Plan Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's offer of nuclear aid to Egypt has drawn criticism from a number of key congressional figures, some claiming it could lead to the development of nuclear weapons in the Arab world.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., predicted Egypt would be able to build an atomic weapon within seven years under Nixon's offer. "It's cockeyed," he said.

And Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he would propose legislation prohibiting all foreign aid to Egypt until that nation ratifies the treaty on non-proliferation of nuclear weapons.

In Jidda, Saudi Arabia, presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler responded to the congressional criticism by assuring that any agreement signed with Egypt will have "sharply drawn, thorough safeguards."

Ziegler also noted that any agreement for supplying U.S. nuclear aid to a foreign nation must be submitted to the Joint Atomic Energy Committee for review.

And in Chicago, Vice President Gerald R. Ford said that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat knows that if the materials are used for non-peaceful purposes, "we will cut them off within seconds."

Nixon's announcement that the United States will aid Egypt in the development of nuclear power for peaceful purposes, made Friday in Cairo before his departure to Saudi Arabia, also provoked a critical response from the American Jewish Congress.

The organization said in a statement released in New York that Nixon's decision was "more likely to endanger world peace than preserve it."

Four Killed In Martin County

WILLIAMSTON, N.C. (UPI) — Three men and a 10-year-old girl were killed Saturday afternoon when a single-engine airplane crashed shortly after takeoff at a private airport.

Officials said the blue and white Beecraft Bonanza took off on a pleasure flight and was about 300 feet from the end of the runway when its engine began to stall.

Authorities quoted witnesses as saying the plane began to circle in an apparent effort to land and was above the end of the runway when the nose suddenly tipped down and the craft plunged to the ground.

The victims were identified as William J. Norris, the pilot, who was in the Coast Guard; James Cherry, 32; Aaron Davenport, 34, and Davenport's 10-year-old daughter, Tracy Lee Davenport. All the victims lived in Williamston.

Davenport and Cherry worked together as house painters, officers said.

The crash occurred at the Fisher-Harris Airport, about a mile south of here on U.S. 17.

French Plan Nuclear Tests

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — The command ship of the French Pacific navy squadron has been alerted to proceed shortly to the Mururoa atoll for France's controversial new series of nuclear tests, military sources said Saturday.

The 2,000-ton frigate, Commandant de La Riviere, fitted out with electronic tracking devices, is the ship from which will come the final order to explode the nuclear device.

The sources said the tests are aimed at perfecting a more powerful warhead for a new type of missiles.

Long-range weather observation aircraft have begun intensive flights over the Tuamotu Archipelago test area, 800 miles southeast of here, to determine the most favorable conditions, the sources said.

Naval vessels and air force patrol planes under Pacific Area Commander Adm. Christian Clavier spread out around the proving grounds last weekend, shortly after President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's decision to hold the tests.

County Man Killed, Two Injured In Wreck

One man was killed and two others injured Saturday near Simpson when a pick-up truck went out of control and crashed into a tree.

Highway Patrolman F. L. Overby identified the dead man as Elwood Dixon, about 49, of Route 1, Winterville. The two other occupants of the truck, who were both admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment, were identified as James Elwood Dixon, 28 of 1901 South Pitt St.—the son of the dead man—and Deoffoes Leggett of near Ayden.

Trooper Overby, who said investigation of the fatal crash is continuing, said the vehicle, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, ran off the right side of the road, went out of control and crashed head-on into a tree off the left side of the highway.

The fatal crash occurred on rural paved road 1755 1.7 miles South of Simpson about 11:30 a.m.

All three occupants of the truck were pinned in the wreckage and were removed by members of the Greenville Rescue Squad.

Israel Unhappy With U.S. - Egypt Agreement

By THOMAS ACKERMAN TEL AVIV (UPI) — Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon said Saturday night he was "not happy" with the U.S.-Egyptian nuclear know-how agreement, saying it came to Israel as a surprise and might tempt other Arab states to seek atomic fuel from the Soviet Union.

In a national television interview, Allon sounded Israel's first note of concern about the deal, in contrast to his and Information Minister Aharon Yariv's earlier statements that played down its significance. But Allon repeated that the accord posed no military threat to Israel.

Allon, who is also foreign minister, said, "I am not happy with the paragraph concerning American aid to Egypt for the building of an electric power station based on nuclear energy."

"Effective inspection will prevent the use of the uranium (supplied as nuclear fuel) for military purposes," Allon said, adding he was sure "the inspection will be absolutely effective."

But he said: "I ask myself: Does Egypt already need atomic power so much, when she still hasn't exhausted the exploitation of energy from the hydroelectric power stations on the one hand or her independent oil resources on the other?"

In earlier Hebrew and English-language interviews carried on national radio and television, he and Yariv sounded no cautionary notes about the accord that was announced in Cairo Friday at the close of President Nixon's state visit.

But, Allon said in the later broadcast, "It might have been expected, owing to the special nature of the relationship that has evolved over the years between Washington and Jerusalem, that a subject like this would be made known to Israel..."

Celebration Plans

The Greenville Jaycees have announced the third annual Fourth of July celebration, to be held on Independence Day from 2 to 10 p.m. in the grassy area between First and Fourth Streets, fronting on Reade Street.

According to Chairmen Allen Hahn and Connally Branch, it will be an old-fashioned affair featuring events like a pie-eating contest, a watermelon seed-spitting contest, a tug of war, sack races, a hog-calling contest, a fishing contest, a greased pole-climbing contest. There will be live bands and fireworks display, also.

Admission to almost all the events is free and prizes will be awarded to the winners in each event. Refreshments will be sold.

The rain date is July 6, Hahn said.

Jr. High Problem On Agenda

The major item of business at the meeting of the Greenville Board of Education Monday night will be the assignment of pupils for the 1974-75 school year.

Of primary concern will be the method of handling the excess student population at E. B. Aycock Junior High School.

Dr. Tom Johnson, professor of Health Education at East Carolina University, expressed concern at the April meeting about the overcrowdedness of Aycock. Glenn Cox, Greenville schools superintendent, gave the board members a list of E. B. Aycock alternatives at the April board meeting. Since that time, three meetings have been held to discuss the matter and decision should be reached Monday night.

Other items listed on the agenda include:

- Personnel, including election of chairman and vice chairman of the board for next year; resignations; and the superintendent's evaluation session;
- Long range plans for occupational education; curriculum plans for the next school year; summer school;
- Long range plans for facilities and unused site appraisals;
- Several items concerning the board members such as school law bulletin; reappointment of members; board members' terms; school board workshop; board liability insurance; board organization;
- School board policies;
- The 1974-75 budget and the monthly financial report;
- Several miscellaneous items such as student recognition, request to offer tax sheltered annuities, student newspaper, and the Rose High annual.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the board room of the central office of the Greenville City Schools, 431 W. Fifth St.

ECU Officials Not Permitted To Make Plans

By RICK SCOTT Associated Press Writer

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — An accrediting body has refused to consider a request by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors that would allow East Carolina University officials to begin planning expansion of their medical school.

The decision by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education of the American Medical Association (AMA) means the planning for an expanded ECU medical program will have to be carried out within the framework of the UNC-Chapel Hill Medical School.

UNC President William Friday told the Board of Governors at its regular monthly meeting Friday that he had been notified of the decision by Dr. Glen Leymaster of the AMA committee.

Friday had sought permission, at the board's direction, to delegate planning responsibility for the expanded school to ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins.

Friday told newsmen the decision also meant the committee is refusing at this time to consider the question of whether it would accredit a two-year, stand-alone medical school at ECU.

"The committee considers the ECU program part of the UNC-Chapel Hill Medical School," Friday said. "As such, the expansion of ECU will have to be planned through the accreditation of the UNC Medical School."

In Greenville, Jenkins said he did not consider the decision a setback at all to expansion of the ECU medical school.

"The simple truth is that the proposal that the board of governors unanimously approved for a stand-alone, two-year medical school is not possible, according to the national medical authorities," Jenkins said.

"President Friday and I therefore have agreed to pursue the expansion of this school with close cooperation of the medical school at Chapel Hill...I have no reason to believe that we will not receive the full cooperation of all people concerned with medical education at Chapel Hill..." he added.

Friday said the committee's decision was unexpected and disappointing. But, he said he will meet Tuesday with Jenkins and go over the AMA's formal letter on the subject.

"We're going ahead. We just have to rework our planning mechanism," Friday said.

The 1974 General Assembly directed the Board of Governors to begin planning expansion of ECU's present one-year medical program into a two-year program. Graduates of the two-year program would then complete their final two years of medical education at another medical school, such as UNC-Chapel Hill.

In other action, the Board of Governors delayed action until its July meeting on a so-called "gag rule" that has been proposed by the board's Governance Committee. The board previously directed the committee to write the rule as part of the new administrative regulations.

The proposal states in part: "Once a formal position has been taken by the Board of Governors...no senior official of the University may make or issue any public statement or take any other action which might be reasonably construed as being contravening the formal position of the board without prior consultation with the chairman and the president."

The regulation apparently aimed at stemming public dissent by various university system officials against the Board of Governors' positions.

New Social Security Office

Saieed Construction Co. of Raleigh has announced it will begin work on a new Greenville District Social Security office around July 1.

The new facility, costing around $250,000 and located at the corner of Plaza and Carleton Drive, will be owned by Saieed Construction and leased to the Social Security Administration.

According to Thomas A. S

Saieed, president of the company, the new facility will contain 7,000 square feet of floor space and will be built by the site cast concrete method.

This method of construction, fairly new to the Southeast, has been used in other Saieed projects in Eastern North Carolina.

According to Bruce Legates, vice-president of Saieed, construction of the new facility will take approximately 120 days and is expected to be completed in late October.

Site case construction of the new facility will take approximately 120 days and is expected to be completed

Site case construction is a method whereby the walls of the building are poured on the construction site and lifted into place by a crane. Legates stated their operating crew consists of four to five men.

A spokesman for the local Social Security office, stated the new facility will include 25 employees and will be headquarters for the Greenville District, which covers 14 counties. The Greenville office actually administers three counties, while the Greenville District has two branch offices, one in Elizabeth City and one in Washington, N.C.

Although the new building will not include anymore employees than presently employed, it will contain sufficient room for expansion, according to the Social Security spokesman.

Groundbreaking for the new facility is expected to take place around July 1.

SOCIAL SECURITY FACILITY—Saieed Construction Co. of Raleigh has announced it will begin construction of a new Social Security Administration building in Greenville at the intersection of Plaza and Carleton Drives around July 1.

ECU biology senior Russell Holmes accepts the 1974 Helms Award from Dr. Helms's husband, Professor Emeritus R. M. Helms.

Holmes Is Winner

Russell N. Holmes of Medford, N.J., a graduating senior in the East Carolina University Department of Biology, is the recipient of the 1974 Helms Award.

The award, established in honor of former ECU biology professor Dr. Mary C. Helms, is annually given to a graduating senior who has demonstrated unusual academic achievement, research activity and contribution to the department. The award was established in 1967, the year of Dr. Helms's retirement after 40 years on the ECU faculty. Dr. Helms died in 1971.

Holmes received the award from Dr. Helms's husband, Professor Emeritus R. M. Helms, formerly a member of the ECU physics faculty.

During his undergraduate study at ECU, Holmes maintained an outstanding academic record while engaging in various additional research activities. He is one of seven ECU students selected to participate in a summer research program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

He will be studying mineral nutrition of filamentous algae in the Pamlico River.

Holmer is a 1970 graduate of Lenape School, Medford, N. J.

Tighter Laws Recommended

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate committee's draft report on "dirty tricks" has recommended tightening the law to keep White House officials from obtaining confidential data from the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for use in a presidential campaign.

The draft, pinning responsibility for such past activity squarely on President Nixon, recommended new legislation to protect against "wholesale political investigations such as those conducted by the White House staff and its agents from 1969-72 and by the Committee to Re-elect the President."

It proposed full disclosure of congressional committees of all contacts between White House officials and investigative agencies such as the FBI and IRS; prohibiting such agencies from furnishing confidential information to any White House officials except those expressly authorized, and full disclosure of all investigations and surveillance of any kind by and for any presidential candidate including an incumbent President.

The 350-page draft was another in a series of staff reports being submitted to senators on the committee, whose final report is due at the end of June. UPI gained access to a copy of the draft.

Resignation Of Negotiator Linked To Watergate

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of a top U.S. negotiator at the SALT talks raises again the question of whether Watergate is affecting foreign policy.

Paul H. Nitze, senior Pentagon negotiator at the talks, quit Friday, leaving little doubt that he thought the scandal had weakened the ability of the Nixon administration to negotiate a strong pact with the Soviet Union.

"Until the office of the presidency has been restored to its principal function of upholding the Constitution and taking care of the fair execution of the laws, and thus be able to function effectively at home and abroad, I see no real prospect for reversing certain unfortunate trends in the evolving situation," Nitze's statement said. Although Nitze did not mention Watergate or President Nixon, his action was a clear blow to the administration. It came less than two weeks before Nixon was to go to Moscow on June 27.

Some sources interpreted Nitze's resignation at this time as an expression to show disapproval in advance, should Nixon sign a new SALT agreement with fewer safeguards for American security than Nitze favors.

Several key members of Congress expressed similar concern Friday about Nixon's offer of nuclear aid to Egypt. They expressed fear that it might lead to nuclear weapons in the Middle East.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., both of whom had opposed Nixon's visit to the Middle East while the House impeachment investigation is in progress, said the nuclear offer indicated they were right.

The question about the relationship between foreign policy and domestic affairs has bothered policy and lawmakers ever since the Watergate scandal erupted.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has been asked the question many times.

In an interview televised nationally Friday night, Kissinger said he would resign and speak out publicly if he ever felt foreign policy was being manipulated for domestic political purposes.

"Foreign policy has to reflect the continuing values of the American people and it cannot be the subject of partisan policy," Kissinger said in the interview for a ABC Television special about him.

The interview was taped last Saturday and on Tuesday the question took on a more personal tone for Kissinger. Reacting to press reports challenging the accuracy of his testimony about domestic wiretapping, the secretary threatened to resign.

New Assistant

East Carolina University has announced the appointment of Melvin C. McLawhorn, a native of Greenville and a 1970 graduate of North Carolina A&T University, as assistant Director of Admissions.

McLawhorn, 26, has experience as a teacher in the Pitt County School system at Ayden, and as a social worker for the past three years at the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center (ARC) at Greenville.

He received a bachelor's degree in political science and sociology at N.C. A&T. He is married to the former Sandra Jones of Greenville and they have two children.

At N.C. A&T University, McLawhorn was president of the Political Science Student Advisory Board and an assistant instructor of Black History, 1969-70. He is a member of Tau Phi Tau fraternity.

He is a member of the N. C. Association of Social Workers and a National Planning Committee member for minority alcoholism problems.

McLawhorn's appointment to the post at ECU was announced by Dr. John Horne, Director of Admissions.

Kissinger Role Is Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second member of the House Judiciary Committee has said the panel has evidence contradicting sworn testimony by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about his role in national security wiretapping.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., said Friday that the evidence shows Kissinger ordered the telephone taps. "When the taps are made public the country will know he is guilty," Brooks said.

Another committee member, Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., said this week that the committee has positive proof that Kissinger initiated the wiretaps, despite the secretary's sworn denial.

Meanwhile, Sen. J.W. Fulbright urged the Senate to wait to see the evidence before arriving at any decisions on the part played by Kissinger in the wiretaps.

Kissinger testified before the committee last September that he named persons who had access to national security information that was leaked to the news media. But he said he did not order wiretaps of 13 National Security Council staff members and four newsmen.

Recent news reports have told of a larger Kissinger role in the wiretapping.

In Beaumont, Tex., Brooks said, "I hope the Judiciary Committee will release FBI records, tapes of White House conversations and transcripts of those conversations so the public can be fully aware of whatever part Mr. Kissinger had in the selection of people who were to be bugged.... I think when that is released it will let everybody know what his part was."

Kissinger on Tuesday asked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to take another look into his September testimony and the committee is preparing to do so. Kissinger said he would resign if his name is not cleared.

Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Friday he feels a Senate majority was premature in approving a resolution lauding Kissinger's integrity.

The resolution was presented by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., and co-sponsored by 51 other senators.

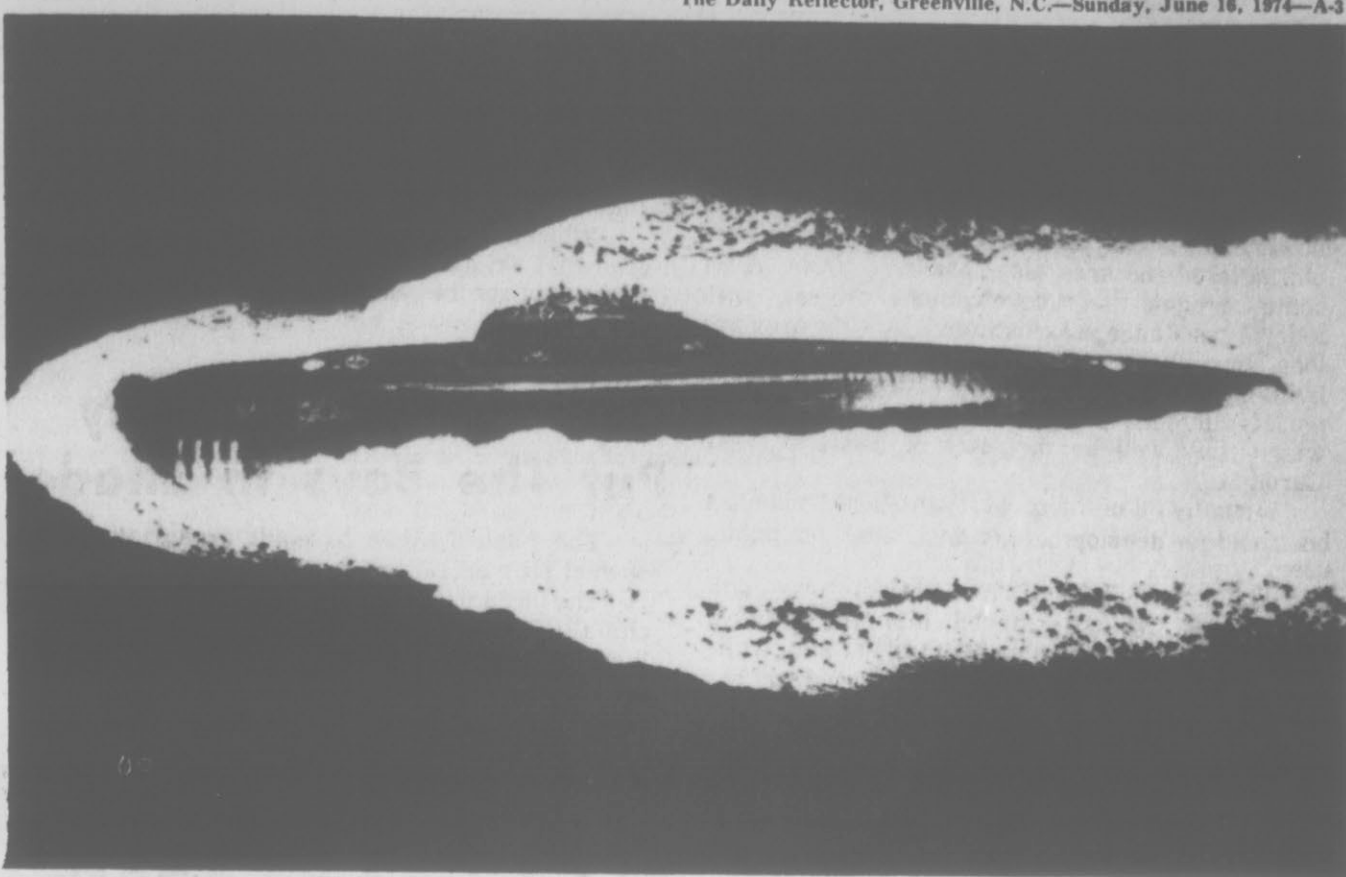

"A majority of the Senate are now apparently willing to resolve these issues without seeing a shred of additional evidence," Fulbright commented.

Concert

The Cherry Point Marine Band will perform here in the first "Sunday in the Park" program this evening at 7 p.m. in the mall area bounded by Third, Fourth and Reade Streets.

Tonight's program is the first of seven consecutive Sunday entertainment events scheduled for the enjoyment of the citizens of the Greenville area.

In the event of rain tonight, the Marine Band will perform in McGinnis Auditorium on the campus of East Carolina University.

Judge Refuses To Drop Charges

RALEIGH (AP)—A Superior Court judge Friday refused to dismiss charges against Gov. Jim Holshouser's administration for allegedly "blacklisting" community antipoverty agencies from further federal and state funds.

The state's motion to dismiss the suit, brought by representatives of 37 Community Action Agencies in North Carolina, was rejected by Judge A. Pilon Godwin in Wake Superior Court. The state argued unsuccessfully that the governor's decisions were not subject to court review.

No trial date has been set for the class action suit, filed in late May on behalf of the CAAs, their employees and recipients of their services. CAAs are nonprofit corporations funded with state and federal grants.

At issue is Holshouser's plan to funnel funds for five human services—manpower, child development, nutrition, aging and family planning—from the CAAs to multi-county councils of local officials.

The councils, called Lead Regional Organizations, would then contract out for these services with community organizations.

The CAAs contend the governor's plan excludes them from competing for such contracts and would virtually put them out of business.

Spokesmen for the governor deny this, claiming that the CAAs would still be eligible to receive contracts for services. They say, however, that first preference for those funds would be given to local government agencies, such as a county health board or a school board, rather than the CAAs.

Decision Set September 1

By HOWARD FIELDS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic leadership now expects the House of Representatives to decide before Sept. 1 whether to impeach President Nixon.

Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., told reporters Friday he expects to have his recommendations on articles of impeachment ready for House consideration the first week of August.

The leadership hopes the House can then complete its phase of the impeachment action within three weeks and, if the decision is to impeach, send the case to the Senate for trial by the end of August.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has discussed taking two weeks after the House vote to prepare the Senate, which would work six days a week. A final vote on whether to convict Nixon and remove him from office should come within two months after that, Mansfield predicts.

Rodino, who maintains that the schedule he has outlined will not be altered by any Supreme Court or other legal action, says he will keep his panel of 38 members working until midnight next Thursday if he has to in order to wrap up the hearing phase of the inquiry.

This week the panel must cover the Watergate case from the hiring of Archibald Cox as the original special prosecutor on April 30, 1973, to his firing on Oct. 20, 1973. The firing touched off the impeachment proceedings.

Before the evidentiary phase is over, Rodino also wants to go through the material pertaining to Nixon's personal finances and receive a committee brief on the secret bombing in Cambodia, which the inquiry staff originally sought to drop from the allegations.

On June 24, the panel will expand its schedule to four or five days a week since it no longer will be restricted by the volumes of books the staff had to prepare for each hearing.

The June 24 plans include an open meeting to vote on issuing at least three more subpoenas, responding to Nixon's rejection of the last two and whether to release to the public all the evidence the panel has received to date concerning the Watergate case.

Later that week and probably during the days preceding the brief July 4 recess, the committee plans to debate the role that Nixon's attorney, James D. St. Clair, will be allowed to play in the rest of the proceedings and what witnesses, if any, the panel plans to call.

About mid-July, after the witnesses have given their testimony, Rodino expects to take one full week to debate any articles of impeachment the inquiry staff will have drafted.

During the week of July 22, the committee expects to vote on an impeachment article. Another week will be taken to write a report explaining the legal language of the articles recommended. Then, by the first week of August, Rodino anticipates the burden will be passed to the House.

Supreme Court Refuses To Make Documents Public

By CHARLOTTE G. MOULTON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Saturday refused to make public documents related to a grand jury decision naming President Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up, but it agreed to decide if the jurors had the power to list an incumbent President.

Both Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and James D. St. Clair, Nixon's Watergate lawyer, had asked that the documents be made public. But lawyers for the six defendants in the cover-up case opposed it.

The documents are briefs and transcripts of private in-chamber discussions last May with District Court Judge John J. Sirica, Jaworski, St. Clair and lawyers for the defendants. After those discussions, Sirica ordered tapes and documents relating to 64 White House conversations turned over to him for study and the President refused to comply.

No dissent was noted in the Supreme Court's brief unsigned order. Justice William H. Rehnquist, who worked for former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, refused to take part. Mitchell is a defendant in the cover-up trial, scheduled to begin Sept. 9, and Rehnquist was stayed out of previous consideration of the case.

The high court said it would hear oral arguments July 8 about the power of a grand jury to name a President as an indicted co-conspirator. The White House had requested a ruling on that issue.

The issue of the grand jury's power will be combined with a dispute over whether Nixon can claim executive privilege in refusing to hand over the White House tapes and documents Jaworski says are needed to prosecute the cover-up defendants.

The Supreme Court asked the lawyers to argue whether Sirica's order for the tapes is appealable to a higher court.

The court also made public an extract of the records in its possession which merely confirmed what was already public.

It said that on Feb. 25, 1974, the Watergate grand jury voted 19 to 0 that there was probable cause to believe that Nixon "was a member of the conspiracy to defraud the United States and to obstruct justice ... and the grand jury authorized the special prosecutor to identify Richard M. Nixon (among others) as an unindicted co-conspirator in connection with subsequent legal proceedings in this case."

The order also brought to light another pending litigation the court agreed to consider: whether it can decide a "petition for mandamus transmitted by the Court of Appeals to this court?"

The Supreme Court clerk's office said the appeals court petition was also under seal. There was no word on what it contained. Court observers speculated it might be a request by St. Clair asking higher courts to quash Sirica's order that the tapes and records be turned over for his inspection.

St. Clair may have filed such a request before the Supreme Court agreed to hear the executive privilege issue, and the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia merely may have forwarded it to the Supreme Court when the petition for expedited review sought by Jaworski was granted.

Barring any secret Supreme Court appeals, Saturday's order cleaned up formal Watergate matters pending for the justice's consideration until the oral arguments July 8.

Both Jaworski and St. Clair can submit additional written arguments on the issues by June 21, with responses due July 1. The justices will read these as they decide other pending cases, hear the oral arguments and hand down a written decision.

Nuclear Ban

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev said Friday the Soviet Union is prepared to agree immediately with the United States on phasing out underground nuclear testing.

But Brezhnev did not indicate whether the Kremlin is prepared to allow on-site inspections — a major obstacle in previous talks.

American negotiators have consistently asserted that on-site inspections are necessary to prevent cheating, but the Soviets have argued that underground blasts can be detected electronically and have rejected on-site checks.

"We are ready to reach an agreement with the United States right now on the limitation of underground nuclear tests up to their full termination according to a coordinated timetable," Brezhnev said in a final campaign address before Sunday's elections to the Supreme Soviet.

While the outcome of such elections is predetermined, the campaign speeches are often used as a vehicle for major policy statements.

Brezhnev's declaration, coming less than two weeks before the start of President Nixon's visit here, indicated the Soviets hope that an agreement could be signed during the summit.

American technical experts have been in Moscow for two weeks exploring ways to broaden the 1963 test ban treaty, which prohibits atmospheric and undersea tests but makes no provisions for underground test.

Doctor Shows How To BATHE AWAY CORNS and CALLUSES IN MINUTES

A LEADING New York Doctor has discovered a simple home treatment that may prove to be the answer to the foot problems of millions. He has shown a quick easy way to relieve tired, aching feet — even feet tortured with corns and calluses. If you are one of the millions who suffer the misery of these chronic foot conditions, FOOTHERAPY, a doctor's simple 3-way treatment, is the quick, easy method to relieve. With just one 20 minute treatment the itching misery of athlete's foot may vanish, corns and calluses are softened and dead skin washed away.

Second, with the FOOTHERAPY Lava Stone, you gently massage your corns and calluses. They buff away in 3 to 5 minutes ... and you feel as though you had a brand new pair of feet!

The third and final step of this doctor's treatment is a medicated cream designed to correct athlete's foot, prevent sweating and remove unpleasant foot odors. It contains a tested drug which is now being used in hospitals to help combat fungi, dangerous bacteria and relieve skin rashes.

Nothing Else Like It

If you suffer from tired, aching feet due to foot fatigue, you can now rinse away those aches and pains with nature's own medicated minerals. You can even aid painful, stubborn corns and calluses without "razor blade surgery", and if your feet are cracked, itching, sore from fungus infections ... perspire excessively ... give off unpleasant odors ... you can relieve these conditions practically overnight! FOOTHERAPY is sold as a complete kit for only $3.98. Quite a bargain when you think that you may solve your foot problems forever!

Redevelopment Progress Seen

Redevelopment of Greenville's downtown area has been going on for so long that it is difficult to measure the progress that has been made.

For those who have been around long enough, however, it is easy to recall the slums which once characterized the area along the river front. After some struggle, a redevelopment project, with federal assistance, was instituted. Now the area has long since been cleared of the slums and new buildings stand where they were. A Town Common park is currently being developed in the river front which may well be the envy of Eastern North Carolina.

Virtually all of the property in Shore Drive has been sold for development or designated for public use.

While the Shore Drive project was still proceeding, the city moved into the Central Business District redevelopment project and, while this is still going on, considerable progress has been made.

Much of the property that was scheduled to be demolished has been acquired and many of the lots have been cleared. Reide Circle has been developed as far as Dickinson Avenue and the street is scheduled to swing around on Greene to form a thoroughfare loop around downtown Greenville. Plans for a mall along Evans from Fifth to Third are still being developed. Just recently it was announced that the first parcel to be placed up for sale would soon be advertised.

We still have considerable distance to go in fully redeveloping the downtown section, but it is safe to say the projects have come a long way. If this work had not been undertaken by the city we expect that downtown Greenville would have totally decayed by now, and it is possible that some other developments in the Greenville area would never have taken place.

While there is still much to be done, we can be glad that we have come this far in improving the core area over the past 10 to 12 years.

Some Girls Just May Put The Boys In Shade

The Little League baseball organization has opened play on Little League teams to girls.

The organization cited "the changing social climate." Whether or not girls play will depend on their proving competence in baseball skills and physical endowments.

Better look out. At that age some of the girls might show up the boys.

Needless Clash With Congress

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—With President Nixon's attention riveted on impeachment and foreign policy, his agents in the powerful Office of Management and Budget (OMB) have become entangled in a vicious political fight with the House Appropriations Committee of potentially grave dimensions.

A needless jurisdictional dispute over narcotics enforcement has provided the opening for Congress, with bipartisan support, to retaliate against the power-hungry OMB. The projected emasculation of OMB will be seen as another assault on President Nixon, suffering once again because of the naive arrogance of his lieutenants.

The jurisdictional dispute stems from a secret order June 5 from OMB to Secretary of the Treasury William Simon blocking the Treasury Department's Customs Bureau from enforcement against narcotics smuggling along the Mexican border.

"We have concluded that the U.S. Border Patrol (an arm of the Justice Department) should be designated the single agency for routine patrol of the land border between ports of entry," OMB boss Roy Ash wrote Simon. That restricts U.S. Customs agents to official ports of entry between Mexico and the U.S.

It also directly violates a congressional mandate. Thus, one day later, Ash was summarily instructed that the transfer "is not authorized by law" and would gravely affect Treasury's "law enforcement capability."

What gave that summary instruction special meaning were the four Congressmen who signed the confidential letter to Ash: Democrat George Mahon of Texas, the immensely powerful chairman of the Appropriations Committee; the committee senior Republican, Elford Cederberg of Michigan; and the two top-ranking members of the Treasury subcommittee, Democrat Tom Sneed of Oklahoma and Republican Howard Robison of New York.

At issue here is far more than a jurisdictional squabble between two government agencies. The peremptory OMB reshuffling is about to detonate an explosion long in the making as Congress watches with alarm the enlargement of OMB's power in the leaderless federal government.

Influential Congressmen feel OMB under Ash attempts to control not only the federal budget but the federal government. "OMB stands for the Office of Manipulation and Badgering," one veteran lawmaker told us, "and they're due for a tumble."

The "tumble" is taking the form of a drastic slash in OMB's appropriation, which is controlled by Steed's subcommittee, which this week tentatively reduced by $1.4 million the $23 million request. But that was before OMB's offensive against the Customs Bureau.

At least six of the 11 subcommittee members are now lined up to slash the appropriation to $18 million, well below the current budget, when it reaches the House floor. The strategy was to move a fairly large budget to the floor and thereby assure maximum support for a massive cut. OMB has few friends in Congress.

The reason lies in the arrogance and duplicity practiced at OMB—particularly, many Congressmen feel, by Ash and his deputy, Fred Malek. As one ranking committee member told us: "Ash is cold and smart, but he has a fatal flaw. He takes orders from Fred Malek."

After receiving the letter from the angry Congressmen, OMB twice informed Steed by telephone it was "reluctantly" holding up the Customs-Border Patrol swap. At the same time, however, OMB ordered the Treasury to complete plans for transferring its functions.

Simon was caught in the middle. He has been in many battles with Ash, winning most of them. But Ash and Malek ostensible speak for President Nixon. New to the cabinet, Simon was reluctant to fiercely oppose a purely housekeeping change that the President himself might favor.

So, when Simon's men were ordered by OMB to proceed despite the Mahon letter, they asked: Who will tell the House Appropriations Committee? The answer from OMB: Nobody; just do what you're told.

Underlying the stupidity of further irritating Congress is the fact that Malek has so angered Steed in the past he is not allowed inside the subcommittee room when chairman Steed is physically present.

The narcotics traffic at the Mexican border will be policed no matter which agency eventually wins the bureaucratic battle. But there remains an ominous message: ignoring the bitter legacy of Watergate—in which Mr. Nixon claims he was kept in the dark by high-level underlings operating on their own—he still gives his haughty OMB operatives free reign to ride roughshod over Congress.

Sunday Morning Notes

If readers will pardon a personal note, they carted the old family home away the other day.

Let that conjure up visions of a stately southern mansion, let me emphasize that the house where I and my two brothers grew up was a modest frame one-story five-room dwelling, to which a third bedroom was eventually added.

It was located on W. Second Street, and house movers came in, unceremoniously jacked the place up and hauled it off to some unknown destination.

It was really no big deal, for the neighborhood we had known was long gone. Old houses with familiar memories were torn down some years ago in the Shore Drive Redevelopment project and bright new commercial buildings have taken their place.

Second Street in the old days was a modest residential area with a mixture of people living along its way. Doctors and lawyers lived alongside laboring people and, at times, some who couldn't even find jobs.

Other Editors Say Tarnished Vision

(Winston-Salem Journal)

The original idea of a state-supported museum of art was to bring art closer to the people. It was unheard of back then for a state to do such a thing—to spend tax money for paintings and sculpture, and the proposal set off a massive battle in the General Assembly. But the first state supported art museum was established and took its place alongside the buildings housing the Supreme Court, the Governor's office, and the state legislature.

Since then, thousands of school children have visited the museum. Their lines criss-crossed through the State Capitol, wound through the State Legislative Building, fell into a confused scramble at the steps where the vendor sold peanuts for the darting and circling pigeons.

But finally in the Art Museum they stood before the subtle colors of the old masters and the boldly brilliant splashes of the moderns and touched the sculptured forms of stone and metal and glass.

In its context, it was all state government—a government of laws and leaders—but still one which thought it important for a child to see that the human spirit could find expression beyond the piles of last year's auto bodies and neon signs.

Now the architects are getting ready to design a new museum and move the collected works out of the governmental complex into a remote setting away from the hustle and bustle of downtown Raleigh... away from the people. The children can still see it, but they will not see it as part of the business of making the laws, levying the taxes and providing services to the people.

Those men who dared to vote the original money to build the museum wouldn't have approved the move. They wanted to bring art to the people—to make it part of their daily lives and part of the legitimate concern of government. Their vision may not be betrayed, but it has been tarnished by those who failed to follow it.

Grain Pours Into Drought Area

By LARRY HEINZERLING

Associated Press Writer LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of tons of grain are pouring into drought-ravaged West Africa as famine relief workers fight against time.

The major concern is the rainy season which annually washes out the primitive network of dirt roads in the sun-baked region.

Thousands of near-starving nomad and peasant refugees are being cut off in remote areas by the rains which may make costly airlifts of food necessary to avert mass starvation.

The irony is that the rain so badly needed to grow food between late June and September is also one of the major obstacles to relief efforts.

The goal is to get enough food stockpiled in remote settlements of the stricken "famine zone" before the rains make transport of food impossible.

The rains last year severely disrupted relief efforts but were too sparse in most areas to produce crops. The six-year sub-Saharan drought, one of the worst in African history, has dealt a particularly hard blow to Senegal and Mauritania, and landlocked Mali, Upper Volta, Niger and Chad.

Refugees in all six countries have become almost totally dependent on food from abroad for survival and squalid makeshift refugee camps have sprung up across the region.

Relief workers say the drought's impact has been hardest on Mali and Niger which rank among the poorest nations in the world.

Food distribution centers in isolated outposts such as Nema in Mauritania, Timbuktu in Mali and Agadez in Niger need enough food to feed drought refugees until the hope for harvests at year's end.

"We are gravely concerned about the situation," says Trevor Page, who heads the office of Sahelian Relief Operations for the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Page said in an interview some 700,000 tons of food, more than a third of it from the United States, has been committed this year to the six nations worst hit by the lingering dry spell.

In The Crisis Center

By ANN BLACKMAN

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—"It's been a difficult year to enter national politics," is the way one of the three freshmen congressmen sitting in judgment on President Nixon describes the job.

"I certainly didn't anticipate that I'd be in this position," said Rep. William S. Cohen, R-Maine.

Cohen, along with House Judiciary Committee colleagues Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and Trent Lott, R-Miss., was elected to Congress 17 months ago when most voters were paying little attention to the bungled Watergate burglary.

The three were toddlers when Richard Nixon was first elected to Congress almost 28 years ago. Now they are in the center of the political crisis of the century, the possible impeachment of the President.

No matter which way their judgments fall—and they said in interviews they haven't decided yet—they are bound to make some enemies.

"You always face a dilemma when you vote on a key piece of legislation," Cohen said. "Do you vote your district or do you vote with your own judgement?"

Cohen, 33, is regarded as a probable swing vote in any close decision on impeachment. Rep. Holtzman, a liberal feminist from Brooklyn with a law degree from Harvard, is 32. Lott, also 32, represents a Mississippi district that gave President Nixon 87 per cent of its vote in the last election.

Cohen already has angered some Republican colleagues by casting the deciding vote for informing President Nixon that he failed to comply with the committee's subpoena for tapes of 42 conversations.

Rep. Holtzman defeated the dean of the House, 84-year-old Rep. Emanuel Celler. Although she often has disagreed with the President's policies, she said of her role in the impeachment inquiry: "This is a sad experience for me."

"I much would have preferred that no question be raised on the integrity, honesty and innocence of the President of the United States. We like to think you can disagree, but that it's a disagreement on honest judgments on what's good for the country."

Lott, who has a picture of himself with the President hanging in his office calls Nixon, "the best president we've had in my lifetime." He said his constituents are tired of hearing talk of Watergate and impeachment.

"I know they're sick of it," Lott said. "When I go home, it's not what they ask me about. Their interests are more personal—the money market, veterans legislation and educational benefits, the highways."

Concern Over Crime-Fighting

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—A rally of concerned citizens protesting rising crime rates which greeted Gov. James E. Holshouser Jr. on a recent visit to Gastonia has prompted a series of statewide public hearings.

State Sen. I. C. Crawford, chairman of the legislative Crime Study Commission, said he will hold at least two all-day hearings this summer to hear public comments on the crime rate, and ways to combat it.

The first will be held in Asheville, Crawford's hometown, on June 28 at the Buncombe County Court House.

A second is scheduled in Charlotte on July 12, with plans not complete for time and place.

Crawford said civic clubs, concerned citizens, organized groups will be urged to meet with the Crime Study Commission for the purpose of airing complaints and looking toward some formula for community involvement in fighting crime.

Caps and Gowns

June brings graduation, and this year there was a record number of high schoolers wearing caps and gowns. Around 69,972 students received diplomas from public schools, an increase of 640 over last year.

The largest graduating class in the state was at R. J. Reynolds High School in Winston-Salem where 790 students participated. Six other high schools graduated 600 or more students: East Mecklenburg and Independence high schools, both in Charlotte; East Forsyth in Kernersville; North Forsyth in Winston-Salem; John T. Hoggard in Wilmington; and Richmond in Rockingham.

The smallest graduating class in the state was at Stecoah School in Robbinsville where eight students completed their senior work.

Complicated Races

Those dozen or so

Democrats who would like to be the next Attorney General of the State of North Carolina face a maze in battling for the job.

First, each must try to reach the general public to make himself known and convince November voters that he is the man for the job.

And that difficult task must be undertaken at a time when nobody even has the nomination, and each candidate must try to reach members of the Democratic Party Executive Committee to put in a political plug for himself as the best candidate.

Complicating that are two more factors: the executive committee hasn't even been picked as yet; and the present attorney general hasn't resigned.

At first, political leaders thought they would wait until Robert Morgan, senatorial candidate, stepped down to make a nomination, but with that event now scheduled in mid-September, party leaders don't feel they can wait that long.

So, the nomination must be made before the office is vacant.

Compounding a complicated picture for Democratic hopefuls is the probability that membership on the executive committee will undergo anywhere from a 40 to 60 per cent turnover as new members are picked in the June 29 election.

The best bet of political leaders right now is that the nominee will be picked either in late July or early August, leaving about three months to launch a statewide campaign.

The Republican nominee will be picked by the executive committee of that party, but the scene is not so confusing: the governor has tagged Charlotte attorney and Appeals Court Justice James H. Carson Jr. to take over Morgan's office when it becomes vacant, and Carson is a shoo-in as the party's nominee.

Strength For Today

LIVING IN HEAVEN
A Scotsman was once asked whether or not he expected to get to heaven. "Expect to get to heaven!" exclaimed the Scotsman, "Why, mon, that is where I live every day."

The Scotsman was no chauvinist referring to his native land—a pleasant place, to be sure, but scarcely deserving the designation of heaven. He meant instead the moral environment which he tried to create about him. If we live in an atmosphere of faith and joy, of good works, charitable judgment, and unselfishness, we have nothing to fear from death.

If on the other hand selfishness binds us like a chain, and hate makes bitter our thoughts and words, then we are living in hell, and that before we die. Death will only intensify and bring to a climax the type of life we have been living. If we live in heaven now, in all probability we will live in heaven beyond.

Cigarettes For 4 In 10

By GEORGE GALLUP

(Copyright 1974, Field Enterprises, Inc. All rights reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with the written consent of the copyright holders.)

PRINCETON, N.J.—Despite a decade of warnings since the U. S. Surgeon General's report linking cigarette smoking and lung cancer, there has been no significant reduction in the percentage of Americans who say they smoke cigarettes.

In the latest Gallup survey, 40 per cent of the public, 18 years and older, say they smoked cigarettes during the past week. This figure reflects no change since last year in the proportion who smoke cigarettes, and only a slight decline from the high point of 45 per cent recorded in 1958.

Although the anti-smoking campaign—which has included a ban on television advertising and required health warnings on cigarette packages as well as print media advertisements—has not greatly reduced the percentage of Americans who smoke, health authorities can take some comfort from the fact that the percentage of smokers is higher in four other major Western nations.

Smoking In Other Countries

The highest percentage of smokers is found by the Gallup Poll's affiliated organization in Canada. There a majority (52 per cent) say they smoke. In West Germany and Great Britain the figure is 47 and 46 per cent, respectively. In Switzerland, the percentage of smokers is virtually the same as it is in the United States.

The following table shows the percentage of persons, in the five nations tested, who said they had smoked cigarettes in the past week:

	Yes, Smoke	No, Do Not Smoke
Canada	52%	48%
West Germany	47	53
Great Britain	46	54
Switzerland	41	59
United States	40	60

Smoking And Lung Cancer

Over the last few years health authorities have apparently convinced the public that a link between lung cancer and smoking exists. A Gallup survey in 1958 showed less than half the public (44 per cent) believed smoking was one of the causes of lung cancer. By the late '60s, that figure had increased dramatically to 71 per cent, including a majority of smokers. However, the percentage of the population who smoke has not declined.

More recently a survey by the Gallup organization done for the American Cancer Society showed fully half of smokers would like to quit. Also 18 per cent expressed interest in attending a "stop smoking" clinic.

Affluent Group Smoking Less

An analysis of today's findings compared to those in 1971 show there has been a significant decline in the proportion of smokers in the highest-income bracket. Among those whose family income exceeds $15,000, 37 per cent say they smoke, down from 48 per cent in 1971.

The percentage of those who say they smoke is highest among men, those with a high school education, people under 50 years of age, and those in the middle-income group.

Following is the question asked in the latest survey and the trend since 1971. It should be remembered these figures represent the population of Americans, 18 and older, who smoke, and not per-capita consumption.

"Have you yourself smoked any cigarettes in the past week?"

	Yes, Smoke	No, Do Not Smoke
1973	40	60
1972	43	57
1971	42	58

Here are the breakdowns of smokers and nonsmokers by key population groups:

	1974
	Yes, Smoke	No, Do Not Smoke
NATIONAL	40%	60%
Men	45	55
Women	36	64
College	35	65
High school	45	55
Grade school	34	66
East	42	58
Midwest	39	61
South	43	57
West	35	65
18-29 years	47	53
30-49 years	49	51
50 and older	28	72
$15,000 and over	37	63
$10,000-$14,999	42	58
$7,000-$9,999	46	54
$5,000-$6,999	40	60
Under $5,000	30	70

The findings reported today are based on personal interviews with 1,543 adults, 18 and older, in more than 300 scientifically selected localities during the period May 10-13.

A Conservative View A Low Profile In High Court's Current Term

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

With only a couple of weeks remaining of its current term, it is possible to venture a few general observations on the Supreme Court as it forges along under Chief Justice Burger. The observations are not spectacular. This is not a spectacular court.

By the end of last month, the Court had handed down 102 formal opinions. The usual end-of-term rush will produce 40 or 50 more, among them an opinion in the potentially explosive case of Detroit school desegregation. Another major opinion will uphold or nullify Florida's controversial right-to-reply law. A few other cases of substantial public interest also await decision, but the pickings are slim.

It may be that we are in one of those lulls in the law when nothing happens. Such periods come along. More likely, we are seeing a manifestation of the truism that history is largely biography. The Court is not very exciting partly because there is only one exciting guy still around—Justice William O. Douglas. The other great movers and shakers have died or retired, and the tensions and passions that were so evident in the day of Frankfurter, Warren, Black, Clark and Harlan have just about subsided. The high court these days is keeping a low profile.

A few statistics tend to confirm that impression. Of the first 102 opinions of this term, 35—a full one-third—came down without a single dissent. Only 17 cases were decided 5-4. Such relative unanimity never would have occurred in the old days.

The liberal and conservative blocs, once the delight of Court analysts, are less sharply defined. When the "Nixon Four" first got together, Burger, Blackmun, Powell and Rehnquist consistently huddled against the "Liberal Three," Douglas, Brennan and Marshall. These basic divisions still appear, of course, but it has not been at all unusual to see Marshall and Douglas going in different directions. Burger and Blackmun, once known as the Minnesota twins, have voted on opposite sides at least six or eight times.

This term has been notable for the growth and maturity of two of the justices. This is not surprising in the case of William Rehnquist, the youngest and newest member of the Court, but it is particularly gratifying in the case of Thurgood Marshall. After six years of generally disappointing growth, Marshall is proving a late bloomer. He is providing a forceful, reasoned and often eloquent voice of liberalism. Rehnquist, for his part, is striking some solid blows for old-fashioned federalism and judicial restraint. His dissent last January is a case involving New York election laws was far more persuasive than Chief Justice Burger's opinion for the majority.

When the Court was reconstituted by President Nixon, following the departures of Warren and Fortas and the deaths of Black and Harlan, most observers predicted a prudent trimming of some of the lush growth in the criminal law that arose with the Warren Court. These predictions have proved accurate. There has been no trend toward wholesale reversal. We have witnessed instead a tendency to uphold Burger's view that justice is served not by a perfect trial but by a fair trial. In most cases involving Fourth Amendment limitations on search and seizure, the Court has sided with law enforcement officers, but its rulings have been carefully defined.

We also expected to see—and we have seen—a greater emphasis upon "strict construction" and "judicial restraint." The Court ducked a decision on the merits in the DeFunis case, involving racial quotas in high education; it several times put a chill on the "class actions" beloved of judicial activists. But these essentially conservative decisions have been offset by a couple of remarkably liberal decisions extending rights of free speech.

Those of us in the conservative camp are generally content. Except for its bizarre decision a couple of years ago in the abortion cases, the Court under Burger has maintained a steady, deliberate course. After the stormy years of Earl Warren, we begged for a time of stability. That's what we're getting now.

Consumers Reflect The 'Hard Times' Feeling Of High Living Costs

By GEORGE BRYANT, JR.

The economic climate will remain on the uncertain side during the up-coming second half. And there are signs that it may worsen.

For one thing, the Federal Reserve Board's downhold on credit, with high interest rates, is lasting longer than many forecasters had anticipated. And at this stage, there is no sign that the Fed is about to change course.

The credit picture tends to discourage business spending on plant and equipment, which had been counted on to give the second half a lift; and it has forced many would-be home buyers out of the housing market.

But of even greater importance is an apparent spreading of a "hard times" feeling among consumers. More and more, they are feeling the bite of inflation. There are signs that a retrenchment is in progress.

It should be noted that the consumer is the biggest single force in the economy—a bigger spender than government. The consumer accounts for about 60 per cent of gross national product, which is a measure of all goods and services produced.

Consumers simply aren't buying as much as they did sometime back. One reason is that the buying power of wages and salaries, when adjusted for inflation, have shrunk about 6 per cent in the past year. Some economists put the current rate of shrinkage at 8 per cent.

On top of this, consumers are loaded with a record level of debt. Indications are that installments on home mortgages and other items are becoming a hard-to-carry burden for many. In other words, the so-called liquidity problem isn't limited to over-extended businesses.

And, as is usual in times of economic uncertainty, consumers who can save try to build their savings up. This is especially true when there's certainty that just about everything that is saved for, whether the education of a child or that "rainy day", is going to cost more.

A look at retail sales statistics gives an indication of what's taking place. At $44.38-billion in May, they were 1 per cent ahead of the April figure and 6.4 per cent above May of last year. Dollar-wise, this doesn't seem worth concern.

But when allowance is made for 8.2 per cent of price inflation over the past year, it means that the physical volume of purchases at retail were actually below a year ago. This reflects a pulling back by the consumer.

And there is no reassurance for consumers many concerned about jobs, with the latest unemployment report. It showed a rate of 5.2 per cent, up from 5 per cent in April. True, it reflected a lot of young people coming into the labor force. The number of people at work in May, however, did make a gain, with the total going to an impressive 85-million, plus.

It may well be that May marked the beginning of a fairly sharp uptrend in employment, which could go to 6 per cent by fall. Any such development would be bound to bring political cries against the Fed's policy of tight money and high interest rates.

In its money market moved this week, the Fed gave indications that it considers current interest rates satisfactory. At least, it moved to keep things in the present range.

What's more, the Fed got a boost from Kenneth Rush, the new White House economic adviser. In his first public statement Rush came down hard for restraint on both spending and credit.

This is the right direction, if anything is to be done about inflation. It will even cause some hardship. But it won't cause nearly so much as an inflation produced bust.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Sunday, June 16, the 167th day of 1974. There are 198 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1963, the world's first woman space traveler, Valentina Tereshkova, was launched into orbit from a base in the Soviet Union.

On this date: In 1774, the first settlement in Kentucky, Harrodsburg, was founded.

In 1858, Abraham Lincoln, speaking in Springfield, Ill., on the slavery issue, said: "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

In 1897, the Alaska gold rush began with news of a rich strike on Bonanza Creek.

In 1920, the League of Nations held its first public meeting at St. James's Palace in London.

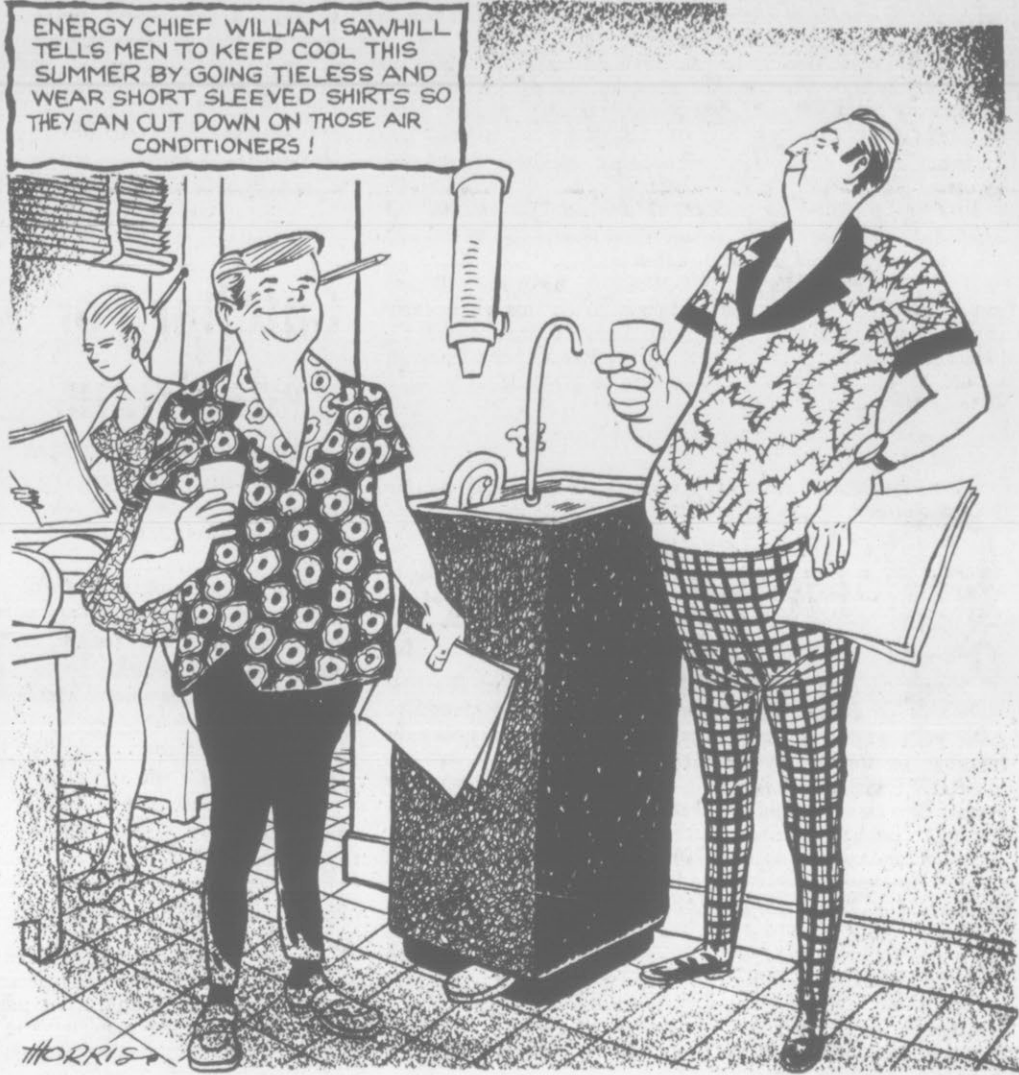

In 1940, the French Maginot line was abandoned to the Germans in World War II.

In 1960, President Dwight Eisenhower canceled a visit to Japan after anti-American rioting.

Ten years ago: Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos charged that pro-Communists had opened a full offensive in his country, helped by the North Vietnamese.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Congress was without authority to bar U.S. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell from his seat because of charges against him.

High Strategy Ahead In Attorney General Race

By JOHN KILGO

You'll now see the Democrats and the Republicans try to use master strategy in gaining the advantage in the battle to win Robert Morgan's seat as attorney general.

The Democrats, of course, have almost an unreal dogfight on their hands to see who gets the party's nomination. Between eight and 14 people, depending upon the day of the week, want the job.

The Republicans, meanwhile, have chosen Appeals Court Judge Jim Carson to be their nominee.

Carson will take the post when Morgan resigns—supposedly in mid-September—to campaign full-time for the U.S. Senate. In the meantime, the Democrats, with Morgan's help, will try to keep Carson from gaining the advantage of an incumbent.

Morgan, without question, will delay his resignation until the very last minute. He has to be careful, however, to get out before he starts serious campaigning. Failure to do so could cause at least mild reaction among the voters and could hurt

Morgan's campaign against Republican Bill Stevens.

Morgan's people are supremely confident about the fall campaign. They feel if their man doesn't blunder, he can't lose. They will not let him risk the mistake of hanging onto his present position longer than is politically wise.

Carson, after being tabbed last week by Gov. Jim Holshouser, said there would be no wholesale firings in the attorney general's office.

"Those who are doing their job have no fear," Carson said.

You can rest assured that no one will lose their job until after the election. Carson's task will be to get a quick handle on the job, make some news, and give the impression that he is indeed the incumbent.

Carson will not be an easy man for the Democrats to unseat. He's intelligent, quick on his feet, and has guts enough to speak his mind. Both parties want control of the attorney general's office. Morgan made it a highly visible and effective position. Next to the Governor's office, it's considered the most powerful state post. Both sides will be after this one in a very competitive fashion, and it should make for an interesting and telling election.

Gasoline Supplies In Southeast Appear Adequate For Trips

By RICK SCOTT

Associated Press Writer Travelers in the Southeast will have little trouble finding gasoline this summer, if one extended automobile trip can serve as an example.

Recently I drove more than 3,900 miles from Raleigh, N.C., to Texas and back, covering some ground in every southeastern state except Florida. Some findings:

—Gasoline supplies seemed to be at least as good as last summer, especially during daylight hours during the week. Many service stations are now selling gasoline at night. Seldom did I have to leave my chosen highway to find fuel.

—Gasoline costs more. The least I paid was 48.4 cents per gallon for regular at a Texaco station at Salado, Tex. The most I paid was 57.9 cents per gallon at a Shell station in Knoxville, Tenn., late one night. No stations gave me premiums, such as stamps or glasses.

—Few drivers are obeying the 55 miles per hour speed limit which is uniform in all states now. Most auto travel was averaging about 60 miles per hour, some faster and few slower.

Watch for flashing headlights from oncoming traffic. This was a popular method to warn oncoming traffic of a police speed trap ahead. The tipoff seems to be growing in popularity with the lower speed limits.

Speed law enforcement was most noticeable in North Carolina, Arkansas and Georgia. I saw few highway troopers in the other states I traveled.

This trip was confined primarily to Interstate highways, and I found gasoline widely available at night, though usually at a higher price than at stations open during the day. Sundays were about like weeknights: fewer stations open and higher prices, but still no real problem getting a fillup.

None of the 24 stations where I bought gasoline had any purchase limit, either on gallons or dollars.

At night, along the interstate, I noticed the tall bright service station signs in many areas. Earlier this year, when supplies were very tight, these signs were dark and the stations below them were closed.

Most of the trip, I was able to shop around for gasoline. When there was a station on every corner, I checked prices and bought the least expensive. Gasoline supplies were great enough that I felt I had a choice about what I bought and what I paid.

I followed Interstate Highway 40 across North Carolina. Gasoline prices ranged from 51.9 cents per gallon for regular to 54.6 at name brand stations. Independent prices were about the same.

After a stopover in Knoxville, Tenn., the trip took me across Tennessee. In Nashville, I bought regular for 53.9 cents and paid 56.9 in Memphis. In Conway and Fort Smith, Ark., the price was about 52 cents a gallon.

In Oklahoma City where the skyline is dominated as much by oil derricks as by buildings, gasoline was no cheaper. The price here, after some shopping around, was 52.9 cents per gallon on a Saturday afternoon.

The only real encounter with the gasoline shortage came in Amarillo, Tex., a city situated in the center of a giant natural gas field. Most of the stations along I-40 in town were closed by 6 p.m. Saturday. Further into town, off I-40, I paid 50.9 cents per gallon.

In Wichita Falls, Tex., on another Saturday afternoon, I snubbed a dealer who was selling gas for 57 cents, although many were closed. I went a few miles further and found the same product for 52.9 cents per gallon.

In Austin and Houston, name brand gasoline was generally 48 or 49 cents a gallon. These people, however, remember when regular cost 30 to 34 cents a gallon last summer.

Along I-10 from Houston, through Lafayette, La., to New Orleans, supplies were plentiful and the price around 53 cents a gallon.

I avoided buying gasoline along the Mississippi Gulf Coast—Gulfport and Biloxi—because a ... pushes the price for regular to above 60 cents a gallon at many stations. Most stations were pumping, however. I found regular in Mobile, Ala., for 49.9 cents, but the price jumped to 54.9 in Montgomery where I joined I-85 to Atlanta.

In Atlanta, gasoline cost me 54.9 cents on I-20. I spent several nights along the road and found that the so-called economy motels are getting new business.

"People are paying so much for gasoline and food, I think they're finding ways to cut other costs. The economy hotels like this one where a family of four can spend the night on the road for $14, is one way to save. Our business is picking up and I expect a good summer season," one operator said.

Catcher For Pedestrians

LONDON (AP) — British Leyland safety engineers have designed a "pedestrian catcher" aimed at cutting down road casualties.

Main elements of the system, still highly experimental, are a low modified front fender, a wedge-shaped bonnet (hood) and a retaining bar which scoops up the victim.

The effect of the low fender — between 12 and 13 inches from the ground — is to tip the pedestrian out of the path of the car and on to the engine hood, which is contoured to reduce injury.

Almost instantaneously the retaining bar — actuated by a sensor on the fender — is triggered to prevent the pedestrian from sliding off the hood.

The device has been tested satisfactorily with dummies at speeds up to 15 miles per hour. In Britain accident statistics show that 40 per cent of all road deaths involve pedestrians — not up," says Daniels.

These deaths and serious injuries are most often caused when pedestrians are thrown forward in front of the car.

The system, developed by British Leyland, is aimed at controlling and cushioning the pedestrian and reducing injuries and deaths in low-speed accidents.

Jack Daniels, chief engineer in charge of the project, says that the biggest drawback for the pedestrian catcher is the United States' regulation, now almost generally accepted, that fenders should be 20 inches from the ground.

"We have no doubt from our research, and the statistics prove it, that fenders should go

Tourists Have Discovered Lost City Of The Inca

EDITOR'S NOTE — Machu Picchu is booming for the first time in centuries. But the 80,000 people who visit Latin America's outstanding tourist attraction each year could make it truly "The Lost City of the Inca."

By NICK AND EARLEEN TATRO
Associated Press Writers
CUZCO, Peru (AP) — The journey begins here, in the city that was once the heartbeat of an empire stretching from northern Ecuador to central Chile, a conquest equalling that of Julius Caesar.

It ends on top of a mountain 75 miles northwest of this ancient Inca capital, in the long-deserted city of Machu Picchu in the Peruvian Andes.

Earth, sun and clouds — elements held sacred by the Inca — meet in the grassy citadel perched 6,750 feet above sea level.

Cuzco fell to the Spanish conquistadors, who marched inland from Lima in search of Inca gold in the 1500s. One by one, the fortresses, the temples, whole cities of the Incas fell to the conquerors of the New World.

But not Machu Picchu. The Spanish never knew it existed. The Inca empire crumbled, and Machu Picchu was abandoned.

Time tugged a jungle-like carpet of undergrowth up the mountainside and hid the city. It remained hidden until 1911 when American archaeologist Hiram Bingham found Machu Picchu by chance and dubbed it "the Lost City of the Incas."

Today, the city stands serenely atop the mountain. There are no souvenir stands here, none of the "Cathy-loves-Randy" and "Rosa-y-Luis" graffiti that mar other Peruvian ruins.

Tourists who visit Machu Picchu enter through a gate manned by government employees, but it's out of sight beyond a large boulder.

A 14-room hotel — a minute's walk outside the gate — is the only modern structure on the mountain top.

Except for the thatched roofs that rotted away centuries ago, Machu Picchu is intact.

It's almost as though its 2,500 inhabitant left yesterday, not four centuries ago. Why they left is a mystery. The Inca left no written histories, for they never learned to write. They had mastered the arts of governing and engineering far better than most of their Old World contemporaries, but they never discovered the wheel nor created an alphabet.

Machu Picchu is a multi-leveled, stair-stepped city. Farming terraces, still irrigated with rain water trapped and channeled in an elaborate series of narrow gutters, grow green with grass where the crops were once potatoes and corn.

The stairways climb to the houses, the plaza, the jail, the temple, the watch towers. A watch tower guards the approach of the royal Inca highway, a granite road which led over the mountain tops from Cuzco, through seven other Inca cities to this citadel.

The Inca highway is still walkable. Occasional hikers make the trip that way.

But the more conventional tourists — 80,000 of them last year — come to Machu Picchu by rail from Cuzco. There are no roads for motor vehicles.

The trains leave at dawn. First is a three-car express pulled by a diesel engine; next is a three-car train pulled by a turn-of-the-century steam locomotive; then comes a modern single-car autowagon, and finally there is a decrepit local.

All must climb from the serpentine track from Cuzco, which is 11,000 feet above sea level, to an elevation of 12,000 feet — a feat that requires six "switchbacks," maneuverings akin to taking one step backward and two steps forward. Then the trains begin a gradual descent into the valley, following the slivers of track that parallel the Urubamba and its rapids.

The traveler enters a time tunnel where the only visible concession to the 20th century is the brightly colored plastic the Indians buy by the yard to tie around their shoulders when it rains.

It's a five-hour trip from Cuzco to Machu Picchu, counting the 20-minute motorized dash that takes the tourists up the final mountain stretch to the lost city. Minibuses ply the 10-foot-wide gravel road that zig-zags the face of the mountain in a dizzy series of hairpin curves.

Although Machu Picchu was discovered in 1911 and the railroad tracks laid in 1925, the tourist trade didn't begin until 1964 when the Peruvian government began promoting the place.

The tourist onslaught began in earnest in 1969 when a modern airport was built at Cuzco. Two airlines now bring hundreds of sightseers a day from Lima.

The boom is off and running, but Cuzco, a city of 200,000, lacks facilities to handle the tourists. It has 60 hotels, but only 12 are rated second-class and not one is first-class. Good food is just as scarce. As Marco Bustamante, a lifelong resident of Cuzco who has worked as a tour guide for seven years, observed about the failure to continue the tourist development: "Since 15 years ago, we have a road; since nine years ago, we have a new hotel; since four years ago we have a cable car."

"But as you can see, it is all plans," said Bustamante, 26.

At the same time, he fears that over-development at Machu Picchu would be disastrous.

"If 1,000 to 2,000 people a day come here, what do we do with them? And if we ever build a road to Machu Picchu or put big hotels there, Machu Picchu will truly become the Lost City of the Inca."

Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today.
The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

Coleridge

By Gerry Bishop

Adapting to either a small vacation plot or a confining urban lot, the "Coleridge," with its shake shingles and cedar siding provides all-season living.

The open living room spans more than 25 feet and features a wood-burning fireplace and bow window. Also on the lower level is a formal dining room, with sliding glass doors opening to the front porch, a kitchen and half bath.

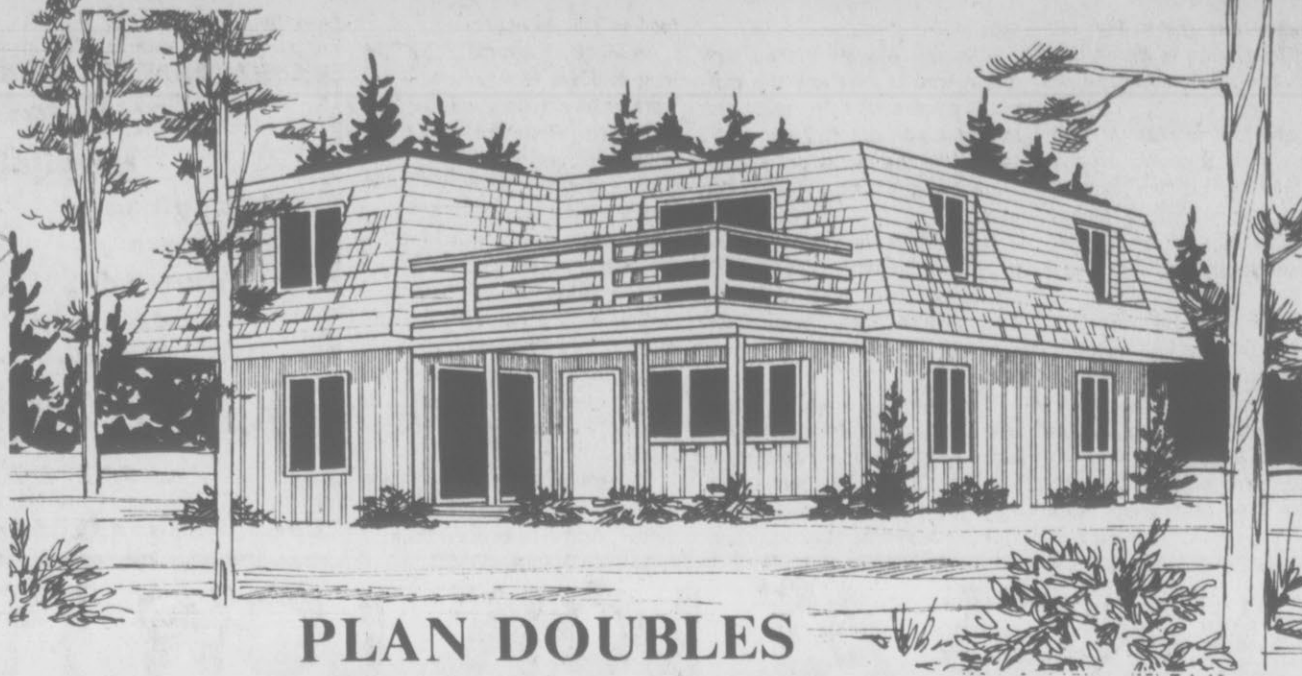

The kitchen, open to a hallway, includes built-in appliances in a U-shape. The kitchen sink is situated beneath a window, a particularly pleasant feature in vacation homes.

The second story opens from a hallway to three bedrooms and a full bath. The master bedroom includes a massive closet and opens to the sun deck, a relaxing retreat from evening confusion or for afternoon sunbathing.

Each of the other bedrooms has two windows recessed into the angular exterior roof, adding architectural detail to the "Coleridge."

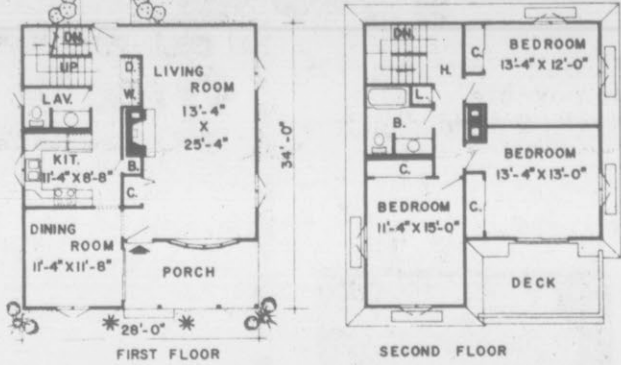

When the plan is adapted for urban living, the basement becomes a particularly convenient feature. The 824 square feet can be converted to family room, workshop, study area or additional bedrooms.

A Remodeler Can Do Wonders

By DOROTHEA BROOKS NEW YORK (UPI) — The remodeler's tools — wall paneling, ceiling systems, new floor covering, siding — can work wonders, putting a fresh new face on an old house. But, warns Dr. David L. Watson, chief entomologist for Velsicol Chemical Corp., Chicago, home facelifting jobs, particularly in basements, can cover up a lot more than old boards and bricks, cracked plaster, unsightly pipes and electrical conduits, shabby paint. Remodeling can hide the evidence of the subterranean termite.

"You may not have thought of this," Watson said, "but your nice, new dropped ceiling and beautiful wall paneling are going to hide many nooks and crannies from sight for good. And these are just the kinds of places where early signs of termite infestation occur."

Such signs, he said, include very tiny pellets, the excrement of termites, which digest the cellulose content of wood, paper, cardboard or cloth; thin mud tubes on basement walls or columns, the "tunnels" termites use to get from the floor up to wood ceiling joints, window sills and other wood parts of a house. The presence of tiny wings anywhere is something else to look for, Watson advised. "When termites settle in some place, usually in late spring or early summer, they don't need their wings any more so they simply drop them and burrow in. After that, their presence is difficult to detect because they are silent, and they tunnel around totally concealed. They're careful not to disturb the surface appearance of the wood, or box, or book they're feeding on. A termite-eaten 4' x 4' beam might look structurally sound, yet you can poke your finger into it."

Inspection Watson suggests careful termite inspection as a forerunner to any large remodeling job. A house must be gone over carefully from top to bottom, inside and out. Dark areas, such as crawl spaces, should be checked with the aid of a flashlight. Wood parts should be prodded with a sharp instrument. Look for the physical evidence of termites; the excrement, discarded wings, the mud tunnels. Problem areas that call for extra careful inspection, and remedying, include wood siding that's in direct contact with the ground outside; leaky faucets, inside or out, which might provide necessary moisture for termites; firewood or lumber piled directly against the house.

If you have the slightest doubt, a professional inspection is in order and, Watson says, the cost is nominal. To find a reliable firm, he advises looking for a local company with an established office location which you can inspect; one which advertises its services and its association with the National Pest Control Association and the state association. A check with the local Better Business Bureau and following up on references given by the firm will provide added insurance.

Beware itinerant salesmen who appear uninvited, often in unmarked trucks, offer free, on the spot, termite inspection, subsequent "evidence" of severe infestation and dire warnings of what will happen if you don't have extensive treatment "right away." Wait until you can check further. The house won't fall down.

If termites are present, however, they must be eliminated. They can do thousands of dollars worth of damage to a home and its contents. Watson advises a professional job since it requires special skills, training and equipment and the handling of chemicals.

"What the pest control operator does," he explained, "is put a chemical barrier around the house which termites won't cross. Those insects outside, living in their subterranean nests, won't go through it to get to the house for wood. They have to move on or perish from lack of food.

Termite Prevention "If there are termites in the house, they won't cross the barrier to get to the soil for moisture, which they need every 36 hours. They simply dry up and die." In areas where termite infestation is moderate to heavy, particularly in parts of the country that are fairly warm the year around, Watson suggests termite protection as a preventive.

If you're building a home, he advises, preventive treatment is simple and inexpensive before the basement floor or slab is poured and should be a must.

In home improvement jobs that involve room additions with new foundations, Watson stresses, wood scraps must not be buried along the foundations during backfilling. "They're just an invitation to an enemy that attacks five times as many homes in the United States each year than fires, and does up to half a billion dollars worth of property damage."

The Garden Clinic

N.C. State University Answers Timely Gardening Questions

Q. Please give me the name of a pole bean that is resistant to how does one control mosaic (Mrs. J. G., Spring Lake)

A. Several viruses cause mosaic-appearing symptoms, and it is impossible to find a variety that is resistant to all of them. Dade, McCaslan and Stringless Bluelake are resistant to the most common strain of mosaic. (George Hughes, extension horticulturist)

Q. How can I get rid of Wisteria? I dug up a vine several years ago, but shoots keep popping up—some as far as 25 feet from where the main trunk was. (Mrs. J. B., Sunbury)

A. Wait until new sprouts are about six inches long. Then spray with 2,4-D. If there is danger of spray getting on desirable plants, "paint" 2,4-D on the stump and new shoots. (Carl Blake, extension agronomist)

Q. I have been fighting a losing battle with mealy bugs on my split-leaf philodendron. Can you give me some help? (Mrs. P. M., Durham)

A. Malathion will control mealybugs. Either spray malathion on the plant or, if possible, submerge the plant in a pail containing a malathion solution. Use two teaspoons of malathion 57 percent emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water. Another alternative, when you have only one plant, is to use a small swab to apply the malathion solution directly to the mealybugs. (H. E. Scott, extension entomologist)

Q. I've read that liquid dishwashing detergent will control insects. One-half ounce to 10 gallons of water applied every three weeks is supposed to control insects on lawns, trees, vegetables, and everything else. Is this true? (G. L. Erwin)

A. No. Detergents will not kill insects. Detergents will decrease surface tension and make insects easier to wash off. This will often provide adequate control of insects such as aphids. However, it is unlikely that any control would be obtained on insects in turf, or of weevils, beetles or worms infesting trees or ornamentals. (R. L. Robertson, extension entomologist)

Steel Popular Plumbingware

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Government figures show that steel plumbingware proved very popular with residential builders and home owners in 1973. Plumbingware includes bathtubs, lavatories and kitchen sinks.

Figures show that steel was used for 1,541,036 bathtubs in 1973 for a 48 per cent majority share of the market. Steel lavatories accounted for 1,804,490 units in 1973 for a market share of 28 per cent. And porcelain enamel and stainless steel sinks in the kitchen accounted for 4,850,099 units or 88 per cent of the market.

Officials of Armco Steel Corp. here said they expect steel plumbingware to continue to grow in popularity in the future.

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT — A heat-retaining, energy-saving chemical for swimming pools. Manufacturer's claim — That this thin chemical layer acts as an effective "blanket" to hold in the water's warmth whether the pool is heated by the sun or a pool heater...that it is odorless, harmless to the eyes, doesn't harm fish or plants and is virtually invisible...that it cuts water evaporation...that it allows full use of the pool and normal recirculation...and that only a few ounces need be added twice a week at minimal cost.

THE PRODUCT — A high-speed finishing sander with 10,000 orbits per minute for fast general purpose sanding. Manufacturer's claim — That the new extra speed gives the operator smoother finishing, faster material removing and ease of handling for wood, metal and plastic projects...that it is designed for one or two-hand control and will flush sand on three sides...that it is double insulated...that it can convert to dustless operation with a special attachment that connects to most tank-type vacuum cleaners...and that synthetic lambswool polishing pads give added versatility to the new unit and are excellent for polishing furniture, cars and other objects.

THE PRODUCT — A right-angle attachment to give polishing and sanding versatility to portable electric drills. Manufacturer's claim — That the new attachment lets the user polish or sand at an angle with an ordinary electric drill...and that it is being offered in a kit which includes a lambswool polishing bonnet, six assorted sanding discs, a rubber backing pad and a wheel arbor.

THE PRODUCT — A water-saving showerhead. Manufacturer's claim — That the showerhead reduces the flow of water to about two gallons per minute without sacrificing a forceful spray, compared with the average flow rate of eight to 12 gallons per minute of conventional showerheads...that tests show the showerhead, if operated only 10 minutes daily, would save upwards of 1,600 gallons of water per year when compared with a showerhead flowing at eight gallons per minute...that its special design allows easy removal of mineral deposits, rust, scale and other impurities...that it has pushbutton control and is constructed of solid brass and a triple plate of chrome.

(If you do-it-yourself, you will get invaluable aid from Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I have recently taken up woodworking. In directions for making furniture, I sometimes see the term "bar clamp" and sometimes "pipe clamp." What's the difference? Or are they the same?

A. — With a bar clamp, the jaws are mounted on a flat piece of metal. With a pipe clamp, the flat piece of metal is not used, but a piece of pipe is used in its place. You purchase the clamp arrangement; the piece of pipe is purchased separately. One end must be threaded. Both clamps work the same way, with one jaw movable, the other stationary.

Q. — I'm building a sand box — or rather, I will be building one any day now. Is it necessary to have a cover on it?

A. — Yes. If you don't, the sand will remain wet for several days after a rainstorm.

Q. — I did some masonry work a year ago and was left with half a bag of cement. I have a new project coming up soon and wonder whether the cement is still usable.

A. — Cement deteriorates with age, but the cement probably can be used provided no water or moisture got into the bag. If so, the cement will have hardened or at least have become unworkable.

Q. — I'd like to try wallpaper for the first time. I intend to buy the prepeasted kind. What's the best way to wet it to make the paste sticky?

A. — It can be wet with a brush or dipped into a bathtub or sink, but the best method is to use a water tray especially made for that purpose. You can get one where you purchase the paper.

Q. — Which appliances use the most electricity?

A. — Generally, those which heat up. Big wattage consumers are electric ranges, clothes dryers, toasters, roasters, irons and grills.

Reluctant Star Of A TV Series

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whitman Mayo of "Sanford and Son" may be the most reluctant star in television. He didn't seek the lead when Redd Foxx walked off the NBC show early this year. He would like to hand it back to Foxx. In fact, he didn't even seek the part of Grady. It was thrust on him. He was a sometime actor and a full-time literary agent in New York. "I came to Los Angeles last July looking for employment for some of the talent I represent," he said. "That's when I was asked to do one 'Sanford and Son.' I'd worked with Ilunga Adell, the story editor, in the theater in New York and he'd written a show he thought I could do. "I was in Los Angeles 20 minutes with a client, and within 24 hours I was working and my client wasn't. And that led to show after show." Mayo starred in six of the shows this past season after Foxx walked out in a dispute over money and working conditions. He starred in another three for next season. The show is currently out of production until July 8. A settlement with Foxx is believed near. "That would certainly be good news for me," said Mayo. "He worked very diligently to get the show where it is. He and those who began the show deserve the credit for it." Despite Foxx's absence in some of the shows the series has remained very high in the ratings. Mayo believes "it's the type of show that becomes a part of people. It's like 'The Andy Griffith Show.' You can take Andy Griffith out and the show goes on." Whether Foxx returns or not Mayo, 43, will remain. After his first appearance last season he became almost a regular and to date has been on about 20 shows. Mayo began acting in high school and at Los Angeles City College he studied under the late actor-producer Frank Silvera. He gave up acting and worked for seven years as a juvenile counselor. Later, he moved to New York and joined the New Lafayette Theatre and was in every production for six years.

Maria Unlikely Forget Prima Ballerina Days

By BROOKE W. KROEGER
CHICAGO (UPI) — She introduces herself as Maria Paschen — Mrs. Buzzy Paschen — a matron easily recognized among Chicago's elegant rich. She is also Maria Tallchief, the half-Osage from Oklahoma who danced her way from rodeos and Boy Scout Roundups into global recognition as America's first native born prima ballerina. The ballet life of Maria Tallchief is eight years in the past. But Maria Paschen, 49, is not likely to forget it; nor is anyone who ever sat in a darkened theater awaiting her appearance at centerstage. At her best, Maria Tallchief was a brilliant mix of ballet's rigid discipline and the unbridled passion of dance. Physically, she has changed little. Her long, graceful legs are unmarred by the large muscles that usually mark a dancer. She wears only the slightest trace of makeup and her hair hangs naturally to her shoulders.

No more does she keep the rigorous schedule that often took her from a performance at the Vienna Opera House to the stage of the New York City Ballet in less than a day. Now, she says, she tries to keep her days free. Once or twice a week, she teaches performance technique to apprentices at the Chicago Lyric Opera. Practices Daily She takes long weekends in New York to visit her friends in the ballet world. She spends an hour or so practicing daily in the little studio she had built above the Paschens' handsome apartment, just off north Lake Shore Drive near town. Otherwise, her life belongs to her husband and to her daughter, Elise, 15. "I'm sorry I was never able to spend time with my daughter when she was small. I was traveling around the world doing one night stands the first years of her life," she said. "I was lucky to have had any children at all."

Maria Paschen says her family precipitated her retirement, but there was also the fact that George Balanchine, the director of the New York City Ballet and her former husband, had begun looking at younger dancers. "I could understand it," she said in an interview. "Conditions in the New York City Ballet had changed. Balanchine was once a dancer himself and has achieved a certain artistic knowledge. He was interested in young people. He was creating ballets for another era, for new dancers. I could understand it. It was time to quit." Different World Now Retirement meant Chicago, where her husband of 18 years MONEY MAKER HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The Exorcist" earned $3 million in four months at three first run theaters in New York City alone. By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Nostalgia is doing a big number in the movies appearing on the nation's screens these days — there's even a movie entitled "The Way We Were" — but it's a little hard to find anybody who thinks he is creating it.

David Merrick, who produced "The Great Gatsby" with stupendous attention to 1930s details, from costuming and cars to unpaved roads and mansions, says he wasn't doing it for nostalgia. Peter Bogdanovich, who some think started it all with "The Last Picture Show," and who is working on "At Long Last, Love," to include 23 Cole Porter songs, says he isn't in the nostalgia business either. Nostalgia exists — Merrick and Bogdanovich agree with this — and in separate conversations they were willing to talk about it.

Bogdanovich defined it. "People will say, 'Remember the days we used to go to camp? I sure feel nostalgic for the good old days.' I think some of the movies being made and shows on Broadway are designed to take you back and remind you of something that you enjoyed in some other period of your life. You go see the Andrews Sisters and say, 'Weren't things simpler back in the old days?'"

"The reason for the interest in nostalgia is so apparent it seems like a cliché to say it."

We're living in a rather bleak period and we don't know where to turn, so of course we turn back to the past, when things seemed clearer and simpler. "There's a bitterness that has set in. People feel the American flag is something to be ashamed of and here we are in the 1970s with nothing to believe in, so we look back to periods when we could believe in something."

"When I was making 'The Last Picture Show,' in 1971, I told people I was doing a period picture. They'd ask when it was set and I'd say 1951 and they'd say that wasn't a period. It made money, so then every picture was set in the '50s. Few of them were successful, except 'American Graffiti.' It is like any trend. Movies imitate whatever was a hit the year before."

Merrick, who is a relative newcomer to film making after years of producing on Broadway, says, "I feel we're being upstaged by the newspapers. Films can't compete. There's more drama on front pages than we can dream up. The best thing for movie makers to do is go back into the fantasy of the past."

"Gatsby" wasn't nostalgia with me. I thought that with a camera, which gives more scope than the stage, there was the possibility of doing some first-class material that might have a point of view. Fitzgerald's favorite theme was that people who were born rich think they are better than anybody else, because they were born rich. We start with those people. We do them in. The middle-class people in 'Gatsby' come out as the ones with real character."

Bogdanovich says of the film which "started" the nostalgia craze, "The Last Picture Show" is about a previous era but I don't think it was a nostalgia film. I don't mean any comparison with myself but Tolstoy wrote 'War and Peace' 20 to 30 years after the events he was describing. I don't think that was a nostalgic novel. "The Last Picture Show" was an evocation of a time that had passed. My intention was to clarify to people in the present something about their current situation. I think you only understand the present by the past. You learn that in high school — current events through history. "Paper Moon" was set in the '30s and on one level it was rather simple but I didn't mean it as fluff. The point of the movie was, here are two people fleeing other people and trying to get by in a time when nobody had any money and everybody was trying to get by some way or other. Latest from Bogdanovich is "Daisy Miller," based on a Henry James story, set in a previous century, as is the currently popular "Three Musketeers." Next, Bogdanovich will shoot "At Long Last, Love," set in the '30s in New York but shot in California because New York has changed so much. "People are going to say 'At Long Last, Love' is nostalgia, too, but I don't think so. It's about two couples who fall in and out of love in about a month, switch partners and fall in and out of love with them and live unhappily ever after. I think it's probably the first movie musical made to have an unhappy ending, which amuses me. I was going to do it in black and white but I thought that was taking perversity one step too far so I'm going to shoot it in color and paint the sets and streets black and white. If I can get it right, the idea is that nobody ever gets what they want because they don't know what they want."

Neither Merrick nor Bogdanovich is planning to make a movie set in the present. Merrick says, "Somebody came to me with a musical about Watergate. By the time I would get it together, it would be absolutely dated."

Bogdanovich says, "I haven't got any particular story I want to tell about now."

Me and the Spitter, an autobiographical confession by Gaylord Perry, takes him from a North Carolina farm to a star in the baseball world. A winning and amiable baseball pitcher, he confesses that he has been known to throw a moist pitch more than once in his long and successful career. With good humor and few holds barred, he tells all you want to know about the illegal spitter and about some of the other dirty tricks of the Great American Pastime. Since his first spitter in 1964, Perry has won many games, been on pennant-winning teams, won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in his league and has become the star attraction of baseball's spitter controversy.

Richard Condon's powerful new novel, Winter Kill, probes the most significant event in America's twentieth century: the assassination of a President. Fourteen years after the murder of President Timothy Kegan, his wealthy and powerful family learn through a deathbed confession that the President was not killed by a lone psychopath, but was the victim of a mysterious conspiracy. Condon takes the reader through the mazes of modern American mythology into the simultaneous presences of oil kings, movie queens, venal police; along intricate, often illusory tracts, past organized crime, the CIA, the labor unions and to the highest keepers of the keys and into the face of the real assassin.

John Hejninian challenges the medical profession in Extreme Remedies. In an unforgettable story of dedication and disillusionment, Joe Womack devotes himself to service in the neurology ward of a large municipal hospital, where everyday decisions are matters of life and death. The young resident feels alone in a world of clinical indifference, surrounded by colleagues with a callous disregard for human life and doctors who collect dramatic cases and strive with jealousy for the chance to experiment with new surgical techniques or administer the latest radical treatments. He finds himself in conflict with the heads of the hospital and under the strain doubts his own fitness to be a doctor. The reader is drawn into the private agony of this young doctor who must confront the outrageous truth that in the world of medicine, men who are sworn to serve mankind often become liened from everything but their own ambitions.

Year-Long Student Project History Of An 'Ordinary Mill Village'

By PEGGY HOWE
Office of Public Info.
N.C. Dept.
Cultural Resources

"But it's just an ordinary mill village," one of the older residents argues. Correct. An ordinary mill village in North Carolina—one of the kind that is fast becoming extinct, and one of the kind that three Davidson College students plan to encapsulate into history.

Woody Connette, Tom Hatley and Roger Manley, 1974 graduates at Davidson, hope to preserve some of the oral and written history of Cramerton, N.C., one of the original and fast-disappearing Piedmont textile mill towns in the state.

Their year-long project was to preserve the history of "a small, undiversified milltown, which until very recently remained isolated and virtually unchanged, thereby offering an example of a fleeting phenomenon: the textile culture." Using the technique of oral history, the three have provided a written document describing the founding and development of Cramerton, along with a 16mm documentary film.

The student initiated Bicentennial project, financed with a grant from the North Carolina Bicentennial Committee and the North Carolina Internship Office, focuses on Cramerton as a unique example. Founder of the mill, Stuart Cramer, provided the usual paternalism for employees, in addition to some of the most advanced innovations in mill operation and town management.

Since September, the students have been taping interviews with some of the older citizens, each of whom is or has been connected with the mill in some way. During recent years, when Burlington Industries bought the complex, the mill-owned houses have been sold to employee-occupants. Some employees have retired, severing their viable connection in all but name only. However, their roots and connections remain firmly planted in the small town near Belmont.

Described as "a garden town—3500 acres between two mountains at the horseshoe bend in the river," Cramerton is a blending of the urban and traditionally rural. The students have called Cramerton "an unlimited resource for a model textile community."

The students have provided these residents and future citizens of Cramerton with a detailed history of the development and founding of their town. They have also provided a lasting history, since the town itself is so rapidly changing—many of the old ways and institutions taken for granted in past years are disappearing or are already gone. "For instance," Woody explained, "the houses were once wholly owned and maintained by the mill. Now they're individually owned."

"Also," Roger added, "the average age of citizens is increasing. As the young people grow and move away to more opportunity, the town becomes a community of older people." During their research, Roger, Tom and Woody discovered that the population of the town has remained almost static—only one house has been built since 1960.

As for the interviews, the students said they were not formal or structured. "We just let the people talk about what they wanted to," Roger said. "Eventually you hear what you want to hear," he explained.

They mentioned that Cramer himself is a hero to most of the townsfolk. Over

DAVIDSON STUDENTS—Woody Connette and Thomas Hatley discuss the work they have done on the oral history project of Cramerton, a North Carolina textile mill town. Their project was jointly sponsored by the North Carolina Bicentennial Committee and the North Carolina Internship Office and over in their tape recordings, anecdotes and praises of the mill's founder are heard. "He wanted you to have the good things of life," one recorded. Another said, "He made a profit but didn't try to squeeze." The town of Cramerton boasted the first municipal swimming pool. In addition, Cramer, himself, to cool the oven-like interiors of the cotton mill, invented air conditioning.

"He wanted you to have a good living—did you know he hardsurfaced every road in Cramerton?" The older employee mentioned that these roads were surfaced when paving was not an accepted fact everywhere. The students pointed out that complacency was typical of the area. The dissident were either fired or moved on, Woody explained simply.

The Cramerton project will add to both the "Heritage" and "Horizons" portions of the bicentennial observance, as well as providing lasting community benefit.

Copies of the project's record—the documentary film and still photographs, tape recordings and transcripts will be deposited in several archival storages in the state for use by future students and historians.

The Eastern Music Festival Gaining In Critical Repute

GREENSBORO—The 1974 Eastern Music Festival, which begins June 22 on the Guilford College campus in Greensboro, has grown into what one prominent New York music critic recently called "one of our nation's most important and progressive summer festivals."

The 13th annual EMF promises to further enhance that reputation. The quality of the artists-in-residence, the 80 faculty members, and 200-plus students from all over the U. S. and Canada who will make up the '74 Festival has continued the trend of recent years which has resulted in this reputation.

Under the young conductor Sheldon Morgenstern, EMF will afford Piedmont-area residents and visitors concerts to be presented nightly.

Student piano recitals are scheduled on Mondays; student chamber music on Tuesdays; the professional Eastern Chamber Players on Wednesdays; the advanced student orchestra, the Eastern Symphony on Thursdays; the student Guilford Symphony Orchestra on Fridays; and the Eastern Philharmonic Orchestra on Saturday evenings.

Students, recruited by Director of Admissions Joe Thayer, represent some of the most talented American musicians ages 12 to 20 in the country. Besides receiving further instruction in their instruments, they participate in theory classes and in small discussion groups which focus on "Art and Society."

Guest artists will teach master classes as well as perform while they are in residence at EMF.

Eugene Pridonoff, Leventritt Competition winner and chairman of the EMF Piano Department, will perform with the Eastern Philharmonic in its opening concert on June 22.

Lillian Fuchs will perform in chamber music and with the EPO. Considered "perhaps the greatest living virtuoso of the viola," (Esquire), Ms. Fuchs has received praise as a composer, chamber music coach (Isaac Stern was one of her pupils), and recording artist. Conducting the June 29 concert will be Frederik Prausnitz, current Conductor and Musical Director of the Syracuse Symphony.

Leon Fleisher, a pianist who was the first American to win a major European competition, will conduct the Eastern Chamber Players on July 3, as well as perform with the Eastern Philharmonic that week.

The Beaux Arts Trio, comprised of pianist Menahem Pressler, violinist Isidore Cohen, and cellist Bernard Greenhouse will participate in chamber music on July 10 and with guest conductor Thomas Briccetti of the Fort Wayne Philharmonic and Cleveland Institute of Music on July 13.

Master virtuoso cellist Leonard Rose, who has been the featured soloist with both the Cleveland Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic, will perform with the EPO on July 20. He will also appear in chamber music on July 17, as will Eliot Chapo, former EMF student and newly appointed concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic.

Gary Karr, a seventh generation bassist in a musical family, will solo on July 24 and July 27.

On July 31 and August 3, Veronica Tyler will be featured at the Eastern Music Festival. Trained at the Peabody Conservatory and the Juilliard School of Music, this soprano has appeared with major orchestras in the U.S. and abroad.

Daniel Ericourt, exponent of Debussy's music, will teach master classes in piano on August 2. The classes, including this one by the artist-in-residence at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro School of Music, will be open to season ticket holders for the first time this year.

All these concerts will be held at 8:15 in the air-conditioned Dana Auditorium. Season tickets are available from Mrs. Locke T. Clifford, 2714 Holly Drive, Greensboro, N.C. 27408, or by calling the EMF Office at (919) 274-3444. Single admission tickets will be available at the door if space permits.

In addition, EMF personnel will present a series of four pops concerts. Audiences are encouraged to bring blankets and box suppers to these free outdoor events.

June 30—Eastern Philharmonic Orchestra; Robert Hause, conductor; Battleground Park Bandshell

July 14—Festival Brass and Woodwinds; Carl Roskott, conductor; Greensboro City Governmental Center

July 28—The Ruth Rypins Concert; Festival Brass and Woodwinds; Carl Roskott, conductor; Fisher Park

Another integral part of EMF for the fourth year is its outreach program, Project LISTEN—Let It Sound To Everyone Near. It includes small group concerts at such places as daycare centers, old age homes, and on crowded street corners.

Grants from such sources as the National Endowment for the Arts, the North Carolina State Legislature, foundations such as the Rockefeller, Markus, and Jefferson-Pilot, and from private businesses and individuals have enabled EMF to grow from a yearly budget of $22,000 to a full-scale festival with operating expenses of almost a quarter-million dollars annually.

GERSHWIN BUST AT CARNEGIE

NEW YORK (AP) — On the 50th anniversary of George Gershwin's Carnegie Hall debut, in April, a bust of Gershwin was presented to the hall. It was accepted by Leontyne Price, who sang Bess in Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" on Broadway, on behalf of the Carnegie Hall Corp.

The bust is by Boston-born sculptor George R. Antonissen.

Prizes Acquired By Art Gallery

"HEAD", a bronze sculpture by Willem de Kooning, was given to Weatherspoon Art Gallery by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cone of Greensboro.

GREENSBORO—A bronze sculpture by Willem de Kooning and an oil painting by John Clem Clarke have been acquired by Weatherspoon Art Gallery of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The two pieces were bought through the auspices of the Weatherspoon Gallery Association's Benefactor Program. The sculpture was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cone of Greensboro. Funds for the purchase of art for the permanent collection at the gallery.

Firms and individuals giving at least $1,000 in a year are entitled to exhibit outstanding works of art from Weatherspoon's collection in their lobbies and offices during that year.

A native of Holland, de Kooning studied at the Academy Beeldende Kunsten and the Technische Wetenschappen in Amsterdam. He has works in the major public collections in America. Among them are the Art Institute of Chicago, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, and the Whitney Museum of American Art.

De Kooning was commissioned to create a mural for the New York World's Fair and the 39 and French Line Pier in New York. He has been an instructor at Black Mountain College and Yale University.

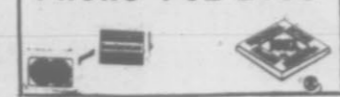

John Clem Clarke is a native of Bend, Oregon, and received the bachelor of fine arts degree from the University of Oregon. His work may be found in the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Milwaukee Art Center, the Akron Art Institute, and the Oakland Museum in California.

Opera Premiere At Lake George

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Lake George Opera Festival will present an opera world premiere this summer, on Aug. 8.

The opera is "The Child," written by Jose Raul Bernardo, 34, who left his native Cuba in 1960 and received a masters degree from the University of Miami and a Ph.D. from Columbia University.

"The Child" is based on a Cuban poem written by Jose Marti in 1876. The locale is Guatemala. A young woman, thought of as a child, falls in love with an older man and when he fails to return her love, she creates a fantasy world.

Ballet Theater Acquires Tudor

NEW YORK (AP) — Choreographer Antony Tudor has been named associate director of American Ballet Theater.

The British choreographer was one of 11 presented by Ballet Theater during its first season in 1940 and over the years he has had a close association with the company.

Since 1940, there has been a Tudor ballet in every American Ballet Theater season. This summer, three will be performed, "Garden of the Lilacs," "Pillar of Fire" and "Undertow."

Lucia Chase and Oliver Smith are codirectors of the company and Tudor will collaborate with them in artistic decisions.

Watson Eases Past Field To Lead Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Red-haired Tom Watson, a freckle-faced kid who has yet to win a tournament, swept past the struggling giants of the game—Arnold Palmer and Gary Player—with a one-under-par 69 that staked him to the third round lead Saturday in the 74th United States Open Golf Championships.

The 24-year-old Watson, a Stanford University product now in his second year on the pro tour, put together a 54-hole total of 213, three over par on the 6,961-yard terror called the Winged Foot Golf Club course.

It was good for a one-stroke lead over Hale Irwin, a 29-year-old tour regular who emerged from the multiple-man scramble to take second place with a 71 and a 214 total.

Palmer, the 44-year-old living legend who is trying to fight his way out of the deepest, most frustrating slump of his storied career, once held sole control of the lead before blowing to a 73-216, three shots back going into the last round of this most prestigious of all the world's golf championships.

"I finished both nines very badly," Palmer said. "I played one good golf, but I also played an awful lot of bad golf."

Player, the doughty little South African who won the 1974 Masters, struggled and strained to a whopping 77.

It virtually destroyed his glory dream of the Grand Slam, a one-year sweep of the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA—something never before accomplished. And, with Player at 220, 10 over par and seven shots out of the lead, it still seemed out of reach.

Jim Colbert, Frank Beard and Bert Yancey followed Palmer at 218, five shots out of the lead and the only others in the surviving field of 66 with much chance of catching the stubby Watson in Sunday's final round.

Beard had a 72, Yancey a 74 and Colbert matched Watson's 69 as the best rounds of a mild, sunny, breezy day.

Palmer, Player, Irwin and Ray Floyd started third-round play in a tie for the top spot. Floyd, a former PGA champion, bogeyed his first four holes and finally limped home with a 78-221.

He was tied at that figure with British Open king Tom Weiskopf, who had a 72. Johnny Miller, the defending U.S. Open champion, was out of it at 225. He had a 74, his best round of the tournament.

Jack Nicklaus, holder of a record 14 major tournament titles and the man picked most likely to succeed in this one, blew to an incredible 76 and also was out of championship consideration at 225.

Lee Trevino, Billy Casper and England's Tony Jacklin failed to qualify for the final two rounds.

Beautiful spring weather and a head-to-head clash between Palmer and Player—they were paired together in a renewal of a rivalry stretching back to the 1950s—lured a massive gallery of perhaps 20,000 to the suburban New York course that has proved to be one of the toughest the pros have encountered in many, many years.

They all flocked to the side of Palmer and Player, who were playing just behind Watson and just ahead of Irwin. Those two were all but overlooked by the fans, who climbed over Watson to get a vantage point for a glimpse of Palmer and Player. Others blocked the path of the unemotional, business-like Irwin as he went about the course in something approaching solitude.

For a time—the first eight holes, it appeared as if the two old masters would provide them with the glimpse of the glory they sought.

Palmer, hitching his britches in the old, familiar manner, rammed home birdie putts of about 18 feet on the second and fourth holes. It sent happy shouts echoing through the woods and gently rolling hills.

"Arnie's got it going," they yelled.

"Go get 'em, Arnie," they shouted.

And when Player, the little Black Knight from Johannesburg, sent a short iron lancing to within two feet of the flag for a birdie on the sixth, there were equally loud cries, "Attaboy, Gary."

But it was not to be. Palmer led alone after those two quick birdies, and he and Player later shared the lead. But Arnold missed the green on the eighth and bogeyed. Then both he and Player got into trouble off the tee on the ninth and bogeyed again.

That opened the gates to the youngsters, both of whom were school children when Palmer won the Masters in 1958 and Player took the British Open in 1959.

Rudi, Bando Slam Yankees

OAKLAND (AP) — Joe Rudi hit a grand slam homer and Sal Bando cracked a three-run shot, powering the Oakland A's to a 9-1 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday.

It was the second grand slam of Rudi's career and came off losing pitcher George Medich in the third inning.

After singles by Dick Green and Bill North and a walk to Bando, Rudi hit the first pitch to him over the left center field fence, putting Oakland ahead 4-1.

In the fifth inning, singles by Angel Mangual and Reggie Jackson preceded the homer by Bando.

The A's got two more runs off relief pitcher Dick Woodson in the sixth inning. Gene Tenace walked and moved to second on an infield out and scored on a single by Green.

Herb Washington ran for Green and stole second, went to third on a throwing error by catcher Thurman Munson and scored on a single by North. Vida Blue, 6-6, stopped the Yankees with the help of reliever John "Blue Moon" Odom.

Pirate Cage Slate Is Set

Dave Patton, East Carolina University's first-year head basketball coach, views the announced 1974-75 Pirate cage schedule as one that "will present a very formidable task."

"Formidable" may be a gross understatement. Specifically, Patton is referring to the Pirates' opener, Nov. 30 at North Carolina State in Raleigh. Following that encounter with the national champions of college basketball, the Pirates take on Duke University in Durham, another tough Atlantic Coast Conference foe, before traveling to Tuscaloosa, Ala. to face the University of Alabama.

"Going from the top-ranked team in the country for the opening game to a team in the third game that will be in the top five pre-season picks presents what is without a doubt a tremendous challenge. There aren't too many words to add. Throw Duke, Baylor, a tournament opponent, in with our always solid Southern Conference schedule and you could safely say that we have our work cut out for us."

A part of East Carolina's work will include a lengthy road trip to the northeast for games against St. Peter's and in the two-night Connecticut Classic which will pit the Pirates against Baylor while the University of Connecticut will take on Eastern Michigan. Independent Western Carolina University is another new-comer to the Pirates' schedule. The Pirates host the Catamounts Feb. 24.

East Carolina, 13-12 in 1973-74 and 8-6 in Southern Conference play (fourth place), return nine of 11 varsity players and three of five starters.

The complete schedule:

Nov. 30, at N. C. State.

Pearson Grabs Motor City Pole

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — David Pearson placed his Mercury in the front-row pole position Saturday and became a heavy favorite to win his third Motor State 400 stock car race.

The graying, 39-year-old three-time stock car champion will be at the head of a 36-car pack when the 180-lap, $86,350 race begins Sunday.

If good weather prevails, track officials say there could be a sellout crowd of about 55,000. The weather forecasters say, however, there is a strong chance of showers.

Pearson, winner of 19 super-speedway races in 34 starts since joining the Wood Brothers team in May 1972, circled the two-mile Michigan International Speedway at an average speed of 156.423 miles per hour in winning the pole position.

It was the 22nd pole triumph for the easy-going veteran in a career spanning 15 years, and his 15th since taking over the Wood Brothers machine from A.J. Foyt two years ago.

Pearson won the Motor State in 1972 and 1973 and the Yankee 400 on the same track in 1972. If he wins again Sunday, his 1974 record would be four victories, two seconds, a third and two dropouts.

The other front-row position went to Cale Yarborough in a Chevrolet with a speed of 155.635 m.p.h. Yarborough, a stocky, blond veteran, is the season's top money and events winner.

Second-row starters will be

Buddy Baker in a Ford and Richard Petty in a Dodge. Baker's speed was 155.487 m.p.h. and Petty's 154.736.

Donnie Allison will start a Chevrolet in the fifth position. He qualified at 153.886 m.p.h. while Gary Bettenhausen, a top regular on the United States Auto Club big car circuit, placed his Matador sixth with a speed of 153.685.

An early morning hailstorm delayed the start of an otherwise crowded qualifying day about two hours, resulting in a slight drop in lap speeds.

West Girls Take A Win

South Greenville rolled to a 23-8 victory over West Greenville in a girls ball game Saturday.

Beverly Clark led South Greenville with five hits, all singles. Overall, South Greenville put together 29 hits. Shirley Moye, Janice Smith and Zelma Parker each added four, while Betty Perkins, Dorothy Moye and Debra Mumes each had three. Yvonne Spalding led West Greenville with two of their 10 hits.

South Greenville scored four runs in the first, then added three in the second and three more in the third. They got four in the fourth, four more in the seventh and five in the eighth. West Greenville was held scoreless until the sixth, when they got three. They added three more in the seventh and two in the eighth.

Exchange Rally Slips By Moose

Exchange rallied for four sixth inning runs to pull out a 6-5 win over the Moose and ice to a tie for the title in the Tar Heel League.

Exchange is now 10-2. The Elks are the only other team with a shot at Exchange but it is a slim one.

The Moose had gotten an early 3-0 lead on a pair of homers in first and added runs in the fourth and fifth to lead by 5-2. But the Exchange offense came through with four runs to take the lead and the defense preserved it in the bottom of the frame.

Mark Sasser singled for the Moose in the first with one out and scored as David Carroll blasted one over the fence. Ricky West took a hint and put one out as the Moose went on top, 3-0.

Steve Irwin doubled in the Exchange second and took third when Eric Deal reached on an error. Allen Clark got a hit to drive him in.

The Moose scored again in the fourth. Ashley Taylor hit a two-out single and went to second on a passed ball. Sasser singled him across.

Exchange got another in the top of the fifth as Mark Douglas doubled and scored on a hit by Gordon Douglas. The Moose got it back the bottom of the inning with Dwayne Alligood scoring on an error. He had walked and been sacrificed to second. David Vaughn singled him to third to set up the scoring play.

Then in the top of the sixth, the bottom fell out for the Moose. Deal led off with a hit and rode a passed ball to second. Clark walked and Eddie Moye reached on an error scoring Deal. Clark moved to third. Douglas reached on a fielder's choice as Clark was nailed trying to score. Gordon Douglas hit a sacrifice fly bringing in Moye who went to third on the previous play.

Charles Daise singled to drive in Mark Douglas with the tying run. A single by Al Shackelford put Gordon Douglas on third and a passed ball scored him with the winning run.

Taylor singled and moved around to third on a pair of passed balls in the bottom of the sixth for the Moose and Carroll walked and stole second but the failed to score.

Summerell Begins Drills

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Workouts began Saturday for the Coaches All-America Football Game with nine players missing but eight of them in sight.

The game next Saturday night is expected to draw a crowd of more than 43,000. East Coach Johnny Majors of Pittsburgh said five of his absent players were expected for Sunday's workout.

West Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma had four absentees, but three missing players were accounted for.

Only linebacker David Smith of Oklahoma will be unable to play. He has had knee surgery.

Running backs Wilbur Jackson of Alabama and Barty Smith of Richmond, first-round draft choices of San Francisco and Green Bay, respectively, lead the East. Defensively, the East leader is All-America line-backer Randy Gradishar of Ohio State.

The West is led by Jesse Freitas, San Diego State quarterback who topped the nation in total offense last year. He will team with All-America flanker Lynn Swann of Southern California, a first-round draft pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Defensively for the West, the line is headed by 285-pound Bill Sandifer, a first-round choice of San Francisco.

Ex-Texas Tech quarterback Joe Barnes will alternate with Freitas. The East quarterbacks are Carl Summerell of East Carolina, Andy Johnson of Georgia and Norris Weese of Mississippi.

Switzer and Majors will use variations of the pro-I formation.

Top Swimmer Signs At ECU

John McCauley, a 6-foot-7, 210-pound prep All-America freestyler from Charlotte, N.C., tops a group of East Carolina swim signees announced Tuesday by head swim coach Ray Scharf.

McCauley, who won North Carolina State championships in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle, also holds Atlantic Seaboard championships in the 50 and 110 free. His times of 21.9 in the 50 and 48.2 in the 100 are comparable to existing East Carolina freshman records. McCauley is expected to be a front line swimmer next season with the transfer of the Pirates' No. 1 sprinter to the University of Delaware.

"It goes without saying that John will be an asset to our program," Scharf believes. "He has excellent ability which is amplified by the fact that he is still relatively young in terms of age and competition."

Two swimming signees to the Southern Conference champion Pirates come from Petty School in Hightstown, N. J. One, Gary Pabst, fills an important recruiting gap stressed in 1974. Pabst, according to Scharf, is "one of the best freshman backstrokers ever signed at East Carolina." Pabst, with times of 56.8 in the 100 back and 2:02.00 in the 200 backstroke, will fortify East Carolina's backstroke problems and also provide a solid competitor in the individual medley. All of Pabst's prep times are better than existing East Carolina freshman records. One, the 200 back, is one and one-half seconds better than the varsity record.

The second Petty School signee is Allan Clancy, a freestyler and butterflyer from Wayne, N. J. Clancy is rated as a good all-around swimmer with potential front line use in the butterfly and freestyle events. He is also rated a very capable swimmer in the individual medley.

Clancy is rated as a good all-around swimmer with potential front line use in the butterfly and freestyle events. He is also rated a very capable swimmer in the individual medley.

"These signees represent the start of one of our best recruiting years," Scharf said. "It is a good year because of the number of freshmen coming in (probably 15 or 20) including walkons and other top prospects. The number is important, but what makes this number more important is that the quality and ability is excellent."

East Carolina has won eight consecutive Southern Conference swimming championships including an unprecedented sweep of all 18 events in the 1974 championships this past spring.

Lions Claw Win From Kiwanis

Two second inning runs provided the margin as the Lions retained a share of first place in the North State League yesterday as they ripped Kiwanis, 18-4.

The Lions are tied with the Optimists. Both teams have records of 10-2. Kiwanis falls to 3-9.

The Lions went to work in the opening frame getting four runs. Kraeger singled with one out and Pater paced doubled. Two straight wild pitches scored the two runners. Arthur Fletcher singled as did Allen Collier. Fletcher was forced stealing home. Another hit, by Shelton Wilson put Collier on second and a wild pitch moved both up.

A double by Herman King scored Collier and Wilson. Kiwanis struggled to put their first run up in the bottom of the frame as Sterling Ashby reached on a fielder's choice and moved around on a passed ball and a hit and scored on an error. The Lions added two more in the second giving them the winning run. Roger Williams led off with a double and scored on a passed ball after taking third on a wild pitch. Pace was safe on an error and was wild pitched to second. He stole third and scored on another wild pitch.

The Lions added five in the third getting a lead-off home run by Wilson. Scott Galloway stole home for the Lions in the fourth after singling. His team put up five in the fifth and one in the sixth.

The other four runs came across for the Kiwanis in the third. Skip Hill doubled and Skip Topping singled him in. Howard Moye walked and Grant Stackhouse singled to lead the sacks. Jay Whitehurst hit into a fielder's choice that was booted letting Topping score and keeping the bases full. Michael Clemmons singled in Moye. A walk to Tom Brown scored Stackhouse.

College View Nips NCNB; Dairyemen Win

College View pulled into a tie with Home Builders for the lead in the Babe Ruth League with a 1-0 victory over North Carolina National Bank yesterday. Carolina Dairy downed Planters Bank, 5-3, in the other game.

Both Home Builders and College View now post 7-2 records, while NCNB is 3-6. Carolina Dairy is 5-4, while Planters is 0-9.

Greg Lassiter tossed a two hitter for Planters Bank, but it did him no good. He struck out five, but walked 12, and that was what hurt.

Carolina Dairy loaded the bases in the first inning, but it wasn't until the second that they finally came up with a run. Ricky Robinson walked and Mike Williams did too. Randy Hodges reached on a fielder's choice, and walks to Gary Chapman and Sid Ashby brought in Robinson and Williams.

Planters came up with two in the third to tie it up. Jarvis Campbell reached on a two base error and Mac Stokes was safe on another. Freager Sanders grounded out, scoring Campbell, and a double by Steve Manning brought over Stokes. Carolina Dairy inched back into the lead with one run in the bottom of the fourth. Williams walked and moved up on a passed ball. He took third on an infield out, and scored when Chapman grounded out, making it 3-2.

The other two runs crossed the plate for the Dairyemen in the fifth inning. Larry Boyette walked and Darryl Roebuck got a free trip. Both stole a base, and Robinson singled to right, driving in both runners for a 5-2 lead.

The other Planters Bank run came in the seventh inning. Sanders doubled and moved to third on a wild pitch. Steve Manning hit a sacrifice fly to drive him in with the final run of the game.

The second game was a pitching duel all the way between Dave Middleton of NCNB and Jeff Aldridge of College View. Both ended up with two hitters. Middleton struck out two, and walked three as he had a no hitter going until the fifth inning when Reggie Spain beat a roller to third. The other hit, also an infield single by Mike Shank didn't figure in because of two errors.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY REELE

You have probably noticed the advertisements for the new Associated Press Sports Almanac for 1974 that have appeared in the Daily Reflector recently.

We received our copy Friday, and have had a chance to glance through it since then. It's packed with information about nearly every sport you can name.

Of course, like most books of its type, it's somewhat dated by the time it is off the presses. Simply because of the sports world's ever changing nature, no book on it can be considered up-to-the-minute.

For instance, the book still lists Babe Ruth's 714 home runs as the major league record. But there is a note that all records are through January 1, 1974, in baseball. Then, there is a section following that covers Aaron's historic 715th homer.

There are very few sports that you can name that aren't covered by the book as it goes from Angling and Fishing to Yachting. Records are given, results of top events, along with profiles of some of the outstanding personalities of the sports.

And even Greenville has gotten into the act. On page 321, it talks about the victory of Notre Dame over Alabama, and say "Freshman Al Hunter promptly restored the lead to Notre Dame when he returned the next kickoff 93 yards, a Sugar Bowl record."

For the sports nut, it appears to be a good buy.

And noting that Gaylord Perry has now won 11 straight games, you might be interested in knowing what the record for consecutive wins in the majors is.

That record was originally set by Tim Keefe of New York (NL) back in 1888. It was tied in 1912 by Rube Marquard, hurling for the same team.

The record? It's 19 in a row. So Gaylord still has a way to go before it gets that far. But wouldn't it be nice to see him win 20 in a row. The Cy Young Award would just about be his for the second time if he were to do it.

That record, by the way, is one of those gleaned from the AP Sports Almanac.

We've been watching across the office the success of the Hotline that's been installed, and in the years past, we've often considered a somewhat abbreviated type.

If you have sports questions, or problems, or would just like to let your feelings be known on a subject, drop us a line.

Please do include your name and address. We'll try to get a little interest going in this type of column.

New York Trips Dodgers By 4-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Rusty Staub drove in two runs with a single and homer and left-hander Jerry Koosman stifled the Los Angeles attack after a shaky start, leading the New York Mets to a 4-1 victory over the Dodgers Saturday.

Staub singled home the New York's second run in a two-run first inning, then hit his ninth homer in the fourth as the Mets snapped a four-game losing streak in the nationally televised baseball game.

The Dodgers, the commanding leaders of the National League West, jumped on Koosman immediately. Dave Lopes opened the game with a loop double to right and Bill Russell followed with a run-scoring single.

But Koosman, 6-4, then took command in breaking a personal two-game losing streak and winning for the first time since May 25. He allowed only five hits for the rest of the game, finishing with a seven-hitter. Koosman struck out five and walked none.

There was a mild dispute in the fifth when knuckeball pitcher Charlie Hough relieved Dodger starter Doug Rau, 5-2, after Felix Millan had singled in New York's third run. Catcher Steve Yeager went to the dugout for a larger glove and Mets' Manager Yogi Berra questioned the legal size of the glove. Tom Gorman, umpire crew chief, ordered the glove measured between innings and it was found to be within the legal limit.

Rau, who had won three straight games, walked Don Hahn to open the Mets' first, and Felix Millan singled Hahn to second. George Theodore sacrificed both runners, and Millan scored on Cleon Jones' grounder. Staub then singled, giving the Mets the lead.

Millan's single in the fifth scored Hahn, who had doubled with one out.

Astros Rally To Nip Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Pinch-hitter Cliff Johnson's two-run homer capped a five-run eighth-inning rally that carried the Houston Astros to an 8-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

Doug Rader drove in two runs with a double and Tommy Helms knocked in Rader with a single prior to Johnson's home run, his fourth of the baseball season, off relief pitcher Horacio Pina.

Two-run homers by Bill Madlock and Billy Williams featured a seven-run rally in the fourth which gave the Cubs a 7-3 lead before the Houston uprising.

Rick Monday, who had two hits in the big inning, started the Chicago fourth with a single and Madlock followed with his third homer of the season.

Detroit In Wild Rally To Ease Past Kansas City By 11-9 Score

DETROIT (AP) — Aurelio Rodriguez' two-out, three-run homer capped a wild five-run rally in the ninth inning and gave the Detroit Tigers an 11-9 victory over the Kansas City Royals Saturday.

Grid Camp Is Set For ECU

Pat Dye's first East Carolina Football Camp is continuing to accept applications with the opening of the week-long camp just a month away (July 15). Camp Director Watson Brown is "fairly pleased" so far with applications. To date, a majority of the applications have come through area football coaches. Brown would like to see "more younger people" attend the camp because "it is a great chance to learn football fundamentals and have a good time." "We have designed this camp as an outstanding learning experience," Brown said, "but hand in hand with the learning and teaching of football, everyone will have fun. All of the university's facilities will be available to campers. That includes the swimming pool, Mingos Coliseum, the track, tennis courts, weight rooms, and baseball fields." The football camp is something new in area football camps. It will run from July 15 through July 20. The purpose is to strive for football excellence through development and perfection of football skills. Major camp emphasis will be placed on sound offensive and defensive fundamentals including running, passing and receiving. For older participants and interested coaches, the "Wishbone" offense will be taught by Coach Pat Dye and his staff. "It is very important to point out the combination of things we have put together," Brown believes. "First, the day to day camp theme will be individual instruction and development. Coach Dye and all seven assistants will be available to work with the campers. Second, we have priced the camp in hopes of attracting campers young and old (high school). The cost is $95.00 per person or $60.00 for day campers. That includes housing in supervised university dormitories, meals in university operated cafeterias, insurance for all campers, supervised and qualified medical care."

6 lead going into the final inning. A run-scoring double by Al Kaline and RBI single by Marvin Lane preceded Rodriguez' game-winning blast. Fran Healy's two-run single capped Kansas City's rally with two out in the eighth. The Royals were losing 6-5 when they began their rally. John Mayberry started the uprising by drawing a two-out walk off reliever John Hiller. Hal McRae sent Mayberry to third with a single and went to second on the relay throw from the outfield. Jim Wohlford was walked intentionally, loading the bases. Al Cowens singled to left, scoring Mayberry and McRae, then Healy climaxed the rally with his base hit to right, driving in Wohlford and Cowens. A run-scoring single by Bill Freehan in the Tigers' seventh

Indians Slap Minnesota, 5-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Oscar Gamble smashed a two-run double in the first inning and Jack Brohamer and Dave Duncan later added home runs, leading the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday. With two outs in the first, Gamble doubled into the left field corner, following singles by Brohamer and Charlie Spikes. The Indians scored their third run in the third inning off Bert Blyleven. John Lowenstein singled and moved to third on Spikes' single. George Hendrick doubled home Lowenstein. In the fourth inning, Brohamer made it 4-0 when he hit his second home run of the season over the right field fence.

First Summer Meet Is Held

There was a moderate turnout yesterday for the summer's first East Carolina Track and Field Assoc. meet.

The meet had one quintuple-winner, four triple winners and 11 double winners. Harold Lilly won five events and finished second in five others in the 25-34 men's age group. He qualified for the decathlon to be held in Knoxville, Tenn.

Triple winners were Tom Sayetta, Calvin Clemons, Glenn Davis and Mike Davis.

Tourney Ticket Drive To Begin

The Greenville University City Kiwanis Club will kickoff its ticket sale campaign for the Senior Babe Ruth Regional Baseball Tournament on Monday.

The Tournament is scheduled for August 2-7 at Guy Smith Stadium, and will involve teams from eight Southeastern states as well as a team representing Greenville. The University City Kiwanis Club is acting as host and sponsor for the event.

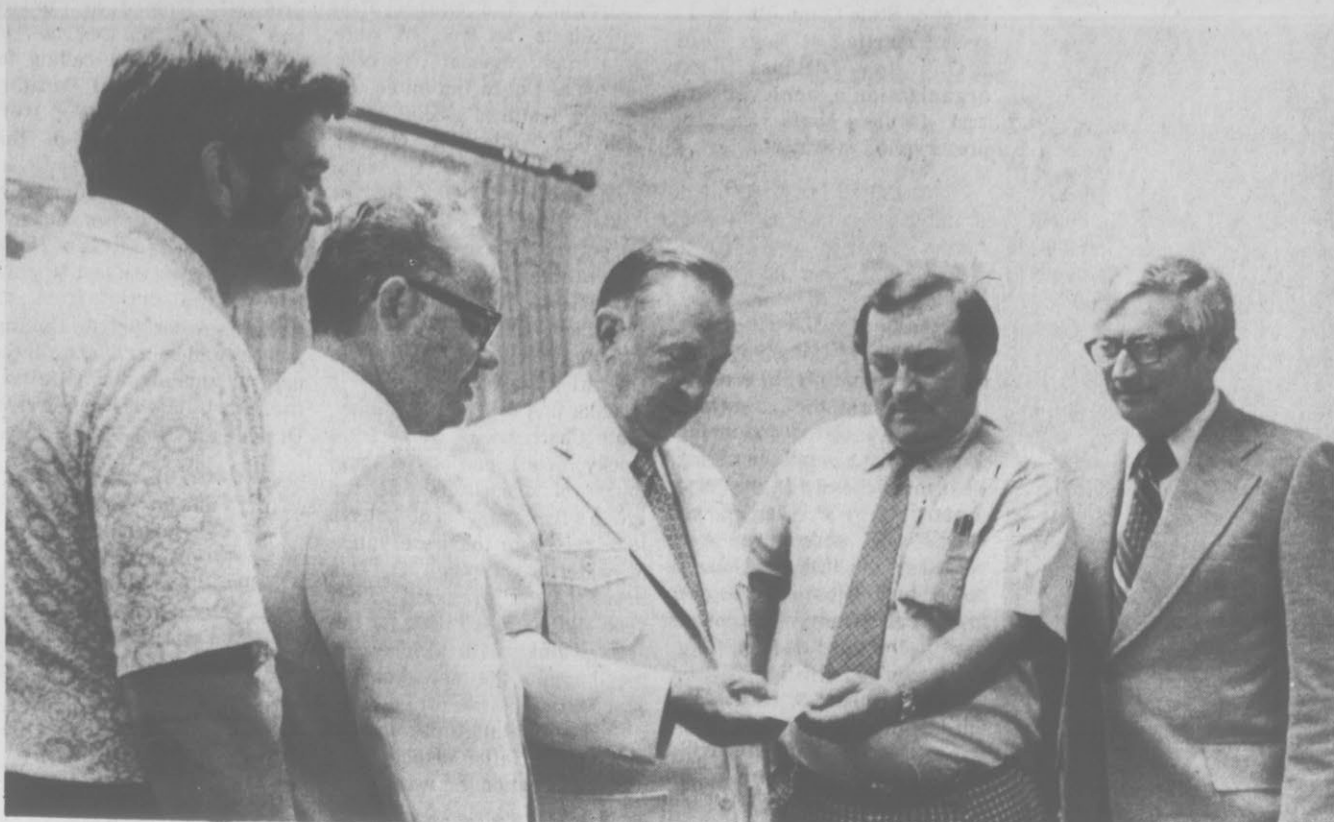

From more than 1,000 teams, the final nine teams will be drawn, and will be in competition for the right to represent the Southeastern Region in the national tournament. The teams, besides the Greenville entry, will include the state champions from North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia.

The tournament will operate under a double-elimination format.

Joe Wilson, chairman of the ticket sales, kicked off the sale campaign by presenting the first book of tickets to Greenville Mayor Eugene West. "It's a pleasure to have this tournament in Greenville," the mayor said in accepting the tickets. "We will welcome all our friends from the Southeastern region here."

All members of the University City Kiwanis Club will have tickets available. Books are for all ten sessions, and will save $5 over the individual ticket costs.

"This is one of the largest projects ever undertaken by our club," University Kiwanis president Ed Harris said. "We hope that the people of Pitt County will respond favorably to the sale of tickets. The proceeds will be used in furthering the many youth service projects sponsored by the club during the coming year."

Rocky Mount handed the Greenville American Legion Baseball team another loss Friday night rolling past Greenville, 8-1.

Greenville prevented a shutout in the second as they got their only run in that inning. It briefly tied the game, 1-1, but Rocky Mount opened it up in the third with three runs and bottled up Greenville for the remaining innings.

James Well led off the first with a triple for Rocky Mount and scored on a sacrifice by Tommy Warren.

Greenville came back with a run in the bottom of the second. Gil Whitford reached on a fielder's choice and scored as walks to Jerry Griffin, Keith Jones and Al Heath forced Whitford in.

An error in the third cost Greenville two runs. Wells got on by a walk and moved up on a passed ball. Tommy Crocker reached on an error scoring Wells. Hilton Sykes singled Crocker to third and Sykes stole second. A single by Jeff Collins scored Crocker and a ground out brought in Sykes.

Wells scored a third time in the fourth. Greg Proctor had led off the frame getting a single. Two wild pitches moved him to third and a walk put Wells on. Crocker singled driving in Proctor and Wells, who had taken second on a wild pitch.

Collins doubled in the fifth and scored on Burt Robinson's hit adding another run to the Rocky Mount score. The final tally came over in the eighth Doug Griffin was hit by a pitch and eventually scored on a hit by Crocker.

Greenville had ample opportunity to score as they left twelve men stranded on base. They had men in scoring position in the first, second, fourth, and ninth but could not get the hits to bring any men around.

Rocky Mount's Griffin struck out nine Greenville batters and walked eight giving up five hits. Rocky Mt. 103 210 010—8 1 1 Greenville 010 000 000—1 5 1

Aaron Slaps 11th Home Run

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

Henry Aaron is ... well, as Atlanta Manager Eddie Mathews put it, "Aaron is Aaron. What more can I say?"

Well, he could say that pitcher Roric Harrison was making like Bad Henry.

Aaron slammed a Bob Gibson pitch for a solo home run — No. 11 this year and No. 724 for his career — and added a run-scoring double while Harrison drilled a two-run homer to power the Braves past St. Louis 6-1 Friday night for their 20th victory in the last 27 games.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Houston 10-7, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 4-2, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati slugged Philadelphia 7-4 and San Diego nipped Montreal 5-4.

"I've been lucky off Gibson," said Aaron, who has hit eight homers off the Cardinals' ace in his career. "I hit a fastball. He was throwing the ball good but he got it in a bad spot," Hank said of his second-inning shot.

That's pretty much what happened with Harrison up in the third. "He hung a slider," the Braves' pitcher explained. "He struck me out on sliders in the first inning and I wasn't going to let it happen again. I swung at the first pitch

R.C. Cola In Win Over Coke

R. C. had to squelch a fifth inning rally by Coca-Cola Friday to preserve an 8-6 win in the North State League for their fifth victory of the year.

R. C. had taken a 1-0 lead in the second and then rallied for seven in the fourth to jump out by 8-0. Coke put together a rally in the fifth netting six runs. They were shut out in the sixth as they fell for the tenth time this year. R. C. broke the ice in the second. Jeff Worthington singled and moved to second on an error on the play. Two more errors let him come around to score.

Both teams put a man in the third but could not score. In the fourth R. C. banged out six hits ruing up seven scores. Larry Jones reached on an error and Worthington singled. Stacy Mills singled to load the bases and a hit by Doug Berry scored Worthington and Jones.

Rob Rood singled to score Mills and Berry, who had stolen second. Chip Davis reached on a fielder's choice moving Rood to third and a double by David Holley brought both Rood and Davis around.

Coke began to fight back in the top of the fifth and pushed over six runs before faltering. Jeff Camp singled and Barry Tyson doubled. Billy Brannigan walked filling the bases. Chucky Allen singled in Camp and moved Tyson to third. Lee Hardee reached on a fielder's choice when Tyson was nailed at home.

a seven-run third inning and completed the explosion with a run-scoring single. But perhaps the hitting took the pitching out of him.

After Chicago built an 8-3 lead, Houston bombed the Chicago starter from the mound with a four-run fourth, three of them coming on Bob Watson's homer.

Pirates 4, Giants 2
Dock Ellis stuck to pitching and let the Pittsburgh hitters do their share. Ellis pitched a four-hitter and got help from Richie Zisk, who belted a two-run double, and Willie Stargell, who slugged his 10th homer of the year.

Dodgers 3, Mets 2
Tom Paciorek drove in two runs with a triple and a single to help the Dodgers beat New York and snap only their second three-game losing streak of the year.

Reds 7, Phils 4
Mike Schmidt both helped and hurt the Phillies. He helped by belting two home runs — but he hurt by making a costly error in Cincinnati's six-run third inning which ultimately gave the Reds the victory.

Padres 5, Expos 4
Derrel Thomas drove in four San Diego runs with an inside-the-park homer and a single in the first inning and I wasn't going to let it happen again. I swung at the first pitch American League scores: Minnesota 8, Cleveland 2; Baltimore 2, Chicago 1; Kansas City 4, Detroit 3; Texas 7, Milwaukee 2; New York 5, Oakland 1 and California 4, Boston 3, 15 innings.

An error let Brannigan score and it moved Allen and Hardee up a base. Mark Jones walked and a hit by Jonathan McGee scored Allen and Hardee. Jones scored on Camp's second hit of the inning.

The rally ended there and Coke went down in order in the sixth.

Camp had three hits for Coke and Worthington had two for R. C.

College View, NCNB Post Wins In Babe Ruth League Games

College View pulled within half-a-game of league leading Home Builders with an 8-7 come-from-behind win over Carolina Dairy Friday night in the Babe Ruth League. In the other game, NCNB won its second straight with a 6-4 victory over Pepsi-Cola.

College View, prior to Saturday's BR games, held a 6-2 mark, while Carolina Dairy was 4-4, NCNB was 3-5, and Pepsi-Cola was 5-4.

College View pushed over the first run in the opener, getting a tally in the second. Ross Hawkins singled, then stole second. He advanced when Mike Shank reached on an error and scored when Jeff Aldridge grounded out.

Carolina Dairy came up with a pair in the fourth to take the lead. Larry Boyette was hit by a pitch and sacrificed up. Ricky Robinson walked and Bobby Woronoff reached on an error, scoring Boyette. Robinson and Woronoff were both caught on third as the play wound up, and while College View was chasing Woronoff down, Robinson managed to race in for a 2-1 lead.

Two more came over for the Dairy in the fifth. Randy Hodges singled and moved up on a passed ball, scoring on John Coffman's double. Sid Ashby singled to drive in Coffman for a 4-1 lead.

Carolina Dairy seemed to put it away with three more in the sixth, taking a 7-1 advantage. Woronoff walked, as did Steve McClanahan. Hodges singled to load them up, and a double by Gary Chapman brought in all three runners.

But College View didn't give up, storming back for four in the bottom of the sixth. Aldridge led off with a hit and Reggie Spain got another. Marshall Crumpler walked to load them up. Jay Chenier singled, driving in both Aldridge and Spain. An error on the play let Crumpler score, and moved Chenier all the way to third, from where he scored on Mike Sutton's hit.

Still two runs down, College View came up with three to win it in the seventh. Aldridge singled with one down. Then with two away, Joey Downing reached on an error. Ricky Bolonde singled to score Aldridge, and a passed ball let Downing score the tying run.

Another then let Bolonde come in with the game-winning run. Pepsi-Cola came out hot in the first inning and collected three runs for the lead. Marty Worthington walked and Billy Ellington reached on an infield hit. Henry Baker also walked, loading them up. Derek Brewington reached on an error, scoring Worthington, and Tony Worthington was hit by a pitch, bringing in Ellington. Worth Albea's walk scored Baker for the 3-0 lead.

NCNB came up with one in the bottom of the frame. Doug Selby walked and stole second. Dave Middleton singled and an error on the play plated Selby.

The Bankers then came up with two more in the second to tie it up. Jesse Baker reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on a passed ball. Howard Vainright walked and Selby reached on a fielder's choice. Dave Middleton singled in Baker, and an error let Vainright score also, with the tying run.

NCNB added two more in the third, taking a 5-3 lead. Joel Clark singled and stole second. Joey Cherry reached on an error, scoring Clark. Cherry moved to second on the play and took third on a passed ball, scoring on Baker's single.

Pepsi came up with one in the fourth. Albea singled and took second on a wild pitch. He moved to third on an out, and scored on an error when Marty Worthington walked, and stole second.

The final NCNB run came in the fifth. Jerome Ross doubled and moved up on a wild pitch. Bryant Morton grounded out, allowing Ross to score the insurance run.

Pepsi-Cola Nips Graniteers, 7-6

Pepsi-Cola kept its fading hopes alive in the Tar Heel Little League Friday with a 7-6 win over the upstart Graniteers.

The win left Pepsi with a 6-6 record, while the Graniteers fell off to a 4-8 mark.

The Graniteers scored first, pushing over three runs in the top of the first inning. Mike James singled and stole second. Steve Holloman reached on a walk, and Lance Searle was safe on a fielder's choice. Greg Tolar walked, forcing in James, and Garrett Young reached on an error, letting Holloman score.

Stuart Satterthwaite was hit by a pitch, forcing in Searle with the third run.

The Graniteers added two more in the third. Young walked and Satterthwaite reached on an error. Jeff James reached on a fielder's choice, and Miccah Dixon hit a sacrifice fly to score Young. James singled in Satterthwaite to make it 5-0.

Pepsi began its comeback with three in the bottom of the third. Mark Shank reached on a two-base error and Mickey McGrath reached on an infield hit. David McClanahan reached on a fielder's choice, and Mike Campbell singled in Shank. Rickey Sutton walked to score McGrath and a hit by Scott Dupree let McClanahan score.

Three more crossed in the fourth as Pepsi took a 6-5 lead. Shank singled and McGrath walked. McClanahan scored when Sutton reached on a fielder's choice.

Pepsi got what proved to be the winning run in the fifth. Shank walked and scored when McClanahan tripled.

The Graniteers got one more run in the sixth, but couldn't catch up. Dixon doubled, took third on James' hit and scored when Mike Moyer doubled.

KFC Clinches Tie For First

Kentucky Fried Chicken clinched no worse than a tie for the Gold Division title in the City Softball League Friday night. They need only to win one more game to wrap up the title.

Meanwhile, the Little Sluggers cut their magic number to two by winning their game in the Purple Division.

In the opening game on Field One, Hallow's upset White's Insulation, 12-9. White's scored twice in the first, one in the second and once in the third for a 4-0 lead. But Hallow's came up with six in the fourth to take the lead. They added one in the fifth and two in the sixth, then pushed in three more in the seventh. White's rallied for three in the sixth and two in the seventh, but couldn't catch up.

Pier 5 kept its fading hopes alive with a 23-5 win over Shirley's in the second game. Pier 5 rushed over nine runs in the first, with Leggett homering. They added three in the second, eight in the third, one in the fourth and two in the sixth for their total. Shirley's got four in the third and one in the sixth.

In the last game, Kentucky Fried Chicken rolled to a 27-7 romp over Carolina Dairy. KFC got a pair in the first with M. Aldridge homering. They added seven in the second, six in the third, three in the fifth, and one in the sixth, including a homer by J. Childers. Carolina Dairy got one each in the first and fifth, and five in the sixth.

In the replay of a protested game on Field Two, Daniel Construction dominated University Seafood, 22-14. Daniel got seven in the first, while University got six, with Vines and Hawkins homering. Daniel scored two in the second, but University tied it up at 10-10 with three in their half of the second. University pushed ahead with two in the third, but Daniel pushed in five in the fourth, including a homer by Collins for the lead. They added five in the fifth and three in the sixth. University added three more in the fifth.

Ducks Unlimited Meeting Held

The Ducks Unlimited North Carolina State Committee held a recent meeting at Nags Head, N.C. to discuss the organization's achievements and future goals for the preservation of waterfowl.

Attended by approximately 35 sportsmen and conservation enthusiasts, as well as state, area and regional representatives of Ducks Unlimited, the meeting featured special guests including William K. DuPont, Wilmington, Del., D. U. Senior Vice President; Dan Denton, Atlanta, Ga., D. U. Regional Director; Lawson Hayes, Spartanburg, S.C., South Atlantic Regional Vice President; and E. J. Ruffing, Chicago, Ill., D. U. Field Operation Supervisor.

The grounds for nesting are primarily located in Canada, and Ducks Unlimited has instituted a program calling for the reconstruction of Canadian marshlands which were previously destroyed in that region.

Ruffing also stated that another five years of preservation tactics would stabilize the duck population indefinitely. He said that efforts for the gigantic task of rehabilitating and preserving the primary nesting grounds in Canada have been highly successful.

Carolina Committee of Ducks Unlimited boasts an impressive record for 1973 in several areas. According to recently compiled statistics, North Carolina ranks 12th nationally in net income with $134,670 total contributions, eighth nationally in total membership, seventh in net gain of sponsors, having acquired 73 major contributors during 1973, and fifth in the income received per Duck Stamp sold.

The national income level for Ducks Unlimited reached the $5,135,000 mark during 1973, with total membership increasing from 77,000 to 92,000 members.

KFC . . .

(Continued From Page B-3) in the next game. They scored a pair in the first, then came back with seven in the second inning, with B. Kuykendall homering. Four more crossed in the third, on homers by P. Fleming and Kuykendall, while seven were scored in the fifth, and one—a homer by J. Gibson—came over in the sixth. Grady-White got one each in the third and fourth. Greenville Utilities nipped Union Carbide, 7-5, to win the third game. Union Carbide got a run in the first, but Greenville Utilities came up with two in the second to grab the lead. They lost it in the third, however, as Union Carbide got two more, including a homer by M. Dixon. GUCo tied it up with one in the fourth, then took the lead with two in the fifth. Union Carbide came back to tie it with one in the fifth and one in the seventh. GUCo pushed over two in the eighth to get the win.

In the final game, Parker's downed the Daily Reflector, 14-11. The Reflector got two in the first, but Parker's tied it with two in the second, then took the lead with four in the third. They added seven in the fourth, and closed out with one in the sixth. The Reflector added two in the third with Carrall homering, then added two in the fourth, four in the fifth and one in the sixth.

According to J. C. D. Bailey, State Chairman of D. U. from Rocky Mount, one of the main topics of discussion was the group's financial goal of $250,000 to be raised for the preservation of waterfowl through D. U.'s preservation program. Last year $135,000 was raised for the state, but with increased membership the new goal of $250,000 has been established. Ducks Unlimited is a non-profit organization dedicated to the conservation of waterfowl.

Bibby, Foucault Get Victory For Rangers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
You really have to hand it to Jim Bibby. And when he can't handle it, you have to hand it to Steve Foucault.

Despite feeling under the weather, Bibby started for the Texas Rangers Friday night and pitched strong baseball for five innings.

When Bibby buckled, Manager Billy Martin brought in his ace relief pitcher — and Foucault nailed down a 7-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Bibby held the Brewers scoreless until the sixth, when they scored a run on singles by Dave May, Don Money and Johnny Briggs. Foucault then came in to retire the side and yielded just one run the rest of the way.

In the other American League games, the Minnesota Twins downed the Cleveland Indians 8-2; the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Chicago White Sox 2-1; the Kansas City Royals turned back the Detroit Tigers 4-3; the New York Yankees trimmed the Oakland A's 5-1 and the California Angels defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-3 in 15 innings.

Twins 8, Indians 2
Eric Soderholm's grand slam home run capped a seven-run explosion in the third inning that carried Minnesota over Cleveland.

The big inning started with consecutive singles by Glenn Borgmann, Luis Gomez, Jerry Terrell and Larry Hise off Bob Johnson, 3-3. The Cleveland starter retired the next two batters but Steve Braun also singled for the third run of the inning, then Craig Kusick walked to load the bases.

Ken Sanders relieved Johnson and Soderholm greeted him with the grand-slam over the left field fence, his fifth homer of the baseball season.

Orioles 2, White Sox 1
Tommy Davis singled in the tying run and Jim Fuller's base hit produced the game-winner in a two-run eighth inning that carried Baltimore past Chicago.

Royals 4, Tigers 3
Successive fifth-inning home runs by John Mayberry and Hal McRae gave Kansas City its victory over Detroit.

Yankees 5, A's 1
Bill Sudakis drove in three runs with a home run and a double to lead New York over slumping Oakland. The A's lost their fourth game in a row and sixth in their last seven.

Angels 4, Red Sox 3
Denny Doyle ended a marathon, four-hour game with a run-scoring double in the 15th inning, giving California its victory over Boston. Mickey Rivers lined a one-out single off Luis Tiant, 8-6, who had outlasted California's Nolan Ryan, and then scored on Doyle's double into the left field corner.

Ryan had pitched brilliantly until departing after 13 innings. The California ace struck out 19 batters, two short of the major league record for extra-inning games.

Presented as a CONSUMER SERVICE by your CONSUMER OWNED ELECTRIC UTILITY

As a consumer service, your consumer owned electric utility wants you to know that you can use the electric fan and other ventilation methods to keep cool and comfortable. For instance, that old standby—an electric fan—will improve summer comfort at little cost.

A window fan pushing hot air out of one side of your home, but drawing cooler air from the shady side, is a refreshing, but economical way to keep cool.

what you should know about ventilation & comfort

A ventilator fan can be effectively installed into the upper ceiling to pull air through the house and push it into the attic. Or it can be situated in the attic to ventilate that space while pulling air through an opening into the attic.

Most central and window air conditioners may be operated without using the compressor, which allows you to use the fan in these units to provide economical ventilation.

When outside temperature drops below the temperature inside, open your windows to let the heat escape. Close your house tightly during the hottest part of the day. You should also keep out solar heat by closing blinds and draperies of windows exposed to direct sunlight.

The attic temperature often reaches 140 to 160 degrees on hot summer days. An attic fan will exhaust this heat and prevent it from radiating down through your ceiling. Attic fans are economical to operate. Some attic fans come with a thermostat to automatically turn them on or off. Even if your home has electric air conditioning, you can reduce your air conditioning bill by installing an attic fan.

Another excellent way to improve summer comfort is to avoid heat-producing jobs like cooking, washing, ironing or showering during the hottest time of the day.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

When the good Lord was creating Fathers He started with a tall frame.

And a female angel nearby said, "What kind of Father is that? If you're going to make children so close to the ground, why have you put Fathers up so high? He won't be able to shoot marbles without kneeling, tuck a child in bed without bending, or even kiss a child without a lot of stooping."

And God smiled and said, "Yes, but if I make him child-size, who would children have to look up to?"

And when God made a Father's hands, they were large and sinewy.

And the angel shook her head sadly and said, "Do you know what you're doing? Large hands are clumsy. They can't manage diaper pins, small buttons, rubber bands on pony tails or even remove splinters caused by baseball bats."

And God smiled and said, "I know, but they're large enough to hold everything a small boy empties from his pockets at the end of a day... yet small enough to cup a child's face in his hands."

And then God molded long, slim legs and broad shoulders. And the angel nearly had a heart attack. "Boy, this is the end of the week, all right," she clucked. "Do you realize you just made a Father without a lap? How is he going to pull a child close to him without the kid falling between his legs?"

And God smiled and said, "A Mother needs a lap. A Father needs strong shoulders to pull a sled, balance a boy on a bicycle, or hold a sleepy head on the way home from the circus."

God was in the middle of creating two of the largest feet anyone had ever seen when the angel could contain herself no longer. "That's not fair. Do you honestly think those large boats are going to dig out of bed early in the morning when the baby cries? Or walk through a small birthday party without cruising at least three of the guests?"

And God smiled and said, "They'll work. You'll see. They'll support a small child who wants to ride a horse to Banbury Cross," or scare off mice at the summer cabin, or display shoes that will be a challenge to fill."

God worked throughout the night, giving the Father few words, but a firm, authoritative voice; eyes that saw everything, but remained calm and tolerant. Finally, almost as an afterthought, He added—tears. The He turned to the angel and said, "Now, are you satisfied that he can love as much as a Mother?" The angel shuteth up.

Godzilla Still 'Going Strong'

By KAY TATEISHI
TOKYO (AP) — Godzilla, Japan's super monster, once a villain but now a hero, is 20 years old. He is still going strong after starring in 13 movies that have brought his maker $130 million in foreign exchange.

The man-made monster, looking somewhat like a dinosaur, sparked a Japanese monster and sci-fi boom that included movies, toys and books. He also has a legion of fans everywhere.

Godzilla, a cross between a gorilla and a "kujira," the Japanese word for whale, has battled a frightening galaxy of monsters that defy the imagination. He boasts a record of 13 victories, one defeat and one draw in 13 movies. The draw was to King Kong, the super 1933 American giant, whose one movie revival was approved by his American creators, RKO.

Godzilla's only defeat was to Mothra II. The super monster destroys Mothra I in a thunderous battle but forgets that Mothra has left a larva which comes to life and eventually snares Godzilla with its sticky thread used to spin its cocoon. That setback, however, marks a turning point and Godzilla is revived in his next appearance, a friend of man and creatures fighting evil.

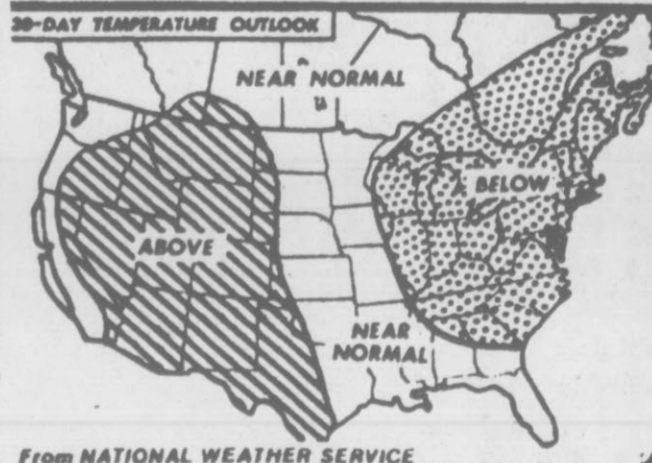

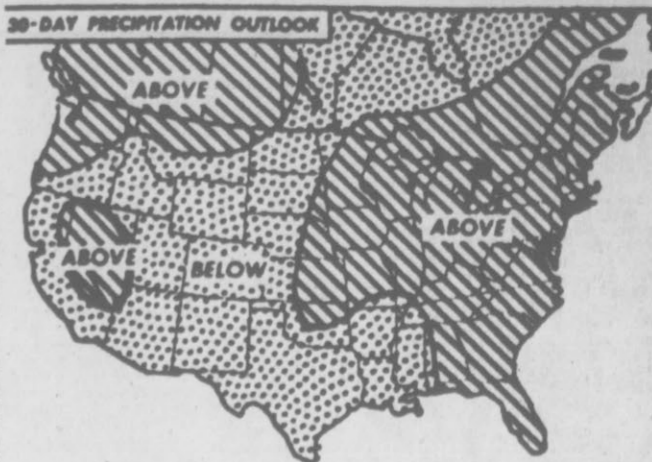

Godzilla was born in the western Pacific near the pearl farms off Shima peninsula, Western Japan, in 1954. He was aroused from his slumber at the bottom of the Pacific due to nuclear reaction and radioactive fallout caused by an American hydrogen bomb test at the Bikini atolls.

Producer Tomoyuki Tanaka says Godzilla was originally a monstrous muted octopus. But Japan's ace special effects man, Eiji Tsuburaya, who died four years ago, had other ideas. He finally came up with a Godzilla that looked like a dinosaur that walked around on its hind legs, spewed thermal fire and growled like a jungle beast. Although Godzilla was no larger than ordinary man, Tsuburaya, best known for his special miniaturized version of the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor, presented him as a prehistoric monster that stood about 165 feet tall and weighed 20,000 tons.

Godzilla became an overnight sensation in his debut, kicking Tokyo, Osaka and other major cities asunder with his ponderous feet and then applying the coup de grace with his thrashing tail. His frightening appearance caught on even in the United States, where movie and later television audiences watched his adventures, and sometimes chuckled at his exploits.

On Godzilla's heels came a menagerie of horrifying creatures that resembled ankylosaurus, ticerators, pterodactylus, trachodon, stegosaur and an often mixed fig-

Gardeners Trying Old-Timey Seeds

DALLAS (UPI) — In Dallas gardening is up 200 per cent over what it was last year and people who never before planted anything except flowers now are going in for vegetables. High prices, satisfaction and physical fitness all figure as reasons.

People even are raising vegetables in the flower beds. Texans, as gardeners everywhere, wonder how much they can expect from their plots, or from tomato plants kept in pots and cans.

"How much they can save on grocery bills, I wouldn't even hazard a guess," says County Agricultural Agent Steve Whelless. They're doing something better than guessing at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Dallas County. They're conducting tests, hoping to come up with good answers to the questions about crop yield.

Listen to Benny Simpson, farm manager and horticulturist with the experiment station:

"In one of the center's gardens, a typical 50 foot by 40 foot size, we've planted potatoes, beets, radishes, turnips, broccoli, cabbage, onions, lettuce and spinach.

"We are trying to see how big a family this little garden will take care of. Intensive vegetable production means keeping the ground occupied with vegetables year 'round." Simpson is conducting another experiment. He has obtained "old timey" vegetable seeds, that is seeds saved from season to season, sometimes for generations, from 50 persons from Mississippi to California.

He is growing them to determine whether they taste better than modern, upgraded varieties. Some old folks think old timey vegetables taste better than hybrid varieties. Simpson thinks this may be because people don't taste things as well when they are older as when they are young. The taste buds aren't as lively.

Computers Helping Summer Campers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Computers are coming to the rescue of summer vacation campers who are finding overnight sites in popular state parks increasingly difficult to find. A computerized campsite reservation system, devised by Ticketron, was pioneered successfully in California in 1971 and was extended to Virginia the following year. Since then, Florida, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania have joined the system which may eventually become nationwide.

The service is available in 1,000 department stores, shopping centers and banks. Computers have information on the space inventory at every campsite, issue reservations for place and time desired, or provide information on alternate camping areas if the preferred site is filled up. The system eliminates the slow process of making reservations by mail or the risky business of finding locations by chance. Guaranteed reservations also will save gallons of precious gasoline and dollars because campers will no longer have to go from park to park looking for space.

"Campsite reservations were a logical extension of the theater-sports-family show concept which has made computerized tickets a nationwide concept in only six years."

PTI Course To Begin Monday

Pitt Technical Institute has a 30-hour course in canvas embroidery beginning at 7 p.m. The class will meet each Monday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Canvas embroidery is the art of embroidering with wool yarns on canvas.

For further information, interested persons may call or visit Pitt Tech.

Card of Thanks

IN MEMORY OF John T. Davis who died June 16, 1973, from his Mama Daddy, brothers and sisters. One year has passed since that sad day when we were told you had passed away. Without you nothing was the same. It still hurts to even call your name. We wonder why you had to die without even a chance to say goodbye, but in Heaven's hall you rest. We loved you so but God loved you best. Sadly missed by, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis, Ruben and Randolph Davis, Mary Francis Crickmore, Betty Lou Hudson, Alice Faye Manning and Polly Sue Davis.

The Iron Horse does it again with the all new Tri-Sport.

TRI-SPORT STREET LEGAL* FOR '74... this beautiful, exciting, vehicle was born of the need for a more economical means of personal transportation where gas consumption and vehicle price is of great concern, as it is today. Take it to school; to work; to shop; to play.

Tri-Sport RTS 290/340... You can't believe the power package on this mid-engine springer. It's a Kohler 290 or 340cc engine delivering up to 28HP, thus providing the most efficient power transmission — source to wheels. Dual Hydraulic Disc Braking brings you to a halt on the proverbial dime. A totally engineered Tri-Sport with a speed and comfort ratio that's hard to believe.

All Tri-Sport 3-Wheelers have many available accessory items for added comfort, work, or dress. Windshields, weather-storage covers, cargo racks with head rests, dune flags, lighting kits, trailer hitches, wheelie wheels... many more. Check your Tri-Sport dealer for additional information.

IS THERE A FORMULA FOR SUCCESS?

Can you begin right now on a career that will let you earn: $10,000 to $20,000 first full year?

The Answer is "Yes!"

Through both boom and recession years, our formula has worked. The earnings above are typical, not exceptional. And dozens and dozens of our people in Sales win advancement, and income of $20,000 to $35,000

You can qualify. Check:

- () Age 22 or over
- () High school or better
- () Sports minded
- () Ambitious, looking for a career, not just work.

CONSIDER THESE FACTS: We're a half century old organization, with annual income near a quarter-billion dollars a year. We are TOP-RATED in our industry.

WE OFFER: 2 weeks training, then $1,000 a month guaranteed immediate earnings. . . Proven sales method (to businessmen and professionals. . . Most of your day spent selling, not "prospecting."

YOU CAN ADVANCE faster in Sales! Your commissions build year by year. We keep training you to move up. NO limit on how fast or far you can progress.

Your career is waiting. Call now for a talk:

Auto Recalls And More Auto Recalls; Here's Why

By EDWARD S. LECHTZIN
UPI Auto Writer
DETROIT (UPI) — One new item automakers should think about installing on their cars is a dashboard light that starts blinking when the car is recalled because of a safety defect.

Such a device might be appropriate with the seemingly endless recall notices almost daily from the auto companies. More than 7 million vehicles were involved in recall campaigns last year, not the most in a single year but still quite a few. There were 251 separate campaigns, the largest involving 3.7 million General Motors' cars and the smallest two motor homes built by Yellowstone.

Since the government began requiring automakers to notify owners of defects on Sept. 9, 1966, almost 45 million wheeled vehicles have been recalled. About one-quarter of them never showed up in dealer service shops.

Why all the defects? First of all, the majority of the cars on which notices are sent out don't have any defects. But the companies aren't sure which do have the defective parts and call back any that are suspected.

"Critics point an indicting finger at the industry because of the millions of cars recalled in recent years," says Philip E. Benton, general manager of Ford's Customer Service Division. "However, only a small minority actually have a safety defect. Last year, Ford recalled 323,000 vehicles in 20 safety inspection campaigns. Only about 18 per cent actually needed a correction. The defect

Girl Claims Cure-Power

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Thousands of people are traveling to a humble home in Banana Hill, 20 miles from here, to see a 19-year-old school girl who claims a divine power of healing.

Sceptics and believers alike are making the pilgrimage to see Margaret Wangari, who has been described by a local clergyman as working through "the hand of God."

Two of her most spectacular cures are claimed to be that of a woman who had been crippled for 10 years and the restoration to normality of a mentally disturbed man who used to run through the capital's streets in the buff.

Margaret claims her powers came to her after she heard the voice of God and saw a vision while attending a Christian camp at Njoro, 50 miles from here. On her return home, she effected two apparent cures and others have been claimed. People are now flocking to see the "miracle worker." It is also rumored she has the Biblical gift of speaking in unknown tongues.

Cash Available At 'Any Time'

WASHINGTON (AP) — It won't be long before Americans can get cash from their banks any time they want — and not be arrested.

Today there are more than 1,500 automated tellers located throughout the United States that allow customers to perform 90 per cent of all their banking business around-the-clock without ever stopping inside a bank, the American Bankers Assn. reports.

These tellers are the evolutionary link between the paper-based (cash and check) banking of today and the electronic banking of tomorrow. Some seven million Americans already hold the magnetically encoded "money cards" that activate these robot tellers which can supplement or even replace branch banks.

Bible School To Begin Monday

Vacation Bible School will start at the Oakmont Baptist Church Monday at 9 a.m. The school will be held daily Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 12 noon for children ages three years through the sixth grade.

Classes for junior high ages will be held each of these evenings from 5-7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Hall is the director for the week.

The evening sessions will begin with a snack supper and will include speakers from other denominations and a presentation of slides taken in the Holy Land.

rate represented only 1.5 per cent of the company's total U.S. sales in 1973."

Biggest Recall GM's
The biggest recall so far this year—1.2 million GM cars and light trucks—bears this out.

On Feb. 15, GM announced the recall campaign for the 1973-74 model cars and light trucks because of a possibly defective vacuum power brake housing. The ultimate effect could be sudden and terrifying loss of braking power.

Only about 1,200 are believed to have the defective unit—just one in 1,000—but GM dealers are making a minor modification that takes about 10 minutes on all the cars owners bring in.

Last August GM agreed to recall all 1971 and 1972 Pontiacs, Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Chevrolets—more than 3.7 million—to install a plastic stoneshield to prevent gravel from becoming lodged in the steering control mechanism.

Since that recall started, about 60 per cent of the cars have been taken care of. But GM says it doesn't consider the condition a safety defect and contends the problem only occurs in rare instances.

Every Car Defect-Prone Quite often, however, there is a defect—a clear danger to anyone in or near the car. How come?

The average automobile is composed of about 15,000 parts and each has an average of 100 characteristics — chemical, metallurgical and dimensional — any of which could present a defect. Each car, then, has a potential of 1.5 million defects.

To combat these staggering odds favoring defects, the auto companies use elaborate safeguards to insure the best possible quality. The sole responsibility of thousands of inspectors is to spot defects before cars leave the assembly plants.

Despite this precaution, experiments have shown that if a person inspects 1,000 units of a given part, 100 of which are defective, it is probable he will miss 15. That leaves 15 motorists driving around with a defect.

What's a Defect?
When defects are discovered, either by the automakers themselves or by outside sources, the government must be notified "within a reasonable time" and a certified letter must be sent to the original purchaser.

The whole thing revolves on what is considered a defect.

GM, more than any auto company, has fought attempts to classify some problems as defects. In some cases, it won't admit that a problem even exists.

When an auto company and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) disagree over what constitutes a defect, the government has two choices. It can issue a consumer warning bulletin, saying it considers that a defect exists—but it can't order a recall. That's the action the NHTSA took in May regarding 4.4 million 1969-70 Chevrolets which it said have defective steering wheels. GM disagrees, saying no defect exists and the only failures that have been reported have occurred on cars that have undergone extremely heavy use.

Government Can Sue
The government's other avenue is through the courts, a lengthy process that still has not resulted in any recalls.

In February federal transportation officials filed a $400,000 suit against GM and asked that the automaker be forced to notify owners of 1959 and 1960 Cadillacs of an alleged steering control defect. Even if GM does lose the case, the most it will have to do is notify the owners, not recall the estimated 60,000 of the cars still on the road.

In another case, the NHTSA's finding of a defect in the wheels of 150,000 Chevrolet and GM pickup trucks was challenged by GM and the case has been pending in a federal court in Washington for more than four years. That's the prime reason the NHTSA in recent months has stepped up its campaign of consumer warning bulletins, hoping the added public pressure on automakers might move them to recall even more of their vehicles.

Owens-Everette Vows Exchanged On Friday

BELVOIR—The Belvoir Free Will Baptist Church was the scene of the Friday evening wedding ceremony of Patricia Ann Everette and Billy Wayne Owens.

The 8:00 p.m., double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Willie Bell Jr. A program of nuptial music was presented by Vickie Carter, pianist, and Bobby Harris, vocalist, both of Greenville. Harris sang, "One Hand, One Heart," "Let It Be Me" and the "Wedding Prayer."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Odell Everette of Rt. 6, Greenville, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Melvin Owens of Greenville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of bridal satin trimmed with lace. She wore an elbow length veil and carried a nosegay of daisies and carnations.

The honor attendant was Bonnie Mayo of Greenville. She was dressed in a pink satin gown overlaid with floral nylon and carried a long-stemmed mum with pink, white and lavender streamers.

Bridesmaids were Donna Everette, sister-in-law of the bride, Diane Owens, sister of the bridegroom, and Terry Carraway, all of Greenville. Jeannette Everette and Denise Everette of Bethel, cousins of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

They wore lavender satin gowns overlaid with floral nylon and each carried a long-stemmed mum with lavender streamers.

The flower girl was Stacey Dell of Tarboro. She was dressed like the honor attendant and carried a basket filled with flower petals. Greg Owens of Greenville, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Ushers were Dan Owens, brother of the bridegroom, Ronnie Carraway, Elmo Everette and Tracy Everette, brothers of the bride, all of Greenville. The father of the bridegroom was best man.

Tom Bullock Gives Program

Tom Bullock, with Servicemaster, presented the program at the business luncheon of the Pitt County Association of Insurance Women held Wednesday.

The speaker told how the professional cleaning service began and how it grew to become a world-wide business. He explained the procedure used by Servicemaster.

Georgia Hall, Linda Whitaker and Marian Smith were recognized for having become licensed agents in the fire and casualty line.

Hilda Pinkham gave the proposed budget and the club voted to sponsor the bloodmobile for a day.

Air Force Man Salutes Wife

By NICK ALLEN
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Air Force Sgt. Mark Weiss not only opens doors for his wife, Suzanne, he salutes her. That's because she is an Air Force lieutenant.

Six months after they were married Mark was sworn in. Suzanne had enlisted a month before. Soon they will split up for training, but within a few months they hope to be together at Edward Air Force Base, Calif. — she working as a nurse, he as an aircraft mechanic.

"Our friends are always teasing us about me outranking him, but it doesn't bother us," said Suzanne, 26. She is a registered nurse who has worked on and off at St. James Hospital here for the last three years.

"My mother had been pushing me to join the service ever since I got out of nursing school," she said. Her father, a retired Navy man, lives in Long Beach.

When Mark, 25, of Los Angeles, was graduated from the Northrop Institute of Technology in air frame and power plant mechanics, the prospects for an airlines job looked bleak, he said. Because he had served the bridegroom selected a full length mint green polyester dress, matching accessories and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Pearl Owens and Mrs. Mary Bristow, were given corsages of white carnations.

The couple will reside at Rt. 6, Greenville, after a wedding trip to the Outer Banks.

The bride is a graduate of North Pitt High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of North Pitt High School and is employed by Daniels Construction Co.

A rehearsal party was held at the home of the bridegroom following the wedding rehearsal.

four years in the Air Force in Germany from 1968 to 1972, reenlistment seemed a natural solution.

"I was kind of pushing him to join" because of the job security and early retirement, said Suzanne. "And I wanted to be able to work where he was stationed."

The two don't foresee any special problems because of their relative ranks.

"It makes it even better," said Mark. "I can go to her officers' club and she can go to mine." Besides, he plans to become an officer.

Suzanne signed up for two years, during which time she is pledged not to get pregnant. But after that she might seek maternity leave or leave the service altogether, she said.

Mark has signed up for four years and plans a career. "I can retire at 41," he says.

Miss Phoebe Moore Weds Rev. Murrell

The wedding of Miss Phoebe Maria Moore, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John A. Moore of Greenville and Rev. Irvin Henry Murrell Jr. of Charlotte was solemnized in the Memorial Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at five o'clock.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Irvin Henry Murrell Sr. of Charlotte.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were the Rev. Moore and the Rev. Harold Mitchell of Wilson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length dress of peau de soie styled with a modified empire bodice and A-line skirt. The bodice consisted of re-embroidered alencon lace and seed pearls, featuring a scooped, scalloped neckline. The skirt was accented with matching appliques of re-embroidered alencon lace and seed pearls. The sleeves were of shepherds design of sheer organza with wide cuffs of alencon lace and seed pearls. The back of the dress was accented with covered buttons.

She wore a chapel length mantilla edged in deep scalloped matching lace caught to a bow of peau de soie. A chapel length train fell from the lace appliques at the waist. She carried her Bible centered with a white orchid and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Frank Swanson of Morehead City. She wore a full length dress of light blue dotted swiss featuring an empire bodice with scooped neck and short, puffed sleeves. The gathered skirt featured a wide ruffle with trim of white lace and blue ribbon. The waist was accented with white satin ribbon with streamers in the back. Her headpiece was of blue illusion gathered to a bow of matching grosgrain ribbon accented with daisies. The matron of honor carried a white garden basket filled with summer flowers nestled in baby's breath tied with blue ribbons.

Best man was the Rev. Alex Hegebart of Belmont. Ushers were Talmadge Goodnight of Morehead City, Herman Hamrick of Wilson, Philip Moore, brother of the bride, of Chapel Hill, Stephen Moore, also brother of the bride, of Louisville, Ky., and Thom Lord of Jacksonville, Fla.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Wayne Knott of Mt. Airy, Mrs. Kenneth Hughes of Spindale, Mrs. Philip Moore, sister-in-law of the bride, of Chapel Hill, Miss Jean Pridgen of Rocky Mount, and Miss Judy Wagoner, junior bridesmaid, of Spindale. Their attire was similar to that of the matron of honor.

Flower girl was Miss Asha Turley of Wilson. Her dress was also similar to that of the matron of honor. She also carried a white basket with petals tied in blue satin.

Clyde Patterson of Wilson, organist, and Lloyd Lane of New Bern soloist, presented a program of wedding music, with Mrs. Harold Mitchell of Wilson serving as interpreter for the deaf. Lane sang "O Lord Most Holy" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's parents entertained at a reception following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crawford, Rev. and Mrs. Johnny McBride of New Bern presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Daniel Guthrie and Mrs. Lvnwood Small, aunts of the bride, poured punch. Cake was served by Miss Jean Moore and Mrs. John Munn, aunts of the bride. Also assisting were Mrs. J. D. Langley, Mrs. Dan Taylor, Miss Linda Shearin, Mrs. Brenda Denning, Mrs. Leon Burney, Mrs. Marie Morin, and Mrs. Stephen Walters. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shearin.

After the wedding trip to western North Carolina, the couple will reside in Wilson. The bridegroom is a minister of music and education at Five Points Missionary Baptist Church, Wilson. He graduated from N. C. State University and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University.

The bride's parents entertained the wedding party, their families, and out-of-town guests, at a buffet dinner Friday night before the rehearsal.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

FARMVILLE — Miss Janet Lynne Taylor became the bride of John David Starling Friday at 8:00 p.m. in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. William N. Gordan at the home of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in a formal length gown of angel skin peau fashioned with a lace trimmed high neckline and pinafore bodice of Venise lace. The full bishop sleeves were cuffed with Venise lace and the bell silhouette flowed into a chapel length train.

Her chapel length illusion veil was attached to a lace headpiece. The bride carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath with satin streamers. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. David Gaston Starling of Rt. 2, Farmville.

The honor attendant was Cynthia Fulford of Raleigh. She wore a formal length gown of floral design and carried a nosegay of yellow daisies.

The mother of the bride selected a pale orange polyester formal gown with an overlay of matching lace on the bodice. The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a formal length dress of aqua polyester fashion with an empire waist and sheer long sleeves with matching lace trim. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

The father of the bridegroom was best man.

After a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will reside at Rt. 2, Farmville.

The bride is a graduate of Hardbarger Business College, Raleigh, and is employed by the Eastern Orthopaedics, Inc., Greenville. The bridegroom is attending Lenoir Community College.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mrs. Kenneth Ross, aunt of the bride, served wedding cake and Mrs. Ira Ben Hardison poured punch.

The parents of the bridegroom and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ross, aunt and uncle of the bride, entertained the bridal couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross in Farmville following the rehearsal Thursday night.

Miss Donya Heath Weds Saturday

An after-rehearsal dinner wedding party was held at the honoring the Moore-Heath Holiday Inn Friday night.

The marriage of Miss Donya Nadine Heath, daughter of Mrs. Cecil B. Heath of Greenville, and the late Mr. Heath, and Darrell Hugh Moore was solemnized yesterday at the First Christian Church at 3:00 p.m.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Hurdle Mills.

Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. Dana Hunt with Edward Plemmons as an interpreter for the deaf.

Given in marriage by her brother, Steven Ray Heath, the bride wore a formal length white chiffon gown designed by Pandora, featuring a high neckline encircled with white floral Venice lace threaded with white satin ribbon. The gown also featured a squared sheer yoke of pleated chiffon outlined in matching trim. The pleated chiffon was featured in the long sheer sleeves with fitted cuffs overlaid in the lace and ribbon.

Venise lace and a ribbon encircled the modified empire bodice. The hemline and the attached chapel train were edged with a ruffle flounce of pleated chiffon with lace and ribbon trim. A tiered fingertip illusion veil edged in Venice lace was attached to a headpiece of Venice lace trimmed in white satin ribbon and beaded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with one red sweetheart rose.

Best man was Robert Moore, father of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was Miss Brenda Heath, sister of the bride. She wore a formal length gown of mint green voile designed with a high neckline encircled with white ruffled cluny lace. The empire bodice featured a white French Nottingham lace overlay with white Venice lace flowers edging the sleeveless bodice. Mint satin ribbon encircled the waistline.

The maid of honor also wore white Nottingham lace triangular stole edged in ruffled cluny lace. The outfit was accentuated with a white sheer braid hat trimmed in mint green satin ribbon with a small bouquet of flowers.

Bridesmaids were Selina Sharp of Robersonville, Mrs. Dara Ann Davis, of Raleigh, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Robin Moore of Morganton, sister-in-law of the bride. Their attire was the same as that of the maid of honor.

The flower girl was Deborah Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Law of Greenville. She wore a formal length gown of mint green voile with an empire bodice featuring a white French Nottingham lace overlay with white Venice lace with lace puff sleeves. A mint satin ribbon encircled the waistline. She carried a basket of mixed flowers and her hat was similar to that of the bridesmaids.

Miss Melinda Daniels, organist, and Jane Williams of Garner, soloist, presented a program of wedding music.

Ushers were Wilton McMillian of Parkton, Tony Moore of Morganton, and Bruce Moore of Hurdle Mills, both brothers of the bridegroom.

A reception given by the bride's mother, was held in the ladies parlor of the church following the wedding.

Miss Carol McCombs and Mrs. Jerry Law cut the cake and Miss Nancy Brinkley and Mrs. Carroll Wooten poured punch. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Price.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Raleigh. The bride is employed by the N.C. Department of Motor Vehicles. The bridegroom is employed by the N.C. Farm Bureau. Both are graduates of the North Carolina School for the Deaf, Morganton.

Estes-Johnson Vows Said Ignore Reminders From Former Hubby In Ceremony On Saturday

CHARLOTTE — The Myers Park United Methodist Church here was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Ann Vernor Johnson and George Calvin Estes III Saturday at 4:00 p.m.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vernor Johnson of Charlotte, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of white silk organza and re-embroidered lace fashioned with a high neckline and long tapered lace sleeves. The modified empire bodice was enhanced with Venise lace as was the demibelle skirt which extended into a chapel train.

Her full length illusion veil of matching scalloped Venise lace and bridal pearls was worn in mantilla style attached to a Camelot lace crown. The bride carried a bouquet composed of white bridal roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George Calvin Estes Jr. of High Point.

The bride graduated from Myers Park High School, Charlotte, and from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. The bridegroom graduated from High Point Central High School and from UNC-CH where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He received his Masters degree from The Citadel, Charleston, S.C., and is now assistant basketball coach at East Carolina University.

The double ring wedding ceremony was performed by Dr. Mitchell Faulkner. A program of wedding music was presented by Walter Ball, organist, and Allen Turner of Charlotte, cousin of the bride, soloist.

The bride's sister Mrs. Mary Cook of Fort Wayne, Ind., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary McElwee of Statesville, Miss Jane Troxler of Brown Summit, Miss Lee Thurston of Salisbury, cousin of the bride, Miss Lynn Nesbill of Greensboro, and Miss Laura

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: After 34 years of marriage, my wife died. I bought a double plot—one for her and one for me when my time comes. I couldn't decide on what kind of headstone I wanted for my wife's grave, so I put off buying one.

Meanwhile, I met a woman and things started happening so fast I couldn't believe it. To make a long story short, I married her. In the meantime, my wife's headstone slipped my mind, so my married son got disgusted with me and he bought one and put it up. Then he told me to buy two more lots—one for myself and one for my new wife because he was sure his mother wouldn't want me buried next to her if I couldn't even wait three months to get married again.

I asked him what he planned to do with the empty plot beside his mother, and he said he'd find some other dummy to bury there.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I'd buy another double plot—unless your present wife has already made plans to double up with someone else when her time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old married man who has had this problem ever since I could tell the difference between a boy and a girl. You guessed it. I can't resist women. Maybe I should say the problem is that women can't resist ME. I'm a pretty good looking guy (I'm told) and have an athletic build and keep in shape, but the ladies tell me the sexy look in my eye that gets them.

I love my wife (we've been married for seven years and have two children) but I can't leave other women alone. Right now I have something going with my best friend's wife, and also with my wife's best friend. It's not a heavy love affair in either case, but it's fun.

In my defense, let me say I've never propositioned a woman in my life. They approach me, and I can't say no. Can you help me?

LADIES' MAN

DEAR MAN: I'm all choked up. You can say no if you want to. And you'd better start trying, before somebody does your wife a favor and tells her.

DEAR ABBY: After 32 years of marriage, I finally got up enough gumption to divorce my husband. Although I still cared for him, I couldn't take any more of his cruel and inhuman treatment.

One week after our divorce was final he married another woman. Now listen to this. On his honeymoon he sent ME a dozen roses with the following card: "To a lovely lady with love."

A few days later I received a menu from a resort hotel where he and I had spent our honeymoon. He had written on it: "Remember this place, Darling? Love," ... and then his name.

This has been very upsetting to me. What do you make of it and what should I do about it?

BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: Ignore it. But if he sends any more reminders of him or the past, write and ask him to please keep OUT of touch with you because you want to forget him. He sounds like a very cruel (or sick) man.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with an heirloom cloth and centered with a five branch candelabra.

A wedding breakfast was held at the Red Carpet Inn, Charlotte, given by Mrs. Asa Thurston, the bride's maternal grandmother, Dr. and Mrs. Steve Thurston of Salisbury, Dr. and Mrs. Tom Thurston of Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thurston of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. James Lowe of North Wilkesboro, all uncles and aunts of the bride.

The rehearsal dinner was held Friday night at the Red Carpet Inn given by the bridegroom's parents.

The bridesmaids luncheon was held Friday at the Statesville Country Club given by Mrs. Boyce Bell of Statesville and friends of the bride's family.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Faulkner request your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Angela Diane to Richard Allen Langley, Sunday June 16 at 3 p. m. at The Salvation Army Citadel.

Jay-C-Ettes Plan Candy Sale

Plans for the annual candy sale were discussed at the Wednesday night meeting of the Greenville Jay-C-Ettes.

The club conducts the candy sale in the fall as their only fundraising project and uses the money to aid the handicapped and needy people of Greenville.

Recognized as a new member was Lynda Davis and guests were Kathy Garrison and Darla Goins.

During the business session, members voted to contribute to Richard Hudson for a trip to Washington and to Tom and Anne Reese for a trip to San Diego. He will represent the state of North Carolina in national competition as an outstanding Jaycee.

Annual Family Picnic Held

The Greenville Junior Woman's Club annual family picnic was held at the Woman's Club building with approximately 110 in attendance.

President Nancy Gustafson announced plans for the state NCFWC Summer Workshop to be held at the Sheraton Crabtree June 25-26. All department chairmen and interested persons were encouraged to attend.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Mike Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Phipps and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wetzel Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Causby, Miss Barbara Stox and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bolander.

The Public Affairs Department announced a profit of $48 from a bake sale held recently. Club activities will resume in September.

Russian Connection

THE RUSSIAN CONNECTION. . . Dr. Armand Hammer.

In 1921, a young American went to the Kremlin in Moscow and called on V. I. Lenin, then the top man in the Soviet Union.

In 1973, that same man went to the Kremlin and called on Leonid Brezhnev, today the top man in the Soviet Union.

Who is this man who has access to Soviet Leaders? He is Dr. Armand Hammer, American Businessman, chairman of the board of Occidental Petroleum.

The flamboyant life style of Dr. Hammer, who is in the forefront of the Administration's attempt to conduct an economic detente with the Soviet Union, is graphically portrayed in "The Russian Connection," a special in the "NBC News Presents" series to be colorcast Tuesday, June 18 (10-11 p.m.) on channel 6-7.

The program will cover not only Dr. Hammer's call on Lenin and on Brezhnev, but also the 50 years in between. Armand Hammer has lived an extraordinary life, remarkable for what he has done in the field of business, in cattle, in whiskey and in oil. He is remarkable also for what he has done in the field of art.

Today at the age of 75, Armand Hammer is shuttling regularly between the United States and Russia. He combs the world in search of deals. The Lucy Jarvis production unit traveled with Dr. Hammer on some of his trips, filming his various activities. It filmed him with top Soviet leaders and got an exclusive interview with Leonid Brezhnev.

It filmed him in London with J. Paul Getty and Edmund Rothschild, nightclubbing in Paris with oil tycoons and, in Warsaw, toasting the completion of a multi-million-dollar deal.

As an art collector, Dr. Hammer is also doing extraordinary things. He arranged for the first exhibition of the fabulous collection of Impressionist paintings from Russian museums to tour the United States. The Jarvis unit filmed the opening celebration at the Detroit Art Institute.

NBC News looks at the style and methods in which Armand Hammer deals. Having interviewed both his present and his former associates, Mrs. Jarvis notes that not everybody likes what Dr. Hammer does or the way that he does it, particularly in regard to his Russian deals. Those deals are in line with President Nixon's policy of detente with the Soviet Union, which is currently being criticized in the United States.

The program makes specific reference to the Russian connection of Dr. Hammer and how he uses it. Mrs. Jarvis said the subject is most timely considering President Nixon's forthcoming visit to the Soviet Union.

Their Midnight Train To Georgia Due June 21

Gladys Knight and the Pips return to their hometown, Atlanta, for their own musical special, "Gladys Knight and the Pips' Midnight Train to Georgia," Friday, June 21 (8:30-9 p.m.) on channel 6-7. Country music singer and songwriter Tom T. Hall is special guest on the program.

Gladys Knight and the Pips were winners of two Grammy Awards this year and were the recipients of four gold records in 1973.

The special, much of which was taped at the Six Flags Over Georgia amusement park near Atlanta, will also include scenes of Miss Knight's old neighborhood where she and the Pips (her brother, Merald Knight, Jr., and their cousins Edward Patten and William Guest) grew up.

They sing "On and On" from their newest album, "Claudine," at various locations in the amusement park, and during a nighttime outdoor concert, complete with fireworks, they perform "Best Thing That Ever Happened to Me" and "Midnight Train to Georgia," one of their gold records.

They also sing "I've Got to Use My Imagination," their million-seller single and the title song of a recent album which also won a gold record.

Tom T. Hall, using six antique cars, helium filled balloons, and an assortment of percussion instruments, is backed by his band, the Storytellers, for "That Song is Driving Me Crazy." He also sings his own composition, "I Love."

Other highlights include a wild roller coaster ride, and a comedy sketch featuring Miss Knight and the Pips dressed as children in their old neighborhood. Atlanta Hawks star forward Lou Hudson takes part in the sketch, and plays a game of basketball with the group. Miss Knight's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Knight, also makes an appearance on the program.

Winners of two Grammy Awards this year for Best Rhythm and Blues and Best Pop Vocal Performances by a group in 1973, Gladys Knight and the Pips have been the recipients of honors from the NAACP and numerous publications including Rolling Stone, Ebony, Cash Box and Billboard.

They received four gold records last year — one for an album, "Imagination," and three for singles, "Neither One Of Us," "Midnight Train to Georgia" and "I've Got To Use My Imagination."

McGreevey In His 2nd Acting Career

Although relatively unknown as a film personality, 26-year-old Michael McGreevey, who ten years ago as a juvenile star had the lead in the comedy adventure, "For The Love Of Willadean," which airs in two parts on "The Wonderful World of Disney," is presently on the crest of his second acting career.

While playing the role of a 15-year-old vying for the fancy of a pretty farmer's daughter in the Disney Ver, McGreevey was in the thrones of making a real life decision to continue acting or call it quits. He had begun in show business in 1957 at age eight, had completed eight feature films, guested on dozens of TV series, had been a regular of two TV shows.

"It was a difficult decision," admits the red-haired, freckled actor, "but I wanted a normal high school education and social life, without the pressures of the business. I'm glad I quit when I did."

That choice to "retire" from performing occurred while Mike was a sophomore, but the day before he graduated from high school, almost as if by fate, his former agent called to ask if he wanted an interview for a summer job. "I said, 'Sure, I'll be glad to make some money for college in the fall.' So I went on the interview and got the part. It was a western called 'The Way West,' with Bob Mitchum and Kirk Douglas."

You go out of the business for years and everything changes. That's why what's happening to me is so exciting. It's all new and different.

WHICH CLOSING COSTS DEDUCTIBLE?

Expenses connected with the sale of real estate over and above the selling price are known as closing costs. Some of these are deductible from your income tax - others are not.

Property taxes are usually pro-rated so that both the buyer and seller each pay the taxes for the portion of the year that each owned the property. Each may deduct this amount - and only this amount - even though one or the other pays the entire amount.

Another deductible item that appears in closing costs, is interest charged to you on the mortgage up to the date of closing. Also deductible as interest is the amount charged as points-provided they are charged as a premium for the loan of the money - not when charged for services.

Nondeductible closing expenses are fire insurance, FHA mortgage insurance, and charges for rent for occupancy before closing.

If there is anything, we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LOUIS CLARK AGENCY, 315 Evans Street, Greenville. Phone: 752-4173. We're here to help!

ANTIQUES ANYTIME

Antiques are to use and enjoy - not to gather dust! So take them out of the china closet—mix well with flowers—and display them in imaginative centerpieces. Whether your antiques are real or artful reproductions—they'll lend interest and distinction to your tables. It just doesn't make good sense to hoard your valuables and keep them in secret from everyone but yourself. To really enjoy the things you love, make full use of them but always in good taste.

Good taste is just one essential of effective and attractive decorating. Don't hesitate to call on us for assistance with your carpet selection. Eastern Carpet Inc., 602 West Greenville Blvd., Greenville. 756-1944. "Where There's Always A Sale." "Carpet is our Business, Not a Hobby."

Story Of The Black Athletes

"Americans All," the ABC News documentary series, looks at the struggle black athletes have waged to win a chance at greatness in sports, Monday, June 17, on channel 3-5-12. The story is told through film clips dating back more than half a century and insights from some of today's honored celebrities, including Willie Mays, now retired from the New York Mets. "Americans All" will be telecast immediately after "The ABC Monday Night Movie" for that date.

For the program, cameras covered this year's Black Athletes Hall of Fame Banquet in New York, a glamorous first annual event making the Hall of Fame induction of all-time greats.

In describing the contributions of black athletes and the obstacles they overcame to compete, "Americans All" shows film clips of many of them in action. They include Jack Johnson, who became the first black world heavyweight boxing champion is unequalled; Jesse Owens as he ran in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin and Jackie Robinson rounding the bases at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field as the first black man to play major league baseball.

There also are action scenes of the Harlem Globetrotters, winners in 1940 of the World Basketball Championship, in an era of segregation in sports. They reached the peak of their fame as a team, however, after they started clowning fulltime on court.

Showing such stars in action as Satchel Paige, who won the chance to pitch for the Cleveland Indians when he was over 40 years old, the program explores the cost to the country of the longtime denial to black athletes of the opportunity to compete at the top. The program further looks into areas of the sports world where opportunity is still limited.

They'll Entertain Late Night Viewers

Seals & Crofts, Eagles and Earth, Wind & Fire, are the starring performers in the fourth and concluding "Wide World: In Concert" music special taped at the record-shattering "California Jam" outdoor concert, which will be presented in the late-night program schedule in the week of June 17-21.

Bloodstone, Canned Heat, Fabian, Redbone, Steve Martin, Our House, Maxine Weldon and Peter Yarrow star in a musical program of another kind, "Razzle Dazzle Rock 'n' Roll," blending comedy with the top songs of the day, and George Maharis, Cameron Mitchell and Margaret O'Brien star in a suspense thriller in which an astronaut is murdered while circling the Earth in a space capsule, in other programs to be seen during the week.

"Death in Space," a "Wide World: Mystery" for Monday, June 17, stars George Maharis as a special investigator assigned to solve an apparently unsolvable crime—the murder of the chief flight officer in a planet-circling orbiter 250 miles above Earth.

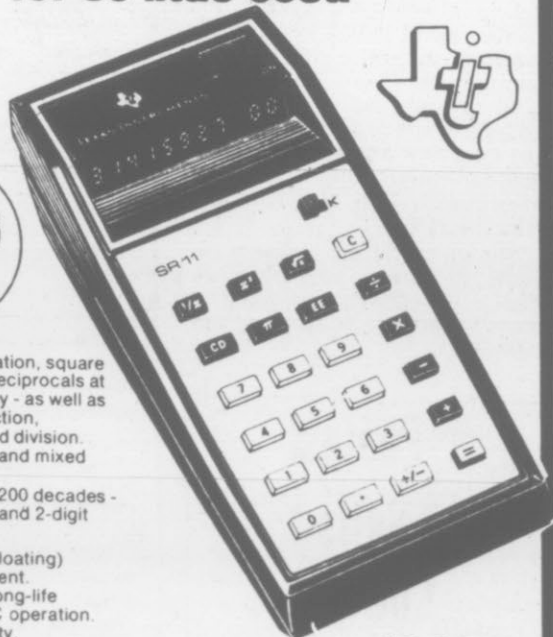

After an open hatch is discovered, the questions remain—did the commander vanish through an open hatch as a result of a play by one of the other astronauts, was it an accident or was it suicide?

Cameron Mitchell is the orbiter's chief ground control officer and Margaret O'Brien is the missing man's widow.

Gary Merrill is the special guest star in "The Murderers," a "Wide World: Mystery" to be seen on Tuesday, June 18, which tells the story of a blackmailer who attempts to victimize a former convict. This suspense drama also stars Eugene Roche.

Jourdan As A Ruthless Beauty Contest Judge

One of the screen's most dashing leading men will have women hissing rather than sighing over his latest performance, but Louis Jourdan is not complaining.

Jourdan is cast as a ruthless judge with a roving eye, especially for one of the contestants in "The Great American Beauty Contest," a behind-the-scenes view of an American institution airing on "Tuesday Movie of the Week" June 18 (8:30-10 p.m.) on channel 3-5-12.

The chance to play the villainous role came as a welcome surprise to the suave Frenchman.

"It is not often that I am asked to play such an evil man and, like most actors, I look forward to parts like this," he said on location in Los Angeles. "Any time you have to alter your style of acting drastically, it is a plus. I must admit that I try to play the man with some suavity, but I certainly have never been nastier."

In "The Great American Beauty Contest" Jourdan is joined by Eleanor Parker, Bob Cummings and 50 of the most beautiful models and actresses in Hollywood.

But it is nothing new for Jourdan to be surrounded by lovely women; he has played the romantic lead opposite such top stars as Elizabeth Taylor, Grace Kelly, Doris Day, and Leslie Caron.

"I have been fortunate to have appeared with so many great ladies of the screen, but I refuse to pick a favorite because each one has something special.

"Grace Kelly, for instance, was probably the most elegant star I have ever worked with, and Elizabeth Taylor the most regal. Leslie Caron had a childlike innocence which was infectious to all of us who worked with her on 'Gigi.'

"It has been a pleasure to finally work with Eleanor Parker; we became friends when we were both working at MGM.

FINALISTS— The finalists surrounding emcee Bob Cummings include (nearest him) Joanna Cameron (l.) and Tracy Reed (r) in "The Great American Beauty Contest," a story of behind-the-scenes conniving on "Tuesday Movie of the Week" June 18 (8:30-10:00 pm) on channel 3-5-12.

Group Serving Up 'Bucket Of Comedy'

"Razzle Dazzle Rock 'n' Roll", airing on Wednesday, June 19 (11:30 p.m. - 1 a.m.) has an unusual unifying element of certain zany flavor — the Kentucky Fried Theatre. Kentucky Fried Theatre, a satirical comedy group, operates its own small theatre in the Los Angeles area. Of its recent appearances on television, the "Wide World: Special" is its first network serving on ABC.

The unusually named group was formed about three years ago in Madison, Wisconsin, by two brothers, David and Jerry Zucker, and their friend, Jim Abrahams.

The three had never been involved with the theatre or comedy before or while they were together as students at the University of Wisconsin. David, who majored in radio and television, was working as a building construction estimator. Jim, who majored in English, was employed as an investigator for a law firm and Jerry, an education major, was still in college when they decided, as a lark, to form a comedy group.

From the beginning, they concentrated on low-key satire, the kind that builds from a chuckle to all-out laughter. Two years ago they moved west, rented a "warehouse type of building" on West Pico Boulevard near Century City and became a resident comedy company.

"First, we had to clear out quarters that had been used for things like a rug cleaning business and a flower shop," Jerry recalled.

"Then we remodeled the interior, put in a stage seats and our own lighting system. We do use film and tape in our shows, but we don't like a 'multi-media' description because that implies flashing lights and things we don't have. We use a minimum of props and, although our routines seem improvisational, we work from scripts."

The obvious question arises: Does their name have anything to do with that bucket of chicken above those far-flung fast-food establishments.

Czech Actor Recalls Dream

"Big plans, we had nothing but big plans. And in those peaceful, utterly optimistic days that followed the Second World War, it looked as though anything was possible—anything."

Actor George Voskovec was recalling his dreams of using theater to help unite the world. A native Czechoslovak who is now an American citizen, he portrays a Greek patriarch in "Nicky's World," family drama to be seen (8-9:30 p.m.) as part of the double-bill presentation of "The CBS Thursday Night Movies" Thursday, June 20 (8-11 p.m.) on channel 3N-9-11, followed by "Viva Max!"

Before the war, Voskovec, then working in the Czechoslovak theater, made satire and pointed social comedy his specialties. Under the threat of Hitler's impending takeover, Voskovec was forced to flee his country. He spent the war years in America, broadcasting for the Office of War Information, beaming countless radio programs into his occupied country.

"After the war, I returned to Czechoslovakia with the plans of rebuilding a national theater," said Voskovec. "I was then very popular in my own country due to my war efforts. But I never intended to stay in one place. My ideal dream was working on both sides of the ocean. I felt that a bridge between East and West, via something so popular and present as the theater, was culturally important."

"And so I imported American plays into Europe. And I hoped to make films in Czechoslovakia in two versions, Czech and English, to export to the U.S."

I felt oddly equipped to handle the two cultures," said Voskovec. "I had learned the art of comedy from such American film comedians as Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin."

11:30 (3N,9,11) CBS Late Show: "The Strawberry Statement" Bruce Davison and Kim Darby. Drama of group of college student revolutionaries who confront members of the establishment and finally the law. (2 hrs.)

(6,7) Tonight Show: With host Johnny Carson. (90 min)

Ustinov Stars In 'Viva Max'

Remember the Alamo? Some Mexicans do, and they want it back. Peter Ustinov, Pamela Tiffin, Jonathan Winters and John Astin star in "Viva Max!," the second part of a double bill (9:30-11 p.m.) on "The CBS Thursday Night Movies" Thursday, June 20 (8-11 p.m.). General Maximilian Rodrigues De Santos, flanked by his tiny band of "warriors," crosses the border to appear in the Washington's Birthday parade in Laredo, Texas. But the neighborly visit turns into a minor invasion when Max marches on the Alamo, taking as hostages the gatekeeper, souvenir clerk and one stray tourist.

The world is both bemused and shocked when Max raises the Mexican flag on the American fortress for the first time in over a century. Max, it turns out, has set the Alamo as the stage for his personal vendetta against America.

Unique Makeup Effort

Editor's Note: "Struggle for Survival" was written and directed by the late Dennis Azzarella, who, with 30 other members of the cast and crew, died in the crash of their aircraft, on March 13, after filming sequences for this episode in Mammoth, California. Some footage from the crash was salvaged, and scenes featuring Janos Prohaska and his son Robert, who also died in the crash will be included in "Struggle for Survival."

Australopithecus, Homo Erectus and Neanderthal man, modern man's early ancestors, have been re-created with diligent scientific accuracy on film, and television viewers get a look at them on "Primal Man," Friday, June 21 (8:30-9:30 p.m.) on Channel 3-12.

"Struggle for Survival" is the third episode of this dramatic four-part series.

"It is the most complex and intricate makeup job ever attempted for television," revealed Jack Kaufman, producer of the series for the Wolper Organization.

Responsible for the unique makeup project are John Chambers and Thomas Burman. The former won an Academy Award for his creation of the simian stars in the "Planet of the Apes" films, and is known around the film capital as Hollywood's "facemaker."

As no one knows exactly how the three human precursors actually looked especially Australopithecus, Chambers and Burman consulted with many experts, including Dr. Charles R. Rozaire, Curator of Archaeology at the Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History and one of the leading anthropologists in the world. Literally thousands of drawings, sketches, photographs of bone structure, and other descriptive material was used.

IN 3RD OF SERIES — Neanderthal Man provided his family with food and shelter. Above, he offers them the carcass of a deer, in "Primal Man - Struggle for Survival," the third in a dramatic series of specials, which will air on Friday, June 21 (8:30-9:30) on channel 3-12. "Primal Man" explores behavioral patterns in the earliest forms of man, and compares them with modern man's way of life.

"All I can say is that our Australopithecus, Homo Erectus and Neanderthal men are just as authentic as anyone else's," Kaufman pointed out. "Every so often a new discovery will be made that will change the current concept of how these creatures looked and ours parallel the present conception." Australopithecus had a brain 20 times larger than any of the period.

'Stowaway' Concludes Saturday

Part II of "Stowaway in the Sky," acclaimed French film written and directed by the late Albert Lamorisse, will be broadcast on "The CBS Children's Film Festival" Saturday, June 22 (1-2 p.m.) on Channel 3N-9-11.

The adventures of an eccentric aeronaut (Albert Gille), who wagers he can fly across France in a free balloon, and his grandson (Pascal Lamorisse) the stowaway of the film's title, continue as the balloon drifts toward the French Alps, over the lush cattle country. When a forest fire causes the air-men to lose their craft, Tou-Tou (Maurice Baquet), who has been trailing them on the ground, comes to their rescue with a spare balloon he has been carrying in his touring car. Shortly, the boy and his grandfather are airborne again to continue their whimsical adventure.

"Stowaway in the Sky," filmed from a helicopter in Lamorisse's Television system of low-altitude aerial photography, is narrated by actor Jack Lemmon. S.N. Behrman wrote the narration.

Burr Tillstrom's Kukla, Fran and Ollie with Fran Allison are hosts of "The CBS Children's Film Festival."

DUMAS STORY

Richard Chamberlain will play Edmund Dante, "The Count of Monte Cristo" in a remake of the Dumas story for the "Bell Hour."

Formats Include Lessons

Education with entertainment will be in formats of five children's TV shows included in the 14 series Hanna-Barbera Productions will have on the three networks for Saturday mornings in 1974-75.

Advisors for these five shows will be selected from universities, such as UCLA, and other learning institutions, and will include experts on anthropology, sociology, archeology, physics and child psychology.

Shows with specific teaching values are "The Valley of the Dinosaurs," (CBS) animated prehistoric program in which a modern-day family encounters a clan of pre-civilization people in an isolated valley;

"Korg — 70,000 B.C.," (ABC) a live-action series set in the days of Neanderthal man which follows the struggle of a primal clan learning to survive by developing its own tools, weapons and displaying human emotion for the welfare of each other

"Devlin," (ABC) an animated series about three teen-age orphans who support themselves as motorcycle stunt riders, will display the interpersonal relations between the trio as they help each other while growing into adults;

"Yogi's Gang," (ABC) animated yarn of an ark filled with familiar Hanna-Barbera characters led by Yogi Bear, whose lessons span the entire spectrum of child psychology, teaching through entertainment how to defeat greed, bigotry, among other vices;

"Super Friends," (ABC) which involves famed comic book heroes (Superman, Batman and Robin, Wonder Woman, Aquaman) combatting social and ecological problems.

Documentary On Blunder

One of the greatest military and political blunders of the twentieth century — the 1918 landing of expeditionary forces in Russia by Great Britain, France, Canada and the United States, and the subsequent attempt to crush the new Bolshevik regime — is portrayed in the documentary, "The Forgotten War," which will air Monday, June 17 at 8:00 p.m. on UNC-TV, Channel 25.

Subtitled "Story of the Allied Attack on Russia 1918-22," it reviews the incidents precipitating the Russian Civil War in which 13 million people died, and the Allied governments' intervention in an attempt to get Russia back into World War I to relieve German pressure on the Western Front. The Allies were soon involved in an attempt to destroy the new Revolutionary regime. Narrator Robert MacNeil tells the dramatic story with the help of historical film clips and interviews with surviving participants and experts.

LOVE OF ANIMALS — Pat Derby trains wild animals for a living. Her work with a variety of them will be shown on channel 6-7 on "Go" Saturday, June 22 (12:30-1:00 pm). Pat's attitude toward her wild charges is summed up in the name of her ranch in Buellton, Calif.—"Love Is An Animal Ranch."

'Go' Shows Love For The Animals

The care, feeding and training of wild animals—with some helpful hints on keeping household pets—will be the subject of "GO" on Saturday, June 22 (12:30-1 p.m.) The mobile tape cameras visited Pat Derby and her husband, Ted, who share their ranch with 120 wild animals. Pat's attitude toward her charges is summed up in the ranch's name, "Love Is An Animal."

Many of the animals came to Pat when they were no longer wanted elsewhere and couldn't be sent to their natural homes. Nina, an 8,000-pound Indian elephant, outgrew the small circus she worked for; Spot, an Asian leopard came to the ranch when a zoo he lived in had no more room for him; Simon and Samantha, two chimpanzees, came from a home in Vermont where a lady discovered too late that chimps don't make house pets; Sweet William, a black bear, spent several years in a circus being muzzled and beaten on the nose to teach him to perform tricks.

At "Love Is An Animal," Pat and Ted don't use guns, whips or training sticks.

Two of Pat's most famous animals are Chauncey, the cougar, who was trained by her to do TV commercials, and Rijo, the Siberian tiger who became the "tiger in your tank."

According to Pat, "The money from Chauncey's work created 'Love Is An Animal' ranch."

Pat shows how she trains the animals by accepting them for what they are, not trying to make them behave like people. Stress is placed on work, responsibility and love, and providing the proper food and clean surroundings for the animals. The program was filmed at the ranch in Buellton, Calif.

Football Coaches Pit Stars June 22

ABC Sports will provide live, exclusive television coverage of the 14th annual "Coaches All-America Football Game" from Jones Stadium on the campus of Texas Tech in Lubbock, Saturday, June 22 (8:30 p.m. until conclusion), on Channels 3, 5, 12. Sportscaster for the game will be the recently named Sportscaster of the Year, Keith Jackson, who will be the play-by-play announcer for the coming season's nationally televised NCAA football games on ABC. Jackson will be assisted at the June 22 game by one of the nation's foremost football coaches, John McKay of the University of Southern California. Last year, the West team under McKay's tutelage, downed the East squad, 20-6. The "Coaches All-America Football Game," one of the most popular of pre-season football contests, matches the outstanding college seniors of the previous season in an East-West battle. The game regularly attracts more than 40,000 football fans to the Texas Tech stadium. In this 1974 clash, the West will be led by Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma and the East will be headed by Pittsburgh's Coach Johnny Majors. The rosters for the "Coaches All-America Football Game" remain incomplete as of this date. Among the outstanding college football stars already committed to play are Texas Tech's own quarterback Joe Barnes, University of Texas center Bill Wyman, two-time All-America linebacker Randy Gradishar of Ohio State, and ace receiver Steve Odom of Utah.

New Characters Added To Cast

Four new characters, including a family of three, have been added to the cast of the daytime drama series, "How To Survive a Marriage" (Mondays through Fridays, 3:30-4 p.m.). The McGhee family has moved into a central position in the series' storyline as the new occupants of the house formerly owned by Chris and Larry Kirby before their separation. The other new character is Joshua T. Browne, new owner of the restaurant Noah's Ark.

Jorgy Golden Glover

Mike Jorgensen, the man who many consider to be the finest fielding first baseman in baseball became the first Expos player named to The Sporting News' NL All-Star Fielding team.

Selection is made annually by the league's managers and coaches. For being so named Mike picked up the Gold Glove Award, presented to members of the Sporting News team by the Rawlings Sporting Goods company.

Jogy also led all National league first basemen who played in 108 or more games in defensive average with .995 putouts, assisted on 80 other putouts and participated in 88 double plays. Despite a .230 season at the plate, Mike enjoyed a productive period from June 5 through July 31. In 60 games, he was 48-for-154 (a .312 streak). He hit nine doubles, three home runs, walked 20 times and drove in 25 runs during this period.

On the year, Jorgy swiped 16 bases, snapping by one Maury Will's club base-stealing record. The Expos are hoping that 1974 is the year when Jorgy's bat comes alive for a full season as it is capable of doing. He has the powerful, quick wrists of many of baseball's top home run hitters and is considered to have that potential himself. Also capable of playing the outfield, Mike was the Mets' fourth selection in the June 1966 free agent draft.

Mike Jorgensen (6'0"-192 lbs), the man who many consider to be the finest fielding first baseman in baseball, became the first Expo player to be named to The Sporting News' NL All-Star Fielding team. For being so named, Mike who lives in Chesapeake, Virginia, picked up the Gold Glove Award. Montreal will meet Cincinnati on Monday, June 17 when NBC-TV brings Major League Baseball at 8 p.m. to channel 6-7.

Telly Savalas To Host Comedy-Variety Show

HOSTS COMEDY — Telly Savalas hosts "Nobody's Perfect," hour-long comedy-variety program highlighted by four individual situation comedies, to be broadcast Saturday, June 22 (10:00-11:00 pm) on channel 9-11.

"Nobody's Perfect", a 60-minute comedy-variety special highlighted by four individual quarter-hour situation comedies introduced by the "Kojak" star Telly Savalas, will be broadcast on Saturday, June 22 (10-11 p.m.) on channels 9-11.

The quartet of comedies examines four loving couples, their relationships and dilemmas, and starts with "The Love Nest," starring Charles Lane and Florida Friebus, which will premiere on CBS next fall and be seen Fridays (8-8:30 p.m.).

Next comes "Cookie's Place," starring Alice Nunn and Stanley Clements, followed by "The Swingers," with David Morick and Barry Gordon, and "The Girlfriend," starring Marcia Strassman and Audrey Christie.

In "The Love Nest," Jenny (Miss Friebus) and Ned (Lane) are a pair of senior citizens whose romance post-dates their Social Security.

Sharing their golden years in a Florida trailer park, they live together happily, except for one little problem, the status of their marriage or, more specifically, its lack of status.

"Cookie's Place" features Miss Nunn and Clements in a comical story. Cookie (Miss Nunn) is a lunchroom proprietress whose construction-worker husband Joe (Clements) gets involved in a slight altercation at the local bar.

Joe's version of the event differs sharply from the truth — but it's a lot more exciting.

Miss Christie is featured in "The Girlfriend" as a woman recently divorced after a long marriage, facing the general problem of learning to be a single lady again, with the encouragement of her daughter (Miss Strassman) whose apartment she is sharing.

Henry Fonda Will Recreate 'Darrow'

Henry Fonda will bring his highly acclaimed stage performance as the famed trial lawyer "Clarence Darrow" to TV in a special to be colorcast on Wednesday, Sept. 4 (9:30-11 p.m.)

"Clarence Darrow" is a one-man play by David W. Rintels, who is adapting his work for TV. It is based on the book, "Clarence Darrow for the Defense," by Irving Stone.

Noted director-actor John Houseman, who directed Fonda in the stage presentation, will be overall director for the special, to be taped this summer in Los Angeles before a theatre audience and in a TV studio. (Houseman won an Academy Award this year for his performance in "The Paper Chase.")

In the play which opened on Broadway last March 26, Fonda, as Darrow, reminisces about his life and career and about the many people he has met along the way. Fonda has performed in "Clarence Darrow" in Chicago, Cleveland, Louisville, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., as well as on Broadway.

Acclaim from the critics for Fonda's tour de force includes: "Henry Fonda's eloquent and moving portrayal of the famous lawyer in 'Clarence Darrow' is so rich and rare that it should be cherished by all who see it" (Cleveland Plain Dealer);

DOOMED—Susan Hayward, in her Academy Award-winning performance, plays convicted murderess Barbara Graham, in the based-on-fact drama, "I Want To Live" on "NBC Saturday Night at the Movie" June 22 (9-11:20 p.m.) on channel 6-7.2

Segal To Host 2 Specials

Motion picture star George Segal will host two 90-minute late-night entertainment specials during the 1974-75 season.

Both shows will be colorcast on Saturday or Sunday in the 11:30 p.m. - 1 a.m. time period on NBC-TV. The first will be presented during the fourth quarter of 1974; the other in the first few months of next year.

George Segal's acting talents, in both comedy and drama are obvious to anyone who has seen him on stage or screen.

Present plans call for George to sing, dance, and play the banjo he enjoys so much, in addition to talking with his special guest stars.

Special Drama Next Season

Award-winning performer James Earl Jones will star in "The Cay," a drama based on the acclaimed novel by Theodore Taylor, which will be a "Bell System Family Theatre" special during the 1974-75 season.

Jones, Tony Award winner for his starring role in "The Great White Hope," will star in the story, which takes place in the Caribbean Sea during World War II. He rescues an 11-year-old American boy when the ship is torpedoed by a Nazi submarine. The two reach a tiny, barren dot of land. A head injury leaves the boy blind and totally dependent upon the old man. The West Indian cares for the boy and is determined to teach him how to survive dangers he knows they will face.

"The Cay" in novel form has won 12 international awards and has been cited in prestigious honors lists, including The New York Times Best Books of the Year.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR SEN. JAMES BUCKLEY (R-N.Y.)

Howard Cosell says he may run for your Senate seat. How well do you know him?—J. B., Buffalo, N.Y.

● At the time he said that, I had never met Mr. Cosell nor had I seen him perform his specialty on television. I did hear that he is quite a controversial person. This was brought home to me when a vice president of The New York Times, which does not agree with my policies, said, "Senator Buckley, if Howard Cosell runs against you, I am going to recommend to the other officers that we endorse you!"

FOR ART BUCHWALD, columnist

Do you ever get invited to a press conference at the White House, and are you welcome when you get there?—J. A. McNulty, Houston, Texas

● You don't have to be invited to a press conference. If you are a journalist accredited at the White House, this automatically entitles you to attend. I am sure reporters who ask friendly questions are more "welcome" than those who don't. I never go myself because you have to keep jumping up and down for recognition, and that's hard on my back.

FOR SUSAN DEY, Laurie on "The Partridge Family"

You started modeling at 16. What, in your opinion, are the requirements for a model?—Mary Seeley, Norwood, Ohio

● The mental requirements are about the same as for an actress: self-discipline, the ability to turn on a lot, be awake and bright-eyed. Physically, there are so many kinds of fashion modeling, from junior high fashion, to American high fashion and the "far-out" looks—it runs all the way from Sophia Loren types to the Ali MacGraws. But it helps to have an interesting face and to be tall and thin.

FOR DORIS DAY

What are your plans now that your TV show has been canceled?—Danny Meyer, Chatsworth, Ga.

● I'm not sure what I'll do now, but I'll probably do more movies if the opportunities arise. Some friends are even urging me to make records again.

FOR DIAHANN CARROLL

I've seen a lot of pictures of you, but never one with a drink in your hand. Are you against it or don't you like it?—Ray Littleton, Miami, Fla.

● It doesn't like me. If I have two drinks, that's it. So I figure I am better off not having the first one. But I am not against drinking, although my grandfather on my father's side was a Baptist minister.

FOR JACK DEMPSEY, former heavyweight boxing champion

Although Gene Tunney beat you twice, I've heard that you don't rate him as the best fighter you ever faced. Who was?—J. M., Austin, Texas

● Jack Sharkey. Tunney was a good boxer, but he caught me after I'd been out for about seven years.

FOR WAYNE ROGERS, costar of "M*A*S*H"

I read that you and Peter Falk are in business together. Are you also good friends?—P. T. T., Nyack, N.Y.

● Yes. If I remember right, we met in a pool hall on 44th St. and 8th Ave. in New York City, and became roommates in New York. We've been friends ever since.

FOR SEN. GAYLORD A. NELSON (D-Wis.), sponsor of a bill to require court warrants for most government wiretaps
How long has government wiretapping been going on?—G. Franklin, Albany, Ga.

● Since the early 20th century. The practice first became widespread on the eve of World War II, and continued under all presidential administrations. Warrantless taps have often been used to obtain information unrelated to national security, and therein lies the staggering potential for abuse.

FOR RICHARD CHAMBERLAIN

Was there any backlash from your portrayal of the Duke of Windsor in "The Woman I Love"?—B. Randolph, Houston, Texas

● Well, it still hasn't been seen in England. I am told the Duchess refused to see it. The quote she supposedly made was something to the effect she didn't want to see her life "desecrated by actors." That made me sad, because I had grown fond of them through reading about them and watching old newsreels.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

Dustin Hoffman is my favorite actor, and I've seen his film, "The Graduate," many times. How did he get the role?—Mary Watt, Denver, Colo.

● Director Mike Nichols, who had seen Hoffman in a couple of off-Broadway plays, offered him a screen test. Hoffman was one of the countless hopefuls and, when his turn came to do the short scene with actress Katherine Ross, he was so tense and scared he couldn't concentrate. He delivered what he felt was a dreadful audition, and left very depressed. But when Nichols viewed all the screen tests, he found that only Hoffman had those qualities that were essential for the part. Dustin was supposed to be in a state of perpetual confusion and panic—and that's exactly the way he appeared in his audition.

Notes From a Battlefield Veteran: How to Fight the Computer and Win!

Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

In 1971, the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant was televised from a large hotel in Puerto Rico. As assistant-to-the-president of Miss Universe, Inc., I was there about a week. My bill had to have been inconsequential. My suite was gratis. I was alone. I don't drink. I was invited out nightly. The most I could have run up was a lunchtime tuna on white. In any case, my charges were paid by the pageant. One year later I personally received an "overdue" bill from the hotel for $50,000.

$50,000!!!!???

In semi-shock I presented this to Harold Glasser, the president of Miss Universe, Inc. A reply was dispatched instantly, which, shorn of the legalese, meant, "Are you kidding?" Weeks later an amended statement reached me wrapped in an effusive apology. They were frightfully sorry for the error and were hereby shipping me my corrected bill: $20,000.

$20,000!!!!???

A stronger letter from us to them produced a weaker bill: $18,000. The fact that I owed not a farthing ultimately dawned up on the coils and whorls and disks of the machine that was dunning me, and the hiccup in the computer subsided.

Then there was Angelo Panzarella's case. Angelo was moving, and being a nice, neat fellow, he requested a final tabulation from the Brooklyn Union Gas Company. It came—$286.53 for the final month. "This seemed unusual," Angelo explained, "because my yearly total is around $400." Angelo did the logical thing. He dialed the number on the bill. Here's the way he described it later:

"It was a real experience. The number was always busy. The second day I dialed, hung up, redialed for one hour straight, and eventually a recording announced that I was on the line and somebody would pick me up shortly. Fifteen minutes later I told some female voice the problem and she told me to pay the $286.53. The next month a dunning notice said pay this promptly or off goes my gas. So I called the Public Service Commission, which oversees the utilities. I sent them my Xeroxed bills. The action was immediate. One week later the gas company wrote to disregard the previous bill because they were in the process of re-computerizing me.

"Then followed my revised bill — for $1,753.20. I phoned them again. This time it only took a few hours to get through. I said, 'This is ridiculous. Gas for the Empire State Building for the month couldn't cost that much.' I called the commission again. Again action was immediate. One week later I received my newly revised bill — for $286.53!" The outcome of the story? Angelo has meanwhile moved and is outside the jurisdiction of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company. Last I heard he was now involved with the Long Island Gas Company.

How do these things happen, I asked William Lucas, whose Hanover Business Systems, Inc., is consultant to and does computer programming for Bankers Trust, Bache, Equitable Life Insurance and Helena Rubinstein. Lucas explained that the majority of goofs are human error. For example:

- The keyhole-punched card that arrives bent or mutilated won't fit through the mechanism. As a result, the operator has to fashion a new card and in haste repunches some vital information incorrectly.

- Each consumer is assigned an account number. But suppose an operator doesn't wipe a dormant account number from a computer's memory? It gets reassigned. It becomes active. Result? Duplication.

- Each program is comprised of many segments. Section A handles identification numbers. Section B handles area numbers. Section C handles account numbers, etc. Suppose a program orders the computer to Section C. Suppose at Section C the program orders the computer to execute an arithmetical algorithm such as adding five to both middle digits in order to expand the existing account numbers. But suppose the operator programs the computer to Section A by accident...

- The introduction of a foreign substance. In the late sixties, the New York Stock Exchange computer operated via an optical-scanning unit. Someone dribbled talcum powder on it. It obliterated the markings, fogged up the lens and gummed up the whole works. At Dow Chemical during the years people were protesting napalm, someone

Now! With the simple method of Foot Reflexology! 'You Can Get Almost Immediate Relief from Aches and Pains All Over the Body!'

"I have brought relief to countless suffering people with this method—and have watched their joy of regained health and vitality—when all hope had seemingly been lost!"
"Let me show you how it can bring about the normal function of a specific location or organ..."
Says MILDRED CARTER, Professional Reflexologist

Dear Friend:

My name is Mildred Carter. I am not a doctor, but for over 14 years, I have been helping people receive remarkable relief from seemingly hopeless aches and pains all over the body, with a method—which you can use, too—called Foot Reflexology.

Foot Reflexology is a method for healing the whole body. If you've ever suffered from foot trouble, you know that it's the feet that make the whole body ache. By rubbing and pressing gently on certain areas of your feet, I can show you how you may get almost immediate relief IN OTHER PARTS OF THE BODY!

Why? Because the feet contain Reflexes, which lead like telephone lines to all parts of the body. By pressing them, you help restore normal circulation and health to congested areas. No one can guarantee a cure, nor is it a medical substitute, but:

- I have seen it relieve crippled hands and feet, caused by painful arthritis, straighten whole bodies and bring them back to normal!
 - The pain of hemorrhoids stop immediately!
 - Most headaches vanish immediately!
 - I have seen it relieve liver and gall bladder trouble!
 - I have seen it clear up stuffed sinuses almost immediately!
 - I have seen it relieve back troubles, in a matter of seconds!
 - I have seen it bring fast relief to stomach troubles!
 - I have brought lasting relief to sufferers of varicose veins with this method. This is also true with cramps or pains in the legs!
 - I have seen it relieve bladder trouble quickly, with great relief after the first treatment—burning or itching seems to disappear completely!
 - I have brought relief to men, in every case of prostate trouble I have ever treated!
- ... And still that's just the beginning! You'll find the full details of this amazing method of healing in a new book which I have written, called HELPING YOURSELF WITH FOOT REFLEXOLOGY.

Many Healings Reported!

Foot Reflexology is a safe, natural, and inexpensive way to help restore healthful circulation to every area of your body.

Did you ever notice how quickly water freshens when good water is poured into muddy water? Foot Reflexology does the same for circulation in your body. Blood flow slows over the years. Naturally, glands and organs become sluggish. Stimulating a new flow of blood to these "tired" places brings new life, clears glands and organs of years of accumulated waste.

Here's What I Say in This Book:

Gall Bladder Healing "There are many cases where Reflex Massage of the liver and gall bladder has saved people from having an operation, with the stones seeming to vanish after a few treatments."—Quoted from Chapter 12

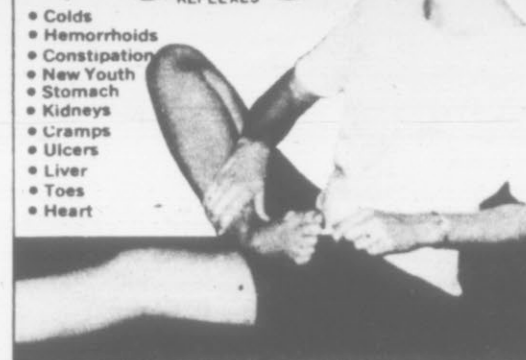

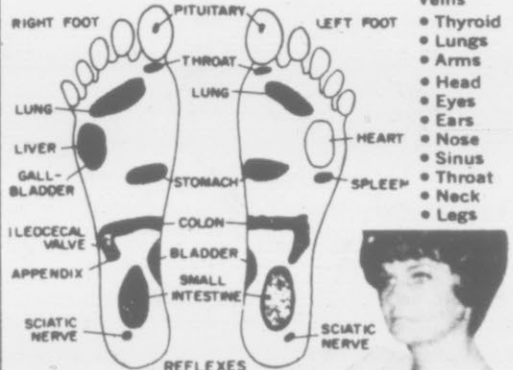

Anemic Conditions "Anyone who is anemic will find... improvement can be so rapid it is amazing. With pernicious anemia, results will be slower, but Nature will be there, changing new blood cells for old."—Quoted from Chapter 11

Helping the Heart "No matter what the nature of the trouble is, the heart can be aided with this method... I can give you many case histories of wonderful results from this scientific

She thus doesn't give honest-Injun, true-blue, honor-bright total truth to the programmers. She wants the machine to mess up so she can zing her boss with, "See, I knew you couldn't do it without me." And the machine, being ignorant, does exactly what she hoped it would.

A consumer can strike back at this inanimate machine in varying ways. He can write a message on the computer card

"Mr. Traum's area of frustration was a credit-card system that had billed him for 0.00 dollars, saying, 'Please pay the above.' The following month the bill was for 0.00 dollars plus .00 interest."

he returns with his payment, then he can bend, fold and mutilate it, causing it to clog the machine. Such action stimulates manual intervention. If the operator isn't pressed he brings the card to his supervisor, who reads your message, thereby affording you two chances. Either he'll mutter under his breath, "The same to you, buddy," or he'll oblige by checking into the matter further.

The most expeditious method is to write the company president. I have done this myself on two occasions. The top echelon always produces instant action. The difficulty lies in getting to the top. Don't call the company and request the name of the president. They won't give it. One sufferer had a $116 overcharge on his telephone. Letters and phone calls to the number and name on the bill accomplished only aggravation. He rang the FCC. Nothing. Finally he telephoned the company president. Naturally, he didn't get through to him personally but he reached an assistant. The assistant clucked sympathetically, suggested he put it in writing and two weeks later everything was beautiful.

You can also register complaints with your Better Business Bureau, the regional office of the Federal Trade Commission and your state attorney general. Some states have laws that say that if a consumer advises a creditor of a billing error via registered letter, the company must respond within 30 days and settle it within 90 days. During this time it can take no dunning, penalty or collection action whatsoever. If the company does not comply it is liable for the consumer's damages, plus two times the billing error, plus the consumer's attorney's fees.

As I was compiling this article I met a lamp manufacturer named Julius Traum. Mr. Traum's area of frustration was a credit-card system that had billed him for 0.00 dollars, saying, "Please pay the above." The following month the bill was for 0.00 dollars plus .00 interest. Next he received notification that his account was delinquent, and would he please remit? He thought it was some sort of joke. Two weeks later he received a notice that his card was canceled for nonpayment.

Dear Attorney
General... HELP!

My name is Mildred Carter. I am not a doctor, but I have been helping people receive remarkable relief from seemingly hopeless aches and pains!

What A Physiotherapist Says:

"During my forty-eight years as a Physiotherapist in my own Treatment Centers... I have had every opportunity to observe the amazing benefits of manual massage. As a means of rehabilitation where physical trauma is involved, it ranks high in the annals of Medicine.

"The techniques described in Mrs. Carter's book have been developed by experts in the field of reflex massage, and we have no hesitation in recommending them... For the relief of pain, we know of no other means short of opiates to achieve this objective."

massage of the reflexes on heart patients."—Quoted from Chapter 13

Relief for Leg Pains "I believe I have treated more cases of leg aches than any other malady, and most were caused by the sciatic nerve. Many people suffer for years without any relief. Yet it is so amazingly simple to banish all inflammation from this nerve in an unbelievably short time. In many cases this method has brought relief in one treatment."—Quoted from Chapter 22

Varicose Veins "I have brought lasting relief to sufferers of varicose veins by starting the proper circulation with Reflex Massage, thus causing congestion to disappear. This is also true with cramps or pains of any kind in the legs."—Quoted from Chapter 16

Relief for Hemorrhoids "Hemorrhoids are nothing more than a congested vein (known as piles). This is actually a varicose vein in the rectum. These can become so large as to protrude, causing inconvenience, much suffering, and in many cases bleeding. Though painful, they are usually suffered in silence by those who have them. Yet with Reflex Massage they are one of the quickest to respond to treatment. Here we will learn how to use the Reflexology method to bring you prompt relief!"—Quoted from Chapter 21

How to Make Reflexology Your Rejuvenator "Would you like to be young again? Would you like to walk expectantly into the future, to enjoy new experiences, with a revitalized body? We do not have to be old... Reflexology rejuvenates the entire body, giving new life to glands and cells. Blood flow slows over the years. Naturally, glands and cells become sluggish. Reflexology stimulates a new flow of blood to these tired places, clears glands and cells of accumulated waste, brings them new life!"—Quoted from Chapters 3 and 24

You'll Discover...

- How Reflexology relieved a man's stuffed sinuses. "After the first treatment, he could suddenly breathe through both sides of his nose" and he felt well again.
- How a woman who had hurt her spine, and was in so much pain that she called a bone specialist to take x-rays, received so much relief with Reflexology—after a single treatment—that she was able to get up and do her work. She felt so much better, in fact, that she cancelled her appointment for x-rays, and claims she is fully recovered.
- How a man with a hunchback—a huge, ugly bulge—received a complete healing with Reflexology. He was freed of pain, and "he was able to stand straight." The hump disappeared. "He was not deformed at all," I reported!
- How a man who suffered from ulcers, kidney trouble, hay fever, and constipation, received complete relief with Reflexology. "The symptoms of each illness disappeared one by one," and today he sleeps like a baby every night!
- How a man with a heart condition was healed with Reflexology. Doctors had always warned him he couldn't do the things other men did. With this method, "his heart returned to normal enough to allow him to do anything he wanted, without any trouble. Today, after more than 10 years, he is a strong and well man."

Safe To Use!

"Reflexology will free you from sickness and suffering, and fear of pain, when used correctly."

What's more, Foot Reflexology is absolutely safe. It is the "drugless" way to better health, and requires no exercise, no expensive equipment of any kind. It is so simple, and natural, that it is safe to use on anyone, from the youngest baby to the oldest person. In fact, it is a Rejuvenator that can actually win you years of new youth!

Beating the Heat

What could be cooler than to swing out over the water catching the breeze? What could be more refreshing than to let go your swing and take the plunge?

Even if you're menstruating, there's no reason to wait on the beach while your friends are cooling off. Protect yourself internally with easy-to-carry Tampax tampons and join them.

Tampax tampons not only let you go swimming. They also let you participate in any active sport—comfortably and confidently. When inserted properly, they expand softly to fit your contours. You'll never even feel them.

The best way to beat summer's heat is to go for a swim. And to make sure you can swim every day, use Tampax tampons.

Edgar Bergen Talks About Candy, Chris and Being a Father Today

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

I visited Edgar Bergen at his exquisitely furnished home in Brentwood. A man of gentleness and manners, Bergen lives with his beautiful wife Frances, his son Christopher, 12, and his two other "children," Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd. It was like stepping into the world of yesterday.

FAMILY WEEKLY: You retired from show business, but lately you've been making a comeback. Why?

BERGEN: Like Sinatra, I got tired of doing nothing. Maybe I just had to prove I can still do it. Feed my ego. Then, once you have made an appearance, the action starts all over again and you just keep going.

FW: Do you feel that audiences have changed a great deal in the last couple of decades?

BERGEN: I should say they have! Frankly, I don't understand how people can stand in line for an hour and a half to see a picture that makes them vomit and faint.

FW: Do you think today's films have a bad influence on young people?

BERGEN: How can I blame Chris after he's heard four-letter words used in a film and comes home and uses them? I still scold him, but I'm not sure he deserves it.

FW: Have you ever considered the idea of going into television full time?

BERGEN: A couple of years ago I was asked to play the grandfather in "The Waltons" series. It's a marvelous part and I love the show, but I couldn't see myself getting up at six every morning—for anything anymore.

FW: I understand that Candy [his daughter, actress Candice Bergen] used to be jealous of Charlie McCarthy when she was little. Is that true?

BERGEN: No, not really. When she was three I used to put her on one knee and Charlie on the other, and have them talk Edgar Bergen, his wife Frances and son Chris stand behind two boys who need no introduction—Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd.

each other. One day I asked her, "Isn't it marvelous that Charlie can talk?" and she said, "But I can see your lips moving, Daddy."

FW: Are you a strict father?

BERGEN: No, never. I believe in love and discipline, but I don't think you could ever call me strict.

FW: Do you think Chris wants to go into show business?

BERGEN: I certainly won't talk him into it, but I think he has a fine sense of humor and there are some signs that he may end up in it.

FW: Both Candy and Chris grew up in show-business surroundings and were raised by wealthy parents. How did you keep them from getting spoiled?

BERGEN: That's a tough question to answer. In neighborhoods like Beverly Hills and Brentwood, there are good kids and there are bad kids. If I had my choice I would rather live in a small town. But as for keeping the kids from getting spoiled, we really didn't do anything. We just hoped for the best.

FW: Did you raise Chris and Candy differently?

BERGEN: In a way, because I have more time with Chris than I had with Candy. I'm not as busy now as I was. But in both cases I made a point for us to spend time together.

FW: How did you do that?

BERGEN: Well, when Candy was three, for instance, the two of us would go to the Grand Canyon. When she was four, I took her to Yellowstone. I read her bedtime stories. Braided her hair. That way we built up a friendship that has lasted. The same with Chris. Last year we went to Europe together and had a great time.

FW: Who's the more affectionate of your children?

BERGEN: I never thought a boy could be as affectionate as a girl, but Chris is. I go away for a couple of days and I get a warm embrace when I come back. Or when he says good-night to me, he embraces me. It's a wonderful feeling for a father. Or when I come home, he'll slap me on the back. One time Frances asked him to stop and I told her, "Be grateful he's not crocheting! Let him rough-house!"

FW: What about allowances for the children?

BERGEN: I never gave them very much. I have a feeling that Chris picks up the change I have on the top of my dresser. That isn't the right thing to do. When I talked to Candy about it, she said she did the same thing 20 years ago!

FW: Do you sometimes wish that Candy were married and had made you a grandfather?

BERGEN: I don't believe in early marriages. I was 41 or 42 when I got married because I was too busy with my show. As far as Candy is concerned, with her talent, her first marriage probably wouldn't be her only marriage. People have a great deal more freedom today than I had at her age.

FW: Do you ever miss the old vaudeville days?

BERGEN: Yes, in a way. After so many years in vaudeville, sometimes I feel I've just got to be on my own and I'll go to a nearby motel and spend a night or two. It's like being on a retreat. More often than not I'll go to Palm Springs where we have a condominium.

FW: How much has Hollywood changed in the past generation?

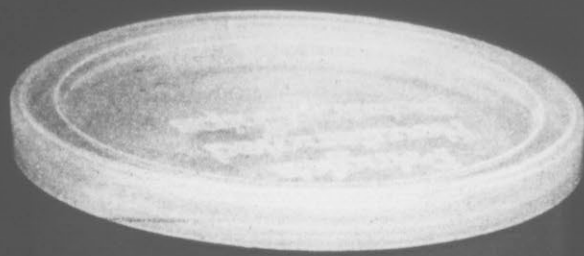

BERGEN: Well, let me give you one example. Thirty years ago when I went to a premiere I had a town car with a glass partition and a chauffeur, and I spoke through a tube to give him instructions. Today when I go to a premiere—and I am a lot better off now than I was then—I wouldn't be seen with a chauffeur unless I were too old or too feeble to wheel myself around. At the same time, I miss the glamour.

ANNOUNCING A GREAT NEW BUY FOR COLLECTORS AND INVESTORS

World of Flight

A limited first edition of proof finish pure silver ingots at only $14.95 each.

ONLY 15,000 SETS IN .999 FINE SILVER — AT A GUARANTEED PRICE!

Man has dreamed of flying since the earliest dawn of Time. He has filled his myths, legends and sagas with heroic tales of men and gods who sought to conquer the skies...

Man made his first successful ascent into the air less than 200 years ago, yet today he challenges the stars.

A MAGNIFICENT FINE ART COLLECTION

Now The Hamilton Mint captures the whole, soul-stirring epoch of Man and Flight—from Icarus, the mythical Greek who flew with wings of wax, to today's Jumbo Jets. In fifty masterpieces of the sculptor's art are the aircraft and their adventures in war and peace that have thrilled mankind. The entire cavalcade is here: The Wright Brothers; Lindbergh; Flying the Air Mail; First Flights over the North and South Poles; the B-17 Flying Fortress; Wiley Post; Baron Richtofen's Flying Circus; The Thompson Trophy Races; The China Clipper and more. All in precious metal. All designed brilliantly by Sculptor Brian Bridges. And, all faithfully executed by the skilled artisans of The Hamilton Mint. Truly a memorable collection of lasting value.

A LIMITED FIRST EDITION SERIES

The Hamilton Mint, known for its magnificent relief sculpture, will mint only 15,000 First Edition Proof Sets in .999 Fine Silver (the purest Silver available anywhere, at any price). Each flawless, gleaming mirror-like ingot will contain 480 grains of Pure Silver... a total of 24,000 grains of Pure Silver, for your entire 50 ingot collection. Only one complete First Edition "Proof" Set will be minted to order for each subscriber, thus protecting the integrity of this edition. And no more will be struck once the edition limits have been minted. This Hamilton Mint WORLD OF FLIGHT series will then be available only from the original subscribers or their heirs!

YOUR VALUABLE PERSONAL SERIAL NUMBER STRUCK EXPRESSLY FOR YOU!

Your individual proof finish ingots will be minted expressly for you and each ingot will be inscribed with your personal serial number. A Certificate of Authenticity will also be issued to certify the Limited Edition status and precious metal content of each ingot.

Your first two ingots will be sent soon after your Collector's Application is approved. All future ingots in this collection will be issued at the rate of two each month.

SIGNIFICANT INVESTMENT POTENTIAL

This important opportunity to acquire ingots of artistic and historical significance in Silver and Gold is at a time when leading economists and investment advisors are predicting silver and gold will continue to become even more valuable in the years to come. Collectors have already realized bonanzas. A 1970 Christmas Ingot, for example, was issued for $12.00 and is now being re-sold for $195. A 1972 Thanksgiving Ingot containing 1 oz. of silver originally sold for $4.50 and is now trading at about $24.50.

24 KT. Gold on .999 Pure Silver Ingots Connoisseur's Archive Collection

The beauty of this collection is made even more exquisite and the ingots more valuable with 24 Kt. Gold layered on Pure Silver. Only 5000 of each First Edition Proof Sets will be minted in this strictly limited Archive Edition. Each ingot in this collection will also be individually hallmarked and serially numbered and will cost just $18.50 each.

GUARANTEED PRICE PROTECTION

For a limited time, subscribers to The Hamilton Mint WORLD OF FLIGHT series are guaranteed the original charter subscribers' price of $14.95 for each Pure Silver ingot in the series... no matter what happens to the price of silver in the International Money Market. The price of Silver has more than doubled during the past year, and is likely to increase even more before this collection is completed. Please don't hesitate! In order to protect the investment value of your collection you must subscribe now. Your order can only be accepted if it is received in time to be included within the edition limits.

FREE ILLUSTRATED WORLD OF FLIGHT REFERENCE BOOK

Each subscriber will receive, at no additional cost, a specially prepared and completely illustrated reference book that describes each subject in this series. Beautifully reproduced in four color, your reference book has been specially designed to fit into the collector's album slipcase along with your ingot collection.

TONY WALDROP:
Is He the Greatest Miler Ever?

Tony Waldrop from Columbus, N.C. (population 800), calls himself a "country boy"—but since the beginning of this year word of Tony's running greatness has spread around the world. During a seven-week period between mid-January and early March, Tony completed ©1974 R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

The original cigarette.

The Original Length.
Others have added millimeters, filters and traps, but nobody ever found a way to pack in more flavor than the original Camel.

The Original Camel.
His name was Old Joe and he was just another face with Barnum & Bailey. Our artist sketched him, and 60 years later Old Joe remains world famous as the symbol of the finest cigarette made.

The Original Disappearing Pyramid.
Once we took this pyramid out to give Old Joe more walking room. Several tons of angry mail later, it was back in place forever.

The Original Blend.
The original measure of a cigarette was taste. So we blended the Burley, Virginia and Turkish tobaccos that deliver the most taste. Result: Camel, still the best tasting cigarette in the world.

seven consecutive mile races in less than four minutes, a feat never before accomplished in track annals. Waldrop, who's 22, put together his string in indoor competitions starting with the East Coast Invitational at Richmond, Va., on January 19, where he turned in a 3:59.5 clocking, and ending with the National Collegiate championship meet at Detroit on March 9, where he ran another 3:59.5. Waldrop's most sensational performance came at the San Diego Indoor Games, February 17, where he broke Tom O'Hara's ten-year-old world indoor record with a time of 3:55.0. . . . Then, later, in the Penn Relays, Tony turned in a best effort of 3:53.2. . . . Tony, who's 5-11 and 145 pounds, is given a strong chance to overtake Jim Ryun's world record. Ryun's 3:51.1 has stood the test of time since June 23, 1967. . . . Surprisingly, Waldrop was not especially gifted as a high school miler. "I ran only 4:31 when I was a freshman," he recalls, "and when I graduated I was down to 4:18, not good enough to get many offers from colleges." Tony ended up accepting an academic scholarship to North Carolina, where he majored in political science as a college track man. An introspective young man, Tony shies away from talk that he is one of the track world's current wonders. "I've been lucky," he says. But he adds, "Maybe someday I'll look back and it'll mean a lot more to me than it does now. It's nice that I'm doing so well, but it isn't the whole world to me." Joe Hilton, Waldrop's college coach, says, "Tony doesn't even know how good he is. In a way that's fine. It keeps him from getting too cocky about his races. But I think he could become the greatest miler ever."

Summer Survival Guide:

Tips Your Looks Can't Live Without

Whether you're an outdoor woman or not, summer makes its own special beauty demands. Here are timely tips to help you live up to your summer beauty potential.

Sun-Care Clues

1. Experts agree that a sun hat or beach umbrella is insufficient protection against the sun's burning rays. Sand or concrete can reflect the sun's rays and contribute to a painful sunburn. Even a walk to work or to the store dressed in a halter or cutout fashions can be transformed into a painful experience. So be sure to protect all exposed skin at all times with a suntan product containing a sunscreen. Or else stay out of the sun.

2. There's no need to stock up on lots of bottles and tubes. Some suntan preparations can also be used as moisturizers. For example, a lotion like Coppertone Shade is a recommended facial moisturizer that has two sunscreens for sun-sensitive skins.

Cosmetic Ideas

1. Don't give up on eye makeup just because you lead an active life and ordinary eye makeup tends to smudge or crease. Whether you're in the swim or perspiring at tennis, you can solve annoying makeup drip without sacrificing glamour by choosing waterproof cosmetics. They are easily removed with makeup-remover oil or cleansing cream.

2. While there are no hard-and-fast rules on eye-shadow color, it is not the thing this summer to precisely match eye shadow to clothing. For the most up-to-date look, select a shadow that harmonizes with your clothing. For example, choose pewter or misty teal to complement the important summer "naturals" — beige, tan, white. If you insist on matching eye shadow to your outfit, match it to the smallest block of color.

Your Hair

1. Fashionable heads should wear hats and scarves this summer, both for glamour and to protect the hair, especially color-treated hair, from color changes and drying due to the sun.

2. Hair grows faster in summer, so why not consider a really short cut. Even if you decide you don't like short hair, it will grow out by fall. Ask your hairdresser to teach you how to blow it dry so you needn't fuss with rollers.

3. Here's a fast set: After you wash your hair or after a swim, comb it smooth and twist pencil-thick strands into fat pin curls. If your hair is medium length, it will dry in about half an hour, and you can brush it into a soft pageboy. If your hair is shorter, roll the pin curls up and away from your face for a different effect.

Good Grooming and Exercise

1. Are you embarrassed to wear a revealing swimsuit because of superfluous hair on your legs, or do you find shaving your legs every couple of days a bother? Then why not ask your beauty salon about a professional waxing? Most waxing enthusiasts say it's a relatively painless procedure that leaves the skin smooth and hair-free for about six weeks.

2. Swimming is the best exercise of all. Resolve to take lessons this summer. Even if you don't learn to swim, you will burn up calories trying!

You can solve makeup drip without sacrificing glamour: choose waterproof cosmetics.

By Arlene Dahl:

"Planning Your Vacation? Don't Forget to Take a Beautiful Face!"

Follow Arlene Dahl's advice to put "beauty on your horizon!"

If you're planning two weeks in the country, an adventurous tour of Europe or a trip to the shore, plan ahead for a beauty-filled vacation.

- Select a hairstyle that's easy to manage and that will complement you and your mode of travel—and don't forget to pack your hair dryer. Take along a wig or two for convenience and a "touch-up" preparation if you color your hair.

- Kits are wonderful—and handy. Special containers for your manicure tools and sewing necessities keep them together and easily accessible.

If you're going abroad, you'll cherish a miniature wash kit with midget clothespins and line. At night, smooth laundered hankies on your tiled bathroom wall. Next morning they'll pull off without a wrinkle!

Lingerie cases are ideal to hold your sachet, underwear, nightgowns, negligees and small baby pillow. It's important to carry the latter with you, as most hotel pillows are oversized and hard.

- Streamline your makeup necessities. Choose a cream or lotion that can double as a makeup remover, lubricant and even a powder base. Take only the amount you'll need. Don't forget such items as shampoo, hair spray, dental floss, toothbrush and paste, hand and body lotions, hair cover-ups (scarves and turbans) and your favorite fragrance. Then, too, you'll need a good sun block or screen. And don't forget sunglasses and vitamins.

Movie star Arlene Dahl has long been famous as a beauty consultant. She has her own company, Arlene Dahl Enterprises, Ltd., in New York.

- Put your cosmetics in plastic jars or bottles. They minimize weight as well as the danger of leakage and breakage. They usually save space, too.

Take only the quantities needed, but allow for variety. Different locales have varying climates that require special adaptations of your beauty routine. Add these extras for travel beauty: small facial linens (for your purse) to absorb excess oils before powdering; a colorless lip moisturizer for dry lips resulting from climate changes; eyewash and eyedrops to cleanse your eyes from dusty travel and fatigue. (Use the eyewash to dampen your eyeliner brush or eyeshadow if water is scarce.)

- Soap, soap, soap: powdered or liquid for laundering; a small non-alkaline facial one to carry in your purse; and one that's sweetly scented for your beauty bath.

While luxuriating in your bath at the end of a long travel day, lubricate your face well—especially around the eyes, then close them and relax while tensions disappear. Sometimes I use my bath time to do a series of facial-massage exercises designed to help erase forehead and frown lines, relieve tired eyes and firm the chin line. They only take two minutes a day. Try them. They really work if performed daily.

- Forehead lines—should be massaged in alternating up-and-down strokes, with the forefingers moving slowly toward the left with medium pressure. This vertical motion across the horizontal lines of the forehead helps smooth the brow. Repeat this "ironing out" process from right to left and back again at least five times—more if needed.

- Frown lines—can be minimized by using the same two fingers in horizontal back-and-forth strokes starting just above the lines and working down to the bridge of the nose then back up again. If frown lines are deep, repeat five to seven times a day.

- Tired eyes—can be relieved while improving the circulation around this area. Dark circles and bags can also benefit. Place the first fingers of each hand on your temples and push in firmly. At the same time close your eyes as tight as possible—hold for a count of five, release fingers and relax. Repeat five times.

- The chin line will be firmer if you repeat this tension-relaxing exercise at least five times a day. Place the balls of your two thumbs underneath your chin. Press up against the chin with your thumbs as hard as you can; at the same time press down with your chin with equal pressure. Each pressure should resist the other and the head should remain in place. Hold for a count of five. Relax and repeat five times to prevent a double chin—ten times to help correct one.

This one does it all.

An anti-stain, anti-wetness, anti-sticky, anti-perspirant.

Some anti-perspirants promise to help keep you dry. Some tell you they feel nice when they go on. Others say they are anti-stain. Now Dial Very Dry does it all. An anti-stain, anti-wetness, anti-sticky, anti-perspirant.

New Dial Very Dry.

Scientists can reproduce skin conditions without ever leaving the laboratory.

Bill Schmitt

dermascope, placed on the face, is actually a sophisticated microscope. But instead of showing dead cells encased in a slide, as do most microscopes, the dermascope shows the skin while the living processes are under way.

But a funny thing happened during one study, Schmitt tells us: "Scientifically controlled tests came to an impasse one afternoon when the same subject, in the same room, at the same temperature and humidity, revealed two vastly different readings during the course of an hour. It was finally noted that the girl being tested had switched from reading a catalog to a sexy novel. Its contents stimulated her life processes, including her temperature and rate of moisture loss!"

A "Beauty Chemist" And What He Knows

By Rosalyn Abrevaya

Some days scientist Bill Schmitt does experiments on how long it takes to get a tan in Phoenix. Other times, he may compare the effects of the humidity and sun on Cape Cod with the effects of the humidity and sun in downtown Seattle. And he does it without leaving his laboratory in Connecticut.

Researcher Schmitt—who has examined the skin of more than 5,000 women—says his studies reveal the following interesting facts:

1. Fat people sunburn much more easily than thin people. The lymphoid tissue that adds the plumpness is especially reactive to the sun.
2. Moisturizer doesn't make the skin soft. It's the moisture content within the skin. The reason for using moisturizer is to create a protective barrier to prevent the loss of natural moisture.
3. The worst hazard to most women's complexions is dry air, caused by the low humidity of air conditioning in the summer and artificial heat in the winter.

Schmitt, who works for Chesebrough-Ponds, achieves the impossible with the aid of many interesting testing devices. One is a machine called a sun simulator, a boxlike contraption that can register the amount of burning rays given off by the sun anywhere in the world. Schmitt also has a little room—the "hot box"—where he can turn on hot weather. Have you ever wondered how it feels in the middle of Death Valley at high noon? Or what it's like to be trudging through the Everglades?

In the six-by-eight-foot "hot box," Schmitt has an intriguing process called the Moisture Vapor Transmission Test that evaluates how much moisture skin loses under different environmental conditions. Since the climate of any area in the world can be reproduced in the "hot box," lotions can be evaluated for their effectiveness under all conditions.

In pursuing his experiments, Schmitt has verified that a tan will last longer (with no flaking or peeling) when a moisturizer is used over a sun lotion.

No visit to Bill Schmitt's research laboratory is complete without a dermascope test. The Medicine Chest: At-a-Glance Bulletins From the Changing World of Medical Science...

PROSTRATE WITH YOUR PROSTATE?

As a man gets older, so does his prostate gland. And often it begins to trouble him. Two problems that can arise are infection, which produces inflammation, and enlargement of the gland, which slows down urination. Another problem, the most dreaded one, is cancer of the prostate. There are some new products, however, that can reduce or protect against some of these. Infection and inflammation are now treated with a new antibacterial, trimethoprim. Available by prescription only, it is sold as Septra or Bactrim, which are combinations of trimethoprim with a sulfonamide. No breakthrough has yet occurred in the treatment of cancer of the prostate. However, a most important link between cancer of the prostate in men and cancer of the uterus or breast in their wives has been observed by Dr. John K. Lattimer, professor of urology at New York's Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center. For that reason, he advises wives to have more frequent examinations as a precaution against developing cancer. While there is no direct cause-and-effect relationship, there is evidence that a virus may be involved in prostate cancer that could produce a cancerous condition in the wife, through sexual intercourse, if her resistance is somehow impaired.

INFLATION — CAUSE OF HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE?

That is what Dr. Oshima of Nihon University Medical School says. He believes that rising prices produce mental stress, which, accentuated by work pressure in modern Japan, causes high blood pressure (HBP). Japan's change from a fish diet to a Western meat diet only adds to the danger of HBP. With medication, however, the HBP (though not the high prices) can be held in check.

WANTED: HUMAN BEING, M.D. Is your doctor human? He may not be. He may be a medical machine instead, because today's medical student is dehumanized by education, according to several participants at the AMA-sponsored Congress of Medical Education. Psychiatrist David E. Reiser of Denver's University of Colorado Medical Center deplors this dehumanization. The medical student, he frets, is not taught to cope with the stresses in which he finds himself. He deals with them by detachment and by denial of his feelings.

How can medical education be humanized? By teaching students that a doctor's empathy contributes to his patients' improvement. Another participant at the Congress, Dr. A. R. Dyer of Duke University School of Medicine, pleads that doctors must remain human if medical practice is to remain a humanistic calling.

WHEN YOU THROW SPITBALLS...

Choose your paper carefully. Because if you make spitballs from chewed-up Sunday comics, four-color magazines or pictures from children's books, you can get lead poisoning. The colors used in printing these are chockful of lead, though non-lead printing inks are slowly being introduced into the market.

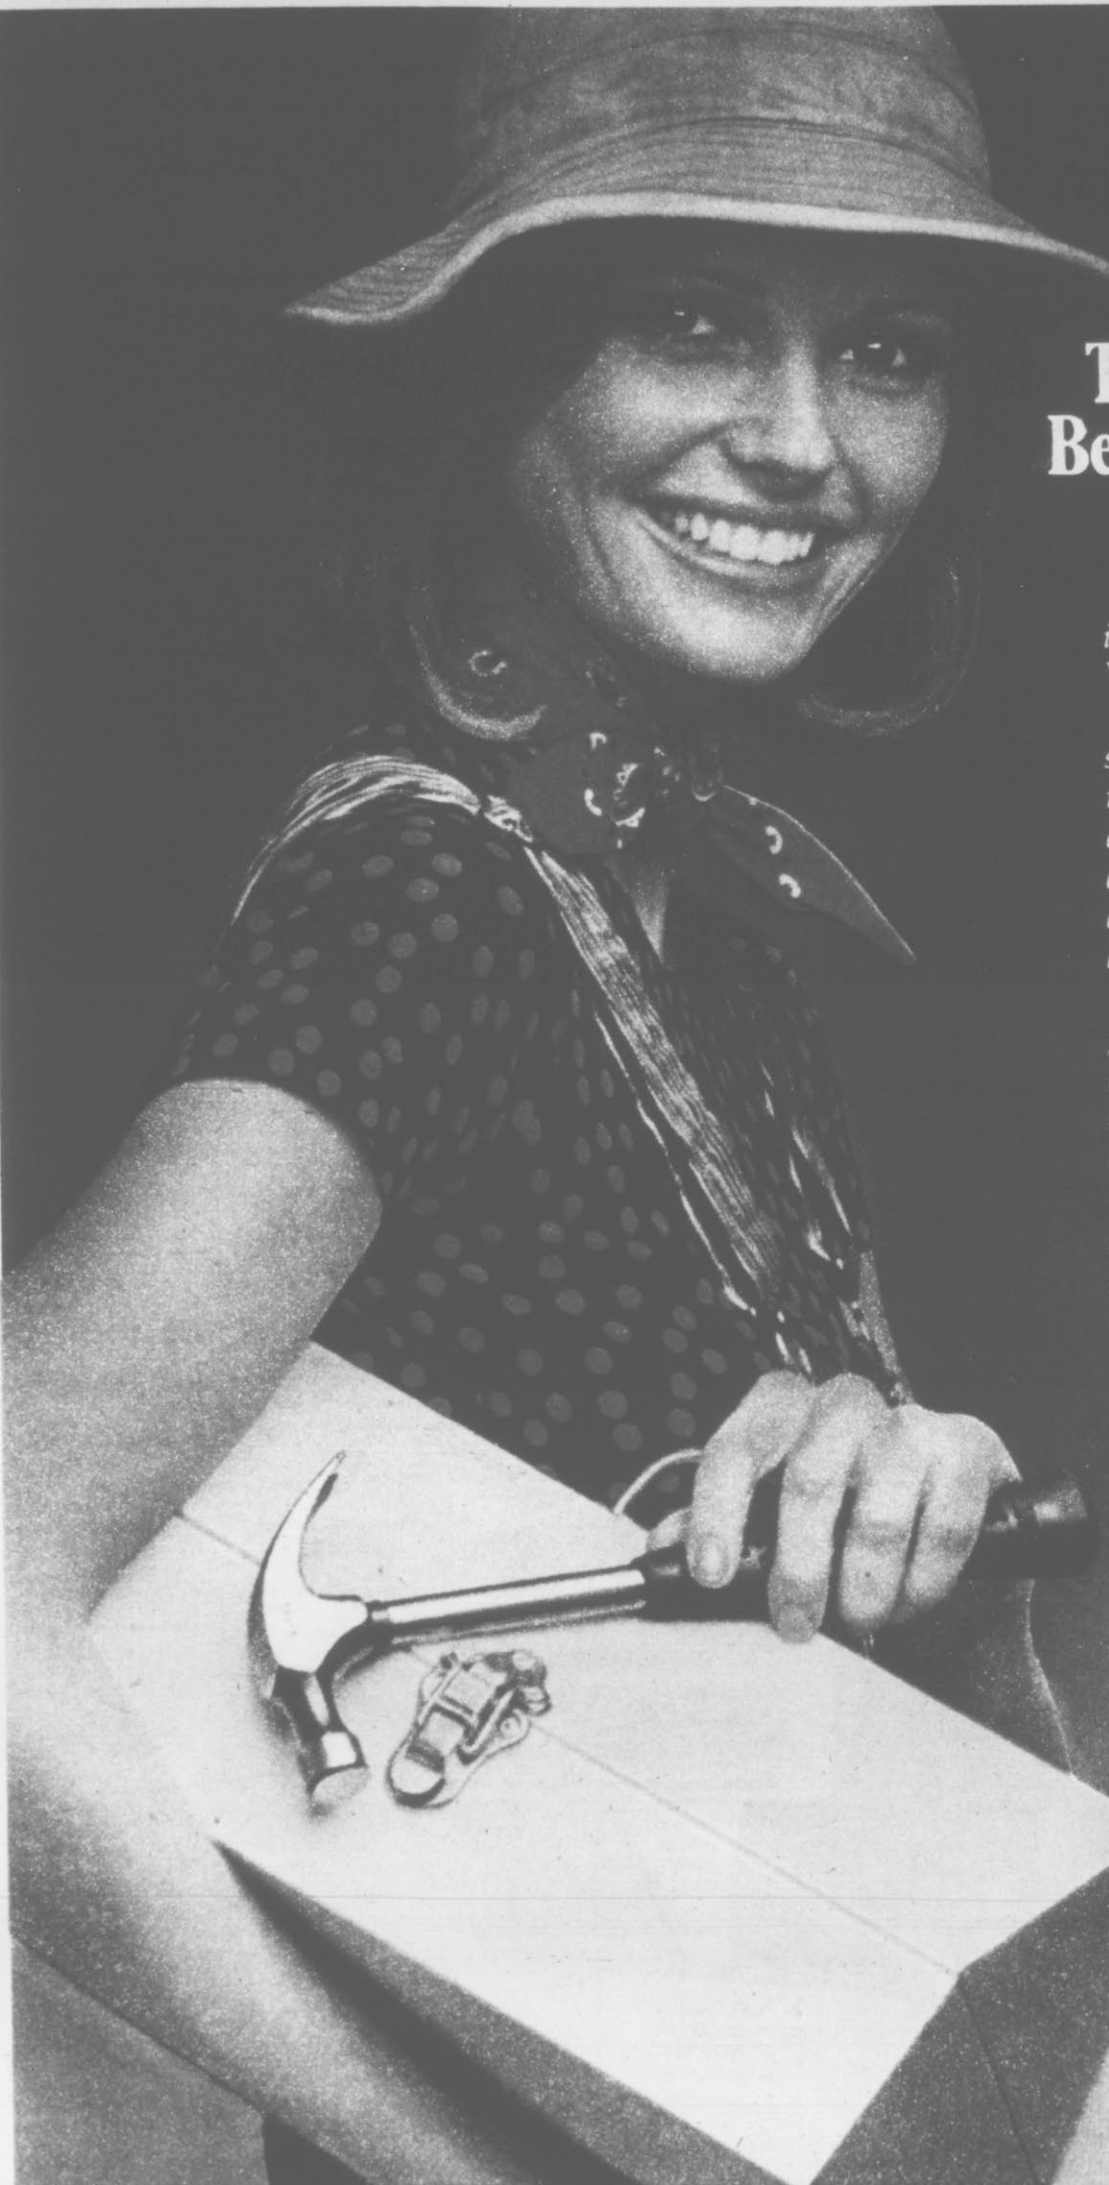

DIAGNOSES BY READING TEA LEAVES?

Not quite, but difficult diagnoses may well be aided by clairvoyants, palmists, astrologers, numerologists and other sensitives or psychics who often tune in on the correct diagnosis. That is what Dr. C. N. Shealy of the Pain Rehabilitation Center of La Crosse, Wis., declares. He has had first-hand experience. Working with eight different kinds of sensitives or psychics, he found that in 52 out of 60 times they were right in determining the correct location of pain. That is a high batting average for people not using regular diagnostic means. Dr. Shealy is in the process of correlating his cases. He believes that in difficult diagnoses, it is possible that the readings of the sensitives may turn out to be right 80 percent to 90 percent of the time—a formidable proportion!

RELAXATION WITHOUT DROWSINESS.

People who truly need tranquilizers often refuse to take them because although they want to lessen their anxiety, they don't want to fall asleep during the day. The usual tranquilizers reduce people's awareness and make them drowsy. But a new tranquilizer that reduces anxiety but has a very weak sedative effect is being tested. Called pyrazapon, it is not yet available. When the tests are completed, it will be marketed by Parke, Davis and Company.

One of the Most Shocking and Candid Books Ever Written is Volume 1 of CRIMES and PUNISHMENT

Al Capone

John Dillinger

Hell's Angels

Bruno Richard Hauptmann

Adolf Hitler

"Pretty Boy" Floyd

Lee Harvey Oswald

Bonnie and Clyde

The FIRST Pictorial Encyclopedia of Crime & Punishment

A startling look at the world through the eyes of criminals, con men and the super-cops who bring them to justice!

CRIMES AND PUNISHMENT is a vital social document of unprecedented importance that is bolder than detective fiction and more intriguing than conventional journalism. This definitive encyclopedia probes far behind the headlines as it lays bare the history of the violent age in which we live.

Forget about your free gift if you "don't want to get involved." Volume 1 involves you to the hilt, as it shows you how life looks to the assassin and criminal, and reveals the modern methods used in the war against crime. If you're curious about criminal behavior, if you would like to peer into the incredible subculture of the underworld, return the accompanying coupon without delay and receive what may well be the most remarkable volume you have ever read on any subject!

The distinguished editors of this unique and reasonably priced new series have compiled a wealth of information—much of which is published here for the first time. You'll read the true accounts of the most notorious crimes of all—the Sharon Tate murder case . . . the story of Param Youngblood . . . the atrocities of Hitler's black SS . . . the Mau Mau. You'll follow the careers of the Marquis de Sade, Rasputin, Willie "the Actor" Sutton, "Lord Haw-Haw," Bonnie and Clyde. All in all there are nearly 3000 gripping pages, more than 2000 incredible photographs.

Each volume highlights the great crimes, the great trials, the history of criminology, and includes an encyclopedic section which is part of a comprehensive 20-volume "A to Z" of crime. Throughout, the emphasis is on you: how you are affected by crime . . . what you can do to protect yourself . . . how science and the law work to preserve your life and liberty.

The world's first pictorial encyclopedia of crime and punishment is available only by mail. To receive your fascinating 144-page complimentary volume, just mail the coupon back to us. Accepting Volume 1 does not commit you to purchase anything—ever. And you may examine any other volumes in the series FREE FOR 10 DAYS, if you wish to do so. But do act now and claim, as a free gift, one of the most important volumes ever written on crime and punishment.

NORTH CANTON, OHIO

From this moment on, forget everything you've ever been told about making and saving money—because almost over night you can learn to change your mail box into a money machine. You'll learn how to open it six days a week for the next year to pull out a guaranteed minimum of $500—absolutely tax free or your money back.

Unless you simply don't need $500 in extra cash for 1974—to spend any way you like—take a few minutes to read about the simple, step-by-step method I've worked out.

The method is so incredibly easy that anyone can master it quickly—yet so valuable that it will give you and your family the money you need to buy the luxuries in life before you are too old to enjoy them. You can follow the method in just a few spare minutes a day—without any previous experience. And yes, it's all perfectly legal.

Sound impossible? It's really not. In fact, it's been proved by thousands of people just like you. You CAN learn the secret of how to get SOMETHING for NOTHING through the "magic" of refunding. But first, here's exactly what refunding is and exactly how refunding works.

It's simplicity itself. Refunding is the process of sending box-tops and labels to companies which offer to send you cash, coupons or gifts in return. You've probably taken advantage of offers like these from time to time in a hit-and-miss way. But, you discovered that the "profits" were small—hardly worth the effort. Me too.

But, once I found out that the big companies like Campbell's, Proctor & Gamble, General Mills, Borden's and Lever Brothers make 2,000 to 3,000 giveaway offers every year worth millions of dollars—I set out to find the way to get my share of all that money.

By trial and error and by reading and studying everything I could get my hands on by refunding experts, I finally figured out a simple, step-by-step method for raking in over $500 a year. The method was tested again and again to make sure it really works. It does. It's almost foolproof.

And now I've written down everything you need to know about the magic of refunding—so that you too can cash in on the gold mine just sitting there in your cupboard. I can hardly believe it myself, but I've actually had it published by The Good News Publishing Company in a book called "How To Turn Box-Tops & Labels Into Gold."

If you have any doubt in the world that you can take in the extra cash you need—here are some reported experiences of avid refunders:

- "I have been putting all my refunds in a special bank account...I have over $1,000 saved..."
- "I'm planning a week in Nassau with the special fund garnered from coupons and labels..."

How YOU Can Turn Box-Tops Into Gold!

My husband laughed when I told him we could rake in over $500 a year with my "crazy" idea. "Too simple," he said. But today we both laugh all the way to the bank.

by Mrs. Ellen Michael

© 1974 The Good News Publishing Company

Now, shopping is a money-making adventure, not a chore. You too can claim your share of the million dollar giveaway—when you know how.

• "I owed my mother-in-law $50... I've repaid $47 through refunding..."

• "This is really a god-send to me. Last month I received $62 in cash and about $30 in coupons for food..."

• "With refunds I have been able to buy gifts for birthdays and weddings..."

• "It seems that every time the mail comes in, I have 50¢ to $1.25 in change—sometimes crisp dollar bills..."

• "In the last few months I have saved over $150... that's not counting free cans and packages of food. Last year I bought a bedroom rug and a lawn edger out of my refund money..."

Money doesn't grow on trees, so stop for a minute to figure out how much cash—in the form of box-tops and labels—you've thrown into your trash can in the last few months. $200 or more would be a good guess.

I'll make you this promise: when you follow my method, you'll never do that again. Instead, you'll get the thrill of having your mail box filled to overflowing with money. You'll learn exactly how to claim your share of refunds on everything from soup to nuts. Just imagine, $2.00 for 4 Ajax box-tops; $1.00 for a Pillsbury Coffee Cake label; $1.00 for 3 Axion box-tops; $2.00 for a Palmolive Gold soap label.

Every one of these cash refunds were actually offered last year.

Let me give you one warning, though. When you first start to use my method, some people may say, "What's the use—you only get back a quarter at a time." They may even laugh the way my husband did. Don't pay any attention to them. A national magazine survey reported that people from Maine to California take in an average of $420.00 a year refunding. If they can do it, you can too.

And money isn't the only thing you'll learn to get once you've read my book and followed my simple method. Top quality merchandise is offered regularly for box-tops and labels. For example, in the last year or so a Poloroid camera was given away for snack food labels; an electric deep fryer for oil labels; an electric mixer for fruit labels; bath towels for soup boxes; toys, dolls and games for mouthwash labels—plus hundreds more.

But make no mistake about it—unless you have the tips, advice and guidance you'll find in "How To Turn Box-Tops & Labels Into Gold" at your fingertips—you won't have a prayer. And, the only way to get your copy is to order it now, by mail. It's not for sale at any bookstore or newsstand in the world—at any price.

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

What Makes a Happy Marriage?

True or False: Regardless of the situation, it's hazardous to a marriage when a wife uses sex as a weapon. (See number 2)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. If you're trying to decide whether or not you should get married, the last thing you should do is to go to an outsider and ask for advice.
2. Regardless of the situation, it's hazardous to a marriage when a wife uses sex as a weapon.
3. A wife's reaction when her husband forgets her birthday or their wedding anniversary reveals a lot about their marriage relationship.
4. You can tell in advance how well you're likely to get along with your future mother-in-law.

ANSWERS

1. False—as evidenced by psychological studies at a leading university, which demonstrated that an impartial third party can predict the chances of a dating couple's marriage being successful with a high degree of accuracy. It has been noted that a third party is capable of evaluating a couple's character, attitudes, similarities and dissimilarities far more objectively, and thus in truer perspective, than the couple themselves.
2. True. As one leading behavioral scientist has observed in summing up the findings of studies on the subject: "In many instances, a vicious cycle of marital incompatibility results from a tendency on the part of the husband, when frustrated by his wife in the love relationship, to react by developing an attitude of bitter grievance, which prevents a reconciliation."
3. True. The more confident a wife is of her husband's love and affection, the less likely she is to make a federal case out of it when he forgets birthdays or wedding anniversaries.
4. True—as evidenced by a study of in-law relationships, which showed that the more your spouse's mother or father resembles your own parent personality-wise, the better you are going to hit it off.

New E-Longe Lotion for Today's Look of LONGER, THICKER HAIR... in just 5 to 7 days!

Do you know that your hair, like any other natural fiber, can be stretched... thickened... swelled in width... and, most important, drawn and extended beyond its present "too short" appearance. And not just longer-looking... but thicker, too! The secret? Not a hormone... but a newly developed amino extract that takes up where nature left off as it expands the size of each individual hair. Gives more flex, more stretch for that longer, thicker, fuller appearance... those magnificent, full-flowing tresses. Works so fast you'll thrill to dramatic results in just 5 to 7 days. Yes, a rich, thick, luxurious looking head of hair... in just one week's time! Also, thicker, fuller body makes hair more manageable. And, of course, no split or broken ends. So, for today's younger look of longer, thicker hair—simply apply a few drops daily of new E-LONGE Lotion. Results guaranteed in ONE WEEK OR LESS! Contains no grease... no alcohol... keeps hair looking natural. Perfectly safe for tinted, dyed or bleached hair. Big 60-Day Economy Size only $3.98. Results guaranteed or money back. RUTHIE THE RIVETER Demolition is her thing

Australia's first woman laborer is 28-year-old Ruth Maddison, who just happens to be six feet tall. After two years at an Australian university, Ruth decided to quit and become a hardhat because the pay was good and equal to the pay for men, which, as we all know, is often not the case. The Australian Building Construction Union welcomed her and soon she was knocking the walls down. "It's really hard work," says Ruth. "Dirty and dusty. But I think that applies to men as well as women. I'm really tired at the end of the day, but I expected to have more aches than I have." When Ruth gets home at night all she wants to do is take a bath, have a meal and go to sleep.

QUOTE: "I don't play the superhero," said Bruce Lee, the late King of Kung Fu. "But the audience wants to make me one. I don't always play the same kind of role. Each role is different, although when I fight, I come out the same—like an animal. I never depend solely on my fighting skill to fulfill any of my film roles, although the audiences in Southeast Asia seem to think so. I believe it is more my personality and the expression of my body and myself. I am not acting. I am just doing my thing. When somebody tries to mimic my battle cries or grimaces, he makes himself look ridiculous. There are two types of actors—the versatile, who can go from character to character, and then there is the kind who is typecast, like Clint Eastwood, John Wayne. . . . I see myself as lying somewhere between the two. I am a personality and each role I play shares a bit of that personality." From "The Legend of Bruce Lee," by Alex Ben Block (Dell, $1.25). UNQUOTE.

LORETTA SWIT
The only woman

Loretta Swit is the only woman in "M*A*S*H." "In the beginning," says the actress who plays "Hot Lips Houlihan," "this was a strain. I had the feeling that everyone felt when a woman said something, she had to be 100 percent right. But we've all grown and changed as we've worked together. Two years ago I was terribly aware of women's abuse in the business. Now I am beginning to see a total acceptance.

They've even hired women writers. I think that's a decided step forward in the thinking. Now I'm mixed in like a person—not a female of the species."

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY By Richard Armour

SIMPLY GRAND

What is grand about a grandchild,
That is, a planned or else unplanned child?

One thing, a very nice sensation,
Is this: Another generation,
A feeling, with this latest trend of things,
You are the start and not the end of things.
Your children's children can have children,

Their children children. It's bewildren.
At least it helps offset, I'm saying,
Your loss of hearing and your graying,
Your pains arthritic, need for glasses, Forgetting more, each day that passes. . . .

A grandchild's grand, a thing of glory,
Or anyhow compensatory.

A stout woman glared at her fellow passengers on a bus. "Isn't anyone going to offer me a seat?" A slim man got up and said, "I'm willing to make a contribution." —Conrad Fiorello

One businessman to another: "My secretary would never erase a tape recording while talking over the telephone. That would require her to do two things at once." —Lane Olinghouse

RACE

I take the fee for my labors
And spend it on gadgets and raiments.
I'm keeping up with the neighbors
But I'm getting behind in the payments.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Will your health insurance pay when you DON'T go to the hospital?

Mutual of Omaha's disability income insurance can provide benefits both IN and OUT of the hospital...

UP TO	AS MUCH AS
$1,200.00	$40.00

when a covered sickness or injury keeps you from working.

Mutual of Omaha plan can do for your grocery, rent and more... is a homemakers' plan for housewives, too.

Our figures show that you're seven times more likely to be laid-up at home than in the hospital. That could leave an awful lot of bills unpaid if your health insurance covers you only in the hospital. Mutual of Omaha thinks you need protection at home, too... and does something about it.

As the breadwinner, you can select the amount you qualify for (from $100.00 to $1,200.00 a month... up to $40.00 a day) to help replace your pay when a covered sickness or injury keeps you from working. These monthly disability benefits are all yours to spend as you please for any purpose you choose... yours to use for every kind of bill.

THERE ARE SEVEN REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD CONSIDER THIS MUTUAL OF OMAHA PLAN:

1. You may qualify for a plan that can provide up to $1,200.00 monthly income benefits (up to $40.00 a day) to spend as you see fit when you're sick or hurt and can't work!
2. These disability benefits are provided both IN and OUT of the hospital!
3. Your coverage becomes effective immediately for new sickness contracted or injury received after your policy is in force. Pre-existing conditions (old health problems) will not be covered for 12 months. This applies to such conditions shown on your application and not excluded from coverage.

See "Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom" on TV, Sundays. Check local listing for time and channel.

4. Mental disorders are covered the same as any other sickness!

5. Your policy protects you as a passenger in any kind of aircraft—even a private plane!

6. Benefits are provided for disabilities incurred both on and off the job. They are available in addition to any Workmen's Compensation and Employer's Liability coverage!

7. You have this renewal agreement: no matter how often you may receive benefits, Mutual of Omaha guarantees to renew your policy as long as premiums are paid on time. Your premium can be changed only when changed for all policies of the same form and class in your state.

Please note that the amount of the benefit, the premium, and the deductible period vary with the plan you qualify for. And that these disability income benefits are not payable for losses caused by war or military service; narcotics, unless prescribed by a physician; childbirth, pregnancy, or resulting complications; disabilities that start after retirement or age 65, whichever comes first.

Get the full facts about this fine protection that can cover you both in and out of the hospital. They are yours for the asking, and you will also receive information about the fine plans to meet your life insurance needs now available from Mutual of Omaha's affiliate, United of Omaha. These facts are yours without cost or obligation if you write to Mutual of Omaha, Reader's Service, Department 1261, Omaha, Nebraska 68131. Why don't you kids swim while Gramps and I are fishing?

We don't want to.

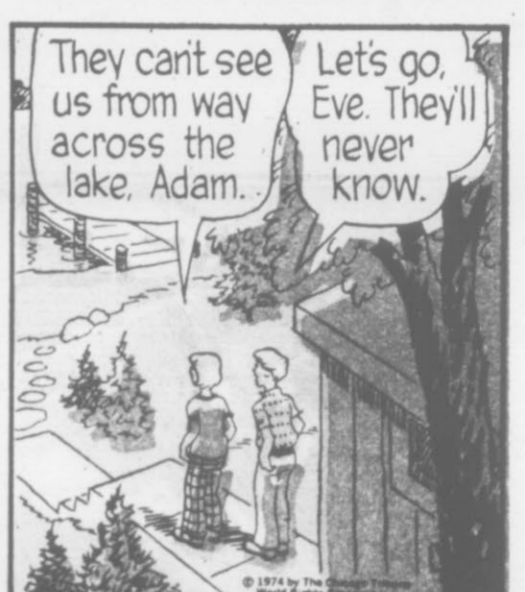

There's hardly anything that's more fun than playing on a new building, Pop.

I'm sorry.

Gramps is mad at Mr. Bloop and he doesn't want you to even look over there.

They can't see us from way across the lake, Adam.

Let's go, Eve. They'll never know.

Mr. Bloop isn't here and neither is the builder.

Hurry up.

Wow! You really ripped 'em, Eve!

We should have gone swimming after all.

Our Story: JEAN DE BERRY HAD BEEN A COURT FAVORITE, ESPECIALLY WITH THE LADIES, AND THE ARRIVAL OF HIS MEEK LITTLE WIFE IS EMBARRASSING. AS HIS ANGER WAXES, HIS CHARM WANES.

HE CANNOT REPRIMAND HER. HE CANNOT EVEN GET NEAR HER, FOR SHE IS CONSTANTLY SURROUNDED BY A MERRY THROG. WHAT IS THE ATTRACTION? IS IT THE HANDSOME SIR GAWAIN AND THE YOUNG PRINCE.....?

....OR COULD IT BE THE LADY MELLICENT? NOT SINCE THEIR HONEYMOON HAVE HER EYES SPARKLED THUS, HER FACE SO AGLOW. SHE LOOKS ALMOST PRETTY, NAY, BEAUTIFUL!

OH, HOW UNCONVENTIONAL! HE FALLS IN LOVE WITH HIS OWN WIFE! PRECEDED BY A BOX OF BONBONS AND A HUGE BOUQUET OF FLOWERS, HE GOES TO MELLICENT'S ROOM. AND WHAT HAPPENS THERE, THOUGH IMPORTANT TO THEM, IS NO CONCERN OF OURS....

...SUFFICIENT TO STATE THAT THEY BEGIN A SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY BACK HOME, MELLICENT RIDING PILLION WITH HER ARMS AROUND HER HUSBAND WHILE HE WEARS THAT SILLY GRIN THAT MARKS A LOVER. SIR GAWAIN DESCRIBES THE INCIDENT THUS:

"MUSH! ARN, YOU ARE AS SILLY AS YOUR FATHER, ALWAYS CONTRIVING THOSE 'HAPPY ENDINGS' LIKE HONEY INSIDE ONE'S ARMOR. BAH!"

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

CARDSHARP? Here's a simple card trick anyone can perform. Remove the four kings from a deck. Arrange them face up in a row upon the table. Ask the audience to switch one of them around (invert top to bottom) while you are out of the room. Declare you will indicate which was switched on your return. Secret: Check white margins of the king cards before the trick is performed. In most decks, picture margins vary in width on sides or at ends. If kings are placed so that wide or narrow margins are all alike at the outset, any variation later will be easy to discern.

BULLETIN BOARD

- FUNNY FIGURING! Take any five-digit number, multiply it by 11, and then multiply the result by 9091. Something unusual happens. What's that? The original number appears twice.
- Palindrome words or sentences read the same backward or forward. Examples: civic, nurses run, pa's a sap, rise to vote, sir. Can you think of some further examples?
- Harrassed mother's words: "TWX XF MY CHILDREN I PAY TX BE GXXD, WHILE XNE IS GXXD FXR NXTHING." Clue: X = O. Can you make out her words?
- Twister: Read rapidly aloud several times, if you can: "Twice trice-is-trice-twice." Lisbeth lithped.

SHIP AHOY! A ship of sorts has come in above, but an interested party seems to be missing. Join dots to complete scene.
