Scores Dead In Downtown Seoul Fire

By PAUL SHIN SEUL (UPI) — An early morning fire raged through the crowded upper floors of a seven-story building housing a hotel and a go-go club Sunday, killing or injuring more than 100 persons.

As of 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EST Saturday), police said 78 persons were confirmed dead and more than 40 others injured in the three-hour fire in the Daewang building in the eastern part of the South Korean capital.

Firemen, wearing heat-proof gowns and using hammers and other tools, recovered 65 bodies inside a go-go club and seven others in hotel rooms on the sixth floor, police said.

Six persons were killed when they leaped from as high as the seventh floor to escape the flames.

Police also said the cause of the fire, which started at about 2:50 a.m. (12:50 p.m. EST Saturday) has yet to be determined, but that they were working on an account by an eyewitness who said he heard "something big" explode in a room of the hotel.

A police official said those killed inside the Time go-go club were found huddled facing a wall, indicating they were forced against the wall by the raging fire. Part of the club's ceiling collapsed, he said.

Miss Park So-young, 22, who escaped unhurt from the club, said there was a power blackout. Seconds later, she said, someone shouted, "Fire, fire, fire!"

"At first, I thought the power blackout was intended for fun for those inside the club. But moments later all panicked. I had been there before and I quickly came out by an emergency exit," she said.

Witnesses said the fire broke out in a room of the Brown hotel on the sixth floor and spread to the fifth and seventh floors.

Most of those killed were in their 20s and had been inside the Time go-go club, police said. Miss Chun Kyong-ho, 27, who escaped unhurt from the club, said more than 100 persons were inside when the fire began.

Nixon Still Critical

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Given a "therapeutic boost" by the surprise visit of President Ford, Richard M. Nixon was reported Saturday to be showing stable and satisfactory vital signs but still on the critical list.

The morning medical bulletin said the former President had no indications of further internal bleeding and that he would be given light oral feeding for the first time since he lapsed into shock and almost died following an operation last Tuesday.

"The former President of the United States remains under critical care at Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach," said the statement signed by Dr. John Lungren, Nixon's personal physician.

Funeral For Candy Victim

PASADENA, Tex. (UPI) — Funeral services were held Saturday for an 8-year-old boy who died from eating a poisoned Halloween candy treat.

Police continued a house-to-house search of a two block area hoping to find clues as to where Timothy Mark O'Bryan got the cyanide laced candy filled straw that caused his death.

Four other similar straws containing a candy powder mixed with cyanide granules were located by police in the neighborhood where Timothy was trick-or-treating, but apparently none of the other youngsters ate the candy.

Money Search Continues

CHICAGO (UPI) — With six alleged burglars in custody, FBI agents Saturday searched for the lion's share of the record $4.3 million taken from an Armored Express Co. vault. Part of it was stashed somewhere in the British West Indies.

Only $61,000 of the loot taken during the Oct. 19-20 weekend has been recovered. Police and federal authorities believe at least $1.5 million has been buried on Grand Cayman Island, B.W.I., or deposited in one or more of the 172 secretive Swiss-style banks on the islands.

Two suspects, Luigi DiFonzo, 26, and Pasquale Marzano, 42, arrived at the island with suitcases carrying an estimated $1.5 million in cash. The money would be difficult to trace, authorities said, because the banks refuse to identify depositors and their accounts.

On Treaty Trip

MADRID (UPI) — U.S. ambassador at large Robert McCloskey arrived Saturday on the first leg of an exploratory mission to secure renewal of treaties granting the United States the use of military bases in Spain and in Portuguese Azores.

SVN Assembly Asking Thieu To Resign

By ALAN DAWSON SAIGON (UPI) — Demands for President Nguyen Van Thieu's resignation picked up momentum Saturday with a petition drive in both houses of the South Vietnamese National Assembly.

Street demonstrations subsided for the first time in a week. Police removed barricades and police reinforcements were disbanded. But opposition militants said more demonstrations could be expected.

In the National Assembly's Senate and Chamber of Deputies, antigovernment legislators were collecting signatures for a petition to demand the president's immediate resignation.

Deputies in the lower house Social Democratic bloc said there were already 32 signers and more senators and deputies would join next week.

The petition was circulated mostly for its impact on public opinion. It was certain to be killed in any floor debate.

The opposition has boycotted recent elections on grounds they were rigged in advance. This has left Thieu with better than a two-thirds majority of the 159 deputies and 60 senators.

Militant Roman Catholics and Buddhists planned rallies for Sunday but no street demonstrations were scheduled, spokesmen for the two groups said.

The current wave of protests is the heaviest in three years. But so far no demonstration has brought out more than 5,000 people, compared to the tens of thousands who demonstrated against the Thieu government in 1970 and 1971.

Ford Ends Campaign Tour

By RICHARD LERNER SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A tired President Ford barnstormed his way home Saturday on a final GOP campaign swing through the West, exhorting voters to reject the Congressional "big spenders" and save America from "raging inflation."

Ford wound up his three-day tour in the grand whistle-stop style of traditional politics—flying from his overnight stop at Portland, Ore., to Salt Lake City for a speech and a rally and then returning to Washington via stops at Grand Junction, Colo., and Wichita, Kan.

At the Salt Lake City airport he was met by two of his sons, Jack, 22, a forestry senior at Utah State University, and Steven, 18, who is working as a ranch hand in Lolo, Mont. The President showed signs of strain—his eyes a bit reddened, his complexion pale—as he arrived in Salt Lake City in bright sunshine to help Mayor Jake Garn in a close Senate race against Democratic Rep. Wayne Owens.

Ford has campaigned in 19 states over 24 days in his efforts to prevent heavy Democratic gains in the Congressional and statehouse elections Tuesday and he hammered away at his favorite theme—inflation—again Saturday in a speech prepared for delivery to a Utah GOP meeting.

"The lesson of the past few decades has been a basic one—We cannot spend our way to happiness but we can spend ourselves into debt, and we can spend the nation straight into raging inflation," he said. "That is why during the past few weeks I have been speaking out for realistic, fiscally responsible Congressional candidates."

"...If the big spenders win heavily on Nov. 5, we are in danger of electing a veto-proof rather than an inflation proof Congress."

Ford began this final campaign swing Thursday with stops in Iowa and California, keeping up a hectic pace of attendance at civic gatherings, political meetings, fund-raising dinners and public events.

"He is very tired," Press Secretary Ronald Nessen told reporters. "There's no doubt about it."

In the Utah speech, Ford also said the federal bureaucracy must be decentralized.

"The day is past when an octopus-like government in Washington can stretch its tentacles across the nation and squeeze itself more and more power," he said. "Now we have to chop off those tentacles."

"And as each of those tentacles wither we have to return the power and the revenues they have grasped back to the states and localities."

Auto Layoffs

DETROIT (UPI) — Nearly 17,000 U.S. auto workers begin forced layoffs Monday because their bosses misjudged the reception the higher-priced small cars would get from economy-minded Americans.

Three Ford Motor Co. plants and one Chrysler Corp. small car assembly plant will be closed one week with General Motors cutting back output at four small car plants the following Monday. Nearly 16,000 workers will be laid off temporarily, with another 1,000 idled indefinitely to push the number of permanent layoffs to 51,000 in the next two weeks.

Ford's small car plants face one week on and one week off operations the remainder of the year as part of an industry-wide cut of 100,000 cars from planned fourth quarter production schedules.

PLO Spokesman Predicts New Arab-Israel War

By United Press International The chief spokesman of the Palestine Liberation Organization said Saturday another Arab war with Israel "is coming soon."

Yasser Abdel Rabbo, the PLO's director of information, outlined at a Beirut news conference his reasons for predicting renewed fighting. They included Israel's refusal to withdraw from occupied Arab territory and to recognize Palestinian "identity" in general and the PO in particular.

"Don't all these points point the way to a fifth (Arab-Israeli) war?" he asked. "In our view the fifth war is coming soon."

A Soviet-made Katyusha rocket fired from Lebanese territory hit the north Israeli town of Qiryat Shemona Saturday but the military command said there was no damage or casualties.

The rocket, capping a week of incidents on both sides of the Lebanese border, landed 15 miles north of the sea of Galilee collective farm where French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues spent the last night of his friction-marked Israeli visit.

As Sauvagnargues returned to France after three days of talks, Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said he had told him the Arab guerrillas were a gang of terrorists who do not represent the Palestinian people.

Speaking to newsmen, Allon said he told Sauvagnargues that unlike the Algerian revolutionaries who won their independence from France in the 1960s, the PLO "explicitly says in their Palestinian Covenant that they are aiming to destroy the state of Israel altogether."

"They are not to be considered as a national liberation movement or as a guerrilla force," Allon said. "These are a gang of terrorists who do not represent the people, who have not been assigned by an organized people to fight for their cause."

Allon said Sauvagnargues did not offer to mediate with PLO chairman Yasser Arafat who met with the French minister in Beirut last week.

"I was not curious to hear anything about him (Arafat) because our files on him in the criminal department tell it all."

Simpson Seeks Incorporation

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer SIMPSON—This small Eastern Pitt County community will become an incorporated village — complete with mayor and town board — within the next few weeks if things go according to plan.

Local residents have filled a petition with the North Carolina Municipal Board of Control for incorporation, and acting Mayor John T. McDonald Jr. said the new Simpson should be incorporated by mid-November.

McDonald said the incorporated village would include 252 acres and have a population of 524 people — from 128 families living within the proposed boundaries.

In addition to McDonald, Junior Lee Dail and Leonard Joe Hardee currently serve as members of the town's governing board. McDonald said that when incorporation papers are approved, the three board members would be appointed to their posts by the Municipal Board of Control until elections could be held.

The mayor said local citizens agreed to incorporate as a village "for the betterment of the people in the community... better living conditions, ... a better future."

Lee Dail said local residents want to "see if we can better that spot... get things cleaned up and get it to grow some."

Already things are beginning to improve.

McDonald said plans are already under way to construct a small shopping center there.

Lindy Edwards, one of the supporters of the move to incorporate and a developer of the shopping area, said the facility will include a new post office, a new warehouse and hardware store, as well as a grocery store.

"It will be like a little country shopping center," he noted, located on a 5.55 acre plot of land "right in Simpson."

Construction on part of the project got under way today, Edwards said, while work on the post office is expected to begin "in a week or so."

The new warehouse, store and post office will replace old facilities now in use.

SKIING HIGH—Para-skier Gary Cook lifts off for an over-the-water whirl around Manhattan Island Friday. Cook, who was pulled by a speedboat, hoped to dip his kite under Manhattan's 20 bridges and complete his flight in less than two hours for a world record. He finished the course in three hours, 50 minutes, and flopped into the water six times. (AP Wirephoto)

To Investigate Aides

RALEIGH (AP)—Secretary of Revenue Howard Coble says he is going to investigate all aides of North Carolina congressmen to see if they have paid all state income taxes due. He recently turned over to a special prosecutor for possible court action a tax case involving Rufus Edmisten, the Democratic candidate for attorney general.

Sheriff Withdraws

LENOIR, N.C. (AP)—O. Lee Dellinger has withdrawn as the Democratic candidate for sheriff of Caldwell County. He did so Friday after misdemeanor charges in connection with the theft of records from the Superior Court clerk's office. The records involved charges against persons accused of drunken driving.

More Forests For Public

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—More privately owned forests in the Southeast may become available for public use, organizers of a conference on outdoor recreation said Friday. The three-day meeting on "Private Involvement in Outdoor Recreation" ended Saturday with the dedication of Bob's Creek Trail, the newest addition to the National Trails System. It's in privately owned Bob's Creek Pocket Wilderness near Marion.

Stevens Won't Concede

KINSTON, N.C. (AP)—William Stevens, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, campaigned in heavily Democratic eastern North Carolina Friday and said he won't concede any section of the state. His Democratic opponent, Robert Morgan, also was in Kinston that day on an eastern swing.

Plane Crashes Into House

STATESVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A single engine plane with four persons aboard crashed into the roof of a house near the Statesville airport Saturday but all escaped with varying injuries, the state Highway Patrol reported.

Names of those involved were withheld pending notification of relatives. A spokesman at Iredell Memorial Hospital said the injured were transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte.

The flight originated at Charlotte, the patrol said, and the pilot was starting to land at the Statesville airport but he pulled up when he noticed another plane landing from the other end of the runway.

Crew Never Answered

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The crew of ill-fated Eastern Airlines Flight 212 never answered when asked if it saw the runway before it crashed Sept. 11, tapes released by the Federal Aviation Administration confirmed.

The DC9 crashed 3.3 miles short of the runway at Charlotte's Douglas Municipal Airport, killing 72 of the 82 persons aboard.

There was nothing to indicate trouble on the day of the crash, an FAA spokesman said.

The tapes, made in the airport control tower and released by the FAA Friday, apparently confirm this, said Jack Barker, an FAA spokesman from Atlanta.

The flight originated in Charleston, S.C. and was en route to Chicago.

Among the survivors was the co-pilot, James Daniels, 36, of Roswell, Ga. He will testify at a four-day public hearing the National Transportation Safety Board will open in Charlotte Nov. 12.

Two Accidents Friday

The Greenville Police Department reported two traffic accidents Friday.

Roosevelt Simmons, Jr. of 612 Tyson St. was charged with leaving the scene of an accident when the car he was allegedly driving collided with a vehicle operated by James Earl Edwards of 300 Conley St. Damages to the Edwards car were listed at $200 and to the car that Simmons was driving owned by Addie Moore Waddy of 1605 W. Third St., $25.

A vehicle operated by Shirley Everett Morgan of 911 Cotanche St. collided with one operated by Henderson Haigler Ryder of 111 Live Oak Dr. at the corner of Second and Greene Streets. Damages were listed as $650 to the Morgan vehicle and $150 to the Ryder vehicle. Morgan was charged with failure to see a safe movement.

Saturday Accident

The Greenville Police Department reported only one traffic accident Saturday. Richie Lee Puryear of 207 E. 14th St. was charged with failure to see a safe movement when the car he was operating collided with a vehicle operated by William Ivey Whaley of 110 W. College St., Ayden. The accident occurred at 10:29 a.m. on Evans St. Damages to the Puryear vehicle were listed at $50 and $250 to the Whaley vehicle.

Two Viewpoints On The Tax Exempt Bond Ballot

....Judge Bailey's Opinions

RALEIGH (AP)—Superior Court Judge James H. Pou Bailey says the wording on the ballot for a proposed constitutional ballot authorizing tax exempt revenue bonds is "consciously slanted" to fool the voters but it must be allowed to remain on the Tuesday general election ballot.

Bailey said this as he dismissed a suit brought by a coalition of environmental and other groups. It asked the court to keep off the ballot the amendment which would allow counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial plants and pollution control facilities.

The ballot for the challenged amendment would have the people vote for or against a proposal "to create jobs and employment opportunities and to protect the environment by authorizing the issuance of revenue bonds..."

The wording, Bailey said, was "consciously slanted to induce people to vote for it. It's clearly worded so you have to come out against motherhood and in favor of sin to vote against it."

However, he said, the North Carolina Constitution specifically gives the General Assembly the power to present constitutional amendments to voters at whatever time and in whatever manner it chooses.

"Every instinct I've got says this is one of the worst things I've seen," Bailey said. "Unfortunately, I think the Constitution of North Carolina gives the General Assembly the right to do it."

Joseph Hackney of Chapel Hill, an attorney representing those attacking the proposed amendment, called Bailey's attention to court decisions from other states which have ruled that amendments must be submitted to voters in language clearly showing the purpose of the amendment.

"Could the legislature propose an amendment that says we are to build a bridge across the Atlantic Ocean and word the amendment to build a new courthouse in Orange County?" Hackney asked.

Bailey said the legislature has the sole power of deciding how an amendment will be presented to the people.

If the amendment is passed, it will reinstate a 1971 law which the state Supreme Court declared unconstitutional last year. The law authorized counties to establish local development corporations to issue bonds to finance industries in the acquisition of land or the building of plants or to purchase pollution abatement equipment.

The bonds would be repaid by the industries.

The organizations sponsoring the suit against the amendment included the Conservation Council of North Carolina, North Carolina League of Women Voters, Carolina Environmental Study Group, AFL-CIO and N.C. Public Interest Research Group.

....Craig Kennedy's Rebuttals

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Craig Kennedy, president of the North Carolina Industrial Development Association, said Saturday that he was not surprised a judge refused to remove a proposed constitutional amendment for tax exempt revenue bonds from Tuesday's ballot.

Kennedy said such phrases as "offer tax free inducements to private industry; public debt for private profit; and may erode the tax base" have appeared in recent editorials and news stories. He said these phrases are absolutely untrue.

Kennedy said these bonds are to be sold to investors and that the investors will purchase on the credit and reputation of the company that would occupy the industrial facility or use the pollution abatement facility.

He said the statute clearly states that any company operating a plant financed by industrial revenue bonds shall pay their full share of state income.

The benefit to industry, Kennedy said, is that industry can finance its projects at lower interest rates and can repay its indebtedness over a longer period of time than conventional financing normally allows.

"It's not a giveaway, it's not a concession and it will not cost the taxpayers one cent," Kennedy declared.

Sixty counties, the North Carolina Association of Commissioners, Gov. Jim Holshouser, and Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt have endorsed the proposed amendment, said Kennedy, head of the Wayne County Industrial Commission.

New Hearings On Duke Plant

CHARLOTTE (AP)—New hearings have been ordered to determine whether Duke Power Co. should be licensed to build a nuclear power plant on Lake Wylie on the North Carolina-South Carolina line.

The Atomic Energy Commission's Atomic Safety and Licensing Board ruled Friday that new hearings are needed to examine whether the proposed plant is needed and whether Duke Power is financially solvent enough to finance its construction.

The ruling came at the conclusion of a hearing in Bethesda, Md., Friday at which the Carolina Environmental Study Group challenged earlier evidence presented by Duke Power, which serves a large Piedmont area of North Carolina and South Carolina.

The proposed two-reactor Catawba plant would be located on the lower part of Lake Wylie about five miles north of Rock Hill, S. C., and 17 miles southwest of Charlotte.

Max Paglin, chairman of the safety and licensing board, said enough questions had been raised to warrant reopening the case. He said new hearings probably would be held some time after the first of the year.

Duke Power, which has headquarters in Charlotte, raised vigorous objections. A company attorney, Troy B. Conner Jr., argued that reopening the case at this point would result in a costly delay.

He said 200 workers are currently at the site, but construction on the reactors cannot begin until a formal construction permit is issued by the board.

A temporary, partial permit already had been issued, but work was stopped at the site last month pending the outcome of Friday's hearing.

Candidates Air Hopping Monday

RALEIGH (AP)—High flying news conferences are on tap Monday as the major candidates for Senate and attorney general hop around the state for a series of airport news conferences. The election is Tuesday.

Democratic candidates—Robert Morgan for the Senate and Rufus Edmisten for attorney general—have six news conferences scheduled. Republican candidates—William Stevens for the Senate and James Carson for attorney general—have four landings planned.

At times, the schedules are close and a miscalculation could put the four of them face-to-face before newsmen.

The Democratic candidates will be accompanied by Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt. Each of their news conferences are to last 30 minutes. Also, at each stop, Democratic candidates for Congress are to join the news conference when the landing is in their district.

A Republican spokesman said they too will have news conferences for a maximum of 30 minutes.

In the Democratic news release about the whirlwind tour, Hunt said it "marks the end of a long and hard campaign." It is aimed at presenting the candidates' views to voters one more time, he said.

The Democrats begin at the Asheville Airport at 8:30 a.m. At 10 a.m. they are to be at Douglas Airport, Charlotte; 11:30 a.m. at Triad Airport in the Greensboro, High Point, Winston-Salem area; 12:45 p.m., Raleigh-Durham Airport; 2:15 p.m. Greenville Airport; and 3:30 p.m. Wilmington Airport.

The Republicans will also begin in Asheville, but at 8 a.m. They will be at Triad Airport at 10:30 a.m.; Raleigh-Durham Airport at noon; and at Douglas Airport in Charlotte at 2 p.m.

So, at two locations there is a possibility of a cross-over. In Asheville, the GOP news conference is 30 minutes ahead of the Democratic meeting; and at Raleigh-Durham, the GOP will make its pitch just 45 minutes before the Democrats are due to arrive.

Three Death Sentences

NEWTON, N. C. (AP)—Three men convicted of raping a Florida woman hitchhiking through North Carolina with her husband-to-be have been sentenced to die in the North Carolina gas chamber, bringing to 58 the number of persons facing execution in this state.

A Catawba County Superior Court jury Thursday convicted Carl Miller, 22, Larry Campanella Clark, 23, and Artis Parnell McClain, 24, all of Statesville.

Jaycees Bulb Sale Begins Monday

The Greenville Jaycees kick off their annual Light Bulb Sale on Monday as chapter members begin the business segment of the local drive.

Mayor Eugene West bought the first bulbs from project co-chairmen Bill Price and Larry Garrett as the Jaycees initiated the annual sale.

The co-chairmen reported that the business sale will continue through Nov. 9. Jaycees will begin taking business orders tomorrow morning and deliveries will be made on Saturday.

The chapter's residential bulb sale will be held on Nov. 12, 13 and 14 with members canvassing the residential community each evening from 6:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. Bulbs sold during the residential drive will be delivered upon sale, it was noted.

The bulbs, in watts from 40 to 100, will be sold in four-bulb packages, the co-chairmen noted, and three-way and fluorescent bulbs will also be available.

Funds realized from the business and residential sales will be used for the Jaycees' charity fund.

Wants Investigation On Women In Jails

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has been asked to order an investigation of sexual abuse of women in Eastern North Carolina jails particularly the case of Joan Little who is charged with murdering a Beaufort County jailer.

The request came from Reginald Rex Frazier, a black attorney who said he had wired Saxbe that "there is serious evidence that hundreds of women, both black and white have been subjected to illegal and immoral sexual assaults by jailers and jailed trustees while they were confined."

"We believe Joan Little was sexually molested while she was confined to the Beaufort County Jail," Frazier said. Frazier asked Saxbe to send a team of federal investigators to examine the cases of all women confined to jail since 1954 to determine whether they had sexual relations with jailers or trustees.

Chapter Installs New Members

New members were installed during a candlelight ceremony at the meeting of the Greenville Chapter of the National Secretaries Association held Monday night.

Installed were Amy Mills, Peggy James and Brenda Gipson, all of Burroughs Wellcome.

Following dinner, Brenda Wilson introduced the speaker for the evening, Larry Graham, a Greenville attorney. His program topic was "The Role of the Secretary in a Law Office."

President Yvonne Hardee introduced Mary Kittrell and Marie Hines as guests. Members voted to sponsor a needy family at Christmas.

Chairman of the Workshop Committee Dorothy Dausman reported that the chapter's first workshop will be held Saturday, Nov. 9, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Ramada Inn. The topic will be "Management of Time."

To Be In Craft Fair

At least four Pitt County craftsmen will be represented in the ninth annual Coastal Plains Arts and Crafts Fair to be held at Tarrytown Mall in Rocky Mount on November 7, 8 and 9.

The local point to be showing crafts are B. W. James, Bethel, string art; Mrs. Betsy

Area tobacco markets are closing after what has to be considered a better than average year. Tobacco farmers were up in arms at the beginning of the selling season. Faced with the highest costs of production in history they found opening prices less than expected. As the selling season went on, however, and better grades moved to market, prices being paid by the buying companies moved up markedly. The Eastern Belt average eventually moved over $100 per 100 pound average. By sales end last Wednesday the Belt had sold 414,348,389 pounds for $438,966,516 and a season's average of $105.94. Things looked considerably better for the growers by that time, although producers were still quick to point out much of the record prices was simply lost to inflation. What's more, farmers have no idea how much their production costs will be next year and consequently, they are in the dark as to how to budget for the 1975 growing season. Still as the season ends things were looking considerably better for the farmer than when it began. Both Greenville and Farmville markets will close after sales tomorrow. Washington closed Tuesday, Robersonville Wednesday and Williamston and Kinston closed after Thursday sales. It was a difficult year for the entire industry as farmers worried about their increasing costs and tobaccoists wrestled with a new sales procedure. Things went along pretty well generally, however, and we think that this tobacco selling season can be judged a success.

At This Rate, Soon A Crushing Burden

Social Security taxes continue upward with the base on which the taxes are paid again being increased. Americans and their employees have paid the 5.85 percent Social Security tax on a wage base of $13,200 this year. Next year it will be on a $14,100 wage base. The result will be a $52.65 annual increase for those who earn that much. It once again raises the question of how high can the Social Security tax go before it becomes a crushing burden.

THIS AFTERNOON

Budget Requests Climbing

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—It's still too early in the state's budget-making process for an accurate figure, but those close to the Advisory Budget Commission process say increases sought by state agencies are now well over $1 billion — and climbing. Some predict that a total of $1.5 billion for increased spending will be requested. The Advisory Budget Commission has the task of trimming down to final budget recommendations for the governor's endorsement and General Assembly action. The state budget has tripled in little more than 10 years: from $990 million in 1963 to $3 billion this year. Inflation is playing havoc with state spending, just as with anything else. Medicaid Up Medicaid payments, for instance, were $39 million four years ago; $182 million this year; projected to be $252 million by 1980. State educators are seeking a half-billion dollar hike for the coming biennium: including a 10 per cent pay raise for teachers which would cost $226 million per year. Prison officials want $100 million in the next two years for new buildings, and the list goes on. Some legislators, including some serving on the Advisory Budget Commission, are just shaking their heads and mumbling. "No way," as they see taxpayers tightening their belts at home and conclude the state will have to do the same. Close Hospital? "Did you ever wonder how hard it is to close a hospital," pondered Human Resources Secretary David T. Flaherty the other day as he reviewed the situation at Gastonia's Orthopedic Hospital. Flaherty has $800,000 for a new building at that hospital, but doesn't see any reason to spend it there. With 145 beds, only 45 are in use—and those are partially filled from active solicitation of business. The reasons: the Gaston unit used to be the only such hospital in the state, and especially during the Polio epidemic period was much in demand: Nowadays, most major hospitals have an orthopedic section, and there are many orthopedic surgeons across the state. Flaherty's staff is working on a plan to close down the old hospital and put in a smaller unit connected with the general service Gaston Memorial Hospital. Rest Stops The Travel Council of North Carolina has taken a stand in favor of the state's rest stop program along Interstate and primary high-

Hugh Morton, president of the council, owner of Grandfathers Mountain and former gubernatorial candidate, has written urging the state "do nothing to hamper existing program" which he termed "vital to the success of the travel industry in North Carolina." A cost-study commission headed by State Senator I. C. Crawford, D-Buncombe, has urged a cutback on the $50 million program in which as much as a million dollars are spent on one rest stop facility; plans call for one every 30 or so miles; and some $50,000 a year is spent on upkeep and maintenance across the state. Crawford's commission thinks the restroom facilities could be less elaborate, placed further apart, and serviced by regular highway crews rather than having three fulltime people employed to work at each center.

Sunday Morning Notes

A civilian reported that he was visiting a friend on a military base recently. Becoming hopelessly lost, he stopped and asked two enlisted men if they could tell him where the officer's club was located. "I don't know," one said. Then as the man was driving off, the other one yelled, "And we don't care, either."

Some things don't change in the military. Jack Whichard, co-publisher of "The Daily Reflector," had a birthday last week. He visited Biggs Drug Store for coffee Tuesday morning. Soon the door opened and his minister the Rev. Norman Bennett, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, entered carrying a cup cake with a candle in it.

ALVIN TAYLOR

The pastor spread a birthday napkin on the table in front of Jack and lit the candle. He wished Jack a Happy Birthday and told him to make a wish. Jack stared at the little cup cake and finally blew out the candle. "I wish it was bigger," he said. Well it's the thought that counts. At any rate Jack told his minister he could have broadened the horizons of the little birthday celebration by having the Memorial Baptist choir on hand to sing "Happy Birthday." Biggs Drug Store would never again be the same.

A sweet young thing brought her car to a halt at Tar River Estates the other night. She left the car in the middle of the street and sauntered over to a resident. She gave a name and asked if the resident knew where the person lived. "No," he answered, "There are 400 apartments out here. You need an address." The pretty girl said her friend only gave her Tar River Estates. It was suggested that she might be able to find her

Where Guns Abound

By ERNEST SAKLER
ROME (UPI) — Buying a pistol, a rifle or a machinegun in Italy, according to the police, is child's play. And many of the buyers are little more than children. "All you have to do is go to certain neighborhoods in Rome, Milan, Turin or Naples and discreetly spread word that you are interested in a gun," a police source said. "Then you just wait. Once they are satisfied that you are not a policeman, you can get a 7.65 Beretta for $100 or $150 or a P38 for $150 to $300." Police said the incredible availability of guns, some of them left over from World War II and others smuggled in by sea or over the Swiss border, is one of the main reasons for a crime wave that has made bank or post office robberies a daily occurrence. It also has provided a steady supply of armaments for urban guerrilla groups of the right and left who killed 20 persons this year in bombings of an anti-Fascist demonstration in Brescia and a Rome-Munich train. "Italy ranks first in the illegal traffic of small firearms, followed by Turkey, Germany, the United States and France," the Turin newspaper La Stampa said recently, quoting Interpol sources. An Interpol official in Paris told UPI this was "approximately right, although there are different standards for judging it." Italian official statistics show illegal weapons found by police between 1945 and 1971 included 191 artillery pieces, 1,077 mortars and rocket launchers, 6,006 machineguns, 225,218 rifles, 84,414 pistols, 424,362 hand grenades, 2,740,542 pounds of explosives and more than 35

The INSIDE REPORT

Dead And Buried In N.Y.

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
NEW YORK—The stubbornly rightist tone taken by Gov. Malcolm Wilson in his gloom-drenched campaign to be elected in his own right is transforming an overdue New York pendulum swing toward the Democrats into a massive political revision, with deep national significance. Abandoning the mild progressivism which has been the New York Republican victory formula for over 30 years, Wilson has sounded abrasively conservative themes on such social issues as capital punishment, busing, abortion and pornography. Heartsick Republican moderates know this strategy assures a landslide victory for governor by Rep. Hugh Carey and darkens the long-term Republican future here. Thus, with moderate Republicanism threatened in Michigan and nearing destruction in Massachusetts, it is dead and buried in New York. Joining Wilson's inflexibility as a cause of death is Carey's rebuilding the old Roosevelt coalition to preempt the middle. What makes this so ominous for Republicans nationally is that the New York GOP effectively reacted to the challenge posed by the New Deal while most other state Republican parties declined into permanent minority status. Two Republican governors, Thomas E. Dewey for 12 years and Nelson Rockefeller for 15 years, were progressive enough to raid Democratic voters (interrupted only by Averell Harriman's single term in 1955-59). Ironically, Wilson was Rockefeller's handpicked successor as lieutenant governor, becoming governor last year when Rockefeller quit and his potential Republican challenger was crushed in a brutal power play traceable to Rockefeller forces. Prominent Republicans hoped that Wilson, even if he lost in this Democratic year, would prove a centrist campaigner in the Dewey-Rockefeller pattern. Those hopes have been demolished. Advisers have tried to convince Wilson that his right-wing appeals simply reinforce the conservative minority which is already his while offending other voters. They cannot understand why Wilson, assured of support from the right-to-life movement, still stresses opposition to abortion and even points out his disagreement about it with Rockefeller. Wilson's attitude is reflected by his television spot depicting a slain policeman's funeral and contending that Carey "laughed off" capital punishment for cop killers. Public reaction to the tasteless commercial was predictably negative. The Rochester Times-Union, which endorsed Wilson this week, called it "a simplistic appeal to base instincts" and urged Wilson to take it off the air. Wilson refused. "He's going to keep that stuff on the air," one disgusted Republican told us, "even if it kills him." His inflexibility suggests Wilson has scarcely changed from the Catholic suburban legislator put on the 1958 ticket by Rockefeller to add conservative balance. While the Rockefeller inner circle felt Wilson moved leftward those 15 years as lieutenant governor, he in fact remains rigidly conservative in philosophy, political strategy and private life. He likes to point out that on such issues as residency requirements for welfare recipients it was Nelson Rockefeller who moved right rather than Malcolm Wilson who moved left. But critics who complain he is preaching to the converted are not entirely correct. Upstate Republicans and conservative Catholic Democrats who ought to be solidly Wilson's simply cannot believe that Carey, a devout Brooklyn Catholic, a rich businessman and a widower with 12 children, is the dangerous radical painted by Wilson even if he does vote a straight liberal line in Congress. Carey, in short, has mastered the nearly forgotten Democratic art of voting aggressively left on economic issues and appearing impeccably right in lifestyle. Frustrated and bewildered, Wilson lashes back at "Careyism"—calling

Public Forum

To the editor: The proposed constitutional amendment to permit issuance of tax exempt development bonds is being sold to John Q. Public as an instrument to simultaneously provide new jobs for North Carolinians as well as improve environmental quality, all with no rise in taxes. Any proposal that sounds this good must have some flaws and this one does. The fact that Mecklenburg County is prepared to authorize $230,000,000 in such bonds to pay for nuclear expansion by Duke Power Company is evidence that the big plums resulting from this amendment will be plucked by a few big plumpickers rather than generally expanding job opportunities in less developed counties. So-called pollution abatement was tacked on as a sugar coating and the pill presented as a peppermint. Our respected state treasurer, Mr. Edwin Gill, has stated that passage of this amendment will diminish the excellent credit rating currently enjoyed by North Carolina. Environmentalists denounce this amendment as a subterfuge perpetrated by the utility companies to gain funds needed for expansion of generating capacity that are not currently available on the regular money market. Please try to see a complete copy of the amendment actually proposed before you vote on Tuesday. The Conservation Council of North Carolina feels that the description printed on your ballot is so misleading that we have filed for a court injunction to have it (proposition No. 2) removed from the ballot. Actually you are being asked to make constitutional two proposals which were passed by previous legislatures only to be ruled unconstitutional by the state's courts. Is it really "in the public interest" to use bond money generated in the manner proposed to assist in construction of a nuclear power plant owned and operated by a private corporation? Vincent Bellis, eastern member Board of Directors Conservation Council of North Carolina

40 Years Ago Today

November 3, 1934 Meeting in a two-hour session last night, the Board of Aldermen has agreed to contribute $200 to the development of a Boy Scout movement in the area. Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and B. B. Sugg, along with others, asked for funds to expand the Boy Scout activities. A meeting at the High School last night completed plans for the scouting program, with more than 30 persons present. North Carolina voters go to the polls Tuesday to cast ballots in the general election. Little interest in the campaign has developed here, but party leaders have urged voters to go to the polls in large numbers. The election will find balloting facilities in Greenville and Chicod much improved over the primary, with the creation of four voting places in Greenville and three in Chicod instead of the usual one in each precinct. —Susan Price

EUPHEMISMS
A euphemism is a pretty word with which we often try to hide from reality. When we lack the courage to face an unpleasant fact, we often try to veil the true significance of the fact with some pleasing expression. To call sin good in the making, or self-expression, or temperament, or human weakness, is a typical example of using euphemism to hide the harsh reality. John Ruskin, the English author, once said, "When you are examining yourself, never call yourself a sinner

That is cheap abuse and utterly useless; call yourself a liar, a coward, a sluggard, a glutton, etc. if you find yourself to be any one of them." Ruskin's point was that even the word sin itself, if used often enough in merely a general way, can become a euphemism of sorts. If in church services we glide quickly over the confession, never really facing our sins explicitly, they get lost in verbiage. To hide from our sins by euphemism can be fatal to the spiritual life. —By Elisha Douglass

General Motors Is Digging In

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — First the good news. General Motors, which will sell perhaps $30 billion worth of goods to the world during the next year, has stated it plans no immediate price increases on 1975-model cars. Speaking at a news conference in Troy, Mich., Wednesday, E.M. Estes, GM president, was quoted as indicating prices will remain the same at least for the rest of this year and probably longer. Trade talk had suggested that more price increases would soon be forthcoming from the Big Three — GM, Ford and Chrysler — but Estes seemed to dispel that possibility so long as the car market remains weak. For a company of such size — it is the largest manufacturing enterprise in the world — such a statement is extraordinary, especially since GM already is under price pressure from its suppliers and others. In taking its stand, the company introduces a degree of stability into an uncertain atmosphere. Among other things, the move reassures car buyers that they need not rush into the market now in order to avoid higher prices in months to come, thus reducing the fear of the future as a cause of inflation. It all but compels competitors to maintain similarly stable pricing programs. It offers an example by which other companies can measure their own prices. It might even impose a moral restraint on GM suppliers. In summary, it might not have the impact of a move by the Federal Reserve Board or the Ford administration budget makers, but its impact cannot be underestimated either. GM last year sold $35.8 billion of cars, diesels, air-conditioners, batteries, trucks, buses, refrigerators, construction items and other products. It buys hundreds of millions of dollars of glass, rubber, steel. Its employment never has fallen below 660,000 in the past decade. It is the most powerful corporation in the world, and its impact is felt not only by every American but by millions abroad. And now the bad news. While GM is thus making its contribution to the anti-inflation effort, it is simultaneously preparing for and reacting to a major downturn in the U.S. economy. It will be buying less, selling less, employing fewer workers and earning less. It cannot earn the same as a year ago, in fact, unless it pares its costs. It claims already to be absorbing $100 of increased costs since 1975-model prices were announced. Corporate officers announced a week ago that current income has been "adversely affected by rapidly rising costs, reduced volume, and by strikes," the latter occurring mainly at suppliers. If it already has decided to avoid higher prices as a route out of this earnings predicament, its only other choice is to cut costs. In good times this can be done by increasing sales, but that option also has been closed. In summary, GM must retrench, and that means everyone associated with GM must think about cutting back—its suppliers, employees, dealer-distributors, rail and motor carriers, advertisers, and maybe even recipients of GM dividends.

Annual Clothing Bank Drives Begins Monday

The Greenville Moose Lodge Clothing Bank drive begins Monday evening, with Otha Joyner as special chairman for the annual project.

"This is the season when local families are sorting their wardrobes for the cold weather, finding articles of clothing that have been outgrown, replaced, or will be replaced," says Joyner. "It's those items we want. There are a lot of families in the county for whom used, but still usable clothing, can make a lot of difference this winter."

Moose lodge members have been asked to contribute clothing, and to solicit their friends and neighbors for sweaters, coats, dresses, shirts, trousers, blouses, suits, shoes, ect. that can be distributed among the needier families of the county.

"Most of us," said Joyner, "have had, and will have warm clothing for the winter; but for many children and adults the clothing bank fills a real need in their lives as well as an opportunity to help by their more fortunate fellow citizens."

As in past years, the collected clothing will be cleaned and minor repairs effected, sorted and stored for distribution during the winter months. Recipients are referred to the clothing bank by teachers, ministers, and social workers.

"We need clothing of all sizes," said Joyner, "but there is a special need for children's clothing; there is never quite enough."

To facilitate Monday's collection program a system different from that of past years has been adopted. This time, prospective donors are asked to telephone the Moose office (756-4370) during the day, and Moose members assisted by Boy Scouts of Troop 362 will provide a pickup service beginning at 7:00 p.m. "We think this will be a much more efficient procedure than previously used," said Joyner.

"The Moose have a reputation for community service," he continued, "but much of it is dependant upon the rallying of many families to a particular project. This is a good one. Literally hundreds of Pitt County people were helped last year by the clothing bank; and every contributor . . . and there were hundreds of them, too . . . shared in filling a real need. A warm coat or sweater, a dress or skirt, a suit or pair of trousers that has little value to its present owner can mean a great deal to another person. I hope many people will share in this opportunity to help our less fortunate neighbors."

Sheltered Workshop And Weyerhaeuser Teamed

Reflector Staff Writer

The Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop, in cooperation with the City of Greenville and the Weyerhaeuser Company, has undertaken a project to compress all corrugated paper they collect in the Greenville area.

According to Howard Dawkins, executive director of the Workshop, the Weyerhaeuser Company has installed a Model HT 1,000 transfer compactor valued at $40,000. Through an agreement with Weyerhaeuser, the property will become the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop's at the end of 10 years for the price of $1.

"The piece of machinery will allow the Workshop to compress all corrugated paper that is produced in the community," Dawkins said. "It has a capacity of 20 tons per day."

Weyerhaeuser will purchase all waste paper that the Workshop produces.

"Approximately 15 clients are now working in the paper recycling program," Dawkins said. "Any profit made on the project will be used to help the handicapped of our community. Therefore, we need the cooperation of every person in the community to help us obtain all the paper possible."

The Workshop has entered into a contract for 10 years with the City of Greenville to recycle all corrugated materials and newsprint collected by the city through the refuse collection system.

The Workshop is asking the community and industry to separate corrugated materials so they can be delivered to the Workshop, and wet garbage can be taken to the landfill.

The Workshop is supplementing the collection that the city trucks will be making.

The Workshop has two trucks which will be used to collect cardboard.

"We now have eight houses where we can put newspapers, magazines, and even corrugated materials," Dawkins said. "We ask merchants and industries to separate their materials for us."

Hearst Reward Is Withdrawn

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Randolph A. and Catherine Hearst, saying a $50,000 reward they've posted for the safe return of their fugitive daughter might jeopardize her safety, have withdrawn the offer.

Patricia Hearst, 20, was kidnaped Feb. 4 by the Symbionese Liberation Army but later allegedly joined her captors and now is sought on charges including kidnaping and armed robbery.

"This can mean so much to the Workshop in serving the people and the community," Dawkins stated.

"The City Council is supporting the project with full cooperation and has given the Workshop a 10-year contract for the project of recycling."

"When you cooperate, you are lending a hand to the handicapped persons of our community," Dawkins added.

Persons or firms with large amounts of corrugated materials may call the Workshop and ask for Gene Higson, manager of the recycling project.

Dawkins said the project will provide a more meaningful program for the Workshop clients. He added the cooperation of the community is needed so the program will be a success.

Bill Carstarphen, city manager, said, "We are glad to help the Sheltered Workshop in their recycling program. We are grateful for their small recycling beginning and that now we can offer the community a real service. We are just real happy to be cooperating with them in making Greenville a better place in which to live."

Individuals may bring paper by the Workshop at any time and they will be glad to accept it. Persons who have been taking their paper to the landfill are asked to take it to the Workshop instead.

James C. Davidson of Weyerhaeuser said his company is proud to be a part of the project and wishes them every success.

Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West said the City of Greenville is pleased to cooperate with the Workshop in their recycling program.

"We feel it will benefit the city as well as the Workshop in years to come," West added.

RUFUS EDMISTEN will return the people to the Attorney General's office

North Carolinians need someone they can trust in government—someone who will represent all the people. Someone who knows that being Attorney General of North Carolina means that the laws of our state apply equally to all North Carolinians. Rufus Edmisten is fighting to protect the rights of all individuals.

He wants to become Attorney General because he believes that something can be done about crime. He has advocated a program of increasing the number of SBI agents, adding another mobile crime lab, expanding the SBI Drug Squad, and working to improve salaries and fringe benefits for local law enforcement officers.

As Attorney General Rufus Edmisten will go before the legislature to work hard for more judges, additional prosecutors, and legislation insuring speedy trials so that the hardened criminals are removed from our streets.

Tons Of Radioactive Tailings Concern Salt Lake

By KEN CONNAUGHTON
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Squaring in the center of the Salt Lake Valley's suburban sprawl an abandoned water tower and smokestack rise from a 100-acre no man's land of crusted dirt and sunburnt weeds.

The area is an eyesore: it looks more sterile than menacing.

But underneath the tumbled and scattered railroad ties lie an estimated 1.66 million tons of radioactive uranium tailings described by sundry officials as "lethal" and "a time bomb in the community" of half a million which surrounds them.

The 8-foot-deep mound of tailings was left behind when the Vitro Chemical Co., closed up shop in the late 1960s, after producing uranium for the federal government during the post-war boom.

The tailings, the radioactive residue left after the uranium is processed, are still there because they are the center of a classic bureaucratic donny-brook: everyone agrees they are highly dangerous but no one wants to pay for neutralizing them.

The land is partially enclosed with a six-foot chain link fence, and posted haphazardly against trespass. It is, at least nominally, off limits to sightseers, and no new construction is permitted within half a mile.

But the dry dirt lumped on top of the tailings is criss-crossed with wheel ruts and foot trails, and the tower and smokestack are emblazoned with graffiti.

A freeway runs along the dump's east side, a highway meanders through it and on to the Jordan River and the Great Salt Lake. Existing businesses continue as usual along its perimeter.

The dump emits radon gas, which hangs on dust particles and is blown around the valley by the desert wind. Monitoring has documented the gas—and alpha, beta and gamma radiation—in neighboring buildings at as much as 50 times the federally established maximum levels.

The stream leaches the radioactive material as it runs through and carries it into other waters, where some health officials say it is already affecting wildlife.

Dr. Harry Gibbons of the City-County Health Department, which ordered the construction moratorium around the site, says the radiation emanating from the dump can cause cancer and leukemia.

"It is a hazard which could in many years time certainly be lethal to persons in the area," he said.

"I doubt the state would pick that up," he said.
He said the federal government is "trying to study it to death to determine how far" the danger extends.

Gibbons says the tailings have to be moved, and the estimated cost runs as high as $7 million.

"I doubt the state would pick
that up," he said.
Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, introduced a bill more than a year ago that would have allowed the Atomic Energy Commission to pay up to 75 per cent of the cost of moving the dump.

But a Senate subcommittee conducting hearings on the bill endorsed an AEC and Environmental Protection Agency proposal that action be delayed until a study was completed of all such dumps around the country, and of the best methods for neutralizing them.

The AEC said in September funds may not be available to complete that study.

"It doesn't seem that the AEC is anxious to do anything," a spokesman for Moss' office said. "They're dragging both feet."

Moss claims the Vitro dump is different from other tailings piles in the country because it is endangering a community of half a million. He says it deserves top priority.

"The federal government is grossly negligent in following up a health hazard they had a hand in creating," Gibbons said.

Dr. Richard E. Kanner of the Utah State Medical Association has called the Vitro dump "a time bomb in the community" which must be defused before it goes off.

Moss says the dump is "lethal." He and Rep. Wayne
Owens, D-Utah, who introduced Moss' bill in the House, say the federal government admitted a moral responsibility to neutralize radioactive dumps when it paid part of the cost of a similar project in Grand Junction, Colo.

But, a Moss aide said, the entire Vitro project is now

"hanging fire" while the AEC determines whether it has the money to complete its study, and whether it wants to spend it.

"They move so damn slow..."
he said.

Sugar Price Due Demand

NEW YORK (AP) — Price rises in sugar have been caused by a spiraling increase in demand for sugar that far exceeds available supply, according to experts at the Sugar Assn.

The reasons for this escalating demand include: 1) Sharply increased consumption of the carbohydrate in the newly emerging countries, which formerly were relatively small consumers of sugar; 2) heavier consumption of sugar in Russia, China and Japan; 3) speculation in the commodity by cash-rich Mid-East nations; 4) weather problems that have put a crimp in sugar crops and further shortened supply.

The United States consumes far more sugar than it produces. Therefore, vast quantities of raw sugar must be imported at prices established in worldwide commodity markets to supply the much-wanted commodity. One of the stable factors in the situation is that consumption of sugar in the U.S. has remained virtually unchanged over many decades at about 100 pounds per person annually. This includes sugar used in preparation of foods as well as sugar consumed at table.

Questioning Extent Of Taxpayer Burden

The Cypress Group of the Sierra Club, recently incorporated as a Sierra Club group of eastern North Carolina, has been informed that the North Carolina Wildlife Federation is seeking to determine how much of the financing for the Chicod Creek Small Watershed project will be paid for by taxpayers of North Carolina.

The project, which has been blocked by lawsuit since November, 1971, contains 65 miles of stream channelization.

Charles Shaw, Executive Vice President of the North Carolina Wildlife Federation notes: "It would be a source of deep concern to us if the state of North Carolina were putting up money for this project which sponsors should rightfully pay. These small watershed projects benefit a handful of private landowners. They do not benefit the general public."

Shaw says that federal law requires that such projects be cost-shared by local landowners who will benefit from flood control and drainage.

"Assessments on landowners for the local cost share of the Chicod Project were originally $266,179," he pointed out. "Although the total cost of the project has risen 98 per cent to $2,274,531 since it was first approved, assessments on benefitting landowners have not increased."

electrical safety begins with adequate wiring

Unsafe electrical conditions may begin with the addition of a new electric appliance. When installing a new appliance or moving appliances to a new location, have a qualified electrician verify that...

- Adequate electrical service is available to the home.
- The addition of the appliance will not overload the circuit on which it is used.
- Appliance circuits have adequately grounded, three-prong receptacles.
- Grounded outlets are properly polarized.

Most modern homes are supplied with 100 amp or greater service. A 100 amp service on 120 volts provides about 12,000 watts. This could supply the equivalent of ten 1,000 watt irons used simultaneously, but not fifteen.

Before you add an electric appliance, be sure that your wiring is adequate to serve it safely. If in doubt, consult a qualified electrician.

GIs Flown To Germany For Exercise

By PHILIP J. TILL

BONN (UPI) — An American tank rumbles through a small German town and a schoolboy flashes a "v" for victory sign. "I feel like I'm in a World War II movie," the GI riding atop the big green war machine said with a grin.

The soldier was one of 12,000 U.S. "Reforger" troops—soldiers assigned to the defense of West Germany but stationed in the United States.

The Reforgers have flown to Germany to join 26,000 German-based U.S., German and Canadian troops on a two-month combat exercise (ending Nov. 23) aimed at giving the men front-line experience and demonstrating the western allies combat readiness.

The annual Reforger exercise—Reforger is an acronym for redeployment of forces to Germany—pitted the U.S.-based soldiers, supported by Germany's 30th Panzer brigade, against "aggressor forces" composed of European-based troops.

A tent city erected on a plain near the northern Bavarian state line served as headquarters.

Work began at dawn with soldiers rolling out of sleeping bags to shave in cold water. Razor blades were rationed.

"It reminds me of basic training," one GI said, jogging along holding a milkshake and a hamburger. "I took my training at Fort Dix (New Jersey) in winter. You had to gulp the food before it froze."

Most Reforger troops deployed in the surrounding forests and fields, fighting mock battles. Some 1,600 umpires kept tabs on the opposing "Orange" and "Blue" forces.

Tanks crunched through the Bavarian countryside. Children waved to the soldiers and got candy bars in return. Farmers stood still in their fields and watched silently as the convoys passed, perhaps thinking of a time when the tanks they saw fought a real enemy.

The men at headquarters watched movies and American Forces Network television. "We've been watching the Beverly Hillbillies and football games," said Sgt. Alphonso Berger, Hansford, W. Va.

Berger said Reforger was good for soldiers. "I think morale is higher," he said. "It's a change of pace."

"I expected to have to spend some time shivering in the field," said Reforger Rookie PFC Anthony J. Petraccatella, Staten Island, N.Y. "But it's bearable so long as you're kept busy."

Lt. George A. Danish, Erie, Pa., said Reforger exercises were necessary because "a soldier who normally sits behind a typewriter all day just can't imagine what it's like to see a tank formation come over a hill."

A disgruntled medic, shaving in cold water from his helmet, complained of lack of sleep. "We're never sure when we're going to move out. This morning they woke us up at 2:30 a.m., but we didn't move till after nine."

East Carolina University School of Music Dean Dr. Everett Pittman and the school's Assistant Dean, Dr. Charles Stevens, will appear in a duo-piano recital on Wednesday, at 8:15 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the A.J. Fletcher Music Center.

For their joint program, the two faculty performers have chosen selections that rate high among the favorites of fans of piano music. The works they will play are by four great European composers of the 19th century and early 20th century—Bizet, Chopin, Debussy and Rachmaninoff.

The program opens with Debussy's En Blanc et Noir, a composition in three movements. The next selection will be Chopin's Rondo in C Major, to be followed by the "Romance" and "Waltz" from Rachmaninoff's Suite No. 2. The program will conclude with Bizet's Jeux d'enfants, a composition of five movements.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend. Due to the limited seating capacity of the Recital Hall, seating is on a first-come first-served basis.

Emily Kiek Recital

Music senior Emily Ruth Kiek, a native of Salisbury and student of Miss Virginia Linn, will give a piano recital at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, at the Recital Hall of the A.J. Fletcher Music Building.

In her program, Miss Kiek will be assisted by a woodwind quintet comprised of Michael Army, flute; Timothy Hoffman, oboe; Linda Wagner, clarinet; Frederick McLean, bassoon; and Thomas W. Barker, horn.

Selections to be performed by Miss Kiek are: Fantasia in D Minor, Mozart; Preludes, Opus 28 by Chopin; Beethoven's Quintet, Opus 71; the Suite pour Instruments a Vent, Charles Lefebure; Intermezzo, Opus 118, Brahms; and four pieces by Bartok, Evening in the Country, See Saw, Portrait of a Young Girl and Dance of the Bears.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Returns A Signed Flag To Dead Soldier's Family

Marine Reservist Is Avid Military Collector

By SGT. DAN WEBB
MCAS, CHERRY POINT—Private Dennis J. Denoi, a reserve Marine with the Fourth Air Naval Gunfire Liaison Company in West Palm Beach, Florida, collects military articles. In three years he has collected over $50,000 worth of items.

"My collection started when I bought some medals from my cousin," he stated.

"I began collecting any military items, but now I intend to center my collection around the Marine Corps. The type of things Denoi collects range from fire arms to medals with a variety of items in between.

"The most expensive item in my collection," says Denoi, is a sword from the War of 1812. I bought it along with several other swords and bayonets, all for $100. Later I was offered $800 for it but wouldn't sell."

Denoi has also found his collection offers other rewards besides its monetary value.

A very rewarding and memorable experience came when Denoi purchased an old Japanese flag with writing on it for his collection.

After 28 years a mother knew for sure that her son was dead.

While he was attending driving school at Headquarters Squadron-28 this past summer as part of his active duty training, Pvt. Denoi made another addition to his collection.

"I had photos of several generals but I didn't have any of a Marine Corps

"When I bought the flag," he explained, "I didn't understand the writing but a fellow collector's Japanese wife read it and began to cry. A custom of the Japanese people was to return to a family something personal from a soldier killed in battle, usually that soldier's own flag which had been signed by his family and friends before he went to war. The flag I bought," Denoi continued, "belonged to someone who was killed in World War II and it should have been returned to his parents."

A Japanese salesman visiting the United States took the flag back and returned it to the family.

Panovs To Dance In U.S.

Valery and Galina Panov, the Russian dancers who spent two years fighting the Soviet authorities for the right to emigrate to Israel, will dance for the first time in the Western Hemisphere on Tuesday, December 10, at 8:00 p.m. at the Spectrum in Philadelphia.

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Robert Zeller, noted ballet music maestro, will provide musical support in the "Welcome Ballet Concert for the Panovs."

The Panovs, who have been preparing for their Western debut in Stuttgart, West Germany and Israel, will dance a variety of pas de deux and excerpts from their Russian repertoire.

The Philadelphia Spectrum, which will seat 12,500 for this event, is going to great lengths to prepare a suitable stage and dance surface for the orchestra and the Panovs.

Art By Ben Shahn, Daniel Shay In Two New Exhibits

DETAIL... from "I With You," an acrylic by Daniel Shay in a show now on view at the Greenville Art Center in the upstairs gallery.

Four excellent exhibits of art are on view for the public in Greenville, two that have been up for some time previously (the Walter Thrift exhibit at the Art Center and Scott Tabar's jewelry at The Mushroom); and two new shows.

For the month of November, the 22 lithographs with accompanying pages of verse that comprise Ben Shahn's portfolio "For The Sake of A Single Verse" is on display in Kate Lewis Gallery (the hallway of Whichard Building on campus at East Carolina University).

The large lithographs, from the permanent collection of the Greenville Art Center, contains some of Shahn's most lyrical work. Several of the prints are crisp black and white drawings; some are black, white and gray washes; a few are in subdued dawn and twilight colors.

Based on verses from "The Notebook of Malte Laurids Briggs" by the German poet Rainer Maria Rilke, the lithographs are visual evocations of the tender, sad, lonely rejoicing lines of Rilke's verse... "For the sake of a single verse — one must see many cities, men and things. One must feel how the birds fly, and know the gestures with which the little flowers open in the morning... to unexpected meetings — and partings one had long seen coming... to days of childhood that are still unexplained — to days in rooms withdrawn and quiet — to mornings by the sea. And it is not enough if one may think of all of this. One must have memories of many nights of love, none of which was like the others..."

For the first time since the Art Center acquired this outstanding portfolio by one of America's great graphic artists, the public now has the opportunity to see the prints as an entity.

Igor Stravinsky, the great composer, was born in Russia. He became a French citizen in 1934 and an American citizen in 1945. He died in April 1971.

The Nile river flows 960 miles through Egypt and covers 2,850 square miles with water and marshes.

Submissions Sought For "Rebel"

What will possibly be the biggest issue ever of Rebel, the East Carolina University literary magazine, is scheduled for publication next spring, possibly in April, according to editor Phillip Arrington.

For this issue which is expected to run about 80 pages, Arrington has announced that monetary prizes will be awarded in two categories, prose and poetry. "There will be a first prize of $100 each for the best in prose and the best in poetry," Arrington said. "Only students enrolled at ECU will be eligible for prize money. However," he added, "we will welcome submissions from the public to consider for publication in this issue of Rebel though we cannot offer any payment for material used."

Ray Elmore, faculty member of the School of Art, has created a fine arrangement, alternating groups placed flat against the wall with other prints mounted on simple slightly projecting squares of colored canvas.

The full impact of joy and suffering, of youth and death implicit in Rilke's poetry and Shahn's art comes across with all their power and beauty in this setting.

Student Show

In the Upstairs Gallery at the Greenville Art Center, the second new exhibit in town is that of ECU senior art student Daniel Shay. A dozen and one paintings, some figurative, others abstract, encompass both paintings in black and white and in color.

Daniel, a native of Charlotte, uses black in the manner of pen and ink drawings in a couple of oversize drawings. These are clearly delineated, in contrast to the loose, fluid strokes of one painting of a nude in cream, red and brown. Again, his brush work varies in the abstracts from small, controlled applications giving a lyrical effect to broad, heavy strokes.

"What I would like to be able to do is change the circumstances under which we see," Daniel said about this group, which is dedicated to Mrs. Edith Walker, director of the Art Center.

Daniel's paintings show promise, and there's a discernable kinship in his construction of the abstract paintings with some of the work of the late Walter Thrift, currently represented in the downstairs galleries at the Art Center in a Memorial Exhibition.

The smallest painting in Daniel's show is entitled "Tangiers," a painting in dark earth colors shot through with touches of light. This painting projects an image of broken, eroded hillsides.

"The idea of going to Africa appeals to me strongly,"

Daniel said. "I hope to study painting there for at least a year after I graduate."

Daniel acquired a yen for traveling during his three year military service. "I was stationed in Thailand, Turkey and in Vietnam with I Corps at Phu Bai," he said.

Daniel's show (not a senior requirement one) will be up until November 15. It's a fine small show on its own, and has added interest in the circumstance of its being on view at the same time of the Thrift show downstairs.

Book News

From Sheppard Memorial Library

By JOE R. STINES

FLY AWAY PAUL, a compelling young adult novel by Peter Davies, can now be found at Sheppard Memorial Library. The story has its setting in a boys' home in Montreal where Paul Wood has lived for three years with two hundred other boys whose ages ranged from seven to eighteen. Few were orphans. Most were there because of the death of one or both parents, or divorce, or simply because their parents were tired of seeing them around twenty-four hours a day. Most boys came from lower-income backgrounds. Few of the boys had been in trouble with the law, yet all were treated as potential criminals, herded together, living bunk-by-bunk and dormitory-by-dormitory. Paul has run away four times and has been beaten soundly each time for his recklessness. For a while, he had three friends who really cared about him: a little German boy who became his brother, his good friend Campbell who was just "perfect," and Christina, the first girl friend he'd ever had with whom he could talk and laugh. But his best friend Campbell died, the little German boy went back to Germany, and Christina was forbidden to see him. Paul alone has to cope with the harsh director of the home, Old King Cole, and with the cruelty and sexuality of the boys around him as he fights to make a new way of life for himself.

FLY AWAY PAUL will intrigue you with its totally convincing picture of boys' fantasies, rivalries, feuds, and sexual tensions. Julie Barton is not the average six-year-old child. She has a very "special" power. It involves her eyes. From the moment she was born they were open. The attending physician had been so startled that he dropped his forceps. When he had recovered from the shock of seeing her eyes open at birth, he had felt that she was actually looking at him. He had the distinct feeling that the eyes were not only seeing but, somehow, knowing. Too, he had not slapped the child to produce the lung-clearing bellow that signaled the start of new life. Oddly enough, he had felt that she hadn't wanted him to. And so he hadn't. Oddly enough. Everyone should meet this unique and charming creature. And you can by reading Jay Brothers' ingenious comic novel, JULIE. This adult story is filled with invention, wisdom and imagination. Julie Barton can make you do anything she wants if you look her in the eye. Ask Hank Redfore, the football hero without a uniform or Reverend Tommy Brand who lost everything. They did what Julie wanted them to do. And so did the President. Yes, Julie got to him also.

JULIE is an unreal book that will guarantee a natural high. Permit Julie to look you in the eye. If you do, you will have to read this book. Travel with Julie Barton and her two older brothers as they turn contemporary America upside down.

Library Films

Only one film, a 29 minute color one—A Slave's Story: Running A Thousand Miles to Freedom, is to be shown in the children's weekly film program in the city libraries.

Show times are 4 p.m. Tuesday at Carver; 7 p.m. Thursday at Sheppard Memorial Library (Children's Library in the basement); and 4 p.m., East Branch Library.

There is no admission charge and all children of elementary age are invited to attend at any of the three libraries.

PHP (Peace, Prosperity, Happiness)—A Forum For A Better World. Published monthly by PHP Institute, Inc., Rm. 903, 5-1, Reppongi 5-chome, Minato-Ku, Tokyo, 106, Japan. Annual subscription U.S. $7.00.

This small magazine (85 pages in the October 74 edition) carries an interesting array of subjects covering Japanese and world-wide subjects and issues in brief format. Dedicated to open-minded communication as an important path to understanding, emphasis is placed on concise, clear-cut reportage rather than interpretative or analytical approaches.

In the October issue, for example, India's Yogesh Vajpey writes on the "ghotul," the house for unmarried teen-agers of the Muria tribe. Here, boys and girls live together in complete freedom until their time of marriage—after which they are never again allowed to visit the "ghotul." Three photographs accompany the article.

Senator Edward Kennedy contributes some fresh observations on the idea that "The Future Belongs To The Young;" and Kenshiro Ohara probes into researches on Japanese suicide statistics, especially among younger people.

Something of a surprise is Dr. Noboru Hagino's account of his uphill fight against apathy and official disbelief in his research and findings on cadmium poisoning created by a plant's discharge into the Jintsu River. His warnings were shunted aside until he received the backing of U.S. medical grants.

Altogether, there's more than a dozen informative articles in this small format magazine—a magazine perhaps best described as a minor cousin of America's "Readers Digest."

Schink Powers Bucs Past The Citadel

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Don Schink led an East Carolina University attack against The Citadel Saturday afternoon, delighting 19,450 Homecoming fans with a 41-21 victory.
The win boosted the Pirates back into the Southern Conference title race with Richmond and VMI. The Spiders beat the Keydets Saturday, 17-14, leaving everyone in the league with at least one loss. East Carolina and Richmond, tied at 2-1 in the league, meet in another key game Saturday in the Virginia capital.

Schink, having his best game of the year, rushed for 144 yards in 21 carries, 6.9 yards per carry. He scored three touchdowns, on runs of 23, 9 and 3 yards.

Mike Myrick and Mike Weaver each added touchdowns, on runs of 35 and seven yards, respectively, while Jim Woody had field goals runs of 35 and seven yards, respectively, while Jim Woody had field goals of 28 and 32 yards and kicked five extra points.

The Citadel, which led briefly, 7-3, got scores on a one-yard run by quarterback Gene Dotson, and on two passes from number two signal caller Rod Lanning to tight end Dickie Regan, of 10 and 50 yards. Steve Bailey added one PAT point on a kick, and Lanning hit Steve Yarborough for a two-point following their final touchdown.
The Citadel's ground game, their usual forte, was held in check as they got only 84 yards on the ground, and Southern Conference rushing leader Andrew Johnson picked up just 40 yards in 14 carries. It was enough to power him past 1,000 however, giving him 1,020 for the year.

The Buc secondary was hard-hit however, as Dotson and Lanning combined to complete 17 of 29 passes for 220 yards, probably boosting the hopes of Richmond quarterback Harry Knight, the league's top offensive producer.
East Carolina drove past midfield on its first possession, but it wasn't until their second one that they produced a score.
That second drive started at the Buc 37 and moved quickly to the Citadel 43 on runs of six and 12 yards by Ken Strayhorn. Schink burst away from the 38 to the 14, where he fumbled, but Vic Wilfore was there to save it for the Pirates. Weaver went over from the seven, but the Bucs were in motion, killing the score. On fourth, they settled for a 28-yard field goal by Woody, for a 3-0 lead with 6:23 left in the period.
Both teams followed with threats, as East Carolina drove to the 31, and The Citadel came back to push to the 29 before a field goal attempt fell short from 47 yards.

In the second period, Weaver went back to pass, only to see Billy Long pick it off at the 29 and return it to the Pirate two. Johnson took a pitchout to the one, and Dotson sneaked over from there for the score. Bailey's kick made it 7-3 with 7:38 to go in the half.
But if the Pirates were nice to The Citadel, giving them an easy score, the Bulldogs were just as nice. Jim Bolding set up the first with a 26-yard punt return to the 'Dog 41.
On the first play, Weaver hit Schink with an 18-yard aerial to the 23. Then, Schink burst through the middle to go the rest of the way on the second play, and Woody's kick made it 10-7 with 2:30 left.
Danny Kepley gave the ball right back to the Bucs with a 19-yard interception return to the Citadel 37. Two plays netted two touchdowns, but again the Bucs broke a long one, as Myrick got away over right tackle and outraced the final pursuers to the end zone. Woody again kicked for a 17-7 lead with 20 seconds left.

The Bucs scored again on their first possession of the second half. They drove 55 yards in nine plays. Key among them were a 14-yard romp by Schink, another of nine, and all 11-yard keeper by Weaver from the 20 to the nine. Schick went up the middle from there for the score, and Woody's boot, upped it to 24-7 with 9:40 left.
The Citadel got a break when reserve quarterback Jimmy Southerland fumbled and Long recovered on the Buc 29. Lanning hit Doug Johnson for 18 yards to the 11, but two plays got only a yard. Lanning then tossed one up for grabs in the end zone that Bolding tipped away from primary receiver Johnson right into Regan's hands and the score. That cut it to 24-13 with 4:56 in the period.
East Carolina tried for another score, moving to the 19, but a field goal attempt from there was wide.

Early in the final period, however, the Bucs got it on the Bulldog 26 when Butch Strawderman recovered a fumble. Weaver picked up yardage to the eight, and Myrick got another yard. From the seven, Weaver kept on the eight, and Myrick got another yard. From the seven, Weaver kept on the option around the left side for the score, and following Woody's kick it was 31-13 with about 11:45 left. (The field clock had one out just a few minutes earlier.)
Reggie Pinkney picked off a fumble four plays into the next series at the 21, setting up a 32-yard field goal by Woody with 8:14 to go, bringing it to 34-13.
But the Bulldogs, going to the air, came back in four plays to score. After no gain from the 26, Lanning hit Steve Yarborough for 10, then Doug Johnson at the 50, a 14-yard gain. Regan then got behind the Pirate defense to haul in a 50-yard play for the score, and Yarborough caught Lanning's two-point try pass

Heels Sputter To 24-10 Win

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina sputtered before quarterback Chris Kupec got things rolling Saturday for a 24-10 Atlantic Coast Conference football win over punchless Virginia.

The Tar Heels, now 5-3, hurt themselves with fumbles throughout the game. But it was simply a matter of waiting for Kupec to get the offense untracked, because Virginia posed little threat.
The Cavaliers were forced to play without ACC passing leader Scott Gardner, who has a leg injury. Sophomore Andy Hitt, starting his first game, fumbled three center snaps, threw an interception, and missed two receivers who worked free beyond the Tar Heel secondary.
He was relieved in the fourth quarter by Jim Pruner, who hit flanker Tom Fadden with a 38-yard scoring pass. But that was after Kupec had directed four scoring drives.
He got the Tar Heels' first score himself in the second period on a 7-yard keeper that capped an 80-yard drive. Tailback Mike Voight, who led all rushers with 146 yards, sparked that drive, ripping off yardage in 10-yard chunks.

A Jimmy DeRatt interception set up the play that decided the game. From the Virginia 44, Jimmy Jerome went long and Kupec hit him in full stride at the 10 for a touchdown that made it 17-3.
The Cavaliers dropped to 3-5, 1-3 in the ACC. UNC is 3-1 in play.
The Tar Heels iced it up in the fourth quarter on a touchdown plunge by Dick Oliver. Kupec sparked the drive with passes to Pat Norton and Charles Waddell before Oliver carried it over.
The Tar Heels might have made it a rout, except for four lost fumbles and the brilliant play of tackle Tom McGraw for Virginia. He led one successful Virginia stand inside the 10, sacked Kupec twice and recovered a fumble.
The Tar Heels out-gained Virginia in yardage 483-230. James Betterson, alternating with Voight at tailback, picked up 91 yards rushing. Kupec completed 11 of 15 passes for 147 yards with no interceptions. league play.

pushed the lead to 24-21 with 7:02 to play.
The Bucs had one more score to go however. That was set up then Bolding intercepted at the 'Dog 39. Schink got five and Weaver seven. Weaver hit Wilford at the seven, and a Weaver keeper put it on the three. Schick went through left tackle for the final score, with Woody boosting it to 41-21 with his kick with 2:22 left.
In the final minutes, The Citadel got off another threat, moving it from their own 24 to the Buc 24 before being tossed back on two straight losses and a 15-yard penalty that helped to kill the drive

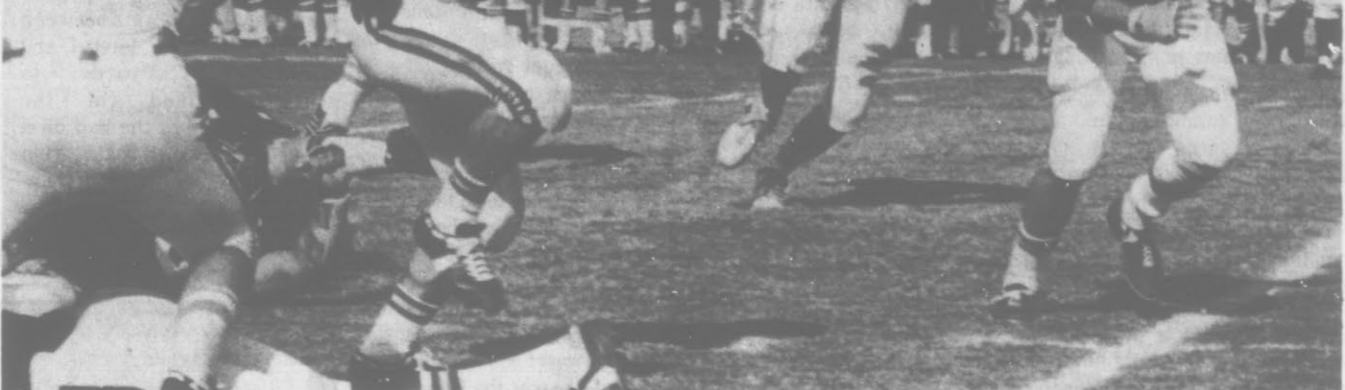

Mounties Stop Furman, 27-3

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Robbie Price threw a touchdown pass and ran 14 times for 74 yards to lead Appalachian State to a 27-3 Southern Conference football victory over Furman Saturday.

The winning Mountaineers boosted their conference record to 3-1 and their overall mark to 5-4 while dropping Furman to 2-3 and 4-4.
Furman netted 269 yards rushing, but three fumbles and two pass interceptions stymied the Paladin offense. Furman's only score was a 22-yard third period field goal by Andy Goss. Quinton McKinney completed the Appalachian scoring in the final period with a 77-yard run after a pass interception.
After a scoreless first period the homecoming crowd at Appalachian's final home game of the season saw the Mountaineers move to a 7-0 lead when Price hit Mike Clark with 21-yard pass with 8:41 left of the second quarter.
A fumble recovery on Furman's 14 set up the score. It came on the fourth play, one of which had resulted in an eight-yard loss.
After Goss kicked the Furman field goal in the fourth minute of the third period, Appalachian struck back with a touchdown. It followed a 47-yard punt return by Devon Ford to Furman's 35. Jimmy Dobbins covered the final yard of the 10-play drive.

In the final period Clinton Bradshaw scored from the eight to cap an 11-play, 61-yard march with 9:50 left.
Less than two minutes later, McKinney scored the final touchdown with his interception return.
Sophomore Harry King ran 10 times for 114 yards and Charles Elvington added 43 in 13 rushes to lead the powerful Paladin ground game. Bradshaw backed up Price's running for Appalachian with 52 yards in six carries.

Richmond Rocks Virginia Military

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Mike Copley's pass interception and a pass interference penalty set up George Crossman's one-yard run with 3:03 Saturday as Richmond's Spiders turned back Virginia Military 17-14 and temporarily stalled the Keydets of Southern Conference football championship bid.
Copley picked off a Tony Farry pass at the VMI 32 with the Keydets trying to protect a 14-10 lead and the Spiders, snapping a three-game losing streak, scored in seven plays, the most damaging an 11-yard interference penalty to the VMI one.
The Keydets, now 4-1 in the conference and 5-3 overall, came from behind twice on the running of Ronnie Norman and Kim Glidewell, but their first turnover of the day resulted in their defeat.
Richmond is now 4-3 overall and remained alive in the conference race with a 2-1 record.
VMI, which drove 67 yards in 15 plays and was aided by a 15-yard penalty to move ahead 14:10 with 2:26 left in the third period, blew two chances to break the game open in the next few minutes.
On Richmond's first play after the kickoff, Edvins Kreilis fumbled and Eric Hutchings recovered for the Keydets on the Richmond 24.
But a Norman run to the 15 was nullified by a clipping penalty and the Keydets were forced to punt.
The Keydets got good field position on Richmond's ensuing punt at the Spiders 44, but they decided not to gamble on a fourth and one situation and kicked into the end zone.
Richmond, which had driven 49 yards for its first touchdown in the opening quarter and 61 yards for a 25-yard field goal by Terry Carter to open the third period, appeared to be moving until quarterback Harry Knight was sacked two times in a row, losing a total of 14 yards.
It was on VMI's next series that Copley made his interception. The Keydets first touchdown, also aided by a 15-yard penalty, was driven in 15 plays that followed Richmond's initial score.
Norman carried 27 times for 122 yards and Glidewell 17 times for 59 yards for the Keydets, while Farry had 63 yards on 21 carries and Crossman had 62 on 12 for the Spiders.
Knight, who several times overthrew open receivers, hit 9 of 19 passes for 98 yards. Farry completed only 2 of 9 for seven yards and was intercepted twice.

The halftime show was enlivened by a brawl between a handful of Richmond students and a much larger number of VMI Keydets, apparently triggered when a derogatory poster displayed by Richmond was ripped up by a group of Keydets.
A number of fights broke out before Maj. Gen. Richard Irby, VMI superintendent, intervened and ordered the Keydets back into the stands.

Wake Beats Jinx, Loses Game

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Wake Forest kicker Joe Bunch ended a scoring famine that had gone 23 quarters with a 28-yard field goal Saturday but it went for naught otherwise. The Deacons lost to Clemson 21-9.
Bunch's field goal came in the second quarter of the Atlantic Coast Conference football game and, for a few minutes, made it appear the winless Deacons had a chance.
But the hopes of Wake Forest supporters were short-lived as Clemson quarterback Mark Fellers got the Tiger offense rolling, ticking off touchdowns in the second and third quarters to back up one in the first period.
It took Fellers only seven seconds to get a touchdown after Clemson took a Wake Forest punt on the Deacon 31 in the first quarter. Fellers hit Rick Bustle on the first play to get the score.
In the second Wake Forest punted again and Clemson got the ball on the Deacons' 45. On the first play Fellers passed to Joey Walters for the touchdown.

It was the eighth loss of the season for Wake Forest, which was only one quarter short of the record for scoreless periods.
But fumbles and penalties hurt. Wake Forest bobbed the ball six times, recovering it five times, and lost 102 yards through penalties.
The Deacons, putting on one of their better performances of the year, had possession of the ball for 32 minutes and eight seconds, more than four minutes than Clemson.

Aaron Traded

MILWAUKEE (AP)—All-time baseball home run king Henry Aaron was traded Saturday by the Atlanta Braves to the Milwaukee Brewers, returning him to the city where he began the home run odyssey that surpassed the immortal Babe Ruth.

Season tickets for the 1974-75 East Carolina University basketball team will be placed on sale Monday. Business Manager of Athletics Earline Leggett has announced.
The tickets, for 11 home games, will be on sale for $25. Included in the Pirates' home schedule are seven Southern Conference games—VMI, The Citadel, Appalachian State, William & Mary, Davidson, Furman and Richmond. The Pirates will also be playing UNC-Wilmington, Georgia State, Mercer and Western Carolina.
This season marks new coach Dave Patton's first year as head Pirate after two years as an assistant. He returns a large number of veterans, as well as several outstanding new recruits.

Honore Leads Aggies To Win

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Unheralded senior fullback Jerry Honore boiled 60 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter Saturday to lift the eighth-ranked Texas Aggies to a hard earned 20-10 victory over Arkansas and remain atop the Southwest Conference standings.

The 6-foot, 219-pound Lake Charles, La. product went into the game without ever scoring a collegiate touchdown but was hurried into the fray when starter Ronnie Hubby suffered an injury.
Rose had to do some tough defensive work to get the game in their control, however, causing three straight fumbles deep in Titan territory, turning two of them into scores.
Lindberg Morris scored two of the Rampant touchdowns, on runs of two and nine yards. Doug Paschal got another, from the one, and Mike Ball passed 14 yards to Tommy Payne for the other. Jeff Hagans kicked one PAT and a 30-yard field goal.
Both teams were bothered by mistakes in the first half, and one of those by the Rampants swung the momentum from Rose to Wilson, propelling them from a 7-0 deficit to a 14-7 lead.

Rose got it back in good field position at the 34, following a short punt, but stalled at the 12, and a Tim Toates field goal was wide.
Rose got the ball back at their own 49 after another punt in the closing seconds of the first quarter, and drove 51 yards for their first score. Three short runs and a penalty gave Rose a first down at the Wilson 40. Morris picked up eight on a pitchout, and on fourth and one, Paschal got the yardage to the 27. "We're Number One," cheered the fans in the stands. And Rose High School's Rampants, who had seen some shaky moments during the game, trailing 14-7 at one time, and 14-13 at another, made sure they were Number One, crushing Wilson Fike 28-14 last night.
The victory was Rose's third straight in the Division I standings, a perfect mark, and assured them of no worse than a tie for the title, and awarded them with a playoff berth. Rocky Mount is the only team that could tie them, and since Rose has already topped the Gryphons, the bid is theirs.

chout around the right side two plays later for the score, but the PAT kick was blocked, and Wilson held the lead, 14-13.
Wilson drove back, moving to the Rose 12 before failing to pick up a first down on the first play of the final period.
Morris took it 17 yards on the first play, then Andrew Newton sprinted through the Wilson defenders for 52 yards down to the Titan 19. Wilson held, however, and Hagans kicked a 30-yard field goal, giving Rose a 16-14 lead with 9:39 left.
It broke Wilson's back.
The Titans fumbled on the first play after the kickoff, with Jay Chenier recovering on the 33. Rose moved to the 16, but lost it downs.

Two plays later, Macon Moyer picked off another fumble, and this time Rose moved for the score. Trevathan kept for six yards, then Newton got eight to the nine. Morris took a pitchout around the right side from there, boosted the lead to 22-14 with 5:19 left. A two-point pass try failed.
Again, three plays after the kickoff, Wilson again was jarred loose from the ball, with Hagans recovering on the 17.
Newton got two, Morris one, then Ball hit Payne for the score from the 14, and it was 28-14 with 2:38 left.
The Titans did finally get a drive going, moving through the air to the Rose 19 before the Rampant defense got too stingy for the Titans and forced the turnover on downs.

Rose, now 7-2 overall, closes out the regular season, facing Elizabeth City's Northeastern High School Friday on the road. They then travel to meet either Sanford or Hoggard in the first round of the state 4-A playoffs.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—
Husky fullback Stan Fritts bulldozed in for 165 yards in scoring two touchdowns as N.C. State bested South Carolina 42-27 in a wide open football game Saturday.

A crowd of 41,500 saw the Wolfpack, which won its first six games and reached eighth place in the national rankings, bounce back after losing its last two outings.

With Fritts bulging for 41 yards, State marched 75 yards in 10 plays to score on its first possession. Fritts ran four yards for the score.

The second Fritts touchdown came early in the second period on a 67 yard drive in which Fritts ran for 17.

Two South Carolina misques contributed mightily to the Wolfpack triumph. State's defensive end Ron Banther took a Kevin Long fumble in mid-air and ran 84 yards for a touchdown that nullified an almost certain South Carolina score early in the third period.

Another South Carolina mishap came late in the second period when State's Ralph Stringer intercepted a Ron Bass pass and ran 10 yards to the Gamecock 18. Tommy London ran nine yards for a score three plays later.

The victory enabled State Coach Lou Holtz to keep alive his record of never having lost in Carter Stadium. In three years his Wolfpack has won 14 games and tied one at home.

State's London scored another touchdown on a run of three yards and State's Roland Hooks rolled up 98 yards rushing and scored once on a 12-yard run.

But South Carolina remained in contention until well into the last period, largely on the running of Clarence Williams who gained 105 yards and scored one touchdown and the passing and running of Bass who gained 129 yards rushing and 155 yards passing.

For his play, Fritts was voted the annual Dick Christy award which is presented to the State offensive player who stars in the South Carolina game. It is presented in memory of Christy who played at State in the late 1950s and scored 29 points in 1957 as State defeated South Carolina 29-26.

Fritts, a senior from Oak Ridge, Tenn., first won the award as a sophomore.

South Carolina Coach Paul Dietzel said he thought his team played with "a lot of guts. But two unbelievable things happened to us—the deflected interception late in the second quarter and the fumble interception in the third quarter were the difference in the game."

Lions Upend Maryland

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)

—Substitute defensive back Jeff Hite scored touchdowns on a 79-yard intercepted pass and 21-yard stolen lateral to lead 10th-ranked Penn State over 15th-rated Maryland 24-17 Saturday in their Eastern college football rivalry.

The 189-pound Hite, a junior from Pittsburgh, started in place of injured defensive captain Jim Bradley and made the key plays in State's seventh victory in eight games.

In addition to Hite, his defensive teammates stymied the Maryland offense as they sacked Terrapin quarterback Bob Avellini six times for a total of 62 yards lost. Avellini had been sacked only once in seven earlier games.

Maryland, 5-3, threw a scare into the Nittany Lions as the Terrapins marched from their 38 to a first down at the Penn State 19 with less than three minutes left. Then Avellini gained seven yards and Lou Carter picked up two, but the Terps were thrown back a yard and had to give up the ball on downs at the Penn State 14.

Hite sent Penn State ahead 7-0 with 4:04 left in the first period when he broke up a Maryland drive by stealing an Avellini pass and romping 79 yards along the sideline for a score.

Maryland tied it with 8:08 remaining in the second period on a 34-yard pass from Avellini to tight end Walter White. Penn State, however, soared ahead 21-7 less than four minutes later with a pair of touchdowns in a seven-second span.

First, quarterback Tom Shuman completed an eight-play, 79-yard drive with a seven-yard touchdown pass to Dick Barvinchak. On the ensuing kickoff, Maryland's Rick Jennings returned the ball 13 yards and tried to lateral to Carter, but Hite stepped in between them, grabbed the lateral, and sprinted 21 yards to score. Maryland cut the margin to 21-14 at the half on a 66-yard touchdown pass from Avellini to White, who out-sprinted Penn State defensive back Tom Giotto for the second time in the game.

The second half turned into a defensive battle with only two field goals scored, a 44-yarder by Penn State's Chris Bahr early in the fourth period that boosted the lead to a 24-14, and a 34-yarder by Maryland's Steve Mike-Mayer with 6:32 to play.

Duke Shuts Out Rambling Wreck

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
DURHAM, N.C. (AP)

—Duke's Blue Devils threw up an iron defense and shut out Georgia Tech 9-0 Saturday in college football behind the running of tailback Art Gore.

It marked the first time in 108 games that Georgia Tech had been held scoreless, the longest current NCAA string.

A shirtsleeved crowd of 34,500 watched in 84-degree weather as Duke, 5-3, throttled Tech's offense, limiting the Jackets to three first downs in the first half. The booming punts of Duke's Bob Grupp added to Georgia Tech's woes.

Duke scored early in the second quarter on a one-yard run by Tony Benjamin to cap a 46-yard drive.

Then late in the third period Duke linebacker Keith Stoneback tackled Tech quarterback Rudy Allen in the end zone for a two-point safety to end the scoring for the day.

Tech, 4-5 had been put in the hole by a long Grupp punt that was knocked dead on the Tech one by Larry Upshaw.

In the fourth period the Yellow Jackets drove from their 46 to the Duke 18 but Danny Smith attempted a 35-yard field goal that was wide. In the closing seconds Tech drove to the Duke 15 but it was halted when Grupp intercepted an Allen pass.

Gore, 171-pound sophomore, rambled through Tech's line for 147 yards in 31 carries. Adrian Rucker led the Georgia Tech offense with 56 yards in nine carries.

Duke so completely dominated the first half that Georgia Tech went without a first down during a 16-minute stretch. The Jackets managed to reach Duke's 19 late in the second quarter but the Blue Devils held end E. O. Wheeler attempted a 51-yard field goal that was wide.

The fourth period action was lived when two streakers raced out of the south end of the stadium with their shorts in hand and scaled the fence.

Panthers Surprise Chargers, 34-20

Irish Rally To Beat Middies

By HERSHEL NISSESON
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two big plays by defensive end Jim Stock gave Notre Dame good field position in the fourth quarter and the nation's seventh-ranked college football team came from behind on Tom Clements' five-yard pass to Pete Demmerle with 10 minutes left and beat a scrappy Navy team 14-6 Saturday. Freshman Randy Harrison scored Notre Dame's other touchdown on a 40-yard pass interception with 2:12 remaining as the Fighting Irish recorded their seventh victory in eight games and preserved their dream of a second consecutive national championship.

Presbyterian Over Catawba

CLINTON, S.C. (AP)—Presbyterian scored four touchdowns in the second quarter Saturday then coasted to an easy 42-20 football victory against Catawba, finishing the game with a bevy of substitutes.

Quarterback Jody Salmon led the scoring parade by scoring twice on runs and throwing two touchdown passes, both to Ken Milton. Kevin Williams broke the monotony with a one-yard scoring burst.

Ron Adams tallied twice for Catawba and Tim Nichols got the other, all on short runs.

Reserve Larry Knight passed to Donnie Fleming for 16 yards and the final touchdown.

Navy suffered its sixth defeat in a row after winning its first two games, including a 7-6 upset of nationally ranked Penn State.

For three periods, the midshipmen, a 30-point underdog, carried the battle to the bigger Notre Dame team and carved out a 6-0 lead on Steve Dykes' field goals of 48 yards in the first period—a Navy record—and 37 yards in the third quarter.

Notre Dame, frustrated all afternoon, punted to the Navy 18 early in the final period and that's when Stock turned the tide.

Gerry Goodwin gained four yards on the first play but Stock smelled out a double reverse and nailed Robin Ameen for a nine-yard loss.

'I DON'T HAVE IT, GUYS!'—Ayden-Grifton running back William West seems to be throwing the ball away as he is hit by North Pitt Panther Larry Spencer (33) as Marion Barnes comes up on the play. The ball can be seen in the upper left hand corner above

LITTLEFIELD—North Pitt has done the seemingly impossible.

Behind Donnie Perkins the North Pitt Panthers looked like a football team and soundly drubbed the Ayden-Grifton Chargers, 34-20, Friday night.

The Panthers have now won two games in nine outings this year but the victory Friday night made their season. And the loss could not have come at a more inappropriate time for the Chargers—it was their Homecoming.

It started out like seven other nights have for North Pitt this year. The Chargers picked off Perkins' second pass setting up the first score, a 17 yard run by A-G's Markham Wheatly. A-G stopped the Panthers again on the next series with a second interception. But then something happened and the game began to shift to the Panthers corner.

The Panthers forced a turnover on downs and turned that into a touchdown as Marion Barnes went over from the one. An interception set up the next Panther TD, a seven yard pass from Perkins to Melvin Turnage. A fumble led to another North Pitt tally as Perkins scored. The Chargers scored again before the half ended but two more scores by Perkins put it out of reach.

Perkins scored three of the Panthers touchdowns and passed for another. He completed four of 13 for 80 yards, the longest being a 43-yarder to White.

The statistics would indicate another outcome. The Chargers picked up 143 yards rushing to North Pitt's 104. A-G's Dennis Cristiano hit nine of pass attempts for 116 yards in just his second start. Both teams picked up 12 first downs.

But the difference was in the turnovers. A-G handed the ball to North Pitt seven times, five fumbles and two interceptions to two for the Panthers. Three of those A-G fumbles were turned into touchdowns.

North Pitt received the opening kickoff but had the ball three plays. On third and six at their 24, the Panthers tried to pass but Charger William West intercepted at the 41.

Wheatley and West could only manage three yards in two plays so on third down, Cristiano hit Paul Ricciarelli for 10 yards and Wheatly got three and West moved the ball inside the 20 on two plays. From the 17 Wheatly bulled his way into the end zone putting A-G on the board.

After the ball changed hands the Panthers started again from the A-G 49. Barnes found a big hole getting 11 yards and three plays later Perkins passed to Larry Spencer for 12. James Carr ran a reverse for three yards and a penalty moved the ball to the Charger 18.

Spencer and Perkins moved the ball to the one and from there, Barnes got the score. The two-point conversion failed.

That score seemed to wake a sleeping giant in the Panther team A-G took over on their 45 and after Wheatly slammed up the middle for three, Cristiano threw a pass into the arms of John Morning at the 48 and Morning returned it to the A-G 27.

A run on first down got no yards and two passes fell incomplete. Perkins passed to Morning on fourth and had an apparent touchdown but the Panthers had been offside. On the next play, Willie Williams picked off a Perkins pass but the Chargers were penalized giving the ball back to North Pitt. A personal foul after that moved the ball to the A-G 13 and three plays later Perkins passed to Turnage for the score putting the Panthers in front, 12-7 with 7:47 left in the half.

The Chargers came out fumbling. On second down, usually surehanded West dropped a pitchout giving the ball to North Pitt at the Charger 48. Perkins found White wide open for a 43 yard bomb and after a two-yard penalty, Barnes got two to the one. Perkins sneaked in from the one. With 4:58 left, Barnes ran in the extra point for a 20-7 score.

Ayden-Grifton ran off two more plays and gave the ball back to the Panthers on an interception by James Carr. This time the Panthers had to punt the ball away and when they got the ball, the Chargers put together a frantic drive for a score.

With a third and 11 at his 33, Cristiano passed to Ricciarelli for 13 yards and after two other passes fell short, he hit Vern Davenport for a 14 yard gain across midfield. The passer struck again on first down but his toss to Ricciarelli was knocked away by Carr. On second down West slammed up the middle for 11 yards and Ricciarelli caught another pass, for 12 yards. West took a pitch to the five picking up 12 yards and two plays, Cristiano edged over the goal line as time ran out in the half. Davenport's kick cut the lead to 20-14.

The Panthers held Ayden-Grifton on the Chargers first possession of the second half forcing a turnover on downs at the North Pitt 41. They were stopped also. The Panthers recovered an A-G fumble a few minutes later and drove to the Charger 11 but ran out of downs. The two play jinx hit A-G again. From the 11, Wheatly got three and West fumbled on the next play losing two yards and the ball.

It took the Panthers three plays to get in. Barnes carried to the eight, Carr to the four and Perkins went the rest of the way. With 10:43 left in the game, North Pitt had its biggest lead of the year, 26-14.

The Chargers returned the Panther kickoff to the 40 but North Pitt had been offside. A-G elected to take the kick over and it proved costly. They took over the second time on their 20 and on the second play, Cristiano was swamped by the Panther rush forcing another fumble.

With Barnes and Perkins doing most of the running, North Pitt rolled across the goal line again in eight plays upping the lead to 32-14. Carr ran over the extra point with 4:55 left.

As time was running out, the Chargers backed the Panthers up to the North Pitt 12 and forced a punting situation. The punt was blocked and A-G's Larry Taft picked it up and went 12 yards for the final Charger score.

After the game North Pitt coach Pat Smith called the Panther effort, "The best game I've ever seen them play. We beat them all over the field."

Lenoir Rhyne Rolls, 38-0

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—Scott Crawford ran for one touchdown and passed for another and Ben Sheffield scored twice as Lenoir Rhyne's football team routed Carson-Newman 38-0 Saturday.

The victory was the fifth in a row for the Bears, now 6-1-1 with three road games to play. Carson-Newman, which didn't get past midfield until reaching the Bear 20 with 37 seconds to play, is 3-4.

Crawford, who ran 16 times for 86 yards, began the scoring with a 12-yard run, then passed 35 yards to Sheffield, late in the first period for a touchdown.

Sheffield scored in the third period on a 23-yard end around scamper. The Bears' final touchdowns came on pass interception returns, 17 yards by David Cline and 33 yards by Barry Lekavich.

Lenoir Rhyne held a 21-8 edge in first downs and ran for 274 yards while the visitors from Tennessee managed only 42 yards on the ground.

Griffin Sets Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Archie Griffin, junior tailback for top-ranked Ohio State, became the first major college football player to rush for 100 or more yards in 18 straight games Saturday.

The 180-pound breakaway runner shattered the record with a 22-yard touchdown run with more than 11 minutes remaining in the third quarter against Illinois.

Griffin, who has gained more than 1,100 yards this season, was mobbed by his teammates in the end zone after his record-breaking run.

Yancey And Sneed Lead Team Golf

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Bert Yancey and Ed Sneed combined their talents for a best-ball 63, nine under par, and moved into one-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $250,000 National Team Golf Championship.

Sneed, winner of the Milwaukee Open earlier this year and the veteran Yancey had a 54-hole total of 189, an eye-popping 27 strokes under par on the 7,162-yard Magnolia Course at Walt Disney World.

"The psychology of this kind of an event is so much different from the regular tournament," Sneed said. "It can be that 65 is a real good score."

"On the other hand, you can shoot maybe 62 or 63 and neither one of the partners will be playing exceptionally well. You complement each other, reinforce each other."

A PENN STATE MISS
ANNAPOLIS (AP) — There's one man on the Navy football team Coach George Welsh is glad he missed. When Welsh was an assistant with the Nittany Lions he tried to recruit quarterback Bob Jackson of Lindenwood, N.J., for Penn State. But Jackson picked Navy.

Jackson recently played a prominent role in Navy's 7-6 upset of Penn State. He opened an 80-yard touchdown drive with a 21-yard run. Jackson is 6 feet 4 and 235 pounds. His weight makes him an ideal full-back for the Middies.

Alabama 28, Miss. St. 0

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Leroy Cook blocked a kick and Mike Dubose rambled 56 yards with the ball to start fourth-ranked Alabama to a 28-0 football victory over Mississippi State Saturday.

Alabama's defense held the Bulldogs to a field goal in the first quarter and a punt in the second. The Crimson Tide scored on a 28-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Steve Spurrier to wide receiver Mike Dubose in the third quarter.

Alabama's offense was led by quarterback Steve Spurrier, who completed 12 of 20 passes for 143 yards and two touchdowns.

BUYING A HOME IS ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS YOU CAN MAKE.

NOW MORE THAN EVER.

Now is the time to buy a home. True, the cost of housing is higher than it has been in the past. But it is lower today than it will probably ever be again. So, the longer you wait, the more it will cost you.

C. B. Tugwell, President of First Federal Savings & Loan says "The home mortgage is quite an attractive bargain. In view of escalating costs, deferring a purchase could be questionable economics. A home can be an extremely advantageous purchase even at present rates." Inflation will probably continue to escalate the cost of land, materials and labor. So, each day of delay in the purchase of a home will only result in higher monthly payments, regardless of any hoped-for decline in interest rates.

The National Association of Home Builders has predicted a 15 to 20 per cent increase in the cost of a new home construction in 1975. Based on these figures, today's $30,000 home could cost as much as $36,000 this time next year. So, a delayed decision could prove to be quite costly to you. Your solution is to buy now, before your dream home becomes unaffordable.

But, as we listen to all of this talk of high interest rates and inflationary prices, it occurs to us that there may be more than a fair share of emphasis on the negative and not enough attention to the positive opportunities. Chances are you are much more investment conscious today than you've been in the past. You want to find a way to make your money work harder for you.

The fact is that investing in a home has always been a way of beating inflation. Now it is one of the best ways. Over the last three years, housing costs have increased faster than the overall inflation rate in the American economy. And that friend of yours who bought a new house three or four years ago can prove it to you. Just ask him how he feels about his investment and you will surely bring a smile to his face. Even today's high mortgage interest rates on housing are a bargain when viewed in the investment sense.

Jaguars Rally To Nip Conley, 21-14

VIKING ON THE MOVE—D.H. Conley's (Curtis Clemons takes off around the left side of the Viking line for a long gain against Farmville Central Friday night, as a Jaguar defender closes in to try and make the stop. Farmville rallied from a 14-13 deficit to score late in the game for a 21-14 victory. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

HOLLYWOOD—A desperation pass in the closing minute of the ball game helped Farmville Central to stay alive and go on to pull out a 21-14 squeaker over stubborn D. H. Conley's Vikings Friday night.

Trailing 14-13 with less than two minutes to play, Farmville Central quarterback Greg Joyner looped a wobbly pass from the Conley 28 yard line on fourth down. Arthur Barnes got under it, but a Conley defender tipped it, Barnes recovered, however, pulling in the ball on the four yard line. Three plays later, with 1:06 left, Jeff Wilkes cracked over to give the Jaguars the hard-fought victory.

Even then, it took a goal-line interception in the closing seconds to keep the Vikings from coming back once more.

The loss was a heartbreaking one for the Vikings, who must easily be the most improved team in the Eastern Carolina Conference. Farmville Central, with the win, just about clinched a playoff berth, moving their record to 7-1 in the league, and 7-2 overall. Conley fell to 4-4 and 5-4, respectively.

Farmville had scored first, on a 60-yard screen pass from Joyner to Ronnie Gay. Tony Oakley added the PAT. The other Farmville score was also Wilkes, again, a one-yarder.

But two touchdowns in the second period by Conley, one a 67-yard dash by Calvin Hawkins, and the other a 44-yard pass from Joey Baggett to Donnie Cox brought the Vikings back. And a two-point conversion on a Baggett pass to John Buck gave Conley a 14-13 lead that nearly held up.

Conley got the first break in the game, recovering a fumbled on the Jaguar 38, but after driving to the 19, the Vikes fumbled it back.

From the 23, Farmville moved in only five plays to pay dirt. Wilkes hit off left tackle for nine, then got a first down at the 35. Gay hit up the middle for five more and a pass from the 40 fell incomplete. On third down, however, Joyner flipped a screener out to the left side, and Gay pulled it in and raced 60 yards to outdistance the Conley defenders and put the first score on the board. Oakley's kick made it 7-0 with 6:39 to go.

Conley came back after the kickoff and drove from their own 34 to the Farmville 38 before being stopped by a penalty. They got help from a 15-yarder on the Jaguars, but on third and eight at the 33, Baggett hit Hawkins at the 26 for an apparent first down, but an illegal procedure penalty nullified the play and the following pass was incomplete.

Conley got it back after a punt early in the second period on their own 38. They were penalized back to the 33, and two passes from there failed. But on third, Conley worked the draw to Hawkins, who broke through the line, then turned on the speed to outrance the secondary to the end zone, a 67-yard race. Conley went for two on a pass, but it was batted down, and the Jaguars held a 7-6 lead with 9:36 to go in the half.

Farmville came right back with its second touchdown drive, moving from their own 31. Joyner hit Gay for 11 and a first down at the 43, then went to Emerson Hobgood for 13 to the Conley 44. A five-yard penalty moved it to the 39, and Gay broke away for 13 more. Joyner passed 12 more to Gay and Wilkes hit for seven to the seven.

The Jags were tagged with a 15-yard penalty, but got it right back on another Joyner to Gay pass. Wilkes pushed it down to the one, then cracked over from there with 4:29 left for a 13-6 lead after a two-point try failed.

Late in the period, Conley got it back on the Farmville 32 after a fumble. Two plays resulted in a loss (by penalty) back to the 44, but from there, Baggett found Cox open for the toss and he carried it in for the score. Baggett then hit Buck for the two-pointer and Conley held a 14-13 lead with 1:49 left in the period.

Farmville rushed back downfield, where in the final seconds a 41-yard field goal try by Oakley was blocked. On their first possession of the second half, Farmville drove again, but this time, the Vike defense held them on downs at the Conley 28. A second possession moved it to the 41, but again the defense held. Conley then moved it to the 40 before being thrown back by the defense. Again, the Vikings got it in good field position via another fumble, at the 39, but losses and a penalty pushed it back to midfield by kicking time.

Time, with the clock ticking away the final minutes of the game, Farmville launched its last drive. After a two-yard gain from the 36, Joyner hit Hobgood for 12 to the midfield stripe. Two plays netted eight yards, and then Wilkes broke away for 10 to the 32. Three plays netted no yards and a five-yard penalty, but Joyner got to JoJo White for nine to the 28 on the next play.

Then, on fourth and six, Joyner hunted for a receiver, and finally boosted the ball away toward Barnes. The pass was tipped by a leaping Conley player, who actually had position to intercept or bat it away, had he chosen to just stay on the ground, and the ball fell into Barnes' hands at the four.

Wilkes hit twice to the one, then cracked over from there and Joyner hit Gay for the two-pointer with 1:06 left, sewing it up for Farmville.

Following the kickoff, a 15-yard pass interference call against Farmville helped Conley get started, then Baggett hit Clifton Clemons at the Jag 39. The next play, however, Conley tried a halfback pass, picked off by White at the seven, ending the final Viking hopes.

Conley closes out its season next week by traveling to Southern Nash, while Farmville Central warms up for the 3-A state playoffs by hosting Charles B. Aycock.

Robersonville Romps To Win Over Saratoga

SARATOGA—Robersonville poured over 27 points in the first quarter en route to swamping Saratoga Central, 54-0 Friday night as the Eagles won their seventh game in nine outings.

Ricky Spruill paced the Eagle scoring getting two of the eight Robersonville TD's. Danny Mathewson had 116 yards rushing while Spruill had 79.

The Eagles started things off with a 45 yard pass from Jimmy Stalls to Ricky Purvis for a touchdown. Stalls added the point after for a 7-0 lead. Spruill added six points later in the first period on a 45 yard run with Stalls again adding the PAT and then came back with an 11 yard scoring run. Tony Purvis upped the lead by another TD as he returned a fumble 45 yards and Stalls kicked the extra point.

After that, the game was all but out of reach. Wyatt Daniels scored the next Eagle tally with a 33 yard gallop and Stalls kicked the point after. Wilson scored on a five yard run to give the Eagles a 41-0 halftime lead.

Danny Mathewson rambled 91 yards for a score in the fourth quarter and Danny Rollins capped the game with a 28 yard interception return.

The Eagles are now 7-2. They will meet North Johnston this Friday night at home with all the marbles going to the winner. Both teams are undefeated in the Eastern Plains Conference and the winner will win the loop crown.

Littleton took the girls' contest, 35-29, then came back to capture the boys' contest, 36-29. In the boys' game, Littleton slipped out into a 10-7 lead in the first period, but wasn't able to make much out of it. They outscored the Bears, 6-4, in the second period, and inched their lead out to 16-11 at the half.

Again, in the third period, the Bears hung in there, as Littleton held an 8-7 margin, boosting their lead to 24-18. But the Bears were unable to put together a rally, as Littleton held them off, 12-11 in the last frame to take the win.

Pullen led Littleton's scoring with 18 points, while Lynch had 18. Rogers and Price each had seven to pace the Bears.

In the girls' game, Bear Grass inched ahead, 5-2, in the first period, but Littleton came back with an 18-5 advantage in the second period of the game. That gave them a 20-10 halftime lead.

The Bears came back with an 11-6 advantage in the third period, cutting the lead to 26-21, but a 8-9 Littleton advantage in the final frame sewed it up.

Linda Harvey led Littleton with 14 points. Janet Holiday led the Bears with 13.

Greene Central Defeats Hawks

SNOW HILL—Sluggish Greene Central held off a late North Lenoir threat Friday night to preserve a close 12-8 victory over the Hawks in an Eastern Carolina Conference game.

The victory raised the Ram record to 6-2 for the year against league competition, and 7-2 overall. North Lenoir is 2-6 in the conference and 3-6 overall.

North Lenoir scored first, in the opening period of the game. The score came on a three-yard run by Hamm. He added the extra point, giving the Hawks an 8-0 lead.

The Rams came back, also scoring in the first frame. Anthony Corbett scored for Greene, on a 30-yard scramble. But the two-point try failed, and the Rams trailed, 8-6.

In the second quarter, however, Greene Central pushed over another score, taking the lead. Mike Canady pushed in from the eight-yard line, and again a two-point try failed, making it 12-8.

For most of the rest of the game, it was a defensive struggle, with neither team offering any threats. But late in the game, North Lenoir drove again, moving to the 10 before being held on downs with 1:30 to go.

Guilford Slams 'Cats

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Fullback Billy Whitley pulled in a pass for one touchdown and ran for two others Saturday as Guilford smacked Davidson's struggling Wildcats 31-14 in a nonconference football game.

Whitley started the scoring late in the first period when he caught a Steve Watson pass for eight yards and a touchdown. Less than two minutes later Guilford's Mike Ribet pulled in a Davidson punt on his own 22 and went all the way for a second touchdown.

Whitley, picking up 64 yards in six tries, added two more scores in the third, going over from the two and the 33.

Quarterbacks To Get New Chance

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

A couple of old quarterbacks get a chance to show what they've got in starting roles with new teams Sunday—and one or two others may have to sit out the action because they haven't quite got it.

John Hadl, acquired by Green Bay from Los Angeles Oct. 22, could get the starting nod over Jack Concannon when the Packers host the Washington Redskins.

And Craig Morton, who spent several years riding the Dallas bench behind Roger Staubach before the Cowboys dealt him to New York at about the same time as Hadl switched teams, will be calling the signals for the Giants when they begin play against the Chiefs in Kansas City.

Sonny Jurgensen, who has been quarterbacking Washington for the past few weeks, may have to give way to Billy Kilmer if his ailing legs don't hold out.

Mike Phipps wasn't very effective last week calling Cleveland's signals. So Brian Sipe took over, scored two touchdowns and rallied the Browns to a 23-21 squeaker over Denver. And on Sunday, it'll be Sipe on the field and Phipps on the bench when Cleveland visits San Diego.

In Sunday's other games, the St. Louis Cardinals try to remain the lone unbeaten National Football League team when they invade Dallas. Buffalo is at New England in an American Conference East showdown. Oakland hopes to widen its AFC West edge with a victory over Denver. Pittsburgh hosts Philadelphia, Minnesota is at Chicago. Detroit hosts New Orleans. Miami takes on Atlanta. Cincinnati is at Baltimore and Houston is at the New York Jets.

On Monday night, Los Angeles goes against the 49ers in San Francisco.

Hadl saw no action last Sunday in the Packers' 19-17 loss to Detroit and Green Bay Coach Dan Devine says he won't make up his mind until game time whether he'll go with Hadl or Concannon, who completed 17 of 30 passes for 237 yards in the losing effort.

Washington Coach George Allen, however, is very clear about who he wants in the starting slot. It's Jurgensen, despite the quarterback's bruised left thigh and sprained right knee.

"The way it is now, this is the biggest game all season," said Allen, whose 'Skins trail the Cards by three games in the National Conference East. "He'll play unless he's not effective at all."

St. Louis has been the underdog in five of its seven games this year—and is the five-point underdog against the Cowboys, who have never lost to the Cards in Texas Stadium.

Dallas is fighting for its life. A 3-4 record has the team four games out of first place and one behind Washington and Philadelphia.

The Patriots, knocked from the unbeaten ranks by the Bills two weeks ago, rebounded with a victory over the Vikings last Sunday and are slight favorites to avenge their loss to Buffalo.

Philadelphia also needs a victory to stay in playoff contention. The Eagles, 4-3, are tied with Washington three games back of the Cards. Pittsburgh is 1½ games ahead of Cincinnati in the AFC Central race and has been revived by the return to full strength of running back Franco Harris and the return to quarterback of Terry Bradshaw, who had lost his job to Joe Gilliam in the preseason.

Atlanta's 20-year-old John Drew has been drawing rave notices for his early season play, scoring 41 points in one game and averaging 27 points per outing so far this year. But the Detroit Pistons have gone one better.

Pistons' guard Eric Money, at 19 one year younger than Drew, is the youngest player in the NBA. But Friday night, in the first start of his pro career, Money scored 21 points and led the Detroit Pistons to a 103-93 victory over the New Orleans Jazz.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Boston Celtics beat the Philadelphia 76ers 114-98, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 109-86, the Portland Trail Blazers downed the Buffalo Braves 113-106 and the Golden State Warriors beat the Seattle SuperSonics 99-88.

The Pistons handed the winless New Orleans expansion team its eighth consecutive loss.

Money, signed as a hardship case out of Arizona, was given the starting shot because Pistons' Coach Ray Scott wanted more speed in his lineup. He scored 12 of his points in the third quarter to help the Pistons to a 78-64 lead, and the Jazz never caught up.

"Eric was super," said Scott of his young backcourt sensation. "He gave us the additional quickness we needed. I'm not surprised that he played that well. He didn't do anything tonight that he hadn't done in practice. He's mature for his age—he's an old 19."

Willie Norwood came off the bench to hit 18 for Detroit and Dave Bing also had 18. New Orleans was led by guard Jim Barnett with 17 points. Neal Walk and Ollie Johnson each had 16.

President Ford took time out from the campaign trail to watch the Portland Trail Blazers' victory over Buffalo.

Ford joined the sellout crowd of nearly 12,000 at Portland's Memorial Coliseum with 8:54 left in the third period and the Trail Blazers leading 65-57. He was ushered to a front-row seat behind the Portland bench, where he was flanked by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., and Gov. Tom McCall.

The Blazers promptly blew their lead, Buffalo going ahead 72-71 in the final moments of the third quarter. But Sidney Wicks and Bill Walton led a fourth-quarter Portland rally that proved decisive, Wicks getting nine of his 27 points in the final period and Walton 10 of his 22.

Buffalo, which was without playmaker Ernie DiGregorio, sidelined with strained ligaments in his left knee, got 27 points from Bob McAdoo and 26 from Randy Smith.

Rick Barry erupted for 45 points to carry the Warriors past the SuperSonics, Gail Goodrich poured in 29 to lead Los Angeles past Milwaukee and John Havlicek also scored 29 to help Boston defeat Philadelphia.

Young Player Paces Pistons

Atlanta's 20-year-old John Drew has been drawing rave notices for his early season play, scoring 41 points in one game and averaging 27 points per outing so far this year. But the Detroit Pistons have gone one better.

Pistons' guard Eric Money, at 19 one year younger than Drew, is the youngest player in the NBA. But Friday night, in the first start of his pro career, Money scored 21 points and led the Detroit Pistons to a 103-93 victory over the New Orleans Jazz.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Boston Celtics beat the Philadelphia 76ers 114-98, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 109-86, the Portland Trail Blazers downed the Buffalo Braves 113-106 and the Golden State Warriors beat the Seattle SuperSonics 99-88.

The Pistons handed the winless New Orleans expansion team its eighth consecutive loss.

Money, signed as a hardship case out of Arizona, was given the starting shot because Pistons' Coach Ray Scott wanted more speed in his lineup. He scored 12 of his points in the third quarter to help the Pistons to a 78-64 lead, and the Jazz never caught up.

"Eric was super," said Scott of his young backcourt sensation. "He gave us the additional quickness we needed. I'm not surprised that he played that well. He didn't do anything tonight that he hadn't done in practice. He's mature for his age—he's an old 19."

Willie Norwood came off the bench to hit 18 for Detroit and Dave Bing also had 18. New Orleans was led by guard Jim Barnett with 17 points. Neal Walk and Ollie Johnson each had 16.

President Ford took time out from the campaign trail to watch the Portland Trail Blazers' victory over Buffalo.

Ford joined the sellout crowd of nearly 12,000 at Portland's Memorial Coliseum with 8:54 left in the third period and the Trail Blazers leading 65-57. He was ushered to a front-row seat behind the Portland bench, where he was flanked by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., and Gov. Tom McCall.

The Blazers promptly blew their lead, Buffalo going ahead 72-71 in the final moments of the third quarter. But Sidney Wicks and Bill Walton led a fourth-quarter Portland rally that proved decisive, Wicks getting nine of his 27 points in the final period and Walton 10 of his 22.

Buffalo, which was without playmaker Ernie DiGregorio, sidelined with strained ligaments in his left knee, got 27 points from Bob McAdoo and 26 from Randy Smith.

Rick Barry erupted for 45 points to carry the Warriors past the SuperSonics, Gail Goodrich poured in 29 to lead Los Angeles past Milwaukee and John Havlicek also scored 29 to help Boston defeat Philadelphia.

Williamston Takes Win

PLYMOUTH—Williamston High School's Tigers took advantage of Plymouth High School mistakes Friday night to roll to a 19-8 victory.

Only one of the three scores by the Tigers came about because of a long drive, the others came off recoveries deep in Viking territory that helped the Tigers along.

Following the opening kickoff, Williamston drove 66 yards in seven plays. Phil Selby picked up 13 on one, while Ken Speller added 18 and Deno Lloyd got 15.

Then, with the ball at the 16, Selby took off around end, but fumbled the ball at the 10, it

Field Trial Scheduled

The Ayden Field Trial Association, Inc. will present its annual Fall Bird Dog Fun Trial on Sunday, November 10, from 8 a.m. until dusk.

Entry fees for this big event will be $6 per dog with a limit placed on the number run in each stake, to be decided on a first come, first serve basis.

The trial will consist of three stakes. The puppy stakes includes any puppy born after July 1, 1973; the Derby Stake, any dog born after July 1, 1972, and the Shooting Dog Stake, includes dogs of all ages.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three dogs in each event.

The trial site will be located eight and one-half miles east of Ayden on Highway 102. Signs will be erected to direct interested participants and spectators to the area and lunch will be available on the grounds. Horses, except those used by the Judges, will not be allowed on the grounds.

For additional information contact Bill Holland in Ayden at 746-4193 or D. J. Humphrey in Kinston, at 527-6896.

Cubs Bow To Wilson

WILSON—Wilson High School's Baby Titans handed the Rose High School junior varsity their first Division I setback Saturday night, taking a 25-6 victory from the Rampant Cubs.

Wilson scored in each period of the game, all on passes from quarterback Timmy Wilkerson to end Michael Smith.

In the first period, the two worked up a two-yarder that put Wilson ahead, 7-0 following Whaley Dunn's kick.

The Titans scored in each of the following quarters on Wilkerson to Smith passes of 26, 16 and 16 yards.

The lone Rose High score came on a two-yard run by Leonard Williams in the final period of play.

Rose offered one other threat, but it failed to pay off.

A SPARTAN DODGER
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State has sent a number of stars to the major leagues. One of the stars of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Steve Garvey, won baseball and football letters as a Michigan State sophomore in 1967-68. He signed with the Dodgers after his sophomore year in college.

A LONG NIGHT
NEW YORK (AP)—When the New York Mets and St. Louis Cardinals played 25 innings under the lights here on Sept. 11, six Met hurlers tossed a total of 331 pitches. According to the Met charts kept by pitching coach Rube Walker, 216 of the pitches were strikes and 115 balls.

Starter Jerry Koosman worked nine innings and threw 137 pitches. Relief hurler Jerry Cram tossed 83 pitches in eight frames.

Umpire Ed Sudol figures he called about 700 pitches that night. Sudol reached his mother's home in Passaic, N.J., at 5 a.m. (EDT).

UNIQUE ARRANGEMENT FENWAY'S BEST FEATURE

ENGLISH TUDOR PRIVACY ATTRACTS FAMILY WITH OLDER CHILDREN

By Jerry Bishop
Do you remember when you had put away your childhood and began to move into the world of teenager? And do you remember how important the privacy of your own special place was? The unique plan of the Fenway lets you give that essential privacy to your growing children and teenagers. Two bedrooms are situated in the far left wing, with a compartmented bath and two lavatories to assure plenty of time in front of that mirror for teenagers who've suddenly decided such time is necessarily spent. Adjacent to the bedroom wing a family room provides space for entertaining of teenage or adult friends. The Fenway, however, is designed for adults in mind also. A formal living room opens onto a center hall foyer, with no other entrances, protecting it from the noise and traffic of the family room-dining-kitchen areas. A formal dining room adjacent to the kitchen provides for gracious entertaining. Assuring the adults privacy as well as the children is the master bedroom, tucked into the front of the far right wing of the house. This 14 x 14 room has a lovely window extension and enjoys a compartmented bath, also with two sinks. A convenient utility room on the main floor also enjoys a half bath, eating space is provided in the U-shaped kitchen, and a two-car garage and full basement expand the already ample storage space of the home. Timber, stucco and bricks combine to present an attractive English Tudor exterior with spacious criss-crossed windows.

Q.—We have a Cape Cod house with an unfinished attic. I am planning to add two bedrooms upstairs. I have tentatively selected hardboard for the walls. In order to save some work, I hope to attach the hardboard directly to the studs. Can this be done or do I have to nail furring strips to the studs first and then attach the hardboard to the furring strips?

A.—It can be done, but it requires extra care to be certain the studs are exactly in line, otherwise you won't get a straight wall. Make constant use of a plumb line and a level. Also, the studs must be no more than 16 inches apart on center; that is, 16 inches between the center of one stud and the center of the next. And the hardboard you select must be at least one-quarter-inch thick.

Q.—Many years ago I won four sterling silver trophies in contract bridge tournaments. All of them are now a dirty gray color. I assume this is tarnish. Will it come off with steel wool?

A.—Don't use steel wool per se. There are several brands of tarnish remover on the market. Buy one of them and follow the directions on the container.

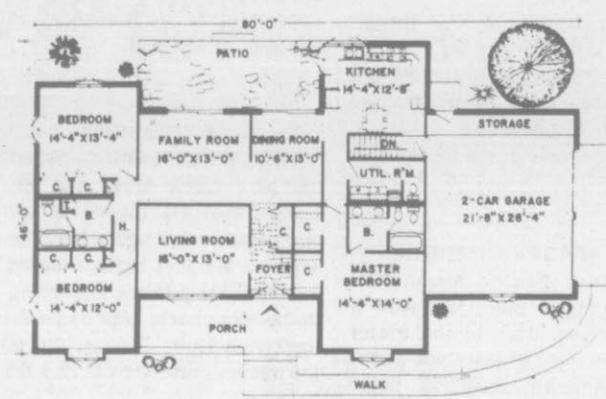

Q.—The backs of our kitchen chairs are worn and need replacing. I understand the backs can be bought separately. Do they come in sizes that fit all chairs?

A.—No. You can get a size the same or slightly smaller or slightly larger than your chairs, but you must be certain they can be attached properly. Most such chairs have wooden framing inside the covering. It is important that the attachment braces of the chair match the positions of the wood inside the new backs.

Q.—We had a $25,000 mortgage on our house at 6 per cent interest. The principal is now down to $15,000. If we get a buyer who can put down $10,000, will he be able to take over our mortgage debt?

A.—It depends on the terms of the mortgage. No bank or other financial institution is likely to agree voluntarily to such a transfer on a 6 per cent mortgage with interest rates the way they are today. Talk it over with an officer of the bank or savings and loan association that has the mortgage and see what the situation is, being especially careful to learn whether there is a financial penalty clause for such a transaction. If the transfer can be made, be sure your lawyer sees that you are not responsible for the mortgage payments if the buyer defaults.

Real Estate

REALTOR

TAX TIPS WHEN YOU BUY REAL ESTATE

When you buy real estate, your tax status changes the minute you write the check. Property taxes paid at the settlement can be deducted on the tax return for that year. Usually, these taxes are pro-rated between the buyer and seller. You can include your share plus any taxes you may be required to pay in advance.

The other settlement expenses generally are not deductible, however, most of them can be added to the cost of the real estate when you sell it. The effect will be to reduce the profit subject to income tax. Among these are: lawyers' fees, property surveys, title search and title insurance, transfer taxes and "points".

It should be noted that, what the IRS calls "basis" is quite important to establish. It is the purchase price of the real estate which includes your downpayment, mortgages, and those non-deductible settlement costs. The basis determines what your profit or loss will be when you sell.

If there is anything, we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LOUIS CLARK AGENCY, 315 Evans Street, Greenville. Phone: 752-4173. We're here to help!

California's Streams Mined

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Californians seeking their fortune in the streams of the Mother Lode Country are growing in numbers.

California's first industry has now become its newest hobby. So far this season the state has issued 4,400 permits to use gasoline-powered suction dredges on its streams, nearly twice as many as issued last year.

Most of the present-day gold miners work the goldbearing gravel deposits called "placers" that accumulate in slow parts of mountain streams.

WALL COVERING

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It is difficult enough selling a house these days (mainly because of the mortgage situation) without adding to the problem by what you do or don't do.

If the outside of your house needs painting and the front lawn is overgrown, a poor first impression is created.

If you haven't kept the inside of the house in a reasonably decent condition, a poor second impression results.

If the television or radio is blaring away when the doorbell rings and you fail to turn it off, it will be a disturbing factor in the ensuing conversation.

If the contents of your closets are not in order, it's inevitable that the prospective purchaser will open every closet door.

If you are using a real estate broker and he or she is explaining something to a possible buyer, you are sure to annoy both of them if you can't resist interrupting constantly.

If you are not using a real estate broker and don't know when to stop talking, you are in danger of "overselling."

If a sink faucet is dripping or a toilet bowl gurgling, the plumbing becomes suspect even though the condition may be minor and require an easy repair.

If you failed to check with a local financial institution on what size mortgage might be available on your house to a family with a good credit rating, you won't know how to answer a query about it.

If this seems like a lot to remember and to heed, be advised that the list actually can be made much longer. Don't forget that there were some things that turned you off when you were house hunting. Avoid them and you'll have a better chance to sell your house.

Home handymen will get valuable assistance from Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.C. 07666.)

Kent State Victims Testify On Shooting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Three victims of the 1970 Kent State University shootings have testified that they were more than 300 feet away from Ohio National Guard troops when they were fired upon.

Donald S. MacKenzie of Millersville, Pa.; Douglas Wrenmore, of New Brunswick, N.J.; and Robert F. Stamps of Coral Gables, Fla., testified Friday that they were in a parking lot at the bottom of the hill on which guardsmen were standing when the shooting began.

Their testimony came in the trial of eight former guardsmen who are accused of violating the civil rights, assaulting and intimidating four students who were killed and nine who were wounded in a confrontation between guardsmen and demonstrators protesting U.S. involvement in Cambodia.

MacKenzie said one guardsman turned and fired a shot after reaching the top of the hill, and then others turned and fired.

He said he started to run and was about 450 feet from the troops when a bullet entered the back of his neck and emerged from his left cheek, shattering his jawbone.

Defense attorneys maintain MacKenzie was hit by small-caliber, nonmilitary bullet.

All three witnesses said there was no sudden rush by demonstrators toward guardsmen just before the firing began.

Government attorneys contend that the guardsmen were not surrounded and were not in danger of being overrun when they began shooting, as the defense has claimed.

More Blacks In State Police Forces

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—More blacks are donning police uniforms, but almost 97 of every 100 state police officers across the nation are white males, a Race Relations Information Center survey has revealed.

The center says in the November issue of "Race Relations Reporter," the number of black personnel on state police forces has increased by more than 150 per cent since 1970. The survey also shows a 40 per cent increase in the number of other minorities serving.

The center obtained figures from 42 of the 49 state police agencies in the nation (Hawaii has no state police force). The survey revealed that more than 600 blacks are now serving on state law enforcement agencies, compared to more than 250 in 1970. Other minorities increased from about 500 to about 700.

Most southern states showed increases in the number of black officers, although Kentucky, which had two black troopers in 1970 now has none, the survey report said.

Here are the figures for other Southern states (with 1970 figures in parentheses):

Alabama (0) 28; Arkansas (4) 4; Florida (1) 11; Georgia (1) 19; Kentucky (2) 0; Louisiana (3) 13; Mississippi (0) 6; North Carolina (6) 27; South Carolina (2) 16; Virginia (1) 7. Both Arkansas and Tennessee reported black troopers serving as sergeants.

Not so much for the 14 GOP senators and 187 House members seeking re-election, but for their thousands of office staffers.

If predictions of Republican losses are anywhere near the mark, many of them will be out of work—just when the unemployment rate is rising and the nation beset by inflation.

About 6,000 House employees and 1,000 Senate employees could be affected by Tuesday's election.

"It's tough on the nerves, I'll tell you," said Roy Julian, administrative assistant to Rep. Dick Shoup, R-Mont. "You never know what way it'll go."

---News Briefs--- Good Chance Of New Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray has "a very good chance" of winning withdrawal of his guilty plea and standing trial for the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King, Ray's lawyers say.

Defense attorney Bernard Fensterwald of Washington, D.C., expressed that confidence on Friday after an eight-day federal court hearing on Ray's request for withdrawal of his guilty plea in the April 4, 1968, slaying of the civil rights leader.

"When we started out four or five years ago, the odds indicated this might be no more than a routine miscarriage of justice," said Fensterwald. "But now, based on the evidence presented, I think there's a very good chance—or better—of a new trial."

Let 'Em Wear Masks

NEW YORK (AP) — "Let 'em wear masks!" That was the die-hard reaction of one hoarse-voiced veteran smoker to nonsmokers and this city's new law banning smoking in certain public places.

"It's a lot of nonsense," continued Margaret Stern, a retiree who has savored tobacco for 50 of her 70 years. "I don't want people telling me what to do."

But Health Commissioner Lowell E. Bellin was trying to do exactly that Friday as he posted shiny new "No Smoking" signs in several East Side supermarkets.

He explained that the puffing public would get a two-to-four week honeymoon before his department starts cracking down with summonses for violation of the law.

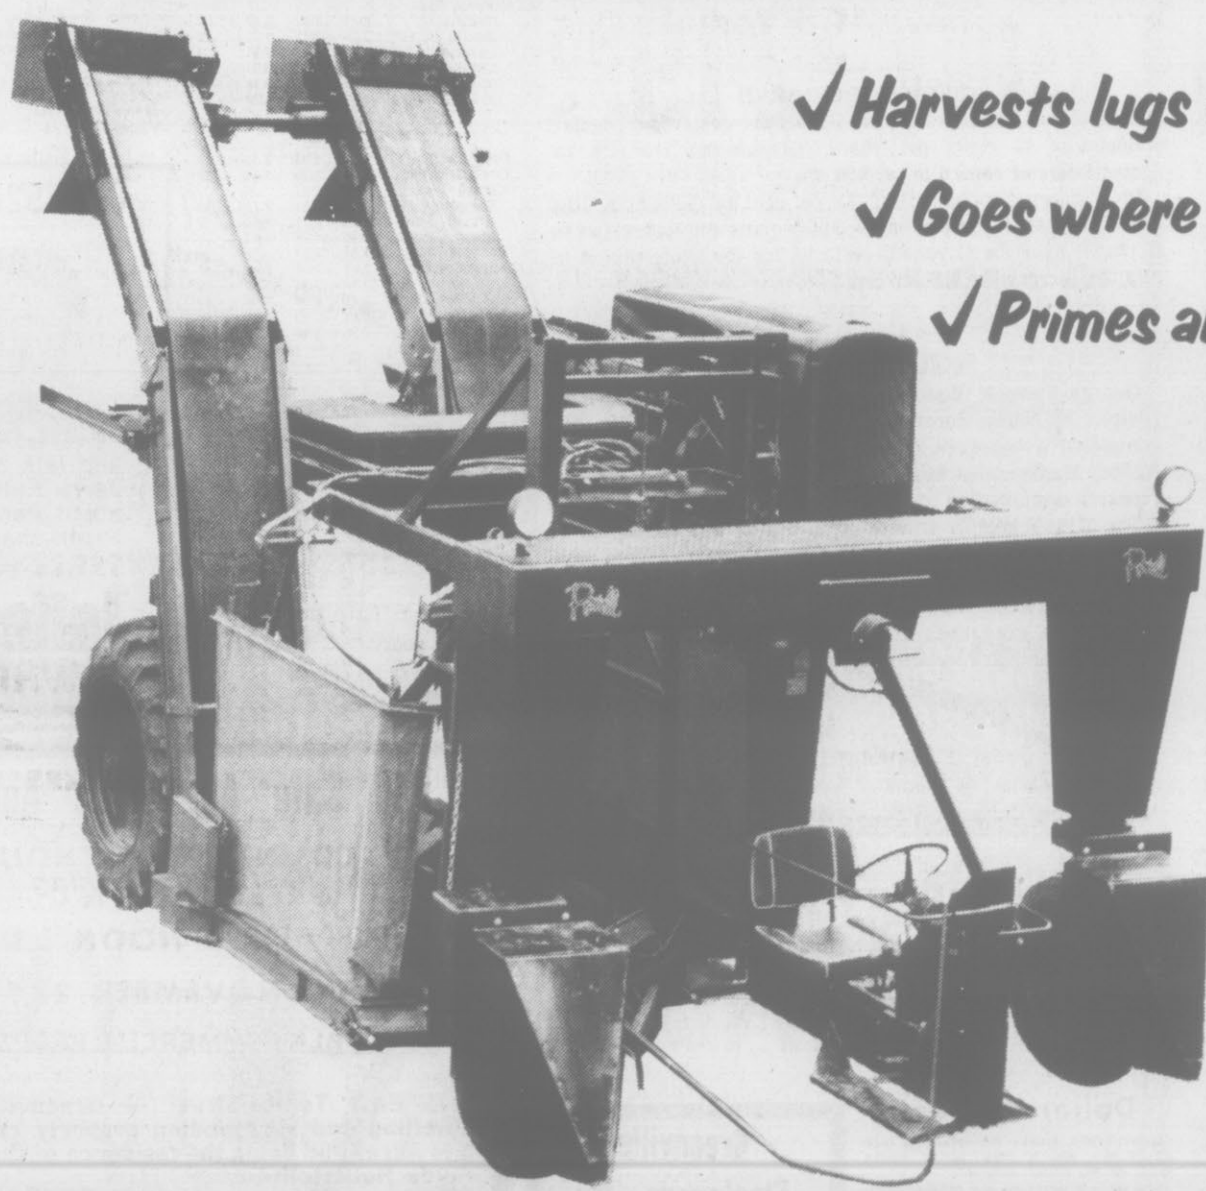

Late Letter Costly

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Officials say the city lost $476 because it took four days for a letter mailed at the downtown post office to be delivered across the street to City Hall.

The letter was a $1,701.50 bid by Checker Cab Co. for the purchase of five used city-owned cars.

Because the letter had not arrived, a bid of $1,225.50 by the Vance Auto Salvage Co. was accepted.

Powell's Tobacco Combine does it all!

- ✓ Harvests lugs through tips - efficiently.
- ✓ Goes where others usually won't in adverse conditions.
- ✓ Primes an acre or more an hour with just the driver.

Compare before you buy! See the design features of the Powell combine that growers say make it the most efficient of any tobacco harvester now available!

Exclusive FlexBar™ And CutterBar™ Defoliator

Only the Powell Combine primes lugs through the tips efficiently. Because Powell's is the only tobacco combine offering the patented high-speed CutterBar defoliator that removes those high-priced tips with minimum losses. And with minimum bruising or crushing of the stalk. You get the tips.

The FlexBar defoliator takes off the sand leaves and middle stalk tobacco with the same high efficiency. It gets down under the sand leaves and "snugs" the stalk.

You simply take off one defoliator, put the other on, and you're ready to go again.

Extra Buoyancy

Owners confirm it — the Powell Combine doesn't bog down easily under adverse field conditions. Its high flotation tires and optional 4-wheel drive give it extra buoyancy. It goes where others usually won't because it has more rubber on the ground.

High Capacity

You can harvest an acre an hour and fill a barn in four hours if you want. It'll run for as many hours as you want it to. It'll run every day of the week. It's rugged, durable and equipped with lights for night use.

Go with the Leader

Powell has been working on combined tobacco since 1954. We built the first farm-operated tobacco combine in 1961. Our headstart and twenty years of continuous research are the reasons our system is so well designed and developed — to give you the best performance possible.

The facts are convincing. Ask any Powell Owner, any Powell Dealer. If you compare features and performance, we believe you'll go Powell all the way.

Stock Market Rises - The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 665.28 Friday, up 29.09 from the week before.

The Associated Press average closed at 224.2, up 10.4 over the same period. The market, as measured by the indicators, rolled up a strong gain during the week. Brokers said receding interest rates and hopes for a letup in inflation were major factors in the rally. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Frank Steinbeck Jr. of Steinbeck's Men's Shop of Greenville announced the appointment of Scott Davenport as the new manager of the firm's New Bern store.

Davenport graduated from New Bern High School and attended the University of North Carolina. He is married to the former Sophie Zaytoun of New Bern.

Steinbeck's Men's Shop in downtown New Bern has been open for just over one year.

Carl L. Tyler has been appointed publications editor for Weyerhaeuser Company's North Carolina region, it was announced by Jeffrey A. Dick region public affairs manager in Plymouth.

Tyer, 25, will be responsible for compiling and editing news from across the company's North Carolina region and publishing two company newspapers covering the activities and events occurring within the region. He will be based in Plymouth.

Before joining Weyerhaeuser, Tyler was a staff writer for the Daily Reflector. He spent four years in the Navy as a photojournalist and communications specialist on duty stations in the Caribbean and Virginia.

A native of Pitt County, he attended Atlantic Christian College and East Carolina University.

J. H. Hudson Inc. of Greenville has been awarded the contract for construction of a new main office here for North Carolina National Bank.

A group of developers, represented by E. Hoover Taft Jr. and Thomas W. Rivers, will lease the new building to NCNB, which received approval from the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency to relocate its main office.

Sidney R. Warner, NCNB senior vice president and Greenville area executive, said that the two-story, 25,000-square-foot facility will be located in the block bounded by E. First, E. Second, Washington and Greene Streets and will replace the bank's present main office at 500 Dickinson Avenue.

Occupancy is planned for the fall of 1975, it was announced.

PHASE I COMPLETED

Belt Tyler announced that Jeff Jenkins and Mickey Parrott have completed Phase I of the Belk and Leggett Professional Development program.

Jenkins, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins of Greenville is merchandise manager in the Rocky Mount group office of Belk Tyler Co.

PROFIT REPORTED

The Little Mint Inc. reported a profit for the fiscal year ended June 30.

The company, under new management, reported that it overcame a restated pre-tax loss of $186,896 a year ago to achieve a $34,941 pre-tax profit in 1974.

Net earnings, including a deduction in prior year taxes, were reported at $23,541 or three cents per share compared to a restated net loss of $173,696 or a net loss of 22 cents per share last year. As of June 30, the company had 787,694 shares outstanding.

Little Mint's retail sales climbed from $2,744,547 to $2,807,185, a 2.3 per cent increase, it was reported, while total corporate revenues declined from $3,634,210 to $3,100,710, a drop of 14.68 per cent.

ELEGANT LIVING

The ideal home for the busy executive living and easy entertaining, traditional styling and beautifully landscaped yard. Five generous bedrooms and 3½ baths. You will be inspired with the spacious master bedroom suite and its separate study, built-in wet bar, refrigerator and file cabinets. Formal living and dining rooms, family room with fireplace, double garage. Central vacuum, surveillance system. $98,500

YOU CAN'T SEE MUCH...

...of this beautiful home because of the beautiful trees! One of Greenville's finest. Impressive foyer, stately living room with fireplace, extra-large formal dining room, paneled family room with fireplace, family style eat-in kitchen, six bedrooms and three baths. Screened porch, double garage and an oversized tree-covered lot with complete landscaping and circular drive. You've got to see it. $78,000

YOU DIDN'T KNOW THAT!

Well, it's true. You can park your two cars and boat here! In addition to the family room with fireplace, there is also a very large recreation room with its own fireplace. This three-bedroom, 2½ bath home is perfect for the family that wants to enjoy the relaxed life. Close to all schools and shopping. The interior decor will excite you. $54,500

Your home ought to be in pictures.

Picture it now...
Your home - in our magazine!

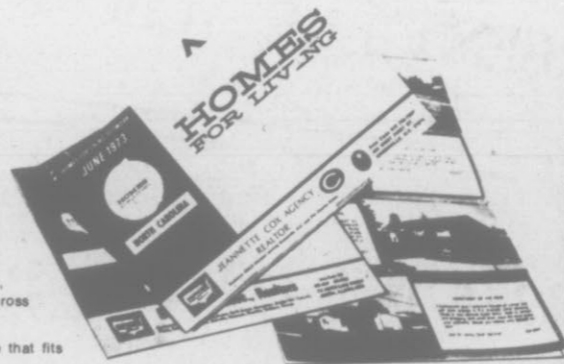

Picture the family that's so much like yours, the family that will be moving here from across the country - because of a job transfer.

Picture how happy they'll be to see a home that fits their needs and desires... see it... before they even get here.

And picture over 8,000 salesmen, across the country, showing your home, without even ringing your doorbell.

Get the picture? Thousands do... in our magazine... each month.

Maximum exposure for all our listings... Another reason why we say...

GOLFER'S DELIGHT

You can tee off from your own backyard if you buy this beautiful four bedroom, two bath home on the golf course. Living room, formal dining room, kitchen with breakfast area. An impressive family room with fireplace and beamed ceiling, double garage. Good loan assumption and sure closing costs. It's only $44,200

HEAR OF OUTER SPACE?...

...well, this is both outer and inner space. Imagine a large tree-covered corner lot with a picturesque six-bedroom, 2½ bath home. A beautiful living room with a comfortable wall covering fireplace, formal dining room, family room, well-arranged kitchen. Breakfast room, pretty patio and more. If you want lots of room at a reasonable price, this is it. $42,500

COMFORTABLE AS AN OLD SHOE...

...and as good as new. Completely reconditioned Southern mansion with four or five bedrooms, 3 baths, family room, study, formal living and dining rooms, center hallway, sweeping staircase, large lot, split heating and air systems. Beautiful condition. $66,500

COUNTRY LIVING

This is your chance to live in the country and still be a short drive from the city limits. A brand new four bedroom, 2½ bath home on a ¼ acre lot. Miss Patricia Roebuck Weds Friday Evening

Miss Patricia Lynn Roebuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Roebuck of Greenville, became the bride of Roy Clinton James Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clinton James of Conetoe, Friday night at 7:30.

The Rev. Harley Brown assisted by the Rev. Curtis Tyler performed the double ring ceremony in the Parkers Chapel Free Will Baptist Church.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Lois Jane Stocks, organist, Phillip Cooper, pianist and soloist, and Miss Elaine Vernelson, soloist, who sang "More", "The Wedding Song" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white formal gown of imported silk peau de soie, silk organdy, and peau d'ange lace. The gown was styled with a natural waistline, scooped neckline, lace bodice, and fitted sleeves. The neckline, sleeves and skirt were bordered with ruffled organdy. The A-line skirt fell into a chapel length train.

The bride's headpiece was a chapel length mantilla of imported silk illusion applied with matching peau d'ange lace, falling from a headpiece of lace and bridal pearls.

Miss Terrie Briley of Greenville was maid of honor. Her floor length empire gown was of floral polyester crepe with a scooped neckline and sashed at the waist. The A-line skirt had a flounce. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a lace fan with cymbidium orchids.

Bridesmaids were Miss Vickie Coward, cousin of the bride, Miss Diane Owens, Miss Pam Briley, Miss Debbie Pollard, Miss Terry Porter, all of Greenville. Their gowns, headpieces, and bouquets were identical to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Donna Rene' Buck of Raleigh, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of ivory, designed the same as the bridesmaids and she carried a basket with a spray of mixed colored marquerite daisies with matching streamers. The basket was filled with mixed colored flower petals.

Michael Hardee was ring bearer. He carried a white satin covered pillow with a spray of mixed flowers and matching ribbons.

The bridegroom's father served as bestman. Ushers were Glenn James, and Neil James, brothers of the bridegroom, Wayne Johnson, all of Conetoe, Eddie Lewis of Greenville and Charles Amsley of Tarboro.

Miss Michelle Taylor of LaGrange, cousin of the bridegroom, and Tamara Ann Buck of Raleigh, niece of the bride, served as rice carriers. They served rice bags tied with ribbons in white baskets. Their dresses and hats were identical to the flower girl's.

Mrs. Sylvia Harris of New Bern, Mrs. Ellen Hardee of Greenville, and Mrs. Joyce Buck of Raleigh, sisters of the bride, were honorary attendants. They wore corsages of carnations.

Mrs. Roebuck, mother of the bride, wore a floor length blue dress with a lace top. Her accessories were in matching blue. She wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. James, mother of the bridegroom, chose a floor length off white chiffon dress with shades of brown accenting the dress.

The grandmothers were remembered with corsages of carnations.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Margaret Landon of Greenville.

For traveling, the bride changed into a white suit with navy blue accessories. She wore a corsage lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside at Conetoe.

The bride is a graduate of North Pitt High School and is presently attending East Carolina University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Tarboro High School, attended Wayne Community College and is engaged in farming.

The James-Roebuck wedding party and guests were entertained at an after-rehearsal party Thursday night at the Parkers Chapel fellowship hall.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene James, Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen James, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Coward, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Owens, Mrs. Margie Purvis, Mrs. Jean Wood, Mrs. Nancy Lewis, Mrs. Jean Barnhill, Mrs. Lois Amsley, and Mrs. Francis Duprey.

On The Young Side

Eight Rose students participated in the East Carolina Scholarship Weekend Oct. 26-28.

Included on the schedule of events were the ECU-vs. Dayton football game Saturday night, and meetings with academic interest groups, a scholarship recognition dinner and a Jazz Ensemble concert on Sunday.

Monday morning from 8:00 until 12:50, the students visited the classes of their choice. The weekend was brought to a close with a banquet featuring guest speaker, Dr. Leo Jenkins.

Attending were Art Klose, Joey Howell, Pat Hernan, Gail Molic, Gail Shaw, Evelyn Maurakis, Kathy McConnell, and Mary Charles Stevens.

On Friday, Oct. 25, many Rose High students sported ponytails, slicked-back hair, bobby socks, long skirts and rolled up jeans in celebration of the "Fifties" homecoming. Pattie Dawson and Jackie Cox were crowned sophomore princesses. Junior princesses were Ann Williams and Daphne Carter. Crowned as Homecoming co-queens were Elise Goodman and Michelle McDowell.

Tied for third place in the float competition were the Spanish Club and Junior Class floats. Second place winner was the French Club float, and the Art Club received first place for their winning float. "Rampants Master the Art of Telephone Booth stuffing" was the theme for the Art Club float. Also, newspaper, instead of napkins was stuffed into the chicken-wire frame as an ecological and economical measure.

Senior Clay Stokes returned home Tuesday after spending a week in Durham at Duke Hospital. Clay underwent knee surgery and will walk with a splint for awhile, but hopes to return to school part-time this week.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony On Friday

VANCEBORO—Miss Debra Kay Anderson became the bride of Edwin Bruce Stocks Friday night at 8:30 in the United Tabernacle Holiness Church here. The Rev. Sam Worthington officiated in the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Anderson of Rt. 2, Vanceboro. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stocks, Jr. of Rt. 1, Grimesland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over taffeta. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice, a high scalloped collar and long fitted sleeves ending in calla points at the wrists. The full chantilly lace skirt featured a back panel of ruffled tiers of pleated silk organza and ruffled pleated organza trimmed the hemline.

She wore a double crown of seed pearls and crystals attached to a bouffant veil of silk illusion bordered with Venise lace. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of daisy mums centered with feathered carnations.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Frances Hudson and Miss Elaine Forrest presided at the guest register.

The maid of honor was Miss

Ramona Stocks, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a formal length gown of ployester crepe with a floral design of lavender and white on an aqua blue background. She carried a nosegay of daisy mums tied with lavender and white ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Ann Anderson, sister of the bride, and Miss Reene Price, cousin of the bride. They wore formal length gowns similar to the honor attendant and carried identical nosegays.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were James Ray Stocks of Grimesland, and Capt. Teb J. Stokes III of Fayetteville, brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, chose a street length dress of pink polyester knit. Mrs. Stocks, mother of the bridegroom, chose a street length dress of blue polyester lace. Both mothers wore carnation corsages.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of West Craven High School and is employed at Hamilton Beach, Washington. The bridegroom is a graduate of Chicod High School, and attended Pitt Technical Institute. He is presently employed at Daniel's Construction Co.

Following the ceremony, the couple received in the vestibule of the church, after which they left for a wedding trip to unannounced points.

New Grandmother Requests Prayer For All Parents

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: Please reprint "A PARENT'S PRAYER." I have just become a grandmother and want to give it to my daughter. Thank you. NEW GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: With pleasure. It was written by Gary C. Myers, founder of Highlights for Children, a fine, wholesome and educational monthly magazine which I recommend highly.

A PARENT'S PRAYER

O heavenly Father, make me a better parent. Teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say, and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them or contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Forbid that I should ever laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame or ridicule when they displease me. May I never punish them for my own selfish satisfaction or to show my power.

Let me not tempt my child to lie or steal. And guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. And when I am out of sorts, help me, O Lord, to hold my tongue.

May I ever be mindful that my children are children and I should not expect of them the judgment of adults.

Let me not rob them of the opportunity to wait on themselves and to make decisions.

Bless me with the bigness to grant them all their reasonable requests, and the courage to deny them privileges I know will do them harm.

Make me fair and just and kind. And fit me, O Lord, to be loved and respected and imitated by my children. Amen.

DEAR ABBY: You advised women who were flat-chested and wanted silicone implants to consult their family doctors about which plastic surgeon to go to, so that's what I did. Well, I thought my doctor was going to throw me out of his office! He said I was "crazy and vain" and the way he carried on was enough to send me away in tears. I can't tell you how hurt I was. It had taken me three years to get up the courage to ask him.

I had talked it over with my husband, and he agreed that if I wanted to have silicone implants it was all right with him. Do you know of any reliable plastic surgeon in my area I could go to? If not, how can I find one? FLAT IN N.J.

DEAR FLAT: Contact your County Medical Association, and ask for a list of their board accredited plastic surgeons.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Anise Buns Come From Mexico

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

Although sweet rolls and buns abound in Mexico, strangely enough there are few recipes for them in the cookbooks devoted to Mexican food. Here then is a recipe for absolutely delicious Mexican buns to help rectify this lack.

The old-time recipe for this sweet bread calls for 12 eggs. But an authority on Mexican food told us that today a Mexican cook would never use this number. Frankly, these buns are so ravishingly good made with only three eggs that we didn't miss the nine we left out. However, to obtain the proper texture, we did up the butter.

SWEET ANISE BUNS

1/2 cup warm water, 105 to 115 degrees
2 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon anise seed
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
3 eggs, at room temperature
3/4 to 4 cups flour
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons light corn syrup

In a large warm bowl sprinkle the yeast over the water and stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, anise seed, butter, the whole eggs and 2 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic — 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled in bulk — about 1 hour.

Punch down dough. On a floured pastry cloth with a floured stoekinet-covered rolling pin roll out to a 12-inch square. Cut into four 6-inch squares. Cut each square into 4 triangles. Place, well apart, on greased cookie sheets. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled in bulk — about 1 hour.

Beat together egg yolk and corn syrup until blended; generously brush over triangles.

Phone Calls Are All Wet

SUNDERLAND, England (WNS) — Elizabeth Green has complained to telephone authorities because the front path to her house is becoming a lake. "Whenever I want to make a phone call, I have to pour a bucket of water over the path," she explained. Engineers agree that her telephone is faulty and that calls can be made only when water is poured over the wires. "The trouble is that they can't agree on who is going to fix it and when," said Mrs. Green. "I'm tired of being ringing wet."

ECU Psychologist Claims Existence Of Bias Toward Assertive Females

By FRANCEINE PERRY
ECU News Bureau

Assertive females, whose bold and confident behavior is generally considered inappropriate for women, are less liked than assertive males. Furthermore, such women are usually judged to be less intelligent than similarly aggressive males. The above statement is not mere rhetoric of the women's liberation movement, but the conclusion of a recent study by a team of psychologists at East Carolina University.

Dr. Rosina Lao, principal investigator for the study, said the ECU research was undertaken to determine whether or not the widespread sex-role stereotyping in our society has actual psychological basis.

"We wanted to unveil unconscious negative stereotyped views toward females who behave assertively in groups," she said. "While high assertiveness when perceived in males is thought to be an admirable trait, assertive females are often disliked and distrusted. Results of our project support the hypothesis suggesting that unfavorable attitudes toward females do indeed exist."

The study was based on nine short videotapes made on campus, each of which consisted of a discussion between two males and two females. The "actors," four ECU graduate students, were in the same age group (25-30) and had been previously rated equally in physical attractiveness. Intelligence levels of the four were assumed to be about equal, although the females' academic grade point averages were slightly higher.

Each videotape used the same script, in which the four young people were performing the roles of four college faculty members discussing scholarship applicants. The only difference between the nine presentations was that portrayals of the three levels of assertiveness, high, medium and low, were done by different people, each in turn.

The order in which the four showed various levels of assertiveness was randomized, so that each male and each female in at least one film acted according to one of the three levels of assertiveness.

Each of the four was given a chance to perform the aggressive, firm, independent role; a moderate role; and a submissive role, in which a lack of self-confidence was demonstrated. In one tape, all four performers played medium assertive roles.

The videotapes were shown to 643 ECU undergraduate students in introductory courses, who were then asked to rate the performers on a nine-point scale ranging from 1 (low intelligence) to 9 (high intelligence). The subjects were also asked to rate the performers according to likeability, on an identical nine-point scale.

The students participating in the rating were not told that the sex of the four performers was a factor in the study, but merely that they were to rate them as "personalities."

"Across the board, both male and female subjects rated the male performers as more intelligent and more likeable," reported Dr. Lao. "And not only were the women less liked and judged less intelligent when both they and the male performers played similar medium assertive roles, but when the women played assertive roles, they were liked even less and considered much less intelligent."

"Our findings support the contention that the male is valued more in our society, at least in terms of attributing more intelligence and likeability to him. And although medium assertiveness is most desirable for both sexes, high assertive behavior is much more debilitating for females than for males."

One of the most disturbing aspects of the study is the fact that the subjects used were young, liberal college student.

"These are the people who are usually open-minded toward variations in sex-role behavior and who tend to be sympathetic toward the goal of sexual equality," Dr. Lao said.

"If these people feel that males are in general more intelligent and likeable than females, and that high assertiveness is acceptable for males but not for females, then even stronger attitudes may indeed be prevalent among the general American population."

Not only does the ECU research objectively indicate that sexual bias exists, but it has implications regarding the status of women in contemporary American society.

"There is no concrete evidence that one sex is innately more intelligent than another, yet women suffer from discrimination in many areas."

"Women in general receive less pay than their male counterparts, women's opportunities are more limited, they make fewer and less important decisions, and their range of acceptable values and behaviors are narrower," says Dr. Lao.

"These facts are the expected consequences of a set of stereotyped attitudes toward women which motivate a host of subtle practices which restrict the female."

"Humans differ in both abilities and interests and there is no commonly acceptable evidence that sex has a crucial influence in determining these differences. There should be no general restriction of choice based solely on characteristics such as sex, race or appearance."

Dr. Lao believes that it is the covert, or even unconscious, attitude that women should remain somewhat passive which prevents true sexual equality from being achieved.

While some people openly maintain that women should stay "where they belong," many others endorse the principle of sexual equality, unaware that they too have hidden expectations that all women should behave according to the dictates of a stereotyped role.

"To change any traditional attitude about sex or race which has been accepted as a basic principle and reinforced in many situations is obviously not an easy task," she said.

"In the case of the prejudiced attitude toward women, the task is further complicated by the fact that many people are not consciously aware that they are prejudiced."

Of her research, she says: "The unconscious biased attitude toward women was the focus of our study. Before a particular attitude can be changed, there must be evidence that the attitude exists. Therefore, attitudes which foster social or economic devaluation of any segment of humanity must be exposed."

Exposure of negative and unfair attitudes is "a first step," she says, in establishing efforts to change these attitudes.

"Potential women achievers are in a really frustrating dilemma," she noted. "A high degree of assertiveness is required in the performance of many jobs these days. Women who wish to be liked and accepted by others are thus handicapped; they probably have to sacrifice being liked for being good in their jobs.

"If equality is to be the goal of society, then it is as important to change the subtle biased attitudes regarding sex-role stereotypes found in this study as it is to change the external opportunity structure."

A native of China, Dr. Lao has degrees from National Taiwan University and the University of Michigan. Since 1969 she has been a member of the ECU psychology faculty, where she is now an assistant professor.

Her research interests are in the areas of personality. (Continued on page C-5)

On The Local Scene

by Rosalie Trotman

Our flatland foliage may be surpassed by the grandeur that draws so many to the mountains this time of year, but there are some lovely scenes in this area, too.

The view across the Tar River from First Street is an array of fall color now and there are other "beauty spots" all around Greenville and Pitt County.

Perhaps one of the loveliest is two yards shaded by sugar maples in the 1500 block of East Fourth Street. These traffic stoppers can be seen in the yards of Mrs. Georgia Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harbin.

The trees are fast losing their foliage now, of course, but when this column was written were brilliant in the autumn sun, each leaf a masterpiece of gold, yellow, orange, scarlet and green.

The sight as one approaches the two houses is so beautiful it must bring peace, at least for the moment, to each who beholds the lovely maples.

St. Patrick Catholic Church, Fayetteville, will be the scene of the Nov. 30 wedding of Nita Massengill and Bobby Tugwell.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Seventy-First High School and is attending Pitt Technical Institute. Her fiancé is a graduate of Farmville High School and is a graduate of Pitt Technical Institute.

Susie Still and Chuck French will exchange wedding vows on Jan. 4 in the Oakmont Baptist Church.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Rose High School and is a junior at East Carolina University. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Chuck is attending Pitt Technical Institute and is a member of the Band of Oz of Greenville.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

A pre-schooler who lives down the street was curious about grandparents. It occurred to me that to a child, grandparents appear like an apparition with no explanation, no job description, and few credentials. They just seem to go with the territory.

This column, then, is for the little folks who wonder what a grandparent is.

A grandparent can always be counted on to buy all of your cookies, flower seeds, all-purpose greeting cards, transparent tape, paring knives, peanut brittle, and ten chances on a pony. (Also a box of taffy when they have dentures.)

A grandparent helps you with the dishes when it is your night. A grandparent will sit through a Greek comedy for three hours to watch her grandson and wonder how Aristophanes has time to write plays when he is married to Jackie Onassis.

A grandparent is the only baby sitter who doesn't charge more after midnight—or anything before midnight.

A grandparent buys you gifts your mother says you don't need.

A grandparent arrives three hours early for your baptism, your graduation, and your wedding because he or she wants a seat where he or she can see everything.

A grandparent pretends he doesn't know who you are on Halloween.

A grandparent loves you when you're a bald baby to a bald father and all the hair in between.

A grandparent will put a sweater on you when she is cold, feed you when she is hungry and put you to bed when she is tired.

A grandparent will brag on you when you get a typing pin that 80 other girls got.

A grandparent will frame a picture of your hand that you traced and put it in her Mediterranean living room.

A grandparent will slip you money just before Mother's Day.

Corduroy is still a perennial fall favorite—in skirts, slightly flared pants and all weather trenchcoats. Loose jackets of printed cotton corduroy come with big patch pockets and rolled back, cuffed sleeves worn over long sleeved solid color sweaters.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An unusually good day and evening. A time to attend the services of your choice, or think along lines that bring a renewal of your finest principles under which you wish to operate in the future. Later join interesting friends.

- ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go out with persons to places where you can elevate your consciousness and become more understanding of others. Relax today.
 - TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You must first visualize greater abundance and then you can take the steps that will lead you to it with ease. Check with experts.
 - GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Seek the company of dynamic persons who interest you and from whom you can learn a great deal! Later engage in your favorite hobby.
 - MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Active participation in civic work will put you in better touch with people and make your life more interesting. Be calm.
 - LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are in a good position now to expand where your most important interests are concerned. A good time to make long-range plans.
 - VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Know what your position is in your community and do whatever you can to improve it. Come to a better understanding with others.
 - LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your hunches are good now and should be used so that you make the future brighter. Show a little more spunk with mate. Be happy.
 - SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make the acquaintance of an expert in the line of endeavor in which you are interested. Combining the old with the new is wise.
 - SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is the time to straighten out any moot points between you and partner. Try to understand the ideas of your opponents.
 - CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Fine day to show favor to those who have done you much good in the past. Find the right way to eliminate a physical ailment.
 - AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make appointments with congenials for later in the day. Increased devotion to mate brings tangible response. Relax tonight.
 - PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your home is your best place of operation today, so invite good friends for a get-together. Show them that you have great pride.
 - IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have many fine ideas and should be successful in any line of endeavor which requires understanding what others want. There is a superlative salesman, or woman, in this chart. The finest education possible should be given to your gifted progeny. Give ethical training early in life.
 - "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
- Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for November is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast (name of newspaper), P.O. Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Odd conditions require careful attention in a.m., but an astute, influential man can give the right answers for handling these matters wisely. Get pressing problem out of the way.

- ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Work matters out at home in a most serious yet understanding way and forget frivolous matters. Follow suggestions of adviser.
 - TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Gain cooperation of good friends for improvements in daily routines and interests. Make appointments without further procrastination. Shop.
 - GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle monetary matters wisely so bigwigs approve and you get further support from them. Start on that report that is pressing.
 - MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are in a rut and should now move in directions more suited to your mentality, physical power. Study a new interest.
 - LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show those in power you are conscientious and gain added backing you need. Help one in dire trouble and you also will benefit.
 - VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to an older person's suggestions, though this tries your patience; there is much wisdom in the advice. Attend a group meeting.
 - LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep busy at vocational and civic affairs and improve your standing. Instead of criticizing bigwigs, be helpful and learn from them.
 - SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day for new interests after important work is completed, but not before. Handle current matters for immediate success.
 - SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) By keeping promises made, you have greater success and gain approval. If mate is demanding, it is for the good.
 - CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to please a demanding partner since it will rebound to your good as well. Avoid someone about whom you are uncertain.
 - AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have so much to do you want to chuck it all and go off on a tangent, but get it done and reap the benefits.
 - PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan your day to get important work accomplished and still have time for pleasure. Repair sports gear for safety, perfect functioning.
 - IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will literally be born with a martyr complex, though there may be little to complain about. Send to right schools where this can be trained out of him or her, and then this can become a most successful chart once positive thinking is used. There could be a fine artist in this horoscope, either in music, paints, or sculpture. Give good spiritual training early.
 - "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

North Pitt School News

By GENEVA HOLDER

North Pitt's library has lost many books, due primarily to students forgetting to return them. The library needs these books, and all students and ex-students are urged to look at home for books borrowed in years past. There will be no fine on these books, and they need not even be brought to the library. They may be mailed or placed in special boxes at the school.

Students who wish to take the SAT on December 7 are reminded to be sure to mail their application and $6.50 before the first of November.

Thursday, October 24, was Tacky Day at North Pitt.

Thursday was also Lick'Em Day, a day for students to buy suckers from the teachers and lick them all day. That afternoon the entire school met in the gym for a performance by D. H. Conley's drill teams.

Friday, October 25, was color day. Students wore school colors, blue and orange.

Friday night, North Pitt hosted D. H. Conley in North Pitt's homecoming football game.

During half-time, the homecoming princesses walked

Bethel and attended Bethel High School. She attended Meredith College two years and East Carolina University two years. She majored in home economics.

Mrs. Carson and her husband, Alton, a farmer, live in Bethel. They have one son, Hilton, 23, who is a pilot.

Mrs. Carson enjoys reading, sewing, cooking, and fishing.

The Band program at North Pitt will actually consist of two programs in one. Many of the students do not read music so it will be necessary to have a theory or learning program so that they can fully understand music. At the moment we have 185 students out for band and we are in the process of arranging a schedule for the students.

GULL PERCH—Railings of an old fence rotted and broken by the ceaseless movement of the tides provide a perch for this group of sea gulls as they await passage of a school of small fish that ven-

Cold Church Plans Talked

ST. ALBANS, England (AP) — A churchgoing kit of specially warm clothing for men and women has been suggested to a Church of England panel considering how congregations might be kept warm in winter.

Another proposal was reintroducing spats for men, once a fashionable male adornment but nowadays unseen.

Panel chairman J. R. Kell, who has advised on heating Canterbury, Durham and St. Paul's cathedrals, said that rising fuel costs are straining church finances, while the warm air rises to the high rafters leaving worshippers cold in the pews.

Another suggestion is to subdivide churches with a "winter tent" of transparent material erected in the nave. This would be comparatively simple to heat, leaving the rest of the building at a lower temperature.

church as one way of keeping warm. The correspondent added: "I even wondered whether to leave the Church of England and join one of those religious bodies where the men remain covered. However, I decided to remain where I was and be a Christian martyr in cold winters ... but churchmen must beware and must realize that a church which is uncomfortably cold will lose much of its congregation, and cannot function as an effective agent of Christian mission."

A letter to the weekly "Church Times" suggests men might be permitted to wear "some decent and discreet head-covering" in

More Cars For U.S. Highways

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite higher prices for cars and gasoline, auto registrations are expected to reach a record high of 105.3 million this year, says Donald S. Knight, executive director of the Road Information Program.

This is a 3.4 per cent increase over the 101.8 million autos registered in 1973.

Fewer But Fatter Warsaw Wildcats

By BOGDAN TUREK
WARSAW (UPI) — Warsaw's wild cats are getting fewer but fatter.

More than 3,000 volunteers are feeding the city's estimated half a million cats a contraceptive diet after protests from city dwellers over the felines' noisy nighttime capers.

"A side effect of the drug is that the cats get bigger appetites and put on weight very quickly," said Janina Slonimska, secretary of the Association for the Protection of Animals.

The association launched a campaign to cut down painlessly the number of cats for fear some residents might use crueler methods.

According to association estimates, about half a million cats inhabit the cellars of Poland's capital. Some city apartment blocks house as many as 50 cats in their basements.

The capital's growing feline population had caused alarm at city hall and brought floods of protests from irate city dwellers, Mrs. Slonimska said.

If even had caused bad blood among neighbors.

Lonely pensioners — the cats' chief benefactors — were sneaking out at night to feed their feline friends so as not to be scolded by anticat neighbors.

And when one janitor bricked up his cellars and called in a cat catcher, someone tore out the bricks and let the cats free.

Fearful that the anticat faction might take matters into their own hands, the association developed a cat contraceptive which is being fed to the cats in their food. Indiscriminate use of the contraceptive might upset the ecological balance of the capital's cats and rats, an association official said.

"Too big a reduction in the number of cats would result in a rapid increase of rats and mice," the official said.

"Cats might wake people up at night, but they kill rats. Cats are not a danger to the city's health, but rats are," the official said.

ARKANSAS SENT MRS. TO SENATE IN '32
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hattie W. Caraway, Arkansas Democrat, was the first woman elected to the United States Senate.

Mrs. Caraway was appointed to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, former Sen. T. H. Caraway, D-Ark. She was later elected in a special election Jan. 12, 1932, to complete the term.

TV SHOWTIME

For The Week Of November 3, 1974

The Daily Reflector

WALTER CRONKITE anchors the CBS News coverage of the gubernatorial and Congressional elections on Tuesday, Nov. 5, starting at 7:00 p.m. on the network.

Election Returns Tuesday Eve

All three networks will give viewers complete coverage of the national election returns Tuesday evening, November 5.

NBC News, for the first time, is enlisting the aid of Barbara Walters and Jim Hartz, co-hosts of "Today," and White House correspondent Tom Brokaw for major roles in their national election coverage on the NBC Television Network starting at 6:30 p.m., with the "NBC Nightly News," and continuing until at least 1 a.m. the following morning.

Walters and Hartz will cover the 435 House of Representatives contests, and Brokaw will cover the 35 Governorship races. Correspondent Edwin Newman, who has had key roles many times in NBC News TV election coverage, will cover the 34 Senate races.

Correspondents John Chancellor and David Brinkley will co-anchor the NBC News election coverage, and correspondent Douglas Kiker will be based in Washington, D. C., during the evening, interviewing significant political figures.

CBS News correspondent Walter Cronkite will anchor CBS News' coverage of the gubernatorial and Congressional elections, from CBS headquarters in New York, beginning at 7:00 and continuing to conclusion.

Eric Sevareid, CBS News National Correspondent, will provide analysis of the returns throughout the evening, and correspondent John Hart will report on trends.

This multi-award-winning team of distinguished CBS News correspondents reporting will be backed by the CBS News Election Unit, led by Russ Bensley and Warren Mitofsky.

Since 1968, CBS news has given early estimates of the winners of some 350 election races with 100 percent accuracy.

ABC's Howard K. Smith, Harry Reasoner and a newsstaff of more than 400 correspondents, analysts and technicians at Election Headquarters in New York City and at numerous remote locations throughout the nation will provide television viewers with detailed coverage of the election for their network.

ABC News' "Elections '74" special coverage will begin at 7 also, and will last until at least 2 a.m.

Behind the scenes, ABC News staffers will be augmented by a far-flung network of state political analysts and volunteers from the League of Women Voters who will provide a steady input of information via telephone calls. That information from the key precincts is weighed heavily by the ABC decision desk in projecting the winners.

So, don your most comfortable made-for-TV-viewing-garb, clear the path to the refrigerator (so you won't waste any time grabbing those snacks), settle down, comfy-cozy like, knowing that no matter which channel you choose to view Tuesday evening, you may be assured that you will receive accurate and up-to-the-minute coverage of the election returns.

CICELY TYSON'S portrayal of the title role in "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," won her an Emmy for her acting ability coupled with a performance of human understanding and dignity. The television special will be repeated Sunday, Nov. 3, 7:00 to 9:00 on channels 3N-9-11.

Encore Tonight For 'Miss Jane Pittman'

"The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," the television dramatic special about the fictional life of a 110-year-old black woman, became an overnight TV classic when originally televised last season.

Cicely Tyson, in the title role, was voted an Emmy as "Best Actress of the Year," to pace a record nine Emmys won by the show. The nation's critics, including some movie reviewers who seldom pay attention to TV, were virtually unanimous in their praise. And the Xerox TV special soared to a ratings peak as some 50,000,000 families tuned in.

With that kind of record, all that's left for an encore is a repeat performance. And that's what happens Sunday evening, Nov. 3, 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock on Channel 9-11, when there's an encore performance of the "Miss Pittman' classic.

Television critics greeted "Miss Pittman" as 'superb,' terming Miss Tyson's portrayal of the title role as a 'dazzlingly expert performance.' Based on a novel by Ernest J. Gaines, the special reflects the history of the blacks in this country by focussing on the 110-year-old Miss Pittman, who was born into slavery during the Civil War.

Critics who seldom write about TV were even more lavish in their praise. Pauline Kael, in the New Yorker, termed the special 'quite possibly the finest movie ever made for American television.' New York magazine's Judith Crist said that Miss Tyson's accomplishment is 'sheer perfection' and syndicated columnist Rex Reed called Miss Tyson's acting 'one of the most brilliant performances I have ever seen by a woman of any color, any age, any season.'

Roy Wilkins, head of the NAACP, praised the 'honesty' of the special in his syndicated column, adding that 'Miss Tyson has cast her spell and has included her whole race in her seemingly simple tale of 110 years of life on this earth.'

The story is told in a series of flashbacks by the dignified, courageous Miss Jane, as she narrates into a reporter's tape recorder the memories of her life in Louisiana, from a young slave girl through a century of black experiences. The denouement, in which Miss Jane contributes in her small but majestic way to the struggle for civil rights, was described by one writer as possibly "the most effective nine minutes I have ever seen in a fictional film."

Glamor Role For Alexis

Alexis Smith, who never really believed that she was a glamorous movie star, may well hold exclusive rights to that opinion. During a career that saw her starring in more than 40 motion pictures, she became the epitome of sophisticated, fashionable, statuesque glamour. "Making movies was fun in those days," Miss Smith recalls. "I didn't worry much then about the quality of films, I was just so delighted to be a movie star. That has all changed, however, I am deeply concerned with quality now."

The actress, whose Broadway debut in "Follies" won her a Tony Award and launched a new career, makes one of her infrequent television appearances, co-starring as Mme. Helvetius, opposite Eddie Albert, in "The Ambassador," first in a four-part mini-series of 90-minute specials based on the life of Benjamin Franklin, to be presented Thursday, Nov. 21, on the CBS Television Network.

Mme. Helvetius, the beautiful and gracious widow who was Franklin's dear friend and co-patriot, has already become a favorite role in Miss Smith's repertoire of elegant women.

"I think Mme. Helvetius may be the most truly glamorous woman I've ever played, in the real sense of that word," Miss Smith says.

Likes Women In Varied Roles

Susan Foster, who stars as a park ranger on the "Sierra" series, isn't a strong woman's libber, but she is happy to see television presenting women in a variety of roles. "Just a few years ago you only saw women on television as secretaries and mothers. But today television presents women in many roles," says Susan. She thought they had "created" the role of Ranger Julie Beck just to have a woman in the cast. "I didn't know that there were that many women rangers in our National Park Service — but then again, I'm a product of earlier television policies."

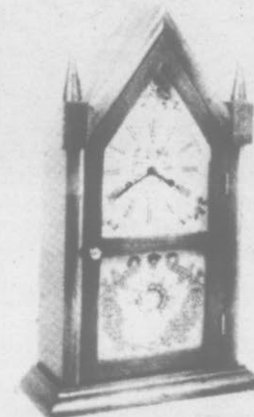

Elliott Gould In TV Special

Elliott Gould, leading screen actor, will make his first television appearance as the star of a comedy-variety family entertainment special for the ABC Television Network, it was recently announced by Edwin T. Vane, Vice President, National Program Director, ABC Entertainment.

The hour-long special, entitled "Out To Lunch," is being produced by the Children's Television Workshop Productions and will feature the Sesame Street Muppets, Rita Moreno, and other guest stars to be announced shortly. In this innovative comedy program, the endearing characters from "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" take over ABC for an hour while the network brass is "Out to Lunch." It will be seen on the ABC Television Network, Tuesday, December 10.

DESPERATE MEN — Jon Voight (left) and Dustin Hoffman (right) star as two men trying desperately to create new lives for themselves in the Academy Award-winning film "Midnight Cowboy," which has its television premiere on ABC-TV's "ABC Sunday Night Movie," November 3 (9-11 p.m.) on Channel 3-5-12.

DECORAMA

By

Basic Decorating Problems

Three basic problems confront a woman when she decorates her home. These are the amount of money she has to spend; lack of space; decorating know-how. When all three are combined they seem to outwit the best of us, yet when taken individually, each problem becomes quite simple to overcome. How do you go about solving your decorating problems? Analyze the room you are about to decorate. Jot down the measurements and space available. This will dictate how much furniture you need for basic comfort.

Basic decorating problems are always possible to solve. Why not start with new wall to wall carpeting and take it from there. Eastern Carpet Inc., 602 West Greenville Blvd., Greenville. 756-1944. "Where There's Always a Sale."

'Midnight Cowboy' Making TV Debut

"Midnight Cowboy," the Academy Award-winning Best Picture of the Year that opened new areas of reality in American filmmaking, comes to television for the first time on the ABC Television Network's "The ABC Sunday Night Movie," November 3, 9-11 p.m., on Channel 3-5-12.

This new PG-rated version has been carefully edited by the network, with the cooperation of the Oscar-winning director, John Schlesinger, and producer Jerome Hellman, to assure suitability for the home-screen while still maintaining the integrity and power of the frankly innovative film.

The movie also earned an Academy Award for Best Screenplay From Another Medium (for screenwriter Waldo Salt) and nominations for stars Jon Voight, Dustin Hoffman and Sylvia Miles.

Los Angeles Times critic Charles Champlin found the movie "Unusually moving... as an exercise in filmmaking, 'Midnight Cowboy' is dazzling," and said of stars Voight and Hoffman, "the success of their collaboration, as actors, has few parallels that I can recall in recent times."

Judith Crist called the movie a "brilliant and faithful film version of James Leo Herlihy's compassionate and comic novel about the lonely ones who walk faceless in the crowd, living their nighttime lives in the terrible isolation of the unloved... a film that should not be missed."

Joe Buck (Voight) is the 'midnight cowboy' of the title, a naive young man from Texas who moves his rootless life to New York, with a buckskin jacket containing dreams in every pocket. Joe is convinced in the innocence of his heart that once his manly presence invades the loveless city he will be kept grandly by the horde of lonely ladies.

That's not quite the way it works out. The amateur hustler finds himself out-hustled by the first woman he meets (Sylvia Miles) and easily conned by a street-wise misfit called "Ratso" Rizzo (Hoffman), as the dreams quickly become as threadbare as his cheap buckskin jacket.

Buck and Rizzo, hapless products of very different worlds, become friends in spite of themselves, sharing their fantasies and a room in a building as condemned as their lives.

Rizzo, crippled and tubercular, has only one vision to sustain him in a cold world — a vision of himself in Miami, where the magic of the sun will make him strong and straight, and people will call him by his rightful name — and as Joe Buck recognizes the only friendship he has ever known, he becomes determined to take his friend to this magic land where "Ratso" can finally become Ricco Rizzo.

McCutcheon Got Starring Chance

With the Los Angeles Rams in 1972, Lawrence McCutcheon played in only three games and did not once carry the ball. It might be said, therefore, that he stepped up his activity in '73, and, of course, that's an understatement. McCutcheon did, in fact, gain more yards (1,097) than any other Rams back in a single season. What's more, he did it in what was technically his rookie year, one in which he missed two and a half years with an injury.

Lawrence McCutcheon was not a happy man in 1972. Coming to the Rams as their number three draft choice from Colorado State, he was supposed to be the power back the Rams were looking for. Unfortunately, his knee had not quite recovered from surgery performed the previous January. Lawrence could hardly walk, much less run on it.

Although discouraged, McCutcheon overcame the temptation to quit football. His knee recovered, but coach Tommy Prothro placed him on the inactive squad when the regular season began.

His year on the inactive squad was most disillusioning as he explains, "because you don't always feel as though you're part of the team. You work out all week, but then come Sunday, everyone else is doing the playing and you're not even in uniform. It's a weird feeling. I did a lot of soul searching that year. I knew I had the ability to play, but I had to take a long, honest look at the situation."

Cancer Patient's Fight

"Tainted Lady," the most important episode in "Medical Center's" six years on CBS will air November 11.

Written by producer Don Brinkley with advisory assistance from the American Cancer Society, the segment deals with a woman health spa executive who is refused re-employment following successful cancer surgery.

Directed by Robert Douglas, Academy-Award nominee Shirley Knight guest-stars in the central role.

The storyline was suggested by Walter Dishell, M.D., the series' medical advisor, who was treating a young woman for face cancer. Following recovery, she was refused readmittance into a teacher-training program with the Los Angeles Board of Education.

"The injustice of her situation enraged me to the point where I sought ways to make the public aware that people in this country are denied gainful employment on the basis of cancer discrimination," states Dr. Dishell.

"Medical Center" executive producers Frank Glicksman and Al Ward shared his concern and sold CBS on the "Tainted Lady" storyline.

Sen. Ervin A Contributor

Senator Sam Ervin and Elliot Richardson will become regular on-the-air contributors to "AM America," the new early-morning series premiering on the ABC Television Network in January.

Senator Ervin, one of the nation's best-known and most outstanding political figures, will offer commentary on vital public issues of the day, based upon his experience in government and as a Constitutional lawyer. Many of Sen. Ervin's commentaries will be produced on location, either in Washington or at his home in Morganton, North Carolina.

An unlikely celebrity, this American statesman pursued a career from country lawyer and judge, through the state legislature, to Congress and finally, to the United States Senate and the chairmanship of the Watergate Committee, where he found himself on a collision course with Richard M. Nixon and history.

Mr. Richardson has served as the Attorney General of the United States, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and as the Under Secretary of State in the Cabinet of the former President, Richard M. Nixon.

'Vidifront' System Brings Quick Data

Vidifront, a technological breakthrough whose use on network television was pioneered by ABC News in 1972, will provide viewers with up-to-the-second information on major contests. Vidifront receives the latest vote totals from National Elections Services computers and translates them into easy-to-read letters and numbers that appear instantaneously on the home screen.

The Vidifront system eliminates the dependence on the mechanical tote-boards of earlier elections. The result this year has been the freeing of the creative talents of designer John Braden, who has devised a new, open access set with an enormous wrap-around cyclorama. Decorated with motifs from our nation's colorful political past, the cyclorama serves as an appropriate background for coverage of one of the most important midterm elections in American history.

Walter J. Pfister, Jr., Executive Producer of ABC News' Special Events Unit, says that the departure from the tote-board settings of the past is only a small part of an effort to recapture the human element in election coverage.

"Viewers will be spared an endless barrage of numbers,"

Pfister said. "Reasoner and Smith will interpret the results as they are relayed to them by a network of computer terminals and a staff of seasoned political analysts."

"Although ABC News has always depended heavily on remote units to capture the color and meaning of contests all across the country," Pfister continued, "this November a special effort will be made to avoid cliché victory and concession statements. Instead, Smith and Reasoner and an on-the-scene correspondent will interview winners by remote hook-up to get the story behind the victory."

"The goal of NBC News, aided by the Political Unit headed by Manager John Thompson, will project on the basis of key precinct data the winners in major races, as a matter of policy, ABC News will not project the winner in any locality before the polls there have closed."

COVER ELECTION — ABC News "Election '74" special coverage will be headed by the award-winning news team of Harry Reasoner and Howard K. Smith, beginning at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, November 5 on ABC-TV.

Series Going To Full Hour

"Another World," the award winning daytime drama series, will be expanded from its present half-hour form to become network television's first full-hour daily serial drama, beginning in January, Lin Bolin, Vice President, Daytime Programs, NBC, recently announced.

"Another World," now in its 11th year, is currently presented from 3 to 3:30 p.m. In its new format it will be colorcast Mondays through Fridays from 3 to 4. Realignment of NBC-TV's daytime schedule to accommodate the expansion of "Another World" will be announced within the next few weeks.

"This is a significant breakthrough in the daytime program form," Bolin said. "Just as NBC-TV pioneered in long-form programming in prime time, so are we taking the lead in recognizing audience appetite for the long-form in daytime."

Ice Rip-Off Fascinates An Ex-Cop

With $4 million in diamonds tucked away in their suitcases, four semi-professional jewel thieves use an interstate bus as a getaway vehicle and find their caper considerably complicated by a fellow passenger — a curious cop — in "The Great Ice Rip-Off," on the ABC Television Network's "Wednesday Movie of the Week," Nov. 6, 8:30 to 10 p.m., on Channel 3-5-12. Lee J. Cobb and Gig Young star.

A series of diamond robberies in four cities, masterminded by Harkey Rollins (Young) for his three confederates, have all been timed to coincide with the departures of a passenger bus en route from Seattle to San Diego. After each job, the culprit boards the bus to join the rest of the newly formed gang.

Willy Calso (Cobb) and his wife, Helen (Grayson Hall), get on the bus with Harkey in Seattle. Willie is a retired cop who, after the second robbery, becomes more interested in the case than in reading mystery novels.

Harkey, who has become a reluctant friend of the former detective, plays it cool, but by the time the bus reaches San Diego, Willy has the other three pegged as the jewel thieves.

Only when he discovers that Harkey is immediately returning to Seattle on the same bus does Willy put all the pieces together. He flies back to Seattle to fill in the spaces on this living crossword puzzle, but his quarry appears to be too smart for him... there is no trace of the diamonds or the accomplices, and Harkey is aboard a freighter ready to sail for England.

Racing Drama Stars Newman

Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward and Robert Wagner star in "Winning," a drama set against the panoramic background of American race car driving, to be colorcast on "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies" November 9, 9:00-11:30 p.m., on Channel 6-7.

The New York Times called "Winning"... an exquisitely professional exercise and "the best-rounded and most appealingly personalized film of this kind ever made."

has a disastrous effect on his marriage.

Elora (Miss Woodward), Capua's loving wife, no longer content to wait silently in the bleachers begins an affair with Erding (Wagner), Capua's friend and fellow driver, that threatens to end the marriage once and for all.

Richard Thomas appears in a pivotal role as Charley, Elora's teenage son from a previous marriage.

Once Byron Barr; Today, Gig Young

For Gig Young, the particular film or play he is currently doing is the most important. He devotes all of his energies to doing a good job. But the two movies he remembers the best, or at least that are closest to him, are "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" for which he won his Academy Award as Best Supporting Actor, and "The Gay Sisters," made in 1942.

Why the latter? Because that's how Gig Young got his name.

"When I first broke into films in 1940, I was using my real name, Bryon Barr," he said, during a chat between scenes with fellow star Lee J. Cobb on the set of "The Great Ice Rip-Off," the ABC Television Network "Wednesday Movie of the Week," airing November 6, 8:30 to 10:00 p.m., on Channel 3W-5-12.

"The character I portrayed in 'The Gay Sisters' was an artist named Gig Young," the actor continued. "I liked the role very much, especially since it was my biggest role to date."

Gig, who portrays the head of a gang of jewel thieves in "The Great Ice Rip-Off," recalls that following previews of "The Gay Sisters," the comment cards that came back to the Warner Bros. publicity department showed that a large portion of the audiences favorably mentioned the character of Gig Young," continues the actor. "I thought it over and agreed. In my next film, 'Air Force,' I was Gig Young."

There is a postscript to the story of the naming of Gig Young. Gig wasn't the first one to use it in real life.

"Stephen Longstreet, who wrote the original story upon which 'The Gay Sisters' was based, used the name in the days when he was painting instead of writing," Young said.

When Gig adopted the name and learned of Longstreet's use of it, he cornered the writer one day to find out where the name came from.

"Longstreet remembered that in his hometown, he used to be fascinated, for some obscure reason, with a man who always went around riding in a horse-drawn gig."

So, Gig Young came into being through a childhood memory.

Ed Asner Sets Up Scholarship

Edward Asner, who portrays newsroom boss Lou Grant on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on the CBS Television Network on Saturday evenings, has established the Edward R. Murrow Scholarship at the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

The recipient will be selected by the scholarship committee of the school with the agreement of the chairman of the Department of Broadcasting and the dean of the School of Journalism. The first award will be presented in the spring of 1975.

The 20 mpg luxury car.

Introducing the 1974 Volkswagen 412 covered by Owner's Security Blanket.

Before the energy crisis hit home, the Volkswagen 412 was right. Now it's more right than ever. With the nation's big gas guzzlers in disfavor, the VW 412 may be one of the few luxury cars still around. (Only the fittest shall survive.) For it gets a good 20 miles per gallon.

How's that for a luxury car that still treats you to the comfort of plush seats, elegant carpeting and spacious room? Fact is, it's the only luxury car with its combination of features, standard equipment, for only $4100.* Guess you could say the VW 412 is a luxury car whose time has come.

Dick Van Dyke is the host for "Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy," a biographical recollection in depth of the life and work of the great comic actor, which will be presented as a "Wide World: Special" on the ABC-TV, Thursday, November 7 (11:30 - 1 a.m.) on Channel 3-5-12. Lloyd's home in Beverly Hills, Calif., completed 45 years ago at a cost of $2½ million and situated on 16½ acres of landscaped grounds of great beauty, is the focal point of the program. Van Dyke will take viewers through the house room by room, a tour that will include a visit to Lloyd's famous Christmas tree room, where a tree decorated with 5,000 ornaments can be seen 12 months of the year.

GOING TO ITALY

John Schuck, who plays Sgt. Enright in "McMillan & Wife" segments of the "NBC Sunday Mystery Movie," says he can't wait for production to be completed on the current season. "During our next break I hope to go to Italy to attend the University of Perugia to study Italian and Italian culture," he reveals.

Garner, Debbie In Romantic Comedy

James Garner stars with Debbie Reynolds in the story of a housewife who becomes the playmate to a notorious playboy, in the television premiere of "How Sweet It Is!", a romantic comedy to be seen on "The CBS Thursday Night Movies" Thursday, Nov. 7, 9:00 to 11:00 p.m., on Channel 9-11.

Also starring in the film are comedians Terry-Thomas and Paul Lynde.

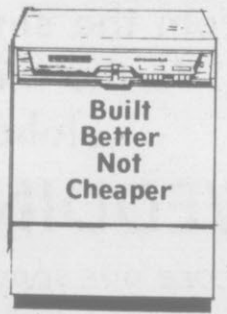

When their son decides to try the European-tour method of winning his girl friend, Grif and Jenny Henderson wangle their own passage aboard. Grif works at a photographic assignment, and Jenny moves into a luxurious villa, only to find she's been swindled and the playboy owner, Philippe, is very much in residence. Jenny deftly tries to avoid Philippe's avid pursuit—until she finds that her husband is doing his own pursuit of a lovely tour guide.

The film was produced by Garry Marshall and Jerry Belson.

Big Day In Karpis Country

Machine guns chattered, women screamed and fainted, two police officers dropped to the pavement as the plateglass window in the facade of a building disintegrated. Five men, clutching guns and money bags, rushed from the building and into a waiting 1934 sedan.

"Cut!" punctuated the director, and the Karpis gang had carried out another bank robbery for the cameras recording "The FBI Versus Alvin Karpis, Public Enemy Number One," the first of a series of special films, entitled "The FBI Story," dramatizing landmark cases, to be seen as a world premiere presentation of "The CBS Friday Night Movies" Friday, November 8 (9-11 pm) on Channel 3N-9-11.

As the actors portraying the gang members returned their dummy machine guns to the prop men, and the two "shot" policemen got up and brushed the dust of the sidewalk off their uniforms, stars Robert Foxworth, who portrays Karpis, and Gary Lockwood, plays Fred Barker, inspected the antique cars lining the street of Grass Valley, the tiny northern California village substituting for a mid-western town, circa 1930.

Long before the Hollywood film crew had arrived at the location that morning, the main street of the town had been cordoned off by local authorities and the curb lined with old automobiles. Foxworth and Lockwood attempted to estimate the current cash value of the vintage cars being used in the picture. Two trailer loads of them had been brought from Hollywood; the 30-odd others were owned by residents of the area, known as the "mother lode country." Most were prized possessions of collectors, but many were still being used for transportation by their elderly owners. The two stars estimated that the 50 cars lining the street were now worth some $200,000, but could have been purchased when new for less than a quarter of that figure.

Most of the owners of the cars were content to be interested onlookers to filming, but some were actively involved as extras, wearing 1930's clothing supplied by the film's wardrobe department.

A few of the younger bit players stole dismaying glances at themselves in mirrors; their long locks and sideburns had been ruthlessly shortened by the show's hairdressers to put them in character for the short-haired '30s.

As the day wore on, the abandoned bank building, which had been refurbished by Hollywood technicians, became a mecca for area residents. The mass-media class of Nevada Union High School, all 63 students, came to observe. The

FIRST IN FBI SERIES — Robert Foxworth (left) as Depression America's deadly criminal Alvin Karpis, is captured by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover (Harris Yulin) and his men, in "The FBI Versus Alvin Karpis, Public Enemy Number One," the first of a series of special films entitled "The FBI Story," based on landmark cases on "The CBS Friday Night Movies" Friday, November 8 (9-11 p.m.) on Channel 9-11.

Thespian Society of Rough and Ready (there really is a town of that name) were on hand to get pointers, and the community theatre of Auburn, Calif., has sent its director to observe.

By the last shot of the day, the onlookers had thinned down to a handful. The weary owners that cranked up their care (literally, in many cases) and the street began to return to its modern look as late-model cars replaced the antiques lining the curb.

A DANCING START

Jack Albertson, star of NBC-TV's "Chico and the Man" series, started out in show business as a dancer. "It was obvious, even way back then, that I wasn't the leading man type, Jack says.

Czech Film Fantasy Is Re-Shown

An orphan girl with a fanciful imagination leaves her stark surroundings for the world of fantasy, in "Lucy and the Miracles," a motion picture from Czechoslovakia which will be rebroadcast on "The CBS Children's Film Festival" Saturday, November 9 (1:00-2:00 pm) on Channel 3N-9-11.

Lucy (Viktorie Cermakova), who has been fortunate enough to find foster parents to adopt her, sets out, through fantasy, to find parents for her orphan friends. Since the story is told from a child's point of view, it unravels without logic, weaving in and out of reality. The cinematic technique is highly stylized and often reminiscent of the old Keystone Kops silent movies.

The final scene has Lucy back at the orchard bidding good-bye to the last occupant, who is about to join his new father. All the people Lucy has met during her remarkable world-of-make-believe wanderings have taken the children home.

"Lucy and the Miracles" produced by the Barrandov Film Studio in 1970, has a story and screenplay by Ota Hofman and direction by Ota Koval.

VISITS ZOO — Demond Wilson is host and narrator of NBC-TV's "GO" when the show visits the San Diego Zoo Saturday, November 9 (12:30-1 p.m.). Wilson, of NBC-TV's "Sanford and Son" will take young viewers through the largest zoo in the United States where most of the animals live unrestrained in simulated natural surroundings.

Actor's Contract Assures Long Life

Nothing's going to happen to Mike Karr, that good-looking criminal attorney on "The Edge of Night," a daytime serial seen each afternoon from 2:30 to 3 on Channel 9-11. The reason for this is not because Mike's immortal, or that he found 'that' fountain ponce de Leon searched for in vain. The hard, cold facts are this; you can be assured of Mike's 'longevity' because Forrest Compton, the actor who fills Mike's shoes (or, those of you out in TV Land, sitting on the edge; of the soaf thru all the 'soaps' each day, take heart! Mike may be kidnapped, threatened by the underworld, beaten up, and bitten by a mad dog, but he'll not expire ... thank to that ever lovin' long term contract.

"The Edge of Night" is one of two serials still being broadcast 'live' and, during arecent interview with Forrest Compton, I asked him how he felt about this.

"We're kind of happy over the fact that our show is 'live' most of the time, because most of us (the regulars on the show) prefer it 'live,' even tho it makes getting time off and vacation arrangements very difficult. We like the excitement of it," he continued, "There's a pressure on us as well as on the technicians that makes for a more concentrated effort, and, I think it comes out a better show. We're more excited when we know we just have one 'shot' at it.

"Could I have a 'scoop'?" (I'm a soap 'addict' ... I must confess.)

"Oh, the 'plot' line?"
"YES! YES!"

"I wish I could ... I really do, but I can't ... because I really don't know. You see, most of the performers don't know what's going to happen themselves. I know it sounds strange, but we are sometimes as much in the dark as the viewers at home."

Wax Museum Adding Mannix

The next celebrity to be immortalized in the Hollywood Wax Museum will be Mike Connors in his characterization of private detective Joe Mannix, the role he has played for eight years on "Mannix" on the CBS Television Network, on Sunday evenings.

Connors' image will take about six months to reproduce in wax, with the artists working from hundreds of photographs of the actor as well as from actual measurements of his facial and other physical dimensions.

Praises Recent Shows

Three NBC Television Network programs have been cited for excellence by Los Angeles County Fire Department Chief Engineer Richard H. Houts in a letter to Herbert S. Schlosser, President of the National Broadcasting Company.

Houts wrote: "On behalf of this Fire Department and the Fire Service, I want to express my thanks for the excellent programs which have recently appeared on the NBC Television Network, highlighting activities of the fire department and the fire problems in the United States.

"... The 'GO' show of September 7th accurately informed the youngsters of the nation how a firefighter is trained and how he puts his skills to use in performing a valuable service to the public. I have received much favorable comment from those who viewed the program.

"... The movie ... on Sept. 17th, 'Terror on the 40th Floor,' dramatically pointed up the problems the fire service faces in dealing with fires in highrise structures.

"... I would be remiss if I did not mention 'Emergency!' ... it continues to do an outstanding job explaining the role of the firefighter in his various facts, and has been a powerful motivating force in the establishment of better emergency medical service programs throughout the nation."

FBI Series Is Not 'Re-Run'

No, Virginia, "The FBI Story" specials are not reruns of ABC-TV's long-running series, "The FBI." The two-hour dramas are a group of 'specials' about Federal Bureau of Investigation cases. The first one, "The FBI Story - Alvin Karpis," airs Friday, November 8, from 9 to 11 p.m. It stars Robert Foxworth, David Wayne, Gary Lockwood, Anne Francis, Eileen Heckart, Kay Lenz and Chris Robinson and tells, from the FBI files, the story of the notorious Alvin Karpis - Ma Barker gang that staged a series of robberies and kidnappings in the 1930s.

Gilliam Never Panics

In 1973 the Steelers found out the hard way that they had three pretty good quarterbacks. All along this had been considered one of their deepest positions, but there was no way of being certain how well their reserves could perform.

Each season Terry Bradshaw and Terry Hanratty would duel for the first string slot with Bradshaw running out each season since 1970. As a result, Bradshaw would carry the load almost entirely himself.

Last season, Bradshaw was sidelined with a shoulder injury, giving Hanratty a bonafide start on a regular basis. He did a great job leading the Steelers to victories over Cincinnati, Washington and Oakland. But he too was felled by injuries.

Enter Joe Gilliam, a precocious second year player. Gilliam threw the winning TD pass in one game, and generally played well enough to rate as a future NFL regular.

When the 1974 season opened, the winner of the annual Bradshaw-Hanratty quarterback duel was none other than Jefferson Street 'Joe' Gilliam.

Gilliam's advancement appears to have been assisted mostly by his own unfaltering confidence in himself. As Roy Mansfield, the veteran Steeler center, explained it to Phil Musick of the Pittsburgh Press, "Every week he (Gilliam) surprised me more. He's got this cocky air. And the more a guy believes in himself, the more you'll believe in him."

Gilliam says, "When I thought about coming back to the Steelers this year, I thought about doing it as the No. 1 quarterback."

CLAUDE HUMPHREY (6-5, 265) All Pro defensive end for the Falcons, enjoyed one of his finest seasons last year. Having missed only two games in his seven year career, Humphrey can be counted on to pressure Bob Griese when the Falcons visit the Miami Dolphins Sunday (Nov. 3) at 4 p.m. on CBS channels 3N-9-11.

New Faces Seen On CBS Sports

Brent Musburger, sports reporter on the CBS Television Network, has been signed as play-by-play commentator for the second season of National Basketball Association games on the Network, Robert Wussler, Vice President, CBS Sports, recently announced.

Musburger also announced the signing of William "Sonny" Hill as basketball editor. In this capacity he will be attending three or four NBA games a week and gathering information to be used on the NBA broadcasts. Hill will also appear on the air at times doing NBA features. In cases where the Network will be broadcasting more than one game (either a regional broadcast or a doubleheader) Hill will be the analyst on one of the contests.

Musburger currently is one of the seven NFL play-by-play commentators on the Network. He was host of "CBS Sports Spectacular" last season and is the host of the hour version running Saturday afternoons through November 30. He has also broadcast golf and was the host commentator for the USA-USSR basketball rematch on "CBS Sports Spectacular" last year, as well as the Aloha basketball classic this past season.

In addition to his Network assignments, Musburger will continue to do his sport news report for WBBM-TV, CBS owned television station in Chicago, Monday through Fridays. He began his broadcast career in November, 1968, when he joined WBBM Newsradio.

JOE GILLIAM, renowned for his bullet passes and enormous self-confidence, will lead the Pittsburgh Steelers against their interstate rival the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday (Nov. 3) at 1:00 p.m. on CBS channels 3N-9-11.

Mark & Suzy Spitz Plunge Into Acting

Suzy Spitz lay on the kitchen floor of a North Hollywood, Calif., home and her handsome husband, Olympic swimming champion Mark Spitz, sat in a daze nearby. The two were making their dramatic acting debut for NBC's "Emergency!" episode, "Quicker Than the Eye," to be colorcast Saturday evening, November 9, 8 to 9, on Channel 6-7.

In the story, a pregnant housewife (played by Suzy, after the addition of much padding) is shot in the abdomen by a supposedly unloaded gun, bought for household protection. Mark plays the shocked husband, whose intentions of protecting his wife have literally misfired.

To lend authenticity to the scene, it was photographed in a small home in North Hollywood — a home whose kitchen wasn't designed to hold 14 people and television equipment. The temperature was in the 90's and the TV lights added several degrees of discomfort. The five actors (the Spitzes, regular stars Kevin Tighe and Randolph Mantooth and an extra playing a policeman), the director Don Richardson, the cable man, two cameramen, a script supervisor, and a paramedic technical adviser were joined by two actors playing ambulance attendants and an assistant director. The thermometer moved up several more notches.

"Okay, take the blanket out from under Suzy's head," the director barked. "This is a picture. Now remember, Mark, you're in shock, so look kind of stunned."

The thermometer crept up another notch. Spitz looked stunned.

MARK AND SUZY SPITZ GUEST-STAR — Olympic swimming champion Mark Spitz and his wife Suzy portray a married couple who face a tense situation in "Quicker Than the Eye", the Saturday November 9 (8-9 p.m.) colorcast of NBC-TV's "Emergency!"

Fiddling For Cricket Fun

Television has brought violinist Israel Baker the most unusual assignment of his prestigious career—performing a cricket concert.

An acclaimed soloist with major symphony orchestras, in chamber music concerts; as a recording artist, and a Hollywood films concertmaster, Baker gives a virtuoso performance as Chester, a Connecticut cricket whose genius for producing violin-like tones entralls New York in "The Cricket in Times Square." The animated half-hour special airing Saturday, November 9, 8:00 to 8:30 m., was produced and directed by Chuck Jones, who also wrote the screenplay based on the popular book by George Selden. ("The Cricket" will be seen on Channel 3W-5-12.)

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR ROBERT YOUNG, star of "Marcus Welby, M.D."
Has the medical knowledge you gained from your show ever been of help to you in real life?—D. Gorrell, Cape Coral, Fla.

● Let me tell you this story: While I was flying to Chicago recently, the stewardess said to me, "Thank you for saving my life." I was astonished. I had never seen her before! She explained that on one of our episodes, we focused on the possibility of an unusually large mole being cancerous. The young lady saw that segment and immediately went to the doctor because she had such a mole. He removed it, and it turned out to be malignant. Had she not seen "Marcus Welby," her story might have had a different ending.

FOR HOWARD COSELL, sportscaster

How can you justify running for the U.S. Senate when your only real "qualification" is that you're a sportscaster?—Tom Kelley, Albany, N.Y.

● That's not my only qualification, sir. I am a lawyer. I practiced labor law for many years. I have the intellect and the culture needed. And in the last 12 months I have spoken in front of more campus and labor organizations than any man now in office or running for office.

FOR RONA BARRETT, author of "Miss Rona," an autobiography

Does it bother you to be called the "Gossip Queen" and to be feared by so many people?—Mariam Friedman, Trenton, N.J.

● I don't mind being called the "Gossip Queen." I think of it as a title or a job description (singer, writer, secretary, etc.). I never knew I was feared—I don't fear anyone, so why should people fear me! All I do is write and report the truth—it's the truth that people should fear, not me!

FOR BARBARA HOWAR, author of "Laughing All the Way"

You used to push Women's Lib very strongly. What about now?—Betsy Cousins, Teaneck, N.J.

● I'm living my life in an independent fashion, supporting myself and taking pleasure in having autonomy over my own life. I'm not a missionary. The prices I've paid have been what Women's Lib expounds. I don't have to go on a campaign trail for the movement. I live and breathe it.

FOR WAYNE ROGERS, Trapper John in "M*A*S*H"

How do you and Alan Alda get along after having worked together for almost three years in "M*A*S*H"?—F. A. Z., Paterson, N.J.

● Very well. He's a terrific guy. We occasionally see each other off the set as well. We'd get together more, but his wife and kids live in New Jersey while my family is out here in Los Angeles.

FOR JESSE OWENS, former Olympic track great

Were you really snubbed by Adolph Hitler during the 1936 Olympics in Berlin?—John Martin, Durham, N.C.

● If there was a direct snub, I didn't know about it. But I do remember that Hitler asked to give the gold medal to the first German to win in that Olympics. The head of the German committee got the job of telling Hitler that he and all other non-officials were banned from the arena. That man had some tough assignment, and I often wondered what happened to him later.

FOR PETER FALK of "Columbo"

Is the basset hound on your show really your dog?—Barbara Clark, Escondido, Calif.

● No, but I have a pet cat named Margaret.

FOR ETHEL MERMAN

I can't understand how anyone would want to live in New York. Why do you?—M. S., Fresno, Calif.

● Because I was born there and love it. I lived for seven years in Denver when I was married [to Continental Airlines president Bob Six], but the marriage didn't last and neither did the residence. I also lived in Beverly Hills when I was married [to actor Ernest Borgnine], but that marriage didn't last and so I moved back to New York. I am quite happy living in a hotel with my father, who lives three floors above me.

FOR TAYLOR CALDWELL, authoress

Some people say that men are better off marrying women who aren't too bright. What do you think about that?—J. J. Reynolds, Austin, Texas

● I think it's nonsense. Stupid women become gray-haired, fat, lumbering and sullen long before an intelligent woman sees her first white hair. Any physician can tell you that the stupid become old and decrepit decades earlier than the intellectual. As Shakespeare said, "Age cannot wither, nor custom stale her infinite variety."

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

Is it true some people are born to be fat?—J. M., Troy, N.Y.

● Absolutely, yes, according to Dr. Abraham I. Friedman, author of "Fat Can Be Beautiful." He says, "One-third of our population is predestined to become obese due to factors inherited at birth or developed during early infancy. Many have an excessive number of fat cells that will remain forever. Sometimes the 'Lipostat' (the fat-regulating mechanism in the brain) is out of kilter. That's why three out of four fat children will turn into fat adults. I've named these people the 'true-obese.' To identify them, I've compiled a list of ten questions in my book. If seven are answered affirmatively, the person is a 'true obese.'"

Dr. Abraham I. Friedman

"When I met Irving Mansfield, who was older than I and so different from my father, it never occurred to me that I was falling in love with him. I just knew that I wanted his approval." (These photographs—here and on Page 8—taken for FAMILY WEEKLY, are the last pictures of Jackie Susann.)

Fathers, Daughters, and the Lessons of Love: A Last Interview With Jacqueline Susann

This is Jacqueline Susann, the late authoress, talking frankly to FAMILY WEEKLY in one of the last interviews before her death. She is talking about fathers and daughters. (Her best-selling novel, "Once Is Not Enough," has as its heroine a girl named January, who, among other problems, has a raging father complex.)

Eugene O'Neill. There he was, an exciting, famous, good-looking man. A genius for whom nothing mattered except his talent. And there was his daughter Oona, who never got any attention from him.

"It was only natural that when Oona married, she married her father in the person of Charlie Chaplin, a man as old as her father, as important in his own

"My father raised his hand to hit me just once.... As his hand went up, I said, 'Oh, you wouldn't hit a woman.' And that was that."

way, as much of a genius. Then she could go like that"—Jackie snapped her fingers in the air—"to her father. It's her way of telling her father, 'You never noticed me, but I can make this man want me and love me.' The whole idea is to show the father what he has missed by ignoring his daughter.

"Sometimes a girl tries to become her father," she continued. "Take John Barrymore's daughter. Diana drank herself to death trying to be like John. Errol Flynn's children watched his adventures, on and off screen. The son became a war correspondent and was lost in Vietnam; the daughter became a stunt flyer."

Other daughters seek out their fathers' opposites. "In my book, January could have gone that way. She saw the pain of her mother's marriage, but she didn't understand it. Sometimes, though, the daughter of a famous or successful man will marry a man that nobody else wants, so that she won't have her mother's problems. She wants the security of a man nobody will try to take away from her."

Jackie went on to talk of a famous daughter who grew up at the same time and in the same place she did. "Grace Kelly had to marry a prince," she insisted. "Her father and mine were great friends in Philadelphia. Jack Kelly looked like a redheaded Clark Gable. My father, Robert Susann, looked like Rudolph Valentino. When those two men walked into a restaurant for lunch, they were really smashers.

"Her father was so handsome. How could Grace top it? There was the real Clark Gable, but he was married—and divorced. Not suitable for a good Catholic daughter. So where else could she find a man as handsome, as exciting, as her father? It had to be a prince like Rainier."

What about Jackie herself? When she married, it was to an older man, Irving Mansfield. Her book is dedicated "To Robert Susann, who would understand." The character of January's father was frankly based on the father whose name

"Once Was Not Enough"... A Remembrance by Doris Lilly

Doris Lilly, who wrote this brief tribute to her friend Jacqueline Susann, is a newspaperwoman, columnist, author and TV personality:

I guess I knew Jacqueline Susann too long and too well to be impressed by her incredible success. She did well, but why wouldn't she? Jackie had the talent, the drive and the instinct to write about what she knew best—show business. I knew she made a fortune but I also knew that was not what Jackie wanted. She had set her heart on the goal, not the prize.

Doris Lilly

But Jackie had something more than money. She had Irving.

Irving Mansfield and Jacqueline Susann had been man and wife for 25 years and were the most devoted couple these jaded eyes have ever seen. He thought she hung the moon and she thought he created it. It was a love story. They were never separated. Even when Jackie lunched with the girls, Irving would see her home. I watched them one day leaving Twenty One—holding hands and dipping their heads together like two affectionate birds. Irving gave up a successful producing business to manage his wife's career. She couldn't have made it without him. Irving loved Jackie, and Jackie was enough of a woman to love him back. Jackie didn't have many close friends and when I asked her why, she said, "Irving fills my life." But to those she treasured—Anna Sesenko (Hildegard's manager), Bonnie Silberstein (wife of hotel-owner Ben Silberstein) and Rosemary Wilson (wife of columnist Earl Wilson)—she was staunchly loyal. Her great friend, theatrical lawyer Arnold Weissberger, had persuaded the Mansfields to sail with him on the "France." When the captain invited the celebrated authoress and her husband to dine and Arnold was left out, Jackie sent a polite note declining the invitation, unless her friend Weissberger was included.

Jackie had known for two and a half years that she had cancer, but she didn't know it was terminal until a doctor told her so. She never told anyone about it, and she never whined. She was the bravest girl I have ever known.

Although her impending death was a well-kept secret, we all knew. But we tried to keep it as quiet as possible. That was the way Jackie wanted it: It was as if she were ashamed of being ill; as if she might offend people if they knew she was dying.

Jackie was adored by millions of ordinary people who loved her books because she never "wrote down" to them. On the day of her death, a hairdresser who had never laid eyes on the authoress sobbed, "Do you think they would mind if I sent flowers?"

I said, "Jackie would have liked that very much," and I cried along with her.

The world will be less without Jackie Susann. Once was not enough. Not for her.

Day Before Payday

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen blends the flavors of halibut, potatoes and mixed vegetables with a delicious savory sauce. Budget tip: "You can vary the fish," says Marilyn, "according to what is in season or most economical in your area."

A Hearty
Fish Casserole

Except perhaps for some bread and a salad, Halibut Dinner Casserole is a meal in itself.

HALIBUT DINNER CASSEROLE

- 2 lbs. halibut steaks, fresh or frozen, thawed
- 3 medium potatoes, cooked
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground white pepper
- Dash celery salt or seasoned salt
- 3 cups milk or skim milk
- 1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions or onion
- 1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup cracker crumbs
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted

1. Preheat oven to 375°F. Grease a shallow 2-qt. casserole.
 2. Cut halibut into chunks. Slice cooked potatoes 1/2 inch thick.
 3. In medium saucepan melt butter. Blend in flour, salt, pepper and celery salt. Gradually add milk. Heat until sauce boils, stirring constantly.
 4. Stir in mixed vegetables, onions and cheese.
 5. Alternate slices of potato, halibut chunks and cheese-vegetable sauce in prepared casserole, topping with sauce.
 6. Combine cracker crumbs and seasoned salt with melted butter; sprinkle over top of casserole.
 7. Bake uncovered for 30-35 minutes, or until halibut is opaque and flakes easily.
- Makes 6 servings*

QUICK APPLE DEEP-DISH PIE

- 2 cans (21-oz. size) apple-pie filling
 - 4 tablespoons bourbon or rum
 - 2 tablespoons maple-blended syrup
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - Pastry for 9-inch pie crust, your own or a mix
 - Vanilla ice cream, optional
1. Preheat oven to 425°F.
 2. Turn pie filling into 7x11-inch glass pan; stir in bourbon and syrup. Dot surface of filling with butter.
 3. Roll out pie crust to a rectangle 9x12 inches and cover filling. Turn edges under and crimp with fork. Pierce surface of crust in several places.
 4. Bake 25-30 minutes, until crust is golden brown. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream if desired. Makes 6 servings still brought a special shine to Jackie's eyes.

Jacqueline Susann

"I never wanted to marry anyone like my father because I didn't think there could be anyone like him," she said. As she talked about her childhood, she touched on some of the things that make for a healthy, rather than an unhealthy, relationship between father and daughter.

She began with a good marriage between father and mother. "January comes from a broken home. She never sees her father in everyday situations, only on weekends when he takes her to glamorous places. I had both. I saw my father in daily, ordinary ways. Then Saturday was our day to go out together. He'd take me to see Betsy Ross's cottage, to the waterfront for Italian ices, even to the prizefights. Mostly, he took me to the theater, and then we'd go backstage to visit his actor friends. He was a very successful portrait painter and many of the big names in the theater sat for him."

Jackie still cherished a secret they shared. They had seen every play in town and her father suggested they do something different. "You musn't tell Mother," he warned, then promised her a dollar if she'd come along with him to the club where he played poker. "I'd never had more than a quarter at one time before that, so a dollar was an enormous sum. I'd sit there and watch, the only female in the place. By the time I was 13, I was the best poker player you ever saw. Years later, when I came to New York and got small parts on Broadway, I earned $40 a week. Then I'd play poker with the stagehands and win more than my salary."

Her mother was the discipli-narian, the practical and understanding one in the family. Her father was the one who came home laden with extravagant gifts. "He raised his hand to hit me just once," Jackie remembered. "At eight, I'd learned a naughty jingle at school. I didn't know what the words meant, but I repeated them to my father. He was furious, but as his hand went up, I said, 'Oh, you wouldn't hit a woman.' And that," she laughed, "was that."

Jackie's mother was a match for her father. "I was lucky. I was raised with a woman in the house I could admire, my mother, a very beautiful woman. She taught school and all the kids had crushes on her. I'd see her coming down the street with four or five kids clinging to her, adoring her. With a mother like that, my father, as exciting as he was, couldn't overpower the situation."

There was a third element. "I was brought up with a strong belief in God, who is the ultimate father. To this day, I have a very childlike attitude toward God. I talk to Him. I make deals with Him. Like when Irving had to have a polyp removed from his intestines. I promised God that if it wasn't malignant, I'd give up smoking. It wasn't. And I did."

"When I came to New York and met Irving Mansfield, who was older than I and so different from my father, it never occurred to me that I was falling in love with him. I just knew that I wanted his approval. I knew I was terribly excited when he called me, when he wanted to be with me. Then the first time he kissed me, that's when I realized that all the other kisses, all the other romances had been nothing."

"In Irving," Jackie said, "I found a man who was not only exciting and wonderful, but who also had the calm and understanding that my mother had. It's fortunate, because I'm very much like my father—impulsive and impatient." Together, Jackie and Irving were a couple very much like her parents—but in reverse.

Jackie's father is gone now. So is Jackie. But perhaps the love they shared can be passed on as a lesson to other fathers—and other fathers' daughters.

Why Do a Few Football Coaches Always Hatch the Winningest Teams?

By Larry Bortstein

It's no coincidence that year in and year out some football teams always do well. The coaches of four such teams—Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame, Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama, Don Shula of the two-time Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins, and Chuck Knox of the Los Angeles Rams—talked to FAMILY WEEKLY about the secrets that have spelled success for them.

The statements from these successful football coaches serve as a guide to winning grid programs everywhere. All four men were quick to credit the outstanding players who have performed on the field for them, but the fact remains that these four coaches have been able to attract more talented football players than most of their colleagues.

But let them tell you about it.

PAUL "BEAR" BRYANT, University of Alabama

In his 16 seasons as head coach at Alabama, Bryant has led the Crimson Tide to 140 victories, against only 31 defeats and eight ties. His 1961 and 1966 squads were unbeaten. Bryant was also head coach at Kentucky and Texas A&M.

"Prep Stars Become Our Substitutes. . ."

"The players today are much bigger and faster than when I began coaching. Our 1961 team was voted Number One in the country. It was a great team, but it had only one lineman who weighed more than 200 pounds. That team probably wouldn't be successful today, although it was one of the best I've had as far as executing properly was concerned. The athletes on that team worked very hard at developing the right timing and all the other things they had to know.

"These are the kind of people we try to recruit into our football program each year. We don't look just at a boy's football record in high school. We talk to his coach and his pastor and other people who know him, to find out the kind of character he has. Not everybody who plays college football wants to prepare for a career in professional football. Many times a boy wants to play football for us in order to develop himself into a better person for the outside world after college. We recruit boys who have a strong desire to play football and who are willing to make the sacrifices necessary to play.

"One reason a boy will come to Alabama to play football is that I get more different players into the lineup at one time or another during a season than maybe any other coach in major college football. The reason I use so many players is that if a boy is willing to come to Alabama to play football, is willing to work hard to play here against the high odds that he'll become a regular starter, I won't deprive him of a chance to see at least some action. We've brought in boys who were stars in their high school but who became only substitutes on our team. They could have gone somewhere else and been first string, but they wanted exposure to our program at Alabama.

"I think a coach must help fill the communications gap that exists today between parents and children. It seems the average time a father spends with his son nowadays is five minutes a day. A college coach can't be successful if he can't talk to his players like a father. This is getting more difficult in major college football because the coaching staffs and the personnel rosters have gotten bigger and bigger, and personal contact between player and coach has become more rare. Still, it's as important as ever for there to be some of this type of one-to-one relationship."

ARA PARSEGHIAN, Notre Dame

Parseghian marked his tenth year as coach of The Fighting Irish last season by leading his squad to the national championship with a 24-23 victory over Alabama in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Eve. Notre Dame won all 11 games in 1973, the first time a Notre Dame squad has gone unbeaten since 1949. Parseghian's coaching record at Notre Dame is 85 victories, 15 defeats and four ties.

"You Can't Win if the School Won't Let You"

"We don't have a beautiful campus or a great climate to offer prospective players, as they have at some other schools. But we do offer them a full commitment, both athletically and academically, on the part of the school administration. In almost every case around the country, a successful football program begins with an administration's willingness to help build a strong program. A coach can be the best in America, but he won't be able to do well if he's handicapped in building his team. The school's commitment has to be there. And this is certainly the case at Notre Dame.

"Changes in personnel, strategy and a lot of other things connected with college football have made it necessary for coaches to change too. You just can't stand still in coaching. Football is more multi-faceted than ever. I suppose all coaches down through the years have had to cope with what was available at the time. When Knute Rockne had his great teams at Notre Dame in the 1920's, the guards weighed between 165 and 170 pounds and the tackles weighed no more than 185 pounds. Today, you can't even consider a boy for a line position unless he weighs at least 225 pounds. The backs usually begin at 190 pounds, and many college backfields now average 197-198 pounds per man.

"Our reputation for keeping player morale high has helped us recruit new men each year. Building morale is one of the most important functions of a coach. We take into consideration the fact that a young man can undergo many changes between the ages of 18 and 22. A good coach keeps morale high if he keeps in mind that his players are boys growing into men, and they have to be treated differently as they go along."

DON SHULA, Miami Dolphins

Shula's 12-year coaching record in the National Football League—1963-1969 with the Baltimore Colts and 1970 to now with Miami—is the most successful of any pro coach in history. In regular-season play, Shula's teams have won 117 games, lost 32 and tied five—an average of 10.6 victories per season.

"Today's Players Ask More 'Why' Questions"

"The biggest change in football over the past few years is in the players' attitude toward football. The players ask more questions now than they did when I began coaching—especially the 'why' questions. I can understand it. But the increase in questions from players doesn't mean that discipline is decreasing. Playing football still requires a tremendous amount of mental and physical discipline, and a guy wouldn't make it to the pros in the first place if he hadn't already accepted that long ago.

"The key to successful football, as it has been for many years, is in blocking

At last! Doctor reveals new 6-days-a-week diet that Doesn't Just Shrink Fat Cells, But Destroys Them!

Controversial? Yes! But it may also be the most important reducing discovery of our day! Because here at last is a simple diet that doesn't just empty out the contents of those ugly fat cells, distributed all over your body...but can actually destroy, in case after case, the fat-cells themselves!

So—this time—when you start eating normally again, there can be no place for that new fat to stay in your body! It can't be drawn up into those empty fat cells as though they were miniature sponges! And you don't blow up like a balloon once you've stopped dieting!

And Best Of All, You Eat Whatever You Want! Anything At All You Want! One Full Day A Week!

So you never really give up a single one of your favorite foods at all! You never really miss the ice cream... chocolate... pastries... desserts... pasta... creams and sauces... and every other single one of the dishes you love now! NONE of them are cut out of your diet! Any one of them you want—any combination of them you want—are completely allowed on that one "FREE DAY" every week!

And You Get Your Choice Of HOW FAST You Want To Peel Off The Weight!

And remember, with this diet you are not just losing liquid fat—the content of those ugly fat cells that have swelled your body since you were a child—but you can now actually dissolve those very cell walls themselves!

It's exactly as though your body—like the body of every naturally overweight person—had millions upon millions of tiny fat-sponges distributed all over it! And when you over-eat, these tiny sponges "soak up" the excess fat that's carried to them by your bloodstream!

Now you can see why ordinary diets don't last! Because, when you go on an ordinary diet, no matter how torturous it is, that ordinary diet is designed simply to drain out the liquid fat from the INSIDE of those "sponge" cells! It's exactly as though you'd squeezed them dry! They shrink alright! But the "sponge" cells themselves are still there, waiting to soak up MORE AND MORE NEW FAT, once you go off that diet and begin eating normally again!

But Dr. Collins' diet works on an entirely different principle! It is specifically designed to eliminate the building blocks of those cells, at exactly the same time that it eliminates the liquid fat stored within them! So both liquid and solid fat pour out of your body at the same time! The "sponge" is destroyed right along with ugly liquid that swelled it up! And—this time—(to quote Dr. Collins himself), "When you resume a normal diet, you will STAY THIN more consistently!" (Emphasis ours.)

Ingenious? Yes! But Still Only The Beginning! Because The Real Pay-Off Comes Now— In The Breathtaking New Flood Of Health That Pours In To Your Entire Body!

For you must understand this—Dr. Collins developed this powerful diet as only one part of an all-over HOME HEALTH PLAN, designed to give average man and woman, everywhere, who are worried about their weight or any other threat to their continued good health, SIMPLE MEDICAL TOOLS THAT GIVE THEM, AT HOME, NEW MEDICAL POWER TO DEAL WITH THEM!

Yes, Dr. Collins gives you, not only new weight-control, but new disease-control... new pain-control... new infection-control... new fatigue-control! Administered by yourself, at home, with startling results, in case after case, like this:

For each of the major and minor diseases that may attack you or your family, Dr. Collins tell you at a glance: what really causes it... how to prevent it... how to treat it if it should strike... and (perhaps most important of all) when you should do absolutely nothing, leave it alone, and let your body get rid of it itself!

For example—

Most people think severe chest pain is the first warning sign of serious lung or heart disease, and therefore run immediately to their doctors. Dr. Collins, however, gives you a simple 30-second test to help rule out heart trouble! And then goes on to how an incredibly easy adjustment to your body may make that pain evaporate—for good!

Most people spend small fortunes trying to overcome chronic constipation, and go through needless agony that only grows worse and worse every year! Dr. Collins shows you a simple way to substitute natural food for those harmful laxatives, and let gastrocolic reflexes give you the relief you want—in many cases, almost immediately! And with no harmful side effects!

Yes, most people never dream of the simple dietary way to banish excruciating migraine pain... or how you can let your rheumatoid arthritis burn itself out, without treatment, and without drugs... or why many diabetics can treat themselves (unbelievable? See page 148)... or how 70% to 80% of kidney stones don't have to be operated on at all to stop them from causing pain... or how even an episode of multiple sclerosis can often be coaxed to clear itself up, with nothing more than the gentlest home treatment!

But The List Of Pain-Saving, Health-Saving, Dollar-Saving New Revelations Goes On And On! For Example...

Why, and when, you may not need a doctor to relieve: Acute diarrhea (as long as there is no temperature)... upset stomach... most hay fever... shingles... hemorrhoids... dizziness... athlete's foot... acne... gout... even to a great extent asthma, and many more—if you know the right way to do it!

World's most effective way to relieve fatigue—without getting more sleep or spending one cent for medical or psychiatric treatments!

New hope for back sufferers! Including how to live with even a herniated disk for years, without needing surgery!

An almost foolproof way to wipe out anemia—the natural way!

What you can do to prevent pneumonia! And tuberculosis! And high blood cholesterol!

A new, superfast treatment for hangover—far more powerful than any other you can use!

How women who wish to, can delay menopause—for years!

Why "old age diseases" are actually a myth! And why you can simply laugh at them!

And More! And More! And More! Everything You Want To Know To Protect Your Vitality and Health! PLUS THE REVOLUTIONARY NEW DIET THAT GIVES YOU BACK THE FIGURE OF YOUR DREAMS... FOR GOOD!

Once again, perhaps the best way to prove the overwhelming benefits this book will give you, is simply to turn at once to page 88, and start on the most exciting new diet of your entire life!

Remember, THIS diet not only drains out the liquid fat from your body, but can actually destroy the fat cells themselves! And does it, without your giving up a single one of the foods you love on that blissful Free Day each week!

Just think what you'll look like, without those ugly fat cells spread out in lumpy pockets all over your body!

And then imagine HOW MUCH BETTER YOU'LL FEEL AT EXACTLY THE SAME TIME—because THIS book not only takes care of your fat-problem, but most of your other health problems as well!

Why not get started on the new, beautiful life it offers you—today!

Football Coaches

people and tackling people. On our club we've got some of the best linemen anywhere, especially on offense. Just about everyone in the game agrees that our offensive line is the best in the NFL. The reason our guys are so good is because they are intelligent. You have to be intelligent to play on the line, especially on our team. Our men are extremely intelligent; they just don't make mistakes. A lot of the credit for developing this unit belongs to Monte Clark, our offensive-line coach. Clark is young and only recently quit playing at Cleveland. He gets along very well with the crop of young players coming up.

"In pro football, unlike college ball, we can't go out and recruit the players we want; we have to live within the rules of the draft. For the most part, we look for versatility in a player. A lineman we draft should not only be strong, but also quick on his feet. A wide receiver should be able to block a man as well as catch passes. A running back should be able to catch the ball and block for the other runners. The quarterback should be able to run and think as well as throw. These are the kinds of players we've attempted to land, and our record indicates we've been very successful at it."

CHUCK KNOX, Los Angeles Rams

Knox coached the Rams to a 12-2 record and a berth in the NFL play-offs in his first year as a head coach in 1973. Before he took the Los Angeles job, he was an assistant coach at Wake Forest for two years, at Kentucky for three years, the New York Jets for four years, and the Detroit Lions for six years, starting in 1967.

"Raw Talent Isn't Always Enough..."

"The biggest decision any coach has to make involves who's going to play. This isn't necessarily the same as picking your best players, or those with the most natural talent. Two free agents made our club last year by showing in training camp that they had the great desire and drive that are often more important than raw ability. Rob Scribner, a running back from UCLA, and Rick Kay, a linebacker from Colorado, weren't drafted by us or by any other NFL team and didn't have a contract when they came to camp. But they came in and made the ball club. They set an example for other free agents on all 26 NFL teams. If a man has the desire and the guts to play football, he may have a chance, and we intend to give him that chance.

"You look for players who are most apt to avoid mistakes in pressure situations. You may have a preconceived idea of what will be best for your club when the season starts—I thought I knew what the Rams were all about when I started this job last year, what they had and what they needed. I had a pretty good idea of how many men we would keep at each position, but I changed my mind and kept the men who did the best in training camp, regardless of their position. I had thought we'd play the season with five running backs, but we kept six. And instead of keeping eight offensive linemen as I had planned, we kept seven.

"In the pros, a coach is likely to have a few players of nearly equal ability at one position or another. You have no idea when you make a decision to play one man over another—whether or not you're going to be right. But you have to make a decision and stick by it. You can't hesitate, or you lose the respect of your players. Every man on the club knows he has a chance to contribute, and as long as you're straight with him about his role, he'll respect you."

When your child can't sit still, is it nervousness or is it Pin-Worms?

Fidgeting, distraction, fitful scratching of rectal itch—many people don't know these "nervous habits" can be caused by Pin-Worms. These almost invisible parasites are so common, medical authorities have said 1 out of 3 children examined, and many parents, may have Pin-Worms.

They can infect anyone—young or old, rich or poor. Worst of all, Pin-Worms are highly contagious, so they can spread from person to person, until the whole family is infected.

Fortunately, there is an easy-to-take medication called Jayne's® P-W® tablets that gets rid of Pin-Worms. Your pharmacist will tell you that Jayne's P-W tablets are specially formulated with an effective medical ingredient that drives Pin-Worms out of your system. Ask for Jayne's P-W tablets at your drug store.

"We're looking for people to write children's books."

If you ever wanted to write...for pleasure or profit...here is your opportunity.

by Francis R. Gemme

We need writers. There are over 200 publishers of books for children and more than 400 magazines for young readers... that need writers.

We know that many people could help fill this void in children's literature, if they could only get started. Are you one of these people? Do you have the urge to write and the ambition but are unable to get professional training or are tied to your home or job? Perhaps you are too unsure of yourself to start.

Have you ever read a children's story and said, "I can do better than that"? Have you ever deplored the lack of good new literature for young readers? Do you love children? Do you want to do something important with your life? And earn the rewards and satisfaction of writing for children? That very attitude may be the signal that you can do it. For the desire and interest must come first.

Stories only you can write.

Once you understand and utilize the basic techniques, writing for children may be easier than you think. Your personal experiences, fantasy, human nature, nature itself, hobbies, all lend themselves to good subjects. Many of these have been written about — plainly and simply — and have been published. You probably have within yourself many children's stories only you can write.

A new kind of school.

The Institute of Children's Literature was founded to encourage more and better writing for young readers. Top writers and publishers have worked together to create this professional course to teach you to write for children and teenagers. People like Lee Wyndham, a teacher and author of forty-eight books, ranging from the picture book age into the high teens, and over two hundred short stories, articles and serials—Hardie Gramatky, author and illustrator of many famous children's books like his Little Toot — and John Ledes, President of Astor Honor Books, who has published many award-winning children's books. Together we have written and published hundreds of books and magazine articles for young readers. We know how to write — how to teach — and how to help you get your writing published.

Learning to write and sell.

The early success of the course has been repeated time and time again by people like yourself who knew in their hearts they could write good things for children.

This course will train you step by step, from writing an opening sentence through the writing and selling of a finished manuscript. Yes, you will have a completed manuscript when you finish the course.

Your own instructor.

Because writing is such a personal profession, we believe that the teaching of this course must also be personal. That is why in addition to writing materials, text books, instruction and assignments, you will receive personal guidance from your own instructor on every lesson.

The instructor chosen for you will be a professional writer who will stay with you throughout the course. He will show you how to utilize your personal feelings, experiences, imagination and interest to write for children—in your spare time at home.

Work at your own pace.

A writing course is best learned at home when you feel like working. There is no bell to end the class, no interruption from other students. You and your instructor can work together at the pace and depth desired. This personal pace allows more time for each student than is possible in a classroom situation.

You mail your completed work to your instructor who carefully reads and edits each assignment. He then writes you a long personal letter explaining in detail his corrections and makes specific recommendations. You receive professional advice and guidance from the same instructor throughout the course. And you work where you want and when you want.

Francis R. Gemme, consultant to the Institute of Children's Literature is President and Publisher of Young Readers Press.

The rewards.

Although many writers of children's books earn $10,000 to $15,000 and more a year, the benefits of a writing career include the challenge, the excitement, and great satisfaction of doing something important with your life. When you complete this course you will be a qualified writer with a future. And what a future!

The market is unlimited. It is the constant cry of editors and publishers, of both books and magazines, that they need more good manuscripts for young readers.

More than 200 publishers of children's books produce over 3,000 books each year with total sales of $170,000,000! And over 400 periodicals for young readers have a combined circulation exceeding 80,000,000. Books and magazine articles for children are made into TV shows and movies. And there are twenty-four children's book clubs and a rapidly growing children's paperback market.

Writing is only satisfying when your work is published, and for writers of children's literature it is easier now than ever to find a publisher.

Will you take the first step?

You may be a teacher, be taking care of your home, or be a concerned grandparent. You may believe that you do not have the necessary background to become a successful writer. But as an author you will be judged by your writing ability, not your sex, age or education.

For instance, women writers are on the best seller list as often as men. And in the field of children's books and magazines there are as many women editors as men.

Free test.

To find qualified men and women with writing aptitude worth developing, the Faculty and Consultants of the Institute have prepared a special Aptitude Test. It is offered free and will be graded free by a member of our staff.

If you want to be a writer send in the coupon below for this free test and a free brochure which fully describes the Institute course and faculty, the current publishing market for children's literature and a new future for you. If you have writing aptitude, you will be eligible to enroll. Of course, there is no obligation.

Painful elimination is unnatural.

Many people have experienced the pain of dry, hard stools. And many have come to accept this, as if it were a natural part of elimination.

But there's nothing natural about it.

No matter what your age, you should have comfortable elimination.

And Serutan makes this possible.

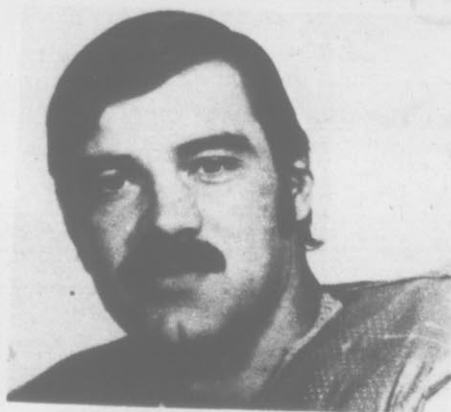

Serutan is the effective laxative that forms a smooth gel in the lower digestive tract, where it combines with intestinal waste to give you comfortable relief.

There's no strain, and no cramps. That's because Serutan, with its natural ingredients, adds the necessary moisture and bulk to work with your system for smooth, easy results.

What in the World!

Keep the pep talks rational

QUOTE: "I don't agree with [Miami Dolphin coach Don] Shula on everything, but I agree with his attitude toward the rah-rah stuff. He's a pep-talk guy, but his pep talks are rational, not rah-rah. We're a happy-go-lucky team. Only a few guys go for that rah-rah stuff. And for them it's good because it's natural. But for me and Jim [Küick] it would be phony. False rah-rah cracks under pressure because it's something you never believed anyway. Being a football player is like anything else. You've got to be yourself. Some days I don't say much, but most days I clown around because I'm happy. Even though I hate practice, I'm basically happy there. I like what I'm doing. I like being on a winner. I like the guys on the team. I just like being myself. That's what Shula keeps saying. 'Be yourself.'" From "Always on the Run," by Larry Csonka and Jim Küick with Dave Anderson (Bantam Books, $1.50). UNQUOTE.

SHIRLEY COTHRAN
The question: Who?

Shirley Cothran, the 21-year-old flutist and free-lance model from Denton, Texas, who was recently crowned Miss America of 1975, is an all-round (36-23-36), all-American girl. When asked recently to comment on how she differed from all the other "Misses" who have been crowned in the 53 years of the pageant, Miss Cothran replied, "I am my own person." Asked to clarify who that "person" is, Shirley said: "I'm cheeseburgers and French fries with lots of ketchup." And no pickles!

New hope for the toothless: There are 25 million adults in America who haven't a tooth in their mouths. And there are millions more who are partially toothless. All could be helped by a new dental implant—a man-made tooth root that is implanted in a patient's mouth and to which an artificial tooth is attached. Since Dr. Leonard I. Linkow of the Jewish Memorial Hospital in New York City made the breakthrough in this field in 1967, he has done 5,458 implants. More than 93 percent have been successful. A dental cripple's dream, the implant can be done in two visits to the dentist with the same anesthesia used for fillings. For more information, write: The American Academy of Implant Dentistry, 469 Washington Street, Abington, Mass. 02351.

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

WHY, WHY DO I RAKE?

No weather forecaster I,
And yet for certain I know,
Though there isn't a sign in the sky,
When the winds are about to blow.

Yes, I know there'll be gusts or a gale
And the thought of this deeply grieves.
I've a method not known to fail:
I've just finished raking up leaves.

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

A few years back, when I was coaching a high school football team that was suffering through a long losing season, I was given a lot of advice by everyone. But the suggestion I remember most vividly was what my five-year-old daughter told me one Saturday morning after the crushing defeat of the night before. "Daddy," she said, "I know what's wrong with our team. When we are in the huddle, we don't explain our secrets as well as the other team does."

LITTLE EMILY

If you smoke menthol.

Anybody who smokes knows there's a controversy about smoking going on. And that most of the controversy is about 'tar' and nicotine.

Yet when we ask the average menthol smoker why he smokes a menthol cigarette, he almost always tells us that he smokes a menthol because it doesn't have a hot or a harsh or a scratchy taste.

Well, Vantage with menthol doesn't have a hot or a harsh or a scratchy taste either.

But what Vantage Menthol also doesn't have is anywhere near the 'tar' and nicotine most of the other menthols have.

And that's something we thought a menthol smoker would want to know about.

Vantage Menthol tastes every bit as cool, every bit as refreshing as any menthol cigarette you ever smoked.

But it has only 11 milligrams 'tar' and 0.9 milligrams nicotine.

Don't get us wrong. That doesn't mean Vantage Menthol is the lowest 'tar' and nicotine menthol around.

It does mean that Vantage Menthol is the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette that you'll enjoy smoking.

You don't have to believe us.

All you have to do is try a pack.
