

Testimony By Nixon May Be Taken On Videotape

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J.

Sirica said today that former President Richard M. Nixon's testimony in the Watergate cover-up trial may have to be taken on videotape in California.

Sirica made the comment after Nixon's attorney, Herbert J. Miller, reported to Sirica that it will be at least two or three months before Nixon can exert any substantial mental or physical effort.

Fired Both

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Mecklenburg County Sheriff Don Stahl says he has fired a deputy for voting against him.

When another deputy questioned him about the firing, Stahl also dismissed him Wednesday. And the sheriff wound up in an office scuffle with the second man.

The first deputy fired was 29-year-old Everett "Sam" McCollum, a deputy for nine months. He acknowledged he had voted Democratic.

Sheriff Stahl, a Republican, was reelected Tuesday to a third four-year term.

The second to be fired was 36-year-old Ray Crist, a deputy for 15 months.

Stahl said he doesn't require his deputies to be registered Republicans, but he does insist that they support him.

weakened condition," Miller said, "it is expected that the earliest time he could participate, without a serious danger to his health, in any activity requiring substantial mental or physical effort would be two to three months."

The report also noted that only members of Nixon's family are allowed to visit for only five minutes of each hour.

"The patient is very weak and easily fatigued," Miller said.

Based on Miller's report, Sirica said, "it may be that someone will have to go to San Clemente and take his deposition on videotape."

Sirica emphasized, however, that he had made no final decision on how to get Nixon's testimony.

Nixon has been subpoenaed by both the prosecution and by defendant John D. Ehrlichman.

The prosecution has indicated that it hopes to be able to make its case without Nixon's testimony.

Ehrlichman's lawyers have said the former president's testimony is vital to their case. The five defendants are unlikely to begin their cases for another month.

Sirica has indicated he will send his own team of three doctors to make an independent examination of Nixon. Today he called on prosecution and defense lawyers to suggest how to proceed as a result of Miller's affidavit.

A Secret Service employee testified Wednesday that Nixon's White House taping system had flaws that make it suspect as a complete record of his White House conversations.

Secret Service technician James G. Baker testified that as much as three minutes of some presidential conversations went unrecorded while tape reels were being changed.

Baker, a retired Air Force sergeant, testified as one of a series of witnesses summoned to authenticate 26 White House tapes the prosecution plans to play for the jury.

The prosecution resumed the process of authenticating the tapes today and have said they hope to finish that task without requiring Nixon's testimony.

Low Ebb In Membership

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — When the North Carolina General Assembly convenes next January, the Republican membership will be at its lowest ebb in years.

There will be only one Republican senator and 10 GOP House members, a complete but unofficial Associated Press survey indicated. There were 35 House members and 15 senators in the 1973 legislature.

In a sweep that saw James E. Holshouser of Boone, father of the governor, defeated, Republican legislative leadership was virtually wiped out.

Those defeated included Sen. Charles Taylor, R. Transylvania, the Senate minority leader and Sen. George Rountree, R. New Hanover, the Senate minority whip. Rep. Laurence Cobb, R. Mecklenburg, the House minority leader, managed to survive the debacle.

While the Republican leadership was being eliminated, the Democratic leadership was all reelected. In fact, no Democratic incumbent seeking reelection was defeated in the general election.

Democratic leaders reelected include Rep. James C. Green, D. Bladen, who is slated to be speaker in the 1975 House and Rep. William T. Watkins, D-Granville, the House majority leader.

While the number of Republicans in the General Assembly were being reduced, the number of women and blacks showed an increase.

The Senate will have its first blacks in history with the election of John W. Winters of Raleigh and Fred D. Alexander of Charlotte.

In the House, three veteran black members, Henry Frye, D-Guilford, Joy Johnson, D-Robeson, and H. M. Michaux Jr., D-Durham, will be joined by Richard C. Erwin of Winston-Salem.

The 1975 House will have 15 women members as compared with eight in 1973 and the next Senate will have two women instead of one.

Opposes System

RALEIGH (AP)—Associate Justice Susie Sharp, who was elected chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court Tuesday, says North Carolina's bipartisan election system for judges must be changed.

"She said in an interview Wednesday "we need to go at least to nonpartisan balloting for judges," if not a gubernatorial appointment system based on merit recommendations.

Miss Sharp received 74 per cent of the vote, the highest percentage of any statewide candidate. Her chief opponent, Republican James M. Newcomb of Williamston, received 205,650 votes although he has no legal background.

"The trouble with the system we have now is that people have a choice only between the people who are willing to offer themselves and go through the rigors of a statewide campaign," Miss Sharp said.

She noted that Newcomb "was not only lacking in legal background but also repudiated by his own party, and still he got all these votes."

SOCIAL SERVICES BUILDING UNSAFE?
How can the County Commissioners allow their employees, of which there are about 85, to work in a building that the County and City Fire Marshals have said is unsafe? Some days members of the Pitt County Social Services Department work without heat. One woman's desk had to be moved into the hall because the floor beneath her was cracking. I think something should be done before there is a disaster. L. D. W.

Pitt County Fire Marshal said he has inspected the Social Services Building following OSHA guidelines, and has made several recommendations which he believes have been carried out.

Greenville Fire Marshal Capt. Jerry McLawhorn said, "The City's Chief Building Inspector Alton Warren and I inspected the building together Oct. 23. In my opinion, the entire structure is in a run-down condition and I consider it hazardous to life and property. Immediate steps should be taken to either correct or demolish this building."

He gave some specifics: Water from the second floor has been leaking onto the electric panel. In the back wing, there is no means of exit. In the third floor supply room, there are exposed wires hanging from the ceiling. Fire escape doors are in a run-down condition and open in the wrong direction. And the boiler in the basement has not been inspected by the State Boiler Inspector since Sept., 1970, with the inspection date's expiring in Sept., 1972.

Warren added, "There are leaking water pipes on the second floor and bathrooms are not vented properly. Exterior walls are cracked in several places, and the hot water heater doesn't have a release valve overflow pipe. There was a maintenance crew working there on the day we inspected, however."

The County will be notified by the Greenville City Manager in detail about the findings of the two inspectors.

County Manager Reginald Gray says he has not received the letter yet and "as far as we are concerned the building has not been condemned."

"We are continually trying to keep the building in repair and have just spent some money for repairs. We are in the discussion stage of planning for a new building."

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

$500, NOT $300

Hotline has been informed that the maximum amount that can be involved in a small claims case was increased by the N.C. Legislature as of July 1, 1974 from $300 to $500.

We regret the use of outdated information in Tuesday's column. We got it from the How To Use the Magistrate's Court pamphlet available at the Clerk of Court's Office. We still believe this is quite a useful booklet in every other respect.

Honor Six For Youth Efforts

A half-dozen persons were honored with resolutions of appreciation from the Greenville Chamber of Commerce—Merchants Association here last night for their work with the youth of Pitt County.

The awards went to District Court Judges Herbert O. Phillips, J.W.H. Roberts, Charles H. Whedbee and Robert D. Wheeler, to Clerk of Superior Court H. L. Lewis and to former court clerk David T. House, for "their leadership, dedication and devotion to the youth of this area."

The awards were presented at a Juvenile Services Awareness meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

Dr. Thomas A. Danek, recently appointed administrator of the state Division of Juvenile Services, was the featured speaker.

The juvenile services official outlined plans for reorganizing and administering juvenile probation and after care services on a state-wide basis to insure that the program will be uniform throughout North Carolina and that the needs of children will be better served.

Some 66 persons, including judges, court officials and other persons involved in juvenile services attended the session.

Chamber of Commerce Merchants Association president William McDonald presided at the meeting.

Argentina Rules State Of Siege

By MORT ROSENBLUM
Associated Press Writer
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentine terrorists today shot to death an army major and burned military vehicles in the first reaction to the government's declaration of a state of siege.

Police said Maj. Hector Lopez was slain as he left his home this morning in Santa Fe, 300 miles north of here. The shots came from a house across from Lopez' residence, killing the major instantly.

Terrorist groups set fire to about 20 military buses at a factory north of Buenos Aires, police sources said.

Other guerrillas briefly seized the railroad station at Avellaneda, south of Buenos Aires, painted revolutionary slogans and distributed literature of the outlawed People's Revolutionary Army — ERP — police said.

With political assassinations occurring at the rate of more than one a day, President Isabel Peron returned Argentina to a state of siege on Wednesday. Her decree enabled the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial.

Anyone can be banished to remote corners of the country, and public meetings are prohibited.

Weekend Coal Agreement Seen By Negotiator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief coal industry negotiator in contract talks with the United Mine Workers says an agreement could be reached by this weekend to keep short an expected nationwide miners strike.

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, said Wednesday he thought the two sides should be able to reach an accord "in two or three days," provided no new snags develop.

"I don't think we're that far apart. That's not to say we don't have some real knotty issues which need to be resolved," Farmer said.

UMW President Arnold Miller said there could be a tentative agreement before the current contract runs out at midnight Monday, but not in time to prevent at least a brief work stoppage. Miller would not comment when asked about the possibility of a breakthrough this weekend.

Destroyed As Prescribed

MATURED BONDS AND COUPONS DESTROYED—Greenville Mayor Eugene West tosses in old bonds and coupons destroyed at the city hall yesterday. According to city finance officer Patrick Ross, there were approximately $4,615,000 worth of bonds and coupons burned. Among them were those bonds dating from 1907 through 1971. By law, according to the general statutes of North Carolina, "... the paid bonds, notes, and coupons shall be destroyed by either burning or shredding, in the presence of the mayor or chairman of the governing board, the finance officer, the unit's attorney, and the clerk to the governing board." Area Political Voices Credit Impact Of The Economy And Watergate

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Both Democratic and Republican leaders in Pitt County mentioned Watergate and the economy as possible influences that led to the Democratic sweep experienced in Tuesday's elections, as they commented on the outcome, today.

Pitt Democratic Chairman Henry Oglesby of Grifton said "I certainly think that the people have spoken, and regardless of what anyone says, the Watergate had its effect. I think people were looking for integrity in government and in their leaders."

Oglesby continued, "I'm confident too, that inflation has had a great deal to do with voting the incumbents out."

"I just think that the effect that this whole Watergate had on all government put the feeling on everybody's part that there are no honest people in government. I don't agree with that. I feel the great majority of persons in office are honest. But that feeling had its effect."

"Inflation, Watergate, integrity... they were the chief things," according to Oglesby. The Democrat leader noted, "It seems to me that the Republicans in North Carolina — particularly Gov. Holshouser — didn't have the influence that they thought. Holshouser couldn't carry his candidates. (President) Ford either."

Oglesby said of the Democrats, "We're in control now, and if we don't perform, we'll probably go out too. But at the moment, we're in the driver's seat. That's the way I see it."

James C. Lanier Jr., an active Republican and chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, said, "There's no question that the Republican party in North Carolina has been set back quite a few years and it will take a renewed effort and quite a bit of hard work to bring it back up to the point where we have the two party system we were beginning to have. And I think we do need a two party system in North Carolina." Pitt Republican chairman Dick Greene suggested that a division within Republican ranks help lead the party to defeat. "The Republican Party, with its membership so much less than the Democratic Party, to enjoy any success, has to operate under favorable conditions. (Continued on page 12)

At A Glance

By The Associated Press
Here are the election returns at a glance:

The trend listing is the anticipated new Republican-Democratic division of the 94th Congress and governorships. It is computed by adding the number of races in which each party has won or is leading, plus officeholders not subject to election this year.

Table with columns for SENATE (34 Races), HOUSE (435 Races), and GOVERNOR (35 Races), listing party wins and losses.

Holdover R-6 D-9
Trend I-1 R-12 D-37
Present R-18 D-32

Gains
Here is where Senate seats and governorships changed hands:

SENATE
Democrats won seats now held by Republicans in four states — Colorado, Florida, Kentucky and Vermont.

GOVERNOR
Democrats won governorships now held by Republicans in nine states — Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Oregon, Tennessee and Wyoming.

Republicans won governorships now held by Democrats in three states — Kansas, Ohio and South Carolina.

An independent won the governorship now held by a Democrat in Maine.

"What we do every day (at the bargaining table) will affect the duration of a stoppage," Miller said. Under the union's ratification procedures, it will take about 10 days for the membership to approve a tentative settlement. Farmer said the negotiators were in the process of taking each other's proposals, starting at the beginning and comparing positions and "discussing how we might settle it." Sources said that while major differences remained, the two sides were close in the economic area, including wage increases for the union's 120,000 miners.

The government has estimated that a month-long strike could force the layoffs of as many as 400,000 workers in the steel and other coal-burning industries. In addition, the auto industry, the nation's largest consumer of steel, says it would have to shut down within a few weeks for lack of supplies.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

"How do you feel about girls piercing their ears?" asked my daughter.

"My feeling is that your body is your own and if a girl wants to punch holes in her earlobes with an icepick, it is strictly her own business. We don't live in the Victorian era anymore. Everyone is a human being in her own right and it is her decision to make."

"I'm thinking of piercing mine," she said.

"Over my dead body!" "But you just said it was up to the girl."

"That's before I knew you were the piercee," I said. "Where would you go to have it done?"

"Ann could do it." "ANN! The girl who plays with her gum and never washes her hands after she plays with the dog? Absolutely not!"

"There's nothing to it. You just put an ice cube behind your ear to sorta numb it and push a sterilized needle through. You wouldn't have to watch."

"Hah! I suppose you think that would bother me?" "You wouldn't go to see Love Story because they didn't have a nurse in attendance in the lobby."

"Pale people make me faint. Is that so strange?" "No, but I don't see what bothers you about something so simple."

"If it was so simple an operation, Good Housekeeping would have put out a kit on it. Of course, if you want to defy your mother and go ahead and have Ann, the Butcher, perform this primitive operation on her kitchen table, your mother will stand by through the three grades of infection."

"All right," said my daughter. "I'll have it done in a department store. If you buy their earrings, they'll pierce your ears."

"I'll watch," I said. I came to with my head in Baked Goods and my feet in Better Sportswear. "Is it over?" I gasped.

"Yes," said my daughter. "You did fine. You passed out just after you asked the anesthesiologist what kind of anesthetic he used and he turned out to be the jewelry buyer. See my earrings?"

She flipped back eight pounds of hair to reveal a little gold ring the size of a comma in her earlobe.

It was hardly worth my scrubbing up for.

Husband Content To Keep Paying

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: My husband has to much pride to ask his former wife to relinquish her alimony payments. We've discussed it and he is also opposed to taking the matter to court.

Based on the following facts, do you think my husband should continue paying alimony?

1. She received all the equity in a home, paid-up car, and all the furnishings as part of the original settlement.
2. Their children are now married, and financially independent.
3. His ex-wife is now in her forties, is employed full time, and earns a better than average income.
4. He has paid her alimony promptly for 14 years. I would appreciate your thinking.

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SEC: You've stated that you have discussed the matter with your husband, and he's content to keep the status quo, so my thinking is not likely to influence him. Alimony has been appropriately called, "the high cost of leaving." Perhaps unconsciously your husband feels that it's not too high a price to pay for what he bought.

DEAR ABBY: For the last eight years I have been 'engaged' to a married man. I know you've heard this story a thousand times, but he says we will be married as soon as he can get a divorce. Lately I am beginning to wonder.

He is 42 and I am 29. When I met him he said he was separated from his wife. Later on he said he was trying for a divorce but she was contesting it.

He claims he lives like a gypsy, staying with one relative after another, and sometimes with friends. I have never had a phone number where he can be reached in case of emergency. And no address either.

He owns his own business and has given me some expensive gifts, but I want to get married and live a normal life. I used to tell my family and friends that I was too young to get married, but at 29, that's a ridiculous excuse.

How do you figure this, Abby? Am I just a slow learner? I promise to take any advice you give me. Please, help me.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: I think you've been used. Don't waste any more of your valuable time on him, dear. Quietly relocate, and make sure he doesn't have your phone number or address.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is a lovely, 24 year-old, college-educated woman who is in love with a man who absolutely does not believe in marriage.

They have been living together for three years, and now they want to start a family. We are heartsick and don't know what to do.

He has no family, but we have. My parents would suffer even more than we if they knew that their beloved grandchild (my daughter) had a child out of wedlock. Should we say they were secretly married, and try to carry it off, or forget it?

We have no one to ask advice from as we are too ashamed to have anyone know.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: You are not responsible for the decisions of your 24-year-old daughter, so hold up your heads and get over the idea that you have something about which to be ashamed. Do not lie to your parents or anyone else. It may ease your burden to know that you have plenty of company.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN DEEP IN HIGHLAND PARK, ILL.": There are exceptions, but a good rule to follow is: Don't lend money to a person who owes you money unless he has made an honest effort to pay at least part of what he owes you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

League Members Hear Speaker On Monday

The Greenville Service League held its November meeting Monday morning at Elm Street Recreation Center. David Kilpatrick, of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, presented the program.

He told of his work in local high schools and industries in an early detection of alcoholism campaign. He told members that alcohol is an abuse which causes a person to lower his capacity for service. Mrs. Jack Whichard introduced the speaker.

Mrs. John Biggs, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. Donald Bailey announced that the Bloodmobile would be at East Carolina University Nov. 11-12 and urged members to sign up for the two-day visit. Mrs. Charles Gilbert reported the loan of a wheelchair, a pair of crutches and a walker and Mrs. Norman Bennett announced two calls for assistance had been met for the Emergency Charities Fund.

Mrs. Robert VanVeld told that one memorial had been received for the Laughinghouse Hospital Fund. Mrs. Tom Raigwood, Hospital Activities chairman, reported that 180 Halloween tray favors and an arrangement for the Pediatric Ward had been made.

League members were informed of a request from VISTA for volunteers to transport elderly citizens to a lunch program at Moyewood Center. Mrs. Virgil Clark urged members to participate in the program. Members voted to adopt a patient at a N.C. Mental Hospital as one of their projects.

LUTON, England WNS—Irene Parkinson, 26, burst into tears when police, suspecting her of drunken driving, asked her to take the breath test. She cried so much that she could not blow up the breath-test bag. In court she said that her tears were due to embarrassment at facing arrest because she is a policewoman. Judge Alistair Lonsdale ruled that her crying was a reasonable excuse for failing to take the test and directed the jury to find her not guilty. "This case has raised an entirely novel point of view," he declared.

Pitt Process Plainly Archaic

Once again Pitt County has stumbled through another election with archaic paper ballots, which are handed out to voters, marked with pen or pencil, and then laboriously counted by poll holders throughout the long night hours.

The final results are in. Never mind that the counties of North Carolina which have voting machines have their totals reported and tabulated and the results known before the counting even starts in Pitt. It makes no difference that Robert Morgan was already declared winner of the U. S. Senate race in North Carolina before even the first vote was reported from Pitt County. The old paper ballots were good enough for the 19th century and apparently they are good enough for county officials today.

The fact is, however, they just aren't good enough for the 1970s. Vote gathering is now carried on quite rapidly in our state and nation. News Election Service tabulates major races in New York. In North Carolina the Associated Press and United Press International news services gather state returns in Raleigh. Throughout the state and nation millions of Americans depend on precincts and counties reporting the returns promptly so that the voters can be informed as to who they have chosen.

Vote tabulation has become so scientific that computers can project the winners after a reasonable number of votes have been received. Alas, as things unfold on election night our votes seldom play a part in determining the winners, because we are so far behind most of the tabulating that our votes are not significant in the projections.

The answer, of course, is for Pitt County to do like many of its neighboring counties have done and install voting machines. It does no good to argue that the machines can break down. They are working satisfactorily all over the nation.

The county commissioners should look beyond 19th century methods of conducting elections and become a part of the 20th Century. Voting machines should be obtained before another election is held.

THIS AFTERNOON

Schools Will 'Go Metric'

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — North Carolina is going metric, and any day now your kids will come home from school talking metrics—if they haven't already.

For the next five years, the schools will teach two systems of measurement, with heavy emphasis on the metric. Many classrooms are already doing this, and some 4,000 teachers have been trained.

"By 1981, the public schools will be all metric, and the present system will be taught only in its historical context," says Dr. Bob Jones, director of the division of mathematics at the state's Department of Public Instruction.

Jones has asked the State Board of Education for a resolution committing the school system to the changeover, and adds that the U.S. Congress is expected to make the shift law at its next session.

But, all of that is formality and won't affect the simple fact: "We are serious about this... we are going metric and the only question is whether we go in an orderly fashion with public support or not," Jones said.

A Leader

North Carolina is the coordinating state among five picked to lead the way nationally (California, Mississippi, Minnesota, and Delaware are the others), and Jones sees the need for special community college courses for teachers and parents, a coordinating committee to plan the changeover and help educate the public, and development of special teaching aids.

But don't panic, even though the change may be traumatic for housewives trying to change recipes, motorists trying to figure how far it is from one town to the next, and all of us trying to adapt to a totally new system of measuring length, volume, weight, and temperature.

"It is not a tough concept," says Jones, praising the orderliness and simplicity of metrics. Gone will be all the confusing measurements such as rods and barrels, miles and nautical miles, quarts and pints.

Everything is measured in units of ten, and a simple decimal shift takes care of arithmetic.

"The key to it is to throw out of your mind the idea of conversion between the two systems—it doesn't really matter. Learn to think metric instead of trying to translate metrics into the present system," Jones said.

"You don't really need to know how to convert... You know when you gotta put on a coat." Temperature will be measured in degrees centigrade, but called Celsius to honor the inventor. At zero Celsius, water freezes; a coat is needed around 12 to 15 C.; you could go swimming around 25 C.

How It Feels

"When you see the temperature signs flashing 20 degrees, and you realize how that feels, then you will see how simple it is," Jones said.

Jones has a host of steps in mind as he leads the state's conversion: schoolroom work is already underway in many places; a recent shopping center display drew a head-scratching crowd of adults; a coordinating committee of educators, parents, state agency people, and business-industrial experts will draw up strategies and ideas for easing the shift; simple teaching methods such as dual posting of highway signs in miles and kilometers will be put forth.

Actually, the new vocabulary is simple if approached logically:

A metre measures length, and is just over one yard; litre measures volume and is a swallow more than a quart; a gram measures weight, and is about the weight of a paper clip.

Four prefix words can be used in front of those measurements:

Kilo means multiply by 1,000; deci divides into tenths; centi divides into hundredths; and milli divides into thousandths.

So, a kilometre is 1,000 metres and replaces the mile. It is about the same as half of a mile. Look at a paper clip: a millimetre is about the diameter of the wire; a centimetre about the width of the clip.

One of the confusing aspects which will linger is in the spelling of the units. Early promotional materials use the Americanized spelling of meter and liter. The rest of the world spells them metre and litre. Jones thinks now, while planning is in early states, is the time to insist on the worldwide spelling and will push for that in North Carolina.

Early Senate Choice

By Dr. H. G. JONES
Written for the AP
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — In this week of electing a United States senator, it is well to reflect upon the first popular election of senators just 60 years ago.

For more than 100 years under the federal Constitution senators were chosen by the state legislatures. This meant that individual voters (i.e., only male citizens who met strict registration qualifications) participated merely indirectly in the selection of their senators. The members of each political party represented in the General Assembly would normally hold a caucus and select their candidate. It was then usually little more than a formality for the majority party to elect its candidate in the legislature.

The framers of the Constitution knew, of course, what they were doing. They viewed the House of Representatives as the popular branch of Congress and the Senate as the "safe" body whose members were chosen by indirect methods to prevent too much influence by the "numerous democracy."

It was, in effect, to be the more stable body, providing continuity and sound political philosophy. Its members were given six-year terms while the popularly elected representatives were to be voted upon each two years.

With the improvement of education and the growing demands for wider citizen participation in government, the 17th amendment to the Constitution was adopted in 1913 under which the people henceforth would directly elect their senators.

It was on Nov. 3, 1914, that North Carolinians went to the polls and chose their first popularly elected senator. He was Lee S. Overman who had served two terms by virtue of legislative selection.

Overman was born in Salisbury in 1854 and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Trinity College. He taught school two years in Winston, then served as private secretary to Govs. Zebulon Vance and Thomas Jarvis. Meanwhile, he was studying

Confusion In Portugal

LISBON—The danger of a Communist takeover in Portugal is not immediate; but the danger is real and it cannot wisely be minimized. The danger arises from two precepts of human behavior — that the sober generally have an advantage over the drunk, and the amateur generally loses to the pro.

What is happening in Portugal quite conceivably could happen in Greece, in Italy, even in Spain. The whole of Southern Europe is caught in swirling currents of political motion, and these currents, impelled by inflation and by human hungers, could well become a flood.

To return to Lisbon, after an absence of two years, is to return from shadow into sunlight. Two years ago this beautiful and beloved city reflected the image of the somber government of the time. Portugal was not cheerless then — the Portuguese could never be cheerless — but the press was dull, the universities were somnolent, and the city had something of the air of Eliot's patient etherized upon a table.

All that has changed. Since the April revolution, which swept the Caetano government out of power, the press has erupted with daily detonations of pro-Communist and anti-American pronouncements.

University faculties are in upheaval. The movie houses are reveling in "The Exorcist" and "The Last Tango in Paris." Whatever may be the state of other industries, the poster-printing industry is booming: The city is papered over with posters, and most of them bear the hammer and sickle.

"The situation is quieter in the countryside, but in the great cities of Lisbon and Oporto a political binge continues. Mario Soares, the Socialist foreign minister, tells me that 40 new political parties have been formed. Alice Marquis, writing in the Nation, has counted 56. Eric Brodin, writing in Human Events, puts the number at more than 60. The chauffeur who has driven me around Portugal many times before puts the matter in a sentence: "In Lisbon," says Francisco happily, "there is very much confusion."

Of the 40 or 50 or 60 parties, only four or five are thought to have much potential for the elections that are promised for March. At these elections a constituent assembly will be chosen. This assembly in turn will draft a new constitution and provide for a parliament to be elected later in the year. Meanwhile the government remains under the dominance of the military, but the longer the binge continues the more that dominance is imperiled.

Freedom is a heady wine. Portugal has not tasted freedom for 48 years. "It is like acquainting 12-year-olds with sex," said an old friend. "They know it's important, but they don't know what to do with it." In the resulting intoxication, the PCP — the Portuguese Communist Party — is cold sober. The party has emerged as the most cohesive political entity in a sea of political fragments. It is richly

A WINNER'S PROFILE

Bob Morgan Gets His Wish

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Feisty little Robert Morgan will get his chance to fulfill an avowed ambition to be "the people's senator."

Morgan, 49, has come a long way from the small tobacco farm in Lillington where he was born and the Harnett County courthouse where he started his political career 24 years ago.

He is a man who has shown enough flexibility to change his views to suit the times. But he also clings tenaciously to his roots in rural eastern North Carolina.

Morgan is a man who chose to commute 30 miles to the Justice Department in Raleigh every day rather than give up the six-room house on a Lillington dirt road in which he lives with his wife Katie, their adopted son Rupert, and their two young daughters. He still owns the white frame house in which he was born and the surrounding 30 acres of tobacco land. It reminds him, he says, of the Depression and the gratitude he felt for the Roosevelt farm programs that helped his parents stay afloat.

That devotion to governmental programs that help the little man help himself is still a characteristic Morgan viewpoint.

His Lillington heritage also included segregation, which he says he saw nothing wrong with at the time. He first rose to prominence as the manager of the segregationist gubernatorial campaigns of I. Beverly Lake in the 1960s.

Morgan wore a crew cut in those days. His hair is now modishly long. In the same way, he has changed his positions on the racial issue. He appealed to blacks during campaign in the same way he appealed to poor whites, citing his record of service as attorney general.

Morgan's ambition drove him from the state Senate to the attorney general's office, and into the Senate campaign. He entered the race after Sen. Sam J. Ervin announced his retirement, but aides say he would have run regardless of Ervin's decision.

Morgan approached the campaign with intensity. He made himself through long days of tedious handshaking and speechmaking, and still managed to rise at dawn on most mornings to don a red warmup suit and jog a few miles on the roads.

Campaigning, to him, was a serious pursuit. He rarely joked in his speeches, as most candidates do. He steadfastly refused to pose for any pictures with silly hats or other paraphernalia.

Sometimes, he was tense. He had a phobia about forgetting names and often wrote the name of someone he was to meet in ink on the inside of his wrist. He chewed breath mints constantly.

Morgan can be warm and friendly to those he considers friends and to people he feels can use his help. His charities are numerous.

He served for 15 years on the board of trustees of his undergraduate school, East Carolina University, but he has not been as active with his law school, Wake Forest.

"East Carolina needed help. Wake Forest didn't," he said. Recently, as ECU has established itself, he has begun to devote more time to another school, Lees-McRae Jr. College in Banner Elk.

Morgan has a sharp temper that goes with his bantam appearance. (He stands only five feet, four inches tall.) He does not like to be crossed.

He made a point of keeping his temper in check during the campaign. Likewise, he did not speak publicly about those he felt had been disloyal. But in private, he spoke cuttingly of many of them.

Morgan has said that he would like to be a "people's senator. When it comes to helping people do what they can't do for themselves, I'm as liberal as they come. When it comes to strict interpretation of the Constitution and enforcement of the laws, I'm as conservative as they come."

Public Forum

To the editor:
I demand my rights as a citizen!

According to a letter in The Public Forum a week ago, Greenville is being swept by a massive crime wave of Peeping Toms. It has been these pernicious prowlers that cause the dogs to bark and give reasons to let the dogs run loose at night. Baloney! I am fed up with these malicious mongrel marauders. They are worse than any prowler. My front lawn has been fouled with excrement beyond the imagination. My flowers and rose bushes have been burnt to a crisp. My trash cans have been turned over and garbage scattered throughout my yard and the neighbors—and theirs in mine. My six-year-old son has been terrorized by a monstrous menacing mastiff. Finally, I have lost sleep over snarling, fighting dogs who wander the streets in plundering packs at night.

What am I allowed to do to protect my property from this decadent destructive degradation? Nothing. I am forbidden by law to use any weapon to chase the cankerous canine carnivores away. Poison is also forbidden, but how sweet it would be. I have considered wiring my trash cans with 110 volt house current but this will not protect my whole yard. The police are ineffective—and the dog catcher, well, even he hides at night in Greenville. At least, the city of Charlotte has the right idea; they rent dog traps to citizens who are being plundered and defiled. Each morning the dogs are picked up by the pound.

It should be quite obvious that Greenville's laws against these dirty dastard defilers is and has been unenforced after darkness settles the streets. My only recourse is to fortify my property against assault—or break the law. But then what right does a property owner in Greenville have to protect what is his. NONE.

Money Management Overlooked

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — As

viewed by business and financial authorities, one of the biggest deficiencies in the American educational system is its failure to adequately prepare individuals in money management.

Only two states make consumer education mandatory. In many cities and states the courses are superficial. Millions of Americans, as a result, can't even maintain a checkbook properly.

Banks, savings institutions, finance companies and others have long sought to correct the situation with do-it-yourself educational materials. More recently the effort is aimed at providing materials for classroom use.

Continental Illinois National Bank offers a detailed, six-unit course, complete with texts, teacher's guides and student problem books. Now the New York Stock Exchange has sent its "Personal Money Management" guide to almost every high school in the country.

James Needham, exchange chairman, hopes to convince federal authorities to make such instruction mandatory for those school districts receiving government funds.

Professionally, he feels it might help to keep individual investors interested in stocks. The personal story is longer.

"I was the oldest of three kids, age 5, when my father died. We had no life insurance and we ended up on welfare for a couple of years. It left its mark."

As an accountant, Needham saw otherwise intelligent people who either neglected or were incapable of handling their personal money affairs. One client was a national authority on money management, including wills. "He died interstate."

"I taught Accounting I and 2. I was dealing with accounting majors and they didn't even understand bank statements or how to write checks. It had a unique impression on me.

"As a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission I was horrified by what I saw — very sophisticated people incapable of handling their own affairs."

Perhaps, who knows, with stock customers in mind, Needham continued: "So many people get into serious difficulty because they can't handle money. We've got to prepare them to take care of themselves, and then they won't be looking for help from the government."

Agent Says Nixon Taping System Had Flaws

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Secret Service man has testified that former President Richard M. Nixon's taping system had flaws that make it suspect as a complete record of his White House conversations.

Richard Ben-Veniste said none of the 26 tapes the prosecutors plan to introduce into evidence starting next week have any gaps resulting from the Secret Service's method of changing tape reels.

Defense sources said, however, there were other flaws in the system that probably prevented other presidential conversations from being picked up by the taping system.

Former White House assistant Alexander P. Butterfield has testified that Nixon ordered the system installed in the White House Oval Office, the president's office in the Executive Office Building and the Cabinet Room in the White House.

Agent Nelson said he knew of only nine persons, including Nixon, cover-up defendant John D. Ehrlichman, Butterfield and Secret Service men, who knew about the system until Butterfield made it public.

Under cross-examination, technician Baker also left a mystery in explaining the method by which tape reels were changed for Oval Office recordings.

change reels, part of a presidential conversation might be lost, if Nixon happened to be holding a meeting at the time the tape was running out, Baker said.

Program On Fire Safety Conducted

Many Pitt County youth participated in a fire safety program which was conducted in 12 Pitt County communities. The program, sponsored jointly by the Pitt County 4-H Council and the Pitt County Firemen's Association, was taught in the following fire departments: Bethel, Staton House, Pactolus, Farmville, Falkland, Bell Arthur, Simpson, Eastern Pines, Grimesland, Gardnersville, Ayden and Winterville.

Firemen were aided by the use of 4-H fire safety demonstration kits. Each participant received a 4-H fire safety manual. Each session was highlighted by a film. Mike Davis, local 4-H coordinator, cited Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner and each fire department for their efforts in the promotion of fire safety.

Navy Task Force In Indian Ocean Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. Navy carrier task force is about to enter the Indian Ocean, a move that could jar the recently improved atmosphere of U.S.-Indian relations.

Indian Ocean so soon after the Kissinger visit could ruffle the Indian government.

Pentagon sources say the big aircraft carrier Constellation, three destroyers and a support ship are in Singapore preparing to sail into the Indian Ocean. This will be the first such show-the-flag mission in those waters since a cruiser-led force left the Indian Ocean more than two months ago.

It comes after Indian government officials told Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in New Delhi last week why they oppose U.S. naval operations in the Indian Ocean and development of a base on the island of Diego Garcia to support such operations.

At a news conference afterwards, Kissinger said, "There was an absence of identity of views on that subject." But a joint communique issued at the end of the new Delhi talks generally reflected warmer U.S.-Indian relations after years of chill.

When Pritchard's term expired in 1903, Overman was elected to the seat. The legislature reelected him in 1909. After his reelection by the people in 1914, he won new terms by popular vote in 1920 and 1926.

The appearance of a new U.S. carrier task force in the

In Washington Overman was a prodigious worker and held seats on 16 major committees.

Kilpatrick...

President Woodrow Wilson depended upon him heavily in promoting wartime legislation.

(Continued from page 4) financed from Moscow. Its chief spokesman, 59-year-old Alvaro Cunhal, is a charismatic figure who can attract tremendous crowds. The PCP is expected to get at least 20 to 25 percent of the vote in March; that is the kind of leverage that moves history.

After 27 years in Washington, Overman died there on Dec. 12, 1930, and was buried in Chestnut Hill Cemetery in Salisbury.

For the time being, the Communists are plainly on their best behavior. With inflation running at 30 percent and unemployment at 5 percent or more, an opportunity is present for forming violent strikes. The PCP has prudently ignored the opportunity, to the distress of some of its more radical leaders, but the strategy has obvious merit. The party is biding its time.

A Communist takeover is by no means inevitable. The young officers who now hold power may be political amateurs, but they have no love for communism. The present government avows its support of NATO. Conservative elements have been oddly quiet, but they are certain to mobilize soon. This is a time of freedom in ferment. Who can predict the eventual wine?

SUBJECT WAS FOOD—The delegates came from all parts of the world but the discussions all centered on the same item—food. Among the delegates at the Wednesday session of the World Food Conference in Rome were, at top, India's Agriculture Minister G. C. L. Jonesta, right and Indian delegate H.E.M. Jagjiwan; at center, Hao Chung Shih (left) and Pi Chi-Lung of the Peoples Republic of China; at bottom, Field Ridley (left) and R. Clarke of Guyana. (AP Wirephoto)

Complication

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon is suffering from yet another medical complication: a slight case of pneumonia in his partially collapsed right lung.

Known as pneumonitis, the condition was apparently not considered serious. Dr. John C. Lungren said his patient is exhibiting over-all "slow but gradual improvement" since his brush with death last week following phlebitis surgery.

"He's ready to face the world again and fight back," reported a source close to Nixon. "He's not depressed anymore but he's grouchy."

Nixon, 61, hopes to be able to walk well enough soon to greet his wife, Pat, at his hospital room door, hospital spokesman Norman Nager said Wednesday. Nixon has been taking brief walks, assisted by nurses, around his room at Memorial Hospital Medical Center.

The pneumonitis, which Lungren said was being combatted with antibiotics, was presumably responsible for the partial collapse of the lung.

"The pneumonitis was determined by tests," Lungren said Wednesday in a written statement. He added that "it would be premature to offer a prognosis at this time."

Nixon has suffered numerous complications since his surgery Oct. 26. He remained on the critical list for six days after he went into shock for three hours from internal bleeding brought on by the operation.

Islanders Propose Alaska Adopt Them

PORT HARDY, B.C. (AP) — Can an isolated island community which has long complained of neglect from British Columbia and Canadian officials find happiness as part of Alaska and the United States?

Even the leader of the secessionist movement in the Mount Waddington Regional District admits he doesn't know, but he says he is anxious to try.

Last month the District Board voted to propose the move to the governor of Alaska, naming Port Hardy Mayor Brian Klaver as ambassador to the 49th state.

Klaver said Wednesday there had been no reply to the letter, mailed about two weeks ago. The letter asked if Alaska would be interested in acquiring 8,000 square miles of Canadian property with rich timber, fishing and mining resources and 12,000-15,000 inhabitants.

"We're the ones that are living out here, without the amenities, providing the raw materials for those people living elsewhere who do have the amenities," he said.

"If Alaska is interested in having us join them, perhaps we'll be able to get the services we deserve."

The district encompasses the northern tip of Vancouver Island and a bit of the British Columbia mainland about 300 miles southeast of the southern tip of Alaska.

Access is limited to poorly maintained logging roads and two visits a day by an aging, inadequate and expensive ferry, Klaver said.

He said old-timers recall promises of a government highway as far back as 1928 over a route reportedly surveyed by British royal engineers.

Klaver said there are problems in private financing for water, sewer and other services.

And he says local officials haven't told Victoria about the secessionist move.

"They've ignored us, so we're ignoring them," he said. "Perhaps they'll read about it in the news."

Arrest Woman In Knife Death

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Mabel Woodbury Koonce was arrested on a first degree murder charge by New Bern police Wednesday after she was indicted by the Craven County grand jury.

Mrs. Koonce, 53, was accused of killing George Allen Ives, 78, who was stabbed to death in his home Oct. 7.

Officers said Mrs. Koonce and Ives were neighbors.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market got back on an upward course today after some profit taking amid expectations of a continued decline in interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.08 at 674.20 at 11:30 a.m., and gains led losers by close to 2-to-1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The pace of trading subsided markedly from Wednesday, when NYSE volume reached its second heaviest total of the year.

Analysts said the buying was encouraged partly by anticipation of a cut in the prime lending rate by New York's First National City Bank Friday from 10 1/4 to 10 1/2 per cent.

They also noted hopes that an expected nationwide coal strike next week would be relatively short-lived.

Brokers said an additional morale boost was provided by a 3-point rebound to 187 today in the stock of IBM, which fell 10 1/2 Wednesday as the Justice Department called for the company's breakup in a legal brief filed in its six-year-old antitrust case against IBM.

Walt Disney rose 2 1/4 to 27 1/4 on top of a 1-point rise Wednesday, when the company reported a 12 per cent gain in earnings for its latest quarter.

Other glamors showing strength included Upjohn, up 2 1/4 at 49 1/4; Avon Products, ahead 1 1/2 to 29; and Polaroid, up 1 1/4 at 23 1/2.

Texas Utilities, the Big Board volume leader, rose 3/4 to 21 1/4. A 99,900-share block traded at 21 1/2.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite common stock index was up .22 at 39.68.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .07 at 69.90. Houston Oil & Minerals, the Amex' most-active issue, added 1 1/4 to 29 1/4.

not have been allowed to happen."

Republican Herb Lee commented, "it's very difficult to say" just what effect the Democratic sweep will have on the Republican party, but noted, "I think it was primarily the economy that caused the big shift. Of course, Watergate has some part in it, but as far as the effect on the Republican party... the election was devastating... it was enough to make a grown man cry."

"Undoubtedly" the election will "have some effect on the party in North Carolina, but I couldn't really speculate on it's effect," he continued.

"I regret what has happened, but the people knew what they wanted and voted for it."

Jack Spain, former aid to Sen. Sam Ervin said unity among Democrats had a large part to play in the Democratic victory Tuesday.

"Democrats were more united this time," he said. "We've got the registration, we just had to get out the vote."

"We had more interest and, of course, the general conditions," created the interest. "People were upset with the existing conditions."

"Watergate had some influence," Spain theorized, "but I think probably higher prices, unemployment, inflation, had more effect. People are just worried about the general conditions and blaming, I think, the present administration."

"I don't know the answer," Spain noted, "but we're going to try..."

Mary Faye Shires, president of the Democratic Women of Pitt County expressed concern over Tuesday's election, even though her party was victorious.

Mrs. Shires, who has served in both houses of the North Carolina General Assembly said Tuesday's "election returns bear out my philosophy that the way to win an election is for a party to stick together. The way for a party to lose an election is for a party to become divided."

Citing the "disaster" of the Democratic party in 1972 as an "example of too many candidates going it alone," the former Senator and House member said many Republicans, especially in North Carolina "blame division in their party for their defeat more than the effect of Watergate."

But, according to the Democratic Women's chairman, "I am concerned that more

Rose Seeks Perfect Conference Mark

Friday night, Rose High School closes out the regular season in football, traveling to Elizabeth City to meet Northeastern High School. At stake is sole possession of first place in Division I and an unblemished conference record for the Rampants.

Last week, Rose romped to a 28-14 victory over Wilson Fike, assuring itself of no worse than a tie for the Division I title, and the league's berth in the State 4-A Playoffs.

Rose is now 3-0 within the league, and all but Rocky Mount have lost twice or more. Rose, however, beat Rocky Mount, 14-0, assuring itself of not having to worry about the Gryphons should the two teams tie for first.

Rocky Mount, however, could earn a share of the title, but only that, by beating Wilson, and by Rose losing to Northeastern.

Rose, of course, has no intention of letting that happen.

"We realize that the game has little meaning as far as the playoffs are concerned. We probably could play real loose and have a good time, letting a lot of people play," Coach Dave Bumgarner said.

"We do intend to let a lot of people play in the game, but we want to keep our conference record unblemished. And we want the whole championship, not just a part of it."

Bumgarner praised Rose's effort last Saturday against Wilson as one of the finest ever for a team coached by him at Greenville. "We've beaten people more decisively, but this was a 'big' game for us. We had to win, and we showed we could win when we had to."

The coach said Rose did a lot of things well, both on offense and defense. "We hit as hard as we have all year, and we moved the ball. We expect people to either try to stop us inside or outside, but with the outstanding runners we have, it's not easy to do. We kept Wilson honest with Doug Paschal, then got a lot of yardage outside with Lindberg Morris and Andrew Newton. Henry Trevathan did a very good job in play selection and in handling the ball. He read the plays well, he carried and he pitched out well. It was a good overall performance from the offense and the defense. And the defense hit hard, and covered the pass well."

Bumgarner noted that Elizabeth City looks impressive. "They don't have a lot of people, and they have about eight who have to go both ways. But they have a good running attack, with two real fine, quick backs. They have as much or more speed as we have."

The Eagles attack out of a slot-type wishbone, similar to one of the option plays used by East Carolina. "Last week, against Havelock, they didn't use their regular quarterback for most of the game. He came in only late in the game. I don't know why they did it like that."

"They did pick up a lot of yards against Havelock, and they didn't let Havelock have anything," Bumgarner said.

He added that he hopes Rose will get the ball first, and be able to drive on Northeastern, taking a lot of time to grip out an initial score. "Then, we want to put them back on defense quickly. I think we can wear them down quicker this way, especially since they have so many going both ways."

Bumgarner also said that Northeastern will be fired up. "They'll be wanting to knock us off—and it's their Homecoming too. But I think we have the pride to go after an unbeaten season in the conference."

Following the game, Rose will begin preparations for the first round of the state playoffs. But it will be Saturday before they find out whether they'll travel to meet defending champ Sanford Central or Wilmington Highford.

Doug Paschal

Paschal Running To Make Rose Champion

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor.

When Rose High needs a tough yard, they know where to go—and when they do, they usually get the yardage.

All through the year, except for one game he missed because of the flu, junior fullback Doug Paschal has been the man the Rampants turn to when they need a tough couple of yards on third or fourth down plays.

But Paschal hasn't been just a yard here and a yard there. He's gone out 816 yards in the eight games he's played in this year. He's carried 179 times, nearly 40 more times than any other Rampant back, averaging 4.6 yards a carry. He's scored four touchdowns, but down close, he's usually been called on for blocking where the yardage gets much more expensive.

"Doug is probably the hardest running back I've ever coached," Rampant mentor Dave Bumgarner said. "He's improved a lot since last year, and he'll improve a lot before next year. He's still learning to run. Last year, he'd just bull through you. This year, he's beginning to look for his blocking more and he's picking up more per carry."

But Paschal is also a team player. "He always considers the team first," the coach said. "He likes to win too. Whenever the team needs him, he's there."

At 6-2, 195 pounds, Paschal makes an imposing figure on the football field, and he's already attracting a lot of attention from the collegiate scouts.

His football career began in the seventh grade at E. B. Aycock Junior High School, but he admits that he didn't get to play much until he was a ninth grader.

Always a back, he made the transition to varsity high school ball in a hurry, becoming a starter as a sophomore.

Paschal likes the wishbone formation that Rose runs. It gives him more of an opportunity to run the ball than some of the other offenses that call for the fullback to block more.

"There's a chance that I'll get the ball on nearly every play," he said. "It is a hard offense for a high school team to run, but we're doing all right."

He also enjoys the situation in which he shares the backfield with a pair of fleet-footed backs like Andrew Newton and Lindberg Morris. "We have the inside threat and the outside threat, so that helps our offense a lot. They can't stop us both inside and outside."

Paschal also likes to block. "Especially when you block helps the guy to a long gain," he said. "It's satisfying to know that you helped him along."

While Paschal's hopes of rushing for 1,000 yards this year appear slim (for the regular season), this doesn't worry him. "It makes no difference. Winning the championship means more," he said. Paschal hopes that the team won't have a letdown Friday against Northeastern, since they've already clinched the playoff berth. "It's their Homecoming, so they are going to be up for it. But I think we'll be all right. This team isn't the type that has to get up for a game. We just go out and play. I don't know if this is any better than getting psyched up, but it's no worse."

Football isn't Doug's only sport. He runs the 220-yard dash, and throws the shot and discus for the track team. He also enjoys waterskiing and hunting.

There are some people who are already comparing Paschal to one of the men he replaced in the Rose backfield—Al Hunter, one of the top runners in the state two years ago. "I don't really think we're alike," Doug said. "Al was a speedster, and I'm not." Both, however, were big ground, gainers, and both are top college prospects.

"I haven't really thought about college ball yet," he said, then echoed another sentiment that Hunter shared as a junior. "I'm not really sure I want to play college ball."

He has some time left to ponder the situation however—as did Hunter, who went on to Notre Dame.

His thoughts right now are not on next year, however, but on the conclusion of this one. "This is the closest team I've ever been on," Paschal said. "We have some individuals, but the whole team contributes to the effort. We're like a big family."

And he sees the family as a winner. "I don't really care whether we play Hoggard or Sanford. I think we can win. I think we can win it all."

Only One Of Top Three Will Go To Bowl Game

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Ohio State, Oklahoma and Michigan are ranked first, second and fourth, respectively in The Associated Press college football poll this week. Only one will be going to a post-season bowl game this year.

Meanwhile, Maryland, Mississippi State, Houston and Oklahoma State have joined the rapidly-growing list of schools who have accepted bids to play in the year-end spectaculars while Pittsburgh is playing a wait-and-see game.

Maryland, 14th-ranked nationally, will play in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 16 at Memphis, Tenn.

Herbie Hunt, Liberty Bowl president, said said Liberty Bowl representatives will be watching four games this weekend in an attempt to select an opponent for Maryland. The four games slated for scrutiny are Auburn at Mississippi State, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Missouri at Oklahoma and Tennessee at Memphis State.

Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl officials said hometown Houston's opponent Dec. 23 will be either North Carolina State or North Carolina, with Pittsburgh an outside possibility.

However, North Carolina State reportedly is headed for the Peach Bowl, which will be played Dec. 28 in Atlanta.

Oklahoma State, ranked 17th has accepted a bid to participate in the Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

The Western Athletic Conference champion will oppose Oklahoma State Dec. 28. Arizona State, which has won all three previous postseason contests, Arizona and Brigham Young are still in contention for the WAC title.

Sun Bowl officials say they want Pittsburgh if the Panthers beat Temple this Saturday. But Pitt also is reportedly being courted by the Liberty Bowl and the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Mississippi State said it has accepted an invitation to play in the Sun Bowl Dec. 28 in El Paso, Tex.

Although bowl officials declined to confirm it, it is believed the Gator Bowl Dec. 30 at Jacksonville, Fla., will match Auburn against the Southwest Conference runner-up.

The Southwest Conference champion — either Texas, Texas A&M or Baylor — is slated to play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 against Penn State.

The Sugar Bowl Dec. 31 will pit sixth-ranked Florida against ninth-ranked Nebraska, while third-ranked Alabama and eighth-ranked Notre Dame is expected to clash in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1 in a rematch of last year's national championship battle.

Miami of Ohio, ranked No. 13, is headed for the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 21 at Orlando, Fla.

Probation and conference rules have cut down two of the nation's best teams. Second-ranked Oklahoma is banned from appearing in a post-season game by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

And the granddaddy of all bowl games — the Rose Bowl — will feature the Big Ten champion versus the Pac-8 champion. Since top-ranked Ohio State and fourth-ranked Michigan are both in the Big Ten, one will be watching the postseason festivities with the nation's other football fans — on television.

Ard Muscles Walton As Celtics Get Win

By The Associated Press
John Havlicek's light touch and Jim Ard's heavy muscle combined to knock out the Portland Trail Blazers Wednesday night.

Havlicek scored a basketful of points and Ard kept Bill Walton from doing the same as the Boston Celtics took a 128-110 National Basketball Association victory.

"Walton just wasn't playing well," said Portland Coach Lenny Wilkens, pointing out why he pulled his prize rookie from the game with seven minutes left.

The star of UCLA's powerhouse last year, Walton had less than a powerhouse performance against the irrepressible Ard. He only scored 12 points and had 11 rebounds.

Henry Finkel helped Ard bottle up Walton while Havlicek went wild. The veteran star scored 40 points.

In the other NBA games, the Cleveland Cavaliers tripped the Washington Capitals 107-99; the Detroit Pistons stopped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 118-104; the Philadelphia 76ers ripped the Chicago Bulls 105-90 and the Buffalo Braves smashed the New Orleans Jazz 110-98.

Jo Jo White had 21 points and Paul Westphal wound up with 14 for the Celtics. Sidney Wicks led Portland with 24 points, and John Johnson had 18. Geoff Petrie had 17.

Bobby Smith scored a career-high 41 points to lead Cleveland over Washington. Smith, a six-year veteran, connected on 17 of 24 shots and made all seven of his free throws to top his previous high by four points.

Cleveland bolted to a 41-18 lead early in the second quarter and then held off the Bullets, leaders of the Central Division, for their sixth victory in seven games.

Wes Unsworth led the Bullets with 21 points and 13 rebounds.

Elvin Hayes added 16 points and 14 rebounds.

Dave Bing scored 30 points and Bob Lanier added 27 to power Detroit past Kansas City-Omaha.

The Pistons built a 64-48 half-time lead and coasted the rest of the way, pushing their lead to 93-67 at one point.

Jimmy Walker and Nate Williams each had 17 for the Kings.

Detroit forward Chris Ford added 16 points and a career high of nine assists.

Fred Carter scored 31 points to help Philadelphia snap a four-game losing streak. The defeat stopped Chicago's winning streak at three games.

The Bulls took a 36-35 lead on a second-quarter, 22-foot jumper by former 76er Matt Guokas and a layup.

But Philadelphia dominated play thereafter and built a 51-40 half-time lead before running up 10 straight points at the outset of the third period for its biggest lead of the night.

Buffalo rode a 41-point effort by center Bob McAdoo to victory over hapless New Orleans, which lost its 10th straight game.

McAdoo had 24 points at half-time and added 17 in the second half, although he sat out much of the fourth period with five fouls.

Rookie Aaron James led New Orleans in scoring with 19 points.

William & Mary Studies Policy

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — A College of William and Mary athletic study committee said Wednesday the college should either upgrade its athletic program to achieve national prominence or de-emphasize it.

"... It does not seem possible or desirable to continue the present athletic program for budgetary and philosophical reasons," the committee's report said.

The committee didn't favor either alternative, instead presenting both to W&M President Thomas Graves and the board of visitors, which will consider the report Nov. 21.

The committee, made up of students and members of the faculty and athletic department, studied the situation for nine months after it was learned the athletic program faced an operating deficit of $60,000.

The deficit was made up with more support from the college's general fund and some reshuffling of expenditures, officials said.

The committee concluded that the school can't continue its present athletic program because of inadequate funding and facilities and conflicts between academics and athletics.

One alternative would have the school concentrate on the major revenues producing sports of football and basketball and compete against schools which would enhance W&M's national reputation.

This policy would involve intensive recruitment, broadly relaxed admission requirements and preferential financial aid for athletes who have "a good chance of remaining in academic good standing and of graduating."

The upgraded program would be impossible to implement if federal guidelines for eliminating sex discrimination are passed in their present form, the committee noted. Unless the guidelines are amended to exempt revenue-producing sports, the college would have to split support equally between men's and women's athletics, the report said.

Andrew Johnson of the Citadel continues to lead the rushers, with a 127.5 mark, fifth in the nation. He's also 18th in all-purpose rushing. Don Schink is sixth, 65.3, and Ken Strayhorn is seventh, 61.5, for the Bucs in rushing.

Davidson's Gary Pomeroy is the pass receiving leader with five a game, sixth nationally.

Joe Parker leads both the conference and the country in punting with a 44.4 average. Gill Job of ECU is second in the league at 39.1.

Bobby Myrick of ECU is third in the loop in kickoff returns, 21.1 per return, while Strayhorn is second in scoring, 5.5 per game.

Devon Ford of ASU is first in the league in punt returns at 16.5 yards a carry, while Ronnie Moore of VMI is second at 13.7. They are sixth and ninth nationally, respectively.

The other option, to de-emphasize athletics, would require that all athletic recruitment stop and that no student be given preferential status in admission or finances because of athletic ability.

The main reason for sports at W&M under this proposal would be to provide "carefully coordinated and challenging opportunities for athletic competition to students as one aspect of their four-year educational program in arts and sciences," the report said.

It also said William and Mary's intercollegiate athletic program for men and women could be "planned, developed and administered primarily for the educational and recreational benefits of the student participants," and not for the enjoyment of alumni and the community.

Hornets Lose Their Shirts After Defeat

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The Chicago Fire says it is through for the year, Portland Storm players are refusing to play another game until they're paid and the Charlotte Hornets have literally lost their shirts.

It was just another day in the life and times of the World Football League.

The show must go on, however, and the WFL continued to struggle gracelessly toward the conclusion of its first season Wednesday night with Birmingham beating Philadelphia 26-23, Shreveport topping Charlotte 19-14 and the Hawaiians whipping Southern California 29-8.

Tonight's schedule calls for Chicago at Memphis and Portland at Florida, but WFL schedules lately have been as dependable as subway gum machines.

The announced attendance was 22,963, about half of what the Americans have been averaging.

Jim Nance ran for 160 yards and Rocky Thompson added 105 to lead Shreveport past Charlotte. Nance scored the winning touchdown from two yards out with 5:11 left to play.

The game drew 10,697 fans in Shreveport.

Randy Johnson threw a pair of touchdown passes to John Isenbarger, and Al Davis and Vince Clements ran for two others in the Hawaiians' victory over Southern California before an announced crowd of 13,780 at Honolulu.

Kermit Johnson's touchdown in the fourth period averted a shutout for the Sun, now 13-6. The Hawaiians improved their Birmingham built up a 26-0 lead in the first half of its game with Philadelphia behind the running of Art Cantrelle and Paul Robinson, who scored one touchdown apiece, and then held off a Bell rally. The game ended in a brawl that took officials several minutes to break up.

The announced attendance was 22,963, about half of what the Americans have been averaging.

A league spokesman said WFL President Donald Regan will look into the Chicago matter Friday.

Origer, a condominium builder, says business is bad and he's tired of losing money.

"Right now I'm looking for investors," he said, "and if I don't find them I'll sell the club. I have lost about $800,000 thus far and I don't want to take losses by myself in the future."

record to 8-11. Fire owner Tom Origer handed the stricken league another headache Wednesday when he announced that his club won't play its final game next week in Philadelphia and won't participate in the playoffs.

"We don't deserve to be in the playoffs and I'm against the eight-team thing, anyway," said Origer, whose team has lost nine straight games.

Dolphins, Green Take Victories

The Dolphins and the Green team took Recreation Department wins yesterday.

The Dolphins topped the Steelers, 19-18, in the flag game. The Dolphins scored first on a 35-yard pass from Willie Carney to Kenny Langley. Leroy Harris ran over the fateful PAT that eventually won the game.

Langley scored again on a 15-yard interception return for the Dolphins. The Steelers then scored on a 17-yard pass from Darrell Green to Jimmy Jones.

In the second half the Steelers came up with two touchdowns to take the lead, 18-13. Jones scored on a 21-yard run, and Green hit Jones with a 31-yard bomb for the other score.

But the Dolphins came back with a 10-yard interception return, again by Langley to win it.

The Green handed the Blue their first loss in the tackle program with a 24-20 victory.

The Blue scored first on a 42-yard run by Reggie Selby. But the Green came up with two in the half to take the lead. Danny Carmon ran two yards for one, and Stuart Mottsinger passed 15 yards to Willie Jones for the other.

In the second half, Green got its other two touchdowns first. Carmon scored from 52 out, and Mottsinger from a yard away.

The Blue came back with two, as Selby ran a yard, and on a 63-yard pass from Joey Mattheis to Calvin Paige. Mattheis got the PAT, but Blue couldn't avoid the loss.

Aycock In Last Win

WINDSOR—E. B. Aycock Junior High School won its second game of the season yesterday, closing out the year with a 22-8 win over Bertie Junior High.

The win left Aycock with a 2-1 record on the season.

Aycock scored in each of the first three periods, while Bertie's lone score came in the final frame.

Fred Ayers put Aycock on top in the opening period of the game with a nine-yard run. He picked up the two-point conversion to up it to 8-0.

Ayers also scored the second touchdown, this one from six yards out. Mike Joyner ran the PAT making it 16-0 at the half.

The final Phantom score came when MacDonald Blount raced 20 yards to the end zone. That made it 22-0 after the PAT try failed.

The lone Bertie score came on Jack Curlings nine-yard run. He passed to Larry Phillips for the two-pointer, ending the scoring. E. B. Aycock 8 8 6 0-22 Bertie 0 0 0 8-8

Net Event Scheduled

The Greenville Tennis Club and the Greenville Recreation Department will be the hosts for a Junior Novice Tournament this weekend at the Elm Street Courts.

Three boys' events will be held, 18 and under, 16 and under, and 14 and under. Girls' events will be only 16 and under.

Players are expected to compete from all over the state. A consolation flight will be held for all first round winners.

The event will begin at 9 a.m. with initial matches at Elm Street, College Hill, and Eastern Elementary School. On Sunday, semi-finals and finals of all flights will take place at Elm Street.

Details of the matches are posted at the Elm Street bulletin board.

Bucs Eleventh In Rushing

It'll be the ground game against the aerial attack Saturday when East Carolina University invades City Stadium in Richmond, Va., to meet the University of Richmond Spiders.

The Pirates have the leading ground game in the Southern Conference, and are ranked 11th nationally. The Bucs are picking up 288 yards a game on the ground.

At the same time, the University of Richmond has the number one passing attack, picking up 168.1 yards a game through the air. And quarterback Harry Knight is the leader in the league both in total offense and in passing. He also ranks nationally in both.

Knight is averaging 160.1 yards per game, and has completed 12.1 passes per contest. That puts him 15th nationally passing and 23rd in total offense.

The Pirates are third in the loop in total offense, with a 314.3 average. Furman continues to lead the league with 331.8 while William & Mary is second at 314.9. Richmond ranks fifth at 298.4.

In rushing, Richmond is picking up just 130.3 yards a game, seventh in the conference. But at the same time, while the Spiders lead in passing East Carolina is eighth in rushing, with a 26.3 yard average.

The Pirates are the top team in scoring, averaging 24.5 points a game. Richmond stands fourth with an 18.7 mark.

Defensively, Furman continues to lead the league, allowing 236.0 per game. ECU is third at 278.0, followed by Richmond in fifth at 353.3.

Against the rush, Richmond trails the top ranked Bucs in sixth place. East Carolina is allowing 162.3 per game, and Richmond, 260.7.

But in passing, Richmond is fourth, giving up 92.6 yards a game and ECU is sixth with a 115.8 mark. Furman is best 65.1 yards a game.

Against scoring, the Pirates are tops, giving up 14.5 points a game. Richmond is seventh, 25.6 per game.

Individually, Mike Weaver of East Carolina is ninth in total offense with a 75.6 per game average.

An eight year old that doesn't cost its age.

State College. Weaver, 29, who was in his first year at Villanova, was an assistant to Joe Paterno at Penn State for six years. He will be succeeded by Lou Ferry, who resigned last November but remained on Weaver's staff as defensive line coach.

Dr. Ted Aceto, Villanova athletic director, said Weaver was fired because "of a contractual conflict which interfered with his interests at Villanova."

North Carolina State is 7-2 after beating South Carolina 42-27 last week. The State Wolfpack got votes in this week's national poll, but not enough to make the top 20. It had been in that select list, but was dropped after defeats by North Carolina and Maryland before the South Carolina game.

In Penn State the Wolfpack is meeting a team that is ranked No. 7 on a 7-1 record and which beat Maryland 24-17.

Although Wake Forest is 0-8 this year and 0-10 since last November, is hasn't lost to Duke in the last four years. The Wake Forest Deacons tied the Duke Blue Devils 7-7 last November on a last-period score. So Duke is the last team that didn't beat Wake Forest.

Defector Was Told He Would Find Starvation

By MIKE WATERS
Associated Press Writer
LOCUST, N.J. (AP) — Simas Kudirka came to the United States expecting to find his new country wracked by starvation. That was what propaganda in the Soviet Union told him to expect, the 44-year-old Lithuanian seaman who was freed from a treason sentence said Wednesday, his first full day in the United States.

He said he wanted some firsthand information, so he went shopping to see if there was a shortage of food and to find out whether the quality of food in this country was poor.

"That certainly is not the case," said Kudirka, whose Soviet prison diet was such that his teeth began to rot.

Soviet propaganda depicts the United States as gripped by massive unemployment and starvation and its workers as under the thumb of factory supervisors "who want to squeeze out the last bit of blood from workers for their personal gains and who, with automation ... want to get rid of workers," Kudirka said.

He attempted to escape to the United States four years ago only to be returned to the Soviets by the Coast Guard. He was declared a U.S. citizen while in a Soviet prison.

He is temporarily staying with one of the families who worked for his release to the United States. Kudirka, his wife, two children and mother arrived Tuesday from Moscow. Still groping with adjustment, he said he has to "find out what I'm going to do for a job, what my wife is going to do for a job, about school for my children and where we are going to live."

Kudirka said in an interview conducted through an interpreter that the Russians were stopped twice from killing him when he attempted to escape to the United States by boarding a U.S. Coast Guard cutter from his Soviet fishing trawler anchored off the Massachusetts coast and asking for asylum.

When the Russians were permitted by the cutter's captain to come aboard and arrest him, they tried "to hang me with a telephone wire (electric cable) and a Coast Guardsman stopped them by separating them and trying to get them to stop it.

"After I was back on the Russian ship, they tried to kill me until someone screamed that they had to stop because I had to be brought back," Kudirka said.

He said he was shipped back to his port in Lithuania on another boat in a room used for sailors who go insane at sea.

Kudirka said he was convicted for treason and sent to prison for a 10-year term.

He was declared a U.S. citizen two months after the State Department gave the same status to his Brooklyn-born mother, who was taken to Lithuania by her parents before World War II.

Described New Center

This past Sunday morning the Immanuel Baptist Church Men's Brotherhood held its monthly breakfast combining the meeting with the Women's Missionary Union.

Mike Halthcock accompanied by Miss Melinda Daniels began the program with vocal musical selections. Mrs. Janet Duffy, of the Pitt County Information Center, spoke of the new office which she is establishing under the auspices of Sheppard Memorial Library.

The center is a referral source dealing with individual problems. Mrs. Duffy outlined the history, development, programs and kinds of inquiries already received as well as the kinds of resources available. The office can be contacted by visit or by telephone at 752-1111.

Mrs. Duffy told the men's group that churches in the community could help by providing clothes, escort services and other services.

She stressed the nature of the work and that the office is not providing counseling or advice, but helps individuals determine how to get the help they need in personal matters.

Investigate 2 Collisions

An estimated $2,700 property damage resulted yesterday from two collisions investigated by Greenville police.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 4 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth and Pitt Streets involving cars driven by Donald Stencil Brady of Midway Park; Fair Hunter Boyd of Route 6, Greenville and Emma Lou Clemons of 406A Darden Dr.

Officers, who carged Brady with failing to stop for a red light, estimated damage at $200 to the Brady car, $300 to the Boyd car and $150 to the Clemons vehicle.

Brady was reported injured in the collision.

No charges were placed following investigation of a 9:04 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Hooker Road.

Officers identified drivers involved as Eve Underwood Lape of New Bern and Larry James Pierce of 830 Fleming St.

Damage was estimated at $250 to the Lape car, while no damage resulted to the truck driven by Pierce.

Inaction Seen By 'Lame Ducks'

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping gains Democrats scored in Congress, especially in the House, could mean that the lawmakers will do little more than mark time in the lame-duck session that opens

Nov. 18. Major decisions on economic and social programs, most of which had little chance of enactment this year in any case, are more likely than ever to be left to the more Democratic, more liberal and young, er Congress that will convene in January.

There will be a strong effort in the Senate to conclude action this year on the foreign trade bill, which the House has passed and which was brought to the verge of Senate approval by a compromise on Soviet emigration policies.

Some senators also have promised to try to attach to any available House bill some version of the tax on oil company windfall profits, which has been stymied in the House.

But wide-ranging tax revision, a national health plan, strengthening of the unemployment compensation system and a big public service job program are issues likely to be left to a Congress where more sweeping solutions could have more support.

It was increasingly doubtful that Congress would conclude action this year on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president.

The Senate may finish its part, even though additional hearings have been scheduled. In the House, where the Judiciary Committee has not begun hearings, it seemed likely that the final vote would come in 1975.

In the Congress that convenes in January, Democrats are assured at least 291 House seats, more than two-thirds, with three races still unsettled. In the Senate, they will have at least 61 out of 100.

President Ford and Democratic congressional leaders exchanged post-election statements pledging cooperation in solving the nation's problems, but the record gave no assurance they will see eye to eye on the methods.

Senate Leader Mike Mansfield told Ford, "I would hope ... now that the election is over we will be able to get together and work cooperatively. I know you want to, I know the Senate wants to and I feel sure the House wants to."

"Let me assure you that will be the case," Ford replied.

After a House leadership conference at which Speaker Carl Albert was reported to have urged that solving the economic problems be put ahead of partisan interests, an aide said, "The name of the game is going to be compromise."

"We may make suggestions, but if anything is to be done, Ford is going to have to agree."

Low Turnout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voter turnout for Tuesday's elections fell to the lowest level of any year since 1946, with an unofficial count showing that 38 per cent of the voting age population cast ballots.

"It's disheartening that voters personally affected both by Watergate and our economic crisis did not turn out in higher numbers," Ruth Clusen, president of the League of Women Voters, said Wednesday.

The turnout Tuesday, tabulated in an Associated Press survey, was the lowest since 1946 when 37.1 per cent of the voting age population exercised the right to vote, according to U.S. Census Bureau figures. The lowest figure on record is 32.5 per cent for 1942, when millions of men were away from home because of mobilization for World War II.

The official figure for Tuesday may turn out to be less than 38 per cent.

Set Watershed Workshop Here

A watershed workshop designed to inform project sponsors, urban planners and other government officials, environmental groups and the public at large on watershed projects will be held in Greenville on Nov. 19 at Parkers Barbecue Restaurant located on South Memorial Drive.

The workshop was announced today by William G. Greenlee of Marion, chairman of the Watershed Committee of the State Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, and by Jesse L. Hicks of Raleigh, who heads the Soil Conservation Service in North Carolina.

The workshop will begin at 10:00 a.m. and close at 3:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend and to contribute ideas.

A question and answer period will be a key part of the session. In addition, Executive Director Leonard Solomon on the Oklahoma Conservation Commission will discuss watershed work in Oklahoma. Conetoe Creek Watershed Project in Pitt and Edgecombe Counties will also be discussed.

"We think this workshop, with knowledgeable people on hand to supply scientific information, will contribute to the general knowledge of people interested in flood prevention and related resource conservation in North Carolina," Chairman Greenlee commented. "We hope a representative group will be on hand at the workshop."

Represent ECU At Statewide Home Ec Meet

A delegation from East Carolina University was active in the program events at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Home Economics Association in Wilmington last week.

Attending the meeting from ECU were Dr. Miriam B. Moore, dean of the ECU School of Home Economics, and faculty members Rosalie Splitter, Geneva Yadav and Cheryl Hausauf. They were accompanied by 16 students.

Dean Moore, past president of the association, was honored at a banquet Friday evening for past presidents, and was a program participant for a workshop session at the convention.

Ms. Yadav, acting chairman of the ECU Department of Clothing and Textiles, was designated advisor elect for the 12-campus NCHEA student section for 1975.

GOP Senators Say Party Must Broaden Its Base

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Three moderate Republican senators say the GOP must broaden its base and offer specific economic programs if it hopes to rebound from off-year election defeats that left its national strength at a 10-year low.

The statements from Sens. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland came as President Ford and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield pledged cooperation Wednesday despite a general expectation of conflict over economic programs.

Democratic leaders, meanwhile, gave every indication they will set their own agenda, headed by national health insurance, tax reform and an expanded public service jobs program, when the 94th Congress meets in January.

"There is an inherent weakness in the entire structure of the Republican party," Weicker declared. "They are not going to win any election until they broaden the base of their party."

Percy, sounding a bit like the presidential contender he hoped to be before Ford succeeded Richard M. Nixon, said, "The Republican party can rebound, but only by developing a distinct set of programs that realistically attack the problems, especially the crunching economic problems, that confront us all."

Mathias, saying that he had received support from blacks, labor and ethnic groups in his re-election, said he intends to see that the national GOP "does reach out" to such groups.

Turnout for this election was the lightest for any year since at least 1946, with an unofficial count showing 38 per cent of the voting age population cast ballots.

Nearly complete election returns showed Democrats fell short of their predicted pre-election gains by the narrowest of margins, especially in the Senate, where Republicans led three Senate races by a total of less than 1,300 votes.

GOP victories in all three — North Dakota, New Hampshire and Nevada — would keep the net Democratic Senate gain to three, from 58 to 61. Democratic victories could swell the gains as high as six, to 64.

In two other Senate races, one led by each party, the margin was less than 5,000 votes. And in five governorship contests, too, the unofficial margin was less than 5,000.

This was the standing:

—Senate: Democrats captured four Republican seats, in Florida, Colorado, Kentucky and Vermont, but trailed for one in Nevada they now hold. That left them with an assured 61 seats in the new Senate, the 11th straight under Democratic control.

—House: The net Democratic gains, exceeding pre-election forecasts, stood at 43, meaning the new House will have at least 291 Democrats. Three races remained undecided. The Democratic total barely missed matching the 295 in Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 landslide, the largest total won by either party since 1936.

—Governors: Democrats captured nine, while losing three to the Republicans and a fourth to an independent, in Maine. Another Democrat trailed, indicating the new standing would be 36 Democrats, 13 Republicans and one independent, surpassing the 35 Democrats defeated Republican Jack Eckerd.

In the governor's races, too, Republicans appeared beneficiaries in close contests, leading or capturing three of the five races where margins were less than 5,000.

In Alaska, the outcome of a close race between Republican Jay Hammond and Democratic Gov. William A. Egan was in doubt pending late returns from remote bush precincts.

In Arizona and New Mexico, the winning margins of Democrats Raul Castro and Jerry Apodaca were 4,113 and 2,530, respectively.

In Kansas and New Hampshire, Republicans Robert F. Bennett and Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr. won by 4,485 and 4,145, respectively.

And in one of the biggest surprises, former Gov. James A. Rhodes recaptured the Ohio governorship from Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan, though ballots were impounded and a recount was planned after Rhodes won an unofficial 14,838-vote margin out of nearly 3 million votes cast.

With the last votes trickling in, most members of Congress, especially the leaders, were looking to the future.

House Speaker Carl Albert,

as the main issue and said "the mandate of the electorate places upon the next Congress a full measure of responsibility of resolving this problem."

The Democratic landslide continued on to the state level, with Democrats winning control of at least one state house in each of 12 states while increasing their majorities in 19 others.

Democrats took over at least one chamber in Arizona, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Utah, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Charles V. "Chuck" Farley, a native of Beckley, West Virginia, has joined the Alcoholism Services staff in the Eastern Regional Mental Health Services office in Greenville.

Wade H. Williams, Jr., Eastern Regional Alcoholism Director, said Farley is filling the position of Program Planner-Developer left vacant when Dabney Overton, Jr. was appointed to the position of Director of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Unit (ARU) at Cherry Hospital, Goldsboro.

Farley will be assisting with the development of alcoholism programs where needed throughout the 32-county Eastern Region and will specifically be working closely with alcoholism services in the 13 mental health centers.

Objects To TeacherRule

RALEIGH (AP)—Requiring private school teachers to meet the same certification standards as public school teachers could interfere with their mission, the administrator of Calvary Christian Church in Southern Pines told a legislative committee Wednesday.

The Rev. Kent Kelly said, "We do not want our teachers involved in education courses which teach progressive education and include humanistic approaches to child psychology and social behavior."

He appeared before the Legislative Study Commission on public and private education. The board is considering the merits of requiring all teachers to have certain education courses to be certified. The requirement would affect a number of private schools.

Kelly gave the panel a petition which he said had 1,000 signatures supporting his stand. He also said "at least 65" of the 80 private Christian schools in the state support his stand.

The committee is to have a recommendation ready by Jan. 15, but that may be delayed.

About 150 people attended the meeting with Kelly.

Hopes That Ford Can Balance Budget 'Fading Fast'

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration hopes that President Ford can balance the federal budget for the first time in seven years as fading fast, Treasury Department officials believe.

They chiefly blame the sagging economy, which they feel will reduce the revenues the government would obtain in corporate and individual income taxes. In addition, they expect new spending pressures from Congress to ease recession and unemployment.

"My guess at the moment is that the revenue prospect for fiscal 1976 makes it difficult to assure a balanced budget for that year," said Sidney Jones, counselor to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

"The challenge for 1976 is to keep the spending side of the budget under control," said Jones in an interview. "There is a great risk of it getting out of hand."

Another key Treasury official, who did not want to be quoted by name, agreed with Jones' assessment that a balanced budget would be difficult to achieve, especially because of the sagging economy.

In addition, this official said Tuesday's election results, which gave substantial gains to the Democrats, means "we will end up with an extremely liberal 94th Congress.

"Congress will find it extremely difficult to resist big spending."

The Ford administration strategy will be to get as much of its economic program through the final weeks of the lame-duck 93rd Congress, including the 5 per cent income surtax, which already has met with considerable opposition.

Jones said the administration feels the Ford tax program — which also includes an increase in the investment tax credit and tax exemptions for dividends on preferred stock — will stand a better chance of passage in the existing Congress.

In a speech in Chicago Wednesday night, Simon said, in effect, that the existing Congress will be irresponsible if it fails to enact the Ford program promptly.

"If the Congress refuses to act in the next few weeks, we should recognize that position for what it is — a conscious, deliberate decision to let inflation rage on," Simon said.

He added that inflation has helped place the American free enterprise system "in grave danger today."

Simon said the administration will not retreat from its program, despite the election results, although it will be willing to compromise on some points, "especially on details."

But Simon, Jones and other officials made clear the administration will fight any move in the next Congress to reimpose wage and price controls, although they acknowledged there might be increased pressure for such controls.

Treasury officials, who did not want to be quoted, believe the administration would compromise with Congress on the 5 per cent surtax proposal, to have it apply to family incomes above $20,000 or $25,000, instead of $15,000 as originally proposed.

Queuing to tour J. Paul Getty's home, Sutton Place, England: appreciative visitor snaps welcoming statue.

AP Newsfeatures.

VISITORS' DAY

It's not every day you're invited to visit a Tudor mansion which is the home of the richest man in the world. In fact, it does happen — not more than a couple of days a year, though — when J. Paul Getty, the American oil magnate, opens Sutton Place, in Surrey near London, to sightseers. It's always for a good cause, a local or national charity. This time, visitors' entry money of just over $1 a head went to a local disabled persons' fund.

Although it's a private home where Getty spends most of the year and not a museum, Sutton Place is a stately showplace with many treasures to view. There's the early 16th-century manor house itself, priceless works of art and furniture, and an idyllic parkland setting. Over 5,000 visitors came on this special day, to peer at the paintings, amble through the rose gardens and picnic on the velvety lawns.

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina Republicans, according to state chairman Thomas S. Bennett, are in much the same shape George Foreman found himself in during the eighth round in Zaire last week.

"We got to get up off the canvas; get to our corner, throw some water on our face and be able to answer the bell for the next round."

Bennett was able to smile, albeit somewhat painfully, as he discussed the carnage of Tuesday's election sweep for the Democrats.

The lopsided loss of Senate candidate William Stevens was just the tip of the iceberg. Republicans also lost control of the Justice Department.

But the losses went deeper. They lost all but 11 members of the state legislature. They lost 20 of their 24 sheriffs, according to Bennett's count; they lost numerous county and local offices.

In one disastrous day went most of the gains the party had painstakingly amassed in the past 10 years.

The immediate impact of the loss is shock at its magnitude. When that wears off, more problems will face Bennett and his patron, Gov. Jim Holshouser.

Within their own party, there are certain recriminations in store. The 1974 campaign effort was produced and directed by Holshouser and his hand-picked candidates and GOP officials.

Bennett said he believes the GOP ran a good campaign but simply was swamped in a national tide brought on by Watergate and the faltering economy.

He is probably right, but that will probably not stop the conservative wing of the party from using the loss as a bloody shirt in an effort to gain control of the party.

Holshouser, meanwhile will face a legislature in which his own party is an insignificant minority. Governors generally lose prestige in the second half of their terms.

Holshouser put his personal prestige on the line to campaign for numerous GOP legislative candidates. Their losses are bound to hurt him.

On the other hand, the Republican losses may have set the party up well for 1976. In both Raleigh and Washington, now, the Democrats are definitely the party in power.

As such, they will bear the responsibility for the state of the economy two years hence. If, as seems likely, the economy is less than robust, it may help Republicans to bounce back as they did in 1966.

Morgan alluded to that problem in his victory news conference. With Tuesday's victory, he said, come great responsibilities.

The continuance of the Democratic resurgence, he predicted, will depend in large part on the success the party has in managing the economy from the legislative branch, not an easy task.

Morgan himself has a chance to reshape the Democratic party in the next two years, although he says he doesn't want to. He unified it behind his candidacy and restored its hegemony. In the absence of a governor, he can dictate the choice of the next party chairman.

New Booklet Lists Services Of SCS

The USDA Soil Conservation Service has just published a new 16-page illustrated booklet which tells of services available from the federal conservation agency in North Carolina, it was announced today by State Conservationist Jesse L. Hicks of Raleigh.

The booklet, prepared by Emmett R. Waller of the SCS resource conservation staff, deals with natural resources in North Carolina. The booklet is entitled: "Conservation Districts Can Help Local Governments Plan and Develop Their Resources" but contains information useful to individual citizens as well.

Copies of the booklet are available without charge through local SCS offices or local soil and water conservation districts.

The booklet covers soil surveys, inventories of local resources, locations for housing, and planning assistance. A special section deals with sediment control, a major responsibility now facing all local government units in North Carolina following the passage of statewide legislation on sedimentation control.

Watershed projects, useful for flood prevention and other purposes including recreation and public facilities, are discussed.

A special section deals with the popular resource conservation and development projects, which are already functional in every part of North Carolina and have a number of applications awaiting approval.

The booklet tells how to obtain technical assistance on any of these subjects as well as related natural resource conservation activities.

Board Authorized School Bond Sale

WILLIAMSTON—Martin County Commissioners, in their November meeting, authorized the sale of $1,350,000 in school bonds. This sale represents bond money available from a $4 million bond issue approved by Martin County voters two years ago for a building construction program for the county schools.

In another education-related agenda item, commissioners approved a local bill to be presented to the next General Assembly, that would add a seventh member to the current six member Board of Education. The new member would be an "at large" member.

With no objections registered at a public hearing held on the matter, commissioners will move ahead to establish a new county-wide planning board. The make-up of such a board will comprise two persons from each of the townships in Martin County.

Also approved at the November meeting was participation by the county in the Federal Emergency Flood Control Policy. This approval will put the county in line to receive emergency funds under applicable conditions.

Government Seeks To Break Up IBM

NEW YORK (AP)—Government lawyers say the giant International Business Machines Corp. has cornered 73 per cent of the nation's computer market, and must be broken up if competition in the industry is to be encouraged.

On a pretrial brief filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court, the Justice Department lawyers accused IBM of monopolistic price and marketing practices.

"This ability to price manipulate as shown in IBM documents and as IBM competitors will describe at the trial, is a recognized indication of monopoly," the brief said.

The government brought an antitrust action against IBM in 1969, and lawyers for both sides have met many times since then with federal Judge David Edelstein in an attempt to either reach a consent agreement or narrow the scope of the issues to be brought up in the trial.

However, in the new brief the government asked the judge to order "a restructuring of the firm, "charging that IBM employs monopolistic practices in all of its major computer markets. The government did not indicate how it wanted IBM broken up.

Cited in the brief was IBM's practice of leasing rather than selling its computers.

In the brief the government contended leasing was less profitable, but was preferred because it restricts possible competition.

More Pledged To Charities By Rockefeller
NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller and his brothers gave $11.7 million to charity and pledged millions more in 1973.

The money actually dispensed was made known Wednesday in a report by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, one of dozens of trusts that serve as repositories for the Rockefeller fortune.

The report did not say to whom the largest was directed, but the largest pledge disclosed was $10,163,772 to Rockefeller University. The second largest pledge went to Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, of which Laurence Rockefeller is chairman and where Nelson's wife recently underwent surgery for removal of a cancerous breast.

Middleton New Region Chairman
Dr. David Middleton, Dean of Continuing Education at East Carolina University, has recently been elected Chairman of Region III, the National University Extension Association. Region III comprises 50 member universities from Virginia through the Southeast to Texas.

Dr. Middleton has also been elected to the National Board of Directors of NUEA.

Officers Named By Seal Society

The Northeast Easter Seal Society has elected George Hamilton of Greenville as its president.

Other officers elected during a recent Board meeting are Dr. Jack Harrell of Kinston, vice president; Mrs. Gaynor Mills of Greenville, first vice president; George Dill of Washington, treasurer; and Alice Keene, secretary. Other members of the Board of Directors are the Rev. Allen Wentz of Murfreesboro, Vann Latham of Greenville, Betty Nelson of Washington, Dan Cowley of Goldsboro, Mrs. Ruth Roberson of Washington, and Reed Thompson of Goldsboro.

All Board members are active volunteers in their own local areas in the Easter Seal campaign. Easter Seals is a year-round service organization for physically handicapped persons. It provides summer residential camps, information and referral to clients about services available to them, purchase of speech, occupational, and physical therapy; transportation, family camping, equipment loans, purchase of aids and appliances, and summer experience programs for high school students who say they are interested in careers in the health field.

"Easter Seal volunteers feel that people who need help need it immediately," Susan Clark, secretary of the Northeast Easter Seal Society, said. She can provide more information if one will contact her at her office at 315 W. Second Street in Greenville. Her mailing address is Box 1391, Greenville.

Harmony Call By Baptists

RALEIGH (AP)—For the second time in their histories, the black and white North Carolina Baptist conventions jointly began their annual meetings in Raleigh and called for racial harmony.

The first time the two groups met jointly was a decade ago. Raleigh Mayor Clarence Lightner welcomed the Baptist groups and said they are "two of the most important organizations in our state."

Theodore Adams, visiting professor of preaching at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest called on further efforts. "These joint sessions should not be an end in ourselves, but a furthering of the fellowship we know in Jesus Christ."

The Rev. C.R. Edwards of Fayetteville, president of the black General Baptist State Convention, said, "The world is too small for anything but truth and too small for anything but brotherhood."

The white organization is known as the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. Some 2,800 persons attended Wednesday night's session.

Dita Beard In Hospital Again

DENVER (AP)—Dita Beard, the lobbyist whose memo allegedly linked International Telephone & Telegraph's antitrust settlement to a Republican party donation, has been back in the hospital.

She was hospitalized here in 1972, when news reports said she was visited by Watergate burglar and White House plumber E. Howard Hunt disguised in a red wig.

Mrs. Beard ended her current stay at Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital on Wednesday, but her doctor declined to say what she was treated for.

The bidding:

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.

It always seems right to ruff a loser with a low trump. However, it is not always wise to do this at the first opportunity. On occasion, you may need your low trump for more important duties.

North-South reached game with a minimum of fuss. The key bid in the auction was North's raise to two hearts with only three trumps. The alternative bid of one no trump would appeal to many, but this department prefers the raise with three trumps to an honor when the hand contains a ruffing value—as it does here in diamonds.

West led the ten of spades, and to declarer it seemed that the only problem lay in holding his diamond losers to one. That could be accomplished by ruffing the third diamond in dummy. With no further thought, declarer won the king of spades in dummy and led the king of diamonds. East took the ace and returned a spade. Declarer won in dummy, led a diamond to his queen, and ruffed a diamond low. Now, he cashed the queen of trumps, but when West showed out declarer realized that he would have to lose a trump as well as two clubs, for down one.

The 4-0 trump break was most unfortunate, but declarer could have overcome that had he not ruffed a diamond. After winning the first spade trick, correct technique is first to cash the queen of hearts. If both opponents follow, declarer knows trumps can be no worse than 3-1, and so he proceeds to ruff a diamond as before.

However, when West fails to follow to the first trump, declarer must put all dummy's trumps to work in picking up East's trumps. He cannot afford to ruff a diamond in dummy for that would leave dummy a trump short for this primary goal. Another method must be found to avoid the diamond loser.

The winning line is for declarer to continue hearts at trick three. East splits his honors, declarer wins, re-enters dummy with the remaining high spades and leads dummy's last trump, drawing East's trumps with the help of a marked finesse. Now all that remains is to lead a low diamond to dummy's ten, and when that forces the ace declarer is home.

Minneapolis Mad Over New Symphonic Auditorium

STANISLAW SKROWACZEWSKI and the Minnesota Orchestra are seen in Minneapolis Orchestra Hall, possibly the best of America's new symphonic auditoriums. Faceted plaster cubes which flow upward on the stage wall and cross the ceiling to the very back of the theater, diffuse sound evenly throughout the hall. (UPI Telephoto)

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minneapolis, which has demonstrated a liking for quality in contemporary architecture, now boasts what may be the best of America's new symphonic auditoriums.

Orchestra Hall, home of the 71-year-old Minnesota Orchestra, delighted Minneapolitans when it opened last week. After the dead, muddy sound they were used to at Northrup Auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus, the bright and ex-citingly defined sound of 2,573-seat Orchestra Hall was a revelation, well worth the $9.5 million construction bill. Altogether, the new development will cost $13.5 million, of which 80 per cent already has been raised in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

The hall is one of the best insulated against outside sound and vibration in the nation. The brick-walled auditorium stands independently by an inch from the wrap-around "support structure" of aluminum and glass, housing lobby-office backstage facilities. The "sound lock" construction, which eliminated metal in favor of wood and heavy plaster in the auditorium, was designed and supervised by Dr. Cyril Harris, the New York acoustician responsible for the Metropolitan Opera House and Washington's Kennedy Center. Orchestra Hall's stage is not embraced by a proscenium or backed by an acoustic shell. Instead, faceted plaster cubes flow upward on the stage wall and across the ceiling to the very back of the theater as though scattered by an explosion in a sugar bowl. The cubes diffuse sound evenly throughout the hall so effectively that other post-World War II halls, particularly Fisher Hall at New York's Lincoln Center, have every right to be envious.

"In fact, it's going to take several months for the orchestra to get used to its new sound," orchestra conductor Stanislaw Skrowaczewski said. "I have been moving musicians around so often to get the best balance that they almost rioted. It's a great hall for tone quality range but how great we don't yet know."

October was a red letter month for construction-mad Minneapolis. It marked the opening of the $26 million Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts Park, which includes the enlarged Minneapolis Institute of Arts, a new plant for the 580-student Minneapolis College of Art and Design, and a handsome 736-seat theater and school for the 50-member professional Children's Theatre Company, which is unique in the United States. Ninety per cent of the cost of this complex has been raised.

Japanese architect Kenzo Tange has coordinated the new and existing buildings in harmonies of white glazed brick, glass, courts, plazas, and bridges. The art institute, whose original 60-year-old neoclassic building has been retained, has tripled exhibition space with two wings and now takes its place as one of the nation's most modern museum plants. Its collection is strong in Western European, American and Oriental art.

The city's other notable museum, the Walker Art Center, is housed in a two-year-old plum-colored brick cluster with spacious galleries arranged in pinwheel pattern. Artists and critics consider Edward Larrabee Barnes' virtuoso structure the best showcase for outsized contemporary art in the country. It is linked to the Guthrie Theater, a thrust-stage classic designed by Minneapolis architect Ralph Rapson in 1961. Minneapolis' commercial center is rapidly becoming an open-air exhibition of distinguished modern architecture. Philip Johnson, designer of New York's Seagram building, and John Burgee have given the city a shimmering new skyscraper, 57 stories of reflective glass.

Among the new structures surrounding this tower, many connected by planted malls and glassed-in pedestrian skyways, is an airy office building by Japanese American Minoru Yamasaki and a bank of suspension construction devised by Latvian-born Gunnar Birkerts.

"The people here put quality ahead of any other consideration when planning a new building," said Edwin E. Stein, president and chairman of the board of the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts. "There is tremendous public spirit in Minneapolis. People haven't made fortunes, then moved away, to bigger metropolises. They've stayed and are still making a tremendous contribution to the city's progress."

Move Trial For Turner

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Supersalesman Glenn W. Turner and seven associates will be tried for a second time on federal mail-fraud charges. But this time the trial will be in Tampa.

The trial was transferred from Jacksonville to U.S. District Court Judge W. Terrell Hodges of Tampa.

The transfer order was issued Wednesday by U.S. District Court Judge George C. Young, chief judge of the Middle District of Florida.

The first trial, before U.S. District Court Judge Gerald Tjoflat, lasted more than eight months and ended in a hung jury.

It was not clear whether Young's order also would apply to Boston criminal attorney F. Lee Bailey. Bailey, indicted with the others, had his case severed midway through the first trial.

The Tampa Tribune has quoted sources as saying that Bailey would be tried in January with the others unless Hodges issues a new severance ruling.

The defendants were indicted on charges of using the mails to defraud persons "too numerous to mention" in the sale of distributorships in Turner's cosmetics and motivational businesses.

Sydney's Opera House Popular

By THOMAS KENT
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The orchestra pit is too small. The air conditioning is erratic. And the whole enterprise is substantially in the red.

But Sydneysiders, as the people who live here are called, remain ecstatic about the Sydney Opera House, one year old and among the most talked-about arts centers in the world. The bright white building with its sail-like roofs rising above Sydney Harbor — which means there's no space for a parking lot around it — has hosted grand opera, a hair-dressing competition, rock concerts and symphony orchestras in the past year.

Guided tours of the building are booked up months in advance, and Sydney cultural circles are convinced that the house has attracted to musical and theatrical events people who never would have attended them before.

More than 2½ million people to date have attended performances, concerts, tours and other events in the opera house. And officials like to point out that during a 17-performance opera festival in January all seats were on a nonsubscription basis and all were sold out.

Practical problems persist, however, with the $120-million building, which opened Sept. 28, 1973, with the Australian Opera's performance of Prokofiev's "War and Peace." Some, like the air conditioning gremlins, will be cleared up soon but others are more serious.

"One of the worst problems is the orchestra pit in the opera theater," Opera House General Manager Frank Barnes said in an interview. "It now accommodates about 60 players, but you need 80 to 90 for a big-scale opera like 'Aida.'"

The proscenium opening in the 1,530-seat Opera Theater is only 40 feet, which also causes problems for operas with big casts.

"Aida" will be presented in January, and because of the pit difficulty the opera will have to be in the 2,700-seat Main Hall. That makes the Main Hall unavailable for its usual concert events.

Barnes said the opera house is looking for ways to expand the opera theater pit, but cables holding up the ceiling block expansion in some directions. Some of the musicians may wind up eventually with places under a stage overhang.

Barnes also said the build-

China-U.S. Coalition Effort Said Premature

By JOHN F. BARTON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials say the United States is interested in expanding bilateral trade with the People's Republic of China, but that any joint Washington-Peking effort to ease world food and energy problems would be premature. While bilateral trade with China is increasing faster than expected, these officials say, there have been no suggestions from Peking the two countries might cooperate to ease food and energy problems for developing nations.

The officials responded to suggestions by Dr. Harned Pettus Hoose, a consulting professor of international business at the graduate business school of the University of California. Hoose recently returned from Peking, where he met with Chinese officials.

U.S. officials said it was too early to attempt Hoose's proposal for Sino-American cooperation in providing emergency food, financing and medical supplies for developing nations, including joint reconstruction of ravaged areas in Asia, and in developing China's petroleum and mineral wealth with U.S. technology.

"That type of cooperation is a long, long way down the road," one State Department source said. "Actually, they have not indicated any kind of interest in such cooperation."

Some officials expressed doubt that Peking would ever be interested in such cooperative ventures because of deep political differences with the United States. They also noted that China, rather than invite U.S. development of Chinese petroleum fields, recently used the forum of the United Nations to congratulate Arab nations for using oil as a political weapon against the industrialized West.

China experts within the State Department note that self-reliance is a major virtue in China, and that Peking's leaders historically have taken pride in doing things themselves.

For this reason, U.S. officials are pleasantly surprised at the unexpected pace of growth in trade between the two countries, although they say they cannot explain it. The latest Commerce Department figures indicate that two-way trade will rise from a few million dollars annually before the 1972 diplomatic breakthrough to $1 billion by the end of 1974 and will soon surpass China's volume of trade with the Soviet Union.

Forger Escapes Prisons Unit

RALEIGH (AP)—A man serving a three-to-five year term on a forgery conviction escaped from the Orange County unit of the state prison system Wednesday night, prison officials said.

He was identified as Roger Dale Gilbert, 25, of Hillsboro. Officials said he was an honor prisoner and began his sentence in June.

Thornsby. . . Wheeler Airlines Has Record Flight Month

"He must agree with me. He hasn't said a word since he came in!"

Wheeler Airlines carried a record number of passengers during October, the first full month of operations with added stops at Elizabeth City and Norfolk.

The airline's coordinating committee meeting here Monday heard a report that passengers carried for the month reached almost 1,000, an increase of 65 per cent over the previous highest month.

Warren Wheeler, president of the commuter carrier based at Raleigh-Durham Airport, said the traffic was ahead of predictions made before the Norfolk route started.

At the same time, Wheeler said traffic to Morehead City has held up well ahead of the 1973 total. As a result, service to Morehead City will be maintained at the current level rather than making the usual winter cutback.

James Little of the Greenville-Pitt Airport Commission is chairman of the airline's coordinating committee and presided over the meeting. Jack Hawke, co-chairman of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission which recently granted the line $140,000 for operating expenses, also attended the meeting.

Others on the committee at Monday's meeting included Thomas Willis of Greenville, John Booth of Raleigh, Willard G. Plentl, Bud Watkins of Elizabeth City, Roy Stevens, Morehead City, Henry E. Boyd, Raleigh, Pyra Newell and Kenneth Scott, Norfolk.

Model Airplanes Race On Sunday

The second annual Greenville Pylon Races—an event involving radio controlled model airplanes—will be held Sunday at the flight field just east of Greenville off U.S. 264, in the Eastern Pines community.

The Greenville Flight Club, whose members build and fly model airplanes, are sponsoring the sport pylon and quarter midget race, sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics. All planes flown in the competition Sunday will be radio controlled. There will be several planes flying at one time, and at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour during the races.

Entries from North and South Carolina and Virginia are expected for the event. Prizes will be awarded winners.

There will be no admission charged for spectators. However, club officials suggested that persons attending the races should bring portable chairs as no seats are available at the site. The program gets under way at 9 a.m. and is scheduled to continue until 5 p.m.

There will be a concession stand with hot food and beverages at the race site.

Persons attending the races should travel U.S. 264 East of Greenville and turn onto rural road 1726 near Pinewood Cemetery, then turn East on rural road 1727. Signs will be displayed directing traffic to the race site.

Set Recital For Sunday

A recital of church-music by ECU School of Music Senior student Kenneth O. Woodard, Jr. of Raleigh will take place at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville.

Woodard is a student of Dr. E. Robert Irwin and is currently serving as organist - choir director at the First Presbyterian Church.

Three compositions for organ will be performed by Woodard—the Chorale in B Minor by the late 19th century composer, Cesar Franck, J.S. Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor; and a 1937 composition by Paul Hindemith, Sonata No. 1 For Organ.

During a tour of military service with the Air Force, Woodard served as a chapel organist in Okinawa and as organist at the Balboa Union Church in the Panama Canal Zone.

The Woodard recital of church music is free and the public is invited to attend.
