

Possible Witnesses Are Being Studied

By C. BARTON REPERT Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is meeting to decide on what witnesses, if any, it should call to clarify the detailed presentation of impeachment evidence it has been hearing since May 9.

fund, ITT and Internal Revenue areas of its inquiry. Possible witnesses include John W. Dean III, President Nixon's prime accuser regarding Watergate, and ex-White House special counsel Charles W. Colson, who has said in court that Nixon urged him to defame Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

to be short because the committee is under pressure from the Democratic caucus to make its final recommendations by July 15, party sources say.

Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., has confirmed that he favors a prompt windup, though publicly he has set no firm target date.

Another matter is what evidence should be released publicly. Most Republicans and some Democrats contend that only materials directly related to any impeachment recommendation should be disclosed.

White House counsel Leonard Garment dismissed as "idle speculation" Sunday whether Nixon would refuse to comply with a Supreme Court order to surrender further Watergate evidence.

In a televised interview, he also said it is "invalid as well as idle" to suggest that any such action would lead to a constitutional crisis.

Arguments are scheduled for July 8 on special prosecutor Leon Jaworski's demand for tapes of 64 presidential conversations sought for use in the Watergate cover-up trial upcoming in September.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled for Jaworski last month. Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, appealed the Sirica decision and at Jaworski's request, the question is being brought directly to the Supreme Court.

Discuss Economy Matters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ending a secluded weekend at Camp David, Md., of preparations for his Moscow summit trip, President Nixon returned to the White House today for talks with his top economic advisers.

Aides said he planned to take up a few domestic matters today before his Tuesday departure for Brussels and a 10-day trip that will include talks in the Soviet Union with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

An 11 a.m. White House meeting was called to get a report on the nation's economy from the administration's new economic policy coordinator, Kenneth Rush; Treasury Secretary William E. Simon; Budget Director Roy L. Ash; Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers Herbert Stein, and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns.

Nixon then will sign the Colorado River Basin salinity act, a new law resulting from lengthy negotiations with the Mexican government over the flow of waters from the Colorado River into Mexico.

In Brussels, the President will meet with representatives of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations and sign a declaration on Atlantic relations, pledging wider and more intimate consultations among the NATO allies.

Not For Juries

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today ruled that juries do not have unlimited authority to decide what is obscene in their communities.

A unanimous court determined that the film "Carnal Knowledge" is not obscene and overturned the conviction of a Georgia theater operator who showed it.

Nuclear Testing

LONDON (AP) — Britain conducted a nuclear test a few weeks ago, Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House of Commons today.

He said the experiment took place within the framework of the partial test-ban treaty of 1963 and the non-proliferation treaty of 1968.

Wilson was replying to questions from left-wing lawmakers of his own Labor party. They were angered by a press report over the weekend saying Britain was about to explode a nuclear device at the U.S. underground nuclear testing range in Nevada.

They claim any nuclear testing by Britain goes against Labor party policy, as decided by its annual conference last year. A motion was passed then agreeing to scrap all nuclear bases in Britain, including the Polaris submarine bases in Scotland.

Bear In Town

You just don't expect to see a bear in Greenville.

But the Rev. William Ernest Jones, associate pastor of Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist Church here, saw one Sunday as he drove on Memorial Drive near the airport.

Jones said that he observed a small hog bear cross the highway just south of the airport and continue towards the Meadowbrook area. "I stopped my car and observed him and he was not in any real hurry," the minister noted.

He added that another motorist, Melvin Phillips of the Meadowbrook area, also saw the animal crossing the road and stopped his car to watch.

Status Of Crops In Pitt Reported Generally Good

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

The status of area crops appears to be generally good as the summer growing season progresses, according to Pitt Extension chairman Ed Yancey.

"I would say that basically things look good right now for crops in Pitt County," Yancey reported, noting that another good rain in gradual amounts would help the crop situation.

Yancey observed that a number of farmers are beginning to harvest tobacco in the county and he said that close to half of the tobacco growers in the area will probably be harvesting sometime during the week.

In general, the county's leaf crop is progressing nicely

although "we were beginning to get a little burn on some of the lugs" in some instances, he added. "We really needed that rain last night."

He reported that Black Shank has not been observed in the area to any degree and so far the biggest problem with the tobacco crop has been weather flecking or spotting of the lower leaves of the plant. Yancey said that the spotting is caused by pollutants in the air and since tobacco is sensitive to the ozone, the absence or presence of flecking is a pretty good indication of air quality.

The official contended that the spotting condition should not be of great economic importance and should not cause much of a problem with the overall leaf crop.

The corn crop is off to a good start, Yancey reported, with only minor problems caused by the unseasonably cool weather, earlier in the spring. He said that most of the corn varieties in use in the county are resistant to Southern Leaf Blight but he noted that it is too early in the season for blight to be showing up.

Both peanuts and soybeans also look good now and prospects for a successful season appear to be bright, it was pointed out.

Rule No-Vote For Ex-Felons

By W. DALE NELSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to extend the right to vote to felons who have served their sentences.

The court, by a 6-3 decision, overturned a California Supreme Court ruling that it was unconstitutional to disenfranchise that state's 100,000 ex-felons unless they were in prison or on parole.

There are 27 states which disenfranchise ex-felons.

Justice William H. Rehnquist, speaking for the majority, disagreed with the conclusion of the California court that such a prohibition denies equal protection of the laws to convicts who have served their time.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, dissenting, said the disenfranchisement laws were unconstitutional "measured against the standards of this court's modern equal protection jurisprudence."

Also dissenting from the decision were Justices William A. Brennan and William O. Douglas.

The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by Viola N. Richardson, Mendocino County clerk and registrar of voters, on behalf of all county clerks and registrars in California.

The ban on voting by ex-felons, which is in the state constitution, was challenged by the American Civil Liberties Union, the California Rural Legal Assistance and the League of Women Voters on behalf of three former prison inmates.

Palestinians To Continue Fight

By The Associated Press

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahran warned today that the next Middle East war could be a nuclear confrontation. It said if Israel failed to agree to a just and lasting peace in the area, Tel Aviv would be responsible.

Meanwhile, the Palestinian Liberation Organization said disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces was a step toward peace, but that it would continue to fight until the Palestinian problem was solved.

The statement came as the Israeli-Syrian disengagement on the Golan Heights neared completion, with only the ruins of the town of Quneitra to be given up.

The guerrilla position was given by Farouk al Kaddumy, leader of the PLO delegation to the Islamic foreign ministers' meeting in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, who also said his group would get nuclear weapons if Israel got them.

"Nuclear weapons are a matter of time," he said. "Make sure we will do it. The Israelis are discussing this." But when newsmen pressed him on this subject, and asked if the PLO was planning to equip itself with nuclear weapons, he said, "No."

Calley Requesting Evidence In Other Trials Over My Lai

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—William L. Calley, still fighting to reverse an Army murder conviction, will seek the right to introduce evidence from other My Lai trials.

A defense motion requests court-martial records from five related trials and the military records in 19 other cases in which charges were dismissed, said Calley's attorney, Kenneth Henson of Columbus.

So far, U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott's decisions on defense motions have confined the appeal plea to the records of Calley's court-martial conviction more than three years ago. It's doubtful the judge will permit witnesses to be called in the appeal hearings beginning today, Henson said Sunday.

The 31-year-old Calley is represented by Henson; George Latimer of Salt Lake City, Utah; and Covington, Tenn. attorney J. Houston Gordon, who is expected to do most of the arguing on Calley's behalf.

Calley has been confined at the Ft. Benning stockade since Thursday, after an appeals court overturned Elliott's February decision to free him on bail.

A military tribunal sentenced the former Army lieutenant to life imprisonment for the murder of 22 civilians at My Lai, but Calley's appeal through military channels resulted in a reduced sentence of 10 years.

Henson, asked about Calley's stockade life, commented, "I don't think his spirits are the best in the world. It is depressing in there."

Calley was confined under house arrest at his Ft. Benning apartment for three years before he gained bail three months ago.

The appeal hearing before Elliott, who has authority to overturn the Army conviction, could last a day or a week, Henson said.

"If the judge just receives arguments, there could be a decision in a day and a half," he said. "It could take much longer if the court becomes inquisitive on certain grounds."

Wants Cash, Not Food

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—The president of the Southern Regional Council, Dr. Raymond Wheeler of Charlotte, says government food programs ought to be replaced with a guaranteed annual income.

Wheeler, a Charlotte physician, said none of the existing food programs has proved adequate and he doubted if they would ever provide adequate diets for the poor. Therefore, he said, "cash assistance...has always been the best answer."

Wheeler was the principal speaker at the opening Sunday night of a three-day conference on hunger in the South.

Twister Hits

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C.(AP)— Eight persons were injured, one of them critically, when a tornado swept through a mobile home park north of Rocky Mount Sunday, authorities said.

A twister also uprooted trees and tore power lines in a rural section of Edgecombe County.

Bud Rimel of the Nashville ambulance service said Joseph Harrison, a resident of the park, was critically injured. He was taken to Nash General Hospital but was later removed to Duke University Hospital in Durham.

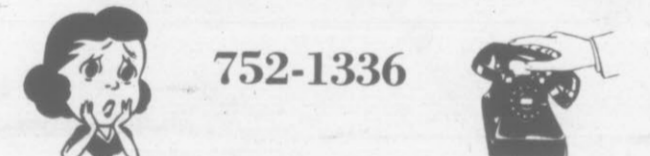

Rimel said the others were treated and released.

Funnel clouds were also sighted near the Red Oak community northwest of Rocky Mount and in a rural area east of the town.

Rimel said five trailers were demolished and seven were less severely damaged. He also said two cars had been badly damaged.

A tornado watch was in effect for most of eastern North Carolina Sunday evening as strong winds and heavy rains lashed the area. A tornado watch was also called for the southern Piedmont, however no funnel clouds were reported.

REFLECTOR HOTLINE

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

MAGAZINE DISCONTINUED

I was solicited by mail to subscribe to Good Food Magazine, published by Triangle Publishing Company in Radnor, Pa. They were to send me a free copy and I was to subscribe to the next 11 for $2.75 if I chose to. I have a canceled check dated Apr. 1, but have never received another copy. I wrote them May 23 and have had no reply. A.L.H.

The Customer Service Department of Triangle Publishing told Hotline that the last copy of Good Food was published in April. Why you were solicited so short a time before the closeout date was not explained. They will contact you about whether you want a refund or $2.75 credited on a TV Guide subscription, the Customer Service representative said.

NEEDS FILLING

Where can I get some tiny foam rubber pellets for filling a bean bag chair? K. R. J.

Textile Products, Inc. in the Colonial Heights Shopping Center on East Tenth Street in Greenville has chipped foam rubber for 49 cents a pound. This should fill a bean bag chair very well, the clerk said.

RISKY ROAD

I always say a prayer of thanks when I reach the end of Hooker Road in Greenville. It is narrow and crooked, and the shoulders along most of it have a deep drop. I wonder if there are any plans for widening it. Mrs. J.D.W.

Hooker Road, even though it is entirely within Greenville, is a state road. Division of Highways Engineer C. W. Snell said there is no provision for Hooker Road in the Seven Year Program for highway improvements statewide. He said he thinks perhaps Greenville should consider taking over Hooker, but the City Manager Bill Carstarphen said there has been no consideration of this possibility so far. Perhaps you and other concerned persons should prevail on the City to accept Hooker as a city thoroughfare, especially with the possibility of a new school's being located on it and Arlington Boulevard's opening it up further.

A HOTLINE APPEAL STEAMBOATS ON THE TAR

Miss Rosemary Taylor Weds In Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Rosemary Taylor and Russell James Warren was solemnized Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Boyd Memorial Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Willis Wilson, pastor of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church, conducted the double ring ceremony. A program of organ music was presented by Susan Parker of Farmville. Brenda Kay Moore of Farmville sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "More."

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mildred Taylor of Greenville, and Mr. F.E. Taylor of Jacksonville, Fla. Given in marriage by her brother, Harold E. Harris, of Greenville, the bride wore a traditional gown fashioned of chantilly lace with a bouffant skirt edged with a lace ruffle at the hemline. The bodice was fitted with a natural waistline accented with pearls and bands with satin ribbon belt. A chantilly lace ruffle edged the high neckline and long sleeves. The dress was finished with a lace cape.

She wore a chapel length three tiered mantilla of imported illusion edged in matching lace. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and pom poms centered with an orchid corsage.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Earl Warren of Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Farmville Central High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of J. H. Rose High School.

For a wedding trip to Charlotte, the bride chose a blue and white suit, matching accessories and an orchid corsage. The couple will reside at Rt. 4, Greenville.

The maid of honor was Allison Marie Gay of Farmville. She was dressed in a rose red crepe polyester formal empire style gown with a scooped neckline. The neckline and hem were accented with matching ruffles. She carried a nosegay of red carnations and white pom poms with rainbow streamers.

Bridesmaids were Shelley LuAnn Trowbridge, Jackie Sue Hedgepeth and Debbie Rae Nanny, all of Farmville, Sandra Louise Harris of Macclesfield and Connie Lynn Garris of Greenville. They dressed like the honor attendant except in rainbow colors and carried identical nosegays.

The honorary bridesmaids dressed in formal length dresses and carrying a white mum with pink and white streamers, were Patricia Diane Cobb of Fountain, Donna Reid Joyner, Martha Rose Ellis, Debbie K. Wooten and Debby Lynn Everett, all of Farmville, and Theresa Lynn Tripp of Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom.

Donna Lou Coward of Greenville presided at the register. Mrs. Lloyd A. Hudson of Winterville directed the wedding. Both wore white carnation corsages.

The mother of the bride wore a pink chantilly lace formal dress over pink crepe. The mother of the bridegroom wore a mint green formal sheath dress. Both wore white orchid corsages.

Lisa Diane Harris of Clarkton, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a rose red crepe polyester dress and carried a basket of rose petals.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Russell C. Harris of Clarkton, and David Eugene Taylor of Greenville, brothers of the bride, Charles Stephen Tyson of Greenville, Michael Warren of New Bern and Raymond Earl Warren of Greenville, both brothers of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church given by the parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Dennis Tripp of Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom, served cake. Pouring punch were Mrs. Fred Tripp of Winterville, aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. R.P. Woolard of Pactolus, aunt of the bridegroom, and the honorary bridesmaids.

Guests were greeted by the mothers of the bridal couple.

A rehearsal party was given for the bridal couple following the wedding rehearsal.

Mrs. Harold Harris, sister-in-law of the bride, poured punch and Mrs. Russell C. Harris Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, served cake.

Miss Theresa Lynn Tripp, cousin of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

ECU Alumni Bride-Elect In Hawaii Honored

More than 100 members of the East Carolina University Alumni Association and their immediate families departed Raleigh-Durham airport Saturday for eight days and seven nights at the Hawaiian Regent Hotel on Waikiki Beach, Hawaii.

The Aloha Carnival is sponsored by the ECU Alumni Association for the third consecutive summer.

Dr. Charles Q. Brown, Director of Institutional Development, and Don Leggett, Director of Alumni Affairs and Foundations, accompanied the alumni group headed by the chairman of the ECU Board of Trustees, Robert L. Jones, and his wife, Linda, of Raleigh.

Mrs. Donna Sue Stokes, bride-elect of Duane David Gwyn, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. George R. Kite in Ayden. Mrs. Kite's daughter, Mrs. Bernie Tyndall, was assisting hostess.

The gifts were displayed on the dining room table beneath a cartwheel motif of mixed flowers with multi-colored streamers which encircled the chandelier. The honoree was remembered with a corsage of pink roses and a gift from the hostesses.

The guests were served refreshments by Misses Catherine and Mary Dixon.

The bride will be married on July 28 in the Ayden First Baptist Church.

Couple Said Vows Sunday

MRS. DALE R. MUCHMORE

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Holy Apostle's Episcopal Church here was the scene of the wedding of Miss Donna Liggitt Forbes and Dale R. Muchmore Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

Father Robert O. Weeks performed the double ring ceremony. Organist for the ceremony was Mahlon M. Fauss of New York City.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Farmer Forbes of Morehead City, N.C., and Mr. Wiley Dew Forbes of Wilson, N.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lewis Muchmore of San Diego, Calif.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of soft blue cotton fashioned with swiss tucking and pleating. The high neckline to the hem was accented by slender bands of white Venise lace throughout the dress and ruffling. She wore a garland of wild flowers and carried a bridal bouquet of matching wild flowers.

The best man was Wiley Dew Forbes Jr. of Wilson, brother of the bride.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the Plaza Hotel, New York City.

The bride is a graduate of Sullins College, Bristol, Va., and East Carolina University, Greenville. She was a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma and Sigma Alpha Iota and made her debut at the Terpsichorean Ball, Raleigh. She is now a performing artist and has appeared in Broadway plays.

The bridegroom is a graduate of San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif., and served as a U. S. Naval officer for three years in Japan. He is now a teaching and performing artist and has appeared in Broadway plays.

Miss Windy Snell Weds Garry Singleton Sunday

COLUMBIA—Miss Windy Clifton Singleton of Hampton, Va., nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Best man was the father of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Danny R. Singleton of Greenville, and Wayne Singleton of Hampton, Va., both brothers of the bridegroom, Freddie and Bryan Snell of Columbia, brothers of the bride, Edward X. Walters of Raleigh, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Rena Camaret of Greenville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal dress, empire style of white peau de soie accented with seed pearls with a lace yoke edged with a lace ruffle and Victorian neckline. The full length sleeves of lace ended with ruffles over the hands. The skirt had appliques of lace and seed pearls ending in a wide lace ruffle extending the full length of the chapel train which fell from a satin bow.

Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was arranged from a cluster of lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried her prayerbook centered with miniature carnations and cascading love knots and a white royal bouquet orchid.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Terrance P. McLaughlin of Greenville. She was dressed in a full length gown of apricot satin with chiffon over lace with an empire waistline and full puffed sleeves. The skirt ended with a wide ruffle. She wore an embroidered garden hat in light beige and carried a long-stemmed yellow rose with yellow streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donna Walters of Raleigh, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Wanda Davenport of Columbia, sister of the bride, Miss Pamela L. Snell of Columbia, sister of the bride, Mrs. Brenda McLaughlin of Greenville, Miss Phyllis Bateman of Greenville and Miss Sue Voliva of Columbia.

They wore gowns of floral chiffon in shades of apricot, yellow and green over yellow satin styled similar to that of the honor attendant. They each wore garden hats of spring yellow and carried a long-stemmed yellow rose with yellow streamers.

Flower girl was Miss Ashley Caryl Singleton of Greenville, niece of the bridegroom. Her dress was similar to that of the matron of honor. She wore a white garden hat and carried a white straw basket of yellow rose petals.

Sound Side Community Building after the ceremony. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Douglas Davis of Elizabeth City and Mrs. Grace Wiggs of Greenville presided at the guest book.

Mrs. Charlie Snell of Greenville, aunt of the bride, served cake and Mrs. Freddie Snell, sister-in-law of the bride, poured punch. Assisting were Mrs. Worth Snell and Mrs. I.J. Spear of Creswell, aunts of the bride.

An after-rehearsal party was held for the wedding party and out-of-town guests at Edgewater Estates given by parents of the bridegroom and Mr. and Mrs. E.X. Walters, sister of the bridegroom.

After a wedding trip the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Columbia High School, Harrell's Hair Design and is employed by Mitchell's Hairstyling. The bridegroom is a graduate of J. H. Rose High School and is employed by Tarheel Toyota.

Talk about problems, this wife has one

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Harvey is 76, and I am a few years younger. We've been married for two years, both having lost our mates in death.

My problem is his interest in other women. He says he just likes to "talk."

We went to the Bahamas for a holiday, and he took up with an old maid he met in the hotel lobby. She was with a tour, but found Harvey so fascinating she stayed behind and let the group go on without her. [Now don't tell me all he gave her was conversation!]

When Harvey was in the hospital for a few days for tests he called up an old girl friend, and she came to visit him. Even with me in the room he held her hand, and they talked over old times. The head nurse told him he couldn't have any more visitors after that because it ran up his blood pressure. You can imagine how humiliated I was.

Divorce is not the answer. If it weren't for this thing he has about other women he'd be a good man.

I'm considering inviting two or three women over every day, and let him get all talked out. Should I, or not? HURT

DEAR HURT: I wouldn't. Harvey might have more conversation in him than you think.

DEAR ABBY: How does a parent deal with this new breed of woman? I need advice on this matter. Somehow I find it hard to accept this business of living together without marrying.

Am I wrong to deny them sleeping quarters together in my house?

My daughter is well educated, with a master's degree from a fine eastern university. She is only dumb where men are concerned.

NO NAMES, PLEASE

DEAR NO: What your adult offspring do away from home is their business. What they do in your home is YOUR business. If you don't feel right about their sharing sleeping quarters in your home, tell them so. And if they don't like it, they can stay at a motel.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a neighbor who comes over every day as soon as I come home from work at 3:45 p.m.? Her husband travels, so she stays for hours. I have no time for myself and absolutely no privacy. Sometimes I've had a hard day at the office and would like to lie down for an hour before I start preparing dinner, but I can't because she's here.

She brings her two preschool children along, which makes matters worse because she doesn't discipline them, and they run wild.

Otherwise she is a good neighbor and does a lot of little favors for me. I haven't wanted to say anything that might hurt her feelings, yet these poorly timed visits are getting to me. Any suggestions? WEARY

DEAR WEARY: Yes. Tell her you sometimes like to lie down after work so please telephone before coming over. I don't know what "little favors" she does for you, but you're paying a big price for them. Is it worth your privacy? Think about it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DESPERATE OLD MAID": At 29 you are far from an "old maid," so drop that label. And don't act so desperate. Think of yourself as a whole individual, not a half looking for another half.

Multitude Attends 50th Annual Singing

GRANDFATHER MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP)—Automobiles and campers packed the Blue Ridge Parkway near Linville on Sunday as a crowd estimated between 50,000 and 60,000 gathered for the 50th annual Singing on the Mountain.

Organizers of the event said it was the largest crowd since the late Joe. L. Hartley started the singing 50 years ago as a family reunion. Niley Cook, an 88-year-old member of the Hartley clan who has attended every singing, proclaimed "everybody in the United States is here."

The multitude gathered in the meadow at the foot of Grandfather Mountain for a day of preaching, speaking and entertainment. Singers Johnny Cash and Arthur Smith, comedian Bob Hope and North Carolina Gov. Jim Holshouser received top billing at the event.

Traffic to the area from the Blue Ridge Parkway was halted at midmorning Sunday when all available parking within three miles of the singing was taken.

Cash, who performed for two and a half hours without pay, said afterwards, "I enjoyed this day more than any concert I have done in years. First, because of such a cross-section of America out there. All ages, all walks of life. It was good for me as an entertainer to give my time, especially to such an audience."

Holshouser, who was born in Boone, in the shadow of Grandfather Mountain told the crowd that the singing on the mountain attracted people who wanted to go to the mountains to get close to God.

"For 50 years now people have gathered here to sing and have fun but, maybe most of all, to experience that feeling of getting up here in the mountains and getting close to God," Holshouser said.

Motel Guests Leave Almost Everything

By JANICE SMITH
Greensboro Record Writer
Written for Associated Press
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Would you believe...? This is the way motel operators could start a long list of items left behind by guests.

Besides the usual cuff links, jewelry and clothing forgotten in packing, lodgers leave such things as suitcases and, one local motel reported, false teeth.

"Some lady said she was visiting...and wanted to know if we saw her false teeth she lost in the room," motel manager Kay Kido said.

Imagine going to clean a room and finding a crab crawling around. Demetria Towell, a motel housekeeper, said children who had been to the beach stayed over night enroute home.

"On several occasions, we have found money people have stuck under their pillows," said a motel owner, S. T. Dickinson. He said one man put $1800 under his pillow for safe keeping, but left it when he checked out.

Dickinson said a maid found the money and turned it in.

"He got his money and didn't even give the maid a tip," Dickinson said.

One manager said people write, phone or come back for articles left behind, but 85 percent of the forgotten articles are mailed to their owners.

Inkeeper Jim Dailey said some "items are things you normally wouldn't think people would overlook." One guest left a typewriter in the room. It has been in the manager's office for a month and a half.

Or, sometimes, housekeepers say tourists travel with their own pillows. Occasionally they see a good swap and leave their old pillows for the motel's better or less worn ones.

Some of the things people ask for are as amazing as the objects they leave behind.

Rooms at many motor inns are inner rooms. At one inn a man requested a room near an entrance. Desk personnel couldn't understand why until they heard the clackety-clack of hoofs as the guest attempted to bring his horse in the room. The horse didn't stay.

Guests also request extra hard beds, water beds, swimwear, shower caps and, in one motel restaurant, a man wanted an early morning beer with his eggs.

New Classes In Ceramics

Pitt Technical Institute is beginning a new series of classes in ceramics.

Both day and evening classes are available on Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Tuesday. Each beginning class will meet once each week for a total of 30 hours.

Instruction will be available for the beginning student which will feature basic instruction in the fundamentals of pouring and decorating greenware pieces.

The adult student, with guided instruction and supervision will move from the pouring and decoration of basic pieces to the more advanced greenware.

The cost of this course will include a $2 registration fee plus any supplies and materials utilized by the adult student.

For further information concerning the respective times and location of the ceramic classes, call the Extension Division at Pitt Technical Institute, 756-3130, Ext. 38.

'First Lady Of Space' Is Only 17 Years Old

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—She's the holder of the Medal of Honor and Certificate of Merit. She's married, retired and just turned 17.

In a world full of quotable quotes from famous females, much has been made about women's rights and Women's Lib. But this teen-aged, female success has nothing to say except an occasional chatter.

She is Monkeynaut Baker, or Mrs. Baker, America's "First Lady of Space."

Fifteen years ago, at the tender age of two, Miss Baker, a one-pound squirrel Monkey, accompanied Monkeynaut Able for a 10,000 mile per hour flight in space. Sunday, she celebrated her 17th birthday.

Now retired from space travel, she lives in a specially designed home at the Alabama Space and Rocket Center with her husband Big George.

Mrs. Baker and George were officially married in 1962.

George and Mrs. Baker had a nice birthday party Sunday, as they accepted visitors and marvelled at the huge gelatin birthday cake, decorated with bits of banana and animal crackers.

It was quite a dietary splurge, since their normal daily menu consists of a boiled egg, strawberry jello with vitamins, a quarter of a banana, a quarter of an orange and a couple of monkey biscuits.

Mrs. Baker was presented the Medal of Honor and Certificate of Merit by William Rockefeller, national president of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in 1959, a month after her historic flight.

During her 15-minute flight into space, physiological monitoring devices showed Mrs. Baker only slightly startled. Neither her nor Monkeynaut Able showed any injuries after their recovery from the flight, but that didn't stop her from rewarding her retriever with a good bite.

As a matter of fact, her handlers at the Space and Rocket Center say Mrs. Baker has quite a bit of spunk. George gives her plenty of room, and she never lets him forget that he was a monkeynaut dropout.

Although she is out of the limelight now, Mrs. Baker still gets plenty of fan mail, mostly from school children. There is always a reply, written by members of the staff at the center, and it is accompanied with an autographed photo.

One letter from a young girl was quite complimentary, congratulating Mrs. Baker on being the "first female person to go in space." But, it also brought out the fact that at 17, the lady space pioneer is actually 90-years-old, in human age equivalency.

At 17 or 90, Mrs. Baker is

City Was Once Military Post

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The City of Tampa, now the largest port between New Orleans and Norfolk, was founded in 1824 as the military post of Fort Brooke. Its present name came from the U.S. Post Office Department which listed it as "Tampa Bay." The name was shortened to Tampa in 1834.

Historian Dr. James W. Covington of the University of Tampa said the plans for establishing Fort Brooke grew out of the Treaty of Moultrie, which was signed in 1823 with the Seminole Indians.

We Must Have Safe Buildings

The city inspection department and the fire prevention bureau inspected Agnes Fullilove School and found conditions that were termed as "extremely hazardous."

Chief Inspector Alton E. Warren reported that children could fall through floors or radiators could fall on them. He said ceilings on both floors were loose, falling and showed signs of extensive water damage.

Walls were damaged and cracked and windows were broken throughout the building. The inspectors found doors which were rotted and needed replacing. Improvements were needed in the boiler room and basement area.

Loose commodes were reported and roof flashing needed repair. A chimney was cracked and unlined.

Since this building was used last year and it is anticipated that it will be used for the seventh grades next fall, the conditions that the inspectors found are appalling.

The redeeming factor was that exterior walls and foundations were reported in very good condition and, Warren said, he felt the building "certainly would warrant renovations."

We assume that repairs will be made to the building during the summer and prior to opening of the school next fall. The building should be carefully checked by the city's inspectors before school opens to make certain that all the deficiencies have been corrected.

More important, we should make certain that all the city and county schools are carefully inspected to determine that there are no similar conditions elsewhere. It should be ascertained that both fire and structural safety inspections for all schools are being made on a regular basis, so that such conditions as were found at Agnes Fullilove are not allowed to develop.

Parents have the right to expect that their children will attend schools which are structurally safe. Fortunately the deficiencies have been found at Agnes Fullilove. Now we must be certain that such conditions do not develop in other school buildings.

Urged To Seek Town Problems

By BILL NOBLITT (First of Three Articles) RALEIGH—Traditionally, one of North Carolina's greatest assets has been the multitude of small cities across the state, clean, comfortable, and attractive places in which to live and work.

Surveys invariably show that Tar Heels much prefer those towns to the metropolitan areas. But, the times are changing and many of those small towns are either victims of runaway growth, or decay.

When Gov. James E. Holshouser traveled to Seattle recently for the National Governors' Conference, he carried with him 100 black binders in which were 60 pages which could change the future for North Carolinians.

That book, titled A Community Development Handbook, will shortly sweep across North Carolina—leveling a finger of criticism at local governments, both city and county, and spelling out proposed major shifts in local thinking about what a community wants, and how to go about getting it.

The key shift of emphasis urged upon local governments will be to turn away from traditional planning for future directions and adopt a technique which state officials label "problem seeking."

The slim booklet was prepared by the community services division of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

The criticisms of local governments, and the much more voluminous and detailed recommendations for change, are based upon a 12-month study by the state involving 30 North Carolina communities; with emphasis on five pilot cities (Hendersonville, Statesville, Lumberton, Wilson, and Washington).

Distributed to the governors of the other 49 states, and other key state and federal officials, an introductory letter from Gov. Holshouser sets the theme: to describe a process which can transform traditional planning techniques from a contemplative, inventory-taking, long-range, goal-setting, and projection process into one capable of problem-seeking.

The governor also pointed out that such local governmental planning should have a "decision and action orientation which is relevant, reliable, and realistic."

Planning, Holshouser said in his cover letter, is pointless unless governmental actions are affected by the information and analysis.

The heart of the new report which will be distributed to local and state officials across the state is an effort to "improve the system by which local units of government solve critical community problems."

Criticisms

High up in the book is the following indictment of a "representative sample of North Carolina's non-metropolitan cities:"

—Policy formulation and adoption: little evidence N.C. cities perform in organized manner; few elected officials or key officers have clear understanding of what policies have been adopted at local level; planning commissions play little or no role in policy.

—Citizen Participation: Most cities reluctant to support public information, outreach effort fostering greater citizen involvement in governmental affairs; past programs were pushed by federal programs primarily directed toward black, the poor or disadvantaged.

—Social and Economic Concerns: N.C. cities have limited experience, and appear less than eager to take advantage of New Federalism opportunities to link physical development to social and economic needs.

—Monitoring and Evaluation: Only a couple of the largest cities have such capabilities.

Learning Curve Problem: N. C. cities appear so conditioned to respond to federal programs that the opportunity to actually shape some of their own future is viewed with uncertainty if not outright alarm.

Heart-Transplant Era May Have Seen Its End

The announcement by Dr. Michael DeBakey in Houston that he expects to do no more heart transplants may spell the end of an era.

There was a high rate of failure in heart transplants and they were limited by the necessity of finding the proper donors.

It is likely that research will turn to some type of artificial heart which could take over for an ailing natural heart. Possibly what has been learned in heart transplants will be helpful in this area.

Massachusetts GOP Is Divided

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

BOSTON—The split in thinning ranks of the once-proud Massachusetts Republican party has now become civil war, endangering the reelection of popular Republican governor Francis W. Sargent and his unique brand of non-partisan politics in this overwhelmingly Democratic state.

Embittered Republican revolt against Sargent will peak next week when the 80-member Republican state committee seems certain to withhold its endorsement of Sargent's reelection effort. Sargent's opponent, Carroll P. Sheehan, is the symbol of long-smoldering passions against the liberal Sargent within the Republican hard core. Sheehan, a conservative businessman, has no visible chance in the Sept. 10 primary, but state committee non-endorsement symbolizes the hostility toward Sargent among regulars and political operatives inside Sargent's own party.

Admittedly, Sargent's adroit survival as a Republican in George McGovern's only winning state was never a bed of roses. With Republicans comprising one-fourth the total registration, he has surrounded himself with liberal Democratic staff assistants (his top policy aide, Al Kramer, is a former liberal Democratic state legislator) and works more comfortably with Democrats than Republicans in the state legislature (Democratic by a four-to-one margin). Moreover, White House efforts to bludgeon the party rightward were calculated to undermine Sargent within his own party.

But his zeal to avoid the taint of Republicanism and consolidate his hold on Democrats and independents has been excessive, making his name a dirty word in powerful Republican quarters. As one leading politician here told us: "Sarge has made very clear his personal rejection of the GOP."

During his administration, the Republican party has gone through no less than six successive state chairmen. The present chairman, William Barnstead, has one full-time assistant and a single telephone in his Tremont St. office. When asked to take the post, last March, Barnstead, a long-time party worker, drafted a letter for Sargent's signature committing the governor to routine help for his party: acknowledgment of his "responsibility as titular leader" to help arrest "the decline in the Republican party" and raise $250,000 for legislative candidates this summer.

Instead, Barnstead got a severely watered-down letter from Sargent pledging nothing specific in the way of campaign funds but expressing "hope" that two party fund-raisers in April and May would go "a long way" toward meeting party campaign needs. The state committee hasn't even received an accounting of those two fund-raisers. Some party operatives suspect Sargent's own money men, who handled the receipts, spun off part of the proceeds to lubricate the campaign of Sargent's running-mate, Lt. Gov. Donald Dwight. Such is the rancid distrust within the party.

What particularly infuriates Republican regulars is Sargent's patronage courtship of Democrats. By the governor's own count, he has named 2,200 non-Republicans as against 2,000 Republicans. But party regulars claim the ratio on high-paying jobs has been three-to-one in favor of non-Republicans.

All this helps explain the explosion at the state convention June 1 when a pro-Nixon resolution was thun-

Strength For Today

PURIFIED BY FIRE

The English novelist, Daniel Defoe, has left an unforgettable picture of the great plague which broke out in London in 1665. People died faster than they could be buried. It was said that the only things moving in the streets were the great wagons carrying the corpses out of the city.

Then suddenly a fire, subsequently known as the Great Fire of London, broke out. It seemed that this was the last extremity of desolation. But what medicine could not do for the city caught in the agonies of the plague, the fire did. It scattered the population, who were infesting each other, and burned down the congested centers of the city where the disease was breeding.

The plague stopped immediately, and a new city of London rose out of the ashes of the old.

It sometimes takes the ordeal of fire to cleanse the life of a man as the great fire cleansed the life of old London.

They Don't Understand

PARIS—The good news from France is that the French no longer hate Americans. If anything, they are very sympathetic with President Nixon's plight and cannot understand what all the fuss in Washington is about.

My good friend Francois said to me, "Alors, mon vieux, what are you doing to your President?"

"Nothing really, Francois.

It's just that he's in a slight jam and they're trying to find out whether they should impeach him or not."

"But what did he do?" Francois asked.

"It's hard to explain. You see there were some people working for his re-election who decided to find out what the other political party was doing by bugging its headquarters."

"Mais oui," Francois said,

"what is wrong with that?" "It wasn't just a question of bugging the opposition's office. They also discovered that people working for the President had large amounts of cash which they were using to sabotage the President's opponents."

"Naturellement. What else would they do if they were trying to beat the other party?"

"You don't understand, Francois. What they were doing was illegal."

"I understand perfectly," Francois said rather irritably. "But what is wrong with doing something illegal to win an election?"

"Well, it wasn't just a question of the President's people doing something illegal. It turned out that when the people involved were arrested, an effort was made to cover up the crime so nobody would know anyone in the White House had anything to do with it."

"Je comprends, any politician in France would do the same thing," Francois said.

"The coverup, as far as we know," I continued, "involved a former attorney general, the head of the FBI and several people very high in the Administration. All sorts of evidence was destroyed and some of the President's most trusted men perjured themselves before the Senate Watergate committee and the grand

Issues Have Changed

By ROBERT B. CULLEN Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP) — It was a scene that would have seemed incredible 10 or just five years ago.

Golden Frinks and Leon White were disassociating themselves from a protest march.

Frinks, the state field secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, collects parading without a permit citations the way most people collect parking tickets.

And White, director of the Commission for Racial Justice of the United Church of Christ, has never been slow to take up a placard either.

Yet there they were, telling reporters that they wanted nothing to do with a planned July 4 protest march against the death penalty in Raleigh.

It developed that internal rivalries between Frinks, White and the militant leadership of the National Alliance Against Racist and Political Oppression had something to do with their decision.

But the press conference raised other questions. Where does the civil rights movement, long past the days of segregated buses and Dr. Martin Luther King, go from here? Is the protest march passe?

Not necessarily, White said afterwards. But the black movement—civil rights is no longer the goal—needs to find and follow new directions.

For one thing, White said, the issues have changed. No longer does the movement have an easily definable and morally indefensible target like segregation.

"You take an issue like equal employment opportunity in government," he said. "Picket lines and mass demonstrations are not going to achieve your goal in a case like that."

Blacks are employed in government, and there are no laws keeping them out of the best jobs. Statistics show they get paid less and do more menial work than whites, but no one has ever fanned the flame of protest with statistics.

In addition, White said, the progress blacks have made in the past 10 years takes some of the steam out of the movement. "The better job opportunities have bypassed the majority of

To the editor: On Saturday, June 15, I placed a standing wreath of flowers on my father's grave in Greenwood Cemetery. By noon Sunday, June 16, the wreath had been stolen off his grave. It is a shame it is not the thief that is under the cold clay instead of my father.

How low and desperate can a culprit get to steal flowers from the graves of our loved ones? There are lots of graves that the families do not show their love and gratitude, but I, for one, do care. This is not the first time flowers have been stolen from my parents' graves. It has to be a very sick person to steal flowers from a grave, and I think he or she should pay a visit to the Mental Health Clinic.

No Omens Of Dropping Prices

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — In the past few weeks there has developed very little evidence to support the consensus forecast of a sharp drop in price increases and interest rates by the end of the year.

And, since this is a repeat of the 1973 scenario, when prices seemed to defy the efforts and best intentions of those who claimed to understand what was going on, there exists today a feeling of abandonment to fate.

The federal government has largely withdrawn from direct intervention in the marketplace as a whole, although it continues sporadically its attempts to cover over the big problems, such as the threatened bankruptcy of cattlemen.

The forecasts come with the old frequency but are quickly assaulted by facts. Private and government forecasters alike are beginning to find themselves out on a limb, their pleas of "wait 'til next month" sounding too shrill to be believed.

Last week the prime rate rose, against the forecasts, of course. It was foredoomed by a sharp rise in business borrowing at the big New York banks, again in defiance of the forecasts.

The latest consumer price index, for May, also showed an increase in the rate of increase, to an annual rate of 13.2 per cent. It meant that consumer prices in May were 10.7 per cent over a year ago.

What does that mean in terms of wages? For some, of course, it means automatic increases because their incomes are tied to the cost of living, rising via escalator clauses to the same degree.

For millions of others, however, it means a further decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar they take home. They can buy less and less with that dollar unless they get pay raises. And so, trouble brews on that front.

In fact, the forecasts that seem most likely to be realized are those now emanating from every direction that labor will become increasingly aggressive, after a mysterious hiatus during the past year.

Medical bills are growing faster now than earlier this year. Clothing and used car prices are accelerating.

Mortgage rates are rising, although the consequences are academic, since the housing market has all but expired.

What is bothering some economists and government officials now is a matter that should have been appreciated much earlier: Whether prices can be controlled at all for many months more.

It is one thing to control domestic prices through proper fiscal and monetary measures. It is an entirely different matter when the prices to be controlled are set abroad.

Both energy and food are world markets, with world demand setting the price. Since the United States imports both—as well as exports both—it cannot escape the inflationary impact.

Alleges Links To Hughes Cash

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. attorney general's secret approval of the extension of billionaire Howard Hughes' gambling empire was linked closely to a $100,000 payment by Hughes to President Nixon's closest friend, the staff of the Senate Watergate committee reports.

The report to senators said the apparent decision by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to approve Hughes' purchase of the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas violated the department's own antitrust regulations and "is clothed with the appearance of impropriety."

"Except for the fact that the purchase negotiations ultimately fell through for financial reasons wholly unrelated to antitrust considerations, this is a classic case of governmental decision-making for friends," the report said.

The staff report, as yet unapproved by the full committee, was prepared after nearly a year of investigation into the payments made in 1970 to C.G.

"Bebe" Rebozo, a Florida banker and long-time friend of the President's.

Written under the direction of assistant chief counsel Terry Lenzer, the report is the first section of a comprehensive report on the controversial Hughes-Rebozo money.

It explores the theory that a "quid pro quo" link did exist between those payments and efforts by Hughes to expand his hotel and gambling holdings in Las Vegas.

According to the report, Hughes and Robert P. Maheu, then his chief Nevada lieutenant, chose Richard Danner, a Hughes employe and former Miami, Fla., city manager, to act as political liaison with the government.

Danner was a friend of both Nixon and Rebozo and, the report notes, became the courier who delivered the 2100,000 to Rebozo in cash.

Danner told the committee that after a series of secret meetings from which antitrust attorneys were excluded, Mitchell on March 19, 1970, approved the Dunes purchase.

The report said that after Danner returned from one such meeting, "Maheu set in motion one of the two $50,000 contributions to Rebozo."

It quoted Maheu as saying there were "certain political obligations that had to be met" as the result of the Danner trip and that a Hughes lawyer had been ordered to pay out the money.

"The essential point here is that Maheu remembered a clear connection between the Danner-Mitchell meetings and the contribution to Rebozo," the committee report said.

"I remember telling Danner that we had authority from Hughes to make a commitment to help the administration in some of the congressional races they'd be interested in," Maheu testified.

"But I don't know to this day if he took the matter up with Mitchell or someone else," he said.

Mitchell, Nixon's presidential campaign manager in 1968 and for part of 1972, has denied ever discussing campaign contributions. Danner also has said he only discussed the antitrust matter with Mitchell.

Rebozo has said the $100,000 in $100 bills was intended as a campaign contribution but instead was kept untouched in a safety deposit box for three years and then returned to a Hughes representative. He has said he took no part in the Dunes discussions.

In such investigations, "rarely do the facts and explanations point clearly to a conclusion showing improper conduct," the staff report said.

"The facts of this case however, pointedly suggest impropriety of a significant degree and raise serious questions about campaign contributions and Justice Department practices," it said.

The Watergate committee is meeting every day this week to complete and issue its final report by Friday.

Presbyterians Face Up To Financial Squeeze

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

The United Presbyterian Church today grappled with a severe financial squeeze that has drained its reserves and cramped its operations.

With reserve capital exhausted in deficit spending due to shrinking income in the last three years, the church now faces the necessity of living on current receipts.

This was the uncertain economic picture for the 2.8-million-member denomination as its governing assembly went into the eighth day of a 10-day meeting.

Among the 725 voting delegates, the jolting financial plight, unveiled by budget officers, was a main and troubling concern.

"It's a very painful, very serious situation," said the Rev. Daniel Little of New York, a staff budget officer.

However the denomination's new moderator, the Rev. Robert C. Lamar of Albany, N.Y., didn't see the situation as hopeless.

"Our economic problems obviously are real," he said. "But we aren't panicked. I don't see us at the edge of the cliff at all. Of course, we can recover our vigor."

Church income has plummeted 35 per cent since 1972 and was down another 13.5 per cent for the first of this year. National mission budgets dropped from $40 million to the current $32 million in that period, propped up by use of reserves.

But any reserves left are committed, and a budget section has said the church must cut its national budget another 25 per cent for 1975 to $26 million, down $7 million.

That means more cutbacks in programs and personnel, already trimmed from 1,028 employees in 1972 to about 700 now.

Frances Dyer of Whittier, Calif., a member of the church's administrative council, sounded a hopeful note in reminding delegates of money in the local churches.

Local congregational income has climbed from a total of $325 million in 1965 to $400 million in 1973, but a lesser share of it has gone to the national church.

Under the Presbyterian system, what a local congregation passes on for the national church program is voluntary except for a small per capita contribution.

The assembly was expected to give its approval — probably Tuesday — to an initial step toward reunion with the 900,000-member southern branch, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

blacks. But many of the best young people, the potential leaders, are getting good jobs and they're satisfied."

Marches and demonstrations, White said, can still be useful for calling attention to injustices.

But for the future, he believes the ballot box is the best instrument blacks have.

"You have to understand," he said, "that not too long ago, it was militant thing for a black to register and vote."

Since 1965, the participation of blacks in the North Carolina electorate has been spotty. Sometimes they turn out in numbers and vote overwhelmingly for black candidates or liberal white candidates.

Other times, their participation is poor and their votes are swayed by promises made to black leaders by white organization politicians.

White thinks that one key factor in black political power is insuring that blacks will always have someone to vote for. "We should never let an election go by like the last Senate primary without a black candidate in the field."

"We have to put the so-called liberals on notice that they cannot win black votes without working for them. They have to accept blacks as equals in the campaign."

If blacks can continue to amass political power, White said, there will soon be two classes of black leaders: elected officials with the power of patronage and civil rights leaders with a "prophetic" role.

He said he sees, despite the Symbionese Liberation Army, a coupling of the militance that characterized the late 1960s and early 1970s. Bobby Seale, he noted, is running for office in Oakland, Calif.

But, White said, the path is going to be longer and harder than the one that lay ahead 15 years ago.

jury."

"We read all this in the French newspapers. But you still haven't answered my question. What did they do wrong?"

"Francois, how can I make you understand? There was one political scandal after another. The Vice President of the United States was forced to resign for taking bribes. The White House kept an enemies list which they were going to use to get people who criticized the President. They also hired 'plumbers' to break into people's homes and offices. One thing led to another and pretty soon there was some question of whether the President of the United States himself was involved."

"In France we would have been very disappointed if our President wasn't involved."

"Then there were other scandals. Mr. Nixon forgot to pay $465,000 in income taxes."

"Vive la Nixon," Francois said.

"Then it was discovered that the President had tape-recorded everyone who came into his office. Some of the tapes could prove whether he was involved in the cover-up of the other crimes. The House of Representatives and the special prosecutor asked to hear all the tapes, but Mr. Nixon gave them only a few which he claimed were sufficient to find out if he was guilty or not."

"Any Frenchman would do the same thing. You have told me nothing so far to explain why you keep picking on him."

"Francois, I didn't want to tell you this, but the tapes revealed the President of the United States puts catsup on his cottage cheese."

Francois' eyes bugged out. "Alors, why didn't you say that before? Now I understand why you want to impeach him."

derously adopted over a competing draft that merely declared President Nixon "like any other American, is subject to the law of the land." Conservative-leaning convention delegates, angered by four years of back-scratching between Sargent and the Democrats, backed the pro-Nixon resolution partly to dramatize Republican partisanship and wound the governor.

Capstoning the party's cannibalism is the fact that the camp of Sen. Edward Brooke, also phenomenally popular as a liberal Republican, is working both sides of the street in the Sargent-Sheehan primary. Party operatives are certain Brooke (publicly supporting Sargent) would weep no tears if the Democrats took the governorship, making him the lone prospective Bay State vice-presidential nominee in 1976.

Although brilliantly successful in their roles as political loners, Sargent and Brooke must share responsibility for the fallen state of their party along with Mr. Nixon's Watergate scandals. The result could well be the election of a Democrat, most likely Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn, a party regular who now leads charismatic Michael Dukakis by six points in one highly professional statewide secret poll.

Sargent's loss to Quinn or Dukakis would end a unique era of good government—but paradoxically might resurrect the party, which now has no soul.

Teens Dems Hear Mayor

RALEIGH (AP) — Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee has warned that Democratic candidates cannot ride the Watergate issue to victory in the November elections.

"They will have to ride on their ability to perform and to find solutions where problems exist," he told the weekend convention of the North Carolina Association of Teen Democratic Clubs.

Lee urged the youthful Democrats to fight political apathy because "when you turn away from the polls you turn away from control of your own destiny."

"Politics are always going to be here whether you participate or not," he said. "If we choose not to vote, we let an elite few control us."

Lee said groups like the Teen Dems, teen-age clubs that support the Democratic party mostly on the county level, are keys "to the future of our form of government and the future of our society."

Russia Drawing More Tourists

MOSCOW (UPI) — Tourism to the Soviet Union jumped 26 per cent in 1973 over the previous year, according to Viktor Boichenko, head of Intourist, the state travel service.

About 2.9 million persons from 150 countries came here last year, 1.6 million of them from Communist countries, he said. The number of American tourists increased 38 per cent — 91,254 in 1973, compared with 66,164 in 1972.

The United States ranked third among non-Communist nations in the number of visitors. Finland was first with 493,452 and West Germany second with 109,059.

ROSE LOVERS

CHICAGO (UPI) — The rose was chosen national flower in a Chicago Tribune poll, leading the marigold by a better than 2 to 1 margin. Of almost 1,500 readers who voted, 43.4 per cent chose the rose, compared with 19.5 per cent for the marigold.

N.C. Hens: Market steady, supplies fully ample to plentiful, demand slow. Heavy hens, at farm .08-.085, mostly .08.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market slipped another notch today under the continuing pressure of rising interest rates.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 1.09 at 814.30, and losers opened up a 3-to-2 lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Just before the opening bell, the First National Bank of Chicago increased its prime lending rate from 11.5 to 11.8 per cent.

Sucrest jumped 2 1/4 to 14. The company said on Friday it expected to show a sharp earnings improvement for the fiscal year ending this month, and its directors voted a 2-for-1 stock split and a 25-cent extra dividend.

Boston Edison was up a point at 15 1/2 after the company declared its regular quarterly dividend. Prices of many utility issues have dropped sharply in recent weeks. Analysts noted that the decision in April by Consolidated Edison of New York to omit its quarterly dividend raised fears of dividend suspensions by other power companies.

At its latest price today, and at a dividend rate of 61 cents a quarter, Boston Edison stock carries an annual dividend yield of 15.7 per cent.

National Union Electric was the most active NYSE issue, unchanged at 27 1/2. Electrolux of Sweden is offering $28 a share for all of National Union's stock.

On the American Stock Exchange, Marindque Mining B was unchanged at 3 3/4 at the top of the active list. The Amex' 11 a.m. market-value index was down .09 at 80.52.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks pulled back .08 to 45.79.

Library Films Are Announced

Two films for children will be shown at Greenville Libraries this week.

The films are "For the Love of Fred," an animated story of a caterpillar who needs love before he can become a butterfly, and "Highway," which gives the viewer the feeling he's driving a car. Combined, they last about an hour. They are suitable for viewers from preschool through sixth grade.

The films are scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at Carver Library; 4 p.m. Thursday in the Children's Room of Sheppard Library; and 4 p.m. Friday at East Branch Library.

Lying On Track, Killed By Train

WILSON, N.C. (AP)—Michael Eatmon, 19, of Wilson, was killed early today when a Norfolk Southern Railway freight train struck him inside the Wilson city limits.

Engineer C. F. Kirby of Raleigh said he saw Eatmon lying on the tracks and blew his horn, but was unable to avoid striking him.

West Point Has Unpaid Recruiter

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—This fall 10 young black men from Baltimore will be on their way to the U.S. Military Academy and the man largely responsible is a white pediatrician here who serves as an unpaid recruiter for West Point.

Ten is a very high number of minority students to come from one city, considering that West Point's class of 1977 has 79 blacks and that the class five years before that had only nine.

A new minority recruiting program at the academy is responsible for much of the increase. But the concentration of blacks coming from Baltimore is due largely to the efforts of Dr. John Cadden.

In a recent interview, Cadden said: "You know, if you need a theme for your article, why don't you say Baltimore's black community is the best in the United States?"

est leaders in Baltimore and the United States, I'll be happy," he said in talking of his motivation. "Some day, I might be able to point to the White House and say I helped that man."

He added: "If a kid graduates from West Point he's got it made. There are no unemployed West Point graduates. And when they get out, all they have to do is keep their nose clean and they'll make more money than they ever dreamed of."

None of his recruits has quit so far.

'Soul Sunday' Show Postponed

"Soul Sunday," the city Recreation Dept.'s second "Sunday In the Park" musical program originally scheduled for yesterday will be held sometime in July, according to the program director Stuart Aronson.

The second program was rained out yesterday.

Aronson indicated some of the performers for the "Soul Sunday" program could not reschedule their performance until July, and that the performance date would be announced later.

Asserts Rates 'Below Average'

RALEIGH (AP)—Duke Power Co. President Carl Horn Jr. reiterated today that his company's rates are well below the natural average and he expects them to remain lower.

Horn said this as he testified at a hearing before the North Carolina Utilities Commission on Duke's application for a 16.8 per cent rate increase.

Under cross examination by Ed Hipp, commission attorney, Horn recited statistics from a study made by his company which showed Duke's rates were well below the average of rates charged by 137 other power firms in the nation. Horn also testified Duke's rate were lower than the average for power companies in the south Atlantic area.

Missouri's Interstate highway system totals 1,147 miles.

Nab Five With Big 'Pot' Cargo

CHESTER, S. C. (AP)—Five men are in custody in connection with the seizure of almost 15,000 pounds of marijuana which law enforcement officers said was flown into the Chester airport Sunday from Colombia, South America.

Estimates placed the street sale value of the marijuana at $5.7 million.

Also seized at the airport was a four-engine airplane and a tractor-trailer.

The seizure was made by federal agents of the Drug Enforcement Agency and the Bureau of Customs, aided by the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division (SLED) and the Chester County sheriff's office. A sixth man was questioned at the airport but was not arrested.

NCAA To Investigate Malone Recruiting Tactics

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — National Collegiate Athletic Association investigators are probing the recruiting tactics used by hundreds of colleges to acquire the services of school-boy basketball sensation Moses Malone. Malone reportedly told the investigators that one coach offered him $1,000 under the table to sign.

The 6-foot-11 center signed a grant-in-aid last Thursday to attend the University of Maryland.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch reported in its Sunday edition that Malone had given the NCAA investigators some damaging information on the recruiting methods of at least two schools. The newspaper said it had learned that Maryland wasn't one of them.

Post 39 Wins Weekend Set

Greenville's American Legion Post 39 reversed the tide of previous weekends, and this time took two games from Snow Hill, 14-9 in Snow Hill Saturday night, and 7-0 at Harrington Field Sunday.

Post 39 got a quick run Saturday night in the first inning when Al Heath singled, and came around on an error and an infield out. They got another in the second when Eddie Connoley reached on an error, moved up on Keith Jones' single, and scored on two infield outs.

Snow Hill countered in the third to take a 4-2 lead before Greenville came back to tie with two in the top of the fourth. Snow Hill took the lead back again in the bottom of the fourth as Jay Edgerton reached on an error, moved to second on an infield out, and scored on Richard Lancaster's single.

Greenville forged ahead to stay with a four run burst in the sixth inning. For insurance, they added five in the eighth, and one in the ninth on a home run by Macon Moye.

Snow Hill scored single runs in the fifth, sixth, eighth, and ninth innings.

In Sunday's game Randy

Potter pitched a five-hitter, striking out two and walking one in the shutout effort.

Post 39 got one in the first as Keith Jones singled, moved up on a passed ball, and scored on a single by Robert Brinkley.

Three more scored in the second. Ron Hunt led off with a single. He was sacrificed up by Connoley. Gil Whitford reached on an error, leaving runners at first and third. Potter doubled to score Hunt and move Whitford to third. Whitford later scored on a passed ball, and Potter came home on a fielder's choice and a single by Brinkley.

Hunt scored again in the third. He reached on a fielder's choice, and came around on a walk, and Potter's RBI-single. They finished their scoring with two in the fourth, Jones led off with a single, but was nailed on a single by Griff Garner. Garner scored on Brinkley's double, and Brinkley scored on Moye's single.

No Trouble With Knuckler

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
Tony Perez was standing at home plate, waiting to lead off the 12th inning for the Cincinnati Reds.

It was the second game of Sunday's long doubleheader against Atlanta and Braves' catcher Johnny Oates was wrestling with reliever Joe Niekro's knuckleball. Perez laughed.

"You're having trouble catching it," he said, "and I'm supposed to hit it?"

Then the Reds' slugger did exactly that, sending a Niekro butterfly fluttering into the center field seats for a 2-1 Cincinnati victory and a sweep of the doubleheader.

In the opener, Roger Nelson won his first game since May 26, 4-2, with Joe Morgan contributing three hits, including a two-run homer.

The sweep returned the Reds to second place in the National League's West Division 6½ games behind Los Angeles. It also cooled off the Braves, who dropped three straight against the Reds after winning eight of nine.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Montreal trimmed St. Louis 4-2, Chicago rapped Pittsburgh 7-3, Houston took San Diego 8-2 and Los Angeles topped San Francisco 4-3. New York's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Cubs 7, Pirates 3
Bill Madlock's tie-breaking single keyed a four-run eighth inning that gave the Cubs their victory over the Pirates.

Astros 8, Padres 2
Home runs by Cesar Cedeno and Bob Watson and pitcher Claude Osteen's two-run double led Houston Astros to an 8-2 rout of the San Diego Padres.

Expos 4, Cards 2
Ninth-inning singles by Tim Foli and Ken Singleton drove in the tie-breaking runs and moved Montreal past St. Louis.

Dodgers 4, Giants 3
The Dodgers battled from behind to defeat the Giants with Manny Mota's bunt single tying the score in the seventh inning and Ken McMullen's pinch single winning the game in the ninth.

American League scores: New York 4, Detroit 1; Boston 8, Cleveland 0; Milwaukee 9, Baltimore 4; Kansas City 4, Oakland 1; Chicago 2-3, Minnesota 1-4, and California 10, Texas 2.

Jollie's, 15-9

Jollie whipped Hamilton, 15-9, in semi-pro action yesterday afternoon.

Jollie scored two in the first inning. E. Coburn singled and F. Corbitt walked. Both runners moved up on a double steal, and scored on a single by B. Bateman. They added seven in the second, and clinched the win with three more in the third. E. Coburn homered in the third. J. Moore reached on a fielder's choice, moved to third on a passed ball, and scored when he stole home. R. Parnell walked and scored on a double by W. Hardee. They finished their scoring with three in the ninth.

Hamilton scored three times in the second. D. Whitfield singled, and walks to P. Baker and C. Harrington loaded the bases. Whitfield scored on an infield out. P. Whitfield was hit by a pitch to reload the bases, and K. Spivey's single scored Baker and Harrington.

Hamilton scored four in the seventh, and two in the eighth to close out their scoring.

Fire Fighters, 2-1

Clennell Streeter's double in the bottom half of the seventh scored two runs and provided Fire Fighters with a 2-1 victory over Taff Office Equipment in Senior Babe Ruth action Saturday night.

Randy Adams led off the seventh when he was hit by a pitch from loser David Clifton. Adams stole second and went to third on Ricky Phillips' single with one out. Then Streeter delivered the double for the two runs and the win.

Taff scored their only run in the fourth. Jack Jones walked, and scored on Pete Cullop's double to right-center field.

Will Open

ATLANTA (AP) — Strike or no strike, the Atlanta Falcons will open training camp in Greenville, S.C., July 19, Falcons owner Rankin Smith said Sunday.

"Camp will be open on July 19 and everyone is welcome, and that includes rookies, friends and bartenders, anyone. That is our intention, no postponement of camp," he said.

Italian Fans 'Upset' Over Loss To Poland

ROME (AP) — Italian fans broke television sets, burnt national flags and marched on the Polish Embassy out of disappointment Sunday over Italy's 2-1 soccer defeat by Poland in the World Cup.

Residents of Southeast Rome ran to the windows in alarm when a blast echoed in the neighborhood. Some called police. An angry Roman had thrown his television set from his third floor apartment on the street after the Poles scored their second goal.

Hundreds of Romans set fire to the banners they had bought in expectation of celebrating victory.

A dozen teen-agers ran on their motorcycles to the Polish Embassy and hurled tomatoes and stones at its windows. Embassy personnel called for police, who came to the rescue and disbanded the youths. Police held two for questioning.

Franco Pera, 21, felt he could hardly survive the shame of his national team's defeat. Police said Pera watched the match on television in a cafe, then swearing at the Italian players, went to the bathroom and with a knife cut the veins of his wrists. He was rushed to a hospital where doctors said he will survive.

To the Italians, who had hardly blinked in learning that their soccer "stars" were probably the best paid among World Cup competitors, watching their team ousted by low-paid Polish soccerites had a very bitter taste.

TWO BEAT PAR
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Only two golfers beat par in each of the four rounds of the 1974 Masters. They were winner Gary Player of South Africa and Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio.

"The over-wealthy soccer of the Italians is out of date," wrote Rome's conservative Daily Il Tempo. "There come forward legions of champions who pay their domestic appliances by installments and do not pose like as many Sophia Loren's."

In Naples, swarms of youths marched in several columns through the inner city's maze of narrow streets waving draped flags and shouting slogans against the players and Ferriwwo Valcareggi, the national team's manager.

In Cagliari, Sardinia's capital city, soccer fan clubs decided against staging any protest march. "There is hardly any team to protest against," a Sardinian said. "Or at least, we failed to see one in action."

Carlen Bids Farewell To Quarterback Barnes

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) —

Texas Tech Coach Jim Carlen watched his prize quarterback bid farewell to the homefolks in the Coaches All-America football game Saturday night and declared: "I'm a Joe Barnes man. I think he's the greatest."

Carlen, one of the West coaches, approached Barnes after the West ambushed the East 36-6 and said simply, "That's the way to go out."

Barnes and Jesse Freitas of San Diego State directed the televised summertime assault that featured two touchdown pass receptions by Southern Cal's Lynn Swann and the multiple heroics of Utah's Steve Odum and Arkansas' Dickey Morton.

Freitas zipped a 12-yard scoring pass to Swann to open the night's scoring and fired another five-yarder to the fleet Swann to close out the point production.

In between, Barnes, drafted by the Chicago Bears, wiggled 26 yards for a touchdown that shoved the West team of Oklahoma's Barry Switzer into an insurmountable 22-6 lead. He missed on a long touchdown bomb by inches but wound up hitting on five of 10 pitches for 75 yards.

Layne: 'Out Of Line'

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Layne says 90 per cent of the grievances the National Football League Players' Association has against NFL owners are out of line.

"They've got 53 ridiculous and horrendous demands," said the former University of Texas and professional football great.

The former Texas, Detroit and Pittsburgh quarterback commented to newsmen Sunday at the Darrel Royal Invitational Celebrity Golf Tournament, which raises funds for the Boys' Clubs of Galveston.

"I don't mean that all of them (grievances) are bad, but 90 per cent of them are out of line."

Being Injured The Thing Colbert Wanted The Whole Thing

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It's getting to be healthy to be unhealthy in Boston.

Rico Petrocelli, hobbled by a pulled hamstring muscle that has knocked him off third base and left him as the Red Sox' designated hitter, belted a pair of solo home runs Sunday.

And Rick Wise, recovering from tendonitis and a broken finger, pitched five solid innings in his first start in a month. The Rick-and-Rico combination, plus some other healthy hitting, powered Boston to an 8-0 rout of the Cleveland Indians and enabled the Red Sox to widen their American League East lead to 3½ games over the Detroit Tigers.

In Sunday's other games, New York beat the Tigers 4-1, Milwaukee walloped Baltimore 9-4, Kansas City defeated Oakland 4-1, California crushed Texas 10-2 and in a doubleheader, Chicago edged Minnesota 2-1 before the Twins tripped the White Sox 4-3.

Yanks 4, Tigers 1
Newly acquired Rudy May pitched a four-hitter and Bobby Murcer doubled home the tie-breaking run during a sixth-inning downpour in the Yankees' victory. Play began in a steady rain which got harder during the middle innings and never stopped, forcing postponement of the second game of the scheduled twinbill.

Brewers 9, Orioles 4
"It wasn't that much of a day," Darrell Porter shrugged. "Heck, I must've left 10 guys on base."

Actually, Porter stranded seven runners—but he un-stranded three others with one swing. He belted a first-inning grand-slam off southpaw Dave McNally that started the Brewers on their way over Baltimore.

Royals 4, A's 1
Lindy McDaniel, making a rare start, retired the first 12 Oakland batters he faced and wound up with a three-hit triumph over the A's.

Angels 10, Rangers 2
Frank Robinson and Lee Stanton made it easy for California's Andy Hassler to gain his first major league victory. They hit two-run homers in the first inning and drove in three runs apiece in the stampede against Texas.

White Sox 2-3, Twins 1-4
Stan Bahnsen pitched a four-hitter while Carlos May singled home one run and scored the other on a wild pitch in Chicago's first-game victory.

In the nightcap, the Twins' Danny Thompson tripled in the seventh and scored on Steve Brye's tie-breaking single.

National League scores: Montreal 4, St. Louis 4, San Francisco 3, and in a doubleheader, Cincinnati 4-2, Atlanta 2-1 with the second game going 12 innings.

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "One thing was on my mind," Jim Colbert said.

"I wanted it all. I didn't care if I was second or 95th. I wanted it all and I was willing to take some chances to get it."

The chipper, gutsy little guy got it all—the title and a $34,000 first place check—on the second hole of a four-man sudden-death playoff in the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

He got it with a routine par five after Ray Floyd's bold bid for a birdie turned into a bogey instead.

"I was playing for birdie," Floyd said of the wind-blown third shot that caught the bank of a pond guarding the green and set up the bogey that let Colbert get away with the fourth title of his career Sunday.

"I'm excited," Colbert said. "I'm real excited. I've won before, but this is my first on national television. It's my first on a really great golf course. It's just great. Everything is great."

Colbert, 33, had to make a scrambling par on the last hole of regulation play, chipping over a bunker to within about 18 inches of the hole, to tie Floyd, a bitterly disappointed Forrest Fezler and veteran Gary Brewer for the top spot at 281.

That's one-over-par on the unyielding, 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course, a monster of a layout turned even longer and tougher by gusty, blustery winds, chill temperatures and rough still wet and heavy from heavy rains.

It was the first time since the Colonial Invitational of 1971 that a regular tour event—including the U.S. Open—had been won at plus-par figures

The Worry Clinic Looko Needs People Now

Alpha's professor can profitably be imitated by other pragmatic educators, both in seminaries and Liberal Arts colleges. For it is current problems that cause most of our unhappiness, so try to show people how to avoid divorce, timidity, unpopularity and disease!

By GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-666: Alpha G., aged 24, is a seminary student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "our psychology professor is a fan of yours.

"So he has suggested that I use as a thesis topic the idea of having churches conduct an annual 'Worry Clinic' patterned after your daily psychology column.

"Therein he says we can perform group counseling and thus save many marriages that are heading toward divorce.

"In fact, we can include teenagers and focus on the vital problems they should consider even before they enter wedlock.

"Other problems of the parent-child sort can likewise be the subjects for group discussion.

"Plus the 'Ponce de Leon Complex' which you mention as attacking many otherwise good husbands who pass the age of 40 and have stodgy wives.

"Dr. Crane, I'd like to use a dozen or more of your newspaper booklets for discussion purposes during our church 'Worry Clinic.'

"We'll have the ladies' scrapbook your column during our 12 week series of forum discussions, and thus employ the newspaper for our textbook.

"What do you think of this practical project as a thesis subject for my advanced degree?"

Horse Sense

Such practical projects are certainly worthy of praise. They merit duplication by other seminaries and graduate schools.

For far too many graduate theses are so farfetched and useless that they appear ridiculous to most Americans with gumption.

Imagine squandering 3 years of graduate work toward a Ph.D. and exhaustive library study on such a topic as:

"The Cultural Significance of Castanets in Medieval Spain."

What bearing would the results have on modern vital problems?

And here's another typical evidence of academic impracticality:

"The Love Life of the Gold Fish."

With the divorce rate zooming past the 30 per cent figure and venereal disease becoming a worldwide epidemic, due to the modern sensualism Alpha's thesis topic certainly should pay far richer dividends in human happiness than 90 per cent of the trivia now hatched up for Ph.D. thesis topics.

Seminary students should especially focus on current vital problems of their parishioners, such as:

(1) How to employ magic to zoom the interest of children in the 5-minute preliminary sermonette;

(2) How to use ventriloquy to attract attention and lampoon lazy church folks via the "dummy";

(3) How to use my H-E-L-P conversation formula to avoid letting teen-agers remain tongue-tied on a date;

(4) How to change timid or anti-social people (young and old) into attractive, gracious conversationalists via the "Compliment Club";

(5) How a coed can hold the admiration of her date without submitting to illicit sexual affairs;

(6) How to preside tactfully at a church Board Meeting and keep everybody happy;

(7) How to train parents, bosses and school teachers to employ the "Sandwich Method" for correction, without engendering hatred or ill will;

(8) How to prevent husbands from straying;

(9) How to stop bedwetting and thumb sucking;

(10) How to stimulate enthusiastic Bible reading among children.

Use the appropriate booklets offered by this newspaper for your church group "Worry Clinic" and homework projects.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Arrest Two For Fireworks

An N.C. State University student and a University of North Carolina at Charlotte coed were arrested here early this morning on charges of possessing, transporting and discharging fireworks.

Chief Glenn Cannon said officers took Stephen Worth, 22, of Raleigh and Edna Earl Daniel, 21, of Route 4, Roxboro into custody about 5:40 a.m. on Greenville Boulevard near the Hooker Road intersection after the couple allegedly threw fireworks from the car in which they were traveling.

What action do you take?

A.—The partner's double indicates a desire to punish the opponents and shows a dislike for spades, your hand is so offensively oriented that you should head towards game. The proper rebid is a jump to three spades—mere two spades would indicate dissatisfaction with the double, and perhaps, a weak distributional opening. Any penalty you might collect is unlikely to compensate for missing an almost sure vulnerable game.

What do you bid now?

A.—The proper call is a preference to two spades. Some players will bolt at this suggestion on the grounds that it does not adequately describe the strength of your spade support. However, you have already taken that into account when you responded at the two-level, showing a reasonable hand, and if partner can't move over your preference, you are unlikely to miss anything.

Eleven Died 'Live Band' On Morning Radio

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents claimed 11 lives across North Carolina last weekend, driving the state's death toll for the year to 661, the Highway patrol reported.

During the same time last year, 841 persons had been killed on the highways.

The victims included a Micaiville man who apparently wrecked his pickup truck in Yancey County Saturday night. His body was discovered Sunday by a passerby, officers said.

He was identified as Jack Scotty Shehan, 31, of Micaiville. Billy Wayne Powell, 34, and Eric Powell, 5, of Rt. 2, Lenoir were killed when their car went out of control and smashed into another vehicle 10 miles southeast of Lenoir.

David Hawk, 21, of Crouse, was killed when the car in which he was riding struck a bridge abutment in U.S. 321 north of Dallas.

Johnnie Lee Matthews, 25, of Rt. 1, Teachey, died when his motorcycle crashed on U.S. 117 near Burgaw.

Gregory Allan Dale, 9, of Rt. 8, Morganton was struck and killed by a vehicle as he crossed U.S. 64 a mile south of Morganton.

Zack Coats, 58, of Rt. 1, Benson died when his car ran off N.C. 581 and struck a tree near Goldsboro.

Sharon Orr, 17, and Charles Ayscue, 18, both of North Henderson, were killed when their car smashed into a closed gasoline station five miles north of Henderson. Mrs. Orr's infant daughter survived.

A hit-and-run car killed William Henry Williams, 21, of Rt. 1, Tazewell, Va., at Morganton. Albert Charles Cook of Rt. 2, Jacksonville, died in a head-on collision on N.C. 234 12 miles east of Jacksonville.

Discount Royal Romance Gossip

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Laura Jo Watkins is back home after a trip to London at Prince Charles' invitation and a spokesman for her family discounts talk of a romance between the pair.

"No, Laura Jo didn't say that they would be seeing each other again," the spokesman said Sunday. Miss Watkins, the 20-year-old daughter of Rear Adm. and Mrs. James D. Watkins, met Prince Charles at a reception here in March while he was on a stopover during a Royal Navy training cruise.

She returned from London Saturday night.

Princess Adds A Fourth Child

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Princess Irene of the Netherlands is the mother of a baby daughter, her fourth child. Irene and the child, who will be given the name Maria Carolina Christina, were reported doing well.

The princess is the daughter of Queen Juliana. Her husband is the Spanish-born Prince Carlos de Bourbon Parma.

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Donald Coggan will be enthroned as the archbishop of Canterbury on Jan. 24, two months after taking up the post, the Anglican Church announced today.

Dr. Coggan, 64, succeeds Dr. Michael Ramsey, who plans to retire Nov. 15, the day after his 70th birthday.

Organizing To Back Sanford

WASHINGTON (AP) — A citizens committee has been formed to seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976 for former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford.

Sanford, head of the party commission drafting a charter for the mid-term Democratic convention in December, said he approved of the group but that "this is not an announcement that I am a candidate."

Sanford was an aspirant for the nomination in 1972. Formation of the committee was announced Sunday by former West Virginia Gov. Holett C. Smith.

Aprocypha Center Set

DURHAM (AP)—Duke University has announced the establishment of a center for the study of the Apocrypha, Judeo-Christian religious texts that were not included in the Bible.

Dr. James H. Charlesworth, project director, said the center would publish a one-volume translation of apocryphal literature by Jan. 1978 as the first step in its program.

"Although there is abundant commentary on the canonical books of the Bible, there is none on most of the so-called 'lost books,'" he said.

The material was written between the third century B.C. and 200 A.D., he said. They include such works as the Psalms of Solomon, the Testament of Moses and the Testament of Job.

Early Christian and Jewish scholars dismissed them because of doubtful authorship or conflict with orthodox doctrine.

Charlesworth said libraries in Western Europe and the Soviet Union were providing photographs of manuscripts for the study.

ings show it works well, Hense, says.

"The show is nostalgic, but it's more than that," adds Teddy Bart, 38, the Pennsylvania-born host of the "Waking Crew" since 1972. "It's a tradition."

The tradition currently includes a different local vocalist each day, plus Bill Williams, southern editor for Billboard magazine, and John Bibb, sports editor of the Nashville Tennessean.

Williams does news and country music items and Bibb, the sporting scene. Each does his thing in an off-hand conversational way. It's not the frantic Manhattan approach by a long shot.

Members of the band, all on staff at WSM, also chip in, razzing and being razzed, the give-and-take more akin to a studio rehearsal than an on-air show.

The humor is a shade corny at times, but it's not hillbilly. On one show, for example, band pianist Joe Layne was chided for trying to sell autographed pictures of Dizzy Gillespie at a country music show.

The "Waking Crew" isn't a low cost venture by any means. Hense says it costs close to $2,000 a week to air and it's on 52 weeks a year.

It would be far cheaper to install a morning disc jockey. Why hasn't this been done?

"Well, we've been noted over the years for live music," says Hense, whose station has continuously aired "The Grand Old Opry" since 1925.

"We (Nashville) are Music City and Music City should be something besides records," he said.

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

1974, The Chicago Tribune BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AQJ1065 ♥Q97 ♦♠AK2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 2 ♦ Dbie. Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—The partner's double indicates a desire to punish the opponents and shows a dislike for spades, your hand is so offensively oriented that you should head towards game. The proper rebid is a jump to three spades—mere two spades would indicate dissatisfaction with the double, and perhaps, a weak distributional opening. Any penalty you might collect is unlikely to compensate for missing an almost sure vulnerable game.

Q 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AKJ ♥85 ♦762 ♣QJ762

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—The proper call is a preference to two spades. Some players will bolt at this suggestion on the grounds that it does not adequately describe the strength of your spade support. However, you have already taken that into account when you responded at the two-level, showing a reasonable hand, and if partner can't move over your preference, you are unlikely to miss anything.

Q 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠5 ♥Q76 ♦A1043 ♣AQ1072

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. The bidding virtually marks partner with a singleton diamond and, despite the non-forcing sound of the auction, there is a possibility since the hands appear to fit well. Start investigating with a cue-bid.

Q 4—As dealer, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A76 ♥AQ109 ♦AQ432 ♠8

What is your opening bid?

A.—You have a borderline reverse bid, so we suggest the nat-

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 25, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to put all of your affairs in order so you will be able to venture forth and handle the important events coming up. Make your surroundings spotless and gain the respect of allies. Speak with increased confidence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you are not careful with regular task you could get into trouble. Take the health treatments that will give you more vitality.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't attempt to push your personal views on others, especially where amusements are concerned. Avoid one who is impatient.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Jumping from one activity to another could be upsetting now so keep a steady pace. Make certain not to criticize others now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Buy appliances and other articles needed in the home. Obtain data that will simplify your daily work. Be constructive.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how to cut down on expenses so you have abundance in the future. Go to the right sources for the information you will need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Know what it is that you desire of a personal nature and then make the moves that are wise. Get rid of whatever is obsolete.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Obtain the data you need to make a new project more effectively. Show associates that you are practical. Relax tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Think out a plan that requires the cooperation of trusted associates. Avoid the social at this time. Take health treatments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Engaging in civic affairs at this time will bring excellent benefits. Stop procrastinating about paying an important bill.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have not completed a course of action for several days and this is a good day to do just that. Add to present knowledge.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Know what your position is with an associate before making any future plans. Your intuition is not good now so be careful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Consulting with associates is fine provided you do so in a constructive way. Any prejudicial remarks could prove destructive.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who needs to be guided early in life and should be taught to persevere in one direction instead of jumping from one thing to another. A fine salesperson here, as well as a statistician, a laboratory worker or anything of an ultra-modern nature. Give ethical training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Test Movement Forward Seen In Summit Talk

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The third annual Soviet-American summit of the Era of Negotiation opens this week in Moscow and the outlook seems to be, at best, for a modest movement forward of the détente process.

What the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations achieve in terms of easing the burdens of nuclear arms, for example, is likely to be more cosmetic than real. It is likely, too, that when this third summit in as many years is over, a wide gulf of mistrust between East and West will persist.

Both President Richard Nixon and Soviet Communist party Secretary General Leonid I. Brezhnev are being watched closely by critics at home and allies in their respective camps who have been carefully briefed in advance on what and what not to expect from Summit III. To the rest of the world "détente" implies relaxation, a hope that humanity can find ways to avoid drowning in the sea of off-beat logic generated by the nuclear age. Each superpower has enough mass destruction potential to obliterate the other, yet the logic of the era is that each wants assurance of superiority in quality or quantity of overkill before calling a halt to buildups.

President Nixon, contending at home with Watergate, could get a psychological lift from another palpable foreign policy success, though Watergate in itself nudges Soviet doubts about the prospective continuity of American policy.

Brezhnev's leadership is on the line. He wants to retain the Soviet image of peacemaker, but he needs also to show doubters in his camp some tangible profit from détente.

Summit I in Moscow in 1972 and Summit II in Washington last year aroused widespread hope that a genuine relaxation might be in prospect. This time the world may have to be content with a consolation prize such as agreement that nuclear testing ought to be further limited or some resounding declaration of good intentions with respect to nuclear arms.

But the ideological wall remains high. Difficulties that have kept relations sour for decades are still there, some made even more formidable by recent developments.

—SALT II, the second round of strategic arms limitation talks, failed to produce promise of real results in time to give either Nixon or Brezhnev an opportunity for the sort of spectacular announcement that might lend luster to their summit.

—Talks on reduction of troops in Central Europe have gone nowhere. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, though an architect of the policy of negotiation, warned this month that congressional pressure for a one-sided cutback of American troops would "remove Soviet incentives to negotiate seriously."

—Another reminder of mistrust is the 35-nation European Security Conference. The Russians campaigned for such a conference for 20 years. Now in session for nearly a year, it has gotten nowhere, hung up on a Soviet suspicion that a Western demand for freer exchange of people and information bespeaks an intention to subvert Communist systems. Brezhnev still hopes for an all-European summit next month, but any announcement regarding the security conference is also likely to be for cosmetic purposes. It can hardly be real.

—Brezhnev must be angrily frustrated at his failure thus far to win "most-favored-nation" treatment in trade with the United States. One issue standing in the way of treating the Soviet Union on a par with America's best customers is that of freedom of emigration. Moscow angrily denounces those demanding it as attempting to interfere in Soviet affairs. Recently, President Nixon agreed with him.

—Kissinger's diplomatic speculations in the Middle East have mortified the Kremlin, which spent billions arming, aiding and wooing Arabs, only to have them fall into American arms. After 20 years of building in the strategic area, it has been a painful setback for the Russians.

Enormous China will be an uninvited and invisible guest at the conference table. It seems less than accident that China exploded another nuclear device only a week in advance of the Moscow summit, as if to warn both conferees of the Chinese potential.

Three Are Injured In Three Collisions

Three persons were reported injured and an estimated $3,475 property damage caused in three collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 3:35 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Elm Streets and involved a car driven by Norman H. Tadlock Jr. of Riverside Estates and a truck operated by Herbert Lee Mobley of Route 2, Greenville. Officers, who charged Tadlock with driving under the influence, estimated damage at $2,000 to the Tadlock car and $200 to the Mobley truck.

Tadlock was reported injured in the mishap.

Two passengers in the car driven by Havord Lee Hill of Wilson were reported injured in a 5:20 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Dickinson Avenue. Police said the Hill car collided with a truck driven by Corbin Dale Powell of Route 2, Jamestown, causing an estimated $375 damage to the Hill car and $300 damage to the Powell truck.

Powell was charged with driving under the influence.

Wallace Arthur Caveness of Greensboro was charged with failing to stop for a stop light following investigation of an 11:15 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Evans Streets, which caused an estimated $100 damage to the Caveness car and about $500 damage to a car driven by Jennings Warren Stephens of 403B Contentnea St.

Investigators said no injuries resulted from the mishap.

A Brink's armored truck, picking up or delivering money, is the only vehicle allowed to double park in downtown Beverly Hills, Calif.
