

Judiciary Committee To Get Nixon Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon informed the House Judiciary Committee today he will give it all the material he has already turned over to the Watergate grand jury "without limitation."

The President also offered to answer written questions and submit to an oral interview if the committee is not satisfied with the written answers. Nixon's decision was announced by James D. St.

Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, at a hearing called to hear arguments on the disposition of a sealed grand jury report. St. Clair told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that the White House would offer no recommendation as to what the judge should do with the sealed report which sources have indicated contains grand jury findings on the President's role in Watergate.

St. Clair disclosed that the report is 1 1/2 to 2 pages long; that it is in addition to the briefcase containing grand jury evidence which was given the judge along with the sealed presentation.

Referring to news accounts about the sealed report, St. Clair said, "We consider there has been a serious breach of grand jury secrecy."

He said also the published reports represented a "gross distortion of its contents."

The grand jury gave the report to Sirica last Friday along with an indictment charging seven former Nixon administration and campaign officials with conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

In addition to lawyers from the White House, the special prosecutor's office and the House Judiciary Committee, counsel for all seven defendants were present for today's hearing.

The hearing was moved to the ceremonial courtroom to accommodate some 300 people who showed up.

St. Clair was the first to speak.

John J. Wilson, counsel for former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, already has notified Sirica by letter that he would argue that the grand jury had no authority to issue its sealed report.

In his letter Wilson said the grand jury "has no power to do other than indict or ignore. It may not make special reports."

Wilson contended the sealed report "prejudices our clients and should be expunged or returned to the grand jury with the court's instructions that their act was wholly illegal and improper."

Nixon Vetoes Emergency Energy Bill

By FRANCES LEWINE Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today announced his promised veto of energy emergency legislation, saying it would result in reduced energy supplies, longer lines at the gasoline pumps, minimal reduction in gasoline prices and "worst of all serious damage to jobs in America."

Anticipating the veto, the Senate scheduled a vote on overriding later in the day.

Nixon said it was "with a deep sense of disappointment" that he sent back the bill without his approval after Congress has worked on it for almost four months.

But, Nixon said, it "threatens to undo the progress we have already made, and creates a host of new problems."

"Unemployment would go up and income would go down" as a result of the bill's proposed rollback of domestic crude oil prices, the president contended.

Nixon said the proposed bill would set the oil prices "at such low levels that the oil industry would be unable to sustain its present production of petroleum products, including gasoline" and that is the basis for his dire predictions about its impact. Nixon said it would "make compulsory rationing of gasoline more likely" by cutting the supply of gasoline and other oil products. Nixon also said the bill was "objectionable because it would establish an unworkable and inequitable program of unemployment payments." He said it would saddle the government with what he described as the impossible task of determining which unemployed workers were jobless because of the energy situation. Eligibility for such benefits also would not take into account the availability of jobs in a particular area, Nixon said.

A two-thirds vote in both houses was required to override Nixon's veto. In advance of the balloting, the Senate was considered more likely than the House to do so.

Electric Bills Will Be Higher In March

Greenville Utilities electric rates will be higher in March because of the higher fossil fuel adjustment charged billed by Virginia Electric Power Co., according to GUCO director Charles Horne.

Horne said that the fuel adjustment charge for March will go up to $0.00353 per kilowatt-hour and for the average residential users, the adjustment will mean an increase of $1.12 per month over February bills. The fuel adjustment charged in February was $0.00193 per kilowatt-hour.

The director explained that all revenue received from the fossil fuel charge is passed directly to Veeco, Greenville Utilities supplier. Each kilowatt hour purchased has the same fuel adjustment charge as each kilowatt-hour sold.

Based on estimates received from Veeco, Horne pointed out, the fossil fuel adjustment charge is expected to increase even higher during 1974, possibly as much as $0.00829. If it reaches this level, he said, the average residential user, who consumes approximately 700 kilowatt-hours per month, would be paying $5.80 for the adjustment charge alone.

Veeco has explained to Greenville Utilities that there are many factors which affect the fossil fuel adjustment charge and their estimates for 1974 could easily vary. The rising cost of coal and oil contribute directly to the increase in fuel adjustment charges, it was noted.

Horne asserted that the impact of higher fuel adjustment charges will have a big effect on large users whose rates per kilowatt-hour drops off as consumption increases. He said this means that residential users with electric heat will be paying a higher average cost per kilowatt-hour than previously.

He said that a bill for 3,000 kilowatt-hours in the month of March will be $55.69 for an average of 1.85 cents per kilowatt-hour. For 5,000 kilowatt-hours monthly use the cost will run $86.15, or an average of 1.72 cents per kilowatt-hour.

A great impact will occur to residential users in the summer when air conditioning loads, plus the higher summer rate schedule, will drive costs up even more, Horne continued.

He asserted, "Unless some actions are taken to reduce the cost of coal and crude oil to the electric power producers throughout the nation, the high costs of electric power producers throughout the nation, the high costs of electric energy are going to continue."

Horne said, "The day of low cost electric energy has passed, and consumers will have to take the same care with use of electricity as they do with consumption of food, gasoline, fuel oil and other products that have sky-rocketed in price."

County Schools Resume Regular Schedules On March 18, Says Board

By BLANCHE HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday approved returning to the regular school schedule on March 18 with classes beginning a half hour earlier.

The board earlier this year adopted the later starting time due to the darker early-morning hours encountered under Daylight Savings Time.

Barry Humphries, who is developing a health education drug education project for both the Greenville City and Pitt County Schools, presented a brief report of his activities to the board.

Humphries said he had been working on curriculum, in-service aids, training aids, and working with the teachers in an effort to have a demonstration area here.

He stated he had visited several drug centers to learn what can be implemented into the local program.

So far, curriculum in mental health has been developed. "This area was done first because it involves the 'tools' that young people need in their development. This will tie in with the other areas of the program," Humphries stated.

"Plans call for implementing a magic circle program for primary grades implementing a magic circle program for primary grades in which participants learn to associate and interact with other people."

On the secondary level, Humphries said plans for peer counseling are being made.

"We feel if the children are made aware of alternatives to drugs and there is enough feeling, they will not go the drug route," Humphries explained.

Humphries explained he is concerned more with preventive aspects rather than with the rehabilitation of drug users. He also expressed the need for parents to spend more time with their children during the early years and develop a good relationship with them.

The field day program for seventh and eighth graders for this year has been postponed due to the energy crisis and the involvement of personnel in the study for accreditation for the schools. Board members stated that the event would be resumed after this year.

Chicod School Principal Charles Johnson and D. H. Conley Principal Jr. R. Carraway, along with a minimum of 11 teachers, were named in establishing a bicycle-pedestrian safety unit for grades Kindergarten through nine.

A request for the unit came from Governor Jim Holshouser's office and the North Carolina Traffic Safety Council.

Commenting on the high electrical bills paid by the county schools, Board member Dr. Tom Patterson stated he would like to see the schools placed on residential rate rather than commercial rate. He said a resolution stating the change should be sent to the State Board of Education and the General Assembly in an effort to get the rating changed on the state level.

The change would result in a tremendous savings to the school system, according to Dr. Patterson.

Board members approved spending $3,000 to match state funds in the non-food assistance program so that kitchen equipment, such as deep fat fryers and walk-in coolers, could be purchased. The state will pay $9,000 (or 75 percent of the project).

Blaine Moye, principal of W. H. Robinson Primary School, Winterville, and James Cobb, appeared before the board to request that something be done about the condition of the front campus Robinson School to insure the safety of the children.

The school, which houses grades kindergarten through three and has a student body of 450, has a bad traffic pattern for the safety of the children. Showing slides with his presentation, Moye stated that the school and the parents in the area are concerned about the problem because there is traffic coming on the school campus almost anywhere it wants to. He asked that the board consider a controlled traffic pattern, including curb and gutter and a paved driveway and parking area for the school.

There is no sidewalk or drainage ditch along the front line of the school campus, thus allowing traffic to flow in any direction it desires.

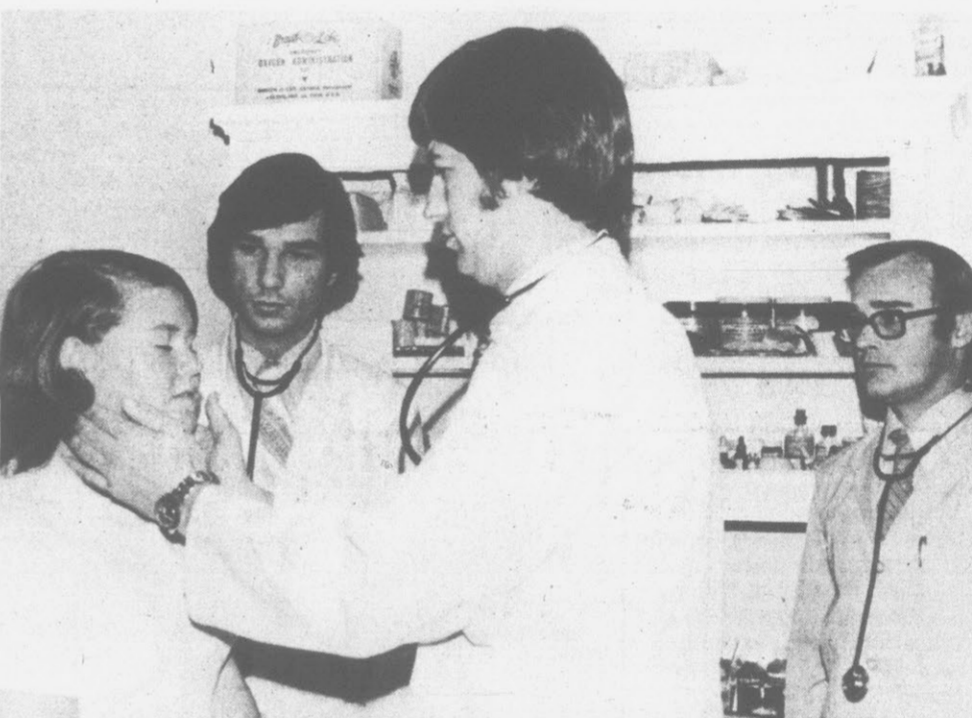

Principal Moye said he has to watch the loading and unloading of students almost 99 percent of the time in an effort to insure safety. The matter was taken under advisement.

A calendar committee was named to plan the events for the 1974-75 school year, including the opening and closing of school, holidays and teacher workdays. The committee includes: Albert Dobbs, Ayden PTA; Janet Staton, Belvoir PTA; Fred Graham, H. B. Sugg School principal; Peggy Congleton, Farmville Central teacher; Marian Jones, North Pitt teacher; Edith Barnhill, Pactolus teacher.

As a matter of information, Alford presented the fifth month percentage of attendance for each school. The percentage follows: Ayden Elementary, 96; Ayden Grammar, 95; Ayden Grifton, 92; Belvoir Primary, 93; Belvoir Grammar, 94; Bethel Primary, 95; Bethel Middle, 96; Chicod, 95; Conley, 93; A. G. Cox, 96; Falkland Grammar, 95; Farmville Central, 93; Farmville Junior, 93; Grifton Elementary, 96; G. R. Whitfield, 95; H. B. Sugg, 95; North Pitt, 91; Pactolus, 96; W. H. Robinson, 96; Sam Bundy, 95; Stokes Elementary, 95; and Stokes-Pactolus, 93.

Ike Baldree, principal of Grifton Elementary School, and Billy Phillips and Gene Fleming, members of the Grifton Advisory Council, presented an alternate proposal for the board

Students Get Taste Of Family Doctor's Work

By CAROL B. TYER Reflector Staff Writer

"This is the best medical student I've seen in years," Dr. Ernest Ferguson called the ECU Medical School Dean to say after one day of having Brinkley Eure observing in his office in Plymouth.

Eure and all 19 of his fellow students of the East Carolina School of Medicine spent three days last week with practicing family physicians throughout Eastern North Carolina.

"We really aren't far enough along with our clinical educations to know a lot about what we're seeing," Bob Goins, interviewed at the Family Clinic in Farmville, said Friday. "But it's been interesting, and a good change of pace. We've been doing little but academic and lab work since September."

Goins was spending the three days with Dr. Thomas Patterson and Dr. Dan Heizer in Farmville.

"I can't say enough about the good qualities of the student Dean Woolees sent me," Dr. Ferguson enthused. "He has a pleasing personality and excellent rapport with my patients and seemed genuinely interested in caring for human ills, and alleviating suffering. He says he's very much interested in becoming a family physician."

"All my patients encouraged him, I know. There weren't many who didn't find out he was a Gates County boy and urge him to come back to this area to practice."

"Of course, it was a thrill for me to have him, because I love family practice so much and am so happy to finally see it coming into its own as a field of medicine. I'd get awfully bored just looking into ears or eyes or noses all day, but in my practice, I never know whether the next patient will have a brain tumor or a toe itch for which he needs treatment. This is exciting work."

The other students and the physicians they visited last week are as follows: Ron Conoley and Stephen Joyner with Drs. Jack Wilkerson, Jack Koontz, and Quentin Mewborn at the Greenville Clinic; Mark Bennett with Dr. Charles Boyette in Belhaven; Clinton Briley with Dr. Ed Beddingfield in Wilson; John Byers with Dr. Al Woodworth in Greenville; John Collier with Dr. Otis Lowry in Spring Hope; James Goldman with Dr. Lynwood Williams in Kinston; Dwight Grady with Dr. James Morris in Goldsboro; Robert Harris with Dr. Ed Drew in Macclesfield; Charles Hoover with Dr. Robert Richards in Wilson; Michael Karr with Dr. James Jones in Jacksonville; Pamela Shirley with Dr. Earl Trevathan in Greenville; Clinton Pittard with Dr. C. G. Garrenton in Bethel; John Smith with Dr. Ross in Kinston; Sally Shu with Dr. Ben Warren in New Bern; John Stanley with Dr. Joseph Ward in Ayden; Kenneth Twiddy with Dr. Ross Fogleman in Kinston; and Joseph Williams with Dr. Leon Robertson in Rocky Mount.

"This orientation period in a family physician's office was planned to let the students evaluate, even at this early time in their development as physicians, family practice as it really is

Selassie Relaxing Powers

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopian observers predict the new constitution promised by Emperor Haile Selassie will drastically curtail the aged ruler's virtually unlimited authority.

"After 44 years as emperor, Haile Selassie is finally saying, 'I've had enough.' He is ready to become a ceremonial figure," one intellectual commented.

The frail, 81-year-old emperor will retain the royal trappings and near-worship of millions of peasants, but real power will shift to parliament, the cabinet and the courts, one top member of the civil service said.

With his country beset by drought, starvation, inflation, unrest and mounting demands for democratic government, the monarch announced Tuesday night that he had ordered a constitutional conference convened to draw up a new charter for the nation.

Consideration of a recommendation to reinstate the position of Finance Officer within the Finance Department budget; and the disposition of city records.

Pool Bids Opened

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

Bids for the proposed municipal swimming pool have been opened and the low base figures are considerably above the estimated costs as appropriated in the city budget.

City Manager Bill Carstarphen reported that the total of low base bids for the pool complex amounted to some $270,028, compared with the city's budget appropriation of $150,000.

Carstarphen explained that several alternates were included in the bids that can be used to lower the submitted figures and the city also has the option to negotiate with each low bidder in an effort to reduce the bid total.

The city manager pointed out that bids were received under four categories regarding the total pool complex which included: general construction involving the bathhouse structure, decks, fencing and furnishings; actual pool construction including the filtering equipment and pool accessories; plumbing to service the complex including shower and bathroom fixtures; and electrical work for the whole complex.

L. A. Downey & Son Inc. of Durham, with an office in New Bern, submitted the low base bid for general work of $77,210, while Gatlingburg (Tenn.) Construction Co. offered a pool bid of $165,000. Kinston Plumbing & Heating submitted a $19,233 low bid for the plumbing work and Stuart Shinn Inc. of Greenville turned in a low bid of $8,585 for electrical work.

Couple Weds In Ceremony

Mrs. Lora Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wiggins Sr. of Goldsboro, and Elvin Ray Jones, son of Mrs. Heneritta Jones of Greenville, and the late Mr. Elvin Jones, were married on Saturday, Feb. 23, at four o'clock in the afternoon at Saint Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Lawrence P. Houston Jr. officiated at the ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Dr. E. Robert Irwin, organist.

Escorted to the altar by the bridegroom, the bride wore a formal candlelight gown of bridal satin and re-embroidered alencon lace centered with pearls. The bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline, long calla point sleeves and a natural waistline. The bouffant skirt was designed with an attached chapel length train which fell from the waistline.

Her headpiece was a three tier veil of British illusion attached to a crown of seeded pearls and sequins. The bride carried a bouquet of white hyacinths, carnations, and baby's breath centered with red roses.

Mrs. Jean Tucker of Goldsboro was matron of honor and Miss Sharon Corbett, daughter of the bride, was maid of honor.

Elvin Ray Jones Jr. was his father's best man. Ushers were Louis Jones, son of the bridegroom, and Davis Allen Corbett, son of the bride.

Mrs. Robey Raynor and Mrs. Jimmy Walker, sisters of the bride, presided at the register and Mrs. John Mazingo, sister of the bride directed the wedding.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into an orchid and white suit and wore a corsage lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Goldsboro High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenville High School and N. C. State College, Raleigh. They are both employed by DuPont, Kinston.

Reception

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony. A yellow and white color scheme was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wiggins Jr. greeted guests and introduced them to the receiving line which was composed of the bridal couple, their parents and attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Walker presided at the guest register.

Mrs. Elvin Ray Jones

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth overlaid with a white lace cloth.

The centerpiece was a silver epergne holding yellow daffodils and English ivy accented with silver candleholders with yellow burning tapers.

After the bridal couple cut the first traditional slice of the four tiered wedding cake, Mrs. Robey Raynor served cake and Mrs. John R. Mazingo poured punch.

Gifts were displayed on a table centered with an arrangement of daffodils and accessories.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mazingo. Each guest was presented a bag of rice tied with burgundy ribbon as a favor.

The mother of the bridegroom entertained the wedding party following the rehearsal Saturday morning at Parker's Restaurant.

Helpful Hints

The following energy-saving tips are from youngsters, 11 to 12, who responded to Scholastic News Time magazine's request for helpful hints.

—Carol Heckler, of Immaculate Conception Grade School, Celina, Ohio, says — "We don't keep running in and out of the house."

—"We keep our curtains open for heat while the sun shines," said Mrs. Wekle's Class of Pine Ridge, S.D.

—Phil Macwell, of Florence, Ala., said: "My family is changing our light bulbs from 100 watts to 60."

—Connie Rippy of Middle School, Stanwood, Va., is using a wind up clock instead of an electric one.

—Ron Auchter of Elementary School, Fairview Park, Ohio, says — "We are spending more time reading and doing homework instead of watching television."

Homemaker's Haven By Sue May Pitt Home Agent

The high percentage of young women in the labor force indicates a definite need for adequate child day care centers. In an effort to help cope with this widespread problem, the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service has developed plans for such a facility. These plans were designed cooperatively by Extension Housing & House Furnishings Specialists, Family Relations Extension Specialists, the N. C. State Office of Child Care Licensing and the N. C. Department of Insurance.

This preschool day care center will provide facilities for the care of 25 children ages three to five years. The plans allow for the future addition of an infant area, which would provide facilities for the care of ten infants.

In order to minimize costs, the center is designed for optimum usage of space while providing adequate safety features and conveniences. The entry doubles as a staff lounge and is located to serve the future infant care addition, as is the kitchen. The office area not only provides office space for the staff, but also serves as a conference area for parents and as an observation center, permitting views in both the pre-school area and the future infant care addition.

The large group area offers flexibility of usage through utilization of movable storage units. A 12 by 48 inch unit for each child is located in a cloak area near the entry which provides space to hang garments; it also features shelves. Movable units situated around the walls provide storage for games, cots, books, and other equipment. A table work area is located near the kitchen to provide for eating, as well as art work, games, and other activities. Additional areas in the same room are available for indoor play and reading. The water play area, which has a drain, is located near the rest room for convenience in cleaning. To eliminate the possibility of youngsters being scalded, the rest room is equipped with a special warm (not hot) water tank to service the children's lavatory. The rest room is designed to provide maximum privacy without the use of a conventional door. A sick room and associated rest room are situated near the entry, in an area isolated from the group area.

Working drawing for this particular child day care center can be secured through our office (758-1196).

Pen Names Provide Fame, Fortune

LONDON, England (WNS)—Mrs. Eleanor Hibbert is a woman of many names—Victoria Holt, Philippa Carr, Jean Plaidy and seventeen others. They are all pen names she has used as authoress of novels that have sold 30 million copies and made her a millionaire. "A best-seller needs excitement, sincerity and passion, but never commercial thoughts," said the attractive, fiftyish widow. Mrs. Hibbert, who writes 500,000 words a year, keeps commercial thoughts for her private life. Recently she spent $37,000 on a world cruise and made $38,000 on the deal. "By staying out of England for a year, I saved $75,000 in taxes," she explained.

Anne Thinks Women Should Be Involved In Husbands' Work

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Anne Douglas became a movie producer by accident but thinks it is a very good job for a woman.

The slender blonde had been involved in television production and in public relations for films in France, and is familiar with the great French and English women directors. It was through her husband, actor Kirk Douglas, that she became involved in her first production, "Scalawag."

"Kirk was doing another picture at the time he was making arrangements for his own production company. I found myself doing the work he would normally have done and reporting to him in the evening. One day he said, 'You're doing the work. How would you like to be the producer?'"

Mrs. Douglas said yes, but admits she would not have applied for the job. It just seemed a natural thing to do, and the movie became a family affair. Her husband was director and star. One son was still photographer and the other worked in the production office. Even the family dog, Shaft, was pressed into service when an animal actor proved more ferocious than necessary in his role.

"Shaft is not very ferocious," Mrs. Douglas added, "but he is well-trained and did his part well. He was a perfect actor, but his voice wasn't terrible enough for his part. We had to dub in a more ferocious tone."

The very feminine producer says her job was not really very glamorous, especially on location in Yugoslavia.

Every morning, she got up at 6:30, woke her husband and one son and cooked breakfast on a two-burner hot plate. When the first two family members were fed and on their way, she had a cup of coffee, got the younger son up and off to the set and started washing dishes in the bathroom sink.

Then she did the laundry, because it took too long when sent to the commercial laundry in the nearest city. She washed socks and underwear. Then the telephone would start ringing for producer-type decisions. She says she was called "the bath-robe producer" because it was usually 11 a.m. before she had a chance to dress and get to the set.

"We had problems with horses. There weren't enough and more had to be obtained. Then we needed vultures. Wild ones wouldn't do what we wanted. We finally found trained ones in Germany and they were shipped, but when they arrived, their trainer was lost. No one could find him. Who knows about feeding vultures? So we had to get the specialist from the zoo in Belgrade," she recalled.

Each day's film was sent to Italy for processing. Communications between the two countries was irregular, to say the least, so Mrs. Douglas set up a film runner system to take the ferry boat each day and let them know how the film looked. The runner also brought English newspapers for the English crew and Italian newspapers for the Italian crew and the Paris Herald-Tribune. Her own subscription arrived as much as a week late.

"It was hot and dusty and there was nothing for us but the film. We selected the out-of-the-way location because of its scenic variety. Economically it was a good decision," she adds, proud of coming in under her projected budget.

Mrs. Douglas is planning another production venture. The Douglas company will produce "Posse" in New Mexico and Arizona next year, with Kirk Douglas as the star.

"That'll be child's play after shooting abroad," she said.

Interviewed at her hotel during a promotion tour, Mrs. Douglas wore jeans and a striped shirt and twisted her tinted sunglasses as she spoke. She believes more wives should be involved in their husbands' work, interested in his daily activities.

"We have always been able to discuss everything. We don't cut off discussions of work at the end of the day. When that happens, it is not very good for a marriage."

"I was home much of the time when the children were small, but I have always been active in things such as fund raising for hospitals, for the ater groups. The Woman's Guild of Cedars-Sinai Hospital still calls me 'Annie, Get Your Gun' when they have a particularly difficult job that needs doing.

"Now I am very much involved in our new music center in Los Angeles, trying to get the star system of Hollywood involved in theater there," she said.

An art collector and fashion-pace setter, Mrs. Douglas says a star is often the play, or the film.

"If you fail, the blame is laid to the star. If you succeed, the star shares success with the director and the producer. On the whole," she added, "I think I'd rather be the producer."

Mrs. J. Lindsay Savage, chairman of the Creative Writing Contest, announced March 30 as the deadline for submitting entries for this year's judging.

Each entry should be doubled spaced, signed with a pen name and mailed to Mrs. Savage with a self-addressed envelope. Her address is P. O. Box 178, Greenville, 27834.

The Creative Writing Contest is sponsored yearly by the Greenville Woman's Club and the 16 traveling awards are presented to winners at the annual Author's Luncheon.

The luncheon will be held Saturday, April 27, at the Woman's Club building beginning at 12:30 p.m. The speaker will be Douglas McReynolds.

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Judging from the number of times recipes for Carrot Cake appear in regional cookbooks, this dessert is a big favorite. So when we heard of a new kind of carrot cake, one with pineapple in it, we ferreted out the rule because we thought you might like to try it. At our house the cake was enjoyed both with and without a glaze.

CARROT PINEAPPLE CAKE
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup corn oil
2 eggs
1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple, drained
1 cup finely grated pared carrot, not packed down (2 medium carrots)
1/2 cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts

Line a square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches) with wax paper; grease paper.

On another piece of wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, cinnamon and salt.

In a medium mixing bowl beat together the sugar and corn oil. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in pineapple. Add flour mixture alternately with carrots, about one-third at a time, blending just until smooth after each addition. Stir in walnuts.

High Teas In Roof Garden

PALMA DE MAJORICA, Spain (WNS)—Lady members of the British Literary Club asked if they could be served high tea in the main-floor lounge of the Hotel Alcina. "How very inappropriate," replied managing director Lorenzo Alcina. "Here high teas are served, of course, in the roof garden."

'Good Citizen' Hates To Squeal On Policeman

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am in a dilemma of good neighbor relationship and good citizenship. One of our neighbors is a patrolman who constantly drives the patrol car into his driveway for hours. He keeps the loudspeaker very loud so he can hear it inside his house or while he is working in the yard or fixing another car parked next to the patrol car. The other neighbors also notice his constantly playing hooky, especially during the nights and weekends. They joke about it. Since we live in a nice, quiet town with a population around 20,000, we want to keep a good neighbor relationship, I pretend seeing nothing.

However, I just read in the paper the police department wants to transfer desk officers to patrol duty to cut down the town's costs. The police department claims they keep six patrols on the road at all times, therefore their overtime costs are tremendous. [According to the newspaper, the overtime charge totalled $90,000 last year.]

Knowing this, I feel that as a taxpayer and good citizen I should do something about it. But how can I do it without making any enemies?

DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: Have a friend across town [NOT another neighbor living near the patrolman] tip off the police department's intelligence division. Let the department satisfy itself on the patrolman's conduct. That way you can remain a "friendly" neighbor and get the job done.

DEAR ABBY: Like "Burned Once," I know what it's like to be married to an aging doctor who takes advantage of "doctor worship." When my doctor-husband was in his late 50s he had an affair with a young married woman in her 20s. According to him, it was all part of the "professional treatment" and her husband approved.

Why a young woman with a young husband would want to have anything to do with a man old enough to be her father is beyond my comprehension. For the most part, the patients are either young divorcees looking for economic security, or bored housewives, looking for excitement. The M. D. is overwhelmed by their wiles—never mind that he looks even older when accompanied by them.

BURNED SEVERAL TIMES

DEAR BURNED: To such misguided medicos, I can only repeat, "Physician, heal thyself!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SELF-CONSCIOUS IN L.A.": Don't confuse "etiquet" with "good manners"—which is far more important. Etiquet is more concerned with which fork to use. "Good manners" [as defined by Jonathan Swift] "is the art of making those people easy with whom we converse. Whoever makes the fewest people uneasy is the best bred in the company."

DEAR ABBY: I am having a terrible time with my landlady. You see, I get this room for only $30 a month, and it is big and airy and near my work, and I can't afford to move.

The landlady likes me too much. I'm 28, and she is old enough to be my mother. The other morning I woke up and she was standing over me watching me sleep! [She has her own key.]

If I clean up the yard she hugs and kisses me so much I can hardly get away from her. [I think she drinks a little.] When I pay the rent she always asks me to stay and visit a while, then she gets kissy with me.

I don't want to insult her or she'll kick me out, so what do you suggest?

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Do your best to keep her at arm's length. And get a chain for your door to keep her out while you are in.

Loving Children Provide Wealth

PONTOISE, France (WNS)—Widow Louise Vairon, 66, needed $10 a month to buy enough food to keep herself and her 20-year-old daughter alive. Her seven grown children, ranging in age from 21 to 45, had left home and would not give her anything. In court, the judge ordered each of the seven grown children to give Mrs. Vairon $10 a month. Then one child offered to give $20 a month, another $30 a month and so on. "Suddenly I'm a rich woman," exclaimed the widow. "I've my children's love and generosity, which is worth more than all the money in the world."

Hospital Head Gives Program

M. E. Gilstrap, assistant administrator of Pitt Memorial Hospital, was the speaker at the meeting of the Greenville Service League Monday. He showed slides of the new Pitt Hospital, which is now under construction and informed members of the various accommodations and services which can be expected when the project is completed.

A question and answer period followed Gilstrap's presentation. Mr. Herbert Carter, Bloodmobile chairman, informed members that the Bloodmobile will visit the Moose Lodge Tuesday, March 26, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. She also reported that during the last visit 22 Service League members worked 84 hours during which which time 190 pints of blood was collected.

It was announced by Mrs. F. Hendrix that a group of Service League members are well into a First Aid Course and that an advanced course will follow if enough members are interested.

Emergency Charity Chairman, Mrs. A. M. Mumford, announced that seven calls had been answered this past month for utilities, food stamps, and coal. Mrs. Gerald Crane, Hospital Activities chairman, reported 185 Valentine tray favors were made for patients at Pitt Hospital and Mrs. Reid Hooper, Layette chairman, answered one call.

Six memorials were received by Mrs. Frank Longino to the Laughinghouse Hospital Fund and Mrs. Richard Capwell, Lending Chest chairman, reported calls for one wheelchair, and one bedside commode.

Sustaining Chairman, Mrs. W. S. Bost, informed sustaining members of a meeting on March 13.

League President Mrs. Charles Stevens, thanked Mrs. E. C. Smith Jr., Charity Ball chairman, and all those who worked so diligently to make the annual affair a success.

Christmas Card Ready To Retire

EDINBURGH, Scotland (WNS)—Maybe it could only happen in Scotland. In 1918 Mrs. Duncan sent her first Christmas card to second cousin Jeanie Robertson. The next year Jeanie crossed off Mary's signature on the 1918 card, added her own and sent it back to Mary. Mary did the same for Jeanie. "This has gone on for 53 years until there is no more room for signatures on the cards," said Mary. "I don't know what we'll do next Christmas."

Vocal Entries Give Woman's Club Program

The Greenville Woman's Club heard the voice entries in the local Arts Contest Friday afternoon.

Mrs. W. A. Pollard presented Tony Leggett, as the Woman's Club entry, singing "Sure On This Shining Night" by Samuel Barber. Mrs. Sue Vincent introduced the entry for the Junior Woman's Club, Marc Walter. Walter sang "On To Victory" from Handel. Both singers were accompanied by Steve Cook, pianist.

It was announced that the Arts

Department will meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Roseveare for a musical program March 12. Members were reminded of the Elementary Children's Art Show, under the supervision of Mrs. Wellington Gray, which opened Sunday afternoon at the Greenville Art Center.

The International Department will have their fourth study on "Great Decisions" at the home of Mrs. Theodore Ellis Monday night.

Club members went on record that they would like to see the name of Ken Beatty entered in the Hall of Fame, a project now being considered for ECU athletes.

The Woman's Club and the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville will co-host the District Arts Festival at St. James United Methodist Church on March 9. Competition will begin at 10:30 and club hostesses will report at 9 a.m. to receive the art entries.

Mrs. Sylvester Green gave the meditation on "The World Is Mine" and Mrs. Ernest Holt, president, presided during the business meeting.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. W. E. Avery, Chairman, Miss Agnes Fullilove, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, Mrs. Sally Klingensmith, Miss Eunice McGee, Miss Alya Ray Taylor and Mrs. Walter Woodward.

Merits In Both Systems, But--

Two widely separated nations have recently gone through the difficulties of forming governments after Parliamentary elections.

In Israel Premier Golda Meir announced that she was giving up efforts to form a coalition government after five weeks of trying. Later with urging from leaders of her own Labor Party she announced she would stay in office.

In Britain Conservative Edward Heath resigned Monday after Laborites took more seats in the House of Commons than the Conservatives. He was succeeded by Laborite Harold Wilson who took over after a visit with Queen Elizabeth.

In a number of nations a scandal such as the Watergate troubles in our country would have brought down the government, an election would have been forced and a new leader would have been chosen. This would have been accomplished without all the agony our nation has undergone in recent months and which we will continue to face in the months ahead.

So should our form of government be modified to provide for calling new elections when confidence in the president seems shaken?

Well, we should study a long time before we do any such thing. We elect our presidents for a full four-year term and barring death or illness we know that the elected president will be on hand for a stated time. In Britain there is no assurance as to how long the new prime minister will be in control, working as he is with a close majority in Parliament.

In Israel, weeks have gone by with the future of Mrs. Meir in question and she may yet have to give up efforts to form a new government.

There have been times in American history when it would have been nice to force new elections and get rid of presidents in severe trouble. On the other hand there have been times when a president who was pursuing a correct but unpopular course would have been forced out and history would have been changed.

There are merits to both forms of governments, but we should not make changes in our system based solely on the problems of Watergate.

The GOP Split On Impeachment

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—A mailing received a few days ago by all 17 Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee climaxed a campaign to undercut Albert E. Jenner, Jr., as their special impeachment counsel, widening a serious internal split over impeachment among House Republicans.

The mailing was sent out by the committee's Republican staff. It contained a brief, advocating a limited view of what constitutes an impeachable offense, which Jenner had no part in writing. Also in the envelope, added gratuitously and without comment, was a magazine article describing Jenner as a tough prosecutorial type. The cumulative effect of the mailing: intentionally anti-Jenner.

Indeed, the situation is so serious that Jenner, a prestigious Chicago lawyer and former President of the American Bar Assn., might quit rather than suffer further indignities. Consequently, his supporters, who suspect White House involvement, may insist on thrashing out differences in a closed-door session of committee Republicans this week.

Any such session would likely aggravate the deepening split among the 17 Republicans. A minority consider themselves performing a quasi-judicial role, weighing evidence against President Nixon; a majority (while not admitting it) view themselves as the President's defenders. This distinction, especially crucial with the grand jury's sealed presentment concerning Mr. Nixon now in the hands of Judge John Sirica, is what the battle over Bert Jenner is all about.

The battle started when the committee's two Illinois Republicans, Reps. Robert McClory and Thomas F. Railsback, proposed super-lawyer Jenner as minority counsel for the impeachment. A young lawyer on the minority staff named Sam Garrison, recently arrived from former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's staff for the impeachment proceedings, unsuccessfully protested. He could do the job himself, he said.

Jenner then committed two blunders. He took the post without informing his new employers that he had raised funds for the reelection of a liberal Illinois Democrat, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III. Later he went on a Chicago television talk show to broadcast his belief that Mr. Nixon is legally responsible for the actions of his aides.

The two blunders were the foundation for an anti-Jenner column by William Safire, the former Nixon speechwriter now with the New York Times. The Safire column, in turn, became the basis for a letter-writing campaign to Judiciary Committee Republicans complaining about Jenner. This campaign coincided with the hardening White House line about the impeachment proceedings and the perceptibly more partisan tone of many committee Republicans.

In response to this tone, Railsback told a recent session of the committee's Republicans that he for one would not act as counsel for the defense. Those who strongly agree with Railsback include Reps. McClory, Henry P. Smith III of New York, William S. Cohen of Maine and perhaps others—clearly a minority among the 17 Republicans.

Thus, recent meetings of the 17 have been punctuated by blunt criticism of Jenner, led by Reps. David W. Dennis of Indiana and Lawrence J. Hogan of Maryland, for working too closely with committee impeachment counsel John Doar. Hogan told us he views Jenner as "a dilettante trying to put the cap on a glorious career" who, "if anything, tilts a little against the President." Other committee Republicans complained about his lack of political finesse.

That these criticisms are shared by the committee's senior Republican, Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, became manifest last week. Without consulting Jenner, Garrison supervised a lawyer's brief disputing the Doar-Jenner paper (which argued that a President can be impeached for non-criminal offenses). When told by Garrison that Hutchinson had authorized the brief, Jenner checked with Hutchinson. That is quite true, said Hutchinson. To some committee members that meant that Garrison—tough, smart, highly partisan and about half Jenner's age—had taken over.

Their impression was confirmed when Garrison's brief arrived in the mail accompanied by an article from the New Times praising Jenner's zeal to prosecute. It was not an article calculated to appease Jenner's Republican critics, and no friend of Jenner would have included it in the mailing.

If the obvious intent to force Jenner back to private life succeeds, the role of committee Republicans may be what it was described as—incorrectly, it seemed then—by House minority leader John Rhodes last December. Breakfasting with newsmen, Rhodes said he assumed lawyers for the Judiciary Committee Republicans would serve as defense counsel for Mr. Nixon.

But a handful of Judiciary Committee Republicans believe an overt defense role is politically suicidal and morally wrong. That is why they may risk an open Republican rupture this week to defend Jenner, establish his authority and preserve their own integrity.

The Inoperative Theory

WASHINGTON—There is an old saw here that if you just give the people the facts they will rise to any situation. This theory is now inoperative.

A group of us were lined up here in Washington, D. C., the other day waiting to get gas from a station located in McLean, Va., when somebody yelled from his car, "I just heard on the radio that the Shah of Iran says we have more than enough gasoline in this country."

There were shouts of joy and everyone started tooting their horns in a V for victory Morse code.

But an hour later someone passed down the word that William Simon, the energy czar, had just made a statement that the Shah didn't know what he was talking about. People stopped honking their horns and sat gloomily, inching along toward the pumps.

Another bulletin was then given by the man in front of me. "President Nixon has just announced that the crisis is over, but the problems still exist. Pass it on."

I told the lady behind me who broke into tears of joy. "Thank God for the President," she said.

The President's announcement gave a new lift to the line and we all stood around our cars chattering excitedly about the good news.

Then from way back in the line we heard cries of anguish. Someone had heard on the radio that the National Petroleum Council had just issued a report that unless new stiff conservation measures were instituted there would be mandatory rationing by spring.

"But," said the lady who had just blessed the President, "Nixon said there wouldn't be any need for rationing."

"That was 10 minutes ago," a college student said. "Conditions change very fast during an energy crisis."

"There isn't any crisis," a mother with two children interjected. "We've just got problems getting gas."

We all got back into our cars and moved up one foot.

A man came running down the line. "Bill Simon just told a Senate committee the lines for gasoline will be reduced by April!"

We all whooped and started slapping each other on the back.

A truck driver had a crowd around him. "I just heard on my two-way radio that 14 oil tankers are 100 miles off the coast of New Jersey," he said.

"Yeah," said another man, "but they just turned around and are heading back to Europe because they can get a dollar a barrel more for it there."

A newspaper boy came by holding a headline, "SIMON SAYS NORTHEAST TO GET MORE FUEL." He was sold out in minutes. While we were reading the story, a new bulletin came out on the radio. "Simon is raising the price of gasoline 2 cents a gallon."

A little old lady who had been in line for three days told me, "I'd like to get just one full tank before I die."

We all moved up another foot. Then someone started a volley ball game. Other people sat on the curb exchanging addresses and business cards.

Word reached us that Shell and Amoco had cut their dealers' allocations in March. This was followed by an announcement that Royal Dutch Shell had tripled its profits in 1973 to $1.68 billion.

One man started smashing his radio with a tire iron. The euphoria about Nixon's original announcement had died down. As I turned a corner and saw the Exxon sign way off in the sunset, I

Little Change Ahead

By BILL NEIKIRK

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)

Unemployment and inflation will remain high and the economy will continue its sluggish pace even if the Arab oil embargo is lifted, administration economists say.

"I don't think it would raise our forecasts much," said Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. "I suppose it would remove some negative uncertainty."

"It wouldn't be much different than we anticipate now," Edgar Fiedler, the Treasury Department's chief economist, said. "The biggest effect was the initial impact of the embargo."

The economists made the statements in telephone interviews.

Authoritative U.S. sources said in Washington that they expect the Arab oil ministers to agree to lift the embargo when they meet in Libya Sunday.

Partly as a result of the cut-off and partly because of an already-slowing economy, the Nixon administration forecast that unemployment will rise to almost 6 per cent this year, throwing an additional one million people out of work, while the economy will grow by an anemic one per cent a year.

While the economy hovers near recession levels, the administration has predicted, the inflation rate will rocket upward by 7 per cent because of surging food and fuel prices.

If the embargo ends, Stein said, "It would take some time to get oil, and we don't know what they (the Arabs) will do about total production rates."

Arthur Okun, who served as economic adviser to former President Lyndon B. Johnson, said that lifting of the embargo wouldn't help Americans much if imported crude oil prices remain at high levels.

But if imported crude oil prices come down from $11 to perhaps $7 a barrel, as sug-

Two clues pointed today that John Dillinger, escaped desperado, is hiding out in Chicago.

The car in which he and a companion fled after walking out of the "escape proof" jail at Crown Point, Indiana, has been found in front of a Northside apartment building.

Also, police disclosed that Dillinger was sighted here and pursued there last Saturday.

An educational program to reduce hog production in the county will begin Monday, according to E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department.

Growers are to be instructed on necessary steps for obtaining government contracts. Blanks will be furnished for their signatures.

Any farmer who has sold as many as 15 or 20 hogs a year will be eligible to enter into the contract. The government will pay at the rate of $15 a head for 25 percent less hogs than formerly produced.

Edmisten Eyes A Homecoming

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—May 31 will be a key date for Rufus Edmisten. That's his deadline for completing the voluminous report on the U. S. Senate Watergate hearings.

After that, it will be back home to North Carolina for the Boone attorney and his lawyer wife.

"I don't know just what we will do. We may just hang out a shingle somewhere—perhaps Greensboro or Winston. We would like to practice some law since both of us have been involved in government work all along," said the young mountain lawyer who gained nationwide attention for his work as deputy chief counsel during the televised Watergate investigations.

But if he has his druthers and the office comes open by Attorney General Robert Morgan's election as a U. S. Senator, Edmisten would like to be the state's Attorney General.

"At any event, we're coming home. We would have been back before now if it hadn't been for the Watergate hearings," Edmisten said.

Campaign Underway He is conducting a steady campaign aimed at winning the nomination to run for Attorney General. The nominee will be picked by the 280-member Democratic Party Executive Committee should the office come open.

"I never really left home," said Edmisten, recalling his farming interests in Boone with his father, his many visits back to the state for speeches, Democratic Party activities, and visits with his Morganton employer, retiring U. S. Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

"But I must admit my activity in North Carolina is a little heavier recently as I am looking toward the possibility of asking for the Democratic nomination if the vacancy should occur," he said.

In his visits around the state, talking with high school and college students, meeting with civic clubs, Edmisten said he has seen a shift in interest during recent weeks—a way from Watergate with the most often asked question now: what about this energy crisis?

But still often asked, and much on the minds of Tar Heels, Edmisten said, is the problem of who to believe in the government.

"My answer is, there are a lot of people you can believe right now."

No More Trust

He sees a wholesale disbelief in government at all levels which can be blamed on the bigness of government, its impersonality. He thinks that even had Watergate not happened, something else would have triggered the problem—the base of it has to do with a continuing trend in the Presidency toward royalty; a sense that the people owe obedience to the White House.

That, of course, goes directly against the premise of our form of government—that public officials are subject to the will of the people, Edmisten believes.

Edmisten also worries that so many people, is their distrust of government and politics, believe things like Watergate happen all the time—they just got caught.

"That simply isn't true. Things like that have never been repeated in the American experience. And had there been some career public servants around at the time it would not have happened—they would have known it was wrong."

"But what you had was a group of advertising men—not one career public servant involved—who had a notion that they didn't like our form of government. They didn't like the Constitutional setup, or the fact that the Congress makes all the laws and the executive is supposed to carry them out."

"They wanted a concentration of powers in one place—in the Presidency—and they set about trying to accomplish that," Edmisten said.

The irony of it, he said, is that "they ran around hollering Law and order; and all the time, they were laughing at every law they

Strength For Today

BEGINNING OVER AGAIN

After the English man of letters, Thomas Carlyle, had finished his history of the French Revolution, he took the hand-written manuscript to his friend, the economist John Stuart Mill, in order to have the benefit of Mill's comment.

Unfortunately, Carlyle did not keep a copy, and several days later a housemaid in the Mill home gathered up the manuscript and burned it with the trash. Mill said later that the worst ordeal of his life was telling Carlyle what had happened. But the literary giant who had produce the manuscript immediately started to work and within a few months had produced a new and better history of the French Revolution.

Circumstances sometimes destroy in a few minutes what we have been working on for years. Nothing tries one's spirit so much as a calamity of this kind. But when it happens there is nothing to do but start working again. The man is indeed a hero who faces the destruction of something very precious and keeps on going as if nothing had happened.

Public Forum

To the editor:

The bill to require newspapers to print replies from any person or candidate "assailed" in their pages, introduced by Senator Godwin and cosponsored by Senator Vernon White among a number of others, does not sound like a bill to ensure "fair play in journalism," as Senator Godwin is quoted as saying. Instead, it sounds like a measure to help members of the State Legislature to cover up "malfeasance and misfeasance"—not to mention nonfeasance. Its provisions appear to be in direct collision with the First Amendment of the Constitution, and further to suffer from over-breadth and lack of clarity.

The bill would be suspect if it limited the matter to questions of "malfeasance and misfeasance in public office." But to broaden the matter by adding the phrase "or otherwise attacks his official record" provides an extremely broad net in which a member of the Legislature might catch any criticism of him, whether for excessive absences, or for wearing brown shoes with a blue suit while being sworn in. It would also appear to cover a paper's straight reporting of any private citizen of North Carolina, for example, for that great train robbery perpetrated by the Legislature not long ago in voting its members fantastically large retirement benefits for minimal service.

From that kind of action by the Legislature and by the Legislators who voted for that law, we private, tax-paying citizens need all the protection that we can get, including full and free reporting and commentary in the news media.

I have written to Senator White, strongly urging that he reconsider his position of the bill, and vote against it if it comes up for consideration on the floor of the Senate.

Preventive Health Plan Grows

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—Most health insurance plans offered to American workers are based on the principle of corrective rather than preventive medicine, even though evidence seems to mount that the latter is more efficient.

Except in comparatively rare instances, a worker has had little choice but to accept a plan that paid bills when he got sick but offered far less assistance in keeping him free from illness and hospitalizations.

That may change now, although slowly, because of a federal law signed Dec. 29 that provides $375 million over a five-year period to assist in the development and expansion of health maintenance organizations.

HMOs, as they are popularly known, emphasize preventive medicine. For a prepaid fee, usually under $100 a year, a worker and his family is entitled to a wide range of checkups and treatments, including some at home.

Advocates see the HMOs as the answer to rising medical charges. As documentation they cite the history of Group Health Corp. of Puget Sound, Wash., which found its members hospitalized at a rate one-third the national average.

Because efforts are aimed at preventing ailments, or catching them while the patient is ambulatory, Group Health also found the average hospital stay of members was only 5.5 days, compared with a national average of 7.5 days.

The usual corrective medicine is, of course, also included.

The oldest HMO in existence, the Kaiser-Permanente Program of Oakland, Calif., reports a rise in its costs lately, but maintains that it is at a rate slower than the national average.

Hilman S. Sorey, executive director of Chicago's Michael Reese Health Plan, made up mainly of the big medical center's employees but which is now expanding to include industrial groups, offers one explanation:

"The idea is to make sure the individual has regular checkups, sees the doctor as early as possible, and doesn't wait around until the illness is too far advanced."

Sorey believes "the boss is going to find, very quickly, that when he has an HMO his workers are going to lose less time due to hospitalization and severe illness. And he's going to find them a lot healthier and productive."

Potential consequences of the plan—for workers, Blue Cross, employers, other insurance plans and hospitals—are far-reaching and, in the thinking of some medical men, revolutionary.

One provision, for example, requires an employer of 25 or more who provides a health insurance package to offer his employees a choice between a federally certified HMO and traditional indemnity health insurance.

Most employees, however, won't have the opportunity to exercise that choice until the HMO concept catches on. Relatively few now exist.

With federal funds pouring in, however, many new ones are expected to be formed and existing health care (Continued on page 8)

Data Bank Restrictions Are Supported In PIN

RALEIGH (AP) — William C. Corley, assistant director of the state-operated Police Information Network (PIN) says he agrees with a drive for more restrictions on data banks. He said in an interview Tuesday that bills for the security of information about persons who run afoul of the law are good ones. There are 189 agencies in North Carolina which have virtually unrestricted access within minutes to such information. And, through a link with PIN those agencies can file information on North Carolina citizens into the national criminal data bank system. They also can withdraw information from the national system.

Conley said the only restriction on the flow of information is a written agreement by participants that the data "will be kept in law enforcement unless it is paraphrased for use by certain people, such as judges or lawyers, in court."

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights opened hearings in Washington Tuesday on legislation introduced by its chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D. N.C., and bills sponsored by the Nixon administration.

All of the legislation would pace greater control on the information network and limit the uses that could be made of data fed into the Federal Bureau of Investigation's computer.

Corley said he agreed with the drive for more restrictions. "You need security in privacy," he said. "They both are good bills."

Corley said the North Carolina system, unlike some other states, uses the network primarily for information on stolen guns, stolen property, and wanted persons.

PIN's office in Raleigh serves as the control terminal for the North Carolina law enforcement agencies on the network. "If someone is in violation of the security agreement, we are the people who are going to protect them," Corley said.

North Carolina has restricted access to the computer system to law enforcement agencies. Information stored in the system is not available, legally, to the general public, he said.

Cunniff Col. . .

Sorey, whose organization is associated with the highly regarded Reese Medical Center on the Near South Side of Chicago, feels strongly that "we can provide the individual with better and more economical health care because we stress prevention."

He and others note that the United States has lagged behind some other nations in longevity and in lowering infant mortality, as well as in other measures of general health. Preventive medicine, he suggests, might change this.

HMOs conceivably could also spur industry to greater efforts. A study by the Conference Board, a private, nonprofit organization, concludes that industry is lagging in its contribution to improved health care.

Seymour Lusterman, a health and welfare specialist for the board, comments that "most senior corporate executives concede they do not rank health care as a top priority concern."

Many of them, he states, are skeptical of their power or competence to effect constructive change, or even of the legitimacy of greater business involvement in the professional health care area.

HMOs could change that attitude. Time, and more experience with the ability of HMOs to fulfill their promise, will tell.

Applications Being Accepted

Registrations are now being accepted for the nursery school and kindergarten programs at Jarvis Memorial Weekday School.

Limited openings are available in the Monday-Wednesday-Friday nursery school programs for both three and four-year-old children. Space is available in the kindergarten program which operates Mondays through Fridays, from 9:00 a.m. to noon.

Applications and information may be obtained from the church office, Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church, at 410 S. Washington St.

The value of this exposure, Edmisten said, will come from that May 31 report which will try to "teach us all so that the lessons of the past are not repeated."

Reward For Ballonist

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $10,000 reward has been offered for information leading to the safe recovery of missing balloonist Thomas Gatch Jr.

The adventurer's two sisters put up the reward Tuesday to spur further efforts in the search for Gatch, a 46-year-old bachelor from Alexandria, Va.

Gatch was trying to become the first man to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon. He was last seen Feb. 21 by a Liberian ship about 1,200 miles west-southwest of the Canary Islands.

Offering the reward are Gatch's sisters, Eleanor Armstrong Hoaglan and Nancy Gatch Svien, both of Rochester, Minn.

Persons with information on Gatch who wish to qualify for the reward must submit their claims in writing to the Washington law firm of Sachs, Greenbaum and Tayler, according to a spokesman for the balloonist.

Meanwhile, the flight control center in Las Palmas, Canary Islands, said Tuesday it was constantly tuned in to Gatch's emergency radio frequency but had heard nothing in 11 days.

Rev. Parker To Preach Sunday

The Rev. Charles Ray Parker will preach at Simpson Chapel Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited, according to the pastor, the Rev. Matthew Best.

Author Of Rabbi Books Says He Has Many Days

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Books Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Only two days are left in the fictional week author Harry Kemelman began traveling with his first novel, "Friday the Rabbi Slept Late," but he isn't worried about the little time remaining.

usual to do it," he says. "And that's fulltime work — seven days a week, 24 hours a day. Which is not an absurd statement. I'm not at the typewriter all the time but there is no way I can stop thinking about the book."

HARRY KEMELMAN

Kemelman — whose Rabbi David Small, after sleeping late, has gone hungry on Saturday, stayed home on Sunday, taken off on Monday, and most recently seen red on Tuesday — says:

"There may be only two days left for the Rabbi but they mean four years to me since each of these books takes two years to write. So I've got plenty of time to make up my mind what to do when I run out of days. Besides, I've always got Columbus Day, May Day and the rest in reserve."

Kemelman says the catchy title for his first novel in the series about a Rabbi who on occasion operates as a first-rate detective was "sort of a happy brainstorm. Since it caught on I felt I had to take advantage of its merchandising value." He laughs as he says the last, then adds, "Actually, the titles really have nothing to do with the books."

An energetic speaker, Kemelman, 65, talks easily about how Rabbi Small came into being. "I was teaching a freshman English class years ago," he says, "and to make a point I wrote the sentence 'A nine mile walk is no joke, especially in the rain' on the blackboard."

"After class it occurred to me the elements of a story were in that sentence. Well, I tried to write that story for 14 years and it never would come out. Then, after World War II, I tried again and it just ran out of the typewriter. I mailed the story to a mystery magazine and it not only was accepted but they asked me to do more."

The white-haired writer says, "After I got the formula I got so I could do a story a month. But then I decided to quit because once I knew how to do them they no longer appealed."

He kept on writing, however — "I always write. Not necessarily for publication but to clarify my thoughts" — and when he moved to Marblehead, Mass., from his native Boston he "became aware of an interesting sociological situation — Jews in exurbia."

"These were mostly young marrieds who were moving into areas which our way had been pure Yankee. When they called a meeting to start a temple in the new area, I went. This entire thing interested me as a sociological phenomenon and I wrote a straight novel about it."

The manuscript was turned down by a number of publishers but one suggested to Kemelman that he try combining his mystery technique with his story of Jews in exurbia.

"I liked the idea," he says. "In fact I sort of took fire. Various things began to fall into place, and I banged the book out in 12 days. That was a first draft, of course, and it had to be cut drastically but it eventually turned up as the first of the Rabbi books."

With "Tuesday the Rabbi Saw Red" just out, Kemelman already is at work on a "Wednesday" book featuring Rabbi Small.

"It'll take me two years as "Often I'll go to bed thinking about a problem in the book and when I wake I've got the solution. So I must have thought about it even while I was sleeping. Basically, with me, writing is an ongoing thing."

Issue Reminder Of Protection In Garnishment

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you ever find yourself unable to keep up with credit payments, the person or company that gave you the credit could claim a portion of your wages in court. This is called wage garnishment.

To explain how you're protected, the U.S. Labor Department has put out a pamphlet—"The Federal Wage Garnishment Law." The amount that may be garnished is limited to one-quarter of your earnings after taxes and Social Security deductions. But you can't be left with less than 30 times the minimum wage.

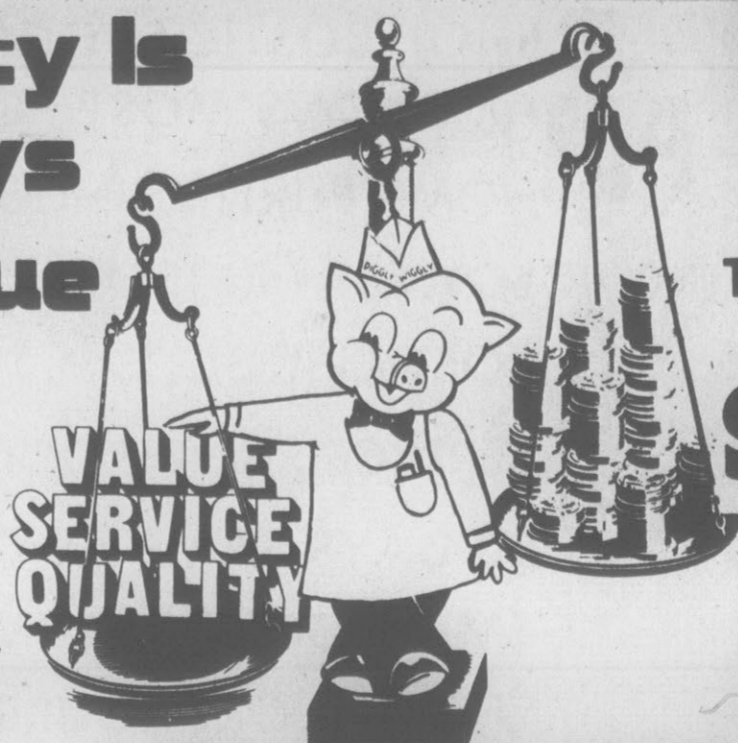

The law also prohibits an employer from firing you because your pay has been garnished. For a copy of the pamphlet, write to Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Ask for the pamphlet by name.

See Conditional Abortion View

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A survey conducted by the National Catholic Reporter says a majority of Catholics, Protestants and Jews favor abortion if the mother's health is endangered, in cases of rape or to prevent the birth of a defective child.

The report conducted by sociologists Andrew M. Greeley and William C. McCready of the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago, was based on information taken from 1,592 Protestants, Catholics and Jews in July, 1972, and 1,367 Protestants, Catholics and Jews a year later.

Overplanting Wheat Could Hurt Farmers

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is short of wheat.
Prices have nearly quadrupled since 1972. But huge harvests in the next two to four years could bring the country back to an old problem: Wheat surpluses and depressed market prices.

The key is exports. Will they hold up? The Nixon administration is committed to a policy of "all-out wheat harvests," as one official put it. But export outlets are needed to justify those harvests.

The United States has consumed only 770 million bushels of wheat in recent years. That's roughly one-third of the record 2.1 billion bushel harvest government experts predict for 1974.
The remaining two-thirds already have been sold — even oversold — abroad. The two major customers, China and Russia, have purchased 150 million and 100 million bushels, respectively, for 1974 delivery.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics at the U.S. Agriculture Department, doesn't think wheat exports will be as good in 1975.

"There is every reason for thinking that wheat will again become abundant in the world, probably in the summer of 1974," Paarlberg said.

Export earnings last year were $2.4 billion from 1.184 billion bushels of wheat. The entire crop of 1.7 billion bushels was worth a record $6.5 billion, more than double the old high of $3.1 billion 26 years ago.

Yet wheat farmers fret, as if prosperity is about to slip from them.

"There is apprehension," said Rep. Keith G. Sebilius, R-Kan., who claims that his congressional district grows more wheat than any other in the United States. "Farmers fear overplanting will hurt them further down the road. That feeling is strong among the better producers and their organizations."

Sebilius said some of his constituents haven't planted as much wheat this year as they could have, despite the lucrative prices.

Only two years ago, there was too much wheat, or so everyone thought. Prices at the farm were at subsistence level, and the federal government was distributing to farmers nearly $1 billion a year in wheat subsidies. One acre of wheat in early July 1972 sold for $40 at the free market price. Last year, the same acre brought $150.

One bushel of wheat, enough to make 70 loaves of bread, sold at the farm for $1.30 in mid-1972. By this January it was a record $5.29 a bushel.
Because of the high market price, the government has not had to pay subsidies in recent months, and probably won't have to pay any in 1974, most experts predict.

The sale of more than 400 million bushels of wheat to the Soviet Union two summers ago set off the increase in prices.
There have been published reports that a loaf of bread will cost $1 this spring, and that overselling abroad will leave the United States temporarily short of wheat this year. President Nixon has suspended import quotas on wheat and flour, in case of need.

Last fall, the Agriculture Department canceled landidling requirements for 1974 production of major crops, including wheat, to replenish dwindling reserves. Winter wheat farmers, who plant in the fall and harvest the following summer, increased acreage nearly 20 per cent.

The greater production is part of the fear that wheat surpluses will exist in 1975, bringing down market prices. Until the Russian wheat deal, exports seldom exceeded 50 per cent of production and domestic consumption usually was less than 40 per cent.

When exports were slim, as they were in the '60s, the price of wheat was near or below the government's "price support" loan rate, a guarantee of a minimum price under U.S. farm law.

Farmers who opted for price support loans put up their wheat as collateral. Frequently they let the government keep the wheat rather than repay the loans.

That is how, basically, the government became the owner of huge wheat surpluses in the late 1950s and early 1960s. In 1961, for example, the Commodity Credit Corporation in the Agriculture Department owned 1.24 billion bushels. That was one-half the world's grain reserves.

Warehouse operators prospered by storing wheat at taxpayer expense. Those payments averaged $1 million a day during the billion-bushel surplus years.

Tighter acreage control and a different method of price supports, including direct payments to farmers for taking land out of production, helped to reduce the old stockpile by the mid-1960s.

But fear of a world grain shortage prompted a big increase in U.S. wheat acreage in 1967. A total of 68.2 million acres was planted. By comparison, this year's wheat acreage is expected to total 70 million.

Not all the demand envisioned seven years ago materialized and the wheat inventory rose from 425 million bushels on July 1, 1967, to 819 million bushels two years later.

By July 1, 1972, the surplus was 863 million bushels and was growing daily.

Then a poor harvest in Russia and in many other countries changed everything. Starting with the Russian wheat deal, exports jumped. So did market prices, while the U.S. reserve declined to 438 million bushels on July 1, 1973. By this July, the reserve is expected to be only 200 million bushels, and perhaps zero if all export contracts are fulfilled.

Ninety countries have ordered U.S. wheat this year.
Nevertheless, Agriculture Department officials say this year's expected harvest of 2.1 billion bushels will be enough to meet domestic demand and exports. By mid-1975, the officials say, the U.S. wheat reserve will begin to grow.

Democrats in Congress from farm states disagree.

"What it all comes down to is that our fate is totally in the hands of Mother Nature," says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets Tuesday were generally stronger for mediums and steady for large and small. Supplies generally adequate, demand fair to good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Garde A large whites 70.73, medium whites 65.64, small whites 51.43.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — Corn and soybean prices were sharply lower on the state's leading grain markets Tuesday. No. 2 yellow shelled corn ranged from 2.90-3.15, mostly 2.90-3.00 per bushel. No. 1 yellow soybeans brought 5.75-6.07, mostly 6.00-6.07 per bushel.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina hogs were mostly $1.00 to $1.25 lower today. Tops of 37.75-38.75 at Kinston, Benson and Lumberton; 37.50-38.00 Rocky Mount; 34.50-36.50 Wilson and High Falls; 39.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market tone for next week steady. Supplies adequate. Demand fair to good. Weights desirable. Estimated slaughter today 1,179,000.

North Carolina hens: Live supplies limited. Demand good locally, but slow to out of state plants. Sales today insufficient to release prices.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today as Tuesday's full-speed-ahead rally tapered off.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 1.72 at 870.70. Gainers led losers, however, by about 5-to-3 in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors were pausing for a new look at the energy and economic outlooks after a buying spurge that had sent the Dow to a gain of more than 19 points on Tuesday.

The rally centered on reports from Washington that authoritative sources expected the Arab oil-producing countries to end their embargo on shipments to the United States as early as this coming Sunday, brokers said.

Some of the motel, mobile-home and recreation-industry stocks which gained sharply Tuesday were active again today.

Redman Industries, a mobile-home producer, was the Big Board's volume leader, unchanged at 4 3/8. Winnebago gained 1/4 to 7.

Howard Johnson was up 3/4 at 11 in trading that included a 40,000-share block at that price. Holiday Inns rose 5/8 to 15 1/2, and Host International was up 1/2 at 8 1/2.

Standard Oil of California gained 1/4 to 30 1/4 after a 2-point rise Tuesday. The company reported reserves of one billion to two billion barrels of oil at the site of a recent North Sea discovery in which it has an interest. Commercial Solvents slipped 1 1/4 to 23 3/4. The company went to court to block a tender offer by Beker Industries for 800,000 shares of Commercial Solvents stock at $26.50 each.

At the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was McCulloch Oil, up 1/4 at 7. The Amex' 11 a.m. market-value index was .21 higher at 98.42. The NYSE's 11 a.m. index of all its listed common stocks was off .02 at 52.15.

County Schools

to consider the construction of two new classrooms rather than the remodeling of two spaces now being used. Baldree told the board that plans drawn by Dudley and Shoe Architectural firm showed that the new construction would cost only $16,000 more than the remodeling project would cost. Baldree stated the reason for the new project is to have the school in one building, rather than have two classrooms off to one corner of the campus with no other buildings nearby. The current facility is located a good distance from the rest of the campus and the administrative unit. By adding two new classrooms on the present facility, it would be easier for both the students and the teachers.

It was stated that the remodeling project would be paid for with maintenance funds and that new construction cannot be done from that fund. New construction must be made from the capital outlay division. Board members agreed to see what can be done to have the project completed.

Baldree pointed out that new construction would eliminate all the old buildings on the campus. The Chicod Advisory Council agreed to let the summer migrant program be conducted on the campus of Chicod Elementary School again this year.

Principal Bernard Haselrig of Bethel Middle School was given permission to alter the hours of the teacher workday for Friday, March 8, from the usual time to 12:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. in order that parent-teacher conferences might be held.

Board members approved the allotment of $600 to Ayden-Grifton School in order that two flag poles might be purchased for the school. The school clubs have contributed $600 toward the project.

J. L. Keeter, assistant superintendent, told the board that the county system had lost $127,000 in Title I funds for the 1973-74 school year, part "A" of the allotment. The county received 90 per cent of the 1972-73 school year total.

Keeter stated he had received word that Pitt County would receive an additional $45,946 under Title I Part "C" allocation. These funds are available only to the elementary schools who rank in the top half of the county income survey. This includes the following schools: Belvoir Grammar, Pactolus, A. G. Cox, G. R. Whitfield, Stokes-Pactolus, Stokes Elementary, Falkland Grammar, Bethel Middle, Bethel Primary, Belvoir Primary, W. H. Robinson.

The board adopted resolutions acknowledging the success of the Ayden-Grifton boys basketball team and the North Pitt "Big Orange Machine" girls team. The Ayden-Grifton boys won the state championship this year while the North Pitt team was one of eight finalists in the state.

Obituaries

Allen
Mrs. Mary Allen of Ward Street died this morning in Pitt Memorial Hospital. She was the mother of Mrs. Johnnie Mae Dawson of Greenville. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Brown
Mr. Arthur Brown, formerly of Robersonville, died Sunday in Baltimore, Md. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Cleve
Funeral services for Mr. John Henry Cleve, 64, were held at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Wednesday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Robert W. South, Christian Minister of Washington, and the Rev. Kenneth R. Towsend, Episcopal minister of Vanceboro. Burial was in Celestial Memorial Gardens in Vanceboro.

Mr. Cleve died Sunday morning in Beaufort County Hospital in Washington.

A native of Vanceboro, he attended the Vanceboro Schools and Oak Ridge Military Academy. He lived in Washington for a number of years and in 1962 came to Greenville, where he operated Cleve's Grocery and Seafood Market until he retired in 1966. Since his retirement he had made his home in Vanceboro and Washington. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Vanceboro.

Surviving him are two sons, Patrick C. Cleve of Washington and Sgt. John W. Cleve of the U. S. Air Force, now stationed in Germany; his mother, Mrs. W. A. Cleve of Vanceboro; three brothers, Abe and Bill Cleve, both of Vanceboro, and Gilbert Cleve of Goldsboro; five sisters, Mrs. August Ruppalt of Orlando, Fla., Mrs. M. T. Jacaruso, Mrs.

Tony Caprara, Mrs. Howard Patterson, and Miss Mae Cleve, all of Vanceboro; and one grandchild.

Mr. Perkins was a native of Pitt County but spent most of his life in the Parmele Community. He was a member of Olive Branch Baptist Church and a veteran of World War II. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Velma Little Perkins of the home; one son, Tyward Perkins of Shaw University, Raleigh; two sisters, Mrs. Novella Clemmons of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Christine Peele of Oak City; five brothers, Rudolph and Russell Perkins, both of Baltimore, Md., Virrick Perkins of Brooklyn, N. Y., Raleigh Perkins of New Haven, Conn., and Shelton Perkins of Robersonville. The body will be taken from Flanagan and Parker Funeral Pool Bids...

Considering the bathhouse bid, item on the basis of a combination of the general construction bid (with the exception of the pool deck), with the plumbing and electrical bids, the total base figure amounts to $93,028 or some $39.58 per square foot, compared with the budgeted figure of $47,000 or $20 per square foot.

The specific bid for the pool deck amounted to $12,000 and compared with the cost estimated by the city of $11,250. Carstarphen said that the low base bid for the actual pool structure, $165,000, was some $74,800 above the budgeted appropriation of $90,200. The estimated cost was based on a cost per square foot of $12.27, he said, and the Gatlinburg figure amounted to $22.45 per square foot.

He added that the pool construction bidders offered time of completion schedules ranging from 160 days to some 14 months while the general construction work on the bathhouse and decks ranged from six months to a year.

Three bids were submitted for the general construction by Eastern Construction Co. offering the high bid of $92,000. Chapin Construction Co. submitted a bid of $81,811. Jo-Pa Co. of Carolina offered the high bid for the pool construction of $255,750 while Meredith Swimming Pools submitted a $255,700 bid, and Carolina Aquatech Pools had a bid of $240,465. Kippe-Piping Inc. had a bid of $23,016 for the plumbing work, Pemberton Inc. submitted a bid of $12,000 for the pool deck. Home to the church Friday afternoon. Family visitation at the church will be held from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday.

Rev. Morris Is Guest Speaker

GRIFTON—The Rev. I. C. Morris Sr. will be the guest speaker each evening beginning Thursday through Sunday at the Church of God, located on Wall Street and Cannon Boulevard, here.

The Rev. Morris is a well-known evangelist in N.C. and is a former resident of Greenville. He is a former pastor of the Greenville Church of God.

The public is invited to attend these services which will begin each evening at 7:30. There will be special singing in each service.

noted that two of the basic and most important items involving construction of the pool (steel and concrete) are in short supply now. He also cited the increasing cost of materials as another factor leading to the high bids.

The official pointed out the figures will be reviewed and discussed with each of the low bidders and "we hope to achieve some reduction in the low base bids." He added, however, that it is doubtful that the figures can be brought down to within original estimates.

The matter is scheduled for consideration at tomorrow night's City Council meeting.

Stamp Club To Meet Thursday

A meeting of the Eastern Carolina Stamp Club for Thursday has been announced by Edmund Durham, president of the club.

The meeting will take place Thursday night, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement recreation room of the downtown Planters Bank on the corner of West Third and Washington Streets.

in small towns and rural areas," said Dr. Jack Wilkerson, a Greenville physician who doubles as clinical professor of family practice at the ECU School of Medicine. "We don't coerce them," he went on, "but we make no bones about this being a school for training family physicians to fill the crying need throughout the state. We're just presenting this need to them very vividly early in the game." The Chapel Hill first-year students spend one afternoon at an AHEC clinic, Dr. Wilkerson said.

Pirates Outslug Duke For 11-6 Victory

NO LUCK IN THE STRETCH—East Carolina's Russ Smith (3) is tagged out at second base as he tried to stretch a single in the seventh inning yesterday against Duke. Smith's hit, to center, had driven in two runs for the Bucs, and on the throw in, he broke for second. Duke cut off the throw, however, and shortstop Bob Albright made the tag as two teammates look on. Smith and Ron Staggs led the Buc hitting with three each as the Pirates rolled to an 11-6 victory. (Reflector Photo by Chip Lambeth)

Led by the slugging power of Ron Staggs, East Carolina's Pirates romped to their second straight victory of the new baseball season yesterday downing Duke University, 11-6. It was the home opener at Harrington Field for the Bucs.

Staggs, who lashed out a three-run homer in the second inning, finished the day with three hits and four runs batted in. One of his other hits was a triple.

Russ Smith also collected three hits, and drove in three runs. Mike Hogan and Carl Summerell each banged out two hits.

About the only thing that got the Bucs in trouble during the afternoon was the large number of walks allowed by their four pitchers—nine in all. The Blue

Devils did get 11 hits, but they didn't hurt the Bucs as much as the walks did.

Overall, the Bucs cracked out 14 hits of their own, making a total of 25 in their two games so far. They have scored 20 runs and allowed seven.

Wayne Bland, a transfer from College of the Albemarle, started the game, working the first three innings, and got credit for the win. He allowed only two hits, but, as with the others, walks got him in trouble.

Duke threatened in the first when Bob Albright singled and was balked to second. John Poff walked, but a double play, the first of two got the Bucs out of the inning.

In the second, Duke again threatened, this time when Dave Troyan and John Lemmen drew walks. Then, in the third,

Albright, was hit by a pitch and Poff singled. Albright, however, was thrown out at third by a perfect strike by rightfielder Bobby Harrison. Two more walks loaded the bases before Bland picked off Robbie Cox.

East Carolina, meanwhile, had pushed over six runs in the first two innings. The first came in the opening frame. With two down, Staggs singled on a bad hopper to short and moved up on Hogan's single. Summerell banged a single to center, scoring Staggs for a 1-0 lead.

Harrison led off the second with a walk, but was cut down at second by Ron Leggett's fielder's choice. Leggett stole second and raced on to third on a bad throw on the play. He scored on Rick McMahon's hit to right. Geoff Beaton walked and Smith singled in McMahon. Staggs then blasted his third homer of the year, scoring Beaton and Smith ahead of himself. That ran it to 6-0. The Bucs put two more men on base before the Blue Devils finally got them out.

East Carolina threatened again in the fourth when Smith singled and moved up on an overthrow, but it wasn't until the sixth that the Pirates scored again. McMahon led off the sixth with a walk, and Smith grounded out, and the attempt at the double play the hard way went astray. Staggs then cracked a triple up the alley in right center, scoring McMahon. Hogan followed with a single to right, bringing in Staggs with the eighth Pirate run.

Three more crossed in the seventh. Jack Elkins walked and Leggett singled. With two down, Beaton singled in Elkins, and both runners moved up on the throw home. Smith followed with a two-run single, bringing across Leggett and Beaton, but that ended the Buc scoring.

Duke finally broke the ice in the fourth inning, getting two runs off the second Pirate hurler, Bob Feeny. With two down, Lemmen walked and Steve Schoettmer singled. Budd Flesh got a hit to center, scoring Lemmen. Albright reached on an infield hit, and Poff's hit off Feeny's glove scored Schoettmer, making it 6-2.

Duke didn't threaten again until the eighth, when they tagged the third Buc pitcher, Robert Burbank, for four runs. With one down, Lemon drew his third walk of the game. Schoettmer singled, and was safe at second when Flesh's grounder was misplayed, leaving the bases loaded. Albright slapped a single into

Black Jack, Oakmont Win

Black Jack and Oakmont remained alive in the Church Basketball League's post-season tournament last night, but Trinity and St. James were eliminated.

The four were playing in the losers' bracket of the double-elimination tournament. Thursday night, Black Jack and Oakmont will meet in the first game at 7 p.m. while Immanuel and Presbyterian meet in the winner's bracket at 8:15 p.m.

In the opener last night, Black Jack gained a 70-50 win over Trinity. By the end of the half, Black Jack had run up a 31-26 lead. They continued to pull away, outscoring Trinity, 39-24, in the second half.

Tal Adams led Black Jack with 29 points, while Randy Hudson had 13 and P. Smith had 12. For Trinity, D. R. Daniels had 20, Jim Adams had 17 and Harold Banes had 10.

Oakmont took a 58-51 victory over St. James in the second game. Oakmont moved out to a 27-19 lead in the first period, then held off St. James in the second half. The Methodists outthit them, 32-31, but it wasn't enough.

Bobby Hall and Bobby Tunstall each had 16 and Bob Lamb had 11 for Oakmont. Guy Howell hit 15, Si Seymore had 12 and Mike Board had 10 for St. James.

Seven Matmen Head For NCAA

A few days ago, John Welborn had confidently professed that his team would be in a "good position" going into the Southern Conference Wrestling Tournament. "We probably have more tournament experience than any other team in the nation," he had said.

The championship meet was held last Friday and Saturday in Boone, and the East Carolina University coach's optimistic words proved to be somewhat of an understatement. His team charges swept seven of the individual titles for the second straight year, in a row as East Carolina romped to its third straight team championship.

The Pirate's accumulated 171 points for a comfortable margin over their closest challengers, Appalachian State with 121½ and William and Mary with 11½. East Carolina advanced nine men to the finals and narrowly missed victory in the two matches it lost. At 134 pounds, Pirate Milt Sherman was decided by Mark Belknap, W & M's defending conference titlist, 7-6. At 167, W & M's Bob Stark edged ECU's Ron Whitcomb, also by a score of 7-6. Both matches were decided by riding time.

East Carolina's individual champions, each of whom earned a berth in the NCAA Championships, March 14-16, in Ames, Iowa, were Jim Blair (118), Glenn Baker (126), Tom Marriott (142), Bruce Hall (158), Bill Hill (177), Mike Radford (190), and Willard Bryant (Heavyweight).

Georgia Girl Has Short Football Try

By TOM SALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — At the age of 14, Terri Marie Perkins is a former football player. And not a happy one either. But for two days recently she was a bona fide member of the Sequoyah High School team.

The ninth grader's retirement wasn't due to any rules barring her by the Georgia High School Association. And the school principal couldn't find a reason to prevent her from playing.

Even the coach was behind her.

But, Terri's brief career after two days of spring football practice was grounded — due to lack of transportation.

"I'd like to try again," said Terri. "But I had to quit after two practices because my Mom and Dad work and we practiced every day and on Saturdays. I just didn't have any way to get home from practice."

The bespectacled, 5-foot-3, 120-pound girl, said it is eight miles from her home to the school in Doraville, an Atlanta suburb.

"It was just a little too far to walk," she said. "I'd like to try again next year. But I think I'll go out for soccer next fall, instead. You don't have to wear all that equipment."

Terri says she went out for the team "because I like to play it. I thought it would be fun. I can't just sit and watch something. I have to be out there playing."

She says some of her girl friends thought "I was crazy." And her father "sort of agreed with them. He said if I wanted to kill myself, it was okay with him. My mother wanted me to stick it out."

Sequoyah, which won only one game a year ago, apparently can use all the help it can get. And, according to Terri, Coach Glen Yancey agreed.

"He said we didn't have such a good team with the boys, that maybe having a girl on the team would boost their morale."

Principal Dr. William Hightower also went along with Terri.

"I'm old enough to be a male chauvinist pig and to have some apprehensions about a girl participating in a contact sport," said Dr. Hightower, "but I accepted it as her right."

"I checked with the Physical Education Department to see if there was any physiological reason why she could not go out for football and nobody came up with one," he said.

So out she went.

Tankers In Meet

Nine members of the East Carolina University swimming team will be taking part in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Championships, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Princeton, N.J.

The Bucs will be out to qualify for the NCAA Nationals to be held later this month at Long Beach State University, Long Beach, Calif.

Those attending the Easterns include: Jack Morrow, in the one and three-meter diving; Larry Green, in the 500 and 1,650-yard freestyle; Ross Bohlken in the 100 and 200 freestyle; Mike Bretting in the 100 and 200 butterfly; Jim Hadley in the 50 and 100 freestyle; Charles Kemp in the 100 and 200 breaststroke; Paul Schiffl in the 400 individual medley and the 1,650 freestyle; Bobby Vail in the 100 freestyle, and Steve Ruedlinger, who will team with others in the relays.

In addition to the individual events, the Bucs will participate in the 400 and 800 freestyle and the 400 medley relays.

Huntley In NCAA

—Thanks to Maurice Huntley, Coach Bill Carson spent a major portion of Monday on the telephone making plane reservations to Detroit, Mich.

In last weekend's Southern Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships in Lexington, Virginia, Huntley ran a 60-yard dash heat in 6.2, tying the meet record and qualifying for the NCAA Indoor Championships, March 8-9, in the "Motor City."

Huntley slipped to a time of 6.5 in the finals, placing third behind Weldon Edwards of Richmond and Charles Dobson of William and Mary. Edwards, who won the finals in 6.3, also ran a 6.2 heat and will accompany Huntley to Detroit.

As a team, East Carolina placed third behind perennial champion William and Mary, which captured its ninth consecutive crown, and surprisingly strong Furman.

Freshman Tom Watson heaved the shot 52'1½" to give East Carolina its only victory of the meet. Watson's toss set a new ECU Indoor school record.

State Must Win To Have A Shot At Any Post-Season Tournament

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina State basketball season, which has brought No. 1 national ranking, 22 straight victories, a 24-1 record and a 30th consecutive victory over Atlantic Coast Conference opposition, could end suddenly, shortly before 9 o'clock Friday night.

Coach Norman Sloan's Wolfpack earned a bye in Thursday's opening round of the ACC championship tournament at the Greensboro Coliseum by sweeping all 12 league games, the first time in the league's 21 years that a team has done that two years in a row.

But on Friday at 7 p.m., State moves into action against the winner of Thursday night's Clemson-Virginia first-round game.

A State victory would put the Wolfpack into the Saturday night title game, the winner of which plays in the NCAA Eastern Regionals, scheduled March 14 and 16 at, of all places, State's home court, Reynolds Coliseum. If Sloan's team doesn't win the ACC tournament its season is over.

There are two other post-season events this month, the National Invitation, March 16-24 at New York, and the new Collegiate Commissioners Association tournament at St. Louis opening March 14.

The ACC elected not to send a team to the St. Louis tourney. The hitch about the NIT, as far as N.C. State is concerned, lies in the fact that NCAA rules prevent a team that is playing host to an NCAA regional event from competing in the NIT.

ACC teams, fourth-ranked Maryland and sixth-ranked North Carolina, each 21-4, are in the running for the NIT berths should they fall by the wayside at Greensboro.

Should both win their Thursday openers, Maryland over Duke and North Carolina over Wake Forest, the ranked teams will meet in a Friday night semifinal. The loser, doubtless, would play in the NIT. It's conceivable that should the survivor, if it be Maryland or North Carolina, lose in the ACC finals, it, too, would get an NIT bid.

But for North Carolina State all the marbles are on the NCAA table if the Wolfpack wins its conference crown. After that, it's NCAA or nothing for State, a team that swept 27 games last year but was ineligible for NCAA play due to probation for recruiting irregularities. Friday and Saturday games will be televised regionally from the sold out 15,000-seat Greensboro Coliseum.

Cougars Top Colonels; Porter Paces Bullets

By The Associated Press Little Kevin Porter, fastest of the speeding Bullets, doesn't get many rebounds, but he knows what to do with the ones other guys get.

Porter, hauling in outlet passes from teammates Elvin Hayes, Wes Unseld and Mike Riordan, tied his career high with 28 points Tuesday night as Capital took a 103-89 National Basketball Association victory over the slumping Atlanta Hawks. Porter scored most of his points by beating the Hawks downcourt for layups.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York defeated Seattle 111-106, Chicago topped Phoenix 111-91, Portland downed Los Angeles 107-102 and Detroit edged Golden State 95-93.

In the American Basketball Association, Carolina beat Kentucky 112-96 and Denver whipped Memphis 135-101.

Hayes, the league's top rebounder, hauled down 21 to go with his 21 points. Unseld, returning to action after missing two games while his knee was being examined, and Riordan had 14 rebounds each.

Porter, on the receiving end of all those outlet passes, set up teammates when he wasn't scoring himself, and wound up with nine assists. Capital broke it open with 15 straight points midway through the second quarter and coasted home.

The win gave Capital a 40-30 record for the season, and moved them a comfortable 10½ games ahead of second-place Atlanta in the Central Division.

Knicks 111, Sonics 106
Walt Frazier scored 25 points and Dave DeBusschere added 24 as New York ran its three-year winning streak over Seattle to 11 games. DeBusschere's three-point play with 6:20 left in the game put the Knicks on top for good. Spencer Haywood netted 27 points for the Sonics.

Bulls 111, Suns 91
Norm Van Lier collected 22 points and Jerry Sloan had 20 for Chicago. The Bulls outshot Phoenix from the floor 50 per cent to 39.5 per cent while taking a 50-41 halftime lead and never were headed.

Blazers 107, Lakers 102
Sidney Wicks sank a clutch basket with 53 seconds left to clinch the Portland victory and prevent Los Angeles from moving into first place in the Pacific Division. Wicks scored 28 points and the Blazers out-rebounded the Lakers 67-44.

Pistons 95, Warriors 93
George Trapp scored six points in the final four minutes, including the winning bucket, as Detroit picked up its 46th victory of the season — a club record. Dave Bing led the winners with 23 points and Trapp and Bob Lanier added 21 each.

Cougars 112, Colonels 96
Joe Caldwell's 21 points and nine assists helped Carolina to its ninth victory in its last 13 games.

Rockets 135, Tams 101
Rookie Pat McFarland and Steve Jones led the Rockets to the easy victory.

Oak City Bows In Opener, 6-5

WELDON—Weldon High School pushed over an unearned run in the bottom of the eighth inning to gain a 6-5 victory over Oak City High School yesterday. It was the first game of the year for the Trojans.

Oak City jumped into the lead in the first inning, pushing over three runs. Ricky Duggins led off with a walk and Ronald Hooker also drew a free pass. Billy Ross singled, driving in both runners for a 2-0 lead. William Spruill followed with another hit for Oak City, scoring Ross to up it to 3-0.

Weldon came back with a run in the bottom of the second, but Oak City countered that with one in the top of the third, for a 4-1 lead.

Then, in the bottom of the third, Weldon came up with four runs, charging into a 5-4 lead. Long led off with a walk, and Doughtie pitched on an error. Thorne singled in both runners, and Springton slammed a home run to give Weldon the lead.

Oak City rallied in the fifth, tying it up with a run. Duggins walked and stole second, and came around to score on Ross' hit.

It remained at 5-5 until the bottom of the eighth, when Weldon finally broke the tie. Long walked and stole second. He moved to third on an infield out, then scored when Keeton was safe on an error.

Ross and William Johnson led the Oak City hitting with two each.

The Trojans will play host to Jamesville in their next game, on Tuesday.

Long Beach At End Of Season

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Long Beach State closed out the best season in its history Tuesday night but the 49ers weren't in the mood to celebrate.

"We played a fine game tonight," said Coach Lute Olson after his club rolled past Fresno State 85-61. "I was very impressed with our players. I'm just very sorry the season has to end right here."

Long Beach, ranked ninth nationally, finished with a sparkling 24-2 record. The 49ers won their fifth straight Pacific Coast Athletic Association crown with a 12-0 record. But they will watch the NCAA playoffs on television while conference runnerup Los Angeles State goes into the tourney.

The 49ers are barred from the tourney due to an assortment of recruiting violations charged against former coach Jerry Tarkanian.

Glenn McDonald and Roscoe Pondexter scored 17 points apiece for the winners. Long Beach scored the first 12 points of the game and wrapped it up with a 17-4 streak midway through the second half.

Charles Bailey had 20 points for Fresno.

The 49ers were the only ranked team in action Tuesday night.

Elsewhere, Idaho State earned a berth in the NCAA Tournament by beating Montana 60-57 in a playoff for the Big Sky Conference championship. Steve Haynes scored 19 points and Jim Anderson 16 for the winners.

The Bengals will face New Mexico Saturday in Pocatello in round one of the playoffs.

St. John's, N.Y., headed for the NIT, closed out the regular season with a 20-6 record by thumping St. Francis, N.Y., 82-66. Ed Searcy and Mel Utley collected 25 points each for the Redmen.

Southern Illinois boosted its hopes for an NIT bid by burying Detroit 95-52 behind Joe Meriweather's 29 points and 14 rebounds. The Salukis, who lost to Detroit in overtime earlier in the year, close out the regular campaign with a 19-7 mark.

Seven-foot-three Roland Grant scored 34 points and pulled down 14 rebounds as New Mexico State romped over West Texas State 82-62. And Nevada-Las Vegas got 23 points from Bobby Florence to defeat Los Angeles-Loyola 84-73 and wind up the year with a 20-6 record.

Tams To Be Sold

MEMPHIS (AP) — Differences between Stax Record Co. and Charles O. Finley on the purchase of the Memphis Tams of the American Basketball Association have been resolved, the Memphis music firm reported Tuesday.

Stax has not concluded purchase of the club, but expects to later this week, Larry Shaw, a Stax vice president, told a news conference.

Shaw did not say what matters were yet outstanding.

He said Finley and Stax, a black-oriented firm that is the nation's largest soul music recording company, had reached agreement on a purchase price. He did not reveal the figure. Finley, who has held the franchise since the summer of 1972, reportedly asked $1 million.

right, scoring Lemon and Schoettner. Poff's sacrifice fly brought in Poff and moved Albright to third, and he scored from there on an error on Chal Nunn's grounder. A hit by Cox and a walk to Troyan loaded the bases, but a foul fly finally ended the inning.

East Carolina hits the road for a two-game series with N. C. State starting today. The Bucs play in Raleigh today and Thursday, then travel to Duke for a return match with the Blue Devils on Wednesday, March 13. They open Southern Conference play on Saturday, March 16, with a doubleheader at Furman, then return home for a nine-game stand, beginning with Virginia on Monday, March 18.

Player Demands Out March 16th Seven Chosen To Check List

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Football League's Players Association will wind up its convention Wednesday and advance its demands to league owners in Washington March 16.

The players came up with two demands Tuesday, impartial arbitration and elimination of the waiver procedure.

Bill Curry, president of the association, said, "We are now operating under the commission form of self government" in which the players are against NFL Commissioner Pete Roselle making the decisions in matters of arbitration.

They also feel that once a player is dropped from a team he has the right to renegotiate for himself instead of being waived from one club to another.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' association, considered the convention a success as 294 players and 70 wives attended the meetings that began Sunday.

Garvey said the group's first full convention touched on "freedom issues" which brought about divergent opinions.

"We are hearing from a lot of different people in these open discussions that we didn't hear from before when only the club player representatives were talking to each other."

The Players' Association also described as totally inadequate benefits under the player pension fund for widows of former players and for totally disabled former players.

The group contended that 10 former NFL players have died since 1970 and the highest payment to a widow has been $245 a month. The NFLPA contended that over half the widows received only $200 a month.

The association also contended that among eight former NFL players receiving permanent disability benefits — one with a broken neck receives $260 per month and two others are receiving $100 per month.

The basic contract between owners and players expired Jan. 31. So far the owners have decreed that the current program of medical insurance will terminate March 31.

Embittered by the owners' decision to cut off insurance funds, the players intend to fund their own insurance plan through the month of April.

Women In Swim Meet

Six members of the East Carolina women's swimming team will take part in the Women's National Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championships, to be held at Penn State University. The meet will be held next Thursday through Saturday, March 14-16.

Members of the team who will take part in the meet are Sue Bingham, Doris Jean Conlyn, Beverly Osborn, Linda Smiley, Barbara Strange, and Cindy Wheeler. Eric Orders, the team coach, will also attend the meet.

The two are Herb Bynum and Ronnie Barrett. Bertie High School dominated the team with three selections, while two each were named from Rocky Mount, Wilson, and Northeastern. They included Phil Ford and Thomas Lancaster of Rocky Mount, John Heckstall, Alphonso Ruffin and Kent Williford of Bertie; Thomas Blue and Gee Sauls of Wilson, and Martin Towe and Bernard Garret of Northeastern. Carlton Alston of Rocky Mount and Vernon Cheek of Northern Nash were given honorable mention.

Two members of the Rose High School basketball team were named to the All-Division I team as selected by the league's coaches.

Dave Johnson of the Atlanta Braves set a record for National League second basemen last season by hitting 43 home runs.

Seven area athletes, including three from Rose High School have been named to the Prep All-America Football Honor Roll by the editors of "Coach and Athlete" Magazine.

Their selection to the honor roll makes them eligible for judging in the Prep All-American Football National Awards: the Prep 100 Squad, the Super Eleven Team, and Cum Laude. National finalists will be announced in the March issue of "Coach and Athlete."

Nominations were made last fall by high school coaches, athletic directors, college recruiters and sports writers from across the country. Candidates were judged on outstanding athletic ability, sportsmanship, leadership and service to team and community.

Those making the list from Rose include Harold Randolph, a defensive linebacker; Keith Joyner, a running back; and Dickie Johnson, a defensive safety.

Selected from Ayden-Grifton High School was Tom Craft, who saw action on both sides of the line for the Chargers.

Named from Conley High School were Willie Hawkins, a running back; and Lawrence Harper, a defensive back.

Selected from Robersonville High School was Matt Wilson, a quarterback.

Bernhard Attends Golfing School

Mike Bernhard, assistant golf professional at the Greenville Golf and Country Club has recently completed business school I conducted by the Professional Golfers' Association of American in Orlando, Fla.

The week-long course, attended by 180 golf pros, was the first step Bernhard was required to take toward membership in the PGA. Later he will attend a more advanced business school.

Designed for the assistant pro, the first business school covers various duties that the assistant is likely to run into during his work. An emergency first aid course is also part of the school.

Bernhard has been the assistant at Greenville for the past year. Gordon Fulp is the pro.

A Men's Tournament was held last weekend at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. Lee Ball was the low gross winner with a 70, while Carl Pierce finished second at 82.

Bill Batchelor was the low net winner with a 68. Ed Tipton and Ed. S. Harris tied for second at 69, followed by Don Mattox at 71. Cliff Everett Sr., and Bruce Sauter tied for fourth with 72.

A Ladies' Day Captains' Choice tournament will be held Friday, with 46 women already signed up to attend. This is the first of this spring's Ladies' Days, and a "Get Acquainted" session, including a luncheon is planned.

A Member-Guest tournament is planned for the club on June 15-16, with all members and guests required to have established handicaps. Fulp notes that it is not too late for members to establish their handicaps. Registration is now underway in the golf shop.

The annual Ladies' Club Championship will be held May 14 and 16, with registration in the pro shop now underway.

A junior boys and girls clinic will be held next Tuesday at the blue from 4 to 5:30 p.m. It is open to young members of the club, 9-14 years old. The clinic will be limited to the first 20 to register.

A Ladies' beginner clinic will be held on Tuesday, March 19 from 9:30 to 11 a.m. This clinic is for those ladies who have never played golf before. Registration for both clinics may be done in the pro shop.

District Champs To Be Picked

Games tonight in Hickory and Wilson, N. C., and Greenwood, S. C., will determine champions in three districts of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Winners will go to Kansas City for the NAIA national tournament March 11-16.

At Hickory, Gardner-Webb meets Johnson C. Smith for the District 26 title, Virginia State takes on Pembroke State at Wilson for the District 29 crown, and Newberry and Erskine meet at Greenwood for the District 6 championship.

Newberry and Erskine won semifinals games Monday night over College of Charleston and Mars Hill, respectively, while other rounds were played Tuesday night.

Gardner-Webb, playing on its home court, defeated Lenoir Rhyne, 88-87, with John Drew leading the winner with 42 points. He also scored the winning basket with two seconds remaining.

J. C. Smith also was on its home court in overcoming Barber-Scotia, 115-96, getting a 29-point effort from Robert Lewis. Garcia Howard, however, had 33 points in leading Barber-Scotia.

At Wilson, Virginia State downed North Carolina Methodist, 57-53, and Pembroke State followed with a 66-58 victory over the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Linwood Johnson led Virginia State with 21 points, including the two-pointer that put his team ahead to stay, 53-52, with 1:38 remaining.

Everett Hambrick led Pembroke State with 17 points, while Dave Prince, with 22 points, was high for North Carolina-Wilmington.

All-N'East Picks Two

WILLIAMSTON—Two members of the Williamston High School basketball team were listed among those selected to the All-Conference team.

Joseph (JoJo) Purvis was selected to the team as one of 12 from the Northeastern Conference. Honorable mention was given to Keith Biggs; Purvis is a junior, while Biggs is a senior.

Williamston finished in seventh place in the seven-team league.

Walks May Dull Hope Of Early Home Runs

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Even if Hank Aaron plays in Atlanta's season-opening series at Cincinnati, he may have a tough time catching Babe Ruth.

The Braves, who want Aaron to hit home runs 714 and 715 in Atlanta and thereby surpass Ruth's mark at home, have said he will not be in the starting line-up for the first three games in Cincinnati.

Aaron said Monday that if he is used as a pinch hitter, he will swing for a home run "if the situation calls for it."

Tuesday, though, Manager Sparky Anderson of the Reds said he won't hesitate to walk Aaron "if the situation calls for it."

All that's wanting is the situation.

"I know it won't be popular, but winning comes first," Anderson said. "I'm happy any time he's not in the line-up against us. The ways he hits home runs against Cincinnati I hope I never see him."

Jack Billingham, the Reds' pitching ace, agreed with his skipper, saying he'd pitch around Aaron in a game-winning situation.

"Let 'em boo me," he said. "He's gonna get the record anyway."

Elsewhere, there wasn't much progress on the holdout front, although the Baltimore Orioles signed outfielders Al Bumbry, 1973 American League Rookie of the Year, and Jim Fuller and infielder Enos Cabell.

General Manager Frank Cashen threatened to take action against the four remaining holdouts — catcher Andy Etchebarren, pitchers Doyle Alexander and Bob Reynolds and outfielder Royle Stillman.

Manager Earl Weaver said he is proceeding under the impression that Etchebarren will carry out his threat to retire.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees invoked the option clause on second baseman Horace Clarke.

The Cleveland Indians, worried about the knee which Buddy Bell injured playing basketball over the winter, said the third baseman would see an orthopedic specialist in Tucson, Ariz., today.

Oakland second baseman Dick Green, who announced his annual retirement after the 1973 World Series, agreed to return to the world champion A's.

Old Dominion Fourth On Latest Small Poll

By The Associated Press

Take last week's top 15 college division teams in The Associated Press poll, shake them up from top to bottom, and the result is this week's listing. The names are the same but the placings have changed.

Only top-ranked Fairmont State and No. 15 Midwestern, Tex., showed up in the same places in the poll this week as last. The other 13 teams were scrambled.

Fairmont totaled 550 points and received 21 first-place votes in balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Fairmont, 272 for the season, beat Greenville State, Davis & Elkins and Shepherd last week.

Morgan State, the only team to beat NIT-bound Maryland-Eastern Shore this season, moved up three places into the No. 2 slot with 389 points.

In third place was Tennessee State, up from No. 8 last week after scoring two victories, one of them over Tennessee-Chattanooga.

That loss dumped Chattanooga from No. 2 a week ago to No. 6 this week. Old Dominion took over No. 4, beating Philadelphia Textile, while last week's No. 4 team, Evansville, tumbled to 11th place when it lost to St. Joseph's, Ind., and Southern Illinois.

Jackson State, which has completed its season, nevertheless gained one slot from No. 6 to No. 5. Behind Chattanooga were Kentucky Wesleyan, down four places from No. 3 to No. 7 after losing to Southwest Missouri last week, and Kentucky State, up two to eighth after winning twice last week, including an 81-67 trouncing of Transylvania.

Roanoke and Alcorn A&M completed the top 10 — Roanoke up to ninth place from 12th after three victories last week, and Alcorn, which has completed its season, down one from No. 9 a week ago.

The Top 15, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Saturday, and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Ayden Residents Ask Action On School Conditions

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

A group of Ayden residents met with the Pitt County Board of Education yesterday requesting improvements be made in conditions at the Ayden Grammar School building—conditions which their spokesmen described as "grossly inadequate."

Dr. Keith Hudson, a member of the Ayden Advisory Council said parents with children attending the school "have a major concern in the school program and facilities."

He said, "People looking at the school personnel and program at Ayden-Grifton High School can point with pride."

"However, looking at the middle four grades at Ayden Grammar School, you cannot point with pride, the facility is grossly inadequate," Dr. Hudson emphasized. "The health and safety of the students there is a concern of ours."

lighting in the building, built in 1929, is inadequate.

"And, there is no way a youngster could come down wooden stairs from the second floor in case of fire," Hudson stated.

Hudson said, "you are talking about a new building. . . in 12 years. What will the children do during that 12 years."

The advisory council has been told to put up with the building with minimal maintenance until new facilities could be built or major renovations can be carried out.

"We are expressing concern, hoping that the board will give relief from the inadequate facility before 12 years. Give us hope for a school we can be proud of," Hudson said.

Frank Atkins, representing a group of concerned parents, said, "somewhere along the line, the school board's priorities are off." Atkins asked why the grammar school had been allowed to get into its present condition. "The wooden floors have been treated with oil to keep down the dust, the wooden staircases are soaked in oil, and the stairs have weak railings," Atkins emphasized.

"Who is responsible for the bad shape of the building and what is going to be done?" he asked the board.

"I think we are entitled to an answer. We will not accept a new school in 12 years. We need it now. We are talking about something very dear to us. . . our children. . . our future," Atkins pointed out.

Another Ayden resident, Albert Dobbs, citing problems over the use of drugs by students at Ayden-Grifton High School asked why dogs trained to detect drugs could not be used at the school.

"Some parents have expressed the desire to see dogs used in the school to find drugs in student lockers," Dobbs said. He said he had been told that the board agreed earlier that the use of dogs was a harsh measure and therefore would not allow it.

Board chairman Mark Owens told Dobbs, "I feel if there is any means to get drugs out of the school, the means is not too harsh."

He indicated that the board of education has prepared and submitted a letter that will go to parents concerning the drug problem. He stated that Superintendent Ott Alford has met with local judges and the district solicitor to discuss how the situation can be legally handled in the schools. Also, the county schools have received a state grant to be used for the development of curriculum to be used in grades kindergarten through nine emphasizing good physical health, wise selections in choices made by children, as well as the results of poor choices made, whether drugs be involved or some other aspect of life.

Board member Dr. J. O. Carson of Grifton said in his opinion, that the use of dogs is not the answer.

"The students need to be educated against drug use. I feel the use of dogs would cause high resentment among the student body."

Dr. Carson said the dogs only smell marijuana and that there was evidence of other drugs in use at the school.

"Dogs just would not solve the problem," Carson theorized. "If the use of dogs is the answer, I would be more than willing to use them."

Alford noted that the problem of drugs is hard to fight, but he said the board is making an honest effort to find a solution.

"The greatest need seems to be for parents to spend more time with their children at an early age," Alford stated.

Owens emphasized, "the board alone, people alone, cannot defeat the problem. We need to combine and work together to find a solution. We are all involved now."

Hudson, commenting on the question of drugs, said he also felt that policemen and dogs needed," he stated.

were not the answer.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

The executive editor of a well-known New York subsidy publishing firm will be in Goldsboro in April. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication. All subjects will be considered, including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, juveniles, religious books, etc.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment. Please mention your phone number. You will promptly receive confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to us for a free reading and evaluation. We will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress. Please address:

Brazil's Last Link To Royal Past Lives On

EDITOR'S NOTE: They still call him dom or prince, but his empire today is his real estate company which holds a century-old right to levy a 2.5 per cent tax on 23,000 parcels of land scattered through the old imperial capital of Brazil. So lives the direct descendant of South America's last emperor.

By DENNIS REDMONT
Associated Press Writer
PETROPOLIS, Brazil (AP)—The debonair great-grandson of South America's last emperor puffs on his pipe, surveys the dwindling ranks of the world's royalty and drives a Volkswagen.

Dom Pedro Gastao Orleans e Braganca is the great-great-grandson of King Jon VI of Portugal who settled in Rio de Janeiro in 1815, fleeing a Napoleonic invasion. King John's son, Dom Pedro I, became Brazil's first emperor and proclaimed independence from Portugal in 1822.

Dom Pedro II ruled for 50 years, until a republic was proclaimed in 1889. He founded this town in the mountains near Rio.

Today's Dom Pedro, 60, lives in a huge old pink home behind the still standing imperial palace. He is an expert in nearly everything native to Brazil, and he has made a specialty of raising bees on his property. One of his missions in life is the protection of Brazil's virgin forests.

He is, oddly, Brazil's tie with the past. Pro-regime television, radio and film focus on royal ceremonies to give Brazil the look of historical continuity.

In 1971, for instance, the remains of Dom Pedro II's daughter, Princess Isabel, who abolished slavery in Brazil in 1888, and her consort, the French-born Count de Eu, were transferred to Petropolis from Rio. President Emilio Medici, the leader of the present military regime, attended, and over 35,000 people signed the album next to the coffins.

Just one year later, the bones of Dom Pedro I were returned from Portugal for permanent burial in Brazil. Again the president attended. And thousands of cheering Brazilians saw Dom Pedro as he followed his great-great-grandfather's casket for more than 6,000 miles around the country celebrating Brazil's 150th anniversary of independence.

Yet few members of Brazil's government entertain notions of returning a king to the throne. Dom Pedro himself says such a possibility is "very nebulous and distant."

"I am one of the few Brazilians who can say he personally has known every President since 1922," Dom Pedro said in a rare interview. "None of them ever spoke of a return of the monarchy."

It was in 1922 that President Epitacio Pessoa revoked the law exiling the royal family. Dom Pedro, educated in France, was 9 years old.

Much less a return to the monarchy, Dom Pedro has his hands full trying to keep the few privileges he has left. He runs a real estate company in Petropolis which has a 100-year-old right to collect a 2.5 per cent transfer tax on some 23,000 properties in the Petropolis area.

Now, however, a new civil code, scheduled for congressional approval in 1974, would abolish that right. Dom Pedro is setting up a legal team to fight the change. He also is asking the courts to return ownership of Gunabara Palace, which once belonged to his grandfather and now houses the governor of Greater Rio.

"I see myself as a patriotic Brazilian, always ready to serve my country, which I have tried to know increasingly better since childhood by studying its problems and traditions," says Dom Pedro.

He also says, "I don't want to appear as though I am fighting the government. Descendants of Dom Pedro are Brazilians like any other and have the same constitutional rights."

Such is the descendancy of the throne. Dom Pedro's wife, Dona Esperanza, is aunt of king-to-be Juan Carlos of Spain. One of his children, Maria da Gloria, is married to Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia, whose godmother is queen of England. One of Dom Pedro's sisters is married to the count of Paris, pretender to the throne of France. Another is married to the pretender to the throne of Portugal.

Even in Brazil there are open defenders of the stable monarchy of the past who contrast it with the crises of the republic. To the monarchists, Dom Pedro has little to say in support. He insists that the contributions of Brazil's monarchy are in the past: "A tradition of racial and religious equality ... and traditions of political freedom, individual guarantees and the right to property."

Dom Pedro also owns one of the two daily newspapers in Petropolis. He prides himself that it doesn't inflict royal view on its readers and is not afraid to attack the mayor.

Scout Earns Eagle Badge

TOMMY MANNING

Tommy Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr., of Greenville, received his Eagle Scout award Sunday morning at Red Oak Christian Church.

Manning is a member of Troop 205, sponsored by Memorial Baptist Church. He has been active in the troop for the past six years and has served as Patrol Leader, Quartermaster, Senior Patrol Leader and is presently an Instructor. He has been active in the troop camping activities and has participated on five mountain hikes, covering a total of 170 miles on the Appalachian Trail.

He attended the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farragut State Park in Idaho in 1969, and the World Jamboree in Japan in 1971.

He was inducted into the Order of the Arrow, honorary Boy Scout Service Fraternity, and received its Vigil Award in 1973.

The scout has earned the God and Country Award and has completed the 21 merit badges required for the Eagle award. His special service project was setting up a church library at Red Oak. This involved cataloging the books, setting up a card catalog and binding the church papers. He will carry on further work until the library is sufficiently equipped so that any person in the community may use it.

In addition to scouting activities, Manning is a past 4-H member, a member of the J. H. Rose High School Band, State Bank, Wrestling Team and Cross Country Team. He is a Junior Deacon of Red Oak Church, an active member of the Christian Youth Fellowship, and has helped reactivate Boy Scout Troop 398 which his church sponsors.

An Artificial Eye To 'See'

"ARTIFICIAL EYE", a miniature television camera, sends signals processed by sub-miniature computer and circuitry mounted in glasses frame. (UPI Telephoto)

By DUSTON HARVEY SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The "artificial eye"—a miniature television camera in the eye socket of the blind—is no longer science fiction.

A team of 35 researchers at the University of Utah has enough experimental data—including brain stimulation experiments in which two blind men saw "light"—to conclude the system is technically feasible.

The system includes a miniature television camera in the eye socket controlled by the eye muscles, a miniature computer built into a pair of glasses which sorts out the signals, an electronic receiver implanted beneath the scalp and 256 electrodes placed against the visual cortex of the brain.

But the first prototype is still several years away and general availability of the $7,000 "eye" even further in the future for the world's 15 million blind people, says project director William H. Dobbelle.

"We've succeeded in taking the artificial eye from the realm of science fiction to a point where we have hard data," Dobbelle reported after five years and $500,000 of experimentation. "But we've got a lot more work to do."

Blind Volunteers

The most dramatic data came from two blind volunteers who underwent three days of computer-directed stimulation after electrodes were inserted in their brains last August at the University of Western Ontario in Canada.

"I see light," said Dave, 43, an electronics technician and piano tuner who has been blind for 28 years, when the computer sent electric pulses down one of 64 wires to a platinum electrode placed against the walnut-shaped surface of one side of his visual cortex.

The other human guinea pig, Doug, 28, a graduate student in social work who lost his sight in a land mine explosion in Vietnam seven years ago, was eventually able to pick out simple patterns and letters when up to seven electrodes were triggered at once.

The brain stimulation experiments on the two blind men determined only that electrical pulses would produce spots of light, even in someone blind for 28 years.

But the large computers used to send the pulses, and to record the two men's responses, were a far cry from the completed miniature system envisioned by Dobbelle and his colleagues.

Flickering Phosphores

Both of the blind men from Salt Lake City, who asked that their last names be withheld, had worked with the project for four years before agreeing to undergo the brain surgery. Both recovered uneventfully after the teflon-covered, one-inch wide, cardboard-thick array of electrodes was removed three days later.

Dave said he saw colorless, flickering phosphores—as the specks of light are called by scientists—"about the size of a coin at arm's length."

Doug saw two different types of light—one colorless, ranging in size from "a grain of rice at arm's length" to "a coin at arm's length," with some flickering and some not, and a second group which was colorless, had an orange hue and flickered.

"It was just a relief that I could see," he recalled. "You really don't realize how much you've missed. Then it was very exciting."

ACTION Team Will Seek Volunteers

ACTION recruiters for the Peace Corps and VISTA will be at the Student Union of East Carolina University from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., March 11 through 14.

They are particularly interested in talking to persons with degrees or experience in agriculture, nursing, home economics, French, and Spanish.

The Peace Corps has volunteers in 68 foreign countries and VISTAs serve in many cities and rural communities in the United States. In both programs, the Volunteer lives close to the people he is helping. Living allowances are provided, as well as health insurance and transportation.

ACTION recruiters for the Peace Corps and VISTA have served as Volunteers and are ready to answer any questions regarding programs, living and working situations and deferment of college loans.

ACTION was established as the federal volunteer agency in 1971. It encompasses the Peace Corps, VISTA, Foster Grandparent Program, RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program), SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives), ACE (Active Corps of Executives), and the University Year for ACTION program for college students.

Quick Picture Is Energy-Saver

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Electronic Tube Division of GTE Sylvania Inc. announced the development of a picture tube cathode structure which provides a color picture approximately five seconds after the TV set is turned on.

R. Joseph Dorey, a marketing manager, said the device is an improvement over current types used in sets which provide quick pictures. It saves energy by not requiring the cathode heater to be partially activated while the set is not in use.

Based on consumer usage statistics, an annual savings of up to 20 kilowatt hours is possible per household.

The new cathode is expected to be in mass production this year.

The Worry Clinic Role For Male In Girl Scouts

"People think I'm joking," says Leland Owens, "when I tell them I'm a Girl Scout leader." But read about his experiences when he volunteered to take over an orphaned Girl Scout Troop. We need 10,000 more dedicated parents like Mr. and Mrs. Owens!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Z-569: Leland Owens runs the Ford agency in the village near which we have a summer farm home.

But he lives in Lafayette, site of Purdue University.

His auburn haired mother-in-law, Mabel Putman, is a distant cousin of mine.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "did you see the story about Leland in the Lafayette newspaper?"

"Yes," I replied, "and I think Leland should be imitated by 10,000 more fathers."

For he and his wife have 4 daughters, all Girl Scout enthusiasts.

Mrs. Owens became a splendid Girl Scout leader but another such troop lost its leader suddenly.

Since the girls of that orphaned troop were disconsolate at thus being unable to go camping and earn merit badges, Leland Owens volunteered his services, for one of his daughters was also in that same troop.

He managed to put together an appropriate outfit for himself, consisting of green sweater and trousers.

"And it has worked out quite well," he added, "for on camping trips, the mothers like to have a man around for protection and to teach the girls outdoor skills."

The authoritarian male voice also helps quite the girls at curfew time.

"Since one of the mothers goes along to assist me," he added, "if the girls don't get to bed on schedule, she warns them that I'll come in to check on them and this makes them scamper."

Leland teaches them how to use tools, saying that when they later get married, they'll need such practical skill in their own households.

"People think I'm joking," he added, "when I tell them my hobby is being a Girl Scout leader."

"But it gives me a chance for more time with my own children, too."

During the school year, he puts in about 2 nights per week on the planning and leadership duties, but this is a rich investment of his time.

And some girls, coming from divorced homes or whose daddies are dead, gain a much better feeling of security to have a splendid man like Leland Owens as a substitute father.

Indeed, it would be a wholesome idea if all Girl Scout troops adopted a male "Foster Father" for their activities.

Many dads are unofficially functioning in that capacity already, for they accompany their wives, who are official Girl Scout leaders.

This same constructive psychological influence of dads occurs in similar groups as the Camp Fire Girls, and also YWCA organizations.

The resulting camaraderie with children is not only mutually valuable to adults and the young folks (both Boy and Girl Scouts) but also makes the leaders cerebrate!

For the many merit badge tests cover a wide range of cultural, scientific and social problems, so the leaders obtain a refresher course in various college departments, as they try to keep ahead of their alert Scouts.

The Owens family (papa, mamma and 4 daughters) thus will not have any "generation gap" for they are all Girl Scout enthusiasts.

Send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and banish any "generation gap" in your own family, too!

Sees Unending Energy Source

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — There is enough potential energy in the world's oceans to keep mankind going at its present usage for as long as it is likely to be on earth, according to the chief executive of a major northwest utility.

Wendell J. Satre, president of the Washington Water Power Co., said recently the key is the use of nuclear fusion, which combines atoms rather than splitting them.

He said fusion uses deuterium for fuel and the element is taken from water.

"The deuterium in the world's oceans, if allowed to undergo fusion little by little, could supply mankind with enough energy to keep him going at the present rate for 500 billion years," Satre said.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's full moon makes you more likely to argue over unimportant matters. Try to be more thoughtful and considerate of others. Carry through with whatever promises you have made and do so in a cheerful manner. Be cooperative.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep busy at your regular routine and do it exceptionally well. Sidestep one who has a big problem and could get you confused. Be calm.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take time to improve your appearance and become a more charming person. Help others with your courtesy. Engage in budget matters tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you focus your attention on home needs. Get rid of whatever is causing problems there. Don't neglect to handle financial matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make certain you carry out your regular routines in a clever way. Any health treatments you need should not be overlooked now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Look into important property and financial affairs. If unsure about anything, get advice from a business expert. Avoid one who has axe to grind.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to get your personal appearance improved via health treatments. Attend social tonight. Make sure you don't imbibe too much.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have an opportunity to clear up those accumulated duties and make good plans for the future. Try to assist one who is in trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Talk with an intelligent person and listen to the good ideas offered. Then follow through and make the necessary changes. Keep busy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Taking chances with career affairs could result in much trouble, so be on the alert. Forget that civic work for the time being.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a fascinating new plan and want to put it in operation, but it would be best to study all angles first. Obtain data you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Attend to credit matters in an intelligent way. Show that you know what you are doing. Show more devotion to loved one. Relax tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get together with an associate and come to a fine understanding. A public matter needs your attention. Avoid strife tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be a true perfectionist, but it is important that you give the right moral and spiritual training for best results throughout lifetime. The field of investigation or anything connected with laboratories is fine here. Give a good grounding in cultural matters. Some musical training is also fine.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The bidding:

North East South West
Pass Pass 3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠

"Aces were made to capture kings" is an old bridge cliché. Today's declarer helped the defenders achieve this objective, but they still haven't thanked him for his generosity.

South had a classic three no trump opening bid—25 points in high cards and 4-3-3-3 distribution. Since North's original pass had already been something of an overbid, there was no reason for him to do anything except look forward to partner raking in nine tricks.

West led the five of spades, and before playing to the first trick South reviewed his prospects. The opening lead assured him of seven quick tricks. The most likely place to develop two more tricks was the diamond suit.

If diamonds split 3-3, the suit was certain to produce two extra tricks. However, declarer was well aware that six missing cards rated to divide 4-2 more often than 3-3. In that case, two diamond finesses would be the best chance to develop the game-going tricks. Unfortunately, there was only one entry to dummy.

South found an unusual solution to his problem when East played the ace of spades to the first trick. He jettisoned his king of spades under the ace! Now, dummy's jack-ten of spades were equals with the queen, and since declarer held two more spades, he could force an entry to dummy in that suit.

No matter what the defenders did, they were helpless as the cards lay. Besides the spade holding, the queen of clubs was an entry to dummy for a diamond finesse. Since East held the king of diamonds, declarer came to one spade trick, two hearts, three diamonds and three clubs.

Note that if declarer fails to unblock the king of spades, he can be defeated if the defense does not falter [the double-dummy, he can make the contract]. The diamond finesse succeeds, but declarer can come to no more than eight tricks provided the defenders just sit back and wait to collect their tricks.

Valley Holds Secret Of Life
CHICAGO (AP) — Octogenarian farmers are not considered extraordinary in the Vilcabama Valley in Ecuador.
Science Year, the World Book Science Annual, reports that more than 7 per cent of the area's people are over 80. This figure compares with only one per cent who are 80 or over throughout the rest of Ecuador and less than 2 per cent achieving that age in the United States.
The adult diet in Vilcabama is extremely low in calories — about 1,700 per day.
But, other factors may also play a role in the Vilcabama phenomenon. Some inhabitants attribute their long lives to drinking various herb teas. And, physicians who have visited the valley cite its tranquility and resort-like climate.

Stand By With 'Undie Repairs'
LONDON (AP) — Peter Davis and his wife collect old nylon stockings and tights — and their collection has earned them the thanks of a stream of motorists.
They live at Hockliffe, Bedfordshire, north of London, and the road outside their front door is straight and downhill.
Said Davis: "Everyone puts their foot down — and snap. The fanbelt breaks." Awakened by worried motorists who ask the way to the nearest garage — it's six miles away — the Davises produce their stockings. For the trouble is often a broken fan belt and the old stockings make a good temporary substitute. They often have five or six callers a week.
Theodore Roosevelt was a fifth cousin of Franklin D. Roosevelt and an uncle of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

To: Stephen Ward, Defendant
Take notice that a pleading seeking relief against you has been filed in the above-entitled action. The nature of the relief being sought is as follows: The plaintiff prays that she be granted an absolute divorce, based upon one year's separation.
You are required to make defense to such pleading not later than April 17, 1974, and upon your failure to do so, the party seeking service against you will apply to the Court for the relief sought.
This 1st day of March, 1974.
