

President Avers He Had To Act
Demos Rush To Block Ford Energy Plans

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats are hurrying to block President Ford's energy program in the face of his renewed appeals for public backing and continued hard stand against gas rationing.

The Democrats are seeking to delay Ford's boost of oil tariffs, and they plan to attach a delaying measure to the bill that raises the legal ceiling on the federal debt. The House Ways and Means Committee opens consideration today of the debt ceiling measure, which Ford wants.

"The odds are probably more than even that the committee would combine the debt ceiling with the import duty bill," Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said Thursday.

The debt ceiling bill is considered virtually veto-proof since, without it, the government won't be able to borrow money after Feb. 18.

Ford, meanwhile, declared after signing a proclamation boosting the tariff by $1 a barrel Feb. 1 that a congressional delay would be "a backward step." He then told a nationwide television audience Thursday night that "it would have been a sign of weakness around the world" if he had failed to act.

He expressed confidence his action would spur Congress to move forward on his proposals, despite substantial opposition to them. And he made clear he favors strict limits on fuel supplies through an allocation program with rationing "the last resort" to curb oil use.

Seated on a yellow sofa in a White House sitting room, Ford made these other major points during the hour-long, televised and broadcast interview by two NBC correspondents: —He defended his statement that the United States might have to act if faced with economic "strangulation" by oil producers, because "I think the public has to have a reassurance, our people, that we are not going to permit America to be strangled to death."

—He said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is returning to the Middle East because of "a unique opportunity" to make progress towards a Middle East settlement, and that failure would probably force talks to be moved to the Geneva Conference.

—He defended his request for $300 million in additional aid for South Vietnam, saying U.S. officials feel that, with additional military and economic aid, "within two or three years, the South Vietnamese would be over the hump militarily as well as economically."

—He conceded that, if the nation still has inflation above 9 per cent and 7 per cent unemployment a year from now, "those are pretty tough odds" for his 1976 election hopes. But he said, "I don't think that is going to happen" and predicted, "We are going to rebound from this recession, and I think we will do it more quickly and in a better way than most pessimists say."

—He said he isn't bothered by the contention he isn't up to the presidency intellectually, declaring his grades in school show "there must be an awful lot of people much dumber than I."

—Asked what he would tell young Americans about U.S. justice when so many involved in the Watergate scandal are earning large sums from books about it, Ford said, "I think it will bother a good many Americans, young as well as old, and I don't have any answer." He added, "I wouldn't buy the books."

—He said "there have been admissions that there were some indiscretions or potential illegal actions" by the Central Intelligence Agency but he wants to wait for the report of the Rockefeller commission before discussing specifics.

In the television interview, he declared that despite repeated presidential and congressional statements about the nation's energy problems, "nothing has really been done to achieve conservation on the one hand or new supplies on the other."

When asked about rationing, which was endorsed Thursday by the AFL-CIO amid indications of increased congressional support, Ford said, "When you look at the impracticability, the inequities, in my judgment, gas rationing would not work."

In response to a question about the possibility of a strict allocation system, like the one last winter which resulted in long gas lines, Ford said that was a possibility if his plan doesn't work.

He said another oil boycott, possibly by non-Arab producers as well as Arab states, "would produce the necessity for more drastic action" but made clear that rationing "would probably be the last resort."

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, the Ways and Means Committee heard Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon spell out the case for an increase in the debt ceiling limit, from the current temporary lid of $495 billion to a record $604 billion by mid-1976.

Without action, the $495 billion ceiling will drop March 31 to the current permanent limit of $400 billion. But Simon said the $495 billion level will be surpassed Feb. 18.

In the Senate, 51 senators joined in sponsoring a resolution to block the tariff hike for 90 days. But Republicans have threatened to filibuster to prevent action on it.

Relevancy Of More Tapes In Lightner Trial Argued

By DAVID NELSEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Arguments began late this morning on whether to allow two additional tapes recorded conversations to be admitted as evidence in the trial of Marguerite Lightner, wife of Raleigh's first black mayor.

Mrs. Lightner and three other Raleigh citizens were indicted last month on charges of conspiracy to receive and dispose of stolen goods. The others have not been tried.

Before the argument over tapes began, the jury heard the defense attack the veracity of the state's star witness, Linda Jones, a convicted thief and former heroin addict.

When the issue of the tapes came up, the jury was taken from the room so the judge could hear the conversations and decide their relevancy. The tapes are conversations between Mrs. Jones and a woman described by the state as Mrs. Lightner.

In Thursday's cross examination, Mrs. Jones described some of her methods of stealing.

During cross examination by defense attorney W.G. "Buck" Ransdell, Mrs. Jones said she didn't want to reveal "secrets" of what she called her "business." She said, though, that she steals meat by putting it in her purse or between her legs.

When Ransdell expressed surprise that she could carry up to a dozen packages of meat between her legs, Mrs. Jones said: "It's amazing to you because you're not a thief, but I'm a thief."

When the prosecution later asked her to demonstrate, the 31-year-old Mrs. Jones rejected the suggestion with a huff.

During the cross examination, Ransdell attempted to discredit Mrs. Jones' earlier testimony. The attack on her credibility came after the jury listened to a tape recorded conversation between Mrs. Jones and a woman the state said was Mrs. Lightner.

Ransdell was unable to shake Mrs. Jones from her claim that her testimony was accurate even though his questions at times led her to contradict earlier statements.

Another issue Ransdell was working toward was whether there can be a conspiracy to "receive stolen goods" when one of the alleged conspirators is also the thief. Wednesday, Ransdell briefly mentioned that the same person cannot conspire to receive stolen goods as well as steal the goods, and at least two persons must be involved for a conspiracy to exist.

Under Ransdell's questioning, Mrs. Jones said she and Mrs. Lightner never planned to receive goods stolen by someone else. "I don't need nobody to do my work for me. I can do it myself," Mrs. Jones said with a slight huff.

Mrs. Jones said that there were times when she offered stolen goods to Mrs. Lightner and other times when Mrs. Lightner asked for specific items.

Ransdell's cross examination brought out that Mrs. Jones had erroneously testified Wednesday that she stole one outfit from a store in Angier, N.C.

Thursday, Mrs. Jones said the store was actually in Fuquay-Varina, N.C.

Several times in the trial, Mrs. Jones alluded to what were apparently telephoned threats on her life after the Lightner case came to light. Details about her comments weren't allowed because they could prejudice the jury.

It was publicly known that Mrs. Jones was in police custody before the trial, but Raleigh officials denied that there had been threats.

In another angle of attack, Ransdell brought out through questioning that Mrs. Jones had cooperated with police on previous occasions, once serving as state's witness in a trial. Ransdell was Wake County (Raleigh) district attorney at the time.

Mrs. Jones said, though, that her previous aid to police hadn't been "to this extent."

Bank In Pantego Robbed Today

PANTEGO, N.C. (AP)—The Southern Bank and Trust Co. in Pantego was robbed this morning and the FBI reported that it had been informed that several persons had been apprehended by the State Highway Patrol in connection with the robbery.

Louis A. Giovanetti, special agent in charge of the Charlotte FBI office, said a teller at the Beaufort County bank reportedly was injured during the holdup and taken to a hospital.

The nature of the injuries was not immediately determined. It was the 12th bank robbery in North Carolina this year.

McDonald Honored As Recipient Of Jaycees' Service Award For '74

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville businessman William E. "Bill" McDonald was honored Thursday night as the recipient of the Jaycees' prestigious Distinguished Service Award for 1974.

The announcement of McDonald's selection took place during the Greenville chapter's 29th annual DSA and Bosses Night banquet, held at the Candlewick Inn.

Guest speaker Charles Dunn, director of the State Bureau of Investigation, pointed out in announcing the DSA winner, "Although Bill McDonald has made many contributions to his community in a number of areas, those who know him best are keenly aware that he is happiest and most enthusiastic when working to help young people, senior citizens, and handicapped persons."

McDonald, of Bill McDonald Insurance Agency, agent for State Farm Insurance Co., headed a survey to determine the extent of the drug problem here, it was noted, led a successful effort to get the City Council to approve and initiate barrier-free curbs in the downtown section to make it easier for persons on crutches or in wheelchairs to negotiate curbs, headed a successful drive to raise funds for the purchase of a bus for the Recreation Department, and also led a successful drive to raise funds to improve facilities at the Police Club Recreation Building.

Dunn said that, "Upon learning that more than 360 boys and girls in Pitt County were on probation and that 80 percent of these were from broken or inadequate homes, Bill helped to create "Youth Attention, a volunteer program modeled after the Big Brother Program and designed to provide a Big Brother or Sister for youth in trouble."

The recipient's interest in young people, according to Dunn, "complements his interest and skills in Karate, an art in which he is known and respected throughout the United States and in which he holds the highly coveted Fourth Degree Black Belt."

In 1963, he initiated a Karate program at East Carolina University, Dunn reported, and since then McDonald has trained others to assist in teaching the Karate art. More than 5,000 persons have received instruction in Karate here since that time and the ECU Karate Team, which McDonald serves

NEEDS COURT PAY

I was out of work four days to be a witness in a case tried in Greene County Superior Court in November. Now I've lost my job and really could use the $5 a day plus 15 cents a mile an out-of-county witness is supposed to be paid. How long does it take? R.S.

The Clerk of Court in each county has the option of whether he will make it a practice to pay witnesses as each session of court is completed or pay when each case is disposed of. Pitt County takes the first option; Greene County the second. However, J. Donald Chappell, controller in the State Administrative Office of the Courts said he would advise that witnesses in a case appealed from Superior to a higher court, as this one was, be paid before completion, as the case could be carried forward so long. You will get your payment within the next few days, he said the Greene County Clerk indicated.

CASH SURRENDER SLOW

I have been trying since October to get the cash surrender value of two insurance policies from Combined Insurance Company. I've written and called and written and called, but nothing does any good. L. B.

Hotline contacted the Combined agent, D. L. Blackmon, in Washington, N.C., who called the company on your behalf. They said your money would be here in a couple of weeks, that your inquiring so much had slowed down their processing. However, about six weeks later, you still didn't have your money. Blackmon called again for you, and this time learned that the checks had been mailed two days before.

Developers Are Reminded Of Big Opportunity

By JERRY RAYNOR

WILLIAMSTON—"Eastern North Carolina has the greatest opportunity of any area anywhere for total development," Norfleet Sugg, banker and guest speaker at the annual planning meeting of the Coastal Plain Development Association told his audience Thursday night.

"The Coastal Plain Development Association is cutting across county lines for the mutual benefit of working together. We must concern ourselves with our own destiny."

The annual meeting, held in Williamston, was attended by about 200 people from business, farming, state and county government agencies and other fields in the ten county area comprising the association—Pitt, Martin, Edgecombe, Nash, Northampton, Beaufort, Bertie, Halifax, Hertford, and Wilson Counties.

Sugg, a former president of the association, in elaborating on the subject of eastern North Carolinians concerning themselves with their own destiny, stressed the importance of adequate planning to stem the tide of migration of young people from the area.

"People have migrated because people must follow employment," he said. To curtail this trend, Sugg emphasized it is the role of the Coastal Plain Development Association to provide opportunities for employment through inducement of desirable industries, expansion of technical and community college programs to train young men and women in occupations that can be used in their home area, and instilling attitudes of acceptance of people to be willing to move realistically from the past to the present and future.

Following the general meeting, chairmen and members of each of the six committees of the association met to lay the groundwork for 1975 plans for their committees.

The Agriculture committee announced it will again conduct its popular annual agricultural tour in June, and is studying several possibilities for the place where it will be held.

"Tribute To USA" is a theme chosen by the Youth Committee, which is working on a series of programs to celebrate America's bicentennial. This will involve young people in the ten county areas through 4-H clubs, schools and other young people's groups.

Ford Proposals To Hike Energy Bill 18 Per Cent

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Administration says President Ford's proposals would increase the average family's energy bill 18 per cent, with the price hike showing up most in natural gas.

The FEA, in an analysis issued Thursday, said Ford's proposed energy policy — a combination of fees and taxes on energy with reductions of income tax — would increase consumer prices in general by about 2 or 2.5 per cent.

But the governors of 10 Northeastern states who met with Ford claimed that his program would add 5 or 6 per cent to the nation's inflation rate.

FEA Administrator Frank G. Zarb told newsmen his experts would meet with the governors' economists to try to reconcile the discrepancy.

Meanwhile, the FEA stuck to its own analysis, indicating that energy prices — as a proportion of family income — would put a bigger bite on the lower income groups than the upper income groups under Ford's plans.

But the FEA added that Ford's proposals for direct payments and tax reductions would more than offset energy price increases for all but those making more than $24,500 a year.

Analyzing regional impacts, the FEA said the Mountain States would feel the largest increase in average fuel costs, while the lowest increase would come to the East South Central region.

The President chose to increase energy prices as a method of discouraging consumption while encouraging investment in new energy production. In his Thursday night television interview, Ford said fuel allocations would be used if his pricing program fails to deter consumption and rationing would be a last resort.

Zarb said Thursday that it would take shortages like those of last winter's Arab oil embargo to make the administration consider rationing.

Nevertheless, the FEA spelled out how a rationing system might be set up, to show what it would mean.

The agency said the average motorist, who now uses about 50 gallons of gasoline a month, would be limited to about 36 gallons a month if rationing were used to cut consumption one million barrels daily, the President's goal for

Under rationing, commercial users would be allotted 90 per cent of the 1973 gasoline consumption, while 3 per cent of the ration coupons would be set aside for distribution by state governments to emergency or hardship cases, the agency added.

The system now drafted on paper would allow unfettered buying and selling of ration coupons. Those needing more gasoline could get it by paying a premium to those who would not need all their coupons.

Can't Believe Her Old Buddy Meant It

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Angela Davis, one of the leaders of the California prison reform movement, says she doesn't think Ruchell Magee meant it when he called her "a pig" and a "dirty snitching rat."

Magee was sentenced to life imprisonment Thursday for his part in the 1970 shootout at the Marin County courthouse in which four men died. He immediately denounced Miss Davis, originally a codefendant, who was acquitted last year on charges of supplying guns and ammunition for the raid.

She later issued a statement branding Magee's sentence "the latest but most hideous persecution of a man who has been brutalized and victimized by systematic racism and repression all of his life." And through a spokesman she dismissed Magee's statement as something said in a moment of great pressure.

Chanting "Free Ruchell. It's right to rebel," 29 supporters were arrested while Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge William Ingram sentenced the black convict.

Miss Davis, originally slated to stand trial with Magee, had her case severed and won an acquittal on murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges in 1972.

Magee's first trial ended on April 3, 1973 with the jury deadlocked 11 to 1 for acquittal of murder and 11 to 1 for conviction of kidnaping. He won a change of venue to San Jose, pleaded guilty to aggravated kidnaping alone, then lost later attempts to withdraw that plea.

Points To N.C. 'Illimitable Opportunities'

MOREHEAD CITY — There are opportunities — "almost illimitable opportunities for our youth" — in Eastern North Carolina, says Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Chancellor of East Carolina University.

"They are here in our backyard if we seek them," Jenkins told an audience at Carteret Technical Institute here Thursday night.

Speaking here in a coastal county, Jenkins pointed to the fact that more than 53 per cent of the U. S. population lives within fifty miles of the ocean. By the year 2,000, this is expected to increase to 80 per cent. He pictured the sea itself as the frontier of the future.

Jenkins told his audience that educational opportunities exist to train people at virtually all levels of productivity in North Carolina.

Physician Shot; Wife Detained

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — A Gastonia physician was reported in unsatisfactory condition at a Charlotte hospital today after being shot and police said his wife was held without privilege of bond.

Police said Dr. E. E. Marlowe was shot at his Gastonia home Thursday. He was taken to a Gastonia hospital and then was transferred to Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

The physician's wife, Donna, was jailed on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, police said.

Police said circumstances of the shooting were under investigation.

CORRECTION

The recital by Miss Antonio Dalapas, with School of Music Dean Dr. Everett Pittman as accompanist, is to be held Sunday January 26 at 8:15 p.m. The use of the photograph of the two with a caption reading "In Recital Today" that appeared in Thursday's paper was in error.

Salaries Listing Source Unknown

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, chancellor of East Carolina University, said yesterday he does not know why someone distributed a list of faculty and staff salaries in the mail boxes of ECU faculty and staff members Wednesday.

In a letter to the faculty and staff, Dr. Jenkins said, "It has been brought to my attention that someone anonymously distributed a list of faculty and staff salaries. I do not know the motive for this action but feel you are entitled to the courtesy of determining for yourselves whether you would like to have this information distributed. Unfortunately, this was not done."

Dr. Jenkins said he had the assurance from everybody in the administration that they had nothing to do with this matter. "I personally would not have taken such action without first asking the faculty and staff for permission and removing from the list those who did not wish to have the information put in the public domain," Dr. Jenkins said.

Dr. Jenkins said the list is not completely accurate and no distinction was made between employees working nine months and those on a 12-month salary scale.

"There is a large number of 12-month employees and the distinction should be made," Dr. Jenkins said. "This is a very sufficient distinction."

Dr. Jenkins added, "I have told you (faculty) on several occasions that I have very low regard about things that are handled anonymously. I think all of us should have the courage to identify ourselves with our activities."

LONDON (AP) — Police suspect that a militant IRA splinter group beyond the control of the Dublin command was responsible for bombing a London waterworks in an effort to sabotage moves toward another cease-fire in Northern Ireland.

The bombing came two days after the shooting of a London schoolteacher who police believe was attacked by a local Irish Republican Army unit which mistook him for a retired army major. The teacher, Alfred Knott, 45, was in satisfactory condition.

At Wit's End

Last Friday, I opened the door and there stood Frank and Martha looking like an ad for Pepto-Bismol. "What's the matter?" I asked. "You both look miserable." Martha opened her handbag and shoved a letter at me. "We got this today from Pam."

"Pam? Your college senior? Wrote you a letter? It's the first one she's written since she's been to college, isn't it?" "There was one," said Martha. "Remember when we hadn't heard from her in two years and Frank got annoyed and sent a letter with a note saying, 'Did you get the check I enclosed in the last letter for $200?'" I nodded. "What two hundred dollars?"

Episcopal Priest Puts Arts In High School

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
WASHINGTON, Conn. (AP) — Combining the arts with a secondary school education was a new approach when the Rev. Willoughby Newton, 49, instituted the program in the early '60s at Wykeham Rise, a girls' school. But the success of the program has led him to what may be the ultimate in secondary school education, a precollege, preprofessional program in the arts at the school, which is coordinated with Gunner, a long-established boys' school nearby.

Training includes interaction with outstanding professional schools — Juilliard, the Manhattan School of Music — and teachers with professional stature — Robby Barnett of the Pilobolus Dance Theater teaches several days a week; Arthur Sherman will be artist-in-residence, a post held last year by actress June Havoc. Yehudi Menuhin, Lillian Gish, William Styron, Fredric March, Robert Anderson and others are involved in a seminar series.

Macaroni Salad Is Different

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

This remarkably good macaroni salad recipe was translated from "Froken Jensens Kogebog" published in Denmark in 1901 and adapted for today's use. The unusual feature of the recipe is its use of knob celery (celeriac). As Alex Hawkes, the noted botanist and cookbook writer says, "This nutritious, particularly tasteful root vegetable should be far better known in this country than it is." If you're not already familiar with knob celery we hope this delightful Danish salad will spur you on to making its acquaintance.

- DANISH MACARONI SALAD
- 1 medium knob celery
 - 2 and 1-3rd cups water
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni
 - 3 tablespoons capers
 - 1 cup real mayonnaise
 - 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
 - 2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Pare knob celery; slice thin and cut into long narrow strips (julienne) — there should be 2 cups. In a 2-quart saucepan bring 2 cups of the water, the lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon of the salt to a boil; add knob celery and boil until tender-crisp — 3 to 5 minutes; drain and cool. Cook macaroni according to package directions; cool and toss with knob celery and capers. In a small bowl, with a fork, beat together until smooth the mayonnaise, remaining 1-3rd cup water, vinegar, remaining 1 teaspoon salt and the Worcestershire sauce; add to macaroni mixture and toss well until creamily dressed. Serve at room temperature or chill. If, before serving, salad seems dry, add about 2 tablespoons water and toss gently to restore creaminess. Makes six 1-cup servings.

The old-time recipe for this salad noted that strips of cooked lean ham could be placed over it for garnishing or it could be served on a platter with slices of cooked ham around it.

Should View Entire Tax Scene

Gov. Holshouser, a Republican governor facing an overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature, didn't have a great many surprises in his State of the State address Monday night.

The one surprise he did spring doesn't seem to us to be very solidly based.

The governor proposed to the Legislature that it repeal the three percent sales tax on food effective July 1, 1976. He claimed that the tax could be repealed, with a corresponding loss of over $70 million in revenue annually, without increasing any other taxes.

Holshouser claimed that the loss could be made up through reversions in the state budget. Of course, the governor didn't say what is supposed to be done if there is a worsening in the economy and the surplus, or credit balance funds, don't materialize. Since North Carolina law requires no deficit spending the governor would leave that responsibility to the Democratic Legislators.

Nor did the governor offer an explanation to state employees who now stand to get only a five percent raise for the two years of the biennium. If all that extra money is going to be available next year, as the governor says, it would be enough to provide a modest increase in pay for state employees in 1976-77.

There are more responsible ways for the governor to proceed in making recommendations concerning state spending. If the food tax is working a special hardship on the low income and the elderly, it is possible that some sort of rebate system could be worked out for those groups. If the food tax is going to be eliminated in its entirety then the governor should discuss alternate taxes for replacing the funds lost.

We have no doubt that there is room for tax reform in the North Carolina tax structure, but we should look at the entire tax picture, rather than simply proposing that this or that tax be knocked off. We don't think Gov. Holshouser has looked at the entire spectrum of taxes before making his recommendations. Hopefully the Legislature will do so.

Hopeful Signs In Economy

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The inflation eating away at the family budget has started to nibble more slowly: a gallon of gasoline costs less than it did in August; housing prices aren't going up so quickly; beef prices are actually coming down.

Government and industry statistics as well as Associated Press surveys show that prices generally are still higher than they were a year ago and are expected to rise even further. But the rate of increase is declining.

Among the encouraging signs: —The seven-tenths of a per cent increase in the Consumer Price Index in December was the smallest rise since July.

—The November-to-December increase in the average mortgage rate for new homes was the smallest since April.

—Industry figures show the average price of a gallon of gasoline has been declining since mid-Summer. The December average was almost 4 per cent less than the August figure.

—Heating oil prices are generally at or below the level they were a year ago.

—Real estate dealers say prices for land have leveled off in some areas and are increasing more slowly in others. All these indications, however, come after a long period of steadily worsening inflation and recession.

—The cost of living rose 12.2 per cent during 1974, the steepest increase since 1946. Real spendable earnings — weekly pay adjusted for taxes and inflation — declined 5.4 per cent last year for the average married worker with three dependents.

—The average mortgage rate for a new home in December was almost 10 per cent higher than it was a year earlier; the median cost of a new, single-family house was nearly double the price 10 years ago.

—The December gasoline price was about 26 per cent higher than it was a year ago and President Ford's proposed fuel taxes and energy con-

Must Cut, Not Hike Costs

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—For the first time in the memories of most legislators the General Assembly is going to have to make some decisions in this session on who to take money away from rather than who to give it to.

That, in a nutshell, is the economic condition of the state.

Not since the Great Depression have members of the General Assembly been faced with cutting new programs, refusing hefty salary hikes for teachers and other state employes, rejecting expansive building projects.

In fact, the situation has been exactly the opposite, with members of the General Assembly always having a thick cushion of money on which to bounce favorite projects.

For a generation, the budget has been put forth with the prospect that improved revenues would cough up a pocketful of change not earmarked for use.

Over the past 10 years, this increase has averaged $50.2 million per year—total of $502.8 million over and above the budget and revenue estimates contained therein.

Giveaway

Thus, pressure groups and lobbyists, state employes, pet projects could be satisfied without legislators having to do harm to the base budget.

But not his year. The budget document itself presented by the governor and the Advisory Budget Commission calls for increased state spending of only five per cent in fiscal 1975-76; and another 3.7 per cent in the 1976-77, the second year of the two-year budget period.

Thus, the current $3.2 billion budget goes up to $3.3 billion in the coming fiscal year; and to $3.5 billion in the next. And bear in mind that this two-year budgeting process puts the end of the budget period 30 months away; and only begins in July—six months from now.

"This budget... is an effort to look realistically at the prospects. There is not shown in here the slack in revenue estimates that the General Assembly has become accustomed to... the forecasts are highly realistic," says Budget Officer S. Kenneth Howard.

Using a complicated computerized formula linking the history of tax yields in various areas with economic indicators over a 14-year period and drawing on the best possible judgment of economists, Howard has presented a budget which he labels extremely realistic and based on rather sharp drops in the growth rate of state revenues.

That does not mean, Howard argues, declining state revenues at all—but declining growth. Actual tax collections should go from $1.5 billion this year to $1.7 billion the next, and $1.9 billion the next. Growing, still, but not as rapidly.

Severe Decline
In summary, Howard views the immediate future for North Carolina's economy as reflecting a "real decline that is severe, with recovery sluggish, and with a rather severe rate of inflation."

That assumption undergirds this budget presentation, and is based primarily on projections in two key areas of the economy: the Consumer Price Index, and Real Per Capita Income.

The math is correct, Howard says, "if there is a full-scale depression, war in the Middle East, major chaotic change... all bets are off."

State experts predict that per capita income will show a two per cent drop this fiscal year, ending June 30; will remain stagnant in the 1975-76 fiscal year without change; and begin to climb slowly upward at a two per cent rate in fiscal 1976-77.

That, Howard said, "would be the worst decline since the Depression of the 1930s."

For comparison, the per capita income growth rate in 1972 for North Carolina was 7.2 per cent; and in 1973 was three per cent.

The price index, state economists predict, will show a 13 per cent inflation rate this year; slowing to 10 cent in 1975-76; and to seven per cent the following fiscal year.

As to the validity of the economic assumptions on which the projections are based, Howard says bluntly, "we have had to stake ourselves out and make some assumptions... and everybody will shoot at them." If you don't like them, he said, make your own.

"And that," Howard added, "is just what the General Assembly will have to do before it is over... they will have to make some guesses of their own."

The Big Pump-Priming

WASHINGTON — The big question everyone is asking is, "Can President Ford's tax cut turn the economy around?" Will the money he hopes to return to the taxpayer prime the pump of consumer spending and bring about the prosperity we all dream about?

I went out to pull several wage earners right after President Ford laid out his economic message and, if my sampling is correct, 1975 could be one of our best years.

Horace Cutweiler, a bus driver who stands to receive a tax rebate of $53, was the first one interviewed.

"What do you plan to do with your tax cut?"

"I'm going to take my family to Palm Springs for the winter."

"That's marvelous," I said. "Originally, I was going to buy gold with it, but when you get a tax cut of this proportion you might as well enjoy yourself."

Mrs. Myrtle Oppenheim said that she and her husband figured to get back $120. She told me her husband, a fireman, wasn't home.

"Where is he?"

"He's at the boat show looking at Chris-Crafts. We've always wanted a yacht, but we never could afford it. But when we read about the rebate, we decided we wouldn't get the opportunity again. I told him not to buy anything that would require more than a crew of three."

Roger Montalban, a waiter, was not aware that he would get back $103 for 1974. At first he didn't believe me, but when I read him President Ford's message he became excited and went up to the manager of the restaurant and said: "I quit."

The manager was taken aback. "But, Roger, what are you going to do?"

"I am going to open my own French restaurant. With the tax cut, people are going to demand fine French food again and it would be stupid for me not to go into my own business at this time."

Ezra Donado, the night porter in my building, stands to gain $37, but he said the windfall would not change his lifestyle. "I might go back to Sorrento to see the old country, and I'd like to buy my parents a condominium in Fort Lauderdale, but I will continue working at my job. I assure you the money will not go to my head."

Ellie Cobey, a secretary, thought she might get back as much as $195. She refused to say what she was going to do with the money. But while we were talking she received a telephone call from Gstaad, Switzerland. I overheard the conversation. "Tell Miss Taylor I just came into some money and I am now in a position to buy her diamond ring. I will be sending Harry Winston over to appraise it. If it's everything Mr. Burton says it is, I'm sure we can conclude the deal."

The only one I met who said he was not expecting a tax rebate was Lyndon Littlefield, who makes $300,000 a year.

"Why won't you get a refund?" I asked him.

"Because I have all my money in tax-free bonds, and I don't have to pay any taxes for 1974. I think it's very unfair of the President to give everyone in the United States tax rebates except those who don't pay taxes. After all,

Other Editors Say Steel And Dirty Air

(New York Times)

Back in 1965, the United States Steel Corporation and the city of Gary, Ind., agreed that the company would eliminate its 53 open hearth furnaces by the end of 1973, replacing them with a cleaner and more economical process of steel-making. A year after that generous deadline had passed, ten of the furnaces were still fouling the air to such an extent that pollution in Gary's downtown area exceeded the allowable limit by nearly 100 per cent.

That is the essential fact in the dispute which has resulted in the closing down of Open Hearth No. 4, with furloughs of steel workers expected to reach 500. Thanks to the patience of the Environmental Protection Agency, which was drawn into the controversy by way of the Clean Air Act, the company has enjoyed two extensions of the deadline in 1974, one of which it freely signed as a consent decree. When it served notice in December that it would not honor that agreement, the agency took the company to court. Judge Allen Sharp was "not at all impressed with the good faith" with which United States Steel sought another extension on the alleged grounds of unexpected difficulties.

Neither, it appeared, were Mayor Richard G. Hatcher of Gary nor, in spite of the threat to jobs, Edward Sadlowski, district director of the United Steelworkers. Least impressed of all was the E.P.A., which had spent years in coaxing and negotiating with U.S. Steel.

The Federal agency would not oppose the extension, it told the court, of the company were fined $5,000 a day for as long as it continued to pollute the air of Gary with its open hearth furnaces. Its objective was not to penalize the company but to stir it to action. The court, agreeing, gave it till March 1 next, subject to an interim penalty of $2,300 a day.

In a response showing consideration for neither its work force nor the environment, U.S. Steel closed down Hearth No. 4 rather than pay "tribute." That is of course its interpretation and its privilege. But the exercise of that privilege can hardly enhance the company's standing. It has already proved, with 43 of its furnaces, that in Mr. Sadlowski's words, "You can make steel and have clean air at the same time." It need only complete a process well advanced and then inexcusable left unfinished.

No Big Soviet Trade Drop Seen

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be no serious drop in American-Soviet commerce despite the collapse of a major trade agreement between the two superpowers, U.S. officials say.

However, the officials disagree with President Ford's judgment that trade with the Russians can be expanded much over the $900 million reached in 1974.

"I would be surprised if trade took a dramatic drop, but there's little hope for much growth now," one State Department economist said. There had been more than hope for expansion when American and Soviet officials signed the agreement in 1972; there were flat-out predictions of trade totaling billions of dollars.

That agreement called for a $722 million payoff of the Russian World War II Lend-Lease debt in exchange for a dropping of U.S. tariff discriminations and a promise to arrange major loans from the American Export-Import Bank.

But Moscow canceled the accord last week because Congress severely limited credits and demanded that Moscow guarantee freedom of emigration for Russian Jews as a condition for dropping the tariff restrictions.

Trade with the Soviets had been small before 1972, running from $157 million in 1969 to $218 million in 1971.

Following the agreement, U.S.-Soviet commerce jumped to $642 million in 1972 and vaulted to $1.4 billion in 1973.

The total tailed off to an estimated $901 million last year because of a drop in Soviet purchases of American grain, but was expected to rebound on the basis of Russia's need for machinery and technology.

That need still exists to some degree and will help keep trade levels at their current rate. Contributing to the situation are existing long-range contracts, Russian demand for available food grains and a U.S. desire to continue importing Soviet chrome, platinum and diamonds.

In fact, U.S. demand for these products has become a major factor in the trade relationship.

While the 1974 trade balance between the two countries favored the United States by a ratio of 1½ to 1, the margin has shrunk drastically over recent years.

The dive in trade balance is explained by administration economists in terms of a growing U.S. need for Soviet raw material, including petroleum products and a diverse Russian trading policy that has Moscow buying increasingly from other capitalist nations.

The INSIDE REPORT

A Straitjacket For CIA

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Even before the most recent expose of charges against the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), its freedom to conduct clandestine operations abroad had been quietly placed by Congress in a straitjacket with deeply disturbing implications for this country's security.

The straitjacket was an innocuous-seeming amendment to the foreign aid bill sponsored by Rep. Leo Ryan, an obscure California Democrat. His amendment, requiring President Ford to report to Congress the details and justification of every secret CIA foreign operation before it can be approved, sailed through last month without visible opposition from an administration benumbed by the anti-CIA onslaught.

What makes the Ryan amendment a straitjacket for intelligence operations is its singling out the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committees among the "appropriate committees" of Congress which the President is ordered to take into his confidence.

Members of those two committees include the most vociferous critics of the CIA, particularly its clandestine operations or "department of dirty tricks." Until now, they had no regular access to intelligence secrets. Supersensitive information had been limited to a handful of senior members of armed services and appropriations committees, making up the CIA oversight panels. Now these secrets will be distributed among nearly one-third the total membership of Congress, including the CIA's most intransigent critics.

Gerald R. Ford and future Presidents are thus forced to risk virtually uncontrollable security breaches by hostile members of Congress, some of whom never have accepted the need for CIA's secret political operations abroad. In today's post-Watergate atmosphere, where leaks of state secrets have become a way of life for politicians, this raises a real question whether the CIA's foreign operations can continue at all. That is, in fact, the intent of many congressional critics, who maintain the dubious notion that the blacker arts of espionage are a useless cold war relic.

There can be no ducking the clear language of the Ryan amendment, which began operating two weeks ago, when Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asked for a list of present CIA undercover operations abroad, with their justification attached. A letter from President Ford was dispatched to Sparkman last week with the complete list.

Sparkman, who has never been a CIA critic, obviously sought this explosive piece of information to protect himself from CIA critics on his committee. Sparkman is now discussing with the CIA a possible method for safeguarding this information, perhaps a "need to know" committee rule which would place each Senator under oath not to reveal it.

Skeptics, including many in Congress, doubt the information can be kept inviolate. Although the Ryan amendment singled out only the two foreign affairs panels, it requires the President to "report" to other "appropriate com-

Strength For Today

RISE AGAINST THE WIND

It is significant that kites always rise against the wind, and airplanes take off into the wind, not with it. In fact, an aircraft which tried to take off with the wind would probably suffer disaster.

Most people always plan the projects of their life in such a way as to take off with the wind. They hope that a fortunate breeze will raise them above the inconveniences of life and carry them on to happiness. Yet this logic is often the reason for failure. Someone, with the sailing ships of the eighteenth century in mind, once said that no such ship ever worked its way anywhere in a dead clam. In the same way, no one ever achieved robust happiness who tried to take off with the wind. In most cases it is the mighty blasts of adverse circumstances which get under our wings and raise us heavenward.

This is a hard philosophy of life to face. Nevertheless, obstacles and difficulties make men, while life's easy circumstances frequently ruin them.

Churchmen Gather For Enthroning

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — In ancient rites attended for the first time in more than 400 years by envoys from the Vatican, the Most Rev. Donald Coggan is being enthroned today as the 101st Archbishop of Canterbury.

He becomes spiritual leader of the Church of England and of the 65 million Anglicans around the world, including 3 million Episcopalians in the United States.

Pope Paul VI sent Jan Cardinal Willebrands, Dutch president of the Vatican's Secretariat for Promotion of Christian Unity, and Msgr. Bruno Heim, the Apostolic Delegate to Britain, to the installation of the 65-year-old former Archbishop of York.

Two other cardinals — Archbishop Leo Suenens of Malines-Brussels and Archbishop Francois Marty of Paris — were also attending.

The presence of the Roman Catholic prelates made it the most ecumenical congregation to be assembled in Canterbury Cathedral since Henry VIII broke with Rome in 1531. Their presence also symbolized the progress in the reconciliation begun by Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher and Pope John XXIII in 1960.

Also present were Eastern Orthodox prelates, Methodists, Lutherans, Free Churchers, Quakers, Salvationists and representatives of many other religions, along with about 150 Anglican bishops, suffragans and assistant bishops.

The 100th archbishop, Dr. Michael Ramsey, retired in November. Dr. Coggan had been Archbishop of York, the second-ranking prelate in the Church of England, since 1961.

Evans-Novak. (Continued from page 4) mittes of the Congress." That language is assumed to include full memberships of Armed Services and appropriations committees. This makes up a small army: 153 members of six committees (with some overlaps) in the last Congress, and probably more in the new Congress.

Yet, when the Ryan amendment was passed by the House and Senate with scarcely a murmur in mid-December, neither the White House nor the CIA made any serious effort to organize resistance. One Republican moderate on the Senate-House conference committee that wrote the final version of the foreign aid bill last month was amazed when the White House did not appeal for help.

"They were shell-shocked from the Chilean expose," he told us, "and just couldn't come to grips with the fact that in this thing they were playing with fire."

The White House was truly dealing with much more than it could handle last December when the foreign aid bill, already six months delayed, came up for a final vote. The hottest issue was not drastic expansion of congressional CIA oversight but how to handle another congressional effort to dictate policy in the attempted cut-off of Turkish aid.

Moreover, the damaging expose of CIA's efforts to influence Chilean politics, followed by allegations of domestic spying, have created an anti-CIA mood which the beleaguered White House is unwilling to challenge.

That mood has destroyed the congressional confidence in the CIA necessary for it to function properly. Instead, one-third of Congress is now armed with the right to know the agency's most secret operations abroad. Under those absurd ground rules, foreign sources essential to CIA's clandestine activities will not risk involvement, for fear of exposure. Only time will tell the cost to the nation of such a straitjacket.

This Sunday at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church will be Human Relations Sunday across Methodism. Guest speaker will be the Rev. James Cummings of Mount Olive United Methodist Church, Lumberton and the Rev. John Farmer will be preaching at Mount Olive.

Life-Line

Dad . . . Mother . . . his girl friend . . . someone dropped him a line! It brought a smile, a bit of nostalgia, a new incentive to succeed.

Those first weeks away at college mean quite a transition. New surroundings, new friends, new subjects are only a small part of the experience. New freedoms and new responsibilities are the crucial areas of this adjustment.

If he were your boy you would remember this, and keep those letters coming . . . even if he hasn't much time to answer.

And if he were your boy you would be mighty glad you reared him in a Christian home, and went with him to church, and saw to it he had moral and religious training, and an earnest faith.

For letters can be a life-line with home . . . but they cannot provide what Home and Church must provide first.

Dangerous VMI Next Test For Pirates

Rampants Rally To Nip Knights

RED OAK—Rose High School fought back from a 19-point deficit to capture a 30-22 wrestling victory over Northern last night and remain unbeaten in Division I matches. The Rampants lost the first two matches of the night, giving the Knights a 19-0 lead. But Northern got only one more victory the rest of the way. Rose took eight of the final nine bouts, taking the lead on Ron Hunt's victory at 197. Jeff Hagans, the only Rampant still unbeaten, sealed the win at heavyweight.

Mike Alexander, Rose's 121-pounder, suffered his first loss of the year, bowing in a 6-4 decision. His record is now 14-1 for the year. Hagans, unbeaten, 16-0.

Of the Rampant wins, two came on pins. Northern won one match by a pin, another by a forfeit and one by a major decision.

Now 14-1 overall, and 6-0 in conference competition, the Rampants will travel to Wilson on Monday for their next match.

Summary:
100: K. Moore (NN) won by forfeit.
107: T. Mitchell (NN) pinned David Dean, 1:43.
114: M. Morgan (NN) decided Matthew Ward, 10-0.

172: Ronnie Goodall (R) pinned S. Battle, 5:44.

Heavyweight: Jeff Hagans (R) pinned E. White, 4:02.

The Bucs, who have built their Southern Conference leading record to 6-0 (11-4 overall) will be seeking to close out the first half of their campaign without a blemish, but Coach Dave Patton admits that the Bucs will have their work cut out for them. "VMI is very capable of whipping us," he warned.

Pirate Guard Buzzy Braman

The coach also said he wanted to correct a statement attributed to him by the Associated Press (carried in last night's Daily Reflector). In the story, he was quoted as saying after the Richmond game that the Greenville fans "don't come to see us play."

"I don't know where they got that," Patton said. "I told reporters in Richmond that I was disappointed that we didn't play this well at home for the local fans. The team and I are quite pleased with the support we've gotten at home."

The Pirates go into the game with VMI following two big road performances against Davidson and Richmond. The Bucs bombed Davidson, 110-78, on Monday, then trimmed Richmond, 101-80, Wednesday night. On both occasions, they were shorthanded.

Kenny Edmonds missed the Davidson game with the flu, and Reggie Lee suffered an ankle injury early in the game. He's not back yet, and probably won't be ready until next Saturday's Furman game at the earliest. Then, with Edmonds back, but weak, Wednesday night, the Bucs were without Donnie Owens, who was also hit by the bug.

"I hope that Donnie will be ready to play against VMI, and I'm hopeful that no one else is going to get sick," Patton said. "We had to play against Richmond with only two guards, and there were several times when we really didn't have a guard on the floor."

Patton termed the Richmond game another "tremendous team effort under adverse conditions."

"We really had only one sound guard—Buzzy Braman. It so happened that Kenny was able to play most of the game. But we did have to have Al Edwards, Earl Garner, and at times Gregg Ashorn to fill in in the backcourt."

The Bucs will be shooting for their fifth straight win—but VMI has done even better. They'll be after their seventh in a row. That's the best mark the Keydets have had in 25 years. Currently, VMI has a 4-2 Southern mark, and a 7-6 overall record. Wednesday night, they downed William & Mary, 71-69, for their sixth in a row.

The streak started with a 98-95 win over Richmond and since then they've beaten The Citadel, Christian Newport, Towson State and Bethany, in addition to the Indians.

"These teams may not be well known," Patton said, "but they sure can help to build the confidence needed to win the big games, and they look at us as a big game since we're on top right now."

Patton added that when he first saw VMI earlier in the year, he said that they would be a factor in the conference race. "They have a big opportunity tomorrow night. I expect them to come on the floor with some real good shooting, a zone defense, a good fast break, and the entire corps of cadets yelling in our ears."

VMI played the Pirates down to the wire in Minges, and that is one thing worrying Patton. "We only won by five, 73-68, and their zone defense hurt us a lot," he said. "We've improved, of course, but so have they. They're getting a lot of help from their bench, and their freshmen have come on strong."

VMI, prior to Wednesday night's game, had four players in double figures. Guard John Krovic led the way with a 13.7 mark, while Ron Carter, a freshman, is second at 13.2. Will Bynum has a 12.3 mark, followed by Curt Reppart at 11.5. Dave Montgomery, a freshman who has broken into the starting lineup, has an 8.2 mark, and has been one of the sparkplugs in their newfound strength.

Overall, the Keydets are averaging 84.3 points a game, while allowing 84.1. They are hitting 48.9 per cent of their shots, along with a 68.4 mark at the line. They are pulling in just over 50 per cent of the loose balls.

The Pirates have only three in double figures. Ashorn is leading the team with a 13.4 mark, followed by Larry Hunt and Robert Geter, both scoring 11.4 per outing.

Overall, the Pirates are hitting 87.8 per game and allowing 78.9

They've made 49.1 per cent of their field goals, and 70.8 per cent of the free throws. They've pulled off 52.7 per cent of the rebounds.

Both coaches look for quite an affair. "They like to run," Patton said, "so it should be a high scoring game. They can shoot."

"East Carolina plays a tough, reckless style, with emotion. They ignore personal fouls and come after you with 10 or 12 different players. We ran with them when we played in December and did a pretty good job. I don't know yet what we'll do this time, but I think it will be a real brawl," VMI Coach Bill Blair said.

Edenton Rips Williamston

EDENTON—Williamston's wrestlers ran into undefeated Edenton last night, and the Aces romped to a 69-6 victory.

The lone Williamston points came in the opening weight class, where Edenton forfeited. After that, the Aces won everything in sight, taking 12 straight. Of those, 11 came on pins.

The loss left Williamston with a 5-3 record on the year. They will play host to Plymouth on Wednesday.

Beltone Wins 3rd

Beltone continued to roll through the Women's Basketball League last night, winning its third game in as many starts.

In the opener, the Little Mint romped to a 52-8 win over Daniel Construction. Little Mint worked up a 23-6 lead in the first half, then crushed Daniel, 29-2, in the second half to win easily.

Leslie Ball led Little Mint with 16, while Suzanne Manning had 14.

In the second game, Beltone romped to an 80-16 win over Buccaneer. By the end of the half, Beltone held a 39-4 lead. They outbit Buccaneer, 41-12 in the second half, for another easy victory.

Vangie Jones led Beltone with 19, while Lynne Kurney had 18, P.J. Taylor had 16 and Debbie Pollard had 15.

The 1976 USGA Women's Open golf tournament will be played at the Rolling Green Golf Club in Springfield, Pa.

Vikings Whip Southern Nash

SPRING HOPE—D.H. Conley's Vikings took another step closer to the Eastern Carolina Conference championship last night with an 84-66 win over Southern Nash.

The Southern Nash junior varsity won its game, 50-36, while the Lady Firebirds also came away with a win, 40-22.

In the girls' contest, Southern Nash held Conley scoreless in the first period, while dumping in 13 points of their own. They outbit Conley, 9-6, in the second quarter for a 22-6 halftime lead.

Southern again outbit the Valkyries, 12-10, to take a 34-16 lead into the final period. Both hit six points in the final frame.

Harlem Hall had 14 points to lead Southern Nash, while S. Hall added 12. Alice Costen picked up 11 for Conley.

The Vikings, now 17-1 overall and 14-0 in the conference, are within three games of capturing the title. Only North Lenoir and North Pitt can still catch them, and Conley will play host to each of them on the next two Tuesdays.

In the first period, Conley eased out into a 19-13 lead. They rushed out to a 48-28 lead at the half with a 29-15 margin in the second frame.

Conley added five more points to its lead in the third period with a 17-12 margin, running it to 65-40. They coasted home with a 19-26 deficit in the final period, but it was too late for Southern to rally.

Clennel Streeter led Conley with 30 points, while Melvin Williams had 17, Rick Mobley had 13 and Charlie Keyes had 12. Sidney Joyner had 19, William Bridges had 13 and Walter Williams had 12 for Southern.

Conley can eliminate North Lenoir when they meet Tuesday at Hollywood in the Vikings' next outing.

Johns Hopkins Is Swim Guest

East Carolina University's swimming team will play host to Johns Hopkins Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in what may prove to be one of the most exciting meets of the year for the Pirates.

Johns Hopkins, a member of Division II of the NCAA, is sixth-ranked in their division, and John Coach Ray Scharf of East Carolina expects a very rough meet. "The competition should be outstanding," he said. "They have on national champion—a backstroke—on the team. They also have pretty good diving, and we're kind of weak there right now."

"The Pirates, 5-2 in dual meet competition, look for good performances from Tomas Palmgren, their flying Finn; Gary Pabst, and John McCauley. Palmgren recently broke two varsity records against North Carolina, while Pabst snapped two of the oldest records on the team. McCauley broke the 100-yard freestyle record recently, and Scharf said he hadn't expected that one to be snapped any time soon.

"I rate the two of us about even," he said. "It should be a very fine meet to watch."

The meet, held at Minges Natatorium, is free to the public.

St. James In The Lead

St. James Methodist slipped into a half-game lead in the Church Basketball League last night.

The Methodists downed Jarvis Memorial, 62-43, to raise their record to 5-1 on the year, a half-game ahead of Immanuel, 4-1.

St. James outbit Jarvis, 28-20, in the first half, then held a 34-23 advantage in the second half.

Chuck Mohn led St. James with 13 points, while Mike Board had 12 and Butch Estes had 10. Jarvis was led by Bill Kuykendall with 16 and John Taylor with 13.

Surprise! Miller's Not In The Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif.
(AP) — Johnny Miller got a chuckle on the first tee. "As soon as I hit my drive, the first shot in the golf tournament, some guy in the gallery yells at me, 'Boy, what's wrong? You're still even par.'" But it was the last laugh he had. There were no more giggles. The runaway, record-setting winner of the Phoenix and Tucson Opens had to work hard over the toughest holes on the course to salvage a one-under par 71.

And that left Miller in the unaccustomed posture of trailing the leaders. He's five shots back of Hubert Green and Larry Ziegler, tied with 66s after Thursday's first round in the $185,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

It is the first time this season, the first time in nine rounds, that Miller has failed to lead or share the lead. It's the first time he's shot in the 70s.

But the pollyanna guy with the whiplash swing found the bright spots.

"At least I didn't get in position where I'm blown right out of the tournament," he said.

"This was just a bad round. Maybe the rest of the week will be better."

Jack Nicklaus, who proclaimed a massive indifference to Miller's progress, also had a 71 in the brilliant sunshine that bathed Cypress Point, one of three par-72 courses being used for this unique event on the picturesque Monterey Peninsula. "I didn't know what Miller was doing until I finished my round," said Nicklaus, whose position as the game's premier performer has been challenged by Miller's recent spectacular exploits. "I'm not concerned with him if he isn't leading the golf tournament."

"If he's shooting 65, then I'm interested." Miller, Nicklaus and Green, a four-time winner last year, all played Cypress Point, the shortest and probably the easiest of the three courses. Ziegler, who won the Moroccan Open late last fall, was at Spyglass Hill.

Two strokes back of the leaders were Ross Randall, Andy Tied and veteran Gene Littler, tied at 68. Randall and North played Cypress, Littler was at Spyglass.

The 69 by Cesar Sanudo was the low score at Pebble Beach, the seaside links layout that will serve as the site for the final round Sunday. Sanudo was tied with Jerry McGee, at Cypress Point, and redhead Tom Watson, at Spyglass. They'll all shift courses for the second and third rounds.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin blew to a 77 at Spyglass. Tom Weiskopf had a 75 on the same course. Bruce Crampton had an 80. Billy Casper shot a 74.

PGA king Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player are not competing in this usually weather-plagued event that was blessed with ideal playing conditions.

Eastern Gets Win

Eastern gained a 29-27 overtime victory over South Greenville in the Elementary Basketball League yesterday. Eastern held a 5-4 lead at the end of the first period, but trailed at the half, 8-7. They were down, 18-15, after the third, but came back to knot it at 25-25 at the end of regulation time. Eastern then outthit South Greenville, 4-2, in the extra period for the win.

Emmett Walsh led Eastern with 13 points, while Jimmie Jones paced South Greenville with 40.

South Greenville took a 24-7 win in the junior varsity game.

Attacking The Zone Properly To Be State's Test Saturday

By The Associated Press
"Attacking the Zone Properly" will be the basketball lesson North Carolina State will be trying to learn in its home game against Wake Forest Saturday night.

The Wake Forest Deacons used a tight 1-2-2 zone defense in defeating the State Wolfpack 83-78 in the first round of the Big Four Tournament in Greensboro early in January. It was the first defeat of the season for N.C. State, and knocked it from first place in the national rankings.

N.C. State, which defeated North Carolina 88-85 in overtime in its last game Wednesday, is 11-2 and ranked No. 5.

Wake Forest also won Wednesday, 122-109 over Duke to end a three-game losing streak. The Deacons are 9-6.

"Zones have obviously given us problems," said State coach Norm Sloan. He is not pleased that his team will have been idle a full week, but he says, "I think we'll be ready this time.

We will put in a lot of work on this phase of our offense before Saturday.

"Our players have great respect for Wake Forest. But I feel we will be ready for them.

All seven Atlantic Coast Conference teams will be playing Saturday. North Carolina, 14th ranked and 9-4, will play at Maryland, 13-2 and No. 3, in a 3 p.m. regionally televised game.

Clemson, 8-7, which upset Maryland 83-82 at home Wednesday, will be at Virginia, and Duke will be home to Princeton at night.

ACC teams were idle Thursday night and also have an open date tonight.

Duke plans a double celebration in conjunction with the game against Princeton. The Blue Devils will be marking their 50th year of basketball and the 35th anniversary of the dedication of their Indoor Stadium.

The stadium was dedicated Jan. 6, 1940 in a game against Princeton. Duke won 36-27. In its last game, on Wednesday night, Duke scored 109 points and lost to Wake Forest, which scored 122.

Duke will honor the members of its 1925 and 1940 teams at a dinner before the Princeton game and at a reception after it. A cake four-feet high is being baked for the reception.

The 1940 team was coached by Eddie Cameron, who retired in 1972 as director of athletics after serving Duke for 46 years. Wallace Wade, the long-time football coach, was the athletic director in 1940 and was largely responsible for the building of the Indoor Stadium.

The 1940 team under Cameron had a 19-7 mark. When he retired, the Indoor Stadium was renamed in his honor.

In their 50 years of basketball, Duke teams have won 843 games and lost 423 for a .665 mark.

UCLA Returns To Notre Dame

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

UCLA's basketball team returns to the scene of the crime Saturday and John Wooden isn't afraid of getting mugged.

"That's just another balgame for us," says the UCLA coach while looking forward to meeting Notre Dame at South Bend, site of last year's dramatic 71-70 loss that ended the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak.

Wooden, whose fourth-ranked team beat UC-Santa Barbara 104-76 Thursday night, insists that he feels little emotion about the upcoming game at the Fighting Irish stronghold.

The teams met earlier this year in Los Angeles and UCLA rallied from a 19-point deficit to beat Notre Dame 85-72.

"I think we could stay with UCLA by playing as well as we did in Los Angeles last month," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps, giving more public thought to the upcoming game than his opposite number.

In the only other game Thursday night involving a ranked team, No. 2 Louisville defeated St. Louis 78-70.

Rich Washington scored 20 points and Dave Meyers had 19 to lead UCLA's easy victory over UC-Santa Barbara. Two Bruin rallies in the first half put the game out of reach of the Gauchos, who trailed 50-30 at halftime.

Bill Bunton and Phillip Bond combined for Louisville's final 10 points and guided the Cardinals over St. Louis.

Seniors Allen Murphy and Junior Bridgeman scored 20 points apiece for Louisville, which trailed through much of the opening half before resting on a 39-37 lead at intermission.

McKinney scored 20 points and Billy Morris 14 for St. Louis, 6-7. Louisville owned a 41-32 bulge in rebounds and outshot the Billikens 50.9 per cent to 43.5.

Elsewhere, Carlos Mina scored 26 points to help Long Beach State beat the University of Pacific 87-56; Tulsa stopped Wichita State 74-63 with a tough zone defense and a slow-down game; Tulane got 14 points from Phil Hicks and 13 from John Bobzien to beat Illinois 81-69; Larry Haralson scored 21 of his 28 points in the first half to lead Drake past North Texas State 83-76; Pat Tallent and Clyde Burwell had 20 points apiece as George Washington tripped Catholic University 101-72 and Jim Bostic and Richard Robinson combined for 37 points to lead New Mexico State past West Texas State 72-58.

Quickness Is Calvin's Key

By The Associated Press
How does Calvin Murphy get by in the National Basketball Association? Very easily, says his coach, Johnny Egan.

"He competes in the NBA because of his fantastic quickness ... that's the only way a man that small could compete in this league," the Houston Rockets' coach says of his diminutive star.

The 5-foot-10 Murphy, smallest man in the NBA, continued to fuel the Rockets Thursday night with a 30-point explosion that led a 96-95 victory over the Atlanta Hawks.

Murphy's big night was a result of circumstance, the player said.

"Rudy Tomjanovich wasn't feeling well, so they went to me more than they normally do," Murphy noted.

In the night's other NBA games, the New York Knicks beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 100-89 and the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Philadelphia 76ers 108-100. In the American Basketball Association, the Kentucky Colonels beat the San Diego Conquistadors 113-109 and the Denver Nuggets turned back the San Antonio Spurs 127-117.

Two of Murphy's points came in the last minute and proved to be the winning basket for the Rockets. He tossed in a 23-foot jump shot.

John Drew scored 22 points for the Hawks and John Brown 18. Ed Ratliff scored 20 for Houston, which broke a seven-game losing streak.

Knicks 100, Cavaliers 89
Phil Jackson's 29 points and 13 rebounds and Earl Monroe's 26 points led New York over Cleveland.

Warriors 108, 76ers 100
Rick Barry scored 55 points, highest individual total of the NBA, as Golden State beat injury-hampered Philadelphia. Barry scored 21 points in the third period to help the Warriors come from behind for a victory which increased their Pacific Division lead to nine games over idle Seattle.

The all-league performer hit on 23 of 49 field goal attempts, was 9-for-10 from the freethrow line and added five rebounds as well as seven steals in his 12th game this season above 40 points.

Barry trails only Bob McAdoo of Buffalo in NBA scoring.

Colonels 113, Q's 109
Louie Dampier scored 10 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter to help Kentucky beat San Diego. Wil Jones led the winners with 22 points.

Nuggets 127, Spurs 117
Late free-throw shooting by All-Star guard Mack Calvin and Denver quickness produced a victory over San Antonio.

At Odds Over Drug Statement

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Federal and city officials appear to be at odds over the authenticity of Roxie Ann Rice's tale that she was a courier of drugs for National Football League players.

Thomas Maher, administrator of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration here, said Thursday the DEA considered the police report of Miss Rice's statement "authentic" and that her account to police contains "enough substance to warrant a full-scale investigation" into possible drug traffic involving professional athletes across the nation. The statement has her mentioning seven NFL teams and two in the American Basketball Association.

But Maher's comment came after Maj. Charles Wren, assistant chief of detectives in St. Louis, had said Miss Rice, 19, of St. Louis, denied she made such a statement.

"We are looking into this to the fullest extent," Wren said. "So far we have found nothing to substantiate any charges attributed to Miss Rice."

Wren also said she refused to take a lie detector test or to talk to any one of several persons in the NFL who remember some of the incidents related in a 39-page intra-departmental police memo.

"She flatly denied the charges she reportedly made, flatly refused to take a lie detector test and flatly refused to talk to reporters," Wren said. He said Miss Rice's decision came on his advice.

"In the absence of an attorney, I felt I must take a protective role in her case. I did not want her to be exploited," Wren said.

The memo was made during a six-hour session with Det. Sgt. Charles O'Brien and agents of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration. It quoted Miss Rice as saying she was recruited to transport briefcases containing what she believed were narcotics to players in many NFL cities.

Room To Learn In Washington

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A general named Andy Rooney recently visited Washington, D.C., to study what it is they do there. The results are on CBS-TV Sunday night in a superb special called "Mr. Rooney Goes to Washington."

Rooney, a veteran CBS newsman who says he had no prior knowledge of the way Washington actually works, approaches the beast with a child-like innocence heavily laced with the spirit of devilry.

For example, he's curious about the number of government buildings in Washington. He asks the General Services Administration for a full list. They say they haven't one, but can prepare him one for $150.

So he forks over $150 and gets a list taller than he is. He also learns the government owns 500,000 buildings at home and abroad.

He wonders what's become of the Civil Defense Agency. He finds it's now the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency; the man in charge there says the agency wanted to worry about natural disasters as well as nuclear war.

"Well, people say that you are an agency in search of a mission," Rooney muses. This clearly nettles the man in charge.

"Quite to the contrary," he huffs. "This organization has taken on a currency role and I refer to all the natural disasters that we have frequently occurring in practically all sections of the United States."

Rooney also finds amazing things in a government supply catalogue.

"They have 16 different kinds of chairs, for instance," he reports. "There are 18 grades of government servants, so I suppose there's one chair for each grade. And we figured the bottom two grades have to stand."

He worries about government job titles like "Secretary to the Secretary," "Secretarial Assistant to the Secretary" and "Chauffeur to the Secretary."

And, in one funny, mind-boggling segment, he tries in vain to learn the details of a $65,622 contract the Navy awarded to accompany for preparing a "guideline to be used for the rewriting of all Navy technical manuals to the ninth grade level."

Presented Paper At Ass'n Meet

Dr. Michael Bassman of the East Carolina University Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures presented a paper at the recent Romanian Linguistics Seminar of the annual Modern Language Association meeting in New York. The paper was entitled "English Lexical Borrowings in Romanian."

Dr. Bassman also attended the meetings of the Romanian Studies Association of America held during the convention, and was elected to a five-year term as "Bibliographer" of the organization.

In the immediate future, Dr. Bassman will be featured in a personal interview to be broadcast in Romania by Radio Free Europe.

Board Okays Rate Boost

AYDEN—The Ayden Board of Commissioners, in a special meeting Monday night, approved a temporary electrical rate hike for Ayden customers for the January billing period.

According to Town Manager Don Russell, the increase is due to a proposed wholesale increase to the Town of Ayden from Virginia Electric and Power Company which was slated to go into effect on Wednesday, Jan. 22.

The increase in residential, housing authority and commercial rate schedule was adopted for one month only. The board will hold meetings in the future to determine when and if the rates should be increased.

Under the residential rate in effect during January, a customer using 500 kilowatts will pay $17.12 as compared with $14.05 under the old rate.

North 2♥ 3♠ 4♥

Opening lead: Eight of ♠.

Sometimes there is just no way to avoid losing certain tricks. However, in those circumstances it is often crucial to lose the tricks to the right opponent.

After East opened the bidding, South showed his tremendous power by cue-bidding the opponents' suit—the strongest takeout he could make. When South next showed his suit, North judged that his doubleton heart and king of clubs justified going on to game. His evaluation was correct, for the king of clubs could have been the key card to the winning line.

West led his top heart, declarer won with the king, cashed the ace and ruffed a heart in dummy. Now he made use of his one entry to the table to lead a diamond to the king, winning the trick when East played low. Since he could afford to lose two diamond tricks and a club, declarer continued with a low diamond.

West won the jack and shifted to the jack of clubs, which held. A low club to the queen was ruffed by declarer, who forced out the ace of diamonds. East led the ace of clubs and, when declarer ruffed, West's fourth trump became the setting trick.

Declarer was on the right track when he played to set up diamonds before touching trumps. However, he should have realized the danger of being forced by club leads, and should have taken steps to avoid that risk. From the bidding and West's failure to capture the king of diamonds, it was obvious that East had to have the ace of diamonds. Declarer should, therefore, have made certain that, when he lost the first of two diamond tricks he was willing to lose, East would be on lead so that the club king would be safe from attack.

Thus, after winning the king of diamonds, declarer should have continued with the queen to East's ace. True, this would lose an unnecessary trick in the suit if East started with a doubleton ace, but the play would have insured the contract. South is a tempo ahead of the defense. He has time to set up his fourth diamond before the defenders can force him twice, and will be able to draw four rounds of trumps and make his contract.

New Prison Code Urged

ROXBORO (AP)—The North Carolina Inmate Grievance Commission says prison inmates should be paid for their labor. This was one of three substantial changes in prison policy the commission has recommended to the Department of Corrections.

Commission executive director Fred Morrison told about them in a speech to a Jaycees group Thursday night.

He said the commission has asked prison officials to pay prisoners an incentive wage for their labor around the prisons.

Morrison pointed out that state law allows inmates to be paid up to $1 per day and estimated the cost of the program at $600,000. He said that money could be provided from the sale of prison-made goods and services.

Morrison said the commission also recommends that inmates be told exactly what they must do to attain honor grade status and that inmates being held for safekeeping while awaiting trials and appeals be granted one shower per day rather than the current two per week.

Prisons Director Ralph Edwards said that he and Corrections Secretary David Jones have 15 days to react to the recommendations and would have no immediate comment on them.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you would be wise to be in the company of cheerful persons since there are elements of depression present today. If any unexpected annoyances arise, take them in stride. Eliminate confusion.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The situation at home could be tense, but if you concentrate on the pleasant, you find tension eases up. Talk less, do more.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Care in motion is wise at this time. Shop only for what is truly needed since this is not a good time for bargains. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Any costly expenditures could be regretted later so keep yourself in check and concentrate on paying bills. Use common sense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can become more successful if you use your willpower. Perk up your appearance and others will gravitate toward you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't permit yourself to worry about problems that can't be solved. Lend a helping hand to others who have more troubles than you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Avoid those persons who are in a jealous mood today. Do some reading that could put you ahead of others. Forget the social.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take particular care in outside activities today. Engage in your favorite hobby in the afternoon. Relax and have fun tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't put big changes in effect thinking they will improve your status or you could be disappointed. Take it easy tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get busy and put those obligations behind you, even if you are not in the mood to do so, or you could lose a great deal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Avoid an associate who is too upset to be rational. One whose interests are opposed to yours could cause trouble.

Legislator's Own Utility Bill Stirred Reaction

LONG BLUE LINE — Angered by the fatal shooting of a Denver policeman Thursday, about 300 officers of the force marched through downtown Denver to the capitol to meet with Gov. Richard Lamm. Patrolman Wm. E. Smith, 28, was shot and killed with a hollow-point bullet. Police complaints to the governor focused criticism on a proposal to allow police to use hollow-point bullets, which are more lethal than current ammunition. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH (AP)—A state senator who complained that his power bill had doubled recently introduced legislation Thursday to prohibit the State Utilities Commission from allowing power companies to adjust rates under automatic fuel adjustment clauses.

Sen. D. Livingstone Stallings, D-Craven, took aim against the fuel clause. He also sponsored a bill to appropriate $25,000 to the Legislative Services Commission to make a comprehensive study of electric rates.

Stallings said that his power bill had jumped from about $30 to $60 a month and that he has received hundred of complaints from his constituents about higher bills from Carolina Power and Light Co.

In other economic-related action in the Senate on Thursday, a bill to eliminate the one week waiting time for unemployment benefits was given tentative approval.

The Senate voted 44-0 in favor of the measure, sponsored by Sen. Billy Mills, D-Onslow. Meanwhile, the House Committee on the Economy gave an identical bill a favorable report and sent it to the floor.

Under current law an unemployed worker cannot receive benefits until one week after he has filed with the Employment Security Commission.

As Stallings opened the battle against rising power rates in the Senate, the House announced a public hearing before the House economy committee Tuesday to hear from consumer groups and power company officials on electricity rates.

Committee chairman, Rep. Craig Lawing, D-Mecklenburg, said representatives from the state's three power companies and spokesmen for three consumer groups were expected to speak.

Rep. Ernest Messer, D-Haywood, has arranged to have a spokesman from Dayco Southern Corp. appear at the hearing to discuss the impact of rising power rates on industry. The representative, general manager of Dayco's Waynesville plant Lee Finger, sent Messer a telegram telling him high electricity costs were making products manufactured in North Carolina uncompetitive.

Finger said the Waynesville plant, which manufactures a variety of rubber products, has had its power bill increase 132 per cent in the past 12 months. He said that compared to increases of less than 25 per cent at Dayco's plant in Missouri, 78 per cent in South Carolina, 37 per cent in Tennessee, 60 per cent in Virginia, 44 per cent in New Jersey and no increase in Michigan.

"With many of our Waynesville products manufactured in other plants, it becomes plain who will be given preference for work," he told Messer. The Dayco plant in Haywood County employs 2,000 persons, about 800 of whom have recently been laid off.

A year ago the State Utilities Commission gave power companies permission to pass on to their customers increased costs of fuel used to generate electricity. Stallings' bill would not eliminate the increases already made under the clause, but would prohibit the companies to use the fuel clause as further hikes.

"Looking in retrospect, I think it was a mistake to give such blanket authority," Stallings said. "The power bills have gone up, up, up. I am in the heart of eastern North Carolina and there have been a tremendous number of complaints."

House Speaker Jimmy Green, D-Bladen, revealed Thursday that he had become the victim of thieves for the third time in two legislative sessions. He said he had word from Blader County authorities that his home in Clarkton had been broken into earlier this week.

During last year's legislative session in Raleigh, Green's motel room and automobile were both robbed. The Speaker said he had no word on what was taken from his home, only that burglars had broken a window to get into his den. He said his wife was in Raleigh with him at the time of the break-in.

In other action in the General Assembly on Thursday:

—Rep. Richard Erwin, D-Forsyth, introduced a bill to remove all instructional fees charged students in North Carolina's public schools. It calls for a $13.5 million appropriation for fiscal year 1975-76 and a $19 million appropriation in 1976-77 to cover fees for instructional supplies and equipment.

—Rep. Tom Gilmore, D-Guilford, introduced a bill to authorize the use of absentee ballots in municipal elections.

—Sen. Glenn Jernigan, D-Cumberland, introduced a measure to appropriate funds to county governments for summer public recreation programs. The measure asks for $1.5 million in each year of the 1975-1977 biennium.

—Sen. Edward Renfrow, D-Johnston, introduced a joint resolution asking the Federal Power Commission to provide emergency supplies of natural gas for agricultural use in North Carolina. It also asks Congress to investigate to determine if the natural gas shortage is contrived or actually exists.

High-Fashion Clothing Will Be Bullet-Proofed

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A clothing firm in business since 1839 is ready to start manufacturing high-fashion bulletproof apparel for men and women.

Officials of J. Capps & Sons Ltd. say that the public soon may order, or be fitted for, an outer vest, a sports coat or jacket and undergarments — all bulletproof. Matching non-bulletproof trousers also can be ordered.

Costs for the attire — available in any color, plaids or checks — will range from around $120 to $250.

"We can incorporate bulletproofing in any type of garment, like overcoats," says Fred Gray, a vice president of the firm.

"We try to design things that are not noticeable — for use, for instance, by women or men who work in high risk areas, perhaps in banks, currency exchanges, and the like. If we can save one life we feel the project is worthwhile."

The bulletproofing is done with a supertough fiber called Kevlar. Panels of it can be removed when the clothes are cleaned. Weight ranges from 1 pound 9 ounces to 3 pounds and the company warrants its garments to withstand penetration by any handgun projectile except a .44 magnum. The commercial name is ProLife Apparel.

"ProLife looks so promising we are phasing out our everyday clothing line," says Gray.

Gray says law enforcement officials are "very much interested but there is some concern by them that bulletproof clothing will fall into the hands of criminals."

"But as it is, criminals can purchase practically anything they want — guns and knives. Our product would be ideal for use by VIPs or controversial figures who make lots of public appearances. In addition to handgun bullets, ProLife also provides a safeguard against a wide variety of sharp implements, including cleavers, dirks, butcher knives and straight razors."

Bus Wreck Injured 15

DOBSON, N.C. (AP) — Fifteen children from Dobson Elementary School were injured Thursday when their school bus hit a culvert on a rural road.

Trooper H. L. Hall of the State Highway Patrol said the driver, Keith Nathan Hodges, 17, of Dobson, Rt. 2, was charged with reckless driving. Hall said that the bus went off the gravel road on a curve and the rear wheels hit a culvert.

About 65 children were in the bus, Hall said, and they were bounced around.

Four of the injured were admitted to Northern Surry Hospital in Mount Airy. They were Allen Ray Crissman, 12; Tony Ray Poindexter, 14; Bobby William Jenkins Jr., 12; and Buddy Lynn Jenkins, 14, all of Dobson, Rt. 3.

Burnie Wendell Jenkins, 14, was transferred to Lula Conrad Hoots Memorial Hospital with a fractured ankle.

Tracy Jester, 7, was taken to Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem and treated for chest injuries.

The others were released from Northern Surry Hospital after treatment.

Study Finds Need For Toll-Free Phone Links

GRIFTON—A 30-day calling pattern study recently completed by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company shows there is a great need to have toll free services from Grifton to Greenville and from Grifton to Ayden.

The study was begun after the Grifton Chamber of Commerce collected more than 700 names on a petition requesting toll free telephone service between Grifton and Ayden and Grifton and Greenville.

According to the study, the highest percentage of calls made were from Grifton to Greenville with 50.3 percent of the Grifton subscribers calling Greenville at least one time during the 30-day period. The second highest percentage of calls was from Grifton to Ayden with 42.6 percent of the Grifton subscribers calling Ayden at least one time during the month. The lowest percentage studied was from Farmville to Grifton with 4.1 percent of subscribers calling at least one time during the specified period.

The figures show there is a great interest in Grifton to have toll free service provided.

Community leaders from Grifton and Ayden met Monday with telephone company officials Don Collier and Preston Fields to discuss the study.

The possibility of extending toll free service to the entire county was mentioned by Ayden Mayor Ross Persinger and Wiley Gaskins of Grifton.

Collier and Fields were asked to request that the State Utilities Commission consider county-wide service.

Participated In Inauguration

CHARLESTON, S.C.—As a member of The Citadel Summerall Guards, Cadet Marion Ernest Taylor Mosier of Greenville was a participant in the inauguration of James B. Edwards, first Republican governor of the state since Reconstruction days.

A contingent of Citadel cadets traditionally lends color and precision to South Carolina gubernatorial inaugurations. This year 200 cadets travelled to Columbia for the ceremonies. Cadet Mosier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mosier, residents of Greenville, N.C.

Bond Eyes Try For Presidency

NEW YORK (AP) — Julian Bond, Georgia's black legislator, says he plans to run for the presidency in 1976 if he can gather enough support and money by June. The 35-year-old state senator said that if he does not run, "I hope to be able to have some say about who does get the nomination in the Democratic party."

Montreal Massacre Suspect Is Slain

MONTREAL (AP) — Richard Blass, the escaped convict who was a suspect in the Montreal nightclub massacre this week, was killed by the Quebec provincial police early today, a police spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the police surrounded a cottage in which Blass was hiding in Val David, a ski area in the Laurentians 60 miles north of Montreal, and the 28-year-old fugitive died in a gun battle that followed.

Blass and Roger Roussel escaped from a Montreal penitentiary last October and were suspected of killing two confederates in the Gargantua Club, an underworld hangout in Montreal's east end a week later.

Roussel was recaptured about six weeks ago, and the hunt for Blass was intensified after 13 people were murdered in the Gargantua Club Monday night. Police suspected that the motive for the killing was to get rid of witnesses to the October slayings, but later police said this possibility had been ruled out.

The 13 bodies were found in a 6-by-8-foot beer closet by firemen fighting a fire in the apparently deserted bar. The closet had been padlocked and the door barricaded with a jukebox. The killers then apparently set fire to the place.

Pitt YDC Plan Monday Meet

The first Pitt County Young Democrats meeting for 1975 will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, January 27, at the Methodist Student Center, 501 East Fifth Street.

Young Democrat president Alan Hahn has indicated that emphasis will be placed on outlining plans for the annual membership drive and annual projects.

A question and answer period will follow the meeting and the speech by Dr. Jenkins. All young Democrats and prospective Young Democrats are invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Revival Series Begins Sunday

Revival services will be conducted at the Greenville Church of God of Prophecy beginning Sunday and continuing through Feb. 1.

The services, which will start at 7:30 p.m., will include gospel singing. Ruth Gann and Bishop Archie Smith will be the evangelists.
