

Simon Orders Six-Degree Home Oil Heating Cut

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy chief William E. Simon ordered during the night a six-degree cut in oil-fired home heating and put service stations last in line for gasoline, starting Jan. 15.

Differing fundamentally from previous appeals, Simon's order to lower thermostats now placed a direct legal obligation on the householder or property-owner to comply. If he doesn't, he will run out of oil.

For a consumer, that is the only legal penalty. Fines run up to $5,000 for any violation by his supplier.

Commercial buildings heated with oil must drop their thermostats 10 degrees.

The temperature reductions must be made below the thermostat settings used in the corresponding month of 1972.

Buildings heated with gas, electricity or coal are not included in this order.

The Federal Energy Office said it was making Jan. 15 "the implementation date for all provisions"—regardless of varying dates of legal effectiveness—because of substantial revisions that made it "impractical to expect instantaneous compliance."

The administration has had mandatory allocation programs in effect for propane since last

Oct. 2 and for middle distillate oils, including home heating oil and diesel fuel, since Nov. 1.

But they are relatively crude systems, assigning priorities to certain classes of users, but without the detailed quantities, percentages, and thermostat reductions imposed by the new regulations.

Rules for gasoline, butane gas, home heating oil and diesel fuel take effect Jan. 11, replacing existing programs in effect until then. The other regulations are now effective and all of them are to be fully applied beginning Jan. 15.

The official regulations included many revisions since they were proposed last Dec. 12, but the gasoline allocation system was virtually unchanged.

It assigned top priority to essential services purchasing gasoline in bulk, second priority to other businesses purchasing in bulk and the leftovers to all others including the service stations.

The regulations left unspecified just how much gasoline would be made available, but remarks by Simon earlier Thursday appeared to indicate that the previously-proposed reduction in gasoline production to a level 5 per cent lower than in 1972 probably would be adopted.

While the original proposal spelled that out, the version finally adopted left it up to Simon's Federal Energy Office to set the reduction and revise it quarterly.

Simon told newsmen Thursday gasoline allocations must be cut some 900,000 barrels per day — the amount which was the basis for the original proposal.

Other key provisions of the new regulations included:

—Adoption of earlier proposals for allocating home heating oil, diesel fuel and other "middle distillates," requiring heating reductions of 6 degrees in homes and 10 degrees in other buildings.

—Revised rules for the heavy fuel oil called "residual," requiring the 6- and 10-degree heating reductions instead of previously-proposed percentage fuel reductions, and adding safeguards on fuel cutbacks to electric utilities to avoid power blackouts.

—Revised rules for aviation fuel, assigning major airlines 95 per cent of the fuel they used in 1972 instead of 85 per cent as previously proposed. Regional airlines and air taxis will get all of their 1972 fuel supplies instead of only 90 per cent.

—Rules to assure that petrochemical plants will get all the raw material they need.

—And completely revised rules for propane and butane gas, replacing a complex priority system with a simpler three-stage distribution: first to petrochemical and synthetic rubber production; then to "traditional" markets for liquid petroleum gas including industrial fuel; and finally, if any is left, to gasoline blending.

In gasoline allocations, top priority is assigned to bulk purchasers engaged in energy production, agriculture, public transportation and emergency services, to receive all they need.

Energy producers and public transportation are to receive all the "middle distillate" oils they need — primarily diesel fuel. Emergency services are to get as much as they got in the corresponding month of 1972.

Engraving and Printing. The coupon has an engraving of George Washington and measures 1 1/4 by 3 1/2 inches. (AP Wirephoto)

If Used, Gasoline Rationing Coupon Will Be Like Cash

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It looks like a shrunken dollar bill but it could become more valuable than the real thing if the government rations gasoline.

The ration coupons, being readied for that doleful day, bear the picture of George Washington and the inscription: One unit of gasoline. There is a place for your state, your license plate number and your name.

If you are age 18 or over and a licensed driver you'll get a month's supply of coupons for $1. You can sell the coupons for whatever you can get if you don't need them. You can buy them at the going rate if you need more.

That, in essence, is how it will work.

A coupon might be worth five gallons one month, six gallons the next. Energy Chief William E. Simon estimates that the monthly average per driver will be 32-35 gallons.

But how many coupons you will get for your initial dollar will vary, depending on whether you live in a densely populated area or not, on how much mass transportation is available and other factors.

Come March 1, the earliest the program could be put in effect, this is what might happen:

You'd receive an authorization card in the mail, prepared by your state's driver's license computer.

In the two-week period before rationing starts, you take the card to a bank or post office — that decision hasn't been made — for one month's supply of coupons. It will cost $1, to defray the $1.4 billion annual bill for the rationing machinery.

The coupons will be printed in a different color each month, but are spendable over a 60-day period. There will be announcements of how many gallons you can buy with them, and changes could be made month by month.

Your service station will collect the right number of coupons and turn them in to a bank to account for the number of gallons he's sold.

The government won't have any part in the private horse-trading over coupons. They can be sold by anyone who's got them and the price will depend on supply and demand.

Simon predicts the so-called white market will quickly level out and there'll be a going rate. He estimates that gasoline will cost 70-75 cents a gallon with a combination of white market tickets and pump price.

The driver who can make his ration last will be paying only the pump price, plus the 2 cents or so a gallon that he paid for the coupons initially.

The free market system is designed to do away with the large bureaucracy needed to make rationing work in World War II. Then there were 60,000 paid employees and 270,000 volunteers to administer the program.

This time the government expects to pay for 50 employees in each state, 500 at the federal level and for one 5-man rationing board in each county. Where more people are required, the state would pay.

Israel, Egypt Talk Rules Of Disengaging

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer
GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)

—Israeli and Egyptian negotiators agreed today on some of the principles to govern separation of their armies along the Suez Canal, the United Nations announced.

A meeting lasting two hours and 10 minutes produced "consensus on some of the principles of disengagement," said the announcement. "There was a further frank exchange of views on other principles. Clarifications were sought by both sides regarding details of these principles."

The announcement gave no clue to the points on which the Israelis and Egyptians agreed and those over which they disagreed.

The negotiators agreed to meet again on Jan. 2, two days after the Israeli elections. Some observers considered this a sign that the negotiators may have reached a major stage in their parley.

Maj. Gen. Mordechai Gur of Israel and Brig. Taha el Magdoub made no statement to newsmen as they entered the meeting room in the Palace of Nations.

The officers began negotiating Wednesday to arrange a "separation and disengagement" of forces along the truce line established after the October war. The disengagement is called for by the cease-fire pact between Egypt and Israel which Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger negotiated in early November.

Previous negotiations on the Suez front deadlocked in late November.

The idea is to straighten the military lines and bolster the cease-fire by pulling the opposing armies apart.

Not All Will Be Disclosed

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)

—The White House has decided not to release summaries and transcripts of key presidential conversations because of the Senate Watergate committee's effort to gain broad access to presidential files, sources report.

The committee issued a subpoena for some 500 tapes and scores of documents, and key aides decided that release of material then in preparation could hurt the President's fight against the committee subpoena.

The decision to forego disclosure was taken Wednesday after President Nixon and aides decided that disclosure might convince segments of the public that Nixon was involved in the Watergate cover-up even though the tapes might not legally convict him, The Washington Post reported today.

Meanwhile, White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt denied another Post story which said he had supplied the lawyer for two former presidential aides with copies of documents that have been turned over to the special prosecutor.

Buzhardt said he had not supplied such material to John J. Wilson, lawyer for former aide H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, or to any other private lawyer.

The Post said in a story quoting unnamed sources that Wilson has been receiving copies of the documents under an informal agreement with Buzhardt.

Wilson declined to comment on the Post story.

The Post story also said Haldeman and Ehrlichman have been given easy access to their White House files, while other former aides have been hindered in efforts to review their papers.

Buzhardt also denied that Haldeman and Ehrlichman had been given any special privileges.

In its story on the decision to withhold summaries and tapes, The Post said senior presidential aides said the recordings indicate that — at a minimum —Nixon knew of the cover-up several days before March 21, 1973, the date the President says he first learned of it.

The Post said two presidential aides, who consistently maintained Nixon was not involved in the conspiracy to cover up the affair, have now told the newspaper they are no longer convinced. The Post did not identify the aides.

The White House had previously announced plans to make disclosures on Watergate and other allegations before Congress adjourned. But adjournment came without the disclosures and spokesmen said they did not know when the so-called White Papers would be issued.

Nixon was angered by the scope of the Watergate committee subpoena, viewing it as a move to upset the balance of power between the executive and legislative branches, sources said.

However, the White House has not formally announced that it will refuse to comply with the subpoena. That announcement is expected to come within a week.

The Post said that instead of publicly releasing transcripts, Nixon and his aides decided Wednesday that any such material will be made available in the future only to the House Judiciary Committee, which is probing possible impeachment of Nixon.

Ford Co. Recalls 13,768 Capris

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has recalled 13,768 new Mercury Capris to check for improperly made wire harnessing that could wear through and cause an electrical short.

Ford announced the recall today. It said it expected to find the defect in about 1,100 of the 1974 model cars.

The faulty wiring could cause loss of engine and electrical system power in addition to possible loss of braking power, Ford said.

Record Under Wraps

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)

—The Indiana Supreme Court has made permanent an earlier temporary order preventing a circuit court at Fort Wayne from forcing release of information about an illegitimate birth.

The birth record allegedly listed Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., as a father of a child born in Allen County in the 1940s. The matter arose during the Senate Watergate committee hearings and testimony involving a so-called "Fort Wayne Story."

McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, has repeatedly denied he fathered a child born in Allen County.

Judge Hermann T. Busse of Allen Circuit Court had ordered the state registrar of vital statistics to release a copy of a birth record to the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel. The state asked the Supreme Court to prevent the disclosure.

The Supreme Court opinion Thursday said Busse should have held a hearing to determine whether sufficient public interest was involved prior to ordering the information released.

Editor Ernest E. Williams said today The News-Sentinel has decided "reluctantly" not to appeal the permanent order.

Promotions, Transfers For Patrolmen In Pitt

Highway Patrol headquarters in Raleigh announced yesterday that two members of the Patrol stationed in Pitt County and a third officer formerly assigned to Pitt will receive promotions and be reassigned to other posts effective January 1, according to Troop A Commander Capt. J. T. Jenkins.

Capt. Jenkins said the promotions and transfers are being made in conjunction with the formation of a new Patrol Troop—the eighth in the state—which will include eight counties along the North Carolina-South Carolina border.

Sgt. F. M. Lemmond, of Greenville, assigned to Pitt and Edgecombe Counties as sergeant since December 1967, will be promoted to First Sergeant and be assigned to Rocky Mount in Troop C, according to Capt. Jenkins, while Trooper George B. Russ, assigned to Greenville as a patrolman since 1963, will be promoted to sergeant and transferred to Durham, also in Troop C.

Sgt. John G. Thomas, stationed in Greenville as a corporal from 1961 to 1967, and currently first sergeant

SGT. F. M. LEMMOND

SGT. G. B. RUSS

stationed in Elizabeth City, will be promoted to the rank of second lieutenant and transferred to Troop G headquarters in Asheville.

According to Capt. Jenkins, Trooper C. S. Harrison, stationed in Clayton since joining the patrol in 1962, will replace Sgt. Lemmond as line sergeant in Greenville.

Sgt. Lemmond is a native of Laurinburg and was with the police department there before joining the Highway Patrol in 1959. Prior to coming to Greenville, the officer had been assigned to posts in Oxford and Fayetteville. He also has served as an instructor at the Patrol's Basic School at Chapel Hill.

Sgt. Thomas, a Beulaville native, was stationed in Swanquarter and Belhaven for more than 14 years before coming to Greenville in 1961 as a corporal. When promoted to sergeant in 1967, he was transferred to Hickory in Troop F, then later moved to Elizabeth City, again in Troop A.

Ptl. Russ, a native of Wilmington, joined the Patrol in 1963. He has been stationed in Greenville since that time.

The Troop A Patrolmen were among 33 persons promoted or moved into other jobs in connection with the establishment of the new troop—Troop H, which will have its headquarters in Monroe and include Gaston, Mecklenburg, Union, Anson, Richmond, Scotland, Hoke and Robeson Counties.

As part of the establishment of Troop H, other troop boundaries have been re-aligned, including those of Troop A.

According to Capt. Jenkins, Lenoir and Greene Counties will, effective January 1, become part of Troop C, with headquarters in Raleigh, while Jones County, also a part of Troop A, will become part of Troop B, with headquarters in Fayetteville.

In addition to the Troop A men promoted and transferred, a former Troop A lieutenant, L. S. Meiggs, now serving as a first lieutenant and executive officer of Troop F in Hickory, is being promoted to captain in charge of inspection and internal affairs at patrol headquarters in Raleigh.

Also, Second Lieutenant R. A. Clark of Asheville will become

Simon Spells Out Sharing Petroleum Supplies

WASHINGTON (AP) — New regulations signed late Thursday by energy chief William E. Simon spell out just who can get how much of the nation's shortage-plagued petroleum. Here, at a glance, are key provisions:

APPLICATION — Begins Jan. 15, 1974.

GASOLINE PRODUCTION — Will be reduced to some fraction of 1972 production, to be announced and revised quarterly. Indications are that the first cutback will be to 95 per cent of 1972 levels.

GASOLINE ALLOCATION — Energy production, agriculture, public transportation and emergency services which purchase gasoline in bulk get all of their current needs. Other businesses purchasing in bulk get as much as in 1972. The remainder is shared by all others, including service stations.

MIDDLE DISTILLATE OIL — Primarily home

heating oil and diesel fuel. First priority goes to: energy production and public transportation, getting all they need; emergency services, getting as much as in 1972; heating users, getting enough to maintain temperatures reduced by 6 degrees in homes and 10 degrees in other buildings. Second priority goes to: agriculture, industry, freight and mail hauling, to get 10 per cent more than in 1972; and others, getting as much as in 1972. RESIDUAL OIL — A heavy fuel oil. Energy production, agriculture, public transportation, emergency services, civilian marine shipping except pleasure cruises, and medical building heaters get all the fuel they need.

Non-medical heating consumers get enough for the 6- and 10-degree temperature reductions; electric utilities get a ration computed by the Federal Energy Office with assurances of avoiding blackouts; others get as much as in 1973.

HARDSHIP CASES — Extra fuel can be assigned to hardship cases from reserves of 3 per cent of monthly gasoline and distillate supplies, and any excess residual oil.

AVIATION FUEL — Major airlines get 95 per cent as much as in 1972. Regional airlines and air taxi services get as much as in 1972. Business flying gets 20 per cent less and instructional and pleasure flying 30 per cent less than in 1972.

PROPANE AND BUTANE GAS — First the needs of petrochemical production are filled; then "traditional" markets including industrial fuel; and finally, gasoline blending.

PETROCHEMICAL PRODUCTION — Gets enough oil subject to allocation to assure all of the needed raw material.

Children Plan Ways To Help Save Wildlife

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Train eagles to eat food from a person's hand? Quit shooting rabbits so coyotes will have more food and not prey on lambs? Vaccinate buffalo?

These are a few of the suggestions from elementary school children in one small Wyoming community who are concerned about the future of wildlife in their state.

Ever since the eagle-killing and predator-control controversies hit Wyoming in 1971, widespread news coverage has been given to those issues and others concerning wildlife. Apparently the issues have made an impact on the citizenry — even 8 and 9-year-olds.

At the elementary school in the tiny southeast Wyoming town of Rock River, 3rd and 4th graders asked their teacher, Mrs. Florence Atkinson, if they could express their concern about wildlife.

The letters that resulted covered the topics of eagle and coyote killing, the problems with brucellosis in buffalo herds, the treatment of wild horses and the killing of some bears in Yellowstone National Park.

"I thought their ideas were good and sometimes unique," said Mrs. Atkinson, who mailed the letters to the Wyoming Game and Fish Department.

Here's a sample of some of the children's letters that appeared in the June issue of "Wyoming Wildlife" published by the department:

"The eagles are getting extinct. They do kill sheep, lambs, and other animals. I think you should train them to come get their food from the people who work for the Game and Fish Dept. The eagles are useful too. They kill the rats and mice that eat the grain from farms." Yours truly, Bonnie Crosier-Grade 3

"I don't think coyotes should be killed because if man didn't kill so many rabbits coyotes wouldn't kill so many sheep. The only time I think coyotes should be killed is when there's too many of them." Sincerely, Johnny Hall-4th Grade

"I heard that the buffalo have to be killed because of some kind of disease. The ranchers want the buffalo killed, because their cattle might get the disease. Could they do the same thing they do to the cattle, vaccinate them? I know it's hard to vaccinate the buffalo but can't they put a tranquilizer in them?" Yours truly, Grant Christensen-3rd Grade

"I want to know why people want to kill wild horses. I don't see why people couldn't use something else for dog and cat food. Wild horses don't do any harm to anything. I think you should put wild horses in National Parks so no one can capture them." Yours truly, Betty Portwood-Grade 4

"I think that you shouldn't kill the bears in Yellowstone Park who hurt people. The people are feeding the bears. The bears get mad if they don't get more food. The Park Rangers blame the bears. You take them to the mountains and shoot them. I think you should get more Park Rangers to watch people like that and don't let them come into the park again." Yours truly, Richard Killion-4th Grade

Have Attorney Write Letter

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow of one year, 68 years old, living alone in my own home.

We had a roomer for four years in our spare room to help pay taxes and insurance on our house. After my husband's death, this roomer, who is about 60, began to take a personal interest in me, which I resented, as he is not my type.

One night, without warning, he came into my bedroom and awakened me, saying he was "lonesome." I was frightened, and screamed at him, and he went back to his room. He apologized and said he would not do it again, but I gave him 30 days notice to move, which he didn't want to do, but I insisted.

Now he keeps calling me on the phone, asking to come back. He says he "loves" me, but I know his intentions as he even propositioned me on the phone.

How can I get him to stop calling me? I don't want to anger him, and I don't want to get an unlisted phone number. SEATTLE

DEAR SEATTLE: Ask your attorney to write this man a letter and tell him if he doesn't quit harassing you, you will bring charges against him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged married woman. I was walking toward my apartment building with several packages when a man who lives in our building [also middle-aged and married] pulled up in his car and said: "Get in, and I'll give you a ride home."

I knew him, so I got in and he drove down into the basement of the apartment building where the tenants park their cars.

Walking toward the elevator, I said: "Thanks, friend. How much do I owe you?"

He jokingly replied: "I'll settle for a kiss," so I kiddingly gave him a little peck on the cheek, and wouldn't you know, one of the other tenants saw me! Abby, my right hand to God, that was the whole story, but this neighbor spread it all around the building.

How can I clear my name? I can hardly hold my head up. NOT GUILTY

DEAR NOT: He who excuses himself, accuses himself. Forget it. You're lucky he didn't jokingly ask you for a few dollars.

DEAR ABBY: I am currently enrolled in a four-year college which requires that everyone who is physically able must learn how to swim before he graduates.

I have been putting off taking the swimming course because I am deathly afraid of water. Just the thought of it makes me sick.

I suppose I could go to a doctor and ask him to please give me some kind of phony excuse [like ear trouble] which would get me out of taking swimming.

I realize it would be an advantage to know how to swim, but if I'm too frightened to learn, what should I do? PETRIFIED

DEAR PETRIFIED: I urge you to give it a try. [Most swimming instructors are experts in dealing with "petrified" students.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO SYLVIA IN SAN MATEO: Tell him, "thanks a lot," and take public transportation. Those "free" rides could cost you more than you want to pay.

New Concept In Mental Health Services Shapes Up

By PAULA BARWICK
Under authority granted by the 1971 General Assembly, a new concept of delivering comprehensive mental health services to the citizens of North Carolina has been completed for 27 of the 32 Eastern Region counties in North Carolina.

Resources, said "Twelve of the 13 mental health areas have completed the organization of Area Mental Health Boards and they are now functioning." Mrs. Myree Hayes of Greenville, in Pitt County, has been elected Chairman of the Pitt County Mental Health Center Area Board.

with each other for the sharing of resources, personnel and facilities."

The 32 Eastern North Carolina counties are divided into 13 Mental Health Services areas, each having its own Mental Health Center or Clinic. An "Area" within the 32-county Eastern Region (and across North Carolina) consists of one or more counties and serves from approximately 75,000 to 200,000 persons.

Through the Area Program, comprehensive care in the community is emphasized. When short-time psychiatric hospitalization is needed, it will be available in the community and treatment of persons with alcoholic problems, where detoxification is necessary, will, in most cases, be provided locally.

Emergency facilities will be available to the mentally ill, severely depressed, alcoholic people, and those who might be sick from an overdose of drugs.

The Area Board is the basic unit holding responsibility in the community for the delivery of mental health, mental retardation, alcoholism and drug dependence, and mental health education services.

This area of responsibility is designed to assure the delivery of mental health services, in the local community, (at home), where possible; to children and youth who may be having emotional and behavioral problems; mentally retarded; as well as services and programs designed to treat, rehabilitate and counsel people with alcohol and drug dependency problems.

The responsibility in determining and establishing services and programs needed in each of the areas, with approval given by the Area Mental Health Board, is placed in the hands of an Area Director. The Area Director is appointed by the Area Mental Health Board, with the approval of the North Carolina Division of Mental Health Services.

Director, and the Regional Staff, and thus with the North Carolina Division of Mental Health Services. The Regional Director and Regional Staff are available for consultation and assistance in the delivery of services and establishing programs in each area to meet the needs of local people.

When out-of-community service is required, Regional facilities are available for inpatient service, care and treatment, at Cherry Hospital, Goldsboro, for the mentally ill; Caswell Center, Kinston, for the mentally retarded; and Walter B. Jones Rehabilitation Center, Greenville, for the rehabilitation of alcoholic people.

A close working relationship is maintained at all times between the Area Board and Area Director, the Eastern Regional

Poll Places Ford Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The Harris poll reports that Vice President Gerald R. Ford placed ahead of Democratic Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Henry M. Jackson of Washington in a recent survey involving potential 1976 presidential contenders.

Results of the poll, released Thursday, indicated that the proportion of undecided voters was large enough to change the outcome in a possible race between Ford, a Michigan Republican, and either Democrat.

Figures in the Harris survey were: —Ford, 48 per cent; Kennedy, 44 per cent; 8 per cent unsure.

—Ford, 43 per cent; Jackson, 41 per cent; 16 per cent unsure.

In the poll, a cross-section of 1,103 likely voters was asked: "If the 1976 elections were being held today, and you had to choose, would you vote for Gerald Ford on the Republican ticket for president or for Sen. Edward Kennedy, Sen. Henry Jackson on the Democratic ticket?"

Senator Target Of Terrorists

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson says his strong support of Israel has made him a target of Arab terrorists.

"I've been threatened" by Arab terrorists, the Washington Democrat told a news conference Thursday. But he refused to elaborate, except to say: "I am an obvious target."

A spokesman for the Seattle FBI office said, "We know about it, but we can't comment about it. It's a matter under investigation."

A Jackson aide said the senator's staff had been warned to "watch suspicious mail for letter bombs."

Jackson said, "The whole world will respect us" for standing behind Israel during the Arab oil embargo. "We're in a crisis, but it's a manageable crisis."

Has Greetings From Russians

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Multimillionaire Cyrus S. Eaton, celebrating his 90th birthday, received telegrams from several dignitaries.

One from Soviet leaders Leonid I. Brezhnev, Alexei N. Kosygin and Nikolai V. Podgorny conveyed "best wishes and warmest regards" from the Soviet people.

Eaton and three generations of his family had a private celebration Thursday at the industrialist's Acadia Farms in Northfield, Ohio, followed by a reception at City Hall in Cleveland.

Trudeau Picks Name For Son

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau says his new son will be named Alexandre Emmanuel after the saint, the czar or the pope, "take the one you want."

Emmanuel was the prime minister's choice. His wife, Margaret, chose Alexandre.

The baby, born Christmas Day, will be nicknamed Sacha. The Trudeaus' other son, Justin, was born on Christmas Day two years ago.

TO READ THE MAP IS TO WEEP

TUWEEP, Ariz. (AP) — John Riffe knows where he lives, even if the Arizona Highway Department doesn't.

Riffe is the only resident of Tuweep, just inside the boundary of the Grand Canyon National Monument.

For the past 15 years, the highway department has shown Tuweep on its maps to be 10 miles north of where it really is.

Electrocuted In Escape Attempt

RALEIGH (AP) — A young inmate attempted to escape from Central Prison Thursday night and was electrocuted.

Gary Dixon, superintendent of the west wing of the prison, said Allen Christopher Foy, 17, of Houston, Tex., attempted to climb the east wall and came in contact with high voltage wires.

Foy was serving a 15-month sentence for malicious damage, disorderly conduct and trespassing, Dixon said. He was sentenced in Onslow County Sept. 4.

Just What Should Public Do?

Whatever the energy crisis is doing to us, it seems to leave us in the position of meeting ourselves coming far too often.

We have been urged for years, for instance to consider electric heat for homes. The reasoning was that more electricity was used in the summer than in the winter and thus the electric companies had surplus capacity in the winter. After there was even a more favorable electric rate in the winter for this very reason.

Now along comes the National Association of Attorneys General which urges that the governors have more power to deal with the energy crisis.

One of the proposals was to discourage the use of electricity to heat homes and offices. Electric heat, it seems, is indirect and wastes two-thirds of the raw energy needed to produce it.

Then there are those who tell us that a shower conserves more energy than a bath. It has to be a quick shower, though. As anybody with a small water heater knows, a fairly leisurely shower will quickly run the water tank cold.

And it is well known that while almost everyone recognizes the need for cleaning up the air, new standards for auto emissions will be delayed because of the gas shortage.

We are sure most Americans want to do what is best in the current energy crisis. Now if we can find out for sure just what it is we are supposed to do.

That Commercial Plane Flight Was Poor Idea

President Nixon has flown to San Clemente by commercial aircraft and, while it may answer some of the criticism of using the presidential plane for such trips, it is not a good idea.

The nation doesn't ferry the president around in a private aircraft for the comfort of the president as a person. It is done because of the tremendous complications that could come is a plane carrying the president were hijacked or blown up in flight.

The president, whoever he might be, needs to be in constant contact with government and nothing could be more frustrating than some plane hijacker skipping around the globe with the president of the United States aboard.

We had better spare the fuel for presidential flights in private planes than to take such risks as this.

Prison Is Not A Country Club

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—A day spent touring prisons, talking with inmates and supervisory personnel, confirms the contention despite the end of the roadside chain gang, despite better meals with more variety, despite the bans on cruel and unusual punishments, prison still is no country club.

David Jones, secretary of rehabilitation and control, said he hears a lot of people these days saying going to prison isn't as tough as it used to be—people don't fear it the way they did.

Not true, he argues. And a visit behind the walls will dispel any images you may have to the contrary. While some bright paint has replaced the peeling gray or green in some areas; while a bright bedspread can be seen occasionally instead of the drab green; while honor-granted prisoners are permitted passes out for community activities and outsiders come in for shows, workshops and programs—the fences, walls, barbed wire and gates are forever present.

Salesman For Change

Jones, appointed by Gov. Jim Holshouser, said he is a "four-year man" in his present job and doesn't expect to become a professional rehabilitation expert. But he is beating the drum for changes to help the professionals do their job, and is seeking public support for a legislative and budget package to be submitted this winter to the General Assembly.

It will be, he said, the largest budget request ever for prisons, including more than $21 million for new buildings to partially relieve overcrowding at existing facilities.

And overcrowded the prisons are. One example: in one big room at Central Prison, 78 men sleep on double-decker bunks no more than 24 inches apart. New inmates checking in regularly spend up to two weeks on quilts spread on the floor of a shower room before assignment to a ward or cell block.

Jones' philosophy of prison goals is relatively simple, dispelling the idea that bright paint, new buildings and better food relieve the punishment of being in prison.

The goal of prison is first of all to protect society from the criminal, he said. Next, the prisoner has the right to get help in finding out what he is capable of doing and wants to do by way of earning a living on the outside, and the right to "earn and deserve" the opportunity to take part in rehabilitative programs. And Jones stresses that "earn and deserve" can be a hard part of the bargain.

In fact, prisoners often use a "contract" drawn up and signed by inmates and prison officials which in essence say if the prisoner will do certain things, to earn and deserve his chance, the system will repay by offering the rewards of training.

Three Key Words

At the heart of Jones' philosophy are three key words: logic, reason and love. Prisoners, he said, are going to be given the opportunity to respond in that kind of atmosphere. Some, he believes, will do so.

Sure, the cruddy smells, the clanging steel doors, the crowded conditions will remain. But the man who earns and deserves his chance should get it, Jones believes.

Jones said he is also taking a long, hard look at the prospects for community facilities for juvenile offenders, getting away from the large training school concept.

Studies have shown that about half of those in the training schools are there as truants or for misbehaving at home, not for committing crimes.

Jones said he is looking for a woman to head up the program, in the belief that she would have greater success in "selling" the approach.

"We don't know just what shape such a program will take. This is still a new area, and only a couple of states are into it," Jones said.

Community Must Help

"But at the heart of it is the belief that the state should not just go out and build and operate a number of smaller community facilities as state institutions. If we do that, community reaction might prove strong and they may fight having such a facility in a given community.

"Where we need to go is the direction of saying to a community that it produced this problem child—he didn't just spring full-blown into troubled existence and should be handled by the state," he said.

"So, if the community helped produce the problem, then the community should help in the treatment of the child. This means community involvement at all levels, and it's quite likely that the state would get community organizations to build and operate the facilities with guidance from the state level."

Fuel Shortage Not Perceived

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Five months ago a major U. S. company, alarmed by closing gasoline pumps and its own private projections of the energy shortage, came to Washington seeking expert estimates from the Nixon administration on the ugly dimensions of the coming crisis.

It got something else: lavish quantities of soothing syrup, predictions that the energy shortfall would be "no more than 2 or 3 per cent" and strong advice not to worry.

Angry at this obvious refusal to analyze what may be the most serious economic and cultural shock for the U. S. since the Great Depression, this particular American company—with roots in nearly half the states—went back to its own drawing boards to try and take stock.

The incident, repeated for other U. S. business and industrial concerns, was a foretaste of the administration's apparent decision to downplay the energy crisis, avoid the harsh facts and hope that, somehow, sometime, it will disappear.

In fact, far from disappearing, the dimly perceived dimensions of the shortage are now the subject of even more heated political backroom debate and speculation than Watergate. The constant theme: President Nixon, either by design or because of preoccupation with his own salvation, is encouraging a dangerously unrealistic mood about the energy crisis by pine-in-the-sky forecasts of quick recovery.

Thus, the little noted "assessment and analysis" of the energy emergency compiled a few days ago by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, denounced the administration in barely civil terms for having its head in the sands.

"The information required to determine and assess the extent of impending energy shortages," said Jackson,

"has been available in the public domain, but no agency of the federal government has compiled or made any competent analysis of such data. There has been no adequate analysis of the anticipated social and economic impacts of projected fuel shortages."

Far worse, Jackson said that the shortages "and the threat they pose to the economy and to national security exceed by far any savings resulting from measures taken by the executive branch."

That plain-English warning has been quietly sounded again and again to President Nixon. More than a year ago, for example, Secretary of Interior Rogers Morton briefed Mr. Nixon on the coming crisis. The President was agast. He asked Morton to give him similar briefings every three months to keep him up to date.

But, soon to be overwhelmed by his personal crisis over Watergate, the President never did ask Morton back.

Likewise, the President deeply disturbed by his own energy experts, who worry over Mr. Nixon's inability to come to grips with the energy crisis, in his speech early this month to the Seafarers Union. In words which, at worst, baldly understated the problem or, at best, were baldly ambiguous, Mr. Nixon referred to the energy crisis "that we have for this year, a crisis that was made much more difficult because of what has happened in the Mideast over the past three to four weeks."

In fact, the "crisis that we have for this year" will be nothing compared to the next ten years, as world demand for dwindling fossil fuels rises precipitously and the American proportion goes down.

Moreover, some presidential aides talk blithely about "breakthroughs" and "crash programs" to extract oil from shale and gas from coal within the next few years.

In fact, it will be at least five years before either form of new energy supplies will (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

DISTINCTION AND EFFORT

It may look very easy to us as we see a person of great skill achieving something which calls forth widespread admiration, but we need always to remind ourselves that skill is gained at the cost of great effort. Behind the dazzling performances of great artists, musicians, and writers lie hundreds of hours of grueling labor.

For example, Michelangelo said to a friend shortly before his death, "If people knew how hard I had to work to gain my mastery, it would not seem wonderful at all." He

"I'm Congressman Upchuck and I'd like to have a few words with you."

"Don't want any."

"I'm not selling anything, Mr. Coleslaw. I just want to find out how you feel about the great issues of the day so I can do my job better in Washington. Now, how's everything been working for you?"

"Ain't been working."

"Well, we'll have to do something about that, won't we?"

"What can you do about me not working?"

"Congress can do a lot of things. Pass a law, offer a resolution, filibuster if we have to. Do you mind if I ask why you're not working?"

"Place I worked at made shoelaces for shoes made in another place. Other place couldn't make shoes because they couldn't get leather from the leather company. The leather company couldn't get leather because there was no diesel fuel to get the cows to market. Truck drivers wouldn't deliver diesel fuel to diesel filling stations because they were losing money driving 55 miles an hour. That's why I ain't making shoe laces."

"By God, Mr. Coleslaw, you're a victim of the energy crisis! Do you know I warned the country about the energy crisis three years ago? Here is a speech I made on the floor of the House in 1970 I said unless we tightened our belts and put our shoulders to the wheel that sometime in the next 50 years we might have gas rationing. Well, how do you like that for on-the-nose predicting?"

"What did you do about energy besides predict?"

"Well, I introduced a bill a year ago giving the oil companies a special tax discount as an incentive for finding us more oil."

"Heard the oil companies have done pretty good since the crisis."

"That's what makes America great. Give us a shortage and we'll make money on it."

"Upchuck, will you get the hell out of here."

"Now, wait a minute, Mr. Coleslaw. I want to know everything that's bothering you. I would not be serving my district if I didn't know your doubts, your hopes. Tell me, Coleslaw, besides being out of work and having no money, what else irritates you?"

"Too many crooks in Washington, starting with that guy who keeps saying he ain't one."

"I'm glad you brought that up, Coleslaw. Would you be for or against impeachment?"

"I'd settle if he just paid his income tax."

Design Is The Thing

By BOB HARING

Associated Press Writer
Car designers must all be bachelors.

Or at least not parents. Or at least not parents who travel in cars with children.

The modern motor car may be a marvel of engineering and advertising may boast of it as a family vehicle, but any father with children under 10 understands that it lacks many family facilities.

For instance, where do you put the garbage?

Granted that a garbage disposer might be a bit tough to fit in amidst the automatic windows, air conditioning, pollutant controls and what not. Still, the mechanical genius, who can predict almost to the hour of warranty expiration when the fan belt will give way should be able to come up with some solution.

Maybe a compactor would work.

That at least could convert half-eaten hot dogs, used soda cans, broken balloons, leftover popcorn ball, stray shards of corn chip and mashed clam shell from last summer's vacation into neat sanitary bricks that could be stacked easily.

Even a built in wastebasket would be an improvement.

Every car with kids already has (or, it sometimes seems, is) a waste basket of sorts. It may be a pink plastic bucket straddling the hump in the floor or a plastic sack dangling forlornly from a window knob, but if a car has kids, it has to have a place for debris.

Since car designers don't build in trash containers, it follows that they don't have kids.

40 Years Ago Today

By SUSAN PRICE
December 28, 1933

Heads of law enforcement departments in Greenville were in Raleigh today attending the school of law enforcing officers conducted at North Carolina State college by the Institute of Government.

Those attending the session were Sheriff Sam Whitehurst; Lester Jones, Lieutenant of division highway patrol; and George Clark, chief of police.

Every phase of activity in connection with law enforcement will be discussed during the session, and the staff of instruction is composed of judges of the state and various departmental heads of federal government.

Two men who were jailed here for allegedly peddling second hand clothes were released by police today when it was discovered that one of them was a veteran of the World War and not subject to such a tax and that the other was simply taking subscriptions to a couple of magazines.

The two men, both of Washington, D.C., were given their liberty, their car, clothing and credentials and they immediately signified their intention of leaving the town as fast as their car would take them.

Other Editors Say Remarkable O.J.

(Greensboro Daily News)

A word must be said in praise of Orenthal James Simpson, the once-discontented Buffalo running back who laid strong claim, in the season just concluded, to being the greatest runner professional football has ever seen.

That, of course, is an honor that can be argued over until the cows come home. Certainly Jim Brown was the embodiment of sheer power, and Gale Sayers was incomparably graceful and swift, and both of them achieved incomparable feats. But it seems to us difficult indeed to argue against Simpson after this season.

Playing for a team that the year before had won only four games, Simpson established a running standard that many football experts thought impossible: he rushed for a total of 2,003 yards in 14 games, breaking Brown's decade-old record by well over a hundred yards. The 2,000-yard mark had been accorded much the same hallowed status once enjoyed by the four-minute mile and the sound barrier; Simpson broke it.

He did it as a member of a Buffalo offense which for most of the season had a non-existent passing attack, enabling opponents to key their defenses directly on him. He did it behind a young and relatively inexperienced offensive line that was really playing as a unit for the first time. He did it despite playing two games against the Miami Dolphins, a team perhaps as stingy against the running attack as any in the game.

Simpson is an unusually gracious and thoughtful person, and it was characteristic of him that when he went before the press after setting the record, he brought the entire offensive team with him and introduced each member of it personally. And of course he could not have done it without their help. But his is a distinctly personal triumph, earned through such qualities as intelligence, spirit, peripheral vision, speed and maneuverability. It is one of the most remarkable accomplishments in the history of sport, and Simpson is one of the most remarkable people sport has known.

Wastrels Or Simply Victims?

By RICHARD L. STERN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the advent of the energy crisis, we the consumer, find ourselves blamed for perpetuating what business and government have been telling us is the American way of life.

William E. Simon, the new energy chief, pointing at the consumer, recently said, "It is obvious we have been a nation of great energy wastrels."

But with a lack of government planning in the past and with business pushing us to use its products, are we truly wastrels? Or, perhaps, are we the victims?

We have bought bigger and faster gasoline guzzlers as Madison Avenue painted television pictures for us to warm summer nights with beautiful men and women snuggled in their vinyl-upholstered, air-conditioned, power-braked cars.

Harried housewives have watched as carefully coiffed actresses, playing their counterparts in television commercials, supposedly doubled leisure time with bigger washers and driers, garbage disposals, electric mixers, knives and can openers, and made their lives easier with petroleum-derived plastic bags, detergents and waxes.

Indeed, for years, it was the Detroit auto makers who steadfastly refused to give Americans small domestic cars until they realized their customers were buying imported cars.

In Washington, until very recently, our political leaders were reluctant to allot to mass transit a share of the billions of dollars in highway funds realized through gasoline excise taxes.

Railroads were one direct victim of our mania for autos. But government disinterest abetted the decline of rails.

Mail service, for instance, was increasingly diverted to the airlines.

Railroad executives, instead of fighting for the passenger market, gave in to the airlines, buses and cars. Railroad service and scheduling faltered, and in many cases was dropped.

Now we question whether this should have happened. New high-speed Amtrak service between Washington and New York was booked to capacity even before the energy crisis. The rails, it seems, still have allure.

Little was revealed about the coming energy crisis that we are now told was foreseen by many experts.

The oil companies told us about friendly service and high octane gasoline that not only drove our auto monsters but helped keep their engines clean.

Corporate executives, and indeed the president of the United States, lived in a manner which epitomized the American dream — high-speed jets, helicopters, limousines, and homes at the far reaches of the American continent.

How many commuters stuck in traffic jams on federally subsidized highways leading to Los Angeles, the epitome of a world the auto created, have dreamed of a smog-free alternative, such as high speed, modern commuter lines.

And now, after trying to live the American dream, what are Stephen and Vilma Roumell of New Buffalo, Mich., who must commute about 50 miles a day in a rural area devoid of public transport, supposed to do with their gas guzzlers when the government calls on them not to buy more than 10 gallons of gas a week?

Are they really the culprits? Or, like the rest of us, are they merely the victims?

even have reached the demonstration plant stage. The problem of getting oil out of shale is staggering.

Jack H. Bridges, consultant to the joint Atomic Energy Committee, is giving confidential briefings on the real energy crisis which have shocked Senators and Congressmen the last few weeks—providing a glimpse of just how tremendous the shale problem is. To extract from shale millions of barrels of oil a day (the current shortage exceeds 3 million barrels a day even after the administration's enforced savings program) would require an earth-moving operation equal to digging out at least one new Panama Canal every day.

That offers some idea of the future problem. Indeed, serious politicians and engineer studying the energy crisis believe the U. S. and the entire industrial world may be caught in a near-fatal squeeze—a squeeze which the Arab boycott has temporarily worsened but by no means created—without any real solution. That may also be a slight hyperbole, but not nearly so dangerous as the President's hyperbole in talking about a one-year crisis.

British Jobless Increase

LONDON (AP) — Nearly 1 million unemployed are forecast for Britain next week because of the spreading effect of the country's energy shortage.

The Department of Employment announced Thursday that 400,000 workers have been laid off in England and Wales as a direct result of the fuel crisis. A few hours later the British Steel Corp. announced that the coal shortage may force it to suspend 100,000 employees — almost half its work force — at the start of the new year.

Unemployment at the start of the crisis totaled 490,000 out of a work force of 24 million. Newspapers have predicted 10 million jobless if the crisis drags on.

Leaders of 18,000 electrical power engineers who have been refusing to work overtime met today to consider a new pay offer, and power industry sources said they were expected to accept it. But their slowdown has been a minor factor in the electricity shortage, resulting in only one day of blackouts.

Seventy per cent of Britain's electricity is generated from coal, and the crisis crippling the country is due to a slowdown by 270,000 coal miners which has cut coal production 30 per cent. And a slowdown by 29,000 locomotive engineers is delaying coal shipments to generating stations.

Both the miners and the railwaymen want pay raises in excess of Prime Minister Edward Heath's anti-inflation guidelines. Talks between the miners and the state coal board broke up Thursday without agreement, but a union spokesman said they would resume Wednesday.

In an effort to spread the effects of the energy shortage, Prime Minister Edward Heath's government ordered a 2½-day work week for the last half of December and a three-day week beginning Jan. 1.

Plebiscite Is Asked Over Terrorism

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A statement purporting to come from the terrorist group that made the firebomb-hijack attack at the Rome airport last week called today for a plebiscite in all Palestinian refugee camps to approve or condemn the operation.

The statement, published in the Beirut newspaper Al Liwa, challenged plans of the Palestine Liberation Organization to try the five terrorists who killed 32 persons at the Rome and Athens airports.

"We are ready to settle the controversy over the operation by a plebiscite held in all Palestinian refugee camps in the Middle East," said the statement.

"We reject the incessant attacks waged against us by the guerrilla leadership and are willing to accept the verdict of the Palestinian people in a plebiscite."

The statement, like another one issued by the group Dec. 21, did not give the name of the organization. The five terrorists, who surrendered in Kuwait and are reported still being questioned there, were reported refusing to identify their organization or themselves.

Parents may not know engineering, but they understand the equation that children equal rubble. And the amount of garbage compounds with each additional kid.

A two-week vacation with three small boys might give car makers lots of better ideas. Does any car have a place to hang wet bathing suits? Does any car have facilities for eating in the car? Does any car have a sound barrier that can be raised to insulate mom and pop in the front seat from the rumble of childhood in back? Does any car have windows that no kid under the age of 13 can lower at will? Does any car have built into mamma's side a compartment for spare diapers? Or a holder for crayons, coloring books, games, puzzles and other entertainment? Does any car have luggage space able to cope with fishing rods, basketballs, baby strollers and still accommodate suitcases with at least two changes per child? Obviously, Detroit (at least the car-making part of it) needs a lesson in parenthood.

One approach might be to require the president of each car-maker to spend one three-week vacation with at least two children under the age of nine.

Each day traveled ought to inspire at least one improvement.

Somebody might even figure out how to put a bathroom into the far corner.

Summer Jobs List Is Now At Library

High school seniors, college students and teachers who want paying summer jobs can get the latest information from the new 1974 edition of "Summer Employment Directory of the United States" just received by Sheppard Memorial Library.

Employers list more than 90,000 summer job openings at resorts, summer camps, national parks, summer theatres, ranches and restaurants. Applications are invited now.

What is the picture for 1974? There will be 13 percent more summer jobs in the recreational fields. All sections of the United States, except the South, show an increase. Twenty-five percent of salaries are up; most jobs include room and board with many offering added benefits such as laundry, travel allowance, end-of-season bonus. Employers are asking for people who do not use alcohol, drugs, or cigarettes.

Details about specific jobs open to students and teachers are listed in the 1974 "Summer Employment Directory of the U.S." The new edition can also be purchased through any bookstore or by mail ($5.95) from National Directory Ser-

N.C. Christmas Sales Were Up

By REESE HART
 Associated Press Writer
 RALEIGH (AP)—Despite the energy crisis, Christmas shopping sales in North Carolina were up this year, with electric heaters, electric blankets and sweaters among the hottest selling items.

Thompson Greenwood, executive vice president of the North Carolina Merchants Association, predicted December retail sales would be 10-15 per cent higher than for the same month last year. A survey by The Associated Press showed shoppers generally were more selective in their buying than in recent years.

"The gifts were of a more practical nature," Greenwood explained in an interview. "There were more utility items, clothing and shoes."

Wesley Williams, executive director of the Raleigh Merchants Bureau, said shoppers were a little more cautious in their buying perhaps because of a lack of confidence in the national economy.

"It was a different type of shopping this year," Williams said.

"Big cars, furs, diamonds and expensive jewelry just didn't move as fast as in past years. The talk of gasoline rationing and shortages created a climate reminiscent of 1941 and 1942, the early years of World War Two," Williams said the December shopping in the Raleigh area "didn't have the hustle and bustle of recent years. I'm estimating that gross sales for November and December will be up 8 to 10 per cent. But it is not as good as it sounds because it reflects increased prices over 1972."

Bill McDowell, director of association activities for the Greensboro Merchants Association, agreed with Williams that "the people were shopping different than in recent years. A lot of items like electric heaters, electric blankets and sweaters were being bought. Big car sales definitely slowed down."

McDowell said retail sales were up in the Greensboro area and increased prices were a factor.

George Henderson, executive director of the Charlotte Merchants Association, said, "The feedback I've gotten from merchants is that they're not unhappy. Business generally was good. I think the volume was up but I wouldn't give an estimate."

Henderson pointed out that "a lot of new stores have been established in Charlotte but there was enough business to go around."

He said many of the stores he visited had large crowds "and most people were carrying packages," indicating they were buying and not just looking.

Greenwood said gross retail sales in North Carolina during 1973 are expected to be 15-20 per cent above that of 1972.

"I'm predicting that prices on wearing apparel will go up around 25 per cent early in February because Phase IV will end in late January," he said.

Williams said some stores in Raleigh tried to avoid overstocking because of the condition of the economy and consequently "some ran out early on certain items."

Conservative Trend Is Cited In '73 Religions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
 AP Religion Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — Symbolizing an apparent trend in U.S. religious life, a dramatic victory by conservatives in a major Protestant denomination was cited by the country's religion news writers as 1973's top story in their field.

That event, in which backers of a literalistic view of the Bible consolidated their dominance of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, still is producing repercussions in the ranks.

However, the tendency toward a more conservative approach to faith was not an isolated affair.

It also was reflected in the year's religious development rated in second place — the increased emphasis on personalized religion in contrast to a previous stress on social activism.

In this connection, the religion writers cited a growth of Bible study and prayer groups, more interest in evangelism instead of social causes, and more concern for congregational life than national denominational service projects.

Another clue to the conservative swing, rated as the third-place religion story, was the decision of the Episcopal Church to refuse ordination to women, turning down prolonged

Folio Gift Was Not To Fat Cats

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — G. Worthington Hipple has given Marshall University a Shakespeare Fourth Folio valued at $18,000.

"I thought, why give it to one of those fat cats like Princeton where my son-in-law goes?" said Hipple. "I thought Marshall could really use it."

Hipple presented the folio, printed in London in 1685, to the university's James E. Morrow Library, where he once stacked books to earn money for college expenses. He is now a lecturer and market consultant who resides in McClean, Va.

This is his very first New Year. He's celebrating it in his own talented fashion, just being cute.

Last year thousands of boys and girls were arrested. They had all been cute—once!

But did they have the priceless example of active Christian parents? Were they given moral and spiritual training in the Church? Did they grow up in a Christian atmosphere?

This young fellow can't be absolutely sure that the New Year is worth celebrating. His future is in the hands of his parents. But he's smiling because of his confidence in them.

During this New Year their faith in God, and the sincerity of their relationship with the Church will begin to determine just what their son is going to be when he stops being cute.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed to lower today despite what brokers said was a continuation of some favorable news about oil supplies and the Mideast situation.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was down 3.61 at 847.46 while advancing Big Board issues had a very slim lead over decliners in a slow trading volume. The Dow blue chip indicator was up more than 13 points Thursday and up more than 22 points Wednesday.

The brokers said many short-term traders were taking holding positions in preparation for a long four-day weekend, although the market will be open Monday.

They also said some investors were making end-of-the-year tax sales, although such trades were not nearly as heavy as at the end of a profitable year for most investors.

Gulf Oil, up 1/2 to 22 3/4, was the Big Board volume leader, followed by Occidental Petroleum, down 3/8 to 8 3/4. The Securities and Exchange Commission Thursday charged Occidental and its chairman, Armand Hammer, with defrauding the public in connection with the sale of securities. The company and Hammer agreed to a consent decree.

Other volume leaders included Virginia Electric Power up 1/4 to 14 1/4; RCA, unchanged at 18 3/4, and Marathon Oil down 1/2 to 48.

On the American stock exchange, DCL Inc., up 1-16 to 7-16 was the volume leader.

The Amex market-value index was up .91 to 89.09, but the Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .02 to 51.83.

Rockefeller Family Will Be 'Studied'

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — CBS Reports tonight examines what has been called an American aristocracy: the Rockefellers.

The two-hour program is a critical and in-depth study of the grandchildren of John D. Rockefeller. Although you will not come away knowing this rich and powerful family, you will certainly know more about them.

As correspondent Walter Cronkite points out, the elder Rockefeller, founder of Standard Oil, was regarded as a cold and ruthless robber baron. "He was forever trying to cultivate an image," Cronkite says. "The more he did so, the greater the public suspicion. The Rockefeller family has been pre-occupied with appearances and image ever since. Suspicion still lingers."

"The Rockefellers," shown tonight in place of the CBS Friday Night Movies, examines mainly that image. It is consciously limited to viewing the extension of their wealth and power. But there are a few illuminating glimpses behind the facade of the Rockefellers, a very private public family.

Cronkite gives an objective and balanced report. He is critical and probing but fair even if, as he says, the public's "suspicion still lingers." If I were to fault the program at all, it is that occasionally the Rockefeller brothers are allowed to rationalize away tough questions without followup.

The Rockefellers examined in this report are:

—Nelson A. Rockefeller, 65, the most visible of the family, until last week governor of New York, and said to be still thinking very much about the Republican nomination for president.

—David Rockefeller, 58, reputedly the most powerful of the Rockefellers, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank and a man with numerous international connections.

—Abby Rockefeller Mauze, 70, the only daughter and the most publicity-shy member of the family.

—John D. Rockefeller III, 67, who directs his energies toward philanthropy. The family has given away more than $1 billion.

—Laurance Rockefeller, 63, who is engaged in conservation and the building of fabulous resort hotels in such places as Hawaii and the Virgin Islands.

—The late Winthrop Rockefeller, former governor of Arkansas, called the maverick of the family, who died at the age of 60 on Feb. 22.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Two days after Christmas, holiday decorations went up at City Hall.

The strings of greenery were supposed to be up last week, Carl Nastro, city parks director, said. "But the storm held us back a little."

He said the department's efforts were focused on cleaning up after last week's severe ice storm and it was not until Thursday that park department workers began draping greens over arched City Hall doorways. They will stay up until after the holidays, Nastro said.

DETROIT (AP) — Police from three departments combined efforts and rushed a human eye from Ann Arbor to Detroit for a woman awaiting a corneal transplant.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies were to have transported the eye to Detroit in a patrol car, but they said they ran into heavy traffic.

The Wayne County sheriff's office dispatched a helicopter to pick up the eye from the car, which pulled off the freeway into a field outside Ann Arbor.

The helicopter crew rushed the eye to a baseball field in Highland Park, a community completely surrounded by Detroit. Highland Park police were waiting to rush the eye to the hospital.

Egyptians Claim Downing Plane
CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian army claimed its Suez Canal defenses shot down an Israeli warplane today on the southern end of the 103-mile waterway.

There was no immediate confirmation of this from the Israelis.

An Egyptian army communique said a number of Israeli planes penetrated Egyptian air space around the canal.

"Our air defenses engaged the enemy aircraft, shot down one which was seen crashing in flames and forced the rest to flee eastward," the communique added.

New Solzhenitsyn Novel Is Published

PARIS (AP) — A long-hidden work about Soviet labor camps by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the Nobel Prize-winning Russian author, was published today by the Russian-language YMCA Press here.

The 600-page book is called "Arkhipelag GULAG" and deals with the years 1918 to 1956. The title means an archipelago, or chain, of camps run by GULAG, the Russian acronym for the main administration of labor camps.

The book, like almost all of Solzhenitsyn's works, has not been published in the Soviet Union. The publisher said German, English, Swedish and French editions are planned for early 1974.

The publisher said the work was "historical, documentary and autobiographical." Solzhenitsyn previously described his years in Stalinist labor camps in the short novel "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," which was published in the Soviet Union in 1962 and first brought widespread attention to the writer.

The publisher said the manuscript of "Arkhipelag GULAG" was hidden for five years to protect persons who are mentioned in it. He said Solzhenitsyn decided to release it after the secret police—the KGB—seized a copy last August.

Early last September, Solzhenitsyn issued a statement in Moscow reporting that a woman named Yelizaveta Voronyanskaya had revealed the location of the manuscript in Leningrad after five days of uninterrupted questioning by the KGB.

He said that the woman then returned to her home and hanged herself.

Solzhenitsyn said the book contained "only real facts, places and names of persons who are still alive—more than 200 persons." He added that he feared "persecution will begin for all of them for the information they gave 10 years ago about their tortures in Stalinist camps."

Solzhenitsyn was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1970 but did not go to Stockholm to receive it because he feared Soviet authorities would not let him return.

State Daily Saving Fuel

RALEIGH (AP)—The supervisor of the central heating plant for North Carolina's state offices in Raleigh says the 11-day holiday for state employees is saving about 6,000 gallons of fuel oil daily.

Robert Cooper said Thursday heat was being maintained in only two buildings in the downtown Raleigh state office complex. These are the Justice Building, which houses the state Supreme Court and the attorney general's office, and the Revenue Building.

As a result of the shutdown, more than 60,000 gallons of fuel that normally would have been used during the holiday period will be available next month.

The state offices closed Dec. 21 and reopen Jan. 2.

Temperatures in the executive mansion are being maintained at 50 degrees during the night hours and 55 degrees during the day. Gov. Jim Holshouser and his family are at his home in Boone for the holidays.

Seek Motive In Execution

HIGH POINT, N. C. (AP) — Authorities sought a motive today in the execution-style slaying of a grocery store employee.

They did not discount robbery because his employer said he did not have in his possession money which belonged to the store and which he had taken home.

Police said Richard Jarrell's hands and feet had been tied with bed sheets, he had been gagged, and shot in the back of the head. His body lay face down on his bed.

His employer, Lerue Morris, went to Jarrell's apartment when he failed to show up for work Thursday, and found the body. Morris said Jarrell was wearing only an undershirt and shorts. Jarrell was in his early 30s.

Morris said his wife apparently was one of the last persons to talk to Jarrell. He said she telephoned the store around 12:15 a. m., when it had already closed, and spoke to him.

Up To 80 Hurt In Derailment

ANDERSON, Calif. (AP) — Six cars of an Amtrak train loaded with 300 to 400 holiday passengers derailed early today, officials said. Up to 80 passengers were injured, none seriously, they said.

A Southern Pacific Railroad spokesman said the six cars at the rear of a 17-car train derailed about 3:48 a.m. one mile east of this Northern California community and 10 miles south of Redding. Three of the cars overturned on their sides, he said.

Witnesses said the wreckage of the Coast Starlight, bound from Seattle to Oakland, Calif., was spread over a 400-yard stretch of track.

The cause of the derailment had not been determined.

Offer Reward In Disappearance

LILLINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The Harnett County Board of Commissioners has offered a $2,500 reward for information about the fate of a pretty school bus driver who disappeared last Wednesday.

Commission Chairman Jack Brock said the reward would go to any person giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone who may have harmed Phyllis Ann Bradford.

Police Team Up To Rush Human Eye To Patient

DETROIT (AP) — Police from three departments combined efforts and rushed a human eye from Ann Arbor to Detroit for a woman awaiting a corneal transplant.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies were to have transported the eye to Detroit in a patrol car, but they said they ran into heavy traffic.

The Wayne County sheriff's office dispatched a helicopter to pick up the eye from the car, which pulled off the freeway into a field outside Ann Arbor.

The helicopter crew rushed the eye to a baseball field in Highland Park, a community completely surrounded by Detroit. Highland Park police were waiting to rush the eye to the hospital.

Decorations Up One Week Late

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Two days after Christmas, holiday decorations went up at City Hall.

The strings of greenery were supposed to be up last week, Carl Nastro, city parks director, said. "But the storm held us back a little."

He said the department's efforts were focused on cleaning up after last week's severe ice storm and it was not until Thursday that park department workers began draping greens over arched City Hall doorways. They will stay up until after the holidays, Nastro said.

Unbeaten Marshall Takes On Pirates

Vikings, Miami Seen As Winners

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Will it be son of Super Bowl VI? A rematch of the 1972 game between the Miami Dolphins and the Dallas Cowboys?

The Dolphins, no doubt, would like it to be that way so they could gain revenge for the 24-3 pasting administered by the Cowboys at New Orleans.

And the Dolphins also would like to become the first team since Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers to win consecutive Super Bowls.

Dallas and Miami? Minnesota and Oakland? Minnesota and Miami?

Dallas and Oakland? Those are the four possibilities for Super Bowl VIII—the National Football League's championship game scheduled on Jan. 13 in Houston's Rice Stadium.

Before your Fearless Football Forecaster calls the shots on Sunday's American and National Conference championships, let's pause to report on last week's predictions. FFF was correct on three of the four games, missing out on the Los Angeles-Dallas clash. That lifted the average three points to .735 on 133 victories, 48 losses and 7 ties.

Now for the nitty-gritty: NATIONAL CONFERENCE Minnesota (13-2) at Dallas (11-4) — The Vikings have been working on defenses against a repeat of that Roger Staubach-to-Drew Pearson pass play that broke the back of the Rams last Sunday. And Minnesota Coach Bud Grant has worked on every other angle.

Cowboy Coach Tom Landry

says the Vikings are stronger offensively, but Dallas is stronger defensively than the last time the two teams met. That was in an NFC playoff game in 1971, which the Cowboys won 20-12.

Calvin Hill's absence from the Dallas lineup will hurt the Cowboys and no doubt leads to the oddsmakers installing Minnesota as a one-point favorite. It is even a pick-it game in some corners.

Let's figure that the Vikings will win for their old comrade, Karl Kasulke, paralyzed as a result of a motorcycle accident just before training camp started. So ... VIKINGS 24, COWBOYS 21.

AMERICAN CONFERENCE Oakland (10-4-1) at Miami (13-2) — It took a supreme effort by the Raiders early in the season to beat the Dolphins 12-7 and end Miami's winning streak. Since then, however, the Raiders have installed Ken Stabler at quarterback and the former Alabama star led Oakland into the championship game.

Incidentally, Oakland's 12 points against the Dolphins all came from George Blanda's toe. The Raiders never crossed the Miami goal line. It would be dramatic if O'George could kick the winning field goal with just a few seconds left on the clock, outduelling Miami's Garo Yepremian.

But the Dolphins — and the return of Manny Fernandez to the lineup is just another plus for Miami — should be far enough in front that Blanda can't pull it out. DOLPHINS 28, RAIDERS 18.

Southern Teams In Tournaments

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five Southern Conference basketball teams get in their first after-Christmas activity tonight as they begin play in holiday tournaments, three of them as host teams.

The Citadel's Bulldogs, 4-1, will entertain in the Palmetto Classic; Furman's Paladins, 4-1, will play host to the Poinsettia Classic; and Davidson's Wildcats, 3-4, will be the home team for the Charlotte Invitational. Going on the road will be Richmond's Spiders, 2-4, in the Queen City Classic at Buffalo, N. Y., and Virginia Military's Keydets, 3-3, in the Razorback Classic at Fayetteville, Ark.

The Bulldogs, who have been the league's surprise team so far, take on Lehigh and Navy goes against Charleston Baptist in the Palmetto Classic, a tournament The Citadel never has won.

Furman tackles Xavier, Ohio, and Clemson meets Delaware in the Poinsettia Classic. Davidson takes on Chicago Loyola and Syracuse plays Miami, Ohio, in the Charlotte Invitational.

Richmond's foe in the Queen City Classic will be UNC-Charlotte. The other game has host Canisius meeting George Washington in the ratings, meets Louisiana State University-New Orleans in tonight's first game.

NC State and Memphis State are both highly favored to win their opening games and go on to a championship showdown Saturday afternoon.

Ironically, the winner of the Sugar Bowl basketball title will succeed UCLA, the only team to beat the Wolfpack this season and the team that downed Memphis State at the end of last season for the national championship.

NC State is 3-1 for the season while Memphis State carries a 7-2 worksheet going into the tournament.

Villanova and LSUNO, going against lighter competition, are 3-3 and 3-2 respectively.

Conley Girls Battle Inexperience, Youth

By CHIP LAMBERTH
Reflector Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Last year, D.H. Conley's girls basketball team proved to be a sizable foe in the Eastern Carolina conference. This year, they have taken a complete turn-around and become just another stone in the creek.

What caused it? Accute inexperience. The Valkyries lost an All-Area player in Glenda Denton and also Annanel Worthington. They were a big part of the Conley attack along with Ivey Pugh, and Linda Worthington who also graduated.

Coach Charles Dunn has only five girls that have ever played basketball and six freshmen on the team. "They play well and move the ball well but they can't score," Dunn said.

Against North Lenoir, the girls missed 18 lay-ups which meant 32 points. They are averaging about 16 per cent from the floor. "They aren't aggressive," Dunn said. "They are not very big and its hard for them to rebound."

Conley likes to run a 1-4 or three-guard offense. Patricia Buck had done most of the ballhandling until she got hurt causing her to miss a few weeks. No one girl has been outstanding but most are "as good as any that played last year."

Ella Fleming has been the most consistent rebounder and defensive player for the Valkyries. Cathy Allen has been leading the team in rebounding and does a good job defensively. "She has good hands," said Dunn.

Connie Barrett, back form last year is probably the best offensive player the Valkyries have. Daphne Simpson has been the overall team leader. "Daphne is a real hustler and is good on defense. She is a co-captain."

The Conley likes to run with the ball when the opportunity arises but their shooting has been "atrocious." We have trouble getting it to go in. It is hard making a shooter. There is no lack of desire and hustle and everyone wants to play."

Dunn likes his defense and thinks they play pretty good. "I have no complaints except that we don't score as many points on defense as we'd like. "The girls move the ball well and play very aggressive."

On the bench, Dunn has Alice Costin, a freshman. She subs at guard. Debra Page is used at center for Miss Allen or at a forward spot. Rose Adams, also a freshman, has been starting off and on when someone else is injured or sick. Other than that, the Valkyries do not have good depth.

Foul trouble has hurt them also. This is from inexperience also says Dunn.

For the Conley girls, this is more of an adjustment year than anything else. Dunn will have 11 back next year; he loses three. He expects the season's major race will be between North Pitt and Southern Nash. "There are some experienced clubs and it will take us a while to catch up."

Four Advance In Tournament

Empire Brush, Happy Store, the Eagles and Kentucky Fried Chicken moved into the semifinals of the City Recreation Department's Pre-Season Tournament with victories last night.

Tonight at 7 p.m., the Eagles and Kentucky Fried Chicken meet in the first game, with Empire Brush and the Happy Store colliding at 8:15 p.m. The championship will be decided on Saturday at 6 p.m. between the two surviving teams.

In the opening game, Empire Brush beat Pitt Memorial Hospital, 60-44. Empire Brush rolled out to a 33-17 lead in the first period of play, then matched points with their opponents in the final half to win easily. Both teams scored 27 points in the last half.

Doug Nichols led Empire Brush with 17 points while James Parker, Edward Colburn and Bobby Parker each had 10. For Pitt Memorial, Dan Edwards had 14.

In the second game, Happy Store gained an 85-60 win over Carolina Dairy. The Happy Store ran out to a 45-27 lead in the first half of the game. They outthit Carolina Dairy, 40-33, in the final half to wrap it up.

Charlie Harris led the Happy Store with 28 points, while Tommy Whichard had 19, Lonnie Payton and Robert Pettis each had 14 and Bobby Short had 12. For Carolina Dairy, Lester Wells had 22, Tommy Jordan had 13 and Worth Heath had 12.

The third game saw the Eagles nip Grady White, 44-43. The Eagles held a one-point edge at halftime, 27-26, and held onto that in the second half as both teams scored 17 points.

Charles Meeks led the Eagles with 23 points, while Frank Brown had 28 for Grady White.

The final game saw Kentucky Fried Chicken take a 72-51 win over State Highway. KFC opened up a 31-21 lead at halftime, then stormed back with a 41-30 advantage in the final period to win going away.

Gene Rackley led KFC with 20 points, while Wayne Norris had 17, Albert Holloman had 16 and Jack Warner had 14. For State Highway, Bobby Edwards had 14 and Tal Adams had 12.

East Carolina University Pirates get back into the flow of basketball action Saturday night, following a two-week layoff.

For the second time this year, they'll be going up against an unbeaten team (not counting the times they played teams playing their opening games) as they face the Thundering Herd of Marshall University in Charleston, W. Va.

The Herd has posted a 6-0 record so far this season, including a victory in its own invitational tournament. East Carolina goes into the game with a 3-3 mark on the year, with all of its wins coming at home and all of the losses coming on the road.

The game will be played on what might be called a "hostile neutral court," since it is in Charleston, Marshall, which will be tending off its home court for the first time, is located in Huntington, W. Va.

The record of the Herd so far this year has been somewhat surprising. Last year, the team posted a 20-game victory season, and went to the National Invitational Tournament. But Marshall was hit hard by graduation, and wasn't expected to field as tough a team as it has shown so far.

Along the way to their 6-0 mark, they've beaten Western Carolina, Morris-Harvey, Morehead State (in an overtime), North Carolina A&T and George Washington.

East Carolina's defeats have come at the hands of Duke, N.C. State and surprising Citadel, while they have beaten UNC-Wilmington, Davidson, and previously unbeaten Fairleigh Dickinson. The Herd puts up balanced scoring, with four starters hitting double figures, and all at the same pace. Wayne Smith, their 6-8 center, is pulling down 18 rebounds a game and averaging 14 points, while 6-4 forward Jack Battle is getting 11.3 rebounds and also hitting 14 per game from the floor.

The other forward, Frank Austin, 6-7, is the only man not in double figures, scoring six a game.

The two guards, Eric Batchelor and Tom Farrell, both are also averaging 14 points a game.

They have outthit their opponents, 86 per game to 75 per game, and are also out-rebounding their opponents, grabbing off about 55 percent of the loose balls.

East Carolina meanwhile, returned to work on Wednesday following a 10-day layoff from organized practice, and this worries Coach Tom Quinn a little. "I'm not worried about their physical condition," he said. "They all came back in good shape. We've had two-day workouts Wednesday and Thursday, and everyone responded well. What worries me is the time away from each other, timing and sustaining play."

He noted however, that the players worked individually while off, and all are ready to go. "Six of our next seven games are on the road," Quinn said, "and we want to improve on our overall road record from the past. We've done well on so-called neutral courts, too, so we look for a real good game against Marshall."

Quinn, a Marshall graduate, also likes to win against the Herd, although his successes have been limited to a break-even situation, having won at home and lost in Huntington.

"They like to run, but their set offense is their strength. They are basically a man-to-man team, and they have good people. We may be quicker, and certainly we are younger. We also may be deeper and this might help us. I feel we can do well in the game and win. It should be a good game."

Following the contest, East Carolina's next outing will be next Friday and Saturday with they play in the Presidential Classic at Fort Myer, Va., just outside Washington, D. C.

Low Dye's Praise

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) —

Some day, Woodrow Lowe wants to make his old neighborhood in Phenix City, Ala., a better place; in the meantime he'll settle for doing the same thing for the Alabama defense.

With 86 individual tackles — more than twice as many as any other Alabaman — and 48 assists, the 5-foot-11, 213-pound sophomore is the defensive leader of the No. 1-rated Crimson Tide football team, which meets third-ranked Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl showdown at New Orleans Monday night.

Pat Dye, Alabama's line-backer coach, says he "wouldn't swap Woodrow for any linebacker in the nation," but before the season began, Lowe was going through a period of personal decision tougher than the toughest Bear Bryant scrimmage.

"I was continually asking myself if Alabama was the place for me," Lowe said Thursday, shortly before all player interviews became taboo for the duration of the pre-Sugar Bowl period.

"I got to thinking about myself and my future. There are a lot of needy people in the world and by staying here and playing football I wasn't helping them."

Last summer, Lowe worked at the Pioneer Baptist Church in Phenix City. He taught Sunday school, worked with a church league baseball team and got to like working with kids and helping people.

Lowe felt God had called on him to preach, but about a week before the season began he made his decision.

"I decided I could do what I want to do when I get out of college," he said. "I'm at Alabama to stay. If I do well in football, that will be my future."

Was Not Impressed

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Nebraska middle guard John Bell isn't afraid to speak his mind, even though it might provide bulletin board material for the opposition.

Bell has seen films of Texas' All-American center, Bill Wyman, and says, "I have to be honest ... I wasn't all that impressed with him. I'll be after him."

The collision between Bell and Wyman should be one of the more interesting individual battles New Year's Day, when the 12th-ranked Cornhuskers battle the eighth-ranked Longhorns.

Bell, who missed four conference games this year because of a knee injury, is quite an individualist. For example, he kept a boa constrictor in his California home until someone stole the snake last August.

"I love being a football hero, but I'd rather have my snake back," Bell says.

It might be damaging to Bell's psyche if he heard Wyman's most recent quote: "To be honest, I didn't have any idea who Nebraska's noseguard was before we started getting ready for the Cotton Bowl."

There's one player on the Texas team who does impress Bell — All-American running back Roosevelt Leaks.

"That guy is Texas. He's great and never quits. I'm just waiting for a chance to play against him," Bell said.

Leaks is operating at full strength in Texas' drills.

Three-Pointer Ingites Rockets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Denver Coach Alex Hannum never tires of witnessing a dramatic, three-point basket inspire his lagging team and point it towards victory.

Especially the 30-foot bomb rookie Mike Green hit, igniting a scoring binge that carried the Rockets to a 105-100 victory over the Kentucky Colonels in the American Basketball Association Thursday night.

"I've seen a three-point basket lift up teams before," Hannum said about the buzzer sounded, ending the third period. "We've won two that way ourselves. You're struggling and then someone makes that basket and everyone gets a lift."

Green's three-pointer snapped a 76-76 deadlock and ignited a surge in the first 10 minutes of the final period in which Denver outscored the Colonels 19-3.

San Antonio whipped San Diego 104-76 in the night's other ABA game.

In the National Basketball Association, Milwaukee beat Philadelphia 129-107. Phoenix defeated Seattle 111-100. Kansas City-Omaha downed Cleveland 110-100 and Portland edged Golden State 118-117.

Spurs 104. Conquistadores 76. San Antonio, receiving 27 points from rookie Swen Nater and 18 from Rich Jones, bolted to a 25-17 lead after the first quarter and methodically built up their winning margin against the Q's.

Bucks 129, 76ers 107
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 26 points and Bob Dandridge contributed 25, but Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello was impressed with his team's defense as well as scoring ability.

"That was some defense in the third quarter," Costello said about the Bucks' checking that limited Philadelphia's Fred Carter, who finished with 26 points, to only four points in the second half.

Suns 111, SuperSonics 100
Charlie Scott, who finished with 33 points, paced a fourth-quarter surge that carried the Suns to victory after the Sonics had taken a 79-77 lead after the third quarter.

Kings 110, Cavaliers 100
Nate Williams and Jimmy Walker keyed a second-half Kansas City-Omaha surge after a tense first half in which the lead changed hands 14 times.

Walker and Williams each scored 28 points. Cleveland's top scorer was Austin Carr with 24.

Trail Blazers 118, Warriors 117
Geoff Petrie's 20-foot jump shot with three seconds remaining lifted the Blazers past the Warriors.

Petrie, who scored 31 points, capped a Portland comeback from an 18-point deficit in the first half.

The Warriors' Cazzie Russell led all scorers with 26 points and Johnny Johnson topped Portland with 26.

Cost Too Much To Keep Going

By NORM CLARKE
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — The high price of football has claimed another victim at a time when many of the nation's colleges are pondering the question: success at what cost?

"You can't spend a deficit," said the Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, president of Xavier University of Ohio, after the Jesuit school of 6,000 gave up on its 71-year-old intercollegiate football program.

And like many other colleges facing the financial pinch in these troubled times, the issue demanded a decision.

Annual deficits of $200,000 were too much to absorb, school officials said.

Beleaguered by mounting bills, the board of trustees decisively dropped the axe.

"It's like losing an old friend," said Father Mulligan, who voted to retain the program.

Athletic Director Jim McCafferty said he expected a de-emphasis of the football program, but that the decision to drop the sport totally left him

Joke About Bowl Pick

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — "I wouldn't lie to him," Coach John McKay of Southern California said, pointing to Woody Hays, coach of the Ohio State Buckeyes. "They've got a super defensive team."

McKay was speaking at Thursday's Rose Bowl luncheon. The two teams meet Tuesday in the 60th Rose Bowl.

The Buckeyes received the Rose Bowl bid by a 6-4 vote of Big Ten athletic directors after Ohio State and Michigan had tied for the conference championship. McKay, who is Southern Cal's athletic director as well as coach, joked about the Big Ten vote.

"I did not vote for Ohio State; I voted for Indiana. And had I been able to get Ball State, I would have preferred them," McKay said.

Dr. Harold Enarson, Ohio State's president, also commented wryly that a "highly tenuous and diplomatic vote" favored the Buckeyes.

Hays admitted that the Buckeyes are on a crusade to uphold the Big Ten's "vote of confidence" but said, "There's always pressure to win. I think the players respond well to pressure."

McKay said he couldn't find a weak spot in an Ohio State defense that gave up only 43 points in 10 games.

"We did put in one play," McKay added. "It's a fumble where we run down and fall on it. That's the only weakness I've seen. They come forward so fast that we'll fumble behind them and fall on it."

Year-Old Words Of Parseghian Being Used Against Notre Dame

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

What Ara Parseghian said about Alabama's football team a year ago can — and is — being used against him.

Last year, Alabama turned down an offer to play defending national champion Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, choosing instead to play lower-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Notre Dame then accepted an offer to play Nebraska, and Parseghian criticized Alabama for taking "the easy way out" in an unsuccessful quest for the national title.

Now, one year later, the players on the Alabama team — which is ranked first after completing an 11-0 regular season — are being reminded of Parseghian's comments as they prepare to meet No. 3 Notre Dame, 10-0, in the Sugar Bowl

Penn State Has Much Freedom

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Penn State Coach Joe Paterno is running a loose ship as he prepares his team for the New Year's night's Orange Bowl football game against Louisiana State.

Paterno has told his players to go out and have a good time. Except for practice sessions and some meetings, the players are free to do as they choose.

"What do you want me to do, lock them in their rooms?" said Paterno, when asked about his have-fun policy.

"They should enjoy this trip like the coaches, the administration and the sports writers," Paterno said. "All I ask of them is that they get to practice on time, work hard, get to meetings on time and observe the curfew."

Paterno even has arranged for transportation for the players and set up various social activities for those who want to participate. Wednesday night, for example, many players went to the Jai-Alai games.

Other entertainment planned includes a boat trip and a show featuring vocalist Dionne Warwick.

Paterno's philosophy of preparing for a bowl game differs radically from the approach taken by such coaches as Ala-abama's Bear Bryant, Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian and Ohio State's Woody Hayes, who are all business.

"A bowl game is a reward for a great season," said Paterno. "Sure, we want to win, and we'll work hard to accomplish that. But it's also sort of a vacation. Some of these kids have never been in Miami and they should get a chance to see it and enjoy it."

Paterno's thinking about bowl games obviously hasn't interfered with his team's performance. Penn State is 3-1-1 in post-season games since he became head coach eight years ago, including back-to-back Orange Bowl victories in 1969-70.

Paterno maintains his fun-loving approach even though he feels his team is far behind in its preparations for LSU.

"Our team is a very nervous football team right now," he said. "I think they understand how good LSU is. They know we're not close to what we should be and they have pride. They don't want to embarrass themselves."

Two years ago, Paterno also said his team was behind in its preparations, going so far as to say the Nittany Lions probably would be slaughtered by Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

Penn State won that game 30-

6 in New Orleans New Year's Eve.

Even though Alabama Coach Bear Bryant says this is just another football game, Parseghian's words are posted prominently — and underlined — on the way to the locker room at Tuscaloosa, Ala., where Alabama has been practicing.

"Right now we're trying to get ready and we're not thinking about it too much," said Alabama's All-American offensive tackle, Buddy Brown, "but we've got it in the back of our heads. I imagine it will be with us when we go on the field Monday night."

The Sugar Bowl may be the main course on the bowl menu, but there are eight games — involving 13 of the Top Twenty teams — scheduled over the long New Year's weekend.

Tonight's Peach Bowl in Atlanta between 18th-ranked Maryland and unranked Georgia starts things off. Saturday, No. 14 Houston plays No. 17 Tulane in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston and Auburn and Missouri, both unranked, square off in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex. Saturday night it's 11th-ranked Texas Tech against No. 20 Tennessee in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.

After a day off Sunday, Notre Dame faces Alabama in the Sugar Bowl Monday night. On New Year's Day, No. 8 Texas opposes No. 12 Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas and fourth-rated Ohio State plays seventh-rated Southern California in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif.

The busy 100 hours of football winds up with the Orange Bowl

Louisville To Meet Alabama

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama, delighted with a two-point victory over South Carolina, and Louisville, blase after coasting past Eastern Kentucky, collide tonight in Louisville for the championship of the Citizens Holiday Basketball Classic.

"We beat a real good basketball team," declared Alabama Coach C.W. Newton Thursday night after his team shaded the Gamecocks 77-75. "We came off a 10-day layoff so I wasn't disappointed in the way we played."

Louisville rolled up a 16-point lead at the half and cruised to a 91-76 decision over Eastern, but Cardinal Coach Dennis Crum was unimpressed.

"We weren't world beaters out there," said Crum. "We'll have to play better against Alabama. But," he added, "whenever we have to play well we usually do."

Most of the holiday tourneys will continue into the weekend but the Gator Bowl ended Thursday night with host Florida dumping Duke 77-60 in the title game and Jacksonville beating Western Kentucky 85-79 in the consolation contest.

In other top tournaments, Kansas State, ranked 18th nationally, whipped Nebraska 68-47 and Iowa State clubbed Oklahoma State 73-50 in the first round of the Big Eight pre-season event; Cincinnati topped St. Bonaventure 71-65 and Temple edged Harvard 61-59 in the Quaker City Classic; St. John's, N.Y., beat Illinois 76-60, Princeton downed Duquesne 72-62, Manhattan whipped St. Louis 88-65 and LaSalle took Stanford 77-66 in the Holiday Festival.

Also, Houston ripped Virginia Tech 85-66 and Oral Roberts got by Weber State 82-79 in the All-College Tournament; Indiana State upset Florida State 93-92 and Mercer stopped the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee 73-67 in the Mercer Invitational; Old Dominion trounced Yale 110-82 and Baylor rocked Georgia Tech 108-80 in the Old Dominion Classic; Mississippi buried Louisiana Tech 105-76 and Northeast Louisiana topped East Tennessee 85-80 in the Pacemaker Classic; and Washington beat West Virginia 96-79 and Orgeon dumped Texas 78-66 in the Far West Classic.

Navy Sub-Pac defeated Tennessee 81-79 in the opener of the Rainbow Classic in Honolulu.

Dooley Hopes Wife Excited

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Coach Vince Dooley of Georgia is hoping his wife Barbara gets "carried away" again tonight, when his Bulldogs meet 18th-ranked Maryland in the Peach Bowl football game.

Dooley watched his team go through its final workout at Atlanta Stadium on the eve of the 8 p.m. EST clash and noted it would be Georgia's first night game in two years.

In the last one, Georgia rallied in the waning minutes for a 28-24 victory over Georgia Tech in a nationally televised Thanksgiving night battle that had Mrs. Dooley so excited she dashed past a guard and went into the Bulldog dressing room after the game.

"Yes, she kind of got carried away that night," Dooley said Thursday. "I hope she gets carried away again tomorrow night."

Georgia, 6-4-1, is rated a one-point favorite over the Terps, 8-3, in the battle which will be televised nationally by the Mizlou network.

Despite being favored, Dooley is convinced Georgia faces one of its toughest tests.

"I think they are the most complete team we've played since Alabama," Dooley said. The Bulldogs led the top-ranked Crimson Tide 14-13 late in the game before Alabama rallied for two touchdowns in the final three minutes to win 28-14.

Meanwhile, Maryland Coach Jerry Clairborne also lavished praise on the Bulldogs.

"We think Georgia is the best 6-4-1 team in the country," Clairborne said. "With just 11 more points they could have been 10-1." Georgia lost three games by five points or less.

Both teams enter the game in good physical condition, with Georgia missing only defensive tackle Dan Spivey and perhaps kickoff return ace Gene Washington, who has been sidelined with a broken leg ever since the Alabama game.

Andy Johnson, who accounted for more than 1,000 yards, will direct Georgia's attack. Ben Kinard, who accounted for more than 800 yards, will quarterback Maryland.

A total of 52 Michigan State football players have seen action in the annual East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

The Clues As To Infatuation

Clara mistakes sexual infatuation for true love. Being old enough to vote doesn't insure your success either in marriage or sports. You must play both games as per the rule books! Smart people also play the batting averages!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Z-511: Clara W., aged 19, is a college coed.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am ardently in love with a college sophomore.

"We want to run away and get married.

"But my parents veto the idea.

"So can you suggest some tests that indicate a couple's chances of happiness in marriage?"

Marriage Tests

(1) Are you merely sexually infatuated or truly in love?

"Dr. Crane," Clara asked, "how can I tell the difference?"

"If you are sincerely concerned with the ultimate best interests of your sweetheart, that means true love.

"But if you focus on your own sensory enjoyment of kisses, a ring to flash before your friends, and the ego-inflation of having a man to beau you around at parties, you are attracted by selfish physical magnetism; not true love.

Elopement is very likely due to sexual infatuation, for the boy is then very likely to be deprived of his proper earning power and education.

(2) Are you active together in the same church?

If so, you have about 50 times greater likelihood of avoiding the divorce court.

(3) Have both of you earned your own living so you know the nitty gritty of modern economic competition?

A modern girl should have held a job for at least a year, so she can appreciate how hard it is to earn a pay check and also how to spend her money wisely.

(4) Is the prospective groom equipped with a trade or profession by which to support a wife and children?

If the bride-to-be is working and able to finance her husband while he is in trade or professional school, they may still make a success.

Beware, however, for many such husbands later turn on their wives and seek a divorce so they can marry some cute chick who didn't know them when they were struggling and poor.

For a husband's ego is deflated when living on his wife's earning, and happy husbands need to feel important, not obligated!

"Family Income" life insurance policy?

(6) Are you willing to start on a meager amount of furniture instead of splurging with a color TV, a new car, swanky furniture, etc?

Alas, many newlyweds wish to start housekeeping on the same lush scale which it took their parents 25 years of skimping to finance!

(7) Are you of the same racial background?

The odds are against mixed marriages! Even the baseball managers play the batting averages in selecting pinch hitters!

(8) Have you mutual interests and hobbies so you can enjoy conversation together, plus mutual recreation?

If your chief entertainment is sex and kissing, you are likely to end in divorce within 5 years of the wedding.

(9) Have you enough bookkeeping experience to live on a budget and avoid excessive instalment buying?

(10) Are you both interested in having children?

Youngsters are superb insurance for uniting husband and wife.

You then don't even need Country Club Memberships, cocktail bars or poker parties and golf as entertainment!

Send for my 200-point "Test for Husband and Wife," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Luxury Cars His Business Trying To Sell His Five-Car Passenger Train

PARADISE, Calif. (AP) — For anyone with $75,000 and a yen for a 1928 Isotta Fraschini landaulet, Wayne Schlotthauer is the man to see.

The Isotta Fraschini is one of 44 luxury used cars on the lot at Schlotthauer's Unique Cars in this Northern California community. Schlotthauer says the average price is $9,000.

Schlotthauer operates his used car lot as an auto museum, but it's a museum with a difference; you can buy the exhibits. For the big car enthusiast, Schlotthauer has a 1937 Maybach SW 38 Pullman cabriolet with a massive six-cylinder engine and an eight-speed transmission.

"The instruction book says not to put it in eighth until you're going at least 90," Schlotthauer said. "It says not to go over 120 with the tires that were on it at the time, but with better tires you could drive it 160.

Trying To Sell His Five-Car Passenger Train

DENVER (AP) — Dick McKinley of Denver is trying to sell his five-car passenger train and locomotive to President Nixon.

"It would make an ideal presidential train," said McKinley, 43, who wrote to Gen. Alexander Haig, Nixon's chief of staff.

McKinley bought the old Nebraska Zephyr three years ago and has been trying to sell it since October. When railroads in Colorado refused to allow him to use their tracks for passenger service and for a ski train, McKinley reluctantly hung an $80,000 price tag on the train.

"My train is perfect," McKinley explained. "The cars don't come apart, so you wouldn't have to worry about seckind there could be separate cars for offices.

You can tell by the walk: Female deer always cover the print of the forefoot by placing the hind foot in the same spot, leaving tracks that look like they were made by a two-legged animal; but male deer rarely place the hind foot pricesely in the forefoot print.

My grandfather once told me that, during a plague in the old country, they had a saying: "If you drink the water you die, and if you don't drink the water you die!" That is exactly how West must have felt on today's hand.

It might have been wise had North responded two no trump to his partner's forcing two-bid. Though he had the required 7 points and one quick trick, his suit was rather weak and the singleton in his partner's suit should have swayed the decision to the more conservative bid. South, too, might have been more cautious and tried for slam by rebidding only five spades; but he had heard his partner make a positive response, and fortunately he possessed the skill to make his leap to slam pay a rich dividend.

Dummy was somewhat of a disappointment, but it seemed that declarer could benefit from the opening lead by winning the ace, discarding a club from his hand, and using the unexpected entry for a club finesse. A glance at the full layout will show that this plan was doomed to failure.

Declarer unearthed a line that improved his chances considerably. He played a low heart from dummy and ruffed in his hand. The ace and king of spades were cashed, and declarer heaved a sigh of relief when both defenders followed suit. Next came the ace and king of diamonds.

With the stage set, declarer got off play with a trump. He did not much care which defender won the trick. If East won, the only return that might defeat the contract was a club. Declarer would have to take the finesse, but that meant that the contract was down to the same chance declarer would have had, had he won the ace of hearts at trick one and taken the club finesse. As the cards lay, West won the trump trick, and the contract was now ironclad.

If West led a red suit, he would put declarer in dummy, and the ace of hearts and queen of diamonds would provide discards for declarer's two low clubs. A club lead would be equally suicidal. Declarer would put up the ten and, even if East could cover with the queen, the jack of clubs would then become an entry to dummy.

Libyan Asks For Helms Backs Arab Revolution

BEIKUT, Lebanon (AP) — Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy in an interview published today called for a revolution in the Arab world to prevent its governments from "committing the crime of concluding peace with Israel."

Arab news analysts viewed it as an open call for the overthrow of President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, the first major Arab leader to agree to direct peace negotiations with Israel.

In an interview with the Lebanese magazine Beirut al Massa, Col. Khadafy said the Palestinian guerrilla movement should spearhead the revolt.

He advised the Palestinians to seek an alliance with Arab regimes that reject peace with Israel.

Khadafy and Sadat agreed early this year to merge their countries with Syria into a single Arab state, but their policies diverged more and more because of Khadafy's militant Moslem nationalism and Sadat's conclusion that Israel could not be wiped out.

The Libyan expressed public disapproval of the Egyptian and Syrian attack on Israel in October, saying they were not ready for war. Then he opposed Sadat's acceptance of the cease-fire.

In the interview with Beirut al Massa, Khadafy said Egypt was defeated in the October war despite its leaders' claims of victory.

"It would have been better for Egypt to have admitted defeat and then preserved the right to resort to force again when the Arabs muster enough military power to recover their rights," Khadafy said.

The right-wing Beirut newspaper Al Jarida said today that a Lebanese politician who had just visited Cairo reported Khadafy backed a plot to overthrow Sadat during the last days of the October war.

"The abortive coup was planned by a group of pro-Khadafy officers in the Egyptian army," said the report. "Investigation proved Khadafy was personally behind the rebel officers."

RALEIGH (AP)—U. S. Rep. Wilmer Mizell, R-N.C., will have the backing of U. S. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., if he decides to seek the Senate seat being vacated by veteran Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C.

Helms said in an interview Thursday he is confident of a Republican victory in the 1974 senatorial race.

"The Republicans will win if they put up the right kind of candidate," Helms said. "Wilmer Mizell has a great deal of charisma. He will be very popular in the East. That's where the ball game is in North Carolina politics."

Mizell has said that Ervin's announcement to retire next year at the end of his term "makes prospects for the race a lot more attractive."

Helms, asked if he would endorse Mizell, said, "Of course. Wilmer's my friend. I think if Wilmer announces, there won't be another Republican candidate."

Hughes Indicted By Grand Jury

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Billionaire recluse Howard Hughes has been indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with his purchase of a regional airline.

The indictments returned in U.S. District Court on Thursday charged the elusive industrialist with conspiracy, stock manipulation and wire fraud in his 1968 purchase of Air West.

The indictment marked the first time criminal charges have been filed against Hughes despite extensive investigations involving his financial empire.

A former top Hughes' aide and three others also were named in the nine-count indictment that climaxed a lengthy probe by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the grand jury.

The defendants were accused of conspiring to pressure directors of Air West to sell out to Hughes by depressing the value of the airline's stock and threatening lawsuits against its directors.

Hughes reportedly moved recently from London to a resort hotel at Freeport in the Bahamas.

Hughes left London last week amid reports he was trying to avoid possible extradition to the United States. A Hughes spokesman denied the reports, noting Hughes had business interests in the Bahamas.

Named with Hughes in seven counts of the indictment were Robert Maheu, former head of Hughes' Nevada operations; Chester Davis, general counsel for Hughes Summa Corp. and a member of its board of directors; and David B. Charnay, a former Air West stockholder.

James H. Nall, a Hughes employe and former Air West stockholder, was named in three counts. Listed as undicted coconspirators were H. M. "Hank" Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, and George Crockett, a New York businessman.
