

Prison Terms For 4 Men Close To Nixon; Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three men closest to Richard M. Nixon when he was president were sentenced today to serve at least 2½ years in prison for covering up the Watergate scandal.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica pronounced the sentences of 2½ to 8 years on John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, ignoring a plea by Ehrlichman's lawyer that he be allowed to work with New Mexico Indians instead of going to prison.

A fourth defendant, Robert C. Mardian, was sentenced to 10 months to three years.

All four men have said they would appeal and they were allowed to remain free without bond. The sentence given the defendants means they must serve the minimum time imposed without opportunity for probation. But they can apply within four months to Sirica for reduction of sentence—a method that has brought results for others the judge sentenced in the Watergate case.

Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman had been convicted of conspiring to obstruct justice, obstructing justice and multiple counts of lying under oath.

Their sentencing marks the beginning of an appeals process that might take two years or more to complete. All were expected to remain free most of that time. Mardian was convicted only of the single conspiracy count.

None of the defendants standing before Judge Sirica made any statement in his own behalf, and only the lawyers for Haldeman and Ehrlichman made any lengthy speeches before Sirica pronounced sentence.

"Whatever Bob Haldeman did, he did not for himself but for the President of the United States," said John J. Sirica, Haldeman's lawyer. "He was caught up in a political maelstrom that engulfed a lot of other good people. Whatever Bob Haldeman did so did Richard Nixon ... but Richard Nixon has been freed of judicial punishment while Bob Haldeman suffered punishment and conviction," Wilson said. But it fell to Ehrlichman's lawyer, Ira M. Lowe, to make the most dramatic appeal.

Lowe, who had not represented Ehrlichman before, began by saying his client "requests no less than a strict sentence from your honor ..."

Lowe said the court had the power to impose a sentence that did not call for imprisonment. He said Ehrlichman had spent much of the time since the New Year's Day conviction looking for areas where he might put his legal experience to the best use. He said that Ehrlichman, a land-use lawyer, had investigated the plight of eight Indian pueblos in a very remote area of northern New Mexico and said the people are in dire need of help that Ehrlichman is uniquely qualified to provide.

"This may be the perfect occasion for just such a non-prison sentence," Lowe said. "We request Mr. Ehrlichman be sent to work for this eight-pueblo group."

The lawyer said that Ehrlichman could be carefully supervised, that Sirica might impose a provisional sentence and call the convicted defendant back in several months to see how it worked.

But Sirica took no note of Lowe's appeal when he pronounced sentence, other than to say that he had carefully considered pre-sentence and probation reports.

As he left the courtroom, Ehrlichman told reporters: "I'm not going to say anything. No statement at all."

Asked for his reaction to the sentence, Mitchell said: "It could have been a hell of a lot worse. He could have sentenced me to spend the rest of my life with Martha Mitchell."

Haldeman, leaving the courthouse, walked through a waiting crowd of cameramen without replying to any questions or pausing to acknowledge them. Mardian avoided newsmen by leaving through a basement exit.

Cite Paradoxes In Electricity Rates

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Some three dozen persons attended an informal public hearing held here yesterday by N.C. Attorney General Rufus Edmisten to determine the effects of current electric rates on consumers.

"The reason I've done this," Edmisten told the group, "... I don't think everybody can come to Raleigh. My job here is to listen to you ... hear what you have to say."

"I'm not out to get the utilities companies," the Attorney General said, "but ... 75 per cent of my time has been spent on utilities matters," since taking office.

"We must redo the entire utilities law in this state ... from the beginning. The manner in which we make rates helps no one ...," he said. Your state law, Edmisten said, doesn't encourage better management by the utilities companies.

He noted, however, that "with cooperation between my office, the power companies and the General Assembly ... I hope we can make sense out of this mess."

One of the first consumers to speak yesterday, Mrs. Barbara Licko, asked Edmisten, "When is it going to end ... how far is it going." Then she told the attorney general, "instead of asking 'how are your children,' you say, 'how was your electric bill,'" now when local housewives get together.

Mrs. Graham Flanagan of Greenville was one of several individuals protesting the fossil fuel adjustment pass-through. She told the hearing her fuel adjustment charge was "$4 less than the electric charge," last month. "It just isn't right."

Edmisten agreed, saying, "My lawyers are objecting to it. We have filed suit in the state courts contesting the legality of the fuel adjustment charge."

Mrs. Joseph Laney and Mrs. Alice Dickens both told their usage of current had gone up in spite of efforts to cut back use of electricity.

According to Mrs. Dickens, in March 1974, her bill was $57.14. Her last bill, she said, was $110.36.

Mrs. Howard Williams noted that with the fuel charge added to the electric charge, "I look with anticipation for next month's bill to rise, so I can have another mild heart attack."

An Ayden woman said "I feel like my utilities is my best bargain," but Floyd Barrett of Route 1, Greenville explained

Children Again Victims

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist-led attacks killed 6 school children and wounded 13, and left 19 government soldiers dead and 18 injured in different parts of South Vietnam today, the Saigon command reported.

In Phnom Penh, travelers said about 3,000 Cambodian students and civilians attacked and looted Chinese-owned food shops in Battambang City to protest rising prices stemming from growing insecurity in the region. Casualties and damage were not immediately known.

The Saigon command said five Viet Cong mortars hit the Nhi Qui elementary school near Cai Lay district town in the Mekong Delta 45 miles southwest of Saigon. According to preliminary reports, one child was killed and 12 others were wounded, the command said.

About 350 miles farther north along the northern coast below Da Nang, Viet Cong troops mined a military truck, wounding two soldiers, the command said. But flying fragments from the mine killed five school children and wounded one, the command said.

The command said 14 militia members were killed in an attack on a militia post near Dat Do.

Predictions On State Revenue Are In Conflict

RALEIGH (AP)—The General Assembly is getting conflicting predictions about the prospects for state revenue collections during the next biennium.

State Budget Officer Kenneth Howard appeared before the joint Economy Committee Wednesday and said state revenues are increasing and that the economy will improve in 1976.

Howard's predictions bolstered the efforts of his boss, Republican Gov. Jim Holshouser, to repeal the sales tax on food, effective July 1, 1976.

The legislature's own economists, who are of course paid by the Democrats, are forecasting a budget deficit unless spending is drastically cut for the next biennium. Their forecasts mitigate against food tax repeal.

While the economy committee considered long range forecasts, other sections of the legislative effort Thursday were devoted to short-term help for the state Utilities Commission.

The Senate unanimously passed and sent to the House a bill that would allow the commission's five members to divide themselves into panels of three to hear general rate cases.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, said the measure would help the commission cope with its overwhelming caseload. All five commission members must now listen to general rate cases. Smith said they cannot find enough time to carefully weigh the mountains of evidence presented to them.

Earlier Thursday, the Senate Utilities Committee decided to delay action on a package of reform bills at the behest of Duke Power Co.

City Council Moving Toward Application For More CD Funds

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Another step was taken towards applying for $1.9 million in first year funds under the Community Development Plan last night as the City Council gave its approval to a rough final draft of the local CDP proposal.

On Feb. 6, the Council received for consideration from the city staff a preliminary CDP proposal calling for the allocation of $1,622,675 in funds in various local areas as well as an unprogrammed balance of $286,325 to provide funding for projects not specifically included in the first-year plan.

The Council conducted a public hearing on the preliminary proposal and heard suggestions and proposals from various citizens representing local groups and organizations.

The preliminary draft proposed that the $1.9 million be utilized in six broad areas, including: recreation and open space, $272,000; public facilities, $180,800; transportation, $262,875; planning and management, $132,000; housing and renewal, $775,000; and unprogrammed funds, $286,325.

Last night, approval was given to the proposals under the preliminary draft, with the addition of ten items that were offered as a supplement to the original draft. Those ten projects, some of which were outlined by citizens during the public meeting Feb. 6, call for funding of $167,625. That figure, added to the original proposal of $1,622,675, gives a total of $1,790,300 in project costs and leaves an unprogrammed balance $118,700.

The ten projects submitted last night included $7,800 for a Cedar Lane sidewalk; $8,125 for a sidewalk to Guy Smith Stadium; $24,700 for land acquisitions at Eighth and Evans Streets; $10,000 for renovation of South Greenville Center to meet Day Care Center guidelines (in addition to the $35,000 proposed in the preliminary plan); $20,000 for a joint Library-Recreation Commission facility at East Greenville (architectural and site plan funds); $30,000 in funds involving traffic pattern studies in and around schools, expansion of the school sidewalk plan, and assistance in Sadie Sautler School site purchases; $5,000 in drainage improvement in Greenfield Terrace; $35,000 for conversion of Moyewood Center into a Day Care Center; $25,000 for construction of the Evans Park parking lot; and $2,000 for development of Moyewood Park.

The Council emphasized that other projects that have been presented during public hearings will be considered as possible avenues under unprogrammed funding and some of the projects might come under proposals for the second and third years, during which the city expects to receive CDP money totaling nearly $4 million.

It was explained that the unprogrammed balance will give the city some leeway as to funding of projects that are not specifically programmed under the first-year application. It was also emphasized again that the application under consideration now is only for the first year of the community development effort and exclusion of any projects now does not mean that they will receive no consideration during the second and third year programs.

The city is working towards meeting an April 15 deadline for submission of the first-year application. A draft containing projects outlined under the preliminary plan as well as the ten projects recommended last night will be prepared for the Council prior to the March 6 meeting.

Several citizens requested consideration for projects under the CDP last night, including paving of E. Fourth Street and S. Pitt Street; widening of Chestnut Street; construction of a three-story pentagon-shaped community recreation facility; assistance in funding construction of a facility for Operation Sunshine; renovations of the Moyewood Center as a total child care facility; assistance to Greenville Arts Center in building repairs and land acquisition; and a proposal to include in the first-year plan more socially redeeming characteristics rather than brick and mortar proposals.

The Council also passed a resolution requesting advanced funding under the CDP for activities that need immediate attention. The resolution asks for $80,000 in seed money to begin the immediate action.

Action was also taken approving the purchase by the city of approximately 338 acres of park land on the north side of the Tar River. Questions arose earlier concerning the city's liability in the area but City Attorney David Reid reported yesterday's during the Council's afternoon session that he felt any liability the city would accrue

UN Diplomats Agree Turkey 'Holds Cards'

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — Many diplomats predict that the United Nations Security Council will end its new Cyprus debate with a resolution renewing its call for the early withdrawal of the Turkish occupation army and its support for the independence and territorial integrity of the island republic.

The diplomats conceded, however, that the Turks hold most of the cards necessary to make the proclamation of a separate Turkish Cypriot state in northern Cyprus stick.

They pointed out that the new state in the northern 40 per cent of Cyprus is protected by the military superiority of the 40,000-man Turkish occupation army. The 200,000 Greek Cypriots who lived in the occupied zone have fled south, and there is no longer a potential fifth column there. And the United States is no longer able to bring decisive influence to bear on the Turkish government in Ankara.

Glafcos Clerides, the No. 2 man in the Greek Cypriot government in Nicosia, opened the debate Thursday with an appeal for the council to get Turkey to "fix a time" for withdrawal of its forces.

Clerides said the proclamation of the Turkish Cypriot state will lead to the destruction of independent Cyprus. He and Greece's U.N. ambassador, Denis Carriyanis, charged that the Turks have violated all U.N. resolutions and forced their will at gunpoint.

Vedat A. Celik came from Cyprus to speak for the Turkish Cypriots and told the council they will accept nothing less than separate federated Turkish and Greek Cypriot states. The Turkish troops will leave only "parallel with, or after" an agreement to that effect, he said.

Soviet Church Leaders Closely Adhere To The Government Line

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With an unruffled air, the Soviet church leaders took the hard questions. They spoke carefully, with frequent qualifications. They insisted their country provided freedom of religious practice, so long as it was the legal kind. Their position was the customary, official stance of Soviet religious institutions. And it was repeated firmly this week, yet with a tacit acknowledgment of the reservations about it, as 20 Soviet churchmen began a three-week visit in the United States.

"Law is law, and we must obey the law," said the Rev. Dr. A.M. Bychkov, general secretary of the Baptist All-Union Council of Evangelical Christians, in commenting about the recent imprisonment of a leader of so-called dissident Baptists.

In a crowded news conference at Manhattan's Inter-church Center, with reporters of the Soviet news agency Tass on hand along with about 75 other U.S. and foreign news representatives, the Soviet churchmen were questioned mainly about reported religious suppressions in their homeland.

Russian Orthodox Metropolitan Filaret of Kiev, maintained that Christians, Jews and non-believers equally are protected in their practices "so long as the laws are not violated." He said Jews are free to settle in Israel, but their desire to do so recently has diminished.

Concerning the recently imprisoned Baptist, Georgi Vins, the metropolitan said: "Vins was condemned by the court in Kiev, not for his Christian convictions, as very much written in the press, but was condemned for calumny against the Soviet reality. He refused to obey Soviet laws."

Other uses of funds in recent months have been scholarships offered to public health nurses to attend workshops on respiratory problems. Respiratory therapists also have been given scholarships for workshops in respiratory cases.

In the field of patient services, funding has been provided for pajamas and robes for patients at the Eastern N.C. Specialty Hospital in Wilson. Where needed, travel is furnished for patients who live a considerable distance from the Wilson center and who would otherwise be unable to report there.

One of the most active services provided by the association is a respirator loan closet. The inventory of this service included 15 respirators, two handi-vents, five regulators, and one suction pump. Several of these have been donated to the closet by interested citizens of the area.

Households Are Smaller

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average size of the nation's households has dipped below the three-person level for the first time in history, as more people than ever before are living alone, the Census Bureau says.

The bureau said Thursday the trend could be attributed to numerous factors: smaller families, more effective means of birth control, a rise in the average age of marriage and "changing attitudes regarding the expansion of the roles of women beyond those of wife and mother."

Households — defined by Census as any group of persons occupying a single housing unit — have declined steadily in average size from more than five persons per unit in the late 1700s to 2.9 persons in the latest survey, taken last March.

Household size had stabilized at about the 3.3-person average during the baby boom after World War II but resumed its decline in the mid-1960s.

Census officials said they have no evidence that the trend will reverse itself in the near future.

Juanita Felton To Sing Sunday

Juanita Felton will present a musical program at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church Sunday at 4 p.m.

Miss Felton, 12, has been singing in public since she was two years old. She will be accompanied at the piano, by her mother, Mrs. Marion Felton.

Sponsored by the J. A. Nimmo Choir of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church, the program is being held to observe the choir's 18th anniversary.

Mosier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mosier of Greenville, N.C.

Ass'n To Meet On Feb. 28

The National Association of Retired Teachers and School Personnel will meet at the Riverside Restaurant, on Greene Street, Friday, Feb. 28, at 12 noon.

All members and eligible members are urged to attend.

Baptist Vins, sentenced last month to five years in prison plus five years of "internal exile" for "illegal religious activity," is a leader among an estimated 100,000 dissident Baptists who persist in teaching the faith and evangelizing others, which is proscribed by Soviet law.

Pleas in his behalf by religious leaders in many countries, including the World Council of Churches, were of no avail.

Dr. Bychkov, of the Baptist union embracing about 500,000 members, said differences with non-participating Baptists have existed for 10 years and "we as leaders are very sorry about this division ... We have been trying to find reconciliation with the other group, with some success.

"But unfortunately, Vins and his followers do not want to unify with us. They have followed the slogan that the true church must be persecuted."

The Soviet churchmen, the first to visit this country in 12 years, are returning a visit made by American churchmen to the Soviet Union late last summer. The exchange is sponsored by the National Council of Churches, including most major U.S. Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Marshall, president of the Lutheran Church in America who chaired the news conference, said the exchange seeks to increase contacts between churches of the two countries and deepen "mutual understanding."

The Soviet group took part in a four days of theological talks this week at Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey, and next week held in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., later visiting 10 other U.S. cities.

First Lady Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford says she plans to continue her personal lobbying for the Equal Rights Amendment despite mail running 3 to 1 against her efforts.

Nor did she seem at all fazed by the reaction.

"She expected it," said Press Secretary Sheila Weidenfeld.

Mrs. Ford explained, "It's those who are against (ERA) who are doing the writing. Those who are for it sit back and say 'good for her — push on.'"

Mrs. Ford has recently been making telephone calls and writing to legislators in several states just before votes came up on the proposed constitutional amendment to ban sex discrimination.

Her efforts for ERA have inspired letters to newspapers, sparked some editorials and brought mail to the White House.

Mrs. Weidenfeld said Thursday that mail the White House has counted so far shows 360 letters in praise of the First Lady's efforts and 1,128 against.

A total of 34 of the 38 states needed have ratified the amendment.

Revival Series Begins Monday

FARMVILLE—Revival services will be conducted at the Tabernacle Baptist Church Monday through Friday, Feb. 28.

The evangelist will be Dennis Gregory. Services will be held nightly at 7:30. A nursery will be provided.

The church is located at Lang's Crossroads, three miles east of Farmville.

The church pastor is Chester Fussell.

SINGSPIRATION

There will be a singspiration at Hollywood Presbyterian Church Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The Temples, composed of the Rev. Philip Cooper, Sammy Pittman, Jimmy Dail, Connie Dixon, and Randy Johnston, will sing.

OPENING DOORS
A jigsaw puzzle of a church was Billy's project for the afternoon. He worked diligently as the church took form. But one section was missing—the door. "A church has to have a door," he said. At last he found it.
As Billy grows older, he may discover that the Church has many doors which can open to him:
Gratitude for his home, his family, his friends
Knowledge of God, his Creator
Sensitivity to spiritual life
Inspiration from Bible accounts of dedicated lives
Experiences in sharing his beliefs with others
Development of his character
Foundations of a sustaining faith
Open these doors to your child so that he may grow spiritually. Take him to church each Sunday.

THE ANNUAL HEART FUND BALL . . . was held last night at the Moose Lodge and attracted 350 ball patrons. Pictured, left to right, are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gurganus and Mr. and Mrs. Buff Chalk.

Annual Heart Fund Ball Staged Thursday Night At Moose Lodge

Over $2,200 was raised at this year's annual Heart Fund Ball which was held last night at the Greenville Moose Lodge. Music for dancing and entertainment for the 350 ball patrons was provided by Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs Band. Mrs. Clyde Owens and Mrs.

Alfred Woodworth served as chairmen for the ball. They were assisted by Mrs. Richard Haut and Mrs. Bobby Swinson, invitations, Mrs. Betty Casey, decorations, and Mrs. William Fuqua, food. The ballroom of the Moose Lodge was decorated with a color scheme of red and white.

Red hearts in various sizes were placed throughout the area. The foyer was decorated with an arrangement of white pom poms interspersed with red candles. A miniature kissing couple standing within a heart was a focal point in the foyer. The stage in the ballroom was garlanded with red and white streamers centered with a large red heart and potted red geraniums.

The refreshment table, covered with a white cloth, featured twin arrangements of white pom poms in silver candelabra interspersed with red candles. The background was highlighted with a heart shaped candle tree holding white candles. Proceeds from the ball will be contributed to the Pitt County Heart Association and will be used for research and education. Officers of the Pitt County Heart Fund are: Buff Chalk, president; Warren Stroud, fund raising chairman; Mrs. Burt Aycock, public information chairman; Miles Frost, treasurer; and Mrs. Barbara Olyer, secretary.

Women's Lib Blamed For Some Depression

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Women's liberation and today's high-pressure, mobile society may account for mental depression striking more women than men, a Connecticut psychiatrist says.

Mental depression has been called the epidemic of the '70s, yet little is certain about its causes, said Myrna Weissman. But indications that it affects more women than men offers a clue, she said in a recent interview.

One explanation is that the women's liberation movement raises hopes that often remain unfulfilled for a number of personal and social reasons, she said.

"There are many disadvantages as well as advantages to being liberated," she added. Another hypothesis is that the modern woman is torn by the demands of modern society.

Slacks Maker Marks Then In Centimeters

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Don't be surprised if your waist size goes from 32 to 80 in the near future.

That's 32 inches to 80 centimeters. Burton B. Ruby, president of Jaymar-Ruby here, says the manufacturer of men's slacks will begin incorporating the metric system in its entire line his fall.

Ruby quickly adds that the inch measurement will continue to be used also. The company will provide double markings on size tickets.

"It's not really a question of if the United States will adopt the metric system. It's only a question of when," Ruby asserts.

The company has already provided its retailers with tape measures which have inches on one side and centimeters on the other, to enable the sales person to measure a customer both ways.

Ruby admits that a complete changeover to the exclusive use of the metric system is unlikely in the near future. "But we're helping to educate people in the use of metrics by offering it now."

"Social and community bonds are much looser," she noted. "Separation from friends and family are all part of the way of life and may create more depression."

Mrs. Weissman and Eugene S. Paykel have written a book, "The Depressed Woman: A Study of Social Relationships." She is an assistant professor in psychiatry at Yale University and is at the Connecticut Mental Health Center in New Haven. Paykel also was on the Yale faculty before becoming a consultant psychiatrist at St. George's Hospital in London.

A comparison of 40 normal women and 40 depressed female patients at the Yale Depression Clinic showed, as expected, that the mental change disrupted good relationships within the patient's immediate family, Mrs. Weissman said.

Depression has much effect on relationships with more distant relatives and casual friends, the study showed.

"The typical depressed patient is apt to be a young woman in her most productive years, often married, living at home and rearing children," she said.

Most patients who respond to treatment are able to resume normal lives, she added. The two specialists focused on women because other studies suggest that twice as many women as men fall prey to depression.

On the other hand, some psychiatrists believe men suffer in equal numbers but seek relief in alcohol and other escapes rather than professional treatment, she said.

"There are more men coming into the clinic now," she added, "and we expect more as the economic situation worsens, when men are laid off and can't find work."

Arrange A Meeting Willams-Buck Vows With Mr. Authority About Unfairness

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My 11-year-old son, Dale, has a teacher I'll call Mr. Authority.

Mr. Authority has it in for Dale and picks on him for no reason at all. It's not only Dale's side of it. All his friends from school tell me how terrible this teacher is to my boy. For instance, the other day Mr. Authority said that some money was missing out of his drawer and he accused Dale of taking it. Dale felt so terrible being humiliated in front of the class that he came home and went straight to bed without even eating supper.

I would like to report Mr. Authority to the school principal, but I'm afraid if I do, this teacher will take it out on Dale. I need to know what to do. DALE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Make an appointment to see Mr. Authority and have a talk with him. If you still feel that he is being unfair to Dale, then take it up with the principal.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 23, male, and still a virgin. I have had absolutely no experience with sex. Not even a kiss. I didn't even think about it until I was 20. From then on I kept figuring, "Well, it will happen some day," but now I have doubts about whether I am "normal" or not. What is normal, Abby? I'm not bothered by the fact that my sex drive is rather retarded. I don't think about it very much, but sometimes I wonder what my first experience will be like, and it scares me. I know I will be so clumsy and embarrassed that I will not perform very well and it will be humiliating.

I have dated a few girls, but as soon as I know a good night kiss is expected, I cop out.

Please don't say, "Well, if the girl is understanding...." I suppose a deep relationship could handle this type of thing, but in a shallow relationship, or a one-night stand, it will be humiliating for me, I know.

What's wrong with me, Abby? Do I need a shrink? I'm on a tight budget, and couldn't afford one anyway. Thanks for your time. NORMAL OR NOT?

DEAR NORMAL: If you think you need a shrink, you need one—if only to be assured that you don't. A tight budget is no excuse. Your local Mental Health Association will provide treatment at a price you can afford.

In the meantime, quit worrying about "performance." When you find a girl you like well enough to kiss, go ahead and kiss her. The rest will come naturally. Rome wasn't made in a day. And neither was Florence.

DEAR ABBY: I am a college student, living in close quarters with four other male students.

Three of us shower regularly, but one of our residents does not. (In fact, he seldom brushes his teeth.) We are repulsed by this character, and upon mentioning this problem to him, he says it is his body, and we have no business telling him what to do.

We heartily disagree because we have to suffer because of his offensive body odor.

We don't know what to do, short of throwing the culprit into the shower against his will.

We welcome your advice. DESPERATE IN ARCATA, CAL.

DEAR DESPERATE: Throwing him into the shower will give you only temporary relief. Throw him OUT!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

ACADEMIC CONSUMERS WASHINGTON (UPI) — The student as a consumer in the emerging educational buyer's market was a leading topic at the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges in Washington.

While some students are suing colleges, other "consumers" along the academic trail are asking for more specific, immediate returns on their tuition investment.

Student demand for employability at graduation has brought some major adjustments to the liberal arts college curricula. These changes, it was reported, enable such institutions to provide both career preparation and a solid liberal education.

DOGGO ART DAVENPORT, Iowa (UPI) — People may have a point when they say art is going to the dogs. The American Academy of Family Practice shared the following proof with members reading its current journal:

"An Afghan hound entered an annual art contest in Davenport, Iowa, and won $50, first prize in the weaving category.

The dog's art career began with a simple knitted mitten. Said dog chewed mitten into what the owners thought was an interesting shape so they entered it in the contest under the dog's name.

ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Carolyn Genene Buck and Terry Lane Williams were united in marriage last Friday at 2:00 p.m. at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Hudnell.

The Rev. Hudnell, former pastor of the bride, was the officiating minister for the private ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Velma H. Buck of Rt. 1, Chocowinity, and the late Mr. Jesse B. Buck. The Rev. and Mrs. Roy Williams of Rt. 3, Greenville, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride and bridegroom entered the room together. She wore a white satin fitted A-line gown fashioned with chantilly lace over the bodice. The gown was designed with a high neckline with lace around the sleeves and bottom of the gown. She wore a matching fingertip veil and carried a prayerbook centered with a red rose corsage.

The matron of honor was Audrey Pearl Moore of Washington, sister of the bride. The bridegroom's father was best man. Mrs. Janice Boyd of Blounts

Mrs. Terry Lane Williams

Creek directed the wedding. For a wedding trip, to Florida, the bride changed into a two-piece floral polyester suit and wore the red rose corsage.

She is a graduate of Chocowinity High School and is presently employed by Flanders Filters Inc., Washington.

The bridegroom is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School and is attending Pitt Technical Institute. He is employed by A & P Store, Greenville.

The couple will live at Rt. 1, Chocowinity.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was given by the bride's mother.

Assorted red and white flowers and white candles decorated the den and dining area. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations and white candles.

Mrs. Diane Ange poured punch and Miss Jane Mills served the wedding cake.

Pitt Employment Picture Good

"I feel the Pitt County people should not be pessimistic. A little optimism is in order."

Those were the words of Jim Hannon, manager of the local Employment Security Commission office.

They are not just empty words; he has the facts to back them up. Hannon reported that new unemployment claims continued to decrease in Pitt County. Continued claims for the third week in January totaled 1,351. For the third week in February the number of continued claims had fallen to 1,274.

It was also interesting that the unemployment rate for February of this year will probably be below that of February, 1974. There is still another week to go in the month, but Hannon feels the unemployment rate this month will be about 4.1 percent. The rate for February, 1974 was 5.3 percent.

The ESC office is also having good success in placing jobless people in new positions. A new record has been set this month—with still a week to go—as 91 placements have been made.

There has also been a decline in the number of people actually receiving checks from 1,558 in January to 1,278 during February.

Of course, all that doesn't mean that the national recession is not a real thing. There have been adverse developments in the nation's economy which we as a people would be foolish to ignore, and certainly some sections of the country are economically depressed.

Greenville and Pitt County have been fortunate, though, with new industry, a good farming year and record enrollment at ECU all contributing to our economic vitality. We can rejoice in that since there have been times in years gone by when our area was depressed while other sections of the nation boomed.

"Pitt County is not so bad off, statistically speaking," Hannon tells us. "We are better off than surrounding counties."

We are, indeed, and if we continue to be aware of potential problems and work together to correct them there is no reason why Pitt County and Greenville cannot remain sound economically.

As Jim Hannon says, "A little optimism is in order."

"Ol' friend! Ol' buddy! Allow me to extend my hand...!"

A Vacation Is In Order

WASHINGTON—The big question everyone in Washington is asking this week is, "Can congressmen chew gum and walk at the same time?" It's impossible to answer because all of them have gone on vacation for 10 days.

The decision to take 10 days off was not one of those spur-of-the-moment actions that the House of Representatives is noted for. It was carefully thought out and approved by the leadership.

I went up on the Hill Monday to find out what was going on while the congressmen were away. The only one I could find, who wasn't on vacation, was a cleaning woman who had been asked to act as a liaison with the press.

After she finished mopping the floor in one of the congressmen's offices, she agreed to speak to me.

"Why would the House, after only being in session for one month, take a 10-day vacation?"

"They have to go home to make speeches in their districts telling their constituents what a mess this country is in because nobody in Washington is doing anything."

"Wouldn't it have been better if they stayed in Washington and tried to get us out of the mess?" I asked.

"Everyone needs a rest. You can't expect a legislator to work for 30 days and not get tired. When they come back from vacation, they'll be fresh and able to deal with the momentous problems of the country."

"I hate to say this, but there doesn't seem to be the sense of urgency around here that the times would require."

"That," she said, as she squeezed out her mop, "is because you don't understand how congressmen work. They have to know what the people are thinking. They can't pass laws if they don't have their ears to the ground."

"But all you have to do is pick up the newspapers and you'll know what people are thinking. They want jobs, a halt to inflation and some sort of tax reform."

"You wouldn't get that in 10 days even if they were all here," she retorted.

"But they could get started," I protested. She emptied out her pail in the sink and filled it with fresh water.

"If the House thought they could have done something, they would have stayed here," she said. "But, since the situation is hopeless, why sit in session and fret about it? Maybe they'll get some ideas while they're skiing."

"Haven't you heard from voters who have protested the House taking so much time off?"

"There has been a lot of mail," she said, "but I haven't been able to get to it yet because I still have to mop the hall."

"Are you going to answer the mail?"

Fewer Dollars To IRA

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
Associated Press writer
DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)

Irish Foreign Minister Garret Fitzgerald says contributions by Irish-Americans to the Irish Republican Army have dropped since his warnings that every dollar contributed for relief in Northern Ireland was helping to kill or to maim Irishmen.

Fitzgerald, who sounded his warning in two visits to the United States in the past year, said there is a growing awareness among Irish-Americans that their dollars are being used not only to relieve distress among compatriots in Northern Ireland, but also to arm the IRA guerrillas battling the British army and the Protestant majority in Ulster.

He told The Associated Press in an exclusive interview: "Over the past 12 months or so contributions have been less. The IRA's funds for the purchase of arms and equipment are less than they were. But, of course, the funds that come for that purpose are not disclosed."

The foreign minister said the "murderous campaign" of the IRA to unite Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland with the mostly Catholic Irish Republic has postponed reunification indefinitely.

"Always in the Protestant community there was an underlying recognition that ultimately Ireland would be united—and a desire to put it off for as long as possible for a variety of reasons," he said. "In the '60s the belief that this would happen became increasingly acceptable to a minority of Protestants, especially, perhaps, in the middle classes rather than in the working classes."

"But then, of course, the events of the last few years and the murderous campaign of the IRA, which has cost 1,100 lives... has had a profound effect in Northern Ireland and certainly the date at which any kind of reunion would be possible has been postponed."

Asked if the violence had brought leaders in the North and South together in a search for a solution, Fitzgerald said:

"Curiously it has. There's a much greater mutual knowledge and understanding than there was. Our contacts with northern politicians, including Unionists and loyalists, are more intense than they ever were before.... But the gulf created by the IRA activity will take a long time to bridge."

He said what is needed is "a period of peace during which people can turn their minds away from their own miseries in this terrible situation and look further afield and see what's happening."

Confusion And Politics

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—There is a great deal of confusion—and no little of politics—in the battle of the state budget now underway between the General Assembly and Gov. James E. Holshouser.

Republican Holshouser launched the skirmish with his proposed budget which he described as tightly drawn, but nonetheless expansionary and based on what many now consider overly optimistic guesses as to what the economic condition of the state will be over the next 30 months—consequently, how much income the state will have.

Then, he all but scuttled the opposition Democratic battlegroup by calling for repeal of the sales tax on food (a popular subject) effective July 1, 1976... with the loss made up by using the money turned back into the central treasury by state agencies who don't spend all they are budgeted (reversions).

Both Republican and Democratic strategists concede the brilliancy of that maneuver: it put the governor in the position of espousing repeal of the food tax, and the General Assembly on the spot (and it is almost wholly Democratic) if it doesn't go along.

A Problem

But two flies have popped up in Holshouser's ointment:—Money experts in his own Department of Revenue are saying his budget is based on economic improvement entirely too rosy, and rather than having some surplus to spend, the state is more likely to go in the hole during the next two years.

—Democrats are incensed that the careful study of the complex revenue-spending picture over the coming two years shows that the low lines representing spending and income are going to run into each other in late 1976.

In sum: Holshouser would increase spending, repeal the tax on food—and leave office. The incoming governor, be he Republican or Democrat, would inherit a terribly out of balance financial situation with the dwindling surplus gone to make up the loss of income from the food tax.

The complexities of the problem, politics aside, are focused on a simple question: how much money will the state have to spend, and that is based on how much citizens pay into the treasury in sales taxes, income taxes, and so on. That figure is dependent on recovery from the recession, how rapidly, and how much recovery.

Economists in basically three state agencies (Revenue, the governor's budget shop, and the General Assembly) are punching the computer with a host of economic indicators in order to project figures which show what is going to happen. Picking from among the alternatives becomes a matter of judgment and the answers the computer gives back vary with the questions asked.

Three Views

In simplest terms, the three different estimates show this:

—Governor's Budget Shop: Recession leveling off this summer and beginning climb in 1976; a surplus of $7 million next year, and $9 million the following year; plus reversions of $77 million and $80 million in each of the two fiscal years, offsetting food tax repeal.

—General Assembly Economists: Recession steeper, leveling off late in summer or early 1976 and slower climb; a $33 million deficit in the coming fiscal year, and $63 million in the hole the following if spending is done as proposed in Holshouser's budget; reversions totaling the same as above.

—Tax Research Division,

Revenue Department: Even more pessimistic outlook showing red ink spending of $73 million and $168 million in coming two fiscal years, with reversions the same as above.

If the reversions are used to offset a sales tax repeal, the combined effect would put the state $10 million in the hole at the end of two years. If reversions were allowed to accumulate until the end of the two-year period, and the sales tax on food remains in effect, the state ends up with a surplus under any scheme.

The big question now becomes which figures—or some entirely different—will the General Assembly use? All signs point to legislators taking a more pessimistic view and working hard to cut state spending, no increase taxes, and balance the budget.

It is known that Holshouser and his budget staff had the extremely low projections from the State Revenue Department in hand when the decision was made to adopt a budget based on more optimistic figures. Members of the Advisory Budget Commission insist they were not shown those pessimistic figures, however, when they approved the Holshouser budget.

Discontent Over Economy

PRINCETON, N.J.—Disapproval of President Ford's performance in office slightly outweighs approval, 43 to 39 per cent. Widespread discontent over the economy, plus disapproval of the way Ford is dealing with economic conditions, account for much of his overall negative rating.

The President's latest popularity standing represents little change from previous surveys in January and December when the proportions who approved and disapproved were roughly equal. Prior to December, however, approval of Ford's job performance had far outweighed disapproval, although his approval rating had declined from 71 per cent in his initial (August) measurement to 48 per cent in a mid-November survey.

Following is the question that has been asked over the last 35 years to measure presidential popularity:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way (name of incumbent) is handling his job as President?"

Here is the trend for Ford:

Ford Popularity
(Handling of Job as President)

Has Gained Considerable Rapport With Public

Analysis of the reasons for approval indicates that the President has gained considerable rapport with the American people through his personal style which is regarded as "open" and "direct." Others credit Ford with doing the best he can under trying circumstances.

"I like his manner of speech," said a 21-year-old housewife from Omaha. "He seems an honest man stuck with a bad situation which he is making the best of."

A young estate tax lawyer from Knoxville, Tenn., remarked: "He is a 'people's President.' He doesn't let politics interfere with his decisions, and I admire him for it. He represents all of the people, even the silent ones."

Ford Seen As Indecisive

On the other side, however, there is an uneasy feeling among a sizable number of Americans that Ford is indecisive and not on the top of the economic situation. In addition, there are some who think his economic programs are slanted in favor of traditionally Republican groups, such as big business.

A 49-year-old county official from Atwater, Cal., has this to say: "Ford has demonstrated a lack of understanding as to the real and serious economic conditions facing our country and has

Strength For Today

A TROUBLED CONSCIENCE

Someone has said that here is nothing in the world so hard to live with as a troubled conscience. Many people today who are sick, nervously distraught, restless, and unhappy are in this state because down in the bottom of their hearts they know that their lives are not right with God and man.

George Washington once said, "I do not recollect that in the course of my life I have ever forfeited my word or broke a promise made to anyone." This knowledge showed itself in his demeanor. All who met him remarked about his calmness, self-possession, and quiet sense of purpose. It is down in the depths of people's lives that either quiet or chaos originates.

If there is something troubling your conscience, get it out. Decide to have done with it at once. If you postpone dealing with it until tomorrow, your resolve will undoubtedly weaken and you may not be able to deal with it at all.

To the editor:

How often have you heard that nowadays no one wants to get involved; everybody is too busy to stop and think about someone besides themselves. Well, this is not true of North Carolina folks and I know this for a fact.

The first week in January The Daily Reflector printed an article aptly written by Carol Tyer concerning my husband, Billy Joe Cutrell, who after eight years has a possible chance for some medical help with a catastrophic illness which rendered him a complete invalid at the age of 29.

Since the first of January many, many individuals, some of whom I don't even know, have sent in contributions to help finance Billy's trip to St. Barnabas Hospital in New York and his medical expenses. Because of you, yes you the people of North Carolina, who so graciously sent in contributions, Billy got to New York and is presently undergoing evaluation for possible surgery. This would not have been possible without your contributions.

Words are inadequate to express fully our gratitude to all the contributors and all those who helped such as Tom Forbes of the Hollywood Presbyterian Church who collected the funds. I shall never forget that the people of North Carolina cared enough to help another and hopefully Billy will be able to say "thank you" for himself. If so, it will be because of you, the people of North Carolina.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Jackie Cutrell and Family

Coal Won't Be Cheap Again

By ROGER PETERSON
Associated Press Writer
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The price of coal, which has soared in recent months and taken electric rates with it, will never return to what were bargain-basement levels, say industry officials.

Those who sell and buy coal insist that competitive market conditions and not price-gouging sent coal prices rising, reaching in at least one case over $100 per ton.

At any rate, they say, inflation and rising expenses are eating up what profits were made and the market is softening.

A mine operator at Huntington said last fall, as the United Mine Workers' strike was beginning, that more millionaires had been made in southern West Virginia and eastern Kentucky in the past year than anywhere else in the country.

"It's pretty obvious there have been some profits made," said Paul Martinka, a vice president of the American Electric Power System in New York. "There's no conceivable way their costs went up" as much as prices.

But now, the Huntington mine owner said this past week, "the coal market is completely flat. In a very short time, the coal industry has been hit by a mini-recession."

It all stems from a chain of economic dominoes that began tumbling about one year ago:

With dwindling petroleum supplies and the Arab oil embargo, utilities which normally burned oil began bidding on the open or "spot" market for coal.

—Foreign customers, especially Japanese steel mills, stepped up their spot market bidding, largely in anticipation of the UMW strike.

—Domestic steel mills and utilities also anticipated the strike and moved to augment stockpiles, normally supplied under long-term contracts, by bidding on the spot market.

According to the West Virginia Coal Association, spot market purchases by the state's utilities carried an average price of $19.02 per ton in January 1974. By September, competitive bidding had forced the average price of spot market coal up to $37.34 per ton.

Since then, officials say, the price has dropped about 30 per cent and some smaller mines have had to close.

The problem is that the UMW strike lasted only a month and many utilities had coal left over. Their lower-priced long-term contracts can supply enough coal that they can afford to wait for spot market prices to drop.

The answer to the price problem, according to Martinka, "is to increase the supply of domestic coal." He pointed out that an additional factor in last year's market was that coal production was about 35 million tons short of actual consumption; the difference had to come from stockpiles at the same time coal users were trying to build them up. That strongly affected the level of bidding.

his utilities bill last year ran from $48 to $50 a month. Last month, he told Edmisten, Barrett's bill was $133 and this month was $146. Fuel charges for both months he said, were about $70.

Following a comment about other utilities companies in the state being ordered to reduce the fuel charge by 25 percent while electric membership groups and municipal utilities such as the Greenville Utilities Commission not being able to cut the fuel charge, Edmisten said "What's good for the goose is good for the gander," and indicated his office is attempting to seek an equitable reduction for everyone.

Billy Waller told Edmisten he has purchased an electric generator. "I'm going to run the generator for 30 days and see if the light bill will come down."

Mrs. William Collins suggested that utilities companies "reverse the block rate structure... invert it... so the first block" of energy is "charged at a lower price", with increased rates for higher usage. At present, she indicated, utility companies have lower rates per unit for large energy users.

Indicating that the fossil fuel charge may discourage competition, Edmisten said power companies have "every right under the law to receive a fair return on their investments," but emphasized, utility firms in the future are "not going to live in the manner to which they have become accustomed."

Joseph Laney, director of the Greenville Housing Authority and an officer of the Carolinas Council on Housing and Redevelopment, told Edmisten that rising utility rates and fuel charge pass-throughs are "creating a paradox". He said housing authorities are being forced to keep poor families out of public housing projects. He said public units are having to "fill vacancies with families who can afford to pay higher rent" to offset the higher cost of utilities.

He explained that in Greenville, the cost of electricity to the Housing Authority has risen 100 per cent since January, 1972 when the cost of current to the authority was 1.425 cents per kilowatt hour. In March 1975, he said, the authorities cost for power will be 2.850 cents per KWH. He noted too, that the cost of gas during the same period has experienced an 85.6 per cent increase.

GUC director Charles Horne told Edmisten at the hearing, "I want to confirm what many of these people have had to say to you here today," noting that the fossil fuel charge has risen rapidly and has been passed on to local consumers out of necessity.

Horne told Edmisten "we want them (GUC customers) to know what we are doing," and said, "I want to commend you for what you are trying to do...," in examining the fossil fuel charge.

Had To Dump 'Coal' Cargo

RALEIGH (AP)—Carolina Power and Light Co. says it had to dump last year 100 railroad carloads of what was supposed to be coal.

Edwin Utley, a CP&L vice president, told the North Carolina Utilities Commission Thursday that the coal was mostly "West Virginia real estate" and contained so much dirt and rocks it could not be used to generate electricity.

Utley spent the entire day on the witness stand as the utilities commission continued to probe into alleged mismanagement in CP&L's coal purchases. The probe is part of a commission investigation of power company fuel clauses.

Utley brought up the case of the 100 carloads as part of his explanation of the company's coal buying problems during 1974. He said the 100 cars were dumped in Chatham County.

CP&L has refused to pay the $1 million it was billed for the shipment and is now being sued by Texas Energy Co. CP&L has testified it is suing four other coal companies for over $11 million for coal shipments last year that were not delivered or were of such poor quality that they could not be used.

Stereo Headsets Affect Hearing

HONOLULU (AP) — Stereophonic headsets are causing significant hearing loss among persons who listen to highly amplified pop music, a Canadian professor and physician says.

Dr. Peter W. Alberti said many listeners turn the volume very high when listening to recorded music and headsets compound the problem.

"Excessive sound is the most common cause of adult hearing loss in the United States and Canada today.

Terrorists Kill 3 In N. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Terrorists killed three men and wounded 27 others in a day of violence that threatened the Irish Republican Army's 11-day-old cease-fire in Northern Ireland.

Most of the casualties were caused by bombs late Thursday night at two Belfast bars owned by Roman Catholics. Police suspected Protestant extremists.

At least six persons have been killed since the IRA's Provisional wing called a cease-fire Feb. 10, and most of the dead have been Catholics.

Security officials feared if the attacks on Catholics continued, the Provisionals would call off the truce and resume their guerrilla war to end British rule in the province.

"Things are getting alarmingly touchy," said one government source.

One man was killed Thursday night and 11 persons were wounded when a bomb in a bar blew down a wall in the Railway Bar in north Belfast.

A little while earlier a bomb packed with 30 pounds of explosives blew up outside the door of the Starry Plough tavern. Fourteen drinkers at the bar were injured, including an old woman whose legs were torn off.

A woman telephoned a Belfast newspaper and said the Young Militants, a little-known group of extremist Protestant teen-agers, left the bomb at the Starry Plough.

Police also found the body of an unidentified man beaten to death in an alley behind a bar in Belfast.

Street Bands Are Ruled Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Street bands have been temporarily outlawed in the French Quarter because merchants complained that music is bad for business.

However, the City Council's action Thursday doesn't affect gospel singers or lone musicians.

Vieux Carre Commission Director Wayne Collier told the council that 29 shopowners were present at a public hearing last month. He said 28 of the merchants wanted to outlaw street music because they said the crowds that gather to watch block entrances to their shops.

The issue arose recently when the French Market Jazz Band, which includes a trombonist, saxophonist, clarinetist, trumpeter, drummer and tap dancer, began attracting large crowds in the shop-lined Royal Street Mall.

The current survey shows disapproval of Ford's handling of economic conditions outweighing approval by nearly 2-to-1.

A comparison of the latest findings with those recorded in November—the last time the economic rating question was asked—shows that public opinion, on balance, has become more negative.

NEW YORK (AP)— A further drop in key interest rates and good news about the money supply helped stock prices mount a solid gain today. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials added 4.78 to 750.16. Advances held a 2-6-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Investors were cheered, as they have been throughout the current three-month rally by cuts by major banks in the prime lending rate, a development that means that investment money is getting easier to come by.

As the opening bell sounded, First National City Bank set its prime lending rate at an industry-low 8 1/2 per cent, following the lead of several other big banks earlier this week. And as the market closed Thursday, the Federal Reserve said the nation's money supply grew $2.1 billion in the week ended Feb. 12, signalling that banks will have more money to lend.

Analyst Harry Laubscher of Blyth, Eastman Dillon said, "A lot of the market's strength is coming on the belief oil prices will be coming down." News that Libya's Colonel Khadafi was quoted as saying he will boycott a forthcoming meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries gave added credence to that belief.

The market apparently was unaffected by the less encouraging news consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 7.2 per cent in January.

A BIRTHDAY RIDE—Kevin Baker (foreground, back to camera) celebrated his seventh birthday Thursday with a pony ride and an autograph party. Kevin, who broke a hip last December when a machine fell on him while he helped his father work on a boat, has both legs in cast so that the muscles of the unbroken hip will not pull against the broken hip. The party took place at the home of Bruce Clark, who raises ponies, and gives children pony rides for birthdays. Kevin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Baker. Kevin's mother holds the pony while young friends gather around to autograph his cast. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest) would be in reference to insurance, with the park operated as any other city recreational facility with insurance coverage. Reid said that warning signs should be erected, at the least, around the sand pit areas and placement of a fence around the water areas would be a step better.

The city plans to buy the property utilizing funds from the CDP package to match a federal grant available on a 50 per cent matching basis.

The Council, after hearing a report by Dr. Frank Fuller on a Feb. 18 meeting of the Transit Advisory Committee, agreed to pursue plans to submit a joint application with the Sheltered Workshop for funds to purchase a van and bus. The Workshop has already filed an application for funds to purchase the vehicles for its own use and the city has approached the organization about the possibility of its sponsoring a nutrition program at Moyewood and use of the buses to provide transportation for elderly and handicapped persons who participate in the program.

City Planner John Schofield said that Sheltered Workshop officials indicated that they would be agreeable to the program and the submission of a joint application with the city as long as it does not jeopardize the Workshop's chances of receiving funding for the vans it has already asked for.

Application would be submitted to the Urban Mass Transit Administration for funding of the van and bus.

Authorization was given for the execution of a contract with Alan Voorhees and Associates for an Emergency Action Study to provide insight into action that can be taken to meet immediate needs in various areas of transportation. Total cost of the quick study will be $3,000, it was noted.

The appointment of a new member to the Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission to replace Dean Stocks, who has resigned, was tabled, as was action concerning the expiration of George Coffman's term on the Greenville Utilities Commission. Dr. Sam T. White III and Mrs. Lois Worthington were reappointed to the Firemen's Relief Fund Committee.

Authorization was given for Carroll and Associates to locate street trees, at the direction of the city engineer, within the city's right-of-way on Arlington Boulevard.

Bids were approved for the purchase of six automobiles and two trucks for the city. Bids offered for three, 1975 four-door sedans (special police package), included: Haddock Dodge, $12,722.34; Hastings Ford, $12,860.52; Phelps Chevrolet, $12,958.29; Messer Chevrolet, $13,061.43; and F&D Ford, $13,202.34. Haddock Dodge, which offered the low bid, submitted a non-certified check for five per cent of the total bid. A certified check was specified in the bidding process, City Manager Bill Carstarphen explained. Carstarphen said that bids have been accepted before the Council where checks were not certified.

On the basis of the non-certification, Councilman John Howard offered a motion to accept the next lowest bid, $12,860.52 by Hastings Ford. Councilman Percy Cox offered a substitute motion that the low bid be accepted from Haddock. The motion by Cox was approved with Mayor Eugene West voting to break a tie vote in favor of the Haddock bid. Councilmen Fuller, Cox and Clarence Gray voted for the Haddock motion while Council members Howard, Joe Taft and Mildred McGrath voted against.

A low bid of $8,280.70 by Hastings Ford was approved for the purchase of two, 1975 four-door sedans (standard cars) for the Police Department. Other bids included: Phelps, $8,344.02; Messer, $8,361.42; Haddock, $8,445.70; and F & D, $8,588.10.

A low bid on a 1975 subcompact station wagon for the Fire Prevention Division was approved from Messer Chevrolet in the amount of $3,596.49. Other bids included: Phelps, $3,629.35; F & D, $3,630.77; and Hastings, $3,731.55.

A $7,481.10 bid from Haddock was approved for two 1975 standard pick-up trucks for the Inspection Department. Other bids included: Messer, $7,607.52; Phelps, $7,669.40; Hastings, $7,790.24; and F & D, $8,022.12.

The Council also approved a low bid of $2,239.20 from General Electric Supply Co. for lighting fixtures and lamp posts for the alleyways and pedestrian walkways in the Central Business District. The city also received bids from The Fixture House, $2,656.80; University Lights, $2,724.48; and The Lighting Center, $3,117.24.

The employment of Harry Hagerty as city manager on an interim basis was approved at a monthly salary of $2,000. Hagerty's salary commenced Feb. 17 and an automobile allowance will begin on March 1.

In other business, authorization was given for payment to Fire Department employees for 185 holidays worked at a rate of one and one-half times regular pay totaling $8,747.28. Authorization was also given to the creation of a Junior Fire Cadet Program affiliated with the Explorer Scouts within the Fire Department.

The Council received reports on the environmental requirements under the Community Development Act, the City County Board of Health Septic Tank Regulations, and on the N.C. Land Classification System.

A request by the Greenville Fire Fighters' Association for waiver of the privilege license requirements of the city code for a circus at the Moose Lodge on March 28 was approved.

Carstarphen reported that the city has been advised by Pitt County that additional funding has been received under the Emergency Employment Act and the city's share will make available funding for two additional employees under the provisions of the act. Currently, the city has seven persons employed with their salaries paid under the act. The Council agreed to accept the two new positions and stipulated that the positions be filled according to availability.

The Council met Thursday afternoon for one hour, then recessed and reconvened at 8 p.m. for further business. Yesterday's session was the first under the new two-meetings-per-month schedule.

Cost Of Food Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite the recent declines at the wholesale level, consumer prices continued to increase in January, rising six-tenths of one per cent during the month, the government reported today.

The January increase was led by a jump in food prices, especially for cereals and bakery products and fruits and vegetables. Over-all, food prices were up eight-tenths of one per cent from December.

Administration economists had been hoping the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index for January would reflect the decline in wholesale prices during the last two months, especially for food prices.

But the over-all increase in January consumer prices was only one-tenth of one per cent less than the December increase, indicating there has been only moderate relief for consumers from the nation's rampant rates of inflation.

Offers Solution To Fine Print

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Magnifying glasses would be chained into every voting booth in the state under a proposal state Rep. C. J. McLin, a Democrat, has introduced.

McLin proposes buying the glasses for $3 each to eliminate fine print on election ballots. "A lot of people, especially old people, have trouble seeing the ballot," said the 53-year-old McLin, who wears bifocals.

Okay Brewing In An Undershirt

BOSTON (AP)—It's okay to brew beer while wearing an undershirt, a federal judge has ruled.

Judge Frank Coffin of the First U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a lower court order Thursday, declaring workers at the Merrimack, N.H., Anheuser-Busch brewery may wear sleeveless shirts.

Last summer, Anheuser-Busch sent some employees home and threatened suspension if they did not stop wearing the shirts, which the company claimed were unsightly to visitors and led to unsanitary conditions. The workers later refused to go to work and the company filed suit, charging a contract violation. Coffin said the dispute did not warrant federal court intervention.

Requesting More

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Board of Education wants the General Assembly to approve $82.2 million more than was recommended by the Advisory Budget commission for the public schools during the next biennium.

The board voted Thursday to request the appropriation and set $5.5 million for reading as its top priority. The action was in response to the budget commission's recommendation that the board's original proposal for $359.3 million for new programs in the 1975-77 state budget period be slashed to $72.3 million.

The board also approved a separate request for $66.5 million more than recommended for the community college system. The money would be used for current operations, equipment, library books and capital outlay. The budget commission recommended approval of only $4.8 million of the board's initial $114 million expansion budget request for community colleges.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the amount of food consumed by each man, woman and child jumped 1.8 per cent in 1974 over the previous year, making it the largest annual increase since 1959.

The increase resulted from bigger consumption of livestock products and poultry—expected to average 2 1/2 per cent higher in 1974 than in 1973.

Trevino Sits Atop Standings

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Jack Nicklaus-Johnny Miller confrontation didn't come off. At least not the first time around.

Instead, there's the boisterous Lee Trevino leading the $150,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

"Nobody is more surprised than I am," said Trevino after a solid, five-under-par 66 Thursday that came within a stroke of the record on the famed, demanding 7,028-yard Riviera Country Club layout.

"I usually have to play a lot to play good," Trevino said. "I haven't played in three weeks. Maybe that's why I did so well today — I didn't expect it and wasn't prepared for it, and it just kind of sneaked up on me."

He hadn't planned on playing in this one but said he changed his mind because, "I'd been home so long my wife was starting to look good to me. No, don't print that. She might read it."

"Really, I just came here trying to get ready to play in Florida. I usually play good there. But the weather was so bad at home in El Paso I couldn't practice, and I was just getting tired of laying around. So here I am."

Trevino, who has played only two competitive rounds in the past five weeks, said he plans to skip only four more tournaments until sometime in August.

Miller, on the other hand, is looking for a rest.

"I'm tired," sighed the sensation of the tour this year. "I need to take some time off. And I am gonna take off, right after this tournament. I'm not 100 per cent from the cold or flu or whatever it was I had last week. I'm just not playing very well."

Miller shot a 72, could be in danger of missing the cut for the final two rounds and is six shots back of Trevino.

Nicklaus, for a decade the game's outstanding performer but suddenly challenged by Miller, eagled his first hole then had to work hard to make it stand up for a 69.

"It's not a bad start, but I really didn't play awfully well," Nicklaus said. "I'm not that bad. I'm not really ragged in any part of my game. I just need more competition. But 69 is not a bad beginning."

Tom Weiskopf, Tom Watson, Ed Sneed and longshot Bob Unger were just one stroke back of Trevino at 67.

Beltone In Romp

The Women's Basketball League got its post-season tournament underway last night with Beltone, the regular season champ, and Little Mint moving into the winners' bracket.

The double elimination tournament will continue next Thursday night with Beltone and Little Mint meeting in one game, while Daniel Construction and the Buccaneer meet in the other.

In the opener last night, Beltone rolled to a 94-10 win over Daniel. By halftime, Beltone had opened up a 45-4 lead. They continued to romp, outshooting Daniel, 48-6, in the second half.

Vangie Jones led Beltone with 26 points, while Lyn Kearney and P. J. Taylor each had 20, Becky Piner had 14 and Debbie Pollard had 12. Sandra Bart had six to pace Daniel.

In the second game, Little Mint downed Buccaneer, 37-17. The Little Mint pushed out to a 19-5 lead in the first period, and outshot Buccaneer, 18-12, in the second.

Pat Kilpatrick led Little Mint with 20 points, while Pat Owens was high for Buccaneer with five.

East Carolina Takes Early Lead In Swims

BOONE—"East Carolina can't swim in high altitudes," the sign said, greeting the Pirate swimmers to Appalachian State University and the Southern Conference Swimming and Division Championships.

But the signs were wrong, as the Bucs swept the four swimming events held during the first day of competition, building up a 49-point spread over their closest competition, Richmond.

The Pirates, shooting for their ninth straight Southern Conference title, took five of the six places in the 500-yard freestyle event, the opening race of the day. From there on out, the Bucs held the lead, adding titles in the 200-yard individual medley, the 50-yard freestyle and the 400-yard medley relay.

The lone non-Pirate to win was Virginia Military's Buzz Northern, who upset the Richmond divers to take the 1-meter board.

Only one league record fell during the day, that to Gary Pabst in the 200 IM. He swam home to victory in 2:02.3, clipping the league mark of 2:03.00 set in 1973 by fellow Pirate Wayne Norris.

In the 500-yard freestyle, Finnish swimmer Tomas Palmgren won for the Pirates, coming in in 5:00.5. The Pirates missed out on second place, but Tom McKenna won third in 5:04.1, followed by Barry McCarthy in 5:06.1 in fourth, Ross Bohlken in fifth in 5:08.01, and defending champion Larry Green, sixth in 5:12.8.

Pabst was followed by two of his teammates in the top six of the 200 IM. Paul Schiffel was third in 2:06.5, while Ron Schnell finished fourth in 2:07.6.

John McCauley won the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 2:17, and was the only Pirate in the finals.

The East Carolina medley relay team of Pabst, David Kirkman, Mike Bretting and Bobby Vail swam to victory in 3:43.1. William & Mary finished second in 3:44.57.

Tourney Tickets

Tickets for the first round Southern Conference Basketball Tournament game, to be played here next Saturday, are going well, but still available, according to Athletic Business Manager Mrs. Earlene Leggett.

Tickets for adults are $2.50, while students tickets are $1.25. And earlier report that they would be $1.50 was in error.

East Carolina students must show their ID and activity cards when they purchase tickets.

Mrs. Leggett also said that orders for the semifinals and finals of the tournament, to be played in Greenville, S.C., will be taken in the coliseum immediately following the game, should the Pirates win.

The Southern Conference season comes to an end Saturday night for East Carolina's Pirates as they try to break a jinx that has plagued them for the past two years.

This weekend, the Bucs, assured of second-seeding in next week's Southern Conference Tournament, will invade Charleston, S.C., to meet The Citadel. Winning in front of the cadet corps in Citadel Armory hasn't been easy for the Bucs. They last won there in 1972, and have won only once in the last four years.

The outcome of the game won't affect the Southern Conference standings, although it could assure The Citadel of a seventh place finish. Currently 2-9 in the league, they could still finish below Appalachian State, but only if the Mountaineers were to defeat Richmond on the Spider court next Wednesday—a highly unlikely event.

The Pirates will be going into the game following one of their better showings of the year, a 100-76 win over Richmond Wednesday night in Minges Coliseum. Despite the fact that the Bucs got off to a good start, they did little wrong in the game.

"It was a good performance," Coach Dave Patton said, "especially from one standpoint. We got tremendous help off the bench. And this is real encouraging to me with the tournament coming up."

"Actually it was the bench that won the game for us. We started slow, and the players who came off the bench got us going," Patton said.

Al Edwards was one of the key men off the bench, hitting key baskets to pull the Bucs from behind. Tom Marsh also did an outstanding 11-minute job on the nation's leading scorer, Bob McCurdy in the second half, limiting him to only four free throws while he was on him. "Bob Geter did a good job on him too," Patton added.

Overall, the players who came off the bench hit 45 of the 100 points the Bucs put up. "And that ain't bad," Patton said.

"I can't think of a more appropriate time for our bench to get ready; for everyone to contribute as they did."

Patton expects this Saturday's game at The Citadel to be a tough one, despite the fact that the Pirates had a relatively easy time in their first meeting, a 111-81 blowout.

"They have the second leading scorer in the conference in Rodney McKeever, who is scoring about 22 points a game. Richard Johnson, their center, has also been playing real fine ball lately. They are an aggressive team, and with the backing of the cadet corps, they'll be awfully hard to stop. They like to beat East Carolina, too."

Patton is hopeful that the Bucs will have another good performance, but he isn't sure whether he'd like another blowout victory. The way it looks now, East Carolina will meet The Citadel in the first round of the Southern Conference Tournament in a game to be played in Minges Coliseum. It might lead to some over-confidence.

"I really don't think we were ready to play Wednesday night going into the Richmond game. And I told the team that. I reminded them of what happened at Appalachian, and I don't think any of them has forgotten that. It could happen again if they do forget."

Patton looks for The Citadel to run with the ball, in that Pirate way of playing. "I don't think they would like to play a slow down game."

The coach feels that the Richmond game should give them a boost. "We weren't playing all that bad; we were just having free throw troubles. But Wednesday night, we shot well from the line and from the floor; we did a good job on the boards, and we played good defense. We got our running game working. It was a good night for us."

A victory for The Citadel would give them an 11-3 Southern Conference mark, the best since 1969-70 when they went 9-2. It would also boost their overall mark to 17-7, giving them the most wins during a regular season since the Bucs became an NCAA member. The previous best was 16-9 in 1969-70.

It would also tie the mark for the most wins for the entire season. The Bucs went 17-11 in 1968-69, counting tournament games.

The Bucs still have a shot at 20 wins, something only one team in ECU history has achieved, if they win their final two regular season games, plus in the Southern Tournament.

Surprising Rampants Found Way To Have A Winner--Togetherness

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
When Rose High School's basketball team traveled down to Jacksonville back in late November to open the 1974-75 season, just about everyone was prepared for another typical Rampant season—a losing one.

But Rose came home with a big victory, and somehow, from there the Rampants went on to post a 14-9 record and gain a berth in the State 4-A Playoffs. It's the first time since 1962 that a Rose team has moved into the state field.

Tonight, the Rampants travel to Raleigh to face Division V upset winner Enloe, and while many observers rate it a toss-up, but they don't include the members of the team. They fully expect to come home with a win.

How did it all happen? Rose had won only three games in the past two seasons, one in 1972-73, and two in 1973-74. They hadn't won a conference game in three years, and few would have picked them to do any better this year.

Even Coach Wilson McDowell didn't expect what actually happened. He said at the start of the year that he expected an improvement over the previous year. "I think we'll be able to surprise some people in our conference. A lot will depend on how we do in our non-conference games," he said back in November.

Yesterday, he expressed great pleasure in the outcome, and admitted that he never expected to come this far. "I felt we had potential, but I really thought that it would take another year or so to get onto a level to play in the state tournament."

McDowell pointed out that although his Rampants won only two games last season, a lot of them were close ones. "But we had the attitude that we were going to lose, so we did," he said. "This year, however, we started thinking that we could win. They were accustomed to losing in the past and we knew this had to be changed."

The four members of the team who have played the most during the past two years agreed. "Last year, we worried over how bad we were going to get beat," guard Tyrone Taft said. "This year, we got a winning attitude. Then, the rest of the school saw that we could win, and they gave us a lot of support. It's helped a lot."

Forward Ronnie Barrett, and guards Linwood Brown and Lindberg Morris agreed. "We all started playing together—as a unit—rather than just for ourselves," Barrett said. "We didn't worry about who was scoring the most points," Morris added, "we just went out to win."

The Jacksonville victory got it started, the coach feels, but when the Rampants upset previously unbeaten New Bern, the team really felt it was a winner. "The Jacksonville game was the start of something good. We got a lot of confidence, but beating New Bern after losing to them for so many years was a real motivating factor. We felt that if we could beat them, we could beat anyone," McDowell said.

Morris agreed that the New Bern game was the real turning point, but the other three felt that the Goldsboro game was just as important.

"We played better defense this year, and the fan enthusiasm helped," McDowell said. "Students were talking about a winning team for the first time in a long time."

The change in attitude told in the race to the wire, too, the coach said. "The other night against Northern Nash when we were down by five going into the final period was an important point. Last year, we would have folded. But this year, they just reached down inside and got what they needed to win it," he said.

While McDowell saw improvement ahead in November, he said yesterday that he honestly didn't expect to gain a playoff berth. "We wanted to win as many as possible and we told the players that we wanted them to represent themselves, their school and the city as best they could. I think they've done an outstanding job of accomplishing this."

Brown voiced another opinion on the team's year. "I thought we could get into the playoffs right from the start. I knew that if we played together and played hard we could get there."

"We can beat Enloe," Barrett added, "if we keep doing that, playing together and playing hard. We've got to cut down on our turnovers and fouls. If we can do that, we're going to be in Greensboro next week."

Angry Marquette Rips Fordham Rams, 101-64

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Marquette Warriors are taking all kinds of abuse this week.

First, a New York basketball coach says they play a patsy schedule. Then the New York fans throw dead fish and rotten apples at them.

But it doesn't pay to stir up the fastest guns in the Midwest. The Fordham Rams found that out Thursday night while losing a 101-64 decision to the nation's ninth-ranked team.

"He shouldn't have said that," said Marquette's Lloyd Walton, referring to a remark earlier in the week by Fordham Coach Hal Wissel that set the Warriors afire.

What Wissel said, in so many words, was that Marquette's schedule wasn't as strong as Fordham's. "Perhaps, if it was, they might have lost four games in a row like us," the coach was quoted as saying in a Milwaukee newspaper.

Well, that really made the Warriors fighting mad for their game against one of New York's finest at Madison Square Garden. They came out shooting and didn't stop until Fordham was not only beaten, but clobbered into submission.

It became so embarrassing at one point that when Marquette held a 79-35 lead with 8:30 left, distressed fans threw a striped bass out on the court, then followed with an apple that splattered like shrapnel. It took workers five minutes to mop up.

With 8:19 remaining and the Marquette smoothies holding a 79-36 lead, McGuire cleared his bench and let Wissel know: "What's that about the patsy schedule we play?"

Whether it was just an off shooting night, or Marquette's suffocating defense, the partisan crowd of 7,169 couldn't tell. It was a close game until Marquette ran off an 11-2 scoring advantage at the end of the first half.

Marquette took a 41-28 half-time lead behind Lloyd Walton, and Wissel probably would have settled for that. But the Warriors poured it on in the second half while the fans fidgeted and grunted with displeasure. At one juncture of the game, Marquette held a 47-point lead over the unprivileged Rams.

With Walton scoring 22 points, and four others in double figures, the Warriors rang up their highest point of the season. "We're not as good as we played," smiled McGuire, but he could have fooled Wissel.

The game was the second of a doubleheader. In the first game, Tom Lockhart and Charley Mahoney practically outscored Temple all by themselves with 45 points between them as Manhattan routed the Owls 87-56.

Elsewhere in college basketball, sixth-ranked Louisville defeated Wichita State 85-76; No.

2 UCLA whipped Washington State 69-61 and Washington shocked No. 10 Southern Cal 89-88.

Wesley Cox scored a career-high 32 points to lead Louisville over Wichita State. Cox, a 6-foot-5 sophomore, hit 15 of 16 shots from the field and grabbed nine rebounds as the Cardinals improved their season record to 19-2.

Louisville fell behind briefly early in the contest, then took a 16-14 lead and never trailed again. The Cardinals, who led 43-35 at halftime, extended their lead to 73-60 with 7:54 remaining, but then Cal Bruton, who finished with 16 points, made three straight baskets as Wichita narrowed the margin.

Robert Elmore, high for Wichita State with 25 points, led a late Shocker surge that brought his team to within one point at 77-76. But the Cardinals scored the game's final eight points.

Dave Myers scored 23 points to lead UCLA's victory. Clarence Ramsey had 30 points to lift Washington over Southern Cal.

In other games, it was: Cincinnati 96, Wisconsin-Milwaukee 71; St. Louis 83, North Texas State 66; McNeese State 80, Texas-Arlington 77; Drake 90, West Texas State 81; Memphis State 88, Tulsa 80 and Louisiana Tech 71, Arkansas State 69.

Clemson Will Be A Factor

By The Associated Press
Clemson is in a key position to determine who wins the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season basketball race and the first-round by in the championship tournament that goes with it. The Clemson Tigers, ranked 16th nationally, have two ACC games remaining, against North Carolina State, No. 4 in the nation, and Maryland, No. 3.

If the Tigers lose their 3 p.m. regionally televised home game against N.C. State Saturday, they will have no chance to gain first place in the regular season.

If Clemson beats the N.C. State Wolfpack, the Tigers would be in position to win at Maryland next Wednesday night and tie Maryland for first place at 9-3 in the league.

Clemson beat Maryland 83-62 at home in January and lost this month at N.C. State, 92-89. Clemson, now 14-8, needs one more victory for Yates Lock's best record in his five years as coach of the Tigers.

If N.C. State loses at Clemson, the best the Wolfpack could get is a first-place tie. And for State to attain this, it would have to beat North Carolina on Tuesday and Clemson would have to beat Maryland on Wednesday.

If more than two teams tie for first, a drawing for seedings will be held Sunday, March 2, at the ACC office in Greensboro. The tournament starts Thursday, March 6, and continues through Saturday in the Greensboro Coliseum.

The Maryland Terps could end all this "iffing" by beating Clemson. If they do, and even if N.C. State finishes in a tie with them, Maryland would win the bye because it has beaten State twice in the regular season.

But at present, even North Carolina is still not out of it. The Tar Heels could tie Maryland at 9-3 if Maryland loses to Clemson and if North Carolina wins its last three.

HOLLYWOOD—In past years, it seems that there was always an upset in the District Two Tournament during the week of play. But so far, every game has ended up pretty much as predicted.

Tuesday on opening night, D. H. Conley, the top seeded team, bumped off Ayden-Grifton, 79-60, and second place North Pitt sent Eastern Wayne packing, 72-65. Wednesday night, Greene Central, which finished third in the Eastern Carolina Conference, beat North Lenoir the fifth place team, 54-43, and sixth place Farmville Central fell to Southern Wayne's fourth place Saints, 57-47.

Last night, things continued to fall into place as Conley rolled over Greene Central, 54-38, and North Pitt by almost the same score, beat Southern Wayne, 52-38. The two winners play tonight at 7:30 for the championship.

In the opening game, Conley and Greene Central became involved in a furiously paced game. Although neither team was hitting well at the start, they were getting the chances for points. The Rams shot 14 times in the first quarter and Conley 11. The Vikings, however, made six of theirs while Greene Central hit only two.

Greene Central sank a miserable five of 28 in the first half for 19 percent. They did not do much better in the second half hitting nine of 28 for 25 percent on the game. Conley sank 11 of 27 first half shots for 40 percent. They fell off in the second half and hit 39 percent for the game. Conley also out rebounded Greene Central, 36-21.

Conley got the first points as Melvin Williams hit a short jumper. Tim Butts tied it up for the Rams, 2-2, hitting from the corner but Greene Central failed to hit again for the next six minutes. In the meantime, the Vikings were adding eight points to their favor, six by Charlie Keyes. The teams traded Clennel Streeter led the Vikings with 15 points and Gerry Mobleby added 11. Rick Mobleby led the team in rebounding with 12 while Streeter and Williams each grabbed eight. Jerry Carraway led the Rams with 12 points.

Conley's Shelly Marsh said after the game the defense played better than on Tuesday night. "The offense is not clicking. I hope we're loose Friday night."

The second game, between North Pitt and Southern Wayne was highlighted by a blackout shortly after the start of the second half. The action through the first half had been just as fast as in the first game with the buckets in the final minute for a 12-4 score at the end of the period.

Greene Central dropped in two of its first four shots of the second quarter to narrow the gap to four, 12-8 but that was as close as they could get. Conley poured in seven points to run out to a 19-8 lead with 4:51 left in the half.

The Rams cut the lead down to five, 21-16 on a free shot by Marvin Rouse only to have the Vikes get five points to send the margin back up to ten, 26-16. The Rams added a bucket with three seconds left to make it 26-18 at halftime.

The second half was all Conley except for a few minutes that went to the referees. The game got out of hand in the early minutes of the half and the play resembled a football goal-line stand.

The game settled down somewhat in the later part of the third period which the Vikings took, 13-10. Conley began pressing inside the four minute mark and in the remainder of the frame, drew five Ram fouls. Conley made five of seven free shots in the period. The biggest lead came with :22 left as Rick Mobleby sank two charity shots, 52-38.

The Vikings finished the Rams off with a 15-10 fourth quarter, as Mobleby got six points.

Clennel Streeter led the Vikings with 15 points and Gerry Mobleby added 11. Rick Mobleby led the team in rebounding with 12 while Streeter and Williams each grabbed eight. Jerry Carraway led the Rams with 12 points.

Conley's Shelly Marsh said after the game the defense played better than on Tuesday night. "The offense is not clicking. I hope we're loose Friday night."

The second game, between North Pitt and Southern Wayne was highlighted by a blackout shortly after the start of the second half. The action through the first half had been just as fast as in the first game with the Panthers taking the lead only on the last field goal of the first period.

Ronell Bass put the Saints up by 2-0 at the outset tapping in a rebound. North Pitt countered with a bucket by Donnie Perkins but SW slipped back in front on a score by Ken Mack, 4-2. Bass added another bucket for a 6-2 lead.

Perkins cut it to 6-4 and Charlie Lewis tied it up, 6-6 with a pair of free shots. Jesse Harris blew in a long jumper as North Pitt went on top but Michael Oliver sank a shot for the Saints to retie it, 8-8. Perkins canted a jumper from the circle as the Panthers went in front for good, 10-8.

The Panther's zone effectively kept the Saints out of the lance in the second quarter letting the Panthers run up a 21-12 lead midway through the frame. Mack and Anthony Williams scored for the Saints to narrow the margin to five, 21-16, but SW went cold for the rest of the half and North Pitt put through six points to take a 27-16 halftime advantage.

Both teams missed their first two shots of the second half with the ball in the North Pitt zone at 7:20 on the clock, the lights went out in the Conley gym. They were off for about five minutes but the delay only gave the teams a bit more rest.

North Pitt edged the Saints, 13-10 in the period as the Panthers increased their lead to 14, 40-26.

Perkins led the way in the third period getting seven points.

Southern Wayne hit six of 18 shots in the last period as they saw the Panthers get out by as much as 16, 46-30. Both teams added 12 in the final frame.

Perkins led the Panthers with 19 points and had 10 rebounds. Harris scored 12. Vincent Barnhill grabbed 13 rebounds for North Pitt while Lewis had 11 and Abraham Hardy had 10. North Pitt pulled down 54 total rebounds.

The winner of tonight's game will travel to the state tournament next week to be held in Durham beginning on Wednesday.

U.S. internationalist Edwin Kantar's new book, "Complete Defensive Bridge Play" (Wilshire Pub., paperback, $10) is an excellent text—clear and comprehensive. There is, however, one flaw. Since the book was reproduced from double-spaced typed copy, it is almost twice the size it need be (528 pages), which inflates its price.

It is not always easy for the defenders to unscramble their tricks and get all they are entitled to. Ability to count out the hands is often a key factor, as Kantar illustrates with this example.

As the cards lie, three no trump is an unbeatable contract. However, North-South cannot be blamed for electing to play in their 5-4 major fit. Once North jumped raised as a passed hand, South had sufficient extra values to go on to game.

Let us consider the hand from East's point of view. Declarer wins the first diamond trick in dummy, and at this point East knows little about the distribution. The queen of hearts loses to the king and the jack of diamonds is returned to the ace, and East still does not know whether declarer has a diamond loser or not.

Now declarer leads a heart to dummy on which West plays the nine—the highest missing heart. Thus, declarer has become marked with five hearts. Next he ruffs a diamond in his hand, then takes three high clubs, discarding a spade from his hand. Declarer is now marked with five hearts and two cards in each minor suit, so he started with four spades.

When declarer leads a spade from dummy, East must play low. Since partner has only two spades, East must hope that he has either J-x, in which case declarer might misguess and finesse the ten, or Q-x. If East wins the first spade and then continues a spade to partner's queen, West will be end-played and have to concede a ruff and sluff, allowing declarer to make the contract.

Isn't it simple if you watch the cards and count?

Tried For Heckling By Student Court

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—A student court has charged a black student leader with violating a University of North Carolina campus disruption policy in the heckling of a Ku Klux Klan speaker Jan. 16.

The charges against Algenon Marbley grew out of a demonstration which prevented David Duke from speaking on campus.

Marbley is chairman of the Black Student Movement at UNC which claimed responsibility for the demonstration.

Duke, national information director for the Klan, was shouted off stage by about 200 students, mostly black, as he attempted to deliver a speech.

The closed trial in student court began Tuesday, but was postponed Wednesday by student Atty. Gen. Nita Mitchell after a delay was requested by Marbley. The trial is expected to resume after students return from spring vacation March 17th.

Plan Party For Nixon

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Entertainers Bob Hope and Frank Sinatra are among celebrities expected at a party for former President Richard M. Nixon on Saturday at a plush desert estate here.

Nixon, 62, is making his first trip away from his San Clemente home since recovering from surgery last year and is staying at the home of his friend Walter H. Annenberg, former ambassador to Great Britain.

The former chief executive left his oceanfront estate by automobile Wednesday afternoon for the 100-mile drive to the Annenberg home, sources at the compound said. His wife, Pat, was believed to have accompanied him.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and his wife plan to attend the party, a Reagan aide said.

No Charges In Traffic Mishap

No charges were made by officers following investigation of a three-vehicle collision on Greene Street yesterday, 69 feet South of the Martin Street intersection about 4:10 p.m.

Officers identified drivers of the vehicles involved as James Hardee Stokes of Route 3, Greenville, Mildred Williams Manning of Wilmington and Reginald Oswald Girdharry of 623 Greenfield Blvd.

Damage was estimated at $150 to the truck driven by Stokes, $25 to the Manning car and $200 to the Girdharry auto.

Queen Opening Bahamas Bank

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Queen Elizabeth, on her first visit to the Bahamas since it became independent, is delivering a speech today and opening a new $2-million Central Bank of the Bahamas.

The queen and her husband, Prince Philip, flew here from Barbados Thursday. After the ceremonies today, the royal couple leaves for a week-long stay in Mexico.

FPC Says Natural Gas Being Held 'In Reserve'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission says it wants to know why natural gas producers and interstate pipeline firms are holding large amounts of gas in reserve in the Gulf of Mexico. In ordering an investigation Thursday, the FPC said the undeveloped reservoirs held by the 68 producers and 12 pipeline firms "could represent a vital supply of natural gas" that would ease the serious shortage of the fuel.

The commission released a staff report indicating that the Gulf of Mexico reserves accounted for 26 per cent of the total offshore gas reserves reported by the pipeline firms in 1973.

Last month, the Interior Department ordered 10 major companies to explain why they are not fully producing natural gas leases they hold in the Gulf of Mexico. Interior threatened to cancel the leases if it did not receive a satisfactory explanation.

The FPC directed the pipeline companies and producers to file testimony and evidence in their defense by March 24. The commission is to conduct public hearings on the reserves here starting April 22.

Pipeline firms ordered to submit data were Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., Consolidated Gas Supply Corp., Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co., Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America, Sea Robin Pipeline Co., Southern Natural Gas Co., Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., Texas Gas Transmission Corp., Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., Trunkline Gas Co. and United Gas Pipe Line Corp.

The 68 natural gas producers cited included such major oil companies as Amerada-Hess, Amoco, Atlantic-Richfield, Chevron, Cities Service, Exxon, Getty, Gulf, Mobil, Phillips, Shell, Sun and Texaco.

Betty Quinn A Winner

Betty R. Quinn of W.H. Robinson School, Winterville, has been named a district winner in the Terry Sanford Award competition by the Commission on Instruction and Professional Development of the North Carolina Association of Educators.

The district winners were chosen throughout North Carolina for their creativity and innovation in teaching, or in administration.
