

Cooler Homes, Less Lighting, Reduced Gasoline And Jet Fuel Supplies Scheduled For Americans

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he is cutting 15 per cent from deliveries of gasoline and home heating oil to stave off severe fuel-shortage damage to the nation's economy.

The moves will mean homes six degrees cooler than normal this winter and not enough gasoline to go around.

To start saving gasoline, Nixon asked filling stations to stop selling it on Sundays, and pledged he would order such a ban once Congress gives him the authority.

In a radio-television address Sunday, Nixon said deliveries of airline jet fuel also will be cut 15 per cent, industries will be denied 10 per cent of their oil wants and commercial buildings must do without 25 per cent of their heating oil.

These and other measures announced Sunday would reduce an expected 17 per cent petroleum shortage to perhaps 7 per cent, Nixon said, but the remaining shortage will require additional measures to close the energy gap and avoid economic damage.

Nixon continued to hold in reserve, as a last resort, the possibility of direct consumer gasoline rationing or high fuel taxes.

Under existing authority, Nixon announced these steps: —Publication, due Tuesday, of regulations to take effect next Jan. 1, ordering heating-oil dealers to sell householders 15 per cent less heating oil than they got in 1972, commercial establishments 25 per cent less; and industries 10 per cent less. This move imposes consumer rationing, but without the complications of issuing fuel coupons.

Proposal of regulations in December to impose controls on distribution of gasoline to wholesale and retail dealers, cutting deliveries 15 per cent below the anticipated demand for the first quarter of 1974. Refineries will be asked to start making such cuts immediately on a voluntary basis, the White House said.

Government-controlled allocations of jet fuel to airlines will be cut Dec. 1, limiting international lines to their 1972 fuel consumption and domestic lines to 95 per cent of their 1972 levels. All airlines will be cut back 15 per cent below last year's supplies starting Jan. 7.

Final regulations were scheduled for publication Tuesday, to take effect Dec. 7, forbidding coal-burning power plants from switching to oil.

Nixon pledged to take the following steps as soon as Congress passes emergency legislation authorizing them:

—A ban on gasoline sales from 9 p.m. on Saturdays to midnight on Sunday nights. Nixon asked filling stations to adopt such a ban voluntarily in the meantime, beginning Dec. 1.

—Establishment of nationwide highway speed limits of 50 miles an hour for automobiles and 55 miles an hour for longdistance trucks and buses.

—Bans on ornamental residential lighting and on non-essential commercial lighting.

—Reductions of fuel deliveries for general aviation, imposing a 20 per cent cut on fuel for air taxis and industrial flying, 40 per cent on corporate jets and other business flying and a 50 per cent cutback on flying for pleasure or instruction.

Nixon warned that "additional actions will be necessary to further offset the anticipated shortage." "Above all," he said, "every step will be taken to insure that any disruptions to our economy which may occur are short-lived, and that they do not cause lasting damage."

New Speed Limit Signs Will Go Up

RALEIGH (AP)—Installation of signs reducing North Carolina's highway speed limits will begin Tuesday, 24 hours behind schedule.

A spokesman for the Division of Highways said the delay was ordered while authorities were seeking clarification on some issues, especially as to how low the limits could be set without legislative approval.

Gov. Jim Holshouser has issued an administrative order reducing the limits to 55 miles per hour, but he said any additional reduction would require legislative approval. President Nixon, in his television speech Sunday night, said he would seek congressional action to lower the speed limit for automobiles, nationwide, to 50 m.p.h.

Holshouser had indicated that some legal entanglements could be involved because of state law.

Raleigh Highway Signs Lead updating sub for 5th graf: law.

In a statement today Holshouser said that, "While it appears that between now and the end of December federal legislation will, in all probability, reduce speed limits across the country to 50 miles per hour, we cannot afford to wait for that action to come.

"It is obvious that the energy crisis is real and that every effort we can make at the state level will simply mean there is a better chance for saving North Carolina jobs by avoiding plant closings.

"We held up momentarily (on the signs) to make sure that all our signals were straight. After conferring with the people in Washington this morning, we are going ahead with the legal reduction to 55 miles per hour..." Holshouser said.

Installation of the signs had been scheduled to begin today but was delayed by Highway Administrator Billy Rose.

Rose initially canceled plans for installing the signs, but later amended his order to have the signs installed starting Tuesday.

The signs will be plastic overlays, similar to decals, that can be stuck over the existing highway markers. The larger signs cost $4.85 per decal, compared to more than $45 for each of the existing signs.

The new speed limit will become effective Saturday.

N.C. Energy Boss Fears Plans 'Lax'

RALEIGH (AP)—The chairman of North Carolina's Energy Study Commission says he had hoped that President Nixon would outline "more rigid measures" for dealing with the national energy crisis.

John J. Tolson III said in a telephone interview Sunday night that he wanted stricter controls on heating oil. He said, "We're short there. Some people are in bad need of oil."

North Carolina Utilities Commissioner Hugh Wells, who has been critical of Nixon's energy policy in the past, said, "He (Nixon) didn't tell us anything very new or very meaningful. The administration is hoping for a voluntary reversal of lifestyles. It can't be that easily done."

Both Wells and Tolson said rationing of gasoline and heating oil directly to the consumer was needed to head off shortages.

"Some regions, especially the Northeast, are headed for disaster in January and February," Wells said. "There just isn't enough fuel to go around." President Nixon announced the rationing of home heating oil starting Jan. 1 and asked for a voluntary halt to Sunday sales of gasoline beginning Dec. 1.

Gov. Jim Holshouser issued a statement saying, "Obviously, we expect to cooperate with the President in every way possible in the conservation of fuel."

But he warned that Nixon's plan to reduce auto speed limits to 50 miles per hour and truck and bus limits to 55 might result in "some legal entanglements since state law bars lowering the speed limit below 55 mph."

Take Your Choice

ACCUSED—Contradictory accusations involving members of a robbery ring named these two men as slayers of Valerie Percy, daughter of Sen. Charles Percy, who was stabbed in the family's Chicago suburban home in 1966. Francis L. Hohimer, left, an Iowa prison inmate, was accused by two persons of admitting he killed Miss Percy. Hohimer told investigators that he believes the slayer was Frederick Malchow, right, who died in a plunge from a railroad bridge after escaping from prison in Philadelphia. (AP Wirephoto)

Athens 'Normal'

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece's new military rulers pulled most tanks and extra troops out of Athens today, indicating firm control of the country, and began removing pictures of ousted President George Papadopoulos from public buildings.

The ousted strongman who as an army colonel engineered the 1967 military takeover was reported under house arrest at his seaside home near Athens. He was deposed Sunday by a group of conservative generals in a bloodless coup.

No disturbances were reported anywhere in the country; activity in Athens today was normal, and the traffic was heavy as usual.

In one of his first official acts, the new president, Lt. Gen. Phaedon Gizikis, freed three former politicians who had been put under house arrest last week in the wake of the student uprising in which 13 persons were killed.

Arabs In 'Summit'

ALGIERS (AP) — The leaders of 17 Arab nations assembled in Algiers today for a summit attempt to fashion a unified strategy for peace or war with Israel in the coming months.

The two-day meeting of kings and presidents — plus Yasir Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization — was the first full-scale Arab summit conference in four years. Although many of the leaders called for unity as a vital need in the continuing struggle against Israel, there were indications that such unity would be difficult to achieve.

The militant leaders of Libya and Iraq, who regard any talk of peace with Israel as a sellout under American and Soviet pressure, were boycotting the meeting.

King Hussein of Jordan stayed away and sent a representative because he feared the conference might recognize Arafat as virtual chief of state of the Palestinians living on the west bank of the Jordan River, still juridically Jordanian territory although Israel has occupied it since the 1967 war.

Drink-Mixing Change Before ABC Members

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina's Alcoholic Beverage Control Board meets in Raleigh today to consider changes in its regulations that would allow bartenders to mix drinks in licensed restaurants according to board member Marcus Hickman.

Also to be considered is the requirement that customers keep their liquor bottles at their tables.

The Tar Heel state is the only one east of the Mississippi River in which the sale of mixed drinks in public establishments is prohibited. ABC regulations say customers must carry liquor bottles to licensed establishments and keep them at their tables. They can mix their own drinks from sets ups sold by the management.

Hickman said the regulation against bartenders mixing drinks is an ABC rule rather than a state statute.

Opposition to the possible changes has already been expressed by the leaders of the anti-liquor by the drink campaign who helped bring about a 2-1 defeat of the state liquor referendum Nov. 6.

Christian Action League spokesman Marse Grant said the state government has a "moral obligation" to prevent "further liberalization" of liquor laws because of the referendum.

Grant, who is also editor of the Biblical Recorder, also said, "I would think this would be a devastating move for the Holshouser administration to make because he (Gov. Holshouser) appointed the (ABC) board — all three members. If he wants to let this board do this, I think he will have to take the political consequences."

Allen Bailey, co-chairman of the Christian Action League's anti-liquor campaign, charged that board member Hickman was "trying to accomplish something indirectly that he could not do directly."

Buildings Sank Into The Ground

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Six small apartment houses and the framework of a 20-story hotel under construction sank into the ground today in Naha's Tomari port, but nobody was reported hurt.

The area had been reclaimed from the sea, and construction experts had warned that the ground was going to give way. They said it would support only 110 pounds per square foot and the weight of the buildings was 230 pounds per square foot.

Authorities evacuated the area when supports on adjacent buildings began to look shaky this morning. At 4 p.m., a crack opened in a highway and 20 minutes later the buildings suddenly sank, leaving a hole about 130 feet deep in spots and more than 300 feet across.

The six-story Ryukyu Bank building next to the hole started to lean. Authorities said it as well as other buildings might collapse.

SEATO Sharply Reducing Staff

BANGKOK (AP) — The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization announced today that it is cutting its staff from 254 persons to 177 as part of a reorganization prompted by the new detentes with Communist China.

Most of the personnel to be cut off will be noncommissioned officers and drivers, a spokesman said. He would not estimate what effect this would have on the SEATO budget, which this year totals $1.75 million.

$74.5 Billion Appropriation For Defense Clears House Committee

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $74.5 billion defense appropriation bill scrapping the $8 billion to $10 billion Minuteman Missile Site Defense as unwarranted was passed today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee also chopped $240 million off the speeded-up Trident long range missile-firing submarine program to slow construction of the second, third and fourth submarines.

Sharply criticizing the adequacy of the new all-volunteer armed forces, the committee also voted to impose minimum mental-education quotas for volunteers and urged the military to weed out 6,500 poor performers and disciplinary problems.

"The program should be supported for at least one more year," the committee said in a report to the House.

"This decision," it said, "was made despite considerable doubts on the long range effect of the all-volunteer force concept on America's military posture."

The committee bill also would scrap the controversial Project Sanguine, an underground antenna designed for communicating with U.S. submarines worldwide. Opponents in the Wisconsin area where it was tested claim it makes telephones ring and disrupts television reception.

The $74.5 billion defense appropriation is $2.8 billion below the Pentagon's request, including a $1.5 billion cut in weapons procurement and development.

Crime Commission Pleads For Citizen Corruption Crusade

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal crime commission today appealed for a citizen crusade against government corruption and the street crime it promotes.

"The system of criminal justice will break down unless citizens come forward as complainants, as witnesses, and as jury members to participate actively in the prosecution of official corruption," said the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals.

The tools of reform "can be effective only if the public is determined to rid the nation of governmental corruption," the commission said in the sixth and final report prepared during a two-year study financed with a $1.75 million grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The 364-page report was based on the work of a task force headed by Jack Michie, director of the Michigan Division of Vocational Education.

Enlisting citizen participation in a broad range of anticrime efforts, the commission encouraged such projects as prison counseling, youth recreation, and drug treatment centers.

It also said teachers must abandon arbitrary discipline and practice justice in the classroom if children are to learn respect for democratic procedures.

But much of the report concerned the corruption tainting many state and local governments.

Acknowledging the absence of accurate measurements of corruption, the commission said even the cases already disclosed are alarmingly numerous.

Further, the report said, "Official corruption breeds disrespect for the law... As long as official corruption exists, the war against crime will be perceived by many as a war of the powerful against the powerless."

The commission urged citizens to band together and demand such reforms as these:

—Ethics codes for state officials, enforced by a state-appointed board of private citizens with power to conduct investigations, subpoena witnesses and evidence, and conduct public hearings.

—Legislative limits on political campaign spending and a ban on political contributions from individuals who do business with the state.

—State laws at least as strong as the 1971 Federal Election Campaign Act which requires regular public reports of the money received and spent by candidates and campaign committees.

—Laws requiring public officials to disclose their personal and financial interests.

—Creation of central purchasing agencies staffed with well-paid professionals as a move to combat bribery in the awarding of state contracts.

—Tighter regulations on zoning, tax assessment and government licensing so public officials will have little room to exercise their own discretion and perhaps succumb to illegal payoffs.

The commission warned that organized crime plays a significant, though not well-documented, role in government corruption.

Organized crime thrives only in a climate of "acquiescence or active assistance of public officials," the report said.

Friend Thinks Widow's Mourning Is Too Much

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a good friend [I'll call her Nellie] whose husband died on Christmas Day four years ago. They had been married for more than 60 years, and Nellie is still mourning for him. She keeps crying: "Harry, why did you leave me?"

Abby, I have been a widow for 22 years, and I loved my husband as much as Nellie loved Harry, but I realized feeling sorry for myself and making everybody else miserable by crying all the time wasn't going to help, so I just put on a happy face and accepted it.

Nellie tells me that one of her friends wrote: "Cry as much as you feel like it, until you are all cried out."

I don't agree with that. I think if she would quit crying, and thank God for the 60 good years she had with Harry, she would be better off.

What do you say?

GRANDMA IN FLORIDA

DEAR GRANDMA: I say, how one handles his grief is a very personal matter. [Some never are "cried out."] Putting on an "act" of courage often builds strength. And it certainly is an act of charity to one's friends.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem concerns our son [age 30] who gave a 25-year-old girl an engagement ring last winter in anticipation of a June wedding.

His fiancée's sister [age 20] has just announced her engagement to a young man, 21, and therein lies the problem. The parents of these sisters have talked the girls into having a double wedding to save expenses.

My son doesn't want to upset his fiancée, or get on the wrong side of her parents, but he says the idea of a double wedding turns him off. Frankly, it doesn't appeal to us either. The girl he is marrying has a large family, and the other bridegroom, we are told, also has a lot of relatives. They are talking about 700 wedding guests and a bridal party of 30!

Abby, we feel that a three-family wedding of this size will be more like a three-ring circus.

Please tell us how our son should handle this without alienating his bride or her family. No names or city, please.

MOM AND POP

DEAR MOM AND POP: Your son should make it plain to his bride that he doesn't want to share his wedding day with another couple. The fact that YOU are writing about your son's problem may say something about his reluctance to speak his piece. You can't run interference for him all his life. It's his problem. Let him handle it.

Actor Laurence Harvey Is Dead For Tuesday Discussion

LONDON (AP) — British movie star Laurence Harvey died of cancer at his London home Sunday night, friends reported today. He was 45.

The actor with the soft, suave manner had been ill for the past 18 months. Friends called on him repeatedly in recent weeks.

Harvey was married for the third time at the end of last year. His bride was fashion model Paulene Stone, mother of his 3-year-old daughter Domino.

LAURENCE HARVEY

The marriage was at Beverly Hills, Calif.

Harvey's previous wives were American millionairess Joan Cohn and British actress Margaret Leighton. Both marriages ended in divorce.

Harvey never attained the highest ranks of international stardom but his performances in such movies as "Room at the Top," "The Manchurian Candidate" and "Darling" established him in the United States as well as this country.

His bride of less than a year tended the Lithuanian-born actor during months of illness at his elegant London home.

Harvey, born Larushka Micha Skikne, underwent surgery and cobalt ray treatment in Los Angeles last May.

During the last months at home Harvey worked on a script for a film he wanted to start shooting early next year. Among the recent stream of callers were Elizabeth Taylor, Rex Harrison and one of his closest friends, playwright Wolf Mankowitz. Friends said Harvey will be cremated at a private ceremony in Golders Green, London, on Wednesday.

Harvey, a chain smoker, always tried to live like a jet set star with stylish clothes, a big-spending manner and a fund of showbiz anecdotes.

On the screen he was more effective in roles that gave him the chance to exude quiet, well-bred menace.

Harvey spent most of his childhood with his parents in Johannesburg. After serving three years in the South African army he made up his mind to be a star and came to Britain at 19 on an army grant of $16 a week.

Seek Higher Phone Rates

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Southern Bell Telephone Co. will make a plea for rate increases before the North Carolina Utilities Commission Tuesday that would raise pay phone calls from 10 to 20 cents and boost from 50 cents to $1.50 the charge for private telephone lines.

The utilities commission staff says the $33.2 million increase sought by the company will be opposed by the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters.

When Southern Bell announced plans last June to ask for rate hikes the company said the largest single increase would raise the price of installing a telephone from $12.50 to $43 for residential service and $49 for business service.

The charge for installation of a new customer's phone into a residence that had previously had telephone service would jump from $7.50 to $34.

Business rates would go up $2.60 a month.

In announcing the rate increase request, Southern Bell said "costs have continued to rise so sharply that present rates cannot be made to produce sufficient earnings. Continuation of this situation would exert a serious effect on the company's ability to serve the state properly."

Juvenile justice is the theme for a panel discussion November 27, 8:00 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. The League of Women Voters of Greenville-Pitt County is sponsoring the program.

Judge Herbert O. Philips, III, will discuss juvenile rights, the process by which juveniles pass through the courts, and some recommendations for bypassing the courts in the handling of juvenile cases.

Henry Cox, Chief Family Court Counselor for the Third Judicial District, will discuss his work as an intake officer and his role in probation and after-care of juveniles.

Lt. Elisha White, Juvenile Officer of the Kinston Police Department, will talk about how his training has helped him relate to juveniles, and also speak on the alternatives that have been used for dealing with juveniles in Kinston.

The League of Women Voters of North Carolina has undertaken a two year study of the state's criminal justice system with an emphasis on juvenile justice. The N.C. Legislature is currently considering two bills designed to determine who will administer the juvenile care program.

In addition to planning the panel program, the local LWV Criminal Justice Committee is involved in studying the juvenile corrections process in Pitt County. Recently the committee visited the Dobbs School in Rocky Mount. The Fountain School is now being converted to a diagnostic center for juveniles, the only such center in the eastern part of the state.

The public is invited to the panel presentation, the open discussion afterward, and the coffee hour following the program.

IRA Blamed In 4 Deaths

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army was blamed today for the deaths of four of the five persons killed by terrorists in Northern Ireland during the weekend.

The dead included three British soldiers and two Roman Catholic civilians. One of the civilians was a man in his 20s whose hooded body was found in Belfast. A total of 913 persons, including 202 British soldiers, now have been reported killed in more than four years of communal warfare.

In addition, three police stations were attacked with rockets during the weekend and there was an explosion outside the home of the province's chief justice, Sir Robert Lowry. The upsurge in violence over the weekend may be part of a campaign to sabotage the new

A Wise Conservation Measure

Both downtown and Pitt Plaza merchants have decided that they will not burn Christmas lights this year.

The usual decorations have been installed both downtown and at Pitt Plaza shopping center but the electric Christmas lights will not be used.

We really think this is a wise decision in this year of the energy crisis. It may be true that the electric consumption for Christmas lighting is not huge, but if the lights are not used across the nation there could be a significant savings of petroleum.

Even more important, the missing Christmas lights will be a reminder to all of us that we simply must conserve energy in our homes and autos if we are to have enough for our essential needs during the winter months ahead.

We are a country which is totally dependent on electricity and oil and gas to heat our homes, provide our jobs and move us about and we are going to have to be aware that we must conserve these things.

It may be disappointing to some that the lights won't be on this year; however the Christmas decorations will be in place and there is no reason that the holiday can't be just as merry as it ever was.

Pay Proposals Being Readied

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—A citizens' committee studying the matter of pay for members of the General Assembly is about ready to put together a report making some recommendations.

All indications point toward that report speaking to a lot more than just dollars and cents rewards for legislators.

The committee of 21 citizens representing a host of professional and business associations still appears committed to producing a report which will seek to set some future directions on the question of whether North Carolina needs and wants higher-paid professional lawmakers meeting nearly full time; or continued reliance on part-time legislators who serve at some sacrifice as a public duty.

Work of the committee thus far points strongly in the direction of recommendations for a minor pay increase as to salary, revision of expense allotments to cover actual costs, and public disclosure of just how much the legislative retirement plan is worth—and that's a point some lawmakers would just as soon the committee leave alone since they would prefer that program not be too much talked about.

So controversial is the retirement plan that some members of the General Assembly won't accept the money, turning it back to the budget.

Retirement Figures
At this time, there are 47 former legislators who served at least four full terms and are over 65 who are drawing retirement at the rate of $25 per month for each full term (two years), costing the state $73,436 per year.

Legislators pay in only five per cent of their annual salary ($120 per year) for the retirement fund; the state puts up the rest. The committee is trying to come up with some actual figures which are translatable into salary terms as to just what that retirement plan is worth to a legislator.

Meanwhile, members of the General Assembly are paid $2,400 per year straight salary; a $50 per month expense allowance paid the year around whether in session or not to cover telephone, letter-writing and incidental expenses; $25 per day expense money while in session; and a mileage allowance of 11 cents per mile for one round-trip to Raleigh each week the session is held and for committee meetings between times.

Some members of the committee pointed out that legislators seldom report that the $25 daily expense is paid seven days weekly while the General Assembly is in session even though members may be in town only four days as a rule.

Former Lt. Gov. Pat

Taylor is chairman of the study group, and told the committee at a recent meeting that he took the task for one particular reason—the opportunity to help spell out the kind of General Assembly the state will have. Taylor is worried that the trend toward annual sessions will produce a professional legislative body instead of a citizens' assembly.

Annual Sessions
Many members of the General Assembly are also concerned over that prospect, and there are indications the question will come to a head during the 1974 session. That meeting is the first of what most expect to become regular sessions of the assembly. Heretofore, the legislators met every two years. A Constitutional amendment now permits each session to decide if it will come back for a second meeting the following year rather than waiting two years.

But a much-quoted quip being heard around the State Legislative Building is this: "No man's life, liberty or property are truly safe when the General Assembly is in session."

Members of the pay study group have reported that their contacts with citizens across the state convince them that people in North Carolina don't want highly paid, full-time lawmakers.

And a recent poll of present and former members of the General Assembly produced the response that 102 respondents do not think legislators should devote full time to the job and paid on that basis, while only 25 thought they should.

Raise Favored
That survey sent to 337 persons, of which 133 responded, also showed that present and former lawmakers do favor a pay raise (80 in favor, 48 against); that a mid-range figure of around $5,000 a year is favored; that the trend is away from staying in a hotel or motel and toward taking an apartment while the assembly is in session; and that a large number don't think higher pay would mean better legislators (63 said no, 49 said yes).

One surprising response came to the question: How do you feel about the effectiveness of the General Assembly...?

Thirty-two rated it very effective, 21 reasonably effective, and 15 said it is effective; 26 rated it average, and 14 rated it poor.

Looking at the large number who rated the assembly average or poor, Taylor wryly observed: "They're talking about all the other members, not themselves, when they say that."

The study committee will meet soon to put together a final recommendation for later action by members of the General Assembly.

Study And Use The Yule Mailing Schedule

A schedule for early Christmas mailings was published in Friday's Daily Reflector.

It would be wise for those who want cards and gifts to arrive on time to study it carefully.

The Postal Service, as many other businesses, will be affected by the fuel shortage and there might be more difficulties than usual in getting the Christmas mail to its destination on time.

Sadat's Peace Hopes Dimmed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CAIRO—Israel's delays in complying with the Nov. 7 U. S. proposal attempting to nail down the Oct. 22 ceasefire, following its two-day delay in complying with the ceasefire itself, has raised deep anxiety here about President Anwar Sadat's peace strategy.

That strategy has one basic design: use the momentum of the Egyptian attack across the Suez Canal as a catalyst to convince the U. S. that Israel must finally withdraw from the Egyptian Sinai peninsula. Otherwise, another Washington-Moscow confrontation could risk World War III.

Following Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's visit here on Nov. 7, Sadat was certain the strategy was working. The U. S. had been galvanized into action, Moscow seemed willing to go along and all Europe was demanding Israeli withdrawal.

"In two months or so we will be on our way to a settlement," burred one exuberant official here. Sadat seemed no less optimistic.

But the Israeli delays over permitting United Nations troops to replace Israeli forces at vital checkpoints along the Cairo-Suez road brought second thoughts. Although extreme U. S. pressures resolved the checkpoint dispute, the Egyptian government is now certain Israel has no intention of moving toward a rapid settlement.

To the contrary, the Israeli handling of the first two big issues since the Oct. 22 ceasefire—compliance and the bitter dispute over the checkpoints—is virtual proof that Israel has decided to dig in and resist every inch of the way, no matter how adverse to U. S. interests. As one presidential intimate told us: "They are trying to put a parenthesis around the Oct. 6 war and pretend it never happened"—in short, treating the war and its aftermath as having no effect on Israel's determination and ability to hang on to the occupied territories.

Israel's brilliant counterattack west of the canal, capturing hundreds of new square miles of Egyptian lands close to Cairo, was a trump card for Israel's unfolding strategy of interminable delay.

For example, when we visited the checkpoint at Kilometer 101 (60 miles east of Cairo) the day before Israel turned the checkpoint over to the UN, Israeli bulldozers seemed to be building new fortifications on a low ridge jutting west toward Cairo into no-man's land. An Israeli flag had just been planted atop the ridge. That day, 17 relief-food trucks were stopped at the checkpoint where the Israelis insisted they spend the night—too late to travel the mere 15 miles to Suez City, the Israelis said, even though the trucks had arrived at the checkpoint well before 2 p.m.

Israel's purpose seemed one of digging in and staying, an assumption powerfully reinforced by reports that Israel is cutting the canal with an earthen causeway. To Cairo, that means Israel is engaged in a classic, Panmunjon-type stall, stretching to the limit all conceivable delays in making concessions.

Yet, a successful stall by Israel carries immense dangers for the U. S. That is a fact Kissinger knows well, along with another fact: Israel is out to cut him down as a presumed threat to Israel's traditional influence over U. S. policy in the Mideast.

The dangers for the U. S. transcend the Mideast. As a result of the Oct. 6 war, the U. S. has seen ominous pressures on the administration's cherished detente with the Soviet Union: a dangerous crack in the Western alliance; a potential threat to its military power and a present threat to its industrial strength because of the Arab oil squeeze, and at least a $2.2 billion expense to U. S. taxpayers to compensate Israel for the war.

That war was indeed started not by Israel, but by Egypt. To the Egyptians, however, it was just a war to restore Egyptian territory to Egyptian sovereignty after nearly seven years of diplomatic stalemate. Sadat still hopes to achieve territorial restoration through Kissinger's diplomacy and Israeli moderation, but already he fears the hope may prove hopelessly optimistic.

The Ghost Of Lyndon B.

WASHINGTON—The ghost of Lyndon Johnson was raised by President Nixon at last week's press conference in Disney World. Mr. Nixon told AP managing editors it was Mr. Johnson who gave him the secret on how to get out of paying income taxes when you hold the highest office in the land.

My mind boggles as Mr. Nixon told why he paid hardly any taxes in 1970 and 1971, and I started to visualize President Johnson's last scene in the White House as Nixon would have us believe it.

"Wal, Dick, the office is yours. It's a hard job, but ah know no matter what happens, you can tough it out."

"Thanks, Lyndon. Before you go, is there anything I should know about being President?"

"The most important thing ah learned as President, Dick, is if you play it smart, you don't have to pay any income taxes."

"But, Lyndon, I could never ask Americans to pay their fair share of taxes if I didn't pay mine."

"That's what ah've always admired about you, Dick. You're an honest man. But the tax laws were written for all Americans—the rich and the poor, the great and the unknown. If you didn't take advantage of the tax loopholes, you would be putting yourself above everybody else, and people would say you think you're too good to take the tax deductions you're entitled to."

"I never thought of that, Lyndon. I guess the popular thing to do would be not to take any deductions at all. But if I'm going to be President, I'm going to have to do the unpopular thing. And what would be more unpopular than the President paying hardly any income tax at all?"

"Now you're talking like a leader, Kick."

"So what's the loophole, Lyndon?"

"You give your personal presidential papers to the government and they evaluate them for historical purposes. Then they give you the tax deduction which covers all the income taxes you'd have to pay while you're President."

"But I don't have any presidential papers, Lyndon."

"You have your vice-presidential papers."

"Heck, Lyndon, they wouldn't be worth much. Who would put any value on a Vice President's papers?"

"Are you kidding, Dick? Your personal papers as Vice President are worth a fortune. Everyone wants to know how you conducted yourself in 1952, about your relations with Eisenhower, your trip to South America, your thoughts about your kitchen debate with Khrushchev. You're sitting on a gold mine."

"Maybe you're right. How much do you think the IRS would give me for them?"

"Wal, ah'm not a tax man, but ah would guess you (Continued on page 5)

Surveys have indicated that there is, at last, widespread recognition of the fact that inflation is a creature of federal government spending.

Moreover, there is evidence that taxpayers are beginning to realize that the U.S. Congress is a chief spending mechanism of government.

Thus, the only hope of controlling inflation lies in improving the congressional tax-spending machinery.

Business Week reports that, "The Congress is struggling over a proposed new system that would radically change the way it deals with spending, taxes and deficits."

A joint congressional committee made up of top members of the revenue raising and appropriations committees of both houses of Congress are studying the new system which would "include not only an enforceable spending ceiling but compulsory income surtaxes to cover unacceptable deficits any time Congress breaks through the ceiling."

Congressmen are quick to point out reforms that are allegedly needed in private enterprise and are quick to write new regulations, ostensibly to protect consumers and taxpayers.

At the moment, no reform is needed more urgently than a reform in government spending.

No reform could do more to protect the security and savings of all citizens. Yet, the administration and Congress seem more intent on covering up with controls and instant panaceas the inflation caused by irresponsible government spending policies.

Until government curbs its voracious appetite for spending tax dollars and pursuing a deficit financing philosophy, the American dollar will remain anemic and the nation will continue to be saddled with inflation that nibbles away at the security of every American and his ability to cope with an economic monster.

Greek Militarists Take Over

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — "President George Papadopoulos was so busy fighting off the Left that he forgot to look to his right," one Athenian commented after the bloodless overthrow of the former army colonel who ruled Greece for the past seven years.

The uprising of leftist students that Papadopoulos quelled last weekend apparently was a major factor in the generals' decision to oust the president Sunday. But according to the slim evidence available, Greece's new rulers appear to be farther to the right than Papadopoulos.

The student riots "may have been the straw that broke the camel's back," one veteran observer said. "Papadopoulos moved too slowly against the students, dissatisfying many of his hard-line military backers."

One of the officers most often mentioned as probably a major mover in the coup is Brig. Dimitrios Ioannides, who heads the military police. He successfully resisted attempts by Papadopoulos earlier this year to have him transferred to a less sensitive post. The armed forces chief, Gen. Dimitrios Zagorianakos, also maneuvered to have Ioannides transferred, and the new regime dismissed him Sunday.

Many Athenians at first believed that the new coup meant the overthrow of dictatorship and the re-establishment of democracy. The mood was optimistic. But the new regime's communiques clarified that hard militarism had returned, and the mood changed.

To headline conservatives the change was welcome. "Papadopoulos was slipping," said one 70-year-old

Image Is The Thing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the surest ways to oblivion in this country is to fail to check your image regularly.

If your prestige slips, you drown — at least socially. Therefore it is better to keep your best foot forward at all times.

How can a man be sure of how he rates? By taking stock of himself at regular intervals.

For example, you have no need whatever to worry about your standing if —

Every national bank in town closes to celebrate your birthday.

Howard Hughes phones to ask you to tide him over on the weekends when he runs a little short of cash.

Everybody wonders when your name will come up in the Watergate hearing.

Aristotle Onassis has named a new ship in your honor — and naturally it's a supertanker.

You may go to church only one Sunday out of four, but on the Sabbaths when you are absent, no other member of the congregation would dare to sit in your usual pew. Anyway, the ushers wouldn't let him.

You have the only gold key to your mistress's apartment. All the keys she gave to other guys are made of brass.

The energy crisis doesn't worry you, because your assistant was thoughtful enough last spring to have a five-year supply of both gasoline and heating oil stored in the private tanks on your country estate.

Your wife had a hard time delivering your son and heir, because the kid was born with two gold spoons in his mouth.

Yes, there's no doubt that a man in your situation is up to his armpits in clover. But what about the unfortunate guy who doesn't have it made? How can he be sure of that?

Well, you probably should begin to suspect you're on the skids if —

Neither you nor your dog knows where your next meal is coming from.

Your pastor makes you turn your pockets inside out before and after helping take up the Sunday church collection.

It has been two months since you had enough garbage to go to the bother of taking it out.

You can't play a game of golf until you first walk around the course and find a lost ball.

The jailer at the town drunk tank saves a cell for you every Friday night.

All you inherited from your father was a good name — but that's more than you'll leave your own son.

Your credit rating is so bad that the hardware store won't even advance you enough rope to hang yourself.

On your birthdays all the neighbors feel so sorry for your mother they send her get-well cards.

Thanks to you
It's working

Strength For Today

TRUE POPULARITY

Attractive personality often arises from the fact that one is able to adapt himself to the interests, the aptitudes, and the mental capacities of others. Above all, this person is interested in others rather than in himself.

A little boy once expressed great admiration for a neighbor, a man about his father's age. When the boy was asked why he liked the man, he replied, "Well, he's big and can take long steps, but he always walks little with me."

The fact that Jesus knew how to meet people at levels of complete understanding is apparent to everyone who reads the New Testament.

Whether it was a dishonest tax-gatherer, or a woman of the streets, or a neglected cripple, Jesus seemed to understand perfectly the person he was talking with. When he found a little person, he "walked little" with him. He was accused of many things but never of a lack of sympathy and understanding for his fellow men.

How N.C. Representatives Voted

WASHINGTON — Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Nov. 15 through Nov. 20. The House recessed for Thanksgiving at the conclusion of business on Nov. 15.

HOUSE

IMPEACHMENT INQUIRY Rejected, 190 for and 227 against, a formula to give Republicans at least one-third of the $1 million appropriated for a preliminary House Judiciary Committee probe into the impeachment of President Nixon.

By rejecting the formula the House gave final staff-hiring authority to the committee's chairman, Rep. Peter Rodino (D-N.J.), and ruled out the possibility of Republicans hiring their own staff. After the vote the overall resolution was passed by a wide margin.

Those voting for argued that Republicans need written guarantees of an impartial investigation. They said the only way to insure impartiality is to give committee Republicans their own staff. Rep. William Dickinson (R-Ala.) said that without written assurances the committee could become a Democratic "lynch mob."

Opponents argued against lawyers hired to protect partisan viewpoints — whether Republicans or Democrats — could not conduct an impartial investigation. Chairman Rodino promised consultation with Republicans to insure bipartisan support for committee staff appointments. Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) said the rejected formula would have encouraged "patronage" appointments.

Reps. Wilmer Mizell (R-5), Earl Ruth (R-8), James Martin

(R-9) and James Broyhill (R-10) voted "yea."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L.H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Ike Andrews (D-4), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Charles Rose (D-7) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

WELFARE CUTS Passed, 246 for and 163 against, an amendment to cut $175 million from the federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program.

The amendment was attached to a bill increasing Social Security benefits. After adopting the amendment, the overall bill was passed and sent to the Senate.

The SSI program, enacted last year, is a uniform federal system replacing the existing patchwork of state welfare plans for the aged, blind and disabled. It sets minimum welfare payment levels to those recipients.

The amendment eliminated a provision whereby states that pay higher benefits than called for under SSI would have had the federal government subsidize the difference. The nine affected states are California, New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Hawaii and Nevada.

Supporters argued that the provision asked the nation's taxpayers to foot the bill for the nine states' higher welfare costs. Rep. Martha Griffiths (D-Mich.) said that the purpose of SSI was to help poor states — not wealthy states — increase their welfare benefits.

Opponents argued that the special "hold harmless" provision would have expired in one year, after easing the transition in states that presently pay higher benefits. Rep. Mario Biaggi (D-N.Y.) said the cut "punishes those states who... try to provide adequate income" to welfare recipients. Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

SENATE

GAS RATIONING Rejected, 40 for and 48 against, an amendment to the Emergency Petroleum bill that would have imposed gasoline rationing by Jan. 15, 1974.

By rejecting the amendment the Senate agreed to language that lets the President—rather than Congress—impose rationing when he thinks it's necessary.

Those voting for argued that "gas rationing is inevitable." Sen. Floyd Haskell (D-Colo.) said that "complete inaction by the Executive" forces the Congress to take the lead in responding to the energy crisis. Other senators voting for said that the alternative, raising the price of gasoline, would make gas buying a privilege of the wealthy.

Those voting against argued that the President needs flexibility to deal with the energy crisis, and that imposing rationing would "tie his hands."

Sen. Paul Fannin (R-Ariz.) argued that setting an arbitrary date for rationing would let some persons "take advantage of the situation" by hoarding. Others opposed rationing as an administrative nightmare to be used only as a last resort.

Sens. Sam Ervin (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "nay."

FUEL DISTRIBUTION Passed, 49 for and 37 against, an amendment to the Emergency Petroleum bill that requires an Administration — developed plan for equitable distribution of fuel to the nation's geographic regions.

The thrust of the amendment is to assure that fuel shortages be borne equally "from Maine to Hawaii." The plan would be subject to congressional review and approval.

Those voting for argued that the energy-short regions of the country, such as New England and the Midwest, need assurances of an equitable supply of fuel. They said that the Administration's failure to develop such a plan forces Congress to act.

Opponents argued against tying the President's hands with congressional directives. They said that the Administration is developing such a plan — under guidelines established by the

1973 Economic Stabilization Act — and that meddling by Congress will "result in turmoil."

In response to a question from Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) the Senate agreed that fuel regulation does not apply to cordwood and buffalo chips.

Ervin and Helms voted "nay."

ANTI-TRUST EXEMPTIONS Rejected, 31 for and 57 against, an amendment to the Emergency Petroleum bill that would have suspended anti-trust laws with respect to the research and development of new energy sources.

The amendment would have permitted oil, coal and gas companies to jointly search for fuel without fear of violating anti-trust laws.

Supporters argued it is "ridiculous" that anti-trust laws inhibit the development of energy supplies. Sen. Henry Bellmon (R-Okla.) said that permitting intra-industry cooperation would ease energy shortages.

Opponents argued that such anti-trust exemptions without first holding hearings on the subject. Sen. Philip Hart (D-Mich.), chairman of the Senate Subcommittee, voiced "an instinctive reaction" against exempting industrial giants from the anti-trust laws.

Helms voted "yea" and Ervin voted "nay."

Begin Probe Of Fatal Flight Couple Died In Apartment Fire

RALEIGH (AP)—Police said Saturday a man and his wife were killed in a fire that swept their Raleigh apartment Friday night.

The victims were identified as David P. Ayscue, 53, and Jean Hardin R. Ayscue, 47.

Raleigh police said the fire may have started in the kitchen where Ayscue's body was found. Mrs. Ayscue was found near the door to an outside stairway.

HEATON, N.C. (AP)—Avery County Sheriff Howard Daniels said Federal Aviation Administration officials today would begin an investigation of the crash of a twin-engined Aztec plane into the side of mountain in Heaton near the Tennessee border.

The plane went down about 2 p.m. Sunday, killing Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhorr of Manchester, Mich., he said. They were on a flight from Pompano Beach, Fla. to Flint, Mich. when the crash occurred.

Opponents argued that the special "hold harmless" provision would have expired in one year, after easing the transition in states that presently pay higher benefits. Rep. Mario Biaggi (D-N.Y.) said the cut "punishes those states who... try to provide adequate income" to welfare recipients. Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Sen. Paul Fannin (R-Ariz.) argued that setting an arbitrary date for rationing would let some persons "take advantage of the situation" by hoarding. Others opposed rationing as an administrative nightmare to be used only as a last resort.

1973 Economic Stabilization Act — and that meddling by Congress will "result in turmoil."

"Gosh, Lyndon, that much?"

"At least. Don't forget you're now President of the United States, and no one in his right mind in the IRS is going to argue over what somebody says your papers are worth."

"Well, Lyndon, if you think I should do it, then I will. I have always had great respect for your advice, and someday when they ask me why I didn't pay any taxes when I was President, I'm going to give you full credit for the whole idea."

"That's mighty generous of you, Dick. Ah've always wanted to go down in history as the President who told his successor how to take advantage of our great American tax loopholes."

Rose Opens Basketball Season Tomorrow Night

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Rose High School's Rampants open the 1973-74 cage wars on Tuesday night, playing host to Jacksonville, but it may be four weeks or so before new coach Wilson McDowell finds out just what he's got.

The reason for that is that the Rampants have eight potential varsity players who have just completed football season. He's looking for them to show up at practice on Monday, but he figures that it will take them about two weeks to make the transition from football to basketball. Then, another two weeks to round them into the team.

Eventually, he expects to carry a varsity squad of 15 players, and he's hopeful that the Rampants will be able to start an upward climb from the depths they have been in for the past few years.

Last year, the Rampants won only one game on the way to a disastrous season.

Only three lettermen return from last year's team, and all of them had starting experience from time to time. They include Herb Bynum, Robert Brinkley and Jackie Savage. Savage is one of those just getting in from football.

"We don't have much experience," McDowell said. The new coach is taking over for the first time at Rose after several years at E. B. Aycock. "I really don't know how to evaluate last year's team since I saw only about five minutes of play last season."

The players, however, appear to be quite enthusiastic about the coming season. "They have the desire to win," McDowell said. "And I thoroughly believe that we are going to win our share. I'm not saying we're going to win the conference championship, but it's a matter of how long it takes us to get together as a team. We have a rough non-conference schedule, but we don't play the other five teams in the league until the last part of the season. This gives us time to jell."

The shooting for the Rampants so far has been "average to good," McDowell said. "We've been getting good shooting from our guards. If we can get some rebounding, this will help. We're going to have to run when we can because of this—most clubs have greater height."

Brinkley, Tyrone Taft, Linwood Brown and Randy Van Surdan are the top candidates for the outside positions, and all appear to be good scoring threats.

"We have one man who is 6-6, Joe Wright, and Bynum is 6-5," McDowell said. "The rest are all 6-2 or less. So we're probably going to have a tough time on the boards. We'll have to try and play a semi-control game and we can't get the fast break."

With a rapid tempo game, the Rampants will need to make fewer turnovers than they have in the past, and McDowell believes that the ball handling has improved this year.

On defense, the Rampants, again because of height, may have to play a zone most of the time, although McDowell would prefer a man-to-man. "We have quickness and this will help us to put pressure on the ball."

Another problem that has plagued the Rampants, especially during the second half, is discipline. "We're having to try and condition the players to work and wait for the good shots," McDowell said. "Those who can't do this are going to end up as spectators. We have to have that discipline, to hang in there and run and gun only when we get the true opportunity."

Currently, Bynum and Wright appear to be set for the two low post positions. Ronnie Barrett will be the chief backup man here.

On the wings, Brinkley, Dave Shields and Taft are the chief candidates, while Van Surdan and Brown are battling for the point slot.

Then there are the eight football players who will be joining the team shortly.

"If we give it all the hustle we can," McDowell said, "I'm confident that we can win our share in the conference. We just have to give 100 per cent and keep trying." Greenville really hasn't had basketball fever since the days of Rodney Knowles, some 10 years ago. "I don't believe that Greenville concentrates on basketball as much as they do in baseball, or even in football. A lot of kids play a lot of recreation ball in other cities, but we just don't have as much of it here."

"And it seems like we have a city ordinance that no one can grow over 6-2 here," the coach added. Most of those over that have moved here from other cities.

The Rampants will be playing host to Jacksonville in the Tuesday opener, with the junior varsity contest starting at 6 p.m., and the varsity following at approximately 7:45.

Surprise, Surprise, Denver Is Leader In AFC West

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
That is not a mistake in the National Football League standings. The Denver Broncos really are in first place.

The Broncos, accustomed to less glamorous surroundings, climbed to the top of the American Football Conference West Division Sunday by beating Kansas City 14-10. Denver turned the trick on a pair of touchdown passes 81 seconds apart from Charley Johnson to Haven Moses.

That moved the Broncos one-half game ahead of both Kansas City and Oakland, who are tied for second place. The Raiders moved into that deadlock with a 31-3 romp over San Diego.

Detroit 20-0 and Miami beat Dallas 14-7.

Green Bay's nationally televised game at San Francisco tonight completes the NFL's 11th week of action.

Broncos 14, Chiefs 10
Even losing Coach Hank Stram couldn't feel too badly about losing to the resurgent Broncos, who have become winners for the first time in the franchise's history.

"I'm almost glad to see this franchise come along," said Stram, after his Chiefs bowed to the Broncos 14-10. "They've worked so hard and their fans have been so loyal over all these losing seasons."

Stram's Chiefs blanked the Broncos for most of the game. But Johnson's scoring pitches of 18 and 40 yards to Moses in the final two minutes of the first half proved decisive.

Browns 21, Steelers 16
Greg Pruitt's 19-yard TD run with 61 seconds left, turned around Cleveland's game against Pittsburgh and gave the Browns their 21-16 decision. Moments earlier, he had caught a 42-yard pass from Mike Phipps to set up the winning score.

Vikings 31, Bears 13
Minnesota's NFC Central Division champions mauled Chicago 31-13 in a game they dedicated to longtime Viking defensive back Karl Kasulke, who was paralyzed in a preseason motorcycle accident.

Kasulke, confined to a wheelchair, made his first public appearance since the accident, shaking hands with the players during halftime ceremonies.

Bengals 42, Cardinals 24
Ken Anderson pitched three touchdown passes, leading Cincinnati to its 42-24 victory over St. Louis. It was the Bengals' best scoring show of the season. Even though it came against the league's poorest defense, Anderson was glad to see it. "We finally got our offense untracked," the quarterback said.

Raiders 31, Chargers 3
George Atkinson returned an early recovered fumble 59 yards for a touchdown and Ken Stabler passed for two more Oakland scores in the Raiders' 31-3 romp over San Diego.

Rams 24, Saints 13
Los Angeles maintained its one-game lead in the NFC West by coming from behind to overtake New Orleans. John Hadl threw two TD passes for the Rams, the second one putting LA in front to stay late in the third period.

Falcons 28, Jets 20
Bob Lee passed for two touchdowns and Eddie Ray ran for two more, giving Atlanta its 28-20 victory over the Jets and keeping the Falcons one game back of Los Angeles.

Bills 24, Colts 17
Buffalo came from behind with a pair of touchdowns 23 seconds apart in the final 71 seconds of the game to defeat Baltimore 24-17. Dwight Harrison returned an interception 31 yards for the deciding score.

O. J. Simpson, zeroing in on Jim Brown's alltime single season rushing record of 1,863 yards, gained 124 in 15 carries. That pushed his season total to 1,448 yards, 416 short of Brown with three games to play.

Patriots 32, Oilers 0
Jim Plunkett passed for a pair of touchdowns and New England wiped out Houston 32-0. Plunkett moved the Patriots to a 24-0 halftime lead and they coasted after that.

Game Cancelled

East Carolina announced this weekend the cancellation of Tuesday night's Purple and Gold basketball game.

The game was called off by ECU as a result of a rash of minor injuries. Head Coach Tom Quinn said that he felt it would be in the best interest of the team to forego the scrimmage.

The Pirates open the season Friday night as they host the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. On Saturday the Bucs open their road slate traveling to Duke.

Picked To Repeat

RALEIGH (AP)—David Thompson who was a unanimous choice of sports writers for the All Atlantic Coast Conference pre-season basketball team is also an odds-on favorite to repeat as player-of-the-year in the ACC.

The brilliant N.C. State junior got 61 votes in pre-season voting on the probable player-of-the-year while North Carolina's Bobby Jones got only four votes. State's Tommy Burleson and Maryland's Tom McMillen each got one vote.

In addition Thompson, those picked for the pre-season all-conference team include Jones, Burleson, McMillen and sophomore John Lucas of Maryland.

Named to the second team were Len Elmore of Maryland, Wally Walker of Virginia, Tony Byers of Wake Forest, Monte Towe of N.C. State and Chris Redding of Duke.

Buckeyes Get Rose Bowl Nod

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Hicks and Randy Gradi- shar, a pair of Ohio State football All-Americans, were stunned when they first heard of the Buckeyes' controversial Rose Bowl selection.

Now the two realize the Buckeyes will be carrying extra pressure against Southern California New Year's Day since Ohio State was chosen over Michigan Sunday.

Big Ten athletic directors, in an undisclosed vote, tapped the Buckeyes as the conference representative, bringing angry reaction from Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler.

"This is the darkest day in my athletic career," said Schembechler. "It's a tragic thing for Big Ten football. I'm very bitter."

Woody Hayes, whose Ohio State team played a 10-10 tie at Michigan Saturday, said he was "somewhat surprised."

Hicks, a 1972 All-American offensive tackle, said, "I'm shocked. I thought Michigan had it for sure."

Hicks, who played on losing 1971 and 1973 Rose Bowl teams, said, "The most important thing now is to pool our resources to win. We can't be out there half-stepping."

Red Wings Stay Hot With 3-2 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Detroit Red Wings in general and Nick Libett in particular continue to prosper under New Coach Alex Delvecchio.
The Wings beat the California Golden Seals 3-2 Sunday night for their sixth straight home victory and their seventh in nine games overall since Delvecchio took over the National Hockey League club Nov. 7. Considering they've won only nine games all season, that's not bad.
Libett has been the Detroit sparkplug lately with seven goals in the past five games. He got the winning goal against California with less than six minutes left, taking a pass from Bill Collins and beating Seals' goalie Gilles Meloche on a sharp angle shot from the right boards.
It was Libett's 14th goal of the year and his fourth game-winning score. He had only 19 goals all of last season.
In other NHL games, Boston dumped Los Angeles 3-1; The New York Rangers blanked Vancouver 5-0; Atlanta edged Buffalo 4-3; and Montreal downed Chicago 6-4.
The victory lifted the Wings into a tie with Buffalo for fifth place in the NHL East, the highest they've been all year.

Bruins 3, Kings 1
Ken Hodge scored his 15th and 16th goals, both on power plays, and Phil Esposito collected three assists as Boston made it eight straight victories.
Rangers 5, Canucks 0
Eddie Giacomin registered his fourth shutout of the season and his 48th lifetime — tops among active NHL goalies. Giacomin turned away 29 shots in setting a Ranger record for career shutouts.
Flames 4, Sabres 3
Rey Comeau scored two goals for Atlanta including the gamewinner at 7:01 of the final period. Buffalo's Rick Dudley thought he tied it with just one second left but referee Wally Harris ruled no goal.
Canadiens 6, Hawks 4
Montreal handed Chicago its first home loss of the year on the strength of two third-period goals by Peter Mahovich. He scored the winning goal midway through the period, stealing the puck from Hawk defenseman Phil Russell and firing a 15-footer past goalie Tony Esposito.

Saturday's NHL results:
Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 2; Chicago 3, Toronto 1; Los Angeles 5, New York Rangers 5, tie; Detroit 6, New York Islanders 4; Philadelphia 1, St. Louis 0; and Minnesota 6, California 3.
Sunday's WHA results:
Minnesota 5, Winnipeg 3; Houston 2, Edmonton 1; Toronto 3, Vancouver 2; and Jersey 3, Quebec 1.
Saturday's WHA results:
Houston 5, Chicago 3; and Cleveland 2, Toronto 1.

VERDICT IS UNANIMOUS—The Atlanta Falcons offense seems in unanimous agreement on a score by teammate Don Hansen (58) during the second quarter against the New York Jets, Saturday. Falcons standing at the goal line are Greg Brezina (50), Tom

Interceptions Help Bullets Beat Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was a National Basketball Association game, but to Walt Frazier it looked more like football.
"Now I know how a quarterback feels — my teammates looked open but when I passed, it got intercepted," said Frazier after his Knicks were beaten 109-81 by the Capital Bullets Sunday night.
Almost nothing went right for the defending NBA champions while facing the Bullets' rugged defense.
The Bullets held an opponent under 100 points for the ninth time in 18 games this season.
In the other NBA games, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Philadelphia 76ers 105-96; the Boston Celtics trimmed the Cleveland Cavaliers 107-101; the Seattle SuperSonics stopped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 104-99 and the Los Angeles Lakers crushed the Portland Trail Blazers 137-109.
In the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers nudged the New York Nets 126-124 and the Memphis Tams nipped the Denver Rockets 87-86.

as Seattle handed Kansas City-Omaha its seventh straight loss. Brisker scored 23 of his points in the second half as the Sonics wiped out a Kings' lead.
Lakers 137, Trail Blazers 109
Gail Goodrich scored 40 points in three quarters, leading Los Angeles over Portland. Goodrich's total included his 12,000th NBA point.
Pacers 126, Nets 124
George McGinnis scored 37 points and grabbed 25 rebounds to pace Indiana past New York 126-124. McGinnis waged a tremendous duel with New York's Julius Erving, who scored 43 points and collected 18 rebounds.
Tams 87, Rockets 86
Wil Jones scored a field goal with 57 seconds remaining, providing Memphis with an 87-86 victory over Denver.
In Saturday's NBA games, it was Buffalo 143, Kansas City-Omaha 131; Golden State 107, New York 99; Milwaukee 112, Atlanta 92; Chicago 114, Detroit 112 in overtime and Los Angeles 113, Portland 108.
Saturday in the ABA: New York 119, Utah 113; San Antonio 121, Memphis 118 in two overtimes; Virginia 108, Indiana 102; Denver 127, Carolina 122 in overtime and Kentucky 124, San Diego 121.

Wolfpack Achieves One Goal, Looking To Bowl For Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina State clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference football title Saturday with a convincing 52-13 romp over Wake Forest, but the Wolfpack had already set its sights on a more distant challenge — its Liberty Bowl contest Dec. 17, against Kansas.
"I'm completely satisfied," said running back Willie Burden who became the first N.C. State runner in 82 years to pass the 1,000 yards rushing mark in a single season. He had one touchdown and 188 yards.
"We set out to win the conference championship and we did. Now we have another goal to attain," Burden said.
Deacon Coach Chuck Mills conceded that the Wolfpack showing had not been unexpected.
"I wasn't completely surprised at the licking," he said. They are the number one team in the conference and we are the last team in the conference — what'd you expect?"
He's right about the standings. N.C. State closes out its ACC play 6-0 while Wake Forest, which lacks a conference win this season, is in the cellar at 0-5-1. N.C. State was the 16th ranked college football team in the nation last week according to an Associated Press poll.
In other ACC football action Saturday, Duke topped North Carolina 27-10, giving the Blue Devils a 1-4-1 conference record and fifth place in the league and the Tar Heels sixth place with 1-5-0. Third place Clemson, which has already closed out league play, fell to arch rival South Carolina 32-20, while Maryland, second-ranked in the ACC, stomped Tulane, 17th ranked in the nation, 42-9.
After that Maryland-Tulane game, which pitted one bowl-bound team against another, Terrapins Coach Jerry Claiborne spelled out the ACC team's strategy.
"We thought we could throw on Tulane and that idea proved to be correct," he said of his Peach Bowl-bound team which plays in Atlanta Dec. 28. The Maryland passing attack accounted for 242 yards with 14 completions in 17 attempts.
Tulane Coach Benny Ellender, whose Green Wave is headed for the Astro-Blue Bonnet Bowl against Houston Dec. 29, admitted, "Maryland whipped us physically and mentally all day. We just didn't put pressure on them either offensively or defensively."
Virginia, the seventh ACC team, closed out its season earlier in fourth place at 3-3.

Bucks 105, 76ers 96
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 31 points and Lucius Allen 23 to lead Milwaukee past Philadelphia 105-96. The victory pulled the Bucks 1½ games ahead of Chicago in the Midwest Division.
Celtics 107, Cavaliers 101
John Havlicek went on a third-quarter shooting spree to lead Boston to a 107-101 decision over Cleveland.
The game was tied at 76 with 2:42 to go in the third period before Havlicek broke loose, ripping off three straight baskets for an 82-76 lead. Havlicek finished with 25 points.
SuperSonics 104, Kings 99
John Brisker scored 47 points

ACC Grabs Three Of Top Five Spots

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — To nobody's surprise, certainly not John Wooden's, the UCLA Bruins are ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press preseason collegiate basketball poll.
"I think it's logical for us to be number one in the preseason because we've done so well in recent years and we do have two key men — bonafide All-Americans — back in Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes," Bruin Coach Wooden said.
The Bruins have done better than "so well" in the opinion of about everyone who follows college basketball — seven consecutive NCAA championships and nine of the last 10.
UCLA is not the unanimous preseason choice of the panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Bruins received 39 first-place votes and 816 points. North Carolina State is ranked second with the other two first-place votes and 706 points.
Indiana was third, followed by Maryland, North Carolina, Providence, Marquette, Notre Dame, Louisville, Kentucky,

San Francisco, Long Beach State, Kansas State, Houston, Arizona, Penn., Jacksonville, Alabama, Nevada-Las Vegas and Memphis State.
UCLA, which opens the season with a 75-game winning streak Nov. 30 against Arkansas, plays North Carolina State Dec. 15 in St. Louis, site of the Bruins' conquest of Memphis State for the NCAA title last March.
Wooden said he's looking forward to Dec. 15 but that game takes secondary importance to the Pacific-8 Conference race.
Wooden said he doesn't feel more confident about this team than he has some of the others yet "I do go into it optimistically."
"It's also going to take some time for this team to develop unity. I don't expect this team to have unity by Dec. 15 or be as strong then as it will be later on," Wooden said.
The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, 1972-3 season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Nicklaus, Miller Bring Home Title

MARBELLA, Spain (AP) — Johnny Miller furnished the spark and Jack Nicklaus the guile as the United States won its 12th team title in the 21-year history of the World Cup Golf Tournament.
Miller, the junior member of the American pair of blond bombers, captured the individual title with a 72-hole total of 277, 11 under par over the 6,905-yard, par-72 Nueva Andalucia course on Spain's south coast.
The Miller-Nicklaus total for the 72 holes was 558, six strokes ahead of Gary Player and Hugh Baiocchi of South Africa.
Player was second in the individual standings at 280, while Nicklaus and Lu Liang-Huan of Taiwan were tied for third at 281.
Taiwan, which won the team title in Melbourne last year, was third among the 49 nations participating with 568. Argentina and Spain were tied for fourth with 582, followed by Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland and The Philippines.
TENNIS
BUENOS AIRES — Guillermo Vilas of Argentina won the men's single title in the Argentine Open Tennis Championship when Bjorn Borg of Sweden fainted and was forced to retire from the match.
BALTIMORE — Rosemary Casals upended Billie Jean King 3-6, 7-6, 6-4 for the women's single title in the $20,000 Lady Baltimore Tennis Tournament.

Gregg Wins IMSA Championship

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Personable Peter Gregg had just won his eighth race of the season, and with it the big car championship of the International Motor Sports Association.
But he appeared to be more concerned about the energy crisis than he was happy over bagging his second series title of the season.
"I own some shares of stock in Howard Johnsons," he said Sunday after combining with driving partner Hurley Hayward to outdistance the field in the Camel GT Challenge Cup finale at Daytona Beach. "The stock has been dropping regularly the last few weeks. Nobody seems to know what lies ahead for industry or for sports."
Gregg, 33, is a wealthy sports car dealer from Jacksonville, Fla. He ranks as one of the country's best road course drivers, he has a growing business empire, and he's a first class salesman.
He said after the race he already had sold his winning car to a group in Mexico for $30,000.
On the other end of the financial totem pole is Amos Johnson, a mustacheed 11-year driving veteran from Raleigh, N.C.
Johnson, 31, a bachelor, drives race cars for a living. And he assured himself of a 1974 contract Saturday night by wheeling an American Motors-backed Gremlin to victory in the final Goodrich Radial Chal-

The Worry Clinic Excitement Is Reading 'Key'

Peggy's advice is of great interest to parents and grandparents of school children! For the schools have failed to produce good readers. Yet reading is the "motor" of the entire educational machinery. Use the methods below to prevent school dropouts!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Y-579: Peggy D., aged 34, is a college professor. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I am in hearty agreement with your remarks about the poor reading ability of teenagers.

"Indeed, almost 20 percent of our college freshmen go on probation and soon drop out of school, chiefly because they can't read with even average speed and comprehension.

"But we dare not blame them altogether, or even their parents.

"For I taught for a few years in grammar school before shifting to college teaching.

"And I was appalled at the dull reading books for the early grades.

"Children relish suspense and dramatic plots, even when learning to read.

"But our reading books contained such inane matter as, "See the dog. The dog can run. See the dog run, etc., etc."

"And our Supervisor warned me specifically that I wasn't allowed to employ any stories that expressed a moral!

"No wonder kiddies dislike reading!"

To Take Up 'Spanking'

RALEIGH (AP)—A bill that would prohibit physical punishment of public school students will be considered by the 1974 General Assembly.

The American Civil Liberties Union is supporting the bill sponsored by Rep. Margaret Keesee, R-Guilford, a school teacher who said she has witnessed too much unnecessary spanking in the schools.

"What this bill will say is that we can no longer whip out the paddle just because the child says no—and this happens a lot," she said in a recent interview.

The bill which was filed last week in advance for the 1974 legislative session came in the wake of a decision by a federal judge last summer upholding the state's present law. The law says principals and teachers may use "reasonable force... to restrain or correct pupils and maintain order."

Miss Keesee said her bill may lack some support because teachers and parents are concerned about discipline problems.

She noted here bill would allow teachers to use "reasonable force" to restrain students from damaging property or hurting other persons. It would also allow teachers to take weapons away from students.

Stress Reading
Most mothers are ambitious for their kiddies and hope to see them advance into high school, as well as college.

But that laudable goal demands an ability to read with speed and comprehension!

Reading is the real motor of the entire educational machinery!

Since our schools have often been deluded into stupid methods of teaching, then you mothers should take over!

In fact, if you stimulate your youngsters to read easily, they can obtain a good education without ANY classroom attendance!

George Washington was another who had very little classroom teaching. But his superb essays and note his splendid command of English grammar!

If you wish to prod your kiddies deftly into a liking for reading, then order 10 or 20 of 100 CLASSICS ILLUSTRATED, which are colorful comic book formats of the greatest novels of all time.

They include "Ivanhoe," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Tale of Two Cities," "Deerslayer," "Tom Sawyer," "Moby Dick," etc.

Order direct from Frawley Enterprises, Inc., 1901 Avenue of the Stars, Los Angeles, California, 90067.

These superb books are shipped at 25 cents apiece, prepaid.

Mrs. Crane and I just ordered 4 complete sets of about 125 titles, to be sent to each family of our grandchildren for this coming Christmas.

Having majored in English for my A. B. degree and minored in it for my Ph.D., I can truthfully tell you there is NOTHING I have yet seen that compares to CLASSICS, ILLUSTRATED in coaxing children into becoming good readers!

Since each page contains several dramatic pictures with 10 to 20 words at the top, the child is intrigued by the suspense and also is not rebuffed by many lines of printed copy.

So he will eagerly struggle to decipher the words above the exciting pictures.

And send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for it can also zoom his grades in arithmetic, spelling, etc.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Plan A Closer Cooperation

RALEIGH (AP)—A policy of closer cooperation between the state Division of Mental Health and county social service departments in handling of elderly patients returning from mental hospitals was announced today by David T. Flaherty, secretary of Human Resources.

In a prepared talk to the Rocky Mount Rotary Club, Flaherty said four regional committees will be set up "to facilitate a closer working relationship between all state and local agencies involved in the proper placement of geriatric patients."

Questions And Answers On Nixon Energy Economy

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon announced on Sunday night a series of steps intended to cope with this winter's energy crisis.

Here are some of the questions consumers might be asking as a result of the President's action, and the answers based on information from the White House and other administration officials:

Q. What did the President do?

A. The main points he announced are a movement toward banning Sunday sales of gasoline coupled with a mandatory allocation program for gasoline at wholesale and retail levels, an extension of the mandatory allocation system for middle distillate fuels — including home heating oil — to the end user, and a reduction in jet fuel available for airlines. He also said he would impose a 50 mile-per-hour speed limit for cars and a 55 mph limit for buses and trucks, if Congress gives him the authority.

Q. How would the Sunday gasoline sales ban work?

A. The President is asking service stations to halt Sunday sales voluntarily beginning Dec. 1. The ban would become mandatory after Nixon receives legislation pending before Congress. All retail gasoline sales would be banned from 9 p.m. Saturday to 12:01 a.m. Monday. This applies to cars, trucks, pleasure boats, private aircraft and recreational vehicles. Service stations could remain open on Sunday, but they could not sell gasoline. The idea, officials said, is to prevent long weekend journeys while allowing people to use their cars when necessary on Sundays.

Q. What about the allocation program for heating oil?

A. The program will reduce the amounts of heating oil available for residential heating by 15 per cent, for commercial heating by 25 per cent and for industrial uses by 10 per cent.

The regulations will be effective on Jan. 1, but officials said voluntary compliance is expected sooner. Enforcement will be handled by state-level committees and by the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas.

Q. How would a householder know what to expect and what to do, if his home is heated by oil?

A. Detailed regulations should spell it out, but it looks like a simple 15 per cent reduction from last year's supplies for the home owner. If you know how much fuel you used last winter, subtracting 15 per cent should tell you about how much you can expect to get this winter. The President said that much oil could be saved by lowering thermostat settings about six degrees.

Q. Will homes heated by natural gas or electricity be affected?

A. Not officially, but the government is urging these consumers to turn down their thermostats to 68 degrees or less to avoid severe shortages. No formal controls are being applied because of the difficulty in regulating how much electricity or natural gas goes to each home or business.

Q. But aren't some uses of electricity being banned?

A. Yes. The President said when he gets congressional authority he will ban all window display lights, billboards and all exterior and interior ornamental lighting by commercial establishments, as well as residential gas and electric yard lights, outside Christmas lights and other decorative lights. Business firms will be allowed to have lighted outdoor signs during the hours they are open. Voluntary compliance was urged until the legislation is signed into law.

Q. What about the new speed limits?

A. When the President gets the legislation, he said he would set a 50 mile-per-hour speed limit on all roads and highways under his control, and is urging states to do the same. The speed limit for intercity buses and for "heavy-duty, over-the-road trucks" would be set at 55 miles per hour.

Q. Will there be a cutback in airline flights?

A. Yes, since domestic airlines will face a 5 per cent cutback in fuel allocations effective Dec. 1 and a 15 per cent cutback starting Jan. 7. Thus, airlines will be forced to cut back on flights, although specific details weren't available immediately.

Q. Will the Sunday gasoline ban bar long weekend trips?

A. Not if you have enough gasoline to drive where you are going and back. There also is the alternative of taking the bus or train. Public transportation generally has its own supply depots and will have a priority on diesel fuel. But buses or trains may be more crowded because of the cutback in fuel for airplanes.

Coalition Maps Impeachment

RALEIGH (AP)—A coalition of student, labor and citizen activist groups announced Sunday plans for a statewide meeting in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium next Saturday to press for the impeachment of President Nixon.

The group said speakers would include President Wilbur Hobby of the state AFL-CIO; Ford Runge, president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill student government; Sally Avery, a member of the national committee of the New America Movement; a representative of the United Mine Workers and others.

Damaged Again

WILKESBORO (AP)—The offices of Holly Farms Poultry Co. were damaged Saturday in the second fire at the company's Wilkesboro plant within a month.

The fire was contained within a short time, but no damage estimate was made available.

The fire earlier had damaged another section of the plant.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1 — North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠87 ♠A542 ♠63 ♠AK982

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Dble.

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. You have an opening bid opposite a partner who has made a vulnerable take-out double. The one suit he is surely prepared for is hearts. We agree that clubs might be a better contract on some hands, but there is no way to investigate the alternatives. Three clubs would not be forcing, and a jump to four clubs—also not forcing—might easily result in missing a 4-4 heart fit.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠7 ♠AJ872 ♠AQ54 ♠Q93

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Only an incurable optimist would envision a slam on this auction and bid four clubs. Partner rates to have a major portion of his strength in the spade suit, and far from being an asset your singleton spade probably is a liability. Our vote goes to pass.

Q. 3 — North-South vulnerable and 40, as South you hold:

♠AKJ5 ♠K8 ♠K1083 ♠KQ7

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two diamonds. With 40 on score, there is no need to hurry—partner surely will bid again. Even a slam is not out of the question, and by leaving the maximum room to describe our hand, we have the best chance to reach the optimum contract.

Q. 4 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A93 ♠AQ72 ♠6 ♠AK1073

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades is not our first choice. There is no reason why we should suppress our second suit. When we support spades at our next turn, we will have described our hand graphically and have put partner in a strong position to assess the potential of the hand, so three hearts gets the top award.

Q. 5 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J865 ♠62 ♠8732 ♠Q85

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1 ♠ Pass Pass

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

Pass Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. Partner's double is for penalties—he is not inviting us into the auction. Partner could have doubled one heart for take-out had he desired us to bid. He is saying he can defeat two hearts, and the fact that you possess two cards in the enemy suit will come as a pleasant surprise to him.

Q. 6 — North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK6 ♠Q109 ♠7 ♠A106542

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—With your good heart support and top honors, you are too strong to bid three no trump—that might result in your missing a heart slam. You have to find a forcing bid, and there is no obvious one available. The solution is a temporizing bid of two spades, despite the fact that you have only a three-card suit. Partner's next bid will further clarify his holding.

Q. 7 — North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQ ♠AQJ954 ♠82 ♠Q104

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. We might not have the point count for this bid, but our hand has tremendous trick-taking potential. Partner's bid of one no trump in this situation and at this vulnerability indicates he has some values, and if he can continue to game he should be able to gather in nine tricks quite comfortably.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK5 ♠8 ♠Q954 ♠AQ1032

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two diamonds. You have the values for a jump raise to three diamonds, but that bid would leave you badly placed if partner's next bid were three no trump. Is that the right spot, or should the hand be played in a minor suit? Simply bidding two diamonds would allow partner to describe his hand at a relatively low level. If he passes two diamonds, it is most unlikely that you have missed a game.

If Planters can offer 7.25% savings certificates with a 7.52% annual yield, how come everyone else isn't doing it?

They might if they could. But very few banks have the unique computer system that Planters has.

Our new system compounds the interest on our 7.25% certificates on a daily basis. So if your interest and principal are held to maturity for four years, you get the extra advantage of a 7.52% effective annual yield.

If you don't want your interest compounded and retained with your certificate, you can be paid quarterly by check or we can transfer your interest to another PNB checking or savings account.

Either way, with PNB's 7.25% certificates you can watch your money earn more without lifting a finger to help it. Invest it and forget it.

Come talk to a Planters banker or send in the coupon below. But do it soon, because our new savings certificates are available for a limited time only.

You wouldn't expect an offer this good to go on forever!
