Nixon Chances In House Viewed Poor

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—
With House debate on the impeachment question due to start in two weeks, some leading congressmen representing both parties and various political philosophies say President Nixon's chances are poor.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-

Ohio, a leading House conservative who supports impeachment, said Wednesday
he expects the House to vote to impeach Nixon by nearly a 3-1 margin.

House Republican Whip Leslie Arends, generally considered the Republican congressional leader closest to Nixon, said of Nixon's chances of avoiding impeachment: "I would not tell him it looks good."

House Democratic Leader
Thomas P. O'Neill predicted more than 75 per cent of the House members will vote to impeach the President.

O'Neill said no firm counts have been taken but said his discussions with members indicate no more than 38 of the 248 House Democrats and fewer than 80 of the 187 Republicans will support the President on impeachment.

Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La., a strong Nixon supporter, thinks even fewer than 38 Democrats will vote against impeachment, O'Neill said.

And the leader of the unsuccessful Nixon defense in the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., said, "At the moment, I would have to say the odds are that the House would pass them (the articles of impeachment)."

The statements came as the House prepared for debate on the three impeachment articles approved by the Judiciary Committee.

A number of procedural matters have to be settled, such as the length of time for debate, whether the proceedings in the House chamber will be televised and whether the committee's articles will be open for amendment.

Meanwhile, there were these related developments:
—O'Neill, a close friend of Vice President Gerald R.
Ford, said Ford is well aware of the possibility that Nixon will be removed from office.
That step would require a two-thirds vote in the Senate after a majority vote in the House to impeach the President.

—White House aide Patrick
J. Buchanan said the White House was keeping open the option of essentially giving up a fight in the House in order to expedite Senate action.

However, a number of House members said this would amount to a cop-out.

—Two senators on a panel studying impeachment rules said they oppose a strict definition of what would be required to convict Nixon in a Senate trial. Sens. Robert C.

Byrd, D-W.Va., and James Allen, D-Ala., said each senator would make his own judgments by his own standards.

Friday Declares Jenkins 'Very Cooperative' Over Medical School Problem

By CARL L. TYER

Reflector Staff Writer
UNC President Dr. William Friday said this morning that Dr. Leo Jenkins "has been very cooperative" in dealing with him.

Friday commented, "Last Tuesday morning, I met with Chancellor Jenkins and Dr.
Fordham (Dean of Medicine at Chapel Hill) and we discussed four areas of primary concern to all three of us, the resolution of which we felt important in moving ahead to implement the action of the General Assembly."

He pointed out, "There was a spirit of cooperation and good will and we made substantial progress in resolving problems regarding land acquisition, facility renovation, staffing and other related matters."

Friday concluded,
"Chancellor Jenkins has been very cooperative in conversations I have had and I feel confident that we are making the necessary decisions, that will enable us to get on with our planning responsibilities."

Fordham yesterday called on ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins to support expansion of the school "in good faith."

The Dean added that he felt more cooperation was needed from Jenkins and his constituents in order to get the program going.

Jenkins responded by saying, "We've done everything we've been asked to do in good faith. I'd like him to document evidence of lack of good faith."

ECU Board of Trustees
Chairman Roddy L. Jones has issued a calming statement in the present controversy over the jurisdiction of the new two year med-school at ECU by saying he is "in agreement with the basic way" UNC President William Friday is handling the expansion of the school.

Jones also stated he was "satisfied" that the school would have to be under the control of the UNC Medical School and that a full-time director could not come from the present administration at ECU.

Jones added that he would still ask Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan to give a ruling on the legislative act establishing the expanded two year school concerning jurisdiction of the program.

A legislator, Dr. John Gamble of Lincolnton, said yesterday, "I have been in touch with President Friday.

Through our conversations I feel there is no doubt that he understands the spirit and the intent of the legislative act, apparently the same way that I understood it."

"Further, he has reported to me that plans are underway immediately to expedite and to obtain possession of a dormitory and to refurbish and to enlarge the class and to move into a second class, in fact ahead of schedule," added Gamble.

When asked his opinion of the appointment of an outside director to take over the ECU program, Gamble indicated he felt Dr. R. Wallace Wooles, the former ECU head was entirely capable.

"I see nothing lacking in the qualifications of Dr.
Wooles in meeting the needs of his job in planning and taking the direction and coordinating the curriculum with Chapel Hill," Gamble stated.

However, the Representative added that if a full-time director were appointed from out of state then it would be "an acceptable compromise", and that he wanted to see action taken that would "get on with" the development of the medical school at East Carolina.

Speculation earlier in the week indicated UNC Medical School Dean Christopher Fordham may be trying to establish a first and fourth year medical school at ECU, with the final year of work seeing students perform their residency requirement at the local hospital.

Gamble commented on this statement by saying, "There was no question that when the people (legislators) voted on that particular item that they voted for what would be the establishment of the first two years of an equal basis that would ultimately be established as a four year school."

Commenting on the present controversy Gamble stated,
"I hope some of this might be the AP's (Associated Press's) willingness to try and stir up a controversy to sell newspapers. I still maintain the faith that the legislative act is going to be fulfilled by all parties."

25-GALLON CANS BEST

The recent notice from the City Public Works Department said each pickup time we are allowed three containers of 25 gallons each. If a person has only a 40-gallon container, will it be emptied? B.D.

It will be, Public Works Director Mayo Allen said. "We'd appreciate your replacing it as soon as possible, though," he said. "This is not a new rule, and it's made with good reason. Forty gallons of garbage can be heavy. I've had to report to the Department of Labor since Feb. 1, 43 man-days of labor lost because of seven physician-verified injuries to collectors caused by lifting too-heavy garbage cans.

"We encourage each man, if he finds a can that seems too heavy, to go get another man to help him, but, of course, you know this is taxpayers' money lost in the extra time spent.

"It's more considerate of the men and more efficient in terms of man-hours spent to provide the 25-gallon containers," he reiterated, "and we feel Greenville people will cooperate when they know the reasons."

Cyprus Fighting Goes On

By The Associated Press

Fighting raged on today between Turkish soldiers and Greek Cypriot forces despite the cease-fire agreement that was supposed to have taken hold on Cyprus.

Observation flights to map
the cease-fire lines on the Mediterranean island also were dis-
Security Council's failure to approve the Geneva accord because of a Soviet veto.

The fighting centered around the town of Lapithos, nine miles west of Kyrenia, and at the edge of an expanding Turkish bridgehead on the island's northern coast.

Shells were exploding constantly on the foothills above Lapithos.

Newsmen who reached the battle area said the Greek Cypriot national guard had retreated to the edge of Lapithos and that firing increased during the morning as Turkish forces moved down the slopes, apparently intending to occupy the town, which is the largest population center of Kyrenia district.

The Turkish attack on Lapithos and neighboring Kravas began Wednesday afternoon and continued during the night.

Greek national guard officers told newsmen that Cypriot commandos attacked the Turkish lines during the night and destroyed several tanks.

Newsmen saw one Turkish tank burning.

Mother Leaps, Breaks Ankles

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C.
(AP)—A mother who leaped from her burning home holding her seven-month-old son in her arms today was hospitalized with two fractured ankles and a spine injury.

Mrs. Ellen Boney jumped to the ground from a second story window of her split level home near Fayetteville as flames swept through four rooms and the garage.

The child apparently was not injured, but was taken to a hospital for X-rays.

Two rural fire companies brought the blaze under control.

Mrs. Boney's husband, David, was at work at Ft. Bragg at the time.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Oil Discord

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Finance Minister Hushang Ansary said today if Saudi Arabia decides to increase its oil production in order to lower oil prices, Iran and other oil producers will reduce their production accordingly.

"And if Mr. Yamani wishes to make a gift to the rich industrialized countries he can do so from his own treasury," Ansary said, referring to Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani.

Iran plans to produce 631,800 barrels of oil per day in 1975, increase this to 760,000 in 1976 through 1984, and then decrease it to 150,000 barrels per day in 1993.

Ansary spoke in a telephone conversation with
The Associated Press from the Caspian resort of Ramsar where he is attending a special cabinet meeting on Iran's fifth development plan.

Agnew Asks

To Own A Gun

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Spiro T.
Agnew has won special government permission to own a gun.

Government approval, granted Wednesday by the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, was necessary because of Agnew's status as a convicted felon.

In seeking permission for a firearm, Agnew claimed he had seen trespassers on his property and received threats. The request was granted after an investigation to determine whether he would be "a menace to society" if allowed to own a firearm, a bureau spokesman said.

He resigned as vice president
Oct. 10, 1973, when he pleaded no contest to income tax evasion.

Dr. Wooles Given New ECU Duties

ECU Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins this morning announced that Dr. R. Wallace Wooles, former head of the ECU Medical School, has been reassigned the position of associate vice-chancellor for Health Affairs.

Dr. Wooles will also hold a position as professor and chairman of the department of Pharmacology in the medical school at East Carolina.

This change in the medical school administration came after Dr. William Cromartie was made overall director of the ECU Medical School by Dean Christopher Fordham, head of the UNC Medical School yesterday. That appointment is expected to be temporary until a full-time director is named.

The Wooles announcement came this morning at a press conference from the office of Dr. Jenkins. After issuing the Statement, Dr. Jenkins stated "There have been statements attributed to Dean Fordham and others that we have not been cooperating," in the development of the medical school at East Carolina.

"This simply is not true,
and I have asked Dean Fordham or anyone else who makes such charges to document them," said Jenkins.

The executive committee of the ECU Board of Trustees has approved Dr. Jenkins recommendation that Wooles be appointed to his new position. It has been forwarded to the Board of Governors.

In announcing his resignation, as head of the ECU Med School, Wooles states, "It is not without regret that I submit this resignation. For four long and difficult years we have worked continually to develop and expand the medical school. I acknowledge with thanks the
administration as we all have worked toward a common goal of providing increased numbers of physicians to help meet the needs of the people of North Carolina."

In concluding his statement, Dr. Jenkins said
"I want to assure you that there will be a first rate
medical school at East Carolina University."

Telephone Directories Using Speight Painting

A famous painting by North Carolina artist Francis Speight will become a familiar sight in more than 900,000 homes and offices during the next couple of years.

A reproduction of Speight's painting, "Sans Souci Ferry," adorns the cover of 21 different directories now being issued in exchanges served by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co., according to B.C. Dixon of Rocky Mount, the firm's directory manager.

Dixon and Don Collier,

Greenville CT&T manager, presented an 18x24 inch rendering of the painting to East Carolina University Chancellor Leo W. Jenkins Wednesday on Speight's behalf. Speight is artist-in-residence at ECU and is teaching this summer in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

The original of "Sans Souci Ferry" hangs in the North Carolina Museum of Art, Raleigh. It is a scene on the Cashie River near Windsor in Bertie County, Speight's birthplace and childhood home.

Dr. Jenkins said it was "singularly appropriate to choose a painting by such a native genius as Francis Speight" for the cover of telephone directories serving most of the Eastern North Carolina region. "This will bring an outstanding example of art by a native son into our homes and places of work and I commend the telephone company for its choice."

Collier, making the presentation, said delivery of the new directories has begun and should be completed by August 15.

Four Killed By Plane's Crash

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP)—A Navy plane which officials said was practicing touch-and-go landings crashed at the Elizabeth City Coast Guard Air Base Wednesday, killing four persons, including one of the two men aboard the ill-fated plane, and injuring more than a dozen persons.

A witness said the Navy twin engine turboprop TE2A Hawkeye trainer apparently suffered a power loss and skidded off a runway into a maintenance building, touching off an explosion.

Three of the dead were identified as Joe Spruill, Gilbert Spitzer and Maylon Jones, all of Elizabeth City and employed at the base.

A Naval spokesman in Norfolk, Va., where the plane was attached, said a lieutenant commander student pilot was killed. His name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The pilot, identified as Lt. (j.g.) Helmut Christian Buquor of Fairfax, Va., survived. He was reported to have sustained chest and leg injuries.

A spokesman at Albemarle Hospital in Elizabeth City said two of the injured were admitted in satisfactory condition and 11 were treated and released.

Officials said a number of others were treated and released at the Coast Guard base infirmary.

The plane was attached to Airborne Early Warning Squadron 120 at the Norfolk Naval Air Station.

Leo Druelinger, an electronics technician at the Coast Guard base, said the plane had touched down and was pulling back up just prior to the crash.

"It looked like he lost power on his left engine. He came off the runway and skidded across the grass and crashed into the building. A couple of minutes later there was an explosion and the building was engulfed in flames," Druelinger said.

Just Wishes It Never Happened

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace says "it would be a traumatic experience for the nation to have a president impeached."

But Wallace added, in his first public comment on the impeachment proceedings, he doesn't mean to imply that he thinks the impeachment process should be abandoned.

"I just wish the things they are charging President Nixon with had never happened," he said.

Overrun 2 Viet Posts

—DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP)—North Vietnamese forces apparently overran two government positions today near Que Son, the fourth district town being threatened in the northern coastal region below Da Nang.

The two posts southwest of Que Son were attacked about half an hour apart, and radio contact was lost with both. One was manned by 400 men and the other by about 100, and there was no word of the garrisons.

The Saigon command reported attacks continued around Thuong Duc, Duc Duc and Dai Loc, the three besieged district towns southwest of Da Nang. North Vietnamese and Viet Cong gunners poured more than 400 rounds of rockets and mortars into government positions, killing eight government soldiers and wounding 33, the command said.

On the east central coast, three rockets hit Qui Nhon, the country's third largest city, killing three children and wounding eight other civilians, a communique said. The city has a population of more than 200,000.

The command also reported that the North Vietnamese overran an outpost in Kontum province, in the central highlands, but said government reinforcements retook it within a few hours. In Pleiku province in the highlands, about 100 Viet Cong attacked a hamlet guarded by 35 government troops, killed 16 civilians and wounded 20, the command said.

Russian Poet Being Treated

MOSCOW (AP)—Yevgeny Yevtushenko, the 41-year-old Russian poet, has been hospitalized for inflammation of the heart sac, Soviet sources report.

The sources said on Wednesday that Yevtushenko entered the hospital after becoming ill while on vacation earlier this month at a Black Sea resort. He is expected to remain in the hospital through the end of the month.

Checkup On 'Smuggling'

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The Costa Rican government says it is going ahead with its investigation of a report that a large quantity of arms was smuggled into the country for American financier Robert L. Vesco even though Vesco has denied the report.

"I'm not persecuting anyone. I'm simply investigating in order to avoid injustices," Public Security Minister Marjo Charpentier said Wednesday night.

"Mr. Vesco is a foreigner living in Costa Rica, and he must respect the laws of this country."

Vesco sent a letter to Charpentier asserting that the smuggling charge was "ridiculous and absurd."

Sources in Washington told The Associated Press Monday night that a plane belonging to an associate of Vesco brought the arms and a consignment of prostitutes to Costa Rica for the financier, who fled the United States three years ago to escape various civil and criminal court actions.

Gov. Holshouser 'Embarrassed' By Investigation Of A Newsmen

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser says he was embarrassed to learn that a state employee had made an unofficial investigation during off duty hours into the background of a Raleigh News and Observer reporter.

Holshouser said in a prepared statement Wednesday he had apologized to the reporter, Daniel C. Hoover.

"Sometimes, it's pretty embarrassing to have to stand up and say 'somebody pulled a dumb stunt,' but this is the only way I know to play it straight with the people," Holshouser said.

At the time of the inquiry,

Hoover was reporting on the fight between Holshouser and another faction in the Republican party for control of the state party machinery.

"While this inquiry was not illegal, I consider it improper," the governor stated.

"No investigation—official or otherwise—of any reporter has ever been ordered by me or my office, nor will I ever order such an inquiry," he said.

Holshouser issued the statement in response to a report in The Greensboro Daily News Wednesday about the activities of the Enforcement and Theft Division of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The report contained previously published information about the division's purchase of an automatic weapon and tape recording devices concealed in wrist watches.

Holshouser said that when he heard of the purchases, "I immediately ordered them disposed of. This was done."

The newspaper also reported on an investigation of an alleged planting of drugs in the car of an Enforcement and Theft Division agent. The governor said he had ordered an investigation as "quietly as possible, recognizing that innocent parties could be hurt. Neither the department investigation nor the SBI inquiry could determine who planted the illegal drugs."

The governor's office said it had found no evidence to substantiate another allegation in the report concerning an investigation into the background of Ned Cline, a reporter for The Greensboro Daily News.

Holshouser denied that former state Ports Authority Director James W. Davis had been forced to resign because of an 11-year-old traffic violation.

"That just isn't so," the governor said. Sources in the governor's office stated Davis was replaced principally because the ports system was losing money.

Garcia was charged with failing to reduce his speed in order to avoid an accident.

An auto operated by Billie S. Trevathan of 1908 Fairview Way received an estimated $300 damage while an auto operated by Carolyn Evans Rose of 1233-F Patrick Circle was not damaged in a 6:05 p.m. accident on E. Tenth Street.

Trevathan was charged with exceeding a safe speed due to conditions.

Greenville Boulevard. The Short auto received an estimated $200 damage and the Winstead vehicle received an estimated $350 damage.

Cover Girl Looks Forward To Marriage

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The scene may be on a romantic beam in this year's newly selected 1974 Cover Girl, pretty Sheri Dolph of Ontario, Calif., is an indication. She writes love songs, likes to have boys open doors for her, might like to have lived in the gala times of "Gone with the Wind" (without the war), and she's not only eagerly looking forward to marriage — "I'm really close" — she says, but her plans include "a feminine bridal outfit."

She also looks forward to having at least one girl and one boy, "and if I don't get one of each I'll try again."

And she'll have a child four years after she gets married, says the brown-haired, blue-eyes, soon-to-be-18-year-old. At the finals in New York she was designated as Cover Girl in the 13th annual competition to find the girl who "typifies the American ideal of charm, personality, perfect grooming, fresh good looks and character."

Sheri plans to go to California Polytechnic University in Pomona where she hopes to study music. She has won a piano award at a music camp, but wasn't really involved in music at Chaffey High School. Her goal is to write music for movies or commercials. But she also might like to work for a fashion magazine.

"I like to write love songs and I've written a lot of them," she says. She once won an award for one, although she hasn't really given the songs names. They are recurrent musical themes of a young girl in love, she says.

She and her fiancé, John McMurray, will have a garden wedding, she says. There no doubt will be flower girls and the works and she'll hope for the traditional wedding presents.

"I'm hoping to combine a career and motherhood — maybe do some piano teaching and that sort of thing," she explained. But she isn't sure.

"My boy friend has a lot of old-fashioned morals. He's a lot of fun though, likes to do all sorts of things and enjoys interesting places. Right now he is water skiing on the Colorado River so he doesn't know I've won the contest unless he has called my parents."

Sheri was being interviewed at the excitingly decorated hair salon of Louis Guy D in New York. It is done in colorful reds, yellows and so on, but Sheri wasn't up to the flashy decor. The whirlwind activities and being selected Cover Girl had put such a strain on her emotions that her smiles ranged from weakly pleasant to gently pleasant. But the nervousness was nothing new. She "had been scared" when she won a regional designation.

"My hair was down to my waist when I came East, but I like it short," she said of her new hairdo. "I might let it grow for the wedding though. John didn't seem to like the idea of the short hair when I told him. Most men like long hair, but usually they like long blonde hair which I never had."

John, 21, works for a construction company and has plans to own his own business. She's already thinking about the kind of home they'll have in terms of "lots of indoor plants and, hopefully, a swimming pool." Her favorite color is yellow so it will be a "sunshine house."

Although the women's movement hasn't changed her ideas, many of them old-fashioned, she supports the Equal Rights Amendment because "thousands of women might benefit from the educational opportunities." A speaker from the National Organization for Women persuaded a lot of males at her high school that "Women's Lib isn't just a lot of ladies burning their bras." Many are working hard to achieve fairness for women, she says.

The $1,000 she won in the contest is going into the bank to be added to another $1,000 she has saved working in a variety of jobs — baby sitting, giving piano lessons, the local department store. The store job has made her aware of changing fashions. But "John has good taste in clothes" and she respects his suggestions.

In addition to the winning check and other awards — makeup, a new hairdo, a fashion ensemble and a savings bond — provided to all semifinalists, Sheri's face will appear on the cover of the October issue of Co-ed, one of the sponsors of the annual contest. She'll also be photographed for a national four-color advertisement for a product of another sponsor, the Noxell Corp.

How does she care for her pretty complexion, now golden-tan?

"I use hot water and soap, rinsing it off with cold water and I use astringent and moisturizing lotion when it is needed."

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

Speaking of minority groups, my husband has just informed me that a little-noted band of oppressed people in this country is becoming quite militant—the Left-Handers of America.

They are that brave little bunch of pilgrims who pledge allegiance backwards, take 20 minutes to screw in a lightbulb and always get seated at the left end of the dinner table or must register their elbows with the police as a deadly weapon.

I have first-hand information on the subject of "lefties" because my husband and I have a mixed marriage. I am an Orthodox right-hander and he is a Latter-day Leftie. It hasn't been easy, but we've made it work.

He endures shifting gears with his right hand and I bear the frustration of scouring the city for left-handed bowling shoes for his birthday.

He got used to shaking hands with his wrong hand, while I put up with playing tennis with him in which I think I'm hitting to his weak backhand and it is his powerful forehand.

The other day as he went crazy trying to get a right-handed twist wire off the bread he snapped, "It won't always be like this. One of these days..."

"Are you on your Leftie crusade again where all the left-handed people unite and declare war on right-handers?"

"This may seem humorous to you," he growled, "but how would you like to go through life using scissors that don't fit... turning off the water spigot when you think you're turning it on... putting stamps in the upper right-hand corner, driving on the right side of the road... reading a right-handed newspaper, starting the power mower on the right side and having your life dominated by a right-handed guitar. Face it! I am persecuted by right-handers!"

"Will you get hold of yourself?" I ordered. "Things are getting better for left-handers and you know it. Many firms are beginning to employ left-handers. Marriages are flourishing between the hands. And the other day a right-hander even took a left-hander to lunch!"

"Big deal!" sulked my husband. "I'll bet the knife was to the right of the plate."

Mother Respects Daughter's Attitude

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of two and grandmother of none (so far), may I jump into the "to-have-or-not-to-have-children" issue?

When anyone asks my daughter (who's been married for four years) whether she plans to have any children, she says: "We're not ready for children yet. Children are great, but one you have them, if you find out that motherhood isn't all it's cracked up to be, you can't send 'em back."

I think her attitude is far more realistic than the girls who get all dewy-eyed over tiny babies—until they spit up, wet their diapers and cry all night.

I know. My children were no picnic to raise, and I admire my daughter and others in her generation who are wise enough to do their growing up before they have children of their own to bring up.

MRS. S. IN VA.

DEAR MRS. S.: Right on! Nothing is sadder than seeing children trying to bring up children.

DEAR ABBY: Now I've heard everything. Some woman out in California was so appalled by animals living in "sin" that she has founded The First Religion For Animals. She recently "married" two poodles, so now I suppose she can sleep better knowing that whatever these dogs do is legal, and therefore respectable.

Abby, do you actually believe that dogs are ashamed of anything they do, and that it makes a difference to them if they are "married" or not?

Puzzled in Pittsburgh

DEAR PUZZLED: A "marriage ceremony" won't mean a thing to a couple of poodles, because dogs are not ashamed of their natural biological urges, which is more than I can say for the lady in California. Her "marrying" the dogs will help HER—not them.

DEAR ABBY: My son is being married. His mother and I have been divorced for two years, after 26 years of marriage. She still hasn't married the loverboy who broke up our home.

I have had no contact with my "ex" since our divorce, and although I've forgiven her, I don't care if I never see her again.

I am informed that Loverboy will be at the wedding. I don't wish to shake hands with either him or her.

Wouldn't it simplify matters if I just stayed away? Any suggestions?

MIDWESTERNITE

DEAR MID: If you want to go to your son's wedding, why let Loverboy keep you away? You needn't shake hands with anyone. Keep a comfortable distance, and if you meet head-on, give them a polite nod, and keep walking.

When I came upon the word, whose meaning I did not know, I immediately got out my hernia edition of Webster's New International Dictionary, and looked it up.

I then telephoned a dozen erudite friends, NOT TO LEARN WHAT THE WORD MEANT, BUT TO ASK IF THEY HAD EVER HEARD OF IT.

All were nescient! But after admitting their nescience, each one reached for his dictionary, and looked up the word while still on the telephone.

Am I vindicated?

A Solemn And Historic Vote

It was a solemn and historic moment when the House Judiciary Committee voted last week to recommend impeachment of the president of the United States.

Obviously the Congressmen whose duty it became to take the first step in the impeachment proceedings felt their responsibility very strongly. Some were emotional as they cast their ballots for impeachment. Without doubt all of them were well aware that they were proceeding on a course that had been followed only once before in United States history.

The congressmen were also aware that all of the talk, investigation and debate that had been going on for months was at an end; that their action was D-Day.

Later votes taken this week, of course became more routine and some of the impeachment articles were turned down by the committee.

In many nations, governments fall on a vote of no confidence, but for our country the president's term is fixed for four years and only death or the rare procedure of impeachment can remove him.

There had to be misgivings among the committee members as they voted. There had to be concern about setting a new precedent which could possibly shackle future presidents in carrying out their duties.

We believe these committee members put their concern for the country above partisan considerations as they voted on the impeachment article. For most of them, it was the most important decision they would ever have to make in its effect on the future of the nation. Now the impeachment process has been set in motion and it will end only with a future adverse vote or the removal of the president of the United States.

A Major Corporation Becomes Local Citizen

Boise Cascade Corp. has announced plans for construction of a plant here to make composite cans for Procter and Gamble's Pringles Potato Chips.

The 50,000 square foot plant will be located near the new P&G plant north of Greenville. It will begin production probably next summer with an employment of around 75.

Boise Cascade is one of the nation's major corporations and Pitt County welcomes the new facility.

Adult Status Seen Goal

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—High school students want to be recognized and dealt with as young adults who are expected to make adult decisions, and until they are so recognized, North Carolina schools must be prepared to expect "non-adult" behavior.

That is the conclusion of a group of students, teachers, parents, educators exploring the area of rights and responsibilities of students.

Unless students receive adult status, "schools may expect increased demands for student involvement in decision-making and a recognition of students' basic rights," a report by the study group notes.

Contained in a report to Schools Supt. A. Craig Phillips on methods of revamping secondary education, the section on students' rights includes this recommendation: "That the State Agency take the initiative in assisting each (local) school system in developing a statement of a students' bill of rights."

A Bill Of Rights

The recommendation goes on to spell out a sample bill of rights including, among others, the following:

—Freedom of speech, assembly, petition, and appearance are constitutional rights of all students.

—Students have the right to organize and assemble for discussion of critical issues, and to demonstrate peacefully.

—Personal possessions of students and their lockers may be searched (only) with permission and in the presence of such students.

—Student opinions concerning scheduling of outside speakers for assemblies or forums, even speakers that seem unpopular, should be considered. Attendance at such programs should be on a voluntary basis.

—All students must have the right to vote, hold office, and participate in extracurricular activities. This right cannot be abridged because of race, sex, creed, religion, national origin, beliefs, previous records, grades, or marital status.

—Students have the right to participate fully in the development of local school rules and regulations related to conduct and disciplinary procedures.

—Students have the right to appeal through an orderly process.

Given adult responsibilities and recognition, the study group concluded, students will respond as adults. "The first step toward assisting students to recognize their obligations is to state them in clear, unequivocal language."

The report suggests local committees of students, parents, faculty, and administrators to draw up a code to be posted, published, and distributed to every student as "one of the surest ways to achieve balance in this significant area of maturation."

Two members of the General Assembly, members of the task force on secondary education, dissented in the portion of the report on a students' bill of rights.

"For no other recommendation did the task force list specific concepts for inclusion. We fear that those listed will be considered as "The Bill of Rights" without further study. We doubt that sufficient time and input from appropriate individuals and groups have gone into the formulation of these stated concepts," a statement included in the report from State Sen. Willard J. Blanchard of Salemburg, and State Rep. Benjamin D. Schwartz of Wilmington noted.

The recommendations on students' rights resulted partially from a survey of several hundred high school students, and several students were members of the task force.

In discussing ways to improve the student's role in school, one student had this to say: "Make school a place where students are encouraged to express themselves, a place where they can receive some of the love and understanding that they, in fact, are not getting at home...there is more to education than disciplinarian brain-stuffing."

Detroit's School Case

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

The Supreme Court took a constructive step last week toward bringing a little common sense to the lunatic realms of school desegregation. In the process, the court moved away from the racism that had begun to pervade this field of the law.

The court's 5-4 decision in the Detroit school case is wrongly described as a new landmark in constitutional law. No new constitutional principles were fashioned. The court did not turn, its back upon the principles enunciated long ago in Brown v. Board of Education. Those principles stand.

What the court held in the Detroit case, and all that it held, is that remedies for unconstitutional school segregation must be applied within the school districts in which the constitutional violations occur. There is nothing very remarkable in this. It is patently unfair to punish the children of suburban school districts by compelling them to be bused long distances, like so many head of cattle, merely to promote desegregation somewhere else.

The majority opinion, written by Chief Justice Burger, applies on its face only to "inter-district" proposals. The opinion also serves to squelch some of the dizzier theories of "racial balance" that were gaining ground in the lower courts. In Detroit, the district court had undertaken to assure that "no school, grade, or classroom" would have a disproportionate number of black or white pupils. But the Constitution, said Burger, does not require any such proportions. The numbers game is no longer to be played.

It is high time, in my own view, that the court made this clear. In recent years a tendency has developed for courts to treat children solely in terms of their race. From the most tender ages, children are assigned, bused, reassigned, shifted, paired, clustered, zoned and classified for one reason only: John is white; Mary is black. An awareness of race is thus bound to permeate the child's consciousness from kindergarten. The most pernicious practices of South African apartheid could not promote a more pervasive racism than U.S. district judges have promoted through their desegregation decrees.

Remarkably, even the four dissenters in the Detroit case seemed to agree that "racial balance" remedies have gone too far. Justice Byron White wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justices Douglas, Brennan and Marshall joined. White made the point that courts must not lose sight of the central educational function of the schools.

"Viewed in this light," he said, "remedies calling for school zoning, pairing, and pupil assignments become more and more suspect as they require that school children spend more and more time in buses going to and from school and that more and more educational dollars be diverted to transportation systems."

Another bizarre notion, accompanying the "racial

EDMISTEN, POLITICS

The Key Race For N.C.

By JOHN KILGO

For weeks Rufus Edmisten kept telling members of the State Democratic Executive Committee that they must nominate a man for attorney general who could win in November.

After Edmisten won that battle last weekend, he told Democrats assembled in Raleigh: "I assure you I will be elected attorney general in November."

At the tender age of 33, Rufus Edmisten is a seasoned and wise politician. He's worked at the elbow of Senator Sam Ervin, with an eye always on North Carolina, where he planned to return and run for office. He won the plum last Saturday because he was as organized as a top orchestra and as relentless as the sunset.

Weeks ago Edmisten told me: "I'm the only candidate who gave up his job to seek this position, and I know I'd win if we were going before the voters."

Edmisten's campaign among Executive Committee members was complicated by his wife's serious illness in a Washington hospital. He left Raleigh early Sunday to spend time with her.

The nomination of Edmisten sets up a thoroughly interesting battle in November between him and Republican Jim Carson, a former Appeals Court Judge and a former legislator from Charlotte.

Both men are young and energetic. They enjoy the challenge of head-to-head political combat and feel at home shaking hands and making over babies.

It should also be noted without question that both parties put this race up there as being vitally important to them in the future of Tar Heel politics.

The Republicans, for instance, are not dumb. In their private moments they know they will have to pull off an upset of gigantic proportions to win the U.S. Senate race. Most do not feel it can be done, regardless of their optimistic public statements. A Carson victory would give the Republicans a foothold in state politics that would indeed be hard to overcome. Democrats know that Carson is an able man, and if he's elected in November, it will take a dynamite charge to defeat him in 1976.

The Democrats, on the other hand, know that they must not allow the Republicans to get control of the Governor's Mansion and the Justice Department. Watergate and the Nixon impeachment story have given the party the best chance in years of uniting and winning everything in sight.

Indeed, the Democrats showed remarkable restraint in nominating Edmisten last weekend. There was little bitterness apparent on the floor, and after it was over the losers seemed genuine in wishing Edmisten the best in November.

This means, of course, that money will be raised for both candidates. Gov. Holshouser will throw his entire office behind Carson, and look for Robert Morgan to boost Edmisten's candidacy at every opportunity. This one race might well decide the future—at least the immediate future—of state politics in North Carolina.

Strength For Today

RELIGION IS FOR USE, NOT CONTEMPLATION

A Scotsman was once telling his minister about a trip that he was going to take to the Holy Land. "When I am there," he said, "I shall read the Ten Commandments aloud from the top of Mt. Sinai." The minister said with a little smile on his lips, "If you take my advice, Sandy, you'll bide at home and keep them."

It is sometimes difficult for people fully to realize that what the Lord intends for us to do with religious truth is to use it. Many people reverse the Bible, some even go so far as to read it. But relatively few people really take the teaching of the Bible seriously. Many are willing to say "Lord, Lord"; but there are few who in season and out of season try to do the will of God.

We thank our creeds with monotonous regularity. We recite in chorus the different petitions of the Lord's Prayer. These things are full of life, so vibrantly vital that if we took them seriously they would change us and the world in which we live.

Other Editors Say Gold Ownership

(The Wilson Times)

Gold, that precious metal which citizens would like to own, is not within reach as of now. Despite widespread anticipation that it will soon come to pass it is not available now.

Treasury Secretary Simon has reversed his position and has discouraged the House of Representatives from approving a gold ownership bill to match the one passed recently by the Senate.

An attempt by Congressman Phillip Crane of Illinois to add an amendment to the Controversial IDA bill setting a December 31 deadline for public gold ownership was ruled out of order by subcommittee chairman Henry Gonzalez.

President Nixon wants to keep the decision-making power in his hands—he can allow ownership of gold anytime by executive order. But many executive observers say that he will never make that decision, in light of the banking crisis. U.S. citizens will never be given an option of withdrawing their money from banks to buy gold.

The International Moneyline, a prestigious financial newsletter, reported the result of a special survey conducted last May.

The question was should U.S. citizens be allowed to own gold? The answer from a cross section of the population, a loud "yes," by 91 per cent.

Gold is considered as near the perfect haven from inflation. Gold is speculation pure and simple and it is no more safe than other commodities in which we invest.

As to speculation, Americans do speculate openly in gold, though not in plain gold bullion. The New York dealers in gold coin report daily thousands of transactions worth millions of dollars, and their bid and ask prices are reported daily.

There are three points to remember. There is doubt public ownership of gold will be authorized by this administration.

Secondly, the fortunate Americans who have the surplus cash are already hedging in gold and in the several indirect forms available.

And thirdly, gold will continue to climb upward to new record heights.

Losses By Car Makers

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN

Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's Big Three auto makers blame rapid inflation for trimming profits by $1.8 billion during the first half of 1974.

For the consumer, the problems of the mammoth firms will translate into price increases on new models in September.

Ford, which rounded out the first-half picture for the industry Wednesday with a reported 65 per cent earnings decline compared with the same period last year, says it plans an 8 per cent increase in wholesale prices for the opening of the 1975 model year.

The other makers plan similar increases, while leaving open the possibility that price tags will swell as the model year proceeds.

Taken together, the Big Three's first-half earnings were at their lowest level in 13 years.

Ford reported earnings of $291 million on sales of $11.4 billion, down from last year's $755 million profit on revenues of $12.4 billion.

General Motors last week listed first-half earnings off 73 per cent at $426 million on sales of $15.2 billion, compared with $1.6 billion profits on sales of $19.2 billion in 1973.

Chrysler's profits were $29.4 million on sales of $5.7 billion, down 85 per cent from profits of $198 million on sales of $6.1 billion in the first half of 1973.

Total Big Three earnings were $746 million on sales of $32.3 billion, down from profits of $2.55 billion on sales of $37.7 billion a year earlier.

Profits were down from 8.4 per cent of sales in the first half of 1973 to only 2.3 per cent this year, and makers say they have some ground to make up in pricing after a year first under federal controls and then a voluntary price-limiting agreement.

Ford chairman Henry Ford II and President Lee Iacocca vowed Wednesday to recoup lost ground in the coming months.

"This deterioration (in profits) primarily reflects our in-

To the editor:

I think it would be for the betterment of Pitt County if the County Commissioners could have their meetings at night so more of the working people could attend these sessions. Most people who work cannot leave work the first Monday of every month at 10 a.m. to see how their county is run.

It would also be nice if the County Auditor's office would make available copies of the county budget so working people could take one home to study and see how their money is spent. They could then return it in a specified time. (This could be operated similar to a lending library.) Working people do not have the time to spend a good portion of several days at the courthouse studying this document. They could make a list of any questions they might have and I'm sure some of the employees in this office would be glad to answer them.

I believe the citizens of this county want to take a more active part in their government, and I believe the above would give them that chance.

Say None Immune To Inflation

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The OECD has issued its economic outlook for member countries through mid-1975, and its main conclusion needs little elaboration:

"Cooperation and consultation between governments have never been more necessary than they are today, given the unaccustomed and troubled waters on which the world economy is now embarked."

The 24-member organization, made up of the world's most active trading nations, didn't spare the details: inflation at "very high rates," growth prospects "uncertain," big oil payments deficits, rising labor costs.

In short, a grim outlook from this, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, formed in 1960 to seek for its members the highest sustainable growth and employment, rising living standards and financial stability.

The brightest aspect of the outlook appeared to be for commodity prices, with the OECD forecasting a "marked improvement" by the end of the year. Even this good news was followed by a "however."

Labor costs, the forecaster stated, "will almost certainly cause increasing pressure on the price level as wage earners seek to re-establish former living standards and strive for at least some growth in real earnings."

Therefore, the statement continues, it is expected that "in most member countries wage pressure will produce a substantially higher rise in unit labor costs than in 1973."

No nation, the OECD makes clear, is immune from the ravages of inflation, the disruptions resulting from shortages, the demands of citizens for a higher standard of living. In these respects, the world is one.

Cataract Surgery For Young Siberian Tiger

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — A 10-month-old Siberian tiger has undergone cataract surgery, just like humans, more or less.

The 169-pound animal was strapped on his back to a table on Wednesday, draped with gray-surgical sheets and thoroughly anesthetized—very thoroughly anesthetized.

The tiger lives at Lincoln Park Zoo and is one of a few hundred of the endangered species remaining in the wild and in captivity.

After being sedated, he was taken—like his brother in January—to the University of Illinois medical center, where a team of doctors and nurses awaited him.

Surgery was delayed more than an hour because the medical team had trouble finding a vein in which to inject the anesthetic.

After that, everything went smoothly, with the tiger only occasionally twitching a paw or breathing heavily.

Dr. Edward Cotlier, professor of ophthalmology at the university, operated first on the left eye. Then Dr. Samuel J. Vainisi, a Green Bay, Wis., veterinarian, operated on the right eye.

All the while, Dr. Barbara Stein, also a veterinarian, listened to the tiger's heart through her stethoscope and felt his pulse while anesthetic dripped into a vein in the right hind leg.

Vainisi explained the operation, which could be seen on a television screen as it proceeded.

The doctors looked through magnifying lenses as they did their work, first making a tiny incision in the eye, then injecting an instrument to remove the cataract.

The actual removal took only about six minutes for each eye. The unnamed tiger will be fitted with a big projecting collar so he cannot scratch his eyes while they are healing. His keepers will have to put drops

Despite controls and price-limiting agreements, prices of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler cars and trucks increased by record amounts in the last 12 months.

Turks Feel A War Letdown

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — "What kind of war was this?" a Turkish taxi driver asked angrily. "We should have fought a few more days and taken the whole island."

The cease-fire agreements for Cyprus have brought a feeling of letdown to many Turks.

"In the last few days, the nation found its identity," said Gunduz Kilic, manager of the Turkish national soccer team.

"For Turks, fighting is a celebration," said the wife of Lt. Col. Cevdet Ayken, who was wounded in Cyprus.

The Turkish war fever is deep-seated, stretching back to the 10th century, when the Ottoman nomad warriors charged out of Central Asia. The Ottoman Empire they founded peaked in the 17th century and stretched from Budapest to Mecca.

"We have so many war heroes in our history that if a monument was built to each, there would be more statues than people in Turkey," the newspaper Zafar (Victory) commented.

Streets and schools all over Turkey are being named for soldiers killed in the Cyprus fighting.

Private donations to the armed forces since the invasion now amount to more than $7.4 million. A businessman in Yozgat gave more than $5,500. He said, however, that if he were drafted and sent to Cyprus, he would give $18,500 and his new Chevrolet.

The son of Col. Ibrahim Karaoglanoglu, killed leading the Turkish assault on Kyrenia, told one newspaper that his father "has been promoted to the highest rank in the Turkish armed forces — shehid." Shehid is the Turkish word for a soldier fallen in battle, assured of eternal bliss in a Moslem heaven.

No status in Turkey is higher than the war veteran's.

The last time Turkish soldiers were in a major conflict was in Korea 23 years ago. About 20,000 Turks fought; there were 2,700 Turkish casualties.

"If every Turk who says he fought in Korea actually fought there, we could have overrun North Korea with the Turkish brigade alone," said one civil servant. "In 10 years, it will be the same with the Cyprus force."

He had been sleeping there on occasion because of a series of breaks.

Sherri Teresa Guyer, 18, of the State Road Community near Elkin was fatally wounded.

Officers said they later found a car belonging to her on an unpaved road a mile from the office.

During the day, Jimmy Wayne Luffman, 22, surrendered at his parents' home in a suburb of Elkin.

Tobacco Growers Finally See Prices They Wanted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Soaring tobacco prices are fattening the wallets of farmers who only a week ago were protesting that they faced economic disaster.

"We had some mighty happy farmers today," commented an official of the federal-state Market News Service in Georgia on a day which saw the average price top the long-sought dollar per pound mark.

Earlier, farmers had talked of blocking warehouses and refusing to sell. Suits were filed in federal courts in Kentucky and South Carolina, accusing tobacco firms of conspiring to fix prices. Smiliar suits were threatened elsewhere.

A group of farmers in North Carolina burned a portion of their crops last week to demonstrate their unhappiness with prices.

Upsetting to the growers was a 10 per cent increase in acreage quotas for this year's crops. They said they had been promised high prices, but at the same time the increased acreage had glutted the market, permitting buyers to bid low.

The planters also said greatly increased costs of production made higher prices mandatory if they were to stay in tobacco. Woodrow Leonard, a Lowndes County, Ga., grower was one of the protestors.

"That crowd in Washington went around the country telling us there was a worldwide tobacco shortage just to get us to plant more so the companies could pay less," he said.

Another commented, "It's the old supply and demand system. We have too much tobacco and they (buyers) know we have to sell it somehow and they think we will accept anything they offer."

An example of the prices was the average on the Georgia-

4,070 Year-Old Bones Uncovered

SAN JUAN, Argentina (UPI) — The bones of a man who lived in Argentina 4,070 years ago were found by a group of archeologists from the University of San Juan at a site 730 miles west of Buenos Aires.

The age of the discovery was established by Carbon 14 dating tests carried out at the Gakushuin University in Tokyo.

trading season—$94.89 per hundred pounds. Growers said they spent more than that producing the leaf.

Then apparently the protests began to be heard because prices suddenly jumped.

On the Georgia-Florida belt, the average Wednesday was $103.33. Selected grades hit $111.

The most dramatic increase was in Georgia and Florida but prices were climbing in other states as well, reaching as high as $101 in the North Carolina Middle Belt.

"I don't know what made the prices go up, but they did, and things are rosy at the moment," a spokesman for the

New Railroad In Alaska Planned

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Construction of about 500 miles of railroad through northwestern Alaska is planned by native corporations, the Alaska Railroad and potential users. The proposal calls for the line to terminate in the south at Lost River near the tip of the Seward Peninsula and wind north to the Kobuk area, ending at Cape Sabine on the Arctic Ocean coast.

Market News Service said. "We really have a different picture today than we did a week or 10 days ago."

The farmer complaints also reached Washington where the House Agriculture Committee has approved a proposal which would raise the government's support price for flue-cured tobacco and burley tobacco by 10 per cent.

The present support price on flue-cured leaf is 83.3 cents a pound. The new price would be 91.6 cents.

Both burley and flue-cured tobacco are used in cigarettes and last year brought U. S. growers nearly $1.5 billion. And that was at much lower prices. Flue-cured in Georgia and Florida averaged but $87.72 last season, $15.61 per hundred pounds less than Wednesday's average.

New Hughes Suit Is Indicated

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government may slap the Howard Hughes empire with a civil suit in the same case that led to Hughes' indictment on criminal conspiracy and stock manipulation charges, according to knowledgeable sources.

Officials of the Securities and Exchange Commission told the Justice Department three weeks ago that they intended to file the suit regardless of whether Hughes was named in a criminal indictment, department sources said Wednesday.

An SEC spokesman declined comment.

The reclusive billionaire and three associates were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Las Vegas, Nev., on charges of wire fraud, conspiracy and stock manipulation.

They were accused of using illegal tactics to force the directors of Air West, a West Coast airline, to accept a Hughes company purchase offer.

On Dec. 31, 1968, the airline board reversed a position taken three days earlier and yielded to Hughes' terms. The Hughes Tool Co., now known as the Summa Corp., took over the airline.

The parallel Justice Department and SEC investigations have been marked by internal disputes about the strength of the case against Hughes and the most effective action to bring against him.

Hughes, who hasn't been seen in public for years, reportedly is living in the Bahamas under protection of an extradition agreement which could shield him from returning to trial in the United States.

Government prosecutors in Las Vegas are preparing to seek a court summons commanding Hughes' return. That would be the first step toward extradition proceedings.

If Hughes escapes extradition, the trial of the other three defendants could proceed. But the government couldn't touch Hughes unless he were subsequently apprehended in this country.

An SEC suit, making similar charges in a civil rather than a criminal proceeding, could present Hughes with a greater threat, although his personal liberty would not be at stake.

It was not clear whether the SEC intends to proceed against Hughes personally or only against his corporation. But a suit against the corporation could be tried without his presence and could yield harsh penalties.

An SEC suit also could conflict with the criminal proceedings, already bogged down in bureaucratic disputes.

Hughes first was indicted in the Air West case last December, but a federal judge threw out the charges a month later and gave the Justice Department until midnight Tuesday to renew them.

As the deadline approached, a dispute developed between top Justice Department officials in Washington and the U.S. attorney in Las Vegas, V. DeVoe Heaton.

Department officials reportedly felt Hughes should be omitted from the second indictment while Heaton took the opposite position.

The grand jury, the same panel which returned the initial indictment, apparently refused to exclude Hughes and Tuesday, after Justice Department officials took another look at the evidence and reached an agreement to include Hughes, the grand jury returned the indictment less than seven hours before the deadline.

Not Allowed To Perform

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Episcopal clergymen of eastern and central North Carolina have been told by their bishops not to allow any of the 11 women ordained as priests in Philadelphia last Sunday to perform any official duties.

The 11, the first women to enter to Episcopal priesthood, live in states outside North Carolina, but two are native Tar Heels: Carter Heyward, who was born in Charlotte 28 years ago, and Marie Mooresfield, formerly of Lexington. Both now live in New York.

Bishop Thomas A. Fraser of central North Carolina, has issued a position paper. It says, "It must be clear that the issue here is not the ordination of women to the priesthood, but the maintenance of good order and discipline in the church."

Bishop Hunley Elebash of eastern North Carolina, has issued a similar paper. Bishop George Henry of western North Carolina, says he is still considering what to do.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday. Supplies barely adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 59.80, medium whites 49.86, small whites 39.09.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, steadying after a week of deep decline.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 94 at 758.37, although losers maintained a 3-2 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading remained light. Brokers said the market was due for a pause after the slide that chopped nearly 50 points from the Dow in the five previous sessions.

They said short-covering, or the purchase of borrowed shares sold earlier in expectation of price declines, also appeared to prop up the market a bit.

Meanwhile, many investors were looking ahead to the weekly banking figures due after today's close from the Federal Reserve.

The figures provide information on loan demand and other credit market trends. Many investors have followed them closely in recent weeks for signs of where interest rates are headed.

Most issues showed only fractional changes today.

Eastman Kodak, the Big Board volume leader, was down 1/4 at 88 3/4.

Arkansas-Louisiana Gas, which reported sharply higher second quarter profits, was up 1/4 at 19 1/4.

Sears, Roebuck fell 1 3/4 to 65 1/4 on top of a 4-point slide Wednesday. Earlier in the week the big retailer estimated lower second quarter earnings.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite index of all its listed common stocks was off .15 at 41.40.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gave up .17 to 77.51. The Amex's most active issue was Standard Metals, up 1/4 at 6 1/4.

Farmville Leaf Prices Climb

FARMVILLE—Prices on the Farmville Tobacco Market continued to climb yesterday, with better quality grades being responsible for the highest averages of the season, Farmville Tobacco of Trade Sales Supervisor Louis N. Williams said.

Top price was $1 per pound. More lugs, cutters, and leaf grades accounted for the increase in quality. Volume of primings and nondescript showed a sharp decline on yesterday's sales.

Stabilization receipts accounted for $4.89 per cent of sales. Some 397,106 pounds were sold for $362,922 for an average of $91.39. To date, the local market has sold 3,857,064 pounds for $3,278,668, for an average of $85.00 per hundred pounds, Williams said.

Urge DST Suspending Talks Decree New Bank Report

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Midwest governors have urged the administration to drop year-round Daylight Saving Time and return to the old system of advancing the clock only from April to October.

The governors presented their plea to Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill on Wednesday on the closing day of the 1974 Midwest Governors' Conference.

Gov. Arthur A. Link of North Dakota and other chief executives said year-round DST forces schoolchildren to travel in darkness on their way to morning classes.

Sawhill defended the year-round plan, saying it has resulted in a "significant" energy saving of one-half of one per cent.

Sawhill told the governors they should pave the way for electric companies to charge higher rates to consumers. He said utility firms are in "disturbing financial trouble" and may not be able to build the nuclear generating plants needed to lessen U. S. dependence on foreign oil.

Sawhill said power companies have 100 nuclear plants on the drawing boards, but he said utilities are failing to attract investors because of low returns.

"There's no question" in my mind that the era of low cost energy is over," said Sawhill, adding that the long-range trends for all energy prices is upward.

SANFORD MEETING

RALEIGH (AP)—The second in a series of meetings was held here yesterday by supporters of former Governor Terry Sanford to discuss his possible candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations aimed at setting up diplomatic relations between the United States and East Germany have been suspended because of East German interference with access to West Berlin.

American officials told an East German delegation Wednesday that there was no point in their remaining in Washington awaiting an agreement as long as their government interferes with West German access to Berlin.

The message, in effect, means the suspension of negotiations which started in Washington July 15.

The talks seemed successful and by the end of last week there were strong indications that agreement would be reached this week on the opening of embassies and the exchange of ambassadors. Former Senator John Sherman Cooper, ambassador to India under President Eisenhower, has said he was contacted about the East Berlin post.

Despite the reported agreement on all major points the administration decided to send the East Germans packing when it became clear that their regime was determined to carry out its threat to prevent West German officials attached to a federal environmental agency from traveling to Berlin.

The East Germans, supported by the Soviets, said the opening of the environmental office was a violation of the 1971 four-power agreement on Berlin and they turned back an official assigned to the federal bureau.

Farm Boy Has Gone 'Long Way'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Millionaire soul singer Isaac Hayes, who grew up on a west Tennessee cotton farm and rose to riches on the theme from the movie "Shaft," has come a long way.

Hayes now drives a modified, gunmetal gray luxury automobile which contains two radio-telephones, two sunroofs, closed circuit television, a separate color television set, refrigerator, strobe "go-go lights" and special air conditioning ducts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's largest banks have been ordered by the government to begin making annual public reports of the stock transactions and holdings of their trust departments.

Comptroller of the Currency James E. Smith estimated Wednesday the rule will apply to 90 per cent of the bank trust department holdings in the nation.

Trust departments, whose activities are usually shielded from public view, can exert strong leverage over the stock market and corporate policies through the stocks they hold for pension funds and other trusts.

Institutional investors, such as bank trust departments, increased their share of dollar volume on the New York Stock Exchange over the last decade from 39 per cent to 68 per cent.

The new rule, applying to banks holding common or preferred stock valued at more than $75 million, will require annual reports of trust department stock holdings beginning December 31. At the same time, the trust departments would have to start reporting every three months on stock trades involving more than 10,000 shares or $500,000. Smith warned his agency will watch carefully to make sure that banks don't try to get around the rule by splitting big trades into smaller units.

Belmont Falls, 7-5, To West Asheville

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Rains rearranged the schedule in the Little League State Tournament, but not before defending champion West Asheville had won its way into the finals.

West Asheville downed Belmont, 7-5, to gain the finals against the winner of the South-west Forsythe-Havelock game. That contest got a half-inning in before it was called, and will be restarted this afternoon.

Today's game is scheduled for 5 p.m. at Elm Street Park, and the finals will now be held on Friday, also at 5 p.m. West Asheville will get a day of rest prior to the conclusion of the tournament, which sends the winner into the Southern Regionals.

West Asheville used good hitting and a five-run third inning to roll up a 5-3 advantage in the game, then they held off Belmont the rest of the way.

Despite a 12-strikeout effort by losing hurler Chris Manus, who gave up only six hits, West Asheville got the job done. Belmont outthit the mountaineer team, 9-6, but it didn't help them.

West Asheville pushed over two runs in the top of the first inning. John Hooker singled and Lee Edwards walked. Todd Winkler laid down a sacrifice bunt, but reached safely when the throw to first caromed off his arm. Hooker came in to score while the ball was being chased down. Stephen Davis then reached on another error, scoring Edwards.

Belmont came back with one in the bottom of the first. Charles James walked and moved up on a wild pitch and an out. He scored on Glenn Sparrow's single to left. Sparrow later moved to third, but died there.

Belmont charged ahead in the second, scoring two more runs for a 3-2 lead. Jeff Williams doubled off the left field fence and Larry Tribble beat out an infield hit. Todd Horne walked, loading the bases, and James hit into a fielder's choice, getting Tribble at third, but allowing Williams to score the tying run. Manus then helped his own cause with a double, scoring Horne for the go-ahead tally.

But it didn't last long as West Asheville broke it open with five third inning runs. Edwards singled and moved up on a passed ball. Jeffrey Zimmerman walked and Davis was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Mike Cassida hit back to third, and the ball was played to the plate, but muffed and kicked away, leaving Edwards safe. Zimmerman also came in as the ball was chased down. Dean Taylor singled in Davis, and Mark Innes got another hit, driving in Cassida and Taylor for a 7-3 lead.

Belmont offered a threat in the third, but got its other two runs in the fourth. Horne singled and James reached on an error, both advancing on a wild pitch. Robbie Suggs got an infield hit scoring Horne, and another infield blow, by J.J. Grier, brought in James.

Belmont got two on in the bottom of the sixth with two away, but an infield grounder ended their hopes.

Some Progress In Strike Talks

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations toward ending the 32-day-old National Football League player strike made their first real headway Wednesday, as chief federal mediator W.J. Usery supervised nearly 14 hours of discussions.

The talks, which began at 10 a.m. EDT, and paused only for a two-hour lunch break, were recessed at 1:50 a.m. EDT, today.

"There comes a point when it's best to break it off, and I thought it was the best time now," a tired Usery said.

The groups were to return to the bargaining table at 2 p.m. EDT, this afternoon.

Usery would not elaborate on progress made in the session, during which he had met separately with representatives of the NFL Players Association and NFL Management Council. The groups held face-to-face discussions for only one hour and 45 minutes.

"We have been talking on all the issues—we've been talking long and hard," said Usery. "The logic is that now that we've got them talking, there's a chance to consummate an agreement."

"We had suggestions back and forth. When you go back and forth, you don't know where you stand."

But apparent progress had been made. Usery later told newsmen that "substantive issues had been discussed."

The statement apparently referred to the "freedom issues" which created the bargaining stalemate and led to the player strike that started July 1.

Today's talks marked the third consecutive day of negotiations, which were resumed after nine days of silence. Sources predicted today's session might go around the clock in an effort to reach an agreement.

Neither group would comment on Wednesday's meetings. It was understood that the NFLPA had not presented a counterproposal to the freedom demands, a condition considered necessary for serious bargaining. A source close to the strike talks said Usery's goal was to persuade each side to consider proposals that would neither be totally accepted nor rejected outright.

Reportedly, the joint sessions centered on revised economic conditions made by the players, who were accompanied by an actuary.

Meanwhile, the striking players received a boost from their working brothers on the baseball field.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, voiced his support for the football union and charged NFL owners with a failure to bargain in good faith.

But the NFL players' picket line continues to display gaps. Nearly 270 veterans, including 75 starters, have crossed the line. The latest dissenters from the position taken by the 1,200-member union were kicker Garo Yepremian, linebacker Mike Kolen and defensive back Tim Foley of Miami; safety Jack Mildren and linebacker Bob Geddes of New England; defensive tackle John Little of the New York Jets, and linebacker Don Rives of Chicago.

In another development, veteran tackle Steve Chomyszak was traded by the Cincinnati Bengals to the Buffalo Bills in exchange for a late round draft choice.

Perry Handed Fifth Defeat

It's catching in Boston.

For the second straight game between the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, a catcher committed a misplay that led to his team's undoing. Wednesday night Detroit was undone, 5-4.

With runners on first and second and two out in the Boston fourth, Rick Miller swung and missed for a third strike. But the ball bounced off catcher Gene Lamont's glove, hit his knee and rolled about 10 feet away.

Miller was safe at first and the Red Sox went on to score five runs, providing the cushion for Luis Tiant's 16th victory.

"He just kicked it with his knee," Detroit Manager Ralph Houk said of Lamont's passed ball. "It was just one of those things."

Tuesday night, with the score tied 5-5, two on and two out in the Detroit ninth, Boston catcher Tim Blackwell threw wild on an attempted pickoff at third. Two runs scored and the Tigers won 7-5.

In other AL action, the Baltimore Orioles topped Cleveland 7-4 as Gaylord Perry failed again to win No. 16; the Texas Rangers edged the Oakland A's 7-6; the California Angels trounced the Chicago White Sox 14-4; the New York Yankees edged the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3, and the Kansas City Royals nipped the Minnesota Twins 3-2.

Orioles 7, Indians 1
Bobby Grich and Don Baylor each singled home two runs in a five-run first against Perry as the Indians, second in the East, fell 2½ games behind

Boston. Perry, now 15-5, has not won since July 3, has lost four straight and has failed five times in the quest for No. 16.

Rangers 7, A's 6
Oakland scored six runs, four unearned, after an error by second baseman Len Randle, in the third inning for a 6-5 lead. The Rangers then tied it in the sixth. They won it in the eighth when Tom Grieve's sacrifice fly scored Alex Johnson.

Angels 14, White Sox 4
The Angels turned a 4-4 tie into rout by scoring five runs in each the seventh and eighth innings. Frank Robinson sparked the California attack, driving in three runs with two doubles. Dick Lange and Luis Quintana combined for a two-hitter—Bill Melton's three-run homer and Dick Allen's solo shot, his 27th.

Yankees 4, Brewers 3
The Yankees snapped a five-game winning streak, when Elliot Maddox scored from third in the eighth inning as Walt Williams grounded forced Roy White at second.

Royals 3, Twins 2
Amos Otis gave the Royals their victory with a two-run homer in the ninth. Larry Hisle's RBI double in the sixth had given the Twins a 2-1 lead against Steve Busby, 15-9.

Greenville Swimmers Top Seyboro Tankers

The Greenville Swim Club rolled up a close 212-203 win over Seyboro at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, Goldsboro, Wednesday for its second dual meet victory. The win evens the team's record 2-2.

Three Greenville swimmers won all of their individual events with three first place wins—Laura Scharf, Kevin Richards, and Art Klose. Double first place winners were Paul Quinn, Liza Taylor and Lance Timmons.

Coach Tom Adams will send his swimmers into the East Carolina Swim League Championships August 4-5 at Minges Natatorium.

Final Rites For McCafferty

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Don McCafferty's low-key approach in a rough and tough sport won him respect and admiration as a "players' coach."

The tremendous outpouring of past and present football players at McCafferty's funeral Wednesday was a clear indication of how they felt about the man once described as "The Easy Rider."

That was the tag hung on McCafferty when, in his rookie season as a National Football League coach in 1970, he guided the Baltimore Colts to the Super Bowl championship.

Many of those same players were outspoken when McCafferty was fired two years later. They were shocked then, and they were shocked Sunday when a heart attack took McCafferty's life at 53.

McCafferty, who spent 14 years with the Colts, was preparing for his second season as head coach of the Detroit Lions when he was stricken in Birmingham, Mich.

He was buried Wednesday at Dulaney Valley Memorial Gardens, not far from where he lived during his stint with the Colts.

Dick Bielski, a McCafferty assistant in Baltimore, held back tears as he attended memorial services at Timonium Methodist Church and then at the gravesite. He was not alone.

Among the several hundred persons on hand were NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, owner Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers and owner Carroll Rosenbloom of the Los Angeles Rams—who gave McCafferty the head coaching job with the Colts.

Rick Forzano, named to take over the Lions, and the remainder of McCafferty's staff at Detroit served as pallbearers.

Several other head coaches, striking Detroit Lions players, members of the 1974 Colts and some 16 former Colts attended.

Farmville In Victory

FARMVILLE—Farmville took a 5-1 win over Washington last night sending Washington into the losers bracket of the Little Tar Heel League District 8 tournament.

Washington had led in the contest until the sixth, 1-0, having scored their run in the first. Farmville rallied for five in the sixth with the key hit being a triple by winning pitcher Eugene Joyner driving in three runs.

Plymouth with the winner meeting Washington in the second game. The winner of that game will meet Farmville Friday for the championship. Two games may be necessary Friday.

Farmville is the only team unbeaten in the double elimination affair.

WFL Won't Wave Big Money To NFL Jumpers

ANAHEIM (AP)—General Manager Curly Morrison of the Southern California Sun says he and the rest of the World Football League teams have stopped waving huge amounts of money at National Football League players.

For the Sun, and probably for the entire World Football League, Morrison said, the money was to sign up players from the established league to join WFL clubs in future seasons has run its course.

"The guys who got the big

East head Coach Larry Dixon announced Solomon Everett of Douglas Byrd as his starting quarterback. He struck for 12 TDs and 972 yards his final season. And likely to share the job with him is North Carolina-bound Matt Wilson of Robersonville, who had a hand in 26 TDs last year.

"We've got two fine receivers in swing end Tom Hall and Drew Fish," noted Dixon.

Wilson Shares QB Star Duties

GREENSBORO (AP)—The East will pit is aerial game against the West's running attack when North Carolina's top high school athletes meet tonight in the 26th annual all-star football game.

West coaches appear more than pleased with the potential offered by running back Ronnie Smith of Sylva-Webster, a 210-pounder who ripped off 28 touchdowns last year and 81 during his career.

"He's the hardest runner I've ever been associated with," said head Coach Jim Biggers-taff. And the coach was not able to conceal his delight with having Johnny Evans of High Point Andrews at quarterback.

With these two in the backfield will be speedy Buster Ray of Asheville and fullback David Mullis of Mooresville, a 200-pounder credited with 40 touchdowns in two years.

Cards Win, Tie For First

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Al Hrabosky is proving that patience is indeed a virtue. The patience, in this case, belonged to St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst, who stuck with Hrabosky even though the 25-year-old left-hander got off to a horrid start this season.

The latest dividend on Schoendienst's confidence came Wednesday night, when Hrabosky put the clamps on a Philadelphia comeback and saved a 9-8 victory for the Cards, lifting St. Louis into a first-place tie with Philadelphia in the National League East.

Hrabosky's earned run average ballooned as high as 10.43 earlier this year.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Atlanta Braves routed the San Francisco Giants 9-0, the Montreal Expos swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 7-4 and 4-0, the Pittsburgh Pirates pounded the New York Mets 8-3, the Cincinnati Reds blanked the Houston Astros 4-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers routed the San Diego Padres 15-4.

Hrabosky was the winning pitcher as St. Louis beat Philadelphia 4-3 Tuesday and picked up his fourth save of the year Wednesday.

Dodgers 15, Padres 4
Ron Cey drove in eight runs, clubbing a pair of three-run homers and a two-run single. His single highlighted a six-run Homer third inning, while his homers in the eighth and ninth put the finishing touches on the rout.

Los Angeles is 9-0 over San Diego this year.

Braves 9, Giants 0
Knuckleballer Phil Niekro, 11-9, extended his scoreless innings string to 21 by blanking the Giants on four hits.

Vic Correll slammed a grand slam home run for the Braves in the seventh inning. It was his first major league homer.

Expos 7-4, Cubs 1-0
Mike Jorgensen drove in five runs in the opening game of the Expos. In the nightcap Dennis Blair and John Montague combined to pitch a two-hitter and Ken Singleton and Ron Fairly belted homers.

In the first game, Chicago starter Bill Bonham tied a major league record held by 12 pitchers by striking out four batters in one inning. His third strike to pitcher Mike Torrez opening the second inning escaped catcher Dick Stelmazek for a passed ball, Torrez reaching first. Then Bonham struck out Ron Hunt, Tim Foli and Willie Davis.

Pirates 8, Mets 3
Last year's Cy Young Award winner, Tom Seaver, was belted for eight runs in 4 2-3 innings, two of them on a first-inning homer by Willie Stargell. The Pirates wrapped it up with four runs in the fifth.

Reds 1, Astros 0
Don Gullett raised his record to 13-7 by blanking the Astros on two singles, striking out eight and walking just two. Roger Metzger had both Houston hits.

And Jefferson Davis very nearly became a knight in shining armor.

Jim Corcoran re-established himself as King of the Hill. Matthew Reed made another a pair of touchdowns to lead the Philadelphia Bell to a 25-0 swamping of Portland.

Reed once again took over for injured quarterback George Mira and swept into the end zone with about two minutes to play, giving Birmingham a 21-18 victory over Detroit.

And Davis, a reserve running back, rushed into the breach when Jacksonville's two quarterbacks were knocked out of action—but couldn't quite pull off a miracle and the New York Stars held on for a 24-16 victory over the Sharks.

In Wednesday night's other World Football League game, Houston's offense finally scored a touchdown of its very own—barely—and the Texans eked out a 7-6 victory over Florida, handing the Blazers their first setback. In tonight's nationally televised game, the Southern California Sun plays the Southmen in Memphis.

Corcoran, who heaved two touchdowns in the Bell's 33-8 romp over the Storm three weeks ago, flipped two this time to rookie tight end LeVell Hill, a three-yarder midway in the second period and an 11-yarder early in the final quarter.

John Land's 31-yard run and Richard Szaro's 40-yard field goal, both late in the first half, put the game away for the Bell.

Americans 21, Wheels 18
Reed, a rookie who had taken over a week ago for Mira and thrown two touchdowns passes in Birmingham's 58-33 rout of Memphis, became the Americans' starter against Detroit. And he scored on a nine-yard sweep with 2:12 remaining night to keep them unbeaten and the Wheels winless.

Stars 24, Sharks 16
Kay Stephenson, Jacksonville's starting quarterback, and No. 2 passer Kim Hammond were knocked out of commission within two plays just as the fourth period began. Stephenson with torn knee cartilage and Hammond with a concussion.

As Coach Bud Asher was mulling over his dilemma, Davis, a reserve running back, asked to be put in. He nearly did the job. He marched the Sharks to the New York eight-yard line with about two minutes to play.

On third down, he fired a perfect pass to wide receiver Tony Lomax on the goal line. But the official ruled Lomax had stepped out of bounds. His next pass was intercepted.

Texans 7, Blazers 6
Until Wednesday night, Houston's offense hadn't come close to scoring a touchdown. The defense came within one yard of keeping that dubious record intact.

Daryl Johnson had provided the Texans with their only touchdown of the season with a 57-yard interception run.

Against Florida, John Malloy ran 59 yards with an interception in the opening minutes. On the next play, Jim Nance swept around left end for the touchdown. The defense held the Eastern Division-leading Blazers to two field goals.

Wadkins Not Worrying About Year

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — "I won't panic," Lanny Wadkins said.

"I'm having a bad year. But I'm only 24. There's lots of time."

Wadkins made the observation before teeing off today as defending champion in the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Golf Classic.

He set money-winning records each of his first two seasons on the tour, $116,616 as a rookie and $200,455 as a sophomore last year. He won three times in those two seasons and ranked high among the most promising young professionals.

This year has been a different story.

He's won only $47,697 with the season two-thirds gone. An eagle on the last hole got him a second place finish in Phoenix in January. He hasn't threatened since. In one string of seven consecutive appearances he missed the cut five times and withdrew once.

"He's having his sophomore slump one year late," one tour veteran said.

Wadkins seemed to agree.

"It's just a bad year," he said. "I've always been a good iron player. This year I've had a lot of trouble with my irons. My swing got kind of kinky."

"I've been working on it. I mean really working on it, the hardest I've ever worked in my life."

"It seems to be coming around. It's not all right yet, but it seems to be getting there."

"And," he continued, a big smile breaking across his face. "It's just at the right time. I'd sure like to be playing good in August."

August is the richest month on the schedule. The five tournaments in the month offer $1,125,000 in total prize money.

"If I could play good the rest of the season I could still make $200,000," Wadkins said. "And, look. If I win the PGA, well that gets you in the World Series and that could be another $50,000 so that's maybe $250,000 for the year."

He and some of the other Young Lions—Jerry Heard, Tom Watson, Ben Crenshaw, John Mahaffey—ranked high among the list of favorites for the $40,000 first prize here.

Other standouts included Dave Stockton, Tom Weiskopf, Dave Hill, Bruce Crampton, England's Tony Jacklin, Canadian Open champion Bobby Nichols and Lee Elder, the runner-up each of the last two seasons when this tournament was known as the USI Classic.

Liquori Loses In Mile Event

OSLO, Norway (AP) — American athletes dominated most of the events Wednesday in the sixth Martin Luther King Memorial Track and Field games at Bislett Stadium, but U.S. miler Marty Liquori was narrowly beaten by local favorite Knut Kvalheim in spite of running his quickest race for several years.

Liquori clocked 3 minutes 56.6 seconds, 4-10 of a second behind the Norwegian winner.

Liquori, a member of the U.S. Olympic team in Mexico City six years ago but who failed to qualify for the Munich Games in 1972, ran his fastest mile since 1971 in finishing second, but was two seconds outside his personal mark.

Dick Buerkle, the up-and-coming, baldheaded New Yorker who won the 5,000 meters here Tuesday, lowered his personal best to 3:57.8 and was third in the race, where five men clocked better than four minutes.

"I'm quite happy with this one," said Liquori. "and hope I'm finally on my way back against after some disappointing years. I think I can still get back to the top, if I can avoid injuries, and will give it a try for at least one more season."

In the major upset of the evening, U.S. Olympian Ralph Mann of Provo, Utah, beat compatriot Jim Bolding in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles in 49.0, lowering the stadium record held by Olympic champion John Akii-Bua of Uganda in clocking 49.0.

Mann earlier this year bettered the world 440-yard hurdles record, and his 48.04 seconds in the French championships at Nice last weekend is the second fastest time ever over the 400 behind Akii-Bua's world record of 47.8.

San Diego State plays only one of its 11 football games in daylight this season.

Guilty Plea From Former Co-Op Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold S. Nelson, former boss of a milk producers' co-op, has pleaded guilty to a conspiracy to bribe John B. Connally and to pay more than $300,000 in illegal political donations.

Nelson admitted on Wednesday that he authorized a payment of $10,000 intended for Connally, a former Texas governor and later Treasury secretary during President Nixon's first term.

Connally, who was indicted on Monday for accepting the $10,000, has said he is innocent and that he will fight the charge.

Nelson, 56, of San Antonio, Tex., pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. to charges drawn up by Watergate prosecutors. He faces a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine. Nelson admitted that as general manager of Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy-farmer co-operative, he authorized payment of more than $300,000 to Democrats and Republicans in the elections of 1968, 1970 and 1972.

He also admitted that he had authorized the co-op's former lobbyist, Bob A. Lilly, to give $10,000 to lawyer Jake Jacobsen to pass on to Connally for the Cabinet officer's help in persuading President Nixon to first term.

raise federal milk price supports in March 1971. Jacobsen was indicted with Connally on a single bribery charge, and sources say he has agreed to plead guilty and to testify against Connally.

The corporate donations admitted by Nelson include: —$63,500 to the Democratic National Committee during Hubert H. Humphrey's 1968 presidential campaign.

—$100,000 to repay money given in 1969 to Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's personal lawyer and chief fund-raiser.

—$23,950 to Humphrey's 1970 Senate race.

—$10,000 to the 1970 campaign of former Rep. Page Belcher, R-Okla.

—$5,000 to the 1970 Senate campaign of Phillip Hoff, D-Vt.

—$8,400 to the 1970 Senate campaign of Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

—$82,000 to buy computer-mail services during the 1972

campaigns of Humphrey, Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., and various unnamed Iowa Democrats.

The Nelson plea comes less than a week after his former second-in-command at the milk producers, David L. Parr, pleaded guilty to a similar felony conspiracy count of making illegal donations.

On Tuesday, Humphrey's former vice presidential press secretary, Norman Sherman, was charged along with a business partner, John Valentine, with misdemeanor counts of aiding and abetting the $82,000 donation. Their firm supplied the computer-mail lists. Their lawyer has said he advised them to plead guilty.

Nelson was released without bond in the custody of his lawyer, Anthony Nicholas of San Antonio. Judge Hart deferred sentencing.

The government agreed to drop a perjury indictment in which a federal grand jury in Little Rock, Ark., had accused him of falsely denying that he knew about a $22,000 corporate donation to Humphrey in 1968.

Plan Series On Life Of Jesus

By HILMI TOROS
Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — The Italian and British television producers who are bringing Moses and William Shakespeare to American home screens are going to do the same for Jesus.

RAI, the Italian state television organization, and ITC-ATV, the British commercial production company, estimate they will spend $15 million on "The Life of Jesus," a six-part documentary to be filmed in Israel and North Africa.

The producers expect 200 million viewers in a host of nations. NBC will show the series in the United States in 1976, at Easter.

Franco Zeffirelli, the noted Italian director and designer, will direct. His last attempt at a religious subject, a film on the life of St. Francis of Assisi, flopped with both the critics and the public.

The script will be written by British novelist Anthony Burgess, author of "The Clockwork Orange" and also of the script for the six-part TV series "Moses the Lawgiver," which RAI and ITC-ATV have made with Burt Lancaster as Moses. CBS is to show it in the United States next season.

The third major American network, ABC, has bought the 10-part "Life and Times of William Shakespeare" from the same producers for the 1975-76 season. There is no word of an American buyer for "Mohammed the Messenger," another series now being filmed by the combine.

The cast for "The Life of Jesus" has not been chosen, but shooting is scheduled to start in six months.

"We will attempt to show what happened to Jesus as best we can," Zeffirelli told a news conference.

Burgess, a Roman Catholic who lives in Italy, said he would consult with a panel of religious experts of all faiths but would not be bound to go along with them.

"Ours will be an attempt to show on television the historical reality, the politics of the time, the sun, the sea, the bread, the wine, the fish, the flow of the blood, the reality of the nail and wood of the cross," he said.

Sir Lew Grade, the Jewish head of ITC-ATV, said the series would not have any "specific" leaning but would be aimed at "everybody whatever their creed."

Says Device A Life-Saver

WILMINGTON (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner John Ingram says more lives can be saved from fire through the use of smoke detection devices than "any other safety devices available to the homeowner and apartment dweller."

Ingram pointed out Wednesday that smoke detection devices will be required on all new homes built after Jan. 1. He said smoke detection devices are also needed in existing dwellings.

He made his comments in a prepared talk to the North Carolina Firemen's Association.

Ingram told the firemen a proposed change in the state building code will require a clear area on top of new high rise buildings to permit emergency helicopter rescues. He said he is working on a plan to make helicopters available for evacuation from high rise buildings.

Ingram told the association members this availability could be provided if a fire chief believed "such equipment could be used as an advantage" in saving lives.

'Go' Signal On Rock Concert

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—A federal judge has denied a request of the Cabarrus County Board of Commissioners to ban from the county a 12-hour rock concert Aug. 10 at which sponsors expect at least 70,000.

Judge Hal H. Walker of U.S. District Court ruled Wednesday that the commissioners had not satisfied him of threatened danger to the health, safety and welfare of the public.

The concert is to be at the Charlotte Motor Speedway, which is in Cabarrus County.

The Worry Clinic Old Ideas Are Being Hailed

Arnold used the sex advice in this column to banish his wife's sterility. And he also mentions that many ideas originally advanced in this newspaper a generation ago, are now being claimed as startling NEW discoveries!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE B-603: Arnold B., aged 35, is a talented chemical engineer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I recently read Dr. Steincrohn's medical column in which he repeated your earlier idea about sex determination."

"For it was 10 years ago that I saw your comment that many supposedly sterile wives might get pregnant by using a baking soda douche.

"We had been married 3 years at that time, yet my wife had never been able to conceive.

"Yet physicians could find nothing wrong with her or with me, either!

"So we both had despaired of ever having any children.

"But we decided to try your suggestion, which Dr. Steincrohn has now repeated in his column.

"And the very next month my wife became pregnant!

"We now have 4 children, with the first 3 being boys.

"So we switched to the mild lactic acid douche in hopes of having a little girl, and that's how we got Janet.

"A lot of other ideas in your 'Worry Clinic' have never appeared previously in any other newspaper column, yet I have found they really work.

"So you are correct in calling the newspaper America's most practical family textbook."

Horse Sense

You regular readers of this column realize that I stress gumption or practical ideas, not braintruster nonsense.

Yet many people with college degrees turn up their noses at common sense, which is why stodgy preachers disdain sending for the booklet of "Public Platform Strategy" mentioned below.

For they are steeped in esoteric polysyllables to the point they can't comprehend simple "Horse Sense" strategy. Recently the Chicago TRIBUNE thus ran a series on stories on dieting.

And they raved about Dr. Irwin Stillman's "water diet" for quick weight loss.

Yet I have outlined in scientific detail the fast dehydration, high protein diet in this column for 25 years!

The TRIBUNE also gleefully explained the Specific Dynamic Action of protein, which means that protein foods differ from all others in losing 15 per cent of their calories in the process of digestion.

Yet you early fans of this column read all about that Specific Dynamic Action a generation ago!

And where else except in the newspaper have you even read about the "urinary insomnia" of oldsters, who waken about 2 a.m. to go to the bathroom; then start fretting about income taxes, etc., till they have insomnia?

Back in 1955, the head of the FDA pooch-pooched the outline in this column of the possible medical benefits of the oceans' 44 water soluble trace chemicals.

In trying to belittle the daily newspaper as a source of sound scientific ideas, he then made this asinine statement:

"There is nothing in the ocean of any medical value."

Yet now the FDA is admitting about half of those trace chemicals are vital to health and before the year 2,000, will doubtless recommend all of them!

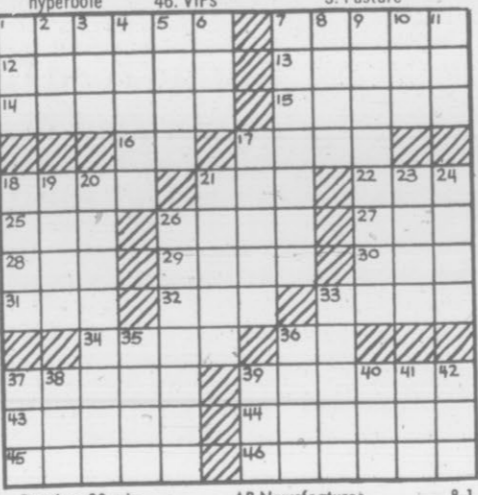

The medics at Columbus, Ohio, and several cities in California, Indiana and elsewhere even pressured their editors to cancel this column for my even suggesting there might be value in ocean chemicals!

Yet now they are belatedly climbing on the bandwagon and even trying to claim they pioneered the very ideas stressed herein for a whole generation!

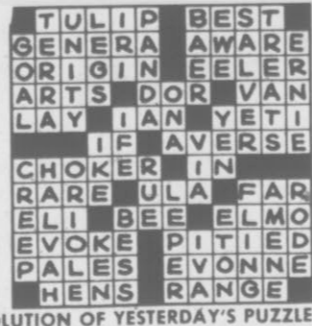

Send for the booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Probably the most exciting bridge player to kibitz is many-time world champion Benito Garozzo of Italy's famed Blue Team. Both his dummy play and defense are designed to keep his opponents guessing, and he has brought off many spectacular coups. This hand is from Italy's match against Spain in the World Team Olympiad.

The Spanish North-South pressed a little in bidding to the spade slam. South was aggressive in accepting North's slam try with his minimum hand. However, he reasoned that if North could jump to five spades without the two minor suit aces, there had to be play for twelve tricks. Against unimaginative defense, he would have been right.

Garozzo led his fourth-best club, and East's queen drove out the ace. Declarer had to get rid of dummy's club loser, so he cashed the king and queen of diamonds and the ace of hearts, and came to his hand with a heart ruff. A club was discarded on the ace of diamonds and a club was ruffed in dummy.

After discarding a club on the king of hearts, declarer continued with a low heart. East discarded a club and South ruffed with the six of spades. Without a moment's hesitation, Garozzo overruffed with the king!

This play convinced declarer that East held the jack of spades, so when Garozzo returned a club, declarer ruffed with dummy's ace to prevent an overruff. Now he confidently led the nine of spades and finessed, but Garozzo produced the jack of spades for the setting trick.

Observe that if Garozzo overruffs routinely with the jack of spades, declarer will make his contract. He has no alternative but to ruff the club return with the nine of spades and cash the ace, dropping the king, leaving declarer with two high trumps.

Harmonica Band Is Fun

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — John Keating won't let anything keep him from blowing a tune with 50 other oldsters in weekly harmonica concerts, wheelchair or no.

"It's wonderful," says the 82-year-old Keating, who was confined to a wheelchair three years ago by a stroke. "There's just no way I'll miss it."

The members of the Senior Citizens Fun and Fellowship Harmonica Band, ranging in age from 65 to 85, play old favorites and even some rock 'n' roll.

They have an appropriate theme song: "Enjoy Yourself, It's Later than You Think."

The band's director, Vernon Rathell, 78, says he had never before played the harmonica.

"That just proves if you can hum a song, you can play it on the harmonica," Rathell says. "I tell them if they only blow one note in three, it's worth it."

"The music may not be good by some standards but having fun is the important thing. For many of the band members, it's about their whole social life."

Josephine Bozyk, youngster of the group at age 65, gives credit to the band for dispelling her depression when her husband died.

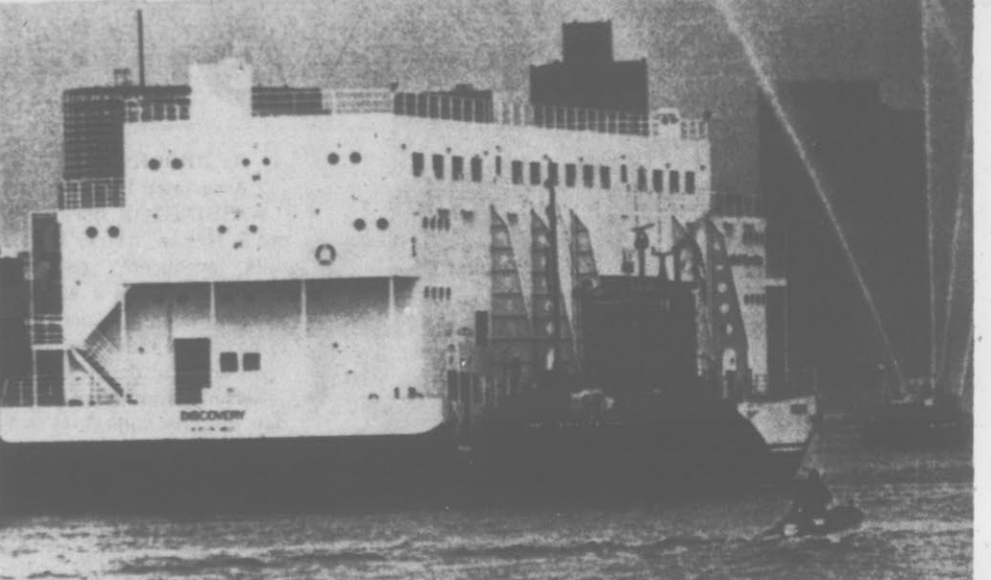

"When I lost my husband, I almost went to pieces," she said. "But I joined the band—I'm a soloist. I love every minute of it."

The band often gives concerts at nursing homes and once performed for a junior high school.

"I'll tell you, about 15 of those kids came out in the hall after the concert to tell us how much they liked it," Rathell said. "They especially liked a rock 'n' roll song called 'Baby, Do You Miss Me' I wrote for my grandchildren."

Plans Unchanged For TV Games

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The three TV networks, electronic eyes steady and microphones ready, say their annual pro football blitz will start on schedule this month, even if some of the best-known players don't.

The 32-day-old NFL players' strike still is under way and less than 2½ weeks remain before the start of preseason play, a Cincinnati Bengals-Atlanta Falcons joust NBC will televise on Aug. 17.

Even if the strike isn't over by then, ABC, NBC and CBS officials say, there still are no current plans to drop any games from the three-network schedule to Pro Bowl.

The only uncertain note is sounded by a spokesman for ABC Sports President Roone Arledge, whose network has 18 pro games—including the Jan. 20 Pro Bowl in Miami—coming up this season.

Asked if ABC might not televise several of the early games if the strike doesn't end, the spokesman replied: "That's a hard question, because we've talked about that and really haven't made a decision."

But he emphasized that as of now, ABC's schedule remains unchanged.

As if ABC doesn't have enough to worry about, its "NFL Monday Night Football" opener on Aug. 19 will, for the first time in its history, be competing against NBC's "Monday Night Baseball" game.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Hancock Building Appears To Soon Be Getting A Glass Face

By KAREN G. GRAY
BOSTON (UPI) — It finally looks as if the 60-story, combination plywood-glass John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. — now over a year delayed in being completed and several thousand broken windows later — is about to get a new face.

Workers began installing $6 million in new windows last month and officials say the task should take some nine months to finish.

The skyscraper home office originally was designed to accommodate the limited available space as well as to enhance its Copley Square environment via its unique rhomboid shape and reflective windows.

However, unforeseen circumstances resulted in a spectacular defect which impeded the completion of construction and subsequent occupation of the building and made John Hancock known the world over.

Many of the 10,344 windowpanes which were to theoretically reflect the tower's surroundings began to fall out during high winds and thousands had to be replaced with plywood.

The Hancock people now are saying a solution to the problem has been found and that the initial occupation of the building should begin by the end of this year and be concluded by early spring of 1975.

Last month the insurance company announced that the supplier, subcontractor, architect, contractor and Hancock had agreed to begin replacing the two-ply thermopane glass with stronger tempered glass, which is some 100 pounds lighter per unit. The reglazing of the building is slated to cost $6 million, which Hancock Vice President Walter A. Gallagher says, "I'm sure John Hancock won't pay."

Besides the $6 million, Hancock has accrued at least $300,000 in additional expenses, including testing costs and consultant fees since the problem first manifested itself, along with suits pressing against the company maintaining that construction had caused areas surrounding the building to sink, forcing foundations to crack and streets and sidewalks to cave in.

The basic question, "What was the problem?" has yet to be answered.

Hancock officials say they are "not in a position to discuss who's to blame" or assess what the problem was. Consultant Robert J. Hansen, a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who has been conducting wind tests, remains silent on the point. He will say only that he "can answer no substantive questions" relating to the building. In fact, everyone involved in the construction of the building seems to be hesitant to answer any inquiries as to who is to blame and what constituted the main problem.

Those who figured intricately into the production of the building included the prestigious I.M. Pei & Partners architectural firm; Purdue University, which conducted wind tunnel tests; Cupples Product Division of H.H. Robertson Co., in Pittsburgh, subcontractor for glass-wall installation; Gilbane Building Co. of Providence, R.I., the contractor; and Libbey-Owens Ford Co., Toledo, Ohio, the glass manufacturer.

Their reluctance to commit themselves on the subject is understandable. They all have played a prominent role in putting up what has become Boston's ugliest newest downtown building. The defective windows have caused Hancock considerable embarrassment, along with millions of dollars in additional, unexpected expenses.

It is uncertain who will pick up the $6 million tab, however, at this point it is certain that Hancock is remaining adamant in its refusal to pay the reglazing costs.

Gallagher said any potential litigation in the matter is in the hands of Hancock's attorney and "it is not proper to have a public discussion" of the subject.

It is conceivable that the situation could ultimately be settled out of court, he added.

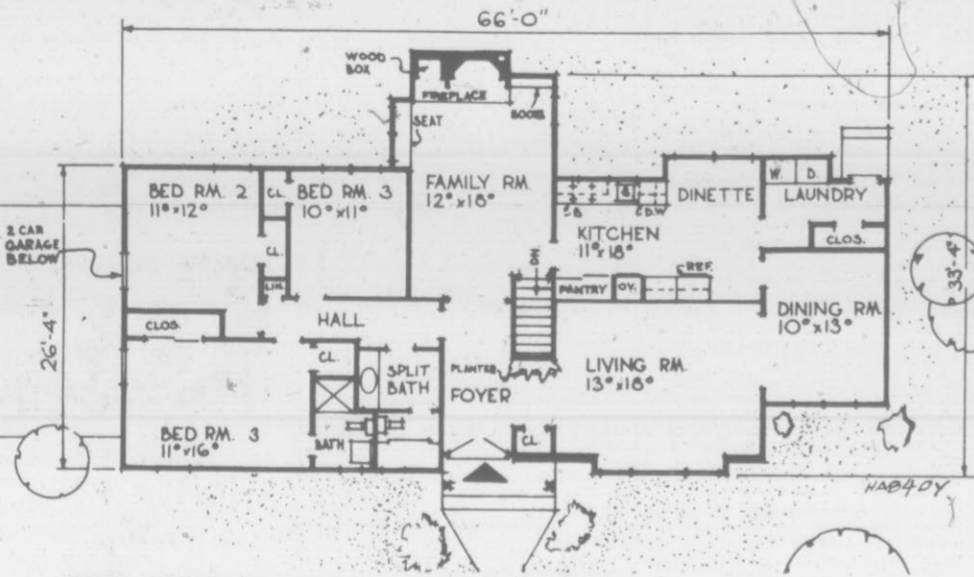

Hancock plans to start transferring the home office headquarters by the end of this year. Hancock will occupy two-thirds of the building while five other tenants will take up the remaining space. According to Gallagher, throughout the ordeal there have been "no lease cancellations."

Hancock's five neighbors will be the Eastern Gas subsidiary Boston Gas; Ernst & Ernst, an international accounting firm; Merrill Lynch; First National Bank; and Sentry Insurance Corp.

In spite of Hancock's wealth of problems stemming from the falling glass saga, the company was approached last fall by Katherine Kane of the Bicentennial Commission about situating a Boston Visitor's information center in the building. Hancock Director of Community Relations Chancery Blackington said the company was agreeable to the proposition.

The company is hoping that the information center and a top floor observatory will serve to draw Bostonians and out-of-towners during the bicentennial and afterwards to what they expect to become another of the city's tourist attractions, after months of being a national eyecore.

THIS COUNTRY-STYLE RANCH HOUSE has many conveniences that will add up to year-round living comfort for the entire family. A double front door opens on a spacious foyer, the perfect spot for welcoming guests. To the right there is a well-proportioned living room with a large dining room beyond. A pretty window seat, a library corner and a huge fireplace with wood box are some of the features of the family room. The working part of the kitchen includes a pantry closet with space-saving sliding door, a counter-top range and built-in oven, and lots of storage space. Each rear bedroom has two windows and a large closet; the third bedroom has two big closets, two windows and a private bath with enclosed shower. Architect Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432, designed Plan HA840Y with 1,729 square feet. Anyone interested in knowing the price of the blueprint must send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a reply.

Doesn't See Quick Vote

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward Kennedy says he does not expect President Nixon to seek a quick House vote on impeachment so he can stand trial sooner in the Senate.

In an interview with the Boston Herald American in Washington on Wednesday, the Massachusetts Democrat said, "I've heard talk about the possibility, but I don't expect it will happen."

Several White House aides said Wednesday that option was open but not under active consideration.

Kennedy refused to predict how the Senate would vote, but he forecast overwhelming approval of impeachment in the House.

He praised the House Judiciary Committee, which recommended three articles of impeachment. He said the panel performed a "noble service" at a time when a large segment of the public held government institutions—and the Congress itself—in low esteem.

Asked whether he had decided to seek the presidency in 1976, Kennedy said, "My target date is still next year. I will make my intentions known at that time, if not before. Right now I'm still undecided."

Six Attended Library Ass'n Meet In N.Y.

Six members of the East Carolina University Library staff attended the annual conference of the American Library Association in New York recently. The conference program included special sessions on governance of academic libraries intellectual freedom, collection development, standards for libraries, government documents and cataloging revision.

The ECU Library staff members attending were Dr. Ralph Russell director of Library Services; Ralph Scott, Marilyn Stephenson, Elizabeth Moore, Sallies Mann and Anne Briley.

Two members of the ECU Library Serials staff, Mary L. Williams and Judy Moore attended a workshop on processing of serials at the Library of Congress.

Pitt Student Was Featured In Publication

Stanley L. Little of Ayden-Griffon High School was recently featured in the eighth annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1973-74.

He is the son of Mrs. Betty N. Little of Ayden. He is active in the National Honor Society, a church worker assistant editor of the school newspaper, a member of the Science Club and Spanish Club and is a Boy Scout.

He was selected to attend the 1973 Junior Science and Humanities Symposium in Raleigh.

Little plans to attend East Carolina University and study history and political science. In addition to having his biography printed in the book, Little will also compete for one of ten scholarship awards of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers."

ECU Library Receives Grant

Strengthening of the law resources and environmental and ecological resources areas in the East Carolina University library will be made possible through a $4,235 grant from the Office of Education for College Library Resources.

Dr. Ralph E. Russell, director of ECU Library Services, said course offerings included legal aspects of several disciplines which require supporting library material and that additional environmental-ecological materials will enhance the research and training in ecological sciences which included the recently-established Institute of Coastal Resources.

GROCERY PRICES JUMP—Chart based on the Associated Press marketbasket survey shows comparative prices of three grocery items in selected cities at the beginning of July and the beginning of August. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers got hit during July with the worst round of grocery price increases in more than a year, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The bill went up an average of 4 per cent.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked at the start of every succeeding month. July was the first month since the beginning of the survey in which the marketbasket bill went up in every city checked.

During June, the AP marketbasket went down in nine cities and up in four. The U.S. Department of Agriculture marketbasket for June, the latest month available, showed the price for farm-produced foods declined .1 per cent.

The higher totals at the end of July were due in part to higher wholesale prices. The Agriculture Department's Crop Reporting Board said Wednesday that prices of raw farm products went up 6 per cent from June 15 to July 15 after four months of decline.

There were higher prices for cattle, wheat, corn, soybeans and eggs and lower prices for milk, cotton, peaches and dry beans. The farm price levels were reflected in the marketbasket survey. The AP found higher prices for eggs, which had been steadily declining since last August; a new round of increases in the price of meat; and a slight drop in the cost of milk.

During June, the price of meat went down, largely because of special sales staged by supermarkets in response to government pleas. The prices received by farmers for their livestock had been declining, but because retail prices remained relatively high through the first half of this year, consumers rebelled and a backlog of meat was created.

The sales during June helped move the backlog onto the family dinner table and wholesale prices started rising again. Now retail prices are right back where they were before the sales and some items cost more now than they did on March 1, 1973.

The price of chopped chuck went up during July in nine of 13 cities checked, and was down in one—Detroit. The average price on March 1, 1973, was $1.12. By Jan. 1, 1974, the average price was up to $1.23. It dropped back down to $1.12 on July 1, but at the time of the latest check was $1.27, a 13 per cent increase during the month.

The price of a dozen medium white eggs was up in every city during July, reflecting higher demand and shorter supply.

The price remained below the record $1-a-dozen level of last August, however. At the time of the latest check the average price of eggs was 62 cents a dozen, up 19 per cent during the month from 52 cents a dozen on July 1. The average price on March 1, 1973, also was 62 cents. Farmers have been complaining that they lost money and were forced to cut back production when eggs were selling at bargain prices during the first half of this year.

The latest survey showed that increases in the marketbasket totals ranged from a fraction of a per cent in New York City to 10 per cent in Miami, Fla. The average increase was 4 per cent.

In 11 cities, the bill was higher at the end of July than it was on Jan. 1, 1974, and on the average, prices are 6 per cent higher than they were seven months earlier. From March 1, 1973, to the end of July, the marketbasket bill was up an average of 20 per cent.

One bright spot during July was milk. The price of a quart of whole milk declined in more cities than any other item. The average price of a quart of milk went from 44 cents on July 1 to 43 cents at the end of the month, a 2 per cent drop, but 19 per cent higher than the 36-cents level on March 1, 1973.

The AP survey covered Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City, Utah, and Seattle.

Standard brands and sizes or their nearest equivalents were used for the survey. The same supermarket in each city was checked each item. If an item was not available on one of the check dates, it was not included in the marketbasket total.

TERMITES OR ANTS?

Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today.

The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

Workshop On Traffic Safety Held Wednesday

SAFETY WORKSHOP... The Rev. Coy Privette (L), President of the Christian Action League, and Col. E.W. Jones, Highway Patrol Commander, were featured speakers at yesterday's Traffic Safety Workshop for the clergy.

A Traffic Safety Workshop for the clergy of all religious faiths was held here Wednesday by the Highway Patrol to assist the clergy in preparation for the observance of Traffic Safety Week on Aug. 23, 24, and 25.

Mrs. John Sugg, chairwoman of a Task Force on Highway Safety, served as moderator and speakers included Col. E.W. Jones, Highway Patrol commander, and the Rev. Coy Privette, president of the Christian Action League of North Carolina.

people have been killed in traffic collisions in the state since 1930 and although the state so far this year has had 230 less fatalities than last, there have still been 819 people killed in traffic collisions.

Jones credited part of the reduction in deaths to the gasoline shortage which reduced travel and the lowered speed

Car-Wash To Be Held Saturday

A car-wash will be conducted Saturday by the CYF of the First Christian Church in Greenville on the 264 by-pass.

Hours of the car-wash will be from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Interior-cleaning will also be offered.

Pedestrian deaths totaled 330 last year in North Carolina and accounted for 17 per cent of the total of 1890 persons killed in traffic last year, he said.

Privette challenged the clergy to become involved in the mainstream of traffic activities where patrolmen are found. He urged the clergy to visit State Patrol offices and ride with patrolmen to see "first hand" what the trooper experiences as he patrols the highways, enforces the motor vehicle laws and investigates collisions that cause death and injury.

GOING AWAY ON A WEEK'S VACATION? OR LONGER?

A FEW SUGGESTIONS THAT WILL HELP YOU SAVE MONEY! AND ENERGY!

1. Be sure all lights, air conditioning units and other appliances are off before you leave.
2. Cut off your electric hot water heater.
3. Check with your appliance dealer to see if it is advisable to cut off your refrigerator. If not, you may want to set the temperature higher.
4. Unplug your TV. If it is the "instant-on" type, it will continue to consume electricity even when not in use.
5. Check your plumbing fixtures and faucets to be sure they are off and not leaking.
6. Be sure your utility bill has been paid up-to-date. If you are going away for a month or more you can make an estimated pre-payment for the upcoming month.
7. Read your electric meter before leaving. If you do not know how, make a simple drawing showing the position of the dial hands. When you return home, do the same and bring them to our office. Our customer service supervisor can tell you how much energy was used while you were away from home.

If you have any questions concerning the above suggestions, please give us a call at 752-7166.
