'Concrete' Offers To Brezhnev

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger conveyed concrete U.S. propositions on nuclear arms limitations to Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today at the Kremlin, hoping they could break the negotiating logjam on a new 10-year treaty.

The 2-hour and 20-minute discussion, described by U.S. sources as being in a "very friendly and very cordial atmosphere" was aimed at agreement on guidelines that Brezhnev and President Ford could endorse around Thanksgiving at a meeting, probably in Vladivostok.

At their first meeting Thursday, Kissinger and Brezhnev surveyed trade relations between their two countries and their conflicting approaches to the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Kissinger said they made "a very good beginning" but gave no details. Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said both sides were encouraged and Brezhnev was pleased.

Both Gromyko and Kissinger renewed their governments' commitment to Soviet-American detente in luncheon toasts, and Kissinger emphasized that this American policy was unchanged by the change in the U.S. presidency.

"Further and big successes require efforts and vigorous efforts on both sides," said the Russian. "We are prepared to make those efforts."

Kissinger replied that "it has been a firm and continuing principle of American policy that the U.S. and the Soviet Union have a very special responsibility for preserving the peace in the world and for contributing to the positive aspirations of mankind."

"This positive peace responsibility will be fostered with great energy by our administration."

A get-acquainted meeting between Brezhnev and President Ford late next month in the Far East appears in the offing. It was learned that a special communications network has been set up between Moscow and Vladivostok, the most likely site for the meeting.

Still Split Over Israel Negotiations

Arab World Leaders Gather At Rabat

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The leaders of the Arab world began gathering here today for another summit conference, but their foreign ministers were reported still split on the key issue of negotiations with Israel.

A Syrian proposal called for a pledge from all the Arab governments not to negotiate separately with Israel but to take the negotiations back to the dormant Geneva conference, which would bring the Soviet Union back into the peacemaking process.

Delegation sources said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia were "extremely reluctant" to return to Geneva. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, during his recent visit to the Middle East, won Sadat's support for a gradual movement toward a peace settlement. The next step would be separate negotiations between Israel and Egypt, Jordan and Syria on further territorial withdrawals by Israel.

Sadat and Faisal were also reported unenthusiastic about another Syrian proposal to revive the use of the so-called oil weapon and to pool Arab oil billions for a new mobilization against Israel.

The other key issue before the summit conference opening Saturday is the bitter contest between the Palestine Liberation Organization headed by guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat and King Hussein of Jordan for recognition as the representative of the Palestinian people on the West Bank of the Jordan River.

Arafat's chief spokesman, Said Kamal, called a news conference late Thursday night and indicated that the foreign ministers were about to recommend that Hussein negotiate for a partial Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank without consulting the PLO.

Though Syria and Algeria argued in favor of the PLO in the foreign ministers' debates this week preparing the agenda for the summit, Kamal accused all of the Arab governments of "failing to live up to their obligations to the Palestine revolution."

Heavy security precautions were being taken to prevent attempts to assassinate Hussein or other leaders. Hundreds of Palestinians and Moroccan leftists were transported from Rabat to Tangier to be held there until after the meeting. Thousands of armed troops and police patrolled Rabat and surrounding areas and searched all traffic going in and out of the city. The airport was closed to commercial traffic until after the summit.

Nixon Surgery Being Weighed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Hospital sources say former President Richard M. Nixon is no longer in pain as doctors consider whether he will need surgery for his phlebitis.

A relatively simple and safe operation could be performed if anticoagulant drugs given by mouth and by injection fail to prevent formation of clots in Nixon's swollen left leg, his physician, Dr. John C. Lungren, said Thursday.

The former president was admitted to Memorial Hospital Medical Center here Wednesday night because oral anticoagulation therapy at his San Clemente home was not thinning his blood sufficiently, Lungren said.

He said tests were being conducted to determine if Nixon is "in the small group of paradoxical cases, i.e., people for whom anticoagulation cannot be maintained by drugs."

Lungren did not say when a decision on surgery would be made.

If surgery is not necessary, the doctor said Nixon might be able to go home late today or Saturday.

A hospital spokesman said medical personnel who saw Nixon Thursday said he was resting comfortably and was not in pain.

"If anticoagulant therapy cannot be adequately established and controlled, then surgical intervention is a real possibility," Lungren said.

In most cases of this sort, the surgeon ties off the main blood vessel carrying blood from the lower body to the heart. This prevents clots from breaking loose in the legs and traveling to the heart or lungs, where they can cause death. Other veins take over the function of the vein closed off by surgery.

It was the second hospitalization here this month for Nixon, who was discharged Oct. 14 after 12 days of tests and anticoagulant therapy. He was reported doing well after his return to San Clemente until Lungren found the oral drugs were not doing the job.

Lending Rate Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—First National City Bank, the nation's second-largest commercial bank, today became the first major bank to cut the prime lending rate to 11 per cent.

The prime rate is considered a bellwether of other short-term money market rates. While it is not a direct influence on consumer loan rates, the prime often foreshadows future trends in the lending market.

Citibank's quarter-point reduction in the rate it charges on loans to top-rated business borrowers is effective Monday.

It was the fourth consecutive week that Citibank has sliced the key short-term rate because of a moderation in business loan demand and similar recent declines in other short-term rates like commercial paper.

Most other major banks' primes stand at either 11.5 per cent or 11.25 per cent.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

DANGEROUS SCHOOL CROSSING

My sixth grade child was almost hit by a car at the intersection of the 264 Bypass and Golden Road, even though she was crossing with the crossing guard in uniform. A car ran right between her and another child, and by the grace of God, didn't hit either. Why can't we get a stop light or at least a blinking yellow light there? There is a curve and a slight rise, and even on clear days, it's difficult for people who aren't familiar with the crossing to know it's there. Mrs. L. P.

Hotline appealed first to the Department of Transportation office here, since this is a state-maintained highway. We were told the site had been investigated and no flashing light is warranted.

So we went to the city, since the intersection is within the city limits, hoping an appeal from the city traffic engineer might do some good. He went through regular channels and received a very official reply saying the same thing—no flashing light is warranted. The crossing is marked with signs and pavement marking, not required of the state on an intersection such as this, which is not adjacent to the school grounds.

Perhaps the school or the City School Board or citizens' protest could do some good, where Hotline has failed so far. We have personally inspected this intersection and think a flashing light would be a small investment to make for the children's safety and parents' peace of mind.

NO TABLES?

Why doesn't Elmhurst School have tables in the lunchroom? The children have to carry their full trays all the way back to their classrooms each day. Some of them are so little it's a wonder they don't drop them. L.L.

"We do have tables in our cafetorium," Elmhurst Principal Mrs. Bettie Forrest said. "However, for the past several years we have had the students have lunch in their classrooms so the teacher can make it an additional learning experience for them. They could not easily be supervised in a large group in the cafetorium. We have this arrangement for all six grades and have found it most satisfactory."

ATTACHMENTS NOT RECEIVED

I ordered some vacuum cleaner attachments from Metropolitan Vacuum Cleaner Company of Suffern, N.Y. Aug. 26. They cashed my $19 check Aug. 29, but I don't have the attachments yet. M.S.

A Hotline postcard went to the Company Oct. 17 and you report you now have your attachments.

Coal Negotiations See Tentative Agreements; May Avert A Shutdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller says the outlook for avoiding a nationwide coal strike next month has improved with tentative agreement on some key contract issues.

"I think there's a possibility that we can wrap up the contract in time for ratification," said Miller. "It depends on how they (the coal operators) want to bargain, how much good faith they want to put into it."

Two weeks ago, the talks were deadlocked over five major noneconomic issues and Miller said a strike appeared likely unless the industry was willing to make concessions.

In an interview Thursday, Miller said considerable progress has been made in these areas with tentative agreement on some issues, and indicated that the talks would shift to wages in a few days.

The union's contract with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association expires Nov. 12 and Miller said a tentative settlement would have to be reached by Nov. 4 if it is to be ratified in time by the membership. He said, however, he is shooting for a Nov. 1 settlement date.

New Fire Station Site Plea Tabled By Board

Following a public hearing Thursday night by the Greenville Board of Adjustments, a decision was made to table a special use permit request on constructing a fire station at 2405 South Memorial Drive. The property is zoned R-6 residential.

Eddie Dozier registered objections to the proposed Memorial Drive site and offered for consideration two other sites for the new fire station.

Based on this development, Board of Adjustment members approved a tabling motion and set a special call meeting for Monday, November 4, to study the two sites proposed by Dozier.

If neither of the two alternate sites are deemed suitable, the board at that time will make a final decision on the South Memorial Drive proposed site.

Two other special use permit requests were approved. One is a Pitt County Mental Health Center to use a building located at 3200 South Memorial Drive as a group home for emotionally and disturbed children. The area is zoned highway commercial. The second approval was for the City Cab Company to install and operate self-service gasoline pumps and also to operate the existing gasoline pump at 500 Albemarle Avenue. The property is zoned downtown commercial fringe.

A request for variance by John's Flowers was denied. A variance was being sought to enlarge the structure located at 503 East Third Street. The board denied the request based on the fact such enlargement would add congestion to the area. The shop is located in a residential R-6 zone.

GMC Laying Off More Workers As Sales Sag

DETROIT (AP) — About 6,000 workers at four General Motors plants are being laid off because of decreasing auto sales, according to a company spokesman.

The spokesman said Thursday that GM is dropping second-shift production at three plants and is slowing the assembly line at a fourth.

It is the first time in recent history that layoffs have come so early in the model year.

GM revised its 1975 model year industry sales estimate down from 10 million to 9.5 million cars and is adjusting production accordingly, the spokesman said.

He said on Nov. 11 GM will lay off indefinitely 1,500 workers at Leeds, Mo.; 2,000 at Tarrytown, N.Y.; and 1,650 at Van Nuys, Calif. On Dec. 2, 700 employees layoffs at Willow Run, Mich., will slow down assembly lines from 70 to 60 cars per hour on each of the two shifts.

A GM spokesman said poor auto sales forced the cutbacks, citing large unsold inventories of compact model cars affected in the production cutbacks.

Chrysler Corp., which said earlier this week it lost $8 million in the third quarter of this year, is considering closing its Jefferson Avenue plant in Detroit because of lagging sales. The move would affect about 5,000 workers.

Ford Motor Co. also said it is assessing its situation in light of the industrywide sales slowdown.

The largest price increases in history and the economic pinch caused by inflation are apparently keeping many prospective auto buyers out of the show rooms this fall.

Sales figures show the industry 28 per cent below a year ago.

The U.S. automakers raised prices at model introduction time last month an average of more than $400.

It was the biggest single increase in history and put average car prices almost $1,000 above a year ago, following a series of earlier increases.

Harold Wiseman's Trial Date Is Set For Dec. 16 Term

The trial of Harold Payne Wiseman, charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the death of Lynwood Branch, has been set for the December 16 term of Pitt County Superior Court.

Judge Perry Martin signed an order dissolving a previous order of the court which called for a special venire of jurors from another county to hear the case.

The order signed yesterday said the request for supplemental jurors from another county is "dissolved by order of this court" and is "to be of no further effect as to the defendant..." Wiseman.

Judge Martin, following a motion by Wiseman's attorney, David Reid that he reconsider the matter, said the defendant has "no right of appeal to the discretionary power that this court has just exercised."

Wiseman and Matthew Jack Whealon were both charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the death of Branch, who was shot March 29.

Whealon, last week, testified in the trial of Branch's wife, Connie Hardee Branch, and her alleged lover, Roy Lee Sullivan. Mrs. Branch and Sullivan, found guilty, were charged with conspiracy and accessory to murder in connection with the death.

Whealon told the court he shot Branch after meeting and talking by telephone with Sullivan and Mrs. Branch to plan the death. He pled guilty in Superior Court Tuesday to conspiracy and accessory to murder charges and was given a life plus ten year sentence.

Both Mrs. Branch and Sullivan were given life and ten-year sentences in connection with their alleged part in the death.

Parents Should Tell Son Facts

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who will be 16 his next birthday, is fast-talking, persuasive and attractive. Jeff can charm the birds out of the trees when he wants to. He keeps making remarks like: "I can't wait until my next birthday so I can drive." He's all set to sign up for driver's ed in school. He doesn't have a car to drive, and we hadn't planned on buying him one, but he's been buttering up his grandparents lately, hoping they will buy him a car for his sixteenth birthday. (I have news for him. He still needs OUR permission to drive.)

Jeff's grades are just so-so, he doesn't always keep his word, and he has to show a lot more maturity and responsibility before we'll let him drive.

He had a summer job and didn't save a dime. How do we get it across to this boy that just because the law says he's old enough to drive doesn't necessarily mean he's going to?

MOM AND POP

DEAR M. AND P.: You seem articulate enough. Why don't you just TELL him?

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if you think I misrepresented myself. I was divorced many years ago. I never remarried. My husband remarried, but his wife died. Well, a few weeks ago, my ex-husband died, and I referred to myself as a "widow." I was severely criticized for this.

I feel that since we are now separated by the grave and not the divorce court, I am a widow. I was told in no uncertain terms that I am a DIVORCEE and not a widow. I'll leave it to you.

RECENTLY WIDOWEI

DEAR WIDOWED: Sorry, but regardless of how you "feel," you are not a widow. Technically, a widow is a woman who has lost her husband by death. A man can have any number of ex-wives—but only one widow. If he dies unmarried, he leaves no widow.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

DEAR ABBY: I am a good Catholic woman. God gave me 13 children and I am proud of it. When people find out how many kids I have, they look at me like I committed some kind of crime. I am not on welfare, and I am not asking anybody else to help me raise them.

Some people ask me if I ever heard of birth control. I have, but the only method permitted by the Catholic Church is called "the rhythm system."

Why can't people mind their own business?

PROUD MOTHER

DEAR PROUD: One reason may be that they are concerned about a very real problem, which cannot be ignored. It's overpopulation.

At present, the world population is increasing at the rate of about 68 million a year—much more than the total population of Great Britain, France, Italy, or West Germany!

Every day there are 185,000 more mouths to feed. This means that the present world population of 3,632 million will double by the year 2010!

But criticizing parents of large families after the fact strikes me as not only irrelevant to future solutions, but as meddlesome and unkind.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to just walk away from my home and husband, and start a new life somewhere where nobody knows me.

I hate being married. I've been married for 25 years. I have no children at home. I didn't really want to get married and I didn't have to, but in those days, social pressures made a girl feel like if she wasn't married there must be something the matter with her.

Abby, could this feeling I have be the "change of life" blues?

RESTLESS

DEAR RESTLESS: Could be. Women in their middle years (men, too) sometimes become depressed and dissatisfied with their lot. That "let-down" feeling could be caused by a hormonal change. Get a thorough physical checkup without delay, and tell your doctor what's on your mind. I promise you, he's heard that tune before. There IS help for you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Lending Group Caters To Women

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Using words like "agony" and "agony" to describe women and their finances, feminist Susan Osborne has set out to lend women money and teach them how to use it, rather than to be intimidated by it.

She and Karen Wynn, both from New Haven, are co-managers of the Connecticut Feminist Federal Credit Union, a cooperative effort.

"Our loan policies are dictated by feminist priorities," Ms. Osborne said in an interview.

"Women do not have the same accessibility to money, to credit in the state and the nation," as do men, she said. She agreed that it has never been documented extensively but "it's such a well-known fact among women."

For example, she explained, there was the 54-year-old woman who — with 15 years of employment behind her and an annual gross of about $6,500 — was denied an automobile loan unless her father signed for it. He was 84 years old.

Another Connecticut case, said the 26-year-old money manager who prefers the title Ms., was that of the 26-year-old woman working for a Bridgeport bank. She had completed the bank's management training program and asked to take up a car loan. She was asked to get her father as a cosigner. Ms. Osborne said.

When she and her coworkers first considered the idea for the project, which she said is the first feminist credit union in the Northeast and the fourth in the country, they surveyed 150 New Haven women.

"Half of them have been turned down for loans or had problems getting loans. Just over 50 said they believed it was because of sex or marital status discrimination," Ms. Osborne said.

"We were agnostic. It's kind of really apparent that we've got a tiger by the tail. We're referring people to the state Human Rights and Opportunities Commission" but the credit union workers feel "we have to come up with some way to work with this and focus on it."

Although loans will be available to individuals for traditional purposes — like education, cars, homes — "we are trying to make money accessible to women's projects that have difficulty getting money."

Besides the savings and lending operations, Ms. Osborne predicts that the credit union will enter areas like counseling, bill counseling and bill consolidation.

"Most women are agog when given large sums of money. We're really interested also in expanding women's consciousness about money," she said.

The credit union — with pledges of a minimum of $42,000 — is open to all state women but they will have to first join one of four groups, she said. They are the National Organization for Women (NOW), Black Women United in Struggle, the Connecticut Political Women's Caucus and the New Haven Women's Center.

Men also can participate in the credit union but would have to join NOW, which accepts men, Ms. Osborne said.

Ex-Mobster Claims He Located Patty Hearst

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former gangster Mickey Cohen, enlisted by Randolph A. and Catherine Hearst to find their kidnaped daughter, says he knew where she was 10 days ago but doesn't know where she is now.

In separate interviews Thursday with NBC-TV and San Francisco television reporter Marilyn Baker, Cohen said he used his own money and various contacts — some of them members or sympathizers of the Symbionese Liberation Army — to trace SLA members William and Emily Harris and 20-year-old Patty Hearst.

Guardsmen's Jury Seated

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A jury of four women and eight men has been seated for the trial of the former Ohio National Guardsmen charged in the 1970 Kent State shootings.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti recessed the trial on Thursday after six alternate jurors were seated. Because of the Veteran's Day holiday, the trial will not resume until Tuesday.

Battisti said opening statements will be heard Tuesday, the jury will visit Kent State on Wednesday and presentation of evidence will begin Thursday.

He cautioned the jurors to try to avoid reading news stories and watching or listening to newscasts about the case.

Battisti said earlier that the jurors would not be sequestered during the trial.

The eight defendants, indicted by a federal grand jury last March, are charged with violating the civil rights, assaulting and intimidating four students who were killed and nine who were wounded on May 4, 1970, when Guardsmen opened fire on campus demonstrators protesting U.S. bombing in Cambodia.

Missing Woman Is Found Dead

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—The body of a Nash County woman was found inside a pickup truck overturned in a farm pond west of Rocky Mount Thursday night.

Nash County Sheriff Frank Brown said an autopsy would be performed at Nash General Hospital to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Margie Crumpler, 34, of Rt. 1, Wilson.

The sheriff said she was last seen Sunday night in the pickup.

He said a wig, articles of clothing and a pistol, all identified as belonging to Mrs. Crumpler, were found near the pond. Rescue squads dragged the pond and recovered the body shortly before midnight.

Vincent Price Plans To Wed

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Vincent Price has taken out a license to marry English actress Coral Edith Browne Pearman, his costar in the film "Theater of Blood."

They obtained the license Thursday. It will be the fourth marriage for Price, 63, currently starring in "Madhouse." Mrs. Pearman is 61. Both live in Los Angeles.

quest as a personal favor to the Hearst family, refused to say where Miss Hearst was when he located her except that she was not in California.

He added that he never saw the girl himself. "I couldn't, my parole board won't let me go anywhere," he said.

He also said she has since moved and that he didn't tell anyone where she was. Broadcast reports that Miss Hearst might be in Canada did not come from him, he said. The FBI and the Canadian Mounted Police said they had no information on reports that she had been located in Canada or near the U.S.-Canadian border.

The Hearsts were not immediately available for comment.

Miss Hearst was kidnaped Feb. 4 by the SLA, but several months later she announced that she had rejected her family and joined forces with the SLA.

She was later charged with violating the federal firearms laws and bank robbery and by the State of California with kidnapping.

The Chicago Tribune reported that Cohen offered to try to kidnap Miss Hearst and return her to her parents.

In the KPIX-TV interview with Marilyn Baker, Cohen said it might take violence to free Patty.

"The people I had been in contact with related to me that Patty Hearst may have to be brought out the same way that she was brought in. She may have to be brought out by force."

Officers Fired For Corruption

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's government is firing 377 officers for corruption, the defense ministry announced today.

It was Thieu's second action this week to quiet criticism of his regime in the United States Congress and at home. On Thursday, he fired four members of his cabinet, including Information Minister Hoang Duc Nha, a relative of the president and his closest confidant.

A defense ministry communique said the officers to be dismissed had been "corrupt and dishonest." It said they included 20 colonels, 101 lieutenant colonels and 256 majors. A number of junior officers also will be dismissed for corruption, the communique said, but it did not say how many.

It said the dismissals would begin Nov. 1 and would be completed by the end of December.

There was no immediate reaction to today's announcement, but initial reaction from anti-Thieu political leaders to the firing of the four cabinet ministers indicated it would not end public demonstrations charging the president with corruption and mismanagement and demanding his own resignation.

The demonstrations, the most serious Thieu has faced in three years, are an outgrowth of disenchantment with the continued fighting, the lowered standard of living, inflation, unemployment, and the failure of the government to provide promised social reform and restore civil liberties.

Tougher Economic Measures?

So far the new Ford administration has done little more than "jawbone" in its campaign to reduce energy consumption in this nation. There are signs now, though, that tougher measures could be ahead.

Obviously there has been some leveling off in energy demands of the nation, probably due to the efforts of individuals, businesses and industries to conserve on consumption of gasoline, electricity and fuels. The nation is still having to import too much oil at the exorbitant prices the oil producing nations are now demanding, and this is not helpful to our economy.

Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nesson said this week that President Ford is still opposed to a gas tax increase or gas rationing. However, he said, the administration could propose limiting oil imports. He said that a flat dollar amount could be placed on oil imports.

That could mean that the government economist would estimate the amount of dollars the nation could afford to pay for imported oils and that amount would be spent for however many barrels of oil it would purchase.

With such a ceiling on imports we could soon run into another fuel shortage, but the country would have to conserve to make the fixed supply do.

Whether the president could get such a measure through Congress is debatable. The pressures from home on congressmen would be fierce to allow the import of oil so that personal driving could continue.

The happy solution, of course would be for fuel conservation to be adequate so that our nation could live within its energy means. If that doesn't happen, though, sterner controls will have to come. That could be through an additional tax on gas, outright rationing, or limiting the fuel supply through reduction of imports. We hope that voluntary conservation will prove to be the solution.

THIS AFTERNOON

Problem Drivers Watched

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—The problem drivers in North Carolina may be drivers with problems—especially those arrested on charges of driving drunk.

The North Carolinian arrested for drunk driving is likely to find a letter in his mailbox shortly—not from a lawyer, but from a doctor. The tone of the letter will depend upon the number of offenses on your record. A second or third offense will result in a strongly worded letter telling the driver he obviously has a serious problem with alcohol.

For the first offender, however, the letter raises some serious questions for the driver to answer, and seeks to guide him or her to find help if the signs point toward alcoholism.

State Study
Responsible for the new series of letters to some 30,000 North Carolinians is the North Carolina Division of Health Services—an agency of the Department of Human Resources. A Chapel Hill family practitioner, Dr. Fred Patterson, who has been working as an advisor in the field of study of the medical link between driving problems and fitness to drive, prompted the letter.

Dr. Patterson and Dr. John A. Ewing, director of the Center for Alcohol Studies at the University of North Carolina drew up the letter and questions.

In 1973, there were 36,356 arrests for drunk driving in North Carolina, and in 1972 there were 41,241.

By November, most will have received either the questions, or the bluntly worded warning.

"The Department of Motor Vehicles employs medical advisors to evaluate the records of certain... drivers. Your record has come under such examination since you have been found guilty of driving under the influence of alcohol," the letter begins. The doctors warn that some drive just once and realize how dangerous it is; some keep on until caught and convicted.

Still, the letter warns, the blood alcohol level "which you had... is considerably above that which is normally found in social drinkers on social occasions... This could be a warning sign... you may be on the way to developing the disease of alcoholism."

Then follow some questions: Do you lie or feel guilty about drinking? Do you gulp your drinks? Do you try to have a few extras before joining friends? Do you ever drink at certain times? Do you find yourself drinking because you feel tired, depressed, or worried? Are you annoyed by people... criticizing your drinking? Have you felt recently you ought to cut down? Have you ever had memory blackouts... when drinking? When sober have you ever regretted what you have said or done while drinking? Does drinking have a n effect on your performance?

A Signal

The letter from the state says if you answered YES to any of the questions, "you may have started along the road to alcoholism." Three or more, and your require help.

Some 600 such letters are mailed each week to first offenders, since the program started in July. The second letter will go out soon to those convicted of second or third offenses.

"I have omitted the questions for these people," Dr. Patterson said. "This is a much stronger letter telling the recipient that he obviously has a problem with alcohol."

Those who need help are directed to contact their own physician, or local resources which are listed on the letters.

Local mental health centers report to Human Resources officials that some people are beginning to report for help as a result of receiving the warning note.

INSIDE REPORT

Mills' Standing Is Shaken

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
CONWAY, ARK.—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills probably will win a 19th term in Congress, but the jarring change in his treatment by the folks back home was mercilessly evident during his first full day of campaigning following the Tidal Basin gaucherie.

Mills was visibly shaken at Conway High School when students hooted and whistled at his brusque answers to probing questions. When Mills ignored the Tidal Basin in addressing Conway's civic clubs, some businessmen grumbled he was taking too much for granted. After strolling through the Wilbur D. Mills Center for Social Studies now under construction at his alma mater, Hendrix College, he was interrogated by newsmen who wanted intimate details about his visits to the Silver Slipper striptease joint.

As the imperious chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, who has made Presidents tremble, Mills is unaccustomed to such treatment. Nevertheless, except for obvious displeasure with the high school students, he disguised emotion and coolly discussed the economy in the authoritative, lucid style that has awed the House for two decades. Indeed, he will answer no more questions about his personal life.

The overwhelming consensus is that this strategy will bring victory in the first real challenge to Mills since his first-term primary election in 1938, if only because his Republican opponent, Judy Petty, is a 31-year-old divorcee and neophyte candidate. But the stunned disappointment among his constituents suggests Mills might be in deep trouble against a more formidable foe.

Mills' problems at home started with his abortive campaign for President in 1972. This year's linkage of that campaign with shady milk lobby contributions shocked constituents. Although Mills had privately predicted Mrs. Petty could get no more than 15 per cent, a recent poll gave her 40 per cent.

Still, Mills declined to campaign. He sent back all contributions (including $300 from Henry Ford). When a labor official informed him that steelworkers union members at the Alcoa chemical plant in Benton were dropping him for arch-conservative Petty, Mills took no action to woo them back.

Moreover, waiting a week after the Tidal Basin incident before returning home permitted opposition to solidify. His contrite opening speech to the Little Rock Jaycees was effective. But there is doubt whether he can now be silent about the incident any more than Thomas Eagleton, Edward M. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon were able to halt exploration of their more serious difficulties.

The most concise election appraisal was delivered by an aged lawyer encountered by Mills last week in the musty corridors of the Cleburne County courthouse in Heber Springs. "Wilbur," he croaked, "if it weren't this divorced Republican woman but some man in a Democratic primary, I don't know if you'd make it."

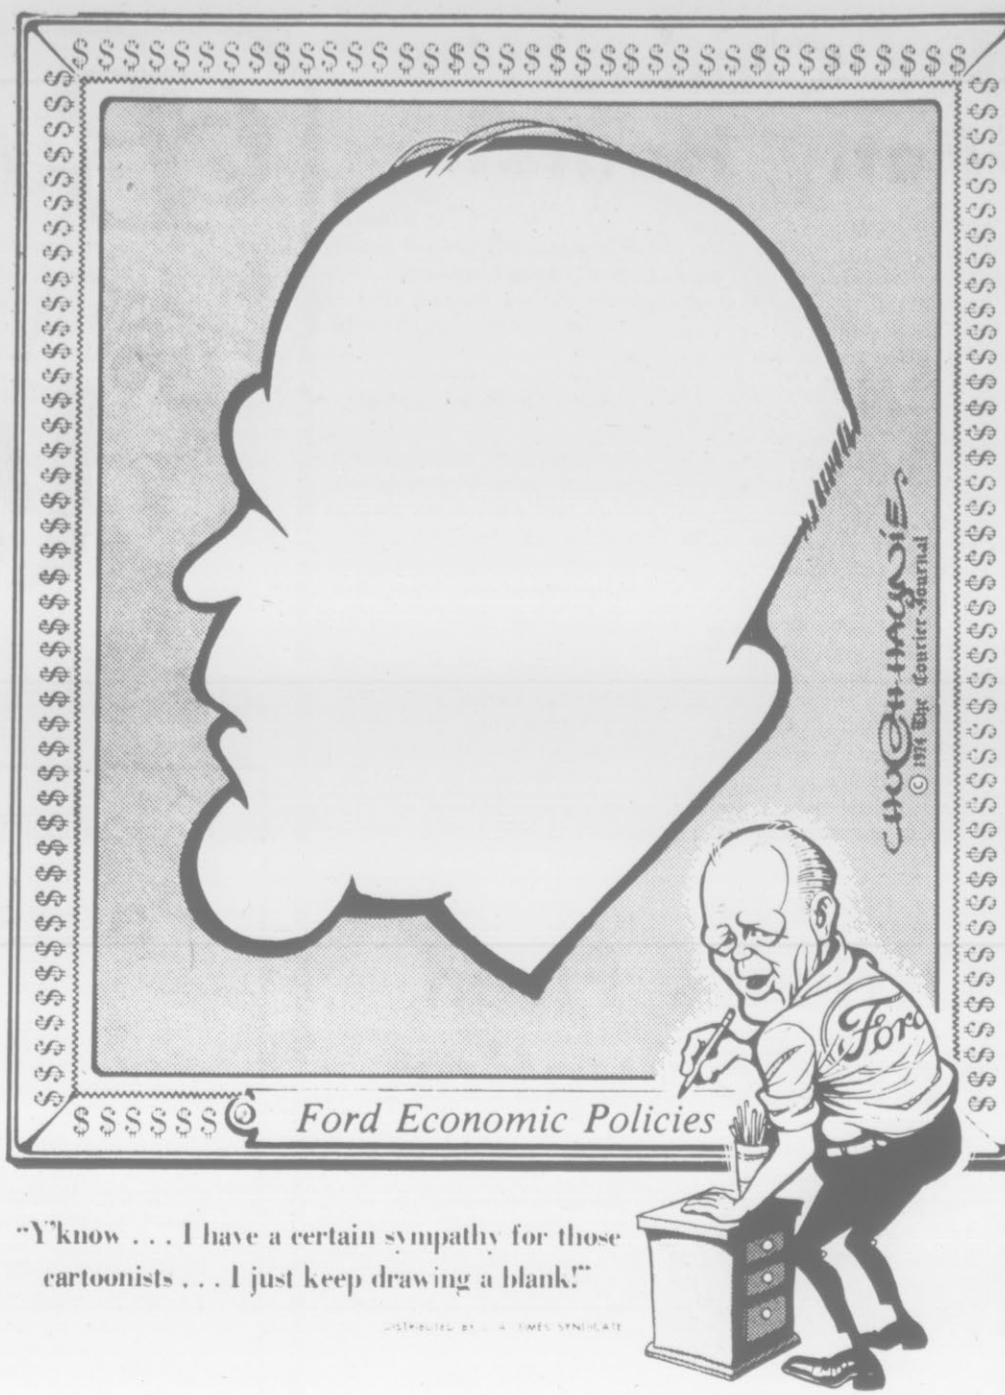

Apart from her sex and marital status, Mrs. Petty seems ill-equipped to challenge Mr. Taxation. While advocating fiscal responsibility to fight inflation, she is proposing several tax-reducing measures. How much would her package lose in revenue? She wasn't sure but told us a reporter for the Wall Street Journal estimated $10 billion. That, however, covered only an increase in personal exemption. The entire package would probably lose the Treasury over $15 billion.

Though an enthusiastic admirer and oratorical imitator of California's Gov. Ronald Reagan, Mrs. Petty courts liberal critics of Mills by attacking him as chief architect of tax loopholes for special interests—big oil, for example. Yet when we questioned her she advocated partial retention of the oil depletion allowance, backed natural gas deregulation and allowed as how she was inclined to decontrol all oil prices.

Mrs. Petty, attractive and articulate though she is, cannot compare with Mills delivering jeremiads on the deteriorating economy and critically analyzing President Ford's economic policy. A cogent, frequently eloquent 35-minute lecture on the economy at a VFW dinner in Heber Springs reminded listeners exactly what Mills intended—that their Congressman is one of the giants of Congress with immense influence over the economy.

October Is For The Poor

WASHINGTON—"October," my friend Sedgewicke told me as we sat on a street curb, "is absolutely the best month for poor people."

"How's that?" I asked him.

"It's just before election time, and all the politicians need us. Everyone promises that if he is elected he's going to do something for the poor. Of course, they don't, but it gives you a real warm feeling to hear everyone talking about you. Do you know that I've shaken hands with three congressional candidates, had my picture taken with an incumbent mayor, been interviewed on television with a guy running for governor, and they told me if I sit here today I might wind up in a TV commercial for a senator up for re-election?"

"Doesn't it get you angry that they use you just for election purposes?"

"I should say not," Sedgewicke replied. "I don't have anything to do, I'll be honest with you, I like the excitement of a political campaign. A lot of poor people resent politicians coming into the neighborhood just before election time with their campaign managers and busloads of press. But I don't feel that way. I figure we're a very important part of the democratic process. If it weren't for us, politicians would have a tough time getting on TV. Have you ever seen a candidate talking to a rich person on television?"

"I must say, Sedgewicke, you have a good attitude. If I were poor, I would be very bitter about the politicians in this country."

"What is there to be bitter about?" Sedgewicke said. "If it weren't for poor people, the rest of the country wouldn't know how well off they were. No matter how bad things get, the politicians can always point to us and say that a majority of the people in this country really have never had it so good. Would you like a piece of my stale roll?"

"No thank you, Sedgewicke."

ART BUCHWALD

"The only thing that disturbs me," he said, "is that there are a lot more poor people now, and we're not as much a novelty as we were in previous elections. They also have us broken down in categories. Before if you were poor—you were just poor. Now you're competing with people who are 'economically disadvantaged,' 'culturally deprived,' 'senior citizens' and 'oppressed minorities.' Just yesterday a guy running for police chief came in the neighborhood, and I was about to shake hands with him for a TV station when his press representative pushed me aside and said they wanted the candidate to be filmed shaking hands with a black. Now I have nothing against blacks, but I don't think they should get priority (Continued on page 5)

Other Editors Say A Strong Navy

(Jacksonville Daily News)

Celebration of the 199th birthday of the U.S. Navy this month has reminded us of the glory and honor earned by our naval forces in two centuries of American history. Navy Day open houses on ships and bases give us an opportunity to see the men and the weapons upon whom we are dependent for the security of our sea frontiers. Interns of the past there is not navy whose history is more inspiring. In terms of the present we have reason to applaud the resolution of the sailors who are determined to do their best with what they have. In terms of the future, however, there is little cause for rejoicing.

A vital obligation of the Navy is protection of sea lanes so that resources vital to the American economy continue to flow from foreign lands. The United States of America is not self-sufficient in many important raw materials—crude oil, as an example. The need for U.S. seapower to protect these trade routes is growing, as the Navy's strength diminishes.

Secretary of Navy J. William Middendorf notes that, in the current fiscal year, the number of active ships in the U.S. fleet will drop below 500, compared to 926 on June 30, 1969. We will have 100 fewer ships on duty in June of 1975 than we had in 1940, a year before Pearl Harbor.

The Russians, meanwhile, are continuing to enlarge and modernize their fleet with echically advanced, sophisticated weaponry and missile systems. The Russians now have 2,100 combat vessels, many of them designed for first-strike purposes. They continue to spend three times more than the United States the austerity demanded of a nation at war with inflation is taking a toll on the American fleet.

Ignoring Pentagon warnings against cutting too deeply, the Congress took nearly $500 million out of the Navy's ship construction and conversion request of $3.5 billion. President Ford also has announced naval spending cuts or project delays of more than $650 million as budget-balancing and anti-inflation steps.

While there certainly are hard decisions to be made in budget-balancing and cooling inflation, the nation cannot afford a continued weakening of its defenses.

Europe Likes U.S. Holdings

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—A survey of European financial institutions that are active investors in U.S. corporate securities suggests they are strongly in favor of adding to their holdings.

The study, by Technimetrics Inc., a financial research organization that supplies data to blue-chip U.S. corporations and institutions, may be somewhat dated, having been completed last April. Up to that time, however, it was found that 83.3 per cent of all European financial institutions with holdings of $100 million to $500 million of U.S. securities planned to make additional investments by 1977.

Most bullish of all were German, British and Belgian institutions, with Swiss, French and Dutch investors following close behind.

The company maintains that its information was gathered from direct inquiries to European money managers rather than from previously published material, or from government statistics.

Most attractive of all industries, the survey found, was oil. Others mentioned prominently were banking, office equipment, oil service, and medicines.

Conspicuous in their absence from the list of preferred industries were utilities, retail outlets and household products.

Holdings of U.S. securities by European financial institutions amount to about $35 billion, according to Technimetrics, with close to $18 billion of that residing in Switzerland, and $6.8 billion in England.

Doubts Nagging Soviets

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The Americans and Russians are preparing for another round of summitry at a time when Moscow's leadership seems nagged by doubts and division over such matters as detente with the United States and international Communist policy.

Lately there have been vague hints not only of differences of opinion but also suggestions of possible important changes to come in the top leadership.

One hint came in a curious oratorical performance earlier this week by Mikhail A. Suslov, an unreconstructed dogmatist of the Stalin school. While supporting the detente policy, the Politburo member's speech could be read as damning it with faint praise.

Another hint was contained in a long article on Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in Sunday's Pravda, displayed in the space customarily used for more than ordinarily weighty party pronouncements.

The Kosygin article disclosed that his "works" have been published. In the U.S.S.R., "works" are speeches and articles collected in book form, a process intended to increase a politician's prestige. Leonid I. Brezhnev, the party chief, has published "works," and in his case it seemed part of a personality cult buildup to rank him with Marxist classics.

However, much has been said, guardedly, in the Soviet press about a need to protect collectivity of leadership. The leaders are supposed to be equal and Brezhnev has palpably been a good deal more equal than the others, but perhaps too much domination may have its drawbacks.

The Pravda article on Kosygin showered generous praise on him for his contributions to the economy and even to foreign policy, a field Brezhnev has pre-empted in the last few years.

This raises speculation that perhaps the time is near for Kosygin's retirement. He was 70 in February and hasn't been in the most robust health.

The Suslov speech dutifully said the detente with the United States should be "irreversible," the obligatory line these days.

40 Years Ago Today

October 25, 1934

The Jersey City Journal says the State of New Jersey plans to prove at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann that the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was deliberately slain in his crib the night of the kidnapping and that the dead body was then carried away.

In yesterday's trial, Dr. John F. Condon identified Hauptmann as "John", a man to whom he paid $50,000 in ransom money for the promise to return the Lindbergh baby. Condon, known as Jafsie, made the identification after a conversation with Hauptmann.

Chapel Hill Coach Carl Snavely is grooming halfback Don Jackson for the hurling assignment in Saturday's Carolina State game. Injuries have kept Jackson out of earlier games. During a game against Georgia, however, he passed to Shaffer for one touchdown and contributed some fine running.

The game will determine who will meet Duke for the Bid Five title.

Strength For Today

LED BY CHRIST

Through all the activities of life run pathways over which Christ would lead every earnest man or woman who will follow. One does not have to enter the ministry or go into some religious calling in order to do the will of God.

In work and play, in school and college, in the duties of the home, in the routine of hospital or office or shop; as a person bends over ledgers or financial statements, gazes into a test tube, directs the destiny of his fellows in industry, or sells good over an area of thousands of square miles—in every such situation God points out pathways in which the person can do His will. There can be a Christian dimension to the most ordinary, routine things of life.

The injunction to do the will of God is not one of sternness, but of joy. There is no freedom save in such a pilgrimage, no happiness but in obedience to the divine will, no victory except in knowing that the divine will has been done.

Hobby Says U.S. Labor Party 'Misrepresented'

RALEIGH (AP)—The president of the State AFL-CIO says the U.S. Labor Party "misrepresented" itself to get on the Nov. 5 ballot in North Carolina and he may seek court action to bar the party from the 1976 ballot.

Wilbur Hobby told a news conference Thursday the Labor Party by "its own admission...is a communist front organization." He accused Cannon Mills of acting in "collusion" with it.

Hobby said the party obtained 10,000 signatures earlier this year to get on the ballot only by posing as a pro-labor group.

Ed Rankin, a Cannon Mills vice president, said the company would have no comment.

The Textile Workers union of America is waging an intensive drive to try to organize the Cannon textile chain. Hobby said the company allowed Labor Party members to go on company property to denounce the union, but union representatives were driven off the company property.

Hobby said the Labor Party "is an enemy of working people in this state and in the nation. It is doing everything possible to undermine and destroy the trade union movement in this state and nation."

Asked to comment, the Labor Party delivered a 300-word statement which did not allude to allegations by Hobby.

On another issue, Hobby denounced a state constitutional amendment on the Nov. 5 ballot that would allow the state and county governments to issue tax-free bonds to finance industrial facilities and antipollution equipment.

"The kind of industry we need in North Carolina can afford to build its own facilities," he said.

Blood Call

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The Red Cross has issued a call for blood from someone who has recently had shingles, an inflammation of the nerves. It is needed for a 15-year-old Gaffney, S.C., girl who underwent a rare bone-marrow transplant last spring, but has come down with shingles because her resistance is low.

The girl was not identified by the Red Cross. She received the bone-marrow transplant in Baltimore after developing a very serious form of anemia.

when it comes to having their pictures taken with a guy running for chief of police. That's what you call poverty discrimination."

As we were talking, we heard a loudspeaker on a car. "Here comes the senator," Sedgewick said as he got up and brushed himself off. "Well, I've got to go to work."

"How do you know he'll stop here?" I asked. "It's in front of a supermarket. All the candidates are doing supermarkets this year."

Sure enough, the car stopped right in front of us, and the candidate got out. "Aren't you going to shake hands with him?" I whispered.

"Not until the TV guys are set up," Sedgewick replied. "Most poor people don't have enough sense to wait until the press get out of their bus. Okay, they're ready now. SENATOR, WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT US POOR PEOPLE?"

Sedgewick shouted. The senator put his arm around Sedgewick and looked into the cameras. "I'm glad you asked me that. As you know, I have always been concerned about the cruel poverty in this great country of ours and . . ."

I started to walk away and Sedgewick, grinning, yelled after me, "Don't forget to watch the 6 o'clock news."

Oil Earnings Still Rising

NEW YORK (AP) — Two more major oil firms have posted hefty profit increases in the third quarter and the first nine months of 1974. Tenneco Co. says its earnings already exceed last year's net income.

Tenneco Chairman N.W. Freeman said in Houston Thursday that "right now, we are in our strongest financial position ever."

In comparisons of the recently ended third quarter with the same period a year ago, Texaco Inc. reported an approximate profit increase of 23 per cent. Atlantic Richfield Co. said sales rose 140.8 per cent.

Analysts say this week's reports from major oil firms of increased earnings reflect higher crude oil prices and strong profit margins for petrochemical sales.

Profits went up during the third quarter for: Conoco, 122 per cent; Sohio, 107 per cent; Phillips Petroleum, 103 per cent; Pennzoil, 80 per cent; Cities Service Co., 75 per cent; and Exxon, 25 per cent.

us. "We can forgive one bad night, one mistake." Thus, in his first hours back home last week, Mills tried to picture the gaudy affair at the Tidal Basin as an aberration, not the pattern of a secret swinger.

Suspicious Arkansans are divided whether to accept this, but not all the skeptics consider Mills' private life as cause for ending his public career. "I feel ashamed and let down by Mr. Mills," a little old saleslady in Little Rock told us. But she does not want a memorable career to end on so shabby a note and will vote to send "Mr. Mills" back to Washington to redeem his reputation. She desperately hopes it will be the old Wilbur Mills returning to full use of his intellect and legislative mastery at a time when the need was never greater.

Drugs Said Involved In Charlotte School Fight

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Racial fighting erupted at a high school Thursday, a few hours before a student delegation from troubled Boston observing school desegregation here was to return home.

Principal H. L. Hawkins said he did not know what caused the fighting at Independence High School. But he added that he was checking a report from a teacher that drugs had been stolen from a student the day before.

Ten students were taken into custody but only six were charged. Classes went on for the rest of the day after order was restored.

The school will operate as usual today, with policemen patrolling the campus to prevent flareups.

It was the first racial fighting this year at Independence. But similar violence broke out last week at Olympic High.

The Olympic incident caused an official of the Boston School Committee to say Charlotte was not a good model for studying desegregation. The committee symbolically recalled the delegation of two white and two black students and their adult chaperone. It told them to come home Thursday.

Sirica Threatens To Halt 'Carnival Atmosphere'

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Exasperated and often angered by bickering and backbiting among lawyers, the judge at the Watergate cover-up trial has threatened to act to prevent "a carnival atmosphere."

"I mean it," U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica said Thursday. "If I don't get the cooperation I want, I'm going to have to do something about it." What that something is, he didn't say. But it could include censure or a contempt of court citation.

Sirica lectured the attorneys as former Nixon counsel John W. Dean III was in his seventh day on the witness stand. Dean was expected to complete his testimony today after some final cross-examination and then return to prison.

As its second witness, the government planned to call E. Howard Hunt Jr., the former CIA agent and White House consultant, who pleaded guilty to being one of the principals in the Watergate break-in.

But pointing out that Hunt cooperated with the investigation "only grudgingly and, we believe, incompletely," the government asked that the court — rather than the prosecution — adopt Hunt as its witness.

In such a case neither the prosecution nor defense vouches for a witness' credibility and both sides can ask leading questions.

The trial of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, all charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice, was in its 19th day today. Dean was the first witness called.

The arguments and objections had increased in frequency the last few days, involving at times the judge and one or another of the defense lawyers, prosecution and defense, and even defense attorney against defense attorney.

"There is finger-pointing in this courtroom, there probably will be more of it," Ehrlichman's attorney, William S. Frates said at one point.

It wasn't long before the statement was borne out. Frates attempted to ask Dean a question based on a tape recording of a meeting he had with former President Richard M. Nixon and Haldeman June 23, 1973.

That was the conversation in which Nixon agreed with Haldeman that the FBI should be steered away from investigating the Watergate break-in, which occurred six days earlier. Nixon made the tape public three days before he announced his resignation.

The jury had not heard the tape and chief prosecutor James F. Neal objected to the questions. He warned that if the questions were permitted he would play the tape.

"We want that tape in here right now," Frates shouted, banging his hands on the judge's bench.

"We do, too," said Neal. Hurriedly, the judge sent the jury from the room.

After arguments among the lawyers, Sirica called a recess. Returning to the court, with the jury still out, he said he wanted to make a statement. He talked about the trial being a serious case and said, "I don't want this case to have what they call a carnival atmosphere to it. We ought to try it like any other case, not just because it gets a lot of publicity all over the world, so to speak."

No Concern Over Voter Turnout

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — Democrat Robert Morgan says he is not worried about the turnout factor in the U.S. Senate campaign.

Morgan, at a Democratic rally Wednesday night, was asked whether a low turnout in the East would help his opponent, Republican William Stevens. He acknowledged that the lack of contested local races in the region might contribute to a low turnout, and that the East was the region where he was strongest.

"But I think we'll do well west of Raleigh, too," he said. Morgan expressed confidence that the Democratic vote pulling operation would work well on election day. The statewide party effort is being run by a Morgan ally, Mayor Pro Tem Les Roark of Shelby.

But Roark, in an interview, indicated that he didn't know how many countries had active get-out-the-vote campaigns. Roark said he hadn't traveled to the East to see whether the county organizations were functioning.

And while Morgan expressed little concern with the turnout, other Democrats were plainly fearful that apathy would enable the Republicans to deny the gains they think are within their grasp.

Congressional candidate Jack Rhine reminded the crowd of John Kennedy's challenge to "Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country."

What they could do now for their country, Rhine said, was, "Vote. Vote. Vote. Get your mother, your father, your sister, your brother, your neighbor, and go to the polls and vote."

"Several times!" shouted someone in the crowd.

Earlier Wednesday, Morgan canceled a factory tour scheduled for the afternoon to go back to his motel and rest. He is nearing the end of a ten-month campaign and he is getting tired, an aide said.

Morgan snapped at several reporters during the day. He told one interviewer, from WBTV in Charlotte, that his station had done a poor job in covering the campaign.

"I've had news conferences and your station refused to cover most of them. It's not a criticism that you didn't cover me. You didn't cover any of the candidates enough," he said. Morgan was asked why, then had he turned down WBTV's invitation to appear on interview shows that included his opponents.

"You only offered 30 minutes and three candidates can't discuss the issues much in 30 minutes," he replied.

Morgan, despite his fatigue, planned to go jogging early this morning before campaigning in Guilford County.

Homecoming At Church Sunday

BLACK JACK—The Black Jack Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church homecoming will be held Sunday.

The homecoming service will be conducted by the pastor, Dr. R. M. Stewart. Lunch will be served on the church grounds at 12:30 followed by a singing program at 2 p.m.

All former members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Sees Disadvantage In Applying Paddle

An East Carolina University psychologist has warned of disadvantages of physical punishment as a means of correcting misbehavior.

Dr. Robert S. Tacker discussed the positive approach in the classroom which allows the teacher to strengthen appropriate behavior rather than have to deal with inappropriate behavior. He spoke at District 14, N. C. Education Association in Goldsboro on the subject "A Disciplinary Alternative to the Paddle."

"A child who is highly motivated to learn and busy at it does not have time to get into much mischief," he said. "When he does, physical punishment such as paddling should be avoided because while a good paddling suppresses some misbehaviors, it also may strengthen other misbehaviors in the long run."

"We often forget that punishment may increase the punished behavior rather than reduce it."

Dr. Tacker recommended "preventive discipline" in the form of extrinsic sources of motivation for appropriate achievement.

Among these devices recommended by Dr. Tacker were teaching games, social approval, tangible rewards, free time, and individual recognition.

Homecoming At Church Sunday

The Church of God of Prophecy will observe homecoming Sunday. The pastor, Robert T. Dickerson, will be the speaker for the morning service.

Dinner will be served at 1:15 p.m. A special singing program has been scheduled to begin at 2:30 and will feature different groups.

Lutherans To Observe 'Reformation Sunday'

Sermons on the subjects, "Reformation — Then" and "Reformation — Now," will highlight the observance of Reformation Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church.

The spark that ignited the Protestant Reformation of the 16th century was publication of the Ninety-Five Theses by Dr. Martin Luther, an Augustinian monk and professor of the New Testament, at the University of Wittenberg, Saxony, on Oct. 31, 1517.

Churches in the Protestant tradition observe Reformation Sunday on the Sunday preceding October 31 each year.

Pulpit speaker for both services at Our Redeemer Lutheran will be Dr. Bodo Nischan, a scholar and specialist in Reformation History. As the topics indicate, he will compare and contrast the effect and meaning of the Reformation in the setting of the 16th century and that upon Christians worldwide today.

Dr. Nischan is an Assistant Professor of History at East Carolina University. A communicant member of the Our Redeemer Lutheran congregation, he is a native of Berlin, Germany. He holds degrees from Yale University, from Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia and the Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

The interested public is invited to attend both special Reformation Sunday services.

The Rev. R. Graham Nahouse is pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, located at 1801 S. Elm Street, Greenville.

Officials Block Distribution

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP)—Officials of Davidson College are blocking distribution of the 1974 yearbook because it contains two pictures of male streakers on campus.

It also contains two words the officials consider objectionable. The officials say they would allow the 1,225 copies of "Quips and Cranks" to be distributed if the objectionable material were removed.

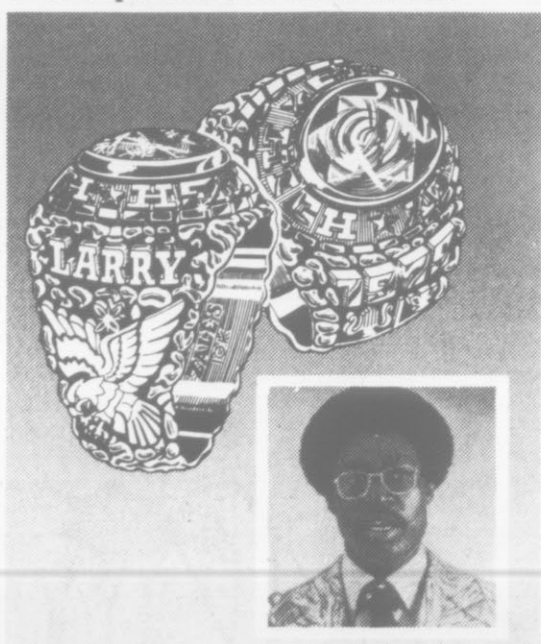

The students offered to substitute asterisks for the words and cover the genitals of the streakers, but officials would not agree.

The students have appealed to the board of trustees.

Davidson is a liberal arts college of 1,000 students. It admitted its first girl students last year.

Hallowe'en today means children flocking from door to door to enjoy the bounty of neighborliness. But in the Dark Ages this night was regarded with dread and apprehension.

Warmth, friendship, kindness, generosity inspired by our religious faith have replaced superstition. Believing in the Love of God man has nothing to fear.

Your children will remember for years the fun of Hallowe'en. Are you making sure they are learning the fundamental spiritual truths that have turned yesterday's fear into today's faith?

Once a year we celebrate the death of superstition. Every Sunday we celebrate the birth of Believing.

Some Candidates Returned AMA Political Money

Edmisten Looks For A 'Comfortable Margin'

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—Rufus Edmisten, Democratic nominee for attorney general, said Thursday he will win the Nov. 5 election "by a comfortable margin."

Campaigning in western North Carolina, Edmisten said he believes he will carry the eastern and western portions of the state with the Piedmont still being uncertain. "Wherever (Democratic Senate candidate) Robert Morgan does well, I'm going to do well," he said.

Edmisten's Republican opponent Atty. Gen. James Carson earlier this week predicted his own victory. Carson said Edmisten will carry the traditionally Democratic eastern North Carolina, agreed that the Piedmont is uncertain, but predicted a GOP victory in the western counties.

Edmisten said he will take the western counties because the people there "appreciate" his background of growing up on a farm. "I know one end of a horse from the other and they like that," he said.

Between stops in Hickory, Newton and Shelby Thursday, Edmisten said he has filed North Carolina income tax forms for the past 11 years. He said he will announce how much back tax he must pay after his attorney and the state Department of Revenue reach an agreement.

"They (the Revenue Department) probably will try to stick me with thousands and thousands of dollars in back taxes, penalties and interest," he said, adding that his computations don't show he owes "anywhere near that much."

The Democrat said he is going back 11 years even though the law would only require the past three years.

During a debate in Chapel Hill last month, Edmisten admitted he failed to file North Carolina tax returns during the years he worked in Washington for retiring Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C. He lived in the Washington suburb of Alexandria, Va., and paid income taxes in that state though he still voted and claimed residency in North Carolina.

Thursday's campaign effort was capped by a 10th congressional district rally in Shelby where he appeared with Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, Morgan and a number of district candidates.

Morgan and several other speakers promoted Edmisten's candidacy with praise for the 33-year-old Boone native.

At that event and at a $10-a-plate lunch in his honor, Edmisten emphasized his association with Ervin and said he's "not anybody's hand-picked man," referring to Morgan being appointed by Gov. Jim Holshouser.

At every event, Edmisten's spirits were high as he met hundreds of supporters. The large turnouts at events where he was the featured guest boosted his confidence of winning the election.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 11 congressional candidates have returned contributions from the American Medical Association's political organization because they believe voters are skeptical of politicians who take campaign money from special interest groups.

"The special interest groups have turned so many people off the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence-peddling the American people have indictated they will not tolerate."

The returned contributions were disclosed in campaign finance records filed with the House of Representatives by the AMA's political organizations.

Crane returned a $1,000 contribution.

Nine of the candidates rejecting the funds are incumbents. Better known than their challengers, they are generally in more secure financial and political positions and are free to pick and choose among contributions.

The money is distributed by the American Medical Political Action Committee, one of the richest special interest groups supporting political campaigns.

A spokesman said the group has contributed to at least 220 Senate and House candidates this year and will give money to more campaigns before the Nov. 5 election.

Analyzing campaign funding reports, Common Cause said the AMA group had contributed $832,589 to various candidates as of Sept. 1.

David Baldwin, a spokesman for the AMA, said the political action committee built up its campaign war chest with contributions averaging $25 to $30. The largest single offering was $125, he said.

Millicent Fenwick, the Republican candidate for the seat being vacated by Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., rejected the $2,500 the AMA political arm sent to her.

Most of the candidates who rejected the money from the largest professional medical organization had announced earlier in their campaigns that they would refuse money from special interest groups or contributions over a certain amount.

But Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., R-N.Y., returned the $1,000 sent to his campaign, fearing that voters in his upstate New York district might think the AMA influenced his position on pending national health insurance legislation. The contribution was the largest Fish received, an aide said.

refused a $1,000 contribution because he is not accepting any special interest group money, but his executive assistant, Harry Clark, conceded that an incumbent is in a better position to be selective.

The other candidates who returned funds are Rep. Gilbert Gude, R-Md., $1,000; Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex., $4,000; Rep. William J. Randall, D-Mo., amount unavailable; Rep. David C. Treen, R-La., amount unavailable; Rep. Bo Ginn, D-Ga., amount unavailable; Clifford W. Taylor, a Michigan Republican running for a vacated seat, amount unavailable; and Rep. Abraham Kazen, D-Tex., amount unavailable.

Randall, Taylor, Treen and Ginn accepted a portion of the contributions, rejecting the amount beyond limits they set on campaign receipts, the AMA group said.

Sugar Profit Has Tripled

NEW YORK (AP) — Amstar Corp., the nation's largest manufacturer of sugar and sugar products, says higher selling prices helped the firm more than triple its third-quarter profits over last year.

The company said Thursday that it earned $16.71 million, or $4.26 a share, during the quarter just ended. That is more than three times the $5.10 million, or $1.20 a share, it earned a year earlier.

Quarterly sales more than doubled to $544.37 million, against $221.53 million in 1973.

Amstar was not the only sugar company this week to announce sharp profit gains from the leaping price of sugar. On Wednesday, Great Western United Corp. reported a 1,200 per cent jump in its after-tax profits during the four-month period that ended Sept. 30.

Amstar President Robert T. Quittmeyer defended price hikes in refined sugar that the consumer will be paying.

He said the cost of raw cane has risen 250 per cent this year to 40 cents a pound from 12 cents a pound.

To Try Five In Bombing

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)—Five residents of Charlotte have been bound over for trial on a charge of dynamiting the car of an SBI agent who was an undercover narcotics investigator.

The agent, Albert Stout, 33, lost a leg and suffered other injuries when the car blew up as he tried to start it on Sept. 10. The key witness for the state at the hearing Thursday was another agent for the State Bureau of Investigation, Edward L. Sneed.

He testified that one of the five defendants, Jule Hutton, 30, had been working with Stout as a paid informer. The agent quoted Hutton as saying that when the others found out about this, they forced him at gunpoint to accompany them to Salisbury and point out Stout's car, in which a bomb was then planted.

Sneed said that Hutton is in federal protective custody, and will be a prosecution witness when the cases come to trial.

Other defendants are Jeanette Martha Greer, 32; James Otis Blackmon, 24; Wilbur James Sanders, 35, and Jack Sellers, 42.

After the arrest of the four others, Sellers was declared an outlaw on Sept. 16. He gave himself up two days later.

Inmate Stabbed In Jail Break

ROXBORO, N.C. (AP)—An inmate of the Person County Jail was stabbed when he came to the assistance of a jailer during an attempted jail break Thursday night.

Sheriff's Investigator Wallace Tingen said John Ed Gentry was stabbed in the back and chest when two brothers, Harold and George Stone, overpowered jailer Luther Smart.

Tingen said another inmate, Stanley Solomon, walked out of his cell and reported the break over police radio. Roxboro police officers captured the Stone brothers in the basement of the Person County Courthouse.

Tingen said Gentry was hospitalized overnight but was not seriously hurt.

The mayor has spearheaded an investigation into alleged wrongdoings in the police department. The city council recently concluded a hearing on the department, and said it would make recommendations later.

Famville Mart Prices Weaken

FARMVILLE—Prices on the Farmville Tobacco Market yesterday were slightly weaker than on the previous sale day.

Super-Bomber To Be Unveiled Saturday; Future Uncertain

By RICHARD SALTUS
Associated Press Writer
PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The prototype of the newest U.S. bomber, the swing-wing B1, rolls out amid ceremonies and speech-making Saturday. But the plane may be sidelined because of soaring costs.

Advocates say the B1 will be superfast and hard to destroy and that armed with a potent load of missiles it will help deter World War III. Critics say it will be a flying dinosaur not worth its ever-rising price tag.

The long-nosed test plane, coated with a special white paint to reflect nuclear radiation and powered by four jet engines tucked close to its fuselage, will emerge Saturday from a hangar at the Rockwell International plant here 50 miles north of Los Angeles.

MONCK'S CORNER, S.C.—A preliminary autopsy report on the death of Gino Lucarelli, a witness in a conspiracy and accessory to murder trial in Pitt County Superior Court in Greenville, N.C. last week, indicates the 45-year-old pilot died as the result of a reaction between alcohol and some drug.

Sidney Wrenn, an agent for the State Law Enforcement Division (SLED) in South Carolina said the preliminary findings indicate that Lucarelli's heart stopped due to the mixture of "liquor and codiene. . . or some type of drugs."

The SLED agent said Lucarelli had been taking cough syrup and other drugs before his death October 20. Some combination of liquor and drugs

"just didn't match up," he explained. He noted that some cough syrups contain codiene.

Investigation of the death is continuing, however, the officer said, pending the final autopsy report.

Lucarelli testified in Greenville on October 18 in the trials of Connie Hardee Branch and Roy Lee Sullivan. Sullivan and Branch were on trial on the conspiracy and accessory to murder charges in the death last March of Mrs. Branch's husband, Lynwood Branch.

Lucarelli returned to his Moncks Corner home October 19 and was found dead during the late afternoon of October 20.

Cantrell Adds To Heel Offense

By the Associated Press

Sophomore center Mark Cantrell of North Carolina says that his roommate, star left guard Ken Huff, has helped him off the field as well as on it.

"We talk a lot in our room about certain techniques and plays," says Cantrell. He gives me a lot of tips and tells me how to correct some of the things I may be doing that are wrong."

Cantrell has been doing few things wrong in recent weeks. The 6-foot-3, 235 pounder from Atlanta has been improving with every game. Three weeks ago, he whipped Pittsburgh's star defensive guard Burley, and his play has picked up even more since then.

"That game certainly did a lot for my confidence," Mark said. "Burley is a fine player, but I just had a good day against him. And, believe me, it doesn't hurt to know that the man playing next to you is Ken Huff."

North Carolina, fresh from a 33-14 upset of North Carolina State, is preparing to play Saturday night at South Carolina.

South Carolina, after five losses, won its first game of the season last week, 10-7 over Mississippi. North Carolina coach Bill Dooley says that South Carolina runs the veer attack very well. He adds that the Gamecocks have an outstanding quarterback in Jeff Grantz and a great runner in halfback Jay Lynn Hodgins.

Other football games Saturday for Atlantic Coast Conference teams will be N.C. State at Maryland, Duke at Florida, Virginia at Wake Forest and Clemson at Tennessee.

Maryland will match its league-leading defense against the State Wolfpack's top offense in the conference. Maryland has won all three conference games. State has won four in the league while losing to North Carolina. The game will go far toward determining whether Maryland, the preseason favorite, will dethrone N.C. State as the league champion.

Both teams are ranked nationally. Maryland No. 15 on a 4-2 overall record and N. C. State 17th at 6-1.

In Florida, Duke will be meeting a team that is ranked No. 12 and has lost only one of six games this season. Florida has a powerful ground attack that has averaged 225 yards rushing a game. The Gators also have scored six touchdowns through the air.

Their freshman running back, Tony Green, is averaging 7.1 yards a carry. And fullback Jim DuBose had ground out 254 yards and two touchdowns on 59 carries.

The Duke Blue Devils, 4-2, had won four in a row before they were upset 17-13 by Clemson last week.

The Clemson Tigers have a 3-3 record, but all victories have been at home and losses on the road. It's no consolation that they will be playing on the road against Tennessee. However, the Vols' 2-3-1 midseason mark is the worst for them since 1963, when they lost four of their first five starts.

It will be Homecoming as well as Brian Piccolo Day for Wake Forest in its game against Virginia. Piccolo is a Wake Forest and pro player who died of cancer.

"All the folks who played with Piccolo will be honored, and I don't have to tell you it will be a very emotional football game," says Virginia coach Sonny Randle.

Wake Forest has lost all six games this year, the last four by shutouts. It also lost the last two of last year for an eight-game losing streak. Virginia is 2-4 and, like Wake Forest, hasn't won a league game this season.

During the history of Ficklen Stadium, there have been some exciting quarterbacks for the crowds to watch and admire. They include such talked of ones as Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech, Buster O'Brien of Richmond, Gordon Slade of Davidson, along with such Pirates as Carl Summerell, and single wing tailback Bill Cline.

But Saturday night's 7:30 game between the Pirates and the University of Dayton, may bring one of the best "pure drop-back quarterbacks" the Eastern North Carolina fans have ever seen according to Coach Pat Dye.

Tom Vosberg of Dayton has put the ball into the air. Right now, he leads the nation in yards passing. He's in the top 10 in completions per game, and in the top 20 in total offense.

Last week, he hit 29 of 47 for 318 yards, new school records. And the 29 completions are a major college national high for this year.

RED OAK—Rose High School's junior varsity rallied from a 14-6 deficit at halftime to take an 18-14 victory over Northern Nash last night.

The victory was the fourth in six starts for the Rampant Cubs, and their second against Division I competition.

Rose scored first in the game, getting a touchdown in the first period. That came when Mike Brown hit Ocalus Randolph with a 15-yard scoring pass.

But Northern Nash came back in the second period to grab the lead. They scored on a 30-yard pass to take a 7-6 lead, then got their second touchdown on a freak play.

On the kickoff following the first score, the ball rolled untouched to the three yard line, where a Northern Nash player scooped it up and carried it into the end zone. Following the PAT, Northern had a 14-6 lead.

Rose came back with two third quarter scores, however, to claim the win. The first touchdown came when Brown passed 10 yards to Derek Brewington. The second came on a four-yard run by Leonard Williams giving Rose their 18-14 lead that they held onto for the victory.

The Rampant Cubs travel to Wilson next Friday for their next outing.

Eagles, Blue Win

The Eagles and the Blue team took victories in yesterday's Recreation Department football.

The Eagles gained a 6-0 victory over the Dolphins in flag football. The lone score came in the first period when Duane Fisher scored on a five-yard run.

Defensive standouts for the Dolphins included Leroy Harris, who intercepted a pass, and Demarris Edwards. Top defenders for the Eagles were Emmett Walsh and Robert Saied.

In the tackle program, the Blue took a 14-0 victory over the Gold. The Blue got their first touchdown in the opening period when Joey Mattheis scored on a six-yard run after the Blue team had blocked a punt. William Barrett got the blocked kick.

In the third period, Reggie Selby scored on an 11-yard run. This score was also set up when Jeff Ebron blocked a punt and Lance Cain recovered the ball. Rufus Sutton got the two-point PAT.

Overall, Vosberg has hit on 97 of 202 for 1,399 yards and 11 touchdowns. He's had 16 picked off however, and that may prove to be his Achilles' heel.

"They don't run very much," ECU assistant Ben Grieb said. "They like to flood one side of the field and pass into it. They'll have three people going into one side, then send another down the other side, and have another for a safety valve in the backfield."

Grieb added that the Flyers have a fine corps of receivers. "They all have good speed, but none of them have super-speed. They line up in a pro set and go."

While Vosberg is among the national leaders, none of his receivers are—showing the depth of his corps. Frank McCallion, the tight end has 16 receptions for 187 yards and three scores. Kelvin Kirk the flanker, has 16 for 324 yards and four scores. Jim Snow, the split end also has 16 for 278 and two scores. Two others, running back Kevin Conley (14-126-0) and Doug Kastilahn, a split end (15-219-1) have caught more than 10 passes so far.

"Vosberg just drops back and hits nice, safe patterns. But he can throw the bomb and is an outstanding passer. He's one of the best if not the best that Coach Dye and I have ever seen."

Grieb and Dye both agreed that East Carolina's ability to rush the passer would be a key factor in the game. "If we can't get to him, we're definitely in trouble," Dye said.

Statistics show, however, that he's been thrown for 225 yards in losses in seven games, so his protection hasn't been perfect. "Only trouble is, we haven't done a real good job of getting to the passer this year," Dye said.

Dayton also is dangerous in the kickoff return game, bringing back three for scores.

Dayton does run the ball occasionally, and moved it well against Southern Illinois, one of the Pirate opponents. (ECU won, 17-16, on late scores.) Walt Wingard is the leading rusher, picking up 445 yards in 111 carries. Conley with 204 in 59 lugs, is the only other one with more than 100.

Defensively, Dayton hasn't been all that bad, but they've made mistakes that have cost them five losses in their seven starts. They opened strong, beating Drake and Eastern Kentucky, then lost to Bowling Green, Central Michigan, Southern Illinois, Western Kentucky and Toledo.

"They have some good people in safety Roy Gordon, linebacker, Ron Dundala and nose guard Bill Rayburg," Grieb said.

"We are going to have to keep the ball away from them," he added. "They are very explosive and can score 21 points in three plays. We've got to control the ball and put points on the board at the same time. I just can't imagine us winning with a score like 10-0. They are going to get some scores."

One thing that worries Dye is the injuries the Pirates have piled up trying to regain some of their pride following the 23-21 loss last week to Appalachian State—their first Southern Conference loss in three years and 17 games. "We won't know until kickoff time about some of them," he said.

They include such people as Bobby Myrick (hip), Mike Weaver (bruises), Ricky Bennett (knee), Buddy Lowery (ankle) and—late Thursday—Don Schink, who entered the infirmary with a fever. Several others are definitely out, including Larry Lundy, Steve Mulder and Thomas Slade.

"We're going to have to play with the ones we've got. If we play like we did at the first of the year, it may hurt us some. But if we play like we did the last two games, and especially like we did last week, we'll get the hell beat out of us," Dye said.

He compared Vosberg's ability to a skilled surgeon with a razor sharp scalpel. "We haven't done a good job of getting to the passer, and we've worked hard on it this week. We're going to have to be reckless in the secondary or we'll get killed."

How the Pirates are going to react following their two poor performances—against Furman and Appalachian—remains to be seen. "I hope we've got something done in getting back to being a football team," Dye said. "We have had some great individual performances during the past few weeks, but we don't have that much overall talent. For us, it takes 11 people out there playing together. We have to win on the intangibles."

The game is the final non-conference one for the Pirates. They close out their home season next Saturday with The Citadel, then play road games with Richmond, William & Mary and VMI.

Rigsby Sets Pirate Pace

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The 1974 cross-country season for East Carolina University hasn't been much to brag about for Coach Bill Carson. But there has been one bright spot this year—the running of senior Ed Rigsby.

In his last two races, Rigsby did an outstanding job for the Pirates. He was the individual winner against Appalachian State establishing a new course record over the ECU raceway. Then, against Mt. St. Mary's last weekend, he ran, in his own description to Coach Carson afterwards "as hard as I ever ran before."

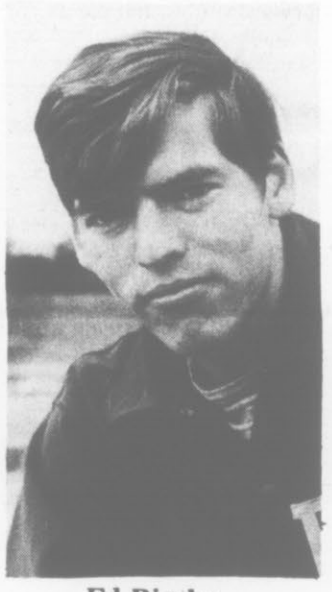

Hopefully, as he goes through his senior year, Rigsby will get the one thing that eluded him last year—a berth in the national cross-country meet.

He missed it last year on a technicality. He had not been "entered" in the nationals. "I honestly didn't think he could make it," Carson admitted afterwards. "But he qualified last year by finishing 33rd out of 350 runners in the regionals. But, despite all our efforts, we were unable to get him into the field."

That was perhaps the lowest point of Rigsby's career, one which has been marked by injury and illness—and for this season, Rigsby is hesitant to run the indoor season this year.

"Every time I've tried to run both indoors and outdoors, something has happened to me," he said. His sophomore year, he got an infection in his first indoor meet, and missed both the winter and spring season too. Then, last year, he finished third in the indoor 3-mile, setting a school record in the process. But just days later, he was injured and missed the spring. "I want to run outdoors this year, so I'd like to skip the indoor season. But Coach Carson wants me to run indoors."

Rigsby got interested in track while his father, now retired from the Armed Services, was in New Mexico. "I was playing baseball at the time, and I enjoyed the running we did to get into condition. I tried out for the track team in the eighth grade, but they were only interested in sprinters, and I just couldn't do that. But we moved to New York for my freshman year in high school, and I got on a team there."

That perhaps was the most fortunate move in Rigsby's career. He came under the coaching of Dick Douglas, and he served as Ed's inspiration from then on.

"If it wasn't for him, I probably would have dropped track," he said. "But he taught me everything I needed to know. How to train, how to take care of my self, how to recover when I got hurt—just everything. He was a distance runner, too, and he would run with us. He'd tell us how, when and where it was going to hurt, and how we'd have to reach down and get that something extra."

Douglas' spirit remained with Rigsby when his family moved on to Weldon, N.C., when he was a junior. "We didn't have a track team when I got there, but we formed one and I ran there for two years. We really didn't have a track coach, just a teacher who was willing to take over."

During his high school career,

Rigsby never lost a mile or two mile race below state competition. "I tied for the sectional title in New York, and won two North Carolina regionals, finishing second in the state."

He didn't decide on going to college until late. "It was about two weeks before school started that I really decided to go," he said. It came down to State or East Carolina. "State offered me a loan, but East Carolina offered me a partial scholarship, and some work-aid, and I decided on that."

The distance races are really where Rigsby has been the best for the Pirates. "He's the finest cross-country runner we've ever had at East Carolina," Carson says. "His only drawback is a real lack of speed when he gets into a head-to-head race to the wire. He tries to get out front and get a good lead about two or three miles into the race—then hold off their charges. He's got plenty of heart, and he wins some on this."

Because of this, Ed too has twice made All-Conference and All-State selections. This year, he's shooting for the third time in each, and Carson feels he has a good chance at it. "He's a good bet for the top five in both the conference meet and the state meet. That would make him both All-Conference and All-State."

"I want to finish fourth. I think I can," Ed said of the state meet. "And I want to get qualified for the nationals again. I think everything is set if I do qualify. I'm entered, but there is always the fear in the back of my mind that something will happen. It worries me. I was very dejected last year when I qualified but didn't get to go. I really want to this year."

While Rigsby is having good success, the rest of the team is doing less well—the Bucs haven't won a meet this year. "I really think Coach Carson is getting an injustice," he said. "He's really a sprint man. He can do a great job with the sprinters, but distance men have to train differently. And you have to have been a distance runner to know," he said, recalling Douglas. "East Carolina needs an assistant coach for the distance men—someone who has run distances, who can tell them about it—from experience. Don't misunderstand, Coach Carson does a good job, but it takes someone who has really experienced it to really teach you."

Rampants, Bucs Seen As Winners

While there weren't a lot of differences in last week's panel selections, the pack is beginning to tighten up a little more as time goes by.

Tom Baines continues to hold the lead, but his margin is shrinking. Now at 52-20 for the year, he's cruising along with a three-game lead over George Holland, second at 49-23.

But this writer is inching up slowly, and is just one back of Holland now at 48-24.

Diane Allen, who had the best record last week, 9-3, has moved past Jack Whichard into fourth place with a 45-27 mark, while Jack is now 44-28 for the year. Joe Jenkins continues to bring up the rest, 42-30, and is hopeful of overtaking Whichard this week.

There are a few games this week where there be disagreement as to whom the winner is going to be, but more on that later.

In the high school ranks, we missed another last week, giving us a 5-1 mark for the column. That brings the overall record to 40-4 for the season, a 90.9 percentage.

This week we'd like to get a perfect mark, but that's going to be hard to do.

One of the principal reasons for this is the first game we have to make a decision on—Farmville Central at Greene Central. Both teams have lost only once in the conference—to stronghorse Southern Wayne. Comparing scores is little help because their other common opponents have done better with some and poorer with others. It may come down to a few key breaks. A toss-up we feel, this game will probably decide second place. We'll go with Farmville however.

Ayden-Grifton goes to Southern Nash for another Eastern Carolina Conference game. The Chargers have been hit hard by injuries, and aren't the team that started the year. Southern has shown some improvement, and they have the home field advantage. Southern Nash to come away with the win here.

in a row, goes up to North Pitt, playing the Panthers, who got out of the ECC cellar last time out. The Vikings seem to have everything in order now, and could sprint home from here. Conley must be the choice in this one.

In the Eastern Plains league, South Edgecombe goes to Robersonville. The Eagles have been flying high since they got into their own league, and this game should prove to be no exception. Robersonville to have another good night.

Edenton will be at Williamston, where the Tigers have suddenly fallen from an unbeaten team to a team with a two-game losing streak. Edenton has a perfect 7-0 record, and unfortunately for the Tigers, it's going to be 8-0 come late Friday.

Turning to our panel's picks, Rose High School will be entertaining Northern Nash in a key Division I game. Both teams have played well this year, and it should be a hard contest. The panel isn't quite unanimous, however, with a 5-1 ratio for the Rampants.

Then, East Carolina will be trying to get itself in gear after being upset by Appalachian State last weekend. The Bucs host pass-minded Dayton in what could be a toughie, despite Dayton's record. The panel has confidence in the Bucs, however, and give them a 6-0 nod.

The consensus in other games: Virginia Tech over Richmond; Tennessee over Clemson; Maryland over N.C. State; Virginia over Wake Forest; Appalachian and The Citadel, a toss-up; Furman over Wofford; William & Mary over VMI; Florida over Duke; Carolina over South Carolina; and California over UCLA.

Seek To Continue Wins

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
AP Sports Writer

Virginia Military Coach Bob Thalman says "we'll hope to control the ball and we'll have to be aggressive on defense" as his Keydets seek to protect their Southern Conference football lead at home Saturday against William and Mary's Indians.

"We are in a must-win situation," says Coach Jim Brakefield of Appalachian State as his Mountaineers try to maintain their grip on second place at The Citadel against the Bulldogs.

Should there be a slip by either the Keydets, 3-0 in the conference and 4-2 over-all, or the Mountaineers, 2-0 and 4-3, three teams with 1-1 league records will be back in the race, including William and Mary, 3-4 against all opposition.

The other two are Richmond's Spiders, 3-2 over-all, who play at nonleague Virginia Tech against the Gobblers, 1-5, and East Carolina's two-time champion Pirates, 4-2, who play host in the only night game to the nonleague Dayton Flyers, 2-5.

Other afternoon nonleague action has Furman's Paladins, 3-3, playing host to Wofford's Terriers and Davidson's Wildcats, 0-4, at home against Hampden-Sydney's Tigers, 5-1 and winners of five in a row.

"When East Carolina lost last weekend" by 23-21 to Appalachian, "it gave us a rebirth," says William and Mary Coach Jim Root. "Before that, we had just held onto a lot of hope. Now we have an opportunity to do something about our chances."

Root, saying the Indians are "in for a street brawl," says the Keydets' narrow 15-14 defeat last week at Southern Mississippi "convinced our kids that VMI is as good as we've been telling them they were. They know they can win now."

The Indians will be led as usual by quarterback Bill Deery, second in the conference in total offense with 157.5 yards per game and in rushing with 91.9 yards per game.

VMI's only individual high in the statistics is Ronnie Norman, third in rushing with 82.2 yards per game, but Root says, "This VMI team is more consistent and more patient than any I've seen up there. They'll lull you to sleep, then bang! They break one on you . . ."

The Keydets haven't beaten William and Mary since 1963, but Thalman says, "We don't plan any major changes in our game. We won't be able to afford any poor tackling."

Thalman says the Indians "have a good, consistent running game, and that's characteristic of a good football team. Deery is a dangerous runner. We have a lot of respect for his quickness and his passing."

"They have one of the top offensive lines in the conference and have good team speed," says Brakefield of The Citadel.

"They are a ball control team and we expect our game with them to be a rough one. We must win."

The Citadel Coach Bobby Ross says, "Some of the teams left on our schedule are better than us, but we feel like the bad bounces are behind us. The ball's going to start bouncing our way—it's gotta."

Ross said the victory over East Carolina, snapping the Pirates' 16-game winning streak in the conference, "has to give Appalachian confidence." He says it wasn't a fluke, calling the Mountaineers "a darned good football team."

What Appalachian has to do is stop the Bulldogs' Andrew Johnson, the No. 2 rusher in the nation with an average of 139.8 yards per game.

Quarterback Harry Knight, the conference leader in total offense with 182.2 yards per game and in passing with 64 completions for 917 yards and seven touchdowns, will try to get Richmond back on the winning track after two straight defeats.

Knight "throws the ball like an arrow. He's a fine prospect, and he's probably as good or better a thrower than Virginia's Scott Gardner," who passed for two touchdowns in last week's 28-27 Virginia victory over the Gobblers, says the Tech scouting report.

The Spiders were idle last week while Tech was playing Virginia, and the Tech report says, "They've had an extra week to put extra work into a plan for Virginia Tech."

Richmond's problem is stopping the Tech ground game led by Phil Rogers with 459 yards, Roscoe Coles with 287, George Heath with 224 and Bruce Arians with 181. Arians also has hit on 28 passes with Ricky Scales having caught 16.

"One of these days the ball is going to start bouncing our way," says Tech Coach Jimmy Sharpe.

A letdown after a last-minute 15-12 loss to East Carolina has been blamed by Furman coaches for last week's unexpected defeat at previously winless East Tennessee. The Paladins, 2-2 in league play, still have an outside shot at the title if all the leaders mess up.

Of Dayton, East Carolina Coach Pat Dye calls the Flyers "a question mark. They must have a fine offense because they're scoring a lot of points, but a lot of points have been scored on them."

Duke Women Top Pirates

Duke University, led by national ranked Cindy Johnson, swept to an 8-1 victory over the East Carolina women's tennis team yesterday.

The loss was only the second for the Pirates women this year. They are now 6-2 for the season.

Miss Johnson, ranked 20th nationally, started the Blue Devil landslide, which swept the doubles, and took all but the number six singles.

East Carolina's next outing will be Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. when they play host to St. Mary's.

Summary:
Cindy Johnson (D) defeated Cynthia Averett, 6-1, 6-0.

Patty Mays (D) defeated Kathy Portwood, 6-3, 6-0.

New Feature For Clash

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Until late Tuesday, this Sunday's clash between Dallas and the New York Giants looked as if it would just be another step along the National Football League comeback trail for the Cowboys. Now . . .

Craig Morton, the Cowboys' dissatisfied second-string quarterback, is a Giant. And if there was ever a time for revenge, this Sunday's contest would appear to be it.

Three other NFL teams came up with new quarterbacks when the trading deadline passed Tuesday. San Francisco obtained Norm Snead from the Giants. Green Bay picked up John Hadl from the Los Angeles Rams and Detroit grabbed Joe Reed from the San Francisco 49ers.

Besides the Cowboys-Giants collision, other National Conference games on tap Sunday will send the Washington Redskins against undefeated St. Louis. Philadelphia takes on New Orleans and Green Bay is at Detroit.

American Conference clashes are Kansas City at San Diego.

Denver at Cleveland, Houston at Cincinnati and Baltimore at Miami.

In interconference play, New England travels to Minnesota. Chicago is at Buffalo, Oakland clashes with Bay area rival San Francisco and Los Angeles meets the New York Jets.

Monday's game will pit the Atlanta Falcons against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

With the quarterback shuffle in full swing, this week's NFL collisions take on an entirely new look. Take the Green Bay-Detroit battle, for example.

Hadl, who agreed to terms Thursday, might be activated by Green Bay in time for the contest. If not, Jack Concannon will call the signals and will have tempting targets in tight end Rich McGeorge, wide receiver Jon Staggers and running backs John Brockington and McArthur Lane.

Detroit also has a new quarterback in Reed, lately of San Francisco. But Reed may not see action this week since the Lions have Bill Munson, who led them over Minnesota last week.

The New England-Minnesota tussle matches two teams who lost their first games of the year last week. The Patriots, a new NFL power, will be testing their comeback ability against one of the league's top teams.

Dallas broke a four-game losing streak last week and was looking forward to the Giants, who have lost three in a row. But with Morton at quarterback, the Giants might find the spark that has been lacking all season.

In another NFC Eastern clash, St. Louis' surprising Cardinals take pro football's only perfect record against Washington's rampaging Redskins, who are back on the warpath with quarterback Sonny Jurgensen at the controls.

Buffalo has won its past four games, including last week's 30-28 victory over previously undefeated New England. With Joe Ferguson throwing and O.J. Simpson running, Chicago may find it hard to repeat last Monday's victory over Green Bay.

Oakland and San Francisco have met only once in a regular season contest — in 1970 when San Francisco won 38-7. With the Raiders after their sixth consecutive victory, the 49ers might be in trouble with their continuing problems at quarterback. Now with Reed gone, the signal-calling will fall on either newcomer Norm Snead, sophomore Dennis Morrison or rookie Tom Owen.

The Rams apparently think they have their quarterbacking problem solved. Los Angeles won big last week behind James Harris, so traded Hadl to Green Bay. The Jets have quarterback Joe Namath, receivers Rich Caster, David Knight and Jerome Barkum and runner Emerson Boozer.

Miami pulled out a last-minute victory over Kansas City last week and shouldn't have nearly as many problems this Sunday against Baltimore, which finally won its first game of the year on the legs of Lydell Mitchell.

Philadelphia and New Orleans, meeting for the seventh time, each had streaks snapped last week. The rejuvenated Eagles are tied with Washington for second in the NFC East after winning four straight. New Orleans upset Atlanta for the Saints' first road victory since 1971.

Cincinnati will be trying to shake off last week's final-minute defeat at Oakland. Houston has Dan Pastorini back in harness but still is losing.

Denver's Floy Little appears to be regaining his form of last year, which spells trouble for Cleveland as the Browns don't seem to be able to get untracked.

Kansas City, which has won only twice this season, will go against San Diego, which has lost four straight.

At 70, Fights For His Job

By CINDY ROSE
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — "When I turned 70 I didn't go out looking for a rocking chair," says Judge Nathan Wernick. And he says he won't let the government put one under him without a fight.

Wernick, who turned 70 on Sept. 25, has filed suit in U.S. District Court to keep his job as a Social Security administrative law judge.

The outcome could have widespread effect because he's challenging the constitutionality of a federal law that requires mandatory retirement of almost all federal employees at age 70. Supreme Court justices are exempted.

"I want to get up in the morning and know I have a job," said Wernick, who balks at being called elderly. "I want to live a long time without getting old. As long as there's people older than I am, I'm young."

He has obtained a temporary restraining order allowing him to stay on the bench, but no hearing date on his suit has yet been set.

Wernick works eight hours a day, five days a week, presiding over Social Security hearings.

"I don't see any slow down in my productivity," he said. "Frankly, I think I'm far better now with all my experience. I don't feel a day older than I did 20 years ago."

Wernick's immediate superior, Judge Morris Jacobson, described Wernick as "alert, judicious and a man who makes good decisions."

"He is probably one of the better administrative law judges in the country. I base that on the quantity of his caseload and the quality of his decisions."

Wernick earned his law degree in New York. He has been an administrative law judge since 1966 in Puerto Rico, Tampa and Miami.

"It's a good job," he said. "I enjoy contact with people, making decisions, reasoning them out, writing them."

"I think I'm doing something worthwhile. And I think I have a chance to keep being a judge."

Bill Will Bring Stomach Ache

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny walked out of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Thursday with the observation that his illness appears to have been nothing more than a stomach ache.

Benny said he felt fine — but more like 49 years old than his perennial 39.

The 80-year-old entertainer became ill in Dallas before he was to appear at a medical benefit performance. He was flown to Los Angeles Sunday and entered the hospital here for a checkup.

Asked if he had seen his hospital bill yet, he quipped, "No, but when I do, then you'll really see a stomach ache."

Beef Relief To Honduras

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 70,000 pounds of veal donated by economically distressed Midwestern cattlemen should reach hurricane victims in Honduras with no major problems, officials say.

Members of the National Farmers Organization—NFO—are sending about 1,000 calves to the Dubuque Packing Co. in Iowa for slaughter on Saturday. The meat will be frozen and trucked to Miami for shipment to Honduras, where it will be cut into smaller packages for distribution under Red Cross auspices within a few weeks.

NFO members in Wisconsin originally planned to kill and dump the calves because they said it was no longer profitable to feed the animals. But they decided to donate them instead after getting the government to arrange for delivery to Honduras.

Papers constitute "an extremely large and extraordinarily important collection. The files are so voluminous that it will be some months before the collection will be fully organized."

"For research into the activities of the CCC and the N. Y. A. during the 1930s, for insight into state national politics during the 1950s, and for a greater understanding of Air Force history for the entire period from 1942 to 1974, these papers will be invaluable. Naturally, the files pertaining to General Lang's service to East Carolina University and to the state of North Carolina, are equally important."

The papers will be housed with other collections in the East Carolina Manuscript Collection in the J. Y. Joyner Library on the ECU campus. After proper arranging and description has been completed, they will be available to students and historians for research purposes.

Guarantee By Hospital

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Blanchard Valley Hospital has started an experimental program guaranteeing hospital services. Dissatisfied patients won't have to pay their bills.

The guarantee covers services such as nursing care, food and housekeeping, but it does not include the services of physicians and dentists or results of medical care.

Administrator William Ruse said Thursday that patient complaints will be investigated by a panel of administrative staff members to make sure they are justified and to determine where improvements are needed.

He said the guarantee program is designed to give patients some assurance upon entering the hospital and possibly "help the patient get well a little bit faster."

The hospital has 500 employees and admits about 10,000 patients a year.

"We have a lot of confidence and faith in our people," Ruse said. "If we didn't feel we give good care to begin with we wouldn't have adopted a program like this."

Visitor Watches Ballet Students

MOSCOW (AP) — Nancy Kissinger, wife of the secretary of state, watched young students perform excerpts from ballet and other dances, Tass reports.

Mrs. Kissinger attended the performances Thursday while her husband conferred with Soviet Communist Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev. Western correspondents were not permitted to accompany Mrs. Kissinger.

After the performance she went on stage and had her picture taken with the students. She was accompanied by Mrs. Andrei A. Gromyko, wife of the Soviet foreign minister.

The WORRY CLINIC Oral Hygiene Is 'Date Bait'

Tina zoomed her rating as "date bait" by the oral hygiene methods outlined below. For beauty queens may seem attractive at a distance, yet rebuff escorts by failing to "Keep Kissable." Many husbands need this same advice!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
CASE B-677: Tina B., aged 17, is a cute high schooler.
"But Dr. Crane," she said, "I don't get to brush my teeth as often as I'd like."
"For when I'm at school I don't have toothpaste or even the time to brush after lunch."
"So how can I try to keep my teeth free from decay?"

Dental Strategy
Clean, white teeth are the best cosmetic attraction in the human face.
They make even a "plain Jane" look charming, especially if she smiles.
"Keep Kissable" ran a former logan of Old Gold cigarettes.
But even, white teeth certainly room your osculation appeal to the opposite sex.
So try this brief dental test: "Which one of these is the best single method of preventing tooth decay: TOOTHBRUSH, TOOTHPICK, DENTAL FLOSS, MOUTH WASH?"
The correct answer is "Dental Floss."

Dental scientists thus urge the use of dental floss after each meal and especially at bedtime.

For you can brush your teeth excessively, till they seem entirely free from food particles.

But then you will be shocked at the food that will be fastened to the dental floss.
Recently I addressed the dental society at Akron, Ohio, which has pioneered many dental innovations, including Children's Dental Health Week.

Dr. Jesse Fischer and the other officers invited me to lunch, during which our discussion veered around to preventive dentistry.

"Dr. Crane," one of the younger dental surgeons added, "some of my fastidious women patients think a toothbrush cleans their teeth perfectly."

"So I give them a piece of dental floss and ask them to press it down between those supposedly clean teeth."

"Then I have them pull up the floss and look at it."

"They are shocked at the amount of decaying food (or 'gook' as some teen-agers call it) that attaches to the thread."

"Often, they apologize profusely, saying their teeth had LOOKED entirely clean after their toothbrushing."

If any of you readers disbelieve this Akron dental surgeon, just try the same experiment tonight.

Even after use of a toothpick, plus your toothbrush and toothpaste, as well as mouth wash, then try the dental floss.

When you see all the gook that the dental floss pulls loose, you will realize why many cavities thus develop between the teeth, even where we cannot see them.

Which is one reason why dental surgeons routinely X-ray your teeth, for X-ray shows many of these hidden cavities.

So be sure to floss your teeth even after a thorough toothbrushing.

And especially in the morning, be sure you also brush the top of your tongue!

For that white coating of morning tongue is composed in part of dried mucus, plus white blood corpuscles that comprise pus!

Halitosis is thus worse in the morning, but it also affects speakers and singers after their vocal performances.

To rate 100 per cent as "date bait" keep kissable via clean teeth and flavored mints! And avoid halitosis from tobacco, garlic, onions and liquor!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Minor Injuries In 2 Car Collisions

An estimated $2,900 property damage resulted here yesterday from two collisions investigated by Greenville police.

No Heart Damage Found Due Coffee

BOSTON (AP) — Healthy people who gave up coffee for fear it caused heart disease can safely resume having an extra cup with their breakfast, say researchers who found no link between the brew and cardiovascular problems.

In a major 12-year study published today of almost 4,500 persons, "it was concluded that coffee drinking, as engaged in by the general population, is not a factor in the development of atherosclerotic cardiovascular disease," the report says.

However, the study asserts that no conclusion can be drawn about the possible effects of coffee on persons who already have heart disease.

Controversy has boiled over the relation of coffee drinking and heart disease since the publication of a statistical study two years ago by the Boston Collaborative Drug Surveillance Program.

That study found a direct link between coffee and heart problems in a sampling of hospital heart patients. But several studies since then found no such relationship in sampling persons who had no heart problems.

The latest report was published in the New England Journal of Medicine by Dr. Thomas R. Dawber, Dr. William B. Kannel and Tavia Gordon of Boston University Medical Center.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1974

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Daytime presents difficulties in expressing yourself in emotional matters as well as in business. But tonight brings a release from delays and some special happiness at home with family.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Private worries bug you, but if you concentrate on your blessings, these become insignificant. Don't be so highly sensitive.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Friends may be disappointing now because they are under pressure, so be patient. Personal aims difficult to gain early become easy later. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't irk one in high position who has power over your affairs, then you can have a happy evening with congenials. Efforts pay off.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You may think you did wrong in forcing friends to go along with you on some venture, but by evening you know you're right.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Pay bills on time and build up credit. Your romantic life will be busy until evening, so wait until then to get together.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Associates are apt to act childishly during day because of planetary influences, but by evening all is fine again. Entertainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make your home more charming, even though you want to be off and away to some fun place. Put off recreation to p.m. for best results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Recreation that you can really afford will be doubly pleasurable. Use talents. You can consider something very profitable in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't be blunt at home or you can get into unnecessary arguments. Entertain in p.m. Improve the appearance of your abode.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Shop for whatever will make your daily operations more efficient at home or in business. Fun with congenials in p.m. Avoid a troublemaker.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Daytime is best for handling financial and other practical affairs with fine results. Not a good day to get advice from a business mogul.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You don't feel like yourself and are tempted to break a good relationship, but don't. Improve health, then be sociable in p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to know about everything and what is happening at all times, so may ask many questions that are embarrassing or seemingly impudent. Teach early to calm down and do more listening than talking. Then after a good education, there can be big success in this lifetime and your progeny could become a boon to society at large.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Opening lead: King of ♠.

It isn't always necessary to find a particular distribution to defeat a contract. Sometimes, just persuading declarer that a certain distribution exists is good enough. Consider this hand.

The auction was routine. West took advantage of the vulnerability to put in a weak overcall, and North had ample values to jump raise his partner's suit. South had something to spare for continuing to game.

The defensive prospects looked rather bleak after West led the king of spades. Since South surely had the ace of hearts, it seemed that the only possible tricks for the defenders were two spades and a club—the chance that West had the jack of hearts was slight. However, East found a diabolical way of taking advantage of the auction and the fact that declarer would not have time to find out how the cards lay, to defeat an "impregnable" contract.

After dummy played low, East overtook his partner's king of spades with the ace and returned the two, trying for all the world to look like a man who held a doubleton spade. West went along with the deception by winning the queen and continuing with the jack.

Consider declarer's plight. West had practically no high cards, so it was quite possible, even likely, that he held six spades for his overcall. In that event, ruffing low would court defeat, for East would overruff. It seemed far less likely that trumps would split 4-0, and even if they did, there was still the chance that West held the king of clubs.

Taking all these factors into consideration, declarer made the reasonable play of ruffing with the queen of trumps. When East followed suit to this trick, declarer began to suspect foul play! His worst fears were realized when West showed out on the first heart. Now the defenders had a certain trump trick, and the contract hinged on the club finesse. When East turned up with the king of clubs, declarer was down one—a victim of a pretty piece of legal chicanery.

Add Bagpipes To World's List Of Shortages

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a world where there are serious shortages of food, housing, fertilizer and small change, who cares about the current scarcity of Scottish bagpipes? Literally thousands of U. S. and Canadian piping fans, that's who. Some have mastered the art of cajoling a wheeze into music. Others want to learn. Bagpipe bands are skirling up a storm from Ontario to Arizona and there are even all-girl bands which play miniature pipes. There is a Pipers and Dancers magazine.

But to obtain a first rate Scottish-made pipe—crafted by one of the less than dozen small firms that specialize in pipes—will take one to two years after an order is placed. The cost will run $250 to $1000 for ivory mounted pipes, representing a 100 per cent price increase in the past three years, and even higher for silver mounted instruments. The best pipes are made of African blackwoods, ebony or cocus, artificially seasoned so they won't crack. The hide air bag must be replaced every five to 10 years, but the wooden parts will last for decades, even centuries. Blackwoods have become increasingly hard to find since Uganda restricted their export. Ebony, a hard rubber substance, is being used as a substitute and plastic is replacing ivory mounts on cheaper pipes made in the British Isles, Pakistan, India and Japan.

Seamus O'Neill, head of the Glasgow College of Piping, recently predicted that bagpipe making would soon find a foothold in the United States and in 50 years "the center of making, teaching and playing the pipes will shift to the United States." Until recently, America had only two pipe makers, but one has died and the other retired. Less expensive pipes, which run from about $40 to $150, are the ones generally encountered in American pipe bands, usually sponsored by high schools or Scottish fraternal organizations. Pipes are taught in Scottish schools as a matter of course but Americans usually study privately or at special pipe band summer camps.

"There are never any shortage of teachers in Scotland," said Capt. Hugh McLeod of the Argyll and Southern Highlanders, who currently are touring 80 U. S. and Canadian cities with the Welsh Guards. "Any small village in the highlands has a piper. But we lack the skilled craftsmen to make enough pipes now that there's a big increase in piping in England, Wales and Ireland, too."

The Argyll and Southern Highlanders, a pipe and drum unit known as Princess Louise's after a daughter of Queen Victoria who married the Duke of Argyll, has 24 pipers. "We range in age from 17 to 31, so it's a very young band at the moment," said the strapping, blonde McLeod. "We've recently toured Russia, Japan, Australia, Germany and Spain, and the appeal of the pipes seems to be universal. Everybody loves them. A lot more people will be caught onto the pipes as a result of the American tour."

According to McLeod, a requisite number of hours a day must be spent practicing the pipes to maintain stamina of the facial muscles. To play classical pipe music, known as "pibroch," at competition level requires excellent musicianship. Playing for reels and marches takes less efficiency.

"If you aren't proficient, you'll make a dreadful sound, no doubt about it," said McLeod, whose interview companion, Musician John Sadler of the Welsh Guards, was in complete agreement.

"The worst is when the pipers are warming up," Sadler said. "And even after a matinee performance and all you want to do is have a drink, the pipers are still at it."

Piping requires a uniform, and even the poorer bands march in kilts at least. Classic accessories include a fur sporran (purse), belt, 18-inch dirk, and a smaller knife called a "sgian dubh" stashed in woolen knee socks. The pipers wear a Glengarry cap, and the drummers wear feather bonnets.

McLeod observed that female pipers in Britain generally are English and Welsh, rather than Scottish.

"It's not traditional to have women pipers in Scotland," he said. "Women's lib has not gone too far there."

Fundamentalists Renew Attack On Billy Graham

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS RATHER modest-size vacation home looks much larger than it is due to the design arrangement. Besides the clean lines of the exterior and the railing around the one-story portion, a person approaching would encounter an entrance bridge over a lily-pod pool in which sits a stone planter. Inside, a visitor would be impressed by the feel of spaciousness created by the eight-foot-wide opening to the living room and the open view through the dining area rear glass doors. And the entire ceiling of the dining area is glass, for more light. Outdoor living is provided by a rear porch, a suggested swimming pool terrace and a covered port for car or boat. Upstairs are two bedrooms and 20 by 24 foot deck. There are 720 square feet on the first floor and 499 on the second of plan HA829M. It was designed by Rudolph A. Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501. Anyone who wishes to learn the price of the blueprint can write to Matern, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

North Pitt School News

By GENEVA HOLDER

North Pitt won its first football game Friday, October 18 against C. B. Aycock with the final score of 13-12. The winning touchdown came late in the fourth quarter. The most important point was probably the extra point kicked by Fred Glisson after the first touchdown.

Thursday, October 24, the team will travel to D. H. Conley to play the freshmen there in a non-conference game.

North Pitt's junior and senior girls will play against each other in a Powder-Puff football game on November 1 during 5th and 6th periods. The cheerleaders of course, will be boys. All junior and senior girls wanting to play should sign the paper outside the office. Admission to the game is $3.50.

There will be a dance sponsored by the junior class immediately after the Homecoming football game. Admission is $.75 per person or $1.00 per couple. The dance will be held in the student commons near the school.

Refreshments will be served.

North Pitt students received their pictures last week. Prices are $2.00 per sheet or $6.50 for the package. There is a retake day for students who were absent the first day of picture-taking and for seniors who are dissatisfied with their present pack.

Also last week, students received report cards from their homeroom teachers.

The Library Club attended a Library Convention in October.

The convention consisted of several workshops. The club was divided into groups and attended different workshops in which they discussed library careers, audio-visual equipment, and other library topics. The Library Club officers attended a leadership workshop.

This week North Pitt Notes features Benny Knox and Mrs. Linda Wall.

Benny Knox was born in Robersonville and attended Robersonville High School. He then attended East Carolina University where he majored in Industrial Technical education and concentrated in Metal Technology. He graduated in the spring of 1974 and teaches electricity at North Pitt.

Mr. Knox is not married, but is engaged to be married December 29 to Miss Martha Thomas of Robersonville.

Mr. Knox enjoys all sports especially fishing, baseball, and football. He also enjoys dancing.

Mrs. Wall, who teaches junior English, was born in Kinston and attended Granger High School in Kinston. She attended East Carolina University as an English major.

Mrs. Wall and her husband, Jack, who is a salesman, live in Greenville with their two children, Kelly, 5, and Steve, 7.

Mrs. Wall enjoys tennis and reading in her spare time.

By BILL BASKERVILL
Associated Press Writer
VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—"We are watchmen on the wall...exposing those who are warring against Christianity."

So says Charles J. Anderson, a spokesman in renewed fundamentalist attacks on evangelist Billy Graham, who brings his crusade to Tidewater next month.

Anderson and other fundamentalist leaders believe Graham is a peril to Christianity because of his ties with theological liberals or modernists, who the fundamentalists say "do not believe all of the Bible to be the inspired word of God."

Fundamentalists are literalists. They believe what the Bible says exactly as it is written, period.

They think Billy Graham is "doing more harm to the cause of Jesus Christ than any living man."

A group of fundamentalist preachers got together at the sprawling Tabernacle Baptist Church here last week and decided to "denounce and repudiate" Graham's evangelical crusade. They branded Graham's ministry a serious threat to "the work of Bible-believing Christians."

This past Monday 25 fundamentalist churches in Virginia and North Carolina placed a full-page newspaper ad in Norfolk with the headline: "The Bible or Billy — Why Will You Choose?"

Why the resurgence of criticism?

"It's probably because Billy hasn't been in the Tidewater area for 10 years, but it's really nothing new," said Anderson, dean of the Bible Institute at Tabernacle Baptist Church.

Anderson, a former mechanical design engineer who was "born again" in 1959 when "Christ came into my heart," quotes from II Corinthians.

"...Be not unequally yoked together with unbelievers."

This passage and others in the King James version of the Bible form the crux of fundamentalist criticism.

Anderson said fundamentalists were Graham's major backers when he began his evangelistic crusades.

But in 1957 Graham, who refuses to discuss doctrinal differences publicly, said, "I'll go anywhere under any sponsorship to preach the gospel of Christ..."

The fundamentalists didn't like this at all. They weren't about to accept evangelism, especially since one of Graham's major backers was the National Council of Churches, archmodernists as far as the fundamentalists are concerned.

Anderson said modernism is "nonbelief," which is a sin. He said Graham violates God's commands that warn against involvement with those who deny the faith.

"Billy Graham is clouding the whole issue by not preaching that modernism is a sin," Anderson said. "He can't. If he did, his financial support would collapse."

Connally Phillips, public relations director for Graham's Tidewater crusade, said the evangelist's work is for all people and not just for those believing in rigid interpretation of the Bible.

He said the fundamentalists

Meeting Slated At Williamston

Several hundred contractors, engineers and local government officials will be going to class during the next several weeks to learn how to prevent sediment from entering North Carolina's streams and rivers.

Eight one-day classes will be held across the state by the State Sedimentation Control Commission.

One of the scheduled meetings will be held in Williamston on Dec. 3. The class will begin at 10 a.m. at the Town and Country Restaurant.

FUNDS ALLOCATED

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The Lutheran Church's Missouri Synod has announced it will spend $1 million for site work on a new church related school, Christ College, in Irvine, Calif.

have a right to their opinion but that Graham will not hassle with them.

"We love these people (the fundamentalists)," Phillips said. "We're not picking a fight."

He said the criticism was expected and is nothing new, adding that "anyone in the mainstream of Christian thought is prone to criticism from both ultraconservatives and ultraliberals."

Anderson said the fundamentalists don't plan to picket Graham's Tidewater crusade as they have at area abortion clinics and performances of the rock opera, "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

He emphasized that "there's no jealousy or anything personal behind our criticism. It's a doctrinal issue."
