THIS IS SPRINGTIME?—A tree toppled onto a car by heavy snow gives testimony to the impact of a spring storm that hit northern Utah Tuesday night and early Wednesday, burying some areas in up to two feet of snow. Coming after temperatures reached 69 the previous day, the storm killed one person, knocked out power and caused traffic snarls. (AP Wirephoto)

Senate OKs Embattled Coastal Zoning Measure

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate today enacted into law North Carolina's much-embattled coastal zoning bill, clearing away the last major piece of legislation in the path to adjournment.

In approving the bill, the Senate reversed its decision Wednesday not to concur in House amendments.

Sen. W. D. Mills, D-Onslow, offered the motion to reconsider. This passed 32-9 and the Senate then began considering the amendments separately.

Later, Sen. Julian Allsbrook, D-Halifax, who had led a vigorous fight against the bill, agreed to take the remaining amendments collectively and vote on them.

"I felt a lot of other matters needed attention and we just didn't have the votes," said Allsbrook.

The vote against concurrence was led by eastern Democrats from the coastal area who have opposed the bill throughout the two years it has been in the legislative process.

They said they had not had time to consider all of the 22 amendments passed by the House earlier this week, although those amendments were generally added by the bill's opponents.

They managed to attract the support of many legislators who voted reluctantly for the coastal bill last month when the Senate passed it by a wide margin.

Stanton, who asked the Senate to concur in all the amendments, said he would get to work and try to persuade enough senators to change their minds to win reconsideration.

If the Senate does change its mind and concur, the bill would become law.

The measure is designed to give the state authority to enforce planning and control development in environmentally sensitive areas of the coast.

It has been opposed by local governments and real estate and financial interests in the coastal area.

Late White House Move To Avoid Confrontation

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today made a last-minute offer to provide some of the tapes requested by the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry, but it appeared to come too late to head off a subpoena for all the tapes requested.

"It's a little late to make a deal," said Rep. Robert Kas-tenmeier, D-Wis., after committee counsel John Doar told of a last-minute telephone call from President Nixon's counsel.

Doar said James St. Clair said he would be willing to give the committee within the next few days a number of specific conversations between President Nixon and his chief aides that the committee believes relate to the Watergate cover-up. However, St. Clair's offer did not cover a number of other tapes the committee asked for.

As soon as Doar completed his discussion of St. Clair's phone call a resolution authorizing the committee to issue a subpoena for everything covered by the request was put before the committee. It appeared to have solid support of the Democratic majority.

Doar said that in his talk with St. Clair the White House lawyer did not indicate whether Nixon would comply with a subpoena.

The confrontation that has been building since Feb. 25 when the request was made, became all but certain Wednesday after the White House said it would not decide until after April 22 what it would give to the committee.

The White House position, spelled out in a letter from James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's counsel, antagonized committee members of both parties and a wide segment of the House.

"I think it was offensive to the House," said Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., the senior Republican on the committee.

"It was insulting in every paragraph," said Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., a committee member.

After a party caucus Wednesday to consider the letter, the Republican members launched a last-ditch effort to persuade the White House to comply at least in part with the committee's request.

"It looks as if the committee will issue a subpoena if the White House will not yield," said Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes said he hoped the committee would make another request for the tapes before issuing a subpoena. "Mr. St. Clair would have to reconsider and there might be some change in his answer," Rhodeu said.

But most committee members said they thought the committee had been patient long enough and had no alternative now but to subpoena the tapes, which cover conversations between Nixon and his aides that the committee thinks relate to the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

Even among those who support issuance of a subpoena, however, there is concern over the consequences if Nixon refuses to honor it.

The committee, claiming its authority from the Constitution to subpoena evidence, is determined to avoid turning to the courts for enforcement.

Some members feel the best course of action would be to let an unanswered subpoena become an article of impeachment when the committee finally makes its recommendation to the House.

'Very Vocal' On Tax Plan

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Everybody hates to have his taxes increased, even the well-to-do. "Especially the well-to-do," says Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Kirby was commenting on the outcry that erupted after a Senate Finance subcommittee last week proposed an increase in North Carolina's individual income tax rates in the three highest brackets.

The tax boost would have resulted in a net state income tax increase of $7.50 to a person with a next taxable income of $15,000, an increase of $58.00 to a person with a net taxable income of $20,000, and an increase of $592.00 to a person with a net taxable income of $60,000.

The income tax proposals were part of a tax package that included removal of the 3 per cent state sales tax on food, and inventory tax relief for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

Removal of the state sales tax on food would have benefited all the state's taxpayers, including the well-to-do. This would have offset at least part of the income tax increases.

Kirby said the subcommittee income tax proposal "immediately brought forth the people affected—those whose net incomes are over $15,000."

"They were very vocal and made an immediate response to that portion of the bill," Kirby said.

"They are your friends, the people who live next door, the people of standing in the community," he added.

"You've got to remember a whole lot of the people in the General Assembly are in the same category," Kirby added. "In order to vote for that you've got to put public interest above your own interest."

Meir Submits Resignation

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir formally submitted her resignation today, plunging the nation into political upheaval and clouding prospects for peace in the Middle East.

The presentation of her resignation, announced Wednesday, came as Arab terrorists sneaked across the Israeli-Lebanese border, killed a dozen men, women and children in a little town, then blew themselves up as Israeli troops closed in, senior police officers said.

The upset of Mrs. Meir and the political weakness of her lame-duck government puts Israel at a disadvantage in negotiating with Syria to end the continued fighting on the Golan Heights front.

The resignation was viewed in Washington as a serious setback to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's hopes for a quick disengagement along the Israeli-Syrian front. A delay in this sector could endanger the entire momentum of the quest for peace in the Middle East.

Officials of Mrs. Meir's ruling Labor alignment said she would stay in office at the head of a caretaker government until a new cabinet can be formed or new elections held.

Prison Inmate Knifing Victim

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A Central Prison inmate was hospitalized in critical condition Wednesday after he was stabbed by another inmate, prison officials said.

Deputy Warden Nathan Rice said inmate Marcellus Murphy, 24, of Rt. 3, Axton, Va., was stabbed about 12:30 p.m. in a recreation area at the maximum security facility.

An investigation continued in the case late Thursday, but Rice said no arrests had been made.

Arab Terrorists In Slaughter, Suicide

By MAX NASH
Associated Press Writer

QIRYAT SHMONAH, Israel (AP) — Three Arab terrorists sneaked across the Lebanese border into this little Israeli town today, killed 18 men, women and children and then blew themselves up as Israeli troops stormed the apartment building where they were hiding, senior police officers said.

"They were even armed with rocket-propelled grenades and they were throwing children from the top floor of the building," said an officer in a bullet-proof vest, standing outside the scarred and ransacked apartment block.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command, a splinter Palestinian group, telephoned news agencies in Beirut and claimed responsibility for the "suicide attack" on Qiryat Shmonah. It said the purpose of the raid was to gain the release of 100 guerrillas from Israeli prisons.

Three more guerrilla infiltrators seized a school in the mountainside frontier settlement, but it was empty for the Passover holidays and the gunmen abandoned the building and escaped, police said.

Senior military sources said the bodies of men, women and children found in the apartment house brought the death toll to 18 with 16 wounded. The state radio said eight children, eight adults and two soldiers died in the most costly guerrilla raid inside Israel since the Tel Aviv airport massacre of May 1972, which took 26 lives.

The Arabs first seized control of an empty school and then moved to the apartment building. The state radio said they fired submachine guns and threw grenades into the apartments as they shot their way up to the fourth floor in a trail of blood.

Israeli troops and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan rushed to the mountainside town, and just over four hours after the raid began a military source said, "It is all over." Heavy explosions shook the building as the Israeli troops stormed it.

The bodies of Israeli civilians were found in the doorways of their apartments and children's bullet-torn corpses lay on the stairway of the building, the radio said.

The guerrillas were carrying explosive charges with their Russian-made assault rifles, and the room where they barricaded themselves exploded when the Israelis opened fire and rushed the building, the radio said. The blasted bodies of the three guerrillas were found inside.

Sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert L. Porter, who handled the surrogate speakers program in President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, was sentenced today to serve 30 days in a federal correctional institution for lying to the FBI in its Watergate investigation.

Porter, who will be 36 on Saturday, is the fourth former White House aide who has been sentenced to prison but the sentence was the lightest of any.

The charge carried a maximum five years in prison and a $10,000 fine but a lawyer from the office of special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski said Porter's involvement in the Watergate cover-up was "less in degree than others who pleaded guilty to felony charges."

RAMMED INTO TRAIN

CHESTER, C.C. (AP)—A tractor-trailer rig crashed into a Seaboard Coastline train Wednesday night, injuring the driver and derailing two engines and two cars, police said.

Steel Industry, Union Near Contract Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the usual 11th-hour frenzy of previous negotiations missing, steel industry bargainers indicate they are near agreement on a new three-year contract for 350,000 workers.

Sources close to the talks between the United Steelworkers and the 10 major steel companies say the negotiators have agreed "to try and wrap it up" today.

Although the sources caution that some problems remain, the union has called its Basic Steel Industry Conference with representatives from 832 locals to a 1 p.m. EDT meeting for a report on the negotiations. The 600-member conference has authority to ratify a tentative agreement or recommend turning over unresolved issues to a panel of arbitrators.

A historic bargaining agreement signed a year ago eliminated the possibility of a nationwide steel strike this year.

In return for giving up the right to strike, the USW was guaranteed wage increases of at least 3 per cent in each year of the new contract.

The experimental bargaining agreement provides that any issues still in dispute by April 15 are to be submitted to arbitration. But since the negotiations entered their final phase a week ago, both sides have expressed hope that working on both national and local issues could be completed at the bargaining table.

The new bargaining format was intended to eliminate the type of production disruptions that characterized previous negotiations, with customers stockpiling steel and eventually forcing large layoffs of workers despite peaceful settlements.

Bike Trail System Outlined At Meeting

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Revelations of possibilities for entertainment and recreation in Greenville were made last night as the Greenville Recreation Commission considered bicycle trails, summer entertainment on a grassy slope, a teen-age dance, a park shelter, and the old familiar swimming pool dream.

City Planner John Schofield made the primary presentation, an outline of proposals for a network of bicycle trails connecting several areas of the city.

The basic proposal already has come to the attention of the City Council.

Schofield told the board that City Council members were anxious to know the thoughts and recommendations of the Recreation Commission as well as having a response from the community in general.

The bike-way system as planned includes a total of about 32 miles comprised of three types of trails.

Approximate cost of the total project is about $32,000. Schofield pointed out that a fairly accurate guess shows there are between seven and nine thousand bicycles in Greenville.

A possible source of revenue might be in the form of assistance from the Student Government Association of East Carolina University.

As a beginner, Schofield said that Mayor S. Eugene West had suggested an experimental bikeway be considered before the entire plan is implemented.

Schofield revealed his proposal to fulfill the mayor's suggestion was for a trial bike route of 4.75 miles that would stretch from the West Greenville Recreation Center to Green Springs Park along Fifth Street.

His plan would cost about $2,400—for paint and signs—and would eliminate about 80 on-street parking spaces now in use. He also briefly outlined another possible route costing about $900. This would be a neighborhood test plan to run from Elmhurst School along North Overlook Drive, Brownlea Drive and South Wright Road to Eastern Elementary School.

Recreation commissioners were enthusiastic about the proposed bicycle trail package, giving unanimous approval to Dr. Edgar Hooks' motion that "the commission recommends City Council implementation of the bike-way plan and appropriate monies to the appropriate budget to initiate the plans as soon as feasible."

For Green Springs Park an octagonal shelter has been ordered at a cost of $4,800. Lee said the initiative for providing this shelter has come from the Greenville Kiwanis, who have raised $1,000 and are working on a second $1,000 in funds for the project. He reported that assistance in funds for the cost of the shelter would be available from contingency funds, so that a decision to proceed with getting the shelter had been made.

Silence Is Sometimes Mistaken

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is almost perfect. We've been married for three years and get along fine, but there is one problem. When we are with people Norton is very quiet. I am forever making up excuses for him, like, "Oh, Norton is tired tonight," or, "Norton isn't feeling very well."

When he and I are alone together he is fine, but when we're in company, he clams up. People keep asking me if he's mad.

Have you any suggestions for him? Or for me?
NORTON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Tell Norton that silence is sometimes mistaken for unfriendliness, so to please try to be more sociable. But don't nag him about it. He's probably shy, and too much pushing on your part will make him even more self-conscious.

DEAR ABBY: You're the best in your field, but every now and then even you make a mistake. Example: Woman engaged to man who wants to buy a farm. She refuses to live on farm. He gives in. They live 28 years in city.

Now, with retirement approaching, he wants to buy a modest 12 acres, where he can [presumably] raise a little garden, plant a few fruit trees, and perhaps keep a few chickens. He wants to spend his latter years in healthy, happy, productive activity; a most commendable and wholesome idea certainly.

The wife had her way for 28 years. Yet you tell her, "Don't give an inch or you'll wind up with 12 acres!"

Doesn't the husband have any rights? I say he should buy his little retirement plot and move on it, and if she doesn't want to go along—good riddance!

DON BUCK: GIRARD, KAS.

DEAR DON: When you put it that way, I'll have to admit you make a lot of sense, so after thinking it over, I surrender, dear.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest [and envy] the letter from the woman whose husband wanted to share her with his friends. I should be so lucky!

Twelve years ago I married a man who was so effectively taught in his childhood that sex was dirty, that after 12 years of marriage he still thinks sex is sinful.

Need I tell you what kind of a bed partner he has been? I have had a lot of time to think about it, and if I had to choose between promiscuity and abstinence, believe me, I'd choose promiscuity. DOING WITHOUT IN GAINESVILLE

DEAR DOING: I don't "envy" you, either. But remember, "promiscuity" is no pass to paradise—if you can believe my mail. And I do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HEARTBROKEN PARENTS: From your letter I would say that you did your best. Now, quit punishing yourselves. Some parents "train up a child in the way he should go," and out of sheer spite and rebellion, the child deliberately departs from it.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Some Doctors Warn Against It, But HCG Reducing Is Popular

FARMINGTON, Mich. (UPI)—In this slim-oriented, diet-conscious society where trim executives nab promotions and svelte females catch the men, fat is definitely not where it's at.

And that's where HCG comes in.

The HCG Glandular Program—the initials stand for a hormone called Human Chorionic Gonadotropin—promises a weight loss of up to 12 ounces a day.

The main attractions of the diet are quick results and a kind of euphoric, well-fed feeling reported by most patients—the result of a series of daily injections of the hormone.

The HCG program is a highly controversial one in medical circles.

Though it has the support of many members of the American Society of Bariatric Physicians, a group of doctors who treat obesity, it does not have the endorsement of the American Medical Association.

AMA Doesn't Recommend

An AMA spokesman in Chicago said the program is not recommended by the AMA for use in weight reduction because it has not been established as safe or effective. University of Michigan medical authorities regard it as possibly "a dangerous use of an extremely powerful hormone."

HCG is produced by a woman's body during pregnancy to convert the extra fat into a source of energy, and many doctors claim it triggers the same reaction in obese patients.

Only in the past several years has the program really caught on—first among Hollywood starlets and later among ordinary housewives anxious to lose weight.

At a small clinic in Farmington, two doctors who have been using the program since 1963 estimate they have treated as many as 10,000 men and women during that time.

"The HCG program is not THE answer to the weight problem, but it's a good way to begin from both the physical and psychological approaches," said Dr. Paul Parente, 43, a former chubby himself.

Good Motivation
"Diets are usually a very slow, drawn out process but with this method, results can be seen very quickly," Parente said, "and that's a highly motivating factor to human nature."

Household Hints

Researchers have discovered that virus infections can be carried from one fabric to another and live for long periods of time. But hot water washing of clothing tends to help eliminate the problem.

Home economists suggest that the homemaker choose her automatic dishwasher on the basis of average daily load and ease of loading features.

Parente and his partner, Dr. A.J. Sarchilli, administer the program at the Farmington Medical Center, about 20 miles outside Detroit. They began testing the HCG method on a limited basis after trying it on themselves first.

From a trial group of 50 patients, their practice grew to the point where the clinic waiting room is often standing room only six days a week.

Prices vary around the country, but the average fee for the HCG program at the Farmington clinic runs under $200. This includes blood tests, nutritional analysis and 23 injections.

Along with the shots, patients must follow a strict but well-balanced 500-calorie diet, with even certain shampoos and deodorants forbidden.

How It Works

Parente explains how the program works:

"As the body takes in protein, it goes through many reactions and any freak in the process may cause the body to convert the intake to fat. HCG tends to affect the nerve bridge between the brain and the hormonal system which controls the shape of the body. The hormone tends to bring the body shape into the pattern of normally functioning pituitary glands."

Weight loss results recorded by patients utilizing the program have been dramatic.

Parente recalled one woman who weighed 348 pounds and would not leave her home except to drive to the clinic for her daily injection.

"At the end of a year on the program," Parente said, "that woman dropped to a weight of 160 pounds and now she's flying off to Florida and Las Vegas all the time."

Stabilizes Weight

Parente believes the injections are excellent stabilizers for weight problems, as well as other disorders of the body.

"The shots are non-toxic and do not overstimulate the body like amphetamines," he said. "They're also ideal for hypertension to bring the blood pressure down and good for cutting down insulin in the treatment of diabetes."

As with all diets involving some form of human willpower, failures must be expected and Parente admits that it sometimes gets discouraging.

"It's just a matter of getting the person to realize that he has to control his weight problem the rest of his life. He can't come in here and lose a lot of weight and then go back to the same bad eating habits."

But the words of one woman who lost 50 pounds on the program affirm, for Parente, its basic attraction, regardless of some of the medical questions raised.

"I was a fat, ugly nothing before I started taking those shots every day," says Linda Fox, a 26-year-old school teacher. "It changed my whole life. Now I look forward to each new day."

"Home Owned & Operated For Over 50 Years"

Homemaker's Haven By Kathy Hudson

Easter Sunday will have come and gone before we know it. We will think back on the pleasantries of that day—the church service, the togetherness of family and friends, the traditional ham dinner, and the children's Easter egg hunt with their baskets filled to the brim.

But when it is all over, what is to be done with six and a half pounds of leftover assorted chocolate candies, and 4 dozen colorfully dyed, but now forgotten eggs?

As long as they are not cracked or spoiled, those eggs are still perfectly good to eat, and with the price of meat as it is today, this is a good time to incorporate some meatless meals into the week's menu, or at least to alternate with leftover ham.

When the eggs are first hard cooked for dyeing, place them in cold water and bring this to almost a boil. Remove the pan and let them sit for twelve minutes. This will prevent cracking the shell and thus insure the wholesomeness of the egg later after being dyed. Also be sure to douse them in cold water for easy peeling later when they are to be eaten. Store the dyed eggs in the refrigerator to preserve them for up to a week.

Here are some suggestions for utilizing these eggs in meals and snacks:

1. Egg and kidney bean salad
2. Spinach and egg salad
3. Tuna, chicken, or crab meat deviled eggs
4. Eggs a la King
5. Pickled eggs
6. French fried eggs (recipe below)

Also use the eggs in molded vegetable salads and in your homemade thousand island dressing. Make egg salad with cream cheese and serve this as a nutritious dip for chips and crackers.

Uneaten Easter candy can also be used in cooking and in other forms.

Grate the chocolate rabbits and eggs and mix it with dry milk powder. Add water and heat to make a creamy version of hot chocolate. Or mix this with an equal amount of hot coffee to make Mexican chocolate.

Float those pink and yellow marshmallow animals in hot chocolate for added sweetness and color.

Also put grated chocolate on peanut butter sandwiches or put it on plain hot butter toast as a treat for breakfast like the Dutch eat.

Leftover chocolate candy can be stored for up to one year if kept in a cool dry place. It will keep 3-4 months if wrapped tightly and put in the refrigerator. If you decide to cook with it, incorporating it into a dessert recipe, be sure to keep the cooking temperature low. It's best to cook with a double boiler to prevent the chocolate from becoming hard. If it does, add some salad oil (not butter).

Another idea for using excess candy and for delighting your youngsters is to rehide those jelly beans in with the fruit put in fruited jello. They also make colorful toppings for ice cream sundaes.

Hopefully there will be some leftovers to use in other ways. Otherwise it will mean that many children, and probably some adults too, ate a little too

A group of architects recently did a survey on the American couples' sleeping habits and came up with a fact I found rather startling.

Although the women who went to bed read more, played the radio more, ate more, prayed more, smoked more and slept less than men, they were even on one point. Twelve per cent of the men and twelve per cent of the women surveyed talked in bed.

As I told my husband upon retiring the other night, "I would have been willing to bet that men would not have averages six words a year to his wife in bed. Why, I heard once... what's that?"

He yawned and turned over, "I hear the dog barking," I said. "Maybe someone is messing around the gas tank. Wonder if I forgot to take my keys out of the car. I'll check."

Moments later I said, "It was nothing. Are you cold? I'm freezing to death. Probably catching something. I can't afford to be sick. I've got this doctor's appointment for a checkup that I've been waiting for for three months and if I get sick I'll have to cancel. Maybe I should take my temperature and get a cold tablet in me." (Exit to bathroom.)

"There, that's better. In fact, I might sleep in tomorrow and... Good Lord, tomorrow is milk day. I'd better leave a note for the milkman in case I miss him. Have you any idea where the pencil is this week?" He pulled the covers over his head as I bounded for the kitchen.

"Do you think Dan Rather is going to run for something? I mean the way he got that standing ovation a few weeks ago and... do you hear music? I'll bet one of those kids has fallen asleep with the stereo on. Something happens to a kid's brain when that thing pounds into it day and night. If I don't turn it off, he'll wake up crazy.

"Where was I? Listen! It sounds like someone scraping against the bushes. Did I tell you about a bunch of weirdos in the grocery today? Real creeps. They stood there outside the grocery reading a sign on the window, 'EASTER GRASS.' You don't suppose... You know what I think? I think we subscribe to too many magazines.

"Speaking of things to do, why don't you get a longer pull for this lamp. A piece of dental floss looks tacky, which is exactly what everyone said when your mother wore navy blue to the wedding."

My husband lifted his head and asked, "Did you set the alarm?"

I closed my eyes and mumbled, "I did and are you going to talk all night or let me get some sleep!"

You know, that survey is right.

Bringing Order To Our Growth

It could be the coastal zoning bill will be enacted into law by the State Legislature by the time this appears.

If so, North Carolina will have made a start in bringing some order to the development of its coastline after years of helter skelter growth.

A bill won tentative approval by the House Monday night and then was scheduled to go to the Senate for concurrence.

The bill has been watered down by amendments, but its sponsors Rep Willis Whichard and Sen. William Staton believe it will be adequate to give some protection to the coast.

The Legislature properly built in some safeguards for property rights of the owners, giving them the right to jury trial to determine if they were unreasonably deprived of the use of their land.

Under the plan, local governments in coastal counties would begin developing land use plans for approval by the state. A coastal resources commission would be appointed by the governor from nominees selected by local governments.

Hopefully this bill will be law. If it has flaws they can be corrected by later Legislatures, for we need to begin now to protect our coast line.

New Bridge Will End A Grifton Bottleneck

A long needed project has been funded by the N. C. Board of Transportation.

The board allocated $400,000 for construction of a new bridge over Contentnea Creek at Grifton. The old steel and concrete structure is far too narrow for modern day traffic.

For many years the Contentnea Creek bridge was the entrance to Grifton from the south. It carried N. C. 11 traffic, including the heavy daily run of traffic from the Dupont plant.

The highway traffic was moved to the modern dual laned roadway which was constructed west of Grifton, but local traffic still had to use the antiquated bridge which led into town.

Now a modern 40-foot bridge will be constructed at Grifton and a bottleneck will be eliminated.

The new bridge won't be ready a day too soon.

Plan Expanding Of Involvement

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—While critics claim the preachers should stick to preaching and stop meddling, the leaders of the Christian Action League are planning to expand involvement in the political arena in coming months.

Historically confined in its action to issues involving alcoholic beverage, the North Carolina Christian Action League, under leadership of Rev. Coy Privette of Kannapolis, has branched out into a number of new areas.

Overwhelming success of the league in putting down a statewide liquor-by-the-drink movement has led to a feeling of confidence among the league leadership. The league is also considered a prime factor in successful passage of the $300 million school bond vote on the same ballot with the liquor question last year.

A high school official says bluntly: "The league was a key factor—ministers put items in church bulletins and local ministerial associations helped tremendously."

Helped Schools
Privette acknowledges that role: "Our theme was, we care about North Carolina. And our speakers all across the state always put in a plug for the school bonds."

There are some political observers who credit the league with a measure of the support which put Republican Gov. James E. Holshouser in office.

Holshouser's father-in-law is a Baptist minister, and Privette said bluntly: "Yes, I think we helped Holshouser."

"We didn't have a finer friend in the General Assembly, and our people know this. Nine times, in the face of tremendous pressure, Holshouser stood against liquor-by-the-drink. He never took a walk.

"He picked up grassroots support among churchmen in areas that had never voted Republican—and these days it doesn't take many votes to shift to make a difference," Privette said.

The league plans to get deeper into the political process in this year's election of General Assembly delegates.

A Good Government Committee is being set up to hold briefings across the state with candidates participating in some give-and-take with league leaders, prior to the November elections.

"We want to get their feelings on the key issues," Privette said.

Will formal endorsements be made? Will the Christian Action League actually back candidates?

"Well, perhaps we will put out an information sheet—a position paper—informing our people how the candidates stack up... we are here to influence legislation, after all," Privette said.

Does this new direction mean the league will begin to put forth candidates?

"No, we are not concerned about political office at this time," Privette said, but hastily agreed that such an attitude does not rule out the emergence of some league people as political candidates. Privette said some associates are already running in local races, and that interest has been put forth in a Christian Action League slate of candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

The two most prominent contenders for such a slate are Charlotte lawyer Allen A. Bailey for governor, and Raleigh minister and editor of the Baptist publication, J. Marse Grant for lieutenant governor.

Such a move is not likely—at least at this time, Privette said.

"There doesn't appear to be the need. We have a man here now who meets our tests of moral integrity. That's Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt. And he has the support of a lot of our people already," Privette said.

The Christian Action League has listed six major areas of concern among issues shaping up for the 1975 General Assembly: Penal Reform, Tax Reform, Highway Safety, Pornography and Obscenity, Advertising of Alcoholic Beverages, and Capital Punishment.

Task forces are now at work preparing position statements on those subjects.

Give blood, brothers.

It's so easy to give... yet so precious. Help someone else with the gift of life.

Compromise On Death Penalty

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH—The North Carolina Legislature, after wrestling with capital punishment for years, reached a compromise that most legislators seem to feel will work for the best.

The death penalty remains in effect in North Carolina for first-degree murder and first-degree (or aggravated) rape, but is abolished for arson and first-degree burglary.

"It's not a perfect bill," says Sen. Edward Knox of Mecklenburg, "but in my estimation, it's a good bill. I also think people on the street wanted this kind of legislation."

Rep. Sneed High of Cumberland, who has opposed capital punishment, calls the new law on the death penalty "a fair solution to an impossible situation."

Most legal observers believe the number of people tried in North Carolina courts for first-degree rape will decrease by significant numbers. First-degree rape would occur if the rapist used a deadly weapon or inflicted serious bodily injury on his victim. It would also apply if the victim is less than 12 years old, provided the rapist is over 16.

The law changes the time period when a defendant given life for second-degree rape could be paroled. Instead of being eligible for parole after 10 years, the new law makes it 20 years.

Says Sen. Knox: "We're not rewarding a man for rape in this law. We're rewarding him for not killing his victim."

Rep. Sam Johnson of Raleigh says: "By changing the time period for parole from 10 to 20 years in life sentences, we're making sure rape is still considered a very serious offense under the law."

Sen. Knox is one who feels the number of first-degree rape cases will drop off in state courts.

"The law is clear," Knox says, "and I have the horseback opinion that fewer people will be tried for their life in rape cases. I've been in court a long time, and to be frank about it, I haven't seen that many rape cases that would fall into the first-degree category under the new law."

First-degree murder, and murder committed in the act of performing a felony, will still be subject to the death penalty.

The penalty for arson and first-degree burglary, which were capital crimes under the old law, will now be from 0 to life imprisonment. Most legislators agreed the death penalty in those two categories should be abolished.

A strong opponent of capital punishment, who had fought to abolish it in its entirety in North Carolina, was Rep. H. M. Michaux of Durham. He went with the compromise bill because it had become evident weeks ago that any move to abolish the death penalty would not pass this session of the Legislature.

"This bill isn't as much as we wanted or had hoped for," Rep. Michaux said, "but it's a step in the right direction. When you're starving and have no prospects for food, a half a loaf seems a lot better than nothing. This is how I look at the compromise bill."

A campaign to provide additional books for Shepard Memorial Library was inaugurated here the first of the year by the Kiwanis club and the movement has been successful thus far.

"Library Night" will be observed by the club Friday at 6:30 and every member has been asked to bring a book or the price of one. The program is under the charge of Dr. M. B. Massey. Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, will be the speaker.

W. H. Ward of Greenville and George L. Rouse of Winterville added their announcements to those of three others for the office of County Treasurer. Other candidates are A. T. Moore, Vance Perkins and C. W. Willard.

W. L. Cherry has announced that he will be a candidate for a seat on the Board of County Commissioners, with Frank Kilpatrick of Ayden making similar announcement last week.

Strength For Today

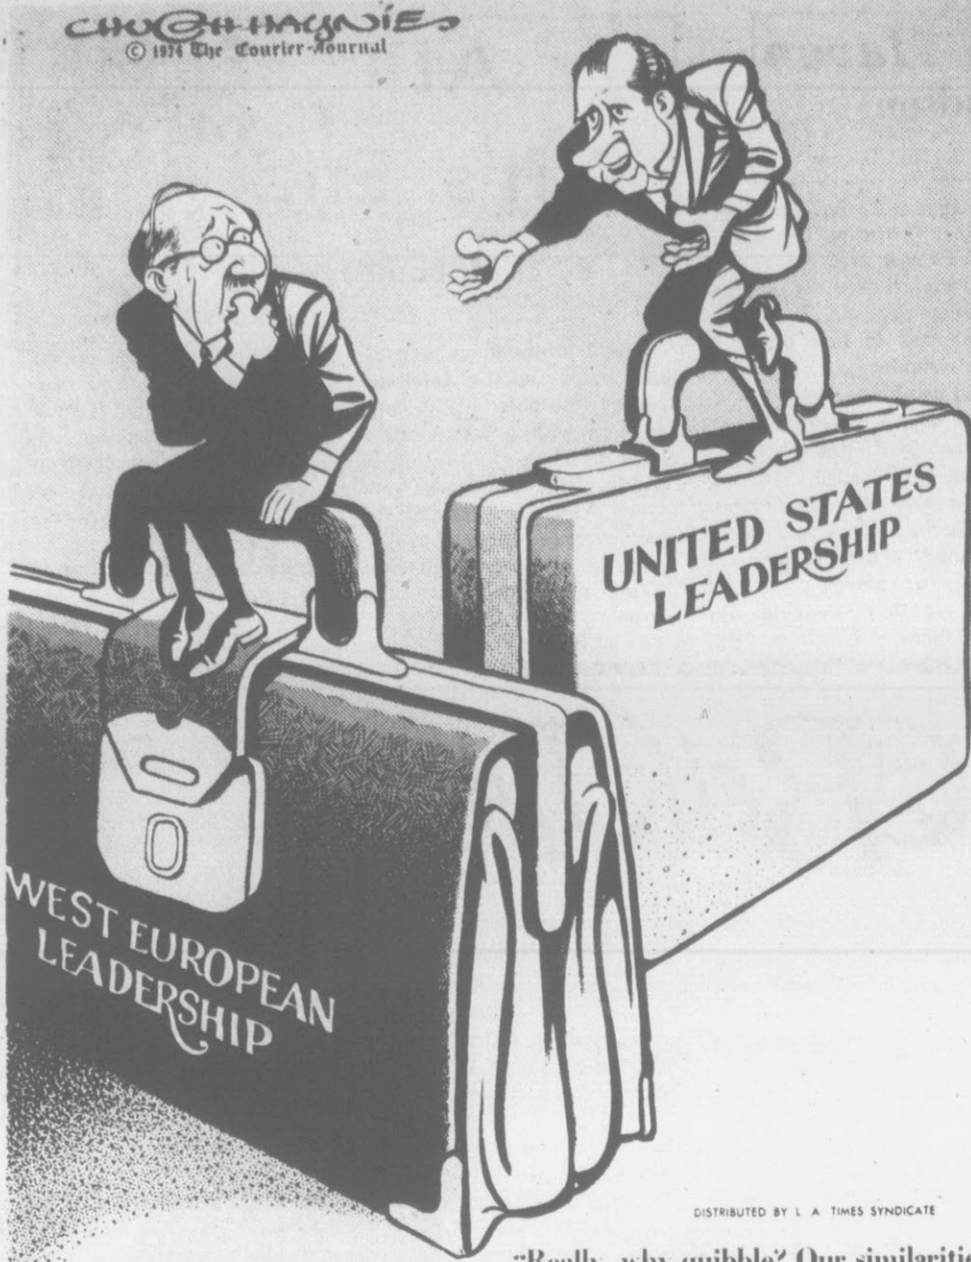

INNER FREEDOM

"Now the Lord is that Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." This is the Biblical version of the Declaration of Independence. It says that liberty is an inner matter; not an outer; that it has to do with the heart rather than the form of government. People may live under free institutions and still be slaves if they have not freed themselves of the tyranny of evil in their lives. Jesus found some of his contemporaries boasting that they had never been in bondage to any man because they were the sons of Abraham. Jesus's response was that those were still slaves who had not freed themselves from the bondage of evil within their own hearts.

"America is free if her people are free, and her people are free if they are free on the inside. External freedom can be found in the famous instrument which Jefferson wrote, but a more important freedom can be found in the spirit which Jesus brought into the world.

Free Speech Is For All

The shocking thing in the matter of William Shockley is not that he is propounding some shocking ideas. It is that he is being treated shockingly.

In the name of free speech, which is the precious inheritance of us all, liberals and conservatives alike should object.

The Columbia Broadcasting System devoted a part of its "60 Minutes" program last Sunday to the Shockley affair. The network's treatment was even-handed, but CBS doubtless will be attacked by black apologists, anyhow. A large part of the liberal community views Shockley as a devil, and one is not expected to treat devils with civility.

By way of background: William Shockley is the 64-year-old physicist, long attached to Stanford University, who in 1956 won the Nobel Prize for his pioneer work in transistors. Some eight or ten years ago, for no particular reason except that the matter interested him, he turned his attention to racial differences in what may be termed, provisionally, "intelligence." He began to write and to lecture in the field. It is absurd to contend that a scholar of his experience, after this time, is an ignoramus on the subject.

Shockley perceived that Negroes, as a group, uniformly score lower than whites, as a group, on standard tests intended to measure aptitude, learning, and intelligence. He concluded that these differences could be explained satisfactorily only as a consequence of genetic differences. This conclusion led him to various recommendations having to do with sterilization, and so on. Because of these specific propositions, National Review magazine recently described Dr. Shockley, in the editors' considered judgment, as a nut.

A couple of observations are in order. First, the facts themselves are not in much dispute. The systematic testing of "intelligence" goes back many years. The first massive use of standardized tests occurred in World War I, with the "Army Alpha" and "Army Beta" tests. With encouragement from the American Psychological Association, the field expanded greatly in the next 20 or 30 years. Long before Shockley came along, a host of respected scholars had worked on the voluminous data. The facts are plain.

What is not plain is what the facts mean. It is quite conceivable, as many critics have insisted, that the tests themselves are at fault—that cultural and environmental differences are so great that no test could be devised that fairly could measure whites and blacks by the same questions. On the other hand, it is conceivable that Shockley may be right: there may, indeed, be some genetic basis, as there seems to be a genetic basis for the black tendency toward sickle cell anemia.

When Shockley first got into this field, he was urging only that the genetic possibility be responsibly explored. Overnight he became an intellectual leper. In the emotional hothouse of a racially conscious society,

Other Editors Say Man In Middle

(Washington Daily News)

The fact that the word politics has become synonymous in today's world with something naturally ugly is casting an unfortunate shadow on a lot of dedicated people in politics and government.

Until sometime ago Gerald Ford was a congressman from Michigan. Suddenly upon the resignation of Vice President Agnew he was thrust upon the national and world scene as the nominee for vice president.

President Nixon made that nomination, and the U.S. Senate approved it after careful scrutiny. At the time he took office Mr. Ford was considered to be an outstanding gentleman, a clean-cut politician, and a man in whom people could have confidence.

Today, it is not that these qualities inwardly have been lost, but rather because of the position in which he finds himself, Mr. Ford is constantly having to walk a tight rope.

What he says is watched carefully. Indeed if he seeks to defend the president, he becomes a stool pigeon in the eyes of many people. If he blasts out at what he sees as wrong, in the eyes of many people he is biting the very hand that has fed him and he appears ungrateful.

So measure Mr. Ford in any manner we choose, we find that he is truly in the middle all the time. What he appears to be trying to say is that if the president is guilty of wrongdoing, he should be held accountable. But he is so quick to say "to date nothing wrong has been shown."

In partisan politics as a Republican he has a duty to perform not only for his country but for his party and its leadership. Surely he is beholden to President Nixon for nominating him as vice president. But the very position in which he finds himself must so often seem untenable to him.

From all indications he appears today to be the leading GOP candidate for president next time. He knows the picture well and he understands it. After all he is a practical politician. But how well he handles himself in the days ahead through his words and deeds will tell a dramatic story.

The "ifs" in his statements contain more drama than most can imagine.

Red China's Trade Commitment

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chinese are upset about news commentaries that trade prospects with the United States have cooled, a China authority and corporate trade negotiator reports.

Officials of the People's Republic, Harned Pettus Hoose said, are anxious that trade relations continue to develop. "I was asked to please make this known to business circles in the United States. They were emphatic," Hoose said.

He added: "They are very disturbed and resentful of such reports and ask what is being done to cope with them."

Hoose, a lawyer who was born and who lived 23 years in China, and who has spent six of the past 24 months negotiating for American corporations there, said he was asked continually in a recent visit to comment on the alleged cooling.

"I told them I saw no evidence of it," said Hoose, who maintains that any such reports resulted, in his opinion, from an inability of some observers to assess a nation as large and complex as China. "It's like the blind feeling an elephant," he said. "One feels the tail and believes the elephant is cool; another feels the trunk and believes the elephant is hot."

The Chinese, however, aren't inclined to accept such a simple explanation. To them, Hoose said, "reports about cooling off must originate with Taiwan or the Soviet Union or from circles that are enigmatic to the Chinese."

Partly because they believe the Soviets are a "very real and immediate threat," in

Reform Theory Tested

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Seeking insurance against future Watergates, political reformers are urging 1976 presidential nominees to do their campaign business through the Republican and Democratic national committees.

The theory is that management, or at least supervision, by regular party organizations and leaders would guard against the kind of abuses that marked President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

But there is a flaw: the way the system works, in a presidential year a party's nominee for the White House decides who is going to run the party organization anyhow.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford has proposed that 1976 GOP candidates agree in advance that they will not set up special campaign committees without specific approval of the party.

A House Republican study panel has said that "a strong national party would help curb some of the excesses that have been witnessed during the past few years and would make it easier for the public to isolate responsibility for illegal actions..."

But presidential candidates build their personal political organizations as they campaign through the primary elections, seeking White House nomination. At that stage, the regular party organization is theoretically neutral. The pattern has been for the personal organization of the winner to take over in the fall and run the national campaign.

The presidential nominee traditionally chooses the top leadership of his party's national committee. Committee members from the 50 states elect their chairman — but in practice, they ratify the choice of the presidential nominee.

Neither party committee had much to say about the 1972 presidential campaign. As always, the clout was where the presidential nominees put it. And as usual, there was friction between state party organizations and the campaign committees set up by the candidates.

In an era of political specialization and increasingly lengthy and expensive presidential campaigns, the pattern has been one of management and control by the candidate's men, not the permanent party structure.

All of this suggests that a long term solution to the problem of presidential campaign control is going to take more than persuasion aimed at candidates.

One proposal is part of the public campaign finance bill now before the Senate. It would allow a presidential nominee to set up his own organization to run the campaign — but the chairman, or someone he designates, would have to endorse every expenditure of over $1,000 in public funds.

Understanding Helps In 'Rapping' With Youth

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Jerome Owens is a young man who feels he understands many of the problems of boys because he has experienced such problems himself.

"I can relate to these guys," Jerome said, "low income kids from a background similar to mine, mostly black kids. I know they have problems similar to mine."

Jerome, from Baltimore and a student at East Carolina University, said he still had problems, principally having to drop basketball because his grades were suffering. "I found out," he stated, "that the way I function is that if I do well on grades, I do well on court. If my grades fall, I don't do so well on court."

It is this type of his own personal reaction between studies and athletics, Jerome pointed out, that gives him clues to "some of the emotional impacts these kids suffer, maybe striving for too many goals."

Jerome, whose major is in the field of parks, recreation and conservation, has spent spare time rapping with members of the Boys' Club. He said he had worked with director Graham Gutting, with Ron Bowers and Matthew Ward in his efforts to be of help to young boys.

"I don't try to guide or direct any of the boys," Jerome said. "All I do is let a boy talk about whatever he wants to talk about. If they ask me for an answer and I feel I don't have one, I tell them so. Lots of time I know for my own experience it's just a good feeling that you have somebody to talk to.

"A rap session can be a lot more vital than it might seem to be," Jerome said. "It's sometimes another way to release tension, to bring out anxiety, even to tell a person honestly what you think of him."

In his individual or group rap sessions, Jerome said one thing he always tried to do "is to emphasize self-respect. I try to get across that its not what somebody else thinks you are supposed to be that's important, but what you are."

"It's not always easy to be what you are," Jerome added, "with all the pressures you face as you grow up. But I remember how much it used to help me back in Baltimore when people from the Lions Club rapped with us kids. I hope what I've done here has helped a little."

Kilpatrick Col...

These institutions in the past have prided themselves as citadels of free speech. Their contemptible treatment of Shockley gives the lie to this boast. Others may propound outrageous ideas, not he. A black law student explained to CBS reported Mike Wallace that freedom of speech "must be intelligently applied," and Shockley, he said, is "not intelligent." Wallace asked who is to decide which ideas are intelligent? "We are," said the student.

Shockley's political proposals, which appear to involve some kind of point-and-bonus system of rewards for sterilization, sound screwball to me. But this has to be said, and it has to be said over and over: if free speech is to survive, free speech must be preserved for those who propound ideas that others regard as screwball ideas. These ideas can be challenged, accepted, ridiculed, proved or disproved, but in a free society they must never be suppressed.

Michigan Visit Reveals Anti-Nixon Undercurrent

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
BAD AXE, Mich. (AP) — President Nixon's whirlwind trip through rural Michigan revealed considerable anti-Nixon feeling beneath a friendly, respectful welcome.

But there was little evidence it will affect next Tuesday's special congressional election. State Republican Chairman William McLaughlin was the only major figure in either party to say that Nixon's Wednesday visit could be decisive in the contest between Republican James Sparling and Democrat J. Robert Traxler.

After speaking to an enthusiastic group of 5,000 at Tri-City Airport between the 8th District's population centers of Saginaw and Bay City, Nixon flew here by helicopter for a 57-mile motorcade through solidly Republican towns and hamlets in an area known, for its shape, as Michigan's Thumb.

Though his reception was generally friendly, there were signs at many stops urging his impeachment. Speeches in Bad Axe, Cass City and Sandusky drew only mild applause, possibly because few could hear.

But there were many who said they still support the President, who carried the area overwhelmingly in 1972.

"I don't think he's as bad as they all try to let on," said John Graham in Cass City. "He has done an awful lot of good for our country."

McLaughlin, eager for a GOP victory after the loss Feb. 18 of Vice President Gerald R. Ford's old Grand Rapids seat, said Nixon's visit will have "a very dramatic effect on this campaign. If we win, there's no doubt in my mind that the President has turned the tide."

Though Sparling insisted Nixon hadn't come to campaign for him, the President praised Sparling's work as a former White House liaison man.

Sparling has de-emphasised that point, while Traxler has stressed it.

In his arrival speech Nixon sharply criticized the Democratic-controlled Congress for failing to act on three of his energy proposals: deregulation of natural gas, easing of the auto emissions standards and expanded use of coal.

Unemployment in the district's auto plants is due to the congressional "bottleneck" on those measures, Nixon said. And he blamed Congress for the high cost of living, saying it stemmed from the high cost of programs that lawmakers have passed.

Food Costs May Go Even Higher

RALEIGH (AP) — The cost of food may go even higher this summer in North Carolina because of the shortage of liquid nitrogen fertilizer in the state.

Thirty per cent liquid nitrogen fertilizer has doubled in price to $180 a ton in the last year. And 80 per cent fertilizer also costs double at $400 a ton.

Even at those prices, East Coast plants which supply North Carolina farmers are running at capacity and still can't meet the demand.

The North Carolina commissioner of agriculture, Jim Graham, said the crop most likely to be affected by the shortage will be corn. "We know the seed has been bought, but we don't know if it's been planted."

little money, it could happen that you will have to line up for food like you lined up for gas," the commissioner said.

"I'm concerned about the food supply," he said. "I'm not predicting a shortage, but you have to be realistic."

Graham said not only has the cost of fertilizer doubled, but the cost of labor, equipment and just about everything else has also increased.

He said his department is advising farmers not to use as much fertilizer per acre as they did last year, and that may help them through the pinch.

"But regardless of yields, if we don't do something to cut the cost of production, the farmer can't make a profit and he's going to go out of business," he said.

The commissioner predicted higher fruit and vegetable prices during the summer, especially the green leafy vegetables.

Voted New Regulations

"This will be true except in some isolated cases where the supply in a certain area exceeds demand," he said.

"If we don't keep our farmers where they can make a RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Milk Commission has voted to impose new regulations on the sale of reconstituted milk in the state.

The order, effective May 1, most directly affects Arcadia Dairy of Asheville. The company's sale of low-cost reconstituted milk in recent months has brought protests from competing distributors and their raw milk suppliers.

Reconstituted milk is powdered milk that has been mixed with water and possibly other liquid additives to form a fluid product.

The commission's order would, in effect, force a seller of reconstituted milk such as Arcadia to split up its profits on the reconstituted milk among its competitors' milk suppliers.

Milk processors are allowed by the state to produce and sell reconstituted milk when they are short of whole milk.

Under the commission order adopted Wednesday, a distributor processor would have to show that it is unable to obtain fresh whole milk before it can begin producing the reconstituted product.

Nixon Support Not Highly Coveted By N.C. GOP

By CATHY STEELE
Associated Press Writer

Presidential support is not a highly coveted item for Republican candidates in North Carolina.

Seven GOP candidates for the U.S. House and one Senate hopeful checked by the Associated Press indicated they would decide later whether they would seek a visit to the state by President Nixon.

Some said the outcome of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment investigation could affect their plans for the general election.

Rep. Jim Martin, the Ninth District incumbent, said he "would not be embarrassed at all" if Nixon visited Charlotte during his campaign. He added, "To put it more positively, I'd be honored."

Martin and the other congressional candidates are unopposed for their party's nomination.

Martin said he has not begun planning his campaign. He said his staff weighs whether a campaign tactic "would be helpful or hurtful" before scheduling it.

"There's a lot of uncertainty" involved in presidential support during a campaign, Martin said. But he added, "If he feels it would be helpful to him to come to Charlotte to speak, then we'd be glad to have him."

William E. Stevens, considered the front-runner in the three-man Republican race for the U.S. Senate nomination, was among several candidates who said they had not planned to seek Nixon's help.

"That doesn't mean we're shutting the door to it," said Brad Hayes, Stevens' campaign manager.

Rep. Earl Ruth of Salisbury could not be contacted. His administrative assistant, Norman Martin, said, "We've never asked the President to help us in the past and, Watergate aside, we wouldn't expect to this time around."

Martin said mail from Ruth's Eighth District was running 2-to-1 in support of Nixon.

Steve Ritchie of Reidsville, who left the Air Force to enter the Sixth District race, believed Nixon's help would be a plus.

Ritchie, the only U.S. ace in the Vietnam war, was introduced to the President in 1972 when Nixon was in Greensboro for a campaign visit. Ritchie does not anticipate presidential interest in the race against the Democratic incumbent, Rep. Richardson Preyer.

"It would be a little unusual that the President would come down for a local congressional race," Ritchie said.

Ward Purrington, who hopes to unseat Fourth District Rep. Ike Andrews, wasn't sure about procedures. "I don't know whether you ask the President or he volunteers," he said.

Purrington said he believed his district was more interested in local issues. "We may not ask any national figures to come in," he said.

Albert F. Gilman of Cullowhee is on leave from an administrative post at Western Carolina University to seek the 11th District House seat. Gilman does not think his district is particularly outraged about the Watergate scandal.

"They are fed up in general with the whole Washington syndrome," Gilman said. "They would like to get on with solving the problems."

Gilman will face Democratic incumbent Roy Taylor.

An incumbent Republican, Rep. Wilmer Mizell, said, "I have been too busy working in Congress for those I represent to have made any plans for my re-election campaign. I am sure the people of the Fifth District would welcome a visit by the President of the United States at any time."

Mizell considered seeking the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Sam Ervin, a Democrat, but decided in February to run for re-election. He said then that a Republican could win the Senate race and the effect of Watergate would be minimal.

An aide to Rep. James T. Broyhill said the 10th District congressman has not started planning his campaign. Cecile Srodes said Broyhill had never asked for presidential help in a campaign.

She said, however, that Nixon made a television commercial for Broyhill in 1968, the year Nixon was seeking his first term in the White House.

Harry McMullan, GOP candidate for the First District Congressional seat, could not be reached for comment.

Piedmont Airlines To Restore Flights

WINSTON-SALEM—Piedmont Airlines announced this week that many Piedmont flights to Eastern North Carolina airports suspended in January due to the fuel shortage will be restored in May, but spokesmen said the increased scheduling will not affect departures from Kinston or New Bern airports.

Wayne Pope said that system-wide, Piedmont Airlines had 530 departures per day in December 1973. These were reduced to 489 in January when a reduction in scheduling was forced by the shortage of fuel. March departures went up to 501 and scheduling effective May 1 calls for 523 departures.

Piedmont, which services 80 cities in 12 states, recorded 10 departures per day from Kinston in December 1973. Nine departures have been scheduled since that time, including the schedule to become effective May 1, Pope noted, while New

Pay Strikes Reach Peak

By John Roderick
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Japanese labor's annual "shunto," its spring wage offensive, reached its peak today with millions of workers on a one-to-five-day strike affecting more than half the nation's 108 million people.

It was the closest thing to a general strike in Japan's history.

The workers struck the railroads, subways, buses, taxis, airlines and commercial shipping.

Also hit were schools; telegraph, government and post offices; municipal garbage collection; forestry preserves; the government printing agency and the mint.

The nationwide labor movement is seeking wage hikes of 30 to 35 per cent to counter the soaring cost of living, which rose 24 per cent last year under the pressure from the increase in oil prices.

Some industries have already given in. But Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka has refused to budge from an offer of an 18.7 per cent increase for government workers, including those on the national railway, and has also failed to satisfy the rail workers' demands for the legal right to strike. Tanaka proposed a two-year study of the right-to-strike question by a special cabinet council.

The transport strikes affected more than 40 million people, or two-thirds of the work force. Those who didn't stay home struggled to their offices and factories on foot, by bicycle, car pool or motorcycle.

Street Gym, Johnny Bailey told commissioners he would like to try the idea at least a one-time try. Bailey, who said he was with Four-Par Productions, a booking agency in Greenville, explained he was relatively new and had wondered why there had been no public teen-age dances held in the city in the past couple of years.

The plan presented by Bailey includes booking a band of young musicians, most of whom, he said are in the 17 to 20 year old age bracket and who could provide the type of music enjoyed by people of this age—not rock music. Supervision to include policemen on hand and strict enforcement of no alcoholic beverages, he said, would be enforced.

"I think it will be beneficial," Bailey said, "and I want it clear too I'm also in this for a profit." He mentioned a cost of about $1.00 per person, with whatever profits were made to be divided between the band and the booking agency he represents after payment of the required fees for use of the gym. The first trial dance would be held on a Saturday night between the hours of 8 and 11 p.m.

Commissioners approved Bailey's proposal on Mrs. Louis Gaylord's proposal of "being in favor of letting Mr. Bailey try his proposal once to see how it goes."

In a run-down of ideas and developments, Recreation Director Boyd Lee unveiled preliminary plans for a broad scope community summer entertainment program for summer 1974.

"It will be a Sunday in the Parks" program, Lee explained, "to be held on the grassy slope area between First and Third Streets adjacent to Reade Street."

Among ideas Lee said were taking shape are those of having a Marine band perform, staging a country-western concert, a Soul Sunday, a Greenville talent show with acts from local talent in the community, and similar activities. "Stuart Aronson will be in charge of the summer program," Lee said.

Expressing delight about the idea of a summer outdoor entertainment program, members offered several additional possibilities, including a community sing. "There's no shortage of things to do," Lee said, "in fact we've got more ideas than we have summer Sundays."

Approval was given to a request from personnel of the School of Nursing at ECU that will permit them to stage their nurses vs. doctors annual benefit ball game without payment of a facility fee. Proceeds from the game go into a nurses' scholarship fund.

A status report on the proposed swimming pool summed up the latest action taken by the City Council on this matter.

Other activities reported on by Lee shows: Recreation Department programs for the handicapped persons has shown a tremendous increase; on April 20 at the ECU track a Special Olympics will take place; and the recently staged kite-flying contest resulted in a situation where there were more prizes available than contestants to compete.

Man Reported Beaten, Robbed

A 29-year-old man was treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital last night and released after reportedly being beaten and robbed about 10 p.m. at the intersection of Bancroft Avenue and Fleming Street.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Henry Hart of 504 Darden Dr. told investigators three or four men assaulted him with their fists and a brick and took $18 in cash from him.

Investigation of the case is underway.

Tigers Down Plymouth, 4-1

PLYMOUTH—Williamston High School gained a 4-1 victory over Plymouth in the Northeastern Conference.

The Tigers pushed over three runs in the first inning for all they needed as Roy Lilley of Williamston and Lucas of Plymouth hooked up in a pitching duel.

Lilley in getting the win, scattered three hits, struck out nine and walked two. Lucas struck out eight and walked four while allowing only two hits by the Tigers.

But they came up with the runs anyway. Hubert Smith led off the first with a walk and Keith Brown also drew a free trip. Berwyn Barnhill then laced a home run to up the score to 3-0.

Plymouth came back with their only run in the bottom of the frame. Atamachuck led off with a single and advanced when Styons reached on error. Snell walked to load the bases, and another walk to Morris forced in Atamachuck.

It stayed 3-1 until the fifth when Williamston came up with its other run. Smith reached on a fielder's choice, and Brown did too, with an error letting both runners live. Barnhill also reached on an errored fielder's choice, scoring Smith with the final run.

Williamston is now 5-1 in conference play and 6-1 overall. The Tigers play host to Robersonville on Friday.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY FEELE

Things might be looking a little brighter for former East Carolina University running back Les Strayhorn this summer when he reports to the Dallas Cowboys training camp.

The man in front of him, Calvin Hill, has signed a contract to play with the Hawaiian team in the new World Football League, effective with the 1975 season.

He will play out his contract with Dallas during the coming year. Strayhorn, as things stand now, is still with Dallas, and now may have a good chance of moving up in the standings.

The Cowboys, after giving Les a year of experience, might be a little more reluctant to let him go this year, knowing that their top man isn't going to be around the following season.

The same could hold true for Carl Summerell, picked up in the fourth round of this year's draft by the New York Giants. Randy Johnson, who more or less was the first string quarterback of the Giants last year, has also signed with Hawaii for the 1975 season. He'll also use this year to play out his contract.

With Norm Snead behind Summerell, the former Pirate just might find himself seeing a lot of action during the year, possibly being groomed to step in when Johnson says Aloha.

But the same probably won't hold true for teammate Carlester Crumpler, Buffalo-bound.

Sunday, O. J. Simpson, now a part-time announcer for the American Broadcasting Company on the "Wide World of Sports," was interrupted in mid-sentence by Howard Cosell, who asked him if he planned to jump.

But Simpson hedged somewhat on the question, implying that he was happy. Besides, he added, he still had several years to go on his contract with Buffalo.

Simpson has stated that he didn't plan to play too many more years anyway. It could be a situation where Crumpler will see a lot of action being groomed—maybe not for 1975—but for a year or so after that—when he begins to reach his prime as a professional.

The game of "Hide and Seek" is again on in the American League.

Saturday, in his first appearance, Gaylord Perry had his "rule" invoked against him. That's the rule that allows an umpire, just on his own, without seeing the ball even, to call a "ball" if he suspects that a spitball has just been thrown.

Perry denies—now—that he throws the spitter. "It's just a forkball," he claims. But the umpire said that he'd seen a lot of forkballs before, and that wasn't one. Perry said he just wasn't looking for one, but for the spitter, and a chance to invoke the rule.

"I threw the same pitch on the next pitch, and he didn't call that a spitter," Perry added.

At any rate, Perry's calm composure over past inferences that he throws the illegal pitch is going to get quite a going over this year. They've never found true evidence that he's doing anything wrong, but he's the first player to ever have his own pitching "rule" in the book.

Conley Rolls Past Southern Nash, 10-1

SPRING HOPE — D. H. Conley's Vikings rolled to a 10-1 victory over Southern Nash High School yesterday with Vic Corey just missing a no-hitter. Corey went through six and two-thirds innings before finally giving up a hit. That came off the bat of Hicks, who slammed a home run, accounting for the lone run of the Firebirds. Corey had struck out four and walked none along the way to his

Robersonville In 7-1 Victory

BAGLEY — Robersonville High School, after losing their first Eastern Plains Conference game, bounced back to down North Johnston, 7-1 yesterday. The win boosted the Golden Eagles to 4-1 in the conference, while North Johnston, in the other division, was losing its first game in league play. Robersonville is 4-3 overall. Jimmy Stalls tossed a two-hitter at North Johnston, with Ronnie Toole getting both of those. Stalls fanned three and walked two. Jeff and Doug Warren led the Robersonville hitting, each getting two. Robersonville pushed over four runs in the first, getting all they were to need. Kim Knox reached on a two-base error and Matt Wilson singled him to third. Wilson stole second and both runners scored on Doug Warren's hit. Mike Matthews reached on another two-base

Southern Upsets Farmville Nine

DUDLEY—Southern Wayne High School continued to cut a surprising path through the Eastern Carolina Conference, pulling off a 2-1 upset of Farmville Central yesterday. The loss knocked Farmville Central out of sole possession of first place in the league. The Jaguars are now 5-2 in the league and 6-2 overall. Neither team got much action going in the game as both Ed Wells of Farmville Central and Gardner of Southern Wayne pitched five hitters. Southern scored first, however, pushing over two in the fifth inning. Neal Bartlett singled and stole second, scoring when Rett Raynor doubled. Tom

Belhaven Tops Bear Grass

BEAR GRASS—Belhaven High School handed Bear Grass its second defeat in Beaufort-Hyde-Martin Conference play yesterday, 7-4. The loss left the Bears with a 3-2 overall mark and a 1-2 conference record. Belhaven took the lead with a run in the top of the first. Kirk walked and Shelley reached on an error, scoring Kirk. In the second, Bear Grass tied it up with a run. David Hodges singled and stole second and third. He scored on Danny Rogerson's hit. In the third, however, Belhaven came up with three runs for a 4-1 edge. Satchel singled and stole second. Shelley walked and Smithwick got a hit, scoring Satchel. Miller then singled, driving in both Shelley and Smithwick. The Bears came up with another run in the bottom of the third. Jerry Wynne singled and stole second. Keith Williams walked and Wynne stole third. A double steal then scored Wynne, cutting the lead to 4-2. But Belhaven scored in the fourth to get what proved to be one-hitter. The Vikings put the game away in the first inning with four big runs. Clennel Streeter led off with a solo home run, staking Conley to the lead. Corey followed with a walk and Donnie Cox singled. Bobby Bryan reached on an error, loading the bases. Eugene Forrest walked, forcing in Corey. Randy Adams followed with a double, driving in Cox and Bryant for the 4-0 lead.

The Vikings came back to score two more in the second frame. Cox reached on an error and stole second. Bryan singled him to third and also stole second. Forrest walked and a hit by Adams brought in Cox and Bryan. Three more Conley runs scored in the fourth. Bryan walked and Adams reached on a fielder's choice. Jack Jones was hit by a pitch and Keith Gould walked, scoring Bryan. Streeter reached on another error, scoring both Adams and Jones. One final run scored for Conley in the seventh. Bryan Forrest, Corey and Mike Sutton all walked, and Forrest scored when Bryan Tyson reached on an error. Conley returns to action on Tuesday, playing host to Southern Wayne. Conley 420 300 1-10 4 1 S. Nash 000 000 1-1 1 5 Corey and Forrest; Hicks, Faircloth (7) and Fassnacht.

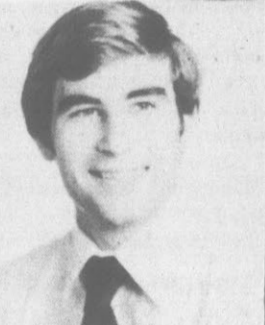

Wilson Shuts Out Phantoms

WILSON — Wilson Junior High School rolled to a 5-0 victory over E. B. Aycock Junior High School yesterday. It was the first loss in two starts for the Phantoms, who have had three games postponed. Aycock got only four hits during the afternoon, and threatened only three times. They got a man as far as second in the fourth, then one to third in the sixth. A runner reached second in the seventh. Wilson, after threatening in the second, scored two runs in the third. Gary Griffin reached on an error and so did Babe Allen. Danny Jernigan walked to load them up, and a walk to Jeff Wonder When He'll Get Hit?

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Now that Hank Aaron has hit THE home run, the question is when will he get any other kind of hit.

Other than his two home runs—Nos. 714 and 715—it's been nothing but outsville' this season and the 40-year-old Atlanta superstar with the lifetime .311 batting average is hitting at a lowly .154 clip.

Aaron grounded out twice following his record-breaking home run Monday night. He sat out the next game and Wednesday night he took an 0-for-4 collar—two fly balls, one grounder and a strikeout—as Tommy John and Mike Marshall of Los Angeles held the Braves to four singles in pitching the Dodgers to a 4-0 triumph.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Montreal Expos finally swung into action and beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-8 in 13 innings, the San Francisco Giants edged the Cincinnati Reds 4-3, the New York Mets nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, the Chicago Cubs overtook the Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 and the Houston Astros walloped the San Diego Padres 9-1.

Net Team Gains Win

ELIZABETH CITY—Rose High School's tennis team came up with its first victory in Division I play yesterday, downing Northeastern's Eagles, 7-2.

The Rampants took a 4-2 lead in the singles, then came back to sweep the doubles events. Both of the Northeastern victories went three sets as the Rampants fought hard for a sweep.

The two teams meet again on Wednesday as Rose travels to meet them again. The Rampants are now 2-7 overall and 1-3 in the league.

Wants To See 20-Second Pitch Clock

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Pro basketball has its 24 and 30-second clocks to help speed up games, and Clyde Wright, veteran left-handed pitcher of the Milwaukee Brewers, thinks major league baseball should adopt a 20-second clock between pitches for the same purpose.

"I played in the minor leagues in Wichita, Kan., with the 20-second clock on the scoreboard, and it really made the game a lot more interesting," Wright said Wednesday after pitching what he considered 83-3 innings of slow baseball in the Brewers' 6-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

"Games lasted only an hour and a half or a little more, and the fans didn't get bored," he added.

The 20,036 opening-day fans at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium apparently were getting bored Wednesday, and they began throwing snowballs on the field.

Their boredom turned to disappointment in the ninth inning when Milwaukee's Don Money smashed a dramatic grand slam home run with two out, lifting the Brewers to a 6-4 victory.

"He broke the monotonous real nice," Wright said of Money's blast during the 2 hour, 45 minute game.

In other American League games Wednesday, the California Angels edged the Texas Rangers 4-3, the Kansas City Royals defeated the Oakland A's 4-1, the Minnesota Twins beat the winless Chicago White Sox 6-5, and the Baltimore Orioles' game against the Red Sox at Boston was postponed because of snow.

Wright and Jim Perry were locked in a 2-2 duel until the ninth. Then the Brewers filled the bases on two walks and a single, before Money tagged reliever Cecil Upshaw for his homer, which carried over the left field fence.

Angels 4, Rangers 3
The Angels broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth inning when Richie Scheinblum singled with one out, and scored from first as Ellie Rodriguez singled to left and Alex Johnson fumbled the ball.

Texas' Ferguson Jenkins, who pitched a one-hitter in his American League debut last week against Oakland, was clipped for three runs in the first inning by California, but settled down and hurled scoreless three-hit ball until the ninth.

Frank Tanana went the distance for the Angels and allowed nine hits, including Tom Grieve's two-run homer.

Royals 4, A's 1
Home runs by John Mayberry and Fred Patek backed the six-hit pitching of Steve Busby in Kansas City's victory over Oakland.

Busby helped himself by picking off Bill North from third base in the sixth inning when the A's scored their only run.

Both Kansas City homers came off loser Ken Holtzman, Mayberry connecting with one on in the first inning and Patek hitting his while leading off in the fifth.

Twins 6, White Sox 5
Minnesota capitalized on the wildness of Chicago pitchers in the seventh inning, bunting five walks, a double and a sacrifice fly for four runs in overcoming a 5-2 deficit and handing the White Sox their four setback.

After starter Stan Bahnsen walked leadoff batter Jim Holt in the seventh, Terry Forster came in and walked Randy Hundley and surrendered a run-scoring double to Jerry Terrell. Then, Forster walked Sergio Ferrer and Rod Carew, forcing in a run.

Cy Acosta replaced Forster and walked Larry Hise, forcing in the tying run, and Tony Oliva drove in the winner with a sacrifice fly.

White Sox' slugger Dick Allen slammed his first homer of the season, but also struck out four times, taking a third strike from rookie reliever Bill Campbell in the eighth inning with two out and two men on base.

National League scores were: Montreal 12, Pittsburgh 8, in 13 innings; New York Mets 3, St.

Louis 2; Chicago Cubs 7; Philadelphia 6; San Francisco 4; Cincinnati 3; Los Angeles 4; Atlanta 0, and Houston 9, San Diego 1.

ATLANTA (AP) — Bill McDonald has been named head trainer at Georgia Tech. McDonald, assistant trainer at Tech for the past two years, was elevated when Pat Dyer left to take a similar position with the Birmingham franchise in the World Football League.

Mecklenburg Legislators Camouflaged Liquor Bill

RALEIGH (AP)—Mecklenburg County legislators nearly succeeded Wednesday in a covert attempt to enact liquor by the drink legislation for their county.

The House and Senate actually passed a well camouflaged bill enabling Mecklenburg to have liquor by the drink before discovering what it had done and reversing itself.

The Mecklenburg end began Wednesday morning when the Senate took up consideration of about 25 local bills. One of them was a Charlotte zoning ordinance.

The legislature, particularly near the end of the session, passes local bills without debate unless there is disagreement in the delegation concerned.

There was no dissent from Mecklenburg's senators when Republican Michael Mullins introduced a "minor amendment."

Mullins' amendment changed the title of the bill by adding the words, "And to authorize But Chapter 617 of the 1971 session laws is the liquor by the drink referendum bill passed for Mecklenburg and Moore counties in 1971. That law was later declared unconstitutional because it arbitrarily selected those counties.

One of Mullins' amendments would have apparently made the act constitutional by deleting the reference to Moore and Mecklenburg and substituting any counties with more than 275,000 people.

Mullins apparently intended it to apply only to Mecklenburg, but it would have applied to Guilford as well.

The Senate adopted the amendment and sent the bill to the House for concurrence without knowing what its true meaning was.

lenburg, told the House the Senate had added a technical amendment and the House gave its approval.

The bill would have been ratified and become law if someone had not tipped off Sen. Charles Deane, D-Richmond.

Deane, a staunch opponent of liquor, would not say who told him about the bill's real impact. But he quickly relayed the information to other legislators and both Houses voted to reconsider and then strip the amendment from the bill.

Two Mecklenburg Democrats,

Sen. Cy Bahakel and Rep. Jo Foster, said they were unaware of what Mullins and Jordan were doing.

West came up with a superior defensive effort that left declarer with no play for his contract, and in the process destroyed the old bridge cliché, second hand low.

The bidding was fairly from the queen. East covered and declarer won with the king. Declarer was certain of seven tricks, since the club suit would produce two tricks by force. The most likely place to find the two tricks needed to fulfill the contract was in the heart suit, so declarer led a low heart towards dummy. West was equal to the occasion — he played his king! Since it would not help to win the ace, declarer allowed the king to hold the trick. He won the spade continuation with the ace and led another heart. When West played low, declarer elected to gamble that West held both heart honors and finessed the ten. East won the queen, and declarer was eventually held to six tricks.

Note that declarer must make his contract if West follows with a low heart when that suit is first led. Declarer inserts dummy's ten, and if East wins the queen, declarer can bring in the rest of the suit with a second finesse for West's king.

Best defense is for East to allow the ten of hearts to win, thereby limiting declarer to two heart tricks. But the extra entry allows declarer to make his contract by using the two heart entries to take two club finesses. Declarer will score three club tricks and two tricks in each of the other suits, for nine tricks.

straightforward. North might have passed his partner's two no trump rebid, but he felt that his good five-card suit offered play for game opposite a balanced 19-20 points, especially if South should happen to hold three hearts, or an honor in the suit.

West led the ten of spades, and declarer tried for an extra trick in that suit by putting in dummy's jack, hoping West had led away

Radio Station Sold At Auction

GREENSBORO (AP)—The trustee in bankruptcy sold radio station WEAL of Greensboro at auction for $286,000 Wednesday.

The trustee said the station would continue in operation under his supervision until the sale to Dimensions Unlimited, Inc., was approved by U.S. District Court and the Federal Communications Commission.

William E. Washington, who heads Dimensions Unlimited, said that when he gains control he plans no change in operating policies or personnel.

Often, too, it helps to make such a youngster a "Monitor" or classroom "Policeman" who supervises the others.

Parents also need to use the following psychological steps in such cases:

(1) Check the child's vision, hearing and general health level.

For many youngsters are so near-sighted they can't read the blackboard from far back where they sit in the classroom.

Others, have difficulty hearing clearly (though they may react to general sounds) but not detect the precise distinctions of clear speech.

(2) Bolster your child's classroom weak spots in the curriculum.

Maybe he is good at reading, yet rates a low grade in arithmetic.

That's especially true of youngsters whose parents move frequently.

For a child may be able to read comic books and "Classics, Illustrated" on trains, planes or buses, but not meanwhile gain drill on multiplication tables.

Thus, he may leave one school when the teacher is just starting 3 x 1, 3 x 2, etc.

But when he arrives at the new school, that teacher may be working on 6 x 1, 6 x 2, etc.

So the youngster may always be weak in mathematics, having lost the drill on 4x1, 4x2, as well as 5x1, etc.

So be sure to use the "Flash Card" strategy in the booklet below!

Mrs. Crane and I even had to employ it a few times to bolster weak spots in our 5 Crane children's Chicago grammar schooling.

But don't make home drill a tiresome affair, so vary the games and stop at 10 or 15 minutes.

(3) Help your child get acquainted quickly with those of his own age, especially if you move into a new neighborhood or new school district.

This modern stress on busing children into distant schools is bad!

Children need to grow up with their neighborhood buddies, if they are to enjoy a feeling of security.

(4) Encourage youngsters to read the comic page to you adults, telling them you'll do the dishes if they'll read aloud to daddy and mother. Alas, most newspaper comics depend on wisecracking and adult plots above the comprehension of kiddies, for few good child comics are in modern newspapers.

Children prefer narrative, suspenseful comics that portray action, and that have continuing plots!

So send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown, you need to be very careful that you do not alienate one in a position to be helpful to you by stating views contrary to his, for your hasty comments are likely to be more from an urge to express yourself than from knowledge of facts.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show you are loyal to kin although you don't agree with some of their ideas. Try not to argue, no matter what may arise. Entertain in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Put ideas across for expansion and be more willing to make changes. You have fascinating new acquaintances, but await a better time to cultivate them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get jobs out of the way and you have the weekend free of worry. Get problems solved instead of trying to forget them.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't argue with a partner whose ideas are different from yours. Plan how to get ahead better with the public in general.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't run away from the work you have to do, or you lose out in many ways. Improve health. Avoid one who is unfriendly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of getting into a blue mood, do something thoughtful for those you love and all brightens up. You can make more of your life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't make any untoward remarks at home or there could be a real rumpus. Take mirth into consideration and stop being so serious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get your duties done, particularly shopping, errands. Look out for the other driver on the road. The evening is fine for personal relationships.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Curb temptations to extravagance. Follow monetary advice of an expert. Avoid one with ideas radically different from yours.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle personal duties that are annoying but have to be taken care of anyway. Steer clear of a social invitation. Read for enjoyment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a better course of action for the future. Assist one in real need. Visit with others who can be of assistance to you and vice versa.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have a problem that you want to discuss with a good friend, but it is best to handle it yourself wisely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to be acting up just for fun and excitement, so teach early to use the energies here in constructive channels. Otherwise your child will get into much trouble. Give sufficient education slanted toward banking, property management, teaching, or similar vocation. The field of clothing, designing, is fine, also, especially if a girl.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel!" What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Will Explore Problems Of The Aging

"Aging and the Aged: Integrity versus Despair," a day-long workshop dealing with health, dietetic and social problems encountered by aged persons, will be held at East Carolina University April 17.

The workshop is sponsored by the North Carolina League of Nursing and the N. C. Dietetic Association in cooperation with the ECU Division of Continuing Education.

Keynote speaker for the event will be Sue Drummond, assistant recreation director for the City of Winston-Salem Recreation Department.

Other speakers include Elizabeth Bowling, Duke University School of Nursing instructor; Joel Vickers, ECU associate professor of community health; Camille Clarke, Greenville Regional office Dept. of Human Resources; and W. W. Howell, legislative committee chairman for the National Retired Teachers Association.

Among the topics of workshop lectures and panel discussions are the normal aging process, a consumer's point of view of retirement and aging, and community planning for the aged.

Persons interested in attending the workshop should write the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville, for further information.

Ayden Board Conducts Two Public Hearings

AYDEN—The Ayden Board of Commissioners Monday night conducted two public hearings, one to allow a mobile home to be located in the extraterritorial area of Ayden, and the other to confirm an assessment roll.

The board approved the placing of a mobile home in the extraterritorial area under the special use permit to Mr. and Mrs. James Staton, Route 3, Ayden.

The board also conducted a hearing to confirm the assessment roll and levying of assessments on Throver and Fifth Streets.

Board members adopted an ordinance prohibiting parking on the east and west sides of Juanita Street from Second Street to Sunset Drive.

Board members set May 13 as the date of a public hearing to discuss the annexation of Phase I of Deerfield Subdivision into the town limits. The request came from Village Apartments, Inc.

Travis Dixon was reappointed to a three-year term on the Ayden Planning Board. Commissioners instructed Town Manager Don Russell to sign an agreement with Howard Harrell Decorating Co. of Forest City for the rental of Christmas decorations for the town next Christmas.

It was agreed that the tax lien sale advertised in the local

Albert Opines Tax Cut Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert says Congress should consider a general tax cut if the economy continues to sag. At the same time Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means committee said a decision on a tax cut could come as early as the middle of the year.

Mills said economic indicators are not yet clear enough to make a case for a tax cut but that the committee might make a decision by the middle of the year.

Albert said at a news conference that "by his own standards, President Nixon has failed in his management of the nation's economy."

newspaper on May 9, 16, 23 and 30, and that the sale be held on June 10.

Town Manager Don Russell stated that a study should be made on the possibility of amending the zoning ordinance to permit mobile homes to be located on lots within RA-8 zoning districts which are too small to meet the building requirements. He noted that the matter would take some study by all the commissioners before any action should be taken.

Preliminary assessment resolutions ordering improvement on Short Street were adopted.

The board approved the transfer of money within the current budget to meet the needs of the town at this time.

Economist Sees Solar-Heating

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By 1984, solar collectors may be as familiar a sight on rooftops as TV antennas are today, predicts an Ohio State University economics professor.

Dr. Richard A. Tybout believes that one-third of residential space heating in the United States could be supplied by solar energy with present technology.

But he cautions that solar heating cannot eliminate the monthly fuel bill — it can only reduce it.

Tybout has conducted a joint study with Dr. George O. G. Lof of Colorado State University, supported by Resources for the Future, Inc.

The current energy shortage favors the economics of solar heating, says Tybout, and within 10 years solar heating should be profitable to install in the majority of U.S. locations.

"The cost of installing a solar heating system will rise with inflation at about the same rate as other consumer durables, while the cost of conventional gas, oil and electric space heating threatens to double and triple."

He estimates that the solar energy falling on the roof of a typical American house is nearly 10 times the annual amount of space heating needed for the house. Even on cloudy days, Tybout says, you get 10 to 15 per cent of the sun's normal radiation.

But in general, solar heat is a fair-weather friend because it isn't there when you need it most — on cold, cloudy days. "It has to be teamed with a conventional system to provide an even flow of heat on demand," says Tybout.

A well-designed solar heating system has a storage capacity of two or three days, but depending on where you live, according to the Ohio State economist, solar heating can supply 50 to 75 per cent of your heating requirements.

A cool, sunny climate like that of Santa Maria, Calif., is most favorable for solar heating, while a cloudy one such as Seattle, Wash., or Boston is least desirable. Yet even a Boston house could get 50 per cent of its heat requirement from a solar system, says Tybout.

For a typical house, a 500-square-foot collector would add about $3,500 to the mortgage. The cost of the system might range from something like $2,000 to as high as $5,000 over different parts of the country, depending on the size of installation required.

While Tybout foresees a big market developing for solar heating in the near future, you can't buy the equipment yet. "The National Science Foundation is financing some demonstration projects, and I'm sure interest will grow," he says.

Simple in design, a solar heating system consists of pumps and blowers for transferring heat from the collector to storage and from storage to either living space or hot water.

The collector on the roof is made up of one or two layers of glass plates for insulation, covering a network of black metal tubes for circulating water, then a base of black-painted sheet metal. The angle of the collector is adjusted to get maximum radiation. In this country, collectors must face south and be tilted at an angle equal to the earth's latitude plus 15 degrees, which would be about a 55-degree angle in Columbus.

The system's thermostat stops the flow of water when the temperature of the collector drops below an effective level, and the system becomes inoperative while the conventional heating system takes over the job.

When sunshine again heats the collector, the system's thermostat starts the water circulating through the tubing. The tubes conduct the hot water to the storage tank — about 10 to 20 times the size of an ordinary hot water tank — and from there the heat is circulated by blowers through the house.

What about solar cooling of a house? The concept is quite practical in the southern part of the United States, such as Miami, says Tybout, but less so in northern U.S. cities. For this application, cooling is accomplished by absorption, using the same principle as a heat-driven refrigerator.

Saturday Hours For Tax Office Are Announced

The local U. S. Internal Revenue Service office will be open Saturday (April 13) from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. to provide assistance to taxpayers filing their 1973 income tax returns, Hilton E. Boyd, group manager for the IRS office here said today.

Boyd said the deadline for filing 1973 income tax returns in North Carolina will be Tuesday, April 16, since April 15 falls on Easter Monday, which is a legal state holiday.

According to Boyd, the IRS office, at 211 Evans Street, will be open on April 16 until 5:45 p.m., instead of closing at its regular 4:45 p.m., in order to give taxpayers all assistance possible in filing their returns.

Rabies Control Clinics Will Begin On Monday

The Pitt County Community Health Department Rabies Control Clinics, held each spring throughout the county, get underway Monday.

County veterinarians volunteer their services for these clinics, according to Willie

Bell, county dog officer. The General Statutes of North Carolina require that all dogs six months or older be vaccinated every three years with chick tissue culture vaccine. Dogs between four and six months now should be vaccinated again in one year. Vaccination tags should be displayed on the dog's collar, according to State Law.

The days and hours are as follows: Monday, Apr. 15—1 to 1:30 p.m. at House's Station; 1:45 to 2:15 at Belvoir; 2:30 to 3 at R. D. Pollard's Store; and 3:15 to 3:40 at Bruce.

Tuesday, Apr. 16—2 to 1:30 p.m. at Falkland; 1:45 to 2:10 at Willie Owen's Store; 2:25 to 2:55 at Barbour's Store on the Fountain Highway; and 3:10 to 3:40 at Bell Arthur.

Wednesday, Apr. 17—1 to 1:30 at Haddock's Crossroads; 1:45 to 2:10 at Black Jack; and 2:25 to 2:55 at R. T. Baker Grocery at Portertown.

Thursday, Apr. 18—1 to 1:30 at Ballard's Crossroads; and 1:45 to 2:10 at Joyner's Crossroads.

Friday, Apr. 19—1 to 1:30 at Simpson; 1:45 to 2:10 at Ham's Crossroads; and 2:25 to 2:55 at Grimesland.

Saturday, Apr. 20—11 a.m. to noon at Bateman's Animal Hospital and Lowry's Animal Hospital, both in Greenville, and at Willow Grove Animal Hospital near Farmville.

Monday, Apr. 22—1 to 1:30 at Pactolus and 1:45 to 2:10 at Stokes.

Tuesday, Apr. 23—1 to 1:30 at Joyner's Store and 1:45 to 2:10 at Ayden City Hall.

Wednesday, Apr. 24—1 to 1:30 at Grifton; 1:45 to 2:10 at Quinerly's Store; and 2:25 to 2:50 at the Winterville Town Hall.

Thursday, Apr. 25—1 to 1:30 at R&B Grocery on the Stokes Highway and from 1:45 to 2:15 at Bethel.

Friday, Apr. 26—1 to 1:30 at Cannon's Crossroads; 1:45 to 2:15 at Gardenersville; and 2:40 to 2:55 at Stokestown.

Saturday, Apr. 27—11 a.m. to noon at the three animal hospitals (same as on previous Saturday).

Vaccination fee at public clinics will be $2.50 per dog. At veterinary hospitals, the fee will be the regular fee for private vaccination.

Probably because of its extensive vaccination program, Pitt County has not had a case of rabies in 21 years, Bell noted.

Language Class Is By Telephone

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Michel Lahlou has found a new use for Mr. Bell's invention. He's teaching languages by telephone at the convenience of his students.

A housewife has her lesson while lounging in a sudsy bath at home. A business tycoon takes instruction in the back of his chauffeur-driven limousine on his way to the executive suite. Office workers never leave their desks, often preferring to combine their telephone lessons with stay-in lunches.

Lahlou's patented method is the newest twist in language instruction since language records, and by all accounts more successful. Students work with a live instructor at the other end of the wire who can correct their mistakes as they go along, something impossible with records.

The innovator, a Parisian, experimented with audio-visual methods of language instruction when he taught at the Ecole Normale Supérieure de St. Cloud. Later in New York, while teaching at the United Nations' International School and the Alliance Française, he began experimenting with teaching by phone.

Opened Own School
Several months ago Lahlou opened his own school, called Phonetab, in midtown Manhattan, where a staff of instructors in French, Italian, German, Spanish and Japanese man the lines. Students work out a convenient five-day-a-week telephone schedule with their teachers, who phone their students at the appointed hour on three of those days for 25-minute sessions. The student absorbs vocabulary and grammar with the aid of a printed lesson sheet through conversation, not the usual drills.

On the two alternate days, students work for 20 minutes on vocabulary, grammar and structure utilizing recorded audio techniques. The courses run a minimum of four weeks, but most students study longer. Students who know the basics of a language can begin with an intermediate or even advanced course.

"This way you speak French every day," said Lahlou. "After all, this is the way every child learns his native tongue—by hearing it and speaking it daily. You speak a foreign language two hours every week by the telephone method, compared to the few minutes you'd get to speak in the traditional multi-student classroom."

No Pollution
"You don't pick up pronunciation pollution from other students, and you aren't held back by their slowness. Nor are you embarrassed by the presence of other students when you make a mistake. You don't have to travel to classes, but relax anywhere you elect to take your lesson. If you miss a lesson, there's no need to 'catch up'."

Charles Burr, a Columbia Records executive, an advanced student who tried learning French through recordings, finds the telephone method far superior.

"Records simply can't provide the encouragement of personal communications on the phone," he said. "And they can't prove the sense of triumph that occurs when the student succeeds in understanding and making himself understood. I have a sensation of a door having finally opened to me."

Had A Record Before Driving

SWANSEA, Wales (AP) — Barry Carr was overjoyed when he passed his driving test soon after his 17th birthday — the earliest age at which Britons are permitted to drive a car. But when his brand-new license arrived, it bore 12 endorsements for a whole array of driving offenses, plus a 28-day driving ban.

Police proved sympathetic when it was found a computer at the license office had run wild. "The system has not been operating for long," said an official there.

How N.C. Representatives And Senators Voted

By ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes March 28 through April 3.

House
INTERNAL SECURITY
Passed, 247 for and 86 against, a resolution to give the House Internal Security Committee, formerly the Committee on Un-American Activities, operating money for the remainder of 1974.

Those voting against wanted to abolish the controversial committee.

Supporters of the resolution (H. Res. 937) argued that Congress must keep watch on allegedly subversive and terrorist activities in the United States. Some argued that the continuing effort to abolish HISC is orchestrated by Communists. Rep. Richard Ichord (D-Mo.)

committee chairman, said Congress benefits from "the accurate information" collected on "kookie revolutionary" organizations, such as the Black Panthers and SDS.

Opponents argued that the committee is a cold war relic and performs watchdog duties better handled by the FBI. They said the committee's files on citizens are a dangerous invasion of privacy.

Rep. Robert Drinan (D-Mass) said that members who vote for "are implicitly voting for terrorism."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L. H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Wilmer Mizell (D-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Earl Ruth (R-8), James Martin (R-9), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "yea."

Reps. Ike Andrews (D-4) and Charles Rose (D-7) did not vote.

CONSUMER'S AGENCY
Rejected, 176 for and 223 against, a move to weaken the bill to create a Consumer Protection Agency. The overall bill (H.R. 13163) was later passed and sent to the Senate.

The agency would represent consumers in court by suing businesses alleged to advertise deceptively to sell unsafe products. It would get broad powers to enlist other agencies—such as the Federal Trade Commission—in its litigation.

The rejected amendment would have limited the CPA's access to information (such as trade secrets), restricted its courtroom options and applied the bill's provisions to labor unions as well as businesses. The bill was lobbied intensively. The Administration hoped to weaken the bill, Nader representatives opposed any weakening, and the National Association of Manufacturers "totally opposed" the concept of the agency.

Supporters said the rejected amendment was a "responsible alternative" to creating an agency to "ride herd" on American business, and argued against creating "another commission" to "tell people how to live."

Opponents argued that limiting the agency's judicial standing would "gut the bill," which is a compromise worked out after five years of seeking consumer protection legislation. Jones, Jountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

MILITARY BONUSES
Rejected, 194 for and 201 against, an amendment to eliminate proposed bonuses to attract dentists, optometrists and veterinarians into the military. The amendment would have limited the bonuses to medical doctors.

The overall bill (S. 2770) was requested by the Defense Department to meet shortages of doctors in the volunteer army. The House Armed Services Committee added bonuses for other types of doctors.

The bill sets discretionary enlistment bonuses of up to $15,000, at a maximum cost of $106 million per fiscal year.

Those voting for said the additional bonuses will waste $31 million per year, and are opposed by the Defense Department. Rep. Les Aspin (D-Wis) called them "ornaments on a Christmas tree." Some members argued that doctor shortages in civilian society are more critical than in the military.

Opponents argued that shortages of health officers will cause soldiers to seek out private practitioners, at taxpayer expense. Rep. Robert Leggett (D-Calif) said this would make the taxpayers "pay it back in spades."

Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

Senate
FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE
Rejected, 34 for and 55 against, to table an amendment that requires candidates for federal office to disclose how much federal, state and local income and property taxes they pay. After defeating the move to kill the amendment, the Senate added the requirement to the campaign financing reform bill (S. 3044).

The amendment expands the bill's financial disclosure provisions, which also call for disclosure of sources of income. If the language becomes law, the only tax information to remain private will be deductions a candidate claims, including donations to charities.

Supporters of tabling, and thus killing, the tax disclosure language argued that candidates for President, Senate and House deserve privacy.

Opponents argued that the public must be convinced that the vast majority of elected officials "abide by the laws they make and administer."

Sens. Jesse Helms (R) and Sam Ervin (D) voted "yea."

ELECTION RESULT AN-

NOUNCEMENTS Passed 43 for and 38 against, an amendment to prohibit releasing results of presidential elections until midnight Eastern Standard Time.

The amendment was added to the campaign financing reform bill. Its thrust is to halt media projections of victory and defeat based on incomplete returns from eastern precincts.

Supporters argued that en-predictions can influence election results in western time zones. They said a western-state voter, when told his candidate has lost, may not vote.

Opponents argued that enforcing the proposed law would be impossible. Other senators argued that the amendment will not stop media projections and therefore, should be referred to committee for further study.

Helms and Ervin voted "nay."

SENATOR'S INCOME
Tabled, 61 for and 31 against, an amendment to bar senators and representatives from accepting payment for speaking engagements or writing books, except for "out-of-pocket" expenses. The honorarium ban was offered to the campaign financing reform bill.

The amendment was loaded down on an earlier vote with language to bar Members of Congress from gaining income from any source that is subsidized by the federal government, including dividend income from a bank that has federal deposit insurance, or stock dividends from a federal contractor.

Supporters of tabling and thus killing the amendment generally argued that members should have the right to gain income from private sources.

Opponents generally argued that being an elected official is a fulltime occupation, and that restricting member's income to federal paychecks would guard against conflicts-of-interest.

Ervin voted "yea" and Helms voted "nay."

POLITICAL ADVERTISING
Rejected, 29 for and 52 against, an amendment to require newspapers and other print media to keep records of paid political advertisements, and to send the records to the federal government for publication prior to election days.

The amendment was offered to the campaign financing reform bill, which already would require the broadcast media to keep such records, but does not require transmitting the records to the government.

The thrust of the amendment was to double-check candidates' reports of money spent on advertising, as called for by the bill.

Supporters argued that such a check would assure accurate records. They said that sending the records to a central location would expedite the process.

Opponents argued against making the press an enforcing arm of the government. Sen. Lowell Weicker (R-Conn) said the government can not force "the press to be candid."

Helms voted "yea" and Ervin voted "nay."

Venezuela Preparing To Nationalize Oil Output

By NIGEL CUMBERBATCH
Associated Press Writer
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)

Venezuela is preparing to nationalize its oil industry, one of the chief foreign suppliers of the United States, in the next decade.

Most foreign oil concessions expire in 1983, and already two bills calling for immediate nationalization of the 3.3-million-barrel-a-day industry are before a congressional committee.

The bills were introduced by the Social Christian party, the leading opposition faction, and the small, left-wing People's Electoral Movement. President Carlos Andres Perez's new Democratic Action government has set up a special committee to study eventual nationalization and report in 60 days.

The foreign oil companies — most of them American — have not objected to nationalization and say they are willing to discuss new arrangements with the Venezuelan government.

The government last week ordered a 5 per cent cutback in oil production effective April 15. Valentin Hernandez, the minister of mines and hydrocarbons, said the purpose was to conserve natural gas lost in pumping crude oil.

Several Venezuelan experts favor as much as a 50 per cent production cut to save oil for future sale at better prices. But President Perez has said this would not be advisable on moral and political grounds.

Exxon's Venezuelan subsidiary, the Creole Petroleum Corp., was hit hardest by the 5 per cent cut because it is the largest oil producer. The company said it will ship about 100,000 barrels a day less as a result.

A score of foreign oil companies, which also include

Shell, Mobil, Sun, Gulf and Texaco, produce about 95 per cent of Venezuela's oil output. The companies operate under a system of 40-year concessions. A 1970 oil reversion law was designed to ensure a smooth and orderly state takeover without compensation when the concessions run out. But all political parties agree the government does not have to wait until 1983 to take over the industry.

To the demands for immediate nationalization, the center-left government — which has a majority in Congress — has said: "We cannot play with the backbone of our economy. We must proceed carefully and intelligently."

Venezuela supplies the United States with about 1.7 million barrels of oil a day and ships another 450,000 barrels a day to Canada.

Once-Scorned Guitar Is Now Major Instrument

CHICAGO (AP) — If you'd mentioned the guitar for classroom instrumental use a bare ten years ago, most of the country's music teachers would have sounded a sour note, along with parents and school administrators.

Today, there's a growing chorus of educators, backed by school boards and principals, who believe the guitar provides the key to a host of student problems, not to mention classroom enjoyment.

A study by the Guitar and Accessory Manufacturers Assn. here has found that in some of America's most conservative communities the guitar has not only gone to school, but is involving large percentages of the student body.

According to new statistics on school music programs, about 17 per cent of U.S. high schools now have guitars available for students to play, and nearly 10 per cent offer group guitar lessons. Most of these programs have been developed in the past three years. Projected nationally, this means that well over 2,000 high schools are offering some form of guitar instruction.

Reflecting the need for more training on the instrument in colleges and universities that graduate music teachers is the fact that many of the instructors conducting these classes are self-taught, or have learned to play the guitar in one of the many clinics offered by instrument manufacturers.

Most of the courses are short on theory but long on immediate results and building a good repertoire of songs to play. In a Middletown, Calif., high school there's a concerted effort to turn out highly proficient musicians. The guitar class is now in its seventh year, making it one of the oldest such classes in the country. The course lasts for four years if a student wants to stick with it, and takes him from simple folk songs on an acoustic model through to complicated ballads on an electric guitar.

The Middletown program is unusual in several respects: it followed a request by the local school board for graduating seniors to have an income-producing skill. Advanced students spend part of their time playing for elementary school classes and earning with their guitars money that funnels back into the school music program. By the end of the second year, most students have a repertoire of 200 songs.

In Frisco, Colo., the program doesn't aim for this kind of proficiency, but the junior high school students seem to grow adept very rapidly. Their teacher uses guitar lessons not only to teach pupils to play, but also to give them some idea of how and why the songs they learn were written. Some songs selected predate the Civil War; the class moves up to contemporary folk and rock music.

Frisco parents are delighted with the program because it has helped motivate their children to do better in all their studies — an effect found in most of the schools where strong guitar programs have been launched.

In Cheyenne, S.D., the guitar class is given for "pure enjoyment" and has become so popular that the teacher could enroll at least double the number of students. The teen-agers, who learn by chord and not by note, get a daily 55-minute class.

At Redshaw Junior High School in New Brunswick, N.J. — an inner-city school — one out of every three teen-agers takes guitar. The program was started several years ago to try to find some approach that would cut through the apathy caused by boredom and generally miserable conditions at home.

Today Redshaw has two teachers directing four guitar classes a day. Supervisor of music George Kraus says many of the teens who do best on the guitar were persistent under-achievers in all other classes. But now they've seen they can make it with the guitar, and they're trying harder and succeeding with other subjects. Another result of the program: school attendance has improved.

Based on the Redshaw experience, a program for the entire state of New Jersey is being mapped out. Other general classroom and music teachers are also studying these and similar programs for adaptation to their own students.
