

Highway Speed Limiting Bill Signed By President

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon signed into law today a measure aimed at forcing the 50 states to adopt energy-saving speed limits of 55 miles per hour.

Nixon also signed another major bill setting up machinery for reorganizing seven bankrupt Northeastern railroads with federal loan guarantees of $1.5 billion and subsidies of more than $500 million.

Under the speed limit law, states will lose all federal highway funds unless they adopt 55-mile limits within 60 days.

Nixon said in a statement: "I have been gratified and encouraged by the number of states which have already voluntarily reduced their speed limits in accordance with my request... estimates indicate that we can save nearly 200,000 barrels of fuel a day by observing a national limit of 55 miles per hour."

In another statement, Nixon said he considered some of the rail subsidies to be higher than they should be. However, he termed the reorganization law "an important turning point in the history of America's railroad industry" and commended Congress "for passing such responsible legislation."

The railroad bill sets up a new United States Railway Association, a nonprofit government corporation, to borrow the $1.5 billion to set up a new rail network under a privately operated Consolidated Rail Corp.

The bankrupt railroads are the Penn Central, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley, Reading, Erie Lackawanna, Boston and Maine, and Ann Arbor.

On Monday and Tuesday, Nixon placed a series of phone calls to Republicans Sens. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, Barry Goldwater

Clashes On Golan Heights As Egypt, Israel Parley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Syrian and Israeli forces clashed twice today in the Golan Heights with machine guns and artillery, a Syrian military spokesman reported.

The communique, broadcast by Damascus radio, said in the second clash the Syrian artillery thwarted an Israeli attempt to consolidate its defense positions in the central sector and destroyed some engineering vehicles.

There was no immediate Israeli comment on the clash.

Israel's delegates to the disengagement talks flew back to Geneva aboard the same El Al plane as Finnish Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo, commander of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East. He told newsmen he did not know the first subject of today's talks or how long they were expected to last.

Dayan conferred separately with the Geneva envoys and on Tuesday night met with Siilasvuo. The Israeli military command disclosed only that Dayan and the U.N. commander discussed cease-fire violations and declined to say whether the talk also dealt with the Geneva conference.

Israeli sources said several principles of disengagement remained to be covered at Geneva before the talks got down to details of how deep the withdrawal might be, and the strength of Egyptian forces on the east bank of the canal.

An embarrassed Ziegler withdrew the announcement Tuesday, saying: "Because of Mrs. Nixon's great interest in volunteerism and the new council, it was hoped that Mrs. Nixon could serve in this position. Due to an administrative error, the announcement was made before all legal and other checks were made. Under law, Mrs. Nixon can not hold a position appointed by the President."

At the same time, Israeli and Egyptian negotiators were back in Geneva for further talks on disengagement of their forces on the Suez front.

In the Golan Heights fighting one Israeli soldier was shot and several engineering vehicles were destroyed, the Syrian communique said. The Syrians claimed to suffer no losses in the clashes on the northern and central sectors.

He told newsmen he did not know the first subject of today's talks or how long they were expected to last.

Gur and Sion, son-in-law of Dayan, held intensive discussions with the Israeli cabinet during their stay in Israel and the cabinet met Tuesday, following the New Year's Eve elections, to confer on its Geneva policy.

Jerusalem observers said final decisions were unlikely before Premier Golda Meir formed a new coalition government following the election.

Veteran U.S. Diplomat Charles Bohlen Dies Of Cancer In Night

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. "Chip" Bohlen, a top-level diplomat and recognized expert on Russia who came in for some disfavor during the McCarthy era, is dead.

Bohlen, who was 69, died of cancer Tuesday evening at Washington Hospital Center, his doctor said.

When President Dwight D. Eisenhower nominated him for the Moscow post, the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., led the opposition.

The McCarthy-led group linked him with what they called appeasement policies during the Truman administration. Eventually, the nomination was confirmed 74 to 13.

Among his friends, the lanky Bohlen was known for his great charm, ready wit and remarkable memory.

Bohlen began his 40-year diplomatic career in 1929, serving first in Prague. He first joined the Moscow embassy staff in 1934, shortly after the United States recognized the Communist regime.

His first important assignment came when he was chosen President Franklin D. Roosevelt's top interpreter at the wartime Tehran conference.

Bombing, Gunfire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Four bombs exploded in Northern Ireland Tuesday night, and a British army patrol exchanged fire with snipers.

Three soldiers were slightly wounded, and a barman was beaten up by terrorists who blew up his bar.

Protestant extremists of the Ulster Freedom Fighters were blamed for the bombing of a Roman Catholic parish house at Mullavilly, in County Armagh.

The Irish Republican Army was believed responsible for another bomb that exploded outside a village post office in County Fermanagh after an anonymous telephone warning.

The bombing of the bar and the beating of the barman occurred in Belfast. Army experts detonated another bomb found inside a taxi near the center of the capital, and a soldier was slightly injured.

The old year had gone out and the new year came in with two more killings in the province, raising the confirmed death toll in four and a half years of Protestant-Catholic warfare to 929. Just before midnight Monday snipers killed a young Scottish soldier on patrol in Belfast.

Oil Money Given Nixon Re-Election Said Curb On Effective Controls

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials and major stockholders of 178 oil companies gave nearly $5 million to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, according to a study by Rep. Les Aspin.

The Wisconsin Democrat said Tuesday that the contributions make it impossible for Nixon to deal effectively with the energy crisis.

The 58-page study lists contributions to Nixon's campaign totaling $4,981,840 from 413 oil company directors, senior officials and principal stockholders.

Aspin said this does not include contributions of $268,700 from the Rockefeller family — which he said owns 1 per cent of Exxon stock — or $505,000 from executives of 10 major petrochemical firms. These donations would bring the total to about $5.7 million, or roughly 10 per cent of the total contributions to the Nixon campaign, said Aspin.

"It is now clear why the administration attitude has been so consistently anticonsumer and pro-big oil — the oil companies financed a big chunk of the President's last campaign," Aspin said in a statement accompanying the study.

Three large oil companies on the list — Gulf, Phillips and Ashland — have admitted illegally donating a total of $300,000 in corporate funds to the campaign, Aspin noted. These donations were later returned.

"The big oil companies have Mr. Nixon in a double hammerlock," said Aspin. "After their massive contributions, there is little he can do to control them."

Aspin said the major contributions came from executives and stockholders of these firms:

Gulf Oil Co., $1.18 million; Amerada Hess Corp., $261,956; Getty Oil Co., $179,292; Standard Oil of Calif., $166,000; Sun Oil Co., $157,798; Pan Ocean Oil Corp., $137,036; Phillips Petroleum Co., $137,000; Exxon, $127,747; the Williams Companies, $117,596; Shaheen Natural Resources, $104,000; and Ashland Oil Inc., $103,500.

Aspin released his study amid these other energy-related developments:

—A high-ranking energy official said that the price of gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel may rise by as much as 10 cents a gallon by March 1. And, said Charles R. Owens, deputy assistant administrator of the Federal Energy Office, there is no reason to believe these prices will level off after March 1.

—The energy office said it is investigating reports that Sun Oil Co. set grossly inflated prices for heating oil to two large customers. The probe, said an office spokesman, follows complaints from the customers: Northeast Petroleum of Boston and Northville Industries of Melville, N.Y.

Comet Should Be Visible If Weather Clear

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Planetarium Curator James Seebach of the Charlotte Nature Museum says the Kohoutek comet should be visible tonight on the southwest horizon from 5:50 to 6:15 p.m., weather permitting.

It will be the first time in five million years that the comet can be seen in the night skies of the earth.

Kohoutek will become brighter until about Jan. 14, then it will fade from view the following week.

To look for the comet — a nucleus of frozen gases trailing a tail perhaps 50 million miles long — choose a spot where you have a clear view of the horizon where the sun sets.

As soon as the sun sets, look for the planet Venus, the brightest star in the sky. It will be low in the southwest.

For the first few days, Kohoutek will be below Venus. By about Jan. 7 or 8, the comet will be seen easily above the planet.

Transferred from Moscow to the Philippines in 1957, Bohlen's embassy office in Manila was still adorned with books on Communism.

Some regarded his move to Manila as an exile. It was known that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles disagreed with Bohlen's views on Soviet affairs.

However, two years later, President Eisenhower ignored new Republican opposition in the Senate to bring Bohlen back

Varied Factors Behind Lower N.C. Road Toll

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A reduced speed limit, the gasoline shortage and work of the Highway Patrol in removing drunk drivers from the highways were the major factors cited by Lt. Col. E. W. Jones, patrol commander, for a big reduction in highway fatalities in North Carolina last year.

Jones pointed out that the state ended 1973 Monday night with a traffic death toll for the year of 1,860 as compared with 1,963 in the same period of 1972—a difference of 123.

Jones observed that the 1973 figure will rise during the next few weeks with the death of persons injured in accidents that occurred during 1973.

The patrol commander said that even taking these deaths into consideration, "we should come out with a reduction of well over 100 deaths for the year."

Asked what he attributed the reduction to, Jones said:

"In the latter part of the year, and in December particularly, the speed limit reduction and the gasoline shortage had their effects.

Previous to that and during December, I think we have had a real good program to apprehend drunken drivers and remove them from the highways."

"I think the use of speed timing equipment has certainly been part of it," Jones added. He also said credit was due highway engineering and traffic engineering programs aimed at making highways less hazardous and the driver licensing program.

"All of these programs would not have been effective unless we got the cooperation from the traveling public—an awareness on their part of the need for observing rules for safe driving and safe walking," Jones added.

"I'm real happy about the reduction," Jones added. "But we have aspirations for making 1974 an even safer year."

"We are working on a program now to make patrolling of the highways more effective," Jones added.

He explained that plans are being made for a series of workshops for troopers to "point out ways to make their patrolling more effective in order to prevent accidents."

Ghost Voice Hams Up Reader's Life

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Would you like to hear a true, modern ghost story? One evening while sitting alone, I heard a man's voice distinctly. I could find no one inside the house or out. A while later I heard it again. It seemed to come right out of the air. I checked the TV sets. None was on. I was completely bewildered and somewhat frightened.

A few nights later, a neighbor was visiting me and we both heard this man's voice. We searched the house together and discovered the voice was coming from a transistor radio that was turned off!

My "ghost" was a ham radio operator in my neighborhood, broadcasting with such a powerful signal that he kept coming out of everything but the fillings in my teeth. I suppose that's next.

My "ghost" interferes with the reception on my TV, radio, stereo—everything. Some neighbors have told me they have the same trouble. I've written to the FCC in Washington and they have done nothing about it. Can you help me?

HAUNTED IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HAUNTED: The next time you hear your "ghost," write down his call letters, and send it in a registered letter of complaint to your regional FCC office. [Federal Building, Los Angeles.] Ask your neighbors who have been similarly annoyed to sign it, and send a registered copy to your ham. He is using improperly shielded equipment, which is against the law, and can be remedied.

The FCC is reluctant to crack down too hard on offending ham operators because in times of emergencies and disasters, these hams provide a wonderful public service [gratis] when all other communications fail.

DEAR ABBY: What should one do about a sister who, upon seeing something of yours she likes, says: "Oh, will you please leave that to me when you die?"

She is my younger sister, and she does that with all of the older brothers and sisters, too. IRKED IN PORTLAND

DEAR IRKED: Tell her you will consider it—if she doesn't die first.

DEAR ABBY: I had my wedding date all set and was given several lovely showers, then I had to cancel my wedding due to a misunderstanding. [My fiancé's wife changed her mind and refused to give him a divorce.] I returned over 100 shower gifts. Suddenly, the whole picture changed when the wife met another man, so now the wedding is rescheduled. I would like to write a little note on the wedding invitations to those who gave me a shower gift asking them to kindly return my shower gift.

When I mentioned this idea to a few of my friends they said I shouldn't do it. Why not? I'm marrying the same man, only the timing is different.

RESCHEDULED

DEAR RESCHEDULED: Once a gift is returned it no longer belongs to you. If your friends want to shower you again, they will have to reschedule the showers.

long-stemmed white mum with blue, white and pink streamers. Howard Pritchard Jr. served his son as best man.

The bride is a graduate of South Ayden High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Overbrook High School, Philadelphia, Pa. They are presently employed at Empire Brush, Inc.

After a wedding trip to Maryland, the couple will reside in Ayden. For the wedding trip, the bride changed into a baby blue velvet two-piece suit with matching accessories and the mum lifted from her bouquet.

Immediately following the ceremony, Miss Ruth Hemby and Miss Velma Hemby, aunts of the bride, entertained guests at a reception. Guests were received by Miss Shirlee Williams.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with pom poms in a two branch candelabra. Punch was poured by Mrs. Lizzie Williams and the three tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Rosa Chapman after the traditional first slice was cut by the bridal couple.

Good-byes were said by Mrs. Mary Nobles. Miss Julia Williams presided at the register.

The wedding party was entertained at a wedding breakfast Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Mary Whitehurst, cousin of the bride.

The table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a holiday arrangement.

Report On Home Laundering Recommends Using Cold Water

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
UPI Family Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Should all home laundry be done with cold water to save energy needed to heat hot water?

No one knows—yet. An interim report on some ways of conserving oil estimates that stopping use of hot water for laundering would save about 180,000 barrels of oil per day. That's a lot of oil.

For comparison sake, reducing the speed limits for passenger cars to 50 miles per hour is supposed to save 250,000 barrels a day. Resetting thermostats in homes by three degrees, summer and winter, will save 550,000 barrels a day.

The report, distributed by the Office of Energy Conservation, Department of the Interior, makes these points about the cold water way of washing clothes in the nation's 47 million washers:

"Cold water detergents would yield a wash essentially as clean as the hot water detergents. For certain types of stains, cold water washing would actually do a better job."

"If the government acted to ban manufacture of most hot water detergents, appreciable time must elapse before supplies of hot water detergents could be completely replaced with cold water detergents. One industry representative placed this pipeline lag at two years including procurement and delivery of raw materials, manufacture and packaging of the detergent; and warehousing distribution and sales. We feel this excessively high. Probably three months is a better figure."

"The switchover requires no change in clothes washer design. In each home the hose connecting the washing machine to the hot water system should be detached and connected, instead to the cold water system. A 'Y' fitting having a hose connection on all three arms would facilitate the connection to the cold water system. Its cost is less than 90 cents. Some late model washers already permit cold water wash and cold water rinse with only a press of the button. However to insure against accidental hot water washing the installation of a 'Y' fitting is recommended."

"The shift to cold water detergents may have some effect upon the amount of phosphates discharged to the nation's rivers and lakes. Cold water detergents generally have higher phosphate contents. A special problem arises in certain areas where use of detergents containing phosphates is prohibited by law. Examples are Indiana and New York. In these states, it may be necessary to continue use of hot water detergents if non-phosphates cold water detergents are found to be unsatisfactory or unless state restrictions are lifted."

The interim report, in which cold water laundering was explored, is part of a larger study of United States capability of reducing consumption of petroleum imports in an emergency—which the oil squeeze is. It summarizes a few of the most important short-term conservation measures available to the nation.

Its compilers, John Muller and Ronald Bass, of the Energy Conservation Office and the Treasury Department, respectively, made these points in the introduction:

"We feel there is a significant potential for short-term energy use curtailment without severe damage to the economy or danger to the health or safety of the public.

"However, we do not wish to minimize the discomfort, inconvenience, and impact on normal activities accompanying most curtailment measures.

Animals Help Grandmother Crandall Run Her 150-Acre Farm

FINDS FRIENDSHIP—Widowed Frances Crandall, 82, of rural Newton Falls, Ohio, finds friends among her flocks of sheep and fowl, and other animals on the 50-acre farm she operates, alone. Feeding that friendship sometimes means giving a bottle to an orphan nanny goat, left, and handful of grain to the geese, ducks and chickens.

By GLEN SCHOTTEN
Warren Tribune Writer
NEWTON FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Frances Ruth Crandall, 82, believes "fighting like cats and dogs" applies better to people than to animals, and her herds, flocks and gaggles back her up.

Mrs. Crandall, known as "Grandma Crandall" to friends, and a widow since December 1972, runs a 150-acre farm without human help. A pair of Border Collies, Lady and Nudder Puppy, come to her aid.

Not too long ago, for instance, Nudder Puppy shepherded 20 fat, shortlegged ducklings back to the safety of the front yard from the road into which they had strayed.

The collies also drive the cows' head the goats off from slipping away, and serve as watchdogs. And they — like the cows, horses, steers, sheep, chickens, geese, ducks and rabbits — are her companions since her painter and paper-hanger husband, Benjamin, died at 84.

"Animals get along together a lot better than so-called civilized people," she says, "and they're reliable and honest as the day is long.

"We've got a Garden of Eden here," she says, petting one of her Pomeranians in the kitchen of her large farmhouse near the community about eight miles west of Warren.

All the animals are named and "love it when you talk to them," Mrs. Crandall says. She also thinks they communicate with her as she walks among them, listening to their whinnies, cackles, bleats, honking, mooing and barking.

The geese, George and Sarah, are 20 years old. Sarah still lays eggs. Speckled Lady, one of two show horses, and a black billy goat/buddy up for hours, the goat standing quietly under Lady's neck. There are an old buck sheep and a Hereford calf which are inseparable. And there is a Muscovy drake that never lets a certain white Pekin duck out of his sight.

Being alone and facing a heavy workload, will Grandma Crandall quit, giving up her old barn, her aging corner crib and her gnarled tree whose apples are still sweet?

"When a cow used to misbehave I used to swing it around three times by the tail before letting fly," she replies. "Now I only swing her two times.

"When I can't swing her but once, I'll probably leave the farm," she says.

But her eyes twinkle as she says it.

Conservation Is Their Concern

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Do it now" is a family rule in the Greenwich Village home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney North Seymour Jr.

"It's so well known that you can say 'D.I.N.' and we all know," said Mrs. Seymour, who is also painter-conservationist-writer Catryna Ten Eyck.

In an age when many parents are trying to open lines of communication with their children, the Seymours are veterans of years of family projects. They always do things together.

Seymour, partner in a Wall Street law firm, is a former state assemblyman and U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York who was active in environmental cases as well as in consumer fraud, civil rights and official corruption cases.

Tryntje, 17, and Gabriel, 15, have been part of family activities since they were babies.

"They're relaxed about going anywhere and, lately, they even enjoy it," Mrs. Seymour said. "We say, 'They're catching it.'"

"We became active in landmark preservation through our interest in courthouses," Seymour added. "When Tryntje was a year old, we packed her and our painting gear up and went on a painting jaunt to New York state courthouses. I painted, Catryna painted and the baby just admired."

The Seymours' painting trips to courthouses in other states eventually led to a bar association project of preserving historic courthouses. Lessons the family learned from this experience, he said, got them involved in other kinds of preservations.

"The South Street Seaport Museum arose out of another family outing. It was a simultaneous brainchild of several of us, and I introduced the first bill in the Assembly to make it possible," Seymour said.

Other painting projects have taken the Seymours along the Oregon Trail as well as to the American Southwest, which they trailer-camp through periodically. On their living room walls hang pictures of the same spot — from four viewpoints, one for each member of the family.

"We've tried to get the children to develop a sense of individual participation, a feeling of their own input in these projects," Mrs. Seymour said. "At first they were just excited and enthusiastic. Now they have ideas of their own to contribute. I feel terribly lucky that they're pushing us into things."

Tryntje has been accepted at Smith College and wants to be a journalist. Already she is trying to sell photographs and stories to magazines. Gabriel has outfitted a doll house for display at the local branch library, encouraging other people to think about such projects. She also won a school photo competition.

Among other activities, the Seymours also write. He published "Why Justice Fails," a look at the inner workings of the American justice system this year, as she published "Enjoying the Southwest," both a travel and conservation guide. She exhibited this year her paintings from the Southwest.

"There are parts of the Southwest that are more exciting culturally and historically than other parts of the country," Seymour said. "But I found it more interesting to search out the remnants of the Oregon trail, looking for wagon tracks."

Camping out on summer vacations, armed with books, cameras and painting gear, the Seymours study history, geography and nature. They have learned about Indian crafts from their visits to reservations.

"The children have strong enthusiasms," Mrs. Seymour added. "One of them just spent what was nearly her life savings on a pot made in Acoma. It was a good piece, though. She knew enough to realize that."

While interviewing Mr. and Mrs. Seymour in his office, it's easy to be sidetracked by the collection of memorabilia on walls, shelves and tables. Some tell of family travels, such as Herkimer diamonds, shells and rocks, tiny statues.

Some tell of Seymour's career. There is a collection of eagles including a wood block cut from his first political campaign poster, a Tammany bank and legal items he acquired from his father. There is part of the proscenium arch, from the old Metropolitan Opera house, now demolished.

Seymour says it is a family rule to do things, not to talk about them.

"There's a satisfaction and enjoyment in finding activities all the family likes to participate in. We think everybody has a role, and we pay attention to any particular enthusiasm anybody has," he said.

Popular new knit fabrics pose new problems in upkeep, according to Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Some loosely woven knits are bad about snagging—the biggest problem consumers cite, she said. The strength of the fibers causes pilling when they work to the surface in small balls and don't break away.

Doll Designer Makes All Smiling Faces

By ELLEN KELLY
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Many if not most of the stores in the French Quarter are overcrowded with merchandise. Sometimes it seems as if half sell antiques while the others sell stuffed alligators and ash trays.

But Mrs. Laura H. Bienvenu sells row upon row of smiling—always smiling—rag dolls in her uncluttered, cheerful shop on Chartres street.

Mrs. Bienvenu, who makes all the colorfully dressed dolls either at home or in her store, has been at it for quite a few years for even her age, which is not advanced.

"I've been working ever since I was a little girl, when my grandmother showed me how to make a clown," she said.

All Dolls Smile
She still makes the clowns, as well as many other types of dolls. But they're not quite the same as the ones she made with her grandmother.

"You change things as you go along," she said. "Ninety per cent of the patterns of the dolls in here are my own pattern."

Since she works on 30 to 100 dolls of the same design at a time, Mrs. Bienvenu has no idea how long it takes her to finish one of the brightly dressed versions of Raggedy Ann 'n Andy, Southern Belle, Clown or other dolls.

All are smiling. "There are too many happy things to make," she said. "I don't like to make unhappy things."

"The dolls range in price up to $20 and down to $3—the doll-maker can't keep the $3 dolls in stock.

Husband Helps
The only problem she has, "is that I don't have time to do the new ones that I'm thinking about all the time. Once in a while I squeeze some time in and make some special ones."

Mrs. Bienvenu's work uniform is a long blue gingham gown with a white pinafore. She has apparently lost at least one of her doll admirers.

"My son just turned 7, and up to this time he's loved everything I made. He's talked me out of six clowns, two pandas and four scarecrows. And then I quit. I wouldn't give him any more."

"Now that he's 7, he's more interested in baseball and bicycles."

But in husband Gary Bienvenu, branch manager of the Dixie Plate Co., in New Orleans, the doll store still has a very helpful male booster.

"The most important person who's been involved in this whole thing is my husband. He built the stands, he paints, he does all the handiwork, he encourages me and without him I don't think I could do everything I've done."

Appreciation Owed To Many

One of the county's better Christmas presents was the announcement that the Pitt United Fund had exceeded its goal for the 1973 campaign. Campaign Chairman W. E. Dansey announced that $178,393.09 had been collected or pledged. This is 102 percent of the projected goal of $174,692.84. And, Dansey said, there are still some outstanding pledge cards out and it is anticipated that another $5,000 to $6,000 will be collected.

President Joe Clark commented, "Even though the economy is in the state it's in, our citizens realized the importance of the work that the United Fund agencies carry on with the county. The result of their awareness has been another successful campaign."

This was the fifth year that the county has exceeded its goal and we have come a long way from the years when, despite all everyone could do, the goal could not be met. There has been much hard work done by many people this year and the public of Pitt County has responded generously. Chairman Dansey, President Clark and all volunteer workers deserve the appreciation of our county for the hard work they have done to meet this goal this year.

Must Avoid Allure Of Selective Tax Cuts

Even though there have been recommendations of selected tax cuts, the Legislature this year should resist all attempts to make tax reductions. The economic picture is just too cloudy to erode our state tax base in 1974. It is possible that if cuts are made in certain areas this year, proportionate taxes will have to go on some other group of taxpayers in the next few years. We think the best thing our lawmakers can do this year is leave the tax structure alone.

Soviet Moving To Superiority

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON—The muscular Soviet military posture during the Middle East war and disturbing trends in comparative U. S. Soviet defense spending leads senior uniformed officers in the Pentagon to this alarming forecast: a Kremlin with clear military superiority will begin maximum world pressure as early as 1977. U. S. intelligence analysis shows Moscow spending twice as much as Washington on military research and development and Washington spending twice as much as Moscow on military pay. If continued, those trends will enable the Soviet Union to pursue a highly bellicose foreign policy within three years. By this analysis, Soviet saber rattling during the Yom Kippur war is but a foretaste of what lies ahead.

Going beyond the usual Pentagon rationale for higher defense spending, this assessment represents deep-seated concern for the future by troubled senior officers. In particular, they believe the architect of detente, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, overlooks the danger of declining U. S. strength in comparison with the Russians. That decline is pointed up in the U. S. intelligence consensus regarding U. S. Soviet defense spending. Research and development now accounts for 25 per cent of the Soviet defense budget, compared with 12 per cent for the U. S.

Converting rubles into dollars, R. & D. figures for the last available year (1970) show $16 billion Soviet against $7.4 billion U. S., with the gap even wider today. Moscow's crash program in naval expansion is most dramatic. Ship construction now comprises 15 per cent of Soviet defense spending

To the editor: One area of the VISTA project, the job development program, has had to redefine its activities. Four months ago several of the volunteers tried to set in motion a program designed to help people find jobs. However, experience has shown all VISTA programs are in the unique position of having to develop and successfully operate a program that, within a year's time, can be carried on by interested local residents. Given these unique requirements the volunteers have found that, due to limited assistance from other government agencies, it was impossible to immediately establish a good working relationship with local employers. Although some job placements were made it has become obvious that their efforts could only scratch the surface of the problem. These VISTA volunteers will, however, continue to do their best with those people who have asked their help, but will otherwise work in those areas where success has already been demonstrated. Bob Edwards, VISTA Volunteer

Strength For Today

LOVED BY GOD St. Paul closes his Hymn of Love, the thirteenth chapter of 1 Corinthians, with the well-known words: "But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love." What we often fail to catch in our reading of the Bible is the unmistakable teaching that what really counts is not our love for God but God's love for us. It is true that we are to love God and our fellow men, but this we can never do Whilst brooding over my recent misfortunes, a wee, small voice whispered to me, "Cheer up, things could be worse!" So I cheered up...and, sure enough, things got worse.

The Keys To The House

WASHINGTON—Grizzled old 1973 was putting the last things into his suitcase as young, bright-eyed 1974 stood nervously in the bedroom. "Well," said old '73, as he stuffed a few more White House tapes into his bag, "that seems to be about it. The place is all yours. Here are the keys to the house. Oh, by the way, keep the thermostat down to 68 or you may run out of oil by March. You may run out of it anyway. I don't know what happened. When I moved in in January everything was going great, then suddenly in October the bottom fell out, and damned if we didn't have a worldwide energy crisis. 1972 didn't say a word to me about it." "Yessir," said 1974. "Now," said old '73, "here are the keys to the car. You can drive only 55 miles an hour and you're supposed to

Other Editors Say A Proper Squelch

(Winston-Salem Journal) The industry hunters of the state Department of Natural and Economic Resources have done North Carolina a lot of good over the years, but Gov. James Holshouser acted wisely last week when he told them to stay out of state tax business. Holshouser is not opposed to industrial development, but setting policies and planning incentives for that growth are his responsibilities. The state's industry hunters have for years advocated inventory tax breaks to attract new industry to North Carolina. NER employees have campaigned publicly and privately for these tax measures.

Gov. Holshouser has opposed any revisions in the tax structure that might leave the state starved for revenue in hard economic times. The proposed inventory tax break for industry is thus directly opposed to the governor's position. This fact alone would be reason enough for Holshouser to restrain any member of an administration that is supposed to be carrying out his policies. More important, taxes are not the proper concern of NER or its officials.

The governor is already at work on a better approach to industrial development. Last Friday, the same day he rebuked the industry hunters, he announced that the Research Triangle Institute will prepare a comprehensive long range economic development policy for the state. This policy will replace guesswork and intuition with solid facts and careful research in this vitally important area.

Such a policy could be dovetailed neatly into statewide land-use planning controls, which the governor also favors. The often diffuse and competitive growth promotion programs of individual cities, chambers of commerce and state agencies and officials could be combined into a single, rational plan for balanced, orderly growth, clean industry and higher-paying jobs.

It is unfortunate that the hardworking industry hunters had to suffer a rebuke from the governor, but they must learn to work within the limits set by his authority. Holshouser is clearly taking command of planning and policy for North Carolina's future, and that, quite simply, is part of his job.

Ill-Prepared For Any Downturn

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — American businesses and households are in a less than satisfactory financial position as the economic downturn begins. Statistics show that liabilities are high in relation to assets in both sectors, thus weakening their ability to withstand the stresses of lost sales and wages. While it is too early to predict the consequences of this illiquidity, government officials, businessmen and others will be watching closely for any indication of rising bankruptcies. Some businessmen already are complaining about slow payments of bills, and attribute it to the reluctance of customers to finance inventories with high-cost loans. Instead, they borrow from their suppliers. Lionel Edie & Co., the economic research and consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the brokerage house, comments that the situation "shows an alarming resemblance to the 1969-1970 period." It was during that time that many companies found it increasingly difficult to finance their operations, none more so than the Penn Central, which was forced into reorganization. Edie notes that corporations have sharply increased their short-term borrowings and that now their cash assets are only 18.6 per cent of current liabilities,

Rodney Used 2 Names

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — You might think that old comedians never die; they just fade away. But that's not true of Rodney Dangerfield. A lot of people have come up the hard way in show business. But Rodney has done it twice: first as Jack Roy, a reasonably successful comic on small club circuits, and then, after a lapse of 12 years, in his present name as one of the most popular comedians on television.

Rodney was born in Babylon, N.Y., the son of a vaudeville performer named Phil Roy. At age 15, Jack Roy started writing jokes and doing imitations of W. C. Fields and Charles Laughton in amateur hour shows, where he won prizes of $1, $2, and $5. When he was 17 he worked as a ginging waiter at the Polish Falcon in Brooklyn and as a "paid amateur" for eight quarters a night in a Newark club.

Now he gets $8,500 plus expenses for a single appearance: Between the quarters and the thousands was a period when Jack Roy quit the standup comic routines to "live a normal life" as a businessman (in paint) and collect a wife and two children. But he says he couldn't help "thinking funny" and when he did, he wrote it down. Now he has what he calls "a duffle bag full of jokes" that he can dip into anytime. He estimates that he has written between 10,000 and 15,000 jokes and used 3,000. Nineteenths of his material is his own. He admits that it was a tough road back when he decided to become a comedian again at age 40. At age 41 he was playing. (Continued on page 6)

40 Years Ago Today

By SUSAN PRICE January 2, 1934 Questioned today regarding rumors that negotiations were underway for consolidation of Greenville Banking and Trust Company and State Bank and Trust Company, officials of the two banks revealed that the matter had been informally discussed between stockholders and officials of both banks. Directors of the State Bank and Trust Company were to discuss and take some action on the proposal at a special meeting tomorrow night.

The State of North Carolina meant business when it told motorists they would not be allowed to drive cars with old license plates after December 31.

The fact was proved to the satisfaction of everyone yesterday when the Highway Patrol rounded up hundreds of violators in the state yesterday.

From the office of Lester Jones, Lieutenant of this highway patrol division, came the statement that 262 arrests were made in this division. Eighteen of the arrests were from Pitt County.

Removal Of Emission Controls His Business

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The gasoline shortage has spawned a new kind of enterprise in Ohio.

Daniel J. Furey of Columbus says he will go into business this month removing emission control devices from automobiles.

"It's hard to justify devices to decrease air pollution which burn more gasoline," he said. Furey hopes to get the company, called Fuel Savers, Inc., in operation by late January or early February.

Furey, a mechanical engineer, said his attorney, Robert VanHeyde told him the procedure is legal.

Furey estimated 7 to 20 percent of a car's fuel goes to feed emission control equipment, or about $2 for every tankful for some motorists.

He said a well-tuned car without emission controls causes no more pollution than an out-of-tune car with the latest antipollution equipment.

Furey claims that after 10,000 miles the extra gas consumed by emission control equipment actually negates the effect of the controls.

Furey said he will charge two rates for the conversion and tune-up, $49.95 for cars with early pollution control systems and $99 for the latest models.

Under current federal law, installation of emission control devices is required, and manufacturers and dealers are forbidden to tamper with them.

But VanHeyde said he could find nothing in U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulations prohibiting a vehicle's owner from modifying his own equipment.

"If you want to take it (antipollution equipment) off your own car, it's perfectly legal to do so," VanHeyde said.

The EPA warned, however, that sloppy conversions can result in even greater waste of gasoline for late model cars.

"This is not a simple technique, and I personally would not want my car modified by a mechanic not completely familiar with the design principles of the emission control system," said Eric Stork, director of the EPA's emissions laboratory at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Offer Seniors Free Courses

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Laramie County Community College has started a special plan giving persons 65 years of age or older tuition-free enrollment in college courses where space is available.

"We hope many men and women will use this tuition-free plan to follow up their interests and augment their previous education," college president H.D. Yarbrough said.

Yarbrough added the college has always had a number of over-sixty students and said they are always among the most capable, enthusiastic students. "Learning for living and enjoyment is not confined to any age group," he said.

MILLIONS FOR CANAL
PANAMA CITY (UPI) — The Panama Canal was built by the United States at a cost of $380 million from 1904 through 1914. It is approximately 50 miles long, deep water to deep water, and follows a northwesterly to southeasterly direction.

stage will be closer to 1977 than 1987—a view shaped by recent events in the Eastern Mediterranean.

With the Soviets concentrating 93 vessels there against 60 for the U. S., the Pentagon believes a clash would have resulted in American disaster. What, then, would the U. S. have done had there not been a diplomatic settlement? Replies one top officer: "We would have had to throw in our cards." In other words, an ignominious withdrawal of U. S. forces.

Kremlinologists outside the Pentagon always accuse the U. S. military of accepting the worst possible hypothesis of Soviet intentions, neglecting Moscow's desperate need for Western computer technology and fear of U. S.-China entente. Nevertheless, these experts now believe the Pentagon's fears should be taken more into account by Dr. Kissinger.

This view is held by a distinguished Kremlin-watcher, Prof. Zbigniew Brzezinski of Columbia. Moscow, he said, during a Dec. 7 seminar at the Brookings Institution, continues to "seek a warfare capability to become assured of victory and to have an edge in crisis situations." Hence, the U. S. must increase defense spending to retain vanishing parity.

More important was this recommendation: as chief proponent of detente, Kissinger should participate more actively in drafting the defense budget. To that suggestion from the Columbia professor, the brass in the Pentagon whispers amen.

"I'm certain sane minds will prevail," '74 said.

Old '73 opened another bottle. "Boy, I must say you're a cool one. Anyway, I'm all burned out. It's time for me to be getting along. You're a nice kid. I like your style. Maybe we can get together sometime and you can let me know how you did."

"I'd like that, sir," '74 said. "Can I help you with your bag?"

"That would be mighty nice of you. I'm just going down to the bus station by myself."

"Okay, sir. Just hold on to my arm."

As they walked outside they saw a cheering crowd, and a band began playing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed by "Auld Lane Syne." Tears welled in old '73's eyes. "I'll be damned," he said, all choked up. "I didn't think anyone cared."

ing night clubs in the Catskills for free and was embarrassed to use his own name. A night club owner christened him Rodney Dangerfield. Then he persuaded his agent to book him on an Ed Sullivan rehearsal and Sullivan signed him up for two shows with an option for four more. Since then the going has been "up" for Rodney.

He has appeared on the Johnny Carson show 40 times and on the Dean Martin weekly show as the comedian-owner of a night club. And he really does own a $250,000 Manhattan night club, Dangerfield's, which he opened in September 1969.

Rodney says he has turned down offers of as much as $30,000 to appear in Las Vegas.

"I do quite well in my own club or I'd go to Vegas," he said. "People have a good time at my place and I like to see people walk out happy. There aren't many places left where you see people laugh. My place is probably the only one left that has a comedian working steady."

"It isn't good for a comic to hit too soon. He can't handle it. It takes a comic 20 years of alking the boards to feel at home. My night club routine involves making 150 to 200 jokes in 45 minutes. A laugh a minute isn't enough; you need three or

Family Grocery Bill Went Up Again In December

Associated Press Writer
The family grocery bill went up again during December, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

There were signs that the price picture for the beginning of 1974 won't be much of an improvement over 1973. The AP survey showed that marketbasket totals were an average of 13 per cent higher at the start of the new year than they were on March 1, 10 months earlier.

Rising production costs, pushed up by higher fuel prices, were cited by industry sources as part of the reason for the increased bill. Wholesale food costs for some items also went up.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1 and rechecked them at the beginning of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed that during December, 28.7 per cent of the total number of items checked went up in price, 11.8 per cent went down, 48.7 per cent were unchanged and 10.8 per cent were not available on one of the check dates.

The number of items rising in price was about the same as during both October and November. But in October, 25 per cent of the items checked declined in price and in November, 14 per cent declined.

Staples like milk, butter and eggs led the list of higher-priced items. Bargains were hard to find, but all-beef frankfurters did decline in price in six cities in the period from Dec. 1 to Jan. 1.

five per cent in Salt Lake City, Utah, to 19 per cent in Providence, R.I.

In a familiar pattern, eggs went up in more cities than any other item. The price of a dozen, medium white eggs rose during December in 11 of 13 cities checked. The price of eggs also went up in 12 of 13 cities during November.

The December price increases ranged from two per cent in Miami and Philadelphia to 14 per cent in Detroit, where a dozen eggs went from 85 to 97 cents. The average increase was six per cent.

Eggs declined in price from 85 to 79 cents in Los Angeles during December and held steady in New York City.

Milk prices went up during December in eight of 13 cities checked, rising an average of six per cent. The price went down in two cities and stayed the same in three. The increases brought the price of a quart of whole milk in most cities to about 41 or 42 cents in contrast to an average price of about 33 or 34 cents in March.

Frankfurters — which went up in seven cities in November, rising an average of 14 per cent — went down in six cities during December, went up in four cities and stayed the same in three. The average decrease was 11 per cent.

The AP survey covered Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The check list included: pork chops, eggs, butter, cookies, chopped chük, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, franks and sugar.

Considering Reissuing Of $2 Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nickel hasn't bought anything for a long time. Now, as the dollar buys less and less on store shelves the Treasury Department is considering reissuing the $2 bill.

There is even speculation that, as the United States is minting $1 coins, the paper dollar might disappear completely, although no such move is contemplated for the near future, the National Geographic Society says.

Popularity is the question confronting advocates of a revived $2 bill. The reason they were discontinued in 1966 was because too many people refused to use them—perhaps because of widespread belief the bills were unlucky.

Unpopular as the scorned "deuce" may be, American $2 notes are as old as the nation. They first were authorized by the Continental Congress in June 1776 as "bills of credit for the defense of America."

About 49,000 $2 bills were circulated, but inflation so plagued the colonies during the Revolutionary War that nobody wanted paper money of any denomination and "not worth a Continental" became a catchphrase.

The $2s weren't issued again until 1862, when they were authorized by Congress during the Civil War. The bills bore the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, the treasury secretary killed by Aaron Burr in a duel.

Replacing Hamilton's likeness with that of Jefferson the following year did nothing toward making the bill more popular.

Some authorities think $2 bills came into bad repute because they were widely used to buy votes during the national election of 1880.

Economically, there are advantages in the $2 bill. It costs the government as much to print ones as twos—about a penny a bill. James A. Conlon, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, estimates a savings of $2.1 million a year if the bureau replaces half of its $1 bills with 2 bills.

One observer jokes that if the Treasury Department wants to revive $2 bills at their former value, it should take account of inflation and print them as $3 bills.

It wouldn't be a first. There were Continental $3 notes and New York and Texas once circulated $3 bills.

Add One More Woman Dentist

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Thirteen superior students graduated nine months early in a relatively new program of the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Dentistry include a 39-year-old woman.

Rozella A. Krehbiel and her 12 fellows, who were graduated in August, were selected by the faculty for both scholastic and clinical performance.

Miss Krehbiel was 32 and a dental assistant in Wichita, Kans., when she decided seven years ago to become a dentist. She returned to college to earn her bachelor's degree in 1969 and went from there to dental school. Only 3.4 per cent of the nation's dentists are women.

UNHEALTHY WATER

NEW YORK (UPI) — More and more physical illnesses are associated with impure water. The latest ones are typhoid fever, infectious hepatitis, cholera, gastro-enteritis, and skin infections. The World Health Organization reported that 5 million people each year suffer disabling diseases associated with water.

Once A Surplus Of Presidents

CHICAGO (UPI) — For awhile, Americans seemed destined to have a superabundance of presidents. The title of president, reports the Encyclopaedia Britannica, was used for the chief executive of state governments that were organized after the American Revolution.

There was a president of Delaware, of New Hampshire, and of South Carolina. Since 1792, however, the title of chief executive of each state in the United States has been governor.

Conventions In Winter Palace

VIENNA (AP) — The Congress Center in the Hofburg is interesting among the world's convention halls.

The gala rooms of the former winter palace of the Habsburgs were adapted for this purpose in 1958 and represent an interesting synthesis of Baroque splendor with modern convention facilities.

The historical character of the rooms has been preserved: the Ceremonial Hall, which also has been the Throne Room, the Knights Hall, where Empress Maria-Theresia was baptized, and the Secret Council Chamber, where the foreign policy of Austria-Hungary was made.

Married In Bar On New Year's

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Frank Wolf and Judy Schweitzer were married in a local bar New Year's Day because, as the bride put it, "it's been like a home to us."

After the ceremony, conducted by a minister of the Universal Life Church, a crowd of 100 persons toasted the newlyweds. The new Mrs. Wolf, 29, wore a floor-length emerald green dress. The groom, 59, wore black tails.

A rock band beat out a wedding march.

BRIDGE DRAMA—Police are silhouetted against the sky Tuesday as they attempt to close in on a man subsequently identified as Jim Webber, 21, of East Aurora, N. Y., near a tower of the Brooklyn Bridge. Webber subsequently allowed police to help him to the ground, police said.

Arranges His Own System Of Gas Priorities

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Phillip Webb wants to protect his regular service station patrons during the gasoline shortage. So he's designed a system of windshield stickers and will ration fuel on a priority basis.

Doctors, nurses and operators of emergency vehicles will get No. 1 stickers and all the gasoline they need. Commercial vehicles — like delivery trucks, construction vehicles and autos used by commuting salesmen — will get No. 2 stickers and full tanks when there's enough gas, he said.

Regular customers will get No. 3 stickers and 10 gallons of gas. New patrons without stickers will get 5 gallons as long as supplies last.

Webb said he may set up one pump for stickered cars, allowing them to get gas quickly.

The Webb & Andersen Inc. station in this city of 70,000 persons, like many others around the nation, has been jammed with long lines of motorists.

Making his 40,000 gallon-a-month allocation last has become increasingly difficult for Webb.

Last June he began closing on Sundays. In September, the station cut weekday hours and closed for a half-day on Saturdays.

Last Saturday he opened promptly at 6 a.m., pumped 1,600 gallons of gas in two hours and was forced to close at 8 a.m. despite long lines.

Webb said he devised the system because:

"It's disheartening to see the elderly women and families who have traded with us for two or three generations amid miles of strangers waiting in line with helpless looks on their faces wondering if they will get gas."

"I had to decide which individual behind the wheel is important to me," he said. "And that's the steady customer."

He expects to pay $50 to $100 for the stickers, which are being printed this week. In the meantime, he will examine his ledgers of 400 to 500 active accounts and set the priorities.

He is sending letters to regular customers and advertising the system to discourage drivers who have been skipping from station to station.

Rail Mishaps Stranded 900

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than 900 passengers aboard four Amtrak passenger trains found themselves at unscheduled stops as part of the New Year's holiday.

A Chicago-to-Denver streamliner carrying 400 passengers was delayed for more than 13 hours Monday night and Tuesday at Galesburg, Ill., after water was mistakenly poured into a diesel fuel tank.

The water froze in the fuel lines in near-zero weather.

The extra stop for an Amtrak turboliner Tuesday was five miles north of Normal, also in central Illinois.

A dispatcher at Bloomington, Ill., the train's last scheduled stop as it headed from St. Louis to Chicago with 90 aboard, said the train apparently ran out of fuel because the engines had been left running Monday night to keep them from freezing.

In Missouri, 120 passengers aboard an Amtrak train en route from Kansas City to New York were stalled for more than 12 hours when the Missouri Pacific locomotives pulling it stopped.

A railroad spokesman said the locomotives ran out of fuel, apparently because of a leak. Two switch engines were sent to rescue the train and pull it into Jefferson City to await replacement engines, but not before the passengers spent several hours in unheated cars in near-zero weather.

On the West Coast, an Amtrak train en route from Sacramento, Calif., to Vancouver, Wash., with 313 aboard braked to an unscheduled stop Tuesday at Klamath Falls, Ore., after a freight train jumped the tracks ahead.

For Walter Schendle, the Klamath Falls stop for the Amtrak train using Southern Pacific rails was trouble on top of trouble.

He explained that he had been aboard another Amtrak train which derailed near Anderson, Calif., last Friday, injuring 84 persons.

"I figured the same thing couldn't happen twice, so I made train reservations to return," Schendle told newsmen.

The stalled passengers eventually were sent on their way by bus or air.

Dick Van Dyke A Grandfather

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The first child born in 1974 at Memorial Hospital here has as her grandfather a television star — actor Dick Van Dyke.

Named Jessica Lee by her parents, Christian and Caroline Van Dyke, the child was born at 1:09 a.m. Tuesday.

"I called my father and he was so excited he could hardly speak," Christian said. "It was my parent's first grandchild and my wife's parents' first. She's just a beautiful baby."

conferred on recent violations of the cease-fire along the Suez Canal front. Earlier, Gen. Sillasvuo had met with Egyptian officials on the same subject. (AP Wirephoto)

Beat His 1972 Car To Death; At Road's End

PICO RIVERA, Calif. (AP) — An Anaheim man, with the help of about 50 other persons, has beaten his horseless carriage to death on Ford Motor Co. property. "I had to do it," puffed Roger T. Sweitzer, after he and members of the Outraged Consumers Action Committee pounded Sweitzer's 1972 Pinto automobile into little more than a pile of scrap Tuesday. They used hammers, axes, crowbars and clubs.

The committee is a loosely organized group of Southern California car owners formed by the owner of a Lincoln Continental who burned his car in protest here two years ago.

Sweitzer said a wide variety of mechanical problems began popping up in the car almost from the first day he brought it home.

"It's been dying by inches ever since I got it," Sweitzer said. "I would rather put it out of its misery and kill it before it kills me or someone else."

The beating took place on the grounds of Ford's assembly plant here.

"I have been trying to get the company to either fix that car or give me another one since the day after I got it, but the only satisfaction I ever got — until today — was when a Ford representative asked me, 'What do you want for $3,000?'" Sweitzer said.

In a letter to the customer service division of Ford Marketing Corp. in Dearborn, Mich., he wrote, "I am now at the end of the road, or I should say my Pinto is since it will not perform in any manner remotely related to that of an automobile. In fact, it's so bad my insurance company has canceled the coverage on it."

About 40 minutes after the dismantling began, sheriff's deputies ordered the Pinto-pounders to disperse.

Sweitzer, who charged each person $1 a swing, plans to use the money he collected to help pay for his new mode of transportation, a bicycle.

Fifteen Die In Holiday Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The Highway Patrol says 15 persons died in traffic accidents in North Carolina over the 4½-day New Year's holiday. There were 17 deaths over the similar Christmas holiday. The total of 32 was 18 fewer than predicted by the North Carolina State Motor Club.

The count was kept from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Tuesday, 102 hours.

There were 1,860 deaths in the state during 1973, 123 fewer than in 1972. The commander of the patrol, Lt. Col. E. W. Jones, said there were three major reasons for the reduction. He listed them as a reduced speed limit, the gasoline shortage, and the campaign of the patrol to get drunken drivers off the roads.

Six persons were killed on New Year's Day, including three in a Montgomery County accident and two in a collision at Goldsboro in Wayne County.

Killed near Star in Montgomery County were Ronnie Dale Brown, 17, of Rt. 2, Robbins; Bruce Davis, 9, of the same address, and William Barry Kivett, 23, of Rt. 1, Star.

Victims of a head-on collision of two cars at Goldsboro were Dennis Arbona, 25, of Brentwood, N.Y., and Mrs. Darlene Teresa Johnson, 26, of Goldsboro.

Brenda Dean Wallace, 18, of Rt. 7, Monroe, was fatally injured when her car collided with a pickup truck on a rural road near Indian Trail on New Year's Day.

Nationalized Its Forest Land

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The Honduran government has nationalized the country's extensive forest lands and says it is embarking on an agrarian reform program.

President Oswaldo Lopez Arellano said in a New Year's address that owners of forest lands will receive a share of the profits from the sale of their timber but the government will control all lumbering and development of the forests.

He said all uncultivated farm land and all farms considered by the government to be badly run would be expropriated and divided up among 100,000 poor peasant families.

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices moved lower today in the first stock market session of 1974. Brokers said the decline reflected continued worries over the energy situation and the economy.

The Dow Jones industrial average was down 3.69 to 847.17 at 11:30 a.m. But advances outpaced declines by nearly 2 to 1 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Board's composite index was off .11 to 51.71, and the market-value index on the American Stock Exchange had slipped .04 to 90.29 at 11 a.m.

Uncertainties over the economic prospects for the year and the effect of the oil crunch were sidelining investors, brokers said.

Kennecott, the Big Board's volume leader, was up 1 1/4 to 45 1/2 and paced an advance in selected metals.

Gold stocks were particularly strong, reflecting higher prices of the precious metal in European markets. Homestake Mining was up 4 1/2 to 75 1/2; ASA, Ltd., up 4 1/2 to 72 1/2; and Dome Mines, up 6 1/2 to 160.

Automotives continued to feel the oil squeeze. General Motors slid 3/4 to 45 1/4, Ford dropped 3/4 to 40 1/4, and Chrysler dipped 1/4 to 15 1/4.

Chile Shaken By Tremors

CALAMA, Chile (AP)—An earthquake rocked Chile's northern desert region this morning. First reports said some buildings were destroyed and three persons injured in this city of 42,000.

At Chuquicamatita, the world's largest open-pit copper mine 18 miles to the north, the tremor sent so much dust billowing into the air that work was suspended for about an hour. No injuries were reported and the short stoppage was not expected to affect output.

The quake caused people to flee from their homes in an area extending over 750 miles, authorities reported, but it was not felt in central Santiago.

Calama, near the Bolivian border, appeared to be the center of the quake, which was reported in Chile to measure six to eight on the Richter scale. The movement was so sharp that residents rushed to the open piazzas to avoid shaking buildings.

The quake hit at 7:43 a.m. and lasted for at least two minutes.

Calama appeared to be the only city where any significant damage and injuries were reported.

A earthquake measurement of 6 on the Richter scale means the quake can be severe. A reading of 7 means a quake capable of widespread damage and 8 is a great quake, able to do tremendous damage.

The 1906 San Francisco earthquake registered 8.3.

The Chilean quake was reported by the U.S. National Earthquake Reporting Service at Boulder, Colo., to have registered 6.9.

More Gasoline Price Hikes Ahead

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer
 The new year meant fresh gasoline supplies today for many of the nation's motorists, but government officials say stiff price hikes may be right around the corner.

"The situation should improve considerably today and Thursday," said Anthony Ippolito, an Automobile Club of New York official.

Gas allocations are delivered at the beginning of each month in most cases, and he said many stations had at least part of their January allotments.

Charles Binsted, of the Washington-based National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, said he expected most stations to reopen around the nation today because they "have gotten their January allocations or will shortly."

Oil companies were given the go-ahead Monday to hike gasoline prices 1.5 cents a gallon. Federal Energy Office officials said Tuesday that prices could be about 10 cents a gallon more by March.

Most gas station operators took New Year's Day off, even though some had gasoline.

"We asked them to close early this week to conserve fuel for the holidays," said Dan Usner, a New Orleans, La., operator and president of the state Service Station Association. "The steps we took to conserve apparently helped out." Even though stations had more gas today, he said the outlook for January was still uncertain.

In Washington state, a spokesman for the Arco distributorship said Tuesday night there were "nine tank trucks on the road going like gangbusters to deliver the January allocation."

Bill Merry, a spokesman for the Automobile Club of Washington, said said 650 calls from motorists were received Tuesday in Seattle area. About 4 percent reported they were stranded.

In Milwaukee, Wis., the American Automobile Association said sub-zero weather created a "tremendous volume" of distress calls from motorists.

Those out of gas were out of luck. The AAA said "of all the stations available for service, only one was open for the sale of gasoline."

Cold weather and snow storms in the Midwest combined with the fuel shortage to keep motorists off the highway Tuesday. The result was fewer traffic fatalities.

The National Safety Council had predicted between 470-570 persons would die on the nation's highways over the four-day holiday.

By 1 a.m. EST today, 396 deaths were reported.

Many Welcomed New Year At Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Skippy gasoline supplies and severe winter weather kept many Americans home for a relatively quiet New Year's Day. But there were the customary parties, parades and football bowl games to welcome the start of 1974.

President Nixon was among millions of gridiron enthusiasts across the nation who watched holiday bowl games telecast from Miami, Dallas and Pasadena, Calif. Nixon had spent a quiet New Year's Eve with his family in San Clemente, Calif.

In Rome, Pope Paul VI wished thousands who gathered in St. Peter's Square a happy new year and said that economic worries should not displace concern for the problem of world peace.

New Year's was an official holiday for the first time in England. But because of power rationing as well as tradition, it was business as usual in many department stores and factories. Britain began a three-day work week Monday to conserve energy and some firms had to operate Monday through today.

Queen Elizabeth II's Honors List for New Year's was headed by William Whitelaw, who as secretary of state for Northern Ireland got leaders of the Protestant majority there to agree to a coalition with the Roman Catholic minority.

Millions of Japanese welcomed the Year of the Tiger with visits to shrines and temples.

Orbiting hundreds of miles above the earth, America's Skylab 3 astronauts put in a full day's work after brief New Year's greetings from ground control. They conducted earth resources studies and other scientific experiments.

Some 1.5 million persons lined the streets in Pasadena to watch the Tournament of Roses parade preceding the Rose Bowl game. Chosen sweepstakes winner was a flowered float, entered by the City of St. Louis, Mo., called "Happiness is ... a Snowflake."

Snow storms plus frigid temperatures put a damper on other New Year's festivities as well as holiday travel.

In Dallas, where the mercury dipped to an unusually cold 22 degrees, attendance at the Cotton Bowl parade was about 15,000, compared with the usual average of 25,000.

The Midwest had a shivering start to the new year as a record-breaking cold wave dropped temperatures as low as 45 below zero at McGrath, Minn. A major winter storm developed in the Southwest, dumping snow across parts of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Heavy snows and high winds in Colorado forced cancellation of some traditional New Year's Day events, including a fireworks display planned for the top of 14,110-foot Pikes Peak.

In Philadelphia, the New Year's Day parade was canceled and 16,000 costumed Mummies sent home because of a cold, drizzling rain. The bad weather together with a near-total shutdown of gasoline stations in some areas was credited with discouraging highway travel and thus lowering the accident death count.

At the end of the four-day holiday weekend, the highway toll was 409 fatalities, below the 470 to 570 anticipated by the National Safety Council.

Fire Deaths Mrs. Edward Nixon About Same Voices Complaints

BOSTON (AP)—The National Fire Protection Association says some 11,900 people died in fires in the United States in 1973, about the same number as the year before.

The number of deaths in dwelling fires was about 6,600, about the same for each of the past three years, the association said in a report issued Tuesday.

Total property loss from fires was estimated $3.1 billion, an increase of $150 million from the 1972 figure.

According to the report, the worst "loss-of-life" fire in 1973 was a gas tank explosion on Staten Island, N.Y., on Feb. 10, in which 40 workmen were killed.

The largest property loss — $37 million — occurred May 27 in Chicago when fire swept through an ink plant, food processing plant, grocery warehouse and furniture warehouse.

The country had its first large scale urban fire in nearly 40 years when fire destroyed nearly 350 buildings in the Chelsea area of Boston on Oct. 14. Damages in that fire have been estimated at less than $10 million, but only because the fire occurred in an urban renewal area where many of the buildings were condemned or scheduled for demolition.

ALDERWOOD MANOR
Wash. (AP)—President Nixon's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Nixon, says while her husband is "off being paid to do nothing" she has to teach school and raise two children.

"While he's off being paid to do nothing, I'm here alone. I'm trying to teach school and I've got two kids and let me tell you, it's tough," she told newsmen checking reports her husband was paid a $21,000 consultant's fee to find out where the Nixon family wants a presidential library built.

Leonard Firestone, head of a tax-exempt foundation formed by friends of the President to build the library, confirmed Monday in Los Angeles that Edward Nixon was a paid consultant.

Edward Nixon, 42, lives in Alderwood Manor, a Seattle suburb. He could not be reached for comment.

"An invasion of privacy" is how Mrs. Nixon described the story of her husband's consultant fee. She held out a hammer and said she felt "like taking this thing and knocking down our newspaper boxes so I won't have to read some of the things they write."

She said the foundation paid her husband $1,500 a month for 14 months beginning in December 1970. She said the foundation, of which her husband is a trustee, "folded in August."

But Firestone, the tire and rubber magnate, said the foundation still exists.

Firestone said that Edward Nixon viewed six potential library sites and recommended that the final choice come from three in Orange County, Calif.

The payments to Edward Nixon came to light in a foundation report to the California state registry of charitable trusts, which scrutinizes the finances of tax-exempt foundations.

Prince Charles To Singapore

LONDON (AP)—Prince Charles flew to Singapore today at the start of a three-month separation from the girl he is widely expected to marry.

Lady Jane Wellesley, the 22-year-old daughter of the Duke of Wellington, has denied the rumors that she is planning to marry Charles, heir to the British throne. But many British are taking her word with a wink.

Charles, serving in the Royal Navy, left the Royal Air Force airport at Brize Norton, Oxfordshire, with a group of fellow officers traveling to join the frigate Jupiter in the Far East.

He parted from Lady Jane at lunchtime Tuesday after celebrating the new year with her at Sandringham, Queen Elizabeth's country estate.

Bing Crosby Is Recovering

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP)—Singer Bing Crosby is making a satisfactory recovery from pleurisy at Peninsula Hospital, a hospital spokesman says.

"We don't know when he'll be released," nursing supervisor Rawnie Gordon said Tuesday. "Of course everybody's hoping it'll be by Thursday," when the 33rd annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Championship opens in Pebble Beach.

Crosby, 60, reportedly spent much of the day Tuesday resting comfortably and watching televised football games.

He was admitted to the hospital Monday after developing back and chest pains that were diagnosed as pleurisy, an inflammation of the lung membranes.

State Workers Return To Jobs After 11 Days

RALEIGH (AP)—State workers in Raleigh and over the state returned to their jobs today after an 11-day energy crisis shutdown.

State buildings in Raleigh which were kept chilly during the shutdown to conserve fuel oil, were heated up again Tuesday night in preparation for the returning workers.

Gov. Jim Holshouser also was expected to return to his office today after returning from a holiday visit to an undisclosed spot in Florida.

The governor ordered the shutdown of state offices effective Dec. 23 because workers would have been on the job only three days during the 11-day period. The other days were scheduled as holidays.

The state employees were required to subtract the three days from their annual leave.

The U.S. paid the U.S.S.R. less than two cents an acre for Alaska in 1867.

More Hunters Less Game

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department says more Texans apparently are going to hunt for deer and other game this season, but they are likely to find increased costs and less game.

Department information director Richard McCune says the meat shortage has got something to do with the greater influx of hunters this season.

"The guy who never goes hunting is talking about going this year," he said.

Virginia's Cars Are Recycled

RICHMOND, VA. (UPI)—More than 60,000 junked automobiles in Virginia have been recycled, according to a survey recently conducted by the "Keep Virginia Beautiful" organization.

By recycling, essential metals in the abandoned cars are put back into industry at the same time that eyesores are eliminated.

Gasoline Hogs Can Be Violent

RALEIGH (AP)—A Raleigh filling station operator now has an idea the lengths that some people will go to get gasoline.

Kenneth M. Whitley told police that early New Year's day, a motorist in a big car attempted to break into a long line of cars waiting for gasoline at one of the few stations open in Raleigh.

When Whitley refused to serve the interloper, the motorist became offended, and aimed his car at Whitley. He said he suffered a bruise on the leg.

The motorist had enough gasoline to get away.

Collect Exotic Trees, Shrubs

TOPSFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—The Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary here has 3,800 exotic trees and shrubs, according to John Frenning, executive assistant for the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

The plants were collected from around the world and brought here when the acreage was a private estate.

NO GAME FOR SISSIES—Ohio State's Pete Johnson, a big scorer for his team against Southern California yesterday, gets a rough welcome from Southern Cal's Gary Jeter on this tackle in the Rose Bowl. The play went to the USC one, and Johnson plunged over a moment later for a touchdown as Ohio State romped to a 42-21 victory. (AP Wirephoto)

The Question: Who's No. One?

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Who's No. 1? To Ara Parseghian, there's no question about it — but Woody Hayes and Joe Paterno have other opinions.

"I will be disappointed if we are not No. 1," said Parseghian, whose Fighting Irish of Notre Dame won a 24-23 thriller from top-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Eve. "I think we deserve it."

"This is the greatest victory I've ever had, and the greatest for the school," said Hayes, who has been coaching Ohio State for 23 years, after the Buckeyes whipped Southern California 42-21 in the Rose Bowl Tuesday.

"I don't know who's No. 1," said Penn State Coach Paterno, whose Nittany Lions finished a 12-0 by beating Louisiana State 16-9 in the Orange Bowl Tuesday night. "This is the best team I've ever coached, and someone will have to beat us head-on to prove they're better."

In Tuesday's Cotton Bowl, Nebraska broke loose from a 3-3 halftime tie to upset eighth-ranked Texas 19-3.

"I definitely feel we're the national champion," said Parseghian, whose Fighting Irish were ranked No. 3 after a 10-0 regular season.

"We beat the leading scoring team in the nation and the team that was leading in offensive yardage. We beat a great football team — and they lost to a great football team."

The Associated Press' final poll will be released Thursday. In the last regular-season poll, the top six were Alabama, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Michigan and Penn State. Oklahoma was ineligible for post-season competition, while Michigan, which tied Ohio State for the Big Ten championship, was passed over for a Rose Bowl bid in favor of the Buckeyes in a controversial vote of athletic directors.

The winning margin for Notre Dame was a combination of a missed extra point by Alabama's Brad Davis with 9:23 to play and a successful 19-yard field goal by Notre Dame's Bob Thomas with 4:26 to go.

The lead changed hands six times in the thriller. The outcome was in doubt until the closing seconds, when Notre Dame — backed to its own goal by a 69-yard punt by Alabama's Greg Gantt — came up with a daring 35-yard pass from Tom Clements to Robin Weber for a first down and was able to run out the clock.

"I would have bet my life we were going to win after we had them back against the goal line," said Alabama Coach Bear Bryant. "I don't feel like we lost, rather that time ran out on us. We played as well as we could, but Notre Dame came up with the big plays when they needed them."

Ohio State got three touchdowns from freshman fullback Pete Johnson and 149 yards rushing — including a 47-yard touchdown — by Archie Griffin, but it was the surprising passing of quarterback Cornelius Greene that proved decisive.

The Ohio State performance brought an accolade from losing coach John McKay. "They are better than Oklahoma and Notre Dame," said McKay, whose Trojans tied Oklahoma and lost to Notre Dame in the regular season.

Two long plays in the second quarter provided unbeaten Penn State with its 12th victory of the year.

Flanker Chuck Herd made a spectacular one-handed grab of a pass from Tom Shuman and raced into the end zone on a 72-yard scoring play, then Gary Hayman returned a punt 36 yards to the Louisiana State 26 to set up the Nittany Lions' other touchdown, a one-yard plunge by John Cappelletti. Cappelletti, the Heisman Trophy winner, was limited to 50 yards on 26 carries by LSU.

A quarterback who expected to spend the day on the bench proved to be the hero for Nebraska. Steve Runty took over for Dave Humm at halftime and injected some spark into the Nebraska attack, leading the Cornhuskers to a pair of third-period touchdowns.

Runty guided Nebraska on a 59-yard drive, wingback Ritch Bahe scoring from the 12 on an inside reverse to make it 10-3.

The Cornhuskers broke it open moments later when John Bell recovered a Texas fumble at the 19 and Tony Davis scored on a three-yard run.

In other weekend bowl action, Georgia edged Maryland 17-16 in the Peach Bowl Friday night. On Saturday, Houston trounced Tulane 47-7 in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, Texas Tech tripped Tennessee 28-19 in the Gator Bowl and Missouri defeated Auburn 34-17 in the Sun Bowl. Also on Saturday, the East defeated the West 25-7 in the Shrine Bowl.

Runty Comes In To Spark Cornhuskers

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Nebraska, humiliated in its Big Eight Conference showdown with Oklahoma, was the champion of the "Pride Bowl" today and the Cornhuskers can thank forgotten senior quarterback Steve Runty.

Nebraska, runners up in the Big Eight to the Sooners, ripped Texas 19-3 New Year's Day in the 38th Cotton Bowl classic.

The game featured a sudden decision by new Cornhusker Coach Tom Osborne to change quarterbacks at the start of the second half.

The eighth-ranked Longhorns, kings of the Southwest Conference, apparently had the second half momentum following a brilliant goal line stand in which linebacker Wade Johnson made four straight tackles at the Texas one-yard line.

The 12th-ranked Huskers beat off a Longhorn offensive flurry following the second half kickoff as Bob Thornton intercepted a Marty Akins' pass in the Nebraska end zone.

Then Runty, who came off the bench to replace junior David Humm, took charge. He led Nebraska on two touchdown drives in the third quarter and it was all over for the offensively listless 'Horns.

"I wasn't expecting to play the second half," Runty said. "Coach told me just before the second half started."

Humm is primarily a passing quarterback while Runty, who started the season as the No. 1 signal caller, is run-oriented.

Lions Struggle To Orange Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — It was supposed to be another Heisman Trophy showcase. The only problem was, John Cappelletti didn't go very far — and neither did Joe Paterno's flimsy dreams of a national championship.

Cappelletti, Penn State's bulldozer of a halfback who shouldered his way for 1,522 yards in 11 games and ran away with the award as collegiate football's premiere player of the season, did score a touchdown Tuesday night — the one which, as it turned out, proved to be the margin of victory in the Nittany Lions' 16-9 Orange Bowl victory over Louisiana State.

But with the exception of that soaring one-yard drive, it was a night of frustration for the 6-foot-1, 210-pound senior. LSU's hungry Tigers were looking for him — and all night long, they found him. Cappelletti carried the ball 26 times for just 50 yards.

"LSU was determined to make us throw," said Paterno, who no doubt had been hoping for a roll-up-the-score victory which might have strengthened his argument that his sixth-ranked Lions deserved healthy consideration — along with Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Ohio State and the rest of the leaders — as a contender for the honor of being No. 1 in The Associated Press' final poll.

Despite the narrow victory, Paterno said he was still convinced Penn State belonged at the top of the heap. "This is the best team I've ever coached," he said of the squad that finished at 12-0, the best in the school's history, "and someone will have to beat us head-on to prove they're better."

And the coach had some bawling of his own to prove that nobody's better. "I held the 'Paterno Poll' in the locker room after the game," he kidded, "and the players voted unanimously for Penn State as No. 1."

Hayes Gains His Revenge

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — John Hicks, the nation's best college lineman, breathed a sigh of relief and declared "it's about time we won one, don't you think?"

The All-American offensive tackle for the Ohio State Buckeyes spoke of revenge which his coach, Woody Hayes, said wasn't evident in Ohio State's 42-21 Rose Bowl victory over Southern California Tuesday.

"We knew within our hearts that they couldn't stop us up front. That 42-17 defeat last year was burning inside of us. We knew we weren't that bad," Hicks said.

The Buckeyes atoned for the 1973 Rose Bowl defeat to these same Trojans and broke a four-game Big Ten losing streak before 105,267 fans in the 60th Rose Bowl.

Wayne Duke, Big Ten commissioner, hugged Archie Griffin, OSU's sophomore tailback who ran for 149 yards, setting a Big Ten season mark of 1,577.

"I think there was a question about keeping the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl," said Griffin, "but I think this game proves we can handle the Pac-8."

The victory by the fourth-ranked Buckeyes, 10-0-1, over the seventh-rated Trojans, 9-2-1, sustained the Big Ten's "vote of confidence" given after the Buckeyes and Michigan tied 10-10 to share the league title.

Hayes, 60-year-old coach of the Buckeyes for 23 seasons, said it was his sweetest triumph ever and the best game ever played by an Ohio State team.

"I told my players I'd be smart to retire after this because I'd never have another game that good, but I enjoy the game too much."

Will Hayes be back for another Rose Bowl next year? "Oh, I wouldn't be surprised," he said.

Southern Cal's John McKay, now 4-3 as a Rose Bowl coach, said, "Ohio State is the best team we've played ..."

"And they can pass," said McKay, after Greene, a sophomore more noted for his running, hit six of eight throws for 129 yards.

JUST WATCHING THOSE GAMES— As people from all over the country got their fill of college bowl games these last few days, one wonders if this might be the look of football viewers of the future: no ears, no mouth, just that long telescopic vision. This football fan was caught watching the Cotton Bowl in Dallas New Year's Day. (AP Wirephoto)

Notre Dame Shoulders Past Maryland Cagers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
UCLA remained a unanimous choice for No. 1 but Notre Dame moved ahead of Maryland into the No. 2 spot in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll released today.

The Bruins, 8-0, ran their record winning streak to 83 games with one-sided victories over Wyoming and Michigan over the weekend. They collected all 42 votes cast by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters and had 840 points overall.

The Fighting Irish, 7-0, moved up from the No. 3 spot on the strength of a 94-79 victory over Kentucky. Notre Dame, which collected 446 points, will get two chances to unseat UCLA this month when the teams collide Jan. 19 in South Bend, Ind., and Jan. 26 in Los Angeles.

Maryland, 5-1 when the voting period ended after Saturday's games, dropped one notch to third despite breezing past Holy Cross 102-75. The Terps collected 633 points.

North Carolina, 6-0, held the fourth position with 603 points after bombing Biscayne 112-72. North Carolina State, 5-1, piled up 510 points and maintained the fifth spot with easy wins over Villanova and Memphis State.

Marquette, 9-0, held onto the No. 6 position by beating Arizona easily and slipping past Wisconsin 49-48 in overtime. Alabama, 6-1, vaulted from 13th to No. 7 by virtue of victories over South Carolina and Louisville.

Indiana dropped one notch to No. 8 after beating Brigham Young and Oregon and losing to Oregon State. The Hoosiers are 7-2. Long Beach State, with nine wins in 10 outings, jumped one place to No. 9 with triumphs over Assumption and Evansville.

Vanderbilt, 8-0 after thumping Vermont 91-56, rounded out the top ten. The Commodores were 11th last week.

Ara Ranks It As His Finest

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "This is the finest team I've had in 10 years at Notre Dame," Ara Parseghian said Tuesday as he savored the 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over top-rated Alabama on New Year's Eve. The victory made the Fighting Irish odds-on favorites to be No. 1 when The Associated Press final poll is announced Thursday.

"This team had the enthusiasm of the 1964 club, my first at Notre Dame, and the skill and ability of the 1966 team, my only national champion, even though this was a young club," Parseghian said. "And we had immense leadership. No team gave us better leadership. Of all the teams I've coached, this is the best all-around team."

And the Fighting Irish apparently are on the verge of writing another chapter in the continuing best-seller that is Notre Dame's football history. This latest triumph must rank alongside any of those concocted by Knute Rockne, Frank Leahy, the Four Horsemen or George Gipp.

The scoreboard will show that this classic first-ever gridiron confrontation between Notre Dame and Alabama was decided by a missed extra point. Alabama's Bill Davis blew it with 9:39 left in the game and Notre Dame won it five minutes later on Bob Thomas' 19-yard field goal.

But Notre Dame won it primarily because of a sturdy defensive unit — smaller but faster than past Notre Dame defenses — which limited Alabama's dynamic Wishbone attack to 190 yards rushing and 317 overall, compared to regular-season marks of 366 and 481.

Second Hockey Team Folding

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The Southern Hockey League, with one team already folded this season, has given the Macon Whoopes until Saturday to decide whether they will continue to operate.

Norman Curtis, league president, said Tuesday the SHL will continue to operate with four teams if the Macon franchise folds.

The Suncoast Suns of St. Petersburg, Fla., folded recently. Macon's financial troubles came to a head Monday when the league refused a request by owner Gerald Pinkerton to relinquish the $25,000 expansion fee his club paid to join the SHL.

After getting the league refusal, Pinkerton told newsmen "as of today, I'm done."

Curtis explained that since the league is an association instead of a corporation, the SHL president has no authority to loan money to a club without unanimous consent of other members.

At least three clubs voted against relinquishing the expansion fee, Curtis said.

Meanwhile, Macon had been scheduled to play at Greensboro tonight and at Roanoke Thursday. Charlotte will provide the opposition at Greensboro and Winston-Salem will fill Macon's date at Roanoke.

Crosby Tourney Opens 1974's Golfing Tour

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The 1974 pro golf tour opens Thursday beset by a multitude of challenges and changes but anchored by one solid, unshaken, constant factor — the dominance of Jack Nicklaus.

The trimmed-down tour begins Thursday with the $215,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, for three decades a fixture on the schedule but serving as the kickoff tournament for the first time in many years.

And, for the first time, there's the chance that the old groaner will miss his own tournament. Crosby was hospitalized Monday suffering from pleurisy.

Among the challenges and changes: —The energy crisis that threatens to produce considerable complications in the travel plans of the touring pros and the as yet undetermined effect the shortage of gasoline may have on this event 125 miles south of San Francisco.

—A reduced schedule for the $8.5-million dollar tour, one which ends in early November as opposed to the 12-month schedule that has prevailed in recent years.

—Reduced playing schedules for such stars as Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and possibly Tom Weiskopf. Palmer is skipping this old event for one of the few times in his storied career. Casper also plans a reduction in appearances and Weiskopf is planning no more than 20 starts this season.

—The naming of former player Deane Beman to succeed Joe Day as golf's commissioner.

But with the changes, there's still the formidable figure of Nicklaus as the game's dominant factor.

The Golden Bear has won this tournament for the last two years and closed out another banner season in 1973 with victories in his last two starts.

That gave him seven titles for the season, a leading $308,362 in money winnings, PGA Player of the Year honors for the third time and made him the first player in the game's history to go past $2 million in career earnings.

Naturally, he's the favorite in the 72-hole test scheduled for three courses on the picturesque — but water-soaked — Monterey Peninsula.

DiGregorio Leads Buffalo Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"It's the best game Ernie has ever played," said Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsey. "He has the ability to count the house and make the play."

Braves' rookie Ernie DiGregorio made enough plays Tuesday night to record 25 assists — the third highest total in National Basketball Association history — as Buffalo edged the Portland Trail Blazers 120-119.

The little guard with the quick hands whipped the ball inside often enough for the Buffalo front line to combine for 75 points. Garfield Heard poured in 31 points, Bob McAdoo had 23 and Jim McMillan added 21. DiGregorio chipped in 20 points himself in a sensational all-around effort.

In other NBA games, the New York Knicks topped the Atlanta Hawks 99-89 and the Chicago Bulls beat the Golden State Warriors 91-80.

There were no games played in the American Basketball Association.

Despite DiGregorio's heroics, the Braves needed a free throw by Jim McMillan with seven

Geoff Petrie pumped in 39 points and Wicks added 26 for Portland.

Knicks 99, Hawks 89

Phil Jackson scored 23 points and Bill Bradley had 19 as New York ran its winning streak to four games. The Knicks took a three-point lead in the first period and were never headed despite losing the services of forward Dave DeBusschere early in the game due to a flu attack. Pete Maravich paced the Hawks with 30 points.

Bulls 91, Warriors 80
Chicago's Bob Love outscored the entire Golden State team 28-25 in the first half. The Warriors hit only 21 per cent of their shots from the floor over the first two periods. Love finished with 39 points. The staggering Warriors have lost nine of their last 10 games.

Monday's NBA result: Boston 106, Philadelphia 97. There were no ABA games Monday.

Cowens Leads Star Voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Atlanta's Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson, the highest scoring set of teammates in the National Basketball Association, have been selected to start for the Eastern Conference in the league's 24th All-Star Game Jan. 15 at Seattle.

Maravich, runner-up to Buffalo center Bob McAdoo in the scoring race with a 28.3 per game average, was the leading vote-collector among the guards for the East team. He received 15,559 points out of a maximum of 17 in balloting by sports writers and broadcasters in each of the league's 17 franchise cities. The results were announced Tuesday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Hudson, third in scoring with a 26.9 average, finished second to Boston's John Havlicek in the voting among forwards with 11,027 points. Havlicek got 15,782 points.

Boston, like Atlanta, will have two players in the starting lineup. The other Celtics' player chosen was center Dave Cowens, the most valuable player in last season's All-Star Game. Cowens was the top vote-getter on the East team, receiving 16,833 points in edging McAdoo for the starting center spot. McAdoo, averaging 29.3 points per game, garnered 16,232 points in the voting.

Guard Walt Frazier of New York was picked to complete the East's starting lineup.

Others named to the team were McAdoo, forward Elvin Hayes of Capital and guard Jo Jo White of Boston.

Four other players will be chosen by the conference's eight coaches to round out the East's 12-man team.

The starting lineup for the Western Conference will be announced Friday.

Clemson After Soccer Title

MIAMI (AP) — St. Louis University begins the quest for its 10th national soccer championship since 1959 against Brown tonight in one of two National Collegiate Athletic Association semifinal games.

Two unbeaten, Clemson and UCLA meet in the other semifinal in Miami's Orange Bowl.

St. Louis, top-ranked again this season, beat UCLA 4-2 in last year's finals and also won titles in 1959-60-62-63-65-67-69-70.

Danny Counce, the outstanding offensive player last year, again leads Coach Harry Keough's squad, with a season record of 11-1-2. St. Louis stopped Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville 3-0 in regional finals.

Brown takes a 9-3-1 record and a 15th ranking into the contest. Brown stopped Hartwick 1-0 in sudden death overtime to reach the semifinals for the second time.

Nobody Really Knows Extent Of Oil Reserves

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — They'll give you numbers — 36.3 billion barrels, 11.0 years of production — but neither the government nor the industry really knows how much oil is available in U.S. reserves.

An industry insider said in an interview that the often-quoted estimates actually depend on oil company profit goals. That is information the companies apparently do not even tell each other and the government has no independent reserve estimates of its own.

In fact, almost all government information about energy supplies comes directly or indirectly from the companies.

Since the Arab oil cutoffs emphasized the U.S. energy crisis, the energy industries have renewed their lobbying for tax incentives, price increases and delays or waivers of environmental, health and safety regulations. They say these moves are needed to enlarge reserves and speed up production. Debate over such policies must revolve around the statistics describing and predicting reserves and production, which

Alto Adige Has Two Tongues

TRENTO, Italy (AP) — The Alto Adige is a bilingual region of Italy, with German and Italian the official languages. The state-run television and radio network broadcasts some programs in German in the area and all road signs and official documents are in two languages.

Italy took over the region, formerly Austrian South Tyrol, from Austria after World War I.

are available only from the companies themselves.

William E. Simon, director of the Federal Energy Office, has pledged to make government energy information more complete and reliable. And a key industry official who declined to be identified said the petroleum industry plans to develop a new approach to reserve estimates.

Meanwhile, the federal government must take its basic information where it finds it while it hastily imposes emergency controls on the oil industry.

The mineral industries, including oil, must report data every ten years to the Census Bureau.

Beyond that, there is no law requiring regular and complete oil company reports directly to the federal government.

Petroleum reserves, still in the ground, can only be estimated.

These reserve estimates tell the nation, in effect, how much petroleum it has in its savings account, how long that account can support our present production rate and how fast we must add to reserves to maintain a safe balance.

'Rock' Car If Stuck In Snow

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — According to the Clark Equipment Trailer Division, professional truck drivers suggest the following method of getting free when your car gets stuck in snow:

"Rock" your car out of snow ruts by easing it forward as far as it will go without spinning wheels, then easing it backward. Repeat until momentum carries you out.

The only real sources of reserve estimates are two industry groups, the American

Beame Pledges 'A Real Voice'

NEW YORK (AP) — With a promise to "give the people a real voice in their own destiny," Abraham D. Beame became this city's 104th mayor.

The 67-year-old Brooklyn Democrat, the city's first Jewish mayor, succeeds John V. Lindsay. Beame took his oath privately Monday night and publicly Tuesday in front of City Hall as some 1,500 persons looked on in cold, drizzly weather.

Lindsay, 52, described his emotions on leaving office as mixed.

"It's been a long eight years," he said.

Petroleum Institute and the American Gas Association, which survey most but not all oil and gas companies.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines, the primary government compiler of energy data, gets part of its petroleum information from these two industry groups. The bureau fills in the gaps with data relayed by the oil and gas producing states.

The two industry groups report impressive statistics. The latest estimates, now one year old, said the nation had proved resources totaling 36.3 billion barrels of crude oil, 6.8 billion barrels of natural gas liquids and 266.1 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

The reserves have dwindled steadily over recent years and the latest estimates represent only enough oil to last 11 more years and enough natural gas for 12 years at current production rates.

But what are proved reserves?

The industry groups define them as the estimated quantities of petroleum that can be produced "under existing economic and operating conditions."

In other words, they list only those petroleum reserves that companies are willing to produce at prevailing prices.

Nixon May Stay Through Week

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon joined millions of others New Year's Day as he relaxed in front of the television set, watching football bowl games.

There was an indication Nixon's working vacation here would last the rest of the week as aides said his friend and Florida neighbor, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, was flying to California by commercial jet.

Their willingness, in turn, depends on the size of the profit they demand.

A key industry official described how reserve estimates are prepared: "The companies do not report their reserves directly. We divide the country into districts with API (American Petroleum Institute) committees of geologists and reservoir engineers.

"The committees estimate total reserves in a field or reservoir. They never report company reserves."

Asked how these committees take account of existing economic conditions, this source said, "I think they are aware of the price of crude oil.

No Longer Any Question; U.S. Must Rely On Coal

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent
King Coal once was THE American fuel. Today, this empire has yielded to the challenge of cheaper oil and natural gas.

Yet the greatest reserve of stored energy on the U.S. continent is in coal: three trillion tons of it.
That's enough for 5,000 years at the current U.S. consumption level of 600 million tons annually. Coal now provides 17 per cent of the nation's energy, ranking third in importance behind natural gas (30 per cent) and oil (45 per cent).

Fifty years ago, coal provided more than 50 per cent of the energy consumed in the United States.

Can coal production and use be developed in the next decade, now that the nation faces a major oil and gas shortage which might last for years? The experts say yes — if industry and government are prepared to bankroll a crash program they compare in scope to the atom bomb's Manhattan Project.

The object of the crash program would be to raise coal utilization once again to 50 per cent of the nation's total energy consumption, with rigorous measures to limit environmental damage.

This would mean nearly tripling coal production to 1.5 billion tons a year by 1985. Most of the expanded production would be converted to synthetic gas and oil. But first researchers must find economic ways to carry out the conversion processes.

The estimated cost of the crash program: The industry says $15 billion or more just to triple coal production by 1985, with two to three billion more needed for technological development.

The government has made merely the initial move, increasing the federal budget for coal research $50 million in October, making it $165 million for the year.

Three coal gasification pilot plants have been built, partly with federal funds. Three more

Discovered 3 New Minerals

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UPI) — William Roberts, curator of mineralogy at South Dakota Tech, has discovered three totally new minerals—Robertite, Segelerite and Jahnsite.

Roberts discovered the three minerals at the Tip Top Mine at Custer, S.D. The minerals are phosphates and were X-rayed and chemically analyzed before being named and approved by the International Committee on New Minerals and New Mineral Names.

are under construction.

However, the administration has given top priority to development of the nuclear fission fast-breeder reactor. At the present slow pace of coal gasification funding, the first large-scale demonstration plant will not be started until 1976.

Industry experts say the first commercial gasification plant will not appear until 1980, at the earliest. They say a reasonable goal is construction of 30 such plants by 1985, at a cost of $9 billion dollars. These plants would produce enough coal gas to substitute for 10 per cent of the natural gas now consumed.

Research is needed to achieve three major industry objectives:

To produce a gas of high heat value to supplement natural gas in the nation's pipelines; to use a cheap "power gas" to replace much of the natural gas, raw coal and fuel oil now burned in electric power plants; and to produce a range of coal oil products, including gasoline.

Another problem is environmental pollution. The industry faces a tough challenge on strip mining, clean air and safety. Opposition to strip mining grows daily in Montana and other Western states with huge coal reserves. Farmers and ranchers are siding with environmentalists on the issue, saying the nation's food needs require that the land be saved for growing and grazing. The National Academy of Sciences claims there isn't enough water available in the Western coal areas to cool the electric generating plants that would operate near the mines.

The coal companies want to stretch the terms of the Clean Air Act to allow the burning of more high-sulfur coal during the next few years. The head of the Environmental Protection Agency, Russell Train, replies that technology to remove sulfur is available, and some devices are already in use.

Despite the problems, there seems little doubt that coal has a big future.

Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton said recently that coal "is our ace in the hole, our most abundant resource." And the assistant interior secretary, Steve Wakefield, told reporters, "There might have been a question a few weeks ago about whether the nation was going to turn to coal in a big way. After the Arab cutoff there is no longer any question: We have got to go on coal."

Medal Accepted

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has accepted the first silver medal commemorating the United States' 200th anniversary.

Mary T. Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint, said the LBJ Library was selected to receive the first medal because Johnson was President when the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission was created in 1966.

Hunt Substitute For Platinum

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The possibility of an inexpensive substitute for rare and costly platinum in oil refining, chemical processing and perhaps in catalytic mufflers is being explored at Stanford University.

Tungsten, which combined with carbon to form tungsten carbide, acquires platinum-like properties, according to research by Prof. Michel Boudart and his chemical engineering staff.

Another metal compound, molybdenum carbide, also has possibilities, they reported.

Magazine Is Really Thriving

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — The Pentecostal Evangel is the largest weekly Pentecostal magazine in the world with a paid circulation of more than 200,000.

It is also the nation's third largest Protestant weekly. The August 19 issue of the Evangel marked the 60th anniversary of continuous publication of the religious periodical.

Each week, 3,500 copies of the Evangel are supplied free to prisons and correctional institutions across the country.

New Activity Anticipated

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Courtroom activity connected to the Watergate scandal is expected to quicken during the first months of the New Year.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski has indicated that the Watergate grand juries are ready to consider indictments "in a substantial number of major involvements" this month and next.

The conspiracy-perjury trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and two others in the Vesco campaign contribution case is scheduled to begin this month in New York.

The sentencing of Egil Krogh Jr., head of the White House plumbers, is expected in a number of weeks. Krogh has pleaded guilty to conspiring to violate the rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The two Watergate grand juries in Washington — soon to be joined by a third — have been probing the break-in of Democratic party headquarters and the subsequent cover-up, as well as illegal campaign contributions, the ITT and milk-fund cases, the Howard Hughes $100,000 contribution and dirty campaign tactics.

Jaworski said in a statement Monday: "Although investigations in various areas within the special prosecutor's jurisdiction are continuing, including the review of White House files, the presentation of evidence to the grand juries has progressed to the point that in January and February these bodies will be prepared to consider the matter of returning indictments in a substantial number of major involvements."

It is known that targets of the grand juries in their various probes include such former Nixon aides and intimates as Mitchell, Maurice H. Stans, H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Herbert W. Kalmbach and Charles W. Colson.

Ehrlichman, David R. Young and convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy also have pleaded innocent to state indictments in Los Angeles in connection with the rifling of files of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist. That trial has not been scheduled.

In addition to Krogh, sentencing also is pending in the cases of three former White House or re-election committee aides who pleaded guilty to one count each of obstructing justice in return for giving testimony against others.

A Lifetime Of Firemen's Care

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — John Connors was a 10-year-old orphan when a firehouse crew adopted him in 1904. Firemen are still taking care of him.

"John has been loved and cared for faithfully by Memphis firemen" through the years, says Deputy Fire Chief Woody A. Vincent.

As old stations were replaced with new ones, Connors moved along with the firemen.

Vincent said Connors was a confused boy when he first drifted into into a downtown fire station.

"He slept under the hose rack, helped with horses and took occasional handouts of food and clothing," Vincent said.

"We believe his father may have been a railroad man who was killed when a switch engine overturned on him. We don't know what happened to his mother."

Connors has never been able to shed much light on the questions.

"He can talk some, but you have to be around him before you learn to understand what he is saying," Vincent said. "His mind is that of a child."

"John has been around the Fire Department longer than anyone and used to wear a fireman's uniform and ride the trucks on calls. He's probably answered twice as many alarms as anyone."

Vincent said Connors' fire truck-riding days ended some time ago after he persisted in "getting into mischief."

Firemen say Connors used to wear the uniform and attempt to direct traffic at busy intersections, creating traffic jams.

"There's no uniform, but he does wear a district chief's badge and cap," said Vincent. He said Connors is convinced he was promoted to the rank by a former chief.

"John is no expense to the taxpayers as all his support comes from regular contributions by individual firemen," Vincent said. Driven by firemen, Connors visits various stations on payday. He refuses more than $1 from any fireman.

"The biggest expense he's got is his cigars," said Vincent. Connors smokes about two dozen per day.

"Our men love this man," said Vincent. "Every morning, they bathe him, shave him and dress him. And John loves the fire department more than anything in the world and I think it would kill him not to be able to live in a fire station."

Grand Bazaar Said Nation's Biggest Store

By NICK GREGORY CHICAGO (UPI) — It would take a town of 10,000 persons six weeks to eat all the groceries in the Grand Bazaar. Its owners say it's the nation's largest food store.

There is enough room under the building's roof for a football field with space left over for bleachers.

It takes a 60-person force to operate the butcher department and 40 more to run the bakery. The bakery turns out hot bread and other pastries several times daily. The ovens are only a few feet away from the counter.

Fifteen checkout counters keep traffic moving swiftly during rush hours. A computerized and automatic device outside the entrance receives empty bottles and dispenses ticket which is redeemable inside the store.

Emphasis on Space About 500 employees work at The Jewel Food Store's Bazar. It occupies more than 67,000 square feet on Chicago's Southwest Side. The store runs 24 hours daily seven days a week.

Shopping carts don't get lost — people might. The emphasis on space is overwhelming. Ceilings are more than 25 feet high and aisles vary in width from minimum of about nine feet to more than 12.

"Big as the place is, we did not want to get away from personalized services," a Jewel spokesman said. "There's always someone available at every department to talk about a purchase or to answer a question."

The store employs a fulltime economist who offers helpful hints in meal planning and food preparation. She also provides information and demonstrates new products and serving ideas.

Complete Shopping Center Store colors, a break from the clean and white concept, emphasize gold, orange and yellow. The same colors with a dash of white, dominate the outdoor theme.

Jewel opened the store in September with the hope that it would satisfy the shopping needs of people living in high density areas by providing a complete line of merchandise and services.

"We broke away from the idea of building in shopping centers," a Jewel man said. "This store is the shopping center here. There are no others, except our Osco Drug store, which is joined to the food store by a common lobby."

"There are more Bazaars being planned, but this one will serve as a sort of laboratory for the ones to follow," the spokesman said. "We'll see what works best and use it. We'll see what doesn't work out, too."

Farmer's Market Atmosphere One of the innovations under study is the "Chef's Kitchen". It offers prepared meals to take home and serve. A floral shop features cut flowers, greens and flowering plants and gardening and flower arranging aids.

A cafeteria with seating capacity for about three dozen persons has become a surprisingly successful venture. Restrooms are another personal touch that have won customer approval.

"A 'farmer's market' atmosphere in the produce section features displays in original shipping baskets, boxes or barrels.

There is a cheese chalet featuring a different 500-pound wheel each week and adjacent to it is the wine and beer shop. Fish are flown in daily from both coasts for the Pier 14 shop.

Groceries are likely to be found on shelves of conventional height, in floor display cases or in huge metal baskets called "palletainers," each with a capacity of several hundred cans of food.

Some Complaints The palletainers are stacked two high. The bottom one is for the customer to pick from and the one on top is moved by a fork lift truck to replace the lower when supplies run low.

Other manually operated lifts move floor displays around for various effects. There is no pollution problem. The units are battery-powered.

Reports His House Taken

SPRINGVILLE, Calif. (AP) — James Hughes reported the vacation house he was building was missing. Authorities found the remains of it in the town dump.

"We found what's left of it, which isn't much," sheriff's deputy Frank Wittich said Tuesday. "Just a few old pipes and ends of boards. All the fixtures are gone and what with the fuel shortage, most of the good timber went pretty fast."

Hughes, who lives in Lancaster, near Los Angeles, drove to this community of 1,000 persons in the Sierra Nevada foothills to work on the home. He found it missing, along with numerous pipes and beams he had stockpiled nearby.

"There was nothing left but a couple of pegs on the ground," Wittich said. He said the three rooms and carport which Hughes had built so far were worth about $5,000.

Wittich said neighbors reportedly having seen workmen methodically dismantle the house two weeks earlier.

"Apparently they got the whole thing to the dump in five trips," Wittich said.

"We haven't found out how it happened yet, but it looks like some kind of mistake — someone contracted out to have a house demolished and they got the wrong one. And now no one wants to admit it."

The Worry Clinic Good Grammar Worth Effort

Nila's complaint merits nationwide attention. But she needs to imitate Frog No. 2, as described below. Remember, it is wise to make good resolutions, but then bolster them by such aids as that booklet below. It can help kiddies speak correct English quickly.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Z-515: Nila B., aged 32, has 3 youngsters.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I have tried to offer them good English so they will make better grades at school.

"But even their teachers use 'real' for 'very' as by telling them to 'be real good.'"

"TV and radio announcers also fail to cooperate with us parents, for they keep emphasizing incorrect grammar.

"At present, the newspapers offer the best grammar for children, but kiddies seldom read much beyond the comic pages, at least till they reach the middle teens.

"So I wonder if it isn't a hopeless task for parents to launch our kiddies on good English when supposedly educated leaders sabotage us by constantly employing the most common errors!

The Frog Story

Parents, please don't give up the fight for better English, as well as for higher moral ideals!

Just remember the story of the two frogs which got into a farmer's empty 10 gallon milk can.

Not noticing them on the bottom, the farmer filled the can within a few inches of the top.

Not noticing them on the bottom, the farmer filled the can within a few inches of the top. Frog No. 1 soon tried to hop out but he had nothing solid on which to crouch, for the start of his leap.

So he finally gave up and sank to the bottom, where he soon died.

But Frog No. 2 refused to surrender to death, so he kept splashing up and down in the top layer of milk.

Soon a thick layer of cream rose to the surface.

And the continued agitation thereof by the frog's leaps finally churned a large pat of butter.

So the exhausted frog then climbed upon the floating butter and after catching its breath, it leaped over the edge of the large milk can to freedom!

Moral: Keep struggling for the right!

Gravity constantly tries to erode mountains, as well as skyscraper buildings, and pull them back down to sea level!

Social gravity likewise keeps pulling down morals and correct English, good music and other products of man's idealistic brain.

Our job as intelligent human beings is to be constantly vigilant in resisting inertia, evil and vulgarity.

"Eternal vigilance," Jefferson also warned, "is the price of freedom."

"You have a Republic," also cautioned Ben Franklin as he was leaving our Constitutional Convention, "if you can keep it!"

Children can learn good habits just as easily as bad habits, if.

And that big "IF" means, if they are surrounded by the correct language, idealistic stories, good music and morality!

Pope Paul VI says a real Satan is alive on this earth, with millions of his evil assistants, to battle the righteous, so keep fighting, like that 2nd frog.

And send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," listing the "Commonest Errors in English," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Resolve today to give your children a running head start for higher grades in high school and college.

Pay your kiddies a penny whenever they detect an incorrect use of grammar on the part of your parents, teachers, or TV and radio announcers.

This booklet can soon make your grammar schoolers talk more correctly than the usual college graduate, who still is guilty of constant grammatical errors every day!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

A New Goodbye By Hope Lange

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hope Lange has just finished a TV movie in which she plays a housewife who leaves her husband and children.

It's the second time she's gone through that role. She also walked out as housewife and mother on "The New Dick Van Dyke Show."

It was her remark on leaving the CBS series, "All I ever do on 'The Dick Van Dyke Show' is pour coffee," inspired Deanne Barkley to cast her in the movie role. Miss Barkley is the vice president in charge of the ABC Movie of the Week.

The movie, "I Love You, Goodbye," will air on ABC, probably in February.

"She just gets fed up," Miss Lange said, referring to the movie housewife. "She's a woman who got married very early and got so involved in playing wife and mother that she never had time to find out who she was or what she wanted."

"I think a lot of women who may not actually walk out do consider it at one time. To shake things up and say I have needs, too. I can understand that from the standpoint of being a woman."

Miss Lange served notice several months ago that she would not agree to a fourth season with the Van Dyke series.

Besides the limitation of her role to a sympathetic housewife, she said she is miffed

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Wednesday, January 2, 1974—21 over CBS' refusal to air a segment of the series.

The segment in question has the couple's daughter enter her parents' bedroom and find them making love. Carl Reiner, the producer, defended the segment as being tastefully handled and said he would not produce the show again unless the show is aired. CBS has said it would not show it because it is not in the "image" of Dick Van Dyke.

"They won't even air the best show we did all season," Miss Lange said. "To hell with it. That's not the reason I'm leaving, but it irks me very much."

She said, "I'm not obligated to them. I only signed for three seasons. But if they won't let us grow up why do the same things over again?"

"If a happily married couple can't make love — they have three children — was that by immaculate conception? Is it distasteful that a couple is still in love after 18 years?"

More Lutherans For Minnesota

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota has more Lutherans with 1,076,402 counted in 1972, the Lutheran Council in the USA reports.

The council's Office of Research, Statistics and Archives noted that Wisconsin was second in Lutheran population with 975,698 in the 1972 count and Pennsylvania third with 855,929.

Early Church A Real Landmark

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — San Jose de Gracia de Las Trampas is the most perfectly preserved Spanish colonial church in the United States.

Construction of the church in the village of Las Trampas in northern New Mexico began in 1760. It still serves as parish church.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Organize your life on a more secure foundation and get those of a practical turn of mind to go along with that plan of action that means much to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use your own judgment which is good today and not that of an adviser who is off base now. Make p.m. a happy one with mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use intellect in making the improvements to your appearance and you get fine results now. Listen to what others have to say at any group affairs.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make tasks fun, easily accomplished, by adopting a more practical system. Others come to you for advice on problems, so give it willingly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you want to be with good pals, don't take them away from important duties. Assist others with their problems. Be creative.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Follow every rule and regulation that applies to you. Listen to a bigwig for greater success, and follow advice carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be alert to fine, new ideas that come your way. A new acquaintance can become a fine pal, though not particularly handsome or pretty.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Somewhat annoying chores are necessary to get your affairs in good order. Mate is peevish, so do whatever placates. Have more thought for yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Enlarge interests to accomplish more. Steer clear of an opposing partner today. See friends you have not seen in a long time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put aside fun and do work awaiting your attention important to your welfare. Take treatments for greater health and happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your fine creative ideas should be put in operation quickly today, but make sure you do not fight with mate. Enjoy the less expensive amusements.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to make your life at home more satisfying. Rid yourself of whatever it is that has been causing strife. Be thoughtful of others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal day for the shopping you can really afford. Use care in motion. Handle any transportation matters with real care, since they are complicated.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will show a love and understanding of money and property, which is fine provided you teach early to put family first and to work on a spiritual level. Teach also to be of assistance to others. Slant education along organizational lines. Sports are a must here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

- South West North East

- 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
- 3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠

You don't have to be a mathematician to play good bridge. Nevertheless, a basic understanding of the percentages of card distribution is an invaluable aid in the play.

North was slightly aggressive in the auction, holding only 10 high-card points. However, his hand offered good offensive prospects if he could find a fit in one of his two suits, so his holding merited a second bid. Three no trump was a perfectly sound contract.

Declarer won the opening spade lead in dummy and ran the ten of hearts to West's queen. Declarer won the spade continuation, crossed to dummy with the ace of clubs and took another heart finesse. West won the king and removed declarer's last spade stopper.

Declarer had only eight tricks, and there was no way to set up a ninth in either minor suit without first surrendering the lead to the opponents, and then the defenders could take two spade tricks to set the hand.

Declarer started off with six tricks in top cards. To develop three extra tricks in the heart suit would need more than finding one heart honor with East—it would also require a 3-3 heart split. The diamond suit offered far better prospects of producing three tricks. Any time the suit splits no worse than 4-2, three tricks can be established by force, and certain 5-1 splits can also be handled. The combined chances were almost 90 per cent.

Thus, after winning the king of spades declarer should immediately lead a diamond to his nine. Best defense is to allow declarer to win this trick, thus preventing him from setting up the suit because of a lack of entries to dummy. But declarer has an adequate counter.

One diamond trick brings declarer's total of sure tricks to seven. Now declarer turns his attention to the heart suit. Since he needs only two more tricks, he can afford to concede tricks to the king and queen of hearts by leading a low heart to dummy's ten. Declarer comes to nine tricks via three spades, three hearts, one diamond and two clubs.

Watergate And Agnew Voted Top 1973 Stories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Watergate — the scandal, its investigation and effects — was voted the top news story of 1973 by the editors and news directors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and TV stations.

The other top stories in order of balloting were: (2) Spiro T. Agnew; (3) the end of the war in Vietnam and release of the prisoners of war; (4) the economy; (5) war in the Middle East; (6) the energy crisis; (7) the slaying of 27 boys in Texas; (8) the death of former President Lyndon B. Johnson; (9) Skylab space missions; and (10) the revolution in Chile.

1. Though it had its roots in the presidential campaign of 1972, Watergate and the multifaceted White House scandals with which it has become synonymous, exploded into public purview this year. The effect has been pervasive.

The scandals began as a Republican break-in to spy on headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in a Washington, D.C., office-apartment complex called the Watergate. Ultimately, they reached into the White House, where President Richard M. Nixon's top aides resigned and his counsel was fired.

As Congressional committees, particularly the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities, known as the Watergate committee, began investigating, the key question before the nation became: What did Nixon know about the Watergate break-in and when did he know it? Did he, in a word, try to cover it up?

Fired White House counsel John W. Dean III said the President was involved. Nixon denied it. And there the matter did not rest. Besides the espionage break-in at the office of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, what other illegal acts did Republican and White House-connected operatives perform? For whom? Why?

Where did campaign money come from? With what, if any, quid pro quo? What role did the President play? Members of his administration, like John Mitchell? Friends, like Bebe Rebozo?

Where did the money go? The scandal cost the Nixon administration investigators as well as some of its investigated; peripheral figures as well as those at its heart: two attorneys general, the acting director of the FBI, a deputy attorney general, a special Watergate prosecutor and a full measure of lesser administration hands.

"I'm not a crook," the President found it necessary to declare before the year was out. But there were calls for his impeachment, and his popularity had fallen to an all-time low.

2. Spiro who? Spiro the Vice President — spokesman against the "nattering nabobs of negativism," the liberals, the press, spokesmen for law and order, conservatism and the American Dream.

Spiro T. Agnew seemed to stand untarnished as Watergate touched member after member of the President's official family. And then, on Oct. 10, Agnew resigned the vice presidency. He pleaded no contest to a federal felony charge that he evaded $13,551 in 1967 income tax, and was fined $10,000 and placed on three years probation.

Federal prosecutors portrayed him as a politician who had cooperated with and encouraged a tradition of illegal shakedowns and bribes from Maryland contractors.

Five days after his plea, Agnew delivered a 17-minute valedictory farewell to millions of Americans, via national television. He maintained his innocence, but said that by some interpretations, his activities may have been deemed improper.

Privately, he said he was under pressure to resign. Publicly, he praised Nixon's leadership. On television he told the American people he had quit for the good of the nation:

"... the government in Washington does live. It lives in the pages of our Constitution and in the hearts of our citizens, and there it will always be safe. Thank you, good night and farewell."

3... Jan. 27, 1973. The signing of the peace accords in a war that had lasted 25 years, a war in which the United States was a participant for 12 years, a war that claimed 45,000 American lives and cost the U.S. $150 billion. As Secretary of State William Rogers signed his name 62 times to various documents, there was little rejoicing. After this long, some believed the war in Vietnam was not really over. And, indeed, there would be future skirmishes in the war-torn country.

And then, in plane after plane, they came home, the 562 American prisoners of war whose names were on the list. There was much emotion as these men returned and began to tell how they had lived in prison camps, how they had seen their friends die, how some re-established their belief in God.

With the release of these 500, despair came to the loved ones of the other 1,300, simply listed as missing in action. The Pentagon said it could be presumed they were dead.

4. Meat boycotts and recipes for horsemeat burst upon the United States in 1973. Phases Three and Four, price freezes, rises in the cost of living, a troubled dollar abroad and inflation captured headlines throughout the year.

A Gallup Poll, conducted near the year's end, showed that Americans were more concerned over inflation than they were over Watergate. A study by the Labor Department showed why. In the 12 months ended Oct. 31, the average hourly wage rose 6.7 per cent. But after subtracting the effects of rising prices and Social Security taxes, the real spendable earnings of an average married worker with three dependents declined by 3.3 per cent over the same period.

Corporate profits were strong, particularly in the first half of the year, but the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, a key indicator for blue chip stocks, was sinking lower than it had been in two years as 1973 drew to a close.

5. It was called the Yom Kippur war, because that was when it began.

Arabs attacked, U.N. observers said, on two fronts: across the Suez Canal and on the Golan Heights, seeking to regain territory Israel had grabbed during six days of fighting in 1967.

This time the Israelis seemed caught off guard. But, at a sacrifice of 1,854 men in battle and $5.5 billion worth of tanks, planes, guns, fuel and ammunition, they pushed the Egyptians back across the canal, cut off the city of Suez and trapped the Egyptian Third Army on the east side of the canal. On the northeastern front, the Israelis pushed the Syrians back past the Golan ridgeline and well down the road to Damascus before a U.N. cease fire on Oct. 22.

On Oct. 25, U.S. armed forces were alerted — because, the President said, the Soviets had threatened to insert Russian troops into the peacekeeping force. Bolstered by Secretary of State Henry M. Kissinger, who flew to five Arab capitals on a mission described as "diplomacy of the headlong rush," the shaky truce included agreements to observe the cease fire, establish U.N. checkpoints, supply Suez and the Third Army, exchange prisoners of war and discuss "disengagement and separation of forces."

The war had a long-range effect on the rest of the world. Arab oil barons cut back production, delivering a painful blow to virtually all advanced economies in the non-Communist world. The Arabs cut off all petroleum to the United States and the Netherlands because of their support of Israel, and said the boycott would continue until the Israelis gave up every inch of Arab land they had captured in 1967.

6. For years, the phrase "energy crisis" had been kicked around. In 1973, it became a reality as gas stations were ordered closed on Sundays; airline flights cut; speed limits reduced across the nation; big neon advertising signs turned off; cutbacks instituted for home, industry and business; and outdoor Christmas lighting banned. President Nixon created a new agency to deal with the problem — the Federal Energy Administration.

Many believed the worst was yet to come and that the World War II specter of gas rationing was just around the corner. The problem had been long in coming and was caused mainly by the stepped-up usage of energy throughout the world, and particularly in the United States. But by the end of 1973, energy became a global problem as well as a domestic one, and some European countries banned automobiles on Sundays.

7. Boys run away from home. That is an axiom.

In Houston the police counted 5,200 youngsters missing in 1972. Some boys, some girls, most boys. Most, sooner or later, would contact their parents. Some would come home.

But not 27, all boys. Their bodies were found scattered in three gravesites in the Houston area. They ranged in age from 13 to 20, and their fate came to be known through the shooting death of one Dean Corll, 33, a bachelor. The testimony that followed revealed three years of homosexual rape, torture and murder.

Perhaps a dozen of the youths had disappeared from one neighborhood in Houston. Yet no one suspected a link between them. Until Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, a junior high school dropout, called his mother and said, "Mama, I killed Dean." Then he called the police.

Henley said he had killed Corll in an argument over the lives and contemplated rape of a 20-year-old man and a 15-year-old girl. Later Henley led police to the graves of other victims. He also admitted helping obtain young boys for Corll. Incriminated with him was David Owen Brooks, 18, another junior high school dropout and sometime friend of Henley who knew Corll as well.

Corll's death was considered justifiable homicide. But Henley and Brooks were charged with murder in the rape-slayings. Corll remained a mystery man, and at his burial the minister said simply, "We must now deliver this man into God's judgment..."

8. Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th President of the United States, died of a heart attack Jan. 22, 1973. He became President when John F. Kennedy was assassinated and won a full term of his own by a landslide. He declined to run for a second full term because of public dissatisfaction with the Vietnam war.

Responsible for more civil rights legislation than any President since Abraham Lincoln, Johnson dreamed of a "Great Society."

After he retired to his beloved Pedernales River in 1968, Johnson's chest pains grew more frequent. He stretched out his usual afternoon nap that day in January. Shortly afterwards, the Secret Service was called. In a few moments, the 64-year-old giant of American politics was dead of a heart attack. The day after he died the Vietnam cease-fire agreement was announced.

9. Nine men rocketed into space this year in three separate Skylab missions. They were the last manned space flights the United States has planned.

The Skylab 1 astronauts, Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz, blasted off May 14 and stayed in space until June 22—28 days and 11 million miles later. They had problems with the ship's heat-shield and became known as the "fix anything" crew.

In July, the Skylab 2 astronauts surpassed that record, staying in space for 59 days, 11 hours and 9 minutes. They, too, hit problems, this time with their steering rockets. A rescue mission was standing by to get Navy Capt. Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Marine Maj. Jack R. Lousma out of trouble if necessary. But they, too, solved their problems, despite a bout with motion sickness.

The Skylab 3 astronauts — Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson — undertook the most ambitious of the three Skylab missions: a record 84 days in space that would last into 1974.

10. Chile's search for "The Road to Socialism" ended almost three years to the day after it had begun. The end came in a bloody coup that left 1,000 persons dead — including Salvador Allende, the first freely elected Marxist president in the Western Hemisphere.

Chile had been paralyzed by general strikes, a faltering economy and unrest when an anti-Communist military junta attacked the presidential palace. On Sept. 12, Allende's poncho-wrapped body was removed from the palace. Officials said he had committed suicide.

A state-of-siege decree went into effect, and more than 7,000 prisoners were held in Santiago's National Soccer Stadium. The military severed relations with Cuba, the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc countries and welcomed strong ties with the United States and Western Europe.

Santa's Phone Bill Runs Up

NORTH POLE, Alaska (AP) — Hold it Virginia, Alabama ... Washington and California. Santa has had about enough.

The not-so-jolly old gent said New Year's Day his telephone still was ringing nonstop. But, instead of youngsters making their Christmas requests it was irate parents inquiring about $97 phone bills.

"I'm getting calls galore from telephone operators verifying my number," Santa said. "A lot of parents are pretty irate because some bills run up mighty high. Several thousand folks got phone bills for calls to Santa's house at North Pole, Alaska, and they want to know if I'm for real."

Santa, who is Con Miller, owner of Santa Claus House Trading Post, gets about 5,000 calls a year, some from as far away as Japan and Bermuda.

"Most of the kids in the lower 48 states dial the numbers themselves," he said. "You know you've only got to show those youngsters once how to use the phone."

During the day a four-minute phone call from Miami, Fla., to here would cost about $6.30 plus tax. For a kid with a big list that runs into a large bill fast.

"Where they get my number I don't know," he said. It has been listed as Santa Claus House in the North Pole section of the Fairbanks telephone directory since 1952. Around Christmas some newspapers and radio and television stations give it out.

Most irksome to Santa, though, are what he terms "semi-crank" calls from "somebody in some bar room in San Diego who had to say hello to Santa Claus."

"Those generally come about 3 a.m." And that's too much, even for Santa.

Magazine Urges 'Parent Power'

LONDON (AP) — Parent power could be a decisive force in improving Britain's education system, says the Advisory Center for Education, educational publishers and advisers.

The center's magazine "Where" gives practical advice to parents on how to get things done — like getting rid of a disastrous teacher, compiling and using a dossier on the local education authority, raising money for an improvement the authority can't or won't provide.

There's no quick answer to bad teaching, inadequate buildings and equipment and the problems of an individual child, the magazine makes clear. And it says that whatever the excitement of campaigning and pressure grouping, the real place for the exercise of parent power is on the governing and managing bodies of schools.

MISSISSIPPI MEANDERS MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Geologists report that the Mississippi River trench was cut to its maximum depth 25,000 to 30,000 years ago when continental glaciers reached full development.

The Lower Mississippi River in its present form from Cairo, Ill., to the Gulf of Mexico was established about 2,000 years ago, according to studies. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reports the river still tends to "meander" (change its course), except in areas where reverts have been placed along the banks to keep them steady.

Candlelight Isn't Enough

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Energy shortage or not, don't depend on candlepower to keep food hot on the buffet tables, cautions Consumer News, newsletter from Uncle Sam's Office of Consumer Affairs.

Small candles used in warming units may not produce enough heat to keep food at "safe" temperatures. Ways to avoid buffet bacteria also include:

—Keep hot foods above 140 degrees Fahrenheit, especially casseroles containing seafood, poultry and meat, beans, eggs, cheese and other dairy products. Use electric frypans, hot trays or chafing dishes.

—Keep cold foods chilled below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, especially cream pies and other desserts containing eggs, milk and cream, and salads made with seafood, poultry or red meat. Chill both the food and the serving dishes first in the refrigerator and, if possible, place them on ice buffet over bowls of crushed ice.

—Don't keep any food, cold or hot, at room temperature more than two or three hours. A groning board may look hospitable but it can leave your guests groaning from the effects of food poisoning.

—Instead, keep only limited quantities of food on the table and refill serving dishes often.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONAL

ROLLA, Mo. (UPI) — Eighty inmates of the Missouri State Prison are taking college courses in sociology, history, mathematics and English. The courses, funded through the Law Enforcement Assistance Council, are taught by faculty members of the University of Missouri at Rolla.
