

Plant Completion Around June 1 New Industry To Locate At Winterville

The announcement of a new industry for Pitt County was made today as Winterville Mayor Walter Dail and Corey Stokes, chairman of the Pitt County Development Commission met with the Board of County Commissioners.

The new industry—the can division of Sonoco Products Company—will be located at Winterville, on a 12-acre site just south of the municipal limits adjacent to old N.C. 11. Site preparation work has already begun, and according to W. R. Gunnells, division vice-president — cans, for Sonoco, construction on the 45,800 square-foot building is scheduled to begin immediately. Completion, he said, is expected around June 15.

Gunnells said when production gets underway around June 1, the plant will be manufacturing composite cans for customers in the surrounding area. (Sonoco Products currently produces composite cans at a facility in Tennessee for Pringle's Potato Chips, produced by Proctor and Gamble's Pringle's plant there.)

Sonoco Products—with home offices in Hartsville, S.C.—will employ about 50 persons at the Winterville facility when in full operation.

Gunnells, in a prepared release, said "several locations in the general area were considered," for the plant, "however, one of the deciding factors in the final selection was the spirit of friendliness and cooperation shown by the citizens of Winterville.

"Traditionally, we have established our plants in small towns so that we can grow along with the community."

Founded in 1899, Sonoco Products Company is a leading paper manufacturer and a producer of paper, plastic and metal products for industry. The firm operates 37 plants from coast-to-coast, and had subsidiary companies in Canada, Mexico, Latin America as well as in the United States. Affiliates are located in Great Britain, Australia, Japan and Latin America.

Sonoco began producing composite cans in the early 1960s and now produces cans in Alpha, Ohio; Charleston, S.C.; Henderson, Ky.; Henderson, Tenn., and Orlando, Fla. The cans are used to package such products as foods, juice concentrates, cleansers, toys, and motor oil.

Wesley A. Haynes, presently manager of Sonoco's Charleston plant will move to Winterville in the Spring as manager of the new facility.

Sonoco began with 12 employees in a rented warehouse and now has over 6,500 employees in its plants around the world. Its 1973 consolidated net sales exceeded $188,000,000.

Beginning with cones for the textile industry, Sonoco now produces such products as tubes, spools, beams, cores, storage tubes, Fibre Form tubes for concrete columns, tubular forms for voiding concrete, underground pipe for power lines, underground transformer vaults, folding cartons, shipping containers, paperboard, molded and extruded plastics, acids, adhesives, and other products.

Dail, who expressed his pleasure at having Sonoco locate at Winterville, told Commissioners that the town is currently running a 10-inch water main to the plant site. He said that project is being carried out in conjunction with the construction of a new half-million gallon water tank and installation of a new well to serve residents and businesses in the Winterville area.

NEW PLANT SITE — Sonoco Products Company announced today that it will locate a 45,800 square feet building on this 12 acre site at Winterville, to manufacture composite cans for customers in the

Commissioners To Study Aiding New Sewer Line

Pitt County Commissioners, who heard an announcement about a new industry for Winterville, this morning, were to consider a $37,000 request to help fund a sewer outfall line to an industrial site North of Greenville, later today.

This morning, commissioners approved a contract with Dudley and Shoe, Architects for design work for the new Pitt County Mental Health Center, to be built near the new hospital, now under construction. The contract sets the architects fee at 8.2 per cent of the contract price for the new facility.

Hospital's Board of Trustees from its present 6 years to 3 year terms, and set attendance standards for board members — requiring members to attend at least 50 per cent of the board meetings and not miss three consecutive meetings.

Hall said 60 per cent of the structural steel for the new facility has been erected and noted that $3.5 million has been paid out for work already completed so far.

In other business, the Board of Commissioners approved changes in the charter of Pitt Memorial Hospital which would reduce the length of appointment of members of the Jack Richardson, administrator of the hospital, reported to commissioners on activities at the health care facility during the past year, while Ralph Hall, who oversees work on the new hospital building for the county reported of the time allocated for construction has elapsed since the project got underway, while only about 15 per cent of the required work has been done. However, he said he was optimistic that the project would progress at a more rapid rate.

CIA Is 2-Probe Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders say their planned investigations into the CIA's alleged domestic intelligence work will proceed even though President Ford has appointed an eight-man commission to probe the spy agency.

Ford named Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller to head the commission Sunday which was created to "determine whether the CIA has exceeded its statutory authority." The agency, which is limited by law to foreign intelligence, allegedly has spied on Americans in the United States.

The panel is to report in 90 days. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the report would be sent to Congress and released to the public.

The other commissioners appointed by Ford were former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, retired Army Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, former Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold, AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Joseph Lane Kirkland, retired University of Virginia President Edgar F. Shannon, former Commerce Secretary John T. Connor and former Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott praised the commission members as "distinguished men without personal axes to grind" and as "men of great national reputation."

But Scott said it was necessary for the congressional inquiries to go ahead. CIA investigations previously were announced by Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., chairman of the House CIA oversight committee; Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate CIA oversight panel; and Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., incoming chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Nedzi, vowing to continue his panel's probe, welcomed the appointment of the presidential commission and said he would appreciate any insights the commission may offer.

A Well For Winterville

WINTERVILLE WELL SITE—Mayor Walter Dail looks over site of new well being drilled west of the municipal limits. The well, when completed, will supply water for the town's new 500,000 water storage tank. The new tank, in turn, will provide area residents and industries, such as the new Sonoco Products Company facility being built just South of the municipal limits, with improved water service. The new well is designed to supply some 500 gallons of water per minute. The well, tank and new water mains are expected to be installed and in operation by August. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage)

WANTS ACCESS TO MEMORIAL DRIVE
There is a barricade at the end of a street in West Meadowbrook that, if opened, would let school buses and other vehicles use it and avoid busier and more dangerous routes. It would help the residents of the area. I.S.

City Traffic Engineer Ron Sewell investigated the street you mentioned, at Hotline's request. He said it connects Legion Street and Memorial Drive, but has never been dedicated and, therefore, is not under the City's jurisdiction and has not been accepted by the City for maintenance. The barricade is on private property, he said. If it is removed, it will have to be done by the property owner or with his permission. He also checked with the N.C. Department of Transportation Engineer Gerald England, who said that the State would not give access to Memorial Drive unless the property owner makes the request.

Your next step, it seems, would be to appeal to the property owner.

WHO WAS MD TREASURER?
I've called everyone who would possibly know—Who was the treasurer of last year's Muscular Dystrophy Drive? I have a check that did not clear, so I need to get in touch with the organization. D.L.

Hotline got the answer for you from the City Manager's Office, where a file of each organization soliciting in Greenville is kept. Nancy Hall was the treasurer of the MD Drive last year. You are sending her a check to cover some small change you as a volunteer collected for the Drive, she reports. "How's that for honesty," she commented.

Phuoc Binh Still Holding

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese defenders of Phuoc Binh withstood a heavy North Vietnamese mortar barrage and battled tanks advancing to the heart of the isolated provincial capital today in the fifth day of heavy fighting.

In Cambodia, government troops reportedly broke through an insurgent blockade to relieve a 400-man force trapped on the east bank of the Mekong River two miles from Phnom Penh.

Rebel forces fired a predawn rocket barrage at the Phnom Penh airport and continued to attack the estimated 1,000 government troops guarding the western approach to the city in the sixth day of what is believed to be the rebels' dry-season offensive against the capital.

Communist forces shelled the western edge of Saigon today in the closest rocket attack to the South Vietnamese capital since before the signing of the cease-fire agreement nearly two years ago.

The Viet Cong fired a dozen 100-pound rockets shortly after midnight Sunday at the Phu Lam international communications center two miles west of the city limits, the South Vietnamese military command reported.

Half of the rockets landed in a village, killing a family of four, wounding eight others and destroying more than 20 homes. The rest of the rockets landed in rice paddies and did no damage.

In Cambodia, military officials reported that Khmer Rouge insurgents fired 43 rockets at the Phnom Penh airport three miles west of the city before dawn. Officials said the rockets landed in a grassy field around the runway.

Guess Who'll Probably Pay For Gas Shortage?

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Consumers may end up paying for the natural gas shortage that threatens many North Carolina industries as factories turn to more expensive fuels for use in manufacturing.

Sharp curtailment of natural gas supplies to North Carolina by Transcontinental Pipeline Corp. has forced the state's gas companies to cut off service to their industrial customers with interruptible contracts.

The cutbacks have forced industries to choose between shutting down or switching to more expensive alternate fuels. State officials have estimated that as many as 46,000 North Carolinians would be thrown out of work if factories dependent on natural gas were closed.

The alternative of using more plentiful, but more expensive sources of energy, such as fuel oil and propane, will mean higher production costs, which will likely be passed on to the consumer.

Interruptible natural gas customers are those that pay a lower rate for gas with the understanding that their supply can be cut off when necessary to serve customers with firm contracts. Many such customers in North Carolina had experienced brief cutbacks before, but curtailments announced by Transco last month were great enough to also affect some industries with firm contracts.

Items from food to construction supplies are likely to increase in cost as a result.

A spokesman for American Bakeries said his company has shifted from natural gas to oil for its boilers. He said using oil costs about three times as much as natural gas.

"With other costs going up, we can't absorb this forever," he said. "If the gas shortage continues and rates go up, we will have to charge more for our product."

Dennie Andrews, plant manager for Florida Steel's Mecklenburg County plant, said heating costs had gone up 80 per cent since the company switched from natural gas to oil.

W.E. Holland, vice president of Kendrick Brick Co., said the switch from natural gas to fuel oil sharply increases production costs.

"We use natural gas to fire our brick kilns," he said. "We have been off since Nov. 15 and are using fuel oil to fire now. It just about triples the cost of firing bricks."

Holland said firing 1,000 bricks with natural gas costs his company about $5.50 to $7, depending on the type of brick. Firing 1,000 bricks with fuel oil costs between $15 and $17, he said.

Holland said the extra fuel cost would add about $200 to the cost of manufacturing bricks for a three-bedroom house.

North Carolina officials met with Transco on Friday to discuss the pipeline company's cutbacks. Officials of the firm blamed production problems at the company's Texas facilities for some of the shortages.

State energy chief Fowler Martin said the natural gas cutbacks meant that "31 plants statewide are either shutting down or will have to shut down soon" unless more gas or an alternate fuel, such as oil or propane, can be found.

Officials Fear 'More Than Ten' People Killed In Bridge Mishap

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — Officials believe at least 10 people were killed when a British ore freighter rammed the Tasman bridge Sunday night and brought down a 240-foot section of the span that took the 11,200-ton ship to the bottom.

The bodies of five of the ship's 42 crewmen were recovered, and two other crewmen were missing. But police said they believed two and possibly three cars plunged from the bridge into the Derwent River 150 feet below. They had no idea how many persons were in the cars.

The ship, the Lake Illawarra, stayed afloat for about 10 minutes, and the other 35 crewmen got off alive. Three were hospitalized. The survivors included the ship's captain and the chief engineer.

The four-lane, mile-long bridge connected the business district of Hobart, on the west bank of the river, to residential areas on the east side. The city is the capital and largest city of Tasmania, the Australian island state 150 miles south of the mainland.

The accident occurred about 9 p.m. during a light rain, officials said.

"The ship steered to the left of the navigation span and hit the bridge on the third pylon from the eastern shore," said Maurice Allan, who saw the accident from his home.

The ship went straight down after the bridge collapsed on top of it after wavering for about 60 seconds.

Allan's son, Gordon, 20, said he heard "a big bang and saw a car heading into town swerve across the bridge. It hit an on-coming car and both fell into the river."

One driver, Murray Ling, said he stopped his car three feet from the brink as the road disappeared in front of him.

"I got out and started waving, but another car came fast and went straight through into space," he said.

He said an elderly woman driver rammed into the back of his car and "knocked it over the brink."

It was the second worst bridge disaster in Australian history. Thirty-three workers were killed when the Westgate Bridge in Melbourne collapsed in October 1970 before it was completed.

Two-Year-Old Shot In Chase

KERNERSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A 2-year-old boy was shot in the head Sunday during a car chase after relatives argued over his custody, police report.

The boy, Rommie Knight Jr., is in Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem after surgery.

Deputies said he was shot once with a rifle near Kernersville between Winston-Salem and Greensboro. The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office says three persons persons from Maryland have been arrested and charged with assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill, and with discharging firearms into an occupied vehicle.

Sgt. R.N. Barker of the sheriff's department gives the following account: Twenty-four-year-old Rommie Knight Sr., the boy's father; David Knight, 18, the father's brother, and the boy himself were at the Magic Market convenience store. Also at the store were 24-year-old Calvin Lee Love and his 21-year-old wife, Donna, of Laurel, Md., and Gerald Burton, 19, of Riverdale, Md.

Mrs. Love and Burton are the sister and brother of Knight's estranged wife.

There was an argument about the custody of the child. Knight left the store with his brother and the child. Knight noticed another car following him. Somebody in the other car began shooting. Knight turned off a highway onto a secondary road. The other car rammed him, and more shots were fired. One of the shots hit the child.

The people in the other car sped away. A passing driver took Knight and his son to the hospital. Knight was not hit; he accompanied his son.

The other car was found unoccupied in Winston-Salem. Love, his wife and Burton were arrested and charged. They are placed under bond of $10,000 each.

Claim Brezhnev Is Suffering From Leukemia

CHICAGO (AP) — Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev is suffering from leukemia, and his recent cancellation of a trip to Egypt indicates the "sad necessity to contend with the progressive ravages" of the disease, the Chicago Sun Times has reported.

Columnist Charles Bartlett said Sunday his information that Brezhnev has the disease was confirmed. His column did not indicate confirmation by Soviet authorities or how seriously ill Brezhnev is.

On Friday, there were unconfirmed rumors in Moscow's foreign colony that Brezhnev is ill. Soviet officials would not talk.

In Saturday's article, Bartlett said Soviet spokesmen have attributed Brezhnev's recent absences from the scene "to the flu because the knowledge that he suffers from a far more relentless affliction has been closely held."

Arab World Is Angered

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Arab world has reacted angrily to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's statement that the United States would intervene militarily against Middle East oil producers if they threaten "strangulation of the industrialized world."

His comments, published by Business Week magazine, prompted a storm of editorial and government protests in Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Lebanon, Libya and Iraq over the weekend.

A pro-Palestinian Beirut newspaper, Al Moharrer, published a cartoon showing Kissinger in a Nazi uniform decorated with the Star of David receiving congratulations from President Ford.

"America puts world on powder barrel," said a headline in the paper.

Libyan Premier Abdel-Salam Jalloud declared: "We are not afraid and we will fight for freedom."

A member of the Kuwait cabinet, Abdel Aziz Hussein, told Egypt's official Middle East News Agency: "American organs have been making such threats frequently, so it is now established in people's minds that their purpose is to check the freedom of oil producers to set a just price for their oil."

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Kissinger's threats were evidence of a U.S.-Israeli conspiracy to attack the Arabs "in the same way Israel joined France and Britain in attacking Egypt after nationalization of the Suez Canal in 1956."

The paper urged the Arab states to "lay down a new strategy immediately at the economic and military levels so they may face the possibility of U.S. action against Arab oil fields."

In Jiddah, Saudi Arabia, the newspaper Al Nadwah advised Washington to "stop making threats and stop blaming the oil producers for the economic crisis in the world." It urged all oil-exporting countries to ask the United States to lower the prices of its commodities.

The Iraqi newspaper Al Jumhouria also said that the United States erroneously "tries to give the impression there is a link between oil prices and the crisis now faced by the capitalist world."

President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria said American military action against any Middle East oil nation would lead to the destruction of the oil fields. He accused Washington of resorting to psychological warfare and warned that the United States "will need Arab oil and gas for a long time yet."

In other Middle East developments: Egyptian authorities and police sources said 120 persons, including 30 members of the outlawed Communist party, have been arrested for investigating antigovernment disturbances in Cairo last week.

The Shah of Iran and Empress Farah flew from Tehran to Jordan for a three-day visit with King Hussein and his wife. The two monarchs were expected to discuss the possibility of Jordanian mediation between Iran and Iraq, whose forces have clashed repeatedly along their border. The Shah will also visit Egypt and then go on to Austria for a medical checkup and to St. Moritz for some skiing.

N.C. Democrats Told Must Prepare For '76

RALEIGH (AP) — U.S. Sen. elect Robert Morgan says "all is not well" in the North Carolina Democratic Party and "we need to prepare now" for the elections in 1976.

Morgan told the state Democratic Executive Committee Saturday that if the national economic situation improves in 1976, President Ford "could be a popular candidate."

He proposed that the executive committee and the state Democratic chairman direct the campaign of the party's nominees in 1976.

"I believe that once the nominees have been chosen the chairman and executive committee ought to run the campaign and handle the finances, coordinating their efforts," Morgan said. This should extend to posters and billboards, he added.

"I believe the Democrats would contribute more if this were done," Morgan stated.

James R. Sugg was reelected party chairman without opposition. Others elected were Dr. Alfred Webb of Greensboro, first vice chairman; Judy Hipp of Haywood County, second vice chairman; Bobby Lee Combs of Catawba County, third vice chairman, and Mrs. Johnnie Setzer of Catawba County, secretary. Furman K. Higgs of Lumberton was appointed treasurer by Sugg.

In his remarks, Morgan said there was some dissension in the Democratic ranks last year. He added, "I believe the press and public will get tired of us talking unity in the party if there is not unity in the party."

Morgan spelled out several proposals for the party, including a vigorous registration and get-out-the-vote campaign. He said it is important that the party have a research and public relations staff in the state headquarters.

Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt told the committee members, "The people expect us to do more than just criticize Republican failures. The people will measure us on how we lead in the General Assembly."

"They will expect us to do like they would at home — tighten our belt and cut out waste."

Westmoreland Resting Well

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, retired Army chief of staff, is reported resting comfortably while recovering from a mild heart attack.

Westmoreland, who commanded U.S. forces in Vietnam, entered Eisenhower Medical Center Friday with a diagnosis of a mild heart attack.

Westmoreland, 60, will be kept in the coronary care unit another four or five days and there will be no further medical bulletins barring a "significant change in his condition," a spokesman said Sunday.

Agnew Eyes Coal Mines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A business associate of Spiro T. Agnew says the former vice president and he are in the process of acquiring, or are considering acquiring, 16 coal mines, the Washington Post reports.

The newspaper Sunday quoted Walter J. Dilbeck Jr. as saying foreign money was being used to make the coal deals, but "not from the Mideast."

The story also quoted Lester Burns, an attorney who represents Dilbeck and Agnew, as saying he understood that in other deals and negotiations, the two were relying for financing on "Far East, Middle East and Near East oil monies and Japanese industrialists."

Dilbeck was quoted as saying Agnew and he have bought one mine in Oklahoma, plan to close a deal on another in Kentucky, and are considering buying 14 others.

The story was from Henderson, Ky.

Homes Coordinate With Fashions Reader Thanks Abby For Printing Letter

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A spiral staircase that can be assembled in one day, gingham window blinds with narrow slats, modular sisal carpet squares, coordinated window walls that resemble knits and a ceiling system of ready-to-hang three-foot panels that simulate stained glass. These are among the newer ideas singled out in the annual product design awards program of the Resources Council, the Association of interior furnishings manufacturers that services all segments of the industry.

Winning designs for walls, floors, carpets and draperies seemed to coordinate with wardrobe fashions — the bulky sweater look and knits, for example.

Jack Lenor Larsen's wall-surfacing in gargantuan, waffle-weave of heavy, natural-colored wool yarns is "sufficiently thick and dense to create air pockets to drink up noise and modulate sound" emphasizes the designer. The 102-inch width is applied horizontally without seams and can be removed for immersion cleaning, or transferred to another location. As a drapery it is touted as providing insulation against heat or cold, sound and light.

An extra heavy filler yarn dominates the surface of a twill weave creating an unusual heavy texture for an upholstery yarn of wool and cotton in white, greige, brown and black. It won the contemporary fabrics award for designer Suzanne Huguenin.

Another rugged look is the inch-thick sisal flooring that resembles coarse linen. The almost 20-inch tiles may be installed without adhesive. As for the knits designed by Joseph Grusczak, a collection of printed fabrics is correlated with vinyl wallcoverings that are printed and coordinated with fabrics intended to resemble knitted texture. The seven patterns are styled in a way that makes them useful individually on walls, for upholstery, ceiling, draperies or table cover.

There are tributes to nature, too, in this collection of award-winning designs. A wall mural, an original air-brush in blue and magenta by David Nordahl, is a series of realistic-looking clouds floating in a sky background.

And there is emphasis on hand design, and patterns that resemble hand design. A multicolor "Sampler" by Linda Sparrow is a traditional pattern with birds, alphabet and trees which simulates hand needlework. Batiks won honors with a handmade design of flowers and leaves and a bedspread by Ena de Silva, a dramatic large design batik inspired by flowering blossoms of the Far East.

An Art Deco wallpaper by Francois Benjamin available with matching fabric is on the "now" beat as well as a country plaid custom vinyl floor tile available in 60 colors designed by Herbert Bright. There is a sleek look to the contemporary, slim-back chair of William Sklaroff with its steel tubing that encircles arm, fully-upholstered back and seat in a "look, no fastenings showing" design.

As for the Oriental influence, it is there, too, in a handsome, light, airy rattan and reed day-bed that is compatible with English, French or contemporary furnishings. The spiral, knock-down, unfinished staircase is a solid core laminate with thick treads that can be painted, varnished and lacquered. It, too, reflects the consumer's desire for good taste, function, easy-care and good looks in the home.

Two 18-ounce jars New England style baked beans

1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 medium onion

2 slices bacon
Remove pork from beans and use in some other dish or discard.

Turn beans into a shallow 1-to 1 1/2-quart baking dish; gently stir in the cream. Peel onion-half and slice fairly thin; separate into half-rings; arrange over beans. Dice bacon and sprinkle over onion. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until bacon is cooked and top is slightly crusty — about 40 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

DEAR ABBY: Nine years ago, when I was 13, I was reading your column aloud to my mother when I came across a letter from a mother who had a daughter my age. The mother said that to clear her conscience she told her daughter that the man she thought was her father was not her real father—someone else was. The daughter then told her mother that she hated her and would never forgive her!

I then said, "What a foolish girl. It must have taken great courage for that mother to have told her daughter the truth. She didn't have to."

While I was talking, my mother had her back turned toward me, and when I finished, she turned around, and there were big tears in her eyes. Then she said, "Do you really mean that if I were to tell you something like that you wouldn't hate me?"

I replied, "How could I hate you for being human?" Then she told me that I had been conceived when she was 40 and a widow, and that my real father had then been 24. (He was a friend of my older brother.) He wanted to marry her, but she was ashamed of being in love with a man young enough to be her own son, so she refused. Soon after, she married the wonderful man I've always thought was my real father.

I am 22 now, and want to thank you for printing that letter. Otherwise I never would have known.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would print this for all the women who write to complain about the size of their breasts—either too small or too large. I would gladly change places with any of them.

I had one breast removed at the age of 38, when my children were three and seven years old. Twelve years later, I had a second breast removed.

Fourteen months ago I was told that I had inoperable cancer of the abdomen. With chemotherapy, prayers and the love and support of my family and friends I am still able to enjoy life.

Women with two breasts—regardless of their size—should thank God every day for them. And women with only one breast should thank God for that one. I thank God for every day that I'm alive (at the ripe old age of 52) to be with my family and friends. I am reminded of an old proverb that goes something like this: "I wept because I had no shoes, until I met a man who had no feet."

I can still find people who are worse off than I am. Sign me...

DEAR THANKFUL: It's letters like yours that will give many people cause to pause. God love you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our late 20s and have been married for five years. We are both college-educated and have fine jobs, a good home and a beautiful child. On the surface our marriage seems perfect. And it is, except for one thing. Our sex life.

About two years ago my husband began losing interest in sex. I tried everything I could think of—frank discussions, tears, attempts at "new variations" recommended in the "how to" books. Nothing worked.

Finally, I suggested we seek professional help. My husband flatly refused to see either a doctor or a marriage counselor.

Designers have not discarded the ankle-length formal for spring, although it takes a good pair of legs to wear this length. Otherwise, a woman had better go along with floor length.

The total absence of a physical relationship has left me frustrated. My husband claims he "loves" me, and that his coming home right after work, buying the food, etc., rather than drinking and gambling, is proof of his love. He says, "hugs, kisses and sex" do not prove love.

He is a good man, and an excellent father. But I refuse at 27 to forego an active sex life. In the past year I've even had erotic dreams about some of the 18-year-old boys in my classes. Please help me.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: If your husband flatly refuses to get professional help (which is the only solution to your problem), you have two choices. (1) Accept things as they are, or (2) make other living arrangements. Personally, I think he's being unfair to you, and unless he changes his mind, I see an unhappy ending to this otherwise perfect marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I am too ashamed to ask a doctor this question, so I'm turning to you. Does sex make a person hungry? It appears to be true in my case.

I am 27, and all my life I've been fighting weight, so I am constantly counting calories.

My husband travels during the week. He comes home on Thursday night and leaves again on Sunday night.

All during the week when he's away I have no trouble staying away from fattening foods, but when he comes home and we resume marital relations I go crazy eating all the things I shouldn't eat. (I seem to crave sweets.)

After he left last Sunday I ate half a chocolate cake and a whole quart of ice cream all by myself! (I could not admit this to anybody else.)

The only thing I can figure out is that sex increases my appetite. Is it only a coincidence, or is it a fact?

NAMELESS IN N.Y.

DEAR NAMELESS: My medical experts tell me that any kind of physical exercise stimulates the appetite, but there is no hard evidence that sex leads to chocolate cake.

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent was not crazy. There was an article in the newspaper stating that a dog and cat had been mated, and the result was a "dat."

In 1970, a London pet shop owner, Roy Tutt, claimed that he had accomplished that which zoologists declared was impossible. He bred "dats" from a black cat and a Scottish terrier. Tutt said they had heads like dogs, but they had fur, whiskers and claws like cats. And he even sent along some "pictures" of the newborn "dats."

Later he was forced to admit that it was all a hoax. I am a proofreader at the Daily News in Port Angeles, Washington, and am herewith enclosing the article and picture.

DONNA GREIER

DEAR DONNA: Thanks. Your letter was the first I received to document the item. Subsequently, however, it rained cats, dogs and "dats."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Retired Grocer Contributes $1,000 To Pay On Nat'l Debt

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A retired grocer who suffers from muscular dystrophy felt the United States government needed help paying off the national debt, so he mailed in a $1,000 contribution.

G.M. Brock of Fayetteville said he believes the $485.364 billion national debt has added to the country's economic woes, so he decided to do what he could.

"I'm not a crackpot," he said, "I just wanted to do something for my country."

"The economy's in bad shape, that's the way I feel about it, and it should be obvious that when the government owes nearly $500 billion and isn't making any progress toward paying it off, that's a primary cause of inflation," he said.

Brock lives on Social Security, savings and profits from a few rental properties. He sent the check to the Charlotte Observer with a letter explaining that he hoped the public would become concerned about the debt and pressure the government to limit spending.

He said he became concerned about the debt several years ago and began writing letters to government officials, but they did not take his concern seriously.

Brock said he received a letter from the Treasury Department last November thanking him for "very sensible suggestions," but adding that the current debt does not pose "any great threat."

"That's how they are," Brock said. "They just want to sweep it under the rug and ignore your basic point. But they would think twice about it if they got about 100 million letters like the ones I've sent.

"I think if more people realized the problem, they'd do something about it. If everybody did the kind of thing I've done, that would at least help a little."

Brock is not the only American worried enough about the debt to chip in to whittle it down. James Spahr of the Bureau of Financial Operations, said such donations, though rare, are not without precedent. He said individuals donated $417,933.25 toward the debt last year in contributions ranging from $1.97 to $286,000.

Spahr said his office also receives letters from citizens who propose a nationwide campaign to collect money to pay off the debt. "But we can't get involved in such a campaign because that would be tantamount to saying the citizens have an obligation to contribute," he said.

Brock said he realized his $1,000 check would not make much of a dent in the national debt, but said the donation was a matter of principle.

Sees Future Cancer Hunt

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—A cancer researcher says smokers seem reluctant to give up cigarettes. Therefore adds Dr. W.D. Shingleton, director of Duke University's Comprehensive Cancer Center, "The direction we're now going is to identify what the carcinogenic (cancer-causing) substance is, and try to reduce that substance to make cigarettes safer."

Dr. Shingleton noted in an interview Saturday that the percentage of teen-aged boys and girls who smoke has increased in recent years. He said that since antismoking campaigns have failed, he favored legislation to establish permissible levels of tar in cigarettes, as has been done in Canada.

The cigarette companies, which sponsor cancer research, maintain that evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer is incomplete. They contend that environmental factors and body chemistry may play a more significant role than smoking.

"It may well be that it's not all in the cigarettes," Dr. Shingleton said. "Whether the patient develops cancer or not may lie in the patient's physical system, in the ability of his body to handle the toxic substance."

It may be possible some day to identify persons whose body chemistry would make them vulnerable to cancer if they smoked, he said.

Of course, Sam Ervin is not a man who enjoys being publicly venerated.

"At least you would know where you stood," Tupperware agreed.

"What would happen if you said to your kids, 'Look, it's no fault of mine that the university is shirking its responsibility by sending you home for such a long time. I have no funds set aside for this, and therefore whatever you do you're on your own.'"

"But," said Tupperware in horror, "that means they'd be home all the time!"

Miami Beach convention and is now running against him for mayor in the Democratic primary. Singer last week mailed Garth a $20,000 check as the first installment for services that undoubtedly will include abrasive anti-Daley commercials.

Would Jackson hiring Garth lose the present strong possibility of a Daley endorsement? The guesses by Daley-watchers, friends and enemies, are mixed. But the consensus is that it would depend on just how tough the TV commercials prepared for Singer by Garth turn out to be.

Several Daley lieutenants feel Jackson ought to privately approach the mayor on his next visit to Chicago, lay out the facts and assess his reaction—all before hiring Garth. That recalls Sen. Adlai Stevenson III informing Daley that he was hiring Dan Walker as manager of his first Senate campaign in 1970 because of Walker's executive talents. Daley replied with a chilling question: out of 11 million people in Illinois, is Walker the only one man with executive talents?

That suggests Jackson might just as well forget about Garth and concentrate on wooing Daley. The mayor, an overwhelming favorite for reelection, probably will control most of the Illinois delegation at the next convention. His reputation and influence, enhanced by his moderation and flexibility at the Kansas City convention last month, extend well beyond Illinois.

Yet even the mighty Daley will do Jackson no good whatever if the Senator cannot improve his bumbling campaign performance of 1972 and win some primary elections. For Jackson, in the video-centered world of 1976, a hired media expert without a delegate to his name could prove far more important than the last Democratic leader with a sizable bag of delegates under his personal control.

Augment Pension With Their Regular Salary

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Seven county officials in California have found a way to beat the soaring cost of living. They collect a salary and a pension for the same government job.

By retiring from office for only a few days, the seven — including five sheriffs — have taken advantage of a loophole in state law. They are now eligible for two checks a month. All seven left office Dec. 31 after up to 32 years service. They begin new elected terms in the same offices today and will begin to receive both pension and salary checks.

Monterey County Sheriff W.A. Davenport was the first official to declare this year he would take advantage of the loophole. He will get a $1,500-a-month pension along with his $2,400-a-month salary.

"I think morally and honestly I am right," said the 55-year-old sheriff of his annual salary and benefits totaling $46,800. "I know that I am right legally."

Officials at the Public Employees Retirement System, the state agency that runs the county pension programs, agreed that the officials' actions are legal — if not exactly what the legislature intended.

One spokesman for the system said that use of the legal provision is not uncommon, since any local elected official over the retirement age — which varies from 50 to 55 — is eligible.

The short-term retirements have drawn adverse reaction from two legislators who have introduced bills to close the loophole.

And Gov. Ronald Reagan, who leaves the state's top office today to draw a little more than $19,000-a-year in pension, voiced his own doubts.

"I don't think anybody ever intended that someone should be able to have pension and salary from the same governmental body," he told his last news conference Friday. "I think that is a loophole that somebody ought to take a hard look at."

News stories about Davenport's retirement apparently sparked a spate of similar moves by others.

Auxiliary Will Offer Boating Safety Course

The Greenville Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will offer its third annual 12-hour course in boating safety and seamanship at Pitt Technical Institute.

The class, beginning Wednesday, will meet each Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Subjects to be covered include maneuvering, knots, aides to navigation, charts and compass, rules of the road, legal requirements, weather, radio and telephone, marine engines and safe sailboat and motorboat operations.

A certificate of participation will be presented to those who successfully complete the course.

For further information, interested persons may call Lloyd Huggins, public education officer, 756-3130 or 746-6173.

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four years and $1.5 billion after President Ford signed the deep water port act, the sea's biggest ships will loom among Gulf of Mexico shrimp boats like elephants among mice.

They are the VLCCs, short for Very Large Crude Carriers — huge and heavy craft hailed by oil companies as a great economic advance, eyed by environmentalists as potential catastrophes.

A VLCC may carry 2.5 million barrels of crude oil. The fact that they are equipped with every safety device hasn't kept some from hitting rocks or other ships, leaving massive spills.

Their "ports" will be three pumping stations on stilts, standing 19 to 30 miles out in the Gulf, to funnel millions of barrels of crude into pipelines for refineries as far north as Detroit.

One pumping station would be 30 miles south of the beach at the Mississippi-Alabama state line, another 19 miles off Louisiana's marshy shore, a third 30 miles south of Freeport, Tex.

The expensive — but very profitable — deep-draft ports are necessary for VLCC traffic because no harbor on the Atlantic or the Gulf is deep enough for these ships. Despite their cost, the Maritime Administration said such ports could pay for themselves quickly, based on estimates that imports may rise to 15 million barrels a day by 1985.

That's only two million barrels less than the total consumed daily in the U.S. now and imports make up only about a third of the total.

As a rough example of the money involved, say it costs $13 a ton to ship oil in a tanker of 47,000 dead weight ton (d.w.t.) size. A small VLCC of 100,000 d.w.t. could handle the oil at $8.70 a ton, a 250,000 d.w.t. tanker at $5.70 a ton, a 500,000 d.w.t. tanker at $5.15 a ton.

A ton is roughly 7½ barrels of crude.

But VLCCs need deep water, up to 100 feet, to avoid dragging bottom; Atlantic-Gulf harbors are limited to 45 feet.

Environmental forces blocked offshore oil ports along the Atlantic coast. Along the Gulf's shallow continental shelf the cheapest way to reach water 100 feet deep is to go miles off shore.

Special port facilities for VLCCs were authorized in a bill passed by Congress Dec. 17 and sent to President Ford for his signature.

The bill empowers the Transportation Department to license such ports and the Coast Guard to regulate them. Operators will be liable for up to $50 million in case of environmental damage.

As a result of Ford signing the bill, the Coast Guard now will set up rules and regulations for handling permit applications, said a spokesman for LOOP, Inc., a consortium of oil companies that persuaded the state to let it build the port. "We should have a permit in hand at the beginning of 1976, and be in operation by early '79," the spokesman added.

The Texas oil port, to cost about $500 million, would follow about the same timetable.

A New Orleans company named SPPLITT, Inc., expects to get its $168 million "Ameraport" off the Mississippi-Alabama coast into operation in 1978, a few months before the others.

SPPLITT is Southern Pacific Pipe Lines Inc., and International Tank Terminals. It would operate its port as a public utility under state rate regulations.

LOOP's $925 million superport would be in water 110 feet deep due south of Cheniere Caminada, a patch of dry ground along a swampy coast where Jean Lafitte's pirates once ruled.

VLCCs would moor at six unloading buoys, each about the size of a three-bedroom house. The pumping station would be on one of the two fixed platforms, standing atop stilts. The other would bear the computers, weather station, quarters for a crew of 20.

LOOP's pipeline, laid beneath the sea bottom, would come ashore near a village called Port Fourchon, where a 48-million barrel tank storage farm would be erected on what is now a swamp.

From the tank farm, the pipeline extends 78 miles north to connect with Capline, a major pipeline feeding oil into the Middle West.

Though new to the United States, there are 176 such oil ports of various size milking VLCCs in other parts of the world.

Conservationists Pool Their Efforts To Save New River

RALEIGH (AP) — About 200 conservationists from a three-state area are pooling their efforts to try to halt the construction of a $430 million power project on the New River in North Carolina and Virginia.

The group, called the Committee for the New River, laid their organizational plans in Raleigh Saturday. Members attended from North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., long time opponent of the power project, told the group "a three-pronged effort through the courts, state legislatures and Congress will save the New River."

The power project is planned by the Appalachian Power Co. of Roanoke, Va. It would flood considerable land in Ashe and Alleghany counties in North Carolina.

Hechler said the project was a national issue, affecting more than three states. He added, "Speaker of the House Carl Albert told me there was more heat and pressure on this issue than on the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller."

"Let's tell the power company in no uncertain terms — keep your cotton-pickin' hands off our river," Hechler said.

The group heard pledges of support from North Carolina's Congressional delegation and state Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten.

James E. Harrington, state secretary of natural and economic resources, said North Carolina has developed its own management plan to protect the New River. It will be submitted to the U.S. Department of the Interior for approval.

If the plan is accepted, Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton could designate the river for inclusion in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act under a provision that the state bear the cost of administering the river.

No congressional action is needed for such a designation, Harrington said. He added hearings will be held in the next two months in Ashe and Alleghany counties to explain the program to residents.

Mutilated And Killed

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Detectives reported Sunday they had no leads in an apparent torture murder of a young Winston-Salem woman.

Constance Lenora Davis, 17, was found beaten to death Friday in a vacant house not far from her home, police reported. The Forsyth County medical examiner said she died of hemorrhaging from a ruptured liver.

Police said the woman's body was partially nude and that her hair had been burned off. They said it appeared that a fire had been started on the woman's stomach and that she had a cut over her left eye. The medical examiner said it could not be determined if she had been mutilated before or after she was killed.

Police said the house where Miss Davis was found was in a block of several vacant buildings. She was discovered by the owner, who told police he went to the house to post "no trespassing" signs.

Closing 2 In N. Carolina

By The Associated Press
Executives of Grant City stores in Concord and Gastonia, N.C., have been told that the stores will be closed in April.

The financially ailing W.T. Grant Co. has announced plans to close 66 unprofitable stores by July.

The retail chain had 1,187 stores in operation at the end of 1974, down from 1,238 a year earlier.

From a peak earning year of $41.8 million in 1969, profits fell to $8.4 million in 1973. Common stock has fallen from a high of more than $70 a share to $2.

The Concord store employs about 66 persons and the Gastonia store about 80. The company will try to find jobs for them in other Grant stores.

Grant stores apparently not slated to close are in Albemarle, Hickory and two in Charlotte. There was no mention of any stores in South Carolina that would close.

Auto-Care And Tune-Up Class

Pitt Technical Institute is offering a course in auto care and tune-up beginning Wednesday in room 113.

The class will meet each Wednesday night from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Course content will include familiarization for the adult with the automobile and instruction of basic tune-up and repairs. There is a $2 registration fee and each individual is expected to furnish their own supplies.

For further information, interested persons may call or visit Pitt Tech., 756-3130, ext. 38.

Hospital Gifts Committee Finding Good Response

By MARK BLALOCK
Pitt Memorial Hospital
Torch Writer

The new Pitt County Memorial Hospital will soon be a reality. Construction began February 15, and the projected completion date is set for late 1975 or early 1976. Construction costs specified in the contracts signed on February 14, totaled $15,912,101. Bids submitted for equipping the new hospital were higher than estimated and it was apparent that approximately $1 million in additional funds would be needed to equip the new hospital. The Hospital Board of Trustees and the Pitt County Board of County Commissioners decided that memorial gifts would be used to obtain the needed funds.

The Hospital Board of Trustees appointed the New Pitt County Memorial Hospital (PCMH) Gifts Committee. The committee was charged with the responsibility of raising during the next four years, the approximately $1 million needed to equip the additional rooms and replace equipment which cannot be transferred from the old hospital.

The present hospital has 205 beds while the new hospital will have 370 beds, including a 55-bed rehabilitation center and a 14-bed psychiatric ward. Additional room furnishings and equipment will be required above and beyond that which will be transferred from the old hospital. Recognition for contributions to the Gifts Committee will be identified by plaques which can be attached to doors, entrances, and lobbies as appropriate.

The four executive members of the PCMH Gifts Committee; G. Harry Leslie, chairman, Dr. Joe W. Pou, vice chairman, William C. Glidewell, treasurer, and Mrs. David O. (Betty) Speir, secretary, met on February 27, to discuss the goals and objectives of the Gifts Committee and to schedule a meeting for the full committee membership.

The members of the New Pitt County Memorial Hospital Gifts Committee are: John C. (Jack) Bircher, Fieldcrest Mills, Joe O. Clark, East Carolina University, William C. Glidewell, The Bank of Winterville, L. James Graham, Burroughs-Wellcome Company, Leroy James, Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service, Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of East Carolina University, G. Harry Leslie, Burroughs-Wellcome Company, Gratz Norcott, Norcott Funeral Home, Ayden, Dr. Joe W. Pou, Wachovia Bank, Mrs. David O. (Betty) Speir, Pitt County Schools, Mrs. J. B. Spillman, N.C. Governors Coordinating Council on Aging, Dr. G. Earl Trevathan, M.D., and W. H. (Bill) Watson, Speight, Watson, and Brewer Attorneys.

Monthly planning meetings were held from March through September of 1974 during which all areas of funds available were discussed and sub-committees and individuals were appointed to investigate each. A goal of $1 million dollars was adopted by the Gifts Committee to be raised over a four-year taxable period.

The Fund-raising Campaign of the PCMH Gifts

Committee was initiated by a kick-off dinner at the Greenville Golf and Country Club on September 9. Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, who is from eastern N.C. and has strongly supported the ECU School of Medicine, was the featured speaker. 207 persons, doctors and dentists in Pitt County, as well as the plant managers of the leading industries and community leaders were invited.

According to G. Harry Leslie, committee chairman, the committee's first step was to contact the medical community and explore the fund raising potential of this dedicated professional group.

The committee asked if the medical community would submit a goal the medical community could possible achieve. A group of doctors speaking for the medical community requested that the Gifts Committee submit a goal to the county doctors. A challenge goal of $300,000 was submitted to the 63 active and 20 courtesy staff of Pitt Memorial doctors.

"The response of the medical community has been wonderful. They have been most generous," Leslie said.

The Gifts Committee is also contacting area industries. "We have to plant the seed, present our case, and hope those capable of contributing are responsive," Leslie said.

Commitments have been made by Burroughs-Wellcome for $30,000, by NCNB for $12,000, by Pepsi Cola for $10,000 and by Eaton Corporation for $15,000.

Burroughs-Wellcome has suggested that their donation be used to construct a six-bed Hemodialysis unit with an entrance separate from the main hospital entrance so patients using the unit will not have to enter and leave through the hospital.

Other potential sources of funds being explored by the PCMH Gifts Committee are all area merchants and all surrounding communities in Pitt County. Dr. Joe Pou is head of the committee in charge of contacting the local merchants. Chairmen for the committees to be established in the surrounding communities are being selected.

According to Leslie the PCMH Gifts Committee is structured similar to the United Fund organization with one committee heading various subordinate committees, but all committed to a single purpose.

"A $1 million goal to be reached in four years is a tall order, but I am pleased to accept this as a challenge and I am grateful for the good will and the response of the community at large as far as this is concerned," Leslie said.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES—The Tasman Bridge across the Derwent River at Hobart, on the Australian island state of Tasmania, is shown after it was struck Sunday evening by the freighter Lake Illawarra, causing the collapse of a bridge section on the freighter which sank. At least six persons were killed and searchers were looking for missing motorists and crew members of the freighter. (AP Wirephoto)

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Coast Guard says an analysis of the 30,000 gallons of oil spilled in the harbor here this past weekend probably will pinpoint its origin.

An initial investigation disclosed the spill came from near the Navy's Craney Island fuel depot, but its cause was not determined.

The Coast Guard said Sunday nearly all the 30,000 gallons has been contained or removed from the water.

Lt. David D. Dubois said a southwesterly wind pushed most of the oil into small pocket-like areas on the eastern shore of the Elizabeth River and aided recovery efforts.

"We're lucky the wind kept the oil in toward the piers. If we had had a wind from the east, we would have been in trouble," Lt. Dubois said of the spill, which he called the largest in the Hampton Roads area in at least a year.

He added that the concentration of the oil in small areas enabled teams of workers to remove about 8,000 gallons from the harbor through the use of fibrous materials which absorb oil and suction tubes that pull the oil from the water.

Large plastic flotation devices were used to block another 15,000 gallons into small areas, and Dubois estimated the oil would be removed within the next five days.

He said only 10 per cent of the oil is now floating freely in the harbor, and there is no way to recover that oil.

Dubois said that because of the recovery operations, the spill poses no threat to fish or plant life and has resulted in only minor property damage.

Police Hunt A Purse-Snatcher

Greenville Police are continuing their investigation of an attempted larceny that occurred about 5:50 p.m. Friday in a parking lot near the intersection of Greene Street and Dickinson Avenue.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Mrs. Lena Donaldson of 2121 South Village Dr. reported that someone attempted to take her purse after knocking her to the ground.

According to Cannon, Mrs. Donaldson received minor injuries from the incident, but held onto her pocketbook and the attacker fled without it.

How we get all kinds of people to save money at PNB after we give them the elegant free dinnerware.

Getting people to save with gifts is easy. At Planters we do it all the time. (Right now we're giving away free dinnerware.) But in order to keep them as customers a bank has to offer them something more. And we do that, too.

When you save at Planters National Bank, the first thing we offer you is a choice.

We have five different savings plans for all kinds of savers. For people who always want their money immediately available, we have a Regular Savings account. The interest is the highest allowed by law, 5%, and you can deposit or withdraw anytime you want.

For people who want a little more, there's our Golden Savings. You can add to it anytime you like, but we need 90 days notice on withdrawals.

For the investor, Planters has Certificates of Deposit. Three kinds: 5½% to 6½%. Minimum deposits may vary, so does the maturity. See the chart above for details.

One last thing. While some of our customers are very enthusiastic about the idea of saving money, they just can't bring themselves to do it.

For these people, we have Say-O-Matic, an automatic transfer of funds from a PNB checking account to any PNB savings account.

So, if you're interested in making money on your savings, after we give you all the free gifts and premiums, come to Planters National Bank and take your choice.

We may knock ourselves out to get you, but then we also knock ourselves out to keep you.

Federal law and regulations prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless 3 months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.

Rate	Maturity	PNB Plan
6½%	2½ years	Savings Certificate
6%	1 year	Savings Certificate
5½%	90 days	Savings Certificate
5½%	90 days	Golden Savings*
5%	Withdraw Anytime	Regular Savings

*Golden Savings may be withdrawn during the first 10 days of each calendar quarter if on deposit 90 days.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—The North Carolina FOB dock broiler market was steady today. Supplies were ample and demand was good. Weights were heavy but in a desirable range. The North Carolina FOB dock weighted average price for less than truck lots of sized plant grade broilers to be picked up at dock this week is 39.30 cents per pound. Estimated slaughter today 1,067,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market kept its rally of the past week going today with a broad advance sparked by the Federal Reserve's reduction of its discount rate.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.54 at 639.08. Gainers overpowered losers by about a 9-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was active. After Friday's close, the Fed announced a half-point cut, to 7 1/2 per cent, in the rate it charges on loans to member commercial banks.

The cut in the key rate was widely interpreted as a clear step toward a more stimulative credit policy on the part of the central bank in order to cushion the effects of the recession.

The Dow reached its best level at 11 a.m., when it was up more than 7 points, before some profit-taking appeared in the wake of last week's sharp gains.

Ramada Inns led the active list on the Big Board, down 1/4 at 2 1/4. Most of the activity in the issue came in a huge 604,000-share block trade.

Burroughs tumbled 4 1/4 to 66 1/4. A Wall Street Journal article said several brokerage houses have cooled on the stock's prospects.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .45 to 37.80 in the first hour.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index added .52 to 63.38.

Houston Oil & Minerals, the Amex volume leader, dropped 1/4 to 25.

Seize 2 For Robberies

WASHINGTON—Two local men have been arrested by Pitt and Beaufort County deputies and charged in connection with armed robberies in both counties.

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies arrested Donald Levey Shepard, 18, of Rt. 3, Box 278, and Alston Lee Wallace Jr., 18, of Rt. 3, Box 475, and charged them with the Dec. 22 armed robbery of the Kwik-Pik Market in the Eastern Pines section of Greenville and also with an incident in Washington.

Sheriff Tyson said that the Greenville robbery resulted in the theft of some $56. The night clerk reported that a man wearing a ski mask over his face and armed with a pistol held him up on the night of the 22nd.

Sheppard and Wallace, who are scheduled for a hearing in District Court on Jan. 28, are under $2,000 each on the Pitt charges and $10,000 each on the Beaufort County counts. Both are in jail here.

Deadline For DSA Nominees

Tom Reese of the Greenville Jaycees noted that Wednesday at 12 midnight is the deadline for the submission of nominations for the chapter's Distinguished Service Award.

This year's DSA will be presented on Jan. 23 during the Jaycees' annual DSA and Bosses Night Banquet at the Candlewick Inn on the Stanfordsburg Road.

The local chapter will observe Jaycee Week Jan. 19 through Jan. 24.

PLANTATION PLANS

Bonanza For Iowa Town In Gift Of Financiers

FAYETTE, Iowa (AP) — The town of Fayette, which has fewer than 2,000 residents, has become principal owner of a factory in Illinois, seven shoe stores in California and a bank building in Muskegon, Mich.

The buildings are all part of a multimillion dollar gift to the town by a group of financiers. Fayette Mayor William Drake says no one really knows exactly what benefits the town eventually will receive from the gift.

However, he says that the town's share of the business buildings is currently worth at least $3 million. The town has an assessed valuation of just under $1.8 million.

The catch to the gift is that right now, virtually all the money received from rental on the buildings is going to pay for construction cost, maintenance, taxes and insurance.

But Drake says that eventually there should be a good dividend to Fayette taxpayers.

The gift results from a New York financier's friendship for Upper Iowa University, which is located at Fayette, and the desire he and five of his financial partners had to dispose of a number of buildings constructed in 1963-64.

The Difference Is In The Law

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — There are some distinct differences between mayonnaise and salad dressing, according to Harold Neigh, a consumer marketing specialist at Pennsylvania State University.

Salad dressing contains less oil than mayonnaise, which must by law contain at least 55 per cent oil, he says. And while mayonnaise is stabilized with egg yolk, a cooked starch paste is substituted for part of the egg.

Neigh says salad dressing costs less than mayonnaise because the ingredients are less expensive.

The buildings were built by the New York Securities Co., formed by David Bolger of Hackensack, N.J., and his partners and now disbanded. Bolger is a financial consultant to Upper Iowa University.

The partners apparently took depreciation allowances on the buildings for income tax purposes between the time they were constructed and this year, and started looking for ways to dispose of them.

Bolger said he convinced his partners that "it would be to everyone's interest to donate them to Fayette."

So local councilmen signed papers setting up a trust to receive the gift. The holdings consist of 62 1/2 per cent of the National Lumbermen's Bank building in Muskegon; the National Can Corp. factory building in Rockford, Ill.; buildings WANT TO CONSERVE HOME HEATING OIL? . . . And Save Money?

Look at these figures and decide for yourself if Insulation is the answer!
INSULATION IN HOME	GALS. OF OIL NEEDED PER YEAR	COST TO HEAT HOME (AT 35c PER GAL.)	HEAT LOSS OF HOME BTU'S PER HR.
(A) NONE	1275	$670	125,730
(B) R-19 IN CEILING (4" wood fiber or 6" fiber glass)	1160	$408	76,582
(C) Same as (B) + R-11 in wall (3 1/2" insulation)	810	$325	61,567
(D) SAME AS (C) + R-13 IN FLOOR (3 1/2" insulation)	643	$232	43,549
(E) SAME AS (D) + STORM WINDOWS + DOORS	514	$180	33,781

From the above figures it is apparent that heating costs can be reduced significantly with proper insulation. Savings up to 70 per cent are possible when walls, ceilings and floors are insulated, combined with storm doors and windows.

Patton Says Players Did 'Good Job' After Holidays

By The Associated Press
The effect of basketball layoffs during the Christmas holidays can be gauged by whether you win or lose when you come back, as witness the example of two Southern Conference teams.

"They didn't play as well as they did in the Mercer game, but after a two-week layoff it was a real good job," said Coach Dave Patton after East Carolina's pirates bombed The Citadel's Bulldogs 111-81 Saturday night for a share of the league lead.

"The long layoff hurt us," said Virginia Military Coach Bill Blair after his Keydets, who were idle almost three weeks, were beaten 93-89 at Middle Tennessee in a non-league game.

But the Keydets weren't the only losers outside the league. Furman's two-time defending champion Paladins dropped to 6-4 in a 91-84 setback at Southern California, William and Mary's Indians fell to 7-4 in a 61-55 loss to Old Dominion and Davidson's Wildcats went to 2-7 in a 91-75 drubbing at California-Santa Barbara.

The East Carolina victory was the Pirates' fifth in a row over-all after three season opening defeats and tied the Pirates at 2-0 with William and Mary for first place in the conference race. The defeat dropped The Citadel to 1-2 in league play and 4-2 over-all.

VMI, which has won just once in five starts, takes on host South Alabama tonight in the second game of the Senior Bowl after Texas and Louisiana Tech tangle in the opener.

In tonight's only other action for conference teams, Appalachian State's Mountaineers, 1-7, go to East Tennessee.

"It was a super effort," said Patton of the East Carolina victory, in which the Pirates shot 53.4 per cent from the floor to 38 per cent for The Citadel. "This is what it's going to take to be a tough team in the Southern Conference."

Tom Marsh had 18 points and Larry Hunt and Robert Geter 14 each as the Pirates, who beat Mercer 121-82, went over the 100-point mark in two successive games for the first time in 10 years. Hunt was six of six from the floor, two of two at the foul line and had 12 rebounds, hitting double figures for the fourth game in a row.

Sophomore Rodney McKeever had 22 points and freshman Mike Ange 19 for the Bulldogs.

VMI fell behind Middle Tennessee 57-36 at intermission, then saw a closing rally fall just short, but Blair insisted "we weren't out of shape, just flat. Any time you're away from home and come back from being down 21 points, you've shown a lot of character."

Sleepy Taylor had 22 points and George Sorrell 21 for the winners. Freshman Ron Carter hit 11 of 18 from the floor, scored 25 points and "may have earned a starting spot" for VMI, said Blair.

Furman trailed Southern Cal, now 10-1, by only 36-35 at intermission but fell out of sight when the Trojans went on a 33-18 tear in the first 12 minutes of the second half.

Clint Chapman had 16 of his 22 points and Biff Burrell 12 of his 21 in the second half for Southern Cal. Furman was led by Clyde Mayes with 26, Michael Hall with 20 and Fessor Leonard with 18.

William and Mary, which had a four-game winning streak snapped, didn't get a shot from the foul line until seven minutes were left. Old Dominion, the nation's seventh-ranked College Division team, hit 15 of 22 free throws to run its winning streak to five and record to 7-2.

Tom Street's only basket of the game sent the Monarchs ahead with six minutes left. Gray Eubank had 17 points and Jeff Fuhrmann 15 for Old Dominion, while Ron Satterthwaite and John Lovenhaupt led William and Mary with 19 and 16, respectively.

UC-Santa Barbara out-rebounded Davidson 48-16, swept to a 42-28 halftime lead and coasted in handing the Wildcats their seventh straight defeat. Dave Brown had 21 points and Don Ford 18 for the winners.

To Get Plan For Stadium

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A report will be presented to the directors of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday recommending that the city build a major sports stadium.

A chamber of commerce committee decided after a four-month study that a new stadium was needed.

"I think very definitely there is a need for a major stadium facility in this area and I believe the report will show the feasibility of it," said Richard Thigpen, chairman of the committee.

He refused to discuss the details of the report before it is presented to the directors.

Big Four Tournament Upset Makes Deacons 'Demons' Once Again

By The Associated Press
The nickname of the Wake Forest basketball team has been shortened to Deacons lately, but suddenly they are the Demon Deacons again.

It's been 13 years since they won the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament. But now the gold-and-black-clad team has beaten top-rated North Carolina State and Duke to win the Big Four Tournament, and must be rated a power in the ACC.

The words of coach Carl Tacy at the beginning of the season were prophetic. He said:

"While we were very competitive last season, our chances for competing successfully against the top teams this year should be even better. We have a solid nucleus of lettermen around which to build our club. Skip Brown, after a fine freshman year, returns as our leading scorer (13.2) and team quarterback. I feel he's one of the country's premier guards."

Brown scored 25 points in the 83-78 victory over N.C. State Friday night and 28 in the 75-71 triumph over Duke Saturday night for the Big Four title.

He also had nine assists in the championship game and furnished leadership and inspiration throughout.

"We decided to stay with the tactic which has been so good to us the last few games," said Tacy, referring to his zone defense.

"Winning the tournament gives us all a boost," he added in an understatement.

Half a hundred Deacon fans stood outside the dressing room in the Greensboro, N.C. Coliseum, and cheered "We're No. 1. We're No. 1."

Inside, Tacy said, "The big thing about winning this tournament is the way other teams will look at us. They're going to respect us."

Because the Big Four Tournament games do not count as ACC games, the Deacons are 0-1 in the league, having been beaten by Maryland on Dec. 4. However, 11 of their next 12 games are conference games.

The N.C. State Wolfpack, whose 36-game winning streak had been snapped by Wake Forest, beat North Carolina 82-67 in the consolation game of the Big Four Tournament.

David Thompson of N.C. State, who had scored only 15 points against Wake Forest, scored 26 in the Wolfpack's eighth straight victory over the Tar Heels.

The All-Tournament team consists of Brown, the only unanimous choice; his Wake Forest teammate, scrapping, rawboned front courtier Cal Stamp; Thompson and his N.C. State teammate Phil Spence, and Bob Fleischer of Duke.

Patriots Sign Former Packers

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP)—The New England Patriots have signed on two former Green Bay Packers staff members as assistant coaches for the National Football League squad.

John Polonchek, 47, and Rollie Dotsch, 41, both one-time Green Bay assistant coaches, were released by the Packers with the departure of Dan Devine to Notre Dame.

Polonchek will serve as quarterback coach and Dotsch will work with linebackers.

Maryland beat Notre Dame 90-82 Saturday as John Lucas and Owen Brown made 45 points between them and Tom Roy grabbed a career-high 18 rebounds. Roy, who had been booed by Maryland fans in the two previous games, also scored 15 points and did a good defensive job in the second half against Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame.

Skip Wise scored 23 points to lead Clemson to an 86-68 victory over Virginia Saturday. Stan Rome held Virginia's Wally Walker to a career-low two points, almost 16 below his season's average.

ACC teams are, idle tonight and Tuesday night. On Wednesday, Duke will be at Maryland and Virginia at Wake Forest. On Thursday, Clemson will be at North Carolina and N.C. State will be home to Western Carolina.

Strong Showing In Ski Event

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP)—Three New Englanders made strong showings Sunday in the first men's downhill event of the 1975 World Cup ski championships.

David Currier of Madison, N.H., was 14th in 1 minute, 46.45 seconds, with Karl Anderson of Greene, Maine, right behind in 1:46.52. Ron Biederman of Stowe, Vt., tied for 23rd in 1:47.13.

Austria's Franz Klammer set a course record of 1:43.31 to win the race and increase his lead in the World Cup standings.

Annual NCAA Convention Gets Underway Today

WAITING FOR THE COACH—A young fan waits for a autograph as Minnesota Vikings head coach Bud Grant is flanked by newsmen as he arrived with his team in New Orleans Sunday night. The Vikings will play Pittsburgh in Super Bowl IX next Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to eliminate the abuses of recruiting high school athletes highlights the 69th annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association which officially gets underway today.

The some 800 delegates face a package of 131 proposals which, in addition to recruiting reform, deal with the collegiate battle against inflation.

The recruiting proposals would, among other things, prohibit a college from contacting a student-athlete off campus until after his junior year and ban arrangements for summer jobs before enrollment in college.

Another proposal would prohibit arrangements for loans for athletes while one other would restrict schools to a maximum of three in-person, off-campus contacts with an athlete during his high school years.

NCAA officials deny the many recruiting measures being proposed to the convention are a result of last year's wooing of Moses Malone, the Petersburg, Va., high school basketball sensation who agreed to attend Maryland but later turned pro with the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association.

However, the then 18-year-old

Malone was a victim of many of the recruiting abuses which the legislation attempts to abolish.

Malone was given a summer job at $7.50 an hour before entering Maryland. Arrangements also were made for him to obtain a loan to purchase an automobile.

Recruiters literally lived in Petersburg for months, attempting to persuade him to attend their schools. Malone also is believed to have visited a record number of schools since currently athletes have unlimited, paid visiting privileges.

The NCAA also plans to boost its enforcement staff to 11, up from the current four, to watch recruiters and other rules violators more closely. Funding of an additional $200,000 would come from an increase in members' dues and television money, a proposal which must be approved here.

The package of inflation-fighting proposals would restrict all scholarships, except football and basketball, to tuition and fees only, increase the basketball season from 26 to 27 games and would eliminate two-platoon football.

The proposal to return to one-platoon football is not given much hope for passage.

However, there is sentiment to reduce the number of football scholarships from the current allowable 106, although no action probably will be taken here because of convention rules.

'Peace' At Michigan State; But Fans May Be Turned Off

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Everything is supposed to be peaches and cream now with the Michigan State basketball team.

But it remains to be seen whether Spartan fans will consider 10 maverick players as bad apples who have spoiled the season.

The 10, suspended Saturday by Coach Gus Ganakas for walking out of a team meeting, were reinstated by him Sunday after a reconciliation meeting which included the players, coaches and university athletic officials.

Ganakas characterized the reconciliation as "a matter of two lovers being separated a short period of time ... Our basketball family solved this problem within the family."

"Nothing would be gained by continuing the suspensions," he said.

Captain Lindsay Hairston, spokesman for the dissidents, said: "Our grievances have been met and we're definitely ready to play basketball."

Ganakas said reinstated Spartans would play tonight at MSU's Jenison Field House against Big Ten rival Ohio State. After the suspensions Saturday, the junior varsity was called upon to face No. 2-ranked Indiana. Subsequently, Michigan State suffered the worst loss in its cage history, 107-55.

Hairston, sitting beside Ganakas at a news conference Sunday, said the walkout was the result of a number of problems. He would only specify two: workmen leaving the field-house doors open in the chilly Michigan winter and the failure of the administration to put the pictures of the team in the lobby as has been traditional.

Precipitating the walkout, according to Ganakas, was the announcement at the team meeting that freshman forward Jeff Tropf would start against Indiana to guard star Steve Green.

"The players felt a more experienced player should be put in that position," Ganakas said. "And it (the walkout) was a culmination of a lot of other things."

He said Tropf would start tonight against the Buckeyes and also said he had considered continuing the suspensions for the game but changed his mind.

"It definitely was not anything to do with Tropf," said Hairston. "Whoever the coach selects to play we're behind him 100 per cent."

Suspended, then reinstated, were: Hairston, a center from Detroit; guards Bill Glover of Pontiac; Benny White, Detroit; Peter Davis, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Bob Chapman, Saginaw; forwards Lovelle Rivers, Detroit; Cedric Milton, Denver, Colo.; Edoar Wilson, Dowagiac, and Tom McGill, Flint.

Chapman and Wilson are sophomores, White, Milton and Furlow juniors, and the rest seniors.

All are black. Tropf is white as is freshman James Dudley of Milwaukee, who was not involved because he is sidelined with an injury.

Both Ganakas and Hairston insisted the matter was not racially motivated.

Only Six Area Teams Either At Or Above .500 Mark In ECC

Through last Friday's games, only six area teams were either at or above the .500 mark in their records. And with 20 girls' and boys' teams in the tri-county area, this is not too good a showing.

The big battle in the Eastern Carolina Conference Boys' division continues to be between two teams from opposite ends of Pitt County. D. H. Conley won its eighth in a row last Friday beating Southern Wayne to remain a game-and-a-half in front of North Pitt which was beating C. B. Aycock. North Pitt upset Conley in the Pitt County Invitational after losing the season opener to the Vikings.

Greene Central is the only other team with a winning record, 5-3, in the ECC.

In the girls' division, out of the ten area teams just Williamston, North Pitt and Farmville Central having winning records, 7-0, 5-3 and 7-1 respectively.

Farmville Central beat North Lenoir last Friday night to move into a share of the Conference lead with Southern Wayne. The two teams meet for a second time this Friday at Southern Wayne for what may be sole possession of first place. But both teams have a Tuesday night game first.

Of all the teams in the area, the Lady Jaguars have been probably the biggest surprise. Coach Hilda Worthington said she had expected her team to do well but not as well as they are doing. "They did real well (Friday night). I was real thrilled and pleased. They played a good game." Mrs. Worthington said the Lady Jaguars were off some Thursday but it was coming back after the holidays that slowed them up.

"They are all playing well together," she said. Each one seems to have a night. Tree (Darlene Joyner) had 12, Sherie (Von Schiltz) did real well; she has improved a lot. Kathy Sugg was great on defense and Julia's Moye rebounding was outstanding."

The Lady Jaguars have one win over the Lady Saints to their credit but they have to get by Greene Central on Tuesday night. "I've got two tough ones," Mrs. Worthington said. The girls have Greene Central at home and Southern Wayne on the road.

North Pitt smashed Aycock Friday to stay two games back of the leaders. They get a shot at Southern Wayne Tuesday night and stay on the road traveling to North Lenoir Friday night. The Big Orange could move into a tie for second if they knock off Southern Wayne.

In other Tuesday girls' games, Ayden-Grifton takes on North Lenoir, Conley hosts Eastern Wayne, Greene Central meets Southern Nash, Robersonville visits West Edgecombe, Williamston is at Edenton, Oak City is at Jamesville and Bear Grass is off.

Friday night, Ayden-Grifton meets Conley, Greene Central hosts Southern Nash, North Edgecombe is at Robersonville, Ahoskie is at Williamston, Chocowinity is at Jamesville, Pantego hosts Bear Grass and Oak City meets Aurora.

On the boys' side of things only Conley, North Pitt and Greene Central have won more than they are losing. Conley leads the conference with an 8-0 mark. The Vikings have three players in double figures but one is out right now with a broken ankle. Gerry Mobley was hitting 12.1 per game before he was sidelined. His brother Rick leads the team with an 18.8 average while Melvin Williams is averaging 13.6. The Vikings are scoring at a 70.9 clip while giving up 55.4 on the average.

North Pitt, a game back at 7-1 also has three players in double figures. Donnie Perkins leads the team hitting 16.2 each time out. The Panthers are averaging a 63.6 to 55.9 scoring margin.

Greene Central is three games out of first place at 5-3. If they hit their average against either North Pitt or Conley they would still come up short. They are putting up 55.2 points a game to 47.2 for the opposition. Only Tim Butts is in double figures with an even 10.0 scoring mark.

After these three, come North Lenoir and Southern Wayne tied with Greene Central at 5-3, Eastern Wayne and Farmville Central at 3-5 A-G and Southern Nash at 2-6 and Aycock brings up the rear at 0-8.

Farmville Central had a chance to win their game last Thursday but a missed free throw ended their hopes. They will be out for an upset win this week over the GC Rams Tuesday but they will have to hit their average of 56.8 or better and hope the Rams don't hit their average.

Williamston has the next best record in the area behind Greene Central with a 3-4 mark overall. Robersonville has a 2-4 Eastern Plains record and are still trying to make the change from football to basketball. Bear Grass has come up with some wins lately in the Beaufort-Martin-Hyde conference lifting the Bear record to 4-3. Jamesville is a game in front of Oak City with a mark of 1-4. Oak City has yet to win in the loop.

Steelers And Vikings Want History Change

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — If there is one play both Minnesota and Pittsburgh would like to see next Sunday, it's a reverse.

The Vikings would like to see a reverse of their fortunes in the Super Bowl and the Steelers are hoping for a change in history.

As the teams got their first looks today at the practice facilities they'll be using as the prelude to the National Football League championship game at Tulane Stadium, both had to be thinking back a bit as well as looking ahead.

Vikings' Coach Bud Grant faces the unpleasant prospect of becoming the first coach to come out on the short end of three Super Bowls. Don Shula also lost two — one with Baltimore and one with Miami — but he also tucked away two victories.

Grant's first setback came right here five years ago, when the Kansas City Chiefs upset the Vikings 23-7. The other was last year's 24-7 loss to Shula's Dolphins.

The Steelers, meanwhile, have never lost an NFL championship game — but that's because they have never played one. It's their first shot at all the marbles in 42 years.

And, like the Vikes, they'll be trying to alter a bit of Super Bowl history, mainly that first time entries can't cut it against teams that have been there before.

Former Catcher Named Manager

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former catcher Mike Ryan has been named manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates' Charleston, S.C., baseball farm club in the Class A Western Carolinas League.

Ryan was released as a player by the Pirates after last season, in which he saw only limited action because of a back ailment.

He came to the Pirates last January in a trade from Philadelphia, where he had spent six seasons. He had previously played with the Boston Red Sox.

Adds Victory On European Tour

FURTWANGEN, Germany (AP) — Martha Rockwell of West Lebanon, N.H., has added another cross country ski victory on the European tour.

Miss Rockwell, considered America's best in her specialty, won the international Around Neukirch race Sunday, covering five kilometers in 17 minutes, 48.99 seconds.

Tim Caldwell, 20, of Putney, Vt., finished 27th in the men's race.

Award Goes To Whitey Ford

BOSTON (AP) — Whitey Ford, a member of the Hall of Fame who won 236 games for the New York Yankees before becoming the team's pitching coach, has won the 17th annual Judge Emile Fuchs Memorial Award.

The award is given by the Boston Baseball Writers for meritorious service to baseball. Ford will be honored by the writers at their 36th annual dinner Jan. 23.

Won Franchise In Soccer Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — A Rhode Island franchise in the American Soccer League has been awarded to George Duffy, a veteran sports executive in Providence, R.I. Duffy, general manager of the Rhode Island Oceaners as they won the ASL championship last year, said Saturday he paid $25,000 for the franchise.

Little Current's Belmont Stakes victory was his fourth in 13 races.

DEATH SCENE—Don Wilson, Houston Astros pitcher, and his 5-year-old son Alexander were both found dead Sunday. Wilson was found in his automobile inside his garage and his son was found in a bedroom where carbonmonoxide gas had apparently penetrated the room. Wilson's wife Bernice and his 9-year-old daughter Denise were both reported in serious condition. The cause of the deaths was not disclosed. (AP Wirephoto)

IRA Offers Indefinite Cease-Fire In Ireland

By JEFF BRADLEY
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The Irish Republican Army has offered to prolong its cease-fire in Northern Ireland indefinitely if Protestant guerrilla groups will negotiate with it, London newspapers reported today.

The press reports, quoting sources in Dublin, said the British government is studying the IRA proposal. There was no official confirmation of the reports.

The reports said the proposal did not include the IRA's long-standing demand for a British promise to pull out of Northern Ireland ultimately. Instead it calls on the British government to give its public blessing to direct peace negotiations between leaders of the Roman Catholic and Protestant extremist organizations, the papers reported.

There was no immediate reaction from the militants who now dominate the Protestants in Northern Ireland. But they have repeatedly warned against concessions to the IRA since the Catholic guerrillas proclaimed a Christmas cease-fire on Dec. 23 and extended it until Jan. 16.

"Those people who think this cease-fire means it is all over are living in a fool's paradise," one Protestant spokesman said Sunday. "Only when the IRA is crushed will there be lasting peace."

The IRA's aims in the past have always included amnesty for its members, the return of British troops in Northern Ireland to their barracks and a British declaration of intent to withdraw eventually from the disputed province.

The Daily Telegraph said David O'Connell has resigned as chief of staff of the IRA's Provisional wing "so that he can mastermind political negotiations with the British government." O'Connell is a vice president of the IRA's political arm, Sinn Fein, which is legal in Britain and both parts of Ireland.

The people of Northern Ireland have now enjoyed their longest period of peace since fighting between Catholics and Protestants began five and half years ago. England, too, has been free from the bombing campaign that brought terror to its streets in the past two years.

Sermonizes On Need To Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sermon urged "dynamic faith and hope" and said "the future is not a stacked deck. The present mess is not our destiny."

Among those in church: President Ford, his wife Betty and his daughter Susan.

The President attended St John's Episcopal Church across Lafayette Square from the White House Sunday. The Rev. David A. Williams, assistant minister, spoke of pain and suffering in the world and the need to respond to it.

It was the Fords' first weekend back at the White House after their skiing vacation in Vail, Colo. Aides said the President spent the rest of the day with his family and working.

Probes Weather In Food Study

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A study of the ice ages may help scientists learn to predict world food supplies of the future, a meteorologist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology says.

Scientists may be able to anticipate the smaller climatic changes that can decrease harvests and bring famine if they can learn what causes ice ages, says Professor Reginald E. Newell.

Newell outlined his theory in an article in the December issue of Technology Review, the MIT journal of science.

He suggested that recent price increases for wheat and soybeans, as well as the drought in the African Sahel, can be traced to climatic changes that could be predictable.

Sooner or later, long-range weather forecasting should become sophisticated enough to predict the changes that affect world food supplies, he said in an interview. He said it may take 20 years.

The current high price of wheat can be traced to changes in the atmospheric flow patterns over the Soviet Union in 1971 and 1972, he wrote.

Crop failures followed. Then came the huge Soviet grain deal with the United States and a worldwide increase in the price of wheat.

He said the price of soybeans rose when temperature changes in the waters off Peru reduced the catch of anchovies, a prime source of fish meal. The result was a price increase in soybeans, the most common substitute for fish meal.

The African drought, in which thousands have died of starvation, was the result of shifts in the movements of the tropical rain belt. He said men might some day be able to prepare for such shifts.

He said that in an effort to learn the secrets of climatic shifts, some scientists have been studying the movements of beetles. Newell said beetles

"can run and fly considerable distances and can follow temperature changes quite rapidly."

A comparison of the habitats of beetle species today with those of their fossilized ancestors can tell scientists of temperature shifts that have taken place, Newell said.

Refinements of those methods of study may some day be applied to short-term climatic changes, Newell said.

Course In Home Plumbing Set

A 24-hour course in home plumbing repairs will begin at Pitt Technical Institute Thursday at 7 p.m. in room 113 of the Humber Building.

The class will meet each Thursday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. for eight sessions and instructional cost will be $2 per person.

Course content will involve basic plumbing fundamentals, simple tools and materials used for repairs, practices in changing faulty washers and fittings for leaking faucets, clearing and cleaning stopped drains and sinks, and other repair practices.

Doctors Still Hunting For Ethical Guidelines

By NORMAN BLACK
Associated Press Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Despite increased public and professional discussion, physicians still have little to guide them when facing ethical questions posed by the treatment of a dying patient, according to two men who deal with such situations daily.

Attempts to find such guidelines have been prompted by the development of new medical procedures and such life-saving machines as the respirator, which have produced the capability to keep alive a patient who a few years ago would certainly have died.

Dr. Nathan Schnaper, however, does not feel the publicity has clarified the ethical questions posed by the treatment of a dying patient.

"The problem is not faced head on, it's like a maze," said Schnaper, a psychiatrist and professor at the University of Maryland medical school. "The doctor is looking at the law; impending death is a terrible thing for a patient to perceive, and the family is grieving."

One approach to the problem is the formation of a medical ethics review board. Officials at Johns Hopkins Hospital announced the formation of such a board in 1971, following national publicity about a mongoloid infant allowed to starve to death because its parents refused to permit surgery.

Three years later, the Hopkins board is still available to doctors for consultation, but it meets infrequently.

"The ethics group was never really an official committee of the hospital," said Clyde R. Shallenberger, director of the chaplaincy service at Hopkins and an original member of the board.

"The group is here to help a doctor explore all the angles and factors involved in such decisions as treatment for a dying patient," he continued. "The ethics group is not a 'God Squad,' nor does it try to be."

And as Schnaper and Shallenberger agree, a review board cannot make the final decision under current laws. That is up to the individual physician.

While few doctors would admit they have ever directly shortened a patient's life, more would be likely to admit they have hastened a patient's death by withholding treatment.

The distinction is important legally. Taking direct action to shorten the life of a patient — mercy killing — is legally defined as murder.

Both Shallenberger and Schnaper object to the use of the word "euthanasia" as synonymous with mercy killing. They deplore the negative connotation the word has received, explaining that euthanasia stems from a Greek word meaning "good death."

Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which I classify according to the actions of the person and the means by which he dies. Voluntary-direct is suicide, a person voluntarily takes his own life. Voluntary indirect would be typified by the 'living will.' Involuntary-direct is mercy killing, while involuntary-indirect is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of life support from a hopeless patient."

Shallenberger, as a hospital chaplain, and Schnaper, as the senior psychiatric consultant to University Hospital's shock-trauma unit, are particularly interested in voluntary-indirect euthanasia and the "living will."

The living will is a legally nonbinding document, addressed to a person's physician and family, which states in part: "At such time when there is no reasonable expectation of my recovering from a physical or mental disability, I request that I be allowed to die in dignity and not be kept alive by artificial or heroic measures."

Although Schnaper has serious reservations about the document's definition of mental illness, both he and Shallenberger would like to see the living will legalized.

"Part of the living will's purpose is to ease the feeling of guilt," Schnaper said. "The patient and his family go through stages of guilt, as does the physician who must care for a patient he is about to lose."

"When there is no living will to offer guidance, you cannot directly ask the patient's family to make a decision on ending life support. If you do, they will say no, but indirectly they will question why heroic measures are continued."

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — The arts face crippling financial woes in 1975 just when they could be most helpful in uplifting the American spirit.

An Associated Councils of the Arts survey in 1974 showed that a record 89 per cent of Americans 16 years of age or older believe the arts are important to the quality of life in their communities. Yet in the same year art institutions were plagued by the twin bogeys of inflation and dwindling sources of income and the situation can be expected to worsen, not improve.

"Inflation and recession just add one more burden under which the arts are struggling in this country," said Harrison Salisbury, president-nominee of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

"I think the trouble is going to deepen because the arts in this country only get the skim off the very top of the economic cream even in the best of times. Fortunately, hardships often sharpen the arts, such as in the Depression, but I hope people won't be squeezed that hard again."

Michael Straight, deputy chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, also viewed the arts as a possible disaster area because of the economic situation.

What does this presage for painting, sculpture, architecture, music, and dance? Clearly it means retrenchment and possibly a rearview mirror attitude toward what is displayed, created, built, played or performed—a trend that has been noticeable in the past year.

Americans may turn to the arts more often to take their minds off economic problems and to bolster morale and they will turn away again if they find only reflections of the general malaise. Art on the rocks will have to be safe art or it won't pay its own way.

So 1975 can be expected to drive another nail in the nearly sealed coffin of the avant-garde. Nostalgic revivals of art forms of the past will continue to thrive, not always because they are good but because there is less financial risk involved. Novelty is no longer an asset. Venture is to be avoided.

Contributing to the dated look of the art scene is the bland, tentative character of much new painting and sculpture, the unimaginative concepts of architecture, and the trivial content of new music. Only dance, which is evolving an exciting blend of classic ballet and modern dance, seems to have escaped the general exhaustion, but dance companies are having the hardest time meeting their payrolls.

Here is a nutshell assessment of the arts at time when government, foundations and private donors are cutting down on their support, art personnel are demanding ever higher wages, and admission prices for exhibitions and performances can't be raised without reducing box office response.

Painting and Sculpture
The Museum of Modern Art's current exhibition, Eight Contemporary Artists, exposes the decay of the avant-garde, which is absorbed in simplistic exercises in stenciling, doodling, and geometrical design. Artist Daniel Buren has declared form, art's quest throughout history, as "a matter of no interest, superfluous, an anachronism." Minimal form and meaning marks most of the monumental sculpture which has moved outdoors all across America, even in shopping malls. Realist art of the past—American 19th Century genre pictures, western frontier art, the Ashcan School, and artists such as Thomas Hart Benton—are enjoying an unprecedented revival of interest.

Museums, which racked up a record national attendance of well over 300 million in 1974, are reeling from the financial squeeze. Forty per cent report deficits and nearly 40 per cent have had to cut back facilities, services and staff.

Architecture
The crisis in American architecture continues with pressure for cheap, practical design putting a damper on development of daring experiments such as Paolo Soleri's mile-high city cluster that leaves plenty of ground for farming and recreation. Assembly line prefabs in fiberglass and plastic promise new landscape clutter. Modular mechanical, plumbing, electrical housing components are more prized than beauty of form. But clusters of prefabs can be used imaginatively, as proved by Paul Rudolph's Oriental Masonic Gardens housing project in New Haven, Conn., and his concept of plugging hanging units into high-rise vertical cores of utilities. Another look of the future: air supported structures of light flexible materials.

Music
The works of many contemporary composers with desultory sorties into mixed media, electronic gimmicks and chance composition still are neglected by most symphonic conductors but about 20 per cent of symphony programming is 20th Century music nonetheless. The bicentennial's spur to performance of American music has resulted chiefly in attention to composers who worked within more traditional forms—Aaron Copland, Charles Ruggles, Duke Ellington and Scott Joplin — though the polytonalities and polyrhythms of Charles Ives are finding favor in the composer's centennial season. Even rock music is taking on a classic flavor with adaptations of hymn songs, madrigals, piano concertos, and the symphonic format of "movements."

A trend toward more performances of opera (nearly 7,000 in 1974, according to the Central Opera Service) but performance of fewer works is expected because it costs less to repeat a performance than mount a new one.

Dance
A distinctive blend of tradition-rooted ballet and innovative modern dance is emerging as a favorite with dance's vast young audience. Even Rudolf Nureyev is mapping a future for himself in the hybrid art. Danced along with vital new works, the Joffrey ballet and others are updating and reworking favorites of the past from the repertory of the old Ballets Russes. Ethnic companies abroad can be expected to make less frequent tours of America because of the expense.

Q.1—East-West vulnerable, as South, with 80 on score, you hold:

♠Q1085 ♥KQ8 ♠A9 ♠AK84
Partner opens the bidding with one diamond. What is your response?

A.—Three no trump. Ordinarily, this response is made only with a 4-3-3-3 pattern, but you have an awkward hand. The trouble is that, because of the score, partner might pass a response of one spade or two clubs, and we do not like to jump shift in a four-card suit. So we choose the value bid in the hope that partner can take further action.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠106 ♥10543 ♦KJ5 ♠K872
The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ 1NT Pass Pass
Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Partner's reopening double shows a good hand, and you have unexpected wealth. In addition, your values are ideally located behind the no trump overcall. You can look forward to a substantial penalty, for East will almost certainly be playing opposite a worthless dummy.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A1087 ♥AK ♦J109 ♠K762
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Prospects for game appear too dim to justify any forward-going move, particularly since partner's response, which tends to deny holding four cards in a major suit, has virtually ruled out the possibility of a spade contract.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A962 ♠AQJ ♠9853 ♠106
The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South
1 ♠ Pass Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Double. This is the only action available to show a hand of fair strength, and you should take it despite the fact that, ideally, your holdings in the minor suits should be reversed. It is a losing tactic to pass and allow the opponents to steal a contract at the one-level.

Q.5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠75 ♥A109 ♦KJ1094 ♠965
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ 2 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. It is more important to support partner's suit than to introduce your own five-card suit, especially since it is a minor. You do not have the values for two forward-going bids, and intend bidding only once unless partner makes another move.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠8 ♥Q7642 ♦K106 ♠KJ54
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. In support of hearts, your hand is worth 13 points. Three hearts is our second choice, which shows a good hand after a pass. Two hearts is a gross underbid, for there are many minimum hands partner could have that would make game a cinch.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQJ762 ♥A1032 ♦K95
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Further action is fraught with danger. You have already told partner you have a six-card spade suit, yet despite this he has bid three clubs. He must have a weak hand with a very long club suit. Be thankful that your hand will produce a few tricks for him.

Q.8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠72 ♥KQ954 ♦KJ8752
The bidding has proceeded:

North East South
1 ♠ 3 ♥ ?

What action do you take?
A.—Bid five clubs. East's preempt has accomplished its goal. Your hand is not good enough to cue-bid hearts, and a bid of four diamonds preparatory to five clubs does not show your massive support and could prove awkward if partner raises you. The practical raise to game might lose a slam if partner has the right hand, but any exploring risks the loss of a vulnerable game.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As befits the new year, something new is happening on daytime television. "Another World," one of NBC's long-running soap operas, is expanding from 30 minutes to 60 minutes five days a week as of Jan. 6.

"It is the first major form change since 1956 in daytime," insists Lin Bolen, vice president of NBC's daytime programs. "In 1956 they went from 15-minute serials to half-hour serials." It's a gamble for the network. NBC is risking a 10-year hit on a theory that women will be willing to commit an hour of their afternoon to watch — and on a hope that the writers, actors and directors will be able to turn out five hours of material every week to keep the audience interested.

Boostered by the success of special hour-long episodes of "Another World" and other serials over the past year, Ms. Bolen is confident the format can work.

"I believe that the daytime audience has become so sophisticated because of all the long-form (television) they've seen at nighttime, that to ask them to commit for an hour is really not asking very much," says Ms. Bolen, as she prefers to be called.

What is it about an hour serial that appeals to her? The 33-year-old network executive explains:

"What we will be able to do on 'Another World' is play out some of those scenes which an audience assumes take place off camera. In other words, our scenes will be longer; we can play a 12-minute scene and bridge the other networks' station breaks. We will be able to do a great deal more dramatic material. We will be able to tell better stories."

She hopes they will, anyway. She's hedging her bet just in case. "Another World" will air at the end of the network's daytime lineup — 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. in most areas.

"So if it doesn't make it," says Ms. Bolen, "it won't hurt us. We can always cut back to 30 minutes and it doesn't hurt anything. If we started at the top of the schedule it could destroy the lead-in to some other very successful programs."

If "Another World" does succeed in its new hour format, Ms. Bolen says she probably will expand other NBC serials and believes CBS and ABC would have to follow suit. The result could be fewer game shows, she suggests.

Two new game shows are debuting this week on NBC — "Blank Check" and "Wheel of Fortune." Three games were canceled: "Jeopardy," "Name That Tune" and "Winning Streak."

ABC has already canceled "The Newlywed Game" and "The Girl in My Life" and replaced them with "The Big Showdown" and "The Money Maze."

The CBS daytime lineup remains intact.

First Look At Patients

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Medical students at the University of Missouri at Kansas City see patients — not professors — on their first day of school.

The innovative six-year UMKC medical school is one of the few in the United States that takes students directly from high school to doctor training, says Dr. E. Grey Dimond, school provost.

Dr. Dimond said the school breaks with tradition and offers first and second-year medical students only 75 per cent of their studies in the arts and sciences — with the remaining time spent in realistic medical studies at Kansas City hospitals. In the final four years, he added, the percentage of student-study time is reversed.

A sophisticated network of computerized and audio-visual information is available to students 24 hours a day in their "offices" in the school's new $13.2-million medical building, Dr. Dimond explained.

The new medical building and the nearby $35-million Harry S Truman Medical Center are both being built under the city's $5.3-billion urban renaissance program.

AIR LINKS

MOSCOW (UPI)—Moscow is linked to Soviet cities by 170 air routes and to foreign countries by 70 international air links, according to figures released by Soviet officials.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the current Oscar race seems duller than usual, perhaps that's because 1974 was the Year of the Copycat.

The studios seemed to aim their big guns at repeating past successes. Big budgets were expended in an effort to match the disaster epics such as "Airport" and "The Poseidon Adventure." Alas, imitation rarely produces art. Although they are succeeding at the box office, "Airport 1975," "Earthquake" and "The Towering Inferno" are attracting no serious attention for the Academy Awards, except in special effects.

Likewise the impact on the awards by "Godfather Part II" is blunted because it is a sequel. Some critics have proclaimed it better than the original, but it lacks the startling newness and the performance of Marlon Brando.

Other Oscar hopefuls seem to have a derivative nature. "Lenny" borrows heavily from Orson Wells' classic "Citizen Kane." The marvelously funny "Young Frankenstein" is based on previous screen material, as are "The Front Page," "The Three Musketeers" and "The Great Gatsby."

All this doesn't mean that the Oscar race is any less spirited. The studios are now loading the guns of January, trying to win favor in the nominations, due Feb. 24. The 3,000 Academy voters are invited to screenings here, there and everywhere. Trade papers bulge with ads. Usually reclusive stars turn up on television talk shows.

The awards season produces heartaches for studios like MGM and Columbia with no Oscar hopefuls. Also headaches for those studios with too many. For instance, Paramount must give equal treatment to "Chinatown," "Godfather Part II," "The Little Prince," "The Great Gatsby," "The Longest Yard," "The Conversation," "The Gambler" and "Murder on the Orient Express."

Traffic Noises Being Taped

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Neil D. Weinstein, a psychologist at Rutgers University's Cook College, tapes traffic noises in downtown New Brunswick, N.J.

This is part of his research on the psychological effects of noise on people. He wants to find out what it takes for people to adapt to unwanted noise in their environment.

Not all are Oscar caliber, of course, but the makers and stars of the films need to be placated.

Eligibility for the 1974 awards is now closed, since potential nominees had to appear in a Los Angeles theater before Dec. 31. Here is how the race looks to this observer—selections are more or less in declining order:

Best picture—"The Godfather, Part II," "Lenny," "Chinatown," "Scenes from a Marriage," "The Conversation," "Murder on the Orient Express," "Young Frankenstein," "A Woman under the Influence," "The Parallax View," "The Longest Yard."

Best actress — Liv Ullmann, "Scenes from a Marriage"; Gena Rowlands, "A Woman under the Influence"; Faye Dunaway, "Chinatown"; Valerie Perrine, "Lenny"; Ellen Burstyn, "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore"; Diahann Carroll, "Claudine"; Goldie Hawn, "Sugarland Express."

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JAN. 7, 1975

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Upsetting influences are in effect today so be mindful not to make any sudden changes that could alter present situation. Make certain that your business and personal affairs are well organized.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you handle any obligations that are pressing. Being considerate to loved ones brings fine response. Be logical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't argue with anyone today and keep whatever obligations you have assumed. Listen to the fine ideas of an associate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Persevere at your work and don't let an unhappy co-worker upset you. Take steps to improve your appearance. Be poised.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Conditions are not favorable for having the recreation you desire today, so keep busy at work. Show devotion to mate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Conditions at home are not harmonious during the day so keep active in outside affairs. Take no chances with an opponent.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to use tact during day or you could get into trouble with others. Use caution in motion. Think intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use care in paying bills or making collections or you could make some serious errors. Consult with an adviser this evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't be upset because you have so many tasks to perform, but handle the most important first and all works out fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a lot of little duties to do that are annoying so put them aside for now. You can assist others tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle personal duties well and add to your security. Discuss the future with a trusted friend. Avoid the social tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Know what it is that a bigwig expects and follow rules and regulations carefully. Make sure all your bills are paid.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to engage in new interests but they have to be studied carefully so that you make no mistakes. Use your willpower.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will need much guidance since there is a tendency to go off in paths far from the norm, and if not controlled early, you could have much trouble with your progeny. Make sure that school is attended regularly and sports are the right kind.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Shot Pistol Out Of Hand

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A police sharpshooter with a telescope sight on a rifle shot a pistol out of the hand of a woman 40 feet away. She had held off police for an hour.

The woman, who never fired her weapon, was treated for minor injuries received when her pistol shattered.

Then, after Saturday's incident, she was jailed under $100,000 bond on charges of assaulting a police officer.

Police identified her as Wilma Lee Cooper, 27, of Charlotte, a waitress, and gave this account:

She went to the office of a bail bondsman and asked if a certain employee was working that day. When informed he was not there, she pulled a pistol from her purse. The employee working in the office fled and called police. About 15 policemen surrounded the building, but could not talk Mrs. Cooper into giving up her pistol.

Thieves Help Walking Theme

NIS, Yugoslavia (AP) — The stage setting for the show "The Walking Forest" justified its name.

Unknown thieves stole the truck in which the setting had been loaded as the theater of this industrial city was preparing to leave for a guest performance in a neighboring town.

50% INCREASE IN CASH BENEFITS FOR CANCER OR HEART ATTACK

Has it happened to you? After just a short hospital stay, you're hit with a bill for hundreds of dollars—only to discover that your basic hospital insurance covers only part—and you have to come up with the rest!

And that's in addition to all those non-medical bills that were piling up at home. The rent or mortgage payments. Food bills. Telephone, gas, electric bills. Auto and credit card payments. Bills that could eat up all your savings—even land your family deep in debt.

That's why the board of doctors of Physicians Mutual Insurance Company of Omaha, Nebraska—the company run by doctors since 1902—created The Doctors Hospital Plan. It gives you the cash you need when hospital emergencies strike—pays you cash whenever you or any eligible member of your family goes to the hospital for any covered sickness or accident. Cash you can use to help pay the hospital bills your basic hospital insurance may not cover.

Here's how this plan works—and why it pays for you to enroll now.

■ It's easy to enroll—No qualifications necessary! Whatever your age, the size of your family, or your present health, you and your entire family can enroll in The Doctors Hospital Plan without any qualifications, simply by completing and mailing the Application Form below with your first month's premium.

■ Your policy is issued the same day we receive your Application Form! From that day on you are covered for accidents—24 hours a day—around the world.

■ Only one waiting period for new sicknesses. New sicknesses are not covered until your policy is 30 days old. This is a one-time-only waiting period—after which any new sickness is covered immediately.

■ You receive a 50% increase in cash benefits for cancer and heart attack. Yes, daily cash benefits are increased 50% if any insured member of your family is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease) or heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis and coronary occlusion).

■ There are double cash benefits, too! If you and your wife are hospitalized at the same time due to accidents—and your coverage includes your wife—you get double benefits—$1,999.20 A MONTH ($66.64 A DAY)!

■ Even pays for maternity! Yes, you can collect for hospitalization due to pregnancy, or any consequence thereof, if coverage includes your wife and your policy has been in force for 10 months.

■ Pays half-benefits in Federal hospitals. You will receive one-half your regular benefits for as long as 4 full weeks for any one sickness or accident when you go to a Federal hospital. And if the same condition puts you back in a Federal hospital after you have resumed your normal activities for 6 months, you are eligible to collect again.

■ We pay half-benefits for job-related conditions and for mental disorder, too. The Doctors Hospital Plan even covers job-related conditions for which you may receive Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Law benefits. You will receive one-half your regular benefits for as long as 4 full weeks for any one hospital stay. And if the same condition puts you back in the hospital after you have resumed normal activities for 6 months, you are eligible to collect your benefits again. Same benefits apply for mental disorders.

■ You collect for every day you spend in the hospital for a covered sickness or accident. Yes, you are paid cash benefits from the very first day of a covered hospital confinement—for sickness or accident—for as long and for as many times as you are hospitalized, up to the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of the plan you choose.

■ We pay in addition to any other insurance—even Medicare. Whenever any eligible member of your family is hospitalized for any covered reason, you collect cash benefits over and above any other money you collect from any other insurance—even Medicare.

■ Your policy is Guaranteed Renewable. Your policy is Guaranteed Renewable for as long as you live and pay your premiums when due, or until the maximum of your policy has been paid. We cannot refuse to renew your policy simply because there's been a change in your health, you're another year older or because you've had a number of claims. Furthermore, the premium for your policy cannot be changed unless we do the same on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date. Naturally, we can issue only one policy to you on a guaranteed issue basis. If you are already a Physicians Mutual policyholder and would like information about additional coverage available to you, please write for details.

■ There are these exclusions: Sickness for the first 30 days your policy is in force; pre-existing conditions (health problems that became evident or were medically treated before the effective date of your policy) for one year from the date your policy has been issued; alcoholism or drug addiction; pregnancy or any consequence thereof under the Individual or One-Parent Family plans; confinement in nursing homes, convalescent or extended-care or self-care units of hospitals.

■ The cost is modest for such high-quality protection. With The Doctors Hospital Plan you actually get all of these benefits—at a cost most people can afford—because all business is conducted directly between you and the company by mail.

IMPORTANT: The sooner we receive your Application Form, the sooner The Doctors Hospital Plan will cover you. Along with your policy you will receive a simple easy-to-use Claim Form, which you send directly to the company when you want to claim your cash benefits. You risk nothing by acting promptly . . . but you risk losing daily cash benefits through delay. Remember, accidents and sickness are putting thousands of people in the hospital every day. Do mail your Application Form now.

Now $1 enrolls you for the first month regardless of your age or the size of your family.

Monthly renewal rates, thereafter, if under 65

$5.25 for the
INDIVIDUAL
PLAN

PAYS YOU: $571.20 a month ($19.04 a day) cash when you are hospitalized; $428.40 a month ($14.28 a day) when your wife is hospitalized; $285.60 a month ($9.52 a day) when an eligible child is hospitalized. Maximum total benefit for all losses due to accidents and sickness under this plan — $6,666.66.

The Individual is a perfect plan if you live alone or wish to insure just one member of your family.

ALL-FAMILY
PLAN

PAYS YOU: $571.20 a month ($19.04 a day) cash when you are hospitalized; $428.40 a month ($14.28 a day) when your wife is hospitalized; $285.60 a month ($9.52 a day) when an eligible child is hospitalized. Maximum total benefit for all losses due to accidents and sickness for you, your wife and your children under this plan — $13,333.33.

If yours is a young, growing family, the All-Family Plan is for you. Covers you, your wife and all your dependent children (including future additions) from birth, except for routine well baby care, to 21 years of age who are unmarried and live at home.

$8.95 for the
HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN

PAYS YOU: $571.20 a month ($19.04 a day) cash when you are hospitalized; $428.40 a month ($14.28 a day) when your wife is hospitalized. Maximum total benefit for all losses due to accidents and sickness for you and your wife under this plan — $10,000.00.

If you have no children, or if they are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the Husband-Wife Plan.

$7.95 for the
ONE-PARENT
FAMILY PLAN

PAYS YOU: $571.20 a month ($19.04 a day) cash when you are hospitalized; $428.40 a month ($14.28 a day) when your wife is hospitalized; $285.60 a month ($9.52 a day) when an eligible child is hospitalized. Maximum total benefit for all losses due to accidents and sickness for you and your children under this plan — $10,000.00.

The One-Parent Family Plan is ideal if you are the only parent living with your children. Covers you and all your dependent children from birth, except for routine well baby care, to 21 years of age who are unmarried and live at home.

Even people 65 and older can be covered! Not only will The Physicians Mutual Hospital Plan accept you regardless of your age, it pays you the same benefits younger folks get. There is no reduction in your benefits. This is not, however, a basic hospitalization policy. When you become 65—or if you are over 65 now—Senior Citizen rates apply. Your first month costs $1. To find your monthly renewal premium, see rates at right.

If you are 65 or over when you enroll, you will be able to collect for most sicknesses you've had before or have now after your policy is in force for 30 days. You will be covered for cancer, heart attack, stroke, hernia, disease or disorder of the prostate, tuberculosis, "cataracts," emphysema, cirrhosis or diabetes if the hospital confinement commences more than six months after the effective date of your policy.

Backed by Physicians Mutual—
The Company Run by Doctors Since 1902!

Your policy is backed by the resources, integrity and reputation of Physicians Mutual Insurance Company. From its inception in 1902 until 1962, the company specialized in health insurance for physicians, surgeons and dentists exclusively. Its Board of Directors is still composed entirely of respected members of the medical and insurance professions.

Since then, the company's policies have protected over 1,000,000 Americans from all walks of life direct-by-mail. And last year alone the company paid policyholders over $47 million in benefits under its various plans. Physicians Mutual Insurance Company is a mutual insurance company headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska, and is not, of course, affiliated with any national, state or local medical association.

Your Age	Individual Plan	Husband-Wife Plan	All-Family Plan	One-Parent Plan
