

Poll Shows American People Expect 'Rough Year'

PRINCETON, N.J.—Although little agreement is found among economic experts regarding the outlook for the economy in 1974, the American people are almost entirely agreed that it will be a rough year.

In fact, the economic outlook of Americans at the start of 1974 is gloomier than it has been for many years, with 85 per cent of Americans currently predicting a year of economic difficulty and 84 per cent predicting rising unemployment.

The public's current mood is in sharp contrast to the view held one year ago, at the start of 1973. A Gallup Survey taken then found the economic outlook of Americans brighter at that time than at any other time during the previous four years, with a far smaller percentage than today predicting economic difficulty (47 per cent) and rising unemployment (43 per cent).

Among the large majority of persons in the survey who are bearish about the economy is a 26-year-old housewife from Milwaukee who said: "It's going to be difficult for the people of the U. S. to believe that we are facing shortages because we've had it so good. There is going to be panic, hoarding and, in some cases, no cooperation, which will result in hard times for all."

A 53-year-old resident of Bridgewater, Mass., had this to say: "Unemployment will play havoc with the economy. There'll be more hardship for the little fellow struggling to buy a home. But some good comes from everything. I hope we can finally go back to respect for thrift instead of the throw-it-away-get-another syndrome."

The Other Side

About one person in 14 in the survey (7 per cent) believes that 1974 will be a year of economic prosperity. One of these people is a 28-year-old interior decorator from California: "I've learned to discount almost all news commentaries on TV and newspaper articles on this subject and continue to trust in the American system. Domsday preachers are popular nowadays."

The economic situation this year could, of course, have important political repercussions in terms of the coming congressional elections. Voters tend to blame their economic woes on the party that controls the White House.

Following is the first question asked: "Which of these do you think is likely to be true of 1974—a year of economic prosperity or a year of economic difficulty?"

The table below, compares current expectations with those recorded one year ago:

START OF:	Economic Prosperity Or Difficulty		No Opinion
	Prosperity	Difficulty
1973	40%	47%	13%
1974	7%	85%	8%

Pessimism regarding the economy pervades each major region of the nation and all levels of society, but it is slightly less pronounced among older persons and among Southerners.

Here are the findings:

	1974—A Year Of Economic Prosperity Or Difficulty?
	Prosperity	Difficulty	No Opinion
NATIONAL	7%	85%	8%
Men	8	86	6
Women	7	85	8
East	8	86	6
Midwest	7	87	6

	Or Rising Unemployment?
	Full Employment	Rising Unemployment	No Opinion
NATIONAL	8%	84%	8%
Men	9	84	7
Women	8	83	9
East	7	86	7
Midwest	7	86	7
South	12	78	10
West	7	86	7
18 to 29 yrs.	7	87	6
30 to 49 yrs	8	85	7
50 and over	9	81	10

Here is the next question asked in the survey: "Which of these do you think will be true of 1974—a year of full employment or a year of rising unemployment?" Here is the comparison between the latest results and those of a year ago:

START OF:	Full Employment Or Rising Unemployment?
	Full Employment	Rising Unemployment	No Opinion
1973	42%	43%	15%
1974	8	84	8

Analysis of the findings again indicates that Southerners tend to be the least pessimistic. Here are the figures:

'Took Pot Luck In Laundromat'

By LINDA DEUTSCH

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Singer Bette Midler is No. 1 on Mr. Blackwell's list of the 10 worst dressed women of 1973. No. 10 is a man: rock music star David Bowie.

For only the second time in 14 years of issuing the list, Blackwell included a man.

The designer explained, "If they want to face the public as a woman, they deserve to make the list." He described Bowie as "a cross between Joan Crawford and Marlene Dietrich doing a glitter revival of 'New Faces'."

The other man who made the list in another decade is comedian Milton Berle. Berle dressed as a woman on his weekly television show to earn that title.

The 1973 list also includes such persons as Britain's Princess Anne and Jacqueline Onassis.

Blackwell, saving his most cutting remarks for Miss Midler, told a news conference in the drawing room of his mansion Thursday, "She looks like she took pot luck in a laundromat."

The worst dressed, named by Blackwell in order of ranking from one to 10, were: Miss Midler, Princess Anne, actress Raquel Welch, tennis star Billie Jean King, Mrs. Onassis, actresses Elke Sommer and Sarah Miles, the Andrews Sisters, actress Liv Ullmann and Bowie.

The designer criticized Mrs. Onassis for her casual wardrobe.

"I'd like to see her in a dress. I'm tired of $5,000 worth of T-shirts," he chided.

He called Princess Anne's wedding dress dull and declared she "makes her mother, the Queen, look fashionable, and that takes some doing."

Miss Welch, who was No. 1 on the worst dressed list last year, dropped to No. 3, but not because Blackwell likes her taste any better. "She looks worse, but she's become less important," he said.

Lady Jane Said Stubborn, Proud

By JULIE FLINT

LONDON (AP)— Lady Jane Wellesley, only daughter of the eighth Duke of Wellington, is small and dark with long hair, a Mona Lisa face and mind of her own. She is interested in art, antiques and politics, not the sporty pursuits popular with much of her set and the British royal family.

Friends say she is a typical Wellington, "stubborn, proud, determined. Snappy at times, but sociable."

She is also linked romantically with Prince Charles, heir to the British throne and, despite denials from both families, is widely expected by Britons on all social levels to become his bride.

Lady Jane celebrated the New Year with the 25-year-old prince at Sandringham, Queen Elizabeth's country estate. Afterwards the prince, serving in the Royal Navy, flew to Singapore for a three-month stay there. This has been interpreted as a testing period for the couple.

Lady Jane told newsmen she had a "lovely time" at Sandringham.

A worker on the royal estate was quoted as saying: "For a couple who are supposed to be just good friends, they seem to squeeze hands and kiss an awful lot."

Fuel Crisis Hits Fabrics They're Itching To Get Their Complaint Across

By PHYLLIS FELDKAMP
Women's News Service

Will a barrel be the last word in fashion for the 1974-75 season?

Things may not reach that low a point but the wise will do well to cherish that wool coat, that silk dress and those cotton denim pants. Natural fibers are becoming increasingly dear and show signs of following the route of threatened diminishing species unless strong conservation measures are put into effect.

Not that the future of man-made yarns looks too jolly either, over the long haul. The energy crisis has already brought about a 10-18 per cent cutback in the production of polyester—the number-one synthetic used today for your clothes.

Then there's the supply of nylon for your stockings and pantyhose. It has also been affected and could be again. If you find yourself having to go bare-legged next winter, blame it on a shortage of caprolactum or hexamethyl-diamineaditic acid—two crude oil derivatives you've probably never heard of but without which, no Nylon 6 or Nylon 66 yarns.

Man-mades represent 65 per cent of American fiber consumption. Cotton accounts for 33 per cent of American fiber consumption. Cotton accounts for 33 per cent, wool two per cent, and linen and silk less than one per cent.

From Crude Oil

Most of the synthetics you wear—polyester, acrylic, modacrylic, nylon—are processed from crude oil derivatives and fall into a category known as "petrochemicals." Others—rayon and the acetates—come from wood pulp and are called "cellulosics." A small group of man-mades are formed from glass threads but these are used for home-furnishing fabrics, not wearing apparel.

Although a spokesman for duPont, the giant among synthetic fiber producers that spins 3 billion pounds of man-made filaments per year, says current cutbacks will not have a significant effect on what you'll be able to buy immediately, he's not all smiles about what might be in store for tomorrow.

He warns, "There's a potential for serious shortages if the industry has more cutbacks in the petrochemical ingredients needed to make the yarns."

Since 1940, America has been on a man-made fiber binge. In those days synthetics were in their babyhood and accounted for only 10 per cent of total consumption. Nylon did not become available to the mass consumer until after World War II, and acrylics were not born until the early '50s, polyesters in the mid-'50s.

Prices Zoom Upward
Wool, silk and cotton were much more readily available and infinitely cheaper than today. Japan's recent large-scale purchase of Australian wool supplies has caused wool prices to zoom upwards. In Paris they have tripled in the past 18 months.

Soon, only the rich will be able to afford pure wool. A friend who paid $56 for a pair of wool slacks a month ago reports she saw the same pair of pants in the same store—where they'd come in on a reorder—for $67 last week.

Even without the Japanese, the cost of wool and other natural fibers would have jumped in the last 30 years because of heightened demand—due to increases in affluence and population.

Ecologists like Barry Commoner see the post-World War II outburst of technological innovation, of which the man-made fiber industry was a part, at the root of the dangerous rise in pollution levels and of the destruction of the environment. They would like to see a return to greater use of natural fibers, would like us to raise more sheep, more silk worms, grow more cotton, more flax.

"The energy required to form the cotton fiber is, of course taken up by the cotton plant from a free, renewable resource—sunlight," Commoner wrote in his book, "The Closing Circle."

"Living things do their energetic business without heating up the air or polluting it with noxious combustion products. Whether in the cotton plant or the sheep, the chemical reactions that put the natural polymers together operate at rather low temperatures, and the energy is transferred efficiently. Nothing is burned, nothing is wasted," says Commoner. The man-made, unnatural fiber is, as he points out, nonbiodegradable and puts a stress on the environment.

From Wood Pulp
Since the cellulosics are derived from wood pulp, you'd expect them to be biodegradable but rayon and acetates require certain petrochemicals when processed into fiber. It is a possible dearth of these chemicals that could slow production of cellulosics, more than the shortage of wood pulp.

"While we do have some concern for wood pulp, we have greater concern for chemicals used in rayon and acetate," says Roy Sweet, vice president for operations of the fibers division of FMC, largest U. S. rayon producer.

"For example, acetone, vital for cellulose acetate, is in extremely tight supply," he says. The heaviest cutback in cellulosics has been Courtauld's 25 per cent, caused by that company's inability to contract for caustic soda.

Most corporations that have been forced into production cutbacks hope it's temporary. DuPont's 10 per cent cutback on polyester as of Nov. 1 may be lifted in the first quarter of '74. In any case, the consumer is not going to notice much change right away.

Ready For Spring
"It can be nine, ten months before the effect is felt in retail as the fabrics are ready now for spring," says a duPont executive. "The crunch won't come until fall and even then won't be of such consequence that people will be queuing up for shirts. There will simply be less variety in choice of styles of shirts and in colors."

As can be imagined, the synthetic fibers industry tends to play down the size of their portion of the petrochemical pie. Of the 27 million barrels of crude oil equivalent used daily in total production in America, man-made fibers use one per cent, according to the educational director of the Man-Made Fibers Producers Association, which represents the 15 biggest companies. Other sources say the percentage is as high as 10 per cent.

If you wear polyester, have acrylic rugs in your house, or otherwise consume man-mades, you are using the equivalent of seven gallons of crude oil a year. Your nylon stockings, underclothes, etc., equal four gallons of gas annually, in petrochemicals—or less than you'd use up on an afternoon's joy ride.

In any case, from the clothes standpoint, the energy crisis is not going to put you in a barrel, at least not for the moment.

Couple Honored On Anniversary

ROBERSONVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Andrews Sr. were honored at a 49th wedding anniversary cocktail hour and dinner last week at the Town and Country Restaurant, Williamston.

Hosts and hostess were their children, John M. Andrews Jr. of Robersonville, Louis W. Andrews of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. Rosa A. Brodie of Battleboro.

The invocation for dinner and introductions were given by John Andrews Jr. Mrs. Brodie gave a resume of the couples' marriage and anniversary plaque was presented to the couple by Louis Andrews.

Following dinner, the three tiered cake was cut and served at the home of the couple in Robersonville for members of the anniversary party.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Jobin of New Monmouth, N.J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose-Anne Elyse, to Judson Eric Whichard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Eric Whichard of Rt. 1, Stokes. The wedding will take place Jan. 19.

DEAR ABBY: I recently returned from a trip. I traveled for one day on a bus and returned by jet.

I wasn't back two days when my husband and I discovered that we both had body lice. That's right! This was embarrassing for my husband and myself as we are clean people.

My point is this: I would like to let the public know of the health dangers involved in public transportation. I realize there could be other factors involved, but they are negative in our books.

I'd like to make a complaint, but have no idea who to contact. We are concerned with the health of other people as well as our own. Can you, help us?

ITCHING IN CONNECTICUT
DEAR ITCHING: Your complaints should be made to the passenger service departments of the airline and bus company on which you traveled.

DEAR ABBY: I was married for the first time at 20. It lasted just two years. [No children, fortunately.]
Now I am 25, and am engaged to be married again. My parents are in rather modest circumstances, and I cannot ask them to give me another wedding since they spent much more than they really could afford on my first wedding.

The problem is that my fiance would like to have a wedding that he will "remember." He wants all his friends, and of course his family, which is a large one. I have explained why this wedding will have to be small and rather modest, and he understood, but he wasn't happy about it. Now he came up with the suggestion that he put on the wedding and foot the bill. He can afford it. But what will people say? They know my parents can't afford it.

BLUE BRIDE
DEAR BRIDE: The important issue is not what people will say, it's what will make you and your fiance happy. If he wants to have a memorable wedding and can afford to foot the bills, I see no reason why he shouldn't.

DEAR ABBY: At the risk of perpetuating the "Living Will" controversy, may I add my two cents worth?

As a nurse, I have seen many elderly terminally ill patients become artificially-breathing vegetables. Some pray for death, others refuse nourishment in order to hasten their end, some cry softly, some become bitter, and some just wait with resignation.

To allow human beings to die with dignity is not "mercy killing." When death is imminent, a patient should be kept as comfortable and pain-free as possible, but these patients will die as surely and inevitably as they did in all the centuries before "modern medicine."

Where is it written that an appointment with God should be delayed; that He should be kept waiting while man experiments with His creation?
A NURSE IN LA JOLLA, CAL.

DEAR NURSE: Well said.

DEAR ABBY: There are eight in our family and my dishwasher has been broken for over a year. My husband has the tools and know-how to fix it, but he still hasn't gotten around to it.

I finally said: "If you don't fix this dishwasher pretty soon I am going to call in a repairman and pay him."
My husband said: "Not with MY money!" Now what?
WORN OUT

DEAR WORN: As his wife, you are his partner. Give him a deadline, and if he stalls, go ahead and call in a repairman.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Couple Weds In Recent Ceremony In Grifton

GRIFTON—Miss Ella Louise Mann and Sgt. Herman Joseph Hudson of Statesboro, Ga., were united in marriage Sunday, Dec. 23, at 7:45 p.m. at the home of the bride.

The Rev. James E. Sponenberg Jr. officiated at the single ring ceremony in the presence of family members.

For her marriage, the bride wore a full length dress fashioned with a bodice of natural cluny lace with a square neckline in front and deep V in back and long full sleeves ended in ruffles at the wrist. The skirt was a soft green cotton satin with a self-ruffle at the hemline, attached to a wide band of cluny lace. She carried a Bible, a gift of her parents, centered with a bouquet of flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Mann and the late Mrs. Mary S. Mann. She received her education at East Carolina University and is now a Social Security claims representative in Swainsboro, Ga.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Frazier Hudson of Bamberg, S. C., and the late Mr. Hudson. He is on recruiting duty in Statesboro, Ga., where the couple will reside.

Mrs. Hudson was honored at a bridal shower recently at the Mann home. Hostesses were Mrs. W. A. Mann, Mrs. Roy L. Jackson, Mrs. Gene Gilland, Mrs. George Lehman, Mrs. C. L. McClaine, Mrs. Edward Hart and Mrs. Gary Davis.

Mrs. Lehman greeted guests and presented them to the honoree and Mrs. Mann, who were wearing white mum corsages.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cutwork cloth and centered with an antique silver epergne filled with white flowers with touches of red and red candles.

Mrs. Gilland poured punch and Mrs. McClaine served decorated bridal cakes.

Open House Honors Couple Last Week

Miss Donna Jones and Mack Worthington, who will be married May 5, in Newport, Pa., were honored at an open house last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Worthington.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Alva Worthington and invited into the living room where Mr. and Mrs. Julian Worthington, parents of the bridegroom elect introduced them to Miss Jones and their son. Also receiving in the living room were Steve Worthington, Lee Worthington and Mrs. A. D. McLawhorn Sr., grandmother of the bridegroom elect.

The guests were then directed to the dining room by Miss Cora Lynn Worthington and Jack Reynolds where punch was poured by Mrs. Wardell Worthington and cake was served by Mrs. Billy Atkinson. Guests were invited to the den by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barnes and good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Linwood S. Worthington.

The dining table was covered with a white linen cloth with lace and an arrangement of red carnations and Chinese holly in a five branched candelabrum was used. Poinsettias and Christmas arrangements were used throughout the house for decorations.

Others assisting in serving were Mrs. Billy Dail, Mrs. Collins Yelverton, Mrs. Lucile Hahn, Gregory Dail and Wayne Worthington.

Lives Saved By Energy Crisis

It appears that whatever inconveniences are coming out of the energy crisis, we may be saving lives because of it.

The Highway Patrol reported there were 1,860 deaths on the highways in 1973 as compared to 1,983 for 1972.

Patrol Commander E. W. Jones said the drop was due to reduced speed limits, the gas shortage and increased efforts by the Highway Patrol to remove drunken drivers from the roads.

"In the latter part of the year, and in December particularly, the speed limit reduction and the gasoline shortage had their effects," Lt. Col. Jones said. "Previous to that and during December, I think we have had a real good program to apprehend drunken drivers and remove them from the highways."

Jones also cited the use of speed timing equipment and better engineering of highways to make them less hazardous.

Finally, he said, the cooperation of the public helped make the good record possible. "I'm real happy about the reduction," he said. "But we have aspirations for making 1974 an even safer year."

No doubt all the reasons cited by Lt. Col. Jones for the highway safety improvement are valid. It is likely that the fact that people are driving slower and doing less driving on weekends has helped to reduce the highway toll.

That certainly has to rank as good news coming from the energy crisis.

Resource-Stretching Is Part Of A Package

The State Energy Crisis Study Commission is preparing legislation which could ease the energy shortage for our state.

Emergency powers for the governor speeding up of power generating facilities and setting up an energy decision of state government are expected to be included in the package.

These and other measures should be considered by the 1974 General Assembly to ease the energy shortage as much as possible. North Carolina will be affected by the world crisis, but we should do all we can to stretch our energy resources as far as possible.

Connally Sees Fortunes Sag

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK DALLAS—The lethal side effects of Watergate are undercutting the six-month-old political marriage between John B. Connally and the Texas Republican party, further dimming Connally's presidential prospects for 1976.

Thanks largely to the Watergate scandal, Connally has been unable to lead either his personal organization or the state's conservative businessmen into the Republican party. Moreover, relations between Connally and state leaders of his new party, while cordial, are at arm's length.

Connally, his presidential possibilities declining since being passed over by President Nixon for Vice President, must have solid home-state support. But prominent Texas Republicans say privately Connally must earn such support, by either leading the state party to some 1974 victories or significantly expanding its ranks.

Unfortunately for Connally, the reason behind such demands is the same reason why he probably cannot satisfy them: the Texas Republican party is at its lowest ebb since 1964. Although President Nixon overwhelmingly carried Dallas County in 1972, for example, Nixon supporters are in short supply here today.

In post-Watergate Dallas, Republican fundraising and candidate recruitment have dried up. It no longer seems inevitable that conservative Texas Democrats will one day become Republicans. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a moderate Democrat, is today the state's most prestigious politician. Gov. Dolph Briscoe, another moderate Democrat, is highly popular running a dull, caretaker administration.

Businessmen here thank Democratic national chairman Robert Stauss, still another Texas moderate, for making his party more acceptable to them now that the Republican party is so unappetizing.

Connally is thus the principal Republican asset in Texas. But Republicans grow impatient. "I heard all about Big John bringing his friends along with him," a Republican legislator told us, "but I haven't seen anybody yet."

Strength For Today

ON BEING SURPASSED It is never easy to see ourselves surpassed. And yet, if we can honestly congratulate a person who does this, we have at least one of the aspects of true character.

The German composers Hasse and Mozart were once asked to compose musical numbers for the wedding of two royal personages. Hasse was an old man with a lifetime of music behind him. Mozart was only fifteen years old. Yet Mozart's composition was obviously superior to Hasse's, and therefore was chosen over the

Dear Mister President

WASHINGTON—Every national trade organization is now hard at work trying to convince the Energy Council and the President that it is essential they be given sufficient fuel to continue the manufacturing of their wares. One of the methods of pleading their case is to take out a full-page advertisement in a newspaper pleading for a break.

Here are the types of messages we can expect to read:

An Open Letter To The President Of The United States
Dear Sir,
We, the Electric Pencil Sharpener Companies of America, urge you not to cut down on the use of electric pencil sharpeners during the present energy crisis. The electric pencil sharpener is absolutely essential to a healthy economy in this country, not to mention a strong defense abroad.

To the editor: In this troubled world we live with so much strife we still have a lot of things to thank God for. Our Mother, Emma Ayers, passed this life Thursday night in the Greenville Nursing Center.

The citizens of Greenville and Pitt County should be proud to have such a nice place in this area.

We would like to express our thanks to all employees at the nursing home for taking care of her. Just to prove what a nice place it is, this is her opinion of it: "After being a patient here, I have a higher opinion of it than I did before."

Again I say thank you for a job well done. May God Bless each of you.

To the editor: Operation Sunshine needs your help. In past years we have operated on an approximate annual budget of $4,800. This year our expenditures will exceed this previous budget. The house we now occupy has been sold. We have had the use of this house free of charge but now we must contemplate having to rent or buy our next facility.

Previously, all of our employees have been obtained through a work-study program with the university. This program has enabled us to pay only a small portion of each employee's salary. But this year we were unable to get any of these students. So we are now having to pay the full salaries of a Director, her assistant, and a bus driver.

We are faced with a simple choice. Unless we receive more financial support we will not have the funds to continue our program after March. We will have no choice but to close Operation Sunshine. I feel that the girls' accomplishments at the center are too valuable for them to lose. But we cannot do it alone.

I would like to ask everyone to please consider what they can do for these girls.

Thank you,
Mrs. Richard Miller

White House Shift Stirs Ire

By WALTER R. MEARS WASHINGTON (AP) — An apparent change in White House strategy may raise new problems as President Nixon deals with congressional Republicans anxious to resolve Watergate issues early in an election year.

The President and his advisers apparently have decided against public release of transcripts or summaries of Watergate-related tape recordings, dropping a disclosure plan that had emerged from private meetings with GOP members of the Senate and House.

"How hard they go at the White House on this is going to be determined by what they find out during the recess," he said.

During a series of meetings with members of Congress six weeks ago, the President was quoted as saying he would be making public information on the tapes, and additional data that would cover such matters as the ITT case and campaign contributions from dairy industry interests. An aide has publicly on the matter before he and other members of Congress have sampled voter attitudes on Watergate and alleged fund-raising scandals.

A GOP aide on Capitol Hill said Republicans who had advocated disclosure of everything relevant and available are likely to return from their recess displeased with the White House.

The White House has announced that the planned release of summaries of the Watergate tape recordings is being re-evaluated. Nixon is said to have decided against disclosure of summaries of the seven tape recordings that have been turned over to the Watergate special prosecutor.

In addition, the White House is expected to resist a subpoena from the Senate Watergate committee, which seeks nearly 500 tapes and documents.

A spokesman cited the committee demand, and the fact that a tape released for courtroom use was im-

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is man's greatest blessing.

It gives him the day-to-day and year-to-year continuity that enable him to have an identity and a personality. It is his memories as much as anything that make him who he is. Without them man would be a sub-human animal—or an ambulant amnesic vegetable.

HAL BOYLE

Of course, memory can be a mixed blessing. It can bring pain as well as provide comfort. But on the whole it is more healing than hurtful.

The more active your life and mind have been, the greater your store of memories should be. You've got a lot to recall if you can look back and remember when—

If the butcher liked you, he'd save a supply of liver and give it to you free to feed to your cat, as few human beings thought the stuff fit for consumption.

Girls thought it a mark of beauty to let their fingernails grow as long as possible and paint them pearly.

No man in his right mind would think of going hatless to church on Sunday.

The proposed consolidation of State Bank and Trust Company with the Greenville Banking and Trust Company was voted down in a meeting of the board of directors of the State Bank and Trust Company here last night.

Announcement of the action was made public today with recommendations to stockholders of the institution that they too reject the proposal which may also be submitted to them.

In the semi-annual report to the Board Commissioners, the County Auditor, J. H. Coward, showed that expenditures for the General Fund were $30,103 for the period beginning July 1, 1933 as against expenditures of $41,170 for the same period last year; for the County home and Outside Poor Fund, $11,193; for the Health Department, $3,636.

Coward said collections increased greatly from deferring land sales from August to January.

Three new projects, all involving the improvement of local schools, have been approved by the state Civil Works Administration.

Late Harold Lee Had A Neighborly Quality

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Walking with some church dignitaries across the lobby of Salt Lake City's Hotel Utah after a luncheon, the late Harold L. Lee was confronted by a teen-age boy who said, "I wonder if I could shake your hand."

The older man stopped, his face lighting with a gentle camaraderie. "My son, it's a privilege and I appreciate it."

They chatted briefly as Lee, the warm, plain-mannered late president, chief authority and modern prophet of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, drew out personal details and interests of the youngster.

This was the companionable way of the world's top Mormon leader who died last week at 74, to be succeeded last Monday by a genial, long-time partner, Spencer W. Kimball. They share a trait—their openness to people. Although Lee had been on the Church's Council of Twelve Apostles for 32 years as one of its central authorities and had been its ruling guide for a year and a half, he never lost the

Investigate 2 Accidents

More than $700 property damage was reported in tow collisions investigated here yesterday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 5:50 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Tenth and Elm Streets involving cars driven by Gerald Wayne Lewis of Route 1, Greenville and Carol Payne Powell of 208 South Elm St.

Police, who set damage to the Lewis car at $200 and damage to the Powell vehicle at $175, charged Lewis with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident and charged Miss Powell with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Harry Dean Ward of Route 1, Grifton was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 1:50 p.m. collision at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Ridgeway Street.

Officers said the Ward car collided with a vehicle driven by Robert Ricks Bosomean of Route 3, Rocky Mount causing an estimated $150 damage to the Ward car and about $200 damage to the Bosomean auto.

No injuries were reported in either of the mishaps.

did, Mr. President, was go out and buy electric knives so their government wouldn't have to cut their meat for them. Are you now going to say to these people, "Put away your electric knives which I urged you to buy and cut your meat as they do in the underdeveloped countries of the Third World?"

The final sample letter might be from the Heated Swimming Pool Assn.

PRESIDENT NIXON, ARE YOU LISTENING? We, the 543,890,000 heated swimming pool contractors of America, urge you to give us special attention during the fuel shortage, not because it is in our interest—but because it is to the nation's advantage. We can prove that by allowing people to heat their pools you will be saving energy rather than wasting it. For every person in a heated swimming pool (the average time spent in one is an hour per day) this means one less person using an hour of electricity to watch television. Or to put it another way, the family who swims together in a heated pool means one less car on the highway burning gas.

PEOPLE WITH HEATED SWIMMING POOLS STAY HOME. They also invite other people over, which means large savings in oil. MR. PRESIDENT—DO NOT ELIMINATE HEATED SWIMMING POOLS AS A CONSERVATION MEASURE. As the owner of a heated swimming pool in San Clemente, you owe it to the country to keep its water warm.

Birds Posing Airport Risk

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Thousands of starlings have taken up residence around Smith Reynolds Airport runways and officials say they are creating potentially dangerous flying conditions.

City, county, state and federal officials planned to meet today to discuss the situation. The Federal Aviation Administration's district office has warned that passenger flight service might have to be temporarily halted if the birds are not forced away from the airport.

Airport and airline officials say the birds have settled around the airport because of the attraction of a food supply at the city's landfill adjacent to the airport.

Louis McConnell, airport manager, and Capt. Warren O. Tadlock, Piedmont Airlines vice president of flight operations, say the city should close the landfill as soon as possible.

Tadlock says he has received complaints from Piedmont pilots about birds. And the airline, which maintains headquarters in Winston-Salem, is quite concerned about the situation, Tadlock adds. McConnell said a Piedmont plane temporarily halted its takeoff Monday when a bird crashed into its windshield. No serious incidents have occurred yet, but McConnell said the birds could cause a major disaster should they damage one of Piedmont's jets.

underdog for now.

Some politicians who know Connally well feel he is committed to a serious bid for President in 1976. Those closest to him, however, report he blows hot and cold. When Republican audiences greet him with enthusiasm, he is ready to run; when the Senate Watergate committee tries (unsuccessfully, so far) to implicate him in the milk-fund scandal, he grumbles that politics just isn't worth the ordeal these days. In the meantime, he does nothing about building an embryonic campaign staff.

For all of these difficulties, Connally is still unsurpassed as a platform spellbinder and backroom persuader. He will need those talents, considering his wobbly political base here.

Bob Dylan Back On Music Scene

ON THE ROAD AGAIN—Singer Bob Dylan began a six-week tour with a concert in Chicago last night. (AP Wirephoto)

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The new Bob Dylan was grateful and friendly; the older Bob Dylan was harsh, mystical and somewhat obscure; the oldest Bob Dylan was rebellious.

All the Bob Dylans showed up at Chicago Stadium Thursday as the poet and singer who was the prophet for the tumultuous '60s began his first concert tour in eight years before a packed house of more than 18,000.

"May God bless and keep you, may your wishes all come true, may you stay forever young," sang the 32-year-old Dylan in one of his new songs. "There must be somewhere out of here, said the joker to the thief. There's too much confusion, I can't get no relief," he sang in a song from the mid '60s.

"You who philosophize disgrace, and criticize all fears; take the rag away from your face, now ain't the time for tears," he sang in the Ballad of Hattie Carroll, a 1962 protest song about a black maid caned to death by a rich, white Marylander.

But the biggest cheer of all from a crowd that cheered all night came in the middle of a song written in 1963 when Dylan observed: "Even the President of the United States sometimes has to stand naked." Dylan was backed for most of the concert by The Band, a group that played behind him until becoming one of America's top rock groups in its own right. And most of the concert was rock, with either The Band playing on its own—or Dylan playing with The Band.

For five numbers after the intermission, Dylan changed from the black denim jacket he had been wearing into a white tunic. He played early Dylan, accompanied only by his own acoustic guitar and the trademark harmonica attached to his neck.

He even went as far back as "Song to Woody," a tribute to the late songwriter and philosopher Woody Guthrie, Dylan's first idol when he transformed himself from Robert Zimmerman of Hibbing, Minn. The audience loved it.

The audience reflected the Dylan constituency. There were teen-agers there who knew him only as another rock star; those in their 20s and early 30s who see him as one of their own; and older fans who love him for his political views and his poetry.

In his own way, Dylan maintained the privacy he has clung to during the decade he has been a public figure. His only spoken words came at intermission, when he mumbled: "Back in 'bout 15 minutes."

As the crowd was filing out, promoter Bill Graham announced that more seats were being added for Friday night's performance and that about 500 tickets would go on sale in the morning.

"I'm going outside to get in line," said a man in his 30s. A lot of people said they would join him.

A plaster cast used to be an excuse for little boys to avoid taking a bath. Now there's a light fiber glass cast which is unaffected by water and three times stronger than plaster.

No Gasoline On Waiting Ships

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—U. S. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said today he had been assured by a presidential assistant that tankers lying off the coast of New York and Boston do not contain gasoline.

Helms said he had been told they contain home heating oil. The North Carolina senator said he and his office had been "besieged by calls" from citizens wanting to know if the tankers were loaded with gasoline waiting for the price to go up.

He added he called the White House Thursday night and talked with William Timmons, an assistant to President Nixon. "He told me he had investigated that yesterday and had been assured that these tankers do not contain gasoline. They contain home heating oil, but can't unload because it's been so mild in New England that there is no storage space. The distributors don't have any place for it," Helms told The Associated Press.

He said many motorists can't get gasoline "and have visions that the tankers were lying off the coast waiting for a price increase."

He added, "It's a critical political thing for them (Nixon administration) to clear it up. I'm willing to accept Timmons' word on it."

Bonafide Hero Faces McGovern

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Leo K. Thorsness, a retired Air Force officer who spent six years as a prisoner of the North Vietnamese, announced today he will run for the U.S. Senate in 1974.

Thorsness, 41, said he will enter the state's Republican primary in a bid for the Senate seat now held by Democrat George McGovern.

After his release from a Communist prisoner of war camp last March, Thorsness was highly critical of the antiwar stance of McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential candidate.

Also bidding for the Republican nomination in the Senate race is Al Schock, a Sioux Falls businessman.

Thorsness, who was awarded the Medal of Honor for gallantry in action in Vietnam, retired from the Air Force as a lieutenant colonel Oct. 25. He is still recovering from back and leg injuries suffered when he ejected from a bomber over North Vietnam in April 1967.

Thorsness was reared in Walnut Grove, Minn., and joined the Air Force in 1951. He and his wife, Gaylee, live in rural Sioux Falls. Their daughter, Dawn, 18, attends Stanford University.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

DATED AT GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, December 31, 1973

Robert S. Messner, Sec.-Treas.

Science rules today's world. Powerful nations harness technology to probe space and to create awesome weaponry which staggers the imagination.

In this age of missiles and megatons, we, more than ever, need Faith—to ward off thoughts of doom, to give us perspective, to reassure us that our lives can be full and complete even under the shadow of technology.

Faith, above all, means trust, a precious commodity in these uncertain times. And Emerson assures us that: "All I have seen teaches me to trust the Creator for all I have not seen."

Join the Faithful in church Sunday.

Every little girl sighed to have curls because Mary Pickford, known as "America's Sweetheart," wore them.

A father suspected there was something wrong with his son if the boy preferred tennis to baseball.

A kid could leave his bicycle overnight on his front lawn all summer, and no one would think of stealing it.

Most Americans over 30 had never tasted a pizza pie—or even knew what it was.

Those were the days—remember?

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)
— North Carolina egg markets steady Thursday. Supplies adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets. Grade A large whites 79.73, medium whites 77.72, small whites 71.43.

Hogs
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)
— North Carolina hog prices were steady today. 38.75-40.75 Wilson and High Falls; 41.00-42.00 Kingston, New Bern and Lumberton; 39.50-40.00 Tarboro and Bethel; 40.50-41.00 Rocky Mount; 39.00-40.00 Siler City and Denton; 40.00 Salisbury.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)
— North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Markets sharply weaker. Supplies fully adequate and demand only fair. Weights trending heavy. Dock weighted average price for less than truck lot sales of sized plant grade broilers to be picked up at dock next week is 38.49 cents per pound.

North Carolina hens: Market remains in unsettled condition. Supplies of heavy type fully adequate and demand no better than fair. Too few sources reporting to release prices.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today as Thursday's rally faded. Analysts said this was a sign that persistent economic worries were beginning to reassert themselves again.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which was up about a point at the opening, was down 4.84 to 875.85 at 11:30 a.m. But advances outnumbered declines by about 2-1 in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE composite index was off .13 to 53.08 at 11 a.m., while the market-value index on the American Stock Exchange was up .87 to 94.65.

On Thursday, the market rebounded from the slump it has been in since the Mideast war and staged one of its biggest comebacks since the Depression.

The Dow rose 25.37 points its eighth biggest jump, fueled by a cut in margin requirements for stock purchases, a dip in the prime lending rate and indications of progress in the Mideast.

But brokers said it was unlikely the market would equal that gain today, especially with news that the unemployment rate had risen slightly in December.

Active issues on the Big Board were topped by British Petroleum, unchanged at 137 1/2. Gulf Oil lost 1/4 to 24 1/4; Santa Fe Industries held steady at 35 1/4; American Airlines lost 1/8 to 8 3/4; and Weyerhaeuser gained 1/2 to 42.

Sony Corp., which skidded earlier this week after the Wall Street Journal reported analysts felt a year-end rally in Japanese stocks would be short-lived, lost 2 1/4 more to hit 24.

Dillon Watson of Carroll and Associates pointed out that, "I think one thing that caused the downtown area to be outdated is that it was closed in. If some provisions are not made for more shopping areas contiguous to Pitt Plaza, it will be closed in also."

Cox said that "we have too much around covered with asphalt there now. So until such time as they can come back with a plan that will show how they can run the water off in a southeasterly direction, I have to move to deny the request."

The council turned down a request by Carroll that the matter be tabled for 60 days to give him time to come up with topography information concerning the water runoff.

In further business during a four-hour meeting, the Council named Ernest Eaton to the Planning and Zoning Commission, replacing the late L. A. Artis.

A letter was read from Louis Clark, chairman of the commission, indicating that he has moved outside of the city limits and under the law can not continue to serve as chairman. Councilmen voted to send Clark a letter of commendation for his work as commission member and chairman. Karl Faser was nominated and approved to fill Clark's post as a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

A brief discussion of plans for the city's bicentennial celebration was held by the Council. Members of the Greenville Jaycees were on hand for the discussion and they indicated that the chapter might be interested in spearheading the effort if enough time is allowed for adequate planning.

Mrs. McGrath raised the possibility of tying the city's celebration in with the national celebration. Further study will be given to the matter and the Jaycees will investigate the possibility of heading up activities, whether this year or coinciding with the national observance.

Bank Held Up In Wilmington

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina's first bank robbery of the new year was pulled off in Wilmington this morning at a branch of North Carolina National Bank.

NCNB spokesman Ken Clark said a male armed with a pistol entered the Market Street branch around 9:20 a.m. Clark said the man fired a shot into the ceiling and gave a teller a bag and told her to fill it up, which she did.

Another teller fainted during the robbery, Clark said. The bandit left with an undetermined amount of money.

North Carolina recorded 53 bank robberies in 1973 and a record 70 in 1972.

Flaherty To Speak Here

David T. Flaherty, Secretary of the North Carolina Department of Human Resources, will be the guest speaker Monday at 8 a.m. at a joint meeting of the Pitt County Department of Social Services, Pitt Memorial Hospital, Pitt County Community Health Department and the School of Allied Health at East Carolina University.

His topic will be "Management by Objectives." The talk will be held at the Allied Health Auditorium.

Flaherty has served as secretary since January of 1973. One of his first acts was to return 4.3 million dollars to the 1973 General Assembly from the Departments base budget request. These monies came from the reorganization of the management end of the department and represent no decrease in services.

Secretary Flaherty came to North Carolina from his native Boston, Mass. in 1955 and settled in Lenoir where he went to work as a salesman for Broyles Furniture Industries. He stayed with Broyles until 1973, serving as national manager of the advertising department and manager of the plastics division.

Oak City Hoping For Wildcard Playoff Slot

By WOODY PEELE, Reflector Sports Editor

OAK CITY—Oak City High School's Trojans, an independent high school this year, are trying to shoot for a wildcard berth in the District One Class A playoffs this year, and that might be the incentive the team needs.

wildcard berths that will be open in the District One tournament in February.

points too." On defense, the Oak City five has used a three-quarter court zone press, and Land feels that this is working well for them.

For the Pitt Tech team, it was their first game since mid-December and they had only recently returned to practice, and the rust was evident.

Woodly Monroe led Fayetteville with 31 points, while Curtis McNeal had 15 and Lynn Covington had 11.

Playing an abbreviated schedule this year, the Trojans have found that games are hard to find. They are playing teams from nearly all four classes of the state's high school setup.

Three lettermen return from last year's team, and all three are starting this season. They include Graylin Harrington, Billy Ross and Ronald Duggins.

The shooting of the team so far has been good. "We've been hitting about 50 per cent, and our free throw shooting is greatly improved. It's been winning some games for us."

Fayetteville grabbed an early lead, pushing out into an 8-4 lead in the opening minutes of the first half. They steadily pulled away from Pitt Tech, going out by as much as 23-8 late in the period.

The two teams meet again Monday at Fayetteville.

Currently standing 7-3 on the year, Coach Henry Land is hopeful that a .700 percentage by the end of the year will be enough to land one of two Land said he is trying to add more games to the schedule, but is finding it hard to do. "We'll play anyone; it doesn't matter what class they're in."

This is supposed to be the final year of operation for Oak City as a high school. They are supposed to unite with Robersonville next season. "But things are going a little slow with the construction of the new school," Land said, "so we may have another year or so."

Popcorn Leads Arizona Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT, AP Sports Writer

The Wild, Wild West opened a new season Thursday night — and the star of the show was Conell "Popcorn" Norman.

while Greg Smith paced the losers with 26.

Church Opening

The Church Basketball League opened the 1974 season last night, with Black Jack, Presbyterian and Immanuel claiming victories.

In the opening game, Immanuel rolled to a 91-37 rout of Trinity. By halftime, it was all over as Immanuel held a 39-10 lead. They outscored Trinity in the second half, 52-27, to win it handily.

D. Evans led Immanuel with 28 points, while D. Rumbley had 26, G. Catlett had 17 and C. McNeil had 10. For Trinity, D.R. Daniels had 17 and Donnie Bowen had 10.

"It's always a big win for us in Laramie," said Arizona Coach Fred Snowden after enjoying Norman's dramatic, 26-point performance in a 93-77 Western Athletic Conference victory over Wyoming.

Glenn Mason fired in 28 points to power Southern Mississippi over Austin Peay, overshadowing a spectacular performance by the Governors' James "Fly" Williams. The "Fly" scored 34 points and collected 20 rebounds.

The second game saw Presbyterian take a 57-39 victory over St. James. In the first half, it was fairly close, with Presbyterian taking a 23-17 halftime advantage. But in the second half, Presbyterian pulled away, holding a 34-22 scoring margin, to claim the win.

Richard Holloman led Presbyterian with 24 points, while Larry Graham and Paul Andrews each had 10 points. For St. James, St. Seymour was high with eight points.

Norman thrived in the role of the leading man — helping the 15th-ranked Wildcats run off 10 straight points midway through the second half that pulled the curtain down on Wyoming.

Ray Edwards scored 24 points in South Alabama's victory over Missouri, winner of the Big Eight holiday tournament last week.

Elsewhere, Leon Johnson sank a short jump shot at the last second to give Arkansas a pulsating, 98-96 victory over Centenary. Alvan Adams fired in 32 points to help Oklahoma rout California-Santa Barbara 101-79; Robin Jones and Bill Morris scored 14 points apiece to lead St. Louis University to a 57-55 success over South Florida; Virginia Tech crushed Eastern Kentucky 92-65 behind Craig Leider's 30 points; Furman hit more than half of its shots from the floor enroute to a 92-64 rout of Baptist College of Charleston; Colorado State nipped Arizona State 74-72 on Rudy Carey's driving layup with two seconds to go; reserve Jim Bostic scored 13 of his 17 points in the second half to lead New Mexico State to a 71-63 victory over Wichita State and Bruce King, the nation's No. 2 scorer with a 32.1 average, collected 26 points to lead Pan American to an 88-79 success over the Air Force Academy.

Marvin Davis led Grady-White with 23 points, while Frank Brown had 18. For Fieldcrest, Charles Harrington had 23 and Louis Williams had 19.

The final game saw Vermont American roll to a 63-40 win over Prepsport. Vermont American pushed out to a 39-21 lead in the first half of the game, and added to their lead in the second. They outthrew Prepsport, 24-19, in the second half to finish it up.

The Arizona coach hopes for a rerun in Saturday's game against Colorado State, no doubt another shootout in the wide-open conference.

In other games involving the nation's ranked teams, No. 9 Long Beach State crushed Los Angeles State 93-76; No. 18 Memphis State tripped Bradley 88-76 in overtime and Southern Mississippi upset No. 20 Austin Peay in a consolation game of the Senior Bowl basketball tournament in Mobile, Alabama. Incidentally, South Alabama won the tournament with a 74-64 upset of Missouri in the finals.

Black Jack took a 67-45 win over Oakmont in the final game of the night. Black Jack built up a 38-22 halftime lead and continued to pull away in the second half. They outthrew Oakmont, 29-23, in the final period.

D. Edwards led Black Jack with 20, while Tal Adams had 15 and Phil Page had 10. For Oakmont, Bobby Hall had 18.

Clifton Pondexter scored 20 to pace Long Beach over Los Angeles State. Pondexter, a 6-foot-8 freshman center, collected seven rebounds and connected on 9-of-14 field goal attempts as the 49ers won their 10th game in 11 starts.

Bill Cook, Eddie Wilson and Kenny Andrews each had four points in overtime to spark Memphis State's victory. Regulation time ended in a 74-74 tie as Memphis State came back from a 12-point deficit with 15 minutes remaining.

Grady-White nipped Fieldcrest Mills, 53-49, in the second game of the evening. The Boatmen led at the end of the first half of play by five, 26-21. But they had to hold off a Fieldcrest rally in the second half, as they were outthru, 28-27, to get the win.

Colons 110, Squires 109 Mike Gale sank a pair of free throws with just two seconds left to account for the Kentucky victory and neutralize George Donnie Freeman got Indiana out of the gate quickly Thursday night and the Pacers hustled to their fourth straight American Basketball Association victory — a 100-97 decision over the Denver Rockets.

Carter's three-point goal at the buzzer. Dan Issel scored 27 points and Gale added 21 for the winners. George Gervin netted 29 for the Squires.

Valkyries Take Win

HOLLYWOOD—D.H. Conley's girls rolled to a 26-14 victory over West Craven last night. The game was the only one played.

Freeman, a veteran guard, hit on eight of 10 shots from the floor and piled up 17 points in the first quarter as Indiana pulled away to an 11-point lead. The Pacers managed to hang on for the win and Freeman got just four points the rest of the way.

Carolina took an 11-point lead at the half and cruised home. The Cougars placed eight players in double figures, including Ted McClain who had 20 points. Tom Owens added 19 points and 18 rebounds.

Conley held West Craven scoreless in the first period of the game, while scoring four points of its own. That was all the springboard the Valkyries needed to take the win. They outthru West Craven, 7-5, in the second quarter, and upped their lead to 11-5 by halftime.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Kentucky edged Virginia 110-109, Carolina rolled past Memphis 122-104 and Utah downed San Antonio 101-93.

Utah rookie Bruce Seals pumped in 12 points in the fourth quarter to keep his team on top down the stretch. All-Star forward Willie Wise led the Stars with 19 points and rookie center Swen Nater paced San Antonio with 19.

Conley continued to pull away in the third period of play, running out to a 10-4 margin. That made it 21-9 going into the final frame. Both teams tossed in five points in that quarter.

Milwaukee turned back Kansas City-Omaha 120-105 in the lone National Basketball Association game.

The Rockets rallied in the fourth quarter to go on top 94-89, but Indiana forward George McGinnis completed a clutch three-point play to help the Pacers regain the lead for good.

Daphne Simpson led Conley with eight points. Ippock had five to lead West Craven.

McGinnis finished with 30 points for Indiana and Beck topped Denver with 23.

VPI Coach Is Problem Beset

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Charlie Coffey, Virginia Tech's football coach beset by the loss of a newly hired assistant and two players on the heels of a 2-9 season says "I've aged 20 years since the first of September."

Coffey, disclosing the loss Thursday of defensive coordinator Billy Clay and freshman players Eddie Joyce and Keith Shirley, said his job this past season has been "one adversity after another."

The Tech coach said he was "extremely shocked and dazed" by the loss of Clay, who spent the 1973 season at South Carolina after serving as Tech's linebacker coach in 1972. Clay was lured back to Tech last Dec. 11 to serve next year as defensive coordinator, and Coffey said Clay had begun recruiting that day for Tech and had drawn "a piece of a paycheck."

But Clay went to Columbia, S.C., to visit his family over the holidays and was "apparently re-recruited" by South Carolina Coach Paul Dietzel, said Coffey, who added:

"I know Dietzel didn't want to lose Billy. Billy called me on New Year's Eve to tell me he was staying at South Carolina. He came to Blacksburg and we had a talk. Billy is a real fine person, and he's very frustrated over the situation."

Coffey said he planned no protest to Dietzel "because I only want people here with me at Tech who are totally dedicated to doing the job here."

Joyce was a 6-foot-4, 195-pound quarterback who as a two-time All-State choice in Virginia was one of Tech's most highly publicized recruits last year.

Because of injuries, he was pressed into varsity service and started the Gobblers' last four games, in which he hit on 47 of 88 passes for 534 yards and two touchdowns.

Coffey declined to elaborate on the fact Joyce had left the team and withdrawn from school except to say it was for "personal and academic reasons." He denied reports Joyce was planning to transfer to Tennessee.

"I'm leaving because I don't know whether I can hack it academically," Joyce said from his home in nearby Salem. He said the decision had nothing to do with the football situation, declaring "there is nothing wrong with the football program."

Shirley, a linebacker and younger brother of Tech star linebacker Tom Shirley plans to transfer to North Carolina State. He signed with Tech last year along with Joyce but left the squad after the first week of preseason workouts and never saw action.

Bill Viridon Does Not Consider Himself Interim Manager For NY

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't try to tell Bill Viridon he's an interim manager for the New York Yankees. He just doesn't see it that way.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Viridon, "I'm the manager of the New York Yankees and I like it that way. I'm not concerned about Dick Williams."

Viridon, ex-skipper of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was named to the Yankee job Thursday, ending the three-month tug of war that the New York club had been waging with Oakland owner Charles O. Finley over Williams.

Last month, Viridon signed a contract to manage Houston's Denver farm club in the Pacific Coast League. Does that mean the Yankees have inherited another Williams-type contract hassle?

Viridon laughed at the suggestion. "No, no," he said. "I had a stipulation in the Denver contract that if I were offered a major league job, I would be free to go."

That offer came earlier this week from the Yankees, who had run into a dead end in their negotiations with Finley aimed at trying to get the A's boss to release Williams from the last two years of his managing contract.

The Yankees had tried to force the issue a few weeks ago when they signed Williams to a three-year contract. But outgoing American League President Joe Cronin nixed that deal, sending the Yankees back to Finley to try to satisfy the Oakland boss, who kept insisting on a couple of top prospects in return for Williams.

"Charley wanted too much," said George M. Steinbrenner, general partner of the Yankees. That was when the club turned to Viridon.

"He's a winner and that's the kind of man we wanted," said Steinbrenner.

"I've never had a chance to be a loser," said Viridon, who was fired last September in the midst of the National League East pennant race with the Pirates only two games out of first place. "One in the lost column," reminded Viridon. "I feel if I had stayed, we would have won."

The Yankees, who also announced the appointment of

Williams Will Sue His Boss

RIVIERA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Following the hiring of Bill Viridon as manager of the New York Yankees, Dick Williams says he now plans a court battle against the man who kept him from getting the job.

Williams, who quit as Oakland manager after guiding them to their second straight World Series championship, said under no circumstances would he report to the A's spring camp next month.

Williams had signed with the Yankees, but that contract was voided by outgoing American League President Joe Cronin after Finley filed a federal court suit to force Williams to honor the two remaining years on his Oakland contract.

Whitey Ford as pitching coach and the re-hiring of coaches Dick Howser and Elton Howard, signed Viridon for one year. President Gabe Paul insisted there was no significance to the length of contract.

Baseball Makes Energy Plans

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major league baseball, along with other sports and recreational organizations, is making plans to reduce energy consumption up to 25 per cent — but success will depend on the fans.

Representatives of some 30 associations met for an hour Thursday with Federal Energy Office officials to discuss measures they could adopt to conserve energy in their operations.

Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn submitted a general outline for a comprehensive energy conservation plan developed for the major leagues for this year's season which he said would result in a 25 per cent saving over 1973.

Kuhn told newsmen after the meeting that baseball, which flew on chartered flights 80 per cent of the time during last season, will reduce charter flights by one-half or more.

"This will be done by using regularly scheduled flights whenever possible," he said.

Kuhn also said baseball expects to eliminate or substantially curtail the use of electrical power for illuminating night games, 20 per cent of which occurs before the game begins.

"We will endeavor to start night games at times which will present the least problem taking into consideration local utility peak load factors," he said.

The commissioner said that batting practice before games will not be eliminated but that it would be taken prior to a game when there is sufficient light to do so.

Kuhn said baseball had not considered playing all day games because "that would cause a substantial change in the game." He also said the 1974 schedule of 162 games would not be reduced to 154 games.

He also said he did not believe it was realistic to realign the American and National Leagues in 1974 and 1975 to reduce travel.

Kuhn said baseball will encourage fans to use public transit and car pools to get to ball parks.

John C. Sawhill, deputy administrator for the Federal Energy Office, said most of the other associations at the meeting agreed to try to reduce energy consumption although only baseball offered a general outline of what it intends to do.

"We don't want to reduce participation in sports, or reduce sports itself, but we want to use the energy more efficiently," he said.

Sawhill said the major recommendation coming out of the meeting was that fans use public transportation and car pools to attend sports events.

Vote On Team Sale

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The sale of the San Diego Padres to Marjorie Everett's group will come up for a vote at a special meeting of National League club owners next Wednesday, the San Diego Union says.

The newspaper said today that league president Charles "Chub" Feeney telephoned all 12 owners Thursday to schedule a meeting.

A spokesman for Feeney refused to confirm the report.

Meanwhile, Padres' President E.J. "Buzzie" Bavasi said he has started 1974 season-ticket sales and rehired front-office workers who were laid off in October.

Bavasi said he expects to name a successor to fired manager Don Zimmer next week. Leading candidates are believed to include Cincinnati coach Alex Grammas and San Francisco coach John McNamara, a former Oakland A's manager.

Mrs. Everett, controversial majority owner of Hollywood Park racetrack, and her Los Angeles group bought the Padres last week from troubled financier C. Arnholt Smith for an undisclosed price.

The sale is subject to approval by club owners, some of whom have expressed opposition to Mrs. Everett for her role in a Chicago racetrack stock scandal two years ago. Four negative votes would kill the sale and return ownership to Smith, who has said he can't afford to operate the Padres this year.

Weather Washes Out Crosby Golf

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The weather forecast wasn't good and tournament director Jack Tuthill had an ominous warning — "By the contract we can go through Tuesday" — as officials tried again today to get in the first round of the weather-plagued Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Thursday's scheduled opening round was washed out by rain that ranged from a chill drizzle to a cold, wind-whipped downpour, flooded greens and made the three Monterey Peninsula courses unplayable.

U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller said, "The wind must have gusted to 50 miles an hour."

"The temperature was in the 40s, maybe the 30s," said Tom Weiskopf. "I think it's the worst I've ever played in this country." Miller said. "I can remember when it was bad, but I can't remember when it was impossible."

The schedule was pushed back one full day. The 72-hole event, which offers $215,000 in total prizes, now is set to end Monday.

But the forecast called for more showers today. The Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Spyglass Hill layouts can't take much more moisture. They'd been subjected to two weeks of rainy weather before Thursday's downpour.

The fairways remain soaked, mushy marshes. Winter rules are in effect, with the players allowed to lift, clean and place balls on the fairway. Still, it's close to unplayable.

State, Carolina Meeting Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Usually the top-ranked teams are in opposite brackets of a tournament. But the top teams in the North Carolina Big Four Basketball Tournament in Greensboro will get a chance to knock each other off in the first round tonight.

North Carolina, 7-0 and fourth-ranked nationally, plays North Carolina State, 5-1 and fifth-ranked, in the opener.

Then Duke, 5-2, will play Wake Forest, 6-1. That game also should be quite a scrap. Wake Forest is off to its best start in four years, and Duke to its best in five years. The first-round winners will play for the championship Saturday night, and the losers will play a consolation game.

The games are considered extras, and will not count in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings. The teams will meet in home-and-home series later in the season.

When the tournament was started four years ago, a round-robin system of openers was established. Next year, for example, Duke will play N.C. State in the first game.

The N.C. State Wolfpack won the inaugural, upsetting North Carolina 82-70 in the first round and beating Wake Forest 73-70.

North Carolina won two years ago, defeating the State Wolfpack 99-68 in the final.

The Wolfpack won last year, whipping the North Carolina Tar Heels 68-61 for the title.

All 15,000 seats for this year's tournament have been sold for a month.

The Wolfpack beat the Tar Heels three times last year by a total of only 14 points. N.C. State's three returning starters, Tommy Burleson, David Thompson and Monte Towe, were chosen on the Sugar Bowl All-Tournament team last week. They took turns at causing North Carolina anguish last year.

One State newcomer, guard Mo Rivers, is finding his way after a ragged start. But the other, junior Tim Stoddard, has had problems at a forward spot and is under pressure from sophomore Phil Spence.

The North Carolina leader has been Olympian Bobby Jones, averaging 15.9 points and 11.7 rebounds. But all the Tar Heel starters are averaging in double figures, with Mitch Kupchak at 14.4 and Darrell Elston at 14.0.

North Carolina has played in the Greensboro Coliseum twice this season, knocking Houston and Kentucky from lofty perches with one-sided victories.

The tournament games are the only ones tonight for ACC teams. On Saturday, in addition to the tournament games, Clemson will be at second-ranked Maryland in an afternoon television game, and Virginia will be at Stetson in a night game. ACC teams were idle Thursday night.

Furman Wins; Mounties Fall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

East Carolina's Pirates, one of three Southern Conference basketball teams who didn't take part in a holiday tournament last week, end their vacation tonight in the Presidential Classic at Ft. Myer, Va.

The Pirates, who won three of seven starts over-all before the Christmas break, take on American University in one of the two semifinal encounters. The other matches Lehigh and George Washington.

It's the only action on tap tonight for league teams, and just two played Thursday night. The scheduled William and Mary-Davidson conference scrap was postponed until Jan. 21 because of a flu outbreak at William and Mary.

Furman's Paladins ran their record to 6-2 with a 92-64 romp over Charleston Baptist, but Appalachian State was beaten by East Tennessee 89-74 for the Mountaineers' sixth loss in seven starts.

Clyde Mayes scored 20 points and Fessor Leonard 18 as Furman shot 58.6 per cent from the floor and dominated its game all the way. The Paladins ran up a 47-30 lead at intermission and were in front by as many as 30 points in the second half.

Mayes also hauled down nine rebounds as Furman had a 34-24 edge off the boards. John Johnson had 14 points and seven rebounds for losing Charleston Baptist.

East Tennessee built an 18-point lead in the first half against Appalachian and held off a Mountaineer press in the last 20 minutes to run its record to 4-5.

The Worry Clinic End A Slavery To Bad Habits

Della's husband was platonic, due to his cigarettes and her obesity. So she agreed to diet if he'd quit tobacco. By Easter, fat stodge Della easily slipped into a size No. 12 dress. Her bouboir cheesecake rating also triples, banishing his impotence!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., MD.
CASE Z-517: Della R., aged 37, agreed to a contest with her husband.
"Dr. Crane," she began, "Tom is a chain smoker and I am 30 pounds too heavy."

"So we have decided to quit being such stupid slaves to those bad habits."
"Tom, however, says I have an advantage, since he claims it is easier to diet than to quit cigarettes."
"Is that true?"
"And how can I get back into a size 12 dress before Easter?"
Rebel against your obesity or drugs or tobacco, not just 50 percent or 75 percent, but 100 percent.

Alas, most people don't whip up 100 percent resolution!
Dieters like Della need to keep these medical facts in mind:
(1) Obesity kill sexual ardor and produces platonic marriages, as is also true of drugs, alcohol and tobacco.
(2) Your body has plenty of stored sugar, starch and fat but it does NOT store extra protein!

Thus, be sure to include about 400 calories of protein foods in your daily dieting menu.
Without fresh protein intake tomorrow, your muscles will begin to shrink, for protein is needed to replace worn out muscle cells.
Remember, too, that your heart is all muscle, so it also grows weaker the very first day you omit protein food items!
(3) Elderly folks thus weaken themselves by failure to chew meat or dine on cottage cheese and other protein items.
If they have poorly fitting false teeth, this drives them into a sugary menu of dunking doughnuts in coffee.
And there is little protein in such foodstuff!
(4) A further advantage of protein in dieting, is the fact that protein loses 15 percent of its calories in the process of being digested.
No other food does so!
Thus, 100 calories of protein in your mouth send only 85 calories into your blood.
But 100 calories of sugars or starches or fat send 100 calories into your blood (and thus add upholstery around you equator).
(5) Dieters tend to eat more if others are eating beside them, so try to dine alone.
(6) The stomach of a dieter tends to adjust in advance to the size of the piles of food on the table.
Ladle out your limited food ration in the kitchen and keep all other foods off the table!
(7) You can feel fairly full on a cup of cottage cheese (200 calories), yet fortify your heart's need for protein meanwhile.
And you can curb your hunger by reducing your fluid intake, especially at mealtime.
So send for my safe, drugless dieting plan, outlined fully in my

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JANUARY 5, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Put that restless energy to work by doing the various tasks that will help you achieve your aims. First decide what your finest objectives are.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get in touch early with those who can help you improve your position in life. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Concentrate on material matters. An adviser will give you the shortcuts you need for greater success. Contact this person early.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make appointments with others for activities you enjoy. Show pals how devoted you are. Avoid the expenditure of too much money, though.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan future wisely, but don't neglect present duties. You have to make the romantic moves if you are so inclined in p.m. Use subtle methods.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) See as many people as you can and get data, ideas, and affection desired. Listen to the advice of an excellent friend. State positions clearly.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact bigwigs and get backing you need for projects. You are able to handle that civic chore speedily. Avoid one who bickers.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be out with newcomers looking into new outlets and interests that are different which can be the means of your advancement.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Conscientiously finish what you start for success. Make sure you try to please the one of whom you are most fond. Don't stay up too late.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look to associate for the ideas that make your ventures more successful. Avoid a gossip who might harm your reputation. Don't trust others too much in business.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Keep promises conscientiously. Get at the work you most like to do. Evening is best for amusement you want to have.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Start early on today's program since you can have much success either in business or recreational activities. Happiness is yours for the making.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to family to improve conditions at home and coordinate your efforts. Find the right gadgets that make abode more functional, efficient running.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be very inventive and imaginative and should be given a chance early to express self; the parents can profit by his or her ideas. Give as fine an education as possible, since the ability to combine mental with manual dexterity is well balanced. There can even be fame in this chart and the marriage here will be most successful. Give good spiritual training early.
"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

trump opening bid by any chance included a four-card spade suit, for in that event a contract of four spades might have been preferable. However, when South showed hearts in response to the Stayman inquiry, North closed the auction with a bid of three no trump.
West led his fourth-best spade, dummy played low and East produced the king. Root followed with the jack, allowing East to win the trick! The spade return was won by the ace, and the nine of clubs was run to East's king.
East had no spade to return, so he shifted to a heart. Dummy's king won, and the ace of clubs was driven out. West could take the queen of spades, but dummy's ten remained to stop the suit. The defenders took only two spades and two clubs.
See what would have happened had Root won the first trick with the ace of spades. When East takes the first club lead, he has a spade to return. West captures the jack with the queen and continues with the nine of spades to drive out dummy's ten. Sooner or later, West will regain the lead with the ace of clubs, and will have two good spades to cash. In all, the defenders will come to three spade tricks and two high clubs, thus inflicting a one-trick defeat on declarer.

Plans New Bills On Land Management

RALEIGH (AP)—New coastal and mountain area management bills will be introduced when the General Assembly reconvenes this month and two old measures introduced in 1973 will be scrapped, a joint Senate House environmental committee decided Thursday.

The decision was described as a housecleaning step, however, and was not intended to change the original aim of the two controversial measures: to prevent irresponsible resort development in North Carolina's coastal and mountain regions.

Sen William Staton, D-Lee, co-chairman of the joint committee said the old bills had become too cluttered with major and minor changes and new measures embodying all the changes were needed to simplify the legislative process.

Staton said at least one public hearing on the new bills probably would be held. The old measures were considered in 10 public hearings.

"They've had more hearing than any piece of legislation in the state's history. I'm confident of that," said Rep. Willis Whitchard, D-Durham, the committee's other co-chairman.

The essence of the original measures remains intact although changes are planned to give local governments more power in planning for their growth.

In brief, the bills give state planners the authority to set up guidelines for local governments to follow in planning their future land use patterns. Each mountain and coastal county and city would be asked to adopt a plan within one year. If they refuse, state or regional governments will devise the plan for them.

With advice from a 43-member advisory council, an 11-member commission appointed by the governor would decide which areas are of critical environmental concern and would be harmed by development.

In a new wrinkle added Thursday, the state would issue permits for development in those fragile areas only if the development were a major one. Local governments would issue permits for minor developments.
