

Water Polluted In Devastated Darwin

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer
DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Diseases from polluted water today threatened the survivors of the Christmas Day cyclone that devastated Darwin, northern Australia's major city.

Doctors at Darwin Hospital said the number of children being admitted with illness caused by drinking polluted water now outnumbered those with injuries caused by the killer storm.

A campaign of cholera and tetanus immunizations was begun to fight the threat of disease after this city of 40,000 was left without adequate safe water, sewerage service, and electric power.

A mass evacuation also got under way, beginning with an airlift of the critically injured. Officials said 10,000 people would have to be evacuated, and other estimates ranged higher.

Survivors told harrowing tales of escape from the cyclone that left at least 40 known dead, hundreds injured and most of the city's residents homeless. Cyclone warnings had been given, but one survivor said, "We were always getting cyclone warnings, and everybody was blasé about it."

People dug in the wreckage of their homes for their belongings. One house bore a handwritten sign: "Looters Shot."

The Australian Air Force flew in more than 20 plane loads of medical supplies, drinking water, food, blankets, clothing and medical teams. The planes then ferried more than 200 persons to hospitals in east coast cities, more than five hours away.

Defense Minister Lance Barnard took charge of the relief operation and said 40 persons were known dead. Other reports from Darwin put the death toll as high as 80.

Hundreds were reported injured or missing.

Barnard said at least 10,000 of the city's 40,000 people would have to be evacuated until the town was rebuilt.

Survivors reported 90 per cent of the city's buildings were damaged or demolished.

Relief organizations in Australia's southern cities began preparations to house evacuees at race tracks, fair grounds and government hostels.

Appeals were made for blood, accommodations and money.

Offer of help came from New Zealand, the United States and Britain. The government accepted the offer of a huge U.S. Air Force Starlifter, a C130 transport plane from New Zealand and a British submarine whose generators can provide enough power for a city the size of Darwin.

Rescue operations were hampered by continued rain from the cyclone, Tracy, which roared out of the Timor Sea before dawn Wednesday and lashed Darwin for four hours with winds up to 120 miles an hour and heavy rains.

The storm today had advanced about 100 miles southeast of Darwin and was threatening to pick up force and momentum again over the Gulf of Carpentaria.

Police said there had been some looting in the city.

An inoculation program was begun to prevent the outbreak of disease caused by the breakdown of water and sewerage facilities.

Darwin is more than 2,000 miles from Sydney and 900 miles by road from the nearest large town, Alice Springs, in central Australia. At this time of the year it is accessible only by sea and air because roads across the hundreds of miles of outback desert and prairie are cut by the monsoon rains.

Domestic airliners, executive jets and other private planes were mobilized for the relief airlift. The aircraft carrier Melbourne and two destroyers were en route from Sydney, but will not arrive until next week.

Normal communications were wiped out by the storm — equivalent to a hurricane or typhoon elsewhere in the world — that demolished homes, sank ships, smashed parked planes, hurled cars across streets and sent glass windowpanes and iron roofing flying through the air.

Rega Vardenega, deputy director of the National Disaster Organization in Canberra, said today there was still no clear picture of casualties, damage or relief needs.

One report said 90 per cent of the homes and other buildings were destroyed or damaged.

Continuing rains and winds gusting up to 30 miles an hour compounded the misery of the survivors and hampered relief work.

Prime Minister Gough Whitlam, in London on a European tour, radioed the mayor of Darwin that he had ordered "that nothing be spared to bring aid to the homeless and afflicted."

Noting that Darwin was the only Australian city extensively damaged by Japanese bombers during World War II, Whitlam pledged a "determined and unremitting effort" to rebuild the city again and relieve its suffering.

Fulbright Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has resigned from the Senate effective Dec. 31, the Senate secretary's office said today.

The resignation of Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, opens the way for Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers to succeed him early if Bumpers resigns as governor. Bumpers defeated Fulbright's bid for re-election in the Democratic primary earlier this year and then went on to score an overwhelming victory over a Republican opponent in the November election.

There was no indication whether Bumpers, whose term as governor runs until Jan. 14, would resign to take over Fulbright's seat.

Fulbright's resignation ahead of the expiration of his term on Jan. 3 could enable Bumpers to gain an edge in seniority over other incoming freshmen.

Investing By Business Up

RALEIGH (AP)—More money was spent by industry for new or expanded plants in 1974 than in 1973 and jobs created by that growth paid a record high salary, Gov. Jim Holshouser announced.

The governor announced in a news release that average salaries for new jobs created by industrial development in the state increased 16 per cent—to $7,084—this year compared to the 1973 pay level.

Also, capital investment by industry in 1974 hit $872 million, a record high. The 1973 investments amounted to $727 million.

The news release didn't say how much of the increase in capital investment and salaries was caused by inflation. Also, the governor's good news followed Monday's gloomy announcement that unemployment reached 6.6 per cent in North Carolina during November.

The Employment Security Commission said it was the first time in recent years that North Carolina's jobless rate was greater than the national average. The national unemployment rate was 6.5 per cent. A commission spokesman said the Tar Heel unemployment rate is usually 2 or 2.5 percentage points below the national rate.

Holshouser said the higher salaries for new jobs "accurately reflect our efforts to recruit higher paying, more diversified industry in North Carolina."

The average salary for new jobs was $6,083 in 1973 and $5,770 in 1972 and $4,400 in 1967, the news release reported. "We are especially pleased about go-

Greenville's Christmas A Quiet Day For Families

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
As it should be, Christmas in Greenville was a quiet day — a time for families to be together — a time of fellowship.

Law enforcement agencies in the county reported relatively little activity yesterday, as did the Greenville Fire Department, with only a few minor incidents being reported.

Several local churches held special services Christmas

Eve and Christmas Day, celebrating the birth of Christ.

Early-evening candle light services were held at Memorial Baptist Church, Hooker Memorial Christian Church, Our Redeemer

Lutheran Church and at Immanuel Baptist Church, while 11 o'clock and 11:15 p.m. services were held at the First Presbyterian Church, and at St. James and Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Churches, and a midnight eucharist was held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. A midnight Mass was also held at St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Yesterday, communion services were held at St. Paul's, while the Black Pastor's Conference held services at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church from 5 a.m. until 7 a.m. with members of Sycamore Hill, Mt. Calvary, Holy Trinity, Cornerstone, Selvia Chapel, Phillips Church of Christ and York Memorial churches participating.

Masses were also held at St. Peter's yesterday, and a Holy Communion was held at 10 a.m. at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church.

The holiday was short-lived for many local residents. Most stores in the Greenville area — both downtown and at various shopping centers — were opened for business. Only a few remained closed this morning, giving their employees an extra holiday.

However, governmental employees were enjoying a longer vacation from their jobs.

City of Greenville employees will be off through Friday, while Pitt County employees will return to work tomorrow. State worker will return to work January 2. Only Federal employees received only Christmas day off.

Local banks were closed today, but will re-open for business Friday.

Two District Towns In South Vietnam Overrun By North Viets, VC

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong overran two more district towns, shot down a C130 transport plane on a supply mission and fired 37 rockets into the Bien Hoa air base, the South Vietnamese military command announced today.

Don Luan, 55 miles north of Saigon, and Tanh Linh, 70 miles northeast of the capital, were the fourth and fifth district towns lost since the Communists stepped up their attacks in the southern part of the country on Dec. 6. The Saigon government now has lost 10 district towns since the cease-fire agreement nearly two years ago.

The Saigon command said the attacking forces poured thousands of shells into Don Luan and Tanh Linh. The Don Luan garrison reported shortly before it broke radio contact with Saigon that North Vietnamese tanks were attacking from the west.

South Vietnam's 250 district towns, guarded by local militia-men, are similar to county seats in the United States. Several others were reported under attack, including Hoai Duc, 15 miles north of Tanh Linh.

The North Vietnamese downed the big C130 as it approached the isolated provincial capital of Phuoc Long, 75 miles north of Saigon. The plane's five crewmen were killed, officials said.

A HOTLINE APPEAL

WANTS TO PLAY PIANO AGAIN

Mrs. Annie Dupree played the piano for worship services at four Pitt County churches for many years.

According to Mrs. Virginia Vines, a Pitt County VISTA Community Service Worker, this grand lady served Good Hope Free Will Baptist Church in Winterville 36 years; English Chapel F.W.B. Church, Greenville, 37 years; Mount Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church 29 years; and St. Monica Church, Grimesland 24 years. "She was playing every Sunday of each month for a different church," Mrs. Vines said.

Now Mrs. Dupree, who lives at 1809 W. Conley St. here, has had both legs amputated and has been shut in for some time. "Mrs. Dupree's beginning to get out some now," Mrs. Vines said. "She played for the Meals for Seniors Christmas party this past week. She's expressed some interest in teaching youngsters if she could have a piano in her home."

Anyone who may have a piano to donate should call Mrs. Vines at 758-4862.

GIFTS FOR NURSING CENTER

The Christmas spirit prevails. Mrs. Nell Hungate, who appealed through Hotline for gifts for the Greenville Nursing Center, reports that a church, a club, and numerous individuals responded.

The church gave 10 pews, which will be varnished and used for seating outdoors. Three lawn chairs, a redwood lawn set, a radio, lots of magazines, and a few record albums also were given.

Asked if there are any more immediate needs, Mrs. Hungate said bedside radios would be enjoyed by patients who cannot leave their rooms. An inexpensive record player for the living room also would be appreciated, as would additional outdoor furniture. Her phone number is 756-3064.

Survived Plane Crash In Christmas Joy Ride

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Two young Alamance County men survived a Christmas night joy ride which ended in the crash of a single-engine airplane at the Burlington Municipal Airport, authorities said.

Alamance County Deputy Sheriff Jack Morton said the Cessna 150 aircraft was stolen from Bill Price Aviation Co. at the airport. The plane crashed about 11 p.m. near the end of a runway.

Morton identified the occupants as William C. Turner Jr., 19, and Harry B. Fox, 20, both of Burlington.

It was not known immediately who was flying the plane, but one source said it was believed one of the occupants had taken flying lessons.

Turner was treated for a leg injury at the Alamance County Hospital and released. He was being held in the Alamance County Jail today under $2,000 bond on a charge of larceny of airplane.

Fox remained in the hospital today in satisfactory condition. Charges against him were pending, Morton said.

Morton said the two-passenger aircraft was destroyed and the loss was set at $8,500.

The E.M. Holt Volunteer Fire Department was summoned to the crash site, roped it off and stood by because of a gasoline spillage. Authorities said the two men had to be cut from the plane and it was feared that sparks might ignite the fuel.

Morton said the crash occurred about 11 p.m. and was discovered about 11:12 p.m.

A spokesman at the airport said the plane ripped a corner off the hanger off when it left. He added that the plane had been flown Tuesday afternoon and was then tied down on a ramp.

He said the plane may not have been refueled since that flight.

Jim Parris, general manager of Price Aviation, said the keys had been left in the plane.

Medical Shortage In Half Of N.C. Counties

RALEIGH (AP)—The federal government has designated 59 of North Carolina's 100 counties as critical shortage areas for doctors and dentists.

They are eligible for medical manpower help from the National Health Service corps.

The corps recruits doctors and nurses for shortage areas which request them. Their salaries begin at about $17,500 and are paid primarily through patient fees.

The main purpose of the program is to encourage doctors, dentists and other health personnel to remain permanently in the areas.

Critical shortage counties have doctor-patient or dentist-patient ratios of about 1 to 4,000 or less. Or they have areas within them with such ratios.

The shortage counties are Alexander, Alleghany, Anson, Ashe, Avery, Bertie, Beaufort, Bladen, Brunswick, Caldwell, Camden, Currituck, Caswell, Cherokee, Clay, Columbus, Dare, Davidson, Duplin, Edgecombe.

Franklin, Gaston, Gates, Graham, Granville, Greene, Halifax, Harnett, Hertford, Hoke, Hyde, Johnston, Jones, Macon, Madison.

Montgomery, Northampton, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Pender, Person, Perquimans, Randolph, Richmond, Rowan, Robeson, Rockingham, Rutherford, Sampson, Scotland, Stanly, Stokes, Tyrrell, Union, Warren, Washington, Wilkes, Yancey and Yadkin.

Your Parents Need Help

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-H. V. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my guilt. I had a very unhappy childhood because of my father. He used to beat my mother (and still does) and he'd beat us kids until we were a mass of welts. I hate him, and can't tell you the number of times I wished him dead. He doesn't drink, and he goes to church, but you'd never know it. He only hits people who can't fight back. It's always someone weaker than he is. He's the cruellest man I know. He went into a rage once after he beat Mom up and broke all the windows in our house.

We are all married now and can't understand why Mom still stays with him. We've all told her she can come and live with any of us.

My husband welcomes my mother in our home, but not my father because my father once started slapping Mom around in our house and my husband has barred him from our property every ever since.

I feel so guilty having a wonderful husband and family and knowing what Mom is putting up with. Thanks for listening.
GUILTY DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: If your mother knows that she is welcome to live with any of her children, but continues to stay with your father and takes the abuse you describe, she is as sick as he is. And he is sick, sick, sick. No need for you to feel guilty. Your parents need a psychiatrist with two couches.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 26, happily married and flat as a board. My husband knows that I've always wanted a big bosom, so he agreed for me to see a plastic surgeon about silicone implants. The date for my surgery has been set, but my problem is, what do I tell people?

I know it's none of their business, but this is a rather small town and gossip is what the people around here live on.

My husband and I run a small cafe. He cooks and I serve, and all our customers know I've got no bust, and if I suddenly go into the hospital for two days, am off work for two weeks, and then I show up at the cafe with a pair of 38s, won't they figure it out?

I'm a lousy liar, and if the truth gets out, I'm afraid people will be coming to the cafe to get a look at me.
NERVOUS IN NEVADA

DEAR NERVOUS: You don't owe anyone any explanations. It's not unusual for a woman to go into a hospital for "a little surgery." And a two-weeks recuperating period isn't unusual either. As for the improved figure—enjoy it, and don't feel compelled to explain it.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please clear up something for me? My husband has two children by a former marriage. They live with their mother.

What am I to them? Am I their stepmother? I told my husband that I was NOT their stepmother because their mother is still living. He became angry and asked me what I thought I was—if not their stepmother.

I told him I was just their father's wife.
Am I wrong or right?
WHO AM I

DEAR WHO: Your husband is right. Stepmother is the wife of one's father by a subsequent marriage.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Walter H. Stocks of Maury announces the engagement of her daughter, Verna L., to Fredrick B. Shelton, son of Mrs. F. H. Cherrault of Farmville, Va., and Mr. Blaine Shelton of Newport News, Va. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mr. Stocks. The wedding will take place in June.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Ray Coward request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Vickie Laine, to Randy Braxton, on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Parkers Chapel Free Will Baptist Church.

Beauty Spot Coming Back

PARIS (WNS)—The beauty spot is making a major comeback in France. "If you have something that looks especially good, accent it with a beauty spot," suggested Simone Achard, who has already won seven beauty contests this year. "The beauty spot is like a baby spotlight that brings male attention where you want it." Songstree Anne Didot attracts kisses with her beauty spots. "Actually my spots are flavored tiny candies that handsome young men can't resist," she confided. "Licorice is an aphrodisiac that captures any Frenchman."

Couple Weds In Recent Ceremony

Miss Edna Carol Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dixie Wilson of Greenville, became the bride of Michael Hugh Briley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Earl Briley of Stokes, Sunday, Dec. 15, at 3:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Carson Memorial Pentecostal Holiness Church by the Rev. Frank Blalock. Miss Renae Edwards presented the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by Nat Sutton. She wore a formal length ivory gown of bridal polyester knit with a scoop neckline and full puffed ruffled long sleeves. The modified empire waistline was featured with a tie sash. The gown was made and designed by Mrs. Nat Sutton.

Her headpiece of matching knit was attached to an elbow length illusion veil trimmed with net rosebuds, made and designed by Mrs. Lone Hill. She carried a cascade of pink roses with baby's breath with long pink streamers.

Miss Emmie Godwin of Kinston was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ann Sutton and Marie Wilson, sister of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Mirinda Sutton and Vanessa Smith.

The flower girl was Shelia Bland and the ring bearer was Leroy Beachum.

Mrs. Michael Hugh Briley

Gary Allen Harrington, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Timmy Sutton and Buddy Wilson, brother of the bride. Junior ushers were Leo Smith and Wayne Wilson, brother of the bride.

The bride will graduate from North Pitt High School in June. The bridegroom is a graduate of North Pitt High School and is employed by F & E South of Greenville.

Mrs. Irene Harris presided at the bride's book and Mrs. Sutton directed the wedding.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride wore a yellow floral pants suit.

Following the wedding rehearsal, a reception was held in the church basement.

PINTO MUFFINS
Inspired by a quick-bread recipe developed by the dietetics and nutrition department of the University of New Mexico.

1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
3/4 cup well-drained pinto beans, from a 16-ounce can
1/4 cup coarsely diced onion
1/4 cup corn oil margarine, softened
1 1/2 teaspoon chicken bouillon granules
1 egg
1/4 cup milk

In a medium mixing bowl stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. In an electric blender whirl together until smooth the remaining ingredients; add to flour mixture; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into muffin-pan cups (each 1-3rd cup capacity) filling about 3/4 full. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 25 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 10.

Priority For An Urgent Need

A headline in the New Bern Sun Journal told a story that is all too familiar in North Carolina, both in large cities and small, our towns and our rural areas.

"Doctor shortage is critical", it said. The story went on to report that there were only six full-time and three semi-retired physicians in general practice for a three-county area with a population of nearly 85,000 people.

Craven County with a population of 62,554 has four full time and three semi-retired general and family physicians. Pamlico County population, 9,467 and Jones with a population of 9,779 have one general practitioner each.

The story told of the same problem for individuals as is found in Charlotte or Raleigh or many other cities of North Carolina. If you don't have a family doctor it is extremely difficult to see a physician when you become ill.

One family whose family physician retired called and found nothing could be done until Jan. 1, and then it would be necessary to get a full medical examination.

"I reckon we'll just do without a doctor for awhile or wait until the first of the year, hope we don't get sick before then, and try again," the man said.

The Sun-Journal asked Hospital director Lonnie Moore if the East Carolina Medical School will help the situation. "Absolutely yes!" Moore replied. It will not only add new private practice doctors to the community but also interns, technicians, residents and other help for the hospital.

There are, of course, other things being done about the physician shortage, the AHEC program being one promising the most immediate help. It still stands to reason, however, that more doctors are going to give our various communities a better chance at obtaining medical service, particularly if the new school is family practice oriented as the ECU school is pledged to be.

That is why many people feel that the ECU med school should be fully funded next year, even though we have a tight budget due to the uncertain economic times. It really goes beyond a matter of how much is spent for higher education in general, and becomes a question of taking care of our most urgent needs first.

THIS AFTERNOON

Not Everybody Is Helping

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Despite sporadic resistance from isolated communities across the state, the trend from the state level toward disbanding massive treatment institutions in favor of smaller, community treatment facilities continues.

The perplexing question facing local and state officials in a variety of areas: mental health, youthful offenders, prison release, alcoholism and drug abuse treatment, dealing with the emotionally disturbed, and so on, is how to gain necessary community support for the community treatment idea.

The reason for the present movement in the direction of treatment in the community is simple: a growing awareness that a troubled individual can respond better to treatment, and learn to cope better with his problems, by remaining in a familiar setting.

The home setting, after all, produced the tensions that probably helped develop the problem, and that must be dealt with "at home" rather than in some idyllic, isolated institution, the reasoning goes.

Learn To Live

Furthermore, the individual must learn to live in the community and be useful to himself and his neighbors if treatment is to be considered a success afterward.

Naturally, money is saved by not having to provide large state-supported institutions, and from allowing individuals to live at home, even holding jobs while undergoing treatment.

There are some leaders in the reform movement who believe current economic difficulties and the obvious tightness of the upcoming state budget will work to the advantage of change.

Some experts call it "enlightened self-interest" on the part of the public: people will generally not go along with sweeping change for the sake of doing what is right; but they will go along if it will save them money. Community treatment, leaders in the field insist, will save money.

Still, all is to smooth sailing for the community treatment approach. As the trend grows—it is being pushed at top state levels from the governor's office down—officials predict mounting troubles.

The year just past saw numerous examples of community resistance to having such facilities placed in certain neighborhoods:

In Southern Pines, residents have taken the case of Duncraig Manor, a small treatment home for emotionally disturbed children, to court;

In Guilford County, community leaders rejected an already-funded halfway house for prisoners getting ready to return to society.

Some Resistance

Across the state, a variety of alcoholism treatment centers, drug abuse house, etc., met resistance. Some were established anyway; elsewhere plans were abandoned.

As one state official puts it: "People claim to be all for the idea of community treatment until somebody wants to put one in their neighborhood. Then, it's just like integrated housing—everybody's for it, but nobody wants one next door."

State officials, looking for arguments in favor of community treatment facilities, often point to Charlotte's Home of Assurance as a good example.

After several months of battling before public hearings and the City Council, a former prison inmate, Stacy L. Long, won zoning changes to put in a home for both state and federal prisoners awaiting release.

Today, the home is accepted in the neighborhood, and one of the persons who fought hardest against it "calls up when going out of town on vacation to ask us to look after her house," Long says.

Some work is being done on necessary changes in state law to help ease the path for community treatment facilities of all sorts. Invariably, those battling such units turn to zoning regulations, health and building inspection codes and other ordinances which might be applied to block.

State officials are pondering some revision of such regulations with an eye to making them uniform statewide, and both opening up more areas in which community treatment can be done, and removing some of the local stumbling blocks.

A Pardon For Everybody

WASHINGTON—Once again I've been working hard trying to think of something to give all my readers for Christmas. Last year if you recall I gave you the comet Kohoutek to gaze at. Unfortunately, through no fault of mine, it wasn't delivered, and it's possible some of you are still sore at me.

This year, what with inflation and everything, I'm having a harder time.

I tried to get everyone a five-pound bag of sugar for 69 cents, but they threw me out of the store.

I was going to give you each a seat to see Fanne Foxe do her act. But then she got busted in Florida and no one knows when you'll be able to see her next.

Then a friend suggested I send everyone a pint of water from the Tidal Basin. But the park department put the wammy on that by claiming the basin is now a national monument.

I intended to open Christmas Club accounts for you at the Franklin National Bank, but that fell through when the government put it out of business.

I was going to give you all an "oil depreciation" allowance so you wouldn't have to pay such high taxes. But Congress killed that idea by declaring only the oil companies are entitled to pay low taxes.

My wife suggested that I give everyone a new automobile. Just as I was about to buy them, Detroit raised the price again, and I said the hell with it. You're going to have to use the car you now have for another year.

I talked to the TV networks about adding an extra football bowl game for the holiday season. But they said they had a strict policy not to put any football games on TV between Christmas and New Year's Day.

I called King Faisal about lowering the price of gasoline for Christmas and all he answered was "Ho! ho! ho!" which translates from the Arabic into "Are you out of your bleeping mind?"

Then I called Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and asked him for a break on wheat prices. He just laughed and said "Whatta wanna calla me for?"

The Japanese were having a sale on autographed pictures of Premier Tanaka, but I decided against giving them when all the readers I talked to said they already had an autographed picture of Tanaka.

I thought of giving everyone a White Christmas. But since most cities, for economy reasons, are laying off their sanitation workers, I had no idea how you would get your streets cleaned.

I was hoping to get you a tax break after the Salt talks from Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger. But he said it would actually cost more now for defense than it did before, which translates into English as "Ho! ho! ho!"

Little NATO Impact

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH
BRUSSELS (UPI) — Four months ago, Greece announced it was pulling its forces out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The result, all analysts agreed, would be a huge gap in the West's defenses in the Mediterranean.

In those four months, the practical effect of the pullout has been almost nil.

Most Greek officers attached to NATO are still at their jobs. NATO and U.S. military facilities in Greece continue to function. Greece still sits in on NATO/military bodies.

No one at NATO headquarters in Brussels will predict what the future might bring. For the moment, one official said, "we are holding our breath and being very careful not to force them to go further than they want to go."

Behind the tip-toe attitude is the hope that the Greek government, despite many statements that the pullout is "final and irrevocable," may change its mind.

The government of Constantine Caramanlis quit NATO's military arm, but not its political bodies, on Aug. 14 because the alliance had not stopped Turkish "aggression" on Cyprus. Both Greece and Turkey belong to NATO.

The pullout had one immediate effect. Greek officers stationed at NATO facilities in Turkey were called home and Greece stopped giving information on its plane and ship movements to NATO monitors in Turkey.

Officials in Brussels say that, whatever Greece's plans for the future, its pullout has not gone much beyond the initial recall of officers in Turkey.

Eight Greek officers serve on the international military staff at NATO headquarters. Another five are attached to the Greek mission to NATO. Still more

40 Years Ago Today

December 26, 1934

Officials of the Norfolk-Southern railway announced today that the streamlined motor bus that will be placed in operation between Raleigh and Norfolk on January 6 will arrive in Greenville tomorrow for public inspection.

The car, which stopped here several days ago while officials and operators lunched, will arrive here tomorrow at 12:30 and remain until 3:30 p.m.

Officials of the road invited the public to visit the station and inspect the new car, the latest type placed in service in the country.

The cars will be operated on three branches of the line in this state. They are painted yellow and green with a silver streamline and are attractive as well as being provided with the latest comforts of transportation.

Greenville merchants turned their attention to inventorying for the new year today after enjoying what they called the "best Christmas in years."

The majority of the merchants sold the bulk of the Yuletide gifts, contributing to what may have been the best business season in the town's history.

The INSIDE REPORT

Triumph Of McGovernism

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—The most revealing moment for the Democratic party at its recent Kansas City convention came when Sen. George S. McGovern, reiterating principles that carried him to the worst defeat ever for a Democratic presidential candidate, was received by cheering delegates as a conquering hero.

Although the emotional reception breaking the convention's stolidly sober tone was partly sentimental, its ideological base is undeniable. Cheering intensified as McGovern read the speech reaffirming his 1972 campaign—particularly its anti-defense rhetoric. Indeed, that tone was dominant at Kansas City, with even moderates embracing tenets they hotly opposed in 1972.

The message was clear: a renewed triumph of McGovernism in the Democratic party. Contrary to hopes of moderates who elected Robert Strauss national chairman two years ago, neither what McGovern says nor his supporters have faded away. Although McGovern surely will never again be nominated for President, his influence stays large, just as Sen. Barry Goldwater's has in the Republican party.

McGovern's speech, listened to attentively and applauded furiously, may prove a more significant document than the largely innocuous party charter. Robert Shrum, McGovern's 1972 speechwriter, returned to write a document which apologized for nothing despite the 1972 election realities.

At a time when industrial expansion is essential, McGovernism still calls for an end to tax write-offs. "Bigness in business is inherently bad," and labor must "have a say in management." The energy crisis, threatening the survival of the West, is sloughed off as something concocted for profit by "the robber barons of the oil industry."

But receiving the biggest ovation was McGovern's reiteration of his 1972 defense policy:

"With the purveyors and profiteers of militarism, there can be no compromise. We cannot tell the lie that America will be a prosperous and progressive society while we squander our resources on overkill and overruns and for a feast of weapons to nourish dictatorship around the world. Military waste worsens inflation as it worsens the arms race."

In 1972, McGovern's defense policy was challenged by fellow Democrats and finally rejected by the voters. In 1974, it has become the party's conventional wisdom.

Thus, Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the Democratic governors and no fire-eater, in a convention speech derided the Republican notion that "a strong America is more missiles and more tanks," adding: "I have more faith by far in the strength and hope of the American people than I do in the power of bombers or a new submarine." Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee, chairman of the Democratic mayors and a centrist, demanded multi-billion-dollar defense cuts to release money for the cities.

This unchallenged acceptance of tacit unilateral disarmament went largely unnoticed at Kansas City. But it encouraged leading McGovernites to depart quietly confident that, having surrendered nothing of value, they had reinforced their

Other Editors Say Serves The People

(Wilson Times)

The public's right to know received a big boost with the installing of the electronic voting equipment in the North Carolina Senate. For the first time the votes are to be recorded and by whom, they are tabulated and the record is complete.

We have advocated the recording of all votes on any money bills for years and unless there is a formal request and recording has not been mandatory, except with few exceptions.

Now the new system will speed up voting, make it easier for the public to know how the senators voted. And we are happy to report that Wilson's Lt. Gov. James B. Hunt was in the forefront working for the new system as was Sen. Thomas Strickland of Wayne County.

Under the new system each of the 50 senators will have a green "aye" and a red "nay" button at his seat in the Senate chamber. When a vote is called he or she will press the appropriate button. After the voting is completed the display boards will show the results and how each senator voted. None of the votes will be shown until all the senators have voted. This is a good way to be certain the votes are the opinion of the one voting, and he is not influenced by who has already voted and how.

There are decision to be decided as how many of the votes are to be on the electronic voting machine and it should be the majority if not all should be recorded. It is supposed to save time. Certainly all the issues of state-wide importance should be recorded. Some of the local bills relating to only one county, city or area may not be put on the machine, but the majority should, for this information belongs to the public.

It is a major step forward and work should begin immediately to get the same type machine in the House of Representatives.

IRS Wants A Share Of Prizes

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Among viewers of television quiz shows these days may be an Internal Revenue Service agent.

The IRS agents' interest is not in entertainment, but to make sure the government gets its tax share of the prizes.

When it comes time for the quiz show winner to pay taxes, the IRS may check to make sure that the winnings were declared. If not, the taxpayer may be invited in to talk about it.

The IRS isn't interested in just money prizes. It expects taxpayers to declare as income the value of any merchandise prizes, such as an automobile or refrigerator.

The growing number of official state lotteries and the new popularity of television quiz shows has prompted queries to the IRS about how prize winnings should be handled.

Money won as a prize is treated the same as any other income for tax purposes.

For example, a person with $15,000 gross income and three dependents and who claims the standard deduction on a joint tax return would end up paying a tax of $220 on a $1,000 prize.

The tax on the first $15,000 on income would amount to $1,820. The $1,000 prize would be treated as additional income, increasing the tax due to $2,040.

IRS spokesmen say a person winning a big one-time prize might get some tax break by averaging out the winnings over a period of several years, a procedure called tax-averaging.

The IRS doesn't usually check up on small amounts, but it has ways of being informed about the larger prizes, especially those of $600 or over.

For one thing, lotteries, race tracks and quiz show sponsors are required to report to the IRS prizes of $600 or more. These reports then can be checked against the winner's tax return.

In addition, it is not uncommon for IRS agents to monitor quiz shows and clip newspaper accounts of lottery and other prize winners, although agents are not regularly assigned to such monitoring activities.

Tax returns of professional gamblers also may be subjected to special scrutiny, an IRS spokesman said.

Tax returns for 1974 went in the mail immediately after Christmas. The IRS estimates about 83 million returns will be filed for 1974, compared with 81 million last year.

Technically, taxpayers should declare as income all prize or gambling income, even a $10 office football pool or money won in a weekend poker game, regardless of whether it was legally obtained.

Strength For Today

PUNCTUALITY

Punctuality is not today, regarded as one of the cardinal virtues to be cherished and cultivated, even though in the nineteenth century it was constantly enjoined upon upward striving young people as a major ingredient of character building and material success. Someone has said that it is the cheapest virtue that can give force to an otherwise insignificant character. Psychiatrists sometimes say, with an effort at humor, that patients who are always early for appointments are afflicted with chronic anxiety; those who are always on time are compulsive, and those who are late are hostile.

Yet a constant lack of punctuality can become a kind of Chinese water torture for those who are inconvenienced by it. Not a few homes have been broken up by wives who were never on time and husbands who always got home late. Punctuality is one of those small virtues which has very large effects because it indicates much about our feelings for other people.

Review White House Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials say they expect to review

Evans-Novak..

party gains of 1972 beyond their wildest dreams.

After the charter was adopted, one of McGovern's shrewdest insiders quietly expressed this satisfaction to listeners in the lobby of the Muehlebach Hotel: this convention is really left of the 1972 delegates; it previews the 1976 convention; McGovern was two years ahead of his time and was vindicated here; his speech tonight will become the 1976 platform.

That is not the conventional appraisal of either the Kansas City convention or the state of the party but is privately concurred in by moderates less optimistic and perhaps more realistic than Chairman Strauss.

The assessment by one of Sen. Henry M. Jackson's top advisers, considerably bleaker today than before Kansas City, is that a convention accepting McGovern's defense policy could never nominate Jackson. He contends that Kansas City was no more representative of the whole Democratic party than the Miami Beach convention of 1972. His remedy: a more representative 1976 convention. But it would take a miracle to win in 1976 what could not be done this year when the task was easier.

The triumph of McGovernism was theologically confirmed by the benediction of Rev. Susan Vogel of Kansas City, telling the convention: "Prophetic voices cry that fighting still rages in Vietnam and political prisoners suffer torture; voices shout U. S. responsibility for oppression in third-world nations; they denounce money for missiles while children clamor for a daily ration of rice... Hasten our national repentance and liberate us from all that holds us still in bondage."

"A gorgeous prayer," a young party worker enthused. Gorgeous or not, it embodies what centrist Democratic theoretician Ben Wattenberg calls the Failure and Guilt Complex, intrinsically part of the McGovernite movement which still maintains decisive control over machinery of the Democratic party.

Hang-Glider At 17,100 Feet

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Hang gliding addict Dennis Kulberg sailed safely to earth Christmas Day from an altitude of 17,100 feet.

Equipped with oxygen and bundled in warm clothing against a temperature aloft of 11 degrees below zero, Kulberg was carried to his starting point by a balloon piloted by Brent Stockwell.

Thirty-five minutes after the 22-year-old Pacheco, Calif., man and his rig were released above Lick Observatory on Mt. Hamilton, the kite-like craft glided south 13½ miles to Morgan Hill, 70 miles south of San Francisco.

TERMITES OR ANTS?

Don't be half sure. Call a professional pest control operator for an inspection today. The potential damage to property from termites can exceed the damage from tornadoes, hurricanes and fire. This is why termite protection is as important as a homeowner's insurance policy.

are based at NATO's base in Naples.

All are still at their desks carrying out their normal functions.

Greek Ambassador to NATO Byron Theodoropoulos no longer attends NATO's defense planning committee and Defense Minister Evangelos Tosiass will not join the committee's ministerial level meeting in Brussels in December.

But Greece remains on NATO's nuclear planning group and Greek officers attend regular meetings of the military committee.

It was always assumed that Greece would not cut its military ties to NATO totally, if only for its own defense, since it is one of five NATO nations that border Communist countries.

When France pulled its forces out of NATO in 1966, some French officers attached to NATO became "liaison groups." France also dropped out of all military committees.

But French divisions remained in West Germany and France stayed in NATO's air defense system and communications net. It has been assumed that similar arrangements would be worked out with Greece.

NATO analysts believe the future depends largely on the Cyprus negotiations. Caramanlis' election victory Nov. 17 strengthened his hand if he wants to continue cooperation with NATO but the analysts believe anti-NATO public sentiment in Greece will prevent any open rejoining in the near future.

Caramanlis himself has said that Greece's position in NATO "depends on the alliance itself." For the moment, the newly-elected Greek government has more pressing business and NATO is content not to rock the boat.

Charlton, Mass., is the birthplace of Dr. William Morton, whose experiments with them made anesthesia possible during surgical operations. Morton performed his first tooth extraction with them in 1846.

E. Simon said the incident, which came 10 months after a young GI crashed a stolen Army helicopter on the White House lawn, demonstrates the need "to see how similar things could be prevented from happening again."

Simon also commended the Secret Service, a Treasury Department agency, for its "professional" handling of Wednesday's intruder, who rammed his automobile through a closed White House gate.

President Ford and his family were away on a skiing vacation in Colorado. A Secret Service spokesman said that for that reason, White House guards had reacted in a more "compassionate" way.

No shots were fired during the tense four-hour confrontation as the man, wearing makeshift Arab garb and wired to what guards feared were explosives, stood near the north portico where presidents frequently greet visiting foreign dignitaries.

After he surrendered, the Secret Service said agents found that the intruder, identified as Marshall H. Fields, 25, of suburban Silver Spring, Md., had no explosives.

Fields, the son of a deceased State Department official who had served in Arab countries, was then taken to a mental hospital for observation.

In a rambling statement mailed recently to several Washington area news organizations, a man identifying himself as Fields had indicated he would take some sort of action against the government on Christmas Day, declaring, "I am the Messiah to those who wish to believe."

Chief Earl Drescher of the Executive Protective Service, said, "I'm sure there will be studies and evaluation of this incident."

Drescher said security absolute enough to rule out the possibility of a similar intrusion probably would be unattainable without turning the White House into "an armed camp."

A Secret Service spokesman said the response of agents on Wednesday would have been different if Ford or members of his family had been at the White House. He didn't say what agents would have done but did say Fields could have been stopped before he reached the building.

The intruder surrendered after hearing on his car radio a broadcast by the Howard University radio station of his demand to talk with Sahabzada Yaqub Kahn, Pakistan's ambassador to the United States.

A spokesman for the Pakistani embassy later said the ambassador had never heard of Fields and refused to see him. Police said they had no idea why Fields wanted to talk with the ambassador.

The Secret Service said Fields was the son of Marshall L. Fields, a former official of the U.S. Agency for International Development who died of cancer last May.

Predicts A New Health Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers and chairman of a citizens health insurance committee, is predicting that another health insurance bill will be introduced in the new Congress.

No American ever again would have to pay for hospital or doctor's care if the measure is enacted, Woodcock said in a statement Wednesday. The bill would cover every resident of the United States and would pay for all hospital and physicians' services, as well as other specified health needs, such as eyeglasses, hearing aids and dental services.

Woodcock did not estimate the cost of the program. However, he said the health program would be financed half from general revenues and half from special taxes.

The taxes would include a 1 per cent tax on individual earnings up to $20,000 a year; 3½ per cent tax on employers' payrolls and 2½ per cent on the self-employed, up to $20,000 income.

Woodcock said the payroll tax would offset the elimination of premium payments for private health insurance. He said the new bill will be introduced with Sen. Edward

M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., as chief sponsors.

Congress considered health legislation during the session that ended earlier this month. However, no bills were reported out by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Six Experts To Direct Programs

Six noted experts in the field of law enforcement administration will appear on a series of workshop programs at East Carolina University for law enforcement administrators and government officials.

The series of workshops is sponsored by the ECU Department of Social Work and Correctional Services. The goal of the series is to introduce participants to new programs and concepts in the field of law enforcement.

Law enforcement administrators who wish to attend one or more of the sessions may register immediately before each workshop or pre-register by mail with the Department of Social Work and Correctional Services, Box 3248, ECU, Greenville, N.C. 27834. There is no charge for attending any of the workshops.

Plan Protest High Premiums

NEW YORK (AP) — New York orthopedic surgeons say they will stage a job action next month to protest insurance company demands that they pay almost 200 per cent more for malpractice insurance.

Dr. Bernard Jacobs, president of the 600-member state Society of Orthopedic Surgeons, said Wednesday that doctors in his group plan to refuse all but emergency surgical cases during a planned Jan. 13 march on the state legislature in Albany.

Jacobs also said the American College of Surgeons would meet in Chicago today to discuss the demands of the insurance companies. One firm, the Argonaut Insurance Co. of Menlo Park, Calif., claims it is losing $60 million a year.

Some physicians predict the higher premiums would drive up costs for the patient because doctors would have to practice defensive medicine, taking more tests and consulting with more colleagues than at present.

Jacobs said Argonaut insures 27,000 of New York state's 35,000 doctors. He said the company told its clients that their contracts would be canceled Jan. 10 unless they paid a 198.6 per cent hike in the premiums. The orthopedic surgeons said that they now pay at least $14,500 annually and Argonaut's new rate would almost triple that rate.

The state Insurance Department has asked the company to delay its premium boost until the state legislature can meet and formulate a compromise. The firm has not replied to the request.

2 Collisions On Tuesday

Two collisions here Tuesday afternoon resulted in an estimated $1,350 property damage and injured three people, according to Police Department investigators.

Officers said an estimated $1,000 damage resulted to a car driven by Debra Jean Eastwood of Route 4, Greenville when her car collided with a utility pole about 12:53 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth Street and Memorial Drive.

Officers, who estimated damage to the pole at $100, said Miss Eastwood and two passengers in her car were injured.

Miss Eastwood was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Milton Bernard Hyman of Route 2, Robersonville was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 2:08 p.m. mishap on Dudley Street near the Greene Street intersection.

Police said the Hyman car collided with an auto driven by Seamore Staton of 414 Latham St. causing an estimated $200 damage to the Staton car and $50 damage to the Hyman auto.

Charges Army Seeks Makers Of Nerve Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the House Armed Services Committee has charged that the Army is lining up manufacturers for nerve gas.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Wednesday the Army either is ignoring a congressional directive that nerve gas activities be limited to research or it plans to convince Congress to change the law.

Aspin said he would seek emergency hearings on the matter when the new Congress convenes next month.

An Army spokesman said Christmas night that he could not respond to questions about the Aspin allegation until he gets in touch with officials involved in chemical warfare programs.

Aspin, in a written statement, said he was basing his assertions on a Dec. 11 entry in the Commerce Department's "Business Daily," a listing of government contract notices. The entry was a query to chemical companies about their willingness to convert their facilities to produce "ton quantities" of two chemicals, dimethyl polysulfide and ethyl 2-Diisopropylaminoethyl.

An Aspin aide said these chemicals are the components of a nerve gas called VX, an odorless, colorless compound that attacks the nervous system when inhaled or absorbed through the skin. A quart jar of VX allegedly contains "several million lethal doses," the aide said.

About the same time the notice to chemical companies appeared, the Army announced a search for a company to produce artillery projectiles that would be filled with "nontoxic chemical solutions," the Aspin aide said.

The projectiles will be used to carry the VX components, the aide said. He conceded that he had not discussed his interpretation of the two notices with Army officials.

The House by a 214-186 vote last Aug. 6 deleted funds to make new artillery ammunition and a new nerve gas. The gas program then was to be limited to research, Aspin said.

VX is a binary gas, meaning the two chemical components are kept separate in an artillery shell for safety purposes. But when the shell impacts, the two components mix, creating the gas.

Young Arab Terror Victim Loses Leg

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli surgeons today amputated the right leg of a 17-year-old Florida girl wounded four days ago in an Arab grenade attack in Jerusalem.

The head of the surgical team at Hadassah Hospital said the condition of Dejean Replogle of Jacksonville was "normal for an operation like this."

The girl's leg was amputated above the knee.

During the operation her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Replogle, attended a prayer service at the hospital conducted by Dr. Robert Lindsey, head of the Jerusalem Baptist community.

An attending physician said the amputation was necessary because the grenade fragments "caused havoc in the veins, muscles and arteries in her thigh."

The American consul-general in Jerusalem, Arthur Day, visited Dejean before the operation. She also got flowers from her boyfriend, Steven Castilia of Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Replogle and their two daughters came to the Holy Land last week with 13 other Baptist pilgrims from Jacksonville. Dejean and an Arab bystander were wounded Sunday when a grenade exploded about 30 feet from the bus in which the Americans were about to leave the Church of St. Lazarus in East Jerusalem.

The Israeli government is paying the girl's hospital bills and the air fare home for her and her parents.

Car Ran Into Utility Pole

No charges were made following investigation of a 6:10 a.m. mishap yesterday on Albermarle Avenue, 57 feet North of the Bonner's Lane intersection police reported.

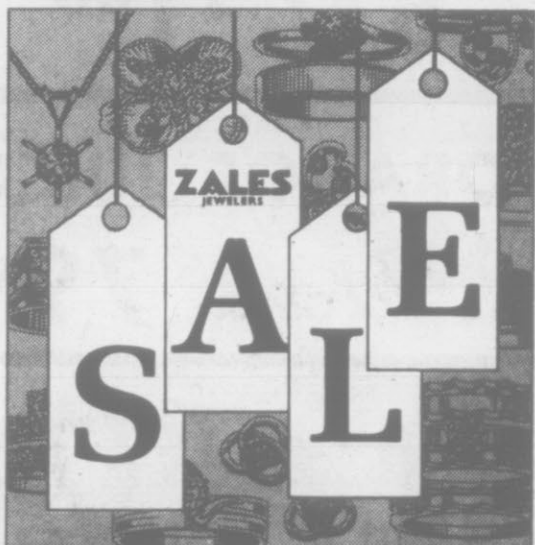

Officers said a car driven by Curtis Lee Best of 1205A Fleming St. collided with a utility pole, causing an estimated $750 damage to the car and $125 damage to the pole. No injuries were reported.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market climbed gradually in slow trading today, riding the momentum of its Christmas Eve upswing.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.35 at 605.76, and gainers outnumbered losers by more than a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow had climbed 8.76 points Tuesday in an abbreviated pre-holiday session.

"Tuesday's gain was quite bracing," observed Larry Wachtel at Bache & Co. "It was a day when the market didn't figure to do anything."

Wachtel also noted "some element of people getting in early, looking forward to President Ford's State of the Union message at the end of January."

Ford, spending the holidays in Vail, Colo., summoned some top advisers for talks over the next few days on the economic and energy problems facing the country.

That news trended to cause expectations that Ford's message to Congress next month would contain some emphatic new economic proposals.

Weyerhaeuser, the most active issue on the Big Board, slipped 3/4 to 26 1/4.

Johnson & Johnson was up 1 1/4 at 81, IBM 1 1/4 at 168 3/4, Burroughs 2 at 76, and Motorola 1 to 34, among the stronger performers in a generally higher glamor sector.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index gained .29 to 35.49 in the first hour.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index eased .06 to 59.28.

Great Lakes Chemical, the Amex volume leader, was unchanged at 11 1/4.

Instant-Mix For Milk-Taster

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Nancy Rogers, whose discriminating taste buds made her the nation's top collegiate judge of milk, drinks the instant-mix variety on campus.

"I'm a student, so I try to get by as cheaply as possible," said the 20-year-old junior from Elmhurst.

She and three other members of the University of Illinois taste-testing team competed with 26 schools in October in the National Collegiate Dairy Products contest in Dallas, Tex.

Miss Rogers placed first among the milk testers. The Illinois team finished third overall.

PROBABLY CHOICE
CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat is expected to name Lt. Gen. Abdel Ghany Gamasy to succeed Field Marshal Ahmed Ismail as war minister and commander-in-chief of the Egyptian army, informed sources said today.

Watergate Is Voted No. 1 Story Of 1974

By The Associated Press
The Watergate scandal, climaxing with the resignation of Richard Nixon and the inauguration of President Ford, has been voted the top news story of 1974.

In their annual poll, editors and news directors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and TV stations placed three other Watergate-related stories among the Top Ten of the year. The three were Ford's pardon of former President Nixon, the Democratic sweep in the November elections, and Nelson Rockefeller's vice presidential nomination.

The Watergate scandal also was voted the top story in 1973. Besides Watergate, the Top Ten stories, in the order of their selection, were:

2. The economy — Inflation above 10 per cent, and a business decline that began in January and became a recession by fall.

3. The energy crisis — The oil embargo ended in March but the steadily rising cost of petroleum added to the economic gloom.

4. The kidnapping of Patricia Hearst and her conversion to membership in the Symbionese Liberation Army, the guerrilla group that had kidnapped her.

5. Ford's "free, full and absolute pardon" of Nixon on Sept. 8.

6. The Democratic sweep in the off-year November election.

7. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's diplomatic efforts toward a Middle East peace agreement.

8. Ford's conditional amnesty for deserters and draft resisters of the Vietnam war era.

9. The eruption in Cyprus — The Greek-sponsored coup against President Makarios led to the invasion of the island by Turkey and the downfall of Greece's military government.

10. Ford's nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president, and revelations of Rockefeller's wealth and gift-giving.

Surprise Snowfall Across Southwest

By The Associated Press
A winter storm surprised the southwestern states with a crisp blanket of snow from two to four inches deep at places today.

Snow and ice spread across northern Arizona into most of New Mexico and extreme western Texas and freezing rain glazed parts of west central and northwestern Texas.

El Paso, Tex., measured 4 inches of snow and Alamogordo, N.M., was covered with 2 inches. New Mexicans in the southern half of the state, unaccustomed to snow, had a white Christmas with up to 2 inches at Silver City. Rain and drizzle dampened areas from southern Texas to Louisiana and cloudy skies prevailed over the rest of the Gulf Coast.

Cloudy conditions also extended up the Mississippi Valley to the Great Lakes region and eastward to the northern Atlantic Coast.

A few snow showers dotted areas from Michigan and Ohio into southern New England.

Cloudy conditions prevailed from the northern Pacific coast into the northern Rockies and northwestern Plains.

Most of the remainder of the nation enjoyed clear skies. Many areas had cold temperatures with the desert southwest reporting subzero readings.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 10 at Craig, Colo., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Took Christmas To Sen. Jackson

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson couldn't go home for Christmas so his family brought Christmas to him as he convalesced from surgery at Madigan Army Medical Center.

The Washington Democrat's wife, Helen, brought their two children and a load of presents to the hospital room where Jackson has been recovering from surgery in which a kidney stone and part of a kidney were removed last Friday.

Mrs. Jackson said Wednesday the presents were "the usual ties and other things we hope he'll enjoy." The Jackson children — Peter, 8, and Anna Marie, 11 — said the gifts included shirts, pajamas, a Bible and a hair dryer.

On Dean's List At U. Of Tenn.

Edward Dail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dail of Winterville, was named to the dean's list with highest honors at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville for the fall quarter.

Dail received a 4.0 average out of a possible 4.0.

He graduated from Winterville High School and Davidson College and received his master's degree from Duke University. He taught math for two years at Bethesda, Md., and for one and one-half years at Pitt Technical Institute.

Dail is now working toward his master of architecture degree at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

Exhaust Defects Kill N.C. Man

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Carbon monoxide poisoning killed a Moore County man whose body was found in his car Saturday, the state medical examiner ruled.

The lethal gas was able to enter the car's passenger compartment because Elmore Junior Smith's car had three defects in the exhaust system, Dr. R. Page Hudson said.

Smith, 21, was found in his car about 4:30 a.m. Saturday near Southern Pines. An unidentified girl told authorities she and Smith went to sleep while the car's engine was running.

She said she awoke with a headache but was unable to wake Smith. She called authorities from a nearby house. Hudson said the girl also suffered carbon monoxide poisoning but would recover.

Bristow Swims Away With 23 Points In 76er Win

By The Associated Press
Allan Bristow can't make up his mind which sport he likes more — swimming or basketball. But he may have an easier time deciding after what happened Wednesday night.

Bristow, who is probably good enough to join the U. S. Olympic team, got along swimmingly as a basketball player while leading the Philadelphia 76ers to a 104-97 National Basketball Association victory over the New York Knicks.

"I love to play in Madison Square Garden," said the eager, young pro after scoring a career-high 23 points. "It just seems to get me fired up more than most arenas."

Bristow had some pretty good games here as a collegian with Virginia Tech. He helped his team win the National In-itation Tournament a couple of years ago with an overpowering offensive performance.

"In the other NBA games on Christmas night, the Phoenix Suns trimmed the Boston Celtics 110-96 and the Washington Bullets routed the Atlanta Hawks 110-92. In the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars stopped the San Diego Conquistadors 112-100.

The 76ers raced back from a 16-point deficit, finally caught New York in the last quarter and Fred Carter's two foul shots with 1:28 left triggered them past the Knicks.

The Knicks, who led 52-36 with three minutes left in the second quarter, stayed in front of the 76ers until the closing minutes.

The 76ers came back on the shooting of Bristow and finally tied the game with 3:51 left to play on a field goal by Steve Mix.

Less than three minutes later, Carter's two foul shots broke a 93-93 tie and Bristow fired in a field goal to give Philadelphia a 97-93 lead. The 76ers then wrapped it up with five points by Billy Cunningham, moving out to a 102-95 lead with eight seconds remaining.

Suns 110, Celtics 96

Charlie Scott scored 30 points and Keith Erickson added 25 to lead Phoenix over Boston. The Suns jumped ahead 30-22 in the first quarter behind 12 points by Erickson, then moved out to a 60-48 halftime lead despite 20 points by Boston guard Jo Jo White. Erickson had 19 and Scott 14 for the Suns.

White led all scorers with 33 points.

Bullets 110, Hawks 92

Mike Riordan scored 23 points in the first three quarters to pace Washington over Atlanta. The Bullets outscored the Hawks 32-11 in the second period to take a commanding 54-29 halftime lead en route to their 25th victory in 34 games.

Stars 112, Conquistadors 100

Ron Boone, Jim Eakins and reserve guard Wali Jones combined for 74 points to spark Utah past San Diego. Boone scored 27 points, 21 of them in the second half, to pace the Stars. Eakins added 25 and Jones 22, his season high. Travis Grant led the Conquistadors with 20 points.

Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams are in tournaments and round robins Friday and Saturday.

Duke will play Pittsburgh and North Carolina State, 6-0 and No. 1 nationally, will play Kent State Friday night in a round-robin in Raleigh, N.C. The N.C. State Wolfpack will be seeking its 35th straight victory.

The teams will switch opponents Saturday night.

Maryland hopes starting guard John Lucas will be back when it opens in its own Invitational Tournament Friday against Georgia Tech. He has been out since he broke his collarbone in the first game of the season against Richmond on Nov. 30.

Maryland has won all six games this season and is No. 5 nationally.

UCLA, 6-1 and third ranked nationally, meets St. Bonaventure in the other first-round game of the Maryland Invitational.

Virginia, Clemson and Wake Forest also begin tournaments Friday.

Virginia, 3-1, plays Wisconsin in the Milwaukee Classic.

Clemson, 3-4, meets Auburn in the Pillsbury Classic in Minneapolis.

Wake Forest, 3-2, plays Washington State in the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore. Other teams in this tournament, which runs through Monday, are Iowa, Boston College, Arizona State, Creighton, Oregon and Oregon State.

North Carolina, 6-1 and ranked No. 8, will return home from an international tournament in Madrid, Spain, to play Utah Saturday night in the Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum.

Walter Davis hit a 20-foot jump shot at the buzzer to give North Carolina an 87-86 victory over Cuba Wednesday night in the Spanish International Christmas Tournament.

The desperation shot followed a time out with one second left. Officials ruled at first that the shot was too late. Both teams left the floor thinking the Cubans had won 86-85. However, they later were informed that the officials had reversed themselves. The officials ruled that the clock should not have started until the pass reached Davis, and that he had got his shot off before the buzzer sounded.

Davis congratulated Mitch Kupchak for a fine pass to him from downtown. Davis led all scorers with 24 points.

Before the Davis basket, Kupchak had missed two crucial foul shots that would have given North Carolina the lead. He apparently was bothered by the noisy crowd in Real Madrid Hall.

Pitt Teams In Tourney

Another holiday tradition may begin this Friday night as the first Pitt County Invitational Tournament opens at Rose High with four of the five county teams participating in the two-day affair.

The opening round has North Pitt taking on D.H. Conley at 7 p.m. and Farmville Central meeting Rose in the nightcap at 9 p.m. Only Ayden-Grifton declined to participate.

Saturday night, the two losers will meet in the consolation game with Friday's winners in the second game. Again, tip-off time is 7 p.m. Admission will be $1.50 per person.

Conley, last year's Eastern Carolina Conference regular season champ brings a 8-0 record into the tournament, the best of the four teams. As a team they are dumping in 73.5 points a game and giving up just 54.6. In their last game before the holidays, the Vikings scored a surprising 122 points with a 44-point second quarter.

The Vikings are led by Rick Mobley with a 15.9 points-per game average. Behind him is Melvin Williams shooting 14.3 per game. Clenell Streeter who has a 12.6 average and Gerry Mobley, 12.1.

North Pitt brings the second best record into the tourney, 6-1, their only loss being to Conley in the opening game of the season, 54-48. But since then, the Panthers have rolled up six in a row and may offer the strongest challenge to the Vikings.

The Panthers have three players averaging in double figures. Donnie Perkins leads the team with a 16.4 average, Vincent Barnhill is shooting at 13.7, and Jesse Harris at 11.7. The Panthers have been scoring an average of 63.3 points each time out while giving up 52.6.

Rose High, who have already doubled their number of wins from a year ago, bring a 4-2 mark into the games. They have recorded upsets over New Bern and Goldsboro in their last two games. They are scoring 64 points a game and giving up 61.5.

Like Conley, Rose has four players averaging in double figures. Ronnie Barrett is the top man with 12.5, Mike Brewington is at 10.5, Donnie Shields is at 10.2 and Tyrone Taft is at 10.0.

Rounding out the field is Farmville Central which has a 4-4 record. The Jaguars have won their last two in a row one by two points, the other by four. The Jaguars are the only team which has been outscored. They are sinking 56.4 points a game but allowing 61.0.

Only Mike Corbett is in double figures for the Jaguars. Corbett is shooting at a 13.3 average.

ECU Women Shooting For Another Title

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

Two years ago, the East Carolina Women's basketball team won the state championship but fell off that perch last year. This time around, they may be able to take the crown again and the women's first games may make the difference.

The Lady Pirates have already won one game, a close one over Campbell College. After Christmas they will play three games series at Chapel Hill having to face Western Carolina, Carolina and last year's state champ, Elon.

It will be important," said Catherine Bolton. "It will give an indication to the team. If we don't do well, it may kill some of the spirit."

The Campbell game had originally been a scrimmage game but when the game limit was increased, the game was put on the schedule. The Lady Bucs played the game without center Lu Ann Swaim, a 6-1 girl who is their pivot. She was replaced by Frances Swenholt.

Besides those two, Miss Bolton has been leaning toward four other players to do the most playing. At forward she has back last year's leading scorer Shelia Cotten and Susan Manning, the former Susan James. She was a star for North Pitt in her high school career. At the guards are Marie Chamblee and Ellen Garrison.

One newcomer to ECU's women's team is Debbie Freeman, a freshman who will "play a lot and may start," in the future.

The Campbell game was slight let-down for Miss Bolton. "We should have handled the game easier," she said. "We got the shots but could not make them fall." The Lady Pirates shot 19 percent in the first half but they did better in the second stanza hitting over 40 percent. The women are playing 20-minute halves this year instead of the eight-minute quarters they played in the past. "I was pleased with everything they did but the ball wasn't dropping."

The coach expects the girls to be able to put up a large number of points close to the totals reached by the men's team. The first half shooting percentage should also increase.

The ECU team works from a single post type offense but can switch into a double post against a zone defense. "It is much the same as we used two years ago," said Miss Bolton. They moved the ball well against Campbell but could have done better if Lu Ann had been playing.

The coach expects the team's outside game to improve. "Shamblee bombed a couple near the end. We will have to have an outside game," she said, to bring the defense out so they can get inside.

Against Campbell the Lady Pirates had to come out of their zone to go into a man-to-man when Campbell began hitting long outside shots. "We had some foul trouble but we didn't play bad," said the coach. The Pirates like to stay in the 2-1-2 zone. Manning had an outstanding defensive game against Campbell and Miss Bolton expects her to be one of the top defensive players this year. "Susan's defense was spectacular. She didn't score much." She has good quickness.

The rebounding was not what the coach wanted. "We were relying on Lu Ann's rebounding and didn't respond to her absence. We will be strong when we work out some of the kinks." The Lady Pirates will not try to force a running game with the new 20-minute periods. "We won't play a running game. I'm still investigating," the possibility, however.

Another problem for the ECU cagers is a lack of depth. "Its the bench not what I'd like it to be," the coach said. "Obviously it will be better later in the year."

The Pirates will have a strong taste of what to expect this year after playing Western Carolina, Elon and Carolina all in the two-day span in Chapel Hill later this month. The Lady Pirates also have invitational tournaments at Winthrop, which will have teams from Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina, and at Elon which will host teams from North Carolina and Tennessee.

"I feel confident we have the capability to win the state," said Miss Bolton. "Defense is the thing; if it comes around and if we stay healthy."

NFL Field Cut To Four Teams

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Three quarterbacks who have been under the gun before, plus one newcomer to National Football League playoff pressure, will be aiming Sunday for berths in pro football's biggest shootout, the Super Bowl.

The American Conference battle in Oakland pits the Raiders' outstanding passer, Ken Stabler, against the Pittsburgh Steelers' young Terry Bradshaw, a rugged signal-caller coming off what his coach, Chuck Knox, called the best game of his pro career last week.

Meanwhile, in Bloomington, Minn., the National Conference title game pairs the Los Angeles Rams, guided by playoff newcomer James Harris, against the rugged Minnesota Vikings, with 14-year veteran Fran Tarkenton at the helm.

Oakland is rated a six-point favorite over Pittsburgh, and one of the big reasons is its passing attack, triggered by the left-handed Stabler. The wily veteran, who celebrated his 29th birthday Christmas Day, was among the top passers in the league during the regular season and was most impressive in driving his team to a 28-26 victory over the Miami Dolphins in the playoff opener last week.

Stabler's wide receivers complement each other perfectly: Cliff Branch, the deep threat with the game-breaking speed, and Fred Biletnikoff, with the superb hands, the precise moves and the experience to find the seams in any zone defense.

But Bradshaw was just as impressive in Pittsburgh's play-off opener, when he destroyed the Buffalo defense with precise passing and timely runs.

"Baby, they've arrived," Mean Joe Greene, the leader of the Steeler defensive unit, said of his team's offense. "It was the day Terry Bradshaw proved to everybody that he had finally become our offensive leader."

Los Angeles, a three-point underdog to Minnesota in the NFC clash, is counting on big James Harris to rise to the occasion. A strong runner who has passed well when he has had to, Harris was handed the starting job in midseason when the Rams dealt John Hadl to Green Bay.

But he is still relatively untested by playoff pressure; although he led the Rams' past Washington 19-10 last week, his task was considerably eased by six Redskins turnovers.

The Vikings' Tarkenton is the most experienced of the remaining quarterbacks, a 14-year veteran who can break a game open with his passing or his running. And he'll be going against a secondary which some observers have called the Rams' weakness.

Relaxed Hand By Starr

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bart Starr, the new coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers, foresees a relaxed hand on the reins of authority over the staff he inherited from Dan Devine.

"I believe in delegating authority," he said. "People will have much more responsibility than they have ever had before. And I mean all of our people: the captains, the assistant coaches and the people in the office."

The idea of dispersing authority contrasts with the image of rigid administration under the late coach Vince Lombardi in the 1960s, when Starr, a record-setting quarterback, led the Packers to five National Football League titles.

Devine quit the two jobs Dec. 16 after four years. Only one of the four seasons was a winner; that was 1972 when Starr served as a quarterback coach before retiring to his business ventures.

"I have always prided myself on having good staff members," Devine said when asked for an opinion on Starr's coaching potential. "I feel loyalty is the most important thing a coach can have."

Except for the season in advisory capacity, Starr had no appreciable coaching credentials when he and the club announced Tuesday having signed a three-year contract as coach and general manager.

Club president Dominic Olejniczak said Starr will be "in complete charge of football operations."

Starr, 40, has declined to discuss his plans for the team roster, saying he needs time to become familiar with the players' talents. The first big task for his staff is preparing for the Jan. 28-29 college draft, he said.

Teams Open Tournaments

By The Associated Press
Louisville, Southern California, South Carolina and Providence, four of the nation's top-rated teams, lend their rank to the traditional army of holiday basketball tournaments which begin tonight.

Louisville's fourth-ranked Cardinals host the Holiday Classic at Louisville, Ky.; Southern California, ranked No. 6 in the country, is entered in the Holiday Festival in New York and No. 11 South Carolina will be competing in the Ocean State Holiday Tournament at Providence, R. I., along with the 12th-rated Friars.

Along with those major tournaments, the sparkling holiday fare also includes the Rainbow Classic in Hawaii; the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City; the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore.; the Big Eight at Kansas City; the Poinsetta Classic at Greenville, N.C., and the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. among several lesser lights.

Louisville meets Western Kentucky in a first-round game of the Louisville tournament while Purdue plays Florida State.

Southern California has drawn a bye and will play Saturday night at Madison Square Garden against the winner of tonight's Rutgers-Seton Hall game which opens the Holiday Festival. The night's second game is an all-New York City match between Manhattan, the defending champion, and Fordham. Rutgers is ranked No. 20 in the country.

South Carolina opens against Assumption while Providence takes on Holy Cross.

In the Rainbow Classic tonight, it'll be Tulsa against Villanova and Hawaii vs. San Jose State.

The All-College Tournament matches Centenary with the University of Pacific and Oklahoma City against Xavier, Ohio.

A doubleheader involving Boston College and Arizona State and Oregon against Creighton triggers the Far West Classic. Oregon, ranked No. 19, is also entered in the tourney.

AN EIGHT-TIME WINNER
LAKE PARK, Fla. (AP) — The PGA says there was little doubt about the 1974 Golfer of the Year. The special awards committee named 27-year-old San Francisco golfer Johnny Miller for the award.

Miller won eight PGA co-sponsored tournaments in 1974 and led money winners with a record $351,321.

In the first round of the Big Eight, it's Nebraska against Oklahoma and Kansas vs. Oklahoma State.

The Poinsetta Classic features opening-night duels between Lafayette and Baylor and Furman and George Washington.

Jacksonville faces Penn State and Memphis State, the country's No. 16 team, plays Temple in the first night of the Gator Bowl tournament.

DODGERS DREW FANS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers of the National League became the first team in history to draw five million fans in one year. Beginning with spring training and including the five-game World Series in which the Dodgers lost to Oakland, Los Angeles played before 5,054,924 fans.

When Curtis Strange of Wake Forest won the 1974 NCAA golf title he became the second freshman to win the tournament. Ben Crenshaw won as a freshman in 1971.

Pitcher Mike Cuellar has won between 18 and 24 games during his six years with the Orioles.

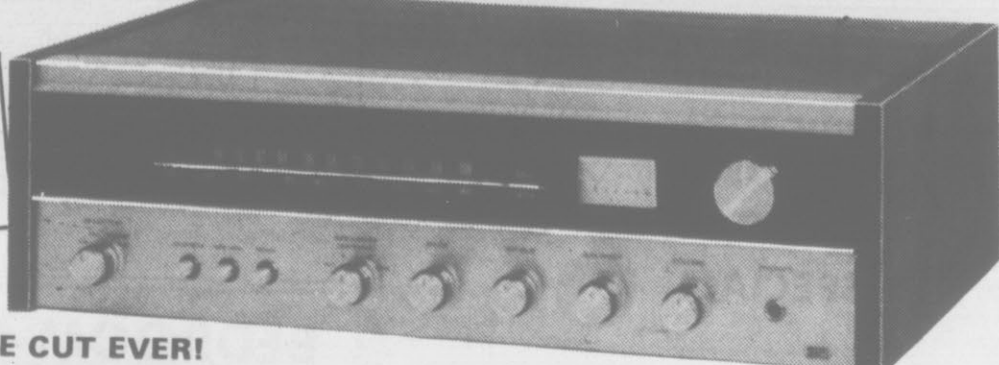

Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets played in 75 World Series games with the New York Yankees.

Artis Gilmore of Kentucky in the American Basketball Association played 3,502 minutes last season. He played the same number of minutes the previous campaign.

Italy Holds Skyjacker

ROME (AP) — A Czech-Canadian is in prison here charged with hijacking an Air India jumbo jet that he threatened to crash into Rome on Christmas Day.

Josef Homolov, 31, was overpowered in the cockpit and arrested at Fiumicino airport after the plane landed safely. The pilot circled the city for two hours, but the other 154 passengers in the cabins behind were not told what was happening.

The pilot said Homolov threatened him with a two-inch pocketknife and a heavy flashlight and told him he wanted to make the plane crash.

The co-pilot and the flight engineer finally jumped him and disarmed him after a brief scuffle.

Police said Homolov was carrying 20 counterfeit Canadian $100 bills and a ticket from Bombay to New York. Authorities said he told them he was afraid of being robbed by other passengers who had been hostile to him.

Homolov, a native of Czechoslovakia and a Canadian citizen, was charged with hijacking, for which he could get life imprisonment, and possessing counterfeit bills.

The plane flew on to Paris and New York.

Six Dead In N.C. Traffic

By The Associated Press
Six persons were killed in North Carolina traffic accidents during the Christmas holiday.

That brought to 1,522 the number of persons killed on Tar Heel roads this year. The toll is 354 fewer than at this time last year.

The count was kept from 6 p.m. Tuesday, Christmas Eve, to midnight Wednesday, Christmas Day. The victims included Angela Hunter, 17, who was struck by a car in her hometown of Charlotte.

A Washington, D.C. man, Arthur Lee Bullock, 26, was killed when his car hit a bridge on U.S. 301 in Wilson.

Hilliard Thomas Fitts, 43, of Littleton, was fatally injured when his car hit a tree near that Warren County town.

A pedestrian, Opal Childress Smith, 36, of Winston-Salem, was struck and killed by a car in Winston-Salem.

James Carl Britt, 20, of Rt. 2, Lumberton, died when his car collided with another. The accident occurred on U.S. 301 near Saint Pauls in Robeson County.

Robert Lee Brown, 26, lost his life when his dune buggy careened into a field near his home at Pinnacle in Stokes County.

More Bodies Said Needed By Med Schools

RALEIGH (AP)—More human bodies and parts of human bodies are needed for research, education and transplants, a legislative study committee has concluded.

The Committee on Human Donations of the Legislative Research Commission said in its final report this month that greater enrollment in medical schools "necessitates more cadavers for educational research purposes."

The committee also said that groups involved in tissue or organ donations haven't been coordinated enough, especially in public education and emergency transportation of donated tissues and organs.

The committee recommended the state Department of Human Resources coordinate such projects to help meet the shortage.

Ax-Killing On Christmas Eve

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—A 36-year-old Sanford man was killed Christmas eve by an ax blow to the neck, the Lee County Sheriff's Department reported.

Deputies said 32-year-old Purvis Lee Snipes, also of Sanford, was charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of LeRoy Valtrip.

Officers said Valtrip was killed after he had fired several shots from a rifle following an argument.

How Tar Heel Representatives And Senators Voted

By Roll Call Report

WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Dec. 12 through Dec. 18.

HOUSE

JOBS—Adopted, 346 for and 58 against, the conference report on legislation to aid the unemployed. The bill (HR 16596) authorizes $2.5 billion to be spent in three areas: 1) An estimated 330,000 public sector jobs will be created by next June. 2) Unemployment benefits will be made available for the first time to about 12 million workers, including state and local government employees and domestic and farm workers. 3) Major public works projects will be launched by the federal government in an effort to create jobs.

The Senate also approved the conference report, and the legislation has been sent to President Ford.

Rep. Dominick Daniels (D-N.J.) noted predictions that the unemployment rate will rise to at least 7.5 per cent within the next 12 months. "It would be unconscionable to leave the unemployed to their plight—casualties in an unsuccessful war against inflation," he said.

One opponent, Rep. John Hammerschmidt (R-Ark.) called the creation of public service jobs only "temporary novocain" which would barely help the hardcore unemployed. Also, he said, the program will fuel inflation and create jobs that state and local governments would have provided in the absence of a federal program.

"This program is not as effective as it may seem," he said. Reps. L.H. Fountain (D-2), Ike Andrews (D-4), Wilmer Mizell (R-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Charles Rose (D-7), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "yea."

Reps. David Henderson (D-3) and James Martin (R-9) voted "nay."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1) and Earl Ruth (R-8) did not vote.

HIGHWAY ACT—Adopted, 307 for and 67 against, the conference report on S. 3934, which amends the Federal Highway Act. Among amendments are ones to continue the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit on federal-aid highways, provide grants to encourage car-pooling, strengthen highway beautification requirements and intensify construction of roads in rural and urban areas. The Senate had earlier adopted the conference report and the House vote sent it to the President.

Controversy centered on language which increased, from 73,000 pounds to 80,000 pounds, the weight limit for trucks using federal roads. The House earlier in the year had rejected an increase above the 73,000 limit, and the higher limit was inserted by House-Senate conferees.

WOMAN KILLED

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Jacksonville police said Lynn Green of Miami, in her 60s, was found dead in her motel room here, apparently strangled after a robbery.

TRADE HUNTER

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Gov. John C. West left today for the Arab sheikdom of Kuwait with hopes of developing some economic ties "that perhaps won't solve all the monetary problems, but will be beneficial to both of us."

without benefit of floor votes.

Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.) defended the higher limit, saying "we have heard testimony... to the effect that this has no substantial effect on safety..."

Rep. Edward Koch (D-N.Y.) opposed the conference report because of the higher limit, which, he said, is opposed by many truck drivers. He said congressmen should think of "their own families, whose lives are in danger... as a result of increasing these weights."

Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Ruth, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Jones and Martin did not vote.

CIVIL RIGHTS—Adopted, 224 for and 136 against, language preserving the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's power to collect data on students' race, sex, religion and national origin. HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger has said HEW could not enforce civil rights laws without such data. The vote reverses the House's earlier approval of the so-called Holt amendment which would have forbidden the HEW data-gathering.

The Senate attached the language to the conference report on appropriations legislation (HR 16900). The House accepted the Senate language largely because it wanted to send the bill to President Ford before adjournment.

Rep. Louis Stokes (D-Ohio) said the vote keeps the 1964 civil rights laws from being "substantively wiped right off the books" by the Holt amendment.

"The intent of my amendment was not to repeal the civil rights law, but... to limit the bureaucracy in its manner of investigation of charges of discrimination," said Rep. Marjorie Holt (R-Md).

Preyer and Rose voted "yea." Fountain, Henderson,

Andrews, Ruth, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

Jones and Mizell did not vote.

SENATE

OIL SHIPMENT—Passed, 44 for and 40 against, the conference report on legislation requiring that 30 percent of oil imported to the U.S. be carried by U.S. tankers. The current level, unregulated, averages about five per cent. The 30 percent quota could be temporarily waived by the President in an emergency.

The bill (HR 8193) is opposed by the Administration and major and independent oil producers, and is supported by the shipping industry.

Supporters said it would provide jobs for the American shipping industry and strengthen the U.S. balance-of-payments posture. Sen. Adlai Stevenson (D-Ill.) said, "The United States should not be dependent on foreign tankers any more than on foreign oil producers."

Opponents said the bill invites retaliation from the oil producing countries, and amounts to yet another subsidy of the shipping industry. Sen. Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) said, "I can think of no more imprudent or untimely investment that to channel funds into our shipping industry... at a time when there is rising unemployment in most sectors of our economy, such as the automobile industry."

Sens. Sam Ervin (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "nay."

GIFT TAX—Rejected, by a 45-45 tie, an amendment which would have retained the present federal gift tax on political contributions of $3,000 or more. It sought to strike a section of its parent bill (HR 421) which exempts all political contributions from the gift tax. HR 421 was subsequently passed and now goes to conference with the House.

Because of the new federal campaign finance law which limits federal campaign contributions to $1,000, the gift tax is a moot point on the federal level. However, if retained, it would have applied to state and local political contributions.

Sen. Adlai Stevenson (D-Ill.), the sponsor, said is amendment is necessary because the federal tax discourages "large, potentially corrupting contributions to state and local campaigns."

One opponent, Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) said, "The principal effect of the... amendment would be to make the IRS arbitrator of campaign financing in state and local sections."

Ervin and Helms voted "nay."

CONSERVATION—Rejected, 35 for and 60 against, an amendment to cut $350 million from a proposed $700 million increase in the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF). The fund is a chief source of federal money for national parks and other conservation projects.

The amendment was proposed to S 3839, which increased the annual LWCF authorization from $300 million to $1 billion through 1989. S 3839 was subsequently passed and awaits House action.

Sen. James McClure (R-Idaho), the sponsor, said national priorities dictate lowering the $1 billion figure because "it seems to me unreasonable to expect this great increase while we are talking about massive federal expenditures to create jobs."

Opponents said land and water preservation cannot be postponed. Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) said the money is necessary to pay for areas which "everybody thinks are (already) saved... What kind of fraud is the Congress perpetrating on the American public if we don't appropriate the money to pay for the projects that we have authorized?" Ervin and Helms voted "yea."

New Traffic Laws Effective With The New Year

RALEIGH (AP)—When Tar Heel drivers ring out the old and bring in the new next week, they will have a batch of new traffic laws to contend with along with their New Year resolutions.

Possibly the most confusing of the changes is repeal of the law making right turns at a red traffic light legal. The right on red law took effect only six months ago and now is being repealed automatically.

While the legislature is expected to restore the right on red provision, it will be illegal until that action is taken.

The confusion is compounded by local action. Charlotte's city council, for example, made right on red legal in the city, but nearly all other areas haven't.

That leaves it up to the police in most areas to decide whether to enforce a law that appears to be doomed. Raleigh Police Chief Robert Goodwin said his department doesn't have "concrete plans," but he believes there won't be "wholesale arrests."

Goodwin said most policemen will issue warnings for right turns on red unless the turn re-

Gave Time To Allow Holiday

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Twenty-four Jewish men worked at police headquarters and the jail on Christmas Day so the regular employees could spend the holiday with their families.

Members of the Jewish community do it without pay each Christmas as a sign of brotherhood.

sulted in an accident. "We feel the legislature will take action on the law just as soon as it convenes Jan. 15," he said.

Other traffic laws to change Jan. 1:

—A driver's license will be revoked automatically if he is convicted of driving at least 15 miles an hour faster than the posted speed limit. For example, driving 50 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

—A driver attempting to elude a pursuing police officer at a speed of at least 55 m.p.h. and 15 m.p.h. over the posted limit could be fined $1,000 and jailed two years.

—It will be a misdemeanor crime to unintentionally cause someone's death while driving if the death is the result of violating a traffic law. Maximum punishment is $500 fine and two years in prison.

—The minimum amount of liability insurance will go up to $15,000 for each injury or death in an accident. It is now $10,000.

—It will be unlawful to operate a vehicle displaying white lights in the rear while moving forward. The provision doesn't apply to backup lights.

Coin-Operated Machine Broken

Chief Glenn Cannon said local police are investigating the break-in of a coin-operated machine at the Piggly Wiggly on North Greene St., reported at 11:03 a.m. Christmas Day.

The Chief said the would-be thieves, who pried the machine open, failed to take the money box from the machine, which contained $4.60 in change.

—Jacking up the front or rear of a vehicle more than six inches will be illegal. Permission of the commissioner of motor vehicles will be required for more than six inches.

—Motorbikes with engines of less than one horsepower that can't go faster than 20 m.p.h. will be exempt from the title and registration laws. But, they cannot be operated by anyone less than 16 years old on any public driving area such as highways and parking lots.

—It will be illegal to drive with .10 per cent alcohol content in the blood. The alcohol content will be determined by a measuring device known as a Breathalyzer. Having an alcohol content of .10 per cent greater will be punished the same as drunken driving.

—If motorcyclists travel more than two abreast they will be subject to a maximum penalty of $100 fine and 60 days in jail. The old law has a maximum penalty of $50 fine and 30 days in jail.

—Pedestrians will be prohibited from walking on the roadways when sidewalks are provided.

—Maximum penalty for speeding or driving the wrong direction on a one-way street will be doubled. The top punishment will be $100 fine or 60 days in jail.

FIELD MARSHAL DIES

CAIRO (AP)—Field Marshal Ahmed Ismail, 57, the Egyptian war minister who led the Egyptian and Syrian armies during the October 1973 war with Israel, died Wednesday in London where he had gone for treatment of cancer.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

My son has spoken four words to me all year. One day as I was separating an egg, the whole thing cracked and slithered to the floor. He looked at me and said, "Way to go, Mom."

My eyes misted. I didn't think he even knew who I was.

I have always been envious of the mothers of children who talk. What an insight they must have into the personality of their child. What good times they must enjoy... the intimate laughter... the first blush of a shared secret.

Our relationship is a lot like the Trials of Nuremberg.

"What's that hanging out of your notebook?"

(Shrug shoulders)

"You're having your school pictures taken tomorrow? And what's this one? An insurance form for football? I didn't know you went out for football. What do you play? WHEN do you play?"

(Grin)

"Hey, here's one directed to my attention. They need someone to bake cakes for the ox roast. I think I could manage that."

"That's left over from last year."

"Oh, here's one. 'Memo to: Revolutionary Troops. Cross Potomac tonight at 7:30 p.m. Bring money. Signed George Washington.' Thought I'd toss in a little humor there."

(Sigh)

"Look here. You're having an Open House. I think I'll go."

(Moan)

Now, if you think things at home are painful for the mother of a non-verbal child, you should try enduring an Open House.

No sooner was I in the door than a mother accosted me and asked, "What do you think about Miss Barbie and Mr. Ken in the boiler room? I'm sure your son told you about it, didn't he?"

Then another one approached and said, "I would have known Mr. Brickie just from my son's description, wouldn't you?" (Lady, I wouldn't have found the building if there hadn't been a Boy Scout in the parking lot.)

Finally, "It's a shame you were to busy to come to the Booster's Meeting. We thought since your son was on the team..."

As I was ready to make my exit, my son's teacher put her hand on my arm. "I want to talk about your son's problem," she said.

So! It wasn't me. It was definitely a case of a poor, shy boy who couldn't express himself, so he lived in a world of silence.

"Your son can't seem to keep his mouth shut," she said. "He talks incessantly during class, shouts out the answers before there are questions and is known to his classmates as 'Elastic Mouth.'"

I confronted my son in the hallway. "Way to go, what's your name," I said.

Senator Helped To Serve Dinner

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, a Santa Claus hat on his head, spent part of Christmas helping prepare and serve dinner for about 60 persons at a Salvation Army's men's social services center.

"It is one of the most pleasant Christmases I've spent in a long time," the Wisconsin Democrat said.

Proxmire sliced pineapples for the dinner, helped serve, ate, then helped clean a large potato pot.

As Proxmire moved in to tackle the dirty dishes, Curtis McCurdy, 36, a resident at the center, moved out of his way.

"Can't beat a replacement like that, can I?" McCurdy said.

Seeks Save Baby Crabs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Asian Red crabs might be the answer to the world's food problems if it weren't for a problem of cannibalism, actor Ted Hartley believes.

Mother crab has about 1.5 million babies, but she eats all but three or four. Shortly thereafter, the father crab eats the mother.

Hartley, star of last season's "Chopper One" television series, says he hopes he can change all that and put two crabs in every pot.

Hartley has imported meaty Asian Reds from Indonesia and is studying them in a 10-by-40-foot saltwater pond at his Burbank mansion.

He is seeking ways to help more baby crabs live longer. Within a couple of years, Hartley thinks he can come up with a crab-growing system that will cut supermarket prices to 50 cents a pound.

Hartley says he has invested $50,000 in the project and has brought crab experts from Indonesia and Ceylon in to help him.

Ease Rules On Moonlighting

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Fears of policemen that they would not be able to moonlight have been put to rest.

U.S. Department of Labor regulations have been revised so that there is now no limitation on their working in off-duty security and traffic-control jobs.

Pat Hunter, Charlotte police attorney, says the new regulations resolve the question for police departments all over the country.

Jurors Reminded Of Nixon Role

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — At least one defense lawyer at the Watergate cover-up trial is determined that the absence of Richard M. Nixon from the courtroom will be in the minds of the jurors when they begin deliberations.

Referring to Nixon as the "orchestra leader," William S. Frates, lawyer for former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman, said in his closing argument to the jury before the Christmas recess:

"Ladies and gentlemen, we're missing one person here, the orchestra leader, that's who we're missing in this case."
Frates was scheduled to complete his summation today. The jurors, sequestered since the trial began Oct. 11, spent Christmas Day with relatives at a local hotel. Deputy U.S. marshals were present during the Christmas party and traditional dinner to assure that the trial was not discussed.

Before adjourning on Monday, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica and Prosecutor James F. Neal said they wanted to know how far Frates intended to carry his orchestra leader analogy.

Lawyers for former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for Nixon's re-election committee, will follow Frates in presenting arguments to the jury. The prosecutors then will present a rebuttal argument.
The jury already has heard summations from Neal and from lawyers for former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House aide H. R. Haldeman.

The case appeared likely to go to the jury on Friday or Saturday after Sirica reads his instructions explaining legal points in the complicated trial.

The defendants were charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Throughout the 13-week trial, the absence of Nixon as either defendant or witness has been raised out of the presence of the jury.

The nine women and three men on the panel presumably are aware that President Ford granted his predecessor a full pardon which prevented his being prosecuted for his alleged role in Watergate. Nixon was named an unindicted co-conspirator.

When prospective jurors were being questioned before the trial began, several of them were known to have said they thought it was unfair to bring other Watergate defendants to trial after Nixon had been pardoned for his alleged role.

ing above $7,000 in the average salaries for new jobs," the governor said.

Considering the likely slowdown of industrial expansion because of the sagging economy, Holshouser said, "During the past few years, nearly 10 per cent of all new industrial plants announced in the nation were for North Carolina. While there may be a slowdown in industrial investment next year, we intend to get that same share or more," he said.

The governor also said the development in 1974 was largely in rural areas "where jobs are needed most."

Here are some of the development figures from the governor's office:

Last year, 104 new plants had a total investment of $267 million and created 11,789 jobs. This year, 85 new plants were located in the state with an investment of $345 million and 9,936 jobs.

Fourteen Initiated Into Honor Society

Fourteen outstanding students in the East Carolina University School of Business have been initiated into the campus chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma honor society in business administration.

Participating in the initiation ceremony Dec. 13 were Dr. James H. Bearden, dean of the ECU School of Business, Dr. Ross Piper, chapter president, and previous members.

The purpose of Beta Gamma Sigma is to recognize academic achievement of students in the field of business administration, as business students are not eligible for similar recognition by Phi Beta Kappa, the arts and sciences honor society.

Names and other relevant information about the 14 new members follow:

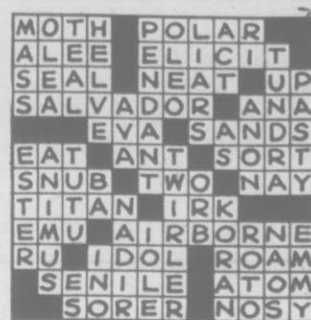

Pitt County, Ayden—Christine Mumford Beaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Mumford, 404 South Lee St. and wife of E. Malcolm Beaman, Jr.

Greenville — William D. Fryar, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fryar, Route 7; and Kenneth Harold Myers, son of Agnes F. Myers, 1306 Willow St., and husband of the former Susan Upton.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, DEC. 27, 1974

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: One of those days when whatever you have planned does not meet with your expectations. If you relax and quietly attend to your regular duties, surprising benefits could come your way. Make long-range plans for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Not a good day to make promises of any kind. A time to use extreme care in motion. Don't waste time with scandalmongers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You need to use different methods if you want to solve your monetary affairs now. Obey every regulation that applies to you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to delve into new interests and this is a good day to do just that. Show others that you are a progressive person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study just how to get ahead faster and forget unimportant outside duties for the time being. Show devotion to mate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Look to your most interesting friends for the ideas from which you can benefit the most in the future. Attend a group affair.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle credit affairs wisely and forget the advice of some bigwig for now, since this is not the time for that. Be logical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study those ideas given you by one who has vision and which could lead to advancement. Avoid one who does not understand you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show those to whom you owe money that you are on the beam and eager to come to a better understanding. Show your appreciation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find the right way to handle a very opinionated person and you can come to a fine understanding. Be more cooperative.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are in doubt how to solve a problem, be sure to discuss it with an expert. Don't neglect to take health treatments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to get into new outlets now that will bring you greater enjoyment during spare time. Strive for happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make improvements in the home by adding new appliances. Don't forget to pay pressing bills. Show more devotion to mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will benefit greatly if you provide the best education you can afford early in life. There is much inventiveness in this nature and both fame and fortune could result. Be sure to give ethical training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

$500,000 To Mill Workers

NIAGARA, Wis. (AP) — Three years after the paper mill that employs 650 residents of this northern Wisconsin community was to be closed, its employees split a pre-Christmas plum, $500,000 in profit-sharing funds.

The bonuses represent about three weeks' pay for workers at the Niagara of Wisconsin Paper Corp. mill and mark a climb upward for the community and the employees.

Kimberly-Clark Corp., which had owned the mill since 1898, announced three years ago that it was seeking to sell the operation "to improve the company's future profitability."

The news hit hard in this community of 2,300 on the Menominee River and in nearby Upper Michigan, where most of the firm's employees live. The mill was the area's major industry.

Kimberly-Clark said it wanted out because the publication-grade paper market was down and it had pollution-control problems with the state. The company said if it couldn't sell, it planned to shut down the plant.

Pentair Industries of Minneapolis purchased the property after Local 205 of the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, which represents 550 production workers, agreed to a new three-year contract that excluded pay increases.

One provision of the agreement called for the creation of a profit-sharing this year. And just in time for Christmas 1974, the mill workers took home their rewards.

"We've seen a lot of people rally around a mutual goal which has resulted in increased production and quality," said William Beerman, executive vice president and general manager of Niagara of Wisconsin.

pened." There was also some outside help.

The state agreed to delay pollution abatement orders two years and seek a corporate tax break, which was passed by the 1973 legislature. Pentair installed a $1.6 million pollution abatement facility this year.

The market for the mill's coated papers, used for magazines and catalogs, also improved, pushing Pentair's net income from $378,000 in 1971 to $1.3 million for 1973. The firm estimates that 85 per cent of its profits were created by the paper mill.

Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Nine of ♠.

One of the fascinations of bridge is that, no matter how proficient at the game we become, there are so many variations to the play of the cards that it is inconceivable that we will ever become perfect. When this hand came up in a major championship, one of the world's great players went wrong defending with the West cards.

East's preempt at the four-level was somewhat unorthodox, but it was made with the vulnerability in mind. It achieved its purpose when South elected to overcall four spades rather than make a takeout double, which resulted in the superior heart contract going by the boards. Since his partner might have had a far better hand, North can hardly be blamed for trying for slam, although it might have been more advisable to cue-bid his ace of clubs.

West led his singleton club, won in dummy. Fearing a bad trump break, declarer crossed to his hand with the ace of hearts and led a spade to the nine. When this held, he cashed the queen. On these two tricks, East followed first with the six and then with the five of trumps. This relayed to partner the information that East had three trumps, and that he could ruff something.

Locked in dummy after the second round of trumps, declarer tried to get to his hand by leading a diamond to the king. West took his ace, and he now had to decide which red suit his partner was able to ruff. Since South had not made a takeout double, West decided to play him for three cards in each red suit, and thus East for a singleton diamond and doubleton heart. Therefore, he returned the jack of diamonds. Dummy's queen won, declarer entered his hand with a diamond ruff, drew the outstanding trumps and finessed West's queen of hearts to make an overtrick.

West did not have to guess which suit his partner could ruff. He could have made a play that would have catered to any distribution. Instead of a diamond, he should have returned the queen of hearts! Even if East had a doubleton heart, declarer would now be locked in dummy. If he tried to come off the table with a red suit, East would ruff and then cash his winning club. And if declarer led a club, West could trump his partner's trick and return either red suit, allowing East to ruff and set the contract.
