

Farm, Food Price-Drop Slows Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharp declines in farm and food prices slowed the rise in wholesale prices in April to its slowest rate in six months, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said wholesale prices increased seven-tenths of one per cent seasonally adjusted and five-tenths of one per cent unadjusted.

The increase was still high by normal standards but considerably below increases recorded since November. April's rise compared with adjusted increases of 1.3 per cent in March, 1.2 per cent in February and 3.1 per cent in January.

Despite the slowdown in farm and food prices, there was no hint that the inflationary surge was abating.

Industrial prices, regarded as one of the surest barometers of inflation, jumped an adjusted 2.3 per cent in April. In March industrial prices climbed 2.9 per cent.

Farm products, processed foods and feeds declined for the second consecutive month, dropping an adjusted 3 per cent and an unadjusted 3.7 per cent.

The Agriculture Department predicted Wednesday that food prices would begin to level off during the second half of the year and possibly even decline in the final quarter.

Wholesale prices rose 18.8 per cent in the past 12 months. Changes in wholesale prices usually are reflected later at the retail level.

April's increase lifted the government's wholesale price index to 155.3. That means it cost $155.30 to buy the same volume of wholesale goods that $100 purchased in 1967.

The big rise in industrial prices reflected in part the dropping of price controls from various industries.

Metal products accounted for almost one-third of the total increase. Iron and steel scrap rose 14.7 per cent and steel mill products increased 2.7 per cent.

Price increases by industries freed from price controls appeared to be cracking the Cost of Living Council's heralded anti-inflation commitments for big business unless Congress votes to hold them together.

Ford Motor Co. announced price increases Wednesday averaging $163 for its 1974 autos, and the council said General Motors planned to follow suit.

Wholesale prices for April reflected other increases in a wide variety of materials.

Machinery and equipment rose 1.4 per cent. Lumber products jumped 4.7 per cent and furniture products 1.3 per cent.

Most fuels also jumped in price with the exception of refined petroleum products which declined 1.6 per cent. Coal prices rose 17.1 per cent; coke 16.4 per cent and electric power 3 per cent.

Decreases for grains, livestock, oil seed, live poultry, raw cotton, eggs and milk dropped the index for farm products 5.5 per cent. However, fresh and dried fruits and vegetables went up in price.

The government said the decline in refined petroleum products would not accurately reflect price changes in the marketplace.

Because of this, the Labor Department said, beginning next month pricing data will be collected directly from petroleum companies rather than from spot quotations published in the trade journal which represents a decreasing portion of the transactions in domestic markets.

Over the past three months, wholesale prices have increased on an adjusted annual rate of 13.5 per cent. Over the past year, industrial commodity prices have risen 20.7 per cent while farm and food prices advanced 14.7 per cent.

Approved Watergate Break-In? Staff Study Aims At Mitchell

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee is considering a staff report that concludes evidence exists to support the view that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell approved the plan that led to the Watergate break-in.

That and other conclusions plus a list of legislative recommendations are included in a 170-page draft prepared under the direction of Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel.

Sources close to the committee said there is considerable disagreement among the seven Watergate senators and the panel's staff over the form and content of the report.

The draft report, due in final form May 28, reaches these major conclusions:

—“The committee finds that the weight of evidence tends to establish that Mitchell did approve the Liddy intelligence plan with a quarter million dollar budget in Key Biscayne on March 30, 1972.” Convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy is alleged to have used large sums of money from the Committee for the Re-election of the President to finance the break-in and wiretapping at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate complex.

—“The weight of evidence can only support the conclusion that ... payments (by high White House officials) were made for the purpose of keeping the Watergate defendants silent as to the involvement of other persons in the Watergate break-in or other activities embarrassing to the White House.”

—“The committee finds no legal justification for the Ellsberg break-in on any national security grounds. The committee finds it difficult to accept John D. Ehrlichman's claim that the Ellsberg break-in was not carried out with his express knowledge and authorization.”

Ehrlichman, formerly the White House domestic adviser, has pleaded innocent to a charge of complicity in the break-in at the office of the psychiatrist treating Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

The draft report also makes several major legislative recommendations, including the creation of a permanent, independent, court-appointed and Senate-confirmed public attorney to probe future charges of corruption in government.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell indicated he believes that if foreign affairs were involved President Nixon may have had the authority to order the investigation that resulted in the Ellsberg break-in.

Gesell added that if the President did order the break-in under those circumstances, the case against six men charged in the incident may have to be thrown out.

—The White House acknowledged there may be gaps in some of the Watergate tapes as transcribed and edited for the Judiciary Committee, but said “all the words which could be heard are reflected in the transcripts.”

Assure Demo Unity

RALEIGH (AP) — The two defeated major candidates for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate from North Carolina have promised to support Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan in the general election.

And, Morgan in turn promised Wednesday to run his campaign in close conjunction with the Democratic party organization.

Morgan won the nomination in Tuesday's primary by obtaining 50.49 per cent of the vote, enough to avoid a runoff against former U.S. Rep. Nick Galifianakis of Durham. Henry Hall Wilson of Monroe, the other major candidate in the field of 10, ran third in the race.

“Mr. Morgan ran a fine campaign and I wish to extend to him my full support,” Galifianakis told a Wednesday afternoon news conference.

“I will do everything in my power to urge my fellow Democrats to do the same, to ensure his election in November as our next senator,” Galifianakis added.

Morgan will face Republican state Rep. William E. Stevens of Lenoir in the general election. Stevens easily won the nomination over two other candidates who were virtually unknown.

Wilson, who returned to North Carolina a year ago after having served with Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and as president of the Chicago Board of Trade, conceded his defeat Tuesday night. He called the race an “extraordinarily clean campaign.”

“I know of no scars growing from this primary that could impede the Democratic party's chances in November,” said Wilson, adding that he would support the Democratic nominee.

Both Galifianakis and Wilson had strongly attacked Morgan as lacking sufficient experience and background for a national legislative position, at least in comparison with their own records.

Meeting briefly with newsmen, Morgan said he was gratified to win the nomination in the first primary because it eliminates a runoff and “its possible divisiveness to the party.”

“With a unified Democratic party,” Morgan added, “we can now go forward to achieve a really significant victory in the November election.”

Morgan said he feels the Senate seat up for election in North Carolina this year has special “symbolic” significance for the national Republican party because it is the seat now held by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

“The U.S. economy is particularly important to South Korea. It's vital to our economic development,” His Excellency Pyong-Choon Hahn, Ambassador of the Republic of Korea to the United States said

Wednesday afternoon.

Ambassador Hahn said that, despite setbacks his country is suffering from inflation and the impact of the world oil situation, “Korea is becoming increasingly industrialized.”

Comparatively new on the scene, Ambassador Hahn became his country's representative to the U.S. in January this year.

“Being here in North Carolina brings to mind that your state produces soybeans, tobacco, and peanuts, crops that are becoming increasingly important.” (Continued On Page 16)

Kissinger Visits Faisal To Seek Accord Support

By BARRY SCHWEID

Associated Press Writer

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Saudi Arabia today to talk to King Faisal about American technical aid for the economic development of the desert kingdom and to seek the monarch's support for a disengagement agreement between Syria and Israel.

In an unusually warm welcoming statement, Foreign Minister Omar Saquaf said the Saudi people “cherish nothing but amity and friendliness for the people of the United States.” But he added that the American people should know that the Saudis are a religious Moslem people who “will not be swayed.”

After seeing Faisal, Kissinger was flying to Cairo to brief President Anwar Sadat on the progress of his negotiations with Syria and Israel.

The secretary is counting on both Faisal and Sadat, as well as Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, to influence the Syrians to settle for only a partial Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights.

Meanwhile, both Americans and Israelis reported some progress in Kissinger's talks with the Syrians and Israelis.

It was the first time Israeli sources reported progress in the negotiations to separate the warring forces on the Golan Heights. American officials said a disengagement agreement was “a little more likely.” But one American source cautioned that an agreement was “far away.”

Kissinger traveled to Damascus on Wednesday with new Israeli proposals and returned to Jerusalem with the Syrian reaction. “The discussions have now reached a very concrete stage,” said Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban after a three-hour meeting with Kissinger.

An authoritative Israeli source said the Syrians did not completely reject the Israeli proposals. The source said Kissinger brought back a series of comments on the Israeli plan, not a counter proposal.

One U.S. official said Kissinger was beginning to detect a “glimmer of understanding” between Syria and Israel.

Israel now is offering to surrender the 300 square miles of Syrian territory taken in the October 1973 fighting; to give up the eastern half of the abandoned town of Kuneitra, half a mile inside the Golan Heights territory seized in the 1967 war.

Resignation Raised Anew

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader John Rhodes of Arizona suggested today that President Nixon reconsider the possibility of resigning, although Rhodes said he was not recommending that Nixon quit.

A participant in a breakfast session Rhodes held with a small group of newsmen quoted him as saying a reassessment of Nixon's position should be dictated by the impact of public release of some of his edited Watergate transcripts.

Rhodes said the transcripts are “devastating” and have drawn a heavily unfavorable public response.

Rhodes was quoted as saying he thinks Nixon can remain in office but declared when asked about a possible resignation: “I don't know but in view of the developments of the last few days there has got to be some soul searching going on. When responsible people read the transcripts and change their position, the President ought to take that under consideration.”

Asked if key congressional Republicans might go to Nixon privately and recommend that he resign, Rhodes was quoted as responding, “I know of no definite plan at this time.”

The House GOP leader said he did not rule out resignation as an option but had not personally come to the conclusion that Nixon should do so.

He reported that his own mail, largely based on reaction to the transcripts Nixon released last week, was running 10 to 1 against the President.

Asked if he thought Nixon could govern effectively, Rhodes was quoted as saying: “At the present moment I think he can, but the present situation is volatile.”

Any further erosion of support for Nixon, he said, might force a reappraisal.

Rhodes also was quoted as saying: “I feel that if Nixon comes to the conclusion that he can no longer be effective as President, he will do something about it ... if he should resign, I would accept it.”

Asked if he would welcome resignation, he was said to have responded, “No, I would accept it.”

While emphasizing again that he was not recommending a resignation, Rhodes was said to have expressed the opinion that such an action by Nixon would boost Republican chances in the November elections.

Rhodes was quoted as saying several times that Nixon's position should be reassessed in view of editorial calls this week for his resignation or impeachment by the Chicago Tribune, the Omaha World-Herald and William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst Newspapers.

Rhodes was said to have suggested that such media outlets “have their fingers on the pulse of the nation.”

Minor Changes Seen In Proposed Summer Recreation Program

The proposed summer program for the Greenville Recreation Department in general follows the broad scope of summer programs of recent years, with a few additions and some minor changes in already existing activities.

Walter Stasavich presented an outline of proposed activities to the Greenville Recreation Commission Wednesday night.

“The program will begin this year on Friday, June 14,” Stasavich said. “That will be registration day and individual programs will get underway on Monday, June 17. The programs and activities will run seven weeks, through Friday, August 2.”

A brief outline of the summer program shows:

—The neighborhood playground program: To be conducted at Hillsdale, Peppermint, Kittrell-Goodson, West Meadowbrook, Meadowbrook Center and Greenfield Terrace. In addition to day programs, an effort will be made to try a new program where activity will be planned one evening each week from 5 to 8 p.m. to get parents involved.

—Weekly events: Among activities for which continuing programs are planned are games, crafts, drama, and story telling, with plans to have a bus to help transport children. Also planned are swimming, bowling and putt-putt. It is hoped horse-back riding can be incorporated in the program. Stasavich said, “this however, will be difficult.”

—Special activities: Among these are plans to approach owners of the Ice House in Greenville to see about reduced rates during the seven weeks at certain times; and movies at reduced rates. Other special activities will include weekly tournaments in horse shoes, volley ball, checkers and similar games.

—Tot-lot program: For ages four to six. Stasavich said an effort will be made to try to send recreation leaders to the intersection of Memorial Drive and West Third Street to escort children from Moyewood across Memorial Drive. Tot lot programs will be held at South Greenville from 9 a.m. to noon, at Elm Street both morning and afternoon. Registration at Elm St. Will be limited to 50 in the morning and 50 in the afternoon.

—Baseball Instruction: At Elm Street for children ages 7 to 12, to be divided into three leagues ... the Small Fry, age 7; Big Fry, age 8; and Big Eighth League, ages 9-12. An effort will be made to try to add night games during the week for these leagues to play.

—Tennis: Elm Street, kids through adults. Instead of a program similar to last year's, plans are for concentrated lessons of two weeks, with instruction being given four or five days each week. Evening classes are also planned for adults. Registration for tennis classes will be limited.

—Basketball Program: Coach Wilson McDow will head the basketball instructional program. There will be three groups which will be formed into leagues. This will include all ages.

—Children's Theater: Stuart Aronson will head this program to be held at the Methodist Student Center. Plans are to shape up a production to be presented during the Sunday in Parks program.

—Evans Day Care Center:

Two three week sessions, morning and afternoon, ages 6-12, limited to 25 children each session. There will also be a three weeks Exceptional Children Day Care.

—A new program: In the plans is a neighborhood play day for certain areas, i.e., Lyndale, which are on the outskirts of Greenville. This would involve taking a portable concession stand, and a large variety of equipment to a selected street site, roping the area off and conducting an on the spot recreation program. This would be a late afternoon activity from about 5 p.m. to dark.

Recreation Director Boyd Lee announced that the Summer in the Parks program would open June 18 with an appearance by the Camp Lejeune Marine Band.

In other action, Charles Pope and Joe Taft were named as a nominating committee. Nominations for both chairman and vice-chairman will be made at the June meeting. The June 12 monthly meeting will again be an annual tour of facilities event, with the business meeting to be conducted in conjunction with dinner.

Jane Makes Three And That's Unlucky!

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My friend Jane and I work together. She and her husband and my husband and I had been close friends for 12 years. Two years ago, Jane's husband died suddenly, and we were all shocked and deeply grieved.

My husband and I tried to make life easier for Jane. We invited her over and took her places with us so she wouldn't be alone. Her other friends had her for dinner once and that was the end of it.

It's going on the third year now, and I think it's time Jane started to try to make a new life for herself. It's gotten so that she expects us to include her in everything. If we don't, she is hurt, and she lets us know.

She and my husband and I are a regular threesome. And who do you think gets all the attention? Jane does. My husband pulls out her chair and helps her with her coat and I have to look after myself.

I mentioned this to my husband once and he said: "Why, you're jealous!" How can I remedy this situation without hurting anyone? I don't know how much longer I can hide my feelings.

THIRD WHEEL

DEAR WHEEL: Why hide them? Tell your husband: "You're darned tootin' I'm jealous!" Enough is enough. Discontinue the threesome. Dig up a single man for Jane, or ask her to find one, but let your husband know that three is an unlucky number.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old male with an unusual problem. I've worked at the same company for six years and have a good relationship with my boss, who is the president and owner of this company. The problem is the boss's daughter who also works here. She is very friendly to me, and every chance she gets, she straightens my tie or gives me a little hug. This girl is very attractive and I find it difficult to get my work done when she's around.

Last week, while I was standing at the copy machine, she came up behind me and put her hand in my pocket to make change for a soft drink!

I don't want to offend the boss's daughter, but I can't reciprocate her friendly gestures, so what do I do?

BOTHERED IN LOUISVILLE

DEAR BOTHERED: You poor kid! Pretend she is just another girl in the steno pool. Why should she be penalized because she's the boss's daughter?

DEAR ABBY: For years I've been reading about women who use the excuse that they're "tired" to get out of having marital relations with their husbands.

My husband and I are both in our early 30s. We've always had enjoyable sex relations until the last five or six years. Now that I'm the mother of three small children, by the end of the day I am so exhausted, the last thing I want to think about is sex.

Husbands don't realize how tiring it is to keep house, do the laundry, cooking, and care for three children under six

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

There is an old American myth that people in the hospital want to be cheered up.

Greeting card companies have based a six-billion dollar business on it. Florists have little men with wings on their feet on every street corner ready to deliver a pot that nags, "Water me!" And visiting hours in most hospitals have been expanded.

Once, I too was a believer in the myth. A reader wrote me she had read my book just after surgery and tore three stitches out laughing. I was so delighted with her misery that I sent a copy of her letter to my publisher with a note attached. "Is there a market for heart patients?"

All that has changed. Last week I was a surgical patient and if I laugh anymore I'll never stop bleeding.

Immediately preceding my operation my boss called to say, "Cheer up. If things don't turn out we have a very funny housewife from Houston who can fill in for you at a moment's notice." They tell me I was so amused I tried to tie two hospital gowns together and strangle myself.

In keeping the atmosphere light the doctors said during surgery, "Hey, Fred, did you bring your March issue of Reader's Digest? There's something I have to check." There were tears of hysteria in my eyes as I rolled off the table.

A nurse who was trying out her Las Vegas act lifted my spirits considerably by saying, "Our hospital food is so bad, patients ask for seconds on their IVs." This convulsed me and the needle fell out of my arm.

A phone call brought another well-wisher who said, "I hear you now have new towels monogrammed 'His and Her-nia.'" "Oh, please," I giggled, "no more."

An aide came by and put a button in my hand and said, "Press this one if you need a nurse," and impishly put another button in my other hand and nudged. "This one is for Oral Roberts."

In my heart, I knew that another dose of cheer would kill me, when my husband came in and thrust a pot of flowers under my nose.

I was right. My nose wrinkled and my breath began coming in short gasps. My toes dug into the mattress and weakly I grasped the sides of the bed for what I knew was coming. MY FIRST SNEEZE AFTER SURGERY. As my body throbbed with shooting pains, I knew I would never get well and I said weakly, "Please do not bring anymore sunshine into my life. Just let me lie here and wallow in Watergate, self-pity, my cracked heels, bad breath, greasy hair, nausea and neglect. But mostly... neglect."

'The Buck Stopped' At Brandt

Willy Brandt, who has long been a part of the West German political scene, has resigned as chancellor of that country.

The former chancellor was the victim of a spy scandal. His aide for political party affairs was arrested April 24 and admitted being an East

Churches Aren't Just Preaching

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Has the church lost its influence? Do parishioners want to occupy a "comfortable pew" for an hour on Sundays, unchallenged, then forget the church for another week?

No to both questions, answers The Rev. Coy Privette, pastor of North Kannapolis Baptist Church, but perhaps better known for his leadership role as president of the North Carolina Christian Action League.

"The church does have influence—and a great deal of it—if used in a responsible way. I think the average Christian today is seeing that when Jesus said 'you are the salt of the earth' he was talking about the need for Christians to be involved in the affairs of the world.

"Laymen today see a need to exercise their faith seven days a week," Privette said.

Lazy Christians

"People say they want no part of politics, that politicians are crooked. If so, it's because we have lazy Christians. If we want to see a change, then people of honesty and integrity had better be involved... and younger people today, especially, are more action oriented and want to see the church speak to everyday problems."

Five years ago, Privette was asked to take over leadership of the Christian Action League. "I said no, not if this is going to be a one-interest organization—liquor-by-the-drink."

He said the response was tremendous and he quickly found laymen and pastors of the 12 denominations active in the league anxious to get involved in the "moral and ethical" principals facing the people.

Today, the Christian Action League has behind it a record of involvement in the defeat of the statewide liquor-by-the-drink measure, support for a medical school at East Carolina University, statewide work for passage of a successful $300 million school bond referendum, and German army officer and agent for the East Berlin Ministry of State Security.

Brandt had earlier suffered setbacks in state elections. Opinion polls show his support dropping to about 30 per cent.

Brandt, however, pegged his resignation to the spy scandal and took "political responsibility for negligence" in appointing the East German spy to an important position.

In some ways the problems of Willy Brandt paralleled those of President Nixon in this nation. Here the president is beset by domestic spying which occurred in his campaign organization. Nixon, though, is engaged in attempting to show the nation that he had nothing to do with the Watergate planning and coverup. Seldom does the question come up in the White House of the president's being responsible for what went on within his organization—even if he did not know.

"The Buck Stops Here" was popularized by Harry Truman. Willy Brandt recognized this in his own governmental scandal, but the Nixon administration wants the buck to stop with everyone but the president.

Meaningful Figures For The Unemployed

For whatever its implications, the unemployment rate went down in April.

Government figures showed that unemployment dropped from 5.1 per cent to five per cent of the work force.

If the drop indicates a trend it is good news for the economy. The figure, however, certainly has meaning for those individuals in the one-tenth of a per cent who now have jobs.

Phil Godwin In Relaxing Mood

By JOHN KILGO

It's hard to believe Phil Godwin when he says: "For the first time in many years, I can relax. My name's not on the ballot and I'm not running for anything."

Godwin, a Democrat from Gatesville, just finished a term in the State Senate. He also served as House Speaker and most people figured politics was a natural part of his existence.

But Godwin is at least temporarily retired from public life. He was in the battle for attorney general, but has pulled out of that race.

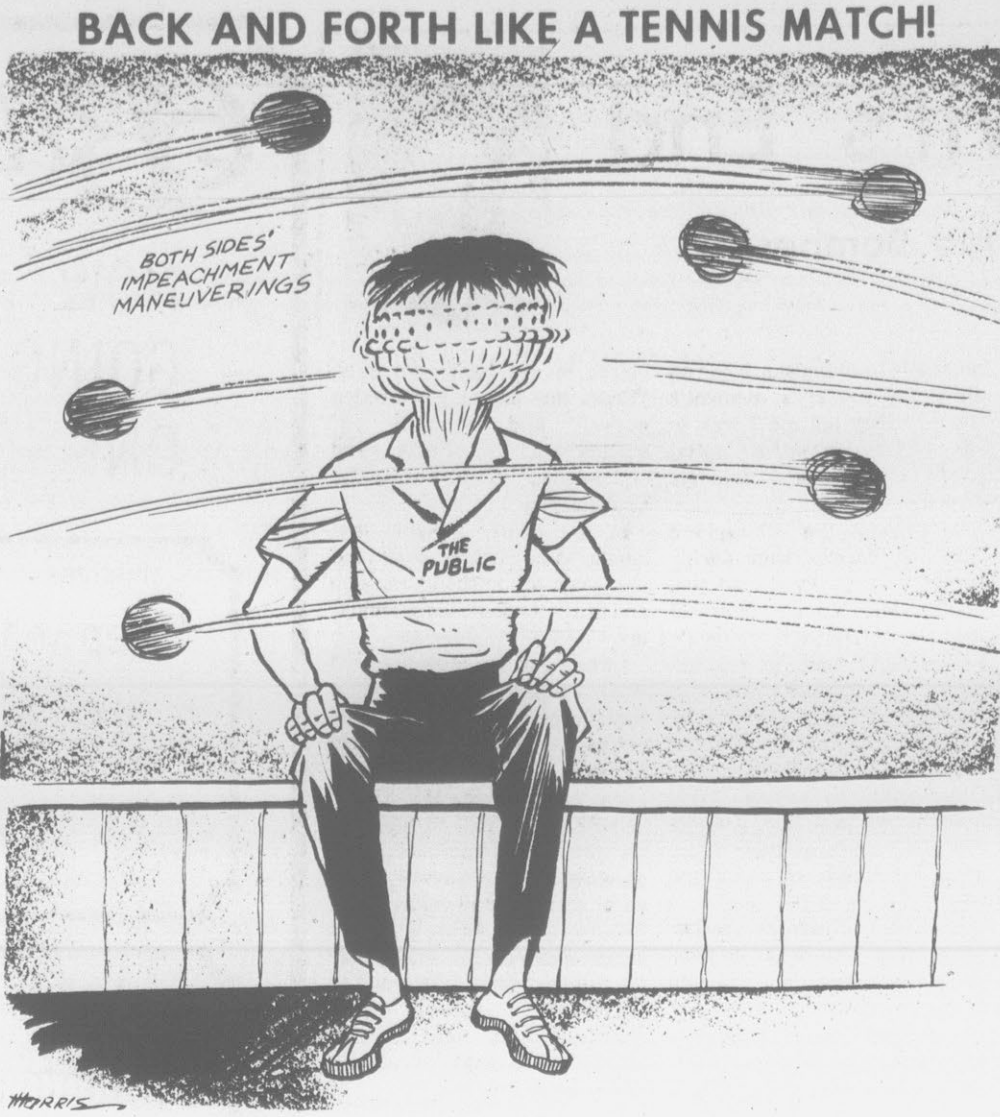

"I think I was out front for attorney general," Godwin said. "But I would have had to pull up roots here and move my family to Raleigh. That's not always easy for a man to do, especially a man like me. I'm still sleeping in the bed I was born in. I've been here all my life."

Godwin says politics still appeals to him, and he might offer for state-wide office in two years. But he says the cost of running turns his stomach.

"Here's Bob Morgan spending half-a-million-dollars almost just for a primary," Godwin said. "That's hard to comprehend. I would have run for lieutenant governor last time, except for the cost of campaigning. Something is going to have to be done about the cost of seeking public office."

Godwin presided over the House as Speaker. I asked him if he thought Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt did a good job presiding over the Senate.

"I think Jim was fair in presiding over the Senate," Godwin said. "But I think he involved himself too much in the legislative branch of government. He is a member of the executive branch, and I don't think he should involve himself so much in legislative matters. I think if we had a Democratic governor, and he would have given Jim something to do, we wouldn't have had this problem. But Jim is serving under a Republican governor and I guess that makes a dif-

Summer Vacation Plans

By CRAIG AMMERMAN

Americans planning a vacation trip this summer should be prepared to pay more, start planning sooner and keep a careful eye on the gas gauge.

A nationwide Associated Press survey shows that families are not being scared away from planning summer vacations by high gasoline prices and the memory of winter shortages. But tourism officials say the summer vacationer plans to travel a shorter distance to find his spot in the sun and to stay put longer once he gets there.

The sharp increases in the price of food and energy will hit the summer traveler hard.

Some vacation areas report food and beverage prices up 20 per cent over last year, and federal officials foresee an average nationwide price for gasoline of 60 cents a gallon this summer, up from the current average of 54 cents for regular and 58 cents for premium. Some tourist areas predict it could go as high as 70 cents. Motel and hotel prices are also up in most tourist areas, but not significantly.

The overall effect means you'll pay up to 20 per cent more for the same vacation you took last year.

Many tourist areas suffered between a 20 and 40 per cent decline in business during the winter. But by April most reported business nearly normal again, and some expect a record summer.

The AP survey showed that traveling on Sundays could mean risking running out of gasoline this summer. There will be fewer gasoline stations open on Sundays for two reasons: (1) many stations do not need that day to sell their monthly allocation, and (2) some owners have gotten used to having Sundays off and aren't anxious to work. The American Automobile Association said Tuesday a survey showed 39 per cent of the nation's service stations open Sundays.

The AP survey also shows that most tourist areas have increased their advertising budgets and concentrated their messages much closer to home. Cape Cod resorts, for example, are advertising in a 300-mile radius instead of a normal 700 miles.

Major tourist areas such as Cape Cod, the Poconos, the Smoky Mountains, Southern California and the lake areas

Mixed Reader Reaction

By ANN BLACKMAN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ray Sauers took up President Nixon's invitation to read the edited transcripts of his private Watergate conversations, which Nixon said "will tell it all."

Sauers, one of the first to buy the blue-bound volume, doesn't think it does. Other first day purchasers think it does.

"It's a survival effort," Sauers concluded Wednesday after reading the critical March 21 conversation when then-White House counsel John W. Dean III told Nixon of the full proportions of the Watergate break-in, conspiracy and cover-up.

Sauers, 33, a research analyst from Birmingham, Mich., and his 8-year-old daughter, Laurie, were visiting Washington last week when the edited transcripts went on sale at the Government Printing Office bookstore. They were among the first in line when the doors opened at 8 a.m.

"The March 21 conversation convinces me ... hush money to (Watergate burglar E. Howard) Hunt was approved," Sauers said in a telephone interview from his home. "It does no more than re-enforce what I already believed ... These things (transcripts) hurt him."

A check with tourists, businessmen, housewives and lawyers who purchased the instant best-seller the first morning it was on the market indicates that many of them think the conversations raised more questions than they answered; most think the six-pound volume is worth the $12.25 it cost. All have read at least portions of the transcripts. None finished the entire volume.

"I've read some of the sig-

One of the men who figured in the kidnapping plot of June Robles, a six-year-old heiress, has been found by investigators and is now in custody.

Also, a written document giving details of the plot and location where the child has been secreted was found penned by the man.

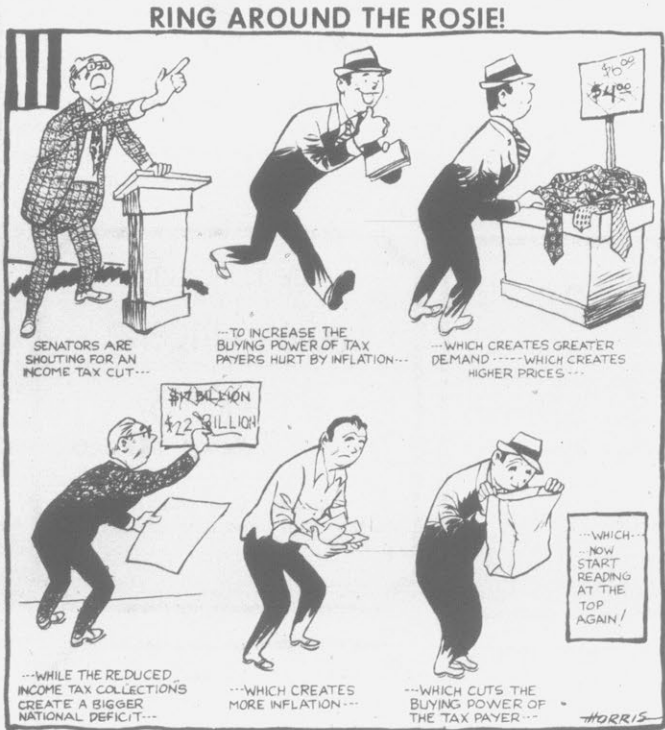

The others in the plot were described as a Mexican and his wife and a man whose nationality was not revealed.

The child, a member of a pioneer Tucson, Ariz., family, was kidnapped April 25 and was held for $15,000 ransom. She has still not been found.

D. J. Whichard, Jr., owner and publisher of the Daily Reflector, left this morning for Washington, D.C., where he will attend a reception at the White House and dinner at the Hotel Shoreham in connection with celebration of turning over the Warm Springs Foundation fund to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The reception is being given under auspices of the National Committee for the Birthday Ball for the President. At this time the Warm Springs Foundation Fund will be presented to the President.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a difficult day trying to assimilate all that is taking place about you, the p.m. brings you the chance to make sensible decisions and plan future more intelligently because of the things that have occurred. Look at them objectively and extract wisdom.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Delays in outside affairs give you a chance to use ingenuity to solve them. Don't be upset by demands of new associate. All works out fine.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) New things seem to go awry during day, but later everything straightens out. Give new partner time to become helpful. Keep your cool.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your hunches aren't working just right during day, so use your good judgment and logic, then off to recreations you like in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Associates may be difficult in a.m., but later become most cooperative. Don't argue in a.m. Avoid one who opposes you and keep out of trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan your duties wisely in a.m. so you can plough through them quickly without costly errors. Plan relaxation, exercise in between.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good times don't pan out in a.m., so work, then have fun with kin in p.m. Keep plugging at special aptitude for later profit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make necessary small improvements around your home, then attend social meeting in p.m. Handle important business matter.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Fine ally could be in a quarrelsome mood now, so keep silent. Drive with unusual care and keep an eye on wallet, especially in crowds.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Monetary matters may not seem too good, but are really much better than you think. Friends can be in excellent mood tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Rid yourself of whatever displeases you. Good friends are apt to drop in on you. Have goodies around they will like.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Solve problems objectively as they are only tests of your ability to handle them. Do something kind for a good neighbor.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't argue with a good pal now, even though you may feel you are right. Change your aims somewhat if you want to attain them.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have own views and ideas, and should be encouraged in the habit of detailed debate, since the fine attorney is in this chart, male or female. There is the ability to get into practical aspects of some situation, while sticking to principle. Teach early to cultivate a warm smile and to make decisions quickly, without wasting too much time. Spiritual training is a must.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Possible Strike At N.C. Ports

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Contract negotiations have broken down between the State Ports Authority and the International Longshoremen's Association, raising the possibility of a strike at port facilities here and at Morehead City.

"We're at an impasse," declared A. A. Canoutas of Wilmington, I.L.A. attorney and union representative in the talks.

"If a mediator doesn't work this out, it is inevitable—we will strike," he added.

Canoutas said he walked out of Wednesday's negotiating session when Ports Authority officials attempted to review contract proposals tentatively agreed to in earlier talks.

Jack Lee, acting executive director of the Ports Authority, said officials are willing to continue to talks "as long as we have something to talk about."

"They broke off negotiations and threatened to walk out. Now we will see if they walk out," he said. "After that we will call the shots as we see them."

Lee said the authority had asked until May 21 to present a firm proposal.

The I.L.A. is bargaining agent for about 350 state-employed dock workers. State officials began bargaining sessions several months ago in compliance with a federal court order.

Union officials said workers at both port facilities have voted unanimously to strike if the current impasse is not bridged. Canoutas said that if workers set up picket lines, other unions, including longshoremen at private shipping companies, will not cross the lines.

The chief disagreement in the talks has been over wages. The state has offered to give the dock workers a 7½ per cent raise, the same as other state workers are receiving this year. The union has proposed a 12½ per cent pay increase.

nificant meetings," said Joshua Davidson, a customs lawyer from New York City who purchased the volume while in Washington on business. "I think I'm in apparent agreement with a good many legislators in Congress who feel it hasn't helped the President one bit. In fact, it's been the reverse."

Tom Gallian, owner of a McDonald's Hamburger franchise in Dunn, N.C., disagrees. He took time off from a Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington last week to pick up several copies of the edited transcripts. After getting "about half through," he said, "I voted for him (Nixon), and probably would do so again. I think it's a comedy of errors the President got into. I have no conclusions yet whether he's guilty or innocent ... I think he should turn over the tapes ... So he swears a lot? What the hell? We all do."

Mrs. Marjorie Hooper, an English teacher in a Washington high school, said after reading about 400 pages of the transcripts, "I think he (Nixon) warrants impeachment. There was definitely a cover-up after March 21. After he was informed, the whole group entered into a conspiracy to obstruct justice."

"I've been floored by the depravity of the whole situation."

Cycle Rate Cut Blocked

RALEIGH (AP)—A temporary restraining order has blocked today's scheduled implementation of greatly reduced liability insurance rates for motorcycles in North Carolina.

The North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office, an insurance industry organization, won the temporary order Wednesday in Wake County Superior Court.

Insurance Commissioner John Ingram on May 1 had ordered the reduced rates and elimination of rating classifications for motorcycle liability insurance.

Paul Mize, general manager of the Rate Office, said in a statement Wednesday, "Obviously, insurance companies cannot comply with the order on such short notice."

Mize said the May 9 effective date of the May 1 order also deprived the Rate Office and its member insurance companies of the legal right to a 30-day period in which to prepare a court appeal.

Mize said the 75 per cent rate reduction ordered by Ingram "is clearly unrealistic and unfounded."

LOW-RISK MISHAP

AIKEN, S.C. (AP)—Levels of radioactivity found after last week's leak of tritium gas from the Savannah River Plant of the Atomic Energy Commission have been found less dangerous to humans than the radioactivity a person would get from wearing a wristwatch with a radium dial.

The zipper was invented in 1891.

Global Weather Study Soon To Get Underway

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientific armada is being readied to study one of the weakest links in science's understanding of how global weather and climate is produced.

More than 4,000 scientists and other personnel of 66 nations will undertake the study of the vast sun-drenched land, sea and atmospheric areas of the world's tropics this summer. The $53 million venture is led by the United States and the Soviet Union.

They will man or get data by radio from a task force of 38 ships, 13 aircraft, six kinds of space satellites and nearly 1,000 land-based weather observation stations deployed throughout or above a 20 million square mile land and sea area constituting one-third of the earth's tropics.

Their objectives are to: —Help find means of forecasting the weather at any spot on earth a week or more in advance—compared with only a few days at best right now. —Seek information to improve hurricane and typhoon forecasting.

—Explore theoretical possibilities for large-scale modification of the weather.

The venture also is expected to help explain the great drought still prevalent in parts of Africa and to help determine whether, and to what extent, man's pollution of the atmosphere affects global climate.

The project, outlined at a news conference Wednesday called by American government and private weather scientists, is called GATE.

That's short for "Global Atmospheric Research Program-Atlantic Tropical Experiment."

Dr. Robert M. White, administrator of the government's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), told newsmen GATE shapes up as "perhaps the largest and most complex international scientific experiment ever undertaken." NOAA is coordinating and directing U.S. participation.

White and other scientists said the task force will study the tropics because the tropics receive half the solar energy striking the whole planet. The atmosphere of this area therefore drives the general circulation of the global atmosphere, but, the scientists said, tropical weather-making processes still are inadequately understood.

GATE will be carried out from June 15 to September 23 in an area extending from the eastern Pacific Ocean—across Latin America, the Atlantic Ocean and Africa—to the western Indian Ocean.

Plan Funds To Train Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says it plans to make $33.5 million available to North Carolina in the next fiscal year to train the unemployed and the underemployed. Grants under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act will allow state and local governments to provide employment training in the classroom and on the job, plus basic education and counseling.

Pay Raise Voted Ailing Mayor

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard Daley, undergoing treatment for high blood pressure and diabetes, has received a get-well present from the city council.

The council voted Wednesday 45-0 to give Daley a $25,000 raise, bringing his annual salary to $60,000. The raise has been in the works for some time and was not connected with the mayor's illness.

A Daley spokesman said the mayor also is undergoing tests and it's uncertain when he'll be released.

Kopechnes Are Supporting Ted

SWIFTWATER, Pa. (AP) — The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne, who drowned when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car went off a bridge five years ago, say they will support the Massachusetts Democrat for President.

"We like the senator just as we liked his brothers, Robert and the President," said Gwen Kopechne, 56. "He stands for what I think is right. He's a lot better than what we've got now."

She and her husband, Joseph, 61, both said they thought Kennedy's political strength is in his appeal to youth. Kennedy, who has said he will decide next year about seeking the Presidency, has acknowledged the 1969 incident involving Miss Kopechne probably would be an issue if he runs.

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Robert Morgan is North Carolina's Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate primarily because of organizational strength he displayed in eastern and mountain areas of the state.

Morgan did not fare nearly as well in the urban areas of the Piedmont. But he cut his losses there enough to avoid being drawn into a runoff with Nick Galifianakis.

An analysis of the returns that gave Morgan a narrow 50.49 per cent majority also shows that he benefited from the low voter turnout.

The Morgan majority was built in agricultural eastern counties like Pitt, Wayne, Wilson, Craven and his home county of Harnett. In Wayne County, for example, he drew 5,190 votes and his opponents' combined total was about 3,000.

Building on those solid majorities was the Morgan effort in the mountains. It was strongest in counties where the Democratic organization is strongest. The party stronghold of Madison, for example, gave Morgan 1,295 votes and his opponents a combined total of about 700.

But in mountain counties where Republican victories have sapped the strength of the Democratic organization, like Wilkes, Morgan ran about even with Galifianakis. And his totals were far short of a majority.

The handful of counties where Morgan was not the front runner fell into four categories. There were urban Piedmont counties like Guilford, Forsyth and Mecklenburg with high concentrations of liberals and blacks.

There were some counties that Galifianakis had represented as a Congressman like Randolph, Orange and Chatham. There were counties where an opponent was the favorite son such as Durham and nearby Person for Galifianakis and Union for Wilson. And there were a few mountain counties where the Democratic party organization is weak.

A Galifianakis staffer, looking at the returns, pointed to Durham, Mecklenburg and Wake as the counties where Galifianakis failed to get the strength he needed to force a runoff.

Wake was perhaps typical of the entire state. It voted 15,135 for Morgan and 15,032 for his opponents.

Wake contains the state's fourth largest city, Raleigh, where the electorate is about 25 per cent black. But it contains many farming areas and small towns such as Wake Forest, Fuquay-Varina and Zebulon.

A precinct analysis of Wake points out more clearly the areas of Morgan's strength.

In a typical black precinct, the 22nd, Morgan trailed Galifianakis. He got 138 votes to 153 for Galifianakis and 42 for Wilson.

Morgan prevented the black vote, however, from crippling political action associations in his effort in the Piedmont. He won the endorsements of black Raleigh, Durham, and Mecklenburg.

Most N.C. Assembly Incumbents Won

RALEIGH (AP) — With only a few exceptions, incumbent members of North Carolina's General Assembly have won re-nomination in party primaries. Among the incumbents defeated in Tuesday's voting were Democrat Reps. W.P. Kemp Jr., of Wayne County, Howard Twigg of Wake, Graham Tart of Sampson, Henry Tyson of Cumberland, Ben Tison of Mecklenburg; Republican Rep. Margaret Keesee of Guilford, and Democratic Sen. Joe B. Raynor of Cumberland County. Those renominated included James C. Green, D-Bladen, who is scheduled to become speaker of the House next year, if he wins reelection in November and if the Democrats retain control of the House.

Also winning renomination were Rep. William T. Watkins, D-Granville, who served as House majority leader in 1973 and 1974, and Rep. Carl Stewart, D-Gaston, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Stewart is a contender for the speakership in 1977.

Sen. John Henley, who is expected to be Senate president pro tem if the Democrats retain control there, won renomi-nation in Cumberland County. Reps. Glenn Jernigan, D-Cumberland; Willis Whichard, D-Durham; and Lawrence Davis, D-Forsyth, won nominations to the state Senate.

Store Held Up By Masked Man

Greenville Police are continuing their hunt today for a masked man who robbed the Kwik Pik on Evans Street about 8:30 p.m. yesterday.

Detective Capt. L. J. Russell quoted the night clerk Steve Worthington of Winterville as saying the man wearing a ski mask forced his way into the store, pulled a pistol, and ordered Worthington to give him the money from the cash register.

The robber fled on foot with $25 in cash and ran into a near by woods. Capt. Russell said investigators who searched the area found no suspects last night.

Uncertainty Impact Cited

SAN DIEGO (A) — Charles W. Yost, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations under President Nixon, says he thinks the President should resign "as the quickest way out of the country's agony."

Yost, U.N. ambassador from 1969 to 1971, said in an interview Wednesday night that aside from domestic considerations, other nations "don't know where they stand" with the United States.

"The Russians, for example, very much want to proceed with detente with us," he said. "However, they are uncertain whether Mr. Nixon is strong enough domestically to enter any agreements that Congress will support."

"Our friends in Western Europe and Japan have the same concern," Yost said.

The veteran diplomat said he learned of Russian leaders' concerns with the President's situation in private conversations during a recent visit to the Soviet Union.

ESEA Council Meeting Set

Johnny Little, Chairman of the Pitt County Schools ESEA Title I Advisory Council, announces a monthly meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room on third floor in the Pitt County Courthouse.

The Title I staff is currently developing its proposal for the 1974-75 school year. Regulations require that the Title I Advisory Council have opportunity to express views on the program. Each school in the Pitt County School system has designated representatives who are urged to attend this meeting. Public participation is encouraged.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday, supplies adequate, demand fair.

Weighted average prices for small-lot sales of consumer Grade A whites in cartons delivered to nearby outlets: large 50.73, medium 42.72, small 38.54.

RALEIGH (AP) (USDA)—Corn and soybeans were stronger on the state's leading grain markets Wednesday. No. 2 yellow shelled corn was 2.55-2.75 per bushel. No. 1 yellow soybeans were 5.32-5.41 per bushel.

RALEIGH (NCDA) (AP)—The trend is mostly 1.00 lower. $26.00 Wilson, High Falls; $27.25-$28.25 Kinston, Lumberton, $25.75-$26.25 Tarboro, Bethel; $26.00-$26.50 Rocky Mount; $28.50 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (NCDA) (AP)—N.C. f.o.b. dock broilers: Market unsettled with a firm market tone. Supplies are adequate and the demand good. Weights mostly desirable. Estimated slaughter today, 1,179,000.

N.C. Hens: Market weak on heavy types. Supplies fully ample. Demand slow. Heavies at farm 10½ to 12 cents. f.o.b. plant 15 cents.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices advanced in slow trading Thursday. Brokers attributed the upswing to the encouraging strong tone of the general market during the last few sessions.

"In the last few days the market has taken a firmer tone and people are getting a little less scared of buying stocks. Investors have begun to nibble at some of the attractive low prices around," said Alan C. Poole, an analyst with Laidlaw-Coggeshall Inc.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 6.41 to 857.40 at 11:30 a.m. and advancing held a narrow lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Labor Department's report that wholesale prices posted their smallest advance in six months during April also encouraged some investors, brokers said.

General Electric was the Big Board's volume leader, off 1 to 50¼, followed by Westinghouse Electric down ¾ to 16 and Citicorp, parent company of First National City Bank, fell ¼ to 38¾. Combustion Engineering recovered 5½ of the more than 28 points it lost Wednesday. The stock took heavy losses after reports that the company had contracted some risky business deals for nuclear power plants. The company said the reports were untrue.

MGIC was the fourth most active stock, up ¼ to 23¾ and U.S. Steel rose ¾ to 46, a new yearly high for the stock. Brokers said the performance was encouraging to investors.

Gold bullion prices rose sharply on European markets, Cambell Red Lakes rose ¾ to 74½; ASA Ltd. gained 2½; to 76½; Dome Mines jumped 3½ to 152½, Homestake Mines rose 2½ to 74½; and Hecla Mining gained 5½ to 22¾.

'Zebra' Trio R. R. Sewell Joining Plead Today City Planning Staff

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three men charged with first-degree murder in three Zebra street slayings plan to plead innocent in court today, their lawyer says.

Attorney Clinton White of Oakland said Wednesday his clients also would seek bail when they appear before Municipal Court Judge Agnes O'Brien Smith.

Larry C. Green, 22; J.C. Simon, 29, and Manuel Moore, also 29, were among seven young blacks arrested in police raids May 1 in connection with the string of apparently random murders and assaults of white persons in San Francisco during the last six months.

The other four men were released for lack of evidence.

Thirteen persons have been killed and seven wounded in the Zebra case, given that name from the police radio channel used in the investigation.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has said he met with an informer during the night of April 28 who told him the slayings and non-fatal attacks on whites were carried out by a murder cult called the Death Angels.

The informer reportedly testified Tuesday night before a grand jury probing the slayings. The jury is expected to conclude its deliberations next Monday.

Judge Smith has issued a gag order in the case, barring comment by attorneys, police and Alioto.

TO THAILAND

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Robert C. Hixon, commander of Fort Jackson, was reported to be leaving for an assignment in Thailand June 14.

Ronald R. Sewell, a Roanoke Rapids native, will join the city's Department of Engineering and Planning staff in the position of assistant city engineer on June 3.

Sewell, who will receive a B. S. degree in Civil Engineering this month from North Carolina State University, will work as an assistant to Charles A. Holliday, director of the Department of Engineering and Planning.

City Manager Bill Carstarphen said that as assistant city engineer, Sewell will have responsibilities for engineering design of streets, storm drains, parking areas, park improvements, and other public improvements.

Sewell will assist Holliday in all areas of municipal engineering, including the administration and interpretation of the city's subdivision regulations. He will also work with the city planner and other members of the city staff in preparing long range street and utility development plans and capital improvement proposals for the city, Carstarphen said. The city manager described Sewell as "a very capable young man who has combined a sound academic record with work experience at the municipal level."

Sewell was employed during the summer of 1973 as an engineering assistant in the Roanoke Rapids City Engineering Department. During his four years at North Carolina State, he was a member of the Wolfpack football team and was the team's field goal and extra point kicker for the past two years.

Former American League Hurlers Silence Lot Of National Hitters

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The National League is the hitters' league, right?

Don't tell that to a couple of refugees from the American League.

Their names are John Curtis and Jim Lonborg—although a lot of hitters are probably using more picturesque names today.

Curtis silenced Cincinnati's potent bats with a three-hitter Wednesday night, hurling the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-0 triumph over the Reds.

Lonborg went him even one better.

The former American League Cy Young Award winner man-handled San Diego, checking the Padres on two meaningless singles and pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-0 victory.

In Wednesday night's other NL games, the New York Mets beat San Francisco 4-2, Los Angeles defeated Montreal 6-3 and Houston belted Pittsburgh 8-6 in 12 innings. Atlanta at Chicago was rained out.

Cards 2, Reds 0

Curtis allowed only Andy Kosco's third-inning double and singles by Johnny Bench in the fourth and seventh. Reggie Smith, meanwhile, managed to get two hits of his own for St. Louis. And they were big ones—run-scoring doubles in the sixth and eighth innings.

Smith played for Boston in the American League last year—where both Curtis and Lonborg used to pitch.

Phils 4, Padres 0

Lonborg's shutout Wednesday was the first of the year by a Philadelphia pitcher and his first in the National League. He held the Padres to singles by John Grubb in the fourth inning and Willie McCovey in the seventh.

Mets 4, Giants 2

Jon Matlack pitched a four-hitter for the Mets—one of the hits a Bobby Bonds homer—and Jerry Grote and Felix Millan drove in two runs apiece to beat San Francisco.

Dodgers 6, Expos 3

Steve Garvey hit a two-run double in a four-run first inning that gave Andy Messersmith all the runs he needed to turn back Montreal.

Astros 8, Pirates 6

Dave Parker put Pittsburgh on top in the top of the 12th with a solo homer—but Doug Rader unloaded a three-run shot in the bottom of the inning to vault the Astros past the Pirates.

Farmville Gets Win Over Saints

FARMVILLE—Farmville Central kept its title hopes alive and its grip on first place with a 4-1 victory over Southern Wayne yesterday.

The Jaguars, who dropped two in a row prior to yesterday's contest, raised their record to 11-4 in the league with three games to go. They have a one-game lead over Charles B. Aycock and D. H. Conley.

Farmville pushed over two runs in the second to take the lead for good. Tony Oakley singled and moved up on an out. He scored when Mike Jenkins tripled. An error on the relay allowed Jenkins to score.

Southern Wayne got its only run in the top of the third. Ronnie Pellittier walked and stole second. He scored when Mark Burroughs doubled.

Farmville Central got that run right back with one in the bottom of the third. Tommy Cobb singled and moved up on Barry Johnson's hit. Bobby Wooten then singled to score Cobb for a 3-1 lead.

The final run came in the sixth. Jenkins walked and stole second. Eddie Horn walked and both were sacrificed up. Jeff Cobb doubled, driving in Jenkins.

Farmville Central, now 13-5 overall, will play host to North Lenoir on Saturday night.

The Rams pushed over five more in the third. Jerry Caraway singled and Tim Butts was hit by a pitch. Letchworth singled to load them up and Shorty Radford walked, scoring Caraway. Harrison then singled in both Butts and Letchworth. Pridgen was safe on an error and Blizzard walked. Bobby Supel singled to score Pridgen.

Conley Slips By Ayden-Grifton To Stay In Race For The Title

By CHIP LAMBETH

Reflector Sports Writer
LITTLEFIELD—D. H. Conley used some timely hits, Vic Corey's two-hit pitching and an Ayden-Grifton error to take a 3-1 win over the Chargers last night.

Ayden-Grifton is all but out of the East Carolina race. They have a very slim chance at a title while the Vikings still have hopes.

Vic Corey got the win for the Vikes as he went the distance. He walked five, struck out six and gave up just two singles. Greg Nelson was tagged with the loss. Nelson struck out eight, walked none and gave up five hits.

Nelson had set the Vikings down in order in the first but in the second, Jack Jones led off with the first Conley hit. He was forced at second in a double play. The Vikings pushed over a run in the next inning as Keith Gould doubled and scored as Clennell Streeter reached on an error.

Conley added two more in the fifth. Eugene Forrest singled with one out and stole second. Gould was safe on an error and moved Forrest to third and Gould stole second. A single by Joey Baggett brought in both runners.

Forrest moved into scoring position in the seventh reaching on an error and going to second on an out but he failed to score.

Corey had gone three and two-thirds innings before giving up a hit. He walked Ned Craft in the first and Don Phillips was safe on an error in the third but neither Charger could score.

A-G finally got to Corey in the fourth with a hit. Craft had walked with two out and Ronnie Salmon followed with a single to center putting Craft on third. A strike out ended the inning.

Chris Parish led off the fifth with a walk but was thrown out at second as Nelson reached on a fielder's choice. Phillips walked but they could not advance.

A-G had another chance to score in the sixth as Tom Craft rolled a hit back through the box and Salmon was hit by a pitch. Craft was caught trying to steal third putting a damper on the rally.

The Chargers prevented a shut out as they came up with their only run in the seventh. Parish walked as did Nelson and Phillips reached on an error to load the bases. Ricky Thorne flew out to right scoring Parish. The next two batters went down without a second score.

The two teams meet again on Friday as Conley will be the host team.

Utah Finally Tops New York

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — "We lucked out in the third game and made too many mistakes in the fourth," declared New York Nets' rookie Coach Kevin Loughery who now must rally his forces.

Injured Ron Boone proved the decisive factor Wednesday night in the Salt Palace as Utah's Stars escaped oblivion with a fourth-quarter rally and a 97-89 victory over the Nets in their American Basketball Association championship series.

Although New York leads the best-of-seven series, Loughery has problems.

On Monday night here, a last-second three-point shot by Brian Taylor knotted the count at the end of regulation play and the Nets went on to win 103-100 in overtime.

Boone suffered an unusual injury in the second game of the championship playoffs. His left hook caught Taylor in the teeth and severed a tendon in Boone's left hand.

He plays with the fingers taped and bandaged and on Monday scored only two points.

"I had a little less padding on my hand and the shots were just falling for me," the five-year pro veteran from Idaho State said. "We gained a lot of confidence."

The Stars also have an improved Zelmo Beatty and the 6-foot-9 pivotman kept Utah in the game with 14 points in the third quarter as New York outscored the home club 34-24 and took a 76-74 lead. He had 18 for the night.

In the final period, the New Yorkers scored only 13 points and ace Julius Erving had none although finishing as the Nets' leading scorer at 18.

"We were not nearly aggressive enough," Loughery said. "We'll have to pick up hustle for Friday. We are just fortunate to have the 3-1 lead."

Wheeler To A & T

GREENSBORO (AP)—Athletic Director Cal Irvin has announced the hiring of North Carolina A&T State University's first white coach in a reorganization of the school's football coaching staff.

Irvin said Wednesday George W. Wheeler, former head coach at Albemarle High School, will join the Aggie staff in July.

Hornsby Howell, head football coach, said Wheeler will serve as offensive coordinator.

Wheeler, a native of Buena Vista, Va., played offensive and defensive tackle at East Carolina University and was an All-Southern Conference selection his senior year.

Jenkins. His manager did it for him.

"Just before John went up to the plate I cautioned him about trying to pull Jenkins' sliders and curves down the line," said Royals' skipper Jack McKeon. "I told him just to aim for the 370-foot sign ... and that is where the ball went."

Mayberry's fifth homer, a two-run shot in the eighth inning, carried over the 370-foot sign in right field and gave the Royals a 4-2 victory over the Rangers, snapping Jenkins' personal five-game win streak and extending the Rangers' losing streak to four.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox blanked the New York Yankees 4-0; the Oakland Athletics whipped the Baltimore Orioles 7-3; the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 32 in 11

Korean Diplomat...

portant to the Korean economy," the Ambassador said.

"I'd like to emphasize the importance of your production in food crops. Korea, and many other countries in fact, do not produce enough to feed their people, and must import food products. South Korea, for instance, has 33 million people living in a very small land area."

(South Korea has an area of 38,452 square miles, or a little more than four-fifths the land area of North Carolina.)

The ambassador noted: "As the economic standard of living in Korea and other countries goes up, more and more food will be imported from the U.S. People will tend to diversify their diets, to eat more wheat and corn products along with traditional foods such as rice and soybeans, which they depend on for proteins."

According to Ambassador Hamm, foreigners are very much aware of U. S. agricultural productions and trends. "As an example," he said, "the soybean embargo imposed last year, though it was a temporary one, struck terror to the heart of Japan and other soybean importing nations. America is, after all, one of the great food baskets of the world for a fast growing world population."

Arriving in Greenville early Wednesday afternoon, Ambassador Hamm faced a busy schedule for his 24 hour stay here. Wednesday evening he was the guest of East Carolina University Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins, and there were Korean friends to see during his visit.

This morning he was keynote speaker on the Asian Studies Program Symposium 1974: "Changing U. S. Relations in Asia."

Dr. Young-dahl Song, an Associate Professor in the ECU Political Science Department and escort for the ambassador, expressed concern about there not being time for lunch and the possibility that the return plane from Kinston to Washington would not serve lunch.

"Don't worry about that," the ambassador smiled, "I'll get a hamburger at McDonald's if necessary."

One topic Ambassador Hamm spoke about was the possibility of increased Korean (and U.S.) trade with the People's Republic of China.

"In any discussion on this subject you must understand the Communist system," Ambassador Hamm said. "At this the Chinese Communist system is rather rigid."

"Trade from the capitalist nations' perspective is mutually beneficial," he continued. "From the Communist perspective it is exploitive. I don't know how China can engage in large-scale world trade within the Marxist-Leninist framework, how they could justify it doctrinally, ideologically."

"China can, for example, import wheat, it's an essential food element. But can you imagine the Chinese importing Coca-Cola, chewing gum or chocolate? Could they justify buying things like this, given their present ideological rigidity?"

"Under these circumstances," Ambassador Hamm said, "you can't expect much significant expansion of trade. Oh, there's certain things they can buy as part of a prestige program, jet airliners, steel mills or a petrochemical plant."

"But other products, South Korean textiles, for example is a different story. I don't think China will buy them. They'd say it's not essential to the survival of the people. Korean textiles have a wide variety of patterns and colors. In the Chinese viewpoint this would emphasize a consumer choice, an individual profession of taste. This would damage their fabric of regimentation, their standardization. It's what they would call a bourgeois cultural contamination, a selfish, decadent kind of choice that would go against their regimentation."

"Nevertheless," the ambassador added, "I'm confident in the long run the Communist society in China will open up a little. Maybe that's too optimistic a view, but I believe it will happen."

He concluded by mentioning that "if and when fuller trade with China comes along, Korea will be in a strategic position because of its close proximity to China."

In the four months he has been his country's ambassador to the U.S., Ambassador Hamm estimates that he spends one-fourth to one-third of his time traveling. On Saturday, May 4, he was present in Spokane, Washington, along with ambassadors from other countries and President Nixon for the formal opening of "Expo '74."

"To the best of my knowledge," Ambassador Hamm commented, "Korea is the only nation represented by live entertainment at Expo. We have four dance groups performing there."

The ambassador expressed a keen interest in cultural exchange programs. South Korea's dancers and musicians who perform on numerous ancient instruments appear in many countries of the world.

"We'd love to do much more in this field," he said, "however, these programs are surprisingly expensive propositions. It takes considerable money to transport a lot of people and equipment. "The Little Angels, a performing group which began as an entertainment group among Korean orphans has now graduated into an excellent group of talented singers, dancer, instrumentalists. They are a hit wherever they go. I understand they're coming to Expo '74 in mid-August. I hope they'll be making other appearances while they're here."

South Korea's new ambassador to the U.S. has a long standing close relationship with America and Americans. Ambassador Hamm was educated at Northwestern University, where he majored in economics and became a Phi Beta Kappa. He received the doctor of law from the Harvard Law School, and also attended Yale University, where later he was an exchange professor for two years.

Before being appointed ambassador, he was a Special Assistant for Political Affairs to South Korean President Chung Hee Park.

The father of two young sons, one is 15, the other 10, Ambassador Hamm is a tall, trim man, athletic in appearance. Occasionally he has time to play golf, "with personnel of other Asian Embassies. We tend, quite naturally, to cultivate close personal relationships with each other."

Asked if he found the pace of combining considerable travel and public appearances with his regimen of diplomatic duties sometimes wearying, Ambassador Hamm smiled. "No, not at all. After all, the U.S. is a big country. I can't stay in D. C. and say that I represent my country. Traveling and meeting people is an important, and a very enjoyable part of being an ambassador."

Reinforcing Vital Port

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Terming the situation "very grave," the Cambodian government has moved about 1,000 reinforcements into Kompong Som, the country's major port, in an effort to block advancing Khmer Rouge forces.

The troops were brought by navy boat and air from Kam-pot, 40 miles to the east, where they have been holding off another Khmer Rouge force.

Another government relief column was trying to move down Highway 4 to Kompong Som, but stiff rebel resistance blocked it, military sources said.

The Cambodian command reported its troops clashed with insurgent forces two miles from the Kompong Som airfield, which is 10 miles east of the port.

Government forces on Wednesday abandoned two more positions on Highway 4, the main road from Phnom Penh to the southwest coast, giving the Khmer Rouge control of more than 30 miles of the highway. It was formerly a major supply route to Phnom Penh, but the insurgents blocked it most of last year, and it has not been open to government traffic since January.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon command said its forces killed 83 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in clashes in the central highlands. Government casualties were five killed and 45 wounded, a communique said.

Report Varied Factors Affect Mental Health

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
DETROIT (AP) — Weather conditions, air pollution and news headlines all play a role in mental health but each has a different effect, a University of Pennsylvania research team reports.

The researchers said their findings were based on a study comparing such variables with fluctuations in numbers of persons seeking psychiatric help for different kinds of emotional crises.

The least linkage was between psychiatric emergencies and news headlines. Dr. John H. Valentine of Philadelphia told the American Psychiatric Association on Thursday.

However, headlines conveying bad or unfavorable news "may be implicated in the worsening of neurotic and family conflicts and a tendency to act out the conflict" in either self-destructive ways or behavior damaging to others, Valentine said.

"Favorable headlines may encourage bravado" and thus indirectly lead to fatal accidents, he said.

The study was conducted by a team in the department of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

Valentine said the group was seeking reasons for the marked variability noted in the types and frequencies of "psychiatric emergencies" bringing people into contact with psychiatrists, or sometimes leading to homicide.

The study covered 879 persons during the summer of 1973 in Philadelphia, he said.

Among weather effects, the researchers found high barometric pressure was associated with more people seeking help for depressions, while days of low pressure brought on more cases of intoxication.

Days with more sunshine witnessed fewer homicides, Valentine said.

He said higher levels of carbon monoxide brought more contacts from people suffering various types of organic brain damages.

He said that in this respect, "We may have demonstrated another indication for rigid control of auto exhaust emissions."

The study found rising levels of sulfur dioxide, oxidants, suspended dust and smoke and haze were associated with increased drug use, psychiatric emergencies among children. His associates were Dr. John violence-and-violent deaths and Ebert, Richard Oakey and Karl Ernst.

Sharp Quake In Central Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A sharp earthquake jolted central Japan this morning, killing one woman and injuring 23 persons over a wide area of the Izu Peninsula, 70 to 100 miles southwest of Tokyo, officials said.

Twenty-nine persons, caught in a landslide, were still unaccounted for.

Police said the quake, which registered four on the Japanese scale of seven in the hard hit areas, destroyed 54 houses, including five in a fire that followed the tremor, and damaged 231.

Scientists in Honolulu said the quake registered 6.2 on the Richter scale. The quake that hit San Francisco in 1906 registered 8.3.

The quake hit shortly after 8:30 a.m. and lasted for several seconds.

The Meteorological Agency said the center was in the Pacific, 22 miles off Cape Irozaki, where it registered five. Seismographs measured four in Shimoda, Mishima and Shizuoka, all on Izu Peninsula, officials said.

The quake also registered four in Yokohama, 20 miles south of Tokyo, and three in Tokyo where buildings swayed and subways and commuter trains were momentarily stopped. No damage, however, was reported in Tokyo or Yokohama.

Police said rains and landslides which blocked roads in Izu were hampering rescue operations.

Officials said 83 aftershocks were recorded in 10 hours and the shocks were continuing.

Quit Because Of Political Concern, Says Brandt

By DAVID MINTHORN
Associated Press Writer
BONN, Germany (AP) — Ex-Chancellor Willy Brandt says he quit because he feared the political scandal caused by the presence of an East German spy on his personal staff would involve his private life. The former chancellor denied, however, that he resigned because the confessed spy, Guenter Guillaume, blackmailed him by threatening to disclose details of Brandt's private life unless Guillaume was handed over to East Germany. West German newspapers claimed that Brandt was confronted by such a blackmail threat. The right-wing magazine Quick charged that the government intelligence agency paid hush money in 1969 to a woman who allegedly had an affair with Brandt after World War II, and that Guillaume could have used this to blackmail the chancellor.

Brandt in a television appearance Wednesday night made no direct reply to Quick's allegations. But he declared:

"Whatever may yet be written about it, it is and remains grotesque to hold a German federal chancellor to be open to blackmail. In any case, I am not."

Brandt said he resigned "to prevent my political and personal integrity from being destroyed." He said he had "cause to believe" that his personal life would be "dragged into speculation" over the spy controversy.

Guillaume served almost two years as Brandt's personal aide for political and party affairs. A former East German, he came West in 1956, worked his way up in Brandt's Social Democratic party, and went to work for the federal chancellery in 1970.

Brandt said he resigned to assume "political and personal responsibility for negligence in the spy affair." He was negligent, he said, in letting "secret papers go through the hands of the agent during my vacation in Norway last year."

It was the first time Brandt had admitted the charge by members of the Christian Democratic opposition that Guillaume had been privy to sensitive information. The admission cast doubt on earlier statements that Guillaume had been identified as a spy 10 months before he was arrested April 24 and was kept on Brandt's staff to allow government agents to complete their investigation.

Postal Minister Horst Ehmke joined Brandt in retirement from the government Wednesday because of the spy scandal. Ehmke, who was chief of the chancellery office in 1972, said since he appointed Guillaume to be Brandt's political adviser, he would not be a candidate for the cabinet Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt will form after the Bundestag elects him chancellor on May 16.

A public opinion poll of 1,412 voters taken Tuesday, the day after Brandt's resignation, showed only 27 per cent would vote for the Social Democrats if elections were held now. Sixty-two per cent said they would vote for the conservative Christian Democrats and 7 per cent named the Free Democrats, the Social Democrats' junior partner in the government coalition.

Inflation Issue Topples Trudeau's Government

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's political parties began preparing today for a general election in July after the toppling of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberal government. Inflation was certain to be the major campaign issue.

By a 137-123 vote, the House of Commons adopted a motion of no confidence in Trudeau's minority government. The 54-year-old prime minister said he would call on Gov.-Gen. Jules Léger today to ask him to dissolve the lower house and call an election.

Election day is expected to be July 8. Meanwhile, Trudeau and the Liberal cabinet continue in office as a caretaker government.

Trudeau said in a telecast after his defeat that he welcomed the electoral fight but considered the interruption of parliament while the country faced inflationary problems "unfortunate and unnecessary."

Trudeau was brought down by the New Democratic Party, Canada's third largest political faction, whose support had kept him in office since the Liberal majority in Commons was reduced to a minority by the 1972 election.

After siding with the government on 19 previous no-confidence motions, the 31 New Democrats joined the 106 Conservatives to bring down the government with a motion condemning the budget submitted on Monday. With one Liberal absent, Trudeau mustered 108 votes from his party and 15 from the Social Credit Party.

The decisive vote came on a New Democratic amendment to a Conservative motion of no confidence charging that the budget failed to provide effective remedies for the 10 per cent inflation Canada now suffers.

The New Democratic amendment charged that the budget failed to provide help for pensioners and others on fixed income, failed to deal with the housing crisis and did nothing about the "glaring inequalities of the tax system."

The government's overthrow had been a certainty since the introduction of the New Democratic amendment Tuesday night.

The Liberals have been in power since 1963. But not until the dynamic, charismatic Trudeau succeeded the late Lester B. Pearson as party chief and prime minister in 1968 did they win a majority in Commons. Four years later inflation and unemployment were increasing, the charisma was much diminished, and the Liberal majority was reduced to a three-seat edge over the Conservatives, with the New Democrats holding the balance of power.

Conservative leader Robert Stanfield predicted the coming election would sweep his party into power. "I feel we have an excellent chance of achieving a majority," he said.

New Democrats leader David Lewis said his party's campaign machinery is "rolling already—everything is moving along well."

Those Flowers Could Be From Terra Ceia Fields

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

When mothers in Chicago, Boston, Miami, or as far west as Beaumont, Texas receive a beautiful bouquet of peonies for Mother's Day on Sunday, chances are they might have been cut earlier in the week from one of the flower farms at Terra Ceia in Beaufort County.

On Wednesday, at the John Tigchelaar farm, about 30 packers were busy in a spacious modern shed packing the ready-to-open buds in long cardboard cartons for transshipment to several metropolitan areas in the U.S.

"This is the final cutting period," James Tigchelaar, a tow haired young man and son of John Tigchelaar, said. "We begin cutting in late April and finish just before Mother's Day." Until recently, James was a student at N. C. State University, majoring in ornamental horticulture.

Refrigerated trucks come in and pick up the boxed flowers "for the more distant points, Boston, Chicago, New York, and other places as far west as Beaumont, Texas.

"For cities nearer, Miami, Washington, Atlanta," James added we ship mostly by Trailway bus. The flowers going to nearby places are cut when partially open. Others are cut in the full bud stage. That way, they'll be freshly opened by the time they're in florist shops."

The Tigchelaar farm, James said, comprises "125 acres with 75 acres in peonies. We also plant 15 acres of gladiolas. The rest of the land is open, that is, used for different purposes, soybean cultivation and other crops."

The family name, like many in the community of canal-lined neatly cultivated flat dark fields between Washington and Plymouth, is Dutch. Names such as De Jong, Van Dorp, Van Gyzen, Van Staalduien and Van Wyk mark mail boxes in the Terra Ceia, Pantego area.

"My father was born in the Netherlands and came to the U. S. when he was 14," James said. James has not yet visited his father's native country. "But I certainly intend to some day," he remarked.

In past years, James pointed out, "the area was well known for its field of tulips and daffodils. But tulips are no longer grown. Even with peonies, the sale of flowers is not our mainstay. We sell more of the roots, that's a much bigger part of our business. You'll find these in department and garden stores in individual packages ready to transplant.

"It takes three years to grow a good flowering plant," James said, "but a healthy plant will bear quality blooms for nine or ten years."

At the Tigchelaar farm, peonies grown for spring flower cutting are light pink, dark pink, red, white, cream, strawberry pink, and some are variegated colors.

When asked if he would pose for a photograph with Mrs. Dorothy Tankard, director of the Historic Bath headquarters and Margaret Brickie, proprietor of the Production Agency of North Carolina a public relations firm, the young man smiled. "O.K., but only if you make sure my girl friend understands this is for publicity purposes. You see, I'm getting married in August."

Distrust Love At First Sight

Hilda shows the magical effect when you fall in love at first sight. But such an exhilarating surge of emotion is dangerous. For the other person may not care for you at all. And you may be entirely unsuited on the 10 basic traits for happy marriage!

CASE A-628: Hilda F., aged 19, is engulfed in a wild infatuation with a boy friend she met only 3 weeks ago.

VINCENT PRICE IN "MADHOUSE" (PG)

Ultimately, the child subconsciously attaches every one of those happy emotional memories to the hot dog.

Later, when he bites into a weiner he is suffused by the sudden resurrection of all those former jolly experiences.

Now that hot dog seems delicious and most children prefer it to steak or fried chicken, as you parents can attest.

Similarly, when a congenial couple share dozens of happy experiences together, they ultimately become "triggers" for the sudden release of a flood of happiness whenever they meet.

So they find themselves in an "earned love" romance, which is not likely to end in divorce.

For they learned to adjust during those many previous dates and picnics, church hikes or skating parties, etc.

Love at first sight is a misnomer, for it also developed originally because of our many happy experiences with a favorite uncle or aunt, cousin or other relative who thus really produced the flood of happy emotions that some stranger may now "trigger."

This stranger may merely have a nose or ears of a profile or a voice resembling that of the earlier favorite relative who caused our emotions to become entwined around such a physical attribute.

There are 2 kinds of love that lead to marriage. One is this madly exhilarating infatuation at first sight and the other is "earned love."

The former may occur between a boy and girl who are totally unsuited to each other.

In fact, it may be entirely one-sided, for the girl may be swept off her feet, yet the boy may not have any real affection for her at all.

Again, the boy may be the victim of a girl who is merely a gold digger.

Actually, however, all love must be earned.

And the more stable, permanent type of romance develops slowly between 2 congenial people who share many happy dates, picnics, canoe trips, parties and other gala social events together.

"Earned" love for a person of the opposite sex develops much like the child's fondness for hot dogs.

At the outset, there is no natural fondness for hot dogs as a toddler may spit out the first bite when he originally encounters that weiner.

But he later meets the hot dog at picnics, the circus, ball games, and dozens of exciting social events, each of which aroused great delight and happiness in that youngster.

Vote-Buying Try Charged

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A man identified as a Democratic precinct chairman has been arrested and charged with violating state election laws by trying to buy votes at Columbus County's East Lees Precinct during Tuesday's primary.

A spokesman for the State Bureau of Investigation said William Fred Suggs, 51, of Rt. 4, Whiteville, was arrested by SBI agents shortly after midnight Wednesday.

The SBI said Suggs was charged under a state law which makes it a felony "for any person to give or promise or request or accept at any time, before or after any...primary or election, any money, property or other thing of value whatsoever in return for the vote of any elector."

Conviction carries a prison term of at least four months, a fine of not less than $1,000, or both.

Suggs posted $5,000 bond and was released Wednesday pending a May 23 district court hearing.

SBI agents would not comment on details of the arrest.

Mrs. Retha Stevens, chairman of the county board of elections, said the SBI and FBI had been asked to investigate other alleged irregularities in Tuesday's voting. She identified Suggs as a precinct chairman, but said she didn't know which precinct he headed.

the 1973 World Championship, East allowed his concentration to waver, and he rued the consequences.

No slam is particularly good, but the club slam is slightly superior to a slam in spades since the losers are not in the trump suit. There are some wasted values in both the North and South hands — North can do without the club jack and South does not need the heart queen. If either of these cards was the jack of spades, the slam would be an excellent undertaking.

lent undertaking.

West led the king of diamonds, and declarer set about giving himself the best chance possible. He won the ace of diamonds and drew trumps in two rounds. The ace, king and queen of hearts were cashed, declarer discarding a spade from dummy, and the fourth heart was ruffed. A diamond ruff completed the stripping of the red suits from both declarer's hand and dummy.

Now, declarer led a spade to the king, and East carelessly followed suit with the nine. School was out. Declarer led a low spade from dummy, and when East played the jack, he played low. West could not afford to overtake with the ace for that would set up declarer's queen. However, allowing East to hold the lead with the jack of spades was no better, for East had nothing but diamonds left and, on the forced diamond return, declarer was able to discard his queen of spades while ruffing the diamond in dummy.

Had East been more alert, he could have beaten the slam by dropping his jack of

Agriculture Fuel Need May Be Met By ASCS

"Pitt County farmers who have been unable to find fuel for agricultural production through regular channels may contact this office," said Stacy J. Evans, executive director of the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"ASCS and the Federal Energy Office (FEO) will operate a triple-decker back-up system for farmers with fuel problems which cannot be resolved through procedures already available.

The first back-up solves problems quickly and simply. When a farmer comes to the office and reports that his distributor cannot supply fuel, ASCS will attempt to locate a fuel source.

"We will use the second back-up only when we cannot locate fuel locally," Evans continued. "In back-up two, ASCS will contact either the State Energy Office or the Regional FEO in Atlanta. The determination of which office will be contacted is dependent upon the type of problem and where it can best be resolved. The office contacted will then aid in obtaining the necessary fuel for agricultural production. FEO has set up special phone numbers at its regional offices for use in solving agricultural fuel problems."

"The third back-up phase provides quick communications with FEO through the National Office," said Evans. In certain serious situations the county office will call the National FEO in Washington, D. C. From there, the information is forwarded to the Regional FEO by the opening of business the next day. The Regional FEO then has the responsibility to resolve the farm fuel problem.

We're not just a car store, we're here to set you free.

We're in business to keep you on the move, to help you go places and do things. We're here to set you free from the usual hassles of driving.

Datsun 710 Hardtop

Datsun B-210 Hatchback

We'll save you gas. If Datsun's reputation could be summarized in one word, it would have to be economy. Datsuns deliver around twice the gas mileage of the average car in this country. In a recent test by Motor Trend magazine, our B-210 delivered 35 miles per gallon, the best mileage of 50 cars they tested. (March, 1974 issue.) In a new Datsun, you're free to go farther and do more.

Savings after the sale. All dealers promise service after the sale, but we can promise savings, too. Thanks to our computerized parts system, we can get your part fast, at a price that won't make you catch your breath.

Datsuns are simple, comfortable, efficient automobiles. They keep you moving in a complex, expensive world. And if problems arise, we know exactly what to do, quickly and inexpensively.

As we said, Datsun sets you free.

WE JUST CAME OUT WITH THEM. AND YOU'D BETTER BELIEVE THEY WORK.

We're the Ethyl Corporation. We've been making additives for more than 50 years.

Making them. Researching them. Developing them. Testing them. Spending years of time and millions of dollars.

So we're not going to play any games with you. We're going to tell you exactly what these three new additives are. And why they do what we say.

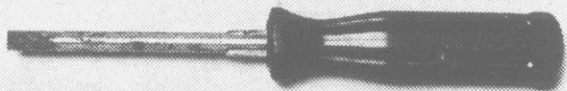

First, let's consider the bottle over there on the right.

ETHYL® PERFORMANCE SAVER.

A concentrated additive you put in your gas tank. So highly concentrated, that one ounce will treat ten gallons of gasoline. We wanted to call it "Gas Saver." Because its detergent ingredients help restore dirty carburetors to good efficiency. Which, in turn, should help gas mileage.

But we have no control over your foot. Or what it does to the accelerator and the brake pedal.

So we had to satisfy ourselves with "Performance Saver." Because the product can help control what a screwdriver used to: it can help restore an optimum fuel-air mixture in a dirty carburetor.

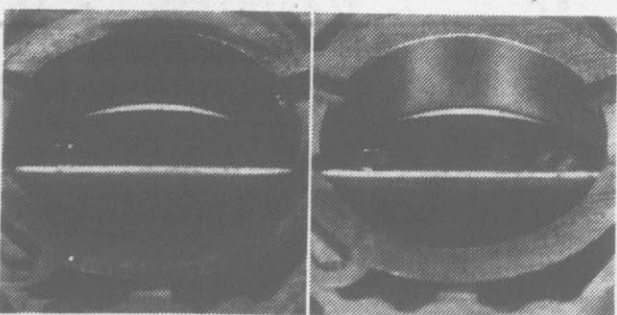

It took 5 years to replace this.

Now, then. Why shouldn't you just grab a screwdriver and adjust the carburetor until the engine sounds right?

Well, have you seen the carburetors they're making nowadays? How complicated they are? How touchy they are? How even the experts need special equipment to adjust those things? (Actually, a screwdriver doesn't solve the problem. It merely compensates for it.)

Our 5-year investment in these additives may seem like a lot just

It's so obvious, we don't have to tell you which carburetor throat had the ETHYL Performance Saver.

to clean a carburetor. But cleaning a carburetor is only one function of ETHYL® Performance Saver.

The same additive does something else.

For your valves.

A single treatment of ETHYL® Performance Saver can help prevent deposits from building up on your intake valves. And this is important. Because valve burning can mean a valve job. And that expensive little item is one of the most common major auto repairs in the U.S.

One more thing.

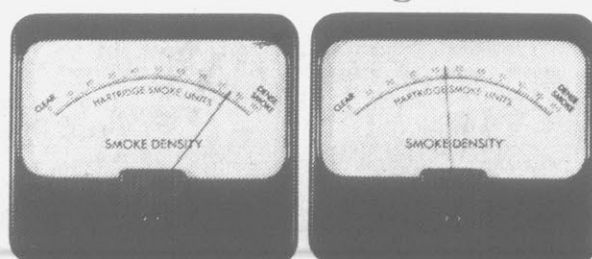

We said this product is concentrated. So that a given amount will treat up to four times as much gasoline as competitive products costing about the same. This means that ETHYL® Performance Saver is more economical to use on a regular basis.

And now, we'd like to introduce the product in the middle.

ETHYL® OIL SAVER.

An additive you pour in the crankcase of an older car.

This product's job is to help reduce smoking and oil burning in cars with worn engines.

Exhaust smoke readings. Before and after a treatment of ETHYL Oil Saver.

Knowing that, you may think what we have here is nothing more than a heavy, sticky oil. Oh, it's heavy all right. And a little sticky. But it's a whole lot more than that. It's an advanced oil additive with a viscosity index improver and zinc dithiophosphate as its active ingredients.

The viscosity index improver helps keep oil at the right thickness at high temperatures. So it helps reduce oil burning and smoking in worn engines and provides good high-temperature lubrication. It does all that, yet it doesn't make your oil turn into cold goo on winter mornings. So it doesn't aggravate cold starting.

Of course, you understand we can't undo damage that's already done to an engine. But you might take comfort in the fact that the zinc dithiophosphate can help reduce further wear to the engine. And thus help postpone the possibility of an expensive overhaul.

That's our oil additive that helps reduce oil burning and smoking in worn engines.

There's another one. On the left. For engines that aren't worn yet. To help keep them from wearing and to help you baby them for a longer life.

ETHYL® MOTOR SAVER.

It's a concentrated formula of the most modern oil additives very much like the ones you'd find in a fresh can of premium motor oil. Because it's meant to help restore the protection of those additives when they begin to lose their potency.

And what happens when they begin to do that?

Engine wear begins to accelerate.

Sludge, varnish and acid begin to build up.

And your dipstick won't give you a hint of what's happening in there.

To help restore additive protection, ETHYL® Motor Saver is a multi-purpose formula that contains five active ingredients. Detergent sulfonate: a cleaning, antirust and anti-corrosion agent. Zinc dithiophosphate: a multi-purpose corrosion, sludge, and wear inhibitor which forms a protective film on engine parts. Polyisobutylene: a viscosity control agent. Plus an ashless sludge and varnish dispersant. And an ashless antioxidant for further protection against excessive oil thickening.

Now, ingredients like that aren't just meant for beloved old clunkers.

They're just as important for new cars.

Maybe even more important, considering what new cars cost nowadays.

So there.

The three additives you've just read about are the result of five years and $2,000,000 worth of careful research.

And it's hard to sum all that up in one ad and say that's that.

So we'd rather not end this story.

We'd rather see it continue. In your car.

Where you'll probably find the most convincing proof of all.

That's why we're asking you to try them.

Not because they're miracles. Which they aren't. But simply because they work. Which they do.

You or anybody else can inspect the documentation of every claim made in this advertisement.

For test results, we invite you to write: Dr. Joseph Faggan, Project Research Director, Ethyl Corporation, 1600W. Eight Mile Road, Detroit, Michigan 48220.

Is it telling you everything?
