By The Associated Press The Cyprus government fled Nicosia today as Turkish troops were within hours of slicing off the top third of the island.

and flee to the south coast port of Limassol. Cyprus President Glafcos Clerides and his ministers fled so hurriedly that the doors of the deserted presidential offices were left banging in the wind.

off from the south by a line bisecting Cyprus from Lefka in the west to Famagusta in the east. The Turkish troops already have taken Famagusta, and Ecevit's statement indicated that they expected to take Lefka too by the cease-fire deadline.

City Plans Apply For $1,909,000 From HUD Funds

By JERRY RAYNOR Reflector Staff Writer Greenville City Council, in a special call meeting Thursday night, approved a statement of intent to file for $1,909,000 in Urban Renewal Transitional Funds.

The letter setting forth this information was not received until last Friday, with a stipulation that any statement of intent submitted had to be approved no later than August 16.

finance arrangements applicable to the thoroughfare plan. In a third action, the council approved a revised Cooperation Agreement for the Central Business District Project between the City of Greenville and the Greenville Redevelopment Commission.

Senate Approves AEC Reorganization And An Energy Research Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill reorganizing the Atomic Energy Commission and launching a 10-year program of non-nuclear energy research has been passed by the Senate.

ment by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., to exempt the four months of December through March from Daylight Saving Time.

The House has passed an energy research bill and a separate DST measure. These now go to conference committee with the Senate bill.

A HOTLINE APPEAL

LESTER FIELDS

PLEASE BRING THE PUPPY BACK

Five-year-old Lester Fields had his first rabies vaccine injection this morning. If a small black puppy is found, Dr. F. B. Haar says there's a possibility he can discontinue the injections after a safe period of observation of the dog has passed.

"The puppy stands about seven inches high and is a fuzzy black female, as cute a puppy as you'd ever see," Rabies Control Officer Jarvies Worthington said. He is checking out the numerous calls the Health Department has already received, but none have turned up the right dog so far.

Lester was bitten six days ago as he played with a neighbor's puppy. The bite was treated and he was given a tetanus shot at that time. The dog was confined Friday at the Pitt County Shelter, but no real observing had been done before she was stolen from the Shelter Saturday.

Dr. Haar emphasized the unpleasantness of the shots for the child. "They must be given in the abdominal wall," he said, "because there's a lot of subcutaneous tissue here. It's the easiest place for a youngster to receive so many shots. He will have to have one every day for 21 days. And there's some danger of side effects any time you inject foreign protein, which is what the rabies vaccine is."

Anyone having information about the dog described above should call the Health Department, 752-4141. Worthington emphasized that there will be no questions asked anyone who does report or bring the dog in. Hotline, also, would gladly refer any information, with no names asked for.

"We just want this dog to save little Lester and his family any more pain," Worthington said.

The Turkish radio said the Turks also captured the naval base at Boghaz, 10 miles north of Famagusta.

Another Turkish column was pushing westward to extend the line from Nicosia to Lefka, on the northwest coast. It was reported six miles from Morphou, a major town 21 miles west of Nicosia and 10 miles from Lefka. The Turkish Cypriot radio reported Greek and Greek Cypriot troops were "retreating in panic" from Lefka.

The Greek Cypriots were believed to have abandoned Morphou also.

Another Turkish Cypriot broadcast said Turkish jets were heavily bombing the highway from Paphos, in southwest Cyprus, to Lefka to prevent Greek Cypriot reinforcements from reaching Lefka.

Brought Apology And Loot

WILLIAMSTON, N.C. (AP)—A man walked into a jewelry store and asked to speak to the manager in private.

Manager R.E. Peele took him aside Thursday and said the caller produced a handkerchief with $2,000 worth of rings, watches and other jewelry which had been stolen at gunpoint last Friday. Peele gave this account:

The man introduced himself as Benjamin O. McNair of Richmond, Va. He said he wanted to return the stolen jewelry and to apologize to the clerks for scaring them with the gun.

Peele went to the police station of this eastern North Carolina town of 7,000 and McNair, 23, who did not try to get away, was charged with armed robbery. He was placed under $10,000 bond, and jailed when he could not raise it.

Shortly after the robbery, police had arrested Alton Maurice King, 25, also of Richmond, and charged him with aiding and abetting.

On Thursday he vetoed a bill that would have authorized $47 million more each year for health research to combat animal diseases. He said he did so

Ford Facing A Busy Day

By FRANCES LEWINE Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford meets with another top labor leader today while continuing to focus on economic and transition.

He planned to give his attention to a wide variety of matters, including the transition team that is advising him on the new format for his administration.

A briefing team from the Office of Management and Budget, headed by Roy Ash, was to give the President a roundup of the latest budget proposals. Ford also was to meet with economic advisers to chart what a spokesman said would be a distinct economic policy bearing the Ford imprint.

The President scheduled a meeting with Teamsters leader Frank Fitzsimmons, who was one of President Richard M. Nixon's chief labor supporters Ford already has extended an olive branch to AFL-CIO President George Meany, who had been on the outs with Nixon.

King Hussein of Jordan holds a midmorning summit talk with the President and will be guest of honor at a White House state dinner tonight.

Ford's work days were becoming longer and longer as he neared the end of his first week in office.

On Thursday he vetoed a bill that would have authorized $47 million more each year for health research to combat animal diseases. He said he did so because the measure "would add further to the federal taxpayers' burdens without significantly meeting national needs and would only add to inflationary pressures within the economy ..."

In other developments: —Ford named his former college roommate and law partner, Philip A. Buchen, as his White House counsel.

—The President said his decision on a vice president will come "no earlier than the weekend." Sources said the announcement probably won't come until next week. The Detroit Free Press said today that Nelson A. Rockefeller, former New York governor, has the inside track for the position.

—Ford told a meeting of county officials on Thursday that he will veto mass transit legislation now being debated in the House if it calls for spending $20 billion. He urged a less-expensive compromise.

—And the President announced that Dr. William M. Lukash will serve as his personal physician. Lukash said he is delighted with the health of the new President.

AMBASSADOR? ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—The government of Ghana has announced that Shirley Temple Black has been appointed United States ambassador to the African nation.

The new Energy Research and Development Administration would include AEC research facilities as well as those of the Interior Department and the National Science Foundation.

The $20-billion program of non-nuclear energy research was added to the bill in an amendment by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who said it will correct an imbalance in the legislation.

The Jackson amendment was added on a vote of 78 to 0 and the full measure then passed by voice vote.

Jackson said he feared that without his amendment the new research agency would do detailed nuclear work but give only cursory attention to other techniques, including solar energy, geothermal energy and energy derived from fossil fuels.

In another action on the bill the Senate approved an amend

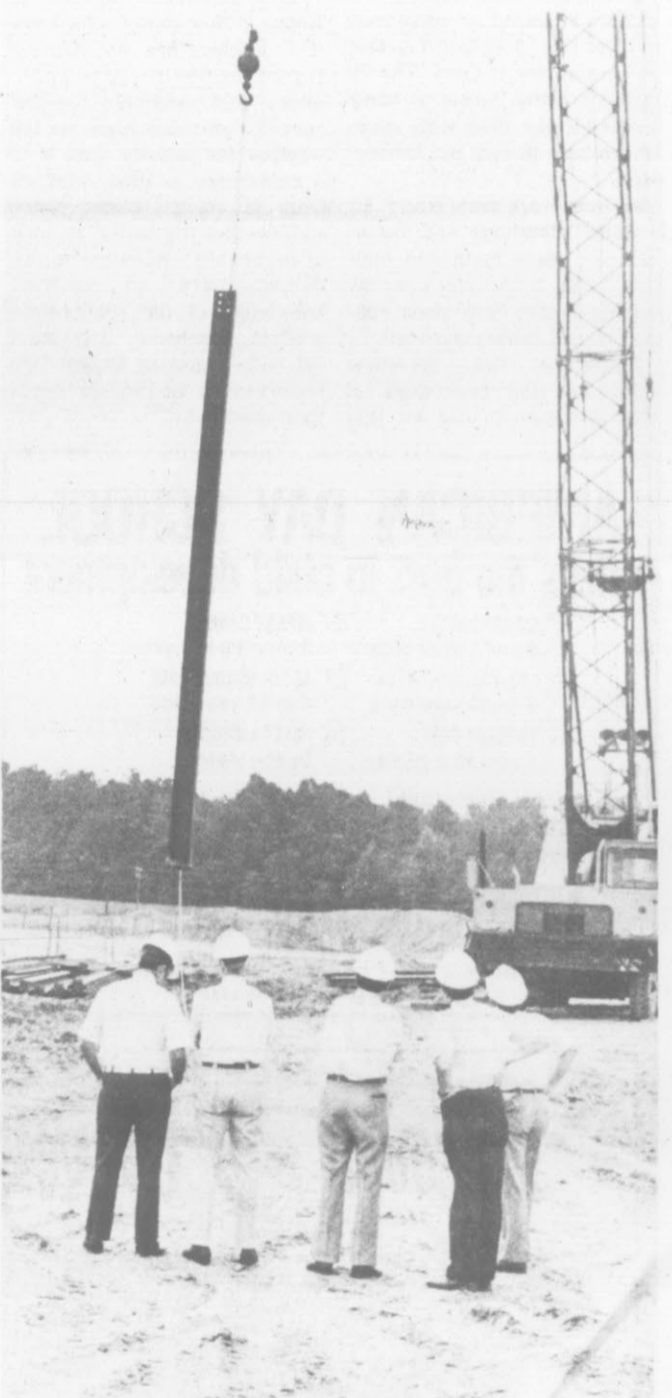

2 Banks Robbed

By The Associated Press Robbers hit two western North Carolina banks within minutes of each other this morning and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

Police said three armed men robbed the Northwestern Bank in Caroleen, near Forest City, just before 10 a.m. They escaped in a green automobile and were thought to be heading in the direction of Gaffney, S.C.

A Northwestern Bank in Hayesville in Clay County, near the Georgia border, was robbed about the same time. No other details were immediately available.

The holdups were North Carolina's 38th and 39th bank robberies this year.

HOSPITAL STEEL . . . Pitt Memorial Hospital officials, doctors, and fund raisers looked on as the first piece of steel for the new medical facility was swung into place early yesterday afternoon. The first metal column will form part of the boiler room for the new facility. It was part of 11 tractor-trailer loads of steel delivered to the site west of Greenville this week. Some 50 truck loads of steel will be required for the project, officials noted. Shown watching the moving steel beam are hospital Board Chairman Ed Warren; Harry Leslie, chairman of the Special Gifts Committee; Hospital Administrator Jack Richardson, board member Kenneth Dews and Dr. Eric Farrington, vice-chief of staff at Pitt Memorial (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage).

Congressional Record Falls Victim To Hoaxer

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members will have to hand in their statements personally to get them in the Congressional Record from now on, thanks to publication of some spurious material.

In the past, House members have been able to drop Record material into boxes located in House corridors. But that was changed after the publication of false, satirical statements attributed to several congressmen.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the House Administration Committee, called for a Justice Department investigation, and Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., vowed to get to the bottom of the matter.

One of the fake statements, attributed to Rep. Earl F. Landgrebe, R-Ind., urged President Ford to appoint former President Richard M. Nixon as vice president, and then resign. And, commenting on Nixon's farewell speech, that statement said that while Nixon said his mother was a saint, he "omitted mention of his own saintly qualities."

And another false statement, attributed to Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, praised the Chilean junta for its efforts to return that country's resources and workers "to their rightful American owners."

"In any free society, there is a right to exploit the underclass, the right to summary execution of the lawless and the rights of American investors in our system of free world enterprise ...

"The military government ... should be commended, not condemned, for their effort to return the resources and the workers of Chile to their rightful American owners ..." said the statement falsely attributed to Ashbrook.

Landgrebe commented that the statement attributed to him sounded like something out of Mad Magazine.

New Kits Are Aid To Creativity

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Patriotism has hit the kit market and one of the newest do-it-yourself items is a Betsy Ross Flag Kit. As the kit interest expands, people are making throw rugs, wall art, glassware, baskets and countless other things.

In fact you can build a model of the house of your dreams by using a kit with miniaturized modules that permits you to plan any kind of dwelling — weekend house in the country or spacious home for a large family. Twenty-two modules provide a lot of leeway in the model you choose.

New kits help you create wire sculpture and string art. And there are hanging garden kits that may provide plants in 10 days for instant gardeners.

There are so many kinds of kits available that some people have spent vacations rigging up their Christmas gifts and tree ornaments. Others have turned their kits into hobbies — ship kits or flower beading — that become paying propositions. It is estimated that a quarter of the billion dollar hobby market is in craft kits and supplies.

Although there are cheese kits and wine kits, at least one wine and cheese kit put it all together, making a pound of cheddar cheese and five bottles of wine. Another one for the culinary crowd provides yogurt, cottage cheese, cheddar cheese and sourdough starter with all the necessary ingredients.

In the homes area, kits are extremely popular. Rug crafter kits are providing a change of pace to heedlepointers. Instead of a needle, one uses a latch hook, tying maybe eight thousand knots of Acrilan rug yarn as it is pulled through a pre-printed canvas design. One that is 20 by 27 inches with bright colored yarns is also useful as a decorative wall hanging.

The flag kit, 43½ inches by 27 inches, is touted as easy-doers-it. Sew the 13 stripes together and embroider 13 stars. The kit includes cotton fabric, a hand-screened blue field with stars, embroidery thread and instructions.

An open-work embroidery kit contains directions and materials for place mats and napkins. And there are kits for turning bottles into glass containers and table glassware.

Limestone and gemstone chips are the beginnings of rock sculpture in one kit that comes with all the wood, wire, foil, sandpaper, fixatives and even the plastic base, for making some decorative objects.

And just in time for the new fall fashions again emphasizing decorative trims, is a kit that provides sparkling trims. The kit contains a sew-on sequin applique with iron-on transfer pattern, sequins and fashionable trims in assorted colors and shapes.

The ancient art of tablet weaving — believed to have been developed in the Iron Age — is revived in one kit where the tablet is used for loom-like effects. In tablet weaving different colored threads are put through holes in the tablets (cards). The pattern is developed by the direction in which the cards are flipped. The kit's materials include those for a pouch bag in the hourglass pattern. The contents include 30 pre-cut weaving tablets, a shuttle and 17 balls of cotton yarn in various colors.

Another fashion item for the junior crowd is a bargello needlepoint kit with materials to make a little clutch bag or shoulder bag. There are a number of ceramic figurine kits for the pre-teen set, and a music box kit that can be enjoyed by anyone. The kit kit with an authentic Thorens music works with popular tunes comes with stain, varnish, brushes and hardware.

WOMEN REALTORS

CHICAGO (UPI) — A woman's knowledge of the home gives her a distinct advantage over men for counseling in real estate, says the president on the women's council, the National Association of Realtors.

Says president Angeline A. Kopka, "How many men know if a kitchen has an efficient layout, accessibility to appliances and adequate cabinet space? How many men can tell whether the laundry area is in a convenient location, whether there is enough closet space and whether the traffic pattern is favorable? Because many women have an inherent knowledge of the real estate product, the home, they start out with a greater insight into home buyers' and sellers' needs than most men."

Sleeping Friends Need Awakening

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 44-year-old widow with three children—two teen-aged boys and a daughter, 12.

My husband died last year after a lingering illness that nearly put us in the poorhouse. I am not destitute, but I have to be a very good manager to make ends meet.

My problem: At his funeral, friends and family hovered around me, expressing their sincere sympathy, and the last thing I heard from ALL of them was: "If you need anything, please call me."

Abby, I need EVERYTHING! I need someone to take an interest in two teen-aged boys who have no father. I need someone to cheer me up when I'm feeling low. I need someone to dress up for. I need someone to get me out of the house and invite me to a movie, a bridge game, a play, a concert, or an evening of conversation so I will know I'm alive. A widow needs everything any other normal woman needs, but she can't call up her friends and ask them for anything.

Please print this, Abby. Maybe someone who has made this offer to some widow somewhere will see it and pick up the phone and ask her what she needs. Thanks for listening.

YOUR FRIEND THE WIDOW

DEAR FRIEND: Consider it done. If this awakens some of your sleeping friends, let me know.

DEAR ABBY: I hate showers! I am 27 years old, and didn't use to feel this way, but enough is enough. Lately I have been invited to showers for girls I hardly know, some of whom I haven't seen since I got out of high school.

Opening presents in front of everyone to publicize how "generous" (or "cheap") the donors are rubs me the wrong way.

I was married (two years ago) and refused when my friends offered to have a shower for me. I had a planned elopement and didn't soak one person for a present.

I have been told that if you're invited to a shower, you must send a gift whether you come or not. How does one courteously reply to a nery shower invitation for someone she hasn't seen in nine years?

Please answer in your column, Abby. I'm sure I'm not the only one with this problem.

SICK OF SHOWERS

DEAR SICK: There is no "law" which compels you to send a gift if you decline a shower invitation. Simply decline, and don't feel obligated to give a present to someone you "hardly know" or haven't seen in nine years.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single and fairly attractive. I don't have to elaborate on how difficult it is for a young lady to find a respectable, intelligent, employed, single man these days.

The problem is, I seem to have found one, but he is seeing another girl.

He has dated me a few times, but I feel so guilty about the other girl, Abby, I don't want to be the cause of their breaking up.

Should I continue to see him? Or should I drop the whole thing before it gets started?

LOST

DEAR LOST: If he wants to break off with the other girl, theirs couldn't be much of a love match. Since you didn't deliberately set out to lure him away, there is no reason to feel guilty. If you wait for a man who is not seeing anyone, you could wait a long time.

DEAR ABBY: Please help correct the erroneous idea that most homes for unwed mothers have closed down because they are no longer needed.

The fact that more unmarried mothers are keeping their babies doesn't necessarily mean that no one needs our services anymore. Many unmarried pregnant girls need a quiet place where they can "think," and get counseling and guidance (not preaching) from people who understand. Delivery of her baby is a small part of her need.

Bostic-Smith Vows Exchanged In Dunn

DUNN—Miss Sharon Larue Smith and Jackie Rollins Bostic were married at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 3, at the First Baptist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Nowell Smith Jr. of Dunn, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bythal Hill Bostic Sr. of Goldsboro, and the late Mr. Bostic.

Dr. Tom Freeman performed the rites. Mrs. Leon Kittrell of Dunn was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silken organza, English net and rosepoint lace. The bodice was of English net styled with a high scalloped Victorian neckline of lace. The A-line gown featured an empire waist and long fitted sleeves with lace appliques centered with clusters of pearls. The skirt swept into an attached chapel length train embellished by lace appliques and pearls.

A chapel length mantilla of imported silk illusion bordered with matching lace accented the gown. The bride carried a Bible centered with Georgianna orchids showered with stephanotis.

Mrs. Manly Johnson of St. Pauls, and Candy Chinn of Atlanta, Ga., served as matron and maid of honor respectively.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Burnett, of Rocky Mount, Karen Colombo of Florence, S.C., Linda Dawson of Raleigh, Mrs. Bruce Brady of Charlotte, Nancy Bashford of Raleigh, and Kathy Tierney of Richmond, Va.

Bythal Hill Bostic Jr. of Miami, Fla., served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Nowell Smith, brother of the bride, Tommy Saunders of Greenville, S.C., Lee Lewis of Greenville, George Fleming of Wilmington, Danny Davis of Goldsboro, Maynard Ernest of Greenville, and Charlie Gaylor of Goldsboro.

The couple honeymooned at Disney World and will reside at Little Switzerland.

For travel the bride chose a navy and white dress fashioned with A-line skirt and short jacket.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University, and a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She is presently employed as a kindergarten teacher at Marion.

The bridegroom, a graduate of East Carolina University, is a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity and is presently employed as a customer service representative for Carolina, Power and Light.

Following the wedding, the guests were entertained at the Woman's Club for the reception. Greeting guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Pearsall.

Mrs. Tommy Knox and Mrs. Larry Smith aunts of the bride, poured punch. Miss Betty Smith, aunt of the bride, served cake. Mr. and Mrs. George Albert Neighbors presided at the guest register.

Good-byes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones.

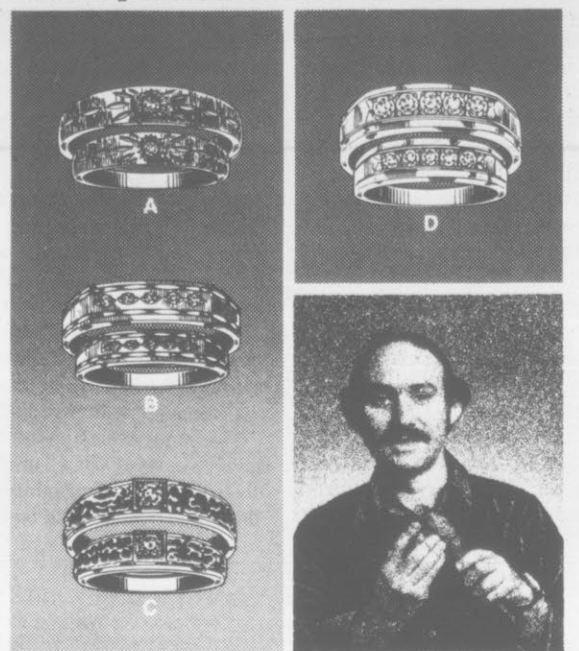

A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and out-of-town guests was given by Mrs. Bythal Hill Bostic Sr. and family of the bridegroom at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. William Pearsall and Mrs. Raymond Cromartie were hostesses at the bridesmaids luncheon for Miss Sharon Smith Friday. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Pearsall.

Eastern AHEC Organization Meet Set Aug. 20

Equipment Needed For Respiratory Patients

Throughout the 22 county area of the Eastern Lung Association there is a dire need for equipment to be used by persons suffering from various respiratory diseases.

Lorey H. White, Jr., Executive Director of the Association with headquarters at 112 South Pitt Street, has issued an appeal in an effort to locate respirators, handi-vents, and maxi-mists in eastern North Carolina that might not be in use at the time.

"These machines are badly needed for use by patients suffering from emphysema, asthma, chronic bronchitis and other respiratory diseases," White said.

"We have noted an increase in the number of patients needing to use these machines, and are trying to locate any not in use. There are a number of people," White added, "who simply are financially unable to rent or purchase these machines because of their high rental or purchase costs."

Donations will be appraised and the value of the machine donated can be claimed by the donor as a tax deduction. Anybody who has a machine to donate should call 752-5093 or come by the Eastern Lung Association Office at 112 S. Pitt Street in Greenville, located across the street from the Main Post Office.

MEN'S DAY

Men's Day will be observed at St. John FWB Church Sunday. Services will be held at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The executive committee of the newly organized Eastern Area Health Education Center (EAHEC) Inc., will hold its initial meeting in Greenville on Aug. 20.

One item of business may be selection of a full-time administrative director for EAHEC which, established at an organizational meeting in Belhaven earlier this month, is the largest element in a statewide network of nine area Health Education centers (AHECs) authorized and funded by the 1974 General Assembly. The AHEC network is to be under overall administration of the Office of Community Health Services of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Dr. Edwin W. Monroe, Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs, East Carolina University, has been elected president of the EAHEC Inc., which embraces representatives of 16 area hospitals and the ECU Division of Health Affairs.

Other officers include Joseph H. James Jr., administrator, Wayne County Memorial Hospital, vice president; John P. Davis, administrator Beaufort County Hospital, secretary; L. Daniel Duval, director, Lenoir Memorial Hospital, treasurer.

In essence EAHEC will seek to establish structures through which the necessary numbers and kinds of health manpower will become readily available to provide the fullest possible measure of health care to each citizen. This goal represents a substantial challenge since the East presently is in a situation where major categories of health services and manpower have been neglected or inadequately distributed and utilized.

"EAHEC represents a unique partnership between hospitals of widely varying size in a large geographic area; university, community college, and technical institute health professional education programs; and community based human resources agencies and health professionals in private practice," Monroe said. These interests will be represented on 16 Local AHEC Committees now being organized by the Albemarle Hospital, Beaufort County Hospital, Bertie County Hospital, Chowan Hospital, Carteret General Hospital, Columbia Memorial Hospital, Duplin General Hospital, Lenoir Memorial Hospital, Martin Memorial Hospital, Onslow Memorial Hospital, Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Pungo District Hospital, Roanoke-Chowan Hospital, Washington County Memorial Hospital and Wayne County Memorial Hospital.

Phillips Urges Standard Time

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State schools Supt. A. Craig Phillips has urged North Carolina's congressional delegation to support a return to Standard Time this winter.

He said it caused confusion, inconvenienced parents and apparently increased the number of early morning accidents.

No Delay In Crises For Ford

President Gerald Ford didn't have to wait very long for his first crisis after assuming the presidency.

Hardly had he been sworn in than fighting resumed on the island of Cyprus between Greek and Turkish forces and there was imminent danger of hostilities between the two nations on the mainland of Europe.

Fortunately the new president had a strong right arm in the person of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to advise him and to act in this latest of world crises.

The Cyprus situation brought forcefully home the knowledge that the United States is never very far from crisis and a new president will be quickly tested as to his ability to deal with world situations.

Hopefully the situation has eased a bit in Cyprus, but there are other trouble spots about the world. The Middle East is always a possibility for conflict and, since the United States played a major role in negotiating the most recent cease fire there, it would be looked to again if further hostilities broke out.

Vietnam, which caused us so much anguish, continues to rumble and rapid decisions would have to be made if major war came about again in that war-torn nation.

President Ford made it known early that Secretary of State Kissinger, the miracle worker of the Vietnam and Middle East conflicts would be a part of the Ford administration. It goes without saying that it was a wise decision and the nation will feel safer with Sec. Kissinger continuing to direct our foreign affairs.

Veterans Program In Need Of Prompt Vote

It looks as if the Congress has finally agreed upon a GI Bill education increase of 23 percent.

There would also be a $1,000 a year loan program and 45 months of payments rather than the present 36.

Hopefully these provisions will be quickly approved so that veterans now attending school can look forward to the increases this fall.

THE THIRTY EIGHTH PRESIDENT

Nixon's Shield Is Gone

By CHARLES J. LEWIS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Having shed the legal armor that protected him in the White House, Richard M. Nixon is about to receive a subpoena that could be the harbinger of further legal entanglements.

The subpoena was filed here on Thursday by lawyers for John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic adviser. It seeks Nixon's testimony as a defense witness in Ehrlichman's upcoming conspiracy trial arising from the Watergate cover-up.

Addressed to "Richard M. Nixon, Presidential Compound, San Clemente, Calif.," the subpoena was mailed to the U.S. marshal's office in Los Angeles for delivery to Nixon, probably in the next couple of days.

The subpoena was accompanied by check for $302 to cover Nixon's travel expenses and daily witness fees.

While president, Nixon received court protection from subpoenas requiring his testimony, though he was compelled by the Supreme Court to honor subpoenas for tapes and documents in the Watergate investigation.

It's unclear what sort of testimony Nixon would be expected to give on Ehrlichman's behalf. One Ehrlichman lawyer cited a gag rule laid down by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica as the reason why he couldn't spell out the purpose of the subpoena.

Ehrlichman and five other defendants are scheduled to stand trial Sept. 9. However, three—Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell—were joined Thursday in their pleas for delay by special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who said he needs more time to study new presidential tapes. Sirica set a hearing Monday to deal with those requests.

Nixon's presidential immunity apparently thwarted the Watergate grand jury's original resolve to indict him as another member of the alleged conspiracy. Instead, the indictment handed down March 1 listed Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Jaworski and his staff now are studying whether Nixon should be indicted as a full-fledged conspirator. That possibility has stirred debate around the country, and the American Bar Association's legislative body went on record on Thursday in favor of the proposition that no one should get special treatment in facing prosecution for alleged crimes.

The ABA's 340-member House of Delegates, meeting in Honolulu at the annual bar convention, approved the principle after discussing Nixon's status. However, the resolution didn't mention Nixon or Watergate specifically.

Jaworski's decision is not expected immediately.

Ehrlichman appeared in a state court in Los Angeles on Thursday with another defense attorney and entered a new plea of innocent to perjury charges stemming from the break-in at the Beverly Hills office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman's new plea was based on the argument that he already had stood trial for perjury and that another trial would be double jeopardy and, thus, unconstitutional. Ehrlichman was convicted here last month on federal charges of perjury and conspiracy in the case.

THIS AFTERNOON

A Lifetime In Prisons

By BILL NOBLITT
CHARLOTTE—At the age of six, Stacy L. Long was sent to prison.

Oh, not a real prison—but close enough. Jackson Training School at Concord, in the early 30s, was not an enlightened institution where trained psychologists sought to aid troubled youngsters.

And Long was not a criminal—although he later became one.

Long's daddy died, his mother got sick, and the children had to be sent away. The others were lucky, they found a place at an orphanage. He waited, and waited. And it never developed.

From six till 16—those years when children go to school, make friends, play ball, fall in love with little girls, grow up to be men—Long lived with shaved head, being forced to wear a tattered dress for punishment, drinking pints of castor oil as a disciplinary measure, and feeling the bite of a belt buckle on his bare hindside.

Bears Scars
He still bears the scars—including one slashing across his left eyebrow, put there by a burly six-foot-two, 200-pound guard.

Still a young man, Long can look back over a total of 22 years in various state and federal prisons. He vowed as a child to get even with the people who put him in Jackson Training School.

"I felt I owned society something, and I paid it off," Long recalls, looking back on a history of bank robbery, thievery, even murder.

As a child, after that guard busted his eye, Long fell to his knees: "I prayed to God to make that fellow fall dead, and I would do anything. But of course he didn't."

"Then I prayed that he would make me six-foot-two and 200 pounds, and I would handle it myself. He did."

Today, Long is a minister and director of the prison pre-release program in Charlotte—the Home of Assurance where a total of 112 state or federal prisoners have broken back into community life and routines prior to release.

The change came in his life while at Central Prison on a conviction of killing a man. "I had always believed in God," Long said. "But I figured he was somebody else's God, not mine. Then, it dawned on me one day that there really is a God, and that I was going to hell."

Long turned around. Out of prison, he is still not very far from them. He now counts among his friends people still in prison, guards and prison administrators, policemen and judges; including the judge who sent him up for second-degree murder.

An Honor
Recently, the Mecklenburg Bar Association presented Long its annual Liberty Bell award for community service, and he has been honored by the Charlotte Chapter of the Christians and Jews association.

Hardly a day goes by that he is not visiting or talking by telephone with friends—federal and state prison officials as well as inmates.

The other day he had two basketballs and two volleyballs in the trunk of his car. They were to be delivered to a prison unit near Charlotte where Long had visited. The warden had told him the men couldn't use the playground facilities because they didn't have any money in the budget for balls. Long bought them.

Last weekend, the balls were replaced by a couple of hundred rib-eye steaks and Long headed for a cookout for inmates at another prison unit.

Long figures now he has found a much better way to get even for those early years—by helping to bring about the changes in society which put a six-year-old in a training school.

When he sits down across the dinner table from a judge who once sentenced him, and the two meet as friends, who has changed the most?

"We both have," Long said.

The Chic D.C. Tourists

WASHINGTON—The new summer fashions for American tourists visiting Washington have recently been released, and from all indications the clothes are going to be more formal than in previous years.

The source of this information was Sophie Glutz, the famous Washington tourist fashion expert, who said, "It appears now that women will be wearing more stretch pants than Bermuda shorts when visiting the public monuments."

"Does this mean that women tourists visiting this town will no longer be wearing blue jeans and sweat shirts?"

"Oh, I wouldn't rule that out completely. In the daytime you may find a certain number of women in blue jeans and sweat shirts, as well as shorts, but in the evening they will probably change into slacks, stretch pants and blouses."

"Is it true that the short shorts are out?"

"They are after 4 o'clock. Of course, many tourists will still visit the White House and the Lincoln Memorial in short shorts, but we're recommending longer shorts for the Senate and House of Representatives."

"I think that's wise," I said. "What about skirts?"

"Skirts are awfully dressy for sightseeing in Washington, but some women will wear them with halters and bare midriffs and open-toe sandals."

"What about dresses and suits for women?"

"Heaven forbid. A woman tourist wouldn't be seen dead in a dress or suit. All the other tourists would laugh at her."

"What about styles?"

"Keeping your hair in curlers while sightseeing still seems to be the rage. The large colored plastic curlers which stick out all over your head are coming back in again."

ART BUCHWALD

"How about face cream?"

"It's optional. Many women tourists prefer it to suntan oil as suntan oil doesn't show up as well."

"I suppose socks and stockings are out?"

"They have been for some time now, unless you're going to a state dinner at the White House."

"What's new in colors?"

"In shorts, we're recommending plaids for women who weigh more than 150 pounds. They look so much better from the rear. Also, stripes are back in, at least as far as sweat shirts are concerned. The simple black t-shirt and a few years ago are definitely out."

"What about men's tourist fashions?"

"There hasn't been too much change in men's fashions this year. They'll still wear Army fatigues, bright-colored sports shirts, sneakers and baseball caps."

"And children?"

"We're not laying down any hard-and-fast rules on what children should wear in Washington. The National Gallery of Art has asked that children not wear bathing suits when visiting it, but you have to remember that the gallery is a very stuffy institution."

"I'm delighted to see how the standards in clothes have gone up in the nation's capital this year," I said.

"Yes, it's amazing how clothes-conscious Americans are when they visit Washington these days. It's as though they know that they're on display, and they want to look their best for Gerry Ford."

The INSIDE REPORT

Haig Poses A Dilemma

By ROLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—President Ford's strong inclination to retain Gen. Alexander Haig as White House chief of staff is coming under equally strong criticism, expressed so far only privately, from powerful political forces in both parties.

These critics argue that, for all his competence, Haig is too much the symbol of the last nightmarish year of the Nixon presidency. Accordingly, the deepening sense that Haig will continue running the White House staff indefinitely alarms Republican politicians. "For Al's sake and for Ford's sake, I hope not," says one Nixon assistant.

What to do about Haig, moreover, is the intensification of a broader dilemma: in seeking continuity, is the new President losing his chance for a new spirit of revival in Washington?

The Haig dilemma is acutely painful. Having developed a genuine intimacy with Al Haig ("very comfortable," says one insider) in recent months, the President obviously feels Haig is his answer to two paramount problems:

First, keeping Haig voids the problem of filling a most demanding staff job. Certainly, there is no replacement in sight.

Only slightly less important, Mr. Ford thinks Haig's retention would advertise "stability and continuity" between the Nixon and Ford administrations.

But powerful forces in both parties, particularly on Capitol Hill but by no means limited there, feel that Haig's nearly 15 months as Mr. Nixon's point-man makes him expendable. They believe he should go quickly—long before the Nov. 5 election.

Fairly or not, senior members of Congress contend that, however guiltless Haig is in strictly Watergate terms, he embodies Richard Nixon's tendency toward downgrading Congress and belittling conventional politics.

More to the point, say these politicians, Haig was forcibly immersed in intimate details of Nixon's long battle for survival after he became White House chief of staff. This happened despite Nixon's original promise to Haig that Watergate would be out of his province.

What deeply worries the Haig-must-go camp is that his fingerprints may yet be found on some vagrant Oval Office tape or document, not in any legally incriminating way but in a way to embarrass Jerry Ford. They feel the chance is not worth taking.

Haig is the clearest symbol of Mr. Ford's White House staff problem. When the President entered the Roosevelt Room moments after taking his oath of office last Friday, he looked perplexed as a voice introduced "the President of the United States." His first words were that, while a new President normally seeks the resignations of former staffers, he was not. Then, leaving a loophole for "individual cases," he said he was "very glad" to say that "Al Haig has agreed to stay on."

Haig is not the only holdover. Dean Burch is championed by two powerful home state patrons, Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. John Rhodes; he likely will remain as cabinet-level counselor. The congressional liaison staff and the national security staffs will be untouched.

Nevertheless, Mr. Ford's loophole is big enough to insure the termination of many Nixonites: Ken Clawson, chief of communications; Pat Buchanan and most of the other speechwriters; legal aides Fred Buzhardt and Leonard Garment; Roy Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget. In varying degrees and nature, each is too closely identified with the disgraced President.

Their departure has far less value than Haig's retention. He is the personification of the Nixon staff, both operating at its best and twisting and turning to find an escape hatch as Watergate closed in on President Nixon.

Other Editors Say Scott On Immunity

(Greensboro Daily News)
Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, who never leaves himself open to the charge of understatement, has reported—accurately enough, no doubt—that Congress is generally reluctant to see former President Nixon prosecuted for his role in the Watergate coverup. But Scott speaks as if all that lies between Mr. Nixon and immunity is the blood-lust of old enemies. And that is a foolish oversimplification of the problem.

When Mr. Nixon's former aides go on trial next month in the coverup case, it is virtually certain that their lawyers will want to subpoena Mr. Nixon to testify. If they do so, he will have to appear.

One supposes, anyway, that if they are to be tried for the crime of obstructing justice they would find it helpful to have the jury told whether or not they acted independently or at the orders of a President.

Mr. Nixon, if he appeared, could of course disclaim responsibility—although the June 23, 1972, conversations with H.R. Haldeman alone seem to confirm beyond reasonable doubt his role as a "co-conspirator." If, on the other hand, the former President should testify that the men on trial acted at his direction, it would be strange to convict those who acted as his agents in a crime while letting the procurer of their acts go free. As long ago as the Aaron Burr trial of 1807, Chief Justice John Marshall laid it down as a basic principle of law that the accessories in a conspiracy cannot be found guilty unless the principal conspirator is found guilty first.

In the coverup trial, then, a situation could arise—either as a matter of law or of fair-minded administration of justice—in which the judge and special prosecutor had to choose between indicting Mr. Nixon or dropping the charges against his agents. It is difficult to imagine how the second alternative could serve the cause of "equal justice under the law."

That is one reason why the issue of immunity for the former President is not the simple issue Senator Scott seems to think it is. Senator Scott has the unfortunate habit of talking first and thinking later, and consequently has had to sit down to a steady diet of his own words. The meal may not yet be over, either.

Strength For Today

THE WORST SELF

Nothing can terrify a man so much as his own worst self. Few things are as affecting as to see a man lying upon his death bed desperately afraid to die because his life has been sinful. Old Ivan the Terrible, the Russian Czar of the sixteenth century who slew people by the hundreds, including his own son, had on his deathbed a terrible vision of what the future had in store for him. Men have no fears greater than the fears of their worst self.

As Benedict Arnold, the Revolutionary general who turned traitor, lay on his deathbed, he murmured faintly, "My hope is in God." He was without country, without friends, without honor. A brave, shrewd, and resourceful general, he had lost all because in a moment of weakness he gave in to his worst self. And other people recognized this. Those to whom he had sold his country scorned him as his own countrymen did.

Few of us are without occasional evil impulses. We should be aware of the cost of giving in to them.

Tight Money Policy Is Suspect

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While a tight monetary policy, such as exists now, is supposedly designed to bring down prices, a good many businessmen suspect it really adds to their expenses and therefore to their prices.

Could such a situation really exist? Is it possible that some of the nation's most respected economic minds could actually miscalculate so completely the impact of their decisions?

Perhaps there never will be a clear-cut answer. But some interesting observations are being made day after day by some perplexed non-economists.

The most common of them is this: If high interest rates are the enemy of inflation, why do these two aspects of our current economy seem to fit so neatly together, one rising with the other?

Another: If high interest rates are supposed to discourage borrowing and spending, how long are we supposed to wait for this to happen? Shouldn't we be seeing the impact by now?

The fact is that business, rather than being discouraged, is continuing to borrow at the high rates. Some respected financial analysts now foresee the prime lending rate remaining close to 12 per cent for several more months.

One reason for this continued borrowing is that corporations have found the equity markets to be, temporarily at least, an unreliable source of funds. Stock market investors are inactive. Stock prices are depressed.

At least one reason for Wall Street's anemia, of course, is the drainage of funds from stocks into debt issues, which carry those highly desirable high interest rates—a direct effect of tight money.

And so the corporations also have to go where the money is. They are forced to borrow, and at such high rates, some Wall Streeters point out, that the effect on corporations will last for years.

That is, those high rates that big companies are paying represent commitments for years ahead. They will add to the cost of business for years ahead. They will be passed on as higher prices for years ahead.

No wonder, then, that businessmen who pay these rates question the nation's anti-inflation policy.

House Judiciary Republicans Say Nixon Not 'Hounded Out'

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While asserting that former President Richard M. Nixon was not hounded out of office, a draft report by 10 House Judiciary Republicans says he wasn't impeachable on most charges either.

The draft report contends the only "direct and persuasive" impeachment evidence the committee ever received was Nixon's own statement last week that he approved an initial Watergate cover-up effort and then concealed that fact.

"We hope that it will not hereafter be said by many that Richard Nixon was 'hounded out of office,' for that is not true," the draft says.

It says that until Nixon's own statement, the only Watergate cover-up impeachment evidence the House committee had was "layer upon layer of hearsay."

The 10 Republicans voted against all three impeachment articles approved by the committee, but all 10 announced after his Aug. 5 disclosure that they would vote for the Watergate cover-up article on the House floor. Seven committee Republicans voted for at least one impeachment article.

Nixon resigned before the end of the week, saying his loss of support in Congress left him no other choice.

The minority report of around 100 pages is to be published with the 175-page majority report and individual views next week as the Judiciary Committee's official report on the three impeachment articles.

The majority report concludes that "from the beginning the President knowingly directed the cover-up of the Watergate burglary."

It also concludes that Nixon "repeatedly and willfully" abused his power by misusing federal agencies such as the Internal Revenue Service and by violating rights of citizens, particularly Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

Sharply disagreeing with both those conclusions, the Republicans' draft report says Nixon did not direct the Watergate cover-up but rather joined "an ongoing conspiracy" to obstruct justice in 1972.

It says the only hard evidence is his own statement that six days after the Watergate break-in he approved an effort to steer the FBI away from investigating the first leads that it was his re-election committee's operation.

the cover-up.

On the impeachment article accusing Nixon of abuse of power, the Republicans' draft report says there is no direct evidence implicating Nixon in any illegal act. The Republicans' report says Nixon aides abused power with varying degrees of the President's knowledge and involvement, which it says they roundly condemn. It says they favor strengthening legal sanctions "to deter such reprehensible official conduct in the future."

But it says, for example, that while an unsuccessful effort was made to use IRS tax audits for political purposes and Nixon made tape-recorded comments seeming to condone the practice, there is no direct evidence that Nixon ordered such tax audits.

The Republicans' report also disagrees with the majority one that impeachment for Nixon's defiance of committee subpoenas would have been necessary to warn any future presidents against such defiance of Congress' subpoena power.

The GOP draft says, "There may appear to be an element of unfairness or even circularity in removing a president from office for failure to cooperate in his own impeachment."

Family Building Big Houseboat

CORONA, S.D. (AP) — Stung by the falling cattle market and anxious to get away for a while, the Marcus Joachim family is planning to drift through life for a few years on a giant homemade houseboat.

Joachim, 26, who raised 100 head of cattle on his father's farm near here before the bottom dropped out of the market, drew up the plans himself and began building the vessel in May.

He plans to launch it on the Missouri River, and is constructing the 70-foot long and 20-foot high vessel on a trailer so all he has to do is pull it 200 miles south to the launch ramp at Sioux City, Iowa.

"He's been playing with the idea for four years and we just decided to do it," said his wife Barbara, 22. "The cattle weren't making much of a living ... and he figured that before the kids are in school, we'd all get away while we can. I think it will be fun."

The couple and their two daughters, Selissa, 4, and Nicole, 8 months, live with his father, Victor.

Joachim, who worked on boats in Alaska, hopes to have his finished in October. The family will leave then, unless they're short of money, in which case they'll save and sail next spring.

The boat's main structure is constructed of 2-by-6-inch planks, and the bottom and sides will be covered by fiberglass. The living quarters, 14 feet by 40 feet, will be built on the main deck with a wheelhouse mounted on top. There will be two bedrooms and three watertight compartments for storage. Tanks will be built in the hold to carry 1,500 gallons each of fuel and water.

"It will be just like a large trailer house," Mrs. Joachim said. "It will have a washer, heater, stove, lights, everything."

"We plan to go to New Orleans, but after that we're not sure. Maybe we'll go around the West Coast and up to Alaska. He's making it so we can go on the ocean."

"If we run short of money, we'll stop and he'll get a job, probably as a welder. But we really won't need much money."

"I'm putting up a lot of food, and we'll butcher a steer before we go and put it in a freezer."

"We're not really sure how long we'll stay with it. We'll see how we like it."

Second Degree Conferred At K-Of-C Meet

Second degree honors were conferred on 32 members of the John Ivey Smith Council 6600 of Knights of Columbus meeting at St. Gabriel's Church Hall Tuesday night.

The degree was given to the candidates by a degree team made up of members of Wilson and Rocky Mount Councils under the direction of district deputy Joe Rodri. Members of the degree team were Larry Kerrigan, Otis Fagala, Reggie L'Italian, Tony Silveri and Charlie Thackston. Among the Knights of Columbus men receiving degrees was Rev. Maurice Spillane, pastor of St. Peters Catholic Church.

stage, there is a minority view. It was summed up by a Ford political intimate this way: "Haig demonstrated his bigness last week, a great American, a tower of strength who made it all happen without betrayal or one ounce of disloyalty. We are all in his debt."

Those words under line the personal and ironic tragedy of Al Haig's meteoric rise to power: despite his heroism in the climactic last days of Richard Nixon, he is nevertheless viewed by most of Mr. Ford's political allies as an encumbrance and a liability. The question is whether Mr. Ford himself comes to agree with that view.

The Republicans' report says the committee's evidence disproved an allegation that Nixon ordered a $75,000 hush-money payment to Watergate consays witnesses established that arrangements for paying the money already were being made by the time Nixon made comments at a March 21, 1973, meeting that could be interpreted as meaning that he might approve of it to buy time.

The minority report also says there is no good evidence that Nixon ever offered clemency to buy Watergate defendants' silence.

The draft report does not comment on other Watergate cover-up charges in the majority report, such as one that Nixon encouraged false testimony by some aides as part of

Bishops Say 11 Women Can't Serve As Priests

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A ruling body of the Episcopal Church says 11 women ordained in a controversial ceremony about two weeks ago are not priests and may not perform priestly duties.

The interpretation of church doctrine came in the form of a resolution approved overwhelmingly Thursday by the House of Bishops at a two-day special session to consider the women's ordinations.

Charles V. Willie, vice president of the House of Deputies, the other branch of the church's legislative General Convention, called approval of the resolution "an exercise of male arrogance of the most blatant kind I have ever seen."

Willie also deplored the bishops' voice vote rejection of an amendment to the resolution which would have urged approval of women priests by the General Convention at its next meeting in two years.

"We are shocked and saddened," one of the women, Carter Heyward of New York City, said in a statement on behalf of her 10 colleagues.

no question about it in my mind."

She added: "Each of us will make her own decision as to how and when to affirm the priesthood she knows to be hers."

She declined to elaborate. Nine of the ordained women were present at various times during the meeting.

The resolution also decried the actions of four bishops involved in the ordination ceremonies in Philadelphia on July 29. However, the delegates dropped a separate action which could have led to the stripping of priestly orders of three of those who officiated. The fourth attended the ceremony but did not participate. The Rt. Rev. John M. Allin, presiding bishop of the church, said the question was an internal matter and should not be interpreted by the secular world as one which restricts the freedom of women.

However, he said that any of the women who attempt to practice priestly duties, or any bishop who allows them to do so, is subject to discipline, including expulsion from the 3.2 million-member church, the American branch of the Anglican Church in England.

Confer On Police Work

FARMVILLE—Selected members of police departments of five Pitt County towns, along with several members of the Pitt and Greene County Sheriff Departments, and magistrates of the two counties attended a joint meeting in Farmville Tuesday night.

The four-hour session, conducted by State Bureau of Investigation Agent Fred McKinney, concerned areas of police work in which the various groups work cooperatively.

The belief was expressed by those attending that public support of law enforcement bodies and public awareness of the handling and disposition of particular cases might encourage law enforcement agencies and courts to function more effectively. It was anticipated that such meetings as may follow will include court solicitors and judges.

Regional Center's Blood Supply Lost

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The entire blood supply of the Asheville regional blood center was lost last week when two refrigeration compressors failed.

An emergency appeal for blood donations and shipments of blood from other centers replenished the supply within two days, according to a spokesman for the American National Red Cross center in Asheville.

Morris White of the donor reception office at the center said there was no crisis because of the equipment malfunction because Asheville's four hospitals each maintain individual supplies.

The equipment failure occurred last Wednesday night, White said, and an alarm, which is supposed to warn of refrigeration difficulties, also failed to operate.

Red Cross officials are still investigating the cause of the troubles, White said.

Over 600 pints of blood were collected Friday after appeals for donors were made on area television and radio stations. Other blood shipments came from the Piedmont Regional Center at Charlotte and an Asheville area bloodmobile operating in McDowell County.

Church To Hold Gospel-Singing

A gospel singing will be held at the Meadowbrook Pentecostal Holiness Church Saturday night at 7:30.

The program will feature the Ormonds Family of New Bern. Following the program, the ladies of the church will sell refreshments.

The pastor, Rev. G.A. Casper, invites the public to attend.

COTTON MEETING

MEMPHIS (AP)—Cotton leaders will meet Aug. 28 in New Orleans to discuss ways of getting this year's crop rapidly from field to domestic and export markets.

Plan Retarded Activity Series

The East Carolina University Human Resources Training Institute will sponsor a series on various aspects programs for staff members of eastern North Carolina's Adult Development Activity Programs.

The series is designed to increase participants' proficiency and consists of two sections, a nine session series and a two session series.

Any staff member of an Adult Retarded Activity Program in the 33-county eastern region may register for any and all sessions.

Sessions will begin August 29 and run through December 19 and will be held at the Ramada Inn of Greenville.

Reveal Evidence Indicates Arson

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The New Hanover County Sheriff's Department says it has "found evidence that would directly indicate arson" in three fires in less than a month at the Cape Fear Hospital.

Detectives said that after a fire Wednesday night, the latest at the private hospital, they found an open cigarette lighter on top of a mound of clothes in an orderly room.

A sheriff's spokesman said, "We have several suspects and several good leads. We're turning over the cigarette lighter and other evidence to the state arson investigator."

Clothing Appeal Pickups Begin On August 26

Local churches are reminded of the late summer pickup for the Church World Service Clothing Appeal. Trucks from New Windsor, Md. Center will begin picking up at community depots across North Carolina Monday morning, Aug. 26.

Baby garments, children's clothing of all types and men's clothing remain top on the priority list. Blankets, health kits, sewing-fabric kits and school kits are needed. A demand for white uniforms of all kinds have been requested in addition to good sheets, pillow cases and towels.

Local churches should take their clothing, which is boxed and tied, to the depot at St. James United Methodist Church on Friday, Aug. 23.

Special Prayer Meetings Set At New Church

EASIER WITHOUT THE NET

Why do we enjoy games that make it harder on us? We equip our tennis courts with nets. We line our golf courses with narrow fairways and dot them with sand traps. On a chess board we grant wide movement to only one piece, the queen. In football a team has but four downs to gain the required yardage.

This is because man at his best is innately honest. He demands that his every skill meet reasonable tests. He's convinced there is no satisfaction—no "fun"—without challenges.

Man's religious awareness, which inspires our weekly worship, continually cultivates that innate honesty. Our Christian faith prompts us to develop divine resources of character and commitment. Far more than any game, LIFE tests strength and weakness, rewards achievement not failure.

FDA Staffers Claim Harassment By Agency

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration frequently suppresses unfavorable reports on new drugs and disciplines those who draft them, a group of FDA staff doctors has told a Senate panel.

Eleven medical professionals testified on Thursday, citing numerous instances in which they said their adverse reports on drugs were overturned by FDA officials. Some said that after making such reports, they were taken off the case and the drug assigned to another doctor, who subsequently recommended its approval.

Six of the FDA staff doctors said they were transferred to less important jobs and away from their field of expertise after speaking out against certain drugs or against FDA procedures.

Their testimony came before a joint meeting of Senate Judiciary and Labor-Welfare subcommittees in an investigation of the nation's pharmaceutical industry and the government agencies regulating it.

An FDA spokesman said the agency had no immediate comment on the allegations.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the hearings, said the 11 FDA doctors were subpoenaed and did not appear voluntarily. He warned FDA officials against attempting to take "any administrative action" against the employees because of their testimony.

Dr. J. Marion Bryant, a cardiologist with the FDA, said he was severely reprimanded by his bosses for speaking out on a drug he felt was "exceedingly dangerous."

"I was harassed... I was reprimanded for speaking out in such a fashion," Bryant testified. He also said he was transferred out of the agency's cardiology section after devoting more than 30 years of his life to cardiology.

"I was continually harassed in the way I was trying to do my work," testified Dr. B. L. Appleton. "My superior at that time was going behind my back and giving my findings to the (drug company) sponsor" of the drug being reviewed.

The FDA is charged with reviewing and approving or rejecting all new products that pharmaceutical firms want to market.

Several of the witnesses said their unfavorable reports on drugs were later changed to reflect a more favorable finding. Others testified they were pressured by FDA officials to change and modify their recommendations to pave the way toward FDA approval of drugs they felt should not be marketed.

"I've had significant portions of some of my reviews deleted," said Dr. Carol Kennedy, a specialist on psychiatric drugs. She testified that she was transferred to a section that checked contact lenses after voicing her criticism of FDA procedures.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., ranking Republican on the Labor and Welfare Committee, said he was "deeply shocked and troubled" by what he called "these very, very serious charges being made by professionals in sworn testimony."

Hicks Resigns

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Carl T. Hicks, a longtime leader in the tobacco industry, has resigned as president of the Tobacco Growers' Information Committee Inc.

Hicks, 74, has served as head of the committee since 1958. A former state legislator, he founded the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corp. and was named president of it on its formation in June 1946.

He was chairman for almost three decades of the tobacco committee of the North Carolina State Farm Bureau Federation. He also served as treasurer of the nationwide Tobacco Tax Council of Richmond, Va.

people who head up all these unions that are part of the AFL-CIO, they feel I can't do the job — I'll just say goodbye and go on my way."

Retirement, however, isn't discussed openly inside the House of Labor. Neither is talk of a successor.

To his critics, Meany's brand of unionism is an anachronism. While some younger labor leaders are better educated and may seem more sophisticated and statesmanlike, Meany has stayed the same.

He still speaks in the gruff accents of his Bronx boyhood, still fights communism with the same fervor as in Cold War years of the mid-1950s, and still looks the role of the portly labor boss, with heavy lids drooping threateningly over steel-gray eyes.

But for all the criticism, he remains today stronger politically and, it seems, physically.

Many of his former critics are no longer on the Washington scene. His opposition within the labor movement has all but vanished.

Meany endures. He has outplotted, outfoxed and above all outlasted his opponents.

He also seems more sprightly today than 10 years ago, thanks partly to a successful hip operation in 1970 that ended years of suffering.

Once asked the secret of turning back the physical clock, he replied: "I've always worked hard. But I also find time to relax."

Nowadays, Meany puts in a five-day week, arriving at his office about 10 a.m. and leaving for his home in the Maryland suburbs before the evening rush hour. But it isn't uncommon for him to conduct business over dinner in a local restaurant or at an embassy cocktail party.

"He's a plumber, but he's at home in a tuxedo," said an aide.

GEORGE MEANY

Meany, an ex-plumber who never finished high school, has been dealing with presidents since Franklin D. Roosevelt — a span of intimacy with the White House few men in Washington have equaled.

Although he enjoys his power and his relations with the high and mighty in office, he has shown that he is no one's captive.

In the 1972 campaign, Meany broke a long tradition of support for the Democratic presidential candidates and engineered official neutrality for the AFL-CIO.

His campaign neutrality and his long support of administration policy in Southeast Asia led the White House to look to the cigar-chomping labor leader as part of the new American majority that Richard M. Nixon sought.

But Meany broke with the White House when he thought the administration's economic policies were harmful to labor. And last year he was among the first major public figures to call for impeachment.

For all of the turbulent years in the public eye, Meany works hard at keeping his private life just that.

"He enjoys working and gets a great deal of personal satisfaction from it, but once a day's work is done, it's done," says an aide.

At home, he reads a lot, dotes on his 14 grandchildren, likes to garden and always has a wealth of stories ready for friends and visitors.

Seventeen years ago his daughter gave him an art set and Meany discovered painting.

"It's a wonderful way to forget... even about the economy," he says.

An amateur photographer, Meany paints in oils scenes from his own photographs or from postcards friends sent him from abroad. He signs them "G.M."

He also recently taught himself to play the organ and, when in the mood, sits down, removes his cigar and belts out an Irish ballad.

Meany sometimes startles other labor leaders by suggesting there are better ways than striking to win gains for the worker. He notes that workers who manned picket lines in the 1930s had little to lose, but that today's union member earns $10,000 to $20,000 a year, has a mortgage and sends his children to college.

"We have become part of the establishment," he has said in rebuking those who complain that labor has lost its ideological fervor. He favors the practical approach.

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Gaylord Perry's on a winning streak ... one in a row.
Earlier in the baseball season, that would have been a joke. But it isn't now to the Cleveland Indians' pitcher.

one stretch this year, was on a six-game losing streak before Thursday night's 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.
In the only other American League game, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Chicago White Sox 2-1. And in the only National League game, the Chicago Cubs beat the Houston Astros 5-3.

"I've never had any doubts in my ability to pitch," said Perry, who hadn't won a game since July 3. "I've felt great all along. I've just been in a slump."

At one juncture of the season, the two-time Cy Young winner had a dazzling 15-1 record. Now, it's a more modest 16-7.
"That's the longest slump I've ever had and it has been the hardest one," Perry noted.

He was taken out of Thursday night's game after walking the leadoff batter in the eighth inning. He had given up just five hits.
"I didn't want to come out," Perry said. "But you can't say it was a bad move from the way it worked out."

Frank Duffy's two-run single provided Perry with his winning runs. With the score tied 1-1 and two out in the Cleveland sixth, John Ellis doubled. Minnesota starter Bert Blyleven, 11-14, then walked Oscar Gamble and Tom McCraw to load the bases and set the stage for Duffy's single to left. The Indians scored an insurance run in the eighth on McCraw's sacrifice fly.
Orioles 2, White Sox 1
Earl Williams and Paul Blair

walloped home runs in support of Mike Cuellar's six-hit pitching as Baltimore beat Chicago.
The Orioles failed to score in the third after loading the bases with one out, but Williams connected for his ninth homer of the season in the fourth and Blair slammed his 13th in an inning later off loser Jim Kaat, 13-10.
Cubs 5, Astros 3
Second baseman Larry Milbourne dropped Steve Swisher's two-out, bases-loaded pop for a two-run error in a three-run eight inning to give Chicago its victory over Houston.

Billy Williams started the winning rally with a one-out single—the 2,500th hit of his major league career—off Ken Forsch, 4-4. Andy Thornton walked and Jerry Morales singled, tying the score.
Jim York replaced Forsch and walked Bill Madlock intentionally to load the bases. He struck out George Mitterwald before Milbourne dropped Swisher's routine pop, letting Thornton and Morales score.

Regulars To See Much Action

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer
Some of the Detroit Lions may be pussycats by the end of tonight's National Football League exhibition against the Oakland Raiders.
Lions Coach Rick Forzano announced Thursday that his team "would use everyone we can against Oakland" despite the fact that many of the striking veterans have been in camp only a few days.
Oakland is expected to start a veteran at each position as football fans will get their first look this weekend at many familiar faces who have stayed away from camp because of the NFL Players Association strike. The strike has been postponed for two weeks while both sides go back to the bargaining table.

Saturday, the New York Giants play the New York Jets at New Haven, Conn., Pittsburgh is at Philadelphia, Baltimore plays Cleveland at Tampa, Fla., Cincinnati faces Atlanta at Ga. Tech, Chicago is at Green Bay, Houston is at Dallas, and Kansas City is at Los Angeles.

Denver is at San Francisco on Sunday while St. Louis plays San Diego at Seattle, Buffalo is at Washington and New Orleans is at New England. Minnesota is at Miami in Monday night action.
Both sides resumed talks Thursday in Washington for about 1½ hours before breaking into subcommittees to discuss specific issues not disclosed publicly.
Both players and owners were expected to go at it hard today when federal mediator W.J. Usery returned to guide the talks. Usery was absent because of a speaking engagement Thursday.

In Fullerton, Calif., Los Angeles Rams Owner Carroll Rosenbloom said of the strike, "No matter what happens from now on, we have all lost."
San Francisco 49er running back Vic Washington was traded to the Houston Oilers in return for a first-round draft choice in 1976 and a third-round choice in 1977.
Washington had aroused the ire of 49ers Coach Dick Nolan, who had sent him out of camp for missing practices and meals.
It was also a bad day for another Washington.
The Denver Broncos announced that wide receiver Gene Washington would need surgery on his ankle and miss the coming season.
Washington came to Denver from Minnesota in 1973.
Punter Bobby Joe Green, a

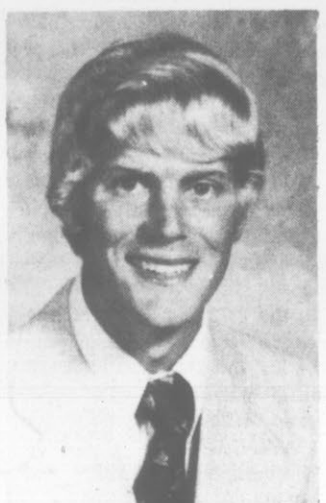

14-season veteran, and defensive end Mel Tom retired from the Chicago Bears, who traded kick return specialist Cecil Turner to the 49ers for halfback John Isenbarger and tight end Dick Witcher.
The San Diego Chargers traded Ron Smith to the Oakland Raiders. Smith, a veteran strong side safety, led the American Football Conference with a 13-yard punt return average. The Raiders will provide undisclosed draft choices in return.
Most coaches, meanwhile, were not jumping to push their rookies and free agents out into the streets.
New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks was trying to sort through about a 100 candidates for his team and wasn't that impressed with his returning veterans.
He said the veterans didn't have a weight problem but were not in condition to hit.
Denver Coach John Halton made similar observations.

Warfield Looks To 'Last Year'

By JOHN R. SKINNER
AP Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Wide receiver Paul Warfield has recalled a personal forecast that he would not be with the Miami Dolphins in 1975.
"I said before camp last year that I'd probably play that year and possibly one more before retiring," Warfield said Thursday.
His retirement plans were changed by a $3.5-million contract given him, fullback Larry Csonka and running back Jim Kiick to play with the Memphis Southern in the World Football League.
"Physically, I feel as good as I've felt for the last three to four years," said Warfield of his playing outlook. "Emotionally, to play 20 games a year is quite hard."
Warfield, who earns an estimated $70,000 with the National Football League champion Dolphins, said money wasn't always his main goal in football. He said he turned down a higher offer from the old American Football League to sign with the club he idolized as a youth, the Cleveland Browns, in 1964.
The former Ohio State star, now a Cleveland resident, indicated he might think twice if he had the AFL-Browns option open to him again.

"I was raised in Western society," he explained. "You learn it is not wrong for someone to try to acquire a better standard of living."
Warfield is to get an estimated $1 million from the three-year WFL contract. The lion's share goes to Csonka and the smallest portion to Kiick, who lost his Miami starting job to Mercury Morris the past two seasons.
Warfield has been perhaps the most popular of all the Dolphins since he was obtained from Cleveland in 1970. Dolphin T-shirts bearing his number, 42, have been almost impossible to find in South Florida stores during past seasons.
But now, Warfield realizes he may be subject to boos from disgruntled fans.
"I think most of the people can place themselves in my situation and realize I did what was best for those dear to me," said the father of one daughter. "I think most of them will evaluate me fairly."
"I'm just going to do my job as well as I can and hope that will be well enough to satisfy me and hopefully, satisfy the people here."

Smith Is New Coach At N. Pitt

PAT SMITH

BETHEL—Pat Smith, a Robersonville native, has been named the new head football coach at North Pitt High School.
Smith replaces Danny Wilmer, who has joined the collegiate coaching ranks in New Mexico.

A 1972 graduate of East Carolina University, the 25-year-old Smith attended Robersonville High School, where he participated in football, basketball and baseball.
Following the end of his high school career, he signed a professional baseball contract with the Minnesota Twins organization, advancing to Triple A contract during his five year career. He attended East Carolina during the off-season to complete his undergraduate work.

For the past two years, he has been a member of the faculty at Robersonville High School, teaching health and physical education, and serving as assistant football and head junior varsity coach. He also assisted in baseball and headed the girls' basketball program.
At North Pitt, in addition to his duties as head football coach, Smith will work with the junior varsity baseball program and assist in baseball. He will teach health and physical education.
Smith is married to the former Libby Warren and they have a 13-month-old son, Pat Jr. The Smiths reside in Robersonville.

Girl Seeking Soap Box Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Writer
OAK FOREST, Ill. (AP) — "I'm going to keep my head down to cut wind resistance, steer straight and pray a little."
That's Chris Allen's strategy for attempting to become the first girl to win the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, on Saturday.
Out of a field of 99 local-level champions in the Gran Prix of gravity racing, a record 21 are girls. There were nine girls last year out of 120 entries.
"My gosh, I thought there would be only three or four girls this time," said Chris, 13, who beat out 21 boys and three other girls to qualify for the Akron showdown.
Her racer had the longest name of all in the area trials here in this Chicago suburb: Womens Liberation Center of Evanston.
"We needed a $75 entrance fee at Oak Forest," said Kay Allen, Chris' mother who has strong women's lib leanings. "So I got in touch with the Evanston center and they passed the hat."
However the Oak Forest Jaycees, who sponsored the local race-off, are sponsoring Chris in the national derby.

of her grandfather, John Allen. She became interested when her brother, Edward, built one several years ago. He failed to qualify for the national derby.
Chris' racer was one of six cited by derby officials on Thursday as violating derby rules. But an official said the violations were minor and all six drivers were given until Saturday to make the needed changes. Her violation involved floorboards narrower than the six-inch minimum permitted for points other than where they taper front and rear.
Ironically, Chris said it was those floorboards which had presented the most problems in building her $62 wooden racer.
"The most trouble was shaping the floorboard," she said. "I wanted it to fit like a glove."
Mrs. Allen said her daughter "is a positive thinker and has lots of determination."
"I look for her to be a little tiger at Akron."

Murphy's Fears Behind Him

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — "There was a very good possibility," Bob Murphy said, "that I would never play again."

"Oh, maybe I could have played—but they thought it might be shooting 75s. I'd have to find something else to do."

But those fears are behind him now.

The chunky, red-haired Murphy, who had his left hand in a cast for three months starting in March, put together a six-under-par 65 Thursday and tied scrambler Dave Stockton for the first-round lead in the $200,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open Golf Tournament.

Murphy, who had played only two other times since suffering a torn ligament in his hand at the Heritage Classic, had a magnificent effort.

He didn't make a bogey. He hit every green in regulation. And he had it so close to the hole his longest birdie putt was six feet—and he missed two others of about the same length. "I had a chance to have a really, really low round," said Murphy, a veteran of seven years on the tour and a former winner of this tournament.

He and Stockton shared a one-stroke lead over rookie Eddie Pearce and Australian veteran Bruce Devlin, tied at 66, five under par on the friendly little, 6,598-yard Wethersfield Country Club course.

The group at 67 included Jerry McGee, George Johnson, Don Bies and Hubert Green, a three-time winner this season and one of the game's brightest young stars.

"I played pretty well. I just had a bad finish," said Lee Trevino, the recently crowned PGA National champion who bogeyed two of his last three holes for a 68.

He's tied at that spot, three shots back, with more than a dozen others. South African Gary Player, the Masters and British Open titleholder, had a 69 and defending champion Billy Casper matched par 71 in the mild, sunny, slightly-breezy weather.

U.S. Open king Hale Irwin, Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and leading money winner Johnny Miller are not competing.

Interceptions Allow Sun To Burn Texans

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The Southern California Sun became the star attraction of the World Football League's Western Division today after stealing a few lines from the Houston Texans' defensive script Thursday night.

The Texans entered the game as the top defensive team in the WFL and held a one-half game lead over the Sun in the Western Division.

But the Sun defense victimized substitute quarterback Don Trull with two interceptions, one a 66-yard touchdown return by Durwood Keeton, to defeat the Texans 18-7 before 31,227 in the Astrodome and a national television audience.

"I knew I was gone when I got it," said Keeton, whose interception return with 24 seconds left in the fourth quarter iced the game for the Sun. "Heck, there wasn't anybody there but me. I knew they had to stop the clock by going deep or for the quick out."

"I told (Jim) Bowman to go deep and I went for the quick out. I'll have to credit Coach (Ed) Cody for teaching me how to pick off the quick out pattern."

Houston, which dropped to a 2-3-1 record, led 7-0 at the half on a 51-yard touchdown bomb from quarterback Mike Taliaferro to John Odom, who grabbed the ball between two Sun defenders.

Safety Jack Conners grabbed Houston's first punt of the third quarter on his own 10 and raced 90 yards for the tying touchdown.

Taliaferro left the game in the second quarter with a cut over his left eye that required six stitches. He had completed six of eight passes for 117 yards, including five of five in the first quarter. Trull finished the game.

Conners left the game with a dislocated elbow and may be out three or four weeks. Texan running back Warren McVea, who joined the team last Saturday, ran one play and sustained broken ribs.

Mixed Reaction To Firestone's Pullout

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Reaction was mixed Thursday to the not unexpected announcement that the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. was pulling out of racing.

"When you take the competition out between Firestone and Goodyear, it's going to be tough to field teams to compete," said Bob Fletcher, head of the Cobre-Firestone racing team in Phoenix.

"It gives us a real problem because we're the largest Firestone dealer in the nation. To race on Goodyear tires is gonna make it a little bit tough," he said.

A spokesman for the Indianapolis Speedway, site of the Indianapolis 500 which Firestone-shod cars have won 48 times since 1911, said "racing will just have to adjust to the situation, and I think racing will do that."

"We'll just have to wait to see what develops as far as next year," said spokesman Al Bloemer.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. said Firestone's withdrawal would be "deeply felt" in racing but that Goodyear planned to continue its racing program.

The announcement from Firestone said the decision was based on pure economics.

"Costs of auto racing have skyrocketed in the past few years, and there seems to be no end in sight," said A.E. Brubaker, a Firestone vice president.

He added that with the trend to belted bias and radial tires, there is much less relation today between racing and consumer benefit.

Passenger-tire development and testing "now is a highly sophisticated operation which uses computers, x-ray and other scientific devices" off the proving ground, Brubaker said.

Firestone is to continue producing tires for late-model sportsman, modified, drag, stock car and small sports car racing, he said.

But development, production and service of U.S. Auto Club championship and Formula racing tires will be phased out by the end of the season, Brubaker said.

Baker Charges Sabotage

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — The 1973 Ford driven by Buddy Baker in last Sunday's Talladega (Ala.) 500 stock car race was the victim of saboteurs who broke into the track's garage area the day before, car owner Bud Moore says.

The car, which led 98 of the 188 laps, left the race with three laps remaining after Baker reported smelling grease burning several laps earlier. The car finished sixth. Richard Petty was the winner.

"Particles of gravel had been put in an oil cooler line," Moore said Thursday. "When we took apart the oil cooler pump on the line leading to the transmission, we found a large quantity of gravel."

"The oil cooler was stopped up completely. There was no oil going through there at all." That was the problem which forced the car from the race, and not a blown engine as had been previously reported, Moore said.

Several of the top cars in the race were damaged in the incident on Saturday night.

"Whoever did this knew what they were doing," Moore said. "Their intentions were to take the top six cars out of the race."

Intrepid Is Early Leader

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Intrepid has wasted no time in establishing an early advantage over Courageous in the finals of the America Cup trials.

The Intrepid took advantage of sail-handling mishaps to score a 31-second victory Thursday in the first race of the final trials.

Meanwhile, Mariner also made an auspicious beginning under new skipper Dennis Conner, winning over Valiant by one minute, 32 seconds.

Intrepid and Mariner were scheduled to face each other in competition today while the Courageous was to race Valiant.

Courageous ran into problems just before she rounded the final turning mark on the 24.3-mile course off the Rhode Island coast.

Courageous was ahead when a mainsheet and a line used for the boat's spinnaker jammed in a turning block.

The Courageous' crew had trouble getting the spinnaker down and when she tacked, five feet of the nylon sail went into the water and began acting as a sea anchor.

Intrepid took advantage of the situation to move ahead and held on to her new-found lead to the finish.

Intrepid had led at the first three turning marks, but on the second windward leg, Courageous overtook her rival and led by 15 seconds at the fourth mark.

Intrepid was managing to make up some ground in a downwind tacking battle when the Courageous ran into trouble.

Conners was sailing Mariner for the first time in a formal race. Mariner started 19 seconds ahead of Valiant and led by a comfortable margin all through the course.

The New York Yacht Club has until Sept. 3 to pick one of the four boats to race against a French or an Australian challenger in the America's Cup match starting Sept. 10.

WESTRUM BELIEVES
NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Ron Bryant won 24 games for the San Francisco Giants last season. But this year at the half-way mark in the National League race, Bryant had a 2-11 record. A recent five-run first inning led to his seventh straight defeat when the Giants lost to the New York Mets, 6-0. But Giant manager Wes Westrum said he still had faith in Bryant.

"Bryant's been a victim of circumstances all year," said Westrum. "But the wins are going to come back to him."

Feels Spitz Is Being Used

By ERIC PREWITT
AP Sports Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Debbie Meyer is back home in Sacramento and former neighbor Mark Spitz is in Hollywood.

"I feel sorry for him," says Miss Meyer, one of the biggest winners in Olympic swimming history until Spitz came along. "I think they're using him."

By "they" she means the show business people who offered Spitz a few million dollars, hoping to capitalize on the seven gold medals he brought home from the 1972 Munich Olympic Games.

Spitz took their offer, and it was goodbye Indiana University dental school, hello Hollywood.

"I think he made a mistake and is in the wrong business. He was always a loner, although I understand his wife has helped him come out of his shell some," the retired 21-year-old Miss Meyer said.

Spitz, former resident of a Sacramento suburb, is now in a musical show at a Los Angeles amusement park. He does a little singing, a little dancing and no swimming.

"I haven't seen any reviews. I hope he hasn't bombed. I hope he's at least mediocre," said Miss Meyer.

While Spitz mingles with the beautiful people of Hollywood, Debbie Meyer is associating mostly with swimmers. She works for a swim suit manufacturer and coaches at a Sacramento swimming school.

Next month, she will go to Portugal to conduct clinics with Serm Chavoor, the coach who developed her talents and later coached Spitz at the Arden Hills Swim Club here.

"Mark had a chance to go with us, but his agents said he'd have to be paid something like $12,000, so he's not going," Miss Meyer said. "His wife wanted him to go and asked him, 'Couldn't we just consider it a vacation?'"

Miss Meyer won four gold medals in the 1968 Olympics but retired from competitive swimming two years ago and admits, "I wanted to get away from it for a while."

"But I had to come back," she added.

She has kept just one of the medals, giving the others to her parents and coaches.

"The only thing I regret about retiring when I did was that I didn't get to swim on a guys' team," she said.

The Worry Clinic Peacemaker Is No 'Pacifist'

Jesus was not a peacenik nor a meek pacifist who would urge us to let 2-legged human mad dogs or tigers destroy our families or our hard won freedoms! Christ resorted to physical violence and also lauded policemen! For Jesus mixed "Horse Sense" with morality.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE B-612: Ned G., aged 33, teaches a men's Bible Class.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "we are to discuss capital punishment in our lesson next week. 'A California clergyman had his home invaded by a thug, who tied him up, then raped the clergyman's wife and finally stabbed her to death.

"But the clergyman later was reported to have said he forgave the man and didn't want him punished.

"Dr. Crane, did Christ's advice about turning the other cheek mean we should submit to such brutality to our family?"

Christ's "Horse Sense" In my address from hundreds of American pulpits, I have used the title:

"Jesus—the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist."

Therein I show that Christ was a superb exponent of "Horse Sense" or gumption.

Yet throughout the intervening centuries, many clerics have misunderstood Jesus and led us to believe He was not only a complete pacifist but as liberal and indiscriminate with largess as maudlin Uncle Sam.

Christ said "If a man smite thee on one cheek, turn the other also."

But Jesus didn't say if a man smite thee wife or child, then shove your other son or daughter to the monster to be assaulted or slain, too.

Though Jesus suggested that we give a villain a second chance when he attacks us personally, Christ didn't advocate that we grant similar leeway to men who try to destroy the freedoms that mankind has spent 10,000 years and millions of lives to wrest from tyrants.

These hard won heritages from our gallant dead, include our American Constitution's guarantee of freedom of worship, of public assembly, of sanctity of our homes from unwarranted search and seizure.

And to prove that Christ meant what He said, you Bible readers may consult John 2:15, where Jesus was so incensed at the desecration of the Jewish Temple by the Cross moneychangers, that he resorted to physical violence to prevent such sacrilege.

For when Jesus braided a whip and drove the villains out of the Temple, and upset the tables of the moneychangers, that's physical violence in any man's language!

Jesus also lauded the policemen and soldiers in the 7th Beatitude, wherein he said: "Blessed are the peacemakers."

Please remember that "peacemakers" are not the maudlin pacifists and sentimentalists that are so concerned over the sadistic rapists that they forget the innocent victims who were assaulted, stabbed and often tortured in front of their own family!

"Peacemakers" are those who keep the lawless in check and thus make it possible for our wives and children to walk upon the streets in safety! "Peacemakers" are those who keep the lawless in check and thus make it possible for our wives and children to walk upon the streets in safety! They are the policemen, the militia and our Army, Navy and Air Corps, who likewise keep sadistic foreign monsters from destroying the freedoms of Magna Carta and our own U.S. Constitution.

Jesus didn't even believe in coddling the lazy, stupid and shiftless poor, for He let probably 25,000 die of hunger and disease within sound of His own voice during His 3-year ministry.

Only those with faith, ambition and enough elbow grease to seek Him, got fed or healed!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — Some businessmen like to play golf or slip away to a beach home for relaxation.

But not Malcolm Baldrige Jr., board chairman of the Scovill Manufacturing Co. of Waterbury, Conn., which employs 21,000 persons in making items ranging from appliances to thimbles.

He relaxes by roping steers on the professional rodeo circuit.

Baldrige dons faded blue jeans, a dirty wrinkled shirt and a crumpled cowboy hat and sits on a fence railing—just like all the other professional cowboys. When his number is called, he mounts his horse and rides off to rope an elusive steer.

Baldrige, 52, competes in about 10 rodeos a year. He says he enjoys the change from business life.

"I try to make as many rodeos as I can, but it's a little hard wedging them in sometimes," Baldrige said. "I've got to kind of plan ahead to get on them. If I'm on a business trip out West and there's a rodeo somewhere around that weekend, I make it."

Baldrige estimates he ends up in the money about 30 percent of the time, not bad for a guy who still spends most of his time in a plush office chair.

Baldrige was born in Omaha, Neb., and spent his summers as a youngster working on a Nebraska ranch.

Financial Help For Livestock Producers

Financial assistance to livestock producers under the Emergency Livestock Credit Act is available through a new loan guarantee authority of the Farmers Home Administration, a rural credit service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Walter E. Everett, FHA county supervisor, said the agency will be prepared to implement the recently-enacted law by guaranteeing up to 80 percent of possible loss on loans made by legally organized lenders to livestock and poultry producers.

Under terms of the act, the loan guarantee program will be in effect through July 25, 1975. Producers are urged to make applications to and complete loan arrangements with lending institutions. The lender in turn will ask FHA for a loan guarantee if one is required. The lender will process the application, close the loan and service it.

The maximum loan to any single borrower that can be assisted by an FHA guarantee is $250,000. Loans are repayable in three years, although renewal for two years may be authorized.

The Pitt County FHA office is located at the corner of Third and Evans Streets in the Federal Building.

Will Preach At Services

REV. KENNETH HAMMOND

The Rev. Kenneth Hammond will preach at St. Mary's Baptist Church Sunday at 11 a.m. for the youth fellowship services.

He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Hoyt Hammond of Winterville. A 1969 graduate of W. H. Robinson High School, the Rev. Hammond holds a bachelor's degree in history and political science from East Carolina University.

He is a member of Mt. Shiloh Baptist Church where he served in the senior choir and as superintendent of the Sunday School. He is also vice president of the Old Eastern Missionary Baptist Sunday School Convention.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1974

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: In spite of tiring, inactive aspects usual with the waning Moon, there are so very many planetary positions that are zooming that you would be wise to take advantage of them and decide what you want in the days ahead, and then start right in to put these important plans in action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to get at the amusements that most please you today and have a delightful time. Put creative ideas in action quickly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Put new life into new interests you started, but which have reached a stalemate. Entertain at home in p.m., and have more harmony there that way, too.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Contact experts who can help you make the progress you desire in the future. Good day for contacting others and getting good results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can add much to your practical possessions today if you get busy early and act skillfully. Don't waste time with time-wasters.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are warm and vibrant and others gravitate toward you easily, making you the center of attention. Watch temper, though.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get the right answers to puzzling situations. Take no chances with one who lacks a conscience. Study facts to know where you are headed and you succeed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You understand how to get along more ideally with others. Out to the social and make interesting new friends. Know what a new ally desires of you. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Start some new plan where your career is concerned for fine future results. Bring your finest talents to the attention of higher-ups and gain their support.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can expand now, either by taking a trip, making new allies, or whatever, so figure out which. Make right decision about new partner. Guard health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Waste no time in going after your aims. Your romantic attachment is in a fine mood and you can have a wonderful time together now. Avoid troublemaker.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact the one you want as a partner and state your views and aims, come to a fine understanding. Meet opposition with a smile and kind word.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Gain the approval of associates and make your work more efficient and profitable now. Buy attractive clothes. Meet friends during spare time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have fine and novel ideas and should be given the best education possible at the right schools, since there is every evidence of fame in this chart, which can occur if the parents plan properly for such early in life. Big government projects, or whatever has to do with big corporations will attract your progeny. A bigwig is born here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for September is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast (name of newspaper), Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

The percentage play in a particular suit might not be the best strategy in the overall attack of the hand. South, declarer at a no trump slam, made the play that he figured would cause the most hardship for the defenders, and brought home a slam that could have been defeated.

Despite the fact that South had shown a good hand with his jump to three no trump at his second turn, North's leap to slam was a most aggressive action. He was counting on the fact that his hand was worth about eight playing tricks to his partner and that, therefore, his side's combined assets would offer good play for twelve tricks.

West led the queen of hearts, and declarer was not entirely displeased with dummy. The only immediate loser was in the spade suit, but declarer would have enough tricks if he could bring in the diamond suit, or even if he could score only six tricks in diamonds. The problem was that if he lost a diamond, he would go down to instant defeat if the opponents found their spade trick.

Declarer was aware that the percentage play in the diamond suit was to try to drop the queen. However, if the queen failed to drop, the defenders would have the opportunity to signal on the second and third diamond leads. To prevent that, declarer opted for a slightly less favorable play in diamonds, but one that might give him a better overall chance for his contract.

South won the first trick with the king of hearts and led a low diamond to dummy's jack. He was hoping that, if the finesse failed and East did not hold the ace of spades, he would not know which suit to shift to.

This was indeed the case. East won the queen of diamonds and, bearing in mind that South had bid spades at his first turn, decided that South was more likely to hold the ace of spades than the ace of clubs, especially as he was looking at the queen and the jack was in dummy, which meant that to play a spade could give declarer the whole suit. He shifted to club, and declarer rattled off twelve tricks for a well-played slam.

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina egg markets were stronger Thursday. Supplies barely adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 63.02, medium whites 54.06, small whites 42.64.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina hogs prices were steady to 50 cents higher today. 37.50 Wilson and High Falls; 36.50-37.00 Tarboro and Bethel; 37.00 Salisbury; 37.50-38.00 Rocky Mount.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina F.O.B. dock broilers market slightly weaker with F.O.B. dock weighted average price at 35.45 cents per pound. Supplies adequate and demand fairly good. Weights irregular but mostly desirable. Estimated slaughter 1,100,000.

North Carolina hen market was steady on heavy types today. Supplies adequate and demand fair. Prices paid per pound for hens over seven pounds, at farm, 12 cents; F.O.B. plants too few to report prices.

NEW YORK (AP) — An early lead failed to gain momentum today, and the stock market turned mixed in slow trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up 3 points this morning, turned and fell 1.10 to 736.78 at 11:30 a.m. Advances continued to hold a lead over declines by 5 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange, and trading was slow.

Brokers said bargain hunting and expectations of a Mideast cease-fire inspired some early buying, but the basic and unsolved problem of the stock market continued to be inflation, they said.

Ralph Acampora of Harris, Upham & Co. commented: "The crux of the problem is inflation, that's what investors want to hear about, and there's no news about it."

Fleming Co. was the Big Board's volume leader, up 1/4 to 9 3/4.

Diebold, Inc., an office equipment company, skidded 1 to 17 3/4, boosted high onto the active list by a 62,900-share block trade at 17. The Southern Co. was unchanged at 11, with a 30,000-share block at 11. Atlantic Richfield dropped 1/4 to 82, and Marcor, Inc., fell 3/4 to 25 1/2.

Gold-mining stocks posted some big gains, with spot gold prices up as much as $2.75 a troy ounce to a top price of $159.

Homestake Mines paced the golds, up 2 1/2 to 67 3/4. Dome Mines soared 2 1/2 to 63 1/2. Cambell Red Lake gained 1 to 45 1/2, and ASA, Ltd., advanced 7/8 to 103.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite index showed a gain of 12 to 40.18.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index added .20 to Thursday's close to 76.28 at 11 a.m.

Four Killed In Car Collision

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C.(AP) — Four persons were killed in a collision of two cars at an intersection in Rocky Mount Thursday night.

Police identified the dead as Raymond W. Wilson, Mattie May Taylor Barrett and Wilbur Richardson, all of Rocky Mount, and Shirley Jean Cordell of Easonburg.

Police said another car ran a stop light and collided with the car in which the four victims were riding. No charges have been brought and an investigation is continuing.

Celebration

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — This eastern North Carolina town kicked off a 10-day celebration of its 200th birthday today. The town was the site of the First Provincial Congress in the state.

Rock and bluegrass music concerts, air shows and tours of historic homes will highlight the celebration.

The festival will culminate Aug. 25—200 years to the day since the First Provincial Congress met. John W. Warner, chairman of the American Bicentennial Revolution Administration, and Gov. Jim Holshouser will speak on the closing day.

The First Provincial Congress was the first independent governmental body in the colonies in defiance of the colonial government.

The family will be at Hamilton Funeral Home, Wilson, tonight from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Lion Mauls 3-Year-Old

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A 3-year-old child was pulled from the mouth of a lion by a woman who pummeled the beast with her shoe, zoo officials say.

Brandon Gates was rushed to San Jose Hospital for knee surgery after the attack on Thursday. Hospital officials said he was in good condition.

Brandon was with his brother and students from Toyon Elementary School here when he climbed over a protective fence and walked to the lion's cage, said John Waites, keeper of San Jose Baby Zoo at Kelley Park.

Waites said the other children screamed and the 80-pound African yearling reached out for Brandon through the bars.

Myra Woolverton, 24, of San Jose, said: "I thought, 'That lion isn't going to let go of that baby,' so I jumped over the fence, took my shoe off and started pounding the lion on the head through the bars until she let go," Mrs. Woolverton said.

Waites said the young lioness "was just playing with the child."

"It's just that they play too rough for humans," he said. "It wasn't any sort of vicious attack. The child had no business inside the protective cage area."

Sponsor Church Program Sunday

The Junior Usher Board of Phillipi Church of Christ, Disciples of Christ, will sponsor a program Sunday at 7 p.m. at the church.

Featured guests will be the "Little Believers" and the Tabernacle Missionary Baptist Church Singers of Calico.

The Rev. Elbert B. Williams is pastor.

Mass Transit Subsidy Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mass transit supporters have cleared their most formidable hurdle by beating back House efforts to take out operating subsidies. They now face a fight on the amount of money to be authorized.

Attempts to delete operating subsidies from the $20 billion, six-year bill were defeated on Thursday 202-197.

Debate on the bill will resume on Monday, when Republicans will try to trim it to $11 billion and Democrats will try to hold the line at $15.8 billion.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., had warned that dropping operating subsidies would have killed the bill.

Rep. Dale Milford, D-Tex., who had sponsored the amendment, said operating subsidies constituted a "big city rip-off."

The mostly Republican opponents of the subsidies said they would be wasted because local transit systems would have no incentive to keep costs down.

Rep. Lamar Baker, R-Tenn., called it a "big city, big union bill" which rural congressmen shouldn't support.

But supporters said the big city congressmen had gone along with subsidies on agricultural commodities for years. They said rural members must realize mass transit is a national need, not a handout for special cases.

As a trade-off for keeping the bill free of restrictions on the use of operating subsidies, Democrats did not fight a motion by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-Calif., to reduce from one-half to one-third the federal share of operating subsidies—$1 in federal money to $2 of local money. It passed by voice vote.

City Counts 2 Collisions

An estimated $1,600 property damage resulted in two collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted when a car driven by Joseph Roscoe Tripp Jr. of Riverview Estates collided with a parked car on Jefferson Drive about 10:07 p.m.

Police said the Tripp car collided with an auto-owned by Estelle Godley Elks of 2607 Jefferson Dr. causing an estimated $600 damage to the Tripp car and $500 damage to the Elks vehicle.

Tripp was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

Donald Fort Rudd of 1100 Charles St. was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 4:27 p.m. mishap on Charles Street.

Investigators said the Rudd car collided with a vehicle operated by Leslie Arlene Lincoln of 1110 Wright Rd. resulting in $350 damage to the Lincoln auto and $200 damage to the Rudd car.

Housewife Arrested In Korea Assassin's Plot

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Osaka police today arrested a Japanese housewife on charges of helping the Korean who tried to assassinate South Korean President Chung Hee Park but killed Park's wife instead.

Police said the woman, 23-year-old Kimiko Yoshii, gave the birth certificate of her husband, Yukio, to Moon Se-kwang, the 23-year-old assassin, so he could get a Japanese passport in the husband's name. Moon is a Korean who has been living in Osaka.

Mrs. Yoshii was charged with violating emigration and passport laws. Police said she admitted giving Moon her husband's birth certificate to help him get the passport.

Officials said Moon and the woman met while classmates at an Osaka high school and made a trip to Hong Kong together last fall.

Seoul's chief prosecutor, Kim Il-too, said the .38 caliber revolver Moon used in the attack was taken from the Osaka police, and the police said it was one of two pistols stolen from their armory on July 18 with ammunition belts and handcuffs. Kim said Moon smuggled the pistol into Korea inside a radio.

The prosecutor's office questioned Moon today and said he insisted he was acting alone in the unsuccessful attempt Thursday to assassinate Park. A spokesman said, however, that a search for accomplices was on since there were indications he had been associated with leftist movements.

The investigation centered on other Korean residents of Japan and Japanese who came to Seoul for Thursday's Independence Day observances. The government ordered that persons in those categories remain in Korea during the investigation, except for persons carrying official passports or other firm identification papers.

Except for the reference to leftist contacts, the government gave no indication of why Moon wanted to kill the president.

Mrs. Park, 48, and a 16-year-old girl choir singer were wounded fatally when Moon started shooting as the president was making an Independence Day address in the Seoul National Theater. There were about 1,800 persons in the theater, and the program was being televised.

Park dropped behind the lectern and was unhurt.

Moon was wounded in the thigh as security guards opened fire on him, and witnesses said the teen-age girl was hit by police bullets. But the government said Moon's bullets hit the girl and the gunman himself as well as Mrs. Park.

Mrs. Park is to be buried Monday.

ACCUSED—Moon Se-kwang, 23, above, is being held by Seoul police in connection with the shooting death of Mrs. Chung Hee Park, wife of the President of South Korea. The accused gunman was seized on the spot Thursday at the National Theater in Seoul after he shot Mrs. Park during a nationally televised address in an assassination attempt against the President.
