Group Will Seek Compromise Over ECU Med School

RALEIGH (AP)—A selected group of legislators, educators and state officials is scheduled to meet Thursday in an effort to work out a compromise on the proposed expansion of the East Carolina University medical school.

Among those reportedly asked to attend were members of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors, top administrators of East Carolina University and key state legislators. The meeting is to be at the College Inn.

The Greensboro Daily News and The News and Observer in Raleigh reported the planned meeting.

The meeting would come a day after supporters of ECU introduced their medical school expansion bill in the North Carolina General Assembly.

The bill calls for spending $15 million and expanding the current ECU one-year program to a two-year program in 1976-77.

Class size at ECU would be expanded from 20 students to 40 in 1975-76 and by 10 additional students each year thereafter until it reached a limit of 80 students per class.

The bill follows closely the recommendations of a legislative study commission on medical manpower which was chaired by Rep. J. P. Huskins, D-Iredell, and Sen. William Mills, D-Onslow. Those two legislators were the chief sponsors of the bill Tuesday.

In reporting the planned secret meeting tonight, The Greensboro Daily News said UNC President William Friday, UNC Medical School Dean Chris Fordham and ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins were among those asked to attend the meeting.

The newspaper said House Speaker Jim Ramsey confirmed the secret meeting.

Ramsey said an equal number of legislators on both sides of the ECU medical school issue from the House and Senate had been invited to attend.

ECU supporters are seeking a commitment from the legislature for expansion of the current one-year medical education program.

The News and Observer in Raleigh reported in today's editions that the proposed compromise would insure the construction of a two-year medical school at ECU under the close supervision of the UNC Board of Governors. The compromise also would give priority to development of nine Area Health Education Centers over the ECU plans.

Nixon Asks Congress Cut Oil Industry Tax Breaks Energy Message

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon asked Congress today to reduce the tax breaks available to U.S. oil companies operating overseas and to ease the demands of present clean air laws.

The President sent Congress a new energy message urging passage of the emergency legislation previously proposed and adding some new proposals.

Nixon's new measure would, if adopted:
—Eliminate the 22 per cent depletion allowance granted U.S. companies producing oil abroad.

—Reduce the amount of foreign income tax which U.S. oil companies can credit directly against their taxes in the United States.

—Extend for two more years the emission standards now applying to 1975 automobiles.

—Remove the present requirement for a 90 per cent reduction in nitrogen oxide emissions in 1976 cars.

—Extend the legal deadline for meeting clean air standards in metropolitan areas which otherwise would need "unreasonable transportation controls."

—Permit temporary relaxation of clean air deadlines and requirements for power plants and other sources which cannot get an adequate supply of clean energy.

—Speed the licensing and construction of atomic power plants by encouraging standardized plant designs, establishing an inventory of approved locations for future power plants and separating the questions of site approval from reactor licensing.

Meanwhile, at the Capitol, the Senate's investigating subcommittee chaired by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., continued into a third day its hearings on the energy crisis. Executives of seven leading oil firms were witnesses.

Jackson became angry at one point when Exxon vice president Roy A. Baze was unable to provide some figures on his firm's fourth quarter earnings.

"These are just childish responses, Mr. Baze," Jackson said, adding "I guess we're going to have to start slapping subpoenas on some of you."

Jackson reported earlier that the administration is considering rolling back prices on domestic oil production.

Jackson, one of the most influential Congress members in the energy field, emerged from a meeting of Nixon and bipartisan Senate-House leaders to report a price rollback as a possibility.

The Nixon message was expected to include a proposal to tax excess profits by the oil companies, a matter of growing congressional interest.

William E. Simon, the administration's energy policy chief, was reported by Jackson to have authority to order the price rollback on new domestic oil production which the senator termed essential.

Jackson conceded legislation would be needed to cut the prices on output from stripper wells producing no more than 10 barrels a day.

Meanwhile, the controversial issues of gasoline rationing and energy conservation were taking a temporary back seat to growing congressional demands for a change in tax breaks given big oil.

"Our tax policy, instead of encouraging energy development in the U.S., has made the Arab nations self-sufficient," Jackson said Tuesday as his investigations subcommittee wound up its second day of quizzing oil companies executives on the extent of the energy crisis.

Senate Finance chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., who last month led a filibuster against emergency energy legislation because of a provision to limit excess profits by the oil industry, said he would be willing to support tax legislation that would induce the companies to turn their attention to exploration and development at home.

The emergency bill, which would give President Nixon power to order gas rationing and mandatory energy conservation measures, remained stalled by the continuing threat of a filibuster by Republicans and oil-state senators who oppose the excess profits provision. Long said he would not join the filibuster this time, but other senators vowed to stop the bill from ever coming to a vote.

Jackson, who is the bill's floor manager, said a vote on shutting off debate would come early next week.

After executives from the seven leading oil firms told his subcommittee that the United States would require up to 15 years to become self-sufficient in energy, even with the incentive of high oil prices, Jackson said a rollback in the price of crude oil was called for. "This is a completely different tune than we've been hearing on the floor of the Senate — that taking the lid off price would result in more oil."

Two of the seven executives predicted gasoline prices would increase by 10 to 15 cents per gallon this year.

Meanwhile, Cities Service Co. became the first of the large oil companies to report its profits for the fourth quarter of 1973, when the impact of the energy crisis began to be felt.

Cities Service said its preliminary profits for the last quarter of 1973 were $42.1 million, an increase of almost 50 per cent over the same period in 1972.

On the subject of tax reform, Jackson said that for starters the "foreign tax credit has got to be chopped off." Under that credit, oil companies can deduct from their U.S. taxes royalties and other payments to foreign governments.

At a hearing of the Senate Finance Committee, Mortimer Caplin, former Internal Revenue Commissioner, and Jerome Kurtz, former Treasury tax expert, agreed with Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., that Congress should consider cutting back or ending such tax benefits.

Ribicoff, a member of both the Finance Committee and the investigations subcommittee, said that last year Texaco paid federal taxes at a rate of 1.7 per cent, compared with the average 48 per cent rate paid by most American companies. Texaco vice president Annon M. Card argued that Ribicoff was looking at only "a portion of the tax picture".

Huskins Expects ECU Bill Will Be Offered In Both Houses Today

RALEIGH — Rep. Jay P. Huskins, D-Onslow, said this morning that a bill authorizing expansion of the East Carolina University Medical School — expected to be introduced in both houses of the General Assembly yesterday — may be introduced today.

"I was ready yesterday," Rep. Huskins said, but noted that Sen. James Garrison, D-Stanly, who is to introduce the bill in the Senate asked for the delay.

"I think we will both be ready today," the Onslow representative explained.

ECU supporters had originally chosen Sen. William Mills, D-Onslow to place the ECU bill before the Senate, but then decided to have Garrison head the measure.

"We felt I should do this because I'm from the Piedmont and we want to get support from all over the state," Garrison said. "It was something we all agreed with."

Commenting on a meeting scheduled Thursday between selected members of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors, ECU officials and a group of General Assembly members, Rep. Huskins said "I know nothing to say except I think it can be a constructive meeting."

House Speaker James Ramsey called for the meeting earlier to give legislators an opportunity to seek information that might not be known to them.

Sen. Ralph Scott, who in the past has endorsed expansion of the ECU medical school, indicated the Thursday meeting might lead to a compromise on the medical school issue.

"We want to get something that both sides can accept without having bloodletting," the senator said.

The ECU bill scheduled to be introduced by Huskins and Garrison calls for the expansion of the entering class at ECU from 20 to 40 students, the addition of a second year to the one-year program, and the construction of a $14 million basic science building.

The compromise proposal is thought to suggest the development of the ECU program by the Board of Governors through UNC's Memorial Hospital, with a delay in expanding the ECU program to two years.

"We want the board to agree to enough so that everyone will be certain that it will be carried out," Scott said. "The trouble is that the ECU people don't trust the Board of Governors..."

According to Rep. Huskins, "there aren't many concessions our side can make. We brought (in the form of the bill) what we think is a compromise, but you see, this proposal has never been before the Board of Governors."

"Of course they will be more receptive to this plan... but receptive enough to accept it... nobody knows."

He added, "we are in the same position we have been all the time. I think we are in a pretty good position."

Washington (AP) — Gasoline availability varies markedly from metropolitan to rural areas, the American Automobile Association reports in its weekly gasoline survey.

Service stations in metropolitan areas are generally operating shorter hours and more of them are limiting sales than are stations in rural areas, the report said.

New England and Illinois had the largest number of stations limiting sales, the AAA said, with a total of 19 per cent of the stations doing so nationwide. A week ago the AAA said 17 per cent of the stations it checked were limiting sales.

Most all turnpike stations were limiting sales with only the Ohio turnpike reporting no limits.

The highest average price for gasoline was reported in the New York area at 51 cents per gallon for regular and 56 cents for premium. Texas had the lowest prices at 43 cents for regular and 47 cents for premium.

However, the AAA said that despite a general reduction in working hours and an increase in the stations limiting sales most stations reported ample supplies of gasoline.

Hope To Induce Home-Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development says its new interest-support program should induce some Americans to buy new homes, although the impact won't be massive.

The plan was announced Monday by HUD Secretary James E. Lynn and would allow some 200,000 home buyers to qualify for government-backed home loans with a 7 1/2 per cent interest rate, one-half per cent below the government ceiling.

On a $30,000 30-year mortgage the lower interest rate would cut monthly payments from $225 to $210, according to Dan Kearney.

The plan, however, applies only to new homes, to mortgages of $33,000 or less and only those financed through the Veterans Administration or the Federal Housing Administration.

At 19.1 million acres, spring wheat plantings could be up more than 2 million from earlier USDA expectations. The winter wheat crop, planted last fall, comprises 51 million acres.

Thus, total wheat production this year could be more than 2.1 billion bushels, up 400 million from last year's record.

That would restore the all-wheat surplus to more than 600 million bushels by July 1, 1975, up about 100 million from what the department had been projecting for that date.

The wheat reserve on July 1 this year is expected to be about 200 million bushels, the lowest since 1948.

Washington (AP) — Britain's coal miners are threatening to turn their work slowdown into a strike and cut off all production if Prime Minister Edward Heath does not agree to their wage demands.

Joe Gormley, president of the miners' union, said pressures from the rank and file for stiffer action are increasing. He estimated that 70 per cent of the 280,000 miners favor a strike, 15 per cent more than is needed to vote one.

Heath on Tuesday appealed again to the miners to accept his anti-inflation ceiling on wage increases and resume full production. But Gormley accused the government of "contemptuously tossing away" the attempt by the Trades Union Congress to mediate the dispute.

The strike demands are to be discussed Thursday at a meeting of the 277-man executive board of the miners union. A strike vote would take at least two weeks to organize.

The miners' refusal to work overtime and weekends has reduced coal production a third. Because 70 per cent of the nation's electric power is derived from coal, Heath put nonessential industries and business on a three-day week Jan. 1.

Record Acreage In Corn

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)

Farmers say they will plant the biggest corn crop in fourteen years next spring, an acreage boost that could rebuild large grain surpluses by late 1975.

Farmers in 35 states have told the Agriculture Department that they will plant 77.4 million acres of corn this year, up 10 per cent from 1973. The increase was nearly double a 5.5 per cent hike projected earlier by USDA experts.

The 35-state area accounts for about 98 per cent of the national corn acreage, but the remaining states could add another 1.3 million acres, for a national total of 78.7 million acres.

That, according to department records, would be the most corn since farmers planted 81.4 million acres in 1960. Officials had projected a 1974 crop of 6.3 billion bushels based on planting 75.5 million acres.

Thus, unofficially, if the plantings materialize and farmers have enough fuel and fertilizer, the 1974 crop could exceed 6.6 billion bushels, compared with the record last year of 5.64 billion.

A crop of that size would be approximately 600 million bushels larger than anticipated needs in the 1974-75 crop year. It would mean a surplus of around 1.2 billion bushels by Oct. 1, 1975, the most since 1964.

Corn reserves on Oct. 1, 1972, at the beginning of record export shipments, totaled slightly more than 1.1 billion bushels. They were down to 806 million last fall.

A planting report also showed a substantial boost in 1974 wheat prospects.

Durum wheat producers said they planned to boost plantings in the spring by 47 per cent from last year to 4.5 million acres, and growers of other spring types will increase plantings 14 per cent to 14.6 million acres.

At 19.1 million acres, spring wheat plantings could be up more than 2 million from earlier USDA expectations. The winter wheat crop, planted last fall, comprises 51 million acres.

Thus, total wheat production this year could be more than 2.1 billion bushels, up 400 million from last year's record.

The miners' refusal to work overtime and weekends has reduced coal production a third. Because 70 per cent of the nation's electric power is derived from coal, Heath put nonessential industries and business on a three-day week Jan. 1.

The bill would cut three different taxes. One provision would reduce the state's income tax for the first $2,000 from 3 to 2 per cent. This would save $20 for most taxpayers.

Another provision would increase the personal exemption allowed low and moderate income senior citizens from $2,000 to $3,000 on their income taxes.

The third part would allow manufacturers and retailers a state income tax credit for the inventory taxes they pay to county and city governments.

The credit would amount to 20 per cent of the inventory tax the first year. This would be increased by 20 per cent a year until the credit was 100 per cent of taxes paid.

Disengaging

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli troops and tanks began pulling back from the west bank of the Suez Canal today, two days ahead of schedule, military sources said.

The Israelis, withdrawing to lines about 12 miles east of the canal, also began digging up thousands of land mines and communications lines from the sands of occupied Egypt proper.

The desert road from Cairo to the city of Suez at the southern terminus of the canal was opened to the Egyptians, the sources said. The road has been closed since last October's Arab-Israeli war when Israeli forces occupied almost 1,000 square miles west of the canal.

Cairo newspapers published reports from Israel saying helicopters and convoys of trucks were moving the Israeli equipment off the west bank.

The withdrawal was scheduled to begin Friday at the latest in accordance with the Egyptian-Israeli disengagement agreement negotiated last week by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Egyptian and Israeli generals were to meet again today at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road to complete the arrangements for the disengagement. The two chiefs of staff, Lt. Gen. Mohammed Gamazy and Lt. Gen. David Elazar, are to sign agreements covering these arrangements at a meeting Thursday.

The withdrawal of forces is to be completed by March 5, with the Israelis occupying new positions some 20 miles east of the canal, a United Nations force between the two armies and the Egyptian forces on the east bank of the canal reduced.

Four-Year-Old Boy Is Killed In Auto Mishap

A traffic accident 4.1 miles East of Greenville on the Old Creek Road late yesterday afternoon took the life of a four-year-old boy.

Highway Patrolman Larry Overby identified the dead youth as William Russell Anderson of Route 5, Greenville.

The officer reported young Anderson received fatal injuries when he darted into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Addie Edwards Smith, 66 of Route 1, Winterville.

Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey, who said the child was dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital following the 5:12 p.m. mishap, ruled the death accidental.

Trooper Overby said young Anderson was standing on a ditch-bank across the road near his home, throwing stones at cows grazing in a pasture.

The officer said his mother called to him and the child turned and ran into the path of the Anderson car.

He was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Greenville Rescue Squad but was dead on arrival.

Coroner Files For Reelection

E. W. Harvey Jr., Pitt County Coroner since 1959, filed for reelection to the post yesterday.

Harvey was appointed coroner May 2, 1959 at the death of the late Griffin Rouse and was elected to his first full term in the 1962 elections. In addition to the post of coroner, Harvey, for the past several years, has also served as Medical Examiner for Pitt County.

A Greenville native, Harvey graduated from Greenville High School and attended Davidson College. He was engaged in the oil business before becoming credit manager of Pitt Memorial Hospital 20 years ago, a post he has held since that time.

Harvey has served as secretary of the North Carolina State Coroners Association and is an elder and clerk of the session of the First Presbyterian Church. He has been a member of the Greenville Lions Club for 35 years.

Since becoming coroner almost 15 years ago, Harvey has attended a number of training schools sponsored by the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill and has participated in other educational programs sponsored by the North Carolina Coroners Association.

Harvey is married to the former Emily Johnson of Willard and the couple has two daughters.

Demo Leadership To Again Push Tax Reduction

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — The House Democratic leadership is expected to make another effort today to push through a $50.9 million tax reduction package opposed by Gov. Jim Holshouser.

Stage for another House debate of the measure was set Tuesday when the House Finance Committee voted 33-15 to report the measure favorably. Last month, the committee had approved it by a 44-2 vote.

When the bill came up for House consideration last week, a coalition of Republicans joined a group of largely liberal Democrats and succeeded in winning approval of a motion to return the tax package to committee. The vote came only a short time after the governor spoke out against a tax cut in his message to the General Assembly.

Chances for House approval of the bill were boosted Tuesday with the release of state revenue figures for December. The report showed that North Carolina's general fund tax collections for December were up 14.94 per cent over December of 1972.

This undercut the governor's argument that the uncertain impact of the energy crisis on state tax collections made a tax cut unwise at this time.

The tax package was discussed at length during a caucus of Democratic House members behind closed doors Tuesday afternoon. Members would not say whether any definite conclusion was reached.

Moore-Gregory Vows Said Her Husband's Slap Didn't Teach A Lesson

SANFORD, Fla.—Central Baptist Church here was the scene of the wedding of Karen Patricia Gregory and Philip Ray Moore Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Moore and the Rev. Bob Loy. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gregory of Lake Mary, Fla., and the Rev. and Mrs. Moore of Greenville, N.C. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Shirley Grieme of Sanford, Fla., organist, and Mrs. Pat Butler of Fort Meyers, Fla., vocalist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress fashioned in all-over chantilly lace in a bouffant tiered silhouette. The bodice was fitted to a natural waistline banded in satin ribbon. A chantilly self-ruffle edged the neckline and cuffs of the long fitted sleeves. She wore a chapel length mantilla of imported illusion edged in complementary chantilly lace. The bride carried a Cantebury bridal bouquet of white roses, gypsophila and trailing English ivy.

Mrs. Dixie Everett of Altamonte Springs, Fla., cousin of the bride, was honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Phoebe Moore of New Bern, N.C., sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Kathy Sims of Orlando, Fla. Miss Tracy Gregory of Lake Mary Fla., sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore gowns with gathered velvet skirts of royal blue with empire styling and mirror mist bodice and shepherdess sleeves of a lighter shade of blue. The gowns had scoop necklines with white lace trimming the bodice and sleeves.

The honor attendant carried a single long-stemmed red rose with red sweet-heart roses and gypsophila tied with long velvet ribbon streamers. The bridesmaids carried single long-stemmed red roses with blue velvet streamers.

Miss Tammy Sims of Orlando, Fla., was flower girl. She was dressed identical to the bridesmaids and carried a white Bo Peep basket with blue velvet ribbon and white petals.

Stephen Moore of Louisville, Ky., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mike Munn of Charlotte, N.C., cousin of the bridegroom, Woody Hardy of Fayetteville, N.C., Peter Dovi of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Kelly Gregory of Lake Mary Fla., brother of the bride.

Paul Munn of Charlotte, N.C., was ring bearer. After a wedding trip to Abaco Island, Bahamas, the couple will reside in Chapel Hill, N.C.

The bridegroom is a December graduate of Embry Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Beach, Fla., and is a pilot for the University of North Carolina Medical Foundation. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship room of the church. The cake table was adorned with silver candleholders holding white tapers with camellia arrangements and the bridal bouquet. The punch table was decorated with the bridesmaid's bouquet and a single rose in a silver based bud vase was used on the table holding the bride's book.

Mrs. Ethelyn Owen poured punch and Mrs. Bobbie Reaves cut the four tiered wedding cake. Miss Jean Moore, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the bride's book. A rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents assisted by the bridegroom's aunt, Miss Jean Moore, in the fellowship room of the church Friday night. Guests included the wedding party, their families, out-of-town guests and special guests.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow with a 4-year-old son I'll call "Jimmy." Six months ago I married John. Sunday, the three of us were dining in a restaurant when Jimmy deliberately threw a dinner roll on the floor. John promptly slapped Jimmy across the face so hard it left an imprint on the boy's cheek. Jimmy didn't cry out, he whimpered a little and bit his lip, then big tears started to run down his cheeks.

A man at a nearby table witnessed the incident, and walked over to John and said, "The boy is hardly a match for you. Why don't you pick on somebody your size and step outside with me?"

My husband told the stranger to "get lost," and I quietly said, "Thank you, sir, please let me handle this." The stranger left, and not a word was said for the rest of the evening.

My husband insists that he only wanted to teach Jimmy a lesson. I say he shouldn't have slapped the child's face in public. What is your opinion?

DEAR MOM: One should never slap a child's face in public—or in private. The "lesson" Jimmy learned was that "might makes right." I hope you handled it by explaining to John that reasonable men educate with words—not violence.

DEAR ABBY: Your stand against spouse-swapping, I agree with, but I must protest your use of the term, "wife-swapping." A wife is not a possession, or a commodity or a mindless ninny who may be swapped or lent at the will of her husband. Yet, this is exactly what that term implies. [Have you ever heard anyone call it "husband swapping"?]

WORDS COUNT

DEAR WORDS: You are right, of course. The whole idea of "mate trading" [better?] is disgusting to me, but I promise to refrain from using a term that puts women on the same level with a used car.

DEAR ABBY: I am an officially-engaged young woman with a serious problem. Last week I went somewhere with a girl friend without telling my fiance. [We went to a singles bash.]

The first person I saw at the bash was my fiance! He was angry with me so I left immediately. Now he won't even speak to me when I call him on the telephone.

I'd like to see him so I can patch things up. But how?

STILL SINGLE

DEAR STILL: Go to the next "singles bash"—you'll probably find him there. You have as much reason to be angry with him as he has to be angry with you. And unless he's willing to bury the hatchet, I suggest you become officially single again.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

ECU Students Give Program

Miss Sandra McCue and David Angel, ECU students, presented the program at the January meeting of the Home Life Department of the Greenville Woman's Club.

Miss McCue spoke on "Selecting Well Balanced Foods" and Angel demonstrated "Can Cutting." Miss Alya Ray Taylor, program chairman, introduced the speakers.

Mrs. Kelly Wallace, chairman, conducted the meeting and read a poem "Guide For The New Year." The invocation "The Human Touch" was given by Mrs. Preston Cannon Sr., hostess for the meeting.

Reports were given by the various committee chairmen. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Holt.

Morgan In An Uncrowded Field

Enter Bob Morgan into the U. S. Senate picture. The popular North Carolina attorney general announced his candidacy Monday for the seat which Sen. Sam Ervin will vacate due to Sen. Ervin's own decision not to run.

Morgan had long been considered a top prospect to seek the Senate seat and the only surprise at the Monday press conference would have been if he had announced that he would not run.

Something like that happened in the 1972 gubernatorial race when Morgan was also considered a strong possibility for the governor's race. When he held a press conference at that time, he surprised almost everyone by announcing that he would not be a candidate.

He alluded to the 1972 decision Monday. "In spite of my excellent prospects for victory, I felt sincerely that duty called elsewhere. Many of you left Raleigh that day disappointed."

Monday was not to be a disappointing day to Morgan supporters. "But I promise you that you will not go home disappointed today. We have kept our promise," he said, alluding to the fact that he felt he had unfinished business as attorney general in 1972. "We have put our house in order."

Morgan has been a strong vote getter in every election. He is particularly popular in the east and there is some thought that he will be considered an eastern candidate, with Jesse Helms, who will soon be the state's senior senator, also considered an easterner.

Morgan will offset this pointing out that he and Helms are of different parties and in this time of rapid communication there are far less regional differences in North Carolina than in the past.

Morgan joins a field that is relatively uncrowded at present. Only Henry Hall Wilson is presently a candidate. It is likely there will be other formidable contenders, however, and whoever wins in the primary will face a strong Republican candidate in November.

The Key Word In 'Land Use'

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Preservation is the key ingredient of land use bills now working their way through the General Assembly.

Re-introduced after a summer of public hearings across the state, the pair of bills for coastal and mountain land management now appear headed for adoption.

In short, the land management bills will set up a system for controlling boomtown development of residential, recreational, commercial or industrial sites and seek to preserve land for future generations.

Durham attorney Willis P. Whichard, one of the principal sponsors of the package, believes this effort "as important as any consideration by the General Assembly," and doesn't hesitate to label them "historic."

Counting introduction at the 1973 General Assembly, the public hearings, committee meetings and discussions with citizens, Whichard conservatively estimated he has spent a sum total of nearly seven weeks time on the project.

Following a shaky start in the 1973 Legislature and an initial outburst of public reaction against the effort, Whichard thinks opinion has now turned around.

Sees Passage
"I do see the bills passing. I don't think the vote will be unanimously favorable, but it should pass. We think the approach is pretty well understood by the public, and that is good."

"And the public hearings served a substantial educational purpose," Whichard said.

Emerging from the hearings was a sentiment for local input in drawing management plans and in regulating them. The major thrust of change in the new bills is to provide that local element. The state retains review and approval authority, power to take over if local governments default, and a hand in the regulatory process.

Those elements are essential to success, sponsors feel, as this gives local governmental bodies the state's backing in event of showdowns with major developers and landowners, which are certain to come.

Whichard expects to spend a lot more time pushing for passage of the bills, but is committed to the task.

Timing Running Out
"We are at a watershed in North Carolina history. The opportunity is at hand now to preserve for future generations something of the unique natural resources we have been blessed with."

"If we don't do this, if we don't capture this opportunity, future generations will want to know why we didn't," Whichard said.

A third companion bill for general land management is also actively under study in the General Assembly. The three combined make up a land management process which will end the traditional free use of land by owners, putting the emphasis instead on development for the common good.

The coastal and mountain bills read much alike, with differences in terminology to account for the contrasting terrain.

At heart of the proposals is the premise that "the public's opportunity to enjoy the physical, esthetic, cultural, and recreational features...in their natural state shall be preserved to the greatest extent feasible," the introduction to the bills states.

"Water resources shall be managed...land, forest, and mineral resources shall be managed in order to guide growth and development and to minimize damage to the natural environment; and private property rights shall be preserved in accord with the Constitution of this state and of the United States."

While state officials recognize that this process will cause some unsettling change in the way people can use their property, the hearings convinced them that most North Carolinians are ready for some form of control over development.

Basically, the land management program will require each county to draw up a development plan, denoting areas for development, areas to be preserved and controls, over future activities, along with regulations to enforce the new plans.

If Local Doesn't
The bill provides that "state government shall act primarily in a supportive standard-setting and review capacity, except where local governments do not elect to exercise their initiative. Enforcement shall be a concurrent state-local responsibility."

The general land use bill, covering interior counties including the more rapidly developing Piedmont counties, establishes four major categories for land. Local plans will be drawn following those guidelines, and communities must justify ability to provide essential services before expansion and development would take place.

The four categories are urban, development urban in which growth can occur, productive farm or woodlands, and protected or preservation areas.

Whichard said he has no timetable in mind for passage of the package, but hopes for speedy actions.

Distrust, Yes; Removal, No

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

NEWARK, Ohio—No sooner had the latest Watergate bombshell exploded in Washington than weathervane voters here reached this paradoxical conclusion: of course the White House deliberately erased the 18-minute tape segment, but Richard M. Nixon still should complete his term as President.

This attitude permeated our interviews, conducted with the help of Oliver Quale's polling organization, in precinct "D" of Ward 3, a barometer of state and national election results. An overwhelming majority of these voters regard Mr. Nixon as a liar, a tax chiseler and a poor President. Yet, they oppose even the start of impeachment proceedings, much less removal from office.

Underlying this seeming contradiction is pervasive, deepening skepticism that any successor to Mr. Nixon would improve things much. Consequently, nothing short of proven criminal conduct is likely to inflame public opinion in favor of the President's removal.

The barometer precinct, selected for us by election analyst Richard Scammon, consists largely of blue-collar workers who supported Mr. Nixon in 1972. But among the 70 residents interviewed the day after technical experts reported the apparently deliberate erasure of the 18-minute segment of conversation between Mr. Nixon and H. R. Haldeman, four out of five felt that the White House deliberately destroyed evidence.

This comports generally with answers to a questionnaire prepared for us by Quale researcher Jonathan Lovell. The President gets a job approval from these 70 voters of only 27 per cent. The vast majority believe Mr. Nixon did not pay his fair share of taxes, has lied about Watergate and has suffered seriously in capacity to govern because of Watergate.

Most shocking, only 7 of the 70 voters believe Mr. Nixon first learned of the Watergate burglary when he said he did. But 34 believe he knew about it before it was planned—a charge nobody has ever made.

These harsh views are held by a 39-year-old government worker who voted for Mr.

Nixon but now says: "I think he's dishonest. He's just a crook in every way." Another 1972 Nixon voter, a young steel worker, feels Mr. Nixon has done poorly because "there's too much scandal. He should have been able to clear himself when it first came to light."

Nevertheless, these two voters vigorously oppose retirement or impeachment, reflecting a consensus here. Those interviewed oppose retirement by a ratio of 2 to 1; by 35 to 27 with 8 undecided, they oppose even the start of impeachment proceedings.

A registered nurse, an erstwhile Nixon voter who now opposes the President, opposes his removal because "I'm sure he wouldn't try to pull anything else now that everybody's got their eyes on him."

Moreover, these voters express overriding fear of impeachment. By 4 to 1, they believe impeachment—no matter how justified—would weaken the country. A middle-aged factory worker who voted for Sen. George McGovern in 1972 believes Mr. Nixon should finish his term "from the standpoint of the good of the country in the eyes of the world."

Finally, there is a cynical belief that removal of Mr. Nixon would be an act of futility. "Nobody is likely to do a better job anyway," says one McGovern voter, a machinist's widow, so Mr. Nixon might as well finish.

This cynicism also runs deep in reaction to the energy crisis. Nearly half do not think the crisis is serious, over a third confess they are doing little to conserve energy, and a 3 to 1 majority agree the oil companies cooked up the crisis to increase profits. Mr. Nixon gets some blame, but the oil companies get much more.

The general climate of cynicism is typified by the pretty, red-haired 29-year-old wife of a factory worker who believes nothing that Mr. Nixon has said about the 18-minute buzz, suspecting instead he is personally responsible. But, she says, "nobody can do a good job these days" and Mr. Nixon, therefore, should finish his term. Politics is such a dirty business, she and her husband have decided, they will not vote in 1976 or in any future elections.

Spark Quickly Fades

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Writer
A man reaches a peak when his first son gets old enough to shovel the snow.

Next he'll be big enough to be trusted with the power mower and Dear Old Dad can add a summer of no grass-cutting to the winter of no snow-shoveling and the fall of no leaf-raking.

This is the summit sighted when mother first announces that the first-born cleared the light snow from the sidewalk by himself for the first time.

But that joy is more a plateau than a peak. For a boy willingly undertakes these tasks for a very limited number of years.

Soon his excitement at being allowed to shovel the snow by himself, his thrill at being trusted with the growling mower will fade. The joy of many chores dims with the arrival of interest in sports or girls — or both — or the higher motive of performing for pay the tasks his parents once granted grudgingly as a reward for ascending boyhood.

In fairness, be it noted that such plateaus are not exclusively male domain. Girls may not pursue snow-shoveling or grass-cutting — although if that's their pleasure let 'em — but they follow similar trails through baby-sitting and dishwashing. The pig-tailed cutie who begged for the honor of dishwashing at 8 walls with homework, colds, urgent telephone calls and approaching paralysis when offered that chance at 15.

If a man is lucky, his supply of sons may provide years of relief from sidewalk and lawn.

As one boy's interest slides off the plateau on the far side of snow-shoveling as recreation, the next becomes old enough to demand his chance.

It is a wise father who encourages the toddler to trail his big brother into the cold armed with a toy shovel and a willing spirit of imitation.

If there is a rule to such things, it is that the second son will start earlier than the first. And the third earlier still.

But the flame which burns earlier dies sooner and the boy who starts his snow removal career at 6 will weary of that job that many years earlier.

Possibly interest may be spurred in its declining moments by rotating the task. When two boys are equally capable of performing a chore, the one who's being honored gets designated — that sort of honor system psychologically gets more snow removed faster than a process which selects for the task the boy who's been least good most recently.

Among boys, tasks must be rotated though, and not shared. The snow it takes one boy one hour to shovel takes two boys two hours.

Or, as the wise old men of the Ozark hills declared long ago:

One boy's a hand, two boys is half a hand and three boys ain't no hand at all.

Devil Theory Examined

WASHINGTON—When it was first revealed that 18½ minutes of presidential tape had been erased, Gen. Al Haig said facetiously that it was possible that some "sinister force" was at work which no one could explain.

This became known as the "devil theory" and, while it was discarded by most people at the time, it is now being re-examined in the light of the latest testimony by tape experts.

If the tape was indeed possessed by a sinister force,

"How do you know it's the devil?" I asked.
"Who else would want to erase 18½ minutes of tape?"

Certainly not the President or Rose Mary Woods or anyone else associated with the Watergate investigation. The only one to gain on something like this is Satan."

"I don't understand why the devil would get mixed up in Watergate."

"The devil's job is to make trouble and raise doubts and plant suspicion. He knew the best way to do this was to get inside of the Uher 5000 and wipe out portions of the tape that were vital to proving the President's innocence."

"Are you trying to tell me the buzz we heard on the tape was the devil?"

"I am. We know from our research when Satan is up to mischief he always buzzes for exactly 18½ minutes."

"Then why did Rose Mary Woods say she made part of the buzz?"

"She didn't know the tape recorder was possessed. She thought she had caused the buzz by putting her foot on the pedal. But the experts proved that you can't erase a tape on the Uher 5000 with your foot. It has to be done by hand. Who else but the devil would have this information?" Dr. Damien said.

"What can be done now?" I asked.

"We have to get the devil out of the machine."
"You mean exorcise it?"
"Exactly. It's going to be a tough battle but it has to be done."

Other Editors Say Not In The Bag

(Greensboro Daily News)

First there was a newspaper shortage, then a threatened toilet paper crisis. Now the grocery bag is said to be going the way of the dinosaurs and the Whigs. The American Paper Institute claims the trouble isn't really a paper shortage, but rather a shortage of machines to make paper bags, plus the energy shortage and not enough freight cars to deliver wood pulp to paper mills. Whatever the cause, some paper prophets are predicting the shortage won't ease before 1977 or 1978.

The Washington Post reported the other day that supermarkets in the Washington-Baltimore area are giving customers paper boxes, or smaller bags to tote groceries home in. One chain, Safeway, is asking its patrons to bring their own bags. The patrons may be hard put to find any.

For years, European housewives have been using non-disposable cotton net bags for carrying the groceries home. But apparently the supply in this country is limited. A canvas duffel bag of the sort issued to U. S. soldiers in World War II would make a fairly good grocery shopping bag, but there aren't many of those around either.

Possibly the wheelbarrow offers the best replacement for the paper shopping bag. If the suburban American housewife would park her car at home and wheel her wheelbarrow to the shopping center for groceries it would save not only paper but also gasoline. No doubt the local traffic departments would be glad to reserve one lane on each side of the urban expressways for supermarket customers pushing their wheelbarrows. Unfortunately, there's probably a wheelbarrow shortage, too. The Greensboro telephone directory lists in the yellow pages only one company as a supplier of wheelbarrows.

Maybe that sounds as if the outlook is dismal for the supermarket customer. But we saved the positive thinking for the last: The entire grocery bag question may soon become academic, an irrelevant issue, if food prices keep climbing.

No Fast End To Oil Shortages

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—An end to the Arab oil embargo, whenever it comes, will not bring an immediate end to the United States' energy problems.

Eric R. Zausner, an assistant administrator of the Federal Energy Office, said in an interview Tuesday that a nagging oil shortage could drag on for months or years after the embargo is lifted.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger indicated Wednesday that the oil cutoff, begun last October, would end before Arab and Israeli troops complete their withdrawals from their confrontation lines in the Middle East.

Kissinger did not say when the oil might start flowing again, but his prediction seemed to suggest within a few months.

Asked how this would affect the U.S. energy crisis Zausner, the FEO's data-watcher, pointed out that improvement would be as slow to arrive as was the impact of the embargo.

Considering the travel time of oil tankers from the Persian Gulf, it took almost a month for the October start of the embargo to reduce oil imports at U.S. ports, and the full impact was not reached until this month.

Zausner said it probably would take at least four to six weeks or more for Persian Gulf oil to begin reaching the United States once the Arabs release it. He said it could take longer depending how rapidly Arab oil production returns to past levels.

"It could stretch beyond four to six weeks before we even get back to last September's import level," said Zausner.

From an all-time high of 7.1 million barrels a day in early November, the embargo has cost the United States a drop in imports of about 2.2 million barrels a day and the loss may still be increasing.

Even if the Arabs restored previous shipment levels the United States still would not be getting enough, Zausner said.

"We have to get more oil than the pre-embargo levels to meet our rising demands," said Zausner.

Over the past year alone, U.S. daily demands for oil increased by 1.5 million barrels, an average increase of 125,000 barrels per day, all of it furnished by foreign oil.

The longer the embargo goes on, the larger will be the demand for increased imports, and the longer it would take for supply to catch up with demand.

Strength For Today

CLEAR VISION AFTER THE STORM

If you have ever stood on the seashore looking out to sea you have no doubt observed that visibility is usually better on a cloudy day than on a fair day. One can see further when the heavens are overcast than when the sun is shining brightly.

Those who have been through great sorrow almost invariably testify that they saw further into the purposes of God and understood them better upon life's dark days than upon its sunny days. It was after a day of storm, while the clouds still covered the sky, that distant objects stood out in bold relief against the horizon.

This situation is something of a paradox. Pain begets resignation; sacrifice brings forth happiness; it is in sorrow that we know God's greatest gift of comfort. Some day we shall know why all this should be so. It is enough to know now that we know this great fact to be true—that visibility is better on cloudy days than on sunny days.

Considering Permanent 55 MPH Limit In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — The possibility of permanently reducing the maximum speed limit on North Carolina's highways to 55 miles per hour was raised in the House Highway Safety Committee Tuesday.

The possibility was raised by Rep. C. Kitchin Josey, D-Halifax, after Lt. Col. E.W. Jones, state Highway Patrol commander, told the committee that traffic deaths had taken a big drop in December after the speed limit was cut to 55 throughout the state because of the energy crisis.

Jones noted that the number of traffic deaths dropped by 57 in December and were down by 110 from 1973 to 1972. He said so far this year traffic deaths are down by about 25 and asserted that "we can have 200 less traffic deaths in 1974."

Jones said because of the energy crisis there has been less traffic on the highways on weekends and that people are driving slower.

Josey asked Jones whether he would like the legislature to reduce the maximum speed limit permanently to 55.

"I feel if we have a 55 speed limit it will have lasting results," Jones answered.

Josey was not satisfied with Jones' answer. He indicated he felt Jones should make a stronger recommendation on the issue.

"It's an obvious fact that the reduction of speed limits has reduced the number of accidents," Josey said.

He told Jones he thought the patrol should "take their stand and made a recommendation to this committee on a permanent change in speed limits."

Rep. George Miller, D-Durham, chairman of the committee, asked Jones to "make a report as soon as you can get the hard core facts."

Miller told a reporter after the meeting, he felt the General Assembly should seriously consider permanently reducing the speed limits.

He predicted such legislation would command firm support if "data of sufficient weight" is produced.

"Certainly there is evidence of a change in driving habits and if the decrease is due to reduced speed limits, then we're going to have to seriously consider making it permanent," Miller said.

Joseph K. Register of the Motor Vehicles Department told the committee evidence indicated that rural accidents have dropped 35 to 40 per cent while the number of accidents in urban areas have held steady.

Growing Export Demand For Tobacco Is Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Agriculture has given rising export demand as the reason for its Jan. 14 announcement of a 10 per cent hike in the 1974 acreage allotment and marketing quota for flue-cured tobacco.

Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, defended the decision at a House agriculture subcommittee hearing, which brought complaints from North Carolina congressmen.

Before the Jan. 14 decision, the department had been considering suspending flue-cured controls entirely for this year, but congressional and public reaction killed the proposal.

Rep. Wilmer Mizell, Republican from North Carolina's 5th District, said suspension of quotas "would have established a dominion of chaos in tobacco markets throughout the South."

Mizell said he found a great many growers disgruntled and worried by the 10 per cent quota increase.

Rep. Charles Rose, Democrat from North Carolina's 7th District, said companies already have more than a two-year supply of tobacco and he charged that the department is "looking after the interests" of the industry.

Rep. Walter B. Jones, Democrat from North Carolina's 1st District, said farmers in his area were concerned that the government's 10 per cent boost would lead to elimination of the quota system altogether.

"Not at all," said Frick. The department spokesman went on to say, however, that responses to the proposal to suspend quotas altogether indicated that many growers, because of the scarcity of labor, fertilizer, fuel oil and other supplies, would not be able to produce additional tobacco this year.

"This suggests the possibility of reduced production on the farms which will be able to produce it," Frick said.

He added, "After reviewing the responses, it became obvious that we could do no less than increase quotas and allotments by 10 per cent to meet our responsibility."

Report Help Given Over 1,000 People

More than 1,100 persons—not including individuals helped as part of the Christmas program—were assisted by the Salvation Army during the month of December.

The Salvation Army Advisory Board was told yesterday that 14 food orders were given during the month, 23 pieces of furniture distributed, 61 pairs of shoes given and 3,982 garments given to those in need.

In addition, two prescription orders were filled, rent paid for one family, and four burned out families aided.

Also for the month, lodging was provided for two transients, three meals were provided for transients and one bus ticket provided.

At Christmas, the Salvation Army, through the cooperation and assistance of other groups in the county, distributed 218 food baskets and gave 7,000 toys to families in need of assistance.

Some 15 different organizations assisted with the Salvation Army during December in raising $11,500—much of the money collected through operation of the kettles at three locations—to fund the Army's Christmas program.

Two men die in house fire

RALEIGH (AP) — Two men died Tuesday when fire ravaged the small frame house where they lived in suburban Raleigh. Fire officials blamed a faulty wood stove for the blaze.

The dead were identified as James Emory, 66, and his friend Jesse Salmon, in his late 50s. The morning fire occurred at Emory's home in the Six Forks area just north of the Raleigh city limits.

Authorities said Emory, whose body was found wrapped in a blanket on the floor, was burned to death. Salmon, whose body was found near a door, died of smoke inhalation, officers said.

Evans-Novak... (Continued from page 4) then, that may protect Mr. Nixon against the future revelations which, by nearly 4 to 1, these voters suspect lie undiscovered. If their present mood holds, however, even new disclosures will not make the impeachment case against the President.

Sidelined By Her Grandsons

DILLON, S.C. (AP)—A slip on a basketball court has sidelined Mrs. Owen Wallace of Dillon with a broken wrist. "They've kicked me off the team and I'm glad of it," she says.

"I think I've had enough."

Mrs. Wallace was out walking during a warm day last week and she saw two boys playing. She decided to join in, and did fine until her third shot hit the rim and bounced back at her. She ducked the ball but slipped down.

The youths are her grandsons. Mrs. Wallace is 86.

"How do you exorcise the devil from a Uher 5000?"

"First you heat up water in a caldron until it is boiling. Then you throw in white papers on ITT and the milk fund and stir. Add IRS tax returns and three strands of Howard Hughes' mustache. Throw in a dash of Magruder, a sprig of Stans and a cup of Colson.

"Keep the pot boiling and recite the following: 'Haldeman, Erlichman, Mitchell and Dean—' 'The tapes will show the Prez is clean.

"If they don't the story goes—' 'The hum was made by Rose Mary's toes.

"Then," said Dr. Damien, "take the Uher 5000 and throw it in the boiling water until the recording head melts."

"And that will exorcise the devil in the tape machine?"

"It should," Dr. Damien replied.

"What if we go to all this trouble and it turns out Satan was not involved and that somebody in the White House had actually erased the tapes?"

"Impossible," said Dr. Damien. "The devil would never stand for it."

Lemon Sale

It was love at first sight! We adored these fashions when we first saw them. As they arrived in our store we became even more infatuated with them. We threw-out our chest in pride over making such wonderful buys. But something happened... The romance has faded Even our best friends didn't tell us. So now the've got to go... We've come to the parting of the ways. It's Sweet for you-sour for us. Sweet for you-our annual Lemon Sale

More Turning To Irrigation

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — More and more Nebraska farmers are turning to irrigation of their land.

Approximately 2,300 new irrigation wells were registered in the state last year, bringing the total to nearly 41,000 wells which provide water for about 4.1 million acres. Roughly another one million acres are irrigated from rivers, streams or reservoirs.

Like many others across the nation, some Nebraska farmers will be confronted in 1974 with energy shortages. Already last summer irrigators in some areas of the state had to put up with diesel and propane fuel shortages.

Some rural electric districts also found it was not feasible to connect additional electric loads, and there is an indication that the situation will become more difficult.

This is especially true in Nebraska which has an excellent water supply and undeveloped land at a time when agricultural products are bringing handsome prices.

University of Nebraska agricultural extension specialists have estimated that Nebraska required 567.6 million kilowatts of electricity, 45.5 million gallons of diesel fuel, 60.7 million gallons of L.P. gas, and 3,414 million cubic feet of natural gas to power their irrigation pumping plants in 1973.

At the present rate of development, these specialists say, Nebraskans could install enough irrigation wells and pumping plants in 1974 to require another 15 million gallons of diesel fuel, if all units were diesel powered. However, some other forms of energy would be used on some of the new pumping plants.

The state's irrigation development could be slowed down if the energy to operate pumping plants is not available because it appears another 2,300 new systems will be installed for this coming summer, the specialists said.

They emphasized, however, if available irrigation technology were wisely used, the total energy requirement could be reduced nearly 50 per cent, even though this would require many changes in procedures and installation of newer types of systems.

They listed four areas of irrigation technology which, if used properly, could accomplish this goal. They are:

- Increasing water application efficiency.
- Installation of re-use systems.
- Installation of automated surface irrigation systems.
- Increasing the pumping plan efficiencies.

Shortages Feared

HOUSTON (UPI) — A survey of 235 southwestern manufacturers shows the majority fears the major problem for industry in 1974 will be a shortage of material.

The survey was made by the Houston and Dallas consulting firm of Lifson, Wilson, Ferguson and Winick. It involved companies with more than $1 million annual sales in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Get No Lecture At Friendship Center

By JOYCE C. WILLIS
Hartford Times Writer
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Hot soup, a game of checkers and companionship without a sermon are drawing drunks out of alleys into the Friendship Center.

"We come here for coffee, or because we have no place else to go," said one man. "We're not criticized for our behavior and our habits and we're not given any lectures on our life-style, if you want to call it that."

They arrive at the store-front around 9 a.m. for a cup of coffee. Sometimes they bring a companion, a stray dog or cat tucked in a coat.

"Most of us live in the area and we come here to get off the streets, primarily," said a frequent visitor. "It's a place to come where you can get peace and a bit of hospitality. You can come in and get clothing, and anybody in need of any services because of illness, or in need of lodging or counseling can get it here."

The two-year-old center, sponsored by eight downtown churches, provides food and clothing. A vending company distributes its day-old pastries and sandwiches.

Before it opened, they say, there was no place to go.

"We had to be in the alleys, or sit in the park and eventually got locked up," said one. "We were harassed by the cops."

Center Director Kenneth Shortman, an alcoholism counselor for 16 years, said the 115 men and 10 women who frequent the center are sensitive, intelligent people.

"We're here basically to help people on a daily basis," Shortman said. "We give them something to eat, a place to gather, really. This is the one place they can come and not be judged, looked down on."

Life Is Cold And Windy Atop Mount Washington

By STEWART POWELL
 MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. (UPI) — Norman Michaels looked 90 mile per hour winds in the face, protected by a thermal pane window and the world's strongest wood frame building, and talked about what it takes to make a man from Brooklyn happy.

"It's not a job you do for the money. You do it because you like being here. It's beautiful in its own way."

Michaels is one of five men who staff the Mt. Washington Observatory year round. Mt. Washington, at 6,288 feet, is the highest peak in the Northeast and boasts some of the worst weather in the country. It holds the record for strongest wind ever recorded in the world—231 m.p.h., back in 1934.

The observatory staff works in two-man teams, a week on the summit, a week off. Michaels, 25, a 1971 graduate of Brooklyn College in New York City, has worked on top of the mountain for three years.

The observatory is operated by a private, nonprofit firm with contracts for weather observation, scientific research and testing equipment. Michaels receives $375 a month for 19 12-hour days, taking instrument readings and maintaining the station.

Misconceptions
 "One of the largest misconceptions people have is that this is a rough job," the bearded, dark haired man said. "Most of the time, in contrast to what people think, there is more sitting around and eating than going out and braving the wind."

Michaels, like his companion during a recent week on the summit, got the job directly from college. He was writing a senior paper on glaciation in the White Mountains and while visiting the observatory, he dropped off an application.

John Lingel, 27, the man working with Michaels, visited the observatory as a tourist before applying for a job. "I happened to have the right qualifications—a jack of all trades with a scientific background," he said.

Lingel, like Michaels, enjoys the job because it is unstructured. National Weather Service readings are taken every three hours, but there is no one hanging over a shoulder telling what has to be done next.

Lingel, single, has been building his own house in Randolph, N.H., and likes the change of pace working on and off the mountain.

"The week off is nice to have down in the valley," he said.

Biggest Challenge
 "I usually get in enough trouble in a week to want to come back up."

For Michaels, who is married, there are different advantages. "Sometimes getting away for a week is just what you need. Other times it is rough. My wife has adjusted to it okay," he said.

The biggest challenge in the work is getting along with the men on the crew. Michaels estimates that is half the job.

"The last guy was driven out because everyone finally refused to work with him," Michaels said. Cabin fever comes when the men are forced to stay inside their 45 by 24 foot wooden building by driving winds and cold. The men talk about the record wind in 1934, two years before the cabin was constructed of railroad ties bolted to bedrock.

"Around 130 m.p.h., the building will shake pretty bad," said Lingel, born and raised in Ohio. "It can give you an uneasy feeling. It gets hard to sleep sometimes, but I can cure that with a little Scotch every now and then."

Other Hazards
 There are other hazards on the job. Tourism. Some 50,000 persons visited the summit last year. "They left everything you can imagine," Michaels said. Another summertime nuisance is low flying airplanes buzzing the summit. Michaels said a military jet swept over the summit last summer at 100 feet, rocking the quiet with sonic boom. "It was very annoying. You don't expect things like that up here."

With winter, the crews are occasionally called out to search for missing hikers. "I like to help those people although we curse at them for being so stupid," Michaels said. "They usually come ill equipped."

On a clear winter weekend day, the crew may get a dozen visitors who have hiked up from the valley. The crew itself comes in by snow cat, the shifts changing every Wednesday.

"When this building starts shaking because of the wind, you sometimes wonder. But the only thing you really ever worry about is will the weather let you down on Wednesday," Michaels said.

Pitt ASCS Office Will Run Program

Pitt County ASCS Office will be responsible for administering the new 1974 Rural Environmental Conservation Program. The new program, which replaces and modifies the old REAP, has several new aspects of interests to Pitt County residents.

According to Stacy J. Evans, ASCS county executive director, the new cost-sharing phase of the program could be extremely beneficial to Pitt County farmers. It provides for a minimum of 50 percent and maximum of 75 percent return to the user for all expenses he incurs while establishing conservation or forestry practices on his land, including labor costs.

Also under the 1974 program, an applicant can either elect to apply for a single one-year program of conservation improvement or select a three to ten-year continuing program. The extended period of time now allowed will be most beneficial to those wishing rather extensive improvements on their land but preferring to spread them out over a period of years.

All applications must be made directly to the SCS county office. Complete information and details on the specific programs will be available in the very near future.

Evans also said he has the basic information on the program that has been authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture for cost-sharing.

Fourteen separate practices have been announced, plus two which deal with county projects affecting conservation peculiar to a particular county. This year's program places added emphasis on forestry practices which could offer additional interest to some applicants.

The new 1974 Rural Environmental Conservation Program (RECP) will be explained on January 24 and 25 at a regional conference of top officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) of the 17 Eastern States.

ASCs will administer the cost-share agreements through its farmer-elected committee system in close cooperation with other agencies of USDA.

The Linda Hall Library of Science and Technology on the University of Missouri campus at Kansas City is one of the largest in the nation.

ANXIOUS SPRING SUN—The winter sun seems very anxious to become a spring sun. Springlike weather prevailed over much of North Carolina this week. ## Plan No Live TV View Of Skylab Splash

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bad news for space buffs: The CBS, NBC and ABC television networks say they aren't planning live coverage of next month's return of the Skylab 3 astronauts from their record stay in space. Unless there's a sudden change of mind, it'll be the first time in 19 of this nation's manned space flights that the networks have turned thumbs down on live coverage of the now-familiar splashdown. They've missed only one — and not intentionally — since Dec. 16, 1965, when their tradition of live coverage of space homecomings began with the return of the Gemini 6 astronauts.

They had planned live coverage of the Gemini 8 splashdown in 1966, but were blanked out when the spacecraft had a serious malfunction and had to make an emergency landing in the Pacific, far from the eyes of the television camera. Although a space agency spokesman says the networks indicated to him the "costs of coverage" were the primary reason for not televising the return of Skylab 3 live, two networks deny this. ABC and CBS say the estimated $250,000 to $300,000 cost of live network pool coverage wasn't a factor. NBC declined to say whether it was. All say it simply is a matter of news judgement. They'd rather use their time, manpower and money on other major stories they now feel are more important than live coverage of the Skylab 3 return.

If all goes as planned, the Skylab 3 astronauts, who roared off into space Nov. 16, are scheduled to return to earth Feb. 8 at 11:14 a.m. EDT. The space agency says they'll splash down in the Pacific Ocean about 250 miles southwest of San Diego and be picked up by men and aircraft from the helicopter carrier USS New Orleans. Unlike the previous 19 homecomings from space, no equipment for satelliting live or videotape pictures of the astronauts' return will be on the carrier, the networks say. But their television teams, of course, will be aboard the ship with other newsmen and will videotape the splashdown and recovery operations and the ceremonies welcoming the astronauts home. If no major delays develop during all this, a Navy aircraft will fly the videotape to San Diego for pickup by the networks, hopefully in time for their regular evening news programs. The next manned U.S. space flight isn't scheduled until July 1975. It'll involve not only our astronauts, but also those of Russia.

Pupils Toured Reflector Plant

Mrs. Betsy Smith's second grade from the Greenville Christian Academy toured The Daily Reflector office Tuesday afternoon. Those on the tour were: Richie Carr, David Crumpler, Bo Eastwood, Mark Elam, Chris Harris, Kevin Harris, Brian House, Tony King, Bryan Moore, Clark Paramore, Steven Stancill, Ben Stocks, Lee Stocks. Linda Bell, Sheila Bland, Sheryl Brown, Karen Daniel, Anna Hardee, Jamie Hardy, Deana Hemby, Sheila Manning, Rachel Riggs, Sandra Roberts, Denise Robinson and Lynn Rouse.

Accepted By Chowan College

MURFREESBORO—Five Pitt County students have been accepted for admission to Chowan College for the fall semester beginning Aug. 25. The students are: James Edward Bowman, Greenville; Ronald David Gurganus, Bethel; Carter Ellis, Farmville; John Timothy Whitehurst, Stokes, and Timothy Clayton Whitley, Bethel. Chowan College has an enrollment of approximately 1,150 students representing 31 states and 11 foreign countries.

Jaycees, We Salute You

NATIONAL JAYCEE WEEK

JANUARY 20-26

During National Jaycee Week we recognize our local Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes and salute them for their untiring effort on behalf of the community. In Greenville and across the nation, Jaycees put community service before personal glory. These young men and women of energy and action are working today for a better tomorrow, aiming toward the leadership which is such an essential part of their dedication, as in so many ways, they work for all of us... making Greenville a better place to live.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina egg markets Tuesday were steady. Supplies adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 81.73, medium whites 79.72, small whites 73.43.

Hogs
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs steady to 25 cents higher today. Tops of 42.00-43.00 Kinston, Benson and Lumberton; 39.75-41.75 Wilson and High Falls; 41.00-41.50 Rocky Mount; 39.50-40.00 Tarboro and Bethel; 42.75 Fayetteville, Clinton, Dunn, Elizabethtown, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourne, Ayden and Laurinburg; 42.00 Mount Olive; 40.00 Salisbury.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market tone firm today. Supplies barely adequate and demand good. Weights heavy. Estimated slaughter today 1,185,000.
North Carolina hens: Market steady on heavy types. Supplies adequate and demand fair to good. Heavies, at farm, 13 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained moderately higher today, but appeared to be losing ground.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was up 2.61 to 866.08. A half-hour earlier, it was up nearly five points.

Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by about 2 to 1.

Brokers said the market was extending Tuesday's nearly 9 point gain, which was prompted by optimistic predictions about an early end to the Arab oil embargo.

On Tuesday Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he thought the Arab oil embargo would end before complete troop disengagement on the Suez Canal.

NYSE prices included Teleprompter, down 1/4 to 6 1/4; Exxon, which reported sharply higher profits, up 1 1/2 to 88 3/4; Minnesota Mining, which also reported higher earnings, up 1/2 to 78 1/4; and GM, up 1/2 to 53.

On the American Stock Exchange, Champion Home Builders was active and down 1/4 to 5 1/4.

Ziegler Up Before The Press Again

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, a survivor of high-level recommendations that he be replaced because he lacked credibility, is back confronting the media again.

"I intend to give more briefings," Ziegler announced Tuesday. He had just surprised the White House press corps by returning to the press room podium after a lengthy absence from regular briefings.

Ziegler's credibility was shaken last year when he declared "inoperative" Watergate-related statements he had made over a period of months.

"Six months is too long to be away from my friends in the press," he told White House reporters with whom he often has been at odds.

Ziegler has not appeared regularly to brief reporters at the White House since last June. As questions about his credibility were raised by the press corps, key Nixon advisers Melvin R. Laird and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally suggested that he be replaced.

But Ziegler, a former advertising executive with the J. Walter Thompson agency, has survived and been given added stature as a presidential assistant.

While abdicating the briefing podium to his stand-in, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, Ziegler has surfaced periodically to handle major announcements. He last appeared Nov. 29 when Warren was ill.

Some veteran White House reporters suspect Ziegler is returning because Nixon wants his most trusted press man out front now that the serious issues of impeachment and the possibility of more Watergate indictments are coming to the fore.

Asked why Ziegler was returning, Warren said, "The President thought it was a good idea and Ron wanted to do it."

At a 50-minute Tuesday morning briefing, Ziegler faced a barrage of Watergate-related questions.

One reporter asked: "Do you think your credibility has been restored?"

"I think credibility is always a question that has to be determined by the listener," Ziegler said. He said that in speaking for the White House he has stated the facts as he knew them to be and could speak "in very good conscience."

Asked about a new White House directive that all White House aides report to him on their contacts to the press, Ziegler said the procedure was launched because many news stories have been quoting anonymous White House sources. He said Nixon aides now would "go on the record as much as possible except when it is beneficial to us or to you."

When the briefing was over, the press secretary was asked how he liked getting back into the fray.

"Well, it hasn't changed much," Ziegler replied.

Dr. Grace Speaks Here On Problems Of Autism

Durham physician and publisher Dr. Eugene Grace spoke to persons gathered here last night to organize a Foundation for Autistic Children.

"You have available manpower, will have more. You have available financing, will have more. Indeed, you have the potential for one of the local options I have talked about for the past few years."

He demonstrated some knowledge of the baffling condition known as autism, noting that it is caused by biochemical, neurological, and other organic factors, not by anything the parents may or may not have done. The child is usually physically attractive and quite intelligent, but incapable of expressing his feelings and of relating well to others, he said.

"The challenge," he said, "is one of drawing out the mentality that has withdrawn. The children go on to more and more improvement, often to function at normal levels."

"North Carolina is foremost in working with autistic children and the TEACCH program is the effective agency in this state," he added.

He said he may again "stand for the United States Senate." He ran in the Democratic Primary two years ago for the seat now held by Republican Jesse Helms.

He touched on the East Carolina University Medical School issue, saying, "The new medical school you have begun here in Greenville will someday become a great facility for training more medical personnel. Long after the birth pains are gone and the political wounds are healed, people of future decades will receive health care from doctors who came to the medical school at East Carolina University."

Kay Currie of WITN-TV was mistress of ceremonies for the program, which included Mike Karachun, president of the Eastern Branch of the N.C. Society for Autistic Children; Dr. Lorcan O'Tauma, president of the State Society for Autistic Children; and Drs. Eric Shopler and Robert Reichler, directors of the statewide TEACCH program.

Mike Karachun was named temporary chairman of the new Foundation's Board of Directors. The purpose of the foundation is to raise money for a camp for Autistic Children at Camp Chestnut Ridge near Efland in Orange County.

Organizational Meet Tonight

A meeting to form the East Carolina University 4-H and Youth Organization will be held Wednesday in Wright Annex, room 203, ECU campus.

According to Mike Davis, local 4-H agent, the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The new group will perform local service functions for the development of youth. It will allow students to become involved in the local community during their college days.

Any student who is interested in youth work might gain valuable experience from this community youth involvement.

Social activities will include retreats with other universities with similar organizations.

Chosen Student Nurse Of Year

Miss Alice L. Kaylor of Goldsboro has been selected as Student Nurse of 1974 to represent District 8 of the Students Nurses' Association of North Carolina.

Miss Kaylor, a junior East Carolina University School of Nursing student, was named this past Saturday in competition at Wayne Memorial Hospital. She will be competing with nominees from nine districts in North Carolina for State Nurse of the Year in Charlotte in April.

Suspend Permits In Robersonville

ROBERSONVILLE—The State ABC Board, at its January 21 meeting in Raleigh suspended for 60 days the ABC permits issued for the Robersonville Recreation Club, Route 2, Robersonville.

According to the board, the permits were suspended for the club "unlawfully and knowingly failing to have a qualified manager in charge of the licensed premises from... about April 8, 1973, through September 4, 1973... and failing to give the licensed premises proper supervision by allowing the above violation to take place."

PLAN OPPOSITION
ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Spokesmen for the Carolina Environmental Study group planned to oppose today an application for a 2,360,000 kilowatt nuclear powered electricity generating station on the Catawba River.

Ordered Begin Prison Sentence

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Former Rep. John W. Dowdy, 61, has been ordered to begin serving six months in prison for perjury next Monday. The Texas Democrat who served 20 years in Congress is to report to the Springfield, Mo., Federal Hospital.

U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen denied a motion on Tuesday to reduce the sentence. But he ordered a review of Dowdy's physical condition by doctors at the prison hospital and said he would hold another hearing on Dowdy's request afterwards.

Dowdy was convicted by a federal jury Dec. 30, 1971, on charges he conspired to accept a $25,000 bribe from a contracting firm. He also was found guilty of obstruction of justice, illegal use of interstate facilities, and five counts of perjury.

Last March the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., overturned all but three counts of the perjury conviction.

Plan Beginners' Bridge Class

The Greenville Recreation Department plans to begin a beginner's bridge class on Wednesday, January 30 if enough players can be signed up to justify the class. As a minimum, eight persons are needed to begin classes, which would be held each Wednesday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Elm Street Recreation Center.

Interested persons are asked to call 752-2355 for pre-registration for the beginner's lessons.

Depends On The People

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—An official of a leading environmental magazine believes that despite the energy shortage, public opinion will keep the ecology movement from falling out of popular favor.

"It seems to me that everybody agrees that the fuel shortage is contrived or at least partly so," said John Boll, director of research and development for Mother Earth News.

"I don't think people are going to put up with it."

Boll points to a jump in magazine subscription, up 40,000 in the last five months, as an indicator that the public has not forgotten about ecology in the demand for more oil.

He believes the public will discover that the energy shortage, which has brought about a relaxation of certain environmental standards, is being overstated by big oil companies to gain governmental favors.

"It seems to me that the oil companies are managing to get everything they need," Boll said Thursday in a telephone interview. "They're getting higher prices, high sulphur fuel and an option on shale oil land. Environmentalists are suffering correspondingly."

Despite a suspicion of the role of big oil, Boll said his magazine has not dismissed the energy shortage outright. But it has its own ideas on the solution.

"If people did in fact make a major effort to reduce all forms of energy," he said. "I'm sure we could get by until we could develop other forms of energy."

These alternatives, he said, should not include nuclear energy or coal, since both are generated by natural and expendable resources.

"It seems to me that the first thing that ought to be done is the development of solar energy," he said. "Using fossil fuel is like using a savings account."

Instead, Boll said the magazine is pushing for development of solar energy, wind mills and hydroelectricity as energy sources. The staff is also building prototype automobiles which they say will be powered by solar batteries and methane gas.

Saratoga Nips Robersonville

SARATOGA—Robersonville High School split a pair of games with Saratoga Central last night, winning the girls' game, but dropping the boys and junior varsity events. Saratoga took the varsity, 67-65, and the JV, 54-53, while the Robersonville girls won, 36-33 in another thriller.

In the opener, both teams pushed through six points during the first eight minutes of play. Robersonville managed to inch in front in the second period, with a 10-8 margin, for a 16-14 halftime lead.

In the third frame, Saratoga came back and tied it again, 25-25, with an 11-9 advantage. Robersonville inched back ahead and held them off, 11-8, to take the victory in the final frame.

Elaine Forrest led Robersonville with eight points, while Connie Langley led Saratoga with 15 points.

In the boys' game, the Eagles inched into the lead after the first quarter, 16-14, but couldn't hold it. Saratoga came back to outthrust them, 24-18, in the second stanza, gaining a 38-34 halftime lead. The Eagles came back in the third period and tied it up going into the last one, 52-52, as they outthrust their hosts, 18-14. It went right on down to the wire, however, with two free throws by Larry Whitehead with 15 seconds left providing the two-point margin.

James Langston led Saratoga with 22 points, while Willie Sharpe had 17 and Bernard Cooper had 16. For the Eagles, Ernest Crandall had 24 and Tyrone Little had 16.

Robersonville travels to Elm City on Friday.

Nash Central Downs Aycock

NASHVILLE—Nash Central Junior High School gained a 65-46 victory over the E. B. Aycock Phantoms last night.

Nash Central jumped out into a 20-11 lead in the first period of the game, then held off a second period Aycock rally. The Phantoms outthrust Nash, 14-11, and cut the lead to 31-25 at halftime.

Nash pulled away again in the third quarter of play, 16-11, and boosted the lead to 47-36. They outthrust Aycock in the final period, 18-10, to wrap it up.

Tony Worthington led the Aycock scoring with 10 points. Morris Debra, Eddie Lawrence and James Leonard each had 14 points to spark Nash Central.

The loss left the Aycock team with a 3-3 record on the season. Aycock will entertain Bertie Junior High on Friday.

YEAR-ROUND RACING
YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — The 58-night fall harness racing season now in activity at Yonkers Raceway ends Dec. 22. But on Dec. 26, the sulky sport switches back to Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, N.Y.

Michigan State's first soccer-style place kicker was Lou Bobich. He handled placement kicking duties in 1953-64.

Thompson Leads State To Win Over Carolina

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"If State continues to play like that I suppose they can go unbeaten in the conference again," Dean Smith said Tuesday night after North Carolina State beat his North Carolina basketball team for the sixth straight time.

David Thompson scored 18 of his 26 points in a tense second half as the Wolfpack, ranked No. 3 nationally, beat the Tar Heels, No. 4, 83-80.

N.C. State took over first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference on a 4-0 record. It is 12-1 in all games.

North Carolina is 4-1 in the conference and 12-2 in all games.

Another ACC team, fifth-ranked Maryland, got 25 points from Tom McMillen and 20 from John Lucas and defeated Canisius, 86-73. Tom Roy held Larry Fogle of Canisius, the major-college scoring leader, to 20 points, his lowest total of the season and 16 below his average. Maryland won its 12th game against losses only to UCLA and N.C. State.

ACC teams will be in three games tonight.

Wake Forest, 8-5 in all games and 1-3 in the league, will be at Duke, 1-2 and 6-6.

Clemson, 7-7, will not have 7-foot-1 freshman star Wayne "Tree" Rollins at full strength, if he plays at all, in the home game against Furman, 10-4. He sprained his ankle last week. He sat out the last 14 minutes of the 74-65 loss to Wake Forest on Saturday, the Tigers' fifth straight loss, all to ACC foes.

Clemson beat Furman 75-67 for the championship of the Pointsettia Classic in Greenville, S.C., on Dec. 29.

And Virginia is home to Davidson, a team which recently beat South Carolina, which then was ranked No. 11 and now is No. 13.

The North Carolina coach, Dean Smith, said, "That was a great game between two outstanding basketball teams, and State was the better team tonight. Thompson was fantastic. He proved again that he is the most dominating player in college basketball, with the exception of Bill Walton (of UCLA), I guess."

"We played against Julius Erving (now a pro star) and he didn't dominate play the way Thompson does. There is no comparison between the two at this stage of Thompson's career."

"I was very proud of our team. We had a chance to win. Darrell Elston was super for us tonight."

North Carolina closed within two points several times in the second half. Elston scored 23 points.

Coach Norman Sloan of N.C. State said, "I don't know what to say. This was an extremely big game for both clubs. We both had some fine players out there tonight. Monte Towse did a fantastic job for us. I've said it before and I'll say it again: David Thompson is one of the finest players around anywhere."

Bucs Add Two More

East Carolina University Coach Pat Dye has announced the signing of two more people to grants-in-aid for this fall, one a junior college transfer, the first signed this year by the Bucs.

The junior college transfer is Ted O'Neill, a 6-3, 225-pound lineman from Wesley College in Dover, Del. O'Neill's home town is Dorchester, Mass.

The other signee is James Fort, a 5-11, 183-pound back from Raleigh, where he attended Broughton High School.

The signings bring to 13 the total signed by the Bucs this year.

N. C. State Swims Past East Carolina

North Carolina State University rolled to a 65-47 victory over the East Carolina University swimming team last night.

Two meet records were set during the event. One came in the 1,000 freestyle when State's Rick Windes finished in 10:02.39. The other was in the medley relay, also by state.

East Carolina won three individual events and the freestyle relay during the event against the powerful Wolfpack, rated as one of the top teams in the South.

The loss dropped the East Carolina record to 2-3 overall. State is now 7-0.

Kris Kubik was the lone double winner in the meet, winning the 200 and 500-yard freestyle for the State team.

East Carolina's next meet will be Sunday at 2 p.m. when the Bucs entertain the University of Maryland in Minges Natatorium.

Lady Pirates Down Campbell

BUIES CREEK—East Carolina University's women's basketball team recorded its first victory of the season last night, downing Campbell College, 51-43.

The Campbell lassies jumped off to an early lead in the game, moving out to a 14-10 lead after the first period of play.

East Carolina rallied in the second period, however, taking the lead and never losing it again. They outthrust Campbell, 11-4, and forged into a 21-18 lead at halftime.

In the third period, the game remained close, although the Lady Pirates retained their lead. They outthrust Campbell, 9-8, and led 30-26 as the last quarter started. In that, Campbell cut the lead back to as little as a point, but the scoring of Susan Manning, who hit six during the period, led the way as the Bucs outthrust Campbell, 21-17, to claim the win.

Mrs. Manning finished the game with 13 points, while Sheilah Cotten added 13 more to pace the Pirate scoring. For Campbell, Reynolds had 16 and Hawley had 11.

East Carolina, now 1-1, will pay host to the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, in both a varsity and junior varsity game Saturday starting at 1 p.m.

Bucs Host St. Peter's

East Carolina University's Pirates will play host to St. Peter's tonight at 8 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. The ECU junior varsity entertains Southeastern in a preliminary game at 5:45 p.m.

The Pirates go into the game with a 7-6 overall record and a four-game home winning streak against the Peacocks. Following tonight's game, the Bucs will be at home Saturday night against Southern Conference foe Virginia Military Institute.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina egg markets Tuesday were steady. Supplies adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 81.73, medium whites 79.72, small whites 73.43.

Hogs

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs steady to 25 cent higher today. Tops of 42.00-43.00 Kinston, Benson and Lumberton; 39.75-41.75 Wilson and High Falls; 41.00-41.50 Rocky Mount; 39.50-40.00 Tarboro and Bethel; 42.75 Fayetteville, Clinton, Dunn, Elizabethtown, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourn, Ayden and Laurinburg; 42.00 Mount Olive; 40.00 Salisbury.

Poultry

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market tone firm today. Supplies barely adequate and demand good. Weights heavy. Estimated slaughter today 1,185,000. North Carolina hens: Market steady on heavy types. Supplies adequate and demand fair to good. Heavies, at farm, 13 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained moderately higher today, but appeared to be losing ground.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was up 2.61 to 866.08. A half-hour earlier, it was up nearly five points.

Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by about 2 to 1.

Brokers said the market was extending Tuesday's nearly 9 point gain, which was prompted by optimistic predictions about an early end to the Arab oil embargo.

On Tuesday Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he thought the Arab oil embargo would end before complete troop disengagement on the Suez Canal.

NYSE prices included Telemeter, down 1/4 to 6 1/4; Exxon, which reported sharply higher profits, up 1/4 to 88 1/2; Minnesota Mining, which also reported higher earnings, up 1/4 to 78 1/4; and GM, up 1/4 to 53.

On the American Stock Exchange, Champion Home Builders was active and down 1/4 to 5 1/4.

The body will be at Norcott and Company Downtown Chapel from 6 p.m. Wednesday until the hour of the funeral. Family visitation will be held at the chapel tonight from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—An official of a leading environmental magazine believes that despite the energy shortage, public opinion will keep the ecology movement from falling out of popular favor.

"It seems to me that everybody agrees that the fuel shortage is contrived or at least partly so," said John Boll, director of research and development for Mother Earth News.

"I don't think people are going to put up with it," Boll points to a jump in magazine subscription, up 40,000 in the last five months, as an indicator that the public has not forgotten about ecology in the demand for more oil.

He believes the public will discover that the energy shortage, which has brought about a relaxation of certain environmental standards, is being overstated by big oil companies to gain governmental favors.

"If people did in fact make a major effort to reduce all forms of energy," he said, "I'm sure we could get by until we could develop other forms of energy."

These alternatives, he said, should not include nuclear energy or coal, since both are generated by natural and expendable resources.

"It seems to me that the first thing that ought to be done is the development of solar energy," he said. "Using fossil fuel is like using up a savings account."

Instead, Boll said the magazine is pushing for development of solar energy, wind mills and hydroelectricity as energy sources. The staff is also building prototype automobiles which they say will be powered by solar batteries and methane gas.

Ziegler Up Before The Press Again

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, a survivor of high-level recommendations that he be replaced because he lacked credibility, is back confronting the media again.

"I intend to give more briefings," Ziegler announced Tuesday. He had just surprised the White House press corps by returning to the press room podium after a lengthy absence from regular briefings.

Ziegler's credibility was shaken last year when he declared "inoperative" Watergate-related statements he had made over a period of months.

"Six months is too long to be away from my friends in the press," he told White House reporters with whom he often has been at odds.

Ziegler has not appeared regularly to brief reporters at the White House since last June. As questions about his credibility were raised by the press corps, key Nixon advisers Melvin R. Laird and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally suggested that he be replaced.

But Ziegler, a former advertising executive with the J. Walter Thompson agency, has survived and been given added stature as a presidential assistant.

While abdicating the briefing podium to his stand-in, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, Ziegler has surfaced periodically to handle major announcements. He last appeared Nov. 29 when Warren was ill.

Some veteran White House reporters suspect Ziegler is returning because Nixon wants his most trusted press man out front now that the serious issues of impeachment and the possibility of more Watergate indictments are coming to the fore.

Asked why Ziegler was returning, Warren said, "The President thought it was a good idea and Ron wanted to do it."

At a 50-minute Tuesday morning briefing, Ziegler faced a barrage of Watergate-related questions.

One reporter asked: "Do you think your credibility has been restored?"

"I think credibility is always a question that has to be determined by the listener," Ziegler said. He said that in speaking for the White House he has stated the facts as he knew them to be and could speak "in very good conscience."

Asked about a new White House directive that all White House aides report to him on their contacts to the press, Ziegler said the procedure was launched because many news stories have been quoting anonymous White House sources. He said Nixon aides now would "go on the record as much as possible except when it is beneficial to us or to you."

When the briefing was over, the press secretary was asked how he liked getting back into the fray.

"Well, it hasn't changed much," Ziegler replied.

Echeverria May Visit Vatican

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican President Luis Echeverria's European tour next month may include a visit to the Vatican and a meeting with Pope Paul VI.

He would become the first Mexican president to meet with a pope since his country broke relations with the Vatican 40 years ago.

"I think credibility is always a question that has to be determined by the listener," Ziegler said. He said that in speaking for the White House he has stated the facts as he knew them to be and could speak "in very good conscience."

Dr. Grace Speaks Here On Problems Of Autism

Durham physician and publisher Dr. Eugene Grace spoke to persons gathered here last night to organize a Foundation for Autistic Children.

"You have available manpower, will have more. You have available financing, will have more. Indeed, you have the potential for one of the local options I have talked about for the past few years."

He demonstrated some knowledge of the baffling condition known as autism, noting that it is caused by biochemical, neurological, and other organic factors, not by anything the parents may or may not have done. The child is usually physically attractive and quite intelligent, but incapable of expressing his feelings and of relating well to others, he said.

"The challenge," he said, "is one of drawing out the mentality that has withdrawn. The children go on to more and more improvement, often to function at normal levels."

"North Carolina is foremost in working with autistic children and the TEACCH program is the effective agency in this state," he added.

He said he may again "stand for the United States Senate." He ran in the Democratic Primary two years ago for the seat now held by Republican Jesse Helms.

He touched on the East Carolina University Medical School issue, saying, "The new

Organizational Meet Tonight

A meeting to form the East Carolina University 4-H and Youth Organization will be held Wednesday in Wright Annex, room 203, ECU campus.

According to Mike Davis, local 4-H agent, the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The new group will perform local service functions for the development of youth. It will allow students to become involved in the local community during their college days.

Any student who is interested in youth work might gain valuable experience from this community youth involvement.

Social activities will include retreats with other universities with similar organizations.

Saratoga Nips Robersonville

SARATOGA—Robersonville High School split a pair of games with Saratoga Central last night, winning the girls' game, but dropping the boys and junior varsity events. Saratoga took the varsity, 67-65, and the JV, 54-53, while the Robersonville girls won, 36-33 in another thriller.

In the opener, both teams pushed through six points during the first eight minutes of play. Robersonville managed to inch in front in the second period, with a 10-8 margin, for a 16-14 halftime lead.

In the third frame, Saratoga came back and tied it again, 25-25, with an 11-9 advantage. Robersonville inched back ahead and held them off, 11-8, to take the victory in the final frame.

Elaine Forrest led Robersonville with eight points, while Connie Langley led Saratoga with 15 points.

In the boys' game, the Eagles inched into the lead after the first quarter, 16-14, but couldn't hold it. Saratoga came back to outthrust them, 24-18, in the second stanza, gaining a 38-34 halftime lead.

The Eagles came back in the third period and tied it up going into the last one, 52-52, as they outthrust their hosts, 18-14. It went right on down to the wire, however, with two free throws by Larry Whitehead with 15 seconds left providing the two-point margin.

James Langston led Saratoga with 22 points, while Willie Sharpe had 17 and Bernard Cooper had 16. For the Eagles, Ernest Crandall had 24 and Tyrone Little had 16.

Robersonville travels to Elm City on Friday.

Nash Central Downs Aycock

NASHVILLE—Nash Central Junior High School gained a 65-46 victory over the E. B. Aycock Phantoms last night.

Nash Central jumped out into a 20-11 lead in the first period of the game, then held off a second period Aycock rally. The Phantoms outthrust Nash, 14-11, and cut the lead to 31-25 at halftime.

Nash pulled away again in the third quarter of play, 16-11, and boosted the lead to 47-36. They outthrust Aycock in the final period, 18-10, to wrap it up.

Tony Worthington led the Aycock scoring with 10 points. Morris Debra, Eddie Lawrence and James Leonard each had 14 points to spark Nash Central.

The loss left the Aycock team with a 3-3 record on the season. Aycock will entertain Bertie Junior High on Friday.

Post Office In First Win

The Post Office won its first game of the season last night in the Industrial Basketball League, and Wachovia upset State Highway. In the other game, NCNB beat Greenville Utilities.

The Post Office gained a 51-47 victory over winless Prepshirt in the opening game of the evening. The Post Office slipped into a 27-25 lead after one period of play, then outscored Prepshirt, 24-22, the rest of the way.

The Postmen were led by Thomas Perkins with 15 points, while Frank Ligon added 13. For Prepshirt, William Johnson had 13, Zeno Smith had 11 and Clifton Gray had 10.

In the second game, NCNB took a 73-50 win over Greenville Utilities. NCNB worked up a 31-21 halftime lead. They came back to outthrust GUCo, 42-29, in the final half to win going away.

The Bankers were led by Leon Johnson with 19, while Kenny Wood had 18, Randy Martin had 12 and Roy Carawan had 10. GUCo was paced by James Ward with 22, and Jimmy Sutton with 12.

The last game saw Wachovia upset State Highway, 80-67. Wachovia rolled out to a 40-34 halftime lead, then outscored State Highway, 40-33 in the final half.

Wachovia was led by Bill Baggett with 26 points, while Jeff Daniels had 17, and Jerry Smith, R. Brooks and D. Hardison each had 12. State Highway was led by Bobby Edwards with 22, while Jenkins had 12, Smith Worthington had 11 and Jesse Lilly had 10.

Edenton Tops Tiger Matmen

Thompson Leads State To Win Over Carolina

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"If State continues to play like that I suppose they can go unbeaten in the conference again," Dean Smith said Tuesday night after North Carolina State beat his North Carolina basketball team for the sixth straight time.

David Thompson scored 18 of his 26 points in a tense second half as the Wolfpack, ranked No. 3 nationally, beat the Tar Heels, No. 4, 83-80.

N.C. State took over first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference on a 4-0 record. It is 12-1 in all games.

North Carolina is 4-1 in the conference and 12-2 in all games.

Another ACC team, fifth-ranked Maryland, got 25 points from Tom McMillen and 20 from John Lucas and defeated Canisius, 86-73. Tom Roy held Larry Fogle of Canisius, the major-college scoring leader, to 20 points, his lowest total of the season and 16 below his average. Maryland won its 12th game against losses only to UCLA and N.C. State.

ACC teams will be in three games tonight.

Wake Forest, 8-5 in all games and 1-3 in the league, will be at Duke, 1-2 and 6-6.

Clemson, 7-7, will not have 7-foot-1 freshman star Wayne "Tree" Rollins at full strength, if he plays at all, in the home game against Furman, 10-4. He sprained his ankle last week. He sat out the last 14 minutes of the 74-65 loss to Wake Forest on Saturday, the Tigers' fifth straight loss, all to ACC foes.

Clemson beat Furman 75-67 for the championship of the Pointsettia Classic in Greenville, S.C., on Dec. 29.

And Virginia is home to Davidson, a team which recently beat South Carolina, which then was ranked No. 11 and now is No. 13.

The North Carolina coach, Dean Smith, said, "That was a great game between two outstanding basketball teams, and State was the better team tonight. Thompson was fantastic. He proved again that he is the most dominating player in college basketball, with the exception of Bill Walton (of UCLA), I guess."

"We played against Julius Erving (now a pro star) and he didn't dominate play the way Thompson does. There is no comparison between the two at this stage of Thompson's career."

"I was very proud of our team. We had a chance to win. Darrell Elston was super for us tonight."

North Carolina closed within two points several times in the second half. Elston scored 23 points.

Coach Norman Sloan of N.C. State said, "I don't know what to say. This was an extremely big game for both clubs. We both had some fine players out there tonight. Monte Towle did a fantastic job for us. I've said it before and I'll say it again: David Thompson is one of the finest players around anywhere.

Bucs Add Two More

East Carolina University Coach Pat Dye has announced the signing of two more people to grants-in-aid for this fall, one a junior college transfer, the first signed this year by the Bucs.

The junior college transfer is Ted O'Neill, a 6-3, 225-pound lineman from Wesley College in Dover, Del. O'Neill's home town is Dorchester, Mass.

The other signee is James Fort, a 5-11, 183-pound back from Raleigh, where he attended Broughton High School.

The signings bring to 13 the total signed by the Bucs this year.

N. C. State Swims Past East Carolina

North Carolina State University rolled to a 65-47 victory over the East Carolina University swimming team last night.

Two meet records were set during the event. One came in the 1,000 freestyle when State's Rick Windes finished in 10:02.39. The other was in the medley relay, also by state.

East Carolina won three individual events and the freestyle relay during the event against the powerful Wolfpack, rated as one of the top teams in the South.

The loss dropped the East Carolina record to 2-3 overall. State is now 7-0.

Kris Kubik was the lone double winner in the meet, winning the 200 and 500-yard freestyle for the State team.

East Carolina's next meet will be Sunday at 2 p.m. when the Bucs entertain the University of Maryland in Minges Natatorium.

Summary:

400 medley relay: N.C. State (Schlietett, Vestal, Foulke, Lurwick) 3:45.26.

Lady Pirates Down Campbell

BUIES CREEK—East Carolina University's women's basketball team recorded its first victory of the season last night, downing Campbell College, 51-43.

The Campbell lassies jumped off to an early lead in the game, moving out to a 14-10 lead after the first period of play.

East Carolina rallied in the second period, however, taking the lead and never losing it again. They outhit Campbell, 11-4, and forged into a 21-18 lead at halftime.

In the third period, the game remained close, although the Lady Pirates retained their lead. They outhit Campbell, 9-8, and led 30-26 as the last quarter started. In that, Campbell cut the lead back to as little as a point, but the scoring of Susan Manning, who hit six during the period, led the way as the Bucs outhit Campbell, 21-17, to claim the win.

Mrs. Manning finished the game with 13 points, while Sheilah Cotten added 13 more to pace the Pirates scoring. For Campbell, Reynolds had 16 and Hawley had 11.

East Carolina, now 1-1, will pay host to the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, in both a varsity and junior varsity game Saturday starting at 1 p.m.

Bucs Host St. Peter's

East Carolina University's Pirates will play host to St. Peter's tonight at 8 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. The ECU junior varsity entertains Southeastern in a preliminary game at 5:45 p.m.

The Pirates go into the game with a 7-6 overall record and a four-game home winning streak against the Peacocks. Following tonight's game, the Bucs will be at home Saturday night against Southern Conference foe Virginia Military Institute.

Smith Admits Thompson Great

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

There seemed to be little argument over who was the best player in North Carolina Tuesday night.

After North Carolina State had defeated their neighbors at Chapel Hill 83-80, even Tarheel Coach Dean Smith had to rave about was the man who was most responsible for his team's defeat — David Thompson.

"Thompson was fantastic," said Smith. "He proved again that he is the most dominating player in college basketball with the exception of Bill Walton, I guess."

"We played against Julius Erving (now with the New York Nets) and he didn't dominate play the way Thompson does. There is no comparison between the two at this stage."

Thompson scored 18 of his 26 points in the second half to help the third-ranked Wolfpack turn back a rally by fourth-ranked North Carolina.

Thompson provided the winning margin in the closing seconds when he sank a free throw for the Wolfpack, who moved into first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

In other Top 10 action, top-ranked Notre Dame got a scare before defeating Kansas 76-74, fifth-ranked Maryland beat Canisius 86-73, and sixth-ranked Marquette turned back No. 10 Long Beach State 54-52.

Digger Phelps said his top-ranked Irish were not looking ahead to their Saturday rematch with UCLA, but Kansas still almost caught them from behind.

Trailing 49-35 at the half, the Jayhawks, now 11-4, four times pulled within two points led by Rick Suttle who scored 27 points.

Last year, Notre Dame beat Kansas 66-64 in overtime at Notre Dame.

Marquette looked to be in trouble in the first half, hitting only .184. Then one of Al McGuire's assistants came to the rescue, figuring out a way to beat the Long Beach zone.

Marquette came back after being down by 11 points late in the first half and after going ahead by five with six minutes remaining, the sixth-ranked Warriors had to rally again when Roscoe Pondexter scored with 1:09 to put Long Beach back in the lead.

Tom McMillen and John Lucas combined for 45 points to lead the Terrapins past Canisius. McMillen scored 16 of his 25 points in the second half to put Maryland ahead 49-37 with 12:30 to play.

In other games, UT-Chattanooga, top-ranked small college team, beat Georgia State 78-69, Fairfield beat Georgetown 75-71, Creighton defeated Bradley 79-53, William and Mary downed VMI 85-68, Larry Williams scored 25 points to pace Kansas State to a 73-65 victory over Nebraska, Wichita State beat North Texas State 83-76, and the University of the Pacific beat Santa Clara 76-63.

WFL Optimistic About Signing Draft Choices

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Davidson, president of the spanking new World Football League, thinks as many as half of the 72 players his league drafted will wind up playing with the WFL's multi-colored football.

The WFL's 12 teams got a one-week jump on the National Football League Tuesday, running through six draft rounds that parceled out some of the country's top collegiate talent. The NFL holds its two-day draft next week.

"The NFL signs 120 of the 400 players it drafts," said Davidson. "I think we'll sign over half of our choices and at least half of the players picked in the first two rounds."

Those first two rounds included All-American quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas, drafted by Memphis as the WFL's No. 1 choice; Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, chosen by Philadelphia; John Hicks, Ohio State tackle, taken by Florida; and brothers Rod McNeill, a University of Southern California running back, and Fred McNeill, UCLA linebacker, both selected by Hawaii.

Money, as might be expected, was on the minds of many of the draftees, although Davidson said he did not expect the kind of huge bonuses that punctuated the NFL's bidding war with the then maverick American Football League a decade ago.

"I definitely want to play pro football," said Jaynes. "In what league or for what team all depends on the opportunities that develop."

Booker Brown, an offensive tackle from Southern California who went to the Southern California franchise on the third round, said, "It does give me an option ... good bargaining power. All things equal, I'll take the NFL. I've got to go in this order of preference: Money first for security, then convenience (of playing in Southern California). I like the position I'm in."

Georgia defensive end Jim Cagle, picked by Birmingham, echoed those sentiments. "I just want to play anywhere, wherever I get the best offer," he said.

Chicago's fourth-round choice, tight end Steve Craig of Northwestern, said, "I'll know better how I stand when I start negotiations, and I'll have an agent to represent me."

Davidson said the WFL will hold an additional 40 college draft rounds on Feb. 45 and then draft all professional players, including those under contract to the NFL. "We don't want our clubs competing with each other for the same players," said Davidson, who denied that the WFL would raid NFL players. "Let's just say we are offering new employment opportunities to players who might want a change in climate or a chance to make more money."

Sports attorney Robert Woolf said he didn't anticipate a money war on a grand scale. But then he hedged.

"It's only going to take one WFL owner who says, 'I'm going to pay whatever it costs, to blow the roof off,'" said Woolf.

A SURPRISED COACH
DETROIT (AP) — When 23-year Detroit hockey veteran Alex Delvecchio was called into the office to be told he would coach the Red Wings at first he thought he was going to be traded. "But when general manager Ned Harkness asked me to take over as coach," says Delvecchio, "I guess the surprise showed on my face."

Delvecchio admits the Red Wing will have to dig themselves out of a big hole.

Crump To Wait & See

East Carolina's Carlester Crumpler has apparently decided on a "wait and see" attitude on the professional football draft.

Already snapped up in two of the pro leagues, Crumpler, the record setting running back, is going to wait until the National Football League draft is held next week before deciding what to do.

Crumpler yesterday was the only football player in North Carolina drafted by the new World Football League. He was picked in the third round by the New York franchise in the WFL. Previously, he had been picked in the Canadian League by the Toronto Argonauts.

The WFL has not completed its drafts, and will do so in early February, following the full NFL draft.

Old Dominion Ranked Third

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coach Ron Shumate promised last year to bring championship basketball to the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga, and with three victorious outings last week, the Moccasins have taken over first place in the Associated Press college division poll.

Shumate led the Moccasins to a 21-8 season last year, and so far this year, they're 13-1, with their only loss at the hands of Middle Tennessee State University.

UT-Chattanooga — which defeated West Florida, Georgia State and Mercer last week — received 15 first place votes cast by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, for a total of 590 points. UT-Chattanooga had been fourth in the poll.

A key to the Moccasins' success this year has been Walter "Moose" McGary, a third string AP Little All-American last year at center who has moved to forward this year. They also are led by Wayne Golden, who averages 18 points a game and is the nation's leading free throw shooter, averaging 87.5 per cent from the line.

Kentucky Wesleyan, which was beaten 90-89 by Drury, dropped to fifth with a 9-3 record. The Kentucky team got three first-place votes and 380 total points.

Alcorn A&M, 14-2 — with victories last week over Southern University, Mississippi Valley State and Grambling — retained second place with nine first-place votes and 498 total points.

Old Dominion moved up from seventh to third, and Fairmont State jumped from eighth to fourth in the poll. Old Dominion 9-3, had one first-place vote and 421 points, while Fairmont State, 13-0 and the only unbeaten team in the top 15, got three first-place votes and 412 total points.

Jackson State is the only new team joining the top 15. Jackson, which is 15-1 and sustained its only loss to Alcorn A&M, leads the Southwestern Athletic Conference with a 5-0 mark.

Tennessee State, 9-3, dropped from fifth to sixth in the poll with 375 points, and Evansville, 9-4, received two first-place votes but dropped from third to seventh with a loss to Old Dominion. Sam Houston State, 13-1, moved from ninth to eighth in the poll, and Augustana, 12-2, plummeted from sixth to ninth. Wittenberg, 11-1, maintained its hold on 10th.

Rounding out the top 15 were Morgan State, which moved from 12th to 11th; Armstrong St., which jumped from 14th to 12th; Jackson State; Midwestern, which fell from 11th to 14th, and Southeast Louisiana.

The Top 15, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Saturday, Jan. 19, and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. UT-Chatt. (15) 13-1 590
2. Alcorn A&M (9) 14-2 498
3. Old Dom'n'n (1) 9-3 421
4. Fairmt St. (3) 13-0 412
5. Ky. Weslyn (3) 9-3 380
6. Tenn. St. 9-3 375
7. Evansville (2) 9-4 370
8. Sam Hstn St. (1) 13-1 238
9. Augustana (1) 12-2 223
10. Wittenberg (1) 11-1 216
11. Morgan St. 12-1 177
12. Armstrong St. 13-3 126
13. Jackson St. 15-1 92
14. Midwestern 14-1 91
15. S.E. Louisiana 8-3 51

Indians Snap Losing String As VMI Falls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's a front-runner in the Southern Conference basketball race and a leader in the scoring battle, but there's a big jump in the middle in both categories.

William and Mary's Indians created the logjam in the middle of the standings with an 85-68 victory Tuesday night over Virginia Military's Keydets that snapped a four-game losing streak.

As a result, the Indians are tied at 3-3 with The Citadel's Bulldogs and Davidson's Wildcats for fourth place behind Furman's Paladins at 4-1, East Carolina's Pirates at 4-2 and Richmond's Spiders at 3-2. The defeat dropped VMI to 2-3.

Aron Stewart of Richmond has built up an even more imposing lead in the scoring race with 76 points in two games last week that boosted his season's total to 218 points in nine games for a 24.2-point average.

Moving up a notch to second was last year's runner-up to Stewart, Stan Davis of Appalachian State. Davis scored 27 points in one reported game and has 155 points in eight encounters for a 19.4 mark.

After that, it's everybody for himself.

Fessor Leonard of Furman advanced to third with 244 points in 14 games for a 17.4 average and Clyde Mayes of Furman is fourth with 241 points in 14 games for a 17.2 mark.

Leonard, fourth last week, scored 27 points in two games to move up one notch. Mayes was limited to 18 points in two encounters and fell two spots from his runner-up berth of last week.

Fifth is John Falconi of Davidson, who has been out of action the last four games with an injured ankle. He has 188 points in 11 games for a 17.1 average.

Tied for sixth at 16.6 are Greg Dunn of Davidson with 249 points in 15 games and Mike Arizin of William and Mary with 199 points in 12 games. Arizin had 15 Tuesday night against VMI, but Rod Musselman led the Indians with 20 and Ron Satterthwaite had 16.

Bob McCurdy of Richmond is eighth with 197 points in 12 games for a 16.4 mark, Eric Gray of Richmond is ninth with 181 points in 12 games for 15.1 and Nicky White of East Carolina is 10th with 187 points in 13 games for 14.4.

Musselman hit seven of 10 shots from the floor and Satterthwaite connected on seven of 11 as William and Mary shot 52 per cent against VMI. The Indians jumped out to a 10-4 lead and never were threatened as they upped their over-all record to 4-8.

John Krovic had 13 points and Charlie Tyler 12 for VMI, which now is 5-9 against all opposition.

Four teams take on nonconference opponents tonight with only East Carolina, 7-6, at home. The Pirates entertain St. Peter's.

Davidson, 10-5 and winner of four in a row, goes to Virginia, 5-7, of the Atlantic Coast Conference; Furman, 10-4, is at Clemson, also an ACC foe; and Richmond, 5-7, goes to West Virginia.

Hull Says Loops Should Unite

WINNIPEG (AP) — Bobby Hull, the man who became a millionaire by jumping from the National Hockey League to the World Hockey Association, says the two leagues should get together for the good of the fans.

"This has been my thought ever since I signed the WHA contract," Hull said Tuesday. "That at one time or another the two leagues would get together so that we could provide the people with the best possible entertainment."

Hull, the player-coach of the Winnipeg Jets, said he supports the proposed working agreement between the NHL and the WHA. The NHL governors are considering a proposal that would have them pay the WHA $1.9 million in return for the waiving of all lawsuits by both sides.

In addition, there would be 15 exhibition games between the two leagues and, after Aug. 1, the WHA would stop stealing players from the NHL.

Hull, who accepted a 10-year, $2.75 million contract when he left the NHL Chicago Black Hawks for Winnipeg, said, "When I was signing I said there will come a day very shortly when the two leagues would get together, and I'm very happy about it and hope the agreement is the start of something even better."

Dartmouth has won the Ivy League football crown the past six years.

Freestyle swimmer Bill Carington of Sacramento, Calif., captains the Air Force Academy swimming team.

Cedeno Says He's Grown

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astro outfielder Cesar Cedeno says he feels he has grown up a lot in the last few weeks.

"I think this will help me to be a better person," he said. However, Cedeno said Tuesday he expects some fans and players to try to test the effects of his recent conviction on a charge of involuntary homicide in the death of a young woman in Santo Domingo.

Cedeno, 23, drew a $100 fine Jan. 15 after being held in jail 20 days following the Dec. 10 fatal shooting of Altagracia de la Cruz in a motel.

A transcript of the court ruling states that Cedeno was found responsible for having "acted imprudently in allowing the victim to obtain the firearm he was carrying and in handling it clumsily it discharged, causing her death."

Reports that he waited more than a half hour before going to the police station were incorrect, Cedeno said.

He said he went to his house and told his wife and then went to the police.

"I was scared," he said. "I knew my baseball career was in danger."

He said his wife, Cora, brought him food every day at the jail.

"I don't know how she's feeling because she doesn't talk much about what has happened," he said. "She's been very helpful."

The couple flew to Houston immediately after the fine was paid but Cedeno had declined to talk with newsmen until Tuesday.

"I think this will help me to be a better person," he said. He said he was carrying a gun since arriving in his native Dominican Republic in October because he was wearing $4,000 in gold and diamond jewelry.

He said someone had stolen a watch and some diamonds from him a week before the shooting. He said seven men tried to rob him in 1972.

He said he was never concerned about being assessed a long prison term.

"I knew I told the truth," he said. "I was innocent."

School Results

South Greenville swept a pair of games from Wahl-Coates in the Elementary School Basketball League yesterday. South Greenville took the junior varsity game, 32-13, then won the varsity contest, 36-18. Calvin Paige led the South Greenville varsity with 16 points.

In the other games, Elmhurst took both ends of a doubleheader against Eastern. The Elmhurst junior varsity won its game, 29-10, while the varsity came out on top, 23-12. No one hit double figures in either game.

Roy Limits Top Scorer To Low Total As Maryland Rolls, 86-73

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Tom Roy, a high school basketball scoring hero now consigned chiefly to what he calls "the dirty end of the stick" on defense, can still elicit standing ovations.

The Maryland junior was accorded a thunderous cheer Tuesday night after his hounding limited the nation's No. 1 major college scorer, Larry Fogle of Canisius, to his lowest point total of the season.

Fogle scored 20 points, 16 below his average, as the fifth-ranked Terps toppled Canisius 86-73. When Roy fouled out with 6:05 remaining, Fogle had 14 points while connecting on six of 19 shots.

"No one likes to play defense," said Roy, who broke Calvia Murphy's Connecticut scoring records before enrolling at Maryland. "But I've got to admit that it's becoming a lot of fun. If defense is way I can help the team best, I'll play my heart out."

Roy acknowledged, however, that he had lots of help from his teammates in throttling Fogle and conceded that the Canisius star may have had an off night.

When Maryland, now 12-2, lost 80-74 to third-ranked North Carolina State on Jan. 13, David Thompson of the Wolfpack pumped in 41 points. Roy fouled out much earlier that time, but nobody could stop Thompson.

"I thought I played one of my best defensive games against Thompson," Roy said, "but he was hot."

"When Thompson makes his first three or four shots, he usually stays hot the rest of the game. When I blocked a couple of Fogle's shots early, that may have had some bearing on his shooting."

Fogle, who 10 times this season has scored 30 or more points in a game, credited Roy with being "a good, strong player," but observed that the imposing 6-foot-9 Len Elmore under the basket also had a psychological effect.

"I'm not taking anything away from Roy," said Coach John Morrison of Canisius, "but when you see guys like Elmore and McMillen underneath, you've got to think twice."

The 6-11 McMillen led the Terps with 25 points, and like Roy grabbed 13 rebounds. Elmore snared another 15, as the Terps held a whopping 46-26 edge in that department.

Guard John Lucas scored six of his 20 points while Maryland ran off a 10-point string for a 35-22 lead late in the first half. Canisius, 9-5, kept battling back and trailed by only 77-69 with two minutes left.

Charley Jordan, eligible for just the last four games, topped the Golden Griffins with 24 points.

Coach Lefty Driesell of Maryland, which faces fourth-ranked North Carolina on Saturday, was disappointed with his team's over-all effort.

He said the timing was off and described as "horrible" the 13 combined turnovers by guards Lucas and Mo Howard.

Buffalo Revamping Paying Off As Braves Pass .500 Percentage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When General Manager Ed die Donovan and Coach Jack Ramsay revamped the Buffalo Braves during the off-season, they didn't expect instant success — but that's just about what has happened.

The Braves, who won 22, 22 and 21 games in their first three years in the National Basketball Association, won their 25th game of the 1973-74 season Tuesday night, beating the Philadelphia 76ers 119-109.

That boosted Buffalo's record to 25-24 and made this the latest point in any season that the expansion club has been above the .500 mark.

Jim McMillian hit 10 consecutive shots and scored 32 points for the Braves against Philadelphia. Bob McAdoo added 21 points and 14 rebounds and Gar Heard had 20 points and 15 rebounds.

In other NBA games, the Houston Rockets beat the New York Knicks 108-93, the Chicago Bulls topped the Atlanta Hawks 102-89, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 103-96, the Golden State Warriors edged the Capital Bullets 99-97 and the Cleveland Cavaliers nipped the Los Angeles Lakers 111-110 in overtime.

There were no games in the American Basketball Association Tuesday night.

Steve Mix scored 27 points and hauled in 17 rebounds for Philadelphia. Toby Kimball added 22 points.

Rockets 108, Knicks 93
Mike Newlin scored 28 points and Jack Marin 20 to lead Houston to its third straight victory over the defending NBA champion Knicks at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Bulls 102, Hawks 89
Chicago outscored Atlanta 16-1 at the start of the third period to erase a 47-43 deficit and go in front 59-48, and the Hawks never regained the lead. Bob Love topped Chicago with 28 points, while Atlanta's Pete Maravich led all scorers with 30.

Chicago's team physician, Dr. Robert Biel, handling the Bulls while Coach Dick Motta served the final game of a three-game suspension, was able to go out a winner—and a happy one.

"I am very thankful that my brief coaching career ended tonight," he said. "It was very hectic for me."

Kings 103, Blazers 96
Nate "Tiny" Archibald scored 31 points, handed out 10 assists and made five steals to spark the Kings past the Trail Blazers. Center Sam Lacey grabbed 20 rebounds for KC-Omaha.

Sidney Wicks was high man for Portland with 28 points.

Warriors 99, Bullets 97
Jeff Mullins sank a pair of free throws with 14 seconds to play to clinch Golden State's victory.

Cavaliers 111, Lakers 110
Baskets by Len Wilkens and Bingo Smith, followed by two free throws by Wilkens with 13 seconds to go in overtime, lifted Cleveland over Los Angeles.

Carolinas Teams Will Challenge Irish Soon

By KEN ALYTA
AP Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE (AP) — Notre Dame's basketball team, suddenly No. 1 in the nation, will play Carolinas teams the first three Saturday afternoons in February.

The Irish will be at home Feb. 2 against Davidson, Feb. 9 against Duke and on Feb. 16 will be at South Carolina for a televised contest.

Frank McGuire's 13th-ranked South Carolina Gamecocks have a pair of games in New York's Madison Square Garden this week. They play Fordham Thursday night in the 9 p.m. game of a doubleheader that matches Southern California and Seton Hall in the opener.

On Saturday Seton Hall plays South Carolina in the 7 p.m. game, with Fordham meeting Southern California in the second contest.

Third-ranked North Carolina State, embroiled in the usual struggle for ACC supremacy, can't afford a letdown Saturday afternoon at Purdue. The Boilermakers, unranked, lead the Big 10 with a 5-0 record and are 12-4 overall.

They handed Michigan its first conference loss in overtime Monday night. State was a winner in the schools' only basketball meeting, 84-71 in 1971.

Duke University is on the verge of achieving its 1,000th basketball victory. The Blue Devils' 6-6 start this year makes the school's 69-year record 997-511.

Duke's next three opponents are Wake Forest tonight at home; Princeton, away, Saturday; and Davidson, home, next Wednesday.

Billy Cunningham was hailed as the man who turned around the Carolina Cougars, but maybe you weren't aware how much he meant to the ABA team.

When he left the team for kidney surgery in New York the Cougars were 22-10 and led the ABA East by 2½ games Dec. 12.

Without him, they are 8-12 and in third place, three games off the pace.

Quote of the weekend came from Bill Foster after his ambitious UNC-Charlotte 49ers were routed by N. C. State 104-72.

Said Bill:
"I thought we might catch them a little 'down'. But did you see them during player introductions? I looked over there and they were slapping each other and then when the starting five was in the center circle the whole team charged out there and they all about stomped through the floor."
"I said, 'Good Lord—they're up for it.'"

Race Reminder Of Olden Days

By BILL SCHULZ
Associated Press Writer
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — The dogsled and driver burst through a break in the trees, race down the trail and, as the command "gee" echoes off the snow and frozen branches, swing to the right and out of sight behind a hill.

This living reminder of the Canadian and Alaskan frontier is the dogsled racer, a growing breed of outdoor sportsmen.

"To me, there's nothing greater than to get behind 14 to 16 huskies, going through that snow as fast as they can go, pulling with all they can pull to serve you," said Tom Mathias, 34, a professional racer from Decatur, Mich.

"It's just fantastic in that silence out in the country," said Mathias. "When you drive that dog team out there, there's nothing you could like better if you like nature."

It's not that quiet during races, though. In Michigan, the races draw 3,000 and more fans. Officials on snowmobiles often follow the racing teams.

Most Michigan races are short "speed" races; 20 to 30 miles.

"You usually can do 20 miles in an hour and 10 minutes," Mathias said. He can, anyway. He's been the Michigan champion the last five years.

Races range in size up to Alaska's Fairbanks-to-Nome competition, a 1,800-mile endurance test. Teams average about 50 miles a day, pulling on the sled everything they need for survival.

Many types of dogs are used in amateur racing — huskies, Malamutes and German shepherds among them.

The most common dog on amateur racing teams is the Siberian huskie. Most professionals use the Alaskan huskie, a cross between the Siberian and the larger Alaskan Malamute. The Alaskan also is known as the Indian dog, a fast, tough animal weighing 45 to 60 pounds, with tremendous endurance.

"The Indian dog can run his heart out for 30 miles, sit down half an hour and rest, then go and do that 30 again," Mathias said. "Pound for pound, I think he may be the strongest animal around."

There are two secrets to winning — a good lead dog and a well-trained team.

The lead dog must be fast and smart.

"You don't want the biggest, meanest, toughest dog as your lead dog," Mathias said. "You want a nice medium dog that gets along with the others, that has a great desire to please you. And, he's got to be the fastest dog on the team."

"He's got to be able to learn the commands, gee (turn right) and haw (turn left) and want to obey them."

"You put your two best dogs at the front and the two second best dogs at the back. There're 86 feet of dogs in front of you, with 16 in a tandem harness, and the only way you can control them is with your voice."

Training starts in the late summer with a heavy, wheeled cart, sometimes weighing 1,000 pounds, to build the dogs' strength and endurance.

Add New Assistant

ATLANTA (AP) — Defensive secondary coach Dave Braine of the University of Richmond has become the sixth new coach added to the Georgia Tech football staff since Pepper Rodgers left UCLA for the head coaching job at Tech in December.

In announcing the addition Tuesday, Rodgers said Braine had been at Richmond for three years. Braine lettered three years as a defensive back at the University of North Carolina and served as an assistant at Virginia Military for four years.

Tech also announced the signing of quarterback Hamilton Barksdale of George Wingate High School in Brooklyn, N.Y., to a football grant-in-aid.

Barksdale, a 5-foot-10, 175-pounder, hit on 188 of 354 passes for 2,510 yards and 27 touchdowns during a three-year high school career. He also rushed for 1,394 yards and scored 13 touchdowns.

Named As Top Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — John Ralston, who gave the Denver Broncos their first winning season, was named today the American Football Conference's Coach of the Year by the Pro Football Writers of America.

Ralston, in his second season as Denver head coach, kept the Broncos in contention for the AFC's Western Division championship until they lost 21-17 to Oakland in their final game. Denver improved from a 5-9 record to 7-5-2.

Ralston came to the Broncos two years ago after a successful tour at Stanford University.

Last year's AFC winner was Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins. The writers earlier named Chuck Knox of Los Angeles as this year's NFC Coach of the Year.

Area Vocational Rehabilitation Employees Honored At Meeting

PRINCIPALS. . . on the program of the Vocational Rehabilitation Eastern Regional Awards Luncheon here yesterday are (left to right) Clarke Edwards, Director of Manpower of the Department of Human Resources; Forrest Teague, Regional Director; Claude Myer, State Director; Guy Hubbard, Assistant State Director; and Roosevelt Simmons, Employee Relations Director. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Vocational Rehabilitation employees from 33 Eastern North Carolina counties gathered here yesterday to receive awards for longevity on the job.

Hoyle Hendrix of Greenville led the list with 44 years of state employment, 28 of these in Vocational Rehabilitation. 108 others were cited for various numbers of years of service from five up.

Forrest Teague, Regional Director, welcomed those present. Claude Myer, State Director, congratulated Clarke Edwards, a Fountain native who is Director of Manpower for the State Department of Human Resources, of which Vocational Rehabilitation is a division. Edwards brought greetings from Secretary of Human Resources David Flaherty, who was meeting with legislators. He had been the scheduled speaker.

Giving out the awards was Roosevelt Simmons of the Employee Relations Office of Voc. Rehab.

Dr. Frank Fuller, developer of a Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor Education Program at East Carolina University, was surprised with a special award for his contribution to the handicapped people of North Carolina. Teague, who presented the award, said Dr. Fuller has taught many of the people present and has worked for confidentiality for counselors and other benefits for counselors of all kinds. Dr. Fuller, a Greenville City Councilman, is Chairman of the Counselor Education Department at East Carolina University. Vocational Rehabilitation Counseling has been moved to the School of Allied Health now, but Dr. Fuller continues to show an interest in the Voc. Rehab. field, Teague said.

John Mewborn and Alice Williams were recognized for their planning of the Awards Banquet, held at the Ramada Inn here. Greenville Moose Lodge Those present were invited to attend a banquet at the retirement Feb. 1.

Cigarette Sales Rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission said today it expects cigarette consumption for 1973 to show the largest yearly increase since the U.S. surgeon general warned of the effects of smoking on health.

Since the figures were preliminary and subject to adjustment late in the year, the FTC did not interpret the estimated 3.8 per cent increase in over-all consumption.

But indications are that Americans smoked 5 to 8 packs more per person in 1973 than they did in 1972, despite the government's best efforts to discourage smoking over the past 10 years.

Americans in 1972 smoked nearly 201 packs per person, including smokers and non-smokers, according to commission figures gathered from cigarette manufacturers.

In its required year-end report to Congress, the commission noted that experts have estimated 1973 consumption was up 3.8 per cent, which would make total consumption over 582 billion cigarettes. The 1972 total was 562 billion.

Dutch Tanker Rescues Survivors In Sea Fight

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A Dutch tanker rescued 23 South Vietnamese crewmen of a patrol boat sunk last Saturday in the battle for the Paracel islands, the Saigon command announced today.

The command said two of the men died shortly after they were picked up and two others were in serious condition.

Saigon's chief military spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said South Vietnamese ships and a spotter plane were searching for the other 59 crewmen of the sunken ship. But he said the survivors reported their captain and a large number of their shipmates were still aboard when the ship went down.

The survivors stayed afloat for 79 hours in life preservers before the tanker Kopionella picked them up about 175 miles east of Da Nang and about 50 miles west of the Paracel archipelago, Hien said.

He said the men reported: Their ship was hit by a Chinese missile and set afire last Saturday morning. The captain ordered the crew to abandon ship but stayed aboard himself, and a "large number" of the men remained with him. An hour later, the Chinese opened fire again, and the boat sank six hours later.

The survivors were picked up at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Hien said. They were transferred early today to a South Vietnamese patrol craft and taken to a hospital in Da Nang.

After the battle last Saturday and Sunday, Saigon said a Chinese amphibious force overran a garrison of 62 South Vietnamese who were put ashore to reinforce the Vietnamese claim to the barren, coral Paracel islands and any oil deposits that may be beneath the ocean floor around them.

China also claims the Paracels, and its claim was recognized by the 1951 San Francisco peace treaty after World War II.

An American civilian employed by the U. S. Defense Department is also missing in the Paracel battle. The U. S. Embassy said today that he was Gerald Emil Kosh, 27, of Lafayette Hill, Pa.

The Embassy said Kosh, a former Marine officer, was a liaison officer with the South Vietnamese navy in Da Nang.

It said he went to the Paracels on Jan. 15, before the trouble developed, on a South Vietnamese navy boat making a routine inspection.

China has announced that it captured "personnel of the other side" during the battle and would return them "at an appropriate time." But it has said nothing about an American among the captives.

The Saigon command also reported today that fighting had dropped to its lowest level in six weeks as South Vietnam began the three-day Tet celebration of the lunar new year.

In Cambodia, the government rushed 2,000 reinforcements today to the marshland two miles southwest of Phnom Penh to counter a new Khmer Rouge threat to the city. It was the rebels' closest advance toward the capital in six months.

Gyro Troubles Plague Skylab

By HOWARD BENEDICT AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Frequent faltering of a control gyroscope has prompted the early dispatch of the Skylab 3's prime recovery ship.

But space officials say astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson can probably complete their 12-week mission even if the ailing stabilizer breaks down.

"I have a good feeling we're going to go the 84 days — if the gods smile on us," said Skylab Program Director William C. Schneider.

Schneider said backup systems probably could hold the station steady without the gyro for the remaining 16 days of the mission.

Many scientific experiments would have to be curtailed, however.

A photo survey of earth was anceled Tuesday after almost continuous fluctuations of the gyroscope.

"We should be prepared for it to go out at any time," Schneider said. "But hopefully it won't go out at all."

If it did fail, "we wouldn't come home in a rush" because control of the 85-ton station would shift automatically to computer-managed thruster systems, he said.

But, after the gyro acted up for more than 8 hours Tuesday, Schneider ordered the carrier USS New Orleans to leave for the splashdown zone off the California coast. It will sail on Saturday from San Diego, Calif., three days ahead of schedule.

"Don't construe this as meaning we're coming home early," Schneider told newsmen. "We just don't want to block the possibility of coming home early."

Oil Reserves Unknown

By DAYTON BLAIR
Associated Press Writer
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Are the United States and the rest of the world "drowning in oil" that hasn't been tapped while many nations are crippled by shortages?

Maybe, says a spokesman for the Association of Petroleum Geologists. But much of it has still to be found. And up to now it hasn't been possible or economical to produce it.

Fred A. Dix Jr., executive director of the association of some 15,000 geologists, warns against optimism that the United States will be able to become self-sufficient in energy within a short period of time.

"In 10 years, maybe. Fifteen years, yes," Dix says, speaking of all energy sources, not just oil.

Referring to a recent statement by consumer advocate Ralph Nader that the world is "drowning in oil," Dix said: "If Nader includes the world he is right; if he means the United States, it just isn't there."

Dix compared oil with the amount of gold in the world. "There's lots of gold, too, if you could get it out," he said. "There's enough oil left in the world but we (geologists) look at it in terms of what can be recovered at a reasonable cost." A 1971 report by the association estimated potential reserves of oil that has been found in the United States at 332 billion barrels. That has been increased by Alaskan discoveries.

Of that amount, an estimated 32 per cent can be removed with present technology.

The ultimate potential of oil in the United States, that already discovered plus undiscovered but expected, totals about 810 billion barrels.

So far in history about half — or 425.2 billion barrels — had been found by the end of 1970.

The newest sources of oil which have been found are the Alaskan area, Gulf Coast and North Sea. Another major source, Dix says, will be off the eastern coast of the United States.

And looking to the more distant future, Dix says the areas around the Pacific Ocean have huge potentials. He cited Australia, Indonesia, New Zealand, Antarctica and the California areas as major possibilities. It will take 15 to 20 years to build up a volume of production in those areas, he predicted.

Right now the United States can hold its own within the next 10 to 15 years by a drastic increase in domestic production — including such areas as Alaska and the Santa Barbara coast of California — and by developing other energy sources such as coal, shale, geothermal and nuclear energy, he said.

Consumption Of Pork Declining

CHICAGO (UPI) — The amount of beef consumed by the average American increased by 68 per cent during the 20-year period ending in 1970, but the amount of pork he consumed declined.

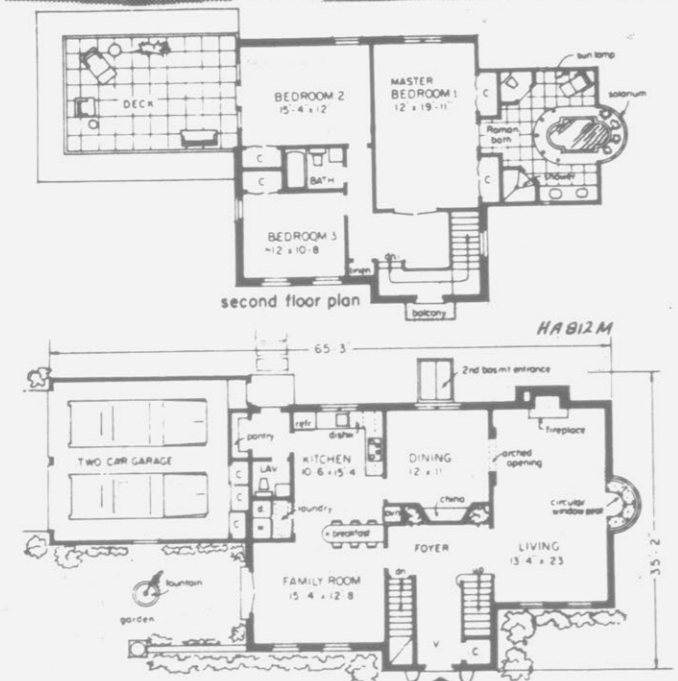

According to statistics from the American Meat Institute, per capita annual consumption of beef was 50 pounds in 1950 and 84 pounds in 1970. Pork consumption fell from 64.4 pounds in 1950 to 61.8 pounds in 1971.

WEST GERMANS GAVE FOR LEPERS

WUERZBURG, Germany (AP) — West Germans donated more than 14 million marks or $4.8 million during 1972 to assist 345 leprosy stations throughout Africa, Asia and South America.

A spokesman for the Aid Fund said there are more than 10 million people throughout the world still suffering from leprosy.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS HOME DESIGN, Plan HA812M, has some features of the small French chateau and the Victorian style. It is built with a central tower, onto which two wings are attached. The tower contains the front entrance, lower and upper foyer and stairway. The upper portion of the staircase becomes a long platform which runs from one side of the foyer to the other. From this, a doorway opens onto a dramatic balcony above the front entrance. The foyer is 17 feet long, enhanced by the open railed stair and a far wall of full-length mirror and planters. The living room bay window continues up through the second floor. There, the master bedroom has a most luxurious bath, for true solarium lounge bathing. The house has 1,255 square feet on the first floor and 1,096 on the second. Architect Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501, will answer queries about the cost of the blueprint. ## Atlanta Radio Comedian Has A Light Touch

By CHARLES S. TAYLOR ATLANTA (UPI) — Barney Oldfellow is 120 years old and is worried about his wife becoming pregnant.

Leland Pickett is a member of a union on strike since 1938. The government subsidizes both the union and the company.

High-school football Coach Bull Brown hates long hair, fearing that it leads kids to smoking and wearing bell bottom trousers.

These zany characters and many others are the inventions of the fertile mind of Ludlow Porch, renowned southern authority on just about everything.

Ludlow Porch, in turn, actually is Bob Hanson. The fictitious characters, which also include "Mr. Juanita" the hair stylist, and "Nutsy Ferguson" the boxer, help Hanson put across one of the wildest radio shows ever to hit southern radios.

"Lunch Break" is called "Lunch Break" and is a product of Atlanta's six-year-old radio station WRNG.

Hanson, 39, is an ex-Marine who weighs 260 pounds and stands just over six feet tall. He and his wife, Marie, have eight children. He is a native of Atlanta, a former insurance adjuster, and has his own public relations firm.

His one-hour talk show, with listeners phoning in comments, is heard throughout most of Georgia. It is a sideline which Hanson hopes will become a big thing.

"I'd like to earn a living at it," he said. "It's so much fun it's almost a shame to take money for it."

Hanson made a name for himself in Atlanta as an expert on trivia—a man who could answer questions about the most trivial of matters. He branched into his own radio program when WRNG went looking for a lighthearted hour to break up discussions of race, abortions, busing and politics.

Crunk Letters He called his program "The Lunch Break with Ludlow

He never resorts to dirty jokes or ridicule.

During one of his programs, there were 2,000 calls he couldn't get around to answering. And on the day he was interviewed, the switchboard was jammed with calls during the entire program, 490 of them going unanswered.

Catfish Capital BROOKFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — This Linn County community claims to be the "Channel Catfish Capital" of the state because of a unique fishing project. More than 4,000 yearling channel cats were put in the Brookfield Reservoir, after a community project to grow them in wire-mesh cages for the first year was finished.

Known As Trade And Mark Smith

NEW YORK (UPI) — The bearded Smith Brothers, whose portraits have appeared on boxes of cough drops for more than a hundred years, were the actual founders of a company based on their father's secret recipe for "a flavorsome and efficacious cough candy."

In 1866, William and Andrew Smith started the cough drop concern in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., according to Robert Marston and Associates, Inc. When their pictures first appeared on the box over the word "trademark," the printer mistakenly split the word so that William became "Trade" and Andrew "Mark."

Beef Prices Again On Rise; Not Unexpected

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
It's budget stretching time again for millions of Americans who are finding beef prices on the rise after a brief spell of stability.

An Associated Press survey shows beef prices at the retail level rose 10 and 20 cents a pound on most items in the past two weeks.

The boosts reflect higher wholesale costs — up about 25 or 30 per cent since the beginning of December. People in the industry say the higher wholesale costs are the result of production cutbacks that stemmed from last year's freeze.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting on the Consumer Price Index, said Tuesday that retail food costs during 1973 rose 20.1 per cent. The December boost was three-tenths of one per cent.

A glance at the meat counter was all it took to confirm the bad news.

At Shaw's supermarket chain in New England, lean hamburger was selling for $1.29 a pound this week. Last week, the price was $1.09 a pound and a year ago it was 99 cents. That's an increase of about 30 per cent over one year.

Eugene Owens, the meat buyer for Shaw's, blamed wholesale price rises. "It's been nothing but up every day for six weeks," he said. "We held as long as we could. And from what we can tell, it looks like prices will hold at the higher level for the next two or three months."

A spokesman for Fisher Foods Inc. in Cleveland, Ohio, said that in the past three weeks ground beef went from 88 to 98 cents a pound. He said the wholesale prices leveled off this week, but added: "Everything we've heard nationally is that prices are going to go up

Will Reconsider Auto Insurance

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The effects of the energy crisis on auto liability insurance rates will be considered at a hearing next month on a rate hike request.

And, state Insurance Commissioner John Ingram said Tuesday that rates might be reduced if evidence at the hearing supports a reduction.

Ingram told a pre-hearing conference that evidence, such as state Motor Vehicle Department records which show decreasing highway fatalities, would be considered at the hearing.

"Many companies have announced energy crisis rate reductions in other states," Ingram said, "but where is the proposal for North Carolina?"

until spring." The price rises weren't really unexpected. Some consumers had been lulled into a false sense of security by beef sales in the last three months of 1973, but industry spokesmen predicted all along that prices would rise early this year.

The lower prices last year were because cattlemen withheld livestock from market during the beef price freeze. When the freeze ended, there was lots of beef available.

Now, however, that beef has been eaten and supplies are down because fewer cattle were placed in feedlots during the freeze.

Harrison Named To New Duties

Program Director Johnny West of WNCT Radio in Greenville today announced the appointment of Jay Harrison as Music Director and Assistant Program Director of the Big 1070.

Harrison, a nine year broadcasting veteran, will take over as music programmer and will assist in other programming functions.

In addition, Harrison will continue to perform as the evening personality on WNCT-AM, airing his show from 6:00 to 11:00 p.m.

Earn Dean's List At N.C. State Univ.

In spite of the energy crisis, 20 Pitt County students must have burned the "midnight oil" at North Carolina State University during the fall semester.

In any event they earned the grade averages entitling them to places on the North Carolina State University Dean's List.

The 20 students—hailing from seven Pitt towns—were among 3,250 NCSU students named to the prestigious honors list. More than one in four of the University's 14,000 students were tapped for the honor after earning grade averages of "B" or better.

Pitt County Dean's List students mastered courses in a wide variety of fields. A popular area of study for the Pitt honorees is engineering.

NCSU offers more than 2,300 courses for its 70 bachelors of arts and science and 60 graduate degree programs.

The following are the Dean's List students from Pitt County and their classes, fields of study and hometown addresses:

Greenville
Donnie W. Brewer, senior, civil engineering, 207 Granville Dr.; Robert H. Forbes, junior, civil engineering, Rt. 1; Benjamin D. Forrest, freshman, agricultural education, Rt. 3; Carl R. Gilchrist, junior, civil engineering, 1104 E. Wright Rd.;

Ayden
Brian T. Murphy, senior, wildlife biology, 225 Churchill; David W. Oglesby, freshman, recreation and park administration, 2 1005 S. Elm Street.

Farmville
Steven A. Sayce, freshman, engineering, 305 Lee St.; Billy W. Sutton, sophomore, politics, 1508 N. Pitt St.; Thomas F. Trevathan, sophomore, civil engineering, 1908 Forest Hills; Ralph C. Tucker, senior, Rt. 9.

Other
Lloyd W. Eichorn, sophomore, English, Rt. 1; Charles M. Smith, junior, agricultural education, Rt. 2.

Other
Martin H. Albritton, freshman, engineering, 103 Duke Dr.; John D. Andrews Jr., junior, civil engineering, 504 Grimmsburg St.; Fred T. Sauls, senior, recreation and park administration, 601 W. Church St.

Other
Phillip J. Abeyounis, freshman, civil engineering, Bethel; David T. Cox, sophomore, electrical engineering, 402 McRae, Grifton; John M. Hardison, junior, engineering operations; John M. May, freshman, pulp and paper science and technology, Winterville; Phillip W. Mobley, junior, recreation and park administration, Rt. 1, Robersonville.

Merit Plan Is Endorsed

RALEIGH (AP).—The council of the North Carolina State Bar has endorsed the concept of selecting state judges on merit, rather than the current method of election.

However, B. E. James, executive secretary of the State Bar, said the resolution passed by the council Tuesday took no position regarding legislation now under consideration.

A plan pending in the General Assembly provides that the governor would appoint all judges, making his selection from a list submitted by a statewide judicial nominating committee. A constitutional amendment must be enacted by the General Assembly before the plan could be put into effect.

James said the State Bar council made its endorsement following a review of the response of a questionnaire soliciting the views of all Tar Heel lawyers on the subject.

James said about 20 per cent of the lawyers responded and they favored a merit selection process by a 10 to 1 margin.

Caught 9-Pound Rattlesnake

SAN ANTONIO, Fla. (UPI).—The largest diamondback rattlesnake captured during the month-long 1973 Rattlesnake Round-up here was a nine-pound, three-ounce one snared by Ercelle Smith of Plant City, Fla.

Buck Myers of Clay Hill, Fla., captured the most rattlesnakes with eight.

The Worry Clinic Practical Need Is Overlooked

Harry offers the widespread complaints of medical students. For professors split hairs and try to advance their own fame by petty improvements on previous discoveries. They stress "gnats" but overlook the "camels" of private practice!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Z-532: Harry K, aged 22, is a medical student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "my father is a farmer, so I grew up in a rural area.

"And I'd like to go back to my village community to serve as a Family Physician.

"But most of the emphasis in Medical School is on costly hospital practice and 'big city' medicine.

"Why don't the Medical Professors wake up to the millions of folks in small towns and rural areas?

"Besides, why stress so many fancy experiments in biology and chemistry, while ignoring the practical, everyday medical complaints of ordinary people?"

"I'd like to see more General Practitioners on the faculty, to inject some of your 'Horse Sense' into college teaching.

Braintruster Medicine
You faithful readers know that my reaction to Harry's remarks is a resounding "Bravo!"

For I have long vetoed the university emphasis on "braintruster" teaching and have thus urged more stress on practicality or "Horse Sense."

In the last July-August issue of "The American Farmer," C. M. Wilson wrote a splendid article outlining how the medical profession can return to the Family Physician concept.

Down in Virginia, the Medical College has already established a Department of Family Practice.

Prof. Leon P. Bloodworth is an able professor therein and cites his own medical education, as follows:

"I was trained expertly," he began, "to treat acute medical problems.

"I knew how to handle strokes and heart attacks.

"But not until after I had graduated did I see a case of chicken pox, measles or mumps. "I had never removed a wart, nor even so much as treated an ingrown toenail."

This tendency to ignore the everyday medical complaints in favor of glamorized heart transplants, brain surgery and Caesarian deliveries of babies, inflates the ego of the professors of such subjects.

For such medical experts are highly competitive and always hungry to see their names printed above their petty technical improvements on the surgical techniques of rival doctors.

But the REAL medical practitioners who burnish the halo linked with the medical profession are out in private practice, soothing the worries of frantic mothers and raising the morale of feverish youngsters, as by holding their hands and offering a few words of encouragement.

In dentistry nowadays, the phrase "wet finger" dentist has come into vogue to separate the glorified professors, salaried dental surgeons in Public Health Bureaus, plus those in pharmaceutical research laboratories and Military Service.

Such holders of the D.D.S. degree often have almost no comprehension of the financial and professional dilemmas of the versatile "wet finger" dental surgeons.

Such research professors quibble for an entire semester over scientific "gnats" but ignore the "camels" of vital private practice out on the firing line of real life.

It's the salemen who place the discoveries of cloistered scientists into widespread popular use, and the M.D. should be the effective salesmen of everyday medicine.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Thornsby . . .

"Why no. You're right in step with the 40's!"

Opening lead: King of ♠.
Declarer used what little of value he found in dummy to best advantage, and brought home a heart game that would have failed with less careful play.

North made a well-reasoned bid when he gave a false preference to South's first suit. Despite the fact that he held three diamonds to an honor, North realized that the most likely game was at a heart contract, which would require only 10 tricks, rather than diamonds at a level higher.

The defenders started with three rounds of spades, declarer ruffing the third. There was a temptation to use the only entry to dummy to take a heart finesse, and that would have been a perfectly satisfactory line had the trumps split 3-3. However, that was against the odds, and declarer had to guard against a 4-2 trump split. If he gave up a trump trick on the third round and was forced again with a spade, one of the defenders would be left with a long trump.

To counter this, declarer made the fine play of the queen of hearts from his hand. It would not have helped East to win the trick and play another spade, for declarer would ruff that in dummy. Nor would any other return do the defense any good.

Accordingly, East came up with an excellent defensive gambit—he allowed declarer to win the trick. Had South continued with another heart from his hand, East's tactic would have been rewarded with a one-trick set.

However, declarer was up to the challenge. He crossed to dummy with the queen of diamonds and led a heart, finessing the jack. The ace of hearts was cashed, and declarer's foresight was rewarded when the king did not drop. All that declarer had to do was abandon trumps and play his side-suit winners. East could ruff whenever he wished, but declarer still had a trump to control the spade suit. His only losers were two spades and a trump.

Coonskin Cap Back On Tenn. Market

By CHRISTOPHER CABOT
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee, the frontier home of Davy Crockett, has put the coonskin cap back on the market.

Last year the Tennessee Legislature literally saved the coon's hide by forbidding the sale of raccoon skins or carcasses in deference to the critic's position as the state animal.

However, as Sen. Edward Blank, D-Columbia, put it, trappers objected to the law because it protected "one kind of carcass, but endangered another—their own."

"Watergate hell," one senator groaned. "You don't know what political trouble is until you try to explain that vote to a bunch of coon hunters."

So the first act of this year's legislature took the protection off coonskins and carcasses and put the state animal back up its tree.

A good, stretched coon fur can bring about $8. Usually sold as trimming to apparel, they often are exported.

Rep. John Bragg, D-Murfreesboro, who sponsored the measure, said there will be no shortage of raccoons under the new law.

One Nashville fur buyer, Bragg related, said he was buying $50,000 to $60,000 worth of Tennessee coonskins a year until they were outlawed in 1973.

Historically, Tennessee is as famous for the coonskin cap as anything else. Davy Crockett immortalized it, and the late Estes Kefauver campaigned in one across Tennessee when he took Sen. Tom Stewart's Democratic Senate seat in 1948.

For latter day, non coon hunting Tennesseans, the value of the animal is more mythical.

"The last time I went coon hunting," Bragg said, "the dogs treed a half-dozen possums and finally ran a skunk right through the middle of the campfire. That skunk got every one of us. That soured me on coon hunting."

Diamond Mine Tour

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Western International Hotels says guests in its hotel in Johannesburg will have an opportunity to tour diamond and gold mines in the South African region.

On the route is the Premier diamond mine, largest of its kind in South Africa where the famous Cullinan Diamond was found. The tour includes an underground visit.

The hotel tour program also includes visits to diamond polishing works and to the Western Deep Levels, one of Africa's largest old mines where a short has been bored two miles below the surface.

N.C. POSTER CHILD for the 1974 March of Dimes is ten-year-old Gregory Bradley, of Tarboro.

Tarboro Native Is Poster Child

Gregory Allen Bradley, age 10, has been named 1974 March of Dimes State Poster Child for North Carolina. Dewey W. Chapple, Jr., State March of Dimes Chairman, has announced. Gregory lives in Tarboro, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bobby Bradley, brothers Wayne, 14, Jeffrey 12, and two year old sister, Peggy Sue. Born with Achondroplasia — dwarfism, Greg is presently 27" tall and weighs 24 lbs. Doctors state that Greg's total growth should be approximately 30". He has had corrective surgery several times on his ankles and feet to aid his walking. He began to walk at the age of 5. An important part of Greg's life right now is his attendance in first grade. Gregory's brothers are a big help. Wayne helps him get on and off the school bus, and Jeffrey checks with him during the day at school. Gregory's Mother states that he is doing well in school; especially since the arrival of a special gift. His "made-to-order" desk was given by the Occupational Therapy Group at East Carolina University. There are approximately 6,200 children born each year in North Carolina with significant birth defects. The March of Dimes supports research and medical service programs aimed at prevention and treatment of birth defects. North Carolina Chapters support a Birth Defects Genetics Counseling Center at Chapel Hill, and a variety of local programs. These include public education, hospital equipment, and patient aid.

Ramsey Favors Again Sponsor 'Great Decisions' For East

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — House Speaker Jim Ramsey spoke out strongly Tuesday for the tax relief package which comes before the House for a second time today. "I'm in favor of thif package for several reasons," Ramsey said in a prepared talk to a Henderson civic club. "Number one, I think the state of North Carolina needs this kind of tax relief from the standpoint of the manufacturer's inventory and retail inventory tax." He said eliminating the inventory tax, as the tax package would do after five years, "would help the economic growth of our state and make more high-paying jobs available for our people." Ramsey pointed out that the states of Tennessee, Virginia,

South Carolina and Georgia have already eliminated their inventory taxes. The House speaker also told the group that Gov. Jim Holshouser does not practice what he preaches when it comes to economy in government. Ramsey said the last General Assembly added 8,500 new employees to the state's payroll "at the governor's request." He said in the new budget the governor is requesting approximately 4,600 additional new jobs. "What he says he's in favor of and what he requests the General Assembly to do don't jib," Ramsey said. "During his campaign and after his inauguration he said he was in favor of economy in government."

"Great Decisions—1974," a program of discussions of current issues, will be sponsored by East Carolina University's Division of Continuing Education again this year. The program is offered by the Foreign Policy Association, a private, non-profit and non-partisan organization which works to develop through education an informed and articulate American public opinion on major issues in world affairs. The basic requirement for involvement in the program is at least five interested persons to agree to meet once a week for eight weeks and discuss the topics covered in this year's "Great Decisions" booklet. Topics include Western Europe and the U.S., the President vs. Congress, the Soviet-American Detente, Cuba and the Panama Canal Zone, the Energy Crisis, Israel and the Middle East, the People's Republic of China, and "People, People! How Many Can the Earth Support?" The "Great Decisions" program can be used for personal development, for political club activities, for civic or church groups and for teacher certification credit. The only cost of participation is the price of the "Great Decisions" booklet. No professional discussion leader is required, since all information needed is given in the booklet. The UNC television network will carry weekly programs related to the series beginning Wednesday, Feb. 13. Groups who wish to use the television program as an additional resource should consider scheduling their series then. Further information about the program is available from Richard Morin at the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville, or telephone 758-6143.

Pine Beetle Is Found In Pitt

The Southern Pine Beetle, one of the South's most destructive forest insects, has been found recently in a number of pine stands in Pitt County, according to Mark Webb, N.C. Forest Service county ranger. Now is the best time to control the spread of these bark beetles, Webb said. "I am checking all known beetle-killed areas in the county and recommend to owners of infested stands that they cut and salvage these trees.

If this is not done now, warm weather probably will bring a rapid increase in beetle population," he said. The Southern Pine Beetle is a small reddish-brown to black beetle about the size of a grain of rice. It bores buckshot-sized holes directly into the inner bark of the pine tree. Here, between the bark and the wood, the beetles eat out a winding s-shaped tunnel causing a flow of sap and resin to form at the entrance holes in the bark. Sometimes a reddish-brown "sawdust" will be found the holes.

Sliced into in the winter, an infested tree is apt to hold beetles in their tunnels in all stages of development—eggs, grubs, and adults. In the spring the first adult beetles emerge and attack nearby "host" trees. Later-emerging beetles, attracted by the odor of fresh resin, swarm to these same trees and by sheer numbers quickly kill their victim. During warm, dry periods large beetle centers can build up quickly, especially in mature unthinned stands of timber. Landowners suspecting beetle damage in their pines are urged to contact County Ranger Webb at either 752-1954 or 756-0410.

rejecting." A number of the women and some of the men said they felt that their own childhood has played a role in their decision not to have children, and almost all indicated a fear that one or both partners would be inadequate or dislike being a parent. "I think my childhood played a very important role," Mrs. W. said. "I was raised as an only child by my father and a stepmother I despised. I never saw motherhood in a positive way. I wanted to be the exact opposite." "I had a sister 15 years older than me," her husband said, "so, in effect, I was an only child. I didn't have a sense of family and I've gotten used to not having a family." The number of couples choosing not to have children, although still small, is steadily increasing. Figures compiled by the Census Bureau show that one out of every 25 wives between 28 and 24 years old intends to have no children. Six years ago, the figure was one out of every 100 wives. Although their ranks are growing, those electing to remain without children are, of course, a small minority, and like many small minorities tend to band together for support. There is even an organization, the National Organization for Nonparents, which, through its newsletter and chapters across the country, puts childfree couples in touch with one another and offers support for their choice. And some support would seem to be warranted for, while the childfree couple may be more acceptable today than in the past, the problems of rude questions, family pressure and society that still expects marriage to produce children, remain. "My mother," said Ken W., "only asks us about kids once a week now. She used to ask a lot."

Speaking At DSA Event

State Sen. Hamilton Horton Jr. of Winston-Salem will be the guest speaker here Thursday night at the Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award and Bosses Night banquet. Horton, first elected to the Senate in 1971 following a term in the N.C. House of Representatives, currently serves as the Republican Joint Caucus Leader in the General Assembly.

Morgan Pays Filing Fee

RALEIGH (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan has paid his $425 filing fee to enter the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate this year. Morgan, who announced his candidacy at a news conference in Raleigh on Monday, was accompanied by a group of supporters and aides as he filed Tuesday at the office of State Elections Board Secretary Alex Brock. The fee of $425 represents 1 per cent of a U.S. senator's $42,500 annual salary. "I have today paid my filing fee and am now fully prepared to take my campaign to the people," Morgan said afterwards.

Art Student Is Exhibiting Work

Joanne Martin, senior student in the East Carolina University School of Art, is displaying examples of her work in a campus exhibition this week. The exhibit, scheduled to run through Jan. 26 in the first floor hall cases in Rawl Building, includes studio work in various media and interior design projects. A candidate for the BS degree in art education, Miss Martin will graduate at the end of winter quarter. She is at present student teaching in the New Bern City Schools. She is the daughter of James W. Martin of Conway, N.C.

Contributions Also Accepted

The Greenville Jaycees, in addition to selling grape jelly to raise money for the N.C. Burn Center now being established, are accepting contributions for the Center. Anyone wishing to give for this cause may send a check to Greenville Jaycees, Box 258, Greenville, N.C. 27834, according to Burn Center Project Co-chairman Johnson Moore Jr.

Sterilization Suit Asks For $1 Million

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — A $1 million suit has been filed in U.S. Eastern District Court here seeking to strike down North Carolina's sterilization law as unconstitutional. The suit, filed last Friday by the American Civil Liberties Union in behalf of Elaine Riddick Trent, 19, now of New York City, is the second of its type to be filed by the ACLU. Both involve former North Carolina residents. The latest complaint alleged that Mrs. Trent suffered physical and emotional injury because of the operation performed in 1968 at a hospital in Edenton. The suit seeks $1 million in damages from the defendants. The suit names state and local officials and Dr. David Wright, who allegedly performed the operation. Besides Wright, the action also names the state Eugenic Commission and social services boards in Perquimans and Chowan counties as defendants. The suit said Mrs. Trent "was required to submit to an operation of sterilization because she is a black woman who, at the time of the sterilization, was a minor and a member of a family receiving government assistance." The suit states that Mrs.

Trent entered the hospital at Edenton on March 5, 1968, and gave birth to a son. The same day, her grandmother was asked to make her mark on a hospital consent form which she could not read. The operation was performed the same day without Mrs. Trent's knowledge or consent, the suit said. The suit also asks that the state's sterilization law be declared unconstitutional. Under the law, the Eugenic Commission is empowered to authorize sterilizations for mentally ill or mentally retarded adults or minors. The ACLU's first sterilization suit was filed in July, 1973, on behalf of another North Carolina woman, Nial Ruth Cox, also a New York City resident now.
