Charges CIA Spied On Americans Being Studied

BY DANIEL F. GILMORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford announced Saturday he is creating a "blue ribbon" citizens commission to examine charges the Central Intelligence Agency spied on Americans. The Justice Department, he said, already is investigating whether the CIA broke the law.

Ford's directive setting up the commission ordered the panel to turn over to the attorney general any evidence of illegal CIA activities it uncovers during its investigation.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford will name five to seven persons to the citizens commission. He said the commission would hand in its report in three months.

"I have today established a commission to ascertain and evaluate any facts relating to activities conducted within the United States by the Central Intelligence Agency that give rise to questions as to whether the agency has exceeded its statutory authority . . . " Ford said in a special White House statement.

"It is essential in this republic that we meet our security requirements and at the same time avoid impairing our democratic institutions and fundamental freedoms."

Ford said he has ordered what he called "this blue ribbon panel" to "determine whether existing safeguards are adequate to preclude agency activities that might go beyond the CIA's authority and to make appropriate recommendations."

The President said the Justice Department already is "looking into such aspects of the matter as are within its jurisdiction."

Nessen said the Justice Department investigation has been underway "for the past few days." Ford, in an executive order setting up the commission, ordered all federal departments and agencies to cooperate with the panel.

Nessen said Ford "welcomes" any independent investigation of the CIA case which the Congress wishes to launch. There have been several congressional calls in recent days for tighter supervision of the agency by Congress and for a Watergate-type special prosecutor to investigate the alleged illegal spying.

The White House announced Ford's action three hours after the President spent 20 minutes in his Oval Office in a private meeting with former CIA director Richard Helms.

Helms asked for the meeting with Ford, Nessen said. The press secretary declined to say more about Helms' visit.

Helms, who arrived in Washington Friday night on leave from his post as ambassador to Iran, served as CIA director from 1966 until late 1972—a period embracing some of the Johnson administration and most of the Nixon years.

It was during that period, according to newspaper and congressional charges, that the agency spied illegally on thousands of American citizens within the United States.

Helms has categorically denied accusations the CIA conducted any illegal surveillance of antiwar activists, dissidents and other Americans while he was director of the agency.

Nessen told reporters Ford ordered the commission investigation after reading a 50-page report prepared by William E. Colby, the present CIA director, in the wake of the public allegations.

News Briefs

Force As Last Resort

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House said today President Ford shares Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's view that industrial nations might consider military force as a last resort if "strangled" by the need for oil

Presidential News Secretary Ron Nessen made the reply to a news briefing question and also indicated Ford decided Friday to make Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller one of the most active and knowledgable vice presidents in modern times.

Former Pepsi Chairman Shot

NEW YORK (UPI) — The former board chairman of the Pepsi-Cola Co. was found shot to death Saturday evening in the bathroom of his luxurious apartment on Manhattan's fashionable East Side. Police said he was either slain or took his own life.

More Doctors Join Slowdown

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Four hundred consulting physicians in Belfast have decided to join 11,000 British doctors in a slowdown of medical services to enforce a demand for more pay.

A spokesman for the Regional Committee of Hospital Medical Services of Northern Ireland said it recommended Friday night that its members work strictly according to their contracts beginning Monday.

Two Very Special Buddies

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Morgan Leach and Keary Allison do two special things every day. They hike together through redwood groves of a regional park here, and Leach teaches Keary leathercraft. Leach, 55, is strengthening his body after nearly 10 years in Folsom Prison on an involuntary manslaughter sentence. And 10-year-old Keary is learning about the man and the craft that helped him avoid permanent disfigurement from burns. Keary's family brought the ex-convict home Dec. 19 after he was released from the maximum security prison. Leach and a fellow inmate at Folsom made a special leather brace that prohibited disfigurement after Keary underwent a series of skin grafts to repair burn scars on his neck and chin suffered in a camping accident.

Debt On Gifts To Indians

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Marlon Brando owed $318,000 on the 40-acre parcel of land he recently donated to American Indians, Brando's attorney says. The principal must be paid by Dec. 30, 1975, or the land will revert to the owners of the note, attorney Lawrence Kartigainer said Friday. The Indians reportedly were aware of the lien when they accepted the land and assumed the money would also be donated. It was not known whether Brando planned to pay the money, and he was not available for comment. Kartigainer confirmed a report by KABC-TV that the land, at Agoura, about 40 miles north of here, was subject to the lien.

Another WWII Returnee

TOKYO (AP) — The government said today $11,700 will be sent to the Taiwanese soldier who fought for Japan in World War II and then hid for 30 years in the jungles of Indonesia.

A spokesman said Teruo Nakamura, who turned up last month on an island in the southern Philippines, will get 2 million yen — $6,700 — from the government and 1.5 million yen — $5,700 — in personal awards from cabinet ministers and their deputies.

Under Japanese law, Nakamura was entitled to receive only $227 for his 34 years' service plus homecoming expenses.

$95 Million Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration has given a tentative okay to a defense budget of some $95 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1, Pentagon sources say.

The proposed spending plan would compare with $83.6 billion approved by Congress for the current fiscal year. Defense officials have said the boost is needed simply to make up for an estimated $11 billion in lost purchasing power, due mainly to inflation.

Some sources cautioned that the $95-billion figure could still be changed before President Ford sends his proposed budget to Congress in late January or early February.

Commander Says Amnesty A Failure

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The national commander of the American Legion says President Ford's conditional amnesty program for Vietnam-era draft evaders has been a failure and should not be continued.

Only a few draft evaders have taken advantage of the program, which is to expire Jan. 31, James M. Wagonseller told local members of the Legion Friday.

"From the tiny percentage of draft dodgers who availed themselves of this opportunity, it is obvious they didn't think any more of it than did the American Legion, but for exact opposite reasons," Wagonseller said.

"They think they deserve everything. We think they deserve nothing.

"An extension of the travesty that is amnesty would be a further insult to the memory of our honored dead, a fresh slap at those who served."

The 54-year-old commander of the 2.7 million-member Legion said the nation should concern itself with finding jobs for Vietnam veterans, 12 per cent of whom are now unemployed.

Relief By Mule Train

BEESHAM, Pakistan (UPI)—Relief officials resorted to mule trains and hundreds of porters Saturday to carry emergency aid to earthquade victims when stormy weather grounded helicopters for the second day.

Three hundred porters were enlisted to carry relief supplies including medicines and clothing to inaccessible areas devastated by the earthquake a week ago which killed 4,700 persons and injured 15,000 in Pakistan's remote north.

Pack mules were loaded with tents, food and cans of kerosene oil.

Boston Schools To Reopen

BOSTON (UPI) — School Superintendent William J. Leary Saturday ordered the racially troubled South Boston High School reopened on Wednesday following a day-long meeting with Mayor Kevin H. White who urged that the fourschool complex be permanently closed.

Leary also revealed plans to ask police to file a detailed plan for protecting students at the school with the U.S. District Court clerk.

Last week Police Commissioner Robert di Grazia said that his force could not guarantee the safety of the students at the school, which has been closed since Dec. 11 because of the stabbing of a white student allegedly by a black student.

33 Die In Plane Crash

BUCHAREST (UPI) — A Romanian Airlines plane crashed in the Carpathian Mountains Dec. 29, killing all 33 persons on board, the official news agency Agerpres said Saturday.

The plane crashed into the Lotru mountain range on a flight from Bucharest to Oradea near the Hungarian border, the agency said, adding that an investigation was underway.

The agency gave no further details, but Western diplomats said the plane, believed to be Russian-made, crashed into a mountainside as it tried to land at Sibinj in Transylvania during a storm.

Indians, Law Officers Exchange Gunfire

By RICHARD P. JONES

GRESHAM, Wis. (UPI)—Law enforcement officers and Indians occupying a monastery exchanged gunfire late Saturday for the first time since the Indians seized the building New Year's Day.

Earl Schmidt, Shawuno County district attorney, said that shots were exchanged between the two sides. Earlier, the officers said some of them had been pinned down by "heavy gunfire" but they were ordered to hold their fire.

"There has been an exchange of gunfire sometime after 4 p.m.," Schmidt said.

He said he had no knowledge of any injuries.

There was a report that a woman inside the building was shot, but a check at a Shawano hospital determined she was brought out of the novitiate with an illness and was hospitalized for treatment.

Sheriff Robert Montour made the earlier report of firing against several of his men. He warned at that time that if the shooting continued, his officers would return the fire.

"At this point, my direct orders to my men have been to hold fire," Montour told a hostile rally outside his office in Shawano.

"They've been pinned down for the best part of the morning by fire from people from inside of the abbey. My orders to my men as of 3:15 p.m. is to fire if they are fired upon."

The Indians took over an abandoned monastery near here New Year's Day and they are demanding the religious order which owns it turn the land over to them.

The rally outside Montour's office was organized by supporters of the militants, who urged the sheriff to pull back the lines he has surrounding the facility.

John Teller, Keshena, who led the rally, told Montour the Indians wanted the lines pulled back "just a little way, 100 yards. Out of the line of fire."

"We want peaceful negotiations, not a war out there," Teller said. "We don't want killing. We want peaceful negotiations. And by having your men within shootng range, that's provoking."

The protesters had first marched to a roadblock a few miles from the monastery and demanded to be allowed to move to another checkpoint a bit closer. They shouted "Pull Back the Cops" as they marched and carried signs supporting those inside.

Most of the protesters were Indians' but there were were some whites in the crowd.

The rally was called for Friday night after those inside had turned down the latest offer from the Alexian Brothers, who own the vast complex that has been unused since 1968.

Balloon Ready For Liftoff

By STEWART SLAVIN

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — In the spirit of fictional Phileas Fogg who sailed a balloon "Around the World In 80 Days," publisher Malcolm Forbes Saturday readied the flight of his jet-age balloon for a trip to Europe or Africa in six days.

Liftoff of the "Windborne" is scheduled for today at 4 a.m. from the Marine Corps Helicopter Air Station.

"The weather is first rate," Forbes, 55, said Saturday after a morning launch rehearsal.

"The final countdown is going to be on schedule and only an unmitigated, major unforeseen event could delay tomorrow's departure," the Forbes magazine publisher said.

Westmoreland Hospitalized

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, 60, former commander of U.S. forces in the Vietnam War, was reported resting comfortably Saturday after suffering a mild heart attack.

Westmoreland, of Charleston, S.C., was admitted to Eisenhower Medical Center early Friday night with chest pains from "what appeared to be a mild heart attack," said a hospital spokesman.

Westmoreland and his wife, Katherine, who have been guests at the Palm Springs home of comedian Bob Hope since Thursday, were dressing for dinner when he was stricken.

Farmers, Manufacturers Attended Tobacco Day Meeting Here Friday

By TOM FOREMAN, JR.
Reflector Staff Writer

With emphasis placed on the future of the tobacco farmer, over 300 farmers and businessmen attended Tobacco Day at the American Legion building Friday, where they heard agricultural specialists tell them everything from how and where to grow to what seeds to use.

Along with the specialists, representatives of major manufacturing companies were on hand with their merchandise to show the farmer the kind of machinery available for cultivating and harvesting his crop for 1975.

S. N. Hawkes, agronomy specialist at North Carolina State University, presented a slide feature on the cost of tobacco production and how to keep those costs down. Hawkes said the world demand for tobacco is increasing since there is a world wide shortage. He noted that this shortage will be felt for many years.

"It will be important to grow as much of the alloted poundage as is possible," Hawkes said. He added that many of last year's poor stands of tobacco were due in part to an excess usage of fertilizer. Another factor in the loss of some tobacco plants was the setting out of the plants during cold weather. Hawkes emphasized that farmers should be careful not to repeat the same procedure this year in order to cut down on expenses.

"Mechanization is expensive," Hawkes said, "but it is most practical for many farms to go in that direction."

Ferney Todd, county agricultural specialist, discussed tobacco diseases and their control. He told the farmers that after extensive tests with many brands of tobacco, that Speight G-28 showed the most resistance of the four brands tested against black shank and granville wilt. Todd also reported that state losses due to plant bed diseases increased to over $1 million last year, or twice the amount of the previous year.

"Several methods of growing tobacco are good, but select a system and follow it through the way you want to produce your tobacco," Todd said.

John Wilson, pesticide education specialist at North Carolina State, described the dangers of pesticide usage in the field, and immediate aid procedures for persons in the event the pesticide is applied incorrectly, or is taken orally or absorbed physically. Wilson emphasized that farmers should see a doctor immediately if any symptioms of pesticide consumption should occur, such as dizziness, nausea, and chest pains.

Battle Rages Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—North Vietnamese infantrymen and tanks thrust into the streets of Phuoc Binh Saturday and South Vietnamese military sources said they feared parts of the city, including the government command bunker, had been overrun.

Radio contact with the bunker was lost shortly after the province chief and commander of the 2,600-man garrison radioed that North Vietnamese troops were so close to his headquarters that he and his staff would have to retreat.

A short time later the radio went dead, military sources said.

Phuoc Binh, a city of about 26,000 people, is the last remaining government foothold in Phuoc Long province, which has been the object of a grueling Communist offensive since Dec. 14.

South Vietnamese military and Western sources denied Saturday evening that the city had been abandoned and was in Communist hands. The chief of staff of the 3rd Military Region said government forces were still holding the town at dusk.

"I have no information on Phuoc Binh falling," said a highly-placed Western official who has kept a close watch on the fighting. "There was a lot of fighting in the city this afternoon, but I could not say it has fallen."

Some reports said government ranger reinforcements had landed by helicopter in the city earlier in the day.

North Vietnamese gunners began shelling Phuoc Binh shortly before dawn and then Communist troops launched a second wave of ground assaults, breaching the city's perimeter and sparking a day-long see-saw battle, military sources said.

Earlier, the Saigon military command said in a communique that South Vietnamese troops, backed by air strikes, had driven back North Vietnamese assaults Friday night and for a time had cleared the city of North Vietnamese troops.

President Nugyen Van Thieu has called the attack "a large scale offensive" and appealed to major world powers and world opinion to stop the fighting. The Saigon command listed nearly 1,300 government troops killed, wounded or missing in the three weeks of fighting.

Owes Iran Millions

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The United States still owes Iran $365 million for services rendered during and after World War II, a government spokesman said today.

The comment was in response to a claim by Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., that Iran still owes the U.S. $36 million for post-war loans.

Ford Signs 55 MPH Law, Other Bills On Saturday

NEW YORK BOUND—Rescue workers check overturned bus, bound for New York, for injured passengers. Another bus bound for Salt Lake City (not pictured) also overturned east of here on Interstate 80. The buses skidded on icy pavement. About 20 persons were injured, at least five seriously. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford signed legislation Saturday making the national 55 mile per hour speed limit permanent and providing $4.5 billion for new unemployment benefits and public jobs, but vetoed a bill naming the Grand Rapids, Mich., federal building after him.

Grand Rapids is Ford's hometown, but Ford said giving his name to the federal building there while he was still in office might set an unwise precedent.

It was a busy bill-signing day for the President, who faced a midnight deadline in acting on the many measures the 93rd Congress passed just before its final adjournment last month. There were few vetoes.

Ford put his signature on one measure paving the way for the eventual construction of deep water super-ports at which huge oil tankers could unload their cargoes with greater safety and less expense.

He signed another long-delayed measure extending for four more years the life of the Export-Import Bank and raising the ceiling for its loans and guarantees from $20 billion to $25 billion.

The Ex-Im Bank bill set a ceiling of $300 million on loans and guarantees to support exports to the Soviet Union. Within that $300 million overall limitation, the measure placed a sub-ceiling of $40 million on contracts dealing with the research and exploration of fossil fuel energy resources.

One provision in the speed limit bill Ford signed will allow heavier trucks to use the Interstate highways and will extend until Dec. 31 a federally-sponsored car pooling demonstration program.

The bill also:

—Provides $75 million for highway beauty programs such as controlling outdoor advertising and junkyards and landscaping highway areas.

—Provides $752 million for highway programs.

—Provides $350 million for rural road construction and reconstruction.

With Saturday midnight the legal deadline for handling bills passed by the last Congress, Ford approved a score of other measures. He also used his veto power.

He withheld his signature from, thus killing by "pocket veto," a $125 million bill to help farmers with water and soil conservation projects. He also rejected a bill restricting imports of filberts, a kind of nut.

The unemployment measure extends jobless benefits to one year and provides funds for creation of 100,000 jobs for the unemployed. Ford had insisted Congress pass a 5 per cent income surtax to pay for the measure, but dropped the demand in the face of congressional refusal.

In a White House statement, Ford said the $125 million water and soil conservation bill is no longer needed. He said the soil and water conservation projects of the past, aimed at giving farmers the incentive to adopt conservation practices, have achieved their goal.

Ford vetoed the filberts bill because, he said, it would "unnecessarily increase prices" to the consumer and harm United States trade policy with a trade barrier "at a time when we are trying to persuade other nations to dismantle" their barriers.

The President signed the Deep Water Ports Act, saying, "Deep water ports can provide the safest, most efficient and least expensive means for transporting petroleum supplies that we obtain from foreign sources."

New Angle In Dam Controversy

By ELIOT BRENNER

RALEIGH (UPI)—North Carolina is working on yet another angle in its efforts to halt construction of a $430 million power project on the New River in North Carolina and Virginia, state officials said Saturday.

James E. Harrington, state secretary of natural and economic resources, told a meeting of environmentalists and others opposed to the project that North Carolina has developed its own management plan to protect the river in hopes it may win approval from the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Meanwhile, the state's congressional delegation pledged its support to efforts in Congress to stop the two-dam project by the Appalachian Power Co. APCO of Roanoke, Va., and Attorney General Rufus L. Edmisten said the state justice Department would continue its efforts to halt or delay the project in Federal courts.

Harrington said his department will ask the General Assembly to expand the limits in North Carolina's own Wild and Scenic Rivers Act so that the state's management plan might be acceptable to federal officials.

If the North Carolina plan is accepted, Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton could designate the river for inclusion in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act—without congressional action—under a provision that the state bear the cost of administering the river.

Harrington also said hearings will be held late this month or in early February in Ashe and Alleghany counties, the two counties in North Carolina affected by the project, to explain the program to residents. He said it would require insignificant land acquisition.

The groups, opposed to the project which would flood some 40,000 acres in North Carolina and Grayson County, Va., met to form a single organization after realizing their efforts in separate groups were fragmented.

Harrington, who said residents of the area "would prefer simply to be left alone," called economic benefits claimed by APCO at the project "just so much hogwash."

APCO officials, faced with concerted efforts to stop the project, have begun preliminary planning after getting final approval Jan. 2 and have said initial construction work on dams near Galax and Independence, Va., is at least two years off. The dams, backing up water on the river which rises in North Carolina and flows into Virginia and West Virginia, would also force about 3,000 persons in the two states to leave their homes.

And Edmisten said the state Justice Department would press the state's court cases. The state has challenged Federal Power Commission license-granting methods before the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. And a Greensboro federal court judge, while delaying a decision on a state request for a preliminary restraining order recently, warned APCO it could start construction "at your own peril."

The power firm should be told," Harrington said, "why don't you go try to build the dam in Illinois or Ohio where they're going to get the power?"

N.C. News Briefs

May Create Temporary Jobs

CHARLOTTE (AP)—North Carolina's local governments may be able to create about 2,000 temporary jobs within the next month with an estimated $12.2 million expected from the federal Public Service Employment Program.

L. M. Wright of the state Manpower Council said Friday the money, authorized in a bill signed by President Ford this week, would be distributed to local governments based on unemployment in each area.

The jobs are expected to include employment in hospitals, schools, social service and public utilities.

Preliminary guidelines state that the new job must have a salary between 7,800 and $10,000 annually. Funding was authorized for only one year, and local governments are under no obligation to continue the program if federal money is halted.

Wants Minimum Standards

RALEIGH (UPI)—North Carolina Insurance Commissioner John R. Ingram says he will ask the 1975 General Assembly to set minimum standards for health insurance in the state.

The Ingram proposal would include minimum benefit levels, he said. He suggested that all health policies should provide coverage for at least 30 days hospitalization.

The commissioner said the standards would also require "extensive disclosure" of what the policy does and does not cover, simpler terms and coverage conditions that can be easily understood by the public and an end to "provisions which may mislead or confuse the public in connection with the purchase of a policy or the settlement of a claim."

Sharp Construction Drop

RALEIGH (AP)—A sharp drop in housing construction helped cause a 39 per cent decline in the value of building permits issued in North Carolina in November, 1974, the state Labor Department reported today.

The department said permits in the month represented a construction value of $27 million. The November, 1973 total was $44.3 million.

The department said single family housing starts were off by half and apartment unit starts were off by 90 per cent.

Fayetteville had more activity than any other city for the month with $4.4 million in permits, followed by Raleigh with $3.6 million.

For the first 11 months of the year, the department said, building activity, as represented by permit values, was off 17 per cent.

Rape Charge A Hoax

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI)—A reported rape at the North Carolina Central University campus, which led to student demonstrations to demand better campus security, was a hoax.

Alex Rivera, director of public relations at the university, said the 18-year-old freshman coed who reported the rape had emotional problems and had been taken out of school by her parents.

Road Construction Cuts

RALEIGH (AP)—Scheduled North Carolina road construction projects may be postponed because of falling Department of Transportation revenues, according to Secretary of Transportation Troy A. Doby.

No Intent To Curtail UNC Budgetary Powers

RALEIGH (UPI) — State Sen. I.C. Crawford, D-Buncombe, says the legislative study commission that he heads does not intend to recommend that the university of North Carolina board of governors, budgetary powers be curtailed.

Last month, Rep. Herbert L. Hyde, D-Buncombe, said the commission had proposed, and was expected to approve, a proposal to strip the UNC board of its authority to set budget priorities for the UNC system that must be followed by the legislature.

But Crawford, chairman of the group, said at a meeting of the commission Friday that the panel had no intention of diluting the board's powers.

He said a reference to the board in a draft state budget proposal will be stricken. He acknowledged that language of the proposal, with the reference to the UNC board intact, was subject to "different interpretations."

The section of a draft revision of the budget act in question would have specified that the legislature could add to the board's budget requests "programs and items not requested by the board which transcend strictly academic and-or educational systems closely related to the closed system of public higher education."

The measure, Royall said, was an effort to introduce more "accountability" into the budget system.

He denied the proposal was an outgrowth of a fued between the 1974 legislature and the board of governors over funding for expansion of the East Carolina University Medical School. The board at first opposed the expansion, though it has since voted to make the money available.

Libya Lifts Ban On Oil Exports

By United Press International

Libya was reported Saturday to have quietly lifted its 15-month ban on oil shipments to the United States. Morocco announced it is taking over operations in the country of the Ameerican Exxon oil company.

Iran and West Germany took issue with the United States for raising the possibility of military force to bring down the price of oil if the industrial nations are seriously threatened.

But Kuwaiti Petroleum Minister Abdel Rahman Al-Atiqi, without referring to Kissinger's remarks, echoed the secretary in an interview published in Saturday's Al Diyar magazine in Beirut.

He said that cutting production will "complicate matters and could lead the industrialized and advanced nations to launch war against us. We have no intention of denying the world access to our oil—a matter which would push the world to the brink of destruction."

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger remarked about the possible use of force in seeking to insure oil supplies in an interview with Business Week magazine. On Saturday, the White House said President Ford shares Kissinger's view that industrial nations might consider military force as a last resort if "strangled" by the need for oil.

Iranian Premier Amir Abbas Hoveyda said in an interview published in the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram that "if one of the superpowers sent its armed forces to the oil-rich Gulf countries, the other superpower would do likewise and a great catastrophe would ensue. Iran does not believe this will happen. A military invasion of oil sources is impossible."

Greenville Man Appointed To Wake District Court

RALEIGH—Greenville native Carlos W. (Buddy) Murray Jr. has been named by Gov. James E. Holshouser Jr. to fill a vacancy that was opened on the Wake District Court bench this month when Judge Edwin S. Preston Jr. moved up to the superior court.

Murray, now a Raleigh attorney, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos W. Murray Sr. of Greenville. He is expected to take office on Monday, January 6, Murray won the appointment over Court of Appeals Research Director John T. Hall and assistant District Attorney Randolph Riley, both Democrats. The three were recommended to the governor from a field of seven lawyers who had expressed interest in the job.

Murray said he would try to inform defendants and witnesses "what the complicated procedures and big words are about as well as erase suspicions about the courts." Murray was an assistant attorney general and Wake County assistant solicitor before entering private practice here four years ago. He has specialized in trial work, particularly in criminal and domestic cases.

Murray is an honors graduate of East Carolina University, and he received his law degree from Wake Forest University Law School. He is married to the former Salle Currie of Greensboro. The Murraus have one son, Harrison, seven years old.

Legal Obstacles To Lotteries Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal obstacles to the public reporting of state lottery results have been removed by a bill signed into law by President Ford.

The bill signed Friday and effective immediately permits radio and television stations in lottery states to broadcast lottery information and advertisements. Also, stations in adjacent states which have their own lottery can broadcast information on a neighboring state's lottery.

Newspapers published in lottery states may now publish lottery information in editions mailed to subscribers. However, they are still prohibited from carrying information on another state's lottery in mail editions.

Congress passed the measure Dec. 20 after Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe warned that many state-run lotteries violated federal law prohibiting broadcast of lottery information. The law also barred the mailing of newspapers containing lottery information.

Twenty-five states have authorized lotteries conducted by someone other than the state: Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

James Sugg Named Chairman

RALEIGH (AP)—James Sugg was reelected without opposition today as chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Party.

The election came during a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee.

Prior to the election, U. S. Sen.-elect Robert Morgan proposed that the Democratic chairman and executive direct and handle the campaigns of all Democratic nominees in 1976.

Morgan said finances and campaign efforts could be coordinated much better under this method.

"We should have everything laid out almost except the names of the candidates," he said in urging that work begin now for 1976.

Pitt United Fund Office Relocated

The Pitt County United Fund is relocating its offices from the North Carolina National Bank building at Five Points to the second floor of the Greenville Utilities Building at the corner of Washington and Fifth Streets.

Joe Tripp, executive director, said that the move will be completed on Monday and the United Fund staff will be taking calls at the new location Monday afternoon.

Tripp noted that the move is necessary since the Redevelopment Commission has purchased the bank building at Five Points and plans are being made to demolish the structure.

United Fund president Ed Warren expressed his appreciation to NCNB officials for providing the office space to the United Fund rent free since the UF organization was initiated in 1958.

Tripp invited local citizens to visit the new location. He said that the building's Fifth Street entrance should be used by persons visiting the office.

Less Oil For U.S. Consumers

The Ford administration has obviously come to the conclusion that it must develop a plan to curtail oil consumption, and thus reduce the reliance on imported oil.

Among the alternatives is rationing, for which stamps are already printed, or simply reducing the imports, and allocating gas and oil products from the supplies available.

Rationing would take a huge administrative staff and the allocation system would probably mean the long lines which characterized the gas shortage of last year.

An additional tax on gas at the pump has been proposed within the administration, but this seems to be rejected by the president as unrealistic politically.

Now the thinking seems to be that increasing the tax on oil by $3 a barrel may be the best approach to reducing use of oil products. The tax would apply to both imported oil and domestic oil. It would raise about $18 billion in revenue which government sources say would be used for either tax cuts, or government programs to offset the recession.

The new tax on oil would raise the price of gasoline by about 7½ cents per gallon at the pump, thus having a similar effect as a direct tax on gas by the gallon.

As we see it, the administration would do far better to work for a direct tax on gasoline at the pump, rather than to put the tax on oil on a per barrel basis.

We say that because the greatest waste of energy in our country comes through the automobile. There is virtually not a family any where that cannot easily cut its driving by ten percent and still have all the essential transportation it needs.

The gasoline tax would affect only the price we pay for auto fuel, where everybody can easily make cuts. The $3 per barrel increase in tax will affect the price of everything we use that depends on oil. Its worst effect on the family budget would be in that figure we see on our electric bills labelled "fuel charge." It would go right on up in relation to the per barrel price increase. As all of us know, the fuel charge has gone up rapidly enough as it is, and awesome increases in the base rate of electricity are in store for all electric customers.

We think Americans realize the seriousness of the imported oil situation and they recognize that something will have to be done to cut down on oil use. Most families, however, can cut down on automobile driving easier than anything else. Therefore gasoline should bear the brunt of any tax increase, rather than putting the increase on all oil-related producted, including electricity and home heating oil.

"Oh, no! My barrel's been repossessed!"

Donkey Crop Is Liked

By CHERYL MORRISON
Associated Press Writer

LEBANON, N.J. (AP) — At Box Hill Farm, one of the crops is donkeys.

The Weppler family, which owns the 130-acre farm near here in the middle of northwestern New Jersey's dairy country, has raised Sardinian donkeys for nearly 25 years.

"Some friends of my parents had a couple of donkeys, and my parents fell in love with them," says Jim Weppler.

The Wepplers imported the five donkeys in their original herd from Sardinia, a tiny island off the coast of Italy. The herd now numbers 60.

The donkeys are no bigger than some very large dogs. When they're fully grown, their backs are about three feet high. Their coats are brown or gray, and cross-shaped markings of dark brown fur embellish their backs.

"The cross is supposed to be their reward for carrying Mary to Bethlehem so Christ could be born," says Weppler. "Their basic selling point is that they're such nice animals. Donkeys are docile and very gentle, and they get along with other animals like dogs, horses and cows," says Weppler.

Most of the donkeys the farm sells are bought for children, according to Weppler.

"They don't require much care, either," Weppler adds. "They don't get sick much, they aren't finicky eaters and they don't require special stables or anything.

"A lot of grandparents buy them and keep them in their yards for the grandchildren to ride when they visit," he says.

The donkeys can carry about 75 pounds on their backs, and they can pull carts.

"We also sell some to race tracks that use them for mascots," Weppler says. "Some tracks put a donkey in the stable with the high-strung thoroughbreds to calm the horses down. We sell one to a children's zoo once in a while, too.

Slip-Up Over Paroles Job

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Political patronage hiring is bound to produce some goofs, but a recent incident is a classic.

The word went out from Raleigh that a fellow was to be given a job in the parole office in Fayetteville; a reward for services.

No sooner did the district office get the word, than in walks a fellow of the same name hunting a job. Done, the bureaucracy ruled, and the man went to work as a parole officer trainee at a salary of $8,484.

But it seems there were two fellows of the same name, and the one hired was the wrong one. Besides, it wasn't exactly proper for the parole officer trainee to be a parolee himself. The newly hired trainee was fired on the gounds that he falsified his job application, and that was later amended to show that he had simply resigned. The job is now open for the "right" man.

Teacher Lament

Recent comments in this column about developing trends toward a return to basics in the public schools has prompted a number of teachers to respond with the hope that such a possibility gains momentum.

Saying it superbly is a Durham school teacher who has taught for 30 years.

Over that time, she says, "I have found that our children have come to know less and less and less (while) a vast amount of money is being spent on education (as) younger teachers poo-poo all of the old methods of teaching: discipline, good manners, becoming involved with the whole child."

Of her 136 students, 85 per cent "have been led to believe that they are A or B students because teachers have given them high marks all of their lives . . . It is amazing that so many have come to the ninth grade and do not know that clean paper and legible writing are a must. They are so far behind it brings tears to my eyes." If called on to give an honest grade, this teacher believes 73 of her students would rate failing marks, and only five could in good conscious receive an A or B.

A return to the basics, she believes, is the "only answer to the problems facing the students in our schools."

Rural Inequity

North Carolina has long considered herself fortunate to have so many small towns and rural communities where half of the population lives.

But when it comes to getting funds for mass transit, that population pattern is a drawback. Most Tar Heel citizens will never see the results of a nearly $4 billion federal spending program for mass transportation.

North Carolina will get $34.5 million over the six-year period, with the funds earmarked for Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Asheville, Burlington, Durham, Fayetteville, Gastonia, Greensboro, High Point, Raleigh and Wilmington.

The total coming to North Carolina is less than that budgeted for our neighbors: Virginia, $64 million; Tennessee, $40.4 million; Georgia, $50.4 million; Florida, $134 million.

Why the disparity? Our state has the population to merit a bigger chunk of the pie, ranking 12th in the nation. But the federal program favors urban concentrations of population, neglecting states like North Carolina.

Tar Heels living in snall towns and rural areas have the same energy shortage problems developing as their city brethren, but will find this compounded by longer distances to travel and the obvious neglect of planning and funding now for future solutions.

Sunday Morning Notes

"Santa Claus good to you?" someone asked.

"Yeah," he replied. "He let me wake up Christmas morning. He sure was good to me."

Then there was the report of the man who figured out how to get rid of his garbage during the holidays.

He wrapped it up in Christmas paper and put it in the back seat of his car. He left the car in various parking lots around town.

Each time he came back the Christmas wrapped garbage was gone.

ALVIN TAYLOR

"Hi Santa," one kid said. "I'm your neighbor."

Santa was taken aback but he thought quickly.

"Why I bet you are from Alaska," Santa answered.

That's right," the child said. "We're down visiting grandma."

Well, It's New Year's now and in Greenville the year 1975 was welcomed in with a round of fireworks as the midnight hour came Tuesday night.

Who knows, where they come from, but the fireworks gave the town an aura of a combat zone as the old year changed into the new.

"Maybe we'd better reactivate those old Civil War trenches that used to be on campus," one observer commented. "Sounds like the Yankees have finally invaded."

Could be.

At any rate the New Year came in rather uneventfully for Greenville. There was the usual round of parties. Some wrecks. Some folks just went to bed early.

And there was football. Lots and lots of football on television as all the bowl games were played.

One football addict was obviously glad when the final game faded from the screen

Laws Change

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Be especially wary when you're behind the wheel of your car after January. For that's the day a host of confusing changes will be taking place in North Carolina traffic laws.

Perhaps the most confusing is the one to halt the recently won right to make a right turn on a red traffic light. Although the General Assembly is expected to restore the right-turn provision shortly after it convenes Jan. 15, it will still be illegal to make such a turn until the legislature acts. The act dies on Jan. 1 because of an inadvertent action by the legislature passing a bill to repeal the turn-right act.

But there are other changes in traffic laws that motorists must try to remember. For example, a driver's license will be revoked automatically if he is convicted of driving at least 15 miles an hour faster than the posted speed limit.

Also, a driver attempting to elude pursuing police officers at a speed of at least 55 mph and 15 miles an hour over the posted speed could be fined $1,000 and jailed two years.

It will be a misdemeanor crime to unintentionally cause someone's death while driving if the death is the result of violating a traffic law. Maximum punishment is $500 fine and two years in prison.

Jacking up the front or rear of a vehicle more than six inches will be illegal. That doesn't mean jacking a car up to fix a flat tire. It means putting stilts on the rear end to make a car look like it's standing on its nose.

It will be illegal to drive with blood alcohol content of .10 per cent or more. The punishment is the same as for drunken driving. If motorcyclists travel more than two abreast they will be subject to a maximum penalty of $100 fine and 60 days in jail.

The minimum amount of liability insurance will go up to $15,000 for each injury or death in an accident. It is now $10,000.

Motorbikes with engines of less than one horsepower that can't go faster than 20 mph will be exempt from the title and registration laws. But they cannot be operated by anyone less than 16 years old on any public road.

Most motorists will become accustomed to these new changes. But some will learn the hard way.

40 Years Ago Today

An enlarged work relief plan was proposed to Congress today by President Roosevelt.

Without estimating the cost, Roosevelt said the government should put 3,500,000 unemployed to work on slum cleaning, eliminating grade crossings and other public works.

He assured the figures to be proposed for the work in his budget message next Monday would be within the sound credit of the government.

The highway safety slogan contest will close tonight and members of the committee will meet Monday to pick the slogan to be used in the campaign to reduce the loss of life on the various highways of the district.

Mayor Flanagan named Dr. G. R. Combs, J. H. Rose and D. J. Whichard Jr. as members of the committee to go through the slogans and pick the one they think most appropriate for the highway movement.

The writer of the best slogan will receive $10.

INSIDE REPORT

Dixie GOP Dream Injured

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

DALLAS—The sight of Robert S. Strauss, home for the holidays from his Washington base as Democratic national chairman, receiving the homage of conservative establishment businessmen as he launched last week at the Dallas Club carries grim omens for the Republic party.

These fellow Texans were lavishly praising Strauss for what they view as preventing at least temporarily radical control of the Democratic party. Whether Strauss really has accomplished that is less important than the belief here that he has. In a city that was once the Mecca of muscular conservative Republicanism in the New South, it is now marginally more respectable to be a Democrat than a Republican.

That means the Southern Republican dream of party realignment, conservative Southern Democrats thronging to the GOP, is indenfinitely postponed. Driven down by Watergate and the failing economy, Republican prospects have hit bottom in Texas as elsewhere in the South—dreadful news for conservative ideologues who preach Republican expansion on a Southern base.

Republicanism in Texas is pitiably anemic considering expansive dreams spawned early in 1961 by the upset election to the U.S. Senate of Republican John G. Tower. The 1974 election here reflected the national Republican pattern—the worst loss for governor since 1966; the defeat of one of the state's four Republican Congressmen; the tiny state legislative delegation still tiny.

But while similarly grim election results in 1964 were followed by a freshet of Texas Republican activity to regain lost ground, there is indolence today. Volunteers, money and leadership have dried up. The state party headquarters in Austin has been cut in half, with regular long distance telephone lines removed.

Behind the reduced physical activity is malaise and depression. "We wear Nixon and Watergate around our necks like an albatross," one veteran Texas Republican worker told us. Texas Republicans, feeling betrayed for having so long trusted and defended Richard M. Nixon, have found no new leader in President Ford. "The phrase you hear most about Ford is that he's 'in over his head,' " said a Republican businessman. After pausing, he added: "I tend to agree with that."

When we reported from here a year ago, Republican leaders still hoped for the prestige and magnetism of Republican convert John B. Connally to lead establishment Democrats into his new party. Now under federal indictment, Connally is finished forever in politics. Sen. Tower, though hugely popular, is a lone wolf without great interest in party affairs. The third prestigious Texas Republican, George Bush, is in far-off Peking.

This sorry state of Republican affairs has played into the hands of Strauss and other old-line Democrats wooing the establishment. The mere fact that their own Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the essence of big Texas money, can even be considered for the Democratic presidential nomination enhances the party's prestige with the establishment.

But most important is the presence in Austin of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, largely inactive but landslide winner of the state's first four-year term. "Dolph is like a ten-ton marshmallow in your driveway," complains one Texas Republican. "You can kick the hell out of it, but you can't move it." Nor can you

Strength For Today

THE ESSENCE OF CHRISTIANITY

Jesus Christ came into the world for the purpose of telling men and women that something had happened. He came to bring them not good advice, but good news. His message was that in his providence God had decided to do certain things for humanity, and the events of Christ's life culminating in the cross were the fulfilling of that promise.

Some people regard Christianity as merely as system of ethics. They say that Jesus was a great teacher whose object was to lead men and women to rightious living. But all this is secondary. Jesus Christ was sent into the world as Savior, and his gospel consists of the glad announcement that through him God had made salvation possible. The gospel of Jesus Christ is not mere exhortation for people to be good, it is not a plan for redistributing wealth, it is not an economic system, it is not a philosophy. Christianity is a divinely revealed message about God's love for mankind and his means of fulfilling that love.

Auto Makers' Year Of Decline

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto makers have closed the books on their most tumultuous year since World War II and opened 1975 with announcements of new production cutbacks and hints of more to come.

They also confirmed independent industry estimates that new car output in 1974 sank to its lowest level in four years. A 67-day General Motors strike cut production in 1970, while the 1974 output was trimmed by a three-week strike of American Motors workers last September.

Additional bad news is expected to come Monday when the industry reports its year-end sales totals. Deliveries since September have trailed year-before levels by 30 per cent.

Another sales drop in December, as anticipated, would trigger a new round of production cutbacks and layoffs.

U.S. passenger car production in 1974 stood at 7,340,373 units, a 24 per cent drop from a record 9,660,819 in 1973.

It was the lowest output since 1962, with the exception of 1970, when General Motors was hit by a 67-day national strike.

December production was 357,429 units, off 31 per cent from 517,955 in December 1973 when production and sales had just begun to tumble in response to effects of the energy crisis.

GM production in December 1974 was 215,423, down 17 per cent from 259,273 in December 1973. Production for 1974 stood at 3,585,509, a 32 per cent decline from the 1973 total of 5,252,734.

Ford's production for December 1974 was 108,024, off 18 per cent from December 1973's 131,984. Total production for last year was 2,205,245, down 12 per cent from the 1973 total of 2,495,853.

Chrysler built only 15,222 cars in December, an 85 per cent decline from the 103,217 built in December 1973. For the year, Chrysler's output was 1,196,241, off 23 per cent from 1973's 1,556,377.

American Motors reported output in December at 18,760, off 20 per cent from 1973's 23,481. Production declined one per cent for the year, 351,378 to 355,855 in 1973.

The most hard-pressed of the companies, Chrysler Corp., announced Thursday it was shutting three plants for at least a week, beginning Monday, and eliminating second shifts at two of those facilities when they reopen. One of the shift eliminations was announced previously.

The new shutdowns will force the layoff of 10,800 hourly workers, 2,600 of them for indefinite periods. About 50,000 of Chrysler's 117,000 hourly workers have now been given open-ended furloughs.

Company spokesmen hinted at further cutbacks, but declined to disclose production schedules beyond those for next week.

Pessimism Also Abroad

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J.—The deep anxiety of the American people over the state of the economy is matched by gloom abroad, as determined by a recent 10-nation Gallup International survey.

Nearly nine in ten (87 per cent) Americans predict rising unemployment in 1975, while 75 per cent predict rising prices.

In terms of the job outlook, 87 per cent of the French also think unemployment will grow in 1975, while in Great Britain 80 per cent hold this view. Marked pessimism is also recorded in India, Canada, Switzerland and Spain.

Regarding the outlook for prices in 1975, Americans are actually slightly less pessimistic than are the publics of seven of the other nine nations surveyed. Most pessimistic of all are the British, with 95 per cent in that country predicting a year of rising prices.

Public On Target With '74 Predictions

The average citizen, while uninformed on economic matters, is nevertheless sensitive to even slight changes in the economy which affect his own pocketbook and business conditions in his immediate area. The aggregate views of Americans, therefore, have often proved to be an accurate barometer of economic trends.

As a case in point, one year ago—when most economists are predicting that an upturn in the economy would occur—the American people saw nothing but economic trouble ahead, a prediction which proved to be on target.

This year—at the outset of 1975—the economists and the public see eye-to-eye. In fact, there is nearly total accord among economists that we are facing a world economic crisis of historic proportions. An assessment of the international economic situation reveals that world wide inflation rates have climbed, economic growth is down sharply in nearly all parts of the world, stock market prices around the world have plummeted, and financial markets are under great strain.

Details Of Survey

During the last weeks of 1974, Gallup-affiliated organizations in 10 nations assigned their field staff to interview representative samples of the public in each nation. In the U.S., a total of 1,517 adults were interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation during the period Dec. 6-9.

Here are the questions which have been asked at regular intervals since the 1950s by Gallup International, and the results:

"Which of these do you think is likely to be true of 1975: A year of full employment or a year of rising unemployment?"

"Occasionally, we rent a donkey out to someone who's having a party with a Mexican theme or something like that. But we try not to make a habit of it. We rent mostly to people we know. There are some people around who are just naturally abusive to animals, and we want to avoid them."

Box Hill rents its donkeys for $50 a day. The sale prices are $275 for males, which are called jacks, and $375 for females, or jennets.

The Wepplers sell about a dozen donkeys a year, but Weppler says business hasn't been so good this year.

Donkeys reach sexual maturity when they're about 2 years old, breed for about 10 years and often live into their 20s. Jennets usually bear a foal each year after a pregnancy that lasts 11 months.

The Wepplers sell most of the jack foals when they're 8 months old, and they keep most of the jennets for the herd. Almost all of their donkeys are females.

"We try to replace the jacks every couple of years just to keep fresh blood in the herd," says Weppler. "That's hard to do because most of the herds anywhere around here were started from one of our donkeys."

One donkey that probably won't be for sale is Jenny, a fuzzy foal whose mother died when she was born. The Wepplers have been raising her in a spare room of their 19th-century house. She plays several hours a day in the front yard with the family's half-dozen or so cats.

"We couldn't sell her now," says Jim Weppler, as he feeds Jenny from a baby bottle. "She's too much of a pet."

A Conservative View
Dreams Die When The Dreamer Is Awakened

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

NEW YORK—The United Nations is one of the great tourist attractions of New York, ranking ahead of the Bronx Zoo and behind Rockefeller Center, but it becomes increasingly difficult to perceive any other useful purpose in the U.N.'s continued existence. Little would be lost if we sawed it away from the East River and let it float out to sea.

When the U.N. came into being, nearly 30 years ago, it was supposed that the U.N. would do three things: The Security Council would maintain international peace; the General Assembly would provide a forum for responsible international debate; and the associated agencies would perform certain international services.

It was a mission impossible, designed to self-destruct. The Security Council has not maintained peace, and the Assembly has degenerated into a mere tom-tom, sounding the beat of Third World propaganda. Only the associated agencies have functioned according to plan, and these would have done as well if the U.N. had never come into being.

Colgate W. Darden, Jr., one of the wisest Americans of this century, is among many idealists who have given up on the U.N. Darden will be 78 next month. As a young man, scarred by the brutal horrors of Verdun, he campaigned for the League of Nations. He served as wartime governor of Virginia, later as president of the University of Virginia. In 1945 he threw his energies behind the U. N. Ten years later, he served as a United States delegate to the General Assembly.

A few weeks ago, the aging Virginian spoke at Virginia Military Institute of his mounting disillusion. He had not changed his mind about the need for machinery to promote world peace; he did not believe that "world government" could be made to work, and he saw "little real hope" in the United Nations.

"The U.N.," said Darden, "has shown with its greatly enlarged membership a marked disposition to impose unreasonable burdens upon the more advanced industrial nations. It appears bogged down in petty bickering and self-serving ventures.

"We witness a tug of war between the undeveloped and the developed nations rather than reasonable collaboration which is essential if the pressing problems overhanging us are to be solved, or even dealt with effectively. The structure of the present organization should be re-examined, and if it cannot be revamped so as to bring about a reasonable balance between the members it should be abandoned and some other plan devised."

Former Senator Peter Dominick of Colorado voiced the same view in a farewell address to the Senate last month. Like Darden, he too has seen war at first hand; he has consistently supported the U.N, "imperfect though it may be," as a useful mechanism for world peace. Now he too is fed up.

"The 1974 General Assembly," said Dominick, "by reaching new heights of irresponsibility and hypocrisy and setting new records for ignoring its own rules has made it crystal clear that, far from representing a hope for peace, it is in fact an obstacle to it."

What would happen if the United States formally withdrew from the U.N? Nothing very much. The United Nations would sputter along for a few years, passing windy resolutions and making impotent gestures, but the structure of world power would not be altered. Questions of war or peace would be resolved as they always have been resolved, by arms or by negotiation. The international service agencies, even now headquartered in Geneva, Berne, Montreal, Rome and Vienna, would function as before.

It would be charged, of course, that the United States had killed the U.N., but the charge would be untrue. A dream dies of its own accord when the dreamer awakes. Darden and Dominick, who believed in the dream, speak for many U.N. supporters who now see the dream dissolve.

Several Signs Suggest Prolonged Wait For Recovery In Housing

By GEORGE BRYANT, JR.

There is a considerable suspicion that it will take more than "easy" money to end the long and steep slide in home building and set the industry on a recovery course.

This shows in a number of the forecasts of the economy for 1975. All recognize the close ite between this key industry and the availability and cost of mortgage money. Building suffers when the total economy booms, tightening credit. And it recovers when recessions ease the overall demand for money.

If this was all there is to it this time around, then there would be close agreement that housing would fellow the old pattern. This would call an end to the long and steep slide about mid-1975 and the beginning of a vigorous recovery which would spread along a wide front.

But some of the forecasts make the point that there are significant differences from the past in the current outlook and that they may well delay and limit housing recovery.

The new "problems" pointed to most often center on the extremely high level of current prices, the large "inventory" of new homes now hanging over the market and the caution of Savings & Loans and other mortgage lenders in today's uncertain economy.

On price, there's the definite possibility that the home builders have been following the same route which put the giant automobile industry on the skids. The builders, like the auto makers, have been content to give labor what it wants and pass the extra on to the buyer. There is also the matter of shrinking quality.

If it does turn out that price has become a major barrier to sales, then easy money probably won't be enough to get the industry back on the uptrend. The building industry then would have to face up to the problem of increasing productivity.

A drive about the suburbs of many big-city areas reveals fields and woods filled with finished or nearly finished homes. Some estimates place this "inventory" at more than 400,000 units. That's tremendous, considering that current starts are at an annual rate of less than one million.

A few figures illustrate the magnitude of the housing slump. After a hard slide in the late 1960s, housing turned up in 1970. Starts climbed from an annual rate of about one million to an annual rate above 2.5 million in October of 1973. From then on, it has been a steady slide to less than one million starts.

Money, which long flowed away from the home mortgage lenders to other investments paying higher interest rates, now is flowing back at an increasing rate. But the mortgage lenders are cautious. Savings & Loan Associations are paying back high-interest loans they got from the Home Loan Bank system when money was so tight. And they are screening applications closely. It will be sometime before they feel in an "easy" money position.

Another dark spot in the housing picture has been the decline in home building permits. On this trip down, they have fallen more faster and farther than in other housing slides.

These are special problems which confront the home building industry. And it may well be that they will delay and slow recovery, compared with previous patters.

And on top of it all is the understandable reluctance of would-be buyers to make long term commitments in the face of today's uncertainties.

There's no question but what the all important factor of confience is slow. With the Watergate story bound to diminish, the media may substitute the recession as an attention getter—overdo gloom and doom.

claim that the Texas Democratic party is a hotbed of radicalism with Briscoe, a conservative millionaire rancher, as its leader.

Symptomatic is the course followed by George Christian, Lyndon B. Johnson's last and most effective presidential press secretary who returned to Texas in 1969 as a major political figure. He was Connally's top lieutenant running "Democrats for Nixon" nationally in 1972, was an honored guest at Nixon's 1973 inauguration and accompanied Connally on his 1973 Republican cross-country tour. Though he did not cross it, Christian was close up to his Republican Rubicon.

But now he has pulled away from it. He managed the upset victory for Congress by moderate conservative Democrat Jack Hightower against Rep. Robert Price, a right-wing Republican and last-ditch Nixon defender. Significantly, Christian attended the Kansas City midterm convention as a practicing Democrat.

Republican workers here still hope that George Christians will yet be converted when the liberals finally nominate a full-fledged liberal for governor. But when will that ever be? The early Democratic favorites to succeed Briscoe in 1979 are Lt. Gov. William Hobby and Secretary of State John Hill, both more moderate than liberal and both definitely of the establishment.

A wholly different Republican victory plan was etched in Dallas Nov. 5 with the reelection to Congress of Rep. Alan Steelman, running as a progressive Republican appealing to a broad electoral base. Steelman's win amid general Republican defeat, surprising to many here, might well be studied as providing an alternative formula to the fading Southern dream of ideological party realignment.

The Great Conspiracy, Or, Cooks' Labor Lost

How would you like to be compared to a snake everytime you visited your relatives? That's what happens to me. Everytime I visit my family in Atlanta, my grandfather greets me by saying, "You scrawny little rascal—you're as poor as a snake."

He's not referring to my financial status; he's referring to the size of my waist. Everyone in my family has an uncontrollable urge to fatten me up. My mother serves my plate with helpings that would make Zero Mostel turn pale. My grandmother throws out subtle hints that I should gain weight—like giving me a pantsuit for Christmas, size 18. My grandfather is not particular about the way I gain weight. He figures that if I can't gzin weight by eating, I might as well get pregnant. The other night he asked me, "Why don't you have a baby? When your Great Aunt Ethel was your age, she'd already had three children." Of course, Great Aunt Ethel was twelve when she married.

This year the family got together and planned a reunion, the main purpose of which was to fatten me up. Everything was designed to make the participants hungry. There was enough food to fill Earl Butz's new $150,000 dining room. There were so many people there than when we all got out of our cars to walk up to my grandparents' house, our Police Chief made us buy a parade permit. However, the conspirators made one fatal mistake. They asked Cousin Robert to say the blessing.

Cousin Robert is from the same town that claims one of the all time greats of stage and screen—Junior Samples. And there are only two ways that a listener can react to Cousin Robert's blessings—he (the listener) can either start a prayer of his own that Robert will finish the blessing before all the relatives collapse from hunger, or he can fall asleep in his plate.

The crowd was about equally divided between the two tendencies. About ten minutes into the blessing, while Robert was still giving thanks for the maters and the taters, Uncle Ralph was snoring, and Aunt Mossy's stomach was making noises remarkably like those made by the enraged King Kong on the Empire State building. About twenty minutes into the blessing, while Robert was asking God to take care of Great Great Aunt Pearl and all the other dead ancestors, Uncle Ralph had half-smothered in the gravy boat, where he had been unconsciously resting his head for the past five minutes, and Aunt Mossy was filching the marshmellows off the sweet potato casserole. By the time Robert finished, Grandmother had to call the rescue squad to pick up Uncle Ralph, and Aunt Sarah Lee had demolished all the sweet potatoes and licked the casserole dish to a Windex shine.

GAIL MICHAELS

Instead of gaining weight on my visit, I lost three pounds. It wasn't that Grandmother and Mother hadn't outdone themselves—their meals were delicious. But everytime I would try to eat something, I pictured the giblets sticking to Uncle Ralph's face as he was pulled out of the gravy boat, and I lost my appetite.

New Patient Rights For The Mentally Ill In S. Carolina

By BOB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The commissioner of the South Carolina Mental Health Department says a change in admission regulations, effective Sunday, will mean "a new day for the mentally ill of this state, giving them the basic rights as citizens and insuring them better treatment and care."

Dr. William S. Hall, in an interview, said no longer can the members of a household "sluff off an older person into a mental hospital just to get them out of the way.

"No longer can an individual be committed simply because he may act different than what his family or neighbors consider normal. The person will have the right to be different," he said.

"And no longer can a wife, for example, have her husband committed to a mental hospital simply because he might have gone on a binge for a week or so."

Hall said with the new regulations, mental facilities may reach the goal where they are not penal institutions, nor prisons. "And social workers and psychologists aren't baby sitters, and nurses aren't maximum security guards, and psychiatrists are not the judges over the conscience or sensitivities of society."

The doctor pointed to these major admission changes:

—A person motted on an emergency basis must be returned to his home county within 20 days for a full hearing in probate court.

—Conditionally discharged patients will not be involuntarily readmitted to the mental hospitals except with approval of the probate court.

—No person may be jailed for safekeeping because of mental illness.

On this last point, Hall said a mentally ill or retarded individual who commits a crime, may be placed in jail, but the new law requires an immediate examination as to the person's mental condition.

The doctor said before a person can be put into the mental hospital, a hearing must be conducted before a probate judge.

"Those who are seeking a person's commitment must appear in court and justify their case. No longer will petty differences serve as grounds for commitment. The individual also must be represented by an attorney. If he can't afford one, the state must supply one. Also, there must be an examination performed by two persons, one of which is a licensed physician, the other a social worker, psychologist, or a psychiatric nurse," he said.

Hall pointed out that the new law, brought about by recent court cases in other states, also will give patients additional privileges and basic rights.

Patients now will have the right to communicate by sealed mail; to receive visitors of their choice; to wear their own clothes and use their own personal possessions; to spend a reasonable sum of his own money; and have access to individual storage space for private use.

Hall said unless the patient is legally declared incompetent, he also will have the right to dispose of property, to make purchases, register and vote, hold a driver's license and marry or divorce.

Each individual also can refuse nontherapeutic employment in the institution, a common practice in the past with patients working in the kitchen, in maintenance, or elsewhere.

Hall admitted the new regulations will sharply increase the paper work, especially in the probate courts, and will be hardship on physicians who must give up office time to testify in commitment cases.

State Hospital officials must review the files on the 5,600 patients now being treated and must advise each one of them of the right for an examination.

Hall said when the initial stage of the program is over and the paperwork out of the way, "we will be in a position to give our patients better care.

"We will eliminate the present trial visit system, where we would let a patient go home for a week or two, and then be returned if he failed to adjust. Now before readmission, another court hearing will be required. Thus, our staff will study each patient closer, and be as sure as possible that he or she is ready to face society," he said.

Hall was asked if the new regulations would cut down on the number of commitment cases, and he said:

"I think it will. Let's take an old person for example, and the family to get her out of their hair. Once, they could get a statement from a physician and then an order from the probate judge. Now, they must face that person in court and prove their contentions. I think many persons will shy away from that."

DRAMATIC EXTERIOR CREATES DISTINCTION FOR LEISURE HOME

By Jerry Bishop

This complete leisure home is well-designed, containing extra bath and storage areas for use as a year-round home. Combined with the luxurious exterior details and massive glass areas, the functional indoor plan moves easily from vacation home to permanent dwelling. By seashore or mountainside the expanse of glass ensures the view that all vacationers desire. In addition, the home could be constructed on a wooded lot in the middle of or close to an urban area and provide year-round living in a gracious out-of-doors setting.

Woodside

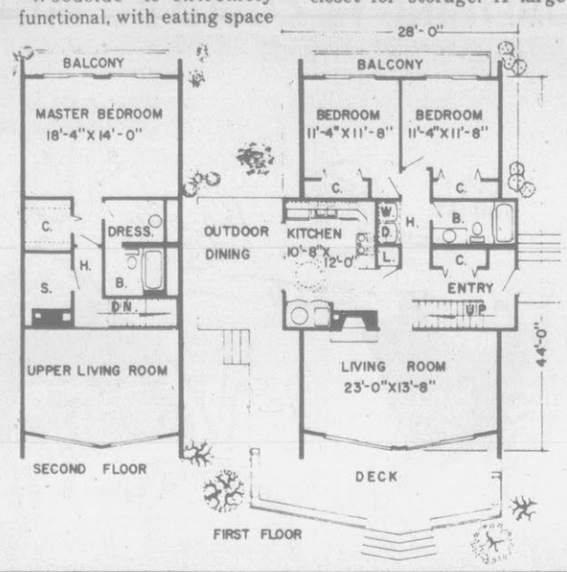
The huge sundeck definitely encourages outdoor living in the "Woodside," as does the outdoor dining area. In addition, two balconies span the bedroom areas. Shake shingles and rough cedar plywood siding not only create a dramatic contrast with the massive glass, but also provide a low-cost maintenance for the home.

Entrance is through the sundeck into the living room through sliding glass doors, through the outdoor dining area which connects to the kitchen, or through a side entry hall.

The sundeck extends to the side of the "Woodside," reaching far enough to the rear of the home to connect with the outdoor dining area.

The large living room, 23' by 13'8", is open to the kitchen and stairway. A woodburning fireplace warms the living area while the vaulted ceiling spans two stories for added interest and view. Four panes of glass provide natural light.

The kitchen of the "Woodside" is extremely functional, with eating space included and built-in appliances featured. Adjacent to the kitchen wall is washer and dryer space and a linen closet for storage. A large closet also is provided near the entry hall.



Two bedrooms share a full bath on the first floor, which opens to a hall and provides bath facilities for guests near the living area of the home. Each bedroom is spacious and well-lighted, with sliding doors exiting to a balcony. Each also contains a wall-to-wall closet.

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT — A spring bender designed to produce kink-free bends in aluminum and soft copper tubing.

The manufacturer's claim — That the bender is made of high-quality spring wire plated to resist corrosion and to allow the bender to slide easily on and off the tubing ... that use of the tool is simple, requiring that the bender be slid onto the tubing, grasped with both hands and then bent to the desired angle ... that the flared end of the bender allows the tubing to be removed easily after the desired curve has been achieved ... and that the tool meets or exceeds federal specifications.

THE PRODUCT — A clear reflective film that produces an instant tint on windows and is said to reflect up to 77 per cent of the sun's heat.

The manufacturer's claim — That the film reduces glare, cuts air conditioning loads in half, lowers temperatures by 10 to 15 degrees in rooms without air conditioning and assists in the conservation of room heat during cold winter months ... that the film is a laminate of an ultraviolet-resistant film and a metalized polyester film ... that no special tools are required to apply it at windows except a squeegie ... that the film needs no adhesive ... and that it is reusable, since it can be peeled and used again when needed.

THE PRODUCT — Expanding drawer dividers.

The manufacturer's claim — That the dividers subdivide any drawer to organize cutlery, gadgets, cosmetics, jewelry, clothing and all miscellaneous items stored in drawers throughout the house . . . that the dividers expand from 12⅜th inches to 23½ inches in length and fit into end tracks that are secured with self-adhering tape . . . and that they can be easily removed for cleaning or to make new arrangements.

The manufacturer's claim — That, since the appliances can be operated from one source, minimum storage space is required ... that the one horsepower motor is concealed with its wiring under the countertop ... and that it also provides a blender, mixer, knife sharpener, ice crusher and fruit juicer that work directly from the stainless steel surface plate.

(The home handyman will find much invaluable material in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666).

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I have purchased an unfinished table made of fir. I intend to finish it. What kind of filler should I use before putting on the stain?

A. — None. Fir is fine-grained and does not require a filler.

Q. — Is it better to stain a piece of furniture that I have made and then varnish it or start out by using a varnish-stain and letting it go at that?

A. — Using a varnish-stain is usually cheaper than using a stain and a varnish separately. It also helps to get the job done quickly. But if you are looking for a quality result, separate applications of stain and varnish are greatly preferred.

Q. — What is liquid sandpaper? I saw some instructions about using it, but never heard of it and I can't find it in the dictionary.

A. — It's a liquid preparation used to cut down the gloss on a surface and thus permit the application of a final coat. If, for instance, you wanted to paint kitchen cabinets that had some varnish gloss still remaining on them, you'd have to dull the surface to permit the paint to hold properly. You could do this with sandpaper, steel wool or a liquid sandpaper.

Q. — I know that lacquer should not be used over varnish, but can varnish be used over shellac?

A. — In nearly all cases, shellac is an excellent base for varnish. But if it's polyurethane varnish, it should not be used over shellac or any other finish, for that matter. Why not follow a policy I have used for years? Never buy any finishing material you haven't used before without FIRST reading the instructions, which will advise you if there are any prohibitions.

Q. — Can I use a nylon brush when putting bleach on wood?

A. — Yes. In fact, bleach is more likely to be damaging to a brush with natural fibers.

Join Early Log Cabin Revival

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Now that getting back to the soil is a popular idea, Early Log Cabin may be in for an architectural revival. And instead of searching bucolic byways for that dreamed-of rustic dwelling by a stream you could build your own at a favorite woodsy hideaway. If you choose the land with that idea, you may build your house out of your very own trees. Or some of them.

It may be a do-it-yourself reality (with the aid of a few friends) using the book, "How To Build and Furnish a Log Cabin" by W. Ben Hunt. The new book comprises two books by the late Wisconsin-born author, "Building Log Cabins" published in 1888 and "Rustic Construction" issued in 1939. The book was based on his own experiences, and although the tools prescribed include the cross-cut saw and other prepower tools, the modern chain saw should make the task easier.

A one-room cabin, 20 by 16, is described but there are plans, too, for adding an 8 by 10 lean-to kitchen to a 20 by 12 foot cabin, and for building a three-room cabin which includes a bedroom and dining-living room as well as a kitchen. A porch can be added to the cabins (useful for wood storage).

The site is the most important consideration as one must have good drainage, water supply, orientation, accessibility and safety. You may like one view better than another, but your main consideration must be prevailing winds and sunlight. Excessive shade will keep your cabin from drying out after it rains.

Good, clean, pure water should be available. A springhouse can be erected over a spring, the water piped or pumped into the house depending on the lie of the land. Or you may prefer a dug well which can be lined with stone that permits the water to seep in when the well is dug to water level. Drilled wells are best, suggests the author, even though more expensive to construct, and these are used with a pumping system.

Although there should be good access to a highway if the house is to be used in winter, you will not want to be on top of a well-trafficked road, so the spot must be chosen wisely. And you should make sure you can hook up to utilities that you will want.

As for the logs, with luck they can be obtained on or near the site you choose, but they will need seasoning — at least six months, but better for one year. Hunt's book advises that you may need to order them from saw mills or lumber companies and that telephone or light companies might supply your needs.

After that you will need sand, gravel, stone, cement and firebrick for your fireplace. Windows, doors, roofing and flooring boards, shingles and planking and material for chinking are also needed.

A mixture of stone and concrete is used whether the foundation is to be concrete pier that will go to the frost ground, foundation walls which will require screened vents to keep out small animals or a basement which may be required for storage.

The author suggests the simplest method may be to build the entire fireplace and chimney before walls or any logs are laid. A recess is left in the fireplace so that logs can be fitted right into it.

After that you choose your logs, beginning with the two largest and straightest which become the sill logs to which end logs will be notched. The floor isn't laid until the walls are built so this provides an opportunity to take your time building the cabin — the elements should not be a problem.

The book provides good illustrations of how logs are aligned, dovetailed, laid, joined and chinked. Notching is in detail. Less artistic is the butt joint, but it is useful where the supply of logs is limited. Window and door openings are sawed out after the walls are put together. A second floor can be added.

One of the most romantic aspects of the back-to-nature dwelling that could be considered at a later date might be a little bridge built over a stream that runs near the cabin. It is illustrated in the book.

A knowledge of masonry, electricity, plumbing and carpentry will make building the cabin less costly but if you can't do it yourself, enlist friends who qualify or you will need to hire help.

There are do-it-yourself directions for building stoves — one can be built from a 50-gallon oil drum and the book includes directions for making outdoor fireplaces, rustic fences — wattles (of saplings) post, pole — and gates.

One might go on to making ceiling and standing lighting fixtures, slab chairs, sapling rope beds and cots, rustic tables and chairs, all of which may be made for your little new log cabin in the woods, following the simple directions.

More People At Home, Now

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — The president of a direct sale firm says the present economic distress has been a boom to his business. Rick Goings, president of Dynamics Inc., marketer of fire alarm systems, says salesmen for his firm now find consumers at home more often since they are reluctant to go out shopping. Says Goings, "Business for us has never been better."

ENERGY FUNDS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The federal government will spend about $10 billion on energy research and development programs over the next five years, according to the Frost & Sullivan research firm. Private industry groups will spend $12.5 billion for the same purposes, a study by the firm indicates.

Real Estate

REALTOR

BOTH SIDES OF INFLATION

Owners of real estate invariably profit more than other investors during periods of inflation. But to be fair, it should be noted that inflation is a two-headed animal. What inflation gives, it also takes. Granted, rising costs tend to push the value of a home upwards.

But the expenses of owning and living go up at the same time. Routine repair and maintenance costs are now climbing 5-10 percent a year. Property taxes are edging up just as ominously. Insurance premiums increase also with the value of the house.

These expenses, however, are offset considerably by the deductions you're allowed for interest and property taxes on your income tax. Then too, you'll be paying off your home mortgage with cheaper dollars, assuming some inflation continues.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LOUIS CLARK AGENCY, 315 Evans Street, Greenville. Phone: 752-4173. We're here to help!

how to check for adequate wiring

Your house may not be properly wired for the demands you make on its electrical system today. If it is inadequately wired, you can tell by:

- A shrinking television picture,
- frequently blown fuses, tripped breakers, or
- slow-heating appliances

Most modern homes are supplied with 100 amp or greater service. A 100 amp service on 120 volts provides about 12,000 watts. This could supply the equivalent of ten 1,000 watt irons used simultaneously, but not fifteen.

Before you install a new appliance or move an appliance to a new location have a qualified electrician determine these four questions:

1. Is adequate electrical service available?
2. Will the addition of the appliance overload the circuit?
3. Are appliance circuits adequately grounded, with three-prong receptacles?
4. Are grounded outlets properly polarized?

Food Program To Supplement Diets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another 156,800 needy women, infants and children in 30 states will be enrolled this year in a government food aid program to supplement their diets, the Agriculture Department says.

Announcing this Friday, Assistant Secretary Richard L. Feltner said the additions would bring to about 640,000 the number of persons enrolled in the $129-million program in 352 project areas.

The program now will operate in parts of 48 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, with North Dakota, Nebraska and Wyoming coming into the project for the first time this year. There are no participants in Virginia and Utah.

Under the plan, cooperating state agencies receive federal money to distribute supplemental food to "pregnant and lactating women and infants and children up to four years of age," the department said.

The supplements include cereals, infant formulas, dairy products and fruit juices, with each participant receiving about $20 worth of food per month.

In a related development, the department announced increases in the federal aid given school lunch and breakfast programs, under a regulation calling for semi-annual adjustments based on changes in food-service costs.

University Sells Rembrandt

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University has raised more than $1 million from the sale of a Rembrandt portrait donated to the university 16 years ago by Huntington Hartford, art patron and heir to the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. fortune, a source said.

The university refused to reveal the identity of the buyer or the price. However, the source said Friday the painting, "Man With Arms Akimbo," had brought at least $1 million and may have been more than double that amount.

The painting had been in storage since 1968 when university officials grew fearful it might be damaged by student demonstrators.

Hartford, who paid $185,000 for the yard-square painting about 40 years ago, said he considered it "the greatest Rembrandt portrait I have ever seen."

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, JANUARY 5, 1975

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A Sunday to carefully consider your aims and ambitions as they relate to other persons and to so arrange activities for this new year that you and they make headway; then you will be more in tune with those vital to your welfare and happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get rid of any possible tension between you and allies, but do so in a gentle and kind way. Avoid one who always irritates you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Show appreciation to those who have been loyal and kind to you in the past. Improve surroundings to feel better.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan social and recreational affairs for the near future, but don't delve into them today. Don't be a doormat.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Give attention to a home situation and be more willing to compromise for harmony. Avoid a partner who is in a vile mood today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get to the studies early that are helpful, then schedule future activities. Find cheaper and speedier ways of getting around.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into the financial specifics that will put you on the right footing in life now and stop dreaming so much.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show more courtesy at home and don't start an argument, or it could become serious. Prepare yourself better for a new project.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study proven methods for success. Discuss your plans with associates. Be more objective about some romantic interest.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study all sides of an argument between pals and higher-ups, but don't get involved. Show understanding for a friend who is disturbed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't irk a higher-up or you could lose much. Improve health, appearance for greater happiness, accomplishment in the future.

AQUARIUS (JAN. 21 to FEB. 15) Study into proven methods but have a more modern approach to them and you get excellent results in the future. Get duties done.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to a good but serious pal, and then plan changes. Cheer up an associate. Apply yourself and you have a brighter future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can handle whatever is of a practical nature in a most efficient way, and will do well in life if you teach early to cooperate with others, instead of antagonizing them. There is the ability here to take over old businesses or projects and make them work profitably. Much success is in this chart. Give the right kind of religious training early. Sports are a must here.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, JAN. 6, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The best influences of today and tonight bring you the chance to quietly and effectively find out matters that have been unknown to you in the past. A campaign of action now can help gain your objective.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your obligations well so you can formulate a new plan that will bring success in the future. Go to the right place for data.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try not to force others to do what you think is best for them. Let them go their own way for best results. Engage in favorite hobby.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle own affairs wisely. Plan time for improving your health. Show others that you are a kind and gentle person. Be logical.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to plan now for social activities you want to enjoy in the near future. Show a close tie how devoted you are.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use tact at home if you want to avoid a big ruckus. Employ economy measures while prices are rising. Save for the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep calm when an ally wants you to do things against your best interest. Show that you have willpower. Be careful in motion.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't get depressed because of the high cost of living. See where to economize. Put a talent to work that has been dormant.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure you don't make any radical changes just because you are feeling restless. Try to improve your appearance. Perk up.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Quietly investigate whatever has you puzzled and come up with the answers that will improve your position in life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you want others to go along with your ideas you have to use diplomacy instead of forceful ways. Be well organized.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Instead of trying to criticize bigwigs, realize that they are under tension. Make sure you take no credit risks now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Become involved in something constructive and forget petty annoyances. Show others that your ideas are sound and sensible.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to make own rules and regulations, as well as engage in outlandish projects. Teach to operate on a sensible basis. Be sure to send to the right schools. The chart is especially fine for investigative or research work.

Herbal Medicine Business Sees Gains In Mexico

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The hawker outside Mexico City's biggest food market held a bottle of what he said was tapeworms in one hand and a chewing gum herbal cure in the other. He was doing a booming business among a dozen poor peasants.

Twenty five feet away, another barker with a louder voice and a different capsule cure — but no bottled tapeworms — was also lecturing to a small knot of people.

The salesman and other vendors of herbal medicine report a lucrative business in natural cures — which they claim work much better than pills that doctors dole out.

"More people are buying now than ever before," said Guillermo Valareal, the loud-voiced barker. "Many people are afraid of going to the doctor. The poor can't afford it but they can afford these herbal medicines. The rich go to the doctor but he can't cure them so they come here and they are cured."

Dr. Ruben Arguero, secretary of the National Academy of Medicine, said: "In Mexico, herbal medicine is the popular medicine." He said it is used extensively, particularly in the provinces, and can be helpful for minor ailments and psychosomatic diseases.

"In the public hospitals, you find a very large proportion of patients who tried herbal medicine first," he said. "In the long run, if there's anything serious they end up at the doctor."

Honorio Ramirez, who says he's been selling herbal medicines for 17 years, and has expanded his business operations as far as Denver, Colo., said his customers are proof that the natural drugs work.

One customer, Elvira Moya, said she came to buy an herbal salve to cure the pain in her aunt's shoulder because the doctor could do nothing.

"In Mexico, the people have faith in the herbs and the seller is like a doctor," she said. "The people come. They tell him their problems and he gives them a preparation."

Another customer, Catalina Malfavon, said she's been using "flor de tila," the flower of lime trees, to calm her nerves for years "and it's very good." She swears by another herb, "pasi florina," to cure her insomnia.

A third customer, Paz Aguirre, bought a long green cactus from Sonora to keep a friend's cancer of the lung and arm under control. She said the woman had been using this plus rattlesnake skin for a year "and she's very well now and back at work."

The herb sellers in their stands crammed with burlap bags filled with hundreds of different roots, plants and drugs are very low key. The hawkers, however, try to captivate their audiences with a nonstop stream of words, promises and show stoppers.

Valareal first tried pushing his herbal capsules shouting: "They can cure pains anywhere. They will cure phlebitis, bronchitis ... and you can eat anything the good Lord puts on your plate."

Austrian Travel Film At ECU On Thursday

"To Austria With Love," the newest documentary by Ken Richter will be presented in the Mendenhall Student Center Theatre on Thursday, at 8 p.m.

The film, under the sponsorship of the Student Union Lecture Series Committee, will be narrated by its producer, Ken Richter. Richter will be making his second consecutive appearance on the Travel Film Series. Last year he presented his film, "Discovering New Zealand."

"To Austria With Love" has won Richter the prestigious Gold Medal for Service to Austrian Tourism. The program is a tribute to Austria, the land where ladies hands are still kissed and gentlemen called "Herr Doktor," where life without good music and the civilized graces is unthinkable. From the first sequence of the film, a serene glider trip over the Austrian Alps to the lift of a waltz, to the last scenes—the Vienna Opera Ball and spectacular springtime in the mountains—the film has been a "mood elevator" for audiences coast to coast.

High points of the film are a traditional Tyrolean festival in a mountain village; the annual street fair at Melk, with everything from sausages to Persian rugs for sale; Graz Armory, completely equipped with arms and armor from an 18,000 man army of the 17th century; the Lipizzaner horses in their summer vacation home; Mozart music by candlelight in Salzburg; cruising down the "Beautiful Blue Danube"; and at home and on stage with Elizabeth Mobius, ballerina of the glittering Vienna Opera.

Tickets for the program are on sale in the ECU Central Ticket Office and are priced at $1.00.

American Folk Music On PBS

OLD TIME CONTRA DANCE . . . is performed to the music of the Canterbury Orchestra. This group is one of several ensembles performing over Channel 25 Monday night at 8 p.m. in a series entitled "In Performance At Wolf Trap" made possibly by a grant from Atlantic Richfield Company.

Channel 25 will present a colorful collection of authentic American folk music tomorrow evening, January 6 at 8:00 p.m. as part of the series In Performance At Wolf Trap.

The special was taped during three days of the 36th annual National Folk Festival at the Wolf Trap Farm Park for the Performing Arts, and is presented on PBS, under a grant from Atlantic Richfield Company.

Included in the special will be a wide range of folk music from America and the Caribbean, and dances by American Indians.

Specifically, the program will feature:

—David Brombert, a young New York City folk singer and guitarist who has accompanied Bob Dylan and many of the country's other leading folk-style musicians. Bromberg, who has become a popular recording and concert artist on his own, will perform traditional blues songs he has written.

—Steel Unlimited, a group of Trinidadians who live in Washington, D. C. and play a wide variety of songs on tuned metal oil drums. The band's repertoire ranges from calypso to Verdi, from Jamaican raggae to "Variations on a theme of Paganini."

—The Canterbury Orchestra, a spirited group of musicians whose foot-stomping music provides the background for the traditional country dancing that has been alive in the U.S. since the days of the early settlers.

—Angel Luis Catala and Ernestina Reyes, two of Puerto Rico's best-known traditional musicians who have recorded extensively both in the United States and abroad.

—Martin, Bogan and Armstrong, an old-time blues band that's been playing together for more than 40 years.

—The Highwoods String band, a group of young musicians who have captured the sound and spirit of the country's rural mountain music.

—The Wild Magnolias, a colorfully-costumed unique group of dancers from New Orleans' black community.

"This special will be more than a collection of performances," David Prowitt, executive producer of the In Performance At Wolf Trap series, explained. "It will be a distillation of three fantastic days of American folk life."

There are more than 4,500 farms in Connecticut where more than 50 agricultural fairs are held each year.

Joan Mack Recital On January 12

Dr. Joan M. Mack, professor of cello at East Carolina University and cellist in the ECU String Quartet, will appear in a faculty recital on Sunday, January 12 at 8:15 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the A.J. Fletcher Music Center. A native of Rochester, N.Y., Dr. Mack received the Masters of Music Degree from Indiana University, and the Doctor of Musical Arts from the Eastman School of Music.

Prior to coming to ECU to be on the School of Music faculty, Dr. Mack taught at Hartt College, Converse College, George Peabody College and Butler University.

She was also formerly principal cellist of the Nashville (Tenn.) Symphony Orchestra. In Greenville Dr. Mack has performed regularly in concerts given by the ECU String Quartet.

For her recital, Dr. Mack will be accompanied by pianist Ellen Reithmaier, also a School of Music faculty member.

Five compositions are to be featured on Dr. Mack's recital. These are: Toccata e Canzona, by A.B. della Giaja as transcribed by Luigi Silva; Beethoven's Seven Variations in E-Flat Major on a theme from Mozart's "The Magic Flute; two movements from Debussy's Sonate; Paganini's Variations on Themes from Rossini's "Moses" (composed to be played on one string); and the most modern work on the program, Luigi Dallapiccola's Ciaccona, Intermezzo e Adagio (for cello alone).

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend. Seating is on a first-come, first-seated basis.

Dupree's Comprehensive Book On Afghanistan

Afghanistan. By Louis Dupree. Princeton, N.J., Princeton University Press. 760 pps. maps, charts, photographs, appendices, $22.50.

Greenville native Louis Dupree's Afghanistan is a big book that brings to life the land and people of a fascinating country little known to most Americans.

Bordered by Pakistan on the south and east; by Iran on the west; Russia on the north; and touching India and China at it's northeastern tip, Afghanistan has long been a crossroads between the Middle and Far East where ethnic, cultural and political factors have intermingled in a continually shifting pageant of history.

Essentially an encyclopedic survey of more than 750 pages containing numerous charts, an extensive bibliography, graphs, tables and appendices, plus a representative collection of black and white photographs (many taken by the author), Dupree's Afghanistan is both informative and exciting reading fare.

Any number of competent scholars could have adequately compiled the broad range of facts Dupree gives his readers in Afghanistan. But Dupree is more than competent scholar. His underlying knowledge of the people and country, acquired over years of periodic living and working there, is very much in evidence and illumines every page with understanding and compassion—a compassion tempered by honesty.

A valid comparison can be made between Dupree's Afghanistan and a major work of symphonic music. Dupree has divided his literary work into four major parts—"Part I. The Land;" "Part II. The People;" "Part III. The Past;" and "Part IV. The Present."

Within this framework are several major themes—the recurrent centuries old cycles of the rise of strong leaders followed by weak leaders who let hard-earned gains slip away; the sustaining thread of a durable nomadic pattern of life: "About two million Afghans remain either fully nomadic or semi-nomadic . . ."; an astonishing physical land of towering mountains, vast deserts, deep valleys—of vertical windmills, beehive-domed huts, fortress dwelling compounds and multi-storied houses; and the accumulative interplay of religious, tribal, economic and climatic influences that have helped mold the basic characteristics of the modern day Afghan.

It is Dupree's skillful orchestration of this varied tapestry of major and minor themes that lifts Afghanistan far above the average history and endows it with what will surely be a lasting appeal for any thoughtful reader.

Afghanistan is not a book to be devoured in a single hasty reading. It's one that demands time for exploration, a book to turn to time and again in order to absorb and enjoy the individual parts which together form a lucid unity comprised of intricately detailed separate units.

One striking characteristic applicable to all the diverse ethnic groups making up Afghanistan is the dominant streak of individualism evident in individuals and tribal groups inhabiting this rugged country.

Even at this advanced point in the 20th century, modern technology has not yet significantly altered the traditional tenor of life in Afghanistan. Transportation is primitive. Roads, mostly connectors, are limited. Urban centers as known in the Western world or in the more heavily populated countries of the Eastern world are practically non-existent. Kabul, the capital and by far the largest Afghan city, has but 435,000 inhabitants. Even this figure, Dupree says, is "an overestimate, (as) many surrounding villages (were) included arbitrarily (in the census) because the 25 year plan for the city of Kabul includes them." Only four other cities—Qandahar, Herat, Mazar-i-Sharif, and Kunduz have populations in excess of 40,000.

At the time Dupree completed his initial text (May 1972), no city yet had potable piped water, although a Japanese firm at that time was installing such a system in Kabul.

But changes are creeping in. Today Afghan shepherds tending their flocks on remote hillsides tune in on transistor radios to hear the latest from Radio Peking or from Voice of America networks. Films from India are popular in the few movie houses that exist.

Dupree, by profession an archeologist, is an accomplished writer in whatever fields he touches on in this wide-screen history.

In the chapter of "Languages," for example, after outlining the four major language families spoken in Afghanistan, Dupree furnishes an eloquent review of Afghanistan's literary heritage. "Most literate or non literate Afghans, be they Persian, Pasho, or Turkic-speakers," Dupree writes, "consider themselves poets. Poetry, essentially a spoken, not a written, art, gives non-literates the same general appreciation for expression as the literates in a society. Afghanistan, therefore, is fundamentally a nation of poets."

Representative selections chosen by Dupree reflect an abiding preference by Afghan poets for two favorite themes—love and battle.

—". . . My beloved returns unsuccessful from battle;
I regret the kiss I gave him last night."

—". . . For when death comes the brave are free—
So in thy dreams remember me."
(An anonymous Pashto poem).

Though poetry endures as an important national folk-art, Dupree points out the paucity of prose literature, making this sad judgment . . . "In spite of efforts by the several innovators previously mentioned, the general state of modern Afghan literature can only be described as sterile and unimaginative . . ." and . . . "modern Afghan writers sit in a cultural limbo, pens silent, as social, political and economic reforms push ahead . . ."

The chapter on religion combines an admirable brief history and a penetrating analysis of the Islam religion. "Contrary to popular belief among most westerners and many literate Muslims, the essence of Islam (as interpreted by Modernists) is not fatalistic or predeterministic. Insha'llah—'If God wills'—a common expression, seems to imply divine manipulation which can be neither changed nor influenced. The term 'Islam' means 'submission,' but not blind submission to a computerized fate programmed by an impassive source. On the contrary, a Muslim submits to a way of life (or essence) after careful consideration."

In "Life Cycles," the chapter covering kinship, birth and childhood, marriage, divorce, death and inheritance, sports and games, diets, and dress and ornaments, Dupree's spirited accounts summon images that to most Western minds are as incredibly exotic as Persian tales.

For instance . . . "In addition to the technically permitted four wives and all the concubines Muslim man can support, the Shi'a have a custom called mut'a in Arabic (temporary marriage), sigha in Persian, by which a man can contractually take a woman as wife for a specified time for specific renumerations.":

. . . About weddings, Dupree relates customs that clearly show that dominance is relegated to the males . . . "Single males, just as bridesmaids in some western countries try to catch the bride's bouquet, scramble to recover almonds from the groom's clothing;" and parenthetically, "(two female witnesses equal one male witness)."

. . . "Men will occasionally gamble away all their property and even put up unmarried daughters as stakes, a practice frowned upon but still practiced;"

. . . And this comic lament about a man recalled in a folk song, one that . . . "tells a sad tale in which 'A beautiful boy with a bottom like a peach stands across the river, and I can't swim!"

However entertaining such exotic customs may be, they are by no means the central thrust of Dupree's book. One of the major points of focus is the important role that contesting dynasties in past centuries—Persian, Greek, Indian, and Chinese—have played in shaping the momentous flow of history that is the modern Afghan's heritage. The British in the 19th century provided the most notable recent example of outside influence.

Afghanistan is a beautifully structured, comprehensive book, one that will become increasingly relevant as the need for realistic universal understanding becomes more significant. Except for the opportunity to live in Afghanistan, Dupree's book is the next best thing to being there.

DR. LOUIS DUPREE

Archeologist, traveler, journalist and professor—Greenville native Dr. Louis Dupree is the son of the late Mr. Chauncey Dupree and Mrs. Luna Dupree.

While still a senior at the old Greenville High School, he volunteered for duty with the Merchant Marines. "At high school graduation time I was away and my mother went on stage and accepted my diploma for me. That was in the spring of 1943." Dupree remarked in a telephone conservation.

"After getting my feet wet in the Merchant Marines, I decided to make a change, so I joined the 11th Airborne and was a paratrooper," he added. Dupree served four years in the military during World War II.

Dupree claims he almost became a permanent fixture at Harvard University. It was there he received the A.B. degree, masters degree and doctorate's degree.

Early in his career, Dupree began making archeological field trips to Afghanistan and Pakistan and has continued this pattern since. "I spend two years in these two countries and one year back in the states," he said.

He notes that he currently holds the position of professor of Anthropology at Pennsylvania State University, and that his basic work is with the American Universities Field Staff, which is sponsored by 11 universities.

Dupree's most recent book, published by Praeger, is Afghanistan in the 1970's, which he co-authored with Lynette Albert.

"I'd like to be remembered to all my teachers in high school," Dupree said. "Itwas them and my family who made possible the beginning of all that I've been able to do. I miss Greenville, and every time I come back I find it changed, bigger, but it's still my home town."

"Carolina Today"

Sportsmen and politicans comprise the guests scheduled to appear over WNCT-Channel 9 Greenville on the early morning show, "Carolina Today" during the coming week.

The long time show, still going strong as 1975 starts, is seen from 6 to 8:30 a.m. each weekday morning Monday through Friday.

As a rule, the featured guest each day makes an appearance at 7:30 a.m. The five listed below for the coming week are all slated to appear at that time. They are:

—Monday, January 6—State Senator Monk Harrington.

—Wednesday, January 8—Clyde King, baseball manager of the Atlanta Braves.

—Thursday, January 9 (tentatively scheduled)—"Catfish" Hunter, baseball player who has just signed with the New York "Yankees."

—Friday, January 10—U.S. Congressman Walter B. Jones.

Tommy Payne, program coordinator, has noted that a number of outstanding individual and groups are slated to be making appearances on "Carolina Today" in coming weeks. These include the D. H. Conley Junior High ROTC Drill Team; noted sports figure Don Newcomb; and members of the N.C. Symphony Orchestra.

From Sheppard Memorial Library

By KAY TAYLOR
Children's Librarian

When an ear infection leaves Margaret deaf at thirteen years old, she finds her life increasingly unbearable. Her friends seem embarassed in her presence. Her mother is miserable, blaming herself for Margaret's deafness because she thought Margaret only had a cold. With things so strained around their friends, Margaret's mother jumps at the chance to leave their home in Maine and start anew in Florida, but the job she is promised as a hostess does not work out. Instead she is a waitress in a small restaurant. She feels more bitterness and resentment than ever. Margaret, meanwhile, cuts herself off from people. She is embarassed by her deafness and afraid to speak, thinking her voice may be too loud or harsh. Of course she does not go to school. Her days are spent in loneliness, frustration, and self pity.

Margaret desperately wants her life to change, but she is not prepared when her Mother announces that she is getting married and her new husband will send Margaret to a private school for the handicapped. Margaret knows one thing for sure—she does not want to go to a school for the handicapped. Hastily she gathers a few things and runs away. Her plan is to hitchhike back to her old home town and live at her grandfather's old place. She gets her first ride by hopping in the back of a truck while the driver is inside a gas station. Her ride ends abruptly when the driver hits a fawn and Margaret decides to jump out and see if she can help the deer. Margaret and the deer are soon found by Josie, an unusual woman living on a houseboat. A whole new life begins for Margaret from the moment she meets Josie. Josie asks no questions, but allows Margaret to live on the houseboat, accepting her as she is. Slowly Margaret begins to find herself as she basks in the sun and the warmth of Josie's friendship.

Barbara Corcoran's A Dance To Still Music is the story of Margaret's reluctant acceptance of her deafness. A story of defeats and triumphs, it is well worth reading.

Catherine Woolley, noted for her popular series of books about Ginnie, Cathy, and Libby, takes heroine Libby on a detective chase in Libby Shadows A Lady. When Libby overhears an angry woman saying on the telephone "bomb the Federal Reserve Bank," she decides that she must not let the remark go unnoticed. After notifying the authorities at the Bank, she looks for the woman again, and by chance sees her boarding a bus. Libby spends several exciting days following the lady, gathering bits and pieces of information about her. While sleuthing, Libby suddenly finds herselt witnessing kidnappers taking the lady's baby. Again Libby reports to the authorities and finds herself more and more involved in a puzzling mystery. Mystery fans should enjoy this new one.

For younger readers, a humorous new book shows the fear of a little boy on his first night of camping out in the back yard. Big brother challenges little brother to spend the night in the yard, if little brother is not a "scaredy cat." Little brother obediently and silently helps gather up the things they need and listens, for a while, as big brother tells a scary story. After they go to sleep, little brother wakens first and returns to his bed, while big brother has a nightmare brought on by his own imaginative scary story. Illustrated delightfully, You're The Scaredy-Cat by Mercer Mayer is fun reading.

Coin-Tossing Aids Charity

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Walter Talleur, Tim Happ and Dean McGougan make the carny operators shudder.

They practiced for weeks tossing dimes and quarters into plates, then went to the Los Angeles County Fair to beat the con men at the toss-the-coin-in-the-dish-and-win-a-prize booths.

More than 100 bears, turtles, hippopotamuses, poodles and other stuffed animals they won were recently donated to a home for retarded children in nearby Chino.

"We just do it for the fun of it," Talleur said. "It started two years ago when we just got tired of being gypped. We started practicing so we could win for a change." In past years the men had won 80 carny creatures, which also went to charity.

They pulled a trick to increase their take this year. Practicing was a problem. The 9½-inch pedal plates that appear each year on stuffed animals' heads were not sold in stores. A makeshift dinner plate target could be used, but without the correctly shaped target the desired precision could not be developed.

"We decided to call up the fair and told them we were from the Elks Club and were going to have a Las Vegas night," Talleur explained.

After weeks of practicing with plate-topped animals, the trio went to the fair.

East Carolina Mauls Bulldogs By 111-81

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina's Pirates, returning after a two-week layoff, started back just like they finished up—with an overwhelming victory.

The Bucs polished off The Citadel, running their Southern Conference record to 2-0, with a 111-81 attack. It was the fifth straight victory for the Bucs, now 5-3 overall.

It also marked the second straight game that the Bucs had surpassed the century mark, and it was the first time in ten years that the Bucs had put together back-to-back 100-point performances.

As usual, the Pirates did it with a balanced attack. Only three of the 13 players on the team played as much as half the game—one of them exactly half. But they put five men in double figures and had general overall balance.

Tom Marsh led the scoring, hitting seven of 11 from the floor and adding four free throws for 18 points. Larry Hunt, who had a perfect six-for-six night from the floor, and Robert Geter, who hit seven of 12, each had 14, while Al Edwards (5 for 8) and Wade Henkel each had 12.

The Pirates, who had another fine night with their fast paced offense, put together 34 assists, with Ken Edmonds leading with seven and Gregg Ashorn having six. They shot 53.4 per cent from the floor, and also outrebounded The Citadel, 56-44.

Hunt paced the way on the boards with 12, while Henry Lewis had seven, and Marsh had six. Geter, Earl Garner and Ashorn each had five.

The Citadel's Rodney McKeever pushed through a game high 22 points, below his Southern Conference leading average of 26-plus, but he got six of those after the Bucs had slowed down their defensive pace. Overall, he hit on just 10 of 25 shots.

Two other Bulldogs hit double figures, Mike Ange with 19, and Ricky Day with 10.

The game was a tight one only for about 10 minutes, and after that the Bucs opened up a ten-point margin and slowly pulled away to lead by as much as their final 30-point spread.

Larry Hunt hit the first basket for the Bucs after just nine seconds, and Robert Geter added another shot for a 4-0 lead. The Citadel came back on baskets by Day and McKeever to tie it up. It was knotted at 4-4, 6-6, and 8-8 before two free throws by Day put the Bulldogs into a 10-8 lead with 15:14 to go.

The Bucs tied it at 10-all and then again when it reached 12-12 on a basket by Marsh. He was fouled on the shot, and his completion of the three point play put the Bucs ahead, 13-12, and they never trailed again.

From there on out, it was a steady pullaway. They got another basket from Marsh and one by Hunt to up the lead to five, then after matching a Citadel basket, Reggie Lee hit for a seven-point spread and Marsh raised it to nine, 25-16.

Hunt added two free throws, and two more by Marsh ran it to 29-16. Baskets by Al Edwards and Marsh upped it to a 17-point spread, 33-16, before The Bulldogs finally found the range again.

After The Citadel did score, the Bucs pulled out by 19, 37-18, but The Citadel cut it back to as little as 14 before the Pirates pulled away to 19 again.

The Bulldogs slipped back to 16 again, however, 56-40 at the half.

The second half left The Citadel little hope. The Bucs fell to as little as 14, but went back out by 18 at 66-48, and then upped it to 20 on a drive by Edwards at 74-54 with 14:18 to play. The lead climbed to 24 before the Bulldogs slipped back to within 17 on a three-pointer by McKeever.

Still, the Pirates pulled away, this time, running their lead out to 29 points, 92-63, before the Bulldogs could gather their wits.

Marsh cracked the 100-point mark for the Bucs, hitting with 3:28 left for a 100-76 lead, and the Bucs outhit The Citadel, 11-5, from there.

The game closed out the current Pirate home schedule. They will be in Jersey City, N.J., on Wednesday to meet surprisingly strong St. Peter's, then they will travel on to Storrs, Conn., to take part in the Connecticut Classic Friday and Saturday. They will meet Southwestern Conference representative Baylor, while hosting Connecticut will play host to Eastern Michigan in the first round. The winners and losers meet in Saturday's finals.

The next home appearance of the Bucs will be January 15 against Appalachian State University.

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Skip Brown poured in 28 points Saturday night as he led Wake Forest to a 75-71 victory over Duke, earning the Deacons their first Big Four basketball tournament title.

National champion North Carolina State, the nation's top-ranked team which was upset by Wake Forest Friday night, easily disposed of eighth-ranked North Carolina, 82-67, in the consolation game.

North Carolina was upset by Duke in the tournament's first round. N. C. State's loss was its first in 37 games.

The Wake Forest Deacons, who pushed their record to 7-3 with two big victories in as many nights, led 36-34 at halftime.

Willie Hodge sank a field goal with 3:13 left to pull Duke, now 6-2, within 66-65, but Cal Stamp, who contributed 19 points, again opened the margin for Wake Forest with a field goal and two free throws.

After another exchange, Hodge hit a basket that pulled Duke within three points at 74-71, with :13 remaining, but Jerry Schellenberg was fouled and sank one of his two for the final point and margin.

Bob Fleischer, 6-8 center, led Duke with 16 points and pulled down 19 rebounds and Hodge finished with 15 points.

'Pack Bounces Back To Win Consolation

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Top-ranked North Carolina State, led by David Thompson with 26 points, defeated eighth-ranked North Carolina, 82-67, in Saturday night's consolation game of the Big Four basketball tournament.

Wake Forest, which handed national champion N. C. State its first loss in 37 games Friday night, met Duke, first round winner over North Carolina, in the nightcap for the tournament championship.

The North Carolina Tar Heels, now 5-3, grabbed a lead and held it briefly at the outset, but the Wolfpack then took command and never relinquished the lead after that.

With seven minutes left in the first period, the Wolfpack, now 9-1, built its lead to 10 points, 26-16, but North Carolina managed to tie the score twice before baskets by Morris Rivers and Phil Spence sent N. C. State into the intermission with a 38-34 lead.

Thompson, who hit 16 of his points in the second half, ran off 10 in the first seven minutes of the period as N. C. State pulled ahead, 50-43.

Playing a spread offense against North Carolina's combination of zone and man-to-man, the Wolfpack widened the gap to as many as 17 points, 76-59, with 2:10 remaining.

The teams swapped baskets to the buzzer with the Tar Heels hitting the last for the final margin.

Thompson received 17-point help from Phil Spence, who also claimed 10 rebounds.

Phil Ford, a 6-2 freshman guard, led the Tar Heels with 20 points and Brad Hoffman followed with 16, plus a game high 13 rebounds.

Results in the Big Four tournament count in overall standings but not in Atlantic Coast Conference records.

Lucas, Brown Pace Terps' Victory Over Irish

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — John Lucas and Owen Brown combined for 45 points and Tom Roy grabbed a career high of 18 rebounds, leading seventh-ranked Maryland to a 90-82 college basketball victory over No. 19 Notre Dame Saturday.

The triumph in a nationally-televised game gave Maryland a 9-1 record while Notre Dame, led by Adrian Dantley's 29 points, fell to 5-4.

The Terps had 11-point leads in each half, but the Irish rallied to cut its deficit to 73-69 with 4:21 remaining.

Brown, who scored 22 points, then hit his second consecutive jumper from the side of the lane, and Mo Howard scored on a fast break basket following a steal by Lucas.

Lucas, who returned to action last week after recuperating from a cracked collarbone suffered in the season opener, scored 23 points, and Howard, his running mate at guard, had 18.

Maryland out-rebounded Notre Dame 43-25. Dantley, who entered the game with a 33.5 scoring average, tops in the nation, got 10 rebounds.

Roy, who was booed by the home fans last Saturday when the Terps lost to third-ranked UCLA, scored 15 points and sank six of seven shots from the floor.

Michigan Loses Starters, Game

By halftime, Indiana had coasted to a 53-22 lead en route to its 13th straight victory and first in Big Ten play.

Ganakas announced the suspensions over the press box speaker just 20 minutes before the game in Jenison Fieldhouse. He said the players were suspended because they walked out of a team meeting Saturday morning in apparent protest over the starting lineup.

The duration of the suspensions was not immediately known. The only varsity player not suspended was freshman center Jeff Tropf.

The suspended players, including senior center Lindsay Hairston, the team captain, were greeted by mixed cheers and boos when they entered the packed stadium together and walked across the court by the Spartan bench. They then moved into the stands, apparently to watch the game.

Tropf and the junior varsity received a standing ovation from the crowd as they began warming up for the contest.

The announcement was made to the public about 10 minutes before game time.

Clemson Rides Hot Hands To 86-68 Win

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP)—Clemson hit 68 per cent of its shots from the field in the second half Saturday to defeat Virginia 86-68 in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

Clemson held Virginia without a field goal in the final 7:26 of the first half to outscore the Cavaliers 17-7, and go from a 22-22 tie to a 39-29 halftime lead.

Clemson erupted for 12 straight points midway through the second half to increase its lead to 20 points at 63-43, and coasted the rest of the way in its first ACC contest.

Clemson's Stan Rome held Virginia's high-scoring Wally Walker to a career low of two points, almost 16 below Walker's season average. Skip Wise led Clemson with 23 points while Tree Rollins added 12 and 13 rebounds.

Freshman Mark Iavaroni led Virginia with 17 points and picked off 12 rebounds. Clemson is now 6-5 overall and 1-0 in the ACC. Virginia is 4-3 overall and 1-1.

Williamston Takes Three From Eagles

ROBERSONVILLE—Williamston's Tigers roared into Robersonville and came away with a clean sweep of the three scheduled games of the evening. They first defeated Robersonville JV's, 59-35. The Lady Tigers doubled the total on the girls' squad, 50-21, and the varsity finished the night with a convincing 65-49 decision.

In the girls' game, Williamston shut out the Eagles 12-0 in the first period and saw no serious threats from then on. The two teams duplicated scores of 15-8 in the second and third periods, and Williamston held them to five points in the last period, though they only put up eight themselves.

Fran Hardison led the effort with 17 points. No one reached double figures for Robersonville.

In the boys' battle, the shooting of Barry Wallace and Tony Purvis propelled Williamston to an early 16-6 lead. The Eagles inched out to a 32-21 halftime lead, and built the lead up to 43-32 at the end of the third period to put the game practically out of reach.

Fritts Scores East's First TD In 34-25 Decision

By RON STATON
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Tennessee's Condredge Holloway ran and passed for 253 yards and led a strong aerial attack that propelled the East to a 34-25 victory over the West in the 29th annual Hula Bowl game Saturday.

Holloway connected on one touchdown pass and was named the game's outstanding offensive player.

Holloway engineered an 82-yard drive after the opening kickoff, climaxed by a 13-yard run by Stan Fritts of North Carolina State with less than three minutes gone in the game.

The East exploded for 19 points in the second quarter as Larry Burton of Purdue took two touchdown passes, a 59-yarder from Holloway and a 55-yard scoring toss from Michigan's Dennis Franklin. Milt Holt of Harvard then threw a 47-yard scoring pass to West Virginia's Danny Buggs.

Pat Haden of Southern Cal led a second-half comeback by the West as the Trojan signal caller passed for 188 yards and three touchdowns.

Tight end Oscar Roan of Southern Methodist and Haden teamed for a Hula Bowl-record 98-yard touchdown play in the third quarter.

Roan, who also took a 20-yard scoring pass from Haden and a nine-yard TD strike from California's Steve Bartkowski, racked up another Hula Bowl record with three scoring catches.

A crowd of 21,887 saw the game live up to its billing as a passing duel, as the two teams combined for 744 yards and seven touchdowns through the air.

East Coach Bill Battle of Tennessee, a proponent of the pass-run option, said he opted for a strong passing attack in the game.

"We wanted to be balanced and also had good pass receivers," Battle said.

And West Coach Bill Yoeman of Houston acknowledged that the East aerial attack, particularly three long touchdown passes "wounded us badly."

Battle made extensive use of Holloway, who completed 14 of 20 passes and gained 51 yards on nine rushes.

Roan was the game's leading receiver with seven catches for 205 yards for the West. Haden completed 12 of 19 passes for 188 yards but threw two interceptions. Holloway was not intercepted.

Oak City split the J.V. and girls' game, 37-33.

The two girls teams traded baskets through the first period to an 8-8 tie. Oak City opened it up in the second period taking the frame, 8-5, for a halftime lead of 16-13.

Oak City spaced the lead out with another point in the third period upping the margin to 23-19 and it remained that way through the rest of the game as both teams added 14 in the final period.

Barbara Bullock led the Lady Trojans with 10 points. Calhoun led the Lady Lakers with 15 and Murray had 13.

Oak City's boys inched out by two, 17-15 in the first quarter of their game but Mattamuskeet outshot the Trojans by four points in the second period to take a 31-29 lead at halftime.

Kinston Romps To 76-57 Win Over Rose

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Powerful Kinston used its sticky defense and its quick hands to pull away from Rose High School in the third period and go on to record a 76-57 victory over the Rampants Friday night.

The defeat was the third of the year for Rose, and two of those three came at the hands of the now 9-1 Vikings. Rose has won six of its nine starts.

The Rampants, who had hit 14 of 27 during the first half to stay fairly close to the Vikings, lost their touch in the second half, hitting only nine of 39 in that 16-minute span, and that helped cause the defeat.

Overall Rose shot only 34.8 per cent. Kinston didn't do a whole lot better, making just 29 of 70 for 41.4 per cent, but they cashed in on 18 of 24 free throws, and that created the large difference in the scoring.

Mark Dale, the man Kinston Coach Paul Jones like to have with the ball in the closing quarter, did his thing for the Vikings, cashing in on 10 of 13 at the line, and that was enough to make him the team's high scorer with 16 points.

But he got plenty of help as all five starters hit double figures. James King got 14, while Ralph Peterson had 13, Sotello Long had 12 and Avery Dawson, 10.

Time after time, however, they got easy shots when they stole the ball from the Rampants. When Rose was able to get back and go on defense, they held their own, forcing the Vikings to take poor shots. In fact, 23 of their 29 baskets came on shots less than five feet away from the basket, from where they seldom missed. Most of the misses came when they had to set up something.

An example of the Kinston quickness and their defense can be shown in what happened when they charged into the lead for good. Rose lead, 10-6, with 4:11 left in the period, got off only four more shots the rest of the quarter, and only one in the final two minutes of play. The rest of the time, they had the ball taken away from them on the way down court.

During that time, they were outhit, 13-6, and lost the lead.

Kinston got the initial lead on a basket by King, but Lindberg Morris tied it up for Rose, and Donnie Shields put the Rampants ahead, 4-2. He added another basket with 5:29 left for a 6-2 lead, and Rose stayed ahead until the Kinston defense got too tough for them.

Dawson hit two straight for Kinston inside the four-minute mark to tie it at 10-10. Mike Brewington made two from up close to put Rose back out, 14-10, but that was their least lead.

Peterson hit off a rebound and Long drove in for a layup to tie it for the last time. King scored off a bast break, giving the Vikings a 16-14 lead, and they moved that out to 19-14 on a three-point play by Titus Patrick with 19 seconds left.

Shields finally broke the ice for Rose with three seconds left, cutting it to 19-16 at the horn.

Rose trimmed it to one, 19-18 with another basket by Shields, but the Rampants couldn't regain the lead. Kinston ran off eight straight points after that, moving out to a 27-18 lead. Then, after Barrett hit, five more in a row by the Vikes rushed it to 32-20.

Rose managed to cut it back behind the scoring of Mike Brewington to 38-32 by the end of the half.

Things got no better in the second half, as the Rampants cooled off from the floor and Kinston kept up its pace.

During the first five minutes of the half, Kinston outhit Rose, 16-5, building its lead out to 54-37, a 17-point spread. The Rampants did come back with eight in a row to cut it to 54-45 as the period ended, but when they had the chance to trim it further, they couldn't score.

It did dip to 54-47, giving Rose one last chance as Brewington got the first basket of the final period. But again, Rose fell into a cold spell, and was outhit, 10-0 during the next four minutes. That gave Kinston a 64-47 lead, and sealed it. Kinston slowly built their lead to as much as 23, 76-53 before Rose scored the final four points of the game.

For the Rampants, Shields had a fine night, hitting 21 points, while Brewington had 16.

The Rampants were also hampered by losing the services of Macon Moye, who has an injured thumb. Moye did make a brief appearance, but was unable to continue.

In the junior varsity game, Kinston broke open a tight game in the final period to take a 55-46 victory. Rose had pushed away to a 15-4 lead after one period and appeared headed for an easy victory.

But Kinston came back with a 20-11 advantage in the second period, cutting the lead to 26-24 at the half, after taking the lead once.

Rose held them off in the third period, 12-10, and lead, 38-34, as the final frame began. But the Kinston press crushed the Rampants in the period, as they were outhit, 21-8, and took the loss.

The Rampants travel to New Bern on Tuesday.

Finley Says He's Not Through After Ruling

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley says he's going "all the way" in his fight to overturn a judge's ruling that a baseball arbitrator was justified in declaring pitcher Catfish Hunter a free agent.

"This is not the end of this issue," Finley told newsmen Friday as he left an Alameda County Superior Court hearing after losing another round in his battle to uphold baseball's reserve system.

"I'll go all the way if I have to," he said, apparently referring to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Finley and his attorney, Neil Papiano, had sought a preliminary injunction overturning the Dec. 16 finding by arbitrator Peter Seitz that Hunter, 28, was exempt from the reserve system and free to negotiate with other teams.

Seitz ruled that Finley violated Hunter's contract by withholding half of his $100,000 salary for 1974. Hunter's contract stipulated he be paid $50,000 in salary and $50,000 in nontaxable deferred compensation for both 1974 and 1975.

Hunter, who last season won 25 games and the American League's Cy Young Award, signed last Tuesday with the New York Yankees for a reported $3.75 million five-year package—the most lucrative in sports history.

"I think the award should be confirmed," Judge George W. Phillips told Papiano, "but I'm sure you'll proceed much further."

Papiano, who called Seitz' decision "akin to giving the death penalty for a parking violation," said he would file objections to the judge's ruling by Jan. 7 in preparation for taking the case to the state Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

"I'm real delighted," said J. Carlton Cherry, Hunter's chief attorney, in a telephone interview from his Ahoksie, N.C., home. "But we didn't expect the judge to rule any other way."

In the two preceeding games, Southern Nash took victories claiming the jayvee game, 32-31, and the Ewes lost their game, 51-28.

In the girls' game the third quarter told the story. Greene Central was completely blanked in the frame as the Lady Firebirds dumped in 13. Southern Nash had taken the lead, 13-8, in the opening frame and added two points to it by halftime for a 25-16 lead.

Southern Nash rolled it up to 38-16 and finished the game off with a 15-12 fourth period.

Conley Downs Saints, 54-40

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Southern Wayne got into foul trouble early and that hindrance let the Vikings of D. H. Conley roll to their eleventh win of the season, 54-40, Friday night.

Three Saints ended up fouling out: Ken Mack, Michael Oliver and Anthony Williams. Between the three, they scored 27 points. The Saints had two other players with two fouls and three with one each.

Conley also go into trouble with fouls but were able to keep everybody in the game. Clenell Streeter and Melvin Williams each had three at game's end and Robert Harris had four.

Both teams were equally ineffective from the floor. The Vikings, while sinking 19 field goals, shot just under 30 percent while the Saints hit an even 30 percent on 18 of 60 attempts.

Conley, however, came through at the free throw line hitting 16 shots out of 25 trips to the line for 65 percent. Southern hit only four in 14 attempts for 35 percent. The free throw line made the difference for the Vikings.

In two earlier games, the Saints were winners taking both the J.V. game, 58-45, rallying in the last half, and the girls' game, 51-30.

The two girls' teams battled with cold hands through the first period with Southern Wayne energing on top, 10-6. Charlene Henderson got the first six Lady Saint point giving Southern Wayne the lead at 2-0 and 4-2.

After trading baskets for the first minute and a half of the second period, the Conley girls cut the lead to two, 16-14 after a missed Southern free throw. Cheryl Armwood put the Lady Saints back up by four, 18-14 but Conley dumped in six straight points to slip ahead, 20-18 with 1:51 left in the half.

Brenda Jones tied it at 20-20 and then a basket by Vivian Best put the Lady Saints back in front, 22-20 with a minute to go.

The Valyries could not score in the final minute of the half and Southern added four points to take a 26-20 lead at halftime.

Conley remained cold in the third period scoring only four points. Southern, however, dumped in 17 to increase the Saint lead to 43-24. After that spurt, it was almost over. Conley was outscored, 8-6 in the final frame.

Armwood led the scoring with 17, Henderson had 14. Alice Costin and Teresa Mills each had 10 for the Valkyries.

D. H. Conley's boys shot five times before Calvin Hawkins was able to drop a basket in for a 2-0 lead. Mack got the Saint's first point on a free shot and a field goal by Anthony Williams put Southern Wayne in front for the first time, 3-2.

Williams scored again for a 5-2 lead but baskets by Melvin Williams and Robert Vines put the Vikes back on top, 6-5. Williams' basket from the lane put the Saints in the lead for the last time, 7-6, with 1:39 to go in the first frame. Conley hung on to an 11-9 lead going into the second period.

Three baskets and two free throws let Conley roar out to a ten-point lead, 19-9, before the Saints could scratch in the second period. Conley poured in 22 points to just six for Southern Wayne to take a 33-15 lead at halftime.

Southern Wayne could not catch up after that. Mack drew his fourth foul shortly into the third period for the 11th team foul. Southern Wayne edged the Vikings in the period, 13-9 but the lead was not altered greatly.

Williams picked up his third and fourth fouls early in the fourth period. The Vikings increased their lead to 50-30 on a basket by Melvin Williams but then they went cold and the Saints slowly knocked six points off the lead, 50-36.

Mack fouled out with just over four minutes left, Oliver at the 2:08 mark and Williams in the last minute ending any hopes for a Saint rally.

Williams scored 12 for the Saints, before leaving the game, to lead their scoring. Melvin Williams led Conley with 14, and Rick Mobley had 12 as did Hawkins.

Panthers Stay Close With Win Over Aycock

BETHEL—North Pitt, led by Jesse Harris with 20 points, romped past the Falcons of C. B. Aycock Friday night, 66-54. The Big Orange picked up a win as well beating the Lady Falcons, 35-18.

North Pitt could not make it a sweep losing the J.V. game, 49-47.

North Pitt shut out Aycock's girls in the first period, 11-0, but the tables were turned in the second period as North Pitt went cold and Aycock got hot outscoring the Pant-HERS, 11-1 to trail 12-11 at halftime.

Aycock again went cold in the third period letting the Pant-HERS take the frame, 11-2 to zoom back into the lead, 23-13. Aycock could not recover in the fourth quarter falling 12-5 for the final margin.

Pant-HER Kathi Manning equalled the Aycock output scoring 18 herself to lead North Pitt.

North Pitt's boys discovered an Aycock varsity as cold as the girls. The Panthers roared out to a 21-4 opening period advantage. They built it to 39-14 in the second quarter.

Aycock began to rally in the third period as the Falcons scored as 21 to North Pitt's 13. They also took the last period by one, 15-14, but could not get closer than the final 12-point spread.

Richard Lancaster led the Falcons with 22. Besides Harris' 20, Charlie Lewis had 13, Donnie Perkins 12 and Vincent Barnhill 11 for the Panthers.

The Jaguars lost the two boys' games, however, as the Baby Jags fell, 61-38 and the varsity lost, 55-45.

North Lenoir slipped in front of the Lady Jags in the opening period of their game, 9-8, but Farmville outshot the Lady Hawks, 14-12, in the second period to grab a 22-21 lead at intermission.

Eastern Wayne Nips Chargers

NEW HOPE—Three free throws in the last four seconds of the ballgame propelled Eastern Wayne to a 55-51 victory over conference rival Ayden-Grifton. Eastern took the girls' game, 39-37.

After the half, which saw the score tied at 31, Eastern Wayne edged forward in the third quarter into a two-point bulge at 43-41. With four seconds left in the ballgame, the Chargers were down by one point, 52-51, when an intentional foul was called against them. When Coach Bob Murphrey argued the call, he was assessed two technical fouls. Linwood Robinson hit the foul shot, and Matt Hauser shot the two technicals to give Eastern Wayne its final margin of victory.

Willie Williams of A-G led all scorers with 25 points. He was followed by Vern Davenport with nine. Keith Nayler led Eastern with 21, assisted by Charles McAdoo's 11 and Hauser's 10.

The Chargers avoided a sweep of the basketball triple-header when their JV team led off the evening with a 56-48 win over the Baby Warriors.

In the girls' contest, Ayden-Grifton eased out into an 8-7 lead after the first period. But Eastern Wayne came back with a 12-11 advantage in the second period to tie it at 19-19 at halftime.

Eastern then pushed into the lead in the third period, 31-27. Ayden-Grifton outhit them 10-8 in the final frame, but it wasn't quite enough.

Jaky Williams led Eastern with 14, while Gwen Scott had 10. Tena Smith led Ayden-Grifton with 22.

State, UNC Upset In Tourney

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It now turns out that David Thompson isn't Superman and the North Carolina State basketball team isn't superhuman.

The nation's top-ranked team and its spectacular top-ranked player who flies through the air with the greatest of ease were just sitting ducks Friday night for Wake Forest.

The Deacons proved that the defending national champions and their star player were only human with a shocking 83-78 upset in the annual Big Four Tournament in Greensboro, N.C. Thompson, the nation's leading scorer with a 35.8-point average going into Friday night's game, was held to an embarrassingly low total of 15 points.

"Wake Forest just outplayed us and outhustled us," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan. "They deserved to win. Wake Frest has a lot of talent people don't realize. They did a fine job with our big people on the boards. They zoned us well and they jammed their zone around David Thompson."

"It was a great win for us, certainly, especially with the start we had this season," noted Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy after his club stopped North Carolina State's fabulous 36-game winning streak and extended its record to 6-3 this season.

Thompson, the nation's Player of the Year last season, was kept away from the basket by a wall of Wake Forest defenders and his conspicuous off-night proved to be a significant factor.

"We gave him the outside shot but prevented him from coming inside," said Tacy.

After the biggest upset of the college basketball season, Duke pulled off another shocker by beating eighth-ranked North Carolina 99-96 in overtime in the second game of the doubleheader. The night's unlikely results moved Duke into last night's Big Four finals against Wake Forest.

In other games involving the nation's ranked teams, No. 3 UCLA whipped Davidson 91-64; No. 5 Southern Cal routed Villanova 101-74; No. 13 Marquette tripped DePaul 61-60; No. 14 Arizona State nudged Texas Tech 62-61 in overtime and No. 16 Arizona State turned back Oregon State 76-70.

Wake Forest, using a zone defense and a deliberate offense, trailed in the opening minutes but went ahead after a 6-6 tie and led the rest of the game.

The Deacons were ahead 46-36 at halftime and still led by 10 points with 3:52 remaining. North Carolina State pulled within 74-72 with 1:41 remaining, but Wake Forest scored five of the next seven points. With 20 seconds left, a field goal by Monte Towe pulled the Wolfpack within 79-76.

Wake Forest hit 54.2 per cent of its field goal shots, while North Carolina State could do no better than 34.9 per cent. Skip Brown scored 25 points for the Deacons while Phil Spence led the Wolfpack with 22.

Kevin Billerman delivered four free throws in the last 11 seconds of overtime, lifting Duke over North Carolina. Billerman had six of his 24 points in overtime while Bob Fleischer scored a game-high 26 points for the Blue Devils.

Dave Meyers scored 23 points, leading UCLA over outmanned Davidson for its ninth straight victory of the season. Meyers had only 10 points in the first half, but scored the first nine UCLA points in the opening three minutes of the second to give the powerful Bruins a runaway 53-33 lead.

Center John Lambert scored 24 points, 20 in the second half, to power Southern Cal past Villanova. Greg White had 16 points and Gus Williams added 15 for the Trojans, 9-1.

Gilbert Myles sank two free throws with 13 seconds remaining in overtime, giving Arizona its victory over Texas Tech, while a balanced Arizona State offense, with five men scoring in double figures, led the Sun Devils over Oregon State.

Elsewhere, Lafayette beat Vermont 72-65 and Catholic University trimmed St. Joseph's, Pa., 72-64 in the semifinals of the Lafayette Invitational Tournament in Easton, Pa.; George Washington beat Boston University 80-71 and American University topped West Virginia 82-78 in the Presidential Classic semis at Arlington, Va., and Houston whipped Hawaii 105-96 and Texas A&M stopped Nevada Las Vegas 80-78 in the Bluebonnet Classic semis at Houston.

S. Edgecombe Downs Eagles

LEGGETTS—South Edgecombe High School took a pair of games from Robersonville's Golden Eagles in the Eastern Plains Conference Friday night. The boys won, 61-44, while the girls took a 49-38 victory. The Robersonville junior varsity salvaged the night with a 47-40 win.

In the girls' game, South Edgecombe held the Pitt-Martin-Greene area's leading scorer, Robersonville's Bernice Forrest scoreless, and that meant a lot in the outcome. South Edgecombe pushed out to a 14-2 lead after one period of play, then outhit Robersonville 23-8, in the second. That pushed the host team into a 37-10 halftime lead.

Robersonville came back with a 12-10 advantage in the third frame, and a 16-2 margin in the final period, but it did little good as they were too far back to make a comeback.

Faye Bynum led South Edgecombe with 19 points, and Pat Harrell added 15. Carris Johnson led Robersonville with 11.

Robersonville's boys pushed out into a 14-10 lead in the first period, but South Edgecombe came back to outhit the Eagles in the second frame, 19-10. That pushed the hosts into a 29-24 lead at intermission.

South Edgecombe again outhit Robersonville, 15-10, in the third period, giving them a 44-34 lead. They again outhit the Eagles, 17-10, to wrap up the victory.

Wayne Farmer led the South Edgecombe scoring with 15 points, while Jim Webb and Otis Wilkens each had 10. Robersonville was paced by Willie Andrews with 12.

Jimmy Stalls, a Robersonville starter, has been sidelined with pneumonia and will be out indefinitely.

The Eagles were scheduled to play host to Williamston last night.

1974 Greenville, Pitt Highlight Events

Streaking, Economic Slumps, Bicentennial Joy, Murder, A New Hospital, And New Art Works All Part Of Local History

. . . old fashioned sharpshooters during Bicentennial celebrations

The year 1974 will be remembered nationally as a time of unprecedented and historic news events and Pitt County news happenings, to us, were just as important.

Perhaps variety is the best term to describe the area's major news stories as events unfolded almost daily on both joyous and sad notes.

Pitt County also had its share of "firsts" as well as continuing news items that still were not complete as the year ended.

Med School Victory

As in 1973, the East Carolina University medical school question was a year long item that saw questions answered about the long range medical program and also others left unresolved. And, as the area grew more concerned with finances and economics, the medical school future appeared to hinge on the availability of money, not support.

In January, a bill to expand the ECU medical school was drafted in a secret committee session of the legislature. Shortly afterwards, Gov. James Holshouser voiced his opposition to the expansion measure, urging legislators not to overrule the University of North Carolina Board of Governors which had refused to approve the ECU expansion proposal.

Late in January, Board of Governors chairman Bill Dees sent letters to members of the General Assembly urging their support of the board's medical education proposals which included recommendations against immediate ECU medical school expansion.

Following a meeting of educators, state officials and members of the Legislature to work out a compromise on the expansion issue, a long-awaited bill to enlarge the ECU program was introduced in both houses of the General Assembly on Jan. 23. The bill, as introduced, would direct the expansion of the school from one to two years, effective in the 1976-77 school year, and double the entering class to 40 students by 1975-76.

A group of legislative supporters of the Board of Governors met on Jan. 29 to discuss its position on the issue and a spokesman for the group indicated that it viewed the expansion of the medical school here as a threat to the integrity of the board.

In early February, the House Finance Committee voted 29 to 24 to kill a bill that would have permitted the issue to be voted on by the people of North Carolina. Rep. Larry Eagles of Edgecombe County introduced the bill calling for a referendum on the issuance of $50 million in bonds to create a four-year medical school at ECU. Supporters of the medical school vowed that the issue was far from dead.

Controversy over the issue continued as the co-chairman of the Legislative Medical Manpower Commission charged that part of a survey team's report on the costs and plans for establishing a full medical school here was suppressed. Organized labor, farm groups and the Christian Action League joined forces by testifying in behalf of an expanded medical program at legislative hearings.

On Feb. 26, the Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee voted 49 to 28 to approve a compromise bill that directed the Board of Governors to expand the medical school program to two years.

April saw the General Assembly enact into law a $3.1 billion budget for state operations, including $15 million in appropriations for the expansion of the medical school. The legislation directed the Board of Governors to include in their 1975-76 budget requests plans "to expand as soon as practiceable" the medical school and enlarge it from a one-year to two-year curriculum.

That action was followed by authorization in May by the board for ECU to plan the second year medical program.

In July, UNC Medical School Dean Dr. Christopher Fordham announced that Dr. William Cromartie, professor of clinical medicine at UNC-Chapel Hill, had been named in charge of the ECU medical school, reporting to him and bypassing local administrators as well as Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins. Further action saw Dr. Wallace Wooles, former head of the ECU medical school, reassigned as associate vice chancellor for Health Affairs.

State legislators and ECU officials expressed a concern in September that a plan to expand the ECU program, being prepared by officials of the UNC medical school, might not be in line with what the General Assembly had in mind when they authorized enlargement of the one-year program.

On Nov. 10, the Planning and Budget Committee of the Board of Governors recommended a four-year medical school at East Carolina and the board, in action on Nov. 15, authorized development of a degree-granting four-year program. The Board of Governors also recommended that the 1975 General Assembly appropriate an additional $35.2 million capital construction costs and authorized UNC President William Friday to take steps to implement the program.

Authorization by the board left funding in the hands of the 1975 General Assembly and fostered hope that if the needed funds were made available, ECU might award medical degrees to its first class in 1979.

Jenkins named a 12-member committee to search for a dean to head the developing program and also appointed a 55-member advisory body on medical education to guide development of the four-year school.

Medical School supporters looked to the new year with renewed hope that adequate funding would be available for the implementation of the controversial program. Progress had indeed been made.

Bicentennial

Following weeks of planning and preparation for the city's 200th birthday celebration, a highly successful Bicentennial observance was launched on Oct. 4. Daily events drew the participation of local citizens who were caught up in the celebration atmosphere.

Local planners initially sought the services of a professional firm specializing in celebrations but public sentiment towards keeping the affair in local hands and conducting the birthday activities in an informal way led to the formation of a Bicentennial Board of Trustees and planning organization that handled the event from start to finish. Mrs. Janice Buck agreed to take the awesome job of overall chairman.

Beards and bicentennial costumes were numerous as Greenville citizens turned their attentions from the troubled economy and world affairs to enjoy the once-in-a-lifetime celebration.

Energy Shortages

The year 1974 was a time of shortages and threats of cutbacks in several consumer areas. For the first time since the war years, the supply or availability of gasoline dwindled to a point where long lines of motorists were commonplace at stations fortunate enough to have at least part of their gas quotas.

The gasoline pinch grew more severe in the early weeks of February as supplies grew small and waiting lines longer. The situation prompted the initiation of a gas purchasing system involving the recognition of even and odd numbered license plates as authority for buying gas on certain days of the week. The system worked to some extent alghough some stations never did employ the even-odd plan.

The spring months brought increased gasoline quotas and soon the situation returned to more popular circumstances. Even with gas in ready supply for the rest of the year, motorists were urged to curtail their travels and maintain reduced speeds.

Citizens were also urged to turn back their thermostats as Pitt County joined the rest of the nation in a conservation move to save electricity and fuel oil.

New Hospital

At long last, construction of the county's much needed new hospital facility began following ground breaking ceremonies on Feb. 14. Completion of the $15.84 million medical facility located west of the present hospital is scheduled for sometime in 1976.

Funding of the new hospital was tedious with the money situation tightening throughout the state and nation but appropriate action was taken to insure the success of the project. The N.C. Local Government Commission sold $9 million in bonds issued by Pitt County in January for construction of the new facility and Pitt County Commissioners received on March 4 a $2 million loan check from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the new hospital. On March 27, Pitt Memorial Hospital received $250,000 from the Duke Endowment toward hospital construction and another $250,000 appropriation from the Endowment Fund was received in October. The Duke Endowment trustees indicated that an additional $250,000 would be forthcoming in 1975.

Spring Streaking

An unusual fad developed here in March as streaking reached the ECU campus. On March 4, a group of 25 to 30 male students "streaked" in the university's first bare bottomed event and two students were arrested for indecent exposure when the fun reached downtown. Several nights of streaking drew large numbers of onlookers but the fad, which was widespread throughout the United States, gradually lost its novelty.

Strikes

Strikes involving bus transportation and telephone service affected the area for several weeks during 1974. Some 50 to 60 employees of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co. were involved in the strike here as the Communications Workers of America Union sought a new contract with the company in May.

1974 Elections

The primary elections on May 8 saw Robert Morgan defeat former Congressman Nick Galifianakis and Henry Hall Wilson for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination and William Stevens easily win the Republican nomination. Local races saw Ed Warren unseat incumbent County Commissioner Vance Perkins while incumbent Commissioner B. Alton Gardner, Sheriff Ralph Tyson, Reps. Horton Rountree and Sam Bundy, Congressman Walter Jones, and State Senators Vernon White and Julian Allsbrook all won their respective races.

In the November general elections, Morgan defeated Stevens for the U.S. Senate seat and Rufus Edmisten, a Democrat, turned back James Carson in the bid for the N.C. Attorney General post. Washington businessman Harry McMullan III also lost in his GOP bid for a seat in congress as Jones won an easy victory. White and Allsbrook had little trouble in regaining their state senate seats.

In conjunction with the election process in 1974, the Pitt County Board of Elections moved into new office quarters on E. Second Street in February and held ribbon cutting ceremonies to mark the occasion.

Republicans James C. Lanier Jr. and Thomas C. Herndon and Democrat J. B. Spilman were sworn in as members of the Board of Elections and Lanier was elected chairman as the GOP gained majority membership on the board. The board election took place in March.

Tobacco Market

The 84th season of the Greenville Tobacco Market opened on July 22 with a first day average of $83.45. The early days of the season were unpopular with area growers as prices fell below expectations but averages climbed steadily following the opening day. For the season, the market recorded a record average of $105.80 on sales of 52,309,139 for $55,343,914. The local market closed on Nov. 4.

Swimming Pool

On April 5, the City Council voted to accept a reduced bid from Gatlinburg Construction Co. for the new municipal swimming pool. The Council rejected a bid in March and sought renegotiations in order to bring the figure more in line with the budget. Ground was finally broken for the new pool at Guy Smith Stadium on July 11 and work is progressing on the much-discussed pool facility.

Another facility that was long in the planning and discussion stages was opened in July as ceremonies marking the opening of the city's new animal shelter on Cemetery Road were held. The shelter was designated to serve as headquarters for the Animal Control Division of the City Inspections Department.

New Buildings, Plants

Construction again played a big part in the news events of 1974 as several new buildings began to take shape. Work on the new North Carolina National Bank began during the year as well as on a new branch of First State Bank (formerly Bank of Winterville) on Memorial Drive. Ground was broken for the new State Employees Credit Union Building in Shore Drive and the Production Credit Association building neared completion on First Street. The Farmville Economic Council announced that Sterling Radiator Co. of Westfield, Mass. would locate at the site vacated by International Paper Co. and Saieed Construction Co. announced that it would begin work on a new Greenville District Social Security office at the corner of Plaza and Carlton Drive.

Boise Cascade Corp. announced plans to build a plant in Greenville to produce composite cans for Procter & Gamble's Pringle's Potato Chip product. The announcement in late July indicated that the 50,000 square foot building would be located on a 15-acre site north of Greenville near the P & G plant, now under construction.

Work continued on the new Eaton Corp. plant north of Greenville and the segment of Reade Circle in the Cotanche and Evans Street areas was completed. On June 21, the new Cooper U.S.A. plant was dedicated. The plant, located next to Burroughs Wellcome Co., produces animal health care products and is associated with the Wellcome Foundation Ltd.

Tragedies, Fires

All news was not pleasant in 1974 as Pitt County had its share of tragedies and moments of sorrow.

The Highway Patrol reported that 25 persons died during the year on Pitt County highways, compared to 12 during 1973.

Fires again found the front page of the newspaper during the year as two lives were lost and property damage ran high in a series of local blazes.

On Feb. 22, Linwood Earl Cannon, 42, and his wife, Reamona, died when fire swept through their home on Rt. 2, Ayden near Cannon's Cross Roads.

Two large fires on Oct. 28, one at Johnson's Furniture Co. at West End Circle, and a second at a general storage warehouse at the intersection of 13th and Railroad Streets resulted in more than $330,000 in property damages. The furniture store blaze, reported at 1:50 p.m., gutted the business while the warehouse fire, which occurred around 10:45 the same evening, completely destroyed the building and its contents.

An early morning fire on Feb. 26 heavily damaged the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house at 803 Hooker Road and a 6:30 p.m. blaze on Nov. 20 caused light damage to an art room on the first floor at Rose High School. Fire caused severe damage to an Ayden store owned by Dick Evans on Dec. 3.

Branch Murder Case

The assault and murder of Rt. 9 Greenville businessman Lynwood Branch on March 29 touched off an investigation by local and state officers and led to the arrest of Connie Hardee Branch, wife of the victim, Roy Lee Sullivan of Kinston, and two Virginia men, Matthew Jack Whealton and Howard Wiseman. Mrs. Branch and Sullivan were convicted in Superior Court here of conspiracy and of being accessories before the fact of murder and Whealton, who had been charged with first degree murder along with Wiseman, pled guilty to accessory before the fact and conspiracy to commit murder and was given a life plus ten years sentence. Both Mrs. Branch and Sulivan received life plus ten years sentences and Wiseman is still scheduled to come to trial. Mrs. Branch was released from jail after an appearance bond of $250,000 was posted for her by a number of Pitt County property owners.

Lester Hart Garris, 66, Ayden farmer, was found dead in a corn field some four miles from his home on July 17 and an autopsy revealed that death was due to a severe beating and shotgun wound.

Local Deaths

A bizarre accident at Grifton took the lives of two men on Nov. 21 when the bridge they were dismantling at Contentnea Creek buckled and flipped over. A third workman was injured.

Robert S. Moye, retired Pitt County tax supervisor, died on April 5 and Gen. John A. Lang, 63, vice chancellor for Health Affairs at ECU and former Secretary of Military and Veterans Affairs, passed away on June 28. Pitt County warehouseman and former Highway Commissioner W. Arthur Tripp died Dec. 16.

Appointments, Changes

Several important elections, appointments and business changes took place during 1974, including: election of Mrs. Etsil Gordon as the first woman president of the Boys' Club of Pitt County; appointment of Alton Warren as the new chief inspector of the city's Inspection Department; election of Mark Meltzer as Jaycee president; appointment of Mrs. Lois Worthington to succeed retiring William Moore as city clerk; reelection of Henry Oglesby of Grifton as Pitt County Democratic chairman; selection of Hugh Bazemore as overall chairman of the United Fund; naming of Pat Ross as the new city finance officer; election of J. Curtis Hendrix as executive vice president and member of the board of directors of First State Bank; resignation of James R. Horne as executive director of Pitt Industrial Development Commission and naming of Reese Hart as new director; appointment of Col C. Ritchie Blake as assistant to the chancellor at ECU; and appointment of Robert Bird as city personnel officer.

Awards

Also during the year Steve Koch received the Outstanding Young Educator Award from the Jaycees; Tom Reese was named winner of the 1973 Distinguished Service Award; and Carl Darden received the J. Albert House Award as the Distinguished Young Democratic Club member in the state.

Sunday In The Park

The first "Sunday in the Park" entertainment series was presented during the summer and was successful as sizeable crowds enjoyed the six-week program.

The Jaycees again staged the Fourth of July celebration and the success of the effort initiated planning for the 1975 event. Over in Grifton, the fourth annual Shad Festival was held and in spite of chilly weather, the attending crowd was larger than ever.

Dedications

The Developmental Evaluation Clinic at ECU was dedicated to its founder, Dr. Malene Irons, in September, while the dedication of the Thomas W. Willis Regional Development Institute at the intersection of Reade and First Streets was held on Dec. 13. Dedication ceremonies were also held on Nov. 24 at the Greenville Utilities Building across from city hall. GUCO dedicated the building in honor of long time Utilities business manager Larry Brown.

Art Purchased

The East Carolina Art Society reached a goal of $50,000 in January to match a challenge grant of $50,000. Funds were earmarked for the purchase of art works for the Greenville Art Center.

New Coach

On the sports scene, Tom Quinn, who served as head basketball coach at East Carolina since 1966, was fired in March and Dave Patton, as assistant under Quinn, was named head coach.

Late Freeze

And Pitt residents, who had become used to several inches of snow each winter for the past several years, had to be content with a sleet and freezing rain spell on March 25 as the unusually mild winter was just what the doctor ordered in helping to keep fuel consumption down.

Gold Rush — A Party No One Attended

By LEE MITGANG
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans bought and sold gold bullion legally for the first time in 41 years this past week. Anyway, a few of them did.

The gold rush that some had anticipated when the legal ban on private U.S. ownership of gold was lifted Dec. 31 was more like the party to which no one came. Most banks and brokers dealing in gold reported some curiosity, but very little buying.

"It's just like the first two days of gold buying," a spokesman for New York's Republic National said of Friday's sales. "We've had very slight response."

The remark typified the lack of response to gold sales that marked all three trading days this past week. By week's end, some were predicting the American gold market wouldn't pick up noticeably for months if at all.

On the nation's commodity markets, by contrast, gold contracts for current and future delivery attracted heavy volume. But most of it was selling by professionals apparently alarmed by weak retail gold sales. Futures prices took heavy losses.

From the opening trade Tuesday to the close Friday, 96.45 troy ounce bullion contracts for current delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade slid from $194 an ounce to $173. Similar steep losses occurred for January contracts at the other major commodity markets.

Retail prices at banks and brokers varied, as markups and sales taxes differed from place to place. But at Republic National, the handful of customers who bought one-ounce ingots for $216 on Tuesday could have bought the same bullion for about $20 less on Friday.

It Wasn't All Bad For Business In '74

By RICHARD HUGHES
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — With notable exceptions, 1974 wasn't a bad year for business. Some companies never had it so good.

Figures are not in for the last three months of the year, but based on the first nine months, it is apparent oil, steel and sugar companies in particular did very well. In some cases, profits were at record levels.

According to the Wall Street Journal tabulation of 578 companies, after-taax profits increased 25.6 per cent in the second quarter and 29.6 per cent in the third quarter.

Some did extremely well.

In the third quarter, profits of Western United, a major beet sugar refiner, rose more than 1,100 per cent and those of Amstar, the nation's largest sugar company, climbed 250 per cent.

The profits of a smaller company, Michigan Sugar Co., soared 2,000 per cent.

Meanwhile, consumers were paying 400 per cent more for sugar off grocery shelves.

Profits of the nation's major steel and oil companies also scored sharp gains.

Despite a 25-day coal strike and drastically reduced auto production, the steel industry produced about 109 million tons last year, breaking the 100-million mark for only the second time in history. An industry spokesman said domestic steel production should hit about 102 million tons in 1975.

U.S. Steel's profits were up 145 per cent in the third quarter and 109 per cent for the first nine months. Both were records. Sales rose 38 per cent.

Steel prices rose 30 per cent during the year. U.S. Steel posted price increases of 4.6 to 8 per cent for the first six months of 1975, but reduced the hike by 20 per cent under pressure from President Ford.

The profits of the nation's 12 largest oil companies were up 80 per cent in the aggregate, with some reporting increases in the 200-300 per cent range. The four largest —Exxon, Texaco, Mobil and Gulf — averaged profit gains of 76 per cent in the first quarter, 67 per cent in the second and 25 per cent in the third. Fourth quurter earnings are expected to be as high or higher, although the windfall profits brought about by higher oil and gas prices appeared to be dwindling.

The profit outlook for oil companies is uncertain. The Organization for Petroleum Exporting Countries has established a new pricing system that OPEC claims will require the companies to absorb crude oil price increases in the future. But most oil companies have indicated higher crude costs eventually will be passed on to consumers no matter what OPEC does.

Nonetheless, high profits were expected to continue at least through 1975. Exxon, the world's largest oil company, was expected to return earnings of $10 to $11 a share in 1975 compared to an estimated $13 for 1974.

Oil company suppliers have benefited from the increased exploration activity. The net of Baker Oil Tools and Hughes Tool Co. rose about 35 per cent. Reed Tool's was doubled.

The coal industry had a good year, and 1975 is expected to be even better. Standard & Poor's, a financial reporting service, says "the outlook for coal industry profits is better now than at any time in the past century." Coal prices have more than doubled since the Arab oil embargo made coal an attractive alternative energy source.

In the first nine months of 1974, earnings of many bituminous coal companies were more than double earnings for the same period in 1973. For example, Pittston Company's net went from $16 million to $73 million.

Even Hollywood has profited. The Motion Picture Producers Association said gross income from theaters in the United States was up 24 per cent in 1974. Ticket prices were up an average 8 per cent.

"It doesn't take as much gasoline to drive to a neighborhood theater as it does to a ballpark," said a spokesman for the association.

In many cases, high profits were illusionary, the paper value bloated by inflationary increases in inventory. To compensate for inflated inventory values, many companies switched to LIFO (last-in, first-out) accounting.

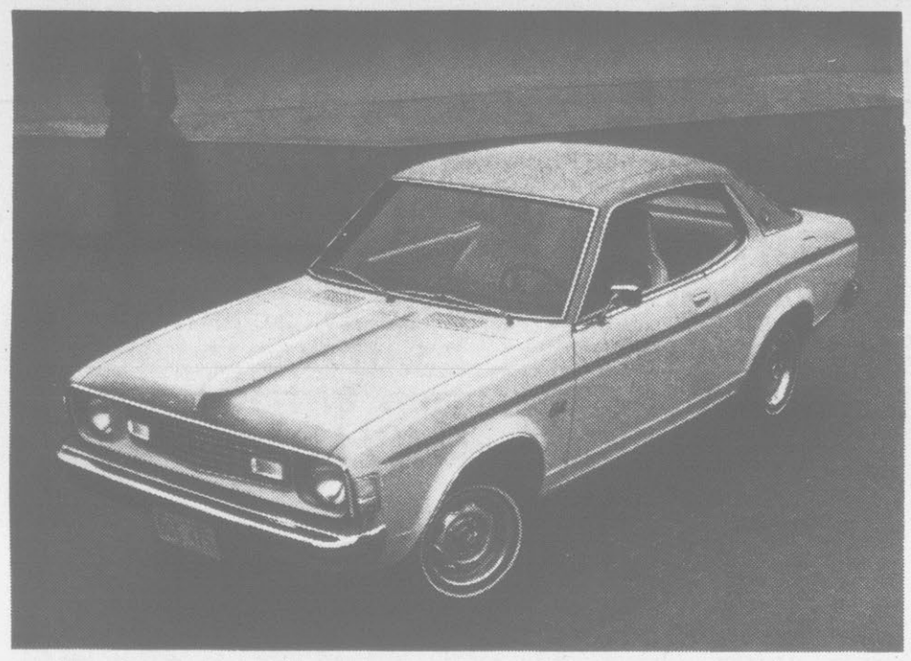
What this means is that companies assume for accounting purposes the last —and presumably most expensive stock items —were the first to be sold. The company thus charges off heftier costs.

This method also reduces taxable income.

By switching to LIFO, B.F. Goodrich Co. lowered its reported profits from an 81 per cent gain to a 15 per cent increase.

Economists agree as the recession deepens in 1975 it will take its toll on company profits to the tune of about 20 per cent. Still, those industries that did well in 1974 generally will fare better than others in 1975. And those that suffered the most in 1974 are expected to pay the piper again this year.

Among the industries that are expected to do especially well are coal, oil and food processing. Among those industries not expected to withstand the recession as well are autos, textiles, appliances and forest products.



A FUN HARDTOP in Dodge Colt lineup for 1975 is the Carousel with bright blue denim interior touches and blue shag carpeting. A denim vinyl roof is optional. Colt also will offer new 5-speed manual transmission in hardtop GT, sedans and wagons, and new features on the coupe, which rounds out the five subcompact models new for the calendar year.

Finally Decide On Bucharest Subway

By VIOREL URMA
Associated Press Writer

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — After 20 years of engineering problems and hesitation, Romanian leaders have finally decided to build a subway in Bucharest.

Official announcements have said that actual construction of the first 11-mile line will start next year. It will run from East to West, connecting the center of the city with two residential and industrial suburbs, each with a 200,000 population.

The line is supposed to begin carrying passengers by 1979.

Work at the initial subway started in the early 1950s, when several splendid but virtually unachievable projects had been initiated.

One of them, considered a symbol of Soviet domination, urged the construction of a Danube River-Black Sea canal, reportedly on orders from Stalin. But after Stalin's death in 1953, both the canal and the subway were abruptly abandoned.

When the subway was abandoned, officials and specialists alike blamed not only the extravagant planning which was beyond Bucharest's means at the time, but also treacherous sand and subsurface water.

Meanwhile, it seems the soil has become less sandy and the water has evaporated.

The subway will have a 50,000 passenger transport capacity per hour and will run at an average speed of 25 miles.

Electric trains will be used, each able to carry 1,800 passengers. The stops will be located at about one mile from one another and will be provided with platforms and escalators.

The rapidly expanding suburbs of Bucharest have made the need for more extensive public transport painfully evident.

"The only way to speed the traffic and make Bucharest a modern city, avoiding air pollution and cutting down noise, is the construction of the subway," a recent newspaper editorial said.

The 3,600 buses, trolley-buses and streetcars, covering a distance of 800 miles and carrying 4 million passengers a day, seem insufficient for a populaton of 1.7 million, particularly at rush hours.

The class will meet from 7:00-10:00 p.m. for four sessions, January 7th, 13th, 16th, and 20th.

Satisfactory completion of the course meets the First Aid requirements of the Pitt County American Red Cross and also the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).

The course is open and available to any interested citizen (18 years old, and not in public school).

Due to the short duration of the course one should plan to attend all sessions.

THE BEST OF DEAR ABBY

Abby, America's favorite dispenser of no-nonsense advice, displays her unique blend of terseness and tenderness in this holiday offering of the year's best.

DEAR ABBY: As a lawyer, may I comment on the dilemma of the divorcee who didn't know what to say when a man asked for sex outside of marriage?

She should give him a calm, lawyer-like answer; he is asking her to trust him with her body. She is running the risk of an unwanted pregnancy. What is HE risking?

Shouldn't the risk be equal? Why doesn't he give her $1,000 in cash to put into her savings account, and at the end of nine months, if there is no unwanted baby, she can cheerfully return his $1,000.

If she does become pregnant, she can use the money for an abortion, or partial support of the child. In that way, he at least risks something. It is clearly unfair to ask a girl to have sex, and should something go wrong, all the risk be hers.

While the risk can never be made truly equal, the deposit of $1,000 to her account before sex would make it a little more equal.

I wonder how many men who would ask a girl to risk her body are willing to risk some of their money?

J.M.S.: PLANDOME, N.Y.

DEAR J.M.S.: If your proposition is truly "lawyer-like," the legal profession is in trouble. The girl's un-lawyer-like response could be: "If you really want to monkey around, I'm not settling for peanuts!"

DEAR ABBY: A bunch of us in the office were talking about what it takes for a man to survive, and our office know-it-all said he had heard about a nifty set of "survival rules," but he couldn't remember any.

We all agreed that if anyone could help us, it was you. Can you? THE LUNCH BUNCH

DEAR BUNCH: I've never seen any "survival rules," but I'll submit mine: Don't order seafood in a restaurant that has dirty menus. Never romance a woman who has more problems than you have. Don't tell a redhead you love her unless you intend to marry her. And don't open unless you have Jacks or better.

DEAR ABBY: I just read an article about rape. It said that last year there were 150 cases of rape every 24 hours in Los Angeles, and only 134 cases of rape for the whole year in London. How do you explain that?

A.G. IN L.A.

DEAR A.G.: The English are a very proper people. In London, they ask.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 28, married and has two adorable children. She phoned to ask if she could come over to talk to me about something important. Well, she just left, and I am a wreck!

She is having an affair with—of all people—her foot doctor! (He's married, and nearly twice her age.) My daughter is very pretty, but she's stupid. She has a husband who treats her like a queen. What she wants with this foot doctor, I'll never know.

I wish she had never confided in me. What did she expect me to tell her? Now that she's told me, if she leaves her husband, she can say: "My mother knew all about it."

I told her to get another foot doctor and to quit seeing this man, but she cried and said: "But, Mother, I love him!" What a nut! She needs a head doctor, not a foot doctor. Now that she's involved me, what should I do? HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You've done all you can. You've listened to your daughter, and given her some sound advice. The rest is up to her. (Nice man, this philandering foot (loose) doctor. He gets his patient's feet in shape—the better to walk out on her husband.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a very loving husband. That's the trouble. He's TOO loving. For example, this morning he drove the kids to school and came back thinking I'd drop everything and make the bedroom scene with him. He often waits around until all the kids are gone, then he starts getting lovey-dovey when I should be getting my housework done.

Will you please tell him that the time for romance is after all the kids are asleep?

Also, he always gets ideas after bowling. Bowling wears me out, but for him it's an afrodeeshiak [or however you spell it]. I wouldn't mind if I could sleep the next morning, but I have to get up to drive the car pool. Am I wrong to complain? After all, we're not newlyweds. We've been married for 17 years. NO BRIDE

DEAR NO BRIDE: The ideal time for romance is when both parties are in the mood and have nothing else to do, but unfortunately that's not always possible. I say, shoot the ducks while they're flying—the housework will keep. And if the situation were reversed, I'd advise a husband to do the same.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHIRLEY: I agree. Something is wrong. Maybe he gave at the office.

DEAR ABBY: The idea of eliminating all salutations in business letters in order to do away with the sexist "Dear Sir," has provoked me to write.

I propose, "Dear Y'all." It's friendly, all-inclusive, personal, impersonal, masculine, feminine and in between. A less formal "Hi, Y'all" might also be considered.

FRIENDLY IN DALLAS

DEAR FRIENDLY: Y'all's entitled to Y'all's opinion. But I doubt that it will play in Peoria.

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading a lot lately about women who have had silicone implants to enlarge the size of their breasts, and I want to know more about it.

Is this something only tramps have done? Because if it is, I want no part of it. I just want to look nice in swimsuits and lowcut dresses.

I have been married for 11 years and have two children and my husband says I can do as I please. Also, is this type of surgery covered by insurance? CONSIDERING IT

DEAR CONSIDERING: Implants are for any woman who wants them—the colonel's lady and Molly O'Grady alike. And unless you can convince the insurance people that silicone implants are essential for your mental or physical health, the only thing that will cover it is a brassiere!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who watches television while making love to his wife? My husband never makes love to me in the bedroom anymore, always on the sofa in the living room so he can watch TV, too. And it's usually on the spur of the moment, which is not to my liking.

He was a lot more considerate and loving when we were dating. He's so afraid he's going to miss something good on television it has practically ruined our sex life.

Will you please tell me how I can get him back in the bedroom? DISSATISFIED

DEAR DIS: Move the TV into your bedroom!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT FOOLED": Don't rely on appearances. The guy you peg as the early bird may have been up all night.

DEAR ABBY: To begin with, my husband has always been a big liar. Last summer I found a pair of nylon panties under the seat of his pickup truck, and when I asked him where they came from and what they were doing there, he said they were probably mine and he was using them for car rags. I told him I didn't wear that kind and they didn't make very good car rags and I gave him something else to use.

I forgot all about it until yesterday when I came across another pair of panties in the glove compartment of his pickup. This time I knew for sure they weren't mine because this pair had "Wednesday" on them. Abby, I know he can't be that desperate for car rags.

What do you suppose is going on? I hope you print this because I'd like that hussy my husband has been fooling around with to know she forgot to pick up "Wednesday."

NOT FOOLED IN STAUNTON, VA.

DEAR NOT: If your husband intends to continue picking up in his pickup, he should tell his friends to pick up after themselves—and that means Monday through Sunday!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SONNY IN SANTA BARBARA": Be careful in your selection of a 'new broom'—you might get one with a witch on it.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I met and fell in love with the most beautiful girl I've ever seen. She liked me, too, and soon she was staying with me, cooking my meals and taking care of my apartment. It seemed like an ideal setup, but there is just one problem: she works days in a massage parlor, and is a call girl at night.

She makes more in one night than I make in a whole week, but she never has any money because she likes to gamble, and she gives ten per cent of her earnings to the church.

Is there any way I can get her to quit taking those calls at night? She says she loves me, but she can't live on what I make. A FOOL IN LOVE

DEAR FOOL: [You said it, I didn't.] So your lady love works in a massage parlor by day and is a call girl by night? When does she work you in? I'm afraid it's hopeless, unless you can make more, or she agrees to settle for less.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ERNIE IN LEXINGTON: Don't get excited. A "SEXAGENARIAN" means she's from 60 to 69 years old.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to know if there is anything in insecticide that could excite a man.

Arthur is 55—just the age most men start to slow down, but he's still going strong. He gets especially aroused right after he sprays our property for bugs.

I noticed it last year when we moved into this house. We had ants and roaches, and right after Arthur sprayed he started looking for me. He would get so passionate that he didn't care if I did my housework or even cook. Last year was bad enough, but this year it's worse. On weekends he sprays sometimes two and three times a day. It's really getting me down.

We live in Florida. What brand of bug bomb will kill the bugs down here without bringing out my husband's manhood so strong?

He uses Raid, TNT and Rid-a-bug, and they all have the same effect on him. The brands that don't affect him don't have any effect on the bugs either. Please help me.

TIRED

DEAR TIRED: My chemical experts know of nothing in any brand of insecticide that will rejuvenate the waning desire of man. If there were, we'd have a lot more dead bugs, livelier husbands and tired wives.

CONFIDENTIAL TO L IN MANDAN, N.D.: Don't give away too many free samples or you'll never sell the product.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, when my husband was 58, he had an affair with his secretary. It was no secret, and all the tongues in this little town were wagging a mile a minute.

Once I found a motel key in his coat pocket, and he had the gall to tell me that he got tired driving so he checked into this motel to take a nap. [Three miles from home!]

Last year he had an operation which left him practically impotent, and since then I couldn't ask for a more devoted husband. He phones me if he knows he's going to be half an hour late. He buys me presents, sends me flowers, and even takes me on business trips, which he never did before.

Of course I'm enjoying all this, but why in your opinion has my husband suddenly turned over a new leaf?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Probably because there's not much left under the old one.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a radiologist. He's a wonderful husband and an excellent provider, but he has some peculiar ideas.

For example, when we go out for an evening, he orders a vodka martini with eight olives. If for some reason he doesn't get the eight olives, he cancels the order and asks me to leave with him, which is very embarrassing.

This is not the worse of it. If he gets the olives, one by one he puts them in his nose and sniffs out the juice. He claims it clears his sinuses.

I don't mind when he does this at home, but when he does it in public, I want to crawl into a hole.

He doesn't have any allergies or sinus trouble, so I can't see the sense of this. Should he find a psychiatrist?

RADIOLOGIST'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes, but he should find one who drinks martinis with a twist of lemon so they won't fight over the olives.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say if I told you that a supposedly sane 50-year-old man refuses to take a bath without your column? If for some reason our newspaper ever quit printing it, I am sure he would rot.

As if this isn't bad enough, he is truly convinced that sometimes his wife tries to destroy the paper before he gets an opportunity to "bathe" with Abby.

Is he crazy, or just eccentric?

APPALLED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Neither. He's adorable. Please ask him not to splash. I hate to get my hair wet!

DEAR ABBY: Now I've heard everything. Some woman out in California was so appalled by animals living in "sin" that she has founded The First Religion For Animals. She recently "married" two poodles, so now I suppose she can sleep better knowing that whatever these dogs do is legal, and therefore respectable.

Abby, do you actually believe that dogs are ashamed of anything they do, and that it makes a difference to them if they are "married" or not?

PUZZLED IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR PUZZLED: A "marriage ceremony" won't mean a thing to a couple of poodles, because dogs are not ashamed of their natural biological urges, which is more than I can say for the lady in California. Her "marrying" the dogs will help HER—not them.

DEAR ABBY: As my husband and I were preparing to make a trip to Europe by air, one of my so-called dearest friends came to me and asked me if I would please get a $50,000 airplane insurance policy naming her as the beneficiary. She said she would gladly pay for the insurance!

I was shocked to say the least.

What do you think of such a suggestion from a supposedly loving friend? I'd really like your opinion. PEACHES

DEAR PEACHES: Let me put it this way: If this "loving friend" invited me to her home for dinner, I'd wonder who she was loving, and I'd also take a food-taster along.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reference to the family who, when relaxing outdoors at a barbecue, or just sitting and visiting, were always "joined" by a neighbor, who stayed until they went inside, even when they were entertaining guests.

You advised the writer to either suffer the intruder's presence, or tell her that you'd like a little privacy.

May I add another solution? Why not build a six-foot fence? AL CENTENO, HOUSTON, TEXAS

DEAR AL: That's a pretty sneaky way to get a plug in for the fence business, but it's a good idea for those who can afford it. How about a moat stocked with crocodiles?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old school teacher, and I've just received a proposal of marriage. My first!

Henry is 40 and has never married. We met last summer when he rented the apartment next to mine. He owns a small but thriving business, and is a man of good moral character. He is on the quiet side. Although Henry has not been aggressive [romantically] I am sure the chemistry is right, if you know what I mean.

So what is the problem? It's the way Henry proposed to me. He said: "My dog died two weeks ago, and I haven't had a good night's sleep since because the dog always slept with me. I can't get used to sleeping alone so will you marry me?"

SINCERE

DEAR SINCERE: A proposal is a proposal, and this one is just as good as if Henry got down on his knees and gave you a 30-minute pitch. So if you want to marry him, accept. But don't let Henry get another dog, or you could wind up three in a bed.

DEAR ABBY: After being married to Dudley for 30 years I suppose I should accept the fact that he isn't the most demonstrative man in the world, but something has come up that bothers me.

A few months ago we got a dog, and since then nothing has been the same around here. Dudley calls the dog all the pet names he used to call me. He even pats the dog on the same spot he used to pat me.

Abby, I need a little affection, too, but I am being ignored. When I complained, Dudley said: "Don't tell me you are jealous of a dog?"

Well, I am, and I'm not kidding. Any suggestions?

SECOND FIDDLE

DEAR SECOND: Put up a howl and ask Dudley to please treat you like a dog. And if he refuses, bite him in the leg.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if your husband came home with lipstick on his shirt, trousers, underwear and some on his neck, too? Also, Norbert has hairs on his coat, and they were a color like nobody in our family has. [Looks like a redhead.]

I questioned him, and he swore up and down he didn't know how any of this stuff got there.

Norbert works in an office with just one woman. I've never met her, but he says she's as homely as a mud fence. I want to trust him, but with all this evidence, how can I? UPSET IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR UPSET: First I'd find out if this "mud fence" has red hair. If she has, I'd suspect that she was close enough to Norbert to transfer the above-mentioned evidence. [P.S. Any man who comes home in that shape can plead "insanity" and get away with it.]

CONFIDENTIAL FOR "YELLOW RIBBON": There is no situation as hopeless as a single girl who has got it bad for a married man who never had it so good.

CONFIDENTIAL TO UNCLE HENRY: No horse can go as fast as the money you bet on him.

DEAR ABBY: If you were elected President of the United States, what is the first thing you'd do? N.Y. FAN

DEAR FAN: The same as Clare Boothe Luce. I'd ask for a recount!

Cooking Is Fun

BETH'S APRICOT FRUITCAKE

This was concocted in 1962 and has been made every year since then for tasters who find the usual fruitcake too sweet.

- 2-3rds cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 2 cups flour, stir to aerate before measuring
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- ¾ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups (not packed down) dried apricots (11-ounce package), chopped
- 2 cups candied red cherries
- 1 cup each thinly sliced candied pineapple and citron
- 1 cup golden raisins
- 1½ cups chopped walnuts
- ½ cup apricot nectar, from a 5½-ounce or larger can
- ½ cup brandy

In large mixing bowl cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs one at a time. Stir together the flour, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; stir ½ of mixture into creamed mixture, beating with a spoon until smooth. In a separate bowl, stir together the remaining ingredients; stir into batter; add remaining flour mixture, stirring until blended. Turn into a 9-inch angelfood cake pan lined with heavy wax paper. Cover tightly with a tent of buttered foil and bake on middle rack in a preheated 300-degree oven about 3 hours with a baking pan full of water on rack beneath. Uncover cake and bake at 325 degrees until cake is firm — about 15 minutes. Cool on rack for 30 minutes, then turn out of pan. Cool completely. Drizzle with apricot brandy, wrap tightly in plastic film and store in refrigerator or freezer.

Privacy Is Necessary And Legitimate

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, I returned home from shopping and found my 16-year-old daughter and her 18-year-old boyfriend in her bedroom. (He has been teaching her to play the guitar.) The door was open and her two brothers were in the living room.

I'm afraid I over-reacted, because I said in front of the boy, "I would rather you didn't have David in your bedroom."

They promptly put away the guitar and went for a walk, but before leaving, she said: "We weren't doing anything wrong, Mother."

I told her she could have her lessons in the basement—that it would look better and she said: "With the boys and their friends running through every few minutes? My bedroom is the only quiet and private place I have."

After thinking it over, I realized that she was right, and as long as they weren't doing anything wrong I shouldn't have said anything.

Abby, how do you feel about a 16-year-old girl entertaining a boy in her bedroom?

OLD FASHIONED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A girl should not "entertain" her boyfriend in her bedroom—so you aren't wrong there. But she wasn't entertaining him. She was taking a guitar lesson. There's a difference. Privacy is necessary and legitimate under special circumstances. This was one.

DEAR ABBY: I am so upset I can hardly see straight. The other night, my husband came home and told me that some woman had read his palm for five dollars and told him that either I was going to die and he was going to marry somebody else, or he and I were going to get divorced because she definitely saw TWO marriages in his palms. How do you like that?

Ever since my husband told me this I've been afraid to go to sleep for fear I might not wake up again. Also I'm afraid of saying something that might not set right with him for fear it will start a fight which may lead to breaking up our marriage.

Man, this thing has really hit me hard. We've always had a pretty good relationship, but not anymore. I need your help.

SCARED

DEAR SCARED: The only thing you can tell by looking at a person's palm is whether it's clean or not. Fortelling the future? No way! It's all a lot of rubbish, so forget it. And tell your husband to forget it, too.

DEAR ABBY: I just had a miscarriage, and while I was in the hospital a neighbor lady sent me a get-well card, and she wrote on it, "Some people have all the luck!" (She has nine kinds and I don't have any.)

I thought that was in very poor taste. Do I have to thank her for the card?

EMPTY ARMS

DEAR EMPTY: Not unless you want to. But when you see her, tell her that as far as you're concerned, your "luck" was bad.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has started walking to work every morning because he thinks it's healthier than driving. (It's a 20-minute walk.)

Recently, a pretty, dark-haired young girl, who lives across the street, has started to wait for my husband to come out of our front door so she can walk with him. She is new in the city and she doesn't know her way around town very well. My husband assures me that it's the only reason she wants to walk with him.

I know I can trust my husband, but I still don't like the idea of this girl walking to work with him every morning. I think it's time she learned her way around.

Should I play hurt every day as I did the past two weeks, or should I keep quiet for a while and see how things develop?

FEELING HURT

DEAR FEELING: Quit playing "hurt." If you insist on making an issue of it, you may give your husband ideas he never had.

Pauline Trigere goes on into spring with her now familiar maillot blouse. This is something like a body suit, fancied up, but still keeping blouses tucked in, thanks to the center fastening at the crotch.

Fashion Notes

It's the year of the stripe, when new season fashions burst into the stores. Almost every New York manufacturer features the stripe in some version, running horizontally, vertically or on the diagonal.

Watch for a big year for navy come spring and summer. The classic color of spring is right in there competing with another designer favorite, beige. The latter ranges from palest ivory on to deep, camel tones.

Who said a T-shirt has to be a Dullsville dress? Not the way Bill Blass does it. One of the most glamorous dresses in his new is a floor-length T-shape, sequined from collar to hem in tones of mauve and pink.

The easy-to-wear model's smock inspires many of the clothes in Geoffrey Beene's spring collection. It appears in assorted lengths, ranging from micromini to regular street length, well covering the knees.

On The Local Scene

by Rosalie Trotman

Gala parties followed by midnight breakfasts attracted many party goers in and around Greenville Tuesday night. The occasion ushering in 1975.

The buffet dinner-dance was held at the Ramada Inn for about 70 couples, who were also served breakfast. The Conner Brothers of Tampa, Fla., provided entertainment during the evening, which was highlighted by a champagne toast at midnight.

The New Horizons rendered music for dancing at the Greenville Moose Lodge for 225 couples. The dance was followed by breakfast and those attending were presented party favors, noisemakers and gaily colored hats.

At the Brook Valley Country Club, members and their guests were entertained by the Fancy Color combo. Following the dance, breakfast was served to about 50 couples.

The Greenville Golf and Country Club was the scene of a dance which was followed by a midnight champagne breakfast. Members and guests were served hors d' oeuvres from eight until 9:30 with a dance from nine o'clock until 1 p.m. The Band of Oz provided music for dancing for 125 couples.

At midnight breakfast was served and the menu included blackeyed peas in celebration of New Year's. Promptly at midnight, ballons floated from the ceiling. New Year's Eve favors were given to those attending.

Beginning at 9 p.m., a six course dinner was served to 75 couples at the Candlewick Inn. The Whit McLawhorn Trio began playing at 9:30 and a continental breakfast was served at 1 a.m. Highlights of the evening were a champagne toast at midnight and flaming baked Alaskan was served as dessert.

A New Year's Eve dance for the younger generation began at 8 p.m. at the Buccaneer with music for dancing rendered by the Onyx rock band. At the Windjammer, music was provided by Miami for members, who were also served hors d' oeuvres.

Singles Create Special Living Trends

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Going it alone — and liking it — is the norm for the modern unattached woman, says the head of a national real estate financing and servicing organization based here.

"Today about 9.3 million single, divorced and widowed women live alone, maintaining their own residences apart from their relatives. Add to this number about 7 million women who head families and you have the makings of unprecedented demand for housing geared to suit the female on her own," reports Marshall C. Dennison, president of Associated Mortgage Companies, Inc.

Dennison notes that at mid-century only 3.7 million single women were residing in their own apartments and homes and just 3 million divorced and widowed women were out tackling familial responsibilities.

As for the predilections of the liberated female '74-style: it's metropolitan living that catches her fancy. "Seven out of every 10 single women dwell in the major cities or their immediate suburbs.

"The reasons: greater job opportunities, chance to participate in the diverse life of a metro-center, and conceivably a better selection of single men — considering that unattached males opt for city life in about the same proportions as women," he adds.

Where do these women like to live? "Look skyward," Dennison suggests.

"Female renters are a staple of the high-rise, in-town apartment market. In recent years, they have become an important participant in the condominium-purchase scene as well."

He points out that the movement of women into metro-environs has sparked the current boom in the all-amenity building.

"Much of the emphasis on large lobbies, secretarial service, swimming pools, recreational rooms and even roof-top gardens stems from the emergence of women in the rental field."

Dennison observes further that younger females — the under-30 group — prefer a downtown dwelling, especially a high-rise which offers party facilities and an opportunity to socialize within the apartment complex.

"There appears to be a correlation, however, among women with a five-figure income profile, increasing years and-or family duties and selection of a more quiet or suburban setting. A duplex on a tree-lined city street or a smaller townhouse or mid-rise garden apartment in close-in suburbia is a frequent choice.

"Proximity to transit lines and open spaces appeal to these higher-salaried older women or to working mothers who seek a respite from the bustling downtown area but still desire access to the city's advantages."

Do these modern-day female pioneers enjoy their new-found status?

"Decidedly yes," he says, "if their growing numbers are any indication.

Miss Susan Elizabeth Still, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William N. Still Jr. of Greenville, and Charles Cray French of Rt. 8, Greenville, were united in marriage at the Oakmont Baptist Church Saturday at 7:00 p.m. The Rev. Gordon E. Conklin officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. French Sr. of Greenville.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Still wore a formal Elizabethan gown of peau de soie and chantilly lace. The bodice of lace yoke and seed pearls was fitted to a full skirt of eight ruffled lace tiers. The pseudo cathedral train of peau de soie was outlined with lace.

Her fingertip veil of illusion lace fell from a seed pearl tiara. The bride wore a necklace of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a white satin prayerbook.

Bridesmaids for the wedding were Mona Hardee, Joyce Price, Donna White, Carol Morgan, Jean Jenkins, sister of the bridegroom , all of Greenville, and Nan Goodwin of Raleigh. They wore dresses of mint green polyester crepe. The dresses featured a low, ruffled neckline, bishop sleeves, and a full skirt with the waistband and cuffs of dark green velvet. The headpieces were of mint green ruffs with streamers to the waist.

Maid of honor was Kathy Still, sister of the bride. Matron of honor was Jo Ann Sutton of Greenville, aunt of the bridegroom. Their dresses were identical to those of the bridesmaids.

Flower girl was Sissy French, sister of the bride. She wore a mint green Hollie Hobby style dress trimmed with dark green ribbon. She carried a white basket rimmed with ribbon and filled with flower petals

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Gary Warren, Billy Bazemore, Keith Houston, Bill French, Barry Kearney, Jim Heidenreich, and Stith Harris, all of Greenville. Acolytes were Norwood Still and Robert Still, brothers of the bride. Ring bearer was Joey Jenkins, nephew of the bridegroom.

Randy Hignite, organist, Dr. Charles Stevens, pianist, and Mrs. Robert Lamb, soloist, presented a program of wedding music. Mrs. Lamb sang "O Perfect Love," "I Do," and "Our Wedding Prayer."

Serving at the register was Katherine Rowlette. Serving at the table were Barry Frye and Mrs. Donald Lennon.

The table was trimmed in white satin with a large centerpiece of a five-tier wedding cake with a fountain. The table was set with two candlelabras trimmed with ivy and white satin ribbon.

Prior to the wedding, a coffee was given for the bride on Thursday by Mrs. Don White and Miss Donna White at their home. An after-rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents for the wedding party and guests. A bridesmaids luncheon was given by the mother of the bride and maternal grandmother of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Blowing Rock, the couple will reside in Greenville.

Naval Women Are Stationed Worldwide

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Women broke an all-male barrier in the U.S. Navy on Nov. 2, 1973, as members of the first coed graduating class of the Officer Candidate School at the Naval Education and Training Center here.

"There were 120 men and 43 women," recalls Ens. Charlotte Jensen, 26, of Seattle, Wash., who was a member of that historic class.

Ens. Jensen is assigned to the public information office at the Newport Naval Base here, and she has kept in close touch with several of her classmates.

Today those women are assigned to bases around the globe and in jobs ranging from intelligence to supply distribution.

Since that first coed class, there have been eight others with a total of 308 women, graduating from the 19-week program.

"They all love what they are doing and where they have been assigned," she said. "They have gone to Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Florida, California, Hawaii, Guam, all over the place."

Ens. Jensen enlisted in May of 1973, but she had no idea she would be included in the first coed class.

"I had to pass all kinds of tests and a physical examination before I was accepted into the program," she said.

"It was a lot of hard work, and we didn't get any breaks just because we are women."

She is the only woman from that class to be assigned to the New England area.

"Some classes seem to get more overseas assignments than others. Most of mine went overseas," she said.

Welcome Wagon Club To Meet

The first Welcome Wagon luncheon meeting of 1975 will be held on Jan. 8 at 11:30 a.m. at the Greenville Country Club.

The ladies bowling will resume Jan. 9 at 9:30 a.m. at Hillcrest Lanes. Welcome Wagon couples bridge will meet at First Federal Savings & Loan Jan. 10 at 7:45 p.m.

Is Today's Secretary Tomorrow's Big Boss?

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Family Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Executive and confidential secretaries in the nation's front offices add up to an untapped resource.

John D. Krebs of Los Angeles said so in an interview, explaining as follows:

"The women who hold these posts are the second row of management talent. All they need is the opportunity to move into the front row."

Krebs makes his living as president of a group of vocational schools that train secretaries and paramedics — medical and dental office assistants.

An economist, he said:

"In any executive suite it is the confidential or executive secretary who knows what management is about.

"Her first job is quasimanagement. In many cases, she can step in and do the boss's job.

"There are many jobs going begging for persons skilled enough," he said. "Look in the classified section of any paper."

While the entrance salary depends on the locality and the firm, Krebs said a first-rate new secretary in the Los Angeles area enters employment at around $700 a month.

The dental and medical office assistant jobs pay less, as a rule.

Learning secretarial skills can cost from nothing to up to $2300 for a nine-month course. The free courses are offered by evening schools in public education systems.

The time can range from three months up, but in any instance lots of practice is indicated to master the skills.

"Even in this pushbutton world and a time of all kinds of improvements in dictating machines," Krebs said, "there's a big demand for persons who have that basic stenographic skill —shorthand.

"I do not believe it will ever go out of style."

In secretarial schools, what's being taught about how a female secretary should conduct herself in this era of women's lib?

Should she get coffee for the boss, do personal shopping for him, run errands for his wife?

"I don't think these are issues," Krebs said. "All jobs are different and all secretaries and bosses are individuals.

"I think some secretaries might resent getting coffee for the boss and I know bosses, and I am one, who get coffee for their secretaries.

"What I'm more worried about is the emergence of the female chauvinist personality. This is a woman who believes every man is a chauvinist.

"She uses people the way a male chauvinist does.

"In the last year I have met as many female as male chauvinists."

Krebs has found that many female executives request male secretaries. There are not enough to go around.

"You would be surprised," he said, "how many good female secretaries refuse to take a job where the boss is a woman."

Krebs said there are three kinds of secretaries:

One looking for a job in a different field.

One who is a career woman using the secretarial job as a stepping stone.

The most-valued one in any executive suite is the type in the middle.

"She is the one who is most likely to hold a management job herself someday," Krebs said.

"Loyalty counts a lot in this field."

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I can tell you the exact day I stopped talking to my indoor plants.

I was sitting alone at the bedside of a failing house plant and sympathizing, "Poor baby. You can tell me. Your tail is dragging because you are pot bound, isn't it?"

From the kitchen, the voice of the milkman shouted, "No Ma'am, I just have a little head cold."

At that moment I saw myself for what I really was . . . a converted plant molester trying to make up for all my past sins. But it was too late for a woman who tore the leaves off a philodendron for a bookmark, who let her fern die of terminal dust and who planted a coffee bean tree in Play-Doh to pick up the color scheme of the hallway.

It just wasn't natural for a full-grown woman to sit around humming to her plants. So from that day on, I never talked to the plants again. Now I just sit around like a normal person, talking and laughing to myself.

Then yesterday, my friend, Mayva, threw me a curve. "I don't want to panic you," she said bending over a plant, "but I think your cactus is on the verge of committing suicide."

"Why, did you find a note?" I giggled.

"I know you treat plants like one big joke," she said. "But in all the years I've known you, have you ever had a plant die of old age?"

"All I know is I liked plants better when they were misunderstood . . . when you could throw gum wrappers in their soil, forget to water them for months and spit tobacco juice on them and they forgave you for it."

"That is because you do not want to admit that they are sensitive and possess human qualities that require tenderness, gentleness, and love."

"Oh, come on," I said defensively. "I talked to them."

"And didn't they respond?"

"They fell asleep on me."

"Well, I just read where scientists are on the track of a death signal sent up by plants before they die. Plants change color, lose their leaves, and on command of a warning system that comes up from their seeds commit suicide. I think your plant is depressed and sick of living."

As I doubled over in laughter, my arm brushed against the pot and the cactus crashed to the floor breaking into a hundred pieces.

That crummy Mayva! I was awake all night . . . wondering if it jumped!

'AM America' Begins Monday

"AM America," the ABC Television Network's new weekday early morning program, premieres Monday, January 6, with an entertainment-information- news format.

Airing live from 7:00 to 9:00 a.m., "AM America" is a topical program dealing with people, places, things and events of interest and note, very often from the feature or sidebar approach with a creative emphasis on human interest.

The program will originate in New York, with frequent video pickups from Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles, and, at least twice a week from other cities across the country.

"Hopefully, we will follow stories and people of note to their home ground — often life and on location," says Dennis Doty, Director of Morning Program Development for ABC-TV. "Seeing America wake up and really starting its day will hopefully also provide our program with scope and the feeling of an event each morning."

"The key elements of 'AM America,'" Mr. Doty revealed, "will be news, weather, sports, and a series of short features, including regular features on 'coping,' people of interest, coming events, television and other entertainments.

The program will contain four newscasts each day — one in each half-hour segment. In addition, there will be a five-minute local news cutaway option following world and national news headlines on the half hour.

Mr. Doty emphasized, "We will, of course, cover all the news, good and bad, in our program. But in our features, we hope to seek out the positive elements and stories of America — those stories that very seldom make the front pages.

"As the weather, we'll look behind the actual weather news . . . to weather lore, to weather history, to weather science, in an effort to clarify why weather happens and, too, to have a little fun with the weather. At the same time, we'll impart good, solid, national and regional weather information."

The 'coping' category envisioned will, hopefully help the viewer get through the day, get more out of life, marriage, family or the dollar. "It covers everything from the home and consumerism to medicine, religion, science and the environment around us," he explained.

" 'People' will feature people in the news and people beyond the news," Mr. Doty pointed out. "We will seek out the interesting and unique winners and losers who are making the news. We will find the man on the street, and we will talk to him about the news and his view of the world in general. Children are people too, and they won't be forgotten in the program content."

Original Drama Will Be Aired Wednesday

Award-winning actor Martin Balsam, Mackenzie Phillips and Kitty Winn will star in a major 90-minute original drama special, "Miles to Go Before I Sleep," to be broadcast on Wednesday evening, January 8, from 9:30 to 11:00 on the CBS Television Network.

The drama explores the story of an aging and lonely man (Balsam) whose granddaughter, a counselor in a treatment center for delinquent girls, convices him to become a foster grandparent for a troubled 14-year-old girl who lives in the center.

Miss Winn, who starred in the film "Panic in Needle Park," stars as the granddaughter, with Miss Phillips, who starred in "American Graffiti," as the disturbed and misunderstood young girl.

Other cast mmembers for the special, which was filmed on location in Boston and in Hollywood, include Pamelyn Ferdin, Elizabeth Wilson, Alma Collins, Dorothy Meyer and Ronnie Claire Edwards.

Balsam, who won a Tony Award in 1967 as best actor for his performance in the Broadway production "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," and a 1965 Academy Award as best supporting actor for his role' in the film "A Thousand Clowns," has starred in many films since his first motion picture, "On the Waterfront."

It's apparent that Miss Phillips is a convincing actress, and her versatility is helping her plan for a bright future, one she hopes is filled with song. She considers herself primarily a singer, and she comes by it naturally, being the daughter of John Phillips of the former singing group "The Mamas and the Papas."

"It's difficult for me to realize there really are people with as many hang-ups as those girls I have played on the screen," Miss Phillips says. "I go to a very strict private school; live in a quiet section of the San Fernando Valley with my mother, brother, two cats and a dog; try to be as active in school as possible when I'm not working and have only one ambition — to be a well-rounded performer."

The protagonist in "Miles to Go Before I Sleep," Martin Balsam, praises her.

"I was amazed at her instinctive reactions. Unlike many acting youngsters, she doesn't repeat her lines by rote. She feels the part. I had the strange illusion she really was a car thief and was much more worldly than I."

UNUSUAL PAIR — Martin Balsam, as a lonely man participating in a foster grandparents program in a treatment center for delinquent girls, in paired with a hostile young car thief (MacKenzie Phillips) in "Miles to Go Before I Sleep," drama special on "GE Theatre" Wednesday, January 8 (9:30-11 p.m.) on CBS-TV.

'Another World' Changes Orbits

With the expansion of NBC Television Network's "Another World" to one hour starting Monday, Jan. 6 (Mondays-Fridays, 3-4 PM, in color), there will be three hours of back to back dramatic fare daily on NBC-TV. The doubling of "Another World's "time period was the result of a rich storyline that demanded more time in the telling, and a wide array of interesting characters, played by some of the foremost actors of stage, screen and television.

This change will make the show the first one-hour daily serial on network television. NBC is also the first network to have put a dramatic serial on television: the late Irna Phillips's "These Are My Children" in 1949.

Discussing the new enlarged format of "Another World," executive producer Paul Rauch said: "We will continue to make our stories and characters true to life, so that the viewers, who represent every stratum of society, will continue to identify with them."

Viewers have faithfully watched the story through the troubled marriage of Steve and Alice Frame and their reconciliation. Jacqueline Courtney, who plays Alice, and George Reinhold, who plays Steve, have received warm and encouraging letters from their many fans, who write to them both as themselves and as their fictional characters.

Head writer Harding Lemay says: "We will add several more leading characters, and we will, of course, see more of the peripheral characters. Otherwise we are not contemplating any major changes with the new time period. The increased time was given so that the story could be told more fully, and the characters more deeply probed."

In an exclusive interview with "60 Minutes" co-editor Mike Wallace, Liddy talks candidly and critically about the prominent officials and individuals with whom he served in the Nixon Administration, including Former President Nixor and his principal accuser Johr. Dean.

Of all the Watergate men, Liddy is the solitary figure who has not spoken out until now—in the press or in the courts—about his views of the men and events which led to the former President's resignation.

Liddy is now out of prison, and a ruling on his petition for a writ of certiorari is pending before the U.S. Supreme Court. For that reason, Liddy's agreement to be interviewed by CBS News precludes any discussion of matters concerning the break-in at Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office and - or the break-in at Watergate or matters directly relating thereto.

But, he does reveal the philosophy and the atmosphere that led to Watergate.

The interview with Liddy was filmed recently in Washington, D. C. Wallace also visited the Liddy home in suburban Maryland, where he spoke with Liddy's wife Frances, her husband, and their five children.

Boy Roles For 20-Year-Old

Could it be that actor Gary Morgan has discovered the fountain of youth? In "The California Kid," an ABC "Movie of the Week," Gary portrayed a 16-year-old youth. Now in "The Missing Are Deadly," the "Wednesday Movie of the Week" airing January 8. Gary plays a 15-year-old lad. Ironically, Gary is actually 20. His wife, Susan, confided that Gary is afraid that at this rate, in his next role he may need a welfare worker and schoolteacher on the set — or a pacifier.

New Jacques Cousteau Special About Beavers

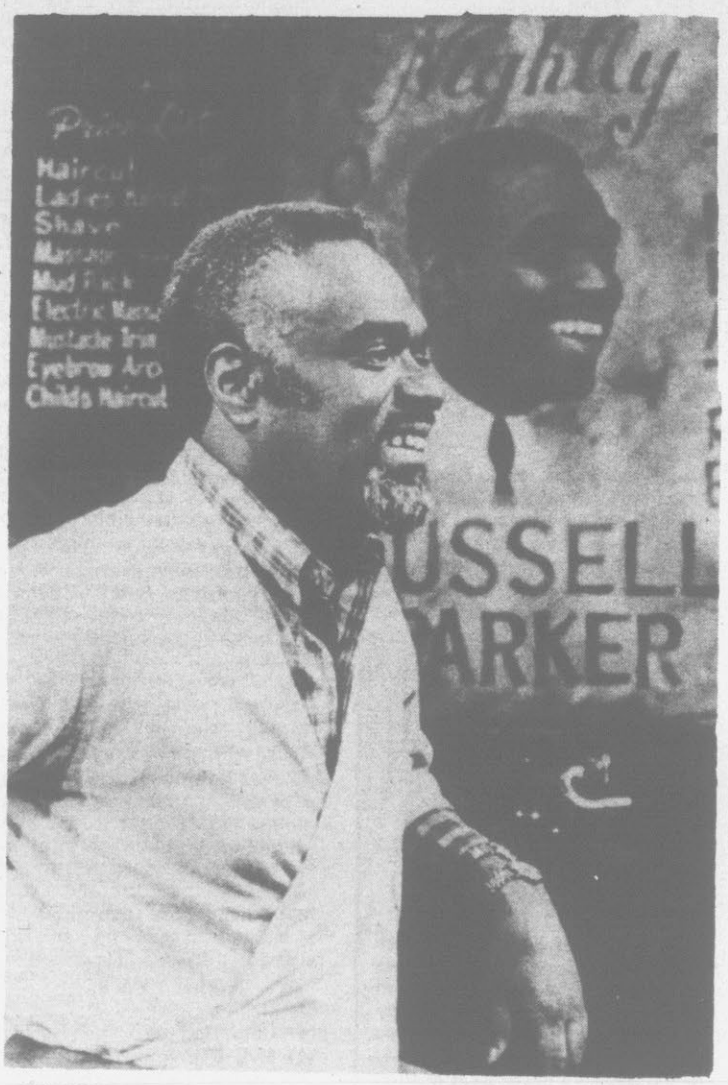
"The Beavers of the North Country," a fascinating, in-depth portrait of the engaging animal who is lumberman, architect and underwater engineer all rolled into one is the season's second special in the series, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau." The special will be seen on the ABC Television Network, Monday, Jan. 6, from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m.

To study the beaver and the remarkable ecosystem of which he is a vital part, Captain Jacques Cousteau's cameramen and divers spent a fall, winter and spring in the marshlands, waterways and forests of Saskatchewan in North Central Canada. The area is one of the last vast, untrammeled wildernesses on Earth. The men established their base in a cabin on Foster Lake, a pictorially stunning and poetic setting.

In a secluded beaver pond, the camermen film the activity of the beaver as he prepares for the long winter. We see him repairing dams and lodges, and stocking feedbeds with branches of birch and aspen.

Phillipe Cousteau brings a couple of homeless young beavers into the cabin to spend the winter. There they must adapt to the strange hazards of civilization, not the least of which is "Spunky," a playful kitten. During the winter, in temperatures as low as 55 degrees below zero, underwater cameramen film the activities of other homeless beavers in the lake and build a feedbed and lodge for them.

With the coming of spring, nature — and the beaver — burst into life. Once again, the camermen study the beaver in his role as architect and engineer. They study his remarkable ability to build protective homes, to harvest food for winter survival, to construct dams that stablize the flow of streams, to create fish ponds and to improve the habitat of many forms of wildlife.



CONFRONTING the desperation of ghetto life, Mr. Parker (Douglas Turner Ward) opts for the easy buck offered to him by a Harlem gangster, but only tragedy ensues in the gripping ABC Theatre drama "Ceremonies in Dark Old Men", to be presented by the award-winning Negro Ensemble Company on ABC-TV Monday, January 6 (9-11 p.m.)

Combines Best Of Her Worlds

Barbara Eden loves to sing almost as much as she loves acting, but her nightclub dates usually take her away from the biggest love of her life — 9-year-old Matthew, her son. For her next appearance, at the Caribe Hilton in Puerto Rico, she's combining the best of two worlds — Matthew will be with her, spending his holidays in the West Indies.

Rise And Fall Of An Exec

Sammy Stone — a man in a dream-like position of executive power with the whirlwind wealth of responsibilities that goes with it — thinks he has it all. And James Franciscus does it all with flare and feeling in his role as college professor turned powerful executive in "The Dream Makers," an NBC World Pemiere Movie airing Monday evening, January 7, from 8:30 to 10:00.

James Franciscus, in one of the best roles of his career, rises and falls as Sammy Stone, a seemingly stable middle-class family man who foresakes his secure but hum'drum teaching career to become a powerful record industry executive. Diane Baker co-stars as Sammy's wife with John Astin guest-starring as the record company president. Kenny Rogers and the First Edition make their TV movie dramatic debut as Cat Weazel, the rock group who ditches Sammy after he discovers them.

Playing a schoolteacher is nothing new to Franciscus, who starred for several seasons in NBC's "Mr. Novak" series. His other series credits include "Doc Elliott," "Longstreet" and "Naked City." In the feature department Jim has starred in "Marooned," "Youngblood Hawke" and "Beneath the Planet of the Apes."

He is also a producer, having produced the highly-praised 90-minute NBC specials "Heidi," "David Copperfield," "Jane Eyre" and "The Red Pony."

WHEEL OF MISFORTUNE—In the role of his career, James Franciscus stars as Sammy Stone, a college professor who forsakes the campus to become a big wheel in the recording industry in MGM-TV's "The Dream Makers", an NBC World Premiere Movie airing January 7.

Wambaugh Seen In Acting Debut

If Joseph Wambaugh's literary career had started the way his acting career did, he'd still be a cop.

Wambaugh, the former Los Angeles police detective whose best-selling books about policemen have sold more than 7,000,000 copies, decided to have his first crack at acting when offered a small role in "Incident in the Kill Zone," a segment of NBC-TV's "Police Story" to be colorcast Tuesday, January 7, from 10 to 11 p.m.

"That first day in front of the camera was as rough as anything I ever faced in the department," says Wambaugh who is also the creator of "Police Story."

"It seemed to go from bad to worse. As soon as I arrived on the set they told me my hair was too long, so they cut it. During the first take I popped my gun so loudly they had to do it over again and during my second scene, which called for me to run from one car to another, I fell down.

"No," says Wambaugh. "You couldn't say a star was born that day."

He explains that he took part of Officer Truxton just to get out of the house: "When I was a cop I'd rush home and try to sneak in a few hours of writing, and that worked fine — but when I quit the department to devote all my time to writing, I discovered that writing eight hours a day makes you 'house-happy.' I was going batty and this sounded like fun."

STARS IN PILOT

Martin Milner, star of "Adam-12" on NBC-TV has been signed to star in the two-hour pilot of "Swiss Family Robinson."

RICKLES SPECIAL

CBS-TV has set its Don Rickles special for airing on Sunday, January 19 at 7:30 p.m. John Wayne, Dean Martin, Helen Reddy, Bob Newhart, Jack Klugman, Donna Fargo, and Charlie Callis are among the guest stars slated for this super special.

About The Wolf

ABC's "The American Sportsman" premieres for its 11th consecutive season, Sunday, January 5 (3:30-4:30 p.m.), with an hour long special program, "Following the Tundra Wolf."

The telecast, narrated by Actor Robert Redford, details the life style of the wolf, once the most widespread of American predators, and now in danger of extinction before the full nature of its ecological significance is understood.

Filmed in northern Canada, "Following the Tundra Wolf" was almost a year in preparation and required the crew to log some 12,000 air miles — virtually all of them far from the remote outposts of civilization - to capture unique footage that has eluded other wildlife filmmakers.

The telecast dispels many of the popular myths which have surrounded the wolf. If fact, it points out that the truth about the wolf is in nearly every case the direct opposite of what common preconceptions hold.

Despite legends to the contrary, for example, there is no record of a wild wolf ever attacking a human being.

Also, the wolf is a relatively unsuccessful hunter, less successful, in fact, than almost all other large land predators of the world.

The focus for the program is the long and arduous annual journey through the Canadian Northwest Territories of the caribou, the principal source of food for the tundra wolf. Where the caribou goes, so must the wolf, and the inherent drama of this symbiosis is at the heart of this television documentary.

FRIENDS— Gary Morgan plays an emotionally disturbed boy who finds a laboratory rat a welcome playmate, not knowing that the rat is infested with an incurable disease in "The Missing Are Deadly," a suspense thriller on the ABC-TV's "Wednesday Movie of the Week" Wednesday January 8 (8:30-10 p.m.).

Actor Seen Really Good At Being Bad

Young actor Gary Morgan is awfully good at being bad. Which to Gary is both good and bad because he feels he's also not too bad at being good.

"For certain reason's which I won't argue with, producers always seem to pick me for a mean kid," relates Gary, who is actually 20 but looks anywhere from 15 to his actual age. "If there is a teenager doing something wrong in a film I usually get a call."

His latest effort in getting into trouble is in "The Missing are Deadly," an ABC Television Network "Wednesday Movie of the Week," airing January 8 from 8:30 - 10 p.m.

"I don't play an actual rat in this one," says Gary, with a twinkle in his eye, "but my companion is really a rat, a four-legged, long-tained one that I take from a lab, not knowing the animal is infected with a deadly virus that can kill anyone that comes in contact with it."

Gary's role is that of a hyperactive 15 year old who can't stay out of trouble, and this time he endangers not only himself but an entire city. And the tension builds when Gary and his rodent buddy suddenly disappear.

Gary's penchant for being a troublemaker in films led him to such prior roles as a mugger who beats up Alan Arkin in "Poppi," and a psychotic purse snatcher in the TV series, "Adam-12".

Born to the baudeville team of Morgan and May, Gary, who is an outstanding acrobat, started out his acting career on the stage — as a good boy.

"I appeared with Henry Fonda and Olivia de Havilland in 'a Gift of Time' and later in 'All The Way Home', both on Broadway," recalls Gary, who is married to Susan Madigan, a pretty young actress.

"My most recent 'good' role came by accident," continues Gary, "I went to Universal to read for the part of a bank robber, but didn't get the job. As I was leaving, I ran into producer Howie Horwitz who signed me on the spot as the teenager who, with his girl, is killed by the sheriff in a wild auto chase and crash in ABC's 'Movie of the Week.' 'The California Kid.' "

Not bad, Gary. Or should we say, very good?!

Mexican Gremlins Moved In

Many mysteries defy rational answers. Among them are the dark clouds which appear to follow motion-picture crews around the world when they are filming on location.

The production of "Antonio and the Mayor" was no exception.

The drama, which will be seen Wednesday, Jan. 8 8:00-9:30 p.m. on the CBS-TV Network, is a poignant story of two events in neighboring villages in Mexico some 50 years ago. To find the proper primitive setting, a two month's search was launched for a locale which hadn't caught up with the marc of progress.

Finally, searchers found the tiny town sof El Morral and Puerta de los Nietos, some 120 miles northwest of Mexico City, beating the coming of electricity to the area by just a few months. Filming was scheduled to start several weeks before the rainy season began. Then the dark clouds moved in, literally; and the rains came, early.

And what was a new television antenna doing on the roof of one of the adobe houses in a village more than five miles from the nearest electric power?

And where did the unexpected ice-cream vendor come from? Each day he would push his pram-like cart through the remote village, tinkling his bell, much to the annoyance of the film's sound man.

Too, something may have been lost in translation when box lunches were ordered from caterers in Queretaro. The lunches arrived the first day — two hours late — inside miniature wooden crates, one for each member of the company. The crates may have been intended for return to the caterers, but they quickly disappeared as souvenirs or for other uses. Twelve-year-old actor Claudio Martinez, for example, kept his to house his pet snake.

And what capricious force rerouted the key props, wooden bicycles, to be used in the production? Painstakingly hand-crafted in Hollywood and shipped wouth, for awhile it seemed they would be perpetually touring Mexico.

Naturally, the early rains made a quagmire of the rural roads — even though the script called for dusty, hot ones.

Maybe the Mexican counterparts of gremlins were not running amok, but it would be hard to convince the "Antonio and the Mayor" cast anc crew.

SPECIAL STARS — Claudio Martinez (left) and Diego Gonzales star in the 90-minute special "Antonio and the Mayor," the poignant story of a brilliant young boy who comes into conflict with a proud mayor during Mexico's educational reform, Wednesday, January 8 (8-9 p.m.) on CBS-TV.

'The Rebel' Is Third Ben Franklin Special

"The Rebel," third in the mini-series of four 90-minute drama specials devoted to the life of Benjamin Franklin, will be broadcast Thursday, Jan. 9 from 9:30 to 11:00 p.m. on the CBS Television Network.

In "The Rebel," Franklin is portrayed by Richard Widmark, who depicts the colonial statesman's long stay in London as a representative of several of the American colonies. During this time Franklin, who had believed that there could be a reconciliation between England and her colonies, shifted his position to that of a revolutionary, finally convinced that rapprochment between the two was impossible.

Co-starring in the special, which was filmed entirely in Londan, are Honor Blackman, Georgia Brown, Hurd Hatfield, Ian Holm, John Neville, Anthony Quayle and Roger Livesey.

Born in Sunrise, Minnesota, Widmark worked as an actor in radio while appearing in such Broadway shows as "Kiss and Tell" and "Dream Girl." In 1948 he went to Hollywood and made an impressive film debut as the sadistic killer in "Kiss of Death." Dozens of films followed for the versatile actor, including "Panic in the Streets," "Saint Joan," "Judgment at Nuremberg," "Madigan" and "Death of a Gunfighter."

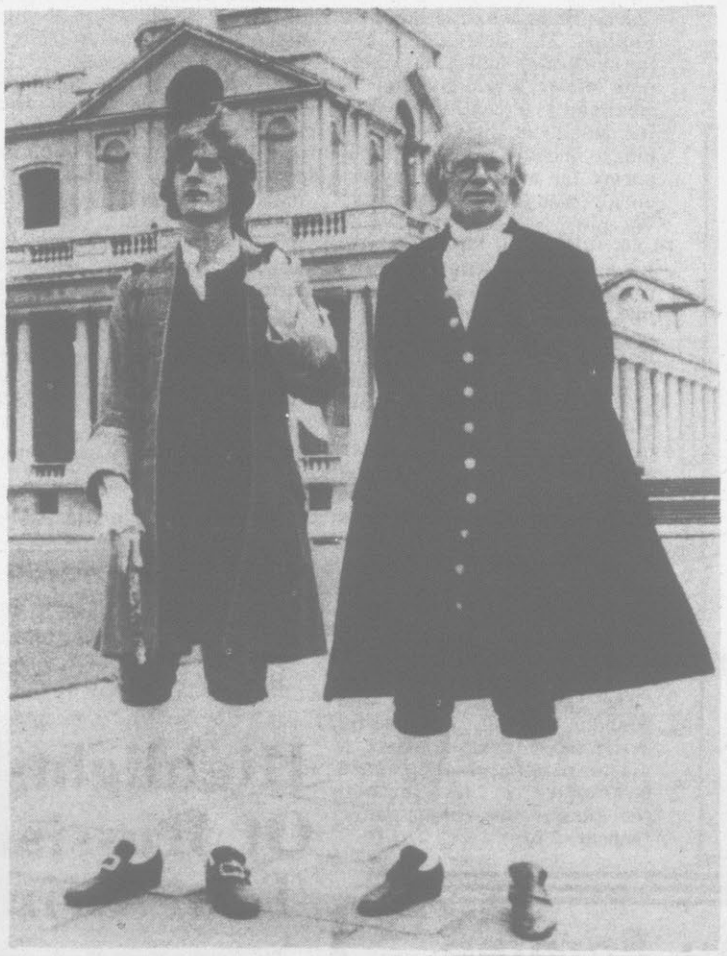
Honor Blackman made her professional debut at London's Globe Theatre in 1946. Her West End stage appearances include "Wait Until Dark" and "The Fifth Season," and her television roles include the series "The Avengers." She has appeared in many motion pictures, notably "Goldfinger."

Georgia Brown first appeared in the United States in the Off-Broadway production of "The Threepenny Opera." She made her Broadway debut as Nancy in the musical "Oliver!," the role she created in London. She has been seen on American television as Marie Lloyd in "The Edwardians" series over the Public Broadcasting Service.

Hurd Hatfield made his screen debut in the 1944 film "Dragon Seed," and other films during the 1940s. He subsequently appeared in such films as "El Cid" and "The Boston Strangler."

A store clerk before entering acting, John Neville reached the pinnacle of an actor's career when he played Hamlet with the Old Vic during that British company's tour of major American cities in 1958-59. A director as well as an actor, Neville has been seen in the film "Billy Budd" and "Topaz."

Lewis Freedman served as executive director of "The Rebel." The drama was written by David Shaw and was produced and directed by Glenn Jordan.



RICHARD WIDMARK (right) portrays Benjamin Franklin and Nigel Havers enacts Temple Franklin in "The Rebel", third in a mini-series of four 90-minute drama specials based on the life of the colonial statesman, Thursday, Jan. 9 (8:30-10 p.m.) on CBS-TV.

Pete Conrad In Adventure Show

"I spent seven-and-a-half hours walking on the moon — and I'd go back tomorrow!" said former astronaut Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., one of the Gemini 5 and Gemini 11 crew members, who took his moon walk during the Apollo 12 flight in 1969. "I spent eight years getting ready to go," he said, "and by the time I got to the moon, I felt that that's just where I should be, looking back at earth."

Conrad portrays a news commentator who reports on a fictional "Camelot Odyssey" moon-landing mission — and its unexpefted turn when an 11-year-old boy is discovered aboard — in "Stowaway to the Moon," family adventure drama, Friday, January 10, from 8:00 to 10:00 .m., on the CBS Television Network.

"I'm not really an actor," Conrad was quick to admit, "but I've acted as a television commentator during real missions, and I'm really just being myself. Ank I'm qualified because, well, I've been through it all before."

Locating filming at NASA's Kennedy Space Center was something of a homecoming for the astronaut - turned - businessman, who now lives in Denver. Conrad was warmly greeted by NASA employees, who remember him as one of the most outgoing of the astronauts.

"NASA team spirit has always been tremendous," Conrad recalled a little wistfully. "It was important when we were up there to know that so many people on the ground were pulling for us."

Conrad's "homecoming" took on an even more realistic quality when Lloyd Bridges, starring as the mission control flight director, took his place at the space-age console, surrounded by NASA technicians who had volunteered to take the duties and positions they filled during actual launches.

Later Learned Relationship

In commenting about how he signed Taryn Power, Norman Rosemont, producer of NBC-TV's January 10 "Bell System Family Theatre" special, "The Count of Monte Cristo," said, "I signed Taryn Power for 'Monte Cristo' even before I knew she was Tyrone Power's daughter. At the time, she was one of a number of actresses we auditioned.

POWER STRUCTURE

Taryn Power, who makes her American acting debut in the "Bell System Family Theatre" special "The Count of Monte Cristo," on NBC-TV January 10, is a fourth generation performer. Her father was film star Tyrone Power; her grandfather was stage matinee idol Tyrone F. Power, who also was the son of an actor.

MICHAEL LINK portrays a determined 11-year-old who conceals himself in the garbage compartment of a moon-bound spacecraft, in the family adventure special "Stowaway to the Moon" Friday, Jan. 10 (8-10 p.m.) on CBS-TV.

Chamberlain Likes Role Of Swashbuckler

"I enjoy swashbuckling roles. In this one I really get a chance to do all the things I used to see Froll Flynn do in the movies when I was a kid going to school in Los Angeles," said Richard Chamberlain.

The slendor actor was talking about his starring role as Edmond Dantes in the new Norman Rosemont production of "The Count of Monte Cristo," the two-hour drama special to be colorcast on the NBC Television Network Friday evening, January 10, from 8:00 to 10:00.

In the special, Chamberlain brings to life all of the triumphs and travels of the Alexander Dumas hero. Said the star: "This is a particularly fascinating role for me. I actually get a chance to do four distinct characterizations when I appear as Edmond Dantes: the innocent sailor, looking forward to marrying a beautiful girl; the embittered man imprisoned unjustly at the Chateau d'if for 14 years, educated there by another prisoner, the Abbe Faria — marvelously played by Trevor Howard — who tells Edmond of the fabulous treasure which will change his life. I'm also a free-wheeling pirate for a spell and then, the Count of Monte Cristo, determined to wreak vengence on those who tried to ruin his life and ready to help those who helped him."

Russian Film Rebroadcast

"Shok and Sher," a much-acclaimed film from Russia about the love of a boy for his horse, will be rebroadcast on "The CBS Children's Film Festival" Saturday January 11, from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m., in color on the CBS Television Network.

The film tells the story of a young Russian boy named Sher whose mare dies after giving birth to a chestnut foal. Sher and a young friend raise the colt, name him Shok, and train him to be ridden in races.

When the day of a big cross-country race arrives, Shok and Sher are ready, but during the race Sher falls and breaks his arm. He stays in the hospital while it is healing, and when he is released, his brother comes to pick him up with a new motorcycle. Sher is delighted with the motorcycle — until he learns that, in order to buy it, his brother has sold Shok.

"Shok and Sher," a 1970 release, was written by Satybaldi Narymbetov and directed by K. Mergaziov for Kazakh-71.

The quality has always come through.

MEADOWLARK LEMON, one of the famed Harlem Globetrotters, shows 7-year-old Rodney Allen Rippy a few basketball tricks on "The Harlem Globetrotter Popcorn Machine", a Saturday morning live-action series from 11-11:30 a.m. on CBS-TV.

Globetrotter Comedy In 'Popcorn Machine'

Lemon, who is one of the legendary Harlem Globetrotters basketball stars, thus describes the new series "The Harlem Globetrotters Popcorn Machine," which is presented Saturdays on CBS-TV.

What it is is a half-hour carnival of comedy and variety, on which nine members of the famed Globetrotters display their diverse talents, along with young Allen Rippy, Avery Schreiber and special guest stars.

The Globetrotters; basketball "hoopla" is familiar to some 75 millions fans in 94 countries who have watched them play more than 11,500 games in the teams's 48-year-history, but the new television series gives a rare close-up of their performing talents as comedians, actors, dancers and singers. For example:

Geese Ausbit, a great court comedian, and Bobby Joe Mason, an All-American floor general, both spend their free time working with underpriviledged kids.

Tex Harrison writes poetry, off the court.

Put them all togehter, and they're all the product of sports crossed with show business, a hybrid that has become an international institution called The Harlem Globetrotters.

Find Bostwick A Ready-Made Hero

If the producers of "Shazam," had run all the necessary facts through a computer to find the right actor to play the world's mightiest mortal, any machine worth its clicks and clacks would probably have come up with the name of Jackson Bostwick.

As it happened, a computer was not used, although more than 75 actors were interviewed before the producers came to a unanimous decision — Jackson Bostwick.

Tall, good-looking and in excellent physical shape, Bostwick not only looks the part of a super human, but his all-around athletic prowess indicates that perhaps his only non-accomplishment is the ability to fly through the air without the aid of a mechanical device.

For example, he started water-skiing at age 10, began teaching it at age 20, and was offered a professional career at Cypress Gardens, Fla., but chose to finish college instead at the University of Alabama.

In addition, Bostwick bowls for relaxation, plays banjo bluegrass style, runs four miles every other evening and lifts weights on the alternate evenings.

'The Superstars' Return To Screen

"The Superstars," featuring the world's outstanding athletes competing for more than three quarters of a million dollars in prize money, returns to ABC in January, 1975, with an expanded series of ten programs including the popular men's competition and introducing "Women's Superstars," as well as innovative "Superteams" events and a "Celebrity Superstars" program.

The series will premiere on Sunday, January 5, with the first men's qualifying competition from Rotonda, Florida. The programs will be telecast Sundays at 2:00 p.m. during the first quarter of 1975.

A total of $771,500 in prize money will be awarded this year, as the stars of the sports world compete for "The Superstars" titles.

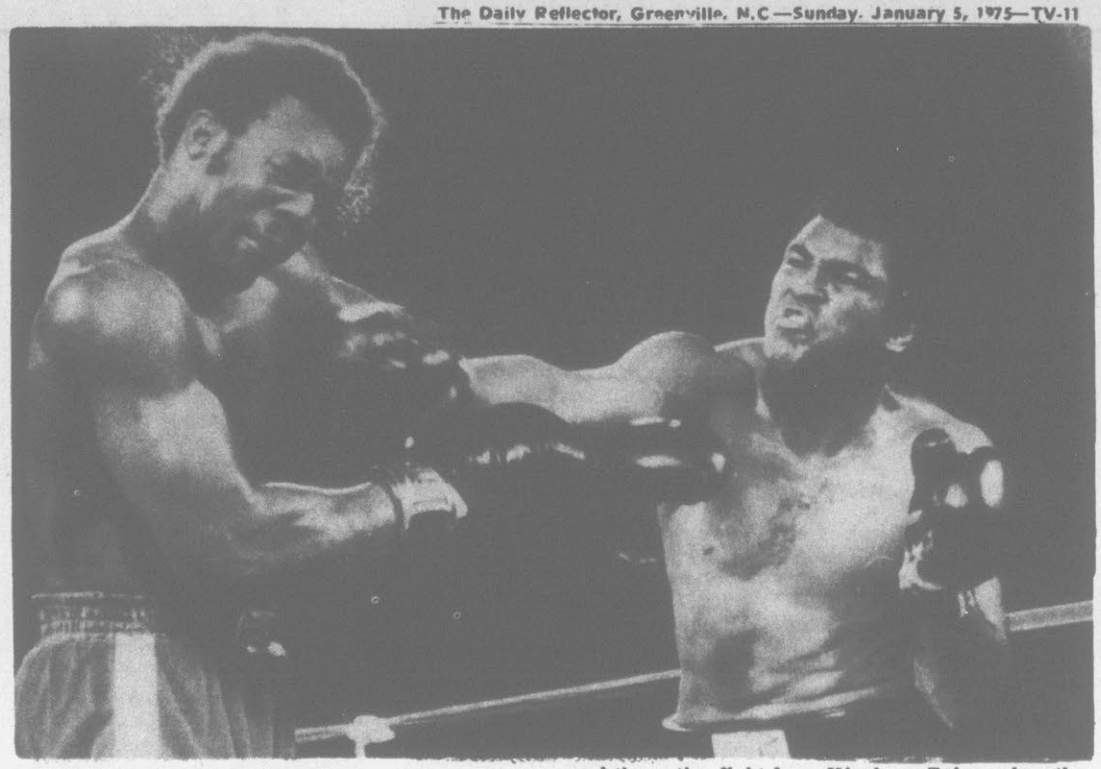
"The Superstars" began in 1973 with a single telecast of men's competition, and grew last year to a five program series—four men's qualifying competitions and the final, which was won by Kyle Rote, Jr. of the North American Soccer League's Dallas Tornado.

This year, there will be three men's qualifying trials plus a final. The basic rule remains the same for the "Superstars" men's and women's competitions—no athlete can participate in his or her specialty. And, in the individual competitions, each athlete must participate in seven out of ten specified events. In the men's competition, the events will be: Tennis, Rowing, Swimming, Bowling, Weight Lifting, Baseball Hitting, 100-yard dash, Half-Mile Run, Obstacle Course and Bicycle Race.

In the men's preliminaries, points are awarded on a 10-7-4-2-1 basis, with $41,400 at stake in each qualifying round ($125,500 overall) including bonuses in each preliminary of $10,000 to the winner, $5,000 for second place, and $2,500 for third.

In the final, a total of $124,000 will be awarded with bonus money upped to $25,000 for the winner, $15,000 for second and $10,000 for third.

Among the sports stars already signed to compete are Defending Champion Kyle Rote, Jr., 1973 Champion Bob Seagren, Baseball's Lou Brock, Bobby Murcer and Rod Carew, basketball greats John Havlicek, Bill Bradley and Pete Maravich, and Steve Smith and Dave Wottle from pro track and field.



MOMENT OF IMPACT, the eighth round blow that decked George Foreman and returned the world heavyweight title to Muhammad Ali. Home viewers will bet an exclusive opportunity to see that blow and the entire fight from Kinshasa, Zaire, when the Sunday version of "ABC's Wide World of Sports" makes its season premiere Sunday, January 5, (4:30-6 p.m.) on ABC-TV.

Championship Fight Starting 2nd Season

The U.S. home television audience will get an exclusive opportunity to see the recent World Heavyweight Championship Fight between Muhammad Ali and George Foreman when the Sunday version of "ABC Wide World of Sports" makes its season premiere on January 5, airing from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., on the ABC Television Network.

In that October 28 battle in Kinshasa, Zaire, Africa, Ali stunned the fight world with his eighth round knockout of Foreman to become only the second man in history ever to regain the heavyweight crown.

Viewers will be able to see all the details of Ali's masterful performance as he worked the ring ropes, tiring out the powerful young champion until he was able to make his own devastating moves in the eighth and send Foreman to a KO defeat.

Calling the blow-by-blow of the fight will be ABC Sports' boxing authority Howard Cosell, who has covered the careers of both fighters virtually since their inceptions.

Senior Bowl In Its 18th Year

The Senior Bowl, a showcase for National Football League players of the future, will be presented on NBC-TV for the 18th straight year Saturday, January 11, beginning at 1:00 p.m.

Pike's Peeks

By Charles Pike
PFA Staff Wirter,
Los Angeles, California

Sally Struthers of "all In The Family" had to postpone her planned holiday wedding to director Art Fisher because he hasn't been able to get a divorce from his first wife, who lives in Florida. Meanwhile, Sally's ex-personal manager is suing TVs 'Gloria' for $75,000 for alleged breach of contract.

Jack Kelly, best remembered for his co-starring role in TV's "Maverick" series years ago, becomes a regular on ABC's "Get Christie Love" starting later this month. He'll be the new Chief of Special Investigations Division.

Meanwhile over at NBC, John Randolph becomes the new high school principal on "Lucas Tanner" with the show airing January 15th.

A possible new daytime soap series at CBS is called "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman." The pilot for the show has been filmed and the network is now considering it.

Alan Alda of "M-A-S-H" and Valerie Harper of "Rhoda" won the Hollywood Women's Press Club's 34th Annual Golden Apple Awards as male and female stars of the year respectively.

Tatum O'Neal, now 11 years old, will make a guest appearance on Cher Bono's new CBS variety series. Meanwhile, Tatum's dad Rayan O'Neal, determined to keep his Oscar-winning daughter out of show business on a full time basis until she's older, turned down a $100,000 offer for her to do a commercial for a Japanese camera company.

'Ascent Of Man' Series Premieres January 7

A perceptive look at the factors that distinguish man from other animals, from the earliest antiquity to the present, introduces Dr. Jacob Bronowski's "The Ascent of Man" television series Tuesday, evening, January 7 (8:30-9:30) on UNC-TV.

In the initial episode of the long-awaited series, entitled "Lower Than the Angles," the noted scholar and democratizer of science points out that men has proved with his achievements that he is the only animal not locked into his environment. Instead, he says, he has the ability to change his environment and so overcome the strictures of his biological evolution.

Already an acclaimed and popular TV series in England, "The Ascent of Man" is filmed in 27 different countries, it deals with man's cultural evolution, concentrating on the process of discovery itself rather than on what man has discovered.

Dr. Bronowski, known for his facility in placing science in perspective in human history, notes in the opening episode that mankind, with a series of inventions, has remade his environment. This fact, he says, represents an evolution—not biological but cultural, which he has termed "The Ascent of Man."

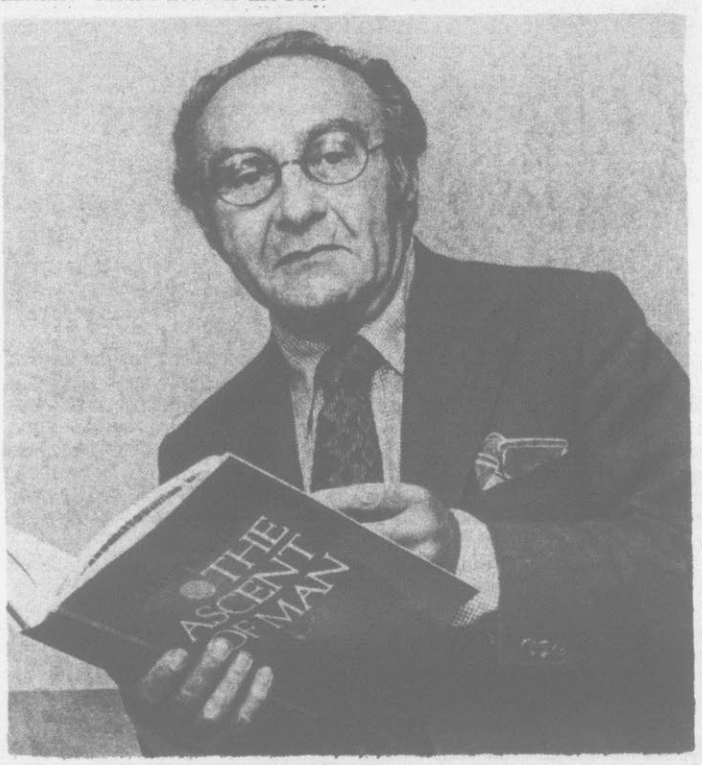
A Senior Fellow of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in San Diego, Calif., at the time of his death last August, Dr. Bronowski was a noted mathematician, but was equally well known for his work in literature, intellectual history and the philosophy of science. He wrote and narrated "The Ascent of Men," which was co-produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation and Time-Life Films.

The first episode opens with some startling film of the grunion, a fish shaped by millions of years of evolution to "fit and sit" exactly with the tides as males fertilize the eggs laid by females in the Pacific surf. Dr. Bronowski then traces the evolution of mankind since his beginnings in the valley of the Omo River in Ethiopia some 4-million years ago to demonstrate the radical change that have taken place.

To illustrate those changes, Dr. Bronowski shows viewers a child's skull, at least 2-million years old, which was discovered in Ethiopia in 1924. Through visual diaplay on a computer, he presents six or seven different skulls to show the way man evolved. Included also are some spectacular films of a baby as he naturally progresses from kicking in his mother's womb to walking upright.

Films of a decathlon athlete in action illustrates that while man can run with the animals, he is set apart by the fact that he is not in flight but is set off by a starter's pistol. A pole-vaulter, says Dr. Bronowski, has a "sense of foresight" not possessed by other animals. "Man's head is the seat of foresight," he says, and so becomes the "spring which drives man's cultural evolution."

Other location filming for the episode took place in Ireland and in the prehistoric caves at Altamira in Spain, where man first left an imprint of his hand to identify himself to posterity. No film team will ever again be allowed to film in the caves, not because of any potential disaster buy to protect the 20,000 year-old paintings for which the caves are famous.



DR. JACOB BRONOWSKI presents his personal view of the ascent of man as the 13-part series "The Ascent of Man" premieres at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 7 on UNC-TV.

The 'Good Father' Is Explored

Dr. Berry Brazelton, a famous pediatrician, thinks it might not be a bad idea to have a "Father's Lib." Many women are working hard to define their dual roles - in the home and at work. It may be due, in large part, to Woman's Lib. If men were willing to work as hard defining their dual roles, it might mean the salvation of the American family. And Dr. Brazelton thinks there's hope for the American family, that it doesn't have to go the way of Pat and Bill Loud.

"What Makes A Good Father?" on the PBS Special of the Week, Monday night January 6, at 9:00 p.m. on UNC-TV, sets out to prove Dr. Brazelton's point. You'll meet three different families - three different fathers.

Jim Grant is one of those fathers. A year ago he was just a little bit afraid of holding his baby. Or he thought he would be. But that was before the baby was born, before Jim helped deliver it. Now he's a very good, very special kind of father.

Lou Watson doesn't remember his father well. He died when Lou was a little boy and Lou spent a lot of time alone. Now, Lou spends a lot of time with his own three boys. But it's not duty that makes him do it. It's easy to see he loves every minute of it.

Sol Gittleman listens to his children. When he has to say "no", he carefully explains his reasons. Sometimes, just before sleep, he talks over the day with his sons. Sol believes his kids have something to say.

Jim Grant, Lou Watson and Sol Gittleman are helping to salvage the American family. They are three different kids of fathers and you don't have to try to be just like any one of them. What they have in common is that they all care, they all take fatherhood seriously. That's what important and it makes a big difference.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR KATHRYN CROSBY

Why has your marriage lasted so long when most other Hollywood marriages fail? — G. Burney, Sacramento, Calif.

● I married a superman who's a constant challenge to me. Everything Bing undertakes comes easily to him. He wants very little from life and has to be coaxed to work. I want to work, and things come hard for me. So I suppose we complement each other, which means life is never dull. Boredom is the greatest marriage killer. Bing is easy to please, understands my "insanities," and I, on the other hand, am very accepting of his continual "wanderlust."

FOR FREDA PAYNE

You've been described as "a favorite of the international set." What does that mean?—J. M., Huntington, W. Va.

● I guess it refers to my dates with Omar Sharif and Afghanistan's Prince Hassai Durrani. And early this year, I became a Dame of Malta (because of my work for sickle-cell anemia and the March of Dimes). I've been through two broken romances and have seen friends suffer through bad marriages. I fear marriage and dig being single. I like minks and diamonds, but I can get them without marrying.

FOR MUHAMMAD ALI

You criticized George Foreman's way of training and said you had seen him in mixed company the day before the fight. This leads me to ask how you cope with sex while training?—John Mason, Atlantic City, N.J.

● I start getting sex off my mind about six weeks before a fight. For most athletes, two weeks ahead is enough. Not for me. I send my wife away, and I don't like too many women around my camp, no matter who they belong to.

FOR EVEL KNIEVEL

I've heard that you made $16 million from your Snake River Canyon jump. How much will you net after taxes and expenses?—Curtis Schell, Twin Falls, Idaho

● My answer is that it is none of your business what I'll net.

FOR MAJ. GEN. WALTER R. TKACH, physician to former President Nixon

Is Mr. Nixon's health, mental and physical, on the edge of collapse, or will he recover?—A. S. Kravitz, Brooklyn, N.Y.

● His health is not collapsing. He has been dealt a severe setback in terms of carrying out the policies for peace that he had hoped would be accomplished before he left office. It will take time, but he will recover and be the same strong, determined and great American he has always been.

FOR HILDEGARDE

What is it that keeps you so young? Religion, as you once stated, or a face-lift?—D. Appel, N. Miami Beach, Fla.

● I'm on the far side of 60. I've never had a lift—I'd admit it if I had. What keeps me from having one is diet, exercise and skin care—and religion, or faith. To lack faith is to despair. Despair has a way of tugging down the corners of the eyes and mouth. The result is wrinkles. Despair also drops a mask of unhappiness and age across a face. Whatever troubles I've gone through, I've never succumbed to despair.

FOR POLLY BERGEN

What made you decide to go into the cosmetics business?—B. Rose, Austin, Texas

● When I was 31, I got three offers to play a grandmother! I panicked. I thought I still looked 21. I peered in the mirror, saw things I never saw before, bought all kinds of gloop and started experimenting. I was soon told I looked "fantastic." I loaned my formula to friends, who liked it and suggested I start a mail-order business. Next year (1966) on Merv Griffin's show, I joked I was "making turtle oil." In five days I got 2,700 letters, all with checks. I decided to fill them.

FOR DR. BENJAMIN SPOCK

● Most persons who complain that children have no values really are saying that children don't have the same values that they do. Wanting a simple life is not a lack of value but a difference of value. I have spent most of the last eight years with young people, and I am impressed with their values, their consciences. Most of them have much higher standards than older persons.

FOR BILL ANDERSON

I get the impression that all country-music singers started life in poverty. Is this true?—M. K., Tupelo, Miss.

● I didn't. Although we weren't well off, I never felt deprived. But country music was created in poverty, in which many of our ancestors were raised. Music was all they had. Mama played the piano and Papa strummed the guitar. The kids sang in church choirs. Country folk aren't SUPPOSED to be rich. Maybe that's how the idea got around that country-music singers all began poor.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

Was there ever anything between Richard Burton and Sophia Loren?—A. Somes, Troy, N.Y.

● The truth is they're just friends. When Burton and Liz Taylor had their separation and reunion last year, they stayed in Sophia's Rome villa. She's happily married to Carlo Ponti (who's 21 years her senior) and has been for the past 24 years. Richard was recently quoted in a London paper as saying, "I'll never marry again. If I find the right girl, I might live with her. I've put out some offers, but they've all said, 'No.'" But now he's apparently changed his mind about that. His fiancée (at this writing) is Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia, who wants to become an actress—but Richard is against that.

Last year, famed novelist Erskine Caldwell wrote an article for FAMILY WEEKLY in which he explained that every seven years he and his wife feel the desire to pack up and move. They were living in Dunedin, Fla. (and still are), but they felt it was getting to be that time again. "Just for fun," they said, "why not send in your suggestions of where we should move?" FAMILY WEEKLY readers responded.

A Follow-up by the Erskine Caldwells:

We Asked You Where We Should Live—And Boy, Did You Tell Us!

By Virginia and Erskine Caldwell

We got thousands of fascinating letters from our readers in response to the article "It's Time to Move On," published last year in FAMILY WEEKLY. There were also hundreds of books, magazines, newspapers, maps, postcards and photographs, as well as the letters, that made up what we called "Our Mountain of Mail."

During these times of dissatisfaction and discontent around the world it was tremendously reassuring to receive such a response from Americans who are so proud of their hometowns and so satisfied with the caliber of life they find there that they are anxious to share their enjoyment with others.

Here are a few quotations from those letters from FAMILY WEEKLY readers, who responded so generously to our quandary over a new homestead.

THE WEST

Redding, Calif.:

"Each morning, snowcapped Mt. Lassen is silhouetted against the crimson horizon of the dawn. Forests of pine, fir and cedar upholster the 40 miles of mountains that slope up to skirt this only active volcano in the 48 conterminous states. In the evening, the afterglow of the western sunset bathes majestic Mt. Shasta in a roseate glow as it towers in its shrouded mystery 50 miles to the north of Redding. Don't you think this would be a glorious way for you to begin and end each day?"—Mrs. Bonnie B.

Reno, Nev.:

"The biggest little city in the world is beckoning you. The variety of the life to be found here in Reno is endless. If you desire culture and an academic atmosphere, the University of Nevada has much to offer. If you wish entertainment, the casinos provide both gambling and people-watching 24 hours around the clock, and excellent restaurants are always open. If you are looking for outdoor sports and fresh air, you will find it all in Reno and at nearby Lake Tahoe. You will find everything your heart could desire in Reno, including friendship and happiness."—Janet and Guy W.

SOUTHWEST AND SOUTH CENTRAL

Tyler, Texas:

"Dear Tex and Mrs. Caldwell:

"Tyler is the finest place in the world to live! The people, climate, rainfall, vegetation, cleanliness and all the other things Tyler has to offer make it the most wonderful place you could find to live. Just visit us—we'll show you around, and your search for a new home will be over.

"My wife Margie and I extend to you a special invitation to occupy our guest ranch house amidst the whispering pines of—yes, East Texas. The round-trip tickets enclosed are open to your time, as Tyler is beautiful any time of year.

"And after you have decided that this will be your next home, Margie and I would like to present you with a 'Welcome to Tyler' gift of a three-acre lot of your choice in 'The Hills' on serene Lake Palestine."—Ben F., rancher-realtor

(This overwhelming invitation was the first response we received, and it arrived by air express, accompanied by 12 dozen exquisite, dew-fresh roses in a variety of colors.)

Topeka, Kan.:

"Why not try the heart of our great country, where you can travel in any direction with equal ease? Kansas is the 'Breadbasket of the Nation,' and the lilting song of the meadowlark (the state bird) as it soars over the grainfields and the everyday sight of the cheerful sunflower faces (the state flower) will bring you constant joy. Come visit us; the guest room is waiting and homemade bread will be baking in the oven!"

longer than seven years, he might let you move to our lovely, uncrowded state."

—John L., conservationist

Glen Ullin, N.D.:

"My brothers and I wish to extend to you and your family an invitation to visit and hopefully to live in the home my parents built in Glen Ullin. It has 14 bedrooms, is basically simple yet beautiful in its own unique way. Near the Bad Lands and Teddy Roosevelt country—a sense of the frontier atmosphere still prevails.

"We would ask for nothing. The satisfaction to us would be the knowledge that our home would once again be alive with people who would learn to really love this country as we do, and our hope would be that you would be inspired to write by the great, untapped reservoir of history and knowledge of this remarkable part of the country."—Joel T.

Kalispell, Mont.:

"Your move to Montana will make you a part of the 'Big Sky' country. You will stand in awe of the majestic Mission Mountains and gaze with wonder at glistening Flathead Lake. When you have experienced the quiet solitude and seclusion of being snowed in, with birds and deer as your only companions, your faith in life itself will be renewed; and as you absorb the vastness of this country, you will feel you can accomplish any feat you desire."—Joan and Dick K.

GREAT LAKES

Green Bay, Wis.:

"My, I'm glad that I've written to you! I've enjoyed writing this letter so much because it makes me realize all over again how very lucky I am to be living in wonderful, perfect Green Bay."—Mary L.

Tiffin, Ohio:

"Tiffin, according to statistics, is one of the safest cities in America. Live with us and have peace of mind and a quiet, balanced life, and we promise that it will be interesting and stimulating too. I have traveled the world over, and in Tiffin find the best of everything."

—A.B.D., Jr., U.S.A., retired

NORTHEAST

Hanover, N.H.:

"If you haven't lived in a New England college town, you owe it to yourselves to spend your next seven years in Hanover. You will feel secure in the shelter of the calm, conservative townspeople, but life is spiced also with the activity and attitudes of the students. You will feel inspired as each turn in the road unfolds an animated painting, and your writing will prosper as each season brings you change and excitement. You will put down roots because the friendships you make will be deep and permanent."—Sandy and Drew L.

Bangor, Maine:

"Definition of Bangor: A body of people surrounded by enchanting lakes and mountains, with easy access to the wild beauty of the Atlantic Coast and nearby cities steeped in the history of our founding forefathers."—Dabney C.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

Hazelton, Pa.:

"An ethnic paradise for a writer; not a 'melting pot' exactly, but what I would call a happy 'meld' of Polish, Russian, Irish and Italian second- and third-generation immigrants. The combination creates a fascinating city."—Frances M.

Princeton, W. Va.:

"Let's take a trip to my hometown and cross the mountains, which will be green in spring and the air the freshest in the world, or in the fall when the red, yellow and orange autumn leaves dance in the breeze. You will never want to move again because a lifetime of writing awaits you here. Come soon, the coffee pot is on and the latchstring is out."—Adriana R.

SOUTHEAST

Albany, Ga.:

"You are a Southerner by blood. In my opinion a Georgia boy should return to his home state to live and be revitalized anew to write about the life-style that he knows better than any other author. Welcome home!"—N.L.F.

Dunedin, Fla.:

"Dear Mr. Caldwell: You look old and tired, and Mrs. Caldwell, you don't look so good, either. Why don't you stay where you are and get a good rest? Anyone who would want to move from Dunedin, God's gift to America in the name of Scotland, should make an appointment with the nearest psychiatrist. Stay home and get well soon!"—Mrs. L. A.

We could easily write a book about the FAMILY WEEKLY letters that came from every state in the union, Mexico and Canada, written by every age group from eight-year-olds to ninety. They were letters full of goodwill and friendliness; some serious, some full of humor, some just a sentence, some ten pages long. We enjoyed them all—and they have given us a lot to think about!

DON'T PAY 1¢ MORE FOR GAS THIS YEAR THAN YOU DID LAST!

Tricks that START where the usual Detroit "gas-saving advice" leaves off!

Money-saving secrets so powerful that we repeat our guarantee to you—

Don't Pay 1¢ More For Gas This Year Than You Did Last, OR YOUR FULL MONEY BACK!

How can we make this promise? It's a cinch! Because what we're giving you right now are the Super Gas Savers that Detroit probably won't put on their production models till 1980—or even later! The kind of Super Gas Squeezers that Shell Oil proved existed last year, when they coaxed over 376 miles a gallon out of a standard gasoline-powered car, CHANGED IN THE RIGHT WAY TO CUT THE GAS-WASTERS RIGHT OUT OF ITS ENGINE!

(Yes, that's 100 miles a gallon . . . 200 miles a gallon . . . 300 miles a gallon . . . right up to 376 miles a gallon—from a modified car with the same type of engine that you drive today! Because Shell engineers wanted to see what was THE ABSOLUTE MAXIMUM GAS MILEAGE A CAR COULD DELIVER—IF THEY CUT THE JUNK OUT OF IT, AND GAVE ITS ENGINE FREE PLAY!)

You can't do everything they did, of course! But you CAN take dozens of their tricks . . . and U.S. Government tricks (write the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. for Report A1C-240, and see what they say) . . . and Indianapolis competition tricks . . . and put them all together to keep as much as an extra $800 in your pocket this year! Like this . . .

For Example, From Now On, Why Not "BURN" AIR In Your Car!

This is just one Super Gas Saver that you probably never dreamed existed, but that auto engineers have been using on custom cars for years! You've heard, of course, of "Ram Jet Super-Chargers", that cost hundreds of dollars, but that deliver huge new horsepower (and therefore gas mileage) to the engines they're installed on!

Well, here's the world's easiest way to make your own "baby" Super-charger! It takes only minutes! It requires just one simple ingenious trick! And it atmospherically forces great heavy gulps of air to mix with your gasoline . . . thins that gasoline out . . . burns that gasoline more and more and more efficiently (especially when you "open her up" on the highway) . . . and lets you zoom past other cars roaring with laughter, because you know that YOU'RE burning LESS GAS than they are!

But This Is Just The Beginning! Because Now You Save Gas Just By The Way You BUY It! Just By The Way You Park Your Car! Just By The Way You "SHIFT" Your Automatic Transmission!

For example:

You no longer have to pay an extra $100 or more a year in "sucker" gas bills, just because you chose an automatic transmission instead of a stick shift! Because now you can actually get MUCH BETTER MILEAGE—with that automatic transmission and the simple secret on page 16—than your "wiseacher" friend who has to juggle his manual gears at every city traffic light!

(Time to learn—just about as long as it takes you to drive to your neighborhood shopping center! Result—that you take command of the automatic transmission! Money in your pocket—hundreds of dollars over the rest of your driving life!)

PLUS:

How to turn a screw—and that's all there is to it—and get up to 15% MORE mileage in stop and go driving!

How to save up to $1.50 every time you fill up (and think how many times a year you fill up), simply by giving one ingenious little command to your gas station attendant! (You'll kick yourself for not having thought of it before!)

How to get pick-up that makes your friends' eyes pop open, and STILL save gas! (Yes! Forget about the old myth that you have to drive like a maiden aunt—or watch other cars pass you—to get Super Mileage! The engineers don't, and why should you!)

PLUS:

How to get as much as ONE MORE GALLON OF "FREE" DRIVING, FOR EVERY TEN THAT YOU BURN TODAY . . . and get up to 40,000 miles from a single set of plugs!

How to convert your battery—in exactly 60 seconds—into a Super Power Plant that may very easily last the full life of your car—and save gallons of gas that hard slow winter starting is draining out of that car right now! (The total cost? Two cents! And not one penny more!)

PLUS:

How to adjust your engine for summer heat, and save up to 2 "boil-over" wasted miles per gallon . . . how to do the same for winter, and beat mileage-sapping freezing cold . . . how to insert a special piece of metal that costs only 10¢ into your radiator, and get still MORE mileage . . . even a complete section on low-cost "super-tuning" your car to get premium performance on the lowest-cost regular gas!

But Listen To This: Everything That Helps You Save Gas ALSO HELPS YOU SAVE ON OIL, TIRES AND REPAIRS! So You Pocket Another $200 To $500 This Year!

For example:

How to "tune" your car as you drive! Spend an extra 60 seconds with it once a week . . . never leave your driver's seat . . . and keep your plugs firing clean, and your engine purring like a kitten!

How to slice tire costs in half—add as much as 20,000 miles to the life of your tires—without using anything more "mechanical" than an old rag!

How to cool the inside of your car on hot summer days, without the expense of air conditioning! How to get up to $500 of Free services from your gas station every year . . . which the big companies would like to keep hidden!

How to preserve anti-freeze for THREE full years! Get up to 30% more horsepower, without spending a penny! Double the life of your oil! Even get new-car performance for as much as 100,000 miles or more—by preserving the life of its expensive parts, and avoiding the need for major repairs!

And Much, Much More! Far More Than We Can Even Begin To List Here! All Yours To Read From Cover To Cover, Without Risking A Cent!

Gas-saving car-maintaining books have sold for as high as $25 apiece! But now this amazing new car owner's fix-it yourself book is yours for only $3.98; and it is completely guaranteed, or every cent of that money back! You have nothing to lose! Act today!

Only $3.98 Complete!

Including FREE Report!

The full details of how you can easily "burn" plain ordinary water along with your gasoline (as U.S. fighter planes did during World War II)—and not only get 3 . . . 4 . . . 5 . . . 6 miles MORE per gallon, BUT ALSO GET A SMOOTHER-RUNNING, MORE POWERFUL ENGINE AS WELL!

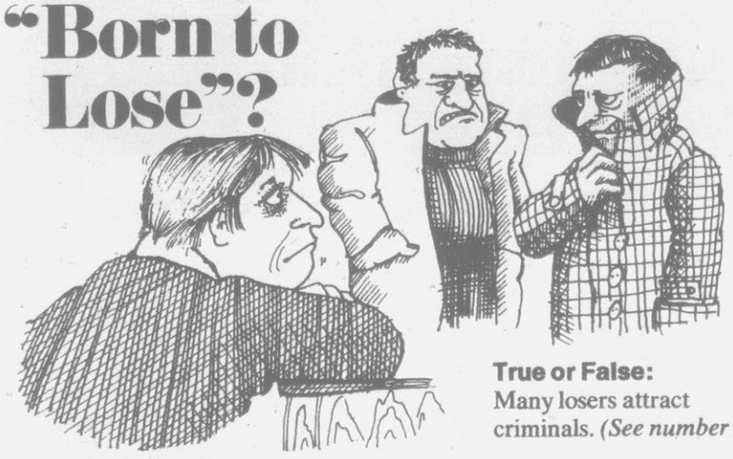
People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

Why Were Some People "Born to Lose"?



True or False:
Many losers attract criminals. (See number 3)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. It's easy to spot the "born loser."
2. Bad luck is contagious.
3. Many losers attract criminals.
4. Losers never have any fun.
5. If you're a loser, there isn't much you can do about it—except reconcile yourself to being in the wrong place at the right time.

ANSWERS

1. True. The born loser puts his best foot forward—and then trips over it. The term "loser" is not intended to apply to those who suffer misfortune through no fault of their own. The term applies rather to those "chronic victims" whose circumstances are due to their own perverse outlook, and whose lives are filled with various opportunities that they contrive, through their negligence or imprudence, to turn into stumbling blocks. Behaviorial therapist Dorothy E. Peven has made a special study of the loser—or "victim" type. Her findings: "They have the knack of handling problems in such a way that they always come out on the short end of the stick. They will unconsciously do or say things that will provoke others to attack them or victimize them in some way." A typical victim, she notes, is the girl who always falls in love with what an observer can see is the wrong man (he's married, he's an alcoholic, etc.). And it's further observed that the true victim – the "career loser" – goes out looking for spiderwebs so he can get caught.

2. True—and you catch it from losers. Psychological studies conducted at the University of Illinois show that negative, downbeat emotional states are highly contagious. You can't hang around a loser very long without getting damp from the rain that's always falling on him.

3. True. As evidenced by the findings of internationally known criminologist Dr. Ezzat Abdel Fattah, University of Montreal, whose studies show that such people "reveal a permanent and unconscious predisposition for victimization, and attract criminals in the same way that lambs attract wolves." Such individuals, he finds, are likely to be victims of the same type of offense more than once. And many victims, his investigations show, play a definite role in activating a crime by inciting the criminal to commit it—either by their own imprudence or by creating or fostering a situation likely to lead to crime.

4. False. Losers, as one psychologist has noted, find a perverse pleasure in being unhappy, and seem genuinely uncomfortable unless they have something to complain about. The most fun a loser has is telling you his troubles. Losers are the originators of the upside-down smile, the carefully cultivated martyred expression. Male losers tend to marry wives who are professional naggers. And medical studies show there is one type of loser who goes from doctor to doctor looking for one who can find something wrong with him. As one authority points out, "The most common defense mechanism of the victim [or loser] is denial. He doesn't admit to himself how much he enjoys that which he brought about."

5. False. Studies at Wesleyan University have shown that most losers are dyed-in-the-wool pessimists who would cease being losers if they could only become more optimistic. The loser-pessimist loads the odds in favor of self-defeat by unconsciously setting goals that are impossible to achieve. As a result, he develops what behaviorial specialists term "failure expectancy." Remedy: If you're a loser, set goals that you can reasonably expect to achieve, thus establishing a success pattern. Each goal you attain gives your optimism and self-confidence another shot in the arm. And with those two qualities in ascendance, it's pretty hard to remain a loser.

Advice to Fatigued Young Mothers:

Take Time Out From Baby— For Your Baby's Sake

Elizabeth Gee

By Dr. Helen De Rosis

New parents often love to be with baby. They can't tear themselves away. But this is usually confined to baby No. 1. I don't mean that later children are not wanted and loved. But the first baby is a unique experience—almost like one's very first time of being in love. No other experience is ever like it again.

After your first few weeks of parental wonder and panic, joy and doubt, excitement and fatigue, you settle down in a cozy routine that usually lasts until baby begins to learn that the world stretches beyond the bounds of crib, bassinet, carriage and Mommy's and Daddy's faces. Once baby has made that discovery, your next phase of parenting is upon you—ready or not! For your child is going to want to explore the limits of this new world. Don't be surprised if at this point baby stops being so much fun.

"Parents often get the message that they should be more 'involved' with their children. This can be a good thing. But do you run the risk of exaggerating a good thing?"

If Mother is the principal one caring for baby, she is often on duty full time. There is little opportunity for a change of scene with no family responsibilities. Without that respite, some parents gradually become annoyed at the time and effort that baby takes.

Parents often get the message that they should be more "involved" with their children. This can be a good thing. But do you run the risk of exaggerating a good thing? Is there such a thing as too much involvement with your children? And if so, how much involvement is too much?

Let's face it: Some parents can't bring themselves to spend much time with their children. If they try to force themselves, they become tense. Often they give the time, but it's not quality time. It's a divided and sometimes resentful involvement and will not encourage a sense of well-being in their children.

I'm well aware that some of this less-than-quality time cannot be avoided if you are the principal carer of your child. But try to find some small time to really enjoy your baby.

Also, try to arrange to have some time during the week for yourself. It doesn't have to be a whole day or even a half day. But it should be a set period, a time when you are completely free of your obligations. The woman who cannot afford a baby-sitter might consider exchanging child care with another parent. Even two hours of such time can relieve tension; and I would advocate it over taking tranquilizers.

Now please: I'm not saying you must take time off. If you really don't feel any tension, boredom or constriction, that's great. But if you do, try giving yourself some time off. And if you can manage it, take a whole weekend off!

There are also options for the nursing mother. There is nothing that says you can't alternate your baby's feedings with a bottle—if you want to. If you can skip two feedings, with comfort, and if baby sleeps through the nights, you might leave for a little outing right after baby's supper. Stay away all night and be back in time for the noon feeding the next day.

But please remember that the quality of your attention and involvement is more important than the quantity. One hour (even in divided doses) of wholehearted attention per day would probably make for a better relationship with baby than hours and hours of divided attention, tinged with irritation and boredom. Conscientious parents sometimes tend to push their involvement with their children past the point of mutual benefit. Too much involvement can promote excessive mutual parent-child dependency and interfere with healthy growth and development —for both parent and child.

By Donna Walker — as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

At 278 pounds, I was no mermaid. Believe it or not, I had a friend who once called me a Floating Island! I laughed, but I really didn't think that it was very funny!

When I was 66 inches around, and 65 inches tall, even my favorite fat lady's store had a problem. I know, because at 278 pounds I wore the largest bloomers they carried. And that's the only word for them — bloomers — even though I'm of the generation that usually refers to ladies' panties as briefs.

Fact is, the thought of having nothing to wear made me so panicky, I said to myself: "This is it! You've got to lose weight, Donna." Not that I was unaware of my size before. There were too many embarrassing reminders in my life for me to ignore my weight. Let me tell you a few of them . . . for laughs.

At my fullest figure, I fit so snugly into a tub that the water was dammed up behind me when I pulled the plug out in front of me. And when I stood up in a shower stall, I couldn't even bend over to pick up a bar of soap. I was trapped upright by my own appetite.

Actually I've been stuck in more places than you can imagine: a seat in a movie house, a Carnival turnstyle, even my own armchair. Why, I was wedged in so many times, the friction from my fanny wore out the upholstery.

As for dresses, I had one — to go to work in. I washed it every night and every day for one year because it was the only dress that fit.

Now if you think this whole situation embarrassed me, let me tell you it shamed my poor mother. She was always making excuses for me. Like when I was a child she used to say: "It's only 'baby' fat. It'll go away." But she was still saying it when I was 28 years of age!

I think I ought to mention that chocolate and sweets were my undoing. But ironically, candy is what really helped me to lose weight. Ayds® Reducing Plan Candy. I'd read ads about it in magazines and when I learned that Ayds contains vitamins and minerals but no drugs, I thought maybe there was something in it for me. I sure knew from past experience that diet pills, weekly reducing sessions, and even a psychiatrist were not the answer for me. I needed something to help curb my appetite and my eternal craving for sweets.

So, I bought a box of chocolate fudge Ayds at the drug store and started on the plan in the fall. I took one or two Ayds about 15 minutes before each meal with a hot drink and it really helped me cut down on what I ate. And I ate regular meals. I didn't prepare anything special.

Now at 136 pounds, my hometown friends in West Hartford, Connecticut, hardly recognize me. As a matter of fact, whenever I look into the mirror, I hardly recognize myself.

Right from the start, I had such a positive feeling about the Ayds plan, I even took on a $50 bet from my friend's husband. He'd heard me talk about losing weight for 10 years, but never saw me do anything about it. So he figured it was going to be an easy win. But in the end he had to pay up, because that weight came off.

Nobody really noticed it until I'd lost more than 50 pounds. You see, I hadn't bought any new clothes so I was hidden under a lot of baggy pants and sacky tops. Then at Easter, when I'd taken off 78 pounds on the Ayds plan, I turned out in a new lavender pantsuit and everybody was amazed. As for me, I was so thrilled, I was determined to stick to the Ayds plan, even on my birthday. Some friends dropped by with a "Have-a-happy" box from the bakery and I thought: "How mean!" But when I opened it, it was filled with celery and a lot of laughs. I knew then that everybody was rooting for me.

I guess, though, we never see ourselves as others do. Let me tell you about a remark my nephew made while I was still losing weight. He'd seen me at his sister's wedding, wearing a size 52 beige tent. Months after I'd been on the Ayds plan, I appeared at his wedding in a size 18 dress. He was so shocked, his eyes opened wide, then his mouth. "What were you wearing the last time I saw you — your beige Volkswagon?" Funny, I knew I was fat, but not that fat.

How long did it take me to lose 142 pounds on the Ayds plan? Just about a year and now I can do things I never could before. For the first time, I can cross my legs — like a lady. I can also see all of me in a mirror. And I can even climb up a pool ladder without fear of breaking it.

On the serious side, my teenage nieces and nephews are now proud to introduce me as their aunt. As for my relations with my parents, I can tell you that they've never been better. In fact, everybody I know is happier with me, since I'm now only 37½ inches around. Which makes me forever grateful for the Ayds plan.

I'll guide you step by step into your own thriving business

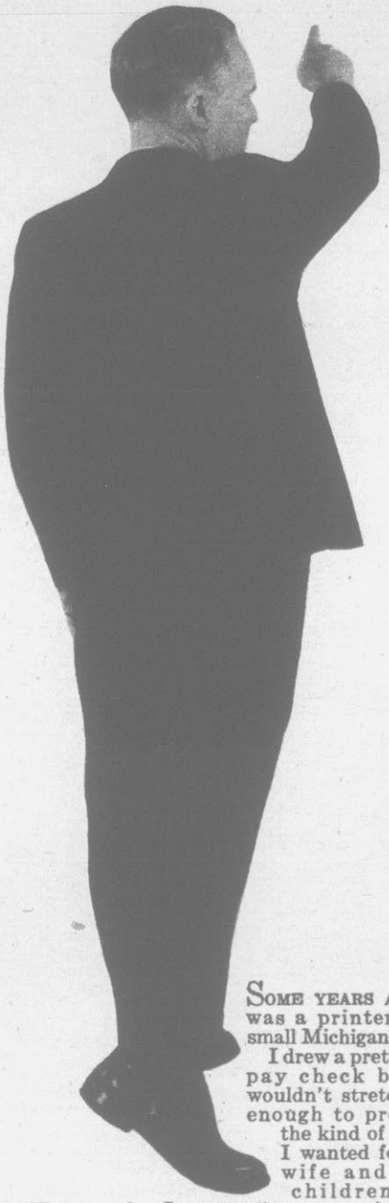
● While keeping your present job, would you like to gross $14 or $21 profit per hour?

a true story by Bob Ferrel



SOME YEARS AGO I was a printer in a small Michigan town. I drew a pretty fair pay check but it wouldn't stretch far enough to provide the kind of living I wanted for my wife and five children.

Then one day I was reading a magazine just as you now are and I saw an ad. It intrigued me. It offered me the steadily growing income I had always hoped for. It said I would have greater security and personal independence... and that's what I had been wanting.

I was a little skeptical, but I said to myself, "for a postage stamp I can find out." So I mailed the coupon. In a few days, I got a letter with a booklet that gave the whole story. It opened my eyes. I could see why owning my own business was so much easier than I had always thought . . . why the day to day guidance of a successful worldwide organization could assure my own success.

I read the booklet several times. It just seemed too good to be true. I talked it over with my wife. We decided that now was the time to make the forward step . . . there was no reason to keep postponing an income increase.

So, I applied for a Duraclean dealership and I was accepted. I stayed with my job . . . ran a few ads . . . sent some mailings . . . contacted a few stores and told my friends about the superior services I was now equipped to give them. Evenings and Saturdays, I rendered the service. As the business grew, I added servicemen.

I found that I didn't have to develop a single idea myself. Every step had been prepared for me and pre-tested. Hundreds of other men had already proven my methods successful.

It didn't take long to see that I was making three to four times (yes, 3 to 4 times) as much per hour in my own business as in my printing job. So, after only seven months with a good following of customers, I quit my job to go full time on my own. In the meantime, I had enjoyed all this extra income on top of my salary.

Each day, we realized what a serious mistake not mailing that coupon would have been . . . and how that little act that seemed so trivial at the time actually changed our lives.

The steadily growing income brought us many things we could not afford before. My efforts were so much more productive. I scheduled my time to my own liking. When we wanted a day or two off, we took it. I worked hard but, if I wanted to be home early or quit at noon, I did.

This is not a business for a lazy man. But if a man is ambitious and will work to deserve those nice things in life we all want, this business is made to order for such a man.

I became so enthusiastic about this business and so appreciative of what it had brought my family that, whenever a man opened a dealership near me, I helped him get a quick start.

The company learned about this and had each new dealer in my section of Michigan spend a day with me. One day the president of Duraclean Company asked me how I would like to move to Headquarters and spend my entire time helping dealers to increase their sales and profits.

That was good news to my ears. Since then I have worked with hundreds of our dealers in their own towns and at regional meetings, conventions and dealer group meetings. But much of the time I am right here at my desk in touch with our dealers by letter and telephone.

Incidentally I sold my dealership at a good profit. Dealers sell their Duraclean businesses for up to ten times their cost. After 30 months, Leo Lubel sold for $7,116 above his cost. If for any reason a dealer wants to sell, we maintain a service to locate buyers and help him sell.

Our job here at headquarters is to show each individual Duraclean dealer how to use his own abilities to bring him greatest success. I know hundreds of our dealers on a first name basis. We work together as one happy family. If you become a Duraclean dealer, I'll be as close to you as your telephone or mail box.

It's Easier than You Think To Build Your Own Business

If you've wanted to BE YOUR OWN BOSS... to become financially independent and have a fast growing income, now YOU CAN. And you own a Nationally Advertised business.

You can stay at your present job while your customer list grows . . . then switch to full time, lining up jobs for your servicemen to do. One job a day brings a good starting income.

If you hire two servicemen (full or part time) while you keep your job, the national price guide provides you a gross profit of $14 an hour on their work and this is much easier to do than you think. We show you how . . . step by step. That's $490 for a 35 hour week.

Your gross profit on three servicemen is $21 per hour. Duraclean dealers find it easy to gross $7 per hour on EACH serviceman plus $12 an hour on any service they themselves render. The 24 page illustrated booklet we'll mail you (with no obligation) explains how most of your gross profit becomes clear net profit. Your income is limited only by the number of servicemen you employ.

You can operate from a shop, office, or your home. Equipment is light and portable.

At the start, you may want to render service yourself . . . or you can start with full or part time servicemen. This business is easy to learn . . . easy to start . . . so easy to service that women dealers do it. We prefer you have no experience . . . not have to "unlearn" old ways.

We are NOW enlarging this worldwide system of individually-owned service businesses. If you are reliable, honest and willing to work to become financially independent, we invite you to mail the coupon.

When you receive our illustrated booklet, you will see the way we show you step by step how to quickly get customers . . . and still more customers from their recommendations.

You have 7 superior services that are rendered "on location" in homes, offices, hotels, theaters, clubs, motels and institutions.

These are not ordinary services. You have the prestige and endorsement of leading furniture makers and carpet mills, of Parents' Magazine and McCall's, of Research and Testing Laboratories.

National magazine advertising explains superior merits of your services, builds your customer confidence and brings job leads to you.

We and a Duraclean dealer will train you and assist you. He'll reveal his successful, proven methods. You have pre-tested newspaper and yellow-page ads, commercials, and a full mailing program.

Stores, upholsterers, insurance adjustors, and decorators refer jobs to our dealers. These year 'round services are in constant demand.

Start Small, Grow Big in this Booming Business

Many men have said to us, "I can't afford to give up my job till I know I have a sure thing . . . a sound business that will provide both security and a better living for my family."

That made sense to us so we worked out such a plan . . . and those same men are now enjoying a Duraclean dealership in many communities. You don't experiment. You use tested, proven methods. You have our backing and "know how."

Does this appeal to you? Don't decide now. Mail the coupon so you'll have the facts to decide wisely. There is no obligation. You'll then know whether this is what you want.

You can start small and grow big. A third century ago Duraclean was an idea . . . but it caught fire and spread to a world wide service. Why did it spread? (1) superior processes. (2) proven customer-getting methods (3) Day to day guidance from Headquarters.

Our first service, the care of upholstery and carpets not only cleans, it enlivens the fibers . . . revives dull colors. Pile rises with new life. There's no harsh machine scrubbing. No soaking. Mild aerated foam lightly applied lifts out dirt, grease, many unsightly spots like magic. Furnishings are used again in a few hours.

Government figures show service businesses are growing faster than industries and stores . . . $750 million yearly potential just in rug and furniture cleaning. Your 6 other services are explained in the free booklet we'll mail you.

Less than $1500 establishes YOUR OWN business. A day's profit more than pays the monthly payments we finance for you.

Men frequently take in partners.

We furnish electric equipment and, with first shipment, enough materials to return your TOTAL investment. If you have good habits and know the importance of customer satisfaction, you can likely qualify for a Duraclean dealership.

TODAY is the time to reserve a Duraclean dealership, before someone takes your location.

It's been said, "Opportunity knocks but once at every man's door." This could be that one rare opportunity in your life.

It is surprisingly easy to learn this business. You can decide from the information we will send you whether to apply for a dealership. So, with no obligation whatever, mail the coupon TODAY. Cut it out NOW so you won't forget to mail it.

Mail this coupon TODAY

It may put you in business

Duraclean International

DEAR SUZY . . .
The Palace replies

Recently, FAMILY WEEKLY's "Through a Child's Eyes" featured a happy-birthday letter from nine-year-old Suzy Pope of Muncie, Ind., to Princess Margaret of England. In it, Suzy dwelt at some length on her allergy and her nose problems. FAMILY WEEKLY forwarded the letter to the Princess, and several weeks later, the following letter from Kensington Palace arrived in Suzy's mailbox in Muncie:

Dear Suzy,

Princess Margaret thought it was so kind of you to write to her, and she has asked me to thank you very much for your letter.

I am so sorry about your allergy; I hope it is much better now, and that your nose is no longer sore from blowing. It is a horrid feeling when one's nose gets stuffed up.

Her Royal Highness had a very happy birthday, and hopes that you have one too.

Yours sincerely,
Annabel Whitehead
Lady-in-Waiting

How strong is the hold of a small town? Is it strong enough to keep its residents even when it is a town like Julian, nestled in tinderbox Southern California, where forest fires are not only a threat, but a virtual certainty? Yes, says Julian drugstore owner Jim Alspach, who recently cooperated with ABC-TV's camera crews in the making of a documentary on the subject to be aired Thursday. "My family and I used to be plugged into a situation where we were credit-card living—you know, let's live it up today and tomorrow we'll pay for it. Up here we've found that we get enjoyment out of the simple things in life. Out of sitting around the house with a fire in the fireplace in the evening, or reading. We have to make our own entertainment. We're a little bit involved in music. We have a barbershop quartet going. It isn't the hustle-bustle-run type of existence, but we're living within our means—and that's important to me."

Instant ego

QUOTE: O. J. Simpson on athletes as actors: "Take a guy like Joe [Namath] or me—acting is the only thing we can get into to get the same ego trip. . . . Athletes are people who set out to do something and do it right now. Every week in football I get to feed that ego, and I'm doing it with me, not with a machine or something. Well, your job as an actor is protecting you, getting you across. Some of the most confident people in the world—and it comes off as cockiness sometimes—are athletes, and that's because they know what they can do." From "The O. J. ARMOUR'S ARMOURY

GETTING A CHARGE OUT OF IT

This mostly applies to my wife,
But it also applies to me.
Things charged to a charge account
No matter how costly seem free.

No money at all is paid.
Just "Charge it," two words, will suffice.
Of course you must sign your name,
But that can be done in a trice.

Removing the pain of paying!
But today is the first of the month,
And what in the world was I saying?

The following questions—and their irreverent answers—are taken from the book, "Zingers From the Hollywood Squares" (Popular Library, New York, $1.25). "Zingers" is also available as a record album (Event Records, $6.98).

• When Stanley asked his famous question—"Dr. Livingston, I presume?"—Dr. Livingston made a less famous reply. What was it?

PAUL LYNDE: "Kiss me."

• The Post Office motto lists four specific things that won't stop the mailman from getting to you. Snow, rain and heat are three of them. What's the fourth?

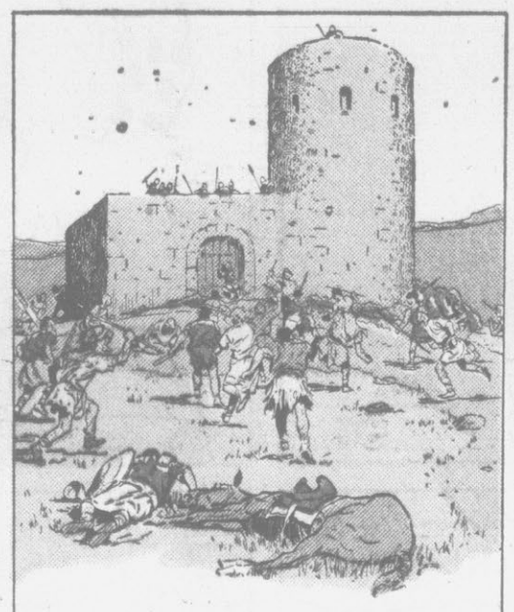
Prince Valiant®

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR

BY HAL FOSTER

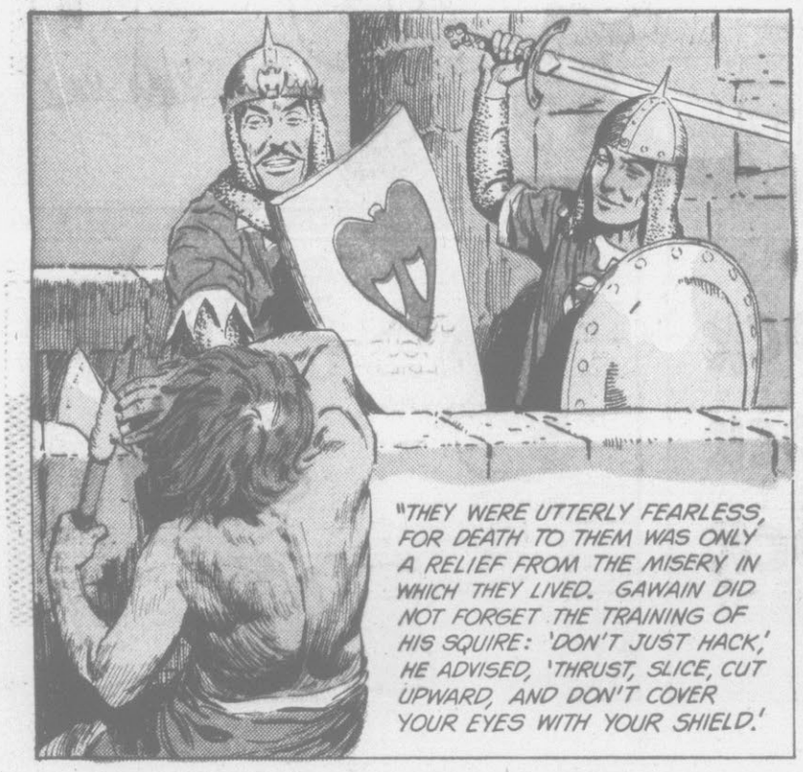
Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT CONTINUES HIS STORY OF AN ADVENTURE WHEN HE FIRST BECAME SIR GAWAIN'S SQUIRE.



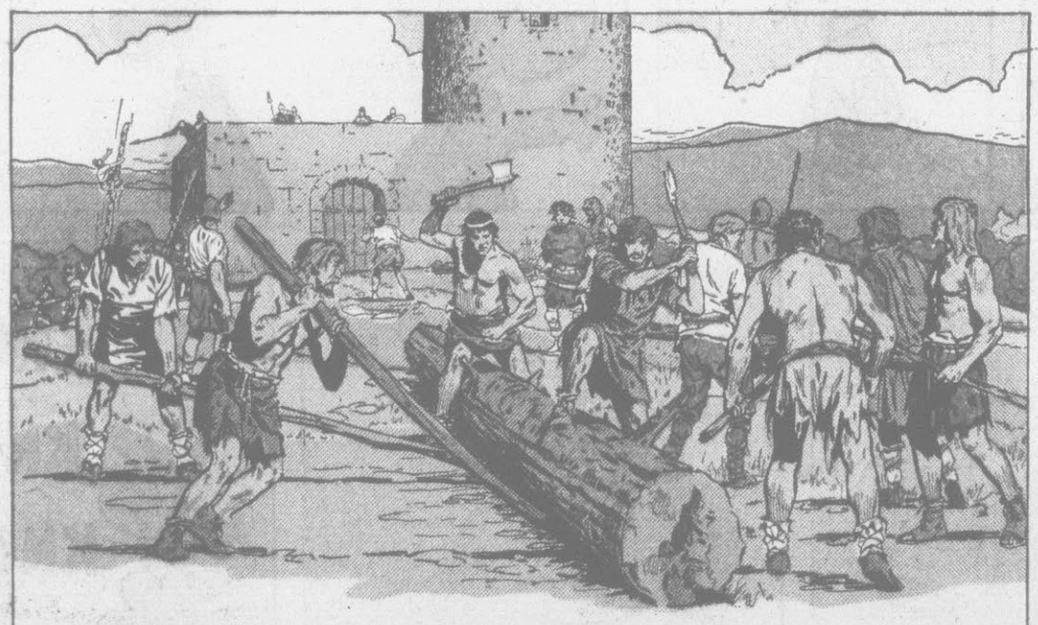
"WE LOST A FEW MEN-AT-ARMS BEFORE GAINING THE DUBIOUS SAFETY OF THE WATCHTOWER. SAFE, YES, BUT TRAPPED.

"THROUGH ALL THE TURMOIL THE LADY ALISON REMAINED CALM: 'THE CASTLE OF MY BETROTHED IS BUT FOUR MILES AWAY. PERHAPS A SIGNAL FIRE MAY CALL THEIR ATTENTION TO OUR PLIGHT.'

"SO WE LIT THE FIRE AND THREW OUR WETTED CLOAKS ON IT TO CREATE A COLUMN OF SMOKE. NOW THE MOB OF OUTCASTS BROUGHT UP TREE TRUNKS WITH NOTCHES CUT FOR STEPS AND STORMED THE PARAPET.



"THEY WERE UTTERLY FEARLESS, FOR DEATH TO THEM WAS ONLY A RELIEF FROM THE MISERY IN WHICH THEY LIVED. GAWAIN DID NOT FORGET THE TRAINING OF HIS SQUIRE: 'DON'T JUST HACK,' HE ADVISED, 'THRUST, SLICE, CUT UPWARD, AND DON'T COVER YOUR EYES WITH YOUR SHIELD.'



"THE ATTACK ON THE WALLS SLACKENED AND WE GLANCED DOWN..... THEY HAD BROUGHT UP A HUGE TREE TRUNK TO USE AS A BATTERING RAM, AND WE HAD NO ARCHERS TO HALT THEM! NOR WERE THERE ENOUGH MEN TO DEFEND BOTH GATE AND BATTLEMENT!
