

Many Crime Victims Fail Call Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — An overwhelming number of crime victims keep their mouths shut rather than call the police, a federal survey shows.

According to Census Bureau data gathered in the first six months of 1973, the combined incidence of rape, robbery, assault, burglary and larceny was three times that recorded by law enforcement agencies.

Projections based on a sampling of 125,000 individuals and 15,000 businesses across the land indicated a total of 16,682,600 crimes in those categories during the survey period. But the victims conceded they reported only 5,320,000 to the police.

Larceny — simple theft — led the way in unreported crime. A total of 11,085,800 larcenies were projected by the study, compared to 2,406,500 reported to police.

Burglary was second, with some 3,691,300 survey burglaries, compared to 1,863,300 reported to police. Following were aggravated assault, 637,200 vs. 314,500; robbery, 600,600 vs. 318,100; auto theft, 586,100 vs. 381,700; and rape, 81,600 vs. 35,900.

The figures, released today by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, represent the first nationwide findings of the National Crime Panel, a $10 million-per-year survey project operated for the LEAA by the Census Bureau.

LEAA Administrator Richard W. Velde noted that the survey found that the reason most often cited for not reporting a crime was the victim's feeling that "nothing could be done."

Other highlights of the report:

—About two-thirds of all personal crimes of violence involve a confrontation between strangers.

—The 16.7 million total crimes involved 18 million individuals, households or business as victims. About 57 per cent of the crimes were against individuals, 39 per cent against households and 4 per cent against business.

—Blacks were more likely than whites to be personal crime victims. Men were more often victimized than women, with black males having the highest victimization rate.

Edmisten Takes Over Job Today

RALEIGH (AP)—Following an oath-taking ceremony Tuesday, tax troubled Rufus Edmisten takes over today as North Carolina's attorney general.

Edmisten, 33-year-old former Senate Watergate Committee counsel, was sworn in Tuesday as the highlight of a ceremony on the steps of the state Capitol. It came a few hours after the state Board of Elections certified him as winner over Republican James Carson by a vote of 618,046 to 390,626 in the Nov. 5 election.

In a brief address in which he made several references to the tax problems that hang over his head, Edmisten pledged an administration of "common sense and compassion, of openness and honesty, of tolerance and trust."

Edmisten is appealing his conviction last week on charges he failed to file 1972 and 1973 North Carolina tax returns on time. His defense was that he did not realize he had to file since he was working in Washington and living in Virginia at the time. He said he paid taxes to the state of Virginia.

In an apparent reference to the tax case, Edmisten said:

"I intend to see to it that the Justice Department will help people make some sense out of our state laws. The law cannot be effective or fairly enforced if right-thinking citizens cannot understand it. The state must clarify the rights and obligations of its citizens."

Edmisten, who charged during his campaign he was unfairly treated by the Holshouser administration on the tax matter, said in his speech that "No one knows better than I the value of individual rights and civil liberties."

"I will do everything in my power to see that every citizen in this state, irrespective of his station in life, will receive every benefit of our system of justice is designed to provide," he said.

The young attorney general also pledged efficient administration of the State Bureau of Investigation and an open flow of communication from the Justice Department to the people and back again.

"I pledge to refrain from the abuse of governmental power," he said. "I shall not engage in it and I shall not condone any of my subordinates who yield to the temptation to do so."

Edmisten Said Preparing Drop Tax Case Appeal

RALEIGH (AP)—The Raleigh News and Observer says Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten has decided to withdraw the appeal of his conviction for failure to file 1972 and 1973 state income tax returns on time.

The paper quoted sources as saying Edmisten made the decision prior to being sworn in Tuesday because of strong pressure from top Democratic Party leaders who worked hard for his election.

Edmisten could not be contacted immediately for comment on the report.

The paper said Democratic Party leaders were concerned that a protracted appeal process could be politically damaging to Edmisten and possibly to the party by diverting his attention and energy from his office.

The paper said sources close to Sen.-elect Robert Morgan and Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt said they believed he should drop the appeal and tend to his official duties. They said Edmisten had been made aware of their feelings.

Hunt said he planned to discuss the matter with Edmisten soon and a source close to Morgan said he would talk to Edmisten this week, the New and Observer said.

Edmisten was convicted last Friday in Wake County District Court of willful failure to file state income tax returns for 1972 and 1973 on time. He was ordered to pay court costs and withdraw his protest to his income tax payments for the two years involved.

Edmisten testified that he did not realize he was required to pay North Carolina income taxes since he had paid taxes to the state of Virginia during the 10 years he worked in Washington as an aide to U.S. Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C. Edmisten maintained his legal residence in North Carolina during the period.

Democrat Won By Ten Votes

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Democrat John A. Durkin won by 10 votes in the recount of the race for a U.S. Senate seat, Secretary of State Robert Stark said today.

Durkin overcame a 542-vote margin for Republican Congressman Louis C. Wyman in the original vote count.

The race, the closest in state history, could send two Democrats from New Hampshire to the U.S. Senate for the first time in more than a 125 years.

Other Pitt towns, their populations and receipts, included: Grafton (Pitt's share), 1,990, $8,159; Bethel, 1,510, $6,191; Winterville, 1,430, $5,863; Fountain, 430, $1,763; Grimesland, 400, $1,640; and Falkland, 130, $533.

Pitt's total population was listed as 73,500, giving the county itself $301,350 of the total distribution.

Greene County, figured on an ad valorem basis, received $29,384 with $27,090 distributed to the county and the balance allotted to Snow Hill, Hookerton and Walstonburg.

Snow Hill received $1,768 on the basis of an ad valorem levy of

Execution Of Selassie Said Planned

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Deposed Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie may be executed in the next two days, the French-language Beirut newspaper L'Orient-Le Jour said today.

The newspaper, quoting Western diplomatic sources, said the 82-year-old Selassie had been moved from detention in Addis Ababa to a town 30 miles away to prepare for the execution.

Selassie was deposed and placed under arrest last September. The government was taken over by a provisional military council which last weekend executed 60 aristocrats and former Ethiopian officials.

L'Orient-Le Jour said several Western nations are urging African countries to intercede with the Ethiopian junta to save Selassie's life.

Mohsen Slim, a prominent lawyer and chairman of the Committee to Safeguard Liberty and the Constitution, cabled international organizations asking them to save Selassie. He said the former emperor deserves help because of his advanced age, his role as architect of African unity and support of the Arab and Palestinian causes.

The 120-member military council, which ordered the 60 executions carried out after midnight Saturday, was reportedly divided on the matter of Selassie's execution.

United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim on Tuesday appealed to the council to refrain from further executions for humanitarian reasons. In a cable to the council Waldheim said the international community feels anxiety over "reports that a similar fate may await remaining detainees."

In London the crown prince of Ethiopia, Asfa Wossen, called last weekend's executions "a mockery of justice" and "an affront to all Ethiopians, young and old, who are struggling to create a just system in our country."

Walter Jones Is Hospitalized

BETHESDA, MD.—Doctors at Bethesda Naval Hospital here are running tests in an effort to determine the cause of a painful leg infection suffered by Congressman Walter B. Jones. Floyd Lupton, the congressman's administrative assistant, said today that Jones entered Bethesda on Nov. 18 with an "extremely painful infection of the left leg," accompanied by a "great deal of swelling."

Lupton reported that during the four days following his admittance to Bethesda, Jones underwent "excruciating pain" while doctors were attempting to determine the cause of it.

The assistant pointed out that thus far, doctors have not been able to determine the cause of the infection. Lupton said that Jones was taking medication for the gout at the time the infection developed and doctors feel he could have experienced a reaction from some of the drugs. Jones' physicians have ruled out phlebitis "or anything else unless it could have been a reaction to the drugs," Lupton added.

He said that the congressman's pain has subsided considerably and Jones is "responding beautifully to treatment." He is expected to be hospitalized for another six to eight days, it was noted.

Lupton, who said that Jones is receiving visitors, said that the representative is in Room 1005, Tenth Floor of Bethesda in Bethesda, Md.

Free Thanksgiving Meal For Everybody In Town

VALATIE, N.Y. (AP) — The new owners of a Valatie restaurant are offering Thanksgiving dinner free today to this entire Hudson Valley community.

"I think the people here are wonderful people, but they are not rich people, so I thought somebody should do something," said the woman who runs the restaurant with her husband and four children.

She insisted that she not be identified. "We don't want the publicity," she said. There are no gimmicks, no cover charges and no minimums.

The woman says she'll serve the complete Thanksgiving feast to anyone who shows up at the restaurant from noon until 9 p.m. The meal will include turkey and dressing, cranberry sauce, mashed and sweet potatoes, soda, pumpkin pie, giblets, olives, stuffed celery and dates, she said.

She said she planned to start cooking four 28-pound turkeys Tuesday, and two friends would help serve the meal.

Volunteers will bake the pies, and local businesses are donating the bread, butter and soda.

The woman, who said her family moved to Valatie from Long Island, N.Y., last year, wants everyone in town to come.

"I don't want anyone to feel embarrassed because they are needy," she said. "They don't have anything like the Salvation Army out here, and I don't mean that they should, but some people would like a nice dinner. So I'm cooking."

She says she will probably do the same thing next year for Valatie, a community of 1,200 about 100 miles north of New York City.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

IS CROSSING GUARD NEEDED?

I am a mother of one of the many children who cross Dickinson Avenue at Fourteenth Street each day on the way to and from Sadie Saulter School. I think the heavy traffic on this street presents need for a crossing guard here, but the Police Department tells me this is not so. Mrs. S.D.

The Police Department also told Hotline this is not so. Chief Glenn Cannon says studies have been done, and so far it's been found that the number of children using the crossing is not sufficient to hire a crossing guard, especially since the intersection is so far from the school. He did say, however, that he would be glad to have his officers analyze the situation again, along with some other intersections where parents also are asking that crossing guards be stationed. A school crossing guard is paid approximately $120 a month, he said. There are 14 in the City.

STANTONSBURG ROAD NEEDS WORK

I would like to know if there are any plans to improve the Stantonburg Road between Greenville and Farmville. I've seen some bad wrecks on this narrow road that's used so much. Who could I contact to push for improvement if there are no plans? Mrs. E. B.

Division of Highway Engineer C. W. Snell said requests have been made to improve this road out to just past the new hospital site in anticipation of increased usage once the hospital is opened. There has been no approval yet for even this much, though, he said. You would contact Snell about the need you see. His phone number is 752-6157.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

MORE "POTPOURRI"

Wendell Smiley, the retired ECU librarian who compiled the writings of Pitt County historical writer John Duncan into Pitt County Potpourri reports tremendous response to the Oct. 29 Hotline item about the book's being available.

"We sold out of the bound copies we had, he said, but have now had more bound in soft covers and are selling them for $6 apiece. We had to turn so many down before, I hope they'll call back now." Smiley's phone number is 756-0388.

$493,846 For Pitt From State Tax Proceeds

Pitt County received $493,846 in net distributable tax proceeds for the quarter ending Sept. 30, according to the sales and use tax report submitted by Department of Revenue Secretary J. Howard Coble.

Figured on a per capita distribution basis relative to town or city populations, Greenville received $135,505 of the total amount. The city's population was listed as 33,050.

Farmville, based on a population of 4,580, received $18,778 of the total figure while Ayden, figured on a population of 3,430, received $14,063.

$50,766 while Hookerton, with a levy of $9,496, received $330.

Walstonburg, with a levy of $5,591, collected $194. Martin County received $135,574 with $108,428 distributed to the county itself and the balance allotted to Bear Grass, Everetts, Hamilton, Hassell, Jamesville, Oak City, Robersonville, and Williamston.

Those Martin County towns, their ad valorem levies and distributions, included: Williamston, $459,660 levy, $20,724; Robersonville, $106,833, $4,816; Jamesville, $13,092, $590; Oak City, $11,444, $515; Hamilton, $5,679; $256; Everetts, $3,295, $148; Bear Grass, $1,154, $52; Hassell, $929, $41.

Flood Hazard Map Is Explained

The city has released information on the official Flood Hazard Boundary Map, prepared for Greenville by the Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

According to Bill Carstarphen, City Manager, the map identifies those areas of the city which, according to studies by HUD, are shown to be subject to special flood hazards.

Carstarphen explained that effective Dec. 31, under provisions of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 and the Federal Flood Insurance Program, any recipient of federal financial assistance or of any loan from a federally insured or regulated bank or savings and loan association for acquisition of construction purposes within the special flood hazard areas identified on the maps will be required to purchase flood insurance as a condition of obtaining the loan or assistance.

He said that the city is prohibited from issuing construction permits or approving subdivision proposals for projects within the special flood hazard boundary area unless appropriate assurances have been given that the proposed site and construction will not be subject to flooding.

He commented, "We have been informed by federal authorities that within the next 12 months a flood insurance rate study will be completed for Greenville which will determine the actual elevations of the 100-year flood. Until that study is completed, however, we have been directed to use the information contained in this Flood Hazard Boundary Map."

Under the provisions of the federal program, subsidized federal flood insurance protection will be available for new construction and improvements to existing structures within the special flood hazard areas only until Dec. 31 and after that date, coverage will be available only at actuarial rates.

Carstarphen said that coverage at subsidized rates will continue to be available to all structures in the community which were in existence or under construction prior to Dec. 31.

The City Council authorized the city's participation in the program last December and the program became effective here in January of this year when the Kemper Insurance Co. of Charlotte was designated as the agency serving Greenville.

He urged all affected property owners within the city desiring additional information to contact the Kemper Insurance Agency in Charlotte or the Department of engineering and Planning at city hall.

Copies of the map are available for public inspection at the department at city hall.

Most Plan For Holiday

Most offices and businesses in the Greenville area will be closed Thursday in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

All city, county, state and federal offices will be closed Thursday for the holiday. They will resume normal operations on Friday.

The Greenville City Schools will be closed Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving. Students in the Pitt County Schools will have a three-day holiday. Thursday and Friday will be observed as Thanksgiving holidays and Monday will be teacher work-day.

Students attending Pitt Technical Institute will have Thursday, Friday and Monday off. Registration for the winter quarter will be held Tuesday and the first day of classes will be Wednesday.

East Carolina University students began their Thanksgiving holiday at the end of exams today and will return for registration on Monday. Winter quarter will begin Tuesday.

Report Cancer Hadn't Spread

NEW YORK (AP) — Happy Rockefeller's doctors say cancer that was apparently developing in her right breast, which was removed on Monday, did not extend beyond the breast.

The wife of Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller was in good condition following her second mastectomy at Memorial Hospital.

Pupil Personnel Services Cited At Tuesday Night Meeting Here

Pupil personnel services was the topic of discussion at the Tuesday night meeting on education sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Ann Harrison, Director of Pupil Personnel Services and Exceptional Children's Programs in the Greenville City Schools, described the services available in the Greenville Schools. She stated that the counseling program in the system is moving away from crisis counseling to developmental counseling.

Elementary level counseling concentrates on identification and evaluation of children who need help in a variety of ways. Counseling at the junior high level focuses more on relationships with self and others. Life planning and choices are emphasized in counseling at the senior high level.

Mrs. Harrison also emphasized the need for counseling and education from the time of conception (re: parenthood, health care, nutrition) throughout the school years.

Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, Director of Pupil Personnel services in the Pitt County Schools, spoke of future trends in Human Support Services in the schools. She stressed the importance of the ability to work well with children. Mrs. Lewis emphasized that counselors must work to affect the causes of problems, not simply listen to tales of woe.

Mrs. Lewis talked about the need for perspective when viewing test scores, whether the tests be in the area of reading level of the student or teacher attitude. She stated that our educational system has often overemphasized reading levels and underestimated the importance of the total development of the person. Referring to tests for measuring teacher attitudes, she declared that the best measure of a teacher's attitude is found in what the child says when he comes home.

Both speakers talked of testing and the common misunderstanding of test results. The point was made that publicized reports of group test results usually fail to explain the meanings of scores, environmental factors, the limited scope of the test, or the purposes of the testing.

Title Resigned By Miss World

LONDON (AP) — Helen Morgan, the 22-year-old unwed mother who won the Miss World title last week, has resigned the title, a spokesman for the contest's organizers said today.

She became the second Miss World in a row to vacate her title prematurely. Last year, Marjorie Wallace of Indianapolis was stripped of the honor by the organizers after 14 weeks because of publicity over her relationships with pop singer Tom Jones and former soccer star George Best.

Eric Morley of the Mecca organization said Miss Morgan "mentioned there is a possibility of a divorce case and she thinks in the circumstances she should resign."

Cycle Safety Study Reported

Dr. Alfred S. King, Coordinator of Driver and Traffic Safety Education at the East Carolina University Traffic Safety Center in the Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety, presented a paper entitled "The Prospect of Motorcycle Education in Secondary Schools" at the North Carolina Conference on Highway Safety held at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Break With Chile Gov't Annexation Is Given Approval

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has broken diplomatic relations with Chile, culminating a period of hostility that began with the violent overthrow of the leftist Allende government more than a year ago.

The government announced the break Tuesday night in a brief statement that said the Mexican charge d'affaires had been recalled. The statement said the government would explain the break at a news conference today.

Mexico and Chile have had no ambassadors in each other's capital since the September 1973 overthrow of President Salvador Allende. Allende, a personal friend of Mexican President Luis Echeverria, either committed suicide or was killed by troops during the coup.

Echeverria was Allende's host on an official visit in 1972. On learning of Allende's death, the Mexican president decreed three days of mourning throughout Mexico and granted asylum to more than 800 Chileans, including Allende's widow Hortensia.

Several weeks ago Chile refused to allow Mrs. Allende's sister to accept Mexican asylum. She had been arrested and charged with promoting subversion in Chile.

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Board of Aldermen, in a special meeting last week, approved the annexation of 10 acres of property located south of East Cooper Street.

No opposition was voiced from the 25 property owners concerning the annexation.

According to Town Clerk Elwood Nobles, sewage lines will be extended to the area within the next 12 months. The area already has water lines and garbage pick up has been started.

The board approved a resolution endorsing the Dec. 10 bond referendum for the Contee Metropolitan Sewage District.

Nobles said the persons living in the newly annexed area are eligible to vote in the Dec. 10 referendum. He said if they are already registered in Pitt County, there is no need to register for the town elections. The names will automatically be registered on the town books.

Board members agreed to purchase 1,000 windshield stickers totaling $190 to be used instead of the metal tags for the 1975 vehicle registration.

Board members accepted the resignations of Cecil Corbett, full time police officer, and Andrew Smith, an auxiliary policeman. Corbett has accepted a position with the Pitt County Sheriff's Department.

Nobles explained that construction is underway on the project to expand the town's water services. Work has begun on the water tank and deep well portion of the proposed project.

Nobles said a committee has been named to develop a house numbering system for the Town of Winterville. Although local mail will still be picked up at the post office, the numbers will be helpful in case of emergencies to aid the fire department, rescue squad and other agencies.

Nobles said the November utilities bills will be figured on a 35 percent fossil fuel charge. The bills were mailed Wednesday.

Brenda Kaye Adams Is Bride Of Randy Butler

Miss Brenda Kaye Adams and Randy Butler were united in marriage Friday at seven o'clock in the evening in the Red Oak Christian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Claude Manning of Ayden and the late Mr. J. C. Adams. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Butler of Ayden.

The Rev. Ronald Nichols, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony. A program of wedding music was rendered by Miss Kathy Spencer, organist of Ayden, Mrs. Wayne Mills and Kenny Edwards, both of Greenville. Edwards sang "More" and Mrs. Mills sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with arrangements of white mums, gladioli and lilies-of-the-valley. The altar was centered with a fifteen branch candelabra entwined in ivy. Seven branch candelabra were placed on either side of the altar and a background of ivy completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, Claude Manning, wore a formal length gown of white organza designed with a portrait neckline edged in gathered organza and Venise lace flowers. The empire bodice featured the Venise lace trim at the waistline and one the ruffled cuffs of the long, sheer sleeves. A deep ruffled flounce trimmed with the matching lace edged the hemline and attached chapel length train of the A-line skirt.

She wore a three tiered lace edged veil attached to a Camelot cap of matching Venise lace beaded with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, ivy and satin streamers.

Mr. Butler served his son as best man. Ushers were Harold Norris, nephew of the bride, and Mickey Butler, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother chose a formal length gown of mint green crepe and appliqued chiffon while the mother of the bridegroom wore a formal yellow crepe and chiffon dress. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

For her wedding trip, the bride changed into a beige pants outfit.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr.

The bride is a graduate of Ayden-Grifton High School. She is attending Pitt Technical Institute. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ayden-Grifton High School and is employed by Daniels Construction Co.

The couple will reside in Ayden.

On Thursday evening, the bride was honored at a bridal shower in the fellowship hall of Red Oak Christian Church. Hostesses were Mrs. Milton Adams, Mrs. B. C. Norris, Mrs. Claude Manning and Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr.

The building was decorated throughout with wedding bells, love birds, satin streamers and greenery. The bridal table was covered with a white organdy and lace cloth over green and was centered with an arrangement of sweetheart roses in a silver epergne. Of focal interest was a wedding scene on the mantel.

The bride and her mother greeted the guests. Mrs. Randy Butler, mother of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register. Mrs. Adams presided at the punch bowl and cake was served by Mrs. Norris.

The hostesses and guests remembered the honoree with gifts.

SHIRT FASHION—Inner Visions is the new "contemporary" fit shirt, contemporary meaning a higher armhole and more tapering through the body, which gives a slender, feminine look, left. These Country Shirts are not only a natural with pants and jeans, but would look smashing with a long printed calico skirt for evening. The "Two Togethers," right, have shirts and sweater vests in compatible patterns. Varied sized trees march around the shirt while the sweater shows a blow-up of twin trees. A leopard slinks through the jungle pattern of the shirt, and the sweater carries just the proud beast. Groovy sets to be worn on campus or to the office, they are machine washable and dryable.

Davis-Duncan Vows Solemnized Saturday

GRIFTON — On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, the marriage of Jill Laverne Duncan of New Bern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Duncan of Cove City, and David M. Davis of Gloucester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davis of Gloucester, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Adams here.

The ceremony was performed by Mrs. Wesley Newell, magistrate of New Bern, aunt of the bride.

The couple said their vows under an archway decorated on either side with candelabra and flowers.

The bride's mother was matron of honor and the bridegroom was served by his father as best man.

The bride wore a floor length light gold Gadsby ensemble created by Mrs. Lynn Adams of New Bern. She carried a nosegay of dried flowers tied with matching velvet ribbon.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length ice blue ensemble with matching accessories and a white corsage of pom poms.

The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of pom poms.

After the wedding, a reception for the wedding party and guests was held.

White flowers in a candelabra were used as a centerpiece on the refreshment table. Mrs. Larry Noble of Dover served cake and punch was poured by Mrs. Robert Mineo. Others assisting were Mrs. Rex Sullivan, Mrs. Henry Bland, Mrs. Ernest Averly of Cove City and Mrs. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jolly of Dover said good-byes.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the couple will reside in New Bern.

DEAR ABBY: The person who wrote in about receiving a $100 check as a gift and then letting three months slip by without writing a thank-you note, has inspired me to write.

When I drive my teen-ager someplace, I am happy to give some of his friends a ride, too. But since gasoline has gone up, and not too long ago I had to go early in the morning and sit in line for two hours to get gas, I have become quite choosy about who I give free rides to.

I have told my son that I am not giving any more rides to his friends who can't even say, "thanks." (A few don't even bother to say hello or goodbye—they treat me like I'm a hired taxi driver.)

And a word to parents who never drive, but are always instructing their kids to hook a ride with someone: Please teach your kids to thank the driver.

After I chaperoned a school dance, one of the students came over and thanked me. It made my whole day. Sign me KITSAP, WASHINGTON

DEAR KITSAP: Most parents do teach their kids to say "thank you," but some kids are slow learners.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my early 40s. When I married, four months ago, I was a virgin. My problem is, I still am.

I am a school teacher, but quit teaching to marry a very fine divorced man in his mid 40s. We seemed perfect for each other after a two-year courtship. Neither he nor I believe in pre-marital sex.

After four months of marriage, he has yet to consummate our marriage. He had been married for 12 years (no children) and he admitted to having had "some difficulty" performing his bedroom duties, but he didn't say he couldn't perform at all, which is the case. He said he's seen doctors, who have told him there was nothing wrong with him—he probably had a "mental block" because there was no love between him and his wife. Well, WE love each other and the mental block is still there. So how can that be explained?

I feel he married me under false pretenses. He's a fine person otherwise. Perhaps I'm placing too much emphasis on the bedroom scene, but after waiting all my life for a beautiful, complete love relationship, I feel cheated.

CHEATED OUT EAST

DEAR CHEATED: First your husband should be examined by a urologist to determine whether his problem is physical or psychological. If it's physical, you have two choices. Continue in a marriage without sex, or get an annulment. If it's psychological your husband should seek psychotherapy. If he's unwilling (or unable) to overcome his problem in this manner, you still have the original two choices. Only you can determine how important the bedroom scene is.

DEAR ABBY: I have this friend I'll call Marsha. Marsha works in a doctor's office and she keeps her friends entertained with hilarious stories of what goes on at the office.

I'm sure Marsha doesn't realize that some patients prefer that their medical histories be kept confidential. I don't want to throw cold water on a lively and entertaining discussion, but someone should tell Marsha that it's not right to be the life of the party at the expense of unsuspecting patients. But who?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If you're a good friend, why don't you tell her? It would be the friendly thing to do.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Christmas Show Opens Friday

A Christmas show, highlighted by ideas for decorating for the holiday season, will open Friday at 10 a.m. at the Greenville Woman's Club building.

The show will be open until six o'clock Friday evening. The hours on Saturday are 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 1-6 p.m.

Table settings for home entertaining, for teas, breakfasts, dinners, and children will be featured. Other decorating ideas will include home windows and foyers and some swags will be shown.

A few items will be available for sale including homemade cakes, candies and cookies.

Cook Gets Rush Job

LONDON (WNS)—Students are threatening to strike here because Valerie Bugden was allowed to win her diploma at Thanet Technical College by taking last year's examination, some of which she had seen in advance. "The president wanted to get her through fast because she had an offer to become Princess Anne's new cook," explained student Robert Graham. "It's too much a woman's world when we men have to wait for new exams on schedule, even though we have job offers waiting for us from less-royal employers."

Ford Asks Less For HEW, Agriculture, Defense

Poor Would Have To Dig 'Deeper'

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor people would have to pay more for food stamps beginning next March 1 if Congress approves a drive by the Ford administration to cut government spending.

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday the food stamp program, designed by Congress to help needy families pay rising grocery bills, would be reduced $325 million. Some 14 million persons now receive benefits from the food stamp program.

Most of the savings would come from higher charges to needy families for their monthly food stamp allocations, officials said.

firing range where 23 paper silhouettes of a human figure dangle above 23 firing positions. It looks something like a bowling alley. The officers are scored on their accuracy with the highest score — nine — going for a direct hit to the heart.

"You teach them, then, to aim to kill?"

"Yes," replied Inspector Edward L. Campbell. "There's no such thing as aiming to wound. There's no one in the world who's a good enough shot to do that. A better way to say it is that you're aiming to neutralize the adversary."

But Campbell and George A. Zeiss, head of the firearms training, insisted that agents rarely draw their weapons.

One recent seminar involved agents and local officers involved in the Los Angeles shootout which left six Symbionese Liberation Army members dead in a flaming stucco house last May 17.

John M. Kirch, head of law enforcement arts training, said seminar participants agreed with no substantial dissent that authorities handled the SLA situation in the best possible way.

All families, regardless of size, would have to pay 30 per cent of their net monthly income to get stamps. Currently, the purchase requirements are tailored to family size as well as income, with some paying as low as 20 per cent of monthly earnings.

Officials said one exception would be that extremely poor families with net incomes of less than $30 a month would continue to get food stamps free of charge.

A four-member household, for example, will get $154 worth of food stamps under a new allowance schedule which takes effect Jan. 1, up $4 from now. The allowance is standard regardless of income.

But the amount the family must pay to get these stamps depends on income. If net earnings are $100 a month, the family in January will pay $25 to get $154 worth of coupons. The family would pay $30 for the stamps beginning March 1 if the Ford proposal is approved.

Officials said single persons and couples would be hit hardest by the 30 per cent rule. The January allowance for a single person will be $46 worth of stamps a month. If his income is $100 he will pay $18 to get them. But on March 1 the 30 per cent rule would boost the payment rate to $30 a month to get $46 worth of stamps.

A couple earning $100 will pay $23 a month for $84 in stamps in January, but the rate would go up to $30 on March 1. And as income rises, the 30 per cent flat rate would mean that some in the upper ranges will have little or no incentive to be in the program at all.

Less For Pentagon Called On The Aged To Do With 'Less'

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's elderly would pay more out of their own pockets for doctor and hospital bills if Congress approves President Ford's request for a $1.7-billion slash in Department of Health, Education and Welfare spending this fiscal year.

The department is the government's most expensive and was tapped the heaviest to contribute toward the $4.6 billion in budget reductions that Ford proposed Tuesday.

Virtually every HEW agency and program would be affected, but the impact would be noticed most by beneficiaries of health and welfare assistance.

At the same time, the department announced a $1.6 billion "downward re-estimate" of its money needs and a belt-tightening $243 million cut in travel, contracts and payroll and new Medicare, Medicaid and welfare restrictions.

Some of the legislative requests were first advanced unsuccessfully as long as two years ago and are considered unlikely to get any warmer reception by Congress now.

A proposal to save $425 million by charging the elderly and handicapped more for their own health care is similar to a plan suggested in January 1973. It couldn't attract a single congressional sponsor then.

Under this proposal, some 25 million aged and handicapped persons qualifying for Medicare would pay part of their hospital bill from the second day through the 60th day of care. The charge would be equal to 10 per cent of costs above the present deductible amount.

The optional Medicare insurance covering doctor bills for retirees would have an annual $67 deductible next year and this would increase annually in proportion to the percentage increase in cash benefits.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford barely nicked the Pentagon in proposing extensive government spending cuts.

But even those proposed defense reductions totaling $381 million may be eliminated by rising costs of food, utilities and other immediate needs.

Ford said Tuesday he feels "further cuts in defense spending would be exceedingly unwise, particularly at this time."

He asked for total government spending cuts of $4.6 billion.

The President noted that Congress already has trimmed about $2.2 billion from this year's defense spending plans.

The Pentagon said its spending cuts include cancelling the purchase of 84 jet warplanes and helicopters, most of which were imposed on the Pentagon by Congress; lowering National Guard and reserve strength by 44,656 men, and postponing maintenance work on defense property.

Congressional approval would be required for these moves.

In addition, the Pentagon said it plans to act under its administrative authority to stretch out re-enlistment bonuses, instead of paying servicemen lump sums when they sign up for a second hitch. Defense Department Comptroller Terence McClary conceded this may cost the armed forces some trained servicemen.

But examination of the announced defense plans shows that the actual net savings will come to only $256.3 million, because the Pentagon expects to gain a net $125 million from the sale of oil from the Navy's Elk Hills Reserve in California this year. The administration urged Congress to enact legislation authorizing this use of the reserve.

The $125 million would go into the treasury and pay in future years for exploration of additional oil reserves on the North Slope of Alaska.

EAL Tightens Landing Rules

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—A spokesman for Eastern Airlines says two new and tighter landing approach procedures for pilots have been put into effect by the company as a result of the Sept. 11 DC-9 crash at Charlotte which took 72 lives.

Eastern's public relations manager, Jim Ashlock, said Tuesday a company memorandum to all pilots, calling for "a real tightening up of procedures and adherence to them," was handed down about a month after the crash of Flight 212 arriving at Charlotte from Charleston, S. C. Ten persons survived.

Ashlock said the memorandum was a reiteration of standard procedures with two additions. He said these were use of a previously unused radio altimeter on non-precision approaches, and a formal cockpit briefing in preparation for the final landing approach.

During the National Transportation Safety Board hearing in Charlotte earlier this month on the cause of the crash, an Eastern official testified that the pilots' bulletin was prepared as a result of the crash.

During the hearing, James Daniels, the copilot who was flying the jetliner when it crashed about three miles south of Charlotte's Douglas Municipal Airport, said he was unaware that the plane was dangerously low until he saw trees a split second before the crash.

Tapes of conversations in the cockpit showed that the captain, James Reeves, had not called out altitude, speed and rate of descent during the final approach, as called for in Eastern procedures.

Reeves was killed in the crash.

The new procedures make mandatory an approach briefing to be conducted before the final landing approach, the company spokesman said.

A final report on the cause of the crash is expected from the safety board in about six months.

Cautious Reaction By Miners To New Coal Terms

IF IT'S NOT ONE THING, IT'S ANOTHER—Rex Brown, manager of a Tampa service station, made it through the gas crisis. Now it's the sugar shortage. (AP Wirephoto)

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Regional officials of the striking United Mine Workers have approved a revised contract offer and sent it to the coal fields, where it received a cautious reaction.

UMW officials said if the package is agreed to by the union's 120,000 striking members, the nation's coal mines can be reopened sometime next week.

The union's bargaining council of regional officials voted approval 22 to 15 Tuesday night, reversing the vote taken earlier in the day to reject the pact. The approval broke a deadlock that threatened to seriously prolong the walkout, now in its third week.

UMW President Arnold Miller said the package provides a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits. "That's the fattest labor settlement in this decade," Miller said.

Union officials said they will explain the contract to district officials at eight or more regional meetings on Saturday and that voting by secret ballot will begin Monday.

Initial rank-and-file reaction to the proposed settlement was mixed, with many miners apparently taking a wait-and-see attitude. "They don't really know what's in it," said Howard Moore, president of UMW Local 6108 at Slab Fork, W. Va.

And Richard Stineman, president of Local 1619 in Indiana County, Pa., said miners will have "mixed emotions" about the council's sudden turnabout vote. "It will raise questions," he said. "I don't know what will happen at the local level."

The bargaining council last week rejected the first tentative settlement, sending Miller back to the bargaining table to seek modifications. He won new industry concessions in two key areas — wages and vacations.

The new pact would provide a 10 per cent wage increase the first year, a 4 per cent increase the second and 3 per cent the third. The total is 2 per cent higher than the original proposal. Miners would also receive cost-of-living increases. They now earn $42 to $50 a day.

The revised package also provides two weeks summer vacation — instead of the earlier proposal that one of the weeks be taken at Christmas.

Miller attributed the change in the vote to the "democratic process working at its finest." He said during the three-hour recess between votes, council members "had time to think about their responsibility to the membership."

UMW members struck mines producing 70 per cent of the nation's coal on Nov. 12 when their previous three-year-contract expired. The strike has resulted in more than 23,000 layoffs in the steel and railroad industries, and government economists predicted 400,000 would be out of work if the strike lasts four weeks.

Council members leaving union headquarters after the vote generally expressed optimism that the contract would be ratified.

Penny Ahead

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — Mrs. Agnes Pasley took a 45-cent bottle of Ivory Liquid of a supermarket shelf. Before she could get it in her shopping basket, a clerk stamped it 47 cents.

The manager said the clerk probably made a mistake; employees are supposed to change the prices before the store opens.

Despite her two-cent loss, Mrs. Pasley ended up a penny ahead of inflation. She bought a package of Jello pudding mix that was marked 22 cents while other packages of the mix were marked 25 cents.

No Change For Mustache Ban

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The commander of the North Carolina Highway Patrol says policy requiring troopers to be clean shaven is legal and will not be changed.

Commander E. W. Jones was joined by Troy A. Doby, state transportation secretary, in the policy statement Tuesday in the latest development involving a suspended trooper.

Meanwhile, as Highway Patrol officials defended their suspension of a trooper who grew a mustache, others involved in the case said the suspension violates recent guidelines set by the attorney general, which loosens apparent requirements for state employees.

Charles H. Johnson, a seven-year patrol veteran stationed in Winston-Salem, was suspended with a recommendation that he be dismissed for refusing to shave a three-week-old mustache.

Johnson, the state's first black patrolman, said he knowingly violated patrol policy to grow the mustache. He said he wrote a letter requesting permission to grow a mustache before he was suspended, but his commanding officer denied the request.

Jones said that in 39 years in the patrol he has never seen a patrolman with a mustache. He said he and other patrol officials talked with the Transportation Department and the state attorney general's office before suspending Johnson.

Jones said the patrol had the authority to enforce the clean-shaven requirement.

But the recent guidelines from the attorney general's office say that only "unreasonably distracting or bizarre" clothing and hair styles cannot be worn by state employees.

Doby said highway patrolmen are state employees but because they are uniformed law enforcement officers, they are exempt from the ruling.

In another development Tuesday, George Gardner of Greensboro, executive director of the North Carolina Civil Liberties Union, said the attorney general's guidelines establish a precedent and the patrol does not have the legal authority to suspend Johnson.

Gardner said the NCCLU will write a letter of protest to the Highway Patrol and if Johnson is not reinstated, the NCCLU will prepare for a court battle.

Slain Woman Is Identified

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The body of a woman found beaten and with her throat cut has been identified as that of Mrs. James Pender, 29, wife of the Goldsboro city purchasing director.

The State Bureau of Investigation has been called in.

The body has been sent to the North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill for an autopsy.

Hunters found it near Goldsboro Tuesday. Police said Pender has reported his wife missing Monday night.

Mrs. Pender's car was found in a county parking lot next to the Wayne County sheriff's office in Goldsboro. That was five miles from where her body was discovered.

She was a secretary in the purchasing office of Wayne Memorial Hospital. She was last seen after finishing work Monday and leaving to attend a class.

Process For More Energy From Coal Years Away

By LES SEAGO
Associated Press Writer
TULLAHOMA, Tenn. (AP)—An electrical generating process that squeezes 50 per cent more power from a ton of coal is almost a decade away, although more research money could shorten the time, a Tennessee scientist says.

"But people aren't interested in spending large amounts of money for something eight or 10 years off," said Dr. John B. Dicks, head of the University of Tennessee Space Institute's magnetohydrodynamics (MHD) project said this week.

If MHD were available to supply power on a commercial basis now, Dicks and the Atomic Energy Commission believe it would save $180 billion between now and the year 2000.

MHD researchers say they will need $500 million to produce the first commercial MHD generator in eight years. Dicks said tripling the research money could shorten development by 25 per cent or more.

"It would probably be worth doing," Dicks said. "We've painted ourselves into a corner in this world on energy."

Dicks has devoted almost 12 years to MHD research. He has the world's only working coal-fueled MHD generator.

It has only been in the past three years that the federal government has allocated funds for the project. He expects to receive a $9 million Office of Coal Research grant to continue research later this year.

Two of the three MHD projects in the U.S. are at Tullahoma. Down the road from Dicks' laboratory, the Air Force is preparing to conduct its own MHD tests in a $5 million space program hand-me-down that formerly was used to test missile re-entry vehicles.

MHD is based on a basic principle of physics: When a conductor is passed through a magnetic field, electricity is produced.

Modern electric generators, powered by steam or water turbines, spin giant copper windings through a magnetic field to crank out electricity.

MHD, however, does away with most of the machinery. Superheated gas, spiked with potassium to increase its conducting properties, replaces most of the heavy, friction-prone copper windings.

In Dicks' generator, finely ground coal is burned at 5,000 degrees then forced at 3,000 feet per second through a huge magnet. Metal probes inserted into the gas downstream from the magnet "pick off" electrical current.

The hot air retains enough energy to power conventional electrical generators, providing a method of updating existing equipment to increase their output by 50 per cent or more.

Dicks and Dr. Leon Ring of the Air Force's Arnold Engineering Development Center here, say MHD offers greater efficiency than either steam generation or nuclear power.

Existing steam plants use about 40 per cent of the heat generated. Atomic power plants are about 30 per cent efficient. But MHD researchers believe 60 per cent efficiency is not beyond possibility.

Dicks project is aimed at proving that the equipment can stand up to the high temperatures and corrosive chemicals of an MHD generator.

"We have demonstrated that you can run on coal," Dicks said. "We have run for several hours without even microscopic damage."

"Not too long ago, we were told that nuclear power was the thing. Well, they have found out that they were wrong."

Dicks and other researchers say MHD is relatively pollution free, even with the high-sulphur coal found in Appalachia.

The potassium carbonate—a commercial fertilizer—sprayed into the MHD generator combines with the coal's sulphur to form potassium sulfide that can be recovered from the plant's exhaust.

Some of Dicks' experiments are aimed at cleaning up the nitrous oxide and particulates (smoke) that remains.

Dicks present two-foot-long generator produces about 85 kilowatts of power on two tons of coal an hour.

With the Office of Coal Research grant, he plans to construct a 300 foot-long-generator that will produce as much as 3,000 kilowatts or enough to power a small town of about 200 homes. The generator portion itself will be about seven feet long with associated machinery, including anti-pollution equipment, making up the rest of the plant's bulk.

More efficiency will come with the larger commercial-type MHD equipment Dicks hopes to see in operation by 1985. Such a generator could produce as much as 60,000 kilowatts.

Nuclear power may be the way of the future, Dicks said, but environmental and other problems make it unlikely that it will become a panacea for the world's energy problems anytime soon.

"This country is going to need all the power we can get from any source—solar, nuclear, geothermal," Dicks said. "We see coal as the main source right now."

Estimated slaughter today 736,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced moderately today on hopes for an early end to the nationwide coal strike.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.22 at 621.48, and gainers held a 5-to-2 lead over losers in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow climbed more than 7 points in the early going in a rally inspired by the United Mine Workers bargaining council's acceptance Tuesday night of a tentative new coal-industry labor contract.

The proposed pact now goes to a ratification vote by union members, scheduled for next Monday.

Analysts said the rally might have lasted longer and gone farther had it not been for the government's report that its index of leading economic indicators dropped for the third consecutive month in October.

The index, designed to point up future economic trends, has registered its sharpest sustained drop since the Korean War in the last few months. The effect of that trend has been to heighten recession worries, brokers noted.

W.R. Grace was the most active NYSE issue down 1/4 at 23 1/2. A 49,000-share block traded at 23 1/2.

MacAndrews & Forbes which announced a 10 per cent stock dividend late Tuesday, gained 1/4 to 8.

Cummins Engine rose a point to 15. The company raised its dividend and declared a 7-cents-a-share extra payout.

McCrorey Stores, which skipped its dividend, fell 1/4 to 3 1/2.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index was up .35 at 37.21 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange the market-value index was up .74 at 63.05.

Gearhart-Owen Industries, the Amex volume leader, climbed 1 1/4 to 16 1/4 on sharply higher third-quarter earnings.

Begin Cross-Examination Of Mitchell

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Watergate prosecutors began their cross-examination of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell today after he completed a point-by-point denial that he ever conspired to tap Democrats' phones or to coverup the Watergate break-in.

Just before Mitchell began his second day of testimony at the Watergate cover-up trial, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica checked with court-appointed doctors to determine if they are ready to report whether former President Richard M. Nixon is well enough to testify at the trial.

William S. Frates, defense lawyer for former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman, and prosecutor James F. Neal joined in asking Sirica to find out whether the doctors were ready to report earlier than scheduled.

Sirica had his law clerk call Dr. Charles Hufnagel of Georgetown University, chairman of the panel that examined Nixon and his medical records in California on Monday. The panel is scheduled to report its findings to Sirica on Friday.

At a news conference in Los Angeles on Tuesday members of the panel said they had reached a unanimous conclusion but they declined to say what it was.

Ehrlichman has subpoenaed Nixon to testify as a defense witness.

Mitchell, first of the five defendants to take the stand in his own defense, described how Ehrlichman tried to get him to take at least partial blame for the Watergate break-in.

Mitchell said he met with Ehrlichman at the White House on April 14, 1973 in a session that "was pretty indelibly impressed upon my mind."

He said Ehrlichman told him that then-President Nixon felt that some people might be refraining from telling all they knew about Watergate because they thought it was in the best interest of the president. Ehrlichman told Mitchell that Nixon thought such people should step forward.

"I told him since I had no culpability I didn't intend to do anything further about it," Mitchell said.

During several hours on the witness stand over a two-day period Mitchell flatly contradicted the testimony of several prosecution witnesses.

Sirica took over questioning of former attorney general at the close of the day on Tuesday.

The judge sent the jury home for the day and then turned to Mitchell and asked if he could explain why the Nixon campaign finance committee gave thousands of dollars to the Watergate burglars and their lawyers.

Adult Education Classes Planned

An organizational meeting for adult education classes will be held Monday at 7 p.m. at the George Washington Carver Library.

Courses such as adult high school education, adult drivers education, sewing, knitting, crocheting, creative arts, reading, writing, and arithmetic will be offered.

The courses are co-sponsored by Pitt Technical Institute.

Two men are scheduled for sentencing this afternoon in Pitt County Superior Court in connection with the shooting death of John Thomas Miller Jr. at Farmville in mid-August.

Nervous Bowl Heads Watching Final Games

By GARY MIHOES
Associated Press Writer
Cotton Bowl officials will dine on crow instead of turkey if Pitt knocks the stuffing out of Penn State in Pittsburgh Thanksgiving night on national television.

Penn State, winner of eight straight over Pitt, accepted a Cotton Bowl bid three weeks ago just prior to an upset loss to North Carolina State.

A Nittany Lion defeat here would leave Pitt and Penn State with 8-3 records and give the mythical Eastern football title to 18th-ranked Pitt, the only Top Twenty team snubbed by the bowls.

"I know our team would probably like to go to a bowl, but the bowl game is far, far subservient to this game," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said before the game at Three Rivers Stadium.

Despite his team's higher ranking, Penn State Coach Joe Paterno hailed Pitt as the top team in the East earlier this week.

Pitt noseguard Gary Burley, who Paterno says is the best at his position that Penn State has ever faced, anchors the Panther defense. Offensively, Pitt's prime threats are tailback Tony Dorsett and his understudy, freshman Elliott Walker.

Billy Daniels, the Panther quarterback the past two seasons, was lost for the season with a knee injury two weeks ago in Pitt's 14-10 loss to Notre Dame and has been replaced by senior Bob Medwid.

Penn State is guided offensively by quarterback Tom Shuman, and the Nittany Lions' defense is keyed by tackle Mike Hartenstein.

The Pitt-Penn State game kicks off the last big weekend of the college regular season.

Friday a pair of nationally televised traditional rivalries are on tap. Texas A&M, ranked 8th, visits No. 17 Texas. If the Aggies win, they will claim at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship and earn a trip to the Cotton Bowl for the first time since 1967.

No. 2 Alabama, 10-0 and bound for the Orange Bowl, sends its offensive hordes against defensive-minded Auburn at Birmingham in the second half of Friday's double header. The 9-1 Tigers have already accepted a Gator Bowl bid against Texas.

Top-ranked Oklahoma, denied a bowl spot by the NCAA due to recruiting indiscretions, closes out its season Saturday by hosting Oklahoma State, 6-4 and headed for the Fiesta Bowl.

No. 5 Notre Dame, 9-1, visits No. 6 Southern California, 8-1-1, in one of two national TV contests. The Irish will be Alabama's Orange Bowl opponents while the Trojans, Pacific-8 champs, take on Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

No. 15 Houston is at Tulsa and No. 16 Baylor hosts Rice in the only other games involving ranked teams. Should Texas beat Texas A&M Friday, Baylor can capture the Southwest Conference title and a trip to the Cotton Bowl by beating the Owls.

Elsewhere Saturday, traditional games highlight the schedule. Army and Navy bring losing records into Philadelphia for their 75th meeting in the first of Saturday's national TV games. Miami, Fla., visits Sugar Bowl-bound Florida, Georgia Tech is at Georgia, Vanderbilt hosts Tennessee and Arizona State is at Arizona.

McBride Named NL's Top Rookie

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bake McBride, the wing-footed center fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, was named the National League's Rookie of the Year today by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

McBride ran away from the field with 16 of the 24 votes to rout his two competitors, Greg Gross of the Houston Astros and Bill Madlock of the Chicago Cubs. Gross collared seven of the votes and Madlock received one.

The sturdy McBride, who hit .309, knocked in 56 runs and stole 30 bases, became the first Cardinal to win the award in 19 years and only the third in the history of the organization. Wally Moon and Bill Virdon won it consecutively in 1954 and 1955 for St. Louis.

Two writers from each of the 12 National League cities voted for the award.

Reacting logically to the prize, McBride picked up and kissed his wife when he learned that he had won.

"I was just happy," he noted, pointing to the help of teammate Lou Brock as a significant factor in his splendid season.

"I owe most of the honor to Brock," noted McBride. "He's some kind of fellow."

McBride teamed with Brock to give the Cardinals the two most prolific basestealers on any baseball team in major league history. With Brock's 118, the pair stole 148 bases to better the previous mark by Maury Wills and Willie Davis, who combined for 136 one year for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The prize provided McBride with a perfect year. He had set a .300 season and the Rookie of the Year award as his goals for 1974.

"It was a pretty tough, but at the end of the season, I thought I had as good a chance as any," said McBride.

He has not set too many goals for next year, other than winning a pennant.

"I want us to go all the way," he said. "I don't care if I hit .180 or .190. I just want us to win."

McBride's fancy batting average of 1974 tied him for the team lead with Reggie Smith, but he was more than just a good hitter and base-stealer for the Cardinals. He filled a hole in the outfield and along with Smith and Brock, provided the team with perhaps the fastest outfield in baseball.

Gross played an outstanding right field for Houston, making only two errors all season. He was consistent most of the year at the plate, too, and wound up with a .314 batting average.

Madlock, an infielder, hit .313 and had nine home runs and 54 RBI in just 128 games.

Playing For Spot In Finals

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Tax problems will take a back seat to football tonight as the financially troubled Birmingham Americans play the Hawaiians with the winner nailing down a spot in the World Football League's first World Bowl.

Federal, state and local tax officials say they will delay their claims against the Americans so the players can be paid and the game can take place.

Paydays for the Americans themselves have not always come on schedule this season, but Coach Jack Gotta says the players are taking the team's money problems in stride.

"Our people really have a good attitude about the whole thing. I think they realize everything is going to be resolved soon and everyone will get what's coming to him," Gotta said.

The winner of the game will meet the winner of Friday night's Memphis-Florida clash in the World Bowl Dec. 5.

Hawaii, called "the best in the West" by Gotta, advanced to the semifinals of the playoffs with a 32-14 victory over Southern California last week, while Birmingham had a bye in the first round.

The Hawaiians' Tim Delaney is the WFL's leading pass receiver with 89 catches for 1,232 yards during the 20-game regular season.

Quarterback Randy Johnson joined the Hawaiians at mid-season and finished with 113

No National Title From Orange Bowl

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — What a difference a year makes for the Oklahoma Sooners.

"We were in a different situation last year," says Coach Barry Switzer. "We were the second team at that time. And ABC, the Sugar Bowl and the press — you people produced a national championship game on New Year's Eve. It was an extravaganza. It happened that the team that won was going to be the national champion."

This time, Oklahoma is ranked No. 1. Alabama and Notre Dame have lined up a rematch — in the Orange Bowl rather than the Sugar — but Alabama is ranked second, compared to No. 1 a year ago, while Notre Dame had a perfect record last time but has lost once this season with a super-tough game remaining.

"I don't see any way they can make the Orange Bowl into a national championship affair," says Switzer, who thinks last Saturday's 28-14 triumph over highly rated Nebraska enhanced his team's No. 1 ranking. And Switzer intends to see that his Sooners perform well when they close out another bowl season Saturday against Oklahoma State. Oklahoma ... 45-7.

Last week's score was 39 right, 16 wrong and one tie for .709. We were just two points off on Oklahoma's 28-14 victory over Nebraska and just three points away from Notre Dame's 38-0 rout of Air Force. For the season, the count is 504-198-718.

Well, maybe Switzer is right and they can't make the Orange Bowl into a national championship affair, but don't tell that to Alabama, especially if the Crimson Tide beats Auburn on Saturday ... Alabama 21-7.

Even defending champion Notre Dame thinks it has a shot at No. 1, but the question is whether the Irish will still be alive following Saturday's clash with Southern California in the Los Angeles Coliseum ... Southern Cal 24-17.

The big winner in the Texas-Texas A&M game could be Baylor. If the Aggies beat Texas, they go to the Cotton Bowl. If they lose, Baylor goes. Texas is going to the Gator Bowl, win or lose.

Texas A&M has won only once and tied another in Texas' Memorial Stadium since it was built in 1924 but Texas Coach Darrell Royal doesn't believe in jinxes. This end does ... Texas 21-10.

The nationally televised holiday fare starts Thursday night with the Penn State-Pitt clash for the Eastern championship. "We'd rather beat Pitt than go to a bowl," says Penn State's Joe Paterno, who's going to the Cotton Bowl. "A bowl game is far, far subservient to this game," says Pitt's Johnny Majors, who's not going anywhere. The pick... Penn State 22-20.

Other games:
Baylor 28, Rice 14; Navy 21, Army 14; Houston 31, Tulsa 24; Arizona 28, Arizona State 24; Boston College 42, Holy Cross 7; Florida 17, Miami, Fla. 10; Georgia 27, Georgia Tech 20; Tennessee 20, Vanderbilt 10; Louisiana State 35, Utah 6; Tulane 24, Mississippi 14; San Diego State 24, Utah State 20; Rutgers 21, Hawaii 7; Cincinnati 31, Northeast Louisiana 14.

Thomas Comes Back To Haunt

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — When the Dallas Cowboys traded Duane Thomas, they never really thought the Washington Redskins running back would ever come back to haunt them.

Thomas paced the Cowboys to the 1971 Super Bowl title but Coach Tom Landry tired of making special favors for him and of his possible eroding influence on team unity.

The Cowboys front office figured that would be the case anywhere Thomas went ... too moody ... too much of an introvert.

For awhile it looked like they were right as he bounced from team to team, but Thomas was to be in the starting line-up against Dallas Thanksgiving Day as Washington attempted to nail down a National Football League playoff berth.

The previous week Thomas gained a game ball in a 65-yard effort against Philadelphia, prompting a rare smile.

The Cowboys hinted this week that they would rather see Thomas in the lineup than Larry Brown, who has been injured most of the season.

"I want to see for myself if Duane really will be in the line-up because it's kind of hard to get away from Brown," says Cowboy assistant Coach Ernie Allen. "Duane is not running as well as he did when he played for us. I think his average shows that."

Landry was more succinct on the matter, saying "We're certainly not going to put in any special defenses or anything to try to stop him."

Asked how he felt about starting against Dallas, Thomas said: "The motivation comes in that you can prepare yourself in advance. I can study the films and get more coordination with the people I'm working with. We can talk about things more."

Thomas never did much talking to his teammates or reporters in Dallas.

Once asked by a Dallas sports writer how he felt about playing in the ultimate game — the Super Bowl — Thomas replied: "I don't believe it's the ultimate. If it was, they wouldn't be playing it again next year."

Washington can clinch a wild card berth in the national television game with a victory should Denver down Detroit in the first game of the turkey day doubleheader.

The Redskins are 8-3 in the NFC East and trail St. Louis by a game. Dallas, Green Bay and Detroit have five losses. The best runnerup in the three NFC Divisions gets the "wild card" berth. Washington beat Green Bay in a head-on meeting and that just leaves Dallas and Detroit, who could be eliminated with losses Thursday.

Atlanta Snaps Losing Streak

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Defense is the name of the game in pro basketball, according to rookie guard Tom Henderson of the Atlanta Hawks — a defensive ace who's not doing so badly on offense, either.

Tom Van Arsdale scored 33 points and Henderson came off the bench to add 27 — both season highs — to help Atlanta break a three-game losing streak and upset the Washington Bullets 119-102 in National Basketball Association action Tuesday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Detroit beat New York 99-88, Buffalo defeated Philadelphia 103-99, Cleveland topped Seattle 102-94, Kansas City-Omaha edged Chicago 93-90, Los Angeles nipped Milwaukee 105-102, Golden State outscored Houston 144-124 and Phoenix beat New Orleans 120-110.

"When I drafted Tom Henderson, I thought he was the best defensive guard in college basketball," said Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons, "and he's turned out to be a pretty good defensive guard in pro basketball."

Elvin Hayes and Phil Chenier each had 30 points for the Bullets.

Braves 103, 76ers 99
Buffalo's Bob McAdoo poured in 46 points — to tie the record for the most points ever scored in a professional game in Philadelphia's Spectrum — as the Braves raised their record to 16-4, the best in the NBA.

Kings 93, Bulls 90
KC-Omaha grabbed a half-game lead in the Midwest Division as little Nate Archibald scored six clutch points and added a big assist in the final five minutes.

Lakers 105, Bucks 102
Pat Riley and Lucius Allen led a fourth-quarter surge which offset 36 points by Milwaukee's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and swept Los Angeles to victory. Riley sank four free throws in the final 14 seconds to insure the victory.

Allen, acquired from Milwaukee in a trade for Jim Price on Nov. 9, scored 16 points against his former teammates, including a three-point play and a long shot which put Los Angeles ahead to stay at 91-88 with seven minutes to play.

Pistons 99, Knicks 88

Bob Lanier scored 36 points, including 23 in the second half, to pace the Pistons.

Warriors 144, Rockets 124
Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, had 37 points as Golden State outscored Houston. The point total was the highest of the season for the Warriors.

Suns 120, Jazz 110
Charlie Scott scored 31 points, including 23 in the first half, as Phoenix built up a 26-point lead and handed the Jazz its 18th loss in 20 games.

Cavaliers 102, Sonics 94
Austin Carr's 24 points, including 20 in the second half, paced Cleveland, which broke open a five-point half-time lead to a 17-point third quarter bulge.

ABA results: Kentucky 128, Memphis 106, and Denver 134, St. Louis 124 in overtime.

Just Two More Years, And Dan Cooper Free; If He Is Alive

By ALLEN NACHEMAN
Associated Press Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — It has been three years since the skyjacker called Dan Cooper parachuted from a Northwest Airlines jet with $200,000 in ransom money and wrote himself into the folklore of the Pacific Northwest.

Two more and he'll be home free — if he's alive.

"The federal statute of limitations on that crime is five years," said Sidney Lezak, U.S. attorney in Portland.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, Cooper is the only person ever to hijack a domestic airliner who has not been killed or brought to justice.

"We know nothing more about him today than we did at 11 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24, 1971," says Julius Mattson, special agent in charge of the Portland FBI office.

These are the events of that Thanksgiving Eve as authorities reconstructed them:

A man who gave his name as Dan Cooper bought a one-way ticket at Portland International Airport to Seattle aboard Northwest Airlines flight 305 which originated in Washington, D.C.

In the air, Cooper handed stewardess Tina Mucklow a note saying he had a bomb. Following Cooper's orders, Miss Mucklow sat beside him and wrote down instructions to the pilot.

He wanted 10,000 $20 bills to be delivered to him at Seattle in a laundry sack, along with two sets of parachutes. Otherwise, he would blow up the plane, he said.

Airline officials and FBI agents complied and Cooper allowed the passengers and two of the three stewardesses to disembark at Seattle.

Then he ordered the plane to fly south to Reno, Nev. The crew was to stay in the cockpit.

After takeoff from Seattle, a red light flashed in the cockpit indicating the plane's rear boarding ramp had been unlatched.

When the plane landed in Reno, the rear ramp was down and Cooper, the sack of money and one set of parachutes were gone. The skyjacker, who had carefully reclaimed his note to the stewardess, had left no fingerprints.

Authorities pinpointed Cooper's jump point near Woodland, Wash. The little town was transformed into a bustling command post for a small army of newsmen, FBI agents, police and soldiers from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

With planes, helicopters, jeeps and track dogs, they combed the vast, densely wooded region northeast of Woodland.

The skyjacker had left the plane clad only in a light business suit and street shoes. He parachuted into the blackness of a raging thunderstorm, into a 200 m.p.h. wind and 7-degrees-below-zero temperatures.

He could not have survived, the police reasoned. They were simply looking for a body and a bag of money and that could wait until the spring thaw. A week later, the searchers went home.

Then, late in March 1972, 300 soldiers combed the thawing terrain for 18 days and found not a trace of Dan Cooper or his bag of money.

Mattson says the FBI is still actively searching for Cooper. "I just wish we had a development, something to go on," he says.

Rescue Four Men At Sea

GEORGETOWN, S.C. (AP)—A cold, storm-swept night on the ocean off Georgetown hospitalized four Florence men Tuesday, but they were due for release today.

They were swept away from shore and stranded at sea Monday after setting out at 2 p.m. on a fishing trip in a 16-foot boat belonging to Jimmy M. Hewitt, 31.

They were battered by freezing 65 miles an hour winds and 20 foot waves.

"There were times when I doubted we would make it," Hewitt said Tuesday from the hospital. "We just kept trying."

The U.S. Coast Guard at Savannah, Ga., sent a helicopter to locate Hewitt and his three companions, rescuing them about 10 a.m. Tuesday. Aboard were Hewitt's 13-year-old nephew, Olin Hewitt; Ben Putnam, 20; and Paul Cannon, 26.

Hewitt told how they "cut a can in half with a knife and hammer and stuffed it with foam rubber cut from the seat to make a sort of giant candle" for warmth.

Gas Order Is 'Blocked' Former Cancer Patient Cites Discrimination

RALEIGH (AP)—A Federal Power Commission order that North Carolina energy experts said would have paralyzed many of the state's industrial plants has been blocked at least temporarily by a federal court.

Chairman Marvin R. Wooten of the state Utilities Commission hailed the decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia against the FPC's proposed natural gas distribution plan for the east coast.

"It's a clear, temporary victory," Wooten said. "They stopped the FPC cold."

The court action will mean, overall, about 12 per cent more natural gas for Tar Heel customers this winter than if the court had ruled in favor of the FPC.

Gas supplies, however, will still be the lowest ever for the state. Approval of the FPC plan would have meant that North Carolina customers would see their natural gas supplies slashed by an average of 43 per cent of the amount for which they had originally contracted.

Tuesday's action still means an overall cutback of 31 per cent.

The FPC plan was designed to shift more of the scarce supplies of natural gas along the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Company's line to heat northern homes.

Life Sentence In Bombing Case Upheld

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Supreme Court has upheld the life sentence a white supremacist received in the 1973 bombing of a black newspaper office in Wilmington.

The defendant, Lawrence Robert Little, a member of the Rights of White People organization, was convicted earlier this year of bombing the office of the Wilmington Journal, a weekly newspaper owned by T.C. Jervey.

Several witnesses testified at his trial Little had told them he bombed the office because of his hatred for black people.

The Supreme Court rejected several technical legal challenges to the trial. "A careful review of the record discloses that the defendant had a fair and impartial trial free from prejudicial error," said Associate Justice Dan K. Moore for the court.

CBS Network Sign Up Cavett

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Talk show host Dick Cavett has signed an exclusive contract with the CBS television network.

A spokesman said Tuesday that Cavett, currently under contract with ABC-TV, will appear on a one-hour entertainment special and as a guest on numerous prime-time programs.

CBS Vice President Fred Silverman said Cavett's contract will run from Jan. 1, 1975, through the 1975-76 television season with an option for CBS to use him in a prime time series of his own in the 1976-77 season.

NEW YORK (AP) — For Mrs. Joyce E. Arkhurst, the news after her breast cancer surgery last April was good: the lesion was extremely small and her doctor said he considered her to be cured.

But earlier this month, Mrs. Arkhurst, who lives in New York, was informed that she could not be considered eligible for a job at the United Nations "according to our present medical standards."

Mrs. Arkhurst's case was cited by the American Cancer Society in material provided for release today as an example of discrimination by employers against former cancer patients.

"The likelihood of being turned down for a new job because of a past history of cancer is very, very large," said Dr. Robert J. McKenna, a surgeon at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, Los Angeles.

"There is still a stigma attached to cancer," Dr. McKenna said. The surgeon has been named by the cancer society to head a new task force investigating such reported discrimination in general.

"Last April I had a simple mastectomy," Mrs. Arkhurst says. "I was very fortunate. The tumor was discovered very early by mammography (X ray). It was tiny, and there was no evidence of spreading."

Salvation Army Helped More Than 500 People

More than 500 persons were given assistance by the Salvation Army in Pitt County during the month of October, according to a report presented at the regular meeting of the Army's advisory board yesterday.

Some 507 individuals received assistance from the clothing house, which distributed 62 pairs of shoes and 3,714 pieces of clothing during the month.

In addition to the clothing, 51 other items were distributed, including mattresses, bed springs, dishes and other household items.

Also two fuel orders filled, 23 food orders given, three families helped with utility bills, and two aided with rent payments.

The Salvation Army's work with transients included two provided night's lodging, four meals given and one bus ticket purchased.

How Tar Heel Representatives And Senators Voted

By ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON — Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Nov. 18 through Nov. 20.

House
FREEDOM OF INFORMATION Overrode, 371 for and 31 against, President Ford's veto of HR 12471. The bill amends the 1966 Freedom of Information Act, which permits citizen access to certain categories of executive branch documents.

President Ford objected to the following provisions of HR 12471. It puts upon the government the burden of justifying secrecy classifications to a federal judge. It imposes 10-day and 20-day deadlines by which the government must respond, respectively, to requests for documents and appeals of decisions denying information. It makes fewer categories of law enforcement files exempt from the 1966 law.

Those voting to override said the legislation would plug loopholes which have enabled the government to sidestep the spirit of the law. Contending that government officials often use the secrecy stamp to hide their own errors, Rep. Les Aspin (D-Wisc.) said: "I am often reminded of the Russian story about the man sentenced to 23 years in prison for saying 'Breshnev is a fool' — three years for insulting a party secretary and 20 years for revealing a state secret."

Although no supporters of the veto spoke during floor debate, they generally agreed with Ford's contention that the 10-day and 20-day deadlines are unrealistic, and that the amendments would infringe upon the privacy many executive branch employees need to function effectively.

Reps. L. H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Ike Andrews (D-4), Wilmer Mizell (R-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Charles Rose (D-7), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "yea."

Reps. Earl Ruth (R-8) and James Martin (R-9) voted "nay."

Rep. Walter Jones (D-1) did not vote.

DRINKING WATER Passed, 296 for and 84 against, the 1974 Safe Drinking Water Act. It sets federal purity standards for drinking water and requires states and communities to at least match them or face intervention by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The Senate has passed similar legislation and a House-

Senate conference committee will be convened.

Supporters said a federal program is needed because of evidence that unsafe drinking water is causing an increasing number of diseases. They noted the recent discovery of cancer-causing agents in the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Washington, D.C. systems.

Opponents readily agreed with the objective of "safe drinking water." But they called the legislation administratively unworkable, unfair to communities lacking money needed to comply with federal regulations, and an intrusion into states' rights.

Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Fountain, Henderson and Ruth voted "nay." Martin Jones and Rose did not vote.

PRIVACY Adopted, 192 for and 177 against, an amendment limiting the access of federal civilian and military employees to their government personnel files. It was attached to HR 16373, the Privacy Act of 1974, the first comprehensive federal law protecting citizens from the Big Brother aspects of federal data banks. The bill was later passed and sent to the Senate.

The amendment, dealing only with the rights of federal employees, narrows the type of information an individual can inspect in his or her personnel file. Not available as a result of this vote will be the identities of persons providing confidential evaluations of an individual's competence. Also kept secret by the amendment are Civil Service testing material and evaluation material used by the military to determine promotions.

Supporters argued that government personnel officers could not get candid job recommendations if sources knew they might be identified, and that Civil Service and military evaluation material deserves to remain private. Opponents said government workers are entitled to maximum access to their own records so that they will not be unfairly penalized by the entry of erroneous information.

Fountain, Henderson, Mizell, Preyer, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Andrews and Rose voted "nay." Ruth did not vote.

Senate
MASS TRANSIT Adopted, 64 for and 17 against, the conference report on legislation (S 386) establishing a new policy for federal funding of urban mass transit systems.

The conference report, now before the House, authorizes a six-year, $11.8 billion outlay in the form of matching grants to cities for construction of mass transit facilities and operating costs.

Supporters cited the increasing utility of mass transportation as energy shortages and air pollution make it advisable to reduce automobile usage. Opponents objected, in part, to the provision permitting federal grants to subsidize operating costs. Sen. Harry Byrd (I-Va.) warned that federal underwriting of subway, bus and commuter rail systems will turn into "a bottomless pit."

Sens. Sam Ervin (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "nay."

MEALS-ON-WHEELS Rejected, 36 for and 52 against, an amendment increasing from $135 million to $160 million the current fiscal year appropriation for the "meals on wheels" program which provides elderly shut-ins with one nutritious meal daily. The amendment was proposed to HR 16900, a supplemental appropriations bill.

Supporters argued that the additional $25 million would bring the appropriation to the spending level previously authorized by Congress, and that the money is needed to keep many older persons from going hungry.

Opponents voiced support for the program, but said that this and other amendments proposed to the supplemental bill would add so much money that President Ford would be likely to veto it.

Ervin and Helms voted "nay."

TIME OUT FOR SUN — Pretty Patti Mac, 18, takes out from her job as a Miami Beach, Fla. real estate salesperson to soak up some sun and After you use your turkey, use your noodle.

When you come to think about it, one of the most inventive ways to use your turkey the day after your holiday meal is to use Mueller's Egg Noodles.

And one of the most delicious tasting dishes you can make is called, appropriately enough, Turkey Noodle Tempter. Here's how to make it:

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1/2 cup sliced celery | 1 soup can milk |
| 1/4 cup chopped onion | 1 to 2 cups diced cooked turkey |
| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | 2 tablespoons diced pimiento |
| 1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed cream of chicken or mushroom soup | 8 ounces (6 cups) Mueller's medium or wide egg noodles |
| | 1/4 cup buttered bread crumbs |
- Cook celery and onion in butter until crisp-tender, but not brown. Blend in soup and milk; add turkey and pimiento. Meanwhile, cook noodles as directed on package. In 2-quart casserole, combine noodles and turkey mixture; top with crumbs. Bake at 350°F. for 25 to 30 minutes, or until lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

You can whip up loads of other dishes with Mueller's Egg Noodles, too. Because nothing goes with everything like Mueller's.

A lot of people must feel the same way. Because it just so happens of all the egg noodles sold in this country, more people buy Mueller's than any other kind.

After you use your noodle, chances are you'll use ours.

Nothing goes with everything like Mueller's.

By CHRISTOPHER CABOT
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—
"There are two kinds of records, good records and bad records. A good one sells and a bad one doesn't," says Billy Sherrill, outlining a standard for success that has made him one of the best producers in country music.

"This is commercial, sure. But record companies are out to make money. And if a song doesn't sell, not only does it not make money, but it doesn't reach anybody."

"You can have the greatest song in the world, but if it doesn't sell the people won't find out. What good is that?"

The people have found out about the records Sherrill produces. Charlie Rich, Tammy Wynette, Tanya Tucker, George Jones and Sam Houston have Sherrill to thank for producing their greatest hits. Rich and Miss Wynette think so much of Sherrill's touch that their contracts with Columbia Records specify that the producer must be Billy Sherrill.

"When I first came to country music," Sherrill recalls, "there was a formula for a hit. There were definite dos and don'ts—like never cut a waltz; never run longer than three minutes; get the punch line up front; no steel guitar."

"One of the first songs I did broke all these rules. It was a waltz. The punch line was about two minutes into the song. It was longer than three minutes. That was back in like 1965 or '66."

Charlie Rich is perhaps the most notable example of Sherrill's producing success. In the past two years, Rich has won seven Country Music Association awards. His top hits include "Behind Closed Doors," "Most Beautiful Girl" and "Very Special Love Song," all produced by Sherrill. In fact,

Sherrill collaborated with Norro Wilson and Rory Burke to write "Most Beautiful Girl."

"Charlie and I stuck together through the thin times," Sherrill says. "Even when Charlie wasn't getting hits, which was for a long time, everybody including me, loved to have him around. He's a musician's musician."

"I knew sometime Charlie was got to hit. Something in my gut knew that if we could just get the right song, we'd make it. The country people thought he was too pop, and he was too country for pop. We just had to find the right song."

"Behind Closed Doors" wasn't the first we had. I thought 'Woman Left Lonely' and 'Take It on Home' might go. But they didn't, so we kept trying.

A producer is music's answer to the motion picture director. He organizes the recording session, calls the shots during the session, often picks the songs to be recorded and supervises such engineering refinements as mixing and over-dubbing. Producing is a highly personal art, and producers often develop their own entourage of artists, musicians, writers, engineers and technicians, the essentials of a successful record making team.

"The song is by far the most important thing," Sherrill insists. "I don't care who you are, if you don't have the right song, you'll never have a hit."

"I really can't define what a good song is. Say a pretty girl walked into the room. Why is she pretty? Is it her ears, nose, shape? No, it's the overall feeling she gives."

"It's just like this with songs."

Sherrill, 37, exudes a confidence that anything is possible, that he has the drive, skill and imagination to take country musicians where they haven't been before.

"There is only one way I can make a song — the artist must have complete confidence in me," he says. "Tammy Wynette hated 'Stand By Your Man' when we first showed it to her. And Charlie wasn't too excited about 'Behind Closed Doors.'"

Sherrill is constantly on the lookout for new songs and gets them from everything he does.

"In my business, everybody changes everybody. One night you might listen to Beethoven and suddenly that will tell you how to write that bridge you've been looking for. I get songs from some pretty wierd places."

As the song is the most important ingredient of success, Sherrill says country music writers are the key to the industry. Without writers, he says, there can be no hits.

"I think Kris Kristofferson opened the doors for writers. Before 'Help Me Make It Through the Night' — with it's mention of hair, body and skin Thornsby. . .

"You win! You win! I'll give up rock if you'll stop singing 'Jeannie with the light brown hair!'"

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1974

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The details of everyday living require your undivided attention. No item is unimportant now so think out the best way to handle facts and figures. Avoid going off on any tangents that would take you away from your duties.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Making improvements at home and office is wise now. Set up a budget that is sensible. Be more money conscious and all goes well.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Give more attention to improving your social position and you find you can accomplish much. Start by repaying social debts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen to what an expert has to suggest and your future operations can be more profitable. Follow your hunches now and be more astute.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) It is wise to hold fast to a good plan you made earlier in order gain a personal wish. A good friend can be helpful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care you are precise in the handling of career and business matters that are most pressing. Study all details of a new plan.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your intuition is good at this time, so follow it for best results. Don't procrastinate any longer. Take health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forget an emotional affair and get right down to business matters you have been neglecting. Enjoy cultural outlets at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Give your favorite hobby all the attention it requires at this time. Steer clear of one who would stand in the path of progress.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Clear the slate of little chores that need doing so you will have time for more important matters later on. Be logical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Working on a hobby now and perfecting it could be a new source of revenue for you. Show devotion to a deserving person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't neglect chores at home that are important although not much fun. Strive for more harmony with all members of the family.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) An associate is testing you, so don't argue or get caught in a trap. Make sure you carry through with all promises you've made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will do well in any profession that requires an even and well-adjusted temperament. The education should be directed toward whatever has to do with government, banking, teaching and the like. An excellent chart for the sports-minded person.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
