Israeli Retaliate For Massacre

Raid Camps, Bases In Lebanon

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

MAALOT, Israel (AP) — Israeli jets bombed, rocketed and strafed seven refugee camps and guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon today, less than 24 hours after the Maalot schoolhouse massacre, the Lebanese Defense Ministry said.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The latest Middle East violence raised fears that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's efforts to achieve a disengagement of Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights front would be set back considerably.

The Lebanese said a total of 36 Israeli jets took part in the raids and "were forced to flee by our antiaircraft fire." The Israeli command reported that its jets hit guerrilla positions near Sidon and Beirut, but that it was "purely a military operation" and refugee camps were not deliberately hit.

Northern Israel was on the alert after security forces discovered another band of Arab guerrillas slipped across the Lebanese border during the night, Radio Israel said. All schools were closed to prevent any repetition of the massacre at Maalot on Wednesday, in which 20 Israeli schoolchildren were killed.

Officials said the guerrillas cut the barbed-wire border fence near Manora, a small farm settlement on the western edge of the Israeli panhandle that juts up between Lebanon and Syria.

In Beirut, the leader of the guerrilla group that claimed responsibility for the Maalot massacre vowed to struggle against Kissinger's peace mission "until the end."

Nayef Hawatmeh, head of the Popular Democratic Front, told a news conference that Kissinger was "serving mainly Israel and American interests in the Middle East. To put it bluntly, we will spare no effort to foil the Kissinger mission."

Kissinger flew to Syria from Israel to continue his efforts at achieving a disengagement pact on the embattled Golan Heights front, but there were fears the latest escalation of violence in the Middle East would severely hinder his mission.

In Maalot, helicopters lifted the last assault troops from the stricken hilltop town. Weeping villagers scrubbed blood from the schoolhouse floor. A 15-year-old schoolboy named Yosef pounded his head with his fist and cried: "My friends were killed."

Guilty Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst pleaded guilty today to a misdemeanor charge that he refused to answer questions about the ITT case when he appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The charge, brought by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, carries a possible fine of $100 to $1,000 and a possible jail term of one to 12 months.

Jaworski charged that Kleindienst "did refuse and fail to answer accurately" questions on the ITT case during 1972 confirmation hearings on his nomination as attorney general. The hearings ran from March 2 to April 27, 1972.

Waste Pick-Up Is Shelved By Board

By CARL L. TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

As it stands now, a franchise for solid waste pick-up throughout the county will not be granted by the county commissioners.

This reversal in action came after last night's open hearing on the proposed franchise at the Pitt County Court House.

The meeting, which began a little before 7:30 p.m., ended about 10 minutes after it began, when Bob Martin, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners asked "Do you want to continue with what you have." A loud "Yes" came from the crowd and the meeting was adjourned. Approximately 75 persons attended the open hearing.

This action was criticized by members of the county planning board in that the new system was not explained to the people present.

Howard Hurlocker, county planner, remarked he had wasted his time getting nervous over giving a speech he hadn't even had time to get out of his pocket.

Other planning board members from rural areas in the county complained that a small per cent of the population dictated the policy for the entire county last night, as there was not a good representation of other areas of the county present.

Chairman Martin stated this morning "We will abide by what the majority want to do."

Referring to last night's hearing, he added, "There was not a single objection, everybody in the courtroom wanted to employ their own contract pick-up man, there was not a single one for a franchise system."

Martin further stated, "There is no legal responsibility on us (the county commissioners) to provide garbage collection service. We were trying to do it whereby they would be assured of service."

The main objection by those present and complaints received by members of the county commissioners has been that residents don't want to have to bag their solid waste and carry it to the front of their lots in order to have it picked up. This objection has come mainly from residents in high population areas, such as Brook Valley, Cherry Court and others, according to the planning board.

This morning Hurlocker stated, "The people in the subdivisions thought the county was providing minimum pickup service, they were going to have to bring waste to the front of their homes."

"Carolina Waste Systems had already agreed that in cluster developments they would go behind the house, twice weekly for a fee of $5 per month. This included the fee to go into the land fill," he added.

"The haulers will pass on their cost of entering the landfill to their present customer," putting the $5 fee closer to what present independent haulers will probably be charging in the future, according to Hurlocker.

Hurlocker stated he felt those attending last night from the subdivisions were "concerned with themselves and not with the other 70 per cent of the county" not present.

Bids for the franchise for waste pick-up will not be rejected until June 3, states Hurlocker. Although the present trend is to reject a county wide franchise, Hurlocker feels if other residents of the county wish to express their opinion on the new system, they should do so before it is too late to accept the present low bid.

Evidence Leak Stirs Request Open Hearings

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House lawyer James D. St. Clair said today he would ask the House Judiciary Committee to open its impeachment evidence sessions to the public as a result of the leak of the transcript of a presidential tape.

"I'm going to ask that these hearings all be made public," said St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, as he entered the hearing room.

During a closed session Wednesday committee members had listened to the tape of a Sept. 15, 1972, conversation the President had with H. R. Haldeman and John W. Dean III.

The White House had released on April 30 an edited transcript of that conversation. Published reports appearing today showed that the White House version left out discussion of possible administration retaliation against the Washington Post for its reporting of Watergate.

St. Clair said, "the transcript we released related to Watergate. We left out the irrelevant material."

The White House lawyer called the leak of the committee's transcript of the Sept. 15 tape a breach of its rules of confidentiality.

Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., had said on Wednesday that the panel still had to consider additional grand jury material which it was obligated to keep secret.

St. Clair said he would ask the committee to make public everything it has heard so far including the grand jury testimony.

He also said he was considering making all the material public whether or not the committee agreed to open its hearings.

Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, said he would support St. Clair's proposal except for the grand jury material which he said he did not believe the committee could release.

In a related development, President Nixon said in an interview with columnist James J. Kilpatrick, published in today's Washington Star-News, that he has given long thought to the possibility of resignation but has decided he will not quit the presidency "under any circumstances."

Tobacco Rule Is Adopted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz announced today the formal adoption of a new rule requiring flue-cured tobacco growers to designate auction warehouses in advance of selling their 1974 crops.

The rule, proposed April 10, says a flue-cured grower can designate warehouses for sale of his crop within a 100-mile radius of the county seat in the county where his farm is located. Originally, an 80-mile radius was proposed.

"If there are less than eight auction markets within this radius, any warehouse in any of the eight markets nearest to the county seat may be designated," the announcement said.

The warehouse designation rule must be obeyed in order for growers to qualify for federal price supports and inspection services for the flue-cured crop.

"A grower can obtain price support only at the warehouse he has designated and only on the quantity of tobacco he has designated for sale at that warehouse," officials said. "Provisions have been made for growers to change their designations during the marketing season."

Although the proposed new rule had not been formally approved by Butz, USDA tobacco officials had said it had been a "foregone conclusion" that it would be put into effect.

Consequently, a spokesman said, farmers in the flue-cured area of the Southeast have been signing up for warehouse designations recently. The deadline for designations is June 14.

In the past, flue-cured growers could get inspection and price supports services at any auction warehouse. But facilities and services have not been able to keep pace with demands in recent years, requiring auction markets to be opened on a staggered basis.

Chemical Spill Eating Asphalt

MARION, N.C. (AP)—The Highway Patrol sealed off an area north of here today after a truck overturned and spilled a chemical which officers said was "eating up the asphalt."

A Highway Patrol spokesman said the truck, which belonged to Forshaw Chemicals of Charlotte, overturned on N.C. 226 near the McDowell-Mitchell county line.

Officers said there was no danger to local residents, but that traffic was rerouted because of damage to the road.

The patrol identified the chemical as "Wood SR-21," which a Forshaw spokesman said was a wood preservative.

The driver, who was not identified, was slightly injured, officers said.

Retrials Ordered

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Supreme Court has ordered new trials for two of North Carolina's Death Row inmates.

In unanimous opinions delivered Wednesday, the court found procedural errors in the trials of Christopher Spicer of Wilmington and James E. Britt of Lumberton.

The decisions did not change the substance of North Carolina law requiring the death sentence for capital crimes.

In the Spicer case, the court ruled that trial Judge Walter Cohoon had erred in not allowing the defense to question prosecution witness Charles Pennington about his sources of income.

Pennington testified that he had shared a cell with Spicer and that during their incarceration, Spicer had confessed the murder of Donnie P. Christian, a Wilmington poultry dealer.

Spicer's attorney wanted to know whether Pennington, who was unemployed at the time, was receiving money from the police in return for his testimony.

Name Regional Emergency Med Service Group

WILLIAMSTON—Eighteen persons, including seven Pitt County residents, were selected to serve as a regional Emergency Medical Services committee under the Mid-East Commission's Comprehensive Health Planning agency here last night.

The regional EMS committee will act as an expert advisory group on emergency medical services matters under CHP, and has as its goal the upgrading and expansion of emergency medical services available to residents of the five-county region (Pitt, Beaufort, Martin, Bertie and Hertford).

The EMS group will involve itself with planning and coordinating programs to improve training and equipment for rescue squads and ambulance services; provide advanced and specialized training for hospital emergency room doctors and nurses; improve staffing of emergency rooms and upgrade communications between rescue and ambulance vehicles and hospital emergency facilities in the region.

As a first step toward improved radio communications, the EMS committees last night gave its approval to an application from Pitt County for a $16,600 grant to fund the purchase of new radio communications equipment that would link the hospital and rescue vehicles used by the seven rescue squads in the county, and provide a paging system for central dispatch of rescue vehicles just as the various fire departments in the county are at the present time.

The committee last night also approved an application from Martin County for a $15,000 grant to complete a communications system for that county.

Selected as members of the EMS committee last night from Pitt, were: Ed Skinner of Ayden, chairman of the Pitt County Rescue Squad Association; Norma Faye Lewis, R.N. and Sylvia Waters, R.N., both of Pitt Memorial Hospital's emergency room staff; Ray Edwards of the Grifton Rescue Squad and Stuart Savage of the Greenville Rescue Squad. William C. Byrd, associate dean of the Office of Community Health Services at East Carolina University and Roy Selby of Greenville, CHP agency planner, are also members of the EMS committee representing the entire five-county region.

Other members selected last night include: Martin County Paul Barber of Jamesville, Richard Holloman of Williamston and Mike Roberson of Robersonville; Beaufort County, Bud Williams of Belhaven and Ms. Lee Steele, R.N. of Washington; Bertie County, Bill Powell and Phillip N. Waters both of Windsor; and Hertford County, Wayne Cooke, Steve Hoggard and John Blanton, all of Ahoskie.

Col. Dave Spivey, area Civil Preparedness director of Washington was also named to the committee as a regional representative.

Savage was named chairman of the committee, while Hoggard, who served as interim chairman during the forming stages of the EMS group, was elected vice-chairman. Selby was named secretary of the committee.

The next meeting of the regional EMS committee was set for June 19 in Williamston.

In addition to the regular members of the committee, a number of other individuals were selected to serve on an ad hoc committee and act as advisors to the regular committee. Included among the ad hoc committee members from Pitt are: Dr. Ira M. Hardy, Dr. Robert Timmons, Pitt County Fire Marshall Bobby Joyner, John Watson, director of the ambulance service at Pitt Memorial Hospital, William W. Mitchell of the Grifton Rescue Squad and Ashley Dail of the Winterville Rescue Squad.

REFLECTOR HOTLINE

Hotline is a public service provided by The Daily Reflector to solve problems and get things done for you. Hotline would like to be able to address itself to all inquiries, but because of the number received, will answer and publish only those considered most pertinent to our readers. Questions or sound-offs may be phoned in to the Hotline number, 752-1336 or mailed to The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

The Hotline tape is transcribed once each 24-hour recording period. For this reason persons phoning in items accepted for use may not be contacted until the day following their call. Names must be given, but only initials will be used.

TAKE AN OLDER PERSON TO LUNCH

The new Older Adult Lunch Get-Together being held at Moyewood Center here is working out wonderfully well, but many of the participants have transportation problems. Anyone willing to bring some people about noon and give them a ride home about 2 p.m. would be doing a good deed for some of our older citizens. Especially desirable would be persons 60 or older who could drive some other people to the lunch get-together and then participate themselves. There is no income limit, though those who feel they can should pay as much as they can for their meals, and those who feel they cannot are under no obligation. C.A.W.

Hotline is departing from its regular procedure of working out the solution to a given problem and is merely printing the request. Persons or organizations willing to help out in this program which gives older people a square meal and a place to go for fun and fellowship each day are asked to call Mrs. Charlie Ann Whaley at 756-7710. We understand that donations of the price of any number of meals, and other financial boosts to the new venture for Pitt County, sponsored by the Mid-East Commission, are needed, also.

AUBERRY HUNTING

I am trying to trace my family tree and am seeking information on an Auberry family which lived in Pitt County in the 19th century. Could you or any of your readers help put me into contact with some of the older descendents of this family? Legal records sometimes used spellings like Aubury, Aubrey, or Oberry for this family. D.R.H.

None of the four names you mentioned are common in Pitt County now, though there are some families by the name of Berry here. Local historian Ralph Hardee Rives suggested you check a copy of Index of Abstracts of Deeds of Record of Pitt County, North Carolina compiled by Judith Dupree Ellison, who lives in Florida. The four volumes she has published so far cover from 1761 to 1832. They are available at Sheppard Memorial Library here in Greenville.

Hopefully, any Hotline reader having information will call us and we will put him in touch with you.

SIDEWALKS WANTED

It appears this column could generate some public interest in sidewalks in town generally and especially near the junior high school. On school mornings the children walking to school are sometimes out in the street because they don't have any where to walk.—H. D. L.

City Manager Bill Carstarphen told Hotline that the city has a policy of either paying for all sidewalk construction leading to a school or sharing the cost with local residents. In this case, local residents should petition the city, by a letter to the city manager or the mayor, asking that sidewalks be installed. For other residents wishing a sidewalk built in front of their homes, they should petition the city council. Policy for these matters is that the city will provide the labor if the resident will incur the cost of materials used in the sidewalk construction.

Farmville Announces New Industry Is Acquired

FARMVILLE—The Farmville Economic Council announced yesterday that the Sterling Radiator Company of Westfield, Mass. will soon locate here.

The industry is acquiring the site vacated by International Paper Company last September, and will begin the manufacture of commercial and industrial air conditioning and heating units and allied equipment, hopefully by early October, Economic Council President Jack Lewis said.

Local Economic Council Director Tom G. Thompson served as a go-between for the present owners, International Paper, and President John Reed of the Sterling Company. He was aided by Harold Love of the State Department of Commerce and Industry, Lewis said.

Thompson said that Reed has indicated that four or five men and their families will be here by the end of June to begin preparation for operation. Initial employment will be about 50, but the number should double by the end of this year, Reed said.

Sterling now has plants in Wrens, Ga.; Rockford, Ill.; Smithfield, R.I.; and Hagerstown, Md.

"We welcome Sterling Radiator Company to Farmville and Pitt County," Lewis said, "and we will lend them every assistance so that we may prosper together. This is a company which can grow with our economy, giving us a solid wage scale, without unbalancing our present economy."

Mrs. Baker Installed As Chapter President Tuesday

Mrs. Edna Earle Baker, retired director of instruction, Pitt County Schools, was installed as president of Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, when the chapter met Tuesday at the First Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Mrs. Evelyn B. Moye, outgoing president, was the recipient of a special honor when Dr. Sallie Pence presented a check in the amount of $100 to be used in designated projects during the coming year in honor of Mrs. Moye.

Mrs. Moye and Dr. Pence were colleagues in the East Carolina University mathematics department until Dr. Pence's recent retirement.

Other officers installed during the ceremony directed by Mrs. Elizabeth L. Mims are: Mrs. Thadys J. Dewar, second term as first vice president; Mrs. Betty Levey, replacing Mrs. Edna Earle Baker as second vice president; Mrs. Rosalind P. Britt, replacing Mrs. Jessie B. Little as recording secretary; Miss Elizabeth Edwards, replacing Miss Carolyn Fulghum as corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Bell Jones, second term as treasurer.

Miss Patricia L. Fleming of Greenville and Miss Anna Styron of Harker's Island, both seniors at ECU, were awarded grants-in-aid by the chapter. The awards were presented by Mrs. Mildred H. Derrick, chairman of Professional Affairs.

In introducing the recipients, Mrs. Derrick, said that they were selected from a field of five highly qualified students and final selection was determined by scholarship and participation in campus activities. Both young women are members of Phi Kappa Phi.

Miss Fleming will begin work next year on a graduate degree in speech, language, and auditory pathology. Miss Styron plans to work in the immediate future but expects to attend graduate school later.

A memorial tribute to Miss Mavis Mitchell, written by Mrs. Gale D. Sanderson, was read by Mrs. Mims, chairman of ceremonies. A white rose was placed among the arrangement of red roses at the president's table in memory of Miss Mitchell, a retired music teacher and member of Delta Kappa Gamma, who died recently.

Mrs. Antoinette Jenkins, member of Beta Alpha Chapter, gave a report on the state Delta Kappa Gamma convention held in Asheville in April. She said that DKG now has 2,466 chapters with 129,000 members.

During the social hour, the group was entertained by Miss Debra Stocks, soprano, and Miss Kathy Rountree, pianist. Miss Stocks sang a group of songs which she characterized as "Oldie Goldies" accompanied by Miss Rountree. Both women are students in the ECU School of Music.

Prior to the program, which was under the direction of Mrs. Thadys J. Dewar, dinner was served to the chapter members by a committee of women from First Pentecostal Holiness Church. Arrangements for the dinner were made by Mrs. Margaret L. Speight, who was assisted by the hostess committee.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

The other night my husband came home and said, "I hear voices. Who's talking?"

"It's Susan's doll. Someone pulled the string in her back and it got stuck."

"Oh," he sighed. "Did you get hold of Rob to tell him we'd be in his office at three tomorrow?"

"No," I said, "I'll get him now." I went to the phone and dialed. "Hello, Rob? This is Erma. We'll be in your office tomorrow around three. We'll bring the papers you requested and it should take no longer than half an hour. Give my best to Marj and the kids."

"What did Rob have to say?" asked my husband.

"Nothing," I said. "He wasn't there. He just beeped and recorded the message."

"Are the kids in the bedroom?"

"No, why do you ask?"

"I heard them."

"You heard a talking book. Listen, I'm tired and I'm going to bring dinner in tonight."

A few minutes later I yelled into a plastic clown's mouth, "Seven burgers, five fries, five malts and two pies."

The clown repeated my order and said, "Thank you" without so much as moving his lips.

I stopped off at the bank, inserted a charge card in a machine which spit out $20 and said, "Have a good day." "You too," I smiled.

During dinner we heard the alarm go off and at the same time a voice said, "Hi, would you like to spend the next hour and a half listening to music of the past?"

"Who's in the bedroom?" asked my husband.

"No one. You forgot to turn the alarm off and the radio comes on automatically, remember?"

After dinner as my husband was reading the paper he shouted, "Can you believe this? Some guy wants to put recordings in tombstones with voices of the deceased!"

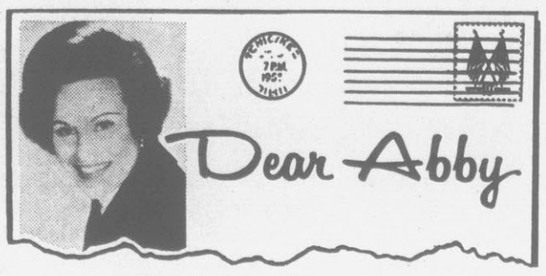

"You're kidding!" I squealed. "Do you mean to say that you could walk through a cemetery and actually hear voices from something as inanimate as a tombstone? Why it could set alcoholism back 50 years!"

"Voices from nowhere. Some people are crazy," he said.

Yeah, but it gets harder every day to prove it.

Generalizing About Character Dangerous

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have this theory, and I would like your opinion. If you want to know a person's true character, find out how he feels about animals.

People who like animals and make a big fuss over them have a very kind and affectionate nature and are likely to make good mates and parents.

But a person who dislikes animals [especially dogs and cats] and either ignores or mistreats them, is sure to be unkind, inconsiderate and unaffectionate and will probably make a very poor mate or parent.

What do you think?

ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Generalizations are dangerous. There are people who relate much better to animals than they do to humans, so they naturally make a big fuss over animals—but it doesn't necessarily follow that they will make better mates or parents. We've all known animal lovers who lavish an excessive amount of affection on pets, but who are cruel to people. The best index to a person's character is [a] how he treats people who can't do him any good, and [b] how he treats people who can't fight back.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years and have the reputation of being a very good cook.

Whenever we have company and someone compliments me on my cooking, my husband says: "She's great in the kitchen, but she's not so hot in the bedroom." It always gets a laugh. My husband thinks he is being funny. I don't.

How should I respond next time he says this?

GREAT IN THE KITCHEN

DEAR GREAT: Ask your husband if he'd be happier if you slept in the kitchen and cooked in the bedroom.

DEAR ABBY: I will have to go back a long way to fill you in on what kind of person I am, and my wife as well.

Fifty years ago I married a preacher's daughter. I was the town "bad boy." I was late to my own wedding as I was rolling dice in the back room behind the barber shop and forgot the time. The wedding got a late start, and we missed the train for our honeymoon.

We raised four good kids, though. The boys both got through college and are doing well, and the girls married fine men. We have ten nice grandchildren. I'm retired now, so I'm spending more time playing cards with the boys at the club. The problem my wife is threatening to divorce me over is my not getting home on time. I get tied up talking to somebody, or shooting pool, or playing cards, and I don't know where the time goes. I get home late, and the wife is ready to skin me.

She never had to work outside the house a day in her life, and we've always had a joint checking account. I never looked at another woman, and I drink like a gentleman. But she says if I am late once more it's the end of our marriage. Is this fair?

THE LATE JOHN S. McB.

DEAR LATE: My guess is that she doesn't mean it. But on the chance that I'm wrong, shape up and keep your eye on the clock, Grandpa.

Curdling Story Of Mouldy Milk

LUTON, England (WNS)—Mrs. John Newins, 35, has threatened to sue the local police department for delivering 43 pints of "mouldy milk" to her. Detectives seized the cartons of long-life milk from her home last May because they thought her husband had stolen them from Luton Airport. John admitted stealing 300 tea bags, 200 bars of soap and 35 gallons of fruit juice, but his wife proved she had spent $8.20 for the milk. And why did she want 43 pints? "We have six thirsty children and I had promised to take them camping," Mrs. Newins explained. "How can I keep my promise with mouldy milk?"

Ruled Guilty Of Clubbing

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — A U.S. Marine was convicted in federal court Wednesday of clubbing to death a Massachusetts woman last March.

David Ray Dyches, of Denmark, S.C., was found guilty of murdering Mrs. Terry Tinkman, 25, a waitress from Mattapoisett, Mass. Dyches had waived jury trial and the verdict was passed by U.S. District Judge Almetic Christian.

Mrs. Tinkman died March 15 of three blows to the head with a heavy lamp base. Her companion, Frank Joseph Indelicato, 23, of Duxbury, Mass., was beaten in the same incident.

Witnesses said that Dyches met Indelicato and Mrs. Tinkman while on leave in St. Thomas, one of the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Two other Marines testified that Dyches spent an afternoon with the couple and made an unsuccessful pass at Mrs. Tinkman.

The witnesses said the woman slashed Dyches on the arm with a knife. He returned later and ambushed the couple in their rented room.

Judge Christian ordered Dyches to undergo a psychiatric evaluation and postponed sentencing until after the results were known.

The Madness Underlines Need

The madness of the Middle East has now extended to Arab terrorists holding children hostages; worse the school building in which they were held was stormed by Israeli troops with casualties all around.

It is so senseless that civilians must be involved in the horrors of war; yet it is happening frequently in the Middle Eastern conflict.

Israel has a sense of every citizen being on the firing line and there has been little question that civilians must be sacrificed when terrorist demands are made for hostages.

Usually such action by Arab terrorists has called for retaliatory raids by Israel guerrillas in Arab territories.

We see once again the urgency for a permanent settlement of the Middle Eastern problems. We can only hope that the Kissinger missions are successful in bringing about some sort of solution in this trouble-ridden area.

Not only must senseless killing end, but every incident such as this latest one increases the possibility of another full scale war with its profound effects on the entire world.

This Time, Agnew Had Quiet Visit To Greece

Things were far different for Spiro T. Agnew on a visit to Greece this week.

He had visited the land of his forefathers as vice president of the United States previously and received a great welcome.

This time he returned as a private citizen, resigned as vice president and discredited in the United States. News reports said he returned quietly. It was a big change.

A Storehouse Of N.C. Data

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—June remains secure as the marrying month for Tar Heels, even though the numbers of people getting married continues to go down each year.

Divorces, however, continue to climb across the state, and the hot summer season is the time when the splits occur. In fact, December, with its Christmas spirit, is a time when the divorce rate takes a nosedive.

These and a host of other conclusions—some trivial, some significant—can be gleaned from tne annual reports of vital statistics issued by the N.C. Department of Human Resources, Division of Health Services.

Immediately apparent from a study of the provisional report for 1973—final figures will be ready in a few weeks—is a continued drop in the state's birth rate.

Births Decline

The rate for 1973 was 16.3 births per 1,000 population, compared to 17.2 in 1972; 18.6 in 1971; and 19.5 in 1970.

There were 85,775 births reported in 1973, compared to 89,284 in 1972. The sharp drop in births is producing record low rates per 1,000 population—and this at a time when the population overall is increasing at a rate of about 11.5 per cent.

But while births are down, deaths are on the increase. In 1973, there were 47,870 deaths in the state, compared to 47,325 the previous year.

Heart disease is the leading killer, and coupled with other cardiovascular-renal troubles is far and away the biggest cause of death. Cancer follows second, followed by motor vehicle accident victims, other accidents, then flu or pneumonia, and other respiratory ailments.

As for safe places to live in North Carolina, a scan of accident reports shows that in the last three months of 1973 Ashe, Chowan, Clay, and Jackson counties had no accidental deaths of any kind.

The bleak days of winter, incidentally, are the peak times for death, with the rate climbing sharply in December, to a high point in January.

The sociological shock to experts who see the family unit and its security as the key to solving growing crime and emotional problems is the continuing trend in marriages and divorces.

In 1973 report shows a five per cent decline in the marriage rate, sliding to 8.9 marriages per 1,000 population; with divorces spiralling to 3.5 divorces per 1,000.

This puts North Carolina right on a par with the national divorce rate; far ahead of the figures a decade or so ago.

Divorces Jump

The spiral started during the decade of the 60s, growing from a rate of 1.3 per 1,000 in 1960 to 2.7 in 1970, jumping to 3 per 1,000 population in 1971. The acceleration is seen after 1964 when a one-year separation replaced the two-year separation as grounds for divorce.

The number of marriages during 1973 was 47,168; the number of divorces or annulments was 18,606.

In 1972, there were 48,548 marriages; 17,359 divorces or annulments.

Two counties in the state—Clay and Graham—reported no divorces or annulments in the last quarter of 1973.

Several counties show an unusually high divorce rate, with the number of divorces more than half the number of marriages.

Only one county, Gaston County, reported more divorces than marriages during the last three months of the year—155 marriages to 161 divorces.

If that trend holds for the entire year, Gaston could show a year-end total of more divorces than marriages. The figures in 1972 for Gaston showed 763 marriages; 674 divorces.

Nervous Over A Nixon Fallout

By JOHN KILGO

North Carolina Republicans, who made impressive political wins here just two years ago, are now looknig down the Nixon barrel—frightened that the coming blast will take them down with the President.

Already Bill Simpson, chairman of the Rockingham County GOP, has called on Nixon to resign. Other Tar Heel Republicans are saying privately that Nixon should get out for the good of the country and the party. Ninth District Congressman Jim Martin and 10th District Congressman Jim Broyhill—both Nixon supporters—have expressed disappointment over the released White House tape transcripts.

Tom Bennett, chairman of the North Carolina GOP, seems to be hedging on the question of Nixon's resignation. We asked him point blank if Nixon should resign and Bennett replied:

"That's a question I can't give a definitive answer to. There are pros and cons to the question. His resignation would pacify those, even some in the Republican Party, who want to see him resign. At the same time, it would make some people mad who want him to stay on. I'm not in a position to make a moral judgment in that regard. I need some more time before I can be definitive on it. I want to see what the House Judiciary Committee charges the President with before I make a judgment of that nature."

Tar Heel Republicans, to say the least, have an uphill fight this year to win Sam Ervin's Senate seat. The Republicans are also concerned about the congressional seats they now hold. Ninth District Democrat Milton Short has already said he plans to campaign heavily on the fact that Republican Martin has supported Nixon through most of the Watergate mess.

Even the most optimistic Republican would have to admit that Bill Stevens, their nominee for the Senate, starts off as a decided underdog against Robert Morgan.

A Charlotte newspaper last weekend quoted an unnamed source as saying the national GOP had given up hopes of winning the Senate seat in North Carolina.

"I know of no person in the Republican Party who would make a statement such as that," Bennett said when I asked him about it. "I feel very strongly that Bill Stevens will be elected in November."

Morgan has said the GOP plans to dump plenty of money into North Carolina to help Stevens in the November campaign.

"That's just a case of Mr. Morgan talking off the top of his head like he's prone to do," Bennett said. "I don't think he knows what he's talking about."

Bennett said it would be up to individual candidates to ask Mr. Nixon to come to North Carolina to campaign for them in the fall. He said he shook hands with the President in Washington last week and invited him to come to North Carolina and Mr. Nixon replied: "We'll see."

"I would not be ashamed to have him come to North Carolina," Bennett said. "I'm sure Tar Heels would be gracious, as they always are."

ST. PAUL AND THE LAW

St. Paul made an important discovery when he came to realize that no set of laws, no matter how divine their origin, can in themselves produce salvation. Paul had previously assumed that fully obeying the law of God was merely a matter of applying the will, and that out of this obedience came salvation.

No rule of conduct carries with it the power to put itself into operation. Unaided, a man is destined to be defeated in his contest with sin. Just previous to his conversion, Paul discovered that there had been creeping over his heart the alarming apprehension that he was destined to be defeated in the battle for his soul. Then with his conversion came a new sense of power, and that power was the living Christ. Right there Paul gave up the futile attempt of trying to meet life's moral requirements by his own will and the law alone. Now, with the new power of faith, he stood unafraid before sorrow, disappointment, and death.

Keeping A Low Profile

Whatever became of the Office of Technology Assessment? The answer, pianissimo, is that the OTA is now quietly in business. It is keeping a low profile. It has not subverted sound government or visibly promoted the fortunes of Senator Kennedy. It has not done much of anything, but it bears watching.

If you never heard of the OTA, or had forgotten its existence, you have a good deal of company. The office was created back in October 1972, but it wasn't until November of 1973 that Congress got around to providing money to make it go. Under the direction of Emilio Q. Daddario, a former congressman from Connecticut, the office finally got organized early this year.

When the OTA first was authorized, conservatives reacted in some alarm. It was like a sneeze in a chicken house. The Wall Street Journal harumphed and all the rest of us fluttered. We had visions that the OTA, with a license to investigate any technical subject under the sun, would serve chiefly as a vehicle for promoting the favorite causes of its board chairman, the Senior Senator from Massachusetts. Our alarm was premature. Nothing suspicious has happened—so far.

I caught up with the OTA last week. The agency has just moved into a suite of offices in the old Immigration Service building at 119 D Street, N.E., a couple of blocks from the Capitol. When I dropped by, Daddario and his deputy, Daniel V. De Simone, were unpacking crates of books. They stopped long enough to report on what they're up to.

The Office of Technology Assessment exists solely to serve the Congress. The House and Senate, says Daddario, "are our only customers." The idea is to explore those areas in which scientific questions are deeply involved in legislative policy. Working mainly through private consultants who will serve as contractors, the OTA expects to provide reports on which congressional committees can make policy decisions.

As its first assignment, the office has commissioned an inquiry into the bioequivalency of certain drugs. The question is whether drugs that are the same chemically are the same therapeutically. Does the generic meprobomate have the same effect on a patient as the brand-name Equanil? Senator Kennedy and his fellow liberals generally have argued that the public and the taxpayers are being bilked out of billions of dollars by paying higher prices for brand names. The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association (PMA) naturally takes a different view.

When Daddario said this first study had been requested by Senator Kennedy's health subcommittee, it occurred to me, out of a natural-born skepticism, that the investigating panel probably had been rigged to bring in a report that would make the Senator happy. Apparently this is not so. The PMA regards the panel, headed by Dr. Robert Berliner of Yale, as "knowledgeable and responsible." Daddario says he is determined that OTA's reports will be as objective as

Other Editors Say First ECU Step

(Rocky Mount Telgram)

Citizens of eastern North Carolina who have long protested the need for more physicians and medical care for this area of the state can be gratified over the action taken by the UNC Board of Governors last Friday.

The board took the first step toward establishing a two-year medical school at East Carolina University.

This step is a move to meet requirements of the 1974 General Assembly toward expanding the medical school at ECU.

Until the legislative action, it will be recalled, the UNC board of Governors had vigorously opposed the concept of an expanded medical school at ECU.

Fortunately, the General Assembly saw the obvious needs for more medical training facilities in eastern North Carolina.

In a resolution last Friday, the board authorized UNC President William Friday to assign ECU President Leo Jenkins the duty of pursuing accreditation for a two-year program.

Currently, ECU's one-year school is accredited under the medical school at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Friday must also clear the procedure for accreditation with the Liaison Committee of Medical Education, a coordinating agency of the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges for transfer programs.

Graduates of the two-year program at ECU will be transferred to the four-year school at Chapel Hill to complete the last two years of medical training.

In passing the resolution, the board acted under mandate of the General Assembly to submit its plans for a two-year school at ECU to the 1975 General Assembly.

While Board Chairman William Dees attacked the legislation in a speech recently, the resolution passed last Friday was the first public acknowledgement of that mandate on the part of the board.

So now, after all the nit-picking and political bickering, work can proceed on the much-needed medical program for East Carolina University, something that should have been done to begin with.

Demos, Nixon Allied

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems an unlikely alliance, but it makes political sense for Democratic leaders to side with President Nixon in rejecting his resignation as the way out of Watergate now.

That is not to say that the Democrats were motivated by the coming elections, rather than the constitutional concerns they cited in counseling against pressure for the President to quit.

But at this point, the two go together.

The constitutional argument is the one Nixon has been advancing all along: That the resignation of a president because of accusations and unpopularity would so weaken the presidency as to change the American system of government.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the deputy Democratic leader, said a forced resignation would "change our system from one of fixed tenure to one in which a president would remain in office only by popular approval."

Nixon said two months ago that resignation in the circumstances he faces would "lead to weak and instable presidencies in the future, and I will not be a party to the destruction of the presidency of the United States."

At the same time, the President acknowledged that his resignation "might satisfy some of my good, friendly partisans who would rather not have the problem of Watergate bothering them."

With impeachment proceedings under way, and with the release of the edited White House transcripts, Watergate is bothering Republicans more now than it was then.

Republican talk of Nixon's resignation prompted the Democratic comments. Five Republican senators, three seeking re-election this year, have said the President should resign, consider it or step down temporarily during impeachment proceedings.

Among House Republicans, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the party leader, has said resignation is an option for the

Expropriation Fears Growing

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The commercial health insurance industry, recipient of more than $14 billion in premium income a year, is becoming increasingly fearful that its business will be "expropriated" by the government.

At least 16 health insurance bills now are before the 93rd Congress, and some of them would result in a transfer to the federal government of at least part of the financing and administration of benefits.

One, the Kennedy-Griffiths bill, would leave little role at all for the commercial companies. "It could put us (the industry) out of business," said James Bingay, president of Mutual of New York.

The health and life insurance industries' advertising budget has been raised to $5 million from its normal $1 million a year, and educational and lobbying efforts have been increased.

Despite this, an industry representative expressed fears that the insurers might be unsuccessful in presenting their side of the health care controversy, and that legislation conceivably could be passed "before we even get in the stadium."

"It's a very political issue," said Bingay in reference to the question of public versus private control of health insurance. "A congressman can generate favorable response with headlines. The public can get worked up over the idea of something for nothing. There's so much compelling dogma."

The industry's position is that there should be a comprehensive national health insurance program but that it should be serviced by private industry, that it should be phased in gradually and that the poor should be subsidized.

"Let's do it together," said Bingay. "Let's build an American system"—as he sees it, a cooperative, private-sector effort by the various elements of the health care system and the federal government.

Opponents of insurance company participation in a national health plan have described them as fat with profits, unresponsive and inefficient.

The insurers consider that assessment to be inaccurate. They maintain they are barely able to make a profit. In the 1969-1973 period they say that 20 large group health insurers averaged only one-third of a cent profit on each dollar.

Inefficient? "We're competitive," said Bingay. "If you turn the business over to government, what competition would it have? None. If its expenses rose it would go back to the taxpayer for more money."

While conceding that insurers could do little about general inflation, critics maintain that they declined even to exert pressure where they could but instead simply paid the bills and raised prices.

"Our shirts aren't completely clean, but more is being done in recent years," Bingay said. He said efforts are made to cooperate with other segments of the industry in restraining rising costs and prices.

Entertains C-of-C At Dinner Meeting

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Chamber of Commerce was entertained at its spring dinner meeting Monday night at the Community Center by Patricia Buck, local guitarist and singer. Miss Buck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Buck and is a student at D. H. Conley High School.

Elwood Nobles, town manager, gave a report on progress being made in setting up the Contentnea Metropolitan Sewage District, which is a joint project of Ayden, Grifton and Winterville. He announced that a public hearing will be held in the courtroom of the Ayden Municipal Building on Tuesday, May 28.

A report was made by County Commissioner Burney Tucker on details of the operation of the new county landfill. He stated that, according to present plans, there would be a pick up service provided for every family living outside incorporated towns in the county.

The commissioner stated that plastic bags would be made available at 39 cents each. These bags would be collected at mail box locations and delivered to the landfill site at no extra expense.

Officers elected for the next two years are: R. E. Boyd, president; Paul Hunsucker, vice-president, and Elwood Nobles, secretary-treasurer.

President to consider; Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois said he would welcome it. Anderson, chairman of the GOP conference, now says he does not foresee it happening.

There also have been the editorial calls for resignation or impeachment from newspapers that had supported Nixon.

Resignation, of course, would spare congressional Republicans the agonizing vote on whether to impeach the President in the House and, if that is done, whether to convict him in the Senate.

possible. The bioequivalency study, due in June, will be his first test.

The OTA expects to get into solar energy this summer. It has begun work on a study of automatic train controls, and probably will pursue this inquiry into the field of automation generally. A continuing study is planned of basic materials required for American industry. On down the line are reports on marine resources and the technological impact of supertankers, offshore refineries, and deep-sea oil rigs.

All this will be useful; it may also be duplicative of work being done by private institutions and by old-line executive departments. Daddario's task is to prove that OTA will provide genuinely objective, authoritative, and valuable reports, not being made available to Congress from any other source. On some pleasant day in spring next year, this reporter proposes to amble back down the Hill to D Street and to see what the picture is then.

The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

Acquitted Of Lobbying Charge

RALEIGH (AP)—Duke Power Co. and its vice president, John Hicks, have been acquitted of charges of illegal lobbying activities in the North Carolina General Assembly.

Wake County District Court Judge George F. Bason heard testimony in the case Wednesday morning, deliberated during the lunch hour, and returned with the not guilty verdict.

Hicks had been charged with violating North Carolina's lobbying act by failing to register with Secretary of State Thad Eure. He was the first person ever prosecuted under the law in its more than 40 years of existence.

The chief witness for the prosecution was Wib Gulley of the North Carolina Public Interest Research Group, an alliance of campus consumer activists.

Gulley testified that he had seen Hicks talking to legislators in the legislative building about a bill—which was passed—that would give the utilities more favorable rules for rate increase requests.

Judge Bason said the prosecution's testimony forced him "to speculate what the defendant was saying to the legislators at any time."

Hicks' attorney, Robert McMillan, said the law was vague and unconstitutional.

Wake Dist. Atty. Burley B. Mitchell, after the trial, said he felt it had served the purpose of warning lobbyists that they should comply with the law.

A barrel of oil is equal to 42 gallons.

FBLA Tour Of Facility

Members of the Future Business Leaders of America Chapter from D. H. Conley High School visited the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop recently.

Charles Alford and Robb Hardis, psychological advisor to the project gave some insight into the purpose of the workshop and what it is accomplishing.

They explained the program carried on with the cooperation of local high schools.

Next, the group toured the workshop itself with its many different productions areas. The Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop, which is one of 44 in the state, carries on a non-profit program to train young people in various vocational skills.

The FBLA group viewed such areas, as furniture refinishing, telephone cleaning, paper recycling, and carpentry. Much emphasis is put on individual production. All students receive production output and type of wages according to their work.

THANKS

I thank the citizens of Greenville and Pitt County for their vote and support May 7th.

Elect Schmidt New Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Bundestag elected Helmut Schmidt chancellor of West Germany today, filling the vacancy left by the resignation of Willy Brandt 10 days ago because one of his close aides was an East German spy.

The vote was 267-225. Schmidt needed 249, a majority of the total 496 members of the lower house.

The election of Schmidt, 55, had been assured in advance by the continuation of his Social Democratic party's alliance with the Free Democrats, giving them a majority of 46 seats in the Bundestag.

The coalition held firm on Wednesday and elected the leader of the Free Democrats, Walter Scheel, to succeed Gustav Heinemann as West Germany's fourth president.

The Social Democrats have 230 seats in the Bundestag and the Free Democrats 41, but four of their deputies were absent today because of illness. All 225 Christian Democrats were present to vote against Schmidt.

Iceland's parliament is the oldest in the world, dating to 930.

Arrested For Coed's Murder

MARSHALL, N.C. (AP) — Wayne Schilling, 21, of Mount Holly, N.J., was arrested Wednesday on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of a fellow Mars Hill College student last October, authorities have announced.

The victim was Sally Moffitt of High Point, N.C., whose body was found beside a stream about 20 miles northeast of Asheville. Sheriff E. Y. Pender of Madison County, who announced the arrest, said she had suffered an internal hemorrhage and had a punctured rib.

The sheriff said Schilling was held without bond in the county jail at Marshall. No hearing date was set.

A college spokesman said Schilling, a junior majoring in biology, was arrested on the campus. The college is at Mars Hill in Madison County, 20 miles north of Asheville.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market brightened up a bit today after three straight sessions of sluggish weakness.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.91 at 849.97, and advancing issues led declines by about 5-to-4 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading remained light, however.

Analysts said some investors were encouraged by the market's resistance to any large decline Wednesday in the face of a new flare-up of terrorism in the Middle East.

Con Ed shares, opening late, gained a point to 8. Among other stocks in the industry, Public Service Electric & Gas was up ½ at 16⅛, and American Electric Power rose ⅜ to 20½.

Pennzoil was the Big Board volume leader, down ⅜ at 20½. A 100,500-share block was traded at that price.

Campbell Soup, which came in with only a slight gain in earnings per share for the quarter ended April 28, lost 1½ to 32¾.

Federal National Mortgage was off ¾ at 15¼. A Fannie Mae official said 1974 earnings could show a decline because of increased borrowing costs.

American Ship Building, which reported sharply lower first-quarter earnings on Wednesday, declined ⅞ to 11.

At the American Stock Exchange, the most-active issue was Robintech, down ½ at 44¼. The Amex' 11 a.m. market-value index was up .16 at 84.69.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .14 to 47.87.

The White House acknowledged Tuesday that the First Lady and her daughters over the past five years had accepted jewelry worth more than $52,400 from the Saudi Arabian family, but said it was all within the bounds of official protocol and was properly recorded.

Suggs Here For Regional Run

What shapes up to be the outstanding sprint ever run in Eastern North Carolina may come off Friday afternoon at 2:10 p.m. on the East Carolina University track.

That's the time set for the gun to fire sending Carter Suggs of Tarboro and Larry Austin of Jacksonville down the track with an eye toward the national high school record book.

Last week, Suggs ran the 100-yard dash in a national high school record tieing time of 9.3 seconds. Austin was right behind with a time of 9.4.

Joining them this weekend will be the top sprinters from two other sectionals as the business of picking finalists for the State High School championship in Raleigh gets underway.

"I think there is a definite chance that the winner of the race could finish in 9.2," East Carolina track coach Bill Carson said. "The six who go to the finals will all probably run 9.6 or better."

Suggs will also test Austin—and vice-versa—in the 220-yard dash. That event is set for 3:35 p.m.

The meet will get underway at 11 a.m. with running trials, and most of the field events. The triple jump and discuss will start at 1:30 p.m., with the first of the running events finals at 2 p.m.

There are several other top races or runners involved with the meet. Jeff Moody of Pinecrest is listed as one of the top milers and 880-yard run men in the state. His current times are ahead of the top national collegiate miler in the country, Tony Waldrop of North Carolina, when Waldrop was a junior in high school, Moody's classification.

The low hurdles event also shapes up as an outstanding one with a number of runners bunched together with their entered times.

An admission charge of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students will be charged for spectators of the meet.

Farmville Wins To Gain Share Of Title

FARMVILLE—Farmville Central High School closed out the regular season with a 9-5 victory over North Pitt yesterday.

Farmville Central, as the number two seed, will travel to meet Havelock in another first round game.

Farmville Central put the game on ice in the first inning with six big runs. Jeff Cobb walked and Ed Wells singled. Tommy Cobb sacrificed in Jeff Cobb. Robersonville Wins To Even Series, 1-1

SARATOGA—Robersonville High School came back to take a 6-4 victory over Saratoga Central last night and even their best-of-three series at one game apiece.

The two will now meet in a sudden death game on Friday in Robersonville. That game is set for 4 p.m. The winner will represent the Eastern Plains Conference in the state 2-A playoffs, starting next week.

Robersonville pushed over two runs in the third to take the lead. Mike Matthews reached on an error and Victor Hardison hit into a fielder's choice that was misplayed to leave both runners safe. Jeff Warren hit into another fielder's choice, however, this time getting Matthews at third. The two remaining runners moved up on the second out of the inning and Doug Warren saved the rally with a two-run double.

In the fifth, the Eagles pushed over two more for a 4-0 lead. Matthews walked and Hardison singled. Warren reached on a fielder's choice that was errored, letting Matthews score. Wilson then singled to drive in Hardison.

Saratoga came back in the bottom of the inning to score their first two runs. Ted Rogers walked and Phil Carter did too. Peele Garris also got a free trip, loading the bases. The control problems continued as both Mike Butts and John McKeel both walked, driving in both Rogers and Carter.

Bahnsen Fails In Another No-Hit Bid

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Nobody's perfect. Not even Stan Bahnsen.

The Cleveland Indians discovered that last year—and the Minnesota Twins found it out Wednesday night.

For the second time in two years, the Chicago White Sox pitcher came shockingly close to no-hit fame but literally let it slip through his fingers while beating the Twins 1-0.

The right-hander was one out away against the Indians last season when Walt Williams singled just behind the reach of Bill Melton's glove at third base.

And Wednesday night, he had a perfect game going until Bobby Darwin singled off "a high, inside curve ball" with two out in the eighth. In the ninth, Bahnsen gave up another single, the Twins' only other base-runner Wednesday night.

"I don't know if I'm good enough to pitch a no-hitter," sighed Bahnsen, who pitched two of them in the minor leagues.

In the other American League games Wednesday night, the Detroit Tigers nipped the New York Yankees 6-5; the Boston Red Sox stopped the Cleveland Indians 7-4; the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5 and the Texas Rangers downed the California Angels 6-1.

Tigers 6, Yankees 5

New York relief ace Sparky Lyle walked Al Kaline with the bases loaded in the eighth inning, giving Detroit its victory over New York.

"The last two pitches to Kaline should have been strikes," said Virdon. "The fourth ball, which Odom said was low and inside, wasn't low and it was right down the middle."

Lyle insisted that the fourth ball was "right down the pipe. If he can't call 'em any better than that, he oughta hang 'em up."

Red Sox 7, Indians 4

Home runs by Rico Petrocelli, Bernie Carbo and Carlton Fisk powered Boston over Cleveland.

The Indians took a 2-0 lead off Boston's Juan Marichal on Oscar Gamble's bases-loaded single before the Red Sox struck back.

Orioles 6, Brewers 5

Earl Williams and Tommy Davis drove in two runs apiece and Baltimore, striking for three runs in the third inning, held on to beat Milwaukee and snap the Brewers' five-game winning streak.

Being Hit Is Nothing New

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"You learn to live with it," said Ron Hunt. In his case, it's almost amazing he hasn't been killed by it.

It's the pitch that gets away and ends up in the ribs or the back, on the leg or the arm—somewhere on the batter's body.

"You never get used to it," Hunt said of getting hit by a baseball traveling as fast as 100 miles an hour. And Hunt should know. He owns one of the major league's most dubious records, being hit by 231 pitches in his bruising dozen years.

The gritty, gutsy 33-year-old second baseman was plunked on the right knee leading off the ninth inning Wednesday night for Montreal and hobbled down to first base. A worried Gene Mauch met him at the bag.

A few minutes later he scored the winning run, scoring the tie-breaker on a Ken Singleton single that carried the Expos to a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

In other National League games, St. Louis bombed the New York Mets 10-1, Cincinnati trimmed San Francisco 4-3, Pittsburgh edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 14 innings, Atlanta blanked San Diego 3-0 and Los Angeles swept a doubleheader from Houston 11-7 and 10-2.

Cards 10, Mets 1

Ted Simmons blasted his way out of a slump by slugging his first two homers of the season, both off previously unbeaten Jerry Koosman, and Tom Heintzelman and Reggie Smith added one apiece in the 16-hit barrage that carried the Cards past New York.

Reds 4, Giants 3

Roger Nelson came within six outs of pitching a no-hitter for the Reds—and came within one San Francisco run of seeing his magnificent effort run down the drain.

The Reds' right-hander got last-out help from reliever Pedro Borbon for a combined two-hit victory.

Pirates 3, Cubs 2

Richie Zisk steamed home on Bill Bonham's 14th-inning wild pitch that gave the Pirates their triumph over the Cubs.

Braves 3, Padres 0

Dodgers 11, Astros 2

Bill Russell drove in six runs and Joe Ferguson knocked in five in Los Angeles' twi-night sweep over the Astros, extending the Dodgers' winning streak to nine games—their longest since a 13-game run in 1965—and widening their West Division lead to 7½ games.

BB&T is now twice as convenient.
Branch Banking and Trust Company first came to Greenville about three months ago.
We're very happy to say that our reception was tremendous. So tremendous, in fact, BB&T has opened a second office in Greenville.
It's also a full service office. It's conveniently located on Memorial Drive at West End Circle. There's plenty of parking. And plenty of fast, friendly BB&T service.
Which is something that has only come to Greenville once.

The Worry Clinic

Mere Mating vs. Marriage

Peggy's sex example shows the difference between mere mating vs. marriage. And it illustrates the sexual sophistry of those who have been indoctrinated by Dr. Spoof's permissive nonsense. "When you see a wrong, hit it!" said Abraham Lincoln.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-631: Peggy D., aged 36, is a psychology professor.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "it shocks me to see how some of our university faculty members 'swallow' the liberal nonsense now being paraded as scientific fact.

"For example, I attended our American Psychological Association annual meeting in California.

"One of the notorious sexologists was invited to address this group of college teachers.

"And he stressed sex counseling, even demonstrating some cases before the assembled A.P.A. members.

"As a starter, he had a divorced woman, mother of a 6-year-old daughter, present her problem.

"She said that she craved male attention, so was asserting her freedom to have lovers visit her in her bedroom.

"But she wondered about her little girl's reaction to seeing so many different men sleeping with her mother.

"And this visiting sexologist approved of her conduct, saying a woman has a right to get whatever affection she craves!

"Indeed, he even minimized the effect of such promiscuity on the mind of that little girl.

"For he said children must learn to adjust to the facts of life, the sooner the better.

"Besides, he cited an example of other youngsters who publicly proclaim to their classmates that 'My mother has more boy friends than yours.'

"And this speaker said that a mother's many boy friends could thus help inflate the pride of her young children in their association with their school mates.

"Dr. Crane, isn't this sophistry disgusting?

"How could any sincere teacher, whether in high school or college, condone such permissive nonsense?"

Sex Sophistry

Jesus aptly diagnosed our modern "permissive" age, as abetted by Dr. Spoof, when he said (Matthew 15:14):

". . .they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch."

Sensationalizers always try to clamber upon any new bandwagon, whether it be the Women's Lib or the recent doctrine that "God is dead."

They hope to rate headlines and notoriety by trying to oppose time-tested truisms.

Such people are called iconoclasts (breakers of previously repsected images).

For there is always a minority group which will adopt any nonsense if in so doing, they can shock their comrades and thus attain the social spotlight.

That often explains why cigarette addicts start this nuisance habit at the age of 15.

Same goes for drug addiction and swilling down of beer or liquor.

Ancient Aaron, who was supposed to be the High Priest of Jehovah, thus let the crowd seduce him into making them a Golden Calf, for Aaron wished to stay in the limelight.

Remember, mere sexual mating differs from marriage!

Hogs and other lower animals mate but marriage is reserved for humans and should never be desecrated, as by that mother of a 6-year-old.

So send for my "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♡	Dble.	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♣	2 ◇	Pass	Pass
Dble.	Pass	Pass	2 ♡
Dble.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

Cases where one side opens the bidding only to find opponents play the hand in the same strain are not commonplace. But they do happen and often produce spectacular results. Consider this hand from a recent national championship event.

The bidding started normally enough with a one heart opening bid, a takeout double and a response. However, when North's bid of two diamonds was doubled by West and passed round to South, he decided, correctly, that this was not the best spot for his side. North was not sure what South's bid of two hearts meant, but since West had doubled he felt free to pass and allow South to clarify his holding. Both West and North were shocked when South passed as well.

From West's point of view it seemed that he had been presented with an unexpected bonanza, and he had visions of a four-figure penalty. It did not seem important what he led, and his choice of the king of clubs appeared entirely reasonable. Unfortunately for the defense, after the opening salvo all West could do was sit back and watch as the declarer, Ron Von der Porten of San Francisco, made the first eight tricks.

Declarer won the ace of clubs and ruffed a club. The ace-king of spades were cashed and another club was ruffed in the closed hand. A spade was ruffed in dummy and the fourth club was ruffed by declarer. After cashing the ace of diamonds, declarer graciously conceded the remaining five tricks to the defense.

Have you spotted the only lead to defeat the contract? West must cash a high heart at trick one, removing dummy's lone trump, which deprives declarer of the opportunity to ruff a spade in dummy. In the fullness of time the defenders will collect six tricks for a one-trick set.

Plan Philippine Electric Co-Ops

MANILA (UPI) — The U.S Agency for International Development (AID) has announced joint plans with the Philippine government to set up 36 electrical cooperatives in scattered areas of the country within the next three to four years to service about five million rural people.

A 1974 aerial census by the Department of Fish and Game shows there were 4,747 pronghorn antelope in California.

Old Trunk Was Jack Benny's

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny has confirmed that a trunk found in an old house here was used by him on his first tour. Antique collector Elizabeth Craig said she displayed the trunk in her shop when Benny did a benefit for the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra last month.

"Jack confirmed it was his and he used it on his first tour at age 17," she said. "Stencilled on the side is 'Salisbury and Benny.' It's probably the only time Jack was upstaged."

BAD AIR

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Allegheny County Health Department said the air pollution average for January must be offset by an almost pollution-free month this year to meet federal air pollution standards.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 17, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until midafternoon there are many delays which could prevent you from attaining the goals you are striving for. In the late afternoon and evening you are able to tune in on what is best for you and make considerable progress.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The situation at your home is not as you would like it to be, but mutual understanding will bring the harmony that has been lacking.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your ideas are being twisted by some kind of annoyance so be sure you wait until tomorrow before making any important decisions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Instead of worrying about money, try to cooperate more with associates. Come to a better understanding with one who has opposed you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't act strangely at your daily work and let others gain the upper hand. Speak frankly to others. Control your emotions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Important affairs should be handled early before you engage in new situations. Avoid a talkative person who wants to waste your time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Being meticulous in handling important affairs before going into new interests is vital now. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan some time to get a confusing matter straightened out with an associate. Strive for more harmony in personal relationships.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have much to do and you can show that you are a fine organizer by having your work completed by sundown. Be more cooperative.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan early the kind of recreation you want to engage in later in the day. Good friends will be happy to go along with you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Instead of starting an argument with a family tie, use that energy for constructive purposes. Evening is fine for having fun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have an alert mind and can now solve some problems in a most clever way. Think before speaking and avoid getting in trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able to understand problems you have in a very clear fashion now. Go to the right sources for the information you need.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . he or she will be one who can easily comprehend other people and their individual problems because of the humanitarian quality in this nature. Teach not to give advice until asked, otherwise much time and effort will be wasted. A tendency to intrude on others can be overcome. Give good grounding in music and religion. Ideal chart for seeking out truth.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

You may never have to touch your new Sylvania GT-Matic™ color TV except to turn it on or change channels

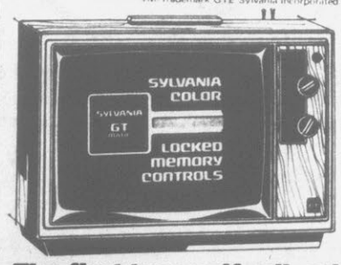

When you watch television on a new Sylvania GT-Matic, you won't see us adjusting your picture. But we will be.

The all-new Sylvania GT-Matic color tuning system sees the picture before you do and automatically corrects the color for you.

It's so automatic, the controls are inside the set. The vertical control has been eliminated. Brightness, Contrast, Tint and Color controls are locked up. Only the on-off/volume control and channel selection controls are left outside. That's all you should have to touch.

You watch the program. We watch the picture.

TM-Trademark GTE Sylvania Incorporated

Sylvania GT-Matic model CX3178. 19" diagonal ChroMatrix II™ picture tube.

The first true self-adjusting color set ever.

NEW three-part color level monitoring system automatically corrects most problems caused by signal changes.

NEW locked GT-Matic™ memory controls remember your color preference. You get a key to keep it that way.

NEW 100% solid-state GT-100™ chassis is cable ready. Plug-in circuit modules for fast, easy service, often right in the home.

A Review

Chamber Music Well Presented

There's nothing quite like a finely honed string quartet heard on a pleasant spring evening. Those hearing the East Carolina String Quartet at the A. J. Fletcher Recital Hall on Wednesday night were treated to an uncommonly fine program of chamber music.

After opening with an average performance of a Mozart quartet, the ECU Quartet brought a contemporary work on the scene, Walter Piston's String Quartet No. 1.

This composition is a representative 20th century quartet. It combines fiery Bartok-like dissonances and rhythms with an eerie "Schoenbergian" coolness in its calmer passages, thus drawing heavily from the two most influential string quartet composers of this period.

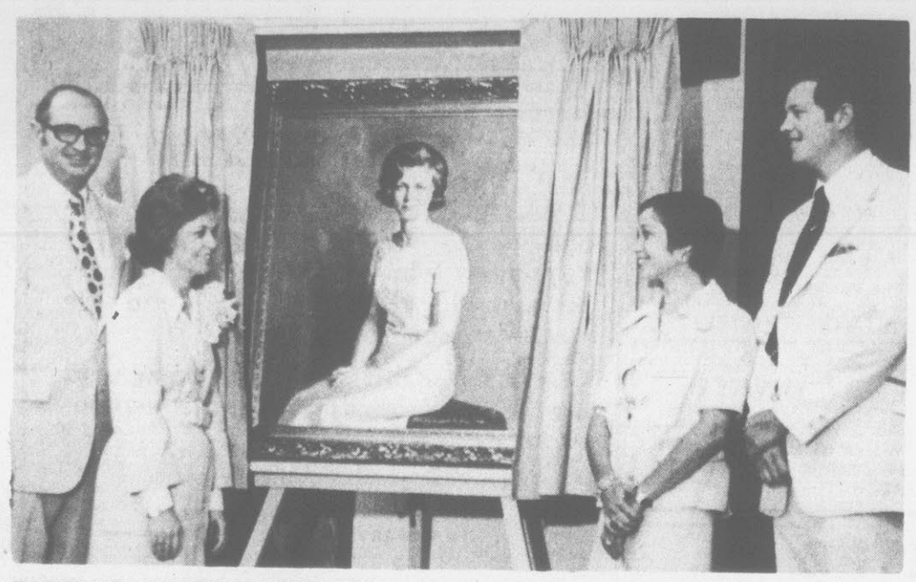

The fire and ice combination was performed exceptionally well by the ECU String Quartet. The playing was tight and retained the intensity of the composer's imagination revealed in this score.

Wednesday's program closed with the Brahms Quartet In B Flat Major. In the lyricism of this romantic composition, violinist Rodney Schmidt was outstanding in the emotional passages. The quartet maintained a moving and intense performance througout this long piece.

Performances of string music like Wednesday's concert—with Joanne Bath, violin, Milton Wright, viola, Joan Mack, violincello, and Schmit, violin—are adding a new dimension to music in eastern North Carolina. With concerts such as this, music lovers in this area are given an opportunity to hear live performances of small ensemble groups. This goes a long way in bringing the scope of music here to the level of that available in larger cities of North Carolina.

Stephen Jackson

(Editor's Note: Jackson, a Greenville native, is a student in the School of Music, University of Louisville, Ky., and is home for the Summer Vacation).

CHAPEL HILL—Noah W. Monk of Bell Arthur received the master's degree in social work from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Sunday.

He completed his undergraduate work in sociology and social welfare at St. Augustine College last May.

He will begin work June 1 as a social worker with the Boys Club in Raleigh.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Monk of Bell Arthur, he is married to the former Dorothy Brady of Key West, Fla. They have one daughter.

Summer Study Grants Awarded Forty Teachers

East Carolina University has announced that 40 teachers of math from 16 counties in North Carolina have been awarded grants for summer study in mathematics education. This grant is made possible by the National Science Foundation.

In order to be chosen for this honor the Instructional Improvement Implementation Program for six weeks it was necessary that each person be nominated and recommended by his local superintendent. It is recognized that each of these teachers is a leader in his profession.

Names of teacher participants include:

PITT COUNTY, Farmville — Nora Coviel Cobb;

Greenville — Alvin Duffy Lincoln, Sara Catherine Davis and Floretta C. Smith.

Gospel-Singing Saturday Night

Meadowbrook Pentacostal Holiness Church will hold a gospel singing Saturday night at 7:30 at the church. Refreshments will be available afterward in the educational building.

Performing at the church will be a group from Vanceboro and others. The Rev. G. F. Holiday invites the public to attend.

Researchers Publish Results

Two East Carolina University scientists reported on the results of their experiments on organic compounds with metallic properties in the March 29 issue of "Nature."

Dr. E. J. Seykora of the ECU physics faculty and Dr. R. A. Klein of the chemistry faculty reported their findings on an organic layer compound which conducts electricity when cooled.

The word "geometry" is derived from the Greek ge (earth) and metrein (to measure).
