Israel, Syria Reach Accord Agreement

By The Associated Press Syrian and Israeli generals have reached agreement on all essential points of a plan for disengagement of forces on the Golan Heights and will sign it Wednesday, a U.N. communique said today.

The communique, issued in Geneva, said agreement also was reached on details for exchanging all remaining prisoners of war and the return of bodies.

The announcement came as Premier-designate Yitzhak Rabin presented his new government to the Israeli parliament and pledged that Israel will work for peace in the Middle East "but not peace at any price."

Premier-designate Yitzhak Rabin presented his new government to the Israeli parliament today, pledging that Israel will work for peace in the Middle East "but not peace at any price."

He said the truce pacts worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger opened the road to fuller peace talks with the Arabs, but that Israel will keep strengthening its army and not withdraw from the prewar borders of 1967 as the Arabs demand.

"Our policy is clear. We prefer peace to new military victories, stable peace, a just peace, an honorable peace, but not peace at any price," he said.

Rabin said the disengagement pacts worked out by Kissinger between Israel, Egypt and Syria are "not peace agreements," adding "where do we go from here? ...

"The next stage on the road to peace must be between Egypt and Israel" with negotiations by steps toward a full settlement, he said. "As for Syria, there is no place for an interim stage."

This was a clear declaration that Israel intended no more withdrawals on the Syrian front and that only a full peace treaty would be considered. But he questioned "whether Syria is ready to sign a peace treaty with Israel."

Turning to Lebanon, Rabin said peace would be "easy to reach" if Beirut agreed, but he warned that if Arab terrorists continued to infiltrate from Lebanese soil "the Lebanon government will bear all the responsibility."

Rabin was expected to win confirmation of his government from the Knesset, Israel's parliament, even though his coalition has a majority of only two. His coalition is made up of the Labor party which has ruled Israel ever since it became a nation, the Independent Liberal party and a citizens rights group.

The 52-year-old former chief of staff and ambassador to Washington said he would continue Premier Golda Meir's policy toward the Middle East peace negotiations in Geneva, including her refusal to bargain there with the Palestine guerrilla organizations.

Like 'Old Times'

By The Associated Press It was like the old days on North Carolina highways this past weekend as a staggering 20 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents.

The Highway Patrol said most of the victims died in single-vehicle accidents, although two crashes accounted for seven lives.

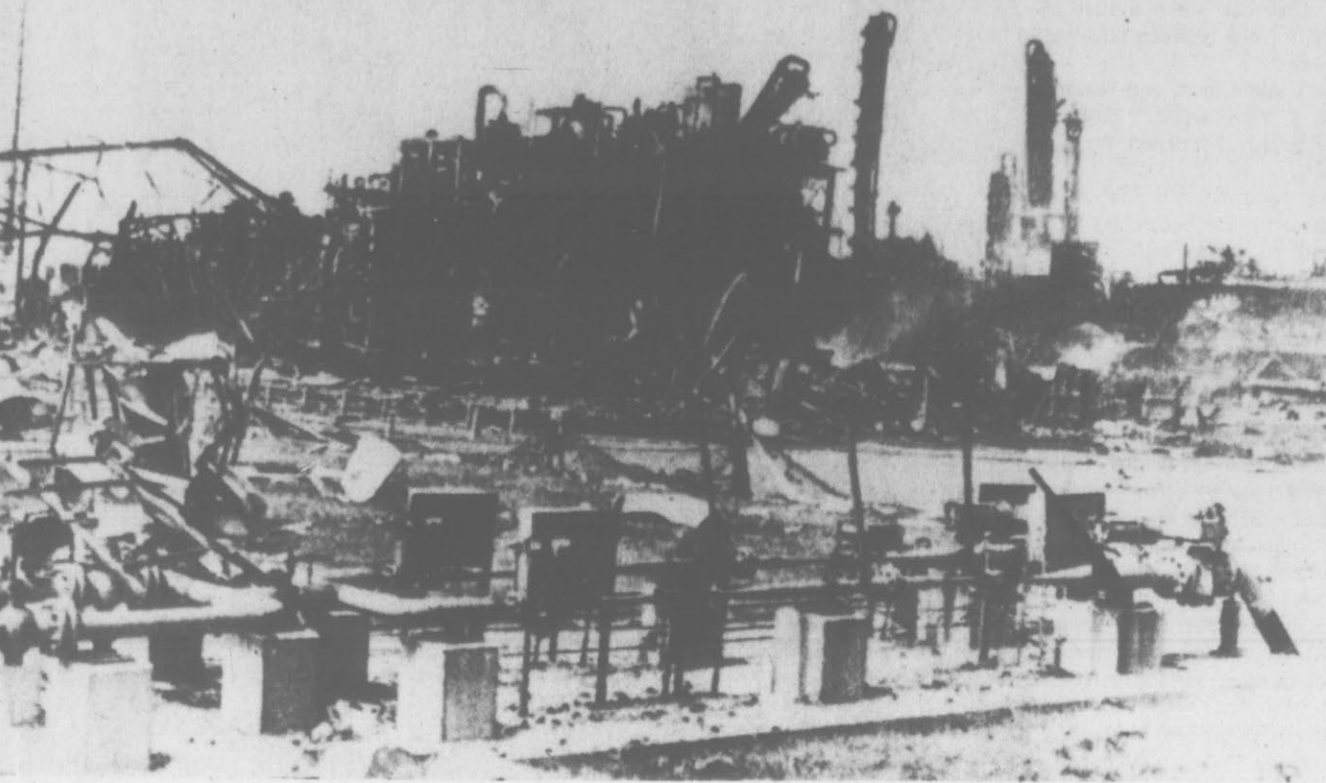

Although the weekend toll was high, the traffic death rate still lags behind last year's figure. So far 567 persons have lost their lives in traffic accidents in the state since Jan. 1. This time last year the figure stood at 728.

Patrolmen have credited the gasoline shortage with lowering the death toll by reducing both speed and the number of cars on the roads.

The death toll this weekend was far ahead of recent weekend tallies. During the Memorial Day weekend, only eight persons were killed in traffic accidents in the state. Seven persons lost their lives

Britain Orders Probe Of Plant Explosion Disaster

FLIXBOROUGH, England (AP) — The British government today ordered a major inquiry into the Nypro chemical plant explosion that killed 29 persons and injured 105, ac-ording to latest official reports.

All the reported dead were workers at the factory in rural eastern England, but only eight bodies had been recovered by Sunday night because fires still raged over more than 20 acres of the plant site.

Damage from the explosion Saturday exceeded $140 million. The chemical plant and about 100 homes in nearby villages were ruined—their roofs blown off, windows and walls shattered.

Announcing the government inquiry, Environment Undersecretary Gordon Oakes said: "Surely dangerous processes and homes must be kept well apart." Leading newspapers speculated that government controls over chemical plants are inadequate, and one paper said the government's chief inspector of factories, Brian Harvey, told it scientists are creating technologies they do not understand fully.

Flixborough, a village of 310 persons 150 miles north of London, was declared a disaster area. The Rev. Ken O'Riordan, a Roman Catholic priest, walked the blackened streets sobbing: "This is terrible, terrible. There is nothing I can do but pray."

At the height of the blaze Saturday night, an estimated 20,000 persons living in the surrounding Lincolnshire villages and fields were evacuated to shelters set up in schools and churches because of poisonous fumes. Housewives wept as they returned to their ruined or damaged homes Sunday.

The jobs of 30,000 nylon workers in northeast England were jeopardized by the Flixborough explosion and fire. Nypro was Britain's only factory producing caprolactum, used to strengthen nylon for heavy industrial use. The plant was owned by British and Dutch interests.

The cause of the blast is still not known, but authorities said they believed it to be accidental.

Other charges against Colson related to the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist were dropped in the surprise court development.

Indications were that charges against Colson in the Watergate cover-up also would be dropped.

The new indictment said Colson attempted to get the original Ellsberg case "tried in the newspapers."

Ellsberg, a former Pentagon analyst, had been accused of leaking the Pentagon Papers to the press.

But Ellsberg was freed in early 1973 when Judge Matthew Byrne found misconduct by the government in the case, citing wiretapping and the break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

The indictment to which Colson pleaded guilty said he devised and implemented "a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility of Daniel Ellsberg and those engaged in the legal defense of Daniel Ellsberg."

Appearing before U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, Colson said "my motives and purpose were to neutralize Dr. Ellsberg as an antiwar speaker... It didn't matter to me that he was facing serious criminal charges."

Gesell set Colson's sentencing for June 21. The maximum penalty for the one-count indictment is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential aide Charles W. Colson pleaded guilty today to a charge that he led an attempt to influence the outcome of the Daniel Ellsberg trial in 1971.

Colson pleaded guilty to a one-count grand jury indictment accusing him of obstruction of justice.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to review a lower court decision ordering a hearing on whether James Earl Ray should be permitted to withdraw his plea of guilty to the murder of Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray is serving a 99-year sentence in the Tennessee State Penitentiary. He pleaded guilty March 10, 1969, to first degree murder in the slaying of the civil rights leader.

King was shot to death April 4, 1968, in Memphis.

The court let stand without comment a decision of the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati ordering a hearing on Ray's petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The petition had been dismissed by a federal judge in Tennessee.

Commissioners OK Land Use Map

Pitt County Commissioners this morning approved a land-use map for the Contentnea Metropolitan Sewage District and reviewed operational plans for the new county landfill.

Ayden town manager Don Russell presented the sewage district land use map to Commissioners for their approval. He told the board that the proposed land use coincides with current zoning in the extra-territorial zoning limits now regulated by the three municipalities—Ayden, Winterville and Grifton.

Commissioners gave their approval to the plan after being told that the county Planning Board has approved the proposal.

Van Lewis with McDavid and Associates of Farmville presented operational plans for the county's new landfill.

Lewis, who said construction of an access road into the site west of Greenville off the Allen Road is now under way, outlined the need for proper drainage at the site and other plans for disposing of wastes on the property.

Commissioners, who had advertised the sale of seven surplus county-owned cars, rejected the only bid received this morning, for one car, and voted to offer the seven cars at public auction rather than by sealed bid.

The only bid received this morning was a bid of $400 for a 1972 model Sheriff's Department car. No bids were received for the other six vehicles up for sale.

In other business, Commissioners heard reports from various county departments and agencies during the morning session and heard Richard Glisson of Greenville outline his plans to construct a crusher on a site off N. C. 903 near Greenville to be used to dispose of junked and abandoned automobiles.

Glisson told the board that he estimates that there are now between 5,000 and 7,000 junked cars in the county and estimated that it would require about "two years or less" to dispose of the vehicles.

He said his operation planned to crush the old vehicles and dispose of them by transporting the junk to Norfolk, Va., where they would be shredded and bailed and shipped to Japan.

Drifting Hulk Struck Pier

ATLANTIC BEACH, N.C. (AP)—A World War II Liberty Ship broke loose from its moorings during high seas off Atlantic Beach Sunday and drifted into the mid-section of the Sportsman's Pier, a 1,045-foot fishing pier.

The ship damaged four pilings, the railing and part of the pier structure. About 200 persons were evacuated from the pier before the ship struck. They returned to fishing after the Coast Guard and a commercial tug removed the ship.

The ship, the Theodore Parker, is scheduled to be sunk Tuesday to become part of a fishing reef.

Rulings Refused

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declined to decide whether husbands can veto abortions sought by their wives.

The court also refused to consider whether the consent of parents is needed before a minor daughter may have an abortion.

The issues are presented in two appeals from Florida where a three-judge panel voided the state spouse and parental consent requirements.

The Florida law was challenged by four pregnant women who filed suit under pseudonyms and by Pamela Harris, an abortion counselor in Miami, and Dr. Lynn P. Carmichel, a Miami physician.

Attorneys for the two sides sought a Supreme Court ruling to settle the major issues they said were left unresolved when the Supreme Court ruled last year that state laws prohibiting abortion in the early months of pregnancy are unconstitutional.

Kissinger Spells Out Unwritten Understandings

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has sent secret messages to Syria and Israel spelling out their unwritten commitments to each other under the Golan Heights disengagement agreement he negotiated, a Lebanese publication reported today.

The Arab World, a usually well-informed digest of Arab news and opinion, said the commitments covered such issues as Palestinian guerrillas, the status of the buffer zone and satellite reconnaissance. It gave no source for its information.

The report said Syrian President Hafez Assad refused to discuss the Palestinian guerrillas with Kissinger but assured him his government would abide by the cease-fire agreement, and "this was interpreted as an assurance that there will be no guerrilla activity from the Syrian side of the truce line with Syria's advance knowledge."

The Arab World said Israel agreed that the buffer zone between the two opposing armies, though under United Nations military control, will revert completely to Syrian sovereignty.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A 14-year-old boy is in unsatisfactory condition today after receiving an electric shock and falling some 50 feet from a high tension tower, authorities said.

Companions said Steven Simmons of Indian Trail, N.C. was climbing the 80-foot tower Sunday afternoon when a bolt of current arced between him and a cable.

"It made a loud pop—louder than a firecracker," said a companion, 12-year-old Donnie Evans.

The youth struck the steel crossbars twice before landing face down at the base of the tower, Evans said.

Witnesses said the boy's T-shirt was burned off his body and his trousers had to be cut away from his legs when the ambulance arrived.

A spokesman for Charlotte Memorial Hospital said the boy suffered severe burns on his back, stomach and legs, as well as a broken arm, leg and nose.

Richard Pierce, a spokesman for Duke Power Company, said high-tension towers in most residential areas are barricaded. However the tower from which the youth fell was not barricaded, witnesses said.

Murdered, Mutilated

MODOC, S.C. (AP) — A sheriff says robbery apparently was the motive for the slayings of three soldiers whose mutilated bodies were found on a lake shore near here.

McCormick County Sheriff J.P. Gable said the victims' pockets had been emptied. He said the bodies were mutilated by stabbings, cuts, blows by a heavy instrument and gunshot wounds.

The victims' bodies were found early Sunday on the shore of Lake Clark Hill. Authorities said the three Ft. Gordon, Ga., soldiers were slain Saturday. The sheriff said at least two persons were involved in the slayings.

One of the victims was identified as James Donahue, 18, of El Paso, Tex. The others were not identified immediately pending notification of relatives. They had been at the Army Signal School at Ft. Gordon about five months, Gable said.

The murders occurred in a heavily wooded area about 20 miles from Augusta and Ft. Gordon, accessible only by a dirt road. The lake forms part of the South Carolina-Georgia boundary.

Congressman Seeks New Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry P. Smith III, a New York Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, says he is seeking appointment as a congressional liaison officer with the United Nations.

Smith, who is not seeking reelection, said he has been "working gently" toward obtaining the U.N. post after he leaves Congress.

The appointment can be made either through the U.N. or through the U.S. State Department.

Two Killed In Guns Meant Trouble, Speed Chase And Death, For Willie

PERRY, S.C. (AP)—A policeman and a motorist were shot to death early Sunday in an exchange of gunfire that followed an early morning chase, authorities said.

Officer L. W. Williamson was killed after he and his partner approached a car they had been pursuing, according to officer Tom Peoples.

According to Peoples, Williamson's partner, Tommy Williams, returned the fire and killed March Lightsey, about 66.

The incident occurred around 3 a.m. in the Aiken County town.

Peoples said the two officers had tried to stop a car which was driving recklessly when the chase began. Williams said they approached the vehicle after it pulled into a yard.

Peoples said Williams radioed for help, and when he arrived the two were dead.

Williamson was the second South Carolina lawman to die in the line of duty in the last four days. Highway Patrolman Ben Strickland was shot to death Friday after he stopped a car on Interstate 20 near Columbia.

LAURENS, S.C. (AP)—Willie James Davis, 22, came out shooting and was cut down by police bullets.

In his possession were found the watch and money belonging to a man who had been beaten to death and robbed just hours before.

For Davis, guns were trouble. He pleaded guilty in October 1968 to shooting Laurens policeman Charles E. Campbell, 32. He was sentenced to eight years for that and was released from prison before serving his full term.

Saturday he died because he hadn't learned to control his impulse to shoot.

Laurens businessman John Dallas Kennedy, 55, was found shot and beaten to death Saturday. His watch and money were missing.

Kennedy operated his salvage business without his partner—his son, John Edward Kennedy, was crushed to death 4½ weeks ago when a load of scrap metal fell on him.

Here is the way authorities described the events leading to Davis' death: Friday night, Davis, after a fight with his girlfriend, was ejected from a Laurens night spot. In the parking lot, Davis fired three shots at the woman, none hitting.

An arrest warrant was signed for Davis. Shortly after noon Saturday, Davis was spotted by a Laurens police officer who took pursuit. Davis drove to his girlfriend's house with the police car behind.

When Cora Ann Carwise and her mother, Bernice Williams, 41, saw Davis coming, they ran through the house and into the back yard. He pursued and shot both of them as they fled.

Mrs. Williams was shot once; Ms. Carwise, four times. Both survived but will be hospitalized for several weeks.

Davis ran into nearby swamps and eluded the pursuing police officer.

A manhunt was launched and sheriff's deputies and State Law Enforcement Division (SLED) joined.

At 2:45 p.m., Kennedy's body was found. He had been shot once in the leg but died of a severe beating to the head. He had been robbed then hidden under some metal gates at the scrap yard.

The manhunt was intensified as Davis was suspected of killing Kennedy.

Davis managed to get home without being seen. When police learned he was there, the house was surrounded. Davis came out shooting and was killed by SLED agents in the back yard.

He had a 44-magnum pistol in his hand and a 22-caliber pistol in his pocket.

His religious superiors called on him to return to Boston for "prayer and reflection" and considered ordering him to cease his political activities. But Jesuit provincial in New England, The Rev. Richard T. Cleary, announced Saturday that Father McLaughlin could continue in his job.

Rev. McLaughlin Still Available

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. John D. McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest who works as a White House aide, says that despite his political work "I'm available for weddings, funerals, baptisms—exorcisms."

Father McLaughlin, 47, said in an interview with People magazine published Sunday that "I've never performed an exorcism, but the time could come."

Saleslady Embarrassed A Reading Customer

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a happy-go-lucky, 25-year-old guy who is still shook by something that happened to me last week.

I went to a newsstand where they sell magazines and paperback books. I got interested in a magazine and started to read it. I was standing there maybe 30 or 40 minutes, reading, when the lady who works there came up and said, "I think you've been here long enough. Either buy that magazine or put it back and leave."

Abby, I was so embarrassed I put the magazine back in the rack and left. A couple of people heard her, and I really felt cheap. Aren't those magazines put out for people to look at? I wasn't bothering anyone or making a disturbance. Did that lady have the right to tell me to leave?

RED FACE

DEAR RED: Yes, but she could have done it quietly and spared you the embarrassment. Leafing through a magazine to decide whether to buy it is one thing—reading it is something else. Magazines that have been read by half a dozen people are fairly shopworn and not easy to sell.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. P.: Look at it this way. Hypertension is the price you pay for being a race horse instead of a cow.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a very loving husband. That's the trouble. He's TOO loving. For example, this morning he drove the kids to school and came back thinking I'd drop everything and make the bedroom scene with him. He often waits around until all the kids are gone, then he starts getting lovey-dovey when I should be getting my housework done.

Will you please tell him that the time for romance is after all the kids are asleep?

Also, he always gets ideas after bowling. Bowling wears me out, but for him it's an afrodeeshiak (or however you spell it). I wouldn't mind if I could sleep the next morning, but I have to get up to drive the car pool. Am I wrong to complain? After all, we're not newlyweds. We've been married for 17 years.

NO BRIDE

DEAR NO BRIDE: The ideal time for romance is when both parties are in the mood and have nothing else to do, but unfortunately that's not always possible. I say, shoot the ducks while they're flying—the housework will keep. And if the situation were reversed, I'd advise a husband to do the same.

DEAR ABBY: That answer you gave "Mad at My Husband"—the gal whose husband objected to her wearing a dress with a plunging neckline—sounded like something out of the Dark Ages.

You said, "Some husbands don't mind if their wives dress sexy, but if yours does—don't!"

Abby, you're dead wrong. A woman is entitled to dress any way she chooses, and no one, including her husband, has the right to dictate otherwise.

Would your answer have been the same if a man had written to say that his wife objected to the way HE dressed?

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: You bet your sweet bippy! [More than one wife wrote to complain because her husband had started wearing his pants too tight. I advised her, "Tell your husband that if he wants to wear the pants in the family, he should wear 'em a little looser!"]

Get Rid of Gray Hair Some of it or all of it

Time-lapse photographs show how gradual action of Grecian Formula 16 lets you control just how much gray you slowly get rid of - some of it or all of it.

White Plains, N.Y.—Hundreds of thousands of men all over the country are now using a remarkable product to control just how much gray they slowly get rid of. It is called Grecian Formula 16 and the results are simply amazing. Grecian Formula 16 is a practically clear liquid, as easy to use as hair tonic. This remarkable formula works for any color hair because it combines with the natural chemistry of the hair to recreate natural-looking color. There is no mess and no rub-off. You simply use it every day for two or three weeks until you slowly get rid of just as much gray as you want. Some of it, most of it or all of it. You can stop where you like. You are in complete control of how much gray goes or stays. Once you get rid of as much gray as you want, simply use Grecian Formula once a week or so to keep it that way. Since Grecian Formula 16 works gradually over a period of time, even close friends won't notice the change happening. The resulting color is so completely natural that the hair definitely does not have a dyed look. Grecian Formula 16 is available at

Administration's Bright Star

Through the fanastic efforts of U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, an agreement has been reached between Israel and Syria for separation of their forces in the Golan Heights.

Although that area is still in a nervous state, at this writing it appears that the agreement will hold. It could be the key to a lasting peace in the Middle East and thus could mean much in maintaining peace for the entire world.

"This is what we hoped for, for our peoples and for our neighbors, and we hope and pray that this is the beginning of a real and lasting peace," Golda Meir, Israeli premier said in making the announcement.

There were many in Israel, and undoubtedly elsewhere in the world who were skeptical of the agreement, recalling that there have been agreements in the past, but generally there was a feeling that the Middle East might be ready for a period of peace and that the Israel-Syria agreement is the key.

Only time will tell whether there will be permanent peace in the Middle East with Israel and its neighbors able to exist side-by-side, certainly there are other problems to be settled. This one was particularly thorny, however, and the agreement is highly significant.

We cannot praise Henry Kissinger enough for his success in this and other missions. He is the bright star of the Nixon administration. However bad the administration's internal organization record is, its successes in international affairs have been outstanding. Most of the credit must go to Sec. of State Henry Kissinger.

Time Saved Can Go To Clarifying The Issues

An electronic system in the N.C. Senate chamber appears a step nearer reality.

The committee assigned to inspect such systems says it now has all the information it needs to draw up the specifications.

Proponents say (and we agree) that an electronic voting system would save time and provide accuracy in the tallying and reporting of outcomes.

Of course, the time that is saved may be devoted to more talk; but where else could it be put to better use?

Danger Signal For Democrats

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

LOS ANGELES—A foreboding that they may waste the political benefits of Watergate is enveloping California Democratic politicians as the probable nomination of Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown for governor in Tuesday's primary draws near.

The Watergate scandal, a troubled economy and the declining popularity of retiring Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan should guarantee a Democratic sweep here in November. Yet, Brown is no certain winner against state Comptroller Houston I. Flournoy, his probably Republican opponent. For the Republicans to elect a governor in the nation's most populous state during Watergate '74 would be catastrophe for the Democratic party.

The reason for the largely unspoken Democratic self-doubt is that young Jerry Brown scarcely seems the ideal candidate to cash in on those Republican weaknesses. What's more, his self-styled "reformist" campaign may be a basic misreading of the public mood. Indeed, California is a warning beacon that Democrats have forgotten the lessons of the 1972 McGovern debacle and are drawing the wrong conclusions from Watergate.

Brown, a bachelor who looks younger than his 36 years, simply does not have the appearance of a governor. The political and governmental establishment in Sacramento has notoriously low regard for his competence and knowledge. As the nominee, he might lose some labor support and more veteran party workers (such as Larry Lawrence of San Diego, a former southern California Democratic chairman who promises to head Democrats-for-Flournoy against Brown). Most important, Brown stands well to the left of the state's political center.

Furthermore, the expected low turnout in Tuesday's primary after an unbearably dull campaign could produce an overly ethnic ticket (headed by ex-Catholic seminarian Brown) in a primarily non-ethnic state. All this stems from even less Democratic leadership than usual in California's traditional political anarchy. The Democratic party exists here today only as an imaginary concept. The sudden death of fund-raiser Eugene Wyman in early 1973 removed an important political force wielded by big Democratic money.

In this leadership vacuum, the namesake of two-term Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is a familiar name more significant than any personal limitations. Brown's potentially most impressive and most moderate opponent, Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco, has faced the trials of Job (a rebellious wife, a public employee strike, the Zebra killings) plus a chaotic campaign organization. Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti's campaign has disappointed himself and his friends.

Nor has Brown cracked under pressure as the pro-Moretti state capitol crowd predicted. When Brown was lured into an impromptu debate with Moretti last week, he effectively stood up to the Speaker's tongue-lashing—bolstering his own confidence and killing the notion of his eleventh-hour collapse.

But as George McGovern learned, what is irresistible in California Democratic primaries can be rejected in November. Brown's opposition to capital punishment symbolizes his alienation from the mainstream of California public opinion on many social questions. But Watergate, Brown feels, has helped de-emphasize social questions and created demands for reforming the system.

Accordingly, Brown brushes off Flournoy as a "wishy-washy moderate" who is "not enough of an activist." While the voters eight years elected Reagan to get government off their backs, Brown believes they now want an "activist" government to solve pollution, auto traffic and corruption. Despite forecasts by his friends that Brown will begin nudging to the right after next Tuesday, he believes his reform platform will elect him governor and elevate him to national prominence in the Democratic party.

But Brown may be profoundly misreading a public disillusioned by government and skeptical of government's ability to handle problems. In that mood, the voters might well choose Flournoy, considerably less dynamic than Brown but coolly prudent. Furthermore, voters may be more tired of Reagan personally after eight years than disaffected with Reagan's fiscal and social conservatism.

Big Month For Proclamations

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—In case you were too busy to notice—or just weren't paying attention—you missed a lot of activities in May.

That's the big month for official days, weeks, and even months in North Carolina, according to official records of proclamations issued by Gov. James E. Holshouser Jr.

In fact, May contained over 26 officially proclaimed activities—almost one for each day.

Here's a rundown on what happened.

May was proclaimed the month for better hearing and speech, anti-litter, mental health, national radio, poppy, American Business Women's Scholarship, arthritis, senior citizens, and soil stewardship.

As for weeks, May contained juvenile diabetes, Goodwill, medical laboratory workers, nursing home, world trade, industrial security, Realtors, special olympics, National Insurance Women, N.C. Association of Nurse Anesthetists, educational bosses, exceptional children, historic preservation, and small business weeks.

Special days included maritime day, armed forces day, loyalty day, and poppy day.

Big Business

All of this is part of the proclamation business at the governor's office, and taken quite seriously. "People just love to get these proclamations, and I enjoy doing them since I get to talk to a lot of interesting people," says Nancy Jones, secretary in the press office.

Miss Jones said there are just a few simple rules: the request must come from a North Carolina citizen or association; the proclamation must be legitimate and reasonable, and the governor will not pose for a picture signing the proclamation or handing it over.

In the past, some governor's did pose for pictures, but with requests running some 300 a year, and some 150 proclamations actually being issued, he doesn't have time for all pictures, so he won't pose for any, Miss Jones explained.

The press office handles two or three requests daily for proclamations, and some limitations had to be instituted.

If not, the governor would be proclaiming a National Baking Day—as one Kansas housewife requests each year—and urging Tar Heel cooks to "bake a cake as a goodwill gesture and give it to someone who needs it."

Elvis Response

The most popular proclamation issued by Gov. Holshouser has been one proclaiming Elvis Presley Week in the state during a concert tour in March.

"We got requests for copies of that from all over the state—I guess from young girls, and some not so young, who wanted them for souvenirs. One even sent money to cover the cost," Miss Jones said.

All of the proclamations are written in the same formal style, known as the "Whereas...and Now Therefore" format, but are not without humor in many cases.

The Frog Jumping proclamation, for instance, takes note of the fact that in order to jump well, a frog occasionally needs prodding.

Another little-known proclamation was issued, appropriately enough, on April's Fool Day as proclaimed that date as Governor's Press Secretary Day in honor of Jack Childs. Strangely, no copy of that proclamation could be located.

Coming up for June are beef week, Miss North Carolina week, hollering day, father's day, national recreation and park month, and a proclamation naming Avery County as the clogging capital of the world.

The list is considerably skinnier for June. Miss Jones said the business peaks in May as associations hold annual meetings, then drops off till after Christmas.

The All-Purpose Speech

WASHINGTON—Vice President Gerry Ford has been zigging and zagging on the question of impeachment for some time. It's a very difficult position for him to be in, and since he has to give so many speeches it's hard for him to remember what he said the day before.

Because I admire the Vice President very much I have written a standard speech for him which should cover all the bases.

It goes like this: My fellow Americans, I would like to say before I begin that I am neither for impeachment nor against impeachment. I believe that a little impeachment never hurt anybody. But if impeachment gets out of hand and starts to affect the country, then we should take another look at it and decide whether there is another way of resolving the issue which can accommodate the positions of those who are for it, as opposed to those who are against it.

Now let me say at the outset that on the basis of all I have read so far the President is not guilty of any impeachable offenses. At the same time, if he is withholding evidence which could show that he should be impeached, then he should turn this evidence over to the House Judiciary Committee and settle his guilt or innocence once and for all.

I have talked to the President on this very subject and expressed my views quite clearly. He has expressed his views to me. It's quite possible that on the basis of our discussions we may disagree.

But the fact that we disagree does not mean that we do not see the question in the same way. The President may have his reasons for not turning over the tapes to the Judiciary Committee, and I may have my reasons for him to get the whole thing out in the open. Because the President is stonewalling Congress does not mean that I do not support his efforts to do the right thing no matter if I personally believe it's the wrong thing.

I feel the House Judiciary Committee has enough evidence now to judge whether the President is guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors and they shouldn't ask for any more evidence unless they believe they need more evidence to find out if the President is guilty or not. If they need it, then the President should turn it over to them, though I think it would be a mistake if the President turned over the material and it was then decided it wasn't the proof they needed.

Furthermore, and I have said this many times, the fact (Continued on page 5)

Other Editors Say Compulsory

(The Wilson Times)

This nation can look forward this fall to an all-out drive from union organizers to amass a huge political war chest for their all-out drive to elect a bought and paid for "veto-proof" Congress.

Incomplete reports on file with the Clerk of the House show more than $5 million stashed away for direct giving to the November elections.

Mrs. Helen Wise, president of the National Education Association, said her union alone would raise $6 million for campaign spending this year. The money would be raised by asking each of the union's 1.4 million members to donate one dollar each to the union's political slush fund. In addition, Mrs. Wise said, the union will supply candidates with millions and millions of dollars worth of cash-equivalent services—for a grand total that should have the campaign "reformers" reeling in their tracks.

The main target of the union organizers' political offensive is Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act the Right to Work provision. Repeal of 14(b) will be their first order of business if they are able to stack the Congress with additional political puppets.

James J. Kilpatrick, syndicated columnist who writes for The Wilson Daily Times says, "If labor wins victories, labor will demand spoils. A first order of business in such a 'veto-proof' Congress might well be the repeal of Section 14-b of the Taft-Hartley Act, which authorizes states to enact right to work laws."

Overnight 19 states, North Carolina is one of the 19, could lose this bulwark of individual liberty and industrial strength.

With many who know the dangers is Sen. Sam Ervin who said in a recent talk at the 26th National Conference on Church and State that "by sanctioning compulsory unionism, the federal government is empowering unions in practical effect to compel those who labor to become and remain members of unions as conditions of employment and to participate in strikes they deem unjust under pain of severe union-inflicted fines."

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Economic instability is producing some odd consequences in the financial markets. Cash, for instance, is considered by many to be the best investment, all things considered.

The main ingredient of that term "all things" is doubt—doubt about the likelihood of economic equilibrium returning soon, doubt about the chances of conventional investment outlets growing more attractive.

Stockholders of Slater, Walker Securities Ltd., a London-based conglomerate, were growing increasingly restless as they saw the firm's assets sold off for cash. Financial trouble? No. As the chairman explained at the company's annual meeting, the world's economy is in a critical condition. It is becoming increasingly difficult to invest in industry because of stock market slumps and socialism.

Cash, he told relieved shareholders, is "high yielding, relatively secure and easy to manage."

American money managers also seem attracted to cash. Mutual funds are organized to invest mainly in corporate shares. But many mutual funds are keeping a large portion of their money in cash instead of stocks.

Ironically, this conservative posture may be one of the big reasons why the stock market fails to move ahead. If money remains on the sidelines it is of no use to the stock market.

While the cash position of mutual funds is now approaching 10 per cent of assets, a very high figure, the cash position of bank trust departments may be even higher. They too are reluctant to commit their cash.

While investor indolence has a history of many months, a new factor conceivably could be introduced that also would keep money

Transit Money Waits

By MIKE WATERS

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The mass transit woes of many cities have one solution waiting for them in Washington. It's bushels of money—estimated at up to $4 billion—available but virtually untouched for almost a year.

All it takes is willingness by state and local governments to make a choice between roads, cars that use them and the fuel they use against energy-saving mass transit.

Last August, Congress passed and President Nixon signed into law a bill freeing billions of dollars from the federal highway trust fund to be used for public transportation, such as buying buses or railcars, or other capital expenses.

Yet, only one state has taken advantage of the law and one other has an application on file with the federal government.

Massachusetts on Thursday received $671 million for use for public mass transit in the Boston area and for a section of highway in the southeastern part of the state. Pennsylvania has filed an application for the Philadelphia area, which could yield about $165 million.

A spokesman for the Urban Mass Transit Administration of the Transportation Department said more states have not taken advantage of the law because cities view public transportation not as a service but as a burden. A spokesman for DOT's Federal Highway Administration said there is about $4 billion available for public mass transit that cities have not sought.

Asked if there were liabilities in requesting the money, the UMTA spokesman said, "Disadvantages? No, not that I can think of, if a state has done its research."

Money received under the act would not cut back on other federal transportation-related funds going to the state, she said.

Massachusetts decided it would be of more benefit to have the money that would have been spent on one section of Interstate highway—a beltway stretch around Boston—transferred for expenditure on public mass transportation needs.

If states opt for the transportation, it can only be publicly owned mass transit, and the money comes from Washington after the federal government is convinced the stretch of high-

Public Forum

To the editor:

I'd like for all the people of Pitt County to look around them and see how small our farms of Pitt County are. And why?

Do we really need all these new roads, taking the place of potatoes, tomatoes, and cabbages? All these new homes—nice, yes. But do we really need all the rooms in them? Are we wasting that which we shall need someday? Do we need all the smoke and pollution factories bring in? God forbid. I hope no one in Pitt County ever knows real hunger. Wake up. Look around you. Where are the vegetables going? Where do they come from? God bless us every one.

Instability's Odd Consequences

Strength For Today

A CHOICE OF DIFFICULTIES

Someone has said that life in this world is only a choice of difficulties. "If we avoid them in one direction it is but to meet them in another."

Some people think it is wrong that Christians should suffer. "What is the good of being a good man if all suffer equally, the good and the bad?"

One of the objects of living is to teach people how to overcome difficulties. Life is a school, and the righteous must learn their lessons as well as the evil. Wherever there is life there will be difficulties, and while it is hard to be a Christian, it is harder not to be a Christian. The Christian often suffers for righteousness, but can be proud and content in doing so. But the suffering of the unrighteous man is compounded by the fact that he knows it is a punishment for evil. The trials of the righteous are for the growth of the soul, but the trials of the unrighteous are the sharp and poignant penalty for evil.

Deserter Is Home Again

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—After receiving an undesirable discharge from the Army, Thomas Mack Hartis, 26, who deserted his unit in Stuttgart, West Germany in 1969, has come home.

He said he deserted because of harassment over his moustache, and that he decided to return home last month because of homesickness.

He presented himself to the U.S. Embassy in Stockholm, Sweden, and was allowed to return to America rather than to military authorities in West Germany.

Hartis received his undesirable discharge Friday at Fort Dix, N.J., and was allowed to return home to Charlotte without a military trial.

The eighth-grade dropout and Vietnam veteran said in a letter to his mother recently, "I don't care what kind of discharge I get. I will make it when I get out."

His undesirable status prohibits him from getting the GI Bill educational aid, Veterans Administration mortgage loan, hospital care and other benefits, and it could mean that he will have trouble finding a job.

Hartis rejected a court martial trial that could have enabled him to get an honorable discharge by serving more time in the Army or a few months in the stockade.

In the letter to his mother, Mrs. Margaret Hartis Simpson, he said, "I want to find me a girl and get married and settle down. I am not getting any younger."

His mother said, "If there's a heaven here on earth, I'm in it."

One-Legged Hero Tends His Marijuana Garden

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY Associated Press Writer FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Kays is not your government-issue hero. His victory garden is full of marijuana, and he is determined to keep it as a symbol of his freedom.

Kays, 24, won the Medal of Honor and was honored at the White House for his heroism in Vietnam.

A draft resister-turned-medic, Kays lost a leg in battle in May 1970 but repeatedly crawled past his lines to rescue and treat wounded comrades.

Today his battleground is a 1,000 square-foot patch near his trailer in this southern Illinois town where he farms the illegal marijuana plants for his own personal use.

With practiced ease, he swings down the rows on his artificial leg hoeing, raking and tilling. A headband secures his long, sun-tinted hair which cascades into his beard.

Kays was raised in Fairfield, population 6,000, and attended Southern Illinois University. He was discharged from the Army in 1970, and has been living here on disability checks since.

What he did in Vietnam and what he is doing now are part of the same personal quest for freedom and what is just, even if it conflicts with the law, Kays said.

Kays resisted going into military service. When his induction notice came, he left for Canada. But, unsure he was doing the right thing, he reported 31 days late and volunteered to be a medic.

The medal he earned has no value of itself, only the experience it represents, and has often been a source of trouble, he said, brings him unwanted attention and praise.

Kays, arrested twice and convicted once for possession and cultivation of marijuana, was sentenced to one year's probation.

Two weeks after his first arrest, the sheriff discovered Kays was still growing marijuana and arrested him again. The prosecutor is seeking to revoke probation.

"I don't wish to fight, but I'm not going to quit," he said. "I will trust to the courts to see that justice is done. My only weapon is the truth. No man has the right to dictate to another."

(Continued from page 4) may save Brown and the California Democratic party. Flournoy's advisers know he must find a way to disconnect himself from Watergate without alienating hardcore Republicans faithful to President Nixon. They have not yet found that formula. Watergate is, in fact, the main reason why a Democratic sweep is still possible this year. But its lack of certainty is a danger sign for Democrats that their misperception of political reality could drastically dilute the impact of Watergate.

(Continued from page 4) that the President has decided to refuse to give more evidence to the Congress should not be interpreted to mean he is hiding anything. I do not know if he is hiding anything because I have not heard the tapes. And I do not want to hear the tapes because if I heard them I would have to make a judgment as to the President's innocence or guilt, which would be a mistake if at some future date I would be asked where I stand.

I can tell you though that everytime I have met with the President he has been in excellent health both mentally and physically, and I am impressed at his ability to see everything so clearly, although at times it doesn't seem very clear to me. In conclusion I would like to say that I will continue to support the President, although I may disagree with him. And I know he supports me. That's why he keeps calling me in to talk to him about why I am not supporting him. If he didn't respect me, he wouldn't try to change my mind. Would he?

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog prices were mostly steady with an instance of 25 cents lower. Tops of 27.00-28.00 at Kinston and Lumberton; 26.50-27.00 Rocky Mount; 24.75-25.25 Tarboro and Bethel; 26.50 Salisbury; 25.50 Wilson and High Falls;

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market steady at 35.79 cents per pound. Supplies adequate, demand good and weights desirable. Estimated slaughter 1,141,000.

North Carolina hens: Market steady to slightly stronger on heavy types. Supplies fully ample and demand fair. Heavies, at farm, 10-10½ cents per pound; f.o.b. plants 13-13½.

NEW YORK (AP)—A tentative downward move in the prime lending rate produced an equally tentative advance in the stock market today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.76 at 805.93. Gainers outpaced losers by more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange, but trading was light.

As the market opened, the First National Bank of Chicago lowered its prime rate — the interest rate on short-term loans to big business — from 11.75 to 11.60 per cent.

It was the first reduction in the prime by a major bank since short-term interest rates began climbing sharply in mid-March. But analysts said it was too early to tell for sure whether a lasting downward trend in money rates was being established.

The Chicago bank's president, Chauncey E. Schmidt, called the prime-rate decrease "a welcome sign" but added: "We believe that rates will trend moderately downward later in the year, but we are not yet certain whether the present turnaround represents the final peaking."

Myron S. Helman at Shields & Co. said that, with money rates still high, commodity prices fluctuating sharply, and concern remaining over the troubles of New York's Franklin National Bank, many investors are waiting cautiously for signs of "a slow, steady return to normalcy in the money markets."

Melville Shoe was the most-active NYSE issue, unchanged at 77½.

Signal Cos. gained ¾ to 20½ after a delayed opening. The company reported plans for a tender offer for one million of its own shares at $24 each.

Certain-tyed Products lost 1¼ to 11¾. Moody's Investors Service dropped its rating of the company's commercial paper, or unsecured corporate IOUs.

The American Stock Exchange volume leader was Champion Home Builders, up ¼ at 4½. The Amex's 11 a.m. market value index stood at 81.60, up .09.

The NYSE composite, meanwhile, was up .17 at 46.09.

Ulster Policy Argued

LONDON (AP)—The British Parliament interrupted its spring vacation today for an emergency debate on the future of Northern Ireland amid growing sentiment for British withdrawal from the province after nearly five years of bloodshed.

More than 1,000 persons have died in the war between Northern Ireland's Protestant majority and the Roman Catholic community, outnumbered two to one. The dead include more than 200 British soldiers who tried to restore peace.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called Parliament back into session after a coalition of moderate Protestants and Catholics attempting to govern Northern Ireland was forced to resign. The British government resumed direct rule of the province after a 15-day general strike led by militant Protestants opposed to the sharing of power with the Catholics.

Although there was considerable belief in British political circles before the strike that the moderates in Northern Ireland eventually would win out, many of Wilson's Laborites, some Conservatives and a number of Liberals now reportedly favor setting a date for Britain to get out of Northern Ireland.

The tabloid Daily Mirror, which has a national circulation of more than 4 million, devoted its entire front page today to what it called Britain's gravest crisis since the British-French invasion of Suez in 1956 and to a decision the country must face: Pulling out its troops and abandoning sovereignty over the province.

"Extreme Protestants and Catholics are now joined in an unholy alliance by their dislike of Britain and British troops," it said.

One usually informed political source said the government's new formula includes election of a new provincial assembly, as demanded by the Protestant leaders of the general strike, and another attempt at a provincial government named by the assembly.

The source said British officials hope the Catholics would go along with this because Sinn Fein, the political front for the outlawed Irish Republican Army, is now legal and could put up candidates.

Meanwhile, the killing of a former IRA leader in Northern Ireland raised the official fatality toll to 1,025 since August 1969.

Oakland Is Still Mad But AL West Isn't Laughing

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Oakland A's are still mad at the world ... and the rest of the American League's West Division isn't laughing much, either.

The A's, who seem to play best when they're sore about something, had a couple of gripes as they ran their winning streak to four games and 17 of 23 with Sunday's 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The two-time world champs are starting to put some daylight between themselves and the rest of the division. After the victory over the Brewers, the A's have a 3½-game bulge over the second-place Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 in 10 innings, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 9-7, the Cleveland Indians trimmed the Kansas City Royals 5-2, the New York Yankees pounded the Minnesota Twins 11-1 and the Detroit Tigers shaded the California Angels 2-0.

Winning pitcher Catfish Hunter was angry about being lifted. And some A's were upset by a post-game player move that saw backup first baseman Pat Bourque sent to the minors.

Hunter checked the Brewers on seven hits, including Bob Coluccio's second-inning homer, before giving way to Rollie Fingers after two-out singles by George Scott and Darrell Porter in the eighth inning. Bob Hansen greeted the reliever with a run-scoring single.

Bourque, hitting a solid .286, was farmed out to make room for light-hitting infielder Dal Maxvill, reactivated from the disabled list.

Oakland's key hitting was done by Reggie Jackson, who slammed his 14th and 15th home runs, and Joe Rudi, who cracked a three-run shot.

Rich Coggins singled home pinch runner Al Bumbry with two out in the 10th inning, giving rookie Wayne Garland his first major league triumph with 5 2-3 innings of two-hits relief.

Red Sox 9, White Sox 7
Rico Petrocelli drilled a pair of two-run homers, one of them capping a five-run third inning. The victory was the 11th in the last 14 games for the Red Sox and gave them a 1½-game lead over Milwaukee in the American League East.

Indians 5, Royals 2
Solo homers by Leron Lee, Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan boosted Gaylord Perry and the Indians over Kansas City.

Yankees 11, Twins 1
Home runs by Lou Piniella, Rick Dempsey and Ron Blomberg sparked a seven-run sixth inning that helped Mel Stottlemyre snap a personal five-game losing streak and post his first victory since April 30.

Tigers 2, Angels 0
Norm Cash broke up a scoreless duel with an eighth-inning home run and Woodie Fryman and John Hiller blanked California on four hits.

National League scores: Chicago Cubs 7, Los Angeles 6; Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 1; St. Louis 9, San Diego 6; Philadelphia 4, San Francisco 3; Atlanta 9, Montreal 0. Houston and the New York Mets were rained out.

WHERE'S THE BALL—Milwaukee Brewer catcher Darrell Porter thrusts his mitt hopefully behind Oakland A's slugger Reggie Jackson during the second inning of Sunday's game. But Reggie, who went three-for-three at bat, didn't allow the ball across the plate this time and drove the ball more than 400 feet into the bleachers for his fourteenth home run of the season. Oakland downed the Brewers, 6-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Bradshaw To Stay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw was at the news conference to announce he had spurned the World Football League to stay with the Pittsburgh Steelers, but in casual chatter beforehand he mentioned his beef cattle spread in Louisiana.

"There's a lot more money right now in raising hogs, but it sounds better to say you have a ranch than a pig farm," he said with a grin as he flicked an ash from a long cigar.

That same regard for his public image may have influenced Bradshaw's decision to sign a new multiyear contract with Pittsburgh of the National Football League, even though there were hints the New York Stars of WFL offered more money.

"Well, I didn't like the idea of playing in small stadiums that may not be filled ... and I still haven't taken this team to a Super Bowl," acknowledged the 25-year-old quarterback, first choice in the 1970 NFL draft.

Bradshaw, who still has a year left on his current five-year agreement with Pittsburgh, added that he had doubts about whether the WFL can survive.

Another of Bradshaw's misgivings included joining a league that is still rounding up players and coaches and even more basically gathering equipment.

Bradshaw was not selected in the WFL draft, but he was contacted later by New York Stars' Coach Babe Parilli, who tutored Bradshaw the past three seasons as an assistant at Pittsburgh.

"We did get a very substantial first offer from New York, and we were told we could expect an even more substantial second offer," said Bradshaw's attorney Les Zittrain.

Yet Zittrain said the second offer was never solicited and that Bradshaw signed with the Steelers late Saturday afternoon. Details of the new contract were not disclosed.

Wilson Wins, 2-1

WILSON—Post 13 of Wilson scored two runs in their half of the fifth inning and made the lead stick for a 2-1 victory over Greenville's Post 39 in the American Legion Tournament at Wilson yesterday.

Greenville scored their only run in the third inning, when with two out, Robert Brinkley walked and scored on Macon Moye's double.

Wilson won the game in the fifth as Junior Webb led off with a walk and moved up on Stan Johnson's sacrifice bunt. Ricky Bass and Clay Johnson were issued successive walks by losing pitcher Mike Belton, then Belton balked to bring Webb home with the tying run. Billy Davis, batting at the time of the balk, was issued a walk to reload the bases. Billy Bradshaw singled to score Bass with the game winner.

Johnson was the winning pitcher for Wilson, striking out nine and walking five in going the distance.

Memphis May Have Two

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis, a city that didn't have a professional football team in April, may have two this month.

"It's possible the city will have two pro football teams," said Mike Lynn, leader of an eight-year drive to obtain a National Football League expansion team for the city.

NFL supporters say Memphis has a good chance of being named as a franchise site by NFL owners at their meeting Tuesday in New York, in spite of the fact that the World Football League has established the Memphis Southmen.

"I am cautiously optimistic, but I don't want to predict any longer what the NFL may or may not do," said Lynn, president of Mid-South Sports Inc. "Memphis was the favorite city of the NFL owners prior to the April meetings and I have found the owners' position the same."

Lamar Hunt, owner of the NFL Kansas City Chiefs, said Memphis has a high level of interest from a 14 or more of the NFL's 26 owners.

A poll of 340 members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America, taken by the Sporting News, says the Cincinnati Reds will face the Oakland A's in the 1974 World Series.

Menne Had Thought Of Quitting Before Kemper

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — He'd often considered quitting. He'd won less than $30,000 in 3½ years. Car trouble coming into Charlotte had just about busted him. He was down to gas money to the next stop. His wife was cooking hamburgers in the motel room.

And, with that background and that pressure, longshot Bob Menne birdied the final hole of regulation play to gain a tie and then scored from 30 feet on the first hole of sudden death to win the $50,000 first prize in the Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It means everything to me," the curly-haired man from Massachusetts said after his dramatic triumph Sunday. "It means the Masters and the Tournament of Champions. And it means money."

"Golly, $50,000." Menne, 32, a struggler throughout his six-year tour career, whipped an iron shot to within six feet of the cup for the birdie on the 72nd hole that caught front-running Jerry Heard, then defeated the easy-going guy with the dramatic birdie putt on the first playoff hole.

"If I have to lose," said Heard, "I'm glad it's to Bob. He needs the money. I'm glad it's him and not somebody like (Jack) Nicklaus that's got more money than he'll ever need."

And Nicklaus and all the other great names in the game were in the field. They had to be. The tournament, which offered $250,000 in total prizes, is one of three designated tournaments on the schedule, tournaments in which the game's leading players are required to play.

Menne, of course, wasn't among that list. In fact, he had to win his way into the field by qualifying in an 18-hole round on Monday.

He won it with a final round of 67 and a total of 270, 18 under par on the 7,085-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Heard matched that total with a last-round 70.

Dave Hill just missed the playoff by a single stroke at 271. He bolted into contention on the strength of a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 in the last round. Lee Tresino, also in contention until the last nine holes, had a 69-272.

Billy Casper and J.C. Snead, each with a 69, were at 273. The other big guns were strung out further back in the exceptionally low scoring. Jack Nicklaus had 70-278. Johnny Miller was 70-280. Gary Player scored 72-286. Arnold Palmer and Tom Weiskopf started but didn't qualify for the final two rounds.

"This is something I've dreamed of ever since I was a little kid," the almost-tearful Menne said.

"What every player out here dreams of is winning. Not only had I wondered if I would ever win, I was wondering if I was ever gonna play good enough to make a living out here."

MENNE AND HEARD AFTER PLAYOFF—Jerry Heard (left) of Visalia, Cal., shakes hands with Bob Menne of Lawrence, Mass., after Menne won the sudden death playoff on the first extra hole to win the Kemper Open golf tournament Sunday. ## Taff Office Equip. Beats Washington, 6-5

Jack Jones scored the tie-breaking run in the fifth inning to provide Taff Office Equipment with a 6-5 win over Washington in Senior Babe Ruth League play Saturday night.

Jones scored when he reached first on a walk, stole second and third, and scored on Jimmy Peszko's fly ball to left field.

Taff led off the scoring in the first when leadoff batter David Clifton reached on an error, moved up when John Causey was hit by a pitch, went to third on Jack Jones' fielder's choice which got Causey, and scored on a sacrifice by Willie Streeter. Jones reached third and later scored on a pitcher's error.

Washington scored one in the second. Ricky Payne reached on an error, moved to second on Jim Flowein's single, reached third on an error, and stole home plate.

They got four more in the fourth, all without the benefit of a hit. The Washington team then played the remainder of the game with eight players, which may have made the difference.

Taff meanwhile scored three in the third. Clifton walked, and Causey doubled him in to score. Causey moved to third on an error which let Jones reach first. Jones then stole second. Streeter sacrificed Causey home and moved Jones to third. He later scored on Peszko's infield grounder.

Greenville's Post 39 Downs Johnston County

WILSON—Greenville's American Legion rallied for four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning Saturday night to take a 5-

4 victory over Johnston County. Johnston County had overcome a 1-0 deficit to take a 2-1 lead in the fourth, they added another run in the fifth and one in the sixth before Greenville came back to take the win.

Johnston County threatened in the second, inning, but wasn't able to score. Larry Webb singled, stole second and was sacrificed to third, but died there. In the third, Johnny Parker reached second on an error on his infield hit, but also waited without advancing.

Greenville, which hadn't put a man on base in the first two frames, came up with a run in the third. Eddie Connelly reached on a fielder's choice and Chris Manning reached on a bunt single. Kelly Heath then singled to drive in Connelly for the 1-0 lead.

But in the top of the fourth, Johnston County rallied for two runs and the lead. Webb was hit by a pitch and sacrificed up. Bill Galloway was hit by a pitch and both moved up on a balk. Max Raynor doubled, driving both across.

They added another in the fifth. Ray Tanner reached on a two base error. Parker came up with a hit, moving him to third. Webb then hit a sacrifice fly to score the run.

The final Johnston County run came in the sixth. Raynor reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on an out. Thompson walked and Tanner singled to load them up. Parker got another hit, scoring Raynor with the fourth Johnston run.

After a threat in the bottom of the fifth, Greenville came up with four runs in the sixth to push ahead and take the win. Griff Garner led off, getting hit by a pitch. Robert Brinkley followed with a hit and moved up on the throw in. Macon Moye doubled, driving in both runners. Keith Jones singled Moye to third, and the two pulled a double steal, with Moye scoring. Gil Whitford walked and Connelly sacrificed Jones over with the winning run.

AMA Says 'No Contact'

CHICAGO (AP)—Girls should not play football, ice hockey or any other rough contact sports with boys, says the American Medical Association's committee on medical aspects of sports.

But it added that participation on boys' teams "with its inordinate injury risk jeopardizes the health and safety of the female athlete and outweighs the benefits of such participation."

Its statement, published in the June 3 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, was approved by the women's and girls' divisions of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

To Atlanta's Capra, Long Is About Two Years

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The "long man" is the guy in the bullpen who can be counted on to pitch five or six solid innings of relief.

To Buzz Capra, "long" meant about two years.

The New York Mets' castoff and refugee from the bullpen, who's been trying for that long to show he really is a starter, is achieving his goal.

On Sunday, though, he had to work to prove it. He gave up 10 Montreal hits—but none of the baserunners managed to get back where they started—home plate.

So, backed by a 16-hit Atlanta assault, the Braves' right-hander coasted, in a manner of speaking, to a 9-0 rout over the Expos.

In Sunday's other National League games, the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 7-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-1, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 4-3 and St. Louis outlasted San Diego 9-6. The Mets' game against Houston was rained out.

The Braves picked Capra up in a straight cash deal. So far, he's been a bargain.

Braves manager Eddie Mathews started using him when starter Ron Reed was injured facing San Diego May 15. Capra came on and, with some late help, picked up a shutout victory.

And he's been coming on strong as a starter since then, four-hitting the Dodgers May 19, shutting out Houston on three hits May 24, pitching nine innings of three-hit ball in the Braves' 10-inning 2-1 victory over Philadelphia last Tuesday night, then blanking the Expos.

Cubs 7, Dodgers 6
Mike Marshall, making his 34th appearance of the season, walked Jerry Morales and Billy Williams in the seventh inning, then Jose Cardenal drove his fourth homer of the season into the left field bleachers, putting Chicago in front 6-4. Then Rick Monday doubled and scored what proved to be the winning run on a single by Carmen Fanzone.

Skipp Walther Killed

MIAMI (AP) — The day before George "Skipp" Walther died, he foresaw no problem in adjusting to a racing boat larger than any he ever had driven.

"You have to run 140, 150 miles an hour in the five-liter boats to be competitive," he said. "You can't do much better than that in an unlimited here."

At 150 m.p.h. Sunday, the Red Man hydroplane Walther was driving in a trial run around the tight-turned Miami Marine Stadium bounced out of control, its 6,500 pounds turning over onto him.

He was declared dead less than a half hour later, having suffered massive skull fractures and brain injuries. His right arm was severed at the elbow.

Walther's wife Sandy, pregnant with the couple's first child, saw her husband's spill from the pits. She was treated for shock after accompanying Walther to the hospital where he died.

Walther, 27, was supposed to be driving his own boat in the $30,000 unlimited regatta. But a delay in its completion and an injury to Red Man owner Jim McCormick earlier in the week changed that.

Walther's father George N. Walther Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, has raced hydroplanes for years. His brother Dave "Salt" Walther was severely burned in a spectacular crash at the Indianapolis 500 last year. Salt, who also pilots hydroplanes, made a comeback this year, finishing 17th at Indy.

Penn State Basketball captain Ron Brown needs 130 points to move into 10th place on the school career scoring list. The Brooklyn senior has 733 points in two seasons.

Rain Dampens LPGA Spirits; Rankin Still Gets Winnings

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kathy Whitworth says a rain-shortened golf tournament leaves "an unfinished feeling," but Sunday's storm didn't dampen the spirits of Judy Rankin.

"A win is a win," said Mrs. Rankin, who pocketed a check for $5,700 after officials of the Baltimore Golf Championship cancelled the final round of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament and declared her the winner with a two-under-par 144 for 36 holes.

Mrs. Rankin conceded that it "takes a little off by sort of backing in," but noted she had played well in the first two rounds except for consecutive bogies on the 13th, 14th and 15th holes in Saturday's second round.

Before faltering, Mrs. Rankin held a four-stroke lead and was threatening to make a runaway of the $40,000 tournament. But she was on top at the end of each round, while successfully defending a tournament title for the first time.

The abrupt ending supplied an unexpected bonus for Mrs. Rankin. "I was getting pretty tired, because I haven't had a week off all year," she said. "This should help me in getting ready for Las Vegas."

A $100,000 tournament opens in Las Vegas, on Thursday, and difficulty in lining up airline passage helped convince officials to cancel the final round rather than reschedule it for today. In addition, the course was in bad shape after two days of rain.

Miss Whitworth, who won two rain-shortened tournaments last year, said such a windup, "leaves an unfinished feeling, whether you have a chance to win or not."

As for the leader, she said: "You always feel that maybe you might not have won, and feel you would have liked to have proven that you would have held on to win anyway."

MEAC Votes Div. One

WASHINGTON (AP)—The seven member colleges of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference have voted unanimously to declare themselves members of Division I of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

At a meeting in Washington on Sunday, conference officials also announced plans to request an automatic berth in the NCAA's basketball playoffs, when the field is enlarged to 32 teams next year.

"We are going to immediately get our request in to the proper officials," said Dr. Leroy T. Walker, acting conference commissioner.

In other action, the conference named Earl Mason of Durham to assume the position of acting commissioner, if Walker steps down June 30.

Walker has indicated his desire to relinquish the post, but has not announced any definite plans.

Evert Wins

ROME (AP) — It wasn't her richest victory, but Chris Evert was really happy she had finally won a major international tennis tournament.

Miss Evert, 19, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat 17-year-old Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-3 Sunday in the final of the women's singles at the Rome Tennis Open.

Miss Evert plays in the French Open later this week. She was a finalist there last year, as she was in Rome and Wimbledon.

Malone In Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Moses Malone, a 6-foot-11 basketball star from Petersburg High School in Virginia, is being courted by almost every top college basketball coach in the nation—and this weekend was the University of Hawaii's turn.

Malone said many of his friends advised him not to consider Hawaii because it was so far away from his home, but "I don't think that makes any difference. I'm the one who has to go to the school and I'm the one who has to be happy," he said.

Malone said he is looking for a school where the people will care about him as a person and not as a basketball player.

The Virginia high school graduate has been talking with North Carolina, North Carolina State, Maryland and Houston and he said he thinks Hawaii will be his last stop on the courting circuit—"unless something comes up next week."

The Worry Clinic Lives Changed By Counseling

Ada's confession shows one of the splendid "fringe benefits" of the modern newspaper! Multiply it by thousands of other cases and you can easily see why journalism even exceeds the helpful counseling that Dr. Fosdick mentions!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-645: Ada S., aged 19, is a college coed.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "your newspaper column saved my life!"

"And I'm not joking!"

"For when I was a high school sophomore, I had no friends and looked like that 'waddling walrus' you often mention."

"I weighed 167 pounds though I was only 5'3" tall."

"So I was a typical wallflower and withdrew from social affairs."

"One day I was so blue and hopeless that I actually decided to commit suicide."

"I planned to do it after I went to bed."

"But your column in our evening newspaper that very night described one of your Northwestern University coeds who was almost my twin."

"And you said within 6 months, she was elected popularity queen and had shed 40 pounds by use of your

'Compliment Club' and your dehydration dieting plan.

"Well, I didn't want to die and had only decided to do so because I felt there was no hope."

"But that newspaper column gave me something to cling to, so I figured I could wait a couple of months before doing away with myself."

"Much to my surprise and delight, I began to win friends easily by paying those 3 honest compliments every day."

"At the end of the 30-day 'Compliment Club' experiment, I was not only finding it easy to engage in conversation with the boys in my classes."

"But I had lost 18 pounds and was down to 149."

"To most girls, that 149 pounds would have seemed terrible but by contrast with my former 167, I felt quite slim."

"So I kept on paying at least 3 compliments per day and also shifted to your 2nd Diet Plan on which I could have 1,200 calories daily and still lose 2 pounds per week."

"Before the end of that sophomore year in high school, I had dropped to 119 pounds and was voted the 'Personality Queen' of my class, which included over 200 girls, plus 250 boys."

"Dr. Crane, if a newspaper column could thus save my life and change me into a slender, popular girl, just think how many thousands of other people all over the U.S.A. must have also been saved from unhappiness, divorce and even suicide!"

Fringe Benefits
Ada's case shows one of the wholesome "fringe benefits" of the modern newspaper.

This "Worry Clinic" is just one of several educational columns in this daily newspaper which bring college educations to millions of readers.

Some thoughtless folks still fail to realize the vast counseling value of modern newspapers.

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, famous New York pastor, once stated:

"Preaching is personal counseling on a group scale."

Newspapers likewise offer vast personal counseling, as well as tutoring in current history, medicine, psychology, finance, home economics, needlecraft and many other practical fields.

So send for that booklet "How to Lose 10 Pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQ103 ♥J ♣A1093 ♠A1072

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♠ 2 ♥ Dble. ?

What action do you take?

A.—Redouble. Something's rotten in the State of Denmark, and there is no reason for you to suppose that it is your partner who is experimenting. Even if trumps are stacked, it seems impossible that partner could go down in his contract, and you are ready to handle any escape the opponents may contemplate.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠95 ♥87 ♣AKQ10 ♠QJ1054

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

2 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ Pass

4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five clubs. Despite your good hand and partner's reverse, you are not in a position to take stronger action. The auction marks partner with a singleton diamond, so your K-Q in the suit are likely to be wasted values.

Q. 3 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠762 ♥KQJ543 ♣KJ94

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—The quest for game should be abandoned in favor of a sure profit. Partner's double should alert you to a possible misfit, and your three small trumps could prove to be a remarkable asset on defense. A pass, therefore, is clearly indicated.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠KJ9 ♥AK52 ♠984 ♠632

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Of course, we are reluctant to raise partner's second suit with only three trumps, but the quality of our support should offset the lack of length and no other forward-going bid is attractive.

Q. 5 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AQ105 ♥KQ109 ♠A82 ♠92

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2 ♣ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. Although partner's bid is not forcing, you have better than a minimum no trump and three-card support. You should offer partner one more opportunity in case he has sufficient values to go on to game in the light of the new information he acquires.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A43 ♥KQ ♠QJ1076 ♠AJ9

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

A.—Three spades. Although partner's bid is not forcing, you have better than a minimum no trump and three-card support. You should offer partner one more opportunity in case he has sufficient values to go on to game in the light of the new information he acquires.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠107643 ♥KQ ♠86 ♠AKJ8

What is your opening bid?

A.—Should you open one spade, you will have a rebid problem if partner responds at the two-level in a red suit—you do not really want to rebid your anemic major. For the sake of convenience, it often pays to treat a weak five-card suit as if it were a four-card suit. If you apply this principle here, you should conclude that the most convenient opening bid is one club, which solves all immediate rebid problems.

Farm Scene

By EDWIN L. YANCEY
County Extension Chairman

Services available to farmers and home owners will be featured on the 1974 tour sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Coastal Plain Development Association. It is scheduled for June 19, and will center in Raleigh. Soil testing, seed testing, animal and plant diagnostic facilities and the NCSU Phytotron will be visited.

The new soil testing laboratory, now with services for nematode assay, is one of the most modern facilities of its kind. You will see how the samples are handled and learn how the recommendations are developed. Animal, poultry and plant diagnostic clinics are available to assist producers (as well as horse and pet owners) maintain healthy herds, flocks, and crops. While visiting these facilities, tour participants will see demonstrations of how the service can be of value.

The NCSU Phytotron is a very unique and exciting facility. Within the multi-chambered building plant scientists can duplicate the environmental conditions (light intensity, moisture, temperature, etc.) found anywhere on earth. There are only a very few phytotrons in existence. It is a valuable tool for researchers as they work to develop new varieties of plants and new techniques of production.

The tour is open to any person interested in learning more about the services mentioned. Pitt County participants will travel by buses which will load at the Pitt County Fairgrounds at 6:30 a.m., on June 19. They should return to Greenville by 6 p.m. Cost of the tour, including lunch, will be $9.00. Any person interested should send a check (made payable to Pitt County Mutual Exchange), along with name and address to Agricultural Extension Service, P. O. Box 1427, Greenville, N. C. by June 13.

Second Turner Trial August 5 No Parole For Doctor

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Unless a change of venue attempt is successful, a second federal mail fraud trial for super-salesman Glenn W. Turner will begin here Aug. 5.

The retrial is scheduled for the same courtroom in which a nine-month legal marathon ended last week with a hung jury.

U.S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat, who will preside once again, warned defendants and attorneys after declaring a mistrial that they remained bound by his order not to discuss the trial.

Turner, seven former associates and three Turner-controlled businesses are charged with defrauding "persons too numerous to mention" by selling distributorships without providing sufficient retail products.

Although Turner's attorney Edward M. Garland is adhering to Tjoflat's gag rule and not commenting on what pretrial motions he may file, sources said an effort will be made to move the trial from Jacksonville.

The first trial was shifted here from Orlando, where Turner converted a $5,000 loan and a gift of gab into a multi-million business empire.

Charged with Turner are Koscot Interplanetary cosmetics, Dare To Be Great motivational firm and Glenn W. Turner Enterprises holding company. The seven former executives in the three firms are Harry B. Atkinson, W. Leroy Beale, Ben U. Bunting, Clyde C. Cobb, Jess O. Hickman, Malcolm A. Julian and Hobart Wilder, all of the Orlando area.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The U.S. Paroles Board has ruled that Dr. John Robert Kernodle of Burlington, former board chairman of the American Medical Association, must serve his entire 18-month sentence on charges of misapplication of bank funds.

Federal paroles officer Thomas Jones said the paroles board notified him that parole had been denied to Kernodle, and to Houston P. Sharpe of Graham and Norman Smith of Haw River.

They were among six prominent businessmen charged with misapplying funds at the old North State Bank of Burlington.

Five pleaded guilty, including Kernodle, Sharpe and Smith. The other two were Marshall Stewart Jr., of Raleigh and Charles McMillan of Burlington.

The sixth man, H. Calloway Pollard Jr., of Burlington, pleaded innocent but was convicted in federal court at Greensboro in February and sentenced to three years in prison. He has appealed.

Sharpe is serving a 15-month term, Graham two concurrent 18-month sentences, and McMillan one year.

Stewart received a 45-day term and a one-year suspended sentence.

The five pleaded guilty in December and began serving their sentences Jan. 21.

Kernodle was chairman of the board of the bank, Smith was president and Sharpe was a director.

The others were involved in the illegal transactions through businesses.

Mayor Daley Has Operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley is in good condition after undergoing surgery to remove fatty deposits in an artery on the left side of his neck.

Dr. Hushang Javid and two assistants performed the 90-minute operation Sunday at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center. It was designed to prevent a major stroke from occurring, a Daley spokesman said.

Daley, 72, had a minor stroke May 6 and was hospitalized for 12 days. He was expected to stay in the hospital several days.

The Golden Gate Bridge is the nation's top manmade tourist attraction.
