

Living Costs Pushed Up By Food And Fuel

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Food and fuel prices drove the cost of living up sharply in November, the government said today in another grim inflation report.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Consumer Price index rose by eight-tenths of one per cent last month, matching the rise of October, as food prices surged again after a temporary tapering off.

Higher prices for gasoline, fuel oil, natural gas, electricity and coal were blamed for about a third of the over-all increase. Food prices, which leaped 1.4 per cent, accounted for another third of the big jump. Prices for commodities other than food and services also were up sharply, with nonfood commodities rising seven-tenths of one per cent and services up six-tenths of one per cent.

In the 12 months ending in November, the cost of living rose 8.4 per cent, the biggest 12-month increase since June 1951, the bureau said. Although the Arab oil cutoff may have had some impact on fuel prices, economists believe the biggest price effect of the cutoff will be reflected when December Cost of Living figures are released a month from now.

However, gasoline and oil prices jumped 4.5 per cent in November, the largest one-month increase in these commodities since September of 1962, when they also rose 4.5 per cent. Fuel-oil and coal prices jumped 10 per cent and gas and electricity costs, 1.2 per cent.

Most types of food bought in grocery stores, except for meats, poultry and eggs, were up over October. Prices of cereals and bakery products alone, rose five per cent.

The news was not only bad on the price front. The bureau said that real earnings figures, or earnings adjusted to subtract the effects of inflation, declined in November.

Real average weekly earnings dropped five-tenths of one per cent. Over the year as a whole, real average weekly earnings were down 1.9 per cent. The report was more bad news for the Nixon administration's inflation fighters, even though the administration is allowing fuel prices to go up to try to dampen consumption because of the shortage. The report showed that prices were rising in most other areas as well.

For instance, clothing prices were up more than usual for November. New car prices were up. The cost of medical care services increased, as did charges for most household services. Mortgage interest rates continued upward.

For those inclined to eat out, there was no relief, as prices of restaurant meals and snacks rose 1.4 per cent. The decline in prices of meats, poultry and egg prices was nine-tenths of one per cent, marking the third consecutive monthly decline in cost of these commodities.

The figures, adjusted for usual seasonal pricing patterns, mean that the Nixon administration is far from its original 1973 target of reducing consumer price increases to an annual rate of 2.5 per cent by the end of this year.

On an unadjusted basis, with no seasonal factors included, the cost of living rise for the last month was figured at seven-tenths of one per cent.

Closing 2 Days

The Daily Reflector will be closed Monday and Tuesday in observance of Christmas.

The newspaper will publish its regular Sunday morning edition as usual and will publish a Monday morning edition in place of the regular afternoon newspaper on Christmas Eve. Normal office hours and publication will resume December 26.

The Reflector news room will be open Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. and from 6 p.m. until 10 o'clock for the Sunday edition, and from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. on Sunday in preparation for Monday morning's edition.

If Not 'Voluntary' It'll Be Mandatory

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An official appeal to motorists to use only 10 gallons of gasoline per week could become mandatory if the emergency energy bill becomes law.

The measure, threatened by a presidential veto, would give President Nixon broad powers to limit energy use, including gas rationing.

However, the White House has indicated Nixon is prepared to veto the bill because Congress would have the power to repeal conservation measures, other than rationing, put into effect during the recess.

Energy chief William E. Simon said Thursday said the administration will make the 10-gallon limit on sales mandatory once Congress provides authorization.

He also said a decision will be made by New Year's Day on whether or not to ration gasoline. If it does come, the 10-gallons-per-week guideline could prove to be an appropriate standard, Simon said.

In other developments? —President Nixon indicated during a photo session that he may stay in Washington for the holidays to set an example. Photographers recording a Nixon-Simon meeting quoted the President as saying, "We're all going to stay up here and freeze. Someone has to set an example and I guess it's got to be me." But others present quoted the President as saying, "You guys can stay here and freeze."

—The administration and the Air Line Pilots Association disagreed sharply on whether the nation's airlines will be allotted enough fuel to avoid service cutbacks in January. A spokesman for the pilots said the administration had agreed to avoid scheduled 10 per cent cutbacks but administration spokesmen said no agreement had been reached.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, says conferees have run into a misunderstanding on excess-profits restrictions in the energy bill.

"I'm sure we can settle this thing in five minutes," Staggers said. But another member of the conference, Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, described the bill as "teetering on the brink" of collapse.

House and Senate leaders have said the energy bill is the major obstacle to be cleared before Congress can go home for Christmas.

For those inclined to eat out, there was no relief, as prices of restaurant meals and snacks rose 1.4 per cent. The decline in prices of meats, poultry and egg prices was nine-tenths of one per cent, marking the third consecutive monthly decline in cost of these commodities.

Saigon Expects No Help In Kissinger-Tho Parley

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese sources said today they see little chance that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho settled any major issues blocking peace in Vietnam at their meeting in Paris Thursday.

"Kissinger and Tho couldn't have achieved anything in a one-day meeting," said one source. He predicted the American secretary of state and the North Vietnamese Politburo member would meet again soon.

Kissinger said Tho conferred for nearly five hours and announced they would keep in touch for possible future meetings. They gave no further information.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese military command said the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong struggle for the Mekong Delta's rice harvest continued in a series of small-scale attacks.

The International Commission of Control and Supervision failed today to act on a request by the United States for an investigation of the attack Saturday on three unarmed helicopters.

The United States accused the Viet Cong of the ambush. The South Vietnamese helicopters were carrying an unarmed American team searching for the remains of a missing American helicopter crew.

Iranian Ambassador Assad K. Sadry, chairman for December of the ICCS, said the commission has not started a probe "because some delegations are still waiting for instructions from their governments due to the importance of the matter."

Other sources indicated the two Communist members, Hungary and Poland, were stalling the investigation. The fourth member is Indonesia.

In Cambodia, a battalion of government troops besieged in a cement factory built by Communist China near the southern coast fought off a night assault by Khmer Rouge insurgents, the Cambodian command reported. Military sources said government casualties were heavy.

The factory has been isolated since Dec. 6 when insurgents cut the road leading to it from the town of Kampot, 85 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Arabs And Israeli Meet At Geneva Peace Table

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The first Arab-Israeli peace conference in the 25-year existence of the Jewish state opened today with Henry A. Kissinger calling on the two sides "to break the shackles of the past and to create at last a new hope for the future."

Kissinger, the American secretary of state, spoke after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko accused Israel of creating an intolerable situation in the Middle East and warned that "the Arab cause" had the full support of the Soviet Union. Kissinger and Gromyko are the conference cochairmen.

The historic conference opened 40 minutes late with the chief antagonists, Israel and Egypt, at opposite sides of a seven-table circle. A television hookup carried the opening session to all West European countries, Israel, Romania, Algeria and Tunisia, and the highlights were taped for broadcast in Eastern Europe. "We do not embark on these talks with false expectations," said Kissinger. "In the months ahead we will know success and I dare say we will know deadlock and perhaps despair."

Eban was to speak at the afternoon session. Disputes over the seating arrangements and the order of speeches delayed the opening of the conference for 40 minutes. Israel objected to the unoccupied Syrian table serving as a "barrier" between the Jewish state and Jordan and Egypt. The tables were shifted so that the table was placed between the Soviet Union and Jordan.

After lunch, Eban told the conference the October war confirmed Israel's view that permanent boundaries must be negotiated with utmost precision and care.

"Peacemakers do not reconstruct vulnerable, inflammatory situations," he said. "They try to correct them. Therefore there cannot be a return to the former armistice lines of 1949-67, which proved to be inherently fragile and which served as a temptation to an aggressive design of encirclement and blockade from which Israel broke out in 1967 after weeks of solitude and peril."

But he added: "We are ready for a territorial compromise which would serve the legitimate interests of all signatory states."

The afternoon session adjourned after less than an hour, and the delegates planned to reconvene Saturday for a closed session.

Penalty Plans On Natural Gas Use Abandoned

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Utilities commission has changed its mind about penalizing natural gas users who do not cut their consumption by 15 per cent.

The commission postponed indefinitely Thursday its Dec. 5 order for penalties of up to five-times normal rates on the use of gas in excess of 85 per cent of last winter's.

The commission said voluntary cutbacks seems to have achieved the desired fuel economies so far this winter.

It cited in addition administrative difficulties it would have faced in putting the order into effect.

Ralph J. Nery, the commission's gas engineer, said it had proven difficult to devise a method for calculating quotas for customers who had not used gas last winter.

Other problems, he said, included the equity of distributing to interruptible users gas saved by firm users. Firm users are industrial customers who have no alternate supply of fuel. They contract with gas suppliers for a firm amount of gas. Interruptible users have alternative fuels and pay a lower gas rate, but their gas can be cut off in a shortage.

The Dec. 5 order would have meant that high-priced gas not used by firm users would have been available at lower rates for interruptible customers.

The commission directed Thursday that utilities file a plan for imposing a surcharge on interruptible rates to make up for lost revenues caused by conservation of fuel by firm users. The surcharges does not affect residential customers.

The list was affirmed after Bobby Matthews, of Morehead City, member of the State Secondary Roads Council from the Second Engineering Division, conferred with the Pitt County Board of Commissioners. All projects must have approval by the Council before they can be constructed.

Pitt has an allocation this year of $373,000 for secondary road construction.

Following is the list of Pitt projects for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974:

SR 1001—Widen existing 18' pavement to 24' and resurface 4.1 miles from SR 1417 to SR 1400, $114,400.

SR 1402—Grade, drain and stabilize, and replace bridge 1.1 miles from SR 1001 to SR 1401, $35,000.

SR 1506—Additional base and surface 0.4 miles from SR 1505 to Martin County Line, $9,000.

SR 1901—Grade, drain and surface 0.9 miles from SR 1149 to SR 1900, $40,000.

SR 1572—Grade, drain, and stabilize 1.3 miles from SR 1209 to NC 121, $49,900.

SR 1529—Widen existing 16' pavement to 22' and resurface 1.7 miles from NC 30 to SR 1590, $53,000.

Green has an allocation this year of $111,000 for secondary road construction, with a book balance of $2,203.50, but anticipated overruns on projects that had already been approved were estimated at $7,100, reducing the actual available funds to $106,103.50.

Following is the list of Greene projects for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974:

SR 1303—Widen existing 16' pavement to 20' and resurface 2.2 miles from SR 1303 to SR 1228, $64,800.

SR 1315—Grade, drain and pave 0.7 miles from NC 91 to SR 1314, $31,200.

For Some, A 'Shock' In Revaluation Of Property On Tax Books

For many people, the value of their property on the tax books this January will come as a severe shock, according to Pitt County Tax Supervisor Phillip Michaels, but he emphasized that the values would not necessarily mean an increase in taxes.

But, he emphasized, "in January of 1974, a new state law will go into effect requiring that all property, both real and personal, be valued at 100 per cent of its appraised value."

In the past, the Tax Supervisor explained, "each county was permitted under state law, to adopt its own 'assessment ration.' This meant each county would only use a percentage of the total appraised value in the county to calculate property taxes. "In Pitt County, the assessment ratio has been 50 per cent for a number of years," Michaels said, while in other counties the assessment ratio has varied from 30 per cent to 100 per cent of appraised value.

"Of course the amount of the assessment ratio in the county, or the amount of appraised value on a particular property does not answer the basic taxpayers question of 'What will my taxes be next year,'" Michaels suggested.

"Each county tax department in the state must determine the tax value in the county before the tax rate is set and the taxes on each piece of property can be calculated."

The first step in the process according to Michaels "is that every piece of real and personal property must be listed for taxes in January."

While the tax department is determining the total value of all the taxable property in the county, the County Commissioners study the level of service to be provided by the county and the cost of these services for the next year.

Michaels said "after arriving at a total budget needed to provide the desired level of services in the next budget year, the commissioners examine the total tax value in the county and determine what tax rate will be needed to produce the needed revenues. The whole process takes six months from the beginning of the property listing period in January to the moment when the tax rate is set by what the commissioners determine to be an appropriate budget level, not by what the total taxable value in the county is for any given year," Michaels continued.

In terms of the taxes for 1974, according to Michaels, "this means that if Pitt County remains at present budget levels the tax rate would be reduced by one-half, if the taxable value in the county doubles (by placing the property on the books at 100 per cent of value)."

The tax official said "the use of assessment ratios across the state has generally been of little use to the taxpayer. No matter what the assessment ratio has been, the amount of taxes is always determined by the tax rate. In general, the assessment ratios have been a hindrance to the taxpayer in trying to understand what amount he is being taxed on."

The State Legislature has made "a concerted effort," Michaels suggested, to make property taxes "more equitably applied to all property owners," and to make property taxes easier for the average taxpayer to understand.

"An end to assessment ratios will mean that the taxpayer will be able to find his taxable value more easily," Michaels emphasized.

Women's Actions Loudly Heard In Many Places During 1973

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Action spoke louder than words for many women during 1973.

Housewives marched out of the kitchen and onto picket lines at neighborhood markets. The women's movement lowered its voices and consolidated its gains. The Americas elected a woman vice president in Argentina. And tennis superstar Billie Jean King trounced Bobby Riggs in a match billed as "the battle of the sexes."

Consumer prices rose to dizzying heights during the year, climbing at the steepest rate since World War II. Angered by advice from Washington that families eat cheese — or just eat less — women carried picket signs at markets and rallied to boycott beef for one week in April.

During a subsequent administration freeze on beef prices, producers withheld meat from the markets. Prices dipped somewhat at the end of the freeze, but women had learned more about budget meals and were shunning the higher-priced cuts of beef.

Two national feminist organizations held conventions during 1973.

The National Women's Political Caucus met in Houston to tackle structural issues and elect its first national chairperson, Frances Parnthol, an experienced politician who ran strongly in the 1972 Texas governor's race. Two basic goals were set by the caucus: election and appointment of more women to public office and achievement through new legislation of other objectives focused largely on the needs of minorities and the poor.

The National Organization for Women (NOW) was more flamboyant during a convention in Washington, D.C. Controversial stands on abortion, pay scales and lesbianism were defended by leaders of the group, which said taking stands on issues made them less shocking to the general public.

Both groups vowed continued support for the Equal Rights Amendment, now ratified by 30 of the 38 states needed for approval. Opposition to the amendment was led by Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, who said women would become "equal if the amendment passed, rather than superior, as they now are."

This year marked the 53rd anniversary of women's suffrage. To mark that occasion, NOW protested male domination of Wall Street in the gallery of the American Stock Exchange.

Black women formed an organization of their own, the National Black Feminist Organization, which sponsored seminars and workshops.

The Supreme Court ruled that no state can deny a woman her right to choose childbirth or abortion, striking down laws of several states.

A Congressional committee held hearings on credit for women, led by Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich. The 52-year-old Women's Bureau of the U.S.

Christmas Dinner Meet Held By Pilots

The Christmas dinner meeting of the Pilot Club of Greenville, Inc. was served in the South Cafeteria on Wednesday evening.

Miss Margaret Register, chairman of Community Service, was in charge of the program. Miss Carol Brusewitz presented a flute solo, "What Child Is This?" and was accompanied by Mrs. Hila Johnson.

George Saad gave a resume of his trip to Lebanon and was assisted by Mrs. Saad.

Mrs. Sue Howell, president, welcomed guests and co-pilots. Guests present were Ms. Beth Brankin, Ms. Lisa Butts, Ms. Irene Glass, Thomas Butts, Rudy Cox, Harold Daniel, Preston Fileds, Waitus Howell, D.F. Johnson, Leslie Jones, George Mann, James Marlowe, Robert Smith, Robert Starling, Jessie Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. Saad, and Miss Brusewitz.

Christmas carols, led by Mrs. Doris Marlowe, were sung by the group.

Department of Labor began working closely with trade union women.

Dixie Lee Ray, first woman chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, reorganized her staff over objections from Congress and pushed through an independent division of reactor safety research within the commission.

Abroad, Pope Paul VI called for progressive equalization of the basic rights of men and women. He was addressing the Vatican's International Study Commission on Women in Society and Church. Fifteen members of the group are female.

Israeli women in khaki miniskirts were at the front lines in a new Middle East War, treating the wounded and operating switchboards. No women were in combat, but women reservists were called up for duty at auxiliary jobs. They monitored radar units, worked in offices and assisted in field hospitals.

Premier Golda Meir, leader of Israel's three and a half million citizens, visited the United States seeking continued support for her country, as well as traveling to Europe to seek aid.

Isabel Peron became the Americas' first woman vice president, elected along with her husband to rule in Argentina. Mrs. Peron presided over the senate and worked alongside her husband as well as working with trade unions and renewing Peron's good relationships with the poor.

In Britain, Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise Windsor was married to Capt. Mark Phillips of the Queen's Dragoon Guards, in a ceremony at Westminster

Abbey. Princess Anne and her commoner husband, who will teach next year at the British military academy, share interests in riding and horses. In September, the British government announced a plan outlawing discrimination against women in employment, promotion and equal opportunity.

The all male Grand Council of the Republic of San Marino, the world's oldest and smallest republic, adopted a law ending some traditional discrimination against women.

Women's arts groups in American and Europe expanded and opened special shows and exhibitions during the year, offering plans for promoting women in various arts fields.

Grifton News

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crabtree and sons, Doug and Scott, returned to their home in Rockville, Md., Monday after a weeks stay here.

Ensign and Mrs. Joe Hart returned to their home at Virginia Beach Sunday after spending a week here.

Mrs. Sam Nelson and Mrs. Ray McGolhon have returned from a weekend visit in Durham with Dr. and Mrs. Warner Burch Jr. and children.

Wake Forest University students here for holidays at their respective homes are Ann Denson, Robert Nelson, Stan Armstrong, and Elizabeth Watson.

In sports, Billie Jean King, the year's top woman athlete, undermined the vitamin industry and bolstered liberated women everywhere when she routed Bobby Riggs in a tennis match billed as the super bowl of the sexes. Riggs, 55-year-old sports hustler, took on women as well as women's tennis. He defeated Margaret Court on Mother's Day and said he would have Billie Jean in tears. Before 30,000 Houston Astrodome fans and millions of television viewers, the 29-year-old women's champion routed Riggs.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said she would donate the money she won from male congressional colleagues by betting on Billie Jean to the National Women's Political Caucus.

In other sports firsts, Suzy Chaffee, Tenley Albright and Mickey King, former American Olympics stars, were named to the board of directors of the U.S. Olympics Committee. It was the first time three women were on the board.

The Navy also graduated its first coeducational officers' training class at Newport, R. I. Female pilots began training at Eastern and American airlines, while another woman pilot was already flying for Frontier. Women joined national guard units and were directing traffic on city streets as police officers. For the first time, a woman ran for governor in New Jersey's primary elections. She lost.

Death came to several outstanding women this year. Among them was the first woman to serve in the United States Congress and the only representative to vote against the nation's entry into World Wars I and II. Jeannette Rankin, a lifelong pacifist, died in Carmel, Calif. She was 92. One

Miss Harris Honored At Bridal Shower

GRIFTON—Mrs. Roger Harris and Miss Valerie Harris entertained Miss Deborah Harris, bride-elect of Richard Parker, at a floating bridal shower Tuesday night.

Mrs. Harris greeted guests and presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Floyd Harris, Mrs. Howard Parker, mother of the bride-groom-elect, and Mrs. Herman Harris, grandmother of the honoree. Miss Harris was remembered with a white mum corsage and the others were given white carnation corsages.

The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth overlaid with white lace and centered with a silver bowl of red carnations flanked by red candles in the silver holders with red satin streamers.

Mrs. Bobby McLawhorn poured punch and Miss Valerie Harris served decorated bridal cake squares.

Mrs. Becky Jackson presided at the guest register and Mrs. Burgeon McLawhorn assisted in serving.

The gift table was covered with a green cloth adorned with a bride doll and green net Christmas tree.

Better See Lawyer For Common Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and my boy friend is 24. We're expecting a baby soon and are very happy. We are not married, but because we are not bound to each other by marriage—only because of our love and commitment to each other—we feel our relationship is stronger than one of legal ties.

Neither one of us wants to get married, but I am worried about the complications that could arise in the future. For instance, if one of us should die, since we are not legally married, wouldn't it be hard for the remaining one to obtain the belongings of the deceased partner? And if there were a separation, where would we stand? Also, would his Blue Cross and insurance cover me, too? Would our child be considered illegitimate?

If we stay together for seven years, we understand our union will be considered common-law. But what if it doesn't? Can you help me?

NEEDING INFO

DEAR NEEDING: You are asking some intelligent (and most timely) questions which only a lawyer can answer. I suggest you see one, and pay him for what he knows.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15, and I suppose you'd call her "normal," for today's world. Her language is atrocious, and her clothes are "stylishly disreputable," but she is a straight-A student and plays the clarinet in her high school band.

She has one strange hangup, which is why I am writing to you. We have two very old female boxers who sleep at the foot of her bed. Realizing that one day they will die, our daughter insists that when they do she wants to keep their ears! This isn't as far out as it sounds, considering she communicates well with animals and wild birds.

Should I try to discourage her from keeping the boxers' ears after they die?

PAPA BEAR

DEAR BEAR: How does she intend to "keep" the ears? [Pickled in formaldehyde? Cast in bronze?] If there are no laws prohibiting the keeping of pets' parts after they depart this life, what's the harm?

DEAR ABBY: My daughter in law did not acknowledge any of her wedding gifts and she has been married for more than six months. She says she is "sorry," but now it is too late to do anything about it.

I am terribly embarrassed because many of my good friends sent gifts. I don't know which direction to take. Should I, as a mother in law, interfere? I wouldn't mind helping her—or even writing them all myself, but I don't want to stir up trouble.

Please advise me.

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: I would tell my daughter in law that even tho it is very late, it is not TOO LATE to acknowledge her wedding gifts, and I would offer to help her. If she refuses, I would then write to those who sent her gifts out of friendship to me, apologize for her negligence, and thank them myself.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

December-May Wedding No Rarity

By HELEN HUMRICHOUER

CLEVELAND (AP) — Remember the roar across the land when America's Sweetheart, Mary Pickford, married Buddy Rogers, a man 11 years younger than she?

Even those who have forgotten the name of the President in 1937 probably will recall that event.

Since 1796 — when Napoleon married Josephine, a woman six years his senior — to the current-day alliances of Merle Oberon, 56, with Robert Wolders, 37, and Dinah Shore, 53, with Burt Reynolds, 38, mankind has expressed surprise, interest and, often, disapproval at such matches.

It has been customary for a man to be older than his bride and, sensible or not, society has expected people to comply.

Today is different. Public figures involved are being quite open about their December-May arrangements.

Celebrities included in a recent rash of weddings and affairs, in which the woman is older, have differed from counterparts of the past notably in the sense of liberation; they are quick to admit the relationship and they speak with candor.

Actress Ursula Andress, 37, is reported to have explained her involvement with married Ryan O'Neal, 32, with the comment, "When you are in love, you are in love. That's all that matters."

Sam Warner Hiatt, of the Warner Bros. Studio family, is nine years younger than singer-comedienne Kaye Stevens, the woman he says he loves.

"The difference in our ages doesn't bother me a bit...She's really the prime force in my life."

Dinah Shore and Burt Reynolds said, "We knew from the first day we met." He added that he had to fight his way through 40 men to get to Dinah.

"The magic of our love is that there isn't a girl alive who wouldn't want him," she said, and he reciprocated: "There isn't a man alive who wouldn't want her."

Other examples include the May wedding of Odile Rodin, 36, widow of the late playboy Porfirio Rubirosa, to Paulo Roberto Marinho, 22; Sybil Burton's marriage in 1965 to Jordan Christopher, 12 years her junior; and the late Alexandros Onassis' love affair with older British model, Fiona Von Thyssen, for whom various ages have been reported with up to 25 years difference.

Without doubt, women's lib and the human behavioral experts who have been quoted as saying, "It is better for women to marry younger men," have reinforced their decisions and enhanced their freedom in publicly expressing their feelings.

And it is great publicity. But what about the average citizen who has no need of publicity?

Do women marry younger men, some so much so that it would be a mother-son relationship?

Perusal of marriage applications filed in Cuyahoga County showed that the December-May situation is much more common than most people believe, especially in the category of one-to-eight years differential:

Out of 2,400 marriage applications, chosen at random earlier this year, 350 women were one to eight years older; 22, nine to 20 years older.

The same check of 1,800 marriage records of five to six years ago showed 167 women in the one-to-eight-years older bracket and 17 with nine to 14 years difference. None were higher in that sampling.

Not one of the interviewed couples lied about age, at least not to each other, they reported. But many were reluctant to talk to a reporter unless granted anonymity.

The degree of reticence increased with the age-difference span to the point that those with the larger differences usually had unlisted telephone numbers.

But some couples were vocal about the age question:

"Age is a state of mind."
"Age has nothing to do with it: if it's there, it's there...if not, age won't make any difference."

"Age has been a fallacy all these years."

"We're far too much an age-conscious society."

To a couple, the maturity of the men and the youthfulness of the women were cited as contributing factors to the relationship.

Mrs. Gerald Clark, who describes herself as "a little, bity lady and even a grandmother," says that she was self-conscious about the 10-year age difference between her and her 6-foot, 200-pound husband until she realized "the 26-year-old is much more mature than the 40-year old I lived with for 13 years."

Professionals indicated the same "maturity-youthfulness" responses in counseling with similar couples.

"Women tell me these men in their early 20s are so mature, and I don't understand it," reported Dr. Margaret Golton, a clinical social worker who has been in private practice for 12 years and has had 25 years of agency background.

"My guess is — and this is just an impression — that the women in a sense are nurturing the men to greater sexual adequacy."

But Dr. Golton agrees that the value placed on age has not been valid. She says changes may come to eliminate chronological age as a factor in marriage.

BANANA BREAD
Citrus rind adds piquancy.
2 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
Grated rind of 1 orange and 1 lemon
1 egg
1 and 1-3rd cups finely mashed ripe banana,
4 medium
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Stir together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and grated rind; beat in egg. Add flour mixture and banana; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened; stir in nuts. Turn into a greased 9 by 5 inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 55 minutes. Turn out on wire rack and cool. Wrap tightly in plastic film and let stand several hours or overnight before serving to soften crust.

ORANGE CHOCOLATE CAKE
Chocolate cake batter
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
½ cup finely cut dates
½ cup finely chopped pecans
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup sugar

To chocolate cake batter, made from a mix or from scratch to fit a 9-inch square cake pan, add 1 teaspoon of the orange rind, the dates and nuts; bake and turn out. Stir together the remaining 1 teaspoon orange rind, orange juice and sugar; pour over hot cake. Serve warm or cold; delicious topped with whipped cream.

Local Secretaries Meet Tuesday

The Greenville Chapter of the National Secretaries Association International held its December meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. Joyce Mills, in Winterville, Tuesday night.

A short business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Mills. The Civic and Social Committee reported that the Christmas project had been finished, the collection and delivery of food to two families.

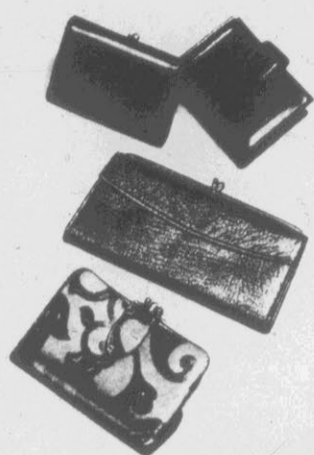

Following the business session, refreshments and a social hour were held.

Check household faucets. A slow drip at one faucet wastes 15 gallons of water per day.

Ervin Leaves Shining Example

A real giant in North Carolina and national politics is stepping down.

Sen. Sam Ervin announced Thursday that he will not be a candidate for re-election next year to another six year term.

As always, this great man was entirely candid and honest with the folks back home.

"If I should seek re-election in 1974, I would be asking North Carolinians to return me to the Senate for a term which would extend beyond the 84th anniversary of my birth.

"Since time takes a constantly accelerating toll of those of us who live many years, it is simply not reasonable for me to assume that my eye will remain undimmed and my natural force stay unabated for so long a time."

Despite the fact that he has attained great national prominence as chairman of the Watergate committee, Sen. Sam reserved his announcement for North Carolina reporters in his Senate office. That is so characteristic of him, too.

Like most Southern politicians of the 1950s and 1960s, Sen. Sam had to face the problems of representing areas where segregation was a way of life at a time when the national mood was to bring it to an end. Consequently during those years he did not exactly score high marks with Northern liberals.

With the coming of the Watergate hearings, however, and Sen. Sam's forthright handling of the events, he became the darling of the intelligentsia and virtual Sen. Sam cults have sprung up all over the nation.

An analysis of the senator's thinking, though, shows he has been devoted to the Constitution throughout his life. He believes it means what it says and every right that it guarantees should be assured to every American. If everyone in government were as fiercely devoted to that document as Sen. Sam, our freedoms would not so frequently be trampled.

"My good wife—she's been wanting for a long time to go back to Morganton and resume living with the people who have known us the best and loved us the most," Sen. Sam said in making his announcement. "And resume looking at the indescribable glory of the sunset behind Table Rock and Hawk's Bill Mountain."

In this time of national scandal, Sen. Sam will leave something in Washington that can serve future politicians well. He leaves a shining example of integrity and fierce attachment to the principles of our Constitution which hopefully can lead us out of the horrors of Watergate.

For that, he and his wife so richly deserve that peaceful retirement in Morganton and their beloved North Carolina.

Road Program Taking Bumps

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—All is not easy riding for the state's new seven-year road program or the secondary road allocation system.

But neither did highway officials expect 100 per cent happiness across the state.

But the key position adopted by the Department of Transportation in the matter is that for the first time people can take a long, hard look at what is available, priorities for spending and plan ahead over a period of years.

"Reaction has been good to mixed. Obviously, there are some people who didn't get projects they feel like they had been promised and there are people who must continue to look after their own local interests.

"But, we are forced to look at the total program in the context of what is there, and those local interests will just have to bite the bullet and live with it," said Ted Harrison, public affairs spokesman for the Department of Transportation.

"Everybody wants more than we've got...or more than we can give," he added.

Bitter Exchange

While a number of people would just as soon the highway program had not been set up as it has in setting priorities for both primary and secondary road work, the bitterest exchange to date has come from Rutherford County.

Not only did Rutherford County find itself left out of the road program rather extensively, but two veteran highway employees were fired in Secretary Bruce Lentz's shakeup of the department.

That county's board of commissioners protested the situation, and was represented in an exchange of letters with Lentz by the county attorney, Robert A. Jones of Forest City, who also happens to be a veteran member of the General Assembly and chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Rutherford had wanted a major connector to run from the Forest City and Rutherford area southwest to connect to Interstate-26 providing what Jones describes as a four-lane link from Asheville and western mountain areas into U.S. 74 running east, and moving closer to that long-desired four-lane road from mountain to sea across North Carolina.

That project was put on a back burner, a substitute upgrading of N.C. 108 from Rutherford to Columbus in Polk County with a 1980 state date put in, and one other resurfacing project listed in the seven-year plan.

That, in Jones' view, amounts to practically nothing for Rutherford County.

Name Was Wrong

And in a protest to Lentz, Jones added fuel to his attack by noting that the Department of Transportation report had labeled Rutherford County "Rutherfordton" County. That shows, he argued, that people in Raleigh didn't even know here the county is. Lentz responded to Jones' letter, and sent copies to newspapers in that area.

Lentz argued that the proposed road would replace both N.C. 108 and U.S. 74 as they link with Interstate-26 at Columbus, but has to wait until plans firm up for a lake in that area.

And in a letter to S. B. Tanner, chairman of the Rutherford County Board of Commissioners, Lentz said the personnel changes made were the result of "one or more" of the following: inability to handle job; strictly political placement; misuse of equipment; forcing other employees to do personal labor on state time.

All of which prompted Jones to fire back another letter, this time calling attention to Lentz' use of a state helicopter to fly to a Nixon rally this fall.

"You violated two of your four reasons for firing other people, and seriously strained the other two reasons," Jones argued. "Possibly some of those men that you fired might be happy to reimburse the state for their misuse of equipment in order to have their livelihood restored to them."

Used In Firings

Lentz also used the helicopter in delivering word of the firings to a number of personnel, an act which highway officials defend as a humane gesture in personally talking with people rather than simply sending word.

Jones, however, rejects that use of the helicopter, as well as its use to fly to a political meeting.

"I for one intend to do all that I can to change this," Jones said, and plans to introduce a bill in the General Assembly which would allow use of state helicopters only for official travel by the governor when speed is imperative, for emergency medical transportation, for search and rescue missions, and for law enforcement or similar missions.

Democrats Are Out For Blood

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Behind the historic struggle over impeachment procedures between Democrats and Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee looms a massive Democratic assault against President Nixon certain to deepen his present miseries.

Republicans in both the White House and Congress see the slowly forming impeachment investigation by the Judiciary Committee as not only posing the sternest threat yet to Mr. Nixon but also dooming meager Republican election prospects in 1974. "These are not Sam Ervins—not Southern gentlemen—the White House is coming up against," one Republican member of the committee predicts. "These guys are out for blood."

Substantiating this Republican fear is the closing of the gap over impeachment politics between fire-eating junior Democratic Congressmen who abound on the Judiciary Committee and the party's leadership in the House. Both leaders and fire-eaters now agree on this strategy: delay a vote until a long hard investigation generates nationwide impeachment sentiment, probably next summer at the earliest.

The reason for delay stems from current facts of life on the Judiciary Committee. Even if all 21 Democrats were to vote for impeachment (most unlikely), it is doubtful that any of the 17 Republicans would join them. The White House has doubts about only one Republican, Rep. William S. Cohen, a first-term liberal from Maine. But not even Cohen would vote for a bill of impeachment today.

Accordingly, an impeachment vote in the Judiciary Committee today would be a party-line affair, saddling the Democrats with the stigma of political vendetta against the President.

Their leaders, Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Majority Leader Thomas O. (Tip) O'Neill of Massachusetts, have always avoided such a catastrophe. What's significant is that many fire-eaters, formerly determined on immediate action against Mr. Nixon, now agree.

A case in point is Rep. Jerome Waldie of California, an early impeachment advocate and a leader of the fire-eaters. Waldie now rules out Republican support for impeachment until the public demands it. The public will not demand it until the committee's investigation spreads evidence before it, he feels, and that will take many months.

While the fire-eaters thus subdue their zeal, old-line Democratic leaders have hardened their own determination to pursue the President. Indeed, this determination took wing only after Gerald Ford was confirmed as Vice President, restoring a legitimate Republican succession.

The rudest shock was the vote of Rep. Peter Rodino, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, against Ford's confirmation. Republicans until then had regarded Rodino, a product of New Jersey machine politics, as one of the boys who would move with cautious restraint. His vote against Ford, dictated not little by Rodino's increasingly black constituency, has convinced the Republicans they can expect no quarter from him.

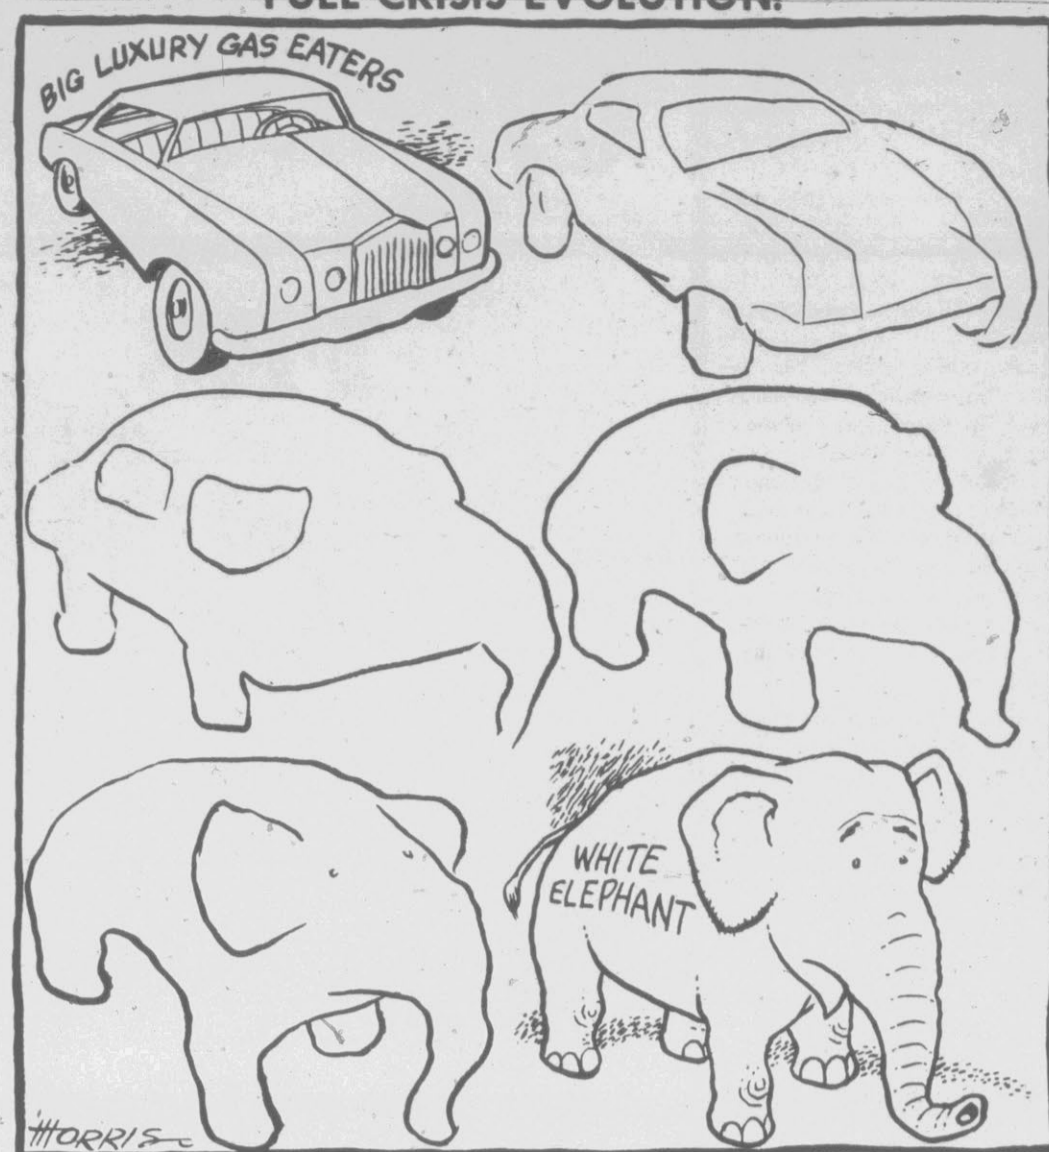

Moreover, Albert and O'Neill have taken an increasingly tough line against the President in private conversation. Albert's all-out sponsorship of the $1 million to finance the impeachment investigation reveals his inner strategy.

Against the newly united Democrats, the White House is urging House Republicans to protest impeachment delays and demand an immediate vote. Republican leaders are studying the possibility of bringing Mr. Nixon's impeachment to the floor as a constitutionally privileged motion.

But Judiciary Committee Republicans do not seem well equipped to compete with the

We Must Declare War

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—"It won't work," Wanamaker said on the bus last night.

"What won't work?"

"You can't make people sacrifice gasoline, heating and everything that goes with it without declaring war."

"Are you crazy or something?" I asked.

"You're not asking the United States to go to war?"

"I said 'DECLARE WAR,' not go to war. We have to make the people believe we're at war before they would go along willingly with the harsh measures the government is laying on them."

"How can you declare war and not go to war?" I asked him.

"It's easy. We went to war in Indochina without declaring it. This time we can declare it but not go to war."

"Wanamaker, are you suggesting we declare war against Indochina?"

"Hell no, that would never fly. No one would give up anything if we declared war there. We have to declare war against a country that everyone hates and that is trying to screw us all the time."

"What country do you have in mind?"

"France," Wanamaker said.

"You want us to declare war on France?" I asked in amazement.

"It's the only country I can think of that Americans would be willing to drive 50 miles an hour to defeat."

Other Editors Say Price Of Office

(Henderson Dispatch)

President Nixon has been hounded and harassed about his personal affairs to the point that he has made public his personal financial affairs. His detractors have been attempting to show irregularities in payment of income taxes over the period since he became President. They succeeded in smoking him out to the point where he has issued a public statement as to his personal finances.

Last week, Senator Ervin as chairman and Senator Lowell P. Weicker, Jr., Republican-Connecticut, a member of the Senate Watergate investigating panel, publicly issued statements baring their incomes and tax returns for last year.

One wonders if this is to become the price of holding high public office in this country. No one has questioned the senators, who jumped the gun on possible challenges from the White House. But if the requirement is to be justified as policy, every senator and every representative would have to reveal details of their personal affairs.

A man's individual concerns are private possessions, unless criminal action is found. This has not been proved as to the President or the two senators. But if public sentiment requires this revelation, it should apply to all alike. And if Federal officeholders are to be singled out, the pattern may reach down to governors and officials of the States, and after that those who seek office locally.

If a man cannot be trusted as to his private affairs he should not be entrusted with public business. An individual's integrity should be such that he would not be compelled to reveal all his private possessions. Probability is that there will be good and honest men who would refuse office for which they are qualified if in order to accept service they must tell everything. The trend could carry to the point of the private citizen, opening his tax returns and other matters to public scrutiny.

When government reaches that status, the question of constitutional protection of the individual is questioned. After all, there is such a thing as privacy.

Are We Receiving Better Care?

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In 1946 the expense to a community hospital for caring for one patient for one day was $9.39, according to the American Hospital Association. In 1972 the expense was $105.09.

In the past decade alone hospital charges have doubled, to the confusion of those who have been taught that greater volume results in lower unit prices. Admissions during that period rose to 32.5 million from 26.5 million.

Resigned to higher costs, the public at least has the assurance that it is getting better care. Or is it? In 1962 the expectation of life at birth in the United States was 70 years. Now it is 71.1 years, and barely rising.

What is happening to the money? Where are the results? Is it true we are obtaining better health care?

In the 1960s, concedes John Alexander McMahon, president of the American Hospital Association, there were indeed some poor business attitudes and wasteful practices as the industry sought to vastly broaden its facilities.

Hospital officials now realize there was considerable duplication of services and overbuilding. The cost factor was relegated to an inferior position. Good health, so went the rationale, had no price.

Now, said McMahon, the rise in costs is slowing. Efficiency and cost controls have been given higher priorities. Business techniques have been imported from other industries, along with highly trained personnel. Some insurers are exerting pressure to eliminate useless procedures.

Complications for the first nine months of the year show that hospital charges rose only 2.6 per cent, compared to some measures of inflation that were three times that rate.

Some surgical cases are in and out of the hospital in one day. Appendectomy patients are discharged and back at work in a week. In some areas the patient remains at home and the hospital comes to him.

That offers hope. But what about those big price increases that occurred in the past?

Says McMahon, "We'd like people to look at the hospital situation as they would another industry." This is his breakdown of the increase:

1. Inflation itself, the same malady that drove up prices throughout the economy, accounted for 50 per cent of the increase.
2. New facilities and services added 25 per cent.
3. An increase in the "intensity" of services accounted for 25 per cent.

What does the latter mean? For one thing that more than half the nation's 7,000 hospitals now are equipped with intensive care units that were available to only 7 per cent of all hospitals in 1960.

Why, then, isn't life expectancy rising, or in fact, even being maintained at a level equal to that of some European countries?

"I wish we knew," McMahon replied. "Perhaps," he ventured, "it's the pressure on people." The

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Science has raised the question as to the possibility that hangovers may result from a combination of too much drinking and too little dreaming. It has been found that an excess of alcohol reduces the amount of normal dreaming time. Sleep, without dreams often causes the victim to wake up tense and irritable.

The sloth eats, sleeps and even gives birth while hanging upside down in trees with its four paws. As a result of this unusual posture, its hair grows from its belly toward its back, and not from the back to the belly as in most animals.

The human population explosion in the last few hundred years has been accompanied by the destruction of many other forms of life. Since 1600 some 225 species and subspecies of birds and mammals have been wiped from the earth, never to be seen again. Another 900 species are now listed by scientists, as in serious danger of extinction. Mankind has yet to learn to live and let live.

40 Years Ago Today

By SUSAN PRICE

December 21, 1933

People are so busy in and around Greenville they don't have time to be mean.

At least that's the way officers of the law look at it today after going through half of the week with only a minor arrest or so.

George Clark, chief of police, said this morning that his men had not made a single arrest of any importance since the latter part of last week and that things were quieter than any preholiday period in his memory.

There may be plenty of liquor in the community but people aren't drinking it excessively and drunkenness, the police head said, has been lacking for some time.

A barn on Harvey's dairy farm on the outskirts of the city was destroyed by fire early last night, entailing a loss estimated at $2,500. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The structure housed twenty-five tons of hay, forty barrels of corn and harnesses. The contents were a total loss. The building was used for housing mules as well as a storage place for feedstuff.

The origin of the blaze was not determined.

Strength For Today

SHOULD THE FUTURE BE HIDDEN?

From time to time many of us wish that we had the ability to peer into and predict the future. We assure ourselves that if we could do so, we could prepare ourselves to meet situations which now, because of our lack of foreknowledge, can be overwhelming.

But would we really be happier if we could see into the future? Supposing we knew not only the day upon which we would die but all the circumstances surrounding that grim moment. Would not every day between the disclosure of these events and the day on which they were to happen be filled with anxiety? And what of other misfortunes which we would have no power to avert? Would it be helpful to know about them in advance?

No, we would not be happier if we could look into the future. One of God's most merciful provisions is that He hides the future from us. We are supposed to live our lives day by day confident that with God's help we will be able to surmount whatever trouble each day brings.

GM Recalling Cars, Trucks

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is recalling more than 780,000 of their 1974 model cars and trucks because of a defect in the front suspension systems that could cause a steering pull to one side.

GM said Thursday the recall is its largest such campaign in two years.

In December 1971, GM called back 6.9 million vehicles for possibly defective engine mounts.

The latest defect was made public Tuesday by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, but GM denied his charges that it had delayed unnecessarily in reporting the safety-related defect.

The problem involves the system's upper control arm assembly in most large-sized Chevrolet, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac models.

GM said some of the nuts holding the control arm inner bushing in place on the cars could work loose and come off after a car has been driven "for some time."

If the control arm is about to fall, GM said, there is often a tell-tale squeak or rattling noise when the brakes are applied. And a steering pull to the right or the left would result if the arm were to break, GM said.

The defective nuts can be replaced by any GM dealer, at no cost to car owners, after supplies are made available in mid-January.

The cars subject to recall are most intermediate and large sized autos built before the last week in October. Also involved are Chevrolet El Camino and GMC Sprint model pick-up trucks, vehicles built on an intermediate-size passenger car chassis.

"We could have Bob Hope head up a bond drive," I said.

"Raquel Welch could start a State Door Canteen," Wanamaker said.

"Once the energy crisis is over and everyone feels they've done their part to defeat the French," Wanamaker added, "then we could declare peace."

"With honor, of course," I said.

"Of course we'll have to rebuild France after the war," Wanamaker said.

"But you said we aren't going to do anything to them except declare war. Why should we rebuild France if we haven't hurt it?"

Democrats for public opinion. The committee's senior Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson, is an old-fashioned Michigan conservative who shies away from television exposure. The committee's most forceful Republican, Rep. Tom Railsback of Illinois, ranks fifth in seniority, and his aggressiveness is resented by senior colleagues (including second-ranking Rep. Robert McClory, a fellow Illinoisan).

Far more important, committee Republicans are by no means irrevocably committed to the President's defense. Many fear a midterm election debacle with Mr. Nixon in the White House. ("He's queering my reelection," grumbles one senior Republican on the committee.) Conservative committee Republicans say privately they will vote a bill of impeachment if it is supported by the evidence.

As with so much else in the bottomless Watergate pit, Mr. Nixon and the White House seem helpless in any effort to control, impede or stop the kind of proceeding now being planned by the House Judiciary Committee. It could lead to the worst menace he has yet faced.

power never ceases. It took 61 million pounds of dynamite to blast the Panama Canal earlier in this century. To an atomic scientist today this expenditure of power would represent only a minor explosion.

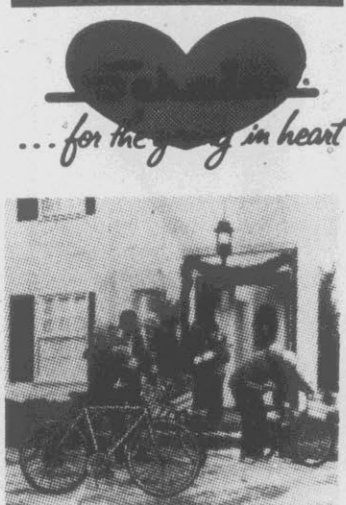

Quotable notables: "Everybody is ignorant—only on different subjects."—Will Rogers.

Sweeter than featherbeds: life is no bed of roses to most of us. But the phrase "bed of roses" is of literal not fanciful origin. Some Roman emperors and royal personages of other ancient lands sometimes slept on mattresses stuffed with rose petals, just as ladies at court fetes in the palmy years of France's Versailles Palace wore gowns made of thousands of flower petals sewn together.

On two wheels: The current gasoline shortage will create no new transportation crisis in Far Eastern countries such as China, where the masses depend on two rather than four wheels to get about. For example, Peking alone has a million bicycles, the National Geographic Society estimates.

Precious flow: The water we waste in this country would be worth a king's ransom in tiny Israel. Their land is so arid that the Israelis use 90 per cent of their water production for irrigation—a rate higher than that of any other nation.

It was Jonathan Swift who observed that, "The longer we live the more we should be convinced that it is reasonable to love God and despise man."

Energy-Minded Buyers Change Their Christmas-Gift Trend

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer
Energy-minded shoppers are buying more practical gifts this Christmas — even if they won't fit in a stocking or under a tree, report some of the nation's leading department stores.

An Associated Press survey of department stores in nine cities showed sales were healthy. But tight fuel supplies and lower living room temperatures have spurred some changes in buying habits.

At Montgomery Ward's in Chicago, Vice President James Lutz said:

"Sales of wood-burning fireplaces, portable heaters, storm windows, power saws, axes, locking gas caps, gas cans and siphons have shown a particular increase in popularity, primarily due to the energy crisis," he said.

"Perhaps the greatest impact has been felt in clothing departments.

"There is an indication that a greater emphasis is being placed by shoppers on buying of wearing apparel, such as children's flannel pajamas and men's thermal underwear," said a Gimbels' spokesman in New York City.

L.L. Bean's Inc. in Freeport, Maine, specializes in heavy winter clothing and store officials report sales are booming.

"We're having an awful time keeping flannel pajamas in stock," said night manager John Chaney. "And for some reason, goose-down jackets are doing real well."

"Sales of sweaters and robes — anything in that warm clothing category — are far in excess of last year," said a Jordan Marsh spokesman in Boston.

"Apparently because of the energy crisis, people are buying more practical gifts."

"There's been a switch in emphasis toward sportswear for men and women and a little less interest in more dresser styles," said Edward Kaiser, president of Titcher's in Dallas.

The Los Angeles-based

Broadway chain reported a sales increase in fake and fur coats which a spokesman attributed to the desire to stay warm and save energy at the same time.

Space heaters, microwave ovens and electric blankets are also cited as big money-makers this season.

At the same time some stores were prospering, gasless Sundays have meant shopper-less days for others, especially those in downtown areas.

In Washington, D.C., a spokesman for Woodward & Lothrop said there was a marked drop in the number of shoppers on Sunday since gasoline stations began closing to conserve fuel on Dec. 2.

Shoppers got off to a slow start this year but stores report spending has been picking up as Christmas draws near.

"We are experiencing no resistance to expensive items and we are doing a strong business," said Kaiser of Titcher's. Edward S. Donnell, president of Ward's in Chicago, said in a recent speech that the energy crisis will "affect patterns of buying rather than levels of spending."

"The gasoline shortage, in some ways, helps our business. Smaller car demands will reduce steel requirements in that industry and will help the appliance industry."

A Record Catch Of King Crab

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — Fishermen caught a record 27 million pounds of King crab in the Bering Sea in 1973. The catch was more than 5 million pounds greater than the 1972 harvest.

The crabs were worth almost $16 million to the fishermen who used 65 boats in the fishery.

Bering Sea Fishermen also landed about 300,000 pounds of tanner crab.

Centenarian Couple Is Serving Cake To Guests

SEATTLE (AP) — Laura Green is 100 today, and she's having the family in for cake. Among the joiners will be her husband of 72 years, Joshua Sr. He's 104.

"Missy," as he calls her, and "Mr. Green," as she calls him, are so much of a rarity that a mathematician says there couldn't be more than six other couples in the country who both are 100.

Today's milestone, expected to be attended by the couple's son and two daughters, will be observed in the Greens' Seattle home, where they still live with the aid of nurses.

In their younger days, the Greens, who were married in their home state of Mississippi on April 24, 1901, were not unlike many other American couples. He made the money and pretty much decided how it would be spent, Joshua Green Jr., the couple's son, recalls.

Green Jr. says his mother was "an energetic sparkling woman, very pretty but strong. She had to be strong to deal with dad."

Green Sr. made his money in the years just before and after the turn of the century when he worked as a purser on a steamboat.

He saved his money as a purser, then bought the boat. He later formed a trading and navigation company and made a comfortable fortune. He sold the company in 1926 to retire.

But he bought a small bank, the Peoples Savings Bank in Seattle, to keep busy. It became Peoples National Bank, and Green Sr. is still honorary chairman of the board. Green Jr. is the active chairman.

Green Jr. says probably the most exasperating incident for his mother occurred when crows used to wake the family early in the morning at their home at nearby Bainbridge Island. "Mother wore earplugs and slept through it but Dad wouldn't use them. So one morning he got his 12-gauge shotgun, opened the bedroom window, stood back in the middle of the room so he wouldn't waken the neighbors and pulled the trigger.

"Mother was sound asleep and it almost blew her out of bed. She got dressed and went to town and we kids had to go to town and persuade her to come back."

Two Bombs For London

LONDON (AP) — Two bombs exploded outside the Hilton Hotel shortly after midnight following a day of bomb scares that kept the city jumpy.

Hundreds of guests were dancing inside the hotel at Christmas parties, but the streets of the chic Mayfair section were empty because of driving rain. Hotel employees said damage was light and no one was injured.

One bomb was left in a package near the main entrance and the other in or near an automobile parked behind the hotel.

The bombs were blamed on the Irish Republican Army.

Meanwhile, a high explosive bomb was defused Thursday in the French Embassy, postal authorities in Maidenhead, Berkshire, found more than 30 letter bombs, and another dozen letter bombs addressed to Britain or Northern Ireland were intercepted in Dublin.

In Northern Ireland, a 22-year-old bank teller was shot and killed in North Belfast during the evening rush hour Thursday. His was the 922nd confirmed fatality in the communal war in the province since August 1969.

Also on Thursday, a 500-pound bomb destroyed three stores in central Belfast, another blast wrecked a hotel in Cloghy, County Down, and a third bomb demolished a bar in Dungannon, County Tyrone. One man was injured.

Commission's Study Endorsed

Philip R. Smith, executive director of the North Carolina Chiropractic Association, announced that the association endorses the study of the Medical Manpower Study Commission and the Joint Committees on Health.

Smith said that as primary care physicians, chiropractors are aware of the serious shortage of primary care practitioners in the state. He noted that they agree with the report that "the operation of a medical care delivery system as currently organized, is causing the people of North Carolina to suffer serious economic loss."

The report, Smith said, also states that "organized forms of health care delivery should be encouraged for a more effective use of talent and facilities."

As health professionals, he added, "chiropractic recognizes the mechanism of natural cure and seeks to encourage its most efficient operation."

Confusion Marks Nixon Private Papers Gift

By DON McLEOD

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon certified with his 1969 income tax return that he was giving vice presidential papers to the government free and clear with no restrictions. But the gift deed restricts who can see the documents and where they are to be deposited. The tax return declares: "Restrictions: None."
The deed says there are restrictions, although it adds that they are not intended to prevent the papers from being used for public purposes.
A White House spokesman Thursday repeated the position taken by Nixon lawyers that Internal Revenue Service auditors had seen the deed and were satisfied that the President's tax deductions for the gift was legitimate.
A Nixon accountant had said earlier that the provisions of the deed were "not considered a restriction. It does not defeat the purpose of the gift."
A White House lawyer said the restrictions apparently were not considered material at the time the return was prepared.

The papers remain sealed from public view under terms of the deed with which Nixon turned them over to the National Archives. The secrecy is not unusual in the case of papers of a public official.

Nixon has taken $482,000 in income tax deductions over the past four years for his gift of the papers.

A White House official restated restrictions on the papers earlier this year in a letter which described them as "President Nixon's private vice presidential papers."

That description is now disavowed by a White House spokesman, who said it apparently was written without proper staff work.

A Nixon accountant said limits on access, and a stipulation that the papers go ultimately to his presidential library, were not considered restrictions that would have barred the President's income tax deduction.
The Internal Revenue Code requires that all restrictions as to use and disposition of a gift be reported on the return of the taxpayer declaring it as a deduction.
An attachment to Nixon's 1969 federal income tax return describes the gift, says it was made on March 27 of that year, and states:
"Restrictions: none. The gift was free and clear with no rights remaining in the taxpayer."
The deed, dated a year before the tax return, declares that:

"While Nixon is President, no one can have access to the donated papers without his written permission. Nixon's deed also reserved him 'the right and power at any time during his lifetime to modify or remove this restriction ...'"

"If a Nixon library is established, the papers are to be transferred there as soon as practicable."

In denying The Associated Press access to some of the papers, on March 26, 1973, a White House aide wrote:

"As you know, the documents are from President Nixon's private vice presidential papers which he may make available at a future date by depositing them in a presidential library...."

The letter, signed by Richard C. Tufaro, then on the staff of the National Security Council, also said the decision against permitting access to the documents was not based on any need for security classification.

White House officials said the Tufaro letter does not represent current policy. "Apparently the letter was written before the proper staff work was done," Warren said.

Tufaro, now a New York lawyer, said the letter was cleared by the office of the White House counsel, then John W. Dean III.
Restrictions on access to the donated papers of prominent Americans are common, in some cases for security, in others for privacy. Many of the papers of past presidents remain sealed.
The Nixon gift is rendered more complex by the fact that he had the papers appraised and has been deducting their value from his income taxes.
The late President Lyndon B. Johnson apparently also claimed tax deductions for some papers he gave the government, and a number of other former government officials have done the same.

There are detailed restrictions on access to the Johnson papers also, but since his tax returns have never been disclosed it is not known how he described the gift to the Internal Revenue Service.
Nixon has made his tax returns public and has asked a congressional committee to determine whether he was entitled to the deduction for the papers gift.
The papers were transported to the National Archives on March 26 and 27, 1969. The deed was dated March 27, 1969 but was not turned over to the General Services Administration until April 10, 1970.
The deed provides for access to the papers by employees of the Archives for processing of the papers. It also states:

"None of the foregoing restrictions is intended to prevent the materials from being used exclusively for public purposes, and in no event shall any of the said restrictions be so construed."
While the attachment giving details of the papers gift was appended to Nixon's 1969 tax return, the deed itself was not.
White House officials say the deed was turned over to the Internal Revenue Service when Nixon's 1971 and 1972 returns were audited this year. But they said the IRS auditors apparently did not see the 1969 gift statement because returns for that year were not included in the audit.
The papers were valued by a private appraiser at $576,000, which Nixon began deducting from his taxable income in 1969. He has spread $482,019 of it over his taxes for the past four years, and still has $93,961 to deduct for this year.

The deductions have allowed Nixon to pay less than $6,000 in federal income taxes over the past three years, on three-year income of over $800,000.

Snow, Freezing Rain In Much Of Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A topsy-turvy weather pattern brought snow and freezing temperatures to much of the Southeast today and heavy rains and flash-flood warnings to the storm-weary Northeast.

Forecasters said that rivers and streams in New England and parts of New York were rising rapidly from the downpour that dropped nearly 2 inches of rain in some parts of the region. The heavy rain came on the heels of a snow and ice storm that knocked out heat and electricity to thousands in the area Monday.

The rain promised to slow efforts to return power to thousands still without it in Connecticut, hardest hit by the earlier storm.

Meanwhile, a storm that buried sections of the Midwest under foot-deep snows, pushed winter into the usually balmy Southeast. Snow of the one and two-inch variety were reported in sections of Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and the Carolinas.

In the usually mild San Antonio, Tex., the thermometer dropped to 17, breaking a record set in 1937. In Texas' semitropical lower Rio Grande Valley, citrus growers eyed temperatures dropping into the upper 20s with alarm. Crop damage can be sustained if the temperature remains below 26 for more than five hours.

The Midwest was still digging out from a heavy stormstorm Wednesday. Icy highways snarled traffic and caused hundreds of minor accidents in the St. Louis area. The thermometer plunged to zero overnight, following the city's fifth heaviest snowfall of the century.

Highway flooding was reported in New Jersey from the heavy rains. The rains, accompanied with mild temperatures, melted the snow and ice from the previous storm and heightened the flood threat to the Northeast.

Skeptical

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Carolínians are skeptical that energy czar William Simon's call Thursday for voluntary limitation to 10 gallons of gasoline a week will work.

"My husband travels 44 miles a day to work," said Mrs. Sandi Skidmore of Indian Trail, N.C. who was interviewed at a Charlotte shopping center. He may have trouble. I want to do as much as I can, but I don't like it."

"Personally, I don't think the majority of people will go along with 10 gallons a week," said Hugh M. Black, who runs a filling station in Concord, N.C., and has been in the gas-station business 18 years. "They say, 'We can't make it on 10 gallons a week.' That's all I've heard."

"As long as this is a free country," said Gene Troutman, who runs a station in Charlotte, "and a fellow wants a fill-up of gasoline, he'll get it until I'm out."

"What's to stop people from going from one station to another?" asked Walter Jennings of Charleston, president of the South Carolina Service Station Dealers Association. "Rationing's coming. Why don't we go ahead and do it?"

Avery Upchurch of Raleigh, director of the North Carolina Service Station Association, said he believed mandatory rationing was the only solution in the gasoline shortage. "They're going to keep driving as long as someone will pump gas into tanks of vehicles," he said.

Investigated Three Collisions In City

More than $1,900 property damage resulted yesterday from a series of three traffic collisions investigated by local police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from an 8:15 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 14th Street and Greenville Boulevard involving cars driven by Anthony Thomas Martin of 310 Prince Rd. and Edwin LaFayette Clark Jr., of 205 Oxford Rd.

Officers, who charged Clark with failing to stop for a stop sign estimated damage at $350 to the Martin car and $500 to the Clark vehicle.

A 4:09 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and Reade Streets resulted in an estimated $400 damage to each of the two cars involved.

Police identified the drivers of the vehicles as Max Carlton Stephenson of 118 North Harding St. and Robert Lee Moore of Route 1, Stokes.

Stephenson was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

One passenger in the Moore car was reported injured.

Daniel Gordon McCrary Jr. of 209 East 14th St. was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 12:04 p.m. collision at the intersection of Tenth and Evans Streets.

Officers said the McCrary vehicle collided with a car driven by Richard Townsen Bilbro of 1708 Forrest Hill Dr., causing an estimated $200 damage to the Bilbro car and about $75 damage to the McCrary auto.

One Injured In Thursday Wreck

One person was reported injured in a 3:30 p.m. collision about a mile East of Greenville on U. S. 264 Thursday.

Highway Patrolman W. E. Brinson identified the drivers involved in the mishap as Louis Edward Mizell of Hamilton, Texas and Paul Eugene Farley of Country Club Apts. and reported Farley was injured in the collision.

According to Trooper Brinson, the Farley truck was headed West on U.S. 264 when the Mizell truck allegedly made a left turn in front of the Farley vehicle.

Mizell was charged with driving under the influence and failing to yield the right of way.

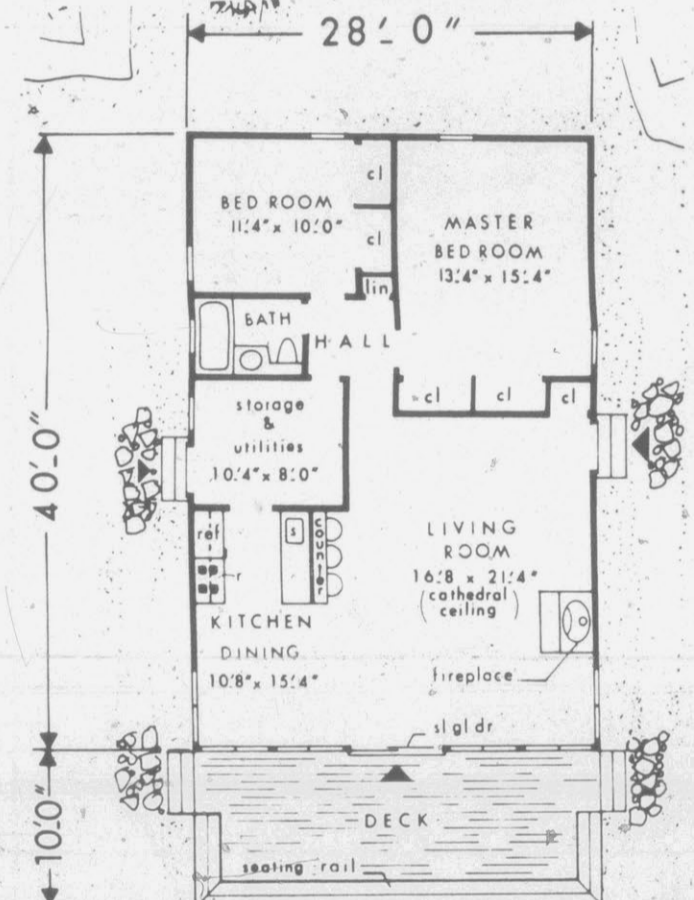

Libraries Will Close 4 Days

Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian for the Greenville City Library System, announces that the libraries in Greenville will be closed for a four day Christmas period.

The libraries will close tonight (Friday) at 9:00 p.m. and will reopen at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, December 26.

Miss Copeland also announces that the libraries will close one day only for the New Year holiday, on Tuesday, January 1, 1974.

Wants Return Of Road Gangs

RALEIGH (AP)—State Sen. Donald Kincaid, R-Caldwell, has introduced a bill to return prison inmates to work on the state's highways.

Kincaid said Thursday that too many inmates have "have nothing to do but sit around and plan how they can cause trouble or escape."

In addition, he said, the Highway Division is falling behind in its road maintenance.

Kincaid said the 1971 legislature erred when it passed a bill taking prison inmates off the roads.

Freezing rain glazed highways in much of the Appalachian region Thursday night, and light snow and rain hit parts of Indiana, Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi.

Snow ranged south into usually balmy sections of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas, temperatures skidded below freezing and threatened the valley's multi-million-dollar citrus crop. Temperatures dropped to the teens in Shreveport, La., and to the low 20s in New Orleans after readings in the 70s only a day earlier.

Heavy rain and tornado-like winds struck Florida City, Fla., south of Miami, virtually leveling one mobile home park and causing heavy damage to another Thursday. At least 12 persons were injured.

Electricity and telephone service was out for wide areas south of Miami.

Subzero cold numbed a large portion of the Midwest as skies cleared behind the storm.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -17 at Duluth, Minn., to 69 at Key West, Fla.

Energy Crisis Having An Impact In Asia And Europe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Department stores and office buildings in Japan have cut down on elevator runs. Across the water in South Korea, officials in government buildings have unscrewed a third of all light bulbs.

Europeans are paying more and driving less; some of them face gasoline rationing.

The world energy crisis, compounded by the cutback in oil production by the Arabs, is beginning to have a sharp impact in Europe and Asia. Some Latin Americans also are beginning to feel the pinch.

Here in capsule form is what some of the major nations other than the United States are doing about the energy crisis.

EUROPE

Great Britain—The British seem hardest hit because the energy crisis has been aggravated by labor troubles: work slowdowns by coal miners, power station workers and railroad engineers.

Britain has distributed gasoline ration books as a precaution, and the speed limit has been reduced to 50 miles an hour. Most gas stations close on Sunday, effectively reducing motoring. But the worst problem for Britain lies in the work slowdowns. Britain generates 70 per cent of its electricity from coal, only 30 per cent from oil. The government is coping by ordering a three-day work week starting Jan. 1. It also ordered TV to end broadcasts at 10:30 p.m. to save electricity. Heat is being turned down in offices to 63 degrees.

Italy—Driving on Sundays and holidays is banned, except for Christmas and New Year's. For the first time Italians must adhere to posted speed limits—75 miles an hour on expressways and 60 miles an hour on secondary roads. Street lighting has been cut by 40 per cent and shops must close at 7 p.m. Nightclubs, bars, restaurants and movies must be closed by midnight. Workers in some plastic, automotive and home appliance industries are being laid off or going on shorter work weeks because of a shortage of oil and derivatives. Gasoline rationing is under study.

France—The French maintain that their pro-Arab policies will give them an advantaged position in the crisis. Nevertheless, speed limits have been lowered on highways, television program time has been shortened, motor sports are banned, outdoor lighting is limited, and temperatures are being lowered in buildings. The Citroen and Peugeot automobile factories have announced long Christmas closings because of reduced auto sales.

The Netherlands—Like the United States, the Netherlands is under a complete Arab embargo. Sunday driving bans have been in effect since Nov. 4. Gasoline rationing starts Jan. 7. Each driver who has paid his road taxes will be allowed four gallons a week. Housewives are asked to close window curtains to keep heat in the house. The government has asked the parliament for special powers to meet the economic effects of the crisis. The bill would empower the government to control prices, wages and other incomes.

Switzerland—Driving bans were imposed for three recent Sundays but they have been lifted. New bans may go into effect next month with the possibility looming of gasoline rationing unless drivers cut down on car travel. The heating oil situation is critical in some Alpine resorts where hotels have to refill every two weeks or so. So far there have been no closings in the height of the ski season.

Denmark—A 25 per cent cut in oil deliveries has been ordered for private homes, public buildings, factories and power plants. Plans for rationing of oil and gasoline have been made but not put into effect. Work weeks have been cut in some industries. A Sunday driving ban is in effect.

Sunshine Days At State Fair

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Near perfect weather conditions helped attract record crowds to the 14-day 1973 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque.

Manager Finlay MacGillivray said each day was sunny and warm.

The total gate attendance of 779,121 persons was a record high.

A new single-day, all time record was posted Sunday, Sept. 16, with 130,143 persons on the fairgrounds.

Belgium—The industrial fuel supply has been cut 10 per cent, schools are closed on Saturdays, outdoor advertising signs are turned off at 10 p.m. and some automobile plants will close for two weeks at the year's end. Coal production has been boosted and industry has been asked to cut power by 20 per cent.

West Germany—The government is asking homeowners and businesses to voluntarily reduce usage of heating oil by 25 per cent. Outdoor Christmas lighting has been cut back. Ford and Opel have shortened working hours in their plants over the Christmas holiday because of declining sales. Sunday driving was banned four weeks ago but the restrictions are being lifted for Christmas and New Year's. Weekend bans will go into effect Jan. 19, starting at 4 p.m. on Saturdays. Vehicles with registration plates ending in an even number will be banned the first weekend and those with odd numbers the next.

THE MIDDLE EAST

Israel—The government met the crisis by banning private cars from highways one day a week. It also ruled that households should cut back in electricity usage. Many Israelis maintained the country was not bothered by the energy crisis and the measures taken were as a token of solidarity toward the United States and the Netherlands.

The Arab nations—In most countries, big car sales are booming and no cutbacks have been ordered. The main visible effect has been cutbacks in commercial airline flights because of aviation fuel shortages in Lebanon and Egypt. Both import jet fuel from Europe. The cutbacks so far have not been serious, with only a few flights cancelled. Aviation fuel is available from refineries in Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf region. The Egyptians and Lebanese will be switching to those sources for supplies.

ASIA

Japan—The hardest hit in Asia. The government seeks legislation to regulate fuel distribution and consumption, including rationing if necessary, and to impose price ceilings. Daylight saving time is expected to go into effect. Coal mines are being encouraged to reopen. The crisis has encouraged experiments and projects to use other energy sources such as geothermal power, sunlight and thermonuclear power. Sunday driving is banned on expressways and gasoline stations are closed on Sundays. Recreational facilities close an hour earlier, while department stores and private and public buildings have reduced elevator runs to save power. Trains, which run in Japan at 100 miles an hour or more, are running slower now.

South Korea—Heating and industrial oil supplies are rationed and the sale of gasoline is banned Sundays, although Sunday pleasure driving is not. The government also bans neon lights and other outdoor advertising illuminations. It ordered coffee shops to close down at 9:30 p.m. and restaurants and bars at 10 p.m. It is also mandatory for these establishments to close for two days a month. As part of electricity saving efforts, all government and state-run corporation buildings have taken out one third of their light bulbs. Also banned are television during morning hours and after midnight, coal exports, and the use of indoor swimming pools.

South Vietnam—Gasoline prices have been raised, the two-hour midday siesta has been banned and workers are on a 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. work schedule to cut down on electrical use.

Taiwan—The Nationalist Chinese government started in November to cut back 25 per cent in the usage of power. All-night restaurants, and dancing halls have been ordered to close at midnight.

The Philippines—Drivers of private cars are rationed to about 50 gallons of gasoline a month. Doctors and other essential professionals are allowed about twice as much. Truckers get 10 gallons a day. The government is studying ways to harness steam created by volcanoes to replace oil for power generation.

Thailand—Although the fuel crisis has brought bus route cutbacks and long lines at service stations, the government has imposed no regulations to limit fuel use. Premier Sanya Thammasak has made a plea for people to conserve fuel and students staged brief ride-a-bike campaign.

LATIN AMERICA

Brazil—Brazilians are still buying bicycles for pleasure instead of transport and are driving to the beach on Sundays. But the price they're paying for gas has jumped in the last two months. Three quarters of the oil consumed by Brazil is imported, mostly from the Middle East. But Brazil maintains friendly relations with the Arab countries.

Argentina—The nation imports only about 15 per cent of its oil. A set of mild measures include appeals to motorists to slow down and to consumers to avoid wasting power.

Venezuela—The effects of the energy crisis have not yet touched Venezuela, the world's fifth-ranking petroleum producer with daily production totaling 3.4 million barrels of crude petroleum and refined products. Caracas, the capital, sparkles with Christmas lights and the highways are filled with weekend drivers who pay the equivalent of 14 cents to 28 cents a gallon for gasoline to power their mostly U.S. model cars.

Chile—The military junta has not set forth any regulations to conserve petroleum, but gasoline prices have gone up with a result that sales dropped nearly 40 per cent last month. Prices went from 36 escudos to 280 per gallon. The escudo is officially set at 340 per dollar. Some apartment houses are limiting hot water to the morning hours because of the high cost of heating oil. Chile is entering the hot part of summer with the consumption of heating oil and kerosene minimal. Also because of the normally cool nights in Santiago there is not much air conditioning to create a power drain.

Mexico—The government increased gasoline prices from 24.2 cents a gallon to 42.3 cents. This was done, according to the government oil monopoly, Pemex, to reduce oil consumption and to obtain funds to accelerate explorations work.

Guatemala—This country went on daylight savings time to save energy. Guatemalans no longer can buy gasoline at night or on weekends and the speed limit on highways was reduced from 60 to 45 miles per hour. Auto racing has been banned and there is also a ban for commercial lighting.

Honduras—Government employees have an uninterrupted shift instead of their normal lunch break of two hours. Private citizens can purchase only two gallons of gasoline a day and supplies of fuel to government organizations were reduced by 20 per cent.

Colombia—President Misael Pastrana has warned that the country's industry may be affected next year by the world energy crisis and the general shortage of raw materials. Colombia's crude daily output of 185,000 barrels is meeting the domestic demand. Gasoline sells for 15 cents a gallon.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets were steady Thursday. Supplies were barely adequate and demand was good.

Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs delivered in cartons to nearby outlets: grade A large whites 79.73; medium whites 78.68; small whites 71.46.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—Hogs are steady 42.50-43.50 at Kinston, Benson and Lumberton; 40.00-42.00 at Wilson and High Falls; 40.00 at Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—Trading on hens very limited. Most plants closed for holidays. Too few sales reported to release prices.

The Dow Jones industrial average was down 3.31 to 824.80 at 11:30 a.m. Declining issues moderately led advances in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Board's broad-based composite of some 1,500 common stocks fell .11 to 50.08 at 11:30 a.m.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .19 to 85.45.

Trading continued to be active in some domestic oil stocks.

Gulf Oil, the Big Board's most actively traded stock, rose 1/8 to 20 1/2. Other advancing oil issues included Standard Oil of Indiana, up 1/2 to 101, Pennzoil, ahead 1/4 to 24 1/2, and Standard Oil of California, up 1 to 32 1/2.

AT&T was the second most actively traded stock on the NYSE, unchanged at 4 1/2, after a recent report of sharply higher quarterly earnings. Middle South Utilities gained 1/4 to 16 1/2; British Petroleum added 1/4 to 13 1/4; and General Motors fell 1 point to 47 1/2.

Dr. Durham Named Chairman Of Dept.

Dr. William H. Durham Jr. has been named chairman of the East Carolina University Department of Business Education and Office Administration.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Thomas Haigwood, dean of the ECU School of Technology. Dr. Durham, a professor of business and distributive education, has been a member of the ECU faculty since 1967.

He succeeds Dr. Audrey Dempsey, who retired from the ECU faculty in June, 1973.

Dr. Durham holds advanced degrees from Indiana University, and UNC-Chapel Hill and has done research for the Gilbert Marketing Group of New York City and Ford Motor Co.

He is the author of three educators' manuals for teachers of distributive education and for occupational teachers of handicapped children.

Before joining the ECU faculty, Dr. Durham taught at Wake Forest University. During his tenure at ECU, he has served as a consultant to educational programs throughout the state and for the national Accrediting Commission for Business Schools.

Dr. Durham is a native of Tarboro.

Lawmaker Is Arrested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William Alexander, D-Ark., was arrested at National Airport Thursday on charges of assaulting an FAA officer directing traffic.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the congressman disregarded the directions of the officer and ran into the policeman.

Alexander, 39, said he only nudged the officer.

He was also charged with impeding an officer directing traffic. Alexander said at no time did he say anything abusive to the officer, identified as Richard Prince, although he could not recall whether he physically resisted him.

"He came around the car yelling at me, opened the car door, turned off the ignition and grabbed me by the lapel," said Alexander. "Then he pulled me out and pushed me up against the car, twisting my arm up behind my back while he frisked me."

"I said to him, 'Look, officer, I'm a member of Congress. Let's talk about this thing.'"

Gov. Mandel Is Now Able To Go Back To Mansion

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — After nearly six months of living in a hotel room and a sub-leased apartment, Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel can return home to the 54-room governor's mansion.

His wife, Barbara, 53, gave up her solitary vigil Thursday at the 106-year-old mansion and moved to an apartment in Baltimore.

Thus ended a domestic state of siege which began July 3 when Mandel, 53, left the mansion, publicly renounced his 32-year marriage and said he was in love with Mrs. Jeanne Dorsey, a southern Maryland divorcee 17 years his junior.

Maryland's most publicized domestic triangle remained in a dormant, no-comment state until Wednesday night. Mrs. Mandel said she had remained in the governor's residence with the hope and belief that the marriage could be repaired. She conceded it had not happened.

Furman Hands Davidson Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's at least one Southern Conference basketball coach who thinks an Australian trip last summer, contrary to what most of his fellow coaches believed before the season opened, took something out of Davidson's Wildcats.

Whatever the reason, the Wildcats suddenly find themselves practically out of the running for the top seeding in the league's championship tournament after having played just three games.

When Furman's defending champion Paladins handed Davidson a 69-62 whipping Thursday night, it dropped the Wildcats to 0-3 and a tie for last place with Appalachian State's Mountaineers.

Since Davidson plays the required minimum of 10 conference games, there's almost no way the Wildcats now can recover and finish on top in the regular season as they did last year.

The victory, meanwhile, boosted Furman into a tie for first place at 2-0 with The Citadel's surprising Bulldogs.

The Citadel continued to set a torrid pace Thursday night by edging Georgia Southern 58-55 in a nonleague scrap for their fourth straight triumph since a season-opening defeat at Indiana.

In Thursday night's only other action, William and Mary's Indians took a 105-75 trouncing at the hands of Providence's ninth-ranked Friars.

All conference teams are idle tonight.

The Davidson defeat was only the Wildcats' second in 72 games in their home Johnson Gymnasium. Furman administered the other one two years ago.

Craig Lynch had 16 points and Bruce Grimm 15 for the Paladins, who ran off 12 straight points after trailing by 58-54 with 4:30 left. Eight of the points came from the foul line and put the Wildcats out of the game.

The Paladins, now 3-1 overall, also got 13 points and 23 rebounds from 6-foot-9 Clyde Mayes.

Greg Dunn had 19 points and John Falconi 15 for Davidson, now 3-4 against all opposition.

The Citadel came from five points down with seven minutes left, pulling even with 6:17 remaining on a field goal by Rod McKeever and taking the lead for good with 5:50 left on Greg Weber's basket.

McKeever, a 17-year-old freshman, led the Bulldogs with 20 points and Wever added 16. William Dodd had 20 points for Georgia State.

Providence, now 5-1, shot 63 per cent from the floor with Kevin Stacom scoring 18 points and Marvin Barnes getting 16 points and 18 rebounds. The Indians, now 3-5, were led by 6-foot-11 sophomore Matt Courage with 15 points.

Countdown To Super Bowl Starts Saturday

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
They're showing a replay in Oakland and a live one in Minnesota in the start of the National Football League playoffs Saturday.

The Pittsburgh Steelers and Oakland Raiders meet in a rematch of last year's American Conference divisional playoff.

The Washington Redskins challenge the Minnesota Vikings in a battle of high-powered National Conference teams.

Following the 1-2 punch Saturday, two more playoff games will be staged on Sunday — an AFC match between the Cincinnati Bengals and Miami Dolphins and an NFC struggle between the Los Angeles Rams and Dallas Cowboys.

If it's anything like last year, Pittsburgh and Oakland will be the most interesting of the four.

The Steelers defeated the Raiders last season 13-7 in a story book finish on Franco Harris' last-minute catch of a ball that was literally up for grabs.

This year, Oakland repeated as champion of the AFC's Western Division. The Steelers, who won the Central Division last season, will go into this big game as the AFC's Wild Card entry.

Enroute to their sixth divisional title in seven years, the Raiders registered a club record of the fewest points allowed (17) and even beat defending Super Bowl champion Miami along the way.

Southpaw quarterback Ken Stabler, who took over from Daryle Lamonia after the fourth game of the season, and set a club record 62.7 completion percentage. He led AFC passer ratings.

The Steelers have quite a passer themselves in Terry Bradshaw, who compiled an 8-1 record in the games he started this season. He was hurt toward the end of the year, and the slack was picked up by another good quarterback in the Steeler stable — Terry Hanratty.

Harris, who had a pair of 100-yard games, was again the Steeler rushing leader. He had 698 yards after missing two of his last six games.

The Redskins, who lost to Miami in last year's Super Bowl, will be making their third straight appearance in post-season competition since George Allen took over as coach in 1971.

Allen's "Win now" philosophy has produced some of the NFL's most dynamic teams. The Redskins are the NFC's defending champion but will enter this year's playoffs as a Wild Card team.

The game matches two NFC coaches with the best winning percentage among those in a head capacity more than one season. Allen has a 79-28-5 record (including Los Angeles) for a .728 percentage. Minnesota's Bud Grant is 65-30-3 for .679.

The Vikings, behind quarterback Fran Tarkenton's best season and a rugged defense, have turned around their fortunes in one year. Last season, the Vikings had a 7-7 year and this year, won the NFC's Central Division title with a 12-2 record.

The Cincinnati-Miami clash marks the first meeting of Paul Brown and Don Shula, one of his several former charges now coaching in the NFL. Shula, the Miami coach, came into the pros for Brown in Cleveland in the early 1950s. Since then, Brown moved to Cincinnati as head coach.

The Dolphins, who won 17 games enroute to the Super Bowl last season, weren't so perfect this year with two losses in 14 regular-season starts.

Bob Griese runs the Miami show with a trio of powerhouse runners — Larry Csonka (a 1,000-yarder for the third straight year), Mercury Morris and Jim Kiick.

The Dolphins will be making their fourth straight post-season appearance. Playoffs are no novelty for Brown, either. He got into plenty at Cleveland and this year, moved his Bengals to the AFC Central title.

Los Angeles, champions of the NFC West, is in the playoffs for the first time since 1969. Dallas, champion of the NFC East, has made playoff status for the eighth straight season.

Kinston Nips Ayden-Grifton

LITTLEFIELD—Ayden-Grifton High School was nipped by Kinston's Vikings last night, 47-46, in the final seconds of the game.

In the junior varsity preliminary, Ayden-Grifton pulled out a win by just as close, 54-53.

In the varsity game, the Chargers inched out into the lead in the first period of play, 10-7. They pulled away in the second period and looked like sure winners by the time the half rolled around. They put together a 20-11 margin in the period for a 30-18 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, however, Kinston began to pull back, outthrusting the Chargers, 19-7. That cut the lead apart and left the two teams tied, 37-37 going into the final period.

From there on in, the lead seasawed back and forth, with neither team getting much of an advantage. Ayden-Grifton had the ball and the lead, however, with one and a half minutes left, but lost it on a violation. Sotello

Long then put Kinston into the lead, and they never lost it as Ayden-Grifton failed to score again.

Long led the Viking scoring with 16 points, while Colin McDuffie had 12.

Travis Woods led Ayden-Grifton with 17 points.

The Chargers return to action tonight, traveling to Southern Nash for an Eastern Carolina Conference game.

Finley Wins First Round

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Charlie Finley, the controversial owner of the Oakland Athletics, held the trump hand and the New York Yankees were without a manager today while pondering their next move.

American League President Joe Cronin, sitting as judge and jury in his final days in office, formally ruled Thursday that Manager Dick Williams still is under contract with Finley and the A's.

Finley, speaking in Chicago, said he would have no comment on whether he was willing to renegotiate with the Yankees in regard to Williams.

He said he would not drop a federal court suit against Williams "until this entire matter is settled to our complete satisfaction."

Finley praised Cronin's decision, saying it would be the "beginning of an end to managers and coaches jumping contracts."

In a related case, however, Cronin ruled that Manager Ralph Houk now is with the Detroit Tigers, and the Yankees have no right to any compensation for the loss of their field boss.

Cronin, after conferring with legal counsel, called a hurried news conference after two days' of hearings in which he personally swore in Houk, Williams, Finley and executives of the Tigers and the Yankees.

First, he announced his decision regarding Houk, who resigned on the final day of the 1973 season with two years to go on a contract with the Yankees. Later, Houk signed with the Tigers.

Then, Cronin dropped what may be a historic baseball bombshell, refusing to accept a contract signed by Williams with the Yankees last week. He ruled that Williams still is under contract for two more years with the A's, the club he quit immediately after it won the World Series championship in October.

Finley, who filed a federal court suit Tuesday to prevent Williams from joining the Yankees or any other baseball club, appeared to give the manager his blessings after the World Series. However, he didn't put anything into writing, as did the Yankees with Houk.

Finley later demanded player compensation for Williams. The Yankees, in turn, did the same with the Tigers. Finley reportedly has rejected New York offers of (1) veteran second baseman Horace Clarke and (2) $150,000 in cash and minor league players.

However, Cronin left the door open for other negotiations between Finley and the Yankees.

"If the parties can get together, I would not stand in the way and Williams can go to the Yankees," Cronin said. "However, I have no idea what the clubs will do next. I also don't know if the Yankees or Williams or the Tigers have any other recourse."

Notre Dame Studies Hard; Gives A Lesson

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame's players hit the books all week ... and then gave Denver a lesson in basketball.

"We had an average of six guys out studying each day," said Notre Dame Coach Dick Phelps, whose team certainly didn't look too studious putting the Pioneers away 99-59 Thursday night.

"They are certainly one of the top teams in the nation," said Denver Coach Al Harden. "Notre Dame is a fine ballclub and deserves its No. 3 ranking. There's no way possible to match up against the Fighting Irish."

Freshman Adrian Dantley made things happen for the third-rated Irish, scoring 21 points. He helped get his mates together, in the modern terminology.

In other action involving the ranked teams, No. 4 North Carolina trimmed Virginia Tech 83-78 and Providence smashed William and Mary 105-75.

With Dantley the big scorer, Notre Dame soared to a 52-30 lead at the half. Before the lopsided contest was over, all of Notre Dame's players saw action. However, nobody played more than 24 minutes.

John Shumate added 16 points to the Notre Dame offense before sitting down. The Fighting Irish, not incidentally, connected on 55 per cent of their field goal attempts in winning their sixth straight game. Denver's John Johnson led all scorers with 23 points.

Bobby Jones scored 20 points and collected 13 rebounds to lead North Carolina over Virginia Tech. The disappointing Gobblers, last year's winner of the National Invitation Tournament, dropped their third game in five starts.

The Tar Heels lost part of a 10-point lead in the late going, but Jones and Darrell Elston helped hold off the Gobblers. Elston wound up with 18 points. Charlie Thomas led the losers with 19.

Kevin Stacom and Barnes combined for 34 points to lead Providence to an easy victory over William and Mary.

The Friars shot 63 percent from the floor with Stacom's 18 points leading all scorers. In addition to his 16 points, Barnes pulled in 18 rebounds. Matt Courage led William and Mary with 15 points.

John Ryan had 22 assists to pace Fairfield to an 84-58 victory over Villanova; Craig Lynch scored 16 points and Bruce Grimm 15 in Furman's 69-62 beating of Davidson; Nebraska trimmed Northern Iowa 73-55 behind Ron Taylor's 21 points and 17 rebounds and Ira Terrell's 29 points sparked SMU over Cal State-Fullerton 93-69.

Chicago Loyola weathered foul trouble and a mild Wichita State rally to beat the Shockers 82-70; Mike Parker scored 10 points in the last five minutes to pace Toledo over St. Marys of California 82-63; Charles Bailey scored a school-record 45 points in Fresno State's 96-95 double overtime victory over North Texas and Athletes-In-Action held off a second-half surge by Brigham Young to beat the Cougars 60-56.

Willie Mays led the National League in slugging in 1955 with a .659 average.

Heels Win It At Foul Line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 "North Carolina is a great team, the best pressing team we've ever faced," Virginia Tech basketball Coach Don Devoe said after the undefeated and fourth-ranked Tar Heels made 12 of 14 free throws in the second-half and defeated his Gobblers 83-78 Thursday night.

"They made their free throws in the stretch, and that's the mark of a great team," he added. North Carolina had made only 7 of 13 free throws in the first half.

Devoe also had praise for his team, as did the North Carolina coach, Dean Smith.

"Our inside people did a great job defensively," Devoe said. "we were down by 10 in the second half and could have quit, but we came back and made a real battle of it."

"It was a very physical game," Smith said. Virginia Tech is a very fine team, as we knew they would be, and we were fortunate to come out on top."

North Carolina has won all its six games, and Tech, winner of the National Invitation Tournament last March, is 2-3 this season.

The Tar Heels were led by Olympian Bobby Jones, who had 20 points and 13 rebounds. Teammate Darrell Elston scored 18 points.

Tech got 19 points from Charlie Thomas and 14 from Ed Frazier. Greg Lieder and Bobby Stevens got in early foul trouble. Stevens fouled out after scoring 12 points. Lieder accounted for 10.

North Carolina was the only Atlantic Coast Conference team to play Thursday. Two of them play tonight. Second-ranked Maryland meets San Francisco in the second game of the opening round of the Cable Car Classic in Oakland, Calif. Santa Clara and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia play the opener. Wake Forest, a surprising 4-0, plays LaSalle in the opening game of the Big Sun Classic at St. Petersburg, Fla. Western Kentucky and Florida State play the second game.

North Pitt Hopes To Challenge By Tourney

By WOODY PEELE
 Reflector Sports Editor
BETHEL—For the 1973-74 basketball season, the North Pitt Panthers are setting their sights on taking a giant step this year. They want to accomplish in three months what normally takes a year to do.

They want experience and maturity from a young team, and they want it fast enough to be a challenger in the Eastern Carolina Conference tournament.

"We have only one letterman," David Brown, back from last year's team," Coach Cobby Deans said. "He's the only experienced player we have. The rest are all 'green and mean.'"

Deans terms the season definitely one of rebuilding, but one in which he hopes the building goes quickly. "We have started one freshman, two sophomores, and two juniors in some games," he said. "We're coming along, and we're looking for more than a year's growth out of these boys this season."

So far, the year hasn't paid off with many victories for the Panthers, but they haven't been beaten badly either. And they gave unbeaten Conley a run for its money in their last game. "We've just had a few mistakes that have hurt us. This is a good group of kids, and they're working hard. It just depends on how quickly they grow up."

Offensively, the Panthers are using their single stack and a 1-3-

1 high-low post type offense. On defense, they tend to go with a 1-3-1 zone. "We'll play little man-to-man defense. We don't have a lot of height, and we don't have the quickness to offset this either."

The tallest man on the team is 6-3 Charlie Lewis, but the rebounding hasn't been as bad as one might think. "We are concerned with the rebounding," Deans said, "but we've only been outrebounded once so far. We've done a pretty good job of blocking out under the boards, and this is one area we've done a lot of work on."

The shooting has been somewhat erratic according to Deans, but he's hopeful that this will come along. "I think maturity will help to solve this. We tend to force our shots, and we do have some pretty good shooters. At times, we even seem to pass up the good shots."

With only average quickness, the Panthers don't want to get into a running game with anyone. "We're going to try and control the offense. And our kids are learning to do this. In fact, they've got it so much on their minds, that they have given up several opportunities to run a fast break when they've really had the chance."

Currently, Deans is starting Lewis, a junior, at the center post. Donnie Perkins, a 6-0 freshman, is at one of the forward slots along with 6-0 Vince Barnhill, a junior. Two sophomores, 6-0 Jesse Harris and 5-11 William Johnson are the guards.

"Brown has been somewhat disappointing so far," Deans said. "For a senior, he hasn't been as consistent as he should be." Currently riding the bench, he, along with Raymond Battle, David Gray and Craig McLawhorn, are the top subs.

"We really don't have a lot of depth, and this has hurt us. Our young kids don't have the stamina that juniors and seniors would have, and they run out of steam, like we did against Conley," Deans said.

In the Eastern Carolina Conference, Deans looks to Conley to be the class of the league, but doesn't believe they'll escape without a loss. "Ayden-Grifton is also going to be strong, and Greene Central has a good ball club."

For the Panthers, however, it'll be a question of how fast the youths can mature on the court. "We don't give up. A couple of the teams we've played could have beaten us by 40 points. If we can get the maturity we're after, we could surprise a lot of people in the tournament."

Vikes, Raiders, Rams, Miami Picked To Win

By BEN THOMAS
 Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Santa Claus will come early for four National Football League teams this weekend. He'll stuff their stockings with visions of Super Plums and dollars and dollars and dollars.

The jolly old fellow will pay a return visit to one team on Jan. 13 with the real thing—money. His largesse will even provide some dough for the losing team in the Super Bowl at Houston that Sunday afternoon.

The Washington Redskins, who got the loser's share in Super Bowl VII, collide with the Minnesota Vikings, who had the loser's share from Super Bowl IV, in the first of the four weekend playoff games.

In Saturday's second game, the Pittsburgh Steelers take on the Oakland Raiders, who had the loser's share of the purse in Super Bowl II.

Sunday's card features a pair of teams who have tasted both the joys of the winners' purse and the despair of the losers' shares—the Dallas Cowboys and the Miami Dolphins. The Cowboys, Super Bowl V losers but winners for Game VI, play the Los Angeles Rams. The Dolphins, losers in Game VI but triumphant last year, play the Cincinnati Bengals.

Let's pause briefly to reflect that this Fearless Football Forecast completed the regular season last weekend with a 10-3 showing. That put the over-all mark at 128-47-7 for .731 per cent.

Before getting to the nitty-gritty, let's talk some more about those dollars. All players in the four playoff games this weekend will earn 1-14th of their regular season pay. The conference championship games—scheduled for Dec. 29 and Dec. 30—will provide $8,500 for each player on the winning teams and $5,500 for the losing players.

The Super Bowl VIII winning payoff will be $15,000. The losers get to cry over $7,500—plus, of course, the $8,500 they earned in the conference championship contest.

Now for the business at hand:

SATURDAY
 Washington (10-4) at Minnesota (12-2) — The Vikings have a healthy quarterback and Washington doesn't. Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton will be at the throttle of an offense which finished fourth in the National Conference—compared to Washington's No. 10 ranking.

And even though the Redskin defense, statistically, is a shade better than Minnesota's—Washington was fourth in total defense, the Vikings sixth—Minnesota played a tougher schedule.

Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer's latest hospital stay with a nervous stomach problem, along with a gimpy-legged Sonny Jurgensen, don't add up to good news for the 'Skins. But it does add up to ... VIKINGS 28, REDSKINS 20.

Pittsburgh (10-4) at Oakland (9-4-1) — Lightning, despite the saying, has been known to strike twice in the same place. But that doesn't mean that the Steelers can win in the same fluke manner that they beat Oakland in the 1972 playoffs.

If you've forgotten, Pittsburgh's Franco Harris made a shoe-string catch of a deflected pass and scored the touchdown that gave the Steelers a 13-7 victory.

Oakland's defense, No. 1 in the American Conference, should be enough to counter Pittsburgh's third-ranked defense.

More important, the Raiders also finished first in offense. The Steelers were sixth, but that figure is misleading because No. 1 quarterback Terry Bradshaw, was out part of the season.

A victory by the Steelers would be more dramatic because of the severe injury problems the team had, and Pittsburgh is probably the sentimental favorite of many, but sentiment doesn't win ball games. So ... RAIDERS 20, STEELERS 17.

SUNDAY
 Cincinnati (10-4) at Miami (12-2) — When this one is over, Paul Brown, the Cincinnati mentor who has forgotten more football than a lot of coaches ever learn, may regret that he taught one pupil so well.

That pupil, of course, is Don Shula, who played under Brown at Cleveland.

Even though Miami is the heaviest favorite in the weekend's four playoff games, the Bengals can't be too lightly regarded.

After all, Cincinnati, surprisingly, was No. 2 in offense in the AFC—compared to the Dolphins' No. 4 rating. And defensively, the Bengals wound up fifth, while Miami was second.

Let's say that Cincinnati will beat the spread, but not the Dolphins and call it ... DOLPHINS 23, CINCINNATI 18.

Los Angeles (12-2) at Dallas (10-4) — The oddsmakers like the Cowboys by about a field goal, give or take a half-point.

The Rams, however, should pull off the lone upset this weekend. Why? Well, there are a number of reasons, but the chief one is Chuck Knox, who worked miracles with the Rams in his first season as head coach.

And, after all, how can you not pick a team that finished first in rushing, total scoring, total offense and total defense. So ... RAMS 27, COWBOYS 21.

Jackson Named AL's Top Slugger

BOSTON (AP) — Reggie Jackson, a key man in the Oakland Athletics' drive to the World Series championship, was crowned officially today the American League's 1973 slugging king.

Figures announced by the league showed that Jackson compiled a slugging percentage of .531, far ahead of runnerup Sal Bando of the A's with .497.

Designated hitter Frank Robinson of California was third with .488, one point ahead of Milwaukee's George Scott and Texas' Jeff Burroughs.

Jackson, the league's most valuable player this year, had a .296 batting average with 286 total bases in 539 times at bat. He led the league with 32 homers and had 28 doubles and two triples to go with 96 singles.

The Boston Red Sox led in team slugging with .401, followed by Minnesota with .393, Baltimore and Detroit .390 each, and Oakland .389.

Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda helped the Red Sox to the slugging title with a mark of .444. Cepeda, barely able to run because of two bad knees, led the league by grounding into 24 double plays, two more than Minnesota's Bobby Darwin, Detroit's Eddie Brinkman and Kansas City's Lou Piniella.

Kansas City slugger John Mayberry was tops in bases on balls with 122 and in the most intentional walks, 17. Baltimore's Bobby Grich walked 107 times and Boston's Carl Yastrzemski 105.

New Columbia Coach Named

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
 Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Vowing that "I've spent my whole career around winning and I'm going to continue to do that," Bill Campbell has been named head football coach at Columbia University, one of the Ivy League's biggest losers.

The 33-year-old bachelor from Homestead, Pa., who captained Columbia's only Ivy League championship team in 1961 as a 175-pound guard, received a three-year contract Thursday as the school's 12th head football coach. He spent the last six years as an assistant at Boston College.

"If we can't see significant improvement in three years, I'll be very disappointed," Campbell said. "Hopefully, one year will be enough to see some improvement."

Campbell succeeds Frank Navarro, who resigned after one winning season in six years and a record of 16-36-2. Columbia finished last in the Ivy League this fall with an over-all 1-7-1 mark, its fourth last-place finish in nine years.

Campbell said Columbia will be basically an I-formation team but will use a multiple offense and some type of eight-man defensive front. The defense will play zone about 85 per cent of the time.

The only disquieting note came when Campbell was asked about a statement from Columbia's president, Dr. William J. McGill, issued when Navarro resigned, that "I know what it means for him to win, but frankly I am more interested in the character of the men we put forward in positions of leadership."

Penn State hasn't had a losing football season since 1938.

Archibald Helps But Kings Lose

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nate Archibald still is being used sparingly by the Kansas City-Omaha Kings in National Basketball Association play.

Archibald made only his third appearance Thursday night since being sidelined for several weeks with a leg injury and contributed eight points in the Kings' 98-92 loss to the Capital Bullets.

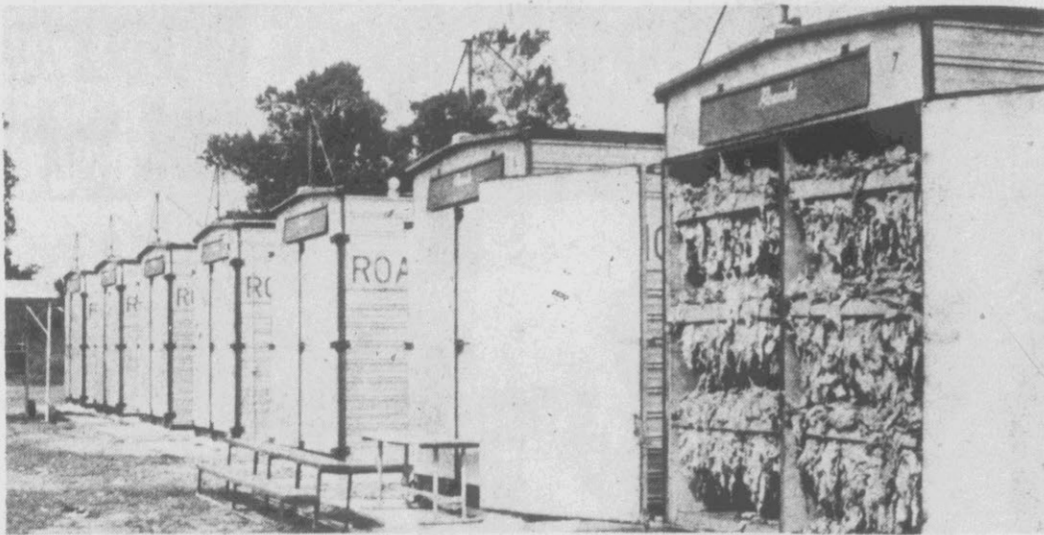

All other NBA clubs were idle.

San Antonio's game at Virginia, the only American Basketball Association contest on the schedule, was postponed because uniforms were not available.

"My timing is off my shooting," said Archibald, the NBA's leader in scoring and assists last season. "It's just getting used to playing again."

With the score tied 82-82 and 6:29 left, Mike Riordan connected with a shot that put the Bullets out front for good. Riordan, who played 44 minutes and scored only 12 points, sank eight points.

IRS Apparently Didn't Heed The White House

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House asked the Internal Revenue Service to subject political enemies to tax audits or other special attention, congressional investigators have concluded.

However, the IRS apparently did nothing with the list, the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation said Thursday.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., vice chairman of the committee, said he considers it "improper for the White House to send over any list of taxpayers to be investigated, especially when that list clearly is politically motivated."

Long told reporters: "I'm not saying we cleared them (IRS), but we don't have any evidence to convict. Apparently they were importuned to do something they didn't think they should do and they didn't do it."

The list of 575 names, later reduced to 490 by eliminating

Arraigning Tony Boyle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle faces arraignment in Pennsylvania on state murder charges before beginning a three-year federal prison sentence.

Boyle was under federal court orders to be tentatively arraigned today in Washington, Pa., on a charge of murdering union rival Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his family on Dec. 31, 1969.

Justice Department officials said that Boyle would be flown to the arraignment and then taken directly to the federal medical detention facility in Springfield, Mo.

However, they said the trip hinges on weather conditions and Boyle's health.

Boyle received the three-year federal sentence Wednesday from U.S. District Judge Charles Richey on a conviction of misusing union funds.

The 72-year-old deposed union leader has been in a Washington, D.C. hospital since he attempted suicide Sept. 24 with an overdose of drugs.

He collapsed in his hospital room Thursday from what doctors described as a fainting spell, but he was later reported in satisfactory condition.

Richey Thursday turned down Boyle's attorneys' attempts to keep him from being forced to appear in Pennsylvania. Richey's order provides that Boyle will remain in Pennsylvania only for the arraignment and for the setting of a trial date. He will remain in federal custody during that time.

duplications and unidentifiable persons, appeared to have been compiled largely from contributors to Democratic campaigns and liberal causes. There were some newsmen.

The report said the enemies list was personally delivered to the tax collecting agency Sept. 11, 1972 by then-White House counsel John W. Dean III.

Dean told the Senate Watergate committee last summer that there was talk in the White House of putting IRS to work on the returns of enemies of the administration. But he did not mention personally delivering a list.

The committee investigators did not question Dean after his lawyer said he would not appear voluntarily, a staff spokesman told newsmen.

According to all the evidence it could find, the staff reported, the list was locked away in a safe unused.

The persons listed were no more subjected to audits or other special attention than any comparable group would have been, the report said.

Suspect China Power Struggle

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A military-civilian power struggle

Considering Larger Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is considering a plan to increase next year's acreage allotments on flue-cured tobacco and possibly even suspend allotments for next year.

The plan is geared to the rising demand for cigarette tobacco, according to the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, which disclosed the plan Thursday.

William L. Lanier, who heads the ASCS tobacco division, said the plan is only in the proposal stage. He said, however, that the plan should be published soon, and public comments will be accepted through Jan. 10.

Lanier said there were no figures available as yet on how much 1974 quotas might be increased, in the event quotas are retained.

appears to be growing behind Communist China's placid facade, U.S. intelligence sources report.

Indications of increasing political tension in China have threaded through reports reaching here over the past several months.

Much of this is believed to stem from the maneuvering of opposing factions for dominance in the event of Mao Tse-tung's death. Mao, the Chinese Communist Party chairman, is nearly 80.

Among its more recent moves, the radical wing of the party reportedly has been working to erode the political strength of the army, which controls many of the key posts in China's provinces.

As a counterweight to the army, radical leaders in Peking and Shanghai have been pushing for a major expansion of the civilian militia in China's cities, U.S. sources said.

Professional military officers are reported resisting any major strengthening of the urban militia, which could be a powerful weapon for the radical party element in a duel for control.

But the officers may be in a losing fight because the radicals are said to be backed by Mao and led by Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, among others.

By tradition, the Peoples Liberation Army (PLA) was kept out of Communist China's domestic politics until the cultural revolution of 1966. The party always believed that civilians should "rule the gun."

However, the Cultural Revolution, fostered by Mao to purge revisionist elements, spawned such chaos that the PLA was called on to restore order and its officers became dominant in most provincial committees.

Although the PLA's political position has slipped in the past few years, it remains strong.

The radicals, who oppose rapid liberalization in Chinese politics and society, are said to be taking aim at Premier Chou En-lai, a pragmatist and a moderate described as favoring faster change even if it departs somewhat from orthodoxy.

So far, there have been no open moves against Chou. But reports speak of under-the-surface attacks, including a campaign of criticism of Confucianism that U.S. analysts interpret as a round-about thrust at Chou.

The 75-year-old Chou has managed to survive until now by what U.S. specialists have called his ability to remain on working terms with differing factions of the party.

There was some belief that he might run into trouble from the radicals at the 10th party congress last summer, but he emerged without apparent loss.

Nonetheless, the radicals apparently have not given up, and some U.S. officials wonder whether the agile Chou can survive a sustained campaign against him.

AMC Raises Car Prices

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors has announced price hikes on its two smallest models but will not increase prices on its larger models.

AMC is the last of the nation's automakers to release specific price increases.

The subcompact Gremlin and the compact Hornet took the maximum $150 retail price increase allowable under AMC's commitment to the federal Cost of Living Council. The two cars are the company's best selling vehicles.

The Gremlin now lists at $2,309, while Hornet models range from $2,509 to $2,849. The prices are effective on models ordered since last Saturday.

The company said Thursday there would be no increases on its sporty Javelin and AMX models, its intermediate Matador or its full-size Ambassadors. Jeep models, however, will climb an added $75 to $150 retail.

Chrysler boosted its retail prices an average of $183 for cars and $210 for trucks; GM raised its prices $133 for cars, $321 for trucks, and Ford hiked its rates $110 for small cars, $139 for others cars, and $189 for trucks.

Avers Bicycle Most Efficient

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — The 10-speed bicycle apparently is the most efficient method of traveling ever invented, says a Duke University professor. He says that a big luxury car traveling 50 miles an hour needs 92 times as much energy to transport a person over a given distance.

The 10-speed bike, with its wide range of gear ratios, wastes little human energy, says Dr. Vance A. Tucker, associate professor of zoology. It requires only half the energy for a given distance as that expended by a person who is walking, his research shows.

Warns Of Jump In Court Cases

RALEIGH (AP)—A state courts official says a proposed change in the auto liability insurance rating system could cause the number of contested cases in North Carolina's traffic courts to double or triple.

Courts Administrator Bert Montague said in a statement yesterday that many persons charged with minor traffic violations might contest convictions that could increase their insurance premiums under a new plan backed by State Insurance Commissioner John Ingram.

Will Challenge Election Defeat

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison plans to contest his loss to attorney Harry Connick in last week's Democratic primary election runoff. Garrison gained national attention with his unsuccessful prosecution of an alleged conspiracy plot in the assassination of President Kennedy.

Gibson Tucker, an attorney for Garrison, said he would file suit claiming widespread voting fraud and irregularities in the primary voting for district attorney.

He said studies of voting returns showed machines in some precincts registered more votes than the number of persons who actually cast ballots.

Realtor Board Installs Officers

Collice C. Moore was installed as president of the Greenville-Pitt County Board of Realtors at the group's annual Christmas banquet and installation of officers Tuesday night at the Greenville Elks Lodge.

Other officers installed include Lee F. Ball, vice president; Brenda Wilson, secretary-treasurer; and W. G. Blount, state director.

On hand for the installation service was Tommy R. Lawing, 1974 president of the North Carolina Association of Realtors, and his wife, Catherine.

At the conclusion of the banquet, outgoing president W. G. Blount was presented a gift of appreciation for serving as president last year. Carolyn McCue, outgoing secretary, was presented a gift for her services last year.

Music for the event was provided by the Band of Oz.

The new president is a native of Warren County. A 1962 graduate of North Carolina State University, he is one of the principles of Wheless and Moore, Inc. He is also a member of the North Carolina Association of Realtors, Inc., the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The new vice president and state director are the owners of Blount and Ball Realty Co., Inc., and the new secretary is associated with Wheless and Moore, Inc.

More Than He Bargained For In A Karate Kick

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — When Thomas Rebbie volunteered to have a cigarette kicked out of his mouth during a karate demonstration at his school, he says he got more than he bargained for.

His attorney filed suit in Montgomery County court Thursday charging that not only was the cigarette knocked out, but so was Rebbie.

The suit also charges that when Rebbie, a student at a vocational school in nearby Lansdale, regained consciousness, he had one tooth missing, three others were loosened and his jaw was broken.

Rebbie and his mother Kathleen are asking for $20,000 in damages and payment of court costs and medical bills resulting from the incident two years ago.

Florida Bonanza In Grapefruit

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Florida citrus growers produced 52 per cent of the world's grapefruit during the 1972-73 citrus season, according to statistics from Florida Citrus Mutual.

The Florida grapefruit production during the season totaled 45.4 million boxes.

Farmville Votes Feb. 16 On Sewage Bonds

FARMVILLE—Farmville voters will decide Feb. 16 whether the Town should issue $1,100,000 worth of municipal bonds for the improvement of the town sewage system.

The bond money, if approved, would be used for a new sewage treatment plant and sewage truck, collection and outfall lines within the town limits and eastwardly for about three miles.

The present treatment plant is operating on a temporary permit from the State Division of Health Services, because the load has outgrown the capacity of the plant and because the level of purity of waste water is not meeting present 98 per cent standards, Town Administrator W. A. Martin said.

Churchman Cites 'Generation Gap' That Existed For Mary

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religious Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When modern mothers bewail the "generation gap" between them and their offspring, an Ohio priest suggests they consider the even more trying difficulties that existed for Mary in regard to her son, Jesus.

Like many present-day parents, she was baffled, shocked and bewildered at His conduct, says the Rev. Frank E. Fortkamp, but she persevered in her loyalty to Him despite the problems.

That makes her a particularly appropriate "model for parents" in these times of strain between them and their young, Father Fortkamp says, and it offers parents a "consoling message" in this Christmas season marking Jesus' birth. He "was the most radical leader who ever lived," attacking the "very roots of the society" and was a problem to Mary "as well as to His whole generation," says Father Fortkamp, of Mount Vernon, Ohio.

Writing in the U.S. Catholic, a national magazine published in Chicago by the Claretian Fathers, he says "some faulty commentaries have made Mary's role 'look easy,'" but Scriptures makes plain it was otherwise.

"It is difficult to imagine the consternation of the law-abiding mother of Jesus when she heard reports of what her son was saying in public, and when she heard Him herself," Father Fortkamp says.

Indeed, the Gospels recount that she and other relatives became so alarmed that "they came to take charge of Him, saying, 'He is out of His mind,' as Mark 3 puts it, but He persisted in His ministry.

Even at the outset, when the heavenly messenger informed Mary she was to bear a divine son, her "initial reaction was not joy but fear" and "lack of understanding" about what was happening to her, Father Fortkamp notes.

Again, when Jesus as a boy of 12 disappeared in Jerusalem, distraught parents spent three days looking for Him before finding Him at the Temple, only to be baffled at His response to them.

"Why were you looking for me?" He asked. "Did you not know that I must be busy with my Father's affairs?"

As Luke 2 observes, "they did not understand what He meant," but "His mother stored up all these things in her heart."

Father Fortkamp says many church people today "have missed the full force of the impact Jesus had on His own times," and even for Mary, it took a "lifelong struggle to fully understand" the good news of the Gospel.

"Mary, like everyone who personally heard and hears what Jesus had to say, had to struggle against all the tendencies of human nature to resist the truth," Father Fortkamp says.

"Right up to the foot of the cross, and beyond, Mary struggled with the truth even while affirming her belief in her son. And it is far from irreverent to suggest that the intimacy of the mother-son relationship made it even more difficult for Mary ... "What parent is naturally and completely willing to learn from his child?"

However, Father Fortkamp says "parents can and should learn from their children, many of whom have a heightened social consciousness ... Parents today need an added measure of patience to continue to stand by their children ...

"Mary, greatest of parents that she was, took time to grow and learn from her son."

Appear Willing To Relax Standards

RALEIGH (AP)—A majority of the North Carolina Board of Air and Water Resources apparently is willing to allow more auto exhaust emissions to save fuel.

The board voted 9-2 Thursday to recommend that antipollution devices on auto engines be made optional.

It also approved Carolina Power & Light Co.'s plans for cooling towers and a 4,000-acre lake at its proposed Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Installation.

The board's auto emission resolution has no force of law. It merely requests that Congress change the law.

The resolution was submitted by H. W. Whitley of Mufreesboro. Board members Paul Dickson of Raeford and Edwin Baker of Raleigh voted against the idea.

Whitley said he had been told that 800 million gallons of fuel per day could be saved across the nation without the devices.

That contention was disputed by W. E. Knight, assistant water and air resources director. Knight said cars built after 1969 get few miles per gallon because of excess weight, automatic transmissions, and air conditioning. Removal of the antipollution devices would result in more pollutants and no significant saving in gasoline, he said.

The CP&L plan for cooling towers and a smaller lake follows a Federal Environmental Protection Agency ruling against the utility's original plan for a simple cooling lake.

NOTICE
North Carolina, Pitt County

Due to requests showing an urgent need to keep the offices of the Register of Deeds and Tax Collector open for one day after Christmas and before January 1, 1974, the Pitt County Board of Commissioners have decided to keep these two offices open on December 31, 1973.

This will give tax payers an opportunity to meet the deadline for the payment of taxes before January 2, 1974 to avoid payment of interest and enable real estate conveyances to be recorded before the first of the year.

All other offices will be closed in accordance with the previous action taken to conserve fuel.

A Perfect Present

A puppy for Christmas. A warm little creature that looks up at you with appealing big brown eyes as he teeters on his wobbly legs. That's something few people can resist.

Before Christmas day is over, though, you may have had a qualm or two about this little fellow—when he starts teething on one of Dad's new Christmas slippers or on the living room rug.

Bringing up a puppy is not all pleasure. It is mixed with responsibility—and that's the way it is with most things in life. Pleasure, responsibility, work, play—it all goes to make up a kind of balance.

Going to church is like that. For home and church make up the most important balance in your life, each vital to the other. If you've been neglecting the church side of the scale, then you have been short-changing yourself. Why not make up for it next Sunday?

Short Of Cash? No Worry—It's A Time For Giving

By STEVE WILSTEIN
NEW YORK (UPI) — If inflation has worn your wallet thin, your rent is overdue and bills are piling up, don't worry. It's Christmas shopping time—peace is right around the corner and so is the loan office.

A shopping tour of three well-known and well-stocked sports centers here showed a 15 per cent price increase on many items over last year. Of course, some prices remained the same while others jumped considerably.

Spalding's very fine football sold for $20 last year. In the same store it is now marked $23. Mini-ping pong by Munroe, a top-quality game for those with limited space, was $29 last year. Now it is $32.

But 'tis the season to be jolly and, if you're going to go broke, you may as well have a good time doing it while giving your friends something by which to remember you.

You can go down with a real flourish and assure your sports-loving friends a good time with an array of extravagant accessories or you can choose more basic equipment and stretch your depleted allowance a bit further.

Crushed What?
Heading the extravagance list for people who have almost everything are such items as a crushed velvet tennis bag and case by Klein ($25); battery-operated portable sonar fish locator by Lowrance ($160); 14 carat solid gold golf ball marker by Metalico ($26); and Memo-sail race starter ($88).

For tired athletes or those who can't decide which sport to tackle first, there are beautiful rainbow-colored cotton and nylon hammocks that hold up to four people ($55) and leather wineskins by Ricker that hold up to a quart ($6). The wineskins are also good for skiers and football fans.

But if your friends are the kind who take their games more seriously, few things are more appreciated than quality equipment.

Wilson's official NBA basketball, complete with Commissioner J. Walter Kennedy's signature, is the best available for indoor use at $30. Spalding's "100" model is comparable at the same price and its "129" at $18 is also a fine ball. For outdoor use, Wilson's "top-notch" ball ($17.50) leads the field.

Among the best golf balls are "Maxfli" by Dunlop, "Plus 6" by Royal, "Titleist" by Acushnet and "Topflite" by Spalding. All were shown here for $12.50 per dozen. For the meticulous duffer who dreams of spring, 19th hole makes a golf club cleaning kit ($5.50).

And for golfers who need all the practice they can get, Brandell's "swing trainee" ($23) may be the answer. For golfers who want to travel light, Brandell also makes "super stick" —ne club that converts into 17 ($50).

A Golf Bag?
Golf bags make welcome gifts and the best run as high as $150.

American adults, especially in congested urban areas, finally seem to be discovering bicycling as a sport and a mode of transportation and this traditional gift for young children also makes a fine present for men and women of all ages.

Prime considerations in choosing the right bike are wheel size, proper balance and gear shifts. Top quality imported 10-speed bikes usually cost more than $90 and may run over $200, but these are for folks who are really into bicycling. Three-speeds or five-speeds are fine for most people who are not looking to break land records. These range from $60-$110. Quality bikes for youngsters begin at $48.

For indoor exercise, there is the Wonder Bike Converter ($6), which converts a regular bike into an exer-cycle by attaching to the rear wheel.

Backpacking
Backpacking is becoming more popular each year and if you know someone who's interested in getting started, we recommend the "Backpacker's Digest" by C.R. Learn and Anne S. Tallman ($5.95). Backpacks ($15-$75) are good gifts, too, but they are difficult to choose unless you know the exact requirements of the person for whom you are buying. Sleeping bags, preferably filled with down, should be light, warm and easy to carry. A Coleman two-burner stove is a luxurious necessity at $20 but battery-heated "Lectra-Sox" are strictly luxury.

Among the finest skis available are the Rossignol "free style" skis at $230, but others, such as the Olin Mark III ($189), Head "HRP" ($155), Hart "SS-Glas" ($150) and Northland ($75), are quite suitable for non-Olympians.

Any skier can always use another sweater, preferably water-repellent, or a gift certificate for a ski outfit. Ski boots, like ice-skating boots, should be fitted precisely. Ski gloves run as high as $25.

Indoor tennis is also growing in popularity and White Stag makes some beautiful burgundy and white long sleeve and long pants acrylic tennis outfits ($2) to keep a body warm on chilly winter courts, as well as other tennis duds. Serious tennis players need to choose their own racquets, which are priced as high as $60. Cheaper racquets are available down to $10.

For the youngster who's into ice hockey or street hockey, there are face masks by Cooper ($9.50) and by Fibrosport-Jacques Plante ($22) and leg pads by Sherbrooke ($9).

Paddleball (one-wall, four-wall, indoors, outdoors) is a great sport and one of the best racquets by Marcraft costs $18. Bowling balls in every color and sparkle run as high as $30.

Fishermen will appreciate a tackle box by Plano ($14) or a rod caddy carrying case ($3-18, depending on the size needed).

After all the exercising is done and all the muscles are crying out for rest, we have the perfect answer: sauna 585 by Sauna Distributors. It is 6 1/2-foot tall and four-foot square with luan wood walls, redwood benches, electric heating and special coals for hot, hot heat. It seats 2, 3 or 4 very friendly people.

Among the most interesting games for children or adults are Aurora's computerized Electric Monday Night Football (without Howard Cosell) and Skittle Pool and Marx's battery-operated Pin Ball ($17).

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Day is excellent time to adopt a new attitude about friendships and wishes, but put your thinking cap on tightly to get the best possible results. Depression in the air in p.m. should not be afflicted upon others, or they shy away.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Getting into group affairs advances you now. Use tact at home and avoid arguments. Don't give in to emotions in p.m. Keep poised, charming.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take care of bills and collections intelligently during day; use diplomacy dealing with mate. Follow intuitive hunches more. Use care in motion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Reach a better understanding with associates. Spend very little in the p.m. Avoid one who is unfriendly to your interests. Enjoy home in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Finish work in jug time. Use tact with kin, friends in p.m. Buy some new items of clothing that are flattering. Avoid the social in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Visit with good friends during your spare time, but don't neglect personal and intimate chores. Improve hobby. Relax in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make necessary improvements at home. Avoid allies in p.m. who are overly emotional. Take short trip with kin in afternoon for more harmony, pleasure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Closest friends have ideas that help you attain cherished personal aims. Get on the good side of an influential person in p.m. while enjoying social life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You now know how to add to your present blessings and should take steps immediately in such directions. Forget idea in p.m. which is not the best.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Convince your good friends to cooperate with you on whatever is beneficial. Pay bills. Join with fine group for recreation in the p.m. and meet charmers, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go after information you need to get ahead faster. Avoid an associate who is irate in p.m. Show devotion to mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Day hours are best for socializing, but make sure you get your work done in p.m. Impress others with your fine talents, especially at group affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Bring abilities to the attention of bigwigs and you get fine results. Don't take any chances where your reputation is concerned.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she should be encouraged in social life and should have an opportunity to invite others into own home, provided you teach early to draw the line at whatever is bad. Your child will have many fine ideas from early years from which even the parents can benefit, so be sure to give a good education. Then the fortune will be made early in life and retirement brings peace, contentment and philanthropy.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Business Grads Woolen Fabric Have Their Goal 2,000 Years Old

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The average business school graduate is looking for an eventual slot in the executive suite rather than a job with social value, according to the current issue of Psychology Today.

"The well-publicized rush to social consciousness by young Americans turns into a walk when it involves the group most likely to be in a position to make significant changes—graduating business school students," said the magazine in reporting on the findings of a nationwide survey.

LONDON (UPI) — Remnants of woolen fabrics used by Romans almost 2,000 years ago have been discovered in the excavation of a Roman fortress in Northumberland.

"It's a very tough cloth and has survived in almost perfect condition," said John Wild of the Manchester University department of history. He said the 50 pieces of fabric apparently were from clothing.

The remnants dating from about 80 A.D. are the oldest made of wool discovered in the Western European area.

GHETTO DESIGNS — Ghetto-designed fashions are modeled by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's mother, Rose, wife Ethel, and daughter Kathleen. The fashions are one result of the Senator's commitment to help New York City's Bedford-Stuyvesant area help itself.

Modeled here are fashions appearing in the January issue of Ladies Home Journal that are made from sheets and bath towels designed by the Design Works, a Bedford-Stuyvesant industry. (AP Wirephoto)

Now Two Women Mining Coal

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
CANEY CREEK, Ky. (AP) — Scrawled across the equal opportunity employment poster at the No. 29 mine here is the word "bull."

Who ever wrote it should be advised to eat his words.

Beth-Elkhorn Corp., owner of No. 29, has hired two women to work alongside men in the underground mine. And Diana Baldwin and Anita Cherry are doing just that.

Tradition in the coalfields has it that women are bad luck underground. The superstition has been strong enough that most women never would think to apply for a job underground, and officials say they know of none who ever worked there. Until now.

"We've always gotten lots of applications from women, for jobs as secretaries and typists," said one Beth-Elkhorn official.

But Diana Baldwin and Anita Cherry thought they might do something besides type. They were hired as underground miners three weeks ago.

Both Anita and Diana support families and they wanted better-paying jobs. "We heard that the civil rights thing had opened up jobs to women, so they'd have to hire us if we applied," Anita said.

Anita, 38, worked as a licensed practical nurse for 17 years and Diana, 25, worked as a waitress and then receptionist at a medical clinic.

"We make more in two weeks here than we did all month at the hospital," Diana said. Both are small-boned, pretty women; neither weighs more than 120 pounds.

"We're women — we're not trying to be men," Anita said. "My dad said they'd try to get rid of us, and we expected rudeness and bad language, but it hasn't happened. It's teamwork down here."

They are classed as general inside labor under the United Mine Workers contract and they make $42.75 for a day's work.

They do everything men in the same classification do: shovel coal, operate coal dust control devices and learn to operate mining machines.

"I was the first woman to operate a shuttle car with coal," Diana said. "There was one man who stood at one end and one who stood at the other and he says, 'Do you know you're making history?' That thrilled me to death. And they were so pleased for us."

Neither feels the work is too hard, but it did take some getting used to.

"For a solid week we moaned and groaned," Anita said. "The guys kept telling us to sit down, take it easy. They'd say give yourself time, let those muscles get used to the work."

It's dark and cold in the mine, and the mine shaft generally is not as tall as the girls. But both seem to love their work.

"I like it much better than what I was doing before," said Diana.

"You don't notice the dark," said Anita. "Your back hurts, but you get used to it."

November Help

A total of 706 persons were assisted by the Salvation Army during the month of November, according to a report presented to the Salvation Army Advisory Board earlier this week.

According to the report, 11 food orders were given during the month along with 24 pieces of furniture, 70 pairs of shoes, and 4,485 garments being distributed to those in need.

Prescriptions were filled for two individuals.

Two transients were given lodging during the month and three meals were provided for transients. One bus ticket was provided, also.

Stroud Helped Set Up Program

Dr. Walter Stroud Jr., an Ayden native, has been instrumental in setting up a new Bachelor of Social Work program at Mars Hill College.

Dr. Stroud has been at Mars Hill two years. He earned his B.S. degree at N. C. State University, his M. A. at East Carolina University, and his Ph. D. at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. He and his wife, the former Bette Speir of Ayden, have a daughter, Rachel, seven.

Sir Keith Will Look Into It

LONDON (AP) — Conservative MP Marcus Fox is not against girls being made more attractive, but he doesn't think Britain's National Health Service should pay $350 for operations to make their busts bigger.

He is asking Social Services Minister Sir Keith Joseph to look into the matter.

At Leeds General Infirmary in Yorkshire, a spokesman said "We have performed about six of these operations on the National Health. There have been good psychological reasons for each one."

Now A Recipe Book By Kindergarten Students

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Breakfast is the easiest, says the Merry Christmas Recipe Book. All you have to do is "put corn flakes in a bowl and eat it."

Or, if toast is what you'd like: "Use pepper and garlic salt and onion. Sit it, and put sugar. Put it in the oven, and cook it a lot of days."

Those two taste tempters are the works of Kevin Green and Latroy Cross, two of the student chefs who do their work in Mrs. Shirley Ehrhardt's kindergarten class at Vermillion elementary school.

Other breakfast fans might like Devin Broussard's culinary classic. Devin, a fancier of bacon, says it can be fixed this way: "Cook it just like that on top of the stove for just a little bit longer."

For lunch, hamburger's a snap, if you can find the thing to cook it in. Michelle Trahan's suggestion is "brown it so we can eat it."

But Stacy Batiste says it's not so simple. "Cook it in a thing with a gold top, with a white thing with a hole in it."

Spaghetti also requires the proper pot, says Mia Landry. "Put gravy and the little long spaghetti and chili. That's all. Cook it on the stove in a pot, and sometimes cook it in a little pot."

Another spaghetti treat came from Kim Taylor: "Put onion, and that's all. Put it on the stove. Cook it 10 hours."

For a seafood dinner, Damian Senegal suggests gumbo, but his version is a two-man operation. "Fix pepper, salt, vinegar, meat, fried chicken, fried shrimp, Church's chicken. Cook it in a pot and stir it with a spoon until Mom comes and feeds us."

And top off a hearty meal with Kevin Rubin's chocolate cake: "Put onion, hamburger, hot dog, pepper and salt. Put it in the oven. Cook it a lot of times."

Both Anita and Diana support families and they wanted better-paying jobs. "We heard that the civil rights thing had opened up jobs to women, so they'd have to hire us if we applied," Anita said.

Anita, 38, worked as a licens-

Warn Shortage In Fertilizers

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue University experts point out that nitrogen and phosphate fertilizers could be as much as 10 to 15 per cent below demand needed for the 1974 crops.

The Purdue survey showed that although production will increase about 5 per cent, the generated new output will be consumed by exports, causing the shortage.

RIVERSIDE CAPITAL MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — This capital city of Alabama is located on the Alabama River in the central part of the state.

Report Theft At Service Station

Greenville Police reported several cartons of cigarettes were reported taken from Wainwright's Amoco Service Station at 1201 West 14th St. following a break-in there early today.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the break-in was reported at 6:31 a.m. Entrance to the building was gained, he said, through a rear window.

Investigation of the incident is under way.

Claim Failure Report 'Leaks'

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says the Dow Chemical Co. has failed to report two leaks of radioactive materials in the past five years.

Dow manufactures nuclear weapon parts at its Rocky Flats plant.

One of the accidental leaks occurred in 1968, and the second occurred earlier this year when tritium from Rocky Flats made its way into Broomfield's water supply reservoir, AEC investigators said in a report Thursday.

The AEC also charged that Dow failed to install an alarm system to detect possible future leaks of radioactive substances.

The government said that a quantity of tritium, a form of radioactive hydrogen, was released accidentally through a smokestack at Rocky Flats in 1968 but was not reported by Dow. It did not endanger the nearby population, the government said.

More tritium escaped last spring through water waste at the plant, and got into a stream which eventually flows into the nearby Broomfield reservoir. It contaminated the water but not at a dangerous level and was ordered cleaned up by the state, the report said.

Dow's new plant manager, William B. Colston, said the leak last spring had induced a greater awareness of problems at Dow among company officials.

"The tritium thing was bad in that it shouldn't have happened at all, but it was good in that it showed us our problems. It gave the system a very good shakeup and made us look at what we're doing," he said.

Nixon Might Not Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undecided on how to get to Key Biscayne, Fla., for a post-Christmas vacation, President Nixon now appears to be considering the possibility of staying at home.

He indicated during a photo session Thursday that he may remain in Washington during the holidays to set an example for fuel conservation.

As photographers were recording the start of a Nixon meeting with energy chief William E. Simon, several said they heard the President say: "We're all going to stay up here and freeze. Someone has to set an example and I guess it's going to be me."

However, there was some confusion over Nixon's exact words and a few of the photographers said they thought he had said: "You guys can stay here and freeze."

For a while, Nixon was reported planning to take a train to Florida. But when it appeared that this might use as much fuel as an airplane, consideration shifted more toward using a small Air Force jet.

A White House spokesman said no final decision has been made on the Florida trip.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF PROPERTY IN PITT COUNTY

The listing of property for tax purposes in Pitt County will begin January 2, 1974, and will continue through January 31, 1974.

Any person, firm, corporation or organization owning property in this county as of January 1, 1974, whether real or personal, must list such property within the listing period or be subject to the penalties prescribed by North Carolina Law. Property must be listed in the township in which it is located.

Persons who requested to list by mail should receive their listing forms early in January. These must be completed and returned to the office of the Tax Supervisor before the deadline of January 31, 1974.

Bring your social security number and your motor vehicle registration cards with you when you come to list.

Owners and operators of parks or storage lots renting space for three or more house trailers or mobile homes are required by law to furnish the Tax Supervisor of the county in which the lot is located, the name of the owner and a description of each trailer or mobile home situated thereon. This list must be submitted by January 15, of each year. Owners and operators failing to comply with the law shall be liable to payment of the tax in addition to a penalty of $250.00.

The Worry Clinic Tactics 'Tame' Office Bearcat

Mike was such a "bearcat" at the office that he lost 5 secretaries. But the 6th used the psychology outlined in this daily column and thus changed Mike into a friendly cooperative boss. She also won a husband by use of similar Applied Psychology!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE Z-505: Mike D., aged 38, had lost 5 secretaries in 3 years. "Dr. Crane," his present secretary confided to me, "I have now used some of your newspaper psychology on him. 'And it works like a charm!'" "So we not only get along famously."

"But he has increased by salary within these first 6 months." "For I remembered your column which said the 'bearcat' at the office is usually compensating for the fact he is a 'housecat' at home. "So I didn't feel hurt to the quick when he started bawling me out the first few days I started in this office. "Oh, I'd have been crushed and would have quit if it weren't

"For I won my husband by following the techniques you taught us readers." "Since I was an introvert and not gifted at conversation, I was what you call a one-date coed. "Oh, I could win a first date, since I was good looking and with the proper 'measurements.'" "But I had trouble getting the boy friend to ask me for a second date." "Then I read your H-E-L-P formula for breaking those awkward pauses that intrude in the usual conversation on the first date." "Well, I didn't even need to go beyond the 'H' for 'Hobbies' before we were carrying on gay, effortless conversation, so my boy friend on that date asked for another and then another, till we are now married." "Another victory for Applied Psychology."

It is an achievement to represent your country in international bridge competition. Boris Koytchou of New York is one of the few players to have represented both the country of his birth and his adopted land. He played for France in three European Championships and was a member of my team that represented the United States in the 1957 World Team Championship. Here is an example of his defensive ability at its best.

A normal auction saw North-South arrive at a reasonable three no trump contract. South had a slight rebid problem, for he did not have a spade stopper. However, he held a perfectly balanced hand, and he decided correctly that the best way to describe it was with a one no trump rebid.

Koytchou, West, led the jack of hearts, won by declarer's queen as East followed with the three. South led a diamond to West's

Break From Tradition

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — If you're tired of cereal for breakfast, try the advice of Mrs. Marjorie Stevenson.

The nutritionist at the University of Nevada, Reno, suggests whipping up something like a cheeseburger, a milkshake, or even a taco.

"Many Americans are being turned off by the traditional bacon and eggs or cereal breakfast," she said. "Eating the right nutrients is much more important than eating certain stereotyped foods."

She said persons should eat a good breakfast, rather than skip it and then make up for it by eating high calorie doughnuts or candy bars later in the morning.

"While it is important to receive a good protein source, a fruit, some type of cereal product and a milk product, these nutrients can be obtained as easily from meat, fish or chicken sandwich as from bacon and toast," she said.

"Many who are in a hurry in the morning find a satisfactory breakfast from a liquid made of fruit juice, eggs, graham crackers and milk blended together which they can drink in a hurry. The nutrients are there although the shape isn't," she said.

"Pizza, macaroni and cheese, chile, tacos—even ice cream or custard—are all good nutritious breakfasts, and they may appeal to teen-agers more than the standard breakfast fare," she said.

"One of my friends has a breakfast favorite of strawberry shortcake or waffles with cream. Here, again, she has included the nutrients although it is certainly not traditional."

WORLD DART RECORD

SYDNEY (UPI) — County Dart Association members Keith Bird and Norm Faley claim a world record by playing 87 games of darts in two hours. They threw nine darts a game or a total of 60 darts. Bird won 50-37.

NOTICE OF SALE
Pitt County
Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of Trust executed by Noah Jones, Jr. (widowed) to Louis W. Gaylord, Jr., Trustee, dated the 1st day of June, 1968, and recorded in Book T 37, Page 335, in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, North Carolina, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured and the said deed of Trust being by its terms subject to foreclosure and the holder of the indebtedness thereby secured having demanded a foreclosure therefor for the purpose of satisfying the indebtedness, the undersigned trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the Court House door in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, at 11:00 a.m. o'clock on the 7th day of January, 1974, the property conveyed in said deed of trust and described as follows:

Located in Greenville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, on the Briley Road near the point where it joins the Allipines Road and bounded on the north by J. Sam Fleming; on the east by Johnnie Biggs and wife, Dora Biggs; on the south by the Briley Road; and on the west by J. Sam Fleming.

BEGINNING at a stake on the north side of the Briley Road at the southwest corner of the Johnnie Biggs and Dora Biggs lot as described in deed dated January 30, 1947, recorded in Book W 24, at page 471, this point being further identified as being approximately 350 feet east of the intersection of the Briley Road and the Allipines Road; and runs with the west line of the said Johnnie and Dora Biggs N 28° 10' E 60 feet to the northwest corner of the said Biggs lot; thence N 86° 20' E 60 feet to a corner made by this deed; thence S 28° 10' W approximately 648 feet to the Briley Road, a corner made by this deed; thence N 88° E approximately 64 feet to the point of BEGINNING, containing approximately one acre, more or less.

This is the same land conveyed by J. Sam Fleming to Noah Jones, Jr. by deed recorded in Book V 22, page 592 of the Pitt County Registry.

This sale will be made subject to all ad valorem taxes or other assessments now due or which constitute a lien on or above described lot (s) or parcel (s) of land and the highest bidder at said sale will be required to deposit with said Trustee 10 per cent of the amount of his bid to show good faith.
