Communists Threatening S. Viet Coastal Cities

ADVANCE CONTINUES — With the fall of Da Nang, North Vietnamese forces were poised Monday to assault the Saigon government's last enclaves on the central coast. Heavy fighting was reported near Qui Nhon. All Americans have been evacuated from Hui Nhon and Tuy Hoa and are being evacuated from Nha Trang. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Communist advance through South Vietnam today threatened the Saigon government's last remaining enclaves on the central coast, touched off an evacuation of Americans from Saigon and suspended the American rescue of an estimated 1½ million Vietnamese refugees from Da Nang.

Heavy fighting was reported 25 miles nothwest of Qui Nhon, the country's third largest city, as North Vietnamese forces from the Central Highlands pushed eastward toward the central coast. Radio contact between Qui Nhon and Saigon, 270 miles to the southeast, was reported broken. But sources said the city was still in government hands.

Associated Press correspondent Peter O'Loughlin reported from aboard the last rescue ship to leave Da Nang harbor that American crew members said South Vietnamese marines trying to escape the city shot and killed about 25 people Sunday on another ship, claiming they were Viet Cong suspects.

O'Loughlin, who was on the cargo ship Pioneer Contender, said the mass killing was reported from the sister ship Pioneer Commander. He also reported people dying aboard barges on which they had stayed four days without food and water and others tumbling into the choppy sea when overloaded vessels overturned trying to reach the ships.

"Bloated bodies floated in the harbor," he said.

Refugees told O'Loughlin that anarchy prevailed in Da Nang itself. An escaping merchant told him South Vietnamese soldiers took off their uniforms and hid. Others said some troops went on the rampage, looting rice stores, robbing warehouses of tin goods and setting buildings afire.

U.S. officials said all Americans had been evacuated from Qui Nhon and from Tuy Hoa, 50 miles to the south. American civilians and their families were being evacuated from Nha Trang, 60 miles south of Tuy Hoa, but the U.S. Consulate there was still open, officials said.

Informed sources said the U.S. Embassy began the evacuation of staff members and their families from Saigon on a semiofficial basis as a precaution because of the possibility of political turmoil and anti-Americanism as well as an attack on the city. The sources explained that the Embassy was not asking or ordering its personnel or their families to leave but was paying for their travel if they chose to go.

U.S. officials estimate there were about 6,000 Americans in Vietnam when the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong offensive began a month ago. Most of them were in Saigon.

U.S. military sources said the evacuation of Vietnamese refugees by sea from Da Nang in American ships had been suspended because the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were firing on the ships. American officials estimated that from 30,000 to 50,000 refugees managed to escape from Da Nang by sea and another 2,000 to 4,000 fled by air before the North Vietnamese occupied the city Sunday, completing their conquest of the northern part of South Vietnam.

North Vietnam termed the American refugee sealift and President Ford's order for four U.S. Navy ships to participate a "brazen provocation." It demanded that all U.S. Navy ships stay away from South Vietnam.

Eleven Dead In Shooting

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — What began as an Easter reunion for Charity Ruppert's family ended in tragedy with 11 members of the family dead and another charged with murder.

Police found the 65-year-old Mrs. Ruppert; her 42-year-old son, Leonard; his wife, Alma, and their eight children, ranging in age from 3 to 18, shot to death Sunday night at the grandmother's two-story home.

All but one had been shot in the head, police said. The other was shot in the chest.

While police wheeled the shrouded bodies past horror-stricken neighbors, Mrs. Ruppert's other son, James, 40, a jobless draftsman, was being charged with aggravated murder.

He was scheduled for a preliminary hearing Wednesday, according to Butler County Prosecutor John Holcomb.

Ruppert, being held in the Hamilton City Jail, has refused to talk, according to Holcomb.

John Spear, who lives across the street from Mrs. Ruppert, said his eight-year-old daughter went to deliver an Easter basket to the house Sunday morning. He said Mrs. Ruppert told the child she expected her family for Easter dinner later that day.

The family arrived later in the morning, according to another neighbor, George Wroot.

"They all drove up in this big black van, and piled out of the car and staged an Easter egg hunt on the lawn," he recalled.

Two of the older children were seen at church Sunday morning.

Police said they received a phone call from a man about 9:30 p.m., went to the home and found the family dead. The bodies were found in the living room and kitchen.

There was no sign of a struggle in the house except for an overturned wastepaper basket, officers said.

Dr. Garrett Boone, the Butler County coroner, said it was possible that some of the victims had been shot once, then shot again to make sure they were dead.

"It's unlikely that 11 people would have been shot and killed unless they were held in some way or were in a position where none of them could escape," Boone said.

James Ruppert grew up in Hamilton and was described by one of his neighbors as being brilliant.

Have A Weekly Dress Up Day

NEW FAD — Montreat-Anderson College students show off the "dressed up" look. The faculty says it's the best thing to happen to education since the ABCs. (AP Wirephoto)

MONTREAT, N. C. (AP) — Things were bad enough when gold fish started getting swallowed up on campuses, but now — dressing up once a week?

"It's some kind of feeling. Makes you feel more academic. And then there are the girls' legs," says Brick Cox, student at Montreat-Anderson Junior College whose campus breaks out once a week now in jackets and ties, dresses, stockings and high heels, a campus fad that could get right out of hand if not watched closely.

The students have the idea that the watching is some better, after bluejeans and bare feet.

The campus credits Ray Sokohl, a student who dressed up in coat and tie one day in early March to surprise a girl friend who had been giving him such a hard time about his sloppy attire.

Sokohl admits he got so many compliments from the girl friend and other girls, fellow male students decided to get in on the act.

An informal student meeting then got the girls involved. "The girls just went wild," says Cox, describing the immediate success of the dress up idea.

The students selected Thursday as "Dress Up Day," and now Thursday brings forth boys in buttoned up shirts, ties, cufflinks, jackets, and girls in stockings, high heels, ruffles, dresses. Wild! Enough to blow one's mind.

Says a member of the faculty, Dr. C. C. Kinnison: "It's the best thing to happen to education since the ABC's.

Like goldfish swallowing, and streaking, it could catch on.

Stage Is Set For Spending Battles

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's reluctant acceptance of a $24.8-billion antirecession tax-cut bill is expected to set the stage for a year-long battle with Congress over spending priorities.

In addition, the next major dispute between Congress and the White House probably will be over solutions to the nation's energy problems.

Most congressmen who commented publicly on Ford's decision to sign the bill agreed with him on the need to hold down spending so that recent gains against inflation will not be wiped out.

But few congressmen seemed ready to accept Ford's position that new social programs will have to wait until the economy improves. Some challenged the President's hold-the-line posture on the ground that he is asking more for defense and foreign-aid spending.

In signing the compromise tax-cut bill in a nationally broadcast speech Saturday night, Ford promise to "resist every attempt by the Congress to add another dollar to" the projected record $60-billion deficit in the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Ford said the only exneptions will be "where our long-range national-security interests are involved as in the attainment of energy independence or for urgent humanitarian needs."

In a statement that summed up the reactions of several of his colleagues, Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, said: "I agree that we've got to hold down federal spending as much as possible to keep the deficit down. But I don't want to see this become an excuse for this administration to dismantle badly needed domestic programs it doesn't like."

Ford predicted that if all spending programs under serious consideration by congressional committees were enacted, the deficit would rise to $100 billion.

Such a level would be intolerable and dangerous, the President said. The government would drain all the lendable funds from the money markets and citizens would be unable to borrow to buy new homes and cars, he added.

Ford said a $60-billion deficit "is as far as we dare to go."

The upcoming energy debate grows out of Ford's own program designed to reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil. The President has proposed to reduce fuel consumption by raising the price of all fuels through special taxes and by removing federal controls from the price of oil and natural gas.

Congress has shown little taste for this approach, although the House Ways and Means Committee is considering a proposal by its chairman, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., that would levy additional gasoline taxes.

The final $24.8-billion tax cut was a compromise among the $16.2-billion figure recommended by Ford, the $21.3 billion voted by the House and the $34.3 billion approved by the Senate.

If empoyers can make the adjustments on time, the first effects of the tax cut will be felt by most workers in paychecks received the first week in May when new lower withholding rates are due to begin.

The tax cut includes $18.1 billion in individual tax reductions, $1.9 billion in increased expenditures for Social Security recipients and the unemployed, and $4.8 billion in tax cuts for business.

REFLECTOR HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day, but the phone service is available 24 hours a day.

HOW PICKED?
How are jurors chosen? Mrs. P. F.

Hotline posed your question to Rommie Mallison of Winterville, chairman of the Pitt County Jury Commission. "Jurors are chosen according to a statute passed by the N. C. General Assembly about six years ago," he said. "Every two years each county must make a new master list from which jurors may be picked at random for the next biennium. First we decided on some impartial way of choosing names from lists which we believe will be representative of the adults in the county. For instance, this last time we may have taken the third name from the county books of tax listers and the second or third or whatever name from the voter registration lists. We purposely chose more than the number expected to be needed, so names of those persons known to be physically or mentally disabled could be eliminated. No other considerations like age, sex, color, or religion were reasons for deletion.

This adjusted list was fed into the county computer, which drew up a master list, assigning each name a number. A token would be made for each number, and these were placed in a wire basket. It's the county clerk's job to draw from this basket and make out notices well in advance of when jurors are needed and the Sheriff's job to see that these are delivered. The Register of Deeds keeps the list."

Serving on the Jury Commission with Mallison are Herbert Brown of Bethel and Jesse R. Moye of Greenville. One Commission member is picked by the resident judge of the county, one by the County Commissioners, and one by the Clerk of Court.

5-YEAR-OLD BABYSITTER

I know of a parent, who's letting her two-year-old run all over the neighborhood in the "care" of a five-year-old sister. There's a lot of traffic on this street and understandably, the older child forgets the younger one at times when she's playing. Is there anything a neighbor can do? M.O.

If you feel you can, perhaps you could offer to help out with the child some, since you say you believe the mother is sleeping part of the time after working at night. She probably needs a friend very much.

However, you also might want to contact Protective Services at the Pitt County Department of Social Services. They would work with the mother to try to work out the best solution for her childcare and other problems. Your name will be kept in confidence.

Ford, Congress Tax Cut Plans Are Compared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are tables comparing the congressional compromise tax cut bill signed Saturday night by President Ford with the administration proposal in terms of 1974 tax rebates combined with 1975 tax reductions.

The 1975 tax changes included in the congressional table are: increases in the minimum and maximum standard deductions, earned income credit and a $30 credit to every taxpayer and each dependent. The administration table contains only 1974 tax rebate figures, which is the only reduction Ford proposed.

The tables are based on adjusted gross income for single persons and for married couples with one, two and four dependents.

Sugar Prices Climbing In Most World Capitals

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail sugar prices have dropped substantially in a few world capitals since the first of the year but have continued climbing in most, including a 60 per cent increase in London, the Agriculture Department said today.

The store price of sugar in Washington, D.C., on March 5 was 52 cents a pound, a decline of 34 per cent from 79 cents on Jan. 3, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

But in London the price of sugar was 37 cents a pound, up from 23 cents on Jan. 3, the agency said in a weekly "Foreign Agriculture" report.

The prices were surveyed by agriculture attaches in 15 world capitals. Sugar prices were down in five cities, up in nine and held steady in one during the two-month period.

The sugar price report showed that consumers paid 8 cents a pound in Mexico City, the lowest in the survey and the same as on Jan. 3. The 52 cents a pound in Washington, D.C., was the highest among the cities checked.

Sugar sold in Ottawa, Ont., on March 3 for 50 cents a pound, down from the 64 cents charged Canadian shoppers two months earlier, the report said. Declines also were reported in Brasilia, Buenos Aires and Stockholm.

Officials said world sugar prices now are expected to "remain fairly stable in the coming months" in contrast to the fluctuations and shortages late last year and in early 1975.

A recent Agriculture Department report on March 1 planting intentions of American farmers showed that they expect to boost sugar beet plantings to more than 1.5 million acres, a 23 per cent increase from 1974. There was no indication in that survey of U.S. sugar cane acreage for 1975.

This Is Status Of Pending Assembly Legislation

RALEIGH (AP)-Here is the status of important measures before the North Carolina General Assembly:

Equal Rights—A bill to submit ratification of the Equal Rights Committee to a vote for the people was killed by the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments Wednesday and the House refused to revive the bill Thursday. This leaves ERA ratification legislation before the committee, where action may come Wednesday.

Utilities—The Senate-passed omnibus utilities bill was referred to a House Public Utilities Committee subcommittee Wednesday. The bill would expand the Utilities Commission from five to nine members, abolish the automatic fuel adjustment clause and repeal the forward test period law. Bills have been introduced to appropriate funds to expand the Utilities Commission.

Auto Insurance—A bill to provide for no fault auto insurance is now being studied by a subcommittee of the House Insurance Committee. Another subcommittee is considering a bill that would eliminate age as a factor in setting auto insurance rates. The House Thursday killed a bill that would have placed collision insurance under the state Reinsurance Facility.

Crime—The Senate has passed several bills aimed at cracking down on crime, including one to increase the maximum penalty for armed robbery to life imprisonment. These bills are now before a House judiciary committee.

Taxes—Bills to repeal the sales tax on food and increase the income tax on higher brackets were before the House and Senate finance committees. A bill to phase out the manufacturer's inventory tax over a 10-year period is before the Senate Finance Committee. Gov. Jim Holshouser has withdrawn his request that the General Assembly remove the state's 3 per cent sales tax on food.

Government—A bill to amend the state constitution to allow the governor and lieutenant governor to serve two consecutive terms is still before the House Constitutional Amendments Committee.

Presidential Primary—The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to abolish North Carolina's presidential preference primary.

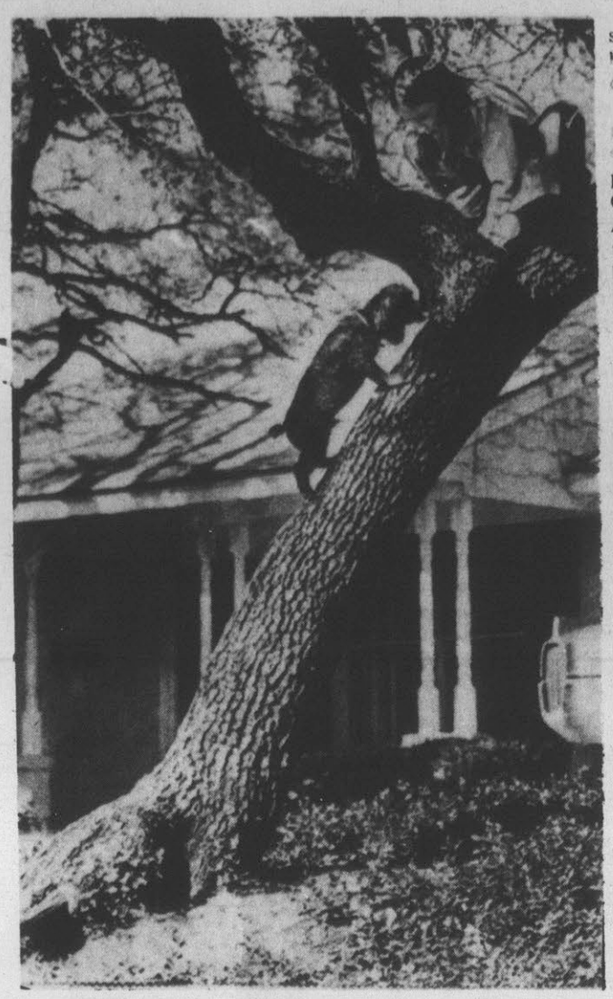

Death Penalty—The Senate Judiciary I Committee has taken no action on a bill that would substitute life in prison for the death penalty.

Appropriations—The House Base Budget Committee and the Senate Appropriations subcommittees are still studying the proposed budget for the next biennium amid indications that substantial cuts will have to be made.

Major legislation introduced last week included:

Electric Expansion—Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, sponsored a bill to allow the Utilities Commission to set higher electric rates for peak power urage periods in the hope of getting customers to use more power at nonpeak periods so power companies will not have to build as many new plants.

Mountain Area Management Legislation was introduced in the House and Senate to create a 12-member Mountain Resource Commission to regulate development in North Carolina's mountain area.

WHY NOT? — Melody Tyson of Irving, Texas, waits for her faithful dog, Gruff, to climb a tree in front of their home. Seems Gruff got kind of lonesome while Melody played so high. So he did the logical thing—he scaled the tree and joined her. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Sunday Car Wrecks

An estimated $1,125 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated by Greenville Police here yesterday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from an 11:10 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Howell and Garland Streets and involved cars driven by Carlos Antonia Dawson of 1900A West Third St. and Ruby Early Williams of 1900 South Charles St.

Police, who charged Mrs. Williams with operating on the wrong side of the road, estimated damage at $250 to the Dawson car and $450 to the Williams vehicle.

Barbara Blount Taft of 1900 Norcott Cir. was charged with driving under the influence and no operators license following investigation of a mishap about 1:40 a.m. Sunday on Fifth Street, 60 feet West of the McKinley Ave. intersection.

Police said the Taft car collided with a pole, causing an estimated $400 damage to her car and $25 damage to the pole.

Teaching Young People Tobacco Role In Economy

The Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service has developed a Pitt County 4-H Project to make local youngsters more aware of the importance of tobacco to our economy.

According to Kenneth Bateman, assistant agricultural extension agent, said the program is designed not only to help young people gain skills in tobacco production but also to give these people a sense of responsibility. Both boys and girls are encouraged to participate and they do not have to be a member of the organized 4-H.

The record will be used in county competition and the first place winner will receive a full scholarships to 4-H Camp and the second place winner will receive a half scholarship.

Interested persons should call the extension office at 758-1196.

Will Be Speaking For Common Cause

Common Cause staff member Frances Welles will speak at a meeting at the First Presbyterian Church here Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Ms. Welles is coordinator of a membership project for North Carolina, Maryland, and Kentucky. An area supervisor, she has worked with Common Cause members in six states to create an effective lobbying force on the national and state levels.

Common Cause is a national citizens' movement working for the public interest at all levels of government. It has professional lobbyists in Washington, D. C. and more than 200,000 members active in every state. It's a loosely knit organization, which has no regular meetings, but polls its members on issues to be lobbied for or against.

Mrs. Liz Wilkerson is the local person planning the Wednesday meeting.

Education Program Expanded By Army

The Army announced the initiation of an expanded in-service educational program for soldiers who wish to pursue a college education.

Greenville recruiter SSG John E. Hogan explained the function of Project AHEAD. Under the program, a high school senior or graduate visits a local recruiter who explains the project and the benefits of an Army enlistment. If the interested applicant qualifies for service, he or she is referred to a list of Project AHEAD schools.

According to Hogan, each college or university owns and operates its own program and the applicant must qualify under the requirements determined by the school.

Hogan explained that the school appoints an academic advisor who will counsel the soldier-student throughout his Army tour. Having taken on-post courses, the student may return to his chosen school and finish his degree requirements after completing his Army service.

Project AHEAD, the recruiter noted, is a cooperative education effort involving more than 800 colleges and universities. Some 31 schools in North Carolina are participating in the program, including East Carolina University and Lenoir Community College in this area.

Hogan said that persons with questions regarding the project should contact him at 323 Evans Street or call 752-4826.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Miss Sandra Taylor Weds Friday Evening

The marriage of Sandra Taylor and James Alfred Vernon took place Friday night at 7:30 in a candlelight ceremony at the Ho[illegible]well Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Lotis Joyner. A program of nuptial music was presented by Ester Joyner, organist, and Eugene Joyner, soloist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Taylor of Route 2, Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gladys Sawyer of Fountain.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a round neckline and empire waistline. The full length sleeves had lace cuffs. The bodice was covered with alencon lace which extended in a panel to the hemline and the train flowed chapel length.

Her two tiered veil had a matching lace border and was attached to a lace headpiece. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of pom pons centered with a white orchid on a white Bible.

Miss Edith Trotman of Greenville was maid of honor. She was dressed in a mint green formal gown of dotted swiss designed with a square neckline, empire waistline and butterfly sleeves. The gown was accented with matching ribbon. She wore a white hat with matching green streamers and carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers tied with contrasting ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Gail Taylor of Rt. 2, Greenville, sister of the bride, and Kathryn Tyson of Rt. 1, Ayden, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were designed like that of the maid of honor in yellow dotted swiss. Their hats and bouquets were also identical.

MRS. JAMES ALFRED VERNON

The best man was John E. Vernon, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Charlie Simpkins and Ronnie Vernon, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After a trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Rose High School and is employed by Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. She is a rising junior at East Carolina University. The bridegroom attended Rose High School and is employed by Martin Marietta Aggregates, Fountain.

Officers Installed Wednesday

Mrs. Clara Heuay and John W. Heuay were installed Wednesday night as Worthy High Priestess and Watchman of Shepherds respectively of Greenville Shrine No. 7, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, in ceremonies at the Masonic Temple.

The temple was decorated throughout with arrangements of spring flowers. In the center of the Shrine room, 21 chairs with white covers bearing the emblem of the order in gold were placed in a cross formation for the officers to be installed. Yellow candles graced the stations in the North, South and West.

The meeting was opened by the retiring Worthy High Priestess Mrs. Ethel Allen and the welcome address to the distinguished guests and visiting members of the order was given.

The inviting Worth Herald Mrs. Eva Corbett, P. W. H. P., presented the Pasty Worthy High Priestesses and Past Watchman of Shepherds who were welcomed by Mrs. Allen.

Mrs. Corbett, presented the other installing officers as follows ; worthy Chaplain, Mrs. Blanche Jackson, P.W.H.P.; Installing Worthy Herald, Mrs. Julia Lilly, P.W.H.P.; Installing Worthy Scribe, Mrs. Margaret Elks, P.W.H.P.; Installing Worthy Organist, Mrs. Vera Smith; Installing Worthy Guardian, Mrs. Nell Moore, P. Mrs. Jean Tharp as Worthy Chaplain, Mrs. Lena Detwiler as First Hand Maid, Bryce Tharp as First Wise Man and Elwood Edwards as Second Wise Man will be installed at a later date.

After the officers to be installed were seated in the cross formation, the American flag was presented, the Pledge of Allegiance given by Mrs. Jackson, Installing Chaplain.

Following the installation ceremony was given by Mrs. Jackson, Installing Chaplain.

Following the installation ceremony, Mrs. Heuay gave her acceptance address, expressing appreciation and praise for the installation and her opportunity for service. Heuay expressed his thanks.

Mrs. Ricks sang "Our Best," accompanied by Mrs. Vera Smith.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Allen and Reilly from the Shrine and officers by Mrs. Paramore, Mrs. Ethel Reilly and Mrs. Jackson. A gift was presented to Miss Annie Turner for outstanding service by Mrs. Maxwell. The installing officers were remembered with gifts from the Worthy High Priestess assisted by Donna and Johnny Jenkins.

Mrs. Heuay recognized guests and introduced members of her family.

The installation ceremony closed with a prayer by Mrs. Jackson and the singing of "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again." Heuay led the group in repeating the Mizpeh Benediction.

A reception honoring the new officers followed in the dining room. The refreshment table was covered with a white organdy cloth over green and centered with an arrangement of pink dogwood with a white cross centered with a single yellow rose flanked by crystal candleholders with pink candles. Auxiliary tables were covered with white cloths and centered with spring flowers and pink candles in crystal holders.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Virginia Davenport, Mrs. Mary Warrington, Mrs. Gloria Wynn, Mrs. Mary Body, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Paramore and Mrs. Allen.

Those attending were greeted by Mrs. and Mrs. Ed Ricks, Mrs. Nell Moore and Mrs. Nancy Willard. Mrs. Pattie Mizwelle and Miss Turner presided at the guest register. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Reilly and Mrs. Ethel Allen.

WOMEN COMPOSERS

NEW YORK (AP) — In celebration of 1975 as International Women's Year, the Musicians Club of New York offered a March concert by composers Clara Schumann, Louise Ferrenc and Ruth Schonthal.

The New York Lyric Arts Trio, Mary Freeman Blankstein, violin, Wendy Brennan, cello, and Gena Raps, piano, performed two movements from Clara Schumann's "Trio, Op. 17 in G Minor" and "Trio, Op. 34 in Major" by the early 19th-century French composer, Louise Ferrenc.

Ruth Schonthal, who is German-American, played the first performance of her "Sonata breve," in one movement for piano, composed in 1972.

The concert was free, given with the assistance of a grant from the Music Performance Trust Funds obtained through Musicians Union Local 802.

Should Teacher Perform At Recital?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have recently started to give private piano lessons to young children, and I am planning my first recital.

Since most of my students' parents have never heard me play, would it be all right for me to play a number or two myself on the program? Or do you think it would be considered showing off on my part?

Maybe an experienced piano teacher has the answer.

PERPLEXED PIANIST

DEAR PERPLEXED: Maybe. And I would welcome their letters. My experience is limited to my own violin recitals. My instructor, Leo Kucincki, a very talented violinist in his own right, did not perform at the recitals of his pupils. But in retrospect, perhaps he should have. He would have inspired his pupils, and entertained their parents.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sent a mushy valentine to a girl, and on the bottom of it he wrote: "I love you, Baby!"

He must have put the wrong address on the envelope because it came back with "ADDRESS UNKNOWN" on it.

Naturally I was curious when I saw this big, fancy looking envelope addressed to some name I had never heard of in my life, in my husband's handwriting, with his return address on the back, so I opened it, and when I saw what it was, I nearly fainted!

Should I confront him with it, or forget it?

BROOKLYN WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Forget it. If "Baby" thinks he forgot her on Valentine's Day, it might be the beginning of the end. Which would be better for all three of you, since he's married to you.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some way I can break my German shepherds of killing chickens?

They have done it only once, but I have heard that once they do it, they will not stop.

Someone suggested that I tie the dead chickens around the dogs' necks until the chickens rot and it will cure them of killing chickens.

It sounds cruel, and I don't think I'd have the stomach to do it. Can you, or some of your readers, suggest another cure?

DOG LOVER

DEAR DOG LOVER: Because dogs kill only when they are in pairs or packs, let only one dog run at a time. Hanging the dead chicken around the dog's neck won't work as a rule. You could punish the dogs by hitting them a hard whack to let them know they've done wrong, but the best "cure" is to keep the dogs away from the chickens. And the chickens away from the dogs.

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for Russell in Houston, who wants to grow up and become President of the United States:

Hurry! The way things are going, and in case you make it, I will keep a bed available for you. This is a home for mental patients, and everyone here is off his rocker—including the staff.

Couple Speaks Vows On Friday

Mrs. Mae Farmer Briley and Alvin David Parrott Jr. were united in marrige in a private ceremony Friday at 6:00 p.m. in the St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The Rev. Preston Heath performed the double ring ceremony. The couple pledged their vows in a candlelight ceremony before a background of white gladioli, mums and greenery.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Erline Stocks, who sang "When God Gave Me You," "Break Thou The Bread of Life" and for the benediction, "Saviour Like a Shephard Lead Us," accompanied by Mrs. Tyrone Williams, pianist, who played pre-nuptial wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her son, Dail Briley. She wore a formal length gown of seamist aqua organza designed with an open V-neckline outlined with a flared ruffle of self-fabric. The long fitted sheer sleeves featured flared cuffs. The full skirt extended from a modified empire waistline with a deep ruffle flounce of organza edging the hemline.

She wore as her headpiece, a cluster of seamist aqua silk flowers with matching illusion veil. She carried a white Georgianna orchid with hues of blue on a lace covered prayerbook.

Mrs. Billy Sawyer, daughter of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of multicolor blues and lavenders, with empire waistline, trimmed with green ribbon. She carried a nosegay of white carnations with white bridal streamers.

Honorary bridesmaids were Bonnie and Darlene Parrott, daughters of the bridegroom. Carol Parrott and Debbie Edwards. They wore formal length gowns of pastel colors and carried long-stem med white mums with white streamers.

The bridegroom's father, Alvin David Parrott Sr., served as best man. Ushers were Cecil Parrott, brother of the bridegroom, and Billy Sawyer, son-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. John David Cannon directed the wedding.

The bridegroom's mother wore a formal gown of blue polyester crepe and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Dail Briley, daughter-in-law of the bride, wore a formal gown of blue polyester with empire waistline, accented with white lace, and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the wedding vows, the couple received Holy Communion.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. John David Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks Hardee, Mrs. and Mrs. Major James, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith, and Miss Elsie Briley were hosts and hostesses at an after-rehearsal party honoring the bridal couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Cannon.

The house was decorated with arrangements of spring flowers and candles.

After the couple cut the traditional first slice, guests were served cake and punch.

The honored couple was remembered with a gift from the hosts and hostesses.

Soon A Multi-Laned Belt-Line

Bids will be opened April 22 for a project which will complete a long held dream for Greenville.

The Department of Transportation will open bids on the dual laning of U.S. 13-N. C. 11 from W. Third Street north to a location beyond the Stokes Highway intersection.

With this final link, a multi-laned belt line will be completed around Greenville. Never mind that part of the belt line has already been swallowed by growing residential and commercial areas. We can even forget that with some vision and foresight, the beltline could have been designed to serve our growing population for many years to come.

In spite of all that, this final link will tie in with the multi-laned Memorial Drive which joins the five-laned Greenville Boulevard, and that in turn runs into the Eastern bypass.

Twenty years ago most of this 17-mile route which encircles the city, was non-existant, or was two laned uncurbed road. Gradually the gaps have been filled in with a variety of road constructions, ranging from five-laned curbed design to the divided highway fenced right-of-way construction of the Eastern bypass.

We wish all of it could have been planned like the Eastern bypass, or even more restricted, but building highways in urban areas is expensive and it is also slow; thus what appeared adequate 20 years ago is not so adequate now.

Even as it is, the road system should serve our needs for some years. It is likely though, that in a few years highway planners will be moving out still further to develop a new beltline of limited access highways to circle the city. We expect that kind of growth ahead.

Mood Hampering Reforms

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — A General Assembly largely under pressure from back home to crack down on crime is making it harder for penal reform leaders to get support for their measures.

While some outspoken legislators echo the sentiments of their constituents demanding more punishment, longer sentences, stiffer enforcement, a batch of bills are either in the hopper or about to be introduced which broadly fall in the realm of reform.

"And I must admit that the climate in this General Assembly is working against reform right now," says State Senator Lamar Gudger, the leading edge in social reform activity this year.

But reform action and cracking down on crime are not necessarily at odds, the Asheville Democrat believes. "This session of the General Assembly will definitely be tougher on armed robberies and other crimes of violence. . . but I hope it will come through on the felony classification bill designed to make punishments more uniform, and the other reform measures in the works," Gudger said.

Key Aim

There is a key distinction between reform and the crime crackdown: the reform measures are largely aimed at juvenile and youthful offenders with the hope of preventing a life of crime; and at rehabilitating the presently idle and explosively overcrowded adult system.

Gudger admits that a proposal to set up a diversion system is in trouble in the legislature, but feels that is because he colleagues do not understand the purpose of the bill.

"Diversion is a method to set up a contractural opportunity to place a youthful first-offender on probation before he gets a criminal reputation . . . a child about to go wrong should be set straight," Gudger said.

Noting that 67 per cent of the inmates "keep coming back, the decision against a life of crime must be made before a person gets into prison." The diversion proposal would allow the offender to enter a correctional course such as education, work, or rehabilitation without going through a trial and getting a criminal record.

Proposal are in various stages of legislative work which would remove the non-criminals from juvenile training schools—reducing the seven institutions to three; would push community treatment group homes for juveniles rather than state institutions; would push community treatment group homes for juveniles rather than state institutions; would transfer juvenile corrections from the State Department of Corrections to the Department of Human Resources; allow split-sentencing of offenders; establish mandatory parole and contract-performance procedures in the prisons, etc.

Many of the proposals resulted from the work of the Commission on Sentencing, Criminal Punishment and Rehabilitation, on which Gudger served.

New Ideas

Gudger is also working on two major proposals of his own: use of prison labor in public service jobs; and use of prison labor in prison construction.

While the get-tough attitude on crime produced measures to return prisons to the roads, Gudger's public service proposal would go much further than that, and tend to counteract the "road-gang" image.

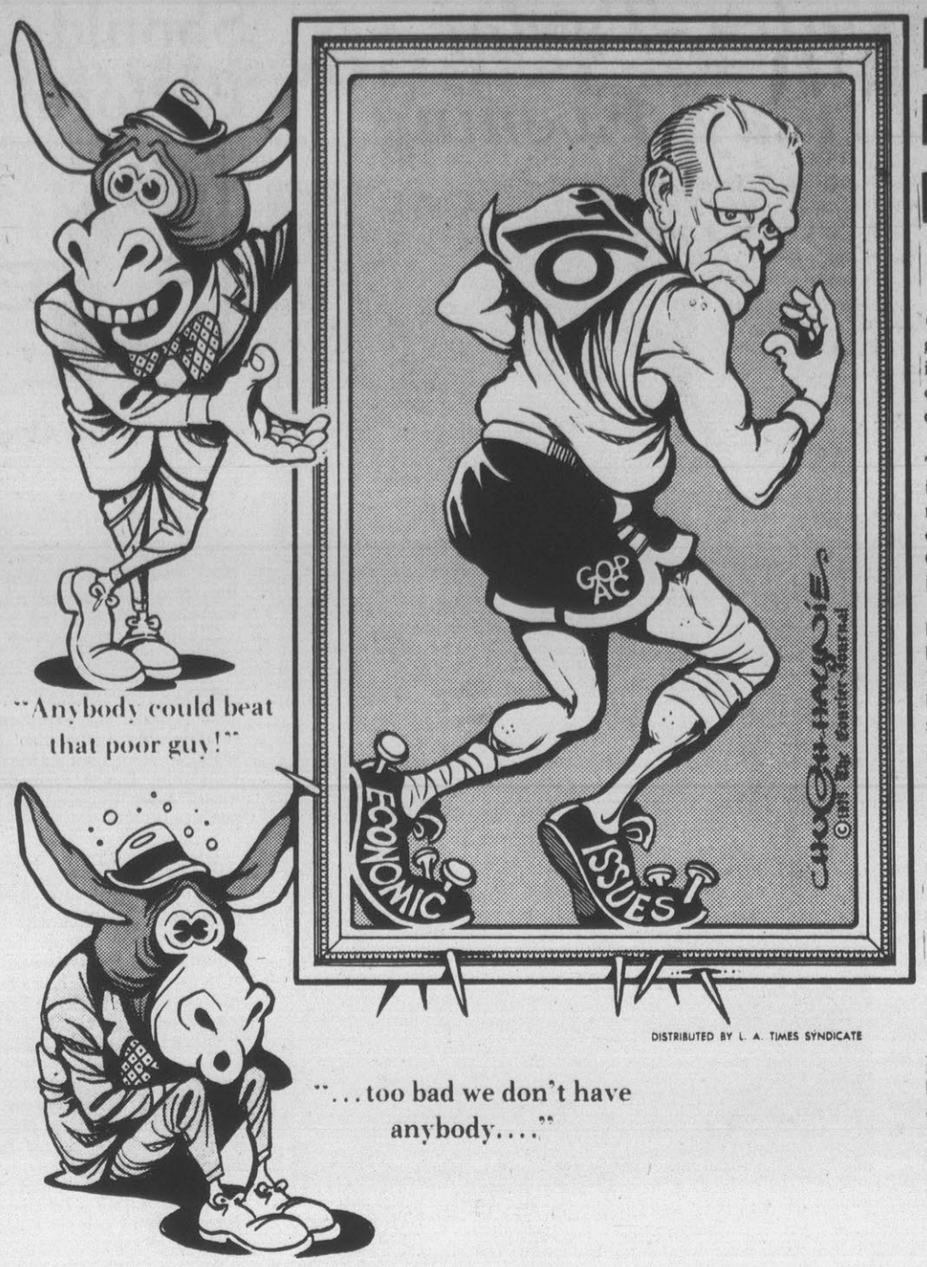

His idea sets up a statewide commission to authorize specific jobs such as community improvement projects, river cleanups, park improvements (there are thousands of potential projects, he said) with the prisoners paid a nominal amount, and given time off their sentences as part of their reward.

Within the prisons, he proposes to let prisoners build prisons. Texas is following that practice with a savings of 50 per cent in prison construction costs, Gudger said.

"Idleness is appalling," Gudger said. "People rust mentally, physically, and morally."

Gudger does not see the reform movement as soft-hearted or soft-headed liberalism, but as practical steps to cut down on crime and the high cost of operating prisons.

"This General Assembly has three or four major bullets to bite," he said.

"Anybody could beat that poor guy!"

"...too bad we don't have anybody...."

Debacle Raises Doubts

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's military debacle in the northern and central part of the country raises strong doubts that it can hold Saigon.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's power base among senior military officers is being rapidly undermined, and political changes could follow more Communist successes, according to informed sources here.

The sources say Thieu may be challenged by generals who believe they can rally South Vietnam's military forces, or by other senior officials who see negotiations with the Communists as the only way to avoid complete disaster for South Vietnam.

Communist forces have increased the number of provinces under their control during the past month from one to 13, and have put more than half of South Vietnam's 20 million population in captivity, on the run or in a position forcing them to decide soon one course or the other.

Major cities are now prey to Communist attack. Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, fell Sunday, and others along the coast also were crumbling.

Western military analysts see little Thieu can do about it. Should the remaining coastal enclaves fall, the area immediately north of Saigon will be the front line of defense.

Many observers fear the defense of the capital might be as chaotic and fruitless as that of Da Nang, where government troops did not even put up token resistance.

With one-third of the Vietnamese army destroyed, another infantry division in danger of annihilation and hundreds of millions of dollars worth of guns, vehicles, planes and other military equipment abandoned to the Communists, Thieu and his military commanders are left with a minimum of forces to defend Saigon.

Three infantry divisions protect the city, along with two brigades of the airborne division. The Communists oppose them in the jungled war zone just north of the city with five infantry divisions and possibly a sixth and a formidable array of sapper, armor and antiaircraft units.

Thieu said he abandoned the Central Highlands and then the northern provinces because his forces were hopelessly outnumbered. He is now also outnumbered in the Saigon area.

Bonnie Parker Explains

WASHINGTON—"In keeping with our policy of paying all news sources, the Combustible Broadcasting Co. presents tonight an exclusive interview with Bonnie Parker, aide, confidante and chief of staff to Clyde Barrow, the greatest bank robber of our time. Bonnie Parker was paid $354.67 to appear on this program which we believe has great historical significance.

"Bonnie, you were closer to Clyde than anyone else. What was he like when you worked with him?"

"He was weird. There was a part of him which was very decisive, like when he decided to stick up the Third National Trust Co. of Omaha. But there was another part of him which showed he had a great inferiority complex."

"Explain that."

"Well, he never thought he tipped enough when he went to a roadside diner. He always believed that after he left the waitress would say he was a cheapskate. Once he said to me after we took a Brink's truck outside of Des Moines, 'I wonder if history will remember me for this or for the fact I left a dime at a Howard Johnson's in Tulsa, Okla.'"

"Bonnie, Bill Quickfire in his book 'The Rise and Fall of Bonnie and Clyde' said you were ruthless in the way you ran the gang—that you had a short temper and chewed out anyone who tried to get near Clyde. How do you plead?"

"I wouldn't say ruthless. I would say tough. Clyde always had a lot of things on his mind. He was planning payroll heists, savings and loan stickups and he even had a grand plan to break into the national mint.

"My job, as I saw it as chief aide, was to protect him from all the third-rate crooks who were trying to suck up to him. I had to keep Clyde free from the day-to-day operations of the gang. Sure, they got mad at me. But no one makes friends in this job."

"Bonnie, one of the things said was that you and Clyde, as well as the rest of the gang, looked on everyone as enemies. True or not true?"

"True. But I think Clyde summed it up best in his farewell address to us when he said, 'Always remember, others may hate you, but those who hate don't win unless you hate them.' I think you have to keep this all in the context of the times. We were robbing banks, and the press was on our backs for it. The newspapers never wrote anything good about us. Well, after a while this gets to you. It isn't much fun for you or your families to be called

Prosperity Hits Kremlin

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Kremlin is probably in a happy mood today, as its power and influence in the world grow in direct relation to a decline of the United States image, battered and tattered by world events.

It may be almost too much prosperity, because it can endanger the detente that has been the keystone of Kremlin policy for five years.

A superabundance of Soviet and Communist success — for example, should the Communist move too fast in Portugal — could wreck the fragile detente structure.

Soviet military might challenges the United States in the air and on the seas, and on land surpasses the Americans by far in conventional capability and manpower. The Russians also expect to reach at least equality in terms of nuclear potential.

The psychological impact of a series of policy reverses suffered by the United States seems to lift Soviet world political authority to an all-time peak. In consequence, not for 25 years has the international Communist movement had such invigorating shots in the arm.

A Kremlin's-eye view of the world would see its superpower rival on the run on a number of key fronts. For the Americans, the picture is far from reassuring.

Asians watch attentively as American hopes in Indochina, after a quarter century of enormously expensive effort, are buried in rubble by Communist offensives in Vietnam and Cambodia. Laos, as a result of agreements that ended its fighting, is on its way to being brought under dominating Communist influence.

The Indochina resolution may herald future trouble in Asia, especially if North Korea now is encouraged to try its luck in the South on the assumption that the American will to resist communism in Asia has just about petered out.

Thailand, though fearful of a reinvigorated Communist guerrilla war in its northeast, has politely invited U.S. troops and aircraft to get out within a year, after decades of that nation's role as "staunchest Asian ally" of the Americans.

In the Middle East, the Soviet Union patiently outwaited Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's step-by-step diplomacy and won. Kissinger himself sadly calls his recent experience there a setback. The Russians now can look forward hopefully to resurgent influence even in Egypt, whose fear of the Communists had persuaded its leaders to welcome U.S. mediation efforts.

America hopes of constructing a road to Arab-Israeli settlement having been dashed, Moscow will be able to throw its weight around in a cumbersome Geneva conference. It can insure a lasting and dangerous instability that can badly hurt the West.

Even the assassination of Saudi Arabia's King Faisal opens possibilities for Moscow, particularly if conservative Arab leadership should be weakened or if the event generates nervous uncertainty in the whole area to the detriment of stability.

In Europe, Portugal moves steadily left and Communist party authority grows accordingly in what is the southwest anchor of the North Atlantic Alliance. On the Alliance's eastern flank, Greece and Turkey, both members, glare at each other and the Americans because of spinoff from the durable Cyprus crisis. In the Alliance center, Italy struggles with what seems insoluble problems as the Communists strive industriously to wedge themselves into the government.

Around the world, leaders of many a Communist party have waited hungrily for decades for a distant scent of power. Immediately after World War II their hopes were high as Soviet arms presided over seizures of East European nations and Mao Tsetung's legions swept across China. But the years since have been lean. Except for North Vietnam and Cuba, the Communists were stalled.

Now in the 1970s the international Communist movement sees hope of reaping rich rewards. Too rich, perhaps, in some cases.

Dismal as this recital might sound, things could be worse. Kremlin gains for itself and the Communist movement resulted from a combination of accidents and decades of Byzantine plotting, plus the ability of a dictatorship to act swiftly and

Other Editors Say Special Monday

(The Greensboro Record)

Amid recent complaints about barbaric conditions in North Carolina prisons, former state Sen. Eddie Knox of Mecklenburg has charged the Holshouser administration with callous indifference. It is a bum rap.

The atrocious conditions are indisputable. North Carolina's prisons, designed to hold no more than 10,000 inmates, groan under a burden of 12,000. In another eight years, an additional 5,000 probably will have to be accommodated. Already homosexual assaults and other atrocities are commonplace; yet even the most conscientious and diligent prison official is nearly powerless.

To improve the medieval quality of prison life, the Holshouser administration is asking for some $200 million with which to build new accommodations, with emphasis on single-cell occupancy (the accepted way to protect prisoners from their fellow inmates). It is not the whole answer, but it will help.

Mr. Knox isn't impressed. The Governor is derelict, he says. The Governor is uniquely able "to find bed space in other facilities, to commute sentences, or otherwise to act to reduce the prison population." And what does he do? He just sits there.

In contrast to what? In contrast, the answer does not come barreling back, to a General Assembly that thrives on blarney, but that has missed more than one opportunity to expand the prison system because instinct told it to spend the money where there were more votes. Our prisons have been allowed to deteriorate, and the General Assembly cannot escape responsibility for it.

The Governor can commute sentences. He may be able to round up an extra bed or two. But these are stop-gap measures. In the end, the legislature will have to build more cell blocks. Blaming the opposition party Governor, two years in office, for decades of indifference and neglect comes under the heading of passing the buck.

Strength For Today

AN UNDERSTANDING HEART

As Solomon prepared himself to assend the throne, God appeared to him in a dream by night and said, "Ask what I shall give thee. And Solomon said . . . Give, therefore, thy servant an understanding heart . . ."

It is interesting to note that Solomon did not ask for an understanding mind. He asked for an understanding heart. That is, as he confronted life he wanted not just a mind to enable him to deal with facts; most of all he wanted a heart which would enable him to deal with people. He knew that people were much more important than things, and he wanted an understanding heart that he might serve people better.

The need today for understanding hearts is just as great as it ever was. The lack of them explains much of the mindless cruelty at work in so many parts of the world today. Cruel men are men lacking in understanding and imagination. Men with truly understanding hearts come to love their fellows, and so cannot hurt them.

A Fourth-Quarter Turnaround?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the view of business economists, the economy soon will begin to show signs of reversing its course, and might by yearend be retracing the route it took on the way down.

It is difficult to comprehend the extent to which in recent weeks this attitude seems to have developed, and there is little doubt that two major reasons underly it:

1. Economists copy from each other. The most difficult and dangerous forecast of all is to say when a major economic turn is going to take place. You may be 95 per cent certain, but still find it too dangerous to forecast.

But, when a few fearless forecasters take the risk, it's amazing how many others quickly follow. There is security in numbers.

2. Economists find it much easier to come out with optimistic forecasts when the news already is turning pleasant.

The stock market is up, consumer confidence is beginning to rise, the Federal Reserve seems in a cooperative mood, the trade balance is showing black ink, interest rates are falling, price increases are moderating.

The biggest factor, however, is that the economists think that massive government intervention almost certainly will propel marketplace activity ahead, even though there is a great deal of speculation about the possibility of rising prices again in 1976.

The forecaster therefore has encouragement from the news. The environment is more conducive to accepting a bright outlook.

Whatever, a consensus has developed or is developing. The turnabout will occur in the third or fourth quarter.

The chief economist for a well-known international research and consulting firm tells of attempting to sell his services to a Wall Street outfit. The host excused himself to converse in another room.

Through the wall partition the economist soon heard a muted conversation that was ended abruptly when one of the parties exploded: "What, another economist calling for a fourth-quarter turnaround. Tell him no."

The big danger in any forecast, no matter how many join in promoting it, are the assumptions that are made. If the assumptions are wrong — and they often amount to guesses — then the entire forecast is likely to be inaccurate.

Last year many economists assumed that the United States would have a trouble-free growing and harvest season, failing to take into account the dangers of flood, frost, disease, drought and other disasters.

Uncertain On Indochina Policy

By JAMES KYLE
Reflector Staff Writer

In a survey on what the United States's role in Southeast Asia should be, area citizens seem to be as divided as Congress and the rest of the nation are.

Dr. John East of the Political Science Department at East Carolina University "very much" supports continued military aid to Cambodia and South Vietnam. "It is almost a matter of national shame to allow those people to be overrun and killed and not give them ammunition to fend off the aggressors," East said. However, he added "it may be a case of 'too little, too late,' but we haven't even asked the communists to stop (the aggression)."

Betty Speir, a counselor at North Pitt High School, disagrees. She feels the time has come to make a decision about getting out of southeast Asia and "it might as well be now." Mrs. Speir wonders "how far we can stretch our commitments."

Dr. Blanche Watrous of the Anthroplogy Department at ECU said she "doesn't want to see the Asians hurt as far as food and medical supplies" but she is opposed to military aid. Dr. Watrous added that 'Vietnam has been in continuous warfare since about 1900, and it could well continue."

Jack Lewis, Jr. of Farmville is a veteran who served in Southeast Asia. He has "mixed emotions" about the situation there. "I feel strongly that we ought to back up our commitments," Lewis said; however, he added that the U. S. "cannot reasonably be expected to continue the support of the governments in Southeast Asia." Lewis said the people in Southeast Asia have not demonstrated a willingness to work for their freedom by "cleaning up" their governments.

Herb Lee, Republican chairman for the first district, believes "funds (to Southeast Asia) should have been approved months ago. Not for the fact that it will save the area, but Congress in its hesitancy in approving is saying to the world that the U. S. will do nothing. We're saying that U. S. commitments are no good." Lee said this is hurting the U. S. relations in the Middle East. Our allies there feel they can no longer depend on U. S. support, Lee believes.

Dr. Young-Dahl Song of the ECU Political Science Department said although he is generally in favor of protecting U. S. interests in Southeast Asia, he has "a pessimistic view about the lasting impact of aid there. The 'Political' turmoil there is tragic. I feel the aid will be too little and too late to save the Thieu regime," Song said.

Jim Alley, retired head of the Greenville Complex of Voice of America, feels the U. S. should "cut out military aid, but try to do something for the people."

Dr. Howard Sugg of the ECU Political Science Department predicts "more calls for reducing aid." However, he believes that "having provided as much (aid) as we have, and with the past Presidents' commitments we are probably obligated to provide economic and military aid short of commitment of men" in Southeast Asia.

Midwest Sees Renassance

BOSTON (UPI) — Renaissance is alive, well and living in the Midwest, says a leading research executive.

Dr. Charles N. Kimball, president of Kansas City's Midwest Research Institute, says the heart-of-America region is now shaping its own destiny, "thanks to the lessons, good and bad, that we've learned from older cities."

Referring to Kansas City's $5.3 billion urban renaissance, Kimball said, "The Midwest is no longer a colonial market to be exploited by the business interests of coastal cities."

decisively to seize opportunities whenever presented.

But should the Communists in Portugal, for example, make too bold a bid for power, it could get West Europe's guard up and adversely affect the fortunes of Communists elsewhere, notably in Italy where they have high hopes of looking respectable. Perhaps more importantly, it could also end the detente and whatever hopes Moscow had of economic advantages from it.

In this last year of the Ninth Five-Year Plan, the Soviet economy has failed to achieve major goals in agriculture and on the consumer side. Top priority still goes to heavy industry and military power.

The Russians thus still eagerly want vastly increased trade with the West and access to Western and American technologies. Thus it may be that Moscow will have to make some difficult choices between restraining client parties or killing the detente.

gangsters. So we decided anyone who didn't approve of our business was our enemy. That's only natural."

"Right. Now, Bonnie, let's get on to the job that finally got you all caught—the break-in of the First National Bank of Watergate. Looking back on it, would you have done it again?"

"In retrospect, I guess it was stupid, not because we did it but because we were caught. I have to take some of the responsibility for that."

"Why?"

"Well, after the robbery we split up the money and we had all these canvas bags left over, with 'First National Bank of Watergate' printed on them. Clyde asked me if we should destroy the bags. But I said no—that we should keep them for historical reasons. I never in my wildest dreams ever thought the bags would be used against us as evidence. If I knew then what I know now I would have told Clyde to burn them."

"Then what you're saying, Bonnie, is that you have no regrets about robbing banks. You are only sorry you got caught?"

"That's correct. At the time we thought bank robbing was the best thing for the country. But I'd like to say one more thing. The Bonnie and Clyde gang spent only 10 per cent of their time sticking up banks—90 per cent of what we did had nothing to do with crime. But the press doesn't talk about that. Someday when passions subside, I hope the people will think of the other things we did, like watching baseball and drinking beer and going to the movies and hunting squirrel. Take away the bank robberies and we're as American as apple pie."

ANNOUNCING NCNB'S 1975 SAVINGS POLICY: NO MATTER WHAT HAPPENS, WE'LL PAY THE HIGHEST RATE THE LAW ALLOWS.

At NCNB, regardless what happens, or what any other bank might do, we're going to keep paying the highest interest rates the law allows a bank to pay. From 5% on Regular Savings, up to 7½% on Six-Year Certificates of $1,000 or more.

And, as you can see by the chart, we're still not asking that you have a lot of money to earn those rates.

Through our 1975 Loan Policy, you've probably heard by now, that "Money Isn't Tight at NCNB." Well, we're not just talking about the money we want to lend you. We're also talking about the savings interest we're willing to pay you.

College Costs Up 12 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP) — The nationwide average cost of a public college for the on-campus student will be 12 per cent more next academic year than in 1974-75, a recent survey by the College Entrance Examination Board shows.

The survey of 2,400 colleges and post-secondary institutions by the College Scholarship Service of the Board also showed tuition and fees will will rise an average four per cent overall with an eight per cent average increase at four-year private schools.

The average resident student's over-all costs will be $3,594 for the nine-month academic year while the commuting student's total expense budget will be slightly less at $3,186.

The Board said the eight per cent rise in costs at private four-year colleges, the most costly schools, is the highest single-year increase ever. This will mean an average $4,391 if they are residents and $3,950 if they commute.

The 12 per cent increase at public colleges will be the biggest 1975-76 rise and will apply to residents at both two-year and four-year institutions, according to the survey.

For resident students at public colleges, the increase means charges of $2,411 to $2,679 to attend school next year. Included are hikes of five to seven per cent for tuition, and 12 to 13 per cent rises in costs for transportation, room and board, books and personal expenses.

The survey examined average total expenses for residents, commuters, and self-supporting students at public, private, two-year and four-year schools.

Kinston Airport's Location Key Factor

KINSTON — Department of Transportation officials said Friday that Kinston's Stallings Field has been recommended as the site for a regional airport because of its central location and the costs involved in developing the facility.

That explanation was given at an information meeting on the North Carolina Airport System plan, sponsored by the Department of Transportation and the Neuse River Council of Governments.

Piedmont Airlines announced two weeks ago that its service to Goldsboro will be discontinued, effective May 1, and an additional flight will be scheduled at Kinston initally. Officials said, too, that the airline will take a closer look at the Kinston schedule in the future, indicating that other changes might occur to provide still better service to the area.

Although the Department of Transportation reports indicate that Kinston should be the site for a regional airport facility, New Bern and Onslow County officials have contested the decision.

Raymond Dunn, attorney for New Bern's Simmons-Nott Airport said the state plan contained faulty data. "All the report has done is take away service from New Bern," he charged. "We will continue to develop our airport and to get jet service."

New Bern mayor Charles Kimbrell said "a regional type airport would create urban sprawl and all of the unpleasantries associated with that kind of development. This kind of service we're presently receiving, coupled with a few improvements that will come when our existing airports are upgraded, would be more in keeping with our present way of life which I think would be pretty hard to beat and it wouldn't cost near as much money."

Although the Department of Transportation plan said the Albert J. Ellis Airport at Jacksonville should remain in service to serve Marine Corps personnel Onslow County manager Tim Wood said Jacksonville's enplanements have exceeded the number at Kinston, although the Jacksonville facility has fewer flights.

"Onslow county believes data could have been offered to name Albert J. Ellis as a regional facility."

Pitt-Greenville Airport Authority chairman Jim Little spoke in support of a regional airport," . . . wherever it may be located — whether in an existing facility or a new one."

Arrest 40 At Dog Fight

WILSON, N.C.(AP)—Court hearings have been set for April 22 for 40 men arrested in a raid on a dog fight being held in an old barn three miles east of Wilson Sunday.

Local and state law enforcement officers joined in the raid about 12:30 a.m. Easter morning.

Of those arrested, 38 were charged with engaging in a dog fight. They were released under $200 bond. The other two were charged with operating a dog fight and were released under $400 bond each.

Sheriff Robin Pridgen said the men were from Wilson, other sections of North Carolina and Georgia.

The sheriff said the officers found five pit bulldogs that had been fighting. The dogs were placed in the care of a local veterinarian and one died from its wounds.

A deputy said no one was charged with gambling even though "a great deal of money" was in sight when the officers entered the barn.

"We weren't able to get our hands on it," he said. "It was a bloody mess when we got there."

Pridgen said the raid was the culmination of about six weeks of investigation.

Employe Recall Announced By DuPont Plant

KINSTON — Some 65 of the 464 employees who were laid off by Du Pont during the height of the economic crisis are being notified to return to their jobs on April 14, the firm announced.

According to Joe LaMotte of the Personnel Department, the employee recall is due to a small increase in customer orders on some of the Du Pont product lines.

LaMotte said that the company hopes that the rehiring will be the first step in the recall of all laid-off employees but he said that Du Pont expects the improvement of the economy and subsequent product demand to be a gradual process.

The recall leaves 399 employees on the laid-off list, he said.

Helms' Assistant In Greenville April 9

U. S. Senator Jesse Helms announced today that his staff assistant for Eastern North Carolina, Bill Berryhill, will be in Greenville April 9 to meet with local citizens.

According to Helms, Berryhill will be available to receive suggestions and to make notes of problems local residents might have. He will meet with interested persons between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. and between 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 at the East Carolina Regional Development Institute at the intersection of First and Reade Streets.

Helms said "Berryhill will be available to answer questions, discuss problems and to receive any suggestions, all of which will be relayed to me here in Washington.

"I certainly hope that many people in the Pitt County area will visit . . . in order that I might have the benefit of the thinking of the people of North Carolina."

The Senator said Berryhill's visit is part of a continuing program to give North Carolinians an opportunity to keep in close touch with his office.

Salvation Army Assisted 1,578 Person Here

The Salvation Army assisted more than 1,500 persons during the months of January and February, according to a report to the Army's Advisory Board here last week.

According to the report, 1,578 individuals were aided. Included in the 429 cases where assistance was given were 26 fuel orders, 99 food orders, 15 helped with utility bills, one helped with rent, and 14 prescriptions filled.

Some 1,223 garments were distributed during the two-month period, as were 76 pairs of shoes. A total of 381 other items—mattresses, stoves, dishes and the like—were also distributed during the first two months of the year.

A total of 49 nights' lodging was given transients during the period, while 36 meals were given and two bus tickets provided to transients.

Halving Grants

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Foundation will cut its grants program 50 per cent by 1978 in an effort to avert dissolution of the philanthropic institution, foundation president McGeorge Bundy says.

Bundy said Ford Foundation trustees had decided to reduce program budgets by 1978 to $100 million a year because "continued heavy invasions of its eroded capital would put an end to the foundation as an institution, perhaps in a decade or less."

He said declining capital markets had reduced the foundation's assets by Sept. 30, 1974, the end of the institution's fiscal year, to $1.7 billion, down from $3 billion a year earlier.

In December, Bundy had projected a halving of the foundation's budget because of recession-related capital losses.

RESIGNING

RALEIGH (AP) — James C. Hastings, director of the North Carolina Travel Development Section, has announced he will resign next month to devote full-time to seeking the presidency of the United States Jaycees.

Report Mamie Comfortable

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower continues in good condition and spent "a very comfortable Easter" at a Ft. Gordon hospital, a spokesman said.

The widow of President Dwight D. Eisenhower is recovering from the intestional problems that caused her hospitalization last Tuesday, said Maj. George Foster, a spokesman for the U.S. Army Medical Center.

Mrs. Eisenhower, 79, was spending the winter at "Mamie's Cottage," a mansion at the site of the Augusta National Golf Club, when she was stricken with internal bleeding.

Oil Profiteers Could Face Charges Of Smuggling

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two federal agencies pursuing oil company profiteers are embroiled in a dispute over whether to seek criminal action against alleged violators or settle for price rollbacks and refunds, sources close to the investigation report.

The Federal Energy Administration, which already has required some companies to give back more than a half billion dollars, tries to settle its cases quietly by reaching voluntary settlements with the offenders.

But the U.S. Customs Service, which is probing allegations of massive profiteering during the Arab oil embargo, wants the government to seek criminal indictments against certain companies.

The FEA has closed 59 cases to date and still has 435 under investigation. So far, it has netted $612 million in price refunds, rollbacks and cancellation of claims on future price hikes.

Investigators predict they may get another $150 million out of companies that have cheated American consumers by illegal profit-taking at some stage of oil production or sale.

The Customs Service, which is conducting a worldwide investigation in cooperation with the energy administration, estimates the oil companies may have overcharged consumers by $1 billion to $3 billion by falsifying import documents during last year's embargo.

Lawyers familiar with the case say that some oil companies took advantage of skyrocketing prices during the period to buy oil from countries where prices were low. Those companies then falsified customs documents to show the oil came from countries where it was selling at four or five times their actual cost. The companies then allegedly sold the product to large consumers, such as public utilities, and pocketed the difference.

The sources say the Customs Service believes it can successfully prosecute such violators under the nation's smuggling laws and statutes that make it a felony to bring goods into the country by making false statements to the government.

No companies have been charged yet in the six-month-old investigation, but one case involving a Jacksonville, Fla., utility has been referred to a federal grand jury in that city.

In addition to the basic rates and charges set out above and other monthly charges directly related to these rates, the Company proposes increases in rates for mobile telephone service, extension line mileage, foreign central office mileage, intraexchange tie line and private line mileage, directory listings and other number services, private branch exchange components, extension bells and gongs, telephone answering service facilities, interconnection equipment, centrex exchange access services, and various auxiliary services and features.

The Applicant proposes changes in rate relationships with the basic business and residence rates for the following services: (1) auxiliary lines and auxiliary private branch exchange trunks, (2) key trunks, and (3) private branch exchange trunks.

The Applicant also proposes to establish a rate for auxiliary key trunk lines, to continue joint user service as an offering only for present joint user subscribers, to alter the method for rating semipublic service, to package rates for key system components in order to facilitate administration of the service, to increase several nonrecurring charges, to establish a monthly charge for rotary service, and to eliminate the color charge on one-, three-, and six button key sets.

The Applicant did not propose a reduction in zone charges but did propose an extension in the base rate area of several exchanges and conversion of special rate areas with zones to special rate areas

Look Out Augusta, Here's Jack

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Jack's back!

He'd been overshadowed in recent months by the gaudy exploits of Johnny Miller. His long-time role as the game's greatest player had again been challenged. There were hints that his era had passed its peak, that he was on the downgrade.

But Jack Nicklaus suddenly and authoritatively has reasserted his superiority in the game he's dominated for a decade.

He's won his last two times out and Miller was in the field each time.

And his last victory — in the pretigious Heritage Classic Sunday — came over an elite invitational field that included almost all of the Masters hopefuls. Among them were Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Crampton, Hale Irwin and most of the young stars. And Miller.

He stunned them with a fantastic 63 in Friday's round, gave them life with a 74 Saturday and put them all away with a solid 68 Sunday that completed a tournament record total of 271, 13-under-par.

More important, he now goes to Augusta, Ga. and the upcoming Masters at the top of his game, perhaps playing as well as he has in the past 10 years.

"My swing pattern is very good, better than it has been in two or three years," said Nicklaus, who annually makes the Masters his first big goal of the season.

"Obviously, I'm very very pleased."

In his last three tournaments he's had a 63 — on one of the world's toughest golf courses — a pair of 66s a 67, a couple of 68s, three 69s and an unofficial 64 while playing in a foursome with President Ford.

But there's no danger that his game may have peaked too soon.

"Not going into Augusta," he said. "If anything, it works the other way. If I'd lost, maybe I'd feel that my game had peaked too soon. There's no such thing as playing too good going into Augusta."

He appeared to play just as well as need be in the dull, dreary weather that marked the final round over the treacherous, 6,655-yard Harbour Town Golf Links.

He birdied the 11th after a seven-iron shot to within six or seven feet and Weiskopf bogeyed the 12th, missing the green. That gave Jack a two stroke margin and it was just a matter of finishing.

"I'm disappointed at not winning," Weiskopf said, "but at least I'm glad I could make a golf tournament out of it."

Tom Weiskopf closed with a par 71 and was second at 274. They were the only two in the chase. Charles Coody came on with a brilliant 65 and took third at 279, eight shots back.

Irwin, a two-time winner here, was well back with a 75—284. Trevino and Player, making his first start in this country this year, tied at 285. Trevino had a closing 71, Player 74. Palmer had a 68, his best round of the tournament, and 288.

Miller failed to make the cut for the final two rounds.

UCLA, Kentucky Meet For NCAA Championship

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — For the coach who has just about everything, there is only one more thing that the UCLA Bruins can give John Wooden: another national basketball championship.

And they hope to do that tonight in the drama-filled final of the NCAA playoffs.

The fabulous Bruins, gunning for their 10th national title in 12 years, face Kentucky's Thoroughbreds at the San Diego Sports Arena in a game that truly befits the occasion.

Not only are UCLA and Kentucky ranked 1-2 in the nation, and not only are these among the most tradition-laden basketball schools in America, but an element of Hollywood drama has been added to the scenario.

Wooden, the guiding light at UCLA for 27 years and the most successful college basketball coach who ever lived, has announced his retirement from the game and the team he loves. This motivational factor could be all the formidable Bruins need to put them over the top, although Wooden insists that he didn't make his retirement announcement today in order to "hype the players."

If Wooden didn't mean it that way, the psychological ingredient nevertheless is there. It certainly crossed the mind of Kentucky Coach Joe Hall.

"There's no way we can come up with something with the impact of a resignation," said Hall.

Other intangibles are apparent: pride, tradition and momentum. Both teams have all three.

When the teams take the court for the 6:10 p.m. PDT starting time before an expected sellout crowd of more than 15,000 and a national television audience of millions, they'll carry a composite total of 13 national championships with them. Wooden has won nine for the Bruins, including seven straight at one point, and Kentucky boasts four crowns, all in the fabled era of Adolph Rupp.

And both teams are red hot. UCLA sports a 27-3 record and Kentucky is 26-4.

Aside from intangibles, UCLA may have some very real problems to face. Kentucky has an inexhaustable supply of brawny players. It's this shuttle system that eventually wore down powerful Indiana in the regional playoffs and could pose a giant problem for the Bruins.

Some oddsmakers give a slight edge to UCLA, but Kentucky clearly has the edge in depth.

"I'm extremely impressed with Kentucky, it's size and it's strength," said the 64-year-old Wooden. "I don't know when I've looked at a more awesome, physical group of basketball players. Obviously, they are a lot more physical and a lot stronger than we are."

Also, the Bruins might have injury problems. Dave Meyers, their All-American forward, aggravated an injured leg while UCLA was beating Louisville 75-74 in overtime Saturday. "We don't know how the leg will react," said Wooden.

The Wildcats, meanwhile, are healthy. They literally bowled their way into the final by roughing up Syracuse 95-79 in Saturday's semifinals. Wooden has gotten some idea of the mountainous task ahead of him from this reflection by Syracuse Coach Roy Danforth: "It's hard to be quick when you've got a 210-pound guy hanging on your arm."

Kentucky, likened by some to a professional team because of its size, will probably start a front line of 6-foot-10 Rick Robey, 6-9 Bob Guyette and 6-5 Kevin Grevey. The Wildcats have pro-size guards in 6-4 Jimmy Dan Conner and 6-3 Mike Flynn. Hall also has two 6-10 players in reserve, Mike Phillips and Dan Hall, and a few others in the 6-4 to 6-7 range.

UCLA's front line is not to be dismissed, with the 6-8 Meyers, 6-6 Marques Johnson and 6-9 Richard Washington, plus 7-1 Ralph Drollinger in reserve. The Bruins backcourt is in the extremely capable hands of Pete Trgovich and Andre McCarter. But their bench hasn't the sock or stock of Hall's Kentucky babes.

Coaches Roy Danforth of Syracuse and Denny Crum of Louisville have been put in the position of observers by virute of their semifinal falls. Their teams meet in a consolation game prior to the Big One.

Wade Upends Evert For Title

By The Associated Press

"The way Billie Jean King has been playing, I think I'd rather play Virginia," Chris Evert said. Maybe next time she'd rather play Billy Jean, considering the way Virginia Wade is playing.

"As long as you're winning, it's great," Miss Wade said after turning on a devastating service and beating Miss Evert 7-5, 6-4 to win the $15,000 top prize in the nationally televised final of the $75,000 Philadelphia Indoor Tennis Tournament.

"My whole game depends on my serve," she understated.

Miss Evert had looked forward to playing the 30-year-old Briton after Miss Wade had surprised the top-seeded Ms. King in their semifinal match. Now all Chrissie and the rest of the women have to look forward to is Miss Wade occupying a favorite's role in next week's $150,000 tournament in Los Angeles.

She'll also be gunning for a first on the women's tour, a third straight victory. In Philadelphia she became the first to put two of them together, that coming on the heels of a triumph in Dallas. The whipping of Miss Evert raised Miss Wade's earnings to $57,563.

Rod Laver tied Stan Smith's World Championship Tennis record of 20 straight match victories.

Seattle Is In, Milwaukee Out

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The old order continues to change n the National Basketball Association with the Seattle SuperSonics, of all people, clinching a playoff berth and the Milwaukee Bucks, of all people, virtually out of it.

The Sonics made it into the playoffs for the first time in their eight-year history Sunday with a 98-88 victory over Portland, and Coach Bill Russell was all smiles.

"This is my most enjoyable year in basketball," said Russell. "I was pretty sure after training camp that this team was a playoff contender. Our mistakes were made up for by enthusiasm.

"I have a bunch of kids anyone would like to have live next door to them."

The Bucks, perennial playoff participants, moved to the brink of elimination with a 111-99 loss to New York. The Knicks' backcourt tandem of Earl Monroe, 24 points, and Walt Frazier, 18 points and 14 assists, proved too much for Milwaukee.

The Bucks are last in the Midwest Division, 3½ games in back of third-place Detroit in the race for the Western Conference wild-card playoff spot. One Piston victory or one Milwaukee loss will eliminate the Bucks.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Washington trimmed Chicago 94-92, New Orleans downed Atlanta 108-105 and Los Angeles beat Phoenix 104-90.

Seattle's Spencer Haywood pumped in 40 points to help officially eliminate Portland from the playoffs. His bucket with 42 seconds left clinched the game for Seattle and Fred Brown added four more insurance points.

John Johnson was the high man for Portland with 24 points.

In New York, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 32 points for Milwaukee but managed only two of them in the final quarter.

The victory left New York in a virtual tie with Cleveland in their battle for the Eastern Conference wild card berth.

Bullets 94, Bulls 92

Elvin Hayes turned in one o his better efforts for Washington in the nationally-televised contest, contributing 37 points, 11 rebounds, three steals and four blocked shots. Hayes had 17 points in the third quarter when the Bullets broke it open. Washington now has a 56-21 record and leads Boston by five percentage points in the battle for best record in the NBA and the $80,000 bonus that goes with it.

Hawks 108, Jazz 105

Nate Williams came off the bench to score 10 points in the final quarter, including a pair of clutch lay-ups, for New Orleans. Williams finished with 18 points while Herm Gilliam had 22 for Atlanta.

Lakers 104, Suns 90

Gail Goodrich fired in 28 points and Elmore Smith added 16 points, 15 rebounds and five blocked shots for Los Angeles. Mike Bantom led injury-riddled Phoenix with 20 points.

Stottlemyre Put On Waivers

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "I will make a couple of calls to other clubs to see if anyone is interested," Mel Stottlemyre said Sunday.

If that's the case, all Stottlemyre needs is Ralph Houk's phone number in Lakeland. Houk and the Detroit Tigers are interested.

Saturday, the New York Yankees asked waivers on the sore-armed Stottlemyre, the club's long-time pitching ace, for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release. Stottlemyre was the lone remaining Yankee from the team's last American League pennant winner in 1964.

"I'm not surprised, but I'm disappointed," the right-hander said of the Yankees' action. "My only regret is that I bothered to come to spring training. If I had known this, perhaps I would have pushed harder to find out sooner. I'm not convinced either way whether I can pitch or not."

Meanwhile, ex-Yankee Manager Houk, now bossing the Tigers, said he was interested in Stottlemyre. The Tigers have pitching shorts and ace Mickey Lolich has been bombed regularly this spring.

"I don't know if he (Stottlemyre) can pitch," Houk said. "They (the Yankees) think he can't and they know more about it than I do. But I'd like to at least talk to him. I'd like to get Mel's opinion on whether he can throw."

The 33-year-old Stottlemyre, three times a 20-game winner, suffered a torn shoulder muscle last June and only pitched two innings the rest of the season. He has only thrown a little batting practice this spring and even then his arm stiffened up.

The Tigers, who can't talk to Stottlemyre until waivers expire Friday, reportedly are willing to let him work out at their Lakeland camp for a month.

Blalock Wins Twice

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jane Blalock enjoyed one of her best weekends since joining the LPGA circuit with victories on the Camelback Country Club golf course here and in a federal court in Atlanta.

While a federal judge in Atlanta was ruling in favor of Miss Blalock in a suit filed against the LPGA over a 1972 suspensitn, she used a string of birdies on the front nine to win the $70,000 LPGA Golf Classic here.

She fired a four-under-par 68 on the final round of the 54-hole tournament to finish one stroke ahead of JoAnne Carner and walk away with the $10,000 first prize check.

Miss Blalock trailed Mrs. Carner by two strokes going into the final round but birdied four of the first five holes to move into the lead. Mrs. Carner won $7,000 for her six-under-par total of 210 after leading the first two rounds.

Sandra Haynie closed with a 69 for a three-round total of five-under-par 211 while Gerda Boykin and Kathy Ahern tied for fourth at 212.

Colonels Fighting For Playoff Spot

By The Associated Press

As the American Basketball Association season winds down, it becomes a numbers game ... and right now, Kentucky's doing all the counting.

"This is our sixth win in seven games and I think that's one hell of a feat," Coach Hubie Brown said Sunday after Artis Gilmore's 32 points and Louis Dampier's 27 — eight in overtime — gave the Colonels a 113-109 victory over Memphis.

The victory kept the Colonels half a game back of the New York Nets in the struggle for first place in the East Division. The Nets routed San Antonio 130-104. In the ABA's two other games, Indiana beat Denver 128-121 and St. Louis defeated San Diego 116-112. All were afternoon games.

Colonels 113, Sounds 109

"People counted us out of first place about two weeks ago, but I told the guys that in pro sports you just answer the bell and do your best," Brown said. "The team refused to count tself out."

George Carter led a frenzied Memphis rally by scoring 12 points in the last quarter as the Sounds closed a 13-point third quarter gap to tie the game 101-101 at the buzzer when Stew Johnson grabbed a Memphis rebound and stuck it back in with 13 seconds left.

Nets 130, Spurs 104

Julius Erving was the big gun for the Nets against San Antonio, pouring in 40 points, 10 in each period.

The Nets, who broke the game wide open by outscoring the Spurs 42-19 in the second quarter, snapped a four-game losing streak. George Gervin scored 25 and Rich Jones 24 for San Antonio.

Pacers 128, Nuggets 121

Billy Knight hit 32 points and George McGinnis added 30 in the Pacers' triumph over Denver. McGinnis open the tight game near the end of the third quarter with four consecutive field goals that helped Indiana build an 11-point lead going into the final period. Bobby Jones topped the Nuggets with 32 points.

Spirits 116, Q's 112

Freddie Lewis' 29 points and Marvin Barnes' 27 enabled the Spirits to withstand a 37-point flurry by guard Bo Lamar to beat San Diego.

The Q's took a 24-23 lead in the first quarter on Lamar's shooting but they turned cold and St. Louis jumped in front 43-30 midway in the second period and held 10-point leads at the half and three-quarter mark.

Game Called

East Carolina University's baseball game with the University of North Carolina was postponed yesterday because of rain. No date has been set for a replay.

ECU will play host to Pembroke State University Saturday at 3 p.m. in their next game.

ECU Golfers Win Easter Tourney

East Carolina, with three individuals finishing in the top five, easily outdistanced Virginia yesterday to capture the Sea Side Invitational Tournament.

Freshman Keith Hiller of East Carolina won the individual championship with a final round 79 for a 225 total. One stroke behind Hiller at 226 were teammates Steve Ridge and Jim Gantz. Ridge posted a 75, which was one of the best rounds Sunday, while Gantz had a 79.

Rob Welton finished at 229, followed by Tommy Boone 234, and Mike Buckmaster at 236 to round out the top five scores for the Pirates.

East Carolina had a final round team score of 467 for a three-day total of 1371 which gave he Pirates an 11 stroke victory over Virginia which had a final round score of 469 and a 1384 total.

Elon finished in third place with a 1414 total, followed by Delaware-A team at 1427, Richmond 1429, Rhode Island 1450, Georgetown 1497, and Delaware-B at 1511.

Virginia's John Stahr, the leader after the first two rounds, skied to an 86 to finish tied for fifth in the overall individual standings. The number of high scores in the final round were due to extremely high wind conditions on the narrow Seascape Golf Course.

Paladins 'Cats, Vie For SC Lead

By The Associated Press

Davidson's Wildcats and Furman's Paladins, who haven't exactly been powers the last couple of years in Southern Conference baseball circles, were scheduled to battle it out today for the league lead.

The Wildcats took a 3-1 league record to Furman, 2-1, for an early season test of strength between the two teams which have broken on top in the conference race.

Davidson bolted into contention early, winning a doubleheader from East Carolina's defending champion Pirates, but needed help last Friday from Furman to gain the top spot. The Paladins obliged with a 10-9 victory over The Citadel's Bulldogs.

Trailing the front-runners are The Citadel and William and Mary's Indians at 1-1 and East Carolina at 3-3, followed by Appalachian State's Mountaineers at 1-2. Richmond's Spiders have yet to play a conference game, while Virginia Military's Keydets are 0-2.

A pair of Saturday league doubleheaders saw East Carolina get back into contention by beating VMI twice, 3-2 and 17-0, and William and Mary and Appalachian split, the Indians winning the opener 5-0 and the Mountaineers the nightcap 6-4.

Richmond divided a pair of 32 nonleague decisions with Wilkes, while Davidson was rained out of a scheduled doubleheader at home against Williams and Lafayette.

All the scoring in the VMI-East Carolina opener was in the first inning.

Two singles, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and Bill Hardy's two-run single gave VMI a 2-0 lead. But the Pirates struck back with three runs on four hits and a walk, Glenn Card driving in two runs and Don Lee the winner. Dean Reavis held VMI to three hits after the first.

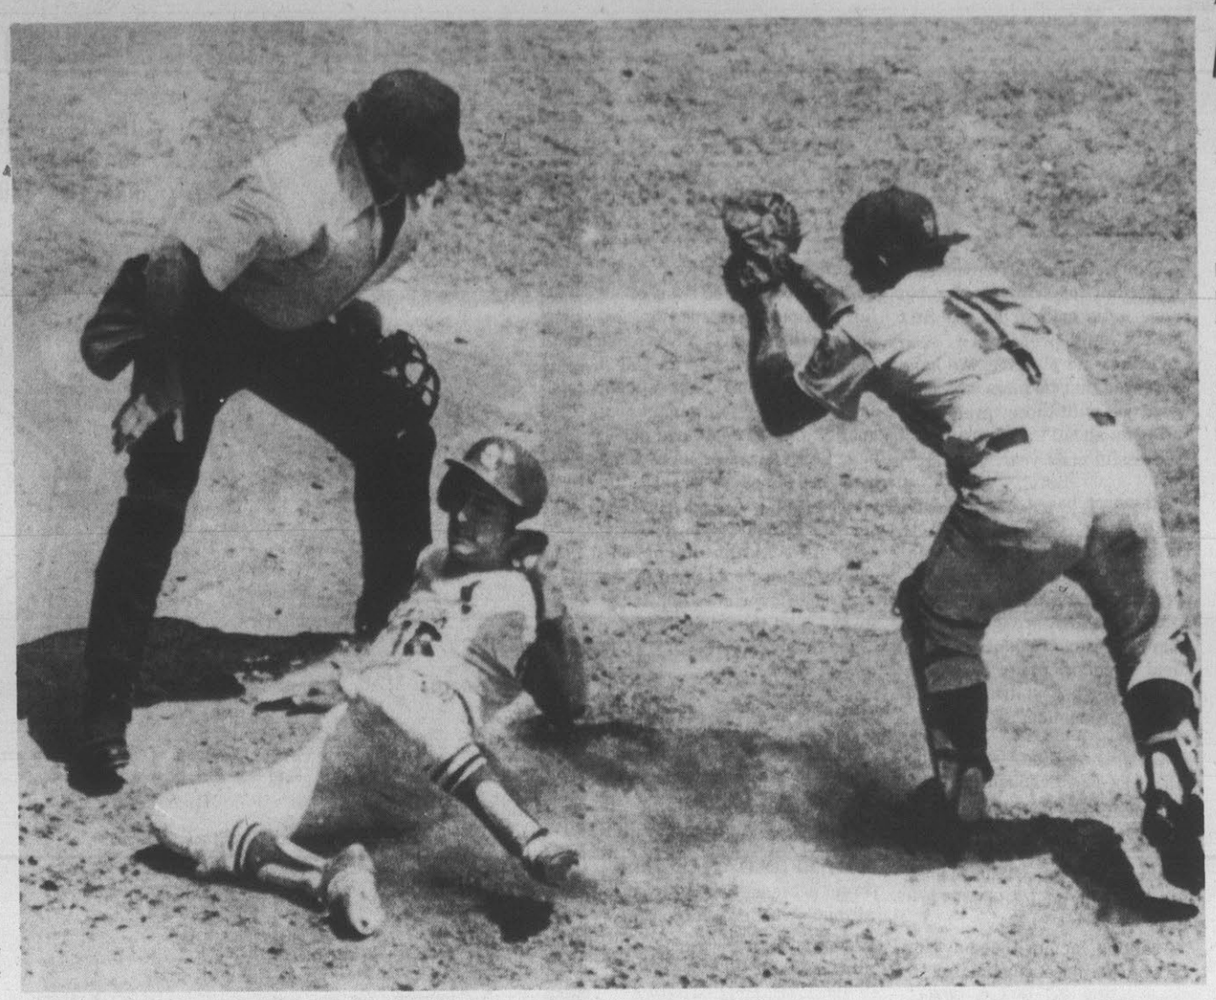

The nightcap was a rout with the Pirates scoring nine runs in the second inning, in which Steve Bryant had a three-run triple, and six in the third, in which Bryant had a two-run single. Ron Staggs, who set five school career records last week, hit a two-run homer in the fourth. Steve Herring stopped VMI on three hits.

Chris Davis pitched a three-hitter, walked one and struck out eight for William and Mary in its opener. The Indians scored three runs in the fourth on a walk, a hit and four errors.

The Mountaineers got four runs in the first inning of the second game, in which Mike Dunn had three hits, on four hits and a two-base error. Dave McElhaney had two hits for the Indians.

Chris Williams' eighth inning sacrifice fly gave Richmond its second game victory after Stan Cross had hit a two-run homer in the fourth. Wilkes won the opener in the seventh on a triple by Dave Trethaway and a wild pitch.

Another scheduled conference game today had Appalachian at VMI. Nonleague action had William and Mary at Virginia Tech and The Citadel at home for a night game with LeMoyne.

How Do You Replace Wooden

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Basketball's No. 1 coaching question today: Who succeeds the wizard and how do you do it?

John Wooden, 64, steps down after 27 years at the helm of the UCLA Bruins after they meet Kentucky for the NCAA championship tonight.

His records may never be equalled.

"Picking my successor is Mr. J.D. Morgan's job," he said, referring to the UCLA athletic director. But the man known as "the Wizard of Westwood" did add: "We have discussed and evaluated some people."

The Los Angeles Times reported that UCLA officials picked the man last January who they want to succeed Wooden.

The Times' source said the name of the man probably will be revealed this week and "will probably surprise a lot of people." The source added, "He's a well known head coach who will be familiar to players on the West Coast."

Whoever succeeds him inherits a tradition including nine national titles, seven of them in a row, and a record string of 88 straight victories.

The evaluation might have become more difficult with the decision of Wooden's chief assistant, Gary Cunningham, to go into athletic or educational administration when the opportunity presents itself.

Names mentioned for the job are Dave Gavitt of Providence, whose teams have averaged 18 victories a year the past seven seasons, and Denny Crum of Louisville.

Crum, a former UCLA player, left as Wooden's chief aide three years ago to take the Louisville job and saw his team fall 75-74 to UCLA in overtime Saturday in the NCAA semi-finals.

Tigers Are Making It Difficult For The Press

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

"You can say what you want about me, but don't say anything about my players," Manager Ralph Houk of the Detroit Tigers snapped at newsmen last Wednesday. "Don't write bad things now, not in spring training."

Okay, Ralph, but your pitching staff is making it difficult.

Mickey Lolich, the Detroit ace, pitched a scoreless first inning Sunday against the Cincinnati Reds.

The second inning was not quite as scoreless, the Reds amassing a mere eight runs and nine hits, including three-run homers by Joe Morgan and Bill Plummer.

In six exhibition starts, the 34-year-old Lolich has pitched 26 innings and allowed 44 hits, including seven homers, and 25 runs. His earned run average is 8.65 and his record is 0-4. It would be 0-5, but Cincinnati's Clay Kirby, Clay Carroll and Pedro Borbon couldn't hold the 8-0 lead and the Tigers rallied Sunday to win a wild 34-hit, six-homer slugfest 13-12 on a two-run single in the bottom of the ninth by Bill Freehan, who homered earlier.

Another veteran southpaw, Baltimore's Mike Cuellar, took a six-inning pounding in the Orioles' 11-1 loss to the Texas Rangers. Cuellar was shelled for all 11 runs and 15 of the Rangers' 16 hits. Jeff Burroughs, the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1974, had two homers — his third and fourth of the spring — a double and single and drove in six runs. Tom Grieve also homered.

Meanwhile, another Texas squad made up mostly of rookies scored eight unearned runs and beat the New York Yankees 11-8.

Jose Cruz, a Houston rookie, outdid Burroughs, driving in six runs with three homers — two off Steve Rogers — to lead the Astros past the Montreal Expos 12-7.

Home run king Hank Aaron singled, doubled and walked twice to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Jim Slaton and Pat Osburn blanked Cleveland on six hits.

Bill Buckner doubled twice and Andy Messersmith hurled six strong innings as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Boston Red Sox 7-2.

Vida Blue, Lew Krausse and Paul Lindblad combined for a two-hitter as the Oakland A's blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-0. Larry Hisle drove in three runs with a single and double to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 12-4 rout of the Atlanta Braves.

Dave Parker stroked a three-run homer and Duffy Dyer hit a solo homer off Steve Mingori in a five-run eighth inning that enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to defeat the Kansas City Royals 8-6.

Bill Robinson's sacrifice fly drove in an unearned run off Chicago relief ace Terry Forster in the seventh inning and the Philadelphia Phillies edged the White Sox 3-2. Run-scoring singles by Rich Billings and Ken Rudolph in the ninth inning rallied the St. Louis Cardinals past the New York Mets 5-4.

Chris Speier drove in three runs with a homer and single and the San Francisco Giants scored six runs in the last two innings off Luis Quintana to beat the California Angels 9-5.

John Grubb's run-scoring pinch single in the seventh inning gave the San Diego Padres a 3-2 victory over their Hawaii farm club.

Top Racers Heading North

By BOB COOPER
AP Sports Writer

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — Like the birds and warm weather, some of the nation's top 3-year-old thoroughbreds are about to begin their annual trek north. The horses are seeking the fame and fortune of racing's Triple Crown — the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Ready to leave, probably this week, are Prince Thou Art and Sylvan Place, John Galbreath's 1-2 punch in Saturday's Florida Derby, and John L. Greer's Foolish Pleasure, whose third-place finish was the first loss of his career.

The next stop for those three will be Lexington, Ky., where they are expected to meet in the April 24 Blue Grass Stakes, the last major prep for the Kentucky Derby at Louisville May 3.

In other parts are such Kentucky Derby eligibles as Joseph M. Roebling's Laramie Trail, winner of a division of the Bay Shore; Meadow Stable's Lefty, victor in the other Bay Shore division; Cynthia Phipps' Singh, winner of two stakes this season; Avatar, A.A. Seeligson's Santa Anita Derby winner, and Bob Clayton's Thomas City, winner of three stakes before his fourth-place finish in the Louisiana Derby.

Already in Lexington is Golden Chance Farm's Master, winner of the Lousiana Derby March 22.

Foolish Pleasure undoubtedly still has the majority of backers for the Kentucky Derby, although his defeat by more than three lengths Saturday dims a record which still is brilliant — nine victories in 10 starts.

At the same time Galbreath's two colts boosted their stock for the Triple Crown races, especially with Prince Thou Art's display of late speed that brought him last to first Saturday. Sylvan Place, also usually a late runner, stayed near the lead in the Florida Derby, with jockey Jean Cruguet saying he was ordered to keep his eye on Foolish Pleasure.

"I moved a little sooner than I wanted to ... I guess I did my job right," Cruguet said. "If I hadn't used up my horse earlier, the result might have been a photo between my horse and the winner."

Prince Thou Art scored by 3¼ lengths, with Sylvan Place nipping Foolish Pleasure by a neck. The winning entry paid $8.

Farm Scene

By HENRY C. RIDDICK
Associate Agricultural Extension Agent

Every stage of development is important for a farm crop, but none is as critical as the first stages, land preparation, seed selection and planting. We have observed that farmers who do a good job with those three steps are way ahead toward having a successful crop year.

Research has shown that land preparation can be overdone just as easily as underdone. Farmers should decide on the best method of preparing a seed bed and follow through with the plan. Continuous running over a field discing actually decreases a good seed bed while increasing cost of production.

A proper seed bed is when the soil is loosened enough for good seed coverage and smooth enough not to bounce the seed out of the plate. This point is particularly important where planters with inclined plates are used.

Planting factors that have to be watched closely include speed of operating the planter, correct seed plate for seed size and depth of planting. Try the planter in the field for adjustments not the field path, for a hard path will not show proper planter performance.

As important as all the other factors mentioned is the selection of good quality seed. Certified seed are the farmers best insurance against poor stands, impure varieties and other problems that often accompany uncertified poor quality seed. But too many of our farmers purchase seed on cost alone without any concern for the kind of quality in the bag.

No one can look at a handful of seed and really tell much about quality of seed contained in the bag. The state seed laws have been developed to protect the farmer from bad seed. The seed analysis tag provides growers with information about the quality of seed contained in the bag. The important thing is to always read the analysis tag.

More Chewing; But Snuff Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chewing tobacco is spurting ahead in new popularity, with sales up last year to their highest level in 20 years, says the Agriculture Department.

"The gain was primarily in loose leaf," the department's Economic Research Service said. "Plug and twist sales continued to decline."

In all, manufacturers produced 79.2 million pounds of chewing tobacco in 1974, up from 74 million in 1973 and 72.6 million in 1972. Loose leaf accounted for 52.9 million pounds last year, up from 47.6 million in 1973.

But snuff output dropped slightly in 1974, totaling 25 million pounds, compared with 25.3 million in 1973 and 25.5 million in 1972, the agency said in a tobacco situation report.

4WD Ass'n To Be Organized

Safe Driving Road Rally To Be April 5

William Heymann, Exploring chairman of the East Carolina Council, announced that the fourth annual safe driving road rally will be held April 5 under the sponsorship of Smith-Waldrop Motors.

Heymann said that the rally, which will be staged by the Tarheel Sports Car Club, will begin here and follow a 100 mile route with seven check points. The event will end at Stallings Airport in Kinston.

He reported that the first place team will represent the Council in competition with other winners from North Carolina and South Carolina for the right to participate in the National Explorer Road Rally set for August in Detroit, Mich.

Three Killed On Trestle

SMITHFIELD, N.C. (AP)— Three persons fishing from a railroad trestle over a lake were killed instantly Sunday when they were struck by a freight train as they tried to scramble to safety, authorities said.

A Johnston County rescue squad spokesman identified the victims as Ellen Yates Wallace, 47, and Loris Ann Wallace, 5, of Clayton, and Albert E. Johnson, 49, of Greensboro.

He said three other persons fishing with them from the trestle at Holts Lake managed to get off the tracks when they spotted the train.

The spokesman said the little girl stumbled as the group fled to safety and Johnson was struck when he stopped to pick her up. Witnesses told authorities Mrs. Wallace was also struck when she turned back to help the child.

Authorities said the train rounded a curve in the tracks about one half mile from where tte people were fishing. The engineer sounded the horn, then locked the brakes, but could not stop.

It was the second fatal accident within six months on the trestle at the lake aboat two miles south of Smithfield.

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF

© 1975, The Chicago Tribune

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q6 ♥J9 ♦KJ10943 ♣AQ9
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 2 ♦ | Pass |
| 3 ♠ | Pass | 4 ♣ | Pass |
| 4 ♦ | Pass | 4 ♠ | Pass |
| 5 ♠ | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner's raise to five spades asks specifically about the heart suit. Since you have neither first- nor second-round control, you can take no further action despite the fact that you have something to spare for your bidding.

Q.2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J7 ♥AJ8 ♦AQJ72 ♣A84
Partner opens the bidding with three spades. What do you respond?

A.—Four spades. You have a very fine hand, but don't let your three aces go to your head. Partner's opening bid has promised only six tricks at a spade contract, and though your hand should certainly produce four tricks, it is the height of optimism to even dream that it's strong enough to offer more than a marginal play for slam.

Q.3—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠983 ♥J952 ♦KQ1043 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | Pass |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | Pass | 1 ♦ | Pass |
| 1 ♠ | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your hand was worth just one voluntary bid, and you have made it. Partner's new suit bid was not forcing, so get out of the auction at a reasonable spot. If you take another bid partner would be entitled to expect a better hand from you.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQJ1075 ♥83 ♦A762 ♣9
The bidding has proceeded:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | 2 ♣ | Dble. | Pass |
| ? | | | |

What action do you take?

A.—Bid two spades. Though partner thinks he can beat two clubs, your hand is bound to be a disappointment to him defensively. Your spade suit is good enough to rebid even if partner is short, as his double implies. Bear in mind that partner's penalty double is a statement of desire rather than an edict.

Q.5—North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠83 ♥AKQ954 ♦1042 ♣75
The bidding has proceeded:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 2 ♥ | Pass |
| 2 NT | Pass | ? | |

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Partner's rebid shows a hand that is better than minimum, and your hand should produce six tricks for him at a no trump contract. In addition, it must be to your side's advantage to have the lead come up to your partner's hand, rather than through it. Our second choice is four hearts, but three hearts ranks a poor third.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠95 ♥K10954 ♦QJ9872 ♣
The bidding has proceeded:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 ♠ | Pass |
| 2 ♦ | Pass | 2 ♠ | Pass |
| Pass | ? | | |

What action do you take?

A.—Bid two no trump. Considering the auction, you obviously do not have a strong enough hand to want to play two no trump, so the bid must be a takeout for the unbid suits. A double would serve the same purpose, but would show more high-card strength.

Q.7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠KJ6 ♥J1075 ♦KJ10 ♣AJ9
Partner opens the bidding with one heart. What do you respond?

A.—Two no trump. Despite the fact that we have four-card heart support, our hand is so balanced and all the outside suits are so well stopped that we prefer the more descriptive response of a jump in no trump. If partner shows an unbalanced hand by rebidding in a suit, we intend raising to four hearts at our next turn. However, we do not object strenuously if you selected an immediate response of three hearts.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ98 ♥AKJ872 ♦1052 ♣
The bidding has proceeded:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♥ | Pass | 2 ♦ | Pass |
| ? | | | |

What do you bid now?

A.—It is a close decision between a reverse into two spades or a jump to three hearts, but we prefer the former. The fact that partner responded in diamonds improved our hand enormously—had he bid one no trump or two clubs, we would have contented ourselves with a simple rebid of two hearts.

Lifesaving Courses To Begin Here Wednesday

Two lifesaving courses, sponsored by the Pitt Chapter of the American Red Cross, will begin Wednesday at Memorial Gym on the campus of East Carolina University.

Mrs. Ruth Taylor of the local Red Cross office said that a Senior Lifesaving Course will get underway at 7 p.m. with registration and testing.

The 21-hour senior course will be taught each evening from 7-9 p.m., she pointed out. The rest of the schedule will be planned at the first class session.

In order to be eligible for the course, participants must be at least 15-years-old; in sound physical condition; and be able to perform a standard front dive in reasonably good form; swim 500 yards continuously using a variety of strokes; surface dive to a depth of eight feet; swim 20 feet underwater; and tread water for one minute.

Participants should bring their own bathing suits and towels to the class and a bathing cap is necesary for males or females if their hair is below the ears, collar or eyes, Mrs. Taylor said.

If there are enough participants, a Basic Rescue and Water Safety Course (junior lifesaving) will be taught, beginning Wednesday, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

In order to be eligible, students must be at least 11 years old; in sound physical condition; and be able to perform a standing front dive in reasonably good form; swim 250 yards continuously using a crawl stroke, sidestroke, and a backstroke with an inverted scissors kick or breaststroke kick; and tread water for 30 seconds.

The junior class will be a ten-hour course.

Persons with questions concerning the courses should call the Red Cross office at 752-4222.

Delegations At Session

Delegations from eight colleges and universities attended the Sigma Tau Delta national English honor society regional convention at East Carolina University recently.

ECU's Omicron Theta chapter hosted members from the University of Alabama, Indiana State University, Wayne State College, Baylor University, Kearney State College, St. Augustine's College, Athens College (Alabama), Northern Illinois University and Radford College (Va.).

New officers were formally installed in a meeting of current and alumni members of Omicron Theta chapter. They are:

Barbara Jean Hall of Virginia Beach, Va., president; Stephen Jones of Cary, first vice president; Pat Fountain of Richlands, second vice president; Marie Farr of the ECU English faculty, third vice president; Art Mayfield of Fayetteville, secretary; Bill Cotter of Boston, Mass., treasurer; and Elaine Berry of Hillsborough, historian.

Revival Will Begin Tuesday

The Schwarz Family Evangelistic Team of Flint, Mich., will hold revival services at the Faith Assembly of God April 1-6 at 7:30 p.m.

The church is located north of Burroughs Wellcome on Highway 13. Steve R. Jones is pastor of the church.

Workshop Led By Sociologist

Dr. David Knox of the East Carolina University Department of Sociology and Anthropology conducted a two-day workshop on marriage counseling in Glenwood Springs, Colorado last week.

At the request of the Sopris Mental Health Center, Dr. Knox directed workshop sessions based on the application of the principles discussed in his recently published "Dr. Knox's Marital Exercise Book."

The workshop was preceded by an evening presentation on "New Ways to Keep Your Marriage Happy," which was open to the general public.

WHEELING ALONG

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Americans want to go somewhere, almost all of them go by motor vehicle, says Donald B. Stabler, president of The Road Information Program. Ninety-three per cent of all trips —whether for work, recreation or family business — are made by car, bus or truck, Stabler said.

Tough choice.

The best value in your next grass-cutting machine calls for tough questions. Push it, ride it, drive it? Is 5 hp too much? Is 12 enough?

We've got some tough answers. No matter which IH equipment you choose—tractor, riding mower, power mower—it'll be a sound choice. Because you'll get a tough piece of machinery that will give you more service because it demands less attention.

And we'll help you find the right size. Not too big. And not too small, either. Versatile enough to handle all the chores you have. We have to fit you right, because we want to see you again. Even if it takes years.

We have a warehouse full of new 1974 model Cadets at tremendous savings.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a halting, uneven advance today in the first trading since President Ford's signing of the tax cut bill.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.66 at 772.92, and gainers led losers by slightly more than a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Echange. Trading was moderate.

Analysts said hopes for an economic recovery in the months ahead had apparently been heightened by the signing into law of the tax cut measure over the weekend.

And they also noted some favorable response to a prime rate cut from 7½ to 7¼ per cent by New York's First National City Bank on Friday, when the market was closed.

But the First National Bank of Chicago this morning declined to match the Citibank cut, holding its basic charge on corporate loans at 7.5 per cent.

Brokers said there was also hesitancy over expected weak first quarter earnings reports — and the accompanying possibility of some dividend cuts.

H&R Block, the most active issue on the Big Board, rose ⅛ to 13¾. A 200,000-share block of the issue traded at 13¼.

Most other issues showed only fractional changes.

The NYSE's composite index rose .11 to 44.57 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index gained .34 to 80.35.

Brad Ragan, the Amex volume leader, slipped 1⅜ to 18⅝. Chairman B.E. Ragan said the company's president, W.B. Shellhorn, resigned amid policy differences.

Avalanche Killed Eight

KLAGENFURT, Austria (AP) — An avalanche roared down on a group of Alpine bungalows early today, killing eight Austrian Easter vacationers in their beds and seriously injuring two others, officials said.

Other avalanches blocked road and rail traffic as heavy snowfalls caused a near disaster situation in many parts of Austria, with the south hardest hit, they said.

Police said the eight dead were four women, three men and one child. Search teams at first dug out six bodies from the wreckage and assumed this was the entire death toll. Two more bodies were found several hours later.

The 11 vacation bungalows belonged to the Austrian Trade Union of Construction and Timber Workers. Eight of the bungalows were destroyed and two were damaged.

The bungalows were built five years ago in the Hintertal Valley near the entry of the tunnel connecting Mallnitz with the Salzburg resort of Badgastein under the main range of the Austrian Alps.

There had been no recorded avalanches in the area before today.

Hillary's Wife, Daughter Killed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The wife and teen-age daughter of Sir Edmund Hillary, one of the first two men to conquer Mt. Everest, were killed today as they took off from Katmandu airport to join Hillary on a slope of the world's highest mountain.

Three other persons died with Lady Hillary and her daughter Belinda in the crash of the single-engine plane

Jailed For Beach Fray

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — About 270 vacationing youths spent Easter morning at police headquarters of this North Florida resort when police cleared streets following a disturbance, officials said.

"I can't say that what we had was a riot," Police Chief Robert Palmer said. "What we had was a fray."

Most of the youths posted bonds and were freed later Sunday, police said. Police would not say what charges were filed against the youths, the bonds demanded or how many were still jailed.

Police said more than 125 officers with night sticks ordered youths off streets near the beach shortly after midnight following a rock-and-bottle throwing incident involving up to 1,000 persons.

Officers said local youths were believed responsible for starting the disturbance and that vacationers, mostly college students, were caught up in the incident. City officials said up to 100,000 persons were in the city over the weekend for the holiday.

Early Trial In Faisal's Murder

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — The Saudi Arabian government says King Faisal's accused assassin is sane and will go on trial soon.

The announcement means that Prince Faisal Ibn Musaed, accused of shooting and killing his uncle last Tuesday, will probably be beheaded if found guilty. According to the Sharia, the Islamic legal code, the penalty for murder is public execution.

Suspended By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and fellow Watergate cover-up defendant Robert C. Mardian were suspended today fom the practice of law before the Supreme Court.

The court ordered Mitchell and Mardian to show cause within 40 days why they should not be disbarred.

Organize To Block Repeal

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina supporters of a George Wallace presidential bid are organizing an effort to stop repeal of North Carolina's presidential preference primary, according to a Wallace campaign coordinator.

C.J. Hyatt of Winston-Salem, an area coordinator in North Carolina for Wallace's 1972 presidential bid, said a lobbying effort is being launched with state senators to stop the House-passed measure to eliminate the primary.

The North Carolina House voted last week to eliminate the primary and the Senate is expected to act on the question this week.

Hyatt said Wallace supporters would insist that a public hearing is held on the primary question.

A Wallace aide in Alabama said during the weekend ttat Wallace and his campaign officials were angered by the legislative action. The aide called it "another anybody but Wallace" move and said members of Wallace's campaign staff would also contact North Carolina senators.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ben Hibbs, 73, editor of the Saturday Evening Post from 1942 to 1962, died Saturday of leukemia.

Lon Nol Bidding Goodbye

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — President Lon Nol said goodbye to his associates today prior to leaving his country as the Khmer Rouge insurgents made new advances in northwest Cambodia and fired rockets into Phnom Penh for the first time in four days.

Government sources said the 61-year-old president would fly to Indonesia Tuesday and after a visit there would go to the United States. Premier Kukrit Pramoj of Thailand said Lon Nol was expected at a base in southern Thailand Monday to transfer to an Indonesian air force plane, but other sources said Kukrit got the day wrong.

In preparation for his departure, Lon Nol was meeting today with 17 of his top generals, the cabinet and U.S. Ambassador John Gunther Dean.

Officially Lon Nol was going to Hawaii for treatment and would retain the presidency. But the feeling in Phnom Penh was that he would never return, and the hope was that his departure would enable Premier Long Boret to arrange cease-fire negotiations with the Khmer Rouge.

Easter Saw Local Rain

Easter rains may make spring flowers grow, but they didn't do much to entice local residents to "parade" in their new spring outfits yesterday.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, about .11 of an inch of rainfall was recorded in the area yesterday, most of which fell during the morning hours.

The high temperature for Sunday was 80 degrees while the low was recorded as 51 degrees.

The high temperature for Saturday was 77 degrees and the low was 46. The temperature at 8 a.m. today was 44 degrees and by 11 a.m. had risen to 48 degrees.

The Tar River level this morning at 8 a.m. was reported at 8.5 feet and dropping at the rate of .1 of an inch per hour, according to the weather station.

Offer To Talk

TOKYO (AP) — The Viet Cong are ready to hold talks with a South Vietnamese government which excludes President Nguyen Van Thieu and which abides by the Paris cease-fire to "quickly settle all the affairs of South Vietnam," a Hanoi broadcast said today.

"The Nguyen Van Thieu junta — main obstacle to the settlement of the political questions in South Vietnam — must be overthrown, and an administration standing for peace, independence, democracy, national concord and strict application of the Paris agreement must be established," the broadcast said.

It said the Viet Cong would then hold talks with such an administration.

Serious Crime Up By 17 Per Cent In 1974

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's rate of serious crime spurted 17 per cent in 1974, the largest increase in 14 years, according to FBI statistics released today.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi said the increase shows "a dismal and tragic failure on the part of our present system of justice."

Last year's jump compares with a boost of 6 per cent in 1973 and a decline of 4 per cent in 1972. Property crimes, such as burglary and larceny, showed the highest rates of increase last year.

The outlook was worsened further when the crime rate shot up 19 per cent in the final quarter of 1974 after the rate of increase had hovered between 15 and 16 per cent during the first nine months.

The annual statistics were released jointly by Levi and FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley. The figures are based on reports to the FBI from city, county and state law-enforcement agencies throughout America.

"Unfortunately, these results were predictable," Levi said. "In many areas of our country only a small percentage of those arrested for a felony are convicted for that offense. In addition, it is estimated that about one-third of the violent crimes go unreported."

The attorney general said: "We must understand that an effective criminal justice system has to emphasize deterrents. There are many causes of crime, but among them is the failure of our system to move quickly and effectively to detect and punish offenders.

"All segments of the criminal justice system need help and support if we are to do better, and all segments must recognize the serious responsibility to do better."

The violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault increased 11 per cent in 1974, compared with a 5 per cent rise the year before, according to the report.

The more numerous property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft, and motor-vehicle theft jumped 17 per cent. Those categories rose 6 per cent in 1973.

Robbery increased 14 per cent last year, forcible rape and aggravated assault each rose 9 per cent and murder was up 5 per cent.

Suburban law enforcement agencies reported a 20 per cent rise in crime, while rural areas had an increase of 21 per cent. Cities with 100,000 or more inhabitants recorded a 13 per cent boost.

Geographically, the South reported a 21 per cent rise in crime, while the figure in the North Central region was 17 per cent. It was up 15 per cent in the Northeast and 13 per cent in the West.

Gen. Bradley Still Improves

LOS ANGELES (AP) — General of the Army Omar N. Bradley is continuing to improve from a stroke and brain surgery and has been moved from the intensive care unit at UCLA Medical Center into a private room, a spokesman said.

Bradley, 82, is the nation's only living five star general.

Sign 'Pact', But No Marriage

LONDON (AP) — Britt Ekland, who was married to comedian Peter Sellers and then had a child by record producer Lou Adler, says she's in love with pop singer Rod Stewart and they've signed "a pact to be faithful to each other."

"It's too early to talk about marriage, but Rod and I see our love as a permanent relationship," said the 31-year-old Swedish blonde.
