their orbiting home shipshape, Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson were able to settle down to research work that will occupy them the remainder of their record space journey.

They were in the sixth day of the planned 84-day mission. They spent the first 4½ days setting up housekeeping in the lab and were able to start some medical checks Tuesday.

Tests on earlier flights showed that zero gravity causes deconditioning of the muscles, including the heart. Without the constant tug of gravity, the heart adapts to a lighter work load as it pumps blood. Muscles in the leg lose several centimeters of tissue.

Pogue and Gibson are to step outside the orbiting station on Thanksgiving day to change film in a battery of solar telescopes, set up several scientific experiments and repair a stuck antenna on an earth resources package.

The astronauts will begin scientific research Friday, when they are to take the first photographs of the comet Kohoutek as it moves toward the sun from outer space. At that time, the comet will be about 97 million miles from the sun and 142 million miles from earth.

Shorter Forms In Accident Cases

RALEIGH (AP)—The long blue forms which North Carolina motorists must fill out for more serious accidents will be replaced Jan. 1 by short white ones. New data processing equipment will make it easier to fill in the forms.

They are required in accidents resulting in $200 or more total damage...or in injury or death.

Doctors said astronauts on the 59-day Skylab 2 mission showed a decline in the manufacture of red blood cells and changes in mineral balance and in the muscles of the back.

A thorough understanding of these changes is necessary if man is to embark on long voyages to other planets.

CANDY GOES TO WAR

NEW YORK (UPI) — The candy bar didn't come into its own until World War I when manufacturing methods were revolutionized and candy bars were mass produced for military use.

Hunt Father In Shootings

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Gary Bodenheimer, 19, was reported in serious condition today while police hunted his father, who allegedly shot the youth's girlfriend and his mother to death early Tuesday.

Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem said the young man was in the intensive care section after surgery for gunshot wounds.

Sheriff Fred Sink of Davidson County said the father, Grady A. Bodenheimer, 49, had been charged with two counts of murder in the slayings of his wife and the son's girlfriend. They were Mrs. Nonnie W. Bodenheimer, in her 40s, and Deborah Lynn Tuttle, 18, of Winston-Salem.

The motive was not learned.

The sheriff's office said a .22 caliber pistol was used.

The sheriff said his information was that the three victims were watching television in the son's room at the Bodenheimer home in northern Davidson County when Bodenheimer came in and shot them.

Bodenheimer is a part-time farmer. His home stands in the middle of the Motsinger Heights development which has built up around it.

Republican To Run For Judge

RALEIGH (AP)—The first partisan election is shaping up for a seat on North Carolina's Court of Appeals.

Democrat Edward B. Clark of Elizabethtown, resident Superior Court judge of the 13th District, filed Tuesday for the appellate court seat formerly held by Judge Raymond B. Mallard.

A Republican, Charlotte attorney James H. Carson has just assumed Mallard's seat under a gubernatorial appointment. Carson has indicated he will seek election to the court next year.

Flowers Has $15,000 Fine

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—Percy Flowers, 70-year-old Johnston County merchant-farmer who was once described by a judge as "one of the largest liquor manipulators in North Carolina," has been sentenced for federal income tax violations.

U. S. District Court Judge John D. Larkins accepted a plea of no contest from Flowers and sentenced him Monday to three years probation and fined him $15,000 for wilfully and knowingly filing false and fraudulent income tax returns for 1965, 1966 and 1967.

A special agent of the Internal Revenue Service testified that Flowers had understated his gross income during the three-year period by $96,314.

Flowers also was directed to pay all taxes and penalties owed the government for the years involved.

Flowers served 20 months in prison in the late 1950s for contempt of federal court and for state liquor law violations and assault.

Superior Court W. H. S. Burgwyn described Flowers in 1958 as "one of the largest liquor manipulators in North Carolina. At least that is his general reputation."

Shortage In Antifreeze

NEW YORK (AP)—The petroleum shortage that is limiting supplies of gasoline and oil also is reducing the availability of antifreeze as winter approaches.

Antifreeze manufacturers say the situation isn't likely to reach the point where their product can't be found. But they say some motorists may have to shop around with the selection narrowed to a few big-name brands.

Antifreeze is derived from ethylene glycol, a petroleum product also used in making synthetic fibers such as polyester. With demand for synthetic fibers growing and petroleum supplies shrinking, antifreeze manufacturers say they are finding it difficult to obtain enough ethylene glycol.

"The major manufacturers with their own branded merchandise have their own position to protect, so they are reducing supplies to private label manufacturers," said J. F. Chase, a sales promotion manager for Dow Chemical Co.

"So the consumer may have to buy brand merchandise this winter or maybe walk a little further to get his supply."

Fire kills some 12,600 persons in the United States and Canada each year and about a fourth of these victims are children.

Appointed To Policy Group

Herman G. Moeller, Associate Professor, Department of Social Work and Correctional Services, School of Allied Health and Social Professions, East Carolina University, has been appointed Co-Chairman of the Committee on Policy Positions of the American Correctional Association.

The committee has the responsibility for the preparation of statements of policy which will reflect the position of the Association on major issues in the area of prevention and control of crime. Statements prepared by the committee will be submitted to the Board of Directors for review and approval prior to their presentation to the 10,000 members of the Association. Upon adoption they will be given both nationwide and international distribution.

Moeller, retired Deputy Director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, is the coordinator of Correctional Services in the Department of Social Work and Correctional Services. The program is designed to prepare students for professional work in the Criminal justice field.

Son's A Wrong Number—Mother Tells Him So

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son has built a bedroom in our garage. He asked me if he could install an extension phone out there as a friend of his had done. I told him I thought it was illegal and he should not do it.

I returned from a brief trip to find that he installed a phone in his room. [He bought the instrument from a radio shack store.]

Also, he has two road signs mounted on his wall. He said one was given to him by a friend, and the other he picked out of a gutter after having seen it there for a year. [I believe him.]

I think the phone should be removed from our son's room unless he is willing to have it installed by the phone company and pay monthly charges. I also believe the road signs should be taken down, since they were county property. What do you think? A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The same principle is involved in both instances. By-passing the phone company is taking a free ride on their monthly service, even tho the instrument was purchased elsewhere. Keeping road signs that belong to the county is also dishonest. I'm with you, mother.

DEAR READERS: If you are not accustomed to saying grace before each meal, but would like to offer a thanksgiving prayer at your table on this Thanksgiving Day, mine is yours for the reading. And here it is:

O, heavenly Father,
We thank Thee for the food
And remember the hungry.
We thank Thee for health
And remember the sick.
We thank Thee for friends
And remember the friendless
We thank Thee for freedom
And remember the enslaved.
May these remembrances stir us to service
That Thy gifts to us may be used for others.
Amen.

[Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, Love, Abby]

DEAR ABBY: I work in a hospital, and I wish you would please devote a little space in your column to the way people should conduct themselves when visiting a patient in the hospital. Recently a patient was admitted with a serious heart condition.

The patient's sister entered, hysterical and in tears. She threw herself upon the patient [who was wired and bottled on both sides] and screamed: "Thank God you're alive. I thought you'd be dead by the time I got back!" Then the patient's husband said to his ailing wife: "When I told So and So you were rushed to the hospital with a heart attack, she said: 'She'll never make it!'"

This kind of talk at the bedside of a patient is uncalled for, and detrimental to the welfare of the patient. Please ask people to think before they speak, even tho they are emotionally upset. N. Y. POST READER

DEAR READER: Your letter may serve a useful purpose, but common sense is such an uncommon commodity, some fools will continue to babble, regardless.

Secretaries Pulling Down Top Salaries Abroad

EDITOR'S NOTE — It seems there are more bosses than secretaries in Europe these days, and as a result the decorative birds are pulling down top salaries plus a wide range of fringe benefits. One company attempting to lure a secretary into its firm promised her: "Gin before 11."

LONDON (AP) — Memo to the boss: Your secretary wants more than sweet-talk — and she's probably going to get it.

Across most of Europe, even in Russia, secretaries and typists are in short supply. In some countries, there are as many as 20 employers chasing every secretary, promising fat pay checks and free meals.

London ranks high on the list of most favored nations for aspiring assistants. Here you can expect an annual increment topping 10 per cent and fringe benefits ranging from free vacations and zippy autos to clothes allowances and even trading stamps.

"Two free tickets for weekends abroad, top rates and super parties," promised one firm. Another offered "free red mini for lucky girl who joins our go-ahead young team," and a third suggested: "Gin before 11?"

If the British fog gets you down, try Frankfurt or Amsterdam, then Switzerland or the Scandinavian countries.

But steer clear of Rome, where secretaries are chased only after office hours.

A survey published by a leading British employment agency revealed recently that there are 10 jobs for every London secretary. An inexperienced typist, the survey showed, can command a weekly wage of 27 pounds — $67.50 — and her more experienced colleague upwards of 30 pounds — $75.00.

These are considered good salaries in a country where the average male wage is 40 pounds — $100.00.

In Amsterdam, school leavers can hope to take home $640.00 a month as secretaries. And in Frankfurt, where there are 1,000 secretarial vacancies, beginners can earn 1,400 marks — $560.00 — monthly and experienced secretaries 2,500 marks — $1,000.

Fringe benefits, however, are governed by law and the line is drawn at subsidized meals and free soft drinks. In Scandinavia the secretary shortage appears to be easing slightly, except in the middle bracket where monthly salaries hover around the $700.00 mark.

"There is a good selection of top or over-qualified secretaries demanding salaries too expensive for most firms," said the head of an Oslo firm. "There are also lots of beginners. But they are hard to find in between."

In Paris demand exceeds supply only at the very bottom of the ladder.

"A young girl fresh out of school who starts as a typist can get an average salary of between 237 francs — $59.00 — and 262 francs — $65.00 — a week," said employment agent Georges Albaret. "Naturally if she is pretty and can do a little more than type she will get more."

Belgium, as a bilingual nation, has special problems, as Robert Gints of the National Employment Office explained: "Good companies are just plain crying for professional secretaries. It's very difficult to get a fully bilingual, fully competent secretary. Too many of them type too slowly or just lack the general efficiency good training can give them."

For the skilled, however, the returns are good, Gints said, with 18,000 francs — $500.00 — a month an easy target.

Odd man out in Europe is Italy, where not even the prettiest signorina can call her own tune. Here there are 10 to 20 applicants for every secretarial vacancy, and even the lucky ones often earn less than supermarket clerks.

The butterfly of the business world, the temporary typist, or "temp," has not yet reached the shores of Italy; but she is a common phenomenon in other European countries. She earns at least 10 per cent more than permanent secretaries.

Feelings on the temp were summed up by an Oslo employer: "Good, but very expensive."

There are no temps in the Soviet Union — and precious few secretaries either. In a lengthy article earlier this year, the Communist party daily Pravda said the shortage of secretaries was "a matter of state importance."

Pravda demanded that the nation increase the number of secretarial schools. At present there are only seven in the country.

"We probably lose $10 to $20 billion a year in gross national product because of a simple thing like not having a secretary," a Soviet economist told a Western newsman recently.

For example, a visiting American oil executive tried in vain for an entire day to get an appointment with a Soviet official he had come 7,000 miles to see.

"The reason was simple," he moaned. "There was nobody to answer the phone."

Mrs. Spangler Gives Program

Mrs. Evelyn Spangler presented the program at the meeting of the Sweet Gum Grove Extension Homemakers held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sam Alexander.

Her program topic was entitled "Self-Protection."

During the business session, Operation Santa Claus was discussed and members decided to remember patients at Cherry Hospital.

Mrs. Alexander was selected as outstanding club member of the year. Mrs. Eric Whichard, clothing leader, reported on fashions. The devotional was given by Mrs. Mayo J. Rogers. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Alexander.

Back-To-Nature Cookbooks High On Holiday Gift List

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Back-to-nature books on cooking and related subjects are as numerous this holiday season as toys on a child's Christmas list, and just as varied in quality.

Among the subjects covered with differing degrees of success are cheesemaking, herb growing, meat buying and cutting, bread baking and food preservation.

One of my favorite new books is Gertrude B. Foster's "Herbs for Every Garden" (Dutton), because it tells me everything I need to know about growing and drying herbs and using them in recipes.

Another is "Beard on Bread" by James Beard (Knopf), an ideal primer for small, busy households. Many recipes make only one or two loaves and some of the quick breads take scarcely longer to prepare than packaged mixes. The techniques of breadbaking are clearly and fully explained.

"Bread" by Joan Wiener and Diana Collier (Lippincott) is just as thorough in its directions and illustrations and the recipes are mostly for natural foods enthusiasts. The authors make wide use of whole grains and include recipes for both homemade yeast and homemade baking powder.

With so many good commercial cheeses widely available, it's hard to imagine why anyone would want "Making Your Own Cheese & Yogurt" by Max Alth (Funk & Wagnalls), and the absence of an index is a severe handicap. As for yogurt, dozens of useful recipe books now provide directions for making it.

Do-it-yourself meat cutting unquestionably can save money, as Travers Moncure Evans and David Greene point out in "The Met Book" (Scribners). But it also requires expensive cutlery with razor-keen edges and willingness to handle raw products. While the book also contains a lot of useful information about buying, storing and cooking meat, it's hardly essential for the average consumer who can find much of the same information in good basic cookbooks, U.S. Department of Agriculture Home and Garden bulletins and two paperback books that sell for about one dollar apiece.

Paperbacks

The paperbacks are "How to Buy Food," edited and compiled by Valerie Moolman (Cornerstone Library) and "How to Shop for Food" by Jean Rainey (Barnes & Noble division of Harper & Row).

A list and ordering information for the USDA bulletins can be obtained free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Ask for the quarterly catalog.

For a really comprehensive, well-written guide to grocery shopping, try "The Supermarket Handbook" by Nikki and David Goldbeck (Harper & Row). The authors tell how to recognize quality in a wide variety of foods and food products. They recommend some brands by name and tell what to look for on labels. Their recipes include some flavormore, wholesome, homemade substitutes for convenience products.

On food preservation, "Putting Food By" (Stephen Greene Press) and "Putting Up Stuff For the Cold Time" (Workman) are good examples of too much and too little. The first book, by a trio that includes Ruth Hertzberg, a former extension home economist, contains far more information than most households need or want about drying, canning, curing, preserving, pickling, root cellaring and freezing, often with directions for homemade equipment. Its recipes are incidental. The second book, by Crescent Dragonwagon, is great fun to read and the recipes sound good, but directions often are as casually unhelpful as our grandmothers were.

Commendable natural food cookbooks include "The New York Times Natural Foods Cookbook" by Jeann Voltz (Putnam), which emphasizes familiar fresh, raw ingredients rather than exotica like tamari-soy sauce and brewer's yeast; "The Deaf Smith Country Cookbook" by Marjorie Winn Ford, Susan Hillyard and Mary Faulk Kooek (Macmillan, cloth, and Collier, Paper), a mix of old-fashioned recipes such as Waldorf salad and new-fashioned ones made with whole grains, seeds, sprouts and other unprocessed ingredients.

"The Health Food Dictionary with Recipes" by Anstice Carroll and Embree de Persis Vona (Prentice-Hall) is amusing to read and often informative. But take it with a grain of salt. Unrefined sea salt, naturally.

Problem Is Coming To A Head

A long lingering problem appears to be coming to a head with the city board of education decision to investigate the possibility of building a football stadium for Rose High.

The local high school has been using Ficklen Stadium since it was built. There has been some dissatisfaction for years, however, because of the scheduling problems which were entailed.

Rose High was unable to schedule games on the Friday nights before university games and this year, it will be recalled, one game had to be played on Thursday night because of a conflict with the Pirates. This was most unsatisfactory for a high school. Friday night is a better gate night for high school football and certainly it is not the best situation when a football game is scheduled on a school night.

If it is decided that a stadium will be built for Rose High, Principal Robert Alligood has estimated it will cost $150,000. Of some help will be the fact that the university will give its old lighting system to the city schools when a new lighting system is installed at Ficklen.

It is known that thought is being given to expanding Ficklen stadium to take care of the growing football program at the institution. This will likely create more problems for the program of joint university-high school use.

We have to say it goes against the grain with us to see the expense of duplicating a facility that could be used jointly. It appears, however, that the problems become greater every year and the city schools may as well go on and plan for an adequate football facility for Rose High School.

Institutional Care Opposed

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—A shift away from institutional care of people with mental problems is called for in the strongest terms in a report by a team of consultants delivered to the Mental Health Study Commission.

North Carolina is not in the dark ages of brooding, frightening asylums—but neither are we far from it, the report tends to show as it documents dimly lighted hallways, wards crowded with beds and toilets lacking privacy or comfort.

The institutions, in short, are in such sorry shape that they interfere with the treatment and rehabilitation of patients, the study shows. Further, programs across the state are being shortchanged because emphasis is toward the big institutions.

"The violations of legal as well as human rights involved in long term custodial care are documented repeatedly," a summary of the report stated. Throughout, the study reflects "the shortcomings of the orientation toward institutionalized care inherent in an organization that devotes 80 percent of its budget to institutions."

$250,000 Study
The report is the first phase of a $250,000 study of mental health delivery in the state. It represents an inventory of the existing situation, and necessarily is negative to a large degree.

The second phase will outline program changes, building suggestions, legislative changes and budgets for a complete revamping of the state's mental health care system.

State Sen. Kenneth C. Royall Jr., of Durham, chairman of the Mental Health Study Commission, said he hopes the consultants and members of the commission can come up with that document by mid-February for legislative action in the 1974 General Assembly.

The nut of the inventory of conditions delivered recently is that while North Carolina has some good—even imaginative—mental health programs underway, the overall effort reflects a "conglomeration of agencies, institutions and groups all addressing certain aspects of the problem. . . A major need is for coordination and specific assignments of responsibility."

Further, current state efforts to coordinate services have been going on at the Raleigh level, the report said. "To be effective, these efforts must impact at the community level. . . the new system must be structured from the bottom up rather than the top down."

Basically, the consultants see a need for the state to fund, support and direct the overall effort, but for local communities to embrace "free-standing responsible" agencies as a part of that system.

The lengthy inventory of current situations provides detailed facts and figures on mental health care programs, physical facilities and administrative and organizational processes involved.

Specialist Team

Dr. Cecil Wittson, a psychiatrist at the University of Nebraska Medical Center, directed the study of mental health care programs, with specialists in each area: Dr. Paul Pearson of the University of Nebraska in mental retardation and developmental disabilities; Dr. William Anderson, director of the Durham Child Guidance Center in emotionally disturbed children; Dr. W. A. Hunt of Loyola University in mental disorders; Dr. J. Matarazzo, chairman of the department of medical psychology at the University of Oregon in alcoholism; and Dr. Eric Pfeiffer, professor of psychiatry at Duke University in geriatrics.

Physical facilities at the 11 institutions were inventoried by architects and engineers from the consulting firm of Henningson, Durham and Richardson; and the administrative processes were studied by representatives of the Peat, Marwick, Mitchell consulting organization.

Adding to the collection of information were questionnaires sent to 9,200 employees of the Mental Health Division and to some 1,600 recently discharged patients and to local community health centers.

On balance, the inventory of present conditions found an awfully lot wrong with the variety of programs, but the central theme running through the criticism was a tendency of state programs to concentrate on "holding" the clients, not really treating or curing them. This was equally true of studies in alcoholism, the elderly, mental retardation units, the emotionally disturbed children, and adult mental disorders.

Some Guidelines

While the first report was not meant to establish future directions, it does outline future steps for the commission which tend to point in that direction.

It hints at avoiding large-scale investment of funds in upgrading physical facilities which may not be needed in a new system; stresses community facilities and calls for new approaches to outreach and early detection for prevention of mental illness; humanization and equalization of programs for all classes of problems; more research in curing instead of holding clients; and major reorganization of administration functions along the lines of establishing goals, priorities and objectives to be accomplished.

Redoubled Efforts For United Fund Required

The Pitt United Fund drive is moving slowly this year with only about 71 percent of the $174,692.84 goal collected or pledged here near the end of November.

We hope efforts will be redoubled by officials of the drive and workers to put this drive over the top in the near future.

Individuals and businesses which have not yet pledged should do so immediately. The funds are needed for the organizations United Fund supports and the quicker we do the job, the better.

Self-Inflicted Wounds Spread

By ROWLAND EVANS

and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON

President Nixon's shocking accusation to two groups of Republican Senators that his former Attorney General, Elliot Richardson, lied about the firing of Archibald Cox as special prosecutor goes to the heart of White House confusion which caused the Saturday night massacre and shook the Nixon presidency.

All key officials in the special prosecutor's office and at the Justice Department support Richardson's sworn testimony that he never agreed to prohibit Cox from issuing further subpoenas for presidential papers. Mr. Nixon had no personal dialogue about it with Richardson. So, the President's accusation is based on a single source: the version by Alexander Haig, White House chief of staff, of his conversations with Richardson—a version lacking other first-person support.

Consequently, Mr. Nixon's assault on Richardson, besides reiterating the President's inclination to counter-attack sharply when cornered, reveals the fragility of decision-making at the White House. Considering Haig's well-established integrity, the most charitable explanation of what happened is inexcusable confusion in the upper reaches of the White House.

There is no dispute that Richardson accepted the White House compromise calling for Sen. John Stennis to oversee editing of subpoenaed tape recordings and tried, unsuccessfully, to sell the plan to Cox. The dispute concerns Richardson's reaction to Cox's rejection. All evidence indicates Richardson opposed either firing Cox or prohibiting his quest for new documents after Cox rejected the Stennis compromise.

Indeed, Richardson's position was clear enough on Monday, Oct. 15, beginning the fateful week so costly to the Nixon presidency. White House lawyers mentioned to Richardson the view of Yale's Prof. Alexander Bickel, that Mr. Nixon could circumvent an adverse Supreme Court decision on the tapes by firing Cox and naming a more congenial special prosecutor. Richardson made clear he would have no part of this, and the Bickel option was dropped.

But by Thursday evening after having failed to convince Cox to accept the Stennis compromise, Richardson feared the White House was about to fire Cox anyway. So, on Friday morning, he told Haig he wanted to see the President immediately. If he could not convince Mr. Nixon, Richardson was prepared to resign. Richardson was then informed Cox was not going to be fired but was denied a meeting with the President.

The critically important prohibition against Cox came up later that day. At the Justice Department, there was no doubt that Richardson opposed any such prohibition. Haig insists that Richardson actually proposed the prohibition, though this is utterly inconsistent with his past positions.

Haig, apparently, sincerely believed Richardson was in step with the White House, which would have hopelessly isolated Cox. That was what Haig informed presidential counselors Melvin R. Laird and Bryce Harlow Friday, Oct. 19, when they were belatedly informed of the Stennis compromise. Had they known Richardson opposed the key prohibition provision, these two political veterans might well have advised caution.

Strength For Today

LOVE OUTLIVES MEMORY

When Longfellow was buried, Ralph Waldo Emerson stood at his grave. The poet and the philosopher had been life-long friends. Now the poet was dead, the philosopher, a tottering, somewhat senile old man leaning on his daughter's arm looked questioning at the mound of earth and said, "I can't recall his name, but he was one of the most glorious souls that ever lived."

There are some things which outlast even memory. The kindnesses and acts of love which are life's sparkling jewels live on and give us joy after the power to enjoy other things has passed. All that the feeble Emerson could remember about Longfellow was that he was a glorious soul, one who was universally admired for his kindness of heart and depth of affection.

What will we leave behind us when we die? Probably a lot of us think largely in terms of enough property to enable our loved one to live in comfort. But there are things more important than that, such as the heritage of Longfellow.

Europe Drifts Away

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
COPENHAGEN, Denmark
(AP) — President Nixon's "Year of Europe" apparently will end with a declaration of Western Europe's own identity — drawn up by the Europeans themselves with no participation by the President.

The Nixon administration had hoped to publish a "new Atlantic Charter" this year, with contributions by itself and all the other members of the Atlantic community. But the administration's plans went astray as matters other than Europe took the White House's attention and conflicts with the Europeans arose over the document itself.

Instead, the foreign ministers of the nine Common Market countries meet today to look at their own proclamation, which officials say is already virtually complete. It is likely to be released at a European summit meeting next month.

The European declaration is intended as a basis for further progress toward a united Europe and as a definition of the Common market countries' relationship with the rest of the world. Its contents have not been disclosed, but it is expected to concentrate on the countries' desire to act together on world issues outside the economic matters the Common (Continued on page 5)

It's Rose Mary's Baby

WASHINGTON—One of the things the Nixon Administration was noted for before Watergate was its neatness. It's hard to believe, on the basis of recent revelations, that the President has run one of the sloppiest White Houses of anyone in our history. Records get lost. Tapes don't exist. Notes are misplaced.

It's not enough to impeach the President, but it certainly scares the heck out of you.

Public Forum

To the Editor:

Your editorial on Thursday referred to higher education desegregation plans required by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. A suggestion that the former black campuses should be one-third white does present a problem, but I disagree that assigning students to university campuses by race is the only solution. A better idea would be to eliminate some duplication of programs. Eliminating most of the college transfer programs at College of the Albemarle might encourage its white majority to attend predominantly-black Elizabeth City State, which is barely the toss of an oyster shell from the C.O.A. campus. Merger of the two schools would permit the establishment of a new technical institute to concentrate on technical and vocational training in the region.

The law school at North Carolina Central University is only 15 miles from UNC-Chapel Hill. Moving the Durham law program to another community, such as Charlotte or Winston-Salem, would eliminate segregated legal training in the Triangle area plus make the training available to other geographic areas of the state. Segregated schools attempting to teach the same programs within one community would tend to remain segregated.

Within the city of Greensboro, UNC-G and A&T State University could be merged. (I can already hear the society pages shudder at the merger idea is that the Greensboro would be to scratch UNC-Charlotte's engineering school and beef up the program at a formerly all-black school, A&T. A hidden advantage to the merger idea is that the Greensboro coeds wouldn't have to drive to Chapel Hill for a football team.

A final solution, and possibly the easiest to adopt, would be for the black institutions desiring to increase their non-black ratio to offer attractive scholarships to "deserving members of the minority race (in this case white) who have been deprived of the rich cultural heritage of our other students."

Shortages Mean Loss Of Jobs

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Interviews with leading economists suggest that the immediate impact of the Mideast oil embargo will be to slow the economy more sharply than had been anticipated and perhaps pitch it into recession.

But as many of the economists point out, the early effects might not be felt equally throughout the country. Shortages of gasoline and heating oil, and factory closings and layoffs, are expected to appear in pockets.

In some areas these shortages already are evident. They will become more common in the next few weeks, especially as heating oil becomes scarce along the Eastern seaboard, which depends heavily on imports.

Factories and workers are expected to be affected soon, especially in industries that rely heavily on petrochemicals. For such industries the problem is expected to be not so much a shortage of fuel but of raw materials.

"Already a very severe shortage of petrochemicals is developing," said Alan Greenspan of Townsend-Greenspan, Inc., a consulting firm.

To Greenspan this suggests "a large number of plastics, synthetic fibers and other products—an almost unbelievable number of such items—will be moving into short supply, with resulting job losses."

Estimating the job loss in advance is difficult. One consulting economist said almost all his clients have had energy task forces for the past year but that most are still asking rather than answering questions.

The confusion is evident in the airline industry. While some executives feel that cancelling some flights might result in permanent economies, others are calling the disruption of schedules devastating.

sharp rise in joblessness.

After feeding the latest energy data into the model late last week, Eckstein now estimates unemployment will rise from 4.6 per cent to about 5.5 per cent in the second quarter next year, when the impact of the shortage will be greatest.

However, the jobless increase probably won't stop there. Eckstein projects a peak of 5.8 per cent in the second half of 1974, a delayed effect of the damage done earlier by a lack of energy and raw materials.

While these figures bear the imprint of computer efficiency, some observers are cautiously watching the psychological mood, maintaining that the emotional impact on people can have destructive consequences also.

What happens, for instance, when the main topic of conversation day after day becomes the cold home, insufficient gasoline for the car, the threat of a layoff? Will negative attitudes reinforce each other?

Another questionable area involves the ability of industries to adjust. Greenspan forecasts that utilities which switched to oil will seek to bring back coal within weeks, but will fail in the effort.

"They have severed ties with the coal producers," he explained. Moreover, "there aren't enough railroad hoppers and pulverizing equipment. All the peripheral machinery is dislocated."

Consumers who might not be affected by either the lack of heat or jobs almost certainly will feel the consequences of rising prices.

It is generally agreed that heating oil and gasoline prices will rise, the latter to as much as $1 a gallon in the view of several economists, and probably never again will qualify as relatively inexpensive.

But prices of a vast array of other products, including food, will also be pushed up because of their dependence upon energy in processing and transportation.

Eckstein, who had forecast 6.2 per cent inflation, has now raised his estimate to more than 7 per cent. The jump might be as much as 8 or 9 per cent early in the year, he said, falling off in the second half.

 20, Haig told Deputy Attny. Gen. William Ruckelshaus that Richardson had approved the entire Stennis compromise. Ruckelshaus retorted that simply was not true and also refused to fire Cox. Thus, Haig's understanding of Richardson's position was challenged during the height of the Saturday night massacre.
 Since then, White House aides have attempted to blame the ensuing crisis on Richardson, charging that he misled the President and then misrepresented his own position publicly. That Mr. Nixon himself should pick up this theme a month later is explicable only in the context of counterattack dominating his sessions with Republican Congressmen last week.

 The first presidential attack against Richardson came during Tuesday night's session with Republican Senators when Mr. Nixon asserted that the former Attorney General had agreed to the Stennis compromise in full. Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts then informed the President that Richardson had told him he did not agree to the prohibition against Cox. "He didn't tell you the truth," Mr. Nixon shot back. Senators present were stunned, with Brooke whispering, "This is incredible."
 That exchange did not leak out. But in meeting the second group of Republican Senators Wednesday night, Mr. Nixon made it clear his accusation the previous evening was no accident. Asked about Cox's firing on the very last question, the President attacked

Richardson again: "He did not tell the truth." Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland noted Richardson testified under oath, but Mr. Nixon snapped back: "Nobody's going to go after him for perjury."
 Mathias, outraged by the attack on Richardson's integrity, wants the Senate Judiciary Committee to find where the truth lies. That inevitably would trigger an inquest into the Saturday night massacre and a further split among Republicans, unneeded by Mr. Nixon now. But such self-inflicted wounds have inevitably resulted from the counter-attack strategy, doggedly followed by Mr. Nixon in confronting Watergate.

Preparing New Booklet On Community Services

The United Fund and the League of Women Voters of Greenville-Pitt County are working together to publish and distribute a revised edition of the Community Services Booklet. Originally published in 1972, the booklet is a directory of agencies and the services offered by these agencies in Pitt County. Only those agencies which have headquarters in Pitt County are included.
 The United Fund has provided $500 to cover the cost of reprinting the booklet. Free copies will be distributed to social service agencies, school guidance counselors, ministers, doctors, some law enforcement agencies, and others who need the information for referral purposes. The new edition will be bound in such a way that supplemental pages of new agencies and services may be added as needed in the future. Distribution records will be kept in order to facilitate future supplements. The projected publication date is early 1974.

 The Human Resources Committee of the LWV, headed by Margaret Blanchard, is currently gathering information for the booklet. If an eligible agency which was not included in the 1972 edition has not been contacted by December 1, that agency should contact Margaret Blanchard, 758-0064, or Beth Brankin, 756-6620.
 In addition to being a distribution point for small orders, the United Fund office at the State Bank building will serve as a referral agency for inquiries about information contained in the booklet.
 The LWV is also going to finance publication of a limited number of additional copies of the booklet for sale to the general public. No United Fund money will be used to finance publication copies of the booklets that will be placed on sale.

 "Mr. President, if you don't like the way I'm doing my work, I'll be very happy to resign."
 "Now, Rose Mary, stop crying. I think you're doing a wonderful job. It's just that every once in a while I can't seem to find something I'm looking for."
 "You know this is not the easiest job in the world."
 "Rose Mary, Rose Mary. Pat and I think the world of you. Now you just go back to your desk and forget all about the tough note Brezhnev sent me. It probably wasn't important anyway."

 Market normally deals with. It also will be consistent with their goal of creating a "European union" — still undefined in detail — by 1980.
 The document is not expected to emphasize close relations with the United States, but certainly will not repudiate the 300,000 American troops and the 7,000 nuclear weapons now stationed in western Europe. Even France, whose government kicked NATO troops out of its territory and has pressed for the European declaration, does not want their numbers reduced.
 Last April, Henry A. Kissinger suggested the new Atlantic Charter to define relations between the United States and Europe. Under Kissinger's plan, Nixon would come to Europe and promulgate this declaration at an Atlantic summit meeting.
 European leaders, however, reacted coolly. Fearful that the charter would imply economic concessions on their part in return for U.S. promises of continued military support, they insisted that there be not one but two documents — one on trade matters and the other on defense.
 Negotiations went slowly, and Nixon made it plain he would come to Europe only if there was something important for him to sign. He also said that if he were to come this year, it would have to be by Nov. 15. The trip now may come in February or April.

Nixon Tells GOP Governors He'll Dispell Clouds

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—President Nixon has promised the nation's Republican governors he will dispel the Watergate cloud shadowing their political future and said he is sorry for the trouble it has caused.

The President also told the winter meeting of the Republican Governors Association he knows of no more scandals likely to pop out of his administration and add to their embarrassment.

"The President looked at us around the room and said, 'I'm sorry if I have added to your burden,'" Tennessee Gov. Winfield Dunn said after the governors had listened for almost two hours to Nixon's Watergate defense Tuesday.

Iowa Gov. Robert D. Ray, whose job comes up for election next year, was asked whether Nixon and his Watergate problems would be a campaign albatross for other Republicans in 1974.

"I think a little more time will tell whether he will be an asset or a liability in a campaign," Ray replied, "and he brought this up himself."

"He wants to help in every way he can. The thing that will help the most, of course, will be if he can clear up Watergate."

Governors coming out of the closed meeting said Nixon made the strongest promises yet for full disclosure of all the facts he has about the myriad of scandals which began when Republican burglars and wiretappers were captured at gunpoint inside Democratic party headquarters on June 17, 1972.

"He indicated a number of papers will be issued clearly responding to the questions which have been raised," Dunn said, including the President's personal finances, the ITT affair and the milk case.

"Every question we asked was answered in full," Missouri's Christopher Bond said. "And he indicated an additional four or five point program to continue answering, in the courts, in open news sessions, through documents he expects to release and by fuller answers to the most asked questions."

North Carolina's James E. Holshouser Jr. also revealed that Nixon had said of the White House tapes sought by Watergate investigators: "The key tapes, the key dates, the tapes are there, are audible and would be heard by the courts."

The session, the President's third Southern stop in four days, was similar to a series he held at the White House last week with congressional Republicans explaining his side of the Watergate controversy and asking for support.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, one of those who has been calling openly for Nixon to save GOP candidates from disaster next year by clearing up Watergate before the elections, said the governors were encouraged by the meeting.

"I think they left with a sense of relief that the President was relaxed, in complete control of himself," McCall said. "I've never seen a more conversational meeting."

"It was a free-wheeling session of questions and answers," California's Ronald Reagan said. "The President couldn't have been more frank."

A Ten-Week Course Set

A 10-week college credit course, EDUC 479, Introduction to the Community College and Adult Education, will be offered in Greenville beginning Monday, December 3, by the Division of Continuing Education of East Carolina University.

It will be taught in three-hour sessions in Room 241, Education-Psychology Building, ECU campus each Monday evening through February 25, 1974. Each session will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Dr. Leonard D. Lilley will be the instructor for the course.

Pre-registration for the course is requested. Students must register for this course through the Division of Continuing Education.

EDUC 479 carries three quarter hours of college credit which may be used toward teacher certificate renewal or for degree credit if the course fits into the student's degree program.

One of the most welcomed assurances was Nixon's declaration that, so far as he knows,

Says Nuclear Power Is Energy Solution

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The president of the American Nuclear Society says the solution to the energy crisis lies in greater use of electricity produced by nuclear power.

John W. Simpson made the comment Tuesday as he toured the Duke Power Co.'s McGuire Nuclear Station 17 miles from Charlotte on Lake Norman.

Simpson labeled consumer advocate Ralph Nader and other nuclear power critics "the doomsday lobby," and he added, "Mr. Nader will not listen to any facts."

He said the chances of an atomic disaster at a nuclear plant are one in 10 billion.

In an address before the Carolina Section of the ANS, an organization of nuclear engineers and scientists, Simpson said this nation can expect to become economically and socially depressed without the energy nuclear power can provide.

there are no further unpleasant revelations likely to embarrass those who stand by him.

Holshouser To Head Campaign

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser of North Carolina has been named campaign chairman of the Republican Governors Association for the 1974 gubernatorial elections.

Gov. Winfield Dunn of Tennessee named Holshouser as one of Dunn's first official acts upon being installed as chairman of the association Tuesday.

"He said if there are, he is not aware of them," Dunn said. "If there is any information yet to be revealed, it's information he does not have."

Before meeting with the governor, Nixon spoke briefly to a crowd estimated by police at about 5,000 across the street from the convention hotel on the Mississippi River bluffs.

Nixon told the crowd "how much better your future looks now than it did when I came into office," and cited disengagement from Vietnam, peace in the Middle East and relatively low unemployment as proof.

"We have got some problems," Nixon said. "They are serious problems in terms of our energy, but that is a problem that exists all over the

Asking People To Pool Cars

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Officials of Charlotte and Mecklenburg County plan to ask people to form car pools, in an effort to cut down the number of cars which carry 110,000 people to work in Charlotte each day.

Officials say that if voluntary car-pooling doesn't work, they may have to enforce some sort of controls.

"And all I can say," Nixon added, "is the greatness about America is that when we've got problems, we just get out and solve them."

The speech and governors' meeting completed a campaign of public appearances which

Academy Seeks Labels To Aid In Equipment

Greenville Christian Academy is conducting a special collection drive aimed at obtaining needed audiovisual equipment.

The program, Labels for Education, is sponsored by Campbell Soup Company and offered to elementary schools, both private and public.

"Between now and Dec. 10, we hope to collect enough Campbell's Soup labels to earn audio visual equipment," said Joshua Potter, Principal. "Our students are saving their labels, and they would appreciate it if friends of the school would do the same."

Any Campbell's Soup can label counts in the drive. More than 70 audio-visual equipment items are being offered. A participating school sends in the assigned number of labels for the particular items selected.

began in Orlando, Fla., Saturday night with a televised news conference before The Associated Press Managing Editors Association and included a stop Sunday in Macon, Ga., to dedicate a law school.

Earlier Tuesday, Republican party chairman George Bush told the governors Nixon's appearances and meetings with GOP office holders and officials had turned the tide on Watergate.

"These haven't been easy times," Bush said. "The thing that is so greatly encouraged to see is the Watergate matter having turned around rather dramatically as a result of the President's actions in the last few days."

Clarifies Minimum Wage Rate Change

Jim Hannan, manager of the local North Carolina Employment Security Commission office, has stated the change in the hourly minimum wage rate and some phraseology has caused some confusion and misinterpretation.

The North Carolina minimum wage rate changed from $1.60 per hour to $1.80 per hour on Sept. 2 for all covered employees.

The phrase "covered employment" refers to employment of an individual by an organization, trade or business having one or more than one employee.

"There are exemptions from the minimum wage law, however," Hannan explained. "The exemptions listed by a release received by the Employment Office list the principal exemptions as farm worker, domestic worker in private homes, persons over 65, minors less than 16, and establishments having less than four employees. Federal, state and local government employees are not covered by the new minimum wage law."

Employers of four or more employees in any one place of business are governed by maximum working hours of 10 hours per day, 56 hours per week, and 12 days in any period of 14 consecutive days.

"The hours apply equally to male and female employees. Also, businesses are no longer required to furnish seats for use of female employees," Hannan said. "Further, businesses may no longer apply to the Commission of Labor for special permission to work employees 60 hours per week in emergency situations."

Effective Oct. 1, minors (under 18) no longer need to obtain a new work permit each time they change jobs. Upon termination the employer must return the employment certificate to the minor. Also, it is the individual's responsibility to obtain the work permit—not the employer.

Minors may work in Grade A restaurants holding malt beverage, wine, liquor or other permits issued by the State ABC Board, but may not serve or dispense any such beverage.

If Planters can offer 7.25% savings certificates with a 7.52% annual yield, how come everyone else isn't doing it?

They might if they could. But very few banks have the unique computer system that Planters has.

Our new system compounds the interest on our 7.25% certificates on a daily basis. So if your interest and principal are held to maturity for four years, you get the extra advantage of a 7.52% effective annual yield.

If you don't want your interest compounded and retained with your certificate, you can be paid quarterly by check or we can transfer your interest to another PNB checking or savings account.

Either way, with PNB's 7.25% certificates you can watch your money earn more without lifting a finger to help it. Invest it and forget it.

Come talk to a Planters banker or send in the coupon below. But do it soon, because our new savings certificates are available for a limited time only.

You wouldn't expect an offer this good to go on forever!

Tastes Differ As To Region
NEW YORK (UPI) — In the North Woods they like hot toddies and down south it's mint juleps. Like drinks, candy preferences also vary from region to region, depending on climate and culture.
The National Confectioners Association says easterners prefer dark and semi-sweet chocolates and miniature candies. Westerners choose milk chocolates, mainly in jumbo sizes. And Midwesterners go for a mixture of lights and darks.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

I learned last week of the impending report to the City School Board about Rose High School's use of Ficklen Stadium in the future.

Both Clarence Stasavich, ECU Athletic Director, and Glenn Cox, City School Superintendent, stressed then that if there was to be a parting of the ways between the two football teams, it would be a friendly one.

Somehow, the tone of the story in yesterday's Daily Reflector did not quite meet with that mood.

Perhaps the desire of East Carolina to move Rose from the stadium without a full "get out," is rightly termed a squeeze. But the college has problems that cannot be overlooked.

It has been 11 years since the first football game was played in the stadium. When it was built, many Greenville people did indeed give money on the promise that Rose could use the stadium.

But any program can change. East Carolina's certainly has. Cox admits that it is much more "sophisticated" now, calling for things that didn't enter in 11 years ago.

Visiting teams many times must take up one of the dressing rooms in the stadium, and Rose customarily uses one of these for its halftime meetings and rests. When a college team has it stacked with valuable equipment, they may be reluctant to have outsiders given access to it, regardless of their honesty.

Visiting teams also like to work out on Friday night before playing a Saturday night game. This becomes impossible on nights when Rose is at home.

During those 11 years of use, Rose has paid only the actual day-to-day costs involved in the stadium usage. East Carolina has made no profit from it, but Rose has not contributed to the maintenance of the stadium, despite using it half the time.

From my point of view, the changes that have occurred can dramatically be seen just in the press box alone. Ten years ago or even five years ago, the press box was more than adequate for East Carolina. But this is no longer true. The program has grown to the point where that small structure is no longer big enough.

The overall program reflects this. Rose therefore has been asked to try and schedule around the Pirates.

But this is virtually impossible on a year-to-year basis without causing complete havoc in scheduling.

The two schools have reached a compromise for the next two years. But by then, East Carolina hopes to have enlarged the stadium by nearly doubling it.

And that would make the investment put up 11 years ago seem quite small in the overall structure.

No one has thought of one important question. At least it wasn't asked Monday night at the school board meeting: What do the Rose coaches think of the situation?

Well, they've told me they would like to see Rose have its own facility, for more than one reason. No other high school in the state depends on a college for its playing field. They either have their own or rent a city-owned one, contributing to the maintenance of the field.

The people who put their investment into Ficklen have more than realized it in the past 11 years. Now it is time for Rose to stop being a second-class high school, dependant on the college or the city for all of its facilities except a gym.

A 4-A High School should have a field of its own—and it is time for the school board and the county commissioners to act.

Oak City Nips Belhaven, 81-80

OAK CITY — Oak City and Belhaven split a pair of games last night as the Trojans opened the 1973-74 basketball season. The Trojanettes lost their game, 41-21, while the Oak City boys took theirs, 81-80.

In the girls' game, Belhaven held Oak City scoreless in the opening period, scoring eight points of their own. They followed that up with 11 more points in the second frame, while Oak City finally found the mark for seven. That made it 19-7 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Belhaven kept up the pressure outscoring Oak City by 10, 16-6. That upped their lead to 35-13. Oak City managed an 8-6 edge in the last period.

Rosita Fonville led the Belhaven scoring with 16 points, while Robbie Borden had 11. No one hit double figures for Oak City.

The boys' game was a horse-race all the way. Oak City jumped into the lead in the first period, building up a 20-14 lead. Tye kept control through the second quarter with a 23-20 edge, upping the score to 43-34.

Belhaven began to come back in the third quarter, however, ripping the nets for 26, while Oak City got 19. That trimmed the Trojan lead to 62-60. Belhaven kept it tight the rest of the way, but with 28 seconds left, Donnie Carr hit two free throws to give the Trojans an 81-78 lead. Belhaven scored with three seconds left to cut it back to 81-80, but they couldn't get the ball back.

Billy Ross led the Oak City scoring with 30, while Paul Jones had 17, and Carr and Ronald Duggins each had 12. Michael Credle led Belhaven with 30, with Nathan Ebron adding 15, Perry Ebron hitting 13 and Van Topping getting 12. Oak City plays host to Bear Grass tonight.

Conley Rolls To Big Victory

HOLLYWOOD—D.H. Conley's Vikings opened their season last night with a 75-51 basketball rout of Tarboro.

Conley had little trouble in disposing of the Tarboro tribe of Vikings gaining control early to romp. No girls' game was played. In a preliminary, the Conley junior varsity trimmed Tarboro, 52-34.

The Conley Vikings pushed through 18 points in the first period, easing out-by four points into the lead when the frame ended. Then, in the second quarter, Conley continued to pull away, outscoring Tarboro, 15-8. That ran their lead out to 33-22.

From there on, it was just a question of time. Tarboro fought to stay close in the third period, but Conley still outthit them, 22-

19, building their lead to 55-41. Then, in the last period, the Vikings outthit their visitors, 20-10 to wrap up the victory.

Mike Sutton led the Conley scoring with 22 points, while Clennel Streeter had 17 and Larry Daniels added 10. Wilbur Draugh had 20 and Kenny Joyner had 10 for Tarboro.

Conley gets into the Eastern Carolina Conference play tonight as it travels to Greene Central for a league meeting.

Co-champions Ayden-Grifton and Southern Wayne dominated the Eastern Carolina All-Conference team announced today.

Ayden-Grifton and Southern, who shared the league title with 8-1 records, each placed five men on the select group of 23 players. Farmville Central, the third-place finisher, had three, while Greene Central, Southern Nash, and D. H. Conley each landed two. North Lenoir, North Pitt, Eastern Wayne and C. B. Aycock each had one man named.

Named from Ayden-Grifton were Milton Brown, Ronnie Dixon, Jesse Brown, Tom Craft and Greg Nelson. Making the list from Southern Wayne were Vala Olliver, Nelson Smith, Ken Mac, Paul Robinson and Jeff Tillman.

Farmville Central's honorees included Barry Johnson, Chester Ellis and Lee Johnson. Selected from Southern Nash were J. D. Welms and Richie Morgan. From Conley came Willie Hawkins and Keith Gould. Greene Central's All-Stars included Lafan Forbes and Miles Briggs.

Rounding out the team were Clarence Mooring of North Pitt, Mike Turnage of North Lenoir, Ashley Cox of Eastern Wayne and Carl Maples of C. B. Aycock.

Area players making honorable mention included Jerome Shappard, Tim Butts and Harper Shackelford of Greene Central; Tony Koonce, Mike Rose and Ernest Dixon of Ayden-Grifton; Wave Oglesby, Bobby Wooten and Wardell Blow of Farmville Central; Jim Glisson, Craig McLawhorn and Johnny Vines of North Pitt, and Calvin Hawkins, Stencil Hines and Lionel Streeter of D. H. Conley.

CONSISTENTLY SCORING
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks football teams have not been held scoreless in 72 games. Baylor defeated Arkansas the last time the Razorbacks failed to score, 7-0 in 1966.

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Golden Eagles advance into the second round of State Playoffs Friday night against a tough Tabor City team.

That game will be played in Tabor City at 8 p.m.

"They are a big, physical football team," Coach Noland Respass said of Tabor City. "They run from a full-house T backfield and they just try to power over you."

Respass said that the top backfield man is one of their linemen is a tackle who goes both ways, Wright.

"They just try to run the ball right at you and dare you to try to stop them," he said.

Tabor City comes into the game with a 10-0-1 record, marred only by a tie with Hallsboro, a team in their conference. Robersonville is now 9-2, losing only to a pair of 3-A schools.

Defensively, Tabor City is still big and strong, with many people going both ways. "They come at you in a 6-2 alignment and do a lot of manhunting," Respass said.

Because of the size of the Tabor City team, the Eagles will probably take to the air to try to move the ball. They did this with a great deal of success last week when they edged out Fuquay-Varina in the first round of yardage. The two tied at 28-28.

"We fumbled about five times in the game, and we can't figure out why," Respass said. "We haven't fumbled 10 times the rest of the season put together. Probably it was just nervousness."

The coach added that the passing game looked the best it has all year against Fuquay-Varina. "(Matt) Wilson had a fabulous football game," he said. "Both throwing and running, Wilson and Frankie Spruill each picked up over 100 yards rushing, and Ricky Purvis caught a couple of key passes. Our offensive line also had one of its better games."

Respass wasn't happy with the defense, however. "They didn't do well. We made a lot of mistakes that we hadn't made all year. We've been working hard to correct these this week."

The coach feels that Tabor City will try to control the ball on the Eagles. "We'll try to counteract their size and strength with quickness and speed. We feel we can move the ball on them, but we have to avoid making mistakes."

The winner of the game will again take to the road next week, facing the Northeastern area winner for the Eastern title.

Jamesville In Win In Opener

JAMESVILLE—Jamesville High School split a pair of games with Chowan last night. The Bullets won the boys game, 58-52, while the girls bowed, 47-22.

In the girls' contest, Chowan jumped into the lead in the first period, 10-6. They never trailed again. They outthit Jamesville, 9-6, in the second frame to take a 19-12 lead by half-time.

In the third quarter, they continued to pull away, outthitting the Bullets, 12-4. That left Chowan in a comfortable 31-16 lead with one period left. They outthit Jamesville, 16-6, in that to wind up the win.

Rosa Cofield led Chowan with 22 points, while Belinda Byrum had 13. Donna Williams led Jamesville with eight points.

Chowan and Jamesville fought it out all through the boys game. Chowan inched into a 14-12 lead in the first period, but the Bullets came back to outthit them in the second quarter, 17-13. That left the Jamesville five take a 29-27 lead at halftime.

Pete Rose Named As NL's Most Valuable

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rose, the Cincinnati Reds' irreplaceable left fielder, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player for 1973 today by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Nicknamed "Charley Hustle" for his all-out, aggressive baseball style, the Reds' dynamic player won the MVP prize in a close battle with Pittsburgh Pirates slugger Willie Stargell.

Rose, who hit .338 this year in leading the National League in batting for the third time in his career, received 12 votes for first place and a total of 274 points.

Stargell, the league leader in home runs with 44 and runs batted in with 119, collected 10 first-place votes and 250 points. It was the tightest MVP NL race since 1969, when Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants edged Tom Seaver of the New York Mets by 22 points.

Rose and Stargell were the only players named on all 24 ballots cast by the BBWAA committee, which consisted of two writers from each league city.

Two other players who each received one first-place vote finished third and fourth in the balloting — San Francisco outfielder Bobby Bonds and Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan. Bonds collected 174 points, and Morgan, one of four Reds in the top 10, collected 102 points.

Montreal relief ace Mike Marshall, who finished second to Seaver in this year's Cy Young Award voting, completed the top five with 93 points.

Others in the top 10 were Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals, with 65 points; Cincinnati's Tony Perez, 59; Seaver, 57; Ken Singleton of the Montreal Expos, 52; and Cincinnati's Johnny Bench, 41, last year's MVP.

For Rose, the glossy MVP award is the culmination of a long-time ambition.

"It's great to be No. 1," Rose said. "It's the biggest honor yet. I'm thrilled and happy."

Rose wasn't completely surprised, though.

"I thought I had a shot at it, although I wouldn't have felt bad if Stargell had won it. Homers always talk," said Rose. "But I had a great year. It's the most consistent year I've had. And I'm very appreciative to my teammates for it."

For Stargell, it marked the third straight year of frustration. In 1971 he was runner-up to Joe Torre of St. Louis, and last year, finished third behind Bench and Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs.

"It doesn't come as a shock," said Stargell. "That all happened in '71. There are no hard feelings between Pete and me because we had no control over it."

Greene Central Takes Opener

SNOW HILL — Greene Central High School rolled to a 55-31 victory over South Lenoir High School in its opening game last night.

The Ewes of Greene Central were not quite as lucky, falling to their guests, 44-34.

In the girls' contest, South Lenoir roared away to an 11-2 lead in the first period of play. They continued to dominate the second period, 16-4, to run up a 27-6 halftime lead.

Greene Central eased back in the third quarter, 12-6, and cut the lead to 33-18. The Ewes again outthit South Lenoir, 16-11, in the final period, but were too far back for the rally to take effect.

Sue Markham led South Lenoir with 19 points, while Judy Tripp had 12 and Delilah Pridden had 10 for Greene Central.

The boys' contest saw the Rams shoot out to a 12-6 lead in the first quarter of the game. They continued to pull away by hitting 19 points in the second frame while South Lenoir got only 12. That left Greene Central ahead, 31-18.

The scoring slowed in the third quarter, as the Rams got only seven but held their foe to only four as the score climbed to 38-22. The Rams then hit 17 in the final frame to nine for South Lenoir, wrapping it up.

Moses Barron led the Ram scoring with 19 points while Lonnie Artis had 10. No one broke double figures for South Lenoir.

Loss Of Tall Cager Was Big For Keydets

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Recruiting for a military school such as Virginia Military Institute has not been easy in recent years. But this fall, VMI Coach Bill Blair felt that he had accomplished quite a bit.

One of the things he had done during the past year was to recruit the biggest man ever to come to VMI, 6-10 Ray Petty.

But just a few weeks ago, Petty left Lexington, Va., and headed home. He told the press that the hazing tactics of the upper-classmen at VMI was too much. Similar complaints had been leveled by the members of the football team in the preceding weeks.

A lot of hopes that Blair had for the coming four years went with Petty when he packed his bags. The "system" at VMI had claimed another victim in a growing list.

"Losing him certainly is going to hurt us," Blair admitted. But he also added that there a number of other fine freshmen on hand who will help build the program.

One of the top frosh is John Krovic, a 6-3 guard who averaged 18.1 per game last year. "We beat out some mighty good people to get him," Blair said. "He's a fine shooter, and a big guard for us. He also helps to give us plenty of depth."

Joining him in the backcourt are three veterans, David Lester, 5-10, Gordie Rawlyk, 6-0; and Curt Reppart, 6-0. Blair is also pleased that he has most of the front court men back too. They include Charlie Tyler, 6-4; Steve Wold, 6-5; and Steve Chapin, 6-7, who has shown a great deal of improvement, according to the coach.

"We have a lot of experience, but we are probably going to be weak in rebounding," Blair said. Petty would have helped in this area.

"This will probably be the best shooting team I've had since I've been here," he added. Again, two freshmen will play important scoring roles, Blair believes. They are 6-6½ George Borojevich and 6-6 Will Bynum.

"Bynum is a fine big man," Blair said. "Borojevich is big and strong, but has a lot to learn. He can shoot."

One other freshman, Dave Slomski, probably won't see much action this year.

Another problem Blair has is his schedule. "It's a little more realistic this year, and we play in a fine tournament. Getting more early wins will help us when we get into the conference."

Blair had hoped that Petty would help the Keydets to their first winning season in years. "I still think we can have a fine year, but it's going to be harder to achieve," he said. "Our freshmen are going to help us a lot. They are definitely the best we've brought in."

"We were rated by 'The Basketball Weekly' as the 13th most improved team in the nation last year, and I expect even more improvement. I'm not saying we're going to be fighting for the championship, but I do think that we're going to fool some people before this year is up."

Elon Climbs To Sixth Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tennessee State remained the nation's No. 1 college division football team today in the Associated Press poll.

While others around them were changing places, the Tigers held onto the top ranking with 814 points, many of them on 31 first-place ballots.

A nationwide panel of broadcasters and sports writers kept Tennessee State in first place after the Tigers' impressive 35-7 victory over Alabama State last Saturday.

The rest of the Top Ten was not as unshakable. Hawaii plunged from second to a sixth-place tie, and Cal Poly-SLO from fourth to ninth after losses.

Hawaii, beaten by Pacific 283, was tied with Elon for sixth with 374 points. Elon received two votes for No. 1. Cal PolySLO, beaten by Boise State 42-10, polled 247 points for ninth.

The victory moved Boise State, which received one first-place vote, from 10th to eighth in the rankings.

The new No. 2 team is Western Kentucky, which received three votes for No. 1 and 693 points. Western Kentucky beat Murray State 32-27 for its 10th straight victory this year.

Louisiana Tech, No. 5 last week, replaced Western Kentucky as the No. 3 team, gaining one first-place ballot and 579 points after beating Northeast Louisiana 40-0 for No. 10 in a row.

Wittenberg, with two votes for No. 1 and 465 points, moved up two spots to No. 4 after beating Marietta 35-7. Grambling jumped two places to fifth with 384 points after trimming Southern U. 19-14.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Boise State, No. 8 with 369 points, and Abilene Christian, No. 10 with one first-place vote and 212 points.

Langston, a new member of the ranked teams this week at No. 14, received the other ballot for first place.

Must Buy Tickets

Booster Club, season tickets, and complementary tickets will not be honored for the Rose High School-Wilmington Hoggar 4-A State Playoff game to be held here Friday night.

Athletic Director Bud Phillips said that student tickets would be on sale today at Rose High for $1.50, and that all tickets at the gate would be $2. "Those people holding season or Booster Club tickets will not be able to use them for this game," Phillips said, "because this is not a regular season game."

The two teams will be battling for a spot in the State 4-A Semifinals.

The American League had 12 pitchers who won 20 or more games in 1973.

Purple-Gold Set

The annual Purple-Gold basketball game at East Carolina University will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Minges Coliseum.

The public will get its first view of Coach Tom Quinn's young team, which features three returning lettermen and six incoming recruits.

The Bucs will be led by their co-captains for the year, Tom Marsh and Roger Atkinson.

Their first home game of the year, following the exhibition, will be on Friday, November 30, as they entertain the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Football Tournery

Two East Carolina University students have won the largest football tournament ever held in this area.

John Doggett and Mark Cheung downed Brian Taylor and Larry Lieberman to take the tournament, held at Friar Tuck's Football Hall in Greenville.

Over 30 teams from Eastern North Carolina entered the double elimination tournament held last week. Lieberman and Taylor won the opening round of competition Tuesday night. Doggett and Cheung won the second round playoffs and swept to victory in the finals winning eight out of nine games.

Football is a soccer-style table game that can be found in arcades and amusement centers throughout the South. Its popularity among young people is similar to that enjoyed by pool in the late thirties.

THE TEST RESULTS ARE IN...

The Firestone Steel Radial 500 can give you up to 30 extra miles* from every tankful of gas you buy.

*Based on a car with a fuel capacity of 20 gallons and currently averaging 15 miles per gallon. Naturally, your savings will depend on how much stop and start driving you do.

You've probably read that radial tires roll more easily than other types of tires, and since the Firestone Steel Radial 500 tires are now available across the country and are original equipment on many new cars, we thought you'd like to know how much more gas mileage they might give you now that fuel is in short supply.

For months the Firestone Engineering and Development Division has been conducting tests, both in the laboratory and on the test track, so we could tell you what to expect from these tires. And now, the results are in.

Test No. 2†	30 MPH	50 MPH	70 MPH
Firestone Belted Bias Tire	19.07 mpg	19.23 mpg	14.86 mpg
Firestone Steel Radial 500	20.72 mpg	20.60 mpg	15.86 mpg
Percent improvement in Fuel Economy of Steel Radial 500	9%	7%	7%

†All figures are an average of two runs each, at speeds of 30, 50, and 70 miles per hour.

What all this means to you:

You may have been considering radial tires to get their better steering, road holding, and a 40,000 mile guarantee. Now the Firestone Steel Radial 500 gives you a still stronger reason, for as gas becomes both harder to get and more expensive, the more miles per gallon we can give you will mean both dollars saved and extra gasoline you can use for little errands or long trips.

And think about this: even if radial tires only gave people fuel savings of 2% instead of 7% to 10%, the effect of putting all the nation's hundred million cars on radial tires would result in a tremendous savings of fuel each year, a significant factor with our current fuel shortage.

So think hard about radial tires. And ask your Firestone Dealer or Store for a free copy of the fuel savings test data on the tire you now know can put some extra trips into every tankful you buy...

The 40,000 mile Steel Radial 500 another people tire from Firestone

Test No. 1†	30 MPH	50 MPH	70 MPH

Firestone Steel Radial 500	19.87 mpg	20.46 mpg	16.15 mpg
Percent improvement in Fuel Economy of Steel Radial 500	10%	10%	8%

†All figures are an average of two runs each, at speeds of 30, 50, and 70 miles per hour.

OUR 40,000 MILE GUARANTEE
The Steel Radial 500 by Firestone is guaranteed to give you 40,000 miles of treadwear in normal passenger use on the same car. If it doesn't, take your guarantee to any Firestone Store or participating Dealer. He'll replace the tire with a new one and give you credit for the mileage not received based on the then current adjustment price (approximate national average selling price) plus Federal Excise Tax. A small service charge may be added.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Between 1956 and 1966 three National League pennant races were decided the last day of the regular season. Two other pennants were decided after playoffs.

The Dodgers of 1956 and 1966 won the final day as did the 1964 St. Louis Cardinals. In 1959 the Dodgers beat the Braves in a three-game playoff and in 1962 the Giants beat the Dodgers two games to one.

McClendon: Tide Is Best In U.S.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — "Every week it seems like someone has asked me about Alabama," says Coach Charles McClendon of seventh-ranked Louisiana State.

"Well, this week I can answer them," he added. And, McClendon's answer on the eve of a Thanksgiving night showdown with the No. 2 Crimson Tide for the Southeastern Conference football crown is, "I think they are the best team in America."

The two undefeated Southern powers, among a handful of teams retaining a shot at the mythical national championship, will square off with depth-laden squads at 6:35 p.m., EST Thursday in a nationally televised (ABC) game that is expected to lure a capacity crowd of 67,510 into Tiger Stadium.

An Alabama victory — and the Tide is favored by two touchdowns — would be the 500th triumph in the school's history, making it only the eighth college team ever to attain that milestone. The others include a quartet of Ivy League teams that were playing before Alabama started the game — Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania — plus Michigan, Notre Dame and Texas.

"We've made news this year by playing a lot of people," draws Paul "Bear" Bryant, the crusty Tide coach who has a glittering 229-69-16 in 29 years.

The Tide is gunning for an unprecedented third straight outright SEC championship, although Alabama and Tennessee each put together a trio of conference titles, one of which was shared with another team.

Alabama has won 11 conference titles, LSU five. The Tide claimed national crowns under Bryant in 1961, 1964 and 1965.

LSU ranks No. 1 in the SEC in rushing defense, yielding 129 yards per game, and Alabama is second with 131. Linebacker Warren Capone and tackle Steve Cassidy spearheaded the Bengal defense and linebacker Woodrow Lowe, called by Bryant another LeeRoy Jordan, and tackle Mike Raines spark the Tide defenders.

In other Thanksgiving day games, Air Force is at Notre Dame, Texas meets Texas A&M, Ohio University travels to Marshall and Utah State is at Southern Mississippi.

Notre Dame, fifth ranked in the Associated Press poll and bound for the Sugar Bowl against Alabama, is heavily favored to run its season record to 9-0. But the Irish first will have to shake out the cobwebs of 12 days of idleness since their 31-10 victory over Pittsburgh.

Meanwhile, the surprising Falcons, who won their past five games, come into the contest with only four days' rest after beating Arizona 27-26.

The 11th-ranked Texas Longhorns go into their contest with the Aggies as two-touchdown favorites. The Longhorns, 7-2, already have clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title and a host berth in the Cotton Bowl opposite Nebraska.

Driving To Sports Took A Lot Of Gas

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The average husband rushes home from work Friday, packs his wife and kids into the family wagon and heads for a weekend at the beach.

He fits squarely into a leisure-time pattern that has boomed so rapidly in recent years that, in 1972, vacationers were responsible for the consumption of 5,416,140,827 gallons of gasoline.

Then, there is the stay-at-home. He doesn't go for the clogged freeways, the beaches or the mountains. He mows the lawn Friday afternoons, takes off for the golf course Saturdays and goes to a basketball game or an auto race Sundays.

He, and untold millions like him, helped put away 11,496,925,880 gallons of fuel last year simply by going to and from major sports events.

The figures are from a comprehensive study of energy consumption released Tuesday by the National Motorsports Committee, a group from the auto racing industry that says its aim is for a square deal, when and if regulations are imposed on sports during the energy crisis.

The in-depth survey, covering a period of two years and compiled by Motors Sports Marketing, Inc., also includes figures on heating, lighting and air-conditioning of arenas; the use of truck-campers, autos and motorhomes in vacation travel, and fuel used in sports-related chartered jets and buses.

Not included were figures for such minor spectator attractions as dog racing, jai-alai, tennis, roller skating, power boating, motorcycling, hunting, skiing, fishing, semi-pro baseball and softball, and the intercollegiate sports of soccer, lacrosse, baseball, track and field, wrestling and swimming.

In the specific area of mass-entertainment major sports, football—professional, college and high school—accounted for 564,043,166 gallons of gasoline and fuel, the report showed.

Basketball, again including the pros as well as colleges and high schools, ranked second with 238,394,571 gallons annually, while horse racing was third with 97,522,973 gallons.

Auto racing, including the fuel consumed in the racing machines, was figured at 93,639,696 gallons last year. The actual on-track consumption, including 32,000 events on 1,600 local and regional tracks, amounted to only 8,963,776 gallons.

Thus, say the car racing buffs, motorsports accounted for only one-tenth of one percent of the total fuel consumption attributed to all leisure-time activities.

John Cooper, executive secretary of the newly formed National Motorsports Committee, admitted that the auto racing fraternity was disturbed about sporadic charges that the sport is a big consumer of fuel.

"Auto racing has a high visibility, is a comparatively new and booming sport, and some think it might be expendable if things get really critical," Cooper said.

"We do burn fuel, but as the study dramatically shows, it is significant compared to the total consumption," he added.

Cooper said the energy consumption study commissioned by his group indicates that fuel consumption by all mass-entertainment sports represents "only a drop in the bucket" when compared to leisure-time useage in general.

Horse racing, the leading spectator draw, had the biggest attendance in sports last year, 74,015,395. Auto racing was next at 46,201,566, yet the amount of fuel burned in getting to and from horse and auto racing events amounted to far less than the 299,520,000 gallons used by 936 million people who visited movie theaters last year, the report showed.

The study, citing figures from the U.S. travel Data Center, indicated that people using autos and trucks without camping equipment used 4,663,495,900 gallons of fuel in leisure-time activities last year. Figuring 10 miles per gallon for the vehicle, that's 46,634,959,000 miles.

People using autos and trucks, with camping equipment, were credited with another 7,626,449,275 miles and consumption of 752,644,927 gallons of gasoline.

"The international fuel shortage has directed a lot of attention to sports in general," Cooper said. "Actually, spectator sports figure extremely low in the consumption of energy when considered as a part of the whole."

"It may be that there will be regulations specifically directed at sports if the crisis continues. All we in auto racing want is an even break with the others."

State Seeks To Get Perfect Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The bowl-bound North Carolina State Wolfpack bids for its first all-winning Atlantic Coast Conference season in the home game against Wake Forest Saturday.

A victory over weak Wake Forest, which has a 1-8-1 record, also would give N.C. State the ACC title on 6-0 in the league and 8-3 in all games.

The Wolfpack, ranked 16th nationally, will play Kansas in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis on Dec. 17. Kansas is 6-3-1 and is tied with Pittsburgh for 20th ranking.

Maryland, 7-3, which got points but did not break into the top 20, will be home to 17th-ranked Tulane Saturday before playing in the Peach Bowl.

The Tulane Green Wave was impressive in beating Vanderbilt 24-3 last Saturday for its ninth victory in 10 games. Tulane moved the ball for 439 yards, 315 rushing and 124 passing. Tulane will play Houston in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston on Dec. 29.

Maryland will play in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta on Dec. 28.

Two other games between arch rivals will wind up the ACC regular season Saturday. Clemson will be at South Carolina and North Carolina at Duke.

Coach Paul Deitzel of South Carolina told his weekly news conference Tuesday, "A lot of people are talking about this being a high-scoring, wide-open football game between two teams with explosive offenses. Well, I'm not so sure about that. I've seen very few high-scoring games between arch rivals. These Clemson-South Carolina games don't always follow form. I think emotion plays a big part in a game such as this, and it will be a tight contest."

Coach Bill Dooley of North Carolina has made similar remarks. "Records don't mean anything in a great rivalry like this," he said of the game with Duke. "A win Saturday would ease some of the disappointment of the season for both teams."

North Carolina is 4-6 in all games and 1-4 in the league after winning a conference game, 42-0 over Wake Forest last week. Duke is 1-8-1 in all games and 0-4-1 in the league. It played a 7-7 tie with Wake Forest two weeks ago.

Dooley told his news luncheon Tuesday that tailback James Betterson, who broke his hand in the Wake Forest game, would not play against Duke. That will leave Sammy Johnson and Mike Voight to play the position.

Cougs Claim Victory; Hot Winter Out West

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Although the season has only reached the one-quarter point, predictions in the Western Conference in the National Basketball Association are pointing to a torrid winter out west.

"Anyone who says that the Los Angeles Lakers are a shoo-in, doesn't know what's going on in the NBA," said Chicago Coach Dick Motta after his Bulls outlasted the Trail Blazers Tuesday night 106-101.

"This was a big game because this is the start of a make or break road trip for us," said Jeff Mullins, whose feed to Nate Thurmond helped Golden State squeeze by Milwaukee 108-105.

"This is a reconstruction period for us," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman after the Lakers were whipped by the Knicks 105-89.

In the rest of the NBA, Buffalo trounced Phoenix 127-100 and Philadelphia downed Kansas City-Omaha 109-103.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana edged Utah 102-98 and Carolina tripped Denver 113-107.

Bulls 106, Trail Blazers 101
Portland held Chet Walker scoreless for nine minutes of the final period, but the veteran Chicago forward then poured in 10 points in the last three minutes, finishing the game with 30 points and leading Bulls to a 106-101 victory over the Trail Blazers.

Phoenix 127-100.
Pacers 102, Stars 98

Kenin Joyce's three-point basket tied the game at 80-80, climaxing an Indiana rally from 11 points down, and Bob Netolicky's seven points in the final two minutes carried the Pacers past Utah 102-98.

Cougars 113, Rockets 100
Billy Cunningham's 25 points and a Carolina defense that forced 27 Denver turnovers paced the Cougars to a 113-107 victory over Denver.

Philosophies Clash In Game

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Thursday's nationally televised National Football League battle between the Washington Redskins and the Detroit Lions pits two coaches whose philosophies are as different as, well, turkey and cranberries.

Washington's George Allen has been described by some as the "Norman Vincent Peale" of professional football. He will sacrifice anything to win.

Detroit's Don McCafferty, on the other hand, has a relaxed way about him that has evolved into an "easy rider" image.

Yet both men have taken teams to the Super Bowl and both liked it enough to want to do it again.

Both teams were winners Sunday as the Lions defeated Chicago, 30-7, while the Skins took Baltimore, 22-14.

The Lions defense came up with big plays at Chicago with rookie Dick Jauron making the biggest one with his first NFL reception. The former Yale star raced 95 yards to score, breaking a 7-7 tie and swung the game's momentum to Detroit. He later picked off two more for a total return yardage of 167.

Offensively, the Lions' Altie Taylor picked up 105 yards against a Butkus-less Bears defense. The former Illinois menace was sidelined with painfully arthritic knees and didn't even dress.

Billy Kilmer likely will quarterback the Skins. He will carry a 54.8 completion percentage into the game based on 91 completions of 166 attempts. Eight went for touchdowns.

Warriors 108, Bucks 105
Thurmond blocked a shot by Oscar Robertson then sank a layup after a feed from Mullins, giving Golden State a 108-105 victory over Milwaukee.

Knicks 105, Lakers 89
Bill Bradley, Willis Reed and Walt Frazier combined for 25 points in the third period, leading New York on a 26-8 tear and the Knicks breezed to a 105-89 victory over the Lakers.

76ers 109, Kings 103
Larry Jones and Tom VanArsdale each chipped in 10 points during a third-period surge, lifting Philadelphia to a 109-103 victory over Kansas City-Omaha.

Braves 127, Suns 100
Bob McAdoo fired in 26 points and grabbed 18 rebounds while Ernie DiGregorio had 18 points, eight assists and ran his consecutive free throw streak to 34, helping Buffalo romp over

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much poor judgment is possible for most of us now, but there is an excellent chance to overcome this by being very quiet and listening to hunches.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are ambitious to get things done now, but don't rely too much on friends who are busy with their own affairs. Keep promises; renegeing could have dire results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You want to blast off at an associate, but this could sever relationship unwisely. Forget your prejudices and see the matter in its proper light. Cooperate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Stick to work instead of going off on some tangent that could be expensive. Take treatment to calm nerves. Have poise, good sense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't force friends to do what you like in your anxiety and desire for a good time. Reach a happy mutual understanding. Go Dutch treat.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being demanding at home could create big arguments. Best avoided, so get out early. Make hay while the sun shines. Use care in motion.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy at routines but don't suddenly feel you have to use unorthodox methods. Being overly critical of others could get you into a peck of trouble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Money problems can disturb, but clarify thinking and you can improve things. Join persons whose assistance you need. Be happy with mate in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't force others to your way of thinking, but see their side as well. Become more successful this way. Handle situation at home intelligently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Secret planning can make the future brighter. Talk matters over wisely with expert and seek advice of a good pal also.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Relying on a clever friend is wise now so you gain your personal desires. Don't take anything for granted. Show respect for the law.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Change your point of view to improve vocational and credit affairs. Don't permit some disturbed person to waste your time. Take a more positive approach toward others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find a new and more fascinating way of keeping promises made for better results. Hunches are good now, but use sound judgment as well. Relax tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will like to jump into anything and everything without much planning, so teach early to deliberate first, then act with caution, sureness, and the fine promise in this chart is realized. Give good education to prepare to meet the changes that come up in this lifetime and turn adversity into success. There could be an artist in this chart.

Proponents of five-card major suit openings stress the bidding comfort they obtain knowing that opener has five cards whenever he opens a major suit. They seldom mention that a 4-3 fit can be more than adequate, though the play might need some care.

Today's hand could prove awkward for those who are compelled to open one diamond and then have to search for a rebid over partner's two club response. They might reach a five club contract that can be defeated with good defense. Natural methods, however, ended in the excellent four heart contract that needed only a modicum of care to be brought home. Note that South had no qualms about contracting for game even though he knew that his partner was unlikely to hold more than three hearts for his delayed jump raise.

The first two tricks were won by the king and jack of spades, and West continued with the ace of spades. Declarer's natural instinct was to ruff, but he realized that this might not be the winning play. To ruff would mean shortening his trump holding to three cards. Since the combined heart suit in declarer's hand and dummy was only seven cards, that meant that the defenders had a total of six trumps. Six missing cards are likely to divide 4-2 most of the time, so if declarer ruffed the third spade, the defenders would then have control of the hand because one of them held a long trump.

However, there was no need for declarer to panic, for he had a simple play to counter the defenders' forcing game. Instead of ruffing the third spade, declarer discarded a diamond.

This left the defenders without resource. If West continued spades, declarer would ruff high in dummy while discarding from his hand. A shift would also be to no avail, for declarer would win, draw all the outstanding trumps and come to 10 tricks via four trump tricks, the ace of diamonds and five clubs.

We Get Fruits Of Our Labors

Roger wonders why Thanksgiving Day is a North American event. The Pilgrims focussed on personal freedoms while in South America the goal was "Gold" vs. "God." Gov. Bradford also says communism didn't produce the crops that capitalism quickly demonstrated!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-575: Roger B., aged 17, is a high school senior. "Dr. Crane," he began, "next week I am to debate a classmate on why North America has surpassed South America."

"Since both countries are rich in natural resources and were settled by Europeans, why has North America been the world leader while South America is looked on as a backward continent?"

God Vs. Gold
Bluntly, there's an "ell" of a difference, as between "God" vs. "Gold."

North America was colonized at Plymouth Rock by sturdy artisans and farmers who came, seeking freedom to worship "God."

But "Gold" was the goal of those who explored South America.

Our Thanksgiving Day vividly depicts this ideological difference.

For it was established by Gov. Bradford as a religious event evolved by the working class, not the nobility!

In South America, religion was dictated by the kings and thropy, not indiscriminate food stamps or socialized medicine.

That's why Jesus gave the hungry folks one free picnic, enjoyed by 5,000, but he made no effort thereafter to prevent the starvation of the many thousands of shiftless or disbelieving poor who were within a stone's throw of his itinerant ministry!

Moreover, Christ tried socialized medicine by curing the 10 lepers, plus several blind, deaf, crippled and feverish patients.

But he allowed probably 25,000 sick and crippled to die, without even attempting to heal them! Why?

Because they were the shiftless poor who lacked faith and enough ambition to come to Christ and even touch the hem of His robe, as did the woman with "All men are endowed by their Creator ..." was the voluntary salute to Deity by those who signed our Declaration of Independence.

"... with certain inalienable rights," the sentence continues; "among these are life, liberty and the PURSUIT of happiness."

Please note that I have capitalized the word "PURSUIT." Why?

Because the "PURSUIT" of happiness differs greatly from happiness itself!

Unless we diligently try to pursue happiness, as by hard work, honesty, thrift and elbow grease, we are not entitled to happiness.

Yet a false notion has spread widely throughout America in recent years, to the effect that everybody is automatically deserving of happiness, regardless.

This erroneous idea has even permeated much of the Health, Education and Welfare Department of our government!

Yet Jesus also vetoed such a concept, for Christ definitely advocated selective philanthropy, not indiscriminate food stamps or socialized medicine.

And Jesus defended this idea of "selective charity" in His criticism of His Nazareth neighbors (Luke 4:23-27).

Gen. Bradford found, too, that communism failed, for it was tested by the Pilgrims and found inferior to our capitalistic system, where people own their land and enjoy the fruits of their own labors.

Plants Told Of Price To Save Energy

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Textile executives have been told they will have to commit money and manpower, management and employees, to an intensive and long-range program of conservation of energy.

Allan Polansky, deputy director of the Bureau of Resources and Trade Assistance in Washington, told Tuesday's meeting of some 200 executives that the current energy crisis began making itself felt early last winter. He said it has steadily increased.

Polansky said demand has simply outstripped supply. He added that the crisis would have developed even without the war in the Middle East and Arab cuts of petroleum shipments.

An official of the North Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association told the group a complete cutoff of propane and natural gas supplies could put approximately 84,000 of the state's 285,000 textile workers out of a job.

Thomas N. Ingram of Charlotte, the association's executive vice president, said an incomplete survey of North Carolina textile mills was the basis of the job-loss estimate.

He said an annual payroll of nearly $1 billion would be lost to the state's economy.

A member of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute's energy policy committee said a 100 per cent cutoff of natural gas and propane could cost an estimated 685,000 jobs in the textile industry nationally. St. Clair Tweedie added that an additional 940,000 jobs in the apparel industry would be lost. He said the combined total represents 67 per cent of all jobs in the textile-apparel complex.

ALL WRAPPED UP — Mrs. Alfred Pauly stands next to her plastic-clad house near Belle Plaine, Minn. Pauly wrapped the concrete block house, which is poorly insulated, at a cost of $5.60 in

By FORD BURKHART Associated Press Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Saudi Arabian ambassador to the United Nations says he's not worried about chilly bedrooms resulting from the Arab oil squeeze.

"It's good if it brings the wives and husbands together," said Jamil Baroody. "They will keep each other warm at night" and maybe halt the break-up of the American family.

Saudi Arabia is the largest of the Arab oil-producing nations that have cut off oil shipments to the United States in an effort to force changes in U.S. policy toward Israel.

Baroody, 68, is famous at U.N. headquarters for long-winded, emotional defenses of the Palestinian cause in speeches to the General Assembly and the Security Council.

Wearing his usual suspenders and spectacles, Baroody said in an interview that the Arab oil embargo on the United States, Western Europe and Japan would continue until they adopted a new policy toward Israel.

He said it was too early to judge whether the oil diplomacy had produced the effects desired by the Arabs. But he said time is on the Arabs' side. "Our policy was formulated after about a quarter century of occupation. We are not waiting to see from one minute to the next if the policy changes," he said. "Such changes take time."

The oil embargo was forced by the United States and others, he said.

"We tried to reason with them. This was their choice, not our choice," he said.

"You call this blackmail. You call this extortion. But didn't the United States put embargoes on goods to Japan and Germany in times of war?" he asked.

Says Crash Due To Collision

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — An investigator says a plane in which two men died Monday collided with another it was trying to help.

Luke Gatling of the National Transportation Safety Board says the impact severed the vertical stabilizer of the North Carolina Forest Service plane being flown by Marshall J. Newman, chief pilot for the service. Newman, 39, of Clinton, and Larry Moody, 30, of Kinston, an aircraft mechanic, were killed in a crash near Kinston. They were trying to help another Forest Service plane which reported landing gear trouble, but which landed safely.

The first Mardi Gras took place in New Orleans in 1838.

The North Carolina hog and poultry markets will be closed Thursday for the Thanksgiving holiday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today after prices pulled back from a sharp morning rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up over 17 points early in the session, was down 0.45 to 844.45 at noon. Advances continued to lead declines 724 to 547 among 1,663 issues traded.

"The morning rally was the first sign that the market is trying to find a bottom," said Monte Gordon of Dreyfus Corp. "The question now is whether it will help bring the buyers in."

The Dow blue-chip average has slumped over 46 points the past two sessions, largely on fears that the energy crisis will provoke a recession in 1974, analysts say.

The American Stock Exchange market-value index at noon was off .28 at 95.11 as Gould, Inc., warrants were most active, unchanged at 7 1/2.

On the Big Board, the broad-based index was ahead .02 at 52.62 while Gulf Oil, after a large block was sold, led trading, down 1 at 20 3/4. The company said Arab cutbacks had reduced its world-wide supplies about 16 per cent.

Air Fare Will Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today agreed to let the nation's airlines increase their fares by five per cent, effective Dec. 1.

The board's action seems sure to arouse the ire of congressmen who have contended in recent weeks that fares should be decreased since recent flight cutbacks because of fuel shortages will increase airline profits.

The CAB, although agreeing the cutbacks will create "at least a short-run impetus toward improved profitability," said the five per cent increase is justified by recent increases in airline costs.

The CAB said the fare increase will not result in airlines making more than the 12 per cent rate of return on their investment which the board found fair in its recent domestic fare investigation.

The hike will affect all fares on all U.S. trunk airlines and six local service airlines. Those include Allegheny, American, Braniff, Continental, Delta, Eastern, Frontier, Hughes, National, North Central, Northwest, Ozark, Piedmont, Southern, Texas International, Trans World, United and Western.

Holding Youth For 24 Murders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Altenberger, 18, is being held on 24 counts of murder in connection with the fire last week at the Stratford Apartments.

The 24 victims included nine children. Fifty-two persons were injured.

Authorities said Altenberger, of Tucson, Ariz., confessed he started the fire. He was arrested Friday, seven hours after the blaze, and was arraigned Tuesday before Judge Morton Rochman.

U.S. Diplomat Scali Undergoes Heart Surgery

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John A. Scali, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, is recovering from open heart surgery to repair three partially blocked arteries.

"Everything looks very good. He ought to do very well," said Dr. Edward Diethrich, director of the Arizona Heart Institute, where the operation took place Tuesday.

Scali, 55, had complained of chest pains in recent weeks during U.N. Security Council debates on the Middle East War. He flew to Phoenix Sunday with his wife for an examination at the institute.

Dr. Diethrich said the operation was to "bypass narrowed portions of the ambassador's coronary arteries and to bring a fresh supply of blood to the heart muscle."

COMEDIAN DIES
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Allen Sherman, 49, who rocketed to fame as a comedian in the early 1960s, died Tuesday of respiratory failure. A producer-writer, Sherman rose to prominence with his first recording, "Hello Mudder", in which he portrayed the mythical experiences of a youth at summer camp.

Heavy Mekong Delta Battle Is Ended

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — A rice bowl war ended today in the fertile Mekong Delta, but government artillery continued to pound North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces, the military command reported. It said 92 troops were killed on both sides.

The battle, which took place 45 miles southwest of Saigon just off the capital's rice road to the delta, was the biggest in the region since the first two weeks in June when more than 200 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were reported killed in two battles.

Both government and Communist-led forces reportedly are trying to extend their presence in the delta in an effort to control as much of the rice harvest as possible.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, the chief spokesman for the command, claimed 75 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed since the fighting began Tuesday morning near the district town of Cai Lay. He said South Vietnamese infantrymen were supported by artillery.

There was no corroboration of Hien's casualty claim, which seemed high in view of his report that only eight enemy weapons and 127 blocks of TNT were captured. He said preliminary reports listed government casualties as 17 killed and four wounded.

President Nguyen Van Thieu has predicted a full-scale North Vietnamese and Viet Cong offensive for later this year or early next year during the dry season. He said the first move could be an effort to disrupt the nation's economy by cutting its links with the delta area.

Meanwhile, rescuers recovered the bodies of five persons killed when an Air Vietnam domestic airliner crashed in bad weather last Saturday 50 miles south of Da Nang. The aircraft carried a crew of three and 23 passengers. One person aboard was a man listed as Richard W. Thompson, an American volunteer at the American Friends Service Committee rehabilitation center at Quang Ngai, 75 miles south of Da Nang. The search for the others was continuing.

In Cambodia, President Lon Nol flew by helicopter to Neak Luong where last August an American B52 accidentally dropped a bomb killing 137 persons and injuring another 268.

Lon Nol went to the town to greet 290 men described as Khmer Rouge rebels who had come over to the government's side. He also toured a hospital which was partially destroyed in the mistaken American bombing, but which has since been rebuilt with U.S. money.

In a rare news conference, Lon Nol discounted the Monday bombing of his presidential palace by a government plane as "an isolated incident."

"There was no plot," he said, adding the government was investigating the incident in which three persons were killed and 10 injured. Government sources said they do not know where the T28 bomber landed.

At the same time, one of the city's newspapers, The Telegram, carried a paid, two-column ad proclaiming:

"Why can't our doctor see his children? We trust him with ours."

He says it a matter of principle and he's prepared to stay in jail indefinitely.

"Contempt is an appropriate charge," said Dr. Hall. "I feel this is not a legal matter and the courts are not equipped to deal with it. This is a moral, mental and psychological question."

His former wife has declined to discuss the case, which will be heard Friday before Judge Zeigler.

Reacting to a rash of angry calls, the judge issued a statement Tuesday saying that doctors are subject to the law like anyone else.

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — One of the two pediatricians in this city of 25,000 hasn't treated patients for a week.

Dr. Phillip Hall has been in jail since last Thursday on a contempt citation for nonpayment of back alimony.

And some of the city's parents don't like it. Women and children picketed City Hall on Saturday and again Monday to protest Dr. Hall's jailing.

Dr. Robert Marks, the city's other pediatrician and Hall's partner, also doesn't like it. He joined the pickets Saturday, saying he could not carry the double load of work.

City jailers have been bombarded with telephone calls demanding the 43-year-old physician's release.

lunch to discuss the committee's effort to obtain testimony from the personnel officers about the firing of more than 100 Transportation employees last month.

The committee was appointed by Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, a Democrat. Holshouser is a Republican.

The personnel officers failed to appear at the committee's first meeting, last Wednesday, and Holshouser later agreed to talk with Barker about the Senate body's investigation.

Taylor, a close political ally of Holshouser, said the threatened suit would ask a court order "to restrain the committee from acting as a duly authorized committee of the Senate."

Taylor said that Hunt, under Senate rules, had no authority to appoint the committee. Hunt is the presiding officer of the Senate.

"There's a precedent we'd long regret," Taylor said. "What concerns us is the precedent for either presiding officer from taking off on his own...picking a few friends...and going into any subject he cares to."

Prince Charles Goes Hunting

MALAGA, Spain (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, is doing some hunting at Molino del Rey, the 2,500-acre estate of the Duke of Wellington.

During his five-day vacation, the 25-year-old prince also will see the duke's 22-year-old daughter, Lady Jane Wellesey, the girl some London newspapers say Charles will marry.

The prince arrived Tuesday and was met at the airport by the duke and duchess. Lady Jane arrived from London a day earlier.

Sheriff Appeals His Conviction

GREENSBORO (AP) — Sheriff James R. Taylor of Surry County appealed Tuesday his conviction and suspended sentence of 18 months for illegal wiretapping.

He asked a new trial or acquittal. The motion is to be heard next month in U.S. District Court.

He testified during the recent trial that he had been given permission to wiretap the telephone of a Mount Airy beauty parlor to catch a person making obnoxious calls. The woman proprietor, a former secretary in the sheriff's office, said he had not been given permission.
