Ed N. Warren, who served as campaign chairman for the 1971 Pitt United Fund drive, was elected UF president Tuesday at the organization's 16th annual luncheon meeting.
The new president succeeds outgoing United Fund head

Joseph O. Clark and will direct the 1974-75 solicitation effort in Pitt County. Warren served as first vice president during Clark's tenure as president.
Officers elected during the meeting to serve the 1974-75 campaign included: Karl Faser, first vice president; Bill Dansey, second vice president; Spencer

Hill, secretary; Gene Carson, treasurer; Tom Allen, assistant treasurer; and Jim Cheatham, legal counsel.

Nominations Committee chairman Jack Whichard reported that six members of the board of directors completed their terms in the 1973-74 period. Retiring board members are Burney W. Baker, Curtis Cavileer, Edward Earl Dennis, Kenneth Dews, A. F. Rowe Sr., and Carter Smith.

Pointing out that in addition to the retiring board members, there have been several other board changes, Whichard submitted the committee's slate of eight new members to bring it up to a "full complement." Nominated and elected were J. Beverly Congleton, Stokes; J. J. Brown, Ayden; Mrs. C. G. Garrenton, Bethel, and Greenville residents Gene Skinner, Andy Warren, Dorothy Bolton, Margaret Cone, and Beth Brankin.

Clark recognized Dansey, who served as chairman of the recent campaign, and pointed out that under Dansey's leadership, the United Fund pledged and contribution total was the largest in the history of the Pitt organization.

Clark said that total pledges and contributions this year exceeded the $174,692 goal by some five per cent, totaling $183,763. The recent campaign, he reported, marked the fifth consecutive year that the Pitt United Fund has passed its goal.

The outgoing president presented Dansey a plaque in appreciation of his work during the recent campaign.

Dansey cited the division chairmen who served under him and presented each a plaque recognizing their outstanding efforts and participation in the fund drive.

Chairmen receiving plaques were: Paul G. Taddicus, Industrial Division; William R. McConnell, Professional I; Clifton W. Everitt Jr., Professional II; M. W. Aldridge, Professional III; Mrs. Glenn Fisher Jr., (Jay-C-Ettes), Advance Gifts; Richard D. Kiernan, Business I; Mrs. Jeanette G. Cox, Business II; Donald M. Pompidou Dies; Election Battle Confronts France

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer
PARIS — (AP) — France today faced the prospect of a fierce election battle following the sudden death of President Georges Pompidou.

Pompidou, the republic's president since June 20, 1969, died Tuesday night.

Premier Pierre Messmer summoned government ministers to a meeting today to make arrangements for Pompidou's funeral. Informed sources said it would be a private ceremony restricted to his immediate family, with burial at Orvilliers, the village southwest of Paris where Pompidou had a country retreat.

An official memorial service will be held in Paris Saturday, probably in the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the sources said.

Pompidou returned from a weekend at Orvilliers to his private apartment on the Ile St. Louis in the Seine early Tuesday, and apparently he died there.

A one-sentence announcement from the Elysee Palace said the 62-year-old president died at 9 p.m. The cause of death was not announced, but there had been widespread reports for the past year that he was suffering from some form of cancer.

Since early last year, his face and body had swelled up and he had fatigued easily. But official reports usually said he had influenza.

At Pompidou's death, Alain Poher, president of the Senate, automatically became interim president. The 65-year old Centrist also served as interim president briefly after the resignation of the late Charles de Gaulle in 1969. In the election that followed, he lost to Pompidou, the Gaullist candidate.

Poher must arrange a presidential election within 20 to 35 days of Pompidou's death, or between April 21 and May 6.

The new president will be elected for a full seven-year term, not to serve out the two years and two months remaining in Pompidou's term.

Pompidou, the son of a southern schoolteacher, came to office in 1969 as the heir to De Gaulle and his strong presidency. He had served for six years as De Gaulle's premier, but he lacked his mentor's towering personality.

His popularity decreased in recent months as France was battered by economic hardships and the energy crisis.

His death left the Gaullist camp divided, with no clear successor. The front runners were believed to be Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who is not formally a Gaullist, and former Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas.

Giscard d'Estaing, 48, is the leader in public opinion polls. A brilliant economist, he leads the small Independent Republican party which has been solidly allied with the Gaullists.

Chaban-Delmas had been preparing to run for the presidency in 1976, when Pompidou's term would have expired, since his ouster as premier in July 1972. He is expected to get the support of the Gaullists.

The Communists and Socialists are expected to back the Socialist party's secretary-general and perennial candidate, Francois Mitterand. He would profit if Chaban-Delmas and Giscard d'Estaing split the Gaullists.

Pompidou is survived by his widow, the former Claude Ca-how, and one son, Alain, a doctor.

Pitt School Bd. Declines Property Transfer Plea

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday agreed to follow board policy and deny a request from David Evans Sr. that 4.8 acres of land in the Tucker Estates Subdivision be transferred from the county school district to the city school district.

The board adopted a policy last year stating that no more property would be relinquished to the city school system due to the possibility of merger of the two systems.

Evans told the school board that the subdivision, located on the south side of Red Banks Road, between the Oakmont Apartment Complex and the Holy Trinity Methodist Church, consists of approximately 22 and one-half acres of land. Of that total, 4.8 acres is located in the county school district while the remainder is in the city school system.

Evans stated that the school district division line is inconsistent within the subdivision plan and that five lots are split (portions in each of the two districts).

"This would eventually lead to confusion among the homeowners in the subdivision," Evans stated. He asked that since the major portion of the property is in the city district that the board transfer the property to the Greenville School district.

The property in question is located in the Winterville School district. Board member Bill McLawhorn asked the board to reconsider the priorities adopted in its long range construction plan which was approved in December.

McLawhorn reminded the board that when the plan was approved he stated that the priorities would probably be changed.

He asked the board to amend the plan to delay projects at W. H. Robinson School, Pactolus Elementary School, Stokes Elementary and Sam D. Bundy School. This involves a total of $1,353,137 that would be applied toward the construction of a new Ayden Grammar School.

Board members Tom Patterson and Kenneth Dews each expressed a desire to study the priorities for a brief period of time before a change was approved.

Patterson stated that several communities were involved and that he did not

Call Only 4 Witnesses In Chapin Perjury Trial

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution rested today after calling only four witnesses in the perjury trial of Dwight L. Chapin, President Nixon's former appointments secretary.

Asst. special prosecutor Richard J. Davis rested his case after introducing a lengthy memorandum from Chapin that detailed his relationship with political saboteur Donald H. Segretti.

Chapin originally was charged with four counts of lying under oath to a watergate grand jury last year about Segretti, whom he recruited for political dirty tricks.

But with the jury out of the room the judge dismissed one of the counts that had alleged Chapin lied when he said he didn't know what Segretti was being paid.

"It seems to me the question of the amount of salary is so insignificant," U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said. "It is a housekeeping detail in the atmosphere in which Mr.

Chapin was operating."

The maximum possible penalty on the three remaining counts is 15 years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

John W. Dean III, the ousted presidential counsel, testified that Chapin wrote the memo on Nov. 5, 1972, and showed it to him a few days later.

Dean said that Chapin then gave him his original draft when he left the White House staff in the spring of 1973.

Following Dean to the stand was Angelo Lano, an FBI agent who had worked on the Watergate investigation since the beginning and who interviewed Chapin three times beginning in late August 1972.

Lano said Chapin told him that he enlisted the tricksters services "to assist in the harassment of candidates in the Democratic party."

"I assured Dwight it's nothing to worry about," Dean said. In the memo, Chapin said he should have fired Segretti when he went to New Hampshire before that state's primary and used his own name.

"When Watergate broke we told Don to get lost — I believe Herb settled with him," the memo said.

The allusion was to Herbert W. Kalmbach, former personal attorney to President Nixon, who testified Tuesday that he paid Segretti approximately $45,000 from unused 1968 campaign funds.

Chapin also said in the memo that "Don sent me clippings — this was the main way he reported."

He said he suspected Segretti of having been responsible for a phoney press release distributed in Florida attributing sexual misconduct to Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Henry M. Jackson of Washington "since one day I received a copy of it in the mail at my home."

Both copies of the memorandum were labeled "eyes only."

Dean said that meant there should be limited distribution, although he said he knows one copy was given to John D. Ehrlichman.

Projects Get Go-Ahead From Farmville's Bd.

By CAROL B. TYER

FARMVILLE—Mrs. Edward King, who has appealed to Farmville Commissioners several times for paving and ditching in her area, was told last night that both will be done.

Work will begin soon on tiling a ditch adjacent to Mrs. King's home, Town Administrator W. A. Martin said. He said also that a petition brought in by her for the paving of Cotton Street from George to Fields Streets is in order and that it will be placed on the list of street work to be done. Town Engineer Jack McDavid said new bids for street work will be called for soon.

Consideration of a proposed ordinance to allow conditional use of mobile homes in a specified residential area of Farmville was tabled for study as to whether it conflicts with the present mobile home ordinance.

It was decided not to rezone property in the Washington Heights area from residential to light industrial use after objections were heard in a public hearing from owners of three and one-quarter acres of the three and a half acre area. The owners are Carroll Holmes, Leymon H. Beamon, Sue T. Holmes, and Daisy H. Rogers. Cedric Davis appeared on their behalf.

A letter from John B. Lewis Jr. thanking the town for its help in the Economic Council-sponsored clean-up campaign was read. The letter made specific suggestions to the town for continuing the project, including a time limit on condemnation proceedings, a junk car ordinance, improved trash pick, and a "low-level but continuously working cleanup committee appointed by the Mayor."

Mayor Joyner said H. P. Norman, town building inspector, will be chairman of this committee, with other members to be announced.

The widening of portions of Belcher Street and the improving of Cotton Street were discussed, following a report by Attorney Jack Lewis.

Lewis also reported on a proposed ordinance that would place restrictions on cemetery, visiting except during certain hours and stipulate what kinds of headstones to use in the future for easier maintenance.

The paving assessment payment on Cameron Street was released. The amount was $615.29.

Some $600 was transferred from the police traffic signs accounts to the police uniform account. $1,000 was transferred from the recreation department salary account to buildings and grounds ($500), materials ($400), and service and training ($100).

Building inspector Norman was given the go ahead on condemning two houses, one on George and one on Perry Street.

The waiting period on eligibility for Blue Cross insurance coverage for town employees was reduced to 30 days for regular employees and three months for hourly ones. The Commissioners agreed to

Expects Budget Approval

RALEIGH—The giant state budget bill package, including legislation to expand the East Carolina University medical school from a one-year program to two years, passed the North Carolina Senate yesterday and was expected to win approval from the House today.

Pitt Representative Sam Bundy said this morning that in his opinion, the bill will receive final approval of the House of Representatives later today.

"I'm not sure there is going to be an effort made to stop it..." in the House, Bundy noted, referring to the possibility of supporters of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors, trying to have the ECU expansion measure separated from the rest of the budget.

"I believe we've got the horses to hold it," Bundy explained. "The Senate passed the bill yesterday... there was practically no objection whatsoever. I don't think the Senate would agree to any compromises. I just hope we can hold it like it is," Bundy concluded.

Another ECU supporter, Rep. J. P. Huskins (D-Iredell) indicated too, that in his opinion, the budget bill will pass the House today, with the ECU measure intact. "But we'll just have to see, though," he noted.

Couple Weds Sunday Afternoon

The Evangelistic Tabernacle here was the scene of the Sunday afternoon wedding of Betty Bowen Moore and Robert Alan Wicks. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. L. Byrd.

Mrs. Shirley Harrington, organist, presented a program of organ music. Mrs. Margaret Byrd sang "For Once In My Life," "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us" and the "Wedding Prayer."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bowen of Greenville, Mrs. Elsie R. Wicks of Sarasota, Fla., and the late Capt. Delbert W. Wicks, USN. The church altar was decorated with an arrangement of pink, yellow and white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pom poms flanked by spiral candelabra holding matching flowers and lighted candles. Lime satin ribbons and lace backed by palms were used on the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pastel blue chiffon gown over taffeta fashioned with long sleeves with ruffled edge and a deep ruffle at the hemline of the floor length skirt. The V-neckline was outlined by a narrow ruffle and the empire waistline was belted by satin ribbon with a front bow.

Her matching blue crown was attached to a waist length veil of silk illusion. She wore an opal and diamond necklace, a gift of the bridegroom's mother. The bride carried a nosegay of daisy pom poms, miniature carnations and bistol fairy in shades of yellow, pink and white.

Mrs. Lloyd Rhodes of Greenville, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. She was dressed in a floor length pink polyester gown designed with a lace bodice, oval neckline and long sleeves. She carried a single green chrysanthemum with greenery and ribbons.

Miss Debbie Bassham of Sarasota, Fla., niece of the bridegroom was flower girl. She wore a floor length dress of pink daisy and rosebud embroidered cotton. The dress featured a ring neckline, long sleeves and a front pink satin bow and belt. She carried a white, green tipped carnation with greenery.

Chris Rhodes of Greenville, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer and carried a white satin ring pillow.

Kenneth Russ of Greenville, uncle of the bride, was best man and ushers were Howell Mozingo of Bear Grass and Cecil Parrott of Greenville.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Kenneth Russ of Greenville and Mrs. John David Cannon of Greenville directed the wedding.

The mother of the bride wore a peach and white floral dress, navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore a pastel yellow dress, black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride changed into a navy blue pants suit.

The couple will reside in Washington.

The bride is employed by Moore-King Sullivan Oil Co. Greenville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and was a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy. He is now sports editor with the Washington Daily News.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Russ of Greenville entertained at an after-rehearsal party Friday night at their home.

The house was decorated with wedding bells and arrangements of spring flowers.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a pyramid arrangement of yellow and white mums, baby's breath, pink gladioli fluerettes and lighted tapers in a silver pedestal bowl. Cake was served by Mrs. Doug Kelley and Mrs. Cecil Parrott poured punch.

'Doggie Bagger' Takes The Cake, Carrots

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Can you explain why a wealthy woman, when eating out, always takes home the leftover dinner rolls, carrot sticks, crackers, and anything else that's served and isn't eaten?

This lady is very generous where charity is concerned. We are four women who meet once a week for bridge and lunch, and her conduct puzzles me.

I can understand a "doggie bag" for leftover portions of meat, but what about taking home every morsel of edible food on the table?

On occasion we all meet with our husbands, and when this woman asked my husband for his leftover carrot sticks to take home, he thought she was kidding. Yet her husband seemed indifferent. How do you figure this? AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: The lady can't bear to see anything wasted. [There are many people who, if they had the courage, would collect all the leftovers.] There is nothing wrong with it. If she were poor, she'd be "chintzy." But since she's rich, she's "eccentric."

DEAR ABBY: My wife passed away three months ago. She was 52, and a wonderful woman. My children are married and have homes of their own. My mother-in-law is constantly plying me with advice. Example: "Don't ever marry again. All women are gold diggers. All they want is your money."

Abby, my life seems so empty. I don't know anyone I want to date, but my mother-in-law's constant harping on the subject has made me think about it.

How long a mourning period should be observed in my case? How soon is "too soon" to seek female companionship? Would my dating before a year be considered disrespectful to the memory of my late wife?

Our marriage was a happy one and we had 30 good years, but I think 55 is too young to resign myself to a life alone. What do you think? LONELY

DEAR ABBY: My wife has three sisters and two brothers who got together and gave their parents a Christmas gift—a three-month vacation in sunny Florida, at OUR home. [Without even consulting us, I might add.]

My in-laws just called from Montana to give us the good news that the "other children" presented them with two round trip tickets to Gainesville, good for a three-month stay, and they said that WE would be delighted to have them as our house guests.

Abby, her parents are not easy to get along with. We could take them for three weeks, but NOT for three months! They interfere when we discipline our children, and take sides if my wife and I have a disagreement. My wife is more upset over this than I.

If they stay here for three months, we will either end up in the divorce court, or there will be two more cases for the psychiatric ward. What should we do? UPSET IN FLORIDA

DEAR UPSET: You and your wife had better quickly set her parents straight. Tell them frankly that your time limit for houseguests is three weeks.

DEAR ABBY: My son and his wife have been married for three years. They are both bleeding heart liberals and miss no opportunity to announce that they have no children because they don't want any! I believe their decision to have no children is a very selfish one. The Good Book implores us to "Go forth and multiply." Our son is an only child, and my heart is broken because he is depriving us of the pleasure of being grandparents.

DEAR LONELY: It's your life, obviously not that of your departed wife or certainly not that of your mother-in-law, that counts. If you dislike living alone, do something about it and don't worry about what others think. Who named them as your judge?

Do you blame us for feeling DEPRIVED

DEAR DEPRIVED: I don't "blame" you, but I don't agree that your son and his wife should have children because you want to be grandparents.

Couples who remain childless by choice shouldn't be made to feel guilty. When the writers of the Good Book implored us to go forth and multiply, the world needed more people. Not so today. Quite the contrary.

2 pounds ground beef round
1 egg
1 medium onion, finely grated (pulp and juice)
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chili sauce
½ cup grape jelly
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Thoroughly mix together beef, unbeaten egg, onion and salt. Roll into 1-inch balls — about 80. In a large skillet stir together the chili sauce, grape jelly and lemon juice; heat, stirring, until jelly dissolves. Add a single layer of meat balls and cook, stirring gently, until meat balls firm up — about 10 minutes. With a slotted spoon remove meat balls and add remaining meat balls, cooking as before. Return all meat balls to skillet and cook gently spooning off fat as it rises to the top, for 10 to 20 minutes. If desired, cook ahead, but do not bother spooning off fat; chill meat balls and sauce separately. Before reheating meat balls in sauce, remove congealed fat from sauce.

¼ cup creamy peanut butter

Into a 1½-quart saucepan turn the sugar, corn syrup and butter; cook, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves and mixture boils. Continue cooking without stirring to 240 degrees on a candy thermometer or until 1 teaspoon of mixture dropped into 1 cup very cold water forms a soft ball that flattens on removal from water. Off heat stir in milk and peanut butter until smooth. Serve warm or cold. If made ahead, turn sauce into wide-mouth jar, cover and refrigerate. Remove from refrigerator about an hour before using; to speed softening, place jar in bowl of warm water. Makes 2 to 2½ cups.

Household Hints

Glass doors in the home are often described as the "unseen killer" because of the number of accidents in which they are involved each year. Decals, ornamental bars and grills are recommended by home economists to make glass doors in homes visible and thereby prevent serious accidents.

Whole frozen chickens that weigh three pounds or less defrost in about 12 hours at refrigerator temperature. To thaw at room temperature, allow 2 to 3 hours per pound for whole chicken, or 1-½ to 2 hours per pound for smaller part.

Homemakers are advised to store spices away from light to avoid discoloration or loss of color.

School Board Declines Plea

know enough about the situations to vote out some of the priorities.

However, McLawhorn felt that a vote was necessary at this time. The amendment to the priorities was approved by the board. McLawhorn further stated that he had not requested any money from a school district that was not already getting something else.

Janie Manning and Ola Nell Perry appeared before the board to discuss the present reading program in the county schools.

The two supervisors explained how the reading program works and what materials are used in teaching students in kindergarten through high school.

They explained that kindergarten students are involved in learning vocabulary, auditory and visual discrimination skills, and sight reading vocabulary. Many kindergarten children achieve prerequisite skills while others do not.

The program attempts to diagnose where the children are from the first grade on through school. Their level of learning is determined and materials for that level is provided to the student.

Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner appeared before the board to explain his findings during a recent tour of the Ayden Grammar School.

Joyner explained that basically the building is in good condition except for a few needed changes, many of which the school board has already had made. Joyner's concern dealt with fire escapes, fire extinguishers, locked doors, exit lights, improper storage of kerosene, and the repair of panic-proof hardware on exit doors.

Joyner said that he inspected the county schools each year and made suggestions to the school principals and to Superintendent Ott Alford on what could be done to improve the conditions.

He stated that his suggestions were usually carried out within a month after his inspection tour.

Joyner also stated that the Ayden Grammar School was in much better condition than some of the other schools within the county.

Carl Heath, maintenance supervisor for Pitt County Schools, stated that for the most part, all the county schools are in much better condition now than they were two to three years ago.

Board members approved a lease agreement between the board of education and the State Board of Education in the amount of $1,200 annually for the use of space at the Grifton Regional Center to house two state personnel in the area of kindergarten.

Board chairman Mark Owens appointed a committee to study the present board policy dealing with student pregnancies. Named to the committee were Elizabeth Edwards, Sue Noble, Betty Speir, Willie Mallison, Mary Little, Bernard Haselrig, W. C. Wiggins, Mrs. Manley Patterson, Kathryn Lewis, Mrs. William C. Whitehurst Jr. and Dr. Earl Trevathan.

Associate Supt. Tom Craft told board members that upset bids have been received for both the Falkland School property and the Grimesland School property. The resale of both sites will be held on April 19 and opening bids will each be $5,300.

A resolution commending Jeffrey Price, a Morehead Scholarship winner, was adopted by the board. Price is the second North Pitt student to win the honor in two years. Last year's winner was James Nelson. He will be awarded a full scholarship for his undergraduate education at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Board members approved that the teacher evaluation report be filed with Chairman Owens but that no action be taken until the May board meeting.

A committee to study procedures for financing professional trips for principals and teachers presented several recommendations to the board for approval.

Included in the recommendations were: Each school be allotted $10 per staff member to be used to finance representatives to professional organization meetings, seminars or classroom in-service visitation; central office and principals should encourage participation in professional organizations as well as seminars and in-service programs; a special budget be provided for sponsoring representatives from the principals to attend special professional meetings; and that principals would approve all teacher absentees for professional meetings.

The overall cost for this project would total $6,550 for the 22 schools involved.

Board members agreed to file an application with the State seeking money for the construction of a driver training classroom to be built on the site of the driver training range at Farmville Central High School.

In other business, the board:

—agreed to hire Ralph Hall on a 50-50 basis with the architectural firm of Dudley and Shoe, Hall, to begin employment June 1, would be responsible for overseeing the county schools construction projects. He was employed by the board of education during the recent construction of the four new county high schools;

—Principals Bill Wiggins and Russ Cotton were given permission to dismiss school early on four Mondays during the latter part of April and early part of May in order to allow school personnel to work on the Southern Association Accreditation project;

—authorized Alford to study a request that an athletic trainer—at each high school be responsible for the prevention and emergency treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries and for the coordination of local resources relevant to the provisions of medical services to student sports participants. He will present his recommendation at the next board meeting;

—approved participation in several programs funded 100 percent by the federal and state governments for summer job opportunities for eligible students;

—approved a request from the League of Women Voters that the medical-social counselors of the schools distribute educational material dealing with the food stamp program along with their regular work routine;

—set April 17 as the date for a budget session;

—approved several personnel changes.

Nixon White House.

Finally, Simon has made enemies on Capitol Hill, partly because of trying to win favor among senior Democrats. His relationship with Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson of Washington, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, has included advance tips to Jackson on FEO decisions and bitter complaints by Republican members of the committee at being "scooped by Scoop."

But Simon's congressional friends are more important than his enemies. Republican leaders regard him as infinitely more flexible and politically astute than Shultz. At a time of Republican troubles, they feel something other than Shultz's stolidity is needed. That is why the highly respected Rep. Barber Conable of New York, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, recently wrote Mr. Nixon urging Simon's speedy nomination.

This is no time for the President to ignore the Barber Conables, and he would be in deep trouble with them if he heeded the advice of Simon's enemies. All the same, Simon would breathe a lot easier if Mr. Nixon moved quickly, before the FEO house of cards may collapse.

"Fishing is one of the greatest sports in the world. You don't harm anyone. You don't bother anyone. You sit there with your thoughts and you forget all about the mess they made of everything in Washington. Why did they have to drag dirty politics into fishing?"

"I guess because the White House feels that if the American people feel the House committee is on a fishing expedition, they'll believe Congress is up to no good. After all, Foster, most people do think fishing is an asinine way to pass the time."

Foster was livid. "It is not a stupid way to pass the time, and if all those people who got messed up in Watergate had gone fishing instead of what they did, they wouldn't be in the trouble they're in today. Fishermen at least have enough sense to stay out of muck and mire."

"Those are harsh words, Foster," I said. "Look at it from Nixon's point of view. He has to use every defense he can. If he can prove Congress is just fishing, he can save himself from being impeached. After all, that's all he's got left."

"He's such a big football fan," Foster said. "Why couldn't he accuse Congress of roughing the kicker?"

"It's not the same thing. The one thing Americans understand is that fishing is a poor way to hook a President."

"Not if you use worms for bait."

Foster chuckled at his own joke.

East Europe Is Subway-Bound

By GERHARD FRIEDRICH PRAGUE (UPI) — East Europeans are going underground. The catchword in the capitals of Europe's east is "Metro"—subway.

Subway construction sites in nearly all parts of the city characterize the sights of Prague and Budapest. Warsaw, Sofia and Belgrade are planning to follow within the next few years.

Traffic in East European cities is small by comparison with such places as New York, Tokyo or London, but relative to public transport facilities it is huge. The best way to solve traffic problems is to build subways. East European city officials have decided, though they acknowledge it will take time.

"Subway construction will be the task of several generations," Mikulas Lacey, General Manager of Prague's transport system, said. Budapest's inhabitants know this better than most. The first underground line there was inaugurated in 1895 by Habsburg Emperor Franz Joseph. The second leg was not completed till 1972.

19.5 Miles By 1980 By 1980 the total length of Budapest Metro will be 19.5 miles. Officials estimate the overall costs of the first construction stage at $1.5 billion.

Model for all East European subway building is the Moscow Metro, which carries 4.5 million passengers a day in about 7,500 trains. Moscow subway presently has 89 stations and an overall length 90 miles. Plans call for it to be extended to 200 miles within the next 20 to 25 years.

Prague, where test runs on a first 4.2 miles of subway line started on Jan. 1, will be the third East European capital with a functioning Metro system. Regular operation on the first section of Prague's subway line from the southern suburb of Kacerov to the city center will start on May 9. The full Metro system is scheduled to be completed by 1978.

Soviet Trained Prague's light-grey Metro carriages, which can carry 262 passengers each, are Soviet-built. Soviet technical advisers and equipment are aiding construction, and Czechoslovak Metro engineers were trained in the Soviet Union.

Warsaw started construction of a subway system in the early 1950's. But authorities in the Polish capital abandoned the project with about half a mile of underground tunnel constructed due to high costs and construction difficulties. A virtually complete subway station in the Praga district of Warsaw is used now as food storage depot.

But Warsaw authorities have new subway plans awaiting approval by the Polish government and city authorities say construction could begin next year.

There are provisional plans for subway building in Sofia, Belgrade and Bucharest, too. Engineers say every East European capital will have a subway system within the next 25 years.

A Bomb Expert's Life Has Some Rough Moments

By NAT GIBSON
LONDON (UPI) — A glance at his watch told detective constable Alan Overfield time had run out. The dial said 2:10 p.m. and he shouted for everyone to run.

Overfield's brother police officer Dale Wilkinson paused just long enough to take one final photograph of the car parked outside the Old Bailey courthouse that March 17 a year ago.

As Wilkinson snapped the shutter, the Irish Republican Army (IRA) bomb inside the auto exploded in a sheet of flame. Wilkinson was blown off his feet and landed in a gush of water from a broken main with multiple shrapnel wounds and almost drowned.

Overfield was lucky. Although he was only 20 feet away from the car when it disintegrated, he escaped without a scratch. Wilkinson was one of 212 persons not so lucky; many were injured seriously.

The incident outside Old Bailey was Overfield's first experience with an IRA bomb. It was far from his last.

Brave Handful
As letter bombs, parcel bombs and incendiaries started exploding across London with increasing frequency, Overfield became one of a handful of men called to every one of the more than 2,000 reports of suspicious packages.

It was a job the husky six-footer never expected. His only experience with explosives had been checking the aftermath of safecracking jobs as a detective in the technical investigation section. But when the bombs began exploding, the City of London needed every "bomb expert" it could get. He was picked.

Week in and week out Overfield was on call 24 hours daily for the next wave of bombs. Fear and tension became an integral part of his life. Most of the calls he answered turned out to be hoaxes or false alarms, but more than 100 led to real bombs. Yet he survived—and his wife Brenda never got the news she dreaded each night.

After rushing to 700 such calls in 11 months the 43-year-old policeman began to get tired. When he arrived home Feb. 12, he collapsed with a massive heart attack. It almost accomplished what the IRA had failed to do, but he fought against death and won.

"I don't know whether it was the tension or the bombs that caused the attack," Overfield said as he convalesced at his neat suburban home. "That's something for medical opinion. I was just a plain copper doing my job."

Blessing in Disguise
For Brenda Overfield, his illness may have been a blessing in disguise. As the tempo of London bomb attacks grew, her life had become one of anxious waiting each day. "The only time she really knew I was safe was when she saw me," Overfield said. Now, she and their teen-age son and daughter can look forward to him taking a job away from danger when he returns to duty. His most likely posting will be as liaison man with the police laboratory.

Overfield said he is looking forward to the new work. He admits he has had his fill of explosives, real and imagined.

Some calls proved more scary than dangerous. One day there was a satchel left at a bank. When Overfield gingerly prised it open, he found inside bottles of champagne, wine and chocolates sent to the manager by an appreciative client. Overfield and his fellow officers accepted the offer to share the booty from an equally appreciative banker.

Thirteen Killed
There was nothing funny about the 130 real bombs. Overfield and men like him prevented more than half from exploding, but the ones that did go off killed 13 Britons and injured 370 others. Some lost their eyesight and hearing. Others had their hands blown off. At least 44 victims were children.

Overfield said the 2,000 false alarms caused the police almost as many headaches as the real ones. One of the false alarms gave him what he described as his most terrifying experience. It came when a suspect parcel was reported on a bus sitting in the middle of London's busy financial district.

At the time, the police were contending with occasional bombs from Palestinian extremists as well as the IRA, but Overfield decided to take a chance anyway.

"I was daft enough to break the rules," he said. "I slit the package open with a scalpel and then I saw an inner layer covered in Arabic writing."

"I was praying I'd get off the bus before the thing exploded. And you know what it really was? A package of religious books."

Not long after this episode Overfield suffered his heart attack. A new officer is now doing the job.

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Some of the 10 undercover narcotics officers acquitted on charges of terrorizing 11 persons in drug raids last year claim they were railroaded and maliciously prosecuted by the Justice Department under pressure from Sen. Charles H. Percy.

The jury deliberated 3½ hours Tuesday night before finding the agents innocent of all charges that they violated the civil rights of the persons whose homes were raided without search warrants. There was no testimony during the trial to indicate that any drugs were found during the six raids.

The prosecution charged that agents manhandled some of the residents of the raided homes and threatened some with guns.

As U.S. District Court Judge Omer Poos read the last of the verdicts, the seven federal officers and three St. Louis policemen cheered, shook hands and embraced their families and friends. Some wept.

Percy, an Illinois Republican, conducted Senate hearings in Chicago last spring on the six Illinois raids, taking testimony only from those whose homes were raided.

David Schippers, one of the defense attorneys and a former head of a Justice Department organized crime strike force in Chicago, said Percy "wants to be president of the United States and he doesn't know enough to listen to both sides."

"It was a railroad job by the Justice Department. They were railroaded."

Kenneth R. Bloemker, one of the federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs agents on trial, said, "I think we were indicted maliciously." He also charged that Percy "jumped on the bandwagon because he has some presidential aspirations."

There was no immediate comment from Percy.

Five related charges pending against the agents as a result of the raids are not likely to be prosecuted, a government lawyer said after the verdict.

Those charges included perjury before the grand jury and an attempt to cover up the raids.

In closing arguments, defense attorneys said the decision would signal drug pushers and police how effective narcotics law enforcement will be.

"They are on trial for doing their duty," Schippers said.

Prosecutors countered that the decision will determine whether narcotics agents may bend the Constitution if they think the means of their investigations justify the ends.

Although the agents acknowledged they had no arrest or search warrants, they said they had enough reason to believe illegal drugs were in the homes to enter them to make arrests. The raids climaxed a seven-month probe of St. Louis-area cocaine traffic.

Acquitted with Bloemker were federal narcotics agents Dennis Moriarty, Dennis W. Harker, Michael Hillebrand, Leon Phillips, William C. Dwyer and Calvin Culp and St. Louis policemen Ronald J. Olive, Daniel J. Duffy and Donald W. Spicer.

Pistol Sales Curb Eyed

RALEIGH (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee has turned over to a subcommittee legislation to tighten North Carolina law on pistol sale permits.

Sen. Julian Allsbrook, D-Halifax, chairman of the committee, appointed Sen. Fred Folger, D-Surry, as chairman of the subcommittee. Other members are Sens. William W. Staton, D-Lee, and Eddie Knox, D-Mecklenburg, sponsor of the legislation.

The action came after a public hearing at which target shooters and gun collectors disagreed with law enforcement officers over the legislation.

One of the three measures would make it illegal for a person to sell, give away, purchase or possess certain weapons, including pistols, without first obtaining a license from the sheriff of the county where the person lives. Present law requires a permit from the sheriff in the county where the weapon is sold. Another provision of the proposed law would make possession of such a weapon without a license "prima facie evidence of a violation of the law."

Charles Dunn, director of the state Bureau of Investigation, called the proposed legislation a "step in the right direction."

But, Samuel D. Smith of Hickory, who represented the North Carolina Rifle and Pistol Association, said the bills were a forerunner of a move "to confiscate all weapons not in the hands of law enforcement officers."

Sorority Honors An Adviser To ECU Chapter

Soror Mrs. Willie Mae Gibbs of Greenville was presented an award for outstanding devotion as an undergraduate advisor in helping establish the Theta Alpha Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority at East Carolina University.

The award was made at the 21st Mid-Atlantic Regional Conference of the sorority held in Greensboro on the week-end of March 29-31, with Barbara K. Phillips, Regional Director, presiding.

Among speakers for the occasion were Zelma Watson George, Executive Director of the Cleveland Job Corps for women, Ohio; and Dudley Flood, Assistant N.C. Superintendent of Human Relations.

More than a dozen persons from Greenville attended the regional sorority conference. The 1975 conference will be held in Arlington, Virginia.

Attack Policies Of VA Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four influential voices in veterans affairs say that veterans are getting inadequate benefits because of Donald E. Johnson, head of the Veterans Administration. They demanded his resignation.

The attacks on Johnson came in separate statements by Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Paralyzed Veterans of America.

In response, Johnson issued a statement saying: "I sincerely believe that more has been done for America's veterans in (the five years he has headed VA) than ever before in the history of the Veterans Administration."

Williamston Board Sets Reasons For Dismissal

WILLIAMSTON—Six specific reasons for dismissal from public office have been added to the personnel policy for public employees of the town of Williamston.

This was approved at the April meeting of the Williamston Town Board on Monday, and include reasons such as fraud in securing appointment, conviction of a felony or misdemeanor and falsification of records.

In public hearing in which no opposition was expressed, the board approved rezoning property owned by John S. Whitley on highway N. C. 125 just outside the town limits.

Rezoning is from R-15 residential to unoffensive industry to permit construction of a storage warehouse.

A public hearing for May was set for a rezoning request for construction of a N. C. Crop Inspection Service office on highway 17 by-pass. The Town Planning Board has recommended approval of the request, which involves rezoning from shopping center to a combination of highway commercial and R-15 residential.

Permission was given for the Williamston Jaycees to hold a fund raising carnival rides event in the parking lot of Grant City Shopping Center. The event is scheduled for July 29 to August 3.

Town Administrator John Boykin advised the board that Williamston's workable Plan had been approved by HUD for a two year period. This action extends to April 1, 1976 the current validity of the plan. Two street resolutions were adopted. One is for a 15 mph speed limit for Leggett's Lane; the other, a no-parking ruling for both sides of Harrison Street.

Discussed, but not acted on, was the matter of the town's subdivision ordinances and to come up with a report for possible recommendations to update and clarify the ordinance.

Wilson Dubious About Impeachment Evidence

By CATHY STEELE
Associated Press Writer
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Henry Hall Wilson told students at the University of North Carolina Tuesday that he did not think there was enough evidence against President Nixon to justify a vote for conviction in impeachment proceedings.

The candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate said, "I have been a lawyer too long to make major judgments founded on unproven allegations."

However, he said if he were in the Senate and the allegations were proven, then he would vote for conviction.

One disgruntled student commented, "If he doesn't have enough evidence for impeachment, then I don't have enough evidence to vote for Henry Hall Wilson."

Wilson carried his campaign into eastern North Carolina today, visiting Rocky Mount briefly. He planned to return to Raleigh in the afternoon to catch a plane for Chicago. After a brief speech, Wilson fielded questions on a wide range of topics in an informal outdoor session at Chapel Hill. Students came and went, some eating lunch on the grounds as they listened.

Quizzed repeatedly on ecology topics, Wilson said he opposed the two-year postponement of required air pollution standards. He told the students nuclear power should be developed as an energy source, but that adequate safeguards must be assured.

Speaking later at a news conference at the opening of his Orange County campaign headquarters in Chapel Hill, Wilson said he blames the energy crisis on the administration and the major oil companies. He said he suspects collusion among the oil companies to drive up prices.

He criticized the Nixon administration for failing to end oil import quotas sooner and said he saw a connection between that policy and $5 million in contributions from the oil industry to the Nixon campaign.

Speaking of his own campaign funding, Wilson defended the fact that 80 to 90 per cent of his contributions have been from out of state. He said he felt no need to apologize for receiving money from former colleagues on the Chicago Board of Trade, which he headed for six years.

Wilson said it would speak badly of his years as president of the board if his associates there did not respect him sufficiently to support his political effort.

Wilson said experience on the Board of Trade gave him an understanding of the problems of North Carolina's farmers. He predicted this would give him wide support in rural areas.

Energy Crisis Left An Imprint On American Life

EDITOR'S NOTE: Has the energy crisis left an imprint on American life? Associated Press reporters have talked with government leaders, social scientists and the man on the street to get a preliminary reading on this question. In this first of a series of three articles, the effects on the cities are examined.

By JOSH FITZHUGH
Associated Press Writer
The energy crisis will not save the cities, but it may give them time to save themselves. Pre-existing trends toward inner city living and mass transit may be accelerated, while some movement out of the cities may be slowed. After all, says the head of Philadelphia's planning commission, "the cities are really the best energy savers that man has ever devised." Long-range trends are difficult, if not impossible, to gauge. Officials universally say "it's too early to tell" whether lifestyle changes in the cities caused by the winter energy shortage will last. "Energy will be a new factor in the complicated equation of where people live and work," says Doug Parker, newly appointed energy adviser for the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. The Associated Press surveyed leaders and citizens in several of the country's largest cities to see what changes the energy crisis has brought. Their answers indicate that:

—For the moment the flight from the cities may have stopped. Families and businesses appear more cautious about leaving. Young couples see an added advantage in buying in town.

—Governments are more willing to subsidize mass transit and people appear more willing to ride it. "We know we've never had so much love and affection," says Wichita's transit director Paul McGinnis.

—Development along the cities' fringes, and within downtown, may increase. Brokers point to the fuel-saving benefits of attached row houses.

Most important, those who love the cities, or are committed to them, feel the energy crisis provides a new psychological weapon to combat the fear of racial distrust and urban crime.

"I think there's been something in the nature of an awakening that things can't go on the way they were," says Donald Moore, president of the Downtown Brooklyn Development Association. "Everything at least psychologically is flowing in our direction."

To Susan Keller, urban sociologist at Princeton University, it's a question whether "the fantasy of open space and the open road or the fantasy of the rich city predominates. Confined to the city, persons looked to restaurants, theaters and museums for entertainment. Some rediscovered neighborhood parks—or neighbors. Says Richard Barr of the League of New York Theaters: "God knows we're not encouraging the energy crisis, but it's given a lot of people a chance to find out that New York is not quite the jungle it is supposed to be."

As gasoline dwindled this winter, mass transit ridership increased between 5 and 10 percent in some cities. Transit authorities added bus lines and special lanes for car pools and urged businesses to stagger working hours to alleviate bunching. Ridership in Honolulu was so heavy officials feared the congestion would drive passengers away once the gasoline crunch eased.

In Los Angeles traffic on the fabled freeways dropped as much as 33 per cent, with accidents off sharply. Downtown parking fell 20 to 45 per cent. The city's traffic engineer, S.S. Taylor, bought his first bicycle to see what problems confronted the two-wheelers.

"I was thinking of getting a foreign car, a small one," said Boston cab driver Ken McCarthy. "But now I'll get a bicycle if anything. I'm serious."

Perhaps to aid the shift, Boston increased its parking meter fees fivefold.

"People may travel to and from work in a different way to have enough money and fuel to move about more freely during nonworking hours," says David Grayson of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Confined to the city, persons looked to restaurants, theaters and museums for entertainment. Some rediscovered neighborhood parks—or neighbors. Says Richard Barr of the League of New York Theaters: "God knows we're not encouraging the energy crisis, but it's given a lot of people a chance to find out that New York is not quite the jungle it is supposed to be."

So far planners detect some increased interest in the downtown areas. Builders are looking more closely at housing in downtown Detroit. Demand is up in central Los Angeles.

"I hear a lot of talk about people moving back downtown because of the energy crisis," says Tom Puett, president of an Atlanta development company. "The real estate appraisers that used to look at our neighborhood with a good bit of skepticism are now very optimistic about it."

"I can't tell you that everybody in the suburbs is going to move downtown, but the appraisers' attitude is a good sign."

Calvin Hamilton, director of Los Angeles city planning, feels fuel prices are bound to spur the re-use of the city's tremendous investment in sewers, schools, parks and streets.

"People may want to stay in and rebuild the house they have," he says.

"Anytime the decision to leave is put off, it's got to be a help," says Richard Seeler, a corporate real estate broker in New York. The energy crisis has made businesses "stop and think" about leaving for suburban locations, he says.

But the crisis has hurt cities, too. Utilities' conversion to coal in some Eastern cities threatens environmental gains and pollution cutbacks resulting from fewer cars. Higher electric bills are giving nightmares to owners of some all-electric homes. Apartment owners squawk about not being able to pass along fuel surcharges to rent-controlled tenants. And residents with air conditioners prefer not to think about this summer's bills.

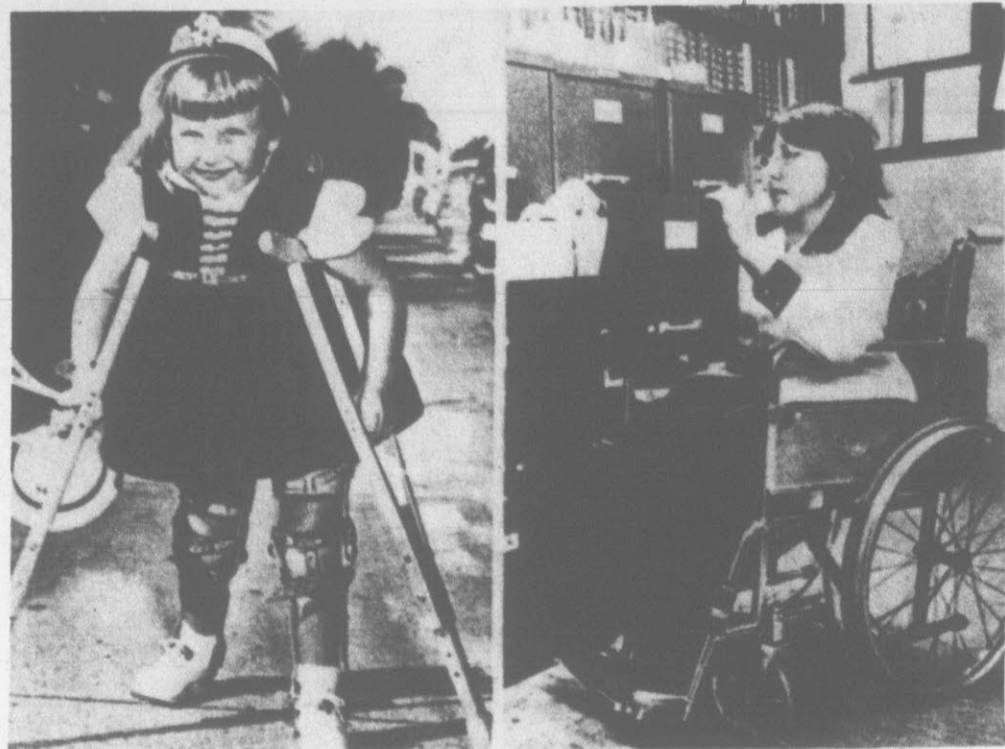

"The crisis wasn't as bad as we anticipated, but there's a definite tightening up feeling," says Michael Ehrmann, who lives with his wife and child on Manhattan's upper West Side. "The boom is off; the illusions of the last 10 years are gone."

"Still more than gas, and somewhat more than rent, food is the biggest factor. We're making more but we have the overwhelming feeling that we're going substantially backward."

Life Is Rough As Adult For An Ex-Poster Child

EASTER SEAL STAR STRUGGLES—Eighteen years after posing as the 1956 Easter Seal poster child, Clara Jo Proudfoot, of Miami, has found the competitive field of employment tough and sometimes bitter experience. (AP Wirephoto)

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Clara Jo Proudfoot says life has taught her that a 4-year-old girl on pink crutches is cute but a 22-year-old woman in a wheelchair is sometimes unwanted. In 1956, she charmed millions as the national Easter Seal poster child. Born in 1952 with half a spine, she spent 1956 making public appearances. She even had her picture taken with the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Now she is a handicapped Miami woman competing for employment, and she says she has sometimes found it a bitter experience.

Miss Proudfoot graduated from a Miami high school in 1970 and was trained as a key-punch operator by the Florida Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

After six months of searching, she was hired as a secretary by a Miami firm. She says she worked a 40-hour week but was classified as a part-time employee.

"They didn't want to put me on their hospital insurance plan," Miss Proudfoot said in a recent interview. As a result, she was uninsured when she needed an operation for ulcers on her feet. She quit the job.

She found and then was fired from another job because coworkers complained of the smell from the urine collection bag she must wear.

Seven months ago, a friend recommended her to William Smith, president of Florida Filters Inc., which needed a secretary. Smith hired her and says she will get the same chance as any other new employee.

"She's an outgoing, diligent, reliable worker," Smith says. "She has a lot of things going for her and we feel she's growing in independence. We are determined that the girl will paddle her own canoe."

Smith says "do-gooders" often keep handicapped people from achieving independence. Referring to himself as "a lousy do-gooder," he says he told Miss Proudfoot that "nobody dispenses anything for free."

Smith says, "Those people who do things they call charity expect some direct things in return — if nothing but a constant return of appreciation."

Gerald Ford To Launch Season

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford will throw out the first ball to mark the opening of the major league baseball season when the Cincinnati Reds meet the Atlanta Braves Thursday.

President Nixon had been invited some time ago, but on Tuesday a White House spokesman said it was unlikely he would be able to make it. Then the Reds announced they had received word that Ford would be on hand.

N.C. Boy Wins Regional Prize

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ron Wilkins of Winston-Salem, N.C., received a $500 scholarship Tuesday as a regional winner in the national Boy of the Year contest of the Boys' Club of America.

The national winner, George Clark, 17, of Philadelphia, who got a $4,000 scholarship, and the nine regional runners-up received their checks from President Nixon in his Oval office.

The Flooding Of Buffalo Creek Is Never Forgotten

EDITOR'S NOTE — Two years ago, three coal waste dams belonging to the Pittston Co. collapsed, flooding Buffalo Creek, causing more than $50 million in damages and taking 125 lives. The flood couldn't happen again, the company says, but some residents still cry every time it rains.

By STRAT DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer
LORADO, W.Va. (AP) — Buffalo Creek is a shallow, fast-flowing stream that is born of the wedding of two runoff rivulets far up in the hills of Logan County.

It spills northward out of a narrow hollow, makes a hard turn to the west and then, like a long, twisted wire, zigzags more than 17 miles down through a winding valley before plunging into the Guyandotte River at Man.

At its origin, Buffalo Creek is a narrow ditch of clear water. By the time it loses its identity in the murky Guyandotte, it has grown into a stream 20 feet across and six feet deep.

The valley held together by this long, silver zipper has a level bottom not much wider than a football field. It is dotted with hundreds of homes, most of them congregated in 16 coal camps strung out along the length of the creek.

Many of the dwellings are shiny-new mobile homes and prefabricated metal houses. Driving up the valley, one gets the impression of having stumbled on the world's longest trailer court.

Nowhere is the aura of mobility more prevalent than at Lorado. It consists of a pocket, narrow asphalt road bordered on one side by a grassy field, on the other by a line of closely placed mobile homes.

Lorado is just two miles downstream from giant slag dams that collapsed in 1972, causing a tragic flood that killed 125 people, swept away 500 homes and destroyed $50 million worth of property.

On a warm, sunny afternoon the sky is a deep, friendly blue. Ailene Peters is out in front of her trailer home with her 3-year-old daughter, Kimberly. The child is attempting to ride a bicycle through the rough rock patch of a yard while her mother, her blonde hair in rollers, watches with a bemused expression.

"We can't finish putting dirt on the yard until they put in the sewer," she said. "They said it won't be long now."

Mrs. Peters and her husband, Larry were the second couple to return to Lorado after the Flood — a word residents in the valley use with a definite Biblical flavor. Everything around here is either "before the Flood" or "after the Flood."

"At first, we thought we'd never come back," Mrs. Peters was saying, "but after we talked around for a while we decided to. We were so dissatisfied down there in that HUD trailer camp. We didn't know anyone . . ."

HUD is the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, which has overseen much of the recovery work.

"We came back that first May," she said. "Now, I guess, there's 300 families that have come back up here. The coal company has paid off practically everybody around here for their homes. We used the money we got for a down-payment on the trailer."

Larry Peters works for Buffalo Mining Co., a subsidiary of the Pittston Co., a New York-headquartered conglomerate.

On that rainy morning of

Feb. 26, 1972, Peters and the other miners he rode with came tearing down the valley, honking and screaming and blinking their lights.

"They were hollering that the dam had busted," Mrs. Peters recalled. "I grabbed the baby and we drove off in our car. You could look back and see the water."

Two months after the flood, Larry went back to work in the mines, glad to have his job back. But even though the coal company provides money for her family's daily bread, Mrs. Peters "ain't afraid to say what I think."

What she thinks is that some of her neighbors are afraid. "The biggest part of the people that has come back has put it behind them, but some of them, that's all they ever talk about, yet," she said.

The ones who can't forget often do their talking to Dr. June S. Church, a friendly man with rosy cheeks and slicked-down black hair. He runs the Mingo-Logan Area Mental Health offices.

Hostility against the coal company still runs high, the psychologist said. He feels the post-flood period would have been less traumatic had HUD — which established trailer camps for survivors — been more sensitive in providing housing for the 4,000 refugees created by the dark wall of water that gouged through the valley.

"They were placed on a first-come, first-served basis that did not take into account the psychological impact. Instead of haphazardly placing these people, had HUD placed them with neighbors and friends, they could have ventilated their fears, talked them out."

When the three slag dams broke, millions of gallons of water and tons of jagged debris filled the valley. Today, the debris — except for an occasional abandoned house or dislocated bridge superstructure — has been cleared away by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The state is building a road through the valley and HUD is putting in a sewage and water system.

HUD also is administering the emergency housing phase of the recovery program. But the field office was pulled out of the valley last month and the staff has been cut in half.

The Pittston Co. has spent $682,000 so the 1972 flood can't happen today. A closed-circuit water cleaning system has been installed to recycle water used in coal mining. Before the flood, millions of gallons of water were discarded and stored behind huge slag dams.

E.J. Wood of Logan, consultant for Buffalo Mining Co., said the recycling system requires only 475,000 gallons plus 180,000 gallons held in reserve in a shallow reservoir. An aerial photo shows the reservoir to be about the size of a small duck pond.

Absolutely no water is released now, Wood said, "as compared with the 500 gallons a minute that were pumped into the dams prior to the flood."

Coal waste taken from the recycling system is being used to fill in the area where the dams once were, he said.

Wood was a member of the group of West Virginians that originally formed the Buffalo Mining Co. Pittston acquired the property in 1970.

Since the Buffalo Creek flood, several coal companies have installed water-recycling systems in West Virginia.

Investigating bodies, empaneled after the flood, concluded that Buffalo Creek would not have happened had the state, the federal government and Pittston fulfilled their responsibilities.

A Buffalo Mining Co. official described the flood as "an act of God." But hardly anyone buys that theory. "It took almost two months after the flood before my husband could go back to work in the mine," said Mrs. Peters. She shaded her eyes from the bright January sun and looked across the road to the grassy lot where the boys were chasing the football.

"It feels like home," she said, "but it sure don't look like it."

ECU Black Arts Festival Opened

The Black Arts Festival of East Carolina University for 1974, taking place today and tomorrow on campus at ECU, opened this morning with a lecture by sculptor-teacher William E. Artis, a Washington, N. C. native now on the faculty of Mankato State College in Minnesota. Artis gave a workshop demonstration at the Sculpture Studio at two this afternoon.

Rounding off today's festival events will be a poetry reading by China Clark tonight at 8:30 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium.

Three Black Arts Festival events are scheduled for tomorrow, leading off at 11:00 a.m. with a lecture by Dr.

Regina A. Perry of the Virginia Commonwealth University in Room C-103, Brewster Building. Dr. Perry's subject will be "African Influence in Afro-American Art." At 2:00 p.m. in Room 103 of the Biology Building, Dr. Perry will lecture on "African Art: Comparative Perspectives."

Thursday's schedule will conclude at 8:30 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium when Ed Mullins, Negro playwright, poet and novelist will lecture on "The Contemporary Black Theater."

Following the two day session of the festival, other events are scheduled for later April dates, including a gospel sing at 3:00 p.m. Sunday in Wright Auditorium, and events are set for April 9, 18, 20, 24, 27 and 28. Details on these will be published at a later date.

There is no admission charge for any of the events noted, and the public is invited to attend.

Space Cameras Turned Off

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists have turned off the cameras aboard Mariner 10 ahead of schedule, saying they had enough photographs of the planet Mercury.

Mariner was to click off pictures of Mercury until April 11. Now more than a million miles away from the distant planet, the spacecraft may get a second shot at Mercury in September after a journey around the sun.

Educators To Meeting

Four local educators will be attending the 1974 National Personnel and Guidance Conference to be held April 8-11 in New Orleans.

Mrs. Ann Harrison, Miss Ann Bennett and Mrs. Barbara Walters, all of the Greenville City Schools, and Dr. Robert Tacker, an associate professor in Education-Psychology, East Carolina University, is the quartet of educators scheduled to attend the conference. This year's theme is "Beyond Identity: Initiative and Integrity."

The Greenville schools "Operation Reach Out" program, headed by Mrs. Harrison, is a Title III funded project which is currently servicing the needs of 183 students through two divisions of the program—P-VAC and the Learning Center.

Keynote speaker at the opening session Monday of the four day conference will be Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, U. S. Navy. The conference will feature five special workshops, a series of exhibits and a number of well known speakers, including Robert Carkhuff, a specialist on human and community resource development.

Talks Involvement In Foreign Affairs

Twenty members of the Seira Book Club gathered at the home of Mrs. Leo Jenkins Tuesday afternoon for a meeting which featured East Carolina University's involvement in international affairs.

Gen. John Lang, ECU Vice Chancellor for External Affairs, discussed the primary ways in which ECU promotes interest in international activities.

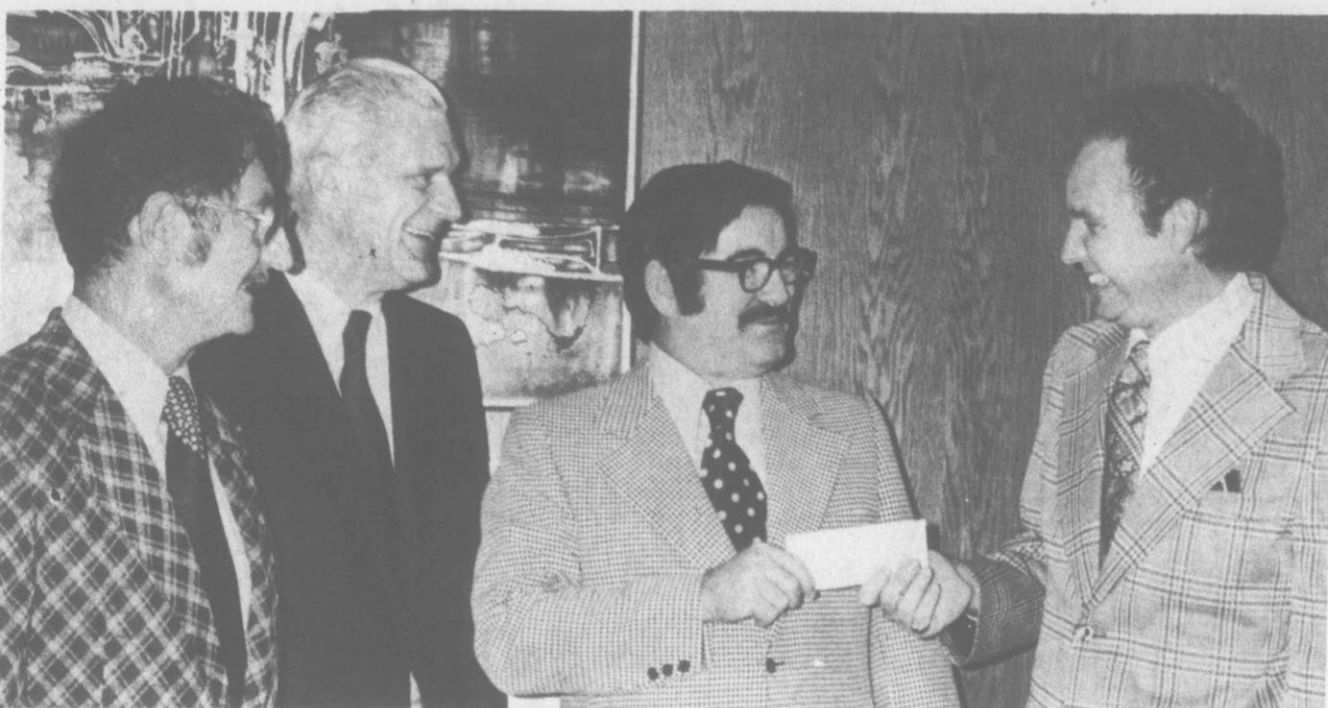

He cited social interaction between the Greenville community and the 55 foreign nationals among ECU's students and faculty members, plans to establish an International Student Center in the building now occupied by the Regional Development Institute, involvement of 100 students who spent their sophomore year at one of the three overseas study centers maintained by ECU in Germany, Italy and Japan, and the annual campus international studies symposia.

Lang urged the members present to avail themselves of the "cultural and educational resource" of ECU's foreign students and professors, by arranging social and civic events featuring one or more of them.

Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. Robert Dickson and Mrs. Al Yongue. Presiding officer was Gretchen Goodwin. The meeting concluded with a dessert course served by the hostess.

Launch Autistic Children's Foundation

THE INITIAL DONATION... to the new N. C. Autistic Children's Foundation is made by Wilber Hardee (second from right). Accepting the check is Foundation President Mike Karachun. With them are Dr.

Local businessman Wilber Hardee has presented a check for $1,000 to the N. C. Autistic Children's Foundation for use in establishing a camp facility.

Family Favorites Inc., a restaurant, is the Foundation's first donor, according to the Foundation president, Mike Karachun. Karachun said Hardee has pledged to give the Foundation $100 a month, in addition to the initial donation. The recently chartered Foundation works on behalf of children who are affected by the difficult-to-define condition known as autism which is often marked by withdrawn behavior and speech difficulties. It is now seeking land in this area on which to place a camp for the children of Eastern North Carolina.

Attended Recent Energy Seminar

W. F. Weston, superintendent of the Gas Department, and George Reel, customer service representative of Greenville Utilities Commission, attended an Energy Conservation-Public Education Seminar recently in Raleigh.

During the session, participants discussed better ways to communicate to the public ideas on energy conservation and savings in the home.

The seminar was sponsored by the Southeastern Gas Association in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education at North Carolina State University.

Says Price Can Increase Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edwin Hardy, gas supply manager of the American Gas Association, says that doubling the price of new natural gas could double the rate of developing new gas supplies.

He said the association's economic analysis indicates that known gas reserves could be growing at a rate of 22 to 25 trillion cubic feet per year by 1985, compared to 10 trillion a year now.

VETOES PROHIBITION NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Gov. Winfield Dunn has vetoed a bill that would have prohibited male and female college students from living together. He said it was unfair to reason that only students are promiscuous.

Fun City's Betting Business Studies Expansion

EDITOR'S NOTE — In New York City, OTB is a household acronym. Off-Track Betting is called — an incorporated network of legal horse parlors. Now OTB wants to expand into other sports and numbers betting. The big question: Will it take money out of the pockets of organized crime or put it in?

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Like a hot three-year-old, which will be its age in April, this city's Off-Track Betting Corp. has its eye on bigger stakes.

By the end of the current fiscal year the corporation will have contributed about $117 million to the city and state, not to mention $46 million to the horseracing industry. Its weekly take is running higher than its own backers predicted when it started operation April 8, 1971.

But at least one studied opinion contends that OTB's city-wide network of 123 horse parlors has also contributed to the town's delinquency. Nonetheless, OTB wants to get a piece of the action in numbers and sports betting, too.

Not only would such expansion be enormously profitable, in the view of OTB's first president and guiding light, Howard Samuels, it would also "strike a deadly blow against organized crime."

"We will do in five years to organized crime what the repeal of Prohibition did to the bootlegger," Samuels maintains.

Others say Howie's on the wrong horse.

"A climate has been created to gamble," said Chief Paul F. Delise of the Public Morals Division's Organized Crime Control Bureau — before he was, apparently, instructed to say no more. "Because it now is possible to bet legally on horses, thousands of people who never in the world would have thought of betting on football or basketball or baseball are now betting with the bookies."

Does legalized gambling do more harm than good?

In New York, the answer is elusive, all the more so because those with the best information regard the question as "politically sensitive." It cannot be overlooked that Howard Samuels — "Howie the Horse" as the betting crowd calls him affectionately — has left OTB to become a candidate for governor.

Chief Delise made his statement in an interview with the New York Times last January after giving the paper a report which claimed illegal betting was up 62 per cent since the advent of OTB. Ask the bureau about the status of the report today and one is given a formal statement by Delise's boss, Inspector William G. Rockwell: "The (Delise) study, completed over one year ago, determined that the statistical documentation available was not sufficient to make definite conclusions. Present data available cannot provide a definite answer to this politically sensitive question.

"It would be inappropriate to release information based on generalizations unsupported by hard data or department policy."

There can be little doubt that OTB — the only legal off-track betting operation in the country — has cut deeply into the illegal bookie's horse betting business; as much as half, according to some estimates. In fact, bookies find OTB parlors handy places to "lay off" — re-bet heavy wagers laid on longshots so a win won't wipe them out. They used to have to go all the way out to the track.

Not long ago city detectives, monitoring a legal wiretap, heard this conversation between a guy and a gal, as

Damon Runyon would have called them, the gal having just got a tip on a horse:

Guy: "I think I'll put down a bet myself if it's that good."

Gal: "Where you going to take it? To Johnny?"

Guy: "Naw. He won't give me the full odds. I'll go to OTB."

Gal: "You mean you go there?"

District Atty. William Kahn of Nassau County, just outside the city limits on Long Island, said his own legal wiretaps had disclosed that bookies were turning down horse bets of less than $100. The army of small fry who used to keep the neighborhood bookie in business are being told, "go to OTB."

A year ago, OTB authorities discovered what one described as apparently "a major operation by organized crime designed to infiltrate OTB activities." They called the cops, who arrested nine alleged members of a bookmaking syndicate. Said Samuels at the time:

"They have been approaching our customers in our offices and telling them they don't have to wait in line to bet with them, and offering quicker service in placing and collecting wagers.

"They have also taken bets from them on football, basketball and hockey — sports action which we are not permitted to handle. They have also offered credit."

Police statistics indicate that even before OTB's arrival, horserace bets amounted to only about 10 per cent of a bookie's action, anyhow, because of an inordinate rise in recent years in the popularity of betting on sports events.

That's why OTB wants to get in on it, as well as the numbers game — a daily pastime which the Quayle study estimates handles $580 million a year for an annual profit of $58 million. A tidy sum: the entire U.S. airlines business makes less.

"I believe that if we legalize sports and numbers betting, which is organized crime's chief source of illegal income, we would deal a serious blow to organized crime," says Samuels.

"I'm totally committed," he has said, "to government being in on all gambling — first the numbers, then sports betting, experimentally. We'll have to learn how to do it because it's so complex. If we were in all three — horse, numbers, other sports — the city taxpayers would pick up a quarter of a billion dollars a year."

Hotel Is On Borderline

LA CURE, Switzerland (AP) — The man without a country would have been dismayed to learn about the abundance of the Hotel "Franco-Suisse." The establishment, located in this small village of La Cure, has two nationalities.

The schizophrenic hotel is situated right on the border between Switzerland and France, making it the only known place a person can cross this international boundary without a passport.

The dividing line cuts across the middle of the hotel and through many bedrooms, even the double-bed in the honeymoon suite. If a husband and wife should quarrel, they can retreat to different countries merely by moving to opposite sides of the bed. And if they want to make up they will have to lean across the border to kiss.

The border also runs right through the reception desk. A guest often has one foot in France and the other in Switzerland. Climbing up the stairs to his room, the guest goes from Switzerland to France. Halfway up the stairs, he is in Switzerland again. Then, it depends on the room number whether the frontier must be crossed once more.

The hotel has a dual phone system, one provided by the Swiss, the other by the French. The cost of a call depends on which phone is used. What happens if a guest begins to leave without paying his bill? Call the police, of course. But which one depends on whether he left by the front or back door.

NEW YORK (AP) — A mild technical rally carried stock market prices upward today in continued light trading.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.05 at 849.66, and gainers led losers by a slim margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the upswing appeared to represent scattered bargain hunting in the wake of the market's broad declines recently. They noted there was little conviction behind the rise.

Uniroyal, unchanged at 9 1/4, was the Big Board's most-active stock.

Western Union was off 1 at 11 1/2. Late Tuesday the company said Moody's Investors Service had withdrawn its rating for Western Union's commercial paper.

United Nuclear was down 3/4 at 12 1/2 amid news of a planned secondary offering.

Caterpillar Tractor slumped 1 to 56 1/2. The Wall Street Journal cited rising expectations that the company would report lower first-quarter earnings.

Merck improved 1 1/2 to 81 3/4. A major investment advisory service changed its recommendation on the stock this week from "hold" to "buy."

At the American Stock Exchange, Simplex Wire & Cable rose 1/4 to 23 1/4 at the top of the active list.

The Amex's 11 a.m. market-value index was up .06 at 96.38. The NYSE composite, meanwhile, rose 13 to 49.94.

Evacuating Big Liner At Sea

ABOARD THE SEA VENTURE (AP) — The Norwegian cruise ship Sea Venture began evacuating the 1,642 passengers of the crippled luxury liner Queen Elizabeth 2 today.

The Sea Venture joined the QE2 about 3:15 a.m., and the transfer began shortly after daybreak. Passengers walked down a gangway from a lower deck to waiting lifeboats and motor launches to make the crossing of about 300 yards to the Norwegian ship.

The first QE2 passengers to walk up the gangway of the Sea Venture were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bray, of Stonington, Conn. They appeared to be in fine spirits.

"They treated us very well," Bray said of the QE2 staff. Then he added, "There was plenty of scotch and bourbon."

The Sea Venture also brought six repairmen and 20 cases of canned food for the QE2's crew, which is remaining aboard the ship. The liner's refrigeration system was reported inoperative.

The sea was calm, with a gentle swell, as the lifeboats made their way between the two liners. The weather was clear and the temperature was in the 70s.

The midocean transfer was expected to take several hours, and the Sea Venture's captain said he expected to arrive in Bermuda with the QE2's passengers at daybreak Thursday.

The two ships were 250 miles south-southwest of Bermuda, at 29-43 north latitude, 67-32 west longitude.

Wilson Assails Morgan On Allotments Transfer

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — U.S. Senate candidate Henry Hall Wilson attacked opponent Robert Morgan's proposal to transfer authority for tobacco acreage allotments from the Secretary of Agriculture to Congress.

Wilson, speaking at a news conference here today, said the proposal indicates Morgan's lack of understanding of tobacco history.

"Obviously he does not know that tobacco producers won a mighty battle in the 1930s to get this authority out of the Congress and into the secretary's department, because there were too few members of Congress who had first hand knowledge of tobacco problems."

"Such a move would be disastrous for the entire economy of this state," he said.

Wilson faces Morgan and eight other candidates in the Democratic senatorial primary.

After campaigning Tuesday in Chapel Hill, Wilson flew here this morning for a news conference and appearances in this eastern North Carolina city.

During the news conference, he promised that as a Senator, he would introduce a bill to prohibit the government from abolishing tobacco acreage allotments without the approval of growers.

In Chapel Hill, Wilson told students at the University of North Carolina that there was not enough evidence to convict President Nixon in an impeachment trial.

"I have been a lawyer too long to make major adjustments founded on unproven allegations," he said.

pay the Powell brothers $4,726.45, but not an additional $1,213 the Powells say the Town owes. Commissioner Sarah Albritton said, "We will not be forced into paying what we do not feel we owe, but we hope the Powells will accept the amount we know we do legitimately owe them for street work in Claremont."

Farmville Central teacher Thomas Liverman was told by the Commissioners that hiring in the recreation Department is up to the Town Administrator and the Department head. He was told by the Administrator that he would not be rehired for work at H. B. Sugg School. Liverman, who is Black, said he believes that the cause is racial discrimination, but Martin said this is not the case—that a black man is being considered to take his place. He said the cause is Liverman's fault-finding last year and so far this year about his salary. Job descriptions have changed since Liverman's first years of working with the Recreation Department because the Department now has a full-time director, he said. Liverman was paid $75 a week last year for directing the Sugg program, whereas he had been paid $100 the previous year. "We know this is not pay that a teacher is used to, but it's all we can afford for our summer program," Martin said.

Liverman said he will contact the Equal Employment Opportunity office in Washington about the matter.

Set Gospel Music Event

The East Carolina University Music Festival on Sunday at 3:00 p.m. in Wright Auditorium. The festival, which is being held in conjunction with the Black Arts Festival will feature five outstanding area musical groups. The groups include the Wilson Ensemble of Ayden, the Grifton Young People's Chorus of Grifton, the Warren Chapel Gospel Chorus of Farmville, the Voices of Zion of Greenville, and the Revelation Gospel Singers of Goldsboro.

The festival will be a study into the soul of Black church music. The program will include a wide range of selections ranging from the traditional Negro Spirituals to the rock gospel-type popularized by the Edwin Hawkins Singers.

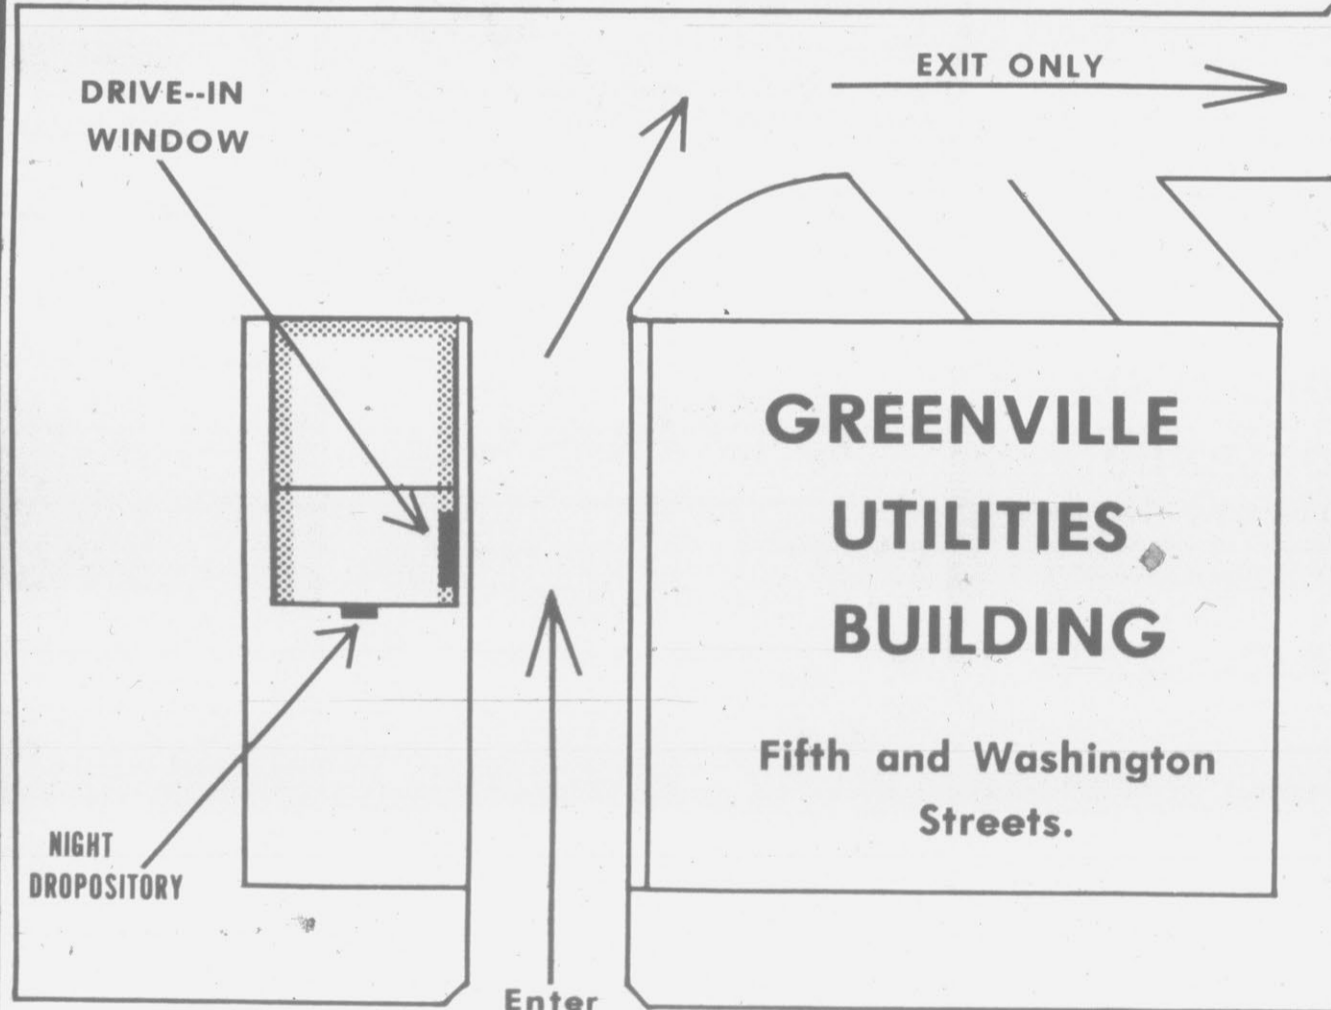

The program is open to the public and there is no admission. Citizens of Greenville and the surrounding areas are urged to attend this festival.

Errors Aid State To 8-2 Win Over Bucs

First Injury Mars Practice

Through the eyes of head coach Pat Dye, Tuesday began to be a good practice day. But then two things marred the practice period.

"We seemed to get tired at the end of practice and that can't happen. You have to work and play as hard at the end when you're tired as you do throughout the game," Dye said.

The most damaging event was the first spring injury which sidelined senior linebacker Nelson Strother for the remainder of spring drills. Strother dislocated an ankle and was operated on Tuesday night. Dye said, "Nelson has been having an outstanding spring and this injury is unfortunate, not just for him, but for the entire team because he was proving to be a very important member."

The Pirates will not drill Wednesday, but will be back at full speed action Thursday. "We are just going to rest up a little today, then be back strong the rest of the week with a game-type scrimmage Saturday. Most of the rest of the week will be dedicated to team-type work which requires full speed, especially on offense so we can get our timing down.

"We will try to finish up the kicking game this week as well as install the remainder of the offense. In five days of work, I think we have made good progress. I am quite pleased with the work accomplished to date. Now, repetition on the field is the only way to get better," Dye said.

Dye, his players and coaching staff, have planned a "Parents and Kids' Day" for Saturday, April 20, beginning at 2 p.m. "We would like to invite the young people and their parents from not only Greenville, but all of Pitt County and Eastern North Carolina to visit our football team. All players and coaches will be present for autographs, picture and some playing tips. Then, about 3 p.m., we will scrimmage for our fans."

More details will be announced at a later date.

Jaguars Claw Southern Nash

FARMVILLE—Farmville Central held onto its share of the Eastern Carolina Conference lead with an 11-2 romp over Southern Nash yesterday. The Jaguars spotted Southern a run in the first inning, then roared back in the bottom of the frame to score three and take the lead for good.

Southern got the first score in their half of the first. Fassnacht led off with a double and came around when Hicks followed with another two-bagger.

But the Jaguars choked off the rally there, and came back with three of their own. Jeff Cobb led off with a walk and stole second. Ed Wells singled him in and stole both second and third, scoring on Tommy Cobb's sacrifice fly.

Bobby Wooten got it going again with a walk, and he stole both second and third, scoring on a wild pitch for a 3-1 lead.

Southern closed the gap with one in the top of the third, but that cost them even more as Farmville Central rallied for six in the bottom of the frame.

Wells led off again with a single and stole second. Cobb singled to score him. Barry Johnson drove in Cobb with a single and Wooten walked, stealing second. Tommy Oakley's hit drove in both runners, and Mike Jenkins came in to run for Oakley. He stole both second and third and scored on Eddie Horne's infield out.

Gary Cowan walked, stole both second and third and scored when Marty Hobgood reached on an error.

Farmville Central picked up one each in the fourth and fifth to close out the scoring.

After a scoreless first inning, Robersonville pushed over five big runs in the second. Knox led off with a double and scored when Farmer rapped a two-bagger. Dan Thompson came on to run for him, and moved up when Hardison singled. Warren reached on an error, scoring Thompson, and both Hardison and Warren stole up, scoring with Matt Wilson doubled.

Wilson stole third and scored when the attempt to get him was thrown away.

In the third, the Eagles got another run. Larry Jackson reached on an error and stole up. Knox singled, and Farmer reached on an error, scoring Jackson.

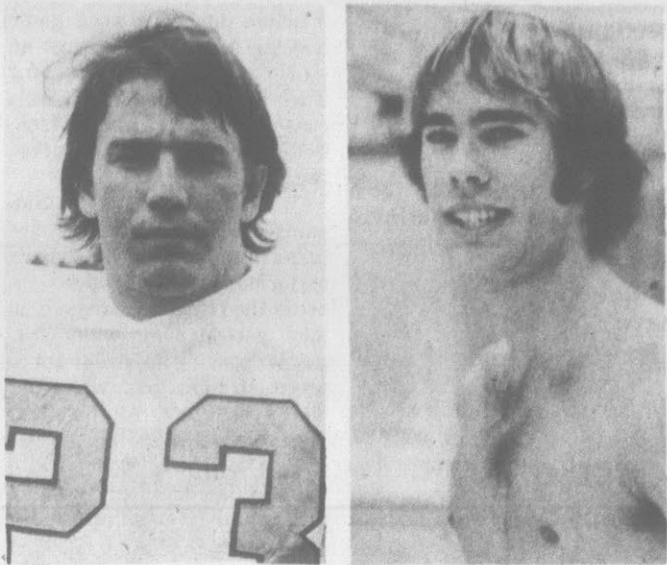

The sixth, the Eagles scored again. Farmer singled and Mark Vaughan came in to run for him. Hardison reached on an error and both moved up on a passed ball. Vaughan scored on Wilson's fielder's choice.

Both of the Edgecombe runs came in the seventh. Keith Walker walked and Kay Bullock was hit by a pitch. Both stole up and Bill Weaver scored Walker when he reached on an error. Another error on the play let Bullock score.

Robersonville, 3-2 overall, will travel to Elm City on Friday.

Bolding was a defensive safety on last year's football team, and among the leaders in the nation in interceptions. Morrow, a diver on the Buc swimming team, went to the national finals three straight years. They were named on the basis of their leadership, service, scholarship and outstanding athletic accomplishment.

Robersonville Gains 3rd Win

ROBERSONVILLE—The Golden Eagles of Robersonville High School powered their way into a 7-2 victory over West Edgecombe, building their Eastern Plains Conference record to 3-0.

The Eagles are leading the Northern Division of the league, composed of the three Edgecombe schools and Elm City with their unblemished record.

Doyle Farmer, who led the Robersonville pitching staff last year, saw his first action of the year yesterday, hurling the third straight one-hitter for the Eagles this season, each by a different pitcher.

He struck out eight and walked one.

The Eagles were led at the plate by Kim Knox, Farmer, Jeff Warren and Victor Hardison, each with two hits.

Ayden Jr. High Wins

BETHEL—Ayden Junior High School gained a 14-4 victory over Bethel Junior High yesterday.

It was the opening game of the year for both teams.

Alan Hill tossed a one-hitter at Bethel for Ayden. He struck out 14 and walked 10. Lilley took the loss.

Harold Edwards and Paul Settleff led the Ayden hitting with two each.

N. C. State University took advantage of four East Carolina errors yesterday to push over six unearned runs, gaining an 8-2 win over the Bucs.

The loss snapped a seven game winning streak by the Pirates, who fell off to 9-5 with the defeat. For the Wolfpack, recently ranked sixth in the nation, it was their 11th victory against four losses.

Only two of the N. C. State runs were earned, the first two. One of those came in the second inning, and the second was the first of five in the third inning.

All five of those in that frame came without benefit of a hit.

State then added two more unearned runs in the seventh inning to complete their scoring.

East Carolina scored on a home run by Mike Hogan in the fourth, then got their other run in the eighth, with Hogan driving in that run too.

East Carolina outlast State, 8-7.

but couldn't get the breaks that the Wolfpack managed. Several times, the 'Pack came up with outstanding fielding plays, including two doubleheaders to keep the Pirates from getting anything going.

Locke Conrad, a Kinston native, got the victory, going the distance. He walked four and struck out one.

Steve Herring started for the Bucs and in just over two innings, allowed three hits, three walks and he fanned four. He was charged with the loss. Joe Heavner tossed five innings in relief, allowing four hits, and five runs, all of them unearned.

He walked three and struck out four. Terry Durham, making his first appearance for the Bucs this year, worked two hitless innings, striking out one as he kept State off the bases.

The Pack threatened in the first inning. Kent Juday walked and Ron Evans followed with a single, but Herring got the side out without further damage.

In the second, however, State pushed over its first run. With one down, Rick Reister slammed a triple off the fence in right center. Buc rightfielder Bobby Harrison, in fielding the ball, hit the fence and lost his footing. By the time he had recovered and made the throw, Reister was legging in toward third, beating the throw for a triple.

Herring struck out the next batter, but Jerry Mills, who had three hits and as many rbis during the day, singled Reiser in for the 1-0 lead.

Then, in the third, State came up with five big runs that put it out of reach. Juday and Evans both walked, and that brought on Heavner. He loosed a wild pitch to advance the runners, but fanned the batter. Don Demay was then intentionally walked to set up a force at any base, but Dick Chappel's infield grounder was errored, allowing both Juday and Evans to score.

Reister grounded back to the mound, but Heavner's throw to second was high, scoring Demay. Billy Port's infield grounder was played to the plate, but too late, letting Chappel score. Reister came over with the sixth run for the Pack on Mills' infield out.

East Carolina's initial threat, in the bottom of the frame, failed when a double play erased them. Ron Leggett and Rick McMahon had both walked prior to the twin killing.

In the fourth, the Bucs did get on the board, however. That came when Hogan smashed the ball out in right over the 325-foot mark. Carl Summerell and Johnny Narron came back with singles, but State snuffed out the rally at that point.

State got off another threat in the fifth as Demay walked, took second on an error and went to third on a fielder's choice, but died there. In the sixth, Juday was hit by a pitch and Evans walked, but the Pack got nothing from it.

Then, in the seventh, they scored twice more. With one error and Reister singled. With two down, Mills singled in Chappel, and Duncan Charlton followed with another hit, scoring Reister.

The Bucs got their second run in the eighth. With one away, Ron Staggs doubled to center. Hogan followed with a hit into right, scoring Staggs, but that was to be it for the Pirates.

East Carolina takes to the road Thursday for an important Southern Conference game at Williamsburg, Va., against William & Mary. The Bucs go into the game with a 4-1 league record, while the Indians are currently 3-1.

The Pirates return home Saturday to play host to Appalachian State in a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader.

Williamston Tops Tarboro

WILLIAMSTON—The Williamston Tigers rolled to a 9-3 victory over Tarboro's Vikings yesterday in a Northeastern Conference baseball game.

Tarboro grabbed an early lead, pushing in two runs in the first inning of play. Elks singled and Norbill followed with a run-scoring triple. Norbill then stole home for the 2-0 lead.

In the second, Williamston came up with a run to cut the lead in half. Mike Bryant walked, and successive walks to Eric Godard and George Brown loaded the bases. Hubert Smith also got a walk, forcing in Bryant.

In the third, Williamston rallied for three runs, moving into a 4-2 lead. Joe Roberson reached on an error as did Keith Brown. Berwyn Barnhill singled, scoring Roberson and moving Brown up. A wild pitch advanced both runners, and an error on the play let Brown come in with the go-ahead run. Another wild pitch scored Barnhill.

Williamston added two more in the fourth frame. Roy Lilley was hit by a pitch and took third when Smith doubled. Roberson sacrificed in Lilley and an error on the play let Smith score.

The Tigers went on to score two more in the fifth and one in the sixth, while allowing one more run to Tarboro in the fifth. Barnhill led the Tiger hitting with two.

Williamston is now 2-1 in the league, while Tarboro is 1-2. The Tigers travel to Edenton on Friday.

Sloan Selected Coach Of Year

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Norm Sloan, a low-key boss who plays down his role with North Carolina State's national championship basketball team, was named The Associated Press Coach of the Year today.

The modest, transplanted Hoosier scored a runaway victory over Marquette's Al McGuire, a man whom Sloan beat just as easily for the national title.

The 47-year-old Sloan collected 81 points to 35 for McGuire in balloting by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

Notre Dame's Dick Phelps placed third with 24 votes, Michigan's Johnny Orr was fourth with 19 and UCLA's John Wooden, who has won this award five times, was fifth with 14.

Preaching "love" among his players, Sloan directed the Wolfpack to a 30-1 record this season, including the 76-64 victory over Marquette in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's finals.

But he's not overly impressed with his part in the formidable accomplishments.

"People give coaching too much credit," he has often said. "Players win the games, not the coaches."

Often grim and humorless, Sloan lets his wardrobe do the talking. He appears at games dressed in loud ensembles—hardly ever the same. His penchant for expressive clothes makes him one of America's best-dressed coaches.

"That's usually the only time he's loud," says an observer.

Sloan has mystical rapport with his players, as well as an enormous attachment. In his eighth season, those ingredients have helped him compile a 145-71 record, including a 27-0 mark last year when the Wolfpack was on NCAA probation for recruiting violations.

Prior to taking over the North Carolina State post, Sloan coached at Presbyterian College, The Citadel and Florida. His overall coaching record is 358-208 and he has won Coach of the Year honors in three different conferences—the Southern, Southeastern and twice in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He has guided the Wolfpack to three ACC titles.

Born in Indiana, Sloan came south and played guard for North Carolina State from 1947 through 1949.

Sloan's emergence as the nation's No. 1 coach moves Wooden out of the spotlight, temporarily at least. The UCLA coach was named Coach of the Year in 1967, 1969, 1970, 1972 and 1973.

Other coaches receiving votes this year: Charles Ridl, Pitt (10); Ted Owens, Kansas (8); Lute Olson, Long Beach State (5); Roy Skinner, Vanderbilt (3); Eddie Sutton, Creighton (2); Don Donoher, Dayton (2) and Fred Schaus, Purdue (2).

Receiving one vote each: Ken Trickey, Oral Roberts; Norm Ellenberger, New Mexico; John Morrison, Canisius; Dick Hartner, Oregon; Dee Rowe, Connecticut; Joe Stowell, Bradley; Lefty Driesell; Jud Heathcote, Montana; C. M. Newton, Alabama and Jack McKinney, St. Joseph's, Pa.

Falcons Upset Conley By 3-2

HOLLYWOOD—Charles B. Aycock High School handed the D.H. Conley Vikings their second setback of the season yesterday, 3-2.

Aycock pushed over all three of their runs in the second inning of play. Edgerton reached on an error and Summerlin walked. Taylor then lifted a fly to the outfield, but the ball was misjudged and carried over the fielder's head. By the time it could be retrieved, all three runners had circled the bases for the 3-0 lead.

Conley tried to rally, coming up with a run in the bottom of the second. Eugene Forrest walked and stole both second and third. Keith Gould reached on an error, scoring Forrest.

It stayed that way until the sixth, when Conley got its other run. Jack Jones walked and stole second. Forrest singled him to third and he scored when Gould hit into a fielder's choice. The rally ended there, however.

Davis hurled the victory for Aycock, allowing just three hits by the Vikings. He struck out eight, walked five and hit three.

Bobby Bryan took the loss, scattering five hits. He fanned six and walked two.

Conley, now 4-2 in the Eastern Carolina Conference, will play host to Eastern Wayne on Friday.

Will Aaron Be In The Lineup?

By NORM CLARKE
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Will he or won't he? The answer to the Great Henry Aaron Debate is only hours away.

The Atlanta Braves' home run artist arrives with his team today amid a swirling controversy over whether he'll play in Thursday's baseball season opener or in the remaining two games of the series.

An announcement on the decision is likely to come at Thursday's 11:30 a.m. EDT press conference. Aaron and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will be in attendance.

Aaron, on the threshold of eclipsing one of the most hallowed records of all time, has been a raging topic of debate this spring since the Braves announced he would likely be kept out of the lineup until the club returns to Atlanta.

He needs one home run to tie Babe Ruth's legendary record of 714 career smashes.

Both clubs were scheduled for light workouts today.

A sell-out crowd of 51,726 is expected at the four-year-old stadium which Aaron officially christened with the first homer hit in the gleaming white $45 million edifice.

If he plays, as Kuhn has strongly suggested, Aaron will be facing Reds' right-hander Jack Billingham, a 19-game winner last year.

The sinker-ball specialist said he'll have a hollow spot in his stomach if Aaron strides to the plate accompanied by an expected standing ovation. "Then I'll have to get down to business," said the 31-year-old Billingham, who has given up five homers to Aaron.

Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson plans to follow with fireballing lefty Don Gullett in Saturday's nationally televised game. Gullett has permitted nine homers to the 40-year-old superstar—more than any other Red. Newcomer Clay Kirby is scheduled to start in Sunday's final game of the series.

Phil Niekro or Carl Morton will likely oppose Billingham. Repairmen were hurriedly patching up a section of the leftfield fence—Aaron's prime home run territory—that was battered by high winds Monday night.

Jaguars Top S.W.

DUDLEY—The Farmville Central tennis team rolled to a 9-0 victory over Southern Wayne yesterday.

The Jaguars, in raising their record to 6-2 overall, didn't allow Southern Wayne to capture a single set during the afternoon.

Their next match will be Thursday afternoon, when they meet Robersonville.

Summary:

Mike Corbett (FC) defeated Drew Moore, 6-0, 6-0.

Bill Johnston (FC) defeated Mike Beasley, 6-1, 6-0.

George Perkins (FC) defeated Roger Keys, 6-3, 6-1.

Bill Skinner (FC) defeated Bob Wice, 6-2, 6-1.

WINDSOR—Rose High roared back after Monday's 3-0 loss to Rocky Mount to roll past Bertie, 8-3, behind the four hit pitching of Mike Belton.

The Rampants ran their record up to 2-1 in the conference.

Belton pitched a good game and had held Bertie to just an infield hit until the last inning when Bertie rallied for all their runs including a home run. Belton struck out six and walked two.

On the other side, the Rampants did a complete offensive turnaround from Monday's performance. They rapped out better than twice as many hits as they got Monday with Griff Garner pushing his streak out to seven straight hits with four more yesterday. All together, Rose slapped out 14 hits.

Billy Davis was credited with the loss fanning four, walking three and giving up seven earned runs.

The Rampants went to work in the first frame with a run to break the ice and then added another in the second. Two more came in the fourth as well as three in the fifth. Rose scored another run in the seventh.

Belton held Bertie in check until the seventh when a home run by Kent Williford started a three-run rally.

With one out in the first, Garner singled and moved to second on an error on the play. Robert Brinkley singled him to third and a hit by Macon Moye brought in Garner.

Mike Wallace walked in the Rose second and went to second when a pickoff attempt was aborted. A passed ball put him on third and he scored on another errored pickoff.

Barnier singled again in the third but was forced at second by Brinkley. The Rampants broke through with two more in the fourth. Wallace tripled to deep left and Kelly Heath singled to center to drive him in. Heath stole second and moved up on a hit by Dickie Johnson. Heath came across on the double steal but Johnson was forced out going back to first.

A home run helped the Rampants get their next three runs. Garner got his sixth hit in two days and Brinkley singled. Both scored when Gil Whitford blasted a home run through center field for a 7-0 lead. Ronnie Rasberry got a hit and Wallace a double but neither could score.

Belton struck out the side in the Bertie sixth giving the Rampants another shot to score. They got one as Wallace walked, stole second and scored on a hit by Eddie Connolly.

Belton got the first Bertie batter to fly out in the seventh but Williford homered to put Bertie on the board. Keith Jones lost the ball in left when he backed into a light pole.

David White kept it going as he drew a walk and David Pillman singled. Paul Straywick got a hit to score White and move Baker, running for Pillman, to third. Baker scored on a passed ball.

Tommy Dawson grounded into a fielder's choice and David struck out to end the game.

Besides Garner's team-leading four hits, Brinkley, Moye, and Wallace each had a pair of hits.

Aycock Takes Opening Game

SPRING HOPE—E. B. Edwards' fielder's choice, and scored on another on A. Delbridge with the tying run.

Then, in the fifth, Southern took the lead with two more. F. Bass singled and T. Matthews reached on an error. Grady singled to load the bases and a hit by Matthews scored both Bass and T. Matthews.

Aycock came back with one in the sixth. Richard Nunn singled and moved up on an out. He scored on Jeff Smith's sacrifice fly.

The Phantoms got two more in the seventh, winning it. Boyd singled and advanced on an out. Brewington tripled to drive him in, and Hobbs came on to run for him. He scored when Gary Porter singled, giving Aycock the win.

Girlie Shows Produced A London Millionaire

By ROBERT MUSEL
LONDON (UPI) — Paul Raymond was doing his fake mind reading act at a provincial British theater when he suddenly found himself able to read the mind of every man in the audience.

They were thinking: "Why doesn't he get off and let the girls come on?"

"It didn't hurt my feelings," Raymond said at rehearsals of the Royalty Follies, a $690,000 extravaganza that he believes will confirm him as the leading theatrical manager in London's West End.

"It made me think. Although I paid 25 pounds ($57) for the mind reading trick, I put it aside and decided to give the public what it so obviously wanted—beautiful girls."

Recently Raymond, 48, acquired the famous Windmill Theater, haunt of American soldiers during World War II, whose proud boast was that it was the only theater to remain open during the German air "blitz."

"We never closed," blazed in neon lights on its facade until the sad day it was taken over for a soft porn movie house.

Girls, Not Chatter
Raymond, whose shaggy hair would not disgrace a pop star, will reopen the Windmill with a show built around pretty girls. This happens to have been the formula of the old Windmill, so why did it close?

"Too much chatter, perhaps," he said, recalling that the Windmill was the training ground of many British stars.

"We won't have so many comedians. These days capital cities are filled with tourists. They may not speak the language but there's nothing wrong with their eyes. So I'm going to give them sight acts—the best I can find."

"Like Miss Nude International and her Miami Dolphins who are starred in my Royalty Theater Follies. There's a sight for you. This beautiful human fish—you won't believe her name is Lindy Salmon—swims around in a tank in a bikini and the dolphins strip it away. You don't have to ask what's happening. You can see the result for yourself."

(The secret is to bait the bikini fastenings with fish.)

Most Expensive
The Royalty Follies will be the most expensive stage entertainment in Britain up to now, Raymond said, with specialty acts from all over the world. He is financing the whole spectacle himself.

With the Windmill Raymond will control five theaters, which makes him the biggest independent operator in London. He has had only one big loser in his career.

"I'm an entertainer," he said, "and I have a knack of judging what people like at any given moment."

As Exhibit A he cited the case of a play called "Pyjama Tops" which the critics predicted would not last a week and is now in its fifth year at his Whitehall Theatre. It's profit at the moment is $1.84 million.

"It may not be a great play, but it's a jolly good night out," Raymond said. "And the audience isn't kept waiting around for something to get its eyes into. There are five nudes on the stage when the curtain goes up."

Rebellion Of Police Reported In Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A police rebellion was reported today in a provincial capital 150 miles southeast of Addis Ababa.

Residents of Goba, the capital of Bale province, said the rebels took over the municipal offices and police headquarters Monday and jailed a number of police officials after hard fighting.

There was no report of casualties or the reasons for the rebellion. But violence has occurred in at least half of Ethiopia's 14 provincial capitals in the past 10 days. It is a delayed reaction to the wave of discontent with the country's feudal ruling minority and government corruption that erupted in the armed forces in February.

Several provincial governors have fled to Addis Ababa because of mob violence in their capitals.

Half Had Help On Tax Forms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Along with 57 other members of the United Nations, this country last year vainly urged that killing whales be suspended for 10 years. Scientists warn that several species of the great mammals are being hunted to extinction.

Since December, however, Soviet and Japanese factory vessels and their flotillas of hunter ships have been in Antarctic waters seeking their annual quotas of whales. But each year the catch grows smaller, and so do the fleets.

To Co-Sponsor Metric Session

A regional conference on metric education has been scheduled for Wilmington April 22-24 by conference sponsors East Carolina University and the N. C. Dept. of Public Instruction.

The conference is designed to prepare teachers and supervisors on various levels for the national shift to the metric system of measurement which is scheduled to occur within a decade.

THOU SHALT NOT STREAK—The Rev. O.V. Hitchcock, pastor of the College Park Methodist Church in Orlando, Fla., says he borrowed this message—"Streakers, Your End Is In Sight", from a service station; added a touch of John the Baptist and put it up for all to contemplate. He reports a mixed reaction. (AP Wirephoto)

Smuggling War By Afghanistan

By BRIAN JEFFRIES
KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — In the entrance hall of Kabul Museum a finely carved classic image of Buddha, seated cross-legged, hands joined on the chest, contemplates visitors. Around the right arm of the statue is a band of soft metal sealed by the customs authorities at Kabul airport.

The four-foot Buddha, believed to date back to the first or second century B.C., was confiscated by officials when a visitor tried to export it to London after allegedly buying it from a local dealer. Museum director Ahmad Ali Motamedia often points the statue out to guests as an illustration of the problems being faced by Afghanistan in attempting to prevent its cultural treasures from being smuggled out of the country — mainly to the West, where they fetch high prices.

Afghanistan, a landlocked nation about the size of Texas, historically is a crossroads of Central Asia. Innumerable conquering armies, often on their way to and from the Indian subcontinent, have plundered, slaughtered, survived a while, declined and in turn been replaced by new invaders.

As a result, modern-day Afghanistan has reaped a rich reward in valuable works of art that are still being uncovered by archeologists at sites all over the country.

The museum has a fine collection spanning 5,000 years of objects reflecting the influence of Greek, Iranian, Chinese and Indian culture on the country. Chinese lacquers, Greco-Roman statues, Buddhist wallpaintings and narrative friezes carved in ivory, together with Islamic bronzes and heraldic marble reliefs, crowd the showcases.

As Motamedia says, "It is impossible to measure these legacies in vulgar commercial terms. But from the point of view of Afghanistan they are of incalculable historic and cultural value. That is why we are so concerned to prevent them leaving the country illegally."

Because of this at Motamedia's urging Afghanistan has recently introduced a new set of regulations forbidding tourists and collectors from taking any art objects from the country without first obtaining an export certificate from the museum. Copies of the regulations are prominently displayed at the airport and major hotels.

The government is also working on new legislation which Motamedia hopes will provide stiff penalties for anyone who attempts to circumvent the rules. At present confiscation is considered an adequate punishment.

At the same time, as a further measure to halt the illegal traffic, Afghanistan's Archaeological Service is planning to create a photographic department which will survey all works of art, both in private hands and in museums, in the country.

Ice skating's origins go back at least 5,000 years. Archeologists have found animals' bones apparently used as skates during the Bronze Age in Pannonia, an area that is now in Hungary and Yugoslavia.

SEARCH FOR OIL—Employees of Imperial Oil Ltd., a subsidiary of Exxon Corp. of America, work in 30-degree below zero weather to construct an artificial island in the Arctic Ocean north of the Canadian Northwest Territories. They cut out big blocks of ice, then pour in gravel to build island which will be used as a base for a drilling rig seeking oil and gas under the Arctic. Drilling will take place when the water thaws in summer. (AP Wirephoto)

Grant CP&L New Rate Hike

RALEIGH (AP)—The average residential power bill of Carolina Power & Light Co. customers will go up 94 cents this month under an emergency 5.06 per cent rate hike granted by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

The latest rate hike, granted Monday, is part of a larger 21 per cent rate increase CP&L is seeking. The company announced a few days ago that the average residential bill was going up 81 cents in April under a fuel adjustment clause. The commission authorized CP&L in January to make adjustments to reflect higher prices for fuel. The company also received approval in January for an interim 6 per cent increase, which was also part of the 21 per cent request pending before the commission.

The commission voted 3-1 on the latest rate hike, with commissioner Hugh Wells dissenting. Chairman Marvin Wooten and commissioners Tenney Deane and Ben Roney voted in the majority. Wells said he did not think CP&L had proven the need for the extra money. Since the first of the year, the average CP&L residential bill has risen from $19.71 to $22.50.

Shearon Harris, president of CP&L, defended the company's need for more money at a news conference Tuesday. He said the increases were needed because of rising construction, fuel and interest costs, plus the need for adding environmental protectors to existing generating equipment.

CP&L also serves parts of South Carolina, but the customers in that state are not affected by the decision. In a prepared statement, Harris said the company needed to increase its revenues in order to sell bonds and stocks to finance its nuclear generator construction program. The company reported net earnings in 1973 of $66 million, up 10 per cent from 1972. However, earnings per share dropped from $2.86 to $2.58.

'The Sting' Dominates Oscar Award Presentations

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The Sting," Glenda Jackson and Jack Lemmon were the big winners at the 46th Academy Awards presentation, which had something for everybody. Even a streaker.

"The Sting" stung four other box office favorites, most prominently "The Exorcist," and collected seven Oscars, including best picture of 1973.

Lemmon, tortured garment maker of "Save the Tiger," and Miss Jackson, the English lady on a swinging vacation in "A Touch of Class," won top acting honors in the awards Tuesday night. It was a second Oscar for both.

"The Exorcist," which won two Oscars, was an early favorite in the race for best picture. But its shock and violence seemed to turn off many of the Academy voters, who are predominantly mature and long-standing members of the film community.

They seem to prefer a standard and trouble-free film like

"The Sting," the stylish tale of a mammoth confidence game in Chicago.

Both "The Exorcist" and "The Sting" had been nominated for 10 awards.

In addition to best picture, "The Sting" won Oscars for George Roy Hill's direction and David S. Ward's screenplay. Julia Phillips shared producing honors with her husband, Michael, and former actor Tony Bill, becoming the first woman producer to win Hollywood's biggest prize.

Youth and age were served in the supporting acting categories. John Houseman, 71, the heartless Harvard professor of "The Paper Chase," and Tatum O'Neal, 9, the cigarette-smoking confidence girl of "Paper Moon," won in their first film roles.

The awards ceremony was enlivened by a totally nude 33-year-old man who dashed across the stage before the Music Center audience as David Niven prepared to introduce Elizabeth Taylor.

The nudity was seen briefly by viewers tuned to the nationally televised awards ceremony.

The streaker identified himself as Robert Opel, a Hollywood advertising man. He said his streak was "a hell of a way to launch a career as a comic."

Lemmon, 49, the Harvard graduate who won a supporting

Oscar in 1955 for "Mister Roberts," responded emotionally to his award. He commented pointedly about actors who had criticized the award. He said he felt it was "one hell of an honor, and I am thrilled."

"Save the Tiger" was his fourth nomination as best actor.

Miss Jackson, 39, was making a film in Rome and was unable to accept her second Oscar. It was claimed by Mel Frank, coauthor and director-producer of "A Touch of Class." Miss Jackson won her first Oscar in 1970 for "Women in Love."

Houseman, veteran Broadway and Hollywood producer and now head of the Juilliard School for Dramatics in New York's Lincoln Center, performed his first screen role in "The Paper Chase."

"For the first time in a long and tumultuous life, I am almost speechless — but not quite," said the urbane Houseman.

His award was popular with the trade audience, as was that of perky Tatum O'Neal, who upstaged her father, Ryan, in "Paper Moon." Dressed in a stylish satin tuxedo with high heels, she thanked her director, Peter Bogdanovich, and her father.

"Day For Night," Francois Truffaut's story of the travails of making a movie, won the Oscar as best foreign language film.

The best song was "The Way We Were," from the movie of the same name, with music by Marvin Hamlisch and lyrics by Alan and Marilyn Bergman. Hamlisch also won Oscars for his scores for "The Sting" and "The Way We Were."

The telecast was a full and sometimes deadening three hours, but as usual, the show had its touching and dramatic moments.

Two standing ovations were accorded to veteran superstars Katharine Hepburn and Groucho Marx. Miss Hepburn, still lovely but tremulous of voice, presented the Irving G. Thalberg Memorial Award for consistent high production to Lawrence Weingarten, who made some of her best comedies.

Trial Run For Dial-A-Joke

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — "Fellows, you want to get your wife crazy?" says the voice on the other end of 999-3838. "Don't talk in your sleep, just grin."

The voice belongs to comic Henry Youngman and the number is for a new service provided by the New York Telephone Company — Dial-A-Joke.

A company spokesman said Tuesday that its Dial-Santa message during the holidays proved so successful that it decided to try another service.

Youngman recorded 30 spot jokes for April, different ones for each day, the spokesman said.

Groucho, 83 and looking it, appeared on stage to accept an honorary Oscar and the Academy's homage for himself and his zany brothers, stars of classic comedies of the 1930s and 1940s.

"I wish Harpo and Chico could have been here to share this great award," the comic remarked. He said he also wished the award could be shared by his long-time dowager foil, the late Margaret Dumont.

"Most of all I want to thank my mother, because without her none of us would have been anything," said Groucho. He also paid tribute to his manager-girl friend, Erin Fleming, "who makes my life worth living. She understands all my jokes."

BEST ACTOR AWARD—Jack Lemmon is hugged by Liza Minnelli after he was named Best Actor for his performance in "Save Tiger" at 46th annual Academy Awards show Tuesday night. Gregory Peck looks on. Lemmon played the part of a guilty-ridden businessman. (AP Wirephoto)

BEST ACTRESS—Glenda Jackson won the Oscar for the best actress at the Academy Awards Tuesday night. Miss Jackson, who is making a film in Rome and was not present for the awards, won for her role in "A Touch of Class". (AP Wirephoto)

Take Us Home For Easter Dinner, And We'll Give You A Dollar.

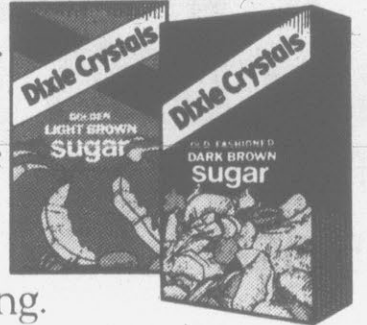

We're giving you some great recipes to help make your Easter a sweet success. But we'll give you more than that. We'll give you a dollar, just for using some of our sugars in your kitchen.

All you have to do is bring home Dixie Crystals Light Brown or Dark Brown sugars. And your favorite brand of ham. Then, to get your dollar refund by mail, send us three proofs of purchase according to the details on the coupon below.

Two from Dixie Crystal Light Brown or Dark Brown sugars. And one for your ham.

We're making this offer because we make Dixie Crystals sugars with all the care and attention that you put into your cooking. And these recipes are kitchen-tested. So we know your family will enjoy Easter cooking a little more this year.

The dollar tip is just a little something extra for one who's doing the cooking.

Ham Glaze

- Start baking the ham according to your usual recipe. Thirty minutes before it's done, remove from oven.
- Score the ham and stud with cloves.
- Cover the ham with a mixture of 1 cup DIXIE CRYSTALS Light Brown or Dark Brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, and 1/4 cup pineapple juice.
- Decorate with pineapple slices if you like.
- Return the ham to oven for 30 minutes to brown.

Bunny Cake

Cake Batter:

- 1-1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup DIXIE CRYSTALS granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1-1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add sugar gradually while beating. Add eggs one at a time, continue beating. Mix the baking powder with the flour; pour the vanilla into the milk and add the dry ingredients and milk alternately to the batter mixture. Beat about 1 minute on low speed. Pour batter into a 7, 8 or 9 inch square pan... well greased or lined with paper. Bake 350 degrees for about 35 minutes or until it springs back to the touch or begins to leave the sides of the pan. Cool on a rack about 10 minutes before removing from the pan. Follow instructions for making the Bunnies.

Sweet Potatoes with Topping

3 cups cooked mashed sweet potatoes
1-1/2 cups DIXIE CRYSTALS

2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup milk

1. Combine the potatoes, sugar, eggs, vanilla, and milk. 2. Pour into a casserole (7-1/2" x 12" x 2"). 3. Sprinkle with topping.

Topping:

- 1/3 cup butter or margarine
- 2/3 cup DIXIE CRYSTALS
- Light Brown sugar
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1 cup chopped pecans

1. Cut the butter into the sugar and flour. Add nuts and sprinkle over the top of the potato mixture. 2. Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 8 to 10.

TO MAKE BUNNY: Step 1. Cut off two 1-1/2 inch strips as shown here — for Bunny's ears. Large section becomes Bunny's face. Step 2. Place "face" on tray. To form ears, place the two strips above the "face" section, as indicated here. Use a 7 minute frosting and spread over Bunny's head and ears. Step 3. Use an 8 oz. package or can of shredded coconut. Sprinkle the coconut generously over entire Bunny Cake. Step 4. Make the Bunny's "face" by using two jelly beans for the eyes, two pipe cleaners cut into three pieces each used for the Bunny's whiskers, one jelly bean for the nose, 3 jelly beans for the mouth.

Seven Minute Frosting:

- 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 cup DIXIE CRYSTALS
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 egg whites
- granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients except vanilla in top part of double boiler, place over boiling water and beat with rotary beater until mixture holds a peak... about 7 minutes... fold in 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Curried Fruit

3/4 stick of butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed DIXIE CRYSTALS Light Brown sugar
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 No. 2 can (about 20 oz.) of each of the following fruits: peach slices, pear halves, and pineapple slices
1 jar (about 15 oz.) spiced apple rings
No. 2 can (about 20 oz.) of each of maraschino cherries

Combine butter or margarine, sugar and curry powder, and bring to boil. Drain the fruit; arrange in a shallow 2-quart baking dish (about 10 x 6 x 1-1/2 inches) and pour hot sauce over it. Garnish with cherries. Bake at 325 degrees until it bubbles (about 30 to 40 minutes). Serve hot; very good with poultry, cured ham and pork. Serves 8 to 10.

Fuel Wasted In Compressed Air

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP) — The amount of fuel used to produce compressed air that is wasted by industry would heat a community of some 200,000 persons for a year, according to a survey made here.

"About 10 per cent of the compressed air used by 1.2 million industrial and service establishments in the United States is being lost, according to our plant surveys," says Donald Sicklesteel, vice president of Scovill's Fluid Power Division, a maker of air control equipment. "This translates into annual preventable fuel wastage of about 100 million gallons of oil, or 600,000 tons of coal, or 15 billion cubic feet of natural gas. The dollar value is about $30 million."

Workshops For Retarded Grow

TORONTO (AP) — Impressed by the programs operated by five workshops in Toronto where 450 mentally retarded persons are employed under the auspices of Arc Industries, the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded, plans to launch an appeal campaign here in May and collect $3 million to establish more facilities such as Arc throughout the country. There are 650,000 persons in Canada classified as mentally retarded.

The design for the White House was a contest sponsored by the federal government and won by James Hoban, who was awarded a $500 prize.
