

While Guns Boom Kissinger To Offer Compromise Terms

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP)—
Secretary of State Henry A.
Kissinger said today he plans to offer his own compromise proposal aimed at breaking the Syrian-Israeli deadlock over troop limitations on the Golan front.

Kissinger introduced an American initiative last week and won both side's approval of a truce line.
A senior U.S. official said
Kissinger would return to the Syrian capital later today or Saturday, hoping to wrap up an agreement separating the two countries' hostile armies

in the Golan Heights.
Either way, the official said, Kissinger will go home on Sunday—the 28th day of his marathon shuttle diplomacy mission.
The official said Thursday night that Israel and Syria were "considerably closer"
to agreement on thinning

their forces than they had been 24 hours earlier.
He said the progress came after Kissinger offered suggestions privately to Israeli Premier Golda Meir and later to President Hafez Assad of Syria in 4½ hours of talks.

As he spoke, tank and artillery fire boomed along the front and Israeli and Syrian planes attacked each other's positions on the rocky plateau. The Syrians claimed knocking down three Israeli jets, but the Tel Aviv command said all its planes returned safely.

Transcripts 'Unreliable'

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—
The House Judiciary Committee has been advised by its two top lawyers that it can't rely on White House-edited transcripts in its impeachment inquiry.

"We are considering whether approaching the issue of thinning out forces with an American proposal might help matters," Kissinger told newsmen after meeting Israeli leaders for nearly three hours.
Information Minister
Shimon Peres said Kissinger was contemplating a middle of the road proposal, which he declined to spell out. But he said the secretary's idea was
"a bridging proposition which would take into consideration the particular sharp sensibilities of both sides."

Errors, omissions and deletions in the 46 conversations released April 30 by President Nixon make them unsatisfactory as evidence, say chief counsel John Doar and Albert Jenner, the chief minority counsel.
They told the committee

Thursday there was "an absolute need" to get the tapes of the conversations if the impeachment verdict is to be based on the best evidence.
Nixon spurned a committee subpoena for 11 Watergate tapes Wednesday and said he would not respond to any other subpoenas it may issue for Watergate material. He turned over the transcripts in response to an earlier subpoena for tapes.

In another Watergate arena,
today is the deadline for White House response to subpoenas for papers left behind by two former Nixon aides when they still were working for the President. U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell has said he might have to throw out charges against the five defendants in the Ellsberg break-in case if all relevant material is not provided.

The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that the Senate Watergate committee had not shown sufficient need for five White House tape recordings it had sought in a 10-month legal battle.

In other Watergate developments:

—Atty. Gen. William B.
Saxbe told the Senate Judiciary Committee that special prosecutor Leon Jaworski will not be fired. Saxbe told committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that he will continue to guarantee Jaworski's freedom in the Watergate investigation.

—An Internal Revenue Service spokesman said IRS has declined to supply the House Judiciary Committee with information on Nixon's tax returns.

The spokesman said Treasury
Secretary William E. Simon has referred to Saxbe the question of whether it would be proper to supply the information that the committee requested.

To be resolved is whether the committee's constitutional authority over impeachment is superior to specific statutory prohibition in the Internal Revenue code against giving out tax return information, the spokesman said.

Kissinger also reportedly made progress on determining the size of the United Nations force that will patrol the thinned-out regions and a buffer zone between the armies. A cease-fire line reportedly already is set.

"It is my judgment that we have made good progress in the negotiations," Kissinger said at a luncheon in Damascus. "Even if we should for some reason not complete it in this session, we will surely bring it to a successful conclusion in the near future."

There was speculation that other U.S. negotiators might remain behind to keep talks going.

At the luncheon, which Kissinger gave for Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam and other Syrian officials, Kissinger described a separation of Israeli and Syrian forces as "a first step" toward a "just and permanent peace" in the Middle East.

While Kissinger was in Damascus, Israeli politicians signed a coalition agreement guaranteeing that Premier-designate Yitzhak Rabin will head a new government and have a two-seat majority in the Israeli parliament.

To be included with the ruling Labor alignment are the Independent Liberal party—a traditional government partner—and the Citizens Rights Movement.

N.C. Shellfish Industry Threatened By Pollution

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP)—
Pollution is chiseling away North Carolina's shellfishing areas at a record pace and threatening to destroy the industry.

State Commercial Fisheries Commissioner Ed McCoy, in a recent interview warned that "unless we pay the price to halt pollution, the production of oysters and clams faces eventual destruction."

A record 61,750 acres of estuarine waters along the North Carolina coast are closed to shellfishing because of pollution.
Posted signs warn that the shellfish are not fit for human consumption.

Of the state's 2.2 million acres of coastal waters, much are not suitable for oyster and clam production because the water is too fresh, McCoy pointed out.

He said a combination of things is needed to halt pollution.
"We need to install regional sewage collection and treatment systems in coastal areas, and proper land management is a necessity."

The pollution comes from many sources. McCoy listed trailer parks, seeping septic tanks, industrial wastes, animal wastes from nearby farms, plus pesticides and other chemicals that are swept from farmlands into coastal waters by heavy rains.
"We're continually losing ground to pollution," McCoy said.
"Beachgoers add to the problem."

Of the 61,750 acres closed, 24,593 are between Wilmington and the South Carolina line. Most of this is in the Cape Fear River area which has been closed for 12 years.

Fentress Munden, state biologist in charge of oyster production, said 12,206 acres in Pamlico Sound are closed, along with 7,353 from Morehead City to Swansboro and 7,826 from Swansboro to Wilmington.

Pamlico Sound is the state's largest oyster producing area.

Munden said oyster production reached an all-time low in 1968-1969 when 76,678 bushels were harvested. The oysters are taxed by the state at eight cents per bushel.

Munden noted that since 1968-69 there has been a gradual increase in production although closed acreage has increased.
This means the productive areas are being harvested more to meet increased demands from the state's growing population.
Munden said many persons believe oysters should be eaten only during "r" months.

"This is an old wives' tale," he said. "Oysters are not as meaty and the quality not as good during the summer months when they are spawning. Too, oysters spoil quicker during hot weather."

Munden agreed with McCoy.
"We've got to fight like the devil to preserve our shellfish producing areas. The oyster industry is bucking a lot. With the state's increasing population, the problem will grow worse."

A state license is required if a person takes more than one bushel of oysters or clams or a combination of the two per day
from North Carolina waters, McCoy said.

He released figures showing that 548,351 pounds of shucked oysters were harvested along North Carolina's coast last year and brought $446,485. In comparison, the production in 1969 totaled 399,928 pounds for $259,600.

Clam production last year totaled 380,000 pounds for $294,- 000, compared to 274,000 pounds and $163,000 in 1972.

HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used.
Transcribing is done once a day.

WANTS TO SEE SLIDES OF SON

My son was in a child development special program at East Carolina University in 1967. They took some slides of the group, but they never showed them to the parents. I wonder if I could see them even now. M. D.

Hotline contacted Miss Ruth Lambie of the ECU
Department of Child Development and Family Life.
She investigated and found that there were six and a half boxes of slides kept that were taken during the program in which your son participated. She invited you to call the Department office and make an appointment to have someone show you the slides in which your son may appear.

WANTS NO-LEFT

I would like to know if there is any way a no-left-turn sign could be installed at the intersection of Evans and Fourteenth Streets. This is a main thoroughfare and cars waiting to make left turns disrupt traffic for four and five blocks at times. D.B.

This intersection is maintained by the State Highway Division of the Department of Transportation and your problem should be referred to the local engineer. Hotline contacted the local district office, and was told you should write a letter to Gerald England at P.O. Box 1587, Greenville, stating your problem. From here, a traffic count can be made to determine if what you desire is possible.

HARD TO ESTIMATE

I would like to know if there is any way to estimate what a telephone call is going to cost. The telephone company will tell you it is cheaper to call direct distance and that it is cheaper to call after 5 and 11 p.m. But what if you receive a collect call from a member of the family or someone and you talk three minutes? Would it be cheaper to hang up and replace the call DDD? E. W.

There really isn't any way to predict the cost of a long distance call because there are quite a few variables influencing the cost, says Don Collier, commercial manager of the local Carolina Telephone office. The two main variables are the distance involved and the amount of time spent in conversing. For instance, a three-minute call collect from Washington, D. C. would cost 95 cents; a 15-minute collect call $3.95. A three-minute direct distance call from Washington would cost 80 cents, a 15 cents saving, but a 15 minute DDD call to Washington would cost $3.91, only a four cents saving. This is what he means when he says it would be difficult to estimate the cost.

Mike Allen Chosen For Summer In Luxembourg

Rose High junior Michael (Mike) Kelly Allen has been selected by the Experiment in International Living to live with a family in the country of Luxembourg this summer.
Headquarters for the experiment is in Brattleboro, Vermont.

Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs.
John G. Allen of Greenville, is among 2,000 high school and college students who will travel to various foreign countries as members of the Experiment in International Living, one of the nation's oldest programs in the field of international cross-cultural exchanges.

"My first reaction was one of almost total shock when I was informed I'd been selected," Mike said. "I didn't know what to say. This is really something for somebody who's hardly been outside of North Carolina before."

Mike said he'd report to Brattleboro at the end of June.

MICHAEL K. ALLEN

"After a few days I'll leave early in July for Europe and will return about mid-August."

Mike admitted he's been reading up on Luxembourg.
"But I have a feeling what you read about a country and the way it really is might be entirely different. I'm looking forward to the experience of living with my foreign family and I'm sure I'll find out much about what Luxembourg is really like through this experience.

"I'll be taking a two week trip to Switzerland. I understand this will be with my host family, so that will give me a chance to see lots of places," Mike added.

Already Mike has written a letter to his host family to be sent to them through Brattleboro. "At this time I don't know the name of the family," Mike said, "but it will be a

Predawn Raid Turned Up Wrong Women In Hunt For Hearst Girl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police searching for Patricia Hearst conducted a predawn raid on a Hollywood home, startling two women who were said to match descriptions of Miss Hearst and Symbionese Liberation Army fugitive Emily Harris.

Two sleepy women in pajamas emerged as a force of 50 to 60 police leveled shotguns and tear gas rifles at the house, but police Sgt. Gene Ingram said the women had no connection with the terrorist SLA.
He said police had acted on an anonymous tip, and that one of the women matched a rough description of Mrs. Harris, who is being sought along with her husband, William, and the newspaper heiress.

Meanwhile in San Francisco, the parents of Miss Hearst are said to be outraged by the comments of law officers who in the past week have said the young heiress is an armed and dangerous fugitive.

Cecil Poole, a former U.S. attorney who met with Randolph and Catherine Hearst on Thursday, said the parents of Patricia, 20, were furious about "the excessive statements of law enforcement personnel, particularly statements by the Los Angeles district attorney."

Poole said he agreed with the Hearsts that the flood of "prejudicial" charges ought to be stopped, and said that to continue them might increase the chances that Miss Hearst, who was kidnaped more than 3½ months ago, would not surrender.

"She was a young girl who was kidnaped," said Poole of Patricia. "Something happened to her and now they are calling her a fugitive on the run."
Meanwhile, police and FBI agents continued without success their massive search for

Miss Hearst and two Symbionese Liberation Army companions. Pleas for her to surrender increased.

"Throw away those guns!"
urged the Hearst-owned San Francisco Examiner. "If you just let yourself be killed it is going to be a waste; your whole thing is going to be a waste," said a taped plea issued by Patricia's two younger sisters, Anne, 18, and Vicki, 17.

Land-Marketing Stage For CBD Is At Hand

By TOM BAINES

The Redevelopment Commission is ready to begin the land marketing stage in the Central Business District project and is in the process of determining prices for several properties to be offered in the downtown area.

Appearing before the commission during a special meeting Thursday, E. Hoover Taft requested that he be qualified as a bidder on the former Fountain Harrington property which adjoins Taft's present office building on Greene Street.

The Harrington parcel, purchased several months ago by the commission, is the first to be offered for sale in the land disposal phase of the CBD project.
Taft, in his request, told the commissioners that he has a desperate need for additional parking and if he is approved as a bidder he would improve the property with parking as needed at the present time and landscaping would be done.

The commission approved his request and qualified him as a bidder on the vacant parcel, which contains some 11,000 square feet.
Executive director Joe Laney reported that the property will be advertised for sale soon.

All of the parcels to be offered for sale will be cleared, commercial reuse tracts, Laney said, and will be marketed in an effort to get new construction underway in CBD and to revitalize the downtown area.

A request that a structure in the Southside Project on Norris Street be designated for purchase rather than rehabilitation was approved by the commission.
Original Southside plans called for the structure, owned by Mrs. Jesse Melton, to be brought up to standards but it was found that it would not be feasible, economically, to undertake the rehabilitation effort. Mrs. Melton no longer lives in the house, it was noted.

Opti-Mrs. Club Gives Check To Sunshine Girls

Mrs. Bill Turcotte, chairman of the Operation Sunshine Board, was presented a check from the Opti-Mrs. Club of Greenville at its meeting Tuesday night.

The check for $133 was received from a club-sponsored Tupperware party held in April. Mrs. Turcotte told of the need for a new location to house Operation Sunshine and asked for possible addresses.

During the summer program of Operation Sunshine, the Opti-Mrs. members will recognize the two "most optimistic" girls, honoring them at a party.

Officers for 1974-75 are: Mrs. Charles Ross, president; Mrs. Joe Johnson, vice president; and Mrs. Larry Good, secretary-treasurer. The slate of officers was presented by Mrs. Jim O'Brien, a member of the nominating committee. The officers will be installed in September.

Charter president of the club Mrs. Max Stephenson presented Mrs. O'Brien an engraved silver tray as a gift of appreciation. Mrs. O'Brien and her family will be moving to Memphis, Tenn., in early June.

Mrs. O'Brien is immediate club past president and was a charter member. She has held the offices of vice president and secretary-treasurer as well as representing the club at several state meetings of N. C. Opti-Mrs. Mrs. John Trotman, president, announced that the N. C. Optimist Convention will be held in Asheville at the Grove Park Inn April 8-10.

The convention will honor N. C. District Governor Jeff McArver and his wife, Eleanor, who is state parliamentarian for Opti-Mrs.

Mrs. Trotman announced that the annual Optimist International Convention will be held June 16-19 in Atlanta, Ga. The headquarters for the four-day session will be the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

During the business session members decided to hold a summer social at the home of Mrs. Tracy Medlin.

Mrs. Curtis Howell was welcomed as a guest for the meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. C. P. Shaw. The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Johnson.

Dr. Moore Is Club Speaker

Dr. Louis P. Moore was guest speaker at the evening meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club held Tuesday night at First Federal.

Members and guests participated in the lecture and discussion session led by Dr. Moore, a local psychiatrist, on dying and dealing with death.

Guests, Mrs. Lorraine Wells and Mrs. John Schofield, were welcomed by chairman Mrs. Lisa Kannen.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, June 18, and the program will be a slide presentation on England and Scotland.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Kannen and Mrs. Ann Holliday.

Patio Party Held Saturday

GRIFTON—Mrs. Kenneth Talton, Mrs. Kenneth Barnes and Mrs. J. R. Edmondson entertained at a patio party Saturday morning honoring Miss Susan Weir, bride-elect of June 22.

Mrs. Talton greeted guests and presented them to Miss Weir. The honoree was remembered with a white carnation corsage and a gift of china.

Mrs. Edmondson directed guests to the patio, which was decorated with baskets of roses and other summer flowers.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth overlaid with white pique and centered with a hurricane lamp filled with yellow roses.

Annual May Party Held

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn were host couple for the annual May birthday party and dinner held Wednesday night at their home.

Arrangements of red roses were used in the den and living room. The dining room table was centered with white gladioli, white and yellow mums.

During the evening, several progressions of bridge were played and gifts exchanged.

CWI Members Hear Guest Speaker Tuesday

The Greenville Credit Women International met at the Bonanza Tuesday night. Billy Laughinghouse of Bostic Sugg, was the speaker for the evening.

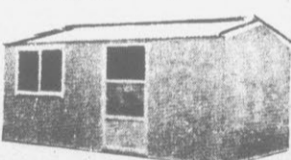

He spoke on communication in the leadership position. You communicate with others for the purposes of informing, generating, supplementing and giving encouragement," he said. He further stated that the effective leader in any organization is one who realizes and uses his communication skills to achieve one or more of the objectives.

"We are coming to realize that the successful leader who gets work done through others does so not by the act of power or dominance but by persuasion, convincing, showing, and illustration," he concluded.

President Angelene Venters told the members that the board members recommended that the club ask for Fall Board to meet in Greenville.

Mary Roberson introduced a guest, Rachel Ipock. She was the recipient of a scholarship award given the club in March.

Will Mother-In-Law Mellow In 'Time'?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My in-laws have turned against me because when I was going steady with their son he got me pregnant. I was five months along when we were married. The baby is two years old now, and my mother-in-law has never seen him! My mother has called my mother-in-law trying to make friends with her, but my mother-in-law said she doesn't want anything to do with my mother or any of her family—including me.

I think it's terrible that my husband's mother has never accepted any of my invitations to come here and see her grandson or asked me to come over and bring him. We live only 20 minutes from each other.

My husband says unless his mother apologizes to my mother, he doesn't care if he never sees her again. [His own mother, that is.]

How can I get our parents together? My husband and I are happy. Why can't they be? SAD ABOUT IT

DEAR SAD: Your husband's mother appears to be the one who's causing all the trouble, and until she changes her attitude, nothing else will change. It's very sad indeed. But the greatest loss is hers. Pray for her, and don't quit trying. I'll bet in time she'll mellow.

DEAR ABBY: I am 29, have been married for 12 years, and have four children. [The youngest is seven.]

I breast-fed all my children. At the same time I also breast-fed my husband. He enjoyed it, and I didn't mind as I have had plenty of milk even when I wasn't pregnant. I have long quit breast-feeding my youngest child, but my husband wants it nearly every day.

He is 44 and recently retired from the military. What worries me is this never-ending supply of milk I seem to have. I had a hysterectomy last year, and even that didn't dry me up. It doesn't bother me physically, but I keep wondering if I am normal? My husband thinks it's super. The older I get the more I worry about it, because I've never heard of this before. Have you?

NAME WITHHELD BY REQUEST

DEAR NAME: Yes. All animals, including humans, secrete milk as long as the mammary glands [breasts] receive stimulation from sucking and emptying. Don't worry, you are normal. The abnormal one could be your husband, but as long as he's happy and you don't mind accommodating him, there's no problem. His hunger is probably more erotic than caloric.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

berg Joyner, SCLC Greenville Chapter.

It was announced the "Find and Feed Program" had gotten off to a slow start but, hopefully, with the summer months ahead, more people will be aware of the program and take advantage of the opportunity to participate.

The program is designed to educate the public on the Federal Food Stamps Program. The next meeting will be held May 28 at the home of Willie Elbert.

Edwin L. Yancey, Pitt County extension chairman, was elected president of the North Carolina Association of County Agricultural Agents at the group's annual meeting Monday

EDWIN L. YANCEY through Wednesday. The NCACAA is, on organization of the professional county agricultural extension agents in the state. Aims of the organization are to provide for the professional improvement of agents to further the program of the agricultural extension, service, and to promote the general welfare of county agricultural agents.

Yancey, a native of Orange County, joined the North Carolina Agricultural Service in 1956 as an assistant agricultural agent in Johnston County. He spent two years with private industry as sales and service manager for a feed company in Benson. In 1969, he joined the Pitt County Extension Office as chairman.

Yancey received a B.S. degree in animal industry and a masters degree in adult education from North Carolina State University.

He is married to the former Betty Williford of Lumberton and they have three children.

No More Bread And Potatoes

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — "I'll never eat bread and potatoes again in my life."

So vowed Shirley Turner, the British housewife who had her jaws cemented together for six months to lose weight.

It worked. Mrs. Turner lost 101 pounds, dropping from 247 pounds to 146. She survived the drastic diet by sipping liquid foods.

Mrs. Turner, 36, had her jaws uncemented after they began to ache.

"The pain was red hot, my face felt swollen. I couldn't sleep," she said. Her doctors said they thought she had had enough of the ordeal.

"I feel beautiful. I'll never slip. I'm glad I did it, but I wouldn't recommend it to anyone else."

State OKs New Grants

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Board of Water and Air Resources has approved requests for increased grants totaling $12.5 million for clean-water construction projects in 17 North Carolina communities.

The largest request approved Thursday was $5,192,240 for Wilson. Next largest was $4,119,656 for Raleigh. The grants involve both state and federal funds.

The board was told that inflation and changes in the scope of the projects caused the bids to go above initial cost estimates.

Other requests approved include: Bessemer City, $414,110; Cramerton $90,010; Dobson $19,401; Hudson $101,870; Greensboro $27,169; Kinston $550,198; Lenoir $612,200; Long View $28,963; Spindale $744,720; Stoneville $194,999; Tarboro $46,500; Troy $35,440; Valdese $187,430; Washington $98,010; and West Smithfield Sanitary District $106,030.

The board's recommendation on the federal grants will be sent to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for final approval.

The Overzealous Are Curbed

Two North Carolina district attorneys are complaining about the obscenity laws which the State Legislature passed this year.

Burley Mitchell, district attorney in Wake County, said, "The legislature would have been better off, and certainly more intellectually honest, if it had passed a bill repealing obscenity laws."

And Jack Thomas, district attorney in Fayetteville, contends the procedures make "effective enforcement of the obscenity law virtually impossible."

Their complaint seems to be about the portion of the law which requires that a court finding be made that material is obscene before an arrest can be made.

The prosecutors say that the material must be displayed by the dealer a second time after a court ruling before an arrest can be made.

Well the prosecutors should remember that we live in a land where freedom of speech and expression are guaranteed by the U. S. Constitution. With this in mind the Legislature should make it difficult for a prosecutor to get a conviction in a censorship case. Pornography has never been eliminated, even under the most stringent of laws. On the other hand, throughout our history overzealous law enforcers have frequently harassed serious writers and artists for their works.

The Legislature wrote the law to prevent this very sort of thing. It means more work for law enforcement, prosecutors and judges, but that is the way it should be.

We can control the flagrant display of pornographic material and, at the same time, protect our precious freedom of expression but in our society, censoring anything is a very serious matter and every safeguard possible should be built into the law.

Jaworski Is A Second Front

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski's blistering letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee is a political act, calculated and combative, which exposes the extreme danger of President Nixon's continuing fight against turning over subpoenaed evidence.

Neither asking nor desiring Senate action, Jaworski was firing a long-contemplated signal. By publicly revealing that the President broke his promises not to interfere with the special prosecutor, Jaworski has made himself more fireproof than ever. Yet, if Mr. Nixon eventually loses in the Supreme Court, his only sensible alternative to the self-destructive sacking of Jaworski would be to obey the court and surrender the tape recordings.

However, there is universal suspicion (Jaworski's included) that those tapes contain information at least as damaging to the President as the revelations on nine tapes he surrendered after the Saturday night massacre last October. Thus, while attention is now glued to impeachment proceedings on Capitol Hill, Jaworski's office in downtown Washington is an actively dangerous second front where the President's prospects are bleak.

Jaworski remains perhaps the worst of all the blatant White House miscalculations about Watergate. The President was wrong from the start that the 68-year-old Houston corporation lawyer would prove a welcome relief from the deposed Prof. Archibald Cox as special prosecutor. After seven long months, the White House will not admit that error.

Continuing to misinterpret Jaworski's character, Nixon aides insist he really wants to clean up the Watergate cases without causing more trouble and go home to the good life in Texas. It's just that poor old Leon, they say, is the captive of ferocious young anti-Nixon liberal lawyers he inherited from Cox.

This conflicts with evidence that Jaworski is totally in control—as in the recent decision on how to handle former Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst's admitted deception before a Senate committee. Although these young prosecutors wanted a perjury indictment, Jaworski insisted that Kleindienst—more sinned against than sinning—should be let off with a one-count misdemeanor.

But the White House has talked so much about the captive-Jaworski theory that Mr. Nixon's lawyers actually broached it to Jaworski himself, crudely attempting to alienate him from the Cox holdovers. Jaworski responded with some heat that he runs his own show.

That heat displayed a combativeness by trial lawyer Jaworski far more intense than appellate lawyer Cox's. As the White House remained adamantly uncooperative, Jaworski long ago decided he would return—at the proper time—to the Senate to complain about the President. When Nixon defense lawyer James St. Clair argued in closed session before Judge John Sirica that Jaworski was subordinate to the President's wishes, Jaworski knew the proper time had come.

His intent is certainly not to further the basic Nixon strategy of delay by getting Congress to establish a statutory special prosecutor's office. Rather, the letter to the Senate was a means of getting his case in the open without breaching the court's semi-gag rule (imposed upon Jaworski but not St. Clair).

The letter further undercut Mr. Nixon with many remaining Republican supporters in Congress. Realizing Mr. Nixon can neither fire Jaworski nor seem to be impeding his investigation, they view this struggle with the special prosecutor as deflating the President's hopes for survival.

The unsinkable Jaworski deepens problems Mr. Nixon faces in his lawsuit against the subpoenaes. Just as last October, the White House inner circle—in this case, the President, St. Clair and chief of staff Alexander Haig—has talked itself into believing it will win the Supreme Court. So, White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt might be telling the truth when he contends the reaction to an adverse court decision has not even been discussed.

But outside lawyers believe the Supreme Court could very well order the tapes be given Jaworski. Since he cannot turn off this process by firing Jaworski, Mr. Nixon would then have to consider presidential defiance of the Supreme Court, leading to a constitutional crisis which would likely result in his conviction by the Senate.

The president's problem, then, boils down to the actual contents of the subpoenaed tapes. Risking his very office to keep them secret reinforces the inescapable suspicion which has always dogged him: that he is protecting not his former aides but himself. That suspicion would endure even if the Supreme Court ruled for him. Only a lenient

N.C. Is Going On Horseback

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Add horses to the list of booming recreation investments Tar Heels are making in such things as boats, camping trailers, and backyard swimming pools. North Carolina now has a horse population of around 120,000, more than double the number just 20 years ago, and a new all-time record.

Reversing the years-ago trend for horses to be found on farms instead of around town, today's horse population is centered in the Piedmont section.

Populous Guilford County leads the way, with around 4,050 horses, followed by Mecklenburg (3,960), and Forsyth (3,170). In fourth place is the mountain county of Buncombe (3,160), where summer camp and resort activities account for a concentration.

Smallest numbers of horses are located in the rural counties of the east.

Additionally, horses have become a big industry across the state with a host of stables and sales going on, shows and camps taking place, at least three regular publications devoted to Tar Heel horse activities, and some 80 organized riding associations thriving.

All For Fun

Why the big boom in horses? It's all part of the leisure time and more money scene. In North Carolina, and almost all the horses—even the draft animals—are for pleasure, not work.

Glenn T. Petty is a former Cleveland County farm lad who grew up with horses in the Mooresboro area, went on the rodeo circuit as a bareback and saddle bronc rider, graduated from N.C. State University with a degree in animal science, and at age 25 is North Carolina's first full-time horse specialist with the State Department of Agriculture.

He rides a desk in downtown Raleigh these days, but his lean frame and easy gait mark him as a man who keeps his hand on horses. He still-owns one, and weekends will find him at a horse show or trail ride or rodeo somewhere in the state.

Petty has just completed one of his first assignments: a 55-page booklet called the North Carolina Horse Industry Directory which lists all the riding groups, businesses, and publications involved in the booming horse-recreation field in the state. Copies are available from the Department of Agriculture.

Petty is pleased at the interest in horses, especially for kids. He thinks it's one of the best things that can happen to a young person since the activity involves taking on responsibility for feeding and caring for an animal.

The new boom, which has seen the tough, little quarter horse from cow country take over first place in Tar Heel ownership, is no longer just an activity for the socially elite.

"Figures now show the majority of horse owners are people making average salaries, and at riding activities, you'll find a good mixture, a cross-section, of the economy," Petty said.

Various Activities

Horse people do tend to congregate into one type of activity or another, with those interested in trail riding and camping sticking pretty much to that; those who like the fancy shows concentrating in that area; and a new trend toward mules and draft horses for wagon train outings developing.

Another offspring of the horse boom is the appearance of new sub-divisions near major cities where future homeowners can buy acreage, while the central theme—and facilities—are riding trails and stables. Petty said he is constantly getting calls from developers wondering about the potential for such investments.

Following the quarter horse in popularity in North Carolina is the Tennessee Walking Horse, then the American Saddlebred.

From his experience, Petty has some words of advice for the beginner in the horse business. First, he said, find a local person with a good reputation to advise you and help you pick that first horse.

A good horse, he says, will cost between $300 and $350—and up. Anything less is apt to bring problems. Tack—saddle, halter, etc.—will run between $200 and $250 for a basic outfit; higher for fancy gear.

Feed now runs about $1.50 daily, and if you don't have a place at home to keep the horse, it must be boarded out—which most in North Carolina's urban areas are. Board may run from around $10-$20 for just pasturing a horse; to $85 or $95 for stabling, feeding and full care. Most stables give instruction in riding at additional cost.

Petty suggests you buy a gelding, not a mare, and "certainly not a stud." He also thinks it best to buy a mature horse, already trained, so both the horse and owner are not trying to learn at the same time.

Strength For Today

ESSENCE OF VICTORY
The world has always defined victory as humbling one's enemies and getting one's own way. But in the Biblical sense triumph amounts to keeping and increasing our faith in God no matter what happens to us. Triumph is inward and spiritual, not outward and material, and often violent—as the world would have it. St. Paul makes it plain in his epistles that the greatest thing which Christ had conferred upon him was triumph. Although the world might think that it had defeated him, Paul was always very confident that through Christ he was defeating the world. Writing to a little group of people in Corinth, undismayed by the persecutions he had endured, the narrow escapes he had made from mobs incited against him, and what appeared every day to be the overwhelming defeat of righteousness at the hands of evil, Paul nevertheless cries out, "Now thanks be to God who always causes us to triumph in Christ."

AMONG THE VICTIMS!

The Newsprint Crunch

NEW YORK (AP)—Newsprint producers have redirected tight paper supplies into a world auction in search of the highest bidders. And the move is causing concern in the newspaper publishing business. In the United States, newsprint now costs $213 per ton, up from $175 per ton a year ago. A ton makes about 7,000 copies of a 24-page paper. Some major suppliers of the U.S. companies have already announced that the price will go up again this summer. Harold Anderson, chairman of the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) says price increases already have upset the normal cycle of doing business and additional hikes would cause "enormous budgetary problems" for American newspapers. The United States is by far the world's biggest consumer of newsprint, using 11 million tons annually. Japan, the No. 2 consumer, uses 2.4 million tons a year. In Europe, producers are successfully charging about $300 a ton and more for newsprint this year, compared with $200 a year ago. In South America, the price averages about $350 a ton, in the Middle East and India, prices for paper range up to $500 a ton, and in East Africa, where publishers pay the highest prices in the world, Canadian and Scandinavian producers command $700 a ton while black market-brokers do a lively business at up to $840 a ton. On July 1, Canadian and Scandinavian producers, the world's leading exporters, are raising their asking price as much as 20-25 per cent more worldwide. What effect has the soaring prices had on newspapers? A number of American papers have had to boost newsstand and subscription rates. In Brazil, Rio's O Jornal, once the flagship of Latin America's largest publishing empire, Chateaubriand Communications, closed in early May. In Britain, the Beaverbrook publishing group, which includes the Daily Express, Sunday Express and London Evening Standard, says it is in serious financial trouble and recently closed the Glasgow Evening Citizen. Many of Hong Kong's tip-sheets on dogs, horses and local scandal have disappeared, correspondents say. Executives of the world's troubled papers say sorting out the finances of a newspaper these days is getting more difficult and complex, and newsprint prices were only one of several factors. Most newspapers have found that by raising newsstand prices and advertising rates—which has happened worldwide in the last few months—they can stay afloat and make some, if a diminished, profit. While the 14 major publicly held U.S. newspaper companies showed substantial earnings increases last year, ranging up to the 47 per cent increase posted by the New York Times, earnings in the first quarter of 1974 were uniform as advertising volume dropped off with the downturn in the economy. The outlook for this year is uncertain, according to John Morton, an analyst with Delafield Childs, Inc., institutional stockbrokers. (Continued on page 5)

Public Forum

To the editor:
As I passed by the Elm Street Gymnasium the other day, a patch of color and beauty caught my eye. Zinnias, marigolds, flowers. "Wow," I said to myself, "how wonderfully grand." I'll bet our city manager did that. Thanks to this kind of effort, Greenville can be not only a well run city, but also a town where flowers and trees have room to grow.

Gratefully,
Katharine Murphy
Editor's note: City Manager Bill Carstarphen says thank you, but gives the credit to Steve Davis, a member of the City Recreation Department staff. More beautification projects for the city's parks and publicly owned land are planned, he said.

To the editor:
Tuesday night I attended a well-directed, innovated play staged by talented young teens at Aycock Junior High. I was appalled, however, at the lack of good judgment in such a production for a public high school.

Over 20 times in less than an hour, the 13 actors and actresses used words like God—, whore, bastard, and the customary four-letter profanity. Jesus Christ and Christ were major bywords.

The plot included a prostitute (so listed on the program) and a young fellow in the process of being fatally hooked on drugs. Much to my chagrin, my son was one of the actors. He had told us that his part had bad language but that he had deleted the profanity from his lines. Having viewed the play, other parents and I were disappointed in our students' being in a performance of such poor taste. Some parents left during the early part of the play.

As parents, we entrust our children to the Greenville school system, expecting educational and moral standards to be upheld. Naive junior high students, enthralled by drama and a desire to please a student teacher, cannot be held responsible. Surely, this play was an unfortunate oversight by overworked administrators who usually do not condone this type program. With America's repertoire of renowned, reputable plays, there is no need for a selection such as "The Brick and the Rose" (unless edited to suit the audience).

Utilities Face A Lack Of Funds

By DEIRDRE DONNELLY
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Faced with rapidly increased costs for fuel and a continuing need for money to expand, some of the nation's major electric utilities have run into a serious lack of funds. The weak financial position some face was dramatized recently when Consolidated Edison, New York City's power supplier, omitted its regular 45-cent quarterly dividend. Con Ed said it needed cash for escalating operating expenses and heavy capital spending this year, and so did not pay the normally guaranteed dividend which is the major attraction for buying utility stocks. The incident, and fears of others like it, quickly focused attention on the industry's ailing finances. Stock prices and credit ratings plunged. Unless the securities market for utility issues quickly improves, the worst trouble may lie ahead, analysts say. And ultimately the consumer may have to pay even higher electric bills, or face potential brownouts. The Dow-Jones average of 15 of the nation's largest publicly held power companies has declined nearly 30 per cent since January, to its lowest point in 15 years. Energy problems and inflation triggered the utilities' crisis. The price of foreign oil quadrupled last year, and consumer conservation efforts and higher bills lowered expected sales by utilities by 5 per cent in the first quarter this year. Combined, they were enough to send first quarter earnings plummeting, in some cases as much as 81 per cent below last year. Although much of the inflation in fuel prices will be recovered through increased bills to consumers, the first quarter figures were enough to shock investors into taking a hard look at the companies' financial positions. Within the past week, the high interest costs and the coolness investors have shown some new utility bonds has caused several companies, including Detroit Edison and Cleveland Edison, to delay or scrap completely plans for new bond issues. Detroit Edison canceled 18 per cent of its planned five-year capital expansion program, warning the action could "effect service within several years." As a last resort, utilities have started to rely more and more on bank borrowings, where the cost of funds to businesses now runs in excess of 11 1/4 per cent. The Federal Reserve reports that utilities are among the heaviest corporate borrowers currently. But as credit tightens, analysts say the only solution for raising funds may be increased rates to consumers. And should those increases not be granted, "the utilities will have no choice but to reduce their spending programs," according to John Ledda, utility analyst with Shields & Co. He said such an action could result in power deficiencies in the future.

Paper Penny Tried

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A local grocery store chain is battling the penny shortage by printing its own. The Eagle Grocery Stores are using paper pennies, printed at company expense and redeemable at all Eagle stores, to overcome a chronic shortage of the copper coins. "This was about the last thing that we wanted to do," store manager Dick Gardiner said Thursday. "But we really had little choice. We didn't want to cheat our customers, but we still had to make change." Customers receive green slips of paper, printed with the company name, instead of pennies for change. Five of the paper slips, which are slightly larger than a business card, are worth a nickel. "What else could we do," asks Gardiner. "We couldn't get pennies. And if we went through the store and rounded off all our prices the sales tax would still defeat us. We just can't do without pennies." The theory behind the penny shortage is that hoarders are storing them away in the belief that the copper they're made of will become more valuable than the worth of the penny itself. The U.S. Mint says it is coining all the pennies it can, but the shortage persists. Some banks and department stores have begun to give customers $1.10 for every 100 pennies they turn in. Gardiner said customers are cooperating in his printed penny venture and view the situation as "just one more shortage to put up with." Some Houston businesses are rounding off prices to meet the shortage. As a result, the customer sometimes gets short-changed. The federal reserve bank in Houston says it is dumping as (Continued on page 5)

40 Years Ago Today

May 24, 1934
Mayor R. C. Flanagan today issued a proclamation designating May 26th as Poppy Day in Greenville, calling on all citizens of the city to observe the day by buying and wearing the American Legion and Auxiliary Poppy in memory of the World War dead. The proclamation stated: "Whereas, in the great crisis of the World War the young men of Greenville offered their services to our country with an exalted spirit of patriotism, numbers of them sacrificing their lives in that service. "And Whereas, the same exalted spirit of patriotism is needed today for the service of our country in its peacetime difficulties. "Therefore, I, R. C. Flanagan, Mayor of the City of Greenville, urge all citizens to recall the spirit of the gallant dead and in memory of their high patriotic service wear the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary Memorial Poppy on Saturday, May 26. "To that purpose, I do hereby proclaim Saturday as Poppy Day in the City of Greenville."

Court Action Seeking Force Road Extension

The Planning and Zoning Commission of the City of Greenville and City Engineer C. A. Holiday are facing a suit, filed with the Pitt County Clerk of Court Wednesday, seeking to force approval of a proposed extension of Red Banks Road and Arlington Boulevard.

A summons, issued Wednesday, calls for the defendants—Planning and Zoning and Holiday—to file a written answer within 30 days after service of the complaint. Also filed Wednesday was an application by the plaintiffs in the case for an extension of time in which to file their complaint.

Clerk of Court H.L. Lewis granted the extension, until June 21.

Included among the complainants are developer Phillip Carroll; Pitt Plaza Inc., Morris Brody, Van C. Fleming Jr. and Van C. Fleming III; Louis W. Evans and Emma Evans, and others.

The Commission, at its April 24 meeting, denied a preliminary plat for development of the James L. Evans heirs property located behind Pitt Plaza and West of N.C. 43.

The commission action came after several residents of the area voiced objections to the development of streets in the vicinity due to possible drainage hazards.

The street plan called for the construction of an extension of Arlington Drive to intersect with the proposed Red Banks Road extension.

Congressman Walter B. Jones announced today that the Farmers Home Administration has approved plans and reserved funds for a grant of $14,000 to the Town of Grifton to extend sewer lines to an industrial location near Grifton.

Funds for the grant will be held available by the FHA for delivery when final conditions have been fulfilled by the town of Grifton.

many pennies as ever into the market, but they just seem to disappear.

During a typical month last year, a reserve spokesman said, the federal offices here would receive $11,000 worth of pennies returned from the local banks for redistribution. Now, he says, only about $2,000 worth is returned from the banks each month.

And commercial banks are having the same problem. Says one banker: "Once we'd get $500 to $1,500 pennies back (from circulation) each week. Now we're not getting any back."

After years of ample newsprint at stable prices, the sudden rise in prices has caused a storm of criticism from publishers accusing producers of strong-arm tactics, artificial shortages and excessive profits.

One angry Danish publisher says, "There's no doubt that the manufacturers are taking advantage of a shortage situation. Of course they have legitimate increases in production costs and they like to blame the Arab oil sheiks for much of it. But in many ways, they are acting exactly the same as the sheiks."

Does a shortage situation exist?

In the United States supplies have held steady for the past few months after the big crunch brought on by strikes in Canada last year.

In most countries these days, though, unsold newspapers are carefully collected and sold to mills to be recycled into newsprint or other paper products.

Has supply been cut by producers to raise prices?

According to the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Friday, May 24, 1974—5

(CPPA), which keeps tabs on world supplies, world production from a noncrisis year in 1972 to a crisis year in 1973 increased from 23.1 million tons annually to 23.8 million tons, about 4 per cent—the same normal growth level the industry has maintained for years.

Why then the bind? World consumption, estimated by the CPPA, has been growing slightly faster than 4 per cent per year. Industry analysts for several years forecast that the market balance would shift in favor of the suppliers in 1975.

Due to the labor strikes which crippled production at the largest Canadian mills for about three months last summer, 500,000 tons of production were lost—just enough to tip that balance a year and a half early.

This year, while supply will run about 26.7 million tons, according to the CPPA, worldwide demand is estimated to hit 26.8 million tons as publishers continue to rebuild their inventories depleted during that strike.

Mayor S. Eugene West has proclaimed Saturday as Poppy Day here, according to Miss Margaret Register, Poppy

In proclaiming Poppy Day, West pointed out that the American Legion Auxiliary adopted the poppy as its memorial flower which pays tribute to the war dead and "aids living veterans and their families."

women for America. Each year, she added, more than 12,000 auxiliary units across the nation make poppies available to the public.

The white opium blossom. "Each Poppy is a double benefit for the veteran since veterans are reimbursed for their production and their families are aided through donations on Poppy Day," the chairman added.

"The scarlet poppy, Papaver Rhoeas, is found not only in France but in North America and West Asia," Miss Register said. "It is now cultivated in Flanders and several parts of Germany for the sake of its seed which are not only used for cakes, but from which an excellent oil is made, used as a substitute for olive oil."

The mayor emphasized that contributions derived from Poppy Day are used locally for families of veterans and for rehabilitation of veterans in hospitals.

Miss Register said that all of poppies offered for sale by auxiliary members were made in hospitals in the veterans hospitals.

She explained that the poppy is chosen by the Auxiliary in part as the memorial flower of sacrifice made by men and

She said that other uses from the scarlet poppy once included syrups and table use as a vegetable but she noted that the poppy is not a source of opium and should not be confused with

Insure Child's Summer Is Safe, Healthy, Fun

By Dr. JAMES PRICE, President, American Academy of Family Physicians (Written for UPI)

By the end of the school year our children are anxious to rush into those activities associated with summers and vacations. Here are some suggestions to help assure that your child's summer is healthy, safe and enjoyable.

strength. Even on a cloudy day you can get a bad burn. To avoid bad sunburns, allow your children exposure to direct sunlight only a half hour on the first day at a beach. Gradually build up their resistance to burns by adding a half hour exposure each day.

3. Diet: The irregularity of vacation activities promotes erratic eating times and diets. Your child should have a balanced diet paying special attention to seasonal vegetables that are not easily available during the winter.

4. Accidents: Increased activity also increases accidents during the summer. Drownings are particularly prevalent. Their occurrences can be reduced by following these few simple recommendations:

—Insist that the buddy system be used for all swimming, water skiing, boating, and other athletic activities. If one of the individuals gets into trouble there is someone there to help.

—Anyone in a boat or water skiing should be equipped with a properly fitting life jacket.

—Discourage swimming at night for there is inadequate light.

—Teach every child to swim. If you can't do this yourself, there are many reasonably priced swimming classes available. Check with your local YMCA.

5. Bicycling: The increased number of children riding bicycles will result in more serious bicycle accidents. Follow these tips:

—Be sure your child is reasonably skillful in controlling the bicycle before allowing him in any traffic.

—Insist that he be familiar with common traffic regulations.

—Night bicycling should only be permitted if the bikes are properly equipped with working head lights and reflectors.

6. Minibikes: These must be mentioned, if only to condemn. The American Academy of Family Physicians and the American Academy of Pediatrics have both categorically recommended that children should not ride mini bikes. Crash helmets do not offer sufficient protection to offset safety hazards inherent to the design of these vehicles.

7. Camping: Roughing it has its own set of hazards. Some tips:

—Well fitting shoes and proper stockings should be worn on long hikes.

—Fresh water from streams in most cases is unsuitable for drinking unless boiled for at least 20 minutes.

—Extra salt intake may be indicated when the weather is hot enough that prolonged perspiring takes place.

8. Travel with Infants: Since babies are more susceptible to the effects of changes in drinking water, use of the ready prepared formulas—where nothing need be added—is often advantageous.

It is not only children who should have special preparation for the summer. Adults who have spent the winter at some relatively sedentary job should gradually condition themselves to the increased activities associated with vacations.

File Claims For Unborn

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Two pregnant Charlotte women have filed suit for financial aid for their unborn children.

They say they asked the Mecklenburg County Department of Social Services for welfare assistance, but were told to come back after their children were born. They are Joyce Taylor and Willie Huntley.

They have named the county department and the state Division of Social Services as defendants.

Pregnant women seeking funds under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program have won similar suits in seven states, but have lost in Georgia and Florida. The seven in which they won are Mississippi, Illinois, Iowa, New Hampshire, Ohio, Connecticut and Virginia.

This may be the first such case in North Carolina.

The North Carolina suit claims that refusal of aid to the two pregnant women violates the 14th Amendment on equal rights.

Revised Rezoning Request Given Planners' Okay

Plan Sewage District Hearing For Tuesday

AYDEN—A public hearing on the Contentnea Metropolitan Sewage District will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Town of Ayden courtroom.

Sponsored by the governing boards of Ayden, Grifton and Winterville, the hearing is being held to discuss facilities plan and environmental assessment relative to the proposed waste water interceptor and treatment improvements for the three towns.

The hearing will consist of a presentation of the facilities plan and environmental assessment by consulting engineers of L. E. Wooten and Co., Raleigh.

The engineers will outline the project description, plant size and location, alternatives considered, projected costs, system layout, type and degree of treatment and environmental considerations.

According to Don Russell, town manager of Ayden, all interested citizens are encouraged to attend the hearing to express their views. A transcript of the hearing will be made. Persons who desire to offer lengthy or detailed comments should submit written statements to insure that their views are recorded fully and accurately.

Copies of the proposed project plans are available for public inspection at the town halls in Ayden, Winterville and Grifton.

"This project was conceived when higher environmental standards required that each town upgrade its waste disposal system," Russell explained. "It was quickly apparent that a joint facility would be more efficient, cheaper to operate and allow more opportunity for expansion than three separate facilities."

Kindergarten Graduation Set

The Christian Kindergarten will hold its annual graduation at the Trinity Free Will Baptist Church on Golden Road this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

The setting of the ceremonies will be a garden scene, according to Mrs. Al Davis, director of the kindergarten.

The public is invited to attend each program.

The Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission gave its approval Wednesday night to a revised rezoning request for property south of Pitt Plaza that will include an area of Office and Institutional zoning.

The City Council in January denied a request for rezoning from RA-20 to Shopping Center of property north of Red Banks Road following a public hearing during which a group of citizens who live on N.C. 43 strongly objected to shopping center usage of the property.

Developer Phil Carroll, representing the James L. Evans heirs, said that the new request, which is a redesigned proposal for the entire 143-acre tract south of Pitt Plaza and west of N. C. 43, calls for rezoning of an area south of Red Banks Road Extended to R-6 and Office and Institutional and a 200-foot strip along N.C. 43 to O & I.

Carroll said last night that the

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Chance of showers over the state Sunday and in the mountains Monday and Tuesday. Highs mostly in the upper 70s.

Evans property owners had met with residents living in the area in an effort to reach a compromise concerning the shopping center rezoning. He said the 200-foot strip was agreed upon in an effort to provide a buffer zone between the shopping center zoning and the residential area along N.C. 43.

He explained that the owners along N.C. 43 had agreed to sign a restrictive covenant that would dictate permitted uses in the area.

Several property owners appeared before the board last night and said that although they would still like to see the area remain under residential zoning, they feel the O & I designation is a compromise they can live with.

A number of other property owners appeared once again to voice their objections to the overall development plan on the basis of increased water runoff potential and subsequent erosion damage to their property.

The new plan presented also calls for the construction of a reservoir or holding lake of roughly two and a half acres and restricting runoff.

City Engineer Charles Holliday said that he is satisfied with the design of the lake and from the information furnished in studying the proposal for the reservoir, it appears the water situation could be handled by the lake.

City Planner John Schofield told the board that he feels the new plan represents a great improvement over the original request from the design standpoint.

The approval of the rezoning request was unanimous and the rezoning of the area from RA-20 and Shopping Center to RA-6, O & I and Shopping Center will be recommended to the City Council.

In other business during a lengthy meeting, the board discussed an amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance that will clarify what is necessary in a comprehensive site plan. Copies of the proposed change will be mailed to all known developers in the area, it was pointed out, and the matter will be on the June agenda.

The joint planning board also discussed rules of procedure changes that involve a redefinition of authority, according to Schofield, rather than an addition of authority.

Schofield reported on the extent of septic tank failures in the southeastern portion of the extraterritorial jurisdiction on lots that do not meet septic tank standards. The average percentage of failures involving septic tanks or lots in five southeastern subdivision areas is 17 per cent, he said. Most of the problems in the areas with failures are due to the soil, he said.

Action by the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission included: approval of a final plat of Tucker Estates Subdivision located on the southside of Red Banks Road; discussion concerning a name change in a street from Stafford to Staffordshire and decision to inform the petitioner that another map is necessary for official recording before action may be taken;

Presentation of the Meadowbrook Flood Plain Study and approval; postponement of consideration of a request for annexation of Pinegrove Subdivision located opposite Pinewood Forest Subdivision until requirements are met; and acceptance of the final plat of Windy Ridge (formerly Sandy Acres).

The board, after reopening for discussion the request for approval of a preliminary plat of Kingsbrook Subdivision near Easthaven which was tabled at the April meeting, denied the Welch, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Welch of Greenville.

property owners failed to meet the provisions called for in the thoroughfare plan involving Brownlea Drive.

The checklist for the plat was in order, it was pointed out, but the developers did not include provisions for the construction of Brownlea Drive extension north of 14th Street as stipulated in the city thoroughfare plan.

The owners reported at the April meeting that they did not wish to develop the section of property that would call for construction of the northerly extension of Brownlea Drive.

Commissioner E. R. Carraway voted against denial of the preliminary plat.

Pirates Fall To Vandy; Meet Gamecocks

HELPS OWN CAUSE—South Carolina's pitcher Earl Bass (13) aids his own cause with a single that drove in two runs and kept alive a third inning rally giving South Carolina five runs in their 9-0 triumph over N. C. State, yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
STARKVILLE, Miss.—Vanderbilt University, champions of the Southeastern Conference, held off a series of East Carolina University threats last night to take a 2-1 victory over the Pirates in the first round of the District III NCAA Playoffs.

The loss sent the Pirates into a 7 p.m. (EDT) game tonight against The University of South Carolina, a 9-0 winner over N.C. State yesterday afternoon.

In the other first round game, the University of Miami nipped defending champion Georgia Southern, 2-1. Miami meets Vanderbilt in the final game today, while State and Georgia Southern meet in the opener.

The double elimination tournament continues through Sunday, with the winner advancing to the NCAA's College World Series.

Vanderbilt scored first in the game, getting a one-run lead in the second. East Carolina tied it up in the bottom of the frame, but another Commodore run in the third sewed it up for them.

Rick McMahon, senior catcher for the Pirates, played an outstanding game against Vandy, killing what many called the Commodore's chief asset, the stolen base. During the regular season they stole over 150 bases, but against McMahon, they were zero for four. In addition, pitcher Bill Godwin picked off another at first base.

If there was a problem for the Bucs it was that they hit too many balls on the ground, or popped them up at the wrong time.

By the time the Bucs took the field at 10 p.m. (EDT), a heavy dew had settled. Heavy rains the day before had spurred the growth of the grass on the field, and the groundskeepers weren't able to mow because of the rains.

And at least twice, the wet grass killed the roll of the ball up the middle, enabling Vandy defenders to get to the ball and make fine plays. On a dry field, they would have been through for run scoring hits.

Vandy learned quickly that McMahon had them pegged. Twice in the first inning, the Commodores got hits off Godwin, and twice they tried to steal, but McMahon mowed them down both times.

In the second, however, the Commodores scored their first run. With one down, Steve Chandler singled to left, just past the outstretched glove of the diving Ron Leggett at third. Fred Fisher sacrificed him up, and Steve Burger lined a single to center, scoring Chandler for a 1-0 lead. Burger also tried to steal, but was cut down.

East Carolina got right back in the game, however, scoring in the bottom of the frame. Mike Hogan led off with a walk, and with two down, Leggett singled through the hole between second and third. McMahon, proving to be just as tough offensively, singled through the middle to score Hogan for a 1-1 deadlock.

But Vandy came right back to go ahead again. With two away, Gene Menses walked. Bill Harden singled to left, and Ted Shipley followed with another hit, driving in Menses with the run that proved to be the fatal one.

At no other time in the game did the Commodores get a man past first base. Godwin picked off one in the sixth, and McMahon threw another out trying to steal in the eighth.

But for the Bucs on offense, it was a fruitless search for another run. They loaded the bases in the fifth, but couldn't score. McMahon reached on an error and was sacrificed up. Geoff Beaton walked, and after another out, Ron Staggs walked, loading them up, but the grass came to Vandy's rescue. Hogan lined a grounder back through the middle that the Vandy second baseman had time to chase down and get the runner.

In the seventh, the Bucs got another chance. Charlie Well, (who replaced the departed Carl Summerell—and played an outstanding defensive game at second) reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on an error on the play. He took third on an infield out—again a line through the middle that the grass killed and turned into an out. But the next man flew out, ending the frame.

The eighth saw the Bucs, who left 10 altogether, put two on via walks, only to die.

"We played a hell of a game," Coach George Williams said sadly after the game. "We got great pitching and great defense. A couple of times when we were in a situation to do something, we had men to hit the ball and not get hits—and a couple of times we just didn't get the hits."

Williams heaped praise on

McMahon. "Rick played the greatest game I've ever seen him play. They couldn't steal a base on him. He was just tremendous."

"But we left too many men on base. The slow field hurt us, but we just couldn't get them in," the coach said.

"We'll be ready tomorrow," he promised. But he faces a big job in convincing the Bucs after the heartbreaking loss.

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Miami, which edged defending champion Georgia Southern 2-1 Thursday, takes on Vanderbilt tonight in the second round of the NCAA Dist. III baseball tournament.

N.C. State and Georgia Southern play this afternoon, with the loser being eliminated from the tournament.

Thursday's victory was sweet revenge for Miami, which lost 4-1 to Georgia Southern in last year's championship game. Georgia Southern went on to the College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

Miami's Stan Jakubowski and Georgia Southern's Pete Manos waged a brilliant pitchers' duel, allowing only seven hits apiece. Jakubowski extended his record to 14-1.

With two out in the ninth inning, Witt Beckman drew a walk and advanced to second on Manny Trujillo's single, then Benny Castillo singled to left field, bringing home Beckman for the deciding run.

The victory boosted Miami's record to 45-8, while eighth-ranked Georgia Southern fell to 45-13.

In the first game, Hank Small drove in four runs to spark South Carolina to its victory.

South Carolina's Earl Bass, 11-1, and reliever Allen Johnson combined to shutout the Wolf-pack on eight hits.

Small's one-out single in the first drove in Jeff Grantz with the game's first run. He singled in two others in the third inning, and drove in another on a fourth-inning sacrifice fly.

Victory boosted South Carolina's record to 45-6. North Carolina State dropped to 22-11.

Rallies Carry Pepsi To Win

Pepsi Cola knocked The Elks out of a share of first place in the Tar Heel League yesterday as Pepsi rolled to a 15-2 victory to even their record at 3-3. The Elks fall to 4-2.

Pepsi had spotted the Elks a pair of runs one each in the second and third innings before Pepsi had gotten on the boards. Elk pitcher Don White had held Pepsi hitless until the fourth when Pepsi blew the scoring open getting eight runs.

The Elks went on the boards in the second with a run. Gavin Ray doubled and moved to third on a hit by White. Walks to David Sneed and Mike Lemmond forced in Ray.

The Elks added another score in the third as William Sneed doubled, took third on a single by Lenn Jackson and scored on a ground out.

But after that it was all over for the Elks. Pepsi had only been able to get two men in in the first two innings, both on walks. But in the fourth they put eight on in a row.

Mark Shank led off with a hit followed by one from Micky McGrath. Both moved up as David McClanahan reached on a fielder's choice. Kevin Richards singled to score both Shank and McGrath. Ricky Sutton walked to load the bases and a walk to Mike Campbell forced in McClanahan.

Fred Matney hit into a fielder's choice that nailed Richards at home. Jeff Wilson made up for the out as he doubled to drive in Sutton and Campbell and move Matney to third. Shank got his second hit of the inning bringing in Matney and putting Wilson on third. Shank stole second and both he and Wilson scored when McGrath was safe on a three-base error.

Pepsi scored seven more runs in the fifth even though he did not need them.

Wilson and Shank led the Pepsi hitting with two hits each. William Sneed had a pair for the Elks.

Suds Capital More Excited Over Brewers Than Beer

By KEN RAPPOPORT
The Brewers most famous these days in Milwaukee are the ones that play baseball, not make beer.

Long known as the stronghold of suds, Milwaukee's cup suddenly is running over in the American League East pennant race.

"Pressure is what baseball's all about—and we have a team that can keep the pressure on," said Milwaukee's George Scott after a 7-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Thursday. "We have guys who can run, guys who hit for average and guys who hit for power. We should keep the pressure on all the time."

Particularly, Milwaukee's racehorse style has caught the fancy of the hometown fans. The Brewers have literally raced into first place in the East race with a running game.

Against the Tigers Thursday, the Brewers stole a club record five bases and had 11 in the four-game series, which they won, 3-1.

In Thursday's other American League games, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Baltimore Orioles; The California Angels beat the Kansas City Royals 3-1 and the Chicago White Sox stopped the Texas Rangers 9-6.

Scott's bloop triple capped a two-run seventh inning rally that lifted Milwaukee over Detroit.

Indians 2, Orioles 0
Gaylord Perry pitched a three-hitter and George Hendrick singled home the only run he needed, leading Cleveland over Baltimore.

Both Cleveland runs off Jim Palmer, 2-5, were unearned with Hendrick's sixth-inning single snapping a 21-inning scoreless string for the Indians.

Angels 3, Royals 1
Bobby Valentine hit a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the seventh inning, scoring Ellie Rodriguez and capping a two-run rally that gave Nolan Ryan and California its victory over Kansas City.

White Sox 9, Rangers 6
Carlos May, Ed Herrmann and Ron Santo provided the key hits in three different rallies, leading Chicago over Texas.

Texas slugger Jeff Burroughs hit his 11th homer of the year to drive in his American League-leading 46th run of the baseball season. It also marked the 10th straight game in which he has driven home a run, leaving him one short of the major league record shared by Babe Ruth and Mel Ott.

Pearson Wins 600 Pole Beating Out Petty

By DICK WATERS
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—David Pearson won his sixth pole position of the season Thursday when his near-record speed took the front row starting spot for Sunday's $183,000 World 600 stock car race at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

Bud Moore-prepared Ford was timed at 155.965, and Cale Yarborough who wheeled his Chevrolet at 155.916.

Charlie Glotzbach with a speed of 154.448 and Dick Brooks at 153.679 nailed down third-row starting positions.

Yarborough posted the fastest time among the big engine drivers, but his speed was a mile and one-half slower than Pearson's Mercury. He got off the gas half-way through the third turn. We had to hold it down all the way around. That makes a heck of a lot of difference when it comes to a race this long."

The 600, reduced to 540 miles this year at the request of the Federal Energy Office, is the longest event on the Grand National circuit.

Baker, who had the best time in practice, was not happy with his third-best speed. He suggested that Pearson had been holding back during time trials. "I don't know whether Pearson was sandbagging or not, but we'll find out Sunday."

Pearson said, "I run as hard as I can every time I run a qualifying lap. People don't know what they're talking about when they think I can go out there and run just a half second faster and know that it is enough to win."

A trio of Chevrolet drivers, headed by Bobby and Donnie Allison, are expected to head the second day of qualifying today.

Joining the Alabama brothers will be Bobby Isaac.

Bobby's Chevrolet failed to show up at the speedway Thursday due to some last minute changes in the car. Donnie Isaac an engine in practice and Isaac encountered carburetor trouble.

Fifteen more cars will qualify today for the 40-car field, with the final 10 slots to be filled Saturday.

The 15th annual 600 will be given the green flag Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Optimists Hang On For 8-5 Win

R. C. Cola suffered its fourth loss in six games yesterday as they fell to North State League leaders, the Optimists, 8-5. The Optimists had to quell a fifth inning R. C. rally to preserve the win.

The Optimists threatened in the first as Jim O'Brien singled and John Hendricks doubled. O'Brien was thrown out as he tried to score.

They broke through to get three in the bottom of the next inning. Liles Stott got it started with a home run. Two outs later, Kenny Kirkland was hit by a pitch. Billy Dough suffered the same fate and both runners stole up. O'Brien singled scoring Kirkland and an error on the play let Dough score.

The Optimists picked up another tally in the third as Glenn Moore reached on an error, moved up on Patrick Wilson's double and scored on a hit by Stott.

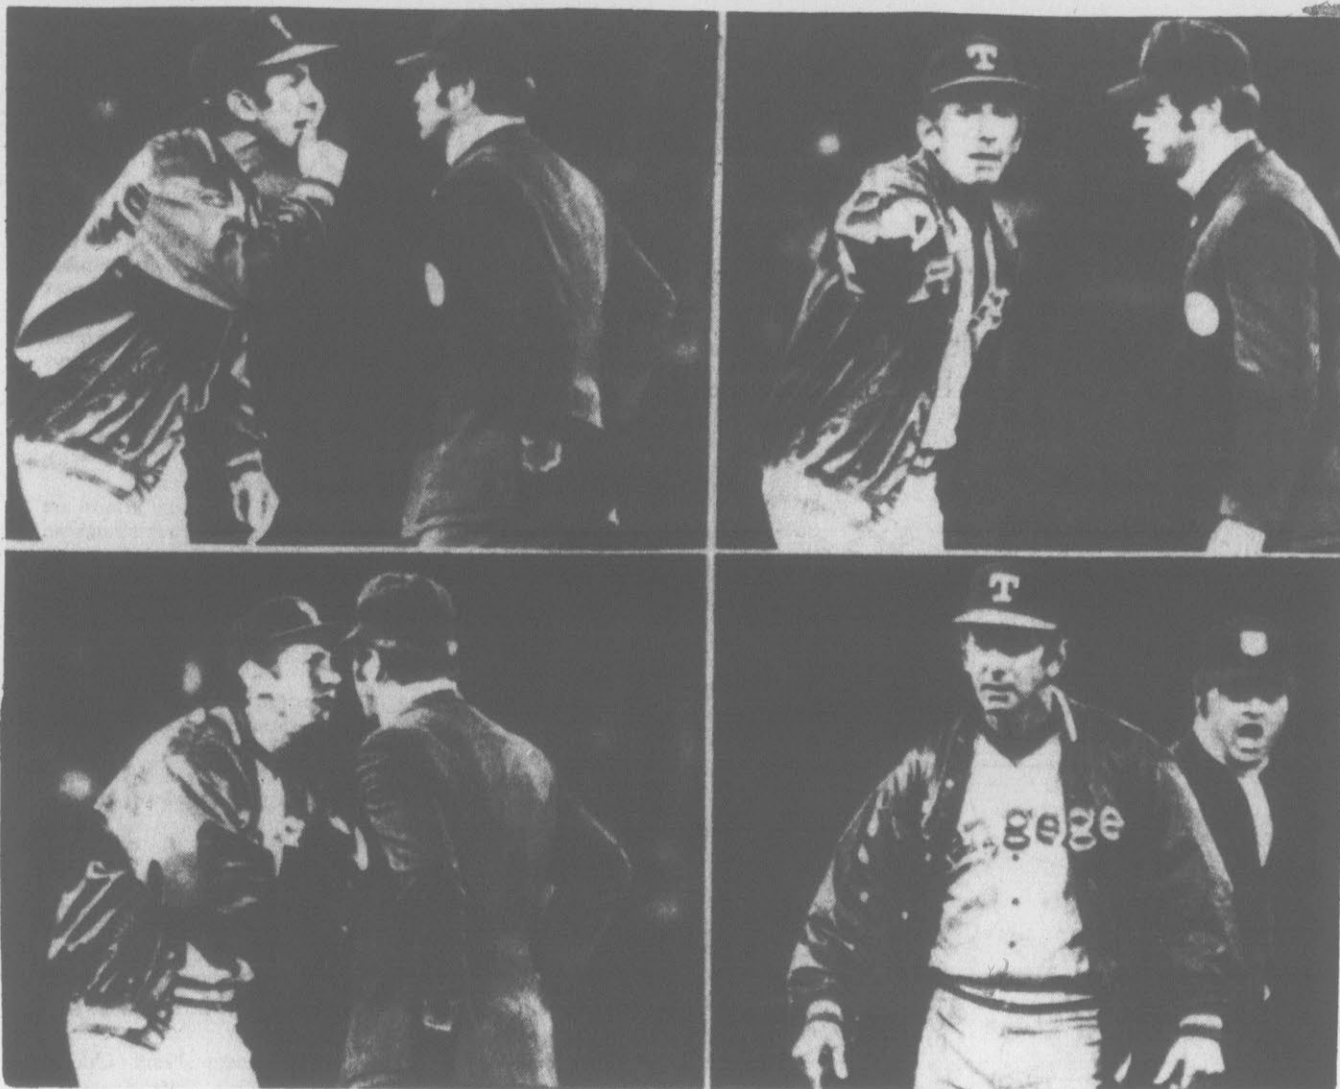

They pushed over the eventual winner in the fourth rallying for four runs. O'Brien singled and an outfield error let him take second. He was wild pitched to third and scored on a ground out. Moore singled and moved up on a passed ball. Wilson walked and Stott was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Moore scored on a wild pitch. A double by Sammy Hodges brought in both Wilson and Stott.

R. C. put together a rally in the fifth and got five runs. Doug Berry opened the inning with a walk. Jr. Hardee and Chip Davis also drew walks to load the bases. All three stole up as Berry scored stealing home. Larry Jones brought in Hardee with a double and a homer by Jeff Worthington scored Davis and Jones.

Worthington had a pair of hits to lead R. C. while O'Brien had three for the Optimists and Hendricks and Stott had two each.

Dispute Settled In Court

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A Superior Court judge has settled one of the disputes at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, and Johnny Rutherford is making plans to dispose of another.

Judge Frank Symmes of Marion County District four ended two days of hearings Thursday by throwing out a $1 million lawsuit against the Speedway, which could have held up the 58th running of the biggest event in motoring.

The suit, filed by several owners of cars that were left at the line a week ago when qualifying trials ended, had sought to reopen qualifications. Symmes ruled, in effect, that the car owners must exhaust all avenues of appeals through channels of the U.S. Auto Club before they'll have grounds for legal action.

In effect, the court denied a temporary injunction that would have held up the race and, at the same time, allowed the claim for $1 million in damages to be carried over. With Symmes having opened the way for Sunday's 12 a.m. EDT, start, Rutherford took to the 2½-mile oval Thursday and pumped his McLaren-Offy on a quick lap of 193.424 miles per hour.

"I proved several things to myself and, I hope, to others," the 36-year-old veteran from Ft. Worth, Tex., said. "One is that I can run as fast as anyone here. The other is that I might have won the front row pole position if I had been given a chance."

One of the disputes at the Speedway this year involved a first qualifying day incident involving Rutherford and Al Unser.

The two veterans broke the engines in their cars during a morning practice session, and neither made it to the qualifying line in time to make rush at the pole position that day.

Both had to wait until the final day of trials to make their runs—for spots well down in the field. Rutherford will start 25th, Unser 26th.

In the meantime, crafty A.J. Foyt blitzed around in his flat-nosed Gilmore Coyote and won the pole position with a four-lap speed of 191.632 m.p.h.

Of his final practice run Thursday, Rutherford said: "I guarantee you we can run that fast in the race. I don't think we will need that much speed, but it's darned good to know we have it if we need it."

Mirriad Of Things Bring Fans Flocking To Indianapolis 500

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The low-slung machines whine like a mortar shell as they streak down the concrete straightaway at better than 190 miles an hour.

At times, they're just as deadly.

The place reeks with the smell of methanol—the highly inflammable alcohol-based fuel that can turn the intricate collection of bolts and nuts and paper-thin steel into a blur at 50 yards.

The old brickyard that is the Indianapolis Motor Speedway wears a garland of decals—huckstering everything from oil additives to shock absorbers.

This is the week that it seems likely everybody comes back home to Indiana.

The band strikes up the nostalgic strains of the song and every Hoosier throat develops a choking frog in it and handkerchiefs are hauled out to dry moistened eyes.

The Indianapolis 500 is here again—No. 58 in the dramatic series—and everybody still is arguing whether it's sport or legalized mayhem.

Nobody questions that it is a show.

Traditionally a Memorial Day feature, the race was changed this year to Sunday to afford another day's grace in case of postponement. The Sabbath is always a good day to say a prayer.

A lot of prayers will be said—by mothers and fathers, wives and children of the 33 men in machines who for a little more than three hours will be playing this most dangerous game—a hide-and-seek frolic with death.

Auto racing buffs are offended when this macabre cloak is thrown over the colorful and exciting spectacle, but none can realistically deny that death always is waiting in the wings.

Who can forget last year's numbing horror of rain and fire? Salt Walther's sleek racer hit a wall in front of the grandstand and exploded like a bombshell. Miraculously, the intrepid driver lived to race again with hands almost half burned away by the flames.

But Art Pollard died in the trials and Swede Savage lasted only a month after his car disintegrated on the fourth turn. A pit employe was struck and killed by an ambulance. And since then handsome Peter Revson lost his life on a South African track at a spot callously labeled "Barbecue Bend."

"We don't perform on the edge of death, we perform on the edge of life," Scotland's Jackie Stewart once said of his racing colleagues. "It's very positive. Life's richer and more beautiful after you have raced and lived to talk about it."

They are unquestionably the most captivating of the world's sportsmen—admired and heralded by spectators everywhere, chased by movie queens and society's swinging jet set.

They are the world's darlings.

They are a rare breed. The imminence of danger—the knowledge that the slightest mistake could turn their intricate $100,000 lightning-fast bugs into flying debris and flaming ruin—keeps them on a constant high.

Johnny Parsons, who won in 1950, will be cheering for his son, Johnny Wayne Parsons, 29. Two drivers, Bill Vukovich and Gary Bettenhausen, are offsprings of famous racers who died in track accidents, the elder Vukovich after victories in 1953 and 1954.

The Unser brothers, Bobby and Al, will be rivals for the richest prize in racing, carrying on the tradition of a family reared in the tradition of the track. A brother, Jerry, died on this same track.

Sunday's race is expected to draw more than 350,000 people, the largest sports gallery in the United States. Fans begin queuing up tonight, loaded with provisions, waiting for the early morning track opening Sunday.

A carnival atmosphere prevails. Arteries leading to the spacious racing oval are lined with gypsy merchants, hawking racing apparel, flags and souvenirs.

For untold thousands, the 500 is a giant spectacle which has become a yearly habit. One lady has occupied the same spot on the northeast end of the infield for the last 39 years.

The heartbeat is Gasoline Alley, rows of car sheds where the hand-built machines are pampered and tinkered with, handled like a patient in the care of great surgeons. Crews number from a dozen to two dozen for every car. The sheds and the cars are plastered with decals, each representing endorsement payments from various sponsors.

Montreal Fog Clashes With Rogers' Smoke

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates couldn't handle Steve Rogers' smoke ... but even Steve Rogers couldn't handle Montreal's fog.

The Expos' hot-shot right-hander was mowing down the Pirates with ease Thursday night—six strikeouts with one walk and two hits in five innings—while his teammates were building a 3-0 lead for him.

None of the men on the Bucs' bench could cope with the Montreal flamethrower on the mound in the early going.

So the Man Upstairs stepped in.

In the top of the sixth inning, a dense fog which had been hovering over Jarry Park suddenly descended. And with its help, Pittsburgh finally got to Rogers.

With two outs and Ed Kirkpatrick on first base, Al Oliver hit a towering but playable fly ball to left-center field ... or toward it, at least. It disappeared when it left the infield.

It finally reappeared, falling between outfielders Willie Davis and Boots Day. And by the time they retrieved it, Kirkpatrick was crossing the plate and Oliver was on third.

That was enough for home plate umpire John Kibler. He halted play for 56 minutes, waiting for the mist to clear. In the interim, the fans were entertained momentarily by a streaker who bounded over a railing, cavorted around the infield, then raced to the outfield ... and vanished.

In the only other National League games, San Francisco edged Los Angeles 7-6 and San Diego nipped Cincinnati 5-4 in 13 innings. The Chicago Cubs' game against the Mets in New York was rained out.

Giants 7, Dodgers 6
Reliever Elias Sosa picked up his fifth triumph without a defeat this season, riding San Francisco's four-run seven inning burst to victory. Dave Rader's run-scoring single capped the rally.

Padres 5, Reds 4
Derrel Thomas drove in three runs including the game-winner with a 13th-inning sacrifice fly that gave the Padres their victory over the Reds Thursday night.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dave Rader's run-scoring single capped a four-run rally in the seventh inning Friday night that vaulted the San Francisco Giants to a 7-6 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Bobby Bonds led off the seventh with his third walk of the baseball game and Garry Maddox singled with one out. Steve Ontiveros' RBI single chased Los Angeles starter Andy Messersmith.

Mike Marshall, 2-2, came on and Gary Matthews' single loaded the bases. Dave Kingman, who had hit his seventh homer of the year in the second inning, singled to right to score Maddox.

Padres Win In 13th Inning, 5-4

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Derrel Thomas drove in three San Diego runs including the game-winner with a 13th-inning sacrifice fly to put the Padres over the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 Thursday night.

Enzo Hernandez led off the 13th with a single and, when Fred Norman, 3-5, balked him to second, Nate Colbert was walked intentionally. Rich Morales was safe, loading the bases, when Norman fielded his bunt and threw late to third, tying for a forecourt.

After John Grubb lined out, Thomas lofted a fly ball to right field, scoring Hernandez. The two teams used 11 pitchers in the game with Dan Spillner, 1-1, getting the victory.

Tony Perez' broken-bat single in the top of the 12th inning put Cincinnati in front 4-3. It followed a walk to Johnny Bench and a balk by Dave Freisleben.

The Padres got the run back in the bottom of the 12th, though, on Dan Driessen's two-out error. Thomas walked, with one away and, with two out, he raced to third on Bob Barton's single. Norman replaced Mike McQueen and got Fred Kendall to ground to third but the ball rolled through Driessen's legs and the tying run came in.

LEADS SIXTH TIME

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The United States Trotting Assn. reports that Herve Filion of Angers, Que., has led North American harness drivers in victories the past four years, and in money the past six years. The 34-year-old driver piloted his own helicopter for day and night racing and turned in 445 victories in 1973. Horses he drove earned $2,233,302.

In 1972 Filion set a world record with 605 wins in one year.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day starts out in a very adverse manner. Early, it is advisable to use special care not to say or do anything that could upset anyone. Later, you see ways to improve your operative skill at home, or where property interests with others are concerned.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Discuss with family best ways of having more accord and prosperity. Some ambition can be made to work in a most efficient way.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Talk over with associates in a.m. how to have greater mutual success. Confer with accountant to learn what your financial position is.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your monetary affairs are confusing in a.m., but by being practical you can straighten them out. Your hunches aren't good during day, but later are excellent.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You feel discontented in a.m., but keep busy and conditions change for the better. Let others know how they can help you. Entertain in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Morning is not good to get backing of friends, but later they respond. You can get a fine plan working later in the day, impossible before.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although a pal can be disappointing in a.m., this person is planning how to assist

Scout Development Fund Total Grows

Announcement was made today by Dr. Edward Clement that James Hackney, III of Washington, General Chairman for the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America Development Fund Drive reported that to date $305,607 has been raised toward the $420,000 goal. Of this amount $40,258 has been subscribed from the Pitt District. Most workers have reported a very favorable response to the Boy Scout appeal, Dr. Clement said.

The East Carolina Council is raising these funds to enable them to make major camp improvements at the Herbert C. Bonner Scout Reservation, Camp Sam Hatcher, Camp Charles, construct a Council Service Center in Kinston, and implement an improved exploring program.

A most encouraging development was reported recently in that the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation has approved a grant of $25,000 when the drive reaches $375,000, Dr. Clement said.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ West defended with foresight on today's hand, and fully deserved the reward he reaped for his courageous play.

After South opened the bidding with one no trump, North first checked to see whether his partner held a four-card major suit, for he would have preferred to play in spades if a fit could be located. When South denied holding a major, North added his 17 points to his partner's 16-18, came up with enough for a slam and bid it without further ado.

West led the jack of diamonds, and when dummy came down declarer could count 11 top tricks. In view of the opening lead, it seemed unlikely that the 12th trick could be developed in diamonds, so it appeared that the club finesse was declarer's best chance. However, declarer realized that there was a possibility of developing a throw-in play. If he cashed all his winners and West came down to a diamond and two clubs, declarer could tuck him in with dummy's fourth diamond and force him to lead into declarer's ace-queen of clubs.

Accordingly, declarer started off by winning the king of diamonds and running four spades, on which he discarded a club while West parted with two clubs. Next came three rounds of hearts. West, who was aware that he was in danger of being thrown in, smoothly discarded a third club, leaving his king unprotected. A diamond was led to the queen, and when East sluffed a heart, declarer knew that West's four remaining cards were three diamonds and a club. Since East clung to his three clubs while West seemed to be parting with the suit with gay abandon, declarer decided that East was more likely to hold the king.

South therefore entered

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Endeavor to get your talents before the right people and commercialize on them and make a big impression on the public in general. A social p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get all information possible about some new project before you get into it, to avoid problems. Plan now for that trip you want to take later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep promises and handle government matters well. Then go out to dinner with mate and have a fine time. Watch your wallet.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Learn what partners desire of you and try to please them, have more harmony and profits. Avoid a troublemaker. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do work that is hardly pleasurable, but important. You then make time for more interesting outlets, and for more profitable ones. Keep health high.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get dull work out of the way and later you can enjoy recreational activities. But don't spend too much. Be kind and devoted.

How DOES your garden grow?

The mystery of life and growth was one our daughter took for granted... until last summer when she "adopted" a flower bed all her own.

I once had a course in botany; I thought I knew all the answers. But none of them seemed to register with Mary.

So my wife took over the answering department. God makes things grow! That made much more sense to Mary.

Is it, after all, a contradiction of science to admit that we live in a world full of mysteries... mysteries that happen before our very eyes... mysteries that reveal the wondrous mind of the creator?

At graduation time, we fully realize that our sons and daughters need a spiritual foundation for all other knowledge. They will find it in the Church.

Hens: Market steady on heavy type. Supply fully ample and demand slow. Heavies at farm 10 cents.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—NCDA—North Carolina hog markets trend 25-50 cents lower. Tops of 27.25-28.25 at Kingston and Lumberton; 27.00-27.50 at Rocky Mount; 27.00 at Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Elizabethton, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourne, Ayden, Laurinburg and Benson; 27.00 at Salisbury.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted a good-sized gain today, although prices receded somewhat after a sharp rise at the opening.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.88 at 812.11. It had been up close to 12 points an hour earlier.

Advancing issues outpaced declines by close to 4-to-1 on the New York Stock Exchange. The pace of trading, brisk at the outset, began to slow as the market headed into a three-day holiday weekend.

Melville Shoe, down 1/4 at 6 1/4, was the Big Board volume leader. A 148,400-share block of the issue changed hands at 6.

Superscope, which projected a 50 per cent gain in second quarter earnings Thursday, rose 1 1/2 to 17.

Walter E. Heller International was up 2 at 25 1/2. The financial-services company said it expected to show record earnings for the second quarter and the full year.

In the glamour sector, Aetna Life & Casualty was up 1/4 at 22 1/2; MGIC Investment added a point to 20 1/4. Merck was ahead 1 1/2, at 83 1/2, and Motorola climbed 1 1/4 to 59 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange, the most-active stock was Marquette Mining B, unchanged at 4 1/4.

The Amex' 11 a.m. market-value index was up .83 at 80.47. The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks stood at 46.40, up .46.

Says Insulin Withheld

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Lawrence and Alice Parker "literally watched their son die in front of them from a failure to provide insulin," the prosecutor said in his opening statement to the jury in the Parkers' manslaughter trial.

Wesley Parker, 11, a diabetic, died Aug. 22 after his parents threw away his insulin. The Parkers said at the time they believed their son would be cured by their prayers and by their anointing his body with oil.

LeRoy Simmons, attorney for Mrs. Parker, 29, told the jury the Barstow couple believed "very, very deeply" in the teachings in the fifth chapter of James, which describes faith healing by elders of the church.

Jury selection was completed Thursday morning and two witnesses were heard after opening statements by San Bernardino County Deputy Dist. Atty. Lou Glazier and Simmons. The trial then was recessed until Tuesday.

Former Pastor At Homecoming

A former pastor of Shelmerville Pentecostal Holiness Church will conduct homecoming services at the Church Sunday.

The Rev. Elton Lancaster, now pastor of Spring Hope Holiness Church in Rocky Mount, is the guest minister. There will be singing in the afternoon featuring the Temples Quartet, along with the Shelmerville Trio, and the Shelmerville Youth Quartet. Lunch will be served at 12:45 p.m. and the singing will begin at 2 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. Roy Williams invites the public.

Sumpter Named To Board Of Diabetes Ass'n

Guy P. Sumpter, Jr., Supervisor of the Dietary Department at the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Diabetes Association. The announcement of his election was made by Lem Cox, president of NCDA.

Sumpter's election to the Board is for a three year period, expiring April 30, 1977. Sumpter has been involved with diet preparations and food nutrition all of his adult life. Prior to assuming his current position at the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, he was associated with the East Carolina University Dietary Department.

TERMITES OR ANTS?

Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today.

The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

Rabin Plans Pick Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier-designate Yitzhak Rabin announced today that he had formed a government, replacing Golda Meir's, and hoped to name his cabinet by Saturday night.

Rabin, a former chief of staff and ambassador to Washington, said his cabinet would then be presented to parliament next week.

Rabin, 52, told President Ephraim Katzir he had taken longer than the 21 days authorized to form a cabinet because he had been busy with the Israeli team negotiating with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to end the war with Syria.

In a brief statement to newsmen after his meeting with Katzir, Rabin made no hint as to the makeup of his cabinet.

Political insiders said Deputy Premier Yigal Allon of the outgoing government was expected to get the foreign minister post while the Defense Ministry job would go to Shimon Peres, a close friend of outgoing Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

If jurors want to look at accumulated evidence, there are three filing cabinets and innumerable cardboard boxes full of more than 1,000 exhibits. Included are films and tapes, some of which they saw months ago.

To convict a defendant of mail fraud, the judge told the jurors, "you must agree that the government proved specific intent to defraud persons, to deceive persons."

On the conspiracy count, the judge said they must believe that the government proved that two or more conspired and must consider whether each defendant knowingly and wilfully took part.

The government charged that the defendants organized Koscot Interplanetary, Inc., a cosmetics firm, in 1967 and two years later added Dare To Be Great Inc., a company to sell motivational courses based on Turner's philosophy of optimism and self-confidence; then used the companies to defraud numerous investors in distributorships by failing to supply sufficient retail products.

In his closing argument, special prosecutor Michael Kinney said tax returns show that the companies had a gross income of $166 million in the six-year period and only 7 1/2 per cent of it came from retail sales. The rest came from the sale of franchises, he said.

Defense attorneys protested the figures but their objections were overruled. They had contended in their arguments earlier that retail selling was the primary aim.

If convicted on all counts of the indictment, seven of the defendants could be sent to prison for as many as 135 years and fined up to $140,000 each.

Ben U. Bunting was omitted from six mail fraud counts and could get a maximum of 105 years and $100,000 fine.

Other defendants are Turner, Harry B. Atkinson, W. Leroy Beale, Clyde C. Cobb, Jess O. Hickman, Malcolm A. Julian and Hobart Wilder. All live in the Orlando, Fla. area.

Turner's fraud case to jury

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Glenn W. Turner and seven business associates who rode his contagious enthusiasm to a six-year fling among millions of dollars awaited a federal court jury's decision today on whether the fling will end in prison.

After nearly nine months in the courtroom, the jury got the mail fraud case at 4:20 p.m. Thursday.

The seven women and five men recessed for the night a little over 30 minutes later.

U. S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat recommended that the jurors work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily until they reach a unanimous decision. He said they could add night sessions if they wished.

The eight were indicted on 26 counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy. The judge took more than two hours to explain the indictment and how to apply the law after government attorneys concluded 11 days of final arguments.

After nearly nine months in the courtroom, the jury got the mail fraud case at 4:20 p.m. Thursday.

The seven women and five men recessed for the night a little over 30 minutes later.

U. S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat recommended that the jurors work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily until they reach a unanimous decision. He said they could add night sessions if they wished.

The eight were indicted on 26 counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy. The judge took more than two hours to explain the indictment and how to apply the law after government attorneys concluded 11 days of final arguments.

If jurors want to look at accumulated evidence, there are three filing cabinets and innumerable cardboard boxes full of more than 1,000 exhibits. Included are films and tapes, some of which they saw months ago.

To convict a defendant of mail fraud, the judge told the jurors, "you must agree that the government proved specific intent to defraud persons, to deceive persons."

On the conspiracy count, the judge said they must believe that the government proved that two or more conspired and must consider whether each defendant knowingly and wilfully took part.

The government charged that the defendants organized Koscot Interplanetary, Inc., a cosmetics firm, in 1967 and two years later added Dare To Be Great Inc., a company to sell motivational courses based on Turner's philosophy of optimism and self-confidence; then used the companies to defraud numerous investors in distributorships by failing to supply sufficient retail products.

In his closing argument, special prosecutor Michael Kinney said tax returns show that the companies had a gross income of $166 million in the six-year period and only 7 1/2 per cent of it came from retail sales. The rest came from the sale of franchises, he said.

Defense attorneys protested the figures but their objections were overruled. They had contended in their arguments earlier that retail selling was the primary aim.

If convicted on all counts of the indictment, seven of the defendants could be sent to prison for as many as 135 years and fined up to $140,000 each.

Ben U. Bunting was omitted from six mail fraud counts and could get a maximum of 105 years and $100,000 fine.

Other defendants are Turner, Harry B. Atkinson, W. Leroy Beale, Clyde C. Cobb, Jess O. Hickman, Malcolm A. Julian and Hobart Wilder. All live in the Orlando, Fla. area.
