

No Inflation Relief Expected This Year

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of President Ford's top economic advisers say consumers won't get any significant relief from the nation's soaring inflation rate this year.

The gloomy predictions came from departing presidential economic counselor Kenneth Rush and Chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Despite months of anti-inflation effort, including record high interest rates most of this year, these advisers say the earliest any real progress can be made is next year.

These views mark a major retreat from Nixon administration predictions that the rate of inflation, now about 11 per cent, would decline to 7 per cent by the end of this year. This target was revised upward a month ago to 8 per cent.

Rush, who was confirmed by the Senate on Thursday as ambassador to France, indicated in an interview that the inflation rate may still be above 10 per cent when 1974 draws to a close.

In other economic developments on Thursday: —Senate Democrats voted to send President Ford several economic policy proposals for consideration at the upcoming economic summit meeting.

—Leaders of the nation's housing industry attending an economic minisummit in Atlanta made a bid to exempt their industry from anti-inflationary tight money policies.

—The Federal Power Commission staff recommended a single nationwide price on certain natural gas, a move virtually certain to increase gas prices.

—The wholesale price index for August was released showing a 3.9 per cent leap, an indication that inflation may be getting worse.

—Ford Motor Co., announced a 7.4 per cent price hike on its 1975 model cars. Greenspan told labor leaders meeting at the White House on Wednesday that "in the immediate period ahead it does not appear as though the inflation rate is turning down...."

Greenspan said "we hope" it will decline in 1975.

Both Rush and Greenspan cited the prospect of higher food costs, resulting in part from a Midwest drought, as being largely responsible for the worsening inflation outlook.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon was not quite so pessimistic as they were, but he indicated to a newsman that it was unlikely the inflation rate would be below 8.5 per cent this year, and could be higher.

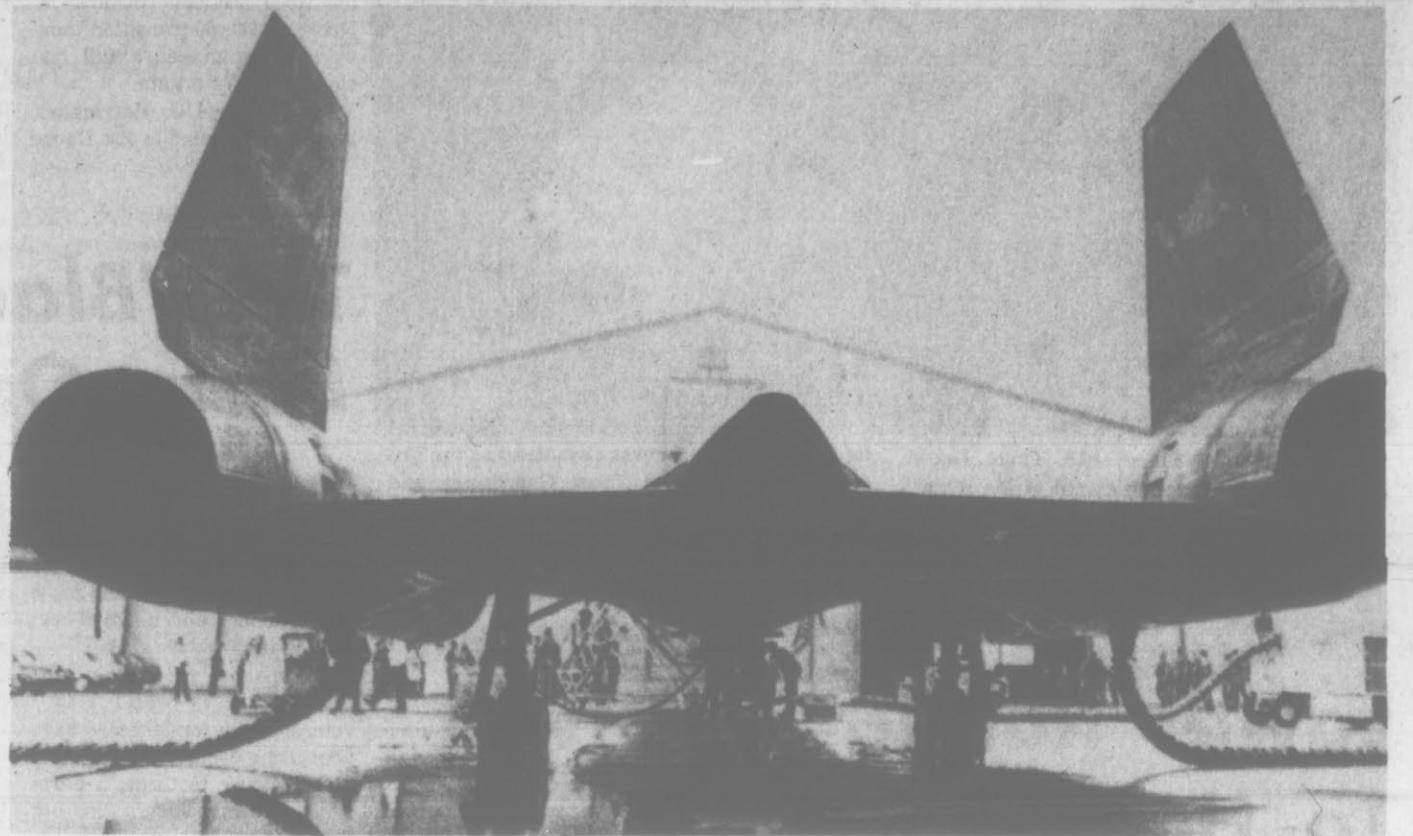

The report that wholesale prices increased 3.9 per cent in August alone was an indication that inflation may be getting worse instead of better.

The August increase was the second highest monthly increase in 28 years, exceeded only by a 6.2 per cent increase in August of last year after price controls were removed.

The increases occurred throughout the economy. But agricultural products led the way with a 7.6 per cent increase, followed by industrial commodities, which were up 2.5 per cent.

The increase in wholesale prices for three months ending in August was at an annual rate of 37.3 per cent. The increase from a year earlier was 17.8 per cent.

Preparing For New Speed Flight

RECORD-BREAKER PREPARES FOR RETURN—The U. S. SR71 Blackbird spy plane that recently broke the time record for crossing the Atlantic is readied Thursday at the U. S. Air Force base at Mildenhall, England, for take off in an attempt to break the air speed record between London and Los Angeles. Engine trouble ended the attempt about 10 minutes after the jet flew over London. (AP Wirephoto)

Will Expand Air Service

Commuter flight service to Greenville will expand on September 18 when Wheeler Airlines will extend its service to Norfolk, Va., with a stop in Elizabeth City, for a one year demonstration commuter airline project.

The expanded service is being funded through a $140,000 grant from the Coastal Plains Regional Commission, which was announced yesterday.

Wheeler presently offers commuter service from Raleigh-Durham airport to Morehead City with a stop in Greenville. The new flight will originate in Raleigh and have stops in Greenville and Elizabeth City with a final destination of Norfolk.

Three round-trip flights will be made daily. The service to Morehead City will continue.

According to James Darden of the Pitt-Greenville Air Service, approximately 15-20 persons presently use the Raleigh commuter service daily from Greenville. Jack Hawke, Federal co-chairman of the CPRC made the announcement of the grant in Raleigh yesterday. The Office of Intergovernmental Relations of the Dept. of Administration will administer the grant.

The North Carolina Dept. of Transportation and Highway Safety, through the Division of Aeronautics will provide technical coordination and monitoring service to ensure that it meets the air transportation requirements of the Coastal Plains Region of North Carolina.

Wheeler will provide through-ticketing and baggage handling for airline connections at Raleigh-Durham and Norfolk.

Flights will be operated with eight-passenger Cessna 402 twin-engine aircraft. Initial schedules will offer three daily round-trips between Raleigh-Durham and Norfolk and the present two round-trips between Raleigh-Durham and Beaufort - Morehead will continue.

Flight service will start on Sept. 18, while an inaugural flight will take place on Sept. 17, originating in Raleigh with ceremonial stops at each town served.

A ceremony at the Pitt-Greenville Airport will be held at 3:30 p.m. with N. C. Dept. of Transportation Secretary Troy Doby attending, along with Warren Wheeler of Wheeler Airlines and Greenville Mayor Eugene West.

House Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Nixon's White House doctor left today for San Clemente, Calif., to determine personally if Nixon's phlebitis requires hospitalization, White House sources said.

"He's going to determine on the scene whether he (Nixon) should be hospitalized," the source said.

Nixon, the source said, has been taking "regular hot soaks of the leg" to ease the pain and swelling of phlebitis caused by a blood clot in his left leg.

Nixon's son-in-law, David Eisenhower, said on NBC's Today Show Thursday that the blood clot had moved above the knee and caused Nixon's leg to swell twice its normal size.

But Thursday night a source at San Clemente said he knew nothing about reports the phlebitis had worsened.

Coal And Natural Gas Outlook Poor

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and industry experts say the nation should have enough petroleum fuels this winter, but the outlook is uncertain for coal and downright gloomy for natural gas.

George Hall, fuels manager in the Federal Energy Administration's petroleum allocation program, said, "All things being equal — assuming it's a normal winter and there are no problems with the Arabs — the petroleum outlook is good."

The FEA reported in late August that stocks of distillate fuel oil, which includes home heating oil and diesel fuel, were some 10.5 per cent higher than a year earlier and 12 per cent higher than two years earlier. Stocks of gasoline were more than 12 per cent above those of 1973 and 11.6 per cent higher than in 1972.

The weakest category in petroleum appeared to be residual fuel oil; stocks were about 4.5 per cent behind their level of 1972, but were 14 per cent better than a year ago.

Tight supplies of residual oil could affect electric utilities, prime users of that fuel.

Rocky's Fortune Said $33 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller's initial report to congressional committees on his personal worth places his fortune at $33 million. The Washington Post said today. Senators who have seen the report would not specify the figures but said they were much lower than most public estimates of his wealth and apparently were based on acquisition prices for property. They are being revised upward to reflect current values, the story said.

Hall said uncertainties are posed by the possibility of a coal miners strike this November, when the current United Mine Workers contract expires. Natural gas supplies are already expected to run short.

The Federal Power Commission predicts that natural gas companies will be forced by shortages to cut off supplies temporarily to some industries, as they did last winter.

But this year's curtailments are expected to be nearly twice as great as last year's, the FPC said.

Homes and other essential consumers are given top priority for natural gas, and home heating and cooking gas are not in danger of being cut off, the commission said.

But curtailed gas deliveries could force some industries to seek more expensive alternate fuels, putting additional pressure on fuel oil supplies, and driving up the price of their products. Some industries might even be forced to shut operations and put some workers out of jobs.

Commission officials could not predict which specific industries might be hurt, because it would depend on supplies in each locality.

HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

MAKE DISMISSAL TIMES THE SAME

Is it really necessary for the first grade classes to be dismissed at 2:30, rather than 3 o'clock? I don't believe the extra half-hour would be too tiring for the children, and I'd rather my first grader be dismissed at 3, so she could walk home safely with her older sister, or I could pick both up at the same time. Mrs. D.J.

City School Superintendent Glenn Cox said your question is being considered now, that there is sentiment for keeping the dismissal times as they are; some for making the dismissal time 2:30 for all (Six hours of school per day is required by law.), and some as you are, in favor of the 3 p.m. dismissal for all. He said a decision probably will be made during this school year.

PAID DEPOSIT — CHANGED PLANS

I put a $100 deposit on an apartment in Durham, planning to move there to work. After this I took a job in Greenville and contacted the apartment complex in Durham requesting my $100 back. The lady I spoke with said she would look into it but I haven't heard any more from them. I've written twice but have received no answers.

A spokesman for the Bristol Court Apartments told Hotline that you had signed an application form, which you confirmed, that states that the company will not return deposits unless the management denies your application for an apartment. The spokesman said your letter had been answered and mailed to an address different from the one you gave Hotline, which probably accounts for your not receiving the correspondence. The spokesman said she would check further with the owners to see if any of the deposit would be returned, but doubted it.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

BILLY'S HOME IN MEMPHIS

"They responded tremendously," the Rev. Willis Wilson said of Hotline readers who gave some $1,100 to the Billy Varner Fund, established to transfer a 15-year-old Memphis, Tenn. boy from Pitt Memorial to a hospital in his home city.

"Billy left sad nurses and attendants and others here who've grown to love him, but we know it's best for him to be close to home," Wilson said. "He made the 20-hour trip very well, his mother tells me."

Wilson said the ambulance bill is paid, and the extra $400 will be given to Billy's mother for other expenses related to Billy's treatment. He was paralyzed from the neck down in a diving accident Aug. 29.

Billy's address is Room 1074, Baptist Hospital, 399 Madison Ave., Memphis, Tenn. 38101.

Russians Hold GI

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet authorities in East Berlin are holding an American GI who was arrested by East German border guards as he was driving back to West Berlin, the United States Army says.

An Army spokesman said the East Germans detained Spec. 4 William S. Medley, 24, of Kettering, Ohio, illegally because the East German government has no jurisdiction over Allied military personnel or their vehicles.

But the spokesman said he had no information concerning reports in West Berlin newspapers that an East German trying to escape to the West was found in the soldier's car.

U. S. authorities said they have taken the matter up with Soviet officials.

Medley, assigned to a military police company in West Berlin, was arrested Tuesday night near Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing point in the Berlin Wall for Allied personnel.

It was the first time in at least 10 years that the East Germans had taken direct action against a uniformed member of the U.S. garrison in West Berlin.

Bomb Blast In Mid-Madrid

MADRID (AP) — A powerful bomb rocked a restaurant only a few yards from police headquarters in the center of Madrid today. Witnesses said at least six persons were killed and between 20 and 30 were injured.

Police neither confirmed nor denied the estimates. Some of the victims were believed to be police officers eating at the restaurant.

Reports said two floors of the building collapsed into the basement and that a number of people were feared trapped.

Police gave no immediate explanation for the blast. It followed serious shooting incidents in the Basque capital of Bilbao involving members of the Basque Land and Liberty guerrilla organization and rural police.

Police Escorts For Boston School Bus Routes; Few Riders

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Motorcycle police formed escorts for buses carrying black and white pupils to their new schools on the second day of court-ordered busing in Boston, but in some cases they escorted near empty buses.

Police lined both sides of the bus routes for about two miles as the buses brought black children through the blue collar Irish section in South Boston to a white high school there. The first 12 buses carried 24 students.

Helmeted police standing about five yards apart encircled South Boston High School. A police spokesman said 300 to 400 officers had been assigned to the area.

No crowds gathered, honoring a city ban on assemblies imposed after angry crowds of whites stoned several buses in the area Thursday, injuring eight black children. But four persons — three of them a mother and her two children — were arrested today on disorderly conduct charges.

Fifty black pupils of an assigned 474 were bused to South Boston High today, compared with 56 on Thursday, a mayor's office spokesman said. The school, scene of demonstrations and some rock throwing on Thursday, previously had been 99 per cent white.

At Roxbury High School, 12 white pupils of about 500 assigned there attended today, compared with 20 on Thursday, according to Headmaster Charles Ray. The school previously was 100 per cent black.

Elsewhere in the city, the opening of school appeared normal, although some parents said they would continue to keep their children home in a threatened two-week boycott.

Another Try At Speed Record

LONDON (AP) — A record-breaking American spy plane, the SR71 Blackbird, left Britain today on another attempt to fly the 5,645 miles from London to Los Angeles in under 4½ hours.

"It looks so far that she's making very good time," a U.S. Air Force spokesman said shortly after the black needle-nosed jet took off from Mildenhall Air Base in Suffolk, 50 miles northeast of London.

The spokesman said the plane took off at exactly noon — 8 a.m. EDT and passed through the so-called London Gate 11 minutes later. The Gate is a point over London from which the plane's time to Los Angeles will be measured.

Church Bombed

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — The Little Mount Olive Church No. 2 was extensively damaged Wednesday night by an explosion, the Wilson County Sheriff's Department said today.

Sheriff's deputies were sifting through rubble today to determine what type of explosive shattered the small frame building.

The church is located on a rural road north of Sims, about eight miles west of Wilson.

Lt. L.M. Owens said today the explosion which damaged the interior of the church appeared to be dynamite. He said members of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division were assisting in the investigation.

Owens said a witness saw a station wagon leave the area of the church about the time of the blast. He said officers have obtained a license number, tracing the vehicle to an out-of-town address.

Owens said the explosion buckled the left side of the church floor and shattered the interior.

SHP Will Ask For 300 More Men, Facilities

RALEIGH (AP)—The commander of the North Carolina Highway Patrol says he will ask the 1975 General Assembly to provide the money to hire 300 additional troopers over the next two years.

Col. E.W. Jones said that with the state's motor vehicle registration at an all-time high of four million, more troopers are needed to adequately patrol the highways.

The patrol has an authorized strength of 1,161 men, "but we are always shy because of retirements and other factors," Jones said in an interview Thursday.

The Patrol asked the legislature for 100 additional men last year, but the lawmakers rejected the hike because of the energy crisis.

"The energy picture has changed to where traffic is just about back to normal and we need substantially more men," Jones said. He said the patrol has an "acute need" for more training facilities for recruits. Only 40 troopers can be trained in the 15 week school at the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill. Jones said he hopes money can be appropriated to expand the facility.

He also said he feels the state should retain the 55 miles per hour speed limit on all highways except possibly superhighways. And, he said he has reservations about increasing the limit above 55 even on the superhighways.

Jones pointed to a 20 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities during the first six months this year as evidence to support retention of the lower speed limit. The 55 m.p.h. limit was imposed during the gasoline shortage in December by Gov. Jim Holshouser.

Fly-Over?

SAIGON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry charged today that armed U.S. reconnaissance planes flew over many areas of North Vietnam last Monday, including the port city of Haiphong.

A spokesman at the U.S. Embassy in Saigon said the embassy had no comment on the charges.

A statement broadcast by Radio Hanoi said the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry strongly condemns the U.S. government "for its brazen violation of the territorial sovereignty of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam."

It said this was a "grave contravention of the Paris agreement on Vietnam."

The Vietnam cease-fire agreement signed in Paris on Jan. 27, 1973, specified that the United States would halt reconnaissance missions over the North.

U.S. officials have acknowledged privately that reconnaissance flights were continued over North Vietnam after the agreement, using high-flying SR71 aircraft and also pilotless aircraft called drones.

Nixon Transition Money Argued

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has urged to withhold $450,000 of former President Richard M. Nixon's $850,000 transition money until he makes a full disclosure on Watergate.
Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass., appealed to the House executive offices subcommittee for that move after three of its members had objected to part or all of the $450,000 because Nixon controls the Watergate tapes and papers.
"Quite frankly, I do not believe that Mr. Nixon should be granted any of this money, at least not until he finally puts an end to the cover-up, releases the Watergate tapes and provides answers to the many still unresolved questions as to presidential misconduct," Harrington testified on Thursday.

The $450,000 was requested by President Ford for Nixon's six-month transition to private life. An additional $400,000 was requested for him after that period under the Former Presidents Act.
Rep. Tom Bevill, D-Ala., a subcommittee member, had said he did not believe the $450,000 was needed because part of it is for securing the tapes and he said there is no guarantee the public will ever have access to them.

"The government is not getting anything. He (Nixon) can sell anything or everything except the tapes, which he can destroy," Bevill said.
General Services Administration chief Arthur F. Sampson said Nixon owns the Watergate tapes and papers and an agreement signed when President Ford pardoned him is designed to assure the information in them will be preserved for posterity as well as for court evidence.
But Bevill said under terms of the agreement "the government is not assured of getting any record of any kind to preserve for history."

Morgan Will Retain Files

RALEIGH (AP)—Former Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan says he has no plans to return certain files which he removed from his office upon his resignation last month.
Morgan's successor, Republican James H. Carson Jr., had criticized Morgan in a news conference last week for removing the files. Carson demanded the material be returned to the Department of Justice.

Deputy GSA counsel Herman W. Barth said the agreement does assure that none of Nixon's papers can be destroyed for three years and that none of the tapes can be destroyed for five years.

The 'Black Kats' Hold Party On Friday, 13th

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — There's a dining room here this Friday the 13th that's cluttered with open umbrellas, cardboard skeletons, ladders waiting to be walked under and mirrors begging to be broken.
All are the property of the Black Kats, 13 World War I veterans who for 32 years have been using each Friday the 13th as an excuse to throw a party while throwing superstition out the window.

"We laugh at superstition," brags a member.
Smokers in the club light three cigarettes on one match, violating a prime shibboleth of the 1914-1918 trench war — a sniper could nail you by the time three lights had been completed.
The Kats are limited to — of course — 13 members at one time. They must be World War I veterans and members of the American Legion. There are five original members left. The current members range in age from 78 to 85.
There are no officers, no dues, no business to conduct and no meetings except on Friday the 13th, when attendance is mandatory. An unexcused absence means automatic loss of membership.

"It's just a matter of getting together and having fun," says John W. Sachs, 82, one of the original members.
The evening begins with each man passing under an open step ladder. Then it's time to exchange war stories over a dinner of steak and seafood in a dining room at a local bowling alley. As the beer flows and the tales get taller, the atmosphere becomes unfit for all but the true nonbeliever.
When the mood is right, a mirror is wantonly smashed and each member gets a piece to autograph as a souvenir.
The lucky 13 must be doing something right. Sachs says he has no recollection of any members suffering any bad luck on the supposedly dangerous day.

But speaking to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ford indicated he might veto that bill and the House rejected the compromise, knocking out the loan program and the increase in payments from 36 to 45 months. The House then moved to provide a 22.7 per cent in-

Vets Still Unsure On Education Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — With veterans returning to school still unsure of how much to expect in GI benefits, President Ford has moved to break the deadlock over the veterans benefits bill.
Ford sent letters to both the House and Senate on Thursday proposing an across-the-board 18.2 per cent increase in monthly benefits.
Previously the House and Senate conferees had agreed to send a bill to Ford calling for a 23 per cent hike plus a new loan program and an increase in the time over which benefits could be used.

But speaking to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ford indicated he might veto that bill and the House rejected the compromise, knocking out the loan program and the increase in payments from 36 to 45 months. The House then moved to provide a 22.7 per cent in-

Late Start For Rodino Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N. J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, says hearings on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller to become vice president will not begin until after the November elections. He said no final timetable is set for the hearings, but explained no action can begin until reports are received from investigations and they are not expected until next month. Congress plans to recess from Oct. 15 until after the elections.

Lower Rating Is Given To Handsome Husbands

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A man with a good looking wife rates higher in other people's eyes than a man married to a homely woman, two University of Pittsburgh psychologists say.
Leonard Saxe and Daniel BarTal report, however, that the reverse isn't true — a handsome husband apparently won't enhance the status of his wife.
Saxe and BarTal said in a report released on Thursday they showed portraits of various couples to a total of 128 viewers and asked them to try to rate each man and woman according to personality, success and social and economic background.
The portraits were paired differently for different observers, with homely men paired with attractive women in some cases and the combination switched around in others.
In every case, the observers were told that they were looking at a man and wife.
The findings:
—Homely men with good looking wives got the top ratings for income, job success and professional status.
—When these same men are paired with homely women, their standing in the eyes of the observers dropped.

—The lowest ratings went to handsome men paired with attractive women.

—Good looking women fared better than handsome men.

"Among females, an unattractive woman married to an attractive man is evaluated lowest on these scales, whereas an attractive female married to an attractive male is evaluated highest," Saxe said.
He speculated that this may be "because people figure if an unattractive man can get a good looking wife, he must have something else going for him."

Handsome men, meanwhile, were rated low on both trustworthiness and brains. Saxe credited this to "an egghed stereotype," meaning people may think smart men are ugly.

He added: "What keeps surprising us, is that people keep insisting their judgments aren't influenced by physical attractiveness."

Urges 'Go Slowly' On CP&L Figures

RALEIGH (AP)—Consumer advocate Lillian Woo has urged the North Carolina Utilities Commission to "go slowly" in accepting Carolina Power & Light Co.'s figures in the utility's current rate case.
However, Mrs. Woo said the commission has a responsibility to see that CP&L receives the rates it needs to remain "financially solvent."

In testimony before the commission Thursday, Mrs. Woo questioned whether CP&L needs the entire 21.5 per cent rate increase it is seeking. The hearing continued today.

Mrs. Woo, president of the North Carolina Consumers Council, said the utility, like the public, has been caught in the inflation squeeze.

But, she added, "We question whether CP&L needs the amount of additional revenues it is seeking."

She urged the commission in its decision "in this case to address the question of reforms in the CP&L rate design." She said changes should be made in the rate design to make rates more equitable and conservation more practical.

As an example, Mrs. Woo said the commission should eliminate the promotional lower rate for all-electric homes because "the homeowner with a non-electric home is now subsidizing the homeowner who went electric all the way...."

The rate increase sought by CP&L would bring in additional revenue of $48 million annually, the company says.

'Mama' Leaves Home To Become Her Own Person

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Judy and Kathleen Sullivan look like mother and daughter but they act more like friends. And that's what they are, insists 16-year-old Kathleen.

"We're good friends and I can come to her with my problems and not be afraid she'll break down and scream, 'oh, my baby.' I'm not one of her belongings. I realize she's a person, not a robot or a maid."

Her 37-year-old mother agrees.

"Kathleen and I have invented a better way to be mother and daughter. It involves a certain amount of physical distance, which promotes mutual respect and improves communication because we really listen when we're together."

The physical distance between the two came about when Judy Sullivan left her husband and 12-year-old daughter in Emporia, Kan., four years ago to make a life for herself in New York.

"I was hurt, felt guilty, didn't understand what was going on; I thought that mom was coming back," recalled Kathleen, sitting in on an interview while visiting her mother here.

"About a year and a half later I began to understand why she left and the purposes behind her actions."

She understands even more fully, she adds, after reading her mother's recently published book, "Mama Doesn't Live Here Anymore," dedicated to "Kathleen and all my other Sisters."

In it Judy Sullivan relates what led up to "the most painful decision of my life." She was raised in a small Texas town, where she was programmed, first by her parents and then by her peers, to become a wife and mother.

"Those were the women of whom everyone approved," explained the petite short-haired author, wearing a brown shirt-dress printed with big pink roses. "Women who were not married were considered very pitiful. I got the idea early that getting married was something you did. It was too bad if a woman had to work, casting aspersions on a husband who couldn't provide. And if a woman didn't have children it was a tragedy."

Falling in with the prescribed lifestyle of gently-bred Southern girls Ms. Sullivan, as she prefers to be called, at 18 married her childhood sweetheart.

Then followed 15 years of working to help him get his degrees, struggling with housework, caring for a young daughter, commuting to the college where she taught and being a faculty wife at the university where her husband taught. During all this she managed to get her bachelor's degree in six years and her masters in four, resenting all the while that her husband did not help more with the household cares.

"If I'd stayed another year I would have hated him," she says of John, from whom she is now divorced. "I would have lost one of the good people in my life. He's definitely still a part of my family and we all spend Christmas together every year."

Active in the civil rights and draft resistance movements, she decided "like some men refused to go to war I would refuse to take part any more in institutions that oppressed: marriage, motherhood as practiced in Emporia, Kan., the Episcopal Church, political parties."

By her decision she gave up not only her husband and daughter, but a 12-room house, her own car, expensive clothes, security, her career as an art history professor, the approval of society and "some of my friends and relatives who still don't understand."

What did she gain? "Peace of mind, a real focus and sense of accomplishment about my life, a clarity, a sense of identity, not as an appendage of someone else."

Many women in the same situation felt threatened by her actions, she points out. "They felt 'If she's right then I'm wrong.' That's not the point at all. For some women their lives work out just fine, but for many of us there are just too few options."

"We have got to change things so that no woman will have to leave her family in order to survive, because it's a painful choice. If both parents could work part-time the raising of children could be more fully shared," adds Ms. Sullivan, who contributes to Kathleen's support.

Kathleen, a high school junior who plans to be a commercial artist, lives with her father in San Antonio, Tex., but visits her mother often. She says that her mother's experiences have "made me a lot more cautious and I see things coming that she didn't see when she was my age and I'm able to do something about it. I wouldn't want to get married until the institution changes a lot because it's destructive for men, women and children as it is now."

"When I did all this I was so lonesome," remembers Ms. Sullivan, who is active in the women's movement, lectures and writes. "But since then I've met hundreds of women who have felt the same way and many are doing the same thing."

"I don't think I'm any different from other women. We're all time bombs."

Abby Advises Mom To Accept Decision

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our 27-year-old son is a college graduate who lives and works a few hundred miles from us. Two years ago he met a very nice girl three years his junior, and they have gone together ever since.

My husband and I hope to see them get married—since they are devoted to each other and are certainly not too young—but they tell us they have no such plans for now. Recently they rented an apartment and are now openly living together. This bothers me much more than it does my husband.

Our son would like some help in furnishing his apartment, and while I would gladly give him things if he were married, I feel it is wrong under these circumstances.

Yesterday I was asked by a friend to give her my son's address and also his friend's, so she could invite them to a wedding. I was embarrassed to tell her the address was the same for both.

I understand that the life-style and morals of these young people are not mine, but I am hurt just the same. Must I accept this arrangement publicly, go along with it and keep my thoughts to myself? UNHAPPY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If you want to maintain a good relationship with your son, yes.

DEAR ABBY: I am 50 and my husband, Walter, is 52. Two years ago he had a heart attack, but he recovered and is now enjoying excellent health.

Walter plays tennis at least three times every week, so he's not exactly an invalid, right? However, when it comes to lovemaking, I am told not to "bother him" because he doesn't want to take any chances on damaging his heart.

Before his coronary, he wasn't the world's greatest lover, but now he has an excuse. (Or has he?)

Please ask one of your medical consultants and let me know. Don't advise me to ask Walter's doctor because he is also Walter's tennis buddy. Thanks.

MISSING SOMETHING

DEAR MISSING: I consulted Dr. Donald B. Effler, the famous Cleveland Clinic heart surgeon, who is cooler than Denton Cooley and hotter than Michael DeBakey. His response: "If Walter, age 52, is enjoying regular tennis, but will not take care of his homework, three possibilities come to mind: a) Walter's got something going on the outside, b) Walter's wife has lost something that must have looked good to him a number of years ago or c) Walter is one of those rare men who loses interest in sex at 52. In any event, judging from his wife's letter, Walter's past heart attack is most likely a phony excuse.

"Very few coronary patients are advised against sexual activity at home. This simple observation, made long ago, gave rise to the aphorism, 'There's nothing dangerous about sex, it's the chasing after it that can kill you.'"

DEAR ABBY: Tell that small-town bartender that he doesn't have to lie. If someone phones the bar and asks if Joe Blow is there, all he has to do is page Joe Blow by calling his name loudly.

If Joe Blow doesn't want to answer the page, it's his business. That way the bartender isn't in the middle.

LADY BARTENDER

DEAR LADY: Leave it to a lady to figure out how to keep from getting in the middle.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

All the recipes Greenville women have been handing down from generation to generation as well as those recipes from old cookbooks and other sources will be entered in the Bicentennial Baking Contest.

The contest is open to the community at large, according to Nancy Gustafson, chairwoman of the contest committee. Application blanks are available at Bicentennial Headquarters at the corner of Ninth and Evans Streets.

Persons submitting entries should include a 3 by 5 card with their name, address, the source of the recipe (i.e., Grandmother Smith) and the recipe itself. The recipe must be publishable. The entry must include a brief description of the origin of the recipe, some evidence as to its age (i.e., a signed letter from Grandmother Smith or the title of the old cookbook, etc.). All entries must be of recipes dating before 1940. Send applications to Mrs. Gaynor Mills, Route 2, Box 507C, Greenville.

Applications must be post-marked by midnight Sept. 28. The application forms include name, address, phone number, occupation, date, type of category entering, the name of the recipe and the description of the origin.

Entries themselves must be submitted at the Kroger Building Saturday, Oct. 5 between 10 and 12 a.m. The winner will be announced. Submissions may be only half a cake or pie or loaf, or half a dozen cookies or doughnuts. These entries, not the recipes, will become property of the Bicentennial Committee. There will be a $5.00 prize in each of four categories, cakes, pies, cookies, and breads. With each entry include the name of the recipe and a description of its origin.

Med School Concern Growing

More and more there is an air of concern about the development of the East Carolina University Medical School, even after the State Legislature spelled out as clearly as could be that the second year should be added and the classes expanded.

Lt. Gov. James Hunt in a talk here this week noted that "certain people" do not want to see the school succeed.

"... I would simply say to these people that this school is going to succeed. It is going to expand. It is going to become a full, four-year medical school, just as the General Assembly intended." He called on those who still oppose the school, even after the Legislature has spoken, to "abandon their opposition and join with us in building the best medical school that we possibly can and putting it to good service for our people."

The situation is cloudy enough so that the ECU board of trustees felt compelled to ask the board of governors in a resolution to clarify questions about status of faculty, capital improvements and the "objectives we are seeking to reach."

It is a shameful thing that the board of trustees of East Carolina University, where the ECU School of Medicine is located, has to ask the board of governors for clarification of the status of the school.

And it goes counter to all that we consider to be good government when the second highest official in the state has to call on powerful interests to abandon their opposition to what has been spelled out in the law by the North Carolina Legislature.

This continued opposition to expansion of the ECU Medical School is a childishness that North Carolina citizens and their elected representatives should absolutely refuse to tolerate.

It is time for the power groups which have for so long opposed the development of the ECU Medical School to put their personal feelings aside and support the development of the school as being in the best interest of the state.

And it is certainly time for the Board of Governors to call on those they have made responsible for carrying out the law concerning the development of the medical school to make an accounting to the people.

CHANGING THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS
A minister recently preached on the text, "Can the leopard change his spots?" This rhetorical question comes from Jeremiah, who said that when the Ethiopian can change the color of his skin and the leopard change his spots, then people who habitually do evil will begin to do good. The usual answer, then, to the question of whether a leopard can change his spots is a resounding no.

Nixon-Style Inflation Fight

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The malfunctioning economy may in theory be the nation's No. 1 problem, as President Ford has indicated, but once again Watergate has preempted the No. 1 attention.

enacting anti-inflationary legislation. And the inflation battle is being fought with much the same attitudes as the former administration's, led by a chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers chosen by Nixon.

Financial bloat, in this context, means excess money. That leaves many people wondering about the psychological factors — for example, the failure of leadership that played so large a role in frustrating the Nixon administration's attempts to control inflation.

Outer Banks Residents Oppose Restricted Use

MANTEO, N.C. (AP)—Residents of North Carolina's Outer Banks said Thursday they are opposed to their land being designated by the state as an interim area of environmental concern.

The designation, which would place restrictions on land development, is being considered by the new Coastal Resources Commission. A number of other areas also may be protected.

The Outer Banks residents protested at a hearing by the Department of Natural and Economic Resources. The department is seeking citizen input on the environmental proposal.

The final of six hearings being held in the 20-county coastal area was to be held today in Elizabeth City.

Much of the tone for Thursday's hearing at the packed Dare County courthouse was set by the hearing's first speaker, Dwight H. Whellis, who represented the Dare County commissioners.

He complained that things are "worse than we expected" under the Coastal Management Act, approved by the 1974 General Assembly. "The Dare County commissioners don't believe inclusion as an interim area has been founded on a good knowledge of the area," Whellis said. "Environmental concern must be balanced with people concern, or we can't support the act."

Tyrell County Commission representative Ray McClees warned, "The environment must be protected, but not exalted." He said the Tyrell commissioners feared economic hardship if the provisions of the act are too extensive.

Pasquotank Rep. Vernon James, a staunch opponent of the act in the legislature, was one of the few who rose to defend the new law.

"The act was created to regulate, not stifle," James said. "The legislature didn't intend for this act to be administered from Raleigh. And I felt much better when I looked at the people who have been put on the Coastal Commission."

Jury Votes Death For Slayer

By KATHRYN JOHNSON Associated Press Writer ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Marcus Wayne Chenault, who blew kisses to the jury which convicted him, today faces the death sentence for the slayings of Mrs. Martin Luther King Sr. and a church deacon.

"My name is Servant Jacob. I was ordered here by my God, my Father and my Master," Chenault told the court after the judge set Nov. 8 for the execution.

A jury which included four blacks deliberated little more than an hour Thursday before convicting Chenault of the shooting deaths of Mrs. King, 70, and deacon Edward Boykin, 69, in historic Ebenezer Baptist Church last June.

They deliberated only 40 minutes before returning two death sentences and 10 years in prison for the wounding of a woman member of the congregation.

Chenault's attorney, Randy Bacote, said he will appeal. Under Georgia law, a review by the Georgia Supreme Court of a death sentence is automatic.

During the reading of the verdict, Chenault, a small, boyish-faced man with bulging eyes, continued the theatrics which have marked his trial all week.

Not only did he blow kisses at the jury, but he silently clasped his hands at their verdict, while his parents stared at him in disbelief from the front row of the crowded courtroom.

As the jury heard arguments from Chenault's attorney for mercy, Chenault trembled, his face contorted in mockery, feigning the spasms of death in the electric chair.

His mother, Mrs. Marcus Chenault of Dayton, Ohio, burst into tears.

Chenault, a student at Ohio State University, contended he was innocent by reason of insanity.

His attorneys claimed he was obsessed with hatred of black leaders, white people and felt he was "ordained by God to come down and commit these acts."

Dist. Atty. Lewis Slaton, in asking the death sentence, told the jury to visualize the scene June 30 in the church where Chenault had been warmly welcomed to morning services.

Mrs. King was playing The Lord's Prayer on the organ when Chenault, witnesses said, leaped on a pew, fired deliberately at her twice and then at random among the congregation.

"He was a big man there with a blazing gun in his hands," said Slaton. "This society cannot afford the defedent... Ladies and gentlemen, he has tasted blood and he'll want more and more."

Slaton said Georgia's revised death penalty law permits a death sentence when the crime of murder produces "a great risk of death to more than one person in a public place..."

Chenault's attorney pleaded for mercy and a recommendation for psychiatric treatment. Two psychiatrists had testified Chenault was insane but knew the difference between right and wrong.

"Take not that which you cannot give—life," said Bacote. "Show mercy. The King family would not want the death penalty."

King Sr., contacted at home, declined comment. "I'm just glad it's over," he said. His wife would have been 71 today.

Trading Extended By Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Apparently supported by strong sentiment on volume-starved Wall Street, the New York Stock Exchange's board has voted to extend trading hours by one-half hour to 4 p.m.

The extension was approved on Thursday and will begin Oct. 1. It resulted from the Big Board's concern over "the inadequate level of commission revenues that has persisted in the securities industry for many months," said NYSE chairman James J. Needham in making the announcement.

The trading extension, already given the green light by the Securities and Exchange Commission, was given strong support by a poll of the exchange's member firms. The poll showed that 12 of the 15 largest retail brokerages with national network branches favored longer hours, along with 86 of 93 regional firms.

Floor brokers opposed the extension, Needham said.

Other exchanges like the American Stock Exchange and the Boston Exchange had earlier voted to follow the Big Board's move promptly in order to close any competitive edge.

Amex chairman Paul Kolton announced on Thursday the Amex board had voted officially to extend its closing to 4 p.m. to accommodate West Coast members.

The Detroit Stock Exchange said its board had decided at its last meeting to follow the Big Board's lead. Two Canadian exchanges, the Toronto Stock Exchange and the Montreal Exchange, said they would do the same.

Some 30 On Nixon Staff

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's personal valet and maid are among some 30 employees assigned to the former president at his San Clemente estate on the federal payroll, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

Payroll information furnished for a House subcommittee study showed the payroll for the Nixon employes runs about $600,000 a year, the Times said in a Washington dispatch.

These salaries are in addition to the $850,000 requested on Nixon's behalf by President Ford. Furthermore, Secret Service expenditures for Nixon are reported at $662,000 annually.

Both the valet and maid have served Nixon for a long time and are carried under the National Park Service payroll, the paper quotes the head of the General Services Administration.

The Park Service is responsible for the White House grounds and presidential quarters.

Plan Exchange Of Sick And Wounded

By DAVID LANCASHIRE Associated Press Writer NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Sick and wounded prisoners from the Cyprus war will be exchanged starting Monday, 31 days since the cease-fire, the rival leaders of the island said today.

Greek Cypriot leader Glafcos Clerides, the president of Cyprus, and Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash, the vice president, agreed to start the swap of the sick and wounded, of captives under 18 and over 50 years of age, plus students, teachers, clergymen and doctors held in the island's prison camps.

Full lists of prisoners have not been disclosed, but the International Red Cross reported that it knew of at least 5,000 war prisoners, detainees and hostages even before the second round of Cyprus fighting a month ago.

All the reported captives and detainees were men and two-thirds of them were civilians, the Red Cross said. Swiss Red Cross officials on the island were still drawing up plans for a full release of all captives.

The agreement between Clerides and Denktash was announced by a spokesman for the U.N. peacekeeping force. He said the release of young prisoners, students and teachers will follow the release of the sick and wounded.

Older captives, Greek Orthodox priests and monks, Turkish Cypriot imams, or religious leaders, and medical and paramedical personnel "shall be released without delay," the statement said. It gave no date.

Evans-Novak

Least explicable of all was the failure to confide in press secretary Jerald F. terHorst. It is believed at the White House that his resignation was dictated not only by substantive disagreement with the pardon but chagrin that, by being kept in the dark, he gave incorrect information to newsmen last week.

Attempting to protect the new President, terHorst removed from the payroll strident Nixon partisans such as Kenneth B. Clawson and Father John McLaughlin. Other Ford staffers believe Haig resented this role by terHorst, a savvy veteran of 16 years as a Washington correspondent and a friend of Mr. Ford's even longer, and instead consult Haig?

Some side events Sunday were indeed reminiscent of Nixon days. When one cabinet member was informed Sunday morning of the President's decision, he got the strong impression from Haig that Jaworski had approved the pardon. When he later learned the special prosecutor had been properly neutral about presidential action, he felt he had been deceived.

Republicans are hoping that, though the euphoria of Mr. Ford's first month is gone forever, the pardon will not prove to be a running open sore like Watergate (and, for that matter, Chappaquiddick). What really nags at them is whether last week's trauma is a preview of President Ford under extreme stress—whether somebody as persuasive as Julie Eisenhower can deflect him from a sensible, operational strategy by a private appeal outside normal political channels.

Commissioner

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) Jacob Franklin (Jake) Alexander of Salisbury has been appointed commissioner of the Division of Motor Vehicles of the state Department of Transportation.

Alexander, 50, a member of the state Board of Transportation, will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Boyd Miller. Miller's resignation is effective Nov. 1.

Transportation Secretary Troy A. Doby said Alexander will join the division Oct. 1 and be sworn in as commissioner Nov. 1.

Doby said Alexander has been granted a leave of absence by North Carolina Finishing Co. to head up the state agency which includes the Highway Patrol, motor vehicle registration and driver license divisions.

Wife Tells Of House Robbery

ASHEBORO, N.C. (AP)—Police quote the wife of a physician as saying a man came to her door Thursday, pointed a gun at her, and said he wanted money and drugs.

They said Mrs. Robert Wilhoit gave this account: He taped her eyes, mouth, hands and feet.

Two more men entered and ransacked the house. The three took $2,000 hidden in a freezer, a coin collection, five guns, and left in her car.

It was not until two hours later that she managed to attract the attention of neighbors, who freed her.

At that moment, Gerry, I broke into tears. I wasn't crying for Evel—I was crying for us. The rocket more than anything symbolized our honeymoon. It looked so beautiful on the pad with all that steam coming out of its nozzles, its nose pointed toward the sky as if to say, "Here I come world, ready or not."

The only trouble, Gerry, with Evel's rocket and your rocket on Sunday about "you-know-who" is that neither one of them would ever fly.—A.B. P.S. Don't try to find me.

KNOW WHAT SENDS MY PRESSURE UP?

It's thinking about that $250 seat—the one that was empty last Sunday. Haven't you figured out what your seat at church is worth? Say the building—at yesterday's prices—cost roughly a hundred thousand. And there are four hundred seats. That's an investment of $250 per seat. That's little enough for a seat occupied regularly by a person eager to worship the Lord. (Men have given their lives for the Gospel.) But to preach Christ to an empty seat—$250 is a lot of investment in the man who isn't there! I realize my kind of arithmetic isn't likely to save souls. But it would do a lot for my blood pressure if just a few people in every congregation across the land would start thinking about that empty seat the way I do! I don't mean the money. Just the fact that spiritual opportunities are here to be claimed... and only when wasted do they cost us dearly.

Texas Wheelers Ehrlichman Hughes Helped Finance Open Way To Disbarment Are Truly Funny Suspended Investigation Of Drugs

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Stop whatever you're doing at 9:30 p.m., an hour earlier in central time areas, and watch ABC's "The Texas Wheelers" tonight. It's one of the funniest, best-written shows I've ever seen. It concerns a motherless, dirt-poor, fundamentally decent rural family of three lads — age 24, 17 and 10 — and a 12-year-old girl and their old man, a bewhiskered, wild-eyed, no-account, shiftless rascal. Needless to say, this 30-minute caper, starring veteran character actor Jack Elam as the reluctant head of the clan, is in no way a Texas version of "Apple's Way." Virtue isn't on constant display. What is on display is an excellent sense of the off-hand, deadpan humor of the Lone Star state, brilliantly captured by scriptwriter Dale McRaven. He created the series and is its executive producer.

The opening show deals with the family's reaction to the return of Pa Wheeler, who it seems has disappeared some eight months earlier in search of gold and left his brood in the lurch. His cheery arrival, hailed with a lunge for his throat by one son, is preceded by some wonderful commentary on manhood, drinking, and a girlfriend of the 17-year-old who flounces off the Wheeler premises when the oldest boy takes away his brother's six-pack of beer.

"Can't trust a woman who only wants your beer," draws the oldest boy. "I didn't want to trust her," the kid groans. "I only wanted to get her drunk." Dropping out of school also is discussed by the kid, who complains of nightmares about blackboards and chalk — "man, I'm dying of white lung."

The show also contains a wild, classic segment involving both a fistfight between father and oldest son and the burial of a duck. It's hard to explain the two in one paragraph, but the scene made me laugh until my sides hurt. The direction is great, ditto the entire cast. And the show manages the difficult feat of being funny and real simultaneously. So catch it tonight. It's one series I hope will be with us a long time.

U.S. Churchmen Visit Pope Paul
CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul IV has received Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York and Archbishop William D. Borders of Baltimore. The American Catholic church leaders met with the pope in separate audiences at his summer residence here on Thursday.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Supreme Court has ordered former presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman temporarily suspended from practicing law in the state. A brief order signed on Thursday by Chief Justice Donald Wright said Ehrlichman, former President Richard M. Nixon's chief domestic affairs adviser, was suspended because he was convicted of violating a federal law involving moral turpitude.

The 49-year-old Ehrlichman, admitted to the California bar in 1952, also has been suspended from practicing law in his home state of Washington. He now lives in Bellevue, Wash. Ehrlichman was convicted earlier this year in Washington, D.C., on three counts involving a break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in Beverly Hills, Calif., including knowingly making false material declarations under oath to a federal grand jury.

He was sentenced to 20 months to five years but is free on bail pending appeal. Ehrlichman was convicted earlier this year in Washington, D.C., on three counts involving a break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in Beverly Hills, Calif., including knowingly making false material declarations under oath to a federal grand jury.

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Howard Hughes corporation helped finance an undercover investigation by federal drug agents at one of the billionaire's Las Vegas hotels, the Drug Enforcement Administration acknowledges. The Hughes-owned Summa Corp. supplied $20,000 in February 1973 to support two Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs undercover agents as they gambled at Hughes' Frontier Hotel in an effort to infiltrate a suspected drug ring, federal officials said in response to questions Thursday.

The money was furnished under an agreement between the bureau and a private detective agency known as Intertel which provided security for Hughes' Las Vegas hotels, according to George B. Brosan, acting chief inspector for the drug agency. Brosan emphasized that the so-called Operation Silver Dollar took place several months before the Drug Enforcement Administration was created in July, 1973, as a successor to the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and other federal drug programs. "I certainly wouldn't approve of such an operation, and I know (Drug Enforcement Administrator John R.) Bartels wouldn't," Brosan said. "It's bad for the government to be asking favors from anybody that owns gambling casinos ... all the more because it's Hughes." The operation came to light as part of a continuing probe by the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations into what a spokesman termed "the extent to which private individuals and firms have penetrated the federal bureaucracy to extract favors and assistance." Earlier, the Senate investigators discovered that fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco paid $3,000 to have his quarters searched by federal drug agents for hidden electronic bugging devices.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The State Bar of California says it is recommending to the California Supreme Court that it reject former President Richard M. Nixon's resignation as a lawyer. Rejection would leave Nixon open to possible disbarment. Bar president Brent Able said on Thursday the recommendation by the bar's board of governors was made because Nixon had refused to acknowledge that he faced possible disciplinary action by the bar.

The board of governors also asked that any acceptance of Nixon's resignation, received on Thursday, not prevent the bar from disciplining Nixon if he later asks to be reinstated. The bar has been considering for more than a year whether to begin formal hearings on Nixon's conduct in the Water-gate affair. Michael Lipman, a bar spokesman, declined to reveal the contents of Nixon's resignation letter. He said it was forwarded to the the state Supreme Court.

The word "quilt" comes from the Latin "culcita," a stuffed sack.

'Willis Building' Said A Ray Appeal One-Man Operation Papers Filed

Thomas W. (Tom) Willis formulated the idea of a Regional Development Institute at East Carolina University, organized it and put it in motion as its first—and thus far only—director.

That was 10 years ago this month.

And 10 years ago, Tom Willis began to raise money for a building to house the institute.

"It's been a one man deal," was the way Chancellor Leo W. Jenkins described it.

"Everywhere he thought he could get a dollar, Tom Willis went after it."

Finally he succeeded. Now the modern, $556,000 complex built on land that was a downtown Greenville redevelopment site will be named in honor of Willis, a native Pitt County son from Farmville. The building will be dedicated next month.

The whole Regional Development Institute story—its achievements, its projects to assist Eastern North Carolina economically, to improve its quality of living—was described by Jenkins as a "classic" one-man effort.

"Over the years he's done a marvelous job," Jenkins said.

Late Campaign Reports Listed

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Elections Board has sent the Wake County district attorney the names of 58 candidates who have failed to file campaign contribution and expense reports.

Alex K. Brock, executive secretary-director of the board, had advised Dist. Atty. Burley Mitchell earlier that most of the candidates who did not file by the Sept. 3 deadline had "presumed" they were not required to file.

But in a letter Thursday, Brock said the Election Board has notified those who were remiss.

Brock said the board believes the matter will be cleared up by the deadline for the second campaign finance report on Oct. 26.

"It is our recommendation that report number two be considered the crucial report and that any action taken or recommended be taken against those candidates and others who fail to file timely and completely" by Oct. 26, Brock wrote.

His letter said a later review will outline the political committees and media which have not filed reports.

The reports are required under a state law passed by the 1974 General Assembly.

Dead Dope Pusher Said Hired Killers' Victim

PUNTA GORDA, Fla. (AP) — A man found shot to death last month and described to a radio station by an anonymous caller as a "dead dope pusher" was the victim of a hired killer, officers say.

The call, which resulted in several news stories, was actually the signal that the death contract had been carried out, Charlotte County Sheriff Jeff Bent said late Thursday.

He said two men have been charged with murder in the Aug. 21 death of Al Rummel of Englewood, near this Southwest Florida town.

Bent said Clarence Owens, 78, of nearby Grove City, is accused of hiring Albert C. Hucklebury, 27, of Charlotte, N.C., for $15,000 to kill Rummel.

Owens was arrested locally and was being held without bail at the Charlotte County Jail and Hucklebury was arrested in Charlotte, Bent said.

He said Hucklebury waived extradition and is being brought to Punta Gorda. Both men will face a preliminary hearing Monday.

Rummel's body was found after radio station WCCF got an anonymous call that a "dead dope pusher" could be found at a certain roadside spot. The caller also threatened to kill other "dope pushers."

Bent said he could find no evidence that Rummel was ever involved in dealing drugs. He said the motive for the killing dated back 12 years to the time Rummel, a contractor, did some work that Owens was not happy with.

The two argued and fought, resulting in permanent injuries to Owens, the sheriff said.

Owens later sued Rummel and won an $8,000 verdict but wasn't paid. He later got another award of $5,000 but did not collect that either, Bent added.

The sheriff said telephone calls from Hucklebury to Owens about collecting the judgements helped lead to the discovery of the contract. He said some evidence was recovered at Hucklebury's home in Charlotte, where Hucklebury is a bartender and bouncer, but would not elaborate.

The body of another Englewood resident, Loni Yopp, 15, was found a day later near where Rummel's body was found. She had also been shot to death, but Bent said he

Dog Owners Save Buying Big Time

If value means something to the dog owners of Greenville, they will soon be buying out every can of Big Time they can get their hands on.

Big Time has announced that their dog food is equal in every way to the other premium dog foods except in price. Big Time costs important pennies less per can than the nationally advertised premium brands.

Should Greenville pet owners switch to Big Time to save all this money? "That's just good cents!" is the Big Time reply. (ADV.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Inflation worries and a growing volume of margin calls sent the stock market broadly lower in moderate trading today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.87 at 635.87, only points away from what analysts consider a critical test of its four-year closing low around 631 set in the spring of 1970.

Declines outnumbered advances by more than 7-to-3 on the New York Stock Exchange.

In economic developments, First National City Bank held its prime lending rate at the prevailing 12 per cent level.

And Treasury Secretary William E. Simon forecast an inflation rate "something in the neighborhood of 9 per cent per year, perhaps more," by year-end.

Gold and other precious metals issues were buoyed by bargain hunting after four days of severe losses.

ASA, Ltd., climbed 5 to 62½; Campbell Red Lake 3¼ to 26½; Rosario Resources, up 3¼ to 22½; Dome Mines, 2½ to 38½; and Hecla Mining, a point to 13½.

Higher-priced issues presented a mixed picture. Upjohn gained 1½ to 45½, DuPont a point to 111. But J. Ray McDermott fell 1¼ to 49¼, Getty Oil a point to 107½, and Johnson & Johnson was off 1½ to 78½. The most-active Big Board stock was American Motors, unchanged at 5. Another motor stock, Ford Motor, declined 1¼ to 38¼.

The NYSE 11 a.m. composite index gave up 0.23 to 34.65. On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down 0.19 at 63.87.

New Packaging Of Meat Tried

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Packaged meat may stay fresh longer if a new packaging technique succeeds, says the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Nebraska.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is researching a method that encloses packaged, precut meat in its own miniature controlled atmosphere to help preserve freshness and brightness. The atmosphere is created by a packet of nonvolatile acid such as citric acid and a salt, such as sodium bicarbonate (baking soda). Moisture inside the package makes the salt and acid react to give off carbon dioxide, the same gas that is used to preserve fruits and vegetable in cold storage.

More than 59.6 trillion gallons of fresh ground water may be stored in Missouri's aquifers (water bearing formations).

Drugs Taken At Pharmacy

BETHEL—Local police, Sheriff's Department personnel and agents of the State Bureau of Investigation are investigating a break-in at Bethel Pharmacy that resulted in the theft of an assortment of drugs.

Police Chief Walter Gray said that officers on routine patrol discovered the break-in around 1:45 a.m. today. Intruders had entered the side door of the pharmacy, located at the corner of Main and N. Railroad Street. Chief Gray said that officers discovered that the store's narcotics section had been entered and although the exact inventory of the drugs taken has not been completed, it was determined that the missing items included quantities of cocaine, codeine and Demerol. The missing drugs were in both liquid and tablet form, he added. In addition to the drugs taken, the store owner reported that some $300 in cash was missing. Chief Gray said that damage to the building, involving two glass doors that will have to be replaced, is estimated at $400.

Witnesses said the car was hit broadside and pushed about 150 yards down the track before the 10-car train came to a stop.

Three Dead In Car-Train Crash

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Three persons were killed this morning in a car-train collision at a Gastonia intersection, police reported.

Two children were injured, one critically. The victims were as Mrs. Carol Hise Morris, in her 30s, of Gastonia, the driver of the car; Mrs. Lula Kendrick, also of Gastonia; and an unidentified 10-year-old child.

Mrs. Morris' two children, Tim, 9, and Pam, 6, were hospitalized as a result of the 9 a.m. collision. Tim was in critical condition and Pam was in fair condition.

Southern Railway Engineer Michael D. Sherrill of Huntersville said two trains were approaching the Church Street-Airline Avenue intersection at the same time. Sherrill said one train had cleared the two-track crossing and the driver apparently thought there was only one train.

Witnesses said the car was hit broadside and pushed about 150 yards down the track before the 10-car train came to a stop.

One of the best fire fighters in your town is a pair of pajamas.

Every town, big or small, needs experienced fire fighters. The ones you see here—in full battle gear—belong to Engine Company No. 1 of Freeport, New York.

The fire fighter that looks out of place is the pair of pajamas on the child.

You see, by law all sleepwear up to size 6X must be made flame-retardant.

And these pajamas are made of 100% Dynel modacrylic, a flame-retardant fiber created by Union Carbide.

When exposed to fire, properly constructed fabric of Dynel does a very sensible thing. It shrinks from it.

And if a flame should reach it, it extinguishes itself as soon as the flame is removed.

Dynel has a lot more going for it. It's soft, non-allergenic, durable, colorfast, mothproof.

So you're likely to find this versatile fiber in all sorts of things. Wigs, draperies, carpets, tents, paint rollers.

But we doubt that there will ever be a better use for Dynel than helping protect young children against a very old enemy. Fire.

Pirates Opening Season On Saturday

Saturday night, shortly after 7:30 p.m., a lot of questions will be answered on the turf of Ficklen Stadium.

Questions like . . . does East Carolina have an offensive line? Can Carlester Crumpler and Carl Summerell be replaced? Are the "Wild Dogs" as wild without Cary Godette? Is the team favored to win the Southern Conference championship able to beat the team picked to end up in the basement of the Mid-America Conference? Will Hilda find happiness as the wife (oops, wrong story.)

These are just a few of the questions which have been posed during the weeks preceding the opening of football season for the Pirates, who will be entertaining Bowling Green tomorrow night.

The Bucs come into the game with two straight 9-2 seasons and Southern Conference championships behind them. They also come into the game with a nearly new football coaching staff, after Sonny Randle vacated Greenville for Charlottesville, Va.

Graduated are Crumpler and Summerell, two offensive powerhouses, along with most of the offensive line. Godette isn't gone, just sidelined with a knee injury for the rest of the year. He'll be back next year—and probably the year after since he'll have another year of eligibility now.

The rebuilding of the offensive line has left a lot of questions unanswered. Coach Pat Dye, who'll get his head coaching baptism in the game, feels that the line is "at a point where they can win if they fight their guts out, fighting, scratching and clawing and doing whatever they have to when they're not blessed with a lot of ability." The Bucs, it might be noted, faced the same situation two years ago, and went on to a conference title.

Dye is also worried about the defense. While the offense has shown some improvement over the past week, Dye feels that the defensive team, generally referred to as "Captain Crunch and the Wild Dogs," has been lagging. "They've just been watching people catch passes," he said. "They haven't been going after the ball, and you've got to play defense this way: with reckless abandon." The Bucs do appear to be over a bout with the flu, and that should help.

Mike Weaver appears to have moved back into possession of the starting quarterback position in Dye's wishbone offense. The Williamston sophomore has taken command during the final week of pre-season drills. His passing has also improved, although Dye notes that a lot of his passes are being dropped.

Leading the rushing will probably be halfback Kenny Strayhorn, who rushed for over 800 yards last year, and fullback Don Schink, a hard, grinding runner. Joining them in the backfield will be another tough customer, halfback Bobby Myrick, brother of former defensive player, Mike Myrick.

Defensively, the Pirates present a strong game with their 5-2 lineup. Leading the way of course, is "Captain Crunch," Danny Kepley, an All-America candidate. He's joined by veterans Gary Niklason, Billy Hibbs and Butch Strawderman behind the line. The down men are also strong in experience with seniors Buddy Lowery and Kenny Moore, while sophomore Nick Bullock has moved into the middle guard slot left by Godette. The secondary, all sophomores, does have experience since two, Reggie Pinkney and Jim Bolding, both started as freshmen last year. They are accompanied by Ernest Madison and Greg Pingston.

A number of freshmen will also be seeing action, probably five on offense, and as many as 15 on defense, although none will start.

Bowling Green will bring a young team into battle with the Pirates, making both equal in some extent there. The Falcons will start 11 juniors, and several sophomores.

East Carolina has played them only once before, three years ago, when they lost, 42-21, in the 1971 opener. Bowling Green, by the way has won 11 of its last 13 openers, including wins over Purdue and Syracuse. East Carolina at the same time, has won only once in its last five opening games.

The Bucs also have never beaten a MAC team, losing twice to Toledo during that team's record-breaking win streak.

"Bowling Green is a big, strong, physical team," Assistant Coach Ben Grieb, in charge of the Falcon scouting said. "They have an outstanding tailback in Dave Preston, and a good quarterback in Mike Booth who can make the running game go. Their fullbacks are solid, and they have an excellent corps of receivers."

"Their defense is very strong, and highly mobile," Grieb added. They are led by their All-America linebacking candidate, Joe Russell, but Grieb adds that it doesn't stop there. "They have some very fine people in cornerback Art Thompson, safety Greg Davidson and middle guard Dave Brown."

Both Dye and Grieb look for Bowling Green to put the ball down and run straight at the Bucs from their I formation. "They can pass, however," Grieb warns. "In fact, sometimes they even appear to be a passing team."

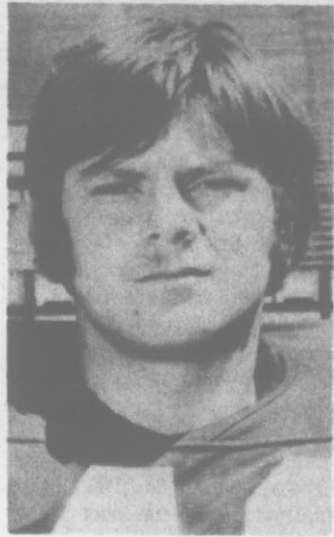

Both too agree that it should be an exciting game. "Our older players feel that they will be ready on Saturday," Dye said. "Each team seems to have its own personality. Some can look bad in practice and get the job done of the field during the game. But some can't. We just won't know until Saturday night what this team's personality is. Bowling Green is in the same situation somewhat. They are largely untried too. I just hope it doesn't turn into a high scoring affair. We haven't scored a lot of touchdowns against ourselves, so I don't see how we can against Bowling Green."

Despite the fact that East Carolina generally is regarded as the favorite in the game, Dye feels that it should be viewed this way.

"They've already said that a victory for them would be an upset, just like their last two opening wins over Purdue and Syracuse. Well, I think if we win, it'll be an upset. They've got tradition in openers going for them. They are bigger, and I an East Carolina team has never beaten a Mid-America team," Dye said.

Kickoff time will be 7:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. The answers will be known within the next few hours.

Furman Opens League Battles

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
AP Sports Writer

Although three Southern Conference teams already have seen action, the league football season officially gets under way Saturday when Virginia Military's Keydets play host to Furman's Paladins in the season opener for both.

The winner, assuming there isn't a tie, will lead the conference for at least a week until Appalachian State's Mountaineers go to Davidson next Saturday for the Wildcats' opening game.

East Carolina's Pirates and The Citadel's Bulldogs join Furman and VMI in making their debuts. Richmond's Spiders, William and Mary's Indians and Appalachian play their second games.

The afternoon program aside from the Furman-VMI clash has Richmond, a 14-13 winner last week over Villanova, at West Virginia and William and Mary, which lost to Mississippi State 49-7, at Wake Forest.

Night games have East Carolina making its debut at home against Bowling Green, The Citadel at home for its first start against Presbyterian and Appalachian, which knocked off East Tennessee 16-7 last week, again at home against Middle Tennessee.

"This is a big game for VMI," says Keydet Coach Bob Thalman of the meeting with Furman, which squeezed out a 19-13 victory last season when the freshman-dominated Paladins went 7-4 over-all under new Coach Art Baker and VMI was 3-8—the Keydets' best record since 1967.

"I have a lot of respect for Coach Baker, who has done a super job with a relatively young group," says Thalman, starting his fourth season at VMI. He had been given a good chance to improve VMI's record again until he lost quarterback Tom Schultze last spring.

Tony Farry, a left-handed senior who played wingback and defensive back for the Keydets the last two years, will be VMI's starting quarterback, and Thalman says "he's my kind of guy and the players are quickly responding to his leadership."

Aside from Farry, both backfields are replete with veterans even though Furman's four starters—quarterback David Whitehurst, tailback Larry Robinson, fullback Ike Simpson and flanker Kenny Middleton—all are sophomores.

The Keydets will start senior Ronnie Norman at tailback, senior Bruce Torbett at flanker and sophomore Joe Arnold at fullback.

Both teams boast two-time All-Southern Conference choices—offensive guard Andy Dearman of VMI and defensive back Vince Perone of Furman. Other top veterans include VMI split end Ronnie Moore and defensive tackle Phil Upton and Furman linebacker Bill Anderson.

"As always, West Virginia will have the finest personnel that we'll face all year," says Richmond Coach Jim Tait. "I think they have the greatest offensive player in college football in Danny Buggs."

But Tait had some stars of his own last week, especially quarterback Harry Knight, who completed 19 passes for 269 yards, and split end Mike Mahoney, who caught 11 for 181 yards.

"I was very disappointed in our defensive play against Mississippi State. Two or three people just weren't executing on defense and it only takes one guy to burn you," says William and Mary Coach Jim Root.

Wake Forest, which lost to N. C. State 33-15 last week, "runs the same type of offense as Mississippi State, but I hope they don't execute it as well," says Root.

Indian quarterback Bill Deery ran for 125 yards, including a 69-yard romp for W&M's only score.

"As a whole, we just don't have 11 people playing together," says East Carolina Coach Pat Dye, making his debut as coach of the Pirates.

Team To Make Cuts

East Carolina University head baseball coach George Williams said Thursday after viewing the day's workouts that some additional cuts to the squad would be made in the near future.

Williams, however, is not to be confused with the "Grim Reaper" or any such character. It is simply that 39 or so people are just too many to staff a baseball team.

"We had a good workout in the infield, with good enthusiasm, a little better hitting, and the pitchers worked harder in throwing and batting practice," said Williams. "And Saturday, we will get a chance to see who can do what."

Williams was referring to a controlled scrimmage the Pirates have scheduled with Louisburg Junior College, starting at 12:30 p.m. at Harrington Field. Ironically, it is a number of junior college players that are vying for starting berths that has caught the favor of Williams and assistant coach Monte Little.

"We are very happy with the way the junior college men are progressing," said Williams. "We have seen them play before, of course, but in the short time here considering what we have seen, I think they will be fine additions to the club."

The second-year head coach also said that after Saturday's scrimmage, the Pirates will begin to put more emphasis on touching up skills in fundamental baseball, which is the main purpose of fall workouts anyway.

Meet Was Invalid

AHOSKIE—The Rose High School cross-country meet with Ahoskie was declared invalid yesterday following some problems with the Ahoskie course.

Unofficially, Art Klose of Rose High School finished in first place. Other high Rampant finishers were Melvin Roberson, Jimmy Peszko and Marvin Roberson.

High finishers for Ahoskie were Mike Rogers, Greg Ruffin and Steve Gash.

Rose will play host to South Lenoir, Northern Nash and Wilson in a quadrangular meet on Monday at 4 p.m.

New Bern Rips Rampant Cubs

NEW BERN—New Bern High School's Bear Cubs rolled to a 22-0 victory over the Rose High School junior varsity last night. It was the opening game of the season for the Rampant Cubs. New Bern, playing their third game, remained both unbeaten and unscored upon in the game. Rose High School moved the ball down as far as the 16 yard line once before giving it up on downs.

New Bern pushed over one touchdown in the first period as Dave Gennantonio hit Ronnie Guion with a 48-yard aerial bomb. Jeff White caught a pass from Guion for the two-point conversion for an 8-0 lead that held the rest of the half.

The Bears scored again in the third period, as Gennantonio went in from four yards out. The two-point try failed, leaving the lead at 14-0.

The final score came in the closing period, as Guion and Gennantonio again hooked up with a scoring pass, this one of three yards. Rufus Myers ran over the extra points.

The Cubs will try to pick up a victory next week, as they play host to Kinston at 4 p.m. on the E. B. Aycock field Thursday.

New Bern 8 0 6 8-22

Netters Postponed

NEW BERN—Rose High School's girls' tennis team suffered its second rainout of the year yesterday when their match with New Bern was halted after five singles events. At the time, New Bern held a 3-2 advantage.

The match will be completed on Saturday, September 21, at 10 a.m. in New Bern.

Rose travels to Rocky Mount Saturday morning for a 10 a.m. match with the Lady Gryphons.

Rampants At Home

Rose High School's Rampants will play host to the New Bern Bears tonight at 7:30 in Ficklen Stadium.

The game brings together two unbeaten, untied teams, each seeking their third victory of the season. New Bern earlier downed Havelock, 26-0, and West Cartaret, 32-6. Rose has defeated Washington, 21-10, and Farmville Central, 21-7.

For both teams, it is their first contest against a 4-A opponent.

Pirates, Rose Get Panel Nods

This week, our annual football predictions column gets a kickoff, as most of the college teams, along with the high school squads, will be in action. Of our six member panel, four return—this writer, Tom Baines of the newsroom, Jack Whichard of management, and George Holland of the composing room. The two new members, both replacing staff members no longer with the Reflector are Joe Jenkins of advertising, and Diane Allen, who represents the woman's viewpoint.

We hope to pick some winners, as well as provide a few laughs, and we usually provide a few of the latter.

Before we begin, however, we'll glance at the high school schedule, except for Rose. We came out pretty good last week, 9-1.

Ayden-Grifton is at Southern Wayne in a key Eastern Carolina Contest. The Chargers surprised me and Kinston last week, while Southern Wayne wasn't quite as strong as expected—against Conley. This week, things might be different down in Dudley. While we'd love to see the Chargers take it, we'll have to go with Southern. (But if A-G wins, we'll never pick 'em to lose again.)

Conley visits Charles B. Aycock in another ECC game. The Vikings lost to Southern, but showed some promise in doing so. We look for them to come away with a win here.

Farmville Central visits Eastern Wayne. The Jaguars looked good in their losing effort to Rose High School, while Eastern was downed by Goldsboro. It could be a dogfight, but we like Farmville.

Greene Central goes to Southern Nash. The Rams ripped Saratoga, while Southern put up a rally to come back from a 20-0 deficit to down Vaiden-Whitley, 39-20. The Firebirds appear to have staying power, and it could go either way. We'll pick the Rams, however.

Finally, in the ECC, North Lenoir visits North Pitt. The Hawks opened with a win last week, while the Panthers were defeated. We don't expect this to change. . . North Lenoir is our choice.

In a tough non-conference game, Williamston is at Robersonville. This is always a hard-fought game, and it promises to be no less of one this year. Again, we find it awfully hard to try and pick the winner. Robersonville has the home field advantage, but I don't think it will be enough—I'll pick Williamston.

Now, we turn to our panel of experts. Rose High School's Rampants are 2-0 and play host to New Bern tonight. New Bern is also 2-0 and is one of the favorites in Division II—a role Rose is hoping to assume in Division I. Our panel is divided in its opinion. Four of them pick Rose, and two go with the Bears—myself and Miss Allen. Overall, though, the bid is to Rose.

And on the collegiate slate, the panel looks at the opening game for East Carolina this way. We have a lot of faith in Pat Dye, the Pirates and their tradition. Without a vote to the contrary, we're all going with the Pirates to win this one.

The panel also picks The Citadel over Presbyterian; Furman over VMI; Wake Forest over William & Mary; State over Duke; Carolina over Ohio; Middle Tennessee over Appalachian State; Richmond over West Virginia; Texas A&M over Clemson; Alabama over Maryland; and Navy over Virginia.

Last Chance For Reds

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
"Don't bury us yet," says the Cincinnati Reds manager. After a 9-6, 6-2 doubleheader sweep over the Atlanta Braves Thursday, the Cincinnati Reds begin an important three-game series with the Dodgers in Los Angeles. The Dodgers, 11-0 winners over the San Francisco Giants Thursday night, hold a three-game lead over the Reds in the National League West race. In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals routed the New York Mets 12-5; the Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4; the Montreal Expos nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and the San Diego Padres turned back the Houston Astros 4-1.

Johnny Bench drove in six runs, four with his fourth career grand slam, to pace Cincinnati over Atlanta in the second game as the Reds completed their sweep Thursday.

The Reds got a grand slam homer from Cesar Geronimo and a solo blast from Tony Perez to win the opener.

In the nightcap, Bench hit his 29th homer of the baseball season following Pete Rose's 40th double to give winner Pat Darcy, 1-0, a 2-0 first inning lead against Lew Krausse, 4-3.

It was the third grand slam of the doubleheader. Evans staked Ron Reed, 10-9, to a four-run lead in the second inning of the first game with his third career grand slam home run and his 20th homer of the year.

Later, the Reds put the game away as Dan Driessen snapped a 5-5 tie with a two-run double in the fifth inning.

Dodgers 11, Giants 0
Al Downing pitched a two-hitter and Ron Cey figured in three rallies to lead Los Angeles over San Francisco. Downing allowed to harmless singles as the Dodgers pounded San Francisco's pitchers for 15 hits.

Cards 12, Mets 5
Reggie Smith's 22nd home run of the season touched off a six-run, sixth-inning rally that sparked St. Louis over New York. The triumph, coupled with Pittsburgh's 6-4 loss to Philadelphia, lifted the Cards to within 1½ games of the Pirates in the National League's East Division.

Phillies 6, Pirates 4
Mike Schmidt blasted a three-run homer and Del Unser smashed a two-run shot in a six-run eighth inning to give Philadelphia its victory over Pittsburgh.

Expos 2, Cubs 1
Barry Foote's bases-loaded sacrifice fly broke a tie in the eighth inning and enabled Montreal to nip Chicago.

Padres 4, Astros 1
Fred Kendall hit a home run and Bill Greif pitched a six-hitter, pacing San Diego over Houston.

Courageous Sails On Course For 3rd Win

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Sports Writer
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Courageous, rapidly gaining stature as a super boat, awaited the signal today to go for her third straight victory in defense of the 123-year-old America's Cup trophy.

She outslated Australian challenger Southern Cross by 1 minute, 11 seconds Thursday in the second race of the best-of-seven series, but had to wait more than seven hours to make her win official.

Alan Bond, owner and crew member of Southern Cross, accused Courageous of violating the right-of-way rules near the starting line. The Courageous crew filed a similar protest.

An International jury headed by Italy's Dr. Beppe Croce met for more than 4 hours Thursday night before ruling that neither side had grounds for a protest.

Jim Hardy and Ted Hood, the Aussie and U.S. skippers, respectively, already had told the sponsoring New York Yacht Club they would sail the third race today, regardless of the jury's decision.

The start is scheduled for 12:10 p.m. The weather forecast was for fine sailing conditions on the 24.3 mile course seven miles outside Newport Harbor.

Courageous and Southern Cross, each costing in excess of $2 million, were milling around the starting line awaiting a signal gun when the protest incident occurred.

One witness said Southern Cross was almost head to the wind as the two yachts converged. Courageous was on starboard tack and bearing down on her. Amid a lot of yelling both boats altered course to avoid a collision. But in this case, each thought they had the right-of-way.

Thursday's race, sailed in hazy sunshine in a southwest breeze rising from 11 to 16 knots was a see-saw battle, with the lead changing hands three times on the first leg.

Jim Hardy, who was sailing Bond's challenger, squeezed his yacht into a safe leeward position on port tack at the start and Courageous was forced to tack immediately to clear her wind.

That allowed Southern Cross to get across the starting line first, but after 7½ minutes Courageous skipper Ted Hood turned the tables on the Aussies. He squeezed the American boat up under Southern Cross' lee bow, forcing Hardy to tack and then covering the Australian boat.

Twenty eight minutes after the start, Southern Cross cut across Courageous' bow and regained the lead. But the Aussies again made a mistake — they failed to cover Courageous for two or three minutes and it cost them dearly.

Courageous sailed into a fresher breeze, changed her headsail in a spectacularly swift time, and flew into a lead she never relinquished.

Murphy Happy With The Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Bob Murphy was far from unhappy with the first-round 65 that staked him to the lead in the $300,000 World Open Golf Tournament.

But he wasn't completely satisfied, either.

"This was a round that could have been," the chunky redhead said Thursday after his six-under-par effort on the famed No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club. "It was a good round," Murphy analyzed. "It could have been a great one."

Murphy lipped out two birdie and left two others one inch short, dead in the heart of the hole in what he called "my best round of the year, easily." Murphy, who missed four months of the season with a hand injury, held a one-stroke advantage over husky Don Iverson, a curly-haired tour regular who is seeking his first victory.

Iverson had a 66, five under par, on the No. 4 course. The international field of 180 will shift courses for today's second round, with the final two rounds to be played on the tougher No. 2 layout.

Lee Trevino, the recent winner of the World Series of Golf, Bert Greene, slumping Frank Beard and Dave Stockton, a three-time winner this season, were two shots out at 67.

Jack Nicklaus had a 68 and was tied with Charles Coody, Lee Elder and Nate Starks.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin was in a group at 69.

Yanks Not Claiming Flag

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Bill Virdon isn't claiming the pennant and the New York Yankees' three rivals in the torrid American League East aren't conceding it.

"I don't feel any different than when we were tied for first place last week," the Yankee pilot said Thursday night following a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles which left

New York 2½ games up on the Boston Red Sox, three ahead of Baltimore and six in front of the Cleveland Indians.

"Next week it'd be nice to put together an eight-or nine-game winning streak," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "Let's see ... that'll be four here against Cleveland, three in New York and two in Boston."

The Red Sox, who had dropped three games in a row and 11 of their last 13, nipped Cleveland 3-2 as Bill Lee scattered 10 hits and Dick McAuliffe drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning.

Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte said that the loss was not a crucial one in the Indians' pennant hopes. "I don't see how it could be," he said. "We'd like to win it, but it's just another game on the road to the top."

Elsewhere in the AL, the Oakland A's edged the Minnesota Twins 2-1, the Texas Rangers and Chicago White Sox played to a 2-2 tie in a rain-shortened contest and the Detroit Tigers outslugged the Milwaukee Brewers 9-7 in 10 innings. California and Kansas City were not scheduled.

Unbeaten Mike Wallace, pulled out of the Yankees' bullpen for his first AL start after 20 relief appearances, pitched three-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings and ran his record to 6-0 with help from Dick Tidrow.

Red Sox 3, Indians 2
The Red Sox scored the winning run in the eighth on Carl Yastrzemski's double off Jim Perry, a sacrifice and Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly off Tom Buskey.

A's 2, Twins 1
Sal Bando's sacrifice fly delivered Bill North in the eighth inning with the tie-breaking run. Oakland's Ken Holtzman pitched scoreless ball after allowing Minnesota a run in the first on Larry Hise's triple and Bobby Darwin's single.

Rangers 2, White Sox 2
Ken Henderson's 18th home run gave Chicago a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning moments before a heavy downpour halted the game.

Tigers 9, Brewers 7
Tom Verzer belted his first major league homer with a man aboard in the 10th inning and relief ace John Hiller notched a record-breaking 17th victory for the Tigers. Verzer connected off Tom Murphy.

Hiller, 17-10, broke the American League record of 16 victories by a reliever, set by Boston's Dick Radatz in 1964. Pittsburgh's ElRoy Face holds the major league mark with 18 in 1959.

The National Football League season, bruised by a players strike and crowded in by a new league, tosses its opening football into play for the 55th time Sunday with 24 clubs, including the defending champion Miami Dolphins, trying nine new rule changes on for size.

The Dolphins, owners of two straight Super Bowl crowns, start defending their title against the Patriots in New England, part of a 12-game Sunday schedule that begins the long road to New Orleans for Super Bowl IX.

In other Sunday openers, Minnesota will be at Green Bay, Baltimore at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Denver, Dallas at Atlanta, Cleveland at Cincinnati, Washington at the New York Giants, the New York Jets at Kansas City, Philadelphia at St. Louis, Detroit at Chicago, San Francisco at New Orleans and San Diego at Houston.

On Monday night, the Oakland Raiders will meet the Bills in Buffalo on national television.

There will be three lame-duck Dolphins in the lineup Sunday when Miami takes on fourth-year quarterback Jim Plunkett and the Patriots.

The hearts of running backs Larry Csonka, Jim Kilick and wide receiver Paul Warfield may belong to the Dolphins this year, but their names adorn World Football League contracts for 1975.

The WFL, which has just crossed the halfway point of its 20-game regular season schedule, has scores of NFL players under contract for the next few seasons — a fact that hometown fans are bound to recognize with boos and taunts throughout the year.

Besides making a mark on NFL rosters, the innovative WFL is credited in many circles with pushing their rival league more quickly into numerous rule changes.

Among the major new wrinkles this season are goal posts which have been moved to the back line of the end zone, adding 10 yards to field goal and extra point attempts, and kickoffs which will be from the 35-yard line, a backtrack of five yards.

In addition, there will be one 15-minute, sudden-death period if any game is tied after regulation play; only the two outside men will be allowed to race downfield on punt coverage before the ball is punted, and the pass coverage tactic of the bump and run has been virtually eliminated.

Cadet Dave Thomas of Annandale, Va., will captain Army's 1974-75 basketball team.

Debby penned an ideal tribute to her Great-Grandmother 2 years before the funeral! When my mother died earlier this year, just a day before her 96th birthday, we found Debby's "poem" (as she called it). It shows my mother's beneficent influence.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
CASE B-641: Debby R., was 10 during this visit at our summer home on an Indiana farm.

My mother, then 94, enjoyed having Debby stay with her during an afternoon. Debby thus served much as a diminutive Practical Nurse and companion to her Great-Grandmother.

But Debby had a vivid imagination, so she would dress up in my mother's long skirt and pretend that she was a little old lady, aged 80, who was a kindly neighbor of my mother.

Debby even called herself "Mrs. Bawton," which was merely a pen name she concocted out of thin air.

At the end of her summer vacation, when Debby had returned to her home in Chicagoland, and had finished her prayer, just before retiring, her mother looked into Debby's bedroom and found it empty.

For Debby was out at the kitchen table, writing. "Debby," her mother protested, "what are you doing?"

"Mamma," Debby replied, "I can't tell you now but some day you'll know."

My mother passed away earlier this year, just one day ahead of her 96th birthday, and we asked Dr. John Kirkpatrick, noted pastor at Richmond, Indiana, to conduct the funeral.

It was only then that we found Debby's "poem" (as she described it) wherein she addressed herself as "Mrs. Bawton."

"Mrs. Bawton," her note began, "you may be discharged now because your patient has gone home, far past the cornfields, the meadows and the creek."

"Home to where her Father is. And where she will live eternally."

"Yes, Mrs. Bawton, she's gone home. Gone home to Heaven where she will walk with her Father."

This poem is about Great-Grandma, the wisest woman I've ever met. "And by taking care of her this summer, I have matured and learned very much."

"I see why Jamie (her little brother who died when Debby was 6) saw so much in her. "I wish with all my might that I may someday be like her."

"I feel very sorry for those who have not understood her for they have missed a lot. "I can never thank her enough, but I am sure God will tell her."

"God bless this great woman!"

home. Gone home to Heaven where she will walk with her Father.

"I wish with all my might that I may someday be like her."

"I feel very sorry for those who have not understood her for they have missed a lot. "I can never thank her enough, but I am sure God will tell her."

"God bless this great woman!"

She herself had completed the entire Bible (Genesis to Revelation) 72 times, even 20 years before her death.

In later years, when her eyes were poor, she "spot read" it, much as clergymen do when picking out special passages for their sermons.

At the age of 6, Debby was the constant companion of little Jamie, who wasted away with a rare ailment for 2 years that no specialists in New York or Chicago or at Riley Children's Hospital at Indianapolis could combat.

She was at our farm home with Jamie, when he finally passed away in the middle of the night, so she was acquainted with leave-taking of a loved one en route to Heaven.

My mother's religious inspiration had infused both Jamie and Debby.

So one good woman can thus imbue her descendants for generations with religious fervor and idealism, which are an ideal after-glow of our life here on Earth!

This hand has been attributed to a number of famous players. Perhaps they all played it, for certainly none has come forward to deny that he was responsible for the brilliancy. Or perhaps, as is the case with so many legends, it never really happened at all.

North could have doubled four diamonds and collected 800 points, but he could hardly be expected to do so holding five-card support for his partner's suit. Then, too, if he had, there would have been no tale to tell. West led the queen of diamonds, and declarer was all set to claim ten tricks, conceding two spade tricks and a club, until East ruffed the ace of diamonds. Now it seemed

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be such a perfectionist that it is well early in life to teach that the element of time is very important if there is to be real success here. Otherwise your progeny could get so enmeshed in detail that a project could be stretched out interminably when it does not call for all that effort and many benefits could be lost in the process. North Pitt School News

By GENEVA HOLDER
A new year began for North Pitt on Aug. 26. Senior orientation was held Monday morning and Juniors attended Monday afternoon. Sophomores and freshmen attended Tuesday morning and afternoon, respectively. The orientation programs were presented by SGA Co-presidents, Kim Manning and Marion Barnes, with speaker, Principal Jim Allen.

North Pitt has several new staff members. Miss Cathy Barkley has taken up residence in the Math Lab, while Mrs. Sylvia Barnhill comes out of temporary retirement to continue teaching English. Miss Barbara Carrenton has also joined the English staff. Leroy Morris is in social studies, Benny Knox in electricity, and Eddie Whichard is employed in auto mechanics.

Pat Smith is our new football coach. The results of the team effort so far have been good. We beat West Edgecombe in our scrimmage game. Coach Smith also teaches health, physical education and math.

There is a Junior ROTC program this year. Sergeant Major Bob Avery is the instructor. North Pitt may have a drum and bugle corps this year. Steve Miller, our new music teacher, will be instructing.

In the guidance department, Mrs. Faye Minton has replaced Mrs. Mildred Bowers as secretary.

North Pitt's major change is our new principal, James Allen. We sincerely hope the school will prosper under his guidance, and we wish him luck.

Thw wheels have been put in motion for the 1975 Prelude. Sponsors are Mrs. Pat Reynolds and Mrs. Rejeanor Scott. Annual staff officers are as follows: Editor, John Pritchard; Business Manager, Ann Knight; Finance Manager, Teresa Kirkman.

The annual is going to be of college size this year. Price and sales dates will be announced soon. Booster sheets are available from Mrs. Scott or Mrs. Reynolds. Any student selling $12 worth of boosters will receive a free annual. Anyone giving $2 or more will have his name printed in the annual. Pictures for the annual will be taken Friday. Students are urged to wear appropriate attire.

Plans for the first copy of this year's paper are being made. Officers of the staff are Editor, Lynda Payton; Business Manager, Yvonne Mathews; Finance Manager, Shirley Wooten; and Circulation Manager, Donnell Wynne. The Public Relations Manager for both the annual and the paper is Pat Morris. The name for the paper, decided upon by the staff, is Panther Talk.

Friday afternoon at 2:30, there was a pep rally held on the football field. The football players were introduced by Coach Smith. After a few cheers, the cheerleaders introduced themselves. Coach Smith and quarterback Donnie Perkins gave short pep talks trying to encourage spirit and support from the students.

The game scheduled for Friday was postponed one night because of rain. The game was played against Robersonville. The final score was 24-0 with Robersonville the winner. The game, however, was not a conference game. The next two games are going to be played at North Pitt and are conference games. We hope to have even more support for our boys to build their confidence. We feel

Grain Shortage Not Too Severe

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm animals will have more corn to munch this fall than government experts thought a month ago. But that probably will do nothing to lower consumer prices for beef, pork and poultry.

The corn crop, which feeds the nation's livestock, was hurt a bit less by the recent drought in the Midwest than had been anticipated but will still be 11 per cent below last year's record harvest, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

This year's corn output will be less than 5 billion bushels. Soybeans, which provide protein supplement needed to mix with grain for livestock, also improved slightly because of rains in August, but are estimated at less than 1.32 billion bushels, down 16 per cent from 1973.

Wheat output this year will be a record of nearly 1.8 billion bushels, up 5 per cent from 1973, although the crop is a shade less than forecast in August.

Don Paarlberg, USDA director of economics, said the crop figures mean no change in earlier predictions that retail food prices will go up 15 to 17 per cent for all of this year, including further increases in the last half.

Until drought gripped the Midwest and burned much of the corn, economists were predicting a 12 per cent rise in retail prices for all of 1974.

$6 Million Check By Knievel Was A Fake

"YOU'VE LOVELY MANNERS, DEAR, BUT YOU JUST TIPPED YOUR HAT TO TWO TEEN-AGED BOYS!"

By LEE MITGANG
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember that $6 million check that Evel Knievel was waving around before his rocket launch into the Snake River Canyon? Well, it was a fake.

The promoters only gave Knievel a $250,000 advance. The check was pure rubber — part of the publicity that both Knievel and the promoters dreamed up.

There's another thing that is still floating around in their minds: the actual amount of money the whole extravaganza earned.

The promoters have released various estimates of the gross, but so far nobody has produced any firm figures. All that is known is that Knievel probably earned a lot of money — mil-ions by his account — but nobody is sure.

But if current estimates work out, Knievel's rocky quarter-mile ride earned him $6,666.67 per foot — before taxes and expenses, that is.

Reached at his home in Butte, Mont., Knievel says he believes between one million and one and one-half million persons watched him fall into the canyon, at an average cost of $10 a person in closed circuit theaters throughout the country. Gate receipts at the canyon itself came to about $600,000.

Robert Arum, the New York lawyer who heads Top Rank, Inc., the promoter of the motorcycle jump, has guaranteed Knievel the larger of either $6 million in cash or 60 per cent of all receipts, including the theater gate, promotional sales and other income, minus various unspecified promotional expenses to be paid to Top Rank.

In the days before Knievel's "Sky-cycle" tumbled 700 feet into the canyon, he had been displaying the $6 million check, offering, for instance, to pay for a round of drinks with it. That was a promotional gimmick, it was later revealed. The check was a fake.

On Wednesday, Arum reiterated his earlier estimate that theater receipts would total about $15 million, with promotional sales and other monies bringing total revenues to some $21 million.

That's $5 million lower than Arum had predicted only days before the jump, however, and even the revised figure may be on the high side.

Home Builders Ask Ford Make Money Available

"DUNE BUGGY"—This is an XR-311 "dune buggy" reconnaissance vehicle on maneuvers at Ft. Hood, Tex. The vehicle is equipped with a TOW (Tube-launched, Optically-tracked, Wire-guided) missile system, giving it tank-killing ability. (AP Wirephoto)

By DONALD H. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The nation's home builders, suffering through what a spokesman called "the most severe downturn on record," have asked the Ford Administration to fight inflation with a balanced budget while making more money available for housing.

"The housing industry has been the hardest hit of all the nation's industries by economic policies which have relied almost totally on tight money," said Lewis Cenko, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

"As an industry which has borne an inequitable burden in combatting inflation, housing needs special relief," Cenko said Thursday in remarks to a presummit conference on the housing and construction industries, the first of 12 meetings before a White House conference on inflation Sept. 27-28.

James T. Lynn, secretary of Housing and Urban Development and chairman of the conference, told reporters later that some form of assistance for the housing industry probably is necessary.

But, he added, "We certainly don't want to give such massive loans that all we do is ... make inflation worse."

Speaker after speaker at the day-long meeting described the dismal state of the housing industry. Housing starts, they said, are running 38 per cent behind last year and unemployment in the industry is more than 11 per cent.

Many of the bankers, builders, economists and labor leaders attending the meeting proposed immediate action to help the industry.

Cenko and others proposed increased assistance to federal agencies which make housing loans, and tax incentives to attract private capital to the thrift institutions — primarily savings and loan associations and mutual savings banks — which make most mortgage loans.

Others, such as Saul Klamon, vice president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, called for some easing of monetary policies to bring down the high interest rates which traditionally mean trouble for the housing industry.

"There are no other really major ways of solving this problem," he said.

U.S. Sen. William R. Brock, R-Tenn., warned the builders of the dangers of taking too much credit from other industries to stimulate housing. If a business firm is pushed over the brink of bankruptcy because it can't get credit, said Brock, "what happens to the potential home buyer when you put him on the unemployment rolls?"

Lynn said a report on the meeting would be submitted to President Ford before the full White House conference on inflation.

Nader Claims Nuclear Plants Are Unreliable

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) — Nuclear power plants are "unsafe, unreliable, and unnecessary," says Ralph Nader.

No more probably will be built in the United States after 1980, the consumer advocate said at Davidson College Thursday night.

"There has never been an advanced technology without a catastrophe of some kind," he said. "With nuclear power, 99.9 per cent perfect isn't good enough. A nuclear accident is for keeps. A major leak in one plant could make an area the size of Pennsylvania uninhabitable."

The issue of nuclear power will be "the Vietnam war of the 1970s," he told an overflow audience of 1,300 in Spencer Love Auditorium.

Nader likened the management of the nuclear power industry to the management of that war. "They have invested so much that they can't admit the technology is beyond the limits of perfecting management," he said.

Nuclear energy now provides the United States with 2 per cent of its power, the same amount as from wood fuel, he said.

Nader said the power industries of North Carolina and South Carolina have shown "incredibly poor planning and management."

If consumers use a lot of power, utilities want to raise rates to pay for more facilities, he said. If they conserve, utilities want to raise rates because revenues are down.

"You can't beat a system in which the more power companies spend against you, the more you pay in rates to support them," he declared.

"The only answer is to reconstruct the utility system so that the companies are owned by consumers who can be elected to company governing boards by democratic process."

When he finished, the audience gave him a standing ovation of more than a minute.

New Sea Law Seen For 1975

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States expects a new international sea law establishing fishing and exploration rights up to 200 miles off each nation's coast to be completed next spring. It could go into effect immediately, once the provisions are approved at a Geneva meeting beginning March 17, said John Norton Moore, chairman of the National Security Council interagency task force on the law of the sea. In the meantime, the United States is expected to board more foreign vessels fishing in waters that would be in U.S. zones after separate new regulations are approved.

Iowa encompasses 25 per cent of the Class A farmland in the United States. Class A is the richest kind of farm land.

Heavy Chopper Program Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Secretary Howard Callaway has recommended that the Army drop its new heavy helicopter program because of high costs. Development of the Heavy Lift Helicopter (HLH) by the Boeing Co., has already cost $200 million and a Senate Armed Service Committee staff study estimated that 100 of the big choppers would cost $1 billion, or $10 million each.
