NEW NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL BANK BUILDING... plans are approved for a building to be constructed in the Shore Drive redevelopment area on block bounded by First, Washington, Second and Greene Streets.

NCNB Building Approved For Shore Drive Area

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

At a special meeting this morning, members of the Greenville Redevelopment Commission approved plans of developers to build a new North Carolina National Bank main office building on Parcel 9 of the Shore Drive Redevelopment area.

The developers, all local Greenville men, are Thomas F. Taft, E. Hoover Taft, III, and Thomas Rivers. They will lease the new building to NCNB, which received approval from the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency on May 16 to relocate its main office here.

The new building, which will face First Street overlooking the Town Commons, will be located in the block bounded by East First Street, East Second Street, Washington Street and Greenville Street.

Sidney R. Warner, NCNB senior vice president and Greenville area executive, said the building will be a two-story structure with a 25,000 square-foot area. Architects for the building are Smart, Woodall, Isley and Herring of Raleigh and Durham.

Architect plans call for a cast-stone exterior, drive-up windows and a parking area. Full-service banking, including trust services and safe deposit boxes will be available. Plans also include full landscaping for the area.

No estimate of the cost of the building is available; however, it was revealed the developers have a $2 million mortgage on the property.

Formal presentation of the project for consideration of members of the Redevelopment Commission was made by Thomas F. Taft.

Williams Pittman, NCNB Real Estate Officer from Charlotte, commenting on the proposed new building and its site, said: "This building will lend itself to the type of structures already built in the area. We've been studying locations for a long time, and feel this is a good area. Nice things are happening in your downtown area."

Expressing his congratulations to NCNB, Mayor S. Eugene West added, "For myself and for members of the City Council, I would like to encourage you to push for completion of your new building. The building you now occupy is the key to cleaning up the downtown area. We can't make a move until you get out, so we'd appreciate whatever you can do to expedite getting into the

Leaf Marketing Committee Now Federal Agency

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The unofficial Industrywide Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Committee which has been regulating the sale of flue-cured tobacco for several years was transformed today into a federal agency.

The membership of the new Flue-cured Tobacco Advisory Committee is essentially the same as the old group, which was composed of representatives of tobacco growers, warehousemen and the tobacco industry.

Frank Byrant of Booneville, who served as chairman of the old group, was elected chairman of the new agency.

Other officers are Thomas DeJarnette of South Boston, Va., first vice chairman; Howard Cone of Richmond, Va., second vice chairman; Graham Knott of Kinston, secretary.

The committee was set up by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to direct the operation of a new flue-cured tobacco sales program this year. Under the new program, growers will designate in advance the warehouse at which they wish to sell their tobacco.

The program is aimed at preventing large scale shipments to other states for sale, which has been the case in the past.

The committee's purpose is to aid Butz "in making an equitable apportionment and assignment of tobacco inspectors by recommending opening dates for marketing areas within the flue-cured tobacco growing area and recommending selling schedules for the marketing areas and each warehouse within them."

Mayor Discusses A Sixty-Cent Tax Rate

By CARL L. TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The possibility of the City of Greenville's tax rate for the 1974-75 fiscal year being cut from the proposed rate of 82 cents to somewhere in the 60-67 cent range is strong.

The new figure range was brought out last night by Mayor Eugene West and other Council members at a public hearing on the proposed budget.

Some 30 persons attended the public hearing, which lasted three hours.

Three major issues were brought up by individuals attending the hearing:

The need of a public transportation system for the city, by the Rev. William Moore for Citizens for Total Positive Government, and representatives of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters.

A plea for examining expenditures and taking necessary steps to cut spending in order to keep from raising the tax rate, by a concerned citizen.

Questions regarding the expenditure of $1 million dollars over the next five years in off-street parking for the downtown area were raised by the League of Women Voters.

Mayor West disclosed that he was proposing a tax rate base of 60 cents per $100 property valuation, instead of the initially proposed rate of 82 cents which had been criticized.

West indicated that the Council had met for several nights prior to last night's hearing and had cut the proposed budget some $340,000 in order to bring the tax rate down to around 67½ cents per $100 property valuation, which is being figured on a 100 per cent valuation this year for the first time.

In presenting his proposal of a 60 cent tax rate, West explained that the 1973-74 budget had a carry-over of some $150,000, which will be added to a carry-over of $300,000 of the previous year.

This $150,000 carry-over represents a decrease in projected spending from last year's budget of some 12 cents per $100 valuation.

The 1973-74 tax rate, which was based on a property value of 50 per cent was $1.08 per $100 valuation.

According to West, last year's spending actually amounted to 96 cents per $100 valuation.

Taking into account last year's actual spending figure, he proposed a tax rate of 60 cents, which would represent a tax rate increase of 25 per cent figured on the new 100 per cent property valuation rule.

No action was taken on adoption of the new budget, which must be approved prior to July 1.

Council members were receptive to an idea presented by the Rev. William Moore on a proposed public transportation system operated with mini-buses which would carry 12-15 passengers.

The Rev. Moore presented a Demonstration Research Project Proposal for a public transportation system for Greenville, describing the operation of a mini-bus system and a proposed budget.

Council members complimented Moore and his group on the work put into the proposal and expressed interest in actually establishing some type of similar mini-bus system in Greenville.

In his proposal, Moore indicated the need for a public transportation system which would provide transportation for "the elderly, the poor, the young and the handicapped" to health and educational facilities, employment opportunities, discount retail stores and cultural and social events.

Moore's projected proposal cited a proposed operating budget for a three month trial period of $52,680, including the operation of two mini-buses.

Although commending Moore on the work put into the proposal council members expressed skepticism in the figures for the proposed budget.

When asked about their individual feelings toward establishing a public transportation system in the immediate future, most council members expressed a

UNC System Notified

HEW Okays Plan Of Desegregation

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—The University of North Carolina system was notified today that its desegregation plan for state supported universities and community colleges has been approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

William C. Friday, president of the university system, said he was notified of the approval today by the Office of Civil Rights.

The approval frees the university system of a threatened cutoff of federal funding.

"Our responsibility now is to begin a careful implementation of the schedule of commitments we have made, and we intend to do so," Friday said.

North Carolina was one of 17 Southern and border states involved in a U. S. District Court order last year that directed the Nixon administration to enforce desegregation guidelines.

North Carolina's plan is designed to equalize funding for the 16 institutions in the state university system and to move toward a more equitable racial enrollment and faculty makeup at each institution. Under the plan black enrollment at the 11 predominantly white schools would increase from 3.7 per cent now to 5.1 per cent by 1977. During the same period white enrollment at the predominantly black schools would go from 5.9 per cent to 11.1 per cent.

HEW said today it had rejected Mississippi's plan. The department indicated legal action may be taken to enforce desegregation under federal guidelines in that state.

North Carolina's first plan also was rejected as being too vague. Final touches involving implementation of the plan were added last week.

Friday said North Carolina's "resistance was based on a question of soundness for our educational program," particularly in the areas of implementing the desegregation plan.

Friday said UNC representatives had explained to HEW that funding for the program could not be met under HEW guidelines, because of the long process involved in winning legislative approval for appropriations.

He said the negotiations with HEW had been carried out in an "atmosphere of goodwill and constructive effort."

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chemical Construction Corp. of New York has won the largest Soviet contract ever granted an American firm. Worth about $200 million, it covers the developing and equipping of the first four plants of a huge ammonia-fertilizer complex.

High Court Is Hearing Nixon Status Argued

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers told the Supreme Court today a U.S. president "is not subject to the criminal process whether that process is invoked directly or indirectly."

But special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski responded that the framers of the Constitution "were very careful to provide for a presidency with defined and limited constitutional powers and not the prerogatives and immunities of a sovereign."

The statements were in briefs filed with the court in connection with arguments scheduled for July 8 on the President's claim of executive privilege to withhold White House tapes and documents which are wanted for the Watergate cover-up trial.

Jaworski argued that "under our Constitution the people are sovereign and the President, though chief executive and chief of state, remains subject to the law."

"Although there have been a few notorious instances in our history in which presidents have refused to give appropriate force to judicial decrees, or are reported to have made disdainful statements about the decisions, none involved direct disobedience of a court order," Jaworski wrote. "More importantly, it is the judgment of history that those were essentially lawless departures from the constitutional norm."

The Supreme Court will review an order by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica directing Nixon to turn over tapes and documents concerning 64 White House conversations to the judge for his examination.

Sirica will preside over the trial scheduled to begin Sept. 9

New Cooper U.S.A. Plant Is Dedicated Today

Ceremonies were held here today dedicating the new manufacturing plant of Cooper U.S.A., Inc., a leading Animal Health Care products firm building is located four miles north of Greenville, N.C. on U.S. Highway 13 and is part of the building complex of the Burroughs Wellcome Co.

Program speakers at the dedication included James A. Graham, N.C. Commissioner of Agriculture; Eugene West, Mayor of Greenville; Robert L. Martin, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners; Nathan B. Carson, president, Cooper U.S.A., Inc.; and the honored guest speaker, Andrew A. Gray, chairman of the Wellcome Foundation Ltd. of London, England.

The Wellcome Foundation Ltd., of which Cooper U.S.A., Inc.—established in the U.S.A. in the late 1800's—is an associated company, heads a worldwide group of over 70 veterinary, pharmaceutical, and chemical companies. The Wellcome Trust is the sole owner and the distributable profits (dividends) are used by this philanthropic organization each year in support of research in human and animal medicine throughout the world.

Cooper manufactures products for large animal, veterinary, and pet care use. The 66,000 square foot production facility is used primarily to make the dips and sprays useful in the treatment and prevention of diseases among livestock.

At the ceremonies held today President Carson said, "This new building coupled with our close working relationship with Burroughs Wellcome will enable us to play an ever increasing role in the animal health care products field."

The building is located on the nearly 600 acres of land owned by Burroughs Wellcome north of Greenville. (Continued on page 6)

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

PAST BUS LINES RECALLED

Has Greenville ever had a bus system and what happened to it? Is there a reference source I can check for further information on this? Z.K.

Hotline has learned of two bus services in Greenville. Paul Ricks, who lives at 117 S. Harding Street here, operated one from 1943 to 1945. He says he would be happy to talk to you.

Several local men put money into one shortly after the war, probably in 1948, but it was unsuccessful. James Keel of the Keel Peanut Company here told Hotline the experience was losing proposition.

WORK PERMIT FORMS

I'd like to know when work permit forms for persons under 18 are going to be available. The Pitt County Social Services Department says they don't have any and don't know when they'll be coming. The man from Raleigh, who was down, could not tell me whether the person could go ahead and work till the forms get here. Mrs. R.R.

When Hotline called Social Services Thursday morning, the forms had just come in. We're using the item as an announcement since we've had several inquiries similar to yours.

OVER-HEATING?

I just purchased a '74 Vega GT and recently read General Motors was having trouble with some Vegas over-heating. I was wondering if I could expect trouble with mine? P.N.

According to the service manager for Phelps Chevrolet, Dail Anderson, the problem you read about concerns only '71 and '72 models and you should have no problem with your new model car.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

VEHICLE USE LIMITED BY LAW

I wish to take exception to the Thur., June 6 Hotline item regarding personal use of city vehicles. Check General Statute of North Carolina 14-247, entitled Private Use of Publicly Owned Vehicle. It states that it shall be unlawful for any officer, agent, or employee of the State of North Carolina, or of any county, or institution of the state to use for any reason whatsoever any motor vehicle belonging to one of these institutions. I take exception with the City Manager for allowing any taking children to school or stops for haircuts or loaves of bread, or whatever by city employers. I think it should be stopped at once. G.R.B.

City Manager Bill Carstarphen said city employees will be alerted at once to abide by this statute, which does seem to apply to employees of and vehicles owned by municipalities. Thank you very much.

Futrell-Harris Vows Spoken On Saturday

STATESVILLE—Forest Park Presbyterian Church was the setting for the 2:00 p.m. Saturday wedding of Norris Rebecca Harris and James Wilbert Futrell.

The bride's pastor, Rev. John Watkins, conducted the ceremony. Mrs. William Carpenter of Charlotte was organist.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Harris of Statesville, the bride graduated from Statesville Senior High School and is presently a junior in the School of Home Economics at East Carolina University.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Esper Addison Futrell of Rt. 1, Bethel, graduated from Stokes-Pactolus High School. He received his B.A. degree in mathematics and computer science at ECU and is presently employed by the Alumni Foundations at ECU.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of peau de soie with silk organza overlay. The bodice, with a Victorian neckline was a V-shaped bib of criss-cross lace insertions outlined with lace ruffles. The gown was styled with lace insertions on the bishop sleeves and the A-line skirt, which extended to a chapel train.

Her Camelot headpiece and mantilla was edged in Venise lace enhanced with flower pearls in the center of each rosette of Venise lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies with blue baby's breath tied with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Michael Williams was her sister's matron of honor. She wore an empire styled dress of yellow and white dotted swiss and carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies tied with yellow satin ribbons.

The bridesmaids, attired in blue and white dotted swiss and carrying blue and yellow daisies, were Miss Genie Dees and Miss Linda Beck, both of Statesville.

Elliot Rose Futrell of Goldsboro, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included Michael Williams, brother-in-law of the bride, and Keith Benfield, both of Statesville, William Anthony Futrell, brother of the bridegroom, and William Darcy Brown Jr., both of Bethel.

Mrs. Harris selected a blue satin dress overlaid in chiffon with long sheer sleeves for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the bridegroom wore a pale blue knitted polyester ensemble. Their corsages were cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony, the bridal couple was honored at a reception in the church parlor.

The refreshment table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered by an epergne of yellow and white daisies flanked by yellow tapers in silver candleholders.

Mrs. Paul Woolard Harris of Greenville, aunt of the bride, cut the three tiered cake. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Dale Brown and Mrs. David Teague of Statesville, Mrs. David Samuel Harris of Charleston, S.C., and Miss Georgia Smith of Goldsboro.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Buenavista, Fla., the couple will reside in Greenville.

After the rehearsal Friday night, the bridal couple was entertained at a party. Among the guests were members of the wedding party and out-of-town friends and relatives.

Bank Teller Makes A $1,000 Mistake

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work.

I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up?

I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. [$1,000.] As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one else seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man—he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not.

Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should count all money twice before handing it over, and then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. My father forced me to have sex with him. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back.

I think after keeping house for my father and submitting to him for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?

WONDERING IN N. Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M.": A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. [This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Lucille Beatrice Gorham and Charles Edward Sayles were joined in marriage Saturday at two o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Luther Brown Sr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Gorham of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Sayles of Atchinson, Kan.

Wedding music was provided throughout the ceremony by John H. Taylor.

The altar was centered in the living room by a prie-dieu where the bride and bridegroom took their vows and knelt for the benediction. This was flanked by tall stands of emerald greenery and bouquets of white mums and pom poms designed in nine branch candelabra. The entrance walkway of the home featured lighted hurricane lamps with bows of white satin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length white chiffon gown with Venise lace designed with an empire bodice, sheer puff sleeves trimmed in Venise lace and a V-neckline. She wore a white illusion veil attached to a mantilla headpiece from the crown. The bride carried a formal cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and yellow daisies nestled in baby's breath tied with a yellow satin bow.

Miss Janet L. Artis was maid of honor. She wore a formal length yellow knit gown with an empire waistline featuring long sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white daisies combined with baby's breath tied with a yellow and white satin ribbon.

William Teele served as best man and usher was Charles Gorham, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a street length semi-formal dress of hot pink featuring long sheer puff sleeves. She wore a corsage of pink and white miniature carnations.

The bride is a graduate of C. M. Eppes High School and Bennet College, Greensboro, with a B. S. degree in social work. She is presently a student at ECU. The bridegroom is a graduate of Atkinson High School. After serving in the United States Army, he is presently employed at Dupont.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Bachelor Benedict Club given by the bride's parents.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow lace cloth centered with an arrangement of yellow snapdragons, yellow and white daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Charles Davis greeted guests and Miss Bernita Johnson and Miss Sandra Walker registered guest. Mrs. George Myers served the bride cake after the couple had cut the first traditional slice. Mrs. Ray Rogers poured punch.

The receiving line was introduced by Mrs. Richard Johnson and good-byes were said by Mrs. William Teele.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

On Tuesday night a miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Rubin Vines, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. P. W. Moore, and Mrs. John Bizzle.

The bride was honored at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. F. H. Mebane, Mrs. Joseph Godette, Mrs. I. A. Artis and Mrs. Lacy Streeter Thursday night. The Delta Sigma Theta Sorority honored the bride at a luncheon on Friday.

Squeeze On Tobacco Farmers

Despite an outlook for higher tobacco prices this year experts don't anticipate that higher costs of production will be off-set.

John H. Cyrus of the N.C. Department of Agriculture foresees a record average of $95 per hundred pounds on the state's tobacco markets this year. That compares with an average last year of $88.37.

But, Cyrus points, out, costs of production have nearly doubled.

"Labor, pesticides, tractor and fuel prices also have gone up," he said. "In some instances fuel is up 40 percent over last year."

We don't think it is an exaggeration at all to talk of tobacco production costs this year doubling those of last year.

The prices farmers pay for fuel, fertilizer and labor have shot skyward just as have all their other costs. Thus, if the tobacco grower does not see a substantial increase in the prices he receives for his product this year, then he is not going to come out on crop production costs.

As with all of us, the tobacco farmer is getting squeezed by inflation. His problem is worsened by the fact that he has such a huge investment in his crop before he is able to sell it and realize the cash. If there is no profit after expenses are met then the whole year's work is in vain.

We can only hope the tobacco producer receives an adequate price for his crop.

Vietnam Veterans Due Cost-Of-Living Help

The U.S. Senate has voted to giving Vietnam veterans an 18 percent increase in educational benefits.

It would be the largest single increase in such benefits since World War II.

Hopefully this bill will soon become law. Vietnam veterans gave a lot for their country under very adverse circumstances. They should be able to expect an educational allowance which reflects the rapidly rising cost-of-living.

Disparities In 'Equal Justice'

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Is North Carolina really such a bad state that we should have the highest number of people locked up in prison among the 50 states?

Is there more crime in this state; are police more efficient; are judges tougher in sentencing here than elsewhere?

There are no clearcut answers, experts agree, but some are being sought.

The starting point for concern over the prison situation is statistical:

Total prison population right now in all the units across the state is 12,144; which is 2,144 above capacity.

The number of youthful offenders now stands at 850; up from 350 only a few years ago.

Occupants on Central Prison's death row now number 44, the largest group of people sentenced to death in the nation.

Charlotte lawyer, and former state senator Eddie H. Knox, is chairman of a newly established commission of lawyers, judges, lawman and prison officials to look at the sentencing, punishment, and rehabilitation scene across the state.

More Questions

Members came together recently for the first meeting, and left with the firm conviction that their work is cut out for them. The general feeling was that this commission is not designed to "turn loose" criminals so the state doesn't have to house them, but answer legal and moral questions on how the state deals with prisoners.

Among the many complexities surrounding the issue, Superior Court Judge Hamilton H. Hobgood of Lousburg looks at what he terms the "sensitive area of sentencing and punishment" as a key concern.

Judge Hobgood has been on the bench for a number of years, and sent many people to prison.

Still, he labels as "shocking injustice" what most of us like to think of as "equal justice."

The disparity of sentencing is one of the great problems, he believes, and tells this simple story to illustrate:

A man can point a loaded pistol at your head and threaten to kill you, putting you in great fear of your life, and on conviction he will be sentenced to a maximum of five years for assault with a deadly weapon.

Another man can sign your name to a piece of paper—a check—for the amount of one dollar, and the maximum penalty for forgery is 10 years.

Protect Property

The graphic difference between the two circumstances spells out North Carolina's emphasis on law protecting property as opposed to persons, and Judge Hobgood said there are many instances in the law where this disparity is pointed out.

In fact, he says, "sentencing is often based on tradition rather than reason, and on whim rather than fact."

Hobgood believes the state needs to review criminal laws and drastically reduce the penalties in crimes against property; and remove from the prisons a number of people convicted of "victimless crimes" such as alcoholism, narcotics use, gambling, homosexuality, and a number of motor vehicle violations, among others.

Judge Hobgood is reluctant to spell out his conclusions on why North Carolina puts such emphasis on property protection, saying only that it is rooted in our traditions, Southern heritage, and racial history.

Kenneth J. Foster, administrative assistant to State Sen. I.C. Crawford, chairman of the senate's Crime Study Commission, has also studied the problem from a similar angle, and recently spelled out his conclusions.

Two important elements, Foster believes, are the "Bible Belt" philosophy of punishing sinners; and the residual effects of racial prejudice.

For instance, Foster found in studying death penalty law around the nation that only the states of the old Confederacy (plus Oklahoma, a borderline state) have a death penalty for rape. That leads him to conclude that this punishment is based on the Southern tradition of protecting the chastity of our women.

Foster provided his conclusions in answer to an inquiry from State Senator McNeill Smith of Greensboro.

Before its work is done, it is likely that Knox's commission on prison population will dig into this question, ripping apart some of the historical veils which cover North Carolina's criminal law.

Cat's Paw Of Greek Regime

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The troublesome gap between senior uniformed officers and their civilian chiefs regarding the military dictatorship in Greece has been exposed again by Gen. Andrew Goodpaster's public praise of the Greek military, promptly exploited as propaganda by the hard-pressed Athens regime.

Government-controlled Greek newspapers in April printed an interview with Goodpaster, Supreme Military Commander of NATO and commander of U. S. troops in Europe, praising Greek military contributions to the Western alliance. That conflicted with the policy of this country and most other NATO partners, resulting in demands this week for explanations. It was to be discussed at the NATO meeting in Ottawa and Goodpaster will be grilled before a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

But there was furor behind the scenes weeks ago when the U. S. ambassador to Athens sent a secret cablegram protesting the Goodpaster interview. Nor is this an isolated incident. The Nixon administration's belated disapproval of the junta is repeatedly undermined by obvious approval from U. S. officers, grossly exaggerated by Greek propagandists.

Goodpaster's interview is linked to sensational testimony before Congress March 27 by John Zighdis, a cabinet minister of pre-junta days, warning of disintegration by the Greek armed forces. A press campaign in Greece immediately denounced Zighdis for treason, leading him to postpone his return.

In the midst of this campaign, the government-controlled press published written answers by Goodpaster to questions submitted by a Greek functionary named Christos Lambos.

Goodpaster praised Greece for "maintenance of her forces to an excellent level of training and to a high degree of readiness" and stressed Greece's strategic importance in NATO plans. Eleftheros Kosmos, chief newspaper mouthpiece for the dictatorship, played Goodpaster's remarks with an eight-column banner. A dozen newspaper editorials commending the general's remarks quickly followed.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Tasca, an erstwhile apologist for the Athens regime whose present criticism reflects changed U. S. policy, fired his cable to Goodpaster's high command outside Brussels complaining about his failure to consult official policy. Because of that failure, the ranking American general in Europe became the junta's cat's-paw refuting Zighdis.

That point was stressed May 10 in letters sent to key members of congressional foreign affairs and armed services committees by Elias Demetracopoulos, Washington Greek exile leader. He reported "shock and dismay" from the Greek democratic opposition to "this public lovemaking with a brutal regime."

One Congressman who has long opposed the junta, Rep. Ben Rosenthal of New York, took up the cause. As chairman of the House subcommittee on European Affairs, Rosenthal asked the Defense Department for an explanation.

Deputy Assistant Secretary James H. Noyes replied on June 4 with a masterpiece of Pentagon pettifoggery: "Use of the term 'interview' is misleading since there was no face-to-face session"; Lambos is "a well-known Greek journalist" (though he actually is no journalist at all); "We are informed" NATO procedures include "a systematic review...to avoid, insofar as possible, responses that might be exploited for political purposes."

More to the point, senior officials at the Defense and State departments informed us that Goodpaster, wearing his NATO Supreme Commander's hat, is not under U. S. control. Dubious though that argument is, the fact remains that Greek newspapers presented him as an American general who had "very recently conferred with the political and military leadership of the United States."

By ART BUCHWALD The Colson Conversion

WASHINGTON—When Charles Colson got religion, the first person he wanted to break the news to was his grandmother—the very same grandmother he had vowed to run over in 1972 to get Richard Nixon re-elected President.

He knocked on the door and cried, "Granny, it's me, Charles."

"You go away, Charley," his grandmother said, "and take your car with you."

"Granny, you don't understand. I'm not here to run over you. I've got religion now. I've come to pray with you."

Colson's grandmother opened the door a couple inches. "You're joshing me, Charley boy."

"It's true, Granny, I, no longer the mean, dirty, rotten, unscrupulous trickster you used to bounce on your knee. I've been reborn, Granny."

She hesitated. "How do I know this ain't one of your tricks to get me out in the street so you can go vroom, vroommmm with your motor again?"

"I have Sen. Harold Hughes with me. He'll tell you I mean it."

"That's right, Granny," Sen. Hughes said. "Charley has made his peace and he's asking everyone to forgive him his sins."

"I ain't so sure I'm ready to forgive him. You know I was flat on my back for six months after the 1972 election."

"Granny, please let me in. I want to show you I'm a new man."

"All right," Colson's grandmother said, "but leave your car keys out on the stoop."

Colson came into the house with Sen. Hughes.

"Shall we kneel together?" Colson asked.

Public Forum

To the editor:

I note in the June 14 Reflector Hot Line that the minimum wage for farm workers is $1.30 to $1.60 per hour, which went into effect May first. I have been told that domestic workers' wages went to $2.00 per hour at the same time, necessitating that housewives either cut the hours of servants or discharge them altogether because they could not afford the price.

Now, which requires more skill, or is harder work—farm work or housework?

Will someone please tell me what bunch of screwballs "thunk" this one up! And where was the North Carolina delegation while this was going on! Watergate or politicking? I have another name for it—with no apologies!

To the editor:

Yes, I already knew that our government was supplying nuclear installations to foreign countries. Yes, I had heard that the waste could be used by someone with a fairly rudimentary knowledge of physics to make atomic bombs. And yes, I had heard that plans for making crude bombs were in circulation. These facts have been published in reputable periodicals and (except the first) shown on CBS's program, "60 Minutes." Still, "misgivings" is a mild word for my reaction to the news that Mr. Nixon had promised to supply nuclear materials to Egypt.

As the Reflector editorial pointed out, governments may use the material to make bombs as India has done, and "we don't need any more nuclear bombs." Just imagine the Palestinian terrorists flourishing a home-made bomb—or delivering ultimatums from inside a nuclear plant!

White House Interns

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Used to be, a college kid could impress his friends by landing a summer job at the White House.

But Watergate has changed that.

"I've been told I'm signing up on the S.S. Titanic," said Linda Smith, a 22-year-old Wheaton College graduate.

"You say you're working at the White House, and you run into a lot of verbal abuse sometimes," added Michael Mulligan, 21, of Newburyport, Mass.

"I come from a Republican conservative area," said Judy Wilson of Cheyenne, Wyo. "And I've had some people say some negative things, like 'How could you go to work for someone up for impeachment?'"

The trio's laughter at each other's stories, underscored, however, what little impact such comments have on the attitudes and enthusiasm of this summer's White House 37 interns.

The 19 women and 18 men were chosen from 350 applicants to work in White House offices including the National Security Council, Domestic Council, news offices and Mrs. Nixon's office.

College students earn $125 a week, graduate students $150.

"I had no second thoughts on coming back after last year," said Miss Smith, of Ardmore, Pa., who works for Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Helen Smith. (They are not related.) "It's an experience I wouldn't get anywhere else ... It's seeing what happens in the executive branch from the inside."

Mulligan, a senior at Middlebury College in Vermont, helps with liaison work between the administration and big businesses.

"I had the impression when I came that everyone in the White House would be totally concerned with saving the President," he said. "But in my office, they're not consumed by Watergate."

Miss Wilson, a 21-year-old Fulbright scholar who recently was graduated from the University of Wyoming, helps edit the news summaries delivered daily to President Nixon and his aides.

"You're constantly called on to figure out how you feel about each issue," she said. "You constantly have to be aware of what your opinion is."

Kelly Duncan, a 20-year-old junior at Georgetown University and a registered Democrat from New Orleans, La., said that by talking to White House staffers about their jobs and how Watergate has affected White House operations, he is able to draw his own conclusions about how the scandal has affected the executive branch.

Strength For Today

NOT JUST ONCE

Ralph Waldo Emerson once watched experiments made at West Point to test the strength of the smooth-bore, iron cannon used in the first half of the nineteenth century. Two or three guns in a new shipment were fired repeatedly until, after a hundred rounds or so, they showed signs of metal fatigue and shortly thereafter exploded. The purpose of the experiment was to determine how long the guns could safely be used.

"Which discharge was responsible for the bursting of the gun," asked Emerson, and received the reply, "Every discharge."

A criminal being punished for a crime is not really suffering for a single act but for a life and conduct which led him to the act. In the same way, an individual converted at a revival meeting does not accept Christ by a single act but by unconscious preparation lasting for years. Single acts do not bring us suddenly to success or failure; it is the conditioning which leads us to perform these acts.

Costing More To Spend Less?

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — New car buyers are victims of an apparent paradox these days: It costs more to spend less.

That's because luxury, option-packed automobiles have escaped the price boosts that hit the smaller, less-expensive cars.

A two-door Cadillac Eldorado with popular options, for example, costs $9,985 — only 3 percent more than it did four years ago. And that includes extra safety and emission control features that weren't available at the start of the 1971 model year.

A two-door subcompact Ford Pinto with popular options is $2,778 — almost 28 percent more expensive than the $2,179 it cost four years ago. Last year the same Pinto cost $2,220.

Overall, car prices have risen at about one-tenth the 24 percent rate of all retail products between October 1970 and April of this year, according to the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Imports have jumped in price even more than the American small cars because of higher inflation abroad and revaluation of the dollar in 1971. A typical Volkswagen Beetle cost $1,875 at new-model introduction in the fall of 1970 — $300 cheaper than the Pinto. Today it's up 46 percent — to $2,739.

The general pricing strategy employed by automakers during the period has been to limit big percentage increases to smaller cars. That is where the demand is and thus the profit. In 1973, small cars, domestic and imported, comprised 40 percent of the 11.4 million units sold. Small car demand reached a peak in January at the height of the fuel shortage scare, capturing 54 percent of the market before leveling off to 48 percent during the last several months.

Auto executives predict the small car market share will average 51 percent at the end of the current year and could hit up to 65 percent within the next two years or so.

The increases in small car prices cover all companies. Industry analysts say that pricing pattern is the result of two major factors — price controls and unrealistically low prices of imports during the early 1970s.

The auto companies were under controls throughout most of this four-year period. As a result, one analyst explains, they were limited in how high they could raise average prices.

The more small car prices increased, the less big car prices could go up without exceeding Cost of Living Council price ceilings.

At the same time, the analyst said, the price of imports in 1971 were "unrealistically low and distorted" because of an imbalance in foreign currency exchange rates.

Each of the major U.S. automakers has raised prices this model year three or more times. Controls were removed from the industry last December.

In addition to inflation, the companies say recent increases are a result of stricter government emission and safety regulations which have forced the firms to add costly equipment.

Jews Ready To Begin Building Jerusalem Central Synagogue

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — An aura of mystery surrounds the idea of restoring the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem. For many Christians and Jews, it's a longed-for dream, a Messianic sign. It is not yet. But something like it is happening.

Construction is due to begin in the next few days on the first large, central Jewish house of worship in the Holy City since the destruction of the temple 1,904 years ago.

"No one is suggesting that this means the restoration of the temple," says Rabbi Dr. Maurice A. Jaffee, president of the Union of Israel Synagogues which is sponsoring the project. "But there are parallels."

For one thing, the prospective new "Jerusalem Great Synagogue" is planned as a central, representative sanctuary to which Jewish pilgrims from all over the world may come to pray — just as they did to the temple of old.

In another respect, every Jew everywhere is being encouraged to contribute something to building of the new edifice, even if only a half shekel — the basic tribute of each practicing Jew to the ancient temple.

Furthermore, the new house of worship is being built of a special radiant stone like that of the temple of Bible times, and is to be situated next to headquarters of Israel's rabbinic authority, as was the historic temple.

"There are many analogies, but we're wary of drawing comparisons," Dr. Jaffee said in an interview. "One gets in hot water even to hint at such a thing. Conditions are out of the question for re-establishing the temple."

Doing so, to many Christians who interpret the Bible literally, would be a prophetic indication of the imminent return of Christ. Many Jews also link restoration of the Temple to a coming Messiah. It would also have political and social overtones.

"Non-Jews seem almost more concerned about it than many Jews," Dr. Jaffee said. "They see it as a natural step now that Israel has been restored to Jews after 2,000 years of wandering."

The first temple, built in Solomon's time about 1,000 B.C., was destroyed by invading Babylonians in 586 B.C., but rebuilt afterwards. The second temple was burned by Roman troops in crushing a Jewish revolt in 70 A.D., which marked the end of the Jewish state until its modern restoration.

Like the temple, the Great Synagogue will be built of Jerusalem's "golden stone" whose color changes in the course of a day from gray to white to gold as struck by the changing angles of the sun.

It won't be the temple, but has subtle connotations of it. It will be a "symbol of our heritage, of the great message Jerusalem has for the world," Dr. Jaffee said. For prophecy specialists, it will be an intriguing inkling.

Prisons Said Overloaded

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina prisons are housing about 2,000 more prisoners than they are designed to hold.

"Ten thousand inmates is the very most we could reasonably handle with these facilities," Edwards said. He said the overload is caused by a rapid increase in prison population and a rise in the proportion of felons, who serve longer prison terms for more serious crimes.

State records show the prison population was 9,603 in 1970. Last year it was 11,561.

Edwards said efforts are being made to keep overcrowding at a minimum at youth centers and advancement centers but even these special units are becoming crowded.

He said the corrections system can stretch its capacity to handle some overcrowding, but some services must be compromised.

Lawrence Cherry, supervisor of the Currituck Prison Unit at Maple, said bunks are crowded so close together in some cells "you can't see (the inmates) like you should."

"They have no place to hang their clothes and we just can't keep it clean,"

The Maple unit was built to house 125. It now houses 140.

Edwards said the state building program is not keeping up with the expanding prison population.

The department recently received funds to construct two new 500-man units. Edwards said the structures will replace existing buildings and the total gain of available space will only be about 300 bunks.

Boy Scouts of America Troop No. 88 of Winterville held its first parent night program Thursday night.

Various activities were presented by the scouts, including: history of scouting, Sterling Daniels; signs of a scout, Lawrence Green; scout motto, slogan and laws, Eric Washington, Michael Suggs and James Hooks.

Pitt County Deputy Sheriff W. C. Haislip presented a brief talk on a scout's responsibility as men of tomorrow and their job in helping to conserve the law.

Bernard Haselrig, director of Sunrise District, was recognized. He briefed the scouts on future activities and training sessions that have been scheduled for the summer months.

Special recognition was given to three mothers, Mrs. Nellie Barrett, Mrs. Raymond Suggs and Mrs. Charlie Long.

Calvin Henderson, scoutmaster, presided at the meeting. Refreshments, prepared by the scouts, were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Lowell Thomas Survives A Fire

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Lowell Thomas has survived wars, revolutions and plane crashes, but after dashing shoeless through the smoke of a Juneau hotel fire Thursday, "I'm damn lucky to be alive," he said.

Thomas, 82, was one of about 300 persons evacuated from the Baranof Hotel when flames swept through an upper floor, killing one person and injuring 15.

The newscaster, suffering mild smoke inhalation, was sleeping directly below a seventh-floor room where the fire is believed to have started.

naval uniform). The fact that Duncan retired from active duty in November 1972 was not mentioned.

Most recently, the Greek press of June 8 distorted testimony a day earlier in Washington by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, falsely implying his commendation of the junta and omitting his statement that "the domestic structure of Greece is not one which we should recommend." At the insistence of the U. S. embassy, the correct text of Kissinger's remarks was printed a week later.

Consequently, it ranks American Congressmen and European diplomats that so distinguished a soldier-statesman as Goodpastor should become the cat's-paw of Athens. NATO foreign ministers hostile to the junta planned to raise the matter in Ottawa. Unsatisfied with the vapid Pentagon reply to his letter, Rosenthal insisted on a more adequate answer in another letter June 12 and prepared to examine Goodpastor before his subcommittee. Their object is minimal: to harmonize public statements of the military with policy set by their civilian chiefs in Washington and Brussels.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—David L. Hume, administrator of the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, will be the featured speaker to the 33rd annual convention of the Leaf Tobacco Exporters Association here on Tuesday morning.

Hume, who has a 19-year career in the USDA highlighted with posts as the U.S. Agricultural Attache in London and Tokyo, was named to his present responsibilities last September, according to Malcolm B. Seawell, executive vice president and general counsel of LTEA.

Seawell, with offices in Raleigh, is a former North Carolina State Attorney General and a State Superior Court Judge.

Charles W. Howard, Jr., a third generation Greenville independent tobacco dealer, is finishing a two-year term as president of the LTEA. His successor is scheduled to be named in a business session on June 25, Seawell said.

The Foreign Agricultural Service of the USDA has the responsibility for developing overseas markets for U.S. agricultural producers and processors, Seawell said. The FAS also assists in international negotiations for agricultural interests and works with a corps of agricultural attaches in 100 foreign countries. The attaches stay current with trade developments and crop reports.

Hume, who is a Brookings (S.D.) native, was graduated from South Dakota State University from which he later received a master's degree in animal husbandry and agricultural economics. During World War II he served in the Army Quartermaster Corps.

For his role in expanding British imports of U.S. agricultural trade in the United Kingdom, Hume received the USDA Superior Service Award. He was assigned to Tokyo in January 1972, and served in Japan until his appointment last September to his present responsibility in Washington.

Rescue Boy In A Culvert

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A 14-year-old boy riding a rubber raft on a rain-swollen creek was swept into a culvert and trapped for 15 minutes Thursday.

Another teen-aged boy crawled 25 feet into the cement pipe with a rope around his waist and rescued him.

Timmy Bartlett, who was rescued, said, "I couldn't do anything. I tried to swim as hard as I could back toward the opening." of the culvert, which is about 15 feet in diameter and carries Sugar Creek under a street. "Finally, I was swept to the side of the pipe and felt a crack in it and held on."

Fifteen-year-old Jody Davis, who also had been on the raft but got off safely, ran into a store and yelled that his friend was drowning.

A customer, Tommy Wassack, 17, went to the edge of the culvert and yelled inside. "He (Timmy) couldn't hear too well," Tommy said. "But I tried to keep him talking so he wouldn't get scared. I asked him where he lived, where he went to school, his family, everything."

Then Tommy climbed into the culvert with the rope while Policeman D.F. Howie held the other end.

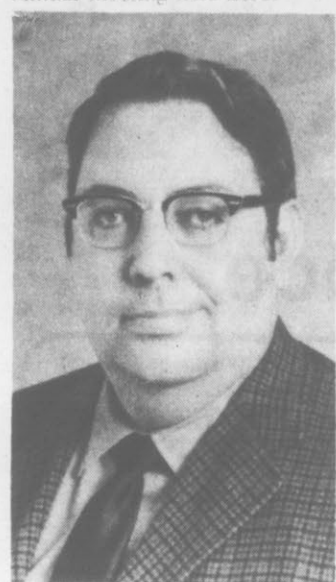

UCYM Drive

The United Christian Youth Movement, in conjunction with the Community Ambassadors, will conduct its annual Street Drive tomorrow in order to raise funds for this year's Ambassadors, Mike Allen.

In addition to the drive, a White Elephant Sale will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Flea Market at the County Fairgrounds, with all proceeds also going to the Community Ambassadors program.

Minister Is Named Alumni Ass'n Prexy

GOLDSBORO—Dr. Marshall Stewart, minister of the Black Jack Pentecostal F.W.B. Church, Rt. 3, Greenville, was elected president of the Evangelical Theological Seminary Alumni Association for a two-year term at its annual meeting held here.

DR. MARSHALL STEWART

Dr. Stewart, who has served the Black Jack Church for eight years, has also served as a visiting lecturer at the William Carter College, Goldsboro. During the academic year of July 1, 1974, through June 30, 1975, he will be on leave from his teaching duties.

Others elected include: Dr. C. B. Peacock, of Rocky Mount, first vice-president; Rev. J. T. Hammond, of Turkey, second vice president; Rev. Joseph E. Freeman, of Roseboro, third vice president.

Re-elected to a two-year term were Miss Clyde Dawson, of Goldsboro, secretary; Mrs. Addie Blalock, of Goldsboro, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Doris B. Thomas, of Goldsboro, treasurer.

Named to the Board of Directors were: Dr. Ruth K. Moore and Mrs. Jessie B. Carter, Goldsboro; Dr. Barney W. English, Beulaville; Dr. James B. Keiller, Atlanta, Ga.; Dorch Herring, Jacksonville. The newly elected officers will assume office on July 1.

A CASE OF BALANCE

You don't have to be a scientist to realize that these tons of rocks are held in check by perfect balance. You wouldn't want to be sitting nearby if they weren't!

This kind of balance results in inertia. There is another state of being that results in sound initiative and worthwhile action.

You've heard men speak of a balanced background, a balanced education, a balanced life. They're usually referring to the fact that no important element has been ignored or neglected.

Religious sincerity is one necessity for this kind of balance. It cannot take the place of any of the other essentials. Nor can anything else take its place. The Church is constantly helping us gain—and keep—our balance!

Gardening Poses Its Own Pangs

By WILLIAM O. BRYANT
Associated Press Writer
MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — The spring gardening bug bit late this year and it was not until June that I was overcome with visions of all the good things to eat one can grow in the backyard.

Checking the available ground, my fears were confirmed. A hoe did not dig into the concrete-like substance, it bounced off with a metallic clank. A shovel would be useless unless propelled by a pile driver.

The best solution, I decided, was a gasoline-powered tiller. But they are scarce, being in unusual demand because of last year's grocery shortage and high prices on what was available. Days of searching finally located a lawn and garden shop that had two tillers left.

"This is absolutely the best one made," the salesman said. He reminded me of some of the used car salesmen I have known.

"We'll service it, check it out and get it ready to roll for you," he said. "It'll take only a few minutes."

An hour later, the two young men working on the tiller got it running. Knowing I wasn't likely to find another, I took it.

Rushing home, I pushed the heavy machine to the garden site and cranked it up. It ran fine until I put it into gear. It sputtered to a halt. I cranked again. It died again. The engine roared with health and vitality until you started trying to make it do what it was built to do. Then it groaned and took a break.

I read the owner's manual again. I took the belt cover off and readjusted the belts without result. I thought of checking the gear housing. The paint was peeling from the heat. There was no oil inside.

I rushed back to the garden shop and protested. The salesman gave me a can of oil big enough to lubricate the tiller for the next five years.

With the engine and the blades finally turning nicely, I began to dig. I dug and dug, at least the machine dug while I struggled to keep it from running away. But all it could do was scratch the top inch of the soil and shake violently when it struck a root or a rock.

All day the machine and I strove to break ground. We never made it deeper than two inches.

My father-in-law came out to watch. "If I had my pick axe I'd be glad to break up this ground for you," he said.

The wife was next. "It's not doing so good, is it?" she said. "Ground's too hard," I mumbled.

My mother-in-law also came out. Being diplomatic, she only looked for a moment and left. I noticed a slight shaking of her head as she walked away.

After hours of futile labor, I shut down the monster and got a big file, determined to sharpen those blades enough so that they would cut through cement is necessary.

Then I discovered it. The boys at the shop had put the blades on backwards. I had been trying to dig with the dull sides, all day long.

I soon had the blades turned about, the nice sharp cutting edges in place.

Now, as soon as that machine cools off, I'm going to get some help and lift it out of the deep hole it dug itself into while I was admiring its new-found efficiency.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets fractionally stronger on smalls, steady on the balance. Supplies adequate, demand fair.

Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 50.73, medium whites 39.86 small whites 31.13.

RALEIGH AP—NCDA North Carolina hog prices were mostly $1 to $2.50 higher today. Tops of 33 to 34 at Kingston and Lumberton; 31 to 31.50 at Rocky Mount; 29.50 to 30 at Tarboro and Bethel; 31 at Salisbury; 30 at Wilson and High Falls.

RALEIGH AP—NCDA North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market steady with next weeks weighted average at 34 point 56 cents. Supplies adequate, demand fairly good, weights desirable. Estimated slaughter 1,047,000.

North Carolina hens: Market steady on heavy types, supplies of heavy type plentiful and demand slow. Heavies, at farm, 8 to 8½, mostly 8 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prime rate increases by two major New York banks helped push the stock market into a broad decline today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 4.69 at 816.10, and losers overwhelmed gainers by close to a 4-to-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was brisk at the outset, after First National City Bank and Morgan Guaranty Trust increased their rates on loans to large corporations from 11½ to 11½ per cent.

But activity slowed and prices appeared to level off late in the morning.

The market had posted losses in each of the last five sessions as the hopes for a downturn in interest rates that flared up in early June steadily faded.

In another bit of negative news, the government reported this morning that the consumer price index had climbed sharply in May after a comparatively moderate rise in April. Such interest-sensitive issues as savings and loans and real estate investment trusts were conspicuous losers. Great Western Financial, for example, was down 1½ at 14½, and Lomas & Nettleton Financial, a big mortgage banker, was off ½ at 6½.

In the REIT group, BT Mortgage Investors was down a point at 7, Continental Illinois Realty slipped ¾ to 7¾, and Great American Mortgage Investors was off ¼ at 6½.

National Union Electric, the NYSE's most-active issue, gained 5¼ to 27¼. Electrolux of Sweden is offering to buy all of National Union's outstanding shares at $28 apiece.

McDonald's lost 2¼ to 55. A Wall Street Journal article described efforts by some New York residents to block some of the company's expansion plans in the city.

On the American Stock Exchange, Syntex was the volume leader, down ¾ at 42¾. The Amex' 11 a.m. market-value index was .50 lower at 81.00.

The NYSE composite, meanwhile, was down .41 at 45.89.

favorable opinion, and some stated they would consider adding one to two cents on the tax rate in order to finance such a system.

Councilman Percy Cox asked the Rev. Moore to present further facts regarding a mini-bus system to the council in regards to obtaining buses, the cost of liability insurance and the amount of time required in establishing a system, to the council before a final vote is taken on the proposed budget.

In a prepared statement, given by Rhea Resnik, president of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters, it was noted that the proposed budget called for the spending of more than $1 million over the next five years for off-street parking for the downtown area; while there is no provision in the budget for the development of a public transportation system.

The president expressed pleasure for the league that the budget did call for the developing of a system of bikeways in the city, the establishment of a community development planner, improvement of a mini-park system and creation of public swimming facilities.

In her statement, Ms Resnik indicated, "We support a tax rate that will provide the necessary economic basis for progress and growth."

Council members indicated more work on the budget would be necessary before a final vote could be taken, and expressed interest in seeing firm ideas on the mini-bus transportation system if they needed to include a few cents more on the tax rate to support it.

Budget cuts which had been made amount to a total of $345,000 including: $3,000 from funds directed toward the airport, $7,000 from operation of the public cemeteries, $50,000 from the central business district, $18,000 from the south side renewal project, $11,000 from a public works garage from capital funds to revenue sharing, $10,000 from a parks program which will be postponed, $8,000 in contracted services, $57,000 from a capital funds project to revenue sharing funds, and two $5,000 projects.

Additional questions were taken on the Greenville Utilities Commission budget, which is included in the entire city budget this year for the first time.

GUCO has a proposed budget of $15,276,200 for fiscal 1974-75.

In two other items the council adopted a resolution supporting the July 4 Jaycee celebration and a resolution submitted by the Mayor calling for the continuation of a day-care program in the Moywood Center.

In that proposal, the Mayor recommended the center be turned over to the Recreation Commission with suggestions that they institute a program for the elderly and that they ask Pitt Technical Institute to work with them in providing programs and courses that will be beneficial to the citizens who are interested in using the Moywood Center.

Lentz Appointed To Another Job

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser has appointed North Carolina Secretary of Transportation Bruce A. Lentz as the new secretary of the state Department of Administration.

Holshouser announced Thursday that Lentz, a Republican from Hickory, will replace William L. Bondurant. Bondurant, whose resignation becomes effective today, is returning to the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation in Winston-Salem as executive director.

Republican Troy Doby of Raleigh will replace Lentz as transportation secretary, the governor's office said.

Holshouser also announced the appointment of Isabel S. Holmes, a Wilmington Republican, as deputy transportation secretary. She will replace former deputy secretary Jack Hawke who resigned earlier this year to become federal director of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission.

Lentz said he was honored the governor chose him for Bondurant's job. "This is a challenge," Lentz said, "just as the Department of Transportation is a challenge. The Department of Administration is critical and strategic to the operation of state government."

The Department of Administration oversees the state Bureau of the Budget, personnel, bookkeeping and property control.

Doby, who was on vacation and could not be reached for comment, and Mrs. Holmes, are both members of the state Board of Transportation.

Optimists Eke Out 2-1 Victory Over Lions To Clinch First Tie

The Optimist nipped the Lions, 2-1, in a nine-inning marathon yesterday to clinch no worse than a tie for first place in the North State Little League.

The victory left the Optimists with a 12-2 record, while the Lions slipped off to an 11-3 mark. The Optimists, with one game remaining, can win the title by beating the Kiwanis on Monday.

The Lions had a chance to score in the first inning, when Peter Pace doubled with two away, but he was thrown out trying to stretch it into a triple.

Then, in the bottom of the inning, the Optimists scored their first run. Jim O'Brien singled and took second on a wild pitch. He stole third, then attempted to steal home. He was called out, but in the collision with the catcher, the ball was jarred loose, and the call was reversed, making it 1-0 for the Optimists.

The Lions managed to tie it up in the fourth inning on their next real threat. Pace singled and moved up on an error. Don McGlohon singled, driving him in.

From there on out, both teams had several opportunities to wind it up, but failed—until the Optimists scored in the ninth.

The Lions loaded the bases with one out in the fifth, but couldn't get a run in. They put a man on third in the seventh, but was cut down trying to make it home. Another man reached third in the eighth after doubling, only to die there.

The Optimists loaded the bases in the bottom of the fourth on three walks, but couldn't score. They again loaded them up in the eighth, but failed to push a run across.

Then, in the fateful ninth, the Optimists got the decisive run. Jeff Porter led off with a walk and Kenny Kirkland drew another one. O'Brien followed with a double, driving in Porter with the game-winning run.

Ladies League Finishes Year

The Ladies Softball League wound up play last night, and the results left a three-way tie for second and a two-way tie for fifth. Only first, Belton, and last, the Daily Reflector, are set.

The league will open its post-season tournament on Tuesday, with coin tosses set to decide the positions of the five middle teams. Three games are set for Tuesday. In the first game, the fifth place team will meet the fourth place finisher, with the sixth place team and the third place team meeting at 8:10. In the final game, the Daily Reflector will meet the number two team. Belton, the champ has a bye in the first round of the double-elimination tourney.

In the opening game, Pitt County Memorial Hospital took a 26-9 win over the Daily Reflector. Pitt pushed over five runs in the first to take the lead for good. They added three in the third and 13 in the fourth, with B. Rouse homering. Five more came in during the seventh. The Reflector got five in the third, two in the fourth and one each in the sixth and seventh.

The second game saw the Little Mint take a 10-4 win over Dixie Sales. The Little Mint got six runs in the first inning, then added two in the third and two in the fourth, with L. Tripp homering. Dixie got all four of its runs in the fifth.

In the final game, Coca-Cola nipped Piggly-Wiggly, 9-8. Piggly-Wiggly got five in the first, while Coke came up with four. P-W picked up two more in the second, but Coke came up with five in the third to take the lead. P-W closed to within one in the fifth with one run, but could not come any closer.

Wilson's American Legion baseball team spotted Greenville a one-run lead after three innings, then stormed back to take a 9-3 victory in the game last night at Harrington Field.

Wilson took advantage of nine hits and seven Greenville errors to pull off the victory. Greenville banged out as many hits, nine, but Wilson made only three errors, and therein lay the difference.

Greenville got the scoring started in the third inning. Jerry Griffin walked and Wesley Deal reached on a bunt single. Al Heath was also safe on a bunt, driving in Griffin for a 1-0 lead.

But in the fourth Wilson came up with two runs to take the lead. Ricky Bass reached on an error and was sacrificed up. Then, with two away, Junior Webb reached on another error, scoring Bass. Charlie Bedgood singled, driving in Webb for a 2-1 lead.

Greenville tied it up in the fifth inning with an unearned run of their own. Griffin reached on an error and moved up on Heath's bunt single. Barry Johnson reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Griffin to make it 2-2.

But in the seventh, Wilson pushed over two more, this time taking the lead for good. Billy Bradshaw got a one-out single and Stan Johnson reached on an error that let Bradshaw come all the way from first, and ended up with Johnson on third. He scored from there on a wild pitch.

Wilson added three more in the eighth. Dexter Sims reached on a fielder's choice and Webb was safe on an error. Bedgood reached on another fielder's choice and Sandy Lamm doubled in all three runners to raise the Wilson lead to 7-2.

Greenville got its third run in the bottom of the frame. Ron Hunt singled and moved to third on Jack Jenkins' double. A wild pitch scored Hunt.

Wilson finished up their scoring with two more in the ninth inning. Bass walked and was safe at second on an error on Clay Johnson's infield grounder. Both stole up a base and Dexter Sims singled in both runners.

Only one of the nine Wilson runs was earned, while two of the three Greenville runs were earned.

Greenville travels to Snow Hill on Saturday for its next outing. Wilson 000 200 232—9 9 3

Elks In Upset Of Exchange

The Elks upset the Exchange, 6-3, yesterday in the Tar Heel Little League, insuring the winners of second place in the league standings. In the completion of a protested game, Integon downed the Moose, 10-9, in almost a mirror-image of the completion of their original game.

The Exchange, with first already wrapped up, is now 11-3, while the Elks are 9-5. Integon is 6-7, and the Moose are 4-9.

The protested game was resumed in the bottom of the sixth inning with the score tied at 9-9. The Moose had the bases loaded with two away. At that point, the contest was restarted, and the Moose failed to score again in the frame.

LOST IN SUBWAY

NEW YORK (AP) — When the 1924 baseball season opened in Yankee Stadium, baseball commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis arrived late for the pregame festivities. He got lost in the subway.

But that didn't stop Babe Ruth or the Yankees. Ruth hit a home run as the Yankees trimmed the Boston Red Sox 13 to 4.

This year, in Atlanta's home opener, Henry Aaron homered the first time he swung his Louisville Slugger. It was his 715th career homer and broke Ruth's record.

Will Barrett led off the top of the seventh with a home run for Integon, giving them the lead again, which they held. Oddly enough, Barrett had hit a homer in the original game to provide Integon with the win.

In the scheduled game, the Elks pushed over four runs in the bottom of the first inning to take the lead. Chris Ross reached on an error and moved up on a passed ball. Gavin Ray reached on another error and stole second. Both runners came in when Don White singled. William Sneed also got a hit and Terry Skinner's single scored White, with Sneed scoring on a fielder's choice on the play.

The Exchange rallied for two runs in the top of the second. Al Shackleford walked and Billy Kittrell singled. John Williams got a hit to drive in Shackleford, and Kittrell scored when Eric Deal singled.

In the third, the Elks added two more runs. White walked and Sneed was hit by a pitch. Both moved up on an infield out, and Emmett Walsh singled to drive in White. Sneed scored on a hit by Bert Singleton.

The Exchange tried for a rally in the fifth, but got only one run. Gordon Douglas walked and Charles Daise singled. Both moved up on an error, and Douglas scored on Shackleford's fielder's choice.

Trinity Gets Win

Trinity Free Will Baptist handed First Free Will Baptist a 4-2 defeat in the lone Church League softball game played last night.

Trinity jumped into the lead with three runs in the first inning. Davis and Sasser both singled and Johnston walked. Langley reached on a fielder's choice, and an out scored the final run.

First FWB got its first run in the second frame. Hines got an inside the park homer for it.

Trinity added its fourth run in the fourth. Gordon reached on an error, moved up on a fielder's choice and scored on Rogers' hit.

The final First run came in the sixth. Allen singled and moved up on Mayo's hit. He scored on an out.

Marriage Aids Floyd's Game

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "I have more dedication, more devotion to the game of golf," Ray Floyd explained of his resurgence on the pro tour. He nodded his head toward a girl sitting a few feet away and added:

"And I owe most of that to my cute little wife over there."

Floyd, once the game's premier playboy but now a recent bridegroom, is trying to play his way out of a five-year slump.

He took a giant stride Thursday with a five under par 65—including a course-record 29 on the front side—for a one-shot lead in the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who once ranked among the game's most promising young players, led Buddy

Allin, already a two-time winner who birdied two of his last three holes for a 66.

Jerry McGee had a 67, Jim Ferrell a 68, two under par, on the 7,190-yard Firestone Country Club course, one of the longest, toughest, most demanding layouts the touring pros encounter.

Those at 69 included Forrest Fezler, Gay Brewer, Jim Simons, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and host pro Bobby Nichols.

Arnold Palmer had a 70, Tom Weiskopf 71 and defending title holder Bruce Crampton of Australia a 72. Newly-crowned U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin blew to a fat 77.

Floyd has been in a deep slump since his banner year of 1969. As a 26-year-old that season he won three times, including the PGA National Championship and a record-setting 268 in this tournament. He collected $109,000 that season and was hailed as a coming superstar.

But he hasn't won since.

Sidney Wicks played 60 games for UCLA's basketball teams in 1970-71. The Uclans won all but three of them.

Ayden-Grifton Wins Sixth In Row; Kiwanis Down Farmville

Ayden-Grifton won its sixth straight Senior Babe Ruth League game last night, while the University Kiwanis were downing Farmville.

Ayden-Grifton romped to a 15-0 victory over Washington in a game played at Littlefield, while University Kiwanis won their game, 10-2.

University Kiwanis pushed into the lead in the bottom of the first. Steve Fuchs doubled with two away and was balked to third. He scored on another balk. Farmville tied it up with one in the second. Tony Oakley singled and moved to third on errors. He scored on Keith Oakley's ground out.

Farmville slipped into the lead in the fifth with a run. Eddie Horne singled and Keith Oakley reached on an error, with both getting two bases on the play. A passed ball then scored Horne.

University Kiwanis then rallied for five runs in the bottom of the fifth. Ken Tetterton walked and stole second. Greg Sasser and McGlohn, although Causey was thrown out. Fuchs scored on a passed ball and Al Salisbury, who had walked, came around on an error after another passed ball.

The Kiwanis got four more in the sixth. Phil Dash singled and stole second. Tetterton walked and Sasser singled. Causey finished it up with a grand-slam homer.

Ayden-Grifton charged into the lead in its game with seven runs in the first inning. Singles by Paul Riccarelli, Greg Nelson, Randy Nelson, Tom Craft and Ronnie Salmon got things going, and three errors and two wild pitches all accounted for the first five runs. Vern Davenport got things going again with a walk, and Dennis Cristiano slapped a home run to make it 7-0.

Ayden-Grifton got another run in the second. Greg Nelson doubled, moved up on an out and scored on a wild pitch.

In the third, five more runs came in for Ayden-Grifton. Davenport walked and Cristiano singled. Jeff Wagstaff reached on an error and Riccarelli's hit scored Davenport and Cristiano. Nelson tripled in both Wagstaff and Riccarelli, and Nelson then stole home.

After a scoreless fourth, single runs crossed in the fifth and sixth for Ayden-Grifton. Nelson singled and Randy Nelson reached on an error in the fifth. Both moved up on a wild pitch and Tom Craft's sacrifice fly scored Greg Nelson.

The final run came in the sixth. Richie Cannon singled, stole second and came in on Cristiano's hit.

Koosman Has Shaky Game But Mets Come Away With 2-1 Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Jerry Koosman shook off Jerry Grote. Then Mike Schmidt shook up Jerry Koosman.

Picking on a Koosman curve ball, the Philadelphia slugger belted a ball to the base of the center field wall before Dave Schneck hayled it in.

That out preserved a 2-1 victory for the New York Mets Thursday night but left Koosman shaking his head.

"It was a tough, exciting game and I should have made better pitches," said Koosman after giving up 11 hits to the National League East leaders. "There were pitches they should have hit and didn't. It was a struggle."

Koosman was in trouble down to the end, when the Phillies had a man on first and second base with two out and the dangerous Schmidt at the plate.

With the count three balls and one strike, New York catcher Grote called for a fast ball and then a curve, but Koosman decided against both. "If Schmidt is going to beat me, it's going to be with an offspeed pitch," said Koosman. The left-hander offered a "knee-high curveball away" and Schmidt belted it about as far as you can inside spacious Veterans Stadium.

In the only other National League game Thursday, the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0. In the American League, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0; the Texas Rangers turned back the California Angels 7-4 and the Oakland A's defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-0.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0
Home runs by Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams led Chicago over Pittsburgh, ending the Pirates' victory string at six games.

Twins 3, White Sox 2
Tony Oliva cracked a three-run homer off Wilbur Wood in the eighth inning, propelling Minnesota past Chicago.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0
Milwaukee, powered by John Briggs' first-inning grand-slam homer, whipped Baltimore behind the combined six-hitter of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy.

Rangers 7, Angels 4
Tom Grieve's three-run double highlighted a four-run rally in the eighth and powered Texas over California.

A's 4, Royals 0
Jim "Catfish" Hunter ended a personal three-game losing streak by pitching a five-hitter to pace Oakland over Kansas City.

Hunter, 9-8, outdueled Al Fitzmorris, 6-3, to put the front-running A's 1½ games up on the Royals in the hot American League West race.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY REELE

Two years ago, when the freshman-eligibility rule was put into effect by the NCAA, most colleges doubted that many freshmen would even make the travel squad, let alone be playing starting roles.

But after two years, the fact is that freshmen have played quite a big role in the football world of the colleges of the country.

According to an NCAA report, 152 freshmen were regular starters during the past year for major universities, more than double the 70 reported from the first year of the program.

In 1972, 471 made the traveling teams, and this past year, that jumped to 912. And except for the Ivy League, which didn't adopt the rule, every major school in the country (117) had at least one freshman on the traveling squad during one or both years.

The NCAA defined regular starter as one who started for at least five games. Kicking and runback specialists were not included.

Some coaches are still worried about whether playing as freshmen will eventually hurt these students in their grades (getting them off to a poor start), but so far this doesn't seem to be the case.

Of those 152 starters, 73 started on offense, mostly at guards (17) and running backs (16), while 79 were defensive starters. These included 24 ends, 18 tackles and 16 linebackers.

The Southern Conference was one of the groups which started the most freshmen, a total of 15. The Southeastern also had 15, while the Southwest led the nation with 16. Less than 30 per cent of the teams in the country didn't start at least one freshman.

Sometimes you just can't believe what you almost read in the 'papers. Yesterday, when we went through our morning's wire service stories, we ran across one on Moses Malone. In that story, he was quoted as saying that his number one choice was New Mexico, and that Clemson was number two. He wasn't ready to make up his mind quite yet, however, and would do so in a couple of weeks. Asked about Maryland, Malone said he hadn't ruled the ACC school out, but he doubted very seriously if he would sign there.

Then, a few hours later, as we were in the midst of layout for Thursday's pages, another story came over the wire: Malone had signed—with Maryland. Makes you wonder some times.

And one fellow wondered aloud what Lefty Driesell came up with to get that quick change of mind from Malone. "Probably offered him a Rolls instead of a Caddy," he mused.

Now we know that's illegal, fella, so nobody would do that.

Quote of the week:
I was talking with a coach the other day whose teams have finished dead last in the league for some time. "Well, look on the bright side," I told him, "there's no where to go but up."
"That's right," he said, "I can't go anywhere but up—unless I keep on going sideways."

Rumors Flood After Signing

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — Recruiting the nation's top high school basketball player, Moses Malone, meant there could be only one happy winner and a lot of losers—some of them sore.

Maryland is the winner, and coach Lefty Driesell believes the 6-foot-11 Malone will make the Terps "the UCLA of the East."

For University of New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger, the signing Thursday morning with Malone still half asleep sounds like "a case of his people making the decision for him. It wasn't necessarily what he wanted."

Ellenberger was upset because, when he left this Central Virginia city Thursday morning, Malone had told a television reporter hours earlier that New Mexico likely would be his choice.

By the time the New Mexico coach's plane had landed in Albuquerque, the news was out that the shy, reticent Malone had signed with Maryland.

Apparently Malone's mother was the key factor. Mary Malone had admitted she wanted Moses to play close to home. She was elated when he chose Maryland. "He's going to be close to home ... It's only a 2½-hour ride to Maryland, and I can get to see him play," she said.

While Driesell, Maryland and the Malones were basking in the glow of success, a Virginia newspaper report threw a shadow over the affair.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch reported in today's editions that Malone has been driving a 1974 luxury car since Monday and has been hired by a Washington construction company for the summer. The car retails for $6,500 and his construction job reportedly will pay $7 an hour.

The newspaper said there have been reports the NCAA has been investigating the automobile arrangement. "We couldn't comment on any investigation at this time," said an NCAA official in Shawnee Mission, Kan. "It's our standard policy not to say anything on matters like this."

A spokesman for the Richmond auto dealer said the car was obtained by Malone and his mother through a lease-purchase agreement.

Reed May Be Lost

NEW YORK (AP) — The future of Willis Reed, the New York Knicks' oft-injured center, was uncertain today, after an announcement by the club that he had decided against having surgery on his right knee despite orders by two doctors.

The Knicks said Thursday that Dr. Donald O'Donoghue, who examined Reed in Oklahoma City on June 3, and Dr. James Nicholas, who examined him June 17 in New York, agreed the burly pivotman would need an operation to play next season.

Since Reed refused, said New York coach and general manager Red Holzman, "it appears he will not be with the Knicks next season."

Reed did not attend the hastily called news conference.

Asked before the gathering how he would feel if the Knicks announced he wouldn't be playing next season, the 6-foot-10, 240-pounder replied: "I don't deal in hypotheses, only in logic."

David Ostrow Elected Prexy Of N.C. Scholastic Press Institute

By LARRY ZICHERMAN
David Ostrow, rising junior at Rose High School, was elected president of the 1975 North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute, Tuesday.

Ostrow's election was one of the high points of the 33rd annual N.C. Scholastic Press Institute, held at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, June 16-19.

Succeeding 1974 President Bob Fulghum, also of Rose High School, Ostrow has a staff of three other high school journalists to assist him in planning next year's institute. They are Greg Shackleford, vice-president, from Millbrook High School, Raleigh; Cathy Allen, secretary, from Rocky Mount Senior High School, Rocky Mount; and Nancy Butler, treasurer, from Shelby High School, Shelby.

Attending the 1974 institute from Rose High School were Rampant Lines Editor Bob Fulghum, Assistant Editor Arthur Klose, Photographer Larry Zicherman, Editorial Page Editor Stuart Wells, and Page 1 Editor David Ostrow. Representing the yearbook were Mary Charles Stevens, Gail Molic, Peggy Watson, and Sherry Ledbetter. Accompanying the nine Rose students were Mrs. Barbara Zicherman and Lisa Zicherman, acting as chaperones.

The Institute, sponsored jointly by the UNC School of Journalism, the North Carolina Press Association, and the N.C. Triangle Chapter of Women in Communications, Inc., drew over 200 delegates from 53 North Carolina high schools. Delegates heard from many journalists, including Linda Grimsley, novelist and author of Guerrilla in the Kitchen; Dr. John B. Adams, Dean of the UNC School of Journalism; Dr. Richard R. Cole, UNC School of Journalism and NCSPI director.

David Zucchini, staff writer for the Raleigh News and Observer; Doug Marlette, cartoonist for the Charlotte Observer; Walter S. Spearman, UNC School of Journalism; Dr. Stuart Sechriest, UNC School of Journalism; Richard Maschal, editorial writer for the Charlotte Observer; and Sue Cause, president of the N.C. Triangle Chapter of Women in Communications, Inc.

The delegates also elected Janes Davis, from Hickory High School, Hickory, to the post of Newspaper Instructor; Irene Davis, from John T. Hoggard High School, Wilmington to the post of Yearbook Instructor; and Sally Sykes, from Pine Forrest Senior High School, Fayetteville, to the position of Literary Magazine Instructor.

Arrest Man On Rape Charges

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Rufus Alexander Hamilton Jr., 21 of Route 3, Greenville, has been arrested by Greenville Police on rape charges in connection with two incidents here—one on March 23 and the second on May 20—involving two east Carolina University co-eds.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Hamilton was charged yesterday afternoon with rape and first degree burglary in connection with a March 23 incident where a 20-year-old ECU co-ed told police a man came into her second-floor bedroom about 2 a.m., told her to be quiet, struck her once, then raped her. The victim said that following the rape, the attacker sat and talked with her for 15 or 20 minutes before leaving her room.

In the May 20 incident, in which Hamilton is charged with rape, a 24-year-old ECU co-ed graduate student told police a man forced her into her apartment about 12:15 a.m. as she was returning to her home, then assaulted her. Following the attack, the man went outside and picked up the books the victim had dropped and returned them to the apartment before leaving, the woman explained.

According to Cannon, Hamilton was taken into custody by Pitt County Sheriff's deputies yesterday morning on charges of first degree burglary and assault with intent to commit rape in connection with a June 18 incident that occurred outside the Greenville City limits.

Hamilton is being held without bond on the city charges pending a preliminary hearing in the cases set tentatively for July 8.

new building."

The Redevelopment Commission two years ago purchased the site of the present NCNB building in the V shaped property facing Evans between Dickinson and Fifth Streets. The 60 year old building will be demolished as soon as NCNB vacates it.

Billy Laughinghouse, Chairman of the Redevelopment Commission, noted the commission "is very pleased with plans of NCNB to locate in the Shore Drive Urban Renewal Area. It will be a tremendous asset to the City of Greenville."

Laughinghouse pointed out that with this building "another two million dollars in new private construction is in the planning stage. This is in addition to about $1,500,000 in construction already added in the area and about $600,000 in new construction underway."

At a brief meeting in the board room of NCNB following the Redevelopment Commission meeting, Warner revealed that construction would begin as soon as possible and that completion date of the new NCNB facility is expected to be late 1975.

"This building will house, in addition to local services, regional facilities for auditing, for trust funds, and possibly for other regional services," Warner said.

Contracts formalizing the agreement between the developers and representatives of NCNB were signed at the meeting in NCNB's boardroom.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is concluding six weeks of hearings on impeachment evidence with a study of the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1969-70.

It will still be several weeks before the committee decides whether grounds exist for impeaching President Nixon, however. Witnesses are to be heard, Nixon's defense presented and the proposed articles of impeachment debated.

Today's Cambodian bombing inquiry involves the falsifying of reports to Congress and the destruction of official records to conceal 3,630 B52 sorties into Cambodia during 14 months while the United States officially was recognizing Cambodia's neutrality in the Vietnam war.

While it raises serious constitutional questions relating to a president's war-making powers, it is not regarded by most members as likely to produce an article of impeachment.

The committee delved into Nixon's income tax returns Thursday and learned he had been assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service besides having been found to owe $432,787 in taxes for 1969-72.

However, nearly all members questioned said they heard nothing during the day-long closed session indicating Nixon might be guilty of tax fraud.

In related developments:

—The administration continued its criticism of the Judiciary Committee. Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said "due process is being violated on a daily constant basis" by leaks from the committee.

—John D. Ehrlichman claimed that President Nixon clamped a security lid on the activities of the White House plumbers in December 1971. Ehrlichman made the assertion in asking approval for a new subpoena demanding that the White House surrender notes Ehrlichman made.

—Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair asked the Supreme Court to turn over evidence that led a grand jury to name Nixon an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate break-in. Special prosecutor

Leon Jaworski opposed the request.

The tax inquiry centered on a $576,000 deduction claimed by Nixon for a gift of his vice presidential papers to the United States. The IRS, which had previously approved the deduction, later disallowed it.

Nixon accepted the IRS finding and said he would pay the amount assessed. However, the committee was told he has not paid $148,080 for 1969, which he is not required to pay because the statute of limitations for that year has expired. He is believed to have paid the rest.

The 5 per cent penalty for negligence also did not apply to 1969. John Doar, special counsel for the committee, said it was directed against Nixon and not his accountants.

Rep. David Dennis, R-Ind., said the imposition of a negligence penalty implies there is no criminal intent on the part of a taxpayer and thus to fraud.

But Albert Jenner, chief minority counsel for the committee, said at a news briefing that a finding of negligence does not rule out the possibility that fraud could be established later.

Seek Natural Gas Price Hike

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's second largest natural gas distributor, Public Service Co. of North Carolina, has asked the state Utilities Commission for permission to boost rates for an average customer by 79 cents per month.

In a petition filed with the commission Thursday, the company said it needs the increase to recover approximately $2.8 million it will lose through a hike in gas prices by its supplier, Transco Energy Company, effective July 1.

Public Service already has a 10.3 per cent rate increase request pending on which the commission will hold a hearing in November. Meanwhile, it has received permission to put part of the increase in effect.

Dees Disclaims Muzzle Intent

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Chairman William Dees Jr. has denied the University of North Carolina Board of Governors is trying to muzzle outspoken chancellors.

Dees said in Goldsboro Thursday the board was "looking for a harmonious program. We're asking them to support what the board decides to do."

The board is considering a policy which would prohibit the chancellors of the 16 university campuses from publicly disagreeing with board policy unless they first discussed their statements with the chairman and the university president.

Dees said the board was not trying to stifle dissent.

Chancellors, he said, would have a chance to publicly promote their schools' programs until the board made its decision.

After that, Dees said, "he could say he didn't agree with the policy decision and make no further comment. If he then wanted to attack the decision, I'd want to know about it first. And then he could make his statement."

The policy recommendation is part of a package of proposed rules for chancellors that will be considered at the board's July meeting.

Another section would force chancellors to resign before running for state or federal office. Some supporters of East Carolina University Chancellor Leo Jenkins have claimed the proposed policy is intended to muzzle Jenkins.

Jenkins was outspoken in his disagreement with the board's decision during the winter to recommend against expanding the medical school at ECU.

Jenkins has also been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor.

Lt. Governor Is On Probation

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby was placed on nine months' probation and fined $100 after he pleaded no contest to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Hobby, 42, was arrested at 2:40 a.m. Thursday with a woman companion whom he identified as Ann Chisholm, "a friend of the family." An ice chest, an empty half-gallon wine bottle and a fifth of Scotch two-thirds empty were found in Hobby's car, arresting officers said.

Hobby, a Democrat who has been lieutenant governor since 1972, appeared in County Court-at-Law No. 2 with his wife Diana Thursday afternoon.

The Worry Clinic

Trial Marriage Is One-Sided

Jack cites one of the alarming ways by which girls are being seduced. For they think "mating" and "marriage" are the same! To women, they usually are, but NOT TO MEN! So you girls better wise up to masculine psychology!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-665: Jack Homeyer, Chief of Vital Statistics for Nevada, recently commented: "More and more people are trying to find the right partner before they get married."

This "trial marriage" fad has been tried over and over again by many preceding generations.

And it has never proved successful for it violates many basic rules of marriage, both spiritual, medical and psychological.

Many modern young people seem to think it is clever to live together without a wedding ceremony.

"For then we avoid the wedding costs," they gleefully exclaim.

"And don't pay through the nose when we split up, for we don't need a formal divorce!"

My Fair Lady

These arguments fit into the current stress on a girl's "measurements" below the neck!

For such unions are largely a matter of sexual convenience for the male.

The attraction is thus not a matter of true love, for in true love you are unselfishly trying to protect your sweetheart from any unnecessary social ostracism, sorrow, disease and unwed pregnancy.

Such mere sex matings are the physical magnetism or sensuous sort, as beautifully demonstrated by King David's son, Prince Amnon.

The latter was so enamored of Princess Tamar that he took to his bed, sick with his love for her, as the Bible states.

But after he tricked her into entering his bedroom, while all the servants were out of the house, and then assaulted her, his former "great love" turned sour in a few minutes.

So he ordered her out of the house and when she begged him not to further humiliate her by sending her forth in her disheveled state, he called his servants back and told them to put her out and bolt the door!

Contrast the modern stress on pornography, nudism and "measurements" with the lovely play, "My Fair Lady."

The heroine therein wore high necked frocks and long skirts. No bit of skin was visible save her hands and face!

Yet she exuded charm and such personality magnetism that any modern virile male was fascinated by her.

And this is what kept the divorce rates way down in the previous generations!

For a woman didn't then barter her "measurements" for a few nights of free love in a man's apartment.

Instead, men were attracted to her because of her facial charm, plus her gay smile, pert repartee and general personality charisma.

Nowadays far too many young men don't look above a girl's neck!

Which means they are merely interested in quick "mating" versus permanent "marriage."

Mating is chiefly a physical union, not necessarily involving any love whatsoever on the man's part.

And modern young women are being deluded by the fact they seem to regard "mating" as synonymous with true love.

Repeatedly, I have warned you that men can mate with women they hate, or merely to get their money's worth for dinner and theater tickets.

Prince Amnon shows the vast difference between mere sexual desire vs. true love, so you girls better wise up before you make dupes of yourselves!

So send for my "Tests for Husbands and Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and avoid the folly of trial marriage!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

New 'Stop' For Sunshine Bus

Operation Sunshine will be stopping at the South Greenville School beginning on June 24 to pick up girls. The bus will stop each morning at 8:20 a.m.

There are still openings at the Center for girls who will be in grades three through six this fall.

The girls have started their swimming program at the ECU Memorial Pool. Other activities planned for next week include movies, gymnastics, and a trip to a television station.

NS Savannah Is Still On Standby

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The sleek white NS Savannah, the world's first nuclear-powered merchant ship, lies moored in its home port like a ghost.

Tied up at the waterfront docks with the curving skyline of historic Savannah as a backdrop, she sits in limbo like a sleeping giant which could come alive again.

Powerless now, it is kept running at a minimum level. The water chemistry is being maintained in the reactor so that it doesn't corrode and the reactor could be reactivated.

Devoid of human activity except for two men who check for radioactivity and keep the machinery running, the $80-million ship waits while the federal government and City of Savannah figure out what to do with it.

The government took the ship out of service in 1970 for several reasons. There was a problem getting specialized crewmen; the cost of operation was excessive and a Commerce Department spokesman said "most of what could be learned from the operation of the vessel had been learned."

The ship's nuclear reactor, deep inside, contains radioactivity, although the fuel element has been removed and the ship cannot go anywhere under its own steam.

President Eisenhower conceived the idea of a merchant marine vessel to demonstrate the peaceful uses of the atom. The ship was launched in 1962 amid fanfare and has traveled more than 90,000 miles to foreign ports.

The ship belongs to the U.S. Maritime Administration but the city leases it for $1 a year. It is not open to the public but the city is considering a proposal for a tourist attraction to be known as the Eisenhower Peace Center.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you are not so demanding with others, you can have a successful day and p.m. Make plans early to save time and energy. Show you are an outgoing person.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Busy yourself improving home conditions. Good p.m. to entertain at abode those persons most helpful to you. Keep troublemakers away.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Have a happy time with persons you most like; talk over family affairs. Get into the amusements that are most enjoyable. Don't spend too much money.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study assets to improve them. See what you can do to build up an estate, also. Take no chances with one who has an eye on your possessions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be diplomatic instead of pushing your wishes and you get better results. Use that smile more and charm others into doing what you want.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Confer with experts, then get into a definite plan of action for success. An excellent day to give service where feasible.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show appreciation to one who has been a very good associate for some time. Then be with other persons who like you and gain added support.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A new plan needs the aid of a bigwig to get it working successfully. A good time to expand in whatever direction means the most to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day to get into the philosophical side of your life to make the future brighter and happier. Get needed information from a new associate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be efficient at commitments made; work honestly along with debtors and creditors. Clarify matters if mate is confused.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find out where an ally stands on a matter vital to you both. Don't come out with any ideas that are outlandish, or you lose a good associate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make abode more charming. Listen to what a fellow worker has to suggest. Follow ideas that are really good, but discard the rest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will like approval and will therefore work harmoniously with others throughout the lifetime in any joint matters. It is important for you to give the praise that is deserved for any good work done by your youngster, and then the life becomes a successful one, whereas criticism could ruin the morale, especially if it is not deserved.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Robert Hause To Again Conduct The Orchestra

When the Eastern Music Festival opens its 13th season on Saturday, June 22, in Greensboro, Greenville's Robert Hause will again this year be on hand to conduct the Eastern Symphony Orchestra, one composed of advanced students. Hause, conductor of the East Carolina University Symphony Orchestra, has been a regular with Eastern Music Festival for a number of years. In announcing principal faculty appointments, Eastern Music Festival Music Director Sheldon Morgenstern said "EMF looks for teaching ability as well as concert performance. Our faculty comes from the best music institutes in the United States." Eugene Pridonoff, current artist-in-residence at Arizona State University, heads the EMF Piano Department. He will be featured in the Philharmonic's opening concert and will also offer private lessons and conduct master classes for piano majors.

Atlantic Symphony Orchestra, Halifax, Nova Scotia; Thomas Brennand, member of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra; Adrian Gnam, of the Heritage Chamber Quartet and the Ohio University Woodwind Quintet; Bonnie Pridonoff, Pheonix Woodwind Quintet and Chamber Orchestra; Ralph Lockwood, Arizona State University; Rob Roy McGregor, Baltimore Symphony; Fred Hollis, Florida State University Brass Quintet; Kathy Kienle, American Harp Society; and Dennis Kain, Baltimore Symphony.

In addition to their work as conductors and teachers, the above musicians will be joined by about 60 other EMF faculty members to form the Eastern Chamber Players which will perform on Wednesdays and the Eastern Philharmonic Orchestra, which will give concerts every Saturday during the 1974 season.

In The Armed Forces

Sgt. Arthur L. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie M. King of Ayden, is a member of the Seymour-Johnson AFB unit that has been selected as the top base supply organization in the Air Force. King is assigned to the Fourth Supply Squadron that has received the Daedalian Supply Effectiveness Trophy. A 1968 graduate of South Ayden High School, he attended the University of Maryland Far East Division on Okinawa and the University of Delaware. King is married to the former Mardis Ward of Rt. 1, Winterville.

Division in Korea. Clemons is a radar mechanic in Headquarters Battery of the First Battalion, 15th Field Artillery at Camp Stanley. His wife, Brenda, lives in Greenville.

Johnny Ray Roundtree, (above) son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Roundtree of Ayden, has qualified for enlistment in the Marine Corps and will enter active duty June 19, reporting to the USMC Liaison MCO, Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station, Raleigh. Roundtree will undergo basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

2Lt. Charles M. Vincent, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Vincent of Greenville, completed an ordnance officer basic course at the Army Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. He received nine weeks of training in developing, supplying and maintaining the Army's weapons and combat vehicles.

Pvt. Ricky Jackson, son of Mrs. Doris H. Jackson of Ayden, completed the eight-week basic field artillery course at Ft. Sill, Okla. He learned the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman and also received instruction in handling ammunition, setting fuses and preparing charges, communications and maintenance.

Pfc. Dennis M. Clemons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Clemons of Greenville, is assigned to the Second Infantry

West Point Is Youth, Dreams To General

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — "Everytime I return to West Point I visit my youth, my roots and my dreams," reminisced General of the Army Omar N. Bradley at the recent dedication ceremonies of a library to house his personal papers at the U.S. Military Academy.

Gen. Bradley, America's first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the only living five-star general, is the first West Point graduate to be honored with a library at the academy. He was a classmate of Dwight D. Eisenhower in the class of 1915.

"If it is true, as I have long believed, that men march to the cadence of thought," said the 81-year old general, "and if one thought can be extracted from my papers that may benefit our nation, then I will be returning to West Point some small part of all it has given me."

Jack Jarrett of the UNC-Greensboro School of Music will head the theory department; and David Watkins of Georgia College will chair the chamber music program. Robert Helmacy, assistant conductor of the New Jersey Wind Ensemble, will conduct the student Guilford Symphony.

Concertmaster for the Eastern Philharmonic will be Harold Wolf, who is concertmaster of the San Diego Symphony. Other musicians to serve on the EMF staff this summer are Julia Kohl, faculty member of the UNC-G School of Music; Daniel Domb, teacher-artist at Baldwin-Wallace Conservatory of Music, Cleveland; Richard Harrison of the New Orleans Symphony and Opera and teacher at Xavier and Loyola Universities; Edward Palanker, teacher at Towson State College, Maryland and member of the Baltimore Symphony. Also, Adrianus Stenzen of the

International Think-Tank Is Bernhard's Project

IN FULL SWING—Huge combines, with their bladed reels thrashing and spewing out chaff behind, cut winter wheat on a farm near Haven, Kansas. The official government estimate states that 384 million bushels of wheat will be harvested in Kansas this year. (AP Wirephoto)

By JOHN GALE
Associated Press Writer
AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands (AP) — It's been 20 years since Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands first produced his formula for promoting the cause of transatlantic harmony. He introduced the idea of an international think tank, comprising top people from the United States and Western Europe, able to speak with total frankness on issues ruffling the Atlantic alliance. Bernhard gave the participants privacy. The think tank was almost hermetically sealed from the press. The first assembly was held in 1954 at the secluded Bilderberg Hotel lying in wooded countryside not far from Arnhem, Holland. The name of the hotel caught on and the Bilderberg group has continued to meet in different countries with different participants. Always, however, the chairman has been Bernhard, the German-born prince who married Queen Juliana while she was still a princess. Bernhard later fought with the Allies in World War II. Gerald R. Ford attended two Bilderberg meetings long before he became vice president of the United States. "You don't really belong to the organization; one gets an invitation from the prince," Ford said in 1965. At various other times, the prince has requested and obtained the presence of Henry A. Kissinger — 1971, Woodstock, Vt. — Helmut Schmidt, now West German chancellor — 1973, Salsjeboden, Sweden — former U.S. Secretaries of State Dean Rusk and Christian A. Herter; Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York and twice Republican presidential nominee; former British Prime Minister Edward Heath, Amintore Fanfani of Italy and so on. Bernhard promised the conferees privacy, and the 1974 meeting in April was no exception. It was held in a luxury hotel at the French ski resort of Megeve. Before the meeting, Bernhard entered the downtown press center, the Megeve Sports Hall, which was practically surrounded by police for the occasion. He announced who had been invited to the meeting and what the topic would be. He then declared there would be no more information on the three-day session. Reporters were never allowed to enter the hotel where the sessions were held. There was only one topic at the meeting: prospects for the Atlantic world. Eighty persons were invited and among those Americans who turned up were NATO commander Gen. Andrew Goodpaster; former U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball, David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank, and Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn. Bernhard has made it clear that participants who deal with the press won't be invited back. Apart from that, he likes to change the faces. There is often a 50 per cent switch in representation from one year to the next. Procedures have become well established. The main speakers get 10 minutes, other participants are limited to 5. Papers written by both American and European participants are distributed in English and French, the two languages of the conference. Votes are never taken and titles are never used. A government official or an ambassador is plain mister. Bernhard is Mr. Chairman. "The purpose of the conference," he has said, "is that eminent persons in every field get the opportunity to speak freely without being hindered by the knowledge that their words and ideas will be analysed, commented upon and eventually criticized in the press." His pulling power appears to date from World War II, having taken his family into exile, he won his wings with Britain's Royal Air Force and reputedly got into rows with the British for going on unofficial bombing excursions over Germany. He ended the war as commander in chief of the Dutch armed forces and a good friend of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Bernhard, now 62, unhesitatingly used his wartime contacts to get the Bilderberg conception rolling. He has consistently asserted its only aim is to foster the transatlantic relationship. Bernhard clearly expects that within influential circles, the ideas emerging from Bilderberg will make their impression. Of his personal role, he said: "I'd consider my own work in the same light as practically everything I do. I am only a catalyst."

House Passes Big Housing Bill

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As the nation experiences its worst housing slump in decades, the House has overwhelmingly passed an $11.3 billion housing and community development bill. Thursday's 351-25 vote, the largest for any housing bill in recent history, showed a near-unanimous desire to funnel new monies into hard-strapped cities and to get housing programs for the poor moving again.

Although the bill would leave dormant the subsidized construction programs the Nixon administration froze 18 months ago and would transfer the emphasis to leased housing for the poor, other sections in it were designed to stimulate the home financing industry and thus help the over-all housing industry. "It's a good, modest bill," said House Speaker Carl Albert after the vote. "I think it's as good as we could get through that would be signed. In a series of surprise votes on amendments offered by Republicans, the House attached two significant amendments to help the elderly and order the government to start spinning off its huge backlog of repossessed houses for "urban homesteaders" for rehabilitation. One amendment, by Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., would revive a popular direct loan program for construction of housing for the elderly. The Nixon administration stopped the program in 1969. Steele said the $1.5-billion revolving loan fund would provide for construction of 72,000 units specially designed for needs of the elderly. When previously operated, the loans were offered to builders at 3 per cent interest. The Steele amendment calls for the interest to be adjusted to whatever the actual cost of the money to the government, which is at least double that. Another amendment easily approved, offered by Rep. William M. Ketchum, R-Calif., would give the elderly a rent break by allowing them to deduct future increases in Social Security payments from the gross income. The bill had provided for a minimum rent of 10 per cent of the gross income of elderly tenants in leased housing programs. The homesteading amendment by Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., was similar to one that Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-

Tex., had tried unsuccessfully to attach on the bill in committee. It requires the Housing and Urban Development Department to resell repossessed homes for a token fee to urban homesteaders. In some cities with experimental homesteading programs, the surplus houses are sold for as little as $1. In others, the sale price ranges up to $30,000. The Holt amendment would require the homesteaders to occupy the single-dwelling houses for a minimum of five years and to bring them up to building code standards. Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md., said homesteading has brought a racial mix for the first time to Baltimore's blighted areas. The bulk of the bill's money, about $8.3 billion, will go to big cities, urban counties and rural areas for community development.

Macy Suddenly Became A Star

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Macy was flat on his back in his one-room apartment in New York recovering from an injury received in "O Calcutta!" The telephone rang. "If you're a professional actor, your head is geared toward a part in a play someone is producing," said Macy, explaining at some length how he came to be Walter on "Maude." "I'd hurt myself in 'O Calcutta!' doing a leap a year earlier and the pain had come back. The phone rings, and I'm not about to tell a producer about my injury." Macy said he read for the part and was called back two more times before he got it. After three months on Broadway, the show went on the road, with a final stop in Los Angeles. In his hotel room in Pittsburgh he saw "All in the Family" for the first time. "I called my agent in New York and told him that when we got to Los Angeles I wanted to play a part in 'All in the Family,'" he said. "He laughed at me and said, 'Yeah, and who do you know on the show?' He started naming people and when he said Norman Lear I told him to stop." Norman Lear, executive producer of "All in the Family," had seen Macy several times on Broadway and had written him letters of appreciation. He also had given Macy a walk-on part in "The Night They Raided Minsky's," a movie filmed in New York. Macy got a part — seven lines as a cop. After that, Lear created "Maude" and wrote the part of Walter with Macy in mind. So, at 51, after a long and haphazard career as an actor, never making more than $175 for a role, Macy suddenly became an overnight star.

This weekend ABC's "Reasoner Report" will take a tongue-in-cheek look at the booming Watergate industry. A piece put together by producer George Merlis examines bumper stickers, games, books, lecture tours and TV appearances. The show will be seen Saturday or Sunday, depending on locality.

No Injuries As Cars Collided

Joan Curry Cox of Route 1, Ayden was charged with failing to stop for a red light following investigation of a 1:40 p.m. collision yesterday at the intersection of Fifth and Pitt Streets. Police reported the Cox car collided with a vehicle driven by George Taylor Jr. of London Inn, causing an estimated $150 damage to the Cox car and about $50 damage to the Taylor auto. No injuries were reported.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SMELL GAS.

Call Greenville Utilities immediately. Anytime day or night. We'll get a serviceman to your home or location to correct the problem. While you're waiting for him to get there, open a window, make sure you use no electrical switches. Extinguish any open flames and evacuate the area.

If you don't know what natural gas smells like, stop by our office and pick up a scratch and sniff leaflet. Because even though natural gas contains no poisonous ingredients, a leak can become hazardous if combustible gas pockets are allowed to form. Which makes it important for you to know what natural gas smells like.

TERMITES OR ANTS?

Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today.

The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.
