Hearing Of Impeachment Evidence Begun

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stocked with facts and sworn to secrecy, members of the House Judiciary Committee have begun to consider evidence in its historic inquiry into possible impeachment of President Nixon.

During a long, closed briefing Thursday, the committee received a detailed account of events leading up to the Watergate break-in of June 17, 1972, and a thick pile of supporting facts.

Members said the staff presentation reached no conclusions and did not relate directly to any presidential conduct.

"It was strictly background," said Rep. John Conyers, D)Mich. "It was all familiar, nothing new," added Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif.

Both acknowledged, however, that the information presented Thursday links up with facts brought out in later sessions to form a pattern that would make it pertinent to the impeachment inquiry.

The committee is scheduled to hold three more closed sessions next week, all devoted to Watergate and the ensuing efforts to cover it up. Five other areas of presidential activity involved in the inquiry will be dealt with in following weeks.

In his opening statement, Committee Chairman Peter J. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the committee was acting under a resolution passed by the House "by a vote of 410 to 4" authorizing and directing it "to investigate fully and completely whether sufficient grounds exist" to impeach President Nixon.

"We are proceeding under the mandate of that resolution.

"I don't need to stress again the importance of our undertaking and the wisdom, decency and principle which we must bring to it.

"We understand our high constitutional responsibility. We will faithfully live up to it." Rodino said.

In his opening remarks, Rep. Edward Hutchinson, ranking Republican on the committee, said:

"The power of impeachment is one of those great checks and balances written in our Constitution to ameliorate the stark doctrine of the separation of powers. But the impeachment of a president is more drastic, for it can bring down an administration of the government. The Constitution itself limits the scope of impeachment of a president to treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors."

He cited a law dictionary published in London in 1776 defining impeachment as "the accusation and prosecution of a person for treason or other crimes and misdemeanors.... And it is observed that the same evidence is required in an impeachment in Parliament as in the ordinary courts of justice."

He added, "the standard it imposes is a finding of criminal culpability on the part of the President himself, measured according to criminal law.

I trust that the members of this committee embark upon their awesome task each in his own resolve to lay aside ordinary political considerations and to weigh the evidence according to the law. I trust that each of us is resolved during this inquiry, schooled, skilled and practiced in the law as each of us is, to perform as a lawyer in the finest traditions of the profession...."

Meanwhile, the Senate Watergate Committee continued its investigation. A committee subpoena was revealed seeking records of loans totaling $75,000 it says were made by President Nixon and his daughter Tricia to C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The disclosure came as Rebozo's lawyer worked out an agreement with the committee limiting the scope of the subpoena, which called for a number of Rebozo's financial records.

The lawyer, William Frates, complained that the subpoena even sought Rebozo's grocery bills.

According to the subpoena, the committee wants the records of an unsecured $65,000 loan it said was made to Rebozo by Tricia Nixon Cox in March 1973 and an unsecured $10,000 loan made to Rebozo by Nixon in January or February 1973.

The Watergate committee also rejected unanimously a claim of executive privilege made by White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. and ordered him to reappear before the committee and answer all questions.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said the committee would consider taking contempt of Congress action against Haig, if he refuses again to answer questions.

Ford, Nixon Meet Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Vice President Gerald R. Ford met privately today — their first meeting since Ford suggested Watergate and other disclosures have created a crisis of confidence in government.

The two men originally were scheduled to meet in Nixon's Oval Office but instead got together in the President's hideaway suite in the neighboring Executive Office Building.

There was no explanation for the change of locale. However, news photographs frequently are made of Nixon and Oval Office visitors whereas meetings in the EOB are rarely recorded on film.

There were reports Thursday that Nixon would meet with Ford today. But as late as Thursday night White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler insisted he knew of no such plans.

Ford told an audience at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, Ill., Thursday morning that disclosures have "created a diminished confidence in our public officials, basic distrust of their motives."

Later, in Chicago, Ford said edited transcripts of some of Nixon's Watergate conversations, as well as other unspecified information, "convinces me the President is not guilty of an impeachable offense."

Ford's office said the meeting with Nixon would delay by about an hour a scheduled vice presidential trip to Buffalo, N.Y.

Ford was to attend a luncheon meeting of the Building Trades Council there and an evening fund-raising reception for Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y.

W. Meadowbrook Flood Plain Is Set By Council

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The City Council Thursday night adopted a recommendation by the city engineer establishing the West Meadowbrook flood plain and voted to request that the Greenville Utilities Commission move as rapidly as possible in providing needed water supplies to the residents of that area.

City Engineer Charles Holliday told the Council that in 1957, the prepared a composite map of the area for study purposes showing street and lot patterns and other planimetric features. He said that during the flood stage of the Tar River in 1958, he took photographs of the inundated sections within the area.

Holliday reported that he used the map to conduct a field survey and a topographic map was prepared. He pointed out in his report that "using the photograph that shows the high-water mark at a particular building and checking with local residents, we were able to determine that the high water in that area reached the 18-foot contour level, thereby establishing the 1958 flood plain limit at the 18-foot. . .line."

The city engineer said that his composite-topographic map shows the 1958 flood stage at the 18-foot level and also shows the 20-year flood limit at the 20-foot contour. The Council followed Holliday's proposal and set the flood plain at the 20-foot contour.

Adoption of a flood plain for the area was necessary, it was pointed out, in order to establish some form of guideline for controlling development in the West Meadowbrook area.

City Manager Bill Carstarphen explained that there is underway a "concerted effort" to secure both public and private improvements in the neighborhood and future water and sewer improvements are planned as financing becomes available.

Councilman Percy Cox, assertnig that residents in West Meadowbrook are having to use water now that is contaminated, said, "I think we've got to get some water to them." He added he understood that sewer lines can not be extended to the area because of the need for a pumping station but he added, "The question is are we going to put water out there? I feel we should give them the services they need."

It was pointed out that there are some 55 homes in the area that have no water supplies other than wells. A map was presented showing existing water lines in the vicinity.

Carstarphen said that with many residents in West Meadowbrook apparently unable to afford the fee charged by GUCO for water tap-on service, there is a need to investigate the possibility of financial help through various institutions in the community for the residents.

Cox assured a group of residents from the area who attended last night's session that the city would continue to work with them in helping to secure needed services.

The Council, after hearing a report on the city taxi zone map, adopted a new Zone Four and established rates applicable to the new taxi jurisdiction.

Until last night, local taxi companies had operated on the basis of three-zone jurisdiction and an outlying area beyond the third zone had not been specifically regulated according to city taxi fares. The fourth zone now includes everything within the city limits that is not within the third, or outside, zone.

Fare for the zone will be $1.75, the Council designated, and taxi charges from one end of zone four to the other extremity of zone four will be $3.00.

Council members voted to review the budget of the Moyewood Social Service Center and to indicate to Moyewood program officials by June 30 whether funds may be available from the city budget towards the continued operation of the center.

Charles Whitaker, chairman of the Advisory Council, told the board that the financial assistance is needed to continue operation since federal funds will elapse on June 30. He said that the center began operations in 1971 and "I feel that it has been a tremendous asset to the community." Whitaker said that there are some 3,000 participants in the Moyewood program.

Funding of the Moyewood Center has been on a two-thirds federal funding and one-third city funding basis, it was explained.

Several citizens spoke in favor of continuing the operation and cited the merits of a variety of programs offered at Moyewood for youth and adults.

The Council voted to award a purchase contract to Kane and Associates for $3,416 for the purchase of bleachers at the new Jaycee Park baseball field. Miracle Recreation Equipment submitted a bid of $3,500. Funds for the equipment are included in the 1973-74 Recreation Department Capital Improvements Budget.

Bids were also awarded to J. L. Harris & Sons for $3,414.88 for interior painting of the headquarters fire station. A. B. Whitley Inc. offered a bid of $5,800 while W. Shelby Allen submitted a bid of $6,243.

Chapin Construction Co. was awarded a bid contract for $9,000 for construction activity in the basement and first floor of city hall and police areas and A. B. Whitley's bid of $6,000 was approved for interior painting on three levels in the Police Department.

The Council voted to have the city manager make a study into the projected costs of the city running its own elections in the future and also instructed Carstarphen to contact the Pitt County Board of Elections concerning costs involved with the county handling the municipal elections.

Businessmen Honor Sugg

By CARL L. TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville businessman Bruce B. Sugg, Jr., was awarded the city's Chamber of Commerce and Merchant's Association Citizen of the Year Award last night.

The organizations spring membership meeting, held at the Moose Lodge, was the scene of the presentation.

Sugg, a native of Greenville, is a graduate of Davidson and received a graduate degree in business from Harvard in 1937.

Working with a certified public accounting firm in New York after receiving his graduate degree he returned to Greenville where he has worked in business since.

He is presently a retired trust officer and Senior Vice-President of the North Carolina National Bank.

He is married to the former Sarah Barnes, and they have two children.

Prior to the awarding of the Citizens Award to Sugg, the group heard a talk by Dr. Emily Pou, wife of Dr. Joe Pou of Greenville.

Dr. Emily Pou is dean of the Home Economics Department at the Univ. of Ga. She spoke on the subject "Future Shock."

The talk last night was preceded by a film based on the book "Future Shock" by Alvin Tofler.

The concept of Future Shock deals with our present fast changing pace of living and the sickness of not being able to adapt to that change.

In her talk, Dr. Pou stressed the importance of man controlling our present rate of change, to not stifle change, but to control it before it controls man.

DR. EMILY POU

Presiding over the meeting was chamber president, Bill McDonald.

Approximatley 150 persons attended the banquet.

SHELL PROFITS

NEW YORK (AP) — The Royal Dutch Shell Group says its first quarter after-tax profits this year climbed to $728 million, an increase of 162 per cent over the $278 million for last year's first quarter.

Israeli Planes Hit Guerrillas Inside Lebanon

By The Associated Press

Israeli planes attacked guerrilla sanctuaries inside Lebanon today, Syrian jets raided Israeli positions on the Golan Heights, and tank and artillery duels erupted along the 40-mile front.

The Tel Aviv command said its fighter-bombers hit "terrorist concentrations" in the southeast pocket of Lebanon near Mt. Hermon. The planes rocketed and strafed the positions, witnesses said.

The witnesses said hills and woods neighboring nine Lebanese villages took "scores of direct hits" during the 25-minute Israeli raid, but casualties were not immediately known.

The witnesses said the raid followed an exchange of mortar fire between Lebanese and Israeli border positions.

Israel said four Syrian planes were involved in the raid in the 300-square mile bulge captured from Syria in the October war, but said there were no Israeli casualties.

Syria said the air attack was staged by "several formations of air force fighter-bombers. Our planes returned safely to bases from the midday bombing and strafing raid. The enemy suffered heavy casualties and losses."

The Syrians said the raid followed an Israeli shelling of the Syrian village of Heini on Mt. Hermon in which one woman was wounded.

$10.3 Billion In Housing Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is pumping in an additional $10.3 billion to bolster the nation's sagging housing market.

The President said the money will be used to subsidize interest rates on conventional government-insured mortgages and to provide additional cash for the nation's savings and loan institutions.

The President said the money supplied to the savings and loans institutions would be provided by the Treasury under its standby loan authority.

The savings and loans are the biggest contributors to the housing mortgage market. They have been plagued by declining money to lend as investors seek out more lucrative investments with interest rates soaring.

President Nixon said the money the government is committing should help finance over 200,000 additional homes.

The housing industry has been in a steady decline since 1973, with housing starts of 318,000 for the first three months of this year compared to 488,000 for the same period last year.

The President's action expands a program initiated last January, when the Department of Housing and Urban Development committed over $6 billion to mortgage subsidies in an effort to spur construction of 200,000 new homes.

The money was applied to Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration mortgages to cut the interest homeowners pay from the current FHA-VA maximum of 8½ per cent to 7¾ per cent. The effect is to trim the monthly payments on a $30,000 mortgage over 30 years by just over $15.30 per month.

Canvass Voting

The Pitt County Board of Elections' official canvass of Tuesday's primary results revealed only minor discrepancies from tabulations compiled by The Daily Reflector and published on Wednesday

According to the final official tally, U. S. Senate candidate Henry Hall Wilson received 660 votes in Pitt County rather than 633 as published and Robert Brown, candidate for the State Senator, polled 2,254 as opposed to The Daily Reflector's published figure of 2,244.

Other changes included: Associate Justice of the Supreme Court candidate Reginal Frazier's total from 983 to 982; a decrease in the total of Associate Justice candidate J. William Copeland from 3,484 to 3,464; an increase in the total of Associate Justice candidate James A. Webster from 1,788 to 1,916; and a change in the total of Court of Appeals candidate Tom Matthews from 2,078 to 2,068.

Farmville Man Slain In Prison

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)— A 24-year-old inmate serving 10 years for making threats against President Nixon was stabbed to death Thursday night at the Terre Haute Federal Penitentiary.

Warden Mason Holley said the victim, identified as Elijah Atkinson of Farmville, N.C., was attacked at about 8:05 p.m. Holley said the FBI was investigating the incident and one suspect had been questioned.

Atkinson began his sentence in 1971 at a prison in Petersburg, Va. and was transferred to the Indiana institution in March of this year.

The Daily Reflector Hotline column will begin Monday. The column will run each weekday afternoon.

Hotline is a new public service provided by The Daily Reflector. Its staffers try to solve problems and get things done for readers.

It's already obvious that because of the number of inquiries received, Hotline will be able to answer and publish only those considered most pertinent to all our readers. A few recorded this week have been persons giving only their names and phone numbers. We do need a brief summary of the problem by the caller.

Questions may be called in—752-1336—or mailed to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N. C. 27834.

The Hotline tape is transcribed only once each 24-hour recording period. For this reason, persons phoning in items accepted for use may not be contacted until the day following the call.

Strike Over Increased Pay Hits State Ports

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP)—State Ports Authority workers struck for higher pay today.

They put up picket lines at Morehead City. They and longshoremen are members of the International Longshoremen's Association.

The longshoremen, who are not directly involved in the strike, refused to cross their picket lines.

There was a ship to be worked at Morehead City this morning. Eight gangs of longshoremen were ready to unload it, but turned back when the pickets took up positions.

The SPA workers are employes of the state. The ILA represents about 350 of them at state ports in Morehead City and Wilmington.

Their representatives had asked a wage increase of 12½ per cent in a new contract. The SPA had offered 7½ per cent, which is what other state employes are getting.

This was the chief sticking point when contract negotiations broke down Wednesday.

State officials had begun bargaining sessions several months ago in compliance with a federal court order.

Leroy Guthrie, a union representative at Morehead City, said representatives of the authority had notified SPA workers by letter that they would face replacement if they struck.

The ILA attorney, A.A. Catounas of Wilmington, the union representative in contract talks, had said when he walked out of Wednesday's negotiating session that a strike was inevitable if a mediator didn't work things out.

The acting director of the authority, Jack Lee, had said state officials were willing to continue talks "as long as we have something to talk about."

Lee said the authority had asked until May 21 to present firm proposals.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony On Sunday

Hooker Memorial Christian Church was the scene of the Sunday wedding of Miss Paula Sue Rogers and Clavin Joseph Toothman. The Rev. Robert G. Hufford performed the double ring ceremony at 5:00 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Rogers of Greenville, Mrs. Elizabeth Toothman of Greenville, and Mr. Frank Toothman of Huttonsville, W. Va.

A program of wedding music was presented by Randy Buck of Greenville, organist, and Mrs. Rosalyn Lomax of Goldsboro, cousin of the bride, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white formal gown of chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with a high lace neckline. Ruffling and lace formed a V-shape on the front and back of the high rise bodice. The lace details were repeated on the cuffs of the bouffant skirt and the chapel length train.

The bride wore a shoulder length illusion veil edged in scalloped lace and carried a bouquet of spring flowers with yellow roses.

The maid of honor was Mona Rogers of Greenville, sister of the bride. She was attired in a formal length long sleeved gown of blue flowered silk shantung accented with a white collar and cuffs. She wore a white garden hat with a band that matched her gown and carried a basket of spring flowers.

Bridesmaids were Sheri Mosely, Rachel Jensen and Nancy Murray, all of Greenville. They were dressed identical to the honor attendant.

The brother of the bridegroom, Kyle Toothman, of Greenville was best man. Ushers werw Terry Stickland, Mitch Rhodes and Charles Mayo, all of Greenville.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Rose High School. She is employed by Sears, Inc., Greenville, and he works for the All Purpose Cabinet Shop, Greenville.

MRS. CALVIN JOSEPH TOOTHMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Winton Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Durward Harris and Mr. and Mrs. John Conway entertained at a reception held immediately following the ceremony in the church fellowship building.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rogers welcomed guests into the fellowship hall, which was decorated with a bridal motif.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruby Fleming and Mrs. Eva Hawkins, aunts of the bride. The four tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table.

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Hunning presided at the guest register and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Murray said good-byes.

The rehearsal dinner honoring the wedding party was given by the mother of the bridegroom at Tom's Restaurant Saturday evening.

You're Entitled To Pay, Quit Hinting

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who lives next door to a lady who has two little kids. One is a year old and the other is three.

On Saturdays, this lady comes over here and asks me if I will watch her kids while she goes to the shopping center. I always say yes, and she leaves me with the kids for sometimes three or four hours. When she comes back, she tells me how much she appreciated it and gives me a couple of candy bars.

I think she should pay me at least 50 cents an hour like any other sitter gets, don't you?

I have hinted around, but she doesn't take the hint. Is there any way I can tell her without appearing hungry for money? UNPAID SITTER

DEAR UNPAID: Quit "hinting around," and come right out and tell her that you think you are entitled to a sitter's pay. And don't be bashful. You're entitled.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is 59. Six months ago, Dad died after a short illness and she was so despondent she said she didn't want to go on living.

Well, somehow she got the strength to live because suddenly she tells us that she met a man and he asked her to go to Hawaii with him! I should have said something then, but I was glad she wasn't despondent anymore. She said this man asked to marry her, but she refused because she didn't know him well enough. Can you beat that!

The whole family is divided over this. I disapprove, but haven't the courage to say so. I think she's setting a bad example for the younger people in the family. My brother tells me not to be such a prude. He says we should thank the good Lord she isn't crying all over us and wanting to move in.

How do you feel about it, Abby? Does age make any difference? I wouldn't want my 23-year-old daughter going to Hawaii with a man and no wedding ring. Why should I feel any different about my mother? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Every adult has the right to pursue his [or her] own lifestyle. You may disapprove if you wish, but you haven't the right to impose your values on either your adult daughter or your mother.

DEAR ABBY: What do you call a person who counts and measures everything? He counts the number of steps as he goes upstairs, and the number of steps he takes to go to the garage.

His shoes must be lined up perfectly in his closet and all his suits have to be hung a certain way, precisely. He places everything in his drawers in a certain order and he keeps them that way. He even keeps the money in his wallet in a special order, with the pictures facing the same direction and the same denominations together.

I have searched the libraries and cannot for the life of me come up with that special name. Other than a "nut," what is he called? W. R. A.

DEAR W. R. A.: Compulsive?

CONFIDENTIAL TO JUNIOR CITIZENS: This Sunday is Mother's Day. You didn't realize it was so soon? You're broke? Don't sweat it. Sit down and write her a letter, telling her how much you appreciate her, and don't worry about getting too sentimental. I promise you she will appreciate it more than a $100 gift. [And I'll bet she saves it.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Helpful Hints

The maid or matron of honor usually is set off from the other bridesmaids by some difference in her dress. It may be only that her bouquet for headpiece is different, or her gown may be completely different in style or color.

At the wedding reception at toasting time, whatever beverage is served, the bride's glass is always filled first, then the bridegroom's. And so around the table.

Slide Program Given At Meet

GRIFTON—A slide presentation program was held at the meeting of the Grifton Extension Homemakers Tuesday morning. Mrs. Sue May, home economics extension agent, spoke on "Outdoor Living at Home."

Mrs. Alberta Garris spoke on "Protection of the Home Shelter."

Mrs. John Condon, Mrs. Joe Bass and Mrs. F. W. Davenport were named to serve on the nominating committee. Members were reminded that this is Mental Health, Senior Citizens, Safety and Cleanup Month.

Members will assist 4-H members in serving refreshments this month to patients at the Pitt Nursing Home.

Mrs. Charles Hooks and Mrs. Addie Moore were recognized as new members.

Mrs. Davenport was hostess for the meeting.

In Memory of Mrs. Verna Edmondson Grimes On Mothers Day

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in Her home
Which never can be filled.
We loved Her, yes, we loved Her,
But the angels loved Her more,
And they have sweetly called Her
To yonder shining shore.
The golden gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewells unspoken
January, 29, 1974, She calmly entered Home.
Separation now is painful
And our lot so hard to bear;
With our grief we go to Jesus,
He will all our sorrows share.
She is gone, oh we miss her,
Her seat can never more be filled,
She has gone to Him, who gave and blessed her,
God's will on earth to be fulfilled.

In Jackson, Pringles Plant Works 24-Hour Day

(Editor's Note—The following article is reprinted with permission of The Jackson Sun, of Jackson, Tenn. Jackson is the location of a Procter and Gamble's Pringles potato chip plant, similar to the one now being built near Greenville. The article was written by Pete Bird, a Sun staff writer.)

By PETE BIRD
Sun Reporter

Behind windowless white walls, security personnel guard the super-secret technology. Visitors are screened, and few make it past the administrative wing. Employes are cautioned not to reveal The Process, and officials are tight-lipped about seemingly innocuous details, such as total plant output.

No, this is not the setting for James Bond's latest spy caper. It is Jackson's own Procter & Gample plant, and the object of all this secrecy is the production process of a singularly "perfect" potato chip.

Called Pringle's Newfangled Potato Chips, P & G's product is free from the bumps, lumps and burned edges sometimes found in conventional chips. Stamped from dehydrated potato flakes, each chip is molded to precisely the same curl, flash-fried and salted. Then, with some degree of marshalling, the chips "march" past testing stations and into an air-tight cannister.

Within this recappable can, P & G says, the chips stay fresh for a length of time which has yet to be determined. However, at something less than the drop of a hat, plant manager Robert Marsden will offer the skeptic a 33-month-old chip. Such a taste test earlier this week indicated the chips indeed remain palatable.

All of which has made Pringle's a hit on grocers' shelves in market areas from Cincinnati to Salt Lake City. However, quick consumer acceptance of the new chip is, at the same time, eroding the profits of conventional chippers.

While Pringle's continue to consume a growing share of the potato-chip market, annual consumption of the snack remains at about five pounds a person.

In the wake of these developments, P & G is guarding its technology more jealously than ever. That technology, which took more than a decade to develop, is now housed solely in the Jackson plant. Although P & G last fall announced plans for a second plant in Greenville, N. C., the Jackson plant is currently the concern's only Pringle's producer.

Although plant officials decline to discuss output of the plant, the nine-acre facility clearly cranks out a substantial number of chips. Something more than 800 workers are divided into several shifts that keep the plant functioning 24 hours a day.

And the seemingly incessant demand for the chips has spawned local industries to fuel the world's largest potato-chip factory. For instance, Boise Cascade Corp., the forest-products company, recently opened a plant in Jackson that will turn out Pringle's containers.

And, with a payroll of more than $5 million, plus P & G's patronage of local businesses, the firm has been a boon to the area's economy.

The plant, situated on a 130-acre tract in the Madison County Industrial Park, was originally planned as a cake-mix-manufacturing plant, recalls Marsden.

Marsden, 55, recounts the story of his involvement with Pringle's from behind a walnut-colored desk in his spacious office. Silver-haired and clad in a yellow smock worn by the plant's food technicians, he is framed by assorted Pringle's containers resting on a table behind him.

"I came to Jackson at groundbreaking in February 1970," says Marsden, who has been with P & G since 1940 after earning an engineering physics degree from Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa.

A personable and avuncular manager, he was charged with putting together a work force and helping to supervise the installation of chip-making machinery.

Although he was well-versed in management, having held positions in toilet goods plants in Iowa City and Cincinnati, Marsden says that the new Pringle's operation presented fresh challenges.

"The biggest job was training," he says. With a combination of training from the area vocational-technical school, and contract trainers, along with on-the-job training, Marsden developed his crew of 800 workers.

The organization of workers at the plant is rather unusual, Marsden says, in that they are all salaried, are referred to as "technicians," and are divided into teams. These teams each are assigned a number of jobs, and workers within the team switch off tasks.

Many of those workers are involved in controlling quality, he added. Quality tests range from taste and color to breakability. Flavor panels, drawn from persons in all sections of the plant, taste the chips to insure consistency.

And the plant does not hesitate in destroying any batch of chips that does not measure up, says Marsden.

Some conventional potato chippers—understandably, with chips on their shoulders—have criticized the taste of Pringle's.

But Marsden says such comments only reflect sour grapes. He says plant employes eat a considerable number of chips on breaks and lunch hours, and he says he consumes quite a few himself. "That's one reason I've put on 20 pounds in the last eight months," he chuckles.

Questionaire On Bus System Mailed To Local Households

A brief questionnaire designed to help determine the need for and potential usage of a public bus system to serve the Greenville area has been mailed to local households by the ECU Regional Development Institute.

City Manager Bill Carstarphen said that the Regional Development Institute and the City of Greenville, in attempting to gauge the need for a bus service, urged all citizens to fill out the cards and return them as soon as possible.

Carstarphen noted that "we are just as interested in the opinions of people who might not use the system as of those who think they would use it."

He explained that the City Council is concerned that whatever is done concerning a public transportation system be accomplished as economically feasible as possible.

The level of usage of a bus system is the key factor in determining whether the service can be afforded and how it will be financed, the city manager continued.

Five questions are asked on the form and citizens are asked to choose the answer that applies to their situation. The questions are: How many persons five years of age or older live at your house? How many automobiles are available for their use? How many different work, school and-or other activity places do members of your household go each day? What is the average length of trip from your house to places you go? and, If a public bus service on a reasonable schedule were available, how many of the daily trips of those living at your house could be made by bus?

Carstarphen said that every household within the city limits and within the one-mile extraterritorial jurisdiction was mailed a questionnaire on May 6. He noted that the Regional Development Institute hopes to have the cards returned by May 20 so that the ECU Computer Center may begin tabulations.

Persons who have not received questionnaires and who wish to have them should call the Pitt County VISTA office at 758-1528. VISTA will send a questionnaire and assist persons in completing the form if requested.

VISTA representatives have also delivered questionnaires to all of the public housing areas in the city, it was pointed out.

Carstarphen reminded area citizens to return the cards as soon as possible and he noted that the questionnaires may be mailed without additional postage.

Arrested On Bribe Count

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The State Bureau of Investigation announced the arrest Thursday of a second man on election bribe charges as an unsuccessful candidate asked that the results of Tuesday's primary voting in Columbus County be set aside.

The request came from Claude Spivey of Tabor City, an unsuccessful candidate for the state Senate. He said he had filed a motion to set aside the election results pending completion of an SBI investigation.

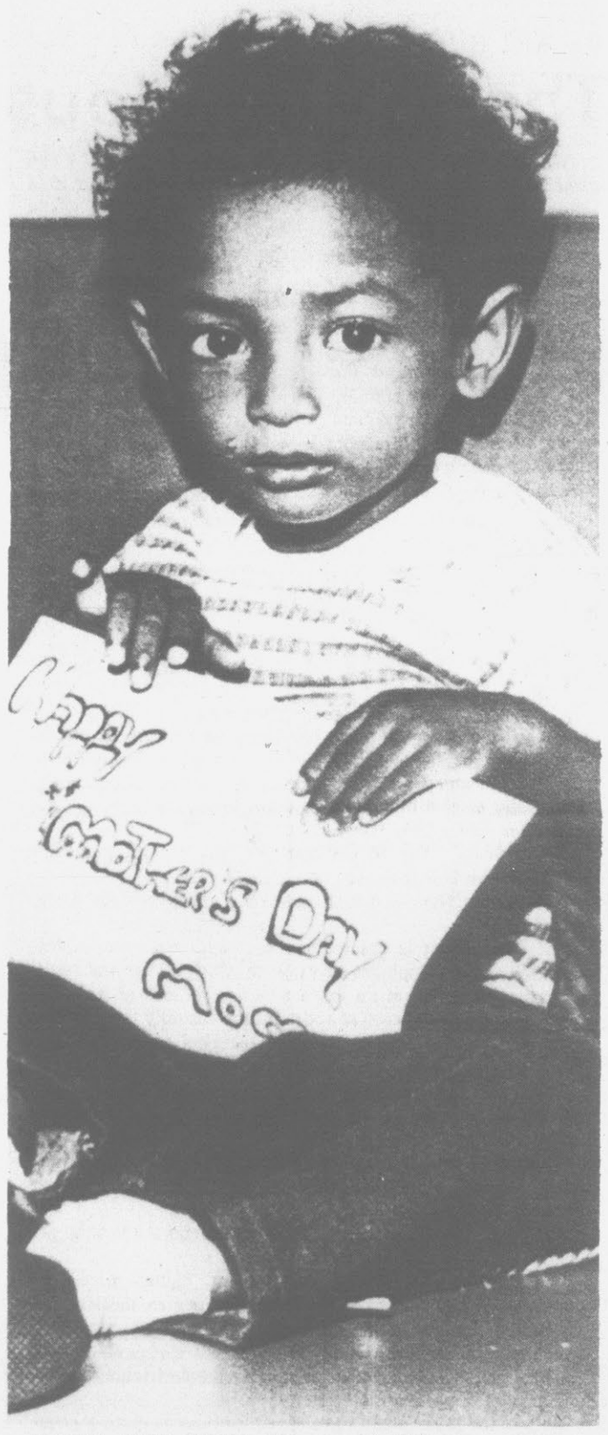

An SBI spokesman said Buck Isaac Clewis, 62, of Rt. 4, Whiteville, was arrested Wednesday and charged with accepting a bribe for his vote.

Earlier SBI agents arrested William Fred Suggs, 51, also of Rt. 4, Whiteville, and charged him with offering Clewis a bribe.

Both men are free under $5,000 bond each pending hearings scheduled for May 23 in district court in Whiteville.

Child Abuse And Neglect Survey Set

The Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan will be conducting a national study of community and governmental programs dealing with child abuse and neglect during May and June. Pitt is one of the sample counties for this study.

Mrs. Virginia Lansche and Mrs. Clara Shackell are the interviewers for this area. They will be talking with people in the courts, police and sheriff departments, hospitals, schools, child protective services, and public health departments in this area.

Results of the survey will contribute to the development of models for programs brought into being by the Child Abuse and Neglect Bill passed by Congress this year.

Smallest Crop In 10 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Southern peach crop is expected to be down 21 per cent from last year and the smallest in 10 years, the Agriculture Department says.

The South Carolina crop is estimated to be 230 million pounds, down 15 million or about seven per cent from last year.

The North Carolina crop, based on May 1 conditions, is estimated at 20 million pounds. Georgia is expected to produce 45 million pounds, down 55 per cent from 1973.

"Low tree vigor due to mild winter temperatures and a lack of chilling hours has curtailed fruit and leaf development," the Crop Reporting Board said.

A late-March freeze further weakened the outlook.

Production in the nine Southern states is estimated at 361.1 million pounds.

Notable Win In Ten-Man Field

The spring primaries are over for North Carolina and Attny. Gen. Robert Morgan has received the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

He will face Republican William E. Stevens, Jr. for the election which will decide which one will succeed the nationally acclaimed Sen. Sam J. Ervin, who announced early that he would not seek re-election.

The Republican race was never a contest in last Tuesday's primary and Stevens was quickly declared the winner in the three-man race.

On the Democratic side, however, there was a ten man field in which Morgan was acknowledged to be the leader. The real question here was whether or not Morgan could obtain the 50 percent of the vote needed to win it all in the first primary. It was a long shot in such a large field and many political observers were predicting he couldn't do it.

From almost the start of the tabulations, however, Morgan hung just below the 50 percent mark. His nearest challenger, Nick Galifianakis, was far behind in the low 30 percent area and Henry Hall Wilson had about 11 percent.

It was well into Wednesday morning before precincts which were tabulated late finally put Morgan over the 50 percent mark and made a second primary impossible.

It is remarkable when a man can win a majority in a ten candidate field, but Robert Morgan has done it. In the long run it will be best for the Democratic party that a second primary was not necessary in the U.S. Senate race, this year. The second primary would have been bruising, indeed, and could have been divisive. The Democrats need to be as united as they can be after losing one Senate seat to the Republicnas in 1972.

Wallace Ready To Use Muscle

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Having easily won renomination for another term as governor of Alabama, George C. Wallace is about to send a new message to the national Democratic party: he is fully prepared to lead a third-party movement if he feels new Democratic rules discriminate against him.

"If it looks like they're going to ignore the average citizen again, there will be a new party in '76," Gov. Wallace told us in an interview at the executive mansion here. "Then the Democrats will have to get along with just the left-wing theoreticians."

Indeed, some key Wallace financial supporters are deeply suspicious of national Democratic leaders and would prefer a third-party route. Although Wallace's full-time political lieutenants disagree and are beginning the long search for 1976 Democratic delegates, they nevertheless are also making secret alternative plans for a third party.

And Wallaceites are agreed that the decision must be made by January 1975, and that it hinges on this question: Will the 1976 rules take away delegates that should have been Wallace's as did the 1972 rules? Since a Wallace third party could hurt the Democrats in 1976 instead of helping them as it did in 1968 and would have done in 1972, the threat from Montgomery poses the most muscular and significant pressure against the party's still-ascendant reformers.

Superficially, Wallace has been co-opted into the Democratic party since 1972. Whereas his predecessors shunned Wallace as an outlaw politician, canny Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss has courted him. Wallace operative Mickey Griffin has been made privy to the party's internal affairs as a member of its national executive committee. Strauss has developed an amiable relationship with Charles Snider, Wallace's national political manager.

But there are few illusions among the Wallaceites. They feel, with good reason, that Strauss wants to keep Wallace Happy but also keep him off the ticket and is determined to minimize Wallace's national influence in the party.

Thus, there is no long-term commitment to the Democratic party by Wallace, who habitually refers to Democrats as "them" rather than "us." "I sent them a message in 1972 at great personal cost to myself," he told us. "If they ignore it, they ignore it at their own peril."

Specifically, Wallace is unhappy with procedural decisions hailed by Strauss as compromises—particularly the Compliance Review Commission (CRC). The commission's left-loaded membership, it is feared here, might arbitrarily unseat Wallace delegates. Strauss's private assurance, that he controls 15 of the commission's 25 members, has not assauged that fear. The Wallaceites doubt Strauss's control and don't trust Strauss that much anyway.

William France of Daytona Beach, Fla., the auto-racing impresario and an increasingly important Wallace insider, believes that if the commission does exert absolute power over party affairs "we should get the American Independent Party rolled out again and this time get 25 million votes instead of 10 million."

For now, however, France and Democratic national committeeman Hall Timanus of Texas are spearheading a national drive to elect Wallace delegates to the midterm convention at Kansas City in December. That could prove Wallace's watershed for 1976. Whether his delegates are seated there, what decisions are made there and the personal treatment given him if he attends may well shape Wallace's course.

A Wallace third party in 1976 would not faintly resemble the right-wing American Independent Party of 1968. John Birch Society leaders and other extremists who headed the party outside the South have been alienated by Wallace's more moderate tone and his black and labor allies in this year's election for governor. On the other hand, his miraculous recovery from the brink of death has contributed to a new respectability and credibility among rank-and-file voters.

Consequently, a third-party run might take away far more blue-collar Democrats than it did in 1968. Wallace today characteristically seems to better articulate workingmen's issues than most liberals. He totally ignores Watergate and ties inflation to foreign aid and welfare spending. Unlike almost all liberal Democrats, Wallace knows that forced school busing is not a dead issue. "The people are still waiting for somebody they believe would do something about it," he told us.

Given Wallace's revived physical vitality and his new aura as a wheelchair campaigner, he is capable of doing substantial damage to the Democratic party. Certainly, he cannot be taken for granted as a loyal party soldier. For Strauss and other national party leaders to ignore this threat would be a dangerously high-risk game.

'Dropout Day' A Major Event

By BILL NOBLITT

DURHAM—Reaching their 16th birthday is a big event for too many students in public schools, Dr. R. Baird Shuman believes.

"It's the biggest day in their lives—to be able to drop out, to get out of that school," Shuman said.

And the trend will continue as long as schools don't teach the things students need, in a way students can enjoy," he said.

"People are not going to learn much if they are continually miserable.

"Education should be a happy experience, not a withering one," he said.

The problem: schools today, especially urban schools with a lot of ghetto kids in them, simply don't have activities that mean anything to a lot of students.

Learn To Work

"All education is essentially vocational—that is, it should be directed at things which have meaning to a person's life, and aimed at some use in earning a living," Shuman said at a recent seminar on trends in education held at Duke University.

Shuman is a professor of education at Duke, author of several books, and an outspoken critic of schools today, with some unorthodox ideas particularly in the field of language arts.

He blasts present-day schools as plagued with "lock-step curriculum. . .and major custodial duties."

The coming of public school kindergarten to North Carolina has meant one major thing for a lot of mothers—they can now go to work a year earlier by putting their children in school sooner.

That custodial duty of the schools, simply keeping the students off the streets and under control, is a major duty of the schools, Shuman thinks, and works against the student.

"Schools must look ahead at what the future needs of society will be in the immediate future, and to some degree further down the road. Schools should teach students in a way to meet those developing needs.

"The schools must also begin letting the kids make some decisions about what they want," he said.

Above all, schools need to "get the excitement level up—make education relative and make it mean something to the students."

Shuman said a prime example is seen in the decline of foreign languages in school. Latin and Greek, he said, are out—no longer of any use—where they used to be the backbone of an education.

Mature Ideas

"We can't afford to bore kids. Schools can and should provide some materials with mature ideas. . .so students can get interested, not material that is boring."

This is especially true in reading, Shuman said. High school kids have mature interests, and have to be treated maturely, and interest in reading can be sparked through use of tape recordings, films, comic books—anything that will get the student interested.

Shuman is especially critical of urban schools with concentrations of black students. The schools tend to teach those that are easy to teach, and label unteachable those who resist.

In a paper on the subject, he noted that those unteachables become the "burrs in the collective social conscience of a nation."

Those become the dropouts, he said: "They come to us, resentful, actively antagonistic, unwilling to learn those things which they feel, probably quite rightly, they will have very little use for in their lives, we spurn them, we curse compulsory education, we call them unteachable, and we nudge them. . through a door when they reach the magic age when school attendance is no longer required by law."

Opinions In Brief

Strength For Today

TRIUMPHANT CHRISTIANITY

All pagan religions assure their adherents that the absence of pain and suffering is evidence of the gods' favor. In the cross of Jesus Christ, however, God proclaimed the fact that life does not derive its significance from the absence of hardship and sorrow, but from the fact that we can triumph over circumstances, no matter what they might be.

The Bible assures us that when Christ has a man's soul, what the world does to his body, what injustice it accords him, what deprivation it brings him—are as nothing. The real man is in the hands of Christ. Into his life every day are being poured supernatural powers which are enabling him to live not as a son of this earth, but as a son of God's eternity.

Jesus Christ did not come into the world to make our lives easy, but to make them significant, and we can trust him to carry out his purpose.

HOW LONG CAN WE BE SO LUCKY?

The White House Fire

WASHINGTON—The key word that keeps popping up in the transcripts of the presidential tapes is "scenario." The President and his aides kept coming up with a scenario for every back in the Watergate case.

The one scenario they never constructed, and the most vital one in my opinion, is what they should have done when Alexander Butterfield disclosed the President had taped everyone who came into the Oval Office. If I had been the President's trusted adviser, this is how I would have handled it. I'll be B and the President will be P.

B: Mr. President, Butterfield just blew the whistle on the tapes.

P: ('Oh fudge' deleted)

B: I think we better game plan this right away.

P: (Gee willikers! deleted) What do you suggest we do?

B:They're going to demand those tapes. You can bet your sweet (inaudible) on that. We have the following options.(A) we turn them over, (B) we refuse to turn them over or (C) we have a fire in the White House basement.

P: Tell me about "C."

ART BUCHWALD

B: Yes, sir. It's late at night and you're up in the bedroom and Mrs. Nixon says she smells smoke. You tell her Kissinger is probably burning some old cables.

P: (Golly gumdrops! deleted) Suppose the butler comes in and says he smells smoke also?

B: You tell him to mind his own (expletive deleted) business and go back to bed.

P: Hmmmm. You know there are a (heckava deleted) lot of tapes in the basement. What happens when the fire department is called? They could put out the fire right away and save the tapes.

B: You stonewall them in the Rose Garden and tell them how proud you are of the fire fighters of America and how much it means to you to have them come to the White House at that hour in the morning. We'll get Pat Buchanan to write up a little speech for you to deliver in which you point out the difference between fire departments of the United States and those in the enslaved countries of the world that you have been to.

P: What are the differences?

B: In America every local community can choose its own fire-fighting equipment, and the government does not dictate what type of trucks they should order. If a community wants a hook and ladder, they can order a hook and ladder. If they decide they'd rather have a pumper, it's their option.

P: So while I'm reading the speech the fire in the basement is going full blast?

Other Editors Say New Ball Game

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

It has been observed that when Congress climbed on the environmental bandwagon in 1970 and passed special legislation to clean the air and protect the environment, no one cared what it would cost or how much energy it would take to carry out the provisions of the new laws.

There is no way to pin down the exact costs now, but estimates run as high as $40 to $50 billion a year.

As inflation rises and fuel costs soar, the price will go up rapidly.

For example, it is pointed out that auto emission control research and development may cost $2 billion a year and result in the consumption of an extra 5 billion gallons of gasoline, which would cost between $2 and $3 billion annually.

This did not matter when there was plenty of gasoline at a low price. But now there is not.

There is a paper shortage, but the paper industry is said to be putting 43 per cent of new investment into pollution control rather than production facilities.

Naturally this affects newspapers as sharply as it does any other industry depending upon large quantitites of paper products.

For the petroleum industry, the figure is reported to be 10 per cent.

Consider the cost in lost employment, higher prices, inconvenience and real hardship of such things as the long environmental delays in the construction of the Alaska pipeline—which got started last Monday after six years' delay—and the construction of nuclear power plants or the restrictions on the use of coal to generate electricity.

Both of the latter could have saved millions of gallons of oil.

If the environmental protection movement is to survive, it will have to become more knowledgeable about the costs of its recommendations and the benefits likely to be derived from them.

Congress still operates on emotion.

If you don't think so, consider the investigation of oil industry profits even while statistics show such profits to be lower than those of industry in general and insufficient to attract the capital needed to expand domestic exploration effort and production facilities to meet growing demands for petroleum products.

Environmentalists will have to get in line for their fair share of available energy, and they will have to justify the additional costs which they propose.

Otherwise, political favor could turn just as sharply and suddenly against the environmental movement as it once impulsively embraced it.

When Truth Is Cruel

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Telling some terminally ill patients of their fate may be as cruel as keeping a prisoner on death row before his execution, a Philadelphia psychiatrist says.

Dr. Edward Gottheil made the statement Thursday in proposing a study of one of the medical world's most important questions: Should a terminally ill patient be told he or she is dying?

In a report to the American Psychiatric Association, he called for research to develop guidelines as to who can be told safely.

Gottheil questioned the current school of thought that it is more humanitarian to be truthful with the fatally ill, "treating knowledge of impending death as a human right."

Some people sink into depression or fear when told, while others take the news calmly, the psychiatrist said. Others react with anger and some refuse to "hear" the message, he said.

Gottheil said he and his associates had found an increase in cases of mental depression paralleling the increasing practice of informing dying patients of their fate.

Telling a patient so he can wind up his affairs may be welcomed by some, Gottheil said. But someone too ill to take a last trip to see a new grandchild might have his or her hope shattered. And he said hope is a strong ally in the patient's will to fight.

"We have all observed patients who, notwithstanding their medical condition, have given up and died, or fought and lived," he said.

The Philadelphia team included Wealtha C. McGurn, a registered nurse, and Dr. Otto Pollak, a University of Pennsylvania sociologist, Gottheil said.

He suggested research to de-

40 Years Ago Today

May 10, 1934

The Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee met at 11 a.m. today at the courthouse with W. E. Hooke, county chairman presiding.

The committee voted unanimously to hold the precinct meetings throughout the county on Saturday, June 9 at 2 p.m. and the county convention to be held in the courthouse in Greenville at 11 a.m. on Monday, June 11.

Governor Ehringhaus will deliver the commencement address at East Carolina Teachers College on Saturday, June 2 at 8:30 p.m. Graduation exercises will be held on Monday morning as usual. A change in the order of exercises has been found necessary as it is impossible for the Governor to be here for the graduation exercises on Monday.

Dr. Finis Idleman, pastor of the Central Church of the Disciples in New York City will preach the Commencement sermon on Sunday morning at the Y.W.C.A.

Alumnae Day will be Saturday, beginning with a business meeting in the morning. The program will be devoted to the memory of President Robert H. Wright.

More For The Small Businesses

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Earlier this year the National Small Business Association presented congressmen with its view that small and medium-size businesses must be permitted a bigger share in the American economy.

The big three of big business, big government and big labor, the association's spokesmen asserted, ruled the land, formulating a national economic policy that:

"... discourages, handicaps, squeezes, and often destroys small business. Their actions are counterproductive, incestuous, and self-serving in nature. As a result, only the 'scraps on the table' are left for everyone else."

The injustice is clear, they claimed, in the areas of taxes, access to market and money raising — "would any fairminded person say that equality of treatment is given to the would-be entrepreneur versus the economic power of an ITT although both want to enter the same field?"

But the impact of the smallbusiness report to Congress really lies in pointing out the de facto situation. Here are some excerpts:

—In 270 of 413 manufacturing industries — that is, in 65 per cent of the industries for which figures are available — the eight largest companies account for 40 per cent or more of the value of shipments from their industry.

—In 1960, small and medium manufacturers had 50 per cent of the assets and 41 per cent of profits. By 1972 these corporations had only 30 per cent of assets, and 28 per cent of profits.

Citing Census Bureau figures, the association listed the percentage of shipments accounted for by the eight largest concerns in selected industries, based again on 1967 or 1970 figures.

Here are a few:

Cereal preparations, 97 per cent, chocolate and cocoa products, 90; chewing gum, 97; cigarettes, 100; woven carpets and rugs; 90; tire cord and fabric, 97; carbon black, 100; flag glass, 98; primary aluminum, 100; typewriters 99.

"By what accident or plan did we come to the point where a handful of giant companies can determine what foods will come to our tables and what that food will contain, and what it will cost?" the association asked.

And that's the question—not whether small business provides more variety, competitiveness and innovation, or whether big business produces sameness, administered markets and the status quo.

Is the country drifting into an era of superbig business, evading a decision and dealing with the event after the fact rather than attempting to influence its course?

Rather than drifting, is it being taken along a prescribed course by existing businesses that seek their own preservation rather than the overall good of the country?

House Report Urges Some Refunds On Nixon Homes

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final draft of a House report concluding that $17.1 million in federal funds has been spent in connection with President Nixon's homes says action should be taken to recover any "improper expenditures."

The report also recommends that future security spending be limited to only one of a president's private homes.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler strongly attacked the $17.1 million figure, saying it includes all security, communications and personnel costs and not just work on the homes at Key Biscayne and San Clemente.

"An honest report would show that out of the $17.1 million referred to, only approximately $205,482 was spent on the President's homes," Ziegler said Thursday night.

The report is to be considered by the House Government Operations Committee on Tuesday.

It reportedly had broad support of committee Republicans at a caucus Thursday. They had won some 150 changes from Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., chairman of the subcommittee that drafted the report, generally softening the tone but not the conclusions.

Copies sent to committee members were numbered to prevent leaks. However, The Associated Press was permitted to take extensive notes from a copy.

The draft report says the $17.1 million includes $9 million spent at San Clemente, $8 million at Key Biscayne and $176,000 at the Grand Cay retreat in the Bahamas.

It says $7.6 million was for military and federal personnel assigned to the homes, $5.6 million for communications, $2.2 million for administrative support and $1.7 million for protection.

The draft report does not allege any specific improper expenditures and does not estimate how much of the $17.1 million enhances the value of the properties.

It simply recommends that "appropriate government agencies should seek restitution or take other appropriate action with respect to any improper expenditures of federal funds."

The Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation estimated $92,298 of federal spending improved the homes and that Nixon should pay taxes on it.

The final draft still has the previously disclosed findings that some of the spending was "far in excess" of security requests and that some of it was paid for items personal Nixon aides already had procured.

"It appears that at times nongovernment personnel virtually took over direction of the government work at San Clemente," the draft says.

It says a $389 fireplace exhaust fan, and $4,815 in surveys were secured at the direction of people under Herbert W. Kalmbach, the President's private lawyer, and paid for later by the government.

Examples of "excessive expenditures," the report says, are a $13,500 heating system at San Clemente and a more than $40,000 aluminum spike fence at Key Biscayne, whose function the report says could have been served by a $5,000 or $10,000 cyclone fence.

Congress has imposed few restraints on security spending, the draft report says. It says the evidence is that the Secret Service and other agencies "have abused the discretion given them."

And it said: "As a result, government expenditures for all purposes at privately owned property have risen from practically nothing during the Roosevelt-Truman era to over $5 million in the Johnson administration and over $17 million during the first five years of the Nixon administration."

It says $5.9 million was spent in connectionwith former President Lyndon B. Johnson's property, including $2.5 million for communications, $904,000 for security agents, $328,000 in security costs at the LBJ Ranch and Haywood Ranch in Texas and office in Austin, and $253,000 for air traffic control at the LBJ Ranch airstrip.

The draft report recommends tightening of control of all federal security expenditures directly under the Secret Service for protecting presidents' and vice presidents' homes.

It recommends reporting of such expenditures to Congress be required every six months.

It also recommends the government take back any equipment and material it can when its protection of a president ends and that the government be reimbursed for any unrecoverable items that enhance the value of his property.

No Runoffs In N.C. Required

RALEIGH (AP)—There will be no statewide runoff primary races in North Carolina next month.

This developed Thursday when runners-up in two contests for the Democratic nomination to the state Supreme Court conceded defeat and extended congratulations to the winners.

Unofficial returns from the two three-man races indicated that Superior Court Judges J. William Copeland and James G. Exum had received slightly more that 50 per cent of the total vote cast in their races. This meant that the runners-up were not entitled to a runoff primary.

Conceding the nomination to Exum was Appeals Court Judge R.A. (Fred) Hedrick. In a prepared statement, Hedrick said he had telephoned Exum to congratulate him.

"I am confident that he will be an asset to the Supreme Court of North Carolina," Hedrick said.

An unofficial tabulation of all the state's 2,303 precincts showed Exum had 50.03 per cent of the vote over Hedrick and New Bern attorney Reginald L. Frazier.

Since Exum has no Republican opposition, the nomination was tantamount to election.

James A. Webster, a professor at the Wake Forest Law School, was runner-up to Copeland who had 50.98 per cent of the vote with all but four precincts reported. Asst. Atty. Gen. Eugene Hafer of Raleigh was third.

"I predict that Copeland will have a long and distinguished career as a Supreme Court Justice," Webster said.

The 61-year-old Copeland will run against Republican Appeals Court Judge James M. Baley Jr. in the general election.

Hunt Abducted Eight-Year-Old

CLAVERACK, N.Y.(AP) — New York State Police reported Thursday they are looking for an 8-year-old girl and her abductor in states as far away as North Carolina and Arizona.

The girl, Mary Losaw of Austerlitz, N.Y., and 37-year-old Edward Spencer were last seen May 2 in Ontario, Canada, police said.

Spencer is wanted on a second-degree kidnapping warrant.

Officers said they were checking into an unconfirmed report that a motel operator in Greensboro, N.C., saw the pair.

velop "guidelines and principles which could be judiciously applied to specific cases to promote less depression, more communicaton and increased survival time."

Questions he said should be studied included: What should patients be told? Which patients should be told (using personality tests and other measurements)? When should they be told? How should they be told (with finality or holding out hope new research might change the odds)? Who should tell them?

Those variables can be manipulated or controlled and then evaluated against actual outcomes, including the degree of happiness or despair, or length of survival, Gottheil said.

A companion dilemma is whether family members or nurses should know, he said. Gottheil asked: Is it easier for them to know and engage in deceit if the patient doesn't know, or easier if they don't know?

B: Right. Now for safety, what we ought to do is have you present each fireman with a scroll expressing the gratitude of every man, woman and child in this nation for the wonderful work they are doing. You could personally sign each one in front of them. This should give us enough time to burn up every tape you ever made.

P: (Yippee dee doo da! deleted) I could go on television the next day and say how distraught I am that these tapes, which would have proved my innocence, once and for all, have gone up in smoke and have been lost to history. But I can promise to turn over all my notes of those conversations which will show I knew nothing about Watergate or the coverup. Without the tapes we've got the darn Watergate committee by the (cat's whiskers deleted). Good work, Art. Oh, there is one more thing. How did the fire start in the first place?

B: John Dean was sneaking a smoke in the basement instead of doing what you asked him to do. And he threw his butt on the tapes.

Churchmen Take A Dim View Of Nixon's Tapes

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A cross-section of religious leaders and specialists on ethics say the transcribed tapes of President Nixon's conversations with associates reflect a contempt for fairness and truth.

"The transcripts give every evidence of the abuse of power of office and a cynical disregard for truth, justice or the common good," says the Rev. Joseph Dolan, a Roman Catholic moral theologian of Fordham University.

The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, says the tapes "reveal an amoral man, insensitive to the principles that are so important to firm, fair and ethically oriented government."

"It is almost as if the public has been admitted to the private plotting within a felons' lair," says William P. Thompson, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church.

These and similar comments were the reaction to a general sampling of moral-religious authorities on the quality of attitudes indicated in the tapes.

There was one exeption, however. On Wednesday, a Jesuit priest on Nixon's staff, Dr. John McLaughlin, said the transcripts show the President acted honorably in dealing with a "fetid episode ... a dark footnote on his administration." He said of his boss' actions "The conclusion that they are amoral or immoral is erroneous, unjust and contains elements of hypocrisy."

"The concern displayed was entirely opportunistic," says the Rev. Dr. Thomas A. Bland, professor of Christian ethics at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, N.C.

"In the talk about hush money, for example, the question is not whether it's right, but whether they can get by with it. The ethic of the thing seems to be that the end to be accomplished justifies whatever means might be employed. From an ethical standpoint, this is manifestly wrong."

Bishop John F. Dougherty, of Newark, N.J., chairman of the U.S. bishops' commission on society and international relations, says "the cumulative pattern that emerges is most disturbing."

"All in all, it looks to me that the basic interest there was simply holding on to power and not justice," says the Rev. Dr. Robert V. Moss, president of the United Church of Christ.

"I'm particularly distressed at the low value placed on human beings, in terms of sacrificing 'little fish' and 'big fish' in order that the White House can avoid speaking the truth."

Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, says the tapes are "not the language of the presidency, but the language of the gutter. It reeks with the stench of moral decay."

The Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall, president of the Lutheran Church in America, says "the basic attitudes and concerns are not as noble and principled as a persons might hope."

The Rev. Charles Curran, a moral theologian of the Catholic University of America, says "the big problem is not the expletives and four-letter words, but the moral viewpoint shown by saying one thing publicly and doing another privately.

"It's here that the lack of integrity is so evident," he adds. Also, "the seemingly banal and venal way things of high importance were treated is simply astounding."

The Rev. Dr. Foy Valentine, of Nashville, Tenn., head of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission, says "the tone conveyed is utterly reprehensible, made worse by the fact that there had been such a pretense of piety."

Credibility Said 'Gone'

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's credibility is "gone for all time" with the American people, says Democratic national party Chairman Robert Strauss.

"The American public has been pushed too far," Strauss told newsmen Thursday before a party fund-raising dinner here. "They are slow to condemn and quick to forgive, but they have been pushed to the extent they can never believe the President."

Strauss said the release last week of the edited transcripts of recorded White House conversations showed Nixon and his closest aides "totally devoid of any moral indignation or revulsion about the Watergate scandal."

In his keynote speech to more than 1,300 Democrats at the Americana Hotel, Strauss said the election of Nixon had resulted in the "worst crisis of confidence in American government in the nation's history."

"It has given us ... an administration of felons, of perjurers, of conspirators, of damned crooks."

Song Program Offered Sunday

The Blalock Brothers will be special singers at a gospel singing at Carson Memorial Pentecostal Holiness Church Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The pastor, the Rev. Frank Blalock, invites the public to attend.

Does GOD see the gap?

Whenever you hear about a generation gap, you can be sure you're getting a human, biased point of view. Each generation is sure!

Yet there is a divine view. It concentrates on the oneness of all generations . . . on all the blessings and opportunities that God continues to bestow. "His truth endureth to all generations," said the Psalmist.

When Great-Grandma holds little Linda in her arms next Sunday, she'll be thinking gratefully of all the gifts they have in common — from the Lord. And she'll be praying that Linda will be brought up to cherish those gifts.

The generation gap—like all differences — disappears when human intelligence grasps God's point of view.

Anerobic Lagoon Makes Poultry-Raising Simpler

CLEANING JOB. . .Water piped in from the lagoon is sent the length of the poultry houses and cleans them in 15 minutes, a job that used to take Joe Gardner days to accomplish twice a year.

CARRIED OUT. . .Water from the poultry houses used to flush the floor clean is carried to the two acre lagoon, in the rear, where biological processes break down the poultry waste.

BROUGHT IN. . .Water to clean the houses is brought in by a ten inch pipe from the lagoon via a three phase electrical pump.

By CARL L. TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

GARDNERVILLE—Once a day Joe Gardner takes care of a job in 15 minutes that he used to tackle once every six months and which took days to do.

Gardner is in the poultry business, maintaining three poultry houses that produce 39-40,000 eggs per day. A problem every poultry man faces is what to do with the tremendous amount of waste produced by thousands of laying hens in cages in their houses.

In the past Gardner has shut down his operation twice a year and used special equipment to clean his houses, now the area is kept almost clean most of the time.

Gardner installed an anerobic lagoon on his farm in early 1974 and put the system into operation in February.

The operation is fairly simple, water is pumped through the houses over concrete slabs under the chicken cages cleaning the area by the rushing water.

The concrete slabs are built on an incline, dropping six inches every 100 feet so that the water will run off.

The piped-in water runs into the lagoon where biological processes break down the waste preventing it from building up.

Gardner uses the water from the lagoon to irrigate his 350 acre farm land, as the lagoon contains a high nitrogen level from the decomposed waste.

He got the idea for his lagoon from seeing a similar operation in Craven county, the first of its kind in the state.

Gardner says his system cost $21,000 to install but figures it will save him $10 to $15,000 over the next ten years.

According to the Agricultural Extension Service of N.C. State in Raleigh, anerobic and aerobic lagoons were first put into use around ten years ago and were first developed for use on dairy farms.

In North Carolina they are used widely for swine operations but are being used in the poultry business.

There are two other similar systems operating in Pitt County.

The systems are common in the southeast region of the United States because the climate is well suited for their operation.

N.C. State has been operating a system at its swine evaluation system in Clayton since 1961.

'Worst' Lampoon Awards Announced

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Lampoon has cited "The Great Gatsby" as the year's worst film in the magazine's 34th annual Movie Worsts Awards.

Editors said the film was honored for "making the Jazz Age look like the Muzak Era, cynically strip-mining another vein in the nostalgia market and having the acquisitive gall to market lines of Gatsby products, of which 'Gatsby power tools' and 'Gatsby-burgers' can't be far off."

Other movies selected by the Lampoon in its worsts awards were "Day of the Dolphin," "Jonathan Livingston Seagull," "A Touch of Class," "Blume in Love," "The Way We Were," "Save the Tiger," "The Exorcist," "American Grafitti" and "The Seven-Ups."

Penelope Gilliant of "The New Yorker" was presented "The Bosley," awarded annually to the movie critic "whose writing consistently explores the farthest limits of bad taste."

Other awards and their recipients announced Thursday:

—"The Kirk Douglas Award for the Worst Actor of the Year" to Jack Lemmon for "Save the Tiger."

—"The Natalie Wood Award for the Worst Actress of the Year" to Barbra Streisand for "The Way We Were."

—Worst supporting actor to Dustin Hoffman for "Papillon."

—Worst supporting actress to Dyan Cannon for "Shamus" and "The Last of Sheila."

—"The Wilde Oscar," conferred upon the performer "who has been willing to flout convention and risk worldly damnation in the pursuit of artistic fulfillment," to John Wayne for "McQ."

Less Gasoline Allotted N.C.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Energy Administration has alloted North Carolina 4 per cent less gasoline in May than in April. But it says this is an initial allotment, and such factors as growth in the number of motor vehicles from the base period, and farm needs, still are to be figured.

A spokesman said it's possible the final allotment will be larger than April's.

The initial May allotment is 246.2 million gallons, or 7.94 million a day. It is based on 91 per cent of North Carolina's consumption in May of 1972. And it compares with 249.3 million gallons last month.

Week Salutes Transportation

The week of May 12-18 is National Transportation Week and President Richard Nixon has recognized transportation by issuing a special proclamation.

Mayor S. Eugene West of Greenville signed a proclamation Thursday morning for local observance.

TERMITES OR ANTS?

Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today

The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

Reserves Aided Improving Field

The 3398th U.S. Army Reserve Reception Station, Greenville, assisted in making improvements to the Chicod baseball field recently. The field is located behind the Chicod Elementary School.

The Chicod Booster's Club sponsored the construction.

Charles E. Johnson of the 3398th is the principal of Chicod Elementary and a leader in the Chicod Booster's Club.

Along with time and effort spent by members of the 3398th Unit, Ernest Spain and Wesley Craft donated enough pipe to support an 89 foot foul line fence beyond each dugout.

The Unit is commanded by LTC Howard G. Ling and the Greenville Detachment is commanded by John W. Smith.

NOTICE TO PITT COUNTY CITIZENS

Notice is hereby given that an exclusive franchise for the collection, transportation, and disposition of Residential Solid Waste in unincorporated areas of Pitt County was initially adopted at the May 8th, 1974 meeting of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners.

Due to public concern shown at the May 8th, 1974 meeting, a public hearing has been scheduled for May 15th, 1974 at 7:30 p.m. in the District Court Room of the Pitt County Courthouse. The proposal will be presented and alternatives discussed in an effort to reach the appropriate solution. If it is determined at this meeting that the proposed system is the most desirable, the Ordinance granting the exclusive Franchise above referred to will be considered for final adoption at the next regular meeting of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners in the Law Library of the Pitt County Courthouse on Monday, June 3, 1974.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady on large and down on medium and small Thursday. Suuplies fully adequate, demand only fair. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large white 50.73, medium whites 41.76, small whites 37.14.

RALEIGH (NCDA) (AP)— The market is steady to 75 cents higher. $28.00-$29.00 Kinston, Lumberton. $26.50-$27.00 Rocky Mount. $27.00 Salisbury. $26.50 Wilson and High Falls. Poultry

RALEIGH (NCDA) (AP)— N.C. f.o.b. dock broilers: Market stronger. Supplies adequate. Demand good. Weights desirable. The N.C. f.o.b. weighted average price for less than truck lot loads of sized plant grade broilers and fryers to be picked up at docks next week is 37.42 cents a pound. Estimated slaugher today 1,140,000 compared to 1,352,000.

N.C. Hens: Market steady on heavy types. Supplies fully ample. Demand slow. High side of price range reflects previous commitments. Heavies at farm 10½ to 12 cents. F.o.b. plants 15 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lost ground today after major banks across the nation boosted their prime lending rate to big business to a record 11¼ per cent.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which shot up nearly 15 points on Thursday, was off 2.97 to 862.80 at 11:30 a.m. Advances and declines ran almost neck-and-neck on the New York Stock Exchange.

The move within the banking industry to boost the key interest rate from 11 per cent was the primary impetus for the decline, analysts said. The increase in the prime mirrors the rise in short-term interest rates, which have been drawing investors away from the market to interest-bearing securities.

"Obviously the dominant influence on the market today is this prime increase," said Monte Gordon of Dreyfus Corp. He added that the market seemed to be absorbing the news fairly well, holding above the 860 level, and said this reflected Wall Street's belief that the prime was nearing its peak.

American Medicorp., the Big Board's most active stock, was unchanged at 2⅝ after a 200,000-share block traded at 2½.

Consolidated Edison fell 1¾ to 7¾ following a report that it has told New York State lawmakers it faces bankruptcy unless the state bails it out of its current cash crisis. A Con Ed spokesman said he couldn't immediately confirm the accuracy of the report.

Combustion Engineering, which suffered steep losses earlier this week following a negative report on its contract policy for nuclear business, dropped 1 point more to 53½.

INA Corp. rose ½ to 26½ after announcing it has decided not to pursue its possible acquisition of Avis.

The composite index of Big Board stocks was down .06 to 49.03 at 11 a.m. while the market-value index on the American Stock Exchange rose .30 to 88.37.

Cyclists Again To Try Outing

The Pitt Peloton Cyclists and the Riders of Rohan Club will try again Sunday for the ride to Black Jack that was rained out last week. The meeting place is the fountain on the ECU campus. The time is 10:15. Anyone who would like to join the group is welcome.

Saturday's Walk for Development provides an opportunity to do a century, a half century, or a quarter century. Bicyclists who want to join the event simply tell sponsors that they will be biking instead of walking.

A meeting of the two bicycle clubs will be held Tuesday, May 14th, at 7:00 p.m. to consider merger of the two clubs and to plan for the summer. The meeting will be in room 208 of the Student Union.

Area Is Expanded

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced an expansion of the marketing area for tobacco farmers from 80 miles to 100 miles from the county seat of each county where the individual farmer might predesignate one or as many warehouses as he desires for selling his tobacco.

Concern was expressed by a number of farmers and warehousemen at a public meeting held by Congressman Jones and representatives of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in Greenville on April 12 that the restricted area would preclude designated markets where farmers have been selling their tobacco.

Jones states, "I am happy that I have been able to negotiate with USDA officials to the end that this radius can be extended to 100 miles."

LWV Petition Mailed Senator

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Petitions collected by the League of Women Voters of North Carolina have been mailed to Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N. C., urging new federal campaign regulations.

The petitions, carrying 10,001 signatures, were mailed Thursday from Durham by Mrs. Helen Pratt, a state director of the league and head of its program for representative government.

Mrs. Pratt said the petitions urge Congress to enact laws requiring a combination of public and private campaign financing in national elections, setting limits on campaign spending, and requiring full disclosure of campaign donations and expenditures.

Residence For Vice President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a bill to provide an official residence for the vice president on the Naval Observatory grounds.

The three-story house, built in 1893, has been occupied for 40 years as the residence of the chief of naval operations.

The resolution, sponsored by 32 senators including former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, would take over the property, along with 12 acres of surrounding grounds, when it is vacated.

City Council...

Council member Mrs. Mildred McGrath said that she would like for the city to maintain some control over the municipal election process and asserted that her main objection to the county's participation in the city election is that the makeup of the Pitt elections board "has never included a qualified black." She said that, "I think this is important in order to get the vote out" and she added that the board "should reflect the electorate."

Seven requests for property rezoning were approved following public hearings. Rezoning approvals included: property of C. A. Case and Red Oak Christian Church involving a two-acre tract on U. S. 264 Business near the intersection of U.S. 264 Bypass West from RA-20 to Neighborhood Commercial; property of City Cab Co. at the corner of W. Fifth Street and Albemarle Avenue from R-6 to Downtown Commercial Fringe;

Property of Drs. J. E. Clement, Robert G. Deyton, Edgar S. Douglas and William Fore involving some two acres on Memorial Drive near the intersection of W. Sixth Street and adjacent to the Physician's Quadrangle from Medical Arts to Shopping Center;

Property of Dr. George Salle containing 13,000 square feet at the intersection of W. Sixth Street and Memorial Drive from Medical Arts to Shopping Center; W. J. Moore property containing 2.9 acres on the north side of Manchester Drive from R-15 to Highway Commercial; Harvey Bradshaw property involving approximately six acres near the intersection of Manchester Drive and Hooker Road from R-15 to Highway Commercial; and property of Amos Evans containing one-half acre on Lakeview Drive from RA-20 to R-6.

A resolution was approved confirming assessment rolls for street improvements on four local streets. The assessment rolls were approved for curb and gutter work on Westwood Drive from Patrick Drive to Carlson Street and for curb, gutter and paving on Drum Avenue from Mumford Road to Church Street, on Mills Street from Gum Road to the northern end, and on Powell Street from Mumford Road to Gum Road.

Permit renewals for one year were granted to McDonald Carr for a mobile home on Memorial Drive; to ABC Mobile Homes for a mobile home at 609 W. Greenville Boulevard; and to Oakwood Mobile Homes Inc. for a mobile home at 626 Greenville Boulevard. All three mobile units are used as offices, it was pointed out.

Consideration of a proposed amendment to Section 32-79 of the City Code relative to the issuance of mobile home permits by the Council was tabled until recommended changes can be made in the ordinance and brought back to the Council for public discussion.

Applications for taxicab operator's permits were approved for John Henry Corey Jr., James Henry Tyson, Irene J. Davis, and Holley Anderson. The chief of police recommended approval of applications submitted by Corey, Tyson and Mrs. Davis but left the application of Anderson up to the discretion of the board. The Council reviewed Anderson's traffic record before voting approval of his application.

Council members voted to revise the length of terms of Sheppard Library board of trustees from six-year terms to three years with members eligible for only one reappointment. The terms of present members were pro rated to reflect the new policy.

A resolution authorizing the execution of an amendment to grant agreement between the Pitt-Greenville Airport Authority and the Federal Aviation Administration reducing the grant amount for runway lighting projects from $20,500 to $13,000 was approved.

Privilege license requirements were waived for William J. Wooten, a disabled American veteran, in order that he may sell vegetables, candies and other items from his car in the city, and for the Greenville Jaycees involving a retroactive waiver governing the sponsorship of a circus at the Pitt County Fair Grounds on April 26 to raise funds for the Boys Club and other organizations.

Authorization was given by the Council for payment from the General Fund Contingency Account of an invoice from Greenville Utilities Commission in the amount of $6,324.96 for the installation of monolever poles and ducts and other construction expenses for improvements at the intersection of Tenth Street and Dickinson Avenue, and for payment from the Contingency Account of an invoice from the North Carolina Department of Transportation and Highway Safety in the amount of $2,425. The state invoice represents the final payment for the Thoroughfare Planning Study.

Public hearings were scheduled for June 6 on three applications for mobile home permits and on the annexation of First Free Will Baptist Church.

A public hearing was held on an application by Keith Harrelson for a permit to place a travel mobile home at the corner of Greenville Boulevard and Evans Street for use as an office. The permit was approved for one year.

The Council tabled a request by A. G. Wells for permission to sell one-half of an eight-grave lot in Greenwood Cemetery to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Landing.

A schedule of proposed increases in unit prices for street improvements was approved. Holliday, in presenting the proposed schedule, said that the increases are based on a 35 per cent increase in the cost of materials and labor.

Petitions that have already gone out will not be affected by the increases, it was explained, but the prices are effective immediately for new petitions.

Simon Seeking Less Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sources say substantial reductions in federal spending during the next fiscal year are favored by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon as a way to combat inflation.

Simon, who took over as treasury secretary Wednesday, is understood to have urged a major review of the 1975 budget during a two-hour meeting at the White House with President Nixon and other economic advisers Tuesday. Fiscal year 1975 begins July 1.

No Deduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would ban President Nixon from receiving a tax deduction for charitable contributions of the White House tape recordings has been introduced by Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N. Y.

Bingham, in a statement Thursday, cited news reports— unconfirmed by the White House—that said the purpose of making the tapes was a future donation for tax purposes.

Congress five years ago prohibited contribution of personal papers for charitable and tax purposes, but that legislation left open the possibility of donating tapes.

"The bill I have introduced would make the law perfectly clear on this point," he said. "We cannot allow any elected official to derive substantial personal gain from the donation of tapes, papers, or other documents prepared in the course of his official duties."

Indira Tries Strike End

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi offered today to release 4,000 jailed union leaders and resume negotiations if India's striking railwaymen end their three-day-old walkout.

Opposition political leaders urged that the labor leaders be released first. But they agreed to take Mrs. Gandhi's proposal to the union chieftains, who rejected earlier appeals to call off the strike.

As expected, Mrs. Gandhi's two-thirds majority in the lower house of parliament early today killed an opposition motion of no confidence in the government's handling of the strike.

The workers, who make between $32 and $160 a month, are seeking a 75 per cent increase and payment of a 13 month's pay as an annual bonus.

Reports in New Delhi indicated the strike continued to disrupt rail services badly, particularly on commuter runs to Bombay, India's commercial center. Prices of perishable foods increased in major cities.

Deal Tosses No-Hit Win For Rampants

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Wesley Deal threw a no-hit shutout at Northern Nash yesterday for Rose High School, as the Rampants took a 3-0 victory.

Coach Ronald Vincent rested his seniors in the game, not playing a single one of them—relying on juniors and sophomores for the entire contest.

Deal, who went all the way, saw only six men reach base during the afternoon, all on walks. Only one man got as far as second base, in the sixth inning when he walked James Wells, his opposing pitcher, then wild pitched him down.

At no other time during the game was he in trouble, and only four balls were hit out of the infield all afternoon against him.

The game had originally been scheduled for Friday, but was moved to Thursday because of the Knights' junior-senior this evening.

Rose banged out seven hits, and got five of them in the first three innings when they scored their runs, one of which was unearned.

The first run crossed the plate in the opening frame. With one down, Kelly Heath singled into left field. Griff Garner grounded back to the pitcher, who threw the ball away, allowing Garner to reach. Another error on the relay let Heath move on to third. Macon Moye then grounded out to short, but Heath came in on the play with the first run.

In the second, Rose came up with another run. Keith Jones led off with a double to left. Eddie Connelly singled to right, moving Jones to third, and Dickie Johnson came on as a runner for Connelly. Johnson and Jones then pulled a double steal, scoring Jones for a 2-0 lead.

The final Rampant run crossed the plate in the third inning. Heath opened up with a triple over the centerfielder's head. He then scored when Garner grounded out to second.

Rose didn't offer but one other threat, in the sixth inning. With two outs, Jack Jenkins singled and moved on to second when the ball was bobbled in the outfield, but he died there.

The victory raised the Rampant record to 9-4 for the season. They have two games remaining. They play host to Wilson on Tuesday, then travel to Northeastern on Friday to close out the year.

Crash Provides Invaluable Help

By WILLIE PATRICK
Special To The Reflector

Gary Overton leaned back as far as he could in the folding chair and smiled. He had just watched the 1974 Southern Conference champion East Carolina Pirates head onto the practice field during preparation for the NCAA District III playoffs.

Those playoffs will be held May 23-27 in Starkville, Miss. That was one of the reasons "Crash," the Bucs' graduate assistant, was smiling.

"I guess I'll have to see if I can get 'em psyched up again," said Overton. "Because at the tournament, you can throw all stats out the window. . .the team that gets the best pitching and makes the fewest mistakes will win."

Persons watching the Pirates in action at Harrington Field and on the road usually are taken by surprise when informed that the 5-8, 165-pound Overton is not merely another player. His nickname, "Crash," comes from one of his many duties (driving a team car) as graduate assistant baseball coach to head coach George Williams, and his assistant, Monte Little. As well as providing taxi-service, "Crash" takes care of equipment, helps with the ground-keeping chores and is, as he explained, a team 'psychologist-spiritual leader."

In short, Overton does about anything possible to get the Bucs reach to play baseball, short of singing the National Anthem prior to the games (though it was overheard that he does hum a few bars once in a while) and selling drinks between innings.

A native of Ahoskie, Overton comes from a sports-oriented background. His father, Floyd "Dutch" Overton, was a high school coach (tutoring Jim "Catfish" Hunter, now of the Oakland A's, in earlier years). The elder Overton also has served for five New York Mets and is currently an area umpire.

With this behind him, Crash said it wasn't a bit hard for him to become interested in sports. And now, Crash is "doing what he likes to do best."

I have always wanted to be a part of athletics," said Overton. "And this is a big part.

"Still, I'd probably be playing golf every afternoon if there wasn't baseball. Golf's a great game, too."

Indeed it must have been, as well as football, basketball and baseball, all sports in which Crash participated in while a high schooler. He was an all-conference baseball selection, and was golf medalist in his conference, plus an "All-East" golfer as a senior.

Though he had minor scholarship offers from two other North Carolina colleges, Overton said he came to East Carolina University because of the reputation of the physical education program. He has made good use of the program, too, as he holds a B. S. in Physical Education and is working on an M. A. in the field. All this and Crash has yet to see birthday number 23.

From now until tourney time, Crash said he will stay busy helping with "little necessities" and whatever else comes along to help prepare for the tournament. He'll be helping Coach Williams, whom Crash credited with being an "enormous help" for him at East Carolina.

"He's done a lot for me and is an asset for the program here," said Overton. "He's produced a champion in the first year of work and will build many more."

Though his personal coaching experience has been short, Crash said he finds himself developing strategy patterns along with the Pirate coaching staff. And he pointed to a pair of crucial contests, a double-header sweep of Appalachian State University as being "the greatest experience."

"The team was ready to play," Overton beamed. "I like to feel like I helped my friends get ready to play, and we came out on top."

Crash indeed helped the Pirates come out on top. Meanwhile, Williams is wondering, "What will I do when he's gone? He'll be tough to replace."

Integon Rally Tops Elks, 5-4

Integon picked up its first victory of the year yesterday, handing the Elks their first loss in Tar Heel Little League play, 5-4.

Both teams now have a 1-1 record.

The Elks scored first, getting a run in the second. Don White reached on a fielder's choice and Lloyd Jackson walked. Both moved up on a wild pitch and Chris Ross singled in White.

Integon pushed over a pair in the bottom of the fourth to take the lead. Todd Galloway got it started with a one-out home run. Then, Alan Hudson followed by reaching on a two-base error. He stole third and scored on another error on the play.

The Elks pushed back into the lead in the sixth, scoring three times for a 4-2 lead. Lynn Jackson singled as did Gavin Ray. Emmett Walsh reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases: White walked to force in Jackson and Mike Lemmond singled in both Ray and Walsh.

But the Elks couldn't hold to the lead, as Integon pushed over three of their own to win it. Hudson walked to open the inning and Horace Barrett also got a walk. Blair Smith singled and Mark Carter doubled to drive in both Hudson and Barrett, tieing it at 4-4. Will Barrett walked to load the bases and a walk to Mark Barber forced in Smith with the game-winning run.

Greene Central Rallies To Win

SNOW HILL—Greene Central won its second game from Southern Nash in as many days, but it took a seven run rally in the final inning to do it as they took an 8-3 victory.

The win boosted the Ram record to 9-6-1 for the season. They have two games left, and may have to replay their tie if it involves either first or second place. The Eastern Carolina Conference will have two teams in the playoffs this year.

Greene Central scored first, getting a run in the bottom of the first inning. That came off the bat of Bobby Supel, who slammed a home run.

In the third, Southern Nash came up with a run. Winstead walked and came around when Henley's single was errored.

With the score tied at 1-1, the two teams battled until the sixth, when Southern Nash came up with a pair of runs to take the lead, 3-1. Fassnachts walked and Faircloth singled. Fassnachts scored on an out, and Burroughs tripled, driving in Faircloth.

The Rams then came up with seven runs in the bottom of the frame to wrap it up. Tim Butts led off with a single and moved up when it was misplayed. William Brown also reached on an error and Ronnie Whitley was hit by a pitch. Shorty Radford reached on an error, scoring Butts. Phil Harrison singled, scoring Brown and Whitely. Jeff Lechworth was hit by a pitch and Donnie Blizzard singled in Radford. Supel walked to bring in Harrison, and Butts reached on another error, scoring Letchworth and Blizzard.

The Rams are next set to play Ayden-Grifton on the Charger field Monday.

Sutton Misses No-Hit Attempt

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The difference between a ONE-hitter and a NO-hitter is a lot more than the letter E.

With one out in the second inning, John Grubb bounced a ground ball up the middle that just tipped off the glove of Los Angeles shortstop Bill Russell for a single.

It wasn't a big hit. But to Don Sutton, it must have seemed like a 600-foot home run.

"I really wanted to pitch a no-hitter," said Sutton, who pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Thursday night. "But I can't complain about the hit Grubb got tonight. I threw him a change-up and he did what a good hitter should do—he hit it up the middle."

Elsewhere in the major leagues, the Kansas City Royals downed the Texas Rangers 6-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 4-1; the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1, and the Boston Red Sox blanked the New York Yankees 2-0.

Sutton, who owns two other on-hit efforts, struck out five and walked two.

Royals 6, Rangers 1

Marty Pattin retired 19 straight batters after Dave Nelson's leadoff bunt single in the first and went on to record his first victory as a Royal with a four-hitter.

The loss dropped Texas .003 percentage points behind Chicago and into a tie for second with California.

Pirates 4, Astros 1

Jim Rooker's hitting got in the way of his pitching Thursday night. He doubled in the eighth inning and scored on Rennie Stennett's single to finish the Pirates' scoring and bring his record to 2-2. Rooker, who struck out four and walked four before Dave Giusti came on to face the Astros in the bottom of the eighth, said, "I got tired after doing all that running in the eighth inning."

Cubs 3, Braves 1

Shortstop Craig Robinson's throwing error on a seventh-inning double play enabled the Chicago Cubs to score a pair of runs and defeat Atlanta.

Rick Reuschel pitched a four-hitter.

Until the seventh, the game's only run was set up by home run king Hank Aaron's first stolen base of the season.

Aaron, who had a season-high of 31 bases in 1963, totaled only six in the past three years.

Lockman said he wouldn't have been embarrassed if the final score were 1-0, "but I'd have been damned angry. Sure I know he's 40 but he's still a great ballplayer."

Red Sox 2, Yankees 0

Bernie Carbo broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Boston's Luis Tiant and New York's Pat Dobson with a seventh-inning homer.

Randle's Field To Be Restored

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—The University of Virginia announced today it has been promised $660,000 toward restoration of Scott Stadium, its football field, and for the purchase and installation of a synthetic Astroturf playing surface.

Descendants of Frederic William Scott of Richmond, for whose father the stadium was named, have pledged $360,000 for restoration of the 43-year-old facility. An anonymous donor will provide $300,000 for the new playing surface, the university said.

The renovation is scheduled to begin soon and is expected to be completed in time for the university's first home football game on Sept. 21.

A special university commitee to plan the renovation and enlargement of Scott Stadium last year recommended further expansion of the facility and also recommended that artificial turf be installed and the stadium renovated.

The committee recommended the existing seating capacity of 24,000 be increased to 36,000. This will not be part of the program to be carried out immediately, but a university spokesman said it is hoped the enlargement can be accomplished by the 1975 season.

Eugene F. Corrigan, director of university athletic programs, said the additional seats would primarily be accommodated by adding a deck on the west side of the stadium with pressbox, restroom and concessions facilities built into the structure.

"The members of the Scott family have made a truly magnificent gift to the university, and their continued support of the university's activities through the years is a source of great pride to all of us," said Corrigan, who added:

"The Scott gift and the gift by an anonymous donor for the artificial playing surface insures the long overdue development of the . . . stadium into a major athletic center not only for intercollegiate football but for many intramural sports and activities which have developed in recent years."

The new artificial surface will increase the stadium's use from some 15 days a year to more than 200. Besides football and lacrosse, which have been played in the stadium in the past, physical education classes and intramural sports will be scheduled, Corrigan said.

Oakmont And St. James Win

St. James and Oakmont each won their third straight Church Softball League game last night while Immanuel was handed its first defeat of the year.

In the opener at Field Two, University-Mt. Pleasant took a 7-6 win over Immanuel. Mt. Pleasant scored one in the second, then got four in the third. They came up with two in the fifth. Immanuel got two in the fourth, two in the fifth and two more in the seventh, but their rally fell short.

The second game saw Black Jack roll to a 32-2 win over First Free Will Baptist. Black Jack pushed over three in the first inning, then added nine in the second. They scored three in the third, five in the fourth, with B. Kittrell homering, three in the fifth with T. Adams hitting a homer, five in the sixth with R. Dixon getting a round-tripper, and they closed with four in the seventh. First Free Will got both of their runs in the sixth.

In the final game, People's gained a 14-7 win over Arlington Street. People's pushed over five runs in the first inning, then came back to score seven in the second. They added two more in the third. Arlington got two in the third, three in the fourth and two in the sixth.

St. James rolled to a 12-4 win over First Christian in the opener on Field One. St. James got three in the first and one in the second. They added another in the third, then scored three in the fifth and four in the seventh. Christian got three in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Oakmont took a 9-5 win over Trinity in the second game. Oakmont got one in the top of the first, but Trinity came back with two in its half. Oakmont tied it up in the second, then got three in the third. Oakmont added two in the fifth and two in the seventh with Danny Singleton homering. Trinity added one in the third and two in the sixth.

Close Is Net Champ

The Greenville Tennis Club completed its Ladies Open Singles championship yesterday with second seeded Barbara Close winning in three sets over top seeded Frances Cain.

In the first round of play, Myra Hill downed Mozelle Exum, Becky McDonald beat Nancy Stephenson and Grace Smith took a 6-1, 6-0 win over Phyllis Smith.

Second round play saw Mrs. Cain beat Diane Hankins, 6-1, 6-0, while Mrs. Hill took Mrs. McDonald, 6-3, 6-7, 7-6. Grace Smith fell to Lib Proctor, 6-2, 7-5, and Mrs. Close topped Ann Sayetta, 6-2, 6-0.

In the semi-finals, Mrs. Cain beat Mrs. Hill, 6-1, 6-0, while Mrs. Close won over Mrs. Proctor, 6-0, 6-3.

The finals saw Mrs. Close claim the championship with a 6-7, 7-6, 6-4 victory over Mrs. Cain.

Some Changes Brought Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Tom Kite parlayed a new putter, a new grip and some new-found confidence into a share of the lead in the Houston Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm hitting it so well, I'm so confident about my game, I wouldn't be surprised if I shoot three more rounds just as good as this one," Kite said Thursday after his 67 had tied rookie Wally Armstrong for the first round lead in this $150,000 event.

Armstrong, such a newcomer to the tour that he hasn't learned about making hotel reservations and had to spend one night this week sleeping in his car, made use of 12 one-putt greens and "my faith in our Lord Jesus," in putting together his five-under-par effort.

"I couldn't have done it without my faith," the 28-year-old Armstrong said. "Please mention that. I give Him all credit for any success I have."

They shared a one-stroke lead over a pair of non-winning tour regulars, Paul Moran and Bob Zender. Moran and Zender each had a 68 in the hot, windy, muggy weather.

Tommy Aaron, Rod Curl, Dwight Nevil, Ed Sneed and Terry Ferraro were at 69 with defending champion Bruce Crampton of Australia in a large group at 70.

Most of the game's glamour names are skipping this event for one reason or another.

Kite, a consistent money-winner in his brief career but still seeking his first victory, has threatened several times this year and has finished in the top 10 three times.

"I'm not scared of playing well now," said Kite, a 24-year-old tour sophomore who has won some $28,000 this season. "I once was."

Part of his new-found confidence, he said, stems from a new putter. He threw away the old one after a final round 80 ruined a good tournament for him in last week's Byron Nelson Classic.

And, using the new one, a slighty more upright stance and a new grip, he needed only 28 strokes on the greens.

Armstrong, 28, has had little but struggle and disappointment since joining the tour this season. He's earned a check in only three major tour events, hasn't made expenses and came to this tournament lacking a hotel reservation.

When he got here, he found there was a 25,000-man convention in town and all motels were jammed. He couldn't find a room and he and his wife, Debbie, spent the night sleeping in their car parked at the golf course.

Tennessee Girl Seeks To Play Second Base

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A 12-year-old girl's attempt to get off the Little League bench turned into a jurisdictional dispute Thursday in U.S. District Court.

Judge L. Clure Morton took under advisement a lawsuit filed on behalf of Ambra Offutt, who wants to play second base with the Nashville City Bank team, and eventually with the Cincinnati Reds.

The judge did not indicate when he may rule in the matter.

Morton had earlier denied Miss Offutt's request for a restraining order that would have allowed her to play with the team when it opened its season last week.

One of the key issues in the matter is whether there is significant government involvement in Little League activities to give Morton's court jurisdiction over the dispute.

A similar suit in New Jersey resulted in a court order allowing girls to play, but that was a state court action that has no bearing on Miss Offutt's complaint.

Robert Kamenshine, the attorney for Miss Offutt and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Offutt, argued Thursday that the court has jurisdiction because 83 teams in 12 neighborhood leagues practice and play their games on diamonds belonging to either the Metropolitan Nashville board of education or the parks board.

F. Clay Bailey Jr., attorney for the Nashville Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the Little League, agreed with Kamenshine that there is no reasonable basis for excluding girls.

But, he said, the national Little League organization has a policy of excluding girls and the local organization must follow that policy or lose its charter.

Bailey argued that federal courts cannot involve themselves in correcting private discrimination.

"The proper forum for correcting that is society itself," he said.

Miss Offutt's coach, Harold Huggins, a Nashville Banner sportswriter, told the court she earned the right to play second base on his team.

A psychologist, Susan Woods, when asked by the defense if highly competitive sports were not damaging to children of either sex, said they were not.

Another Little League coach, Dr. Gerald Atwood, a pediatrician, testified that there is "no evidence that girls of this age group cannot participate in baseball."

Boston Goes After NBA Title Tonight

By DAVE O'HARA
AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Just five years ago, one of the greatest dynasties in sports history crumbled when Bill Russell quit as player-coach of the Boston Celtics.

Now, with Coach Tommy Heinsohn calling the shots and Dave Cowens at Russell's old center position, the Celtics are back—just one victory from being all the way back.

With a 3-2 lead over the Milwaukee Bucks, the Celtics seek their first National Basketball Association championship since 1969 and their 12th in history tonight in the sixth game of the best-of-seven series at Boston Garden.

"We're going to win it," Heinsohn said confidently. "On any given night either team can win, but we've beaten them twice on their court and now we're back in Boston."

"We've put a lot of pressure on ourselves, but it's not over yet," countered Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello. "We had the same pressure here (fourth game) last Sunday and we won. However, we've got our work cut out."

There's a great difference in the Celtics' style from the Russell era. With Russell revolutionizing the game with his defensive genius, the Celtics won 11 NBA titles in 13 years on the shooting of such greats as Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman, Sam Jones and Heinsohn.

Now, as Cowens says, "this is a different ball game." The Celtics have shocked the mighty Bucks with a press all over the court. Don Chaney and Jo Jo White, the regular backcourt partners, lead the harrassment which has slowed Milwaukee in all but one of the first five games.

"We've never pressed like this, it's phenomenal," Cowens said. "During the regular season we play a bother press, but this is a different ball game now."

The Bucks know what to expect—the press, Cowens shooting from outside to draw tall Kareem Abdul-Jabbar from under the basket. However, they have been frustrated, particularly so in a pivotal fifth game loss, 96-87, in Milwaukee Tuesday night.

"We can do better," Heinsohn said. "The adjustment period is over for both teams. Now it's execution. We've just got to have everyone play to his ability."

"We have to keep playing hard," Boston team captain John Havlicek said. "If we do, we can take all summer to relax."

Havlicek, who helped the Celtics to championships in the 1960s before becoming the undisputed team leader, has lived up to the superstar role in the series. Although 34, he has played 231 of the 245 minutes. His play in the fifth game was typical: 47 minutes, 28 points, nine rebounds and all-around court general.

Indiana and Iowa dropped all eight Big Ten football games last season, but Indiana won two of its three nonleague games.

Beltone Gets Third Victory

Beltone picked up its third straight victory of the year in the Ladies Softball League, while Coca-Cola also remained unbeaten, getting its second win.

In the opening game, Coke rolled to a 41-0 win over The Daily Reflector. Coke got four runs in the first inning, including homers by C. Nichols and C. Manuel. They came back to score six in the second, as K. Stanley homered. The third saw 15 runs cross the plate with P. Everette homering. In the fourth, 13 more scored, then three crossed in the fifth.

Pitt County Hospital won its first game of the season with a 19-13 victory over Dixie Sales in the second contest. Pitt scored one in the first, but Dixie came back with two. Pitt got two more in the second, but Dixie again came back to score six, including a homer by B. Harrington. They added two more in the third. But in the fourth, Pitt pushed over 13 to take the lead for good. They added three more in the sixth to wrap it up, while Dixie got three more in the fourth.

In the final game, Beltone took a 21-3 win over Piggly-Wiggly. Beltone got four in the first with Piner homering. They added two in the third, two in the fourth and six in the fifth. They got six more in the sixth with Taylor homering and closed out with one in the seventh. All three Piggly-Wiggly runs came in the second.

Optimists Take Win

The Optimists won their second straight North State Little League game yesterday, downing the Jaycees, 7-1. The loss was the first in two starts for the Jaycees.

The Optimists pushed over two runs in the top of the first. Jim O'Brien singled and Jim Kernen got a hit. Both moved up on an error on the play, and another error let O'Brien score. Glen Moore then singled in Kernen.

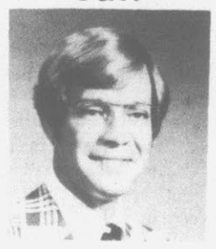

The Jaycees got their only run in the bottom of the second. Mike Pollard walked and stole both second and third. He scored when Crowell Pope reached on an error.

In the third, the Optimists added four more runs to make it 6-1. Moore led off with a home run. Patrick Wilson then walked and stole second. John Hendricks singled in him, and Sammy Hodges walked. Both then came around on errors.

The final Optimist run came over in the fourth. Kernen doubled and Moore singled. Hendricks then got a hit to score Kernen.

Evonne Upset By New Tennis

By KAROL STONGER
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Evonne Goolagong, star of the Pittsburgh Triangles, has trouble identifying with the concept of World Team Tennis.

She refers to championship competition as "real tennis," says it's still an individual sport and prefers the old hospital corridor hush to the hoot-and-howl game of the new WTT.

"Naturally, I'd rather play under conditions I'm used to," the 21-year-old Australian ace said Thursday. "But you can't do anything about it. You can't stand up and say 'Everyone keep quiet, I'm going to serve.'

"You just have to realize that your opponent has to put up with the same thing."

"I still think tennis is an individual sport," she said when asked about WTT. "You still have to concentrate on yourself. But at the same time, you feel part of a team when you're watching the others play.

"And if you make a mistake in 'real tennis,' you have only yourself to blame. But in team tennis, if you make a mistake, you're hurting your team. It's like doubles. If you let your partner down you feel terrible ... I do."

Despite the fact that she plays only one set at a time before resting and plays two sets a night at the most, Miss Goolagong says it won't hurt her endurance for the big tests such as the Australian, French and U.S. Opens, and Wimbledon.

"If anything, it'll help my concentration," she said. "In WTT you have to win every game, not just the set, so you have to start concentrating from the beginning. You can't let up."

Miss Goolagong already has won the Australian Open this season and plans to take time off from WTT to play in the other events that make up the Big Four of tennis. The only title that has eluded her is the U.S. Open. She won the French Open and Wimbledon in 1971.

But she must put them all together in one year for the Grand Slam and the $125,000 bonus announced at the luncheon Thursday. Her coach and guardian, Vic Edwards, thinks she can do it.

Edwards discovered Miss Goolagong when she was 10 years old and started coaching her. By the time she was 14, he decided she needed more concentrated training. With the blessing of her father, a sheep-shearer, she went to live with the Edwards family, and from then on, her tennis career really blossomed.

Aaron's New Job To Be Announced

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — An official announcement of Hank Aaron's post-retirement status with the Atlanta Braves probably will be made "this weekend or within the next 10 days," a team official says.

Braves board chairman Bill Bartholomay said Thursday the decision might be made "before the team leaves for the West Coast on their next road trip. trip.

"I want to meet with Hank on it first and talk about it, but we should have something to say at least within the next 10 days," Bartholomay said.

It has been speculated that Aaron will remain with the club as a hitting instructor for young players and in a public relations capacity.

Regarding that speculation, Bartholomay said, "You are in the right area. Of course Hank has some other things going for him, too."

The National League baseball star is in the first year of a five-year, $1 million contract with the Magnovox Corporation.

Aaron insists that 1974 will be his final season as a player, although he is among the National League home run leaders with seven while playing on a limited basis.

"I still like the guessing game between myself, the pitcher and catcher," he said. "I still like to play. But I'm so tired of all the travel, the living out of a suitcase. And, I've got some kids I want to watch grow up."

In the last game, St. Gabriel nipped Memorial, 10-8. Memorial got two in the second and two in the third before St. Gabriel came up with four in the fourth to tie it. Memorial went back out with three in the fifth with J. Bond homering. But St. Gabriel got five in the fifth and one in the sixth to wrap it up. Memorial added one more in the seventh.

No Monitoring Of Wage, Price Hikes

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, after a partisan squabble, has abandoned attempts to provide any government monitoring of wage and price increases.

Democrats, who started a week ago to try to keep some standby wage-price controls on the books, killed the entire legislation Thursday after charging the Republicans wanted only a sham monitoring agency.

The Senate vote came a day after Ford Motor Co. announced price increases averaging $163 for 1974 automobiles. That action was criticized immediately by John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council, who called it an unwarranted violation of Ford's commitment to the Council not to increase prices on 1974 models.

One council source had suggested Wednesday that Ford had blundered in its timing and that the announcement could affect the Senate vote.

Ford's decision was raised on the Senate floor Thursday by Louisiana Democrat J. Bennett Johnston. He said Ford's announcement illustrated the need for strong powers to enforce decontrol agreements, and that without new legislation the government would be powerless to do anything about such increases.

A motion by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, to table and thus kill the entire legislation was adopted 65 to 18 despite some indication the Nixon administration favored retention of monetary machinery.

President Nixon said Thursday he is ready to try responsible labor-management negotiations as a substitute for federal anti-inflation controls, but he added that controls might have to be reimposed if those efforts fail.

The free market cannot be relied upon to determine costs and prices "unless there is a sense of responsibility," Nixon commented as he received a report from the National Commission for Industrial Peace.

He added that labor-management performance during the recent inflationary period "has been very responsible" and that the number of strikes has been "perhaps lower than we had any right to expect."

The Democratic proposal to retain controls on a standby basis was soundly defeated when the Senate opened debate on the legislation.

However, it did adopt a Muskie plan to have the government monitor wage and price hikes with strong authority to get relevant information from businesses and unions.

The proposal also would have given the President power to enforce price commitments made by industries when they were decontrolled.

But, as the debate resumed Thursday, the Senate changed its mind and tentatively adopted instead an amendment of Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., which did not include subpoena authority to get information and would have allowed the monitoring agency only 28 professional employes.

Muskie declared the Republicans were offering "only a shadow agency which could not begin to do the monitoring job. There is no use for us to pass a sham."

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., said adoption of the Tower proposal would "deceive the American people that we are doing something about inflation."

Tower contended that the Democrats wanted to keep such an elaborate agency that it would induce industry to push for sky-high prices for fear controls would be reimposed.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., argued that the most effective thing Congress could do to dampen inflation was to clamp a tight ceiling on federal spending.

He won adoption of an amendment to fix a $295-billion lid for fiscal 1975, $9.4 billion less than President Nixon recommended in his budget.

However, this amendment was nullified when the entire legislation was killed.

A Review
'Dracula' Presentation Was Spellbinding Fun

There's no doubt the East Carolina Playhouse has in Dracula a very popular vehicle for its last presentation of the current season.

A packed house Thursday roared approval at the spectacular ending that revealed Count Dracula, howling in dismay, bursting forth from his coffin under a blazing blue light, properly bloody after being delivered the prescribed stake through the heart treatment.

It's of course all great fun—delightfully spooky and spellbinding even though 99 per cent of the audience probably knows all along what the outcome will be. After all, who hasn't read or seen at least one of several TV or film variations of this supernatural classic?

For me a large measure of the enjoyment in this updated stage version (by Hamilton Deane and John L. Balderston) rests securely in Don Biehn's directorial approach. Delivery of lines is measured, almost stilted, and there's a touch of soap opera woodenness that is managed beautifully. It's all just a thin line short of being a spoof.

The pace of action is a trifle slow in the first act, but builds up during the second act and by the third act the pace is right in step with the mounting action. Biehn's direction is given excellent assistance by an intricate (and also beautiful) set by Robert Williams. William Devins' lighting accentuates every change of mood.

Terry Pickard's portrayal of R. M. Renfield, the crouching tousled haired lunatic is a fine mixture of babbling nonsense and sudden outbursts of sanity. Pickard is incredibly nimble, climbing, falling, leaping, jumping as if it were the most natural human process imaginable. (He would certainly make a memorable "Chetta" if Tarzan someday becomes a stage play.)

Other members of the cast give solid performances—Judy Townsend as Lucy Steward, the intended bride of Count Dracula, is in turn a pallid, suffering maiden and a provocative women under the vampire's spell. Robert Beard, as Abraham Van Helsing, is quite successful whether thinking out loud or testing the power of his knowledge against the wily Dracula. Russell Chesson makes a physically imposing, sinister Count Dracula with a Transylvanian accent that is pure 19th century operetta.

Barbara Richardson is pert, pretty and effective as Miss Wells, the maid. Rodney Freeze is Johnathan Harker, Lucy's rather pompous fiance.

In the role of Dr. Steward, Lucy's troubled father, Martin Thompson is the character around whom the rest of the cast revolves. He keeps just the right balance going throughout. John Newsome as poor harassed Butterworth, keeper of the lunatic, is constantly bewildered in chasing his elusive quarry.

There's a lot of peripheral atmosphere given this production in Lee Hendricks' organ music, and in the weird off-stage singing by McCall Thompson and Janice Vertucci. The sound of barking dogs, of bats rushing through the air, and truly sonic rumbles of thunder all enhance the you-are-there mood in the Playhouse Dracula. And could it be the frigid coldness in McGinnis produced by the air condition is part of the staging? At any rate, be advised to wear shoes. If you don't, the weather around your feet can indeed become very British.

In this updated version of Dracula, there seems to be a few detectable influences of The Exorcist type—particularly Lucy's wantoness in spreading her legs and seductively rubbing them—that I can't seem to recall in the book. Of course Count Dracula now flies into London rather than taking a ship.

Basically, however, Dracula remains Dracula—which means it's all good, clean bloody fun, with bountiful does of shivers, suspense, laughs and believeable make-believe. For an evening of old fashioned enjoyment without the bother of social uplift, be sure to catch tonight's performance or the special midnight performance tomorrow night.

Fire Believed Due Lightning

NORWOOD, N.C. (AP)—A fire believed caused by lightning destroyed the finishing and shipping departments of the Young Manufacturing Co. furniture plant Thursday.

Drums of chemicals and lacquer exploded as the 125 employes on the shift got out safely. The plant employs about 250.

President Les Young said about 1,000 pieces of furniture were lost, many of them part of an order from Hyatt House hotel in Richmond, Va.

The plant at Norwood 10 miles south of Albemarle and 35 miles east of Charlotte is continuing in operation.

5 Sentenced In Slaying

WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP)—One youth has been sentenced to life and four others to long prison terms in the robbery-slaying of a storekeeper.

All were originally charged with armed robbery and first-degree murder in the gunshot slaying last Dec. 13. But they were allowed to plead guilty to lesser charges before a jury was chosen.

Superior Court Judge Robert Collier sentenced Burle Lynn Philyaw, 18, of Hudson, to life in the slaying of Marice Wheeling, 41, of Ferguson in Wilkes County, well-known in the area because of his sponsorship of sports teams. Philyaw pleaded guilty Thursday night to accessory beforethe fact of first-degree murder.

Police officers testified the robbers took a wallet with $812 from Wheeling.

Zeb Vance Keller, 18, of Rt. 1, Ferguson, was sentenced to 40-60 years on a plea of guilty to second-degree murder and armed robbery.

Douglas Glenn Hodges, 22, of Lenoir, got 30 years on a plea of guilty to second-degree murder and an additional 1-10 for common-law robbery.

James Richard Moore, 21, of Valdese, and Jimmy Ray Hamm, 25, of Lenoir, got 30 years apiece on a pleas of guilty to second-degree murder. Charges of armed robbery against them were not prosecuted.

Faces Trial If An Adult

HOUSTON (AP) — A hearing has been set for May 20 to determine if a teen-ager police said decapitated a younger boy should be tried as an adult, a judge has ruled.

The 15-year-old youth, whose name has not been released, was ordered held for a minimum of 10 days after a closed-door hearing before Juvenile Court Referee Geraldine Tennant.

The hearing is mandatory under the new Texas family code which also forbids police from releasing the name of the youth or any details about the alleged crime.

If classified as an adult by a juvenile court judge, the youth could be tried in the murders of Kenneth Anthony Elliott, 11, and Ronald Lynn Elliott, 12. Otherwise, he could only be adjudged to have participated in delinquent behavior and be confined until his 18th birthday.

The body of Kenneth was found Wednesday about a quarter-mile from his eastern Harris County home and less than 200 yards from where the body of his brother was found Nov. 20. Both bodies had been mutilated.

A MAJORITY

NEW YORK (AP) — Pollster Louis Harris says a nationwide survey indicates that for the first time a majority (51 per cent) of Americans believe violations of the law will be proven against President Nixon.

The Worry Clinic

Love Can Pass Test Of Time

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-629: Terry T., aged 34, has been divorced 3 times already.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "each time I fell for my wife at first sight.

"All 3 girls were freckled, blue-eyed and short.

"And I always felt I couldn't live without them.

"Yet after a year or so of marriage, we quarreled and fought until life became unbearable.

"Now I find myself head-over-heels in love with a 4th girl, who looks much like the other 3 whom I married and divorced.

"So how can I be sure this time that my marriage will be permanent?"

First Sight Love

Love at first sight explains millions of romances.

That's how I fell in love with Mrs. Crane.

It was at a Young People's Meeting in a church and I had never seen her before.

During the nomination of officers for the ensuing year, each nominee was to stand so the voters could see him or her.

When she stood up, my heart did a flipflop and I'm not joking!

But I played the field for 10 years to make sure my infatuation would stand the test of time.

For romances that start as love at first sight can be very dangerous.

Like Terry, a person can thus become victimized by a subconscious surge of exciting emotions that have been built up since childhood by some older person, maybe in his family.

For example Terry's mother was a society leader who spent little time at home.

As a toddler, Terry was reared by a governess who was fond of him and tucked him in bed at night with a goodnight kiss.

She was short, blue-eyed and freckled.

Terry ran to her when he bumped his head and she'd kiss away the pain, as his mother should have done.

In short, Terry loved this wonderful governess, even before he was of kindergarten age.

Subconsciously, therefore, his deep affection for the opposite sex was "conditioned" (habituated) to a short, feckled girl with blue eyes.

As a college senior, he met such a coed at a dance and says he fell in love with her at first sight.

Actually, she merely "triggered" the release of all the childhood devotion he had built up regarding his governess.

But Terry didn't realize that this coed hadn't "earned" his respect and affection.

Instead, she was an unwitting "thief" who now suddenly stole the pent-up affection that his governess had rightfully "earned."

Since Terry and the coed were not compatible on most of the 10 basic traits on which happy marriage depends, they feuded and divorced.

Same was true of the 2nd and then the 3rd short, freckled and blue-eyed girls he wedded.

So I explained to Terry exactly why he kept falling in love at first sight.

And via the Sceintific Marriage Foundation (a tax-exempt educational organization) we found Terry a girl who matched him on the 10 fundamental traits for happy marriage.

But she was also picked to be short, freckled and blue-eyed, so we could capitalize on his childhood fixation.

They've been happily married 3 years and have two babies whom they adore!

So send for the "SMF Marriage Questionaire," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Opening lead: Queen of ◇ South fell victim to an optical illusion, and went down in a slam that could have been made on a more thoughtful line of play.

South was slam-bound the moment North made a jump raise of his opening bid. Blackwood elicited the information that a king was missing, so declarer contented himself with contracting for a small slam.

West led the queen of diamonds, and declarer was well satisfied with dummy. He won the ace of diamonds and cashed the ace and king of trumps, and was mildly disappointed to learn he had a trump loser. Since he had to discard his two diamond losers, he started by playing three rounds of clubs, discarding a diamond from his hand. Unfortunately, West ruffed the third club and cashed a diamond, and that was down one.

Declarer was unlucky to find that clubs divided 6-2, but he had not managed the hand to best advantage. Since he needed two discards, he had to find the defender who held the queen of spades with at least three hearts. If not, that defender could ruff the third heart and still score a diamond trick. Therefore, declarer should have tackled his long side suit — hearts — before playing the shorter suit.

Correct technique after drawing two rounds of trumps is to play three rounds of hearts. If both defenders follow, declarer temporarily abandons hearts in favor of clubs, to take one discard, and then plays the thirteenth heart, sluffing his remaining diamond as West ruffs.

However, when East shows out on the third heart, marking West with four cards in the suit, declarer can cash his last heart and discard a diamond, for West must follow suit. Now declarer switches to clubs, and discards his last diamond on the third club. West can ruff this, but declarer remains with nothing but high trumps.

Rep. Campbell Is Renominated

WILSON—State Rep. A. Hartwell Campbell of Wilson was renominated to another two year term in Tuesday's election.

Formerly of Greenville, Campbell has served several terms in the state legislature.

Nominated along with Campbell were Larry P. Eagles, John Ed Davenport and Allen Barbee.

The Democrats face no opposition in the fall election and will represent the three county (Wilson, Nash and Edgecombe) in the Seventh House District in the 1975 General Assembly.

Big Season For Disaster Films

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The movie world is becoming a disaster area — literally — since producers have realized that millions can be mined from sagas of man vs. atoms, insects, earthquake, fire and other disasters.

"We've got to give the public something they can't get on television," argues Jennings Lang, executive of MCA-Universal and a leader in the disaster industry.

He is the one who induced Mario Puzo to write an original story for "Earthquake," in which a large part of Los Angeles is destroyed. The movie is now being filmed.

Another Universal project is "Hindenberg," in which Robert Wise will reproduce the destruction of the German dirigible. Because it is impractical to build a new one, Wise plans to photograph a 60-foot model of the ill-fated dirigible. George C. Scott will star in the film.

Charlton Heston is starring not only in "Earthquake," but also in Universal's "Airport 1975." It has a Boeing 747 which is disabled in a collision with another plane. Pilot Heston comes to the rescue by being lowered from a helicopter.

The same studio is offering "Jaws," which has started shooting on Martha's Vineyard, Mass. It is based on the Peter Benchley best seller about a white shark that devours swimmers.

The king of the disaster epics is Irwin Allen, the man who gave you "The Poiseidon Adventure," which started the whole trend. He is now burning the world's tallest building in "The Towering Inferno."

One wall of Allen's office at 20th Century-Fox is devoted to artists' depictions of his future projects. They include "Beyond the Poseidon Adventure," "The Day the World Ended," "The Golden Gate" and "The Swarm," the latter based on a new book about an insect invasion.

Insects are big in film planning this year.

Paramount will release "Phase IV," a science fiction movie about ants that threaten to take over the earth. It was made in Arizona by Saul Bass, long-time designer of opening titles for movies.

Veteran thrill maker William Castle is preparing "The Hephaestus Plague," which will depict an invasion of giant cockroaches.

Castle plans to guarantee an audience reaction. He is developing a device which will brush the legs of theater patrons and make them think the cockroaches are coming.

Universal's Lang is also developing a new system to supply added dimension to "Earthquake." The system will use sound speakers and smoke machines to simulate the effects of a temblor.

Columbia's thing is bats, millions of them. The company will soon release a film made by Metromedia producers, "Chosen Survivors," starring Jackie Cooper and Alex Cord.

They are among the survivors of an atomic holocaust who try to live in underground caves but are attacked by vampire bats.

There will be more. As long as the disaster films last they will prove a bonanza for stunt people, makeup artists and special effects men. Less so, perhaps, for audiences.

Begin Study Of A Dying River

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP)—Students and professors at Davidson College have begun a three-year study of how the dying Rocky River can be restored to health.

It now is polluted by industrial and municipal waste.

The study is being subsidized by national foundations.

The river flows through Iredell, Mecklenburg, Cabarrus, Stanly and Union counties. Then it flows into the Pee Dee River in Anson County, and turns toward South Carolina.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A strange Saturday, planetary-wise. Upsets and changes you aren't apt to like are in the making. But do not be worried by them for these new beginnings can hold the seeds to your future progress. They should be carefully examined to extract possible benefits.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) For greater success, get into activities to improve your career. Listen to changes others suggest, but use only the best. Help a friend.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have many new ideas today, but they need further study to get them working properly. New contacts can give you needed information.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find a better system for keeping promises you have made, business or personal. Go to a bigwig for the assistance needed. Even rules will be changed in your behalf.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Changing rule with associates can bring about a far better arrangement now for the future. Listen to partners. Take more time for personal things you like.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can do much of a worthwhile nature, so do not spend time only on recreation, since you can handle duties hard to attend to on weekdays.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may have to change your plans for amusement today since new arrangements will be much better. Avoid petty matters; concentrate on the worthwhile.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your home is the best place to operate now and any changes made, even as to furniture, can be very fine. Revising certain agreements can increase prosperity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Organize activities and surroundings. A restless associate needs encouragement, so give it. Take time for recreation tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into monetary matters, as well as recreational ones now, and make this a profitable and happy day, p.m. A financial expert can help you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Think over how you can improve your relationships with friends; gad about socially and be cheerful. Seek their advice. Stock up on groceries.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can get advice confidentially from right sources if you make appointments early. Accomplish much. Then p.m. can be romantically happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Contact some wise person who can give you pointers for greater success as well as pleasure in the future, and you will get ahead faster.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will want to have a very solid structure and security for his or her life, and will while young see to it that such is possible, so make sure you as parents set the example early. Make sure you give the affection your child needs, since the nature is apt to be somewhat cold because there is fear of getting hurt by others. An ideal chart for big business.

Robber Ended Up $20 Short

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—A would-be bank robber ended up $20 short Wednesday when a teller refused to give him any money.

Police said a young man with long hair entered a branch of Lynchburg Federal Savings & Loan Association and asked for change for a $20 bill.

Along with the money he also handed the teller, Mrs. Ruth O. Smith, a note saying he wanted all her $5, $10 and $20 bills and gave her a paper bag to put the money in.

"No," said Mrs. Smith.

Police said the man, who didn't produce a weapon or make any threats, panicked, grabbed his bag and note and ran off.

He forgot his $20 bill.

Genealogical Soc. To Meet

Hanoi Keeps Its Options

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Economic and military analysts here believe North Vietnam has put off any idea of a general military offensive in South Vietnam for perhaps 18 months in order to gear up for a full-scale economic development program at home.

They emphasize, however, that Hanoi is still keeping its military options open.

Said one U.S. source:

"It is fairly safe to say that during the next 18 months, Hanoi probably will not come full force with a military investment in the South."

U.S. military analysts generally agree with this assessment.

Despite intensified fighting along South Vietnam's western borders which has spilled into Cambodia during the past month, U.S. military analysts disagree with Saigon government officials, including President Nguyen Van Thieu, that Hanoi has launched a general offensive.

"I don't see it as an outbreak of a general offensive," says one analyst. "A number of spokesmen for the government of Vietnam have painted it that way. But I don't believe it.

"All of it has a plausible explanation. The fighting is being directed at local objectives. It does not hang together. There is no common thread such as the Tet offensive of 1968 and the Easter offensive of 1972. Not yet.

"The Communists are attempting to improve their position militarily so they will be in a better position to launch heavy strikes sometime in the future."

Fighting is still bloody after a cease-fire that has been in effect 15 months and casualties are heavy. The Saigon military command lists more than 90,000 men killed, wounded or missing and claims its forces have killed nearly 60,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

But U.S. and South Vietnamese sources acknowledge that some official battlefield reports in Saigon command communiques telling of North Vietnamese tanks and assaults by regimental size units are exaggerated and in some cases unfounded.

They claim the purpose may be to picture South Vietnam as a country under major aggression in efforts to convince a reluctant U.S. Congress to pour more aid dollars in both for economic and military purposes.

By the same token U.S. officials, including Ambassador Graham A. Martin say Hanoi is waging a major propaganda effort aimed at convincing Congress it should reduce aid to Saigon.

One U.S. analyst believes that if North Vietnam moved in full force military now "it would move sentiments in the United States for greater amounts of money."

On May 6, the U.S. Senate voted a temporary suspension of U.S. military aid shipments to South Vietnam.

American sources say both the Soviet Union and China have significantly cut their military aid to North Vietnam but they claim that economic aid is at an all-time high. Other countries, such as East Germany, are contributing economically to Hanoi, these sources say.

One of the most significant developments in recent months, according to observers of North Vietnam events, was a major reshuffle of the Hanoi government cabinet in which three new vice premiers were named and at least three ministers were fired.

"There is no question that North Vietnam's economy is hurting," says one U.S. source. "The cabinet reshuffle indicates they are finally trying to take serious steps to reverse the situation. During the war, there was no distribution system, no economy, no centralized planning effort.

"They just tried to get the goods to people who needed it. There was little control in the administrative supply system."

The new cabinet lineup groups blocs of ministries under vice premiers with emphasis on planning, finance, trade, industry, aimed at better coordination and at replacing party functionaries with competent people who know about the jobs they are charged with.

One of the significant changes, sources say, is the appointment of a vice premier assigned "to get rid of graft, corruption, bribery, extortion and other economic ills."

Sources say that North Vietnam must be economically strong to sustain an offensive, the Saigon government likewise to withstand one.

They believe that sometime next year Hanoi will review the situation before making a decision whether to launch all out war, or move ahead with a full-scale five-year economic plan for reconstruction and development scheduled to begin in 1976. One source says:

"Hanoi will have to consider these factors. What level of support will they receive? What are their chances of success? What will be the impact on their economy? What will be the reaction from the United States?"

Military analysts see the continued fighting as an attempt by North Vietnam to keep pressure on Saigon so that economically and politically the South will be strained, its morale cracked and the time ripe for a major offensive.

"They hope," says one analyst, "to crack the economy and that the economic strain will be manifested in political action against the Saigon government."

New Officers Are Elected By Legion Post

Marvin Tyson of Post 372 of the American Legion in Farmville was elected head of the post for the fiscal year 1975, beginning in June.

Other officers elected in the regular monthly meeting of the post were Anninias C. Smith, commander; Clover Phillips, first vice commander; Robert Louis Williams, second vice commander; N. B. Tyson, adjutant and finance officer, and George Mercer, chaplain.

Newly elected as service officer was Eddie McKenzie and Karl Pace Henderson, was elected sergeant-at-arms. Rodger A. Ingram was appointed historian.

N. B. Tyson was presented a certificate from the N. C. American Legion for securing the highest number of members in the past year.

Three Entries In August Race

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Three candidates already have entered the Aug. 6 primary race in Idaho's 2nd Congressional District and the only differencein their last names is an "o" and "e."

A former state legislator and former national vice commander of the American Legion, Max Hanson, announced his candidacy Tuesday for the Democratic nomination.

Already in the race are two Republicans—Incumbent Rep. Orval Hansen of Idaho Falls and Former Congressman George Hansen of Pocatello.

Straight Talk About The High Cost Of Electric Energy

Questions Most Frequently Asked

Q... Why is the cost of electric energy so high?

A. Because the cost of coal and oil used to produce electricity has gone up 200 to 300 percent in the past several months. The increase in the cost of these fuels, above normal levels, is added to electric bills as a "Fossil Fuel Adjustment Charge." It is shown on your utility bill as Fuel.

Q... If coal and oil are so high, why can't we get electricity from Nuclear Power plants?

A. Greenville Utilities supplier of electricity is Virginia Electric Power Company. They generate about 23 percent of their power from nuclear plants and have more under construction. But today most of their generation is from coal and oil.

Q... Why doesn't Greenville Utilities generate its own electric power?

A. No city our size could possibly generate electricity at a cost less than we can purchase it. When we are permitted to join other cities in North Carolina and build large generation and transmission systems we will be able to produce electricity less expensively than we can buy it (EPIC Plan).

Q... Just what is a fossil fuel charge and why is it added to our regular bill?

A. Power companies across the nation are adding fossil fuel charges to their regular rates to offset the increased cost of fossil fuels, oil and coal, that are above the costs included in their regular rate schedules. These extra fuel cost charges are being passed to wholesale and retail customers. Greenville Utilities charges to its customers the same rate it must pay VEPCO. All of the fossil fuel adjustment charge (Fuel) paid to Greenville Utilities goes straight to VEPCO. Power companies say they cannot absorb this increased cost and still attract capital money needed to expand plant facilities necessary to accommodate customer load growth.

Q... Who can do something about this fossil fuel charge?

A. The Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C., approves the rates which Greenville Utilities must pay for electric power, including the fossil fuel charge.

Q... What is Greenville Utilities doing to fight the high cost of electricity?

A. We have joined 73 other consumer owned "electric cities" in North Carolina to employ qualified attorneys, engineers, rate experts, and economists to appear before the Federal Power Commission and fight every rate increase that is unfair to us and to our customers.

Q... Isn't Greenville Utilities making excessive profits from these high electric bills?

A. No. The fossil fuel charged to our customers is paid directly to VEPCO, in the same amount we receive it. Higher bills come from higher cost, and do not generate higher profits. In fact, the fuel adjustment charge, when applied to normal distribution system losses, will increase Greenville Utilities operating expenses more than $150,000 per year.

Q... Is it true CP&L charges less for electricity than VEPCO?

A. CP&L's retail rates are being increased, and they also include a fuel adjustment charge. Their current retail rates are about equal to VEPCO's. CP&L's wholesale rate during 1974 will be less than VEPCO's.

Q... If Greenville can buy power cheaper from CP&L than VEPCO, why not?

A. It is easier said than done. There are laws concerning assignment of service areas. Greenville Utilities is making every reasonable effort to secure alternate sources of electric power.

Q... Are Greenville rates higher than VEPCO's retail rates?

A. No. They are the same.

Q... Will the cost of electricity this summer be even higher than present costs?

A. Yes. The summer rate scedule will go into effect July 1st. The cost this summer will probably be about 25 percent higher than last summer, depending on VEPCO's Fossil Fuel Adjustment Charge.

Q... Why are summer rates higher than winter rates?

A. First, because Greenville Utilities must pay more for electricity in the summer than winter. Second, because of the cost of extra large electric facilities needed to provide the high summer demand for electricity. Customers creating the high summer demand, and the need for greater facilities, pay accordingly.

Q... Why can't summer rates be set so the small consumer, who conserves on the use of electricity, pays less than the large user?

A. The rate for the first 600 kilowatthours (small user) are the same winter and summer. Over 600 KWH the summer rates are higher.

Q... If we are planning to add air conditioning to our home this summer, what should we do?

A. First, check with your air conditioning contractor or appliance dealer and find out how much it will cost to cool your home. They can estimate usage based on average summer temperatures and costs based on our summer rates. Second, buy the most efficient unit. Third, call our Electric Department and let them know the size unit you plan to install, and when. Fourth, pick up our booklet on "ways to save" on electric energy, which contains many practical hints on operating an air conditioning unit efficiently.

Q... How can a family afford air conditioning with costs so high?

A. Many will not be able to. With complete insulation, and setting thermostats high, some can get by. Others will have to use window fans. It will be very costly for all users.

Q... If the use of electricity is cut back sharply, will rates go up?

A. Rate increases because of limited use is not anticipated by Greenville Utilities.

Q... Why can't we have flat rates so everyone pays the same cost per kilowatthour?

A. Electric rates are designed to produce revenues in accordance with the cost to serve particular classes of users. Flat rates would not fairly distribute the actual cost of providing electric power to all consumers.
