

More Articles Of Impeachment Indicated

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A second impeachment article accusing President Nixon of violating the Constitution and his oath of office was drafted today by a bipartisan group which seemed certain to obtain its approval in the House Judiciary Committee. The panel recommended Saturday to the House of Representatives that Nixon be impeached for the Watergate cover-up.

Debate on the second proposed article was delayed somewhat as drafting continued. Committee leaders were expected to press for a final vote by evening.

The redrafted second article was to be presented to the committee by Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo. It included five itemized charges and a conclusion that:

"In all of this Richard M. Nixon has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as President and subversive of constitutional government to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States."

The five charges were that Nixon:

—Acted personally and through subordinates to get confidential income tax information from the Internal Revenue Service.

—Misused the FBI and Secret Service by directing or authorizing them to wiretap for purposes unrelated to national security.

—Established the so-called Plumbers unit "financed in part with money derived from campaign contributions which unlawfully utilized the resources of the Central Intelligence Agency."

—"Failed to take care that the laws were faithfully executed by failing to act when he knew or had reason to know that his close subordinates endeavored to impede or frustrate lawful inquiries by duly constituted executive, judicial and legislative entities concerning the unlawful entry into the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee."

—Misused executive power by interfering with the FBI, Watergate special prosecutor, criminal division of the Department of Justice, and CIA "in order corruptly to impede the due and proper administration of justice."

Democrats had not reached agreement Sunday on what specifics to include in the second proposed article.

But the compromise emerged today before the scheduled 10:30 a.m. opening time for the committee's nationally broadcast public debate.

The compromise did not include any mention of contempt of Congress for refusal to supply subpoenaed tape recordings.

That now was expected to be taken up in a proposed third article.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., hoped to get a vote on the second article by the end of the day.

No matter how the remaining articles fare, a House vote on whether Nixon should stand trial in the Senate was assured by Saturday's 27-11 vote to recommend impeachment.

Six of the committee's 17 Republicans joined all 21 Democrats in voting for Article I, and Democrats working for bipartisan support of Article II think as many as seven Republicans may support it.

Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., one of the six, sees the 35 per cent support for impeachment among committee Republicans holding up on the House floor, which would mean about 65 Republican votes when the House acts on the committee's recommendation about Aug. 23.

With Southern Democrats in the House expected to be influenced by the votes for Article I cast by their three colleagues on the committee, a substantial majority of the House appears likely to support impeachment. If a House majority impeaches Nixon, a Senate trial then would determine whether he should be removed from office.

Impeachment by the House requires only a majority vote. Conviction in the Senate would require a two-thirds vote.

White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. acknowledged that if a vote were to be held now on the House floor "it would be very close."

Meanwhile, Assistant Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd said chances are "growing daily" that the Senate would convict Nixon in an impeachment trial.

And Newsweek magazine said it had learned that one of Nixon's best congressional pulse-takers now counts only 36 senators for the President in an impeachment showdown—only two more than he would need to remain in office.

Connally Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally was indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of bribery, perjury and obstructing justice.

The indictment said Connally accepted $10,000 in cash from a milk fund official, Jake Jacobsen, in exchange for recommending that federal milk price supports be increased.

Jacobsen, an official of Associated Milk Producers Inc., also was indicted on a charge of giving an illegal payment to a public official.

In all, the grand jury cited Connally, a Texas Democrat turned Republican, on five alleged violations of federal law.

The maximum possible penalties for the five counts total 16 years in jail and fines of $30,000 for Connally.

The indictment charged that between May 14 and Sept. 24, 1971, Jacobsen gave Connally the $10,000 in exchange for Connally's recommendation to the secretary of agriculture that the milk price supports go up.

Rains Caused Damage

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

More than four inches of rainfall fell over the Greenville area Saturday night in less than an hour and caused flooding in several Greenville businesses and homes, as well as flooding of vehicles and power failures.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station a total of 4.2 inches of rainfall fell over the Greenville area during the 24-hour period ending Sunday at 8 a.m. The Tar River level this morning was reported at 1.2 feet.

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending today at 8 a.m. was 85 degrees while the low for that same period was 66 degrees. The temperature today at 8 a.m. was 68 degrees and by 11 a.m. had risen to 84 degrees.

The merchants who reported flooding in their stores included University Book Exchange, Art and Camera Shop, John's Bicycle Shop and King's Department Store. The amount of damage caused by the high water Saturday night has not been determined.

Jim Hecker, plant manager at Empire Brushes, Inc., reported that about 35 employees will be out of work for about two days due to damage caused by Saturday's rain.

Hecker stated that water leakage had caused power failure in one area of his plant.

"The worse damage here was caused by leakage from roof construction which is not quite finished on our present building expansion. Water leakage affected the inside power line and knocked out the electricity in part of our facility," Hecker said.

Hecker reported it would be about two days before the power could be restored and the departments back in operation. He said it would also take some time to clean up the area where water had been.

According to Mayo Allen, director of the Public Works Department, there was little washing away of the Town Common Park. Minor damage was done to some of the sidewalks but the problem was expected to be corrected today.

"There was some flooding here," Allen said. "It is a known fact that with as much rainfall as we had Saturday night in such a brief time, that flooding will occur. The water sewer can catch only so much water in such a short time."

Allen reported that one neighborhood had flooding due to the fact that corn shucks and leaves and stopped the sewer drain. Someone had swept the shucks and leaves on the edge of the street and the water washed the trash into the storm drain.

*Allen cautioned Greenville citizens about sweeping trash into the streets. "This is just one example of what placing trash where it does not belong can do. The sewer drain was stopped up completely and there was no where for the water to go but on the streets."

Public Works Department crews were out today in full force to clean out the sewer (Continued on page 10)

New Plant Here

Boise Cascade Corp. will build a plant here as part of a $5,000,000 capital program to produce composite cans for Proctor & Gamble's Pringle's Potato Chip product, it was announced by R. Corey Stokes, chairman of the Pitt Development Commission.

Stokes said that the 50,000 square foot, one-story plant will be located on a 15-acre site just north of Greenville near the Proctor & Gamble plant. Completion is scheduled for mid-1975, he add, with the firm employing approximately 75 people.

The Composite Can Division is headquartered in St. Louis, Mo. and has 20 plants nationwide producing over three billion cans annually.

Major products, it was noted are composite cans for refrigerated dough, motor oil, frozen juice concentrates, household cleaners and snack products.

Composite cans are spirally wound rigid containers that use combinations of aluminum foil, Kraft paper and plastic laminations for the body structures, and are closed with metal or plastic ends.

Boise Cascade Corp., a wood products-paper company, is headquartered in Boise, Idaho. The company's 1973 sales were $1,324,420,000 with net income of $90,250,000, representing a 106.8 per cent increase over 1972.

City's Sanitation Services Changed

The Sanitation Division of the Greenville Public Works Department has been reorganized and is expected to save taxpayers approximately $65,000 a year.

Public Works Director Mayo Allen said the changes were made following a survey on how improvements could be made in services, while reducing costs.

Notes have been placed on doorknobs throughout the city, explaining changes in routes and procedures that will be put into use Aug. 1. The notes tell each household what day their backyard garbage, front yard trash, and heavy objects will be picked up. They are reminded that the East Carolina Sheltered Workshop appreciates the posting of paper and cardboard at one of their pickup houses in grocery and shopping center parking lots throughout the city.

Allen said the sanitation force has been reduced by 10 positions. No employee has been laid off, however, he said. The 10 have been assigned to other positions that have become vacant. Collectors have been placed on 40-hour Monday-Friday weeks.

Two sanitation trucks have been taken out of use, with one being used by the Sheltered Workshop and the other being kept as a backup vehicle.

Under this reorganization, the city will have 16 residential garbage routes. Eight refuse trucks with four men per truck will be assigned two routes each. One route will pick up backyard garbage Monday and Thursday; the other route will be served Tuesdays and Fridays.

For backyard garbage pickup, the Department asks that each family have no more than three metal 25-gallon cans, with tight-fitting lids leakproof bottoms. Cardboard, paper, leaves, corn shucks, and small trimmings and other yard trash should be placed in front of the yard near the curb, but not in the street. There are eight trash routes, with all eight being worked each Wednesday by the eight garbage trucks. Garbage should be stored in boxes, cans, and or plastic bags, and should be left there not before Tuesday or Tuesday nights. All garbage and trash should be picked up by noon of the appointed day. If it has not been taken, one should call Public Works (758-4109) for a special pickup.

Persons wishing large items like old furniture and large tree trimmings to be picked up should call the Department, as a special two-ton flatbed truck must be sent. Old appliances, building materials, pieces of cement, stumps, and rubbish cleared from vacant lots are not collected by the City refuse trucks. The contractor or business or person doing the repairs for you should haul these unwanted materials to the landfill for you, Allen said.

The landfill is being kept open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays as an extra service. There is no charge for persons living in the city limits.

All business pickup will be as before. "Any time changes are made, it creates a hardship for some," Allen said. We want to hear about any such hardships. With the cooperation of the public, we can have the cleanest city in the state."

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces also slammed 800 shells into Thuong Duc, a district town about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, but there was no report of casualties. It is one of a series of district capitals under siege since the Communist command stepped up its attack along the northern coast on July 17.

Fighting also continued farther south along the central coast and in the central highlands.

Turks Balk At Any Talks On Army In Cyprus

By The Associated Press

The foreign ministers of Greece, Turkey and Britain agreed early today on a "provisional solution" to end the military confrontation on Cyprus.

But the Turkish government balked, apparently at provisions concerning the Turkish invasion force on the Mediterranean island.

The Turkish cabinet met at dawn and discussed for nearly three hours the proposal telephoned from Geneva. Premier Bulent Ecevit said the Geneva negotiations "are in the final stage," and "if there is going to be an agreement, we will know today."

But he said his cabinet decided it will not even discuss the presence of Turkish armed forces on Cyprus and their right to reinforcement and supply.

He said certain other problems which have arisen during the Geneva talks could be taken up later.

Ecevit said he relayed the results of the cabinet meeting to Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Guner in Geneva. The premier also talked by telephone with British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan, and Callaghan immediately went into session with Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros.

Mavros announced the agreement of the three minister after an all-night negotiation session at the Palace of Nations in Geneva. Its provisions were not made public immediately. But he said Turkish approval would clear the way for a second round of talks in about a week.

Turkey submitted a stiff set of new demands earlier Sunday and threatened to quit the negotiations unless they were accepted by midnight. But Guner did not carry out the threat after Premier Ecevit met for two hours in Ankara with Greek Ambassador Dimitrios Cosmodopoulos.

Nuclear Test?

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—Prime Minister Norman Kirk said he believes the French set off another nuclear test bomb today at Mururoa Atoll.

It was the sixth explosion in the current test series reported by New Zealand or Australia. The French government neither confirms nor denies any of the blasts.

38 NYC WORKERS PAID

In The May 14 issue of The Daily Reflector, Hotline reported the circumstances behind a case in which many local students were left unpaid after the closing of a Neighborhood Youth Corps program in 1972.

Hotline has learned from the original caller that these lost funds have been returned to the workers.

In all, 38 people from Greenville have received a total of $1,618.40, from the U.S. Dept. of Labor, Manpower Administration.

After receiving the initial call, Hotline checked into the matter and spoke with a Manpower representative in Atlanta, who disclosed that they knew nothing of the mistake.

Two investigators were sent from Atlanta about a week later and the total number of people involved and the total sum of money was calculated.

As a result, the Manpower Administration requested that these funds be made available from the Dept. of Labor.

The request was granted and checks have been mailed to the 38 former NYC workers.

A HOTLINE APPEAL

FILE CABINET LOST

I recently lost in Greenville something extremely valuable to me and probably of no value to anyone else—a 12-inch by 12-inch portable file cabinet containing several irreplaceable documents.

Having finished teaching at ECU, I was leaving Greenville on the way to my home in California when the doors of my U-Haul trailer apparently came open somewhere between the Beverly Manor Apartments, 1108 E. Tenth Street, and the corner of First and Meade Street via Elm Street (I also drove around Stencil Drive before parking). I know some things did fall out because some students brought me at that time a table top they saw roll out. I'd appreciate any information about this very important little metal box. G.L.P.

Anyone having any information about the filing box and its contents, please call Hotline, 752-6166 or 752-1336.

WHAT'S CORRECT FARE?

I have called Amtrak four times about reservations to Greeley, Colo. and have got four different estimates of the cost, varying from $300 to $420 for myself and my four children. I also have got two different schedules. Can you help me find the actual cost of first class from Rocky Mount to Greeley? N.M.

Hotline called Amtrak's toll-free schedules and reservations number, 800-874-2800, and talked to Bob Childers. He said you could go during the week via Washington, D.C. and Chicago for $401.75. This is a rail fare of $163.75 for you, plus one-third fare for each of your three children, (the baby's travel is free.) plus the cost of a two-berth bedroom for your family. He could not explain the discrepancies in earlier quotations. Rates are up five per cent during summer, the peak season, he said, and the cost of the Chicago-Greeley leg of your trip has gone up 15 percent lately. Costs of using Amtrak's first class service and flying are pretty much the same, he believes.

Plea To End DDT Ban In AMA's Publication

By C.G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The Journal of the American Medical Association published today a plea to end the ban on use of the insecticide DDT. Ecologists were quick to criticize the request.

The article by Dr. Thomas H. Jukes, a medical biochemist at the University of California at Richmond, says the decision by the Environmental Protection Agency in 1972 to ban use of DDT was "political rather than scientific."

"Let us hope that DDT will find its place again as a public health measure for uses that are essential in the control of noxious insects," Jukes wrote. There are reports the EPA is reassessing its DDT ban and soon may recommend a more liberal policy for its use.

Dr. Barry Commoner, an ecologist from Washington University at St. Louis, said Jukes overlooked scientific evidence about the harmful effect of DDT on humans.

"It seems to be that the AMA is irresponsible if it chooses to inform the large segment of the public represented by the patients of its members by means of grossly oversimplified opinion rather than the facts regarding the DDT problem," Commoner said.

"We don't exist on this planet in a vacuum," said Dr. William R. Niering, an ecologist from Connecticut College at New London.

In the article, Jukes acknowledged that DDT is toxic to crustaceans, fish and sometimes birds.

Jukes cited an AMA study that found handlers of DDT suffered no ill effects despite long exposure.

Jukes claimed that over the past three years gypsy moths have denuded East Coast forests and tussock moths have destroyed forests in the West. But the EPA refuses to allow the use of DDT to fight the moths, he said.

Other scientists report, however, that natural predators—birds, other insects and mammals—helped in stemming the infestation by damaging the moth eggs.

Niering said the outbreaks of gypsy moths are expected periodically and other, safer chemical compounds are effective against them. Spraying forests with DDT reduces natural predators, he added.

Niering said serious public health problems might necessitate limited use of DDT, but he opposed widespread use. "There is a real danger that the presence of DDT in the body will affect the actual biochemistry of the body in its response to drugs," Commoner said. "This is the kind of serious health effect that has to be considered in making statements about the supposed harmlessness of DDT."

Ford Shows New Model

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The first of seven expensive small cars which will roll into dealer showrooms for 1975 goes on review today as Ford Motor Co. unveils its new luxury compact Mercury Monarch.

Ford officials have spared little effort in comparing the Monarch's appearance to the luxury Mercedes-Benz.

The car's over-all length is 199.9 inches—four inches longer than the Mercedes, but two feet shorter than a standard Mercury—and its boxy styling is intended to emulate the traditional European look.

Such minor details as trim, moldings, hood ornaments, wheel covers and plush interiors were emphasized by Ford stylists to give the car a luxury appearance.

The car is expected to sell for between $4,000 and $5,000, depending on options.

Ford, which raised the price of its 1974 models an average $336 since the end of the 1973 model run, has indicated its other 1975 cars will cost an average 8 per cent more than their current price.

Indignant Over Cover-Up Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have tentatively set aside Aug. 12 through 23 exclusively for debating and voting on articles of impeachment against President Nixon. The plan is to keep the House in session from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and possibly Saturday, and to finish voting by Aug. 23. No other business is to be considered, except possibly emergency measures and final votes on legislation agreed on by House and Senate conferees.

The Senate trial, it is contemplated, would begin about a month later, giving time for both the House managers and the President's defense counsel to prepare their cases.

The contemplated timetable: On Aug. 5 the Rules Committee will receive recommendations developed by the Judiciary Committee and leadership for ground rules to govern the debate.

These are expected to call for from 60 to 100 hours of debating and voting time. Allocation of time to individual members would be controlled by the top-ranking Judiciary Committee members from each party—Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., and Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich.

After the Rules Committee has approved the procedural resolution, it will go to the House for expected ratification. By Aug. 5, the Judiciary impeachment inquiry staff is expected to complete the report accompanying the articles of impeachment. This will consist of summaries of the evidence and its conclusions. Individual members can add dissenting or supplementary views.

Each House member will get copies of the report. The articles will be open to amendment by the House. Unless the rules are changed, approval of one article in its perfected form would assure a Senate trial of the President, whether or not the House goes on to vote other articles as well.

The leadership began this weekend clearing the legislative decks for the momentous debate. All committee chairmen were asked to report promptly any measure they think must be brought to the floor before Aug. 12.

It will be up to the Rules Committee, and then the House itself, to decide whether to permit television and radio broadcasts of the impeachment proceedings.

The leadership has taken no official position.

As the impeachment proceedings moved closer to the House, the Senate was quietly setting up procedures for a possible

Reinecke Still Planning Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, convicted of perjury for his testimony before a Senate committee, was under court order to meet with probation officers today for a presentencing interview.

Reinecke remained free without bond after the U.S. District Court jury returned the verdict against him Saturday. He characterized the trial as a gross miscarriage of justice and said he will appeal.

The conviction on a single perjury count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Prosecutors had charged that Reinecke lied to the Senate Judiciary Committee in April 1972, about an offer from International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. to provide $400,000 to underwrite the cost of the Republican National Convention that year.

Reinecke, a 50-year-old Republican, told the committee he never discussed the offer with then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell until September 1971, two months after the Justice Department consented to an out-of-court settlement of an anti-trust case against ITT.

However, he later acknowledged and repeated at his trial that he actually informed Mitchell about the ITT offer in three telephone conversations during May and June 1971, while the antitrust settlement was being negotiated.

Reinecke testified in court that he was not asked at the hearing about any telephone conversations and said did not regard a phone call as a discussion.

After the court verdict, California Gov. Ronald Reagan cited the conviction as a "tragic event."

Prices Of Seafood Should See Decline

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The retail price of fish should be going down soon for the first time in five years, say federal market analysts.

They say wholesale fish prices have declined about 15 per cent in the past four months and those decreases should start reaching consumers soon.

"There should be some pretty good buys on seafood in the weeks ahead," said Hank McAvoy, a market specialist for the National Marine Fisheries Service in Gloucester.

Most fish sold in the United States is frozen, and warehouses are full of it. Reserves are 49 per cent higher than a year ago, according to federal estimates.

"There has been a very poor market in 1974, especially during Lent, which still is an important time for the fishing industry. It didn't materialize this year," McAvoy said. Frozen fillets of domestic cod sold for 80 cents a pound last April on the wholesale market. Now they go for 67 cents. Flounder fillets have declined from $1 a pound on March 6 to 83 cents.

Medium sized white Gulf shrimp have dropped from $2 a pound on March 25 to $1.60 now.

Last year, when meat prices were hitting all time highs, annual consumption of fish in the United States rose to 12½ pounds per person. It had been around 11 pounds for many years.

This year, fish processors increased their imports from foreign suppliers to meet expected demand. It never materialized because of the squeeze on the consumer dollar and the availability of some cheaper poultry and meat cuts, McAvoy said.

Warehouse holdings of frozen fish were 409.6 million tons on June 30, Marine Fisheries said. A year ago, they were 273.3 million.

Kevin Allen, another federal market specialist, said fish prices have risen steadily since 1969.

"For seafood in general, this is the first break since then," he said.

Wet Or Dry, Taxpayer Pays

PORT ELIZABETH, S. Africa (AP) — Local taxpayers have to pay more for water come rain or shine.

"If it rains a lot and we do not need as much water for our gardens, the city council increases the water rate because taxpayers are not using enough water to finance the council's water account," says Neville Cohen, chairman of the local taxpayers association. "If it is dry, the council increases the water tariff to prevent taxpayers using too much water. How can the taxpayer win?"

Question-Answer Program Tuesday

WINTERVILLE—The North Winterville Community Club will sponsor another question and answer session on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the W.H. Robinson School.

The speaker for the evening will be Harry Jarvis of the Farmers Home Administration. Information about low-interest loans to repair homes will be discussed.

Annual Program By Recreation Dept.

The Greenville Recreation Department is holding its annual Track and Field Day on Wednesday, July 31, at Guy Smith Stadium. The event is a conclusion to the summer park and playground program which is now in its final week.

All children who have been registered and have participated in programs or activities at any of the Recreation parks or centers are eligible to take part.

There will be running, jumping, sack races, pie and watermelon eating contest, tug-of-wars, and various other events. Children will compete in two age groups: 7-10 year olds, and 11-14 year olds. In some events boys and girls will be separated while in other events they will compete together.

The first events will start at 10 a.m. and conclude at about 3 p.m. Children are asked to bring a bag lunch as there will be a one hour lunch break with drinks served by the Recreation Department.

If a child has not yet registered for the Track and Field Day at one of the parks or centers he may do so on Tuesday, July 30th at the Recreation Department office in the Elm Street Gym.

Father, Son Die In Plane Crash

ARCHDALE, N.C. (AP)—Two persons were killed Sunday when a single engine plane crashed in Randolph County between Archdale and Trinity.

The dead were identified as Archdale city councilman Jake Darr, and his 12-year-old son, Phil.

The craft, identified by the state highway patrol as a Cessna, had just taken off from Darr Field, which was owned by the councilman.

Authorities said it went down in a field off N.C. 62 around 8:45 p.m. and burned.

The cause of the crash is under investigation.

Rome's Doctors Out On Strike

ROME (AP) — Health services were paralyzed across Italy today as an estimated 100,000 doctors began a 48-hour general strike in a demand for hospital reform and new labor contracts.

The strike came as hospital administrators sought to cope with increasing financial problems which have forced most hospitals into debt. Some are unable to pay salaries without borrowing.

Emergency services were not affected, authorities said.

Fewer Hassles With Customs

NEW YORK (UPI) — American businessmen who use a "carnet" can get commercial samples or professional equipment through foreign customs with fewer red tape hassles.

Under the carnet program, run here by the U.S. council of the International Chamber of Commerce (1212 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10036), a businessman or technician can make customs arrangements in advance, saving the trouble of posting bonds or cash deposits at each border.

Marriages Fail Due Arthritis

LONDON (AP) — Arthritis may be a marriage wrecked, says a report published here on the crippling disease which affects six million persons in Britain.

The British Arthritis and Rheumatism Council said more than a third of women who provided case histories for the report had failed marriages — and many blamed their illness.

One 38-year-old sufferer whose husband left her after 13 years said, "It takes an exceptional man who can stand the pressure of having a wife who is slowly deteriorating through arthritis."

Miss Timberlake Weds At High Noon Sunday

LAKE WACCAMAW—Miss Robyn Timberlake and the Rev. William Albert Ruth were married Sunday at noon in the United Methodist Church here. The Rev. Ecwood Lancaster officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mr. Ruth was his son's best man.

Miss Timberlake's formal length gown of ivory silk peau de soie had a portrait neckline and short cap sleeves applique with alencon lace. Her cathedral length heirloom veil was of Brussels lace and was attached to a Camelot cap. Her flowers were stephanotis and smilax leaves.

Miss Vicki Timberlake, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and only attendant. Her formal length gown of sandalwood organza over taffeta was printed in shades of bronze, moss, gold and ivory. The halter gown featured a silhouette skirt with a ruffle of organza edging and a short bolero with long fitted sleeves and cuffs of ruffled organza. Her bouquet was of small bronze mums and smilax leaves.

Following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon for the immediate families, was held at Oakland Plantation on the Cape Fear River. Revolutionary period home owned and restored by the bride's maternal grandfather.

Miss Timberlake, a 1973 graduate of Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winston Timberlake, Jr. of

Their Idea Was Practical, But Showed Poor Taste

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was recently married at a lovely church wedding. It was her first marriage, but Billy had been married briefly before. (The marriage was annulled.)

The bride and groom received a beautiful sterling silver tray from Billy's aunt and uncle. The following card was enclosed: "This tray is not monogrammed, but if you are married a year from now, and you take it to Hudson's jewelry store, they will monogram it for you free of charge. Love,

Aunt Peggy and Uncle Clifford"

Well, Abby, what do you make of that?
INDIGNANT MOTHER

DEAR INDIG: It's a pretty good bet that Aunt Peggy and Uncle Clifford sent Billy a wedding gift for his first time around, and because it was monogrammed, it was unreturnable. And they wanted to make sure history didn't repeat itself. (It's practical, but poor taste.)

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that some women are just not cut out to be mothers?

Unfortunately, because of inadequate birth control methods, I find myself stuck with two kids. Before I had them, I had a job I really enjoyed, and I was free to come and go as I pleased without being at the mercy of baby-sitters.

My husband and I are drifting apart. He still has all the freedom he wants, but I can't go with him. A lot of resentment has been building up inside of me these past four years. Sometimes I actually hate my children for robbing me of my carefree life.

You would think that any normal mother would love her children dearly, but if I had only one wish, it would be that I had been born sterile.

Wouldn't it be nice if all the women in the world who want kids and can't have them could change places with those women (myself included) who don't want kids and could have a dozen?

I'm not a child abuser, but I still resent my children. I'm not writing for advice because nobody can help me. It's just something I'll have to live with. After all, it's not their fault that they were born. It's mine.

If there were a book entitled "How to Learn to Love Unwanted Children" it would be just what I need.

NAMELESS IN GA.

DEAR NAMELESS: You are not alone, but most mothers who share your feelings would not admit (even to themselves) that they feel that way. It would make them feel too guilty.

Your letter makes an excellent case for birth control. Every child deserves to be a wanted child. You can't possibly feel this way without communicating your resentment to your children. (You may not abuse them physically, but you are depriving them—emotionally.)

To quote the late Lord Brain: "When, wherever you live in the world, you can have children only when you wish, that will be a revolution with more far-reaching effects on the pattern of human culture than the discovery of atomic energy."

Chance-Wilson Vows Solemnized Sunday Afternoon

Miss Kay Frances Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Wilson of Greenville, and Ronald Lee Chance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pedigo of Los Angeles, Calif., were united in marriage at three o'clock Sunday in Rose Hill Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. C.L. Patrick, uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Gail Wyche played a program of nuptial organ music. Mrs. Barbara Wilson, aunt of the bride, sang "He," "More" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satepeau gown with ring collar, full bishop sleeves and attached chapel train. White Venise lace formed a front panel which was also duplicated on the collar and sleeves.

The bride's headpiece was composed of a Juliet capulet from which triple tiers of nylon tulle bordered with flower patterns of Venise lace flowed into a chapel train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath with yellow and white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Judy Boysworth, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a blue formal gown which featured a high laced neckline with an illusion yoke and long tapered laced sleeves and a beige picture hat.

Miss Debbie Wilson, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and Mrs. Ginger Bass of Fuquay-Varina, served as bridesmaid. They wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. The attendants each carried a clutch bouquet of mixed summer flowers with blue ribbon streamers.

Jimmy Batchlor of Sanford served as best man. Ushers were J.W. Sumrell of Farmville and Stuart Campbell of Alexandria, Va.

Mrs. Wilson chose for her daughter's wedding, a pink formal gown. The gown was short sleeved with a V-neck. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. C.L. Patrick, aunt of the bride.

The church was decorated with two fifteen branch spiral candelabra holding matching arrangements of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pom poms with blue carnations and emerald greenery. A three branch brass candelabra was used by the couple for the candle ceremony. For the benediction, the couple knelt on a white profile prie-dieu. The family pews were marked with blue and white ribbon and emerald greenery.

After the wedding, the bride changed into a flowered, V-necked blouse with matching slacks.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University. The bridegroom is a welder.

On Saturday night following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Snodie Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Delano Wilson entertained the wedding party, family and friends at an after-rehearsal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delano Wilson.

Guests were greeted and invited to the refreshment table by Mr. and Mrs. Delano Wilson. The refreshment table was decorated with roses and summer flowers.

Miss Debbie Wilson resided at the register.

Mrs. Snodie Wilson served the cake to the guests after the couple had performed the traditional cake cutting. Mrs. Judy Boysworth poured punch.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Snodie Wilson.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

COMPANY DINNER
Jackie Katz's Beef Curry
Rice Poppadums

Salad Bowl
Fruit Compote Beverage
As it's made in England.

1 cup water
Beef bouillon cube
2 bay leaves
4 whole cloves
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
4 whole small dried hot red peppers
2 to 4 tablespoons oil
2 medium onions, coarsely chopped (1 cup)
2 pounds stewing beef, about 1-inch thick and cut into about 1½-inch chunks
2 tablespoons curry powder
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
6 ounce can tomatoes, undrained

Bring to a boil the water, bouillon cube, bay leaves, cloves, garlic and peppers; simmer for 15 minutes; strain, reserving broth. In a large skillet in 2 tablespoons of the oil, brown the onion lightly; with a slotted spoon transfer to a large saucepot. In the skillet, add more oil as necessary, brown the meat; with a slotted spoon transfer to saucepot. Add the curry powder to the skillet and, stirring often, cook gently, for 5 minutes; add to saucepot with reserved broth, vinegar and tomatoes. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer until meat is tender — about 2 hours. There will be just enough extremely hot sauce for the meat. Serve with plain yogurt (for cooling purposes); chopped cucumber; chopped apple mixed with plumped raisins and lemon juice; finely chopped tomatoes and onion mixed with lemon juice, salt and pepper; flaked coconut; mango chutney. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

COMPANY LUNCH

Seafood Salad Rolls
Maple Strawberries
MAPLE STRAWBERRIES
An old-time mousse makes a new partner for a luscious fruit.

1 cup maple syrup, Grade B or C
4 eggs, separated
½ pint heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch of Salt
Pint basket strawberries, rinsed and hulled

In the top of a double boiler over direct heat, heat the maple syrup but do not boil. Beat the egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in the hot maple syrup; return to double-boiler top. Place over boiling water (do not have it touch double-boiler top) and, stirring constantly, cook until thickened. Cool. Beat the egg whites until stiff; fold into the maple mixture. Whip the cream until stiff, adding the vanilla and salt; fold into maple mixture. Turn into 1 or 2 refrigerator trays — depending on size; freeze until about half-frozen. Turn into a chilled bowl and quickly beat until fluffy but not melted; return to tray or trays and freeze until firm. Serve with the whole unsweetened berries. Makes 6 servings.

Household Hints

To prepare corn for freezing, blanch ears first in boiling water for four minutes. Place ears in ice water for same length of time before you cut kernels from cob and package them. The blancher should contain enough water so that it does not stop boiling when the vegetable is added.

Celery does not freeze well. Expansion of water in its cells breaks and destroys the cell walls and makes the vegetable soft when defrosted.

To prepare berries for freezing, swish them gently in lots of ice cold water, lift them out, pat dry and freeze in a single layer on shallow trays. When they are solid, transfer them to an airtight container.

All meat and poultry that has been cut on a band saw should be washed and dried before packaging for freezing.

Use a soft brush to wash cucumbers and don't scrub them too hard. Acid left on the skin is useful in pickling.

The Bicentennial's Real Goal

There's a lot of misunderstanding abroad about what a Bicentennial Celebration is really for, and objectives and programs.

Yes, we know a "Schedule of Events" and a list of special chairmen have been published; and on the surface it is all high-minded and public-spirited and what-have-you.

But that's the camouflage.

The real plotting goes on underground; and the heart of it all is how to cajole, threaten or blackmail all Greenville males into growing a beard for those first weeks in October.

Sounds devilish, doesn't it? But that's the way it is.

The word has been passed, from man to man, and with furtive glances to assure no strangers are listening: "Have you heard about the beard bit?"

You've gotta believe, the beard-growing thing is reaching into some high places and low places. A friend has passed the word his fourth-grader is checking the mirror each morning.

And people who have been tentatively growing

New Problems Are Signalled

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Tucked away in the slim, 20-page volume titled "Governor's Policy Guidelines" unveiled recently are a host of developing problem areas which will likely capture the attention of North Carolinians in coming years.

While much of the focus of the policy book is on proposed programs of more immediate concern, Gov. Holshouser included some down-the-road thinking in pulling together from various state departments the outline of major areas of concern.

Holshouser noted in his introduction that government and other large organizations face a pressure of day-to-day activity which leaves too little time for evaluation of basics.

He said his hope is that the policy guidelines can help "counter the frustrating tendency of governments to act in short-term response to immediate demands," and look instead at some new, major directions.

The List

Here, not in order of priorities, but in alphabetical order, are those areas covered in the guidelines, with emphasis on the signals of future problems and directions for North Carolina.

—Aging: The elderly should be encouraged to live in their own homes as long as possible, and local and state programs should look at "moderate measures" such as minor home repairs, transportation aid, and protection against harassment and vandalism.

—Corrections: More pay and training for guards is listed, and in the area of youthful offenders, early identification and treatment at the community level is seen.

—Economic Development: Expansion of the billion-dollar tourist industry, promoted through preservation of the state's scenic, historic, and natural resources, and efforts to draw higher-pay industry are keyed.

In agriculture, the guidelines suggest a change in response to population growth, opening of foreign markets, and higher food prices. "The new market emphasis on protein-intensive products such as soybeans is of obvious importance to a state which has historically relied on tobacco as its chief cash crop."

Tobacco Threatened

The report sees no threat to cigarette manufacturing operations from development of synthetic tobacco, but warns that "its impact on farmers suggests a need to diversify agricultural output."

—Education: Emphasis is put on a plan to teach reading and arithmetic; an increased cooperation between public and private colleges is urged.

—Energy: Time involved in getting building permission for generating plants should be cut, and a process for early identification, environmental analysis, and reservation of future potential sites for generating plants be established.

—Land Policy: An information system is needed to monitor the rapid shifts from natural areas to development; and ways should be found to share highways, water and sewer lines, electric lines, etc. along a single corridor to eliminate clutter.

—Law Enforcement: Cut out non-patrol duties for highway patrolmen so they can be on the road; further develop the central statewide computer information system.

Lead Regional Organizations: The guidelines suggest stronger local direction of these as "the creation of local government...not...as substate administrative units."

—Physical and Mental Health: Emphasis is on modifying professional practice acts and rules to allow more para-medical personnel to practice, and location of clinics in smaller towns as training sites in increasing medical manpower training.

—Recreation Access: Purchase more parkland, and study a plan to guarantee public access to waters.

—Transportation: A total long-range plan embracing all kinds of transportation is needed; as is state aid to innovative bus and other transit systems using state streets and highways serving both urban and rural areas. Long range use of rail rights-of-way as intercity mass transit corridors should be studied.

—Water Resources: long-term water quality standards should make all waters fit for fish, shellfish, wildlife, and recreation by 1983.

hair on their faces for the first time tell us that it's just got to be a plot to make them feel miserable. It itches, they say, and they're rubbing their stubble with something akin to desperation.

Whisker-starters usually look like victims of a Lost Weekend, and have only baleful glares for jesters who remind them of the fact.

Local sales of razor blades should begin to soar about October 12.

Even Greater Service By Important Facility

A $326,000 expansion and improvement grant to the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop and Vocational Rehabilitation Center will result in improved facilities for the center's work.

The grant was made by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation in the Department of Human Resources.

The Sheltered Workshop has performed an important service since its beginning in 1969. The new facilities provided by this grant will help the center to be of even greater service.

Premier Rabin Uses Strength

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

TEL AVIV—Only hours after Gen. Itzhak Rabin became Israel's first native-born prime minister on June 3, his political enemies plotted a confrontation to test his strength and leadership.

They sent a 70-man contingent to found a new settlement near the west bank (Palestinian) city of Nablus. What made the test particularly hairy for Rabin was that Gen. Erik Sharon, the famed hero of the Yom Kippur war and a major figure in the oppositionist right-wing Likud party, placed himself at the head of the settlers.

Rabin met the challenge head-on. Lacking time for a formal cabinet meeting to discuss the emotionally charged question of new settlements on the Israeli-occupied west bank, he ordered the army immediately to disperse the settlers. In the process, Gen. Sharon was mildly manhandled. But despite Sharon's John Wayne appeal throughout this country, Rabin's swift reaction launched his premiership on a bold and decisive note.

Rabin needed such a launching. He is probably the only prime minister in a modern parliamentary government anywhere to office without any political experience, without ever having conducted a debate in the legislature and without even the rudiments of what Israelis call a "primary group" of his own—that is, an inner core of longtime advisers and confidants.

Worse yet, Rabin, who served as ambassador to Washington after commanding Israeli troops in the 1967 war, inherits leadership of a party in an advanced state of disorganization and a government that under Golda Meir was run by a Kitchen cabinet.

Rabin only joined the Labor party four years ago and only entered the Knesset (parliament) after last December's election. Add to this inexperience Israel's grave problems—an inflation rate that may hit 50 per cent by December and the far harsher political need to settle Israeli-Arab disputes—and the formidable dimension of Rabin's task can be seen.

Yet, in the two months since he took over the government with his coalition majority of a single vote in the 120-member Knesset, Rabin's plodding qualities of directness and honesty and his total lack of theatrics and political guile have served him not at all badly.

The divided states of his foes has helped. "You can't judge Rabin," one Labor party stalwart told us, "unless you first look at his opposition."

That opposition, centered in Sharon's Likud party headed by Menachem Begin, is undergoing even worse strains of disorganization than the Labor party as it, too, seeks to transfer party power of the new generation. When Rabin submitted his new economic program to the Knesset, the Likud faction headed by Elimelech Rimalt defied Begin and supported Rabin's draconian anti-inflation program, with the support of more than half the Likud membership.

Rabin has easily surmounted efforts to bring down his government. The Knesset's large vote for the new economic policy, drafted by the courtly former Tel Aviv mayor and now finance minister Joshua Rabinovitch ("Tammany Hall in a velvet collar," as one of his colleagues described him), marked Rabin's most important parliamentary test yet.

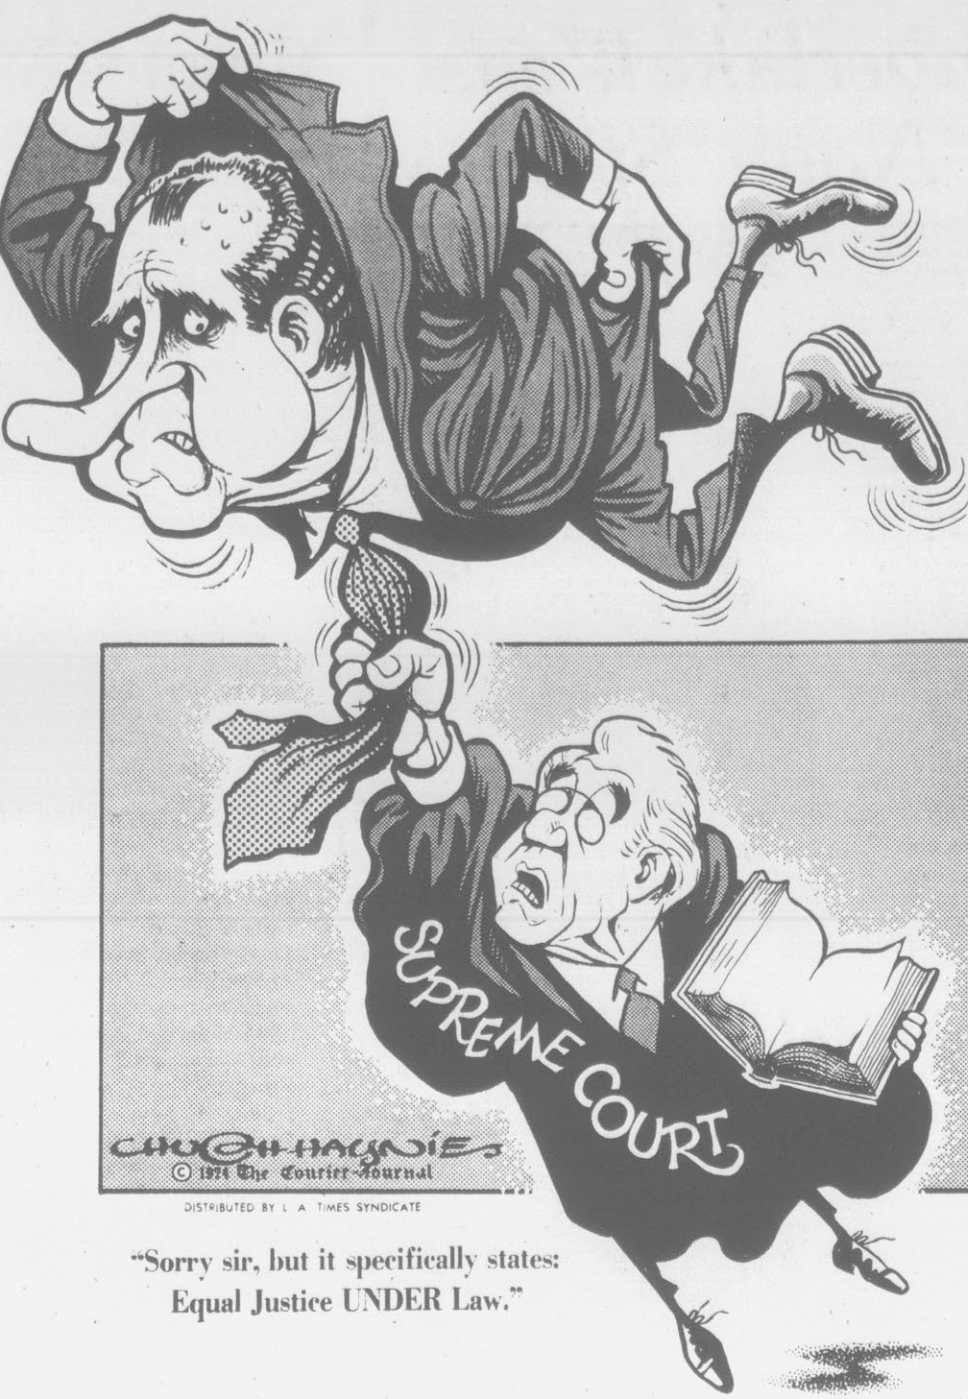

But his biggest problems remain scarcely touched. He is moving with extreme caution on the Palestinian issue—perhaps partly because he came to the premiership with a dovish reputation, partly because he is a slow mover, fastidious about detail and still uncertain of his own power and prestige.

Nor has he begun to organize his office; he still uses the loose and informal apparatus inherited from Golda Meir. Rather, his organizational target seems to be his cabinet, which he has put on a regularized twice-a-week meeting schedule and which he plans to use as the real machinery for his government, a revolutionary change from Mrs. Meir's intimate kitchen cabinet.

Critics charge Rabin with moving too slowly, more like a caretaker government than a fresh regime bursting with confidence. But that's Rabin's style. Moreover, exuberance may not be what Israel wants in this dangerous time of finally trying to come to grips with the transcendent issue of how it can permanently fit into the Arab Middle East without more war.

Inexpressibly shy and reserved, Rabin is beginning

Pray-In At The Capitol

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—They had a pray-in on the Capitol steps this week. Ardent Nixon supporters held the vigil to pray not only for the President but also for members of Congress. Each member wore a professionally prepared sandwich board with the name and photograph of a member of Congress or the President with the words "I AM PRAYING FOR—" boldly printed on it.

Throggsmtun seemed shaken. "I have nothing to hide. My private life is an open book," he protested.

"I'm asking God to help you see the light on the President's impeachment."

"I've said many times that I will hear all the evidence before I make my decision."

"God isn't going to like that," the young man said. "God doesn't want Nixon to be impeached."

"How do you know?" Throggsmtun asked.

ART BUCHWALD

"Because I spoke to Him. God thinks the President is getting a raw deal by Congress and the media. He intends to punish anyone who votes against Nixon."

"See here, young man. I go to church every Sunday and God has never indicated He is for or against impeachment. As a matter of fact, He hinted to me just last week that He would like to hear ALL the tapes before He makes up his mind."

"I've spoken to God since then," the young man said, "and He thinks the whole procedure is a kangaroo court. He's very angry at John Doar and Albert Jenner for advocating impeachment. He told me that any fair-minded person who reads the presidential transcripts in their entirety can only come to one conclusion, that is the President had no knowledge of Watergate, the coverup, the milk fund or any of the other charges that have been made against him. God told me He's going to get Doar and Jenner as soon as the hearings are over."

"That's ridiculous," Throggsmtun said. "What can God do to Doar and Jenner?"

"Well, for a start He's going to have their taxes audited. God is also going to get The Washington Post, The New York Times and The Chicago Tribune. Then he's going after the President's enemies in the House and Senate. He's really mad."

Throggsmtun said, "I respect your right to pray, but I have to question your interpretation of what God does or does not want done about impeachment. Now I

Other Editors Say Over-Protected

(The Wilson Times)

Special interest groups reported spending $9.7 million on Congressional lobbying in 1973—the largest annual total since 1950. The amount represents only a fraction of the actual spending by organizations attempting to influence the outcome of legislation in the Senate and House.

According to Congressional Quarterly loopholes in the Federal Regulation of Lobbying Act, enacted without careful consideration in 1946, allow many organizations engaged in major lobbying battles to avoid filing any spending reports.

After last year's controversy over the Alaska pipeline, neither the environmental umbrella group opposing the project nor the oil consortium fighting for it submitted spending records to the House clerk.

"Anyone innocent enough to believe the official lobbying reports would form a bizarre and misleading impression of lobbying practices," according to John Gardner of Common Cause.

For the third year the self-styled "citizens lobby" topped the spending list by reporting $943,835. Second place went to the United Automobile Workers ($460,992).

For many reasons the figures reported can be misleading. Some groups, as the American Petroleum Institute, report the precise fraction of their budgets earmarked for lobbying on Capitol Hill. Others, like the auto workers list all their legislative expenses including the cost of newsletters, research and special mailings.

California voters on June 4 approved the most comprehensive lobby regulation plan in the nation. Because of impeachment, the 1974 elections and a crowded congressional agenda there is little chance Congress will take any move in that direction until 1975 or 1976.

In fact there is every reason to believe nothing will be done, as attempts have been made over the years to revise the 1946 act. Both lobbyists and members of Congress contend that a comprehensive lobbying statute would be an administration nightmare, difficult and time-consuming to comply with and enforce.

The present law is almost totally useless, as it encourages secrecy, lobbying abuses and deception.

Rufus Had It Planned

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Rufus L. Edmisten puffed on his pipe and smiled a lot Saturday. He was confident he would win the Democratic nomination for North Carolina attorney general, and he was not disappointed.

Edmisten sought his first public elective office with the flare and organization of a seasoned veteran. He has been campaigning seriously for the post for the past year.

His early start and well-disciplined organization gave him the edge at Saturday's meeting of the 260-member Democratic executive committee, which nominated him on the sixth ballot.

His cadre of lieutenants was armed with walkie-talkies and note pads and seemed to always know what was going on, where to concentrate their work.

Compared with the other candidates, Edmisten seemed over-organized. After all, nobody could predict what this convention of mostly new executive committee members would do, most candidates said.

Democrats traditionally choose their candidates in open primaries, and a nominating convention by the party's executive committee was a new experience for all.

Since Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan refused to resign before the May primaries, in which he won the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, the executive committee was left to pick the party's nominee.

Nearly two-thirds of the committee members were newcomers, chosen under new party rules this year designed to increase the participation of women and blacks.

Candidates and aides, with the exception of Edmisten, said repeatedly there was no way to really control most of the committee members. An effort to have voting results announced by congressional districts failed in a rules debate.

Edmisten's organization seemed to be in control. There was constant talk of one candidate throwing his support to another, but these seemed usually unsuccessful. "Nobody really controls these votes," said an aide to one unsuccessful candidate.

This seemed true for the most part. When Wake County Dist. Atty. Burley Mitchell Jr. and Judge Dennis Winner of Asheville bowed out after the first ballot, it was said that most of their total 33 votes would go to Rep. Herbert Hyde of Asheville.

What happened instead was that in the second ballot Edmisten got eight of those votes, Hyde got 11, Judge Charles Kivett of Greensboro got eight, and Sen. McNeill Smith of Greensboro got nine.

State Rep. H. M. Michaux of Durham, the only black candidate, was able to direct his support to state Sen. Smith. But after one ballot with Smith, the fourth, they abandoned to Edmisten and virtually assured his nomination.

Most of the candidates predicted Edmisten would lead the first ballot, but they believed his support would begin dropping thereafter. That never materialized as Edmisten's support picked up, slowly at first, and then in big jumps in the last three ballots until he overwhelmed Hyde, 161-92, on the sixth vote.

There were some wisecracks about Edmisten's neatly dressed aides and their walkie-talkies as the convention began. But the organization worked. "We simply are taking no chances," one Edmisten aide said.

If there is ever another convention like this one, the candidates may do a lot of things differently—a lot of things the way Rufus Edmisten did them this time.

Strength For Today

GOD CAN

"Our God...is able."

It was with declaration that the three Israelites about to be cast into the fiery furnace met the judgment which the Chaldean king Nebuchadnezzar passed upon them. They believed that God was able to deliver them, and they lived to see the vindication of their faith.

This note sounded in the Old Testament becomes a leitmotif of the New. The gospel makes plain that God not only wants to do certain things, but has the power to do them. The word "able" comes from the Latin word meaning "to have." Therefore, an able person is a person who "has it." God "has it" in the sense of absolute power.

Probably most people believe in the power of God as an abstraction, but few people believe in it as a concrete reality upon which they can every day rely. If we accept God's power as real and present it can change our lives for we will begin to sense a meaning and purpose which was not there before.

No Commission On Huge Sale

By JACK LEFLER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $100 million sale would be any salesman's dream.

It came true for Bob Baird of McDonnell Douglas Corp. He sold four DC10 jetliners to Varig, the Brazilian airline. Two of the planes were delivered recently. One will be delivered later this year, and another in 1975.

It took 5½ years for Baird to make the deal, so he found great satisfaction when the keys to two DC10s were turned over to Capt. Carlos Homrich, chief pilot and director of operations for Varig.

Baird, 45, directs the McDonnell Douglas sales program in Mexico and Central and South America.

Since production of DC10s began in January 1969, he has sold eight of the $25 million aircraft, including two to Aeromexico and two to Viasa, the Venezuelan airline. He also sells DC9s and used airplanes.

The DC10's basic price is $19 million, but extras bring it up to $25 million.

"We don't have one-cent sales or special deals if you buy a bunch," Baird said.

"Every deal is different. No two airlines come up with the same DC10. The internal configuration—the seating arrangement, the galleys—the electronic gear, navigation equipment all are according to customer specification.

"Another 7 per cent to 20 per cent of the basic price is spent by airlines on stocking initial parts. Like buying a car, by the time you get done with the extras, the price is considerably higher than the basic price.

"Only, of course, when you buy a car you don't buy spare parts needed in the months and years ahead."

Did Baird make a whopping commission on the sale? No. He's on straight salary.

SOUL—The Pugh Sisters belt out a song yesterday at Greenville's "Bicentennial Sunday in the Park." "Soul Sunday" in the park featured many different types of music, ranging from gospel to soul. The performance was the last of the six concert series for the summer.

NATO Anchor Doubts Raised

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of near-war over Cyprus, U.S. military analysts wonder whether Turkish and Greek forces will be able to cooperate effectively in the future as the southern anchor of the NATO alliance.

Taking a hopeful tack, they suggest the ouster of the Greek military junta blamed for fomenting the Cyprus coup may lead to a more stable situation, assuming the completion of successful negotiations between the new Greek government and the Turks.

Some pessimists say the threat of war between Turkey and Greece, along with what they describe as a clumsy performance by Turkish forces on Cyprus, laid bare the weakness of NATO's southern flank.

American officers criticized the Turks for failing to take the port at Kyrenia early in the invasion. As a result, they said, the Turks were able to get ashore too few tanks and armored personnel carriers.

Charge Wheat Deal Error In Judgment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators have characterized the massive 1972 wheat sale to the Soviet Union as a $300 million error in judgment by top officials of the Agriculture Department.

"A federal policy aimed at improving international relations cannot be termed successful if it causes hardship in domestic affairs."

Attacked And Robbed By Duo

Jearl Nobles, proprietor of Nobles Fruit Stand at 712 Dickinson Avenue, was robbed of approximately $20 in cash at about 2:15 p.m. Friday afternoon.

Some optimists say they believe the Greeks and Turks would pull together and fight well if they were defending their own home soil against a Communist attack.

Another failure of the Turk operation, U.S. officers said, was in their inability to capture the key airport at Nicosia. This, too, was attributed to lack of speed and aggressiveness.

In its final report Sunday on the controversial deal, the Senate investigations subcommittee said the sale resulted in sharply higher food prices for Americans, caused a shortage of farm products and brought a virtual halt to freight movements in some areas.

Subcommittee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said in a statement accompanying the report that "the Russians and the large grain companies reaped the major benefits of the sales." The government funneled $300 million to six grain trading firms in the form of export subsidies.

According to the police report, two men attacked Nobles when he was alone in the establishment, taking a change purse from him that contained about $4 or $5, and his wallet which had about $15.

The Turkish operation on Cyprus was rated disappointing by many U.S. military professionals, after more than two decades of American training and advice and about $3 billion in American arms designed to build Turkey's forces into a strong bulwark against any Soviet threat in that quarter.

The sinking of a Turkish Navy destroyer by Turkish Air Force planes caused perhaps the most pained headshaking among U.S. Air Force officers.

The grain sale, largest in U.S. history, was part of the Nixon administration's policy of easing tensions with the Soviet Union. The subcommittee said,

The sale involved more than 700 million bushels of grain, including 440 million bushels of wheat.

According to information given police by Nobles, the two assailants were not armed, but pinned him down to take the money, then fled on foot.

"The Turks didn't do as well as one might have expected," said a senior staff officer. "They may have underestimated their problems, even against the Cypriot national guard."

TERMITES OR ANTS?
Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today.
The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

Charge Four In Robbing Of Boy

Two Greenville men and two youths were arrested by city police Saturday and charged with the robbery of a young city resident.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, ranking Republican on the subcommittee, said the deal should provide a lesson for U.S. trade negotiators. "We need to be certain that officials representing this nation in trade negotiations with a foreign power appreciate and represent overall American interests while avoiding any real or apparent conflict of interest," Percy said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I've never been locked up, I've never taken a drink, I never hurt anyone, and I gave all my money away. So how come I got this bum reputation?" George Raft was speaking in momentary pique at the knocks he has taken in the press and from the law during his long and colorful career as a movie tough guy.

mildly that interviewers' questions usually focus on his alleged gangland connections. In the book, Raft tells about his rise from New York's Hell's Kitchen to vaudeville as "The Fastest Dancer in the World," then to films, scoring first as the half-dollar-flipping killer in "Scarface."

GEORGE RAFT

Throughout the 1930s and 1940s he was one of Hollywood's highest-paid leading men. In 1946 his earnings were $450,000. Then film styles changed, and Raft began playing cameos in films like "Around the World in 80 Days," "Some Like It Hot" and "Ocean's Eleven." The money vanished, partly because of Raft's 45-year support of his estranged wife. They had met and married in vaudeville but soon drifted apart. She would never divorce him.

"I suppose it started because I danced in the New York night spots during the 1920s," he reflected. "The guys who owned those places were mobsters like Owney Madden."

"But they were the bosses, the hosts, and anybody who worked in those joints had to deal with them."

Over the years, Raft's name has been mentioned in investigations of the underworld, but he asserts he has never had any connection.

Raft feels the toughest blow of all came in 1967 when he was barred from England as an "undesirable." He had been fronting for a London casino, his last full-time employment. "The worst part is that they never accused me of anything," he said. "If I was guilty of something, why didn't they tell me what it was?"

Raft has been getting a flurry of publicity because of appearances to publicize the new book. He seems to enjoy the attention, although he complained

Houseboat Life Is A Necessity

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Life aboard a houseboat may seem romantic, but acute housing shortage rather than romance is the main reason thousands here have taken to the water.

Amsterdam boat dwellers in the past were retired sailors. Now, families and young people figure prominently in the city's floating population which has risen sharply since World War II.

The capital has approximately 2,500 houseboats moored along the river Amstel and on about 100 canals. An estimated 1,100 of these have not been registered with the city authorities and therefore exist illegally. However, because of the housing scarcity, there is rarely any move against the occupiers.

He said he paid Grayce Mulrooney Raft more than a million dollars by the time of her death in 1970.

Raft's money problems mounted in recent years, especially with the Internal Revenue Service.

He now lives alone in an apartment, spending afternoons as a greeter in the Beverly Hills office of the Las Vegas Riviera.

"I hope the book is a big success, both for the IRS and myself," he said.

have to go to work."

"You mean you want me to tell God you won't stonewall it with the White House?" "I will do my own talking with God, thank you. I believe I have as good a line to him as you do. I'm sure if God wants me to vote against impeachment, He'll give me some kind of sign. Why don't you just go pray for somebody else."

"I got here late," the young man said. "Yours was the only sandwich board they had left."

"Well, I want to thank you anyway," Throggsmutton said. "In these times one needs all the prayers he can get. I'm sure whatever you're doing cannot cause any harm."

"I wouldn't be too sure of that," the young man said. "God told me if you vote wrong, He's not going to let Gerry Ford come into your district and campaign for you this fall."

Last year we brought you almost two billion dollars worth of textiles. You've got a lot riding on us.

We shipped a lot of textiles in 1973. We estimate that the manufacturers' value for textiles shipped amounted to $1,897,216,000. And a good portion of this was for clothing.

Economy is the biggest reason textile companies and so many others choose rail. Consider these figures for the thousands of things shipped by rail each year. The average cost per-ton-mile by truck is five times as much as by rail. Air shipping is fifteen times the price.

And the fuel crunch has made railroad efficiency more than just a matter of dollars and cents. It's a matter of delivering the goods with the smallest possible use of fuel.

When you put all this together with the reliability of rail shipping you have a good idea why there's so much riding on us. And why you need Southern.

Canadian Open Win Sends Nichols Into World Series

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — "You're shooting at the hole," Bobby Nichols said. "That's what you do in this game. This just happened to be my day."

The big, rangy veteran one-putted 11 times—"It must have been a little discouraging to the guys I was playing with," he said—on his way to a two-under-par 68 and a front-running, four-stroke triumph Sunday in the Canadian Open golf championship.

It was Nichols' 11th individual triumph in a 15-year pro career—and almost certainly one of his happiest.

"It gets me in the World Series of Golf," he said after his 10-under-par total of 270 on the 6,788-yard Mississauga Golf Club course. "Thank goodness, I'm in. I can't tell you how much that means to me. It was going through my mind all day."

The World Series of Golf, bringing together only the four men who have won the season's major championships, will be played this fall at famed Firestone Country Club, a course at which Nichols serves as head pro.

Nichols, 38, was challenged at one time or another by Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Ray Floyd and Ben Crenshaw before he settled the issue with a string of three consecutive birdies starting on the 12th hole.

From then on it was a fight for second. John Schlee and Larry Ziegler eventually tied for that position with 274 totals.

Ziegler had a last round 69, Schlee a par-matching 70.

Trevino, Floyd, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Dale Douglass and Lou Graham followed at 275. Trevino had a 72, Graham 67, Rodriguez 70 and Douglass and Floyd 68.

Nicklaus, starting five shots back of Nichols, once closed to within two strokes before he made double bogey.

He finished with a 70 and was tied at 277 with Arnold Palmer, who received a standing ovation from the crowd around the 18th green when he finished with a 69.

Nichols, now the winner of two titles this season, credited his fantastic putting with the victory.

He collected $40,000 from the total purse of $200,000 and pushed his earnings for the season to $111,000, best of his career.

And probably more importantly to Nichols, it got him into the World Series along with South African Gary Player—whose sweep of the Masters and British Open titles made this one of the qualifying events—U.S. Open Champion Hale Irwin and the winner of the upcoming American PGA National Championship.

"This time," joked Bobby, "I don't have to get an invitation as the home pro."

The Fire stretched its lead to 45-7 before a late Hawaiian surge narrowed the gap.

With the ground attack limited to 21 yards, Hawaiians quarterback Norris Weese passed 52 times, completing 24 for 338 yards and three touchdowns.

"They killed us on big plays," said Hawaiians free safety John Mosely. "We just seem to make too many mental errors."

Yankees And Fenway Just Don't Get Along

By KEN RAPPOPORT

For the New York Yankees, playing in Boston is no Tea Party.

Swallowing their own particular brand of poison, the Yankees lost to the Red Sox Sunday for the 10th straight time in Fenway Park and also the 19th time in their last 20 games.

This time, a gallant pitching performance by Bill Lee provided the Red Sox with an 8-3 victory. After some early trouble, Lee set down the last 13 Yankee hitters.

The Red Sox extended their unique domination over the Yankees even with mistakes. They managed to win despite undisciplined baserunning.

The Yankees came into Boston just one game behind the Red Sox in the American League East race and now are three games down.

In the other American League games, the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Baltimore Orioles 4-0; the Minnesota Twins beat the California Angels 5-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second 12-9; the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Cleveland Indians 6-3; the Oakland A's took two games from the Chicago White Sox, 7-2 and 3-2 and the Texas Rangers trimmed the Kansas City Royals 6-4.

Brewers 4, Orioles 0
Jim Slaton, 8-11, fired a three-hitter and George Scott and Mike Hegan clouted two-run homers as Milwaukee continued its mastery of Baltimore.

The win was the ninth in 12 games between the teams this season.

Twins 5-9, Angels 3-12
Jerry Terrell and Glenn Borgmann lashed two-run singles to highlight a four-run fourth inning for Minnesota and Bill Campbell pitched out of a bases-loaded situation in the seventh as the Twins defeated California in the first game of their doubleheader.

Ellie Rodriguez, Bobby Valentine, Bruce Bochte and Lee Stanton hit two-run homers and Rodriguez hit a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning to give California a second-game victory.

If McGraw Is Month Ahead, How Far Back Are The Mets?

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
"I'm a whole month ahead of last year," Tug McGraw grinned. "If I'm that far ahead, can you imagine what the rest of the club's going to do in September?"

What McGraw did Sunday was enough for the time being. He won a ball game.

And once again, the call waited through the New York Mets' locker room, the slogan that Tug made famous in last year's September drive from last place to the National League championship.

"You gotta believe," McGraw said. He might have added: "...in yourself."

The Mets' left-handed reliever, who has lost four games this year and owns a ballooned 5.25 earned-run average, didn't win his first game last year until the 124th of the season—Aug. 22, to be exact. Sunday's 4-1 triumph over the Montreal Expos was 1974's 97th game for the Mets.

In Sunday's other National League games, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 4-3, St. Louis downed Chicago 5-4, Cincinnati bombed San Diego 14-1 and, in a pair of 10-inning games, Atlanta edged Los Angeles 3-2 and Houston tripped San Francisco 3-2.

"We've gotta push ourselves harder," McGraw said.

Pirates 4, Phillies 3
"It was a big ball game, but not crucial," Manager Danny Murtaugh said after his Pirates beat the first-place Phillies, whose divisional lead was trimmed to two games over St. Louis.

"Anybody in the East could still win it yet with two months left," he said. Tommy Hutton's triple and Jay Johnstone's solo homer gave the Phils a 3-0 lead before the Bucs woke up.

Cards 5, Cubs 4
Ted Sizemore led off the ninth inning with a homer to power St. Louis closer to the top and drop the Cubs into last in the East.

Reds 14, Padres 1
Joe Morgan hit a home run in the third inning and opened an error-aided five-run fifth with the first of four consecutive walks for a run in the Reds' rout of the Padres.

Braves 3, Dodgers 2
Los Angeles relief ace Mike Marshall lost his second straight game with a wild throw to second base that gave the Braves their winning run and cut the Dodgers' shrinking West Division lead to just 3½ games over the charging Reds.

Frank Tepedino delivered a one-out 10th-inning single off Marshall, 11-6, Johnny Oates bunted for a single, then Marshall fielded Ralph Garr's bouncer and heaved the ball into center field trying for a forceout at second.

Astros 3, Giants 2

Singles by Roger Metzger, Cesar Cedeno and Lee May in the 10th inning carried Houston to victory after the Giants had tied the game 2-2 in the ninth on Ed Goodson's single.

American League scores:
Texas 6, Kansas City 4; Detroit 6, Cleveland 3; Boston 8, New York 3; Milwaukee 4, Baltimore 0; Oakland 7-3, Chicago 2-2, and Minnesota 5-9, California 3-12.

McCafferty Falls To Heart Attack

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions officials, despite shock over the death from a heart attack Sunday of Coach Don McCafferty, met to select a successor for the soft-spoken National Football League veteran.

"We've got to get someone to run this program. I'll decide tonight and announce it tomorrow," General Manager Russ Thomas said Sunday. He said McCafferty's death "was a shock and difficult to believe."

McCafferty, hired in January 1973 to boost the sagging fortunes of the Lions, collapsed while working in his yard during the morning.

Despite almost immediate aid from a neighboring doctor, the 53-year-old former Baltimore coach never regained consciousness and died a few hours later at a Pontiac hospital.

Striking Lions veterans, gathered at a hotel across the street, canceled their meeting when they learned of the tragedy.

McCafferty, who captain and player representative Ed Flanagan called "a players' coach," had no record of heart trouble. Thomas said the coach passed his physical in May without a sign of heart trouble.

"His death is a serious loss to the sport, a serious loss to the town and a serious loss to our football team," Thomas said.

Bob Hollway, defensive backfield coach and former head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals, may have the inside track as successor. Other strong possibilities are former New Orleans Saints head coach Ed Khayat and Rick Forzano, ex-head coach at the U.S. Naval Academy.

McCafferty, a 25-year coaching veteran, was an end at Ohio State in 1941 and 1942 under Paul Brown, now coach of the Cincinnati Bengals. He played a year with the New York Giants.

The former Kent State assistant coached under Webb Ewbank and Don Shula at Baltimore from 1959 through 1969. He took over the head job in 1970, when the Colts posted an 11-2-1 record and won the Super Bowl against Dallas.

Five games into the 1972 season he was fired. At Detroit the 6-foot-5, 250-pounder replaced Joe Schmidt, who resigned.

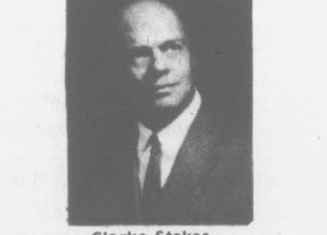

McCafferty had a 26-11-2 record with Baltimore. Last year his struggling Lions were 6-7-1 and second in the National Conference Central Division.

in the first quarter, also ran for three touchdowns.

"The thing that's interesting about it is that we played our best with only three days rest," Carter said, "and I understand the Hawaiians played their best game—a victory over Detroit the previous Sunday—with three days rest, too."

The Fire, 4-0, struck quickly, with Kellar scoring his first touchdown on a two-yard burst less than two minutes after the opening gun. The former Northern Illinois star scored the next two Chicago touchdowns, then Carter connected with wide receiver Jack Dolbin for a 33 yard touchdown.

"We put both wide receivers on the same side, so they couldn't rotate their zone," Carter said. "It seemed to work, so we stayed with it."

Two interceptions by Joe Womack and another by Hal Phillips led to Chicago touchdown drives. The Fire defense set up another touchdown in the second half when the Hawaiians' punter, Jerry Powell, dropped a snap and was tackled on his own 29.

The Fire stretched its lead to 45-7 before a late Hawaiian surge narrowed the gap.

With the ground attack limited to 21 yards, Hawaiians quarterback Norris Weese passed 52 times, completing 24 for 338 yards and three touchdowns.

"They killed us on big plays," said Hawaiians free safety John Mosely. "We just seem to make too many mental errors."

CASE A-693: Howard B., aged

39, is the alcoholic husband whose wife is grieving over his addiction to liquor.
"Dr. Crane," he confessed, "I don't like whiskey but I use it because it distracts my wife's attention!"
"We were ideally happy for the first 12 years of our marriage, but then I noticed that I was slow to get aroused by her in the boudoir."

"The next couple of years I would try to stimulate my waning passion by conjuring up images of bathing beauties."

"Finally I'd even sneak a glance at some pornographic pictures I had bought and hidden back of a row of books in my den."

"At last, even their influence wasn't enough so I was faced with trying to explain to Elsie why I no longer wished to kiss and pet her when we went to bed."

"Meanwhile, due to constant worry, I became a chain smoker."

"And one night I stayed away from home at a tavern till I was half drunk."

"When I then noticed how solicitous she was about me as I staggered home, I realized I could still retain her interest and concern if I used whiskey."

"Since then, I've gone downhill fast and am now even afraid I may lose my position with a leading advertising agency here in Chicago."

"Dr. Crane, would testosterone remedy my problem or is there no hope for men like me?"

Vicious Circle
Notice that when men begin to worry, that cerebral function soon reduces their ability to mate.

For as they try to analyze their problem and figure out a solution, they are making their brain perform.

But eroticism is chiefly a sensual (emotional) attribute of their boudoir behavior.

Alas, the more they worry, the more they also are likely to become chain smokers.

And tobacco seems to serve as a form of chemical castration, for smokers lose much of their sex appetite.

Thus, a vicious circle ensues, for the more they are afraid of impotence, the more they smoke.

But the more they smoke, the less libido they possess.

Alcoholism is mankind's age-old escape device from this dilemma of the boudoir.

So you wives must realize that if you can make your husband function in the bedroom, you can far exceed even the splendid influence of Alcoholics Anonymous.

For John Barleycorn is usually the ally of platonic mates!

But a wife who deliberately serves more enticing boudoir cheesecake, can banish her husband's basic dread that causes him to drink or stay out nights, caustically chew her out or scold his children.

Wives, diet down to within 10 pounds of your wedding figure.

Adopt a new perfume, testing various scents till you find the one that is most effective on your husband.

Use a diaphanous nightie and disrobe seductively!

And then become as erotically aggressive as any "Call" girl, for the latter can banish almost every worried husband's platonic state in half an hour!

Fight fire with fire, remembering your husband belongs to Y-O-U!

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for a devoted husband beats alimony checks!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Growers Burn Tobacco In Protest Over Prices

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — About 200 angry tobacco growers, disgruntled over low prices during early sales, protested Saturday burning 75,000 pounds of leaf on a farm near Fayetteville.

Joseph B. Riddle, who organized and hosted the protest, said the act of defiance was intended as a signal to the federal government and tobacco companies that "we must have a profit to stay in business."

First week sales on the North Carolina's big Eastern Belt markets, which opened a week ago, averaged $82.46 per hundred pounds of flue cured tobacco, the type used for cigarettes and cigars.

Much higher prices were predicted before marketing openings, and the growers have said at least $90 per hundred pounds is needed to offset increased production costs.

John H. Cyrus, tobacco specialist with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture in Raleigh, predicted the protest would do little to increase prices.

"The tobacco they burned probably wasn't worth harvesting, anyway," he said. "Prices are going to move up as soon as we move into the (higher) leaf grades."

"That's a lot of tobacco," Cyrus said. "You can be sure they didn't burn any upstake tobacco. They know it will sell at a high price."

J. W. Sorrell Jr., a grower from Dunn, said most of the tobacco burned was low grade primings from the bottom of the tobacco plant stalk. He estimated it would have been sold for about $90 per hundred pounds had it been marketed.

Riddle said each of the farmers participating in the protest contributed some of his own tobacco.

Riddle, 36, said the farmers preferred to see their tobacco go up in smoke rather than be sold at current prices. He said the low prices are forcing the farmers to lose 20 to 30 cents a pound.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Anything that requires speed and understanding is favored in a.m., so be up and doing early; later you find obstacles begin to arise and it is best during late day and evening that you force no issues since trouble can result and most persons become grouchy, noncooperative.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan new activities early, then start the work required. Get that correspondence out early, also. Go right to the point.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Making out checks and doing the important work early saves time for studying into information you need later in the day. Make collections. Write letters after lunch.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Coming to a new agreement with an associate is fine in a.m., but then be sure to carry through with your share of work required.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Cooperating with fellow workers on some plan in a.m. is favored, then carry through with new appeals later in the day. Use that smile more to gain favor.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make the a.m. a bright and sparkling one, then plan for the amusements that are quiet but enjoyable. Use all that charm in right avenues.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Tackle home affairs early since later you have much work of importance to handle. Put new plan in operation vigorously.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Come to a good agreement with associates about policy affairs, then start the detailed work. Do not quibble over little things.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get your monetary position improved in a.m., then check papers for accuracy. Some financial decision you have to make can be helped by discussing with an expert.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) In a.m., go after whatever is of a personal nature, since evening finds it difficult. Talk over agreements with partner over the coffee cups. Hold temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get expert's okay on your future course of action. Then get routine work out of the way quickly. Assist one who comes to you for help.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Being more affectionate with friends in a.m. brings more rapport and fine results now. Give them good ideas where entertainment is concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into any work that is of importance where your career is concerned in a.m. and become more successful. Then go through with some plan you have made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will quickly understand what others have in mind and can make plans with them for group ventures that prove successful. Give a course of education that will take in many philosophies and New Era ideas as well, and give an opportunity to travel while young. The career starts early here; the latter years are then slow and should be spent in retirement comfortably.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AK9 ♥ AK8732 ♦ A62 ♣ 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

3 ♥ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Either four hearts or four spades might prove to be a better contract, but there is no intelligent way to investigate the possibility. You have warned partner that you have an unbalanced hand, so it would not be prudent to override his decision.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

Q107 ♥ KQ65 ♦ K92 ♣ K54

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South

1 ♠ 2 ♦ ?

What action do you take?

A.—Not an easy hand to bid. We would accept either a cue-bid of three diamonds or a bid of two hearts—both of which, of course, are forcing. A bid of two no trump, which we would have made had there been no overall, would tend to show two diamond stoppers.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKQJ ♥ 954 ♦ 103 ♣ 8762

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. This might seem slightly aggressive, but you do have three trumps and a ruffing value. Partner's rebid shows a six-card suit in all likelihood, and there are many hands he could have where game would be no worse than a finesse.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

A8 ♥ A109843 ♦ Q6 ♣ AK3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—You have a good hand but no really strong suit, and some jump bid is indicated, for your hand tends to take seven tricks on its own. Though we would prefer a more robust suit, we can see no alternative to a bid of three hearts.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKJ76 ♥ A92 ♦ J62 ♣ 984

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

3 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Up to now, you have not held partner that you have anything more than a minimum response of one spade. Thus, you can afford to cue-bid the ace of hearts at this point, without partner thinking that you have a particularly strong hand. Since you have a mild fit for both his suits, you would be well satisfied if he went on to slam.

Southern Demos Lean To Impe

A STREET BAND plays jazz of the 1930's on the Boulevard des Italiens in Paris. In warm weather, Paris is one gigantic outdoor music hall. "I do this to get money," said one British girl. "In three or four hours I can make about 300 francs (about $65). The troubadours usually do not ask for money, but they expect it—and get it. (UPI Telephoto)

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Many House Southern Democrats, a group crucial to President Nixon's hopes of avoiding impeachment, appear prepared to follow their three Judiciary Committee colleagues into the pro-impeachment camp.

Interviews with a dozen Southern Democrats, representing a cross-section of the 74 from the 11 states of the Old Confederacy, and estimates of experienced House head-counters indicate Nixon may hold barely half of them.

With most of the 174 Northern and Western Democrats expected to vote for impeachment, that means the President would have to hold almost all of the 187 House Republicans, a difficult task after six of 17 Republicans on the Judiciary panel voted for impeachment.

Thus, the decline in the President's southern flank is a major factor in the growing belief of House leaders that Nixon will be impeached.

Even among the more conservative, older Southern Democrats, solid backers of Nixon on most legislative matters, there has been a perceptible decline in the President's support.

Few, even likely Nixon backers, are willing to say for sure they will oppose the impeachment move.

"I don't want to vote for impeachment," said Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La., one of the acknowledged leaders of the conservative Southerners. But he declined to say how he would vote and noted, "I have made no irrevocable statement."

"I think he's made plenty of mistakes," said Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., chairman of the House Democratic Caucus. But he indicated he, too, was reluctant to vote for impeachment.

But Teague, a 28-year veteran, and Waggoner, a House member more than 12 years, represent an older style of Southerner. Of the 74 Southern Democrats, 40 have been in Congress less than 10 years.

Surveys indicate that increasingly the younger Southern Democrats vote more like their northern cousins. A survey by the liberal Americans for Democratic Action showed that 16 freshmen Southern Democrats voted 48 per cent "liberal" in 1973, compared with 35 per cent for all Southerners.

Rep. Lindy Boggs, D-La., who succeeded her late husband, House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs in a New Orleans district, offered one clue to the way impeachment might be affected by southern sentiment.

"On a vote on a purely constitutional issue, when you are in a quasi-judicial position, you have the obligation first of upholding the Constitution."

Other members also said that they wouldn't be swayed by indications of sentiment, such as the mail from back home.

Freshman Rep. Charles Rose, D-N.C., noted that "many of us have put together coalitions of blacks, younger voters, farmers," implying a broad base of support lending greater freedom of action.

"An important thing," he added, "is that a great many of us are lawyers. We are going to vote on the basis of the evidence."

Along with several other members, he said the votes of Judiciary Committee members Walter Flowers, D-Ala., James Mann, D-S.C., and Ray Thornton, D-Ark., will be very influential.

Three Dead As Car Left Road In Onslow

By The Associated Press
Three Fort Bragg soldiers were killed Sunday when their car ran off U.S. 258 near Jacksonville in Onslow County and overturned.

The highway patrol identified the victims as Maryland J. Middleton, 22, Richard Lee Davis, 21, and Patrick Lee Davis, 21.

Officers said the car, driven by Middleton, was traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

North Carolina traffic victims over the weekend totaled 11, to bring the 1974 auto wreck toll to 814. That compares with 1,041 killed during the corresponding period a year ago, the highway patrol said.

Three-year-old Neal Edward Guy of Pasadena, Md., died Sunday in Jackson County near Sylva when the car in which he was riding with his mother ran off U.S. 19 and overturned in a creek.

James Erving Meekins, 27, of Raleigh, was killed Saturday night when two cars collided on U.S. 1, about 17 miles north of Raleigh.

Cynthia Lee Joyner, 20, of Wake Forest, died Saturday night on N.C. 561 in Franklin County near Louisburg when the car in which she was a passenger collided with a second vehicle.

Another two-car crash claimed the life of William Clifford Jones, 51, of Rocky Mount. The accident occurred Saturday night on N.C. 43 near Rocky Mount in Nash County.

A 17-year-old Charleston, S.C., girl was killed Saturday in a head-on collision on a rural road near Swansboro in Onslow County. She was identified as Rosita Raguirag.

Marlon Darden, 13, of Goldsboro died Saturday when his bicycle was struck by a car on U.S. 13 near his home.

Sixteen-year-old Leonard Moody Hicks of Henderson perished Saturday in a one-car wreck near Middleburg in Vance County.

Edward Blair Dorton, 22, of Charlotte died Friday night in a two-car wreck in Union County near Monroe.

Airlines Seek Exchange Routes

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Piedmont Aviation Inc. and Delta Air Lines are seeking permission from the Civil Aeronautics Board to exchange routes involving service in North and South Carolina.

Piedmont said it has agreed to transfer its nonstop authority between Charleston, S.C., and Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh-Durham in North Carolina to Delta.

Delta would transfer its nonstop authority between Asheville, N.C., and Chicago, Columbus, Ohio, and Columbia, S.C. to Piedmont.

The CAB must approve the agreement before it can be implemented. If approved, Piedmont would no longer serve Charleston and Delta would no longer serve Asheville.

The announcement said none of the cities involved are new points for either airline.

Russians Given Hint Of Nixon Removal Effort

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Many Russians are puzzling over a new word cropping up in the controlled Soviet press and newscasts: "impeachment."

Russian is a rich language. But the Soviet media, in their delicate and fragmentary reports on impeachment proceedings against President Nixon, have resorted to the borrowed English word. Probably not one in a thousand Russians knows what the word means, and it's not in any Russian dictionary.

That's not the only way the Soviet media has been unclear about the Watergate scandal. For a long time, the press ignored President Nixon's difficulties, concentrating instead on detente between Moscow and Washington.

Now, the brief and vague articles about Watergate—called the "so-called Watergate affair"—in the Soviet press—provide few details. Readers have never been told frankly what impeachment involves or that there is a possibility Nixon could be removed from office.

Last week, however, the careful Pravda reader saw a brief report saying the President would turn over certain tapes and documents after a Supreme Court decision. And Vice President Gerald R. Ford was quoted as saying giving up that material would rally public opinion to the side of the President "to fight against attempts of the Congress to remove him from office."

That apparently was the first time the possibility of removal from office was mentioned in the Soviet press, and it was not directly linked to the impeachment process.

The Soviet leadership has a stake in Nixon remaining in office to continue the detente policies worked out at three summit meetings. It probably also is a bit awkward for the Kremlin leaders to explain to the Soviet public that the President of the United States can be removed from office by the legislative branch.

Despite a facade of elections and parliamentary process in the Soviet Union, its leaders are chosen by a small group that runs the Communist party and everything else in the country.

When the House Judiciary Committee recommended Saturday night that President Nixon be impeached, the Soviet news agency Tass reported the vote briefly. It reported that White House spokesmen said Nixon is confident the full House of Representatives "will not decide on impeachment, for there is no ground for that."

The official Soviet line has been that those in the United States who oppose detente with the Soviet Union are among those pushing impeachment proceedings.

Anti-Impeaching Poll By Mizell

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina Congressman Wilmer Mizell said replies to his most recent legislative questionnaire indicate 64 per cent of his constituents oppose impeachment of President Nixon.

The Fifth District Republican said 35 per cent of those responding said they favored impeachment.

Mizell's statement did not indicate how many persons responded to the poll or when it was conducted.

The survey showed that 76.2 per cent favored federal legislation establishing minimum standards for no-fault auto insurance plans, while 86.4 per cent said they support an increase in the earning limitation for Social Security recipients.

Talking New Ports Body

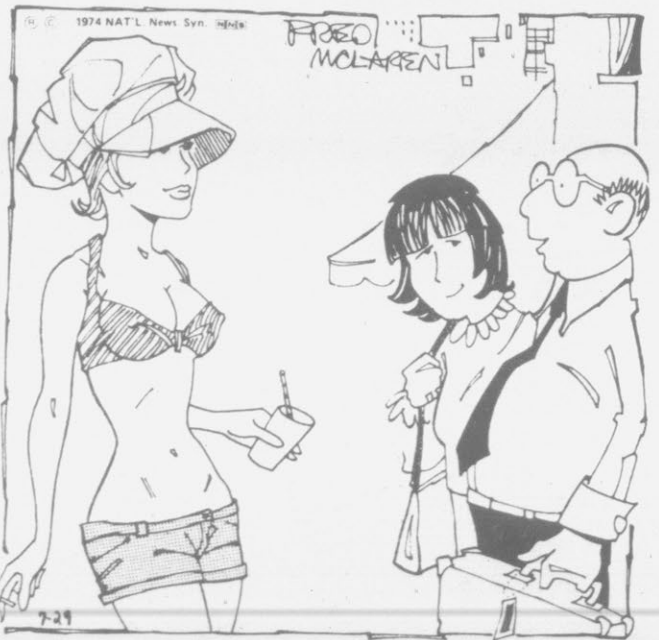

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Holshouser administration is considering a legislative program that would abolish the state Ports Authority and replace it with a citizen's advisory council, according to Secretary of Transportation Troy A. Doby.

Doby said in an interview that the program is planned for presentation to the 1975 General Assembly. It also will call for similar advisory panels to oversee the operations of the Highway Patrol and Department of Motor Vehicles.

To make the change, Gov. Jim Holshouser, a Republican, would have to get it through the Democrat-dominated legislature.

The citizens' boards would be similar in scope to the Secondary Roads Council, whose 14 members are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the governor.

All three agencies involved are in the Department of Transportation, and the change would virtually complete reorganization of the transportation department, Doby said.

"20 years ago she would have brought out the riot squad!"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Congressman Walter Jones today reiterated his stand on the Nixon impeachment issue, emphasizing that "my final vote will be based on the evidence brought forth by the House Judiciary Committee."

The First District

Election Bd Is Charged

GRAHAM, N.C. (AP)—The Alamance County Republican party executive committee chairman, Kenneth Corbett, today filed a complaint in Alamance Superior Court charging the county elections board with wilfully refusing to obey state laws.

The controversy centers about a replacement on the five-member county commissioners board for Bill Horne, who resigned July 1.

Corbett asked the court to enter a judgement declaring a general election in November to fill the remaining two years of Horne's term.

The elections board asked the state attorney general's office earlier this month to rule on procedure for filling the vacancy.

The board was told that Horne's successor, as named by the commissioners, could serve the remaining 2 1/2 years of his term.

Republicans claim the appointee should stand for election in November, but there is no procedure for getting his name on the ballot.

Charlotte Bank Held Up Today

CHARLOTTE, N.C.—A branch of the Bank of North Carolina in Charlotte was robbed shortly before noon today, police said.

Bank employees said two white men wearing afro wigs escaped with an undetermined amount of money. No other details were immediately available.

Representative said today that, "On the other hand, I expect the majority of the people of this nation are extremely weary of the multiple hearings which have been conducted."

Jones continued, "I definitely feel that the ominous clouds adversely affected the spirit of our nation and I share with many the feeling that some final decision should be made."

"I have searched for possible recourse to bring this unfortunate situation to an end and the only solution available... is through the constitutional procedure of impeachment," the representative added.

"If the evidence is there," Jones observed, "under my sworn oath I would have no choice, in sitting in the capacity as grand juror, but to vote to send the proceedings to the Senate where a final and definite decision on either innocence or guilt can be made."

Jones said that such note would "hopefully end the agitation once and for all" and allow the Congress and the nation to "get on with the very serious business of fighting inflation and the other problems that seriously affect our economy." He said that, "If I knew of any other way for a final conclusion to be reached by another route, then I would suggest that."

The congressman said that, I want to make it abundantly clear that the House... doesn't try the case. It finds probable cause and the decision of innocence or guilt rests solely upon the shoulders of the U.S. Senate.

He added, "I don't think that any members of Congress are taking any delight in being called upon to vote on this very

He pointed out, also that the House Rules Committee will probably consider the bill of impeachment for several days before it is sent to the House for action.

A series of weekend medical tests indicated the 81-year-old Spanish chief of state was "in the process of clear recuperation" from thrombophlebitis with which he was hospitalized July 9.

Franco was expected to spend a few days at his El Pardo Palace outside Madrid before going to northwest Spain on a vacation, government sources said.

Franco temporarily transferred power to Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, 36, his designated heir, after suffering a serious relapse July 19. His condition has improved steadily since then.
