

Legislators Expect Med School's OK

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

A number of legislators, who in the past have voiced support for an expanded medical school at East Carolina University, said today that they feel the 1975 General Assembly will approve a four-year degree granting program if it is recommended by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

UNC President William Friday last week recommended to the board's planning committee that the ECU medical school be expanded to a four-year program. That recommendation was approved by the planning group and will be presented to the full Board of Governors for their action Friday.

The 1974 General Assembly authorized expansion of the one-year medical education program to a two-year school. Legislators today said if the Board of Governors recommends the school be enlarged to a four-year facility such a move would be approved by the 1975 legislature.

Sen. Ralph Scott (D-Alamance) said, "I'm very much in favor of it and hope it can be worked out. I think to get more doctors, we're going to need another school."

The senator from Haw River — uncle of former Gov.

Bob Scott — said "it's going to be an awful close budget, but we're just going to have to put first things first."

Scott said he has "hope" the Advisory Budget Commission will put the request for funding a four-year school "in their budget recommendations. . . but the other (expansion of the school to a two-year program) wasn't in the budget. But I am in favor of doing it right while we are at it now. . . don't want no mess. I think it will be."

The senator added, "The people are ready for something to be done. You know, Eastern North Carolina is just beginning to grow."

"I'm glad to see all of them together on it and working towards a common goal."

Scott noted that action by the Board of Governors approving the proposed four-year school would be "smart all around, politically and because of the needs of the people."

Pitt Representative Horton Rountree said of Friday's proposal, "I think it's great," and added "I feel sure the General Assembly will find sufficient funds to start a building program immediately. The important thing is to get started. We've wasted too much time."

Rountree said, "The key to the entire operation is building. . . renovating

Ragsdale Hall as soon as possible (to house the program temporarily) and start with plans for a basic science medical building.

"It's obvious to me," he continued, "that the Board of Governors ought to take option on land adjacent to the new hospital site for the possibility of building a teaching hospital if it's necessary."

The legislator noted, "The whole thing should work in with the AHEC (Area Health Education Center) program to develop a medical center here, which would include the medical school, the AHEC program, metal health center, Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center and the Vocational Rehabilitation Center," as well as the new Pitt Memorial Hospital now under construction.

"In my opinion," according to Rountree, the development of the medical school and other health facilities "will make one of the finest medical centers. . . and equivalent to anything they have in Durham, Chapel Hill and Winston-Salem."

Rountree said he is confident that "if the Board of Governors will approve the program presented by Friday, the Advisory Budget Commission will appropriate funds — maybe not the entire $35 million — but sufficient funds to get this program off the ground with proper authorization to go to a four-year degree-granting institution."

Rep. J. Russell Kirby of Wilson said "I think it's (Friday's recommendation for a four-year program at ECU) is long past due myself

"The General Assembly" he continued, "has been going on record since 1965 in this very same area. I think it can lead now to a quick solution to the problems we've had in connection with another four year medical school."

According to Kirby, "over the years, the General Assembly has gone on record as approving the concept of a medical school at Greenville. I know of no reason to think this has changed, and "the four-year concept is really the only way to go. I think that has been obvious for many, many months."

The Wilson County legislator said "I think the needed budget will be provided."

He noted, "The Board of Governors makes recommendations for funding for all activities of the university system. At this point recommendations for a four-year school are not in there. (Continued on Page 14)

Coal Strike Shadow Over Resumed Contract Talks

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide coal strike cast its shadow for the first time today over resumption of contract talks between union and management representatives.

The strike by 120,000 United Mine Workers, another blow to the nation's battered economy, began at 12:01 a.m.

"The gut problems coal miners and their families face remain unsolved," UMW President Arnold Miller had said after the 83rd meeting with industry representatives broke up Monday. The 84th session began just after 10:30 a.m. today.

The strike, expected to last at least two to three weeks, could idle tens of thousands of workers in the railroad, steel and other basic industries.

The coal industry's chief negotiator, Guy Farmer, expressed disappointment but said some progress was made toward agreement on a new contract.

"Every day of progress brings it closer to an agreement," he said. "I believe definitely we can have it by the end of the week."

After negotiators reach a settlement, UMW members must ratify the proposed contract, a process the union says will take 10 days.

However, sources on both sides indicated they were still far apart on a number of key issues, including wages and other benefits.

A union source said another hangup involves the union's jurisdiction and the subcontracting of work to nonunion contractors. The source commented that the definition of its jurisdiction is "the heart and soul" of the union.

Miller was not as optimistic about the possibility of an early settlement as Farmer.

The UMW leader said, "As the strike goes on, industry knows, public pressure for intervention by the government will mount. Striking miners and their families will be feeling the bite of lost wages as the Christmas season approaches. . . .

"But I serve notice on the coal industry that no matter how great the pressure, coal miners will not be bludgeoned into accepting in the future a contract that is not acceptable now," he said.

Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan indicated that the government would not invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to order the miners back to work until the union members vote on a proposed settlement.

"If they turn down the contract and the strike looks like it's going on longer, then I think it's time for the government" to act, Brennan said.

At the White House, deputy press secretary John W. Hushen said there "certainly is concern on the part of the President about dislocations and hardships that will result from the strike. We continue to be hopeful that the collective bargaining process will work . . . The prospects for settlement are good."

Few members of the UMW, which accounts for three-fourths of the nation's coal production, worked Monday, which was observed as Veterans Day in many states. Mines began shutting down last Friday and Saturday as miners finished their week's work.

Sugar Boycott?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Organizers of last year's nationwide meat boycott have announced plans for a partial boycott of sugar in an effort to drive down prices.

Arline Mathews of American Consumers Together urged consumers not to buy sugar products on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the next several months. She also asked consumers not to buy sacks of sugar during the first seven days of December and January, although sugar products could be purchased during those periods.

"Our hope is consumers everywhere will cooperate in a venture that will profit them price-wise and health-wise," she said at a news conference Monday.

The price for five pounds of sugar has risen in the last year from 79 cents to $2.20 or more last week. Some retail officials say they expect the price to climb over $3 a bag in the near future.

"We have heard that the price of sugar may double again before it levels off," she said. "What we want to do is let speculators know — those investing in the futures market — that they are mistaken in investing in sugar. Sugar is not gold."

Cuba Sanctions Repeal By OAS Sees Failure

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Hemispheric foreign ministers failed today to muster enough votes to lift the Organization of American States' economic and political sanctions against Cuba.

"It's all over," said Costa Rica's Foreign Minister Gonzalo Fazio, one of the strongest backers of ending the sanctions.

"We have no further meeting plans," he told newsmen in the congressional palace here where the conference sponsored by OAS ends today.

After four days of meetings by foreign ministers of most of the OAS countries, it became evident Monday night that the proposal to end the 10-year-old quarantine against Fidel Castro's Communist regime could not get the 14 votes necessary for adoption.

A formal vote for the record was scheduled today before the end of the conference. But eight of the 21 delegations announced that they would abstain or vote against the proposal sponsored by Venezuela, Costa Rica and Colombia.

Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay came to Quito committed to opposing repeal of the embargo.

Nicaragua, Brazil and the United States announced early in the meeting that they would abstain. Cuba's supporters kept saying they were sure of victory until Monday; then Haiti and Guatemala announced they also would abstain because they felt Castro was still meddling in the domestic affairs of his neighbors.

Brazil, Chile and Uruguay proposed a recess "until such a time as the situation ripens a bit more." Diplomatic sources said they suggested another meeting in three months.

The repeal proposal's three sponsors asked the abstaining nations to try to draft a resolution satisfactory to themselves which would still enable the sanctions to be lifted. But nothing could be worked out at a meeting Monday night.

The OAS called on its members to break diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba in 1964 after finding Castro guilty of fomenting revolution in Venezuela. But the sanctions failed to bring down the Castro regime. More and more nations in the hemisphere have been moving toward normal relations with Havana, and Venezuela and its allies now contend that Castro is no longer trying to export revolution to the rest of Latin America.

Fear Many Dead As Ferry Sinks

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — A passenger ferry with hundreds of passengers aboard capsized and sank in a river 12 miles from Dacca with a heavy loss of life.

The accident occurred Monday, and the ferry was believed carrying at least 300 passengers. Some survivors said more than 200 persons traveling inside the boat were trapped, but a fireman who was on deck put the figure at more than 100.

Redevelopment Commission Officers Reelected

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
The annual election of officers to head the Redevelopment Commission for the coming year was held Monday night with the current slate renamed for another term.

Reelected chairman during the business session was Billy B. Laughinghouse, who has served on the local board since his appointment in April of 1967.

The commissioners, who were joined by new board member Mrs. Janice Buck following her appointment to succeed Herbert Wilkerson, reelected Jack Whichard for another tenure as vice chairman.

Joe Laney, who serves as executive director for the Commission as well as for the Housing Authority, was reappointed as secretary-treasurer.

Following the annual meeting, real estate officer Kirby Boyd reported during the regular session that two acquisitions were made in the Central Business District Project since the October meeting. Boyd said that possession was awarded in two condemnation cases on Dickinson Avenue parcels and no demolition took place in the CBD area.

Two parcels were acquired in the N.C. R-134 Southside Project, the real estate officer noted, and three structures were demolished in the project area.

Bid opening for Disposal Parcel E-1, a small, triangular-shaped tract adjoining Home Savings and Loan, was held recently with Home Savings submitting the only bid ($19,140). Commissioners approved the single bid.

Deputy director and CBD project manager T. I. Wagner reported that the northeast alleyway, located between Cotanche and Evans Street in block between Third and Fourth Streets, is nearing completion with only the last layer of concrete and the aggregate finish lacking.

Noting that landscaping work involving the shrubbery and trees is complete, Wagner said that the Commission hopes to have both the northeast and northwest alleyway (located on the west side of Evans between Third and Fourth Streets) completed by Thanksgiving.

The deputy director reported that work on the southeast alleyway on the east side of Evans between Fourth and Fifth and on the southwest section on the west side of Evans between Fourth and Fifth will not get underway until after the first of the year. The southwest alleyway will be the last segment of the work.

He added that the city is in the process of negotiating on the purchase of lights for the alleyways. It was originally hoped that the same type of lights that were installed in the Town Common could be used downtown but the price of the fixtures has gone up, he said. The city manager is negotiating for a cheaper, but similar, light for the alleyways, Wagner reported.

Wagner also noted that the City Council last week passed an ordinance prohibiting vehicular traffic in the alleyways with the exception

REFUND POLICY SHOULD BE STATED

It offends me when a store refuses to give a refund, when I've bought something in good faith and find I cannot use it. I think they'd have more return business if they would grant refunds. Are there not any Consumer Protection laws to cover this kind of thing? D.C.

The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office says there are no state guidelines on refunds, except that if a store has a policy of no refunds it should be posted on the premises, and if possible, on receipts and tickets, also, so the customer will know before or at the time he makes a purchase.

BENEFITS PAID

My father has cancer and is very worried because payment of some of his insurance benefits have been pending since last June. He was in the hospital nearly four weeks in May and early June and was supposed to have $100 a week paid by Reserve Life Insurance. The local agent has been just as nice as he could be, but we can't seem to find out what the holdup on payment is in the main office. It would really ease Daddy's mind to have this matter straightened out. R.L.

Hotline talked to the local office and the office in Charlotte, and finally to the Dallas Office. We were promised that the person in the Examining Department working with your father's claim would contact us. He did, and said the holdup had been because there some difficulty in ascertaining the exact dates of your father's hospitalization. He said, though, that because of an inquiry from the N.C. Insurance Commissioner's office, which you had prompted, that checks were in the mail, one to your father and one to Pitt Memorial. All this was done in one day.

You reported several days later that your father now has all the money, $371.45, because Pitt Memorial turned over to him the portion it received since his bill had previously been paid in full.

members who are knowledgeable in the field featured in each display. Plans are for students to visit the booths in groups of eight, with five minutes allocated at each display.

Chairman of the Women's Auxiliary is Mrs. Edith Rand. Co-chairmen for this year's project are Mrs. Pat Carter and Mrs. Janie Ferguson.

"We've had excellent assistance in creating this project," Mrs. Ferguson said. "The Greenville Rescue Squad, the Public Health Service and Health Careers Club students at Rose High have all given assistance. The city schools are providing transportation for students, and the Pitt County Medical Society has donated coloring books.

"In addition," she added, "wives of dentists in the area have provided a dental display, and a poster contest among students in each class attending has been sponsored. The first, second and third place prize winning posters will be on display at the booths."

Leaf Talks Held Today

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture planned to hold a meeting in Raleigh today to gather opinions from tobacco growers and others in shaping the 1975 marketing program.

Other meetings will be held in Greenville Wednesday and in Winston Salem Thursday.

State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham issued an appeal to growers to attend the meetings. He said, "This is an excellent opportunity for tobacco farmers to give the USDA officials and the tobacco industry officials a message to take back to Washington of the overwhelming grower support for our tobacco quota and price support programs.

It is important, he said, that growers show a united front at the meetings.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is trying to determine whether the outlook for continued demand is strong enough to warrant another increase in flue-cured quotas in 1975.

Hunt Peer In Bludgeoning

LONDON (AP)—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of the Earl of Lucan, missing since the bludgeoning murder of his children's nanny and the beating of his estranged wife last week.

"We have a lot to ask him," Scotland Yard detective chief Roy Ranson said as the Bow Street Magistrates Court issued him a warrant for the 39-year-old peer.

Ranson said Lady Lucan described Thursday's attack to him and he wanted to interview Lord Lucan "as soon as possible."

The 35-year-old countess was under armed police guard in London's St. George's Hospital where she was admitted with head injuries after the beating at her home in the exclusive Belgravia section of London.

Sandra Rivett, the 29-year-old nanny to the couple's three children, was found dead in a sack. She had been beaten to death and the body trussed up with a rope.

Wreck Victim Is Identified

Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey Jr. identified the victim of Monday's two-vehicle crash west of Greenville as Delbert Duane Bunning Jr., 17, of 207 Pinewood, Hope Mills.

Harvey said that Bunning, whose car apparently crossed over the center line and struck a log truck near the rear of the trailer, died of a crushed chest and multiple fractures and lacerations.

The accident, which occurred in fog around 7 a.m. Monday, took place some four and a half miles west of Greenville on U. S. 264.

The Highway Patrol reported that the driver of the truck was not charged following investigation of the wreck.

Minor Injuries When Struck

Lamont Sims of 604 Rosevelt Ave. received minor injuries here last night when struck by a car on Vanderbilt Lane, 160 feet North of the Fleming Street intersection.

Officers identified the driver of the car involved in the 8:30 p.m. mishap as Carlton Daniel Gay of Greensboro.

No charges were made and no damage resulted to the Gay auto, investigators reported.

Landlord Tells Them Rent Cut

MIAMI (AP)—A notice from the landlord was enough to make the tenants of the Blanche Apartments shudder. But then came the good news: their rent was being reduced.

"Dear tenant," said the notice. "Please make out your rent checks for the time stated in the notice, ten dollars less than your normal payment. Feel free to stop by for further explanation."

Pam Pierce, manager of the two 40-unit complexes, said the $10 discount was devised to counter the trend towards ever-higher prices.

"It's being done in the hopes that it will put some money back into the tenants' pockets," said Mrs. Pierce. "Everywhere you go, the price of everything is going up and up. It's really a comfort to know that somebody is looking out for the tenants these days."

But John Boyle, attorney for the owners, said the move was for the landlord's benefit as well as for the tenants, who pay an average of $190 a month.

"When the tenants get into a financial bind, they leave their apartments and go in search of cheaper accommodations," Boyle said. "That leaves the owners with a vacancy and the loss of a good tenant."

One tenant, Gayle Crans, 25, said she couldn't believe her good fortune.

"When I first heard about it, I thought, 'What in the world. This can't be true,'" she said. "When you get concerned people who do something great like that, it really gives you a lift."

Mrs. Pierce says there's only one catch — the $10 reduction is applicable only if the tenant pays his rent on time.

"Needless to say, we don't have many people turning in late rents around here," said Mrs. Pierce.

Terrorists Said Posing Threat

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says urban terrorists such as the Weather People, the Symbionese Liberation Army and the Black Liberation Army pose a major threat to the internal security of the United States.

Kelley told the Military Order of the World Wars here Monday that such groups "share a common denominator — that is, hatred of America, free government and other constitutional liberties."

Her Husband Claims To Be 18 And Single

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: First let me tell you that my husband is 38 and I am 36. We have been married for six years, after dating for eleven years. We wanted to be sure we were ready for marriage.

I was not snooping, because I am not that type, but before the Goodwill people took away an old trunk which had been stored in our attic for a long time, I looked through it, and came across about 200 letters, addressed to my husband in care of a post office box in a nearby town. (He has to go through that little town on his way to work.)

My curiosity got the best of me because these letters were in three different handwritings, all addressed to him in care of the same box number. Some were dated as far back as two years ago!

It seems he is corresponding with three young girls (13 and 14-year-olds) through some pen pal club. I don't know what he has written to them, but they think he is a single 18-year-old boy, interested in a romantic relationship.

He is college-educated and I only graduated from high school. He is a religious man, Abby, and respected in his community. Why would he do something like this? Is he sick? What should I do about it? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband could be sick. Tell him exactly how you came upon the letters and insist that he see his doctor. His behavior is symptomatic of a serious physical (and/or mental) illness which, if treated in time, can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42 year-old-man who is normal in every respect, but I am 4 ft. 11 and weigh 115. I am single and very lonely.

I heard that there was a national convention of The Little People of America in Asheville, N.C. last July. I would have gone, but it was over by the time I learned about it.

If you use this in the paper, please omit my name and town because some normal-sized people tend to make fun of us little people although they mean no harm.

If you have any information about this club for little people, I would certainly appreciate it. LITTLE GUY

DEAR LITTLE: I'll try. Anyone out there want to do a lot of little people a big favor? Write to Abby with the information and I'll print it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to the same man for 30 years. When he picked a wife, he wanted a church-going girl who didn't drink, smoke or dance. One who was quiet, modest and not sexy.

I was that girl. I gave him two children (now 28 and 26, both married). Now my husband has decided that he no longer loves me. Instead he wants a younger woman who is sexy, can dance and "turn him on." He doesn't care if she smokes or drinks either.

Behind my back he had divorce papers served on me. We are both 52. He never let me work because he wanted me to stay home and be a full-time wife and mother, so I have no skills. I don't want a divorce, and am contesting it. I left my home and am living with my daughter. I attend church regularly, and I still love him regardless.

The lawyers say we could live separately and come and go as we please, but that's against my way of life. I don't believe in divorce, so what do you advise? MARRIED FOR LIFE

DEAR MARRIED: You may prevent your husband from getting a divorce, but you can't force him to live with you or "love" you. Maybe if you hang on long enough, he'll change his mind and return to you, but you have no guarantees.

In the meantime, instead of stubbornly clinging to a one-sided marriage, why not find something constructive to do with your time? Like volunteer work? At 52, you are still young enough. Life is short, make it sweet.

Food Labels To Include Nutrition Information

By SUSAN QUINN
Reflector Staff Writer

Have you ever taken the time to look at the labels of the food that you are eating? The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) thinks that perhaps you should because something new is being added to food labels.

Mrs. Mildred Coleman, consumer affairs officer for FDA, visited Greenville recently to explain the new food labeling.

"Many food processors are already putting nutrition information on their food labels," she said.

"By 1975 all fortified foods, and all foods for which a nutrition claim is made, must display nutrition information on the labels," Mrs. Coleman explained.

In addition to the usual information, such as name, net weight, and ingredients, the new label will tell you what nutritional value is in the food. Information will be provided on the following: calories, protein, carbohydrates, fats, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, calcium, and iron.

"This information will always appear on the part of the label immediately to the right of the main panel. Nutrients will always be listed in the same order and location to make comparing labels of different food producers easier," said Mrs. Coleman.

"Now when a product says that it is better, the proof must be on the label," she continued.

Reading the Labels
Nutrition information will be listed per serving. The label gives the size of serving and tells how many servings are in the container.

Listed next on the labels are calories, followed by the amounts in grams of protein, carbohydrate and fat. Protein is listed twice, in grams and as a percentage of the U.S. Recommended Daily allowance (RDA).

Seven vitamins and minerals must be shown, in the same order, on all nutrition labels. Other vitamins and minerals may also be listed. Listing of cholesterol, fatty acid, and sodium content is optional.

"The label information will be to help the consumer buy the most nutritious foods that suit his needs by allowing him to see and compare the nutrition content," Mrs. Coleman said.

"Our agency's main purpose is to protect the health of the public consumer and the labeling will be just one more way to help the consumer," she continued.

Mrs. Coleman urges everyone to begin paying closer attention to the food labels. For further information concerning food labeling information write: Administration, 880 West Peachtree St. N.W., Atlanta, Ga. 30309.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

You could go for miles through my neighborhood this time of year and never see a human being.

They're all indoors feverishly covering pots with little knots and making banks out of old bleach bottles.

It's no secret to anyone that when God was passing out creativity, he gave me a credit card. I once tried to sketch free-style a flower on some name tags and was accused of desecrating the Polish flag. This year, I was approached by a group of handy persons and asked what I would like to contribute to the bazaar.

"How about $20?" I asked.

"Get serious. We don't want you money. We want your 'free' talent. Do you sew? Paint? Macrame? Needlepoint? Make candles? Embroider? String beads? Decoupage? Cut glass? Knit? Paste? Lick stamps?"

I shook my head twelve times.

"Then we'll put you down for an original flower arrangement. You know, something dried in a converted coffee can. No money. Just talent."

The first thing I discovered was that my talent had to be subsidized by a loan from my Christmas fund.

Talent needs gas to run and I had to drive 30 miles to the site of the flowers ($4.00). The rash I contracted picking sumac amounted to $7.60.

The gold spray paint ($1.50). The paint remover to get the gold spray off the garage floor (2.89). The steak to get my husband's mind off the gold spray paint on the garage floor ($5.86).

The paint for the coffee can (.89). The decals to disguise the coffee can ($3.05).

At the bazaar, I began to look at the items with more respect than ever before. With the price of sugar, the talent for canning preserves had gone up to $2. One pop bottle with a basic value of ten cents was covered with $8 worth of scraps to make a doll. One blue workshirt that probably cost $6 to begin had another $12 worth of creative talent and yarn in the yoke.

"Doesn't it make you tingle all over seeing all this talent for making something out of nothing?" said the chairman.

"It's more like an itch," I said hastily hiding my own coffee can filled with dried flowers I just bought for $10.

Junior Women Hold International Dinner

The Wednesday meeting of the Greenville Junior Woman's Club featured a foreign doll collection, foreign students from East Carolina, some in native dress and artifacts from various countries.

The International Affairs department hosted the spaghetti dinner held at the Woman's building.

President Nancy Gustafson presided at the business meeting. Mrs. William Cochrane lead the pledge of allegiance and Mrs. J. L. Savage accompanied the members, who sang "America the Beautiful."

Mrs. Jim Bishop, chairman of the International Affairs department, introduced the foreign students: Joseph Chan from Hong Kong; Jamshed Jafari of Iran; Parvin Jafari of Iran; Celia Ling of Taiwan; Roolsa Ajimera of India; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bunker of Germany; and Lucinda Wright, ECU Faculty Advisor for international students.

The department made and are selling cookbooks of foreign food recipes for $1.00 with proceeds to go towards a gift for the future home of the international students.

Guests included Mrs. J. L. Savage, Susan Smith, Becky Rice, Gail Porter, and Leslie Dickens, who were presented certificates of thanks for their participation in the Bicentennial float and Diane Reader and Cathy Cannon, who helped with the costume ball decorations.

The program speaker, Eddie Harrington of Coastal Growers, was introduced by Mrs. Bobby Swinson, conservation chairman. He spoke on selection and care of shrubs and houseplants.

Mrs. Charles Womble solicited volunteers for the Salvation Army Kettle Drive. Mrs. William Fuqua will handle the Operation Santa Claus gifts and Mrs. Skip Collier and Mrs. Larry Whitlow will collect canned foods for a welfare family. All gifts and food are due Nov. 20 at the call meeting at Mrs. Whitlow's at 7:30.

Mrs. Collier reminded members that Tupperware orders are due by Nov. 14.

Mrs. Peter Quirk has made arrangements for the Caswell Christmas party on Dec. 14. Christmas stockings will be made and gifts bought for the residents of Austin A dorm.

Mrs. Arthur Brock, membership chairman, initiated new members while Mrs. Fuqua presented a carnation to each. Initiation ended with all members reciting the Junior Pledge. New members are: Mrs. Edward Askew; Mrs. Charles Barclay; Mrs. Robert Barnes; Miss Jo Ann Blythe; Mrs. J. Stephen Condra; Miss Jane Davis; Mrs. Joseph McBride; Mrs. Joe McGoarty; Mrs. Stephen Oldfield; Mrs. Ronald Sessions; Mrs. Wetzel Smith; Mrs. Walter Stasavich; Mrs. Neil Arrington and Miss Vickie Little were unable to attend.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Richard Hunsucker, Mrs. Ronny Cox, and Mrs. David Wyont.

The Board will meet Nov. 20 at the home of Mrs. Larry Whitlow.

Members were reminded to bring gifts for Operation Santa Claus to the December meeting.

Mrs. Etta Gill, Mrs. Dail and Mrs. Ashton attended the Fall Conference in Greensboro Oct. 25-27.

The devotional for the meeting was given by Mrs. Adams, chaplain.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frances Gwynn and Mrs. Dail.

Beer Serves As Repellant

VIENNA, Austria WNS—Professor Anton Luger has launched a wave of beer-drinking by coeds here by reporting that the lager drives away mosquitoes. The only problem: The ladies must drink enough to make them "perspire gently." "A small quantity of the beer will get into the perspiration, enough to make the mosquitoes look for other targets," said the doctor.

A Better Plan Hard To Devise

At long last, after ten years of fighting and bitterness, we have a sensible and affordable plan for expanding the East Carolina University School of Medicine to a degree-granting entity.

Dr. William Friday, president of the University of North Carolina, presented the recommendations to two committees of the Board of Governors last week and the plan was adopted. It is considered almost certain that the plan will be accepted by the full board.

Dr. Friday's recommendation was that the board authorize the development of a four-year degree granting School of Medicine at ECU, rather than stop at developing the second year, as presently authorized. To do this he recommended a capital improvements budget of $50,245,000. This would mean a capital improvements appropriation of $35,245,000 in the next biennial budget since a $15 million fund for building the ECU school is already on hand.

Included in the funds would be money for renovation of Ragsdale Hall as an interim facility. Then there would be $26,900,000 for a medical sciences building and $20 million for construction of a 200-bed teaching hospital.

If the plan is approved by the Board of Governors, the Advisory Budget Commission and ultimately the Legislature, development of the school could move quite rapidly. The present first year class at ECU would be the last to go to Chapel Hill. Next year's class would increase to 30 and they would move on through the four-year program at ECU to receive their doctor of medicine degrees in 1979. During that four years, starting class size would be increased until a total enrollment of 200 could be reached in 1981-82. In the meantime the medical sciences building would be completed by fall of 1978 and the teaching hospital by the fall of 1979.

Dr. Friday's operating budget requests calls for $1,442,278 in 1975-76 and $2,363,337 in 1976-77. This would gradually increase to a $10 million annual budget by 1981-82 when full enrollment would be reached.

We don't think North Carolina could ask for a better plan than Dr. Friday has proposed. The ECU Medical School would be developed to full degree granting status on a firm schedule. The Chapel Hill school would not have to reserve space for the ECU students beyond next year, and thus could concentrate fully on training its maximum number of physicians. Control of the ECU school would be returned to ECU administrators, thus ending the confusion that has reigned since the Chapel Hill administrators took over. Finally there would be a teaching, referral hospital in the East which Dr. Friday acknowledges is needed.

We commend Dr. Friday for developing some forthright recommendations to get the development of the ECU School of Medicine moving. If this plan is adopted and funded by the full board, the medical school can be producing physicians in a short time and certainly everyone in the state will benefit from this. We have a sound plan now at a cost which the state can afford. We sincerely hope that this well thought-out plan can be implemented without further delay.

Grain Reserve Policy?

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is keeping open the possibility of setting up some form of government-owned grain reserve as part of an international effort to combat world hunger, according to a source who attended a White House meeting.

But Kenneth E. Frick, a top-ranked farm policy official in the Agriculture Department, disputed the claim. Frick said he believes administration policy has ruled out federally owned reserves.

The report surfaced following a Monday meeting at the White House with a delegation from the National Association of Wheat Growers headed by Ray Davis of Potter, Neb., association president.

According to the informant, who asked not to be identified, the group was told no decision had been made on how the administration will finally shape its world food reserve policy and that the idea of government-held stockpiles had not been ruled out.

"The impression we got was that there is a possibility they (the administration) might go along with at least a small government-owned reserve," the source said.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, now in Rome as head of the U.S. delegation at the World Food Conference, has adamantly opposed all proposals for a major grain stockpile owned by the government. The grain should be held by farmers and the private trade, Butz says.

Frick is head of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Told of the report by wheat growers, Frick said he was not aware of any shift in administration policy as expressed by Butz.

40 Years Ago Today

November 12, 1934
E. F. Arnold, director of the local Farm Department, has called on area tobacco growers to give strict attention to the marketing of scrap tobacco. All of such sales must be entered on their allotment cards. Arnold said some growers are reported to have sold leaf to "tobacco bootleggers" without recording it on their cards. But such sales must be recorded if the farmers are to receive government benefit payments.

Thumb Down 'New Math'

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Teachers, and many a parent, can heave a tremendous sign of relief: New Math is dead.

Without fanfare, educators are eliminating the fancy vocabulary and mind-boggling machinations with numbers which left mom and dad arguing with a third-grader about once-simple facts of life: Like how to add and subtract.

With blunt-spoken honesty, the man who helped lead North Carolina into the world of New Math—and now, the retreat—says, "we made better thinkers of our students, but they couldn't add."

Dr. Bob Jones, director of the division of mathematics at the state's Department of Public Instruction, figures the experiment was hamstrung by a lot of errors, but the biggest mistake was introducing a whole new set of vocabulary and mathematical symbolisms which "neither the teachers, the kids, nor the parents understood."

Too Far, Too Fast
"I hesitate to say we want too far, too fast, but I guess that's about it," Jones explained.

The concept of New Math had to do with getting away from the memorization and by-the-numbers rote of the past. "We had taught students to multiply and divide, but we never really explained why these things happened."

Again, brutally laying open the problems, Jones said this new idea was introduced "along with a whole bunch of other concepts—bases, geometry, inequalities, sets, oh, a whole long list—but without expanding the time allotted to teach all of this."

"So, the teachers had little choice. They de-emphasized computation skills." That means, in plain language, the dull business of memorizing multiplication tables and learning to do figures by rote and drill bit the dust.

Then, the process was further hampered because it was imposed from the top down, Jones believes. High state officials made the decision, bought the books, and told the teachers what to do, and so the troublesome change was compounded.

Meanwhile, back at the kitchen table, dad was wrestling with junior's homework problems.

What, the simple problem said, do you get when you add 8 plus 5?

"Thirteen," said dad.

Wrong Way
"Huh-uh," the kid said. "You can't do it that way."

You had to think in terms of reaching a 10, with base numbers and sets, transferring away (subtracting) from one unit to the other. So to get the answer, it looked something like this:

8 plus 5 equals ?
(8 plus x equals 10) plus 5 equals ?
(8 plus 2 equals 10)
(5 - 2 equals 3) (2 plus 3 equals 5)

8 plus (2 plus 3) equals ?
(8 plus 2) plus 3 equals ?
10 plus 3 equals 13

"Well," said Jones, "the object was not to do problems that way forever, but to show the student the procedure so he would not be using tricks to do math, but would know the why of it."

Educators discarded the routines, especially the multiplication tables, on the premise that if the student would learn the process, he would later pick up the shortcuts.

Now, it's back to the computation skills, the drills, the practice, and elimination of the "fancy vocabulary, symbolism, and notation" says Jones.

"Now, we are really seeking a compromise between the so-called traditional approach and the modern math. There are some concepts which we will hold onto... but emphasis will be on drill, practice, skills... It is important to know the multiplication tables," Jones said.

So, it will no longer take 20 steps to find out why 8 plus 5 adds up to 13. Enough that it does, and Jones hopes that by teaching a little of the theory we can end up with children who can both think—and add.

It Is Issues That Count

WASHINGTON—A week after the election, conservatives still are picking their way through the smoking ruins. The palpable fact is that we got clobbered—but the clobbering, as such, is not the most disturbing aspect of the vote. If the clobbering were all that mattered, one could go along with President Ford's cheery observation that the GOP has come back from disaster before. On the historical record, as loss of 45 seats in the House is not a fatal blow. The Republicans lost 96 seats in the swing of 1874, 85 in 1890, 57 in 1910, 75 in 1922, 101 in 1932, 75 in 1948, and 47 in 1958. The Democrats have survived their own matching ups and downs. Last week's numbers, in themselves, are not so bad. Far more depressing, in the conservative view, is the substantive prospect for the 94th Congress. Labels and numbers are not so important. Issues are important. Given a lopsided majority of liberals, regardless of party label, the next Congress reasonably may be expected to pass bills that would (1) provide for national health insurance, (2) nullify state right-to-work laws, (3) vastly increase costs of public welfare, (4) make dangerous cuts in outlays for national defense, and (5) create a Consumer Protection Agency with sweeping powers of intervention in the work of other government agencies.

Every congressional observer could add a dozen titles to that list. The "Byrd Amendment," which permits us to buy vitally needed chrome from Rhodesia, may now be repealed. In the name of tax income, incentives for the accumulation of capital may well be destroyed. National no-fault insurance lies ahead. Industry could be saddled with further unrealistic burdens for environmental improvement. The old conservative coalition may be mustered in Congress now and then—some of Ford's vetoes will be sustained—but let us face it: Liberals will be running the show.

Why did it happen? The standard explanations have to do with Watergate, the Nixon pardon, and the state of the economy, but these explanations overlook a deeper cause. The Republican party, as a national political party, consistently is failing to provide a constructive conservative alternative to the liberalism with which the Democratic party now is so well identified.

INSIDE REPORT

The Strong Israeli Lobby

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The huge, emotional pro-Israel demonstration in New York's United Nations Plaza last Monday took place only because of the strong but covert approval of the Israeli government, signalling a significant policy change in Israel reflecting its new sense of isolation.

According to one leader of the influential American Jewish community, sponsors of the rally (which was aimed at the Palestine Liberation Organization) "got their signals plain and clear from Jerusalem." Although the Israeli government could have stopped the demonstration with one word, it encouraged the American Jewish leaders. Moreover, Moshe Dayan and Abba Eban, Israel's two most famous politicians, would never have addressed the rally without permission from Rabin's government.

The reason: Israel now feels greater isolation than at any time since its founding 25 years ago. Worse, it fears President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger may be moving toward recognizing the existence of the PLO — along with almost every other country in the world. The rally showed the Ford administration Israel's huge reservoir of militant Americans eager to plead Israel's case.

Prime Minister Itzhak Rabin's government feels beleaguered in the wake of the UN invitation to the PLO to present its case for an independent Palestinian state.

In February 1970, when the militant Jewish Defense League (JDL) and other Pro-Israeli partisans demonstrated in Chicago against the late President Georges Pompidou of France in protest against his pro-Arab stance, the Israeli government and leading American Jewish organizations were furious. Israel's policy then was to keep a low profile in the U.S. on grounds that noisy pro-Israeli rallies might boomerang.

A footnote: U.S. security agencies are genuinely frightened about keeping peace when PLO leaders arrive in New York next week for the UN debate. Anti-Arab hostility inside New York's large Jewish community is now at a peak.

The Impatient

Mr. Brezhnev
When Secretary of State Henry Kissinger entered the Kremlin Oct. 24 to begin strategic arms conversations, he was taken back as Soviet party boss Leonid Brezhnev immediately took him to task for failing to deliver on long-promised trade concessions.

Kissinger was ready to begin serious explorations of the arms question. But Brezhnev opened by complaining at length that the Soviet Union had now agreed to U.S. demands for freer

Public Forum

To the editor:
The thousands of dedicated teachers across the state are very disturbed by the attitude taken by the columnist, Bill Noblitt, in his article "Teachers for Pay-Raise."

We believe that the first concern of the vast majority of North Carolina teachers is for the student! Several years ago when the teachers of North Carolina were polled, the first concern listed was kindergarten; second, reduced class size and about fourth was salary increase.

There are many misleading statements in the article. First, hiring specialists in music, art, physical education, reading and aides does not reduce the class size for any teacher. Secondly, it was very misleading to state that the state spends $12,000 for each teacher. Teachers know better, but the public assumes that teachers get this amount as salary. There are not many professions today where the top salary possible, regardless of education or years of service, is $12,560. A teacher with a masters degree and no experience, working for the federal government begins at about $11,000. Are teachers expecting too much when they ask for a salary equal to that of other government employees?

Another point we would like to call to your attention is the statement made pertaining to female teachers. In the first place, the fact that the teacher is a woman does not mean that hers may be the second income. Many women are heads of households today. The fact that their salaries may be the second income does not lessen their work or their right to equal pay. As to the fact that most of our teachers are female — that says it all — men won't work for teacher's pay! When men can afford to work for state teacher's pay, then we will have more of them where they are so desperately needed — in the classroom!

Paradoxes In Today's Economy

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — While inflation is to most people an enigma that leads to a dilemma, there are some especially confusing aspects of this year's economic performance—paradoxes, some might call them.

1. Wages are rising but spendable income is falling. Many American families were slow to face up to or stare through this illusion. They saw that weekly paycheck growing larger, but they were reluctant to recognize that the numbers didn't mean what they did in 1972.

2. Corporate profits are up, despite the erosion of economic activity. Don't believe it, say many businessmen.

3. Despite the downturn in the economy, it is true that one company after another has reported record high profits. If you took those figures at face value you might believe a boom existed.

The explanation, say businessmen and economists, lies in inflation itself. Many companies have large inventories of commodities in their warehouses, waiting to be manufactured into consumer and capital goods.

While these goods remain in their raw or semi-processed state, prices are rising. That means a company that bought a raw material at $1 a pound might find itself with an inventory value of $1.30. That's its inventory profit.

First National City Bank estimates the value of inventories at the beginning of this year was about $250 billion, which makes a 1 per cent price increase amount to $2.5 billion. That's just for a 1 per cent increase — but the wholesale price index this year has risen at close to 30 per cent.

Eliminate those inventory profits, say the experts, and you'll find that a real squeeze is now being exerted on profit margins.

3. Families report they try to cut down on their spending but it doesn't seem to help.

It's true. You can behave in what you've been told is a sound and economical manner and still not see the results. The answer lies in the figures that make up the Consumer Price Index.

If you reviewed the prices of items in the CPI you'd find that the slowest risers are those items that we've probably cut down on already, the luxuries or at least the expendables.

The big increases on the other hand are among necessities: potatoes, sugar, home heating oil, hospital rooms, legal services. You can't cut back on them without serious and probably damaging consequences.

RELIGION MAKES TROUBLE
A missionary recently returned from Africa told of an interesting conversation which she had with a native chieftain. He told her that after listening to her preach he found many things which he liked in Christianity. But he refused to be converted because it would make too much of a change in his habits. emigration of Russian Jews in return for most-favored-nation trading status. Even so, Congress had not acted and showed no signs of acting. What was wrong?

Actually the Soviet Union had backed down on the emigration question only six days earlier. Brezhnev also was well aware that Congress was in recess until after the American elections. Still, Brezhnev was making clear his irritation with Kissinger's inability to deliver the goods.

Arab leaders, particularly Egyptians, are showing the same irritation over refusal by Congress to approve the aid package pledged by Kissinger as an integral part of a Mideast peace settlement. In the new heavily Democratic and potentially neo-isolationist Congress, Kissinger's ability to deliver on promises may decline rather than improve.

Holton Out

Lassitude at the White House in recruiting a new cabinet will probably deprive President Ford of the valuable services of former Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia.

Since leaving Richmond last January at the end of his term as governor, Holton has been filling a post obviously below his capabilities: Assistant Secretary of State for congressional affairs. Mr. Ford's transition chief, former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, listed Holton as a potential cabinet appointment. What's more, it has been made clear that Holton may accept a lucrative private appointment unless he is named to the cabinet.

Nevertheless, the White House has made no contact whatever with Holton, who is therefore likely to enter law practice in Washington soon. Nor have other Republican progressives, including Elliot Kilpatrick...

This failure is all the more remarkable when one gives account to the public opinion polls. Every time the Gallup or Harris pollsters study political attitudes, they find far more "conservatives" than "liberals" within the electorate. Granted, the labels are only generally and not precisely understood. Even so, the ideological predisposition is there—and it is not being served. When only 39 or 40 percent of the eligible voters bother to vote, this conservative appetite plainly is not being served.

The two-party system has contributed immensely to the stability of American institutions. To abandon that system in favor of the chaotic conditions one observes in Italy, France, and in Portugal would be utter folly. Yet to defend the system is not to defend its present operation. Nowhere is it divinely decreed that the Republican party, as it now is disorganized, must forever be one of our two major instruments of political action.

A commitment to ideals is far more important than a commitment to party. The GOP's trouble is not merely that its image is stained by corruption, or that it is unfairly saddled with blame for our economic distress; the larger trouble is that the party no longer is strongly identified with any particular ideas. The party is not unprincipled; in the popular view, it is non-principled. It is small wonder that the Democrats have become the first party in Congress and in state government across the country. The time may be at hand not for the formation of a new third party, but for the emergence of new second party instead.

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—Howard Manning, the Raleigh attorney who must decide whether to bring criminal charges against Atty. Gen.-elect Rufus Edmis-ten, said Monday he is still investigating and doesn't know when he'll make his decision. Edmisten, a Democrat, faces possible charges of violating the state's tax law. He won the election a week ago over Republican interim Atty. Gen. James Carson. They were running for the two years remaining in Robert Morgan's term because he resigned for his successful U.S. Senate bid.

Few people know for sure what charges could be brought against Edmisten. Most frequently mentioned is a misdemeanor charge of failing to file North Carolina income tax returns. But, it isn't known if other charges are possible.

Here is a review of what has occurred concerning Edmisten's tax situation.

—On Sept. 24 Edmisten admitted that he didn't file North Carolina income tax forms during the 10 years he was in Washington. He worked as an aide to Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., and lived in the Washington suburb of Alexandria, Va.

The issue arose at a debate in Chapel Hill as the result of a question asked by a Carson supporter. Edmisten said he paid Virginia income taxes and didn't know he was required to file in North Carolina as well.

He owned property in Watauga County, N.C., and voted there. "If I haven't done exactly what I should have done, I'll do it right away," Edmisten said.

Carson said Edmisten would be liable for civil and criminal penalties.

—Two days later, Edmisten's campaign manager, Charles Smith, asked Republican Gov. Jim Holshouser to have the State Bureau of Investigation look into whether anyone in state government had leaked information about Edmisten's taxes. Edmisten had charged that such information had been illegally revealed for political purposes.

—At a news conference on Sept. 27th, the next day, Holshouser said he wouldn't order an investigation. He said two Democrats who were senior staff members in the attorney general's office had told him it wouldn't violate the state's confidentiality law for the Revenue Department to simply say whether someone had filed tax returns.

—On Oct. 2, Edmisten held a news conference in Raleigh to reveal his personal financial statement. While not turning over copies of any income tax forms, Edmisten has earnings and taxes paid and said he would file returns for North Carolina after he figures what he owed.

—Later the same day, Carson released a financial statement showing his net worth and included copies of his 1973 federal and state income tax forms.

—Coble said he and attorneys for Edmisten met to discuss the matter and try to work out an agreement Oct. 4.

—Edmisten's back tax forms—11 of them covering the 10 years he was in Washington—and a check were given to the Revenue Department Oct. 7. Though he was required to file only the previous two years because of the statute of limitations, Edmisten said he wanted to go all the way back to prove his good intentions.

Edmisten has argued all along that he should only owe the difference between Virginia and North Carolina tax rates. North Carolina's income tax is slightly higher than Virginia's.

He has refused to reveal how much back taxes he paid. He said that will be revealed when he and the Revenue Department come to some sort of agreement on what the figure should be.

—Oct. 29, one week before the election, Coble turned over a report on Edmisten's tax situation to Wake County Dist. Atty. Burley Mitchell. Because he had run for attorney general nomination against Edmisten then later supported him, Mitchell asked the court to appoint a special prosecutor and Manning was named.

Edmisten cried foul and said it was a political maneuver for the report to be turned over at that time.

District Convention Of Ruritan Held Saturday

AT DISTRICT CONVENTION...Attending the Greenville-Goldsboro Ruritan District Convention Saturday were Ned Stroud, Lt. Gov. of the District, Bruce Thompson, treasurer of Ruritan National, Charles Mims, national director for the Greenville-Goldsboro District, and J.L. Keeter, District Governor of the Greenville-Goldsboro Ruritan District.

WINTERVILLE—Two hundred fifty Ruritans, wives and guests attended the banquet of the Greenville-Goldsboro District Convention Saturday night at the D.H. Conley High School Cafeteria.

A program of organ, piano and vocal music was rendered by the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne West of Plymouth. They were presented to the group by Elwood Davenport.

District Governor J.L. "Leck" Keeter presented the attendance award to the Meadow Club and the best overall achievement award to the Pinetown Club. He also reviewed the year's work and announced the newly elected zone governors: Sylvester Sadler, H.D. "Buck" Weaver, George Howell and Owen Williams.

Keeter then recognized the new Lieutenant Governor, J.W. Brock and the new District Governor, Harry Adams of Bath. The new officers for 1975 were installed by national treasurer, Bruce W. Thompson.

Mrs. Ned Stroud presented a gavel and gong to the district on behalf of her husband, the retiring Lieutenant Governor.

Toastmaster J.H. Mobley paid tribute to Col. Allen Applewhite and his Jr. ROTC members for their assistance in serving the dinner.

The afternoon business session was attended by 55 voting delegates and was presided over by District Governor Keeter. He said that the district has 34 clubs with a membership of approximately one thousand Ruritans.

Keeter stated that this year marks the 25th anniversary of the formation of the district. The Winterville Club is one of the oldest, having been organized in 1940.

National Director Charles Mims appeared before the delegates. Bruce W. Thompson, National Secretary, provided information about the national convention, which will be held in Chicago in January.

Instructional classes were held for new elected club officers. Reports were made by "Buck" Weaver, registration chairman; Noel Lee, chairman of the resolutions committee, and John Bishop, chairman of the nominating committee.

Before closing the afternoon session, District Governor Keeter announced that John Bishop, of the Bath Club, had been nominated by the district for national director.

He also stated that afternoon entertainment for the ladies was being provided by Mrs. Grace Tredway of Fountain, deкупage: Mrs. M.D.

Yelverton of Fountain, bread dough flowers; and Mrs. Becky Boyle of Winterville, eggery.

Hospital Sues To Evict Girl Patient

MIAMI (AP) — The parents of a 21-year-old woman who has been in a coma for more than a year say they'll fight a trespassing suit filed by officials trying to have her evicted from a hospital.

"This girl is fighting for her life," Irwin Seaman said of his daughter Ronda, who suffered extensive brain damage in a June 1973 traffic accident. "And when someone fights for her life, she needs every edge she can get."

Officials of Doctors' Hospital have filed a Dade Circuit Court suit asking the court to enjoin the "continuing trespass" of Miss Seaman.

Seaman said he believes his daughter has a better chance of recovery while receiving hospital care.

Hospital administrator Joseph McAloon said he was forced to file the suit because the Seamans have refused to transfer their daughter for the past six months. Seaman and his wife, Adele, have run up $65,000 in medical bills since medical insurance was exhausted.

"We're not suing for the money," McAloon said. "This hospital is intended for the care of acutely ill patients."

Although doctors at the hospital say the girl is "without hope of recovery," her mother says she sees signs of progress.

"At first, her eyes were closed all the time," said Mrs. Seaman. "Now, she opens them during the day and closes them at night."

"She certainly feels pain and discomfort but she can't tell you ... Sometimes you can see the tears in the corners of her eyes."

Boston Schools Plan No 'Official Cooperation'

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston School Committee has decided not to allow official cooperation with southern students visiting Boston to discuss school integration.

The committee voted Monday after it was announced that 40 southern students would arrive in Boston on Wednesday to tell of their experiences with integration and busing.

Details of the trip were scheduled to be announced today by its sponsor, Project Interaction, a group of about 30 educational, community and religious organizations.

The trip is similar to one last month in which four Boston students went to Charlotte, N.C., to observe integration there. While they were in Charlotte, disturbances broke out at two schools, and the Boston School Committee ordered the students to return.

In its vote Monday, the committee decided unanimously not to authorize the headmasters at seven of the city's high schools to cooperate in setting up meetings between the southern students and Boston pupils.

Sponsors of the project had sought cooperation from the schools, which have been involved in court-ordered busing for integration. Committee Chairman John Kerrigan asked the organizers of the trip for a "list of the happily integrated students with their home cities, schools and addresses, as I do not intend to be a party to the infamous Charlotte hoax perpetrated on our students last month."

The group will include youngsters from Charlotte, Columbia and Charleston, S.C., and Jackson, Miss.

Boston schools were generally peaceful Monday as they entered their ninth week under an integration plan ordered by a U.S. District Court judge. Violence flared in several sections of the city during the opening weeks of school, and a boycott continues in some white neighborhoods.

Suspend Deputy As Two Escape

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Mecklenburg County Sheriff Don Stahl says he has suspended a deputy as a result of the escape of two inmates from the county jail.

The sheriff doesn't identify the deputy. Stahl says he will decide whether to reinstate him after he investigates the Sunday escape further.

The sheriff says the prisoners were playing basketball on a second-floor court. He adds that they apparently climbed to the roof of the four-story jail and lowered themselves to the ground with an electric cord.

Moose Hear Talk By Robert Holt

Greenville Moose members heard a brief talk Monday evening by Dr. Robert Holt on the spirit of Thanksgiving; and among other reports, were told of progress on the Clothing Bank by project chairman Otha Joyner.

Dr. Holt told his listeners that amid times of uncertainties such as in today's world it would perhaps be easy to develop a spirit of despondency, but reminded too it was easy to lose one's sense of priorities.

"We have", he noted, "so much to appreciate, that we do not readily recognize ... we do not simply appreciate what we do have." He added that those who have blessings and prize them, know happiness.

The speaker observed that people do not always accept what God offers, because of the condition that is attached: "you draw near to me and I will draw near to you".

"There is something rebellious in us all", he noted. "Thanksgiving can be a marvelous season if we can walk hand in hand with God", Holt concluded.

Clothing Bank chairman Otha Joyner reminded the project is a continuing one, and more clothing would be needed in the weeks ahead. "We had a very good initial response", he said, "but more used clothing will be needed to meet the demand we know will be forthcoming.

"Clothing which one family can no longer use in the season ahead, is going to be very important to the needy families in Pitt County this winter.

"One look at today's prices should convince anyone that among our poor it is going to be a struggle just to stay warm", he said.

Contributors are asked to telephone the Moose Lodge office and arrange for a pick-up of used clothing; or contact a member of the fraternity, and the items will be cleaned and prepared for further use.

Governor Jack Morgan reminded the next enrollment of new members would be on November 30.

The Governor also announced the lodge board of officers would meet tonight at 7:30.

Oklahoma Breezes Into First On AP Grid Poll

By RON JENKINS
AP Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Barry Switzer says "Walt Disney couldn't have written a better script" to the story of his Oklahoma Sooners' ascent to college football's No. 1 ranking. But he adds there are some big stumbling blocks in the path of a storybook finish for the Sooners, who replaced Ohio State atop The Associated Press weekly gridiron poll Monday.

Oklahoma received a whopping 48 first-place votes and 1,198 of a possible 1,240 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. "It's a tremendous honor to be AP's No. 1 team," said Switzer. "We play three good football teams in the next three weeks, and we're gonna try to hold on week by week. We've got the ball now, and it's up to us to carry it."

Ohio State, which had been No. 1 for seven consecutive weeks, fell to fourth behind Oklahoma, Alabama and Michigan after the Buckeyes lost to Michigan State 16-13.

The Sooners were ranked No. 1 in the initial regular season poll, but fell to third after having trouble with Baylor. They climbed to second two weeks later and have been runners-up ever since.

Alabama, 30-0 winner over Louisiana State, received 10 first-place votes and 1,102 points. Michigan grabbed the other four first-place votes and 1,014. Then came Ohio State with 877, followed by Notre Dame, Nebraska, Auburn, Southern California, Florida and Texas A&M.

The Sooners, despite included being hit by a two-year NCAA probation before the start of the 1973 season, went on to the Big Eight crown and the No. 3 rating that year after finishing as the No. 2 team in 1971 and 1972.

They are now riding a 17-game winning streak, the nation's longest. The Sooners' chances in 1973 were hurt because they were forbidden to accept a bowl bid as part of the probation. That's the case again this year, but Switzer says their chances are improved because there isn't a bowl game shaping up as "a national championship game" as last year's Notre-Dame Alabama clash was billed.

Switzer notes the Sooners still must play two teams currently ranked in the Top Twenty. They play unranked Kansas this Saturday, then face sixth-ranked Nebraska and 18thranked Oklahoma State. There was much shuffling in the Top Twenty this week after a flurry of upsets. Notre Dame, eighth last week, was idle but moved up three places. Nebraska climbed from ninth to sixth by defeating Iowa State 23-13. Auburn rose from 10th to seventh after a 24-20 triumph over Mississippi State and Southern California zipped from 11th to eighth after beating Stanford 34-10.

Florida slipped from sixth to ninth after losing to Georgia 17-16. Texas A&M was upset by Southern Methodist and dropped from fifth to 10th, and Penn State dropped a 12-7 verdict to North Carolina State and plunged from seventh to 11th.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season record and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc.:

1. Okla. (48) 8-0-0 1,198
2. Alabama (10) 9-0-0 1,102
3. Michigan (4) 9-0-0 1,014
4. Ohio St. 8-1-0 877
5. Notre Dame 7-1-0 868
6. Nebraska 7-2-0 877
7. Auburn 8-1-0 852
8. S. Cal. 6-1-1 487
9. Florida 7-2-0 318
10. Texas A&M 7-2-0 306
11. Penn State 7-2-0 245
12. Miami, O. 8-0-1 160
13. Maryland 6-3-0 139
14. Houston 6-2-0 117
15. Mich. St. 8-2-0 110

17. Pitt 7-2-0 65
18. Okla. St. 5-3-0 62
19. Calif. 6-2-1 55

Chargers Bow In Final Game

WHEAT SWAMP—Ayden-Grifton's Chargers dropped their second straight game Monday night, falling to North Lenoir, 28-6, in the final game of the season.

The loss left Ayden-Grifton with a 4-5 conference record, and a 5-5 overall mark. North Lenoir ended up at 3-6 and 4-6.

The game, originally scheduled for Friday had been postponed because of confusion in the scheduling of officials, who did not show up Friday night.

The Hawks dominated play, grinding out 249 yards in offense, as compared to 155 for the Chargers.

North Lenoir took the lead in the first period of the game. Charles McPhail raced over from seven yards away, and Styron Wood added the two-point conversion for an 8-0 lead.

In the second period, North Lenoir added two more scores. McPhail scored again, this time on a 20-yard sprint. Then Wood got a touchdown on a two-yard scamper. That raised it to 20-0 at halftime.

North Lenoir, on its only other possession of the half, drove to the 11 before fumbling it away. Ayden-Grifton got its only drive going in the final period, but a fumble nearly ended it. Ogden Braxton, however, was able to pounce on the loose ball to give the Chargers the score.

North Lenoir closed with one last McPhail touchdown, this one from three-yards out. Mike Jones ran the PAT for the final margin.

Blacks Getting Quarterback Jobs

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Harris came into a National Football League world of white quarterbacks five years ago and finally this season has taken advantage of the opportunity he always hoped would arrive.

"There were no other black quarterbacks when I came into the league, and I definitely feel that was a disadvantage," said the 27-year-old Harris, who now guides the Los Angeles Rams on the field.

Harris had first played for Buffalo, starting three games in as many years, but he was released in 1972. Nobody picked him up on waivers and five weeks later the Rams found him working for the government and signed him as a free agent.

A month ago, he made his first start for the Rams, and they've scored four straight victories to virtually clinch the Western Division title in the National Football Conference.

"I think now, especially with the season Joe Gilliam started off having at Pittsburgh, that people realize that a job can be done and the black quarterback is here to stay," Harris said.

"I think that they're here to stay and there will be more coming with all the guys there are now in college."

Harris comes from Grambling College in Louisiana and can thank another Grambling alumnus, Tank Younger, for his chance to join the Rams originally. After being cut loose from Buffalo, Harris worked with the Federal Employment Office in Washington, D.C.

Younger, now a scout for Los Angeles, talked the club into signing Harris, who then spent last year and the start of this one as understudy to All-Pro John Hadl.

The chance Harris wanted came after Los Angeles lost to Green Bay 17-6 on Oct. 13 and Coach Chuck Knox benched Hadl. The quarterback from Grambling threw three touchdown passes and ran for another the following Sunday in a 34-14 victory over San Francisco — the most points the Rams have scored this season.

Speaking of his new quarterback, wide receiver Lance Rentzel said, "Harris has done a great job for us. He is not only a good football player but a tremendous athlete. He is strong and very intelligent. He reads defenses well, which is leadership quality. I think we can go to the Super Bowl with Harris. Even if our running game is going well, the opposition will learn we can also pass."

And Knox added, "There is no color line in football and James has done an outstanding job for us."

Going into this season, Harris had attempted 200 passes and completed 97 for 1,188 yards and five touchdowns. He had thrown only 11 times for Los Angeles.

This year, he has completed 38 of 76 passes for 655 yards and six touchdowns — his last two against Atlanta last Sunday on plays covering 40 and 25 yards to Harold Jackson.

The Rams feel that the ability of Harris to run on options adds another dimension to their attack.

Tarkenton Leads Vikes To Comeback Victory

By DAN GEORGE
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Scrambling Fran Tarkenton ran only once in the Minnesota Vikings' 28-24 National Football League victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night, but it was sufficient.

The nimble quarterback rolled into the end zone from 11 yards out midway through the fourth quarter and the touchdown he scored proved to be the winning margin in the nationally televised game.

But Tarkenton, who left most of the Vikings' rushing to bruising Chuck Foreman and Dave Osborn, afterward seemed unaware of how many times he'd run.

"I never count 'em," he said with a deadpan expression.

"The play was set up for the situation," Minnesota Coach Bud Grant explained of the Tarkenton scamper climaxing an eight-play march from the Viking 47.

Tarkenton, whose score established a 28-17 lead, did most of his damage through the air, hitting 14 of 29 aerials for 177 yards, including a 10-yard touchdown toss to wide receiver John Gilliam in the opening period.

But it was a tough Minnesota defense that stopped St. Louis' last-ditch effort in a drive to the Viking 30.

The Cardinals advanced 65 yards in 12 plays, half of them on Jim Hart passes following Tarkenton's touchdown, and scored on a rare, four-yard run by Hart.

Minnesota was forced to punt only four downs later, and the Cardinals regained possession at their seven.

Hart, who enjoyed one of his finest performances, then propelled his team deep into Minnesota territory before his final two passes fell short.

Hart finished with 28 completions in 43 attempts for 341 yards and two touchdowns, including a 40-yard bomb to J. V. Cain in the first quarter.

But the Viking defense forced him to throw sideline patterns or throw short over the middle as the Cardinals were using up valuable time on the clock.

St. Louis Coach Don Coryell seemed baffled by his team's ability to move the ball but not score.

"My gosh, we got 436 yards and still couldn't win," he said. "That's the most we've had all year. We just didn't have enough time at the end and the two early fumbles hurt us."

The Cardinals had lost only four fumbles in their previous eight games, but they lost two in the opening period and Minnesota turned both into touchdowns.

Tight end Jackie Smith snared an 18-yard Hart pass at the St. Louis 40 but fumbled the ball, which rookie Matt Blair scooped up and returned to the 27. Six plays later Osborn plunged through the middle from a yard out to make it 7-0.

St. Louis needed just four plays to tie the score as Hart opened with a 17-yard pass to Smith and runs by Jim Otis and Terry Metcalf advanced the ball to the Minnesota 40.

Hart then stepped back, double-pumped and cast an aerial which wide receiver J.V. Cain gathered in at the Viking 20 and took to the end zone after dodging two would-be tacklers.

Moments later, however, Metcalf fumbled after fielding a Mike Eischeid punt and Minnesota recovered at the St. Louis 13. Two plays later Tarkenton found Gilliam in the flat and the ex-Cardinal scrambled in from the 10.

Also damaging to the Cardinals, who had bounced back in the second quarter on Jim Bakken's 46-yard field goal and a 12-yard touchdown pass play from Hart to Earl Thomas, was a third-quarter injury to Metcalf.

The victory left Minnesota solidly entrenched atop National Conference Central Division standings with a 7-2 record and a 3½-game lead over the Detroit Lions.

Said Coryell, whose Cardinals are also 7-2 and a game ahead in the National Conference East, "It must've been a heckuva game on TV, but I'd rather have played a bad game and lost."

Mountaineers In Must Game

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
AP Sports Writer

Coach Jim Brakefield of Appalachian State's Mountaineers, who must come up with a victory Saturday over Richmond's Spiders if they're to win the Southern Conference football championship, says, "I hope they had all their luck last week."

Brakefield was referring to three fumble recoveries in the first half that set up two field goals and a touchdown as the Spiders upended East Carolina's two-time champion Pirates 28-20 and tied Appalachian for second place in the league race at 3-1.

Appalachian administered the first blow to East Carolina's bid for a third title with a 23-21 upset Oct. 19. But the Mountaineers play just five league games to six each for Richmond and Virginia Military's Keydets, who top the standings with a 4-1 record.

"I guess they're gonna be picked over us," Brakefield said of Saturday's game with the Spiders. "They've got a pretty good ball club. We think they're a very physical football team."

Brakefield says Richmond quarterback Harry Knight is "a very dangerous passer, and they've got a couple of boys who catch the football pretty well."

The Mountaineers fell to 5-5 over-all—Richmond is 5-3—in a 21-18 defeat last Saturday night at South Carolina.

"We played South Carolina real well," Brakefield said. "We had a good chance to beat them right at the end, but we just couldn't score."

He said it looked as though Richmond played a good game in beating East Carolina and observed that "we played East very well. I thought we pretty well beat 'em."

Brakefield said halfback Clinton Bradshaw and middle guard Fred Snipes have been two of his veteran players who have performed well all season. He said Andre Staton has "played very well" at three different spots in the offensive line.

The Mountaineers' Joe Parker leads the nation in punting and Devon Ford has won several games with runbacks. "He's hurt everybody with punt returns."

Parker's punting forced South Carolina to start its scoring drives from its 34, 8 and 21.

Of the Mountaineers' season as a whole, Brakefield said, "I have been disappointed. We won some good ones, but we lost some we shouldn't have."

"We have been a club that has not been consistent. We'll play real well and then we won't play real well. But we're playing about 14 or 15 freshmen and sophomores, mostly sophomores. We don't have any depth."

At that, however, Brakefield had to be proud of the fact his team is still in contention in a race in which it was picked to finish fifth.

"Our program is starting to come along."

wetting their lines from their boats, can be seen on weekends in the Morehead City area trying to lure unseen fish into their grasp. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage).

Kissinger Is Opposed To 'Star Performers'

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, the man at the center of shuttle diplomacy, is telling his foreign service officers not to rely on "star performers" to guide United States foreign policy.

Kissinger, who returned last Saturday from a 17-nation trip and leaves Sunday with President Ford for Korea, Japan and the Soviet Union before going alone to China, said Monday his goal is an institutionalized foreign policy.

Some members of Congress and some State Department officials have grumbled that Kissinger, writing the scenario, has placed himself at center stage despite his often-stated philosophy that no one person can shape the nation's relations with other countries.

As Kissinger began his one-man show to seek a Middle East peace last year, one member of Congress said:

"Kissinger told us he wanted to become secretary and hold on to his White House job (advising the President) in order to institutionalize foreign policy. He's done just the opposite, he's personalized it."

But Kissinger, addressing the American Foreign Service Association, a union of foreign service officers, said Monday:

"Without the foreign service we will not be able to create a consistent foreign policy. We cannot base foreign policy on star performers. We cannot rely that somebody will come along every few years to manipulate events."

"What we need is a high average standard of performance that is carried over through the decades. And that cannot be done by any president or by any secretary of state. That is what I mean by institutionalization of foreign policy," he said.

Kissinger's five day visit to China, Nov. 25-29, was announced Monday.

He is expected to report to the Chinese leaders on Ford's meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. In China, however, his starring role is dictated by the level of new U.S.-Chinese relations, with the United States maintaining only a liaison office and not a full embassy staff. One State Department official blamed the news media for creating a false image of Kissinger's role in directing foreign policy.

"I think your colleagues are absolutely mesmerized by his personality and reduce all issues to personalities," he told a reporter.

The official argued that between his foreign travels, the secretary has been building a bureaucracy "of the highest quality" to run the department.

New City Manager Is A 'Circuit-Rider'

MONTESSANO, Wash. (AP) — The problem: a growing workload for the part-time, small-town mayor burdened by a growing maze of state and federal government paperwork and regulations.

The solution: a circuit-riding city manager.

"Small towns have never had to worry before about the complexities involved in sewage treatment or updating street maintenance or the local dump," explained Donald Dent, mayor of nearby McCleary. "For people living in small towns, it's hard to adjust to all the new environmental controls."

So, McCleary joined the surrounding Grays Harbor County communities of Elma, Montesano, Oakville and Westport in southwest Washington to share a circuit-riding manager. Populations of the towns range from 490 to 2,775, and the mayors' salaries range from $6 to $150 per month.

The program is the brainchild of Jim Williams, assistant director of the Association of Washington Cities. It is being funded partially for 18 months by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the Grays Harbor Community Action Council.

Cost of the program will be about $57,000, mostly for salary and travel expenses.

The first circuit-riding manager is Murray Fuller, hired in July after 13 years as city manager in Richland. Since he was hired, Fuller has worked mostly on budget problems, requirements of the state Shoreline Management Act, and has attended countless meetings.

"The new federalism puts more authority into the hands of local officials," Williams said. "And although the towns like making the decisions, they don't really have the expertise to cope with the planning and implementation of programs. Local mayors are just not trained to do this."

BRIEF ENCOUNTER

Tonight! 8:30 NBC

Pop Music Has A New Outlet

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Soundstage," a new series featuring pop music heavies known mainly by the 18-to-35 set, kicks off tonight on public TV with a one-hour salute to veteran bluesman Muddy Waters.

The show is called "Blues Summit in Chicago." The saluters working with Waters are such celebrated — at least in Rolling Stone — citizens as Mike Bloomfield, Buddy Miles, Johnny Winter and Dr. John.

After an advance peep at the show, all I can say is that it'll prove a total gas for blues freaks and interesting in varying degrees for serious and casual music fans alike. It's all a matter of taste.

I, pardon the personal reference, only can take about 20 minutes of this show's kind of blues. Any more than that and I start hollering for a fresh set of chord changes.

If you're in the same category, don't let this turn you away from the remaining "Soundstage" shows on tap the next 14 weeks. At least give the series a try at some point during its run on public TV.

For one thing, the range of scheduled headliners each week is impressively wide — Jose Feliciano is on next Tuesday, followed by Harry Chapin, Randy Newman, the Pointer Sisters, Arlo Guthrie and so on.

And just judging from the Waters and Feliciano shows I've seen, this series by public TV station WTTW in Chicago is light years ahead of its commercial cousins in concept, care and production.

It has a nice feel to it, an atmosphere that lets the artist stretch out, improvise or simply roll along with the impression an off-camera floor manager is giving the hurry-up sign to make way for the next act or commercial.

And that's the whole idea of the show, says Ken Ehrlich, the executive producer of "Soundstage."

"I think we began right from the start to establish a reputation of treating performers like people instead of that old, 'get-on-and-get-off in two minutes' thing," says Ehrlich.

"We want it to flow spontaneously and treat performers right. So we try to develop each show with the performers appearing on it. We never say to a guy, 'This is what we want to do. Now let's go through with it and see what we've got.'"

"The Arlo Guthrie show in December is a good example of what we try to do. We just talked to him and said, 'Who would you like to do a show with?' He said Hoyt Axton, Steve Goodman and Jack Elliott."

The last is commonly known as Ramblin' Jack Elliott. WTTW was able to get Axton and Goodman, but couldn't reach Ramblin' Jack.

Well, that's show biz. In any event, check out the series. It's worth a look and then some.

Ask Recount In Caldwell

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—The only Republican state senator to win in last Tuesday's election, Donald Kincaid of Caldwell County, may face a recount.

Democrat candidate Jack Williams of Boone asked a recount Monday. He claimed only 71 votes separated him and Kincaid, and that the ballot in Caldwell County was confusing.

The name of the Democratic candidate for sheriff was not on it. The original candidate withdrew after being convicted of conspiring to destroy records of drunken-driving defendants. But there was no time to print the name of the new candidate on the ballot, so voters were forced to write it in.

Williams was a Senate candidate in the 24th District, which is Watauga, Wilkes, Mitchell, Caldwell, Burke and Avery counties. Each county's election board must act on his petition for a recount.

Republicans had 10 state senators before the election.

The Worry Clinic Common Sense For Employers

Randolph is like thousands of others who use the "Test of Horse Sense" to weed out applicants for jobs. But is ideal for youth workers, whether in church or in Scouting as you will see below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE B-689: Randolph B., aged 42, is head of a factory that employs 800 men and women. "Dr. Crane," he said, "we have been using your 'Test of Horse Sense' in selecting new workers.

"For its 60-minute battery of 5 sub-tests works very well in weeding out the poor readers, plus those who lack practical gumption and versatile mechanical experience.

"And even our Sales Manager swears by the test, saying it simplifies his selection of new salesmen who will stick to the job and zoom business.

"So we'd like to have you address our national convention and administer this 'Test of Horse Sense' to 400 heads-of-business firms and industries."

Business Gumption
Many of you readers are familiar with this famous "Test of Horse Sense."

For it is contained in the booklet mentioned below.

It has been widely used in hiring new employees, both by business and industry.

And 500 of those "Horse Sense" problems were used to weed out the braintruster (bookish) college men who were candidates for officer training in the U.S. Navy Air Corps.

There are 5 parts or subtests in this one-hour battery.

Test I, covers "Range of Practical Information" and contains 25 statements of the True-False type, such as:

T F (1) A gallon of water weighs more than a gallon of oil.
Test II is a 25-point "Social Information Test" of the "multiple choice" (4-answer) type, as:

(1) A spare is a term in FOOTBALL - BASEBALL - BRIDGE - BOWLING.

Test III deals with "Business Judgment," covering 25 advertising and personnel problems, such as:

(14) Bill is an efficient worker but resents taking orders. He is likely to be a trouble maker. It would be wise to:

—Discharge him at once.
—Place him on probation for a month.

—Make him a straw boss.

Test IV is headed "Mechanical and Technical Judgment" for it contains 25 problems of the "analogy" sort, as: (18) Mason:

Trowel: Machinist: MORTAR MICROMETER - HARROW MATTOCK.

Test V counts 25 points and covers "Logical Thinking," as: (14) A hunter pitched his tent; then walked 5 miles due south and shot a bear. He then proceeded 8 miles due east and ate his lunch.

But he was then no farther from his tent than when he shot the bear! What kind of bear did he shoot?

Even if you are not a corporation head, you will find this test is valuable in preparing your teen-agers for entrance to college.

And youth leaders, whether in churches or Scouts, will likewise relish it, for it combines fun with sharpening of your wits.

So send for my "Vocational Guidance" booklet, enclosing a long stamped return envelope, plus 25 percent, for it also contains this one-hour "Test of Horse Sense."

Employers can use it alone or to supplement other employment data in hiring new workers or promoting present employees.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Lumber Industry Seeing Curtailments, Layoffs

By GRANT JERMEDAL
Associated Press Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — Because the average American family is having trouble getting a loan for a new home these days, Ernie Reef is up on Mount Index trying to shoot a mountain goat.

Later this month the 64-year-old Reef will move to lower elevations and try to kill a moose. By the time spring comes he hopes the economy will be such that he can return to work at the Everett Plywood Corp.

Reef is just one of several thousand lumber industry workers around the country — and especially in the Northwest — who have recently been laid off or found themselves working short hours. Some, such as Reef, spend their spare hours hunting.

Nationally, home construction has withered in the grips of tight money and high interest rates. There were more than 2 million housing starts in 1973. But only 1.4 million starts are predicted for 1974. The drop has caused widespread curtailment and layoffs in the lumber industry, and especially in plywood production. Some 7,500 men are believed to be out of work.

Plywood manufacturers from Florida to Louisiana to Montana to the Northwest were caught from both sides: a tumbling retail price for their product and a doubling and tripling of raw material costs. Prices have been on a steady decline since last spring. Half-inch plywood sheathing that sold for $190 per thousand square feet in February 1973, dipped to $155 last April and is now about $110, according to Crow's Weekly Plywood Letter, an independent price reporting service.

The American Plywood Association, which represents 150 of the nation's 190 mills, reports that 13 mills, including six in Oregon and three in Louisiana, were closed during the week ending Nov. 2. Another 52 had curtailed production by more than 10 percent.

"I've been in the business since 1947 and haven't seen it quite like this," said Leroy

Washington (UPI) — If all the world's 3,800,000,000 people were six feet tall, one-and-a-half feet wide, and one foot thick, the entire human population could be packed into a cube-like box measuring only 3,245 feet—or two-thirds of a mile—along each side, says the National Geographic Society.

Craftsmen interested in displaying and selling their crafts may rent a booth or table for $5. Admission will be 50 cents per person or $1 per family.

The day of festivities will include a magician who will give two shows, musicians playing throughout the day, and do-it-yourself booths for visitors to be creative, too. These may include a painting wheel and a booth with styrofoam, felt, and glitter for people to make their own Christmas decorations.

The hallmark of a good bridge player is the care he exercises on every hand, no matter how routine it may appear. Philadelphia stockbroker, Norman Kay, who has represented the U.S. in international competition on numerous occasions, exhibited his superb technique on this seemingly straightforward hand from a recent tournament.

Kay was not enamored with his one no trump response after his partner opened one spade, but there was no other bid available — he held just too much to pass and nowhere near enough to bid clubs at the two-level. With 19 points, three tens and a balanced hand, North's raise to game was eminently sound.

West led his fourth-best heart. Since West rated to have long hearts and therefore was more likely to hold the ace, Kay made his first good play by going up with dummy's king. However, East won the ace and continued with the jack. Declarer held up the queen and won the third round of hearts. With only six running tricks on top, Kay obviously had to develop his club suit. Since he needed only three more tricks, he could afford to lose a club. What he could not afford was to let West win a club trick, for West would cash two more heart tricks to defeat the contract.

Four missing cards will divide 3-1 about half of the time. Thus, declarer could not afford to cash the ace-king of clubs, for unless the suit divided evenly, his long clubs would wither on the vine. But there was a simple solution to the problem. Kay led a low club and, when West followed low, he inserted dummy's ten. East won the queen, but he had no heart to return. He exited with a spade, and declarer swiftly cashed king-ace of clubs, which drew both outstanding cards in the suit, and at the same time, left him in his hand to cash three long clubs for his contract.

Notice that had the king of hearts held the opening lead, declarer's task would have been to concede a club trick while keeping East off lead, to prevent a heart from being led through his queen. Kay would have undoubtedly maneuvered this by cashing the king of clubs, then running the ten to West's jack.

Supermarkets To Defend Selves Against Charges

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The supermarket industry is defending itself against charges that food stores are responsible for the rapid rise in food prices during the last two years.

Clarence G. Adamy, president of the National Association of Food Chains, plans to tell a news conference today that cost and profit figures show supermarkets are not reaping enormous profits.

Industry representatives also plan to tell a House subcommittee hearing next week about costs and profits of individual food departments rather than of chains or the industry as a whole.

hikes in the amount of the food dollar middlemen take, according to the statistics.

That amount, called the farm-retail price spread or margin, often is taken to mean middlemen's profits. However, it includes both profits and what the middlemen themselves must pay for labor, transportation, processing equipment and all the expenses of any business.

A Wall Street Journal survey at the end of October showed profits for the 15 largest publicly owned food chains up 115 per cent over a year ago, but several chain executives have pointed out that the percentage was not expressed in relation to sales volume.

In relation to sales volume, profits would show at a normal level or slightly below, says Donald Perkins, chairman of the Jewel Co.

In other economic developments:

—Columnist Sylvia Porter, chairman of President Ford's Committee to Fight Inflation, warned that wage-price controls might be imposed if voluntary anti-inflation efforts fail.

—Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd predicted that Congress will pass standby authority for wage and price controls. The West Virginia senator said also that the new Congress likely would pass a standby gasoline rationing program.

—Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said he hopes to send to Ford by the end of the year some policy recommendations that strongly emphasize the need for energy conservation.

—Retail sales declined in October for the second straight month, the Commerce Department reported. The value of retail sales declined $193 million to $45.9 billion, down from September's $46.1 billion.

—Crop losses from early frost last month meant the United States will have less corn and other livestock feed in reserve by the time 1975 harvests are ready than at any time since 1948, the Agriculture Department said.

Firebombing And Gunfire

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Two school buses were struck by shotgun blasts Monday night in rural Kanawha County, where a controversy over language arts textbooks has raged for more than two months.

Earlier in the day, a car owned by parents who had been sending their children to school was firebombed. State police said there were no injuries in any of the three incidents.

The violence came one day before school was to resume here following a school board decision Friday to retain nearly all of the textbooks which opponents say undermine the religious faith and patriotism of their children.

Leaders of the protest have urged their followers to "shut down the schools" today and to send their children to private schools or educate them at home.

But Supt. Kenneth Underwood said the administration would begin enforcing the state's compulsory school attendance laws in light of the board's ruling to return the books. The policy so far this year has been to issue excused absences to those students whose parents object to the books.

Meanwhile, fundamentalist ministers leading the protest have urged mothers to show up at the Kanawha County jail today to surrender to authorities for violation of the compulsory attendance laws.

Policeman Hit In Gun Battle

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—A policeman and a robbery suspect were wounded during a gunbattle and auto chase moments after a loan company was robbed Monday.

Both policeman Doug L. Greene and Eddie Tate, in his 20s, of Charlotte, are reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital in Gastonia. Police said that Tate has been charged in the robbery.

A clerk at the Liberty Loan Co. managed to let a telephone caller know the office in the Akers Shopping Center was being robbed.

Four persons were arrested. A watch, a diamond ring and an undisclosed amount of money were recovered, police said. Authorities said that Freddie Lee Stafford, 18, of Shelby, was charged with robbery with a dangerous weapon, and Fred Weathers, 16, of Charlotte, was charged with armed robbery. They said a juvenile whom they declined to identify also was involved.

Police gave this account: Officers arrived shortly after the clerk alerted the telephone caller. Policeman Greene grabbed two men as they emerged from a back entrance of a breeze way near the loan office.

He spread eagled them on the pavement. But as he bent over to frisk them, a third man who was waiting in a car came up behind him. This man apparently grabbed Greene's revolver, fired two shots, and wounded him in the hip.

Other policeman arrived and the gunbattle started. "I heard two shots; then, seconds later, all hell broke loose," said John Stepp, captain of the Gaston County Life-saving Crew. He had headed for the shopping center when he heard the robbery report on

Day Care Standards Conference Thursday

An area conference for day care standards has been scheduled for Thursday night at seven o'clock at Pitt Technical Institute auditorium.

The purpose of the conference is to review the proposed AA Program and voluntary standards higher than minimum licensing requirements which are currently under consideration by the Child Day Care Licensing Board.

The state-wide mini conferences are being made possible by a special federal grant to the Office of Child Development as a joint project of the Office of Child Development and the Office of Child Day Care Licensing.

The meeting will provide an opportunity for day care operators, parents and the public to react to the proposed voluntary standards and make additional recommendations.

Other conferences have been held in Asheville, Fayetteville and are also scheduled for Charlotte and Winston-Salem. The area coordinator for Greenville is Micki Stocks, whose address is P. O. Box 1100, Greenville.

The Child Day Care Licensing Board has the responsibility by law to develop a program to recognize those facilities which meet "higher levels of day care" than required by the minimum requirements. A Day Care AA

Advisory Committee has been appointed to develop the AA program with voluntary standards which they will recommend to the Child Day Care Licensing Board for adoption. This committee is representative of all facets of day care. It includes professionals and operators who have backgrounds steeped in child development principles and who have demonstrated their leadership in providing good programs for children.

Voluntary AA standards will recognize high quality care in the following areas: administration; physical facilities and equipment; safety, health and sanitation; staff of day care facility; program of activities and experiences; infant care; care for school age children; parent involvement; family services; night care for children; and transportation.

The AA program will recognize facilities who voluntarily meet the higher standards and will indicate to parents and the general public that facilities recognized in this program offer developmental programs of child care in addition to the mandatory safety provisions of the required Grand A Child Day Care License.

Members of the Day Care AA Advisory Committee includes Dee Waldrop, small proprietary center, Greenville.

Not Ready For List Of 'Dead'

CROSSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The name of Rupert Maxwell, a World War II fighter pilot shot down over Germany in 1944, appears on the Cumberland County Honor Roll of men who died in battle.

Maxwell wants his name removed.

Like Mark Twain, Maxwell says reports of his demise are greatly exaggerated. Now living in Jacksonville, Fla., the former Cumberland County resident says his inclusion on the honor roll is probably the result of a mistaken casualty identification after he was shot down.

He recalls he suffered a "few bruises, cuts and burns" and "got the hell scared out of me" when he was shot down. He spent eight months as a prisoner of war while many of the folks back home thought he had been killed.

His father attempted to straighten out the record, without success.

Maxwell returned to Cumberland County to live for several years in the 1960s. During that period, he says, mention of his name occasionally evoked "startled looks, mild hysteria or very long pauses in the conversation."

Maxwell later moved to Florida and all but forgot the incident.

But when a new honor roll monument was erected recently, along with the names of the county's dead from World Wars I and II, Korea and Vietnam, was the name of a very-much-alive ex-pilot.

"I have no objections to being left as dead," Maxwell wrote to the local newspaper, "as I am used to it." However, he added, "I should not be honored for giving my all for my country as those others did."

County Court officials say Maxwell's name will be deleted from the list as soon as changes can be made to the monument.

There is twice the incentive to save corn and soybeans at harvest this year with prices at current high levels. There is a lot of profit out there in the field but how much you get this fall depends on how you harvest the crop.

Soybean growers annually lose an average of 10 percent of their crop through improper harvest practices and management. Corn losses per acre range even higher. If your soybeans average 40 bushels per acre, you would be leaving about $28-32 per acre in the field at current prices. Taking this a bit further, if you are harvesting a 20 acre field this is around $600 or $3000 if you have 100 acres of soybeans.

How can you quickly measure your field losses? A quick way is to measure 10 square feet in an average area where corn or beans have been combined and count the kernels or beans left. Every four kernels or beans per square foot means a loss of about one bushel per acre.

need adjustment on your combine:

Ground speed—best guide is to harvest between 2.5-4.0 miles per hour. As speed increases, operators lift the cutter bar or corn bender and miss some of the grain.

Reel speed—match ground speed to reel speed to reduce shattering of soybeans. Improper reel speed causes beans to "pop out."

Cutter bar height—cut soybeans as low to ground level as possible. A good guide is to cut below the lowest pod. For each inch you cut above ground level your harvest loss can increase by 1.4 bushels per acre. That's around $10 loss for each inch you raise your cutter.

Separation of grain or cracking—unthreshed corn or beans or cracked grain mean a poorly adjusted combine. Prepare for harvest by adjusting your combine according to the Operator's Manual before you go into the fields. This will save you money this fall.

BALKY STEED—Jerry Miller appears to have a problem with his steed, billed as "Nasty Ned" a 800-pound hog, as he rode in a rodeo at Pine Ridge, Fla., this past weekend. It was reported that Miller roped a calf in 15.6 seconds. (AP Wirephoto)

Israeli Attack Across Border
By DAVID LANCASHIRE

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli troops struck 100 yards across the border into Lebanon early today, blew up a house used by Arab terrorists and took three Lebanese prisoners, the Israeli military command announced.

Less than eight hours before, Israeli jet fighters crossed the border, and the command said they bombed terrorist concentrations in southern Lebanon. Lebanese reports said three Lebanese villagers and two Palestinian guerrillas were killed in the air strike.

A command spokesman said the Israeli troops encountered no resistance in the ground raid on Dahira, a tiny Arab village just inside Lebanon about five miles from the Mediterranean coast. The troops ordered occupants to leave the house, blew it up and then returned to Israel with three villagers "suspected of collaborating with terrorists," a spokesman said. The prisoners were held for questioning.

No Arab or Israeli casualties were reported, and there was no shooting, an Israeli spokesman said. In Beirut, Palestinian guerrillas charged that Israel planned to wage "limited war" in south Lebanon this week in an attempt to divert attention from the Palestine debate in the United Nations General Assembly. But Israeli officials believed the guerrillas were planning an operation against Israeli targets to coincide with the debated.

Tel Aviv's main shopping street was strewn with broken glass after a second night of rioting against the government's new austerity program, which has raised prices an average of 17 per cent. Mobs marched down Tel Aviv's Allenby Street smashing store windows, attacking a bank and the central station, setting fires in a bazaar and battling the police. Police rounded up more than 50 rioters. Information Minister Aharon Yariv warned the Arabs not to mistake Israel's economic crisis for military vulnerability.

Protests Public Closed Off From Nixon Papers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new agreement giving the special Watergate prosecutor ready access to tapes and documents of the Nixon administration is "totally inadequate," says Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

Nelson, author of Senate-passed legislation that would retain government custody of the materials, said Monday night the agreement doesn't provide adequate access to the American people. "This is very limited," Nelson said of the agreement, which would not negate Nixon's property claim, nor make the materials immediately available to anyone but the prosecutor.

The proposed agreement submitted Monday to District Judge Charles R. Richey would prohibit delivery of the materials to Nixon until the prosecutor is satisfied they are not needed in his investigation. "I don't think the issue of what happens to the tapes should be determined by a trial," Nelson said. "The important point of the tapes is the whole history of Watergate."

The agreement was signed over the weekend by White House Counsel Philip W. Buchen, the chiefs of the Secret Service and the General Services Administration and Special Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth Jr. It is intended to supersede a written understanding announced when Ford pardoned Nixon. That pact provided that the materials were to be forwarded quickly to the former president in California.

The original understanding also would have forced the prosecutor to resort to court action any time he wanted to examine a tape or document, if Nixon was not cooperative. Nixon's Washington attorney, Herbert J. Miller Jr., urged in papers filed Monday that the original agreement be upheld in its entirety. He criticized the new pact as "depriving Mr. Nixon of an opportunity whatsoever to protect the presidential privilege of confidentiality."

Richey, who already has barred shipment of the material pending the resolution of civil suits before him, must approve the new pact before it becomes effective. Meanwhile, Nelson and four other members of Congress filed a brief Monday in U.S. District Court urging that a temporary order barring shipment of the items be continued until Congress has completed action on legislation.

(A) NONE	1915	$670	125,730
(B) R-19 IN CEILING (4" wood fiber or 6" fiber glass)	1166	$408	76,582
(C) Same as (B) + R-11 in wall (3 1/2" insulation)	620	$325	61,567
