Pressure For Continuing Viet Babylifts Persists

By The Associated Press
The large-scale "Operation Babylift" orphan flights appeared to be nearing an end today, but there were renewed calls for further massive airlifts from South Vietnam.

An Overseas National Airways chartered DC10 carrying 302 Vietnamese orphans flew toward the United States in one of the final major airlifts of the current series. It was due to arrive in San Francisco later today.

More than 1,700 children have been flown out of the war-torn country by the $2-million airlift sponsored by the U.S. Agency for International Development and major adoption agencies. Smaller groups have indicated they will continue to evacuate other children.

The South Vietnamese government has said it will allow orphans to be sent abroad as their adoptions are arranged, but on a reduced scale.

A group calling itself "Save the Vietnamese Orphans" says it hopes to fly about 277 Vietnamese children to Norfolk, Va., within a week. A spokesman for the group said an appeal for funds resulted in pledges of about $277,000, enough to charter a Boeing 747 jumbo jet for the flight.

But the spokesman said the orphans must receive special papers from the South Vietnamese government before they can be adopted in the United States. It was not immediately known whether the papers would be made available.

Disclose Plan To Evacuate

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — The Long Island newspaper Newsday said in today's editions that the Ford administration has delayed a plan to evacuate as many as 150,000 South Vietnamese for fear of triggering a wave of panic in Saigon.

"If we wait much longer it would be too late, but if we move now it could kill any chance that the South Vietnamese Army could hold off the North Vietnamese for a while longer," the newspaper quoted a U.S. official as saying.

South Vietnamese believed by U.S. officials to be marked for reprisals by the North Vietnamese would be selected for the evacuation, Newsday said.

They would include Saigon government officials, military commanders, educators, and soldiers who defected from North Vietnam to join the South Vietnam Army.

The evacuation would be carried out by U.S. and other merchant ships with most of the refugees going first to the Philippines before traveling to the United States and other countries.

The newspaper also quoted Pentagon officials as saying that unless the evacuation is started within the next few weeks, North Vietnamese forces may cut off any escape route to the sea.

If Saigon falls, U.S. officials say that a new wave of refugees would probably cripple any organized evacuation effort, Newsday said.

New Bishop Is Named For N.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Roman Catholic bishops have been appointed for Nashville, Tenn., and Raleigh, N.C., a papal representative announced here today.

Bishop F. Joseph Gossman, 45, auxiliary bishop in Baltimore for the last 7 years, was appointed bishop of Raleigh. He succeeds Bishop Vincent Waters, who died last December.

Msr. James D. Niederges, 58, pastor of Sts. Peter and Paul Parish in Chattanooga, was named bishop of Nashville.

In New Canaan, Conn., a search was under way Monday for airlines willing to provide charter flights for 1,000 orphans to new homes in the United States.

"You could get 100,000 adopted, the way the American sentiment is now," said businessman Robert Macauley, who has been one of the major figures in the airlift. "We're going ahead on the premise we can get more out."

Macauley, a paper mill executive, previously put up $250,000 to fly 325 orphans to the United States. He is the president of the Shoshone Boys Foundation, a New York-based rehabilitation agency with 11 orphanages in Vietnam.

In Bangkok, Thailand, the president of a California humanitarian agency known as World Vision, Inc., said the agency has flown 21 children to Thailand out of besieged Phnom Penh, Cambodia, en route to adoption in the United States and plans to return for 200 more.

W. Stanley Mooneyham, the agency president, said the babylift was a last resort because the "whole philosophy of our operation is to treat the children in their own culture... but we had to remove our expatriate staff and food supplies were becoming uncertain."

Traded For Dead

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel had to free 92 Egyptian "terrorists and spies" in exchange for the bodies of 39 Israeli soldiers killed in the October 1973 war and returned by Egypt last week, the state radio said today.

The broadcast said Egypt demanded that the 92 guerrilla and espionage prisoners be released despite an agreement in the 1974 disengagement pact — worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger — that war dead would be repatriated unconditionally.

The prisoners were freed, and presumably handed over to Egypt, during the past year, the radio said. Defense Minister Shimon Peres announced last Friday, when the 39 dead soldiers were returned near the Suez Canal, that Egypt was demanding 20 Arab prisoners in exchange. The radio said these were in addition to the 92 already freed.

The Israelis several times in the past year have handed freed guerrilla prisoners over to Egypt.

Thieu Unhurt When Jet Attacks Palace

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu escaped injury today when a South Vietnamese fighter pilot made a bomb and rocket attack on the presidential palace in Saigon. Later, a high-ranking military officer was seriously injured by an explosion in his office near Saigon, military sources said.

Thieu said in a broadcast that the attack on the palace was "an act of a group of people aimed at killing me with the intention to change this legal and constitutional regime. I am determined to continue leading this country."

But the commander of the air force, Lt. Gen. Tran Van Minh, said it was "an individual act of an air force officer" who "did not realize the danger of such a violent, senseless act."

Military sources said Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Hieu, deputy commander of the military region that includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, was working in his office at Bien Hoa 15 miles northeast of Saigon when an "explosive charge" went off. They said the type of charge and other circumstances had not been determined.

Two persons were reported killed and three wounded in the attack on the palace. The pilot, identified as 1st Lt. Nguyen Thanh Trung, flew off and was thought to have landed in territory held by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

Gen. Minh said the air force is loyal to Thieu. Former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a former commander of the air force and one of the leaders of the political forces in Saigon demanding that Thieu step down, denied that he was involved in the attack.

In neighboring Cambodia, field reports said the Communist-led Khmer Rouge slammed more than 400 shells into the provincial town of Kompong Speu 30 miles west of Phnom Penh, killing about 100 people, as Premier Long Boret returned from Bangkok, where he was reported to have made contact with the insurgents concerning possible peace talks.

"We will never surrender," Long Boret told The Associated Press before going into a Cabinet meeting to consider measures to reform the army and increase recruitment.

Long Boret left Cambodia eight days ago with President Lon Nol, who was pressured into seeking virtual exile abroad in hopes that would help bring about negotiations.

The South Vietnamese government ordered a 24-hour curfew in Saigon but lifted it in midafternoon after six hours. The city normally is under curfew from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. each night.

Substation Blasted

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Terrorist bombs ripped through a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. substation early today, knocking out power to 22,000 homes, authorities said. It was the second series of blasts at the facility in 12 days.

Three bombs exploded at the utility's Hicks substation at 12:25 a.m., causing extensive damage to two transformers and disrupting service over a 20-mile area, the Santa Clara County sheriff's office said.

No injuries were reported. Terrorists hit the same substation with five pipe bombs on March 27. On that occasion, three banks of transformers were wiped out, and service was disrupted to 35,000 homes.

A PG&E spokesman said a security guard had been posted at the substation after that bombing but was removed Monday night.

After today's bombings, PG&E rushed two portable transformers to the substation, some 15 miles southwest of downtown San Jose, and a spokesman reported that service had been restored by 3:54 a.m.

An estimate of damage was not immediately available, but PG&E spokesman Larry McDonnell said "it was less extensive than last time."

A bomb squad and FBI agents rushed to the scene, cordoned off the area and searched unsuccessfully for other possible bombs.

Officers said they did not yet know what type of devices were used.

A group calling itself the New Liberation Army claimed responsibility for the March 27 bombing, which shook homes two miles from the substation.

It demanded that the utility lower its power rates for persons with fixed incomes.

HUD Concurs: Small Parcel In Newtown Is Ruled Excess Property

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The Housing Authority has received concurrence from the Department of Housing and Urban Development in declaring a small parcel in Newtown an excess property.

Executive director Joe Laney reported Monday night that HUD had notified the Authority of its approval of local action concerning the property which will be sold through an upset bid process.

Garris-Evans Lumber Co. is offering a bid of $950 for the parcel, which fronts on Ridgeway Street and measures 30 feet by 120 feet, according to Laney. The firm indicated several months ago that it wished to purchase the property.

The Garris-Evans bid, which includes payment of legal costs involved in the property transaction, will be advertised and anyone desiring to bid on the parcel must submit an offer of at least ten per cent above the $950 bid. If the Garris-Evans offer is not upset by a higher bid, the property will be sold to the firm.

The parcel was originally planned as an access site for Newtown but the Authority decided not to utilize the property.

In other business last night, Laney said that the Authority is still awaiting official word from the area office of HUD concerning approval of the amended annual contributions contract for N.C. 22-5 involving 117 units. He said that notice was received from Congressman Walter Jones' office of HUD approval in Washington, D.C. but the Authority expects to hear from the Greensboro office shortly on the final amendment.

Commissioners adopted a resolution amending the Authority's pay plan, effective April 1, to bring it into conformance with the pay schedule of the city. Laney explained that the amended plan does not involve any pay increases but merely reflects a conformity with the plan adopted by the city on Feb. 6. The Redevelopment Commission adopted the amended plan at its March meeting, effective April 1.

According to Mrs. Sallye C. Streeter, director of tenant affairs, all but one of the 531 units operated by the Authority were occupied during March. She said that the one vacancy occurred in N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park).

Mrs. Streeter said that average rents included: N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $49.75; N.C. 22-2, $53.70; N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood), $52.13; N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood), $54.95; and N.C. 22-6 (Newtown), $46.95. Average rent in all five areas was $51.49, she reported.

Jackson Claims 'Secret' Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today he has learned of secret agreements between the United States and Vietnam which have never been disclosed to Congress.

Jackson said in a statement prepared for the Senate that the agreements "envision fateful American decisions" yet their very existence has never been acknowledged.

"We do not even know when President Ford himself first learned of all of them," Jackson said.

"I call upon the President now to make public and to provide to Congress all documents embodying or reflecting these secret agreements."

Jackson said he had not seen the agreements himself.

Board Meeting

One old item of business and four items of new business are on the agenda for the April meeting of the Greenville Recreation Commission to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday night.

The meeting will take place in the office of Director Boyd Lee at Elm Street Gym.

Agenda items are a report on Junior High teenage activities; request for waiver fee at West Greenville; consideration of curfew on lights at Jaycee Park; consideration of swimming pool user fees; and consideration of a letter from the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Highway Study Given Pitt Board's Support

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday adopted a resolution supporting a feasibility study for a four-lane highway to connect U.S. 301 at Wilson with U.S. 17, but were careful to withhold endorsement of a proposal contained in the State's original seven-year highway plan that calls for four-laning only one corridor.

The state's highway plan would four-lane U.S. 64 through Rocky Mount and Tarboro, then establish a new roadway from Tarboro through Northern Pitt County, to link up with U.S. 17 somewhere near Williamston.

Commissioners approved the "detailed study" of "a corridor or corridors" to link the two U.S. highways, emphasizing the resolution "does not constitute an endorsement" of the proposed U.S. 64 route.

In other action yesterday, the county board named J. T. Manning to the joint City-County Planning and Zoning Board to replace Dean Stocks who has resigned; approved the deletion of nine streets in Grifton from the state as secondary roads so they can be included in the street system of the municipality; and heard, but took no action on a request from Virginia Electric and Power Co. for a letter of support for VEPCO plans to construct a 230KV transmission line from Greenville to Washington in Williamston in the late 1970s or early 1980s to handle projected load growth in Pitt and Beaufort Counties.

Commissioners also approved a change in the ordinance regulating parking in the court house parking lot. The approved change establishes a 15-minute loading zone for cars making deliveries or pick-ups at the various county offices at the court house.

BIG JUMP
My electric bill with Pitt-Greene Electric Membership Corporation was $27 month before last and $41.56 last month. This month it was $193.25. I can't understand it and my budget can't stand this tremendous jump. H. K.

Pitt-Greene says your bill is correct and that if you will come in and talk to their office manager, he will try to work with you the best he can. They explained that Pitt-Greene members' meters are read only every six months by a P-G employee. Other months they are read by the members themselves, who are billed accordingly. For two months, they say, you did not send in your readings, so you were billed "an average amount," which was in actuality far below that you actually should have paid each month. So this $193.25 bill is a "Catch-up bill" with the three months' charges minus what you did pay last month and month before last.

OUT OF TERRARIUMS
Sept. 17, 1974 I mailed a check for $3.49, along with a label from Clairol Herbal Essence Shampoo, ordering a terrarium from the Clairol Distributor in Stamford, Conn. I have not received the terrarium and would like it or a refund immediately. D. T.

Hotline wrote to the company, enclosing a copy of your canceled check, as you had done previously. We received about two weeks later a copy of a letter sent you by the company. It said that their supplier "has been unable to continue manufacturing terrariums of high enough quality to meet the legitimate expectations of our consumers." They sent you a refund check of $3.59 (3.49 plus postage) and a complimentary bottle of shampoo.

Percentage Approach To Budget-Cutting Pondered

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina House Speaker James C. Green said Monday that the legislature might try to balance the state's budget by ordering an across the board cut in all state agencies, with decisions on specifics left to agency heads.

Readjusted revenue estimates will require the legislature to pare about $230 million from the budget prepared by Gov.

Jim Holshouser and the Advisory Budget Commission.

Green, speaking to reporters, said an across the board percentage reduction of every agency's budget is an alternative to a thorough scrutiny by the legislature and elimination of specific programs.

"We have several options," he said. "We can pick through the budget and take out something here and something there. That's a long, tedious process and it's what the base budget committee is trying to do now. We can also order an across the board cut."

Green, a Bladen County Democrat, echoed the call of Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt for the Republican Holshouser to take the lead in recommending the $230 million in cuts from the 1975-77 budget.

He said that Holshouser, as director of the budget, should be able to "come to us and say, 'This is where the padding is and you can take it out of this area and this area.'"

Holshouser met with legislative budget leaders over lunch Monday, but his news secretary reported that no firm decisions on budget cuts were made.

The proposed budget was submitted to the legislature before the latest estimates of the health of the economy, which indicate a much smaller growth in state revenues. Predictions now call for a shortfall of about $230 million, but final estimates will not be available for six weeks.

Green said if Holshouser does not recommend sufficient cuts, that he would do it himself.

He said he would prefer direct cuts in the state higher education budget rather than a sharp increase in university tuition. A Senate subcommittee has recommended a $200 increase in tuition for North Carolina students and a $300 increase for out-of-state students to avoid $36 million in budget cuts. Green said he would prefer to "look long and hard to find ways to cut the $36 million."

Green said the danger in the percentage approach to cutting the budget is that agency heads might cut needed programs and keep administrative positions. He said the legislature might eventually decide on a combination of an across the board cut and specific program deletions.

He ruled out raising taxes. "Economically, that would be the worst thing we could do."

As Green was speaking, Holshouser met with the chairmen of the legislature's appropriations committees.

He later said, through news secretary Jack Childs, that they had gone over the latest figures and begun outlining areas in which cuts might be made.

But, according to Childs, no cuts were agreed on.

More N.C. Physicians Charged In Drug Proge

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Four Mecklenburg County doctors and a Matthews pharmacist have been indicted by a Mecklenburg County grand jury on felony drug charges.

The indictments, which were returned Monday, climaxed a five-month investigation by the State Bureau of Investigation.

The indictments charge that the doctors prescribed diet pills and sedatives to patients who had no medical reason for taking them.

Druggist John Nance Jr., of Rt. 1, Indian Trail, who works in Matthews, was charged with one count of selling and delivering controlled substances.

Others named in the indictments were:

Dr. David Graham of Charlotte, charged with 12 counts of selling and delivering controlled substances; Dr. Paul J. Chambers of Charlotte, charged with 10 similar counts; Dr. Gordon Wilkins of Charlotte, charged with 10 such counts; and Dr. Ralph C. Reid, charged with five such counts.

All the doctors are general practitioners. Bail was set at $100 for each defendant.

The arrests were part of a statewide drug crackdown which began two weeks ago and has led to arrests in 15 counties.

SBI agents said they had arrested two Gaston County general practitioners Monday night on charges of violating the Controlled Substances Act. The two, Drs. Lewis B. Bolin of Gastonia and Dr. A. U. Stroupe Jr. of Mount Holly, were released on bond of $5,000 each.

Submits Tax Reform Package

By CATHY STEELE ROCHE
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — State Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, introduced a tax reform package Monday night that he hopes can win the support of local governments.

Smith's bill includes repeal of the state sales tax on food, but would compensate for revenue lost to county and municipal governments by giving them a share of state income tax revenues.

It incorporates legislation introduced by Smith earlier to increase income taxes in the upper brackets to replace the food tax revenue. It would also place higher taxes on cars and other luxury items and increase taxes on alcoholic beverages.

Smith said local governments have objected to previous attempts to repeal the food tax, because they obtain revenue by adding a local sales tax to the state levy. His bill would allow counties and municipalities to receive 3 per cent of the net revenue from individual income taxes collected in their counties. Local governments would decide how the revenue would be divided between county and municipal governments.

He conceded that counties that rely heavily on tourist income and have low per capita income among county residents would lose revenue under the proposal.

planes and boats that are taxed at a preferentially low rate.

There is currently a $120 tax limit on vehicles, which are taxed at 2 per cent, and an $80 limit on certain other high ticket items that are taxed at only 1 per cent. Smith said North Carolina is the only state with a ceiling on such taxes.

The bill would not increase the percentage tax rate on the items, only eliminate the ceiling.

Traffic Deaths Up As Driving Pattern Shifts

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic fatalities, which declined 17 per cent in 1974, are climbing again as many Americans return to driving patterns to which they were accustomed before last year's gasoline shortages.

The latest National Safety Council statistics for the first two months of this year show a 6 per cent rise from the same two months in 1974. January marked the first monthly increase from the previous year since October 1973.

There was a dramatic decline in the fatality rate in the early months of 1974 during the gasoline crunch as motorists drove less frequently and slower.

From January to May 1974, traffic fatalities were down 25 per cent from record 1973 levels, and the National Safety Council expected some slippage this year.

"There was a tremendous reduction in miles driven last spring," Ron Kuykendall, a council spokesman, said Monday. "Now, mileage is back to normal, a little bit above 1973 levels."

"We also don't have the national trauma we had last spring when we had to wait in long lines for gasoline and service stations were closed on weekends. Then, too, there is not as much emphasis on reducing driving and on reducing speed."

Initial projections of the council predicted the 1975 traffic fatality toll would be a little higher than the 46,200 persons who were killed in 1974. With the most recent statistics, however, Kuykendall said early projections may have to be pushed upward.

If the current increase continues at 6 per cent, about 49,000 persons would be killed in highway accidents this year. In comparison, highway deaths in 1973 totalled 55,800 fatalities.

Kuykendall said he expects the fatality rate to increase at a faster rate in the coming months. But he said if the use of safety harnesses remains at its current level, the monthly fatality rate around mid-summer should be about the same as last year.

That was about the time when motorists began reverting to their old driving habits — using the car more often and paying less heed to the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, he said.

Agriculture Department Vice Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigators have turned up evidence of gambling and drug peddling in the Agriculture Department and sources say prostitution also may be involved.

Joseph R. Wright Jr., assistant secretary for administration, said Monday that preliminary findings of department investigators on alleged gambling and drug traffic have been turned over to District of Columbia police.

"We had reports of these and we did an investigation," Wright said in response to a newsman's questions. "And it did involve questionable activities which we had to look at. Our final reports haven't been finished, and I haven't heard from the police whether they will be taking any action."

Charlotte Votes On Bond Issue Today

CHARLOTTE (AP) — About 28 per cent of Charlotte's 125,000 voters are expected to cast ballots today in a $59.5 million bond referendum.

The bond package includes $55 million to finance a new terminal and other construction at the city's Douglas Municipal Airport.

Other features of the package include $2.5 million for purchase and operation of the city bus company, $1.5 million for sidewalk construction and $550,000 for bicycle paths.

Voters will also be asked whether the city council can use property taxes to operate the bus company.

Voters will be able to vote for or against each item separately.

Most of the debate over the bond package has centered around the airport expansion section. Supporters and city officials say the bonds will be paid through airport revenues and local property taxes will not be needed to retire them.

Opponents question whether airport revenues will be sufficient. Many residents of the city's west side also object to the increased aviation noise which they feel will accompany expansion.

A group called the Northwest Community Action Association has come out in support of the bus operation portion but against airport, sidewalk and bikeway bonds.

The group is largely black.

Bazaar And Art Show At School Set Thursday

The North Pitt High School Arts and Crafts Department will have a Bazaar and Art Show Thursday from 5:00 P.M. to 7:00 P.M. in the Student Commons.

There will be large Zodiacs with the twelve signs, smaller Zodiacs for each month, dogs, flowers, fruits and many other wall hangings.

Also on display will be three dimensional boats, eagles and many other type boats.

Buyers will have the opportunity to have their Zodiacs personalized with names, dates or initials.

Will Speak On Student Rights

Harvard Law School student Ms. Susan Allen will speak on Children's Rights in the Schools to the Association for Retarded Citizens at the Wahl-Coates School Auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Ms. Allen is interning in Pitt County for one year as a children's advocate. Her talk Wednesday will deal, at least in part, with the Equal Education Opportunities Act. The public is invited.

A PCARC Board meeting will be held at 7 p.m., also in the Auditorium.

Student Art Classes Begin Here Saturday

Student Art Classes for junior and senior high school students will be held at the Greenville Art Center beginning Saturday.

Classes will be held each Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. for eight weeks.

The cost of the course is $15 and registration is limited to 15 students.

The instructor will be Mrs. Susan Mason, a graduate of the East Carolina University School of Art.

Registration may be made at the Greenville Art Center between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A District police department spokesman declined to comment on the matter. He said it was customary that no comments be made in such cases until they have been cleared for public release.

Wright said he could not comment on rumors that a sex ring has been operating on department premises but indicated those reports were being checked by department investigators.

Other sources, however, said at least one government female employee was being investigated for alleged prostitution and that others may be involved in the inquiry.

The sources said that both department personnel and outsiders may be involved in the vice probe. One official said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz had not been advised of the investigations.

Two qualified sources speculated that the alleged gambling, drug and sex episodes were "relatively minor" and were not part of an organized crime organization.

Heavy Damage In House Fire

Greenville firemen said heavy damage resulted to a wood-frame home at 105 Ebron Rd. from a fire reported there at 6:32 p.m. yesterday.

Officers said an oil heater in a bedroom apparently started the fire which caused heavy fire damage to the bedroom and heavy smoke damage to the entire house.

Retiring Takes Adjustment

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The retired husband makes home "a whole 'nother thing" says one woman. Wise wives should prepare their husbands for their new at-home role. In fact, somebody should prepare wives for it, she advised a kaffe klatsch.

"It isn't quite the same as having your husband about the house on a weekend when he has a job. He may watch sports programs, do paper work, nap and make other efforts at relaxation — golf, tennis or whatever. On Monday he returns to work. When he retires, the quick excision from his work routine leaves him slightly dazed, and he really doesn't know what to do with all that time at his disposal."

Her husband surrounds himself with books that advise him how to make money at home, how to live longer, how to invest what he has (and has not) and how to stay healthy, a bit of a paradox. He suspects he has every illness he reads about even though he refuses a medical checkup.

"My husband has read so much about heart disease that suddenly he is afraid to walk to the mail box," she said. "It is as if he had been sent home from his job on permanent disability. Sometimes I think imagining his malaise makes him feel better about not going off to work every day..."

She thinks it would be a good idea if all retirement plans provided a phase-out period, a shorter work week for a man who is retiring until he decides he has had it.

Another woman volunteered that the most difficult part of the whole thing is "the new home arrangement."

"... For one thing, your husband is there from morning until night looking over your shoulder. He notices how often you clean the hall closet ... that you may have put too much bleach in the wash water for the socks ... that you juggle the check book and stash some bills from one month to another ... the frequency of club luncheons and meetings. It is almost as if he never knew you belonged to a bowling club, even though he once bragged about your trophies." Her husband's favorite phrases have become "where are you going?" and "where have you been?" When she is on the telephone he asks, "to whom are you speaking?"

The woman whose husband had been retired longest (four years) proved to be a consolation to the group. "It takes time for him to reconcile to the no-work phase of his life. Some of our retired friends build things; one has taken on a volunteer job working with youth; others are interested in golf and fishing. In fact, one of my friends complained that she sees less of her husband now than when he was working."

She advises women to re-structure their own lives before their husbands retire, especially if they are much younger than their husbands. She suggests,

... Several years before he retires the couple should become active with other couples. Gourmet clubs, bridge clubs, golf clubs, country club, political club and church groups offer such opportunities.

... If you are a typical club-woman with many clubs which require volunteer services, phase that part of it out gradually. You don't want your husband to feel that he has no activity to match yours. If you notice that he does have things to occupy his time during the day, you can always resume chairmanships for your organization or whatever.

... Anyone who can afford it should travel, in her opinion. She and her husband get away a lot of the time and he spends a great deal of his time making plans for the next trip. She bought him a fly-tying outfit and was astounded "how much time a man can spend at such a thing." He has tied fishing flies for everyone they know, she says.

One important thing in her opinion is to build the man's ego. One day he seemed young and vigorous going off to work. Now that he is home he may age quickly because the calendar has told him so. His wife must convince him that nothing has changed except the opportunity to begin a new adventure ... to relax and enjoy it.

Installation Held By Eastern Star

GRIFTON—The 1975-76 officers of Grifton Chapter No. 134, Order of The Eastern Star, were installed in ceremonies at the Masonic Temple Wednesday evening.

On arrival guests were greeted by Worthy Matron Mamie Dodd Jackson and Worthy Patron John Glenn. Presiding at the register was Mrs. Wesley Creech.

The chapter room was decorated with an Easter motif. Easter baskets holding colored eggs were placed on the desks of the secretary and treasurer with banners hung on the north and south walls.

The retiring Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron assumed their stations and a welcome was extended to the guests and members. Mrs. Glenn Whitfield Garner, Associate Grand Conductress of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina, was recognized as installing officer. She introduced those who would assist her: Effie R. Johnson, Installing Marshall; Daisy W. King, Installing Chaplain; and Lena F. Langston, Installing Organist.

After the 1974-75 officers retired, the following officers were installed: Mrs. Edna F. Murphy, Worthy Matron; Wilbur C. Murphy, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Jean Dodd Creech, Associate Matron; John Glenn, Associate Patron; Mrs. Inez P. Sumrell, Secretary; Mrs. Jewell M. Johnson, Treasurer; Mrs. Mamie Dodd Jackson, Conductress; Mrs. Oletta J. Butler, Associate Conductress;

Mrs. Louise J. McCotter, Chaplain; Mrs. Nannie J. Cameron, Marshall; Mrs. Ruby P. Eubanks, Organist; Mrs. Ella H. Hoffman, Adah; Mrs. Becky W. Glenn, Ruth; Mrs. Virginia B. Daniels, Esther; Mrs. Louise J. Rouse, Electa; Mrs. Christine M. Jackson, Warder and Mr. Joseph W. Gilbert, Sentinel.

Following the installation ceremony, Mrs. Murphy made her acceptance speech, thanking the installing officers and Grifton Chapter. Murphy then made his acceptance speech.

A Past Matron's gift was presented to Mrs. Jackson by her daughter, Mrs. Jean Dodd

Jackson, and a gift was presented to Past Patron John Glenn by his wife, Becky W. Glenn on behalf of the chapter.

A dedicational prayer was given by Glenn and following the singing of the closing song, the Mizpah benediction was said in unison.

A social hour followed in the lodge dining room, which was also decorated with an Easter motif. The refreshment table was covered with a white cut-work cloth and centered with an Easter Egg tree decorated with colored velvet eggs. Auxiliary tables were centered with Easter baskets and burning yellow candles in crystal holders. Mrs. Louise J. McCotter was chairman of decorations. Mrs. Inez Wall and Mrs. Christine Jackson were on the refreshment committee.

Included on the guest list were members from Kinston and Ayden chapters.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Mildred Cantrell McKinney announces the engagement of her daughter, Nancy Lee, to Wallace Taylor VanNortwick, son of Dr. and Mrs. William A. VanNortwick of Jacksonville, Fla., and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Oliver VanNortwick of Greenville, N.C. The bride-elect is also the daughter of Mr. Charles B. McKinney. The wedding will take place Aug. 9.

I don't know what to accept as truth out of the pages of history anymore.

The movies have me believing the Pony Express broke their bones carrying Cross-Your-Heart bras to Rhonda Fleming, and television has me convinced we would have won the battle of Saratoga had we not broken for a Supp-Hose commercial and blown our concentration.

Everytime I see those Shell Oil Co. squibs on the Bicentennial telling how it was, I get a twinge of panic of how this generation will be interpreted another hundred years from now.

Hopefully, someone will put this column in a hermetically sealed mayonnaise jar so that observers of this country in the year 2075 will know the truth.

"We left the cities in the early 1950s heading toward a vast expanse of undeveloped land... no water, no sewers, no schools, and a three-month wait for phone service.

"But we were lucky. We planted trees and crab grass came up. We planted schools and taxes came up. We planted septic tanks and that wasn't the smartest thing we ever did.

"The adjustments were brutal but friendships sprouted up among the pioneers who shared the same floor plan, the same lamp in the picture window, the same monthly prin. and int. payments, at the same little bank.

"The first winter we lost more than half of the original brave settlers. Several lost their way in cul-de-sacs and winding streets with the same name and couldn't find their way home. Other poor devils perished trying to merge from our exit onto the freeway to the city. One was attacked by a fast-growing evergreen that the builder planted near his front door. (We named a school after him.)

"There wasn't a day that went by that we weren't threatened by forces from the city...salesmen of storm doors, Tupperware ladies, traffic lights, encyclopedia salesmen, lawn mower pushers and Golden Arches everywhere.

"It was lonely. In the long evenings when the sun went down, these adventurous nomads would sit on their patios and when someone would sneeze eight houses down, the entire band of settlers would yell in unison, 'GESUNDHEIT!'

"March 6, 1968 is a date that will live in infamy. It was the day a washer repairman appeared over the horizon only 12 years after he was called.

"Yes, these settlers bravely faced TV dinners, new PTA's, garage sales, car pools, Sunday drivers, Little Leagues, horse privileges, and lights from the shopping centers, but they relentlessly hung in there...and that's how it was in the suburbs 100 years ago!"

'Harmless' Game Can Be Cruel

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Ned and I have been married for seven years, and we have one child. Our marriage is far from perfect, but it's a lot better than most.

My biggest problem is that Ned loves to tickle me. Now, please don't laugh, Abby, because it's not funny. I mean, Ned holds me down, and tickles my ribs and the bottoms of my feet until I am screaming and nearly hysterical.

Ned also likes to tickle our little girl, and she doesn't like it either.

I've begged Ned to stop this tickling business, but he insists that it's all in fun—that people enjoy laughing, so I shouldn't get angry with him.

What is your opinion?

TICKLED (NEARLY TO DEATH)

DEAR TICKLED: Ned may not know it, but "tickling" is an ancient form of torture. If he continues to tickle you, knowing that you dislike it, he is being intentionally sadistic.

Tickling one beyond his ability to tolerate it may appear to be a "harmless" game—all in fun—but in reality it's downright cruel.

DEAR ABBY: My husband left me three years ago. At first I thought he would come back, but he never did. I was seven months pregnant at the time.

He just took off, and I never heard from him again. To tell you the truth, I don't even know if he's living or dead. And I wouldn't have the foggiest notion of where to look for him.

Now for my big problem: I met a guy who loves me, and wants to marry me and adopt my child. I want to marry him, but how can I get married when I am not even divorced?

All the lawyers around here talk double talk. Isn't there a mail-order divorce I can send for?

OUT IN THE BOONDOCKS

DEAR OUT: Sorry, a mail-order divorce wouldn't be worth the paper it was printed on, so forget it. Look around for a lawyer who talks single, if you want to BE single, which is absolutely necessary before you can get married again.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are going to be married this June. She will graduate from high school the end of May. We would like to know if it would be proper to send graduation and wedding announcements in the same envelope? It would save time and money.

And can we kill two birds with one stone and send one thank-you note for graduation and wedding gifts?

WONDERING IN N.W.

DEAR WONDERING: The graduation and wedding announcements should be sent separately. And so should the thank-you notes.

DEAR ABBY: Student, Henry County Sr. High, McDonough, Ga., wrote: "I have learned to love according to character, not color."

If the late Martin Luther King, Jr. (himself a Georgian) were alive today, he would have been proud. For he once said: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."

Potential Electricity Savings

A bill has been approved by the House Utilities Committee that can potentially mean big savings for local electric customers.

The Electricities bill paves the way for state municipalities to construct their own generating facilities.

There are many many municipally owned electric systems in the state. Most of them were established at the turn of the century, when the need for electricity was seen, but the private companies would not extend the lines to serve them.

As a result the municipals set up their own systems even to the point of building their own generating plants as the law allowed. As the years went by, the relatively small plants became inefficient to operate and the municipals turned to the private companies to purchase electricity on a wholesale basis. Many municipals still kept their own distribution systems, however.

As the cost of electricity increased, the idea developed of municipals returning to generating their own power. The only way this could be done was by the municipalities joining together to build a big enough facility to serve all of them. In this way a plant could be built that would operate at peak efficiency.

Municipal representatives found, however, that though they had the power to build generating facilities individually, it was not legal for them to do this collectively.

That was the reason for the introduction of the bill will allow the municipalities to build a joint generating facility.

There doesn't seem to be too much opposition to the bill which will affect 72 municipally-owned electric systems.

The legislation is permissive and in no way requires the cities to continue with the plans if they prove unfeasible.

We think there can be great benefits to the cities which own their electric systems in carrying out joint electric generating plans.

Thus the passage of the bill by this Legislature is most important to all of us who live in areas served by municipalities. The approval of the bill by the House Utilities Committee is a giant step forward for these efforts.

THIS AFTERNOON Planning During Slowdown

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Boom-town development of North Carolina's mountain region has slowed sharply, and halted in some cases, as the recession grips tightly the building and development trades.

But now is not the time for a growth at any cost mentality, says State Senator Willis P. Whichard, D-Durham, who has again taken up the banner of land use planning.

One of the leading crusaders in recent years for land management legislation, Whichard helped ramrod the Coastal Land Use legislation from his seat in the House of Representatives.

Having moved across the rotunda to the Senate, he is now principal sponsor of the companion Mountain Area Management Bill — legislation which closely tracks the laws adopted and now in effect for coastal counties.

Basic Plan

Essentially, the land management legislation calls for identifying sensitive "areas of environmental concern" in which growth and development will be controlled; demands each county and municipality within the land management area to create detailed and long-range development plans; and sets up a supervisory commission to oversee the program.

Both the coastal measure now in effect, and the mountain proposal were prompted by numerous examples of industrial, residential, and recreational developments which threatened the ecology and future attractiveness of the areas involved.

But the recessionary slowdown has promoted some to say that the Mountain Area Management proposal is not needed.

"In my judgment they could not be more wrong," says Whichard. "The only positive feature of the current economic situation is that it does give us some breathing room . . . some time to plan for the future growth that will inevitably occur. We should use this time wisely for that purpose."

"We will not find that kind of future we want for our mountain region by accident. We can no longer afford to risk the potential adverse consequences of probing into the future without first assessing where we are, where we hope to go, and the options available for getting there," Whichard said.

As in the coastal land use measure, considerable time for drawing up local plans, setting up a commission, and installing a permit system is provided: local land use plans would become due 27 months after the July 1, 1975 effective date in the legislation; a permit system would become due 44 months after the proposal is passed by the General Assembly; and the first public hearings on designating areas of environmental concern would be held within 30 to 180 days following July 1, 1975.

Certain Areas

Again tracking features of the coastal law, the mountain bill proposes geographic features to identify mountain areas.

The counties bounded or intersected by the Blue Ridge, Great Smoky, Sauratown, Brushy, or South mountains, and in which there are trout waters so labeled by the Wildlife Resources Commission, would be included in the mountain area.

In coastal counties, areas of environmental concern included outstanding dune and rock formations, marshes, beaches, waterways, etc.

In mountain counties, areas of environmental concern would likely include areas over 4,500 feet in elevation; steep slopes with a grade over 40 per cent; areas close to state or national park entrances; the Blue Ridge Parkway area; and "other important national features" to be determined by the proposed Mountain Resources Commission.

Whichard anticipates opposition to the mountain land management proposal; the coastal measure was adopted only after a long and often bitter struggle and much compromising. The mountain proposal was introduced along with the coastal bill last year, but withdrawn to wait progress on the eastern measure first.

"Planning for the future growth of the mountain area is inevitable," Whichard said. "If this legislation is enacted, that planning will involve substantial local input and will be done with state and federal funding."

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK Paying The Added Costs

Let me come back, if I may, to this matter of "utilization review." If you receive hospital care under Medicaid or Medicare — or for that matter, if you merely pay federal taxes — this bureaucratic contrivance will cost you money, and it won't do you much good.

"Utilization review" is the short title given to the elaborate rules and regulations laid down last November over the signature of Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. These rules and regulations, running to 15 columns of fine print in the Federal Register, were to have become effective in February. The effective date now has been postponed to July 1.

In brief, if one may be brief, the rules require that within 24 hours after a Medicaid or Medicare patient is admitted to a hospital, a review committee, using predetermined criteria or "norms," must determine whether the admission is medically necessary. If a patient's stay is extended beyond the "norm," the extension must also be reviewed and justified. A review committee cannot include any doctor who is professionally involved in the patient's care. Neither can a committee include any doctor who has any financial interest in any hospital.

One purpose of utilization review is to deter abuse of the Medicare and Medicaid programs, which together cost $17 billion a year. Another purpose is to improve the quality of hospital care. These are commendable purposes, but doctors throughout the nation — especially those attached to small rural hospitals—are turning apoplectic. They resent the implication that they are ripping off the government. They resent the time and expense. And putting resentments to one side, they say flatly that small institutions cannot comply.

The doctors' protest began in Oklahoma, gained momentum in Louisiana, and last month caught fire in Arizona. Six hospitals in the Phoenix area gave Weinberger notice that they will reject utilization review, even if it means turning away Medicare and Medicaid patients.

Dr. John H. Jarvis of Mesa Provides some figures in point. The six Phoenix hospitals put their costs of compliance with utilization review at $2,565 per day, or somewhere in the neighborhood of $935,000 a year. Someone will have to pay these added costs. Guess who?

The Arizona estimate is based upon $15 per new patient. In New York State, where 415 hospitals admit 2.7 million patients annually, the cost of utilization review is estimated at $11 per new patient, or $25 million a year. An Illinois study puts the cost at $20 per patient.

These ballpark estimates may involve elements of scare talk. But at a conservative guess, we are talking of added hospital costs in the nation as a whole of $300 to $500 million a year. Because the reviews conducted by the review committees naturally will have to be reviewed by government reviewers, the actual cost will be far more. This is a bureaucratic dream, and it is

Other Editors Say Nuclear Power

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The importance of nuclear power as an economic alternative to fossil fuel-based electric power was underscored as a result of the recent government-ordered shutdown of 23 nuclear power reactors across the country.

Robert N. Cleveland, executive vice president of North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation, points out that this shutdown raised the fuel charge costs for many North Carolina consumers by one-fifth.

An official of Virginia Electric and Power Company estimates the shutdown of that firm's two nuclear reactors raised the fuel costs for the owners of all-electric homes by as much as $15 a month for February and March.

VEPCO estimates that when the two reactors are returned to service in May, the company's fuel adjustment charges will drop by one-fifth.

The incident simply reinforces the position which the electric cooperatives in this state have been taking for some time—that the spiraling costs of coal and oil make it imperative for the nation to move toward greater dependence on nuclear-based power.

The shutdown of nuclear plants was ordered Jan. 30 by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to permit testing for cracks in the reactors' cooling pipes. Fortunately, all but two of the 23 boiling water nuclear power reactors scheduled for inspection have passed the tests, and most are already back in operation.

Increasing the percentage of electricity which is nuclear-based must be given a high priority in order to reduce the current cost of power and prepare for the time when the world's fossil fuel supply will be exhausted.

A new report from the National Academy of Sciences shows that previous estimates of oil supplies may have been way out of line—possibly twice as high as they should have been.

The report estimates that most of the world's oil will be exhausted within 50 years.

Obviously this means something has to be done—and soon—to shift the country's energy dependence away from fossil fuels. Until other energy sources are developed, we must become more dependent on nuclear power, whether we like it or not.

The INSIDE REPORT Why S. Vietnam Collapsed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The collapse in South Vietnam, so stunning and unexpected in both Washington and Hanoi, can be traced to disastrous interaction between President Nguyen Van Thieu's personality — authoritarian, stubborn but impulsive — with new military conditions.

For the White House to cast all blame on congressional reduction of military aid is propagandistic overkill, privately admitted as such by expert administration analysts. Even farther from the truth are American doves, dancing on South Vietnam's grave and proclaiming "insurgent" victory in a "civil war" as proof of their own rectitude.

Undeniable demoralization caused by diminished U.S. support cannot in itself explain crack units of the South Vietnamese army (ARVN) dissolving without firing a shot. Nor can this be rationalized as a Communist political triumph. Actually, fear of Communism helped produce panic that turned Thieu's attempts to cope with reduced military means into tragedy.

Understanding of the collapse must begin with this bedrock reality: not even in their most euphoric stage have old Vietnam hands ever felt the ARVN could match the blend of discipline and fanaticism instilled into North Vietnamese troops by a police state.

Against the world's finest infantrymen, Saigon has had two equalizers the past decade. The primary equalizer: the threat of U.S. bombers devastating the North Vietnamese homeland, viewed with apprehension by the politburo in Hanoi so long as Richard M. Nixon was in the White House no matter what Congress prohibited. The secondary equalizer: superior firepower and mobility supplied the ARVN by Washington. Those equalizers became even more vital after Saigon was forced to sign the January 1973 ceasefire that provided no enforcement of Communist compliance.

Communist capture three months ago of Phuoc Binh, then only the second provincial capital to fall in the second Indochinese war, exposed disintegration of the two equalizers — a transcendent development duly noted in both Hanoi and Saigon, Hanoiologists here believe the absence of U.S. reaction to Phuoc Binh's fall finally convinced the politburo that American bombers would menace the north no longer. That battle also brought home to Saigon the contrast between North Vietnamese regulars, splendidly supplied by Moscow and Peking, and the ARVN with no new equipment or spare parts received this fiscal year thanks to congressional cuts (which limited U.S. aid to fuel and ammunition).

Emboldened by Phuoc Binh, Hanoi last month struck at Ban Me Thuot. Loss

Consumer Confidence Still Low

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Administration officials profess to seeing signs that the worst of the recession is coming to an end, but so far no element of economic society seems to be deriving inspiration from the vision.

Consumer confidence is said by the pollsters to be on the rise again, but you won't find convincing evidence of this in some parts of the marketplace.

Domestic automobile sales slid in March, following the ending of some rebate programs, and analysts of that industry now say that sales at bargaining prices during February came at the expense of midsummer sales.

In other words, people who already were going to buy cars moved up the date of purchase. That removes them as future sales prospects, and car dealers are now wondering what they'll have to do in order to create sales enthusiasm later this spring.

Consumers continue to pare their debt. Installment loans are being paid off and new commitments avoided. Whether the tax rebate changes this trend remains to be seen.

Business also is slow to spend. Capital spending plans are lower than they were a year ago, which suggests some corporation are going to sit back and wait for a resumption of demand before committing dollars.

The stock market surge seemed to spread confidence, for a while at least, but many analysts now have turned decidedly cautious, fearful of what they euphemistically call a correction.

Sizeable profits were made on paper, and now there is a distinct feeling among some institutions that they had better nail down those profits now — before their competitors take theirs. That type of thinking doesn't support a stock market advance.

Perhaps the biggest cloud in the sky is that big federal deficit.

While all sorts of arguments have been advanced as to why the deficit won't be a disruptive force, not many people appear convinced. The fears are these:

—A credit crunch, resulting from the big demands made in the credit markets to finance the deficit.

—Higher interest rates, for the same reason.

—A resumption of inflation

Most See A Waste

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many members of the House and the Senate say they found a feeling among constituents during the Easter recess that Cambodia and South Vietnam are lost and that any new U.S. military aid would be wasted.

But some of the lawmakers, while reporting the views of their constituents, were more cautious about describing their own sentiments and future actions. Some said they would wait until President Ford delivers his foreign policy address Thursday night.

Rep. Tom Steed, R-Okla., said: "It seems to me it's just like the folks down home said: 'It's all over but the shouting.'"

Steed, until now a staunch supporter of U.S. aid for Indochina, said he won't vote for any more.

Referring to voter sentiment, Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, said: "They're saying no, a loud, loud no."

Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., a supporter of U.S. aid, harshly criticized the South Vietnamese forces' collapse.

Montgomery said he would vote more military aid "if they've got a halfway chance" but said of his constituents: "Most of them said don't give them any more money unless they stand and fight."

However, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said congressional failure to support South Vietnam is "the most irresponsible action of the Congress of the United States in the last 100 years of our history."

Speaking in a London television interview, Reagan said the "United States should continue to support its pledge to support the South Vietnamese and Cambodia." Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—President Ford, who returned to Washington Monday night after a nine-day West Coast vacation, has directed the National Security Council to meet today to assess the situation in Vietnam.

—U.S. officials say there are indications that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong will not directly assault Saigon in the near future but instead will press for the ouster of the Electricians will begin bringing lights for the convenience of those visiting the park soon.

The beautification program was under the direction of the Garden Department of the Woman's Club. The group has planted trees and shrubs in both the park and playground which extends from Fifth Street back to the Model School.

Trees and shrubs have been donated by several organizations in the city and have been set out under the guide of a landscape architect.

The city has agreed to provide benches for the convenience of the public and playground equipment for the children.

PRAYER

What is prayer?

Prayer is a means by which God causes miracles to happen in our lives.

Miracles still happen, let us never forget that. A miracle is a spiritual process going on in our lives which causes something to happen which we ourselves could not make happen by our own efforts. It may be something as mild as a change of mood. It may be something as momentous as recovering from an illness which the doctors said would certainly be fatal. In both cases a spiritual process was at work within us and did things for us which we could not do for ourselves.

Prayer is the means by which we make it possible for God to put this spiritual process to work in our behalf. When we pray we prepare the soul for the coming of God's spirit. We do our part in bringing our spiritual life into accord with God, and when we do this, things begin to happen in a miraculous fashion.

Military withdrawal without prior planning was unlikely to succeed. What doomed it was the flood of civilian refugees which began immediately. That these refugees moved toward, not away from, the fighting to escape the Communists contradicts the crowing of American doves such as former Sen. J.W. Fulbright and Dr. Daniel Ellsberg about the people's victory in a civil war.

But the refugees made resistance impossible, spread panic and despair and perhaps unwittingly insured Communist victory. The crack 1st ARVN division, which fought valiantly in many battles, is no more — dispersed ignominiously without being defeated. Much of the elite marine division has suffered a similar fate.

The tragedy in South Vietnam cannot be compared to the disintegration of Chiang Kai-shek's army a generation ago. Unlike China in 1949, there is neither massive defection to Hanoi of government troops nor joyous welcomes to the Rather, the inevitability for Hanoi's fierce legions, firmly backed by their allies, triumphing over Saigon's less spartan forces, slowly abandoned by their great ally, has been grotesquely accelerated by the strange conduct of President Thieu, so marked by haste and anger.

the hospitals' nightmare. Physicians and hospital administrators raise this further objection: Full-blown utilization review inevitable will further jeopardize a patient's privacy. Eventually every patient's medical records — his symptoms, medical history, the treatment given, the surgery performed — will become accessible to government inspection. Such data are readily computerized. The data can be retrieved.

Dr. Jarvis warns also that under this system, the mutual decision of patient and doctor on whether to be hospitalized "would be compromised by a third party making determinations by 'cook book' instead of clinical indications." The quality of medical care would not be enhanced, but diminished.

Under the pending regulations, the full panoply of utilization review applies only to Medicare and Medicaid patients. But be forewarned: Once Congress enacts comprehensive National Health Insurance, these costly, regimented, and ineisitive procedures will affect us all. Mrs. Harlan Phillips was the guest speaker. She spoke on hobbies for retired persons.

She said everyone needs a hobby and bird watching has become hers.

It was reported the next meeting will be held in Washington on April 17 at 11:30 a.m. The members will tour Channel 7 Television Station and their guests for lunch. Reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Ruby Parkinson, 752-4822 by April 8.

Hospitality persons for April, May and September are Sarah Ashton, Ruth Garriss and Alma Letchworth.

Refreshments were served by Miss Louise Tucker, Mrs. Sarah Capwell, Mrs. Joe Cutchin, Mrs. Stella Squires and Mrs. Maggie Stroud.

On Feb. 1, 1975, a fire swept the upper floors of a building in Sao Paulo, Brazil, killing 189 persons.

TO ALL CAROLINA TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY SUBSCRIBERS

NOTICE OF HEARING DOCKET NO. P-2, SUB-B1 BEFORE THE NORTH CAROLINA UTILITIES COMMISSION

Notice is hereby given that Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company (Applicant) has made application to the North Carolina Utilities Commission for authority to increase its rates and charges for intrastate telephone service in North Carolina.

The exchanges are listed below in their proposed rate groups with the present and proposed main station rates and amounts of increase for each category. The proposed extended area service (EAS) components enclosed in parentheses are included as a part of the total increases. EAS components are additional monthly charges applicable only to those exchanges which now have local interexchange calling. The existing EAS components are included in the present rates of these exchanges. The variances in the EAS components which are added to the basic group rate necessitate the listing of each exchange as shown below.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, still taking its cues from bond market developments, broke out of a six-session slump with a broad advance today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.09 at 747.97, and gainers outpaced losers by close to a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was moderate. Analysts said the market was benefiting from some bargain hunting after the Dow's drop Monday to the area of 740—a point from which the market also rallied two weeks ago.

And they also credited buying to signs of strengthening in the bond market after some sharp declines last week.

A major factor in the weakness in stocks over the past several trading days has been concern that interest rates might be moving into an uptrend. It appeared today's stronger showing in bonds relieved that worry, at least for the moment.

Aetna Life & Casualty was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 1/4 at 21 1/2. A 100,000-share block of the issue moved at 21 1/4.

Pasco climbed 2 to 23 1/4 on top of a 2 1/2-point gain Monday on news of an offer by Standard Oil of Indiana of $220 million in cash for Pasco's Wyoming oil properties. Indiana Standard was up 1/4 at 38 this morning.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index rose .35 to 43.04 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index edged up .18 to 78.89.

Gearhart-Owen Industries, the Amex volume leader, rose 1 1/4 to 21 1/4 after a 3/4 gain Monday, when the company reported sharply higher earnings for the quarter ended Jan. 31.

Enters Plea In Slayings

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — James Ruppert pleaded innocent by reason of insanity today to an indictment charging him with killing 11 members of his family during a gathering at his mother's home Easter Sunday.

Ruppert stood between his attorneys in Butler County Common Pleas Court while a clerk read the 11 counts of the indictment.

The indictment charged Ruppert with killing his mother, Charity Ruppert, 65; another son, Leonard Ruppert, 42; Leonard's wife, Alma, 38, and their eight children, aged 4 to 17.

Judge Fred B. Cramer ordered Ruppert taken to the Butler County Forensics Center for a psychiatric examination to be conducted in the next month. He also ordered Ruppert held without bond.

Ruppert, 40, an unemployed draftsman, has been held at the Butler County Jail since his arrest the night of the shootings.

Conley Students Named To N.C. FBLA Posts

Carol Gooding, a D. H. Conley High School sophomore, was elected vice president of the North Carolina Future Business Leaders of America at the 21st Annual Leadership Conference held in Durham last weekend.

The theme for the 1975 meeting was "Founded on Pride—Strengthened on Service."

Linda Mills, a junior from Conley, was elected to fill the position of chairman of District 1. There are eight educational districts in North Carolina.

Highlights of the annual conference other than the election of new officers included the first general session with Gene Causby, assistant superintendent for Personal Relations and Public Affairs

Rose High Students At 2 Statewide Meetings

Ten Rose High juniors and seniors, members of the Vocational Industrial Club of America (VICA) and the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) attended separate statewide competitions last week.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 3, 4 and 5, five students of the local Industrial Cooperative Training (ICT) program were in Winston-Salem for the annual VICA contest. Cecil Heath, an instructor and the club's advisor, attended with four students — Donald Moore, electrical trades; Tim Price, an observer of the masonry program; Virginia Anderson, delegate; and Susan Laughinghouse, a participant in the dental assistant program.

Student membership in VICA is composed of juniors and seniors, boys and girls, with boys predominating in the membership. The program includes drafting, masonry, cabinet making, carpentry and industrial cooperative training. The industrial training program has a study-work program which involves both classroom study and practical on the job training during part of the day.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 4, 5 and 6, four girls, all members of the Rose chapter of Future Business Leaders of America, accompanied by instructor Mrs. Clara Carr, attended the annual FBLA meeting in Durham.

On student, Charlene Harper, took second place statewide in the senior stenography competition. Other students attending were Mona Rogers, who reported on an outstanding project; Cheri Berkey, clerical; Rachelle Longnecker, reporting on the Christmas bazaar; and Linda Braddy, a junior accountant.

As second place winner statewide in her field, Miss Harper will be eligible to attend the national competition to be held in Miami in June.

The national competition level for students in the VICA program will be held in Washington in June.

Housing...

Commissioners approved the attendance of two staff members and one board member at the annual meeting of the Carolinas Council of Housing, Redevelopment and Code Officials April 27-30 in Myrtle Beach, S.C. Attendance by one staff member and one commissioner at the Southeast Regional Council's annual meeting in Miami Beach June 15-18 was also authorized.

Laney said that the Authority will have two men assigned to its maintenance staff under provisions of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) authorized by Congress. The program is administered through the Employment Security Commission and personnel are assigned to the various public agencies through the county.

PTA MEETING

The Sadie Sautter PTA meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Elmhurst PTA Meets Thursday

The April meeting of the Elmhurst School PTA will be held Thursday at 8:00 p.m. A fine arts program will be presented.

There will be performances by the fifth and sixth grade band and chorus and a stringed music group with participants from all grade levels. There will also be an art exhibit with every pupil being represented.

All parents and others interested in the school and its program are invited.

Bible Study To Be On Thursday

A Bible study will be held at the home of Mrs. Alma Hailey, 1804-A Kennedy Circle, Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Inetta Fleming will be the guest speaker. The public is invited to attend.

Nuggets Rally; Gain Second Win Over Utah

By JOHN MOSSMAN
AP Sports Writer
DENVER (AP) — The Denver Nuggets, overcoming a 10-point deficit in the final quarter on the play of forward Bobby Jones and guards Mack Calvin and Ralph Simpson, have moved into a commanding position in their American Basketball Association playoff series with Utah.

The Nuggets' 126-120 triumph Monday night gave them a 2-0 edge in their best-of-seven Western Division series. The third and fourth games will be played in Salt Lake City Wednesday and Friday.

In the only other ABA playoff game Monday night, the Indiana Pacers turned back the San Antonio Spurs 98-93 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 first-round series.

East Carolina University's Pirates found out too late that they had a chance to get back into the Southern Conference race yesterday. Front-runner Davidson lost its second game of the season in a split with William & Mary.

But by the time the Pirates heard about it, they had lost the big one to Richmond, bowing 6-2, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Bucs came back to take a 7-2 victory in the nightcap, but it was meaningless. Only the first game counted in the Southern Conference standings.

The loss dropped the Pirate Southern Conference record down to 3-4 in the league, and virtually ended their hopes of successfully defending their championship of last year. Davidson, by losing dropped into second place with a 5-2 record, while The Citadel, a team the Bucs have still to meet, is now on top at 2-1. Richmond is now 3-2 in the league, while Furman is 5-2.

Overall, East Carolina is still at .500 with a 9-9 record. Richmond fell off to 6-10.

Errors and bonehead plays helped the Pirates to get into a jam in the first game. They fell behind in the first inning on three first inning runs, all unearned. Richmond added two in the fifth, one of them coming on a mental error, and the other run crossed in the eighth.

The Pirates got one of their runs off Ron Staggs' fifth homer of the year. That raised his career total to 14, a new school record, and his runs scored total to 51, also a new career mark. Staggs now holds every career hitting record at East Carolina with the exception of triples. The mark of seven, however, could be broken by him. He currently has four.

Richmond chased starter Steve Herring early. With one down, Pat Waguespack reached on an outfield error. Bob Mitchell followed with a single and Charles Talley walked to load the bases. Tony Schriener grounded back to third, where Geoff Beaton put the tag on Mitchell as Waguespack went home. Mitchell, however, knocked the ball loose from Beaton, and everyone was safe. Herring then walked Steve Gordon to force in Mitchell, and the new hurler, Dean Reavis, walked Chris Williams, bringing in Talley for a 3-0 lead.

Richmond came up with two more in the fifth. Mitchell led off with a walk, then stole his 10th base of the year, a new Richmond record. With one down, Schriener singled to center, moving Mitchell to third. Gordon then doubled up the alley in left center, scoring Mitchell and putting Schriener on third. Williams then grounded back to shortstop Ken Gentry, who put the tag on Gordon on the basepaths. Schriener, who had held up on third, decided to make a dash for home as he saw Gentry watching Williams lug it into first. By the time Gentry realized the runner was heading home, it was too late.

The Bucs got out of a jam in the sixth when Waguespack tripled with two away, but died on third. The other Spider run came in the eighth. Stan Cross singled and Leo Whitlow ran for him. Bob Vernon walked and both were sacrificed up. Mitchell singled to drive in Whitlow, but Vernon was cut down trying to score.

East Carolina got its first run in the fourth, ending a 26 and 2-3 sting of scoreless innings by Spider hurler Jeff Boteler. That run came off a 360-foot blast to the opposite field by Staggs. The Bucs kept the rally alive as Glenn Card singled and Don Lee reached on an error. An intentional walk loaded the bases with two out, but the rally died there.

The other Buc run came in the seventh. With two down, Jack Elkins reached on a double error, moving to second, where Pete Paradossi took over to run. A wild pitch advanced him to third and Beaton singled to drive him in.

Richmond grabbed the early lead in the second game, too. That came in the second when Talley led off with a single and Mitchell followed with another hit. With one down, Williams reached on an infield hit. Lynn Gillette hit a grounder into the hole at short, and the only play, to third, was not in time, letting Talley score and keeping the bases loaded. Vernon then grounded back to second, scoring Mitchell.

Only once more did hurler Joe Heavner allow a Spider to reach second, and that came in the final inning with a walk and a single with none out put men in scoring position. But a fly ball and a double play ended the contest.

East Carolina had lost a threat in the first and second when runners got as far as third but tied there.

In the third, however, they pushed over six big runs to wrap it up. Beaton led off, reaching on an error. With one down, Staggs doubled and Joe Roenker walked. Don Lee singled to right, scoring both Beaton and Staggs to tie the game. Bobby Harrison's grounder was played to home, but wasn't in time to get Roenker. Paradossi then reached on an infield chopper, scoring Lee. Harrison and Paradossi both scored on a hit by Gentry, who was out at second trying to stretch it to a double.

The other run came over in the fourth. Bryant singled and stole second. He scored on Staggs' second hit of the game.

The Pirates return home on Saturday, playing host to William & Mary in a single Southern Conference game at 3 p.m.

Falcons Nip Rose Thinclads

Rose High School and Bertie fought right down to the wire yesterday in a dual track meet, with the Falcons coming out as the eventual winner, 74-62.

The two teams split the two relay events, but Bertie came away with firsts in eight individual events, while Rose won just six, and that made the big difference in the meet.

Each team had two double winners. Doug Paschal took both the shot put and the discus for the Rampants, setting a new school record of 53 feet, 5 inches in the former. Lindberg Morris took the 220-yard dash and the triple jump for the other Rose dual victory.

For Bertie, Marvin Rankins won both of the hurdles events, while Uguhart took the mile and the 880-yard run.

The Rampants return to action Thursday, hosting Rocky Mount and Wilson.

Indians Kayo Davidson Nine

By The Associated Press

William and Mary probably won't win the Southern Conference baseball championship, but the Indians have turned what appeared to be a three-team race into at least a four-way scrap for the title.

A one-hit pitching job by Mark Kelliher in the second game of a Monday doubleheader gave the Indians a 2-0 victory over Davidson that dropped the Wildcats, who had won the opener 3-2, into a tie for the lead with The Citadel's Bulldogs.

Davidson is now 6-2 in the conference and The Citadel, which dropped a 4-2 nonleague decision Monday night at South Carolina, is 3-1.

Right behind are Furman's Paladins at 5-2, and Richmond's Spiders got into contention at 3-2 with a 6-2 victory over East Carolina in the first game of a twin bill. The defending champion Pirates, 3-4, won the nightcap 7-2, but it didn't count in the league standings.

In another nonconference game Monday, Virginia Military's Keydets were beaten by Virginia's Cavaliers 11-1.

Davidson, 13-8 over-all, broke a 2-2 tie in its opener in the seventh inning when Dale Horner singled, moved to third on a sacrifice and fielders' choice and scored on George Weicker's double. Tim Barr pitched a four-hitter for the Wildcats.

David McElhaney's fourth inning homer gave Kelliher the only run he needed in the nightcap, but the Indians, 2-5 in the league and 6-8 over-all, added a run in the fifth on Tom Dolan's double and Steve Goad's single.

The Wildcats loaded the bases in the seventh on their only hit, Mitch Stone's double, and two walks, but Kelliher got out of the jam.

Jeff Boteler stopped East Carolina on four hits for Richmond in the game that counted. The Spiders scored three unearned runs in the first inning on an error, Bobby Mitchell's hit, another error and two bases-loaded walks. Ron Staggs homered for one Pirate run.

Richmond, 6-10 over-all, bunched four of its six hits in the second inning of the nightcap for two runs, but East Carolina, 9-9, scored six in the third as Don Lee and Ken Gentry had two-run singles. Staggs set school career records for homers, 14, and runs scored, 52.

John Cunningham allowed two hits, walked six and struck out 11 as Virginia, 9-8, belted VMI, 1-8.

McGinnis, Dr. J Tie For Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — After the kind of seasons that George McGinnis and Julius Erving had, how can you choose between them as the best player in the American Basketball Association?

You can't — and that's why both are the league's "Most Valuable Player" this year.

For the first time in pro basketball history, the highest individual prize will be shared — by McGinnis of the Indiana Pacers and Erving of the New York Nets.

They were named as co-winners Monday in balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, three from each of the league's 10 cities. McGinnis and Erving got 11 votes apiece, while Denver's Mack Calvin drew six votes and teammate Bobby Jones the remaining two.

"It's a great honor to again be selected and to share the MVP award with a player of the caliber of George," noted Erving, a fourth-year player who won the prize last year while leading the Nets to the ABA championship.

The 6-8 McGinnis, a second-year player who captured the league scoring title with a 29.8 average, said of his award, "I'm very happy and quite honored to be selected. Julius has been there before, but it's the first time for me. As an individual, it's the top honor a player in my profession can earn."

New Bern Girls Top A-G, Conley

NEW BERN—Strong New Bern rolled to a big victory in a four-way track meet held yesterday on the Lady Bear's track. New Bern piled up 104½ points to easily outdistance second place Ayden-Grifton, which finished with 59 points. Conley was third with 22½ points, while Eastern Wayne had 22.

The Lady Bears won seven individual events, while Ayden-Grifton took three. Conley won one. New Bern took all three of the relay events.

Cindy Brown of Ayden-Grifton was a double winner, taking the long jump and the 100-yard dash. Williford of New Bern took both of the hurdle events.

Ayden-Grifton travels to Southern Nash on Thursday, while Conley is next in action at Elm City next Tuesday.

Recruiting: Rat Race Where Winning Is Goal

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stories about recruiting of high school athletes for the nation's college sports programs can be frightening.

Two high school officials in New York were quoted as saying they had no qualms about changing grades on a transcript. From other parts of the country come stories about offers of cars, cash, apartments, women, jobs for Mom and Dad.

Although many of the stories are not true, some are. Recruiting by colleges for the best high school athletes has become a very big and competitive business. Some say it is a race in which humans are bought and sold—a rat race in which winning is the only goal.

College coaches say good recruiting is a necessary evil if they are to develop a winning sports program which, in turn, will result in sell-out crowds, television exposure and post-season competition.

The economic dividends from a winning team, especially in a time of spiraling inflation, puts tremendous pressure on a college coach to make his team number one.

The search for talent brought by that pressure is now on in earnest across the country. A good high school basketball player who is a senior may be besieged this week. The best ones, the blue chippers—the Moses Malones—may be living in their own hell because they are the ones to whom the inducements may be offered.

Wednesday is the national signing date, the day when one NCAA school can sign a prospect and be assured no other NCAA school can get him.

"Every infraction deals with the blue chipper," says NCAA investigator Bill Hunt. "I've had a kid tell me that a coach told him he had a wife and two kids, and that he'd lose his job if the kid didn't go to his school. That makes you sick to your stomach, but it reflects how the coach may very well feel."

The search for talent is especially acute in basketball, because a Wilt Chamberlain, a Lew Alcindor, a Bill Walton, can turn a team around and take it to a national title.

With the intense drive to become No. 1, illegal recruiting becomes a very important factor in the search for the blue-chip athlete. But there is great disparity over how widespread violations occur.

For instance, the NCAA's Infractions Committee met in New Orleans two weeks ago to hear reports from the NCAA staff. Despite nearly 700 member institutions, chief investigator Warren Brown said only seven cases on improper recruiting were presented to the committee.

The schools have 15 days from notification by the committee to appeal to the NCAA Council. If the school does not appeal, the ruling and penalties are made public, which means that the sanctions against some schools might be announced later this week.

Although the NNA refuses to discuss its investigations in any way, some schools reported to be under investigation in recent months have been Canisius, Clemson, Detroit, New Mexico, Louisiana State, Tennessee, Oklahoma State, Seton Hall, Maryland and Oberlin.

If the NCAA finds that a school broke its rules, the penalty could range from a reprimand, the mildest form of sanction, to expulsion.

The NCAA's stiffest penalty was handed to Southwestern Louisiana in 1973, banning the school from intercollegiate basketball competition for two years.

Other penalties include probation and a ban on any post-season play; penalties to the individual coaches and players involved; a reduction in the school's number of grants-in-aid; curtailment of recruiting; returning money from post-season games, and forfeiture of games.

Although most coaches and athletic officials are reluctant to discuss illegal recruiting except to say they don't think it is widespread, there are constant reminders that it is in the forefront of their thinking.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, says, "The procurement of talent is one of the most vital things in any organization where you have a team. And in sports it's vital; it is the vital thing."

"So when you look at college athletes, I think the most unfortunate problem has been recruiting. Most of the stigma and most of the unpleasant things that you hear about college athletics comes in the recruiting process. I think someone should have some sympathy for the colleges in attempting to restrain the excesses of recruiting while at the same time giving the prospect a fair opportunity...to make up his mind."

During the NCAA basketball tournament, Bill Foster, head coach at Duke and incoming president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, went on national television three times in an effort to persuade the public from believing illegal recruiting is widespread.

"Most coaches and institutions do not break recruiting rules, knowingly or otherwise," Foster said in a spot written by the NCAA. "Rumor and occasional severe infractions give a generally false impression."

"Also false is the assumption that it takes more than a permissible grant-in-aid to recruit an outstanding player. Actually, when many different college are recruiting a young man, every move by each institution usually is known by its competitors."

Others disagree, saying college basketball is in for its own Watergate because of the widespread abuses now going on.

At a recent seminar, Byers called on coaches and athletic officials to report any knowledge they had regarding possible violations. "We need a network of responsible people telling us where they think the violators are," he said. "We will check them out."

"They talk about recruiting violations and guys with bad grades and so forth," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell, one of the nation's most successful recruiters. "Normally speaking, all that is over-emphasized. For example, if all the recruiting violations went on that people say went on, then everybody would be on probation."

"I can tell you this, and most of the coaches in the country are the same way, if I knew somebody was breaking a rule, I'd turn them in a minute and I know they would turn me in."

On the other hand, Joe Paterno, highly successful Penn State football coach, said he knew of, and had proof of, recruiting violations by other schools, but did not report them.

"I don't think it's my job to turn them in," he said. "Say I have information on a certain coach. He's been hired by this school and given carte blanche to win at any cost. I don't think I should be in a position to cause a coach to lose his job when our whole society has produced this attitude."

Under NCAA rules, a school may legally offer a high school prospect a grant-in-aid, including tuition and fees, room and board, books and supplies which are required for the student's courses and $15 a month for incidental expenses. Nothing more.

However, rumors persist that some schools, or over-

Expo Rookie Turns Opening Into Party

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Today Gary Carter is a man. Monday night he was Superman.

The rookie catcher-outfielder of the Montreal Expos turned 21 today after throwing a party for himself at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals. He smacked two singles and a three-run homer, driving in four runs as the Expos opened the baseball season with an 8-4 triumph over Bob Gibson and the Cards.

In other National League openers, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 in 14 innings and the Houston Astros trimmed the Atlanta Braves 6-2.

The only American League game saw Nolan Ryan fire a three-hitter, striking out 12, while the California Angels rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth to edge the Kansas City Royals 3-2.

With outfielders Bob Bailey and Rich Coggins sidelined, the Expos used rookie Tony Scott in left field and Carter, the No. 1 catcher in the minor leagues last year, in right. Scott's two-out, two-run double in the eighth inning off Bob Gibson gave the Expos a 5-4 lead and Carter, who nicked Gibson for a run-scoring single in the first, wrapped it up in the ninth with his three-run homer off a high fast ball from Elias Sosa.

"I'll tell you this was a heck of a birthday present," said Carter, who hit .407 in nine games at the end of last season, batted .321 in spring training and is hitting a cool .750 this year ... albeit with 161 games left.

Reds 2, Dodgers 1
Cincinnati, which finished four games behind Los Angeles in the NL West last year, edged the Dodgers when Cesar Geronimo raced home from third base on pinch hitter George Foster's infield single off knuckleballer Charlie Hough with two out in the bottom of the 14th.

The Dodgers took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Don Gullett issued consecutive walks to Jimmy Wynn and Ferguson and Garvey singled. The Reds tied it against Don Sutton in the sixth on singles by Rose, Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion.

Astros 6, Braves 2
Houston's Jose Cruz took advantage of an interference call against Atlanta catcher Vic Correll with a tie-breaking three-run homer, capping a five-run fifth-inning rally against Phil Niekro that erased a 2-0 deficit.

Cesar Cedeño's infield single drove in the first of five unearned runs before Milt May apparently flied out to end the inning. But plate umpire Doug Harvey ruled Correll's glove had interfered with May's bat. Cliff Johnson's double then tied the score and Cruz then clubbed his three-run shot over the right-field fence.

Angels 3, Royals 2
Rudy Meoli opened the ninth with a pinch single, California's first hit since the third inning. Steve Mingori replaced Steve Busby and the Angels loaded the bases on a walk to Morris Nettles and Mickey Rivers' bunt single. Tommy Harper drove in the tying run with a bloop single off Doug Bird and the winner came home on Bruce Bochte's sacrifice fly.

Ryan struck out more than 10 batters for the 68th time in his career. He fanned designated hitter Harmon Killebrew four times. John Mayberry's sixth-inning homer had given Kansas City a 2-1 lead.

Tigers In First Win

TARBORO—Williamston High School captured its first tennis victory of the season yesterday, downing Tarboro in a tight 5-4 match.

Williamston and Tarboro split the singles events down the middle, each winning three. Williamston then came up with two wins in a doubles to gain the victory.

Williamston is now 1-5 on the year. The Tigers play host to Plymouth on Thursday.

Summary:
Jim Manning (W) defeated Bryant Smith, 6-1, 2-6, 6-0.
James Tate (T) defeated Parnaz Green, 6-3, 6-0.

Jet Taylor (T) defeated Terry Griffin, 6-4, 6-3.

Ronald Harrison (T) defeated Frankie Norris, 7-5, 6-1.

Steve Dickens (W) defeated Jerry Holland, 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Johnny Dickens (W) defeated William Newton, 6-2, 6-1.

Manning-Griffin (W) defeated Smith-Taylor, 8-5.

Dickens-Dickens (W) defeated Roger Armstrong-Steve Wilkins, 8-1.

Lee's Caddy Has The Confidence

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lee Elder doesn't have to worry about his confidence in the Masters Golf Tournament this weekend — his caddie has enough for both of them.

"I'm No. 1," says Henry Brown, 36, a part-time cab driver who has been lugging clubs over the Augusta National course since he was 13. "I can walk this course backwards. I know every blade of grass on it. All Lee's gotta do is stay cool."

Brown asked for Elder's bag long before it became known that Lee would be the first black man to play in this prestigious invitation event.

He has caddied for Pete Cooper, Al Mengert, Art Wall and eight years for Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina.

"I would caddie for him forever," Brown said of de Vicenzo, "but he suggested I look for a younger man. He was worried about me making enough bread."

"I thought it would be nice to caddie for Lee if he ever made it."

Elder finally made it by winning the Monsanto Open at Pensacola, Fla., last year. So naturally his appearance on the scene Monday created considerable excitement.

Brown was one of the first to greet the 40-year-old Washington, D.C. pro when Elder emerged from his red limousine after driving over the circular driveway known as Magnolia Lane.

Black caddies in their picturesque white, green-trimmed overalls stood in front of the white clubhouse for hours awaiting the arrival of their golfing brother.

The vanguard of newsmen was the largest in years — topped only, one observer said, by the reporters who congregated for Bob Jones' return appearance in the inaugural event in 1934.

Brown is a sinewy man with a slight trace of a beard. A scratch golfer himself who uses a cross-handed grip, he is rated by some as good enough to play on the tour. Absence of a sponsor has prevented it.

"He is a fine caddie — I think he can beat me," said de Vicenzo.

After finishing with a creditable 69 at Greensboro Sunday for 286, scoring a double eagle on the 14th hole, Elder arrived in a good frame of mind but not very communicative.

"I'm not talking," he said. "Every time I talk I get in trouble." Reference apparently was to comments a couple of years ago criticising the Masters' strict admission rules.

"Lee is very relaxed," said Lee's wife, Rose. "Now he wants to play golf. He wants to be left alone."

Debut Of Beverly Sills At Met An 'Occasion'

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Music Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Operatic superstar Beverly Sills made her long-delayed Metropolitan Opera debut Monday night. The audience made it a superoccasion.

The air of excitement before the curtain went up on Ros-sini's "The Siege of Corinth" carried through the performance. The audience stopped the production with more than five minutes of applause after Miss Sills' big aria in the second act. During nearly 20 minutes of curtain calls at the end, fans showered the coloratura with bits of metal foil, confetti and rose petals. She caught a bouquet of white roses with one hand.

Miss Sills sounded dazzling, never shrill, tossing off the trills and cabalettas in her usual flexible, lovely and warm manner. She hit a clinker in the second act, but the enthusiastic audience applauded as much as ever.

"The Siege of Corinth" was also the opera in which Miss Sills made her debut at Milan's La Scala in 1969, and all but one of the excellent principals with her Monday were with her then: conductor Thomas Schippers, tenor Harry Theyard and bass Justino Diaz. Mezzo-soprano Shirley Verrett sang the part taken at La Scala by Marilyn Horne.

The opera had not been presented previously by the Met. Now 45, Miss Sills has been singing with the New York City Opera for 20 years. Since her sensational success in that company's 1966 production of Handel's "Julius Caesar," she has become the highest priced singer in the world and has starred at La Scala, London's Covent Garden and other major European houses. But the Met showed a marked lack of interest in her until after the retirement of general manager Sir Rudolf Bing.

Miss Sills now says the few offers Bing made to her were for appearances on nights when she was busy. It is generally assumed in New York musical circles that Bing didn't hire her because the Met hadn't discovered her. But this season the two have been speaking amiably of each other in interviews.

Rockies And Plains Hit By Heavy Snow, Winds

By The Associated Press
Heavy snow and high winds belted the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains today and rain and thunderstorms ranged south to Texas as the second major storm in a week spilled into the midcontinent.

A severe blizzard warning was in effect in Montana east of the Continental Divide. Seven inches of snow hit Havre through Monday. Great Falls and Billings measured 6 inches. Wind gusts over 40 miles per hour were common, along with temperatures in the teens and 20s. Gusts up to 75 m.p.h. rocked Scottsbluff, Neb., late Monday and gusts to 60 m.p.h.

whined through Amarillo, Tex. Visibility fell to one mile at Akron, Colo., due to blowing dust. Warnings, watches and advisories were posted in all or parts of seven states from Montana to Texas as a result of the storm.

An earlier storm, which buried parts of the Midwest and Northeast under heavy snow last week, remained stalled off southeastern Canada and snow lingered over New England. Four feet of snow has fallen in some mountain areas of Vermont in the last four days.

Thunderstorms in the southern half of the Plains were accompanied by tornadoes, high winds, hail and heavy rain. Four tornadoes spun into Texas on Monday, and two were sighted over Oklahoma. No damage or injuries were reported from the twisters, but strong winds caused minor damage at Durant, Okla., and uprooted trees at New Braunfels and San Marcos, Tex.

Large hailstones hit a rural area near Altus, Okla., and bombarded Ballinger and Sherman, Tex.

Nearly 2½ inches of rain drenched Dallas-Fort Worth through Monday. Arctic air streaming in behind the storm brought record April cold south as far as Arizona. Flagstaff tied the record for its lowest maximum temperature for April when the mercury failed to rise above 28 Monday.

Clear skies were confined to the Pacific Coast and an area from the western Great Lakes to the Middle Atlantic States. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 14 at Lewistown and Livingston, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Three Highlights Of Assembly Week

RAMBLING IN THE HOUSE With
SAM D. BUNDY

Three things stood out this week in prominent fashion. First, revised estimates of the proposed budget in a declining economy points downward. The revised revenue projections appear to make it necessary that $232 million dollars will have to be cut from the proposed 1975-77 state budget. Revenues are rising as compared to the comparable period in 1974, but are not rising at a rate sufficient to meet the 1975-77 expenditures in the recommended budget. This situation is going to call for hard decisions, but such decisions must be made and will be made.

Secondly, on Thursday afternoon of this week about 150 school board members came from all over the state on invitation from the House Education Committee. From 3:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. several of them spoke to the Committee with respect to the problems facing the public schools. It was a "no holds barred" kind of thing and they were asked to lay it on the line. On Friday morning the group was divided into three subgroups for further talk, discussion and question and answer period. As a Vice-Chairman of the House Education Committee, it was a privilege to chair one of the groups. Many problems were raised and discussed and both meetings served as a clearing house, and the members of the House Education Committee became more familiar with the problems and needs of public education. On this basis perhaps better decisions can be made and our schools will benefit. Finally, the House passed legislation doing away with the North Carolina Presidential Preferential Primary. The bill is now in the Senate. Governor George Wallace of Alabama will appear before a Senate Committee on Wednesday, April 9th, in a public hearing. The Governor will attempt to convince the Senate Committee that the Primary should be retained. I would say that this is a first, for I cannot recall when a Governor of another state has appeared before a North Carolina Legislative Committee. Indeed, seldom has a North Carolina Governor done so. Governor Holshouser did so one time last session and that is the only one that I can recall.

See you next week.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Ten of ♣.

When a bad trump break occurs, the reaction of some declarers is instant paralysis. South was so unnerved when a defender showed out on the first round of trumps that he succeeded in reducing ten sure tricks to eight.

As the fates would have it, declarer can make eleven tricks at no trump by finessing the eight of hearts after East shows out. However, North-South glided into a four heart contract in a perfectly natural manner, and the auction cannot be faulted.

West led a spade, declarer ducked in dummy and East won the queen. He shifted to the jack of clubs, taken by declarer's ace. A trump to the jack brought a diamond discard from East, and declarer was visibly shaken. He decided that he had to pick up West's trumps, so he crossed back to his hand with the queen of diamonds and finessed the eight of trumps. Then he cashed the king.

Declarer now tried to return to his hand with the jack of diamonds to draw the outstanding trumps. Unfortunately, West ruffed and returned a spade. Declarer was helpless. He won the ace, but was locked in dummy. Whatever he played, the defenders were bound to score their two black kings and another diamond ruff in the bargain for a two-trick set.

Declarer forgot that the main object in rubber bridge is to make the contract. Instead of worrying about West's five trumps, declarer should simply have concentrated on taking ten tricks. The sure-fire line is to draw four rounds of trumps, leaving West with the master trump, and then start on diamonds. West is free to ruff whenever he chooses, but declarer will be able to discard one of his black-suit losers on dummy's fourth diamond—the ace of spades is still on the table to serve as an entry. All South will lose is one trump trick and two tricks in the black suits.

The U.S. Army was born July 3, 1775, when George Washington took command of the colonial militia, about 8,000 men, representing the 13 colonies.

National Attention Given Drug Program

The Regional Drug Program at East Carolina University has been designated an Honorable Mention by a search panel of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, an agency of the HEW Public Health Service.

In a letter to Regional Drug Program officials, Dr. Joseph L. Hendrick, education advisor for the Drug Abuse Institute said ECU's drug program is "one of the most commendable" in North Carolina, according to national guidelines.

Among the criteria used in selection were "innovativeness, replicability and degree of youth involvement in planning and implementation."

"We are delighted to commend and support you as a leader in the field of drug abuse prevention and to lend visibility to your efforts," the letter said.

ECU's Regional Drug Program is headed by Dr. Lionel Kendrick, director, and by Carol-Ann Tucker and James Fitch, associate directors.

Among its regular activities are the sponsorship of workshops for educators and other professionals who work with young people and publication of the N. C. Drug Authority Newsletter.

Lasso plus atrazine helps prevent weeds from robbing your corn yield.

And that includes fall panicum. A growing grass problem that straight atrazine users haven't been controlling.

Fact is, Lasso plus atrazine is an excellent all-round herbicide treatment for corn growers in the North Carolina and Virginia area.

Why? Because Lasso plus atrazine controls many grasses as well as certain broadleaf weeds. Not just fall panicum, but other tough customers like smooth crabgrass, foxtails, pigweed, and smartweed.

Why, it even reduces competition from toughies like cocklebur and annual morningglory.

And except for sweet corn, you can save yourself a trip over the field by adding liquid fertilizer to your Lasso plus atrazine tank-mix.

Another thing that makes Lasso plus atrazine fit in with your growing operation is the way it minimizes the risk of carryover. You see, Lasso has no carryover. And since you use less atrazine in the tank mix, there's less chance of having carryover problems.

This year, put Lasso plus atrazine to work in your corn. You'll control fall panicum, crabgrass and other annual grasses missed by atrazine. As well as most annual broadleaf weeds.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have unusual charm now to win the goodwill and active assistance of a person you like very much. Attend to social matters as the evening is unusually beneficial for good fortune from this.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Query others early, then make plans for greater success. Put them in effect before nightfall. Consult higher-ups who can help.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get ideas for advancement from a good friend. Keep whatever you are doing confidential. Go after personal aims in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to increase present success and then contact influential friends who can assist you. Improve present prestige.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A situation arises that will help you get your finest talents before bigwigs and gain your aims with relative ease.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go through with promises made so that later you can enjoy social pleasures without worry. Please mate more; be understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study projects in detail to know exactly how to proceed with them. Try to appease one who opposes you; win him over.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get duties done in a.m. to free time later for making agreements with associates for a fine future. Live a more active life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make creative plans in p.m., then put in operation. Amusements are best in p.m., but contact friends early to accompany you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Finish work at home by lunchtime so you can then be off to more important matters. Be adept businesswise. Gain bigwigs' respect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Shop, do research work, etc., in a.m. Then you can sit down with partners and make progress in business. Use diplomacy at home.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle any monetary matters that are important, then you can have more success at regular duties. Listen to expert's suggestions.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal a.m. to get into the activities that most please you and be happy. Then handle financial problems wisely. Be charming.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be highly sensitive, so will need to be taught to be more objective in dealing with others. Otherwise the fine pioneering spirit and courage here will be lost and your progeny could suffer a good deal, instead of becoming highly successful. There could be fame in this chart, provided the parents give a happy home life early.
"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

GOLDEN SPIKE

PROMONTORY, Utah (UPI) — The first transcontinental railroad, joining the nation's West Coast to eastern population centers, was completed here May 10, 1869, with the driving of a golden spike. The spike joined the rails of the Central Pacific Rail Road from California and the Union Pacific Rail Road from Omaha, Neb.

Not Everybody Suited To Adopt Viet Orphan

MIAMI (AP) — As Americans rush to adopt Vietnamese orphans, a Miami adoption specialist warns that some people are reacting to stories of young casualties of the Vietnam war and may not make suitable parents.

"This is a panic thing — I've seen it too often," said March Dickens, director of the Miami office of the Children's Home Society of Florida.

"I'd say that 70 per cent of the people who have applied for these children are not equipped to bring them up. There's a romance in this business of taking an overseas child."

Miami psychologist Dr. Edith Lord said the Vietnam stories have triggered a "come into my home and let me mother you" instinct among Americans.

She said that many Americans are prompted by compassion and love to seek a Vietnamese child but others are driven by guilt, glamor and emotional problems.

"The press sort of played up the fact that our going to Vietnam to support a civil war was immoral, if not illegal," Dr. Lord said.

Some people reacted to that by adopting a Vietnamese child as "their chance to do something good."

She adds that there are certain types of parents who will make good mothers and fathers of Vietnamese orphans.

"The pinnacle of maturation occurs when an adult ceases to be a taker and becomes a giver. Such persons want to and can give of themselves freely to dependent people."

But she said adoption officials must weed out "carnivorous parents" who want to adopt to meet their own emotional needs.

"If you add the problems of culture and language difference, you're going to have a lot of headaches," she said.

Even if some children do wind up with unsuitable parents, Dr. Lord said it shouldn't be disastrous. "Children are amazingly flexible and adaptable."

The groups that have organized the current flights of orphans out of Saigon have said that all the children involved have adopted parents waiting for them who went through regular adoption procedures.

D. H. Conley Highlights

After three full days of Easter vacation, students unwillingly began attending classes and slowly put themselves back into the old routine.

It seems that many students have already been afflicted with spring fever. As the weather permits, students are spending their lunch break outside on the front campus getting closer to the sun.

Twenty-two students represented Conley at the FBLA State Leadership Conference. The Conference was held in Durham, on April 4, 5, and 6. The Conference was highlighted by such events as contests, voting for state officers, a special awards dinner, and a trip to Duke University.

The science club, Bi-Chem-Phy, has currently sponsored a Science Fair at Conley. The winners are Walter Clark, first place; Linda Hudson, second place; and David Hines, third place. Bi-Chem-Phy members are now making plans to attend the District Science Fair, April 11, being held at East Carolina University.

IPS Students-of-the-Week are Vanessa Barrett, second period;

Robby Hudson, third period; Robert Adams, fourth period; and Greg Stokes, fifth period. The overall Student-of-the-Week is Robby Hudson.

The Literary Club is sponsoring an organizational meeting of the Booster Club. It will be held tonight at 7:30 in the auditorium. This meeting is to organize a club in which the school and community may form a closer relationship. The meeting will feature skits, a question and answer session, displays, and refreshments. All interested people are invited.

It's for sure that girls are getting prettier around Conley. Have you noticed the new dress fashions? Could it be a new fad? See you next week!

SPANISH MISSIONS
NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (UPI) — Nacogdoches was founded as one of the five original Spanish Missions in Texas. The original mission was abandoned until 1779 when a group of settlers who has been thrown off their land by the Spanish authorities returned.

'Chinatown' Favored As Star Of Academy Awards

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) —
"Chinatown," a detective story set in Los Angeles in the '30s, is favored as the star tonight at the 47th annual Academy Awards.

A consensus of predictions gave the nod to the box office hit as favorite for best picture over "The Godfather, Part II," "The Towering Inferno," "Lenny" and "The Conversation."

Jack Nicholson, who played the puzzled detective in "Chinatown," was the favorite for winner the Oscar for best actor.

His rivals include Al Pacino for "Godfather-II"; Art Carney for "Harry and Tonto"; Albert Finney, "Murder on the Orient Express"; and Dustin Hoffman, who played the title role in "Lenny."

Faye Dunaway, the tragic heroine of "Chinatown," was afforded a good chance to win as best actress if a sweep for the film develops.

Otherwise, the best actress Oscar looks like a toss-up between Gena Rowlands of "A Woman Under the Influence" and Ellen Burstyn for "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

Other nominees for best actress are Diahann Carroll for "Claudine" and Valerie Perrine for "Lenny."

Many seemed to think — or hope — that old, faithful Fred Astaire would be chosen as best supporting actor for his role in "Towering Inferno."

The Oscar for supporting actress was more difficult to predict. The favorite seemed to be Valentina Cortese for "Day for Night," with Ingrid Bergman as sentimental choice for "Orient Express."

Howard Koch, who is producing the Oscars show, promises, "This is the year we return to glamor."

With the industry enjoying a long-awaited prosperity, Koch has planned a production to match.

"The whole show will have a crystal look, and the women will appear in glamorous gowns, all designed to match the sets," he said.

The Motion Picture Academy is striving to repair its image after events that have tarnished the Oscar — no-shows by important winners, refusals of the award by George C. Scott and Marlon Brando, a streaker onstage at last year's telecast.

This year will be different, Koch said between rehearsals at the Dorothy Chandler Pavillion. The NBC telecast (7 p.m. PDT) will hark back to Hollywood's one-time glamor with a parade of film clips of past winners.

Three Auto Collisions

An estimated $1,100 property damage resulted from a series of three collisions investigated by police here yesterday.

Officers reported an estimated $400 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 10:50 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Third and Evans Streets.

Drivers involved were identified as Elke Burti Maxwell of Ayden and Ruby Anders Bristow of Route 2, Robersonville.

Police charged Mrs. Bristow with failing to stop for a red light.

Both drivers involved in a 3:05 p.m. collision on North Overlook Drive, 73 feet South of the Oaklawn Drive intersection were charged, investigators reported.

William Sheedy Tedder Jr. of 121 Martinsborough Rd. was charged with operating left of center, while Tina Rose Brewer of 402 Martinsborough Rd. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Damage was set at $100 to the Tedder car and $200 to the Brewer auto.

County Had 49 Fires In March

During the month of March, 49 fires were recorded as occurring in Pitt County, involving a total of 51 alarms, of which two were false alarms.

House fires led the list with 15 reported, followed by 13 grass or woods fires. Others were eight buildings, six auto fires, five miscellaneous and two mutual aid fires.

An estimated total of $31,350 was lost in the fires, with property valued at $85,500 involved in the fires, with property estimated at $218,000 exposed to the fires.

Staton House Fire Department had the busiest month, with a total of nine alarms responded to.

Student Wins Business Award

Willie Creech, senior student in the East Carolina University School of Business, is the recipient of the first annual E. A. Thomas Jr. Accounting Scholarship.

The scholarship is to be awarded each year to a junior or senior accounting major at ECU to recognize outstanding scholarship and citizenship.

After graduation, Creech plans to pursue the Master of Business Administration at ECU. A member of the ECU Accounting Society, he has been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Sigma Pi and Beta Gamma Sigma honor societies.

Customer's Choice is the newest idea in checking account services. And it's offered by North Carolina's oldest bank.

Branch Banking and Trust Company is the first bank to offer this combination of choices:

- Customer's Choice makes a sequential statement available to businesses as well as individuals. And it's free. Our sequential statement is the first one that:
 - Lists checks in the same order that you write them in your checkbook,
 - Gives you a daily account balance,
 - Notes unpaid checks with asterisks and a space in the listing.
- Customer's Choice enables you to avoid paying a service charge. Just keep a balance of $100 or more in your personal checking account. Or you can authorize us to keep a $100 minimum balance in your checking account by using BB&T's Constant Credit, our overdraft plan.

Sequential statement.

- Customer's Choice lets you choose Constant Credit to cover overdrafts with $100 advances, or you may come in and get the exact amount you need up to your approved credit limit. With Constant Credit, you can borrow money by simply writing a personal check.
- Customer's Choice allows you to make automatic transfers from checking to savings and from checking to loan accounts.
- Customer's Choice allows you to choose Tax Saver™ checking with either statement. The Tax Saver system, including personalized wallet checks and register, helps you organize your itemized income tax deductions.

When you choose our sequential statement, simply ask for specially numbered checks now or the next time you order personalized checks.

So take advantage of BB&T Customer's Choice. No matter which statement and services you use, you'll be right.
