Life Terms Upheld

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A five-judge criminal appeals court today upheld a lower court decision sentencing three Americans to life terms on conviction of conspiring to smuggle drugs into Turkey.

The hushed session lasted five minutes.

The verdict of the Turkish court virtually exhausted all legal means for a reversal of the sentence of Katherine Zenz, 28, of Lancaster, Wis.; Joann McDaniel, 29, of Coos Bay, Ore., and Robert E. Hubbard, 23, of San Diego, Calif.

The decision of the appeals court makes the sentence final except for a slim chance that a request for retrial by the defense may be granted, legal authorities said.

The retrial is only granted in cases where important new evidence or witnesses can be presented, they said.

The three will probably benefit from an amnesty bill presently under debate in the Turkish parliament which would reduce all life terms to 24 years imprisonment when enacted.

Trade Balance Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharply higher cost of oil imports pushed the United States trade balance into deficit in March for the first time in 10 months, the Commerce Department reported today.

The department said imports during March exceeded exports by $171.3 million. This compared with a surplus of $213 million in February. The country's trade still is in surplus for the year by $685.6 million.

The March deficit was attributed almost entirely to a 17 per cent increase in the cost of imports of foreign oil. This reflects the sharply higher price tag imposed by the oil-producing nations.

Administration economists have predicted that the higher cost of foreign oil will offset the nation's otherwise encouraging trading position and bring about a trade deficit this year.

Productivity Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The productivity of American workers dropped at an annual rate of 5.5 per cent during the first three months of this year, the government says.

The labor Department said Thursday the slump affected all sectors of the economy and was the biggest drop in productivity — output per hour of work — on record.

Falling productivity puts an upward pressure on prices as unit labor costs rise.

The department also reported that real compensation per hour of work—adjusted to reflect rising prices—declined 5.6 per cent during the first quarter of the year, to its lowest level in two years.

As a result, workers can be expected to seek higher wages to catch up with the cost of living, further increasing labor costs.

Government analysts said the decrease in productivity resulted from a 6.5 per cent drop in output and a modest decline in the length of the work week, primarily from effects of the energy crisis on industry.

New Prime Rate High

NEW YORK (AP) — More banks have raised their prime lending rates to 10½ per cent and a record 10¾ per cent prime rate has been posted by the Citizens & Southern National Bank of Atlanta.

Only last week, Citizens & Southern was the first bank to move from a 10¼ per cent prime to the then-record 10½ per cent level.

At the start of business Thursday Manufacturers Hanover Trust and Morgan Guaranty Trust, both of New York, joined several smaller banks in raising the prime to the 10½ per cent mark. Manufacturers Hanover is the nation's fourth largest commercial bank and Morgan Guaranty is the fifth biggest.

At the 10½ per cent rate were more than 20 banks, including four of the nation's five largest. First National City Bank of New York, which announces its prime today, was the only one of the top five that had not moved.

Cheaper Fuel Process

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has a new and cheaper way of producing ethyl alcohol that could reduce the price of automobile fuel as much as 20 cents a gallon, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today.

Proxmire said the U.S. Army

Laboratory at Natick, Mass., developed the process of producing ethanol from organic wastes.

In a letter to John C. Sawhill, acting director of the Federal Energy office, he urged the FEO to examine the possible use of ethanol in gasoline used to power automobiles.

Until recently ethanol was far more expensive than gasoline, Proxmire said, adding:

"This is no longer the case. While oil prices have skyrocketed, ... this process can cut the cost of ethanol from one dollar a gallon to 20 cents per gallon."

Proposes Ban On Large Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., says the federal government should ban manufacture of large luxury cars because they consume too much gas.

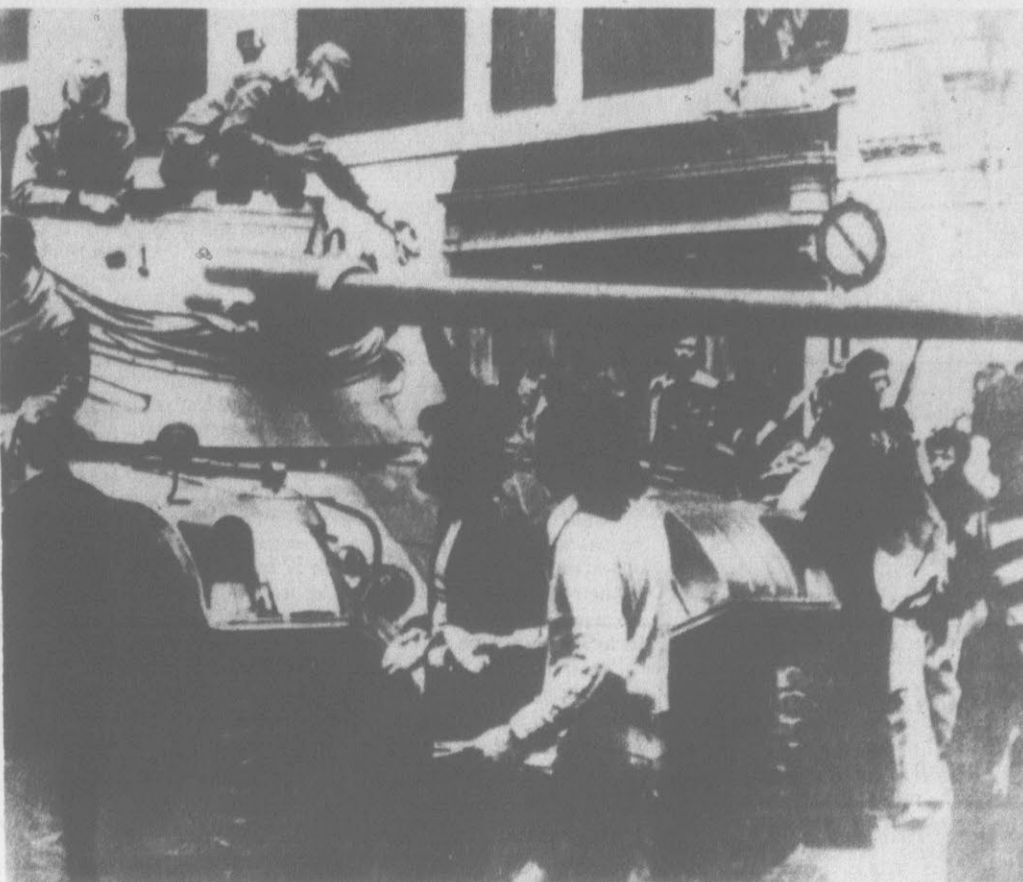

Javits, who drives a 1971 Ford Mustang, says, "There seems to be a resumption of the appetite for the large cars which the automobile companies are going along with. The government should not allow it to continue."

Javits made his comments Thursday during an energy conference sponsored by the Regional Plan Association and the State School of Labor and Industrial Relations.

Tires Slashed On 40 Vehicles

EAST SPENCER, N.C. (AP) — Tires were slashed Wednesday night on 40 vehicles, including those on Mayor Reginald Massey's car, police report.

Police Chief John Rustin says it's probably the work of young vandals, and is the fourth such incident since last October. East Spencer is a town of 2,200 just north of Salisbury.

Country Is Overcritical Of Oil Profits: Morton

By The Associated Press
Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton says the country "is being overcritical of the profits" of oil companies, which continue to announce large increases in their net income.

Morton, speaking in San Diego, Calif., said Thursday that "oil companies need good profits so they will have the gigantic sums of money needed to find and bring out additional oil."

He said, however, he would be uncomfortable if the large profits being reported by the giant companies for the first three months of 1974 were being turned into huge dividends or bonuses for executives.

As Morton spoke, Standard Oil of California and Shell Oil — the nation's fifth and seventh largest petroleum companies — reported first quarter profits up 90 per cent and 52 per cent, respectively.

They joined Exxon, Texaco, Standard of Indiana, Occidental and Gulf, which earlier this week reported net income increases over the first three months of 1973 ranging from 39 per cent to 718 per cent.

Standard Oil of California announced first-quarter earnings — net income after taxes — of $293 million, up 90 per cent. It said that amounted to $1.72 per share of common stock. The company said its gross revenues had more than doubled in the same period, from $1.9 billion to $3.9 billion.

In Houston, Shell Oil, a subsidiary of Holland's Royal Dutch Shell, reported first quarter profits on U.S. operations of $121.8 million. The company said that was a 52 per cent increase over the same period in 1973 and said gross revenues for the period had increased from $1.2 billion to $1.8 billion.

Also reporting Thursday was Marathon Oil Co., a smaller integrated oil firm which said its first quarter profits of $30.6 million were up 52.5 per cent from 1973. But Chairman J.C. Donnell II said those earnings were down 45.8 per cent from net income in the fourth quarter of last year.

In Whiting, Ind., Thursday, about 20 demonstrators forced their way into the shareholders meeting of Standard Oil of Indiana. Seven had to be forcibly removed, including one man who was handcuffed by police. None was arrested, and the meeting went on.

In other energy developments:

—The House Commerce Committee reported out an emergency energy bill that contains a provision which would roll back the price of oil produced in this country, and thereby lower prices consumers pay for gasoline and other petroleum products. If the rollback provision reaches the White House, it seems certain to be vetoed. A previous energy bill was vetoed by President Nixon because it contained an oil price rollback.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Junta leader Antonio de Spinoza announced today sweeping reforms in the one-day-old coup in Portugal, including breaking up the political police and holding free elections within a year.

The 64-year-old general, who swept to power in a military revolt that overthrew the 42-year-old dictatorship, also announced he was firing all civil governors both in Portugal and its overseas provinces, and all members of the cabinet.

Spinoza said former Premier Marcello Caetano and President Americo Thomaz had been sent to the island of Madeira. He did not say if they would face prosecution.

Speaking to newsmen, Spinoza said he was dissolving the one-house National Assembly, and he told questioners he would permit a multiparty political cabinet. But he did not say if Communists or Socialists would be included.

Spinoza said at the moment he does not intend to negotiate with any of the liberation movements in Portugal's black African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea.

Hundreds of people gathered at Caxias Prison outside Lisbon as word went out that an estimated 180 political prisoners would be freed.

In downtown Lisbon an angry crowd jeered and shouted, "Thieves" and "Robbers" as uniformed political police were led to vans by the army.

The crowd threw cigarettes and yelled encouragement to the troops.

A few tanks still moved through Lisbon's streets but the city was quiet. Stores reopened, but the nation's airport remained closed and so was the border between Spain and Portugal.

Lisbon newspapers listed three persons killed and 45 injured during the coup.

But generally Thursday was a day of celebration, with thousands of young men streaming into the streets to cheer the rebel troops, plying them with wine and cigarettes and smashing windows to defy police.

Spinoza, who was retired by Caetano last month because he advocated an end to the 13-year-old colonial war in Portugal's African territories, emerged as the leader of the seven-man National Salvation Junta.

Plot Arrests

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The government has arrested 75 persons including 16 military cadets and two sailors in the alleged plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, Cairo newspapers reported today.

Eleven persons were killed and 27 wounded in the resulting clash at the military technical college on April 17. Egypt has linked the plot with Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafi.

The government said on Wednesday that the attack against the military academy on the night of April 17 was to be the opening step in the overthrow of Sadat.

Demo Margin

NEW YORK (AP) — The Louis Harris Survey gives the Democrats a 23-point advantage over Republicans in November congressional elections, the largest margin it has ever reported.

The pollster said Thursday that a survey of 1,184 "likely voters" in late March posed the question: "If you had to decide right now, as far as this district is concerned, for Congress this fall, do you think you will vote Republican or Democratic?"

The results were that 52 per cent said Democratic, 29 per cent said Republican and 19 per cent were not sure, the poll said.

The Democrats' lead has more than doubled since last May and is larger than any actual voting result since the 1930s, the survey said.

To another question, 38 per cent said they felt less likely to vote Republican in 1974 because of the Watergate matter; five per cent said more likely; 53 per cent said Watergate made no real difference and four per cent were not sure.

The poll said Watergate most affected the voting intentions of persons living in the West, persons under 30, skilled labor and union members, white collar workers and those with incomes of $15,000 and above.

Handling Of Personal Papers Gift By Nixon A Major Inquiry Topic

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's handling of his gift of personal papers for tax purposes has emerged as a major area of inquiry by the House Judiciary Committee impeachment staff.

Chief Counsel John Doar disclosed Thursday the committee intends to conduct a full investigation, including submitting written questions to Nixon, to determine whether there was criminal fraud in his 1969-1972 tax deductions for papers donated to the government.

The Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation recently concluded the deduction was improper and the Internal Revenue Service assessed Nixon for $432,787 in back taxes. But there has been no previous congressional effort to determine whether fraud was involved in the preparation of the returns.

The tax matter takes its place along with the Watergate cover-up, the activities of the White House "plumbers" unit, settlement of the ITT antitrust case and political contributions by the dairy industry, Howard Hughes and Robert Vesco as the chief items on which the impeachment inquiry has settled.

Doar submitted a status report to the committee Thursday listing 17 allegations that are no longer under investigation because there is insufficient evidence to support them.

Most of them include allegations that the White House used executive agencies for political purposes and two others deal with the impoundment of congressionally-appropriated funds and the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

A decision on whether to keep the secret bombing of Cambodia on the list of possible impeachable offenses will be made after the release, expected next week, of a Senate committee report on the subject, Doar said.

The staff's recommendations on matters to be dropped were challenged by several members, and Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. D-N.J., said none were actually being eliminated. It was just a matter of focusing the staff resources on matters of highest priority, he said.

Before receiving the status report on the inquiry the committee, by a 34-4 vote, granted a 5-day delay requested by the White House for responding to a subpoena for tapes of 42 presidential conversations. The new date for a response is next Tuesday.

In extending the deadline the committee made it clear it hopes for full compliance with the subpoena in return. The request has been outstanding since Feb. 25.

Through May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will give the Penn Central Railroad up to $18 million to keep the financially ailing line running through May. Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar says.

In his announcement Thursday, Brinegar said the money will be made available on a "when-and-if-needed basis." It will come from a special fund created to aid troubled railroads in the Northeast while details of their reorganization into a profit-seeking corporation are worked out.

In return for the grant, Penn Central has agreed to submit a plan by May 15 detailing ways it can improve its efficiency.

Few Votes Missed In House By Reps. Jones And Taylor

By STEPHEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON—Reps. Roy Taylor (D-11) and Walter Jones (D-1) achieved the highest voting-attendance marks among North Carolina House members in the first 12 weeks of the 1974 legislative session.

In a survey compiled by Roll Call Report for The Daily Reflector, Taylor and Jones were shown as present and voting on 99 per cent of the 111 record votes held in the House through April 11, the beginning of the Easter recess. Taylor missed one vote and Jones missed two.

In the Senate, Sen. Sam Ervin (D) voted in 94 per cent of the upper chamber's 138 roll call votes. Sen. Jesse Helms (R) had an 89 per cent mark.

Here is the listing for the entire North Carolina House delegation: Reps. Taylor and Jones, 99 per cent; L. H. Fountain (D-2) and James Broyhill (R-10), 97 per cent; Earl Ruth (R-8), 96 per cent and Richardson Preyer (D-6), 95 per cent.

Also, Reps. James Martin (R-9), 94 per cent; Wilmer Mizell (R-5), 93 per cent; David Henderson (D-3), 89 per cent; Charles Rose (D-7), 84 per cent and Ike Andrews (D-4), 80 per cent.

In 1973, the average voting-attendance mark in the House was about 90 per cent, and in the Senate was about 87 per cent.

The survey did not cover quorum calls. Members were counted as present when they voted for or against a measure, or if they were listed as "present, but not voting."

31,080 Registered Voters Reported In County

Total voter registration in Pitt County, as of April 10, was 31,080, according to a report issued by Alex K. Brock, executive secretary-director of the State Board of Elections.

Brock reported that Pitt County had 26,201 Democrats registered on April 10, 4,055 Republicans, 23 registered as members of the American Party, and 801 listed as Independents or having no party affiliations.

Martin County registration totaled 12,057 and included 11,453 Democrats, 530 Republicans, two American Party members and 72 Independent or no-party registrants.

Total registration in Greene County was 6,294, Brock reported, with the breakdown including 5,653 Democrats, 588

Republicans, 11 American Party members, and 42 Independents or no-party registrants.

Registration statistics as indicated by racial and miscellaneous designations showed that Pitt had 23,591 white registrants, 7,450 non-white registrants, and 39 listed under Indian or other designations. Martin County had 7,911 whites registered and 4,146 non-whites while Greene County listed 4,444 white registrants and 1,850 non-white voters.

Brock reported that there are 2,257,092 persons registered to vote in the state with 1,646,122 of them listed as Democrats, 525,922 listed as Republicans, 4,735 registered as American Party members, and 80,313 listed as Independents or having no party affiliations. The official said that the total registration represents an increase of 30,963 since the Oct. 10, 1973 report.

Democratic registration increased by 19,048, he said while Republican registration increased by 8,799, American Party figures decreased by 1,765 and Independent and no party registrants increased by 4,881.

Brock added that the American Party lost its legal status following the 1972 general election and due to the change in legal status of the party, a significant number of registrants have changed their affiliations. Those remaining as registrants of the American Party, he explained, are entitled to the same voting privileges as an Independent.

Mrs. Umesh Gulati, a new member, was presented a certificate of membership.

On the invitation of a special projects committee, composed of Mrs. McCarthy, Miss White, and Mrs. W. Harold Daniel, in search for a continuing club service project, W. N. "Skeet" Creekmore, director of the Remedial Education Activity Program, Department of Special Education, East Carolina University, addressed the club regarding the REAP Program—or services for the preschool developmentally disabled child, which include training for the child and the parent.

The speaker pointed out that his department, one of the first five such organizations in the nation—originally established with a federal grant for only the salaries of professional workers—is now included in the state's higher education system. He credited the Pilot Club, which previously had made a contribution of $100, with helping to keep the program intact until the major financial responsibility was assumed by the state.

Although housing and salaries for professional staff are provided, and psychological and medical services of various kinds are available to see that each child gets a complete examination and prescription, Creekmore emphasized the need for volunteer therapists, who would receive adequate training under the guidance of the professional staff. "Be an exceptional person, support the exceptional children," he stated. The speaker showed slides thumbnail social histories of several unidentified children.

Mrs. Robert B. Starling

In a subsequent business session, when several members volunteered their services, a resolution was adopted to support this program in service, as well as in finance where unmet needs are seen to exist.

Tell 'Starved' Husband To Get Professional Help

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband works out of town three days a week. He takes $80 expense money with him on each trip. Every weekend he comes home complaining that he couldn't afford to eat and went to bed hungry when he was away. I suggested he take more expense money but he refuses, saying he won't need more, but he goes right on complaining.

When we have an argument he goes for days—sometimes weeks—without speaking. I prepare his meals as usual, but he refuses to eat at home. Instead he goes to a restaurant and then complains to anyone who will listen to him that I won't "feed" him. Right now there is a pot roast dinner, homemade bread, cake and cookies drying out in the kitchen while he is eating in a restaurant!

What is wrong with him? He was married before, and, according to him, his ex-wives didn't feed him either. He is not underweight, and he doesn't have a tapeworm. Any advice you can give me will be appreciated. He may not be "fed up"—but I am.

DEAR HAD IT: For openers it would appear that your husband has a long history of abnormal behavior. He is obsessed with the notion that he is being "starved" by the women in his life whose duty he feels it is to "feed" him. He needs professional help but unless he admits and seeks it, he's destined to go on his paranoid, obsessive way.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote in reply to Rusty who wanted to know if that picture accompanying your column was really you. "That picture is me!" Are you right? Shouldn't you have written, "That picture is I?" Or is it I who am wrong?

DEAR KENNETH: You are right. The picture is I. But it is you who IS wrong. [And right now I am so confused, I don't know if you are wrong or I.]

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. Should I marry for love or money? I'm a 24-year-old woman and have a choice.

DEAR L: Whatever turns you on. Some people are more turned on by money than they are by love. You don't get a lifetime guarantee with either. In one respect, they're alike. They're both wonderful as long as they last.

No Surplus Gasoline In Store

The odd-even gasoline plan for North Carolina has become a relic in a few short months. Gov. Holshouser announced this week that the plan for purchasing gasoline had been suspended in light of the increased availability of gas. As all motorists in North Carolina know, the plan was born of the great gasoline crunch which did its worst in February. The plan was for motorists whose licenses ended in odd numbers to gas up Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays and those with even numbers to gas up on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The plan worked with varying degrees of success. Long lines at gas pumps disappeared, although this was due in part to increasing allocations of gas to this state. As the shortage eased motorists and service station operations generally began to ignore the odd-even plan, so that its official end was primarily ceremonial. The governor still asked North Carolina Motorists to wait until their tanks were at least half empty before gassing up.

The end of the odd-even plan should not be considered as the end of the gas crisis. There are still predictions that a new gas crunch will be with us during the summer. Certainly we are left with an energy situation that is far different from what it was before the last gas shortage. For one thing we are paying far more per gallon for gasoline and we will never buy gas for 36 cents a gallon again. There will be little surplus gas for the foreseeable future and any sudden upsurge in usage could mean drastic shortages again. Somehow Tar Heels coped with the last gas shortage and if the odd-even plan wasn't effective in its express purpose, at least it made us aware that we had to conserve the short fuel supplies.

The Kissinger Front In Israel

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The bitterly factional Arab-style politics now overwhelming the caretaker government of Prime Minister Golda Meir has suddenly cast a long, ominous shadow across Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's plan to separate the warring armies of Israel and Syria on the Golan Heights.

To gain a separation of forces on Israeli-occupied Golan, as he did between Israel and Egypt, Kissinger needs strong governments in both Jerusalem and Damascus. Such a government does not exist in Damascus, where President Hafez Assad's own desire to compromise with Israel is under continuing menace from political adversaries.

But until recently, Kissinger's successes in seeking a political settlement between Jews and Arabs have been bolstered by a seasoned Israeli government and particularly by its chief Arab negotiator, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

That government with all its leading figures, including Dayan, is now just counting the weeks or days until it passes into oblivion. It has become a casualty of frightening factionalism and leadership vendettas within the controlling Labor party and of a popular demand, only partly caused by the Oct. 6 war, for top-to-bottom overhaul of kitchen-cabinet politics and government.

Younger leaders in Israel's long dominant Labor party have openly plotted a wholesale housecleaning which would turn out to pasture not only Prime Minister Golda Meir but also Foreign Minister Abba Eban and other major figures—including Dayan himself.

The bitterness of the attack against Dayan is symptomatic. It has nothing to do with his policies and everything to do with his personality and record as a controversial political loner.

Thus, one reason the Agranat commission (set up to establish blame for the Oct. 6 war) published an interim report three weeks ago was to blunt public criticism of Dayan. It blamed military commanders, not Dayan or any other elected politician.

The interim report backfired. It led to instantaneous, emotional demands for Dayan's ouster. Dayan's exit from active Israeli political life is now assured—by far the single most crucial voice in Israel's foreign policy since the six-day war of 1967.

Dayan's influence on Mrs. Meir during those seven years has been nearly total. To the Nixon administration and to all but the most extreme Arabs, Dayan has been "the Palestinian Jew" inside the Israeli government who viewed the bitter Arab-Israeli struggle as inherently reconcilable. Ever since becoming Secretary of State, Kissinger looked to Dayan to break one impasse after another.

After the massacre of Israelis at Kiryat Shmona two weeks ago, Dayan resisted popular demand for brutal reprisal against Lebanon. The Israeli retaliation which killed two Lebanese, was a modest revenge when measured against past reprisals.

But the question is being asked whether a new Labor government in Jerusalem, seeking credit among a public lusting for a show of power, could in a similar situation in the immediate future, avoid bloody vengeance practiced so often in the past.

Another question is being asked about a first-stage settlement of the Israeli-Syrian impasse on the Golan Heights: would it be possible politically for a fresh Labor government to make the necessary concessions? Or would it have to show the toughness demanded by Likud, the hard-line opposition party?

Some U. S. diplomats now see a strong Israeli consensus for massive pullbacks from occupied Arab lands and a genuine political settlement. But polls inside Israel to the contrary show Likud more popular today than during the December election. It was Likud that attacked Dayan's reprisal against Lebanon as a virtual sellout of the national interest.

Dayan's tenure as defense minister is just about ended. Yet some officials here still see a way for his short-term retention as Israel's chief negotiator during the hard Kissinger bargaining just ahead.

This could happen if no new Labor party leader—Yitzhak Rabin or anyone else—could form a workable government, in which case Mrs. Meir stays in power as caretaker. Dayan then could be switched out of defense to a new post with a single job: negotiating the settlement with Syria and Egypt.

Such a Rube Goldberg solution might last until autumn, when the Labor party will almost certainly have to go back to the country under a new and younger leadership for new elections.

At best, then, political upheaval in Israel confronts Kissinger with an ominous new problem. At worst, it could undercut his diplomacy, end his unbroken series of successes since the Oct. 6 war and provoke yet another war in the Middle East.

New Pollutants May Be Result

By BILL NOBLITT

DURHAM—When the 1975-model automobiles start hitting the roads later this year, they will have tucked away on their undersides what promises to be one of the most controversial new devices to come along in recent years.

A catalytic converter is part of the exhaust system. Inside a bulky metal container, hooked to the motor to keep it at proper operating temperatures, are so-called "noble" metals: platinum and palladium.

Exhaust fumes get scrubbed through before being expelled into the air. The object is to reduce carbon monoxide and other pollutants—including some thought to be possible cancer-producing agents—from the air.

But what is the price to be paid for that gain?

Risks Pondered "It's a tradeoff—to weigh the risks between present emission problems and the risks related to new pollutants," says John Moran, an official of the Environmental Protection Agency at Research Triangle Park.

Moran, in the closing hours of a three-day seminar on the new exhaust device, summed up the progress—and the problems involved—in reducing air pollution from auto engines.

Present for the seminar were some 80 top automotive experts, fuel company scientists, environmentalists, and governmental officials. After all the haggling between the industrialists and environmentalists, here is a brief introduction to just where the new device stands today.

It will be used on the 1975 cars introduced around September; no-lead fuel is required, and will be in supply; present pollutants will be largely eliminated by the new device.

But, new pollutants will be introduced: sulfate matter and sulfur dioxide; and a possibly deadly offspring which can't even be measured as yet—fumes from the platinum and palladium inside the converters, which scientists say can be toxic especially to the elderly, can cause kidney damage, and can aggravate asthma victims.

Why, then, are governmental officials allowing the auto firms to go ahead with the new device with such unanswered questions.

Moran puts it this way: "We have about two years of use of the converters before levels of sulfate emissions can accumulate to the degree they might have adverse health effects."

Further, scientists don't really know what those "noble metal" emissions might do.

Big Investment Meanwhile, the auto people confess they have upwards of $100 million invested in the converter, and with all the money in one basket, they're not about to change at this time.

So, Moran said, the trade-off is to allow the converters in use, develop more sophisticated ways to measure the new emissions and look for some answers in the coming two years.

Other than the potential health threats, what will the new converters mean to a car buyer?

Auto experts at the seminar say present emission control devices, which often make for balky motoring, can be replaced by the new device; gas mileage should increase some 13 per cent; the motor will run more smoothly and require less maintenance.

The cost per car—about $150, give or take a few dollars.

Another side effect will take place at a traffic signal: it isn't likely you'll see 1975 cars winning any impromptu drag races—acceleration will probably suffer drastically.

Putting regular gas into a 1975 car will all but eliminate the effectiveness of the new exhaust system.

To prevent that, the no-lead gas pumps at your neighborhood station will have a special nozzle to fit 1975 cars. You can put regular gas in one of the new cars, but it won't be easy. And the pump operator can be fined for doing it.

Strength For Today

SILENT EMOTION Sir Walter Raleigh once wrote:

"Passions are likened best to floods and streams; The shallow murmur, but the deep are dumb."

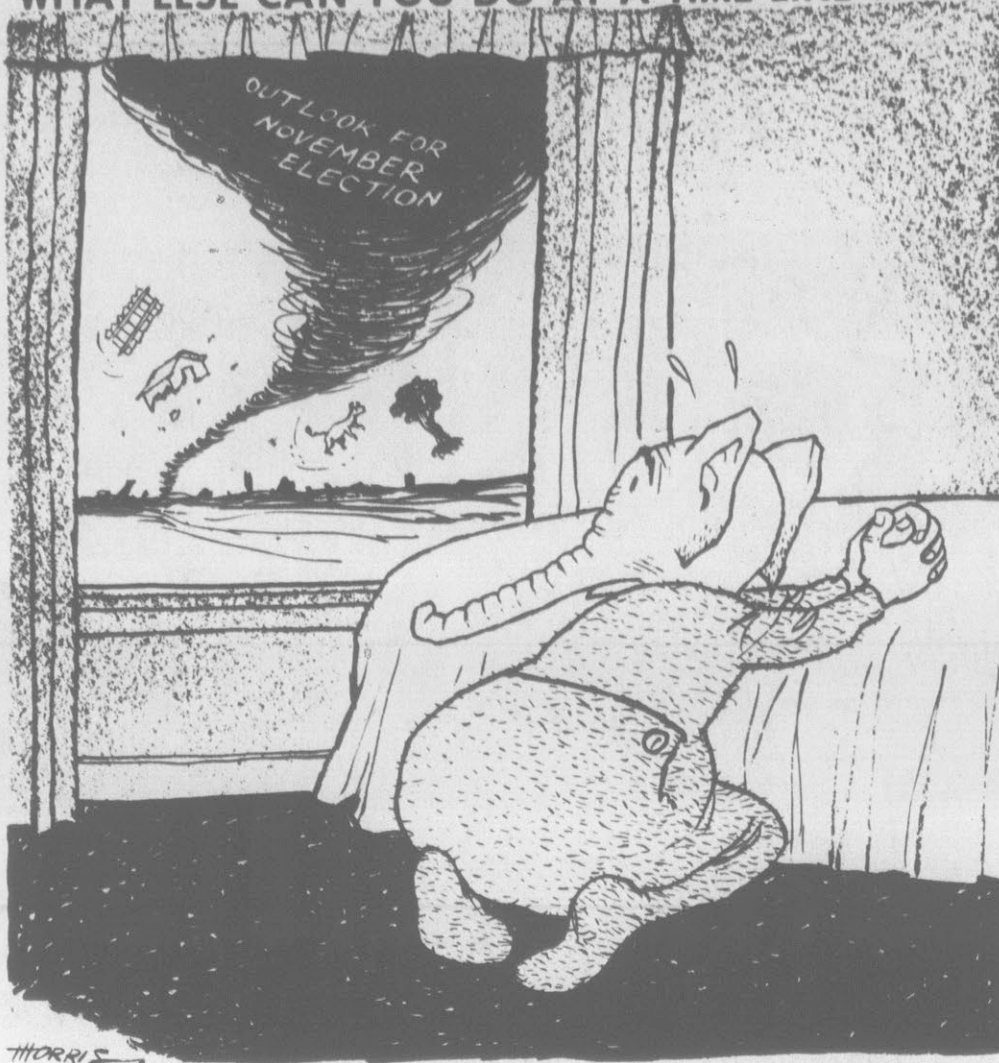

You cannot always tell by the number of tears shed how much sorrow a person truly feels, nor can you estimate the happiness by the amount a person laughs. Some of the unhappiest people in the world are laughing and joking much of the time. Very often people who weep loudly over their losses forget them in a short time. As Raleigh said, the deepest passions in the world are dumb, inarticulate. Often the people who love the most intensely find difficulty in giving expression to their affection, and those who experience the greatest sorrow often hold it tightly in their hearts.

Therefore, it is never really easy to estimate the happiness, or sorrow, or love held by our friends. The deeper the feeling, the less it can often be expressed.

The Broom Closet Funds

WASHINGTON—It received hardly a mention in the newspapers, but the Pentagon last week just happened to "find" $266 million it didn't know it had.

It seems that the Defense Department had asked for $1.6 billion for aid to South Vietnam, but Congress had voted only $1.2 billion. Instead of the Pentagon getting upset by the cut in funds it announced that it had "found" $266 million which could make up the difference.

How did the Pentagon find the money? It's a very interesting story.

Two weeks ago two cleaning women in the Pentagon were working late at night in the basement of the building. One of the ladies was a new employee and she opened what she thought was a broom closet. Instead of brooms and mops she saw neatly piled stacks of brand-new $100 bills.

"Henrietta," she said to the lady she was working with, "there ain't no brooms or mops in that closet. How am I supposed to get my work done when all they keep in there is money?"

Henrietta came over and looked in. "Heavens to Betsy, you're right. They expect us to clean the floors, mop the halls and dust the furniture and they don't even give us the tools to do it with. Let's find the supervisor."

They brought the supervisor back. He peered into the closet and became angry. "If I told them once I told them 100 times the only thing I want to see in broom closets is brooms. I'm going to get the duty officer."

The duty officer, a colonel, was asked to come to the basement. When he showed up he couldn't believe his eyes. "How much money do you think there is in that closet?"

"Bout $226 million," Henrietta said. "Now what about our mops?"

The colonel rushed off to call his superior at home. "General, the cleaning women just found $166 million in a broom closet in the basement."

The general was furious. "Why are you bothering me at home at this hour about $166 million? Turn it over to Lost-and-Found."

"Yes, sir," the colonel said. The next day the Lost-and-Found officer put out notices on all the bulletin boards in the Pentagon which read: "If anyone has lost $166 million in new $100 bills, kindly pick it up as soon as possible at Lost-and-Found. If the money is not claimed within the week, it will be turned over to the South Vietnamese government."

Although there are thousands of people working in the Pentagon, no one admitted to owning the money. This caused some wild speculation. The Army said the Navy had hidden the cash in the broom closet so they could buy an extra submarine when no one was looking. The Navy said the Air Force had stashed it away for the next overrun on a new Lockheed cargo plane.

In any case, no one claimed the cash and it was turned over to six cadets of the South Vietnamese marine corps who were returning to Saigon after a visit to Parris Island.

But the discovery of the money caused a storm at the Pentagon. The secretary of defense, in a very tough memo to all personnel, said, "There will be no more storing of unaccounted funds in broom closets."

"These closets will be used in the future solely for cleaning utensils. If there is one thing I will not stand for as long as I am secretary it's a dirty Pentagon."

Other Editors Say Keep The Ditch

(Henderson Dispatch)

Despite sharp opposition, the Nixon administration is framing a treaty with Panama for giving the Panama Canal to the tiny republic at the isthmus. Any such transaction fraught with great potential danger to the security of this country.

The Canal was built by the United States in the early years of this century at a cost at that time of about $700 million. It would be several times that today, probably some billions. The project was carried out after the French failed in their undertaking. President Teddy Roosevelt fashioned the agreement with Panama for a strip of land ten miles wide across the isthmus connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The agreement was for 99 years, though some think it was in perpetuity.

Through the decades the United States has operated the Canal and has defended it against all possible enemies. Only this country is capable of continuing that defense. Certainly tiny Panama cannot do it. An annual payment, the amount of which does not come to mind, is paid to Panama. Perhaps the best way to appease Panama's desire to own the big ditch would be to increase the payments, which would be fair. A sizable American military force is stationed at the Canal at both the Atlantic and Pacific entrances and along the route through mountainous terrain.

If the Canal is turned over to Panama, it will be at the risk of the United States. Latin America politics being what it is, government control changes at times with overthrow of the ruling regime. With the Canal in the hands of Panama, Soviet Russia would lose no time bargaining in with its communist designs, conceivably making deals and gaining control.

It is amazing that the Nixon Administration is willing to surrender a property which cost hundreds of millions of dollars. It would be a sheer giveaway with an ever present threat to American security. It can be hoped that there will be enough sanity in Congress to reject the whole project.

Energy Conservation Is Dying

By CRAIG AMMERMAN Associated Press Writer

Americans are abandoning the strict conservation measures they imposed on themselves at the height of the energy crisis.

A nationwide Associated Press survey finds that automobile traffic in most areas of the country is approaching pre-embargo levels. It also shows that toll road receipts are climbing, mass transit use is slipping and the rate of electricity conservation is falling.

"There are as many people on the road now as there were in September," before the Arab oil embargo brought the winter energy crisis, said federal energy chief John C. Sawhill. The AP survey showed that in recent weeks police in many states have written many more speeding tickets as motorists press down on the gas pedal.

It was the embargo imposed by Middle East producers in the fall that forced Americans to significantly cut back their use of energy, and it was the end of that embargo on March 18 that apparently has started them back toward their old habits.

A spokesman for Florida Power & Light Co., the state's largest utility, said its customers used six per cent less electricity than they normally would have between early December and late February.

But that figure fell to three per cent in March and a spokesman said "figures the week the Arab oil embargo was lifted indicate customers used noticeably more electricity than any other week in March." A similar pattern was repeated in many states, with utilities and state agencies reporting that conservation is slipping. They noted, however, that Americans still are not using the amount of electricity they would under normal growth patterns.

The push by city, state and federal governments for citizens to use car pools appears from the AP survey to have been a miserable failure in most areas. A group of scientists at the Opinion Research Center in Chicago, who have conducted weekly energy surveys for a year, said they found no tendency by consumers to switch away from the singlepassenger auto trip.

Shook Wrong Hands

By FENTON WHEELER Associated Press Writer

LISBON, Portugal (AP) —

Six weeks ago Premier Marcello Caetano shook the hands of 200 of the country's top military brass. The military revolt that swept him from office Thursday showed he shook the wrong hands.

Premier since 1968, Caetano dug his own political grave when he ousted popular Gen. Antonio de Spínola, the deputy army chief of staff, because he advocated a negotiated solution to end the colonial wars in Africa.

Caetano found he could not carry on the policies of his predecessor, longtime dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, and meet the growing unrest within the country at the same time. The premier reportedly agreed with many of Spínola's views. But he bowed to pressure from the conservative generals who had helped him become premier when Salazar had a stroke in 1968 and especially to President Americo Thomaz, a 79-year-old admiral who had the constitutional power to fire him.

The generals and the president all insisted on continuation of the 13-year-old war against the independence movements in Portugal's black African provinces — Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea — which annually gobbles up nearly 40 per cent of the government's budget.

Along with Spínola, a war hero and former military governor of Portuguese Guinea, Caetano dumped his boss, Gen. Francisco de Costa Gomes, the army chief of staff. Then he held a public ceremony at which the other top men in the armed forces pledged their loyalty.

The firing of Spínola and Gomes and the display of conservative solidarity convinced many young officers that

Petroleum products distributors and filling station operators in the county have five days to "get their houses in order and comply with the national code."

C. A. Brown, executive secretary of enforcement in North Carolina, made the announcement to a group of dealers meeting in the city hall.

Among the common violations, Brown noted, is the giving of special prices by certain dealers to large quantity customers in the way of tire covers, drinks souvenirs for kids, free parking space for customers and other concessions. All are taboo under the national code.

Aided by sharp increases in the value of leaf tobacco, principally the flue cured sold to foreign countries, the export value of tobacco and tobacco products from the United State in 1933 was $89,878,715, as compared with the 1932 value of $73,125,299.

The figures were announced today by B. D. Hill of the Commerce Department, Tobacco Division, who said the increase was $16,753,416.

Many Adopt 'Humiliation Day'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

At the initiation of Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, a theologically sharp Oregonian who is regarded a possible choice for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination, many Americans have set aside a day to "confess our national sins and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

They've scheduled observances on Tuesday, April 30, of a National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer, as urged in a resolution introduced by Hatfield and adopted by the U.S. Senate.

Participation has been supported by the U.S. Catholic bishops administrative board, by several Protestant and ecumenical organizations and by many community groups. At least seven governors—in Colorado, Arizona, Idaho, Louisiana, Georgia, Nebraska and Alabama—have issued proclamations for the observance.

It could "result in a great spiritual awakening throughout our land," says Bill Bright, president of Campus Crusade for Christ, in material sent to 600,000 campus workers. "Prayers ... can turn the tide and change our nation."

Hatfield, 51, a biblically minded student of Abraham Lincoln and a critic of so-called "civil religion" that equates Americanism with God, says "we must turn in repentance from the sin that has scarred our national soul."

"Only a national confession of corporate guilt can save us from the worship of our own finite power ... (and) heal the wounds that presently afflict us."

A Baptist and two-time governor of his home state before being elected to the U.S. Senate in 1966, Hatfield is among few federal lawmakers (along with Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa) disposed to discuss issues in such explicitly religious terms.

"Until you know a candidate's philosophy of life, you don't know the candidate," he told a recent interviewer. Asked his philosophy, he said, "I define my philosophy in terms of the Lordship on Jesus Christ."

Several influential church journals have cited Hatfield as a possibility for the 1976 presidential race. He "might emerge as the Republican party's Mr. Clean, capable of the Aagean-stables trick of digging out after Watergate," writes editor James Wall, editor of the ecumenical weekly, Christian Century.

"If he does, and if he continues his candor and conviction straight into the White House, the country might have found the man who can be moral without being moralistic, devout without being pietistic."

CBS-TV Paced Field In Emmy Nominations

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The CBS Saturday night comedy block almost ran away with the Emmy nominations for comedy.

"All in the Family," "M-A-S-H" and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" were nominated for best comedy series, along with ABC's "The Odd Couple." The stars of all four shows also were nominated.

"The Carol Burnett Show," another CBS Saturday night entry, was among those nominated Thursday by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for best comedy-variety show.

CBS shows grabbed more than half the Emmy nominations for prime time shows. CBS got 106 nominations, NBC 45, ABC 40, PBS 6 and one went to a syndicated show. The Emmys will be presented May 28.

"The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," with 12, received the most nominations. "The Carol Burnett Show" and "M-A-S-H" got 10 each, and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "The Waltons" got nine each. All are on CBS.

"Jane Pittman" is a fictional epic which follows a black woman from slavery to the sit-ins. Cicely Tyson aged from 19 to 110 in the film. Miss Tyson, the show, its director and writer received nominations.

Katharine Hepburn, a three-time Oscar winner, was nominated as best actress in a special for her television debut in "The Glass Menagerie." Michael Moriarty, Sam Waterston and Joanna Miles were nominated in the supporting player categories for "The Glass Menagerie."

Besides her variety show's nomination, Miss Burnett herself was nominated for best actress in a special for "6 Rms Riv Vu." Her co-star in the special, Alan Alda, was nominated for best actor in a special and for best actor in a comedy for "M-A-S-H."

Cloris Leachman was nominated for best actress in a special for "The Migrants" — she won the award last year — and for best supporting actress in a comedy for "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

McLean Stevenson was nominated for best supporting actor in a comedy in "M-A-S-H" and for best writer in comedy for a script for that show.

Unlike past years, where canceled shows sometimes walked away with the awards, only one canceled show was nominated — "The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour" as best variety show.

Boy Charged In Death Of Girl

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—Police charged a 16-year-old boy today with voluntary manslaughter and concealing the birth of a child in the death of a young girl whose body was discovered last week in a shallow grave.

Since the youth was 15 years old when the girl died, police have not released his name.

Police said 16-year-old Kathy Virginia Lanford died March 13 while apparently giving birth in a wooded area near her home.

Officers gave this account: "The youth accompanied the girl to the woods but apparently became frightened and left when the baby was born. He returned two days later and buried the girl and the baby.

A passerby discovered the grave April 16, officers said. The baby's body was not found, but the State Bureau of Investigation identified a piece of matter at the gravesite as part of an infant's skull.

Officers quote the youth as saying the baby's father is stationed with the U. S. Army in Korea.

Sunday Outing Is Announced By Bicycle Club

Greenville's newest bicycle club, the Pitt Peloton Cyclists, invites interested riders to join them Sunday morning for a ride to or toward Stokes.

The group will assemble at the fountain in Wright Circle at ECU at 10:15, according to ride captain, Dan Starr. There will be two loops, one for the fast riders and a shorter, slower one for those with less speedy bikes. The Sunday morning time was chosen because there is less automobile traffic then.

Michael Indorf is president of the new club and Edith Webber is secretary. One should call 752-4854 for more information.

The club is for all who want to have fun with their bicycles, to extend their range, and to encourage safety through better facilities and education of both cyclists and motorists, Indorf said.

only way open was insurrection, one captain said. When the first attempt at revolt failed a month ago, the arrest of one of Spinola's trusted aides and former combat comrades, Lt. Col. Joao Almeida Burno, fueled the resentment in the lower ranks.

The public, unaccustomed to political action after nearly four decades of Salazar's iron rule, played a passive role. It was all a military show in a country in which for decades the military had kept the government in power.

Spinola and Gomes kept silent after they were fired. But both are members of the new junta, and Spinola appears to be its leader.

a whole new world

"Hey! Come bicycling with us tomorrow!" There's another new world inside the doors of your neighborhood church. But some hesitate here too:

"Haven't been on a bike for years!" "I get all the exercise I want working in the garden!" "Bikes are for kids!"

These skeptics should try cruising down a country road where the smell of haystacks, hyacinths or magnolias sweetens the air, or experience the warmth of open playgrounds, the coolness of tree-shaded streets, the unblurred faces of neighbors. It's a whole new world.

What do you say? Are you ready for a new world, a new life? Then come to church Sunday—and step in.

Two Injured Brandt Undercut Won County In Accidents By Spy's Arrest 4-H Event

Three traffic accidents here yesterday resulted in two persons being injured and an estimated $2,350 property damage, according to Police investigators.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 7:15 a.m. mishap at the intersection of U. S. 264 and 14th Street involving cars driven by David Adrian Brown of 1732 Beaumont Dr. and Mary Scott Darden of Route 9, Greenville.

Both drivers were reported injured and damage to the vehicles was listed as $700 each.

Police charged Brown with failing to stop for a red light.

No charges were reported following investigation of a 4:30 p.m. mishap on Dickinson Avenue 50 feet West of the Paris Avenue intersection which involved cars operated by Lucile Adams Sledge of 706 Bancroft Ave. and Lynda Corey Ferguson of 208 Manhattan Ave.

Investigators estimated damage at $200 to the Sledge vehicle and $250 to the Ferguson car.

Cars driven by Boyse B. Felder Jr. of 700 West Fourth St. and Dorothy Clemmon Smith of Route 6, Greenville were involved in an 8:10 p.m. mishap on 14th Street 100 feet South of the Sixth Street intersection according to police.

Investigators, who reported no charges, estimated damage at $350 to the Felder car and $150 to the Smith vehicle.

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt told parliament today that he never provided any secret files to a close personal aide who has been arrested on charges of spying for Communist East Germany.

"The agent was not instructed by me to deal with secret files because this did not belong to his tasks," Brandt told a special session the day after the announcement that Guenter Guillaume, his personal aide for political affairs for his Social Democratic party, was arrested.

"It should not surprise one that a particularly able and clever spy should be set upon me," Brandt said. "That does not alter anything about my deep personal disappointment."

The discovery of a security leak so close to Brandt was a blow to his embattled political position, recently weakened by setbacks in state and local elections. It also undermined Brandt's lagging drive to normalize relations with East Germany and end their old cold war rivalry.

Justice Minister Gerhard Jahn told parliament that Brandt knew last year that Guillaume was a spy but personally decided to hold up the arrest so security forces could obtain more information on a suspected Communist spy ring.

Guillaume was being held with his wife, Christel, both 47. She worked as a secretary for the Hessian state government's Bonn office. Three other persons were released after their homes and offices were searched, Jahn said.

Arrest 5 In Heroin Hunt

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A seven-month undercover investigation of the drug traffic in several eastern North Carolina counties has led to the arrest of five persons on heroin charges.

Authorities say more arrests are expected in the crackdown in Wayne, Pitt, Beaufort, Cumberland and Onslow counties.

They said two men from Goldsboro were arrested Wednesday and charged with distributing heroin. They were identified as Herman Davis and Dennis Wooten, each 25.

Police said Chester Moore, Simon Clifton Moore Jr. and Jessie Harvey Jr. were arrested in Washington, N.C., Wednesday and were charged with possession and sale of heroin.

Federal, state and local law enforcement personnel participated in the crackdown. The State Bureau of Investigation said Goldsboro apparently had become a heavy supply area for heroin.

Wilson Nips Rose In 10 Innings

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
WILSON—Rose High School's Rampants suffered a heart-breaking loss again yesterday, but this time it really hurt as Wilson took a 2-1 10 inning affair from the Rampants.

The Titans, leading the Division I standings with an unblemished record, recorded their ninth conference victory with the win, and moved closer to wrapping up one of the two berths the division will have in the state 4-A playoffs.

Rose, with the loss, dropped to 6-3, into third place. The Rampants now have their backs to the wall in the battle for one of the two spots with the Titans and Rocky Mount.

For Kelly Heath, it was a bitter loss too. He had pitched the entire game, allowing only one hit in the first eight innings, and none in the first three. Wilson got a second hit off him in the ninth, then got the fateful one in the 10th with the bases loaded and two out.

Clay Johnson gained the victory, and for him, too, it would have been a tough one to lose. He allowed only four hits, two of them doubles, but he fanned 17 Rampant batters, keeping their bats stilled most of the afternoon.

Both teams had the chance to wrap it up prior to the 10th inning finish, but the defense held up until then.

Rose got its lone run in the first inning of the game. And it came with two down. Griff Garner broke a three-game hitless streak with a single into center field, giving him his 20th hit of the year. Robert Brinkley responded with his 20th, too, this one a double into right center, and Griffin raced all the way from first to score, giving Rose a 1-0 lead.

Garner, in the bottom of the first, and again in the second, performed two fine defensive plays, one preventing a sure hit, and the other kept Wilson from having another chance with the bat. In the first, Sandy Lamm hit a short fly into left, and Garner raced in to make a diving catch in front of him. Then, in the second, Stan Hicks popped up in foul territory, with Garner again racing over to make another diving catch of the ball for the out.

Rose threatened in the second, but couldn't make it pay off. Kelly Heath walked with one down, and Dickie Johnson came on to run for him, stealing second. Johnny Causey walked with two away, and both moved up on a wild pitch, but the rally died there.

Rose didn't threaten again until the fifth, and by then Wilson had scored.

The Titan's first run came in the fourth with Lamm leading off with a walk. He stole second and with one down, Johnson aided his own cause with a single to center, the first hit off Heath, scoring Lamm. Edward Eatmon walked to put two on, but a double play ended the threat.

Rose came back with Causey leading off the fifth with a walk. Al Heath, trying to sacrifice, reached on an error, and with two down, Brinkley also reached on an error, loading the bases. But a strikeout ended the threat. Wilson put a man on third in the seventh. Eatmon walked and a sacrifice and a long fly to right moved him to third before the side was retired.

Rose got another chance in the ninth when Ron Hunt opened with a double, and Johnson took his place, but died there on an infield fly and two strikeouts.

Rose checked another Titan threat in the ninth, after Stan Johnson singled and moved to third on two outs.

But in the 10th, the Rampants finally gave way. With one down, a walk to Smith and one to Mitch Barnes put men on. Then, after getting ahead of Charlie Beegood, Heath hit him, loading the bases.

Lamm grounded back to second, however, and the play to the plate was in time, putting two men out.

But Stan Johnson came through with a single through the hole at short and third, driving in Barnes with the game-ending run.

Rose will play host to Northeastern on Tuesday, trying to get into the win column after the two heart-breaking losses in a row.

First Baseman Ron Staggs

Staggs Leading Buc Bat Brigade

By WILLIE PATRICK
Special to the Reflector
East Carolina University's baseball Pirates went a step closer to the Southern Conference baseball title Wednesday with an 8-3 victory over Richmond. They did so in a way that is becoming a Pirate trademark, namely, a strong hitting attack.

Among the Pirate power-hitters, who has raised his batting average to .289 and is leading the Southern Conference in home runs, is first-baseman Ron Staggs. The smiling, 6-2, 195 junior belted a tape-measure home run, and added another hit in three trips to the plate, giving him five hits in his last eight at bats. Staggs started the season in this manner, but suffered a mid-season slump. But for the present, Staggs says he just has started "going back to the natural things with the bat."

"After the quick start, I guess I got a little over confident," Staggs explained. "But recently I've concentrated on taking my natural swing again, and keeping my head in the game more when I'm not batting."

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Staggs grew up in a sports-oriented environment. His father played football for the University of Dayton, and was a first-baseman in the Chicago White Sox organization for some time. Staggs said his father was his "personal coach, though he wasn't the 'Little League father' type."

"I listen to other coaches now, and have in the past," said Staggs. "But I was never pushed into playing baseball. I guess you could say that he was my idol, and still is."

Staggs insisted that coming from Ohio to North Carolina wasn't really a big deal; rather, he was impressed with the East Carolina University campus, and liked the idea of playing baseball all year, around in the South. Staggs was recruited by Earl Smith, the former-Pirate baseball coach.

"I went to a Ted Kluzewski baseball camp in Ohio when I was a junior in high school," Staggs recalled. "During one game I hit a grand-slam and another homer for seven rbi's. I guess that's when Coach Smith started asking me if I was interested in going to college. I came down to look at the place, made the decision and have been happy here ever since."

As well as the weather and the baseball program being a success in Staggs' eyes, he also points out the benefits of the coaching staff and the education available at East Carolina University.

"To play baseball, like any other sport, you have to have the desire to win," explained Staggs. "And I've never had a coach like George Williams, one that has such a desire to win, knows the smarts of baseball, and treats the men on the team like men."

Staggs also pointed out that ECU is in "a stage of growth," and that the "physical education facility is one of the best you can find."

The added attention earned by the baseball team in general this year, Staggs said, is due to the change in attitude of the players, and the fact that the team is "more ready to play, both physically and mentally." And with all the fanfare, Staggs said it is like taking a step toward his "dream-come-true."

"I've always wanted to be a professional baseball player," said Staggs. "And this season, with the experience of playing on a championship team, it seems like the real thing."

"Really, I'd just like to get a chance to be able to play, not for the money, but to say that I had been in the big leagues. That's why hitting a baseball is so important to me."

Important or not, Staggs spends a lot of practice time hitting, or swinging a bat, or just watching the other hitters. Away from practice, Staggs says that Willie McCovey, the San Diego Padre first-baseman, is the "hitter he likes to watch."

"He swings the bat with so much authority," said Staggs. "He's the most awesome hitter I've ever seen."

In college circles, however, most people would have to agree that Staggs doesn't do too bad a job himself.

Perfect Game For The Eagles

LEGETT—Robersonville's Jimmy Stalls tossed a perfect game at North Edgecombe yesterday, as the Golden Eagles solidified their Northern Division lead in the Eastern Plains Conference with a 24-0 romp.

Stalls struck out seven of the nine batters he faced in the odd game, which went only three and one-third innings before it was over.

Robersonville had already pushed over one run in the fourth when the North Edgecombe coach made a fourth trip to the mound and had to take out his pitcher, but then announced he had no pitchers left. The umpires conferred and announced that the game was over, but should be recorded as a five inning contest to make it official.

The no-hitter was the first for Stalls, but the third straight for the Robersonville nine, each by a different pitcher. The same trio, including Matt Wilson and Doyle Farmer, each also have one-hitters to their credit.

Doug Warren led the hitting, banging out three with four runs batted in. Mike Matthews and Wilson also picked up three hits, while Victor Hardison and Kim Knox each had two.

Robersonville jumped into the lead with four runs in the first inning. Matthews doubled and took third on a passed ball. Hardison singled him in, then stole second and took third on an error on the play. A wild pitch scored him. Jeff Warren walked, took second on an error on a pickoff attempt, was wild pitched to third, and balked home. Kim Knox then singled, stole second, and was wild pitched to third, and from there home.

Four more Eagle runs crossed in the second, making it 8-0. Then, in the wild third, Robersonville sent 15 straight batters to the first base, and ground out 15 runs.

Stalls started it off, reaching on a two-base error. He moved to third on a balk and scored off Carl Bullock's, foul fly ball. Matthews also reached on a two-base error and stole third, scoring when Hardison was also safe on a two-base error. Hardison then stole third, and another error let him score.

Jeff Warren walked and stole second, moving to third on Wilson's hit. Wilson stole second and both scored on Doug Warren's double. An error on the relay again unloaded the bases as Warren came on in.

Knox reached on another error and Larry Jackson singled, moving up on the throw-in. A wild pitch scored Knox and Stalls reached on a three-base error, scoring Jackson. Bullock singled in Stalls and Matthews got a hit, then stole second. Hardison walked to load the bases.

Jeff Warren doubled in all three runners and took third on an error. He scored on Wilson's single. Wilson stole up, and came home on Doug Warren's hit. He also stole second and scored the 15th run on Knox's hit.

Robersonville added another run in the fourth before it was halted. The victory raised the Eagle record to 7-1 in the league, and they travel to West Edgecombe for another game today.

Jaguars Tighten Grip On First Place

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY REELE

Well, well, well... the National Football League has learned a lesson from the past.

Some years back, when the American Football League was founded, the NFL scoffed and turned up its nose. "It'll never get off the ground," was the feeling of most of the NFL people.

But they made a mistake. It did get off the ground, thanks to a fine television contract, and finally made the NFL recognize it. For a long time, however, it even forbade its television announcers to give the scores from that maverick league.

Now, the AFL is no more. It's a part of the NFL, a separate, but equal conference within the league.

The lesson had been learned the hard way.

And now there is a new league being formed, the World Football League. They are rapidly exhausting the stock of players on many of the NFL teams with raids, although many of those players won't be available for a year or two because of their present contracts.

But one of the principal things the new league wanted to do was to make it a little more exciting. They were going to kick off from the 35, and they were going to make things a little more difficult for the easy three-point field goals.

So yesterday, the NFL decided to make some sweeping rules changes. The punt is back in professional football, and the field goal may be on the way out.

Starting this fall, the NFL will do its kicking off from the 35, making it more likely that a kick could be run back.

Starting this fall, the NFL will move the goal posts to the back of the end zone, where they should have been all along, adding 10 more yards to those long field goal attempts. You won't be seeing many from the 50 yard line anymore.

Then, the league further ruled that when a field goal is missed, the ball will come back to the line of scrimmage if it is outside the 20, making it a calculated decision on whether to kick or punt.

Also, members of the kicking team will not be able to cross the line of scrimmage on any kick until the ball has been booted.

Certain blocking procedures were also changed, but the kicking rules are the important ones.

What it all means is that when the team has that fourth and one situation at the 30 they just might want to try for the yardage. Or in the same situation at the 40, they might not try the field goal.

With the goal posts back where they belong, the extra point might not be quite as automatic (hopefully), giving way to a chance to end the game without a tie. But they've even tried to do away with that by putting in a sudden death period.

Personally, we'd prefer to have seen them put in the two-point conversion, like the colleges have to try and settle this. That too puts more strategy into the game, making it even more interesting.

Still, in all, we must applaud the NFL for the changes. They're finally learning the lesson the AFL taught them. It should be a much more interesting season.

Aycock Handed First Defeat

E. B. Aycock Junior High School's track team suffered its first loss of the year yesterday, finishing third in a three-team field.

Bertie Junior High School took first place with 58½ points, while Wilson was second with 45½. Aycock finished with 22 points. Aycock won only one event during the afternoon, the long jump, captured by David Jones with a leap of 18 feet, 2½ inches. They also shared first place in one other event, the 440, which saw Jones finish in a tie with Brown of Wilson in a time of 56.8 seconds.

Other winners included: discus, Spellen (B) 130-2; high jump, Sanders (W) 5-7; shot put, Cooper (B) 48-5½; low hurdles, Gilliam (B) 15.4; 100, Winston (B) 10.7; mile, Allen (B) 5:08.1; 880 relay, Bertie 1:42.4; 880, Bellamy (W) 2:17.0; 220, Norfleet (B) 24.0; 440 relay, Wilson 47.5.

FARMVILLE—Mike Jenkins scored the winning run on Jeff Cobb's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the sixth inning last night to give the Farmville Central Jaguars a 6-4 win over cross-county rival, Ayden-Grifton.

The run came in the middle of a three-run rally that saw the Jags come from a run back, 4-3, and take a permanent lead.

The win gives the Jaguars sole possession of first place in the Eastern Carolina conference. The Chargers, meanwhile, are seeing their title hopes slowly fade away. They have lost their last three conference games.

Farmville Central used a trio of hurlers to win the game. Barry Johnson started but was lifted after giving up the Charger's first three runs. Gary Cowan relieved him and got the win. He struck out three walked four and gave up four hits. Cowan left the mound after walking the first batter in the A-G seventh, bowing to Ed Wells who finished the game getting the save.

Eddie McCullen went all the way for the Chargers walking three, fanning four and giving up six hits.

For a few innings the game had been under protest by the Jaguars. In the second inning, Tony Oakley singled and went to second on a fielders' choice. Marty Hobgood, who had been taken out during the pitching change, came to run for Oakley. Although Hobgood was an illegal substitution, he was unrightfully called out which was the cause of the protest.

But since the Jags rallied to win the game, the protest did not matter.

A-G pushed over a run in the first inning. Don Phillips struck out but reached first safely when his third strike got by Oakley. Ned Craft walked. Tom Craft hit into a fielder's choice that forced Phillips but on the throw to first the ball got away letting both Crafts move up. Paul Ricciarelli walked and Greg Nelson was hit by a pitch forcing in Ned Craft.

McCullen led off the second getting a walk as did Stevie Tripp. A walk to Ronnie Salmon loaded the bases. Phillips reached on a bunt that scored McCullen and a walk to Craft brought in Tripp.

Cowan came in and gave up a hit to Tom Craft. For a moment, it looked as if Craft's hit were going to be caught but it fell in.

Tommy Cobb threw to home in time to force Salmon who had stopped halfway between third and home. Ricciarelli walked but Phillips was caught at home when Craft was caught off first after a passed ball. When the Jags went for Craft Phillips broke for home and Johnson, now catching, tagged him out.

Johnson led off the Jags' half of the inning reaching on an error. Bobby Wooten singled him to second and a hit by Oakley scored Johnson.

A-G scored again in the fourth on a triple by Ned Craft and a single by Tom Craft.

The Jaguars cut the lead to 4-3 in the bottom of the fourth.

Johnson singled and Wooten reached on an error. The Chargers tried to pick Johnson off but the ball was thrown into center field letting Johnson score and Wooten take third. Oakley brought in Wooten with a sacrifice fly.

Farmville Central was shut out in the fifth but rallied for the inner in the sixth. Oakley drew a one-out walk and took second on an error when Jenkins was safe on a fielder's choice. Eddie Horne singled to load the bases. Cowan hit a grounder to second that was played to home. The throw was high letting Oakley slide in to tie the game.

Cobb flew out to left bringing in Jenkins and Horne scored on a hit to right field by Wells.

The Chargers had a chance to score in the third as McCullen walked and Tripp singled but neither could score.

The Chargers put the men on but could not bring them around. Twelve reached base but were left stranded. Farmville Central left only five.

Tom Craft was the only player on either team to have two hits. Farmville Central is on the road next Tuesday as the Jaguars meet Southern Nash. A-G will be hosting North Lenoir.

Netters Hope For Improvement

East Carolina tennis coach Wes Hankins has had "sort of a frustrating season." The Pirate netters to date have posted a 3-10 overall record and 0-5 Southern Conference mark.

But for Hankins and his tennis team, he sees hope "because we can salvage at least a respectable season by doing well in the Southern Conference championships which begin Friday." The two day event is being hosted by all schools, Appalachian State, a tennis power.

To add to the tennis team's woes, Chris Davis, the No. 1 singles player through most of the 1974 campaign has left the team and will not compete in the conference championships or in the remainder of the season's schedule.

"We're going into the conference championship with the idea of scoring some points. Last year, we won one conference match but didn't score in the championships. This year, we haven't been fortunate enough to win a conference match, but I think with some solid play and determination, we can score and in a way, help our season." "Please don't misread me," Hankins warns, "no one is giving up. We are generating some determination and it will show up in the championships. We have had an unusual season—injuries, canceled matches, postponed matches and a tough schedule of excellent teams bunched up. We have been forced to move some players up and down the order in both singles and doubles. Several players who could win at No. 4 of No. 5 have not been as fortunate as No. 2 or No. 3.

"It may sound like an unusual statement, but we can still have what I consider a good season. Last year, we finished 7-11 after the 1972 team went 2-12. That was a marked improvement. This year, we can finish eight or 7-10 or 6-11 which is improvement in my eyes because of the schedule, injuries and other difficulties."

Following the championships, the Pirate netters have matches remaining with UNC-Wilmington (rescheduled), Campbell College and North Carolina Wesleyan. The Wesleyan match was postponed by bad weather after the two teams had tied in the singles competition. The doubles will be made up.

Oak City Gets Win Over Cubs

WILLIAMSTON—Oak City's Trojans handed the Williamston "B" team its second straight loss yesterday, gaining a come-from-behind 5-3 victory.

Williamston grabbed the lead in the first inning, scoring three runs. Mike Kosey singled and Tommy Gardner got a hit. Both scored on an extra base hit, but the batter was thrown out trying to reach third. Timmy Hardison then singled, advanced on a walk and scored on a single.

In the second, Oak City came up with its first run of the game. Billy Ross singled, stole second, then was sacrificed to third. Eddie Ayers hit a sacrifice fly to score him, cutting the lead to 3-1.

The Trojans got another run in the fifth, trimming it to 3-2. Willie Spruill singled, stole second, and also was sacrificed to third. Mike Reason walked, and the two worked a double steal, with Spruill scoring.

Then, in the sixth, Oak City came up with three more to gain the win. Will Freeman singled and Ronald Duggins walked. Ayers doubled both runners in, giving the Trojans a one-run lead. Spruill then provided some insurance by singling in Ayers.

The victory lifted Oak City to a 3-8 record. They travel to Robersonville on Wednesday to meet their "B" team.

Oak City 010 013 0-5 7 1

Hank Aaron opened the 1974 National League season needing to play 62 games to tie Stan Musiel's record of 3,026 games.

Buc Golfers Out To Gain Title

East Carolina's golf team, with a conference victory over Richmond behind them, are now primed for the annual Southern Conference Golf Championships which begin April 29 at Country Club of South Carolina in Florence.

The Pirates are one of three conference teams given an even money shot to win the team title. For Coach Bill Cain, the even money chance is "all we ask for."

"I can assure you, we are going into the tournament with the attitude of winning the championship. The last time East Carolina won the title was in 1972. Last year, we had the playing talent but did not perform. And now this year, we are taking a veteran team of four seniors, a freshman, a sophomore and a junior."

Cain's enthusiasm and confidence will have to be backed by several top individual players. Eddie Pinnix, an All-America player in 1972, will catch most of the spotlight, but another veteran, Bebo Batts, has been playing his best golf of the season lately and should be high in the field. Two other senior players, Carl Bell and Jim Ward form a rugged front four for the Pirates.

"We just didn't score last year," Cain says. "I think this year, especially with the way we've been playing late in the season, we'll be in better shape. After all, we are starting with four pretty good golfers who have been to the tournament before and know what it's like."

"There are a couple of other teams that worry me," Cain concedes. "Furman and Appalachian State have to be considered as strong teams. We have been in three tournaments with Appalachian State, finishing ahead of them twice and behind them once. So far, we've split with Furman. We were ahead of them in the Palmetto Intercollegiate early in the season, then they finished higher in their own tournament. Davidson is sort of a darkhorse. They finished second last year, but this year the only thing I can say about them is that they toured Spain on their spring trip."

The SC golf tournament is important to the Pirates for another reason. East Carolina is currently locked in a battle for the Commissioner's Cup. A golf win coupled with a first place in baseball would give the Pirates a healthy shot at the Cup which has never been won by East Carolina before.

The Worry Clinic Rules To Help Deter Suicide

Harry, as well as Marilyn Monroe and thousands of others, feel victim to the "Suicide Triangle." Follow the 3 rules below for preventing this sad tragedy. Remember, suicide is the main cause of death among college students nowadays!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-616: Harry P. aged 19, was a quiet, introverted college student.

"Dr. Crane," his roommate told me, "Harry was really shy about dating girls."

"And he seemed to prefer sitting at home, reading books, instead of going to ball games, dances or social events."

"He had mood spells and must have felt lonely."

"For he committed suicide last week!"

"And he left a note, saying since he had no friends, he thus had no interest in going on."

"Yet he was a brilliant fellow, making 'A' and 'B' grades, too!"

Suicide Psychology
We have an axiom in psychology that states: "You can't be active and meanwhile feel blue."

That means inactivity correlates with moodiness.

If the telephone were to ring just as a would-be suicide were ready to put a gun to his temple, his walking over to take the phone call, might stop his autohypothesis and self-destruction.

Indeed, a good dose of Epsom Salts would likewise take his mind off the gun or bottle of sleeping pills.

And to play a game of tennis or compete in baseball, swimming, track or even take a hike, would activate his internal physiology.

Which, in turn, would change his melancholic outlook.

Did you ever hear of a person committing suicide while engaging in athletic events?

Ever see a suicide occur on a bowling alley, baseball diamond, tennis courts, etc.?

Have you ever read an account of anybody killing himself even while walking the dog?

Suicidal psychology can be charted by a triangle with these 3 corners:

- (1) All alone;
- (2) Inactive;
- (3) Indulging in self-pity.

Change any one of those corners of that "suicide triangle" and you can prevent the most common cause of death among college students!

For example, being "All alone" means not just being without an immediate human companion.

It also includes the despair of a person who has lost his mate or his child or even his faithful pet dog.

"Being lone" likewise indicates lack of an active faith in God, for God's co-workers are "No, Never Alone," as the church hymn states.

When people are also including in self-pity, as by feeling sorry for themselves, they need both the ego-inflation of honest compliments from comrades.

Which is why I stress the "Compliment Club" so frequently.

But they likewise would be extroverted in outlook till they are focussing on other people, projects, or altruistic concerns, such as hospitals for crippled children.

When introverted Silas Marner adopted little Eppie, he became wrapped up in her welfare rather than his own selfishness.

The final corner of that "suicide triangle" involves getting the potential victim into action.

Physical activity thus zooms your heart action and blood pressure, thus waking your sluggish brain from the autohypnotic trance that leads to suicidal notions.

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope, and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of these booklets.)

One Barbershop Keeps Those Prices Of 1943

By DAN WHITTLE
Nashville Banner Writer
WOODBURY, Tenn. (AP)—On Aug. 31, 1943, you could get a haircut here for 25 cents and a shave for 15 cents.

In 1950, the price was still the same. It was the same in 1960, 1970 and is the same today.

"I live cheaply," said Jim Borren, 76, a barber. "High prices have ruined our nation in my opinion. We used to be at the top, but now we are at the bottom."

"Back before prices got so high, two heads of hair would keep me in bologna for a week."

He averages 20 haircuts a day of the basic type, telling others to go to other barbers for the modern styles. The 20 trims comes to $5 a day plus a few shaves hear and there.

Borren said high prices for supplies have put a pinch on profits.

"I would rather lower prices," he said, however. "A haircut is worth a quarter, not anymore than that."

Borren walks with a slight limp from what he called "a touch of arthritis." But he can be seen working around his barber chair six mornings of the week.

"It's more than 100 years old," he said of the chair. "I have never had another one. It got this thing from a barber in Murfreesboro."

Standing nearby is a pot belied stove. Neither the chair nor the stove will change. He noted from a newspaper clipping that there is a barber of 98 practicing in Wisconsin, and said he intends to continue to his 100th birthday.

"I might make it," Borren said. "I'm in good health except for the arthritis."

"I guess I've managed to stay fit by not drinking whisky, beer or wine, and I don't let women run after me," the bachelor said. "I'd have to raise prices if I did that."

"My advice to a young person would be that if you can't go into business in a big way, then barbering would be a good thing," Borren said. "You can get into that without costing much."

Don't let an apparently easy hand lull you into a false sense of complacency. Things have a habit of going wrong, and it is declarer's job to see what he can do to combat bad breaks.

Once North raised his partner's opening bid, South had almost enough in his own hand to leap to game. However, he decided to give himself a bit of leeway in case his partner had strained to keep the bidding open, so he showed his second suit. Since North was maximum for his raise and, in addition, had a fit with South's second suit, he jumped to four spades to close the auction.

West led a low heart, and it cost declarer nothing to finesse dummy's jack. East covered with the queen and declarer won. The jack of spades was run to East's king, and the heart return was taken in dummy. Declarer crossed to his hand with the ace of clubs and led a low spade, picking up the queen. At this point, it seemed that the contract was home, for with the expected 3-2 diamond division, declarer's only other losers would be a trick in each minor suit.

As the cards lie, declarer would have gone down had he played ace, king and another diamond, for East would have scored two diamond tricks. Unfortunately for the defenders, declarer was alert to the possibility of a bad diamond break, and set about protecting against it.

The first step in his plan was to ruff dummy's remaining heart. Next he cashed the ace of diamonds and exited with his remaining club, reducing both his hand and dummy to two spades and three diamonds. East found the best defense. He won with his jack of clubs and returned a diamond, but declarer simply let it run round to dummy's jack to score the game-going trick.

It would not have helped the defenders to have West win the club, for that defender would have been forced to return a club or a heart, giving declarer a ruff-stuff.

West led a low heart, and it cost declarer nothing to Streaking, it appears, has gone the way of all flesh.

"It seems to have died an 'au naturel' death," concludes David L. Johnston, director of public safety at the University of Massachusetts. "It became popularized and campy and that was it."

An informal survey of campuses where a few weeks ago the charge of the buff brigade was a daily occurrence shows the practice of dashing about in the nude may suffer the same fate as hula hoops.

Where have all the streakers gone? Back to the books in most cases, although students of the phenomenon differ.

"We never really understood why we did it in the first place, so I couldn't say why we're not doing it now," mused 20-year-old Doug Worley, a Princeton undergraduate.

A spokesman for Florida State University, one of the

'Au Naturel' Death Of Streaking Craze

By JIM WILLSE

first schools to experience naked speedsters, says the fad was a one-time-only experience.

"When you've done it once, you can say you've done it and there's no need to do it any more," explains Mike Beaudoin.

At the height of the craze, streakers paraded their wares by the hundreds — the University of Georgia claims a record 1,500 on one March evening — and in a variety of locations, including the Academy Awards ceremony, airlines, state legislatures and Vatican City. Motorcycles, horses and parachutes supplemented the conventional sneakers-only dash. Ski masks, cowboy hats, and body paint were used to highlight the basic buttocks costume.

Students and school officials say there is still the occasional streak, but all agree the fad has faded like a sultan in winter.

Cannon says its increase will take effect May 17 and May 24 and will go to about 20,000 workers. A spokesman declined to give the amount, but raises announced by other companies have been 9 and 10 per cent.

COSTLY FRIENDSHIP
MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet cellist Mstislav Rostropovich has been dropped from Moscow's Spring Arts Festival in apparent retaliation for his friendship with banished author Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

Australia's population stood at 13,195,000 last September, up 168,600 during the previous 12 months.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Handle all of the small duties connected with home, family and property efficiently so you will be able to get together in p.m. with the persons you really like for recreation.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Avoid any temptation to disagree with kin, or there could be unfortunate results. Endeavor to come to a better agreement with others, also.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be alert and use more care on the road, and you then avoid accidents. Keep an eye on your wallet and don't get short-changed.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you are extravagant now you will soon regret it, so try to save more money. Await a better day to consult an adviser you trust.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to get into only tried and true activities, recreations today, then the p.m. can be delightful from the romantic standpoint.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy early at accumulated tasks. Help a good friend who needs your assistance. Avoid one who is acting furtively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your desire to be with friends is not favored now because they are busy, so get at projects to make your surroundings functional. Plan the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get at all those duties ahead of you and persevere until they are well completed. If some credit affair needs handling, this is the time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Start some new plan that will help you extend your sphere of influence. Ignore any criticism from one who doesn't understand your ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you first attend to whatever important matters are at hand, and then you can go out for recreation. Converse with your romantic interest charmingly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't argue in a petulant way with a partner, or you cause trouble in the future. One who opposes you should be avoided now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't get into some labor that is not for you at all which could bring unhappiness and loss. Improve your health and you improve your willpower.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day for having a good time, so plan your activities carefully. Show devotion to those you really like. Spend p.m. at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be too emotional and should be taught early to control the temper and not to whine. This child will easily comprehend what the public needs are, and how problems of the masses can be resolved, so slant the education along such lines as the right schools and give enough cultural training to enable him or her to be comfortable in any kind of company. Religious training early is a must here.

Girl Scout Council's Spring Meeting Is Held Here

SPRING MEETING. . . Discussing Girl Scout activities at yesterday's annual spring meeting of the Girl Scout Council of Coastal Carolina, Inc., are Mrs. James F. Davenport, Mrs. Wyatt Brown, Mrs. Everett Pittman, Miss Martha Harrison, and Mrs. William R. Rand. (Reflector Photo by Blanche Hardee)

Representatives from 26 Eastern North Carolina counties attended the annual spring meeting of the Girl Scout Council of Coastal Carolina, Inc., yesterday at Memorial Baptist Church.

Martha Harrison of Williamston and a member of Troop 491 was the main speaker. She stated the Scouting program has always tried to instill values and certain beliefs in the participants.

"The program has always been working for the development and maturity of girls so that they could accept and fill their places in society," the Senior Scout explained. "From Brownie to Senior Scout, there are decisions for the girls to make and there is responsibility for them to accept."

"Through the program we learn to take ourselves seriously. We are given the opportunity to learn who we are, where we want to go, and how we are going to get there, and how others will be able to help us get there," Miss Harrison said.

"To exist in today's world, Girl Scouting, like everything else, must make changes," Miss Harrison said. "Through these changes we will advance into society as mature women ready to accept any challenges that may confront us. We will show ourselves and others that the Girl Scout program builds people—not things."

Other Senior Scouts participating in the program included: Alene Payne, Williamston Troop 491; Lucia Peel, Williamston, Carol Watts, Williamston, Mary Peele, Williamston, all members of Troop 270; Erin Mock, Camp Lejeune Troop 255; Janet Derrick and Kenna Stephenson, Wilson Troop 11; Carol Scott and Gloria Sipfle, both of Kinston Troop 330; Michelle Mullins, Wilmington Troop 444; and Susan Murphy, Wilmington Troop 106.

The Senior Scouts presented skits showing how program emphases can be incorporated into project activities.

A filmstrip entitled "What's It All About" was shown in conjunction with Miss Harrison's talk. The film depicted Girl Scouting as a dynamic process through which girls develop self-awareness and become courageous, committed, young women.

The highlight of the program was the presentation of 33 "Unsung Heroine" awards which were described by Mrs. William Rand, council president, as people who do so much work in their neighborhood—the "backbone" of Scouting. The recipients were given Girl Scout paperweights.

One of the recipients of the "Unsung Heroine" award was Mrs. Wyatt Brown of Greenville.

Mrs. Brown began working with Scouts in 1955 when her daughter reached Brownie age. She served as an intermediate and assistant senior leader prior to being named Neighborhood Chairman, a position she held for seven years. Currently, Mrs. Brown is serving as Brownie consultant for the Greenville area.

She is married to Wyatt Brown and they have two children Wyatt Jr. of Panama City, Fla., and Mrs. Flood Jr. of Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Brown is a member of the Greenville Service League and Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church where she is active in church work.

Other activities yesterday included a flag ceremony by Troop 446 of Greenville; a senior planning board nominating committee report given by Janet Derrick; invocation by the Rev. Norman Bennett; bicentennial report, Mrs. W. P. Kemp Jr.

Council President Mrs. W. R. Rand presided at the meeting. Other program participants included Mrs. Fred Mallison, vice president; and Jo Hervey, executive director.

Special thanks was given to Mrs. Everett Pittman, Neighborhood Chairman; Mrs. James F. Davenport, luncheon chairman; Mrs. W. E. Carson, decorations; Mrs. Joseph Distefano, flag ceremony and name tags; Mrs. Curtis Howell; Sandy Davis, Sandy Thomas, Mrs. Lee Blackwell, Mrs. John Wickliffe, Martha Harrison and Mrs. Alex Comfort, Program Emphases Team.

Early Records Of Tobacco Co. Are Donated To ECU Collection

The Imperial Tobacco Group, Limited, has donated to the East Carolina University Manuscript Collection the early records of the company's operation in Greenville.

James F. Davenport, Jr., manager of the Greenville branch and V. E. Brooks of Wilson, president of the American Leaf organization of Imperial recently presented the early records to ECU. The records date from 1902 when the company first established offices in Greenville and consist of approximately 120 volumes of ledgers plus five cubic feet of loose files.

According to Don Lennon, director of the ECU manuscript program, the ledgers contain poundage and hoghead data, plant operational records, records of tobacco received and shipped, stemming and processing records, and other data about the operation of the Greenville factory.

Also included are some records for branches in Farmville, Robersonville, and Washington.

Imperial moved its American

Student To Give Research Report

Steven Reed, graduate student in the East Carolina University Department of Biology, will report on research he conducted on seasonal changes in plants on the Pamlico River at the annual meeting of the N.C. Academy of Sciences at Appalachian State University this weekend.

Other participants in the project included Dr. Graham J. Davis, ECU professor of biology, research technician Martha Jones, and graduate student Joseph Harwood.

Reed will be among several ECU biologists scheduled to address the gathering on their research.

headquarters from Richmond to Wilson during the late 1960s. The parent company, headquartered in London, is now a highly diversified conglomerate with major interests in food processing, wines and spirits, pulp and paper manufacturing, packaging, plastics, fashions, and a variety of other business activities.

Commenting on the gift of the Greenville tobacco records, Lennon emphasized the significance of the acquisition to the University. "East Carolina University is extremely proud to have a part in the preservation of the Imperial Tobacco Company files. They will constitute a major research source for future historians."

"Naturally," Lennon said, "the preservation of tobacco records is vital to the historian. Without them a clear understanding of and appreciation for tobacco's role in our culture is not possible."

Official announcement of the gift was made recently during ECU's Second Annual Symposium on Tobacco History.

Small cars are big business nowadays at the sign of the cat!

But not the only business!

More than ever we think the sign of the cat is a sign of the times. To begin with, we have cars in a wide range of prices and sizes. Sure, today you hear a lot of talk about small cars, and we happily offer gas-slingy little Comets and Capris. But we realize that there's still a demand for mid-size, full-size and luxury cars. A lot of families just won't fit into a small car. So, whatever your driving needs, look to the sign of the cat. All Mercurys below shown with optional whitewalls. Vinyl roof optional on Lincoln Continental, deluxe wheel covers on Mercury Monterey.

The action's at the sign of the cat!
