Top 4-H Awards Made At Achievement Night Event

Top 4-H awards went to Julie Brown and Eddie Stallings Thursday night at the annual Pitt County 4-H Achievement Program held in the American Legion Building.

Miss Brown was named "4-H'er of the Year" while Stallings was named "Outstanding Action and Adventure Team Organizer."

Awards were presented to 4-H clubs and leaders for the contribution to the 4-H program during 1973. Slides were shown of 4-H events held during the past year.

The Grifton Pioneer Club was named "4-H Club of the Year." Local clubs that received charters included: Grifton Succeders, Farmville Trojans, Winterville Chargers, Helping Hands, Bethel Golden Eagles, Fountain Trailblazers, and St. John Cougars.

Recognition was also given to adult leaders for their contribution to the 4-H program. Mrs. Gladys Avery of Bethel received a certificate for her 10 years as a 4-H leader. Mrs. M.D. Allen of Grifton was presented a five-year anniversary certificate.

Mrs. Avery also received a gold certificate for her contribution to youth in Pitt County. This award was given in memory of Mrs. Virginia Savage, extension 4-H secretary for many years prior to her death recently.

Other awards included: Vicky Lynn Clark, Mark Anderson and Lisa Distefano, "Mulligan Stew"; Frankford Johnson, forestry; Karen Williams, natural resources; Angelo Jones, citizenship; Randy Eubanks, safety; Julie Brown, fruits and vegetable use.

Project winners included: Stella Mitchell, Child Care, Health and sewing; Kim Eubanks, health and crafts; Pam Smithwick, health; Debbie Allen, electric, recreation, home furnishings and food nutrition; Raymond Allen, health and electric, gas conservation, camping, and recreation, home furnishings and foods nutrition;

Raymond Allen, health and electric, gas conservation, camping, and recreation; Randy Eubanks, electric and wildlife; Julie Brown, junior leadership achievement, consumer education, home environment and citizenship.

Entertainment included music by Kim Langley and the presentation of a program entitled "There's More in '74", a preview of what is ahead for 4-H members.

Rising Prices, Growing Unemployment Seen Until Mid-Year Turn

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will be pounded by powerfully rising prices and increasing joblessness until the economy takes a mid-year turn for the better, President Nixon's annual economic report said today.

Conceding the economy is caught in the worst inflationary spiral in a generation, Nixon urged patience by consumers. "To correct a powerful trend of the economy which has been going on for some time requires time," he said in a message to Congress.

The grim, but somewhat hedged outlook by his three-man Council of Economic Advisers: a 6 per cent rise in consumer prices in 1974, compared with 8.8 per cent last year, with the economy growing by only one per cent for the entire year.

The jobless rate will average 5.5 per cent but will rise close to 6 per cent in the first half of the year as economic output dips to near-recession levels, the council said.

Nixon expressed frustration over dealing with the nation's many economic problems. But he said the American people are better off than they think.

He reaffirmed his faith in a free economy and said the system of wage-price controls he established in 1971 to corral inflation would continue to be phased out. When, he didn't say.

The lengthy economic report also scooped the President's budget message, scheduled to go to Congress Monday. It showed the budget for fiscal 1975 will total $304.4 billion, with a deficit of $9.4 billion.

Defense spending will rise about $7 billion to a record level of $87.7 billion.

Nixon said the budget will impose moderate economic restraint, because the total spending does not surpass the revenues that would be brought in by the government in a time of high prosperity.

He promised to step in and increase federal spending if necessary to keep the unemployment rate from going too high as a result of the energy crisis.

Consumers can expect food and fuel prices to rise sharply between now and mid-year, Council Chairman Herbert Stein said.

After the sharp increases in the cost of living have run their course, the rise should slow to an annual rate of about 4.5 per cent in the second half of the year, the report said.

Nixon outlined this strategy for dealing with the nation's economic problems partly brought on by the energy crisis:

—The budget will create little stimulus, but spending will be increased if necessary should unemployment get too high. Tax cuts are a possibility. Nixon urged Congress to approve legislation to improve the unemployment insurance program to help ease the energy crisis' impact.

—He said he will work with the other oil-consuming nations to avoid a worldwide recession. Higher energy prices will be permitted for maximum domestic exploration and production, he said.

—"We will continue our policy of maximum agricultural production to help hold down food prices," he said.

The United States will find itself with higher import bills for oil in 1974 and, as a result, what was once expected to be a sizable trade balance will probably be wiped out, the report said.

The money that industrialized nations will have to shell out for higher oil prices from the Arab oil-producing nations could lead to "cumulative recession," the council said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the fuel shortage tightening its economic grip, the nation's unemployment rate rose from 4.8 per cent to 5.2 per cent in January, the biggest monthly increase in four years, the government said today.

The Labor Department blamed actual or anticipated shortages of gasoline and other petroleum products for a substantial loss of jobs last month in the aviation, automobile and recreation industries.

Nearly 370,000 workers lost their jobs, raising total unemployment in the nation to a seasonally adjusted 4.7 million. This pushed the jobless rate over five per cent for the first time since last May.

Administration economists predict the job situation will continue to worsen this year due to the fuel situation and general economic downturn. The White House has estimated the rate will climb to about six per cent but a number of private economists believe it could go to seven or eight per cent, depending on how long the fuel shortage lasts.

January's increase in the jobless rate was the largest since January 1970 when it rose from 3.5 to 3.9 per cent.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said nonfarm payroll employment, which grew rapidly last year, leveled off in December and then dropped by 260,000 last month.

Dunn Advises Begin Crime Fight Early

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

"If you want to do something about crime, be concerned enough to get involved," Charles Dunn, Director of the State Bureau of Investigation told a meeting of the Men of the Church at the First Presbyterian Church here last night.

"If you are really concerned about crime and its prevention, then you need to be concerned with the young people before and after they get into trouble. The best way to fight crime is to prevent it. And the best way to prevent it," Dunn emphasized, "is to provide meaningful opportunities for youth involvement within the home, the church, the school, and the community."

"When you boil it down, the most effective way to do something about crime is to be concerned enough to get yourself involved somewhere in the criminal justice system. There is plenty of room and plenty of need."

"And if you don't get involved," the SBI director said, "you will have no one but yourself to blame for the crime in our society."

Dunn, who outlined the situation in law enforcement in the state today, said "we've seen some real progress in law enforcement in North Carolina in the past four or five years... we've turned the corner and headed toward professionalization."

He cited an increase in state services to local law enforcement agencies such as the establishment of the Police Information Network (a computerized system that ties together local, state and federal law enforcement agencies) and an expanded SBI crime laboratory, "considered one of the best in the country."

Dunn also said General Assembly action in setting minimum standards for new law enforcement officers and minimum training standards as well as minimum salary legislation ($6,000 per year) have had an effect.

But Dunn said, "The only thing we've been doing is catching up."

Pointing to the criminal's mobility and initiative, "plus the complexities" of the legal system, "one in 50 of you this year stand the chance of becoming a victim."

The old pros are still around and more young people are turning to serious crime, Dunn pointed out.

In the state "every day, there are about two murders, two rapes, eight robberies, 113 aggravated assaults; 274 burglaries, 427 larcenies and 21 motor vehicle thefts," according to Dunn.

At Med School Talk Accreditation Said A Solvable Problem

RALEIGH (AP) — An accreditation expert says it is at least theoretically possible to gain accreditation for an expanded medical school at East Carolina University.

Dr. John Cooper of Washington, D.C., president of the Association of American Medical Colleges, made the statement Thursday night to an ad hoc committee of about 40 legislators and university officials. The group met behind closed doors at a Raleigh motel.

Afterwards, Cooper told newsmen that a plan such as that proposed by ECU supporters could be accredited if it were properly funded, staffed and equipped.

Cooper refused to say, however, whether the ECU school would be accredited if the legislature decides to overrule the University of North Carolina board of governors and build it anyway.

"They have to come up with the plans. Then we'll look at it," he said.

After hearing from Cooper, there was still no sign that the legislators and university officials had reached any kind of agreement on the controversial ECU expansion bill now in the General Assembly. It was the group's second closed-door meeting.

In response to questions from newsmen, Cooper said that several other states have accredited medical schools operated on a basis similar to that proposed for ECU.

He said Florida State University has a medical school in which the students take their first two years of medical science on campus and the last two years of clinical training in teaching hospitals around the state.

ECU supporters are proposing that their school be expanded from one to two years, and that the third and fourth years be conducted in Area Health Education Centers to be built around the state.

Cooper's statement supported a position of ECU backers who have claimed that the accreditation issue is a "red flag" raised by UNC supporters.

The UNC supporters had cited a 1973 report by a committee of Cooper's association which was critical of the quality of the current one-year program at ECU, which is accredited as a part of the medical school at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Cooper said his association had not determined yet whether those deficiencies have been corrected.

If they are not, he said, the existing medical school's accreditation could be threatened. A medical school must be accredited to qualify for federal funding.

Few Views Felt Changed In 'Frank' ECU Meeting

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

"It was a very frank meeting," Rep. Gerald Arnold, D-Harnett said this morning of a gathering held in Raleigh last night on the question of expanding the East Carolina University medical school.

Members of the General Assembly, officials from ECU, and members of the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina met for a second time last night in what has been described as an effort to effect a compromise over a bill introduced last week in the Legislature calling for expansion of the ECU medical school to a two-year program and increasing the size of classes from 20 to 40.

Arnold said representatives of accrediting agencies told those gathered last night that a plan such as that proposed by ECU supporters could be accredited if it were properly funded, staffed and equipped, a position that ECU backers have held all along.

The accreditation officials "laid to rest this whole accreditation smoke screen..." used by UNC backers in their battle against the ECU expansion, Arnold indicated. "I don't see how they can hold that club over our head any more."

Arnold said of the meeting, "We got some honest appraisals. People on the other side just flat said our program was a real tragedy."

Pointing to the Area Health Education Centers also included in the ECU expansion bill (the Board of Governors has recommended expansion of the AHEC program while saying the ECU program should not be expanded), Arnold said, "Every time we get together there's a different version of what the AHECs are going to do. I have questions now whether we ought to put money into this program. Now I'm not sure."

Dr. Edwin Monroe, vice-chancellor for Health Affairs at ECU, who also attended last night's session expanded on the AHEC question.

According to Monroe, legislators and others in the past have thought of the AHECs as centers which would provide clinical training for medical students, as well as treatment centers for area residents.

"For the first time, several legislators finally understood that the AHEC program Chapel Hill is proposing will not provide clinical training for third year medical students... as the operation is planned now."

The ECU official said the AHEC program, "as conceived by Chapel Hill will not provide major clinical training for third year students, but would be geared to produce a few residents and some elective experience for fourth year medical students.

"This is the way they would operate it... it doesn't have to be that way, but that's their view of it."

"That came through very clearly during the discussion..." Monroe commented.

The ECU official noted, "I don't think the legislators who were there heard anything that would change their thinking... because the legislators who are opposed to expansion here (at ECU) are opposed to it no matter what they hear."

He noted that the officials describing accreditation procedures "clearly indicated that a medical school which is authorized and funded will be accredited."

"There has been no medical school in this country in modern day times which has not achieved accreditation," Monroe said.

Wide Discrepancies In U.S. Gasoline Pricing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Go South, car owner, for some relief from rising gasoline prices. But if you drive in Alaska you'll see how high prices can be.

An Associated Press road check of gasoline prices in all 50 states showed lowest prices for regular gas hovering around 40 cents a gallon in these states: Louisiana, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Texas and Wisconsin.

But Alaskans were paying from 55.9 cents to 58 cents a gallon for regular and up to 62 cents a gallon for premium gas.

Premium buyers in many other states — California, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Washington, Utah and Wyoming — were paying 56 cents and more per gallon.

The road check also showed that:

—Operators in most states said their allocations this year have been reduced. Frequently, they will fall short of last year's supplies by 15-20 per cent.

—The Northeast seems to have the most severe gasoline shortages.

—Prices varied considerably within each state — often by as much as three cents a gallon and sometimes as high as 10 cents.

—No one could explain precisely why there was such a discrepancy in the prices of the same grade of gasoline in the same state. Some operators said they were told what to charge by the oil companies. Others said they were adhering strictly to federal guidelines.

—Many operators said their customers were having to put up with waiting in line for gas, shorter service station hours and in some cases a week or two of the month without any gas available at their regular station.

—There are other exceptions to the gas pinch. Around Helena, Mont., an AP road check revealed no trouble getting gas, no gas-by-appointment and even Green stamps available at some stations. In some western states, the tourist traffic is down and some operators have more gas than they can sell.

Church Burned In Wilmington Demo Response

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield delivers his party's official response to President Nixon's "State of the Union" speech tonight.

Mansfield plans to speak for about 15 minutes and then answer questions from radio and television newsmen.

The 50-minute program, originating from the Montana Democrat's office in the Capitol, will be carried live at 10 p.m. EDT by CBS, NBC and ABC television networks.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A three-alarm fire roared through the First Baptist Church at Fifth and Campbell Street early today. Fire Chief Robert Ship said he feared the building had been destroyed.

There is another First Baptist Church in Wilmington, six blocks away at Fifth and Market Streets.

The chief said the fire started in the pulpit area and spread up the walls into a sealed attic. The wood and metal roof caved in. Ship said the brick walls were standing but looked weak.

AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH... last night, church member John Lang, Dunn and Rev. Richard Gammon talk about problems in the state's criminal justice system.

Everything Seems 50-50 In The William Douglas Household

By WAUHILLAU LAHAY WASHINGTON (WNS)—When Cathleen Heffernan Douglas is working late on a law brief or at her job in the Public Interest Administrative Law division of Georgetown University, husband Bill starts dinner.

"And if he's going to be late, I'm the one in the kitchen getting things going," says 30-year-old Mrs. Douglas, whose marriage eight years ago to 75-year-old Associate U. S. Justice William O. Douglas seems a howling success despite the gossips' gloomy predictions. "Bill, you've got to remember, has been cooking over campfires all his life and he's a great cook," says the blond, shaggy-haired, outdoorsy Mrs. Douglas.

"He has no hangups about cooking," she says. "Bill never makes me feel that I'm failing him in being a good wife if my job gets in the way. And that's as it should be in any marriage."

Talking about her husband who's been a Supreme Court justice since five years before she was born, her blue eyes sparkle. Her voice softens. And when they are together at a party, his arm protectively around her shoulders steering her away from bores and toward friends, it is obvious that Washington gossips were wrong.

As she recalls their meeting, courtship and wedding:

"I was going to Marylhurst (cq) College in Oregon and working as a group mother for institutionalized, emotionally disturbed girls at Christie School nearby. I lived with the kids in a dormitory for two years and went to college in the daytime.

Waitress

"Since I was putting myself through school, I naturally worked in the summers. I worked in a potato chip factory, was a waitress—just anything to make an honest buck. Well, in August of 1965 I met Bill. I was working as a waitress that summer. I liked him a lot. We were interested in the same things.

"He called me in December of that year and asked me to dinner. And we were married the next July. My folks approve? Of course they did. They had a reception in our house in Portland after the wedding and it was a beautiful affair."

But the gossips had a field day. Douglas had divorced recently from his third wife and some wondered why a darling young woman wanted to marry such an old man. There were predictions the marriage would not last, along with whispered innuendos, snubs and slights.

"I guess I was too dumb most of the time to know people were high-hatting me," she says. "All I know is that the real people accepted me and made me at home here. Do you know that when I passed the bar here in Washington, the Supreme Court wives gave me a beautiful briefcase? Now that really was nice.

"The Supreme Court wives were so warm and friendly and helped me so much. There are only nine of us, remember, but we don't impose ourselves on one another. And so many of Bill's old friends rallied around."

Soon after her marriage, Mrs. Douglas made a big decision.

"There is some point in your life," she says, "when a woman must change from just being a wife. I'm full of ideas. I wanted more education so I could be able to express myself. I lacked one semester of getting my degree in sociology when I married. So I decided to go back to school."

She enrolled at American University here and then went to law school.

"Up To Me"

"My father always wanted one of his children to be a lawyer, and my two brothers are in business," she says. "So it was up to me."

Running her hand through her sun-streaked blonde hair, she says: "You know, I've always worked. It never occurred to me not to work. People who think working (for a wife) is extraordinary simply coufound me."

She won her law degree from American University and now is working on her master of Law degree at Georgetown, where she is on a fellowship with four other young lawyers. She's the only woman in the group, and the work fascinates her.

"Your life really changes when you become a professional and believe me, I am trying very hard to be a full-time professional woman," she says. "I thought I was disciplined before, but I wasn't. I'm growing."

"The first year of law is hard, but it's fun, too. I have to decide what I'm going to do every hour of the day. Social stuff? Oh, Bill's office takes care of all that. When I first came here and was confronted with all those invitations, I had no way of evaluating them. I didn't know the names or what the invitations meant and I'm still keeping out of it."

So the first of each month Douglas' secretary calls Mrs. Douglas and they fit their schedules together. Just recently the Douglases took a month off and went to China. Both loved the trip.

"Bill has never seen anything I've ever done, comment or brief, she says. "He's up to here in his own work. Of course, in the evenings I tell him about cases but he has never been in my office. Sometimes we discuss a speech or an article he's writing."

"Has his job helped me? I can't imagine that it hasn't. Bill has intelligence, a perspective on the world. He knows law. He understands friendships and relationships."

Tell-Tale Hands Foil Today's Surgeons

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

You may acquire a younger-looking face and a new silhouette by way of cosmetic surgery, but your old hands may betray you.

That foil to the ultimate in surgical beauty came to light in an interview with Dr. Rodolphe Troques of Paris, a specialist in body surgery.

"Hand operations are not so good. It is done, but it is very rare," he insists. In short, you'd have to keep your hands in your pockets or wear gloves. It is a disturbing thought for many women in this era of cosmetic surgery when new techniques are making such operations less of an inconvenience, although they are still expensive in most countries.

But they can still get body lifts and surprise their friends with a new figure within the month, Troques observed.

After a 15-day stay in the hospital and 15 days in a nearby residence where the doctor can visit his patient each day, she is ready to shop for her new wardrobe.

The doctor was technical adviser to Paramount for "Ash Wednesday," a movie starring Elizabeth Taylor. The beautiful 41-year-old actress plays the role of a wrinkled 55-year-old matron who has a complete body job because she yearns to revive the dying molecules of her 30-year-marriage. She does more than that.

Although Miss Taylor didn't actually have the operation, she is so good in the role, she makes the movie operation seem authentic, Dr. Troques observed.

"She is a real actress," he volunteered. "She seems to know everything without being told and it was possible for her was created with makeup but the surgeon says Miss Taylor's transformation made it seem as if she really had the surgery.

TWO FACES—Elizabeth Taylor plays a wrinkled 55-year-old matron in a new film but cosmetic surgery changes her life. The old look, left.

to act like a real patient throughout the various stages of the operation," he explained. The cinematic surgery included that for sagging breasts and stomach.

Although poultry fats and the like were used to simulate some areas of the operation, Miss Taylor actually started out in the picture with a make-up that was applied to make her look old. During the movie she is operated on by a movie "surgeon."

Dr. Troques has patients over the world and notes that his American clients are always willing to take his advice about what they need in the way of a lift. They ask him what should be done, he tells them, and they let him take it from there.

"But some women are terrible, insisting that they want their hands operated on, or something else. If I do not think it is right, I will not do it. They can go to someone else. As I tell them, a woman who is looking for a bad operation can always find a bad surgeon."

Fiddling with the dermis, no trivial matter. Troques likes patients who realize that such operations involve skill even though the healing period may have been speeded. Some operations, for example, the riding breeches — bulging thighs — take only a short time longer to do. If it is needed, he will suggest it.

A face lift can go undetected these days, it has been so refined, he maintained. With new techniques scars are no longer noticeable and one need not cover up one's ears with hair. The scar is placed carefully "on the border of the ear," not beyond it, he explained. A face lift should be done every 10 years, in his opinion.

"The most successful face lifts are the youngest women because the face lift can fix the age and it is better to fix it at 45 than 55," he observed. "Often a face lift is made too late. The problem for a woman is to look 40 until she is 60."

Wherever there is the good life, such as that enjoyed in France and the United States, women stay young looking longer, Troques remarked. For that reason they are more likely to be aware of youth as it slips away and they will take steps to hold it. Five times as many women are having cosmetic surgery in the 1970s.

But it isn't only the face lift that makes the woman look more youthful. In the doctor's opinion "one looks younger because one has a change of body and soul." The refreshing appearance of one's new image in a mirror makes one reach the heights of spiritual joy. Or should.

"Plastic surgery is a human thing, a poetic thing," he remarked. "One reason I became involved with this movie. I wanted to show that such operations are not terrible.

Does Mother Want To Break Up Match?

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My son is engaged to a girl I'll call Myrtle. She's as lazy as they come, never smiles, and can sleep around the clock after having done nothing all day. The only good thing I can say about Myrtle is that she seems to love my son.

I'm not writing to complain about Myrtle. I am writing to ask you if I should tell her what kind of man she's marrying. My son is no bargain. He's a terrible liar. He has seen other girls behind Myrtle's back, and I have to keep my cash locked when he's around or it would be gone in a flash.

Should I tell this unsuspecting girl what she doesn't know about my son? Or should I let her find out for herself?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Examine your motives, Mother. Do you want to break up the match because Myrtle is no bargain? Or because you're disgusted with your son? I say, let sleeping dogs lie. Your son may reform. And so may Myrtle.

DEAR ABBY: I have a widowed sister who is 10 years older than I am. Edith has always been the good looking one in the family, and she still has a way with men.

Alfred (my husband) is a great kiddier, and he used to tell me that he and Edith were having an affair, but I figured if it was true he wouldn't be telling me about it. Alfred said he was going to a lodge meeting, so you can imagine how I felt when I saw his car parked in front of my sister's house. I rang the doorbell, and her dog barked for 20 minutes before Edith came to the door. Then Alfred appeared because he knew I saw his car was out in front. He said he stopped by to fix her water heater. They both looked guilty as sin. I didn't say anything, but I thought plenty.

A week later I found a letter in Alfred's tobacco pouch. It was in Edith's hand, and addressed to Alfred in care of a post office box I never even knew he had. In the letter she told him how much she "loved" him, and what a close call they had had, and that they would have to be more careful. Alfred is 79, and Edith is 78!

My heart is broken, but a divorce at my age is out of the question. What should I do?

IN SHOCK

DEAR IN: Tell Alfred you found the letter, and let him do the talking. But don't be too hard on him or Edith. They may not be playing with a full deck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN": Your husband could be going thru the male counterpart of "change of life." A man who has worked hard for 27 years, and has been a good husband and father, is not likely to go off the deep end permanently.

Almost every man after 50 becomes a little worried about growing old, and losing his appeal. His ego needs a boost, and there are plenty of predatory females around, ready to flatter him and make him feel "young" again. He falls like a ton of teakwood; then the big thrill wears off and he comes crawling home to mama, feeling a little ashamed, but with a nice warm glow inside, reassured that there's life in the old boy yet.

The smart wife doesn't put on an Academy Award scene. She swallows her pride, accepts a little "blame" for not being as affectionate and reassuring as she might have been. And above all, she never mentions it again, and she tells NO ONE!

If the woman above is you, and the man is your husband, try this advice, and your man will probably spend the rest of his life knocking himself out trying to make it up to you.

Judge Martin Seeking Court Of Appeals Post

Judge Robert Martin, presiding over the Pitt County Superior Court here this week, is a candidate for a seat on the North Carolina Court of Appeals.

JUDGE ROBERT MARTIN

The jurist, who filled for the appellate court post in November, has been on the Superior Court bench since appointed by Gov. Dan Moore in 1967.

A native on Conway in Northampton County, Judge Martin, since becoming a Superior Court Judge, has held court in "65 or 70 counties", but he explains that Eastern North Carolina is his first love. "I enjoy coming to the East" he explained. "I was born and raised on a farm."

Judge Martin, who attended Wake Forest University passed the State Bar in 1937 and began practicing law in High Point in 1938. He maintained his law practice there until becoming a Superior Court Judge in 1967.

Since becoming a judge, Martin has held 40 to 43 weeks of court per year "except one year I held court 46 weeks." This week's session of Superior Court here is the fourth time the jurist has presided in Pitt County.

"Most of my courts are five days" he explained, "with a few six days and two or three times, seven day terms. . . very few under five days."

And he explained, "I had one case last five weeks and one case last six weeks."

Morgan Here

State Attorney General Robert Morgan, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, will be in Greenville Saturday morning for a coffee hour at the Ramada Inn.

Curtis Hendrix, arrangements committee chairman for the Morgan visit, reported that Pitt County friends of the attorney general are invited for the informal session.

Hendrix said that the gathering is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. until 10:30 a.m.

Many Die In Fire-Jump

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A fire swept through the upper 14 floors of a 22-story Sao Paulo bank building today, and many desperate office workers jumped to their deaths.

A fire captain at the scene estimated that 10 to 15 persons were killed and more than 20 injured. A police sergeant said the number of dead might be as high as 35. No official count was available.

At least 25 persons on the roof of the building, owned and occupied by the Crefisul Investment Bank, waved frantically to circling helicopters as towering flames and smoke rose from the floors below.

Because of the heat and smoke, the helicopters were unable to land on the building until nearly two hours after the fire started. When the flames stopped licking up the side of the gutted structure, the choppers took turns landing on the roof and carrying away survivors.

Added Requests Need Screening

We have expressed the opinion that now is not the time to do very much tax cutting in North Carolina due to the uncertainty of the economic situation.

Likewise, the Legislative subcommittee should look conservatively at the $332 million in additional requests which it has received from various governmental agencies.

The Advisory Budget Commission's recommendations called for a budget of $2.99 billion for the coming biennium. The state agencies have presented additional requests including a 10 percent raise for state employees instead of the recommended five percent. An eight percent increase for teachers has been requested instead of the recommended five percent.

No doubt all of the requests for increased spending can be justified. There was a plea for increasing mileage for use of private cars from nine cents to 15 cents per mile. There is justification for this because every car operator knows his costs are going up due to the rapidly rising costs of gasoline.

Nevertheless those who shape the final budget are going to have to be cautious that they stay within what can reasonably be expected in state revenues for the coming fiscal year.

It may be that some immediate relief should be granted in areas such as compensation for auto use, but the budget makers should exceed the recommended budget only where they feel that a real hardship exists.

Now $100,000 For Use Of Local Art Center

The East Carolina Art Society has exceeded its goal in matching a $50,000 challenge grant from Grover Maxwell, Sr. and the late Jeff Maxwell of Augusta, Ga.

Now the Rachel Maxwell Moore Foundation has $100,000 with the proceeds to be used to purchase art for the local art center.

The late Mrs. Moore was a resident of Greenville and art patron and the funds were given by her brothers in her memory.

The community owes a debt of gratitude to the Maxwells, to Marvin Blount St., chairman of the campaign, along with many others for making these foundation funds possible.

Credibility Of John Dean

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—Egill (Bud) Krogh's implication that John W. Dean III lied under oath to the Senate Watergate committee was tremendously cheering to the White House but added absolutely nothing one way or another to the overriding question of Dean's credibility.

In his taped, nationwide TV interview over CBS' "60 Minutes" Sunday night, ex-White House aide Krogh asserted that Dean told him last March 20 the President "just doesn't know what's been going on" in the Watergate cover-up. But in his own prepared and sworn testimony, Dean revealed a similar conversation with another White House aide. In truth, neither conversation sheds, any light on whether, as Mr. Nixon maintains, he first learned of the cover-up from then White House counsel Dean March 21.

Actually, the possibility of the President's cover-up involvement—central to impeachment proceedings—revolves around what Dean and he talked about previous to March 21. Most important is the March 13 conversation in which Dean alleges—and the President denies—they talked about executive clemency and cash payments for the Watergate burglars.

Either by design or accident, Krogh's interview with CBS' Mike Wallace dovetailed with the renewed White House assault on Dean's credibility. Talking publicly after his sentencing for the "plumbers' burglary of a psychiatrist's office, Krogh seemed eager to assert confidence that the President had no part in the Watergate cover-up.

"I would like to say the reason is not just faith," said Krogh. His evidence is a two-hour March 20 meeting with Dean in which Dean said: "Bud, the president is being badly served. He just doesn't know what's been going on." From that conversation, Krogh concluded Mr. Nixon knew nothing about the cover-up until informed by Dean March 21.

While declining to call his "very close friend" Dean a liar or perjurer, Krogh implied as much. He indicated that Dean "might not have perjured himself" if he was not telling him the truth March 20—adding, "but I believe he did" tell him the truth.

However, in prepared Senate testimony last June 25, Dean told of a March 20 conversation with another

White House aide, Richard Moore: "I told him that I really don't think the President understood all the facts involved in the Watergate and particularly the implication of those facts." That is consistent with what Krogh says Dean told him later the same day.

But Dean also testified in June: "I did not discuss with Moore the fact that I had discussed money and clemency with the President earlier (March 13)." If by his own testimony the generally close-mouthed Dean withheld this from Moore, it would scarcely strain credulity if he also withheld it from Krogh.

Thus, the President's involvement depends far less on the tape recording of March 21 than of March 13. Yet Mr. Nixon's defenders have stressed the March 21 tape, contending its disclosure would exculpate the President.

On Oct. 31, presidential chief of staff Alexander Haig so informed Senate Republican leaders. Shortly thereafter, minority leader Hugh Scott examined a White House "document" concerning the March 21 Nixon-Dean conversation. After he reported recently that continued examination of Dean by the special prosecutor's office indicated it did not consider him a perjurer, Scott declared the tapes cleared the President and contradicted Dean.

Scott contends he saw a transcript of the March 21 conversation; people in a position to know believe he saw only a summary containing verbatim quotes. But there is no argument about this: it concerned only the March 21 tape, which in itself cannot clear the President and condemn Dean.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski's investigators have now read transcripts of all tapes. Contrary to the mistaken impression of many (including Krogh, who declared over CBS that Dean could not be prosecuted further under his immunity agreement), Dean most definitely can be prosecuted for perjury before the Senate committee. But the prosecutors have found nothing to warrant such prosecution.

Until the tape transcripts are actually released, this transcends all else. While a Nixon adviser found Krogh's account of his conversation with Dean to be "damned helpful" to the President, in fact it changes nothing and reveals precious little.

Strength For Today

WHAT TO LET ALONE
The French philosopher Montaigne once said that the older a man become the better he knows what to let alone.

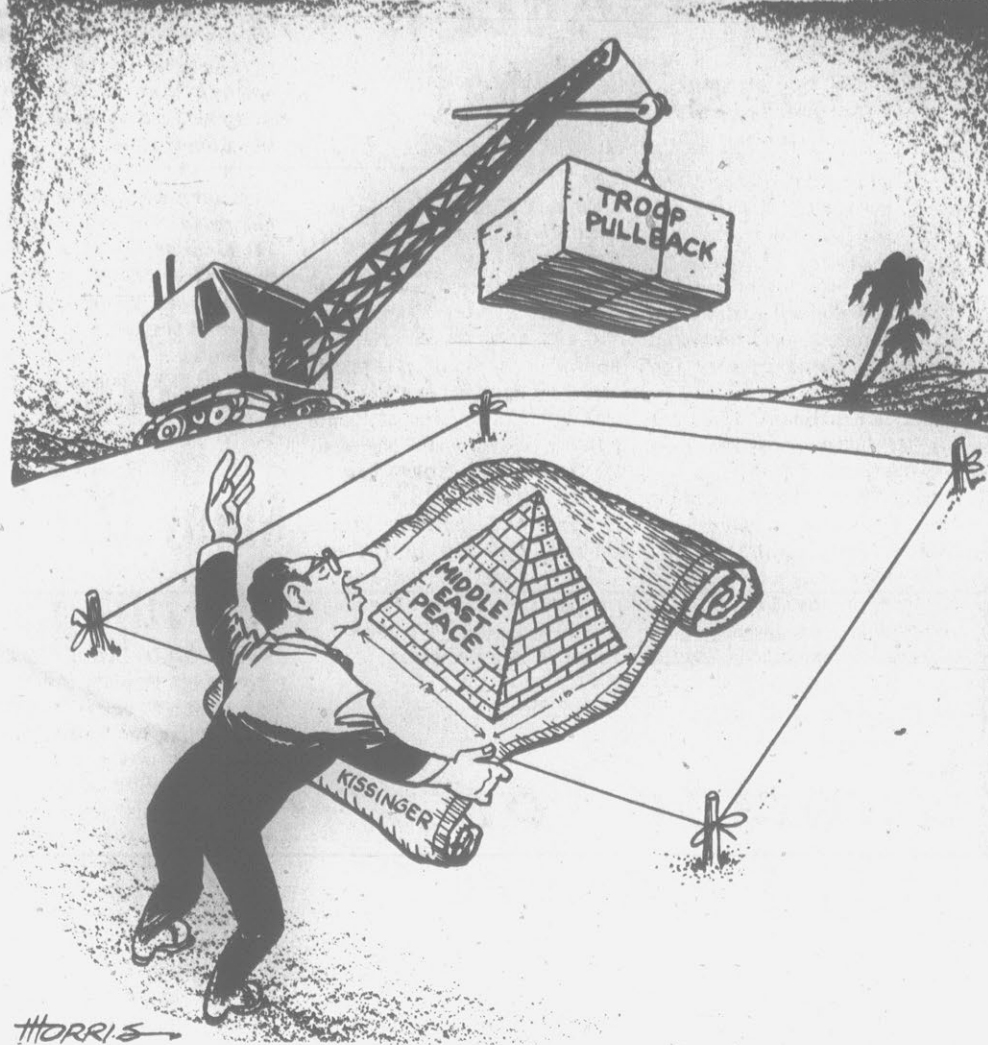

Some people fail in life because they have never learned the technique of denial. There are certain things in life they know they should let alone, yet years drift on into decades and still they keep on with certain bad habits—bad habits in eating, perhaps, in work, in the use of leisure time, in the conduct of business or the management of personal finances. Every man has his weakness. It might never adversely affect a friend, but it can cripple the man who has it.

The way to start is to start. It is never easy to begin denying one's self—never pleasant. But certainly, considering the very bad effects of the habit, denial is the lesser of the two evils. The man has not learned an important lesson who cannot say no to himself without getting bitter about it.

The Dollar Is A Champ

WASHINGTON—The American Dollar, which was knocked on its fanny in 1973, has made a remarkable comeback in the last few months.

To find out what happened I went to his training camp for an interview. The Dollar was in the ring trading punches with 730 Italian Lira and it wasn't even perspiring. At the end of the round it came over to the ropes to talk to me.

"Champ," I said, "how does it feel to be back on top again?"

"Everyone had me counted out," the Dollar chortled, "but I knew I'd make a comeback. The gnomes of Zurich kept saying, 'The Greenback's washed up and can't fight any more.' But they didn't know what they were talking about. I'm at my fighting weight now and I can lick any currency in the world."

"You sound like the old American Dollar we used to know."

"You better believe it. Did you see what I did to the French Franc last week?"

"You pulverized it. How do you explain that?"

"The Franc was overconfident. It kept flexing its muscles and bad mouthing me all over the world. I knew it would take just a good job to the stomach and it would keel over. That's one fight I really enjoyed winning. Heh, heh, heh."

"I saw that fight," I said, "and I must admit I was as surprised as anyone that the Franc didn't get up off the floor."

"People don't know what they are talking about. I could have taken the Yen with or without the oil embargo. The fat Yen was out of training. The Japanese thought it was invincible. But I studied films of my previous fight with the Yen and I discovered a lot of weaknesses in it."

"Such as?"

"I'd rather not say because I might have to fight it again."

"Champ, would you say your win over the West German Mark was the most important one you've had this year?"

"I didn't knock the Mark out. It was a close decision. But I still have a lot of respect for the Mark, and if I have to fight it again, I'm going to be might careful not to let it swing too close to my head."

"The other fight people are talking about is your one-round knockout of the British Pound."

"I can't take credit for that," the Dollar said. "The Pound was in no condition to fight. By the time the British sent it into the ring it could hardly stand on its legs. I hardly laid a glove on it and it fell over."

"I think you're being too modest," I said.

"Man, I'm not modest. I'm as mean as I ever was. But you can't put the Pound in the same class with the Franc and the Yen."

"Champ, now that you're

40 Years Ago Today

By SUSAN PRICE
February 1, 1934

Persons desiring to contribute to the Roosevelt Birthday ball fund for the Warm Springs Foundation for crippled may do so between now and Saturday when local contributions will be reported, it was stated today by the committee.

The committee reported this morning that $500 was raised through the ball given in the Campus Building at the college Tuesday evening. Since that time, subscriptions of $6.50 were received from citizens desiring to do their bit by the plan to make it possible for the Warm Springs institution to render greater services for crippled youngsters in the country.

President Roosevelt is intensely interested in the movement to extend the operations of the Warm Springs institution, and those who wish to do something in appreciation of what he has done for the nation as a whole can do no better than give to this fund.

Pitt county growers will have the remainder of the week to sign government cotton acreage reduction contracts. Committeemen will be in the usual places and those who have not signed up are urged to do so immediately.

Benefits For Poorer Nations

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

Perhaps the least considered consequence of the developing shortages of basic commodities, and potentially one of the more positive ones, too, is the improved economic outlook for some poor nations.

Relative to the industrial countries, the fortunes of many of these countries has declined in the past decade. Dependent upon one or a few crops or minerals, they felt in no position to strike hard bargains.

The rapid industrialization of much of the world has now increased demand to the extent that a seller's market exists in many raw materials. Moreover, the Arab nations showed that this economic power could be used.

Most corporate buyers of basic commodities are now resigned to paying higher and higher prices, and thus the incomes of supplier countries are likely to improve somewhat.

Why not greatly? Because many of these same countries are ill-prepared to pay higher prices for oil, which is essential to their development. The advantage to them will, therefore, be a bit muted.

Again on the positive side, so much money is likely to pour into Mideast oil producing nations that they will be unable immediately to put it to work internally, leading to speculation that the Arabs might become investors in some of the depressed nations of Africa.

A good deal of the incision about how well the 1974 economy would perform is being removed. Earlier, all bets had been hedged because of uncertainties about the Mideast oil cut-back.

No less an authority than the Conference Board, whose members and scholars include some of the hierarchy of the corporate and academic worlds, now declares flatly that there will be no oil shortfall on a national basis.

Maybe some regional problems, it concedes, mainly in

New England and to a lesser degree in the middle Atlantic states, and certainly some higher prices, but no national calamity as had been feared.

The board's energy forum, which includes some of the most esteemed of university economists, also declared that there is no physical, worldwide shortage of crude petroleum, and that there is ample refining capacity.

However, as the 1974 economy becomes better understood—the forecast generally is for a first-half downturn and a second half trend to greater stability, more production, less inflation—some bankers, businessmen and others are becoming concerned about 1975, particularly as to exports.

Manpower Office Is Operating

The eastern regional manpower office of the North Carolina Department of Human Resources is now in operation in the Country Club Apartments in Greenville.

The manpower office is one of the first Human Resources divisions to set up regional headquarters in Greenville. Construction of a permanent facility to house approximately 80 employees is now under way, with completion expected early in May. The permanent office will be located on St. Andrews Drive in Greenville.

Other State Human Resources regional offices sites are in Black Mountain, Winston-Salem, and Fayetteville. The eight-member manpower staff is headed by Thurston R. Perry. Included on the manpower team are an area representative, position management specialist, staff development specialist, recruitment co-ordinator, position control specialist, and two clerical positions.

The manpower office is located in apartments 49, 50, and 51 of the Country Club Apartments. The telephone number is 756-7813.

The manpower office will be made aware of vacancies within any Human Resources agency in the region. They will recruit, train, give merit exams, and process hirings and transfers. This new team approach will provide more personnel experts to be responsive to management and employee needs. The 80 employees working in the Greenville regional offices will be representatives of the divisions of Social Services, Mental Health, Blind, Vocational Rehabilitation, Developmental Disabilities, and Health Services.

Regional managers are Leon Norman, Social Services; Dr. Robert Ratcliffe, Mental Health; Forest H. Teague, Vocational Rehabilitation; George Staton, (Acting), Blind Services; Maurice Whitaker, Developmental Disabilities; Jean Lassiter, Health Services.

The eastern office will serve a population of 1.1 million North Carolinians in 33 eastern counties. The counties in the eastern region are Columbus, Brunswick, New Hanover, Pender, Duplin, Onslow, Carteret, Wayne, Lenoir, Jones, Greene, Craven, Pamlico, Wilson, Pitt, Beaufort, Hyde, Nash, Edgecombe, Martin, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Halifax, Bertie, Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden, Currituck, Northampton, Hertford, and Gates.

Flood Insurance Is Available To More

The National Flood Insurers Association announced that flood insurance has become available for residential and non-residential properties in 81 or more areas of 29 more states. Greenville, it was noted, is one of the new areas eligible for flood insurance under the program. The NFIA reported that damage from flooding is not covered in standard property insurance policies.

The association reported that private insurance agents and brokers are authorized to offer flood insurance to interested owners of residential and non-residential properties. Coverage on contents also will be sold to owners and occupants of such buildings.

The insurance industry is participating in the program through the NFIA, an organization representing 100 insurance companies. The new flood coverage is being offered in accordance with requirements established by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development under the terms of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 as amended.

The NFIA advised that anyone interested in buying flood coverage should contact his regular agent or broker for further assistance and information on rates, policy limits and conditions and other details.

The servicing organization, for Greenville is Kemper Insurance Co. of 1229 Greenwood Cliff, Charlotte.

Holding Lay Rally Feb. 7

The 75 churches of the Greenville District of the United Methodist Church will hold their annual District Lay Rally at Jarvis Memorial Church, Greenville, Thursday, Feb. 7, with supper beginning at 5 p.m. and the program at 7 p.m.

Frank Steinbeck of Greenville, district lay leader, will preside assisted by Rev. H. M. McLamb, superintendent of the Greenville District. The featured speaker will be Dr. William P. Wilson of Duke Medical Center. His subject will be "My Spiritual Pilgrimage."

Two attendance trophies will be awarded: One to churches of 300 members or less and one to churches above 300. Recipients last year were Robersonville and Queen Street Church, Kinston.

Special music will be provided by the choir of Asbury Church Washington.

Early Start On Cleanup

FARMVILLE—February 11-16 has been designated as "Cleanup Week here, but the work's already begun.

A meeting held Monday revealed that subcommittee chairmen have taken pictures of "eyesores" in their districts and names of the property owners involved have been learned. Each chairman gave Town Building Inspector H. P. Norman a list of junk cars in his district. Co-chairmen Norman and Little said they will seek permission from each of the owners to remove the cars.

All district chairmen agreed to begin contacting individual property owners about cleaning up certain areas.

Mrs. Mollie Allen volunteered the services of the Pitt-Greene Electric Membership Committee.

Little announced that two junk cars have been removed so far and one billboard has been taken down.

Injured When Vehicles Collided

One person was reported injured in a 2:30 p.m. collision here Wednesday.

Officers said a passenger in a car driven by William Jasper Harris of 605 Hudson St. was injured when the Harris car collided with a vehicle driven by Benjamin Mark Knott of 1105 Ragsdale Rd. on Clark Street 150 feet North of the Dickinson Avenue intersection.

Officers, who estimated damage at $375 to the Harris car and $400 to the Knott vehicle, charged Knott with failing to yield the right of way.

Meet Monday

The executive committee of the Pitt United Fund will meet with representatives of six agencies in the county that are not UF members to consider a coordination of volunteer efforts in the county.

Pitt UF president Joe Clark issued an invitation several weeks ago to the heads of the six agencies to meet with the committee on Feb. 4, 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the new Wachovia Bank building.

Response to the invitations has been very good, it was pointed out, and representatives from the Diabetes Association, Heart Fund, Cancer Fund, Cystic Fibrosis Chapter, Eastern TV and Respiratory Disease Association, and United Cerebral Palsy Fund are expected to attend the meeting.

Flickering Of Lights Due To Cable Failure

The flickering of lights on the Greenville Utilities electrical system Thursday around 10:30 a.m. was due to a main cable failure on the East Carolina University system, according to assistant GUCO director Malcolm Green.

Green said that the cable failure on the ECU electrical system caused a back-up protective breaker on the GUCO power network to clear the trouble.

He explained that when the ECU protective breaker equipment failed to clear the trouble the GUCO breaker automatically functioned.

Lights on the GUCO system never went out during the trouble, Green said, but lights on campus were out for approximately two hours.

THE QUEST FOR NEW TRAILS

The history of man is a story of progress. Each of its thousands of volumes could bear one common title: The Quest for New Trails.

Even in childhood we display this strange genius which has brought us from primeval forests to this atomic age. We love to penetrate the untouched spaces . . . to open trails where none have ever been.

But this quest could destroy us more rapidly than it has profited us. History recounts the fall of many a civilization too busy with its search for new trails to understand its deeper needs.

For man can truly progress only when his spiritual growth keeps pace with his cultural and scientific advancement.

Or, bluntly, the future of this young Arctic explorer and of his world depends on the Church. The truths of God are unchanging—and ever more essential—as we seek new trails into the Unknown.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets were weaker Thursday. Supplies adequate, demand fairly good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 79.73, medium whites 77.72, small whites 72.82.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — Corn and soybeans were stronger on the state's leading grain markets Thursday. No. 2 yellow shelled corn was quoted at 2.75-2.98, mostly 2.90-2.95 per bushel. No. 1 yellow soybeans were mostly 6.25-6.34 per bushel.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — N.C. hog market is mostly steady to .50 higher today with tops of 41.50-42.50 at Kinston, Benson, Lumberton. 38.50-40.50 at Wilson, High Falls. 39.50-40.00 at Rocky Mount. 41.75 at Mt. Olive. 40.00 at Salisbury. Poultry

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — Hens: Market conditions unchanged, supplies of heavy type limited and demand good. Too few sales reported to release prices.

N.C. f.o.b. dock broilers: Market weaker, supplies adequate, demand fairly good. Weights, mostly desirable. Rated average price for less than truck lot loads of size plant grade broilers to be picked up at dock next week is 35.76 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved lower today, continuing the downward drift of many recent sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was off 9.84 at 845.71.

Declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by 2 to 1.

"The market is just following through on the decline of Thursday," said Newton Zinder, analyst with E.F. Hutton & Co.

On Thursday, the Dow fell nearly 7 points.

"There's some disappointment, after all the talk on a lifting of the Arab oil embargo, that there's been no confirmation from the Arabs," he declared.

Also affecting the market, brokers said, was the government report that unemployment rose in January. Inflation and worries over an economic slowdown were also impairing the market, they added.

NYSE prices included: Uniroayl, off 3/4 to 8/8; Mountain Fuel Supply, down 3/4 to 69 3/4; American Motors, off 1/4 to 12 1/2; Fairchild Camera, off 1/8 to 59 3/4; and Chrysler, off 3/4 to 16 1/4.

Trees Suffered Damage

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Copper smelters have caused apparent sulfur dioxide injury to trees in four national forests in Arizona and New Mexico, the U.S. Forest Service says.

The Forest Service said a disease detection survey found leaf or needle tissue death among trees in the Tonto, Coronado and Apache National Forests in Arizona. The study said the symptoms were those of "acute sulfur dioxide injury."

In New Mexico, the report indicated further investigation was needed for verification but said symptoms resembling sulfur dioxide injury have been found in the Gila National Forest.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Minor Violence At N.C. Truck Stops

Minor violence was reported today at two North Carolina truck stops sealed off by striking truck drivers.

Deputy Bobby Simpson of the Davidson County sheriff's department said there had been minor scuffles at Bill's Truck Stop and Road Ranger Truck Stop, both on Interstate 85 near Lexington.

There had been no arrests. Some 50 trucks had crowded into Bill's Truck Stop by 11 a.m. today while another 100 were parked at Road Ranger, about five miles north of Bill's.

Driver Don Hall of High Point said the windshield on a company-owned truck was smashed Thursday night at Bill's, but he denied that it had been smashed by a trucker.

At Road Ranger, drivers said a minor scuffle developed when a company truck attempted to break out of the parking lot. The drivers said state highway patrolmen allowed the truck to leave without damage.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Jim Taylor said representatives of several major truck lines had told him they would seek a court order to clear the rigs of independent truckers from a truck stop near Mount Airy, where they blocked fuel pumps.

More than 100 trucks jammed the Southern 500 Truck Stop north of Mount Airy on Thursday. It was part of a nationwide strike of independent truckers who are protesting against high fuel prices and lowered speed limits.

The Southern 500 is on U.S. 52, a major artery connecting North Carolina with Ohio, West Virginia and other states.

Program Of Dental Health Is Launched

A pilot dental health education program to teach children how to protect their teeth for life is being launched in Greenville.

The program, coordinated by Dr. Richard Evans and Dr. M. W. Aldridge, will be carried out at Elmhurst Elementary School.

The first step was a workshop for teachers held last Friday. The teachers learned about bacterial plaque, which causes both dental cavities and gum disease, and about the control of plaque through proper techniques of flossing and brushing.

They practiced the flossing-brushing methods under the supervision of local dentists and dental auxiliaries. In turn, the teachers are to introduce plaque control activities in their classrooms.

Endorsed by the State Department of Public Instruction, the new program is a collaborative effort of that department, the N. C. Dental Society, the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry, the Dental Health Section of the Division of Health Services, and the State Associations of Dental Hygienists' and Dental Assistants. Eight counties in the state are participating in the demonstrations which are preceding an eventual statewide program to introduce school children to preventive dentistry.

Dunn Advises . . .

"Bank robberies have become almost commonplace," he noted.

"Even the drug problem—like traffic accidents—seems to be accepted as a way of life now."

Some laws need to be improved too, according to Dunn. A law is needed, he said, to provide for a felony penalty for professional gamblers. "Urge your legislators to support it." He noted too, that laws establishing "some type of investigative grand jury . . . is needed to delve into some of the white collar crimes and other sophisticated criminal operations."

"Laws ought to be enforced equally, no matter who you are or how much money you've got," Dunn said.

"Law enforcement is only one aspect of the system," according to Dunn. Courts and corrections are also involved, and many feel "courts don't deal harshly enough with crime."

Speedy trials are needed, Dunn suggested and "we need standards in sentencing."

And corrections need more attention, the speaker suggested, "especially in handling juveniles."

According to Dunn, 47 per cent of the crime in North Carolina is committed by juveniles.

"We need laws to make parents responsible for their children's actions," and programs to give young people "guidance and encouragement."

Dunn said "What's needed now are resources, money and time, public awareness and public action," to help young people.

To reduce crime, there must be well financed and coordinated juvenile corrections programs. "Why can't everybody be given a chance to do something worthwhile?"

Dunn is scheduled to speak to another church group—the Mens Brotherhood Meeting—at the Winterville Baptist Church April 10.

Tied Up By One Holdout

GREENSBORO (AP)—Final approval of one of the interested parties, still being awaited today, could end the long litigation over the B. Everett Jordan — formerly New Hope — lake and dam.

Meanwhile, a report from Fayetteville, described as reliable but unconfirmed, said an "agreement in principle" which would end the controversy provided that a dam would be built, but flood gates would not be closed until at least 1976, unless there was an emergency that required such action.

Also, another study would be made of water quality before any impoundment of a lake.

Lawyers representing conservationists who brought suit against the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, and those representing the Corps and scores of towns which joined the suit, announced the "agreement in principle" Wednesday.

They said then a compromise judgment might be filed prior to trial of the suit if final approval of one of the parties is given. The trial is scheduled to begin in U. S. District Court in Greensboro Monday, but the trial would not be necessary if the approval is forthcoming before then.

VOTED AGAINST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both senators from North Carolina, Democrat Sam Ervin and Republican Jesse Helms, voted Thursday against a bill creating a government corporation to run the program of legal services for the poor. However, the Senate passed the bill 69-17.

Rhodes Funeral Home of Goldsboro is in charge of the service.

Agree To Talk Mine Proposals

LONDON (AP) — Trade union leaders agreed today to meet Prime Minister Edward Heath for talks that could avert a national strike by coal miners.

The Trades Union Congress, which represents 10 million workers, decided to accept Heath's invitation for new talks, but with no commitments in advance on his proposals. Heath is looking for a way to avert a strike without breaking government inflation controls. Miners want a pay raise well in excess of the government's 7 per cent limit.

New talks are now likely next week, but the outlook remains gloomy. Talks on the miners' pay dispute have been deadlocked for months.

Leaders of the mine union estimated that the strike vote in the coal fields was running 65 per cent in favor of a walkout.

Post Reward In Slaying Case

RALEIGH (AP) — A $3,000 reward has been posted for information leading to the conviction of the slayer or slayers of 23-year-old Tasca Virginia Rader of Jacksonville.

She was found fatally shot last Saturday near Jacksonville, less than a mile from the site of a bank robbery the day before. Authorities said Miss Rader had been abducted shortly before the bank robbery and held as a hostage in the holdup.

Officers believe the young woman was shot in the western section of Cartaret County and then taken back to Jacksonville, where her body was left. She was shot twice in the head, officers said.

The reward is being offered by the office of Gov. Jim Houshouser. Information in the case should be given to the sheriff of either Cartaret or Onslow County, or to the director of the State Bureau of Investigation.

Two Primaries Set On May 7

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Both major political parties will hold primary elections on May 7 to determine their nominees for the U.S. Senate race in North Carolina.

The primary contests were assured Thursday when a second Republican candidate filed for his party's nomination.

The State Board of Elections said B. E. (Bea) Stewart of Boone paid his $425 filing fee. Woodhall Young of Minneapolis, N.C., filed for the office on Jan. 11.

The two candidates who have filed for the Democratic nomination are Atty. Gen Robert Morgan and Charles B. Riddle of Goldsboro. Riddle paid his filing fee on Tuesday, the elections board said.

Other candidates are expected before the noon Feb. 25 filing deadline.

Henry Hall Wilson of Monroe has announced his candidacy as a Democrat but has not yet paid his filing fee.

Congressman Wilmer Mizell is expected to announce in early February whether he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination.

All candidates are seeking the seat being given up by Democratic Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., who announced recently he will not seek reelection this year.

Meanwhile Thursday, Wilson filed a campaign expense report with the secretary of the U.S. Senate and the North Carolina secretary of state, as required by law. The report covered expenses and contributions for the period prior to Jan. 31.

Wilson reported $64,239 in contributions and expenses of $62,409. The biggest share of his contributions came from his family and from Chicago commodity brokers. Wilson recently resigned as president of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Commodity brokers contributed more than $20,000 of the total, Wilson's report showed. He received a $30,000 loan from his wife and his sister donated another $6,000.

Morgan has previously filed campaign expense reports showing contributions of $30,000.

Pirates, Paladins In TV Meeting

East Carolina University's Pirates hit the road again, hoping to snap a two-game losing streak against the team that started it.

The Bucs will be in Greenville, S. C., tomorrow for a 12 noon basketball game with Furman University. The game will be telecast over a regional network. It may be seen locally over WNCN-TV, Channel 9.

Furman was the team that snapped a five-game winning streak last Monday night, when the Paladins gained an 89-80 victory over the Bucs in Minges Coliseum. Clyde Mayes, the strong 6-9 Furman pivot man led the victory march with 30 points.

The Paladins played the game without one of their starters, 7-1 Fessor (Moose) Leonard, but he is expected to be ready to go in the second meeting of the two teams. Leonard, along with one of the reserve players, had been placed on suspension by Coach Joe Williams for "disciplinary reasons."

East Carolina may have some health problems to contend with. Nicky White suffered a strained knee against Furman, and saw only limited action in the 80-78 loss to Old Dominion on Wednesday. White is the leading scorer and rebounder for the Pirates.

But Larry Hunt, a freshman who filled in for him, came up with 12 points and 13 rebounds against Old Dominion, doing an excellent replacement job.

Donnie Owens ripped through 20 points in the game with Old Dominion, providing the Pirates with a strong outside game, and powering a comeback that nearly brought them to a victory over the sixth-ranked small college power.

A victory for the Bucs is almost a must if they are to have any chance at catching the Paladins in the Southern Conference race. East Carolina currently has slipped from second into third place in the league, with a 5-3 record. Furman leads the pack at 6-1, while Richmond is second with a 4-2 mark.

White, despite getting only two points in the few minutes he played Wednesday, still leads the Pirate scoring, but his average slipped to 13.8 for the year. Reggie Lee is the only other Pirate in double figures, with a 10.5 average.

Roger Atkinson is third in scoring with a 9.8 average, while Robert Geter is hitting 8.1 points a game, and Owens is at 7.5. Hunt, who had played only about 10 minutes a game prior to Wednesday's contest, is now averaging 3.5 points a game.

Following the game Saturday, the Pirates return home on Wednesday and will face Buffalo State.

Hall, Moye Continue In Lead

With the 1973-74 basketball season grinding down to its final weeks of play, Horace Hall of Jamesville and Julia Moye of Farmville Central show little signs of losing their grip on the Pitt-Martin-Greene scoring lead.

Hall continues to lead the boys' scoring race with 24.6 points per game average. That tops Robersonville's Ernest Crandall by over six points. Crandall has an 18.0 mark.

JoJo Purvis of Williamston is third in the boys race at 17.8, followed by Billy Ross of Oak City at 16.4 and Larry Daniels of Conley at 15.0.

Conley's Vikings are the most offensive team in the area, averaging 67.3 points a game, just nosing out Oak City, which has a 67.0 mark. Robersonville is third at 62.1.

On defense, however, Greene Central takes top honors, allowing only 45.8 points a game. Ayden-Grifton is second at 50.1, followed by Conley at 50.6.

Conley is beating its opponents by the widest margin, 16.7 per game, followed by Greene Central at 9.1 and Ayden-Grifton at 8.0.

Conley also has the best record so far, a 16-1 mark, followed by Ayden-Grifton's Chargers and Greene Central's Rams, both 13-4.

Miss Moye currently is hitting 17.1 points per game, a point and a half better than her closest rival, Williamston's Sissy Taylor. Miss Taylor is hitting 15.5 per game.

Diane Duggins of Oak City is third at 14.0, followed by North Pitt's Wanda Whichard at 12.9 and Williamston's Fran Harrison, 12.6. A total of 11 girls are hitting in double figures in the area.

Williamston has the top offense among the girls teams with a 55.3 average. North Pitt is second at 50.7, followed by Ayden-Grifton, at 43.2.

North Pitt takes over on defense, however, 34.1 per game, while Williamston and Ayden-Grifton are both giving up 34.4 per game.

Williamston has the best margin of victory, 20.9 points, while North Pitt is next at 16.6.

Only four girls' teams have winning records. North Pitt heads the list at 17-0, still never having lost a regular season game. Williamston is next at 15-2, while Ayden-Grifton is 12-5. The only other team with a winning mark is Robersonville, 11-6.

Two Knotted In Industrial

Empire Brush pulled back into a tie for first place in the Industrial League's Division II last night with a victory, while Union Carbide lost a chance to hold it all alone, as they lost.

In the opening game, State Highway took a 62-45 win over Union Carbide. The Highwaymen built a 31-26 lead in the first half of the game, then outthit Union Carbide, 31-19, in the

Two Sign With ECU

East Carolina University track coach Bill Carson has announced the signing of two more outstanding high school athletes.

Earlier, he had signed Carter Suggs of Tarboro, one of the nation's top sprinters.

Now, he's added the only man ever to beat Suggs in a North Carolina dash, Jacksonville High School's Larry Austin, a 6-1, 170-pounder. Austin nipped Suggs in a preliminary race in the regionals last spring, but bowed in the finals to Suggs. He has run the 100 in 9.5 seconds and done the 60 in 6.2.

"Larry is a late bloomer who should be one of the only runners around to compete with Suggs," Carson said.

The other signee is one of the state's top high school milers. Mike Cunningham, a 5-10, 150-pounder comes out of South Mecklenburg High School in Charlotte. He ran the mile last year in 4:20 as a junior and has done the quarter-mile in 50.0 seconds.

second half, which was forfeited by Union Carbide with 2:20 left to play.

Bobby Edwards led State Highway with 17 points, while Jesse Lily had 10. Union Carbide was paced by Tommy Roach with 17 and Alphonza Mayo with 16.

In the second game, North Carolina National Bank nipped winless Prepschirt, 49-46. NCNB held an 18-14 lead in the first half, then held on as Prepschirt outthit them, 32-30.

Renny Wood led NCNB with 14 points, while Tony Whitehurst had 11. Zeno Smith led Prepschirt with 17, while Clifton Gray added 10.

In the final game, Empire Brush nipped Grady-White, 74-67, tying for first place. By the half, the Brushmen had inched into a 34-31 lead. They outthit Grady-White, 40-36, in the second half for the win.

James Parker led Empire Brush with 29 points, while Edward Coburn had 18 and Charles Coburn had 13. For Grady-White, Frank Brown had 35 and Marvin Hardy had 19.

NEW BOWLING OFFICE

GREENDALE, Wis. (AP) — The Women's International Bowling Congress is now in new headquarters here. The American Bowling Congress and the American Junior Bowling Congress share the same location, a tri-level office complex in suburban Milwaukee.

The WIBC was previously headquartered in Columbus, Ohio.

Leaders In Wins

Immanuel Baptist gained its eighth straight Church Basketball League victory last night, and promptly eliminated half of the league from any chance at the title.

St. James, Trinity and Oakmont were all eliminated from the race, leaving only Presbyterian and Black Jack to challenge.

Black Jack, however, suffered a 70-49 loss in the opening game of the evening as Presbyterian stayed just one game behind Immanuel.

Presbyterian worked up a 37-20 lead in the first half, then out scored Black Jack, 33-29, in the second.

Richard Holloman led Presbyterian with 14 points, while Paul Andrews had 13, Larry Graham had 11, and Mike Gwynn and Mike Aldridge each had 10. For Black Jack, Tal Adams had 14, Phil Page had 13 and Randy Hudson had 10.

St. James won its second straight in the second game, beating Trinity, 66-45. St. James inched ahead, 32-29 at the half, then outthit Trinity, 34-16, to win easily.

Mike Board led St. James with 23, while Si Seymour had 17. For Trinity, D. R. Daniels had 12, Donnie Bowen had 11 and Bobby Worthington had 10.

In the final game, Immanuel gained a 69-43 win over Oakmont. Immanuel outscored Oakmont, 33-23 in the first half, and held a 36-20 advantage in the second as they rolled to the win.

Immanuel was paced by Lindsey Hardee with 15 points, while L. G. Catlett had 14, and Dick Evans and Clifton McNeil had 12. Bobby Tungstall was high for Oakmont with 10.

Bethel Road Race Is Set

The Bethel Rotary Club will again sponsor the Bethel Road Race again this year, with the race to be held on Saturday, February 9.

Over 100 people competed in the three races held last year, fully sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union. Ed Hereford, a former East Carolina University distance runner, is the defending champion in the 10-mile run, and is expected to defend his title. Hereford is regarded as one of the country's top marathon runners.

The initial race of the day will be the 10-mile run, which will begin in Stokes and end at the Bethel Middle School. It starts at 12 noon.

At 1 p.m. a joggers special race will start. This is open to people who run for health rather than competitive reasons.

A one-mile run for children 11 and under will begin at 12:30 p.m. The final race is a two-mile run, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Each entrant into the three main races must pay a $2 registration fee. A $1 charge will be made for the joggers run. Medals and awards will be presented in each of the races.

A number of outstanding runners are expected to join Hereford in the races. They include Jack Batchelor, an Olympian; Brian Bent, age group national mile champ; Victor Elk, All-American miler from Pembroke State; Julia Shea, an age-group All-American; and Marshall Adams, a top ranked marathon runner.

Bethel age-groups stars expected to run are Kathy Taylor, Lu Anne Keel and Tammy Purvis.

Entry blanks are available at the Bethel Pharmacy, or from Clem Williams, Box 701, Bethel.

School Results

South Greenville took a pair of victories over Eastern in the Elementary Recreation League yesterday.

South Greenville won the junior varsity game, 36-9, with James Brewington leading the way with 10 points.

In the varsity game, South Greenville rolled to a 52-15 win. Calvin Page hit 28 and William Barrett had 10 for South Greenville. Ron Butler had 13 for Eastern.

Approval Given For Padres Sale

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — With assurances that professional baseball would remain in San Diego, National League club owners have approved the sale of the Padres to hamburger king Ray A. Kroc.

The unanimous decision, reached at a meeting here Thursday, ended an attempt to move the floundering franchise to the nation's capital. Reports of that deal kept many disgruntled Southern California fans away from the ballpark last year.

League President Charles "Chub" Feeney said the owners had been assured the Padres would remain in San Diego "in the foreseeable future."

Kroc, 71, chairman of the McDonald's hamburger chain, has promised not to move the team at least until 1980, and has signed a new stadium lease that runs through 1988. The San Diego City Council agreed Thursday to pay the Padres $429,000 a year in subsidies, an increase of $144,000.

But predictably in C. Arnholt Smith's long and tortured attempts to sell the Padres, there was talk of a last-minute hitch.

"We still have a problem with Mr. Smith because I understand the Internal Revenue Service is attaching our check," said Kroc in a radio interview from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. "His attorney has said if the IRS is going to attach the check then they don't want to sell."

Nicklaus Grabs Hawaiian Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — Hello there, Johnny Miller, Big Jack is back.

"I came to play golf," Nicklaus solemnly warned after firing an eye-popping seven-under-par 65 Thursday despite the rain and slop and goo that finally forced a suspension in the first round of the $220,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament with some two dozen players still on the course.

"When I come over here on a vacation, I bring the kids," Nicklaus said after tying husky Dwight Nevil, a one-time Dallas fireman, for the 18 hole lead.

Nicklaus played golf with a vengeance, too, taking birdies on seven of his last 10 holes despite the rain that alternated between a soft, warm tropic shower and a torrential down-pour.

The rains, which fell steadily for almost 24 hours, caused one delay of 45 minutes and eventually caused the 7,154 yard Waialae Country Club course to become unplayable.

Philadelphia Is Too Much On Ice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Broad Street Bullies are at it again.

"We were too physical tonight," said Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero Thursday night after the Flyers beat the Buffalo Sabres 4-3 in National Hockey League action.

"They didn't even try to challenge us in the corners, so why bother?" Shero added.

Philadelphia's Gary Dornhoefer scored the only goal of the first period, which saw 42 minutes of penalties meted out, including six majors. Dave Schultz made it 2-0 early in the second period, then Rick Martin scored for Buffalo at 9:31 on a rare penalty shot.

After Schultz and Buffalo's Rick Dudley exchanged goals early in the third period, Orest Kindrachuk netted what turned out to be the game-winner at 9:47, converting his own rebound. Martin closed out the scoring with his 34th goal of the year at 16:33.

In all, 25 penalties were called, including eight majors and a game misconduct to Dornhoefer early in the third period.

Elsewhere in the NHL, the Boston Bruins beat the Atlanta Flames 4-2, the Chicago Black Hawks edged the California Golden Seals 2-1, the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Minnesota North Stars 3-1 and the New York Islanders topped the Los Angeles Kings 4-2.

Maryland Faces Next Challenge From Cavs

By KEN ALYTA
AP Sports Writer
Charles G. "Lefty" Driesell, Duke '54, coach of the University of Maryland basketball team, his visions of a national championship somewhat blurred, now must rally his Terrapins to cement their hold on third place in the Atlantic Coast Conference against the challenge of a Virginia team that has lost six games in a row.

As a result of their 86-80 home court loss to pace-setting North Carolina State two nights ago, the Terps have plunged into a third-place tie in the ACC with Virginia at 2-3.

Almost out of sight atop the heap is the nation's No. 2 team, N.C. State at 5-0. And runnerup North Carolina, No. 4 in the AP poll, is 6-1, three games in front of Maryland and Virginia. Maryland's regrouping to avoid slipping below its current No. 6 national ranking begins Saturday afternoon at home in a regionally televised game against Duke.

It couldn't have come at a worse time for Maryland. Duke, in its first season under Coach Neill McGeachy, has won two in a row for the first time since December to bring its overall record to 8-7. The Blue Devils came up with one of their most impressive efforts of the season Wednesday night, an 89-72 drubbing of Davidson. The Davidson team, a Southern Conference power, had nipped ACC members Virginia and Wake Forest in its last two starts and carried a six-game winning streak into the Duke game. Duke will be after the school's 1,000th victory in 69 years Saturday.

Apparently this year it's going to be the same old story for Driesell, who left Davidson to take the Maryland job four seasons ago. The North Carolina Big Four—N.C. State, North Carolina, Duke and Wake Forest—have been tough nuts for him to crack in his campaign to win the ACC title and qualify for a shot at the national crown.

In four and a half seasons at Maryland, Driesell has compiled a formidable 89-41 record for a .685 percentage.

But against the Big Four only, the Terp chart is 15-25, a dismal .375 performance. Throw out the Big Four results and Maryland is 74-16 for .822 against the rest of the nation.

Only against Wake Forest have Driesell's teams done well, holding a 7-3 edge, but the Deacs were tough, losing by one point and by three.

The record against Duke is 4-4, with a 1-1 series split each season.

The crushers have been against N.C. State, two victories against 10 losses, and a 2-8 record against North Carolina.

Monarchs Have Woman Manager

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — When the basketball game is over and Old Dominion University players, coaches and managers trot off to the locker room to celebrate, one assistant manager never gets to tag along.

"I just go back to the equipment room and hang up the sweaty pants and sweaty jackets," says Kathy Henson.

The Alexandria, Va. freshman is the newest addition to the nationally-ranked team's staff, and she loves the work.

A longtime basketball fan, the special education major admits it was impulse that caused her to seek the position when she heard Coach Sonny Allen needed two more assistant managers.

"I'd never heard of any female managers for basketball, but it sounded like fun to me," she said.

John Russo, the manager, had never given the idea much thought until the 5-foot-3½ woman showed up.

"He looked a little shocked," Kathy said. "Now, he watches his language on the bench, but I think I cuss more than he does."

While Old Dominion, ranked No. 6 in The Associated Press college division poll, plays opponents at home, Kathy mops perspiring backs, passes out towels, water and game jackets.

Must Let Girls Play

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Little League baseball teams in New Jersey must permit girls to play, the state director of civil rights has ruled.

Gilbert H. Francis, director of the Division of Civil Rights, ordered Thursday that Little League baseball treat both sexes equally on its New Jersey teams.

The order, believed to be the first of its kind, also directs that both boys and girls be informed of tryout times.

The order stemmed from a complaint by 12-year-old Maria Pepe of Hoboken, who was dropped from her local team after Little League, Inc., headquartered in Williamsport, Pa., threatened to revoke the team's charter.

The Thursday action endorsed a ruling by a hearing examiner last November. Little League has threatened to appeal the ruling to the state courts.

Penn State senior tailback John Cappelletti is considering an FBI career.

Smith Makes Track Comeback

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—O. Bruton Smith has made a comeback by being elected chairman of the board of the Charlotte Motor Speedway.

He had helped establish the stock car track in 1959, but was ousted as an official a couple of years later when it was forced into receivership and reorganized.

Since late 1972 Smith, now an automobile dealer in Rockford, Ill., has been buying stock in the speedway corporation. On Dec. 1, 1973, according to a proxy statement, he owned 461,611 shares, 24 per cent, making him by far the largest shareholder.

His election Thursday followed a lengthy shareholders meeting and proxy fight.

Two of his associates were named to the board of directors. They are Charles A. West, executive vice president of the Smith-owned Lone Star Ford Inc. of Houston, Tex., and William S. Egan, a Chicago accountant who is Smith's vice president in charge of finances.

Also elected to the board were Richard S. Howard of Denver, N.C., president and general manager of the speedway; Dr. Fredrick M. Wilson, a dentist from Monroe, N.C.; George B. Naley Jr., president of the Easley (S.C.) Lumber Co.; and Therrill E. Efrid, operations manager for the Davey Tree Expert Co. in Charlotte.

Dr. Wilson, the second largest shareholder with 145,000 shares, and Jason Brown, who failed to win reelection as a director, had solicited their own proxies before the annual meeting.

The day before the election, Dr. Wilson and Brown filed suit asking that the election of any directors at Thursday's meeting be set aside on the claim of irregularities in the solicitation of proxies in behalf of the management slate. Defendants have 20 days in which to file an answer.

Barry's Shot Brings A Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Never give a good shooter such as Rick Barry too much time. Houston gave the Golden State star two seconds and it cost the Rockets a National Basketball Association victory.

Calvin Murphy had seemingly snapped Houston's three-game losing streak and Golden State's five-game winning streak when he hit a 22-foot jump shot for a 108-107 Rocket victory Thursday night.

"Anything can happen in two seconds," said Barry who gave the Warriors a 109-108 victory with a 28-foot jumper at the buzzer.

"It was a good shot," said Barry who scored a total of 38 points as the Warriors moved to within one game of idle first-place Los Angeles in the Pacific Division. "I had time to catch it, turn and shoot. I didn't just have to throw it up." Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 30 points. Phoenix beat Portland 112-100 in the only other NBA action. There were no games in the American Basketball Association.

Charlie Scott scored 25 points and Neal Walk 22 for Phoenix, which opened up a 15-point lead in the second period. Then Phoenix held off Portland, who got a season high 38 points from Sidney Wicks and 24 by Geoff Petrie.

Say Vote Notre Dame Still Winning

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The Charlotte Observer quotes Carl Scheer, general manager of the Carolina Cougars, as saying Thursday, that no vote to relocate the American Basketball Association team in Cincinnati had been taken the day before.

The Cincinnati Inquirer has said that the ABA, in a secret vote taken during meetings at the league's All-Star game in Norfolk, Va., Wednesday, voted unanimously to proceed with efforts to relocate a team. The Inquirer said the team was possibly the Cougars, which has not been a profitable operation in North Carolina.

"I was at all the meetings," the Observer quoted Scheer as saying, "and I can tell you in all sincerity that at no time was there a vote taken, or any discussion—private, public, formal, informal or otherwise—about the relocation of the Cougar franchise."

Locals Named

Dr. Tom Sayetta, president of the Greenville Tennis Club has been elected as a statewide director by the North Carolina Tennis Association during its annual meeting in Greensboro.

The NCTA organizes and promotes tennis tournaments through the state. They also coordinate state activities with those of the Southern and U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, of which they are members.

Wes Hankins, the immediate past president of the Greenville Club, and the East Carolina University Tennis coach, has been named vice-president of the Eastern Carolina Tennis Association. That election came during that groups annual meeting in Goldsboro.

The ECTA provides a competitive tennis league for men and women in about 15 cities in eastern Carolina. It is a member of the NCTA.

"I think they just had too much overall strength," admitted DePaul basketball Coach Ray Meyer after his club absorbed a 101-72 beating at the hands of Notre Dame Thursday night.

"We can't go to the bench but they can ... for a sixth, seventh and eighth man. We can usually play most first fives even, but one of our problems was that we got tired," added Meyer, "and with their tremendous shooting, they shot us right out of the ball park."

The Irish, ranked No. 3 nationally, led by just three points at intermission, but broke it open early in the second half and coasted to their 14th victory in 15 tries.

Only three other ranked teams were in action. No. 9 Providence was upset 88-87 by Duquesne in overtime, No. 10 Long Beach State defeated Cal-Santa Barbara 78-68, and No. 15 Louisville dumped North Texas State 97-81.

Gary Brokaw, hitting 12 of 16 shots from the floor, was the big man for the winners with 25 points. Freshman Adrian Dantley contributed 23 points and 15 rebounds, and John Shumate added 19 points and 10 rebounds for the Irish.

The Irish got a scare late in the game when Dantley suddenly collapsed on the bench. He regained consciousness in the locker room, was hospitalized and was to undergo tests today. Duquesne reserve Bernie O'Keefe sank a 20-foot jump shot at the buzzer to beat Providence. The Dukes, who trailed by three points with 12 seconds left, got possession when freshman Norm Nixon stole an inbounds pass and passed to O'Keefe for the winning bucket. Don McLane scored 24 points and Lionel Billings 21 for the winners. Marvin Barnes had 27 points and 23 rebounds for the Friars, who had won 10 straight.

Roscoe Pondexter scored 26 points to lead Long Beach past Santa Barbara. Bob Gross added 19 points for the 49ers who are 15-2 for the year.

Allen Murphy scored 20 points and Louisville outscored North Texas 21-4 in the last 10 minutes of the first half to record its 13th win against three losses. The Cardinals are 5-0 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

In other top games, Memphis State took New Mexico State 73-66, Bradley trounced Wichita State 108-73, Tulsa trimmed St. Louis 73-64, St. John's, N.Y., whipped Rhode Island 77-59.

The Worry Clinic

An Advantage For Scribblers

Alma cites Miss Kellogg's wise counsel about "scribbling." Notice how we let our 5 Crane kiddies have free access to scratch paper. Such educational "brainwashing" may explain the 5 doctor's degrees of our 3 living sons.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Z-540: Alma D., aged 28, teaches first graders.

"Dr. Crane, she began, 'I have noticed that there is a wide difference among my pupils in their ability to use crayons.

'Kiddies from homes where the tots were allowed to scribble, are faster to learn how to read and write.

'And I recently heard Miss Rhoda Kellogg, of San Francisco, say she has collected two million samples of children's scribbling.

'Miss Kellogg also claims that scribbling develops a toddler's I. Q. by requiring it to coordinate eye, hand and brain.

'Dr. Crane, did you encourage such early scribbling among your own 5 children when they were little?

'And do you think Miss Kellogg's idea is sound?'

Brain Calisthenics

Yes, I certainly salute Miss Kellogg for her stress on early scribbling by youngsters.

They often wish to use pencil or colored crayons, even before the age of two years.

Since I employed mimeographed midterm and final exams for my students at Northwestern University, I had literally thousands of pages of such scrap paper after I recorded their grades.

Although one side contained the mimeographed questions, the back side of each sheet was blank.

So Mrs. Crane and I let the children help themselves to such scrap paper.

Our firstborn, George IV, thus would sit for half an hour, using a pencil, even when he wasn't old enough for Nursery School.

Sometimes he'd bring his paper to me, whereupon I'd try to outline a chicken or a squirrel, dog, duck, horse, etc.

And as he grew older, I'd try to depict exciting scenes, with an Indian in hot pursuit of a little boy or girl.

And I'd have the child crying "Help, Help," with those words printed in a balloon, a la the comic strip style.

The other children all relished similar use of pencil and paper.

And by the time they entered kindergarten, they often could concoct fairly good action sketches.

George IV was offered a scholarship in Art School when he graduated from South Shore High School in Chicago, largely I am sure because of his early use of pen and scratch paper.

For Miss Kellogg is correct in saying that such scribbling really can boost a child's I. Q., for it served as mental calisthenics.

One reason why primitive peoples were slow to develop civilization was their lack of materials for writing!

Those barbaric tribes had no scratch paper or pencils nor exposure to newspaper cartoons and comic strips!

Nowadays, Mrs. Crane and I still save the hundreds of pages of news releases and advertising letters, so our 14 grandchildren can also scribble freely when they visit us.

But be sure you don't let kiddies tear up old magazines, for they can't read well enough to tell the difference between the used vs. the new magazines and books!

Innocently, they may then scribble on valuable materials, if you've let them mutilate old magazines!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

In conjunction with WNCT radio, the students will conduct balloon and tag sales at six locations in Greenville from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. to aid the Pitt County fund-raising effort. Sites include downtown at Five Points, Pitt Plaza, King's, Nichols, West End, and the A&P on E. Tenth Street.

Announcing plans for the promotion, Buff Chalk, local fund-raising chairman, explained that radio stations throughout the state will run educational and fund-raising spots for the Heart Association throughout the day.

Dilly Dills of Kappa Delta and Carl Ealy of Pi Kappa Phi are coordinating the Greek volunteers. Johnny West, program director at WNCT, is heading up the station's efforts, which will include features like "The Heart Beat Mystery" and "heart" songs throughout the day.

Heart Fund Promoters

Sixty volunteers from Kappa Delta Sorority and Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity at East Carolina University will participate in the first state-wide radio promotion for the N.C. Heart Association Saturday.
