'Some Surprises' Over Outcome Of Designation Plan

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
"There will be some disappointed, some surprised and some happy, I guess," Louis Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Market said while commenting on the outcome of the "grower designation" plan of allotting sales poundage figures to the various bright leaf tobacco markets in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Virginia.

farmers to be sold on the various flue-cured markets in the five southeastern states. According to those figures, Greenville will receive 58.7 million pounds, Farmville 32.6 million pounds, Williamston 13.8 million pounds and Robersonville 10.2 million. Greenville and Farmville ranked second and fifth, respectively in the top five designated markets in Eastern North Carolina. Wilson, with 82 million pounds ranked first, while Kinston (57.3 million pounds) and Rocky Mount (55.6 million pounds) placed third and fourth in line. Farmers, under the new program, were required to designate markets and warehouses, within 100 miles of their county seat, where they would sell their crop. Leaf growers failing to make the designations will not be eligible for federal price supports. The 58.7 million pounds of tobacco designated for the Greenville market—with about 95 per cent of the flue cured crop already designated by farmers—is an increase of 2.3 million pounds over the 56.4 million sold last year in Greenville, while Farmville's 32.6 million is an increase of 8.7 million pounds over the 23.9 million pounds of tobacco sold in Farmville during the 1973 season. And compared with last year's sales of 11.7 million pounds of leaf, Williamston warehouses will show an increase of 2.1 million pounds if the 13.8 million pounds of tobacco designated for that market are sold there.

For the school year 1974-75, Greenville City Schools will have a total of 11, or possibly 12, kindergarten classes with enrollment not to exceed a maximum of 312 pupils. The decision on the structure of Greenville's kindergarten program was reached Tuesday night at a special call meeting of the Greenville City School Board to review this and one other subject. Under the adopted arrangement, the six kindergarten classes paid for by state funds will be located, one each at each of the six Greenville elementary schools. The additional five, or possibly six, kindergarten classes funded by the Title I federal funds will be located at every school with the exception of Third Street School. If a 12th class is used, that will be located at South Greenville. Assignment of students will be made on the basis of the school zone in which children live. Director of Secondary Education Charles Ross said that as of this date, based on the census showing the number of children intending to attend, the 312 maximum will adequately cover all kindergarten needs in Greenville. In the event, however, the quota of 52 maximum for one school (two classes of 26 each) is oversubscribed, determination of who will attend will be made by lottery. Also, any kindergarten students in an oversubscribed situation whose name was not drawn in the lottery would be permitted to attend another kindergarten class out of their school zone, provided space was available at another school and provided parents would furnish transportation in such instances.

Rodino To Lift Veil

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has voted to make public most of the evidence it has received in secret impeachment hearings during the past seven weeks.

When the material will be released remains unclear but some members say all evidence relating to the Watergate cover-up, including the committee's versions of White House tapes, could be made public in a few days. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who will have the right to edit the material before it is released, said Tuesday he hoped the entire record of more than 7,000 pages would be available for public scrutiny when the committee starts debating proposed articles of impeachment, now scheduled for July 15.

"This is information on which one can make an evaluation," said Rodino. "It should come to the attention of the public." Ronald L. Ziegler, President Nixon's press secretary, said in Brussels today that Nixon welcomes the committee's decision. "It's about time after weeks of leaks," Ziegler said.

The 22-16 vote came on a motion by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah.

Most of the evidence to be released consists of factual statements bearing on the conduct of President Nixon and his aides without any interpretation or conclusions.

However, it also includes the evidence that led the Watergate grand jury to vote 19 to 0 to name Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up. And it includes transcripts of presidential conversations far more complete than the edited versions released by the White House.

Cut off date for registration has been set for August 5. All parents who have not indicated intent of children to attend are urged to do so at the earliest possible date. Attendance hours for kindergarten students was set with a beginning hour of 8:15 a.m., with classes to end at 1:30 p.m. daily. This decision followed discussion of several possibilities for hours of operation for the kindergarten program. It was the consensus of school board members and teachers at the meeting that a longer daily period would be excessively tiring for the five year olds. Transportation will be provided for all kindergarten children attending schools in their own school zone.

On the second subject scheduled for the special call meeting, that of a curriculum for grades one through 12, school board members approved the curriculum outlined for junior and senior high school students.

Action on the curriculum for grades one through six, however, was held in abeyance pending further study of the proposals by school board members. A workshop meeting will be held at an early date with principals meeting with school board members to further evaluate the proposals.

Primary objection to the curriculum proposals came from board member Dr. James Bearden relative to plans by South Greenville, Third Street and Wahl-Coates to go totally to "self-contained" classes—where pupils remain in one room and do not change classes during the school day. Spokesmen for the proposal

New Pact Signed By NATO Leaders

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — President Nixon joined other leaders of the North Atlantic alliance today in signing a declaration for wider cooperation between America and Western Europe.

The signing ceremony preceded Nixon's departure for a Moscow summit meeting on a "journey of peace."

At a closed meeting of the North Atlantic council, the President reportedly gave private assurances that U.S. troops in Europe will not be reduced and that in his talks with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev he would always have in mind America's alliance with Western Europe.

NATO Secretary-General Joseph M. A. H. Luns, the only speaker at the 15-minute signing ceremony, declared that under the declaration "all our countries are stronger and more secure."

The NATO declaration was the one agreed upon and published in Ottawa last week. It reaffirmed that the alliance is indispensable for the security and defense of America and Western Europe.

Before the signing ceremony, Nixon and other leaders spoke at a closed meeting. A diplomat who was present said Nixon told the group he would be guided in Moscow by two principles: not to be carried away by a false sense of euphoria in the Soviet capital and to be understanding of Soviet objectives in order to promote detente.

The diplomatic source reported the President said the United States was determined to maintain its troop strength in Europe provided the allies also made contributions to joint defense.

Drilling Swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — Top show business personalities, business magnates and big-name lawyers were among victims of a $100-million oil-drilling swindle, the Wall Street Journal said today.

The newspaper said it may be the biggest swindle of its kind in history.

Investors sank about $130 million in it and all but $30 million went astray, the newspaper said. The Securities and Exchange Commission called it a "Ponzi scheme," in which the swindlers pay off early investors with money from more recent investors.

Show business investors identified by the newspaper and the amounts they invested included Andy Williams $538,000, Jack Benny $300,000, Rock singer David Cassidy $300,000, Walter Mathau $200,000 and Liza Minnelli $231,000.

Fayetteville Plans Fight CP&L Plea For Big Rate Boost

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Carolina Power & Light Co. (CPAL) has informed Fayetteville's Public Works Commission that it will seek a 70 per cent increase in its wholesale power rate. The city will fight it.

PWC Manager Ray Muench said CPAL has formally advised him that it will file the rate hike proposal Monday with the Federal Power Commission in Washington.

The wholesale electricity rate is the rate CPAL charges its bulk power customers, mostly small municipalities and independent power cooperatives. Fayetteville, with 37,000 retail customers, is CPAL's largest wholesale customer, according to Muench.

He said the rate increase, if approved in Washington, would necessitate a 46 per cent increase in Fayetteville electricity bills.

Calling the proposed increase exorbitant and totally unreasonable, Muench said PWC will file a petition with the Federal Power Commission in an attempt to block it.

Muench said organized opposition to the rate hike would be coordinated through Electricities, an organization of 71 North Carolina cities which have municipal electric systems.

REFLECTOR

HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

WANTS TO GIVE GAMES AND BOOKS

I would like to know if there is a local group that collects previously owned games and books for further distribution to other individuals. I have several games and books that could be enjoyed by pre-school children. J. N.

Hotline, also, would like to know of an organization willing to render this service. In the meantime, though, Hotline directed you to Mrs. Ida Mae Smith, who conducts the South Greenville Day Care Program at South Greenville Recreation Center. She said "her children" would be elated with the games and books, she knew, and that she would gladly go to your home and pick them up if you wish.

HAM LICENSE LATE

On March 20 I sent a check for $20 to the Federal Communications Commission in Gettysburg, Pa., and an application for a citizen's band radio license. I have not yet received the license. The application said to allow 45 days before requesting information about the application. This amount of time has passed. I wrote them a post card but haven't received a reply. M.T.

Your license is finally here. A call to the FCC office resulted in a request to wait two weeks before further checking could be made. Two weeks passed and still no license. Further checking showed that your application had been handled both as a personal license and a business license, which caused extra time in processing Elaine Hess with the FCC office told Hotline their backlog of applications had forced them to delay processing of business firm applications and to please give them an additional two weeks on your application. Your new license arrived during this second two-week period.

HAZARDOUS DRIVING

Several times daily I have to enter East Fourth Street traveling south on side streets, beginning with Jarvis and going as far up as Meade. It is impossible to stop at the corner and enter Fourth Street with any confidence. I have personally been involved in a wreck at the corner of E. Fourth and Eastern because my vision had been blocked by cars parked along the street. Can't something be done to help those of us who can't "guess" correctly, each time. B. S.

City traffic problems are handled by the city Traffic Commission. To file your complaint, call the Greenville Police Department, and state your problem. They have a special form to take the complaint and will investigate the situation and report to the Traffic Commission. Hotline contacted City Manager Bill Carstarphen, who indicated normal procedure is for parking to be restricted for 30 feet at each intersection. However, the city manager said there are some cases in which this limit has to be expanded because of poor visibility.

BEAT THE ODDS—Billy Horton, 4, whose chances to live were "no more than one or two in 100" when he shot himself through his heart's main artery, talks with Michael Peter and his mother in Torrance, Calif. (AP Wirephoto)

Bullet Penetrated Aorta, But Boy Recovering

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — The 4-year-old boy's heart and breathing had stopped and doctors working to revive him estimated his chances for survival were "no more than one or two in 100."

But on Tuesday, one week after he accidentally shot himself, William Horton asked a Harbor General Hospital nurse, "When can I go home?"

The 25 caliber bullet pierced William's aorta, ripped through his intestines in seven different places and lodged in his back.

Dr. Michael Peter, a senior resident in surgery who helped save the boy, told a news conference that a gunshot wound which penetrates the aorta is usually fatal. The aorta is the artery through which blood flows from the heart into the body. Peter said the chances of a person surviving the injury "would be certainly no more than one to two in 100 and quite likely much less."

He said William's survival "represented a lot of good luck along with good care."

Peter said William's brain lacked oxygen for about 15 to 20 minutes, possibly "as long as 25 minutes," and this condition for longer than eight minutes can result in permanent brain damage. Children seem to tolerate this condition for longer periods than adults, he said.

"He has responded to questions and his memory is good," Peter said. "We feel certain there is no damage and he should recover completely."

The boy's mother, Beatrice Horton, 36, of Carson, Calif., said of her son's accident, "... I'll tell you one thing, I never want to have another gun in my possession like that again."

She said she had her automatic handgun in her purse the day of the accident because she was carrying about $500 with which she planned to purchase a minimotorbike for William.

She said she drove into a service station and left the car briefly.

"What he did, apparently, was reach inside my purse and hit the safety and the trigger all at the same time," Mrs. Horton said.

The boy was rushed to the hospital about one mile away, but appeared to be dead, doctors said—there was no heartbeat, no pulse, no spontaneous respiration. William's abdomen had filled with blood.

Doctors stopped the blood flow, administered cardiac massage and William's heartbeat began again. In three hours of surgery, doctors cut out the injured portion of the aorta, sewed the two remaining ends together and then repaired the seven holes in the intestines.

Cooks Now Baking Delicious Cuban Bread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We could never bake Cuban Bread that was the real thing until we used the recipe for it in the recently published "Jane Nickerson's Florida Cookbook" (University of Florida Press). Then the loaves came out of our oven crusty and delicious and stayed fresh for several days. When we phoned Jane Nickerson, who lives in Lakeland, from New York we asked her whether Cuban Bread was truly representative of Florida cooking. "It certainly is," said Jane. "You find it in stores all over the state. Along with Chicken and Yellow Rice it's the greatest culinary contribution Cubans who have settled in Florida have made."

"The biggest thing writing my book did for me," Jane added, "is to make me a fresh fruit and vegetable enthusiast. Gastronomically, that's what a great part of Florida is all about. When I started the research, it was like jumping into a produce stall."

"From what I read of the latest and best nutrition work, I gather most American adults can decrease meat and up vegetables with great benefit to their health. If this were 20 years ago and I had to bring up my children all over again, I'd investigate vegetables much more than I did. The tossed salad has been done to a fare-thee-well, but home cooks generally seem low on interesting cooked-vegetable dishes."

As you'd expect, Jane's cookbook has a fine group of vegetable and salad recipes, but it does not neglect the other parts of Florida cuisine — appetizers; poultry, meats and game; fish and shellfish; breads and other cereal products; desserts; preserves. Intertwined with the recipes there's a fund of information for anyone fascinated by regional American cooking. Jane gathered and tested all the recipes herself; hers is a cookbook you can rely on. And she's a recipe-writer of no mean repute.

That's because she was food news editor of The New York Times for 15 years, preceding Craig Claiborne, before she went to live in Florida due to her husband's business interests. The recipe style she worked out for The Times is the one that newspaper still uses.

"Although few Floridians bake their own Cuban bread, it can be done easily and enjoyably," Jane says. Indeed it can, and here's our adaptation — for reasons of space — of her recipe.

JANE'S CRUSTY CUBAN BREAD
6½ cups (about) unsifted flour
2 packages dry yeast
2 cups water
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
Yellow cornmeal

Stir together 2 cups of the flour and the yeast in the large bowl of the electric mixer. Heat water, sugar and salt, stirring, until very warm to the touch; add to the flour-yeast blend. Beat about 3 minutes at high speed or until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out on a lightly floured surface. Knead 12 to 15 minutes or until the dough becomes bouncy and elastic. Cover with a large bowl and let rest 45 minutes. (Mean-time grease a baking sheet and sprinkle lightly with the cornmeal.) Divide dough in thirds. Using a rolling pin, roll each third into a rectangle about 13 by 10 inches. Starting from the widest side, roll each rectangle jelly-roll fashion, pressing the dough into the roll at each turn; press ends together to seal and then fold ends slightly under the loaf. Place seam side down on the baking sheet. Make small diagonal cuts across the top of each loaf with a sharp knife. Brush all over with water. Let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 20 minutes. Set oven temperature at 400 degrees and, without preheating the oven, place the loaves in it; bake 45 to 50 minutes. Cover lightly with foil if they brown too rapidly. Cool on racks before cutting. May be wrapped appropriately and stored in the freezer. Makes 3 loaves.

Managers Attend Workshop

GREENSBORO—Mrs. Hazel Riggs Warthington, of Rt. 1, Ayden, was among the more than 140 school food service managers who attended a five-day training workshop June 17-21 at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Mrs. Warthington is cafeteria manager at Ayden Grifton High School in Ayden.

The workshop was co-sponsored by the UNC-G School of Home Economics and the School Food Service Division of the State Department of Public Instruction. Included in the training were sessions on organization and management, nutrition and menu planning, sanitation safety and storage, equipment and quantity food preparation.

Attended by school food service personnel from all over the state, the workshop was part of a two-year, federally-funded program at UNC-G designed to develop possible standards for the certification of school food service personnel in North Carolina.

If Husband Won't See Counselor, Go Alone

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I'm actually writing a letter to Dear Abby! Wow, what a corny trip! I know you're not "God," but you say a lot in a few words and your answers make sense, so here goes:

I'm a 34-year-old married woman with two kids and a million problems. The biggest is my marriage. It's going downhill fast.

My husband and I fight all the time. We've got money problems, in-law problems, he says I'm a lousy housekeeper and he's right, and I say he spends too much time with "the boys" and not enough with me and the kids. [He's a sports freak.] We can't even discuss our problems without ending up in a fight. The only thing we've got going for us is sex. That's terrific, but you can't stay in bed all the time.

Don't tell me we need "counseling." He'd never go. And I can't afford a shrink, so forget that.

All right, Abby, you've got all the answers. Answer this MISERABLE

DEAR MIS.: The answer I have for you, you won't like. You need professional counseling. [Friends are a waste of time. They tell you only what they think you want to hear.]

You say your husband won't go? Well, go alone. If you learn how to handle your husband, you will know more than you know now. And with luck, you can get him to go later.

If you need a shrink and can't afford one, your Family Service or Welfare Department can provide that at a price you CAN afford. Now get going, and let me hear from you in 30 days.

DEAR ABBY: I was a very happily married woman until I went to this mind reader. She told me that my husband was on drugs and also that he was unfaithful to me.

I asked my husband about this and he denied it. I want to believe my husband because we have two kids, and I don't want to break up my marriage.

Abby, why would that mind reader say something like that if it wasn't true?

I don't know what to believe. Can you help me?
MESSED UP MIND

DEAR MESSED UP: I'd believe my husband. I would also stay away from "mind readers."

DEAR ABBY: Tell me something. Do I have a right to complain? We've been married for 14 years, and for the last ten years my husband has taken a 10-day skiing vacation without me.

I couldn't go because I had no one to leave the kids with. I took one vacation without my husband five years ago. I went to Florida for a week to visit my folks, and I took my kids with me. Some vacation!

My husband says: "Just because YOU have to stay home doesn't mean I have to."

Rah, rah, for women's lib!
ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: You made your first mistake when you stayed home with the kids while hubby took to the slopes. They're his kids too, aren't they? The squeaking wheel gets the grease, so give him three choices: [1] The whole family takes a vacation together—kids included. [2] You and hubby vacation together and farm the kids out. [3] You and

Higher Education Cloud Lifts

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare's approval of the University of North Carolina system desegregation plan lifts a cloud from the future of North Carolina higher education.

HEW approved the plan last week which calls for increasing black enrollment at former white institutions and white enrollment at previously black schools.

The state must also work toward equalizing funding for the 16 state institutions in the system.

HEW had rejected North Carolina's first plan and there was concern about what would be required to develop an acceptable plan. Failure to gain approval of a desegregation plan could have meant a cut-off of federal funds for all of the state supported universities.

Last Friday word came first that HEW had approved the Virginia plan. Shortly thereafter it was announced that North Carolina's plans were also approved.

The state will now have to go to work implementing the plan, but a cloud has been lifted from the state's higher education system.

Good Crop Prospect Is Promising For County

Area crops seem to be in good shape, Pitt Extension Chairman Ed Yancey reports.

Heavy rains over last weekend were helpful to the crops and another gradual rain would help.

The early growing time for most area crops are critical and when the crops get off to a good start, farmers are on their way to a good year.

Things seem to be going pretty well now and that will be beneficial to the area's economy as farm products go to market.

City Hall Needs Citizens' Help

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—What can the average North Carolinian do if he is not happy with the way things are going in his hometown?

"Organize" is the one-word answer provided by Robert A. Cox, chief of the community development section of the state's Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

"Doing nothing is the most damaging characteristic of our society. The most dangerous enemies we have are apathy and ignorance about our public institutions—particularly government," said the principal author of the Community Development Handbook drawn up by the state in an effort to revitalize problem solving by local governments across the state.

Cox said all too many citizens just don't get involved, failing to recognize the value of local government and "what it can do to advance the public good... you organize to get a multiplier effect to overcome apathy and ignorance in your town."

planning cities ought to be doing—to save such richness of the past for future generations rather than tearing them down to make way for another motel or shopping center, Cox believes.

To tear down such beauty is to yield to economic pressures at the expense of a community's character, he said.

A Choice
But the central question is, he added, for a community to answer which is better: another park in the city—or a city in a park-like setting?

In too many instances, he noted, the "lowest common denominator is the dollar... not the character of the town. The community has to decide this... shall the community create programs to shape the future and not just generate economic activity."

Above all, Cox sees the need for North Carolina cities to work hard at developing a "problem-solving capability rather than just waiting for a problem to come to them... A community must think about where it should go, then what it should do to get there rather than just shorter range thinking as reflected in (average) line-item budgets."

That thought comes back to the people who run cities, and Cox is worried that most local governments put their political emphasis on efficiency rather than effectiveness. That is, "how little can we spend as opposed to what do we need most to invest in."

In sum, Cox thinks the key question about local budgets are what do we buy, how much good physical environment, security and pleasure do the citizens get, what kind of economic opportunities result, and how well do we educate children—not just how many.

The concern, he believes, should be with quality, not just quantity, and city officials should be hired who are "creative people with creative instincts, not just maintenance men for municipal services." He thinks architects, landscape experts, creative dreamers have a place in government, and that ideally he would like to see cities run by a development administrator whose primary concern is for the future rather than the present, while the number two man would be in charge of daily operations.

In a rambling discourse on what the cities are today, and what the future holds, Cox dominated the massive desk and paneled walls of a high-ceilinged room in a richly ornate Victorian mansion on North Blount Street in Raleigh where the community development section is housed.

That mansion is a good example of the kind of

Outraged Over Israeli Action

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—Contrary to published speculation, the highest officials of the U.S. government were both astonished and outraged by the overkill of Israel's revenge last week against Palestinian guerrilla bases, endangering fragile peace hopes for the Mideast.

No word was passed to President Nixon, or to any lesser official during the President's stay in Israel, that the retaliation for guerrilla attacks on isolated Israeli villages would begin as soon as he departed. Rather, the Israeli government gave no hint of savage reprisals.

Anger reached its peak here last Thursday when the raids continued into their third straight day, raising a most disturbing question: could killing scores of innocent Lebanese civilians and Palestinian refugees, caught helplessly in Israel's bombing of guerrilla bases, sabotage Mr. Nixon's brilliantly successful peace efforts?

The answer: not yet. Egypt's Anwar Sadat, Syria's Hafez Assad and other Arab leaders are too deeply committed to political settlement and have derived too much benefit from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's diplomacy since the October war to switch course.

But if Israel continues devastating bombing and shelling in retaliation for absolutely predictable Palestinian border raids in the future, the Nixon peace plan might indeed be sabotaged. No Arab leader could long hold to the goal of political settlement while Arabs were being killed by American-made Israeli bombs dropped from American-made Israeli planes.

Yet the precarious political condition of Israel's gallant new prime minister Itzhak Rabin, all but assures continuation of Israel's policy of dread reprisal—an escalation of the eye-for-an-eye biblical injunction to its modern-day Israeli version of ten Arabs for one Israeli.

Gen. Rabin, the tactician soldier-diplomat who last month formed Israel's first government ever composed entirely of native sons, controls only 61 out of parliament's 120 seats. Hence, one defection in his tissue-thin majority could result in a no-confidence vote.

Moreover, in the back benches of his own labor alignment sit Rabin's enemies, sharpening their political knives against him: Moshe Dayan, the former defense minister and hero of the 1956 and 1967 wars; Abba Eban, the former foreign minister who learned in the newspapers that he had been passed over in Rabin's cabinet selection; to a lesser extent, even Golda Meir herself, bitterly resentful of Rabin's inclusion of her archenemy, the beauteous Mrs. Shulamit Aloni, and her three-member Civil Rights Party in his coalition.

Accordingly, at this precarious point in his infant premiership, Rabin cannot show much restraint in dealing with murderous Palestinian nationalists from neighboring Lebanon. This is particularly true in view of Rabin's own reputation for conciliation and compromise in Israel's struggle with the Arabs.

Just before his election as Labor party leader two months ago, Rabin was the target of an accusation that he crumpled under emotional strain during the first hours of the 1967 Six Day War when he was chief of staff of Israel's defense forces. Hard-line enemies in the hawkish Likud party accused him of weakness, and the Likud party was the biggest gainer in Israel's last national election.

Thus, powerful politicians both in his own party and in the opposition Likud would exploit Rabin's personal political vulnerability if he failed to respond to Palestinian raids with maximum severity. There is no reason to expect any change in this vulnerability in the immediate future, with the U.S. pressing Rabin's government for further major concessions to the Arabs.

Indeed, the only conceivable restraint is here in the Nixon White House, where a fine line must be drawn between too much or too little pressure on Rabin. Too much might topple his government. Too little might bring down a great deal more. In short, free-wheeling Israeli air raids over the densely-populated refugee camps in Lebanon could sabotage the delicate peace structure being painfully constructed in the Middle East.

BEN HUR
The agnostic lecturer of the late nineteenth century, Robert Ingersoll, once said to his friend, the novelist Lew Wallace, "I think that an interesting romance could be written about Christ, and you, Wallace, are the man to write it. But be sure to strip him of the supernatural, the divine Son of God in truth."

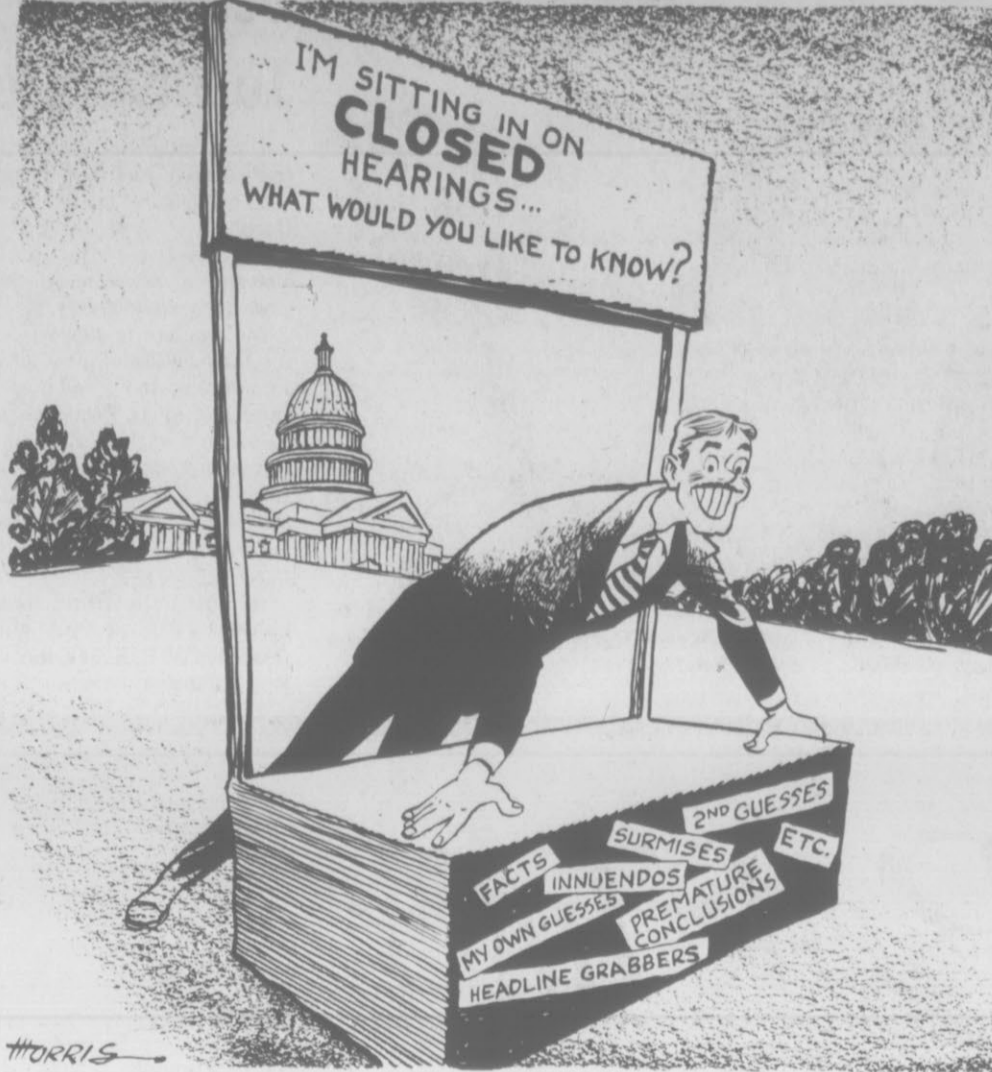

Wallace's work finally emerged as the great novel Ben Hur, which has sold hundreds of thousands of copies and has been made into a famous movie many years ago.

to present Jesus as a man without any divine characteristics. But as Wallace went on with this task a strange thing happened. The more he looked on the figure of Christ the more he was convinced that here was a supernatural being, the divine Son of God in truth.

Wallace started the novel with the intention of doing just what Ingersoll had said—

The 20th Anniversary

PARIS—One of the main reasons I came back to Paris was to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the breaking of the six-minute Louvre. It was exactly 20 years ago to the day that a young American student named Peter Stone amazed the world by going through the Louvre museum in five minutes and 19 seconds.

As everyone knows, there are only three things worth seeing in the Louvre museum—the Venus de Milo, the Winged Victory and the Mona Lisa. The rest of the stuff is all junk.

For years tourists have been trying to get through the Louvre as quickly as possible, see those three things and then go out shopping again.

Before World War II, the record for going through the Louvre was seven minutes and 14 seconds. But after the war, as clothes got lighter and cameras got smaller, people kept cutting down the time, and in 1947 a man known as the Swedish Cannonball, paced by his Welsh wife, did it in six minutes and 12 seconds. For the first time, there was serious talk of breaking the six-minute Louvre.

But it was to be four more years. On June 18, 1954, Peter Stone, under perfect tourist conditions, literally flew through the Louvre, around the Venus de Milo, up past the Winged Victory, down to the Mona Lisa and back out again into a waiting taxi. He achieved the impossible, bringing fame and wealth to himself and glory to his country.

President Eisenhower personally sent him a telegram which read: "I rejoice with all Americans at your amazing feat. You're what the United States is all about."

So here I was 20 years later at the Louvre museum with Peter Stone to relive that great moment in history.

ART BUCHWALD

Stone, now middle-age, paunchy and slightly gray, went unrecognized by most of the tourists who were going through the Louvre. As we went over the same course, he noted, "It's all different now. There are very few American tourists any more, and it's only a matter of time before the Japanese will take the record away from us."

"Peter, I was there the day you broke the six-minute Louvre," I said. "I remember your telling me at the time that you were going to do it. What made you so sure?"

"I had discovered something that nobody else knew," he said as we walked around the Venus de Milo, "and that was you didn't have to pay admission on Sunday mornings to get into the Louvre. In that way, I could cut 20 seconds from my time. The second thing I did was leave the film out of my camera. I carried less weight than other tourists. Finally, I had developed a nonskid sneaker in the States so I could make the sharp turns around the Winged Victory without slipping on the marble."

We walked up the marble staircase past the Winged Victory. "This is where I made up 30 seconds," Peter said. "Most tourists look at the back of the Winged Victory, but I said to myself, 'If you've seen one Winged Victory, you've seen them all,' and I just whizzed by without stopping."

"What did you after you

To the editor:

I am writing to you in regards to your column by Dr. George Crane. I have read this column throughout the five years I have been reading your paper. It has never failed to amaze me how the editors of your paper have seen fit to carry such trash.

Dr. Crane has become indelibly etched in my mind with such statements as "no long haired hippie ever got good grades or was a boy scout," and "women should not wear panty hose because it creates warmth in the genital area which brings on promiscuity."

However, in your Friday paper he really hit his peak in his column on why people need to have three children. First, he said that couples need to have three children to keep up with the population growth. This is wrong, according to government statistics it is 2.2. His next statement, however, is the clincher. He urged all literate people like those who read his column to have three children in order that they keep up with the poor and illiterate whom he said were breeding like guinea pigs. Now come on Mr. Whichard, is that the kind of statement we make in the 20th century? It really sounds strange coming forth from the mouth of a man who supposedly has a M.D. and a Ph.D. I strongly urge you to discontinue his column, as to me and surely many others it is a much worse type obscenity than that Dr. Crane preaches against.

Sincerely

Detente Policy Concern

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some key Pentagon officials are concerned that sharing certain U.S. technology with Russia under the detente policy could impair national security.

This concern smoldered as President Nixon prepared for his coming Moscow visit, during which new and broadened agreements are expected in furtherance of detente.

Officials are worried mostly about the transfer of critical advanced computer technology, which has military as well as civilian application. The Russians are said to trail the United States in important aspects of this technology.

Also bothering defense officials is the possibility that the Russians might be helped to gain ground in the field of micro-electronics.

So far, officials said, government safeguards are working adequately.

But there have been conflicts among the State, Commerce and Defense departments, which look at the question from differing viewpoints, Pentagon officials said. The State Department is anxious to promote detente, the Commerce Department wants to open up the Russian market for U.S. business, and the Defense Department considers itself the guardian of national security.

"We are not in opposition to detente," said one senior Pentagon official. "But we must pursue detente within the bounds of national security."

In a rare speech, Vice Adm. Vincent de Poix, director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, several weeks ago sounded what he called "a small note of caution."

"Detente is intended to, and certainly does, facilitate technological research and development exchange and contacts through cooperative agreement, the increased availability of credits and relaxed export controls," de Poix said.

"But it is not intended to do so at the expense of our national security. While exchange at the level of basic research poses no problem in this regard, this becomes more uncertain as one moves up the scale of weapons sophistication—whether in R & D (Research and Development), manufacturing or management processes."

In another speech, Robert A. Basil, a top defense research official, complained about "the one-sided nature of certain proposed East-West transactions."

Basil contended that "much of the Soviet interest has been in transferring U.S. technology, with its long-term benefits, to the USSR with little or no interest in transferring useful Soviet technology to the U.S."

Thoroughness And Preparedness

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors executives invited 150 stock market analysts to their marble-walled company cafeteria on Fifth Avenue this week and presented an unusually upbeat forecast of things to come.

The company's various problems are now solved or close to being solved, Oscar Lundin, the executive vice president of finance, assured the analysts. Fuel economy, emission problems, safety, deal profits, car size.

This isn't the same type of report a company gives to the government or to buyers when it announces a price increase, as GM has several times in the past few months. But it's what GM likes the analysts to hear. It's understandable.

With charts and graphs and meticulously practiced answers to questions, the executives sought to assure these people, whose opinions influence many investment decisions, that GM was seizing one opportunity after another.

GM's share of the market was rising, to 43.6 per cent of all car sales, said Richard Terrell, also an executive vice president. The gasoline shortage is less critical, and besides, he said, GM was aware of the impending shortfall.

It had, moreover, been prepared for the small-car demand, Terrell said. White letters flashed on a red background: "GM aware of energy situation and trend toward smaller cars several years ago." Some analysts were surprised to hear and read this, remembering those big inventories of larger vehicles.

Buyers will obtain 12 to 13 per cent more mileage per gallon on 1975 models, said Elliott Estes, another executive vice president. Customers will save at least $100 a year on fuel and lower maintenance, he promised.

Fuel economy on rotary engines has been made comparable with piston engine performance, said Estes, even though there is work still to be done on reducing emissions. He promised a sporty subcompact rotary sometime in 1975.

New techniques for reducing weight are being discovered, he said, now that engineers can look at their models in their entirety rather than responding in short lead time to regulatory demands. You would never guess the new cars weigh more.

Thomas Murphy, the vice chairman, spoke about higher sales and lower costs. There are, he said, 10,000 fewer salaried workers at GM now than at the beginning of the year, when there were about 140,000 such employees.

Murphy conceded that the big concern now was with rising material costs, which already have contributed to a $332 increase in GM car prices over a year ago. But there was little time for that; the world was still before GM, the world's largest manufacturing enterprise.

The term "small car" may become a misnomer, Terrell said in response to questions, as he and the other executives, their individual presentations completed, sat smiling at a table before a bare white backdrop. He suggested the term "more efficient cars."

Estes agreed. "These are not stripped down but fully

'Harassment' Claimed By President's Brother

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — F. Donald Nixon, brother of the President, says the Watergate affair and "harassment" by Senate investigators have damaged his health and left him nearly broke.

Breaking a long, self-imposed silence, he said the family was standing firm against those who were trying "to bury" the President.

Nixon, 59, made his remarks in an interview with the Los Angeles Times published Wednesday.

He spoke critically of leaks from congressional committees and said the leaks had made Watergate reporting "all one-sided."

Nixon attributed the Watergate break-in to "political amateurism" and said it might not have occurred but for a "protective wall" set up around the President by top White House aides.

He also said he had asked the Secret Service to undertake surveillance of his family but had not been told when the agency began a tap of his phone.

Nixon said the President could not telephone him without creating problems. He revealed a handwritten letter from the President on White House stationery which said that a call during current investigations "would raise unfounded but inevitable questions and implications."

"I want you to know that I am enormously proud the way all of the Nixon family have stood up with such dignity through a vicious ordeal," the President wrote in the June 8 letter. "You have our respect and our love."

The President's younger brother said adverse publicity about the Nixon family had affected his work, which involved sales. He said he had been forced to quit a consulting job with a food processing firm last January and had taken early retirement as vice president of a worldwide hotel and restaurant concern.

"Real frankly, for the last full year, I could not be very effective," he said. He said his income, which was $140,000 in 1973, had dipped to a projected $36,000 this year.

He said his home is heavily mortgaged and he has accrued thousands of dollars of debts, including legal fees, to defend himself. Senate investigators last April tried to link the $100,000 campaign contribution entrusted to C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo to a purchase of 10,000 shares of stock by Nixon in a firm that builds modular homes.

See Delay In Meat Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Loans under a proposed emergency credit program for the embattled livestock industry may not reach producers until August or later, government testimony at a congressional hearing suggests.

Spokesmen for the Department of Agriculture said "several weeks of interpretation" would be necessary before drafting regulations for a program with "many complex, novel features."

The administration opposes the emergency loans though it is expected to acquiesce in the program.

"We are not unaware of the realities" of probable passage, said William E. Erwin, assistant secretary of agriculture, at a House Agriculture hearing Tuesday.

Erwin said, however, the administration planned to propose limits such as cutting poultry producers out of the program, lowering the maximum loan amount for an individual and shortening repayment periods.

The Agriculture Department would need at least another 30 days from the time Nixon signs the bill to draft the regulations.

Gas Prices Still Stable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Automobile Association reports that for a fifth straight week, the average price of regular gasoline across the nation has remained stable at 56 cents a gallon.

The AAA also said Tuesday that according to spot checks of 5,556 stations in all states except Alaska, the average price of premium gasoline has stayed at 60 cents a gallon for two weeks in a row.

Slight improvement was reported in the availability of gasoline on evenings and weekends, although the AAA said the proportion of stations completely out of gas increased from 0.2 per cent a week ago to 0.6 per cent this week.

Hawaii had the highest average prices—61 cents for regular and 64 cents for premium. Michigan and Illinois averaged second highest in regular fuel prices at 59 cents while Vermont was second in premium prices at 63 cents.

Driver Charged In Car Mishap

Robert Caines Kittrell of 2012 Fern Dr. was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident yesterday following investigation of a 4:35 p.m. collision on Dickinson Avenue 50 feet West of the Wade Street intersection.

Police, who said no injuries resulted, identified the drivers of the two other cars involved in the mishap as Vernon Howard Moore of Route 2, Farmville and Larue Hemby Haddock of Route 2, Greenville.

Damage was estimated by investigators at $200 to the Kittrell car, $150 to the Moore auto and $50 to the Haddock vehicle.

Britain's Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents estimates the chance of a young man dying in a road accident has gone up 50 per cent since 1952.

Homemaker Looks For Help

NEW YORK (AP) — Ensuring variety and nutrition in each meal is a difficult task, according to an in-depth study of homemakers conducted by Hoffmann-La Roche Inc.

"The food industry bears the responsibility for giving the homemaker the guidance she needs," said John Gage, Roche food-nutrition marketing manager. "And one of the best ways is easier-to-understand food labels with clearer nutritional information."

"I did some exhibition running at the Prado in Spain and the Tate Gallery in London. The Russians invited me to run through the Hermitage in Leningrad. It was the first time the Soviets had ever asked an American to race through one of their museums. But it was during the height of the cold war and John Foster Dulles wouldn't let me do it."

"So here it is 20 years later. What happens to a Louvre champ as time goes on?"

Peter replied: "The legs go first, then the wind and finally the eyes. I doubt if I can get through the Louvre in 10 minutes now in any condition."

We arrived at where the Mona Lisa hung when Peter had broken the record. The picture wasn't there! I asked an old guard, "Where is the Mona Lisa?"

The guard shrugged his shoulders and replied: "In Japan."

Tears came to Peter's eyes as he said: "It figures."

equipped smaller cars," he said, adding that people are asking for power windows on their Vegas, GM's smallest car.

But the fact is, as the GM men pointed out, there is a tremendous profit opportunity today in fattening up those little cars with old-time luxuries, such as air-conditioning, stereo, electric defrosters, vinyl roofs.

After drinks, hors d'oeuvres and filet mignon, the analysts clearly left impressed. They might not have learned anything really new, but they got a taste of the GM style, thoroughness and preparedness.

At the very least they were reimpresed with the conviction that GM didn't get where it is by accident.

Selection Of Jury Begins For Trial Of 'Plumbers'

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Jury selection begins today in the trial of former White House domestic affairs chief John D. Ehrlichman and three others accused of illegally attempting to gather psychiatric information about Daniel Ellsberg.

The case stems from the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist by the so-called White House plumbers. Ellsberg had leaked the Pentagon Papers to the media.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell has said the question before the jury in the trial will be simple: Did the defendants plot to violate the Fourth

REAGAN TO SPEAK
WASHINGTON (AP)—California Gov. Ronald Reagan is scheduled to be the main speaker Sept. 14 in Charlotte for a statewide Republican rally in behalf of GOP candidates in the fall election.

Amendment rights of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis Fielding of Beverly Hills, Calif.?

The Fourth Amendment of the Constitution prohibits searches by government agents without a properly-issued warrant.

Answering pretrial arguments that the break-in was justified as a special case to preserve national security, Gesell said:

"Whatever accommodation is required between the guarantees of the Fourth Amendment and the conduct of foreign affairs, it cannot justify a casual, ill-defined assignment to White House aides and part-time employes granting them an uncontrolled discretion to select, enter and search the homes and offices of innocent American citizens without a warrant."

Thus, Gesell has ruled out a defense based on the origins and motives of the plumbers, a special White House investigative unit established to plug news leaks.

Nonetheless, the principal defendant still is Ehrlichman, who, in August 1971, approved a covert operation against Fielding "if it is not traceable."

The second defendant is G. Gordon Liddy, 43, the silent man of the Watergate scandals, who is under multiyear jail sentences for the original Watergate break-in and contempt charges for refusal to testify before a grand jury.

The others are Bernard L. Barker, 57, and Eugenio R. Martinez, 51, members of the anti-Castro Cuban community of Miami. According to Dr. Fielding they were spotted by Spanish-speaking cleaning people in his modern office building in downtown Beverly Hills during the early morning hours of the break-in.

The burglars found nothing useful. The four plumbers defendants are charged specifically with plotting the break-in "without legal process, probable cause, search warrant or other lawful authority." The maximum penalty for the single conspiracy indictment is 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In addition, the 49-year-old Ehrlichman, a successful Seattle lawyer before joining the administration, is charged with one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of making false statements before a federal grand jury. He is liable for 30 years in jail sentences and $50,000 in fines.

President Nixon has acknowledged approving creation of the plumbers within a week of publication of the Pentagon Papers, a highly-classified study of the origins of the Vietnam War, in part written by Ellsberg in his role as a Pentagon analyst.

Almost simultaneously, Ellsberg was identified as the source of the Pentagon Papers leak and Nixon ordered the plumbers to find out all they could "about Mr. Ellsberg and his motives."

Nixon named Ehrlichman "for supervision of this group" and Egil Krogh, Ehrlichman's assistant, was chosen chief plumber. Others added were David R. Young, formerly a member of Henry A. Kissinger's staff; Liddy, and E. Howard Hunt Jr., who was taken on as a White House consultant. Hunt had been a career employe of the CIA's clandestine operations section.

A principal witness, especially in the prosecution's case against Ehrlichman, will be Charles W. Colson, who turned over $5,000 in political contributions to Liddy, money that allegedly went to finance the operation.

Colson, originally indicted for the Fielding break-in, pleaded guilty to another felony charge in the Ellsberg case, and has been sentenced to one to three years in prison.

Disapproves HEW View

RALEIGH (AP)—Charlotte civil rights attorney Julius Chambers has criticized the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for approving the desegregation plan of the University of North Carolina System.

Chambers, a member of the board of governors of the UNC system, said in a telephone interview Tuesday the decision did not surprise him because he believes HEW has softened on the desegregation question.

Chambers said the only reason HEW ever requested the plan was because a federal district judge had ordered it to begin desegregation proceedings against public universities in 10 states.

The North Carolina plan promises special efforts in student recruitment, financial aid programs, remedial education and examination of admission policies to further desegregation.

The plan predicts black student enrollment at predominantly white schools will increase from 3.7 to 5.1 per cent by 1977 and that white enrollment at largely black schools will rise from 5.9 to 11.1 per cent in the same period.

Chambers expressed dissatisfaction with the North Carolina plan because "it places an unequal burden on the black schools...There's the possibility that some of the best black students and faculty might be drained from the predominantly black schools."

Seek 'Veto' On Offers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving quickly to grant itself veto authority over President Nixon's offer of nuclear aid to Egypt and Israel.

Acting with extraordinary speed, the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee unanimously approved a bill Tuesday giving Congress the final say on virtually all agreements to export nuclear technology to foreign countries.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield promised Senate action as quickly as possible on the bill, sponsored by Sen. John O. Pastore, vice chairman of the committee.

Pastore's bill exempts very small nuclear power plants from the required congressional oversight. It would allow Congress to block a nuclear export agreement if both House and Senate objected.

Since President Nixon announced during his Middle East trip that he was offering nuclear aid to Egypt and Israel, numerous congressmen have expressed reservations, mainly because of terrorist activities and general instability in the Middle East.

SHARING GRANT

Justice Susie Sharp To Wage Low-Key Campaign

By MARY NEWSOM
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—Susie M. Sharp, associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, is facing the first campaign for a new state supreme court chief justice since 1902.

"I haven't really decided what I'm going to do about a campaign yet," she said Tuesday afternoon. She sat in her book-lined office with an air conditioner purring quietly and said any campaigning she did at all would be low key.

Her opponent in the November election is Republican James M. Newcomb of Williamston, a fire fighting equipment salesman. He has no legal experience.

A well-known candidate will often choose to ignore a lesser-known opponent in any race, but Justice Sharp said, "I want to do what is proper and in good taste."

She leaned forward in her chair, her blue eyes sharp behind gold rimmed glasses. "I don't feel any discussion of issues would be proper."

She persisted in her refusal. When asked about capital punishment, she said, "It's the law of the state," and would make no further statement.

Traditionally, the chief justice position has become empty during the middle of a term and the governor would appoint the senior associate justice to the top post. The governor's choice was always upheld at the polls in the next election, Justice Sharp said.

But the state's new mandatory retirement law requires judges to retire when they are 72 and will force Chief Justice William H. Bobbitt, 73 to step down. Associate Justice Carlisle W. Higgins, 84, must step down also.

"I'm the senior associate justice," Justice Sharp said. (She will be 67 on July 7. "The chief justice is traditionally the senior associate justice. I want to be chief justice not because I'm a woman but because I'm a judge."

She is the first woman ever to sit on the North Carolina Supreme Court and, if elected, will be the first woman elected to a chief justice position in the country.

The only on-the-record statement she would make on the campaign was a reference to her statement when she filed for election in January.

At that time, she said: "I make the only campaign promise a candidate for judicial office can properly make: If elected, I will faithfully discharge the responsibilities of the office to the best of my ability."

She said she would try to make some speaking engagements in her spare time between July and November, but would not be more specific.

"I'd hate to tell people how much time I spend working," she said with a laugh. "They might think I was stupid."

Her desk was scattered with papers, books and pencils. The court must deliver a set of opinions July 1, she said, and she would be busy until then.

She was appointed to her supreme court seat in 1962 by former Gov. Terry Sanford and was re-elected in 1962 and 1966. Her term expires this year.

And to set the record straight, her legal name is Susie, not anything else. "When I had been on the Supreme Court for awhile," she said, "the chief justice came up to me one day and said, 'Susie, what's your name?'"

She laughed for a long time, she said, and then asked what he meant. "I just wanted to know if it's Susan or Suzanne or what," he said. When I told him it was just Susie, he said he was glad, 'cause if my name had been Susan or something else, he would have been mad."

"He told me he'd suddenly realized that he sure wouldn't let one of the men start signing his opinions 'Willie.'"

BIG AND SMALL

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The 254 counties in Texas vary widely in size, from tiny 147 square miles of Rockwall County near Dallas to giant 6,208 square-mile Brewster County near Mexico. Brewster is equal to the combined sizes of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Two Spotted Fever Cases

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Two more cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever have been diagnosed, bringing to at least six the number of cases of the tick-borne disease reported in Knox County alone, health officials said.

Two East Tennesseans, and possibly a third, have died of the disease.

Health authorities in Washington County said Tuesday Jeffrey Lynn Arnett, 9, Johnson City, died June 8 of what has tentatively been identified as Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Two Morgan County men, David B. Frederick, 20, Warburg, and Charles Underwood, Pilot Mountain, were hospitalized with the fever last week, county health officials said. Both men have since been released from the hospital but remain under care of a physician.

Three cases of the disease have been recorded in Shelby County in West Tennessee this year. The disease, which can be fatal, formerly was confined to the western states. Health authorities have warned, however, that the wood tick, which spreads the disease, is being found in eastern states in increasing numbers. A mild winter last year is contributing to the large numbers of ticks being found, officials said.

Nab Tons Of Marijuana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Drug Enforcement Administration says U.S. and Mexican authorities have carried out the biggest single seizure of marijuana in history, netting 42 tons of the weed in Mexicali, Mexico.

Announcing the joint operation Tuesday, DEA Administrator John Bartsel Jr. estimated the marijuana's U.S. street sale value at $22.8 million.

He said Mexican police were holding seven men for questioning and that additional arrests were expected.

About 2½ tons of marijuana was found inside each of two tanker trucks stopped at the border while they were en route from Mexicali to California, with the rest discovered at a Mexicali warehouse in "a huge secret cavern beneath the concrete floor," the DEA said.

Mexicali is on the California-Mexico border, a sister city of Calexico, Calif.

According to authorities, the tanker trucks would transport tar and asphalt into the Mexicali area and return to the United States loaded with marijuana.

Burtons Given Swiss Divorce

GSTAAD, Switzerland (AP) — A Swiss civil court granted a divorce today to Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton on the grounds of mutual incompatibility.

The decision was announced after a 45-minute hearing at Sarnen, near Gstaad, the Burtons' legal residence.

Miss Taylor appeared wearing heavy makeup and looking tense, accompanied by several American lawyers.

Burton was not present. Court officials said his lawyer presented a medical certificate to excuse his absence.

The court awarded Miss Taylor custody of their 11-year-old adopted daughter, Maria.

Terms of a financial settlement negotiated previously were not announced in the ruling.

Children's Show Here Saturday

REAL PEOPLE AND FAIRY TALE FAVORITES... are combined in the fun-filled "Wonderful World of Fantasy" coming to Greenville on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Greenville Moose Lodge. Proceeds from sale of tickets will go to underprivileged and handicapped children programs.

The ever-popular children's stage show, "Wonderful World of Fantasy" will appear at the Greenville Moose Lodge on Saturday, under the sponsorship of the Greenville-Martinsborough Lions Club with a performance scheduled for 2 p.m.

Now on its seventh annual coast-to-coast tour, the show is produced and presented by Philip Morris, internationally known magician and illusionist. Backed by a talented cast of youthful and attractive assistants, he blends magical trickery into backgrounds, scenes and themes drawn from children's classics, fairy tales, the movies and comic strips. The bewildering illusions are balanced by comedy, music, and on occasion audience participation.

Noted for elaborate costuming, the 1974-75 edition of the show is claimed to surpass all previous productions. Many new features and surprises have been incorporated into the show.

One scene portrays the story of "The Three Little Pigs" and includes not only some very real-looking "piglets" but also some startling magical effects never dreamed of by the original author of the ancient fable. On the side of shuddery suspense, another scene takes place in Frankenstein's Castle, with a touch of humor to avoid too much scariness. A scene takes the audience to "Old MacDonald's Farm," where live ducks appear and disappear in succession.

A Punch and Judy puppet theatre has been added to the production as a novelty feature. Altogether there are 12 scenes in the hour-and-a-half show.

Advance tickets are now available from Jehu Taff, 752-2175. Tickets will also be available at the door prior to the 2 p.m. performance time. Advance or at-door tickets are $1.50 each.

Proceeds from sale of tickets will go to Greenville-Martinsborough Lions Club sponsored programs for underprivileged and handicapped children.

This marks the second appearance of the "Wonderful World of Fantasy" in Greenville.

Arrest 5 In Van Slaying

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Five persons, including three juveniles, were in custody today following the fatal beating of an ice cream vendor whose catering van was looted by onlookers while he lay dying, authorities said.

Officers said all five were arrested Tuesday in their homes in a housing project in south Los Angeles. Charges were to be filed later.

An autopsy disclosed Victorino A. Parades, 55, of suburban South Gate died of a blow on the head.

"He was just punched," said Police Lt. Robert McVey. Parades was beaten by five persons who assaulted him Monday evening, shortly after he drove his refrigerated catering van into the Jordan Downs housing project in south-central Los Angeles, near Watts.

Officers said Parades fell back unconscious in the driver's seat and the five then stole $12 that was in the cash box and some candy and ice cream. When the five left, police said, more than 20 onlookers clambered on to the truck and cleaned it out.

Federal Charges Against Bremer Are Dropped

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Federal charges against Arthur Bremer, convicted in the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, have been dropped.

Bremer is serving a 53-year state sentence in the case. Chief U.S. District Court Judge Edward S. Northrop dismissed the federal charges against Bremer on Tuesday at the Justice Department's request.

U.S. Attorney George Beall said the move follows a standing policy not to prosecute a person at the federal level when he already has been prosecuted at the state level for substantially the same crime.

Bremer, 23, was convicted in August 1972 of shooting Wallace and three other persons at a Wallace campaign appearance at a Laurel, Md. shopping center on May 15, 1972.

Suspend ABC Permit Here

RALEIGH—The State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has suspended ABC permits issued to the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks for the Greenville lodge for six months, effective July 8.

The board's action followed a hearing in Raleigh, June 17.

The six months suspension was based on charges that the permittee "did unlawfully, fail to keep alcoholic beverages stored in individual lockers and did fail to require that members retain control of the lockers and beverages on the licensed premises on December 5, 1973 at 8:15 a.m. and that the permittee "did, unlawfully and knowingly, permit the possession of gambling devices on the licensed premises on or about December 4... and December 5, 1973..." and "did fail to give the licensed premises proper supervision..."

Several illegal slot machines were found in the Elks building last December by State ABC officers. The machines were ordered destroyed by the court, which dismissed charges against the Elks lodge manager for possessing the illegal gambling devices.

Closing Dump To Public

BETHEL—Mayor Walter Gray today has announced that the Bethel garbage dump will be closed to the public effective the first of July. The dump is located on Big Oak Road at the town's city limits.

Gray said the action was based on North Carolina laws which prohibits the further use of the local garbage dump.

"Everybody needing a place to dispose garbage and other waste will have to take it to the county land fill for disposal," Gray said.

School Bd. . .

said they felt this method provided teachers with a better chance to work closely with students, and that it also provided for better discipline and eliminated loss of time in movement of students from class to class.

"I will have to see a bit more on last year's program for the purpose of comparison, to look into why school staffs have opted for a complete change in half of the schools of the Greenville system before I can make a decision on this," Dr. Bearden commented.

Superintendent Glenn Cox gave a brief run-down on plans for repair and renovation at Agnes Fullilove in preparation the building's use for the seventh grade in the coming school year.

"I have nothing specific to report," Cox said, "except to say that John Mallow, a carpenter instructor at Rose High, will be foreman for the job." Cox said that inspectors for the electrical system, the roof, and ones to look at the cafeteria and plumbing had been contacted and were coming in for appraisals.

Dr. Donald Lawler spoke briefly about his concern for the safety of school children who would be assigned to Agnes Fullilove for the coming school year. "My main concern is whether the structural problems can be determined by personnel who will be doing the repair and renovation work," he said. "I'd like to know if there's been an adequate inspection by an architect or engineer qualified to make a decision."

Opening A Bakery And Delicatessen

Ivan Hardesty, advertising manager for the Raleigh Division of Winn-Dixie Stores, announced company plans to open a bakery and delicatessen in facilities adjoining the local store on Greenville Boulevard.

Hardesty said that remodeling of the vacated facilities next to the Winn-Dixie store is underway and when complete in late fall will add some 9,350 square feet to the existing food store facility. Total store space at Winn-Dixie will be roughly 24,000 square feet when the work is finished.

The official reported that the bakery and delicatessen will function as a part of the food store and customers will have access to the new services through the store.

He explained that in adding the bakery and delicatessen, the company will be able to utilize the additional room to widen the store aisles and generally redo the "entire interior decor to give a more modern, brighter up-to-date look." The additional footage will also enable Winn-

Dixie to "put in a greater variety of products," it was noted.

Hardesty reported that the delicatessen will feature cooked foods to go as well as a variety of gourmet selections while the bakery will have baked goods of all descriptions from doughnuts to wedding cakes.

He said that Winn-Dixie bakeries and delicatessens have had "tremendous customer acceptance" wherever they have been incorporated into the chain's food stores and he said that "we are proud and pleased to be able to bring this service to Greenville."

Winn-Dixie currently has delicatessen combinations in some 30 food store and bakery operation in North Carolina.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets slightly weaker Tuesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 50.73, medium whites 39.72 small whites 30.23.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs were 50 cents to $1.50 higher today. Tops of 35.25-36.25 at Kinston and Lumberton; 34.50-35.00 Rocky Mount; 32.00-32.50 Tarboro and Bethel; 34.00-35.50 Wilson; 34.00 High Falls; 33.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market steady for this week. Market tone firm for next week's trading. Supplies adequate and demand generally good. Weights desirable at most points. Estimated slaughter today 1,195,000.

North Carolina hens: Market conditions unchanged. Supplies burdensome and demand slow. Heavies, at farm, 8 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising interest rates reassessed their grip on the stock market today, driving prices broadly lower in light trading.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.24 at $23.61, and losers outstripped gainers by nearly 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the technical rally that swept the Dow to a gain of more than 12 points Tuesday apparently ran out of momentum under the pressure of a continued flow of negative news on borrowing costs.

Several banks across the country joined today in raising their prime lending rates from 11 1/2 to 11 3/4 per cent, and experts held out the possibility of a record 12 per cent rate on loans to big business soon.

Travelers Corp., the Big Board volume leader, was down a point at 22 3/4 as a 151,900-share block changed hands at that price.

Western Union was second on the active list, off 1/4 at 10 in a 100,000-share transaction.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .26 at 46.29.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index lost .14 to 80.90.

American Motors, which predicted an earnings gain for the six months ending Sept. 30, edged up 1/4 to 57 1/2.

Seaboard World Airways rose 3/4 to 4. The company reported Tuesday higher May earnings. First Wisconsin Corp., which cut its estimate of yearly earnings, slid 1 1/2 to 17 1/4.

The Amex volume leader was National Paragon, down 1/4 at 5 1/4 on top of a 2 1/4-point drop Tuesday, when the company said profits for the year ended March 31 were expected to show a smaller gain than it had forecast earlier.

Says Cavities Unnecessary

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A Greenville dentist, Dr. M. W. "Henry" Aldridge, told a national convention of dentists that cavities are not necessary. Speaking before the American Society of Preventive Dentistry convention, held in Washington last week, Dr. Aldridge told dental professionals how to begin a preventive dentistry practice during a professional forum and later lectured on the intermediate and advanced programs that preventive dentistry includes.

Dr. Aldridge compared dental care with proper automobile maintenance. He noted that unless cars are properly maintained, huge bills inevitably develop. In a similar fashion, expensive dental treatment are required if proper tooth maintenance is not performed daily.

The American Society for Preventive Dentistry is a national association of dentists who engage in research and advanced techniques to prevent tooth decay. The Association works to improve the patient-dentist relationship and to further the public's understanding of better tooth care.

Opens Course On Corrections

Mason P. Thomas, Deputy Director of the UNC-Chapel Hill Institute of Government, opened a corrections summer course at East Carolina University last week.

Thomas spoke to two meetings of a summer workshop on juvenile court philosophy. The workshop is directed by Dr. William C. Smith of the ECU Department of Social Work and Correctional Services.

Landowners To Talk Drainage

Those persons owning land within Swift Creek watershed are notified that there will be a meeting of the landowners at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, at the Chicod School located on Greenville-Vanceboro Highway, N. C. 43.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider and decide as to what improvements, if any, should be made to the drainways within the watershed.

NEED A SLOWDOWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury Secretary William Simon said today there should be a slowdown in growth of both consumer and government spending in years ahead to help provide industry with the money it needs for expansion.

Obituaries

Evans
Mrs. Emma Winfree Evans, 79, widow of James L. Evans, died in Anson County Hospital in Wadesboro Wednesday morning. She resided at 1911 Sherwood Drive. Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 Friday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. James H. Bailey, pastor of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park. Mrs. Evans, a native of Anson County, had spent most of her life in Greenville. She was a registered nurse, an anesthetist, and a former supervisor of nurses at Pitt Community Hospital. She was a member of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

She is survived by a son, Lewis W. Evans of Bethesda, Md., and one grandchild.

Richardson

Wooten
Mrs. Elizabeth Wooten of Falkland, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital early this morning. She was the wife of Dave Wooten of Falkland. Funeral arrangements which are being handled by Phillips Brothers Mortuary, are incomplete.

Nuclear Test?

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Soviet Union apparently carried out an underground nuclear test explosion Tuesday, the Norsar Seismological observatory said today. Seismic waves from a tremor in the eastern part of Soviet Kazakhstan were detected about midnight Monday EDT. Norsar said the tremor probably was caused by a nuclear explosion.

It was measured at 4.3 on the Richter scale. The scale is a measure of ground motion. An earthquake of 3.5 can cause slight damage in the local area. The San Francisco earthquake of 1906 registered 8.3.

Sees Regulation As Guarantee Of Shortages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill says continuing regulation of natural gas prices by the Federal Power Commission "only guarantees ever-increasing natural gas shortages." Sawhill said Tuesday that the price increase adopted last week by the FPC for so-called new natural gas is too low to stimulate growth of adequate additional supplies.

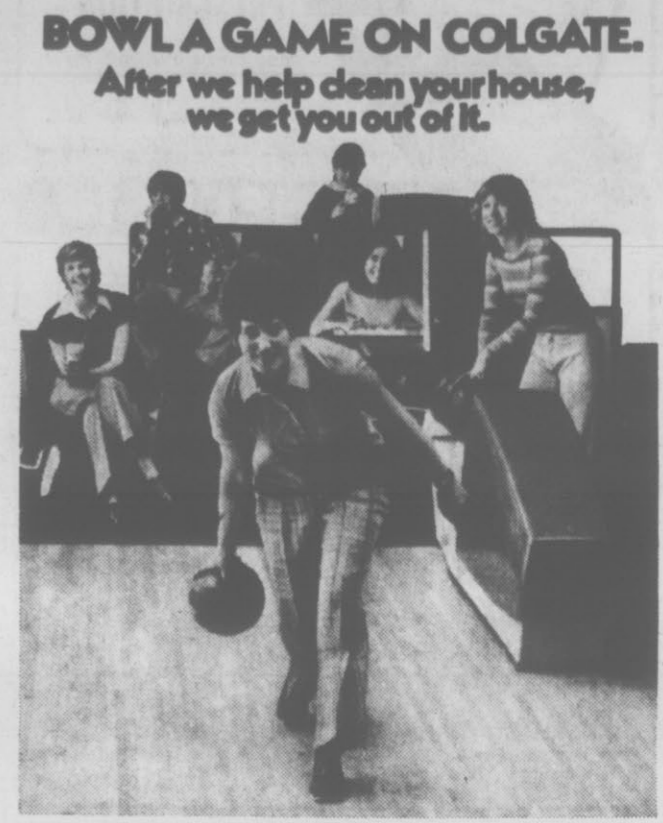

The FPC set a new nationwide price of 42 cents per thousand feet for natural gas from recent wells and distributed through interstate pipelines. Sawhill urged that Congress end federal regulation of natural gas and permit prices, at least for new gas, to be set by market forces of supply and demand.

Designation.

Robersonville, Aoshkie and Windsor will be served by two sets of buyers; Rocky Mount and Tarboro (10.9 million pounds designated) will have three sets of buyers; and Wilson and Wendell (14.8 million pounds designated) will have four sets of buyers. "We can't complain too much," Williamson said of the Farmville market. "The increase in last year is in line with expectations. "I think as a whole, it will work if everyone works together. . .the buying companies, the warehousemen and growers. If we work together, we can make it work." J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor for the Greenville

Gail Michaels Looks At Pitt County

Gail Michaels, who grew up in the Atlanta, Ga. area, considers herself very much a part of Greenville and Pitt County, even though she has only been here three years. Her observations of local life and customs are hilarious as she relates them in a series of weekly articles which will be printed in The Daily Reflector beginning Sunday, June 30th.

Greenville Captures Third Straight Win

Pepsi-Cola Spurts To 12-Run Inning To Spark 21-7 Victory

Pepsi-Cola surprised Tar Heel League champ Exchange with 12 runs in the top of the first inning and went on to record a 21-7 rout of the champions in the game. The victory raised the Pepsi record to 7-8 as they closed out the regular season, while the Exchange fell off to 11-4. By the end of the first inning, it was all over. Fred Matney led off with a single and Scott Wilson walked. Walks were also issued to Jeff Wilson, Mark Shank and Mickey McGrath, forcing in Matney and Wilson. Mike Campbell reached on an error, scoring Jeff Wilson, and Eric Bowman walked to score Shank. Billy Stallings, Scott Dupree, Scott Wilson, Jeff Wilson, Shank, McGrath, Campbell and Bowman all followed with additional walks, forcing in eight more runs before the side was finally retired. Pepsi added another in the third. Jeff Wilson walked and so did Shank and Campbell. Wilson then scored on a passed ball. The Exchange got their first run in the bottom of the third. Mark Douglas reached on an error and was wild pitched up. He took third on an out and scored on Al Shackleford's hit. Pepsi pushed over five more in the fourth. Matney reached on an error and Jeff Wilson walked. Shank singled in Matney and McGrath got a hit to score Wilson and Shank. McGrath came around on two wild pitches and a passed ball, and Campbell walked, also moving up on a wild pitch and a passed ball. He scored on an error.

The Exchange got two more in the bottom of the fourth. Billy Kittrell walked and moved up on a passed ball. Allen Clark walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Eddie Moyer walked to load them up and a hit by Mark Douglas brought in both Kittrell and Clark. Pepsi got three more in the fifth. Matney and Scott Wilson both walked and Jeff Wilson's hit scored Matney. Shank singled in Scott Wilson, and McGrath grounded out to score Jeff Wilson.

WILLIAMSTON—Greenville's American Legion baseball team won its third straight game last night, and its fourth in the last five games, downing home-standing Williamston, 5-2. The two teams deadlocked at 2-2 after four innings, and it took ten before Greenville finally broke the tie and collected the victory. And even then, it took a bottom of the inning double-play for them to come away with the win.

After a threat in the second inning, Greenville pushed over its first run in the third. Jack Jenkins had singled and stole second to get into scoring position in the second frame, but the threat died in a strikeout.

But in the third, Keith Jones opened up with a round-tripper, rushing Greenville into a 1-0 lead. Williamston also got off a threat in the second, as Kent Williford singled and Jeff Warren reached on an error. But it wasn't until the third that they too scored, tying it at 1-1. Raymie Styns doubled with one down and came around to score on Keith Brown's two-out double.

Greenville came back with another run in the fourth. Macon Moyer reached on a fielder's choice and Kelly Heath singled. Jenkins followed with another hit, driving in Moyer to give Greenville a 2-1 edge.

But again, Williamston came right back, tying it up. Williford walked and stole second. An error let him move on to third, and Matt Wilson doubled to drive him in. A walk and a sacrifice put runners on second and third, but an infield out got Greenville out of the jam, although tied again, 2-2.

Williamston threatened again in the fifth, on a walk and a single, but got out with some alert defense, catching the first runner trying for an extra base on an infield hit.

The home team didn't threaten again until the eighth, when a hit and two walks loaded the sacks with two down. A fielder's choice again saved Greenville.

Greenville, meanwhile, got off a threat in the eighth. Ron Hunt walked and Robert Brinkley doubled. Moyer walked to load them up with two down, but a fielder's choice ended the rally.

Finally, in the tenth, however, Greenville struck gold and pushed over the winning runs.

Brinkley got a hit then stole both second and third. Moyer reached on an error and also stole second. Heath cracked out a two-run triple, scoring himself when Jenkins got a hit. That ran Greenville out to a 5-2 lead.

But they had to struggle to protect it in the bottom of the tenth. Keith Brown led off with a single and Doug Warren walked. Williford reached on a hit, loading the bases. Wilson then lifted a fly to right, and Brown, trying to score after the catch was cut down at home, effectively ending the rally. A popup then closed out the game.

Now 4-9, Greenville has three games left in the regular season. They play host to Rocky Mount on Thursday, travel to Wilson on Friday and close out by hosting Williamston on Saturday.

Playoffs will begin after the close of the regular season. G'ville 001 100 000 3-5 10 2 W'ston 001 100 000 0-2 8 2 Heath, Deal (4), Averett (9) and Griffin, Connelly (9); Lilley and Brown.

WFL Tickets Selling Well

By ANDY LIPPMAN AP Sports Writer Buying a World Football League season ticket is a little like buying a pigskin in a poke. But with the July 10 starting date for the new league drawing nearer, the prospect that fans will end up holding an empty bag grows less.

And as the league gains credence, it also gains sales.

The Honolulu Hawaiians say they have sold nearly 7,000 season tickets and hope to boost the figure to 12,000-15,000.

The big sales boost could be the WFL's first appearance on television.

"Fans just want to see that we're for real," said Stu Zanville, the Hawaiians' administrative director. "They want to make sure we really exist before putting out any money."

Most of the 5,000 season tickets and about 80 per cent of the 16,000 tickets sold for the Detroit Wheels' first home game has come in the past three weeks "since we announced our schedule," said Brian Rekiel, team promotion manager.

He said about 70 per cent of season tickets have been sold to companies in blocks of four.

The Chicago Fire is stoking its publicity flame even before the season gets underway, in hopes of reaching 20,000 season ticket holders to fill the 55,700-seat Soldier Field.

"We're close to leading the league in ticket sales," said owner Tom Origer, who said he has spent between $1 million and $1.25 million so far in hopes of keeping losses to around $500,000. "We've done a pretty good job of organizing all the way around, so I think we'll lose maybe only half of the $1 million most of the other clubs may lose this season."

The Houston Texans also have hired a sales force. The result has been more than 4,000 season tickets and a "super" reception, say team officials.

Larry Hatfield, president of the California Sun, reports he is "pleasantly surprised" by the 17,511 season tickets sold through June 18, while officials of the Memphis Southmen report they are pleased by the 5,000 season tickets sold in four weeks.

The Jacksonville Sharks have had to cope with some of the league's early traumas; when the Florida Blazers moved to Orlando from Virginia, the Sharks refunded money to 5,000 persons of the 18,000 who had bought tickets to see the Sharks.

Owner Fran Monaco says Sharks ticket sales have reap-proached 18,000. They will play in the 70,000-seat Gator Bowl.

The Exchange got two more in the bottom of the fourth. Billy Kittrell walked and moved up on a passed ball. Allen Clark walked and both advanced on a

Ladies Open Tourney Play

The upper ranked teams advanced in the winners' bracket last night in the Women's Softball League post-season tournament, as Piggly-Wiggly, Coca-Cola and Little Mint chalked up wins.

Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Dixie Sales and the Daily Reflector fell into the losers' bracket of the tournament.

In the opening game, Piggly-Wiggly gained a 9-7 win over Dixie Sales. Dixie got the lead in the second with a solo homer by B. Beland. But Piggly-Wiggly came back with seven in the bottom of the second. They added what proved to be the difference as they scored two more in the fourth. Dixie got one in the fourth and five more in the fifth.

Coca-Cola romped to a 38-5 win over Pitt County Memorial Hospital in the second game.

Coke got five runs in the first, with S. Kelly homering, then added 10 more in the second, with homers by C. Manuel, B. Butler and M. Johnson. Three more crossed in the third, with 13 coming over in the fourth. Butler, P. Owens and C. Nichols homered in that frame. The final seven crossed in the sixth. Pitt got one in the second and four more in the third.

In the final game, The Little Mint ripped the Daily Reflector, 27-0. Little Mint got nine in the first inning, then added seven in the second. Three more crossed in the third, and six scored in the fourth. They closed out with two in the fifth, including a homer by W. Phillips.

The tournament continues on Thursday, with Pitt meeting the Reflector in a losers' bracket game, while champ Beltone takes on Piggly-Wiggly, and Coke meets Little Mint in winners' bracket games.

Fire Fighters Rally To Capture 6-4 Win

Fire Fighters scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth to overcome a one run deficit and take a 6-4 win over University Kiwanis in Senior Babe Ruth baseball last night.

Gary Cowan led off the rally with a single. He moved up on a walk to Ricky Phillips. Clennell Streeter singled to load the bases, and Greg Coward's base hit brought home Cowan and Phillips, and moved Streeter to third. He scored later on an infield out.

Kiwanis got a quick lead in the first when Steve Fuchs opened with a single, stole second, moved to third on an infield out, and scored on a balk. Their second run came in the second inning as Phil Dash reached on an error, moved up when Bill Ellington was hit by a pitch, and scored on a catcher's error.

Fire Fighters tied the game in the bottom of the inning. Joey Baggett walked and Eugene Forrest singled. Both moved up on a fly ball. With two out, Cowan walked to load the bases, and Phillips was hit by a pitch to force in Baggett. Forrest scored on a passed ball from third.

The Fighters scored once in the fifth to take a temporary lead at 3-2, but the Kiwanis came back with two in the top of the sixth. Rick Harrell was hit, moved up on a sacrifice, and came from second to score on two balks. Fuchs walked, stole second and third, and scored on a bases-loaded walk.

In other action last night, Farmville gained a 13-3 decision over Washington. Details of the game were not made available to the Daily Reflector.

Wind Blowing Right For Renko

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The wind was just right for Steve Renko. The sudden breezes that Larry Dierker felt were caused by the baseballs whizzing past him.

"Renko is a great breaking ball pitcher when the wind is blowing from right field to left as it was tonight," said Montreal Manager Gene Mauch after Renko hurled a one-hitter that gave the Expos a 5-0 victory over Philadelphia.

Dierker also had a one-hitter Tuesday night—for six innings. Then Cincinnati's Cesar Geronimo slugged a leadoff homer in the seventh and Johnny Bench and Dan Driessen drove in runs that wrecked Houston, giving the Reds a 3-2 victory over Dierker and the Astros.

In Tuesday's other National League games, New York beat Chicago 5-1, San Diego defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1 and St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7.

"This has got to be my best game so far this season," understated Renko, who wound up with the third one-hitter of his six-year career in the majors. The other two came a month apart, against San Francisco and Philadelphia in 1971.

He gave up only a one-out sixth-inning single by Dave Cash, a pitch punched into right field. "He hit a curve ball," said Renko. "I jammed him with it. He didn't hit it that well."

Reds 3, Astros 2
Joe Morgan, who had singled in the first inning, drew his second walk of the game after Geronimo's belt, and Bench scored him, banging a double to right field. Driessen then singled Bench home.

Mets 5, Cubs 1
Jerry Kosman pitched a four-hitter and Ed Kranepool gave him the big hit he needed, a three-run homer in the third inning, to lead the Mets past the Cubs.

Padres 3, Giants 1
Dave Rader's error at the plate let San Diego's first run in the seventh inning, then Bobby Tolan singled home two more to send the Giants down to their 16th loss in 19 games.

Dodgers 2, Braves 1
Steve Garvey and Ron Cey singled home ninth-inning runs to shove Los Angeles over the Braves. The victory went to Mike Marshall, the hard-working reliever who has won the Dodgers' last four triumphs to boost his record to 8-3.

Cards 8, Pirates 7
Ken Reitz singled in the eighth inning, Mike Tyson doubled him home, then Lou Brock singled Tyson in with the winner, overcoming a four-run Pittsburgh burst in the top of the inning and pushing the Cards not only past the Pirates but past Philadelphia as well—and into first place in the East by one slim percentage point.

American League scores:
Chicago 10, Kansas City 9 in 12 innings; Texas 7, Minnesota 3; Detroit 2, Baltimore 0, and Oakland 6, California 1. Rain washed out Cleveland at New York and Milwaukee at Boston.

falls after failing to catch the ball, and left fielder Rich Morales, left, joins teammates in the run for the ball (bottom). Kranepool got a double for his efforts as New York won, 5-1. (AP Wirephoto)

Burleson Got Loan

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The Charlotte Observer quotes Tommy Burleson, 7-foot-2 inch center for N.C. State's national basketball champions, as saying that last year he got the same type of deferred-repayment loan which Moses Malone reportedly will seek.

Malone, prized recruit, was landed by Maryland after reportedly being told he could obtain—and pay for himself later—a $1 million policy against an injury which might endanger a future professional career.

The Observer quoted Burleson, who recently signed to play professionally with the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association, as saying:

"Last summer I decided I'd like to have a car and a little spending money for my senior year at State. So I went to a banker up near home (in Newland, N.C.) and arranged a loan for $5,000. I didn't have to have a co-signer and I didn't have to make installment payments. The terms were that I pay 12 per cent interest and pay off the entire amount on July 15 of this year.

"So I got my car and had my spending money, and as soon as I signed my pro contract I paid off the loan, ahead of time.

"Now, I'm sure you know that my name and reputation were what allowed me to get terms like that, plus it was almost a cinch that I'd sign a pro contract.

"But Coach (Norm) Sloan didn't know anything about the loan, and I don't see why Moses couldn't get the same type deal around Petersburg (Va.) without involving the school (Maryland). I'd think that his high school coach or athletic director or somebody who knows them could go ahead with arrangements for the loan and insurance policy. If they don't, I doubt that Moses would go ahead with the thing himself.

"Let's face it. The loan company is going to get its money back one way or another. Either the guy gets a pro contract or he collects the insurance."

Fifteen cities have had baseball franchises in the National League since 1900. Cities no longer in the league are Boston, Brooklyn and Milwaukee. The latter now is in the American League.

Plenty Of Sleep Is Chris Evert's Secret

By NOEL HUGHES
AP Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chris Evert, the 19-year-old No. 2 seed from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., bids for one of 32 spots in the women's singles at Wimbledon today on a recipe of at least 10 hours sleep a night.

That's the strategy for victory of Miss Evert's mother, Collette, as this fiesta of tennis enters its third day with many of the world's top players complaining of "too much" and "too little."

The stars say they are tired from an exhausting schedule of too much tennis and too little practice on fast grass courts.

Despite the groans, there have been no major surprises. Billie Jean King, defending champion and top seed seeking a sixth title, opened the women's events Tuesday with a smooth 6-1, 6-1 victory Kathy May, 18, of California.

In the men's singles, veteran Ken Rosewall of Australia and Tom Gorman of Seattle are safely through to the third round.

Referee Mike Gibson said he hoped to get all remaining 10 men's seeds and five women's seeds through their second-round matches by the time play finished today.

"My girls must have rest," insisted Mrs. Evert, chaperoning daughters Chris, who has won the Italian and French championships so far this year, and 16-year-old Jeanne. "Ideally, it's at least 10 hours a night for a championship like Wimbledon, a good 10 hours."

But many other players are not so fortunate. About one-third of the 128 contestants in the men's singles have been playing in the United States since early May, involved in World Team Tennis. WTT activities often involve the players in day-to-day traveling.

"I reckon all the WTT guys could be tired and in trouble," said Yugoslav Nikki Pilic. "They've been indoors, and most haven't had a five-set match on grass for 10 months."

Paradoxically, perhaps the greatest traveler of them all, Rosewall, is the player who has impressed most during the opening shots here.

Rosewall, 39, was the star of Tuesday's play when he beat rising Indian champion Vijay Amritraj 6-2, 5-7, 9-8, 6-1 in a classic second-round match of pinpoint accuracy and flashing skill.

Bobby To Switch Cars

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Racing driver Bobby Allison says he will be driving a different car for the Firecracker 400 at Daytona International Speedway next week.

Allison said Tuesday he would switch from his Chevrolet to an American Motors Matador previously assigned to Gary Bettenhausen.

Of the 15 Grand National races run this year, the Hueytown, Ala. driver has won only once in the Chevrolet.

The 14 other races have been won by David Pearson in a Mercury, Cale Yarborough in a Chevrolet or Richard Petty in a Dodge.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

Ayden
Grover Avery recently had his best nine hole round at the Ayden Golf and Country Club. Avery had a par 36 on the front.

Joe Brown picked up an eagle at the 540-yard second hole. He holed out his third shot, a pitch to the par-five green.

The annual Member-Guest tournament will be held at the Ayden course this weekend. Deadline for signups is Thursday.

Greenville
Carl Pierce picked up a hole-in-one recently at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. He made the ace on the 151-yard tenth hole, making the shot with a four-iron.

Two Ladies Day events have been held, both low gross and net affairs. In the first, Irene Bircher took low gross with a 42, while Della Dayson was second with a 45. Gail McClelland and Clara Shackel tied for low net with 35's.

In the second event, Irene Bircher took low gross with a 41, while Jean Creech was second with a 43 and Dardie Longino was third with a 45. A three-way tie developed for low net, all with 33, between Putt Carter, Joan Hooper and Gail McClelland.

On July 4, a handicap tournament will be held for men and ladies. A $2 entry fee is being charged for the nine-hole event, with all being returned in prizes.

The regular Captain's Choice tournament will be held on July 14, with a 3 p.m. shotgun start. Both men and ladies may sign up or call the pro shop to do so.

Brook Valley
John Jackson had his best score and it came at a good time, during the Brook Valley Men's Handicap Tournament this past weekend. Jackson fired a 73 in the second round of the tournament and finished with a 136 net score to take first place.

Second place went to Chip Pennington with a 137, while Skip Collier and Don Cherry tied for third with a 138. Al Ward and Julius Budacz tied for fifth with 140.

Joe Taylor had his best round of late with a 74, while Guy Langston also had his best in recent years with a 94.

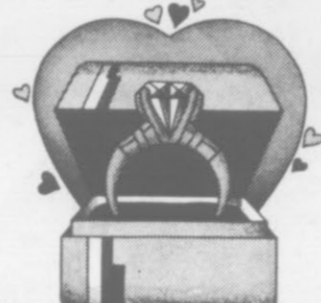

Jan Woodworth had her best nine hole round, a 38.

Percy Ashby picked up an eagle on the par-five second hole at Brook Valley. He knocked an iron in from across the creek.

The Worry Clinic Bible Reflects Human Nature

Jesus used "Horse Sense" regarding church ritual, as when he warned against "straining at gnats but swallowing camels." He shocked the slavish worshippers of the Sabbath by saying, "The Sabbath was made for man; not man, for the Sabbath."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE A-606: Amos T., aged 70, is a retired clergyman who asked me to address a vesper service of Catholic and Protestant churches.

"But one Protestant clergyman wouldn't join us," he added.

"Why would any church thus refuse to cooperate in a laudable moral affair like our Centennial Vesper Service?"

"Some American churches even veto having an American flag in the sanctuary and oppose uniformed members, like Boy Scouts. Why?"

"If they read their Bible accurately, they'll find much of their church ritual not even mentioned therein."

"And much of the Bible is difficult to accept as the eternal work of God, isn't it?"

Bible Hitlers
Most churchmen admit the Bible is the inspired word of God.

But many of the prophets, perhaps accidentally, may have inserted some of their own opinions while revealing God's own messages.

For example, was it God or Moses who enunciated the famous Ten Commandments? God, of course!

But what about the edict that Moses pronounced against pork

He also patted himself on the back, as it were, when he and Peter were told of Christ's Resurrection, for note (John 20:4):

"So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre."

Peter also inserted his own name in his dictated Gospel of Mark, when he said (Mark 16:7):

"... tell his disciples and Peter."

I mention these by-lines, not in a critical sense, but merely to show the human nature of the prophets and even of Christ's own Apostles who were not averse to inserting their own personal comments.

Baptism, too, has long been a controversial topic, yet Jesus told one of the two thieves crucified beside him that:

"Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Yet that thief had never been baptized!

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♣ 2 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
In the best circles, cards are not played haphazardly on defense. East's card to the first trick "told" West what the best defense would be, and he paid heed to defeat a close game.

Despite the fact that he held five-card trump support, North saw no reason to blast into four spades after West had shown values by over-calling. A simple free raise to two spades adequately expressed North's values, and was enough to convince South that there had to be reasonable play for game.

West made his natural lead of the king of clubs, and took due notice of East's deuce, as South followed with the four. Had East held three clubs to the queen, he would undoubtedly have played his higher club spot to encourage a continuation. Similarly, had East held a doubleton club, he would have started an echo, playing the higher spot.

However, declarer could have created a problem for West had he dropped the queen of clubs under the king. This might have persuaded West that it was South, and not his partner, who held a lone club, and that to continue with the nine of clubs was presenting declarer with a gift trick.

card first and saving the deuce for the second lead of the suit.

Thus, by a process of elimination, East had to have one of two holdings in clubs: either a singleton or, specifically, Q-2 doubleton. The two is the correct play from the latter combination. Since West wanted to get East on lead to play a heart trump declarer, the information he had available about the club suit gave him a sure-fire entry.

At trick two, West continued with the nine of clubs! No matter which of the two club holdings East possessed, he would be able to win the trick. If it was a doubleton queen, the queen would win. If the deuce of clubs was singleton, East would be able to ruff the second club.

West's choice of the nine of clubs was by no means accidental. That card was a suit-preference signal, requesting partner to lead back the higher of the two side suits—in this case, hearts. East obliged, and West took the ace-queen of hearts for down one.

Note that this particular line of defense is vital if the contract is to be defeated. Should West adopt any other line, declarer will be able to get all the discards he needs on dummy's diamonds.

However, declarer could have created a problem for West had he dropped the queen of clubs under the king. This might have persuaded West that it was South, and not his partner, who held a lone club, and that to continue with the nine of clubs was presenting declarer with a gift trick.

TV Log Nashville Also Creates Jingles

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Music Row. The name evokes a bucolic boulevard of country balladiers, tobacco-chewing tunesmiths, good ol' boys who came here barefoot, with no other visible means of support than a dream, and who currently drive Cadillacs.

Now Music Row, 1974, encompasses about five blocks. It's still down-home, still tree-lined, but its music and loot therefore no longer is pure country. It's also pop, soul and jingles.

Jingles? Yeah, those 30-and 60-second radio or TV ditties that urge you to fly United, drink Miller beer, shave with Gillette and hopefully keep on truckin' in a GMC model. All were recorded here.

And though Nashville's jungle works still is small by New York or Los Angeles standards, it's growing. One union official claims work here is up "at least 100 per cent from three years ago."

He's Paul Wilder, secretary of the local American Federation of Radio and Television Artists — AFTRA — office.

Wilder, a lean, tanned man, says when he joined the local eight years ago it only had 43 members. Now it has 600, he says, and 50 per cent of them regularly announce on or sing in jingles here.

President Truman's auto license tag number was 5745, commemorating Germany's surrender in World War II on May 7, 1945.

York. "But at least it got our foot in the door," he said. The American Federation of Musicians local, which claims 2,300 members, says at least 500 to 600 of them regularly do jingle dates under a local and national fee plan similar to that of AFTRA. It estimates the city has 50 jingle production firms, but Music Row veterans say only about four or five of these get most of the nationally or regionally aired jingle trade.

He said it only applies to commercials aired here. The far higher rate for commercials destined for national or major market broadcast is the same as in Los Angeles and New York.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1974

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when dramatic events can take place in your relations with other people. Make sure you are thoughtful and considerate with them, and ready to seize any opportunities that may arise. Be more cooperative.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It would be wise to listen carefully to what associates have to suggest now since the planets are with them. Control your temper.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Show your skill in whatever faces you today and make an excellent impression on higher-ups. You can improve your appearance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Allow some free time for an invitation that may be extended to you unexpectedly. Think kindly of others. Be more cheerful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan how to make family more pleased at home. Tomorrow is best if you want to put some new project into motion.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Consult with associates in the morning about future plans. Don't neglect important correspondence. Engage in favorite hobby.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study objectively ways to increase your assets. Improve your budget so that it is more flexible. Steer clear of one who bickers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Know what it is that you really want in life and get rid of obstacles in the way of your progress. Show more devotion to mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep secret any future plans and become a more successful person. Be ready and willing to give advice to a good friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An associate can be of great assistance to you. Know what your aims are and how to achieve them. Put forth more effort.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A higher-up can help you with a particular plan you have in mind. Avoid one who doesn't understand you. Take it easy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make certain you contact persons who can help you in a new activity that interests you. Make plans for a fascinating trip.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) This is an ideal day to handle personal obligations. Listen to what loved one has to suggest so that happiness can be increased.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one with a very warm and delightful nature. Make sure you make available courses in art, culture, music appreciation as well as other related subjects. Teach early in life to listen to what others have to say before coming to conclusions. ## Arab Money Into Britain

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP)—Britain has been getting "more than its fair share" of the Arabs' new oil money, a high-ranking government source reported today. One authoritative estimate put the amount at $3 billion since the first of the year.

Treasury and Bank of England sources confirmed that key Arab oil states—Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Bahrain are among those mentioned—are pouring money into the country.

Several countries appear to be funneling money in through intermediaries, including commercial banks. Others are reported investing in the depressed property market. There has been talk that some Arab governments are quietly buying up stocks in British companies, prices of which are now at a 15-year low.

Because of the quadrupling of oil prices over the last 18 months, the Arabs are expected to earn more than $72 billion in oil revenue this year. There are persistent reports that the government is secretly negotiating for Arab loans to help Britain over its balance of payments deficit.

"If there are any secret negotiations, they are going to stay secret," said a senior government official.

The government has stationed special envoys at key Arab capitals to offer investment terms and give guarantees against devaluation of the pound. The governor of the Bank of England, Gordon Richardson, has visited Saudi Arabia, and Prime Minister Harold Wilson has entertained Arab sheiks passing through London.

RAISE PRIME RATE
CHARLOTTE (AP)—The North Carolina National Bank, largest in the Southeast, has joined the banks which have raised their prime lending rate to 11 3/4 per cent interest.

Better Set of Wheels

Your wheels use twice as much energy per passenger-mile as ours. * With less fuel available and higher costs for that fuel, your wheels may turn slower and slower. So if you're going anywhere, think about a more efficient set of wheels. Our fares are economical and inter-city bus travel is the most fuel saving means of transportation. We think it's better to take Trailways than to spin your own wheels.

Monastery Is Opened To Laymen

By HILMI TOROS
Associated Press Writer
SUBIACO, Italy (AP) — To get away from urban stress, there are weekends for basking under the sun, skiing down the slopes or just lounging around in the country. And to get away from it all, there is a sojourn into divine monasticism.

In this 6th-century, hilltop monastery 50 miles out of Rome, Benedictine monks offer a taste of their cenobitic living and contemplative solitude for those who have had enough of television, telephones, cars and bright lights.

You can unwind back to the Dark Ages — to "ora et labora," pray and work, in that order. The ritual can bring you a bit of what Tommaso Moro, a monk, terms "pax," or peace.

"To God and peace," Tommaso Moro, Italian for Thomas Moore, says to the urbane, ushering him into the Monastery of St. Scholastica for a trip into a life and world as different as it is austere.

A layman can stay here up to a month, but it's up at 5 a.m., mass three times a day, pasta and wine and to bed at 9 p.m.

In between, as you meander through serene gardens and the apse and pillars of the chapel, the monks will let you think to your heart's content. There's all the time in the world to contemplate Plato, memorize Kant and shindig with Gregorian chants.

Father Moro, in charge of laymen's retreat into monasticism, sees an increase in the number of applicants for St. Scholastica's 15 rooms, all reserved only for men.

"We get all types," he said, "people who want to read, who want to learn or just those who are fed up with the world they live in."

But the Benedictine monks expect a donation of no less than 3,000 lire — about $5 — a day for room and board, not including the Rome-heaven-and-back transportation.

And, as in all things too good, there is a catch. The monks prefer that a layman be recommended by his parish priest, although non-Catholics, even non-Christians, are accepted.

At St. Scholastica few things are compulsory for the searching soul, Father Moro assures, but it's expected that everyone live up to the principles of St. Benedict, who became a hermit in a Subiaco grotto before moving on to Montecassino, between Rome and Naples, and establishing other monasteries.

The order of the day is, besides praying and reading, work. Benedictine monks have set up workshops, particularly in printing, which they introduced into Italy in the 15th century. Or one can try one's hand at book-binding, carpentry, a day's guess at the weather observatory or looking after cows and fowls.

"There is one restriction," Father Moro observed. "You can't talk during mealtimes." Actually, as you dine communally, you listen to what is called a "lettura" — a reading, usually passages from the Bible but which could also be ordinary newspaper articles or an opera libretto.

And to those who go back to their real world and are disappointed again, the adage is "porta patet, cor magis," the door is open but the heart more so. One can return.

New Gardening Hose Versatile

RIDGEFIELD, N. J. — A plastics company here has developed a new type of gardening hose that won't burst, crack or break in temperatures ranging from 40 degrees below freezing to 275 degrees Fahrenheit.

The lightweight hose uses a combination of rubber and plastic reinforced with nylon-tire cord.

Commendation For Guard Unit

The 514th Military Police Company of the N. C. National Guard, headquartered in Greenville, has been commended by the Department of the Army for its performance during summer camp at Fort Bragg.

The MP unit, commanded by Capt. Bobby Webb, carried on all the duties of military police while at Bragg. Capt. O. H. Ashley III of Fort Bragg said, "Having acted as evaluator on numerous occasions, I state unquestionably that this is the most outstanding unit I have had the pleasure to work with. The overall administrative effort, both in the field and garrison, was at least on par with the best TO&E Regular Army unit I have evaluated or been assigned to. Of the five courtesy inspections extended, at my request, four were excellent and one was superior. This unit, its chain of command, morale, and operational effectiveness is what we are searching for in a Reserve Component Unit."

July 4 Is More Than U.S. Day Of Independence

CHICAGO (AP) — Independence Day is best known for parades, fireworks, political speeches and picnics. But, in addition to being the birthday of the United States, this day is also the "birthday" of several other historical endeavors as well as the day that three presidents died.

On July 4, 1817, New York's Governor De Witt Clinton thrust a shovel into the earth in a ceremonial groundbreaking for the construction of the Erie Canal. The canal was the first important waterway built in the United States, according to World Book Encyclopedia. It joined the entire Great Lakes system with the Atlantic Ocean, and helped develop New York City into the financial center of the country.

In 1828, July 4 was the date selected to celebrate another historic groundbreaking — for the construction of one of the nation's first railroads, the Baltimore and Ohio.

Charles Carroll, the only surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, was selected to toss the first shovelful to mark the event. Carroll said, "I consider this (the groundbreaking) among the most important acts of my life, second only to that of signing the Declaration of Independence, if, indeed, second to that."

In 1848, July 4 marked the laying of the cornerstone of the Washington Monument in the nation's capital.

Independence Day in 1883 marked the nation's first Wild West show. "Buffalo Bill" Cody introduced the show in North Platte, Neb. The first rodeo to offer prizes to winners was also introduced that year on July 4 in Pecos, Tex.

In 1903, President Theodore Roosevelt sent a message around the world in 12 minutes, on July 4, marking the opening of the first Pacific cable.

President Harry Truman granted the independence of the Philippines on July 4 in 1946, fulfilling a promise made to that nation in 1898.

The admission of Alaska into the Union was marked on July 4 in 1959, when the first 49-star flag was raised at the Capitol in Washington, D.C., and at Fort McHenry in Baltimore.

Another star was added when Hawaii joined the Union in August, 1959, and ceremonial flag raisings were again conducted on July 4 the following year.

The Fourth of July celebration in 1826, which commemorated the 50th anniversary of the nation's birth, had more somber overtones.

A 13-man committee was formed in Washington to plan ceremonies that would mark the nation's semicentennial with proper style. All surviving former presidents and signers of the Declaration of Independence were invited to take part.

James Madison, Charles Carroll, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams were unable to attend, but each wrote a letter and all were published in Washington's newspapers.

Two days after the celebration, the word reached the nation's capital that Thomas Jefferson had died on July 4. Two days later, the word of John Adams' death on the same date reached Washington. In 1831, President James Monroe became the third president to pass away on July 4.

At the time, according to World Book's research, the deaths struck the country as something more than coincidental. They were considered as signs of Divine Providence.

Tampering Can Spell Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California State Automobile Association warns that tampering with smog devices to improve car mileage is asking for trouble.

Not only is it illegal, the CSAA adds, but tampering could lead to worse mileage.

Today's engines are specifically designed for emission devices, the CSAA said. The timing, camshafts, compression ratios and carburetion are geared to work with the smog equipment. Any modification of the system could increase use and even damage the entire works.

Lynn Anderson Dislikes Custom Of 'Stereotyping'

By SYLVIA RECTOR
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — History may record Lawrence Welk, a bustle and Lynn Anderson as the beginning of the Great New York Awakening. It was 1966 when the champagne music-maker deemed the Nashville sound sophisticated enough for network audiences. He would show the nation the new, high-stepping world of modern country. Lights, Action. Cameras zoomed in on vivacious, lithe, honey-haired Lynn Anderson, garbed in high-button shoes, clothing a parasol and hefting a bustle under some 18th century cotton skirt. Welk gave a lively "one-and-a-two" and a Lynn began belting out a swinging version of "Buttons and Bows." "I felt like I should have been in some old Bob Hope movie," she quipped, remembering the episode and scooting in her chair, the bustle still haunting her. "I told him I really liked doing his show. But I said, 'If this is what I have to do, I just can't. I just don't feel comfortable in a bustle,'" she shrugged. "Those first two or three weeks they had their own ideas of what I should sound like and look like. "But things got better after awhile. I think they eventually got the hang of it. And they began to realize that "Buttons and bows" was not what modern country's all about." At 26, the native California is one of the industry's female superstars. The Welk gig marked her as the first country singer booked regularly on a network show. And when "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden" crossed over to the pop charts in 1971, her audience broadened even more. You might see her on TV in crepe pants, perched on the back of some proud Tennessee walking horse. But the city slicers' old visions of gingham and calico are miles from the reality of Lynn Anderson. "It's really hard to get away from stereotypes," she apologized for them. "It's taken them a long time to realize that all country singers aren't from somewhere in the Deep South, that they're not all stupid and that, just like people in New York, they're individuals." she emphasized. Shortly after Lynn came to the Welk show, other country singers began showing up on the networks. And big-gun entertainment dealers were hustling to close their cultural gap in country. But the industry wasn't letting the grass grow under its feet while the dudes rushed to catch up. "Music never stops developing. But people still try to label it. Look at Roy Acuff and then compare him with Waylon Jennings. They're so different it's like night and day. But they're both still called country. "There's about five different kinds of country music and country entertainers. I'm not even sure there is one definition for country music right now. And I'm not sure it needs a definition. "I'll be so glad when people quit labeling things and get away from their stereotypes," she signed. More Steel For Argentina BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Latin America's largest blast furnace for steel production has begun operation in Argentina, according to a government announcement. A government spokesman said the furnace at San Nicolas, 120 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, will produce 3,600 tons daily of cast iron to be used in making steel. He said this will permit a 153 per cent increase in Argentina's steel production.

If "country music" is hard to define, the "Nashville sound" is even more elusive. Lynn credits the sound to backup musicians. "I think it goes back to the side men. In Nashville, when you go into a session, the musicians don't go in with any sheet music. They listen to a demo tape and then everybody starts deciding how his part should sound. "Lots of them don't even read music, you know. So, by the time you've finished a session, it's really the expertise of six or seven men and not the ideas of just one arranger. Everybody brings his own talent to the session and the music never sounds like it came off a sheet of paper." If she has one guiding rule in performing, it's quality. "I don't go into a session with pre-conceived ideas. We try to record the best possible arrangement of whatever song it is. And I don't aim for cross-overs. If they happen, that's great. "Country fans are loyal, not only to the performer but to the music. And if you get too revolutionary, they won't accept it. "I don't ever want my fans to think I've abandoned them."

Knowledge Is Key In Utilities Commission Work

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A sign on the wall in the North Carolina Utilities Commission office says it all: "Keep yourself informed. Knowledge is power."
In the battle between North Carolina's public utilities and the commission, knowledge is the key to protection of the consumer's right to readily available telephones and electricity and his right to fair rates.
Interviews with commissioners and their staff members indicate that the commission often is severely handicapped before it starts its job.
Commission staff directors plan to ask the 1975 legislature to increase the number of professionals on the staff to help keep up with the ever-growing case load as utilities pile request upon request for higher rates.
Chief attorney Edward Hipp said he needs five more lawyers to supplement his staff of seven. Chief accountant Dale Coleman said he needs between 10 to 20 more accountants to add to a staff of 13.

George Clark, the newest commissioner, said salaries were too small to attract the type of people needed to compete with experts at the disposal of the power companies.
Clark, an attorney, said he made a sizable financial sacrifice to accept his $30,500 commission job. Staff salaries are lower, he says, and are "absolutely not sufficient."
The utilities pay consultants as much as $25,000 for testimony in one rate case. That's more than all but a few staff members earn in a year.
Interviews indicate that, partly because of staff limitations, efforts to investigate utilities' contentions are largely passive.
When a utility files for a rate increase, the commission staff and Dep. Atty. Gen. I. Beverly Lake Jr. look at the data presented. Then they prepare a list of questions for the utility.

Lake said the utilities answer the questions honestly. An auditing team from the commission staff checks their figures.
But, Lake said, "We always start out far behind the company and play catch up in our knowledge of the company. Often, I get the feeling we don't know what to ask for."
Lake cited as an example a recent hearing where he elicited testimony from Duke Power President Carl Horn that the company's board of directors had serious reservations about its growth policies.
Lake would not have known enough to ask about that, he said, had he not read a report on a speech by a Duke official in a trade magazine.
An investigation, hampered by the limitations of the commission's staff and time, is further circumscribed by state utilities law, which Lake called outdated and cumbersome.
The law is sometimes very broad in its language and sometimes narrowly specific. It directs the commission to insure that consumer get a reliable utility at a fair price and that the utility gets a fair return on its investment.

Within those confines, the commission has never been willing or able to look into broader questions of long range energy policy. "I don't know whether we can," said one commissioner, and the commission is not likely to know until and if it makes such an attempt.
The most aggressive step the commission has taken in recent years has been to question the utilities' rate designs, which allow heavy industrial users to pay less per kilowatt hour than relatively small residential customers.
The power companies maintain that it is good business to give volume discounts to their best and steadiest customers. They say it costs less to serve one industrial customer than many residential customers and that industrial customers help give them more efficient operation.

Lake, however, says the utilities have failed to recognize that the changing nature of their industry is responsible for declining earnings.
"Electric power is no longer a declining cost industry, but the rates are still structured as if it was," he said. "The cost of fuel and the cost of new plants preclude economies of scale."
Lake will press in the current Duke Power hearings for new rate designs that place more of the load on industrial customers. The commission staff has accepted the idea, and the commission has begun to use it in its rulings.
The commissioners bring only one common attribute to the complex job of regulating the utilities—political ties to the governor that appointed them.
Chairman Mavin Wooten was an attorney and municipal judge in Hickory when he became Gov. Dan K. Moore's local campaign manager.

Moore appointed him to the state Board of Paroles and then, in the last days of his administration, to the commission.
Hugh Wells was a Raleigh attorney who was "active in the campaign and a contributor" when Gov. Bob Scott was elected. Wells is the only commissioner whose previous work had anything to do with the power industry. His law firm represented some rural co-ops and the state Consumers' Council.

Ben Roney, Scott's last appointee, was the governor's top political aide throughout his administration. He was an oil dealer in Rocky Mount in his nonpolitical career.
