

Orderly Tobacco Market Closings Are Planned

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The federal Flue-Cured Tobacco Advisory Committee has approved a plan aimed at providing an orderly seasonal closing of flue-cured auction markets at the sales season ends.

In general the plan calls for warehouses to close when they do not have enough tobacco for a half or more of their daily designated leaf sales to be filled.

A warehouse with less than its normal daily sales quota would be required to suspend auctions until the quota is reached, or to announce that its next auction will be the final sale of the season.

The committee's plan calls for sales opportunity assigned to a closed market to be redistributed among other markets in the warehouse belt, starting with the Georgia-Florida sales area. This means that warehouses operating at levels below the maximum daily sales of 2,500 sheets or 420,000 pounds could gradually increase their sales as other warehouses close in the same belt.

When the entire Georgia-Florida area is closed, the sales opportunity assigned to that belt will be shifted northward to allow remaining markets to reach their maximum.

However, no market will be allowed to exceed the limitation placed on sheets and poundage.

The committee also ruled that warehouses could not sell undesignated leaf exceeding 2 per cent of their total daily sales. The amount of tobacco that warehouses can resell also was reduced from 7.4 per cent to 4 per cent of their total daily sales.

In other action the committee voted to continue in operation through Sept. 19 the present leaf sales schedule in the entire flue-cured area. It took the action despite pleas from two South Carolina members of Congress for more sales time on South Carolina markets.

U.S. Rep. Ed Young, R-S.C., a tobacco farmer, told the committee, "We are in a position of pleading for additional time...Our tobacco is spoiling."

Frank Bryant of Booneville, chairman of the committee, said he had received a similar expression from Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

The committee heard a report that flue-cured sales are running behind last year for the same number of sales days. The report said 545 million pounds had been sold this year compared to 400 million at the same time last year. During the same number of sales days last year, 636 million pounds had been sold. The difference was attributed to the fact that the harvest was relatively late this year and markets opened earlier.

Nab Greenville Duo For Robbery Of Saratoga Business

SARATOGA—Two Greenville men were arrested and three other persons are being sought in connection with an armed robbery at a service center here Thursday afternoon.

L. T. M. Owens of the Wilson County Sheriff's Department said that Larry Alonza Hooks, 22, of 1215 Battle Street, and Lonnie Ossie Barnhill, 19, of 307 Cadillac Street have been charged with robbery with a dangerous weapon of the M & H Service Center around 5:30 p.m.

Owens said that a 14-year-old youth was operating the station at the time of the incident and he told officers that five men drove up and ordered $2 worth of gasoline. The youth reported that two of the men went on the inside of the business while the other three remained on the outside.

The lieutenant said that the youth told deputies he saw the men on the inside taking money from the cash register and when he started to enter the facility, one of the subjects flashed a pistol.

Owens said that the boy was able to get the license number of the vehicle as it left the business and Wilson County deputies notified the Pitt Sheriff's Department that the car was headed toward Greenville.

Pitt deputies, it was pointed out, stopped a car on Imperial Street in Greenville around 11:25 p.m. and two of the three occupants of the car were later charged with armed robbery.

Owens reported that both Hooks and Barnhill are in Wilson County Jail under $5,000 bond each with a hearing scheduled on Sept. 17.

He said that $398.77 in cash and a .22 caliber pistol were reported taken from the service center. The youth was not injured, it was noted.

The Wilson and Pitt County Sheriff's Departments are continuing investigation of the incident.

Morgan Campaign Given A Lift At District Dinner

By CARL L. TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

First District Democrats heard Georgia Senator Herman Talmadge sing the praises of their nominee for the U.S. Senate last night at a $50-per-plate fund raising dinner at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

The gathering, attended by approximately 400 persons raised around $20,000 for the Robert Morgan campaign, according to the host of the dinner, ECU Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins.

Talmadge was the guest speaker for the seventh and final fund raising dinner for the Morgan campaign. According to Morgan, dinners such as the one last night has allowed the debt on his primary campaign to be paid.

Last night's affair was also attended by First District Congressman Walter Jones of Farmville and the Democrat nominee for N. C. Attorney General, Rufus Edmisten, along with a large number of members of the N. C. General Assembly from this district.

Talmadge, Morgan and Jones attended a 45-minute press conference before the dinner, and Talmadge made a 40-45 minute keynote address after the chicken and barbecue dinner.

During the press conference Talmadge and Jones were asked a number of questions relating to agriculture.

Talmadge is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, while Jones is on the House Agriculture Committee.

The Senator has asked for a Department of Agriculture and Justice Department investigation into charges that there was collusion between tobacco companies on the price being paid for the product in the early part of the season.

Morgan indicated he felt it would be hard to prove collusion, but was glad the two federal agencies were investigating.

Regarding pending veteran's legislation coming before the Senate next week, Talmadge, who is also on the veteran's affairs committee, indicated he did not know if the bill, which would raise G. I. Bill benefits by 22.3 per cent, would get through the Senate.

"We passed higher increase, and the House cut it with hopes of getting it signed," stated Talmadge.

Talmadge stated he didn't know if the Senate would let this bill go through or try and get legislation more in line with what Veterans need.

Morgan was asked how he felt on the amnesty question regarding persons who evaded the draft by leaving the country.

He responded by saying the question was for the judicial and executive branches and no the congress.

Talmadge was asked his opinion of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz during the press conference and responded by saying he and Butz differed on (Continued on page 2)

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

HOMES AND HELP AVAILABLE

I would like to contact a home for unwed mothers. I have one son, and am sure my parents will not accept a second illegitimate grandchild. I want to go to one of these homes and put the baby I'm expecting up for adoption. Is it possible I could work to pay my way at the home and could I take my son with me? G.C.

Hotline took all your questions to Mary Lehman at the Pitt County Department of Social Services and to Mrs. Wesley Crawley at the Children's Home Society here. Both said they would be glad to give you unlimited counseling and assistance. Both were delighted at the prospect of a child to place in one of the many homes they have on their waiting lists, but both assured us there would be no problem if you change your mind and do not want to give up your child.

They said maternity home funds are available and that the cost of care could be worked out. Neither was sure about your being able to work while living in a home or about the possibility of your son's going with you, but they said they would find out. They also will work out the adoption arrangements for you if you choose to stay in your parents' home.

The homes available in North Carolina are the Florence Crittendon Home in Charlotte and the Broyhill Home in Asheville. There are several in Virginia and one in South Carolina in which clients are also placed, though, Mrs. Crawley said.

Either agency will help you in any way possible. We urge you to contact one or both immediately. The Society may be reached at 752-5847; Social Services at 758-2167.

PURCHASED PROPERTY—NEEDS INFORMATION

I have been trying to get in contact with someone that has the deed to some land that I have been buying in California. I would like to pay the loan off and get a clear deed. The Bank of American in Hollywood, Calif, was handling the financing. Mrs. N.M.P.

According to an accountant in California, the company the property was purchased from went bankrupt and he was appointed receiver for the company. This receivership has been closed by the court and all records turned over to the government. The accountant forwarded Hotline's letter to the accounting firm maintaining the records prior to government's closing of them and found that $1,147.36 remains to be paid on the property, plus interest. For information as to the location of the deed, contact the Bank of America in Hollywood, Calif.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK PHONE NUMBER CORRECTED

The phone number of Mrs. Joan Courter, a New Bern woman willing to teach yoga here if she is contacted by enough people who want to be taught, was incorrectly given in yesterday's Hotline column. The correct number is 638-1272.

Setting Up Of World Trade Center Will Be Put To ECU Trustees

Representatives of the N.C. World Trade Association met with East Carolina University Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins this morning for further discussions regarding the prospects and role of a world trade center based on the ECU campus.

Following the meeting this morning, Jenkins stated, "We are going to enthusiastically recommend to our board of trustees that we proceed with the establishment of a world trade center here at ECU."

Jenkins added that such a center would serve both the student body and the state.

Vern Strickland, chairman of the board of the N.C. World

Trade Association stated that the role of such a center is "still being hammered out."

Strickland attended the meeting along with Ronald Rau, president of the association, Robert Browning and Clem Schraeder, members of the executive committee, of the association, and ECU representatives Tom Willis and Dean Robert Holt.

Strickland stated, "In the discussions this morning we found a great deal of common ground."

He added that a world trade center would be based on an international curriculum which would school and make available trained North Carolina and Eastern North Carolina talent to work in the business community of state and international trade.

Strickland indicated that now students are trained in business primarily on a domestic basis and they learn their international trade knowledge from the "school of hard knocks."

Affirms 'No Deal' Drug Roundup

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP)—Officials maintained today that there has been no word from the kidnapers of President Luis Echeverria's 83-year-old father-in-law since he was seized at a busy Guadalajara street corner two days ago.

Troops and police continued the hunt for the old man, Jose Guadalupe Zuno Hernandez. Zuno's doctors said they feared for his life because he must have daily medication.

Persistent unofficial reports attributed the kidnaping to the leftist guerrillas of the People's Armed Revolutionary Front, who kidnaped U.S. Consul-General Terrance G. Leonhardy in Guadalajara 18 months ago.

But federal and state officials said they had nothing to confirm these reports, and sources close to the Zuno family said it had received no demands or notes from the kidnapers.

Atty. Gen. Pedro Ojeda Paulada reaffirmed the no-negotiations policy Echeverria adopted after freeing 30 political prisoners to ransom Leonhardy.

WITHDRAWAL BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Another 2,000 American troops left Thailand during August, reducing the U.S. forces to about 28,000 men, military spokesmen said today. Another thousand are to leave by the end of the year.

Argue Solvency Of Big Utility

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The latest plea by the Virginia Electric & Power Co. for additional revenue to meet the electrical needs of its customers has fueled a fresh debate over the company's solvency.

A Norfolk legislator has revealed he'll ask the attorney general to look into the procedures necessary for revoking Vepco's charter and establishing a state-operated utility.

The statement Thursday came from State Sen. Peter K. Babalas, D-Norfolk, who says his office has been swamped with protests over the utility company's request to the State Corporation Commission for its fifth rate increase in four years.

Babalas said it was apparent to him that the giant utility is bankrupt. He said he was taking the action because the utility has asked the state to approve a $127.3 million emergency surcharge for new revenue.

Late Thursday, however, Babalas' remarks hadn't reached Vepco President T. Justin Moore Jr., who commented generally that he couldn't agree with what was said.

"We don't like rate increases," Moore said, "but our interests are the long-term best interest of the consumer."

"The only thing Vepco needs is rate relief and that's coming up before the State Corporation Commission on the 13th (Sept. 13)," Moore said.

Says Shooting Victim Her Son

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A North Carolina woman, Mrs. Emma Jackson of Grimesland near Greenville, says she is the mother of a man who shot himself in the head after holding police at bay Monday following a slaying.

He is Reves Lee Aaron of Richmond, charged with murdering another man in what police described as a triangle situation. He held police at bay for 3½ hours.

A hospital spokesman says Aaron has been blinded by his wound.

$850,000 Is Requested For Nixon And Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP)—A budget request of $850,000, nearly a quarter-million dollars more than provided for under law, is being made for former President Richard M. Nixon's pension and expenses through next June 30.

The budget request was developed by the General Services Administration after consultation with the former president. President Ford sent it to Congress on Thursday.

During his first six months out of office, Nixon is entitled to $450,000 in transition expenses, which is included in the request.

He also is entitled to $60,000 a year in pension, and the Former Presidents Act of 1958 provides $96,000 a year for staff salaries.

The transition period would end Feb. 9, 1975, at which time the law calls for Nixon to be eligible for about $150,000 in staff and pension funds through the end of the fiscal year.

But the request made on Thursday calls for funds of $400,000 to be provided for the period Feb. 9-June 30, 1975.

Not included in this would be the cost of Secret Service protection for Nixon or the value of the buildings at the former Western White House that he is using as an office.

Meanwhile, Nixon personally received a pair of subpoenas delivered by Deputy U.S. Marshal John Wetmore to his San Clemente, Calif. home.

One calls for the former president to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial of his closest former aides. The second seeks a written statement in a suit filed in Charlotte, N.C., claiming that White House aides and local officials illegally prevented the complainants from attending a 1971 rally in honor of the Rev. Billy Graham at which Nixon spoke.

UMW Plans End Non-Union Coal 'In This Country'

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller says the end of the bitter 13-month strike at the Brookside Mine in Harlan County, Ky., marks "the beginning of the end for nonunion coal in this country."

Miller said that with the Brookside strike settled, the 20,000-member union intends to turn its attention to organizing the rest of the nation's nonunion mines.

"There are over 130 million tons of nonunion coal mined in this country (annually)," Miller told a news conference on Thursday. "We intend to make every ton of that coal UMW coal."

The marathon Kentucky strike ended when Eastover Mining Co., a subsidiary of Duke Power Co., agreed early on Thursday to sign a UMW contract covering some 200 employees at the Brookside mine.

The settlement, reached here after an all-night bargaining session before a federal mediator, gives the union an important base in the nonunion coal fields of eastern Kentucky.

It could also give the union a stronger bargaining hand when talks open on Tuesday for a new contract with the bituminous coal industry to replace the three-year pact that will expire Nov. 12.

"The Brookside strike is over. I only regret that the price we paid for victory was so high," Miller said.

Not only did the strike deplete the union's treasury — Miller estimates the UMW spent more than $1 million on it — but it also took its toll in violence. Shootings and other confrontations erupted sporadically during the long walkout, and as recently as Saturday a Brookside miner, Lawrence Jones, 23, was fatally shot in the head.

A coal company supervisor has been charged in the shooting. Meanwhile, Brookside miners who walked off their jobs in July 1973 after the mine's management refused to sign a standard UMW contract, celebrated all night over what they considered a major victory.

Boys Clubbers 'Did Their Bit' For Bicentennial

Members of the Pitt County-Greenville Boys' Club did their bit Thursday night in helping get everything in readiness for Greenville's Bicentennial.

Mack Simpson, chairman of the Display Committee of the Greenville Bicentennial Committee, today expressed his appreciation for "the hard work and willingness" shown by several members of the local Boys' Club. The group, under the guidance of Matthew Ward, joined in on cleanup work at the Kroger Building on Greenville Boulevard Thursday night.

The Kroger Building is the site selected as the major display center for arts and crafts and other shows to be held in conjunction with the city's bicentennial.

Charges For 4 Juveniles

Greenville police have arrested four juveniles and charged them with breaking and entering and larceny in connection with a series of break-ins in the city.

According to Capt. L.J. Russell of the Greenville Police Dept., the four were arrested around 8:30 last night while on the premises of the Lance-Nab Co. warehouses located at the intersection of Clark and Ninth St.

Russell states the four have also been charged with breaking and entering the Salvation Army building on Aug. 24, Tom's Restaurant in early August, an earlier break-in of the Lance warehouse this month and the Carolina Enterprises Warehouse on Aug. 23.

The break-in of the Carolina Enterprises warehouse resulted in around $2,000 damage, according to Russell.

The earlier break-ins resulted in little merchandise being taken.

No Charges In Auto Mishap

Greenville police investigated one auto accident in the city Thursday, after a vehicle operated by Cynthia Jackson Simpson of 204 W. Haven Drive struck a parked car owned by Kenneth Neil Walker of 200 W. Haven Drive.

No charges were filed in the accident. According to the investigating officer, Mrs. Simpson indicated a clothes basket she was carrying in the car fell on top of her causing her to release the wheel, at which time her auto struck the Walker vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $1,500 to the Simpson auto and $350 to the Walker vehicle.

Falkland Buys New Police Car

FALKLAND—The 138 inhabitants of this northeastern Pitt County Town are very proud of having purchased the first police car, Mayor Bill Jones stated on Thursday. "We purchased it in Raleigh. It's a light blue Dodge fully equipped and I feel it marks an important development in our town."

Mayor Jones said Falkland's Chief of Police, Frank Peaden, will now have at his service a car with radio, a siren, police lights and other modern features.

In addition to the new police car, Jones said that other improvements recently authorized by the town council were being put into effect, including the pouring of cement for driveways leading into streets within the town's limits.

'Safety Break' Begins Sunday

There will be a free "Safety Break" sponsored by the youth group of Holy Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday beginning 2:00 p.m. and lasting through Monday winding up at approximately 6:00 p.m.

This is an effort to give motorists a break from the Labor day driving and maybe save a life. The safety break will be held on the grassy area adjacent to the Nichols Discount Store parking lot.

There will be free hot coffee, cold drinks, food and a volleyball court for those wishing to play volleyball.

some issues, mainly tobacco and peanuts.

Later during his talk before the main audience, he asked the people to send Bob Morgan to the Senate so he could "help Walter Jones and myself protect you from Earl Butz."

Talmadge was referring to the Agriculture Secretary's past proposal of doing away with the tobacco allotment system.

In his main address, the Georgia Senator and former governor referred to the nation's present economic situation by saying, "In the 1930's President Roosevelt and the Democratic Party led the nation out of the worst economic depression of the century. It seems that once again Democrats in Congress and in the White House are going to have to lead our people out of a depression of the American spirit."

During his talk, Talmadge made references to his role on the Senate Watergate committee briefly and indicated he was glad the "nightmare" was over.

Morgan made a brief address and campaigned for Rufus Edmisten, seated beside him at the speaker's platform, by saying the office of Attorney General needed someone with the legal and administrative talents of Edmisten.

Arrest Man For Break-In

A 29-year-old Greenville man was arrested by city police last night and charged with breaking and entering and larceny at Cherry's Grocery located at Fifth and 14th Streets.

According to Capt. L.J. Russell, George Streeter of 1318 W. Fifth St. was arrested on the premises of the store.

Russell also indicated that a breaking and entering had occurred in the early morning hours Thursday of Warren's Texaco on Memorial Drive.

Approximately $250 in merchandise was taken, and later discovered on the grounds of the Elks Lodge near Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The items taken included numerous food items and 13 cases of beer.

No arrest has been made in connection with the incident, states Russell.

Women Are Abreast Of Times

By LEO RYAN
PARIS (WNS) — The Modern woman has kept abreast of the times more successfully than the stronger sex, affirms Andre Courreges, the leading French designer who pioneered the minidress in the fashion world. In an interview in the headquarters of his fashion empire in Paris, Courreges, who likes to observe social trends as closely as fashion, deplored what he described as "the decline in the spirituality of man."

Mrs. Hudson Is CWI Speaker

Janie Hudson, supervisor of Greenville Credit Bureau, was guest speaker at the Greenville Credit Women International meeting Monday night. Mrs. Hudson presented a program on "Extending Credit Profitably." She explained the purpose of a credit bureau, how to become a member and the different functions of the bureau. She emphasized the importance of completing all information in securing a credit report which enables the bureau to give a prompt and complete report.

Mrs. Angelene Venters welcomed three guests, Dawn Fitts of Lowry-Barwick Animal Hospital, Corrine Beddard of Moores Building Supply and Gail Crisp, Stokes and Congleton. Mrs. Inda Wingate gave a report on the quilt sale. Mrs. Mary Roberson, Mrs. Wingate and Mrs. Venters attended the state picnic in Burlington Sunday. Mrs. Roberson, chairman of the fall board, met with state officers to finalize plans for Fall Board.

in a manner of thinking "but not really extract themselves from men." Today, in his view, woman was living more in harmony with man. "Her reasoning is often superior. She has to be many things at once: wife, mother of the family, household supervisor, educator of children, and on top of that she has to be a mistress to compete with her husband's secretary."

"My love of nature," said Courreges, "came from what my mother taught me." However, Courreges feels that women constantly striving to prove themselves superior to men are making a grave mistake. "No more than men should submerge woman, women should be conscious that they cannot surpass men."

"If a woman tries to be stronger than men, she will eventually find herself alone, like American women." What women need to accept is "a large dose of humility." They should also be aware of their enormous possibility of thinking differently.

Men, he claimed, were losing their spirituality by seeking such refuges as money and social position to the detriment of other things in life. They were neglecting the real needs of their families and the contribution of sports to the harmony of the body.

Courreges is an active sportman, and particularly likes mountaineering, rugby, and pelote, the Basque tennis game played in his native Pau region. The Courreges woman is tall, young, sunburned, short-haired, tidy, smiling and gay.

Is this really a reflection of the woman of today? Courreges argues it is. As he puts it, the woman of 1974 has slimmed down and looks younger than the woman of 1964, who was rounder. He denies strongly any allegations that his clothes are designed for only women in their teens or 20s and 30s. "We are moving towards a visual rejuvenation. There is little difference between a woman of 40 and one of 20. Men and women of 60 can be gay: Why can't this be reflected in their clothes?"

Many couturiers, he said, used models with hardly any form. "My models eat, are beautiful — and have children."

Asked for his opinion of the respective style being revived by some fashion designers, Courreges said it amounted to "an abdication." Such clothes, he added, lacked "life, form and passion."

Fashion designers "should try to reflect current life. Man likes the woman of 1974."

To prove his point, he recalled an anecdote related to a recent trip he made in Canada. A man came up to him in a discotheque in Montreal and offered him a drink. When Courreges, surprised by the gesture of a stranger, asked why, the man replied: "I like to undress the women dressed in your clothes."

Is She Headed For Hospital Honeymoon?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Bud and I are engaged to be married next Christmas. We've been going steady for over a year.

Bud is very jealous and has a violent temper, so we agreed that neither one of us would dance with anybody else.

Last Saturday night we were at a club having a real good time. I went to the powder room for just a few minutes and when I came back, Bud was dancing with another girl. I just walked into the next room and joined a guy I knew. I sat down and we talked.

Bud must have realized I had been gone for quite some time, and he came looking for me. When he found me sitting with this other guy, he jerked me up out of my chair and beat me up. Then he led me to our table and told me to sit there until he was ready to go home. Meanwhile he continued to dance with other girls. I couldn't stop crying, so I got somebody to take me home.

The next morning Bud called to ask some questions about our wedding and he acted like nothing happened.

Before I go through with this marriage, please give me some advice. Am I doing the right thing?

SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND: Have some third, fourth, fifth thoughts. And then think some more. Unless you enjoy having your bridgework rearranged, postpone your wedding until you are absolutely sure Bud has learned to control his violent temper. If you insist on going through with the wedding, that "something blue" you should carry is Blue Cross!

DEAR ABBY: I'm a guy, 14, but I look more like 18. My problem is that I hate to wear clothes. I know it sounds strange, but it's true.

We have a summer place on the ocean and I never wear anything in the house or in the yard when we go there.

I like to walk the beaches at night with nothing on. The few people I meet are young so they think it's sort of cool, but I'm not trying to act cool. I just hate to wear clothes.

My mother disagrees with the idea, but I see nothing wrong with it. What do you think?

NO NAME IN CONN.

DEAR NO: Whether you are trying to be "cool" or not doesn't matter. Wandering around nude at night in a public area can find you cooling off in the cooler. I vote with your mother.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is being married at a large formal church wedding and we are presently planning it. As is the custom, the groom selected the ushers. (There will be six).

We are now informed that we must ask each usher if he wants to bring a date to the wedding, and if he does, we must send her an invitation. That's not all. We are also informed that these girls should be included in all the wedding party festivities—including the rehearsal dinner. Is this right?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: No. If an usher is officially engaged, it would be gracious of you to invite his fiancée to the wedding. But it's not necessary for the ushers to bring dates. (They escort the bridesmaids.) (P.S. I am frequently asked if a "single" person who has been invited to a wedding dinner automatically has the privilege of bringing a date. The answer is no—unless there are unusual circumstances.)

DEAR ABBY: I am German-born, but have lived in the U.S.A. for the last 24 years with my American husband. My mother still lives in Germany, as do my brother and sister. I keep in touch with them about once a month with letters. I saw them two years ago when I visited Germany.

Yesterday, I received a letter from a so-called friend of my sister's in Germany. (I met this lady only once when I visited Germany, and it is a mystery to me how she got my address.) She wrote, "I think you should know that your mother is going blind, and her general health is very, very bad. They say she hasn't got much longer to live. I told your sister to notify you of your mother's condition, but she said she didn't think you would be interested and probably couldn't make the trip anyway, but I thought you should know."

I immediately telephoned my mother in Germany. She answered the phone and said that her eyesight was failing, but otherwise she was fine for a woman of 77. I was greatly relieved on one hand, but furious at this "friend" of my sister's for writing such a letter.

How would YOU handle it? Or should I let it go?
FRAU S.

DEAR FRAU: Send the letter you received from your sister's so-called "friend" to your sister, and let HER handle it.

Christian Groups Help Poor Mothers

By BOB COOPER

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — "My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth."

This verse, from the first Epistle of St. John, is the spark that ignited Lexington's Mother-to-Mother program, a small band of church women who reach out to help the poor.

"That's the whole idea of the thing," Linda Ashley, founder and chairwoman of the organization here, said.

As a part of a much larger program started by the Christian Church Disciples of Christ six years ago in St. Louis, Mrs. Ashley formed the Mother-to-Mother chapter here earlier this year.

In it, teams of three church women are matched with a fourth mother, who is on welfare, to help her reach whatever goals she sets for herself.

"It's completely interdenominational and interracial," Mrs. Ashley said, "and we don't think of it as helping the mothers on welfare, but rather enabling them."

At first, Mrs. Ashley said, the State Welfare Department "was a little leery about giving us names of people on welfare, but now that they've seen how it's working out, they're tickled to death with it."

The mothers on welfare receive no money through the program. In fact, "we ask our members never to give money," Mrs. Ashley said. "Instead, we help them find resources where they can get what they need."

"We have a $25 emergency fund in case money is ever needed, but we've never spent it," she added. "One team in St. Louis did pay a woman's rent for a few months and, after that, she didn't want to see them again and the whole project failed," she said.

Otherwise, there are almost no rules in the Mother-to-Mother program. Mrs. Ashley said, "except the simple rules of humanity and love."

The idea is to form lasting friendships, with those who are on welfare and those who are not sharing common problems and helping each other solve them.

"We don't try to convert anybody, but actions speak louder than words and sometimes it works out that way," Mrs. Ashley said. "This is just what Christians should be doing."

Meetings are held each month, but members don't have to attend, she said. "In fact, the beauty of this program is that women can work at it whenever they have time."

Three church women are selected for each team "because people don't always relate," Mrs. Ashley said. "Usually, one of them becomes a friend to the fourth woman and the others can help in other ways."

Real Hero Departs The Scene

The death of Charles A. Lindbergh earlier this week took away one of this nation's real heroes.

Today when the airways are filled with commercial, military and private aircraft it is difficult to imagine how Lindbergh's New York-to-Paris flight of 1927 so captured the public's imagination.

Lindbergh made the flight in the "Spirit of St. Louis" a tiny plane in comparison with the mighty airliners which now fly the Atlantic and which have virtually replaced the old sea-going passenger ships on the United States-to-Europe run.

Since then, we have not only developed flight to the point where it is almost a normal part of our lives, but men have gone into space on rocket power and even explored the moon.

Charles A. Lindbergh's 1927 flight to Europe sparked the public's imagination and brought about the realization that air travel to distant points was practical. It led to this age when business people could travel to Europe in a matter of hours, or people living on the west coast could visit relatives in the east without days of travel by land.

This nation has had many heroes before and after Lindbergh's flight of 1927, but few have been accorded the acclaim that he received for his unprecedented accomplishment.

Inflation Should Cut Into That Surplus Cash

The latest report is that North Carolina will have a General Fund surplus of $174.7 million for the fiscal year 1974-75.

This certain to increase calls for a tax cut. Legislators should first consider the impact of inflation on the state budget and the prospects of continued growth in state funds during a recessionary period.

Then if there are still funds for a tax cut, it will be time to consider it.

THIS AFTERNOON

Govm't Spending Probed

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—A probe of spending in state government with an eye to uncovering abuses and cutting costs is underway by a joint commission of the state Senate and House of Representatives.

Shotgunning across state programs, a stream of nervous witnesses have been called before the special investigative body during the past month to offer explanations and answer pointed questions about often embarrassing spending activities.

Critics among state employees privately label the hunting expedition "pencil counting," accusing the spending watchdog group of digging into picayune things rather than zeroing in on areas where major savings could be made.

Others say the activity simply duplicates that already underway by the Governor's Efficiency Study Commission and the Advisory Budget Commission. Some members of Gov. James E. Holshouser's administration see the probe as a Democrat effort to bird-dog the Republican control over state agencies.

Real Goals
But after a month of operation, it has become clear that members of the Governmental Expenditure Study Commission are combining several reasons for their sometimes hostile probing of governmental activities:
—To restore to the General Assembly its power over the purse strings of state government, and to create fear among state employees that they are being watched, and had better keep closer tabs on spending.
—To build the foundation on where spending can be cut to hold up the case for tax-cutting efforts in the 1975 General Assembly.
—To keep an eye on the Holshouser administration. Despite the fact that the commission is bi-partisan, there are only two Republican members. The remainder are veteran Democrats who are expected to be back in the 1975 session.

The commission is chaired jointly by State Sen. I.C. Crawford, D-Buncombe County; and State Rep. William T. Wilkins, D-

Granville County.
State Rep. Liston B. Ramsey, D-Madison County, who is chairman of the House Finance Committee and a key tax-cut leader, is a member. Asked if his participation has anything to do with tax cutting in 1975, Ramsey said, "Oh, yeah. That's one of the reasons."
Crawford concurs in that, pointing out that if tax cut bills are to have much chance of success, "we must be able to show where reductions can be made in spending."
No Inquisition
Crawford said the activity is "not an inquisition" but the tone of the questioning of many witnesses is sharp, and some of the probing has proved downright embarrassing to some witnesses—such as a demand for explanation of phone bills in a particular agency.
Privately, some members of the commission admit that their primary purpose is to impress state employees that "somebody is watching."
Subjects being investigated by the commission cover the scope of state government, including telephone system abuse by state employees estimated at $60,000 a year in misuse by state employees; breakage and loss of whiskey in state storage; reasons a state principal's meet was held in South Carolina rather than North Carolina; responsibility for faulty highway construction; cost of highway rest stop areas; reasons for paying architect fees instead of having a state staff do the work, etc.

Crawford said suggestions for investigations are coming from members of the General Assembly, the general public, and state employees who conscientiously want to see a good job done.
"We're talking about a $3 billion annual budget—that's power, and the legislature has more or less surrendered this to the executive. One of our purposes is to restore this proper, legal, and constitutional function to the General Assembly, where it has been so long neglected."
He said he hopes the probe will be made a permanent part of the legislative operation, regularly holding hearings and issuing reports for the General Assembly and the public. "We should have had something like this for the last 40 years," he said.

Rats Have All The Fun

The key to man's survival on earth seems to be the white rat. Most experiments being conducted these days to see what effect our environment has on human beings are first conducted on white rats. In man's ever-questing search for truth, I visited a large government laboratory the other evening around midnight and recorded what the white rats were saying to each other.
"Zelda, you look so thin."
"They've had me on cyclamates. I must have lost three ounces in a week. What have you been doing?"
"I've been taking monosodium glutamate. It's tasty, but it gives me headaches. Oh, Horace, will you stop coughing."
"Ack, ack, ack. I can't help it. They've got me smoking a pack of cigarettes a day."
"Why don't you give them up?"
"I'd like to, but they won't let me."
"What on earth is Sheldon doing? He's staggering all over his cage."
"He's involved in the marijuana experiments. He goes on a trip every night."
"That's what I call luck. How can I get off cyclamates and in the pot program?"
"You have to know somebody. Every rat in the lab wants to go on pot."

"I don't. I feel you have to face reality and not seek escape. That's why I'm proud to be associated with the air pollution project."
"How can you stand it?"
"It's not bad. Every day they drive me around New York City an I just breathe. If I die, they know the air pollution count is too high. If I live, I get to see the city."
"You're probably right. Bettina, I volunteered for air pollution, but some computer assigned me to water pollution. I'm getting sick of drinking dirty river water every day."
"What's the matter with Whitney? He seems awfully quiet tonight."
"He's been eating grapes with DDT on them for a week, and I guess it's finally getting to him."
"I told him to boycott grapes."
"They won't give him anything else to eat, so he had no choice."
"Where's Alvin?"
"Didn't you hear? They transplanted his heart today into Hazel. Hers gave out during the automobile exhaust tests."
"Poor Alvin."
"He didn't seem to mind. He was involved in the tranquilizer experiments, and when they asked him for his heart, he said he couldn't care less."
"Who's crying?"
"Sandra. They have her taking the birth control pill. She wants babies in the worst way."
"Well, at least she's having

The INSIDE REPORT

Greek Military Scandal

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—Blatant misuse of American military aid by the ousted Greek military dictatorship, which probably caused the junta's fatal inaction in the Cyprus crisis, is about to be exposed in a major international scandal—threatening the permanent end of U.S. military aid to Greece and widening the dangerous Washington-Athens breach.
This scandal, a closely-held secret within the new civilian government of Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis (which had nothing whatever to do with it) may help explain the sudden collapse of the military junta following Turkey's invasion of Cyprus. Turkey's move was triggered by the Greek junta's over throw of Archbishop Makarios as president of Cyprus on July 15.

Karamanlis and his top aides, including Foreign Minister George Mavros, are convinced the junta was preparing military operations across the Turkish border in Thrace immediately following Turkey's decision to intervene militarily on Cyprus.
But when the junta mobilized the Greek reserves, military stores of U.S. aid—rifles, ammunition, boots, machine guns and rockets—were discovered to be totally inadequate.
Crates of the American M-16 rifle, for one example, were found to contain one or two layers of rifles at the top, with rocks, wood and other filler material hidden underneath.
The discovery of this shocking shortfall of arms and equipment was the final nail in the coffin on the junta, already under heavy political pressures for its stumbling Cyprus adventure.

The full extent of the disappearance of American arms aid is still not known. Some well-informed experts on the outrages perpetrated by seven years of Greek military rule believe the arms were sold for cash to foreign countries, possibly in black Africa, behind the backs of regular military commanders.
But wholly apart from the devastating impact on the junta itself, the discovery of the shortfall raises profound questions about Greece's military defenses in her role as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Karamanlis, pressured by the Turkish Cyprus invasion into an anti-American posture, withdrew Greece from the military arm of NATO two weeks ago.
High officials here are unaware of the Karamanlis-Mavros investigation which revealed the junta's inability to mobilize the Greek reserve. That investigation is now centered on three major military depots: Attica, the site in the Athens-Piraeus area of major Greek military installations; Larissa, in central Greece, the headquarters of the First Army; and Salonika, Greece's second city and the headquarters of the Third Army Corps.

Although administration officials are in the dark, key members of four congressional committees—the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees of both Senate and House—have been apprised of the scandal by Elias Demetrapoulos, the best-informed anti-junta Greek exile here the past seven years. He recently returned to Washington from high-level talks in Geneva with officials of the Karamanlis government.
Key congressional committee members, including one Senator who supported U.S. military aid to Greece even during the military dictatorship, will soon demand a complete investigation by the General Accounting Office (GAO), congressional watchdog over government spending.
The results of that probe could be dynamite. In 1971, Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio pushed through Congress a ban on U.S. military grant aid

Other Editors Say Lindbergh's Journey

(Christian Science Monitor)
Although he was called "the Lone Eagle," Charles Lindbergh never ceased to be fully engaged in the great issues of the century he grew up with.
At a time when people looked for mighty individual feats and heroes to worship, his pioneering nonstop solo flight from New York to Paris across the full expanse of the Atlantic Ocean provided the era with its most celebrated example.
The fame and excessive public idolatry that followed brought tragedy into his life, and pushed him toward controversial views such as his early opposition to America "intervening" in World War II. But once America had entered the fighting he made extensive contributions to strengthening the nation's air power, "to carry on this war as intelligently, as constructively, and as successfully as we can."
It was this devotion to excellence, to meeting the great challenges, and to the need for control by "a higher moral force" that dominates any overall view of the life of Charles Lindbergh.
It led him to close collaboration with some of America's outstanding scientists, including rocket pioneer Robert Goddard, whose work he supported and contributed to. At the same time, he was coming to realize, as he wrote in 1948, that "to progress, even to survive, we must learn to apply the truths of God to the actions and relationships of men, to the direction of our science."
This spiritual concern led him finally to a strong active role in the conservation movement, where he helped to bring about protective measures for endangered whale species and primitive tribes in the Philippines. It led him ten years ago to say: "I realized that if I had to choose, I would rather have birds than airplanes."
While the world was still remembering most that fabulous flight of a little single-engine airplane across the ocean, it was an inward journey of the spirit that was clearly engaging the fullest endeavors of Charles Lindbergh.

Strength For Today

RELIGION AND THE WILL
Jesus never tried to prove religious truth to his contemporaries by long and involved argumentation. He addressed his efforts not so much to men's minds as to their wills. In the gospel of John, Jesus says, "If a man willeth to do God's will, he will know of the doctrine whether it be of God."
Some kinds of knowledge come from action rather than from intellectual analysis, and religion is one of these. We come to know whether Christian doctrines are true not so much by turning them over in our minds as by putting them into action. We know the validity of spiritual truth not so much by pondering it as by using it. Philosophers are often skeptics because they tend to regard the understanding of truth as an intellectual process.
One result is that the learned very often fail to understand spiritual truths while the simple in heart come to comprehend them thoroughly. And with this conviction comes a peace of mind which intellectuals seldom achieve.

High Interest Rates Are Felt

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone but some bankers and regulatory officials deplore high interest rates, but so far nobody in power is doing much about them.
Meanwhile:
—Americans are being forced to borrow heavily on their life insurance policies, which still carry an interest rate of only 5 or 6 per cent, versus double that for any other personal loan.
This low rate is made possible by the fact that the borrowers really own the money, it being the cash value built up in their whole life policies. Still, if it isn't paid back it reduces the value of the insurance.
At the end of June, the Institute of Life Insurance reports, loans totaled $21.32 billion, up 14 per cent from $18.71 billion a year ago, and the figure is still rising.

Since policyholders have first call on insurance company assets, the ability of insurers to invest in other areas is reduced by the rise in policy loans. And those other areas usually provide double the return.
There is another cause for concern by the insurers. Past history, they say, establishes as fact that those who borrow on their policies are more likely than nonborrowers to let their policies lapse.
—Small businesses are being put on the rack by high interest rates. Unable to pass on their added expenses as easily as can big business, proprietors and others are forced to absorb the sharp increases in money costs.

Short-term, noninstallment business loans of $10,000 to $25,000 rose in July to 11.47 per cent from 11.06 per cent a month earlier, according to the Federal Reserve Board. Additional charges also might be involved.
New business incorporations, as measured by Dun & Bradstreet, have fallen almost steadily since last September, one reason being the high cost or unavailability of financing.
Much the same situation exists in the equity market, where new issues of stock by beginning companies have been reduced to a trickle from a roar in just three or four years.
The equity markets can't support new issues because so much capital has been siphoned off into debt securities by the high interest rates available.

—Often overlooked is the fact that the prime interest rate isn't fixed rigidly at the announced figure. It varies so much that corporation treasurers and other executives can't make reliable projections about future expenses.
—Pension managers are getting perturbed. Pension funds traditionally were big investors in blue-chip stocks, which now sell at anemic prices since investment money has been attracted elsewhere.
This produces questions about the viability of some private pensions, should the stock market remain depressed for many months or years ahead.

Shaping Amnesty Terms

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior defense officials would be very hesitant to accept deserters or draft dodgers if any should volunteer for military service under President Ford's conditional amnesty program.
However, Pentagon sources reporting this said the possibility of such service for some Vietnam-era deserters cannot be entirely ruled out.
They suggested defense officials might be willing to consider, on a case-by-case basis, taking back some men who went over the hill for reasons unrelated to the Vietnam war or to criminal acts committed while in service.

The Pentagon claims its analysis shows that only about 6 per cent of the 4,194 deserters who fled to foreign countries after July, 1966, are known to have acted because of objections to the Vietnam war or pacifist beliefs in general.
Other reasons cited included family, financial or personal troubles, inability to adjust to military life and charges for other kinds of offenses. No reasons were stated in about 45 per cent of the cases.
Officials said the cases were investigated by questioning relatives, friends, former comrades, officers who led them, and many of the 1,400 deserters who have returned over the years.
Pentagon and Justice Department lawyers are shaping final recommendations before Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe hand them to Ford Saturday morning. About 28,000 deserters and some 14,000 draft dodgers in this country and abroad are involved.
After Saxbe and Schlesinger met on Thursday, the attorney general said they had "narrowed down" the plan as they moved toward a joint position. He declined to go into detail.
There were no indications of any major differences between the Pentagon and the Justice Department. One defense official said Saxbe's stated views parallel those in the Pentagon on possible alternative public service for deserters and draft dodgers as a way of working their way back into U.S. society.
While Schlesinger remained silent, Saxbe has spoken out in favor of requiring at least "an act of contrition" and up to two years of work in a hospital or some other "good works".
Ahead of the Saxbe-Schlesinger meeting, a delegation representing families of draft dodgers and deserters conferred on Thursday with Martin Hoffmann, the Pentagon's general counsel. Members said afterward they reject the idea of conditions to return of young men who left to avoid service in Vietnam.

$2,000,000 Insurance 'Rebate'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. will return $2 million to its 232,000 auto liability customers in North Carolina.

The rebate is a dividend, paid out by the company on the basis of its profits in the first six months of 1973. A spokesman for State Farm, the second largest insurer in the state, said the dividend will be paid as customers renew their policies.

Jim Stahly, a spokesman in State Farm's headquarters at Bloomington, Ill., said the dividend is "probably due to the energy crisis."

Since the gasoline shortage, there has been a decline in accident and claims and State Farm found itself with excess premiums, which are being paid back to policyholders, Stahly said in an interview Thursday.

WILL COMPETE
LONDON (AP)—Princess Anne and her husband, Capt. Mark Phillips, have been selected to compete for Britain in the world three-day equestrian event next month.

Insurance companies compute their rates on the basis of what they believe their losses will be. The losses were less than expected in the January through June 1974 period for State Farm.

Meanwhile Thursday, the North Carolina Court of Appeals was asked to overturn an order by Insurance Commission John Ingram for a 13.2 per cent reduction in auto liability premiums in the state.

The order is being contested by the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office, which represents all the state's insurance companies in rate-making decisions.

Stahly said State Farm was a member of the Rate Office only because it is required by state law. In other states, State Farm sets its own rates, independent of other companies or the state.

Attorneys for the Insurance Department said Ingram's order was justified by statistics showing a decline in traffic accidents and damages due to the energy crisis. The insurance companies contend there is not enough evidence to support Ingram's reduction order, and that statistics of the Motor Vehicles Division are not sufficient for rate orders.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Charles Lloyd said there is "a strong correlation...between motor vehicle statistics and actual paid

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Friday, August 30, 1974—5 losses by insurance companies." He estimated that insurance companies in the state have made an extra profit of $14 million since the energy crisis was first solidly felt last winter. There was no indication of when the state Court of Appeals will rule in the case.

But if the GAO probe shows that there really was wholesale abuse of American military aid, Congress will be most reluctant about new grant aid even to the respected civilian government of Karamanlis.

Even without the scandal, restoration of aid seems dubious considering the fact that Karamanlis bowed to anti-American sentiment by withdrawing from NATO's military organization and accepting Moscow's formula for a political settlement on Cyprus.

The impact of a finding by GAO that large amounts of American aid were pilfered or squandered would go far beyond Greece. It would radically advance the argument against foreign aid widespread in Congress and fanned by neo-isolationism. In this way, too, the chickens of obsequious U.S. support for a clique of primitive Greek colonels are going home to roost with a vengeance.

SANDERSTEAD, England
(AP) — By staying the same, the Rev. Peter John Morgan has become a "different" style of priest in the present-day Roman Catholic Church.

He wears a cassock, a black flat hat, speaks a dead language, venerates a four-centuries-dead pope and defies the wishes of the present pontiff, Pope Paul VI.

In a changing world, Father Morgan refuses to change. Rejecting the modernized liturgy and defying Vatican directives to put it in local languages, he sticks to the traditional Mass in Latin.

He has counterparts scattered around the world, including the United States — traditionalists who have, by not changing, become rebels in a church that changed.

The traditionalists are willing to spend time, energy and money for their cause. And there are thousands of them, here and there, who don't like the new ways.

Supporters of Father Morgan provide him with a house here on the outskirts of London, pay him a salary with expenses to freewheel over southern England to say the old Mass.

Many are ready to drive miles for his hour-long ceremony on any day of the week.

To publicize their campaign, they've formed a society and advertise on a poster that "The traditional Roman Catholic Mass is now widely available again."

Father Morgan, English-born, looks older than his 34 years. He is round-faced, portly under his ankle-length black cassock, talks incessantly, is rapid in speech and quick of movement.

Invited For Sunday Talk

The Adult Sunday School Department of Memorial Baptist Church has invited Dr. and Mrs. Bela Udvarnoki of Murfreesboro to speak here Sunday during the Sunday School hour.

Dr. Udvarnoki, chairman from 1952 to 1963 of the Social Science Department at Chowan College and currently Professor Emeritus, and Mrs. Udvarnoki, who has served as a foreign missionary will speak in the church sanctuary during the 9:45 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. Sunday School period.

Born in Hungary, Dr. Udvarnoki was educated in Budapest, Hamberg, Germany, and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary where he received his Ph.D. in New Testament Greek.

He has been prominent in Baptist work in Hungary and in the United States and is past president of the Hungarian Baptist Convention. He is a lecturer on international affairs and Christianity behind the Iron Curtain and since 1967 has served as editor of Gospel Messenger, and American Hungarian bi-monthly Baptist magazine.

Mrs. Udvarnoki, a native of North Carolina, graduated from Chowan College and took post graduate work at WMU Training School, Louisville, Ky.

She served as a missionary in Hungary and Ruamnia from 1935 to 1942 and as a missionary in Nigeria, Africa from 1945 to 1946.

FBI Asked To Check Rumors

RALEIGH (AP)—U.S. Atty. Thomas McNamara confirmed Thursday the FBI has been asked to check on allegations the state's Enforcement and Theft Bureau conducted a political investigation of former Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

McNamara said he asked for the FBI inquiry at Morgan's request.

He said he does not know at this time what statutes might be involved but said the inquiry could center on possible violation of Morgan's civil rights as an individual.

Morgan had no comment Thursday on McNamara's statement.

McNamara also confirmed that the FBI is looking into allegations that George Little, deputy secretary of natural and economic resources, made improper political fund solicitations of highway contractors.

Wake Dist. Atty. Burley B. Mitchell said last week he was referring the case to McNamara. Mitchell said there was not enough evidence in an SBI report to warrant action again Little in state courts.

McNamara said he asked the FBI to review actions taken in regard to Morgan by the Republican-controlled Enforcement and Theft Bureau of the state Transportation Department.

McNamara said the initial findings which will determine whether a full investigation should be made will be available in about three weeks.

Behavior-Conditioning Program Wins Praise

By KILEY ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer
SOMERS, Conn. (AP) — Connecticut corrections officials say they are pleased with the success thus far of a controversial program that uses electric shock treatment and psychological conditioning on men serving terms for molesting children.

Roger Wolfe, administrator of the program, says that in the last 18 months, 11 men who have undergone the treatment have been released from the state prison here. None have been rearrested for sexual offenses, he says.

And while Wolfe says it is "inevitable" that one of those involved will be rearrested, he hopes the program will be 70 to 80 per cent successful.

The treatment involves channeling the behavior of the convicts into socially accepted patterns. They undergo a three-stage treatment aimed at making them desire sex with women rather than children.

Civil libertarians critical of the program say inmates participate because they believe it will enhance their chances of parole. And the U.S. Bureau of Prisons has said it is discontinuing its behavior modification program.

State Correction Commissioner John R. Manson, however, says he is prepared to go to court to keep the Connecticut program and calls the federal decision "gutless."

Manson says the alternative is to keep convicted child molesters locked up for longer periods since parole boards are reluctant to grant early parole to sex offenders.

Wolfe says that the officials running the program often are skeptical about the sincerity of those wishing to enter. But he says the motivation level of most inmates is high because "it's not nice to be a child molester. If you're a junkie you can find all sorts of peer support.... If you're a bank robber, you're admired."

The program uses just that motivation to change the inmate during the behavior modification program. It starts with aversion therapy, which uses the individual's phobia and couples it with an incompatible picture that makes that phobia repulsive to him.

During shock therapy, the inmate sees slides of nude children and women. He receives an electric shock to the groin area when he sees a slide of a child. No shock is associated with the pictures of women.

With the molester's preference for children eliminated, social conditioning begins by transferring the inmate's sexual desires to "normal channels." The inmate fantasizes normal sexual contact, and rewards himself with thoughts of something he finds pleasant, such as his boss giving him a raise.

Laughing children splash and splutter in the shallows. Farther out, big boys race and tear in noisy games of tag. Fathers show their children how to swim, while mothers smile encouragement. Lovers nestle close on striped blankets, and grandmas nod sleepily under big-brimmed hats. The day is good, a day of sand and sea and clear blue sky.

Then a whistle shrieks, and laughter stills as life guards work to save a life. Dread hovers, and even when the child is safe within his mother's arms, for some the day is tarnished.

It's easy to be gay on picnic days. But, when tragedy comes close and fears clamor, life's happiness is a temporary thing. Where can you find confidence?

Your church has the answer. It is the abiding place of God. Within its fellowship through prayer and worship, you can learn that God is the center of your life and that His goodness never wavers.

Moses Signs Pro Pact

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — First, there was the George Mikan era of pro basketball. Then came the period beginning with Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain. They were followed by Lew Alcindor, now known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

Now it's Bill Walton — and possibly Moses Malone.

The big difference between Malone and the other dominant centers is that they attended college before turning pro and he did not.

But the rare leap from high school in Petersburg, Va., last season to the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association this year does not faze the soft-spoken, confident 6-foot-11 potential pro superstar.

"I think I can make the team," he said in classic understatement Thursday at a gala news conference officially announcing his signing of a contract estimated at more than $3 million.

"I plan to work hard," continued the ambidextrous youngster. "I am not a selfish player. I know the importance of playing team ball. And that's what I will try and do."

Malone said he patterns his play after Spencer Haywood, a former star in the ABA and now an All-Star with the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association. Not only does Malone have great size, but also tremendous quickness. His best shooting range is from 15-18 feet and he is an excellent shot-blocker.

At Petersburg, he led the school to 50 straight victories over two seasons and two state championships while averaging 39 points, 26 rebounds and 12 blocked shots per game. He was twice a high school All-American.

"Moses does things the way Haywood does," said Bucky Buckwalter, who formerly coached Haywood and now is the Stars' director of player personnel and considered the top candidate for the team's coaching vacancy. "He can overpower you from the inside and shoot well from the outside. He also is a great shot-blocker and rebounder."

"Moses is as good right now as Bill Walton," said George Raveling, basketball coach at Washington State.

The Stars obviously thought he was ready for the pros, even at the tender age of 19, and for that reason, they stunned the other ABA clubs by selecting him at the league's draft last April.

But it wasn't until last Saturday that they began serious negotiations with him. It was shortly after James A. Collier, a Salt Lake City businessman, had assumed ownership of the club and only eight days before an ABA deadline would have prevented them from signing Malone without him first playing his freshman season at the University of Maryland, with whom he had signed a grant-in-aid in June.

When he finally decided, Malone agreed to a five-year contract with Utah. The Stars originally had offered him a 15-year contract, but it was trimmed to five years to give him the power to renegotiate if he becomes a standout player.

Financial terms were not disclosed, but reportedly the contract was worth $3.3 million, including fringe benefits, bonuses, insurance policies, stock options and contingency provisions.

ACC Checking Violations

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Allegations of recruiting violations involving Moses Malone, Phil Ford, and two other unidentified athletes sought by Atlantic Coast Conference schools will be placed before the league's executive committee next week, says ACC Commissioner Bob James.

"Moses Malone, as a pro, is no longer our problem, but this does not eradicate the responsibility of any institution prior to his signing with the Utah Stars," James told a news conference Thursday.

Malone, 6-11 high school star from St. Petersburg, Va., signed what is said to be a multimillion-dollar contract with the American Basketball Association club after being scheduled to attend the University of Maryland.

James said he had received letters intimating that conference schools made improper approaches before Ford, a top basketball prospect from Rocky Mount, N.C., signed a grant-in-aid with the University of North Carolina.

"I can only say that I investigated the names which were signed to many letters we received regarding Ford, and that most of them were fictitious," James said. "However, it is my duty to present all evidence I have compiled and allow the committee to make a decision whether any or all files should be turned over to the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) for investigation."

He said the special meeting of the executive committee, the exact time and place of which he did not disclose, also would consider the disagreement between Tennessee and North Carolina State regarding the recruiting of football quarterback-split end Elijah Marshall of Gibsonville, N.C. Tennessee of the Southeastern Conference contends the ACC broke an inter-conference agreement in regard to the signing of Marshall, who now is attending N.C. State. James handed down a personal ruling last week that Marshall was within the code of proper recruiting and could play for the State Wolfpack.

The executive committee will either accept the James edict, or overrule him.

"As commissioner I do not make the rules; I am hired to interpret and enforce them," James said. He added that recruiting in the ACC area and across the nation had reached an unhealthy intensity. "I'm not sure we can control recruiting or solve the ills. There may be a time when we have to outlaw it," he said.

Panthers Seek Progress

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

BETHEL—North Pitt High School's Panthers have a new coach and a new outlook this year as they prepare for the 1974 football season.

Pat Smith, a Robersonville native, takes over the post of head football coach at the school, and hopes to get the grid program on the road.

"We're trying to get the guys feeling like they have something to take pride in," Smith said. "We have more younger guys than we've had in the past, and a number up from the junior varsity team that was in most of its games last year."

"We're trying to give them something to look forward to," the coach added. "Someone has to get the program on the road, and it just might as well be these guys. I'm satisfied with the attitude they have—it's a winning one, but they realize too that we don't have a lot of depth."

Smith added that he and his staff have done all they could to encourage participation on the team. They have organized rides to practice and home again for players who had problems getting there. They have scheduled practices for around 8 p.m. to give those working a chance to get there. "I think this has helped," he said. "We have more out than ever before, but we're still small in numbers and could use more."

The fact that the Panthers are young and inexperienced may be the biggest problem they have to overcome this year. Only seven lettermen return off last year's team. "Most of the guys this year were on the junior varsity last year," Smith said. "We don't have a lot of experience."

Not knowing what to expect in the conference leaves Smith somewhat in the dark too. "I don't know how big most of these other teams are, so it's hard for me to compare sizes. I think we can be respectable this year, but we'll have to stay healthy to do so, because we don't have a bit of depth."

Smith expects to have seven or eight players going both ways.

"Injuries could hurt us badly," he said.

Offensively, the line, like most of the rest of the team is shy on experience. "Our tackles right now are weak, too," Smith said. "But we have some good guards and a good tight end."

The tight end will probably be Jackie Best, "light, but tough,"

In the backfield of the slot-offense, Smith looks for good quickness, but again inexperience is the dominant factor. Paul James and Donnie Perkins are battling for the quarterback position, but right now Perkins, the better passer of the two, is hurt. Marion Barnes, whom Smith calls one of the team defense, with Sneed at the middle guard slot. Atkinson and Vines will be the tackles with Best and Dennis White at the ends.

Fred Glisson will handle the inside linebacker duties, with Tom Glisson and Barnes outside. "Our secondary should be strong, but still inexperienced," Smith said. A number of players will see action here, including James Carr, Nelson, Larry Spencer, James and Jones.

The Panthers, who have occupied the cellar of the Eastern Carolina Conference since its birth, still may find the going rough this year, but Smith feels the team is headed in the right direction.

"We know that we're small and thin, but we do have a good attitude," he said.

Gilliam Challenges Veteran Quarterbacks

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

One of the most successful quarterbacks in the National Football League preseason has been Pittsburgh's Joe Gilliam.

And when he leads the Steelers against the Washington Redskins tonight, Gilliam will be placing his skills in comparison with the Steelers' Terry Bradshaw and Washington's Sonny Jurgensen, two men who have made success a habit.

If Gilliam continues his success, it could mean failure for the two veterans.

Gilliam this preseason has led the Steelers to four straight victories. He has completed 53 of 86 attempts for 874 yards and leads the league with seven touchdown passes.

Meanwhile, Jurgensen, the 18-year veteran, is still trying to prove he has recovered from off-season knee surgery and will undergo a critical testing tonight that could nudge him onto the taxi squad and into ultimate retirement.

Bradshaw also has been hampered by an injury — to his passing arm — and has found himself in the second slot behind Gilliam.

In the other games tonight, Green Bay is at Miami and Detroit is at Buffalo.

On Saturday, Philadelphia will face the New York Giants at Princeton, N.J.; Denver will meet New England at Spokane, Wash.; Baltimore will be at Atlanta; Minnesota at St. Louis; Kansas City at Dallas; the New York Jets at New Orleans; Los Angeles at San Diego, and Chicago at Houston.

Cincinnati and Cleveland will play at Columbus, Ohio, on Sunday and Oakland will be at San Francisco in a nationally televised game Monday night.

Miami is trying to rebound from its worst loss in three years when it hosts Green Bay.

Los Angeles walloped the defending champions 31-13 last Saturday and the Dolphins hope that the return of running back Mercury Morris will stimulate their offense. Morris has been held out of action in previous games to give him time to recuperate from a back injury suffered last season.

The Packers will start Jack Concannon at quarterback because of an injury to Jerry Tagge.

To get its own team on the right track, Buffalo Coach Lou Saban has switched defensive end Earl Edwards to tackle and installed reserve defensive end Bob Kampa in Edwards' slot against Detroit.

Buffalo's offense fell apart last week against the Vikings as O.J. Simpson was limited to 18 yards in seven carries.

Petty Shows Cards Early

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Unexpected as it was even to the driver himself, Richard Petty will be the pole position starter for the 25th Southern 500 stock car race on Labor Day.

"It's my fault, I'm to blame," the lanky 1.75 million career winner stoically told newsmen. "I don't usually show my cards in time trials. If I have any aces, I usually try to lay them out on race day. But I'll try to make the best of it."

Petty, the sport's all-time champion, rode his Dodge around the heat-blistered Darlington Raceway at 150.132 miles per hour Thursday to capture only his second front row pole start this year and his first on a big speedway.

He barely edged Ford-driving Buddy Baker, who was clocked at 150.096 m.p.h. It will be Baker's second No. 2 start in as many races.

"I'll guarantee you could fry an egg out there on that asphalt," Petty said as he chomped on a hunk of ice. The temperature in the garage area registered 95 degrees and Petty figured it was 120 in his cockpit.

"I'm not so sure I was the fastest today," he added. "I only ran the fastest. Some of those other cats could have done better. They wanted to put me on the hot seat, and I bit."

He was kidding, of course. His crew chief, Dale Inman, a cousin, insisted Petty was happy to lead the 40-car field to the post in the most prestigious of all stock car events. And particularly on the silver anniversary of Darlington Raceway.

In all, 12 drivers made the field in initial qualifying trials. Another dozen spots were to be filled today, with final trials scheduled Saturday.

The early pole position favorite, Mercury's David Pearson, was third fastest at 149.552 m.p.h., followed by Chevrolet's Cale Yarborough at 148.991 and Bobby Allison at 148.842 in a Matador. Second-year man Darrell Waltrip made the third row in a Chevrolet at 148.388 m.p.h.

Petty, looking for the 163rd victory of the most brilliant career ever fashioned in stock car racing, has won the Southern 500 only once, in 1967, but has triumphed twice in the track's Rebel 500 spring spectacular—the last time in 1967.

He was nearly killed at the track in 1970 when he wrecked his Plymouth against the fourth turn boilerplate.

"That's all behind me now," the lanky veteran said. "Things like that will happen, and most drivers who are honest with themselves expect them. But you can't look back in this business."

Hitting Starts In Buc Drills

Coach Pat Dye's reaction to his East Carolina team's first day of practice in full gear was not as enthusiastic as had been earlier following workouts in shorts.

"We knew there would be some differences when we started hitting, and there definitely was," said Dye. "Our offense has a long way to go to catch the defense. We appear real weak on the fundamentals, and time could now become a big factor in getting ready for a game in two weeks."

While the offense is not up to par with the defense at this stage, it must be kept in mind that the offense is a young group; not the veteran unit that makes up the "Wild Dogs" defense.

"We probably expected too much from our young people yesterday," continued Dye, "especially on the offensive line. There's some good people out there, but it's going to take time to get their learning down to proper execution."

The tight end position brought pleasure to Dye yesterday. Benny Gibson (Sr., Rocky Mount, Va.) and Mike Shea (Sr., Virginia Beach, Va.) both brought praises from the head man.

"Both Gibson and Shea look much better than in the spring," commented Dye. "They worked out with weights during the off season and are much bigger and stronger at this time."

Three split ends are showing up good: Vic Wilfore (Sr., Greenville), Theodore Ashford (Soph., Durham), and Thomas Slade (Fr., Edenton).

While the offense is of major concern, Coach Dye pointed out certain running backs that have look good in practice. Those being Don Schink (Sr., Tetawa, N.J.), Jimmy Howe (Sr., Hortense, Ga.), Tom Daub (Soph., Tower City, Pa.), Alexander French (Fr., Warner Robbins, Ga.), Vince Kolanke (Fr., Weirton, W. Va.), Willie Hawkins (Fr., Grimesland).

Dye concluded by saying, "If we had not lost defensive tackle Bob Brandon, we would have been in great shape defensively. Now we've got no backup tackle. And as for our offense, we've just got a lot of work to do."

Capsule Report

OUTLOOK—With a lack of depth, a lot of inexperience and not a great deal of size, North Pitt's Panthers will again struggle this year. But new Coach Pat Smith believes that the team has a new outlook and that the future looks bright for the Panthers. The team will have to mature quickly this year, however, and stay injury free for the Panthers to move up much in the Eastern Carolina standings.

OFFENSE—Slot I.
DEFENSE—Five-three.
SCHEDULE—Sept. 6, Robersonville; Sept. 13, North Lenoir; Sept. 20, Eastern Wayne; Sept. 27, at Southern Nash; Oct. 4, Farmville Central; Oct. 11, Greene Central; Oct. 18, at C.B. Aycock; Oct. 25, D.H. Conley; Nov. 1, at Ayden-Grifton; Nov. 8, at Southern Wayne.

according to Smith. The tackles will be Ricky Atkinson and Fred Glisson, who was moved from the guard position last year. "This will help our tackle situation," the coach said.

At guards will be Tom Glisson and Tom Sneed, while either Raymond Battle or Jesse Harris will handle the snaps. "The Glissons and Sneed are all real quick and hit well. They are good linemen. But both centers are out for the first time, so they have no experience."

The split end will be Dennis White, who is one of the more experienced players on the team.

Stan Bahnsen of the Chicago White Sox pitched a perfect seven-inning game against Buffalo in 1967. He was pitching for Syracuse that season.

Captain Sal Bando of the Oakland Athletics broke in with Burlington, Iowa, in the Midwest League in 1965 and hit .262. His major league career average is .263.

Curtis Misses No-Hit Bid

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

John Curtis, the St. Louis Cardinals' 26-year-old left-hander, came within one pitch of the third no-hitter this year and the first in the National League.

But that one pitch rocketed off the bat of San Diego's Fred Kendall in the eighth inning and wrecked not only the no-hitter but the shutout as well.

Fortunately, Jim Dwyer and Mike Tyson got a couple of hits when they really counted and gave Curtis an 8-12 record and the Cards a 3-1 victory over the Padres Thursday night.

In the ninth, Bake McBride, Ken Reitz, Dwyer and Tyson hit successive two-out singles to move the Cards within half a game of first-place Pittsburgh in the National League East.

In other National League games, Los Angeles beat Chicago 3-1, New York whipped Houston 7-0, San Francisco nipped Pittsburgh 3-2 in 11 innings and Atlanta downed Montreal 7-2. In the American League, Boston beat Chicago 3-2 and Baltimore defeated Texas 6-2.

Dodgers 3, Cubs 1
Andy Messersmith and Mike Marshall combined to three-hit the Cubs and give the Dodgers their fifth straight victory to widen their lead in the National League West to 3½ games over Cincinnati.

Messersmith held Chicago hitless until rookie Pete LaCock led off the seventh inning with his first major league homer.

Mets 7, Astros 0
The Mets snapped Dave Roberts' 26-inning scoreless streak in the first inning when Bud Harrelson doubled and came around on Felix Millan's bunt single and a sacrifice fly by Ted Martinez. They added three more runs in the third, then scored their final three in the sixth off reliever Jim York.

Giants 3, Pirates 2
Dave Kingman drove in two San Francisco runs with a fourth-inning homer and an 11th-inning single that beat the Pirates.

Gary Matthews opened the 11th with an infield single and was bunted to second. Dave Guisti then walked Chris Speier intentionally before Kingman singled to left. Willie Stargell sent the game into extra innings with his 21st homer, a ninth-inning shot.

Braves 7, Expos 2
Mike Lum's ninth homer gave Atlanta a 1-0 lead, the Expos tied the score in the bottom of the second, then Ralph Garr hit his 10th after Steve Rogers hit Vic Correll with a pitch and Larry Lintz dropped Rogers' throw at second on an attempted force play.

Red Sox 3, White Sox 2
Wilbur Wood's record slipped to 19-16 after Rick Burleson drove in two of Boston's runs in the victory over Chicago that widened the Red Sox' American League East lead to five games over the New York Yankees.

Orioles 6, Rangers 2
Tommy Davis keyed Baltimore's victory over the Rangers with a three-run single in the fourth inning. After Texas scored a run in the bottom of the fourth, Brooks Robinson led off the fifth with his seventh homer.

Sluggers Are Tourney Champs

The Little Sluggers captured the Greenville Invitational Softball Tournament last night, remaining unbeaten throughout the long, rain-delayed event.

Marco Hi-Fi Williamston gained the finals against the Little Sluggers by downing Bank of North Carolina of Farmville, 2-1, in the opening game last night.

BNC pushed over its lone run in the first. Taylor singled and moved around on hits by Holloman and Eason.

It stayed that way until the fourth, when Marco got both of its runs. Raynor singled and Griffin followed with a home run, making it 2-1.

But the Sluggers came up with an 11-9 victory in the second game, ending the tournament.

The Sluggers got one in the first inning. Fleming singled and walks to Seymour, Parrell and Huber brought him in.

They added another in the second. Mattox singled and after Holland walked, Waters singled Mattox in.

Marco came up with six runs in the third. Wynne reached on a fielder's choice and Coltrain singled. Swift reached on an error and Raynor cleared the bases with a triple. Griffin reached on an error and Bryant singled. Harper reached on an error and Starkey singled to score Bryant with the sixth run for a 6-2 Marco lead.

But the sluggers came right back with eight runs to charge into a 10-6 lead. Kuykendall opened up with a home run. Parrell singled and Huber doubled. Craft singled and Mattox got a hit. Holland walked and Waters singled. Seymour finished it off with a home run, sewing it up for the Sluggers.

They went on to add one more in the fourth on Cox's homer. Marco got another in the fifth on Raynor's homer, then added two in the sixth.

Lewis Hardee, player-manager of the Sluggers, was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Americans Smother Fire

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Except for getting "a little greedy" near the end of the first half, Jack Gotta thought his Birmingham Americans played a near-perfect game Thursday night when they turned back the Chicago Fire 22-8 in a pivotal World Football League game.

"There's no doubt that this was a big game for us," said Gotta. "It was against a team in our division and in their own backyard."

The victory enabled the undefeated Americans, who boosted their record to 8-0, to open a two-game gap over the Fire which had to settle back at 6-2.

"It might have been our best defensive effort of the season," said Gotta. "We played a good team and might have shut them out if we hadn't gotten a little greedy."

The Americans got "a little greedy" near the end of the first half. They were leading 14-0 on a two-yard touchdown run by Jim Edwards and a 19-yard touchdown pass from George Mira to Paul Robinson.

With less than a minute to go in the first half, Matthew Reed went in to throw a bomb only to have Harry Howard intercept.

Fire quarterback Virgil Carter went into action and completed three straight passes for 65 yards in 27 seconds, capped by a 28-yard scoring aerial to Jim Scott. Carter then hit Jack Dolbin with the action point to cut Birmingham's lead to 14-8 and put the Fire back into the game before a hopeful home crowd of 44,732.

Still, the Americans never panicked and after a scoreless third quarter, they marched 66 yards in nine plays late in the game to clinch it on a three-yard run by Art Cantrelle.

Cantrelle, out of Louisiana State and formerly of the Canadian League, set up his own touchdown with runs of six and 22 yards.

"Man, the blocking was something else," said Cantrelle. "Our offensive line and Charlie Harraway really did all the work. All I had to do was walk."

Before Cantrelle's clinching touchdown, the Americans were hit with a costly penalty.

"We didn't lose confidence or our poise," said Mira. "The penalty didn't stop us. We just came back and moved the ball well. I went to Alfred (Jenkins) a lot because of man-to-man coverage."

"Sure, we would have been happy to have a 14-0 lead at the half," said Mira, "but we wanted to put another score on the board. The fact that they scored and it was 14-8 made us come out to do something about it."

Mira, a veteran of the National Football League with five years with San Francisco and shorter stays with Philadelphia, Baltimore and Miami, said, "I really enjoy this league. It's more wide open and exciting. I like the idea of wide open play."

Mira and Carter of the Fire did their best to keep it a wide open game despite the lack of scoring. Mira completed 12 of 28 passes for 139 yards while Carter hit on 18 of 43 for 263 yards.

"Birmingham has a solid team in all areas," said Carter, also a former NFL player. "They have good offense, defense and a fine kicking game."

Jim Spavital, coach of the Fire, said "They simply controlled the ball against us and our defense was in the game 80 per cent of the time. That put the pressure on us."

Key Issues Far From Settled

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The National Football League strike, or non-strike, is nearly two months old, the start of the regular season is just over two weeks away, and some very key issues are far from settled.

Foremost is the Rozelle Rule: when a player plays out his option to become a free agent and signs with another club, if the two teams cannot agree on compensation, the decision is up to Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, reiterated the owners' opposition to elimination of the Rozelle Rule at a press conference Thursday.

"The Rozelle Rule is very closely tied to our system," said Thompson, "and we are asking the players to accept our system. We will modify it, but we will not eliminate it."

The players, however, say this inhibits their freedom to negotiate and that clubs are wary of signing free agents because they do not know what Rozelle will make them give up as compensation.

Thompson, meanwhile, called the offer which the NFLMC submitted to the players Tuesday, and which was rejected by the NFL Players Association, "very close to a bottom-line offer."

That offer included modification — but not elimination — of the Rozelle Rule.

Besides that disagreement, Thompson indicated that the length of the contract has become another major stumbling block.

"We need a four-year contract," said Thompson, "but the players want one or two years."

More than a few veterans have expressed disappointment at the way their union has handled the dispute, particularly the "cooling-off period" originally called Aug. 14 and extended earlier this week.

Meanwhile, there was no indication when union and management might return to the bargaining table. Chief federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr. presently is involved in a mining dispute and unavailable for an indefinite period.

Not Excited About Round

By TOM SALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — J.C. Snead, a former minor league baseball player and nephew of golfing great Sam Snead, fashioned a course-tying 64 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead in the rain-splattered first round of the $250,000 Tournament Players Championship, but he refused to let it get to him.

"I try not to get excited," said the 32-year-old veteran who hasn't won on the tour in over two years.

He belted out 10 birdies during his round, including five straight and seven on his first nine holes. He also had a pair of bogeys as he took his slim lead over obscure second-year pro Tom Evans, who had a 65 in the opening round which was marred by three thunderstorm delays. The weather caused play to be suspended for two hours, 35 minutes.

The 45 players who did not finish their rounds will conclude their opening play today before the second round begins in this initial TPC tournament, which is worth $50,000 to the winner in addition to a 10-year tour exemption and an invitation to the U.S. Open. The players are dedicated to making this event a fifth major tourney, joining the Masters, U.S. Open, PGA and British Open.

Two strokes behind Snead over the par 72, 6,883-yard Atlanta Country Club course are Jack Nicklaus and journeyman Bobby Mitchell. Both had 66s. Alone at 67 was Homero Blancas, while at 68 were Rod Funseth, Roy Pace, Larry Hinson, Gibby Gilbert, Bob E. Smith, and Tim Collins.

Evans, 25, from Dallas, is a winner of only $7,000 in his two years on the tour. He was a last-minute addition to the field of 144, getting in when Bobby Cole withdrew with a back injury Wednesday.

Leading money-winner Johnny Miller had a 70 while Masters and British Open champion Gary Player had a 73, as did Arnold Palmer. PGA champ Lee Trevino will complete his round today, as will U.S. Open winner Hale Irwin.

Newspaper Advertising Grows

By DEIRDRE DONNELLY
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Newspapers increased their already-dominant share of the nation's total advertising dollars in 1973, and the energy crisis changed some newspaper advertising patterns, two studies show.
A breakdown of money spent last year on advertising compiled by McCann-

Erickson, a New York advertising agency, said newspapers obtained $7.6 billion, or 30.2 per cent of the nation's total advertising revenues of $25.1 billion.
Television received $4.5 billion in ad revenues, radio took $1.7 billion and $1.4 billion went to magazines, a report by McCann-Erickson Inc. said.
Newspapers also took the larger part of advertising dollar growth, gaining $587 million. That compared with an increase of $402 million by television, $78 million for radio and $8 million more for magazines, according to the ad agency's report.

Yet newspaper advertisers last year changed substantially, a report on the newspaper industry by Delafield-Childs Inc., a Maryland based stock brokerage firm says.

Newspaper advertising revenues were boosted last year by more ads from transportation and oil companies plus hikes in ad rates. These helped offset sharp declines in resort and travel advertising and in classified help wanted ads, the Delafield-Childs report said.

"Newspapers benefitted from the rise of explanatory advertising in 1973. For instance the oil companies which usually do not advertise in newspapers spent a lot of money explaining their side of the gasoline shortage last winter," said John Morton, one of the authors of the Delafield-Childs report.

"Schedules for planes, trains and other transportation were published more regularly in newspapers and newspaper ad rates rose sharply, in the order of 8-10 per cent on average," Morton said.

Both Delafield-Childs and McCann-Erickson noted a general trend in marketing toward local advertising which benefitted newspapers.

"Most of the major advertising agencies will use television for image ads for their clients and newspapers for the nitty-gritty," Morton said.

The McCann-Erickson report said newspaper ad revenues, share of total advertising has grown at the rate of one tenth of one per cent for the past three years to 30.2 per cent of total in 1973 from 29.9 per cent in 1971.

Most of this advertising was snatched away from magazines, whose share of total dollars has shrunk sharply to 5.8 per cent last year from 6.6 per cent in 1971, the report says.

Radio's share of total ad dollars has also declined to 6.7 per cent from 7 per cent in 1971, some of which has gone to newspapers on a local level.

Sea Law Talks Are Concluded

By NIGEL CUMBERBATCH
Associated Press Writer
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The third United Nations Law of the Sea Conference has ended with a call for negotiations on a treaty for signing next year governing the use and protection of oceans.

"The stage of discussion in the form of general statements and set speeches must be recognized as definitely over," said the conference president, Hamilton S. Amerasinghe of Sri Lanka, at the closing session Thursday. "The time has come for active, serious and earnest negotiations."

After three weeks of policy statements from the 148 nations represented and another seven weeks of discussions in three working committees, the conference failed to agree on a treaty provision covering any of the 100 agenda items.

Many of the 5,000 delegates and observers had already left Caracas and were looking ahead to the next conference in Geneva starting March 17. Many delegates indicated they hope to hold bilateral or regional meetings before then to try to resolve differences.

The most significant achievement of the conferences was an agreement in principle by all of the delegates that the limits of territorial waters should be extended from 3 to 12 miles and that an additional 188 miles should be an economic zone open to international navigation but with the adjacent coastal nation controlling the economic resources of the waters and the seabed.

Among other problems left unresolved were:
—The demands of landlocked nations, such as Bolivia and Paraguay, that they be given access to the sea and share in the benefits of resources in waters off nearby coastal states.

—A detailed enumeration of the rights and obligations of coastal states in areas within their jurisdiction, particularly with regard to fishing.

—How to deal with resources in and under the seas beyond the 200-mile economic zone.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 31, 1974

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Richter Institute
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many unexpected benefits can come to you through associating with talented persons. Be sure you see and be with as many business experts as possible so you won't miss out on any surprise influences. Be up-to-date.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Start preparing now for the activity that the full moon tomorrow can generate. Strive to have improved relations with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to gain much acclaim now if you do your work in a most precise way. Some civic work can be helpful at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is a good day for expansion, whether in personal or business life. The full moon ahead will put you in the right mood.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have responsibilities that should be discussed with kin. Find the right way to solve emotional troubles. Be calm.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Obtain the advice you need from associates. One who has opposed you in the past will now give full cooperation. Relax tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Express clever ideas to co-workers and bring about a change for the better. You can easily make a good impression on others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan a little free time for something that may come up that will be to your liking. Others see you in a good light now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do those things that will please kin and come to a better understanding with them. Avoid one who gives nothing but trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Obtain the data you need from experts so you can improve conditions in business and at home. Do something nice for kin.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a clever idea that will show you how to add appreciably to your present abundance. Sidestep all that gossip.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have so much talent that needs to be placed in proper channels for best results. Join friends and enjoy yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Analyze yourself now, and know how to make the most of your abilities. Try to help relatives who are having difficulty.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have many talents that can be brought out by giving the proper education, since an academic training is vital to your progeny's success in life. Do not try to force sports or whatever else your youngster does not care for, or you could lessen the potential for other things. Give ethical training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Opening lead: Seven of ♣
In a seemingly hopeless contract, declarer played for the one chance which would allow him to succeed, and deserved his reward.

Despite the fact that he held a weak doubleton in clubs and, as a result, his hand did not meet the strict requirements for an opening no trump bid. South chose to make that bid to save himself later rebid problems. North's bidding does not fill this department with admiration. He should have leaped to three hearts over the no trump opening, giving partner a choice of game contracts. Even after his major-suit inquiry elicited the information that his partner held a spade suit, North should have rebid three hearts rather than leap to three no trump, since the opponents had been kind enough to warn him that there was a possible weakness in the club suit. Four hearts is a superior contract and would have been proof against almost any division of the adverse cards, given a reasonable trump break.

Declarer held up the ace of clubs until the third round, discarding a spade from his hand. Since he could not well come to nine tricks without some tricks in hearts, the problem was to keep East off lead while the hearts were being set up. Obviously, if East held the ace of hearts there would be no way to accomplish this. All declarer could do was guard against East holding the jack.

After winning the ace of clubs, declarer crossed to his hand with the king of diamonds and led a low heart to the king. When this won, a low heart was continued from dummy. East followed with the nine and declarer ducked. Since the only missing hearts were the ace and jack, South knew that West had to win the trick. Even if he had to lose two heart tricks to West, there would still be time to set up the suit and make the contract. When in fact West had to win the trick with the ace, declarer scored an over-trick.

Humane Society Meeting Will Include Picnic

The September meeting of the Pitt County Humane Society will be held at Elm Street Park behind the baseball field Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

A picnic supper before the meeting is planned, for all members and their families and guests. Persons who wish to attend the picnic should telephone Jeannie Warner at 752-0457 between 6 and 9 p.m. to learn which food items they should bring.

According to Humane Society President Liz Whalen, the meeting's agenda will consist primarily of future projects for the group's various committees. She urged all members who have not done so to visit the new Greenville City Animal Shelter on Cemetery Road and meet the new city Animal Control Officer, Barry Littleton.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady. Supplies barely adequate, demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large white 67.38, medium whites 62.39, small whites 47.70.

RALEIGH—(AP)—(NCDA)— North Carolina F.O.B. dock broilers: market stronger, supplies barely adequate; demand very good; weights trending lighter.

The North Carolina F.O.B. dock weighted average price for less than truckloads of size plant-grade broilers to be picked up at docks next week is 42.17 cents per pound. Estimated slaughter today 1,107,000.

Hens: market steady on heavy types with a firm undertone. Supplies about adequate. Heavy hens at farm 11 and 12.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)— North Carolina hogs: market .50 higher. Kinston and Lumberton 37.00-38.00; Rocky Mount 36.50-37.00; Tarboro and Bethel 35.50-36.00.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market put together its first substantial advance in more than three weeks today on the strength of any early technical rally.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 9.54 at 666.38, and gainers held a 7-to-2 lead over losers in brisk trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market had been long overdue, by traditional standards, for some sort of rebound after a slide of some 140 points in the Dow over the previous 16 trading days.

The principal catalyst for the rally appeared to be a series of signs that tight-money pressures might be easing up a little. For one thing, Treasury bill rates have been declining markedly in the last two days.

Brokers also noted some support from short covering, or the purchase of borrowed shares sold earlier by investors hoping to profit from market declines. It is axiomatic on Wall Street that many traders don't like to carry large short positions into three-day weekends.

The markets will be closed

Monday for Labor Day.
Norton Simon, the Big Board volume leader, rose 3/4 to 8 1/2. A 72,200-share block traded at 8 1/2. Litton Industries lost 3/4 to 4 1/4 in active trading. Late Thursday the company reported a $39.8-million loss for the year ended July 31.

Recently depressed glamour and blue-chip stocks showed some of the best gains. Eastman Kodak rallied 2 1/2 to 78 1/2; McDonald's, 1 1/2 to 35 1/2; Merck & Co., 2 1/2 to 62 1/2; and Xerox 2 1/4 to 84.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .62 to 37.24.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index climbed .52 to 69.55.

Parklane Hosiery, which announced plans to go private by buying back all its shares at $2 apiece, was up 1/2 to 17 1/2.
