

Terrorists Bomb PanAm Airliner, Hijack Another

ATHENS (AP) — Four Palestinian guerrillas blasted their way through a customs station in Rome's airport today, set fire to an American plane there and forced a German jetliner with 11 hostages to fly them to Athens.

Greek police said the hijacked aircraft landed at the main Athens airport and the guerrillas were negotiating with Greek authorities for release of two Palestinians held by the military-backed Greek government.

The hijackers threatened to blow up the aircraft along with all the hostages if the two were not released, an airline spokesman reported.

Police said as many as 15 persons may have been killed and many injured in the initial attack at Rome's Fiumicino international airport.

Police said all 11 passengers in the first-class section of a loading Pan American World Airways jetliner were killed when two of the terrorists ran up two boarding ramps and threw incendiary bombs inside.

The two returned and joined their companions aboard a Lufthansa Boeing 737 with a German crew of five.

The plane appeared headed for Beirut before it landed in Athens and sources at the Beirut International Airport had said the hijackers were requesting "urgent preparations for an emergency landing."

The informants in Beirut said the pilot of the commandeered plane had radioed that the craft had a damaged door that prevented him from flying at a high altitude.

The bomb hurled in Rome ripped two holes in the Pan American Boeing 707 and set it afire. One gaping hole was visible in the roof of the forward cabin and another in the rear.

Police sources said all 11 passengers in first class were dead. They said two of the terrorists may have been wounded by police fire.

Police at the San Camillo Hospital said 10 persons, including two Americans, were brought in for treatment from the airport. Dozens of ambulances and fire trucks went to and from the airport.

Police said there were four hijackers who described themselves as Palestinians over the commandeered jetliner's radio. Lufthansa officials in Frankfurt said the crew included a pilot, copilot, two stewardesses and a woman ramp agent.

In Bonn, the West German Foreign Ministry set up a "crisis staff" to watch developments.

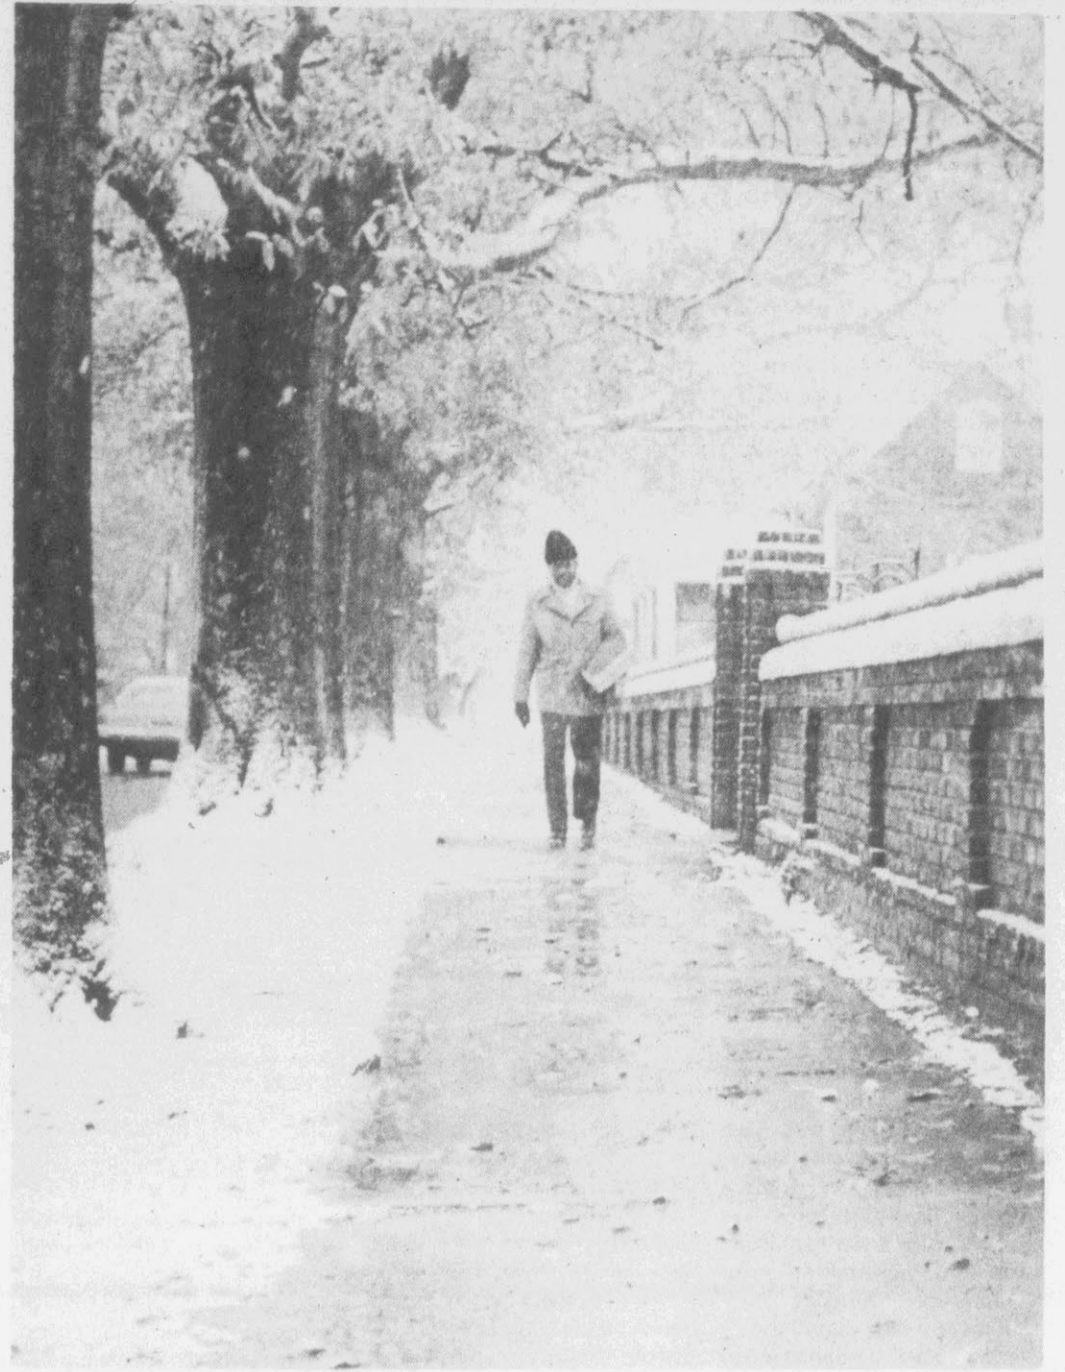

An official said the terror began after the Arabs had walked through a transit lounge to the baggage control and were asked to open their luggage for a routine security check.

They did, and pulled out sub-machine guns and hand grenades. They then grabbed a security officer and five policemen, sprayed several plate glass windows with their guns and walked toward the Lufthansa plane.

But before boarding, two terrorists ran up to the parked Pan American jetliner and threw at least one bomb at it.

A Pan American spokesman said the jet had stopped over on its flight from New York to Beirut and Teheran, Iran.

The shooting panicked travelers and airport employees. Police evacuated all airport buildings after the attack at about 1 p.m.—7 a.m. EST.

Kissinger Claims Accord On Geneva Peace Parleys

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger ended his seven-nation

Middle East peace mission today and announced "complete agreement" on opening the Geneva peace conference.

He completed more than 10 hours of meetings with Israeli leaders today and then flew to Lisbon for talks with Portuguese Premier Marcello Caetano.

Before departing Lod International Airport, Kissinger told newsmen that both the Israelis and Arabs have agreed that the opening phase of the Geneva talks should deal with the separation of Israeli and Egyptian forces on the Suez Front.

"We have been informed that if the other parties will attend (the conference), that Israel will send a delegation," Kissinger said.

The American secretary earlier said that he was optimistic the Geneva talks, originally scheduled for Tuesday, could get under way by Friday.

He described his 6½ hours of discussions with Premier Golda Meir Sunday night as "very friendly, very warm, very constructive" and told newsmen, "We reached complete agreement about the procedures and terms of reference of the opening of the conference."

Kissinger arrived in Israel Sunday afternoon. After completing discussions with Israeli officials today he prayed at a memorial to six million Jews killed during World War II.

The predominant topic of Kissinger's talks in Israel reportedly was the role to be played by the United Nations at the peace conference. The Arab states, enjoying the support of the majority in the world body, want the talks held under U.N. auspices. Israel prefers United States and Soviet supervision.

Suits Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today blocked the use of class action suits to collect for damages to the environment.

In a 6 to 3 decision, the court said each party complaining of damages must satisfy federal court rules requiring proof of at least $10,000 in damages in order to file a suit in federal court.

The ruling came in a suit brought by two Vermont couples against the International Paper Co., alleging damages to lakefront property from discharges at a company pulp and paper manufacturing plant.

They had sought to sue on behalf of some 200 other lakefront landowners in addition to themselves.

Writing for the majority, Justice Byron R. White said the suit could not be considered a class action because the other landowners had not satisfied the $10,000 damage requirement.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall dissented, saying that the limitation "is both unwarranted and unwise."

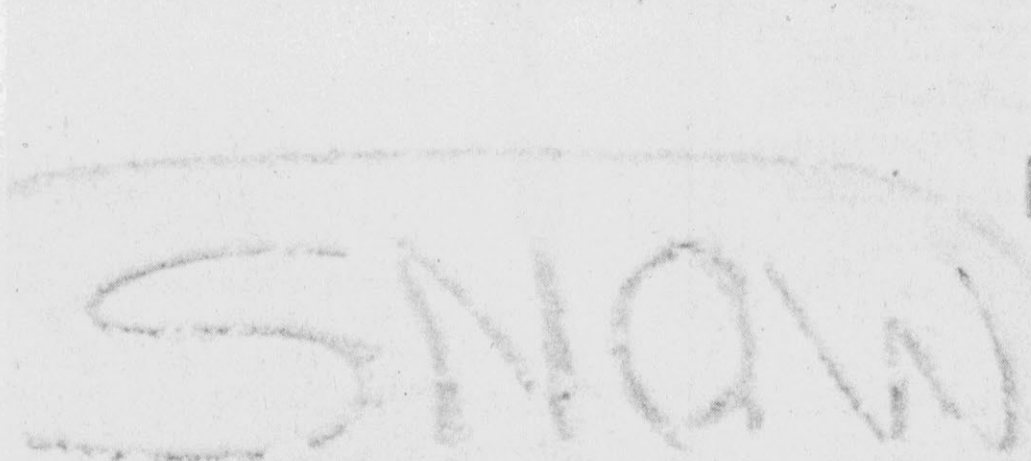

The attempt at a class action suit had been supported by the National Council of Senior Citizens and the Consumer Federation of America which said the case would have an impact on a wide range of citizens suits.

Indicted

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)— Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle was indicted on murder charges today in the 1969 killings of Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, and his wife and daughter.

Boyle, 70, currently is in protective custody in a hospital in Washington, D.C., recovering from a Sept. 24 suicide attempt. He already is under federal indictment on charges of violating Yablonski's civil rights.

The indictment issued today charges Boyle with three counts of murder, one for each victim. It came three months after state police swore out warrants charging Boyle in the killings.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES...The word "snow" written in the snow on a car window seemed unnecessary to remind local residents of the fluffy white stuff that fell in the Pitt County area this morning covering the landscape with a blanket of white.

Roads And Streets Open, Schools Not Affected By Snow

By CARLL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The hint of a white Christmas greeted Pitt County residents this morning as they departed for work. A snow storm which closed most roads in the western part of the state moved into Eastern North Carolina causing slight problems for travelers here.

Pitt County roads were virtually clear this morning, according to C. W. Snell Jr., District Engineer for the State Highway Commission. Patches of ice were reported on bridges but work crews were attempting to clear them with sand and salt this morning.

County schools were reported functioning normally with a few buses arriving late, according to County School Superintendent Arthur Alford.

County schools were not expected to be closed unless conditions worsened, Alford said.

Greenville City Schools, which closed for the Christmas Holidays December 14, were not affected by this morning's flurries.

Greenville City Streets were clear at mid-morning, according to Gentry Mills, City Street Superintendent. Some icing on bridges was reported but work crews were attempting to clear them.

Troop A of the Highway Patrol reported its operating area clear. Roads west of Raleigh were closed except to snow tires or chains.

In Martin County, members of local police units and the sheriff's office stated roads in town and countryside at mid-morning were passable. Some icing on bridges was reported. Road conditions in the northern North Carolina counties were reported similar to those in Pitt County.

The Greenville Utilities Commission reported 1.05 inches of precipitation at the end of the 24 hour measuring period which ended at 8:00 a.m. this morning. The temperature was 29 degrees and the river level was 1.9 feet.

Friday Pleased By Endorsement

"We are gratified that the Medical Manpower Commission of the N.C. General Assembly has endorsed the Area Health Center program, and particularly a center at Greenville," UNC President William Friday said this morning.

"We're also pleased with other specific recommendations, including the continued funding of students at Bowman Gray and Duke and the minority scholarships."

"The principal difference in the Commission report and plans already formed by the UNC Board of Governors, as I see it is the manner in which we work toward the advancement and enlargement of the ECU School of Medicine. Dr. Fortham (Dean of the UNC School of Medicine, of which the ECU School is a branch) and Dr. Monroe and other members of both the UNC and ECU staffs are working now to settle an accreditation matter and decide how this advancement should take place.

"I had a Board of Governors meeting Saturday night and Sunday, so I have not yet devoted the attention I would like to this document, but these are my first impressions," Dr. Friday said.

Firm Reveals Addition Plans

Construction is expected to start in early January on a substantial addition to the building housing Carolina Sales Corporation's Marine Division, according to J. T. Little Jr., president.

Little said that the $100,000 addition to the structure located on the railroad on the south side of the company property will result in some 14,000 square feet of new space. The building currently has approximately 10,000 square feet of space.

The official, noting that the addition will be made to the west said of the building, said that Carolina Sales expects the project to afford the Marine Division more efficient distribution and receiving as well as better organization.

"We hope this will help us improve service to marine dealers," Little said, noting that the division distributes all types of boating equipment and accessories.

He added that the addition is expected to be completed in six months. J. H. Hudson Inc. of Greenville has the construction contract.

Arrest Boy For Phoned Threat

A 15-year-old Ayden youth was arrested Friday afternoon and charged with phoning in a bomb threat to the Ayden-Grifton High School.

Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that the youth was arrested minutes after the phone call was made to the school around 12 noon Friday indicating that a bomb would go off there in a few seconds.

Sheriff Tyson said that tracers had been installed on all school phones prior to the incident and the call was tracked down in just a few minutes.

He noted that a bomb threat was also called in to the school the previous week and students were evacuated prior to a search of the facilities. That incident resulted in school closing early for the day, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Tyson pointed out that the use of a telephone to make a bomb threat is a federal offense as well as a violation of state laws.

The youth, a student at Ayden-Grifton, is scheduled to be tried Thursday in Juvenile Court here. He is being held without privilege of bond.

Participating in the arrest were Pitt deputies, Ayden Police, and agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

By The Associated Press

North Carolina was gripped today by an intense winter storm that covered much of the state with a thick blanket of snow.

Roxboro, located about 30 miles north of Raleigh, had the heaviest accumulation, with the Weather Service reporting 10 inches in that city.

Storm warnings and travelers advisories continued over the state throughout the morning, along with gale warnings in the coastal areas.

A large, developing low pressure system was centered this morning about 100 miles due east of Norfolk, Va., and moving on a north to northeast course. The storm was moving rapidly away from North Carolina, the National Weather Service said.

Light snow or flurries were reported in many sections of the state at mid morning. Improving conditions were noted over the southern mountains and southern piedmont. The snow was expected to end this afternoon.

Greensboro had six inches of snow by mid morning.

Laurel Springs reported five and one-half inches; Durham, five inches; Charlotte, three inches; Raleigh and Fayetteville, two inches; Goldsboro, one inch. Asheville reported only a strong northwesterly winds, along with sub-freezing temperatures, contributed to the winter conditions.

The Weather Service predicted no significant snow accumulations would occur over the state after the mid-morning hours.

Strong northerly winds will usher very cold air into the state behind this storm, probably the coldest of the season

so far. By tonight, the mercury was expected to drop into the teens over the western counties and 20s elsewhere.

The Weather Service said all roads in North Carolina would be a problem today. Snow-packed or ice-covered roads made for slippery driving conditions.

Fourteen Patrolmen Came To Say 'Thank You'

WADESBORO, N.C. (AP) — Fourteen North Carolina highway patrolmen said "thank you" Sunday to a young Wadesboro man who came to the aid of a trooper and was wounded in the process.

"I didn't have any idea they were all coming," said John J. Crawford, 22, who is recovering at his home from two gunshot wounds he suffered in the Nov. 25 incident. "It was a big surprise to me."

Patrolman David W. Tant, who also was injured, had arrested a man identified as Lee Davis Gatewood of Rt. 3, Wadesboro, and charged him with driving under the influence.

Tant said the man did not resist until they were about a half mile from the scene of the arrest south of Wadesboro. The man "just went wild," Tant said, and succeeded in getting the trooper's gun.

Crawford, driving by with his girl friend, stopped to help. He was shot twice in the scuffle. Gatewood, who fled into the woods, surrendered to authorities three days later.

The 14 patrolmen of Troop E, District 2, which includes Anson, Montgomery and Richmond counties, gave Crawford a gift and read a letter of commendation and appreciation from their commander, Capt. R. H. Nutt.

Nutt called Crawford's actions an "exemplary display of fortitude."

The troopers' gift to Crawford was a replica of the Fort Sumter, April 12, 1861 model .36-caliber Navy revolver, a power and cap-fired pistol.

Couple Weds In Double Ring Ceremony Sunday

The marriage of Miss Diane Garlene Mills and Riley Carroll Mills was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 5:00 p.m. at the Black Jack Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ervin Mills of Grimesland. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Mills of Rt. 2, Greenville.

The Rev. R. M. Stewart officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial wedding music was presented by Mrs. R. M. Stewart, pianist, and Carol Ann Tucker, soloist, who sang, "Twelfth of Never", "More," and "The Wedding Prayer" as the benediction.

The church was decorated with a fifteen branch brass candelabra in the center with two tree candelabra on either side. Arrangements of white mums and pink carnations were entwined around the candelabra. Tall wedding palms of jade greenery were used throughout. At the altar was a gold and white prie-dieu where the couple knelt for their vows. Behind this was a three branched candelabra, the bridal couple lighted the center one together signifying their union.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal white satin organza gown designed with a high neckline and tucked bodice with lace appliques accented with pearls. The long bishop sleeves were cuffed in lace. The back was enhanced with a flowing chapel train and highlighted with matching lace appliques.

She wore a long mantilla with a matching lace border attached to a Camelot headpiece. She carried a white Bible covered with white carnations and pink roses tied with bridal satin streamers. The Bible was covered with a hand-crochet cover made by Mrs. R. E. Manning of Grimesland.

Miss Mary Jo Summerlin of Grimesland was maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown of Nile green crepe styled with an empire waist with a high ruffled neckline and a wide ruffled hemline. The bodice was accented with an emerald green velvet bolera which finished a two-tone effect. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a colonial nosegay of pink roses and pink carnations tied with red velvet streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Raye Fitzhugh, cousin of the bride, of Roanoke Rapids, Mrs. Elaine Dixon, cousin of the bride, Miss Darlene Wadford, cousin of the bride, both of Greenville, Mrs. Sandra Nobles, cousin of the bride, of Kinston and Miss Diane Cayton of Greenville.

They wore formal gowns styled like the honor attendant of pink crepe with tyrol red velvet boleros. They carried similar nosegays.

Miss Sherri Stokes, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed like the honor attendant and carried a similar nosegay.

Stanley Mills, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

MRS. RILEY CARROLL MILLS

Ervin Mills served his son as best man. Ushers were Kelly Mills, Ronnie Mills, brothers of the bridegroom, Mack Vernon Dixon, cousin of the bridegroom, Buster Lassiter and Barry Gaskins, of Greenville.

Miss Kay Boyd, of Simpson, presided at the bridal registry. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mills chose a dress of forest green which featured a high neckline and long lace sleeves. She used matching accessories.

The bridegroom's mother selected an apricot polyester ensemble with a sleeveless coat. She used matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

The grandmothers, Mrs. Dora B. Gaskins and Mrs. Mamie Ruth Mills, wore corsages of white carnations.

For traveling, the bride changed into a navy and white ensemble with matching accessories and accented with the corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School and is a sophomore at East Carolina University, where she plans to continue her education. The bridegroom is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School and is employed by the Greenville Fire Department.

After a wedding trip to Virginia the couple will reside at Rt. 2, Greenville.

Reception

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Guests were greeted by the host and hostess and directed to

Sister Has Plenty To Hide From Fiance

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This problem is my sister's. She is a very pretty 45-year-old widow with nine kids. She lives in Naples, Italy. I showed her picture to a widower who lives in Jersey, and he said he wanted to write to her. [My sister was born in the U. S. A. and speaks both English and Italian.] Well, to make a long story short, they corresponded, and he sent her a ticket to visit him here. It was love at first sight. The problem is, my sister told him she had only two kids!

He is going to Naples to marry my sister, and he will surely find out how many kids she has. What do you think he will do when he finds out the truth?

My sister is afraid to tell him. Should I? This is a mess I can't see my way out of.

A SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Tell your sister if she doesn't tell him how many children she has, YOU will, because you feel responsible for having brought them together. And if you helped your sister "hide" seven kids, shame on you.

DEAR ABBY: What's happened to people? Nobody in business gives anything away any more. At Christmas time, in order to show that they appreciated your business, the milkman used to give you a pretty kitchen calendar with the dairy's name on it. The cleaning man would give you a pretty note pad with a pencil to keep by your telephone. [Okay, so it had their telephone number on it.] My beauty parlor used to give me a small bottle of shampoo or perfume, and my grocer used to give my children candy.

Now, nobody you patronize gives you anything. In fact, THEY expect you to give them something. Why?

OLD TIMER

DEAR OLD TIMER: It's one of the penalties of "prosperity." Some others are poor service, inferior quality, and shortages.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

the refreshment table which was covered with a white lace cloth over green linen and was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and pink roses.

After the bridal couple cut the first traditional slice from the three-tier cake, Mrs. Ruby Stokes, aunt of the bride served cake and Mrs. Jane Fitzhugh, aunt of the bride poured punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Mills, parents of the bridegroom, entertained the wedding party and guests at an after-rehearsal party following the rehearsal Saturday night.

Artist Designs Her Dream School

KNOKKE LE ZOUTE, Belgium (WNS) — Niki de Saint Phalle, the chic bad girl of artists and sculptors, has marched on to architecture by designing a school building for young children. Thirty feet high and 40 feet long, it resembles a dragon and has an exterior slide instead of staircase for young students. "The idea is based on my own childhood dreams of what school should be," said the artist-architect.

Miss Cathy Buck Weds Tony Buck On Sunday

Miss Cathy Buck became the bride of Tony Burton Buck Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. in Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. Bobby Bazen, pastor of the bride and bridegroom, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Buck of Rt. 2, Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Buck of Rt. 2, Greenville.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Peggy Hardee, organist, and Jimmy Page, soloist, who sang "The Twelfth of Never," "Theme from Love Story", and "The Wedding Prayer."

The vows were spoken before a background of ferns and a glow of candlelight throughout the church. From each side, fifteen branched spiral and seven arched candelabra were used. The background was accentuated with a bouquet of Christmas poinsettias. To offset the setting, a fifteen candle arch centered the church. The pews were marked with white satin bows. At the altar was a prie-dieu where the couple took their vows and knelt for the closing prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white organza gown designed with a high neckline encircled with Venise lace and ruffled organza. The sheer yoke was edged in a border of Venise lace and featured appliques of Venise lace flowers centered with pearls. Matching appliques accentuated the empire bodice and waistline which was banded in white satin ribbon. The full, sheer bishop sleeves were banded in cuffs of Venise lace and ruffled organza. The hemline of the gathered skirt and the detachable chapel train were edged in Venise lace.

She wore an elbow length illusion veil attached to a lace cap headed with pearls featuring silk rosebuds and a tailored bow of white satin and lace.

Mrs. Lora Landreth, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length dress with white bodice and red skirt. The sleeves were long with buttoned cuffs. She wore a white fur clip headpiece with red illusion veil and carried a bouquet of white and red pom poms and baby carnations tied with streamers and satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jane Porter, Miss Sylvia Dixon, Miss Carron Dennis, all of Greenville, and Miss Debbie Cobb of Winterville. Miss Debbie Kite, cousin of the bride, served as a junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids wore formal length dresses and fur headpieces identical to that of the honor attendant. They carried bouquets of white and red pom poms and baby carnations tied with streamers and satin ribbon.

Miss Faye Kite and Miss Kim May, both cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Their dresses were of red and white crepe and white fur clip headpieces identical to the attendants' dresses and headpieces. They carried arm baskets of pom poms and streamers.

Stevie Kite, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin, lace covered pillow.

Bill Buck, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Wayne Buck of Virginia, C. B. Landreth, Ricky Buck and Randy Buck, all of Greenville. Chris Buck, brother of the bride, served as a junior groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Buck chose a mint green, polyester lace bodice with matching pleated skirt, matching accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a pink polyester dress with chiffon sleeves and an A-line skirt with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The grandmothers of the bridal couple were remembered with white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Annie May, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding. Mrs. Becky Gray, aunt of the bride, presided at the register and Miss Pam Evans, cousin of the bride, presented the wedding program.

Immediately following the ceremony, the wedding party received in front of the church.

The bride is attending East Carolina University. The bridegroom is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School and is now employed by the Greenville Fire Department.

Jones-Power Revealed In California Survey

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI) — If your name is Jones, you will like this story. Or maybe you will hate it.

It tells how people named Jones feel about women and the liberation movement.

The Jones Survey, as Jacqui Davison calls it, isn't as scientific as poll by one of the popular pollsters.

But it's got validity, according to Mrs. Davison, president of the Happiness of Womanhood (HOW) organization.

Mrs. Davison, of San Diego, Calif., said members of her organization in various states called 100 people named Jones —selecting their names from the phone book.

"We called the Joneses because there are white ones and black ones, well-to-do ones and poor ones," she said.

The composition of the 1,200 respondents: 19 per cent male, 81 per cent female, 66 per cent married, 20 per cent single, 5 per cent divorced and 9 per cent widowed.

"We were especially pleased with the results," Mrs. Davison said. "They showed that the majority of the people in this country do not go for the feminist movement.

"We need to know how the wind is blowing. If we paid a lot of attention to our media we would believe that we live in a feminist society."

There were 15 questions. The answers went this way:

—Do you work outside the home? Yes, 50 per cent; no, 50 per cent.

—Do you think a woman should be referred to as 'Ms. rather than Miss or Mrs? Yes, 14 per cent; undecided, 11 per cent; no, 75 per cent.

—Do you believe a woman can find fulfillment and joy in life by being solely a wife and mother? Yes, 81 per cent; no, 12 per cent; undecided, 7 per cent.

—Do you believe a man should be the head of the family? Yes, 83 per cent; no, 10 per cent; undecided, 7 per cent.

—Do you believe that men and women in marriage should share financial and household responsibilities equally? Yes, 47 per cent; no, 43 per cent.

More than half of the Joneses believe there should be no government-operated child development for the children of America, no nontherapeutic abortion, no total acceptance of lesbians and prostitutes in society, no drafting of women by the military.

More than half of the Joneses said they believe femininity is a woman's special power and that protective rights are necessary for working women.

Ninety per cent of them said they felt it is a privilege to be a woman in America.

And 89 per cent of them said they would not join the women's liberation movement. Or, in the case of male Joneses, that they would not want their wives to join the movement.

So there, Betty Friedan, Gloria Steinem and all you woman libbers everywhere. HOW stands, foursquare, opposed to NOW—the National Organization for Women. Based on Jones-power.

We have yet to hear from the Smiths and the Browns.

Barriers To The Handicapped

A program of removing barriers for handicapped people has been carried out at East Carolina University.

Now the Greenville Chamber-Merchants Association and Pitt Plaza merchants are working with the Vocational Rehabilitation Division to remove barriers in the business and public areas of the city.

All involved in this project seem to agree that Greenville is becoming a significant medical-rehabilitation center and that the current efforts are needed so that those in wheel chairs and on crutches can move about our city with little difficulty.

Chamber President Bill McDonald said the program would be aimed at elimination of barriers in the renovations of old buildings and the designing of new buildings to accommodate the handicapped.

Sheldon Downes of the Sheltered Workshop said, "Communities, businesses and schools are becoming more aware of the handicapped person. It is felt by most people that they should have access to and throughout all buildings so they can live a more normal life and assume full responsibilities as citizens. The removal of physical barriers such as stairs and curbs will give the handicapped this chance."

We agree wholeheartedly. Greenville can provide the ramps needed for wheelchairs to move about, wider doors to allow the handicapped to get through and proper rest room facilities for the handicapped.

This will certainly make it easier for those who are handicapped to get about in Greenville and it can also serve as a model for all cities to develop similar facilities.

Designing and modifying facilities to accommodate the handicapped does not have to be expensive, but it can be invaluable to those who need such facilities.

Ervin's Court House Stories

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—A slender, little volume called Senator Sam Ervin's Best Stories is finding a ready market among book buyers of recent days.

And well it might, both in North Carolina where the people have long known what the rest of the country is just finding out: Sen. Sam can tell a fine tale; and across the nation where a love affair with the Tar Heel lawyer is blooming in the aftermath of his chairmanship of the Watergate Committee.

The book doesn't mention Watergate. It doesn't need to, because long before Watergate, Sen. Sam Ervin could turn his brilliant recall, knowledge of literature, Bible and Constitution, and fine story-telling wit to work on listeners, or readers.

Only 144 pages long, the book is too soon finished. But for those of us who were lucky enough to see some of the courthouse high drama and low humor which Ervin recounts, the book only serves to trigger memories of our own.

For those not fortunate in having spent a hot summers day in an open-window country courthouse as the whirring electric fans in the ceiling played background music for the action behind the bar, Sen. Ervin's stories will bring to life an era now gone.

Hometown Picture
Even the cover photo of the senator alongside the towering Confederate statue on the lawn of the "Burr-county" courthouse can't help but conjure up long dormant remembrances of other great men in North Carolina history for this Cleveland County native; were childhood sightings of white-haired Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, long tails flapping in the breeze as he crossed the Cleveland County courthouse square was an occasion to be retold at school later.

The stories in the book talk about times gone by, when men of learning and stature and prominence where nonetheless individuals; times when corporate molds and establishment rules were not yet formed; times when the men of the Bar would adjourn to a backroom to "strike a blow for freedom" from a jug; and times when lawyer oratory in the courtroom, at a church homecoming, or a patriotic parade was as much a way of public entertainment as television is today.

Sen Ervin talks about his travels around North Carolina as a lawyer and as a judge at a time when "Coat Chewsky" was occasion for turning out school kids, calling off the plowing and flocking down to the county seat to see the famous men and hear the rollicking good stories and jury speeches bound to come.

Look At History
And there are some delightful side forays into history, such as Sen. Ervin's story of young Andrew Jackson as a circuit riding lawyer with a thumbd copy of Bacon's Abridgement in his saddlebags. Jackson would frequently stop court to say, "Let's see what Bacon has to say about that."

A judge decided to break the young lawyer of that habit, sneaked a side of bacon into the saddlebags in place of the book, and set off a duel when the young lawyer was enraged by the howls of laughter.

Ervin also recalls someone once asking Edward Everett Hale, then chaplain of the U.S. Senate, "Doctor, when you pray as Chaplain of the Senate, do you think of the many tragic problems of the nation then pray that the Almighty will give these Senators the wisdom to deal with these problems?"

"No, I don't look at the country and pray for the Senators. I look at the country," Hale answered.

Ervin, at another point, tells the story of a man in Cherokee County who left some property to a Baptist Church with the stipulation the land was to go "To God Almighty, or His heirs and assigns," should the church stop using it.

The trustees of the property wanted to sell after a new church was built and hired a lawyer, Marshall Bell, to see if they could. Bell bumped into Chief Justice Walter Stacy of the N.C. Supreme Court and told him of the stipulation against selling, and asked advice.

None Found
"Bell, your solution is simple. When you return to Cherokee, just run a notice in your newspaper in which you state, officially, that neither God Almighty or His heirs or assigns can be found in Cherokee County. After you do that, draw your deed and convey the property," the chief justice advised, and the land was sold.

The book is written by Thad Stern Jr. and Alan Butler, both of whom served as interviewer. Stern has written a dozen books, including his most recent history of the press in North Carolina. Alan Butler served a couple of years on Ervin's staff in Washington, and is currently program director of the N.C. Arts Council. This is his first outing as an author.

The book has one serious flaw: on finishing, you will wish for a lot more Ervin and a lot less interviewer monolog—and a lot more pages.

Majority Not For Impeaching

By GEORGE GALLUP
(Copyright 1973, Field Enterprise, Inc. All rights reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with the written consent of the copyright holders.)

PRINCETON, N.C.—By a vote of 54 to 35 per cent, Americans are against requiring President Nixon to leave office, virtually the same findings as recorded in the previous Gallup survey in early November.

The 35 per cent who favor such action include 5 per cent, or an estimated 7 million people, who have taken positive action, such as signing a petition or sending a letter to their Congressman.

Requiring Nixon to leave the presidency is favored by only a minority of the public despite the fact that a majority (58 per cent) currently disapprove of his performance in office and 76 per cent believe that he was involved, at least to some extent, in the Watergate scandal.

Among those who disapprove of the way Nixon is handling his job as President but oppose impeachment is a 55-year-old executive who remarked: "Such a drastic move would further weaken our international relationships. Hopefully, the balance of the legislative and judicial branches of government against the executive branch can hold things in line until we have a chance to vote in a better man."

7 Million Have Taken Some Form of Action

The current survey reveals that 5 per cent of Americans (an estimated 7 million people) have taken some form of action, urging that President Nixon be impeached or resign. The categories include: writing a Congressman or Senator, writing a newspaper editor or a television station, or signing a petition.

The following table shows the percentages who have taken each step. (The total adds to more than five per cent since some persons took more than one step.)

Written Congressman or Senator	3
Written newspaper editor, television station	1
Signed a petition	3

Among the college-educated segment of the population, 3 per cent have written a Congressman or Senator, 1 per cent have written a newspaper editor or television station, while 8 per cent have signed a petition. Following is the question asked to determine attitudes on removing Nixon from office:

"Do you think President Nixon should be impeached and compelled to leave the presidency, or not?"

The percentage who favor Nixon's removal from office increased 18 points between June and November—from 19 per cent to a high point of 37 per cent in November. The latest survey, however, shows that this trend has halted, although new revelations in regard to the Watergate tapes could cause the figure to rise again.

Among Republicans the proportion who favor such a course of action has increased from 6 per cent in June to 12 per cent today, among Democrats from 27 to 50 per cent, and among independents from 18 to 36 per cent.

Of all major population groups, blacks are most in favor of requiring Nixon to leave office, with two out of three in the current survey in favor of such a course of action.

Four In Ten Express Strong Disapproval

The latest nationwide Gallup survey (reported Thursday) shows 31 per cent approving of the way Nixon is handling his job as President, a gain of four percentage points from the previous survey. Six in ten (50 per cent) currently express disapproval. To determine intensity of approval or disapproval, all persons in the survey were also asked to indicate how strongly they approve or disapprove of Nixon's handling of his job.

The results show only 16 per cent of the total sample approving strongly. In sharp contrast, 41 per cent say they disapprove strongly.

Strength For Today

PHILOSOPHY IS NOT ENOUGH

The younger Pliny, Roman author and orator, wrote to a friend upon his daughter's death: "Give me some fresh comfort, great and strong, such as I have never read or heard. Much of a comforting nature comes back to my memory, but my sorrow is too deep to be reached by it."

At the time Pliny wrote, thousands of men and women in the Roman world were finding comfort in their sorrow because of a new religion call Christianity, which was just regarded it as ignorant superstition. So he asked for comfort from philosophy.

The remedy was at hand, but this uptight and sensitive Roman man of letters would give it no consideration. Those who had faith drank of the refreshing water that springeth up into eternal life, but he who had nothing but philosophy of men upon which to rely cried out in the bitterness of his anguish. Philosophy is never enough. Only the gospel explains and comforts.

SORT OF BACKING INTO THE PICTURE!

By ART BUCHWALD

A Presidential Donation

WASHINGTON—President Richard Nixon is preparing to disclose that he and his wife will leave their home at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. in Washington, D. C., to the American people.

The house, known as "the White House," is one of the largest in Washington, D. C., and is considered one of the choice properties in the city.

A spokesman for the First Family said, "Although the President and Mrs. Nixon have not lived in it much, the White House has great sentimental value for them. By leaving it to the American people, the President hopes to take care of all the criticism leveled at him for the taxpayers' money he spent on his homes in Key Biscayne and San Clemente.

The President's lawyers are now drawing up the papers which will provide that the Nixons can live there for three more years before turning it over to the government. There is some question in Congress as to whether this is legally possible."

The President made his decision to donate the White House to the American people long before the energy crisis, according to the spokesman, and he rejected media reports that the reason the Nixons are giving the White House to the nation is that it is too hard to heat.

ART BUCHWALD

The spokesman said also that President Nixon intends to include in the donation his entire tape collection which is considered one of the best in the entire land. These tapes, made over a five-year period, have been the envy of collectors everywhere and, while everyone from Archibald Cox to Judge Sirica has tried to acquire them, the Nixons feel they should stay in the White House where they belong.

The spokesman said that by donating their home at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. the Nixons were putting to rest unfounded rumors that Bebe Rebozo and Howard Hughes planned to develop the property for a 40-story hotel and a possible gambling casino.

"It's true," he said, "that plans were drawn up for such a project but the President rejected them when Mr. Hughes insisted that the Capitol be included in the deal."

Originally, the Nixons had planned to leave the White House to the Spiro Agnews but something happened, no one knows exactly what, and the Agnews were cut out of the will.

It was rumored that the Gerry Fords might sublease the White House in 1974, but the spokesman denied this. "The President has no plans to rent the house to (Continued on page 5)

Double Talk Notes

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The art of double-talk reaches its flower in marital conversation.

Double-talk is saying one thing while actually thinking something else. It is the salve of civilization and, of course, without double-talk marriage would be unendurable. If married people started speaking only the truth to each other one fine morning, by nightfall half of them would be divorced — or dead in cold blood.

Here are a few typical examples of marital double-talk. The quoted remark of the speaker is followed by what he really was thinking.

"You look like you had a good sleep last night, dear." — God, why do all women look so homely in the morning? They all come unglued overnight.

"Why don't you shave before going to bed sometime, darling, instead of after you get up? You'd be able to start to work sooner." — And I'd feel less like I was sleeping with a war-thog all the time.

"You look pretty peaked, Harry." — Did you have a four-Martini lunch and spend the rest of the afternoon chugging your secretary around your desk?

"You look a little weary yourself, Martha." — Taking catnaps on a sofa all day long must be real tiring to a woman.

"There is no reason at all for you to worry about how your new dentures look. They look simply fine." — It's their sound effects that drive me crazy.

"Your complexion is even prettier now, Grace, than it was the day I led you to the altar." — But why did you have to have two $1,500 face lifts to get the job done?

"It was very thoughtful for you to suggest going to a restaurant tonight, Harry. I did feel like eating out." — And now, my little cheapskate hubby, I'm going to wreck your evening by ordering the $10 steak instead of the $4.50 dinner special.

"When I ask you what you want for Christmas, Harriet, please don't tell me you really don't want anything special." — That means I always have to buy you something that leaves me in hock until April.

"There must be 1,001 ways for a marriage to turn sour, dear, but I'm convinced that there is only one small thing that made our marriage go wrong." — It's you, fathead.

Opinions In Brief

"The tragedy of life is what dies inside a man while he lives." — Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

"A woman is constantly inspiring a man to do great things, and then preventing him from doing them." — Oscar Wilde.

"If any man seeks for greatness, let him forget greatness and ask for truth, and he will find both." — Horace Mann.

"We have committed the Golden Rule to memory. Let us now commit it to life." — Edwin Markham.

Other Editors Say Is It A 'Right'?

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

There will be a push in the 1974 session of the North Carolina General Assembly to make the wearing of automobile seat belts mandatory.

We can expect some pretty strong objections from those among us who feel such a law would be too much of an invasion of individual liberties.

As a good friend of ours puts it: "It's my life and if I want to risk it, that's my business."

But another friend pines on some views that deserve thoughtful consideration.

Should a person have the right to subject himself to unnecessary risks?

The U. S. Supreme Court thinks not. At least that is indicated in its decision several months ago in which it upheld a Massachusetts law requiring motorcycle riders to wear helmets.

The argument against the law was that if a motorcyclist rider chose not to wear a helmet he was endangering only himself and it is none of anybody else's business—including the state's.

But is it nobody else's business?

In the event of an accident and serious injury, the cyclist's dilemma suddenly becomes the business of a lot of people.

He is the business of the rescue volunteers, the investigating officer, the hospital emergency room personnel, the insurance people, fellow citizens whose insurance premiums may be affected by his and others' exercise of their "personal liberty".

And he becomes the business of members of his family who may be deprived temporarily or permanently of his ability to provide them or himself with a livelihood.

As an invalid, he may become the permanent responsibility of the community.

Does not the community which must share the burden have a right to be protected against unnecessary risks brought on by foolhardiness?

Unfortunately, the person who elects to subject himself to great risk cannot absolve the community of its responsibility to respond to his needs in time of calamity.

When the mandatory seat belt issue comes before the General Assembly, the matter of individual liberty must be considered within the context of the rights of others as well.

Closely Watching The Effects

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Possible effects of the energy crush and economic downturn that industry and government officials will be watching closely in 1974:

—That some of the country's biggest companies might find themselves in a financial bind. Even amidst general prosperity, some companies have been in a highly insecure money position.

Now, with the cost of doing business rising, with cutbacks becoming a fact of life, with raw materials unavailable, these companies are being presented with what appears to be an impossible situation.

How they weather the storm depends to a large extent on the abilities of management. But no management can for long find acceptable substitutes for raw materials, energy and income.

—That the railroads will be reborn. Amtrak, the nation's passenger railroad service, already is reporting a rush for reservations as a result of high gasoline prices, Sunday shutdowns of service stations and the like.

The question is whether Amtrak can capitalize on the situation and retrain Americans, so to speak, so that they consider the rails an alternative to the automobile, the plane and the bus.

From Amtrak's point of view the most disturbing deficiency is the lack of good rolling stock. It won't do to merely transport passengers; they must convince them that travel by rail is superior to the road or air.

—That the oil industry will exploit the shortage to consolidate its hold over the retailing of gasoline. Thousands of independent service stations have already closed in the past six months.

Whether this is by design, or merely a consequence of the gasoline shortage, is debatable. But the fact is that company owned stations seem to be faring better than the independents.

Should the latter be forced out of business, leaving the retailing of gasoline to the producers, there might arise considerable agitation for Congress and the courts to look into the monopoly aspects.

—That the decline in new housing construction will get worse. Some economists now foresee a total of only 1.7 million new housing units begun in 1974, a decline of 20 per cent from 1973.

The decline began during the latter half of 1973, when interest rates rose, money for mortgages became unavailable and customers, fearing the onset of recessionary economic conditions, began cancelling big ticket purchases.

Now the threat of inadequate fuel supplies is added to the industry's woes. With suppliers unable to meet completely the needs of their existing customers they'll be reluctant to take on new accounts.

Offsetting this to some degree is the reappearance of mortgage money. Mortgage leaders lost hundreds of millions of dollars to higher paying investments last summer, but the reflow is now strong.

Cotton Industry Holiday Gift: New Protein

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The cotton industry says it has a holiday gift for the hungry world — a powerful new protein 90 per cent cheaper than a steak.

Dabney Wellford, spokesman for the National Cotton Council, said the new protein that has been created can supply a child's entire protein needs for a 24 hour period if he eats two cupcakes baked with cotton protein flour.

Industry officials believe a breakthrough at a USDA lab in New Orleans could eventually make the fiber crop into one more valuable as a food. Researchers have been working on the program for more than 10 years.

Cottonseed oil, a fat, has long been a food substance, going into margarine, cooking oil and cattle feed. But there has been no previous way of removing a substance called gossypol from the seeds, meaning the protein was useless for humans.
"It has this overpowering bitter taste. The gossypol is the pigment gland of the cottonseed," Wellford said.

USDA has developed a "liquid cyclone process" that removes the gossypol from cottonseed and changes the protein of the seed into a fine
flour-like powder.

The Plains Coop Oil Mill at Lubbock, Tex., has so far this year put millions of dollars into trying to scale-up the USDA process so mass production can begin.

Industry sources said Coca-Cola, General Mills and Kellogg are among the national food concerns pressuring for all of the cotton protein they can get.

The Lubbock plant estimates it will initially turn out 20,000 pounds of pure protein a day when production snags are ironed out.

"The world is deficient by about one (m) million pounds of protein per day," Wellford said, "And cotton protein is inexpensive compared with beef, milk or fish. The cost of cotton protein is perhaps eight cents for a day's needs compared to $.25 if beef were the protein."

The government has been financing the development of the new protein through research at the lab in New Orleans and construction by the U. S. Agency for International Development of a pilot-sized plant in India.

"For the first time, the full native potential of cottonseed protein can be exploited, both in functional and nutritional characteristics," said Wilda H.
Martinez of the USDA's New Orleans lab.

Industry officials say the U.
S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has tested the protein in the School Lunch
Program and has approved it.

The Cotton Council said the material is tasteless, can be added to almost any kind of food without altering the taste, texture or feel, and unlike other protein concentrates, is soluble in water.

Drink companies are looking at it because it would make soft drinks nutritious, the Council said.

Wellford said the material will not compete with other proteins. "There's no competition because of the world's great need for protein. Cotton protein can be used where soybean protein won't work — it can't be dissolved and there are strange color characteristics like you see when it has been added to hot dogs that become pink."

Industry spokesmen said the breakthrough opens up a new economic horizon for American agriculture and may mean increased markets for the cotton farmer and an improved balance of payments situation through agriculture.

They added that the protein could become a major reason for growing cotton, opening the realm of the crop becoming one that both feeds and clothes on a major scale.

Protest 3 Sentences

TARBORO, N.C. (AP)—A protest over the sentencing of three blacks to die for raping a white girl was staged by several hundred blacks Sunday.

About 200 persons marched from the predominantly black community of Princeville to the Edgecombe County Courthouse
in Tarboro. Others joined them there. They huddled under raincoats and umbrellas in rainy, chilly weather and cheered speeches by protest organizers.

Officers closed the march route to traffic and cordoned off several blocks downtown during the demonstration. The marchers had a permit.

Some of the marchers bore placards which called for
"Freedom Now" and said "We March Until Freedom Comes.
Another said, "Our Souls are Restless."

Speakers called for the abolition of capital punishment in North Carolina and asserted the three blacks sentenced to die for raping a white girl were not treated fairly.

Organizers said the blacks will boycott schools and white-owned businesses in Tarboro
Monday to emphasize the protest.

Food Stamps Liberalized

RALEIGH (AP) — Effective
Jan. 1, the food stamp program is being liberalized, Dr. Renee Wescott, director of the State
Social Services Division, said
Sunday.

Dr. Wescott said that the monthly food stamp allowance for a family of four will be increased from $116 to $142.

She said eligibility requirements are being changed so that a family of four can earn up to $473 a month after deduc-tion of taxes and social security payments.

"It would be possible for a working father with a wife and two children to earn $6,000 a year and still be eligible for food stamps," Dr. Wescott said.
"Of course he would have to pay more cash because of his comparatively high income, but he would still be getting a bargain. After all authorized deductions have been taken from his pay, it would cost him about $83 in cash to receive $142 in food coupons."

"Several people have offered to buy the White House including Nelson Rockefeller, Ronald Reagan, John Connally and Teddy Kenedy, but the Nixons have turned down their offers. The price they offered was not even in the ballpark considering all the improvements that have been made."

After the announcement was made, reporters checked with the Department of Interior to ask them what they intended to do with the property. An official said,
"We're not certain. For the last five years it's been run like Disneyland, and we'd like to keep the same flavor if we can. The White House should be a fun place for the American people where they can amuse themselves and

IRS Unveils Some Changes In Income Tax Forms

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has lifted its ban on the word "spouse" and stopped trying to define income-tax terms for taxpayers.

These are but two of the changes the IRS has made in its package of 1973 federal income tax forms and instructions that soon will be mailed to the nation's 80 million taxpayers.

Most of this year's changes are procedural and, as usual, IRS spokesmen said they should make things simpler at filing time.

For example, taxpayers no longer will have to list the names of organizations they contribute to if they have canceled checks or receipts to prove their gifts. And a list of names and dates for claiming payments to doctors, dentists and hospitals no longer is required on the form.

In each case, however, records should be kept in case of an audit.

The ban on the word "spouse" was ordered a year ago by former commissioner Johnnie M. Walters, who did it in a move to try to simplify terms in the instruction book.

Instead of the "spouse," the 1972 instruction book referred to "husband-wife" or "he and she."

"We don't think it's fair to the American taxpayer to have him think that we are talking about a water fountain," Walters said at the time.

But "spouse" is back because it's the easiest term to use, an

IRS official now says, and "it gets away from that he or she business in writing instructions."

Also gone from the new instruction book is a short glossary of tax terms introduced a year ago. Some examples: "Widow — a woman whose husband has died. Widower — a man whose wife has died."

Here are some of the other changes:

—A separate schedule for reporting details of dividends and interest income has been eliminated. Instead, the taxpayer must report the total of the payments, keeping records in case of an audit, on form 1040.

—No longer will taxpayers who earn more than $200 each in interest or dividends be barred from using the short form, known as form 1040A.

—Taxpayers may designate $1 of their taxes for financing the 1976 presidential election. And, if they didn't check off the amount last year, they may do so this year.

In case a taxpayer needs help, the IRS has set up for the first time this year a nationwide system of toll-free telephone numbers that taxpayers may call for assistance. The numbers are listed in the instruction books.

Two Receive Scholarships

Two student employees of the East Carolina University Student Supply Store have been selected to receive $150 scholarships which are annually awarded by the supply store to outstanding student workers.

They are Charlotte Ruth Tripp of Greenville and Linda Dianne Mitchell of Pittsboro. Both are majoring in elementary education at ECU.

Supply Store Manager Joseph Clark said the scholarships were awarded on the basis of the student's efficiency, willingness to work and general effectiveness as employees.

They were selected from approximately 65 students employed by the store.

Miss Tripp, a 1972 graduate of D. H. Conley High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Tripp of Route 8, Greenville.

Reduced Sunday Travel Hits Interstate 'Oasis'

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY
Associated Press Writer

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — About a tankful of gasoline south of Chicago is an oasis in the desert of Interstate 57. The signs say: "Salem, gas-food-lodging, next right."

But on Sunday, the cluster of service stations, diners and a motel around the interchange might as well have been a mirage.

Despite President Nixon's plea for Sunday closings of gas stations, two of the three service stations were open. But they were doing so little business they were losing money — even with gas selling for 51.9 cents a gallon.

At the Coffa Cupee Cafe, waitresses Kay Spencer and Carolyn Gray tended eight customers scattered among the 58 seats. Normally the place would be packed, they said.

"Seventy-five per cent of our business is off the interstate," Mrs. Gray said. "You can see what it is doing."

"We used to be open 24 hours, seven days a week," Mrs. Spencer said. "Now we close every night at 10 except for Fridays and Saturdays. The boss has had to let half the help go, and he's cut the inventory by half."

Performed For ARC Patients

A group of Farmville boys who called themselves the Rocky River Review Group performed for patients at the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center.

The boys, Jerry Joyner, Bobby Harper, Jesse Patterson and Jesse Beamon, range in age from 11 to 14. Credence Clearwater provides much of their material, but they also play some country music. A hymn written by Jerry Joyner and sung with his mother was the closing number of the program.

Nursing Homes Will Stay Warm

By VAN VANUCH
Associated Press Writer
While nearly everyone else in North Carolina is shivering away at around 68 degrees, the elderly in the state's nursing homes are being kept warm and comfortable at temperatures ranging from the low to high 70s.

Acres Rest Homes of Charlotte. "But I don't think with the range of people we have that you can lower the temperature to much."

Miller, whose facility heats with natural gas, said temperatures are regulated individually for each room. "The range is from 78 down to close to 70."

"When you're caring for these folks in their 80s and 90s, the temperature they normally need is higher than for the average person," he said. "My folks couldn't live at the temperature my wife's got me living at at home," which is 68.

Miller said he is having no trouble getting an ample supply of natural gas for heating.

He said generally, the older a person is, the higher the temperature in his room must be kept, because with old age comes poorer circulation and more susceptibility to the cold. In addition, persons with arthritis require more heat, while those with asthma need less.

Frank Hinson, administrator for Greensboro Nursing and Convalescent Center, said the only problem he's had is with siphoners stealing gasoline from employes' cars.

But, "As far as the home itself is concerned, we've had no particular problems," he said.

Hinson's building also heats with natural gas, like many nursing homes in North Carolina. He noted the homes are one of the top priority users of natural gas.

"We haven't had to cut back on temperatures so far," Hinson said. "We've been fortunate."

He said if nursing homes were forced to cut down temperatures more than a couple of degrees, "It could create worse problems than we already have here. If the patients get a cold, it could develop into pneumonia. And, along with the other complications they already have, they don't need anything like this."

Each room is regulated "depending on the patient and his needs," but the thermostat is generally kept around 72 "if the patient can stand it," said Hinson. "Sometimes we have to have it higher than that."

Hillhaven Convalescent Center in Raleigh heats with electricity and it, too, is having no problems.

Administrator Dave McRae said thermostats haven't been cut back, but that, "We're trying to make sure no heat is on unless necessary."

Joint Meeting On Wednesday

Catering Prison Yuletide Buffet

By ROBERT C. WELLING
Associated Press Writer
MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — The bleak mess hall at the West Virginia Penitentiary here will be transformed for this Saturday's Christmas buffet.

The dinner in one of the oldest buildings in the century-old maximum-security prison is being catered by Ernie's Esquire, a Wheeling supperclub.

Red tablecloths, green napkins, silver candelabra, serving tables draped with white Austrian shades and a punch fountain will provide atmosphere for the 500 inmates and their guests.

The menu for the estimated 2,200 dinner guests will feature steamship round of beef, ham, salads, vegetables, dessert and punch.

The buffet is part of a day-long holiday party that will allow the inmates to spend several hours with friends and relatives in a relaxed atmosphere.

The inmates are using profits from their commissary to underwrite the estimated $10,000 cost of the dinner and party.

Charlotte Eaton, manager of the Wheeling supperclub, said she was reluctant to discuss the possibility of serving the dinner after being contacted by authorities. She said the largest event Ernie's had catered was a 500-guest wedding reception.

Cooks will begin preparing the 2,100 pounds of beef and 1,200 pounds of ham later this week.

"We're preparing some extra food," she said, adding that she had seen the inmates going through the food line and "they ate an awful lot."

Little Gain In Longevity

RALEIGH (AP) — A study made at North Carolina State University shows little progress was made in lengthening the life expectancy of North Carolinians during the past two decades although the life span was lengthened considerably during the preceding 30 years. Despite progress made in medicine and health care and a rising standard of living, the study showed all age groups failed to show appreciable gains since 1950.

In fact, the study revealed a slight decline in the life expectancy of North Carolina males, with the greatest decrease among middle age, non-white males. The study said accidents and homicides were suspected as causes for the small decline. The report gave the life expectancy for white males born in 1970 as 66.9 years, a gain of 9.4 years over white males born in 1925. White females born in 1970 have a life expectancy of 76 years or 16.7 years longer than those born in 1925.

Non-white males can expect to live 58.9 years, or 11.3 years longer than non-white males born in 1925. Non-white females born in 1970 have a life expectancy of 68.2 years, or 21.3 years longer than non-white females born in 1925, the study showed.

No point in Oklahoma lies below sea level and its highest point is Black Mesa, 4,978 feet above sea level.

Pays For Open Heart Surgery

DETROIT (AP) — A self-styled underworld payoff man strolled into Harper Hospital and peeled 35 bills from a roll of hundreds to help pay for the operation of a man he had read about in a local newspaper.

Peter Lazaros said he had read Jordan Panagiotidis needed open heart surgery before he could return to his native Greece and did not have money to pay for it.

"They all know it's not uncommon for Peter Lazaros to carry thirty or forty thousand dollars in his pocket," Lazaros said. "I have carried as much as a half-million."

Lazaros is currently appealing a perjury conviction in federal court.

Four Demonstrations In Boston Tea Party Show

By BETTY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The 200th anniversary celebration of the Boston Tea Party probably won't live in memory as long as the original, but it won't soon be forgotten.

This time, there were four demonstrations, no tea and real Indians.

The first demonstration was official — a re-enactment of tea chests being tossed overboard from a ship. The chests were empty, however, to keep from increasing pollution in Boston Harbor.

Then, members of a group called the People's Bicentennial Commission climbed aboard the ship and unfurled a banner reading "Impeach Nixon." A member of the group, wearing a huge mask resembling President Nixon's face, circled the brig in a rowboat and waved his hands high in Nixon's familiar "V" style.

That group also tarred and feathered a dummy of Nixon and hanged him in effigy.

Members of the Disabled American Veterans, dressed as Indians, then boarded the vessel being used in the demonstrations, a replica of the British brig Beaver. They threw chests of maple leaves overboard.

Genuine Indians, however, members of the Boston Indian Council, complained about the fakes.

Meanwhile, a boat packed with members of the Committee for Individual Liberty, a conservative group, quietly floated around the Beaver.

Boston Police Deputy Supt. Charles Barry estimated the number of spectators at 20,000 and termed it a "happy crowd," despite the blustery, freezing afternoon.

The noisiest demonstration came from the People's Bicentennial Commission, which held a town meeting in historic Faneuil Hall, and then marched several thousand strong to the waterfront.

Katherine Kane, who heads Boston 200, the official group heading up bicentennial events, said she was encouraged by the "fantastic response" from the citizenry. She hailed the diversity of opinions as exemplifying the spirit of the Revolution.

Man Charged In 5 Arson Deaths

MAXTON, N.C. (AP) — A Laurinburg man has been charged with first-degree arson in the deaths early Sunday of five small children who died when fire destroyed their house in a low-income area, the Robeson County Sheriff's Department said.

Six other children, who also were sleeping in the house, escaped the blaze, which spread to two other houses.

A sheriff's department spokesman identified the suspect as Alexander McLaughlin, 28. McLaughlin was described as a boyfriend of Mrs. Lebertha Jones. The spokesman said the victims were Mrs. Jones' children and grandchildren.

Authorities identified the dead as Jaamar L. Jones, 3; Checo S. Jones, 2; Tywana Y. Jones, 2; Carla Denise Malloy, 6; and Mark Terrell Malloy, 4. It was not immediately known which victims were the children and which the grandchildren of Mrs. Jones.

Stone said McLaughlin was arrested at the scene of the fire and charged with public drunkenness. He was charged with arson Sunday night. Under a state Supreme Court ruling last January, the penalty for first-degree arson is a mandatory death sentence.

McLaughlin was held without bond Sunday at the Robeson County Jail pending a hearing Jan. 3 in Maxton District Court. Authorities said 8-year-old Demetrius Jones discovered the fire about 4 a.m. He awoke the five other children who escaped with him. Mrs. Jones arrived home after the six children fled and helped a daughter, Telesia, awaken two elderly couples in homes on either side of the Jones' residence, the detective said.

The houses on both sides also burned, officers said, and the occupants lost all their possessions. One of the occupants of the other two houses was injured.

N.C. GOP Debt Now Past Due

GREENSBORO (AP) — Figures released at the North Carolina Republican party's executive committee meeting Saturday show that $78,000 of the GOP's $91,000 debt is past due and that past due indebtedness was incurred during Frank Rouse's tenure as party chairman.

The meeting was headed by recently elected chairman Tom Bennett who defeated Bennett in a hotly contested campaign in which indebtedness was a central issue.

The figures show that nearly $15,000 of the past due amount was spent on Rouse's expenses during a 16 month period ending last March 30.

The state GOP has a proposed 1974 budget of $257,600 and a balance of $13,457.

Which Coker Tobaccos Fit Your Needs Best?

Now is the time to choose proven Coker tobacco varieties for 1974. Thousands of flue-cured tobacco growers know that by planting Coker seeds, they have something extra going for them. And each year more acres are planted with Coker-bred tobaccos than with all others combined. Make your choice from the superior selections described here — soon.

- COKER 347 — Our highest yielding, best quality tobacco. It's a Coker 319 type. Resists black shank, Granville and fusarium wilts, root knot nematodes and black root rot. Tolerates brown spot. Averages 25 leaves per plant. Averaged 2592 pounds per acre in 1971-72 official North Carolina variety tests. Excellent for mechanized harvest. Leaves cure readily to rich lemon or orange color.
- COKER 411 — Increasingly popular 319-type. Has more disease resistance and averages 10% better yields. Has excellent handling qualities. Medium body. Cures easily. Grades high and sells well.
- COKER 254 — A variety that yields with the best. Performs well on most soils. Resists black shank, wilt and root knot nematodes. Tolerates brown spot. Recovers quickly from bad-weather, handles easily. The leaf trade likes it.
- COKER 319 — Ten-year favorite in all belts. Makes dependable high yields of quality leaf. High resistance to fusarium wilt. Generally good resistance to black shank, Granville wilt and brown spot. Compare it with Coker 347.
- COKER 258 — Ideal for soils heavily infested with root rot nematodes. Makes best use of soil nutrients and moisture of all Coker varieties. Yields well in all areas, but does best on medium to light soils.

Note: Despite the relatively high disease resistance of the Coker tobaccos described here, we cannot guarantee performance since new strains of these diseases or a combination of conditions might occur which might adversely affect tolerance or resistance.

HEAD JUDGES
CHAPEL HILL (AP)—District Court Judge Tom H. Matthews of Rocky Mount has succeeded Judge Robert Gash of Brevard as president of the North Carolina District Judges Association.

SANCTUARY
MORGANTON (AP)—North Carolina's supervisor of National Forests, Del Thorsen, has announced that Big Lost Cove Cliffs, a 511 acre tract in Pisgah National Forest's Wilson Creek unit, will be classified as a scenic area where timber cutting is banned.

Damage was estimated by officers at $300 to the Baro car and $45 to the Allen vehicle. No charges were reported. Minerva Pitt Rogers of Route 1, Farmville was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 12:16 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth Street and Bancroft Avenue.

Police reported the Rogers car collided with an auto operated by Alvin Joyner of 1302 West Sixth St. causing an estimated $200 damage to the Rogers car and about $100 damage to the Joyner vehicle. No injuries were reported in either mishap.

Economizing By Military Bases
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Cutbacks in operations at Oklahoma military bases are already achieving energy conservation. Tinker Air Force Base reports that pilots are using flight simulators twice as much as they had been in the past to replace in-flight training. Aircraft fuel has been cut by one-third, said Brig. Gen. James G. Randolph, Tinker commander. Vance Air Force Base is cutting back money spent for gasoline by seven per cent.

Surviving him are a daughter, Miss Estella Black of the home; three brothers, Ernest Edwards of Rt. 2, Walstonburg, James Edwards of Rt. 1, Walstonburg, and Willie Edwards of Greenville; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Jackson of Detroit, Mich.; and a grandchild.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Mattie Daniels of the home; six daughters, Mrs. Annie Mae Daniels, Mrs. Bessie Mae Godley, and Mrs. Mattie Exum, all of Stokes, Miss Maggie Lee Daniels of the home, Mrs. Ada Mary Williams and Ethel Louise Little, both of Newark, N. Break-In At Local Firm

Greenville police today are pressing their investigation into an attempted safe robbery here during the night. Chief Glenn Cannon said would-be safe robbers forced their way through a side door to gain entrance to Eastern Tractor and Implement Co. at 210 West Greenville Blvd. during the night and attempted to cut open the company safe. He noted that the break-in was discovered about 6 a.m. The chief said the law-breakers moved the company safe from the showroom at the front of the building into an area at the rear of the firm and cut a hole in the safe with an acetylene cutting torch. Cannon noted, however, that the robbers failed to gain access to an estimated $150 in cash and some $1,350 in checks in the safe.

The robbers, did however, carry away an estimated $500 worth of hand tools as well as a camera, a toy tractor and toy wagon.

Sunday Saw 2 Collisions

Two Sunday collisions resulted in an estimated $645 property damage according to Police Department investigators. Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 9 a.m. collision at the intersection of 14th and Elm Streets involving cars driven by Jose Baro of 1505 South Ragsdale Rd. and Michael Kelly Allen of 1001 West Fourth St. Damage was estimated by officers at $300 to the Baro car and $45 to the Allen vehicle. No charges were reported. Minerva Pitt Rogers of Route 1, Farmville was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 12:16 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth Street and Bancroft Avenue.

Police reported the Rogers car collided with an auto operated by Alvin Joyner of 1302 West Sixth St. causing an estimated $200 damage to the Rogers car and about $100 damage to the Joyner vehicle. No injuries were reported in either mishap.

Economizing By Military Bases
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Cutbacks in operations at Oklahoma military bases are already achieving energy conservation. Tinker Air Force Base reports that pilots are using flight simulators twice as much as they had been in the past to replace in-flight training. Aircraft fuel has been cut by one-third, said Brig. Gen. James G. Randolph, Tinker commander. Vance Air Force Base is cutting back money spent for gasoline by seven per cent.

Charger Grapplers Are Learning And Working

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
LITTLEFIELD—If sheer enthusiasm can bring a wrestling program from nothing to something, then the Ayden-Grifton Chargers may well be the winless team.

Bob Grimes, who is the coach of the Chargers this year, has only some high school wrestling experience of his own behind him. But he's fired up about his task, one which no one else wanted, and he's out to make a winner out of the previously winless team.

"Ayden-Grifton has had wrestling for two years, but hasn't really had a team yet," Grimes said. And despite his lack of coaching experience, he's trying to build the team from zero, although he does have five men back from last year's team. "Only three of them were starters," he adds. There are 21 out all together.

"I believe that we can get this thing going," he said. "We have to get our kids moving naturally, find their good moves and have them work from that without getting too complicated. Strength has a lot to do with the success a wrestler has, but desire and knowledge play a big role too. We've got some strength, now we're working on desire and knowledge."

Grimes is training the team hard, and it's beginning to show. "Already we've noticed that late in the matches some of our opponents are breathing very hard, while we're not that winded. That's going to make a difference along the way."

Three people are working at 119, with Jeff Wagstaff, a slightly experienced sophomore starting. Two freshmen, Butch Davis and Ben Thompson are behind him.

At 126 is Earl Harris, a junior out for his third year. So far this year, he has two pins, a decision, and one loss. "He's our spark right now," Grimes said. Also here are Greg Roundtree, a sophomore, and Andy Sasser, a junior.

Junior Willie Hart, with two

The Chargers are trying very hard to win their first match ever after two shutout seasons. "I though we'd already have it by now," Grimes said, "but a couple of our guys got a little careless when they should have been serious and it cost us. Right now, too, we don't have enough people out. To improve our program, we have to attract more candidates out, and give us some competition in the different weights. Right now we don't even have a 195-pounder, and our heavyweight has only just come out."

But there is some enthusiasm building. More people are showing up at the matches, and more people are talking about it. "The kids are getting up for every match, and nearly all are giving 100 per cent," Grimes said.

"Once we get a win, it'll really help us. I don't know if it will snowball, but it could change our outlook. One would start something on a small stage; two could really help us."

For the most part, the team is young, with sophomores and freshmen at nearly every weight class, peppered with a few juniors and just one senior.

Bobby Garris, a freshman, is starting at the 98-pound level, with two sophomores, James Payton and Jeff Wingate backing him up. Wingate got some experience last year.

At 105, Chris Howes is working. A sophomore, he has no previous experience.

Tony Robertson, a freshman, is the 112-pounder. He too, has no experience.

years experience is handling the 138-pound class. He's backed up by another junior, Arnie Mills.

At 145, two men have alternated, freshman Mark Wheatley, and sophomore Adolphus Cox, both inexperienced.

Junior Burley Gardner is at 155, along with two other juniors, Jamie Corey and Ronnie Baker.

At 167 is Joe Gardner, a sophomore.

Bill Ford, a junior who has done some wrestling before, is at 185.

There is no 195-pounder, and Ivan Williams, the lone senior, has just come out for the heavyweight position. He has no previous experience.

"We need to get the basics into them," Grimes said. "They need to drill so that they don't have to think on the mat but react. I have confidence that they can win. They need to feel this too, and not worry about possibility of losing. They have the desire,"

Simpson Had Help From Friends

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Maybe it's my record," O.J. Simpson said Sunday, but I had a lot of help."

Simpson, who established a single-season ground-gaining record of 2,003 yards by piling up 200 yards as the Buffalo Bills beat the New York Jets 34-14, then introduced the men he said "made it all possible," the Bills' offensive linemen: center Mike Montler, guards Reggie McKenzie and Joe Delamielle, tackles Dave Foley and Donnie Green and tight end Paul Seymour.

Everyone thought he had 2,001, but NFL statisticians after the game uncovered two more yards to make it 2,003.

The Bills streamed onto the frozen, snow-covered field, hoisted O.J. to their shoulders and carried him to the bench in triumph.

"He's a helluva man," said McKenzie. "I mean, who else do you know would take the entire line to a national press conference, the way he did? He's just beautiful."

"I was visiting with him last summer, and he said, 'Wouldn't it be nice to get 1,700 yards?' I just told him, 'Let's get two grand instead, and really set the world on fire.' Now we have, and it's beautiful."

Bills coach Lou Saban attributed at least part of Simpson's success to the rapport he has with his linemen.

"O.J. is surrounded by a young offensive line, and he's young enough to be part of them. While they were learning, O.J. was carrying the burden. Now they work beautifully together."

Simpson also set season records with 332 carries and 11 100-yard plus games.

As for Brown, whose records he erased, Simpson said he hadn't spoken to the former Cleveland star this year, then recalled other meetings.

"I ran into him once when I was a kid in a candy store, and — you know the way kids are — I told him, 'Someday, I'm gonna break all your records.' Then I saw him again about a year ago, and we talked about running, but it would have been out of place to talk about a record."

Then O.J. added, with a satisfied smile, "Now I think I can."

State, Kansas Clash Tonight

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) —

North Carolina State, with a backfield averaging more than five yards each carry, collides with Kansas, led by passing whiz Dave Jaynes, tonight in the Liberty Bowl.

The game, the first of the major bowls, will be televised nationally by ABC beginning at 9 p.m., EST.

North Carolina State, ranked 16th, is 8-3 while the Jayhawks, No. 19, are 7-3-1.

The game promises to be a battle between the Wolfpack's stable of running backs — who gained almost three times that of Kansas — and All-American Jaynes, the fourth leading passer in the country.

Wolfpack running back Willie Burden gained 1,014 yards this season and Stan Fritts and Charley Young netted more than 1,300 between them.

Kansas Coach Don Fambrough expects his defense to get a stern test.

"On the basis of what I have seen on film, I'd say they have one of the finest group of running backs we have seen this year," he said.

Quarterback Bruce Shaw has passed for 2,999 yards in his three-year career, breaking Roman Gabriel's Wolfpack record.

Pairings Finally Made For Playoff Weekend

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland Raiders are in the National Football League playoffs for the sixth time in seven years. And one reason is they were ready when Denver Coach John Ralston gave it the old college try with a trick play he used when he coached at Stanford University.

And while things went wrong for Denver in its bid for the club's first playoff appearance, everything went right for Buffalo's O.J. Simpson in Buffalo's 34-14 victory over the New York Jets. Simpson became the first man to rush for 2,000 yards in a single season—and he even picked up two yards after the game was over when NFL statisticians rechecked and found an error.

Denver was trailing 14-10 in the third quarter of its game for the American Conference West title at Oakland and was without starting quarterback Charley Johnson, who was injured, when Ralston ordered a run off a fake punt-on-four down with the ball on the Denver 48. The play was stopped for no gain, and Oakland moved quickly to its clinching touchdown in a 21-17 victory.

Three other teams gained the playoffs on the final day of the regular season—Cincinnati outlasted Houston 27-24 to win the AFC Central; Dallas blasted St. Louis 30-3 to win the National Conference East, and Washington topped Philadelphia 38-20 to earn the NFC wild-card berth.

Next weekend's playoff pairings are:

—Saturday: Washington at Minnesota, the NFC Central Division winner that trounced the New York Giants 31-7 Sunday, and Pittsburgh, the AFC wild-card team that beat San Francisco 37-14 Saturday, at Oakland.

—Sunday: Cincinnati at Miami, the defending Super Bowl champion and AFC East winner that blanked Detroit 31-0 Saturday, and Los Angeles, NFC West king and 30-17 winner over Cleveland Sunday, at Dallas.

In other final-day action, Atlanta edged New Orleans 14-10; Kansas City trounced San Diego 33-6; Baltimore nipped New England 18-13, and Green Bay downed Chicago 21-0.

Oakland's victory sets up a playoff rematch against Pittsburgh. The Steelers beat the Raiders 9-7 in 1972 postseason play when Franco Harris grabbed a deflected pass and ran for a touchdown in the closing seconds.

Bills 34-Jets 14
"It's unbelievable isn't it," said Simpson after smashing Jim Brown's season rushing record of 1,863 yards. The two yards found in the recheck gave Simpson 200 on 34 attempts, making him the first man to gain at least 200 yards three times in one season in NFL history, and boosted his total to 2,003.

Simpson, ran 13 yards for a touchdown, broke Brown's record midway through the first quarter, and then broke the 2,000-yard barrier with a seven-yard run with 5:56 left in the game. Joe Namath passed for both New York touchdowns.

Bengals 27, Houston 24
Cincinnati built a 27-10 lead with Ken Anderson throwing three touchdown passes, including 77 and 67-yard hookups with Isaac Curtis, and then withstood a late Houston rally.

Cowboys 30, Cardinals 30
"We're still basically a running team," said Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach who did a lot to change that image by passing for 256 yards and three touchdowns against St. Louis.

Rams 30, Browns 17
Two Rams set team records and John Hadl passed for two touchdowns against Cleveland, Los Angeles Coach Chuck Knox had other things on his mind—"Right now, tonight, tomorrow and the rest of the week we'll be thinking about Dallas.

The club record setters were kicker David Ray, with three field goals and three conversions for a season total of 130 points, and Lawrence McCutcheon, who ran for 83 yards for a total of 1,097. The 12 victories, against two losses, was also a Rams' record.

Redskins 38, Eagles 20

"We just weren't getting execution before (Sunday)," said Washington running back Larry Brown after gaining a total of 255 yards against Philadelphia and catching three of Billy Kilmer's four touchdown passes. "We got it today."

Parent, Esposito May Break Records

By FRANK BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Sunday night's action is any indication, Boston Bruins star center Phil Esposito and Philadelphia Flyers goaltender Bernie Parent will break their share of National Hockey League records this season.

Esposito sparked the Bruins' 5-3 victory over the California Golden Seals with his 33rd and 34th goals of the season, helping the Bruins run their unbeaten string to 15 games. In 1970-71, when Esposito scored a record 76 goals, he didn't notch his 34th until the club's 36th game. The Bruins have played 28 this season.

Meanwhile, Parent blanked the New York Islanders 4-0 for his seventh shutout of the year—eight behind the record held by Tony Esposito—to keep the front-running Flyers ahead of the Chicago Black Hawks in the NHL's West Division.

In other games Sunday night, the Black Hawks bombed the New York Rangers 6-1; the Detroit Red Wings clipped the

Scott Shines As Suns Win

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are two ways to defend Charlie Scott—the right way and the wrong way.

Seattle picked the wrong way as the former North Carolina All-American riddled the Super-Sonics for 23 points in the first quarter, pacing the Phoenix Suns to a 113-109 victory Sunday night in the National Basketball Association.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Boston trimmed Los Angeles 115-110; Milwaukee routed Portland 121-98 and Kansas City-Omaha edged Detroit 105-104.

Celtics 115, Lakers 110
Boston's Dave Cowens scored a season-high 35 points and the Celtics held off a fourth-quarter Los Angeles rally to beat the Lakers.

John Havlicek's 29 points and 17 from Don Nelson and Jo Jo White helped the Celtics cause. Gail Goodrich's 24 points paced the Lakers, who learned that their star guard Jerry West would miss the team's next 14 games due to a pulled abdominal muscle.

Bucks 121, Trail Blazers 98
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 32 points and Lucius Allen chipped in with 24 as Milwaukee rolled over Portland in a game enlivened by a first-quarter fist fight.

After Milwaukee's Bob Dandridge was called for an offensive foul, he and Portland's Sidney Wicks came to blows. Both players were ejected from the game.

John Johnson led Portland with 26 points.

Kings 105, Pistons 104
Jimmy Walker's baseline jumper at the buzzer gave KC-Omaha its victory over Detroit. George Trapp sank two foul shots with two seconds remaining to put Detroit momentarily in the lead.

But Don Kojis, taking the ball out at midcourt, hit Walker, who sank his former teammates with the basket at the buzzer.

Walker had a game-high 25 points while Detroit's Dave Bing had 22.

NBA results Saturday: New York 116, KC-Omaha 107; Detroit 99, Philadelphia 89; Chicago 104, Houston 100; Milwaukee 116, Atlanta 82; Phoenix 121, Boston 120; Capital 106, Golden State 93.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday it was: Kentucky 106, San Diego 101; San Antonio 85, Memphis 80; New York 129, Utah 109.

ABA results Saturday: New York 99, Carolina 95; Kentucky 120; Denver 114; San Antonio 92, Indiana 81; Utah 112, Virginia 102.

Nets Just Want To Get Into Game Flow

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP)—"We're not worried about scoring," said New York Nets Coach Kevin Loughery. "All we're interested in doing is getting into the flow of the game and then the points come."

And come they did Sunday night as the Nets humiliated the American Basketball Association's Western Division-leading Utah Stars 120-109.

"Earlier in the year when we were going bad, everybody knew we were going to try to get the ball to (Julius) Erving," said Bill Paultz, who led the Nets by scoring 26 points. "And we were turning it over before we got it to him.

Elsewhere in the ABA, the San Antonio Spurs defeated the Memphis Tams 85-80, and the Kentucky Colonels beat the San Diego Conquistadors 106-101.

The Nets took the lead at 3:31 of the first period on a jumper by Larry Kenon and never trailed again. New York erased a 16-10 deficit behind the shooting of John Williamson, who had 15 points in the first period, and grabbed a 29-26 lead. Williamson and Kenon had 23 points each. Jimmy Jones led Utah with 30 points and Zelmo Beaty contributed 20.

The loss snapped a five-game Utah winning streak. The Stars now have won eight of their past 10 games.

Burleson, Towe Have Good Games In Wolfpack Loss

By PAUL LeBAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"We got super games from Tommy Burleson and Monte Towe," a dumfounded Norm Sloan of North Carolina State declared Saturday, "and still we got beat.

"I just hope we're better than this," added Sloan, whose basketball team was dismantled 84-66 by the top-ranked UCLA Bruins, "but we'll just have to wait and see."

The 47-year-old Sloan, his team denied a chance to meet UCLA last season, was among 18,461 at the Arena who thought a 78-game Bruins streak might have reached an end against the second-ranked Wolfpack.

All-American Bill Walton started fast but was forced to the UCLA bench after committing a fourth personal foul with the game nine minutes old.

While the 6-foot-11 Walton was sidelined, UCLA lost a 15-40 lead and trailed at halftime by 33-32.

But the Bruins, with senior Keith Wilkes taking up the slack, forged in front early in the second half and clung to a 54-52 advantage when Walton re-entered.

North Carolina State reserve Steve Nuce struck from the baseline to tie, then Walton & Co. scored the next nine points and 19 of the next 21 to pull away.

"You could just see the different look on the UCLA players' faces when he came back," a dejected Sloan said in reference to Walton, who sat out 21 minutes.

"I can't really tell you why we fell apart then, we just did," added Sloan, whose Wolfpack had carried its own victory streak of 29.

Before the clash, UCLA Coach John Wooden, in his 26th season, decried the absence of "anything near the cohesion now that we had at the end of last season."

Afterward Wooden, who admitted "we're still trying to establish identity," was lavish in praise of the 6-foot-7 Wilkes.

"I've said all along he's truly an All-American," Wooden said in respect to Wilkes, who scored 27 points and limited North Carolina State's David Thompson to 17.

"I think he showed it today," Wooden added. "I'm especially happy for him, but the main thing is we held together in adversity."

Wooden, whose team eclipsed Maryland 65-64 two weeks earlier, declined to compare the Terrapins and North Carolina State as Atlantic Coast Conference rivals.

Our Problems Await Action

Eddie's sex promiscuity is spreading a venereal "cancer" throughout her entire suburban area. For gonorrhea is now of epidemic proportions! Yet our churches often ignore such vital "Home Missionary" problems as they focus on Wounded Knee uprisings and Hottentots!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE Y-596: Eddie J., aged 14, is already sexually promiscuous.

"Dr. Crane," a neighbor informed me, "Eddie's mother and father both work."

"And her mother doesn't get home till 6 o'clock in the afternoon."

"So Eddie now telephones boys, aged 13 to 15, and invites them over as soon as she gets home from school."

"She then entertains them till almost time for her mother to arrive; then shoos them out of the house so her mother will not know of their visits."

"Eddie is the aggressor in thus inviting boys and is spreading venereal disease in this area."

"For my husband is a physician and has seen her report of gonorrhea."

"Dr. Crane, why will mothers become so desirous of an extra pay check that they thus leave their children along after school hours?"

Modern Dilemmas
This tragic situation merits concerned discussion by all our church leaders.

For preachers often divert our attention to starving tribes in Africa or India.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many chances are present both today and tonight to work out whatever new situations you want to exist with others. Join forces in making cooperative plans for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Listen to associates' views more for a greater understanding between you. Show more devotion to kin. Avoid criticism that could lead to arguments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more modern in ideas and mode of operation for greater satisfaction all around. Gain cooperation of fellow workers. Avoid strife.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Getting into outlets with congenials that are mutually enjoyed is wise now as well as pleasurable. Accept worthwhile invitations. Do nothing drastic.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study your paper for good ideas to make your home and appearance more attractive. Entertain. Avoid one with chip on the shoulder.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Shop for items to make life easier, happier. Have long talks with associates that are helpful. Come to a true understanding with everyone, including mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Think in terms of greater abundance and improving position in life. Learn from those who are more efficient than you instead of criticizing them. Study reports.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forget dull routine and enjoy new social and fun circles for more interesting, profitable life. Stop feeling sorry for yourself. Be punctual.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Quietly get needed information at the right sources, then plan how to become more successful with the aid of allies. Enjoy unmitigated fun with mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Enjoy new social pleasures for a new slant on life. Make new friends who can be very helpful to you in the future. Think logically.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A new attitude and system can certainly make your business or personal life run more smoothly, profitably. Be capable, dependable. Be better informed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Look into new outlets that are interesting and find the one that is most profitable. Make a new acquaintance who can become a fine friend.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find a more modern system for handling all of your obligations; become a more efficient person. Modernizing your appearance also can be a big step forward.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be spoiled by others if you do not teach early to be independent — then the life can become successful because of the fine talents. Art, music, drama are especially favored. A philanthropist and innovator here during old age. Give proper education, stressing foreign languages.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Fast, Staccato Aural Confusion

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Excluding the efforts of disc jockeys and politicians, radio humor these days is as rare as an open gas station on Sunday. But there's always an exception.

A syndicated exception is the National Lampoon Comedy Hour, which kicked off in mid-November and now is creating aural confusion once a week on nearly 100 radio stations in the United States.

What prompted the show? "Greed," said Michael O'Donoghue, editor of National Lampoon magazine, a sharply satirical publication.

O'Donoghue, who serves as creative director of NL's radio proceedings and helps other staffers on the magazine write and perform the show, got serious for a moment.

"What started it for me was that I'd gotten a little tired of putting out a magazine for three years," he said. "I thought it'd be fun to do something different."

It turned out, he added, that this particular something caused a lot more work than envisioned, mainly because NL's troupe spends a lot of time dashing from studio to studio, recording in one, adding sound effects in another and editing it all in yet another.

"We're working 100-hour weeks," he groaned.

Fortunately, he said, Lampoon almost has finished building its own recording studio. When it's completed, the troupe will be able to tape and edit the whole show there and greatly translated into sound. "It's very fast and staccato, like a radio 'Laugh-In.' It's quite different in pace from the old style of radio. I've listened to that kind and it's really slow."

"I mean, Fibber McGee just walks around in his living room for five minutes."

O'Donoghue, 33, said three basic types of performers appear on the show—Lampoon writers and editors; specialists who do off-screen "voice-overs" for radio and TV commercials, and professional thespians, many drawn from Lampoon's hit off-Broadway show, "The Lemmings."

How's the main response to all the shows aired so far? "It's just begun," he said.

"We have one marriage proposal to Anne Beatts"—a regular on the show—"who is our token woman. That's it."

O'Donoghue said Lampoon plans doing 39 original Comedy Hours and 13 repeats compiled from this season's best shows.

Forty-six different models of cars are manufactured in Argentina by General Motors, Fiat, Ford, Citroen, Chrysler, Peugeot and Renault.

Cause Of Fire Not Yet Known

MOREHEAD CITY (AP)—The cause of a fire that destroyed a downtown Morehead City building Sunday morning was not immediately known.

Firemen were alerted to the blaze about 6 a.m. They succeeded in containing it, but could not extinguish the fire before the building was destroyed. A grocery store and a recreation center were housed in the building.

No damage estimate was available and no injuries were reported.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Farmers face a tough fight in dealing with the new Cylindrocladium black rot disease of peanuts, according to initial research findings.

Summarizing greenhouse studies conducted at North Carolina State University, Dr. R. C. Rowe, said:

—The farmer who has the disease on his land is in serious trouble. Fortunately, the disease, although widespread, is at this time localized in certain fields. Our main hope is to contain it until resistant varieties can be developed.

The new CBR disease, which is caused by a species of the fungus Cylindrocladium was found in one field in North Carolina in 1970, three fields in 1971 and more than 40 fields in all 12 peanut producing counties in 1972. Some 2,000 acres of peanuts were infected last year, of which about 600 acres were destroyed.

The mushrooming of CBR last summer prompted the Agricultural Experiment Station at NCSU to begin a number of studies, which so far indicate:

—that the fungus cannot be controlled by economic rates of any commonly used fungicides. Certain experimental, wide-spectrum biocides do show some promise. At present, however, chemical controls are unavailable for farmers with infested fields.

—that the fungus can survive in the soil for many years; perhaps, even decades. Therefore, the disease cannot be controlled through crop rotation.

—that the fungus can thrive on a wide range of hosts. Soybeans and tobacco are susceptible to the disease. The fungus will grow to some extent on the roots of cotton plants and may reduce plant vigor under certain conditions. Corn is not harmed by the fungus.

Dr. Rowe stressed that the host studies were conducted under greenhouse conditions. CBR infected cotton and tobacco have not as yet been seen under field conditions.

On the plus side, Dr. Rowe said that fifty types of peanuts have been screened and that a few of the Virginia and Spanish type peanuts show somewhat reduced susceptibility to the disease. Therefore, he believes that plant breeding may offer the best long-range solution to the problem.

Another encouraging factor is some evidence that the fungus has limited mobility.

Dr. Rowe and other scientists with the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station have extensive field studies this year in Martin and Northampton counties, and at the Horticultural Crops Research Station at Castle Hayne.

North Carolina is the nation's third largest peanut producing state. The crop grosses farmers about $50 million annually.

CBR disease of peanuts has also been found in Georgia and Virginia. A different species of the same fungus is currently doing great damage to yellow poplar seedlings in Western North Carolina.

Claims Getty Boy Never Saw Captors

ROME (AP) — The mother of J. Paul Getty III says her son was kept blindfolded during most of his five-month captivity and never saw the faces of any of his kidnapers.

Young Getty's mother, the former actress Gail Harris, spent all day Sunday with her son in the Rome clinic to which he was taken after he turned up early Saturday in southern Italy.

Police sources said the 17-year-old grandson of oil billionaire J. Paul Getty was under sedation at the clinic and was unable to give a coherent account of his long ordeal.

But two Rome newspapers said he told his mother he was conscious when his kidnapers were cutting of his right ear, which a Rome newspaper received on Nov. 10 as proof that the boy was being held.

knock me out, but I felt everything," Getty reportedly said. "It was terrible. But I will not get a plastic ear made. I don't want to forget this moment of my life."

Getty told police he was kidnaped in the Piazza Farnese, a hangout for hippies and drug dealers in the heart of Rome, during the night of July 10.

His family reportedly paid a ransom of $2.7 million for his release. A police patrol found him at a gasoline station near Lagonegro, 125 miles south of Naples, early Saturday.

"Every time we started talking of the kidnaping he would burst into tears," said a police spokesman.

The first ice cream factory was opened in Baltimore in 1851.

NORTH CAROLINA

NOTICE IS GIVEN OF A PUBLIC HEARING TO BE CONDUCTED BY THE NORTH CAROLINA SEDIMENTATION CONTROL COMMISSION AT THE PITT COUNTY COURTHOUSE, GREENVILLE, N. C. FEBRUARY 11, 1974 AT 6 P.M.

PURPOSE:

To obtain public comment on proposed rules and regulations for the control of accelerated erosion and sedimentation resulting from land-disturbing activities.

PROPOSED RULES AND REGULATIONS:

Rules and regulations implementing the Sedimentation Pollution Control Act of 1973 (G.S. 113A-Article 4), specifically G.S. 113A-54, are proposed for adoption by the Sedimentation Control Commission.

They apply to all persons engaged in land-disturbing activities and require planning and implementation of effective temporary and permanent control measures to prevent accelerated erosion and sedimentation.

INFORMATION: Copies of the proposed rules and regulations are available at the Department of Natural and Economic Resources, Office of Water and Air, 209 Contacte Street, Greenville, N. C. Copies may also be obtained from the Sedimentation Control Division, 112 W. Lane Street, Raleigh, N. C.

CONDUCT OF HEARING: Persons attending the hearing will register and indicate whether they wish to make a statement. Persons making statements will provide the Commission with at least one typed copy of their statement. To insure everyone is heard in a timely manner, verbal statements will be limited to fifteen minutes. The hearing record will remain open for thirty days following the hearing to permit the filing of written statements.

Declares Woman 'Fit' For Trial

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Philadelphia judge has declared fit for trial a woman who claimed she murdered and dismembered her father, then buried the remains in Florida.

The case came to light last September when Mrs. Carmelia Meglino Robbins of South Philadelphia, 27, allegedly told an Asheboro, N.C. sheriff that she cut up her father's body before driving it to Florida.

ATTENTION: All Tax Payers of Pitt County

Your attention is called to the fact that the Pitt County Tax Office will be closed after December 21, 1973 thru January 1, 1974, due to the "Energy Crisis."

Therefore to avoid interest and to insure prompt deposits of all checks, please have 1973 tax payments made to the Collector's Office by December 21, 1973. However, you may pay your taxes by check and interest will not be charged if your letter is post marked by December 31, 1973.

Eight Die In Crash Of Big Cargo Plane

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An official of a firm requested to carry out repairs on a cargo plane which plowed into a residential area says he notified the aircraft's owners the day before the accident that the work had not been done. Eight persons died in the crash.

Richard J. Sekman, owner of Sekman Aviation repair facilities, said H.B. Robinson, business agent for the firm owning the plane, had arranged for the craft to be kept at Sekman's repair facility at Miami International Airport.

Sekman said a pilot who flew the cargo plane a month ago had ordered extensive maintenance and repairs.

But Sekman said he made it clear to Robinson that because of manpower problems he had been unable to do the work before the plane left the Sekman repair hangar Friday.

Douglas Drifus, an investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board, said efforts to contact Robinson had been unsuccessful and that the FBI was seeking to find him so that he could be interviewed.

The plane, bound for Venezuela with 21,000 pounds of Christmas trees, crashed seconds after take off Saturday night. Among those killed were the three crew members and five residents of the residential section one mile east of the airport.

Sekman said it was possible that independent mechanics were hired to work on the aircraft during weekends while it was at the hangar. He said, however, that he and his employees never saw mechanics working on the plane.

Roy Jones, a weekend guard at the hangar, said some work was done on the plane by unidentified mechanics.

Jorge Areces of Sweetwater said Sunday he was secretary-treasurer of Aircraft Pool Leasing Inc., which was formed six months ago to purchase the 15-year-old Lockheed-Constellation plane from a Panamanian firm. Areces said he knew some repairs were needed on the plane and assumed they were completed before Saturday's fatal flight.

William Neckman, the company's president, said: "I just feel horrible about it (the crash). All the necessary information will be supplied later."

Eva Thomas, 59, said she was getting ready for bed when the plane slammed into the ground across the street.

"I had just reached for my nightgown when it sounded as if the whole world exploded," she said. "I looked out and saw a solid sheet of fire."

A 30-man federal investigation team planned to comb the block-long wreckage site today, searching for clues to the crash.

A recording of the crew's conversation with Miami International Airport gave no indication of the impending crash, officials said, although it did show that the takeoff was delayed 20 minutes while the crew worked on a plane door that would not close properly.

There also were reports the plane took off without receiving requested maintenance work.

Police identified the crewmen as pilot William Fox, 48, of Sacramento, Calif.; copilot Jesse Flanders, 30, and flight engineer Arthur Kimball, 59, both of Miami.

Victims on the ground included Vincente Iglesias, 41, his wife Maria, 38, and his mother, Theresa, 73.

Vincente's father, Manuel Iglesias, 83, was listed in critical condition with burns over 80 per cent of his body.

Manuel Querol, 63, and his wife Barbara, 60, also were killed when fire from the wreckage engulfed their home. Police said the two apparently tried to flee from the flames by running into a utility closet.

"We found them there embracing," said police Sgt. Doug Taggart. "They died in each other's arms."

Jose Garcia, his daughter and wife were across the street playing dominoes when the plane struck, hitting their house before plowing into the Iglesias and Querol homes.

Garcia said the elder Iglesias was sitting in a chair in the backyard when the plane crashed and did not get burned until he rushed inside to try to rescue his son. "Vincente was fighting and screaming, but the house kept falling in," said Garcia. "The old man tried to rescue him but couldn't. He caught fire himself. He sat down in the backyard and would not move."

Two young Iglesias boys — Jose, 12, and Vincente Jr., 13 — survived by jumping through a window blown out by the impact. They suffered only minor cuts and bruises and were later released to an uncle.

"They were such a close-knit family," Melvin added. "Vincente brought them over from Cuba four years ago on a freedom flight. He said he wanted to give them the opportunity that America offers."

N.C. Counts 14 Traffic Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend traffic accidents killed at least 14 people in North Carolina, the state Highway Patrol reports. The deaths pushed the state's road toll for this year to 1,798, which is 97 less than were killed in the corresponding period of last year.

Two Wilson men, 22-year-old Willie Earl Ward and 21-year-old Johnny Lee Jones, died when the car they were riding in went out of control and wrecked in Wilson, police said.

A 26-year-old Kinston man, William Hines Jr., was killed when the car in which he was riding ran off N.C. 97 near Leggett's in Edgecombe County and struck a tree.

Harold A. Sapp, 61, of Winston-Salem, was fatally injured in a two-car, head-on collision a half mile north of Winston-Salem on N.C. 150.

Julius J. Clark, 77, of Rt. 7, Morganton, was killed when the car in which he was a passenger was struck in the side by another vehicle on N.C. 18 two miles north of Morganton.

Hester Evans, 59, of Rt. 5,

Raleigh, was killed when his pickup truck ran off a rural road eight miles north of Raleigh and hit a tree, the patrol said.

Three of the weekend victims were pedestrians. Tammy Renae Lafone, 7, of Rt. 2, Hickory, was killed when she stepped into the path of a vehicle on a rural road north of Hickory, the patrol said. Foster Autry, 46, of High Point, was killed when struck by a vehicle at High Point. And, 20-year-old Patricia Fay Hannah of Rt. 3, Whiteville, died when she was struck on U.S. 701 near Whiteville.

Other weekend fatalities included Sherman Lacy Melvin, 37, of Clarkton; Ira Morris, 49, and Ruth Morris, 46, both of Atlantic; Ralph Penny of Durham; and Joseph S. Novak, 23, of Latrobe, Pa.

Post 39 To Hear Helms

A meeting of Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion will take place Tuesday, December 18 at 7:00 p.m. in the Legion Building on St. Andrews Street.

Dr. Marshall Helms, Emeritus Professor of Physics, East Carolina University will be guest speaker. Post Commander Owen Kingsbury states that following the dinner, Dr. Helms will present a program on life in Mexico and what the traveler in that country may expect. Dr. Helms, who taught physics for 25 years at ECU, has degrees from Duke, Columbia and New York Universities. He is married to the former Christine Wilton, who was a professor of Biology at ECU for 31 years.

The Helms' have traveled extensively in Mexico.

Post Adjutant Ernest Avery has announced that a final report is expected on the current year's operation of Pitt County Agricultural Fair.

All Legionnaires are urged to attend and to bring prospective new members.

Anniversary For Bangladesh

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — Bangladesh celebrated the second anniversary of its birth Sunday with a military display and a carnival in Dacca.

The government reported several bombings during the day and said they were the work of extremists attempting to sabotage the celebrations.

Bangladesh was born on Dec. 16, 1971, when Gen. A.A.K. Niazi of the Pakistani army surrendered 93,000 soldiers and civilians after two weeks of war with India.

Racing Car Ran Into The Crowd

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Eight persons were reported killed during an auto race when one of the cars crashed into the crowd.

Reports from Yaguacocho, 90 miles north of Quito, said a tire blew out on a car driven by Bradzo Vicich, a Peruvian contestant in a six-hour auto race Sunday.

It was not known if the driver was one of the casualties or how many persons were injured.

Sadat Laid Up By Bronchitis

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has been put to bed after an attack of bronchitis, local newspapers reported today. They said he is at his country home 17 miles north of Cairo and received President Sese Seko Mubutu of Zaire, who is visiting Egypt.
