'Cautious' Budget Of $2.99 Billion Is Proposed By Gov. Holshouser For N.C.

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A "cautious" budget which proposes spending $2.99 billion for operation of state government next fiscal year was presented to the General Assembly Thursday by Gov. Jim Holshouser and the Advisory Budget Commission.

The budget recognizes that the energy shortage may result in a slowdown in the rapid economic growth which the state has experienced during recent years. The budget commission did this by estimating the state's general fund and highway fund revenues will gain next fiscal year at less than half the rate of increase experienced in recent years.

As expected, the proposed budget does not recommend any tax changes. This is expected to precipitate one of the major issues of the 1974 session because the Democratic-dominated House Finance Committee has proposed a tax reduction package totaling $51 million a year.

The budget commission estimated that the state will have a credit balance of $144 million June 30 to start the new fiscal year. It figured only $3.6 million will be available to the General Assembly for spending increases over what it recommended.

The budget calls for a 5 per cent pay boost for school teachers and state employees at a cost of $68.9 million. It would add a total of 4,478 new jobs, including 2,548 in the public schools.

Another $86.6 million would go for capital improvements. This would include $21 million to the Department of Social Rehabilitation and Control of which $15 million would be set aside for the construction of two new medium custody prisons when the department submits a long-range prison development plan.

A total of $7.5 million would be set aside along with $7.5 million reserved last year for a degree-granting school of medicine within the state university system. If the legislature wishes this could go to expand the medical school at East Carolina University.

Another $25 million would be used to expand the area health education center program as requested by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

The $2.99 billion budget represents a $117 million increase over the present year. It calls for General Fund spending to totaling $1.718 billion which is only $6 million above this fiscal year. Spending from the highway fund would be up $15 million to $401 million.

The budget calls for a $368.7 million highway construction and maintenance program of which $122.7 million would be federal funds.

Other highlights of the budget included:

Doubling the public kindergarten program by adding 696 additional classes and 16,000 additional pupils at a cost of $12.7 million. —A 21 per cent expansion of programs for exceptional children at a cost of $6.1 million.

—Providing school bus transportation for an additional 13,460 pupils and reducing the number of bus standees by 8,250, $1.06 million.

—Providing additional grants to the schools for school psychologists, guidance counselors and health aides, $5.7 million.

—Meeting enrollment increases of 1,100 students and making enrollment increases in the university system, $10.1 million.

—Expanding operations of area health centers, $4.8 million.

—Increasing Medicaid payments to meet rising costs and more recipients, $48.8 million.

—Adding 637 staff members at state mental health facilities to improve patient care, $5.5 million.

—Adding 60 troopers to the state highway patrol, $1.3 million.

Prosecutors Seek More Testimony

FBI Enters Investigation Of Tape-Erasure Case

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation has entered the investigation into who could have pushed the buttons that erased a portion of a taped presidential conversation.

Confirmation that the FBI had entered the probe came from spokesman Robert Frank, who said the agency had been asked to investigate by special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski. Meanwhile, a court inquiry into the tape erasure continued. Prosecutors, armed with a technical report on how the 18.5-minute gap occurred, looked to additional testimony for answers.

Two more Secret Service officials involved in keeping track of the White House tapes and recording equipment were scheduled to testify today in federal court.

The Washington bureau of Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. said that the FBI probe had the approval of FBI chief Clarence Kelley. Westinghouse said the investigation would involve President Nixon and his closest personal aides.

In the court inquiry, Stephen B. Bull, special assistant to President Nixon, testified Wednesday that he knew of only five people who ever had possession of the tape of a June 20, 1972, conversation between Nixon and H. R. Haldeman.

He said they were himself, the President, presidential secretary Rose Mary Woods, White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt and Gen. John Bennett, a presidential aide. At the close of Wednesday's hearing U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica said he hoped all testimony would be completed Friday when the technical experts return to be cross-examined by White House lawyers.

Then, it will be up to the judge to decide what happens next and Sirica said, for the first time in open court, that he expects his decision to include whether or not the mystery of the obliterated tape should be referred to a grand jury.

On Tuesday, technical experts reported that the 18.5-minute segment of the tape had been erased during a series of between five and nine actions on a Uher 5000 tape recorder. Each time that the machine was restarted and stopped again someone had to push a button, the report said.

Testimony by the experts, and a Secret Service official Wednesday, and previous testimony by Miss Woods pointed to Oct. 1 as the date on which a portion of the erasure occurred. Miss Woods has testified that on Oct. 1 she accidentally pushed the wrong button while transcribing the June 20 tape. She also said that in going back to listen to the tape after the accident she heard a couple of minutes of buzzing and no conversation. Those few minutes are included within the 18.5 minutes that the experts say were erased. They also said their tests indicated the erasure was done on the same machine used by Miss Woods.

Wednesday's testimony also disclosed that Miss Woods' Uher machine was purchased new Oct. 1 and brought by the Secret Service to Bull who took it to Miss Woods about 1:30 p.m.

House Taking Up Tax Reduction

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The North Carolina General Assembly heads into its second day today with a major fiscal confrontation scheduled on the floor of the House.

House Democrats decided in the opening session Wednesday to take immediate action on a $50.9 million tax reduction package that was approved before the session started by the Finance Committee.

It will be up for a vote immediately after Gov. Jim Holshouser finishes delivering his 1974 legislative message. The governor is expected to oppose any tax reduction in that speech.

Democratic leaders, including Speaker James B. Ramsey, D-Person, say they have the votes to pass the tax reduction package, despite growing concern over the state revenue picture.

Holshouser is expected to expound on that concern in his speech, saying that the energy crisis makes it difficult to project state revenues for the 1975 fiscal year and thus risky to pass a tax cut.

Holshouser, along with Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, has indicated his opposition to a tax cut and a preference to use available funds to finance state services.

Ramsey said Wednesday, however, that the energy crisis was a hoax perpetrated by the Nixon administration and the oil industry to force prices higher.

He said state revenues would continue to grow at the current rate, and declared that some of the money should be returned to the citizens.

The tax cut package would provide an income tax credit to manufacturers and retailers for the inventory taxes they pay to local governments; it would give a $20 per year reduction to all state income taxpayers; and it would increase the personal exemption for senior citizens.

In the 1973 session, the Senate passed a bill providing a credit for manufacturers' inventory taxes but did not act on any other facets of the House package. Senate action on the entire package would be required if the House passes it.

Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, indicated that the package may face difficulties in the Senate. Kirby, a supporter of tax cuts last year, said Wednesday that, for 1974, he wanted to wait and see how the revenue picture developed before committing himself. He predicted lengthy Senate committee consideration of any bill passed by the House.

Two major bills were introduced in Wednesday's brief sessions in both houses of the legislature.

One, from Rep. Robert Jones, D-Rutherford, would restrict the ways in which the executive branch can use state helicopters.

Jones' bill would limit helicopter use to official business by the governor, emergency medical and search and rescue missions; and law enforcement.

He said it would eliminate trips by executive cabinet members to political rallies and to state installations.

Sen. Arthur Williamson, D-Columbus, offered a bill that would make a "prayer for judgement continued" (PJC) tantamount to a conviction in traffic courts.

A driver who persuades a judge to award him a PJC in effect escapes penalty for a traffic offense, since judgment is postponed indefinitely.

Williamson said the system is now being abused. If his bill passed, drivers who got PJC's would suffer the same consequences to their driving record as drivers who were convicted.

Williamson said he had tried and failed to persuade Senate members who are attorneys to cosponsor the bill. He said attorneys would probably oppose it since they would find it more difficult to defend their clients without the possibility of obtaining PJC's.

Reducing Use Of Electricity

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation is using less electricity this year than last, industry figures indicate. But utility companies say they don't know yet whether the reduction is due to warmer weather, Daylight Saving Time or conservation efforts by consumers.

The Edison Electric Institute, which collects national power statistics, reports that power output in the 48 continental states was under 36.6 billion kilowatt hours for the week ending Jan. 12, the first full week of Daylight Saving Time. That's 4.1 less than in the same week last year.

The institute also noted that under normal growth conditions, the industry's output would have been 7 per cent higher this year instead of 4.1 per cent lower.

Most power companies surveyed by The Associated Press said it was still too soon to measure the effects of Daylight Saving Time on power consumption.

One industry study said the average residential user would save 29 kilowatt hours of electricity a year under Daylight Saving Time. That would be 0.4 per cent of his normal usage.

Most utilities reported increases in early morning usage and some decreases in late afternoon demands.

Bad Day

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Ever have one of those days that just didn't get off to a good start? Meet Rina Kratofil.

She outlined this series of events to the Cascade Fire Department Wednesday:

Her waterbed started leaking at 4 a.m. Then the floods that have soaked Northern California wiped out her home's electricity.

She decided to solve that problem by placing candles about the house. After she had done that, she started making breakfast, but dropped the egg container and broke every egg she had in the house.

Meanwhile, her dog knocked over one of the candles. The candle landed on the couch, setting it afire. That ignited a corner of the room.

The fire department arrived and managed to confine the damage to a single room.

"Look, it's only eight o'clock in the morning," Cascade Fire Department Chief Hans Heinrich told the woman. "I'd advise you not to touch anything for the rest of the day."

White House Says It Is Outspent By Investigative Body

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has spent about $300,000 on President Nixon's Watergate defense but argues it is outspent and outnumbered by a growing investigative bureaucracy.

Apparently seeking to mute any criticism of government outlays to defend Nixon, a White House official made material available to support the argument that the President's lawyers are the underdogs.

The official reported that expenses of the White House legal group totalled $290,418 between last July 1 and Jan. 9. He said spending for the full 1974 fiscal year, ending June 30, probably would total about $600,000, perhaps more.

By contrast, he said the special prosecutor alone has a $2.8-million budget, the Senate Watergate committee $1.5 million and the House Judiciary Committee $1 million.

The official said Nixon's defense team consists of 14 full-time attorneys, four part-time lawyer-consultants, and seven secretaries.

He said the Watergate prosecutor and the two congressional committees employ 60 attorneys, with 25 more authorized, plus 113 investigators, accountants, researchers, secretaries and other support personnel.

Boston attorney James D. St. Clair heads the Nixon team at a salary of $42,500 a year, the same as White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt and presidential assistant Leonard Garment, who are trying to cut loose from Watergate chores but were listed by the White House source as members of the defense staff.

Cecil Emerson, a staff assistant to Nixon who is paid $32,031 a year, was cited as the only other defense attorney on the White House payroll. Jaworski's salary is $38,000 a year. Among his assistants, Richard Ben-Veniste is listed as earning $29,205 a year and Jill Vollner, $25,055.

First Federal Savings And Loan Reports Record Dividends In '73

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Pitt County, at its 37th annual meeting of members Wednesday night, reported record dividends in the amount of $2,405,965 were paid during 1973.

Judge Dink James, chairman of the First Federal board, served as chairman for the annual session and C. B. Tugwell, president, presented an annual report to the members. Tugwell reported that last year saw another year of progress for the Savings and Loan business.

In terms of growth, he pointed out, "it was the third best year in the history of the industry, despite a new wave of tight money beginning in mid 1973 which produced a rapid rise in interest rates, a decline in savings deposits, and a shortage of funds for mortgages."

Tugwell told members that the "combinations of higher savings rates and some easing in the monetary policy in the closing months of the year has resulted in much improvement in savings flows."

Total savings deposited in the five Pitt County offices, he noted, reached $38,500,000, an increase of some $4.7 million over the previous year.

The general reserves and surplus of the Association now amounts to $2,388,042, the president reported, an increase of $191,700 from the previous year. First Federal made over $8.2 million in mortgage loans in Pitt County during the year, it was pointed out. Of this amount, $7.7 million were mortgages on single family residences.

Mortgage loans outstanding at year end were over $39 million. Tugwell said, with total assets for the year totaling $43,252,371.18.

Tugwell predicted that savings flows should "increase sufficiently during 1974 to meet the increased loan demands created by new industries locating in the community."

Officers elected to serve during the coming year were: Dink James, chairman of the board and senior advisor; C. B. Tugwell, president; Roscoe L. King, vice president; Thomas S. Ryon, senior vice president; Robert S. Messner, secretary-treasurer; William E. Stocks, assistant vice president and branch manager;

Durwood T. Little, assistant vice president and branch manager; Lester Z. Brown, assistant vice president and branch manager; Inda W. Wingate, assistant vice president; Kenneth G. Hite, general counsel; John Lewis St., general counsel; and Sue Creech, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected for 1974 include: Dink James, Clarence Tugwell, Thomas Ryon, Roscoe L. King, Alton R. Barrett, George Coffman, C. Frank Dall, Kenneth G. Hite, Walter B. Jones, John B. Lewis St., Dr. M. B. Massey, and John F. Minges.

Accord On Separating Middle East Armies 90 Per Cent Complete

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — A high-ranking United States official said an agreement on separating the Egyptian and Israeli armies is about 90 per cent complete, and the Israeli Cabinet scheduled a meeting on the issue today.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban, who earlier cautioned that there were "some substantial points to be clarified," said there would be an announcement afterward. He did not indicate what the announcement would say.

Eban said over the Israeli state radio that the negotiations were proceeding at an intensive pace toward a military disengagement accord.

He said after talking with Henry A. Kissinger Wednesday night that the American mediator had made "certain progress" on his latest meeting with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

The U.S. official who said agreement was 90 per cent complete said none of the obstacles remaining was a "gut issue."

Egyptian newspapers wrote of a disengagement agreement today in terms that also indicated one was near.

"The wording and clauses of each provision will be clear and precise in such a way as to avoid ambiguity or misinterpretation by any of the parties," said Al Gomhourih-lwch of the Israeli pullback stages will be implemented according to a timetable and will stipulate minute details on the transport of equipment and thinning out of Israeli troops, the number of these forces and the kinds of weapons."

However, no one gave any indication of how the various points of disagreement previously reported were being resolved.

These include Israel's demand that Egyptian forces on the east bank of the canal be reduced and rocket and anti-aircraft missile launchers on that side of the waterway be removed. Also included is Egypt's insistence that Israel commit itself to the position that its withdrawal of troops from the canal is the first step in a withdrawal from other occupied Arab territory.

Meanwhile, Premier Golda Meir's Israeli government was under fire at home. Its chief political opposition, the right-wing Likud bloc that made sizeable gains in the general election New Year's Eve, charged that the government was negotiating a "one-sided retreat of our forces, not disengagement."

Editorials in Israeli newspapers were also largely critical.

U.S. officials mentioned the possibility of private unwritten understandings between the two sides, and many Israelis believed these might include an Egyptian promise to end the formal state of war against Israel that has been in existence since the 1948 Palestine war. But the Israeli government has been under pressure from critics not to accept verbal promises from the Egyptians, even if guaranteed by the Americans.

Channel Storm Claiming Lives

DOVER, England (AP) — At least 14 persons were drowned, 23 seamen were missing and another 20-man crew were trapped aboard their burning ship today as 100-mile-an-hour winds piled up 50-foot waves in the English Channel.

The 2,447-ton freighter Marta was afire 10 miles off Ostend, Belgium. The coast guard said the huge waves were preventing the 20 crewmen from launching life rafts. Several ships were trying to help.

Helicopters and ships were searching for the 20 crewmen of another Cypriot freighter, the 2,088-ton Prosperity, who took to the lifeboats after the ship's engines broke down 20 miles southwest of Guernsey.

The 781-ton Danish coaster sank off Plymouth in the roughest seas recorded in the Channel in 20 years. Five persons were drowned including the wife of one of the ship's officers, and three were missing; helicopters rescued seven, and a Russian trawler picked up four more.

A 13-year-old English schoolboy was swept away by a wave that crashed over the sea wall at Dawlis, a Devon fishing port. A boy with him survived when the wave swept him back ashore.

Four fishermen were drowned when a wave capsized their boat in Brest harbor. A 16-year-old girl was swept off a ferry near Brest. Two fishermen were washed overboard off Brittany, and a sailor was swept off a Swedish freighter off Cape Frehel.

Four other ships were aground or in trouble.

Abby Advises Wives Take Special Note

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Some stupid wife signed "Day Ruined" didn't want her husband home for lunch because it upset her routine.

I made the same mistake. When my husband started coming home for lunch I asked him to please eat downtown because it upset my routine. He ate his lunches downtown. Pretty soon he started eating his breakfasts downtown, too. And then he started staying downtown for dinner.

He finally asked me for a divorce so he could marry the pretty little waitress who had been serving him his meals!

Fortunately before the divorce went thru I was able to win him back, but I never realized how close I came to having a RUINED life instead of a RUINED DAY.

WISER NOW

DEAR WISER: Wives, take note!

DEAR ABBY: What a dum dum—that wife who asked her husband to eat his lunches downtown because when he came home it "ruined" her day!

Tell him he can come to my house for lunch. It would make my day!

A WIDOW

DEAR ABBY: I am a "hermaphrodite." I have breasts like a woman, and the mind and emotions of a woman, yet the lower part of my anatomy is like a man.

I am 24, and my life has been pure hell. I feel like a freak, and have very few friends. I have wanted a sex change operation for a long time, but my parents are against it. They say I would be tampering with God's and nature's plan.

I have been away from home and financially independent for two years. I don't think I am wrong for wanting to be the sex I think I was meant to be, but I can't get anyone to agree with me.

I have talked to several ministers, and none of them has ever heard of this condition. They think I am "queer." I found one doctor who said he had heard and read about this freakish sexual development but he wasn't able to offer any help.

Abby, you are my last hope. Can you help me!

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Yes. Write to the Erickson Foundation, 4047 Hundred Oaks Avenue, Baton Rouge, La. 70808. And tell them Abby told you to write. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: In response to your statement that humans are the only animals that blush: You are wrong. Laboratory rats have been trained to blush. Furthermore, I have seen them blush in only one ear! R. E. I.: HOUSTON

DEAR R. E. I.: Something they heard, I presume!

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your opinion of wife-swapping. Thank you for saying: "To me, the sexual expression of love is a beautiful, private thing between two people, and using sex to achieve the ultimate in a thrill which could conceivably include the whole neighborhood is for animals."

Now, may I relate my own experience in that regard? After my husband and I had been happily married for 10 years, he suggested wife-swapping. The idea was disgusting to me, but he kept insisting it would improve our relationship, and even tho I thought our relationship was fine, because I loved him and wanted to please him, I agreed to try it. It was the most foolish decision I ever made.

The result: Two divorces, and five beautiful children who now miss their daddies.

Contrary to what the swingers say, there can be no sex without some emotional involvement. Because I loved my husband, I went too far to please him, and lost my self respect.

TOO LATE

DEAR TOO LATE: My mail concerning wife-swapping is running 20 to 1 against it.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

Once wrote that being a teenager is like being on a ferris wheel for three days running. They'd like to get off and be sick but everyone keeps telling them what a neat time they're having.

If you are a parent, you know that in their quest to be Xeroxed, they have anxieties that haven't been invented yet. They worry about grades, clothes, their future, dating, popularity, sex, and money. And those are only the big seven. I thought I had heard all of their apprehensions until one morning last week. One of mine was more morose than usual. He only had three eggs, five pieces of toast, three glasses of milk, and a plate of cold lasagna for breakfast.

"What's the matter? You're not eating," I noted.

"Nothing."

"Nothing! You are obviously depressed about something. But what? You're in good health, passing hall duty, you get phone calls and your face is clearing up. You've got it all."

"Oh, sure," he said, "I've got it all and I've never been teeepeed."

"You've never been what?"

"Teeepeed. You know when they come around at night and spread rolls of toilet paper all over the shrubs and roof and the driveway light and the lawn."

"What about the three weeks of newspapers caught in the hedge?"

"I knew you wouldn't understand," he grumbled.

"That's when I began to notice other houses on the street. One morning, Fred and Elaine Rah were hauling soggy streamers of wet tissue off their bushes and laughingly yelled, "It's Tom. He's the popular quarterback, you know."

In the next block I saw Helen Brainless and a group of her girl friends taking in a huge poster swathed in floral tissue that read, "WAY TO GO HELEN." (She had just been elected Miss Congenial E-Flat Tuba in the band.)

Throughout the weeks I must have noticed a dozen houses that had been marked for teeepee, but my son was never the teeepee-ee.

"I could cry," I told my husband. "The yearbook will read, 'Not Teeepeed 1,2,3,4. It'll be on his application when he applies for a job. It could keep him out of the Army.'"

Then I knew what I must do. I grabbed a roll of tissue. After all, what are mothers for?

Tax-Reduction Bill Considered Analysts Opine Soviet SA7 Rocket Overrated

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A tax relief measure which was speeded to floor consideration today faces a slowdown if and when it reaches the Senate.

Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which will handle the measure in the Senate, told the Associated Press that "in view of the immensity of the tax cut package, it seems to me this bill will have to be sent to a subcommittee and carefully considered." "I don't believe anyone can tell you at this moment what the revenue picture will be for the next few months," Kirby added.

The tax relief package which the House Finance Committee approved several weeks ago would (1) provide a reduction in the personal income tax rate from 3 per cent to 2 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income, (2) allow a $3,000 income tax exemption to persons 65 years of age or older with incomes of not more than $7,000, and (3) allow those paying a local government inventory tax a credit against their state income tax. This credit would start at 20 per cent the first year and rise to 100 per cent after five years.

Meanwhile, Frank Justice, special counsel to the chairmen of the Senate and House appropriations and finance committees, said in a memorandum that the $50.9 million tax reduction package would cost the state the first year would rise to $130.8 million after five years.

Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, cited Justice's memorandum in saying he is opposed to the tax relief measure.

"We've got so many unmet needs, that's our problem," Scott said. He added that if the tax reduction package was passed, "We'd have to come back in a year or two and put them back in."

Rep. Carl Stewart, D-Gaston, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he was concerned at the size of the tax relief package. He said he felt it is conceivable "some tax relief can be made available to the people."

"However, at this time I don't believe the tax base can be eroded by $51 million without resulting in a cutback in many of the programs which are being recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission."

"I do believe that even if the House acts swiftly on the tax relief measure, the mood of the Senate will be more cautious and therefore the ultimate decision on tax relief will come later in the session..."

"I think there is a fairly strong argument for repeal of the manufacturer's inventory tax and for the old age exemption," Stewart said. "The balance of the tax package seems to me to leave a lot to be desired."

Rep. Liston Ramsey, D-Madison, who made the motion to place the tax package as a special order of business today, said he feels "it's obvious we will have a large surplus this year and it should be passed on as tax relief to our citizens."

Analysts Opine Soviet SA7 Rocket Overrated

By FRED HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Technical analysis indicates that a Soviet-made anti-aircraft missile fired by the Arabs in the recent Mideast war was overrated, Pentagon sources report.

The SA7 was found to be too slow to knock down U.S. jets flown at high speed by Israeli pilots and its warhead was not powerful enough to destroy more than a few of the jets it did hit, sources said. According to reports being studied here, only two of 28 U.S. built Israeli Skyhawks struck by SA7 missiles crashed while the other 26 landed safely, U.S. military sources said. Neither of the downed planes was traveling faster than about 450 miles per hour when struck.

The Israeli Air Force lost heavily in the first four days of the October war and considerable credit for those killed was given to Soviet-provided anti-aircraft missiles.

One of those missiles was the SA7, a heat-seeking weapon that was mounted in groupings of four to eight on tracked vehicles. The SA7 was encountered first in South Vietnam where it was effective against helicopters when shoulder-fired by North Vietnamese infantry men.

The Israelis captured some SA7s and other types of Soviet-supplied anti-aircraft missiles. Israeli and U.S. technicians have been studying their performance ever since the October war.

Among the weapons under study is the new SA6, a high speed anti-aircraft missile designed to counter low-level attack planes. The SA6 was encountered for the first time in the recent Mideast war. This missile too was credited at first with many Israeli kills but it was determined later that the SA6 caused most damage by forcing Israeli pilots into evasive maneuvers that brought their planes into the muzzles of anti-aircraft guns.

Meanwhile, other studies of Israeli tanks knocked out in the October battles indicate that Russian anti-tank ammunition is highly destructive, perhaps more so than American experts had believed it to be.

Policemen Die In Family Fight

By RICH OPPEL
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Two young policemen have been shot to death and two others wounded after answering "the most difficult type of call," a family fight involving a gun.

Killed Wednesday were Leonard Todd, 32, an 11-year police veteran just promoted to sergeant, and Patrolman Edward Pakula, 27, an ex-Marine with four years on the force. Each was married and the father of one child.

A 15-year-old boy also was grazed by a bullet in a hail of gunfire which cut down the four officers, police said. The youth, whom police declined to identify, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Authorities also would not identify the man who fired from the house. They said he was not hurt.

Police Commissioner Philip Tannian said officers were dispatched to a quiet, middle-income neighborhood in North-east Detroit after a woman made two calls to police.

They said that in the first call she asked for help in a family quarrel and in the second reported that "someone was shooting up the house."

He said the responding officers stepped into a barrage of gunfire when they arrived at the home.

Tannian said Pakula was shot in the eye as he took cover between two houses halfway down the block and that Todd was felled with a wound in the chest while crouching between houses across the street.

Tannian said seconds before Pakula and Todd were killed bullets hit two other officers who were crouching near a squad car. Officer Gerald Kachki, 32, was shot in the arm and Sgt. Edward Golden, 28, in the head and left hand. Both were reported in serious condition.

Police said that 16 minutes after officers received the first call from the gunman's wife the rifleman threw a carbine out the window and surrendered, his hands high in the air.

He was detained without charges pending completion of an investigation.

The police commissioner told newsmen later it was "extremely unfortunate that some very good police officers had to die. A domestic call, where there's a gun involved, is the most difficult type of call to answer."

"We can't roll up to every residence with 20 or 30 policemen and start throwing tear gas in the window."

Then Tannian added, "I find it very difficult to justify the continued proliferation (of weapons) in view of the cost. The cost is in human lives."

Urges Rural Route Nos.

Postmaster H. Lloyd Mills today urged all rural route postal customers served by the Greenville Post Office to use box numbers as part of their return addresses to assure faster, more efficient mail deliveries from correspondents.

"Although box numbers are an integral part of most rural route addresses, it has recently become the practice of many postal customers to omit this element," Mills said.

"This practice sometimes causes mail to be returned to the sender because of an insufficient address. It has also been cited by publishers and other large mailers as one of the major causes of duplicate mailings to rural customers."

"These duplicate mailings hurt everyone," Postmaster Mills said. "They cost the big mailers in dollars and cents, and because they flood the mail stream, everyone's mail is slowed."

Mills said the box number is as important to rural route addresses as the house number is to city addresses.

Transco Drops Hertford Plans

TUNIS, N.C. (AP) — Transco Energy Co., which had considered building a $300 million natural gas manufacturing plant in Hertford County, has decided not to renew or exercise its options on nearly 1,500 acres of land in the county.

A Transco spokesman in Houston, Tex., said Wednesday the decision to abandon its options was based on the inability of the firm to obtain long-term contracts for Mideast crude oil and the sharp increase in price of crude oil.

Panel Did What Was Proper

A special three-judge panel has done what it should have done in recommending the disbarment of former Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Agnew pled no contest to an income tax charge and subsequently resigned as the nation's vice president.

The Maryland panel said it found no extenuating circumstances to allow a lesser sanction than disbarment. "We shall therefore recommend his disbarment," the panel stated.

The Maryland Court of Appeals will make the final decision on the disbarment recommendation.

"In our opinion, the proper administration of justice, the proper respect of the court for itself and a proper regard for the integrity of the profession compel us to conclude that the respondent is unfit to continue as a member of the bar of this state," the recommendation stated.

The panel is not in any sense kicking a man when he is down in this case. Agnew was able to avoid trial and possible jail by trading away his resignation as vice president of the United States.

The Maryland panel has acted properly in making its recommendation. It was necessary if respect for the law and the legal profession is to be maintained.

Allocation Should Be Important To Many

A state Board of Education allocation of $48,691 to the Greenville City School system for an optional school "drop out" program can be most important to many young people.

The program will be designed for those between 16 and 18. The optional school can be operated at any time of the day so that a student can work and continue his education.

This will provide a way for many people to obtain their diplomas and, thus, it should be of benefit to them and the community as a whole.

Horsetrading Is In The Wind

By JOHN KILGO

The pending legislative battle over whether to expand the med school at East Carolina University could result in some horse-trading before the current session is over.

Some Mecklenburg legislators have discussed among themselves prospects of a "compromise," but say they haven't talked it over with lawmakers from other parts of the state.

One Mecklenburg legislator is interested in a law school at UNC-Charlotte, in exchange for an expanded med school at East Carolina. The University's Board of Governors does not recommend either course of action.

State Sen. Eddie Knox of Charlotte admits that he's heard talk of a possible "compromise" on the ECU med school situation.

"It's been discussed," Knox says. "That's about all I know."

State Sen. Herman Moore, representing Mecklenburg and Cabarrus counties, confirms that "two or three" Mecklenburg legislators have discussed a possible vote swap on the med school issue.

"It's impossible to talk about any kind of a swap until we get to Raleigh to count votes," Moore says. "Any benefits Mecklenburg might gain would have to come after talks in Raleigh."

Sen. Moore says he wants to state "very clearly" that he is, at this point, opposed to building a new med school.

"Basically, I think I'm opposed to building a med school at ECU," Moore said. "But if the votes are there to build it, regardless of my vote, I would hope that some compromise could be worked out where Mecklenburg County might benefit. If the votes are there and we're to be beaten anyway, that's when I like to talk about compromise."

Sen. Moore says he feels there are enough votes in the General Assembly to approve the funding of an expanded medical school at ECU.

"I understand there is going to be a $250 and $300 million credit balance this session," Sen. Moore said. "Certainly some of that money should come to Charlotte."

When asked what he would like to see funded in Charlotte, Sen. Moore replied:

"Well, I've always been interested in pursuing the idea of a law school at UNC-C. We could use more funding for intern programs at Charlotte hospitals. And Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte could use more state money."

Rep. Larry Cobb, a Republican and the vice-chairman of the Mecklenburg legislative delegation, says he's heard a rumor of vote-swapping on the med school matter.

"This is not the type of thing you trade off for," Cobb said. "It's too serious a step to take. I'm backing the Board of Governors. They don't recommend an expanded med school at ECU, and they don't recommend a law school at UNC-C."

A GRAPHIC LESSON FOR US IN THE FUTURE!

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Allegations Of Bribery

WASHINGTON—Belatedly—he seems to do so many things belatedly—the President now has responded at some length to two of the most serious charges leveled against him. His explanations as to the "milk deal" and the matter of ITT strike me as honest accounts. Mr. Nixon has helped his case before the people.

In both cases the charge, implicitly, was bribery. This is among the specific offenses for which impeachment can be sought. It was alleged that in return for a $427,000 contribution from the milk producers toward his reelection, the President authorized an increase in milk subsidy payments. It was alleged that in return for a $200,000 offer from an ITT subsidiary toward expenses of a Republican convention in San Diego, Mr. Nixon personally intervened to assure a favorable settlement of ITT's antitrust troubles.

The operative words here are "in return for." This is the essence of bribery: the quid for the quo. In my own view, at least, last weeks White House statements effectively demolish the accusations. The higher milk subsidies were authorized largely as a consequence of certain political realities; the ITT settlement resulted chiefly from an assessment of certain legal probabilities. The milk contributions and the ITT offer had nothing to do with the decisions that were made.

This I believe. Admittedly, the White House statements do not tidy up every loose end. In the ITT affair, we have yet to receive a satisfactory explanation for a number of inconsistent statements by former Attorneys General John Mitchell and Richard Kleindienst. In the milk affair, we have yet to be told why the milk producers, in August of 1969, delivered $100,000 in cash to the President's fund-raising attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach. Why in cash? Why Kalmbach? Why in August of 1969, three full years before a re-election campaign? How did it happen that the President "had no knowledge of this contribution"?

These doubts cannot overcome the President's own straight-forward account of the events in March and April of 1971. The milk producers, to speak to this matter only, had two things going for them in their effort to win a higher support price: They had a reasonably good case on the merits, and of greater significance, they had powerful friends on Capitol Hill.

The latter point was the key point. In any realistic political assessment, it was clear that one way or another, the producers would get the 90 percent support price they wanted. They had such potent allies in the House as Speaker Carl Albert and Agriculture Chairman W. R. Poage. In the Senate, their 90 percent bill bore such names as Humphrey, Muskie, McGovern, Hughes, Bayh, Hartke and Harris—an impressive array, all told, of 28 Democrats and 1 Republican. If the President didn't act, the Democrats would. So he acted. Any prudent politician, under the same circumstances, would have done the same thing.

The two white papers released by the White House come on top of earlier statements dealing with the President's taxes, his

Japan Largely Unloved

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP)—Japan may be a model international citizen in some ways, but hostile demonstrations during Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's current tour of Southeast Asia show she is largely unloved in that area.

Tanaka's visit to the Philippines, Thailand, Singapore, Malaysia and Indonesia was billed as a goodwill tour. He said it was aimed at erasing the area's image of Japanese as "economic animals." But students in Thailand, Indonesia and Malaysia showed that it will take more than a visit by one Japanese leader to change the image.

For years, the Southeast Asian nations Japan overran in World War II have not feared a re-emergence of Japanese militarism. Inhibited by an unusual constitution that outlawed war as a weapon of foreign policy, Japanese military men have been conspicuously absent from Asia's recent wars. Pacifism at home, induced by the trauma of defeat, destruction and the atom bomb, remains a powerful deterrent to future Japanese military adventures.

But a new Japanese army, armed with bulging briefcases rather than samurai swords, returned to Southeast Asia in the mid-1950s to spend millions of dollars in war reparations. This was marred by corruption on both sides, and the hostility lingering from wartime refused to die.

Japan's biggest push into the area developed in the 1960's with trade and aid the vehicles. The trade in most cases was lopsidedly in Japan's favor. The aid was "tied," conditional on the money being spent to benefit Japanese industry.

Indonesia, for example, has received $916 million in Japanese economic aid since 1967. Investments totaled $252.1 million by last July. But while Japan's exports to Indonesia hit $1.2 billion, her imports from the Indonesians amounted to only $616.6 million.

Under pressure from Thailand's Revolutionary Student Movement, Japan agreed last

The birthdays of General Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson will be celebrated by members of the Kiwanis Club Friday, it was announced by the program committee today.

The speaker of the evening will be Hon. F. C. Harding and the program will be in the charge of Ed Batchelor, chairman of the program committee for the year.

The celebration of the birthdays of the two great generals of the Civil War is an annual affair with the clubmen and the program this year is expected to be one of the best in years.

The price situation continued to bound upward on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday and an average of $14.81, the highest since the resumption of sales after the Christmas Holidays, was established.

This information was contained in the official report issued this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, which showed sales amounting to 128,764 pounds bringing in $19,078.08.

Other Editors Say Conservationism

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Perhaps the energy crisis, at least that being suffered now by our country, is a result of the "American syndrome" of over-consumption—wastefulness, if you will.

To be sure, other nations are feeling the pangs of the fuel drought. But in Europe, for example, the countries there have never been guilty of the prodigious consumption of natural resources as have Americans.

Europeans never had the wealth of oil, for example, that we had. Long ago they learned to husband what resources they had, to use carefully what had to be imported. Now we are beginning to understand their habits of conserving—but perhaps too late.

The energy crisis is a statement that "our affluent, expanding nation is suffering from overconsumption," a former North Carolina secretary of commerce said last week.

Tenney Deane, now a member of the State Utilities Commission, said the energy crisis is far more extensive than that of fuel and that it would affect other sectors of the economy.

"There is no single culprit that has caused the situation," according to Deane. "Much of our fuel needs have depended upon temperature changes." That is true. But one cannot help wonder how much better off the nation as a whole would now be had it dredged up some foresight decades ago when it was literally throwing away precious energy resources, often for frivolous uses.

Example: Americans long ago established the tradition of pleasure riding on weekends, particularly on Sundays. To belittle such a sacred practice would be something akin to blasphemy in the eyes of millions.

But consider how attitudes might change—are changing—given the stringent situation of little gasoline and rationing to boot. Suddenly it would be sacrilegious to ride about in the family car on a Sunday.

Think how many billions of gallons of gasoline would have been saved had Americans had the foresight needed to conserve our precious energy resources.

Americans have always—and this also is traditional—considered their land as an exhaustible storehouse of treasures of all kinds—oil, gas, coal, timber, ad infinitum.

Now they have learned that this is not true, that we have in fact put a tremendous dent in our natural supplies.

Instructed On Abduction Risks

By CHARLES H. GREEN

Associated Press Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP)—

American businessmen in foreign countries are getting instructions on how to protect themselves and their families from terrorists and how to behave if kidnaped.

A five-page leaflet titled "General Security Tips for U.S. Businessmen Abroad" is being distributed by the American Embassy here and through consulates in nine Mexican cities.

Embassy security officers said the State Department drafted the pamphlet for worldwide distribution. They said the embassy receives at least one query a week on business or personal security.

The booklet makes no reference to events in Mexico. But 20 or more prominent individuals in various parts of the country have been seized for ransom in the past year, including U.S. Consul-General Terrance G. Leonhardy in Guadalajara last May. Some have been murdered.

Several Americans have been kidnaped by guerrillas in Argentina, and one, oil executive Victor Samuelson, is still being held.

"Be sensitive to the possibility of surveillance," the booklet advises. "Before leaving your house, check up and down the street for suspicious cars. Try to note whether you are being followed to and from work, or other places you frequent; if so, notify the police promptly."

It warns against traveling alone, suggests looking under cars for suspicious wires or strings before getting in, and suggests arranging with neighbors for private security patrols. It says servants should be told never to allow anyone not fully identified into the house, nor to accept packages unless they are certain of the source.

In case of a kidnaping, the booklet says, "do not attempt to fight back or to struggle physically. No matter how reasonable your captors may appear on the surface, they cannot be trusted to behave normally and their actions may be unpredictable."

And in captivity, "be alert to situations that you can exploit to your" advantage, but do not try to escape unless the outlook is really favorable.

The pamphlet in effect also warns Americans abroad not to expect the U. S. government to ransom them. It says the government "cannot make the decision whether or not to accede to the demands of the terrorists. This is a decision that can only be made by the family or company of the victim."

In a certain country town lives a dentist, known among his professional colleagues as one of the best dentists in the state. Some years ago a dentist with a large and lucrative practice in the leading city in the state asked the dentist to enter a partnership with him for a guaranteed net yearly income of $60,000.

The town dentist laughed and said, "Why should I move to the city for any amount of money? The folks I love live in this town and the hunting and fishing in this part of the country is excellent."

So there he lives in modest comfort while the city beckons and people wonder how he could be such a fool as to turn down so good an offer.

He did so because he has something which is better than any financial offer which could ever be made to him—no matter how large. He has a contented heart. He knows what makes him happy, and he acts upon this knowledge. He has found a full life.

Families Suffer Most When Husband Is In Prison

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mildred Hill, 31, sleeps on a thin, gray floor mattress in a one-room house with her 9-year-old son Mike. Debbie, 7, born with water on the brain and paralyzed legs, sleeps on a couch.

Vincent Hill, serving 15 years for armed robbery at the Tennessee State Prison, goes to bed in his cell, decorated with yellow, flowered wallpaper and a sink to match. His honor unit building, for selected prisoners, has the flavor of a college dorm, with pool table, color television and a parakeet for a mascot.

While her husband goes to Mass every week, Mildred has stopped going to her Baptist church.

"I guess I'm lazy," she says with a laugh, her eyes expressionless.

"She's just wore out," says Vincent, a lean man who looks like a camp counselor in his blue prison jumpsuit and white sneakers. He was sent up three years ago, leaving Mildred and the children alone.

This state prison, like many in the country, offers no help to wives and children of inmates, who are generally left on their own. Sometimes their needs are as simple as a ride to the prison or just someone to talk to.

Although prison wardens often admit the need for family programs, they are busy with pressing problems within the prison walls — overcrowding, drugs, violence, the need for more educational and medical services.

Mildred has no telephone, no savings, few friends to count on and little leisure time. In three years, she says, she's never taken a night away from the children.

"She's hanging on by shoe strings now," says Vincent. "I don't know how she's doing it. I tried to talk to her, but she ignores me. I'm afraid to break down with her. I'm afraid she'll fall apart."

"I'm the one who's supposed to pay, not Mildred and the kids," he says.

If Mildred is wearing down, Vincent is shaping up.

He's joined Alcoholics Anonymous and helped start group therapy sessions. He has graduated from welding school and has a diploma from the Dale Carnegie course, "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

But there is nothing similar to broaden or soften Mildred's life.

Up at 5:15 each morning, she drops her children at the babysitter's and gets to her job by 7:20. She makes $240 a month, hemming 1,020 pairs of men's pants a day.

In the evening, she brings the children to their $88-a-month house, fixes dinner, gives baths, does washing and gets to bed by 10 p.m. Sometimes, she plays her Conway Twitty record, "I Can't See Me Without You."

She gets $113 a month from Medicaid for Debbie, a giggling little blonde, who's had 10 operations so far.

Vincent tries to make up for not being home. He writes the family twice a week, drawing in little horses and hearts for the children.

But Mildred has about quit writing him.

year to untie much of its aid to that country and to give more favorable repayment terms.

Japan's loan conditions are the toughest among advanced nations: an average repayment period of 22.1 years compared to 29.1 for other countries, and 3.5 per cent interest per year against the average of 2.6 per cent asked by other members of the United Nations Development Assistance Committee.

But what rankles most is the Japanese tendency toward clan-nishness. The local Asians complain that Japanese businessmen confine themselves to their own clubs, restaurants, hotels and living areas. The locals, remembering the arrogance of the wartime occupiers, interpret this as contemptuous unwillingness to rub shoulders with them.

There may be another explanation. The Japanese essentially are a shy people, uncertain of themselves in a foreign culture, and react by clustering together. Language difficulties compound the problem.

That many of them are over-bearing in dealing with people from less advanced nations is undeniable. The Japanese government recognizes this and says it is trying to improve the situation.

"I don't have anything to say. He fussed at me, but he's gotten used to it," she says, shrugging her shoulders. It will be another four years before her husband is eligible for parole.

At the Nashville prison, about 35 per cent of the 1,750 men are married, according to Warden Jim Rose. Many are divorced once they get into prison. There are no conjugal visits, private times together for husbands and wives.

Sometimes children of prisoners are put into foster homes or orphanages, if necessary. Sometimes, the women go on welfare, says Rose.

"Tremendous interest has been shown lately in the man behind bars, but there's very little interest in his family," says Mark Luttrell, commissioner of corrections in Tennessee.

"It's certainly a neglected area," says Victor Bluestein, chief of resources development for the Department of Corrections research division in California, another state with no family aid programs.

At the 32 major federal penitentiaries, incarcerating some 23,000 inmates, there are no family programs, as such, according to Larry Taylor, executive assistant to the director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons. "We don't have the funds to hire social workers or aid with transportation to the prisons. Right now, there are so many problems in our correction system, that if we did get additional funds, we'd probably use them on a higher priority item, like overcrowding," he says.

He adds that private groups are encouraged to help prisoners' families, but there aren't very many groups and it's something of a hit-or-miss proposition. One private group — Friends Outside — is a relative hit.

Formed 18 years ago, it operates extensively in the state of California and is funded half by the United Fund and half by private donations. "There are hundreds of families isolated when the husband goes to prison. They need help," says Margaret Muirhead, executive director for Santa Clara County.

families of state prison or local jail inmates. In the Santa Clara County chapter, some 600 volunteers help about 900 families. Their yearly budget is about $72,000.

Pack Rat As 'Historian'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The pack rat may be an historian, as well as a campground thief.

Dr. Lionel G. Klikoff, associate professor of biology at the University of Utah, expects pack rat nests to provide him with clues to the environment and history of America's western desert.

Klikoff and his students, working under a National Science Foundation grant, plan to begin searching for old pack rat nests in the small caves which abound in the region after they catalogue plants and animals currently living there.

"The sticks and plant material used in these nests provide us with a preserved biological record, dating back as far as 30,000 years, so the nests can tell us a great deal about how plants spread as the area changed over time," he said.

The study involves the "Great Basin Islands," the numerous small mountain ranges separated by desert located between the Sierra Nevada and the western face of the Rockies.

Earns Honor In Pharmacy School

CHAPEL HILL—Miss Joyce Carol Hardy of Rt. 1, Robertsonville, and a fourth year pharmacy student, was named to the Dean's List Honor Roll of the University of North Carolina School of Pharmacy for the fall semester.

This achievement recognizes only those students who have achieved an overall "B" average or better.

Miss Hardy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hardy.

property acquisitions, and the improvements to his homes. He now has responded, if I am not mistaken, to every allegation of personal misconduct. Most of the other charges most prominently mentioned—the bombing of Cambodia, the impoundment of funds, the actions he himself took in the name of national security—appear to involve the conduct of his office.

My own impression, for what it may be worth, is that the President's accusers have about exhausted their ammunition. Unless they have evidence—hard evidence—not yet disclosed, they are not going to be able to make a convincing case that would justify his conviction for "treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors." As the House Judiciary Committee plods toward an impeachment resolution, the President's friends can take heart. His fortunes have hit bottom. With any luck at all, he can only go up.

$86.6 Million Proposed For Capital Improvements

RALEIGH (AP) — The budget proposed to the General Assembly today by Gov. Jim Holshouser and the Advisory Budget Commission calls for $86.6 million for the construction of two new medium security prisons to replace Craggy Prison at Asheville and the Polk Youth Center in Raleigh. The money for the new prisons would not become available until the Department of Social Rehabilitation and Control submits a long-range prison development plan. A total of $30 million appropriated to the State Department of Administration would include $2,000,000 for the construction of a state office building at Charlotte and $1,896,000 for one at Winston-Salem. It also would provide $15.6 million for construction of two new state office buildings in Raleigh. Another $5 million would be used to buy land for state parks and $3 million to buy land for the state government center in Raleigh. Of $11.2 million appropriated to the University of North Carolina system, $3,885,000 would be used for the construction of a core instructional building at the North Carolina School for the Arts at Winston-Salem and $1,250,000 for a burn treatment facility at North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill. A total of $10 million would be used for matching construction grants for community colleges. An appropriation of $6,156,350 to the Department of Natural and Economic Resources would include $2,834,500 for improvements to existing state parks and $1,000,000 for initial development at five new state parks. A $568,000 appropriation would be used to purchase a new executive type plane for the department. A $1,900,000 appropriation would go to the state Ports Authority for the installation of a specialized container loading crane.

Added Points For Handling Growers' Carryover Tobacco

Additional delivery points have been designated by Stabilization Corporation to handle growers' carryover tobacco, according to Fred G. Bond, general manager. In addition to Kinston and Fuquay-Varina, previously announced, the following points are now wet up to receive growers' carryover tobacco: Kinston, Jan. 22 through Feb. 8; Fuquay-Varina, Jan. 22 through Feb. 8; Williamston, Jan. 22 through Feb. 8; Lumberton, Jan. 22 through Jan. 25; Winston-Salem, Jan. 28 through Feb. 1; Kenbridge, Va., Feb. 4 through Feb. 8. Additional delivery points and dates may be added if necessary. As previously announced, all deliveries of carryover tobacco must be scheduled by telephoning the Stabilization office in Raleigh, 919-833-8624 Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. Expenses incurred during the carryover period (from the time the tobacco is delivered until July 1, 1974) will not be deducted until final settlement is made with producers after July 1. Such expenses are not anticipated to exceed $.01 per pound which includes storage, insurance and fumigation.

Police Count 2 Collisions

An estimated $725 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated here yesterday, according to Greenville police. Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12:40 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Cotanche Street and Loop Road involving cars driven by Randy Lee McLawhorn of Route 3, Greenville and Kay Kinnin Burnette of Roanoke Rapids. Investigators, who estimated damage at $50 to the McLawhorn car and $375 to the Burnette vehicle charged Miss Burnette with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

An estimated $150 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in an 8:25 p.m. collision at the intersection of Dickinson and Raleigh Avenues police reported. Officers identified the drivers involved as Bradley Rogers Moore of 302 Crestline Dr. and Carl Dawson Smith of Route 3, Apex.

Smith was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of the collision. "If current revenues drop substantially or if revenue projections must be lowered to levels well below those now anticipated, the commission recognizes, and would itself suggest, changes in the recommendations and the priorities they reflect, particularly among non-recurring capital outlays and in programs where hiring significant number of additional personnel is recommended."

The budget commission noted that the governor has the power to reduce appropriations pro rata if the state's general fund revenues fail to meet estimates and bring on the possibility of a deficit. It recommended that the same power over highway fund spending be spelled out.

Charge Five In Break-Ins

Five men have been charged by Greenville Police in connection with the theft of several televisions and other items from the Sears Roebuck Co. office and Ken's Furniture Co. in break-ins yesterday. Chief Glenn Cannon identified the defendants as James Howard Johnson, 22, of 508 Battle St., Dennis Ray Suggs, 18, of 904B Bancroft Ave., Alfonza Mercer, 17, of 602B Ford St., Linwood Reddick, 17, of 1232B Battle St., and Larry James Stokes, 20, of 602B Ford St.

'Shaking' After Big Windfall

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hazel Johnston was under doctor's orders to take it easier. Then she found out she had won $1 million in the New Jersey State Lottery.

"I got home Monday after spending a week in the hospital. I'm shaking like a leaf. I just can't believe it," she said Wednesday after learning of her windfall. Her husband Derril is the head of a contracting company. Bond in those cases was set at $100 each, the chief said.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets were steady Wednesday. Supplies barely adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 80.65, medium whites 78.68, small whites 71.93.

Hogs
RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina hog prices today were steady to 50 cents higher. Tops of 42.00-43.00 at Kinston, Benson and Lumberton; 41.00-41.50 Rocky Mount; 39.50-41.50 Wilson and High Falls; 39.00-39.50 Tarboro and Bethel; 42.75 Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Elizabethtown, Pine Level, Pink Hill, Chadbourn, Ayden, Chadbourn and Laurinburg; 40.00 Salisbury.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market stronger today. Supplies barely adequate to short, demand very good, weights heavy. F.O.B. dock-weighted average is too unsettled to release. Estimated slaughter 1,159,000.

North Carolina hens: Market tone weak on heavy types. Supplies fully ample, demand slow. Heavies, at farm, 12½-13 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices climbed upward today amid hopes for an imminent Midwest disengagement.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was up 8.69 at 864.78, while advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by more than 4 to 1.

According to Eugene Peroni, analyst with Du Pont Walston, the market is going up "primarily because of technical conditions, very much supported by more optimistic and hopeful news coming out of the Midwest."

Peroni said he was referring to a news report that an agreement would be announced later today by Egypt and Israel.

On the NYSE, Rite Aid was down ¾ to 9¼ after a 386,500-share block at 8½, down 1.

Autos were strong, with GM up 1½ to 51½; Chrysler, up ½ to 18½; Ford up ½ to 44¼; and American Motors, up ¼ to 9½.

Brokers said the strong rising tendency of the market was being checked, to some extent, by investor worries over the economic impact of rising oil prices and inflation.

Arrest Four In Killing Of 'Stringbean'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Four men have been arrested in the slaying of country music performer David "Stringbean" Akeman and his wife.

Police identified them Wednesday as John A. Brown Jr., 23, and Marvin D. Brown, 21, both of Nashville, each charged with two counts of murder, and Charles Brown, 32, and Roy Brown, 23, both of nearby Greenbrier, charged with accessory after the fact of murder and receiving and concealing stolen merchandise.

Police said John and Marvin are cousins and Charles and Roy are brothers of Marvin. Akeman, 57, and his wife Estelle, 59, were found shot to death early Nov. 11 at their home north of Nashville. Police have theorized that they surprised burglars when they returned home after Akeman's appearance on the Grand Ole Opry, where he was a regular.

Police speculate the killers took an estimated $17,000 that Akeman, a banjo player, had in his possession only a few days prior to his death. However, the killers overlooked about $5,700 hidden on the bodies of the couple.

Police would not say if the money was recovered.

Grifton Police Chief Resigns

GRIFTON—Jimmie Lewis has resigned as chief of police of Grifton, effective today.

According to Grifton Police Commissioner Mrs. Catherine Condon, Lewis resigned to accept a position with Carolina Power and Light Company. He was chief of police in Grifton for five years. He is married to the former Ann Craft.

Lynwood Outlaw, a member of the Grifton Police Department for three years, has been named acting chief until the position is filled by the Grifton Board of Commissioners. Outlaw stated he would like to be considered for the position.

Daily Reflector To Raise Price

A price increase for The Daily Reflector will take effect Feb. 1. The monthly subscription price will go from $2.25 to $2.50.

A portion of the increases will be allocated to the newspaper carriers.

The increase has become necessary due to the rapidly rising cost of newsprint. In the case of rural motor route carriers, the rising cost of gasoline was also a factor.

The Daily Reflector subscription prices were last increased in July, 1969.

Still Hunting A Stolen Bulldozer

DANVERS, Mass. (AP) — Where do you hide a yellow bulldozer that's "as big as a house?"

That's what officials of Industrial Contractors and Developers and local police would like to know after a fruitless, two-week search for the $70,000, 40-ton yellow bulldozer that was stolen from a shopping center construction site.

The company has offered a no-questions-asked $5,000 reward for the uninsured bulldozer.

"All we want is the machine back," said Robert Zaminsky, a company official.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Tar River Credit Union will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at Cornerstone Baptist Church here. The president, R. M. Phillips, urges all shareholders to attend.

Veterans' Benefits Described To Club

WINTERVILLE—Oscar L. Moore of Greenville was the keynote speaker at the meeting of the Winterville Ruritan Club Tuesday night.

Moore, employed in the district office of the North Carolina Division of Veterans Affairs, discussed benefits that are available for veterans.

He stated that there are 600,000 veterans in North Carolina and 8,700 in Pitt County. Moore explained that $14 million is distributed annually in the eight-county area and that $4 is distributed in Pitt County.

Moore said he assists veterans of World War I, World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War, as well as veterans of the "cold war."

He cautioned all veterans to make sure that their discharge certificates are registered in the Register of Deeds office. He said that a large portion of veterans records were destroyed by fire in St. Louis last year.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles reminded the Ruritan of the bond election scheduled for Feb. 26 on the proposed water project. The project will total $220,000, including local, state and federal money. The bonds will be repaid from revenue collected for water service.

Nobles said the town has already purchased a site for the 500,000 gallon water tank and plans to acquire a site in Ragland Acres for the deep well are underway.

Club President H.D. Weaver presided at the meeting. He announced the calendar sale for this year had been successful.

PERMITS SUSPENDED
The State ABC Board at its January 7 meeting in Raleigh suspended permits issued to William Terry Angle Jr. for Register of Deeds office. He said that a large portion of veterans records were destroyed by fire beginning January 21.

Grand Dragon A Candidate For House Seat

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — The grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in North Carolina, 44-year-old J. Robert Jones, has become a candidate for the North Carolina House.

Jones, of Granite Quarry near Salisbury, paid his $24 filing fee Wednesday. He will run in the Republican primary on May 7 for one of two seats held by Republican incumbents Kenneth Owen of Salisbury and Austin Mitchell of Kannapolis.

Jones built the North Carolina Klan to the nation's fourth largest a decade ago, with an estimated 6,000 dues-paying members. But after he spent 10 months in federal prison in 1970 for contempt of Congress, he returned to find his Klan racked by dissension and falling membership. Membership today is estimated at 500.

Coastal Downs Paladin Cagers

JACKSONVILLE—Coastal Carolina Community College rolled to an 89-68 victory over Pitt Technical Institute last night.

The Paladins were cold in their shooting during the first part of the opening half, and Coastal Carolina used that opportunity to build up an insurmountable lead. After just a few minutes of play, they had streaked out to a 10-3 lead, and built that up to 23-5 during the first 12 minutes of the game.

Pitt Tech fought back, but still trailed 47-20, with five minutes left in the half. They did trim it back to 52-32 by the end of the period.

But in the second half, they couldn't get their rally in gear, coming no closer than 14 points during the period. Coastal Carolina inched away again later for the final 21-point margin.

Tolda led Coastal Carolina with 18 points, while Banks had 17, Speight had 15, Toudle had 12 and Jones had 10. For the Paladins, Charles Jordan had 16, Danny Thomas had 14, Clarence Wilson had 12 and James Dildy had 11.

Pitt Tech resumes action on Friday in Winterville, playing host to James Sprunt.

The Paladins are now 2-7 overall, and 2-2 within their conference.

Davidson Pulls Off Upset Of Gamecocks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Richmond's Aron Stewart for the first time has shown the form that made him Southern Conference basketball player of the year last season and that could be nothing but bad news for the Spiders' remaining league opponents.

The 6-foot-5 senior, who averaged 30.3 points per game while leading the conference in both scoring and rebounding last season, sat out Richmond's first three games this year because he played in a postseason tournament without league sanction.

In his first seven games, Stewart was leading the conference in scoring again, but he was averaging 20.3 points per game—10 under the pace he set last year.

No more.
Stewart turned it on Wednesday night against California-Irvine, hitting 18 of 25 shots from the floor, scoring 39 points and grabbing 14 rebounds as the Spiders upped their record to 5-6. He played the last 13:56 with four fouls.

Davidson's Wildcats pulled off a surprise as they trounced South Carolina's Gamecocks 70-59, but Furman's Paladins were beaten 77-68 at Jacksonville.

The three nonleague games made up the night's action, and all conference teams are idle tonight.

California-Irvine, which fell to 8-6, pulled out to a 22-16 lead with 7:42 left in the half before Stewart scored 14 points and Eric Gray eight in a 22-7 Richmond surge that gave the Spiders a 38-29 margin at intermission.

"He was just hanging back there the first 10 minutes," said Coach Tim Tift of Cal-Irvine. "Then, all of a sudden, he exploded. We were impressed with how hard he took the ball to the board. Obviously, he's a great shooter."

Richmond Coach Lewis Mills said "I never had any thoughts of taking him out" after Stewart drew his fourth foul. "He's been around and knows how to play without fouling."

After the Anteters pulled to within four points with 17:19 left, Stewart hit a jumper that started Richmond on its way to a 15-point lead that never was threatened. Gray had 18 points and Bob McCurdy 14 for the Spiders. Scott Magnuson led Cal-Irvine with 22.

Larry Horowitz scored 16 points and Mike Sorrentino 14 for Davidson, which upped its record to 8-5 by taking a 20-8 lead in the first 7:18. The Gamecocks, down by 10 points at intermission, never got closer than three points.

The Gamecocks, now 9-3, were led by Mike Dunleavy with 22 points.

Leon Benbow scored 29 points for Jacksonville, 10-3, which took advantage of 30 Furman turnovers to build a 17-point lead with eight minutes left and beat back a rally by the Paladins.

The defeat dropped Furman to 9-4, and the Paladins' only consistent scorer was Clyde Mayes with 16 points.

Highwaymen In First Defeat

Fieldcrest handed State Highway its first loss of the year last night, leaving no unbeaten teams in Division I of the Industrial Basketball League. The two teams are now tied for first place in the league with 4-1 records.

In the opening game of last night's set, Union Carbide gained a 59-56 win over Pitt Memorial Hospital. Pitt Memorial built up a 29-24 lead in the first half, but couldn't hang on. The Batterymen came back with a 35-27 advantage in the second half, and they proved just enough.

Garland Warren led Union Carbide with 24, while Elphenza Mayo had 16 and Tommy Roach had 15. For Pitt Memorial, Danny Edwards had 27.

In the second game, Greenville Utilities won its first game of the year, downing winless Prepshirt, 65-52. Prepshirt moved out to a 32-28 lead in the first half, but GUCo rallied in the second half. GUCo outthit Prepshirt, 37-20, in the final period, taking the victory.

Jimmy Sutton led GUCo with 21 points, while James Ward, Willard Jackson and Jed Gray each had 12. For Prepshirt, Zeno Smith had 16, William Johnson had 14 and Alton Ellis had 10.

Fieldcrest pulled off its victory, 66-60, in the final game of the evening. Fieldcrest gained a 36-31 advantage at the half, and stayed even the rest of the way. They outthit the Highwaymen, 30-29, in the second half, winning it.

Charles Harrington led Fieldcrest with 21 points, while Louis Williams had 19, Billy Stokes had 13 and Tony Dale had 10. For State Highway, Bobby Edwards had 26 and Fred Mills had 20.

Calvin Stars In Cougar Win

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Even in the American Basketball Association, home of the three-point goal from long field-goal range, no one can score from the bench.

And, according to Mack Calvin, it's hard to score after being on the bench.

"I can contribute more by starting," said Calvin after helping his Carolina Cougar teammates demolish the New York Nets 131-105 Wednesday night. "Ted McClain and myself are able to press and do more on defense than if we began the game on the bench."

In the rest of the ABA action, the Kentucky Colonels shaded the Denver Rockets 105-102; the Utah Stars ripped the Indiana Pacers 123-105 and the Virginia Squires trimmed the San Diego

Conquistadores 116-109.

"I feel more confident as a starter," said Calvin, who has been starting for the past month. "I like to get 40-42 minutes a game."

Calvin played a game-high 42 minutes against the Nets and that's 42 more than New York would have liked him to play. Calvin, who recently was selected as an All-Star guard for the ABA East, started and finished off the Nets early.

Calvin contributed 20 points and six assists for the Cougars, who were led by Joe Caldwell's 27 points and Ted McClain's 22.

New York's John Roche had a game-high 29 points while Julius Erving chipped in with 19.

Colonels 105, Rockets 102
Artis Gilmore scored 10 points and blocked four shots in the last period, helping Kentucky over Denver and into first place.

In all, Gilmore scored a game-high 24 points to go with his 17 rebounds. Julius Keye also had 17 rebounds for the Rockets, who were led by Dave Robisch and Ralph Simpson, each with 20 points.

Stars 123, Pacers 105
Willie Wise scored 25 points and led a balanced scoring attack which carried Utah past Indiana.

The victory raised the Stars' first-place lead over Indiana to five games in the ABA West.

Squires 116, Q's 109
Virginia's George Gervin and Fatty Taylor each cashed in on two free throws down the stretch to stop San Diego's rally.

Mantle Still Dreams Of Making Comeback

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — It's been five years since Mickey Mantle has gone to the plate and officially taken one of his classic swings at a baseball, but he still dreams about it.

"That's the truth," insists the newest member of baseball's Hall of Fame, "but you might call it a nightmare instead. I am always dreaming about trying to make a comeback."

"In one dream, I drive up to Yankee Stadium and can't get in. In the background, I hear the loud speaker blaring, 'At bat, number 7, Mickey Mantle.' I try to squeeze through a hole, but there I am stuck. It's a terrible feeling."

"In another dream, I am at bat, batting left-handed, and all the balls are blooping off to the left. I can't get the bat around. It's awful."

Mantle and his longtime closest friend and roommate with the Yankees, pitcher Whitey

Ford, were chosen by vote of baseball writers Wednesday to be honored at Cooperstown, N.Y., baseball shrine.

It was a happy coincidence for the two very closely allied diamond greats from opposite backgrounds — the raw, backward Mantle, out of the zinc mines of Commerce, Okla., and the brash, cocky Ford, a product of New York's teeming sidewalks.

"I miss New York," Mantle said. "I miss people yelling out at me when I get into a cab, saying, 'Hey, Mick, wadda ya know, Mick?' In Dallas, nobody knows I'm there. Sometimes I catch a plane in Dallas and people will say, 'Hey, Mickey, what are you doing here?' and I'll say, 'I live here — I've lived here 17 years.'"

"Baseball was just a series of thrills for me," he said. "There were so many and they came so fast I didn't appreciate them. Now I do. People are always sending me scrapbooks. I must have 29 or 30. I keep one by my bed all the time."

Mickey isn't sorry he quit after the 1968 season. He wouldn't want to be a designated hitter. Managing doesn't appeal to him. "I couldn't have gone on," he said. "Sometimes when I was playing my leg pained me so much I said to myself, 'What's it for? Why don't I go home and quit?'"

KFC Gets First Loss In City

The list of unbeaten in the City Basketball League fell by one last night as unbeaten Coca-Cola downed previously unbeaten Kentucky Fried Chicken. The Happy Store also won its fifth straight, leaving just two unbeaten in the league.

In the opening game, Coke took a 71-67 win over Kentucky Fried Chicken. KFC inched out into a 33-30 lead in the first half of play, but Coke came back to outthit them, 41-34, and ease to the victory.

Jim Modlin led Coke with 20 points, while Dave Franklin had 18 and Wayne Norris had 16. For KFC, Chris Dominick had 21 and Bruce Tucker had 15.

In the second game, Book Exchange won its first game of the year, nipping Carolina Dairy, 64-62. The Exchange held a slim 38-37 lead at the end of the first half, and outthit the Dairymen, 26-25, in the final half to hang on for the win.

Dave Stephenson led the Exchange with 14 points, while Jack Hodge and Phil Duffy each had 12. For Carolina Dairy, Lester Wells had 21 and Worth Heath had 15.

In the final game, The Happy Store rolled to an 86-38 win over the Eagles. Happy Store worked up a 48-8 lead in the first half, then coasted home. They outthit the Eagles, 38-30, in the final half, winning easily.

Charlie Harris led Happy Store with 29 points, while Lonnie Payton hit 20. Charles Meeks had 10 to pace the Eagles.

Simpson Admits Football Best

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O.J. Simpson admits he's prejudiced when he says, "I think football players are the best athletes."

Named the Male Athlete of the Year for 1973 by The Associated Press, Simpson voiced his thanks, saying:

"This means quite a bit to me obviously since you're considering all the great athletes in all the sports."

"Generally speaking, I think it takes probably more athletic ability to play football and basketball. I would put basketball players in the same mold as football."

"There are so many things involved. I think even from the mental side there is so much involved in football that you just don't have in a baseball game, for instance."

Simpson won the award over a baseball player — Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves who was a distant second in the voting.

Simpson set a National Football League record by rushing for 2,003 yards last season with the Buffalo Bills who finished second to Super Bowl Champion Miami in the American Football Conference East.

He was a unanimous choice for the All-Pro team and was named the NFL Player of the Year. He credits his coach and fellow players for much of his success although he doesn't discount his own value, saying, "I consider myself as good a back as there is in football."

Since the end of the season, he already has signed a long-term contract with Buffalo, has been featured in television shows and works with the American Broadcasting Company as a commentator for televised football games.

In a poll of member newspapers, television stations and radio stations, Simpson received 332 votes. Aaron got 153 votes with UCLA basketball star Bill Walton third at 75.

A horse finished sixth, as Secretariat won the highest number of votes ever for a four-legged athlete in this competition.

Golfer Jack Nicklaus was fourth with 34, Pete Rose of Cincinnati's Reds fifth with 22 and Secretariat got 20, three more than baseball's strikeout king, Nolan Ryan of the California Angels.

Simpson won his second NFL rushing title this past season but increased his yardage by 750. He smashed Jim Brown's 10-year-old record of 1,863 and gained more than 200 in three games.

Summerell Gets Honor

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Lt. Col. Pete Dawkins, who won the Heisman trophy while playing football for Army, will present the Gen. Douglas MacArthur Memorial Award to East Carolina quarterback Carl Summerell here Jan. 25, the Norfolk Sports Club said today.

The MacArthur Award is presented annually by the sports club to a Virginian playing college football out of the state.

Former winners have included All Americans Ken and Steve Delong of Tennessee, Frank Emanuel of Tennessee and Leroy Keyes of Purdue. Last year's winner was Howard Stevens of Louisville.

The award is to be presented to Summerell, who led East Carolina to the Southern Conference championship last fall, at the sports club's 29th jamboree.

Duke, Carolina Collect Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Virginia Cavaliers, who were not intimidated by fifth-ranked North Carolina last Saturday, play third-ranked North Carolina State tonight, also at home.

The game will be regionally televised, beginning at 9 p.m. It will be one of two games tonight for Atlantic Coast Conference clubs. In the other, Maryland, 9-2 and ranked fourth, is home to Forham.

Virginia came from a 17-point deficit to within three points at 72-69 with 1:58 left against the Tar Heels last Saturday. But North Carolina regrouped to win 87-75.

Gus Gerard of Virginia scored 30 points and had 10 rebounds, both game highs, and teammate Wally Walker contributed 20 points.

But this was not enough to offset the scoring of North Carolina's Darrell Elson, 26 points, Bobby Jones, 21, and Mitch Kupchak, 18.

North Carolina State is 9-1 in all games and 2-0 in the conference. Virginia is 5-5 and 2-1.

There were two games for ACC teams Wednesday night. North Carolina put five men in double figures to win an easy game at home from Wake Forest, 95-78. And Duke reeled off eight straight points in the final two minutes to defeat Clemson 63-50.

Bobby Jones led the North Carolina scoring with 18 points as the Tar Heels won their 11th game against one loss. They are 3-0 in the conference.

Skip Brown of Wake Forest had a game-high 20 points. The Deacons are 7-5 in all games, but have lost all their three conference games.

Bob Fleischer scored 14 and Chris Redding 10 for Duke. This was matched for Clemson by Wayne Rollins with 14 and Van Gregg with 10.

Clemson has yet to win in four conference games, and is 7-6 in all games. Duke is 1-1 in the league and 6-5 over-all.

JONES RIDES DOWN ON PARRISH—Bobby Jones (right) of North Carolina, comes down hard on Mike Parrish of Wake Forest as the two go after a rebound in the first period of the Atlantic Coast Conference game last night between the two. Trainer Getting Coaching Taste

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The coach showed up on the floor an hour after practice was scheduled to start, put aside a black medicine bag and quietly ordered the Chicago Bulls to begin loosening up exercises.

It was Dr. Robert Biel's baptism to coaching in the National Basketball Association and he received a lot of ribbing Wednesday from the Bulls' players as they began shooting lay-ups at the start of the workout.

Beil, the Bulls' trainer, was appointed acting coach after Dick Motta was ordered suspended for a week and fined $2,000 for an outburst at an NBA official Jan. 4, following Chicago's 103-101 loss at Seattle.

NBA Commissioner Walte

Kennedy said the suspension was the first of a coach in the league's 28-year history.

Biel, a podiatrist, supervised the practice after Motta decided to stay overnight in Seattle following the NBA's All-Star game Tuesday night.

"It's a hell of a compliment," said Biel as he taped center Cliff Ray's knee before the workout at DePaul University's gym. "But right now things are kind of confused. We should've been on the floor nearly an hour ago and I'm still taping the players.

"I wish Phil Johnson was here."

Johnson, former Bulls' assistant coach, took the head coaching job recently with Kansas City-Omaha.

How does a foot doctor coach a professional basketball team with the third best record in the NBA?

"It's going to be very interesting," he replied. "Some of the guys have jokingly asked me for a raise. I told them if we go 3-0, I'd ask for a raise."

Biel's and the Bulls' first big test without Motta will be Friday at Detroit when they face the Pistons who, after a pre All-Star streak, are only two games out of second place in the Midwest Division of the Western Conference.

"I've been in this situation before," said Biel referring to times he took over the team after Motta had been kicked out during previous games, "just not under this pressure."

After the Pistons, the Bulls face Portland Sunday and Atlanta Tuesday, both at home, before Motta's suspension expires next Wednesday.

"I'll be happy if we can win two of three," said Biel, who's never coached a full basketball game in his life and admits to having been only a mediocre player in college.

"After that, I've got a job waiting as trainer, again."

Daniels Again All-Star Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Daniels kept intact his record of being chosen for every American Basketball Association All-Star game, while teammate George McGinnis was the top vote-getter for the ABA's West All-Star squad announced today.

The West, with the Pacers and Utah each contributing two starters, will meet an East squad, laden with stars from New York, Kentucky and Carolina, in the annual all-star classic Jan. 30 at Norfolk, Va. The game, which begins at 8 p.m. EDT, will be televised nationally over the Hughes Sports Network.

McGinnis was second among all ABA players in balloting, collecting 66 top team votes and 135 points. The Pacer forward was topped only by Julius Erving of New York who had 136 of the possible 138 votes when he was picked to the East squad announced last week.

Daniels, the 6-foot-9 center who was the Most Valuable Player in the game in 1971, collected 35 first team votes and 79 points to earn his appearance in a seventh ABA classic.

Joining Daniels and McGinnis in the starting lineup are Utah Stars forward Willis Wise and guard Jimmy Jones. Wise, making the team for the third straight team had 59 first place votes and 124 points, and Jones, who came off the bench last year to lead the comeback victory for the West, with 40 first place votes and 99 total.

Denver's Warren Jabali, the MVP in last year's game at Utah, edged teammate Ralph Simpson at the other starting guard spot with 75 total points.

Simpson had 74 to top the second five and was joined by forwards Stew Johnson of San Diego, with 62, and Rich Jones, 58, Utah guard Ron Boone, 57, and center Swen Nater of San Antonio, 55.

Voting was done by sports writers and sportscasters around the country, with emphasis placed on the 10 league cities. The coaches will be the two men whose teams are in first place in each division at midnight, Jan. 20.

The East squad is composed of Erving, Billy Paultz and Larry Kenon of New York; Artis Gilmore, Dan Issel and Louie Dampier of Kentucky; Mack Calvin and Ted McClain of Carolina; Memphis' George Thompson and George Gervin of Virginia.

Yankee Teammates Go Into Baseball Shrine

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford, always a study in contrasts, today have something very basic in common. The longtime New York Yankee teammates are the newest members of baseball's Hall of Fame.

Mantle, eligible for the first time, and Ford, on the ballot for the second time, both received more than the required 75 per cent of the 365 ballots cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Mantle was named on 322 ballots and Ford on 284 with 272 the number necessary for election. They will be inducted into the baseball shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y. this summer.

Pitcher Robin Roberts was third in the balloting with 224 votes and slugger Ralph Kiner finished fourth with 215.

"I'm just glad we got in together," said Ford, nodding at Mantle. "It means more that way."

Mantle was a country boy from Commerce, Okla., a shy slugger who never felt at home and relished each other's company off it. "We always enjoyed being around each other," said Mantle.

As stars, the two studied each other and shared great admiration for each other's talents.

It would have been interesting to have the two opposing each other.

"We did last summer," reminded Mantle, winking at his pal. "I hit a home run off him in the Oldtimer's Game at Yankee Stadium."

They were an all but unbeatable combination on the field

Some Blocking Out For Spring

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — In an effort to reduce college football injuries, the National Collegiate Athletic Association has outlawed downfield blocking below the waist on kickoff and punt returns next spring.

The NCAA Rules Committee adopted the blocking rule and several others during a meeting here Wednesday.

"We have found that 50 per cent of the injuries received on kicking plays are knee injuries, and occur during downfield blocking," said John Waldorf, Rules Committee chairman.

Another rules change calls for penalties on running plays to be enforced from when the ball carrier is halted, except when the infraction is committed by the offensive team behind the ball. Those will be stepped off from the point of infraction.

A key change provides that all infractions carry penalties, which the committee said was designed to lessen what it called "cheap shots" during the game.

Other major changes include: —Substitution. A player must remain in the game for one play, while anyone taken out of the contest must remain out for one play. During the past season players could run into the game only long enough to deliver a play message and then leave.

—Kickoff receivers. Players receiving kickoffs can shade their eyes against the sun, an action prohibited in the past.

Two Ranked Teams Are Upset Victims

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Davidson and Ball State went to the polls Wednesday night ... and won in a landslide.

Playing teams in the Associated Press' Top Twenty poll, both unranked teams did okay — as Davidson stunned No. 11 South Carolina 70-59 and Ball State crushed No. 20 Cincinnati 90-62.

"It was just a case of them outplaying us," said South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire, matter-of-factly. "We made a good run at them in the second half but we lost the game in the first quarter. They have a better bench than we do and that helped."

Davidson struck early behind Larry Horowitz and Mike Sorrentino, going ahead 20-8 with about 13 minutes remaining in the first half. The Gamecocks rallied in the second half, but could get no closer than three points.

Horowitz led the winners with 16 points while Sorrentino scored 14. Dunleavy had a game-high 22 points for South Carolina and Mathias collected 15 points and 16 rebounds.

Larry Bullington and Kim Kaufman scored 22 points apiece in Ball State's shocker over Cincinnati.

"It was a good win for them and they defeated us in every way," said a gracious Gale Catlett, the Cincinnati coach.

Jesse Jemison scored 20 points for the Bearcats, who lost their fourth game in 14 decisions. Ball State won its ninth game against five defeats.

North Carolina was the only other ranked team in action Wednesday night, beating Atlantic Coast Conference colleague Wake Forest 95-78.

Bobby Jones' 18 points led five players in double figures in North Carolina's victory over Wake Forest. The Tar Heels never trailed, taking their 11th victory in 12 starts this year. Skip Brown led the losers with 22 points.

Dennis DuVal and Fred Saunders combined for 35 points, leading Syracuse to an 87-74 decision over Canisius. Larry Fogle, the nation's leading scorer with a 38.1 average, had a below-average 24 points for the losers.

Joe Bryant scored six points in 56 seconds to break open the game and lead LaSalle to an 85-73 victory over Drexel in the opener of a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra. Villanova shot 69 percent from the floor in the first half and went on to beat Detroit University 80-67 in the second game.

DePaul beat Marshall 76-68 behind Greg Boyd's 23 points; Bill Magarity hit three straight field goals in the final three minutes, leading Georgia over Georgia Tech 75-66; Bob Fleischer led Duke over Clemson 63-50 with 14 points and Leon Benbow had 29 points, pacing Jacksonville over fumbling Furman, 77-68.

Boston University trimmed Boston College 95-94 in overtime to win the Beanpot Classic.

Arnsperger was a handpicked coach but the hand belonged to Robustelli, recently hired as director of operations.

"I got him," said Robustelli, who spoke in his tough, direct, business-like manner. "Bill's the football coach and we're gonna go out and get guys to make us the best football team. He controls his own destiny. Hopefully we'll feed him what he needs."

Arnsperger, a muscular Wally Cox type similar in looks and demeanor, was more diplomatic.

"When the quarterback comes to the sidelines during a game, the head coach is the one to talk to him," he said.

ECU Receives $5,000 Grant From duPont Co.

East Carolina University has received a total of $5,000 in grants from the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co. for use in the ECU Department of Chemistry and Graduate School of Business.

Henry C. Gloseose, personnel superintendent, and Curtis D. Liddicoat, assistant manager, of the Griffon plant of the du Pont company presented a check for the grant's total to Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, ECU Chancellor, in Jenkins' office Monday. One grant provides the ECU Department of Chemistry with $2,500 "to satisfy needs and engage in activities that would not otherwise be possible." These needs could include purchase of equipment, faculty research programs, assistance to gifted undergraduates, graduate fellowships and special awards.

The second awards $2,500 to the ECU Graduate School of Business. These grants are "to help the recipient institutions maintain or enhance the strength of their instruction in business." Possible uses include graduate fellowships, faculty research grants and the du Pont Visiting Lectureship or Seminar Series.

In a letter announcing the grants, C. W. Theobald, vice chairman and executive director of the du Pont Committee on Educational Aid, wished Jenkins and ECU "every success in the coming year."

Expect Year Will See Relaxed Pay Guidelines

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A forecast of bigger contract settlements this year from the government's top wage controller may indicate a relaxation of the administration's pay guidelines.

"I would expect that the normal forces that operate on wages will result in higher settlements in 1974," said Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council.

In meeting with newsmen Wednesday, Dunlop gave no indication that the council would hold wages to the 5.6 per cent average increase of contracts last year.

He also said he opposes any move into a new Phase 5 wage-price control program after legal authority for the Economic Stabilization Program expires in April.

But he said he would not rule out the possibility of continued Phase 4-type controls should Congress extend authority beyond the present April 30 expiration date.

Dunlop said his recommendations are before the President, and that he and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz would present the administration's proposal to Congress Feb. 6 in testimony before a Senate Banking subcommittee.

In the meantime, he said the council is weighing a proposal to lift price controls from several industries, including food manufacturing. He said there is general agreement that when controls are lifted from the retail end of the food business, "we should do it in one fell swoop."

Wage-price controls have been in effect in various forms since August 1971 as part of the administration's effort to control inflation. But the inflation rate increased from 3.4 per cent in 1972 to nearly 9 per cent last year, with projections of more of the same this year.

Dunlop said he expected "continued, substantial increases" in wholesale prices through April and an appreciable jump in retail food prices that "will further aggravate the situation."

The pressure of rising prices, a tightening labor market and high industry profits will push wage settlements up more this year than at any time since the start of the controls program, he predicted.

A number of major contracts come up this year and labor leaders are expected to be more militant in their demands.

Dunlop expressed concern with bargaining early this year in the aluminum and can industries as well as in the reopening of the Teamsters contract.

He conceded that higher wages will bring new pressure for still further increases in prices.

Worked Less, Earned More

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Factory production workers in eight Southeastern states were working less and earning more in November, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

However, they still took home less money for more hours than the nation's average worker. Figures released by the bureau showed workers in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia worked an average of 41 hours per week during last November, as compared with 41.2 hours in November, 1972.

Average hourly pay jumped from $3.05 to $3.31 during that period, with the average weekly paycheck increasing from $125.66 to $135.71.

At the same time, the national hourly wage jumped from $3.89 to $4.15. The average weekly paycheck was $169.32—more than $30 higher than the Southeast average—although the national worker put in only 40.8 hours per week.

Alabama, with $3.56, and Florida, with $3.52, had the highest average hourly earnings in the Southeast. Mississippi at $3.06, and North Carolina, at $3.12, were the lowest.

The state breakdown, with 1972 figures in parentheses: Alabama: Total nonagricultural employment 1,111,700; (1,085,200), average hours: worked 41.4 (41.4), average hourly wage $3.56 ($3.28). Florida: 2,636,800 (2,473,500), 41.4 (41.5), $3.52 ($3.32). Georgia: 1,738,100 (1,696,700), 40.4 (40.7), $3.34 ($3.12). Mississippi: 665,600 (642,700), 41.1 (41.2), $3.06 ($2.81). North Carolina (2,010,800 (1,951,400), 40.7 (41.1), $3.12 ($2.83). South Carolina (990,500 (942,400), 41.2 (41.8), $3.14 ($2.85). Tennessee: 1,533,400 (1,491,200), 41 (41.2), $3.42 ($3.14). Virginia: 1,662,400 (1,606,200), 41.4 (41.3), $3.45 ($3.18).

Data Shows Oil Imports Shrink

WASHINGTON (AP) — An oil industry group has released figures that appear to signal a tightening of the Arab oil embargo and a worsening of the gasoline shortage.

The American Petroleum Institute on Wednesday said imports decreased 12.2 per cent last week from the previous week. And the weekly report said U.S. gasoline stocks dropped by 3.6 million barrels. But Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., said he agrees with some of his constituents who feel that the energy crisis is "a trumped-up crisis by the oil companies to make more money."

Conte spoke during a House subcommittee hearing Wednesday at which oil industry critics testified that the country "is not nearly in as bad a situation as the oil industry and the administration would have us believe."

Middle East oil specialist Christopher T. Rand presented the subcommittee with Petroleum Institute figures from December, which he said showed that the gasoline shortage could easily be made up from existing stocks. He said the figures also indicated that the oil companies were exaggerating the severity of the crisis in an effort to drive up prices.

"They know a ten-cent increase in the cost of a gallon of gasoline will result in $4 billion in additional revenue," Rand said. However, the latest API figures, released Wednesday, showed that oil imports dropped sharply last week. The drop wiped out a brief upturn in imports, which had been attributed to leakage of the Arab oil cutoff. According to the figures, imports averaged 4.9 million barrels per day during the week ending Jan. 11, a decrease of 677,000 barrels from the previous week.

And gasoline stocks dropped to a level usually reached only in midsummer, the figures show.

The credibility of such data supplied by the petroleum industry was the subject of the hearings being held by the House subcommittee on regulatory agencies.

Washington lawyer Martin Lobel told the subcommittee Wednesday that the data provided by the oil companies is "unaudited and unverified" and that "when pressed for accurate data the companies refuse to provide it. They use every legal device available to keep accurate, relevant information from those in government who must make decisions," Lobel said.

Lobel's testimony was disputed by W. T. Slick, senior vice president of Exxon. He claimed that the major companies "have for many years provided to various governmental agencies substantial operating and financial data."

Slick also said that Exxon, the nation's largest oil company, would be willing to turn over estimates of its oil and gas reserves to the government but added that it objected to the publication of certain competitive information such as pricing.

Two TV Action Series Wasted

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, action-adventure fans. The ABC Television network starts bidding for your attention tonight with two new half-hour series, "Firehouse" and "Chopper One." Now the bad news.

The first is a waste of fire, the second a waste of fuel.

"Chopper One," a saga of two young pilot-cops who battle Los Angeles villains from a Jet-ranger helicopter, is particularly disappointing for chopper freaks. I have reference to me. Helicopter flying, especially the low-level kind, is one of the most exhilarating experiences yet devised.

Although the aerial photography in this new show captures some of this excitement and the lead actors Jim McMullan and Dirk Benedict turn in good performances, the proceedings fall flat.

What could have been a good flying show isn't supported by a passable plot line or even a pre-flight check.

It's a routine two-incident opus in which our heroes rescue a boy from drowning, then help their grounding colleagues bring two purported kidnapers to justice after a hotel shootout.

As a flying nut, I sincerely hope the show improves.

But until that happens, the TV title for best flinging realism and excitement remains with "Birds of Prey," a 90-minute gem that featured an incredible chopper chase over the Utah desert.

CBS aired this show a year ago and I wish they'd rerun it soon. It's an aviation classic the makers of "Chopper One" might study.

"Firehouse," starring James Drury as a fire captain, offers scant hope of redemption and wastes the talents of its five regulars. In tonight's effort, they foil a suicide try and save lives in a burning, modern fire-trap called a high-rise office building.

It's strictly flambe foolishness and unless major improvements are afoot, Marvin the Torch should be made its film editor.

Back in the real world, NBC congressional correspondent Paul Duke, 47, is leaving NBC in early February and joining public TV as a correspondent-moderator for the National Public Affairs Center for Television in Washington, D.C.

NPACT president James Karayn says Duke's annual salary will be in the $55,000 range. Duke, a good, seasoned newsman with a wire service and newspaper background, has

The Worry Clinic Basic 'Rules' Of Advertising

Aaron wants the basic laws of advertising psychology. Note especially Items No. 3 and No. 7 below. Time yourself in reciting the alphabet in A-B-C order. Then try it in reverse, as Z-Y-X, etc. Advertisers often violate this, placing the solution BEFORE the need!

The basic rules to keep in mind? "For I help write advertising copy at an agency here in Chicago. "And competition is very keen between one agency versus another so we'd like to beat our rivals."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE Z-527: Aaron J., aged 20, is interested in advertising. "Dr. Crane," he asked, "since you taught courses at the university on 'Advertising Psychology,' what are some of Advertising Psychology "Advertising" and "Selling" are the psychological Siamese Twins that undergird our superb "Free Enterprise" system. They move the products of cloistered scientists from their laboratories and put them into average homes. But churches and colleges, doctors and politicians also must rely on advertising, often cloaked under the genteel title of "Public Relations." God thus deliberately employed an advertising gimmick to catch the attention of Biblical Moses. That gimmick involved both "motion" and "color," for it consisted of a burning bush that never was consumed by the flames. And the Serpent made the first "Sale" in human history when he sold Eve on the forbidden fruit tree in the Garden of Eden. Elijah also used a superb type of advertising strategy when he challenged the 450 priests of Baal to a life-or-death test on the public square. Elijah won, so he had the 450 pagan priests killed!

But Elisha failed to use the medical "Public Relations Strategy" that Generalissimo Naaman, head of the Syrian Army, had expected. For Naaman, a leper, though Elisha would employ dramatic medical hocus-pocus in curing his leprosy so he grew very angry at Elisha's curt "Brush-off!" But Naaman's servant then persuaded Naaman to follow Elisha's simple prescription. And that is the crux of all good advertising and selling, namely, logical persuasion! But to persuade, we must communicate in terms the potential customers can easily understand. So follow these salient laws of modern advertising psychology:

Opening lead: Queen of ♠ North America will be represented in the 1974 World Team Championship by Bobby Wolff, Robert Hamman, Bob Goldman, Mark Blumenthal, Sammy Kehela and Eric Murray. They earned this honor with two smashing victories in the four-team North American playoffs held some weeks ago in Milwaukee.

In these days of an ever-growing tendency towards artificial methods, it is noteworthy that Canadians Kehela and Murray, regarded as one of the world's outstanding pairs, still rely heavily on natural methods. One of the largest gains scored by any team in the Milwaukee playoffs came when Murray and Kehela opposed two practitioners of the Precision System on this hand. Between them, North and South had won seven major American titles using their methods, so this debacle cannot be attributed to the fact that they were not first-caliber players or that they were unfamiliar with the system they were using. South's choice of opening bid was dictated by the system. Since North-South played five-card majors, South could not open either one heart or one spade—indeed, neither suit is biddable. However, the normal 'convenience' bid of one club was also not available in their methods as that would show a hand of 16 points or better. The hand was also a shade too weak for a Precision 13-15 point no trump opening bid, so South elected to open with his two-card diamond suit. With his best suit 'stolen' by the opposition, West, Sammy Kehela, passed to see how the bidding would develop. North passed and East, Eric Murray, reopened the auction with a double, requesting his partner to bid. However, after South had passed, West saw no reason to disturb the contract. Much to his surprise, North passed as well, and one diamond doubled became the final contract. Kehela led the queen of diamonds and declarer could take only his two minor-suit aces. That meant a penalty of 1,400 points! Now, it can be argued that either South or North should have run from one diamond doubled and so prevent the disaster. But if national champions can misjudge the situation in top-level competition, how much more accident-prone is the average player. So next time anyone tells you that a highly artificial system is easy to learn and to play, treat his remark with just the right degree of skepticism.

Fund Offers Scholarship

Fourteen scholarships valued at $500 each are available to high school seniors through the North Carolina 4-H Development Fund. According to Michael Davis, local 4-H agent, the Development Fund, which is headquartered at North Carolina State University, annually presents a scholarship to a boy and girl in each of the seven districts of the Agricultural Extension Service. Davis said applicants for the scholarships must have an outstanding record of 4-H participation and achievement, an excellent high school academic record, college aptitude and a need for financial aid to attend college. The deadline for scholarship applications is Feb. 1. More information about the scholarship can be obtained by writing Davis at P. O. Box 1427, Greenville, or calling 758-1196.

LETTERS POUR IN

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP)—About 1,000 letters a day have been pouring into the hospital for singer Bing Crosby, recovering from removal of two-fifths of his left lung, hospital spokesman say.

With his best suit 'stolen' by the opposition, West, Sammy Kehela, passed to see how the bidding would develop. North passed and East, Eric Murray, reopened the auction with a double, requesting his partner to bid. However, after South had passed, West saw no reason to disturb the contract. COMICS

PEANUTS: I KIND OF ENVY WOODSTOCK. HE DOESN'T SEEM TO HAVE TOO MANY ANXIETIES... JUST A BAD DREAM NOW AND THEN...

B.C.: ONE LOUSY SHADE TREE AND YOU HAVE TO HOG IT ALL DAY. OK, WE'LL SHARE IT, ... HALF A DAY IT'S YOURS AND HALF A DAY IT'S MINE. FAIR ENOUGH. I'VE BEEN HAD

NUBBIN: STOP RIGHT THERE! I AM A GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL. IF YOU HAVE A COMPLAINT, WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMAN!

BLONDIE: WAIT TILL YOU HEAR THIS, HELEN. AND PROMISE YOU WON'T BREATHE IT TO A SOUL. MILDRED DOOLEY'S POODLE IS HAVING PUPS. BOY! ARE THEY EVER SCRAPING THE BOTTOM OF THE GOSSIP BARREL.

BEETLE BAILEY: THERE HE GOES, THROWING HIS CHEST OUT AGAIN. I KNEW IT. HE'D BETTER BE CAREFUL. CRACK!

THE PHANTOM: MESSAGE FOR PHANTOM... FROM ONE TOBANDO OF LLONGO. WHILE GUARDSMAN TOGANDO WAITS AT THE EDGE OF THE MYSTERIOUS DEEP WOODS... A SECRET ENTRANCE... A MESSAGE IS DELIVERED... THE SKULL THRONE OF THE PHANTOM!

JULIET JONES: LOOK, MR. CANTRELL, I'M JUST DOING A JOB. IF I DIDN'T—SOMEONE ELSE WOULD. SO PLEASE DON'T BE ANGRY WITH ME. YOU'RE PART OF A GANG TRYING TO RUIN MY REPUTATION... THAT HAS MY WIFE IN THEIR POWER... AND YOU WANT ME TO BE YOUR PAL? YOU DON'T KNOW THE BARON, MR. CANTRELL. IF I HAD REFUSED TO PLAY THIS PART I'D BE VERY DEAD!
