

Hospital Rates Will Rise Again New Babies, Mothers Get Added Care

By CAROL B. TYER Reflector Staff Writer Rates to be charged hospital patients will increase eight per cent, as of June 1, the Board of Trustees of Pitt Memorial Hospital announced last night citing their own costs as the reason. This is a $7 room rate increase, a $5 increase in operating room and nursery charges, and a $10 increase in delivery room charges. The room rate represents 45 per cent of total charges made to inpatients. The average total charge per day is $87.64. The new room rates will be $41 for wards, $44 for semi-private rooms, and $47 and $48 for private rooms. Services covered by room rates include nursing services, medical records, dietary services, housekeeping, admitting, accounting, and other business office functions, plant operations, and security. The delivery room charge will be $60. The nursery rate is $23 while the mother is an inpatient and $28 after she is discharged. The new operating room rate is $60 for the first half hour and $10 for each quarter hour thereafter. "We hate these increases and deliberated a long time before we announced them, but it's the only way we can meet our obligations. And of course, our debts must be paid if the county is to have hospital service," Trustees Chairman Ed N. Warren said. "Our costs have gone up 'way beyond the projections made last summer when this fiscal year's operating budget was adopted."

At that time the expenses for the 12-month period ending Sept. 30, 1974 were projected to $5,955,318. The revised budget projections for this year are $6,197,347. Last summer the Cost of Living Council Guidelines did not provide what administrators considered an adequate change in rates to meet payments required under the $2 million HEW loan, which was finalized in February of this year. These payments now represent $3.41 per patient day in cost or $99,954 to be paid by the end of this operating year.

In addition to payments on the HEW loan, the hospital must generate revenues to pay increased costs for recent changes in the Minimum Wage law. These changes will add $48,781 to this year's budget or $1.66 per patient day.

The inflationary effect on goods and services purchased by the hospital will add another $56,000 or $1.93 per patient day to operations this year. Some of these include a 17 per cent increase in the cost of laundry service, a 35 per cent increase in the cost of milk, a 20 per cent increase in the cost of electrical power and fuel, an increase in phone service costs, and a large increase in the cost of nearly all supplies. Companies, which in former years have made bids with non-escalating clauses, this year refused to because of their own constantly rising costs. As an example, x-ray supplies have gone up 15 per cent just recently, and it's expected they'll increase another 10 per cent in the next few weeks.

The average length of a hospital stay at Pitt Memorial is six days and the average bill is $525.84. The proposed changes will raise that average to $567.84, an increase of 7.9 per cent.

Mothers Get Added Care

By CAROL B. TYER Reflector Staff Writer

Besides the news of an eight per cent increase in hospital rates, the Pitt Memorial Hospital Trustees last night attended to other matters not quite so unpleasant.

Mrs. Judy Page, maternal and child care nurse supervisor and Mrs. Becky White Jones, maternal and child care coordinator between the hospital and the Pitt County Community Health Department, talked about the increased services to new mothers and their babies and the needs Pitt County has.

Some 1,241 babies were born in Pitt Memorial last year, Mrs. Page said. There is much monitoring equipment to keep check on the babies during the critical few hours after birth. "We call our two new isolettes 'Cadillacs' because we think they're so great," she said.

Mrs. Jones said her job was funded by the state Division of Maternal and Child Health because Pitt County has such an appalling infant mortality rate—37 per 1,000 births, as compared with 18 per 1,000 births statewide. It also has the highest illegitimacy rate in the state, Mrs. Page added.

Mrs. Jones spends most of her morning on the obstetrical floor of the hospital, counseling the mothers on the care of their babies, on family planning, and her own general health care. Any babies that would be considered high risk are followed up in the home.

The Board members were urged to attend a public hearing on zoning of the area around the new hospital site—from State Road 1200 (the Stantonsburg Road) to Highway 43 and from the Allen Road to Memorial Drive. The hearing is to be held tonight at 8 p.m. by the Greenville Planning and Zoning Board in the City Council Chambers.

The New Hospital Gifts committee also is meeting tonight and Trustees were invited to this meeting, also.

Ralph Hall, construction representative for Freeman-White Architects, reported that foundations are being poured for the new hospital. Work is about 30 days behind now because of the rain during the early spring, but Hall said he is still hopeful of catching up. Much material is already bought and stored, a good thing to know, as prices are going up almost daily. Each trustee was invited to don a hard hat and walk over the site any time he wishes.

Trustee J. H. Moye, who recently has been a Pitt Memorial patient, praised the service he had. He asked the administrator to write letters of appreciation to East Carolina University School of Nursing and the Pitt County Nursing Program for the "untold hours of excellent service provided patients by students nurses."

But 52 Pints

FARMVILLE—Only 52 pints of blood were collected here Tuesday during the Bloodmobile's visit to the First Christian Church.

Pitt Blood chairman Billy Ross said that in addition to the units collected, there were 11 persons rejected during the visit.

Ross offered his appreciation to the volunteers and nurses who helped with the activities yesterday and he also thanked the church officials for making the facilities available.

The Bloodmobile was scheduled to be at Farmville Central High School today from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

President Refuses To Heed Subpoena

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon notified the House Judiciary Committee today he would not comply with a subpoena demanding tapes of 11 Watergate conversations.

Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, emerged from a closed committee session and told newsmen that the White House response was delivered to committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., about 11 a.m., one hour past the deadline set by the subpoena for a reply.

Mayne said Rodino told the 38-member committee that he had just received the response "and he said it was unfavorable ... it was negative."

Earlier, Nixon offered the committee one edited transcript in response to the committee's request for tapes of 66 White House conversations dealing with the dairy industry and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Nixon's lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said the President feels he has already given the committee everything else it needs for that phase of its impeachment inquiry.

St. Clair said many of the 66 conversations sought by the committee in connection with the ITT and dairy industry matters were not recorded and that others were not pertinent to the committee's inquiry.

All that will be supplied, he said, is a partial transcript of an April 4, 1972, conversation between Nixon, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former White House aide H. R. Haldeman. St. Clair said testimony at the Senate Watergate hearings shows that there was discussion of the ITT case during that meeting.

St. Clair spoke to newsmen before entering another closed-door hearing of the committee. The committee heard the tape of a March 21, 1973, meeting on Tuesday, and some members said it was the most damaging evidence against Nixon they have yet heard.

Hotline is a public service provided by The Daily Reflector to solve problems and get things done for you. Hotline would like to be able to address itself to all inquiries, but because of the number received, will answer and publish only those considered most pertinent to our readers. Questions or sound-offs may be phoned in to the Hotline number, 752-1336 or mailed to The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834

The Hotline tape is transcribed once each 24-hour recording period. For this reason persons phoning in items accepted for use may not be contacted until the day following their call. Names must be given, but only initials will be used.

HIGHWAY NEEDS WIDENING

I would like to know when we're going to get Highway 43 from Bruce to the Edgcombe County line widened. There are two bridges that need to be widened badly on this stretch of road also. J. W.

There are no plans for widening this section of highway at present, according to C.W. Snell, district engineer with the Division of Highways of the N. C. Department of Transportation. Funding for this project was not included in the Seven-Year Program prepared by the Board of Transportation.

However, there is hope. An open hearing will be held May 30 at the Pitt County Court House, District Courtroom for the purpose of hearing from the public concerning additions to the Seven-Year Program. The meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. and will be attended by members of the Board of Transportation. If you want this section of highway considered, attending that hearing and making your idea heard is a must. Persons with other projects they feel should be added to the Seven-Year Program should attend this meeting, too, of course.

ALONE WITHOUT A PHONE

I am a widow living alone. I was distressed last night when I found that my phone was out of order. I called Carolina Telephone and was told that the company does not keep repairmen on duty at night. I think this is a service due the citizens who support the phone company. E. M.

Local Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company plant manager, Aaron Cobb, said that a supervisor is kept on duty at night. Had you explained your situation—and you admit that you did not—he would have contacted one or more repairmen to get your phone in working order in case you had an emergency during the night. He admitted that persons answering repair requests usually do schedule them for the next day, both as a convenience and for the safety of their repairmen. "We definitely do make every effort when it's a matter of health and safety or of extreme need on the part of any of our subscribers. The person calling should be sure to ask for the plant supervisor on call and explain his situation completely," Cobb said.

INEXPERIENCED, BUT EAGER TO WORK

My daughter who just finished her freshman year in college is home for the summer with nothing to do. She is eager to work and has applied at dozens of individual businesses, as well as at the Employment Security Commission office here. All in our family are church members and we work diligently. True, she doesn't have experience, but she has to start somewhere. Mrs. M. W.

The N. C. Employment Security Commission office here says it has many, many applications for summer jobs, especially from young people, with only a handful of requests for employees. "Temporary jobs are so scarce that the businessman usually knows someone who's eager to take it and he never even calls us. If anyone in the area does have an opening, however, we'd appreciate it if he would contact us at 752-6146," the Employment Security spokesman said.

QUALIFICATION

Pitt Theater Manager James Jennings called to say that he'd like to qualify his statement which appeared in yesterday's Hotline column that he would let a child in with his parents to see either an R- or an X-rated movie. "According to the Motion Picture Association code, I can't let a child in, even with a parent, to an X-rated movie," he said.

Less Oil Is Used

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of an oil industry research group says high oil prices have reduced world demand, rapidly leading the world into a possible oil surplus.

John H. Lichtblau, executive director of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, Inc. said Tuesday that "if present price levels remain in force the surplus could be with us for some time, even if Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya maintain existing production limits."

Lichtblau told a meeting of the New York Society of Security Analysts that there was actually no world shortage of oil during the first nine months of last year.

Increased oil production generated the accumulation of oil inventories in Europe, and only insufficient refining capacity in the United States kept the nation from having adequate supplies, Lichtblau said.

Kissinger Admits Full Disengagement Goal Is Not Yet Within Reach

By The Associated Press Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today that substantial agreement has been reached on a truce line to defuse the fighting on the Golan Heights front, but indicated he would not secure a full disengagement accord before he leaves the Middle East this weekend.

Emerging from his latest talks with Israeli leaders in Jerusalem before flying to Damascus, Kissinger said Israel and Syria had agreed to a geographic demarcation—meaning a disengagement line. But a whole range of other issues still must be worked out, he said.

"I must caution ... that each subject is very complex, heavy and full of clauses and subclauses," said Israeli Information Minister Shimon Peres.

The statements appeared to be a forecast that Kissinger would return to Washington without a pact to separate the Syrian and Israeli armies and leave final details to be settled by his aides.

"I expect to leave this weekend," Kissinger told newsmen. The secretary plans to continue flying between Damascus and Jerusalem until Friday, working out more details of the disengagement.

Syria predicted earlier that Kissinger would leave the Middle East in two or three days without a disengagement accord.

The official Syrian news agency SANA circulated the report several hours before Kissinger, on the 25th day of his shuttle for peace, was due in Damascus after talks with Israeli officials.

SANA charged that Israel was "creating complications and wasting Kissinger's time by refusing to comply with provisions that have to be complied with" before agreement is reached.

On the Heights, Syrian and Israeli tanks and artillery duelled for the 72nd day, the Syrian military command reported.

A government source in Damascus said Israel has been asking Syrian President Hafez Assad to use his influence to halt Palestinian guerrilla attacks in Israel.

But Syria maintains the Palestinian raids are not relevant to the troop disengagement, the source said.

In Lebanon, Israel shelled Palestinian refugee targets Tuesday for the fourth time since the terrorist attack on the northern Israeli town of Maalot a week ago.

Kissinger met with Assad for 5½ hours, after which he reported qualified progress toward a disengagement agreement.

Ten Items For Planning Meet

Ten items, including an informal public meeting for discussion of the Medical District Development Plan, are scheduled for consideration at Wednesday's 8 p.m. meeting of the Joint City-County and Greenville Planning and Zoning Commissions.

Following the public meeting concerning development around the new hospital, the joint board will consider: rezoning of James L. Evans heirs property south of Pitt Plaza and west of N.C. 43 from RA-20 and CS to R-6, O & I and CS; an amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance;

Rules of Procedure; and action involving septic tank failures in southeastern portion of the extraterritorial jurisdiction.

Items scheduled for consideration by the Greenville board include: the final plat of Tucker Estates Subdivision; a preliminary plat of Windsor Woods located opposite Cherry Oaks Subdivision; a street name change from Stafford to Staffordshire;

Presentation of the Meadowbrook Flood Plain Study; and annexation of Pinegrove Subdivision located opposite Pinewood Forest Subdivision.

Hospital Care For Migrants

RALEIGH (AP)—Amin Khalil, director of North Carolina's migrant health program, announced Tuesday that on July 1 North Carolina will become the first state to provide state-financed hospital care for migrant workers.

The 1974 General Assembly appropriated a total of $120,000 for hospital care and expanded out-patient services for migrants. Khalil said out-patient services for migrants have been paid in the past with federal funds and no money was available for in-hospital care.

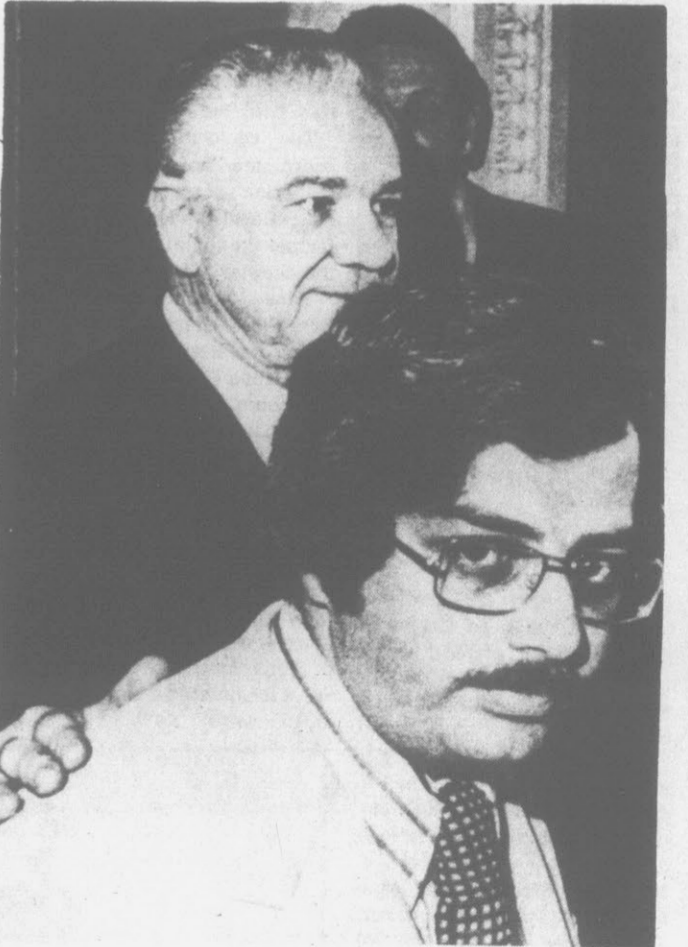

Three Die As Car, Truck Hit

MONROE, N. C. (AP) — A mother and two of her children were killed Tuesday when their car collided with a truck near their home at Indian Trail.

They were Mrs. Myrna A. Craig, 33; Donna Ann, 10, and Tommy, 11. Another child, Jimmy Wayne Craig, 13, was hospitalized.

A highway patrolman said the driver of the truck, Richard Lee Tessenar, 40, of Forest City, was not hurt.

The accident occurred at an intersection eight miles northwest of Monroe.

More Charges Face Patty Hearst, 2 Comrades

By LYLE W. PRICE Associated Press Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst and two comrades faced additional charges today stemming from two alleged kidnappings as hundreds of police searched for the three believed to be the remnants of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Heavily armed police swarmed into the Los Angeles suburb of Van Nuys and into a neighborhood in Sacramento Tuesday night in response to some of the scores of citizen reports claiming to have seen Miss Hearst and two SLA members, William and Emily Harris.

Neither report checked out. But FBI agent Charles Bates, in charge of this case since Miss Hearst was kidnaped 3½ months ago, said early today a tip will check out sooner or later. He appealed to the three surrender to avoid more bloodshed.

A youth who said Miss Hearst and the Harrises kidnaped him last week was quoted by the Los Angeles Times today as saying the 20-year-old newspaper heiress told him she joined the SLA of her own free will.

Tom Dean Matthews, 18, reportedly said Miss Hearst told him she had nothing to do with her kidnaping, but decided to join forces with her abductors because of dissatisfaction with her father's sponsoring of a $2 million food giveaway that was to win her release.

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Joseph Busch said Miss Hearst and the Harrises would be charged today in a shooting incident at a suburban sporting goods store, the commandeering of several vehicles and kidnaping of two men. They already are charged with unlawful use and possession of automatic weapons.

Authorities allege that the kidnappings followed an abortive attempt by Harris, 29, to shoplift a pair of 49-cent socks last Thursday. That episode, in which police allege Miss Hearst sprayed the store with automatic rifle fire, started police on an intensive manhunt in Los Angeles. Friday, six SLA members died in a fiery shootout.

A spokesman for Catherine and Rapdolph Hearst said the parents feel "it's going to end soon, that it's going to be resolved imminently."

Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis said the trio could surrender to either the local Press Club or the Los Angeles County Bar Association acting as gobetweens. Bates said any sincere surrender attempt would be honored, but warned that FBI agents had no intentions of walking into an ambush.

The police manhunt continued across the state.

Moore-Odham Vows Said 50th Reunion Held In Ceremony On Sunday By Class Of 1924

AYDEN—Miss Rebecca Sue Odham and Elwood Marvin Moore were married in the First Christian Church here Sunday afternoon at 3:30. A double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John L. Goff Sr. of Williamston, former pastor of the bride.

The chancel of the church was centered with a fifteen branch candelabra filled with white gladioli and chrysanthemums. At the end of the ceremony, the couple knelt for the benediction on a white satin profile prie-dieu.

Mrs. Billy Norris, organist, and Tommy Manning, soloist, presented the wedding music. Manning sang "The Song of Ruth" and the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride was escorted by her father, Robert J. Odham. She wore a formal length gown of white organza designed with a high neckline encircled with ruffled organza and embroidered lace. Re-embroidered lace accentuated the sheer yoke of the bodice. The modified empire waistline was encircled with a wide band of matching lace. The long sheer sleeves were trimmed in alternating bands of re-embroidered lace and floral Venice lace. The lace trimmed cuffs were edged in ruffled organza and Venice lace. A deep ruffled flounce of organza trimmed in lace edged the hemline which extended into a chapel length train.

She wore a formal length illusion mantilla edged in re-embroidered lace to match the gown. The bride carried a cascade of white roses, ivy and baby's breath.

Mrs. Billy Odham, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a printed silk organza over taffeta gown with a matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink glamelias.

Mrs. J.C. Lilley of Hampton, Va., sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and the junior bridesmaid was Miss Joyce Lilley of Hampton, Va., niece of the bride. Their gowns and bouquets were identical to that of the honor attendant.

Charles Michael Harrison of Kinston was best man and ushers were William E. Odham, brother of the bride, J.C. Lilley of Hampton, Va., and Richard D. Jenkins.

MRS. ELWOOD MARVIN MOORE

The mother of the bride wore a chantly lace over polyester sateen gown and wore a white orchid. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Odham and is employed at Piedmont Airlines, Kinston, as a customer service agent.

The bridegroom is employed by the N.C. State Highway Patrol, stationed in Smithfield. The bridal couple greeted guests following the ceremony in the vestibule of the church.

After a wedding trip to Honolulu, Hawaii, the couple will reside in Princeton.

An after-rehearsal party was held after the rehearsal Saturday night in the fellowship hall of the church.

The 1924 Class of Greenville High School celebrated its 50th class reunion at a reception, dinner and program Friday night at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Clara Moye Shackell welcomed the group and Mary Lee Pittman Post responded. Jack Spain gave the invocation—having a moment of silent prayer for deceased members of the class.

Mrs. Shackell, chairman of the Reunion Committee, recognized the following committee members: Georgia Smith Franklin; Marie Hardee Spain; Mary Forbes; Louise Evans; Nannie Whichard Stokes; and Mildred Mattocks Owens.

Mistress of ceremonies Georgia Smith Franklin welcomed and introduced Mrs. Maude B. Bowen of Greenville, only teacher of the class who could attend. Mrs. Bowen responded and gave remarks and compliments concerning the class. Miss Louise Wilkinson, a former teacher of Rocky Mount, sent regrets.

Each class member was asked to give a brief summary of what they had done over the years.

There were 34 in attendance including 21 class members, one teacher, 10 husbands and wives and two guests.

Following is a list of the class members attending:

Homemaker's Haven By Sue May Pitt Home Agent

May Miscellany
May is a month of many concerns including:

Older Americans—May has been declared a special month to salute older citizens for their contribution to the development and progress of the county, state and nation. Both the public and private sector of our society is challenged to give special attention to the concerns of older adults.

Mailbox Improvement—This week has been designated as a time to call special attention to the appearance of mailboxes. Persons throughout Pitt County are urged to examine and improve, if necessary, their mail receptacle so that it will be attractive, convenient, and safe to use. While checking the mailbox, other clean up ideas might also come to mind.

Paint In & Paint Up—Sprucing up the interior and exterior of a house with a few gallons of paint can do wonders when it is really needed. Remember however, that providing adequate and satisfactory shelter is one of the greatest expenses most families have. In order to keep home painting to a minimum for protection, aesthetic satisfaction and reduction of costs, several factors might be observed:

First, use good quality paint. It will give longer and better protection.

Second, prepare the surface properly for painting. Even the best paint won't last on a poorly prepared surface.

Third, apply the paint correctly. Improper application can be as damaging as a poorly prepared surface.

Fourth, repaint only when necessary. Too-frequent repainting builds up an excessively thick film that is more sensitive to the deteriorating effects of the weather.

Fifth, select paint colors which you can live happily with over a long period of years. Changing colors requires twice as much paint and labor as painting with the same color.

Sixth, for lasting protection, paint galvanized iron gutters with latex paint or prime with metallic zinc paint.

Let's make a special effort this month to improve the appearance of our communities and countryside.

Next, A-Bombs For Everybody

India has exploded a nuclear device similar to the one which leveled Nagasaki in World War II. The nation assured the world that it was developing atomic energy for peaceful purposes. "It is nothing to get excited about," Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi said. "We are firmly committed only to the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

In a world where nations now have enough hydrogen bombs to wipe us all out, we suppose Mrs. Gandhi might have a point in saying there is nothing to get excited about.

Nevertheless, this new development causes us concern. There are now six nations with nuclear capability. Besides India they are the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Britain and France.

It is a sure thing that there will soon be others. Without a doubt there are already smaller nations who see possession of nuclear weapons as a way to increase their prestige. Some small nations must already see nuclear weapons as a way to avoid being wiped out by militant neighbors. And there are also expansionist minded nations who might see nuclear devices as a means of bringing other nations to heel.

It concerns us that still another nation has developed the awesome power of the nuclear bomb. Soon there will be more and every nation will feel that they must have something going in the nuclear area. As many nations get possession of the A-bomb the chances of some wild man using it will vastly increase. That is not the best situation for the world, but it is the way things are headed.

Development of the atomic bomb by India is not in the world's best interest, but at this point we can only hope that effective arms limitation treaties can be negotiated which will minimize the danger of a world atomic holocaust.

Remember To Return That Bus Questionnaire

Residents of the Greenville area should remember to return bus system questionnaires to the ECU Regional Development Commission for evaluation.

Answers on the questionnaires will determine the feasibility of a bus system, and as complete a survey as possible is needed.

The fate of public transportation for many years may depend on this survey.

Jim Newcomb Wants Changes

By JOHN KILGO

Hear ye, hear ye, North Carolina Republicans. It's your nominee for the Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court Jim Newcomb talking.

"The people want the brakes put on the way things are going. I'm going to make changes from the JPs to the associate justices, from the kindergartens to the old folks homes. The condition of our courts is bad and they're high and alienated from the people. The people are clamoring for a businessman to get in there and get things going. I'm telling you I know people, and the people have just about got all they can wag with."

Mr. Newcomb, "a poor man who has to work for a living," sells fire extinguishers. He's 66 years old, lives in Williamston, has 10 children, 15 grandchildren, and says of himself: "Listen, I'm no wizard. I ain't got a law degree. I ain't got a degree, period. But I know what the people want."

Republican voters had two choices for the position of Chief Justice. One was Judge Elreta Alexander of Greensboro. The other was Mr. Newcomb. They chose Mr. Newcomb. Now he goes against Supreme Court Justice Susie Sharp in the general election.

Mr. Newcomb's nomination has sent editorial writers scurrying to the typewriter and the Republican hierarchy searching for cover. GOP Chairman Tom Bennett says he can't support Mr. Newcomb in November. Gov. Jim Holshouser says the same.

"So what," exclaimed Mr. Newcomb in an interview with me. "I don't need their help. I won what I got without them helping me nay."

Mr. Newcomb, in response to a question, said he could do a good job as chief justice, even though he has no legal training whatsoever.

"I know the appellate court is important," he said, "but even if I made a decision that was wrong, I couldn't do nothing by myself. I'd still get out-voted by 6-1. I won't be serving up there by myself, you know."

Mr. Newcomb attributes his primary victory to "knowing North Carolina like the palm of my hand. My business of selling fire extinguishing systems takes me all over the state. I represent the grassroots of North Carolina, from the coast to the mountains. I know what it is to make out a payroll and come up short at tax time. I have the feeling of the people in the pit of my stomach. When they want foot soldiers, they come get my kind of boys to head for the field. I got one son who won 37 medals in Vietnam. I got another who's serving in Turkey right now."

I asked Mr. Newcomb what he hoped to accomplish as chief justice.

"Give the people some relief," he said. "They ain't getting it from the Legislature and they ain't getting it from the executive. They're going to have to get it from the courts. I can give it to them. People keep talking about me not having a degree. I learned like Abe Lincoln learned. I've known business success and I've known business failure. I can undo the court backlog, for one thing. I'm not after anybody. I don't want no bouquets. I'm not boastful about what I've done. I told all the big newspaper boys before the election that I was going to win and they laughed at me."

Mr. Newcomb says the State Supreme Court is the "most powerful and most disrespected body in North Carolina."

"I'm running on the Republican ticket," he says, "but as far as nationalities go, as far as parties go, I'm color blind. If it's not good for North Carolina, I'm against it. I love this state."

Mr. Newcomb said he would start his fall campaign in two months. He says he'll beat Justice Sharp, "because the people want me."

Then Mr. Newcomb admonished this reporter: "If you can't do something that's good for North Carolina, don't do anything."

The Great Jewel Heist

WASHINGTON—"Dick, where is my matched set of emerald and diamond necklace and earrings? The last time I saw them they were in the safe."

"Uh, uh, uh, I think they are over in the chief of protocol's office, Pat."

"What is my jewelry doing over there?"

"Well, I don't know how to tell you this, but they're not your jewels."

"You didn't sell them to pay our back taxes did you?"

"No, Pat. You see those jewels were given to us by the Saudi Arabian royal family."

"But you told me that you gave me the necklace and earrings for my birthday."

"I did not. I distinctly remember saying that I could give them to you for your birthday—but it would be wrong."

"That isn't what you said at all, Dick, and you know it. You said that someone had offered to sell you the set for $52,000, and you could raise the money without any trouble at all. The question was not whether you should pay it, but would the jeweler keep demanding more money later on. You said if it cost you more than $52,000, it would be wrong."

"I don't care what I said, Pat. I still knew the jewels were given to us by the Saudi Arabians."

"Why didn't you tell me that in the first place?"

"National security. I couldn't let anyone know the Saudis had given us jewels. If I did, the Saudis would start giving us jewels and there would be no end to it."

"You know, Dick, that's the only jewelry you ever gave me."

"Now, Pat, stop crying. I remember the days when you were happy to wear a cloth coat."

"It isn't the jewels, Dick—it's the fact that you misspoke. How can I believe in your credibility if you won't even tell me the truth about my birthday present?"

"I wasn't my fault, Pat. If Maxine Cheshire hadn't stuck her (expletive deleted) nose into the White House, no one would have known about the Saudi gift. Don't you see what they're doing? They're out to destroy me."

Other Editors Say Strengthened Bond

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

GREENVILLE—In the crowd were legislators whose names and faces and deeds are familiar throughout North Carolina. There were physicians and business men, small town mayors and a sprinkling of newspaper editors. There was a representative of the Farm Bureau.

All had one thing in common: They each had played important roles in advancing the cause of a medical school at East Carolina University.

They had come to the home of Dr. Leo Jenkins, chancellor of ECU, for dinner and to reflect on what had been a good year for eastern North Carolina in the General Assembly.

The two year medical school had been assured despite a showdown fight with Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Jenkins and Dr. Ed Monroe, assistant chancellor for medical affairs, recognized the guests individually and mentioned specific roles many had played.

Senator Thomas Strickland of Wayne County was singled out as one who "from the beginning has advanced the cause of East Carolina."

Dr. Dick Borden, Goldsboro native and now practicing in Morehead City, was among the guests.

The atmosphere was one of satisfaction and appreciation for the efforts so many had put forth.

There also was in the air a feeling that while the battle had been won, the war was far from over—a feeling that there should be no diminishing of the ranks of those who fought for the medical school.

For East Carolina University, each small gain had been hard earned and grudgingly yielded. So it has always been.

The meeting on the back lawn of the home of Chancellor Leo Jenkins was an assemblage of some of the soldiers, taking a breather after one of their biggest and most successful battles.

While none of the speakers mentioned what problems might lay ahead, there was in each handshake an unspoken pledge. And between them all one could sense a strengthening bond that will auger well for all of our people.

"I understand that, Dick. At the same time it was wrong not to tell me who really gave us the jewels. It's almost immoral."

"Immoral you say? Here comes Father McLaughlin, my Jesuit priest. Let's ask him. Father, do you think I did anything wrong in not telling Pat the jewels I gave her came from Saudi Arabia?"

"Bless you, Mr. President. You did the right thing. It would have been immoral to tell her the truth."

"The Good Book says 'He that deceiveth his wife is innocent of all deception, amen.'"

"You see, Pat, even the church supports me."

"Oh well, it's not important. But what do I tell Tricia? She thinks the diamond and emerald pin is hers."

"Tell her we lost it."

"Why don't we just tell her the truth?"

"I'm sure Father McLaughlin has a good answer to that one, Pat. Father?"

"It says in the Good Book, 'When an Arab King gives a gift of jewels, the price of oil goes up $10 a barrel.' Tell Tricia you lost it."

India's A-Bomb Costly?

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's underground nuclear explosion has set off a chain of international repercussions that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi might find hard to control.

The blast boosted her prestige at home, but it altered the region's diplomatic checkboard and angered key Western aid donors. It posed an immediate danger to detente between India and Pakistan that had only recently begun after the strains imposed by their 1971 war.

After learning of the blast, Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan vowed never to succumb to Indian "nuclear blackmail or hegemony" and indicated he would go slow in normalizing relations.

The chairman of Pakistan's Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. Munir Ahmad Khan, hinted Tuesday that his country might have to push for its own nuclear capability in light of the Indian test.

India told Pakistan, as it told other critics abroad, that the blast was meant only for peaceful purposes.

Most world reaction to the test has been unfavorable, like severe criticism aired Tuesday by delegates to the Geneva disarmament conference. The United States and Canada, two countries on which India relies heavily for aid, said any nuclear blast furthers world nuclear instability.

"There is no difference at all between a nuclear device and a bomb," said one Western diplomat here. "You can take the device exploded Saturday, put it in an airplane, fly it over a city and drop it. That's a bomb."

"What really burns us up is the timing of this test," said another top Western diplomat. "It came just when the Indians were appealing to us to understand their special economic problems."

For two months, India has been pleading with Western aid donors, who meet in Paris early next month, to reschedule debt repayments and pledge more economic assistance.

"There is no question that in the long run governments will probably hold back some aid because they feel that India has diverted money and resources from more important economic priorities," one diplomat observed.

The most crucial assistance in nuclear technology came from Canada, which trained Indian scientists in the 1960s in the techniques of building a nu-

Big Investment In Rest Areas

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Picnicking and rest stops are big business in North Carolina. The next time you cruise into one of those modern rest stop areas complete with litter cans, grills, picnic tables, and restroom facilities, remember you are enjoying an investment of about half a million dollars in tax funds.

That's the average cost of one rest stop—and the state currently has 31 such rest areas on Interstate highways, and another 16 open on state highways other than Interstate.

James A. Saunders, chief of the state's highway landscape operation, said the costs of rest areas are skyrocketing just like everything else, considering the land required for the area, and for the access and exit ramps, the picnic equipment, and especially the extensive plumbing required in a small building. The cost per square foot of a rest-stop structure can soar as high as $300.

Another major cost is the sewage treatment and water supply system in isolated rest areas away from municipal treatment facilities.

Wider Use

Despite the costs, the rest stop business is booming for Saunders. The public demands the service, and with travel somewhat curtailed this summer, Saunders expects to see even wider use of roadside picnic areas by North Carolinians who will be staying closer to home.

Roadside picnicking is picking up, and Saunders reports that the state is expanding that operation.

Presently there are 455 picnic tables and 108 grills located in rest areas on major highways, and an additional 400 picnic tables located in small roadside parks operated by the state.

Additionally, Saunders has four new rest stop areas for Interstate highways under construction, eight more in design stages, and nine in a master plan for the future. On non-Interstate roads, three new rest areas are in design, with future plans for 27 more of them.

Operating and keeping these areas clean is a major undertaking for the state, with 80 full-time employees along Interstate routes and another 20 on other roads required. Regular Department of Transportation employees also perform some duties such as cleaning up picnic areas on a rotating basis.

Not all the picnic areas can be kept as clean as Saunders would like, especially the isolated spots for single picnic tables and litter cans.

It seems a lot of motorists, especially during these times when some filling stations are not open as regularly as in the past, take advantage of the pull-off spot to answer nature's call.

A Problem

"Yes, this has been a problem. You're going to have a certain amount of that anyway, but it is increasing. People just find a tree, and we have some places this is causing trouble."

"If it gets too bad and we can't control it, we just pick the table up and move it somewhere else, closer to a commercial establishment of some sort," Saunders said.

In addition to the picnic areas, the state has 300 litter cans located alongside the highways. Those cans were donated by the N. C. Brewers' Association, and Saunders said they are being used and are helping to cut down on roadside litter.

As for future directions, Saunders said he is keeping an eye on some picnic areas which are proving highly popular and will require enlargement, but that "presently, we have reached a level of service which appears satisfactory, so we can slow down and take a look at what is needed in the future."

Much of that planning is based on what the traveling public tells Saunders they want, and he said suggestions are welcome.

He especially likes to hear from visitors such as the family from Ontario, Canada, which wrote recently that they "much appreciated" the picnic stop they made at a rest area on Interstate-95. They found it most enjoyable, they wrote, and especially appreciated the pleasant surroundings for a family picnic.

Strength For Today

STONEWALL JACKSON
Great military men have sometimes been outstanding Christians, although this fact is hard to understand today when war as an institution is being so justifiably condemned.

Stonewall Jackson, the great Confederate general, was one of these men. After a great battle, one of his officers asked him how he could be so insensible to danger amid a storm of bullets. "Captain," replied Jackson, "my religion teaches me to feel as safe in battle as in bed. God has fixed the time for my death. I do not concern myself about that except always to be ready when it may overtake me."

His old colored servant once remarked, "The General is a great man for praying. He always pray night and morning, but when I see him get up several times in the night and go off and pray, then I know something's coming up and I pack his haversack."

Today we might wonder how a man preparing to lead others to their death could pray, but in this connection it is wise to remember that most Christians can only express their faith within the political and social context of their day.

Strength For Today A Lode Of Lost Copper In U.S.

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — If you begin your day's activities with a pocketful of pennies, you soon will have none—thanks to sales taxes, those 89-cent bargains and an array of former 10-cent items that now sell for 11 and 12 cents.

If you start out in the morning without any pennies in your pocket you soon will have some, for the same reason. Thus you should be in great shape for the next day's transaction. You should be, but you probably won't be.

The pennies that you gathered yesterday and which could be used today quite likely ended up in a coffee jar or a desk drawer, retired from circulation as a nuisance that wears through trouser pockets or handbags.

And so, while currency of all sorts declines in value at a steady pace, the demand for the lowly penny is rising. The U.S. Mint claims there is a lost lode of copper made up of billions of these lowliest coins in the realm.

"Somewhere in this vast country of ours, in excess of 30 billion pennies are in hiding," says Mary Brooks, the mint director. "They are in dresser drawers, shoe boxes, pickle jars. These are the pennies I'm looking for."

The mint now offers an Exceptional Public Service certificate to those who cash in $25 worth of pennies at a bank next month. And some banks on their own offer a tiny bonus to entice coin hoards back into circulation.

In spite of effort, there still remains some question of whether the coins will sit or circulate. Besides being a nuisance and the most versatile coin at one and the same time, pennies are saved because:

—Just because. Americans in the past few years have taken to saving almost any kind of solid object—medals, commemorative plates, gold coins, barbed wire. Presumably they present stability in an unstable world.

—The price of copper is rising. The value of copper in the penny is worth just a bit less than its face value. But with copper prices rising, the penny soon may be worth more than one cent.

—Fears exist that a less expensive metal will be substituted for the copper in pennies. Aluminum is most commonly referred to as a substitute.

For these reasons the U.S. mint just can't keep banks supplied, although in the past 5½ years it has produced 62 billion pennies. Mrs. Brooks pleads: "I'm calling for every American to get the penny back in circulation and keep it there."

40 Years Ago Today

May 22, 1934

A Pitt County man, sentenced to 25 to 30 years in the State Prison for the slaying of a filling station employee, escaped from Caledonia prison farm early this morning, the sheriff's office was told today.

One thousand six hundred revised cotton contracts from the county have been approved by the State Board of Reviews, it was announced today by E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department.

Arnold went to Raleigh some time ago to the contracts, but found that a revision was necessary.

The contracts will be forwarded to Washington within the next couple of days.

New Officer Queries Follow First Lady To A Garden Party

Jerry Robert Lee, an Asheville native raised in Pitt County has joined the Greenville Police Department and been assigned to the Uniformed Division.

JERRY R. LEE

Chief Glenn Cannon said the new officer attended Grimesland High School and is a veteran of 10 years service with the U.S. Navy. Lee joined the Navy in 1964 and was discharged as a Radioman First Class in April after serving at various posts in the U.S. and overseas, including a 12-month tour of duty in Vietnam in 1968-1969. He is married to the former Dorothy Hardee of Greenville and the couple has four sons.

Queries Follow First Lady To A Garden Party

By ANN BLACKMAN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — It was to be for Pat Nixon a pleasant occasion, "A Day in the Country," as the congressional and Cabinet wives called their annual Congressional Club luncheon for the first lady.

But as so often happens these days in Washington, the subject of Watergate came up. And Mrs. Nixon bristled. "Yes," she said tersely when asked if she has read the edited transcripts of her husband's Watergate conversations. "I did. It takes 9 to 12 hours. You can't just read excerpts."

Then she turned to the reporter questioning her during the luncheon at the Shoreham Americana Hotel and asked if she had read the entire volume. "Only about 300 pages," came the reply.

"When you've read it all come back," Mrs. Nixon said, turning away. To another reporter who asked the first lady for a reaction to the edited transcripts, Mrs. Nixon snapped, "Now look, this isn't a press conference. This is a party. If you want, ask the people here who have worked so hard on all of this so it will get in the newspapers."

Then she turned to the chairman of the luncheon, Mrs. Ruth Thone, who was trying to shield

Mrs. Nixon from reporters' questions, and said, "I don't think it's fair to take the limelight away from all those who have worked so hard."

Later, Mrs. Nixon made a veiled reference to her husband's Watergate troubles when she said to the more than 1,000 women who gave her two standing ovations, "You're my best friends. Your words, like in 'I love you,' 'we support you,' they cheer me up. These are the things that give you the chance to fight for what's right. And that's what we're doing." "It's a difficult time for her," said Helen Smith, Mrs. Nixon's press secretary. "She says she doesn't want to talk about these things because she wants to focus on the positive." Mrs. Smith said she does not think the first lady has listened to the actual tapes from which the transcripts were made. It hurt Mrs. Nixon to see her daughter Julie and her husband David Eisenhower hold a press conference May 11 to defend her father's innocence in the Watergate scandal, Mrs. Smith said.

In all wars involving the United States through Dec. 31, 1972, 1,085,000 participants were either killed or died in the service.

HALDEMAN DEFENDANT CHARLOTTE (AP)—A judge has declined to dismiss former White House aide H.R. Haldeman as a defendant in a suit by young persons seeking monetary damages because of their exclusion from a public rally at which President Nixon spoke.

Found: A real life 'Our Girl Friday'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I was quite amused at the letter in your column from the secretary who objected to doing personal jobs for her boss and his family.

She should have MY boss. I've been with him for 16 years. I get along fine with him, his wife, their five children — three of whom are now married. He feels (and I heartily agree) that I hired out to work eight hours a day, so if he wants me to do something other than straight secretarial work, I should do it.

I have vacuumed his office, met planes, trains and buses, shopped for gifts for his wife, children and grandchildren, typed essays and term papers for his high school and college children, and have even scouted for information for his wife when she was involved with the Junior League. I've gone to his home for dictation, have worked evenings, weekends and holidays, and have never felt that any of these duties were beneath my dignity as a secretary. Oh, we've had our differences, but I've never refused to do anything he's asked me to do, and he's never asked me to do anything immoral or illegal. I love my job, he's a wonderful boss, and the pay is exceptional.

HAPPY IN DALLAS

DEAR HAPPY: I'm glad the pay is exceptional because you certainly are.

DEAR ABBY: This is to thank you for publishing that hilarious column in which you included all those formal divorce announcements. I laughed until my sides ached.

When our daughter was divorced two years ago, my husband and I went through all the agonies other parents endure when their married children divorce. ["Isn't there some way we can keep them together? The whole town is talking. What will we tell people?"]

Now we realize it wasn't all that tragic. Our daughter is soon to marry another man, and this one is a prince.

I just had to tell you that I got a wonderful laugh out of that column. I'm only sorry we didn't know such announcements were available two years ago. We'd have sent some.

N. Y. POST READER

DEAR READER: Thanks, I needed that. Not everyone saw the humor in that column, and to those who did not, I apologize. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published some formal divorce announcements:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Jones take pleasure in announcing the divorce of their daughter Alice from that slob she married in 1963, etc."

Was that supposed to be funny? Perhaps I failed to see the humor of it because I am going through a heartbreaking divorce right now.

Only last week I was in court when my husband walked in. I had all I could do to keep from going over to straighten his tie, and tell him he should have worn his pale blue shirt with that suit. We had been married for 26 years. I've lived more years with him than without him and this divorce still seems so unreal to me. [He asked for it. He has somebody else.]

Anyway, I fail to see anything funny about divorce. At the bottom of your column it says, "You'll feel better if you get it off your chest." Well, I did, and I do. Thanks for listening.

Foreign Artists Drawn To Rome

By RUTH E. GRUBER
ROME (AP) — For centuries foreign artists have converged on Rome. Like a magnet, the Eternal City has attracted the likes of Poussin, Van Dyck, Velasquez, Goya and Claude, among hundreds more — famous or otherwise. Some were unknown until their Roman sojourns.

Many of them lived near the Spanish Steps and Via Margutta, and they left countless stories of Bohemian behavior and countless paintings and sculptures in their wake.

Foreign artists still find fascination in Rome. Well-known or struggling, many find a home amidst the baroque curves of this ancient capital. Some stay for years, some for a few months.

Sculptor Dimitri Hadzi, 53, came to Rome from New York in 1951 and has lived here ever since.

"It was for purely financial reasons," he said. "I was on a Fulbright grant in Athens, but I wanted to use the G.I. Bill, so I had to come to Rome."

Hadzi goes to the United States two or three times a year, and many of his major works are there, including large sculptures at Lincoln Center in New York, the JFK Federal Office Building in Boston, and the Federal Reserve Building in Minneapolis. He recently had a one man show in Los Angeles.

He considers Rome both conducive and distracting when it comes to working — but regards it as a happy combination.

"I still find it stimulating here," he said. "The baroque spirit, the antiquity — especially the architecture, all greatly influence my work." Susan Smyly, 33, originally of Detroit, is another American sculptor who has settled in Rome. She was a fellow at the American Academy in 1965-66, and then returned to the city as a teacher in 1971. Now she devotes herself full time to her solid, figurative sculpture, and lives in Via Margutta — historic "Street of the Artists."

"When I was back in the States I really felt the need of the slower pace of life in a pretty city," she said. "So I returned. Rome has been a huge influence on me. Here you are very aware of proportional elements that are important in a piece of sculpture."

She intends to stay here as long as she can.

Country Music's Queen Taking New Direction

By SYLVIA RECTOR
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kitty Wells, the Queen of Country Music, doesn't see the latest turn in her career as an attempt to make a comeback. She says she's just taking a slightly different direction.

Maybe she doesn't call it a comeback simply because she feels she never left in the first place.

"I never stopped recording. But my records weren't getting the airplay they used to. I guess maybe the disc jockeys thought I had it made and I didn't need my records played as much as some of the newer people did," the dark-haired singer explained.

Kitty's career skyrocketed in 1952 with her recording of "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels." Now 51, she has never been challenged for her title, Queen of Country Music.

Her list of music credits includes at least 23 top-of-the-chart hits. In the mid 50s, Kitty's songs ran in the top ten for three years without missing even one week. And it's difficult to find an honor in this industry which Kitty hasn't claimed at one time or another.

But country music's audience began growing and the sound began to change. Kitty didn't lose her old fans, but there were a lot more new fans to be picked up — fans who weren't even out of the cradle when she first began singing her soulful country blues.

In September of 1973, she released "Mississippi Missus." It did so-so.

The turning point was last January. She asked to be released from a life-time contract with Decca records and signed with a rock label called Capricorn. Kitty says it wasn't that she wanted to do rock music — Capricorn wanted to get into the country sound.

"I'd just changed record labels and the boys (her sons) had been looking for some material for me. That's when they found "Forever Young." We did it up more country than Bob Dylan had, of course. And I guess it's done pretty well."

As if recording Bob Dylan wasn't unusual enough, The Marshall Tucker Band and The Allman Brothers did backup for the single.

"I'm not real sure what gets airplay now," Kitty said. "Sometimes you can do something and they say it's too country. Then you do something else and they say that's too 'pop.'"

"Of course, the old-time deejays still recognize the name and I guess we've just got to get some of these younger ones to start playing the records."

If jocks have changed, Kitty doesn't believe the fans have.

"I've always tried to be just plain me; down-to-earth and not 'put-on.' That's what the fans like. They like to be able to come up and talk to you after a show and get your autograph and feel like they know you. That's what country music is all about."

"I don't think country music has really changed all that much. It's just expanded."

"My favorite songs are still the heart songs... songs about love and people. Songs that tell a story that people can listen to and feel like it's part of their own lives."

"People still like to hear the blues," she declared.

Empire Brushes Plant Honored

The employees and management of Empire Brushes, Inc., in Greenville were honored Tuesday by Sears, Roebuck and Company.

Arthur Maerlender, Buyer of Housewares for Sears, and Roger Waggoner, Housewares Merchandising Manager for Sears, presented the Sears Symbol of Excellence Award for 1973 during a brief ceremony at the Empire plant on U.S. 13 North and at a civic luncheon at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

The award was accepted at the plant by Frank DeBease, Vice President of Manufacturing, who then presented it to James A. Hecker, Plant Manager of the Greenville facility. Hecker accepted the award on behalf of the plant employees.

The award was again presented at the luncheon by Maerlender and accepted by Jack Grantz, President of Empire Brushes.

The Symbol of Excellence Award was one of the nearly 500 presented this year to suppliers judged the most outstanding among 12,000 merchandising sources. Empire Brushes received the award previously in 1970, 1971, and 1972.

Maerlender said that Empire was selected for the Sears Award by a committee representing the company retail stores, catalog operations, National Service Department, Quality Control Section and Merchandise Development and Testing Laboratory.

Empire was host for the luncheon and was represented by Grantz; Debase and Ted Uly, vice president of sales, all of Port Chester, N.Y. Representing the Greenville staff were Hecker; Stanley Zicherman, manufacturing superintendent; Jerry Singleton, production control manager; Cecil Gurganus, plastics manager; Robert Oswald, data processing manager; Leon Wright, personnel manager; John Huber, industrial engineering manager; Rolf Kamen, new products manager; David Powell, supervisor automatics department; Elsie Garris, supervisor, packing department; Tommy Harris, supervisor, twisted-in-wire department; James Durham, supervisor, mop, sheepskin and broom department; Sid O'Neal, supervisor of receiving, shipping and warehouse; and Dwight Foster, supervisor of maintenance department.

Special guests attending the luncheon were Mayor S. Eugene West; William Speight, Attorney for Pitt County; J. Hugh Basemore, Vice President of Planters National Bank; Les Garner of Garner-Wynne-Manning, Inc.; and S. Edward Harris of Harris Supermarkets.

Reports Heard By Pitt NAACP Unit

The Pitt County Branch of the National Association of Colored People met this week, and heard a report on the Annual Freedom Day celebration held by the NAACP State Conference of Branches in Raleigh.

Speakers quoted Roy Wilkins, national executive director of the NAACP who spoke at the Raleigh session as saying the Brown Opinion of 1954 that outlawed officially the "separate-but-equal" doctrine, "is too important a milestone in the long struggle for freedom for there to be any doubts as to who did what," emphasizing that it "was won by the NAACP and no one else."

"We just want to set the record straight," Wilkins was quoted as saying.

The 1954 Brown Opinion by the U. S. Supreme Court banned segregation in the public schools. May 17 was the 20th anniversary of that decision by the high court.

Mrs. Queenie Hardy Harris, who represented the county as Mother-of-the-Year and others from Pitt made the trip to Raleigh to represent Pitt at the Freedom Day celebration.

Mrs. Willie M. Carney will represent the Pitt County Branch of the NAACP at the national convention scheduled for July 1-5 in New Orleans, La.

OIL PROFITS
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Occidental Petroleum Corp. reports its after-tax income in the first four months of 1974 totaled $107.62 million, a 620 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Discuss School Systems Here K-of-C Is Organized

School facilities and financing were the subjects of Tuesday night's meeting of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters.

Doris Jean Haggard, education chairperson, led the program.

With the aid of slides, Mildred Indorf and Kay Davis outlined the history of school construction in Pitt County and in Greenville. They noted that Bethel has the oldest school, Bethel Primary, built in 1916 and that Wahl-Coates of Greenville is the newest completed in 1972. Greenville now has nine schools and Pitt County has 22.

Terry Shank and Ann Frost presented the financial aspects of the Greenville and the Pitt County school systems.

Basing discussion on the 1972-73 school year, it was noted that Pitt County had an overall average daily attendance of 10,694 pupils. This is about twice the number of students in Greenville. The county's $9 million school budget was also about twice Greenville's.

Both Pitt County and Greenville depend about equally on state funds, which furnish about 66 per cent of the county's school budget and about 63 per cent of the county budget.

However, for the remainder Pitt County depends more on the federal government which funds about 24 per cent of its budget, whereas Greenville receives about 20 per cent of its budget from local sources.

In both city and county, the main item is instruction, including teacher salaries. About 63 per cent and 70 per cent respectively of the county and city school budgets is spent in this category.

This LWV program was the third in a series of programs presented as part of a two-year study of the Greenville and Pitt County School systems. More programs on other aspects of public schools are planned.

White House Volunteers' Loyalty Hasn't Wavered

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost every weekday for four years, Rae Zeeman has worked without pay at the White House, addressing envelopes, answering the telephone and clipping newspapers.

Mrs. Zeeman is a White House volunteer, one of 250 women who regularly give up a day or two a week to work for President Nixon. Volunteering every day, as Mrs. Zeeman does, is the exception. On an average day, she has 12 to 15 assistants.

Despite the President's Watergate troubles, Mrs. Zeeman says her loyalty hasn't wavered.

"I believe in him," she said. "I've read the transcripts, and I fully believe he's done nothing impeachable. A few things he didn't speak of soon enough.... But I'm just as much for him now as I was in the 1948 (Senate) campaign and when he ran with Eisenhower in 1952."

Mrs. Warren Cannon of Bethesda, Md., said she often works two days a week at the White House "because I'm a registered Republican, and I like President Nixon and his policies. I wouldn't miss a day coming in."

It's hardly the glamorous offices that attract volunteers, mostly housewives from the Washington area. Many of them work in a cramped, windowless office in the attic of the Executive Office Building, next door to the White House.

The woman in charge of the volunteers is Anne Higgins, a 34-year-old New Yorker who said she has worked for Nixon since taking a secretarial job with his New York law firm nine years ago.

"No matter what the attitude of people calling, it's important to me that there be someone responsive here to listen," she said.

Mrs. Higgins, who says her husband converted her from being a registered Democrat to a Republican after she supported President John F. Kennedy, said the volume of letters and phone calls is heaviest after a presidential speech, a press conference or an important news event.

She said the White House received 7,000 letters about Nixon's April 29 speech, in which he announced he would make public the edited transcripts of his Watergate conversations.

And, in the two-week period ending May 7, the White House received 4,500 letters supporting the President but not mentioning the speech and 500 expressing dissatisfaction, she said. Mrs. Higgins said she knows who have quit because they became disillusioned with the President over the Watergate scandal.

"The only thing they say is dent," she said. "They're they're fighting for the President, working harder than ever."

Best Sites To Hunt Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-five major oil companies, responding to a government study, have rated the central Gulf of Mexico the top area for offshore drilling.

According to the Bureau of Land Management, top rankings also were given the Gulf of Alaska, the western Gulf of Mexico, the Southern California borderland and the middle Atlantic outer continental shelf.

Only six environmental or civic groups commented on the 17 areas listed by the agency in its call for preferences, and none of them ranked the areas, according to a spokesman.

The agency spokesman said a formal report was prepared for presentation to Univesecretary of the Interior John Whittaker, and a final report will be released within a few weeks, after copies are sent to coastal states that would be affected.

Michael C. Hunt, a government geologist assembling the comments, said the oil companies' preferences generally fell in line with where they already have production.

"They are interested in areas not particularly because of the resource potential factors," he said, "but for internal corporate reasons, such as transportation aid marketing potentials, material needs and how quickly they can construct rigs."

N.C. Obscenity Law Termed Virtually Inoperable

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Two district attorneys say a change in the law made by the 1974 General Assembly leaves them without a suitable weapon against pornography.

"The legislature would have been better off and certainly more intellectually honest if it had passed a bill repealing obscenity laws," said Burley B. Mitchell, district attorney in Wake County.

Jack A. Thompson, district attorney at Fayetteville, said procedure called for in the new law "makes effective enforcement of the obscenity law virtually impossible."

Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, chairman of a subcommittee which studied the obscenity law change, did not agree.

Although the law defines what will be considered obscene, it also requires that there must be a court finding that material is obscene before an arrest can be made.

Mitchell said the law requires that a dealer or movie operator must display the material a second time, after the court rules it obscene, to be liable for criminal prosecution.

Mitchell and Thompson said the practical effect of the law will be that once a civil complaint has been filed against a particular work, the dealer can simply change his stock and get a new supply of pornography.

"It would be patently foolish for him to sell something that has already been declared obscene," Mitchell said. "But all he does is change his stock, order some new supplies in small quantity, so they will be sold out by the time the civil complaint is decided."

Mitchell said that pattern "in effect means there will not be any criminal prosecutions for obscenity under the law."

Smith said the General Assembly did not consider the objection raised by Mitchell and Thompson to be a problem.

"The people who appeared before our committee claimed that adult book stores would not exist if they have to change their stock every week, if all they sold was hard core pornography, and would go out of business," Smith said. "I think that was what the General Assembly wanted to see done."

The new amendment, Thompson said bars officers "from making any arrests for obscenity until the material involved goes through an adversary hearing to determine whether it is in fact obscene," Thompson said. "The result of this procedure makes effective enforcement of the obscenity law virtually impossible."

He said the new procedure under which hearings will have to be held to determine whether each piece of material is obscene "will require more court time and will make enforcement, if there can be enforcement, much more complex." "I personally feel it only aids the pornography outlets," Thompson added.

He and Mitchell expressed the opinion that many legislators were not aware of the effect of the amendment.

"I don't think they were aware of the practical effect it would have," said Thompson. "I would suspect the General Assembly would take some action to amend the law as soon as they meet," Mitchell said. He said the North Carolina law is "probably the second or third most liberal obscenity law in the nation."

The camp also has a full program of arts and crafts instruction, athletics—including basketball, softball, football, soccer, and archery, as well as the usual camp activities of nature activities and campfires. # How Tar Heel Representatives, Senators Voted

By Roll Call Report
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes May 9 through May 15.

HOUSE PRODUCTIVITY COMMISSION Passed, 238 for and 139 against, a bill (S. 1752) to spend $2.5 million in fiscal 1975 for the Presidential Commission on Productivity and Work Quality, and thus keep it alive. The purpose of the commission is to increase productivity in the American economy by cutting down on waste or by promoting automation. In the past, the commission has, for instance, demonstrated better ways for loading perishable vegetables and fruits into refrigerated train cars.

Supporters argued that increasing productivity helps

America compete with foreign manufacturers and is a key to halting inflation. Rep. John Rousselot (R-Calif.) said, "Productivity is the mainspring of economic stability, growth and prosperity."

Opponents argued that the commission duplicates the work of existing agencies. Rep. Henry Gonzalez (D-Texas) said the productivity commission is, therefore, "unproductive." Rep. H.R. Gross (R-Iowa) called the bill "a piece of legislative trash."

Reps. Ike Andrews (D-4), Wilmer Mizell (R-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Earl Ruth (R-8), James Martin (R-9) and James Broyhill (R-10) voted "yea."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L.H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

Rep. Charles Rose (D-7) did not vote.

EGG PRODUCTION Passed, 238 for and 151 against, an amendment to force egg producers to pay the total cost of a proposed federal program to help them sell eggs.

The amendment was attached to a bill (H.R. 12000) to let the Department of Agriculture advise egg producers on improved production methods and better advertising techniques.

As a result of the amendment, the program will be financed only by a voluntary five-cents per case (30 dozen eggs) tax on large producers.

The amendment changed language that would have permitted the Department of Agriculture to pay up to $100,000 annually in administrative costs.

Supporters argued that a government subsidy is not needed because the per-case tax is expected to yield $7.5 million annually for the program.

Opponents argued that declining sales—since 1954 per capita consumption has dropped about 20 per cent—require the federal government to help egg producers as much as possible. Other opponents said egg producers should get subsidies similar to those given cotton and grain growers.

Martin and Broyhill voted "yea."

Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth and Taylor voted "nay."

SENATE

60 MPH SPEED LIMIT Rejected, 29 for and 52 against, an amendment to let states raise their speed limits to 60 miles-per-hour. Since Jan. 2, states have been subject to the federally-established 55 m.p.h. speed limit.

In rejecting the amendment, the Senate voted to continue the lower limit. The amendment was offered to S. 3267, an energy bill.

Supporters argued that states should be permitted to adjust speed limits to local terrain, and said that 55 m.p.h. is too slow for long-distance travel in western states. Sen. Robert Dole (R-Kansas) said that "55 m.p.h. is an unreasonably and frustratingly low speed to travel." He also said the low limit hurts the trucking industry.

In opposing the higher limit, Sen. Robert Stafford (R-Vermont) said, "The higher speeds require more energy. The higher speeds will kill more people." Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-West Virginia) cautioned against forgetting "that the fuel shortage was not a mid-winter hallucination, but rather a permanent fact of life."

Sen. Sam Ervin (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "yea."

SCHOOL AID Passed, 56 for and 36 against, an amendment to give rural and suburban areas more Title I education aid in fiscal 1975 than they received in 1974, and urban areas less.

The amendment was offered to S. 1539, the elementary and secondary education bill.

Title I funds go to school districts with high populations of students from poor families.

Here's the list of states that will lose money under the new formula, if it becomes law:

Alaska, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The amendment adopted a formula that the House already has passed.

In general, senators voting for the amendment were those whose states would get more aid, and senators voting against were those whose states would lose money.

Ervin and Helms voted "yea." BUSING Tabled, 47 for and 46 against, an amendment to prohibit long-distance busing of students to achieve racial balance in the schools.

The amendment was offered to the elementary and secondary education bill. It also would have permitted schools to go to court to overturn certain existing busing plans.

The amendment would have prohibited busing students farther than the school next-closest to their neighborhood school, and would have outlawed busing across school district lines unless the lines were drawn for racial reasons.

In voting to table the amendment, the Senate in effect killed it.

Supporters of the move to table argued that the country has enough problems without getting further hung up on the issue of busing. They said busing is effective in breaking down social barriers, and for providing equal education.

Those voting against the move to table argued that busing fires racial tensions, instead of calming them. Sen. Edward Gurney (R-Florida) said there is "no consistent evidence of educational improvement as a result of busing."

Ervin and Helms voted "nay." PARENTAL CONSENT Rejected, 40 for and 43 against, an amendment to require parental consent before schools can force students to undergo certain "psychological" tests or participate in "innovative" programs.

The amendment was offered to the elementary and secondary education bill.

Those voting for argued that control over what students learn should be left to their parents, not the schools. Sen. James Buckley (C-New York) argued that parents have "the right to be informed about out-of-the-ordinary federally funded programs in which their children might participate."

Those voting against argued that school programs and school administered test are matters of state and local policy, not open to federal regulation. Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif) said the amendment "would thwart a state's compulsory-attendance laws," and might interject the federal government into "issues of academic and personal freedom that should be left in local and state hands."

Ervin and Helms voted "yea."

SLA Hideouts Squalid, Seen Increasingly Spartan

By TIM REITERMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In a trail of cluttered nesting places, the Symbionese Liberation Army left behind signs of a squalid and increasingly spartan existence fed by revolutionary dreams.

For six SLA members, the trail of their hideouts began, and ended, in flames.

The search began after two alleged SLA "soldiers" were arrested Jan. 10 for the murder of a schools superintendent. Police say the small terrorist group tried unsuccessfully to burn down a nearby bungalow in suburban Concord that night.

In the smoke-damaged rooms, authorities found a cache of clues about the mysterious group which had claimed responsibility for killing Oakland Schools Supt. Marcus Foster last Nov. 6.

Judging by documents in the house, police say, the SLA had kept busy making surveillance reports on Foster, writing communiques and compiling dossiers on prominent local businessmen for kidnaping warrants. One name found on papers there was that of Patricia Hearst, a college sophomore in nearby Berkeley.

Doors and windows in the house were reinforced with plywood, and baled newspapers were kept nearby for quick barricading. Revolutionary posters adorned many walls.

Beneath a mantle full of books on guerrilla warfare, weaponry and Marxism, the occupants evidently constructed pipebombs and practiced shooting a wall target with an air pistol. Gas masks were kept next to their beds; heavier ammunition was scattered all around.

For recreation, they apparently played rock music on the stereo, and sipped beer or wine. An empty case of plum wine, which the SLA's late leader Donald DeFreeze reportedly favored, was found along with several Molotov cocktails made with the empties.

The cupboards and refrigerator were well stocked with staples and health foods from a Berkeley store. But stacks of dirty dishes overflowed the sink, and bags of garbage spilled across the floor.

Their clothing — mainly Levis, Army fatigue jackets and other military surplus — was haphazardly stored in drawers and closets, or tossed in a corner. "They didn't seem to care much about their material possessions," said Oakland Homicide Sgt. John Agler.

Six days later, on Jan. 16, police reported discovery of a second SLA hideout. The third story Oakland apartment was rented from September through November by a woman calling herself Lynn Ledworth. Police believed her to be the late SLA member Nancy Ling Perry.

Less than six blocks from the Foster assassination site, the apartment was an ideal spot to plot and launch the murder, as well as a good sanctuary later, police said.

The SLA vanished after the Feb. 4 kidnaping of Miss Hearst, reappearing into known public view with the newspaper heiress on April 15 during a $10,690 bank robbery.

During that period, police say SLA members had moved into a rundown apartment building on the edge of San Francisco's Western Addition, a predominantly black neighborhood about 1½ miles from the FBI office here.

During that two-month span, there is evidence that SLA members regularly walked or drove several blocks in the neighborhood to shop at the New Laguna Grocery store.

"Practically all of them were in and out of here, but I didn't know who they were," said Mrs. E. G. Jamerson, the owner. "The girl I thought was Patty was thin and pretty. Beautiful."

"Once I asked her, 'Are you Patty?' but she just smiled and said, 'A lot of folks think that.' 'They all were very warm and friendly, even the man who asked me for plum wine,' she said. 'I said, 'Plum wine? I never heard of such a thing.' So he just walked away.'"

Neighbors, who had been bothered by loud noises from the apartment, said the young occupants departed at the end of April, carrying boxes and clothing on hangers to a station wagon.

In the cockroach-infested apartment, the SLA's seven-headed cobra was emblazoned on the walls along with a revolutionary slogan signed "Tan-ia." Miss Hearst's adopted SLA name.

Documents and a key to the bank robbery getaway car soaked in acid in the bathtub, while piles of clothing, wigs, dresses, women's underwear, gallon wine bottles and a bicycle were strewn about.

Again, the FBI was one step behind.

Two days later, in the largely black Bayview District, authorities say the SLA next took shelter in a faded brown stucco building near industrial yards. It was just one block from one of the distribution sites for a $2 million food program set up to help secure Miss Hearst's release.

On May 1, a black woman using the name "M. Jackson" paid $375 cash to rent the place. Neighbors said, however, that three black men in Army jackets also were seen entering the door on Monday, they found five dirty mattresses, plum wine bottles, clothing, wigs and beauty aids.

Old newspapers indicated at least some persons had stayed until last Friday, the day six members died in a fiery Los Angeles gun battle.

To Destroy Dog That Killed Tot

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A dog which last week bit and killed a 5-year-old Charlotte girl will be destroyed, the owners have decided.

The 3-year-old golden retriever, Chad, will be put to sleep with an overdose of anesthesia, according to Dr. Forrest B. Long, a veterinarian.

He said he would decide when to put the dog to sleep after checking with Mecklenburg County authorities about the required 10-day observation period.

S. Edwin Stowe, whose family owns the dog, said Tuesday the family was still too disturbed by the death of the child to discuss the matter.

Weakness In Most Hospitals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hospitals must improve their outpatient services. A major defect in the hospital system is that "the service operation has been designed for the comfort of the physician and administrator — and the patient is the last person to be considered."

This is according to Dr. Stanley Reichman, director of community medicine, Hospital for Joint Diseases and Medical Center in New York City. He made that point in the journal, The Hospital Medical Staff, a publication of the American Medical Association.

Advanced Bomber Faces Vote

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense spending supporters say the House may vote to reduce U.S. military aid for South Vietnam to $900 million and cut 100,000 men from U.S. forces overseas.

But first up on a $22.6-billion weapons bill today were amendments to kill the advanced B1 bomber and curtail the new Trident missile-firing submarine. Strategists on both sides predicted, however, the House would vote full funding for those two weapons.

An amendment by Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., would cut all $499 million for the B1. Another by Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., would cut $466.8 million to keep Trident construction at one submarine a year rather than two.

The action was on a $22.6 billion authorization for all weapons procurement, research and development for the fiscal year starting July 1. The bill also sets U.S. military manpower levels for the year.

Defense spending supporters, reportedly including White House lobbyists, were pessimistic on both the Vietnam aid and the U.S. overseas troop cut votes.

They said they believed they could narrowly defeat an amendment by a coalition of military spending critics and economy bloc congressmen to cut the bill $733 million across the board.

tanks, torpedoes and other weapons, and $9 billion for weapons research and development.

It is $487 million below President Nixon's request and is part of his $91 billion defense budget request for next year.

Raise $9,000 For Hurt Child

HENDERSON, N. C. (AP) — Residents of Henderson have raised $6,000 to help meet medical and hospital expenses of a 9-year-old girl who suffered a head injury in a fall from a horse three weeks ago.

Projects such as a bake sale and a hamburger fry have helped raise funds for Kelly Short, who has remained in a coma since she was operated on the day of the accident. At times she becomes semi-conscious at Duke Hospital in Durham.

Doctors say she suffered brain damage when she fell on a piece of wood.

Residents also have contributed 51 pints of blood, three times with 17 pints she required.

"The Vietnam aid will be cut to $900 million," said a knowledgeable supporter of the aid who did not want to be identified. He said too few congressmen are willing to support higher aid they believe is unpopular with voters.

The bill as approved by the House Armed Services Committee would boost the present $1.126-billion Vietnam aid ceiling to $1.4 billion. Another Leggett amendment would cut that aid to $900 million, the figure approved last week by the Senate Armed Service Committee.

The amendment to phase out 100,000 of the 435,000 U.S. ground troops overseas in 18 months was proposed by House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts.

The authorization bill includes $13.6 billion for procurement of planes, missiles, ships,

Budget Hearing For Winterville

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Board of Aldermen will conduct a public hearing June 3 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the tentative budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

According to Town Clerk Elwood Nobles, the new budget totals $430,410, an increase of 10 percent over the current fiscal year's budget.

The budget will be approved after the public hearing is held. A copy of the budget is available for public inspection in the town clerk's office.

Nobles explained the town has two petitions circulated for annexation of Lora Lane and the area adjoining Cooper Street.

The property, which includes 29 property owners, will be taken into the town only if 100 percent of the owners agree to the action.

The electric rates for the June billing will show a fuel charge of $6.36 per 1000 kilowatts. The fuel cost for 500 kwh is $3.18 and the cost for 2000 is $12.72.

Belfast Seeing More Defiance

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Gunfire crackled today in Protestant strongholds of East Belfast as militant strikers defied thousands of British troops in combat gear by erecting barricades the soldiers had torn down.

There was no immediate word of casualties, but police said six or seven men were involved in the shooting.

One mob of young men armed with rocks and clubs attacked and encircled a police patrol, and soldiers in armored cars moved in to rescue the officers.

Traffic that had begun flowing for the first time in three days after the army swoop snarled again as the new barricades went up.

The Protestant reaction came a few hours after soldiers in combat gear swarmed through the British province's beleaguered capital, clearing streets blocked to back up a Protestant-led general strike.

It was a quick reply to claims by strike leaders that they controlled Northern Ireland to the point of being able to form a provisional government.

Soldiers with blackened faces and guns at the ready moved in at dawn and quickly cleared all main roads into the capital. They bulldozed vehicles to the sidewalks.

After eight days of almost total industrial disruption, the militants had tightened their stranglehold on the British province's capital by cutting off the distribution of fuel supplies.

The early-morning action followed a night in which Protestant extremists were blamed for two attacks, with machine gun fire and a bomb, in which four teen-age girls were wounded.

Faculty Member Is Danforth Associate

Dr. Rodo Nischan of the East Carolina University history faculty and his wife, the former Gerda Baumann, have been selected as associates for the 1974-75 Danforth Associate Program.

They are among college and university faculty members and their spouses at more than 750 U.S. institutions chosen to participate in the program.

According to Robert Rankin, vice president of the Danforth Foundation, associates will work directly with students on their campuses in an effort "to improve student-faculty relations and to strengthen the teaching-learning process."

"The purpose of the program is to encourage the humanizing of the educational process in colleges and universities," he said. "The program is a strong counterforce against the depersonalized atmosphere present in much of American higher education."

The Nischans plan to attend a national conference of Danforth Associates in Estes Park, Colorado in August. Several noted academicians will lead the conference, whose theme is "Quest for Community in a Shattered Society."

An alumnus of Yale University, Dr. Nischan has advanced degrees from the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia and the University of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Nischan formerly worked for NATO and the German Consulate in Philadelphia and studied English at Cambridge University.

They are the parents of a son, Michael.

Special Law For Widows

RALEIGH (AP)—In its closing days the 1974 General Assembly enacted a bill that qualified a judge's widow for lifetime survivor's benefits.

The bill was introduced by four House members from the 15th Judicial District (Chatham, Orange and Alamance counties) to make 53-year-old Doris Horton eligible for an undisclosed amount each month for the rest of her life.

Her husband, Chief District Court Judge Harry P. Horton of Pittsboro, died last Dec. 27, in four days he would have qualified under the judicial retirement system.

Two of the bill's sponsors, Representatives Edward S. Holmes of Chatham and W.S. Harris Junior of Alamance acknowledged Tuesday that they introduced the measure specifically to benefit Mrs. Horton. However, they said it was general legislation, not special legislation which is prohibited by the state constitution.

Desalinization

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The House has passed legislation authorizing $13.9 million for research in desalting water, including continued work at a facility near Wilmington, N.C. Actual funds would depend on later appropriation legislation.

Apartment For Julie And David

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julie and David Eisenhower are giving up their suburban home for a duplex apartment in the city. Their previous landlord, President Nixon's friend C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, has sold the house they rented in Bethesda, Md.

The White House said Tuesday plans to move into the $409-a-month two-bedroom apartment at Columbia Plaza next month, near the Watergate apartments, so David will be closer to the George Washington University Law School and Julie will be nearer the airport, which she uses to fly to Indianapolis for her part-time job with the Curtis Publishing Co.

No-Hitter Pitched By Aycock's Davis

By TOM FOREMAN JR.
Reflector Staff Writer
C. B. Aycock pitcher Parker Davis pitched a no-hitter for his team last night, but it took a collision in the outfield in their half of the seventh to break a 4-4 tie and give Aycock a 5-4 victory over Williamston in second round action of the 3-A Baseball playoffs held at Harrington Field.

David struck out ten batters, but walked nine. Seven errors behind him hurt his effort, but helped preserve Williamston's lack of contact. Losing pitcher Danny Todd breezed along for four innings until Aycock pulled out their artillery in the last three innings to come from behind.

Williamston pitched less errorless ball, committing only two miscues, but both mistakes came in the seventh inning when they were least needed for the Tigers.

The Tigers led off the scoring in the second inning. Danny Todd started the inning by reaching first on the shortstop's error. Todd was replaced by courtesy runner Roy Lilley. He moved around on Berwyn Barnhill's walk. A double steal was executed, and when the catcher's throw went into left field, Lilley came in with the first run. Barnhill moved to third on the same error, but was nailed on a rundown between third and the plate.

Oakmont Handed Its First Loss

Oakmont suffered its first loss in the Church League last night while Immanuel was getting another setback.

Trinity and St. James took wins in the American division. At field two, Univ. Mt. Pleasant beat First Free Will by a lopsided 25-5 and Black Jack dumped Arlington St., 15-4.

In the big game at field one, Memorial Baptist upset Oakmont. Earlier, Trinity had gotten its second win beating 1st Christian, 9-4. Trinity scored five in the first for enough to win it. Christian got two in the bottom of the first, one in the fourth and one in the sixth. Trinity added three in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Oakmont scored first getting four runs in the second. Memorial came back in the bottom of the inning going ahead on a five-run rally. Oakmont regained the lead with two in the fourth and seemed on the way to winning it with another in the fifth.

Memorial rallied in the last of the sixth coming up with four to win the game.

In the final game at Evan's 1, St. James won an extra inning game from Presbyterian, 3-2. The Presbyterians had pushed over two in the second but St. James scored one in the sixth and a homer by Durham in the seventh tied it up. St. James won it in the top of the first extra inning and set Presbyterian down in order in the last of the inning.

Bryant tried to steal second, the pitcher cut off the catcher's peg, and nailed Smith between the bases.

The third of Williamston's four runs came in the next inning. With one out, Phil Selby walked. Joe Roberson hit into an apparent fielder's choice, but the throw from short to second was errored, leaving two runners on base. Davis balked the runners over one base, and Keith Brown's sacrifice fly scored Selby.

CBA went to work in the fifth inning, and promptly tied the game. Randy Pittman singled and went to third on Curly Summerlin's towering double to left. Pinch-hitter Tommy Herndon singled to center scoring two runs. Glen Lancaster replaced Herndon on first base and went to second on Richard Lancaster's single. Ed Finch sacrificed the runners over, and Joey Durham's sacrifice fly to right field scored Glen Lancaster with the tiebreaker.

Aycock took the lead in the sixth. Derwin Hawley singled through the middle, and alert baserunning on his part after a sacrifice by Randy Taylor got him to third. Randy Pittman's sacrifice fly to left broke the tie.

Keith Brown led off the Williamston seventh with a walk. He moved over on a wild pitch, and when Barnhill hit into yet another error. Brown came from second to re-tie the contest at four.

The game-winner scored in the bottom half of the seventh. Glen Lancaster led off with a single to center field. Richard Lancaster reached first on the third baseman's error. Both moved up on Finch's sacrifice.

First baseman Jerry Price, who replaced injured Joey Durham, hit a blooper into short fourth, one in the fifth and six in the sixth.

Grace remained undefeated as they edged Immanuel, 7-5. Immanuel took the lead on four first inning runs. Grace cut it to 4-2 with a pair in the bottom of the first. Grace closed to within a run in the second and then rallied for two in the third to tie the game after Immanuel had gotten one in the top of the third. Grace got two in the seventh on a two-run homer by S. Pugh to win the game.

In the final game, Black Jack bombed Arlington St., 15-4. Black Jack came up with four in the second but Arlington St. knocked three runs off the lead in the bottom of the inning. Black Jack won it in the third with a five run rally. They added two in the fourth and three in the seventh. Arlington scored its other run in the third.

Tom Weiskopf has won two of the last three Philadelphia Classic golf events. His four-round total was 274 each time.

center. The center-fielder and the second baseman obviously failed to call each other off for the ball, and they collided. Center-fielder Barnhill had the ball in his glove, but the force of the collision jarred the ball loose, ending the ball game as Glen Lancaster scored, and ending any playoff chances for the Tigers.

C. B. Aycock will now face Farmville Central, winners over Havelock in an 11-inning affair Monday. The site and day for the game had not, at press time, been determined.

Beltone And Dixie Win

Beltone continues and Dixie Sales moved into the winners column at the expense of the Daily Reflector last night in Ladies Softball League action.

In the first game of the night, Piggly Wiggly slammed Little Mint, 18-3. P-W pushed over three in the first and won it in the second with three more. They added six in the fifth and six more in the sixth. LM scored all its runs in the fifth.

Beltone stopped Coke, 11-5. Coke got a run in the first but Beltone edged in front with two in the bottom half of the inning. Coke was trying for an upset as they rallied for three in the second getting the lead back but Beltone got a run in their turn at bat. Beltone pushed over two in the third tying the game and after Coke had scored once in the fourth, Beltone rallied for six in the sixth to win the game.

Dixie beat the Daily Reflector in the first inning as they pushed over four runs. Dixie added six in the second, one in the third and four in the fifth. The Daily Reflector got one in each of the second, fifth and seventh innings for the final 15-3 margin.

Tom Weiskopf has won two of the last three Philadelphia Classic golf events. His four-round total was 274 each time.

WFL Plans

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The enthusiastic World Football League has announced a 20-game schedule for each of its 12 teams. The slate, made public Tuesday, starts with five games on Wednesday evening, July 10, followed by a nationally televised game July 11. And they all count in the standings.

Portland is at Philadelphia, Hawaii at Florida, Southern California at Birmingham, Houston at Chicago and Detroit at Memphis to start the season. Then Jacksonville hosts New York to begin the television series, carried nationally by TVS Sports Network.

Hawaii deviates from the Wednesday night-Thursday night schedule by playing all home games on Sundays.

The National Football League, whose season extends well into 1975, doesn't kick off until July 26, when the champion Miami Dolphins play the College All-Stars in Chicago. Then it'll be six more weeks of NFL preseason games, which don't count in the standings.

The WFL schedule concludes with a simple, three-game playoff schedule. It works this way:

Winners of the league's three divisions, Eastern, Central and Western, plus the second-place team with the best record enter the playoffs. The four teams will play two semifinal games Nov. 20 and 21, with the championship game a week later.

Frazier Career Said At Stake

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Frazier's boxing career could ride on the former heavyweight champion's performance against Jerry Quarry June 17 in New York.

Frazier's trainer-manager, Eddie Futch, says he's advised Joe to quit the ring if he doesn't beat Quarry impressively.

"This is something we have agreed on," Futch said Tuesday before sending his fighter through a training session. "Joe has to win and he has to look good," Futch explained. "He has to show me that he belongs in this rough business. Otherwise I'd like to see him get out of it and start directing his energies in some other direction."

It is obvious that Futch and Frazier have talked considerably about the advisability of Frazier continuing as a fighter. Futch said Frazier came out of the fight with Ali in "such great physical shape, and is three and a half weeks ahead of the training schedule he kept for the Ali fight."

Frazier, 30, lost to Ali Jan. 28 in New York in his first fight since he lost the title to George Foreman in January 1973.

Futch said Frazier still has the power that carried him to 30 victories—25 by knockout—in his 32-fight career. He pictures Frazier in the best mental and physical condition since he was knocked out by Foreman.

Frazier is confident he'll beat Quarry and go on to a return title bout with Foreman. He

Vows Suit Won't Stop Indy's 500

By KEVIN FOLEY
AP Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —

There will be a 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Sunday, a top Speedway official says, despite a $1 million lawsuit to keep it from going off on schedule.

"We will have a race Sunday," Chief Steward Tom Binford promised. "The only person who can stop it is God, and we haven't talked to Him."

Suit was filed Tuesday in Marion County Superior Court in Indianapolis by attorneys Wright Huges Jr., and Don A. Tabbert on behalf of seven angry car owners.

The suit also seeks a temporary restraining order halting further activity at the track until the case is heard.

Judge Frank Symmes set a hearing for early today.

The action stems from last Saturday's rain-shortened time trials that left 11 cars at the line when the track closed for racing. That deadline, speedway officials say, was set down in the Speedway entry blank signed by each of the 61 entrants who actually brought cars to the track.

The car owners who did not get an attempt to qualify contended the deadline should have been extended to give all of the 50 cars that had been certified an opportunity to make the 33-car field.

The pleas were denied. And Speedway officials turned down further requests for a reopening of qualifications.

Speedway officials hope the court hearings won't delay Thursday's carburetion tests. Binford, who succeeded controversial Harlan Flegler this year, said, "Of course we will do whatever the judge says we should do."

Plaintiffs are Roy Woods Racing, Carl Gehlhausen, Larry McCoy Sr., K&L Racing, Webster Racing, Rasmussen Racing Products Inc. and Grant King Racing.

King said later he had not given permission to use his name in connection with the suit. King, whose No. 1 driver, Tom Sneva, already holds a third-row starting spot, said, "I don't need to go to court to tell the Speedway people what I have already told them in person. They didn't treat these people right."

Sneva and driver Jim Hurtubise, who also qualified, and Parnelli Jones, 1963 Indy 500 winner and owner of the cars of starters Mario Andretti, Al Unser and rookie Jan Opperman, were among those who said the drivers were wronged.

A suggestion by Huges and Tabbert that the Speedway add a 12th row to the race also was turned down.

The Speedway also had offered the plaintiffs a chance to reopen the trials if they obtained signatures from owners or drivers of already qualified cars. But Huges and Tabbert said they fell far short of the necessary names. Last-place starter Larry Gannon refused to sign.

Red Sox Hitting Spells Big Difference

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
Manager Darrell Johnson of the Boston Red Sox flashed a big grin. That's what happens when your team is hitting.

Manager Bobby Winkles of the California Angels threw a pair of shoes against the wall. That's what happens when your team isn't hitting.

Johnston's Red Sox have a four-game winning streak during which they've pounded out 41 runs on 61 hits and moved into second place in the American League's East Division, one game behind the Milwaukee Brewers. Eighteen of the hits came in Tuesday night's 14-6 romp over the New York Yankees.

Lions Rebound To Win 1-0 Against R.C. Cola

The Lions rebounded from their first League loss last week to gain a 1-0 win over R.C. Cola yesterday behind the one-hit pitching and power hitting of Peter Pace.

The big win pushed the Lions record to 4-1 in the North State League behind the Optimist who own a 5-0 slate. The loss dropped the R. C. Cola record to 2-3.

The Lions rebounded from their first League loss last week to gain a 1-0 win over R.C. Cola yesterday behind the one-hit pitching and power hitting of Peter Pace.

The big win pushed the Lions record to 4-1 in the North State League behind the Optimist who own a 5-0 slate. The loss dropped the R. C. Cola record to 2-3.

Pace went the distance for the Lions, striking out 11 R.C. batters and only a lead-off single by David Holley in the sixth inning prevented the no-hitter.

After threatening in the first inning, the Lions got the only run of the game as Pace blasted a lead-off home run in the fourth inning.

R.C. pitcher Junior Hardee also pitched a fine game in losing as he gave up only four hits while striking out ten.

Pace kept R.C. in check throughout the game as he set down the side in every inning but the sixth. The first five men he faced went down on strikeouts. Following Holley's single to open the sixth, Rob Rood struck out and Dwayne Fisher sacrificed Holley to second. He advanced no further, however, as Hardee struck out to end the game.

The Lions offered an early threat as Krage Gardiner and walks to Shank and Micky McGrath forced in Sutton and Dupree.

Exchange got it back in the bottom of the inning. Mark Douglas led off with a hit and Daise walked. Shackleford got a hit to score Douglas and an error on the play let Daise score also. Shackleford moved to third on a ground out and came over on a single by Williams.

A home run in the fourth helped Pepsi to narrow the gap to 7-6. Matney walked and moved up on an out. After he was wild pitched to third, McGrath singled him in. McClanahan blasted a homer to drive in McGrath.

Pepsi tied it up on a run in the fifth. Jeff Wilson singled, went to second as Shank reached on an error, added third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

Steve Irwin led off the fifth reaching on a hit. Williams was safe on an error and Allen Clark singled. Eddie Moyer singled in Irwin and left the bases loaded.

Gordon Douglas walked forcing in Williams and a hit by Daise scored Clark and Moyer. Shackleford homered driving in Daise.

McClanahan had a pair of hits for Pepsi while Shackleford had three and Williams two for Exchange.

Exchange Rolls For 14-7 Win

Exchange unleashed an 11-hit attack against Pepsi yesterday as they rolled to a 14-7 win getting their fourth victory in five games in the TarHeel Little League.

Exchange spotted Pepsi a run in the first but came back in the bottom of the inning to push over four of their own and they added three more in the second. The eventual winner came over in the fifth as Exchange rallied for seven runs.

After a fielder's choice had forced Fred Matney at second, Mark Shank walked and took second on a second fielder's choice. David McClanahan got a hit moving Shank to third and a wild pitch let Shank score the first Pepsi run.

Exchange came back with four in their half of the frame. Gordon Douglas walked with one out and took second on a passed ball. Charles Daise walked and Al Shackleford got a hit to load the bases. A wild pitch scored Douglas and a hit by John Williams drove in both Daise and Shackleford. ## Cannonade To Race In Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nomination list for the third running of the $100,000 Ohio Derby at Thistledown has 113 names on it, including Kentucky Derby winner Cannonade.

The list tops last year's 84 and also includes the Preakness winner, Little Current.

The race is set for June 16th and the entries will be selected June 14. First money will be approximately $63,000.

Cannonade is the leading money winner on the list, having collected $481,770 in two years of racing. Eleven thoroughbreds on the list have earned $100,000 or more.

Lions Rebound To Win 1-0 Against R.C. Cola

The Lions rebounded from their first League loss last week to gain a 1-0 win over R.C. Cola yesterday behind the one-hit pitching and power hitting of Peter Pace.

The big win pushed the Lions record to 4-1 in the North State League behind the Optimist who own a 5-0 slate. The loss dropped the R. C. Cola record to 2-3.

The big win pushed the Lions record to 4-1 in the North State League behind the Optimist who own a 5-0 slate. The loss dropped the R. C. Cola record to 2-3.

Pace went the distance for the Lions, striking out 11 R.C. batters and only a lead-off single by David Holley in the sixth inning prevented the no-hitter.

After threatening in the first inning, the Lions got the only run of the game as Pace blasted a lead-off home run in the fourth inning.

R.C. pitcher Junior Hardee also pitched a fine game in losing as he gave up only four hits while striking out ten.

Pace kept R.C. in check throughout the game as he set down the side in every inning but the sixth. The first five men he faced went down on strikeouts. Following Holley's single to open the sixth, Rob Rood struck out and Dwayne Fisher sacrificed Holley to second. He advanced no further, however, as Hardee struck out to end the game.

The Lions offered an early threat as Krage Gardiner and walks to Shank and Micky McGrath forced in Sutton and Dupree.

Exchange got it back in the bottom of the inning. Mark Douglas led off with a hit and Daise walked. Shackleford got a hit to score Douglas and an error on the play let Daise score also. Shackleford moved to third on a ground out and came over on a single by Williams.

A home run in the fourth helped Pepsi to narrow the gap to 7-6. Matney walked and moved up on an out. After he was wild pitched to third, McGrath singled him in. McClanahan blasted a homer to drive in McGrath.

Pepsi tied it up on a run in the fifth. Jeff Wilson singled, went to second as Shank reached on an error, added third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

Steve Irwin led off the fifth reaching on a hit. Williams was safe on an error and Allen Clark singled. Eddie Moyer singled in Irwin and left the bases loaded.

Gordon Douglas walked forcing in Williams and a hit by Daise scored Clark and Moyer. Shackleford homered driving in Daise.

McClanahan had a pair of hits for Pepsi while Shackleford had three and Williams two for Exchange.

Dick Butkus Hints Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Butkus, the Chicago Bears' supreme linebacker for eight years, is hinting he might retire.

Plagued by arthritic knees, Butkus inferred in New York Monday night that he might not play again.

Butkus received the George Halas Award for "The Most Courageous Player in the National Football League" at the Pro Football Writers of America dinner.

"I'm sorry it had to end this way," said Butkus.

He did not totally claim he is retiring from the game.

Butkus and Halas, Chicago Bears owner, have been in a contract squabble in recent weeks. Halas claims Butkus must live up to his contract for some $105,000 a year.

Halas also insists Butkus should be affiliated with the team.

For Sale

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Utah Stars, No. 2 in the American Basketball Association this season, are up for sale again with the announcement that a deal to sell the team locally has fallen through.

Owner Bill Daniels, who has said he seeks the nomination for governor of Colorado, last April announced a deal to sell the team to WestAm Corp. of Salt Lake City.

Inability to complete the transaction and leave time for the sale of $3.5 million in publicly offered stock by Aug. 31 was cited by another spokesman as the major hangup in the deal.

Daniels said the sale price of $2.7 million has been upped by $100,000 due to losses.

Butkus received the George Halas Award for "The Most Courageous Player in the National Football League" at the Pro Football Writers of America dinner.

Zuider Zee Is Yielding Clues To Air War Toll

By WILLEM VUUR
THE HAGUE (UPI) — On Jan. 11, 1944 a B17 Flying Fortress was returning from a bombing mission over Nazi Germany, two of its four engines dead. A third engine burst into flames and the order was given to bail out.

Gunner John Lantz, 19, parachuted into what was once known as the Zuider Zee and was rescued by fishermen. The bodies of five of his crewmates were found and four were reported missing, as was the crashed plane.

Now, 30 years later, a Dutch crew of 12 devoted men led by Lt. Col. Arie P. de Jong, 45, has recovered the tail section of that B17. De Jong estimates that some 2,000 Allied airmen and about 200 Germans lost their lives in the Zuider Zee. So far he has recovered all or parts of 95 wrecks in the Zuider Zee, and the Dutch navy another 130.

"Each recovery is a story and a drama of its own," De Jong said in an interview.

The Dutch had built a dike enclosing the Zuider Zee in 1932, renaming it IJssel Lake. After the war they started pumping out the water as part of a land reclamation program and some of the wrecked planes emerged, embedded in the mud.

Gratitude and Comfort

The recovery program was begun in order to clear wrecks which interfered with shipping and fishing. In 16 of the wrecks the recovery teams found bodies.

"When the next of kin was informed, we received reactions of enormous gratitude and comfort," De Jong said. "This turned us into virtual detectives, and we hope to identify many more wrecks and missing airmen in the next 20 years or so."

The Lantz episode was one of the happier of De Jong's stories. When he bailed out that cold day in 1944, two Dutch brothers fishing nearby saw Lantz' plane crash. They cut their nets, headed for the scene and found Lantz.

De Jong quoted one of the brothers, Hannes de Graaf, now 71, as saying:

Close to Death
"He looked close to death from exhaustion in the icy water so we put him in front of the stove in the forecabin and massaged him. He soon regained consciousness and indicated with his fingers he had been with nine other men. For about an hour we made a vain search for them."

"My brother Albert and I had hoped to hide our man, but too much time was lost by searching for his mates. From the coast, the Germans also had seen the crash and their speedboats arrived from two sides. We had to surrender our man and they took him to a prison camp in Germany." Last year the former gunner, who lives in Tulsa, Okla., read an article about the recovery of the tail section of his B17 of 533 Squadron 281 Bomber Group. Lantz, now 49, and his wife traveled to the Dutch fishing village of Spakenburg, where they presented De Graaf with a deed of honorary Tulsa citizenship. Brother Albert had died after the war from tuberculosis contracted in a German concentration camp.

De Jong said Lantz apparently was the only survivor of his B17 crew. He added that the plane's fuselage might be found in the next decade and "my theory is that those four men did not manage to bail out, so their remains might still be in the fuselage."

Although some of the wrecked planes recovered by De Jong and his crew were still in remarkably good condition—the tail of a German fighter which went down on Sept. 29, 1943 still shows 53 Swastikas indicating as many kills—others were identified by coincidence.

Relics from Wrecks
"Once we were unable to complete identification of wreck parts and remains of a gunner of a Wellington bomber," De Jong said. "Just when we admitted failure, a letter arrived from a Dubliner, Bill Garioch, asking if we had ever located his gunner, Sgt. Rearden, the only crewman who did not survive a crash at exactly the spot where we had found the unidentified wreckage."

"Garioch and his wife came to Holland and we gave him the undamaged control stick which he had operated on 28 missions to Germany."

Dozens of items found in the wrecks tell something about the men who once flew in them.

De Jong said his team found a bottle of eau de cologne which still smelled good after years in the sea bed, a Maori talisman of a New Zealand pilot, a nylon stocking, such as many pilots were given by girlfriends to wear around their necks for luck, and a battered camera with film in it.

When developed it showed the silhouette of a B17.

A Potential Bicycle Safety Risk Found

Penney's has reported a potential safety problem involving the front fork of approximately 110,000 bicycles manufactured in Austria by Juniorwerke Ing Franz Weiss.

Manager J.F. Baumann of the Greenville Penney store said the problem may be present on ten-speed, five-speed, and three-speed men's and women's Penney bicycles which were sold through stores and catalogs starting in late 1972.

Baumann explained that the problem involves only bicycles with a "made in Austria" decal affixed to the post which supports the seat. Bicycles with chrome-plated forks do not present any problem, he said. The manager urged customers who determine that they have bicycles with the potential fork problem to stop riding them immediately. Customers should return the bicycles for free fork replacement either to the nearest Penney store selling bicycles or to the in-store catalog sales center from which the bicycles were purchased.

Catalog customers who purchase by mail should contact the Customer Service Section at the Penney Catalog Distribution Center in either Atlanta, Ga., or Milwaukee, Wisc.

Young Pianists Receive Awards

A large number of young pianists received awards ranging from local to international levels in the National Piano Playing Auditions held recently at the East Carolina University School of Music.

Designation of awards as local, regional, state, national and international is a category definition indicating the level of achievement made by the young players, based on the number of pieces played and the time involved.

Altogether, 65 students took part and all received an award. Of the 65 total, 31 were from the Belhaven area, and the remainder were Greenville area students.

Tips To Benefit Cookout Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — Before you head for the grill at cookout time in the backyard, here are a few tips from the U.S. Department of Agriculture:

First, build a big enough fire to have a good bed of coals. But don't start cooking until the flames have died down.

Second, have the surface of the meat far enough from the coals so that flare-ups from fat drippings don't touch the surface of the meat.

Large Truck Plant Going Up In Soviet

By GORDON F. JOSELOFF
NABEREZHNIYE CHELNY, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — This Kama River city, home of what Soviet planners say will be the world's largest truck plant, is among the fastest growing in the country. Sixty thousand young builders, average age 23, are at work on the project—the largest industrial project of the current five-year plan.

The Kama River plant, or Kamaz as it is commonly known in a Russian acronym, was designed to turn out annually 150,000 trucks, many trailer-type, and 250,000 diesel engines. Last year the USSR produced 629,000 trucks all told.

Kamaz will give a badly needed boost to the nation's cargo-hauling capacity. Soviet truck production started almost from scratch after World War II, and has not met the country's needs.

Western experts estimate Kamaz will cost about 2.5 billion rubles ($3.29 billion). Construction and improvements in Naberezhniye Chelny are expected to cost another 1.5 billion rubles or $1.97 billion.

The plant is scheduled to begin operation before the end of 1975 and Western experts believe it will be fully operational by 1977 or 1978.

A City Grows

Five years ago, the 9.65-square-mile Kamaz site was just barren plain. Now the pale yellow fields have given way to mounds of brown earth and mud with patches of muddy water and heavy construction equipment. Steel skeletons dot the horizon with several buildings completed.

When fully finished Kamaz will have seven major sections and 150 buildings.

Today, trucks, buses and Jeep-type vehicles caked with mud make their way along a two-lane road linking Kamaz and Naberezhniye Chelny, three miles away.

Before construction began in 1969, Naberezhniye Chelny—literally "river boats"—had a population of 40,000 and its young people tended to drift off to larger cities. It now has 150,000 residents and is projected to grow soon to 300,000.

The city, 550 miles east of Moscow in the Tatar autonomous republic, is located on a bend of the Kama River, near its confluence with the Volga, in the nation's automotive heartland. A half dozen other auto plants are in the region.

Good Jobs

The site was chosen so the river could be used to bring in raw materials and ship out finished products. It is also in the middle of the country and handy to the metallurgical industries of the Ural mountains to the east and other automotive projects.

The thousands who have answered the Communist party and government call to come here have been drawn by the promises of a career, good money, perhaps their own apartment in time, and the pioneer spirit.

Plant officials say workers get no special pay and other benefits sometimes offered to attract workers to outlying projects. But there is no doubt the pay here is better than in other places and chances are better for acquiring an apartment and maybe a car.

"There is great enthusiasm among the local organizations to build the plant and to build it quickly," the plant's general director, Lev B. Vasilyev, told a group of American visitors recently.

American Firms Involved

Among them was U.S. Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent. American companies have captured 40 per cent of the $1 billion in contracts going to foreign firms and Vasilyev made it clear to Dent he hoped they performed on schedule.

Sixty-five Kamaz contracts have been signed with U.S. concerns, eight of them doing more than $10 million worth of business each.

The largest U.S. contractor is the Swindell-Dressler Co., of Pittsburgh, a division of Pullman, Inc. It has orders totaling $42.6 million, including engineering designs and equipment for the plant's foundry.

Also heavily involved are French, West German, Italian, Japanese and East European firms.

The only one of seven major plant divisions already operating is the tool and repair shop. Dent's party walked its full length, nearly one-third of a mile.

tinger, Institute of Government; Ann Lightner, State Beautification Program; Dr. Tom Paramore, Meredith College; and Warren Lane, Washington-Beaufort County Bicentennial Commission.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is excellent and if you're up early, you will be able to see and achieve matters of much importance. By noon, delays, limitations can beset your path, so be careful not to allow yourself the luxury of getting depressed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Important matters, shopping and communicating should be handled early, since small annoying delays may occur later. Handle really important matters tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take care of financial affairs early, but later recheck everything for any mistakes. Don't labor under the impression that money can buy anything.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You're thinking clearly in a.m., but later you permit imagination to run riot, so make no important decisions. Strength waxes and wanes during day, returns in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get private backing from an expert, since your judgment isn't good today; actual work should be done later, preferably in the a.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Look to a good friend to help you gain some personal aim in a.m., but later you can work problems out alone. Postpone social life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't criticize others, especially bigwigs, or you get into much trouble best avoided now. Pay bills. Clean slate for important activities later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A morning idea should be utilized, but later get at whatever is tried and proven and insure present security. A conference helps you get ahead faster.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The casual can be handled well in a.m., but later make sure you keep any promises you have made. Don't lose temper; don't jeopardize present harmony with mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Morning is fine for conversing with partners and cementing better relations, but don't bring up any important matters right now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) First discuss with co-workers how to best handle work at hand and then get right to it and produce a great deal without further talk. Don't overwork, though.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make plans early for the recreation you need, and then complete activities necessary before going to fun places with congenials.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Improve conditions at home, since there is little you can accomplish in the outside world right now. Get rid of useless or obsolete things.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a very nervous young person who needs duties to perform and something to occupy the active mind, so plan such activities early for your interesting progeny, and see to it that everything is finished perfectly. This can be the most valuable lesson you can teach your son, daughter; otherwise if let to run loose aimlessly, the fine promise here will go to seed, instead of becoming a great success.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Press Curbed By Singapore

By MAX VANZI
SINGAPORE (UPI) — Singapore is readying a tough new press law and the mood of the one-party parliament during discussion of the measure appears clearly to favor strong controls.

Among other things, the proposed law requires newspapers to get government approval for all foreign financing, makes it possible for the government to appoint shareholders and requires the large newspapers to go public.

On the floor of Parliament, members of the unopposed People's Action Party praised the law, and expanded on the subject of official press control.

One member, Lai Tha Chai, said the law would prove effective in keeping "devils and demons" out of Singapore. There were far too many stories on such matters as miniskirts, Lai said.

Other members spoke of concerted newspaper reports unfriendly to the government. Member Lim Guan Hoo said Singapore had suffered from such "bloc operations" by the island republic's newspapers and had learned from the experience that safeguards were necessary.

The Newspaper "Peril" It was this alleged peril to Singapore that was given as the reason for a press purge by Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew in May, 1971, and which clearly gave rise to the present action.

Foreign ownership and motives behind it, Lee said at the time, were making some Singapore newspapers the vehicles of subversion. His crackdown resulted in the closing of two newspapers, The Eastern Sun and The Singapore Herald, and the jailing without trial of four executives from a major Chinese language newspaper, Nanyang Siang Pau.

Lee accused outright or raised doubts about newspaper investors or alleged investors here that ranged from Hong Kong publisher Sally Aw Sian and Malaysian politicians to the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and agents from mainland China.

Culture Minister Jek Yeun Thong explained to the Parliament what the new law was all about. He said the controls were necessary "in the national interest" but that there would be no attempt to interfere unduly in press affairs.

On questions of genuine concern the press was free to report public opinion, Jek said. For example, he said, the government has no objection to press and public comment on the Singapore bus system.

She received her B. S. degree in Child Development and Family Relations from East Carolina University, a program which includes training in working with pre-school children.

Mrs. Whitehead, a staff member at Jarvis Weekday School for four years, will teach classes for three and four year olds next year.

She received the B.F.A. degree from Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., graduating cum laude. She also holds a certificate in Early Childhood Education from Fredonia State University, Fredonia, N. Y. Her teaching experience includes third grade in Burlington, Vermont; and junior high and

Policeman Is Fatally Shot

CANTON, N.C. (AP)—A veteran policeman was shot to death while investigating a call to a domestic disturbance late Tuesday night.

He was 58-year-old George Rogers, a member of the Canton force for 21 years.

Authorities report that a 31-year-old estranged husband, Jerry Boone, surrendered after the slaying and has been charged with murder.

Police give this account: A neighbor telephoned police that they were needed at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Boone. Policemen Rogers and Carroll Hill responded. As they approached the brick home in a substantial residential section, Rogers was shot in the head with a bullet from a 35-caliber weapon.

The Boones have one child, a daughter, who was at home. Mayor F.E. Shull said policeman and Mrs. Rogers have no children.

Canton is an industrial town of 5,000 population about 20 miles west of Asheville. Rogers works at the Dayton Rubber Co. plant in Hazelwood.

The mayor said he believed it was the first time in history that a Canton policeman had been shot to death in line of duty.

Ford Endorses A Free Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says there isn't a member of Congress who hasn't been criticized by the news media, but a strong and free press is a safeguard of individual liberty.

Addressing the annual session of former members of Congress Tuesday, Ford said freedom of the press is "a product of the American revolution."

"There is not a member here who has not felt the criticism of the media. There are times when this criticism has not been just; but, notwithstanding, neither is there anyone here who does not recognize that one of the safeguards of individual liberty is a free press," Ford said.

Boy Guru Weds His Secretary

DENVER (AP) — The 16-year-old guru Maharaj Ji has married his 24-year-old secretary in a private ceremony here.

The guru, who claims 6 million followers as leader of the Divine Light Mission, married Marolyn Lois Johnson Monday night.

Maharaj Ji needed court permission to marry because of a Colorado law requiring parental permission for persons under 18. His father is dead and his mother lives in India.

Majority Keep Belief In God

LANTANA, Fla. (UPI) — Ninety-four per cent of all Americans believe in the existence of God, says the National Enquirer.

Although church attendance dropped between 1958 and 1971, personal interest in religion remained high, said the publication, quoting a study by sociologists at the University of Michigan.

The researchers said churchgoers declined from 43 to 35 per cent, but more than half of the newest sampling said their interest in religion remained unchanged.

The Worry Clinic Sales Experts For Recruiting

Tom and his fellow recruiters need to use the sales psychology outlined below. For attracting Military Volunteers compares with fishing science. And the "Test of House Sense" booklet below is helpful in weeding out phisits.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-638: Tom Q., aged 34, is a recruiting officer for the Army.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "how can we stimulate more enlistments?"

"For the Pentagon is putting extra pressure on us recruiters, since the 'Volunteer' method is not furnishing the number of men that the 'Draft' did."

"Yet Congress prefers the 'Volunteer' plan, so how can we make it work?"

"For we offer young men and women much better pay than they can obtain at home, plus travel and all sorts of constructive educational training."

Imitate Fishermen
Experienced fishermen know that you can't coerce fish to bite on the hook.

Instead, you must entice them with the type of bait to which they respond!

And their appetites change from month to month, so the bait that is effective today, may not be as successful next week. Applied to recruiting of men and women for all branches of our Military, here are suggested bits of personnel and sales strategy:

(1) Hire more civilian sales experts to handle the actual recruiting, for this is chiefly a selling job.

And paper-work (introvertive) military office personnel are not noted for being outstanding as salesmen.

So employ life insurance salesmen, book salesmen and others who know the artistry of verbal persuasion!

Motivating people is much like playing pianos, for you must have special training and experience to bring forth harmony from both!

(2) Then analyze the major motivating appeals that will work on people 18 to 25 years of age.

Among these are opportunity for romantic dates, travel, excitement, competitive sports, warm Tahiti bathing beaches and money.

Note that "money" is not rated a "first," for it is only a symbol for attaining those other 5 satisfactions.

If the Army, Navy and Air Corps can thus furnish the answers to those first 5 psychological hungers of young men and women, the extra money, often dwindles in strength as a motivating force.

(3) Appeal to engaged girls and wives, whose men folds now lack the money for marriage or adequately maintaining a home.

Here is where the extra "money" can prove most effective, for a worried wife who can't make ends meet on the hometown wages her husband now earns, may become a great ally of the recruiting officer who cites that extra $2,000 bonus to the new recruit.

And girls who are deferring marriage, due to lack of money, may also help prod their fiances into enlisting to gain that extra cash bonus.

(4) Cite the splendid educational training while in service, not only for the men but also Business College training for the wives of such recruits.

(5) Like our modern colleges, offer special housing advantages to married recruits, plus the lower living costs of foods via the PX.

(6) Girls regard mingling with military men as very romantic, so play up this appeal to fill your female quotas.

(7) The Navy suggests more travel and foreign excitement, so the Army should match those Navy advantages by more "R and R" and weekends off for men stationed in Europe or even Tahiti!

Send for my booklet on "Vocational Guidance," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for its one-hour "Test of House Sense" has already been widely used in testing applicants for the Navy as well as Industry.

It is impossible to over-stress the importance of counting your tricks in a no trump contract. South failed to do this, and so went down in a game he should have brought in.

Since almost all his points were in aces and kings, North decided that he would try for a suit contract rather than no trump. Hence his choice of a jump shift in spades rather than two no trump for his rebid. However, when South could do no better than bid two no trump at his second turn, North quietly raised to game.

Auction Starts For TV Shows

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service's new program "auction" is starting this week, with the national fate of certain veteran and proposed new shows directly decided by local public TV officials.

The new system, called the "station program cooperative," asks the stations to pay a percentage of the cost for about 98 new and established programs they'd have gotten free from PBS in past years.

Under the plan, approved last month by most of the nation's 151 public TV licensees, the stations tell PBS which of the 98 national shows they'd be willing to help finance for the 1974-75 season.

The information is fed to a PBS computer, which calculates the per station cost of each show or series proposed in a "program catalogue" that now is in the hands of public TV station officials.

The cost of each station increases or decreases, depending on how many stations "buy" the show.

PBS says there'll be three phases to its program auction. Step one, now underway, is a "preference round" in which all the stations notify PBS of shows they will or won't help finance.

Step two is an "elimination round," in which each station, after learning how much it'll have to pay for specific shows

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Wednesday, May 22, 1974—25 or series, must decide if the price is right or too high for its budget.

In the final round, which PBS says may be completed by the first week in June, the stations formally agree to buy shows at the per station price established.

Under the new program cooperative plan, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, charged with administering federal funds for public broadcasting, won't finance national programs beyond two years.

This, it says, is because federal funds for such shows are dwindling. But it says the main objective is to stimulate greater local financial support of public TV stations, as well as more direct responsibility by them in their program selections.

FREE BOOK

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine government has announced a program of free distribution throughout the country of "Political Leadership," a book written by President Juan D. Peron. The distribution of Peron's book is part of an "ideological battle" to challenge deviations of the left and right, a government spokesman said.
