Simple Rites For Former N.C. Senator

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan has been buried in a family plot in Burlington's Pinehill Cemetery.

Jordan died Friday at 77 after a three-year struggle with cancer.

He had a simple funeral service in the austere, white frame Methodist church in his home village of Saxapahaw before his remains were taken to Burlington for interment.

Several hundred people crowded into and around the church, on the banks of the Haw River.

Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., a boyhood friend of Jordan, stood in the rear of the church. So did Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who replaced Jordan in the Senate after Jordan was beaten in the 1972 Democratic primary by Nick Galifianakis, who attended the graveside ceremony.

In the congregation was former Gov. Luther Hodges, who appointed Jordan to the Senate in 1958. So were a host of congressmen, legislators and state officials.

Across the river from the church could be seen the brick buildings of the Sellers Manufacturing Co., which dominates Saxapahaw.

Jordan, who was connected with the company through his mother's family, eventually became the owner of the mill and much of the village.

His wealth was his first entree into politics. He helped finance the successful campaigns of several Democratic governors and served as state Democratic chairman before his appointment to the Senate.

Jordan's eulogy was delivered by the Rev. Howard Wilkerson, president of Greensboro College and former chaplain at

Bethel Getting $7,900 Grant

Congressman Walter B. Jones announced that a reimbursement grant was approved today under Section 206 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act to the city of Bethel in the amount of $7,900.

Jones said that this grant provides increased federal assistance to towns and cities which started their sewage treatment work between the dates of June 30, 1966 and July 1, 1972.

The grant will raise federal assistance up to some 55 per cent of the project costs; the congressman explained.

Since the total amount of applications exceeded the amount allocated under public law, each project will receive between 65 and 75 per cent of the amount requested, Jones said.

He noted that each city will receive 50 per cent of what they will be eligible for in the first payment. After the first payment is made to all projects, the Environmental Protection Agency will tally up again and divide the remainder of the funds proportionally.

Jones said that the $7,900 grant to Bethel represents the city's first payment under the assistance guideline.

Secret Grand Jury Report On Watergate To Impeachment Body

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled today that a secret grand jury report on President Nixon's role in Watergate should be delivered to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry.

Sirica said in his 22-page opinion that "the person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee."

"Other persons are involved only indirectly," he added.

He also said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions... it renders no moral or social judgments. The report is a simple and straightforward compilation of information gathered by the grand jury, and no more."

Sirica, who steps down as chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington on Tuesday, delayed implementation of his order for two days to enable interested parties to file appeals.

The judge wrote that "although it has not been emphasized in this opinion, it should not be forgotten that we deal in a matter of the most critical moment to the nation, an impeachment investigation involving the President of the United States."

"It would be difficult to conceive of a more compelling need than that of this country for an unswervingly fair inquiry based on all the pertinent information," he said.

Sirica said the grand jury "strongly recommends" that its report and a satchel filled with evidence should go to the impeachment committee because:

"Having carefully examined the contents of the grand jury report, the court is satisfied that there can be no question regarding their materiality to the House Judiciary Committee's investigation."

"The person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee," Sirica said.

"Other persons are involved only indirectly," he added.

"... And although it has not been emphasized in this opinion, it should not be forgotten that we deal in a matter of the most critical moment to the nation, an impeachment investigation involving the President of the United States," Sirica said.

"It would be difficult," he said, "to conceive of a more compelling need than that of this country for an unswervingly fair inquiry based on all the pertinent information."

Sirica said he has spent a lot of time working on the decision.

"It's been late night work, early morning hours, things like that," he said in a brief telephone interview.

That decision is expected to be his last major act before stepping down as chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington. Sirica, who must relinquish the post Tuesday,

Embargo Action Argued

Oil Producers In Huddle

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer
VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The world's major oil producers scheduled another meeting here to decide whether to lift the oil embargo against the United States.

The session was set for 11 a.m. EDT, and Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani told reporters the embargo would be lifted in that session. Algeria's official newspaper El Moudjahid also said the embargo would be lifted.

But in Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported the decision to lift the oil embargo may be delayed for a week to refer it to an Arab foreign ministers meeting on March 25. It said Libya still rejected the lifting of the ban.

The ministers from nine Arab countries met for three and a half hours Sunday but failed to agree. Syria and Libya were reported blocking a unanimous decision to lift the blockade. However, one unconfirmed report said Syria's objections had been ironed out, and Libya would abstain from the decision by the rest.

Several of the ministers met until late Sunday night in an attempt to draft a consensus document. Others contacted their governments for further instructions, sources said.

Earlier Sunday, 13 of the world's major oil-producing nations, including seven of the Arab states, concluded a week-end meeting here with the announcement they would maintain their posted prices on crude oil until July 1.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said its decision not to raise the artificial price on which their share of the oil revenue is calculated was a good will gesture toward the leading oil consumers — Western Europe, Japan and the United States. But a spokesman warned that unless the industrial nations controlled their "galloping inflation" and the prices they charge the oil nations for their manufactured products, they would raise the oil price again.

The OPEC countries produce 80 per cent of world oil exports.

The Arab oil meeting was a followup to one in Tripoli, Libya, last Wednesday. It produced reports that the ministers had decided to end the boycott they agreed on last October in an attempt to pressure the United States to modify its pro-Israeli policy. A formal decision and announcement was predicted for the Vienna meeting.

Heavy Fight In Highlands

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Thousands of North and South Vietnamese battled during the weekend in the heaviest fighting reported in the central highlands since the cease-fire 14 months ago.

The Saigon government reported 348 North Vietnamese and 72 South Vietnamese killed and 111 government troops wounded. But field reports said another 275 government rangers were missing from a 400-man ranger battalion that was overrun Saturday.

Another ranger battalion had 25 men killed and 23 wounded, South Vietnamese officers in the field said.

The Viet Cong said 230 South Vietnamese troops were killed or captured, according to initial reports. He made no mention of Communist losses.

The Saigon command reported half a dozen battles on the outskirts of Kontum, and Saigon's chief military spokesman said the North Vietnamese had launched a new offensive in Kontum province. But he added that the city of Kontum was not in danger.

The command said a force of about 2,000 North Vietnamese launched the attacks Saturday against about 1,200 government troops.

Field reports said the North Vietnamese objective was to gain control of Highway 5b to complete a supply route from the border to the coast.

In Phnom Penh, as President Lon Nol marked the fourth anniversary of the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, his military command reported that Khmer Rouge insurgents battled their way into the marketplace at Oudong Mean Chey, 23 miles north of the capital on Highway 5.

The command said that after three days of heavy fighting, insurgents attacking from the south and east pushed government defenders back and penetrated into the center of town.

The command said that civilians from occupied parts of town were led off by the insurgents into jungles west of Oudong. Many houses and temples were reportedly burning.

The commune said government defenders were still battling and that Cambodian air force planes were bombing rebel positions.

The command also reported more heavy fighting at Kampot, a coastal town 85 miles southwest of Phnom Penh which has been under siege for weeks. It claimed 70 rebels killed in attacks on two insurgent positions northeast of the town.

In Laos, government and Pathet Lao police were to begin joint patrols in Vientiane tonight. The mixed patrols are called for in the Sept. 14 protocols to the Laotian cease-fire, which established Vientiane as a neutral city.

Announcement of the joint patrols heightened speculation that the Pathet Lao's nominees for the new coalition government will soon arrive in Vientiane to help organize the regime.

Wilbur Mills Says Nixon Won't Stay

By C. BARTON REPPERT

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, predicts President Nixon will be out of office by November.

Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the committee looking into the President's taxes, was asked in a televised interview Sunday whether he expects Nixon will be in office by the November election.

"I do not," Mills responded. "By resignation, by impeachment?"

Mills replied: "One or the other. I do not know which at this time."

Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Mills said he believes Nixon will come under increasing pressure from within the Republican party because of his tax problems and fears of lost votes in November.

The Arkansas Democrat told one of the newsmen interviewing him:

"I would think that probably you and I both may well be surprised when the vote occurs on the articles of impeachment over the number on the Republican side who may vote for those articles of impeachment."

Mills added: "If he stays in office as President, members of his own party know that they'll lose seats in the House."

Commenting on Nixon's income tax problems, primarily involving a deduction for donation of his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, Mills said:

"There is a possibility if (the investigation) proves that the deduction of the papers given to the archives was improper that there would be fraud on the part of someone."

He said about the capital gains section of the President's taxes, "I've seen no evidence whatsoever of fraud."

Mills added: "Now I'm not saying the President, under any circumstance, but there could be some fraud in connection with the preparation of his return, if he included a deduction for the gift of those papers to the archives in the instance where the papers were given after the cutoff date of July 25, 1969."

Mills said that the decision about whether fraud was involved is up to the Internal Revenue Service.

Mills said last weekend he expects that Nixon will not finish his term of office, mainly because of pressures resulting from his tax difficulties.

A White House spokesman later called the Mills' statement "a dirty, low political ploy."

Several Didn't Have '74 Tags

A number of local drivers—even with 30 extra days this year in which to purchase Greenville city and North Carolina state license plates—fell victim to their inaction in the face of laws requiring 1974 vehicle registration plates to be displayed on all cars and trucks by midnight March 15 this year.

According to Chief Cannon's Greenville police between midnight Friday and 8 a.m. today, arrested 23 drivers on charges of failing to display 1974 North Carolina license plates on their vehicles. An additional 27 drivers were charged during the same period with failing to display new Greenville city tags on their cars. And motor vehicle drivers were not the only ones to face charges of failing to have proper licenses. According to Cannon, two bicycle riders were charged with failing to display city licenses on their vehicles as required by the city code.

As a comparison, Cannon said that while the 50 drivers were being charged with failing to display 1974 registration plates and two bicycle riders were arrested on registration law violation counts, police arrested 19 motorists on charges of speeding within the city.

N.C. Democrats Have Dropped '72 Quota System

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina Democrats have abandoned the 1972 quota system and welcomed a potential 1976 presidential candidate who is glad to see it go.

During a weekend of political activity centered around the annual Jefferson-Jackson fundraising dinner, the party executive committee met and voted decisively to substitute an "affirmative action plan" for the quotas.

The plan relies primarily on a public relations campaign and a promise of non-discrimination to attract women, blacks, youth and other groups, which were guaranteed representation in 1972.

It must still be approved by the national party. If it is, it will be used to select delegates to the national party's first mid-term convention, scheduled for December.

That convention will decide on the delegate selection process for 1976.

The quotas were not abandoned without a fight by the party's liberal wing, particularly blacks and feminists.

They said that its vague language was no guarantee that they would be represented in the future and protested that they had not been part of the committee which drew it up.

But the executive committee, by a 112-46 vote, cut off the debate on the plan and then adopted it by a voice vote.

That action was hailed later in the day by U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., an unsuccessful 1972 presidential candidate and a man considered likely to run again.

Jackson is the presidential choice of many of the party's elected officials. Sen. Sam J. Ervin introduced him to the banquet audience as a man well qualified to receive the "greatest office within the gift of the American people"—the presidency.

State House Speaker James E. Ramsey arranged a press conference and meeting with members of the legislature at the legislative building.

At the news conference, Jackson blasted the quotas as "silly," while turning his answers to most questions into long statements attacking the Nixon administration's policies.

He criticized the policy of détente with China and the Soviet Union and said President Nixon made a "stupid remark" when he criticized European allies in Chicago last week.

Jackson also threw barbs at the administration's handling of inflation, the energy crisis, and the fuel shortage.

In his Jefferson-Jackson dinner speech, Jackson denounced the remarks Friday of President Nixon in Chicago. The President said the U. S. is prepared to "go separately" in economic and military policy unless European allies are "willing to cooperate" on economic and political matters.

"He singled out our allies for the worst kind of comment, saying nothing about our problems with the Soviet Union," Jackson said.

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

First came the three-bean salad, dreamed up a good many years ago by the home economists of a canners' association and wildly popular. This was more a relish than a salad because the dressing for it was made with loads of sugar.

Since then the original recipe plus many variations of it have appeared in numerous cookbooks published by women's organizations. Restaurants have served it on relish trays and at salad bars. In and recent years it has been a ready-made product available in jars in supermarkets.

Now comes a two-bean salad made with sliced bananas, this more a salad than a relish because it has only a suspicion of sugar in the dressing. The bananas supply the needed sweetness — and also good nutrition. At our house we enjoyed this version with hamburgers. It would also be fine to serve with ham on a buffet table.

Should you concoct the Banana Bean Salad for your family and find you need less than the six to eight portions the recipe makes, divide the bean mixture into thirds or halves and add a corresponding amount of banana to the portion you are going to use just a minute or two before serving; refrigerate the remaining bean mixture to serve at another meal, again adding the banana at the last minute before offering.

Pay Raise Figure Appears Fair

The Associated Press reports that support is increasing for granting state teachers and employees a cost-of-living salary increase of 7½ percent.

A five percent increase has been recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission. However, budget officials say revenues were estimated conservatively and it appears that a brighter financial picture will mean that there will be additional funds available.

The additional 2½ percent pay raise could be done at a cost of $30 million. Competition for these funds comes from a House passed tax reduction package. It gives tax relief to manufacturers, retailers, poor and senior citizens.

The tax relief package, however, has gone off to a Senate committee and there is less likelihood that it will pass the Senate in its present form.

While we see tax relief for the poor and the senior citizens as desirable in this age of ravaging inflation, we can also see the need for increasing teachers and state employees salaries an amount sufficient to cover the erosion of inflation.

The 7½ percent pay raise figure appears logical and fair to us and if there is surplus money to grant it we think the Legislature should do so. Then the General Assembly can look to tax reductions giving priority to the elderly and the poor.

Split Menaces Unity Of Arabs

By ROWLAND EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—A seemingly unavoidable split now threatens Arab unity just five months after the emotional high point of the Yom Kippur war, a fact of grave political danger to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's sullen diplomacy seeking a political solution to the Arab-Israeli wars.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia have now been satisfied by Kissinger that the U. S. has really ended its long Israel-first policy. But the military dictatorship in Libya of President Muammar Qaddafi, the radical Moslem leader with vast oil riches of his own, is more heavily involved today than ever before in fomenting political troubles outside his own country.

Shortly after Kissinger's latest trip to the Middle East which included another long talk with Faisal in Riyadh, the King described Kissinger privately in unique terms. Kissinger, said Faisal, may turn out to be "the Jew who saved the world from Zionism." Coming from the acknowledged spiritual leader of the Moslem world, that remark shows how successful Kissinger has been since the Yom Kippur war in making a convincing case for the switch in U. S. Middle East policy.

At the same time, however, Qaddafi has been spending millions fomenting "anti-Western political turmoil and financing military operations in Moslem lands as widely separated as Oman on the tip of the Arabian peninsula and Lebanon bordering on Israel—both far from Libya.

Pro-Western Lebanese now estimate Qaddafi has spent $12 million in Lebanon alone in the past few months on anti-Western, anti-Israeli propaganda among Palestinian refugees. Likewise, Qaddafi is heavily engaged in subsidizing arms shipments to Oman, a moderate oil-rich Arab country now combating political revolution.

In attempting a fanatical Moslem purification expunging all Western influences from the Arab world, Qaddafi appeals to deep-seated Moslem instincts with unlimited financing behind him. His appeal is simple: whatever Kissinger and the U. S. are saying publicly, they have no intention of pushing Israel back to its pre-1967 borders and could not succeed even if they wanted to.

The long, acrimonious dispute within the Arab world over ending the oil boycott and raising production is the most dramatic symbol so far of Qaddafi's power and visionary politics. Both King Faisal and President Sadat were ready to lift the boycott last weekend, on the strength of Kissinger's successes in moving Israel back from the Suez Canal and arranging high-level talks in Washington between Israel and Syria to negotiate a troop separation on the Golan Heights.

But Algeria, the third key Arab country in the triumvirate that has controlled Arab policy toward the West since last October, held back. That is partly because, unlike Egypt and Saudi Arabia, Algeria doubts long-range U. S. willingness to end Israeli occupation of Arab lands without the oil weapon.

But another factor affecting Algeria is Qaddafi. The Algerian attitude toward him is ambivalent. In public, Algerian leaders criticize Qaddafi's financial and operational support of international hijacking; in private, sophisticated Algerian politicians mock the Libyan firebrand. Nevertheless his supranationalist appeal to the Arab world directly affects Algeria and is a partial reason for its policy.

Likewise, the total intransigence of Qaddafi poses an ever-graver threat, as each day passes, to Algerian control over its more limited nationalism—and to moderate, pro-Western Egypt and Saudi Arabia as well.

Thus, the public pledge by Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir never to return the Golan Heights to Syria plays right into Qaddafi's hands. Also, the commitment Mrs. Meir was forced to make to the National Religious Party, as a price of its support in making up her new government, gives Qaddafi still more ammunition.

That pledge ruled out political settlement of the all-important west bank of the Jordan without new elections in Israel. The National Religious Party is implacably committed to retaining Judea and Samaria—most of the west bank—as part of Israel. Qaddafi has time on his side. He also has the Palestinian extremists, the power of unlimited oil money and the potential to mobilize and unite all the threads of Arab nationalism—a potential certain to grow in proportion to Israel's foot-dragging in following the Kissinger political formula. The split in the Arab world is small today, but it already endangers Kissinger's settlement hopes.

Good Question To Ask BEFORE Admissions

The Chapel Hill Newspaper quotes a UNC medical school student from a small North Carolina town, commenting on the East Carolina University medical school controversy, "They could pave North Carolina with medical schools and it wouldn't keep me around for five minutes after I graduate."

Maybe somebody should have asked about that before the young man was admitted to a state medical school heavily supported by those taxpayers back in the small towns.

No Easy Vote Set In House

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—It looks as though a committee of the House of Representatives will put the brakes on a proposal which sailed through the Senate with scant opposition: a ban on publication or broadcast of the victim's name in a rape case.

A count of heads in the House Judiciary Committee following a recent public hearing shows a probable even split, with Chairman Howard Twigg, D-Wake, vowing to oppose the measure if he is called on the break a tie.

The hearing was highlighted by a plea for the legislation from Mrs. Shirley Hanks, head of the Durham Rape Crisis Center who argued that the public attitude "comes down on the woman who is the victim," while the man who perpetrated the act is a "hero" in his community.

"They ask the woman if she liked it....if she invited it. She gets awful phone calls, calls from religious cranks, and the guys at the office snicker about it....Once again, she is publicly raped because her name appeared in the newspaper," Mrs. Hanks argued.

Man Enjoys? Also, she said, it would be a good idea to keep the man's name out of print as well so "he wouldn't get his jollies at the publicity he receives, and his fellow men make a hero of him."

Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, got his dander up at that idea.

A lawmaker who has defended men accused of rape, High insisted that a man falsely accused also suffers loss of prestige, family relations, possible loss of job. Contrary to Mrs. Hanks' argument, High said, is that a "man is jailed—without bond—and in many cases is innocent. And he faces a capital crime. The spotlight of public opinion frequently protects the innocent man," the representative argued.

Senator William D. Mills, D-Onslow, admitted under questioning from committee members that his bill does "restrain the press to some degree, to which Rep. Herbert L. Hyde, D-Buncombe, pointed out that the State Constitution holds that "freedom of the press shall never be restrained."

After the meeting, Sen. Mills said he will seek to amend his measure to include a ban on publication of the name of the defendant as well as the victim.

The committee plans to debate the issue further this week, with a vote expected Thursday.

William C. Lassiter, attorney for the North Carolina Press Association, and Wade Hargrove, representing the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters, spoke for the media in opposition.

Judges Oppose Lassiter introduced letters from judges opposing the measure, including one from Judge E. Maurice Braswell which stated, "I would foresee a serious question of constitutionality. Also, I would estimate most every case would be appealed ... (clogging) up an already overcrowded docket"

Judge Braswell also noted that the News Media-Administration of Justice Council of N. C., which includes press, court, State Bureau of Investigation, Bar, and sheriff department representatives, unanimously oppose the proposal.

Another key point made by press representatives is that most newspapers now voluntarily protect alleged rape victims, but must have the freedom to make the judgments in such cases. Additionally, it was noted that the publication ban would "prejudice the rights of innocent men falsely charged and unjustly accused ... by women of questionable character."

A. Howard White, Burlington newspaper editor and chairman of the Press Association legislative committee, noted in a written statement that "publicity, rather than the despicable event....is mistaken for the evil sought to be prevented."

Hargrove noted that people in a community are going to find out the identity of a victim anyway, that "anonymity has no place in our system of justice," and that the restraint is directed at the media "on the false and erroneous premise ... which used to prompt rulers to cut off the head of the messenger bearing bad tidings."

Another press restraint measure is also expected to create a storm of controversy during the waning days of the

Strength For Today

THE GREATEST GIFT
God's greatest gift to man is love.

Many people deny this by the way they live. Day by day they act as if money or power or the opportunity to indulge themselves were the greatest gifts that could be bestowed upon them. Other people, with somewhat more elevated standards, assume that good health and engaging personality are the things most to be desired.

But as God's arm reaches down into the midst of human affairs, surely the greatest gift He leaves with us is the gift of love. A mother's love for a child, a husband and wife for each other, a friend for a friend—when we behold these realities we behold God's greatest gift to human hearts. He who has love and nothing else is rich. He who has no love is poverty-stricken.

So let us count our riches not in what we have, but in what we are; not by the money we have in the bank, but by the love we have in our hearts.

Economizing On Mails

WASHINGTON—MEMO—
To: Ellie Cobey, secretary
From: The Boss
Subject: Increase in postal rates

Because of the recent increase in postal rates, we shall have to take some extreme measures in regard to answering mail.

In the future we shall not be able to respond to any students asking us to write their term papers for them. While this may cause many of them to flunk their English, government and journalism courses, we can no longer assume the responsibility of answering their queries on the World Bank, the Social Security system, the NATO alliance and whether President Nixon sleeps in a nightshirt.

We also must eliminate all questionnaires submitted to us by foundations and professors who are trying to find out how fair the press is in Washington. And furthermore, we can no longer answer magazine writers who are doing surveys on the state of the nation for which they are getting large fees which they refuse to share with us.

Anyone disagreeing with us, no matter how literate their letters, can no longer expect a response. Also, we can no longer explain the column to those who misread it. If they don't get it right the first time, it is no longer our problem.

As you are aware, one of the major sources of our mail is people who have ideas or

The Shultz Team Won Respect

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most powerful economic mind in the Nixon administration, outgoing Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz cannot be portrayed in a snapshot. From different angles he seemed to be many men.

This in part may be attributed to the countless facets of Shultz' job as assistant to the President for economic policy, which required him to coordinate seemingly disparate policies into a philosophy of government.

To some degree he succeeded. His integrity, professionalism and knowledge of economic matters brought him respect and trust from counterparts abroad. But domestically, government policy confused many people.

Shultz and his associates inherited problems that previous administrations had failed to tackle head on. They did so. The long-delayed devaluation, for instance, was accomplished during Shultz' years.

As a result, the still fragile but more realistic world monetary system is now looking forward, however shakily, instead of toward a devastating collapse that was feared by some of the world's leaders.

Domestically, however, the administration seemed to stumble from one phase of price controls to another, always expressing distaste for the role it was playing and, critics maintain, playing the role only half-heartedly.

An orderly thinker, Shultz during the past few years has had to deal with an economic situation termed a mess by a good many business and academic economists.

Inflation intensified rather than receded. The administration ran up roughly $60 billion in budget deficits. Unemployment never got down to the original goal of 4 per cent, and it is rising again.

Much of the poor domestic image was self-created by the continual declaration of goals that couldn't be met and by the incessant, futile promise by other administration spokesmen that the worst was over. Clearly, it wasn't.

To many critics, Shultz was an enigma. Widely known as a proponent of free markets, he was consistent in advocating lower trade barriers and in stating his belief that the central government didn't belong in the market place.

During his five years, however, the federal government moved into the market place in almost inextricable ways. Never since World War II—or in peacetime since the great depression of the 1930s—have governments been involved. Many critics see this as evidence of failure. They were constantly reminded by administration figures themselves that the goal sought, free markets, was almost opposite to the one accepted.

A school of thought exists that Shultz and his associates had little opportunity to put into action the theories in which they believed. Practical demands, it is said, simply overwhelmed philosophical considerations.

Inflation, for example, is far less a domestic matter than it was 10 or 20 years ago. The world's trading nations are more intricately related, and internal imbalances spread like contagion.

The entire industrialized world is fighting inflation, partly because every one of

Judge Hart Is 'At Bat'

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Before he became a federal judge in 1958, George L. Hart Jr. spent more than 20 years as a Republican party worker.

In those days, long before Watergate, Hart often raised as much as $500,000 a year as GOP chairman for the District of Columbia. "Every contributor of $100 or more was listed by name and address ... every expenditure of as little as 10 cents was listed individually," Hart recalled in an interview.

"That was the way I thought campaign funds were handled ... I must have been a babe in the woods," he added.

Recently, Hart has begun learning about Watergate-style Republican politics in his position as a U.S. District judge.

And, starting Tuesday, Hart takes over as chief judge of the District Court, succeeding the man given much of the credit for exposing Watergate, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The change will be marked today by a luncheon ceremony at a meeting of the judicial conference.

Sirica turns 70 Tuesday and must step down as chief judge, though he plans to remain on the bench and already has assigned himself the Watergate cover-up trial.

As the new chief judge, Hart will receive any future Watergate indictments and assign the cases.

Because of the administrative duties of his new post, Hart said it isn't likely "I would assign one of the long and protracted Watergate cases to myself while I am chief judge."

In September 1972, Sirica assigned himself the case of seven men indicted on charges of burglary, conspiracy and wiretapping in connection with the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate office building.

At the trial in January 1973, five of the defendants pleaded guilty. The other two, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., were convicted by a jury.

Throughout, Sirica made it clear he didn't believe all the facts were being brought out. Finally, in March, McCord wrote the judge a letter in which he said the defendants had been pressured into pleading guilty and also that higher-ups were involved in the break-in.

Nearly a year later, a grand jury indicted seven former administration and campaign aides on charges of trying to block the Watergate investigation. A good deal of the credit was given to Sirica's dogged determination to get at the truth.

How does Hart feel, taking over as chief judge from the man whom Watergate made into a folk hero?

"It's just another job," he said, his voice still carrying a trace of the Tidewater Virginia drawl of his native Roanoke. "I frankly don't consider from a judge's point of view that a Watergate is different than any other case ... Some cases are more difficult than others, some are longer than others."

From the bench, Hart strives to bring cases to trial swiftly. He can become testy with lawyers who ask for what he considers too much time for filing pre-trial motions.

Federal rules of procedure set six months as the recommended maximum time from indictment to trial.

But as for Watergate, said Hart, "All of these cases cannot be tried in six months. They can't possibly be."

Hart is the son of a court reporter. His father wanted him to be a lawyer but the son dreamed of becoming an engineer and building bridges. But finally he shifted to law. After being graduated from Virginia Military Institute, Hart went on to Harvard Law School where he got his degree in 1930.

Both Hart and Sirica had successful law practices in Washington and were active Republicans before being appointed to the court by President Eisenhower.

Sirica, who left a mark more likely to be noted in history books than in the archives of the District Court, predicted that Hart will "be a great chief judge. He's a fine trial judge. He's an excellent administrator."

As for himself, Sirica plans to go on vacation, the first one he's had since the first Watergate trial.

In the past we have returned the contributions with a nice note saying they should submit them to Russ Baker at The New York Times who always likes to hear from strangers. But now, with the 2-cent rate hike in surface mail, we will be unable to even do that. Baker will be mad at us, but we have to be tough.

I also feel we can no longer answer people who are praying for my soul. As you know, we get 20 to 30 letters each week from people who believe that I'm on my way to hell, if I'm not there already. In the past, we've thanked people who were praying for me on the chance that it might do some good. But no I'd rather have the postage instead.

You have always insisted on answering letters from Women's Liberation readers who feel the tenor of my pieces are filled with male chauvinist remarks. Let's forget about apologizing to them. If we make an exception for Women's Lib, we will also have to answer letters from the National Rifle Assn., the Daughters of the American Revolution, the junk mail lobbyists and the American Petroleum Institute. If they are willing to continue to write to us after the postal hikes, I say great. But they must understand our budget can no longer guarantee a response.

All requests for political fund-raising drives are to be ignored, as well as invitations to attend foreign diplomatic receptions for ministers of finance and agriculture. As a further economy, we will no longer respond to people who want to know how they can break into the newspaper business, preferably to write a column such as mine.

In spite of these harsh restrictions I am happy to tell you we will still continue to answer letters praising us for our fine work, and those citing particular articles that they have enjoyed. Any letter that is considered the least bit favorable must be given a reply, in the hopes that the writer will send another one. In spite of the extra 2 cents, I consider this a worthwhile investment.

One more thing. Any passionate love letters should not be replied to unless they Duke University. "A great tree in God's forest has fallen," Wilkerson said, standing behind the flag-draped coffin.

He praised Jordan for his "child-like" religious faith, his staunch friendship, and the services he and his family had rendered to the state and the nation.

Wilkerson recounted that while he was at Duke, he sent some anti-war students to Washington to see Jordan.

"He believed in youth, and while he wasn't ready to agree with some long-haired protestor, his office was open to them and he was willing to listen," Wilkerson said.

Treat Two For Inhaling Smoke In Sunday Fire

Two men were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation after a fire erupted in an apartment house at 1308 Dickinson Ave. about 1:05 a.m. Sunday.

Fire officers said Clifton Haddock, 54 and Robert Fouts, 32 were taken to the hospital by the Fire Department's rescue unit after they inhaled smoke before escaping the burning wood-frame dwelling. Fouts was also treated for minor burns to his right leg and left arm.

Officers said the fire, which heavily damaged the second floor, apparently started in Fouts' room, possibly from a cigarette.

N.C. Ski Resort Business Hurt

By The Associated Press
North Carolina's once booming ski resorts, like the rest of the state, have had a mild winter, especially financially.

Officials in the Boone area say they had 10,000 to 15,000 fewer visitors than last year. They blame it on the gasoline shortage, the rising cost of living, and the mild winter.

A.T. Adams of Boone, executive vice president of Northwestern Bank, said tourists "spend a right smart amount of money and leave a lot of money in town. A shortage of money is going to affect everybody some."

However, Adams says, the people in the area can survive. "It means people have to live with a tighter belt. It has not reached the point of tragedy."

There were 26 inches of snow in early December, but it warmed up after Christmas and most of the snow on the ski slopes melted. January was a warm month, but the weather turned cold in February—about the same time the long gas lines started to form in the state.

"Not only were the snows not adequate, they were badly timed," says Bob Burns, owner

Former Rutgers Coach Had Vengeance In Mind

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Foster, who once built up the Rutgers basketball program over a matter of years, tried to tear it down in one day in the National Invitation Tournament.

The onetime successful Rutgers coach returned East with a vengeance Sunday, steering his Utah team to a relatively easy, 102-89 triumph over the Scarlet Knights Sunday.

"It was a special feeling to come back and play Rutgers," said Foster after the victory sent his team into a quarter-final meeting Thursday against Memphis State, one of three other first-round winners Sunday.

The game was a natural drawing card, pulling a roaring crowd into the Garden that later swelled to 18,157 for the second game of the day, Connecticut's 82-70 victory over hometown favorite St. John's. The first-round action concluded Sunday night when Boston College beat Cincinnati 63-62 and Memphis State stopped Seton Hall 73-72. The Utes displayed their high-powered scoring proficiency behind Ticky Burden's 34 points against Rutgers. Burden scored 20 of his game-high total in the first half when the Utes hit 68 per cent of their field goal attempts and soared to a 61-36 lead.

The Utes built the lead to 28 points early in the second half but Rutgers made things exciting by cutting it to nine in the late going. The big, early deficit, however, was too much for the Scarlet Knights to overcome.

Jim Foster scored 27 points to lead Connecticut over St. John's. Bill Collins contributed two key baskets and Jere Nolan scored the winning point with a foul shot at the 26-second mark, leading Boston over Cincinnati. Dexter Reed, earlier credited with a key field goal on a goal-tending call, scored the winning point for Memphis State with a foul shot with 30 seconds remaining. Sunday's results set up a Thursday night quarter-final doubleheader matching Boston and Connecticut and Utah against Memphis State. In a quarter-final round Tuesday night, Jacksonville will play Maryland-Eastern Shore and Hawaii will meet Purdue. Those teams won opening-round games Saturday.

Wins 200-Lap Race In Clinton

CLINTON, Miss. (AP) — Racer Larry Phillips of Springfield, Mo., driving a Camaro, took the $2,000 top prize money in a 200-lap auto race, an event which included a fiery crash and car trouble for racing star Pete Hamilton.

Doug Robinson of Marshall, Tex., escaped injury Sunday in the crash. His car spun, was hit and burst into flames. Hamilton's Dodge Challenger developed rear end trouble and left the race in the 120th lap.

Assistant Moves Up To Top Spot

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Dale Bandy, assistant basketball coach at Ohio University, has been elevated to the top spot, replacing Jim Snyder, who resigned at the end of the season.

Bandy, a 36-year-old Ohio U. graduate, played on Snyder's 1959-60 Mid-American Conference championship team. After coaching in the high school ranks, Bandy joined Snyder as an assistant for the 1963-64 season.

Early Season Words Returned To Haunt Coach Of Wolfpack

By KEN ALYTA
AP Sports Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Last fall when basketball practice began Norman Sloan, coach of the North Carolina State Wolfpack, had this to say of his superstar David Thompson:

"David is such a tremendous leaper I fear for him sometime. There's no problem with the takeoffs, but there could be with the landings, he gets up so high."

The remark was delivered in semi-serious manner. Last Saturday afternoon it came back to haunt Sloan when the 6-foot-4 junior, recently

Green Takes Jacksonville Golf Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hubert Green's going to have to change his act.

For a couple of seasons, the lanky, laconic young man from Birmingham, Ala., has characterized himself as "just another pretty face on the tour."

But his credentials are getting too impressive for that now. He's rapidly becoming one of the game's premier performers.

Green scored his second victory of the year and fourth in the last 12 months with a gritty comeback performance Sunday in the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf tournament.

He won it with a 71 that included a decisive four birdies in a row and a 276 total, 12 under par on the 7,088-yard Deerwood Country Club course and a comfortable three strokes in front of John Mahaffey.

Mahaffey matched par 72 in the mild, sunny, slightly windy weather, and finished at 279. Jerry Heard, first and second in his two previous performances, came on to take third with a 68-280.

Jim Weichers suffered another bitter, frustrating disappointment. The big guy, who has been in position to win a half dozen times in the last year, entered the final round in a tie with Green for the top, actually took the lead at one stage then again fell victim to a poor finish.

He closed with a 40 on the back nine, a 76 and a tie for fourth with DeWitt Weaver and Leonard Thompson at 281. Thompson had a final 70 and Weaver 71.

Tom Weiskopf took a last round 74 for 284. Australian Bruce Crampton closed with 68 for 286. Arnold Palmer had 71-287 and Lee Trevino 75-289.

Green's victory was worth $30,000 from the total purse of $150,000 and pushed his season's earnings to $82,663, second only to absent Johnny Miller.

More importantly, it firmly established him as one of the game's top young stars. Only Miller, with three victories, has won more this year. And, going back over the last 12 months, only Weiskopf and Jack Nicklaus have won more often.

named to the All-American team for a second year, soared into the air, high above the Reynolds Coliseum court in the Eastern Regional finals of the NCAA tournament against Pittsburgh.

At the time, N.C. State, the nation's No. 1 team, led 13th-ranked Pitt 24-19 and the underdog Panthers were very much in the game with 10:17 of the first half remaining.

After Thompson, who had eight points, missed a freethrow, Pitt hustled downcourt, shot and missed. State's Phil Spence jumped high to block a Pitt shot, but missed. Thompson then soared into the action, leaping over the rim in an effort to get the ball.

He came down on Spence's shoulder, flipped through the air and crashed to the floor, his head striking the boards.

He lay motionless, unconscious for some four minutes. The furious action continued long enough for Pitt to score

Giants' Hurler Idled By Injury

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — San Francisco Giants' pitcher Ron Bryant will be unable to throw in competition for about three weeks while he recovers from a nasty fall, the club says.

Bryant, the only National League pitcher to win more than 20 games last season, fell against the side of a swimming pool last Friday and required a side full of stitches. Doctors say he probably will attempt a few throws in about 10 days.

was patched up. Manley said this decision was his and Harer's although Thompson "was more than willing" to return to Reynolds Coliseum.

Manley said his feeling was that because a large television audience was watching the game and saw the mishap the home viewers "were vitally interested in his condition and it would be best for them to see him again."

Thompson sat next to Sloan for the last seven minutes, then was hoisted to his teammates' shoulders to cut the nets in triumph. He visited with them briefly in the dressing room and returned to Rex Hospital to spend the night as a precautionary measure.

He was discharged about noon Sunday, still bandaged, but said he felt "fine" and returned to his home on the campus.

The team will rest until practice resumes Tuesday.

Dr. Harer said he expected no "delayed after effects" and added that Thompson's condition was "entirely satisfactory" and he should be ready to practice and face UCLA Saturday.

In Thompson's absence, 7-foot-4 center Tommy Burleson, fired up the Wolfpack attack. He scored 11 points in the last nine minutes of the first half for a total of 16 at the intermission and wound up with a game high 26, in addition to 12 rebounds. He played with a slightly sprained left ankle, suffered in the first half.

The backcourt duo of 5-foot-7 Monte Towe and Mo Rivers also performed, brilliantly. Towe hit 19 points and had six assists, while Rivers added 17 points, 15 in the last half. The pair gave Pitt many problems with their ballhandling and thefts.

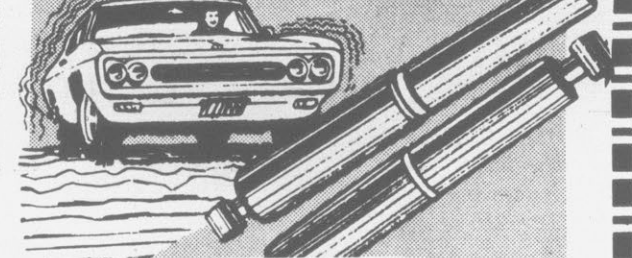

Phil Spence came up with 10 points and 14 rebounds in a key role as a non-starter.

Pitt, now 25-4, was led by Bill Knight's 19 points and 10 rebounds. The Panthers shot 40.6 per cent, slumping to 32.5 in the last half, against State's over all 44.

Providence, ranked fifth, finished its season at 28-4 with a 95-83 victory over Furman, 22-9, to clinch third place. Seniors Marvin Barnes and Kevin Stacom each scored 18 points for the winning Friars and Barnes, the nation's rebound leader, snared 21. Clyde Hayes led Furman with 20 points, 16 in the last half.

SPECIAL GOLF RULES — S. C. Governor John C. West, left, tells Vice President Gerald R. Ford before they play golf that special governor's rules apply, and the first is: "The governor always wins." (AP Wirephoto)

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP)—Whether or not there really is a gasoline shortage, veteran stock car driver Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S. C., has found some consolation in the fact one supposedly exists. "I like this race at 450 laps," Yarborough said Sunday after piloting his 1974 Chevrolet to a one-lap victory in the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing's 450-lap Southeastern 500 Grand National at Bristol International Speedway. "I didn't get as tired today and, of course, the cold weather eliminated any heat problems," said Yarborough, who with 29 other drivers started the race—cut by 50 laps because of the energy crisis—in a heavy damp snow that soon disappeared. It was the second straight victory in the Southeastern 500 for Yarborough, who averaged 94.016 miles per hour for the 239 miles on the high-banked, half-mile Bristol oval in beating out four other Chevrolet drivers. Meanwhile, Mike Mosley posted his first victory since he won in 1971 at Trenton, N. J., when he finished half a length in front of California 500 winner Bobby Unser in the U. S. Auto Club Phoenix 150 at Phoenix, Ariz. In Brand's Hatch, England, Jacky Ickx of Belgium won Europe's first Formula I race of the year, taking the lead five laps from the finish to beat out Niki Lauda of Austria, who had been in front most of the way in the rain.

All-Tournament Team Includes Wolfpack Trio

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina State's 7-foot-4 center Tommy Burleson, injured forward David Thompson and 5-foot-7 guard Monte Towe were named to the all-tournament team picked after the Eastern Regional basketball tourney Saturday by sportswriters and sportscasters. Bill Knight of Pittsburgh and Furman freshman guard Bruce Grimm were the other selections. Thompson scored 40 points in the semifinals against Providence and eight before forced out of the Pitt game by a head injury in the tenth minutes. Burleson, who scored 42 points and grabbed 36 rebounds in the two games, and Thompson tied for the outstanding player award. Each received 34 of the 71 votes cast. The three others went to Towe.

Yarborough took the lead for good at Bristol on the 191st lap after he and four other drivers had swapped the front-running spot to that point. He finished a lap in front of Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N. C., and two laps ahead of Benny Parsons of Elberle, N. C.

Fourth and fifth spots went to the Allison brothers, Bobby and Donnie, of Hueytown, Ala. Donnie had started on the pole, Bobby on the inside pole and Yarborough in the No. 3 spot.

"I've never seen so many slow cars running in the fast groove as today," said Yarborough, who earned $6,655 of the $40,000 purse. "Donnie moved over, but I can't say the same for Bobby."

Dodge driver Richard Petty of Randleman, N. C., NAS-CAR's first $1 million career winner, was knocked out of the race on the 110th lap in a three-car wreck that also involved Chevrolet drivers L. D. Ottinger of Newport, Tenn., and Dean Dalton of Asheville, N. C.

No one was hurt as Ottinger spun out on the third turn, then was hit on the straightaway by Petty, who in turn was rammed by Dalton. But all three cars were damaged so badly they were forced to drop out. That caused one of three caution flags that were out for 28 laps. More than anything else, however, both Yarborough and Donnie Allison were impressed by the crowd of 18,000 that turned out despite the weather conditions.

"This was an excellent crowd under these conditions," said Yarborough, to which Allison added:

"I've always thought race drivers were brave, but you folks (the crowd) had us beat today."

Mosley, who averaged 116.663 m.p.h., had been put at the rear of the 20-car field at Phoenix when he encountered rear-end and transmission problems Saturday in his Lodestar-Offy.

But two quick pit stops and a heavy foot on the accelerator enabled him to beat out Unser, A. J. Foyt and Gordon Johncock and give car-owner J. C. Agajanian his first winner since Parnelli Jones finished first in 1966.

"I have been telling him for three years to pit on the yellow and he just didn't seem to understand me. But this time he did it just right," said Agajanian. Said Mosley:

"I was lucky on the first one. I was just coming into the third turn when the yellow came out and I could get in right away. We had planned to make only two pit stops and everything went just as we had planned. I drove hard but didn't really worry about the fuel."

Ickx won in a JPS Lotus at the expense of the Italian Ferrari factory for which he drove last year. Lauda was driving a Ferrari, but Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi was third in a Texaco-Malboro and Britain's Mike Hailwood fourth in a Yardley-McLaren.

"I like the wet, but I blew up an engine yesterday and the team worked all night to get my car ready for today," said Ickx, who averaged 99.96 m.p.h. Though he has won eight Grand Prix races, it was his first big victory in two years.

Trojans, Indiana In CCA Tourney Final

By PAUL LeBAR
AP Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tall Southern Cal takes on Indiana's Hoosiers for a basketball title nobody seems to want tonight. And, if the coach of 15th-ranked USC is any kind of prognosticator, the scrap may be anything but artistic in finals of the first Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney. USC, a Goliath warding off a smaller David, needed an overtime to edge Bradley 76-73 in semifinals of the meet Sunday. Also hard-pressed to win and unspectacular to the consternation of its coach was 10th-ranked Indiana, which squeezed past Toledo 73-72 in overtime. "If we play the way we did the last 15 minutes and they play the way we did, it could be a real mess," predicted USC's coach, Bob Boyd. USC, 23-4, was instigator of most of the wild antics Sunday while playing in streaks to subdue Bradley. Hard-working guard Dan Anderson scored 25 points and drove the Trojans to a 57-40 lead at 9:22 of the second half only to have the Pac-8 team's offense disintegrate. Bradley sent the test into overtime locked at 63-63, then Anderson and rangy sophomore Bob Trowbridge combined for nine points to ease USC away. Indiana, 22-5, burst on top cold-shooting Toledo by 11-2 after seven minutes but never again had it so simple. Toledo, 19-9, manufactured a 39-33 lead at three minutes of the second half and knotted regulation play at 65-65 on Larry Cole's jump shot. Tom Abernathy's jumper put Indiana on top in overtime, then 6-foot-10 Kent Benson snapped a 71-71 deadlock with a rebound shot.

The Worry Clinic 'Horse Sense' Beats Degrees

Hester's comment shows how "Horse Sense" defeats brain-trusters. That's also why the U. S. Navy asked to use 500 of the 4-answer questions like the 10 outlined below. Employers now use them, too to select workers with gumption.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE Z-577: Hester D., aged 42, shows that culture and education are not limited to college graduates.
"Dr. Crane," she began, "my mother died when I was a junior in high school.
"I had 6 younger brothers and sisters and we lived on a farm.

"So I dropped out of school to run the house and try to see that the rest of the children got fed and clothed on schedule.
"Later, I married a neighboring farmer.
"But I always had a yearning to go to college and get an education.
"So I have been an avid follower of your daily quiz column, which our editor heads, "Test Your Horse Sense."
"And what delights me most about it, is the fact I can usually outscore my daughter, who just graduated from the state university.

"Although she was an honor student and won Phi Beta Kappa, she still doesn't have the practical experience that I have.
"So the daily newspaper has been a boon to my hunger for education."
Horse Sense
In pioneer days, gumption or practical experience was called "Horse Sense."
After pioneering this advice column on practical psychology to help prevent divorce, delinquency and other human foibles, I was asked to create a test for practical parents like Hester.
For much of the progress of America, plus our inventions and discoveries, have been produced by non-college people! Yet they have not been given the proper credit, for it has been customary to kowtow to college degrees, even though such brilliant doctors can't earn a living or even stop a dripping kitchen faucet!
In Roosevelt's administration, the term "Brainintrust" evolved, which is the opposite of "Horse Sense."
So I developed a one-hour "Test of Horse Sense," that has been widely used in industry in weeding out brainintrust college graduates.
Our U. S. Navy asked to employ 500 of its practical questions to sort out the officer candidates in its Navy Air Corps during World War II.
And here are a few of the newspaper's typical 4-answer (Multiple choice) queries that have let Hester defeat her Phi Beta Kappa daughter!
(1) A veal chop made which typical sound while afoot: DINK-MOO-BA-COO?
(2) Ferdinand would be the name of a PERCHERON-ORPINGTON-GUERNEY-POLAND CHINA.

(3) The tigers are a baseball team in BOSTON-CINCINNATI-HOUSTON-DETROIT.
(4) A gore is employed by a CARPENTER-MASON-BUTCHER-TAILOR.
(5) Creatures lacking legs travel in a SWARM-SCHOOL-HEARD-PACK.
(6) The Bible Character who lost his life because he got a haircut was SAUL-LUKE-SAMSON.
(7) The one who was killed because he didn't get a haircut was: NOAH-ABSALOM-JACOB-ELISHA.
(8) Which athlete was made famous by the gopher ball- RYAN-FARMER-TREVINO-AARON?
(9) Which creature bears her young by a process called "Kindling"—DOE-COW-EWE-MARE?
(10) Which nicknamed creature has but two legs- ELSIE-NANNY-BIDDY-TABBY?

If you wish to entertain guests or what your children's wits, then send for my "Vocational Guidance" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope plus 25 cents.
It contains the original one-hour "Test of Horse Sense" that led to the daily Quiz Column of that name.
(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J8 ♥92 ♦AJ73 ♣KQJ92
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♦ Pass
4 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Six clubs. Partner's bidding has described a hand with four spades, five hearts and three clubs, and therefore a singleton diamond. In view of partner's strength-showing reverse to two spades, you can expect to lose no more than one trick in the major suits.
Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ102 ♥K82 ♦Q85 ♣J92
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣
Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. With your hand we would suggest one try for game, and this is the most descriptive bid. Your values are well distributed, and if partner has a maximum raise there may be play for game.
Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K83 ♥AK8762 ♦7 ♣QJ6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. This is preferable to another rebid of your hearts. Partner has shown a rather good hand, and the key to the best final contract could be your club stopper.
Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠82 ♥AJ987 ♦54 ♣K1032
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♣ 1 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Three hearts. At no trump, this hand is worth 8 points; at hearts, 10 points. The hand is slightly unbalanced, and an effort should be made to reach a heart game. Partner's no trump overcall in the direct seat shows the equivalent of a no trump opening bid, and should he rebid three no trump you should respect his decision.
Q. 5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠95 ♥7 ♦8762 ♣AJ9832
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West

What action do you take?
A.—Pass. It is tempting to double two clubs, and if you could be sure that that would be the final contract we would endorse the action. However, chances are great that someone will run. Suppose West rescues two clubs doubled to two hearts and your partner doubles. What would you do now?
Q. 6—Both vulnerable, you have 30 on score, and as South you hold:
♠A987432 ♥65 ♦AQ ♣92
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Dble. Rdbld. 2 ♦
2 ♣ Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Despite the fact that you have a seven-card suit, we suggest a pass. Partner's redouble does not necessarily show spade support. His three heart bid, tho, can only be made with a good suit. When you failed to pass two diamonds round to your partner and instead rebid your spades, you suggested that you had a distributional opening with a long suit. Nevertheless, partner chose to bid hearts, and we would get out now.
Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K76 ♥AJ8 ♦AK102 ♣Q63
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 NT Pass Pass 2 ♣
Pass Pass 2 ♦ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—There is no doubt that you are going to game, but there is no necessity for haste. A bid of two hearts will serve the purpose, for a new suit in this situation is forcing for one round. It is your intention to support spades on the next round.
Q. 8—North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ ♥AK76 ♦1043 ♣J32
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ Dble. Rdbld. Pass
Pass 2 ♦ ?
What action do you take?
A.—There is no doubt that you are going to game, but there is no necessity for haste. A bid of two hearts will serve the purpose, for a new suit in this situation is forcing for one round. It is your intention to support spades on the next round.

What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Remember, partner did not have the values to act over your one no trump opening bid. Now he is merely competing for a part score on a weak hand with at least five diamonds.
Q. 9—North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ ♥AK76 ♦1043 ♣J32
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ Dble. Rdbld. Pass

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Attend to important duties now instead of going on a spree that could ruin your present position. Avoid one who does not respect you.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't try to change your friends but accept them as they are and then you can make bigger strides. Express your creative ideas.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't try to mold family or friends into a pattern to suit yourself. Treat them as respected individuals. Avoid a troublemaker.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although you may be plagued with all kinds of trouble, remain resolute and all changes to your advantage. Plan the future wisely.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will always be looking for a change and should be taught early in life to be steadfast to one course for greatest success. Give courses of study that include the best of the past and the best of the modern. There is much inventiveness in this chart. Include music lessons in course of study.

Says Govm't Acts Unfair

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Hawaii congressman has accused the federal government of discriminating against Alaska and Hawaii in awarding grants for an educational seminar in North Carolina.
Rep. Spark Magsunaga, D-Hawaii, said the travel expenses of mainland applicants were paid by the federal government while those of persons from Alaska and Hawaii were not.
The seminar, "Women and the World of Work," was held last September at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.
Magsunaga made his charges in a letter to Caspar Weinberger, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.
In his letter, Magsunaga noted that the government had recently restored funds to University of Hawaii that it had withheld because of alleged discrimination against women faculty members.
"Under the circumstances," he said, "it is particularly galling to the taxpayers citizens of Hawaii to learn that the federal government itself is guilty of discrimination against its 49th and 50th states."
The workshop was sponsored by the University of North Carolina and the U.S. Office of Education.

Farm Scene

By HENRY RIDDICK

Every stage of development is important for a farm crop, but none is as critical as the first stages, land preparation, seed selection and planting. We have observed that farmers who do a good job with these three steps are way ahead toward having a successful crop year.

Research has shown that land preparation can be overdone just as easily as underdone. Farmers should decide on the best method of preparing a seed bed and follow through with the plan. Continuous running over a field discing actually decreases a good seed bed while increasing cost of production.

A proper seed bed is when the soil is loosened enough for good seed coverage and smooth enough not to bounce the seed out of the plate. This point is particularly important where planters with inclined plates are used.

Planting factors that have to be watched closely include speed of operating the planter, correct seed plate for seed size and depth of planting. Try the planter in the field for adjustments not the field path, for a hard path will not show proper planter performance.

As important as all the other factors mentioned is the selection of good quality seed. Certified seed are the farmers best insurance against poor stands, impure varieties and other problems that often accompany uncertified poor quality seed. But too many of our farmers purchase seed alone without any concern for the kind of quality in the bag.

No one can look at a handful of seed and really tell much about quality of seed contained in the bag. The state seed laws have been developed to protect the farmer from bad seed. The seed analysis tag provides growers with information about the quality of seed contained in the bag. The important thing is to always read the analysis tag.

Woman Killed By Ex-Husband

BELMONT (AP)—A 32-year-old woman, who was eight and a half months pregnant, was shot and killed Sunday by her former husband, the Gaston County Sheriff's Department said.

The victim was identified as Joanne Myers, who had gone to the man's home to get some belongings, officers said.

Weldon Johnson, identified as the woman's former husband, was arrested and charged with murder, the sheriff's department said.

A HUNGRY MONSTER?—What appears to be a hungry monster from outer space is a "funny car" with the body raised. Funny car drag races were held yesterday at the Kinston Drag Strip with a new addition to the racing business, a woman driver. The driver of the car above is

Carol Henson of Alexandria, Virginia. Funny cars are special built fuel-injection autos with the capability of speeds exceeding 200 MPH. The quarter mile yesterday was run in approximately 6-7 seconds. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Guerrilla Warfare For St. Pat's Day

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—St. Patrick's Day in Northern Ireland was marked by somber sermons, the killing of a British soldier and an unsuccessful arms raid on an American navy post.

"The majority of Irish people are sickened by the ever-recurring violence, death, maiming and destruction," said the Roman Catholic primate of all Ireland, John Cardinal Conway, in Armagh.

The soldier was killed in an ambush of a British motor patrol by five gunmen in a Catholic section of Londonberry. He was the 976th confirmed fatality in more than four years of communal warfare, and the eighth person killed in three days.

Other guerrillas were routed by guards at a U.S. Navy communications center outside Londonberry after they invaded it in a hijacked pickup truck. The post relays messages for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization between Europe and America and has a garrison of about 150 Navy men.

The masked raiders seized one American guard and tied up three others. But the captive

Congress Eyes Special Bonus For Enlistees

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Special bonuses to attract men into the all-volunteer military's critically short skilled jobs heads the congressional legislative agenda this week.

A bill to grant $85.4 million in special bonuses the first full year was scheduled for a House vote in the afternoon as was a new $140 million economic development program for Indian reservations.

The legislation to authorize federal loans to help Indians develop and manage their own resources originally was introduced by the late John F.

Saylor, R-Pa., who died last October.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said the special military bonus bill is aimed at overcoming what he called the all-volunteer force's critical problem of attracting and keeping men in such critical skills as electronics.

The House bill would authorize enlistment bonuses up to $3,000 for specified skills, although the Pentagon plans to start the bonuses at $2,000. Bonuses up to $15,000 would be paid to men re-enlisting for the skilled jobs.

At the same time, the bill would halt the present $2,000 bonus for all men who re-enlist. The Pentagon estimates this change will reduce bonus costs by $44.5 million by 1979.

An amendment requiring admission of qualified women to military academies was tacked onto the GI bonus bill by the Senate. But that was knocked out in the House committee before the bill was sent out for House action.

The Senate returns from a long weekend Tuesday to take up its version of legislation to set up Congress' own expertise to determine how high the federal budget should be so it can rely less on a president's experts.

The House passed its version of the bill in December.

Both bills would create a congressional office of the budget, staffed by experts. Both also would require Congress to set its own federal budget ceiling each year.

Defective Skilletts

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI)—The General Electric Corp. announced Saturday that some electric skilletts manufactured last month have defective parts which could cause an electric shock to the unsuspecting owner.

GE identified the faulty skilletts as models SK-26, SK-26AVT, SK-27AVT and SK-27HRT, with date codes 407 through 411 stamped on the underside and on the outside of the carton.

The defect, says GE, is caused by a faulty washer produced as a result of a change in the manufacturing process, which has since been corrected.

The company urged consumers who have recently acquired GE skilletts to return any skillett bearing the suspect code numbers to their nearest GE houseware service center or GE distributor.

escaped when the guerrillas abandoned their truck and fled on foot. It was believed the raiders were after arms.

At St. Patrick's traditional burial site, Downpatrick, the primate of the Protestant Church of Ireland, Dr. Alan Buchanan, pleaded with the guerrillas to "stop now in the name of humanity."

And that includes fall panicum. A growing grass problem that straight atrazine users haven't been controlling.

Fact is, Lasso plus atrazine is an excellent all-round herbicide treatment for corn growers in the North Carolina and Virginia area. Why? Because Lasso plus atrazine goes to work on grasses as well as broadleaf weeds. Not just fall panicum, but other tough customers like smooth crabgrass, foxtails, pigweed, and smartweed.

atrazine

Why, it even reduces competition from toughies like cocklebur and annual morningglory.

And except for sweet corn, you can save yourself a trip over the field by adding liquid fertilizer to your Lasso plus atrazine tank-mix.

Another thing that makes Lasso plus atrazine fit in with your growing operation is the way it minimizes the risk of carryover. You see, Lasso has no carryover. And since you use less atrazine in the tank mix, there's less chance of having carryover problems.

This year, put Lasso plus atrazine to work in your corn. You'll control fall panicum, crabgrass and other annual grasses missed by atrazine. As well as most annual broadleaf weeds.

Save gas. Fill'er up.

When you fill'er up with people, it's hard to beat the mileage of the 1974 Volkswagen Bus.

The reason?

Nine people in one car can go considerably farther on a gallon of gas than nine people in separate cars.

And how many cars can you think of that hold nine people comfortably and still get terrific mileage easily?

We can only think of one.
