Ford Will Propose "Tough" Cures For U.S. Economy

By GRANT DILLMAN
VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — President Ford will propose "hard and tough" cures for the nation's economic ills in his State of the Union message next month, but "it won't mean a big reduction in the standard of living of the average American," his chief spokesman said Saturday.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford's proposals "will deal with the fundamental ailments with the economy and getting back stability in a long term sense, not to just patch things together."

Reporting on a 4½ hour conference between Ford and his top economic advisers, Nessen also said the President had found "across the board unanimity" that there would be an upturn in the economy during the last half of 1975.

He said everyone at the meeting agreed that the economy, whipsawed between simultaneous recession and inflation,

"faces serious problems." The President also was quoted by Nessen as telling his economic experts that he wanted "no gimmicks," which the press secretary described as "quick cures" which would not have a lasting effect.

"He said he wanted a hard and tough State of the Union (address)," Nessen said. "What this whole program is aimed at is to get the economy back to stability."

"It was a consensus that this was a watershed period as far as the economy goes. It needs more than a gimmick to get out."

In an apparent reference to the forces of recession, Nessen also said: "This is the moment when fundamental changes are needed to avoid consequences down the road."

Nessen indicated Ford will basically scrap the 31-point economic program he presented to Congress last October on grounds that the picture has changed.

But, he said, "that is not to say that some of it won't be used" in the new proposals.

Nessen declined to discuss specifics on the direction of Ford's new program. He said the President had cautioned his advisers again "not to discuss publically ideas and proposals under discussion."

He quoted Ford as telling the advisers "you've been patient and constructive, but not always unanimous. It's been very helpful."

After the conference was over, Ford went skiing and told reporters it had been "a very very good meeting."

Expect Intense Battles

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces have moved tanks and truckloads of fresh supplies to key battlefields in South Vietnam, military sources said Saturday. The sources predicted intense battles early in 1975.

At the same time, the Saigon command estimated that 30,000 soldiers on both sides have been killed, wounded or captured in the current three-week upsurge in fighting in the southern half of South Vietnam.

Reports reaching Saigon Saturday said government warplanes destroyed a North Vietnamese tank and eight Russian-made supply trucks Friday almost within sight of Tay Ninh provincial capital, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

Other fighter-bombers knocked out another eight North Vietnamese trucks in a convoy near threatened Kontum provincial capital in the Central Highlands, 260 miles north of Saigon, the reports said.

Both Tay Ninh and Kontum are believed to be key targets of an expected Communist "high point" of attacks sometime within the next two weeks.

Retaliation Hint Noted

MOSCOW (UPI) — In what seemed to be the first hint of Soviet retaliation in its trade and emigration dispute with the United States, a high official said Saturday the American attitude could affect Russian commitments made at the 1972 summit meeting of the two superpowers.

Leonid Zamyatin, chief of the official Tass news agency, who periodically acts as spokesman for Communist party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev, said also that the quarrel could hurt U.S. trade.

Writing in the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya, Zamyatin said that when former President Richard M. Nixon met Brezhnev in Moscow in May, 1972, each government undertook to grant the other "most favored nation" trade status unconditionally.

"In the present situation, the failure of one of the parties to honor its commitments cannot but affect the commitments assumed by the other party under a series of commercial and financial agreements," Zamyatin said.

When the U.S. Congress passed a bill extending trade privileges to the Soviet Union last week, it included an amendment saying Moscow must permit increased emigration of unhappy citizens. The bill provides for a review of the trade status after 18 months if the emigration condition is not met.

The Soviet Union denied it made any promises to allow easier emigration.

Checking Clients

MIAMI (UPI)—A 10-year-old kidnap victim was listed as "fair, stable and responsive" Saturday following brain surgery and police checked lists of his father's former law clients for possible leads to his abductor.

Police in suburban Coral Gables, where Christopher Carrier, 10, was abducted while en route home from a private school Christmas party Dec. 20, broadcast a statewide alert for a white motor home with a blue stripe in connection with the kidnaping. But a police spokesman said the motor home was "only one of 11 leads we are following up."

The motor home was thought to have a decal on the passenger side windshield in the shape of some type of cat.

Wants Judge's Pay Hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, asked Congress Saturday for a pay hike for federal judges and more seats on district and circuit benches to help meet growing case loads.

Burger requested quick action on a bill adding 52 new district judgeships to the present 454 and increasing the 97 circuit judgeships by 11.

A similar request last year got little response from Congress.

Jewish Service For Benny

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A traditional Jewish funeral service with eulogies by Bob Hope and George Burns has been scheduled for today for comedian Jack Benny.

Rabbi Edgar K. Magnin of Hollywood will officiate at the ceremony in Hillside Memorial Park Chapel. Private entombment will follow. Pall bearers will include Gregory Peck, Frank Sinatra and Milton Berle.

Benny died late Thursday night from cancer of the pancreas.

Lost Boy Fought Coyotes

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Joseph Cordova, lost for three days and two nights in snow-covered plains, says he used his 22 rifle to fight off coyotes.

The boy said the coyotes were apparently attracted by the scent of three rabbits, which he had killed.

"The coyotes kept coming closer," he said Friday. "At first I threw the rabbits at them, then I had to shoot the coyotes with my rifle."

A search dog found the Albuquerque youth in a snowbank Friday about 25 miles east of Truth or Consequences.

The boy became separated from his father and brother during a Christmas day hunting expedition in a storm that dumped nearly a foot of snow.

May Market Watergate Tapes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warner Brothers Records has announced plans to market a series of records based on the Watergate tapes, if they become public domain.

The firm said Friday it plans an 11-record set of the "complete 22 hours of recordings" played during the Watergate cover-up trial of John D. Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, Robert O. Mar-dian, John N. Mitchell and Kenneth W. Parkinson.

The company also said it would produce a two-record set of "the most important passages" of conversations between former President Richard M. Nixon and his advisers in the Oval Office.

Both record sets would be accompanied by transcripts of the texts, Warner Brothers said.

State of Emergency Declared In Bangladesh

DACCA (UPI) — Bangladesh was declared in a state of emergency Saturday in a harsh crackdown on "internal disturbances" the government said threatened the nation that is barely three years old.

The decree from the government of Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, who has led the country since its break from Pakistan in December, 1971, gives authorities sweeping powers to "make such rules as it deems necessary to combat subversion." It gave no time limit for the decree.

Some constitutional rights were suspended by the proclamation which provides for arrest and detention of any person "acting in a manner prejudicial to Bangladesh's relations with foreign powers or to the security, public safety or interest of Bangladesh."

The announcement came shortly after the arrival for a three-day visit of 19-year-old King Jigme Singye Wangchuk of Bhutan, an Indian protectorate. He was met on arrival by Rahman and President Mohammadullah.

The decree did not spell out the alleged threats to the country.

An accompanying government statement spoke, however, of "persons notorious for their anti-national crimes, extremists and enemy agents in the pay of foreign powers" and referred to "some collaborators of the Pakistan army."

Pro-Pakistan elements were blamed by the government for a series of bomb blasts that rocked the country on the eve of National Day celebrations 12 days ago.

Bangladesh, with a population of about 75 million, was created as an independent state from Pakistan's former eastern wing in the Dec. 3-16 war with India.

Since then the country has suffered severe droughts and monsoon flooding and much of its population is reported near starvation. Recent reports from Dacca quoted reliable sources as estimating at least 3,000 politicians have been assassinated in the past three years.

Rahman, a slight, bespectacled nationalist who was acclaimed prime minister after the 1971 war following 10 months in a Pakistan prison, led his Awami League to easy victory one year ago in Bangladesh's first national election.

But he has been unable to stem his country's massive economic problems, political murders or reported widespread corruption, particularly among officials charged with distribution of the huge international relief effort.

Eight Senators Retiring Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., have joined six Senate colleagues in resigning just before the end of their terms.

Ervin said Friday he would resign next Tuesday, just before 1974 ends, in order to take advantage of a 6.4 per cent cost-of-living pension increase available to federal employees who retire this year.

Cook said he was stepping down effective Friday so that his successor, Democrat Wendell H. Ford, would have "a few days' head start" on seniority over other incoming senators.

The others senators who are leaving office early are J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Norris Cotton, R-N.H., Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., Alan Bible, D-Nev., Howard H. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, and Wallace Bennett, R-Utah.

Sens. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., and Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, plan to complete their terms as scheduled Jan. 3.

Diplomats Hostages Of Nicaraguan Guerrillas

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Leftist guerrillas who shot their way into a diplomatic reception and captured the cream of the Nicaraguan diplomatic corps demanded Saturday $1 million ransom, release of eight prisoners, and a safe conduct out of Nicaragua.

Among a score of their prominent hostages were the Nicaraguan foreign minister, the Nicaraguan ambassador to the United States who is the dean of the foreign diplomatic corps in Washington, and the Nicaraguan U.N. ambassador.

The U.S. Embassy said the Chilean ambassador and his wife were also captured, but the Nicaraguan government would only confirm the capture of the wife.

U.S. Ambassador Shelton Turner was guest of honor at the reception in a suburban Managua home, but he left 20 minutes before the guerrillas stormed into the building and shot to death two members of the Nicaraguan National Guard, diplomatic sources said.

One guerrilla, one guest, and one guardsman were wounded in the attack on the building. The semi-official newspaper Novedades identified them as one guerrilla, one guard, and a Nicaraguan Exxon executive, whose wound was described as superficial.

President Anastasio Somoza declared martial law, surrounded the occupied residence with troops, imposed a curfew, and studied the ransom demands with his cabinet.

The archbishop of Managua, Msgr. Miguel Ovando Bravo, served as go-between.

A presidential spokesman late Saturday confirmed foreign minister Miguel Alejandro Montiel and his wife were among the hostages.

U.S. embassy information officer Jack Barton told UPI Chilean Ambassador Alfonso Dieckmann Diaz and his wife were among the prisoners.

Their names were not on an earlier list issued by a presidential spokesman, who later only confirmed the capture of the Chilean ambassador's wife.

The eight terrorists, six men and two women, shot their way into a diplomatic reception late Friday night at the home of former agriculture minister Jose Maria Castillo. They took hostage the host family, approximately 19 guests, seven servants, and four musicians.

"The hostages were those who happened to be at the party at the time," a presidential spokesman said.

The raiders, belong to Sandanista Liberation Front, released the servants, Mrs. Castillo and her three children, and the musicians, and told them to ask the archbishop to serve as go-between with the government.

Sandinistas named themselves for Cesar Sandino, legendary guerrilla of the 1930's who opposed the U.S. occupation that brought the Somoza family to power.

The presidential spokesman said the guerrillas demanded $1 million ransom, release of eight imprisoned fellow guerrillas, and safe conduct out of the country for the liberated prisoners and themselves.

"The guerrillas were wearing gas masks and carrying machine guns when they stormed the party," the spokesman said. "We don't know their identity. They claim to be Sandinistas. The eight prisoners whose release was demanded also were Sandinistas."

A musician who asked not to be identified said the guerrillas "came in firing like crazy." He said they would not let the hostages speak and kept them in a separate section of the room.

Protest Return Of Kittikachorn

By FREDERICK H. MARKS
BANGKOK (UPI) — Thousands of demonstrating students Saturday led mounting public opposition to the return from American exile of ousted military strongman Thanom Kittikachorn less than a month before the first election of a Thai civilian government in more than a quarter-century.

About 10,000 students rallied at Thammasat University to denounce Thanom.

The army was on general alert in case of trouble, but demonstrations were orderly in the country where about 25,000 American servicemen are stationed.

Thanom, 63, arrived in Bangkok early Friday after flying half-way around the world from Boston where he had lived in seclusion since King Bhumibol Adulyadej ordered him into exile.

After visiting his 90-year-old dying father, Thanom was arrested and reportedly taken to an army base in central Thailand for safekeeping.

The king, Prime Minister Sanya Dharmasakti and army commander-in-chief Kris Sivara were all out of the capital when Thanom returned. Sanya returned from his country vacation home and Kris cut short his visit to the Philippines to fly home.

Paper Folds

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (UPI) — The Grand Strand Journal American, citing economic reasons, announced Saturday that it is ceasing publication with its Sunday edition.

The newspaper began as the Georgetown Daily American in March 1973 and merged with the Myrtle Beach Weekly Journal in July 1973 to become a six-day morning daily serving the Strand area.

The newspaper temporarily suspended publication for three weeks last month due to economic conditions and returned as a semi-weekly Nov. 23. The cutback in publication did not help the newspaper's economic position, publisher Bill Parker said.

Myrtle Beach is also served by the Myrtle Beach Sun-News, a six-day morning daily.

Fragrances From "The Female Glutton" Ruled Not A Nuisance

NEW YORK (AP) — The garlic-laden aromas of escargots and other fine French cuisine are essentials of civilized living, the state Supreme Court has decreed.

In an opinion Friday, Justice Edward J. Greenfield refused to grant an injunction against La Goulue, an upper East Side restaurant, to stop "foul smells and rancid and noxious odors ... the clangor of pots and pans ... glaring lights in the courtyard ... the storage of garbage."

Peter Sourian, 41, a novelist and English professor who lives next to the restaurant, claimed that La Goulue was "emitting nuisances." Those weren't nuisances, the judge ruled, merely "the redolent odors of garlic ... the wafted odors of sauces and stews."

Greenfield held that "the amenities of a first-class French restaurant are as important to civilized living as clean, unpolluted air and the hushed stillness of the night."

In deciding not to grant the injunction, Greenfield said the restaurant had promised to curb its noises, lights and odors.

1975 License Plates Go On Sale January 1

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Vehicle registration plates for 1975, will go on sale January 1, according to Mrs. Anna Garriss, the local license agent for both North Carolina and City of Greenville vehicle licenses.

According to Mrs. Garriss, the 1975 State tags—red and white—will be available, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, as will the city registrations—which will be green decals instead of the metal tags used in past years.

Application cards necessary for obtaining 1975 state license plates have already been mailed to vehicle owners by the Department of Motor Vehicles, but Mrs. Garriss noted that she already has about 3,000 cards that could not be delivered by the U.S. Postal Service in the Bethel, Ayden, Winterville and Greenville areas.

She said anyone failing to receive an application card may possibly find it at the local license office. Otherwise, "it will take from 10 days to two weeks to get application cards from the Department of Motor Vehicles in Raleigh," Mrs. Garriss noted. "People who have not received their cards should come by my office as early as possible, so there will be time to get one from Raleigh if we do not have it."

Plates for 1974 expire December 31, and their use beyond that date is permissible only if they are duly registered by the Motor Vehicles department on the vehicle on which they are displayed. Owners who have their vehicles properly registered, have through February 15 to obtain new plates.

Mrs. Garriss noted that the new red and white plates issued in 1975 will be good for several years. She noted that stickers validating the plate for 1976 and other years will be sold and stuck to the face of the 1975 plates when registration time rolls around a year from now.

After residents may obtain their plates from the license agency at Home and Auto Supply Co. on Dickinson Avenue week-days from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Mrs. Garriss emphasized, "to renew a plate, you must have a renewal card" and cautioned against misplacing it.

She said too, that vehicle owners should read the instructions and complete the application according to instructions in the envelope before presenting it for a new plate. "This will expedite the issuance of licenses and keep lines from forming."

The city license tags this year, according to Mrs. Garriss, will be small green stickers—saying "Greenville: Home of East Carolina University, and bearing a registration number—which should be placed in the lower right-hand corner of the vehicle windshield.

The old, 1974 metal city registration plates should be removed from the car.

First Lady of Etiquette Amy Vanderbilt Dies In Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — An autopsy performed on Amy Vanderbilt, America's First Lady of Etiquette, showed she suffered from hypertension but gave no clue to the cause of her death in a plunge from a second-story window of her Manhattan apartment.

Police initially labeled Miss Vanderbilt's death an "apparent suicide," but no note was left and a police spokesman later said it would be impossible to be certain if she jumped or fell.

Dr. Yung Rho, the city's deputy chief medical examiner, said Miss Vanderbilt, who was 66, died "strictly as a result of the fall" from a window in her brownstone East Side apartment.

It was in the late 40s that Doubleday, Inc., asked her to write a book on etiquette.

So she retired to "Daisy-fields," her farm in Westport, Conn., and began to write the 700-page "The Complete Book of Etiquette," completed in 1952. It was destined to make her a nationally known authority on the subject.

In 1954, Miss Vanderbilt joined the United Feature Syndicate, where she worked as a syndicated columnist until 1968, when she moved to the Los Angeles Times Syndicate and wrote regular monthly columns for the Ladies' Home Journal and McCall's.

Miss Vanderbilt also hosted "It's in Good Taste," a television program on etiquette, and had her own radio show, "The Right Thing To Do."

She was married four times, the last time to Kellar, an assistant general counsel for the Mobil Oil Corp., in 1968.

She is survived by three sons, all from previous marriages. They are Lincoln Gill Clark, by her second husband, Morton G. Clark; and Paul Vanderbilt Knopf and Stephen John Knopf, by her third husband, Hans Knopf.

Five Die In Single Crash

MILLERSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — Five persons were killed and three injured, two critically, in a head-on collision Saturday between a tractor-trailer truck carrying U.S. mail and a private automobile.

Anne Arundel county police said the collision occurred in the northbound lane of state route 3 about 15 miles south of Baltimore. It appeared that the automobile, carrying seven persons, was traveling in the wrong direction, police said.

Lt. Leslie Bates, who was at the scene, said the bodies "were so badly mangled" it was difficult to identify them. The automobile, which had Maryland license tags, was "totally demolished," he said.

A spokesman at North Arundel Hospital said that three of the deceased were adult women and two were male children about 10 years old. Two other children were listed in critical condition at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore.

The driver of the mail truck, identified as Hilton McGehee, 37, of Washington, D.C., was treated for minor injuries at North Arundel and released.

Safe Lead Limits Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The current permissible maximum of 0.5 per cent of lead in paint is a safe limit and need not be lowered, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has decided.

The action, announced Friday, will prevent an automatic drop to a 0.06 per cent maximum lead limit next Tuesday under the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act. The law specified that the commission could set an alternative limit.

41 Injured In Wreck Of Amtrak Train

By Thomas Ferriek Jr.
HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Forty-one persons were injured, none seriously, when an Amtrak train, carrying 430 passengers from Chicago to New York and Washington and traveling at the maximum speed of 55 miles per hour, derailed Saturday at a curve west of here.

The train, Amtrak's Broadway Limited, derailed because of a split rail on Penn Central's tracks, according to a spokesman. He said a preliminary investigation showed the split rail caused the inside wheels of one of the cars to slip between two other rails. The derailed cars ripped over more than 1,000 feet of track, the spokesman said.

All the passengers, except for a male detained for observation, continued their trips in eight other passenger cars provided by Amtrak.

An Amtrak spokesman said 290 passengers boarded four cars which continued on to New York. Another 77 passengers were taken in two other cars to Washington. Those injured were taken to Philadelphia in two cars from where Amtrak made arrangements to get them to their destinations.

The derailment occurred about 40 miles west of this Pennsylvania capital city while operating on Penn Central tracks along the Juniata River.

NEW YORK (AP) — The rising cost of newsprint, up more than 40 per cent during the past year, has brought about changes in design and format to the nation's newspapers as well as pushing up prices.

Paper manufacturers' bills to publishers have boosted the cost of newsprint to $260 a ton in the East and $280 a ton in the West, effective Jan. 1, 1975, up from $185 a ton a year ago.

For the big, metropolitan newspapers, the new price means increased paper costs of $25 million to $30 million a year over what they paid last year.

"Newsprint represents nearly one-fourth of the operation cost of our papers," said Charles W. Crowder, publisher of the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Journal and Sentinel. "Since 1971, the cost of this material has risen 70 per cent and by 1976 it will have increased another 15 per cent," he said.

"Newspapers face the grim but real possibility they may have to ration space to advertisers and to news, as well as restrict the number of copies of the paper and to whom they will be distributed," Crowder said.

Among the most widespread changes brought about by the paper price boom this year was the rapid disappearance of the 10-cent daily newspaper and the 25-cent Sunday edition.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association's annual survey of 1,745 newspapers showed for the first time that most daily papers now cost 15 cents or more and the majority of Sunday papers sell at the newsstand for 35 cents per copy and up.

Cost-cutting measures during the year included the reduction in a paper's size to save newsprint and a change in format which meant the loss of up to 10 per cent in the news hole, the space devoted to printing news, publishers say.

Publishers of several major metropolitan newspapers, including the Los Angeles Times and the Miami Herald and Miami News, announced plans to reduce the width of each page three-quarters of an inch. The Times said it will save an estimated 18,000 tons of newsprint each year representing a saving of $4.2 million after the width reduction planned for Dec. 30.

Egyptian, Russian Delegates Holding High Level Talks

By United Press International

A high-level Egyptian delegation opened talks in Moscow Saturday amid Western diplomatic speculation that a hitch has developed in plans for next month's Cairo visit by Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The Moscow talks took place as President Ford told UPI in an interview he firmly believes another Middle East war is highly probable unless the United States can get Israel and the Arabs to negotiate further military disengagements.

Western newsmen were turned away from Moscow's Vnukovo airport when they tried to cover the arrival of Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi and the newly appointed war minister, Gen. Mohammed Gamassy.

Moscow radio said Fahmi and Gamassy came for "an exchange of opinions on problems of interest" but did not mention Brezhnev's Egyptian visit scheduled for Jan. 14-18.

Lack of similar mention of Brezhnev's previously announced visit in an article on the Middle East by Communist party newspaper Pravda stirred speculation that last minute problems may have developed.

Western diplomats noted there has been no mention of Brezhnev's trip in the Soviet press since Tuesday after having been the subject of much public comment earlier in the month.

In Vail, Colo., President Ford told UPI:

"I firmly believe, unless there is some movement on a step-by-step basis (toward) peace in the Middle East, there's a high degree, there's a high likelihood of war. If we keep working on it, and get some success, I think we can prevent another bloody conflict."

"I think all parties recognize another war would be a real tragedy, both in lives lost and the financial cost," Ford said. "I think its consequences could be very serious."

Ford said it would be "inappropriate" to comment on recurring reports there is a National Security Council contingency plan for the United States to take over some Arab oil fields, or help Israel to do so, if there is another oil embargo.

Fahmi and Gamassy traveled to Moscow after what Cairo political sources described as an urgent message Thursday from Brezhnev to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. Cairo reports said they would stay several days.

Fahmi last visited Moscow in October to signal the start of a thaw in relations badly strained since the October, 1973, Arab-Israeli war.

Judiciary Committee Opening Triggers Democratic Battle

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A coveted opening on the Senate Judiciary Committee in the 94th Congress has triggered a battle between three liberal and two conservative Democrats.

The liberals are Sen. Lee Metcalf of Montana, a third-term; Sen. James Abourezk of South Dakota, a first-term; and Senator-elect Patrick Leahy of Vermont.

The conservatives are Sen. James B. Allen of Alabama, who has just won a second term; and Senator-elect Robert Morgan of North Carolina.

The committee, now nearly evenly divided along ideological lines, may consider such sensitive issues as constitutional amendments on abortion, school prayer, and busing; possible changes in the amendment dealing with selection of a new vice president, and extension of the voting rights act.

The single vacancy on the Democratic side was created by the retirement of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina. It is probable, however, that the Democratic Steering Committee, headed by Senate leader Mike Mansfield, will recommend enlargement of the panel to reflect Democratic gains in the Nov. 5 elections.

A number of other Democratic incumbents are also seeking new committees.

$1 Billion To Rebuild Darwin

By BRIAN DEWHURST

DARWIN (UPI) — The Australian government Saturday turned to the $1 billion task of rebuilding its northern gateway while speeding up the mass evacuation of residents in a 40-plane air shuttle from the cyclone-devastated city.

Prime Minister E. Gough Whitlam said 16,000 people had been flown out of the city by Saturday night and plans were to reduce Darwin's population to about 10,000 from the usual 45,000 by New Year's Day.

The official death toll from Tracy's Christmas Day onslaught rose to 49 Saturday when police discovered two bodies washed ashore on a Darwin beach. A police spokesman said the figure could reach 150 as the rubble of homes is cleared.

Whitlam, who cut short a European tour to fly back to Australia, was driven Saturday on a 58-minute, 60 mile-an-hour dash through the city which is without water, electric power and sewers. About 20,000 persons were made homeless in by the cyclone.

Standing amid overturned autos and debris of homes, he likened the cyclone damage to the 1940 Japanese bombing of this tropical harbor city 2,000 miles north of Sydney.

"There are now no more people that can live in Darwin in present conditions, than were able to live here during the war," Whitlam said.

Whitlam promised that Darwin, which he described as Australia's gateway, will be rebuilt, a task that some authorities have said will cost more than $1 billion.

CIA Surveillance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and three members of congress were put under surveillance — apparently illegally — by the CIA, according to the forthcoming edition of Time magazine.

However, the magazine said that a high CIA official, who was not identified, denied the alleged surveillance activity.

Time said Douglas, former Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J.; Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla.; and the late Sen. Edward Long, D-Mo., were among the targets of the CIA's clandestine domestic activities.

The magazine said Douglas first was under CIA scrutiny in the mid-1960's because of his contacts with officials of the Dominican Republic and that Long sparked CIA interest because of his dealings with foreign businessmen.

Pepper was investigated because of his contacts with Cuban refugees living in his congressional district, Time said.

Shortages, Economic Upheavals May Lead To Mistrust, Conflict

By DONALD SANDERS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's natural resources will not be exhausted soon but raw material shortages and economic instability are leading to potential mistrust and conflict among nations, a White House study says.

"The best available data and analysis indicate there are ample materials in the earth's crust to meet the world's needs for nearly every material well beyond the remainder of this century," said the study made public Friday.

"Many areas of the world are only now being explored for mineral potential. Vast untapped resources are likely to exist in arctic regions, many parts of the USSR, China, the Amazon basin and other areas.

"In addition, the mineral potential of the oceans is considerable ... Although the oceans' potential may not be tapped in the near future, the technology of seabed mining is advancing."

The study, conducted by the National Security Council and the Council on International Economic Policy with the cooperation of other government departments and agencies, was ordered last March by former President Richard M. Nixon.

It focused on U.S. dependence on imports of a number of critical minerals and natural rubber and concluded that this country is relatively well off, counting on imports for about 15 per cent of consumption. This compares with 75 per cent dependence by Western Europe and 90 per cent by Japan.

But the report said that after two decades of relative economic stability, a period of turmoil and uncertainty has developed, sparked by what it termed exorbitant oil price boosts.

It said that similar embargoes and supply interruptions are possible, although they have been rare in the past.

"Although few generalizations about these 19 critical materials are possible, it is clear that none of them approaches petroleum in terms of its significance to the economy."

But the study noted that governments around the world have had to cope with a number of extraordinary events—poor harvests, the global economic boom and crude oil price hikes. These events have resulted in spiraling inflation, unstable markets and shifts in income, the report said.

Missing Koreans Found Dead In South Carolina

WALTERBORO, S. C. (AP)—

South Carolina authorities hope to learn through recorded statements whether Paul John Knowles was responsible for the shooting deaths of three Koreans.

Colleton County Sheriff John I. Seigler said Saturday that Chief J. P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division and the South Carolina Attorney General's Office are trying to get transcripts of taped statements made by Knowles before he was shot to death in Georgia Dec. 18 in what officers there said was an escape attempt.

Knowles, a parolee from Florida, reportedly boasted of killing 35 persons and described 16 of the deaths on tapes. The tapes are now in custody of the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Seigler said he had no evidence to link Knowles with the slayings, "but I feel he was capable of such a thing."

The bodies of the three Korean nationals, who had been missing since Oct. 27, were found Thursday in Colleton

County by squirrel hunters. The decomposed remains were lying in a tangled swamp only a few hundred yards from a picnic area where they had parked their car to eat lunch.

The bodies have been taken to the Medical University in Charleston for forensic examinations. Sheriff Seigler said he does not expect a report on the examinations for several days.

The victims had each been shot once in the head. The were Jung Sul Byon Jr., 39; his fiancée, Sook Hi Lee, 24; and her sister, Sook Ja Cho, 31.

Jung owned a wig store in Savannah, Ga. The three were returning to Savannah after a trip to the North Carolina mountains when they stopped at the roadside park to eat Chinese food they had purchased. A truck driver, noting the parked car and half-empty plates of food, asked a passing motorist to notify the sheriff's office.

An intensive search was conducted but the bodies lay undiscovered in the dense area where the three had been shot.

Intervention Program For Drinking Drivers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, concerned because alcohol is involved in half the nation's highway deaths, is issuing a call for active—and sometimes drastic—intervention by friends and relatives to keep drinkers off the highways.

An advertisement prepared in recent weeks under a government contract tells hosts what to do before the party begins to lessen dangers of alcohol abuse. Among the tips: Always serve food along with alcohol. Use a jigger to measure drinks. Stop serving alcohol about an hour before the party is over, offering coffee and snacks instead.

But the after-the-party hints, based on the $100,000, nine-month study, suggests six types of active intervention "if one of your guests has been drinking excessively":

—Suggest that you drive him home. He can return later for his car.

—Suggest he stay overnight, a possible inconvenience but a potential lifesaver.

—Take his car keys away if he insists on driving. He may resent it, but if he's too drunk to listen to reason then you must take charge.

—Physically restrain him if he still insists. Though this step sounds drastic, a drunk must not be allowed to drive.

—Call a taxi to take him home. Pay for the ride yourself.

—When other measures fail, call the police. As aggressive as this sounds "any measure must be taken to prevent someone who has had too much to drink from driving." The ad says: "When a problem drinker drives, it's your problem."

N.C. News Briefs

Deer Poaching On Increase

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission says an outbreak of deer poaching has been noted in the state and officials say it relates directly to the economy and spiraling food prices.

All available manpower and equipment, including aircraft, is being used to curb the illegal hunting, according to Don Curtis, chief of the commission's law enforcement division.

Curtis said most of the state's 189 game protectors are in the field at night searching for poachers.

Black And Decker Lay Off

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Black and Decker Inc. has announced that nearly 1,500 workers at its power tool plants at Fayetteville and Tarboro will be laid off for a week starting Jan. 13.

The U.S. Power Tool Division of Black and Decker announced at Towson, Md., it would lay off all of its 7,500 employees at seven plants around the country for a week because of "the continuing slowdown of economic conditions."

The layoff will affect 900 workers at Fayetteville and 580 at Tarboro.

Public Jobs For Unemployed

RALEIGH (AP)—State and local government representatives will meet with U.S. Labor Department officials in Raleigh Tuesday to speed up creation of public service jobs for the unemployed.

The meeting will focus on legislation recently passed by Congress authorizing $1 billion to place unemployed workers in city and county jobs. The money will be appropriated if President Ford signs the measure.

Officials declined to say what North Carolina's share would be or how many jobs would be created.

William Eves, assistant regional director for manpower with the Labor Department in Atlanta, said officials will be briefed on guidelines for the program so people can be put to work as quickly as possible.

4 N.C. Banks To Sell Gold

Four North Carolina banks will begin selling gold on Thursday, two days after a 41-year-old ban on private ownership of gold by American citizens is scheduled to be lifted.

Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., the state's largest bank, announced Friday it make gold available at its 178 offices in the state.

Wachovia joins Northwestern Bank, Metrolina National in Charlotte and The State Bank of Raleigh in entering the volatile market.

Wachovia's announcement came on the day that gold prices reached an all-time high of $195 per ounce on the London market. Gold sold for $196 an ounce in Frankfurt and $197.72 in Paris on Friday.

Hearing On Halting Dam

GREENSBORO (AP)—A hearing will be held in Greensboro Monday before federal Judge Eugene Gordon on a plea by the state of North Carolina to halt construction of a hydroelectric dam on New River.

The state asked for the stay until the U.S. Department of the Interior decides whether the river qualifies for scenic preservation.

The state will request Gordon to restrain Appalachian Power Co. of Charleston, W. Va., from building a $430 million hydroelectric project which would flood 40,000 acres of land in Ashe and Alleghany counties in North Carolina.

Crime Rate Higher

RALEIGH (AP)—Serious crimes in North Carolina's four largest cities increased the first nine months of this year at a faster rate than the national average of 16 per cent, according to the U.S. Department of Justice.

The department said serious crimes in Raleigh, Charlotte, Greensboro and Winston-Salem totaled 36,949 during the nine-month period, up 25 per cent from the 29,486 crimes reported in the four cities in a corresponding period last year.

Charlotte rose 38 per cent, from 11,813 to 16,246; Greensboro was up 19 per cent, from 6,418 to 7,637; Raleigh up 22 per cent, from 4,755 to 5,883, and Winston-Salem increased 12 per cent, from 6,480 to 7,233.

Morgan Not To Be Sworn In Early

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Although U.S. Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., is resigning two days before his term expires, Sen. Robert Morgan says he will not try to gain Senate seniority by being sworn in early.

For Morgan to gain his Senate seat early would require that he be appointed by North Carolina's Republican Gov. Jim Holshouser to the vacancy left by Ervin's resignation.

Holshouser, who is vacationing, has given no indication he would do this just to gain a little seniority for Morgan, a Democrat.

Gibson Prather, Morgan's campaign publicity director, said Morgan "had weighed the pros and cons" of being sworn in early "and decided it was not worth it."

Prather said Morgan would have been able to gain seniority over only one other senator-elect, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas.

Ervin said he was resigning effective Dec. 31 in order to gain more retirement benefits. He said that by retiring in 1974 instead of 1975 he would gain a 6.4 per cent cost-of-living increase in his retirement pay.

Good News, Bad News For Major Contractors

CHARLOTTE (AP)—There's a good news-bad news outlook for 1975 for contractors who build office buildings, roads and other major construction in North Carolina and South Carolina.

The good news is that prospects for the industry are better than for many other major industries. Contractors have been conditioned over the years to wide economic swings, and to competition. And they expect the major contracts awards in 1975 to come from government-Washington, the state capitals, and the cities.

The bad news is that cash flow will continue to be a principal problem. And inflation and shortages of materials have taken large bites out of the number of projects available.

The assessment comes from the Carolinas Branch of the Associated General Contractors of America.

'Only Part' Is By Legislation

As the time approaches for the 1975 State Legislature to convene, Gov. Holshouser faces an overwhelmingly Democratic General Assembly.

The governor's party, the Republicans, were all but wiped out of the General Assembly in the fall elections.

Republican House seats went from 35 to nine and Senate seats from 15 to one.

Gov. Holshouser has understandably expressed disappointment at the loss but he says his strategy will be no different next year than it was in 1973 and 1974. "We couldn't appeal to a Republican majority then, either," he said in a recent Associated Press interview.

"I've always said that I couldn't get legislation through by clout or green stamps. I have to appeal to common interests. We'll get along about as well."

"There's a common tendency, first of all, to assume that all progress has to come through the legislature. Part of it has to be done through legislation. But a great deal of what we've already accomplished is outside of the legislative area."

That is true. The governor of North Carolina, as administrative head of government has a lot of power, and, indeed, the administrative part of government is going on all the time, while the Legislature is only in Raleigh for a few months.

As for the 1975 Legislature, Gov. Holshouser on the surface appears weaker in influencing its work. In the last two sessions he had a working Republican minority. While it couldn't pass legislation by itself, it could join one faction or the other of the Democrats to determine the outcome. The Republicans, of course, had their internal problems and didn't always vote as a bloc. The threat was there, however.

Gov. Holshouser could find ways to use his influence in the 1975 Legislature, particularly if the Democrats begin feuding among themselves. And the Democrats could cause sympathy for the governor if any legislative efforts were made to curb his powers during these final two years.

The Democrats are totally in control of the 1975 Legislature, but prosperity could be too much for them. If all that power goes to the collective Democrats heads, Gov. Holshouser could be the beneficiary.

Solar Energy System

By PATRICK LAMB
SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — New Mexico's state capitol, portions of which are almost 90 years old, may soon be heated by solar energy.

"We see two major benefits in this system," deputy state property control chief Carl Sedillo said, "the conservation of energy and the reduction in the amount of pollutants we could be putting into the air."

The system would cost about $700,000, but Sedillo said savings in fuel bills would offset the cost in 12 to 15 years.

A request for money will be submitted to the 1975 legislature as part of a $2 million request for renovation of the old capitol, known as the Bataan Memorial Building. The Bataan building started as the state capitol in 1886, with major modifications and extensions in 1900 and 1952.

Planners say the solar energy system will be tailored for eventual hookups to two adjacent buildings. The system also will be adaptable for air-conditioning.

Sedillo said the system would replace eight boilers in the building complex, one of them installed at the time of original construction.

The system would be comprised of a set of heat collectors located on top of the building, a large water storage tank and a distribution unit. Water heated to about 115 degrees Fahrenheit would be distributed to heat coils placed in the ceilings of the building. Fans located behind the coils would distribute the air in the rooms.

Sedillo said high ceilings could be lowered to allow installation of the distribution system. He said heat coils would double as cooling coils when chilled water is pumped through them in the summer.

The system could work for up to three sunless days with outside temperatures of 20 (Continued on Page A-5)

Varied Menu For Assembly

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—While the recession will set the tone for the 1975 General Assembly, a variety of topics will be on the agenda.

Some of the items are holdovers from previous years, some further action on jobs half done, and some new. As always, there will be surprises.

Here is a brief review of subjects due consideration:

The Economy
Momentum is gaining to enact an "interim" budget and plan to come back in 1976 for rump session consideration in light of whatever changes take place in the economy.

Salary raises for state employees, including teachers, will not be the proposed back-to-back 10 per cent hikes in each of the coming two years; more likely a five per cent hike for one year—possibly no raise. Some consideration will go to a review committee of the General Assembly to give the nod on filling any state jobs which become vacant; major increases in numbers of employees are unlikely.

Tax Reform
Agitation will be strong for repeal of sales tax on food despite failure of special study commission to recommend that. Leading legislators see either repeal of food tax or reform of income tax as essential to take some pressure off low-income families.

Land Use Legislation
The Mountain land use proposal—counterpart to the already enacted Coastal Land Use Act—will be considered. It would require counties to draw up plans and restrict land uses in certain sensitive areas in cooperation with state officials. Statewide land use measures have been sidetracked to a study commission for consideration in 1979.

Governmental Spending
Preliminary talks are underway to merge now-separate legislative committees on spending and tax collecting into one budget committee to monitor both activities. Permanent establishment of well-staffed watchdog committee to grill state agencies on programs is in the works.

Energy Conservation
Major legislation affecting building codes, heating equipment, emergency measures to conserve fuels is likely.

Housing

Expansion of state-backed Housing Finance Agency to pump funds into home-building is seen by legislators as a wise way to spend state dollars, providing needed homes, and jobs for homebuilders.

Insurance
Focus will shift away from no-fault insurance as major emphasis will be put on eliminating age discrimination in rates.

Equal Rights Amendment
Twice-defeated amendment to U.S. Constitution providing equal rights to women will be back for consideration. States have until 1977 to determine fate of that measure.

Children
First priority of the Department of Human Resources is on pilot project for early screening and intervention before child enters kindergarten.

Implementation is timed to schedule for 100 per cent public kindergarten by 1978; object is to test all kids for learning problems and correct them before they enter school.

Prison Reform
Corrections officials seek $100 million for new prisons; others seek reform of the law to keep so many from being locked up—a major conflict developing.

Steps to reduce prison population include "quick-dip" split sentencing for six months to show what prison is like, then parole, work or study release; improved parole opportunities; mandatory probation laws; removal of prison sentences for such "victimless" crimes as abandonment and non-support, public drunkenness, drug possession, minor traffic violations. Also, speedy trial laws, and merit selection of judges.

Higher Education
Proposed four-year medical school at East Carolina University, veterinarian school elements at N.C. State and Greensboro A&T, and private colleges seeking increased state support are hottest items. Key to debate is philosophy of some legislators that no more money should be spent on higher education, already highly rated nationally, while public schools (secondary and elementary) are near the bottom.

Public education is sure to be the single most important item on the legislative agenda, and will be treated separately in a future column.

Sunday Morning Notes

AE Dubber, retired director of Redevelopment and Housing Commissions in Greenville, call just before Christmas to catch us up.

The former Marine Corps colonel has recently had a joint replaced in his hip. Dubber has had an artificial joint in his hip, which had to be changed. "They drove it out through my knee," he said.

"The guy who did it was pretty good," Dubber quipped. "He ought to be a doctor."

Dubber says people in his family are short lived. In fact he has lived longer than most of them.

The family expected to get together last week to celebrate the 120th birthday of Uncle Jess. "Course he's not going to be there," Dubber mused. "He's been dead for 70 years."

A fellow who had a cold and a hacking cough, took a swig from a bottle of cough syrup.

"Does that help your cough?" someone asked. "No," he coughed, "But it sure does make you forget it."

Among your columnist's Christmas gifts was a six-pack of something or other called "Olde Frothingslosh." Right on the front of the can was a picture of Miss Olde Frothingslosh herself, weighing in at about 300 pounds.

The winner was chosen "on the basis of beauty, talent, poise... and quantity," the print on the side of the can informed. "She is the woman who best symbolizes Olde Frothingslosh, the pale, stale ale with the foam on the bottom. Now she's the girl all others look down on."

Her hobbies include: arm wrestling, sky diving, soap carving, ballet and reading. "She reads comic books, race forms, cereal boxes, and other good stuff."

Miss Frothingslosh's formula for success is "Think Big."

The gift was left on my desk one weekend and the Saturday night crew almost devoured it.

40 Years Ago Today

December 29, 1934

The President Roosevelt ball will be given in the Campus building at East Carolina Teachers College on January 30, Mayor R.C. Flanagan announced today.

Flanagan said 70 per cent of the proceeds would be used for sufferers of infantile paralysis in the community and the remaining 30 per cent would be turned over to President Roosevelt.

The entire proceeds from the ball last year went to the Warm Springs foundation, an organization created by the president in Georgia to administer to the sufferers of infantile paralysis.

Flanagan said committees to be in charge of the ball would be announced in the next few days, and after that time, every effort would be made to make the occasion better than last year.

The mayor called upon the public to assist in making the ball one of the greatest in the country. The college auditorium will be decorated and hundreds of couples are expected to be on hand to help celebrate the president's birthday.

INSIDE REPORT

The Incompetence Factor

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—When President Ford departed for Vail's ski slopes, he left behind him a messy dilemma confounding his intended nomination of Edward H. Levi as Attorney General and dramatizing this unpleasant fact: the incompetence factor at the White House persists.

Mr. Ford has widely conflicting advice to consider as he slaloms in Colorado. So intense is conservative opposition to Levi that one senior aide strongly recommends never submitting the nomination. Another adviser told Mr. Ford last week he must stick with Levi, because a bloody Senate confirmation fight is preferable to humiliating retreat. But a third aide's advice is actually being followed: leave Levi out on the stormy sea to see whether he sinks or stays afloat.

This state of affairs can be traced to errors of judgment and execution. Even Ford insiders privately question whether liberal Democrat Levi, 63-year-old president of the University of Chicago, was a politically sound choice. Furthermore, Mr. Ford's course once Levi was selected could scarcely have been worse from the standpoint of quick Senate approval. In fact, the Levi affair suggests that all those new organization chart boxes cannot in themselves bring competence to the White House.

Actually, the government's top legal post could have been filled without adding to the President's problems. Elliot Richardson was willing to resume his distinguished tenure as Attorney General abruptly interrupted by the Saturday night massacre of Oct. 20, 1973. So high is Richardson's prestige that even conservative Republican Senators concede confirmation would have been mere formality.

But Senator Ford adies have the mistaken notion that Richardson, too right too soon about Richard M. Nixon, invites retaliation from the Republican right. Moreover, Mr. Ford decided weeks ago that, considering John Mitchell's record, a non-political Attorney General was called for. Dubious though this logic is, it effectively eliminated politician Richardson (and dispatched him to temporary exile in London).

Under these circumstances, Levi would seem an excellent choice. A major legal scholar, he courageously defended his university's integrity against student militants.

While not Republican, he is not a partisan Democrat either and certainly no McGovernite.

Had these qualifications been pointed out to conservative Senators before Levi's selection, they might well have gone along. At worst, Mr. Ford would have been appraised of such determined Senate opposition that he might have quietly dropped Levi without his name ever surfacing.

But there was no clearly warning to the Senate. Indeed, Mr. Ford did not even alert his own White House lobbyists before making the choice.

There is no doubt the choice was final. One congressional friend of Levi's was informed by a White House aide that Levi would be the next Attorney General, gently suggesting the Congressman might offer congratulations. Not long thereafter, however, the presidential aide frantically telephoned the Congressman: Hold up those congratulations; something has gone wrong.

(Baltimore Sun)

Jimmy Carter (recently) announced that he is a candidate for President of the United States. Who is Jimmy Carter? That is a question many Americans are now asking. Mr. Carter, the retiring governor of Georgia, is probably one of the least well known men to formally seek the presidency in some time. However, he seems serious about his candidacy, and there are reasons to take him seriously.

He has been a good governor of a state which is not used to good governors. Mr. Carter was trained as a nuclear engineer—he is a Naval Academy graduate—and brought to his job a precision way of thinking that led to a massive and generally successful governmental reorganization. Mr. Carter was also trained, so to speak, as a white racist. That is, he was raised in rural South Georgia in the 1920's and '30's. But he overcame that education enough so that he helped his state move forward toward much better race relations.

Mr. Carter has, by all accounts, been honest. He has not even used his office's levers to increase his wealth legally, Georgians tell us. That is unusual and deserving of commendation in any state. He has also been able to balance the needs of an industrializing state for growth with the desires of many of the state's citizens for conservation. He is the first Georgia governor in memory who vetoed a big pork barrel dam project.

Competent manager, conservationist, racial mediator, honest... good traits for a national leader. Whether Mr. Carter is a candidate for President or Vice-President, we don't know. Whether he would be as successful in Washington as he was in Atlanta, we don't know. We do know he has earned the right to be heard at least, and we do know it is a good idea to hear what political leaders from elsewhere besides Washington have to say about national problems.

Paper Consumption Frail Index

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — There

long has been a correlation between the level of a country's standard of living and its use of paper. The more paper consumed, it has been observed, the higher the literacy and living standards.

In the United States, for example, per capita consumption of paper will total about 630 pounds this year, in the form of newspapers, books, magazines, Christmas cards, appliance cartons, fast food containers etc.

In India, the comparable figure is 4.4 pounds, and in Japan, Germany and Britain it's a little above or below 300 pounds. Sweden comes closest to the United States, at 468 pounds, followed by Canada, 451, and Denmark,

For extreme comparisons, the correlation does appear to have some value, such as in comparing European nations with Arab nations. But in matching the United States against Canada? Or Canada and Europe? Doubts have arisen.

Paper usage also can indicate some serious problems with how standards are lived: Is a paperboard fast food tray a serious advance? Are throwaway devices? Are needless duplicates of documents?

What are we to make of the myriad forms that businessmen must file with local, state and federal government, and which many small businessmen claim will be their financial and psychic ruin?

Do the tons of electronic computer printouts that collect dust on shelves all over industrial and governmental America signify an advance in literacy, understanding or standard of living?

Whatever significance there was in the relationship between paper and civilization is now being questioned, not just by individuals buried in the blizzard but by corporations and Congress, too.

Wasn't it a confusion of paperwork that helped destroy scores of Wall Street brokers? Taking a hint, banks are developing electronic bookkeeping to reduce the reliance on checks, although the checkless society is a long way off. Congress has set up a Commission on Federal Paperwork to find ways to reduce the burden on business, which is estimated to total around $18 billion a year.

None other than a business forms company, Standard Register Co., is sponsoring sessions to help executives confess their waste of paper and to assist with their reform.

Donald F. Whitehead, president, comes up with one simple measure to cut down waste: Accept computer printouts with eight rather than just six lines to the inch.

The movement could be in its embryonic state and destined to grow, especially since recession-hurt industry will be seeking techniques for reducing waste — which is what a good deal of paper consumption is.

Strength For Today

AN INTERFERING CHURCH

The English man of letters, Gilbert Chesterton, once made the thought-provoking statement that the church was formed for the purpose of interfering with the world. Yet many people appear to believe that the church is successful when it adjusts to the world, increases its membership and influence, and finds a place in the political power structure. Historically this had all too often been the case, but the result of success of this kind has always been the loss of the church's vitality as a force for good in the world.

In one sense it can be said that it is the purpose of the church to make trouble—trouble for the selfish, the evil, and the corruptors. And in doing so it can work toward the only kind of success that means anything—making the world a better place to live in. The church is at its best when it takes its stand in behalf of the eternal principles of God and throws the whole of its power against evil.

Observations From Editorial Columns

Whose Bias Will Prevail?

A Pandora's box may be opening on the matter of providing books for public schools. Nationwide, resentment continues to gain momentum against material in school textbooks, as well as in opposition to some of the new literature on shelves of school libraries.

Here in North Carolina recent turbulence over composition of the North Carolina Textbook Commission has spurred reaction from parents, teachers and minority groups. Bias continues to be the charge. Individuals and groups allege information in textbooks is often unbalanced and prejudiced. Many disagree on moral values portrayed.

One upshot of this upheaval has been the formation of a special committee whose members want to look into the textbook matter. Members call their group the "Ad Hoc Committee for the Improvement of the North Carolina Textbook Process." This committee is composed mostly of people from the N.C. Association of Educators, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the AFL-CIO and the National Organization of Women.

Among charges to date by this body is one that textbooks used in North Carolina schools are biased against women and blacks. Another is that people who get involved in social change, specially minorities, are not recognized. Another is that girls and boys are treated as girls and boys in the traditional sense, and females are not given their due.

Some educators readily admit textbooks used in the state's school system are not all that they should be. They say this is one reason school districts have such a wide choice of textbooks. They also say efforts are constantly being made to make books more acceptable.

Avoiding prejudice in textbooks in normal times would be an insurmountable challenge. Seeking to develop acceptable textbooks in today's climate of human confusion is virtually impossible. If the ad hoc committee now delving into textbook problems reaches an agreement among its members on how textbooks should be written, its conclusions more than likely will hardly please others who, though they may have supported biased textbooks in the past, have a right to their viewpoint also.

A major confrontation may come when one party's bias is pitted against another party's bias.

WCU's Records

Students at Western Carolina University in Cullowhee are great on records. In fact, after some successes they have set aside a day each year for the setting of new records in something or tother.

Last year it was in streaking. For a few days the students at Western Carolina held a world record for the largest number of boys and girls who took off all their clothes at one time and ran naked across the campus.

A few days ago they set another record. They built the largest sandwich in the world—a 250-foot ham, bologna and salami sandwich, which included 75 pounds of meat, 750 slices of pickles, 20 pounds of tomatoes, 10 pounds of lettuce and 84 three-foot loaves of bread. When it was built they ate it all up.

What this proves about higher education we don't know. But with such concentration on sex and food it's obvious that these students at WCU are still sticking with human fundamentals.

that the two conservative senior members of the Senate Judiciary Committee—Democrat James Eastland of Mississippi and Republican Roman Hruska of Nebraska—read published reports of Levi's impending nomination. Outraged about not having been informed, they criticized Levi as a liberal academician. Sen. John Tower of Texas, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, relayed to the White House deep misgivings about Levi by conservative Republicans.

Belatedly alerted, White House lobbyists made two quick moves. First, Eastland and Hruska were brought to the White House to hear the President apologize for not consulting them (conceding that as a 25-year House veteran he should have known better.) Second, Eastland and Hruska lunched on Capitol Hill with Levi, who proved he is no bomb-thrower on school busing and other questions.

The net impact: just about zero. Not a pro-Levi word has come from Eastland, Hruska or Tower. "We're in deep trouble," concedes a senior presidential aide. The timing could not be worse. Because his name cannot be formally submitted to the new Congress until mid-January, Ed Levi is left hanging for four weeks, a fixed target for conservative sniping.

The consensus is that Levi can be confirmed but only after a brutal battle which could take four months, leaving (says one White House aide) "a deep pool of blood, both the President's and Levi's." More pertinent is the danger of an enraged Big Jim Eastland picking up his Judiciary Committee marbles—mainly judgship confirmations—and refusing to play the next two years.

While schussing in Colorado, the President will have ample time to ponder which is worse; his own blood on the floor or the public humiliation of another top nomination aborted by incompetence. But perhaps he should also consider why his presidency is consistently misled into such unnecessary dilemmas.

A Conservative View

Objectors To New Rules On Federal Elections

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON—The new Federal Campaign Reform Act becomes effective on January 1. On January 2, two friendly antagonists will join in a suit seeking to have most of the act held void. The plaintiffs raise some persuasive objections. They may yet prevail.

Senator James L. Buckley, conservative Republican, and former Senator Eugene McCarthy, a liberal Democrat, make an odd couple. Philosophically opposed on most issues, they are united in their conviction that the new law tramples upon First Amendment freedoms. I think they are right.

The act cleared both houses of Congress on October 10, after a prolonged battle in conference committee. In its final form, the law undertakes to put tight ceilings on how much a citizen may contribute to a federal campaign. The act limits how much a candidate may spend. For the first time, public financing is authorized for presidential campaigns. A Federal Elections Commission is given sweeping powers of enforcement.

Those few sentences sketch no more than the broad outlines of this long and complex law. We may be assured that the challenge from Buckley and McCarthy is only the beginning of the litigation this act will inspire. In the name of clean elections, Congress has here enacted some very murky provisions.

The law says, for example, that no person may contribute more than $1,000 directly to a candidate for federal office, not spend more than $1,000 directly in his behalf. In addition, a citizen may contribute up to $500 in food, drink, and travel expenses for volunteer workers. All these contributions, direct and indirect, must be meticulously recorded; and all of them are counted toward the candidate's own spending limit.

Buckley and McCarthy share an old-fashioned view that when a citizen supports a candidate for public office, the citizen is exercising a cherished First Amendment right: He is expressing an opinion. He is engaging in free speech. The Constitution says flatly that this right cannot be abridged.

Suppose, to be supposing, that Senator Buckley runs for re-election in 1976, and that he has opposition in New York's Republican primary. Suppose, further, that you are dedicated to the sound proposition that Buckley is an exceptionally able senator who deserves re-election. You contribute $1,000 directly to his campaign; you spend $1,000 independently on his behalf. You throw a party for campaign workers that costs $500. You have now accounted for $2,500 of the senator's $100,000 ceiling on a primary campaign.

If I read the act correctly, this is where you free speech stops. You could not thereafter lawfully spend even 50 cents for a gallon of gasoline to give the senator a lift. You could not buy advertising space in a newspaper to promote the senator's campaign. You could not spend a dime on a stamp to write a letter in his behalf. To regard such trivial outlays as de minimus is to miss the point of the comprehensive provisions of the law. Every contribution that can be assigned a monetary value must be reported. In a nation that thrives on political combat, it is difficult to imagine how these requirements possibly can be enforced.

Take another provision. The law says that any organization that commits any act for the purpose of influencing an election, such as publishing an incumbent's voting record, must file a report as a political committee. Is this an abridgement of free speech and free press? Buckley and McCarthy believe that it is.

To express these misgivings surely is not to condone the corrupt campaign practices exposed by the Watergate scandal. That sordid record was a record of serious sickness in our body politic. But the more one examines this law, the more one is persuaded that in some of its provisions, the cure may be worse than the disease.

Christmas Spirit Has Rule Of Once-A-Year

One of the worst things about Christmas is the let-down that comes after all the packages are unwrapped and the only items left from Christmas dinner are dirty dishes and a few limp leftovers.

Refusing to succumb to the post-Christmas blahs, my sister-in-law, Marty, and I decided to hold onto our Christmas spirit by baking Christmas cookies. The fact that neither of us had baked cookies before did not dampen our enthusiasm in the least. Neither did the fact that we had no cookie cutters.

First, we assembled our ingredients and the utensils that we did have—sugar, flour, baking powder, one pizza wheel, and the cap off a cold cream jar. Next, we started to mix our ingredients together—and we mixed, and we mixed. Mixing that dough was like stirring cement with a teaspoon.

"I think we got the recipe out of the wrong book," I complained. "I think we picked up Phillip's Hints for the Handyman by mistake, and we're making up the recipe for bricks."

"No," Marty answered. "This is a bonafide Christmas cookie recipe. It says here that this recipe is the reader's favorite cookie for the Christmas tree."

"Now, look," I said. "I'm not making cookies for that tree. I'm making cookies to eat. I already poured sugar in that tree's water. I refuse to feed it any more sweets."

"We're too far into this now," she replied. "Let's just hope they're edible. Maybe the decorations will help."

So we cut out, and we decorated. We made lopsided Christmas trees, two-pointed stars, and triangular bells with the pizza wheel. We made wreaths with the cold cream cap, cutting out the middle with a cap off a bottle of Worcestershire sauce.

"I hope you washed these caps off well," I said. "If these cookies taste like Noxzema, I will feed them to the tree."

"I did wash off the caps, but even if I hadn't, no one could have tasted anything funny—not with all those cinnamon drops you're putting on those cookies. They look like they have the measles," Marty said, stepping back to survey my work and sticking her elbow into a bowl of red sugar crystals.

I looked at my once white, now pink floor. Marty looked at the ceiling. "That's the reason I enjoy working with you," I said. "You're the only person I know who's as graceful as I am."

Finally, we finished the cookies. We took them out of the oven, marvelling at their elastic consistency and the singular appearance of the cinnamon drops, most of which had burst under the heat and looked like an indescribable cross between smushed holly berries and fish roe.

"Well, who's going to have the first one?" I asked.

GAIL MICHAELS

"Don't look at me," Marty chortled. "I'm not going to voluntarily poison myself. Let's ask Phillip. He'll eat anything."

Phillip was happy to oblige. Until he'd taken his first bite. "Why did you decide to make these —uh—cookies?" he gasped, his green face and red eyes demonstrating the Christmas effect of the cookies.

"We wanted to recapture our Christmas spirit," Marty replied.

"Then I'm convinced that that old saying is right," Phillip groaned.

"What old saying?" I asked.

"Thank goodness, Christmas only comes once a year."

Big Deficit Spending Recession-Remedy Can Build Worse Problem

By GEORGE BRYANT, JR.

It's fashionable at this season to paint the new year in bright hues. But this time around it's tough.

The brightest spot in the mass of yearend forecasts is the consensus for what its worth, that the recession should hit bottom sometime between midsummer and early fall. As to recovery, it may well drag on into 1976 before showing much strength.

This means that the current recession will be the longest and, according to present trends, the steepest since World War II. Actually, the decline started in the fall of 1973, although it was not recognized as a recession until late summer. It followed one of the sharpest and biggest inflation-fed booms ever.

Another bit of cheer in the forecasts for 1975 is that the rate of inflation will slow from this year's harsh 12 percent to between 7 percent and 9 percent. While this will be a relief, it will still be inflation at a rate too high to sustain without future painful adjustments.

The forecasts apparently assume that the government, meaning Washington, either won't or can't act in time to prevent the slide from becoming general. Industrial production, personal income and profits will take a beating in coming months. Politically the sharpest impact will felt in employment. Unemployment, now at near 7 percent, may even go above 8 percent.

Pump priming will be resorted to. President Ford has indicated that he will not try to fit spending to shrinking revenue in order to balance the budget. He will take a deficit and it probably will be a big one.

In trying to blunt the recession, Ford likely will try to keep the emphasis on temporary measures which hold the possibility of quick results. This means the so-called public employment program, plus expanded unemployment benefits. Both are designed to give assistance to those who have lost jobs or can't find them.

The danger, of course is that the Democratic Congress will take Ford's programs and run wild. In Congress, the signs point to a blunderbus attack, featuring tax cuts and ballooned spending. These could well provide the fuel for an even worse inflation and an even harsher economic slide after the current recession has run its course.

Any such approach could well close the door to tax revisions which are needed to attract investment Funds for business. There probably has never been a time when the nation's production machine has been so strapped for capital.

If inflation is to be slowed to a pace which can be lived with, the thing that will do it is ample production to meet demand. And this can't be achieved by tax relief designed to stimulate consumption.

Unfortunately, there is nothing which brings out the demagogue in politicians so Martinique).

In fact, Ford's efforts abroad are generating some criticism among a public whose focus of concern is currently inward on economic and other domestic problems. A 54-year-old construction worker from Philadelphia commented: "At a time like this, Ford is spending too much time out of the country. He should be here, trying to solve some of our own problems."

Ford's Rating Higher Among Women Than Men

Ford's decline in popularity between the two surveys has come about to a far greater extent among men than women. In the November survey, men and women hold closely comparable views on the President's performance in office. Now, 37 per cent of men approve, but a far greater number of women, 47 per cent, express approval.

The President's decline in popularity is most pronounced among the following groups, in addition to men: younger persons, non-whites, and Southern Democrats.

Following is the question that has been asked over the last 35 years to measure presidential popularity:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way (name of incumbent) is handling his job as President?"

Here is the trend for Ford:

The following table compares the approval ratings recorded in the two latest surveys:

Public Approval Of Ford's Handling Of Presidency Declines

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J.—President Gerald Ford's popularity with the American people continues to slide, with about as many now disapproving as approving of the way he is handling his job as chief Executive.

In the latest survey, 42 per cent approve of his job performance, while 41 per cent disapprove and 17 per cent have no opinion. In the previous survey, conducted a few days after the congressional elections in November, 48 per cent expressed approval, compared to 32 per cent who disapproved and 20 per cent who had no opinion.

By way of comparison, it was not until May 1973—more than four years after he took office—that President Richard Nixon's popularity had declined to the point where as many disapproved as approved of his job performance.

President Ford's sharp 29-point decline in popularity since he took office in August may be due in part to frustrated expectations on the part of the public. When Ford, too, over, many Americans felt that he would solve the nation's major problems.

A Pennsylvania resident made this observation: "After all the Watergate mess and our other problems, people were expecting Ford to work miracles and to do things he couldn't possibly do."

A key reason for Ford's decline in popularity is widespread concern over the economy, both high prices and growing unemployment, and the feeling that the President should be doing more to ease the situation. Gallup surveys in the past have shown that the public often blames the President for problems over which he may have little or no control.

Another major factor in current disapproval is the feeling that the President is not on top of the situation. "In my view," said a young housewife, "he is a Congressman first and foremost and does not have the initiative to be President. He is a follower, not a leader."

Diplomatic Initiatives Have Not Boosted Rating

Goodwill trips abroad and diplomatic initiatives have traditionally generated support for a President among the public. Yet no such effect is seen in the findings of the current survey, which was conducted after the President's meeting in Vladivostok with Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev and his trips to Korea and Japan (although before his recent meeting with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in

Retiree Only 10 Years Old

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Cataracts are forcing an early retirement for one of Uncle Sam's most zealous detectors of illegal drugs.

The U.S. Customs Service said Bub — a 10-year-old German shepherd — is still "unflinchingly enthusiastic" about sniffing out concealed narcotics. It's just that he can't see well any more.

In two years on the job along the Mexican border, Bub was credited with 250 narcotic seizures that netted more than 14 tons of marijuana.

He was honored recently in El Paso at a brief retirement party attended by his handler, Customs agent Ted Ryan, Customs district director Robert N. Battard and Commissioner of Customs Vernon D. Acree.

"Since completing Customs training in 1971, Bub served both Customs and Officer Ted Ryan faithfully and effectively."

"In honoring him, Customs not only pays tribute to an effective dog enforcement team, it honors all dog-officer teams keeping narcotics out of the United States," said Acree.

Bub was recruited by Customs in 1971 after a career as an Army sentry dog.

Between April 1971 and March 1972, while assigned to the Calexico, Calif., port of entry, Bub's inquisitive nose led agents to 4,500 pounds of marijuana.

Bub was taken out of service for treatment of cataracts, then given additional training and returned to duty with Ryan in Calexico, Customs said. Shortly thereafter, officials said, he discovered 1,200 pounds of marijuana hidden in the back of a camper bus.

In the next nine months Bub teamed with another dog, alerted agents to more than 12 tons of marijuana and several pounds of hard narcotics, Customs officials said.

Bub is being given to Ryan, who said he will turn him into a household pet. Customs officials said Bub is believed to be the first detector dog to be retired.

Go ahead. Ask me what I got for Christmas.

As you well know Christmas past has never yielded for me what you might call your "fun" gifts. (Depending on how you feel about a vegetable slicer that slices fingers thin enough to read a newspaper through.) This year my husband gave me a box full of "toys."

One by one and with a great deal of dramatics, he unveiled my toy box.

"What's this?" I asked holding a small metal gadget in the palm of my hand.

"Don't you recognize it?" he asked. "It's your very own thermostat. You can sit around and roll it up to 103 or back to 50. Try it. Now you won't have to play with the one in the house. Isn't that fun?"

He handed me another package. "It's a checkbook," I said dryly.

"I know how you've always wanted to write fiction," he said. "And this is a start. You're going to have a ball with this. Imagine being able to subtract a $2 service charge from $80 and getting a balance of $103. And you know those little memos you make in the margins like, 'when you deposit Friday's check, mail check no. 3113' and '2006-2009 are missing,' you've got your own personal checkbook for it."

"That's not funny," I said.

"Ah, this toy you'll love. It's a bathroom scale with all the numbers out of focus and is rigged to stop at 115. And look at this," he said excitedly. "everytime the scale passes 60, you collect a cookie."

"And more?"

"Are you serious? Every woman who plays house should have a little Sock Self-Mailer."

"I'll hate myself for asking, but what's a Sock Self-Mailer?"

"Well, you know what a challenge it is for you to dispose one sock out of every pair of mine that you drop into the washer? Well, with this handy Sock Self-Mailer, you simply drop one sock in this box and when it is full you mail it to a General Delivery box in North Dakota and they send you another box to fill without charge."

"Finished?"

"No, I saved the big one until last. It's in the garage. You are the only kid in the block with your own car seat that you can slide all the way up to the dashboard. I know what a kick you get out of that."

Next year I'm going to ask for a Husband doll. You wind him up and he self-destructs.

Couple Speaks Vows Friday

The marriage of Elizabeth Chandler to Vollie Shelly, both of Greenville, took place Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Everton of Winterville.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Horace Thompson, pastor of the Winterville Missionary Baptist Church.

After the wedding, a reception was given by the bride's mother and sister, Betty Letchworth, of Greenville.

A Bear Hug For A Choking Victim Couple Speaks Vows In Friday Ceremony

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR READERS: If you were in a restaurant (or in your own home) and someone started to choke on a piece of meat would you know what to do? Well, neither would I—until my friend Casey gave me the following information which I want to share with you:

After reading that 2,600 Americans choked to death last year on food or other objects, Dr. Henry Heimlich, a Cincinnati surgeon, worked out a procedure for saving choking victims, which I think bears remembering. It goes like this:

Standing behind the victim, place your arms around his waist, slightly above the waist. Allow the victim's head and torso to bend forward. Then tightly grasp your own wrist with your other hand and press into the victim's abdomen forcefully and rapidly, repeating several times. This will push up the diaphragm, compress the air into the lungs and expel the object that is blocking the air passage.

Until now, choking victims have often died unless a doctor was handy to cut an air passage into the throat, or use a special instrument to remove the block.

Reports received by Dr. Heimlich indicate that 40 lives have been saved with this procedure since it was published in a medical journal.

DEAR ABBY: The late John Barrymore, who was reputed to have been one of the world's greatest lovers, said "Sex is the thing that takes up the least amount of time, and causes the most amount of trouble."

The longer I read your column, Dear Abby, the more convinced am I that Barrymore was right.

ANOTHER LOVER

DEAR LOVER: If Barrymore really said that, he couldn't have been much of a lover.

DEAR ABBY: After 25 years of marriage and a nice family, I found out my husband was unfaithful to me. Because of a death in my family in another state, we were apart for two months. During that time my husband said he got lonely and found this divorcee who was also lonely, so they became good friends and went out to dinner together several nights a week, to the movies, Sunday afternoon drives, etc.

He claims there was nothing more than a few kisses exchanged between them. He says he loves me and needs me but wants to continue being friends with this other woman. He says there is no reason why the three of us can't be friends and go out to dinner occasionally. He wants to be able to stop at her house to "just talk" when he feels like it.

I finally met her, and she told me she had no intentions of interfering with my marriage. She just wants to be friends. Abby, I love my husband, but I can't go along with this threesome.

We are financially comfortable, our children are married, and now we could enjoy life, but I don't want to share my husband with another woman. The sound of her name just tears me up. Help me before I crack up. I suggested counseling and he said it isn't necessary. CRACKING UP

DEAR CRACKING: Hang in there, you're on the right track. There is no way you can be "friends" with this woman. Counseling IS necessary. If he won't go, go without him and learn how to handle this born-again Casanova.

Campaign To Go Into High Gear

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Family Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Take a neighbor shopping with you.

Or —double up when two of you go to church, the PTA meeting, a Scout jamboree or any event.

Doubling up is what Uncle Sam's Department of Transportation is recommending also to commuters who use cars to get to and from work.

While the invitation to "Double Up, America" stems from an effort to save about five billion gallons of gasoline a year, that isn't the main sales pitch.

Dean Fritchen, president of the Advertising Council, said in an interview, "We're selling the idea that doubling up is a delight."

"You and your friend or neighbor sharing a car will laugh and talk," he said.

"You'll have an enjoyable time when you take a friend along and you'll save money — as well as gas."

The Advertising Council, the Department of Transportation and the APCL and K Advertising Agency of Philadelphia have joined forces to get the "Double Up, America" campaign into high gear.

Nationally, 50 million private cars are driven to and from work each weekday. Each auto contains an average of 1.4 persons.

Raising this occupancy level to 2.0 persons would remove 15 million cars from the nation's daily commuter traffic jam and save five billion gallons of gasoline annually.

The slogan for the campaign is this: "Two can ride cheaper than one." "You don't just have fun and save gas when you double up. You save money."

If you need another reason to double up the carpooling way, consider this, from the Department of Transportation:

Carpooling, for commuting trips alone, represents an untapped resource of such proportions that it could literally spell the difference between polluted, congested cities and a gasoline crisis on the one hand, and healthy, viable urban areas with manageable energy shortages on the other.

The national carpool campaign will be promoted via newspapers and television and radio public service announcements, outdoor boards, posters, decals and bumper stickers.

The rest is up to you.

Raiders, Vandy Deadlock, 6-6

By TOM SALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Texas Tech's Brian Hall kicked a 35-yard field goal with 2:21 left to play enabling the Red Raiders to gain a 6-6 tie with stubborn Vanderbilt Saturday in the seventh annual Peach Bowl.

Hall's tying boot was set up moments earlier by speedster Lawrence Williams, who returned a kickoff 54 yards to the Commodore 40-yard line following Vanderbilt's second field goal.

The Red Raiders of the Southwest Conference, who rolled for more than 300 yards on the ground, then moved the ball to the 12-yard line before Vanderbilt's defense stiffened, forcing the field goal.

Vanderbilt, which finished its season with a 7-3-2 mark, had gone ahead 6-3 three minutes earlier on a 26-yard field goal by Mark Adams.

The Commodores of the Southeastern Conference, making only their second bowl appearance in school history and their first since 1955, blocked an earlier field goal by Hall and held Tech at the one-yard line as the first half came to a close.

Vanderbilt, which led the SEC in total offense this past season, could only manage a 31-yard field goal by Adams for a 3-0 half-time edge. However, the Commodore defense was outstanding.

Texas Tech, 6-4-2, was playing its final game for Coach Jim Carlen, who signed a five-year contract at South Carolina a few weeks ago. The Red Raiders, who had two runners go over the 100-yard rushing mark, failed to sustain a drive in the opening half until the closing minutes.

Sparked by the running of Larry Isaac, who rambled for 33 yards on three carries, Texas Tech moved from its own 20 to the Vanderbilt one-yard line with 47 seconds remaining in the half.

Tech ran three consecutive plays without a huddle and failed to gain an inch as Isaac was stopped twice and as time ran out quarterback Tommy Dunevin was stopped short of the goal on a keeper.

The Commodores had gone in front 6-3 with 5:06 left to play on Adams' 26-yard field goal which was set up when Isaac fumbled an errant pitchout and defensive end Joe Reynolds fell on the ball for Vanderbilt at the Tech eight-yard line.

However, Vanderbilt failed to move the ball and settled for the three-pointer.

Tech had an opportunity four minutes earlier to go ahead but Hall's 33-yard field goal attempt was blocked by lineman Dennis Harrison.

The opportunity was afforded the Red Raiders when Lonnie Sadler of Vanderbilt fumbled on the Tech 42. Cliff Hoskins, who ran for 116 yards in 13 attempts, then ran the ball three straight times including a 29-yard burst to set up the aborted field goal attempt.

Tech marched 83 yards in nine plays midway in the third period behind the running of Isaac, who gained 101 yards in 20 carries, and Hoskins. But they again fell short and had to settle for Hall's 26-yard field goal with 3:11 left in the period.

Texas Tech rolled up 306 yards on the ground and 35 through the air while Vanderbilt could only manage 140 yards rushing and 60 passing.

Jamie O'Rourke led Vanderbilt with 76 yards on the ground in 17 carries. Quarterback David Lee connected on only five of 14 passing attempts. Fred Fisher, Vandy's starting quarterback until he was injured midway in the season, saw his first action since Nov. 2 but failed to complete a pass in three tries.

Mississippi State Steams Past Carolina

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — "It's just unreal," exclaimed Mississippi State tailback Terry Vitrano, who scored the winning touchdown Saturday as the Bulldogs overtook North Carolina in the closing minutes and claimed a 26-24 victory in the Sun Bowl.

"I've never had the chance to experience anything like this," the freshman flash said as he fondled the Most Valuable Player trophy.

"I'm just overwhelmed by it."

Vitrano put the wraps on an 80-yard drive in the fading minutes as he bolted in from the two to give the Southeastern Conference Bulldogs one of their sweetest triumphs.

"It was a great win, a great victory," said Mississippi Coach Bob Tyler. "We were just a little bit more fortunate than they were."

Tyler heaped praise on his entire team, but he had lots of it for Rocky Felker, the kingly of the Bulldog's Veer option attack and the engineer of the climactic drive.

"He's as good as we could have at converting third-down situations. He seems to call his audibles at the right time. Of the 20 audibles he called, eight or 10 became big plays."

Jimmy Webb, the Bulldog lineman who blunted North Carolina's fourth-and-one thrust at midfield with 1:23 left, admitted to a temporary case of jitters.

"I really didn't stunt. I just squirted out fast and hit the runner, but I was scared I would let him fall forward," he said. "Then someone else hit him."

A dejected Tar Heel Coach Bill Dooley summed it up this way: "There's an old saying in football that it's a game of inches, and that certainly was the case here today."

But in the end, it was Vitrano's two-yard dash capping a 164-yard day which turned the tide for Mississippi State.

All-SEC quarterback Felker turned the big trick for the Bulldogs in their climactic drive as he raced 15 yards on a fourth-and-two situation that took Mississippi State to the Bulldog 10.

The heroics by the Bulldog running backs overshadowed a glittering performance by Tar Heel tailback James "Boom-Boom" Betterson, who scored pair of touchdowns, and Chris Kupec, whose wobbly scoring pass to Jimmy Jerome gave North Carolina a 21-20 lead as the fourth period unfolded.

Mississippi State's swash-buckling ground attack set a Sun Bowl rushing record of 455 yards and the Bulldogs shattered the total offense mark with 499 yards as bright sunshine melted a five-inch Christmas snowfall and left the stadium's artificial turf in near-perfect condition.

Although the chilly weather kept away several hundred fans of an announced sellout crowd of 30,151 for the game, which also was seen on national television, it lived up to its advance billing as an "explosion in the sun."

The Tar Heels of the Atlantic Coast Conference won a similar Sun Bowl battle two years ago when they beat Texas Tech 32-28. They wound up 7-5 for the year.

With the sun beating on the wet field, what looked like steam rose and rolled across the stadium floor as the Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and swept 75 yards in six plays for a touchdown, propelled by Vitrano's 55-yard scamper and climaxed by Packer's run from the one.

North Carolina roared back with the ensuing kickoff, reeling off 80 yards in six attempts with Betterson scooting the final step after a nifty 46-yard pass from Kupec to split end Pat Norton.

Nichols' first field goal opened the second quarter and closed the scoring in the initial half although the Bulldogs seriously threatened once before surrendering the ball on downs at the Tar Heels' 17.

Only a desperation effort by Larry Buie prevented Betterson from returning the second-half kickoff all the way. He collared him at the North Carolina 46 but the Tar Heels ripped off the remaining 54 yards on seven trips with Betterson bouncing off a couple of tacklers to score the go-ahead touchdown from the six.

Suddenly down for the first time, Mississippi State came right back on a 69-yard maneuver, requiring just two minutes in six plays with Parker's 16-yard touchdown gallop the clincher after he set it up with a 29-yard run. Kupec, who set an NCAA passing percentage record during the regular season, lofted a 29-yard scoring pass to Jerome to give North Carolina a 21-17 lead in a wild third quarter punctuated with three touchdowns and Nichols' second field goal.

Vitrano shaded Packer for most valuable player honors while teammate Jimmy Webb, a defensive tackle, picked up most valuable lineman honors.

Macon Moye scored 18 points and Lindberg Morris, 12, to lead the Rose High Rampants to a 68-60 victory over North Pitt to claim the championship of the first Pitt County Invitational tournament last night.

The Rampants had a good amount of breathing room despite the Panther's rallying in the last period to cut a lead which got as high as 12, 52-40 at one point to the final eight. The North Pitt offense got the points, but the defense let the Rampants steal and rebound their way to the victory.

The Panthers had pulled off a two-point upset over D. H. Conley in Friday night's opening round while the Rampants manhandled Farmville Central to move into the championship game. The Conley Vikings took the consolation game, 77-63, beating the Jaguars.

In the title game, North Pitt took the opening lead on a bucket by Jessie Harris but a three-point play by Moye put the Rampants momentarily in front. Harris put the Panthers back on top, 4-3 with a field goal but it was last time the Panthers were in front. Moye put on a brief show sinking three baskets to run the Rampant lead up to 8-4.

Donnie Perkins hit for North Pitt, 8-6, only to see Rose add two more field goals and a free shot for a seven-point, 13-6 advantage. Charlie Lewis hit for the Panthers but Rose reeled off six more points for a 19-8 lead with just under a minute left in the period.

The two teams traded baskets in the second quarter, North Pitt coming out a point ahead, 16-15, and catching up some to trail, 32-28 at halftime. Moye carried the Rampants through the period sinking three field goals.

The Panthers got the first basket in the third quarter to narrow the gap to 34-30 only Mike Brewington and Donnie Shields scored for Rose to give the Rampants a 38-30 lead. North Pitt cut the gap back to four on baskets by Harris and Vincent Barnhill. Linwood Brown hit for the Rampants with 4:45 left in the period but then the Panthers got a break, a technical foul on the Rose bench, but they could not make the free throw. Lewis scored from the lane as the lead dropped back to four. The Rampants took the next three minutes, 8-2, to zip out to a 48-38 lead.

Ronnie Barrett ran the lead up to 52-40 at the start of the last period. The lead stayed at ten or 12 for the rest of the period until Perkins scored at the buzzer to cut it to 68-60, the final score.

Harris has 18, Perkins 16 and Lewis 12 for the Panthers. Besides Moye and Morris, Barrett had 10 for Rose.

After Friday's game, Farmville Central coach Mike Terrell said his team was still on vacation. They did not come off it last night either being in the game with the Vikings for just the first two minutes.

During that time, Conley went in front on two baskets by Rick Mobley and Melvin Williams but Jeff Fields and Mike Corbett pulled the Jaguars into a 4-4 tie with 5:34 to go in the frame. After that, the Vikes simply ran away with the game.

The Vikings took the rest of the period 15-2 for a 19-6 lead. Mobley scored six of Conley's last eight points.

Conley kept on going in the second quarter where they left in the first. Williams, Calvin Hawkins and Mobley all hit two buckets each in the first four minutes of the period as the Vikings sailed out to a 31-6 lead. Williams added a field goal and a pair of free throws after a bucket by Greg Joyner which broke Farmville Central's dry spell.

Farmville Central warmed up in the last minutes of the half but could not make up ground as they trailed 44-16 at intermission.

The Vikings put more distance between them and the Jaguars in the third period, 15-8, but in the final frame, Farmville outthrew Conley 29-18 to narrow the gap to 15, at the horn.

Mobley led the Vikings with 29 points, Williams had 14. Corbett paced the Jaguars with 19, Joyner had 16 and Buddy Moxingo had 12.

Every team with the exception of Farmville Central placed three players on the all-tournament team. Mike Corbett was the only Jaguar on the team. From Conley were Mobley, Clennel Streeter and Williams. North Pitt placed Perkins, Barnhill and Harris on the team and Rose High's Moye, Shields and Barrett rounded out the team.

State Survives Panther Threat

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Pittsburgh's hopes of upsetting top-ranked North Carolina State Saturday night were dashed when the Wolfpack, led by 20-point scoring by All-America David Thompson and Phil Spence, came from behind to defeat the Panthers 86-70.

Monte Towe and Kenny Carr each put 16 points on the board and Morris Rivers added 12 as the Wolfpack posted its eighth win this season without a loss. Pitt's record fell to 4-5.

The Wolfpack had to come back from a ragged first half performance. The defending national champions were missing easy layups as well as 20-foot jumpers.

The Wolfpack fell to a seven-point deficit three times before narrowing the gap late in the first half, but Pitt struggled to keep its edge and went to the dressing room at halftime leading 36-33.

Within two minutes of the second half N.C. State came alive, took the lead and kept it the rest of the game, expanding it to as much as 20 points.

Kirk Bruce was the top Pittsburgh scorer with 21 points while Tom Richards racked up 14 and Keith Starr had 13.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Pete Kramer scored 22 points, 14 of them in the second half to lead the Duke Blue Devils to an 83-65 victory over Kent State Saturday night in the N-C State-Duke Holiday Doubleheader.

Kevin Billerman pumped in 17 points and Bob Fleischer added another 14 points as Duke won its fifth game of the season against one loss. Kent State fell to a 1-6 record.

The Blue Devils kept the lead after the opening minutes and had a 10-point edge at halftime. Duke racked up eight points in the opening minutes of the second half before Kent State's Tony Jamison broke the drought with two free throws.

Through the rest of the game it was all Duke with the Blue Devils leading by as much as 22 points. Jamison, Tom Brabson and Ricky Gates each scored 14 points for the Golden Flames. Duke defeated Pittsburgh 89-75 Friday night.

The Southern California mentor believes quarterback Cornelius Greene is more of a problem for his defense than Archie Griffin, Ohio State's heralded Heisman Trophy winner.

McKay bypassed a luncheon Friday with Hayes because he had the flu.

Notre Dame Denies Having Many Problems

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — Reports of dissension and racial problems have poured fresh emotion into the already super-charged Notre Dame football team which plays unbeaten Alabama in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1.

Coaches and players deny it. Some scoff at it. Others are bitter about it. But the matter has been brought into the open and reached a stage where official denials have been deemed necessary.

"There is a different attitude on the team this year than a year ago," said a member of Ara Parseghian's staff. "Last year, the boys were loose and supremely confident."

"It is not that they are not confident now. But there is a seriousness and determination that wasn't as obvious then."

Last New Year's Eve, Notre Dame sent an unbeaten team into the Sugar Bowl against Alabama with the national championship at stake and won the thriller 24-23.

This time, the Fighting Irish takes a 9-2 mark against the 11-0 Crimson Tide, plus incentives that could affect the odds favoring Alabama.

It's the last game for Parseghian, retiring after 11 years because of what he calls weariness and constant pressure. The situation lends itself to a "Win One for Ara," just as "Win One for the Gipper" became a Notre Dame trademark in the days of Knute Rockne.

Both Parseghian and his men appear bent on redeeming the embarrassing 55-24 loss to Southern California in the regular season's final game and discrediting the critics who said the disaster resulted from turbulence inside the ranks.

The most damaging indictment came from columnist Wells Trowbley of the San Francisco Examiner, who quoted a Notre Dame source as saying the Irish didn't give their all in the USC game because of disenchantment with authorities.

Trowbley, author of a book on the late Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, said the players were sore at Parseghian and university authorities for not being more understanding towards six black players suspended last summer for dormitory infractions.

The players were accused of having a girl in their living quarters. The source also suggested that there were racial problems between the black and white members of the team. There are currently six black regulars on the roster.

"When we read it, we thought it was a joke," said Wayne Bullock, the 223-pound black fullback who is the team's leading rusher. "I have never found any dissension on this team."

Eric Penick, senior halfback, also black, said, "I didn't travel four hours by plane just to lose on purpose."

Deacons Get Win

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Skip Brown, a 6-foot sophomore guard, poured in 31 points Saturday and led Wake Forest to an easy 92-71 victory over Iowa in a consolation game at the 19th annual Far West Classic basketball tournament.

Brown, scoring mostly on outside jump shots, picked up 19 of his points in the second half as Wake Forest pulled away from a 44-38 halftime edge.

Iowa led briefly in the opening moments, once holding a six-point spread before Brown and Rod Griffin put Wake Forest in command.

Larry Moore paced Iowa with 21 points.

Wake Forest now is 5-3. Iowa is 3-4.

Tar Heels Get Win Over Utah

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Eighth-ranked North Carolina survived Ticky Burden's second half shooting and 44-point total to defeat Utah, 94-91, in a basketball game Saturday night.

Mitch Kupchak had led the Tar Heels to a 12-point lead, keeping it at about that pace throughout the second half. But then Burden began to hit. From North Carolina's 79-69 lead the 6-2 junior guard made 16 of Utah's next 24 points, and he scored the last 12 as North Carolina's lead was cut to three, 90-87, with 1:03 to play, then again 92-89 with 20 seconds remaining.

Cowboys Lasso Fiesta Victory

By RON ROACH
AP Sports Writer
TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Oklahoma State's defenders separated Brigham Young quarterback Gary Sheide's shoulder, then turned Tony Buck's pass interception into the game-winning touchdown as the Cowboys beat the Cougars 16-6 Saturday in the Fiesta Bowl.

Without Sheide, the nation's second-ranked passer during 1974, the Western Athletic Conference champions were unable to sustain an attack against the Cowboys from the Big Eight Conference.

Mark Giles, a junior who had thrown only 18 passes all season, replaced Sheide late in the first quarter. Sheide, a senior from Concord, Calif., suffered a separation in his right shoulder when hit by Phil Dokes, a 6-foot-5, 256-pound defensive tackle just as he released the ball on a pass during the Cougars' drive to their second field goal of the game.

Buck intercepted a Giles pass and returned it 12 yards to the BYU 27, and three plays later—midway through the second period—Kenny Walker dove into the end zone to cap a 12-yard run with a Wishbone-T pitchout from quarterback Charlie Weatherbie.

Abby Daigle kicked the extra point and also added a 42-yard field goal in the third period. The Cowboys scored an insurance touchdown with 1:14 left in the game when halfback Leonard Thompson took a pitchout and hurled a 40-yard TD pass to Gerald Bain.

Sheide, who completed four of five passes for 43 yards before he was injured, directed the Cougars to Mark Ueselman's 30-yard field goal the first time Brigham Young had the football. After he was sidelined, Giles took the controls and BYU moved to the Oklahoma State 26 where Ueselman booted a Fiesta Bowl record 43-yard field goal with 33 seconds left in the first period.

The next time the Cougars got into Cowboy territory only seven minutes remained in the game. Giles' passes carried BYU to the 26 before he threw a fourth-down, incompleting. The Cowboys then scored on Thompson's pass to Bain and had a two-point conversion pass attempt nullified by a penalty. Then Daigle's extra point kick was wide to the right.

Giles threw three interceptions and lost one fumble, giving Oklahoma State field position that they capitalized upon for one touchdown and forced the Cougars into two defensive stands inside their own 10-yard line in the third period.

Oklahoma State—whose only penetration across midfield in the first half came on Buck's interception—had two big opportunities because of turnovers in the third quarter thwarted inside the BYU 10-yard line.

Larry Carr and Wayne Baker stopped Weatherbie on fourth down at the two.

BYU's Mike Russell stopped quarterback Jimmy Derrick on a fourth-down run at the Cougar eight after Dokes had recovered Giles' fumble at the Cougar 47 in the third period.

A crowd of 50,878 watched the fourth annual Fiesta Bowl played in sunny 60 degree weather at Arizona State's Sun Devil Stadium.

The defeat meant snapped Brigham Young's winning streak at seven games, as the Cougars appeared in their first-ever bowl game after winning the WAC title with a 7-3-1 record. Oklahoma State, 6-5, was victorious in the Cowboy's first visit to a bowl game in 16 years.

Dokes was voted defensive player of the game by the media. Offensive honors went to Walker.

Maryland's White Sets East Rolling To Win

By ERIC PREWITT
AP Sports Writer

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — All-American Randy White of Maryland blocked a punt to start the East on a second half comeback Saturday, and Central Michigan's Mike Frankowiak kicked a 32-yard field goal with 4:35 left to give the East a 16-14 victory over the West in the 50th annual East-West Shrine game.

The East trailed 14-0 at half-time but struck back with two unusual touchdowns and closed the gap to 14-13 by early in the final quarter.

Defensive tackle White blocked a punt by Washington's Skip Boyd, and the ball was deflected into the arms of East linebacker Terry McCloudy of Michigan State, who ran 16 yards for a touchdown on the weird punt return.

After Michigan All-American David Brown intercepted a pass by California All-American can Steve Bartkowski and returned the ball 36 yards, the East drove 35 yards for its second touchdown. Brad Davis of Louisiana State scored on a 10-yard run, scooping the football off the ground after Michigan quarterback Dennis Franklin fumbled the snap from center.

Frankowiak missed the extra-point attempt after Davis' touchdown early in the fourth quarter, but came through with the winning field goal which was set up by the interception of another Bartkowski pass.

Illinois linebacker Mark Petersen got the interception on a pass intended for Pacific's Willard Harrell near the left sideline.

The West dominated the first half when Bartkowski threw a 34-yard touchdown pass to Morris Owens of Arizona State, and Jim McMillan of Boise State tossed a 10-yard touchdown pass to Oscar Roan of Southern Methodist.

Harrell, who had several long gains on runs and pass receptions on the West touchdown drives, was named the outstanding offensive player in the game. And Grambling defensive tackle Gary Johnson, also of the West, was selected as the best defensive player.

Johnson and teammates Dave Wasick of San Jose State, Pat Donovan of Stanford and Dave Pear of Washington comprised the defensive line which bottled up the East running offense most of the game.

Pear intercepted a pass by Tampa's Freddie Solomon late in the second quarter after the East had driven to the West 5-yard line.

The West failed on several scoring opportunities.

In the first quarter, Harrell lost a fumble at the East 20; in the second period, a 36-yard field goal attempt by Tom Goedjen of Iowa State was wide, and in the third quarter, Jim Upchurch of Arizona lost a fumble at the East 12, with McCloudy recovering.

Michigan's Brown made his second interception of the game and the East's third off Bartkowski a few minutes after the winning field goal. The East moved the ball 20 yards to the West 11 before the game ended.

The game was played in cool, breezy weather before a Stanford Stadium crowd of 42,000.

The East victory made the series standing 24-21-5 in favor of the West.

Only Eight Teams Are Still On Hunter's List

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
AHOSKIE, N.C. (AP) — There's a piece of paper lying around Catfish Hunter's house inviting him to play baseball again with the three-time defending champion Oakland A's.

Under normal circumstances, Hunter would read the piece of paper, show it to his lawyer and eventually return it to sender—signed.

That's been the history of Hunter. He hasn't been hard to please. "Maybe I'm too easy," he once said, referring to his quick signature on last year's Oakland contract when nine of his A's teammates went to arbitration over their contracts.

Only this year Hunter isn't easy. In fact, he's downright impossible since he says there's no way in the world he'd play baseball for Charles O. Finley, the man who has owned Hunter's talented right arm for the past decade.

Vida Blue, another Oakland pitcher, made a similar declaration in 1972. But midway through that season, he meekly came back into Finley's fold, a beaten and disillusioned young man, still Finley's property.

If Blue didn't want to play major league baseball for Finley and at Finley's price, he could not play baseball.

Baseball's reserve clause, a Congressional exemption from the antitrust laws bestowed on the national pastime, binds players to their teams, unless they are traded.

This time, however, it appears Finley will be the beaten and bitter man, poetic justice for those who think Finley has exploited his players.

Hunter found the first loophole in baseball's reserve clause and it was Finley who put it there.

An arbitration panel ruled two weeks ago that Finley had not complied with the terms of Hunter's contract, freeing the American League Cy Young Award winner from the A's and permitting him to sell his services to the highest bidder.

According to one of Hunter's attorneys, Joseph Flythe, 23 of major league baseball's two dozen teams made opening bids for the pitcher whose 106 victories over the past five seasons places him at the top of his profession. Only the San Francisco Giants failed to toss Catfish any bait.

Flythe said Friday that 15 teams have been chopped off Hunter's list, leaving eight finalists "scattered all over the country" in the Catfish sweepstakes. He would not specify the "eligible eight," except to say that Oakland, without Finley, had made the grade. "As we understand it, there are some people in the process of buying the A's," Flythe said.

Twelve teams, some of them more than once, sent their button-down collared brass into the this overall community to make personal appeals to Hunter. And Flythe said six of those teams had made the cut.

The attorney, part of the firm of Cherry, Cherry and Flythe that represents Hunter, then provided another clue. He said Hunter, an American League all his career, had played in seven of the eight eligible cities during the regular or exhibition seasons.

The clubs that have traveled to Ahoskie are the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox, Los Angeles Dodgers, San Diego Padres, Kansas City Royals, Texas Rangers, Milwaukee Brewers, Montreal Expos, Philadelphia Phillies, California Angels, Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians.

Four teams, either citing financial strains or a policy which forbids multi-year contracts, have pulled out of the race. These clubs are the Detroit Tigers, the Baltimore Orioles, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds.

Not counting the A's, that leaves six teams to fight for the one remaining spot, which Flythe said belonged to a club bidding for Hunter by telephone. Those teams are the New York Mets, the Atlanta Braves, the Minnesota Twins, the Chicago Cubs, the Chicago White Sox and the Houston Astros.

However, a source close to the negotiations told the Associated Press that the Mets had the inside track among the telephone bidders.

So, where does all this arithmetic leave Hunter, a man whose ready baseball statistics and free agent status put Ahoskie on the map?

Hunter said he would sit down over the weekend with his lawyers and sift through the bids made by the remaining eight teams but would not reach a final decision until Jan. 8 at the earliest.

He said some phone calls were scheduled for Saturday. "They'll call us and we'll call them," but wouldn't specify the parties involved. "I don't know whether I'll have time to go hunting," he added.

Hunter said Friday he would visit the cities with the best offers to study suburban areas where his family might live. But Friday night, when reached by telephone, Hunter seemed to have shifted that position.

"I know all the American League cities. I don't have to visit them," Hunter said. "If there are National League clubs still in the ball game, then I might visit them before I sign."

According to Flythe, Hunter has "no real schedule" next week. "We'll continue to evaluate the eight teams," he said. "It will require a lot of study and thought and we are weighing out all the factors."

North Pitt, Rose Claim Tourney Wins

Johnson, Lucas Spark Friday Night Victories

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Marques Johnson of UCLA and John Lucas of Maryland, two players who have been slowed this season by illness and injury, showed signs of coming around just in time for Saturday night's headlined showdown between the third-ranked Bruins and fifth-rated Terrapins in the final of the Maryland Invitational basketball tournament.

Johnson, who suffered hepatitis before the start of the season and did not play at all in UCLA's first two games, came off the bench to key a 20-2 surge in the first half that helped the Bruins beat St. Bonaventure 78-62 Friday night in opening-round play.

And Lucas, the star guard who had not played since cracking his collarbone in Maryland's first game of the season, returned to action and scored 18 points and dealt out five assists to help the Terrapins rout Georgia Tech 105-67 in the other first-round game.

Asked for a prediction on Saturday's showdown, UCLA Coach John Wooden parried the question by observing, "Maryland won't be playing Georgia Tech in the final."

In other action Friday night, top-ranked North Carolina State whipped Kent State 99-61 in part of a doubleheader at Raleigh, N.C.; host Louisville, ranked No. 4, beat Florida State 79-61 to win the Holiday Classic; No. 14 Marquette trounced Georgia 100-70 in the opening round of the Milwaukee Classic, and 10th-ranked Arizona, 15th-ranked Purdue and 16th-ranked Memphis State all lost in tournament play.

Second-ranked Indiana, led by Steve Green's 32 points, overpowered Florida 98-84 while Ohio State upended ninth-ranked Pennsylvania 106-94 in the Rainbow Classic.

UCLA's 7-foot-1 center, Ralph Drollinger, was ineffective against St. Bonaventure, so Wooden shifted 6-9 forward Richard Washington to the pivot and brought in Johnson. That maneuver helped the Bruins to a come-from-behind victory over Notre Dame last weekend, and it worked equally well against the Bonnies.

Meanwhile, Maryland had little trouble with the Yellow Jackets as sophomore forward Steve Sheppard scored 26 points. Maryland broke the game open early with 13 straight points to lead 15-2 before Georgia Tech got its first field goal.

A big bright spot was the return of Lucas, a second-team All-American last year.

Both teams took 7-0 records into Saturday's final, a game Maryland has been looking to since losing to UCLA by one point last year at the Bruins' Pauley Pavilion.

"David Thompson was fantastic—as usual," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan after his Wolfpack overwhelmed Kent State behind Thompson's 39 points.

N.C. State led 50-36 at the half, then silenced the Golden Flashes with 18 consecutive points at the start of the second half—12 of them by Thompson, the All-American forward. The victory was the 32nd in a row for State, including seven this season.

In the other game of the doubleheader, Bob Fleischer scored 24 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Duke past Pittsburgh 89-75.

Allen Murphy scored 20 points and Louisville netted the final 12 points of the game and beat Florida State 79-61 to win the Holiday Classic tournament it was hosting.

Purdue's record dropped to 5-3 as the Boilermakers suffered their second loss in two nights, this time to Western Kentucky 92-80 in the consolation round of the Holiday Classic in Louisville. Purdue lost to Florida State Thursday night.

Tenth-ranked Arizona got 38 points from Bob Elliott, but it was not enough as California posted an 84-82 upset in the first round of the Old Dominion Classic. Arizona is now 7-1.

In the other game, host Old Dominion beat Columbia 80-67.

Marquette, ranked No. 14, had no trouble with Georgia in the first round of the Milwaukee Classic, jumping to a 16-0 lead and winning 100-70. In the second game, Wally Walker's 36 points led Virginia past Wisconsin 86-78.

Memphis State, rated 16th, was upset 61-54 by Penn State in the final of the Gator Bowl tournament. Jacksonville took the consolation game, beating Temple 63-52.

Host Furman relied on its two big men, Clyde Mayes and Fessor Leonard, to capture the Poinsetta Classic title Friday night with an 89-81 victory over Lafayette.

Freshman Tony Rufus tallied 29 points and hauled down 11 rebounds to help Baylor beat George Washington 88-74 in the consolation game.

In first-round action at the All-College tourney in Oklahoma City, forward Leon Johnson scored 26 points, including four free throws in the final 2½ minutes, to help Centenary beat Pacific 90-81, and guard Earl King tossed in 31 points to lift North Texas State past Niagara 83-72.

In the Lobo Invitational, Stanford's front line of Rich Kelley, Tim Patterson and Scott Trobbe teamed for 60 points and 27 rebounds to pace the Cardinals to an 89-76 victory over Illinois and New Mexico romped past Army 95-65.

Art Johnson scored 33 points and Hercle Ivy added 28 to lead Iowa State to a 107-82 rout of Colorado in the Big Eight tournament and freshman Mike Evans hit his first 12 shots and finished with 26 points in leading Kansas State to an 84-67 triumph over Missouri.

In the Far West Classic, Oregon State beat Iowa 97-60; Washington State scored the last 11 points to beat Wake Forest 67-61.

Cornelius Cash pumped in 22 points and grabbed 22 rebounds to lead Bowling Green past San Diego State 73-68 and host Oral Roberts beat Harvard 90-84 in overtime in the Oral Roberts Classic.

Derrick Jackson scored 21 points, including the winning basket with 1:45 remaining, to give Georgetown a 71-70 victory over Syracuse in the Kodak Classic. In the other game, Dartmouth beat Rochester 96-90.

At the Pillsbury Classic in Bloomington, Minn., Clemson beat Auburn 63-59 and Minnesota routed Navy 68-35.

Drake's Larry Haralson scored 20 points to help the Bulldogs beat Brown 70-58 and St. John's got 20 points apiece from Mel Utley and Kevin Cluess and handed Rhode Island its ninth consecutive loss 78-56 in the ECAC Ocean State tournament at Providence, R.I.

Donnie Perkins last-second 20-footer swished through the nets as the horn went off Friday night, giving the North Pitt Panthers a 66-64 upset victory over previously unbeaten D. H. Conley in the highlighter of the opening round of the Pitt County Invitational Tournament. In the other game, Rose High School romped to an 84-62 win over Farmville Central.

Perkins' shot came after Conley, playing without its leading rebounder and fourth leading scorer, had rallied from as far as 10 down to regain the lead late in the game. North Pitt didn't give up, however, and hung in there with its ball-hawking defense to pull off the victory.

Rose had little trouble with Farmville Central in the second game, running out to a 16-0 lead before the Jaguars finally found the basket.

In last night's finals of the tournament, North Pitt and Rose met for the title, while Conley took on Farmville Central for the third place slot.

Conley jumped into the early lead, running up a six-point margin as it hit five of its first six shots. But North Pitt, playing a pressing man-to-man defense all over the floor, forced a number of turnovers, and even though they couldn't hit with the Vikings' accuracy, they did make a few more attempts. Then, they rode the free throw line for all it was worth, and that made the difference.

Conley did play without Gerry Mobley, who missed the game with a broken leg, and will be out for about six weeks.

Rick Mobley hit the first two shots for Conley, giving them the lead, and his shot from the corner with 4:44 left made it 10-4, the biggest Conley lead.

The Panthers, who missed on their first 10 shots (they were awarded one on goal-tending in there) kept up at the free throw line as Conley got into foul trouble early. Perkins finally hit on a jumper from the lane with 41 seconds left in the period to tie the score at 14-14, but Conley regained it on Melvin Williams' shot just 19 seconds later. Vince Barnhill tapped in a miss with eight seconds left, and the two were knotted at 16-16 at the end of the period.

Two free throws by James Carr put North Pitt into the lead, 18-16, and they proceeded to add two more free throws (by Charlie Lewis) and a basket by Jesse Harris to that for a 22-16 margin before Conley could score again. The Vikes cut it back to two, but the Panthers pulled away again, with Harris' shot pushing it to 30-22 with 2:49 left in the half. After an exchange of points, Perkins hit from the corner for the biggest Panther lead, 34-24 with 2:04 showing. Conley cut that back to 38-30 at the end of the period.

During the third period, Conley slowly nibbled away at the lead, but couldn't make much headway. They came within four at one point, but were down by six, 49-43, as the horn sounded.

Conley came out hot in the final frame, and quickly took the lead. Williams hit from the corner and Mobley made a free throw. Joey Baggett's jumper cut it to one, and a jumper by Robert Harris put Conley back up, 51-50 with 5:33 left.

The two teams exchanged baskets, with Conley regaining the lead, 52-51. Harris hit and Baggett made two free throws to run Conley out by five, 56-51, but North Pitt struggled back and tied it again, 57-57 on a shot by Harris.

Conley went back out at 59-57, but Charlie Lewis tied it up, then two free throws by Barnhill put the Panthers back out. Conley tied it at 61-61, but a free throw by Lewis made it 62-61 for the Panthers.

Conley took the lead back with 45 seconds left when Calvin Hawkins pushed through a shot, 63-62, but Abram Hardy's baseline jumper put North Pitt back up with 17 seconds left, 64-63.

Conley called a time out to set up its plans, but with 10 seconds left, Hawkins was fouled trying to shoot. He made the first of his two-shot foul, tying it at 64-64.

The Panthers came down the court after the miss as they took the key rebound, and Perkins' launched it just a split second before the horn. It hit only the bottom of the nets, giving the Panthers the stunning upset win.

Conley outlived North Pitt from the floor, making 28 of 63 shots while the Panthers hit on 25 of 66. But the Panthers made twice as many free throws, 16 as compared to eight, and that spelled the difference.

Mobley led the scoring for Conley with 28 points, high for the night, while Williams had 12. North Pitt placed four in double figures, Barnhill and Harris with 14 each, Perkins with 13, and Carr with 12.

The second game by comparison, was not much of a game at all. Farmville Central couldn't find the range all right, and when they missed, they seldom got the rebound. Rose took only nine more shots than did Farmville however, 76-67, but they hit on 10 more, 34 as compared to 24.

Farmville didn't score at all until just 1:16 was left in the first period, when Darrell Cobb tossed back a missed shot. But by then, Rose had run up a 16-0 lead, and it was all over, really.

Rose held a 20-6 lead at the end of the first period. Farmville did get a little rally going in the early minutes of the second frame, cutting the lead back to seven, 25-18 on a shot by Buddy Mozingo with 4:33 left, but Rose pulled away again, moving out by 15 again, 37-22 on three straight baskets by Tyrone Taft, Mike Brewington and Donnie Shields.

Rose held onto that lead, 42-27, at the half.

The Rampants opened it to 17 at the start of the second half, as Macon Moye drove in to make it 44-27, but Farmville again trimmed it back, cutting it to as little as nine, 50-41, with 2:24 left. But Rose pulled away again, running their lead out to 60-46 at the horn.

In the third period, Farmville couldn't make another rush at Rose, which moved out by as much as 24 points late in the game. They boosted it past 20 at 77-56 with 2:30 left, as Trenton Blount hit.

Overall, the Rampants used 13 players, with at least 10 of them seeing quite a bit of action.

Mike Brewington led the scoring, with 17 points, while Moye and Lindberg Morris each hit 12. Taft and Ronnie Barrett had 11 and Shields had 10.

Jeff Fields led Farmville with 13, while Mike Corbett added 10.

Coaches Pleased With Pitt Tourney Tournout

Despite how it ended last night, one thing is for certain: the Pitt County Invitational Basketball tournament was a success and if the four coaches involved have their way, the tournament will be repeated again next year.

Although each had different comments on their individual team's performance, all four were in accord about the apparent success of the affair after Friday night's first round.

Shelley Marsh, coach of D.H. Conley which was upset by North Pitt, 66-64 on a last second shot by Panther Donnie Perkins, said he felt the tournament would help basketball county-wide. "It's just about a full house," he said. "It will help at all four schools. I hope we can stimulate interest in Pitt County," he added hoping it would have a further reaching effect than just in Pitt County.

Cobby Deans, whose North Pitt team has been beaten by Conley once this year and still has another game with them, said much the same things adding that the tournament is also a financial asset. Deans expressed the desire for the tournament to grow and "if possible, it will."

While the first game was a first class barn-burner, the second was a run-away by Rose High as they blasted Farmville Central. Rose High's Wilson McDowell said, "I think this should be an annual thing. We have people from all parts of the county and there's good interest. I hope we can continue it."

Farmville Central's Mike Terrell said several days before the tourney that it would help the players in that it would give them the experience of tournament pressure and this would help in the regular season games.

In the first game, D.H. Conley had to battle back from as much as a 10-point deficit to go ahead in the final minute of the game but North Pitt got some clutch baskets from Jesse Harris and the last-second shot by Perkins from 20 feet to win it. Marsh said one of the big factors in the game was Conley's not having Gerry Mobley. Mobley broke an ankle in practice earlier this week and was not available to the Vikings. "I knew it would be a tough game," Marsh said. "If a couple of calls had gone our way, it would have been different."

In practice . . . (Mobley) went up and it popped. He's been complaining all season. It definitely took away a lot of our board strength." Mobley will be back the next time the Vikings meet the Panthers. He was the team's leading rebounder.

Another thing that helped North Pitt was Conley's Clenell Streeter fouled out late in the game. "Clenell getting in foul trouble hurt more than anything else," said Marsh. Streeter was the quarterback of the Vikes and without him the Vikings were slightly lost. Marsh praised Calvin Hawkins who filled in for Mobley. "Calvin did an adequate job."

Deans was pleased with his team's showing. "We brought a good crowd; Conley brought a good crowd." Deans praised the Vikings for their job without Mobley. He said the winning point was set up by Melvin Williams missing a free throw for the Vikings with 10 seconds to play. "That had a lot to do with it."

"Defensively we stunk up the place," he said. "We started to play better when we started to play better defense."

The second game was a complete turn-around. Rose roared out to a 16-0 lead on baskets by Macon Moye and Ronnie Barrett and never were pressured by Farmville Central. The Jaguars could never seem to hang on to the ball bringing it down court and when they tried to shoot, their shots would not fall.

Farmville Central's Terrell summed up the Jags' effort by saying, "We didn't play. The boys are still on vacation. I was real disappointed."

Terrell said his team was too nervous, too tight and should have played a lot better. "Rose is not that strong," he said.

While the Rampants won going away, Coach McDowell was down on his team's game, too. "We didn't execute well at all; we just went through the motions. Donnie Shields played both ends and (Tyrone) Taft did well defensively."

McDowell said the Rampants must be ready for the championship or they would get blown out of the gym. Everybody on the Rampant team played Friday.

If the attendance last night was as good as Friday night, the Pitt County Invitational may become the annual thing as McDowell hoped.

Opposite Halves Kill Net Chances

By The Associated Press
The New York Nets have been either very good or very bad of late in their American Basketball Association games. They were both Friday night—very good in the first half and simply awful in the second.

"We let the game get away," said New York Coach Kevin Loughery after losing a 108-103 decision to the San Antonio Spurs. "We couldn't stop them. They controlled the entire tempo in the second half. I saw it coming. We lost our aggressive-ness."

Trailing by 19 points at one time in the first half, the Spurs finally caught the Nets behind Richie Jones and Swen Nater and put them away with six foul shots at the end.

"We needed a win so badly," said San Antonio Coach Bob Bass, who had lost six of seven games since recently taking over the Spurs. "And beating the best team in the league is going to do a lot for me personally."

In the other ABA games Friday night, the Virginia Squires whipped the Indiana Pacers 118-116; the Utah Stars beat the Spirits of St. Louis 97-90; and the Denver Nuggets walloped the San Diego Conquistadors 115-103.

In the National Basketball Association, the Los Angeles Lakers trimmed the Chicago Bulls 105-93; the Buffalo Braves smothered the Phoenix Suns 108-92 and the Kansas City-Omaha Kings stopped the Seattle SuperSonics 108-98.

Jones gunned in 31 points and Nater collected 22 points and swept off 26 rebounds to pace San Antonio's comeback win.

The Nets scored five straight points, three on a bomb by Bill Melchioni, to cut the Spurs' lead to 104-103 with 31 seconds remaining.

The Nets later had a chance to go ahead, but Julius Erving missed a shot and Brian Taylor fouled San Antonio's Chuck Terry in the backcourt.

Sloan Pleased With Wolfpack's Showing

By The Associated Press
Norm Sloan, coach of the top-ranked North Carolina State basketball team, says he was more pleased with the Wolfpack in its 99-61 victory over Kent State Friday night than in any game this season.

David Thompson scored 39 points, 25 of them in the second half, to lead N.C. State's defending national champions to their 35th straight victory and their seventh this season.

The Wolfpack led by 50-36 at halftime, and ran up 18 unanswered points in the first five minutes of the second half, 12 of them by Thompson.

"We were more alert and anticipated better, especially in changing from offense to defense," Sloan said.

The Kent State coach, Rex Hughes, said N.C. State is "a great basketball team, and they had a lot to do with what we did." His team has won only one of six games this season.

The game in Raleigh, N.C., was part of the N.C. State-Duke Holiday Doubleheader. In the first game, Bob Fleischer scored 24 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead the Duke Blue Devils to an 89-75 victory over Pittsburgh.

Tate Armstrong had 18 points and Pete Kramer 15 for Duke, which ran its record to 4-1.

The Atlantic Coast Conference teams will switch opponents tonight, Duke playing Kent State and N.C. State playing Pittsburgh.

North Carolina, ranked No. 8, will meet Utah in the Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum, tonight, and other ACC teams will continue in holiday tournaments.

North Carolina, 4-1, has just jetted back from an international tournament in Madrid, where it won two games and then lost 112-101 to real Madrid for the championship. The games in Madrid did not count in the North Carolina record.

Utah is 7-1 and is led by star guard Luther "Tricky" Burden. The Utah Redskins have a new coach, Jerry Primm. The former head man, Bill Foster, is now at Duke.

Unbeaten Maryland, ranked No. 5 nationally, won its seventh straight, 105-67 over Georgia Tech, in the opening round of the Maryland Invitational. Guard John Lucas played for the first time since cracking a collarbone in the opening game of the season, and scored 17 points for the winning Terrapins. Sophomore Steve Shepard scored 26 points for Maryland, which plays UCLA for the championship tonight.

UCLA defeated St. Bonaventure 78-62.

Clemson evened its record at 4-4 and snapped a three-game losing streak by defeating Auburn 63-59 in the Pillsbury Classic in Bloomington, Ill. A baseline jumper by freshman Colon Abraham with 2:47 left put Clemson ahead 54-52, and the Tigers held on. Van Gregg led Clemson with 14 points.

Clemson will play for the championship tonight against Minnesota, a 68-35 victory over Navy.

Washington State scored the last 11 points to beat Wake Forest 67-61 in the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore. A half-court defensive press stifled the Deacons, and the Cougars pulled out their fifth victory in seven games.

Skip Brown had 18 points for Wake Forest, but only two of them in the second half. Wake Forest is 3-3.

This tournament has eight teams, and continues through Monday. Wake Forest has dropped to the consolation bracket.

Virginia, 4-1, defeated Wisconsin 86-78 in the Milwaukee Classic. The Cavaliers will play for the championship tonight against 14th-ranked Marquette, a 100-70 winner over Georgia. The Marquette Warriors broke to a 16-0 lead as they broke a two-game losing streak and brought their record to 4-2.

North Pitt Girls Only Human; Battle For 2nd

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

BETHEL—A few years back, when North Pitt High School was founded, the girls' basketball team became the terror of the area. They easily waltzed past everyone in sight, winning several district and one State title. For two years, they did not lose a single game.

To those around the nickname "Big Orange Machine" meant just that—a machine which ground out victories game after game.

But it couldn't go on forever—and this year, the North Pitt girls have proved to be mere mortals after all. They can be beaten—and beaten they have been. This doesn't mean, however, that everyone is going to be able to take the Panthers.

Only two starters return from last year's Eastern Carolina Conference champs, guard Kathi Manning and center Mary Brown, who was really only a sometime starter.

Four others who played some are back, but Coach Peggy Taylor said that only Kathi Manning really has experience. "Mary was sick early in the year, and this hurt us, but her return to the team has helped us to win again."

The other starters this year include two seniors who are starting for the first time, guard Brenda Pollard and forward Faryce Goode. The other starter is Mable James.

"Joy Forbes started for us when Mary was sick," Miss Taylor said. "And I still consider her a starter too. We really have six starters."

The Panthers don't have the great height of the past, with 5-9 being about the tallest. "It's not what we're used to, and we've been outbounded in just about every game," Coach Taylor said. "This is one of our biggest problem areas. Positioning is part of it, but inexperience is the main reason. We also have to get them to jump. They're just waiting for the ball to come to them."

Shooting is also somewhat of a problem. "Manning is pretty good and Goode helps out. Forbes comes through at times. And we're going to be looking to Brown for more scoring," Miss Taylor said.

Quickness is both an asset and a liability. "We have plenty of quickness, but we haven't learned how to use it. We can't take the ball down with us, and we're making a lot of turnovers. "We're really just a young team and we're doing a lot of teaching. The powerhouse of the past is gone. We've reached the peak and now we're having to do some rebuilding."

Depth has been pretty good, the coach feels. Donna Parker, Patricia Pippins, Linda Johnson and Ellen Dixon are the main reserves. "The rest are very green," Miss Taylor said.

"Defensively, we haven't been doing too bad, considering our height. Actually the best defense we played was in our loss to Greene Central. It's coming around, and it will help us later in the season."

Miss Taylor sees a much more balanced league for the Eastern Carolina this year. "I pick Southern Wayne to be the one to beat. They have a good player in Cynthia Armwood. The rest of the team are more balanced than in the past years."

But what is the future for the "Big Orange Machine." "I'm looking for us to finish from second to fourth in the league," Miss Taylor said. "If we don't quit turning the ball over so much and find some scorers, we could easily be on the bottom." "I do think we can come through, but we won't be ruling like we have in the past."

Vikes Seek Third

BY BRENT KALLESTAD

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)

— The Minnesota Vikings, smarting from two previous Super Bowl losses, seek a third chance Sunday when they meet the Los Angeles Rams for the NFL conference championship and a trip to Super Bowl IX at New Orleans Jan. 12.

"Emotion is a very important part of the game," said Minnesota coach Bud Grant. "I think the Rams and ourselves both know what we want and are emotionally prepared. Teams like Buffalo and St. Louis appeared to be emotionally used up when they got to the playoffs."

Minnesota suffered a 23-7 loss to Kansas City in 1970 and the Vikings were humbled 24-7 by Miami last January in their second chance for a Super Bowl championship.

"We certainly didn't play our best football last year in the Super Bowl," said Minnesota running back Chuck Foreman. "We'll be a lot better prepared if we make it again."

Minnesota's last defeat, a 20-17 loss in Los Angeles Nov. 24, prompted a team meeting during which the club repeated its preseason vow of a Super Bowl championship.

"After we lost to the Rams, the players got together and vowed to win six straight games," said Grant. "We've got four."

Minnesota concluded its season with three impressive victories—20-9 over New Orleans, 23-10 over Atlanta and 35-15 over Kansas City, before pasting NFC Eastern Division champions St. Louis 30-14 in the divisional playoffs.

"I really hope we can win a Super Bowl for some of the older guys who might not be around much longer," said rookie linebacker Matt Blair. "Guys like Jim Marshall, Carl Eller and Roy Winston have been there twice and you never know how many more chances they'll get."

The Vikings have been pegged a four-point favorite to retain the NFC title they won a year ago with a 27-10 victory in Dallas.

Stram Handed Walking Papers

By ROBERT MOORE
AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hank Stram, the only head coach the Kansas City Chiefs have ever known, is through.

The dapper little man was fired Friday by Lamar Hunt, owner of the National Football League club, who said he wanted to "revitalize our organization and give it a fresh approach."

Stram, contacted at his home in suburban Prairie Village in Kansas, said he didn't want "to make a statement at this time. I'll do that later." He was not present at Hunt's mid-afternoon news conference.

Stram still had seven years remaining on a 10-year contract providing for an estimated salary of $100,000 a year. Hunt said the payments to Stram would be continued "as they become due. We will honor the financial terms of that contract subject to consideration of his income from any new endeavor."

Hunt said Stram was not offered another job with the Chiefs.

Hunt said the Chiefs would start their search for a new coach immediately and announced Jack Steadman, the club's vice president and general manager, "will seek, find and employ a coach."

Hunt also said Steadman would be in charge of contract negotiations and player signings. Stram handled both.

"Coaching a pro football team is a complicated job," Hunt said. "I have developed a changing philosophy of what a coach's duties should be. Contract signing and the coaching end should definitely be separated. If a coach has too many duties, there is a danger of fractionalization."

Stram's firing came less than a month after the Chiefs finished their worst season ever, winning only five of 14 games.

"Over-all," said Hunt, "our record was disappointing but as far as being 5-9, over-emphasis should not be put on that as our reason for being here today." Hunt said the Chiefs would look for "someone relatively young" for their new coach. He did not elaborate and denied rumors that Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins would be the next Kansas City coach.

Hunt hired Stram, who will be 52 Jan. 3, when he formed the Dallas Texans for the new American Football League in 1960. At the time, Stram, who played college football at Purdue, was an assistant coach at Miami in Florida. The Texans moved to Kansas City and became the Chiefs in 1963.

Under Stram, the Chiefs made their way to the top of the pro football ladder, upsetting the Minnesota Vikings 23-7 in 1970 in the Super Bowl. Kansas City also played in the first Super Bowl in 1966, losing to the Green Bay Packers 35-10.

A year after beating the Vikings, the Chiefs had a 10-3-1 record but lost to Miami in the interdivisional playoffs 27-24.

During Stram's 15 years as Hunt's coach, his teams produced 129 victories, 79 defeats and 10 ties.

Judge To Rule On Stabler Suit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A Jefferson County judge who wants to take a close look at evidence concerning "the best quarterback in football" says he will receive written arguments Monday in Kenny Stabler's suit to be freed from a contract with the Birmingham Americans.

Circuit Judge William Barber said Friday, "This is an extremely difficult decision because of the unique value of Stabler's services." Two days of oral arguments were completed Friday in the Oakland Raider quarterback's suit seeking to void a contract which calls for him to join the financially troubled World Football League team for the 1976 season.

Lawyers for Stabler say the Americans have not met bonus obligations with their client, while the WFL team says it has.

Barber said switching to written arguments "is better for me because I can be more deliberate."

"I am sympathetic to the Americans because they ran into financial trouble. I hated to see that," said Barber. "I am sympathetic with Stabler because in my humble opinion he is the best quarterback in football and what's best for his career is a vital factor."

"All that makes this situation unique, but I will do what's fair and equitable under the law."

Stabler was paid $50,000 when he signed with the Americans last April, and the dispute hinges on payments of another $50,000 in bonus money.

FAMILY ROOM GIVES OUTSIDE ENTRANCE

Southwood

Luxurious space, privacy and clarity of design mark the "Southwood" as a home of distinction. A sunken family room is edged by the other lower level living areas of the home and by the garage, hobby and storage areas.

A separate entrance is provided to the room, which exits to a porch and is lighted by a woodburning fireplace. The design of this area is ideal for the large family or would provide a near subdivision of the home for an elderly family member or relative.

Entrance to the main floor of the home is through a foyer which directs traffic into the living room, or down a hall with exits to a formal dining room, spacious kitchen, den or bath. Eating space is provided in the kitchen to enhance the casualness of the plan, while the more formal dining room can be reserved for entertainment.

The kitchen is the popular U-shaped design for easy working and access to all appliances and storage areas. Just off the kitchen is the full bath, which includes washer and dryer.

A rear room can be used either for bedroom or den. Crossing from the kitchen and dining area through the family room, one reaches a massive storage area and separate hobby room situated behind the double garage.

The expansive second floor of this home provides a master bedroom, wing, with its own sitting room, walk-in closet and full bath, compartmented for privacy and efficiency. Two other bedrooms have access to a sundeck, and each is provided with double closets. They share a full bath, again compartmented, and including a wall-to-wall counter.

The luxury and grace of this home, from its brick exterior to special design elements such as the sitting room, can hardly be matched. Floor space is increased by a full basement for storage or refinishing.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Shellac and honey have one thing in common. Each is the product of an insect.

The lac bug of India converts the sap of trees into a gum-like material that becomes liquid shellac when diluted with alcohol. Unbleached, it is orange in color; bleached, it becomes what is called white shellac but actually is clear.

Shellac has retained its popularity over the years partly because it can be used as a sealer, an undercoat or a final finish, but mainly because it is easy to use and dries rapidly.

Everybody has his pet way of mixing and using shellac. You will develop your own method after you have used it a few times. In the meantime, a widely recommended mixture of equal parts of shellac and denatured alcohol will handle most jobs and is the least likely to cause any problems. You will find, after a time, that when the shellac is being used as a sealer or undercoat, more alcohol and less shellac is preferable. When used for finishing furniture, the 50-50 mixture is good. When finishing a floor, you'll want more shellac and less alcohol. But there are some wood finishers who get excellent results with combinations other than those, so don't hesitate to experiment to arrive at a blend that suits you best.

Since I recently used shellac on an unfinished cabinet — and since the results were satisfactory — let me detail the steps that were taken. Although the wood in the cabinet appeared to have been well sanded, it was gone over again with a hand sander, using a fine grade of paper. The surfaces were then wiped with a cloth saturated in denatured alcohol to remove any traces of grit from the sanding.

One part of shellac was mixed with three parts of alcohol and applied with a brush in the direction of the grain. The cabinet was not touched for about three hours, then sanded very lightly, again with the grain. This time, a clean brush was used to remove any grit particles, since the use of alcohol might have softened the first coat.

A mixture of one part of shellac to one part of denatured alcohol was then made. This was applied as before and, also as before, was allowed to dry for three hours, after which it was sanded and dusted with a dry brush. The final coat again was a 50-50 mixture of shellac and alcohol. This time I didn't go near the cabinet until the next day, when a little paste wax was rubbed in. If desired, you can substitute one of the newer liquid polishers which contain some of the ingredients in paste wax. It does away with the buffing.

One word of caution. Shellac should not be applied during a period of high humidity. It could cause the surface to take on a cloudy appearance.

(The techniques of shellacking, varnishing, lacquering, staining, bleaching and getting a satin finish are detailed in Andy Lang's booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," which can be obtained by sending 30 cents and a long, STAMPED, self-addressed envelope to Know How, P.O. Broker Can Help Mobile Family

By DOROTHEA BROOKS
NEW YORK (UPI) — When the James Petersen family moved 1,750 miles from suburban Chicago to Las Vegas some routine statistics turned into very attractive flesh and blood.

The Petersens typify the mobile American family, the one out of every five who each year packs up for a move to another city.

No stereotype, they do have three whole and charming children —not the statistical two and one-third child average. Otherwise they are remarkably like the national norm.

This norm was determined in a survey of 1,000 such mobile families by RELO Inter-City Relocation Service, a nonprofit association of 700 real estate companies that specialize in working with families who are relocating.

The average relocating family moved three and one half times in the past 10 years; about 500 miles each time on the average. Its typically 39-year-old head is apt to be either an executive (43 per cent), a professional worker (23 per cent), or in selling or marketing (16 per cent), and has an average income of $18,000 a year. The Petersens' move to Las Vegas was their third U.S. relocation. Because two earlier moves were close to Chicago, it took an overseas hop to bring their average relocation distance of 650 miles close to the norm, but these overseas transfers are a growing part of the American family relocating pattern.

Erika and Jim Petersen met and married in Germany, where he had been in service. Petersen's age and income are about average, too. And he qualifies both as an executive —in retailing—and a pro. He's an insulation specialist. He's also a licensed hairdresser.

Career advancement, the major factor in most family relocations, was not the only motive in the Petersen's transfer. They decided to make the move for three other reasons. Both want to try living in several parts of the country. Both want a warm climate and want good schools for their children, Michelle, three, Brett, six, and Michael, nine.

Western members of RELO say they expect families relocating from the East to have grandiose ideas of a home with wide open spaces. Like the Petersens, however, they often settle for conventional city lots. A kidney-shaped pool in a walled patio behind the Petersen house more than makes up for the missing acreage, the family feels.

The pool was typical of the way in which cooperating brokers can help a family moving from one part of the country to another.

While Thorsen Realtors, a RELO member in Chicago's western Oak Brook suburb, was marketing their Bolingbrook house to get the Petersens a $14,000 cash equity, the cooperating Sahara Realty member in Las Vegas was screening available homes for the qualities the Petersens wanted.

Among several likely places was the one with the pool. This pool, however, had been put in by the original owner and had a $6,000 trust deed, or second mortgage, negotiated at 15.55 per cent interest! Petersen was not about to tie himself to such terms for several years so the broker worked out a way for him to assume the seven and three quarters per cent V.A.-guaranteed first mortgage with only an $8,000 cash down payment and to pay off the deed on the pool with the remaining $6,000 of his equity cash.

It is this professional know-how that RELO promotes to smooth the way in for families making long distance moves, usually to areas with which they are unfamiliar and often under pressure to get settled in a hurry.

In times like the present, when mortgage money is difficult to obtain, a well established local broker who has been doing business with local financial institutions through good times and bad, high rates and low, knows on a day-to-day basis where money is available locally, and how much, and often has an advantage in obtaining a commitment. He also often can come up with an alternate to conventional mortgage financing. Assumptions, government loans and various other possibilities are financing many homes these days.

RELO suggests, too, "Discuss your family ambitions, tastes, lifestyle with the broker. He or she is trained to help you find the answers to questions many families don't even know they should ask about home ownership, especially if you are transferring to a city with which you are unfamiliar."

The south peak of Mt. McKinley in Alaska is 20,320 feet, making it the highest mountain peak in the U.S.

Here's the Answer

Q — The ceiling in our attic is made of plasterboard. I would like to put up acoustical tiles. Can I attach them right to the plasterboard or do I have to put up furring strips first?

A — That's a decision that you will have to make yourself after inspecting the old ceiling carefully and determining whether it is level and firmly attached. If it is, you can attach the tiles to the ceiling with a special adhesive that you should buy at the same time as you get the tiles. If it isn't, then you'll have to install 1 by 2-inch furring strips at right angles to the joists.

Q — Aren't calcimine and whitewash the same thing? My friend says no.

A — He's right. Calcimine is mostly chalk and a kind of glue. Whitewash is mostly lime

Holiday Stress Causes Mishaps

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hurry up holiday stress and fatigue can lead to nasty accidents in the kitchen, cautions National Safety Council Home Economist Sharon Wildermuth.

The safe way: prepare as much ahead of time as possible. Don't try to do everything yourself. Assign jobs to the family.

Avoid Financial Headaches

Thinking about selling your home on your own? If so, you should commence a cram course in financing. How much money will you want down? How will you determine the prospect's credit history? Will you accept a second mortgage? Have you been in close contact with financial institutions, the FHA or VA? Can you advise a prospect where to get mortgage funds and who will pay what closing costs?

On the other hand, Realtors know that many sales are lost strictly for want of proper financing. They also know the intricate methods and sources of financing.

Honestly, The best way to market your home—probably your most valuable asset—is the professional way. Just as you would go to a doctor for medical aid, you should go to a Realtor for assistance in selling your home. It must make financial sense. Over 75 per cent of all home sales are handled by people in the profession.

Deborah Kerr Still A Charmer

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly 20 years ago, actress Deborah Kerr played her first role on the American stage as the older woman in "Tea and Sympathy" who gently helped a timid, lonely teen-aged boy discover his manhood.

I saw the play in the old Lyceum Theatre in Minneapolis in 1955 and became forever enchanted with the Scottish beauty who starred in it.

Time hasn't diminished her spell, as was apparent during a recent interview in Miss Kerr's dressing room at the Kennedy Center, where she is starring in Edward Albee's new play, "Seascape," with actor Barry Nelson.

Now in her mid-50s, Miss Kerr has lost none of her delicate beauty and consummate grace. The reddish hair, the faint freckles, the trim figure, the gesturing hands, the deep, penetrating blue eyes, the warmth—all are still there.

"Tea and Sympathy" created something of a stir in the 1950s because the frightened boy whom Miss Kerr befriended was wrongly suspected of being a homosexual, though the word was never used in the play.

Nineteen years later after she played in Minneapolis, Miss Kerr spoke of the shift away from inhibitions on the American stage.

"To have moved a hand toward the top button of a high-necked blouse would bring a gasp from the house," she said. "Imagine a 34-year-old woman and a 19-year-old boy! Now, it's so common it's rather boring. 'It's quite incredible. What do you call it? A revolution?' Did she think it is all for the better?"

"Yes, it's better. I'm in total agreement. One couldn't live believing everything was for the worse. That's part of the pain of growing up, that we expect life is always going to be the same. Then all of a sudden it changes."

She believes America itself has changed for the better. "away from the years of complete confidence and, particularly, comfort."

Now, she says, Americans must make "a difficult readjustment," partly because of Watergate and partly because of economic hard times.

"I do think it's going to be very difficult, to get away from 'That's broken! Throw it away! Get another! Luxury...not rich, rich, rich! But the majority of people knowing 'you can always get another.'"

She suspects the American theater will benefit from the strains of the 1970s. "You write better things while starving in the garret than when you're feasting," she said. She called it sad that so few plays were written by Americans from the affluent generation of the 1950s.

In her long career on stage and in films, Miss Kerr often has played the steadfast, gentle, compassionate woman. She sees a little of many of her previous roles in the Nancy of "Seascape" who is doggedly determined to be doing something different.

"Seascape" is a story about a couple at the beach who slide into alienation and distrust, and come to feel the same way about a strange couple who appear as lizards.

Miss Kerr says she has been intellectually challenged in "Seascape" as in few other roles she has played. "I accept completely Edward's (Albee) method of illustrating our insecurities, our distrust of each other, our desire not to distrust, the ease with which we do distrust," she said.

Now that their daughters are grown, Miss Kerr and her husband spend much of their free time at their home in Switzerland, or fishing, swimming and sunning in southern Spain.

"These days there are too many things to do," she said. "The older you get, the more you want to do."

Plans for a big year ahead in 1975 for the Coastal Plains Horse Show Circuit are being made early this year with an annual exhibitors' meeting to be held Saturday.

According to Bruce Clark and Harry Daughtry, two of the circuit's long-standing active members, the meeting will take place beginning at 5 p.m. Saturday and will be held at the Briley Farm between Greenville and Pictolus. Guest speaker will be Dr. Fred McCashin of the N.C. Veterinary Research Foundation in Southern Pines. "We're asking anybody interested in horse shows to come out," Clark said. To reach the Briley Farm, located about halfway between Greenville and Pictolus, turn left off N.C. 30 at Davenport's Grocery and Grill onto Highway 1538, go about one quarter mile, and then turn left into a driveway between two wagon wheels. For members and guests, the 5 p.m. business meeting will be followed by a barbecue dinner with plates at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

"The main purpose of this exhibitor's meeting," Daughtry said, "is to set up the schedule for 1975 for horse shows in the Coastal Plain Circuit."

Clark noted that "most of the proceeds realized from the horse shows go to various charitable causes. For example, we've donated to the rescue squad, to the Station House Fire Station and to the retarded children's program."

The Coastal Plain Horse Show circuit is comprised of about a dozen affiliate member units across eastern North Carolina—Greenville, Wilson, Rocky Mount, Williamston, Wendell, Scotland Neck, Morehead City, Farmville, New Bern, Jacksonville, Havelock, and one or two others.

"We have a big variety of show events," Daughtry commented. "These are events for walking horses, American saddle bred horses, Arabian horses, pleasure horses of all types, and ponies."

"The events include both driving and riding ones," Clark added, "and cover practically every phase of horsemanship. Webster, hunter, you name it."

"The Coastal Plain Circuit has the potential for being not just one of the best, but the very best in the eastern United States," Clark said. "Much in our programs is designed specifically for children and young people. We feel that working with horses builds character and good sportsmanship in young people."

The circuit, founded, Daughtry said, "12 or 13 years ago in Greenville, gives trophies based on high scoring horses and points accumulated. We change meeting places frequently to create fellowship among all the member units. We're as much interested in friendship as sportsmanship."

"We want to emphasize," Clark said, "that any person interested in horses and horsemanship in any way will find a welcome at our meeting. And it's not necessary to be a horse owner. We'll be happy to have anyone come out just to be with us."

School Of Arts Theater To Be Dedicated To Agnes De Mille

The North Carolina School of the Arts will dedicate its newly renovated theatre to Agnes de Mille with an opening bill of dance Feb. 4-9.

Miss de Mille, who has devoted much time to the arts school, will restage her ballet Three Virgins and a Devil for the opening. The work, set to Respighi's Ancient Dances and Airs, was revived last season by American Ballet Theatre.

The program will also include a dance to George Crumb's Ancient Voices of Children, choreographed by Richard Kuch of the school's dance faculty. The work will be conducted by NCSA Chancellor Robert Suderburg and sung by his wife Elizabeth Suderburg and his son Jonathan.

Other works on the program are George Balanchine's Serenade, set to the music of Tchaikovsky's Serenade for Strings, and Duncan Noble's Concerto, to Weber's Grand Piano Concerto No. 1.

Balanchine, director of the New York City Ballet, is sending his ballet mistress, Victoria Simon, to Winston-Salem to stage his work.

Noble, a member of the school dance faculty, created his ballet last year for two former NCSA students.

The NCSA Orchestra, with Nicholas Harsanyi, music director and conductor, will play the Respighi and Tchaikovsky.

The production will include student, faculty and alumni performers, including members of the North Carolina Dance Theatre, a professional affiliate of the school.

Robert Lindgren, dean of the school of dance and director of the Dance Theatre will direct the production.

Miss de Mille and composer Crumb will attend the dedicatory performance. Crumb will also conduct master classes at the school Feb. 6-8.

Miss de Mille was a member of the original conservatory committee which began planning the School of the Arts in 1963. She continues to serve on the school's advisory board as an artistic consultant.

In 1970, she staged the world premiere of her ballet A Rose for Miss Emily at the school.

In 1973, she initiated her "Heritage Dance Theatre" at NCSA and presented the world premiere for Winston-Salem audiences. She brought designers and soloists from New York and used student and faculty from the school as performers and technical staff. Many of those students have toured the country with her company.

Glenn Miller Music Recorded

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
NEW YORK (UPI) — During his relatively brief but meteoric career as a big band leader, Glenn Miller managed to put almost all of his dance music on records or tape.

A few years after the end of World War II, in which Miller gave his life, perfection of the LP record made it possible to release scores of Glenn's tunes in compact packages.

Some of Miller's performances, taped from his radio show and from live appearances, remained in their original state until a few months ago when George T. Simon, the noted swing musicologist and Miller's biographer, decided to produce them in a two-LP album, "Glenn Miller, A Legendary Performer" (RCA CPM2-0693).

The music in this album contains familiar Miller offerings, among them "Tuxedo Junction," "Pennsylvania 6-5000," "A String of Pearls," "Little Brown Jug" and "Chattanooga Choo Choo."

But they are worth repeating because a band seldom plays its music exactly the same, even though the arrangements are specific.

So, the most-ingrained Miller devotees will find something "new" in these playbacks.

The album also includes tunes which were not recorded previously. One of them, "Jack and Jill," was not considered suitable for radio broadcast in those days because of innuendoes in the lyrics, but they should be regarded as mild by today's standards.

Another previously unrecorded song, "Sentimental Me," by Rodgers and Hart, was Dorothy Claire's appearance as the orchestra's new vocalist.

There are some comments by Glenn Miller and a conversation between Miller and Harry James, who appeared with the band on "Juke Box Saturday Night," in Miller's last public appearance before joining the Army.

Another big dig into the past is a three-LP production of recordings from W.C. Fields' own collection.

The most important is "Poppy" (Columbia KC 33253), the radio adaptation of one of Fields' best movies. The radio cast includes Anne Shirley, John Payne and Skeets Gallagher.

"The Great Radio Feuds" (Columbia KC33241) pits Fields' barbed witticisms against the attacks by Charlie McCarthy. This was considered high comedy back in the 1930's when the dummy McCarthy was a bigger radio star than real-life funmakers, thanks to the perfect timing of the ventriloquist Edgar Bergen.

"The Further Adventures of Larson E. Whipsnade" (Columbia 33240) features Fields in a great comic characterization with some help from Bergen-McCarthy, Don Ameche and Josephine Hutchinson.

Nostalgia does not necessarily involve the seemingly long-ago. Today's thirties collectors will find some old memories in listening to "Bobby Goldsboro's 10th Anniversary Album" (United Artists UA-LA311-H2-0798), a two-LP album featuring 20 hit tunes, most of them composed by the singer. "Honey" probably is the most successful of the tunes.

Two Books On The Human Condition

On Values, Goals, Interests Of One's Mate

Hope Tinged With Lasting Bitterness

Marriage Who? When? Why? David Knox. Englewood Cliffs, N.J. Prentice-Hall, Inc. 213 pages.

A marriage counselor and teacher of marriage and family courses at East Carolina University, Dr. David Knox says a marriage course at Auburn University turned his own life around.

"In the mid 1960s I enrolled in a marriage course there," he said. "At the time I had been dating a girl for two years. Although we had never talked of marriage, both of us assumed that it would occur. Drifting toward marriage seemed easy. The course shocked me into recognizing that our relationship was headed on a collision course. The only thing we had in common was the university community—the movies, card rooms, and parties. We were like two people in a bus station with tickets to different destinations. I passed the course and broke the relationship."

He reveals the experience in a book entitled, Marriage—Who? When? Why?, that went on sale this week. It's written for the student in the marriage and family class, but it should be required reading for every single person who remotely believes he or she will ever get married, and it won't do us "already-marrieds" any harm either.

The book is divided into four parts, each dealing with a particular aspect of the marriage relationship. Part I, "Who?" discusses the person and his or her potential mate in terms of values, goals, and needs and interests. Part II, "When?" reviews the alternatives—living together or remaining single.

Part II, "Why?" shows that love and sex are the primary reasons for marriage, but it goes into other more specific reasons, some of which probably won't form the basis for a sound marital relationship, like pregnancy, rebound, rebellion, escape, physical appearance, loneliness, pity, and social pressure.

Part IV, "The Human Relationship," concerns the use of very interesting and plausible communications skills the couple may employ. Good communication, it's pointed out, is vitally important to maintaining a good marital relationship. The book also goes into resolving sexual problems and assessing the relationship.

Included are the details of a project completed by 100 dating couples at ECU, which assisted the participants in discovering before marriage more about their partners' opinions, families, economic futures, religious practices, and recreation preferences. It's a text, but it's interesting reading, too.

New Light of Hope. By Bill Kiser. New Canaan, Conn. Keats Publishing, Inc., 1974. 223 pages. $7.95.

All his 46 years people have looked at Bill Kiser and assumed, because his body is misshapen, because he cannot coordinate his movements well, and because he cannot speak distinctly that he is unintelligent. Sometimes they talk in his presence as if they know he doesn't understand them. Sometimes they talk to him as they would to what they consider a not-too-smart child.

Though he's been a cerebral palsy victim since that day in his infancy when he stopped breathing and his brain cells were denied oxygen a few minutes, Bill Kiser is a brilliant man with the emotions and needs of any "normal" man. This autobiography of the writer of the syndicated column, "The Handicapped Mailbag," is one of the most emotion-evoking and eye-opening books I have ever read. It stayed on my mind for weeks after I had finished it.

I suppose I had always known that often people whose bodies are impaired by strokes or accidental injuries or oxygen starvation like Kiser's are perfectly aware, yet unable to communicate.

But I never really dwelt on the concept long enough to even begin to understand it. I know I still do not, because I have not experienced it. But Bill Kiser has bared his soul in this book to help me and his other readers be a little more aware, and therefore, perhaps a little more considerate.

He has managed to relate a lifetime of personal anguish and frustration without being maudlin, an accomplishment that makes me admire him as a writer, as well as a man. He's told of his childhood and of how his overprotective parents stunted his growth as a person, at the same time making the reader know that his parents did what they did out of love for him, and that it was their love that made him develop at all.

He tells of an all-or-nothing gamble he made and lost, when he underwent surgery that was to have alleviated many of his cerebral palsy symptoms. The operation was a failure and brought him to the lowest point of his life, virtually unable to move and not long capable of living alone in the home his deceased parents had left him. Then he was forced to live in a nursing home where he was not fed enough to nourish him properly and was treated like all the old, "useless" people there.

Several times in his life he tried to commit suicide, but finally he had a religious experience in which he promised the Lord that he would never again attempt to take his own life, even though he could not understand the reason for his continuing to live. In the nursing home, for a time, lost sight of an earlier religious experience in which he had felt called to help other handicapped people. How, he asked himself, could he hope to do anything for anybody when he was trapped inside that useless body.

Gradually, though, with the help of a few close friends, he began the slow road back to where he was before surgery. He got into a Good Will Center in Winston Salem, and it was here he got into writing. Typing with one finger, he began to turn out articles and later his newspaper column.

Kiser tells of the frustration he has known since puberty of sexual urges that cannot be fulfilled because no self-respecting woman would have anything to do with a man as repugnant-looking as he is. His "obsession" with money is dealt with, also. Even as the book ends, he says he is angry all the time, mad that he has had to cope for a lifetime with this terrible affliction. He seems to consider himself badly adjusted, because of all the things that have happened to him. Judging only from the book, of course, I do not believe this is so.

Only a person who thoroughly understands himself could write so clearly and candidly about himself. New Light of Hope is a book I shall always cherish as an example of honest self-appraisal and masterful writing.

Dean Leary's Sculpture Draws Multiple Responses

By Beverly Wolters

When Dean Leary titled a marble sculpture "Abstract Form," he left the viewer free to reach his own interpretation of the work.

And spectators have ranged widely in their reactions to the work, a new addition to the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art.

The work is the gift of Mr.

and Mrs. A. Greenberg of Durham. The artist is a native North Carolinian and is a graduate of East Carolina University.

One person thought the u-shaped curved form suggested the aridness of the desert and was reminiscent of the shapes of giant cacti.

Another said the sculpture could represent a mother and baby, while another person, thinking along similar lines, suggested an embryonic form.

The fact that the Leary work does raise questions and suggest different things to different people is one of the points that makes it valuable for the blind gallery, Maya Reid, associate curator, said.

"We need more work as appropriate as this piece for the gallery, and we're very grateful to the Greenbergs for their continued support and generosity," Moussa M. Domit, museum director, said.

Several years ago the Greenbergs gave a marble sculpture, "Frog," by Dean Kennedy to the gallery.

Mrs. Greenberg has been a docent at the museum and is very anxious to expand the horizons of the visually impaired, Miss Reid said.

A Big Bag Of Excellent Books

For the year-end shopper, or just plain old-fashioned book browser, the U.S. Government Printing Office has compiled a list of its favorite books, old and new, still available for purchase, some now in limited numbers.

Subjects range from the military to hints for brides to American music machines—in pamphlet, book and poster forms.

A perusal of the contents of the latest government publications catalog shows dozens of exciting reading possibilities. A few of the choices are:

A book of solid information high in nostalgic content.

Roundup Of Tar Heel Governors

North Carolina Governors, 1585-1975, Brief Sketches. By Beth G. Crabtree. Raleigh, N.C. Division of Archives and History, Dept. of Cultural Resources. Third Printing, Revised. 1974. 189 pps, illustrated, paper, $3.00.

First written in 1958 and revised and corrected in 1968, this third printing of North Carolina Governors is a most helpful source of information to laymen, student or researcher.

By including the pre-Revolutionary period in compiling biographical sketches of governors of the Tar Heel state for nearly four centuries (beginning in 1585), the list comes to a total of 95, including the present Governor, James E. Holshouser, Jr.

Miss Crabtree has retained the basic structure of the original publication—a compact biographical sketch of each governor, supplemented by a number of appendices.

The appendices provide a rich cross-referencing of information most likely to be sought by researchers—such as birthplace by counties and out of state birth places of governors; primary occupations of governors; ages when elected; number of votes cast in elections and candidate's party affiliation, etc.

It will probably come as a surprise to many readers that half a dozen governors held titles made possible by the 1669 Fundamental Constitutions—Seth Sothel, Seigneur; John Archdale, Proprietor; Edward Hyde, Earl of Clarendon; Charles Eden, Landgrave; Richard Everett, Baronet; and John Gibbs, Cacique.

Since North Carolina was one of the original 13 colonies, the history of its governors naturally has a much broader scope of types than would be the case of a state entering the Union after the American Revolution.

Of North Carolina's 27 Colonial Governors (those serving before 1776), eleven served for a period of less than a year each, whereas one governor, Gabriel Johnston, served almost 18 years, from 1734 to 1752.

The colony's second governor, famed English illustrator John White was the only artist ever to serve as governor.

By far, most North Carolina governors have come from the ranks of lawyers. Seven were authors or editors/publishers; eight, were farmers; eleven were planters; and the list is represented by one each whose occupation was: apothecary, explorer, Indian fighter, manufacturer, and shipbuilder. Still other governors were soldiers, surveyors, college professors, merchants and physicians.

The individual sketches of each of the governors is limited to a couple of pages more or less—not enough to give more than highlight details of each man's career, but enough to arouse the reader's interest, particularly in the colorful lives hinted at in the case of some of the earlier governors. Where available, photographs or portraits of governors are shown.

North Carolina Governors is a valuable book for anyone interested in the history of North Carolina.

US Steel To Close Open Hearth Shop

FUNNY MONEY—Talmadge Bailey of the Charlotte Secret Service office sifts through nearly $500,000 in counterfeit money following a Christmas Eve raid on a Winston-Salem printing shop. Three men were arrested. The bills were printed only on one side. (AP Wirephoto)

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. says it will shut down an open hearth shop at its Gary, Ind., works next week rather than pay a $230,000-per-day fine for air pollution.

The shutdown is expected to result in layoffs for 4,000 workers in northwest Indiana.

The nation's largest steelmaker announced the closing Friday, one day after U.S. District Court Judge Allen Sharp of Hammond, Ind., ordered the shutdown by Dec. 31 or payment of the fine.

"It is the company's view that continued operation is either environmentally acceptable or it is not, and does not become acceptable with the payment of a daily fine," U.S. Steel said.

"Therefore, the company has concluded that it cannot accede to such a principle."

A clean-up had been ordered in a consent decree between U.S. Steel and the Environmental Protection Agency, and the No. 4 shop had remained open since Dec. 6, 1973, on six-month extensions.

Since 1965, U.S. Steel has replaced 43 of the 53 open hearth furnaces at Gary with cleaner basic oxygen process shops. The No. 4 shop encompasses the 10 remaining open hearth furnaces.

The company said it had reached agreement with the city of Gary and the state of Indiana for another extension to delay compliance until next June 30.

"Unfortunately, EPA was unwilling to go along with the extension unless a daily tribute was paid to the government," the company said.

Francis T. Mayo, Midwest EPA administrator, objected to the term "tribute" as "patently ridiculous." He said the fine was fair.

U.S. Atty. John Wilkes, who had asked for a $5,000 daily fine, offered a similar opinion of the judge's ruling.

Plant supervisor L. Keith Smith said the shutdown will result in layoffs for 2,500 Gary Works employees and another 1,500 workers in steel-related industries.

"We have lived with the imminent closing of the open hearth for a year," said Harry Piasecki, president of United Steelworkers Local 1014, which represents 15,000 Gary workers. "We are as prepared as we are going to be."

S. C. Plant Sets Shutdown

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—Last September, Fiber Industries, Inc., announced a plant expansion in the Greenville area. It would have resulted in a 15 per cent increase in the work force.

Friday the firm, a division of the Celanese Corp., announced a six-week shutdown would begin Jan. 4. This will idle the last of the 1,300 hourly employees at the Greenville plant.

In all, 2,500 workers have been laid off by Fiber Industries in Greenville.

The Celanese fiber plant in Rome, Ga., also will shut down for six weeks beginning Jan. 4. "I think it's obvious what happened," a company spokesman said. "What happened is the textile market in general. Back in September we had no idea that the economy would get this bad."

The Monsanto Co. has announced that it will cut the work force 25 per cent at its Greenwood, S.C., plant by laying off 550 hourly workers, beginning Jan. 6.

The Greenville-based Phillips Fibers says its three plants are running at only a little better than half capacity. It has laid off 40 per cent of the workers in Seneca, S.C., and 30 per cent in Rocky Mount, N.C.

Hoechst Fibers of Spartanburg is in the midst of a two-week holiday shutdown, but plans to open on schedule.

"The whole industry is curtailed," said one textile executive who asked not be identified. "Every fiber industry has cut back. I'm sorry for Fiber Industries. They're the first in this area to close down."

The textile industry is South Carolina's largest employer. State Rep. Theo Mitchell said that if the recession doesn't slow down, and if shutdowns have not bottomed out, "the state and most of its subdivisions will be in bad trouble. Tax revenues will start going down."

A Bad Year For U. S. Air Lines

By STEPHEN H. MILLER

AP Business News Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The past year was not a good one for airlines, most of which found themselves struggling with quadrupled fuel prices, higher labor costs and little growth in business.

One of the hardest hit was

Pan American World Airways, suffering through its sixth straight year of losses and battling with little success for major financial aid from the government.

Pan Am said this week that it lost $15.7 million in November, bringing its deficit for the first

11 months of the year to $60.9 million.

The 11-month figure compared with a loss of $13.6 million in 1973 and indicated Pan

Am could set a record annual loss for an American airline, possibly passing the 1970 loss of $63.5 million suffered by Trans

World Airlines.

The airline noted that scheduled passenger traffic revenue was up only 1.4 per cent, even though ticket prices were an average of 24 per cent higher than last year. In the same month, Pan Am said, fuel costs were 94 per cent higher than a year earlier at $30.6 million.

The International Air Transport Association said this week that the 1974 growth rate for passenger and cargo traffic would be the lowest ever.

The association said passenger traffic, which has gone up an average 13 per cent each year until 1973, probably would be up 3 per cent for 1974. Cargo traffic, usually up about 20 per cent, would be up 6 per cent, it said.

"The very fact that air carriers have been able to weather

the global economic storm without a complete collapse is in itself a sign of the industry's inherent resilience," said Knut

Hammarckjoeld, director general of the group.

Still, he said, fare hikes had not been able to cover rising expenses and most scheduled and charter lines probably will finish the year in the red.

Pan American, meanwhile, was denying a report in a Paris publication that a tentative agreement had been worked out under which Iranian interests would buy a majority of its capital stock.

The airline earlier had confirmed that talks with Iranian interests had been held, but said they involved forms of investment other than purchase of stock.

How N. Carolina Senators And Representatives Vote

By ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Dec. 18 through 20, the closing days of the 93rd Congress.

House
POWER V. PRESERVATION
Failed, 196 for and 181 against, to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to pass legislation aimed at protecting the New River along the Virginia-North Carolina border from a planned hydro-electric development. The bill had been blocked by the Rules Committee, making it necessary for sponsors to bring it to the floor under a "suspension of the rules" procedure requiring the two-thirds majority for passage.

The bill (S 2439), passed by the Senate, proposed studying the New River to see if it qualifies as part of the Wild and Scenic Rivers system. Such a study would have delayed and possibly killed plans by Appalachian Power Co. to meet its energy requirements by building two dams, flooding 42,000 acres of land and 94 miles of the river.

The Federal Power Commission has approved the project. The river is the oldest in the Western Hemisphere and second oldest in the world, next to the Nile. One congressman called the issue a "classic confrontation of development versus environment." The State of North Carolina and conservation groups oppose the project. Much of organized labor and many business organizations favor it.

One supporter of the Wild and Scenic Rivers study, Rep. Roy Taylor (D-N.C.), said, "25 years from now we may not need this power dam, but we will continually need the farmlands, the 42,000 acres of farmlands and timber land that would be destroyed."

Rep. Dan Daniel (D-Va.), an opponent, said, "All of us are concerned about the environmental impact of power projects, but this project... will contribute more to the environment than it takes away."

Reps. L. H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Ike Andrews (D-4) Wilmer Mizel (R-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6)

Charles Rose (D-7), Earl Ruth (R-8), James Martin (R-9), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "yea."

Rep. Walter Jones (D-1) did not vote.

ROCKEFELLER Confirmed, 287 for and 128 against, the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as the nation's 41st vice president. Most supporters enthusiastically supported Rockefeller as well qualified for the position. Some supporters expressed reservations, but considered Rockefeller acceptable, stressing an urgent need to fill the vacant vice-presidency. Some opponents were concerned about the marriage of Rockefeller family wealth and White House power. Other opponents objected to Rockefeller's ideology and his public performance as a four-term governor of New York.

Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Mizell, Preyer, Ruth, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Jones and Rose voted "nay." LOTTERIES Passed, 185 for and 126 against, a bill (HR 6668) removing federal legal obstacles to the operation of state lotteries. The bill, having cleared the Senate, was sent to President Ford. Had Congress not acted, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe would have sought injunctions to close lotteries in the 13 states which operate them.

The legislation permits radio and television stations and newspapers located in lottery states to disseminate, over the air and through the mails, information such as winning numbers and advertising messages. It also allows the mailing of tickets within lottery states.

Supporters praised state-run lotteries as valuable revenue-raising mechanisms. "Those states conducting lotteries should be free to operate within their own borders without being unnecessarily restricted by federal law," said Rep. Henry Smith (R-N.Y.).

Opponents generally objected to state lotteries on moral grounds, and said that historically they have created more problems than benefits. "I do not feel that Congress by any slight suggestion should endorse a lottery as a means of raising public income," said Rep. Chalmers Wylie (R-Ohio).

Ruth voted "yea." Fountain, Henderson, Mizell, Preyer, Rose, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay." Jones, Andrews and Martin did not vote.

WAR CLAIMS Tabled, 50 for and 35 against, the conference report on legislation (S 1728) setting priorities for paying claims filed by U.S. citizens and corporations as a result of the nation's conflict with Japan and Germany during WW II.

Since enactment of the 1948 War Claims Act, many millions of dollars in claims have been settled with money raised from the sale of enemy assets. An estimated $5 million-plus remains in the claims fund, and the chief issue before the Senate was the method of distributing it.

Virtually all death and personal injury claims, as well as claims by small businesses and religious and charitable organizations, have been paid in full over the years. Not settled, however, are 161 corporate and 187 individual claims. The $5 million is earmarked for them.

The question before the Senate was whether to approve a formula giving individuals priority over corporations or opt for an essentially pro-rata distribution of funds among individuals and corporations.

Supporters of tabling generally favored the pro-rata approach. "The assets that are available to... all the creditors ought not be diverted to... only a few of the creditors," said Sen. Sam Ervin (D-N.C.).

Opponents said individual claimants are in greater need of money, and noted that failure to enact the bill this year would penalize civilians who were interned in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam war. Benefits for those internees were also contained in the legislation.

Sens. Sam Ervin (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "yea." BUDGET CUT Rejected, 31 for and 63 against, an eleventh-hour preadjudgment attempt to cut an additional $3.2 billion across-the-board from the FY 1975 federal budget. The amendment was proposed to an appropriations measure (HJ Res 1178), subsequently passed and sent to President Ford.

Supporters called the move a needed step against inflation. Sen. Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) said Congress was "playing Santa Claus" when it should be making painful budget cuts.

Opponents noted that Congress has already cut the current fiscal year budget substantially. They said that major across-the-board cuts should not be proposed on the floor in the rush to adjournment, but should be orchestrated by the new Budget Committee.

Ervin and Helms voted "yea."

'Bowl Week' Unfolds

TWO-ON-ONE AT THE ORANGE BOWL — Alabama quarterbacks Gary Rutledge (left) and Richard Todd (right) hope to offset the singular skills of Notre Dame's Tom Clements (center) when Alabama meets the Fighting Irish in the 1975 Orange Bowl, New Year's Night in Miami, Florida. The classic confrontation — a rematch of the epic 1973 New Year's Eve Sugar Bowl struggle between

Notre Dame and the Crimson Tide (won by the Irish 23-24) — will be colorcast on NBC-TV beginning at 7:45 P.M. Rutledge, Alabama's No. 1 quarterback until injured earlier this season, and Todd are expected to share their team's signal-calling duties, while Clements is the man at the helm for Notre Dame.

The college football bowls will come into full bloom when "Bowl Week" unfolds on television. The matchups look good and the money stacks as high as ever.

The gross payoff to the twenty teams engaging in this season's post season bowl play will soar close to eight million dollars. Of course this sum will be carved up by 63 schools (60 conference schools from seven conferences and 3 independents).

Notre Dame, an independent, will receive approximately $600,000 for its Orange Bowl appearance, while its opponent — Alabama — will receive about the same amount; however, half of Alabama's share will go to the member schools. (The independents retain their full share while all conference schools divide their loot with the other schools in their respective conference.)

Coming your way on "Bowl Week" are:

ROSE BOWL: The University of Southern California will meet Ohio State on New Year's Day at 4:45 on NBC. The duel between college football's super runners Archie Griffin and Anthony Davis, 1-2 in the Heisman vote, may give the Rose Bowl the extra treat of the week. There also exists the possibility of an injection of added spice if Alabama should slip on an Orange Peel. This would give the Rose Bowl a voice in who gets or shares the national crown.

ORANGE BOWL: Alabama is bowl victory starved and will meet the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame on New Year's, January 1, at 8:00 p.m. on NBC. Notre Dame defeated Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide in the Sugar Bowl 24-23 on their way to last season's National Title. The Bear may be one of football's winningest coaches as well as a living football legend, yet he is 0-6-1 in his last seven bowl appearances. The Irish will have their hands full when they tangle with the revenge minded, national title bound 'Bama.

COTTON BOWL: At 2:00 p.m. on January 1st on CBS, the pride of Eastern football, Penn State, will meet Baylor. Winning the Southwestern championship for the first time in fifty years, Baylor boasts of a major victory over the Longhorns of Texas.

SUGAR BOWL: Dave Humm in his senior year at Nebraska will lead the Cornhuskers against the Florida Gators on Tuesday, December 31 on ABC at 8:00 p.m. Although the Gators dropped games to Georgia and Kentucky after getting their Bowl invitation they should be able to make a game of it with the Big Red.

GATOR BOWL: Texas and Auburn will meet in what should be an excellent showdown on Monday evening, December 30, on ABC at 9:00 p.m. to launch Bowl Week. Texas is quite vulnerable to an air attack, but since Auburn doesn't have a notable air force, the battle will be fought in the trenches. "Defense" will be the magic word in this one but Earl Campbell, the longhorn freshman, will be out to shoot holes in the Tigers with his fine running.

Lemmon In TV Drama

Academy Award winner Jack Lemmon will star in a two-hour TV adaptation of "The Entertainer," the searing drama by British playwright John Osborne, under a major NBC Television Network development project, it was announced recently by William F. Storke, Vice President, Special Programs, NBC-TV.

Composer Marvin Hamlisch 1974 triple Academy Awards winner for scoring "The Way We Were" and "The Sting," will prepare an original score for the special.

The setting for the play, planned for presentation on NBC-TV during the 1975-76 season, will be switched from a British seaside resort to an American counterpart in the adaptation written by Elliot Baker. The production will be filmed on location at an American oceanside locale next spring. It will be directed by John Avildsen, Lemmon's director for his Academy Award-winning performance in "Save the Tiger."

Lemmon will be seen in the title role of Archie Rice in the play, written by Osborne shortly after his first big success, "Look Back in Anger." "The Entertainer" tells of the tragic, narrow and demeaning personal and professional life of a second-rate comedian, who loses contact with the world he knows when his son is killed.

If It Was Tough In '74, Wait 'Til '75

"If You Think It Was Tough to Make Ends Meet in 1974, Wait 'Til You Hear About 1975," an NBC News special report examining the spiraling American economy and how the oil crunch as accelerated the problems of inflation, will be colorcast Wednesday, Jan. 1, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., on Channel 6-7.

NBC News correspondent Edwin Newman will be anchorman of the program, produced for NBC News by Ron Steinman. Contributing special film reports will be correspondents John Palmer in the Middle East; Bob Jamieson in the Midwest; Irving R. Levine in the nation's capital; Phil Brady in New York; Jack Paxton in Detroit; Tom Pettit in California; and Betty Rollin in Pennsylvania.

Also participating in the program will be a panel of leading economists, including Louis Rukeyser, host of the PBS program "Wall Street Week" and author of "How to Make Money in Wall Street." Other panelists will be announced.

Among the areas to be examined are: the price structure of oil caused by the oil cartel and how it is affecting several related problems in the American economy; the country's rising unemployment level and what the employment prospects are for the future; the financial markets and present business conditions; and the food price roller-coaster and what the average person can do to help his own economic situation.

MCMAHON ON JOB

Ed McMahon will return as co-host-man-on-the-street, joining co-host Michael Landon and Kelly Lange, when NBC colorcasts the 1975 Tournament of Roses Parade Wednesday, January 1, at 11:30 a.m.

Disney Brings Indian Rituals

For the "Legend of the Boy and the Eagle" segment of "The Wonderful World of Disney" on NBC-TV, Sunday, Dec. 29, director-photographer Jack Couffer captured authentic scenes of the Hopi Pueblo Indians and their rituals that had never before been filmed.

The Hopi nation had not allowed pictures to be taken of their people since the late 1920s because of an invasion of curious, camera-prying tourists that turned the Indians against all forms of photography. Practically nothing had been recorded of the Hopis on film since then.

Only through the special intercession of White Bear Fredericks, a prominent elder in the village of Oraibi, Arizona, and a close friend of Couffer's, did the director obtain permission to film the Hopi's way of life and their famous Eagle dance.

This interesting and informative program will be seen from 7:30 to 8:30 on Channel 6-7.

What They Said On Mike's Show

Top name personalities are popping up constantly on "The Mike Douglas Show." And when they're with Mike, cohosts and guests have a lot to say. For example:

Peter Falk commenting on violence in television and movies. "I'm proud of the fact that 'Columbo' is always done very tastefully. Kids and adults both can watch it."

CBS News Correspondent Dan Rather on his years with the Presidents: "Although I wouldn't give anything for the ten years I covered the White House, I wouldn't go through it again." And on electronic surveillance: "My attitude has long been if they're bugging my telephone, they're getting an earful."

Raquel Welch on her career thus far: "I think 'The Three Musketeers' is my best film to date. It was the easiest and we had a wonderful director who made it an absolute joy. It was so much fun to do, and everybody loved it. It was my first chance to sit in the back of a theatre and hear people actually laugh at what I was doing."

Rock star Alice Cooper explaining Alice Cooper: "I don't think people understand me at all. I see no reason why they should understand me. It's part of my appearance. Part of the idea is that nobody understands what I'm doing."

Milwaukee Brewers: "At the end of the season, I thought I was still going to be associated with the Braves. When the season was over the Braves didn't offer me a proper job, the only thing I wanted was to go back on the playing field. The Brewers offered me a contract, and I'm just happy that the Braves and the Brewers were able to work out a deal so I could go back to Milwaukee. It's a great city." And on the probability of someone breaking his record: "I think there players around that are capable of breaking my record. I hit a lot of home runs between 38 and 40 and this is the secret of the whole thing. I don't think some players want to dedicate themselves to play 21 years."

A Television Album Of 1974 Is Offered

"1974: A Television Album," a CBS News Special looking back at pictures from the major stories of what perhaps has been one of the most newsworthy years in decades, will be presented Sunday, Dec. 29 from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. on CBS-TV, and seen on Channel 9-11.

CBS News Correspondent John Hart will anchor the "album" of the year's momentous stories. CBS News Correspondents Dan Rather, Bob Schieffer, Mitchell Krauss, Nelson Benton and Marvin Kalb will review the subjects they covered daily during the year.

Rather will summarize the decline and fall of Richard M. Nixon: the White House tapes, the impeachment hearings and the former President's resignation. Schieffer will take a look at the progress of Gerald Ford, the first appointed President in American history, including his controversial pardoning of Nixon, his nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President and his recent trips to Japan, South Korea and Russia.

In addition, the "album" will review the Watergate cover-up trial to date and the Democratic sweep in last month's mid-term elections.

In a year when inflation has soared to an annual rate of over 10 percent, Mitchell Krauss will review the extraordinary "stagflation" of 1974 and its portent for 1975.

Nelson Benton will take a look at the energy crisis, the fuel shortages of last spring, the fits and starts of setting up a national energy policy, and the rush to develop new energy sources.

Marvin Kalb will review the complex and volatile Middle East situation: Secretary of State Kissinger's attempts to mediate peace between the Arabs and Israelis; the Arab states' use of their oil resources for political leverage, and the recent upsurge of Palestinian nationalism.

The "album" will also take a look at the collapse of the Allende government in Chile, with its undertones of CIA involvement; India's entry into the 'Nuclear family' of nations, and continuing sporadic war in Northern Ireland, Southeast Asia and Cyprus.

This year also saw American Skylab astronauts set space endurance records; the Soviet Union's explosion of noted author Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, and the so-called Symbionese Liberation Army's kidnapping of the newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst.

This was also the year of Henry Aaron, who broke Babe Ruth's home-run record, of Frank Robinson, major-league baseball's first black manager, and of the 'streak' — a fad which turned out to be merely a flash in the tan.

Khigh Alx Dhiagh stars as a seventh-century Chinese magistrate-detective who attempt to solve the mysterious killings and kidnapping in a Taoist monastery, in "Judge Dee," a world television premiere on the "ABC Sunday Night Movie," December 29 at 9:00 PM on ABC-TV.

'Rodney Operation' On 'Medical Center'

At six-years-old he owns a record company and a million-dollar smile that has been mass-produced onto T-shirts, sweat-shirts, talking dolls, coloring books, crayons and jig-saw puzzles.

He's been a superstar for half his life ever since he tackled the jumbo jack on the tube and increased Jack-in-theBox sales more than $140 million.

The credits don't stop there. His movie debut was in "Blazing Saddles." Rodney Music has produced a hit single — "Take Life a Little Easier" and Rodney has been a hit on almost every talk show, upstaging personalities ranging from movie star James Garner to Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley.

The Rodney Allen Rippe International Fan Club is headquartered in Beverly Hills.

And the Rodney Allen Rippe operation, sweeping the nation faster than his accountant can handle, has their namesake making his TV guest-starring debut in "The Hostile Heart" episode of CBS-TV's "Medical Center" airing Monday evening, December 30, from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m., on Channel 9-11. Rodney plays a homeless youngster whose chances for adoption are jeopardized by a heart defect.

But behind the operation, that includes magazine pictures of diminutive Rodney holding executive conferences with his partners in The Rodney Allen Rippe Music Co. and going over contracts at the Dorothy Day Otis Talent Agency, is one 45-inch, 45 pound kid who doesn't know quite what it's all about, but who knows enough to act his part.

"He's sweet and quiet and gentle," says Lois Nettleton, who guest-stars on "Medical Center" with Rodney. She then went on to explain how they met in the Ladies Room. "He came in with his mother and seemed a little embarrassed. Then he introduced himself, moved fast and was gone. But just before he left, he yelled through the wall — 'You're very pretty!' He's so charming."

Chad Everett says "He's a snap" to work with.

HAMBURGER KING GOES HAM — "Medical Center" star Chad Everett gives Rodney Allen Rippe a ride in "The Hostile Heart" episode of "Medical Center" airing December 30. Rippe makes his television dramatic debut playing a homeless youngster whose chances for adoption are threatened by a sudden heart defect. Lois Nettleton, Peter Haskell, Janet MacLachlan and Thalmus Rasulala guest star.

Elena Verdugo First A Dancer

Elena Verdugo, (Consuela in "Marcus Welby, M.D.") has led anything but a frivolous life. A native Californian, Elena garnered her high school education on Hollywood movie lots. She came from a musical family, was dancing as a tot and made her debut at 14 in a role in "Down Argentine Way," later hit stardom in early TV's "Meet Millie." She is wed to handsome doctor Charles Rosewall.

SHE LOVES A PARADE — Orange Bowl Queen Linda Metz will reign over the 41st annual King Orange Jamboree Parade (better known as the Orange Bowl Parade), to be colorcast live on NBC-TV Tuesday, December 31 (8-9 PM). The blonde, 23-year-old dental hygienist also will preside over the Orange Bowl football game, to be colorcast on NBC-TV Wednesday, January 1 (7:30 PM).

Lombardo A Tradition

For 44 years, famed orchestra leader Guy Lombardo has been ringing in the new year with "Auld Lang Syne" over the airwaves, and this year is no exception.

Lombardo, his Royal Canadians and special guest singer Helen O'Connell will be featured in a live 90-minute special broadcast, "New Year's Eve With Guy Lombardo," originating at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Tuesday, December 31, 11:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m., on CBS-TV and seen on Channels 3N-9-11.

Lombardo adopted "Auld Lang Syne" as his theme song well over four decades ago when he was playing in small towns in Canada. Fond of the lyrics written by poet Robert Burns, Lombardo decided to make the music his own.

Shortly thereafter he did his first New Year's Eve radio broadcast, and a tradition was born as his version of "Auld Lang Syne" went out to a listening public.

As Lombardo and the Royal Canadians gained in renown, they became the orchestra to ring out the old and ring in the new. His groups of fans grew so large that one year Lombardo played until midnight for one radio network and then, along with his entire aggregation, rushed down the block to another network and performed until 1:00 a.m.

Over the years, his group's popularity has never waned. When a new year rolls around, bringing with it the nostalgia that accompanies the holiday, young and old alike ready themselves for the Lombardo tradition.

GAME-PLAYERS

Esther Guides A Pseudo Daughter

In less than a year, the warm friendship between Esther Rolle and Bernadette Stanis of "Good Times," seen Tuesdays from 8:00 to 8:30 on Channel 9-11, has become even stronger than their mother-daughter relationship on the show.

Miss Stanis, whose role of Thelma is her first professional acting experience, says she thinks of Miss Rolle, a veteran of many Broadway successes, as the most important influence on her career.

"Esther's been just marvelous to me, right from the start," Miss Stanis exclaims. "She not only has been my friend, but my substitute mother, sister and drama coach, all in one."

Since last February, when she made her debut on the premiere episode of "Good Times," Miss Stanis has been growing up. The transition has been much more than just physical appearance, however, her talent and her attitude toward her profession have both matured.

"I can't explain it, but now I have a tremendous drive to be the best actress I can possibly be," says Miss Stennis. "It's difficult for me to imagine wanting to be anything else. It must be Esther's influence. She's been the one who has helped me whenever I had a problem."

Miss Stanis grew up in New York City wanting nothing more than to be a great dancer. Then she got pointed toward acting and, while still a drama student at the Julliard School of Music, auditioned for the role of Thelma in "Good Times" and was subsequently cast by executive producer Norman Lear.

Karen Came 'Gift-Wrapped'

Karen Valentine, whose new series, "Karen," premieres on the ABC Television Network, Friday, Jan. 24, appears in a very different role from her series character when she stars as a beautiful girl who is presented as a birthday present to a wealthy and jaded magazine publisher in "The Girl Who Came Gift Wrapped," the ABC Television Network's "Wednesday Movie of the Week," Jan. 1, 8:30 to 10:00 p.m., on Channel 3-5-12.

Richard Long also stars as Michael Green, the bachelor publisher of "The Man Who Has Everything," who seems to have everything on his 40th birthday — everything but Sandy (Miss Valentine), a small town beauty with wide eyes, great ambitions and empty pockets.

Sandy and Michael both have problems: she is out of money, friends and shelter; he is out of touch, enthusiasm and youth. When his business associates hire Sandy to appear at his home as a bikini birthday present, Michael finds himself in touch with the most unusual — and important — girl he has ever met.

Create New Film Of 'Frankenstein'

Producer Hunt Stromberg Jr. loves a challenge and that's what led him to undertake production of "Frankenstein: The True Story," an adaptation of Mary Shelley's 19th century Gothic novel. The four-hour motion picture, to be repeated on NBC-TV, Monday evening, Dec. 30, and Tuesday evening, Dec. 31 (9:00 to 11:00 p.m. both nights), proved to be the ultimate challenge for Stromberg.

"Everything I've done careerwise has been a flamboyant stunt and this was the topper. I was talking something everyone has a preconceived idea about — the 'Frankenstein' horror story — and bringing it life with added dimension," Stromberg said.

"This version of the story is an invention, capturing basically the spirit of the novel. All so-called 'horror films' have been what I call 'Confined pieces' in that they take place in the space of a few hours or days. This is a sweeping, romantic saga that takes years to unfold," he added.

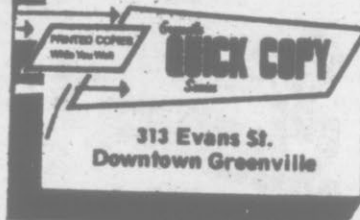

The purely physical aspects of the production also presented a challenge to Stromberg. A scene in which Dr. Frankenstein's creature, portrayed by Michael Sarrazin, attempts suicide by throwing himself off a cliff took the company to Beachy Head, one of the most ominous of the White Cliffs of Dover. "To insure the scene's believability," Stromberg explained, "the special effects unit made up several dummy models of The Creature which were dropped by a series of helicopters into the river below. Five strategically mounted cameras captured the plunge on film from various angles."

Sarrazin's make-up also presneted a unique problem. As The Creature, he changes from a beautiful, benevolent being into a hideously deteriorating monster.

Conrad Catches Rainbows

Arousing an actor at 7:00 a.m. on his day off is not calculated to improve his disposition, unless the actor is William Conrad, who doesn't mind early rising when he has visions of rainbow trout dancing in his head.

On such a recent occasion, inveterate angler Conrad, who plays private detective Frank Cannon on "Cannon," seen Wednesdays (9:00 to 10:00 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network, was looking forward to his first full-day's rest during a tough, two-week location stint in scenic Snake River Canyon, Idaho, for the episode to be broadcast on January 1, and seen on Channel 9-11.

Hitting the deck at sun-up was not quite what he had in mind. But, cooperative person that he is, Conrad acceded to the wishes of a persistent photographer and reluctantly crawled out of bed on a Sunday morning to go fishing, in an area famous for trout, for a photographic layout.

Conrad had come from Hollywood prepared for fishing, so he packed his rod and reel, some of the special dry flies he ties himself and his chesthigh waders, and was primed for some exceptional fishing in one of America's choice playgrounds.

"For insurance, first we'll stop by the Blue Lakes hatchery to catch a few for one of the pictures," explained the photographer to a nonplussed Conrad, who was imagining something infinitely more challenging to his angling skills than hooking fish in a hatchery pond crammed with them.

Thus, no one was surprised than Conrad after a frustrating halfhour's casting drew not one

Extravaganza Of Paraders

Bleary eyed revelers, energetic tots, exhausted baby sitters and other human beings of all sorts and conditions will find an extravaganza of festively decorated floats, numerous bands marching jauntily down the street and myriads of roses, roses and more roses when they turn on the TV (keep the volume down, children, Daddy has a headache!) on New Year's Day.

Actually, the parades start the night before, just in time to put you in the mood for your evening of merriment, when the 41st annual King Orange Jamboree Parade (famously known as the Orange Bowl Parade), is broadcast on the NBC Television Network from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m.

The theme of this New Year's Eve parade is "Fantasies and Fables," and the 1975 Orange Bowl Queen, 23-year-old Linda Metz, will reign over the parade accompanied by her court of four princesses.

The parade will also feature marching bands from 16 states and Canada, and specialty groups performing along the three-mile parade route on Biscayne Boulevard in Miami, Florida.

Co-hosting the coverage will be NBC Sports announcer Joe Garagiola and actress Jo Ann Pflug.

Both NBC-TV and CBS-TV will begin their coverage of the 86th annual Tournament of Roses Parade at 11:30 New Year's Day.

bite.
"There's just no explaining it," recalled Conrad. "They simply weren't biting."

Then they were off to the more promising pools of the Blue Lakes, but not before the photographer had procured a back-up trout from the hatchery, just in case the worst happened.

This time, angler Conrad performed like the champion he is, displaying the brand of skill that hooked a record 61-pound sailfish on a six-pound test line two years ago off the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

Hip-deep in the white water of the stream that races into the lakes, Conrad soon had a creelful of rainbow beauties. Of such trials are fine photographic layouts made.

Bunch," to be seen for the first time on television on "The CBS Thursday Night Movies" Thursday, January 2 (9-11:30 pm) on CBS-TV.

Hopeless Last Stand

Gunfighters, bandits and bounty hunters make their last brutal stand in the old West in "The Wild Bunch," starring William Holden and Ernest Borgnine with the late Robert Ryan, to be seen for the first time on television on "The CBS Thursday Night movies" Thursday, Jan. 2, 9:00 to 11:30 p.m. in color on the CBS Television Network. Also appearing in key roles are Warren Oates, Ben Johnson, Edmond O'Brien and Strother Martin.

By 1913, the outlaw gangs of the old West were rapidly disappearing, driven into near-extinction by the forces of law and order and the emergence of the professional bounty hunter. Under the leadership of the aging Pike Bishop, one remaining gang of outlaws rides into a Texas border town to rob a local railway. But they are ambushed by bounty hunters led by Deke Thornton and driven into Mexico, where they make a thieves' bargain with a Mexican bandit general to rob a munitions train. Still tracked by the bounty hunters, it proves to be the wild bunch's last hopeless stand.

'Odd Couple' Up Your Alley

Who would you say would be more likely to be an avid bowler — Tony Randall, patron of the arts, or Jack Klugman, sports buff?

If you named Randall, your answer would be surprising, but correct. Jack never bowls. Tony is a kegler who plays whenever he can and enjoys the challenge of the game.

"It's one of the few sports," he says, "in which a player is strictly on his own and plays against himself. His opponent can't use an offensive or defensive strategy to beat him or affect his game. Whether he wins or loses, he's his own man."

One of the funniest episodes of "The Odd Couple" centers around a bowling tournament in which Felix (Tony) is the key figure. In "To Bowl or Not to Bowl," to be repeated Thursday, Jan. 2, from 8:00 to 8:30, on ABC-TV, Channel 3-5-12, Felix resigns from Oscar's bowling team before the big match to determine the league championship. He quits because he thinks Oscar (Jack) is placing too much emphasis on winning rather than on sportsmanship and enjoyment of the game.

The Illegal Aliens Are Examined

They are led into the country by 'coyotes,' smugglers of human beings. Others walk at night across unguarded borders. Thousands come as tourists and never go home.

They are aliens from all over the world living illegally in the United States and ABC News explores the mushrooming problems they create on the documentary special, "ABC News Close-Up on Illegal Aliens: The Gate Crashers," Friday, January 3, 10:00 to 11:00 p.m., on the ABC Television Network.

"Congress has been warned by the U.S. Immigration Service that illegal aliens, whose numbers are growing every day, threaten to cause a national crisis," commented Av Westin, ABC News Vice President and Director of Television Documentaries, in announcing the program. "But the Senate Committee on Immigration has not formally met in seven years. Why?" said Westin.

"This Close-Up' report examines the factors that led up to the situation today, the impact on the country's depressed economy, and the effectiveness of the Immigration Service and Congress itself as well as allegations of corruption involving the enforcement of immigration laws."

Rebroadcasting Chitty-Chitty

"Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," the musical fantasy film based on a story by Ian Fleming and starring Dick Van Dyke and Sally Ann Howes, will be rebroadcast as a special holiday presentation on "The CBS Friday Night Movies" Friday, Jan. 3, in a three-hour showing, 8:00 to 11:00 p.m., in color on Channel 9-11.

In the tale, Caractacus Potts, an eccentric inventor, buys a dilapidated car called Chitty Chitty Bang Bang. Not just any ordinary vehicle, the car is also an airplane and a hydrofoil. With his two children, Jeremy and Jemima, and a close friend of the trio, Truly Scrumptious, Potts takes off on an adventurous fantasy trip to the fictitious land of Vulgaria, a land empty of children. Potts and company lead a rebellion to re-establish a little fun and happiness by freeing the imprisoned children of the realm.

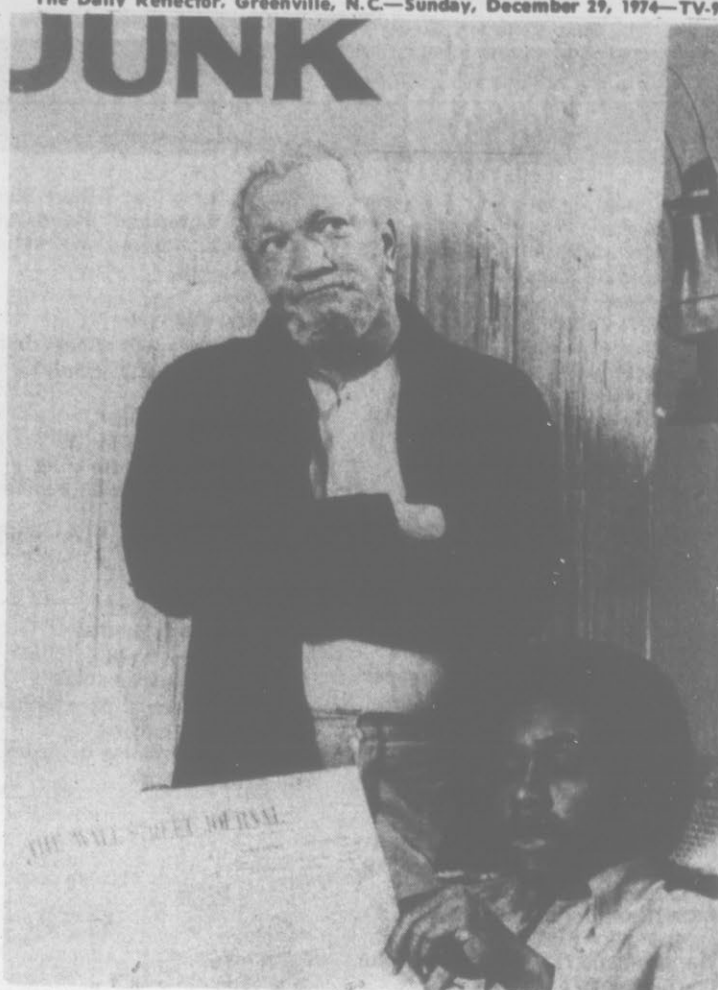

"Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," a 1968 Warfield Production released through United Artists, was produced by Albert R. Broccoli, directed by Ken Hughes and written by Roald Dahl and Hughes. Musical production numbers were by Marc Breau and dee Dee Wood, with original lyrics and music by Richard M. Sherman and Robert B. Sherman.

As part of its investigation, ABC News traced a smuggler's route from a travel agency in Hong Kong to restaurants and boarding houses serving as way stations in Canada, to the country roads that lead to the United States border. Using cameras equipped with a special lens that requires no artificial light, ABC News also filmed groups of Mexicans moving at night through an open field across the American border.

"It was so dark," said Lewis, "that one group walked right up to our camera before realizing that something was wrong. They turned around and went back toward Mexico."

"Poverty around the world pushes aliens here to find the opportunity to work," Lewis added.

Bear Story Offered On

CBS Festival

The story of a circus bear, pampered all his life as a star performer, who accidentally becomes lost in the woods and must learn to survive in a hostile environment, is told in "Gosha, the Circus Bear," a film from Russia which will be rebroadcast on "The CBS Children's Film Festival" Saturday, Jan. 4 from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. in color and seen on Channel 9-11.

When Gosha's circus train, en route to Leningrad, stops to take on water the venturesome bear leaves his cage, becomes frightened by the townspeople and runs into the forest for sanctuary.

Gosha has a rude awakening when he discovers the forest is not as safe as his cage, and its inhabitants not as friendly as the circus attendants. Meanwhile, his trainer Kolya and a search party must finally give up looking for Gosha as winter sets in.

The bear eventually comes to terms with his new environment and learns to fend for himself, but he never really forgets his beloved Kolya.

Burr Tillstrom's Kukla, Fran and Ollie with Fran Allison are hosts of "The CBS Children's Film Festival."

"These Are the Days" an animated children's series about the Day family, airs on ABC-TV, Saturdays, (12:00 noon-12:30 PM). Martha Day (center), widowed but energetic enough for two people, is making a go of her farm together with her father-in-law, Grandpa Jefferson Day (right of

Unusual Half-Hour: 'These Are The Days'

"These Are The Days" is an animated children's series about the Day family, and the rich quality of American rural life shortly after the turn of the century is recaptured in this highly unusual half hour.

Widowed Martha Day energetic enough for two people, is making a go of her farm together with her father-in-law, Grandpa Jefferson Day, who runs the combined post office and general store. Martha is faced with the challenge and the formidable task of raising her three children, 16-year-old Ben, 14-year-old Kathy and 12-year-old

Danny. The children are each experiencing difficult growing pains, but even in the worst of circumstances they never lose their powerful sense of concern for each other and for the family as a whole. In terms of both subject matter and graphic styles, this new ABC Television Network Saturday morning series represents an important innovation in animated children's programs.

Many well-known writers, story editors and actors contribute their talents to weekly episodes, each telling a complete and enriching story.

Voices for the cast include June Lockhart as Martha, Pamelyn Ferdin as Kathy, Jack E. Haley as Danny, Henry Jones as Grandpa Day and Andrews Parks as Ben.

William Hanna and Joseph Barbera are the Executive Producers of the weekly series, which is directed by Charles A. Nichols. Iwao Takamoto is the creative producer.

'GO' Visiting Coney Island

Singer-dancer-actress Rita Moreno shepherds a dozen youngsters on a tour of Coney Island, New York's world-renowned amusement area, on the "Go" show on NBC-TV Saturday, January 4, (12:30-1:00 p.m.), on Channel 6-7.

Among the highlights are a variety of rides and the eating of hot dogs, pop corn and cotton candy. Among the rides that Rita and the children from Hunter Elementary School enjoyed are The Cyclone, one of the world's most exciting roller coasters; the Wonder Wheel, the world's largest ferris wheel, the Water Flume, Bump Carts, Go Carts and the Flower Jet.

Highlights Are Now In Album

Some highlights of the comedy, conversation and music which have made NBC Television Network's "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" the most successful late-night series in the history of network television have been incorporated in a two-record album now in distribution across the nation.

The album, "Here's Johnny — Magic Moments From the Tonight Show," preserves some of the impromptu comedy of star Johnny Carson, announcer Ed McMahon and music director Doc Severinsen (who have been with Carson since the show began October 1, 1962). It also presents a sampling of the many guests who have appeared on the program during the past 12 years.

Rams' Hopes Lie With Jas. Harris

When the Los Angeles Rams take the field on Sunday, December 29th on CBS, it will be the first time a Rams team has played for the National Football Conference Championship since 1955. The Rams have won only two titles in their history — in 1945 and 1951. A victory Sunday would put Los Angeles in their first Super Bowl.

A key factor in the Rams success story is their blend of youth and age with ample portions of talent and enthusiasm. They employ an offensive attack that is as balanced as it is explosive. While on defense they present a solid unit of rough and tough football players, especially the front four and the linebacking crew.

The Rams were favored to play in this championship game by the majority of those voting in pre-season polls. The team, however, did not start getting the kinks out and really playing like champions until the Sunday before Thanksgiving when their new quarterback, James Harris, pulled out a thrilling 20-17 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, who led most of the way 17-6.

The real question surrounding the Rams is: can James Harris, their new quarterback, lead them to the title? Their chance to win will depend directly on young James Harris, and historically, new quarterbacks have never fared well over the years in big title games.

Harris' promotion has paid off for the Rams so far. In the victory that carried them to the division title against the Vikings, he completed his last 10 passes on the way to two fourth period touchdowns on drives of 43 and 65 yards in the last eleven minutes. It was one of the finest clutch performances in the history of the Rams.

On the receiving end of Harris' arials are three tremendous receivers in Harold Jackson, Lance Rentzel and Jack Snow.

Raider Power Again

The Raiders have maintained a dominance over pro football in terms of games won for the past eight years. In their last 113, the Raiders have won 85, tied 7, and lost 21. Oakland's consecutive seasons in 1967-68-69 are a landmark victory total (37-4-1) for a three-year period in pro football history. Unbeaten streaks of 14, 15 and 9 games were also notable accomplishments during the last five seasons.

As impressive as the Oakland winning tradition is, equally frustrating has been their playoff history. A significant factor in their playoff history is the home field advantage. In the Oakland-Alameda County Stadium, the Raiders are 6-1 for post-season play. On the road, however, the team is 0-4.

The only playoff loss at home came in the AFL title game against Kansas City in the 1969 season. In other Coliseum post-season contests, the Raiders defeated Houston in 1967 and 1969, Kansas City in 1968, Miami in 1970 and Pittsburgh in 1973. The road record indicates losses to the New York Jets in 1968, Baltimore in 1970, Pittsburgh in 1972 and Miami in 1973. It should be noted that four of their conquerors went on to win the Super Bowl.

This year's title game advantage belongs to Oakland. They will be able to entertain Miami in the first round at home and return some of last year's southern hospitality to the Miamians. Since the AFC championship game will be played in Oakland, the Raiders appear to have a definite edge. Add to that George Blanda, and Oakland has a double winning edge.

George Blanda is the 'miracle man' who occupies a soft spot in the hearts of millions of TV sports fans. The 47-year-old marvel is an incredible athlete who has played pro football for a quarter-century.

"I want to leave my mark in life as a complete football player," says Blanda as he reflects back over his career. "Not as a kicker, period. I hate to be classified as a kicker... it will happen, though."

"That span in 1970 (the 'miracle year' for Blanda) was not the highlight of my career. Not by a long shot."

"I'm realistic. During that five or six-week period, I kicked three or four field goals, threw three touchdown passes, and I'm a hero. It was great and it gave me national notoriety. But it certainly wasn't my best year in football."

"One year (1961), I threw 36 touchdown passes, kicked 120 points, kicked off into the end zone 60 percent of the time, made AFL Player of the Year, and nobody knew I was around."

QUEST FOR TREASURE—Kiel Martin (right), as a young stockbroker who inherits his grandfather's ship, hires a captain (Ralph Bellamy) to continue the old man's quest for sunken treasure in "The Log of the Black Pearl" a made-for-television drama to be colorcast on "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies" January 4 (9-11 PM) on NBC-TV.

Search For Treasure In Saturday's Movie

A message from his dying father is the only clue Christopher Sand (Kiel Martin) has to find a sunken treasure on "The Log of the Black Pearl," a made-for-television drama on "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies" January 4, 9:00 to 11:00 p.m., on the NBC Television Network.

Called suddenly to Mexico from his job in Los Angeles, stockbroker Sand arrives in time to find his grandfather dying aboard his ship, the Black Pearl. The grandfather gives Sand a cryptic message, telling him to look for the 'picture man,' before dying.

Sand, determined to continue his grandfather's quest for the treasure, hires a crew: Captain Fitzsimmons (Ralph Bellamy) and his first mate Jocko Roper (Jack Kruschen).

When they set sail for Puerto Vallarta, they take aboard three paying passengers: Michael Devlin (Glenn Corbett), Eric Kort (John Alderson) and Lila Bristol (Anne Archer). On the voyage, Sand, Fitzsimmons and Roper discover the ship has been sabotaged and that someone is trying to prevent them from finding the treasure.

Best-Seller In 12-Hour Show

Irwin Shaw's 1970 best-seller, "Rich Man, Poor Man," will be produced by Universal Television as a multi-part filmed drama, approximately twelve hours in length, for ABC Television Network telecast during the 1975-76 season.

Harve Bennett will produce the project with Dean Riesner authoring the script based on Shaw's novel.

Apparently David Carradine of ABC's "Kung Fu" likes to keep everyone guessing about his private life. After announcing he would wed young actress Season Hubley, having left long-time companion Barbara Seagull and their son Free, David is back with Barbara! The reconciliation occurred on the set of the series with David and Barbara embracing and then disappearing into David's dressing room with Free.

Michael Landon, star of "Little House on the Prairie," and his wife Lynn are expecting a baby in March. It'll be their fourth child, though they have three others from previous marriages.

The Council on Alcoholism has

Sonny Bono, ABC-TV and the producers of "The Sonny Comedy Revue," now cancelled by the network, has been sued by Chip Clark productions for $2.4 million, claiming Bono pirated Chip Clark's skit format, "The Newstand." Suit says the idea was rejected last June but has been a part of the show since its premier.

Kathy Hawn, wife of Dean Martin, escaped serious injury recently when her luxury car went out of control and slammed into a tree. Kathy sustained minor cuts and bruises.

"The Sound of Music" is headed for TV for the first time. 20th Century Fox is meeting with all three networks in hopes of making a sale to air the top money-making film in 1975.

AUDIENCE REACTION

Freddie Prinze, star of NBC-TV's "Chico and the Man," is taking advantage of the studio audiences at the taping of the series to break in new material for his standup comedy routines. "It's working out pretty good," he says, "and I've managed to sharpen up some material and eliminate some just from the reactions I get there."

Adapted To Television

The Royal Shakespeare Company production of "Antony and Cleopatra," with Richard Johnson and Janet Suzman starring in the title roles, will be broadcast on the ABC Television Network, Saturday, Jan. 4, from 8:00 to 11 p.m.

This new production of the William Shakespeare work has been conceived entirely for television by the Company's artistic director, Trevor Nunn, and producer Cecil Clarke. Adapted from the much-acclaimed production staged at Stratford-Upon-Avon, England, the Company's home base, it is a blend of authentic and elaborate costumes and props set against a backdrop of colored lighting and fabrics. There are no sets or architecture of any kind, yet an incredible sense of splendor is created. Everything is suggested and designed to stimulate the imagination of the audience.

Stage and screen actor Richard Johnson has appeared in numerous Shakespearean plays and was seen as Claudius in the television version of "Hamlet," which starred Richard Chamberlain. His recent film credits include "Some Girls Do," "Julius Caesar," and "Emma Hamilton."

Ms. Suzman received an Academy Award nomination for her role as Alexandra in the feature film epic, "Nicholas and Alexandra." Her stage credits include the title roles of "Hedda Gabler" and "Saint Joan," portrayals as Lady Macbeth, Ophelia in "Hamlet," Portia in "The Merchant of Venice" and Beatrice in "Much Ado About Nothing."

Wildlife Report For Russia

Mutual of Omaha which successfully syndicated the popular television series "Wild Kingdom" four years ago will bring to the American public for the first time in February a special wildlife report from Russia.

Negotiations for filming in the Soviet Union began nearly seven years ago when the matter was discussed with the Novosti Press Agency in Moscow.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR BARBARA WALTERS

I've heard that Lady Bird Johnson was scandalized when you asked her on the "Today" show about the rumor that her late husband was "a womanizer." True?—John Downey, Teaneck, N.J.

● Lady Bird gave the answer: "My husband loved people, and 50 percent of the people in the world are women." That interview was conducted on film. Consequently, ten days of processing elapsed before it got on the air. Liz Carpenter, Mrs. Johnson's personal secretary, was in the room during the interview. Had any of my questions been considered objectionable, there was ample opportunity for the objections to be raised. And there was plenty of time to delete the objectionable material from the interview.

FOR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Does your husband mind being the husband of one of the best-known women in the world?—Helen A. Curran, South Weymouth, Mass.

● No. He is a physician and a professor of medicine, and the name Dr. Milton Brothers commands respect in his field. I don't travel much, and I work at being married. Recently, I flew from Vancouver to New York just for the weekend, even though I had to fly back to Seattle to speak on Monday. I've been married 25 years and want to make it 26.

FOR DON RICKLES

Were you ever offered the role of Archie Bunker?—John Davidson, Austin, Texas

● I had conversations with Norman Lear, co-producer of "All in the Family," but we agreed that people would take me too seriously. Carroll O'Connor is the complete opposite of Archie Bunker in real life, yet he still gets hate mail. Imagine what my mail would have been!

FOR BART STARR, former football star

The old National Football League teams resented the upstart American Football League. Do you feel more kindly toward the World Football League?—David Longstreet, Durham, N.C.

● I sure don't. The AFL didn't try to sign NFL players. In fact, the first raid was made by the NFL when the New York Giants signed Pete Gogolak of the Buffalo Bills. The WFL began with raids and caused unbelievable chaos. The public cannot imagine the damage that has been done.

FOR BRENDA VACCARO

Has anything embarrassing happened to you while making a movie?—K. B., San Rafael, Calif.

● Yes. The nude scene I did with Jon Voight in "Midnight Cowboy." It wasn't until the scene was being shot that I thought, "What will my mother say?" I'm a nice Italian girl from a nice Italian family. I was embarrassed at the idea of her being embarrassed. When Mom saw the film, I asked her about that scene. She shrugged and said: "You were good."

FOR CICELY TYSON

What did you do before you became an actress?—Mrs. Jo Ann Brennan, Buffalo, N.Y.

● I grew up in New York's toughest ghetto and worked as a typist after graduating from high school. I left the job out of sheer boredom and became a model. While modeling I studied dramatics and gradually entered the world of the theater.

FOR FANNIE FLAGG

Why do you always wear glitter shirts on game shows?—J. A. Blaylock, Durham, N.C.

● I do so many of those shows in which only my "top" shows. I met Jim Lapidus, who said he'd design glitter tops for me, and he did. I have lots of them. They're my hang-up. I wonder what I'll do if I'm called on to stand up—without warning!

FOR GUY LOMBARDO

Of all your New Year's Eve broadcasts, which one sticks out most in your mind?—S. Rich, Utica, N.Y.

● There are two. In 1932, CBS, NBC and the Mutual networks all carried my show. There wasn't a home in the country that wasn't listening to me (assuming their radios were on!). The other was in 1946, after World War II. It was the first peaceful New Year's Eve in years and the happiness was so thick you could almost touch it.

FOR DON STEWART, star of "The Guiding Light"

Why have you never married?—G. Bruce, Mansfield, Ohio

● I'm scared of the consequences. A good marriage would be great, but a bad one would destroy me. I can't bear the thought of my wife being unfaithful to me—or me to her. I'm the kind who buys a pair of shoes, then looks at others to make sure I made the right choice. My marriage shouldn't begin with my rushing out to look at other girls to be sure I picked the right one.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

What's Alice Cooper like in private life? Is he as way-out off stage as he is on it?—M. N., Little Rock, Ark.

● Ignore his appearance, forget he keeps three snakes in his bedroom (he says they make marvelous pets once you forget how cold and slimy they are), and you'll find he's down-to-earth, articulate, pleasant and polite. For six years his time has been spent with ex-model Cindy Lang. She claims they will marry someday because they're very much in love. He's a Kennedy admirer, but not interested in politics. He was with Ethel Kennedy and Andy Williams at New York's Rainbow Room, and they discussed golf, which Cooper calls an "elegant game." He vows he'll never change his image, because he owes everything to that image. He enjoys all music, especially anything by Burt Bacharach.

Action Hero Clint Eastwood:

"I'm Just Doing What I Dreamed of as a Kid"

"Clint was just picking himself up from the snow. 'I've got more brawn than brains,' he commented dryly as he got back on his feet and was off again—almost straight down."

looking down 40 feet or 4,000 feet.

FW: What's been the most exciting part of filming on the Eiger?

CLINT: The helicopters. That's how we get to cliffs where we can't get equipment up any other way. We're winched down onto a ledge, and up again when we leave. One climber was dangling from the rope all the way from the top of the mountain down to the Kleine Scheidegg where we are staying. But usually they winch us up so fast, it's all over in 30 seconds. In fact, the helicopter pilot usually pulls up and away while you're still being pulled up, which means you're dangling over nowhere.

FW: Do you believe in taking chances?

CLINT: Not if I can help it! But I guess I'm what you'd call a fatalist. [I couldn't help recalling a trip to Sun Valley, Idaho, earlier in the year when I joined Clint for a couple of days of skiing. On the ski lift up to Dollar Mountain he had told me, "I've skied for four years but have been on skis only 15 times since I started." When we reached the top of the lift, I felt confident that I could keep up with him since I've skied since I was five. Clint started downhill like a cannonball. When I finally caught up with him, after he'd momentarily disappeared behind a slope, he was just picking himself up from the snow. "I've got more brawn than brains," he commented dryly as he got back on his feet and was off again—almost straight down.]

FW: How does Maggie [Clint's wife of over 20 years] feel about the risks you take?

CLINT: Oh, she enjoyed the book. She goes along with it. [But when I talked to Maggie later, she said, "There's nothing I can do about it."]

FW: What intrigues you so much about film making?

CLINT: It lets me do all the things I wanted to do as a kid, and get paid for it—drive fast cars and motorcycles; ride horses; and now, climb a mountain.

FW: How long do you expect to keep up this pace?

CLINT: I'd like to cut down. I'm averaging a film and a half a year. I'd like to do just one a year.

FW: You're past 40 now. How do you stay in such good physical condition?

CLINT: I simply watch what I eat, not the amount. I like to eat. It's one of life's great pleasures. But I only eat what's good for me.

FW: In the book, "The Eiger Sanction," a great part of the story takes place in an Eastern Seaboard town. I understand that you will shoot that part in Carmel, Calif. Why?

CLINT: Because I have a home in Carmel, and this way I can stay home with my family and bounce my kids on my knees. [Clint has a boy, Kyle, who is six, and a daughter, Allison, who is two.] We've been building this house for over a year, and we've got another year to go. But I've always dreamed of owning a house on the ocean. It's our dream house.

FW: You and Maggie were married 15 years before you had your first child. Did Kyle's arrival change your life-style?

CLINT: Lord, yes. Although we have help, Maggie stays with him and Allison most of the time. That means we don't have quite as much time together, but I think we'd have been missing a lot not to have had children. At the same time, I'm glad we waited and had that time together before we started being a family.

FW: Has there ever been any scene that you found particularly difficult or embarrassing to direct?

CLINT: Yes, there was a nude scene with Jessica Walter in "Play Misty for Me." But we discussed it in great detail before, and when we did the actual shooting, it was just the camera crew, Jessica and myself. So we just did it.

[At this point we were interrupted by the sound man, who had been going over some scenes and felt there was a slight problem. He asked Clint to listen to the playback. Clint wouldn't. "I never like to listen to myself," he told me. "It throws me off."]

[That evening when we looked at the next batch of rushes, I noticed the same attitude. As the scenes were played over and over again, Clint grew impatient. "How much longer do we have to look at this junk?" he burst out. Amazing, I thought, that the biggest box-office star of all would feel ill at ease seeing himself on the screen.]

HOW ALMOST ANYONE CAN PROFIT FROM INFLATION, RECESSIONS, AND DEPRESSIONS

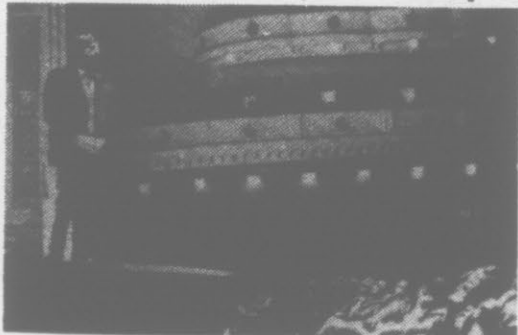

Welcome aboard! The fact that you are going to read this article means there is a good chance you will proceed with its advice. Proceeding with the advice in the article means that you may be among the few who will not only avoid financial disaster, but, become very wealthy during the coming depression. You don't have to be rich or know anything about finance to take advantage of this advice.

The advice in this article comes from Harry Browne. Harry Browne is considered one of the top financial advisors in the country today. If you would have taken his advice in 1970, you would already be substantially wealthier. Your investments would have brought you a 300% to 400% return. But take heart. There is still much more to be made. In fact, the best is yet to come.

Harry Browne not only predicted the 1972 devaluation of the dollar two years before it happened, he predicted exactly how it would occur, what signs there would be just before it occurred and exactly what the government would do and say. Harry Browne is now predicting a depression more severe than the Great Depression of the 1930's.

You're saying to yourself, "How can this be? The country is depression proof!"

Well, lets examine the facts. Experts are saying: Depressions have been legislated out of existence. Economic cycles are a way of life in any nation that uses inflation to finance the growth of government. A look at the nation indicates a prosperous America. Inflation is a problem but, there are more people working than ever before. Steel production is at 90% capacity. Other industries are setting new production records. There are more products and services available. The president has said there absolutely will not be a depression. The Federal Reserve System has a host of powers with which to control the economy. In addition, there is an intricate structure of governmental programs to undergrid the economy: public works, highway construction, farm programs, anti-monopoly controls, taxing policies, stock market regulation and a multitude of other federal powers. Gold is leaving the treasury, but the nation's currency is backed by our great productive strength, not by a yellow metal. No wonder the experts are saying that our government is now capable of creating permanent prosperity.

Now don't you feel secure? If you do, you had better go back and re-read the foregoing passage. Because, EVERY WORD IN THE ABOVE PARAGRAPH CAME FROM NEWS ITEMS - NOT OF THE PRESENT DAY AMERICA - BUT OF AMERICA JUST BEFORE THE 1929 CRASH!

What does it mean to be one of the many losers during a depression? It is a horrifying experience! People who have lived thru the 1930's Great Depression are not petrified of depressions without good reason. Here is what it will be like during the depression for the average family.

You will quickly lose your house, car, savings and major possessions. Don't believe that hogwash that banks will not foreclose mortgages during hard times. They will! "Depression Camps" consisting of thrown-together shacks will spring up in vacant slum areas. You will have no money. You won't have water, sewer, gas or electricity. Heating will be done by pot belly stoves that barely provide enough heat. For food you will eat things like dandelions to try to make-up for the sparse rations you get on bread lines. You and your children will go to bed cold and hungry. There will be no shoes for the kids and few clothes. Sounds like a made-up horror story? Ask someone who lived thru it. It is not uncommon to hear of tales like having one shirt for four kids or going without food for several days in a row. Harsh as it may seem, these are cold, hard facts.

What causes depressions? The answer is one word. GOVERNMENT.

Depressions are not caused by unions, stock market speculation, by unregulated free enterprise, by gold speculations, by greedy profiteers, by shortages of demand, by capitalism nor by lack of confidence. Depressions are caused by the government's inflationary printing of money and supplementation of industries which produce products people do not want, but, rather what the government thinks they should have.

Governments without exception are inefficient and incompetent. Federal programs such as social security, etc, are always disasters. There has never been and never will be a problem that will be solved by a government. People think they need government to give them something they can't get on their own. The truth is, however, the government always takes much and gives you back little. The more government there is, the less prosperity.

Because governments are inefficient they cannot operate and expand on existing tax money. They, therefore, turn on the printing presses and make unsecured money—money not backed by gold or silver. They rendered no goods or services to obtain their money. This produces a situation where there is now more money and less goods. Prices are determined by dividing the existing amount of goods into the existing amount of money. Prices are bid up out of sight with the extra unsecured money in circulation. Prices are also bid upward by wages paid by government supported industries who provide no marketable goods or services. Therefore, we have, again, money being dumped on the market, but, no goods or services.

The General Market consists of all market transactions that take place in the country. In other words all buying and selling. If left alone, it is a beautiful self-governing, self regulating system. No government can really control it. When the government tries, the General Market always catches up and wins the struggle with government. The liquidation period of the unsecured money and unwanted industries is called a recession. Depressions are severe recessions prolonged by the fact that the government intervenes and tries in vain to prevent the inevitable liquidation.

THE 1930's GREAT DEPRESSION

...BUT FEW PEOPLE KNOW MANY GAINED

However, here's the good news. You are not helpless against this situation. There is something you can do to avoid financial ruin and pick up a tidy profit at the same time.

What is it? You can join the ranks of the many people who use the financial programs of Harry Browne. These people have not only become wealthy, but, their wealth is protected from inflation, recessions and depressions. In everyday, simple language Harry Browne will reveal to you:

- * How to tell when the depression is coming.
- * How to get your wealth out of endangered areas and into protected, inflation proof investments.
- * If you now have your money in savings accounts, stocks, bonds, dollars or other related investments, you're in big trouble.
- * How to raise cash to invest if you don't have it now.
- * What, where and how to invest to get 300% to 400% and probably much more return on your money with complete safety. Step by step instructions tell you where to go, what to do, who to talk to and what to say.
- * The timing of investments. What to invest in depending on the economic state.
- * How to find and set up a retreat for the coming depression, because, the next depression will be a violent one with riots and chaos.

You can get the above information in several ways. You can attend one of Harry Browne's 4 hour private consultations which would cost you $2500.00. Or, you can get his latest book, YOU CAN PROFIT FROM A MONETARY CRISIS, which contains exactly the same information given in his seminars, thru a special reader's offer below. The book takes only several hours to read and the investment advice is simple and easy to start. It took me all of ten minutes to start my program and I did it all by phone without leaving my house.

You're not being unpatriotic by undertaking such programs. The country consists of people and the land, not politicians. The government did not care about you when they raped your wallet by going along with the "energy shortage", "meat shortage" and all the other contrived "shortages"

But, every minute you wait puts you closer to financial disaster. Be glad tomorrow that you ordered this book today.

"Pretty much the same way that a human body under stress may develop illness in its weakest (or most pressured) parts, a human family under stress will reveal its illness through that member who has the most unusual stresses or weaknesses."

The Family as "Patient": When One Person Is "Ill," Is It Really Only One?

By Susan Lester

Mrs. Maxwell has been to see the school counselor three times before. "I don't know what I'm going to do. I know Johnny is doing poorly again, but it makes no sense. And he won't talk to me about it. When he's at home, he just sulks. And he hardly eats anything. I'm thinking about taking him to see a psychiatrist. I'm going to discuss it with my husband when he returns from his business trip."

Johnny's counselor suggests the name of a family therapist—someone trained to treat the family as a group. "Why a family therapist?" asks Mrs. Maxwell. "There's nothing wrong with my family. Look at Cathy, a straight A student. What we need is a therapist who can do something for Johnny; he's the one in trouble."

The Maxwells represent a typical family about to begin therapy because one member of the family—their son Johnny—has become the focal point of trouble. In a nutshell, family therapy is the new medical approach that supposes this trouble isn't necessarily all Johnny's. Family therapists suspect that Johnny just happens to be the "spot" where family troubles erupted.

Pretty much the same way that a human body under stress may develop illness in its weakest (or most pressured) parts, a human family under stress will reveal its illness through that member who has the most unusual stresses or weaknesses. That same family member may also be receiving the most stresses through his relationships with other members of the family. In other words, nobody's psychic troubles exist in a vacuum.

Is Johnny in trouble? Undoubtedly. And so is Johnny's family—or so the counselor suspects. "The things that happen in a family don't suddenly boil up out of an individual person in the family," explains Dr. Robert Simon, director of clinical services for the Nathan W. Ackerman Family Institute in New York. "If a child suddenly starts misbehaving, if a husband suddenly becomes cold to his wife, if infidelity suddenly threatens a marriage, these developments—even certain forms of mental illness—usually have to do with the total psychological environment."

The "problem" of an adolescent boy like Johnny Maxwell may very well be the symptom of a larger family malaise. So when the Maxwells visit the family therapist, he explains that he would like to treat them as a group. The Maxwells agree to try family therapy, although each family member probably has his own reservations about the idea. Mrs. Maxwell is probably afraid that the therapist will blame her and think her a bad mother; Mr. Maxwell is worried about taking time away from his business; Cathy would rather stay home and do her homework; Johnny has less to say on the subject than anybody.

Now the therapist asks if he may visit them at their home the next week. There's a reason why he wants to see them at home, since he needs to know how the group interacts and behaves in its natural setting. He watches for all the various patterns of behavior—spoken and unspoken. He notices who sits down next to whom, who speaks, who interrupts, whether anyone speaks for someone else. At evening's end, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell are still not too comfortable with the idea of family therapy. But they are pleased when the therapist arranges the next session with just the two of them. This will give them a chance to tell the doctor about their doubts, particularly the fact that Johnny hasn't even been discussed yet.

But what actually happens in the second session? The Maxwells come intent on discussing the "problem"—Johnny—but they end up talking about themselves. The therapist tells them all the ways in which he feels they have tried to be good parents. He doesn't blame them for the boy's rebellion. Now they feel relieved of a great burden of guilt, and this enables them to talk to the therapist about their own troubles.

The Maxwells begin to feel they have more to gain, personally, from the outcome. They feel the therapist cares not only about Johnny but also about them and their relationship, which they have now admitted is not all it might be. Cathy, who for quite a while has said she would rather be at home studying, begins to complain that nobody notices her, just because she does well in school. "Maybe if I were failing, like Johnny, someone would notice me."

What about Johnny himself? How have these changes affected him? Well, for one thing, the pressure is off him as the only "problem." As a result, he is much more willing, even eager, to participate in the sessions. But Johnny is still having trouble talking about his feelings. So the therapist uses a number of techniques to unblock the psychic logjams he runs into. Here are two of the more interesting ones:

- "Sculpting": To an outsider, this might look like a game of charades. One family member is the "sculptor," and he physically places himself and the other members of his family in positions that best convey their emotional relationships to each other. Johnny places the Maxwells like this: Mr. Maxwell stands with one foot out the door, facing outside; Mrs. Maxwell holds her husband's coat with one hand and, with the other, leans on Johnny's shoulder; Johnny slumps over, trying to reach his sister with his outstretched hand; Cathy stares off, facing no one. Now they all talk about what Johnny is "saying" with his "sculpture."

The Family as "Patient"

• Video taping: The Maxwells are video taped at home by the therapist. Then, as a group, they watch the tape—and they get a chance to see "from the outside" what they are saying to each other, not only with their words, but with their facial expressions and tones of voice. The therapist helps them see the patterns that make up their daily interactions with each other: Every time Cathy begins to talk about how well she did on a test at school, Johnny begins to sulk and look down. His mother sees this and cuts off Cathy in mid-sentence. And, of course, they discover many other revealing things about themselves.

During eight months of family therapy, the Maxwells explore the dynamics of their lives and participate in activities geared to make them more sensitive to each other's feelings. They talk and try to listen more carefully to each other. They even try to behave differently, to change destructive patterns into constructive ones. What began as a way to help Johnny improve his grades blossoms into something much, much bigger and more important.

Family therapy is a growing technique, and there's a growing demand for its practitioners—psychiatrists, psychotherapists, social workers. It may even become a widely used preventive tool—even now some programs are being offered to "well" families, families who simply feel they would like to improve their relationships.

The vast majority of American families probably will never be involved in family therapy. But they will all undergo stress, have conflicts, suffer pain. The message of family therapy for all of us is probably this:

We can't afford to see ourselves as isolated individuals whose actions affect no one but ourselves. We must begin to see ourselves as real members, real working parts, of our own families. Perhaps if we do, we may someday be able to feel the same way about the whole family of man. In fact, some therapists feel such an eventuality may well be the key to the survival of the human race.

Bill Anderson:

My Ten Favorite Records

Singer, composer and Grand Ole Opry star Bill Anderson—who has his own weekly TV series, "The Bill Anderson Show"—is a former newspaperman who broke into show business as a disc jockey in Georgia. He later switched to singing and composing and landed a contract with MCA Records. Bill has written hundreds of songs and has received more than 40 BMI Awards (more than any other country-music composer). A "Billboard" magazine poll named him one of the three all-time greatest country-music songwriters.

What is this "NATURAL GLOW" that everybody is talking about? "NATURAL GLOW" is the name we've given a specially formulated tablet containing Vitamin B-6, Lecithin and Kelp in a base of Cider Vinegar. The combination of ingredients talked about for weight control in low calorie diets.

Lecithin: A substance derived from vegetable oils that is actually a food, not a drug. In a recent experiment, a doctor found that Lecithin produced a decrease of as much as 30% in cholesterol and at the same time, tended to shift weight from one area of the body to another for a more streamlined silhouette.

Vitamin B-6: The fat-metabolizing vitamin that scientists have found works with body chemicals to balance and regulate body fluids to prevent water retention and bloat.

Kelp: Nature's great food mineral harvested from the ocean and our most reliable source for essential Iodine — so important in burning up fuel to melt fat accumulations away.

Cider Vinegar: Legendary solution used down thru the ages in weight control diets, is the basis for this outstanding new formula.

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

Are You in Danger of Becoming a Neurotic?

True or False: If you find that some neurotic fear or phobia is cramping your life-style or affecting your happiness, all you need to banish it is the will to do so. (See number 4)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Worry about neurotic tendencies is often a waste of time.
2. If a woman marries a neurotic man, she has a 50-50 chance of becoming neurotic too.
3. It's easy to tell to what extent you're neurotic.
4. If you find that some neurotic fear or phobia is cramping your life-style or affecting your happiness, all you need to banish it is the will to do so.
5. Many people have a neurotic fear of being a phony.

ANSWERS

1. True. As one authority observes in summing up his findings, such tendencies may be regarded as problems only when they interfere with: (1) effectiveness in living, (2) the achievement of realistic goals or satisfactions, or (3) reasonable emotional comfort. Though neurotics tend to scatter their energies because of emotional conflicts, their drive to succeed is often so strong that they achieve goals that might seem unattainable to others. It's significant to note that a great many distinguished men have had neurotic tendencies.
2. True—according to the findings of a British psychiatric study of neurotic men and their wives. The investigation showed that about one-half of the wives became neurotic. It was found that "the severity of the husband's personality disturbance and the stability of the wife's personality appeared to be the determinants of which wives became neurotic."
3. True. And there are few people who don't have at least mild tendencies in this direction. The findings of leading studies show that "Neuroticism is above all characterized by strong emotions that are easily aroused." And neurotic people are described as moody, touchy, anxious and restless—with a marked susceptibility to fears and frustrations. The degree to which you find these characteristics in yourself provides a rough measure of the neurotic tendencies you are subject to. Psychologist J.F.T. Bugental observes further that the extent to which we let unfounded fears pervert our perceptions of and responses to what is real is an indication of the extent of our neuroses.

4. False. First, some emotional detective work is indicated to discover the cause of the irrational fear. A leading psychoanalyst provides a classic illustration: Freud, discussing the psychotherapy of neuroses, often used a picture postcard to make his point. It showed a hillbilly in a hotel room trying to blow out the electric light as he would a candle. Freud explained, "If you attack the symptom directly, you act in the same way as this man. You must look for the switch."

5. True—according to a University of Kentucky study which shows that many people whose neuroses cause them to act in an antisocial manner "often refuse to change their behavior because they are afraid that responding less hostilely to their environment would mean they are being a phony." It is necessary to convince them that they can modify their behavior and still be their "real selves," that behaving rationally is not being phony.

Sports Mini-Profile

GOLF CHAMP
SANDRA HAYNIE:
Her Old Friends Call Her
"Miss Icewater"

Sandra Haynie, 31, the U.S. Women's Open champion, has reached the top of the sports ladder despite injuries that would have finished the careers of most athletes. In her first year as a golf pro, she struck a hidden iron pipe on a golf course and was nearly paralyzed. A few years later, she injured her knee and cartilage in a bad fall and had to have an operation. She then had to undergo surgery again because of cartilage trouble in her right forearm. And last year, during an exhibition tour, she was hit by a car and narrowly escaped being killed. . . . Despite all this, Miss Haynie has maintained an attitude of calm and apparent unconcern that has baffled many of her fellow golfers. Old friends call her "Miss Icewater." "I try not to let things bother me," she says. "And I just don't show emotion—at least not on the outside." . . . Sandra maintained her poker face even during the last two rounds of the U.S. Open when she dramatically sank two back-to-back birdies to clinch the title. She also won the Ladies PGA championship—becoming the second player in history to win the two top tournaments in the same year. She is now second only to Kathy Whitworth as a career prize-money winner. . . . It was Miss Haynie's father, the owner of a country club in Lubbock, Texas, who first put golf clubs in her hands. She won the Texas Women's Amateur championship when she was only 14. "I've never been nervous about anything," she says. "Concentration is the key to success in golf, and when I'm concentrating on my game I put everything else out of my mind."—By Barry Abramson

The Doctor Lets You In

Why Can't They Cure
The Common Cold?

About half the people in the U.S. have common colds each year. Since many people have more than one cold, it is safe to say that Americans catch about 250 million colds per year. Colds are largely due to a type of nasal virus called a rhinovirus (from rhinon, Greek for nostril). There are more than 100 varieties of these rhinoviruses. Why is there no cure for the cold? For one thing, antibiotics—which are effective against bacteria—are of no use in fighting viruses. Vaccines are no good because vaccines by nature are "specific"—and for which of the 100 varieties of rhinovirus is one to develop a vaccine? As if these aren't problems enough, rhinoviruses have the ability to change their characteristics and become slightly different—they easily become "mutants" of the original virus. Today's approach to colds is not to kill the bugs but to raise resistance. A chemical called (are you ready?) dioctadecylpropanediamine (DP) has been developed to raise resistance by stimulating the production of interferon in the body. Interferon is natural to the body and makes cells more resistant to viruses. DP is still experimental, but if and when it is available, it will be used as a nasal spray. P.S. There's also good news in flu vaccines. A new vaccine has been developed by Smith Kline, an American pharmaceutical manufacturer. Instead of being injected, it is dropped into the nostrils, where the germs enter. Also, it is made with live flu viruses, which are more powerful in conferring immunity. Most other vaccines are made of dead organisms. This new vaccine is now available in Belgium—but not yet in the U.S.

YOUR NERVES CAN CURE THEMSELVES

this doctor's ingenious new way...

If You Suffer From A Single One Of These Torturous Symptoms Of Nerves, Tension Or Chronic Anxiety, THEN THE FACTS BELOW MAY BE THE MOST IMPORTANT YOU HAVE EVER READ IN YOUR LIFE!

Because they reveal, for the first time, how your nerves have tricked you into the following mental symptoms:

constant nervousness and over-irritation... indecision... depression... loss of confidence in yourself and others... feelings of unreality... overwhelming obsession with one or two horrible thoughts...

a hopeless feeling that your entire personality is coming apart... that your identity is dissolving... or that you may be helplessly drifting into a nervous breakdown!

And—equally as bad—how your nerves have tricked you into the following physical symptoms:

chronic fatigue, that starts in the morning, and grows worse as the day goes on...

sweating hands—or "pins and needles" in either your hands or your legs...

"churning" stomach... nausea... choking feeling in the throat...

hand shaking... panic spasms... knots in your chest... dizziness... difficulty in swallowing... vomiting... and all the other physical tortures that turn your life into one continuous hell!

And Every One Of These Nervous Symptoms Can Be Controlled... And Then Diminished... And Then Eliminated—OFTEN BY AS LITTLE AS THIS ONE SINGLE INSIGHT INTO THEIR HIDDEN CAUSE!

And that insight is this:

If you suffer from any of the nervous symptoms listed above, then you must understand at once that your nerves are not ill... they have not deteriorated... they have not lost their true physical health in any way! What has happened to them instead is that they have simply become OVER-SENSITIZED... "rubbed raw" by too much outside irritation... and are now ready to discharge the emotional and physical symptoms of panic at even the slightest thing that goes wrong!

Thus, the depression... indecision... loss of confidence and all the other emotional symptoms you feel are all caused by OVER-SENSITIZED nerves! And the churning stomach... palpitating heart... never-ending headaches and all the other physical nervous-system symptoms you feel are—again—all caused by OVER-SENSITIZED nerves!

And therefore the way to treat ALL these symptoms is NOT with drugs... NOT with shock... NOT with medical formulations or hospitalizations at all! The way to treat these nerves is to change the poisonous-thoughts that are rubbing them raw!

And this is done (as proven by this internationally-famed physician on thousands of patients) in four simple steps! The first of which stops nervous symptoms (both physical and emotional) from multiplying from that moment on! The second of which serves to tranquilize and quiet down those over-sensitized nerves far more powerfully (and permanently) than any drug a pharmacist could ever give you!

The third of which lets you stop fighting those symptoms (which only intensifies them in an ever-increasing spiral of sheer torment), and—

VITAL NOTE!

To gain the wonder-working benefits of this book in every area of your life starting within the first five minutes after you pick it up—there is absolutely no need to STUDY this revolutionary new book or even read it from cover to cover, or expend any more "literary" effort on your part other than to browse through it at your leisure for one or two thrilling minutes a day!

This is NOT a textbook! NOT a study manual! There are no lectures—not a single "blue-sky" theory to ponder over anywhere!

Instead, for the first time, here are revolutionary new breakthroughs that HELP YOUR NERVES DE-SENSITIZE THEMSELVES... ACTUALLY DRAIN OUT TORTUROUS MENTAL AND PHYSICAL SYMPTOMS, STARTING THE VERY FIRST DAY—all through a few incredibly-simple techniques that you can put to work for you the very first time you pick it up.

Therefore, we do NOT want you to treat this amazing volume as you would an ordinary book! Instead, we ask you this:

Place it on your bedstand, entirely at our risk, for thirty days! Browse through just a few pages every night before you retire! Skip around if you like! But make absolutely no conscious effort to "study" this book, "work" on it, or even memorize a single one of the thrilling techniques you will find on every one of its pages!

Instead, you'll make this startling discovery in these very first thirty days alone. Instantly—simply by leafing through its pages—your mind will automatically absorb the wonder-working procedures laid out for you in this book! Effortlessly, you will respond to its convention-shattering breakthroughs!

Inevitably—hour after hour—day after day—week after week—you will find your body draining away, almost by itself, the tortures of constant nervousness... overwhelming depression... lack of confidence... chronic fatigue... "skipping" or "racing" heart... pins and needles in hands or feet... even nausea, shortness of breath, chest and stomach pains, weak spells, and never-flagging insomnia! And much, much more!

All these—gone! For just a few short moments a day!

WHAT OTHERS SAY:

"... helped me so much and released me from the particular hell I have been living in since my breakdown six years ago." "I think of Dr. Weekes with admiration and deep gratitude, as I am sure thousands of other people are doing." "I am amazed at the progress I made in such a short time." "It would be no exaggeration to add that your book saved my life."

"The method you give for cure of nervous conditions is so effective—and so simple—I cannot think why nothing remotely like your system has been suggested to me."

"The great reassurance you give about the distressing physical symptoms of a disturbed nervous system is one of the greatest benefits to be derived from your book."

"You cannot possibly imagine what a relief it is to be able to view life normally again, instead of fear-panic all the while."

"I cannot describe the emotion I felt to find, at last, someone who really understood the problem, and to hear her say the condition can be cured..."

"I would like you to know that my nervous condition has so greatly improved through the advice gleaned from your most precious and invaluable book... that all symptoms have now disappeared and I rarely need Librium or sleeping capsules."

"My physician is amazed at my progress and of course I showed him your book which he borrowed and read thoroughly and is now recommending to other patients."

"My wife has made a vast improvement since using your book and now feels for the first time like getting away from the hospital altogether. I'm sure if she had had your treatment in earlier years she would never have had to go into the hospital at all."

WHAT THE PUBLISHER SAYS:

HOPE AND HELP FOR YOUR NERVES has already sold over 350,000 copies. Millions of Americans have heard Dr. Weekes on television and radio shows and have read excerpts from the book which appeared in Reader's Digest. If you are one of the many whose nerves are on edge and who sometimes feel panic and don't know why, this remarkable book was written for you.

And the fourth of which—the great reward—brings you slowly-but-surely back to the person you used to be! With a new, enduring feeling of control and confidence that nothing can destroy! So much so that this doctor actually comes right out and states bluntly: "The advice given here will definitely cure you, if you only follow it!"

In Fact, Case History After Case History Proves That Cure May Be So Dramatically Quick That Your Friends And Family Will Beg You To Tell Them Your Secret!

Once again, it doesn't matter what physical or emotional symptoms you are now suffering from... how "deeply entrenched" they are... how long you have been plagued by them... how "old" or "weak" or "out-of-control" you may feel today! Here is specific, step-by-immediate-step advice that will (again to quote directly from the doctor) "banish every unwelcome sensation and regain peace of mind and body!"

For example:

The two-minute self-treatment (you perform one ingenious little action with your chest) that ends sudden panic seizures on the spot—including all their side effects such as dizziness, pins and needles, involuntary stiffening of the joints, inability to breathe, and all the rest.

That "lump in the throat that won't go away"—how to banish it in minutes... and enjoy eating any food you wish to once again!

Physical weakness—perhaps the most dreaded of all symptoms—and (surprisingly) perhaps the fastest of all to banish!

How to deal with the twin monsters of fatigue and guilt! And leave behind emotional exhaustion... morning depression... thoughts that once raced around and around in your mind without cessation! (And leave them all behind—for good!)

Why so many patients who tried these simple techniques actually came out of their nervous sicknesses as far finer and stronger people than they ever were before!

How to recover from chronic tension caused by an insoluble problem! The only sane way to overcome it! How to avoid unnecessary suffering, for both yourself and others! And, perhaps, actually turn your worst defeat into crowning success!

The surest and most permanent way to cure obsessions!

How to tap the forces of Nature, every morning, that are just waiting

Are Collector Plates Good Investments? We select only the best quality, the most desirable, the most popular and limited and those we feel have most potential. While we urge you to only buy what appeals to your taste, it's a known fact that Collector Plates have risen in price.

For Example: Only last year we sold many 1973 Haviland-Parlon Christmas Plates at $40.00 - and they now bring over $135.00. We selected the Norman Rockwell "Butter Girl" as a good buy and though we sold them at $19.50, one recently sold at auction for $110.00 (on television). Last year's Santa Clara has doubled in price to around $50.00 already, and last year's Berta Hummel Christmas is up over 300% in one year. To go back a few years the 1971 Goebel Hummel now sells for over $300.00 (our price was $25.00) and the 1969 B & G Mothers Day is approaching the $400.00 mark, and we sold them for $9.00 (and are offering our buyers a 2000% profit over initial price!

The most common form of physical unattractiveness—the protruding abdomen—is not caused by fat.

The incredible "TRIM-TRAIN" flattens stomach bulge regardless of diet.

Rehabilitation Specialist
Scott Henderson
United States Army
Department of Physical Medicine (Ret.)

A rehabilitation specialist has devised a fantastic invention tested at a leading university that turns "pushed-out" abdominal muscles into a flat, natural girdle of support. In as little as 2 minutes a day!

SPECIAL OFFER

The revolutionary Trim-Train has been designed to sell at $75.00. By special arrangement, the Trim-Train is being offered at the amazing introductory price of $49.95.

Let's face it. The sight in the mirror that sends hundreds of thousands of you off on dubious exercise programs is most often a big sagging abdomen.

And no wonder you get discouraged so easily. Even when your diet melts off an impressive number of pounds, that ugly outward bulge at the waistline is still there. And even after you've jogged hundreds of miles, played countless games of tennis and been broken down by exercises more suited to a professional football player than a business man or housewife, you're still the embarrassed owner of an "abdominus prominus."

As a veteran United States Rehabilitation Specialist, I knew the answer for years. The protruding abdomen has very little to do with fat. It has everything to do with what doctors call "prolapse"—a collapse of the muscular sheath reaching from the rib cage to the groin, which should be drum-tight and board-flat. Slumping at desks, slouching when walking, and child-bearing cause the once flat and powerful muscles to be pushed and stretched outward by the pressure of internal organs. You'd have your hideous abdominal bulge even if you didn't have an ounce of fat on you. And this is also a causative factor in low back pain.

From my years of re-conditioning men in the army, I knew the two finest abdominal tightening and flattening exercises to be the "sit-up" and the "leg raise." But there were problems with these exercises. First, they were so difficult to do that the average untrained man or woman would be hard-pressed to do more than 5 or 10 to begin with. And they would find it even more difficult to work up to the number of repetitions and the speed of performance needed to obtain real benefits. Also, the "leg raise" supplies most of its benefits to the lower abdomen. The "sit-up" does most of its good on the upper abdominals. A fully effective midsection flattener must tighten the abdominal sheath from rib-cage to groin as a single unit in a single movement.

The answer to all these problems is my incredible, never-before-seen device called the TRIM-TRAIN.

basic movement is a thrusting back and drawing forward of the knees riding the "train." By limiting speed, backward travel and repetitions, the most out-of-condition housewife can perform without discomfort. Your body provides natural resistance. By increasing the speed, backward travel and repetitions, you get a workout suitable for an olympic gymnast.

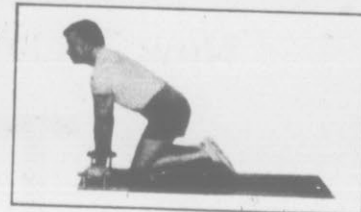

I know, because I sent my TRIM-TRAIN for scientific evaluations to a top professor at a famous university. The machine proved itself in carefully controlled scientific tests on subjects of various physical qualifications, including one world-class gymnast. The findings:

The TRIM-TRAIN brought subjects to its highest plateau of cardio-vascular-respiratory endurance in only two minutes. Between five and ten minutes of work on the TRIM-TRAIN are the maximum the machine requires of you, no matter what your physical condition. What a blessing for the time-pressed executive or housewife.

Compared with the stationary bicycle, rowing machine and shoulder wheel, the TRIM-TRAIN is far more flexible in adjusting both speed and resistance to your growing strength. So it's more likely to keep you from quitting from too much time and effort.

In the first couple of weeks you'll begin to see that prominence under your belt buckle beginning to deflate. You'll be positively amazed at the way your once-sagging, stretched and toneless abdominal muscles pick up strength. Strength that pushes your internal organs back where they belong, with an abdominal wall that's sheet-iron flat. You will also note a definite improvement in

FOR LIMITED EFFORT:
Short "travel," slower pace, limited repetitions until you are ready for all-out effort. You'll be ready fast, too.

ALL-OUT EFFORT:

general muscle tone and the endurance of all other muscles. This further helps contribute to good appearance.

The amazing TRIM-TRAIN is sturdy but compact. It fits handily under a bed or at the bottom of a closet, and sets up in seconds. You can use it in the privacy of any room.

FROM NEW ZEALAND'S FAMOUS HORTICULTURE RESEARCH GROWERS COMES AMAZING NEWS! WELLINGTON'S RARE — EXOTIC — ASTONISHING TREE TOMATO is now available in the U.S.A.!

And in a newly-developed super-hybrid variety that harvests up to 40 lbs. (hundreds of tomatoes) a year — thousands of tomatoes up to 10 years — FROM ONE TREE TOMATO!

An astonishing South American tomato fruiting tree that gives stunning blossoms for months, blooms yearly even in the North, grows as a tree outdoors and with tropic ease indoors, now is perfected and made available by New Zealand plant scientists, to you in the U.S.A.

What Happened In Palliser Bay!

The growing fields of Southern Auckland are located in Palliser Bay and there New Zealand's Horticulture Experts married Brazil's tree tomato to the fertile rain forests of New Zealand.

South America's luscious tree tomato was discovered by Brazilian Indians; brought to richest, fullest flavor and lushness by Portuguese missionaries; and hybridized to a super-resistant super-easy-to-grow variety.

There are 30 different varieties of tree tomatoes in South America but only one is the lushest, most delicious and easiest-to-grow of them all! And that one was made over after four years of hybridizing at Palliser Bay—working with various universities—discarding weaker, keeping stronger strains—until the final super variety was ready for you.

Who Put All Those Tree Tomatoes In That Itty Bitty Seed

Imagine one seed does produce over 400 lbs. of tomatoes in one lifetime.

And New Zealand's super Tree Tomato is so easy to raise that 80% of normally-planted seeds take. So easy it will grow inside anyplace a philodendron will grow! So easy that outside in actual tests seeds thrown at random in plowed fields, grew naturally with no human care.

Each seedling grows to 3 or 4 ft. indoors or up to 8 ft. outdoors or you can stop the growth of the tree at any height you wish between 3 and 8 feet. It is super disease-resistant.

Imagine stunning exotic-shaped leaves up to one foot long! Imagine the constant changing show. First the lovely leaves—then a shower of delicate, fragrant flowers—and finally a beautiful array of juicy luscious tomatoes.

A Fluffy Omelet—Using Leftover Ham or Turkey!

A perfect midnight supper: Fluffy Omelet a la Swiss.

FLUFFY OMELET A LA SWISS

- 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
 - ¾ teaspoon salt
 - 1½ teaspoon ground black pepper
 - ¾ cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 4 eggs, separated
 - 1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen asparagus spears, cooked and drained
 - Swiss Sauce, recipe below
1. Preheat oven to 350° F. In small saucepan combine tapioca, salt, pepper; milk. Cook, stirring, over medium heat until mixture boils.
 2. Remove from heat, add 1 tablespoon butter. Allow to cool slightly.
 3. In medium bowl, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Stir in milk mixture.
 4. In large bowl, with clean beaters, beat egg whites until they hold stiff peaks. Lightly fold egg-yolk mixture into beaten whites.
 5. Melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter in 10-inch oven-proof skillet. Add omelet mixture. Cook 3 minutes over low heat.
 6. Continue cooking in oven about 15 minutes until well puffed. Omelet is done when a knife inserted in center comes out clean.
 7. Cut across omelet at right angles to pan handle, but don't cut through. Slide onto serving plate. Top one half with asparagus, fold other half over. Pour some sauce over top. Pass remaining sauce in separate bowl.

Makes 4 servings

Swiss Sauce: Blend 1 can (10¾ ozs.) cream of mushroom soup, ½ cup milk, 1 cup cubed leftover turkey, chicken or ham and ¼ cup shredded Swiss cheese. Heat, stirring, until cheese melts.

Makes 2 cups sauce

PATIENT & DOCTOR
A new female disease

Today's young people want everything "yesterday." And many times they pay a stiff physical and psychical price. Especially young women who often look "grown up" at 16, and have been menstruating since they were 12 or 13. By the time they reach 18 to 21, they are suffering physical and psychological problems brought on by trying to achieve too much too soon. Called "vegetal dystoney," the disease is symptomized by depression, overtiredness, blood-circulation problems, etc. The Bad Steban Sanatorium in Germany claims to be the only place in the world dealing with this disease. "The trouble is that too many young women try to hide their illnesses or discomforts for fear of losing their jobs," says Dr. Peter Hofmann, of the sanatorium. "The disease seems to be much worse in America," he adds. "It is true similar things happen to boys, but by and large girls are more vulnerable."

QUOTE: Eleanor McGovern on political wives: "I have often wondered if other political wives and their husbands discuss defeat before crucial elections. I do not think many do. It is part of the unspoken contract for each person in a political family to carry a lightning rod of hope until the outcome of a race has been determined. . . . Neither George nor I nor the children wanted to face the final moment [in 1972]. . . . Even after we went up to the auditorium so that George could concede defeat, there seemed to be so much more to say. We were surrounded by many, many people who loved us, good people who were as disbelieving as we were. There was no way to reach out or say something personal to each friend." ARMOUR'S ARMOURY By Richard Armour

MY CAR RADIO AND I

When driving, I keep tuned on news,
Not music, all the time.
I hear again and yet again
Of earthquakes and of crime.
I get reports of fire and flood,
Of bombings and derailments.
I hear, as I have heard before,
Of epidemic ailments.

The news I hear is repetitious,
Depressing as a hearse,
But any music I might get
Would be (I've tried it) worse.

Jackie's Horoscope states her only possible fate was wealth and fame

By Tom Kennedy

Jackie Onassis, possibly the most famous woman alive today. On July 29, 1929, she entered this world as all of us do, a helpless little baby. But Jackie was not destined to be an ordinary individual. Astrologers examining her natal horoscope clearly agree, her only possible fate would be wealth and fame. Now at age 45 this prediction has become more than true. Let's take a look at her natal chart and see why.

Jackie's Cancer lays in the cusp of her eighth house. This indicates that she will marry a man connected with water. Her first husband, the late President Kennedy, was a PT boat captain in World War II and also enjoyed sailing. And of course her current husband, Aristotle Onassis, is a superwealthy shipping magnate.

Her Sagittarian rising sign shows that she prefers foreign countries and people. Her husband, Aristotle, is Greek. And Jackie is known for her jet-setting image.

Finally, the planets Jupiter and Venus symbolize money. The fact that these two planets fall in her seventh house, the house of partners, indicates that she will have a wealthy husband. John Kennedy and Aristotle were both wealthy.

ASTROLOGY AFFECTS US ALL

Jackie Onassis is not the only person affected by astrology. Because you were born, you yourself have a unique natal horoscope, different from all others. I'll show you what it can mean to you by using celebrities for my examples.

Your natal horoscope can help you discover your hidden talents, and give you the confidence to use them. When you think of Marilyn Monroe, you probably picture the standard "dumb blonde" sex symbol. Her horoscope shows that nothing could be farther from the truth. She had the potential to be a tremendous actress and she knew it. Marilyn hated her sex symbol image.

Jean Dixon heeded the advice of her horoscope, and was rewarded with success. Her natal chart showed strong psychic and E.S.P. abilities. She cultivated her talents and is considered the leading psychic of our time.

Your horoscope can advance your career and bring you wealth. A comparison of Robert Redford's natal chart to Paul Newman's shows these two stars to be very compatible. In real life they are very close friends. Their horoscopes also showed that a joint venture would be extremely profitable. BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUN-DANCE KID and the STING, certainly bear this out. On the other hand, the timing of the movie, THE GREAT GATSBY, and the movement of Robert Redford's planets were in conflict. But he went ahead and made the movie against the advice of his horoscope. Box office results were certainly a lot less than expected.

Your horoscope can bring you love, romance, and improve your sex life. Henry Kissinger's horoscope showed that if he was confident enough, women would overlook his appearance. He used his sex appeal, and dated some of the most beautiful women in the world. His horoscope predicted his marriage to Nancy Maginnes. What is more amazing, his chart told him that if he stabilized his life through marriage, he would be more successful in his Middle East negotiations.

Tommy Smothers is an avid believer in Astrology. He compared his horoscope with his future wife's before proposing. He then got married at exactly 11:58 PM, following the exact instructions of his astrologer.

Sometimes a small change can make a big difference. In Telly Savalas's case, he used his head. His natal horoscope attributes his charisma to his head. He shaved his head for the movie, THE GREATEST STORY EVER TOLD. His TV stardom in Kojak followed sometime later.

Your horoscope can help you stay in good health. Here is a story from a recent newspaper article in the Miami Herald's Sunday magazine. Mary Kelly credits astrology with saving her from an operation on her legs that would have left her crippled. "My doctor decided an operation was needed, and told me to check into the hospital Friday for the procedure on Monday. I consulted my astrologer. She told me to have the operation changed to Wednesday. I did this, and on Tuesday the doctor suddenly discovered a blood clot was causing the trouble. Had he performed the operation, as any doctor would have on Friday's symptoms, I probably would never have walked again."

THE TRUTH ABOUT ASTROLOGY

How does your natal horoscope work? An astrologer will chart the positions of the sun, moon, and eight planets as they appear above your place of birth at your exact time of birth. The placements and angular relationships of these bodies make up your natal chart. This means that someone born at the exact same time as you, but in a different city, will have a different chart.

The written interpretation and analysis of your natal chart is called your natal horoscope. Astrology is not fortune telling and your horoscope does not cause things to happen to you. Your horoscope analyzes your personality, and then tells you what things are most likely to happen to you. But remember, your free will can override events in your life, if you put your mind to it. In Jackie's case, she wisely chose to let fate run its course.

As you've seen from the examples I've given you, some of the most famous people used their horoscope to reach success; but in other instances ignored it and faced failure. There are thousands of different ways to achieve wealth, love, success and happiness.

A good example is Euell Gibbons, the naturalist, whose interest is plants. He has published several books and appeared on the Johnny Carson show. Many people consider him odd. But his career has brought him happiness and wealth.

Each and everyone of us is good at something no matter how odd one's talents may seem to others. Your horoscope will tell you what you're good at. So why beat your brains out on an area that you're not talented in, when an equal amount of time spent on something you're good at would put you much further ahead. Not only will you get ahead, but you'll be relaxed and happy while you're doing it.

Your horoscope will give you an indepth analysis of your personality. It will point out your strengths and show you how to utilize them. It will also discuss your weaker areas, and allow you to compensate for them.

Because your natal horoscope is such a sophisticated analysis of your personality, it will probe your subconscious mind and seek out your hidden talents. These are the areas where you thought you had talent (writing, E.S.P., sex appeal, public relations, athletics, etc.) but were afraid to try. If you've been waiting for someone to give you a little push, let your horoscope be that someone. It will give you the confidence to start using your hidden talents.

Summed up, your natal horoscope will discuss your personality, love, career, finances, and health. It will help you understand and accept yourself for what you are. It will then show you where your talents lie and set you on a course of self-improvement, self-fulfillment, and true happiness.

As the old saying goes, "You only live once." Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided, like Robert Redford with the GREAT GATSBY? Don't you owe it to yourself and to your loved ones to seize every precious moment of your life and make the best of it. Why not give yourself every advantage with the added edge of your personal natal horoscope.

For a limited time, during this special research project, you can get your personal natal horoscope for nearly a copying cost. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process - FREE. And you can use your horoscope for a full year on an absolutely no risk guarantee. The article below will tell you how to order your horoscope. For your own sake, please don't pass up this once in a lifetime opportunity.

HOW TO GET YOUR NATAL HOROSCOPE FOR NEARLY THE COST OF MAKING COPIES.

Send me your exact time and place of birth, I'll cast and analyze your natal horoscope for research purposes. You may have a duplicate copy of your horoscope for only $3.00 to cover the cost to make your copy plus 50¢ postage and handling. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process FREE - because of the fact we must produce your horoscope for research anyhow.

Your natal horoscope will consist of 9 pages and 3,000 words and will provide you all of the following benefits: (Note: This is our new improved horoscope.)

- Your horoscope will help you understand and accept yourself. It will analyze your personality and explain your strengths and talents in detail. It will also point out your shortcomings and advise you on how to improve.
- Everyone of us has hidden talents just waiting to be tapped. Your horoscope will discuss your hidden talents (sex appeal, E.S.P., writing, athletics, public relations, etc.) and show you how to cash in on them.
- Your horoscope will give you an indepth analysis of your love life. Personally tailored advice on how to enjoy a more fulfilling sex life will be offered. You'll be told who you're compatible with and why and shown how to find romance. Once you find it, your horoscope will help you keep it burning hot.

- Your horoscope will instill confidence in you by showing you what you're good at. It will place you in the proper frame of mind to begin a program of all around self-improvement.
- The types of jobs and careers that you are best suited for will be listed. You'll be told which careers will bring you success and happiness and which jobs to avoid.
- Your financial future will be covered. Your attitude towards money and the best ways for you to make money will be discussed.
- Areas of your body which may pose health problems are pointed out. Tips on dieting are also offered.
- Your marital and family relationships are analyzed with emphasis on getting along with your mate, your children and your relatives. There's no need to worry about finding out about an unavoidable coming disaster through your chart. As mentioned, astrology deals in potentials. Your free will can override potentials if you know about them. In any case, the policy of qualified astrologers is positive astrology. If there is something negative in your chart, you are told what you can do to make it positive.

When casting your horoscope, we conform to the strictest scientific principles. First the longitude and latitude of your birth will be charted down to the hundredth of a degree. Then any time changes due to World War II will be taken into consideration. Finally your longitude and latitude and exact time of birth will be key punched into our gigantic IBM 370 computer, which contains over 24 million bits of authenticated astrological information. No two horoscopes produced by our computer are ever alike. Your horoscope will carry your name on every page and will be cast from your exact time and place of birth for you and you alone. So you can be sure that your horoscope will not be the worthless type found in paperbacks.

A similar horoscope could cost up to $250 if done by an astrologer. But THERE'S ABSOLUTELY NO CATCH to this offer. I need this information for my astrological research. I'm looking for certain planet configurations from the people who mail in birth information. (People who fit this group can receive extra bonuses by filling out a research questionnaire.)

This research project has appeared in BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS, PARADE, FAMILY WEEKLY, SUNDAY MAGAZINE, LADY'S HOME JOURNAL, REDBOOK, McCALLS, WOMAN'S DAY, and other publications. The response has been tremendous with over 500,000 people now enjoying their natal horoscope. But that's what's so frustrating. We may never be able to run this article again. Inflation has pushed our computer, advertising, postage, and printing costs almost to the point of no return.

So for a limited time, we're gathering all the names we possibly can to finish our research project. If you'd like to help us with our research and take advantage of this special offer by ordering natal horoscopes for yourself, for your family or your friends, simply do this: Send me the name, address, time, day, month, year and place of birth for each person on a piece of paper along with the $3.00 copying cost and 50¢ postage for each horoscope. (If you don't know your exact time of birth we'll use 12:00 noon.) If you have Mastercharge, Bank Americard, or American Express, you may charge your purchase by sending the following information: A. Name of your credit card B. Credit card number C. Card Expiration date.

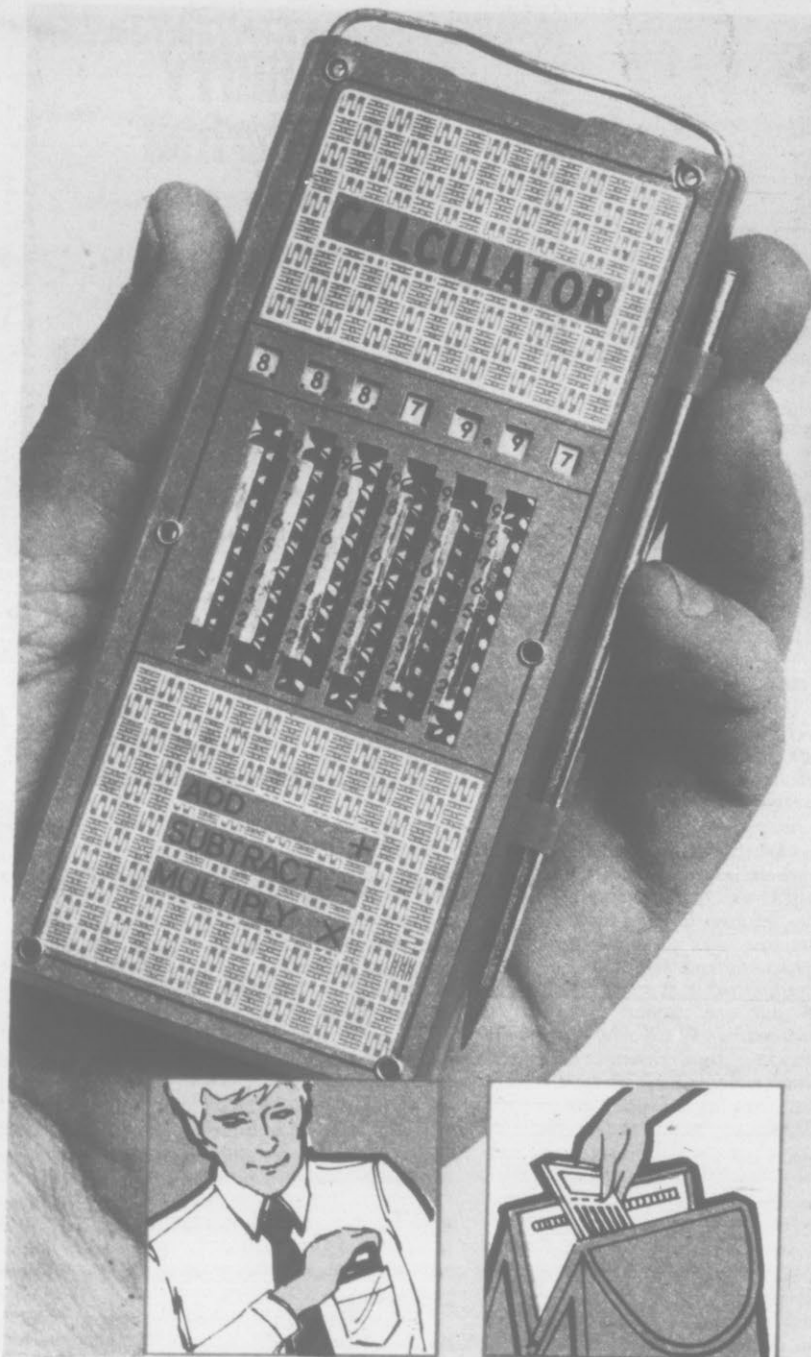

Mail your orders to the AMERICAN ASTROLOGICAL ASSOCIATION, Research Division, Dept. 819, 4965 West Tusc., Canton, Ohio 44708.

Your natal horoscope is covered by a one year - 365 day - full money back guarantee. If you have any questions, call me, John F. Ford, President, the American Astrological Association. Telephone me at (216) 478-2171. To avoid disappointment, why not order your horoscope right now, before you forget. Thanks.

Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT RESUMES HIS TALE OF 'THE LADY OF QUALITY': 'IT WAS LATE WHEN WE BROKE CAMP FOR LADY ALISON HAD TO CHOOSE HER GOWN FOR THE DAY AND BE PROPERLY CURLED AND PERFUMED.'

"HER BEAUTY INSPIRED SIR GAWAIN TO HIS ROMANTIC BEST, BUT THERE WAS NO WORD OF FLATTERY SHE HAD NOT HEARD A THOUSAND TIMES."

"THIS ANNOYED ME, FOR I LOVED THE NATURAL FORESTS. MY LADY, THERE ARE FLOWERS EVERYWHERE, NOT IN BEDS OR BORDERS; THEY DEFY THE GARDENER AND BLOOM IN THEIR CHOSEN PLACE. THERE IS BEAUTY EVERYWHERE FOR THOSE WHO CAN SEE BEAUTY."

"AND IS THAT PART OF THE BEAUTY YOU BABBLE ABOUT?" CRIED THE LADY, POINTING. 'DRAW!' BELLOWED GAWAIN, 'FORM A WEDGE, LADY ALISON IN THE CENTER.' AT THE GALLOP, CHARGE."

"WE CUT OUR WAY THROUGH, FOR THESE WERE OUTCAST MEN, UNARMED, SAVE FOR KNIVES, CLUBS AND STONES, BUT DESPERATION MADE THEM TERRIBLE. TO THEM DEATH WOULD BE A RELIEF."

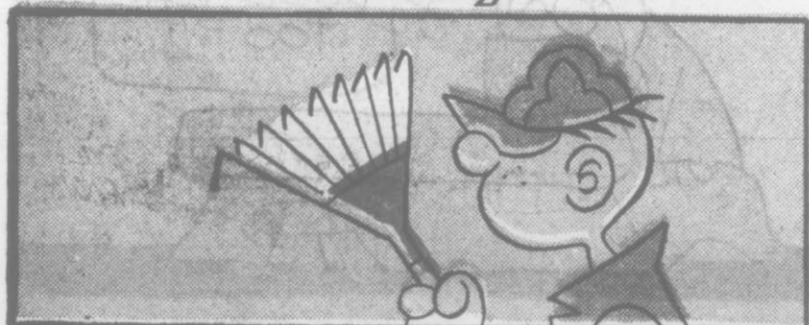

"ON A DISTANT HILL A WATCHTOWER PROMISED SANCTUARY IF WE COULD REACH IT."

Hal Kaufman's JUNIOR WHIRL®

SUM WORD! Hand someone a book. Ask him or her to open it at random and select a word within the top nine lines of the page and not farther than the ninth word in that line.

Have the person note the page number and multiply it by 10; add 25 and the number of the line; again multiply by 10 and add the position number of the word in the line.

Now subtract 250 from the final sum. The last figure of your answer will be the word's position in the line; the next to last figure, the line number, and the remaining figures will give the page.

TUNED IN! Using an ordinary lead pencil or dark-hued crayon, carefully shade all dotted segments above for a timely picture.
