District Capital In Vietnam Is Overrun

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist-led forces overran another district capital in South Vietnam today, captured a base just 30 miles from Saigon, and rocketed Phnom Penh airport, killing five Cambodians handling cargo for the U.S. airlift, field reports and officials said.

The fall of the district capital of Kien Duc, in South Vietnam's central highlands, threatened the loss of a ninth province, Quang Duc. The South Vietnamese government rushed more than 1,000 paratroopers to the defense of Saigon.

On the political front, diplomatic sources in Washington and Phnom Penh said Cambodian President Lon Nol will depart shortly and that it will be a hopeful step toward negotiations with the Communist-led insurgents.

The reports came as Premier Long Boret formed a new cabinet that was expected to be only a caretaker government and U.S. sources said the American airlift to Phnom Penh will be extended at least a month.

Radio Hanoi said in just two weeks' time the Viet Cong has captured about 25 per cent of all South Vietnam with a population of nearly one million, and that they have set up governing bodies in Ban Me Thuot, capital of the fallen central highlands Province of Darlac.

The South Vietnamese government rushed the paratroopers to positions within 10 miles of Saigon on the western flanks. The reinforcements were flown from the northern provinces around Hue, where sharp fighting also was reported.

As the Saigon government abandoned chunks of territory, hundreds of thousands of refugees streamed out of the affected provinces.

Up to 80 per cent of the 200,000 residents of Hue were said to have fled southward to Da Nang, 40 miles down the coast. The exodus of frightened civilians made its way in a stampede of cars, motor bikes and barefoot walkers.

About 130,000 refugees from the central highlands completed a five-day trek to the coast Thursday during which they said they were subjected to ambushes and shelling attacks along the way. The 20-mile-long caravan included cars loaded with kitchen utensils, mattresses and furniture, and a senior South Vietnamese officer called the operation a nightmare.

The district capital that was overrun today was Kien Duc, in the lower central highlands. It fell after a 500-round artillery barrage and an infantry assault, military sources said. The loss threatened to cost the government the province of Quang Duc, which would be the ninth lost of South Vietnam's 44 provinces.

The base that fell was at Duc Hue, near the Cambodian border 30 miles northwest of Saigon. The Saigon command said tank-led North Vietnamese forces attacked the base, knocking out the defenders' radio communications, and that the local militia force retreated.

Hanoi radio said "within a fortnight a vast area covering approximately a quarter of the whole of South Vietnam" and "with a total population of nearly one million" has been taken by the Viet Cong.

City, Sheltered Workshop To Join In Transit Plan

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

An agreement between the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop and the city to participate in a transit program to aid the elderly and handicapped gained the approval of the City Council yesterday.

The joint program calls for an estimated net project cost of $45,671, some $36,536 of which would be requested as a federal grant. The local contribution, roughly 20 per cent, would be provided by the city in the amount of $9,134.

In explaining the project, City Planner John Schofield pointed out that the Sheltered Workshop had already prepared an application for a federal grant to purchase two vehicles for client transportation services.

The new agreement between the city and Sheltered Workshop would represent a partnership in an effort to help meet the needs of the two transportation deficient groups. Under the agreement, the workshop's original application for federal funds would be amended to include a request for a third vehicle to be used in an elderly nutrition program already underway in Greenville.

Schofield, discussing with the Council a prepared report on the federal application, said that the existing nutrition program has a potential of reaching over 230 elderly people, but is currently serving only 100 because of insufficient transportation.

The third vehicle involved in the request would be a 25-passenger bus that would be operated and maintained by the Sheltered Workshop but utilized daily to provide nutrition program transportation. The Workshop would hold title to the vehicle.

The agreement involves five points and would be in effect on a one-year basis with a review of the program and possible renewal of the program scheduled at the end of one year.

Under the agreement, the Sheltered Workshop will provide necessary pickup and take-home transportation services to the nutrition program sponsored by the Mid-East Commission. The vehicle used for the program will also be available for the Sheltered Workshop's programs in the early morning and afternoon hours when the nutrition program is not in operation.

The city, as part of the agreement, will pay the local share of the grant and facilities of the Public Works Department will be made available to the Sheltered Workshop for necessary major repairs on the vehicle.

The estimated cost of the new bus is some $24,000. According to the report, the immediate effect of the proposal would be to add over 150 elderly participants to the nutrition program and also increase the ability of the Sheltered Workshop to meet their transportation needs and serve more clients.

Councilman Joe Taft, a member of the Transit Advisory Committee, noted that the endeavor will help the city get its "feet wet" in the field of transportation.

The agreement has the approval of the Sheltered Workshop, it was explained. The Council, taking action on another transit matter, authorized the submission of an application to the Urban Mass Transit Administration for a grant to fund a short-range transit development program here.

The consultant firm of Alan M. Voorhees has already been retained to conduct the transit study at a consultant service cost of $37,500.

Total project budget for the transit item is $43,820 with the federal grant requested amounting to $35,056. The remaining share, or 20 per cent of the total, would be provided by the city, including $2,444 in cash and $6,320 in local services. In other action in yesterday's 4 p.m. session, the Council approved a resolution which would authorize Greenville Utilities Commission to institute civil action in order to collect damages in the amount of $5,000 of less, upon the verification of the mayor, without the necessity of submitting each matter to the Council for approval.

The civil actions would involve the collection of accounts, damages to GUCO property, and breach of contracts. Under the new resolution, the Commission would have blanket authority, subject to the mayor's verification, on those three items.

The resolution was not given unanimous approval as Council members Mrs. Mildred McGrath and Clarence Gray voted against the measure. (Continued On Page 6)

IRS Kept Eye On 'Special' Secret List

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Julie Andrews and the American Conservative Union are among those listed in files of a special Internal Revenue Service unit set up during the Nixon administration to gather intelligence on "dissidents" and "extremists," ABC News said today.

The report is included in a documentary about the IRS which ABC-TV plans to broadcast tonight. The program said 8,000 individuals and 3,000 groups are named in files of the IRS' Special Service Staff, established in 1969 and disbanded in mid-1973.

The ABC documentary didn't say whether the files characterized these persons and groups as "dissidents" or "extremists" or whether they were given any specific descriptions at all.

In addition to Miss Andrews and the ACU, persons and groups identified by ABC as among those named in the secret IRS files are: —Sherman Adams, a top Eisenhower administration aide. —"Friends of the FBI," the National Organization of Women and the United Jewish Appeal.

—Basketball star Kareem-Abdul Jabbar, Mrs. Burt Lancaster, and performers Connie Stevens, Elizabeth Taylor, Tony Randall and "Jose Jimenez," the last a comedy character played by actor Bill Dana.

ABC said the information in the files was gathered partly from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Justice Department "and, in some cases, simply newspaper clippings." Ralph Thrower, IRS commissioner when the Special Services Staff was formed, was asked on the show if he could think of any reason why the names cited by ABC should turn up in the staff's files.

"It would tax my imagination," he replied without elaboration. ABC said the current IRS commissioner, Donald C. Alexander, has promised to destroy the files, but it didn't say if this has been done yet.

Alexander last year said he abolished the Special Service Staff three months after taking office in May 1973.

The IRS repeatedly has denied accusations it ever succumbed to pressure during the Nixon administration to create a secret unit to gather intelligence on persons and groups the White House disliked.

Doctors' Walkout In N.Y. Is Ended

NEW YORK (AP) — Physicians who struck 22 private and city-operated hospitals here returned to work today, ending the first strike by doctors in the nation's history.

A contract offer by the League of Voluntary Hospitals that had been rejected by representatives of the 3,000-member Committee of Interns and Residents (CIR) was resurrected late Thursday afternoon, and shortly after 6 p.m. the settlement was announced jointly by the league and the CIR.

"We have a contract," a CIR spokesman said. He said ratification of the agreement by the CIR rank and file was not needed.

The doctors, staff physicians at the 15 private and seven municipal hospitals that were affected had walked out Monday morning over the long hours they were required to work. They had demanded that they be required to work a maximum of 80 hours a week and no more than 15 hours at a time.

League negotiators had refused to set a weekly limit on the number of hours the interns and residents would have to work. The hospitals affected have 14,000 beds and handle some 24,000 patients daily. There were no crises in patient care during the strike.

"We are quite anxious to get back to our patients," said Dr. Richard A. Knutson, CIR president. "We will make every effort to get back to the hospitals forthwith."

The settlement calls for the establishment of committees at each league hospital to work out schedules "consistent with optimum patient care, high standards of training, special board requirements and limitations, and the health and well-being of house staff officers, including their reasonable social needs and providing for adequate rest."

The league said the money items in the contract, settled some time ago, provide that interns and medical school graduates taking compulsory training get a raise of $1,000 in their average annual pay of $13,500. Residents, taking advanced training, now average $16,000 a year. Under the new contract they will get up to $20,000 a year.

High Water Signs Raised As Tar River Level Up

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

crest here tomorrow afternoon at about 18 feet, according to Bruce Cheatham, a forecaster with the National Weather Service in Raleigh.

The level has risen from 17.5 feet yesterday morning to 17.2 feet this morning, Cheatham said.

Lowlands adjacent to the river were flooded, but no major damage has been reported so far. A parking lot at River Front Apartments was partially under water, as were streets in Tar River Estates and West Meadowbrook. Public Works Director Mayo Allen said high water signs have been placed in West Meadowbrook and he warned against trying to drive cars through the flooded streets.

Mrs. Daniel Eckert, who lives about a half-mile north of the river, called the Daily Reflector this morning to try to learn just how much more the river will rise. "Our house looks like it's floating," she said. Only our driveway is visible and our utility room is flooded. We want to know whether to try to evacuate, whether it's going to come into the house tonight or tomorrow.

Greene Mill Run has overrun its banks and made Green Springs Park into a lake. Several people boated there yesterday.

Greenville Utilities spokesman George Reel, Les Haislip, assistant engineer with the local office of the Department of Transportation, and Public Works Director Allen all said they anticipate no problems unless the level gets much higher.

Cheatham said this is the highest the river has been here in many years. He cited July 28, 1919, when it went to 24 1/2 feet. Mrs. Pattie Mizelle, date gatherer for the Weather Service says she remembers its going to 19 feet in the 1920's, that there were boats on Green Street then. She believes the year was 1927.

J. B. Smith Jr. remembers taking people across the river in his boat when the Green Street bridge and the lowlands on the north side of the river were flooded in the spring of 1939. I charged 25 cents per person and "thought I was making a killing," he said. Sandbags were placed about where Farmer's Warehouse is now, he said.

Tax Cut Bill Near Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears on the verge of passing a $30-billion tax cut bill designed to stimulate the economy while providing some immediate and long-term tax relief to most American families.

After removing parliamentary roadblocks and voting higher taxes on major oil companies, the Senate aimed to pass the bill today.

That schedule would allow a Senate-House conference to work out final details of the bill and have it sent to President Ford for his signature by Wednesday.

After opening the Senate at the unusually early hour of 8 a.m. today, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield accused White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen of sowing "turmoil and confusion" between President Ford and Congress.

Mansfield, D-Mont., objected to Nessen's comment Thursday at a briefing for reporters that "the President feels it is strange that senators who are about to go off on vacation ... have not taken a vote on the tax cut. The Congress seems to be playing to the gallery."

Mansfield pointed to totally empty galleries in the Senate chamber and said: "I would suggest to Mr. Nessen that he leave his ivory tower and come up and see how full the galleries are he says we're playing to."

Later, Mansfield told a reporter he believes Nessen "is trying to create turmoil and confusion between the two branches when by and large the desire of Congress is to cooperate with the President."

YOUR UNCLE'S BETTER

I would like to know the whereabouts of my uncle. He lived by himself and one of his neighbors told me the police came and got him and took him to jail and then to Cherry Hospital. J. V.

Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon said your uncle was taken to Cherry after his behavior was reported by neighbors. He said no charges were filed against him and that he was taken to Cherry Hospital. Mrs. Lib LeConte, executive secretary of the Pitt County Mental Health Association, checked with the hospital. They told her your uncle is in the Geriatric Building there and is much better. You may call him or visit any time you wish. Visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. every day of the week, Mrs. LeConte said.

UNDERSTANDING BRINGS PAYMENT

About three years ago, I opened a charge account with Penney's. All I ever put on it was a sports coat and three throw rugs. I received a statement once with a huge amount on it. They found then they had given me the same account number as a woman in Florida with a name similar to mine. I thought it was all straight and sometime later I got a check in the mail for about $19. I took it to Penney's here and asked if I should cash it. They said indeed yes, that they would cash it for me. I decided not to use the account any more and threw away all my papers on it. Then this week I got a letter saying I have a balance of $18.79. The people at the Penney's Store here have been very, very nice, but I can't get anything straight with this credit department. Mrs. E. J.

Hotline asked the Atlanta credit department to check on your account, explaining the circumstances. You soon got a letter saying the credit issued to your account was in error, that you, in fact, have two accounts with Penney's and that one of your payments was placed in the wrong account. Your balance, they said, is $17.44. We didn't understand this nor a copy of a letter to the local Credit Bureau. A check with the Credit Bureau reveals your rating was being changed to Excellent (R-1), with the reason for correction being "bad debt in error due to misapplied credit."

A call to a Mrs. O'Neal in the Atlanta Penney's collections department finally cleared up the mystery. The refund you received long ago came because one of your payments was placed in the wrong account giving you a plus balance. However, this left a deficit in the account you thought you were paying off. Miss O'Neal said the finance charges built up since have been removed, but you do owe $17.44.

You say, since you finally understand, you will be glad to pay this figure immediately.

SEVENTEEN AND A HALF... is the level recorded at the Greene Street Bridge Weather Service gauge this morning. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Duke U. Spokesmen Addressed Alumni
Dr. Juanita M. Kreps, vice president of Duke University and James B. Duke, professor of economics of Duke University, spoke Thursday evening to the Pitt County Duke Alumni as well as alumni of Beaufort and Martin Counties.

The meeting, attended by approximately 80 people, was held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Dr. Kreps' talk dealt with a review of Duke University's history, as the institution approaches its 50th anniversary in April. She spoke of the fact and fiction associated with the gift of the Duke family to Trinity College and brought out that Duke, on its 50th anniversary, would fulfill the vision that the Dukes had had for a great university. She noted also that the 100th anniversary of Duke must be the concern of its alumni for then it will portray the vision of its alumni.

In a question and answer session, Dr. Kreps answered questions on the present state of the economy, adding that she personally felt that an unwinding would come late in 1975 rather than at midyear as predicted by many economists.

New officers for the Pitt County Duke Alumni elected for the coming year are: Dan Earnhardt, president; Yvonne Deyton, vice-president; and Ann Whitehurst, secretary-treasurer. Betty Spier is the outgoing president.

Recognized at the meeting were Roger Marshall, alumni director, Charles Umberger Jr., assistant alumni director, and Elizabeth Persons, former director of admissions for the Woman's College at Duke.

Plan 4-Day Work Week
RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Department of Transportation plans to begin a four-day work week of 10 hours per day May 19 for road and bridge maintenance workers.

John H. Davis, chief engineer of operations for the department, said the new schedule will affect 8,000 to 10,000 employees. All administrative and office workers will remain on the normal five-day work week, Davis said.

The employees involved in maintenance will work the new schedule Monday through Thursday from May 19 until Sept. 26 when they will return to a five-day, eight-hour per day work schedule.

It will mark the first time that a state agency has gone on this type work schedule. Several private firms in North Carolina have instituted four-day, 40-hour work weeks in recent years.

Plan 4-Day Work Week

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Department of Transportation plans to begin a four-day work week of 10 hours per day May 19 for road and bridge maintenance workers.

John H. Davis, chief engineer of operations for the department, said the new schedule will affect 8,000 to 10,000 employees. All administrative and office workers will remain on the normal five-day work week, Davis said.

The employees involved in maintenance will work the new schedule Monday through Thursday from May 19 until Sept. 26 when they will return to a five-day, eight-hour per day work schedule.

It will mark the first time that a state agency has gone on this type work schedule. Several private firms in North Carolina have instituted four-day, 40-hour work weeks in recent years.

Sorority Director Visits ECU Sorority

Janice Ballard, Mid-Atlantic regional director of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., visited East Carolina University's Theta Alpha chapter Sunday and conducted a workshop program.

One of 11 regional directors of the sorority, Mrs. Ballard deals with 22 chapters, including the ECU chapter. The workshop dealt with ways to strengthen the chapter's function and the importance of graduate chapters to Alpha Kappa Alpha members after graduation.

She commended the ECU chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha for its excellence in campus and community services, as in keeping with the sorority's national goals.

The ECU chapter has sponsored several service projects recently, such as a Careers Day Workshop, tutoring services, child care projects, visits to convalescent homes, a hypertension clinic, arts and crafts projects, a "Black is Beautiful" workshop, a Heart Fund drive and a benefit dance to feed a needy family.

Program Given Tuesday On The Role Of Women

The role of women in the past and today in the countries of China, Iran, Brazil, France, and Morocco was described by four women native to these countries or who have lived there.

The discussion took place Tuesday night at a League of Women Voters' meeting held at Jarvis Memorial Church.

Sponsored by the International Relations Committee, the program, according to chairperson Barbara Zickerman, was planned in keeping with the United Nations' designation of this year as "The Year of the Woman."

China, which has made the most dramatic change, was represented by Professor Vickie Wong, who is on the faculty of ECU, teaching English. Dr. Wong left Mainland China in 1949 and lived in Hongkong and Japan before coming to the United States. "Women in old China, before the revolution in 1949," she explained "were in the most subservient position... born to be mothers, wives, and daughter-in-laws." Marriage was arranged, occurred very young, and often a girl was "sold" to the husband's family so that she was completely dependent upon the husband's family, she further explained. Women were not educated except for those from wealthy families. This was not very useful since it was limited to things such as poetry.

Dr. Wong told of the dramatic changes which have taken place since 1949 so that women are no longer second-class citizens in China today. New laws gave women equality in marriage relations, divorces are granted, and there no longer are forced or arranged marriages, according to Dr. Wong. Early marriages are now discouraged so that women now can obtain an education and become a "productive worker."

Iran was described by Parvin Jafari, of Tehran, Iran, an ECU junior majoring in political science. She said the picture is changing from 50 years ago when women were covered completely except for their eyes in a "very uncomfortable circle of cloth". Although 30 years ago the father of the present Shah urged laws to allow women to come out of the cloth and to receive higher education, it has only been in the past 10 years that this has begun to take place, that women can vote, and have equal opportunity.

Today many Iranian women are in high positions in the ministries, are professors, and are "doing their thing but very discreetly," according to Ms. Jafari. Women are trying to get more laws in their favor.

For example, until three years ago, only men could file for divorce, whereas today there is a family court where a woman can appeal and a judge and jury will hear both sides. There is still a law which women are seeking to change, that a wife cannot leave the country without her husband signing a paper of consent in court.

Brazil's women were described, first, in a historical perspective by Mrs. Pia Leahy, who teaches cartography and map-reading in the geography department of ECU. Mrs. Leahy is from Belo Horizonte, Brazil, and first came to this country as a Fulbright student.

Women's roles in Brazil have differed, she explained, depending upon whether or not they were from the upper or lower class. When the Portuguese opened up Brazil in the 1500s, families were left behind since the objective was to make money and return to Portugal.

The men immediately started a second family with the Indians and later with the African slaves so that today there is a large mestizo (part Indian-part white) and a mulato population. When finally the families were brought from Brazil, the wife and white children lived in the big house. The concubines and many children supplied a good labor force. The wife's role was dedicated to educating the children and she could never go out without her husband. The concubines had more power, the mestizo women serving as intermediaries between the slaves and the whites.

According to Mrs. Leahy, churches in Brazil do not allow birth control, abortion, or divorce. She sees change coming in this direction under the leadership of young, reactionary priests who are challenging the dogma of the older conservative priests.

"The evolution of women in France has been very slow", stated Ms. Marie Francoise Berthu, of Bordeaux, France, who is currently a graduate student in English at ECU.

She pointed out that despite the claim of "equality for all" at the time of the French Revolution, women in France could not vote until 1946. Today's Frenchwoman, she pointed out, is not very much involved in political life and a recent study showed that 89 percent voted the same as their husbands. There are few women in the government of France as shown in figures for March, 1973 where of 482 deputies only eight were women, and only four of the 282 senators are women. One woman has been appointed to head up a new governmental agency, a Special Department for Women, Ms. Berthu explained.

The evening's final speaker was Donna Whitley, a native of Greenville, who has traveled in other countries. She met her husband in Morocco.

Ms. Whitley stated that the status of women in Morocco was quite similar to the situation described by most of the speakers except for the present role of those living in China today. The change for women in Morocco is painfully slow, she said, with middle class women making the most change. "The role of the peasant woman is much the same as it was for 1,200 years."

Ms. Whitley opined that "the women of the world have a common culture, living and dying in a system organized by men with a set of ethics which we are carefully socialized to have as our own." In the Christian heritage, for example, Ms. Whitley noted, God is seen as "The Father" who takes care of things so our world has the super-male figure. This point of view, she stated, does not change culture to culture, describing beliefs of the worlds religions which place women in an inferior position.

Miss Sandra Hardee Weds In Ceremony

GRIFTON—The marriage of Miss Sandra Grace Hardee and Dr. Lawrence Joseph Hak was held Saturday, March 8 at 2:00 p.m. in the Grifton United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lee Hardee of Grifton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Hak of Collingswood, N.J.

The Rev. Harvey Watson of Durham, assisted by the Rev. J.E. Sponenberg of Grifton, performed the double ring ceremony which was composed by the bridal couple. A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Karen Keating, organist, and Rick Chapman, trumpeter. Miss Janie Clark of Chapel Hill, played the guitar and sang "Wedding Song."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown in white maricanne jersey made in a classic design featuring a bertha collar affected in Venetian lace. The long tapered sleeves were edged in matching lace. The gown was fashioned with a raised band at the waist, which accented the full flowing skirt forming the train.

The full French illusion veil was attached to a Camelot headpiece made of matching maricanne jersey and Venetian lace. Trailing staphanotis and miniature ivy accented the phalaenopsis orchids for her bouquet.

Miss Carolyn Triplett served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bryan Stevenson of Richmond, Va., Miss Marty Shore of Fredericksburg, Va., Mrs. Toby Cozart and Miss Susan Case of Chapel Hill, Miss Peggy Corbett and Mrs. William Byrd Jr., cousin of the bride, of Greenville, and Mrs. Richard Judge, sister of the bridegroom, of Collingswood, N.J.

Mr. Hak was his son's best man. Ushers were Donald, Charles and Wayne Hardee, brothers of the bride, Steven, Robert and George Hak, brothers of the bridegroom and Dr. Phillip Gerbino of Princeton Junction, N.J.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. W.D. Casey Jr. of Grifton. After a trip to Treasure Cay, Abaco, the couple will reside in Chapel Hill.

The bride received her B.S. in pharmacy at UNC-CH and is a clinical instructor there. The bridegroom received his B.S. in pharmacy and Pharm. D. at Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, Philadelphia Pa. He is an instructor of clinical pharmacy at UNC-CH.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained at the Greenville Golf and Country Club with a champagne reception.

Mr. and Mrs. R.H. McLawhorn Jr. greeted the guests.

After the traditional cutting of the cake by the bride couple, the cake was served by Mrs. Wayland McGlohon, Mrs. Dan Usry, Mrs. Nina Jane Stox and Miss Myra McLawhorn. Punch was poured by Mrs. William H. Crawford, Mrs. Kenneth Cox, Mrs. David McGlohon and Miss Diane McGlohon.

Miss Rhonda Edwards and Miss Keila McGlohon presided at the register table. Good-byes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGlohon.

The bride and bridegroom returned to the home of the bride where she changed into a beige suit with matching accessories and yellow picture hat. She wore her mother's corsage.

The wedding party, family and out-of-town guests were entertained after the rehearsal by the parents of the bridegroom at the Candlewick Inn, Greenville. A bachelor-spinster party was given the bride and bridegroom after the rehearsal dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andy McLawhorn, Winterville. Hostesses were Miss Susan Case, Miss Marty Shore, Mrs. Toby Cozart and Miss Carolyn Triplett.

The wedding party and out-of-town guests were entertained at a champagne wedding breakfast at the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

Hosting the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Branscome, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Carson, Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gower, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Tucker.

'Thanks A Lot' Is Not Enough From Schnorring Riders

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with anyone who is taken advantage of by people who don't drive and are always looking for rides. (I call them "schnorrers.")

Abby, I make sure my tank is not in need of filling when I have company with me because I don't want them to think that if I pull into a filling station it is a hint for them to buy some gas.

Wouldn't you think that after years of chauffeuring people around one would give me a small gift, or buy me a lunch? Never! And I never see any of these people unless I am taking them someplace.

I have decided against joining a certain organization because I would be a taxi for everyone going my way. My car is a convenience, but it's also an expense. My husband is the provider. I'm not employed.

Please print this, so people who are always "schnorring" rides will realize that some little expression of gratitude besides "thanks a lot" and then slamming the car door would be appreciated. HAD IT WITH SCHNORRERS

DEAR HAD IT: Here's your letter and I hope it helps. I think you're foolish for denying yourself the pleasure of joining a club for the reason you mentioned. Join, but don't allow yourself to be used.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, our mother, a widow, then 60, married an attractive 73-year-old man I'll call John. My brother and I (both married) were happy that Mom found someone with whom to share her life. We never cared much for John, but that's another story.

Mom seemed happy. Suddenly, five months ago she died of a heart attack, and John came out smelling like a rose. We knew for a fact that two weeks after Mom's funeral, John started calling up young girls asking for dates. Last weekend, he took a 25-year-old girl to La Costa, where several of our friends saw him. How's that for poor taste?

John was not exactly poor when Mom married him, but now he's rolling in money and making such a fool of himself. You wouldn't believe the talk in this town. I am sure if Mom had known he would carry on in such a scandalous way, she wouldn't have left him anything. He even got the lovely home Mom and Dad built and furnished.

Is there any way my brother and I can get the home? Our lawyer said it belongs to John for as long as he lives, after which my brother and I will share in the ownership.

Please ask your legal consultants if perhaps there is a loophole our lawyer overlooked. Thank you. J AND S

DEAR J AND S: My legal consultants have advised me against practicing law. And they further suggest that if you lack confidence in your lawyer, you should consult another lawyer for his (or her) opinion.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Needed Addition For Facility

The Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop has been providing a valuable service to this area for a number of years.

Now the Workshop is going to get a much needed addition to its facilities.

Contracts totalling $306,680 were approved by the Workshop's board of directors this week for a 12,000 square foot addition to the facility. Included in the addition will be a woodworking shop, a refinishing area, garage area, storage and display area for finished items, framing and caning room, sewing classroom and other facilities. Renovations will also make present facilities more usable in the Workshop's programs.

There are now 250 clients at the Workshop and Howard Dawkins is its director. A majority of the clients come from Pitt County, with a large number from Martin. The remainder come from other Eastern counties.

The Eastern Sheltered Workshop was organized here in 1967 and the building was constructed in 1969. It has proved its worth to the entire region and we are pleased to see these additional facilities underway.

Gas-Rationing Need Fortunately Subsided

Several citizens recalled gas rationing during World War II in a recent Daily Reflector article and they were unanimous in the opinion that they didn't like it.

Fortunately the need for gas rationing seems to have abated somewhat for the present, since the recession has created a world surplus of oil.

An upturn in the economy could put us back in a position of short gas supplies in the near future, however. Thus the question of higher prices to discourage gas usage, or rationing still hangs.

Chose Risky Field

By VENG ENG PHNOM PENH (UPI) — When Dr. Khun Son Soeung performs surgery, his life is as much on the line as that of his patient.

The doctor has become an expert at removing explosive grenades from inside the bodies of war wounded persons.

Since late 1971, he has removed four 40 mm U.S. made grenades from Cambodians brought to Borei Keila Hospital in Phnom Penh.

It goes without saying that all the operations have been a success. Failure would mean death or serious injury to the surgeon as well as the patient.

Dr. Khun Son Soeung, who prefers to be called a professor of medicine, performed his fourth operation just before the beginning of 1975.

He performed it in a specially-constructed bunker-operating room. Newsmen, foreign and Cambodian doctors and nurses watched at a safe distance.

U.S. ammunition makers manufacture the M79 grenade to be fired from a launcher, not to be thrown.

It has a built-in safety factor in that it cannot explode until it has been fired several yards. The four grenades removed by the professor had not been fired far enough to explode.

But the grenade is triggered as it leaves the launcher and is a time bomb until it actually is set off.

"The first one I saw was in September, 1971," Dr. Khun Son Soeung said in an interview after his fourth successful operation.

An 18-year-old college coed was 50 miles southeast of Phnom Penh when she was hit by a grenade. A brave taxi driver carried her to the hospital in the capital.

"When the people here saw what it was, they all shouted and carried on about how dangerous the M79 rounds were," the professor said.

THIS AFTERNOON

Local Funds Gather Dust

By BILL NOBLITT RALEIGH—While some agencies clamor for funds to carry out alcoholic rehabilitation programs and public schools seek money from the General Assembly for mental health assistance and alcoholic education programs, millions of public dollars are moldering in the bank accounts of local Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards and Boards of County Commissioners across the state.

Two sources of funds are involved: a five-cents per bottle tax levied at the local ABC store and earmarked for local alcohol rehabilitation programs, and another seven per cent sum off the top of local liquor store profits earmarked by law to go to local school boards for education and counseling in alcoholism.

Both proposals drew strong support when passed by the General Assembly, and were seen by drinkers and non-drinkers alike as a means of letting people who buy alcoholic products pay some of the cost of educating people on its abuses, and the cost of rehabilitating alcoholics.

Probe Set State Rep. Claude DeBruhl of Asheville, a key sponsor of the special liquor levy, has been keeping an eye on the program at the local level, and is now convinced an audit is needed to find out how much money has piled up in local bank accounts unspent, and to devise changes in the law to require that the money be spent according to law. While lacking positive information, DeBruhl says he is certain the amount of money runs into the millions: "I would say there is over $17 million around this state derived from the special levies and now lying in the hands of county commissioners and local ABC boards that is not being used."

The bulk of that sum comes from the seven per cent cut of local ABC profits specifically earmarked for local school and mental health activities. . . . but the schools and mental health agencies are not getting the money, DeBruhl said.

Local contracts for research, rehabilitation, and education in alcoholism may be entered into at the discretion of the local ABC boards, but DeBruhl said an investigation will show most of the money "lying fallow and not being used for the purpose it was levied. . . those funds need to be tied together for education and treatment. We've got state agencies (schools and mental health) coming to the General Assembly for money to carry out programs in local units, and the money is already out there, but not being spent."

State Control DeBruhl said a probe of the system should produce a system of regular state supervision and auditing of the local accounts, some provision for reversion of the funds to the state if local units fail to use it regularly and properly, and a system of state coordination to guarantee that the money is used to provide local services to schools and mental health agencies, and that both of those agencies work together on the problems.

State Rep. Liston B. Ramsey, D-Madison County, has also zeroed in on the special liquor funds and recently asked legislative staff aides to study the situation.

The Fiscal Research staff found no state system of monitoring or reporting use of the local funds, but through a voluntary questionnaire to local governments found that "A mammoth 43 per cent of the funds" are unexpended locally, and concluded that "counties are not making use of the five-cents per bottle funds . . . on a timely basis. . . (the money) lies idle for a year or longer, for undetermined purposes."

The five-cent fund was set up to provide construction, maintenance, and operation of facilities for education, research, treatment and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Since July 1, 1973, more than $2 million has been collected in local hands from the special levy. Nearly half of that amount is unspent. Some counties have spent the dollars for local rehab programs, or to assist private alcoholic treatment facilities in local operations.

Two of the state's largest counties, Forsyth and Mecklenburg, account for the major part of the unspent money being held, with $114,339 accumulated in Forsyth, and $226,043 on hand in Mecklenburg.

The N.C. SCENE

Private College Aid Urged

By JOHN KILGO Former Governor Terry Sanford, now president of Duke University, has told legislators that private colleges in the state are facing a financial crisis, and state government needs to help them immediately.

Before the Legislature convened in January, this column said the issue of state aid to private colleges would be one of the toughest this General Assembly would face. The University's Board of Governors has recommended state aid to private colleges based solely on student need—and this proposal has drawn the fire of the leaders of the private colleges.

N. C. Wesleyan College is asking that the state university system take over the school. Sanford says that prospect will "increasingly spread to other private colleges, and it's not good for the taxpayers, not good for North Carolina students, and not good for the state."

Sanford, in a letter to legislators, says private colleges face critical financial problems because enrollment at those schools has fallen below the break even point. "There is a basic reason for the decline in enrollment," Sanford says, "and that is the difference in the tuition between public and private colleges."

The tuition gap between public and private institutions has increased steadily, Sanford contends, because the state is absorbing inflation at the public colleges, while the students must absorb it at the private schools.

If the private colleges in North Carolina are to be saved, Sanford says the gap in tuition costs between state and private colleges must be narrowed.

"This can be accomplished by raising state tuition to a figure nearer what it costs," Sanford says. "This, in my opinion, would be an extremely bad solution."

"This can also be accomplished by granting the student who choose a private college an 'equalization' grant—a sum considerably less than what it costs the taxpayer to send a student to a public college. The grant would not be based on need any more than our support of students at state institutions is based on need."

Sanford says the taxpayers will get out cheaper, the choice of education will remain broader, and North Carolina students will be treated more fairly if the General Assembly provides some assistance to all North Carolinians who choose a private college.

Sanford says in the letter that he made such a proposal when he was Governor, but did not push hard enough to get it carried through, because the situation wasn't as critical then as it is now.

He also pointed out that his school, Duke University, has no enrollment problems.

White Collar Criminals

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—Federal investigators are now looking into charges that at the height of the Arab oil embargo American businessmen overcharged electric power companies, hospitals, schools and consumers by as much as a billion, possibly $3 billion. I couldn't believe that Americans could do this to other Americans and I went to see Rock Ogelthorpe, the spokesman for the Our Country Right or Wrong Oil Institute.

"Rock," I said, "how could you rip off your own people during an oil crisis?" Rock touched the American Flag in his lapel nervously. "If we didn't somebody else would have."

"But you took advantage of poor people who were dependent on electricity for heat and cooking: widows, orphans, schoolchildren and sick patients. Doesn't that bother your conscience?"

"What about our stockholders?" Rock said defensively. "They certainly deserve a fair return on their investment. The price of oil is made in the marketplace. When the Arabs shut off their spigots, we had two choices: sell oil at the fixed prices the government laid down or make a few bucks for a rainy day. This whole thing is exaggerated. We are talking about a few pennies for the average consumer. Would you like to see what we're doing to attract fish around our ocean-going oil rigs?"

"No," I said. "I want to talk to you about some of your dealers forging tanker invoices so that they could charge $10 for $5 barrels of oil."

Rock was getting red in the face. "Now you're dealing with national security. The Russians would love to know how we did it, but you're never going to find out from me. The point is that the power companies in this country needed oil desperately, and thanks to the American free-enterprise system we delivered that oil. Suppose we have another crisis? We're going to have to do the same thing again. If the Commies knew how we made windfall profits on the Arab oil embargo, we'd all be dead ducks. Think of your country, man, before you write this story."

"Rock, I've known you for years. You support the National Symphony, the Boy Scouts of America, the Metropolitan Opera, the church of your choice. Why do you have to cheat people on their electricity bills?"

"We didn't cheat anybody. All we did was sell oil to the electric companies. We didn't tell them what to charge their customers. If they raised their prices it had nothing to do with us. We're not in the power business."

"Do you believe that the men involved in the schemes should be brought to justice?"

"Of course. If they did anything wrong they should be fined $2,000 or $3,000. After all, we don't condone crime."

"I wasn't thinking of a fine. I was thinking more of sending them to jail for maybe five or 10 years or, since we're talking about a billion dollars, maybe 20 years."

Rock was shocked. "You don't send businessmen to jail just for overcharging people. After all, they have families and are pillars of their community. Let's keep this in perspective. Jail is for people who commit crime in the streets. If there was any hanky-panky, and I'm not saying there was, no one was taken to the hospital."

"I guess you're right, Rock. No one did get hurt."

"Let's forget all this talk," Rock said. "It depresses me. Would you like to see a film on how oil companies are saving the alligators in the Everglades?"

40 Years Ago Today

March 21, 1935

East Carolina Teachers College will open its baseball season on March 27, when they will play Guilford College in a double header.

The schedule, as announced by Coach Doc Mathis, will include 20 games, 13 of which will be played at home.

Coach Mathis has been busy for the last week getting his men into shape for the opening game and to pick a winning season. The letermen to return this season are pitcher Lefty Dunn, first baseman Jimmy Johnson, second baseman Joe Easom, shortstop "Runt" Bostic and third baseman John Hodges.

Among the new men showing well so far are Joe (G)lston, Stowe, Ridenhour, Barrow and Ferbee.

Home games and dates will be Guilford College, March 27; High Point College, March 30; April 1: Union Theological Seminary of Richmond, April 8; Louisburg College, April 12; Presbyterian Junior College, May 2-3; William and Mary (Norfolk Division), May 7-8; Oak Ridge Institute, May 11; Atlantic Christian College, May 17, and Elon College, May 21.

Public Forum

To the editor:

Changing PTI to a community college will not change the vocational "mission" of this school. It also doesn't diminish the fact that all ECU supporters had to work like the "dickens" to gain the benefits it has attained, nor does it say "the public be damned", or "slap" Dr. Jenkins or anyone that has ECU affiliations.

This is a way PTI can receive government benefits that can't be obtained by other measures. It also shows just how much this area has grown. PTI and ECU have lived and worked together since PTI began, so I can see no reason why this can't continue. I'm sure, of course, there'll be some on both sides of the fence who don't like the idea, but we should not be intimidated by a few, but do what is best for the majority. PTI does not only serve Pitt County, but also serves surrounding counties.

I supported ECU, but I also feel I can and should support PTI. There is room enough for both!

By golly, can't this community live and let live and not put down every beneficial change that is proposed. Let's all band together for PTI like we did for ECU and see if we can't have a more organized community effort for the betterment of PTI and the surrounding communities.

Trade Hampered By Amendment

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The same emigration amendment to the U.S. Trade Act of 1974 that led to a rift with the Soviets might also be hampering the development of trade with the People's Republic of China.

Moreover, say some officials involved in U.S.-China trade, it might also delay settlement of a dispute involving U.S. assets of $200 million "frozen" by mainland China and more than $80 million of Chinese assets here.

Christopher Phillips, president of the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, said that in some respects an almost impossible situation is presented but that he remains hopeful.

The amendment stipulates, among other things, that certain nations cannot receive "most favored nation" status regarding tariffs or obtain U.S. government credits if they impede emigration rights of their citizens.

The Soviets viewed this amendment, sponsored by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., as an intrusion into their domestic affairs, and there are fears the mainland Chinese might make a similar interpretation.

"The Chinese are very sensitive of limitations on their freedom," said Phillips, whose organization includes more than 250 American companies and is supported by Washington as a focal point of U.S.-Sino trade.

Until the emigration issue is faced and resolved, the Chinese will continue to receive discriminatory tariff treatment of their exports to the United States. It means their goods will sell at a competitive disadvantage.

"It's a problem," Phillips said, "because the Chinese themselves are not begging for MFN status. Officially they say it is entirely an internal matter of the U.S. government."

But in private talks, said Phillips, who prior to taking his current position held ambassadorial rank as deputy representative of the United States to the United Nations, the Chinese make their displeasure clear.

The matter isn't entirely economic either, Phillips said. "They feel it is politics, too. They resent discriminatory tariffs as not being in the context of mutually beneficial trade," a condition under which trade relations were reopened.

Said Phillips in an interview: "They consider it an unfriendly act not consistent with the Shanghai Communiqué," a joint Sino-U.S. statement of Feb. 28, 1972, setting conditions and stating position on trade renewal.

Strength For Today

TO BECOME AS CHILDREN All through his ministry Jesus continually referred to childhood as reflecting some of the characteristics of the kingdom. He declared that unless the adults to whom he spoke would humble themselves and become as little children, they would in no way enter into the kingdom of heaven. He saw in the innocence of childhood that sinlessness in which he delighted. He loved the eagerness of little children, their unpremeditated joy, their trust in the wisdom and the power of their parents; and he declared that unless men took this sort of thing as the norm of their actions, they could not share the benefits of the kingdom.

The reason for his insistence upon the childlike attitude was that the truths of religion cannot be understood by the involved and sophisticated analysis of worldly wisdom, but by the simple acceptance of certain propositions which we cannot understand.

Lauds Efforts Of Committee

Pitt Memorial Hospital Chief of Staff, Dr. Eric Fearington today praised the members of the Medical Education Liaison Committee for "three months of hard work" in drafting a proposed affiliation agreement between the hospital and the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

The hospital's Board of Trustees approved the set of principles for affiliation at its meeting Tuesday night.

Under the agreement, Pitt Memorial Hospital would become the prime clinical training facility for the ECU medical school.

Dr. Fearington said the work of the committee "led up to what I think is an acceptable accreditation document, and as chief of staff, I'd like to thank all of them for their contributions. 'The hospital and community owe them a whole lot,' he emphasized.

Members of the committee, representing the hospital's medical staff included committee chairman Dr. Jack Wilkerson and Drs. William Fore, E. S. Douglas, Jr., Frank Longino, Earl Trevathan, Lee West, and John Wooten.

University representatives included Drs. Ed Monroe, William Waugh, Wallace Woolees, Dean Hyack and Michael Schweisthal.

PMH administrator Jack Richardson; Kenneth Dews, a member of the hospital's board of trustees; and County Commissioner Charles Gaskins also served on the liaison committee.

Pre-Easter Revival Set

Evangelist Larry Woodley of Creswell will be conducting Pre-Easter revival at the University Church of Christ in Greenville beginning on Palm Sunday with services at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. and from Monday through Friday with services at 7:30 p.m.

top of the hill

The hill spreads out in front of them, stretching up and up; they can't see over the top. There may be clouds in the distance; but just now they are oblivious to them. They are together, and for the moment, that is all that matters.

Together, the mood, the romance it evokes, are a part of life. But so is that uphill winding road. Traveling through life, you often can't see over the top. You can only give each step along the way the best that is in you.

Fortunately, this is a journey that none of us has to make alone. Your Creator is reaching out to you and the doors of His Church are forever open. If you haven't passed through those doors for a long time, or if you have never passed through them at all, give it a try next Sunday! You will not be alone, and a new perspective may be yours.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market gave more ground today, encountering further profit taking despite some seemingly favorable economic news.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 4 1/2 at 759.39 on top of an aggregate loss of 22.53 points over the three previous sessions. Losers outdistanced gainers by about a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

RCA was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 3/4 at 17 1/2 after a 1 1/2 gain Thursday on the company's report that it was working with auto manufacturers on an electronic device designed to improve fuel economy.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slipped .16 to 80.40.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks declined .25 to 44.11.

U.S. Filter, the Amex volume leader, dipped 1/8 to 9 1/2.

Office Fund Cut Talked

RALEIGH (AP)—A North Carolina Senate appropriations subcommittee has raised the possibility of making a $100,000-a-year reduction in the office budget of Gov. Jim Holshouser.

Committee members said Thursday they had found at least seven administrative and secretarial positions in the governor's office filled by employees on the payrolls of other state agencies.

The members indicated they might vote to cut the governor's office budget by the amount of those salaries.

The committee agreed to recall Phil Kirk, the governor's administrative assistant, to discuss the matter.

Sen. Bobby Lee Combs, D-Catawba, said he felt that Kirk had misled the committee in not mentioning the seven positions when he appeared before the subcommittee.

City Council...

The Council reappointed George Coffman to a five-year term on the Utilities Commission. Coffman has completed one full term on the board.

Appointments to the Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission and Environmental Advisory Commission were tabled until the April meeting.

Approval was given to a motion rescinding an earlier resolution requesting advance Community Development Program funding. The city had hoped to receive some $80,000 in advance funding but, according to Mayor Eugene West, the city has learned that the advance amount available would only be approximately $4,000. It was felt that the amount of the grant would not justify the paperwork involved in submitting the application.

A public hearing on a routine matter involving an order authorizing $170,000 Parking Bonds was held with no opposition. Approval was given to the order authorizing the bonds.

To Be Closed

The Pitt County Sanitary Landfill will be closed Monday morning due to construction work being done on the landfill road.

Normal operations will resume Monday afternoon.

The landfill will be closed also on Easter Monday, March 31, which is a county holiday.

Farm Bill Aid For Dairy Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee, acting with unusual haste, approved today a farm bill that opponents say could raise the prices of dairy products by $495 million within a year.

The Senate panel used a measure passed less than 24 hours earlier by the House as the basis for its bill. It accepted most of the House bill but raised government support for the dairy and cotton industries.

Hagerty told the Council that he had met with GUCO director Charles Horne to discuss the implementation of the Utilities budget and Horne reported that he planned to have the budget ready for the Council to consider by the middle of latter part of May.

The city manager also noted that City Attorney David Reid has been in touch with the Attorney General's office in Raleigh discussing the implementation of the Fiscal Control Act and a meeting on that matter is scheduled tentatively for April 1 in Raleigh.

Justice Douglas Back At Work

By W. DALE NELSON
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas, who has survived an attack of polio and a near-fatal fall from a horse, is back at work after treatment for a temporarily paralyzing stroke.

The 76-year-old Douglas was officially discharged Thursday from Walter Reed Army Medical Center where he had been hospitalized for nearly three months with a stroke that weakened his left arm and leg.

Although Douglas' discharge became official Thursday, the justice left the hospital Wednesday and spent three hours working in his chambers that evening.

He returned to the court Thursday morning and worked until about 4 p.m., announcing through a spokesman that he expected to participate in the court's weekly conference today. He also said he expects to be on the bench when the court resumes hearing cases on Monday.

Peter Esker, information officer at Walter Reed, said Douglas is able to walk. A court spokesman added that the justice would return to the hospital several times a week to continue physical therapy.

Douglas suffered an attack of polio as a child. To strengthen his weakened body, he climbed the Cascade Mountains near his home in Yakima, Wash. The hikes became a lifelong habit.

In 1949, near Tipsoo Lake in Washington, the justice was thrown from his horse, which then rolled downhill on top of him. The accident cost him half of one lung, but he was able to return to the court and his active outdoor life.

Last New Year's Eve, when he checked into a hotel in the Bahamas for a vacation, he suffered a temporarily paralyzing stroke.

He was flown to Walter Reed and hospitalized.

Rampants Maul Washington On 1-Hitter

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Mike Belton and Jimmy Averett combined to guide Rose High School to its second straight one-hit victory of the year yesterday as the Rampants ripped Washington High School, 8-0.

The lone hit of the game off the Rampant pitching came in the fifth inning when leadoff batter Eddie Cherry hit a single through the middle off Belton. In getting the victory, Belton worked five innings, gave up only the one hit, walked three and struck out four. Averett came on after that, working the final two innings. He fanned three, walked one and hit one.

The Rampants used a big second inning to gain six of their eight runs, as they got four hits, including a double and a triple during the frame. The other two runs came in the sixth on just one hit.

Coach Ronald Vincent was able to insert many of his players into the lineup in the game, putting 17 players during the afternoon.

The victory was their second, and combined with their 10-0 shutout in their opener against Goldsboro, gave the Rampants 18 runs scored against none allowed. And Rose has given up only two hits so far.

The loss dropped the Washington record to 1-2 overall. Washington did get off a small threat in the first as leadoff batter Bo Stevens walked and stole second. But after a pop, Belton fanned the next two batters to end the inning. Washington didn't move another man to second until the fifth. Cherry led off with his single, but was cut down on Chick Gurganus' grounder to second. Ricky Payne walked to move Gurganus on to second, but a double play ended the inning.

Washington offered one more threat in the seventh. Robin Woolard was hit by a pitch, but went down on Joey Davis' fielder's choice. Doug Whitehead then reached on an error, allowing both runners to advance a base. But a strikeout and an infield grounder ended the frame.

Rose, after being retired in order in the first, got moving with one down in the second. Ron Hunt got it started with a single and Keith Jones slashed a line drive to the fence in dead center, easily scoring Hunt. Jones pulled in with a triple, then trotted home when Mike Brewington dropped a double into left field. Eddie Connolly and Belton both drew walks, loading the bases. Jack Jenkins grounded back between the mound and first, and the Pam Pack's Alston Daniels started first, then realized he had a force at home, but his throw there was too late, as Brewington scored the third run.

Griff Garner followed with a single to center, driving in David Dixon and Wesley Deal, courtesy runners for Connolly and Belton. Jenkins, who had taken third on the hit, chugged home on Kelly Heath's sacrifice fly

TAKING AIM—Tommy LaGard (45) of North Carolina takes aim with the ball during the NCAA Basketball Eastern Regional Tournament in Providence Thursday night. Rudy Hackett, center, of Syracuse, defends while other players await the outcome in the background. Syracuse upset the Tar Heels, 78-76. (AP Wirephoto)

Syracuse Surprises Tar Heels; Late Basket Pulls Off Upset

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—They did all the things you'd expect of a team from the highly promoted Atlantic Coast Conference. They showed class, had a lot of good players and used all sorts of defenses and gimmicks. But Syracuse was not impressed, and North Carolina, champions of the ACC, is no longer in the NCAA tournament. In the Tar Heels' place is a Syracuse team with seven losses, among them defeats to schools like Canisius and West Virginia. And on Saturday, the Orangemen will play Kansas State, a team with eight losses, one of which was by 38 points only two weeks ago. But these two unlikely pretenders to anybody's championship are still in the NCAA's college basketball derby, and one of them will go to San Diego next week as champion of the East Regional.

Sixth-ranked North Carolina is going nowhere because Jim Lee, a 6-foot-2 guard, hit a 15-foot jump shot with three seconds remaining Thursday night. It was the difference in Syracuse's 78-76 upset of the heavily favored Tar Heels.

Kansas State is still in business despite itself. The Wildcats did their best to blow a 15-point lead by throwing the ball away 22 times, but Chuckie Williams, a cool 6-3 guard, calmed his team with two of his 15 field goals and Kansas State prevailed over cold-shooting Boston College, 74-65.

Almost nobody believed Syracuse might win, but the Orangemen insisted they weren't impressed with any team just because it was from the ACC. The clincher was applied by Lee after North Carolina, which made four floor errors in the final two minutes, threw the ball away with 27 seconds left. The Tar Heels were leading 76-75. Syracuse worked for one shot and Lee made it count.

"It wasn't a set play," said Lee, who scored 24 points and hit 12 of his 18 shots. "I just happened to be open. If I'm open, I'll shoot." Which is what he did very well.

North Carolina, 22-8, led throughout the first half. But every time the Tar Heels would get a five or seven-point lead, Syracuse, relying heavily on super-quick guard Jim tried to pull off an upset. East Carolina University's track team will be on partial display Saturday morning at 11:30 a.m. when Coach Bill Carson puts the team through a time trial situation in several events.

"We have only one home meet this year," Carson said, "so some of the people might want to come out and see what we have this year."

Trials will be run in the 440-yard relay, the 880-yard run, and 440-yard dash and the mile relay.

Rams Fall To Saints

GOLDSBORO—Eastern Wayne High School handed Greene Central's fledgling tennis team a 9-0 setback yesterday.

The loss evened the Greene Central record at 2-2 for the year.

The Rams will entertain Farmville Central on Monday. Summary:

Mike Michalsky (EW) defeated Greg Shackleford, 6-0, 6-0.

Scott Blackwell (EW) defeated Terry Strickland, 6-3, 6-0.

Chuck Barrett (EW) defeated Tony Shackleford, 6-1, 6-1.

Chuck Bailes (EW) defeated Butch Martin, 3-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Jeff Fitzsimmons (EW) defeated Alan Taylor, 6-2, 6-2.

Burt Sessoms (EW) defeated Frank Hardy, 6-4, 6-3.

Blackwell-Michalsky (EW) defeated Shackleford-Shackleford, 8-2.

Burnett-Bailes (EW) defeated Martin-Strickland, 8-2.

Fitzsimmons-Sessoms (EW) defeated Hardy-Taylor, 8-3.

East Carolina University's track team will be on partial display Saturday morning at 11:30 a.m. when Coach Bill Carson puts the team through a time trial situation in several events.

"We have only one home meet this year," Carson said, "so some of the people might want to come out and see what we have this year."

Trials will be run in the 440-yard relay, the 880-yard run, and 440-yard dash and the mile relay.

with the sixth run. Macon Moye walked, and both he and Garner advanced on a passed ball before the inning finally was ended.

Rose got off another threat in the third as Connolly reached on a fielder's choice and Belton walked. They threatened again in the fifth as Jones walked and then advanced on an error.

But it wasn't until the sixth that they managed to score again. Lee Shearin led off with a walk and moved up on an out. With two down, Dixon singled, moving Shearin to third. Dixon then stole second, and on the delayed double steal, Shearin stole home. Hunt and Wright Hooks both walked to load them up, and a passed ball scored Dixon with the game's final run.

Brewington walked to reload the bases, but nothing else came across.

The Rampants play host to Kingston today at 4 p.m. at Guy Smith Stadium. There is a possibility that a rained-out game with the Vikings will be made up as part of a double header, but even so, game time will be the same. If the two do not play two games, Rose may travel to Kingston on Saturday to conclude the two meetings.

Steve Bryant just isn't the type of guy one would notice in a crowd. In fact, without his dirt-stained baseball uniform, he would hardly stand out by himself, alone, either.

Bryant doesn't mind being unnoticed, though. He concentrates on hitting the baseball and making the plays that, often enough, leave him dirt-streaked in the infield. As starting second baseman for the 1975 East Carolina University Pirates, Bryant is hitting for a .333 clip through seven games. Pirate head coach George Williams says this .300-plus average will continue with Bryant, too.

"Steve is the most consistent player we have," said Williams. "Day in and day out, he will do the job you want him to do."

It wouldn't be too hard to get the idea that a 5-11, 165-pound second-baseman for a college baseball team is apt to take a lot of punishment during a 35-game schedule, such as the Pirates have. But rain has reduced that number to 31, and coupled with some early-season hitting problems felt by the team in general, Bryant feels like the "lid may come off this weekend" when the Pirates travel to Davidson to face the Wildcats in a Saturday doubleheader.

"We need a scheduled like we have and like on coming up week to get our wings hitting the ball," said Bryant. "You can do a lot in practice, but it just isn't like facing game pitching."

The Pirates, 4-3 on the season which includes a 1-1 Southern Conference mark, have 10 games scheduled in the next nine days, inclusive of the Saturday doubleheader. ECU has much of a new look this year, in that five players, Bryant included, saw fit to don the Pirate purple and gold following graduation from Louisburg College.

Bryant pointed to a number of similarities in what is becoming ECU's "farm team" program at Louisburg, and it is obvious which he favors.

"At Louisburg, I was living at home and didn't really get to know the people I was playing

STEVE BRYANT

"If I was a recruiter, that would be it," said Bryant. "The coaching staff will just do anything to help you become a better ballplayer and a winning ballplayer as well."

As for the future, Bryant said the Pirate bats will "wake up soon" and "there is no reason why we can't win the conference title" because "there are some fine players on this team." Looking even further than that, though, Bryant said he hoped to be able to turn to coaching when he completes his education, and be able to do so in baseball.

"I enjoy working with kids on a level when I can help them develop," said Bryant. "That would make me feel good, to help somebody learn to play when the staff we had in high school made it so that you learned everything by yourself."

One could almost imagine Bryant's first baseball team, rolling after the line drives, and hitting the baseball. They'd all be talking softly, but still swinging that big stick.

"That, in one sense, is what helped sell me on the ECU program: people in Greenville will know you exist and whatever you do as a baseball player and student will help even more."

Bryant said another selling point was Williams, and assistant Monte Little, who "will just be unbelievable in helping you learn to play baseball."

Williamston Romps By Eagles

WILLIAMSTON—Robersonville High School, playing its second game of the day, found itself on the short end this time, as Williamston's Tigers ripped them, 14-2.

The Tigers had little trouble in gaining the victory, as they pushed over six runs in the first, then added a couple in the second. Six more crossed in the sixth inning.

Both of the Robersonville runs came in the second inning.

Williamston put it all together in the first inning. Roy Lilly walked and moved up on a wild pitch. Tim Hardison walked and Eric Godard's single loaded the bases. Mike Bryant singled in Lilley and Gary Jones walked to score Hardison. Tommy Gardner singled in both Godard and Bryant, but he was erased on Ken Herman's infield grounder. Herman stole second, and Jones stole home. Herbie Rogers walked and Phil Selby reached on an error, scoring Herman with the final run.

Godard, Selby and Herman led the Williamston hitting with two each; one of Godard's was a triple.

The two teams meet again on Thursday.

Kentucky, Indiana, Maryland Take Wins

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Fifth-ranked Kentucky has been pointing for a rematch against unbeaten No. 1 Indiana ever since the Hoosiers gunned down the Wildcats 98-74 earlier this season.

The time for the shootout virtually is at hand — Saturday at Dayton, Ohio.

Both teams reached the final of the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball tournament with victories at Dayton Thursday night, Kentucky trouncing unranked Central Michigan 90-73 and Indiana beating 13th-ranked Oregon State 81-71.

Meanwhile, in the East Regional at Providence, R. I., No. 20 Syracuse upset sixth-rated North Carolina 78-76, and 17th-ranked Kansas State downed unranked Boston College 74-65.

At Las Cruces, N.M., in the Midwest Regional, No. 3 Louisville stopped 12th-ranked Cincinnati 78-63 and fourth-rated Maryland trimmed No. 9 Notre Dame 83-71.

And in the West Regional at Portland, Ore., second-ranked UNLA squeaked past unheralded Montana 67-64 and No. 7 Arizona State topped 16th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas 87-84.

All the winners will meet Saturday for the regional titles, then the winners will advance to the national semifinals at San Diego March 29. The championship will be at San Diego March 31.

Indiana's victory over Oregon State was its 34th in a row over two years and 31st this season. The Big Ten Conference champions got 34 points from Steve Green, who connected on 14 of 19 field goal attempts, and 23 points from Kent Benson.

Kentucky, 24-4, led upstart Central Michigan by only two points with eight minutes left, before pulling away with three straight baskets. Kevin Grevey paced Kentucky with 17 points.

Syracuse's victory over North Carolina was the biggest upset so far in the far-ranging NCAA tourney. The Orangemen, 22-7, won it on Jim Lee's field goal with three seconds remaining. Lee finished with 24 points.

Chuck Williams, 32 points, 24 in the second half, led Kansas State, 20-8, past Boston College. The Eagles rallied to within 65-63, but couldn't overcome the Wildcats, who shot a sparkling 63 per cent from the field, hitting 34 of 54 attempts.

Farmville Slips By North Pitt Nine, 4-3

FARMVILLE—Farmville Central nipped North Pitt, 4-3, in an Eastern Carolina Conference baseball game yesterday.

The Jaguars took an early 3-0 lead, but North Pitt came back in the middle innings to tie the score. But a last inning run did the trick for the Jaguars, who were winning their second game in as many starts.

Farmville moved into the lead in the first inning with a run. Tommy Cobb walked and stole second, coming home on Tony Oakley's hit.

The Jaguars pushed in two more runs in the second. David Winborn walked and Scott Evans got a hit. Mike Jenkins moved them up on a sacrifice, and both scored on Tommy Cobb's single. That gave Farmville Central a 3-0 lead.

But the Patheers struck back in the fourth inning. Rick Harrell singled and Willie Briley reached on an error. Eddie Hemingway also singled, scoring Harrell.

Two more in the fifth tied it up for North Pitt. Noah Whitley walked and scored on a hit by Aubrey Wynne. Wynne then came around on Rick Harrell's single.

Farmville broke the tie in the seventh with the winning run. Oakley walked and David Rigsby singled. Ricky Shreve's fly ball was error, allowing Oakley to score the game-ending run.

Central today, while North Pitt will entertain Conley.

Aurora Nips Bear Grass

BEAR GRASS—Aurora High School nipped Bear Grass, 4-3, yesterday as the Bears opened the 1975 baseball season.

Aurora jumped into the lead in the second inning, and although the Bears came back to tie it up at 3-3, they were unable to gain the lead.

Aurora moved ahead with two in the second. Austin reached on a fielder's choice and Clark was safe on an error. Gerard singled, scoring Austin, and Bland's hit brought in Clark for a 2-0 lead.

The Bears came up with a run in their half of the inning. Allan Crawford singled and Ray Wynne moved him to third on a hit. A balk then let Crawford score.

Aurora added a run to its lead in the third. Norville singled and moved up on an error. Sandler then scored him with a single.

Bear Grass scored a pair in the fourth to knot it at 3-3. Danny Peaks singled and moved up on an error. Another error let Crawford reach. Wynne singled in Peaks, and an error on the play let Crawford come in with the tying run.

Aurora came back with a run in the fifth that meant the difference. Barber tripled, then came home when Hardy got a single for the 4-3 lead that held up.

Bear Grass, now 0-1, will travel to Pantego today.

Tigers Defeated

WILLIAMSTON—Ahsokie High School captured a 9-0 victory over the Williamston High School tennis team yesterday.

The loss was the second in as many matches for the Tigers.

Williamston did manage to win two sets during the afternoon, but were unable to pull through any of the matches.

The Tigers travel to Edenton today for their next outing.

Summary:

Paul Viser (A) defeated Jim Manning, 7-5, 6-1.

Chris Powell (A) defeated Terry Griffin, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Thompson-Tillery (A) defeated Boyd-Williams, 8-1.

Princeton Tops USC

NEW YORK (AP)—Pay attention, please, the Princeton Tigers are giving a basketball clinic.

Notice how they move the ball. See them hit the open man. Watch the ball go in the basket.

"We played as well as we can," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril after his Tigers put on a near-perfect performance in beating South Carolina 86-67 Thursday night in the quarterfinals of the 38th National Invitation Tournament.

The impressive victory advanced the Ivy Leaguers into Saturday's semifinals against Oregon, which beat Oral Roberts 68-59 in Thursday night's first game at Madison Square Garden.

Jaguars Gain Win

DUDLEY—Farmville Central took two of the three doubles events to eek out a 5-4 victory over the Southern Wayne High School tennis team yesterday.

The two team split the singles events down the middle, each winning three.

The victory enabled the Jaguars to remain undefeated through three matches, including two in the Eastern Carolina Conference.

Farmville Central will travel to Greene Central on Monday.

Summary:

Mike Corbett (FC) defeated Tom Southerland, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

Steven Raper (SW) defeated George Perkins, 6-4, 7-6.

Mitchell Jones (SW) defeated Eric Pierce, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Tommy Holloman (FC) defeated Mike Brill, 6-2, 6-1.

Bill Skinner (FC) defeated Justin Heath, 6-1, 6-1.

Doug Vinson (SW) defeated Tony Baker, 1-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Corbett-Pierce (FC) defeated Southerland-Heath, 8-2.

Jones-Raper (SW) defeated Perkins-Stuart Jones, 8-6.

Skinner-Holloman (FC) defeated McCumber-Faucette, 8-5.

Syracuse . . .

Williams, would close to within two or three.

The lead changed hands 11 times in the second half, but North Carolina appeared to be in control in the final few minutes as guards Phil Ford and Brad Hoffman, who had 24 and 20 points, hit with consistency.

The only problem was that Syracuse refused to crack and when the Orangemen, 22-7, got their chance, they capitalized.

Robersonville Captures Win

ROBERSONVILLE—Robersonville High School took a 6-4 victory over Rock Ridge in their opening baseball game of the year yesterday. But they followed that up with a loss at Williamston (see other story).

The win, however, gave the Eagles a leg-up in the Eastern Plains Conference with a 1-0 record.

Rock Ridge got to the Eagles for three runs in the first inning, however. Terry Lewis walked and moved up on a passed ball. Larry Fenn also walked and another walk to Richard Lamm loaded the bases. Gary Burns hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Lewis. Terry Griffin walked, forcing in Fenn, and Robert Boyette's ground out scored Lamm for the 3-0 lead.

Robersonville came right back to score four runs in their half of the first, moving into the lead for good. Jeff Warren walked as did Reid Bullock. Neno Hayes singled and Ricky Spruill came on as a runner for him. Jimmy Stalls' walk brought in Warren, and Carl Bullock grounded out, scoring Reid Bullock.

Robin Fowler singled and Charlie Smith's double brought in Spruill and Stalls with the go-ahead runs.

Robersonville added another run in the second. Billy Williams walked, and Spruill ran for him, stealing second and taking third on a passed ball. Hayes then singled him in for a 5-3 lead.

After Rock Ridge had closed

the gap to 5-4 with a run in the top of the third, the Eagles got another in their half of the frame. Ricky Griffin singled and moved up on an error. Smith singled and Williams' sacrifice fly scored Griffin with the final run.

Greene Central Tops Goldsboro

GOLDSBORO—Greene Central's Rams captured their opening game of the year yesterday, downing Goldsboro, 3-1.

The Rams came up with their first run in the third inning. Ron Whitley walked and Don Holloman got a hit. Jerry Carraway also walked, loading the bases. Joe Heath reached on an error, scoring Whitley for the 1-0 lead.

Goldsboro came up with one in the fifth to tie the score. Godwin walked and Farmer reached on an error. Dail then singled in Godwin.

It stayed that way until the seventh, when Greene Central pushed in two more to wrap it up. Carraway led off with a hit and moved up on a wild pitch. Heath reached on an error and William Brown's grounder was booted, scoring Carraway. Thomas Hooker followed with a single, scoring Heath with the insurance run.

The Rams, now 1-0, turn to Eastern Carolina Conference action today, playing host to Farmville Central.

'Dog Fight' Winners Given

The team of Brooks Barwick, Harvey Pittman, Emmett Koonce and Hugh Haynie captured first place in the recent Pitt County Golf Association's "Dog Fight" held at Brook Valley Golf and Country Club.

The four fired a 17-under-par 55 to gain first place.

Second place went to the team of Jake Garris, Willard Wilson, Critz Hillard and Bill Friend with a 12-under 60. Five other teams finished with 62s.

The final "Dog Fight" tournament will be held on Thursday at Grifton Golf and Country Club. Members of any of the five clubs in Pitt County are eligible to participate and may sign up at their respective clubs.

The Brook Valley club held its first Super Ball Tournament recently. First place went to the team of Harold Thomas, Dan Harris, John Reynolds and Dick Haut with a 62.

Bob Helmick, Willie Hathaway, Tim Kermon and Tom Martin took second with a 63, while Tommie Little, Bill Friend, Cletus Jackson and Andy Boles were third with a 64. Taking fourth place, but also firing a 64, were Steve Isler, Smokey Lancaster, Jim Agee, and Bill Smith. Fifth with a 65 were Bobby Boone, Frank Orgel, Ted Hall and Rich Friestad.

A total of 88 golfers took part, making up 22 teams.

Worthwhile TV Study Of IRS

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Most of us now are sweating over federal tax returns. So, with excellent timing, ABC's "Close-up" unit tonight is airing a show that will increase one's sweat — and anger — at the taxman.

It's a well-researched, well-edited study of the awesome power of the Internal Revenue Service and the potential for abuse of that power, be it by White House officials or over-eager IRS agents.

Save for a few taxpayers' horror tales and a surprising list of persons and groups closely scrutinized by a Nixon-era intelligence unit, there's little in the show that already hasn't been written about.

Yet ABC's study is well worth watching because of the way it logically threads together stories ranging from White House taxpayer-watching to "jeopardy assessments" into a comprehensive package that has impact.

Sometimes it strains a bit for impact, particularly in its effort to show that "any administration" — not just Richard Nixon's — is tempted to use IRS power for its own political purposes.

It cites "confidential memos" of the Kennedy administration it says show that the White House and the Justice Department pressured for close study of the tax-exempt status given "extremist organizations."

Most of those groups, the show says, "were conservative." It asks Mortimer Caplin, IRS chief in the Kennedy years, if the IRS then was being asked to focus on "right-wing organizations."

"Let me say this," replies Caplin. "We felt it was not proper... to look into one segment. We found that the history of the prior (Eisenhower) administration had been heavily geared toward left-wing organizations."

End of query. But if you don't listen carefully, you may feel that Caplin is somehow justifying political tit-for-tat in taxation. He's not. He's just making a frank non-admission of engaging in it.

The show is on sturdier ground in studying the operations of a since-disbanded IRS "Special Service Staff" formed in 1969 to gather intelligence on "dissidents" and "extremists."

It reveals that one triple-S list, containing names of 8,000 persons and 3,000 organizations, includes such folks as former Eisenhower aide Sherman Adams and performers Julie Andrews, Connie Stevens and Jose Jimenez (his real name is Bill Dana).

The program doesn't succeed in learning why these names were listed. But it does succeed in showing that the confidentiality of tax returns is shaky indeed, and that audits can be triggered by a simple, anonymously-written "sneak letter" even IRS agents can get put in the mail.

No doubt the IRS will complain that these and other abuse-of-power problems studied by "Closeup" are over-blown. But ABC's show is a valuable alarm bell for citizens and the Congress alike. Both should see it.

Music Program By First Graders Set

On Monday a first grade class at Eastern Elementary School will be presenting an Easter program of music. A repeat performance will be held early on Tuesday when the children appear on "Carolina Today" at 7:30 a.m.

About 25 first graders of Mrs. Anna Thomas' class, conducted by East Carolina University student teacher Sheila Thomas will appear in a program featuring three well known popular songs related to the Easter Season—Easter Parade, Here Comes Peter Cottontail; and The Bunny Hop.

The role of the mother in Here Comes Peter Cottontail will be played by Eastern's principal, Mrs. Margaret White, and the narrator will be a student, Angie Hardee.

Costumes for the musical were designed and made by Miss Dalerie Tyffier, elementary art teacher, and Mrs. Gaynelle Mills, resource teacher.

Parents of first graders and other interested persons are invited to attend the performance at Eastern Elementary, which will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday, and to see the children Tuesday morning on WNCN-TV, Channel 9.

The song cycle for tenor and orchestra, "Songs of the Tulpehocken," is based on texts by Pennsylvania German poets, reflecting the traditions of the Tulpehocken Settlement founded by the Palatine Germans in the early 1700s.

Tulpehocken is an Indian word denoting "land of the turtles."

Albert Einstein was once an examiner in the Swiss patent office.

Opening lead: King of ♣.

cash the ace of diamonds. Then he tried to run the hearts. Unfortunately, East ruffed the third heart. Although declarer discarded his club loser on this trick, he still had to lose a spade. He could set up dummy's fifth heart for one spade discard, but that was not enough.

This was a particularly bad result, for at the other table the contract was three no trump. With the diamond finesse succeeding, declarer had little difficulty in making eleven tricks.

Naturally, our eagle-eyed readers will quickly spot an alternate line that would not require a trump finesse. Consider what would happen if declarer were to start playing hearts at trick two, postponing drawing a round of trumps for a while.

East can still ruff the third heart, but declarer overruffs. Then he cashes the ace of diamonds, dropping the king. It is now a simple matter to establish a high heart. He enters dummy with a trump and ruffs a heart, felling the jack, crosses to the ace of spades and discards a club on the good heart. Now he concedes a spade, and can ruff his remaining spade loser in dummy. One spade trick is all the defense will get.

"Who was the declarer? Why, I was. And I leave it up to you to decide which was the better line."

Heads Loyalty Fund Effort
Mickey Dry of Greenville has been named to head Lenoir Rhyne College's 1975 Loyalty Fund effort in this area. The 1975 campaign is a drive to collect $200,000 for unrestricted support for the Hickory college.

From June through September Lenoir Rhyne's Loyalty Fund workers will direct their attention to all alumni other than Century Club members who have previously made gifts to the Fund.

The funds collected will be used to support the school's general operating budget.

I KNOW. I KNOW.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST TO FIX IT?

I DUNNO.

HOW SOON CAN I PICK IT UP?

AS SOON AS I FIX IT.

IT'S BEST TO HAVE QUESTIONS LIKE THOSE ANSWERED BEFOREHAND.

DAGWOOD, WHAT ARE YOU STARING AT?

HAVE YOU EVER LOOKED IN THE MIRROR AND WONDERED IF YOU'RE REALLY YOU?

OF COURSE YOU'RE REALLY YOU

IF YOU WEREN'T YOU'D BE THE FIRST TO NOTICE IT.

I HOPE YOU GUYS WON'T GIVE ME TROUBLE ON THIS PROJECT

ECU Library Annex Is Almost Ready For Use

LIBRARY ADDITION—A new 90,000 square foot addition to Joyner Library at East Carolina University, pictured here, is nearing completion and

The 90,000 square foot addition to East Carolina University's J. Y. Joyner Library is near completion. Dr. Ralph Russell, director of library services at ECU, said the new annex will probably be ready for use after Easter weekend.

Built on four levels, the annex is fully carpeted and will house about 350,000 volumes with seating for about 1,000 library users.

Several library services, including reference, interlibrary lending, circulation, reserve books, the North Carolina Collection and current periodicals, will be situated in the addition.

Each floor will feature informal furnishings with soft, upholstered seats and the annex will include seven areas for smokers, with both hard and soft seating.

Dr. Russell said the library's copy machines will temporarily be placed in the lobby of the addition, but after the present library is renovated, a room will be set aside specifically for copy machines and staff operators.

Features of the new addition include two group study rooms probably will be ready for use after the Easter weekend. (ECU News Bureau Photo by Guy Cox, Jr.)

Officers Named By Bell Arthur Corp.

BELL ARTHUR—J. S. Flake was elected president of the Bell Arthur Water Corporation at the group's fourth annual meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers named include: Charles Ray Nichols, vice president; Mrs. Pat Crawford, treasurer; and Glenn Strickland, secretary.

The Bell Arthur Water Corporation has grown to 325 users at the present time. Don Parrott, auditor, reported on the financial report for the 1974 fiscal year.

The corporation has been approved by the Internal Revenue Service as an exempt organization for income tax purposes. The tax status will continue as long as the receipts from the members for the purpose of meeting losses and expenses are at least 85 percent of the corporation's total income.

Tom Harwell of Rivers and Associates and Walter Averette of Farmers Home Administration discussed the expansion of the water system. The corporation's board voted to conduct a water users survey in the Ballards Cross Roads Community and the area near Speight's Seed Farm, including secondary roads 1138, 1125 and 1124.

Flake, Strickland and Gerald Whitley will conduct the survey and the results will be given to Harwell to study for feasibility of the extension by April 15.

The estimate of the project, including water lines and an overhead water tank, is approximately $400,000. The projected number of water users upon completion of the expansion is 500.

Developer Defends 'Soul City'

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Thirty years from now Soul City will have about 50,000 citizens, industry, health care and schools even though it is now virtually barren land six years after its inception, the project's backers said Thursday.

Soul City is a community being developed from scratch in rural North Carolina near Henderson. Floyd McKissick, the project's chief organizer, said at a news conference Thursday that Soul City is on schedule and was delayed because it took five years to obtain federal backing.

McKissick, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality, called the news conference to respond to a recent series of articles in the Raleigh, N.C. News and Observer.

"The project is alleged to rest on a base of shifting sand and came into being only as a result of my political activities which led to the receipt of millions of dollars of federal support. It has been charged that we failed to sustain a satisfactory development pace, mismanaged federal funds and attracted a cadre of my relations from near and far to join me on the developed acres of Soul City," McKissick said.

The News and Observer reported that $5 million in federal funds have been spent from a $19 million commitment. The project has only a collection of mobile homes and temporary offices and the only permanent structure is an industrial facility that is half completed with no tenants in sight, the newspaper reported.

Because of the newspaper's stories, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-

N.C., and Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., asked the General Accounting Office (GAO) to investigate Soul City. GAO is Congress' investigative agency.

McKissick said he favored the GAO investigation because, "We don't have anything to hide or anything to fear."

McKissick said his salary as developer of Soul City is $50,000. He and Charles Allen, vice president, said that figure is low for a major land developer.

After the news conference, Allen said McKissick stands to gain considerable wealth from land sales. McKissick owns 70 per cent of the profit-making company that will sell Soul City homesites and commercial property.

Later, McKissick said he doesn't anticipate gaining much wealth from land sales. He said the greatest profits will come from commercial development, an effort he hasn't undertaken yet but plans to if possible.

In a prepared statement,

McKissick said Soul City's former President Nixon's agreement with HUD calls for 300 jobs being available by the end of next year. "I am confident we will meet or surpass this goal," he said.

On the political issue, McKissick said, "I am a Republican. I heartily endorse the two-party system."

He declared himself a Republican and supported former President Nixon's reelection effort in 1972. Federal aid to the project was granted not long afterwards.

Gail Shaw Finalist In UNC-G Program

GREENSBORO—Miss Gail Lynn Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William John Shaw of Greenville, has been named a finalist in the competitive scholarships program at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Miss Shaw, a student at Rose High School, has been invited to visit the campus for interviews Monday.

Out of more than 400 applicants, the competition has been narrowed to 75 finalists. It is expected that 30 scholarships will be awarded.

The competitive scholarships program at UNC-G includes the Katharine Smith Reynolds Scholarships, the Alumni Scholarships and the Jefferson Standard Scholarship.

The Reynolds scholarships range between $500 and the amount of money needed by an individual student. In some instances, this can go as high as $2,000 per year.

The Alumni Scholarships range between $500 and $1,000 and are awarded for one year of academic study on a renewable basis.

The Jefferson Standard Scholarship is valued at 1,000 per year and may be renewed.

Plan Services For Holy Week

FALKLAND—Holy week services will be held at Friendship Holiness Church here all next week.

The Rev. Leroy Dixon of Goldsboro will be preaching each night at 7:30. The public is invited, according to the pastor, the Rev. Raymond Griswold.

Charles Bath In Sunday Recital

Dr. Charles Bath, chairman of the Keyboard Department of the School of Music, East Carolina University, will appear in a recital on Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Fletcher Music Building.

Three works will be featured—Bach's Toccata in D Major; Engulfed Cathedral and Mosques, both by Debussy; and Brahms' Sonata in F Major, Opus 5.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.
